15 BOMBS DROPPED AND ALL THE AIRMEN RETURNED SAFELY.

London, March 8.—10 p.m.—The Admiralty tonight issued the following statement:
"Wing Commander Longmore reports that an air attack on Ostend was carried out yesterday afternoon by six aeroplanes of the naval wing. Of these two had to return owing to their petrol freezing. The remainder reached Ostend and dropped eleven bombs on the submarine repair base and four bombs on the Kurssaal, the headquarters of the military.
"All the machines and pilots returned. It is probable that considerable damage was done. No submarines were seen in the basin. The attack was carried out in a fresh north-west wind."

COMMONS DISCUSSES RAILWAY MATTERS

COST OF TRANSPORTATION OF FIRST CONTINGENT WAS $1,364,000.00.

(Special to The Chronicle.)
Ottawa, March 8.—It was a railway day in the House.

A discussion of the bill respecting the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which was debated at some length before the Commons Railway Committee, occupied the House itself today during the greater part of the last sitting on which private members business will have precedence this session. As in the committee, not much was done upon the sections of the bill providing for extensions of time for the commencement and completion of lines and ratifying the agreement between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern Ontario Railways respecting their joint terminals in north Toronto. Some opposition, however, met the sections authorizing the Canadian Pacific Railway to sell, lease or charter its steamships to a subsidiary company, to be incorporated in England and to be known as "The Canadian Pacific Ocean Services, Limited," and to hold or guarantee stock, bonds or other securities of the new corporation. Mr. W. F. MacLean, of South York, Major Sam Sharpe, of North Ontario, and Mr. I. G. Turfitt, of Assiniboia, spoke against these sections, declaring that they should not be allowed to become law until after the passage of the Government legislation introduced last session to control the capitalization of companies and maintaining that parliament had now an opportunity to secure control, at least, of the freight rates charged by the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company. The weight of opinion in the House was, however, against them. Sir Robert Borden pointed out that the capitalization of the new subsidiary company would be subject to strict supervision under the English joint stock companies act, and that the passage of the bill would not prevent parliament legislating to control ocean freight rates in the future. He pointed out, however, that joint action by Great Britain, the United States and Canada would be necessary to bring about effective control of rates. In that view the Hon. Frank Cochrane and Mr. E. M. MacDonald, of Pictou, concurred. Hon. William Pugsley contended that the C. P. R. was simply asking authority to do what the Grand Trunk Pacific and Canadian Northern Railways have already been allowed to do.

An amendment proposed by Mr. Turfitt, calling for the control of rates charged by the new steamship corporation by the railway commission was lost on a division. So was an amendment by Mr. MacLean, providing that the Railway Commission should fix the terms upon which the C. P. R. ships would be transferred to the Canadian Pacific Ocean Services; that the consent of the Railway Commission be obtained before the Canadian Pacific Railway Company invested in or guaranteed the securities of the new company, and that the Commission should specify the purposes for which the proceeds of the transfer of vessels should be used. The bill was then read a third time.

Transportation of Troops.

In answer to a question in two House tonight, Major-General the Hon. Sam Hughes stated that the Canadian Pacific Railway received $915,000, the Canadian Northern Railway $308,000, and the Grand Trunk Railway $141,000 for land and sea transport in connection with the First Contingent.

CONSTANTINOPLE SAYS ALLIES' SHIPS RETREATED.

Claim to Have Damaged One French and One British Armored Cruiser.

London, Mar. 8.—6.57 p.m.—A despatch from Amsterdam to Reuters Telegram Company says the following official statement was given out today in Constantinople:
"The British ships Majestic and Irresistible have reinforced the enemy fleet. The fire of our batteries put the French armored cruiser out of action and damaged a British armored cruiser.
"Owing to our bombardment the hostile ships retreated and ceased their fire. Our batteries suffered no damages."

BRITISH AND FRENCH FLEETS HAVE BATTERED THEIR WAY NEARER TO CONSTANTINOPLE

More Forts Have Been Silenced While Turks Make Terrific Resistance—Majority Of French And British Ships In Straits Were Struck, But None Were Sunk And There Are No Casualties — Bucharest Reports Abdul Hamid Has Regained His Freedom

London, March 8.—The British and French fleets have battered their way a step nearer to Constantinople. More Turkish forts on the Asiatic side have been silenced, according to a statement by the British Admiralty, but the Turks are making a terrific resistance with the shells from their German-made guns.

This struggle for the gateway of the Ottoman capital is at present the big feature of the war news, and closely linked with this is the sustained excitement in Greece incident to the resignation of the cabinet of M. Venizelos who, deeming Greece's entry into the hostilities on the side of the Triple Entente imperative, could not agree with his King and resigned. The retiring Premier, according to Athens despatches, plans to leave for a rest and M. Zaimis has been entrusted with the difficult task of selecting a new cabinet, the complexion of which had not even been tentatively announced tonight. A news agency despatch from Athens late tonight said that M. Zaimis had declined to form a new cabinet.

From the number of ships engaged and the size and range of the guns, the battle of the Dardanelles is unlike anything in history, according to naval experts. At 21,000 yards the battleship Queen Elizabeth, of the British squadron, assisted by smaller ships, is still hurling shells across the Gallipoli Peninsula into the Turkish strongholds on the Asiatic shore. The Admiralty statement carries the operations through Sunday and admits that the Turks not only scored three minor hits on the Queen Elizabeth but that the majority of the ships inside the Straits, both French and British, were struck. None were sunk and there were no casualties.

The Turkish forts Rumili Medjidieh Tabia and Hamidieh-I-Tabia, fringing the Asiatic shore line, which previously had withstood the bombardment, were silenced as was the Mount Dardanus battery further south. The Turkish casualties are unknown.

Aeroplanes taking wing from the decks of the besieging craft, are playing a signal part in the operations. One British machine became unmanageable and dove into the sea and another was hit by the Turks 28 times.

An air raid by British flyers on the German submarine base at Ostend, Belgium, was announced by the Admiralty tonight. Six machines participated and returned safely. What damage they inflicted, if any, is not known.

One of the most picturesque bits of the day's news is a report from Bucharest, Rumania, stating that former Sultan Abdul Hamid has regained his freedom and is gathering his friends and supporters around him. It is asserted that he may seek to play an important part in his country's affairs.

More progress by the British fleet before Smyrna, by which Turkish batteries were silenced, is announced in an Admiralty statement. Another official statement says that the Turks' loss in the land fighting at the head of the Persian Gulf is fifty per cent. larger than previously reported.

EXPLOSION AND FIRE FOL- LOWS BOMBARDMENT — 4 BATTERIES AND 8 STEAM- ERS WRECKED.

London, March 8, 11.37 p.m.—On behalf of the Russian naval general staff the Official Press Bureau tonight made the following announcement:
"On Sunday our fleet bombarded Zunguldiak, Kozlon and Kilimli (ports on the Black Sea), destroying all structures and plants for the shipment of coal. The bombardment was followed by a terrific explosion and fire. Four batteries were silenced and eight steamers destroyed. Our casualties were three men wounded."

OFFICIAL

FRENCH STATEMENT.

Paris, via London, Mar. 8.—11.52 p.m.—The following communication was issued by the French War Office tonight:

"In Champagne snowstorms have interfered with our operations. This morning the enemy tried to retake a wood captured by us on Sunday west of Perthes. He was repulsed and our counter offensive enabled us to gain ground to the north and east and to take some prisoners. The advance continued and increased during the afternoon.

"In the region of Perthes we won more than 500 metres (over 1600 feet) of trenches.

"Between Le Mesnil and Beausejour we lost some trenches we had taken yesterday, but gained 100 metres (about 300 feet) on the ridge north of Mesnil.

"In the region of St. Mihiel and in the Bois de Brule (forest of Aprement) we gained a footing in a German trench and captured therein a great quantity of materials.

"North-west of Pont-a-Mousson the Germans attempted to deliver an attack, which, however, broke down. Our progress continued north of Badonviller.

"In Alsace at Reich Ackerkopf we repulsed a counter attack."

RUSSIAN STATEMENT.

London, Mar. 9.—12.03 a.m.—Reuters Petrograd correspondent sends the following official communication issued by the Russian War Office Monday night:

"In the Suwalki region we repulsed the enemy. On the Marianopol-Simno-Augustowo front our offensive continues.

"On the right bank of the Narew there has been no essential change.

"On the left bank of the Vistula in the Pilica region a German offensive has been checked and our troops have commenced a counter attack.

"In the Carpathians the Austrians have ceased their attacks in the Svidnik region, but continue vainly their assaults on our positions in the direction of Balinrod.

"New enemy attacks in the Kozmwhka-Toukka region met with no better success. In the region of Klausgermans a whole battalion of the enemy's enveloping columns surrendered."

AUSTRIAN STATEMENT.

Vienna, via London, Mar. 8.—11.40 p.m.—The following official Austrian statement was issued here tonight:

"In Russian Poland we have obtained several successes in battles which still continue. The enemy was dislodged from several trenches, sustaining heavy losses.

"On the west of Galicia front we have gained similar successes in a brief attack made by our troops.

"In the district near Lupkow Pass (in the Carpathians) the Russians, whose thinned ranks had been strongly reinforced, made desperate attacks yesterday, thrice pushing forward to the vicinity of our positions only to be shattered in the last rush. In another sector of the battle front our troops, after repelling Russian attacks, surprised them by a counter attack, capturing a strongly fortified height and taking prisoners ten officers and seven hundred men. On a neighboring height 1,000 men were captured."

WAR SUMMARY

While fighting continues on nearly all the battle fronts, no engagements which would indicate the approach of a decisive victory for either of the contending parties has been reported. The Russians still report progress against the Germans in North Poland and assert that an offensive movement begun by the Germans further south, in the Pilica river region, has been repulsed and that the Russians themselves have taken up the attack.

In the west, where snow again is falling heavily, both the Allies and the Germans make claims to positions won and the capture of officers, men and guns. Near Perthes the French declare that their forces have taken an additional line of trenches, about 1,600 feet in length.

In the Dardanelles the shelling of the forts guarding the waterways continues, with the Allies claiming that great damage is being done to the fortifications and the Turks asserting that the injury wrought thus far is immaterial.

The British Admiralty says that its East Indian fleet has silenced all the hostile forts and batteries of the Turks in the vicinity of Smyrna, while Petrograd tells of the destruction by Russian warships of Zunguldiak, Kozlon and Kilimli, Turkish ports on the Black Sea.

The Greek crisis continues. M. Zaimis, who had been asked to form a Ministry to succeed that of M. Venizelos, has declined to accept the task and M. Gournaris has been requested by King Constantine to assume it.

Four British aeroplanes have dropped bombs on the German submarine base and officers quarters in Ostend.

Great Britain has decided not to treat captured crews of German submarines as ordinary prisoners of war, but will intern them with a view to their "possible conviction at the end of the war."

An Amsterdam newspaper declares that Zeppelin airship L-8 has been wrecked at Tirlemont, Belgium, and that 17 men of a crew of 41 were killed.

EXPLANATIONS TO "CIVIC OPINION."

Quebec, March 6th, 1915.
To the Editor of the "Chronicle."

Dear Sir:—

In your number dated March 2nd, you have published a correspondence signed "Civic Opinion" relating to a monument to be erected on the "Place d'Armes". "Civic Opinion" is not opposed to the erection of this monument, but he wishes to keep in its place the fountain which has been there so long.

I am glad to tell "Civic Opinion" that he thinks just the same as we gentlemen who are working for the erection of the monument in question. I am glad to tell him that one of the main preoccupations of the building committee has been to keep the fountain, and the City Council has expressed the same idea. Then, there is no doubt about it, the "Place d'Armes" shall have its fountain, and a much more beautiful fountain than the one existing now.

The committee of the monument hope, with the help of friends who are proud of Quebec, to make of the "Place d'Armes" one of the finest parks of Quebec. In fact we cannot say that the "Place d'Armes" as it is now, is just what it should be. The fountain, having a defect well noticed by people passing by; during the days when the wind blows, the water falls outside the basin and then it is impossible to sit on the settees placed on that side. Moreover, if the existing fountain has a great defect in summer, it is worse in winter because the fountain disappears and nothing is left in its place. In fact, what do we see on the "Place d'Armes" in the fall, before the snow falls and in the spring when the snow has melted away? An empty basin, more or less clean, with in the middle an iron pipe whose end is corked with a wooden peg. It is not a very aesthetic view, and far from being an ornament, it is ugly.

The committee of the projected monument seem to have adopted a plan which meets the desires of "Civic Opinion" and does away with the defects we have just spoken about. The monument is going to be a fountain such as we see in certain places of the finest cities of Europe. During the summer months, the water flowing from the interior of the monument will fall in cascade over the steps of the monument into the basin, whilst by eight spouts the water will be projected but in such a manner so as not to cover the ground all around and the passers by. In winter, time, the monument will continue to adorn the "Place d'Armes" and the old "Rond de Chene" will not have that sad gloomy aspect which characterizes it during our long winter months.

As the committee is going to give, pretty soon, to the public, a complete description of the projected monument and tell them why the "Place d'Armes" was selected as the best place for such a monument, I will not say anymore, in as much as the right objections of "Civic Opinion" will disappear before the explanations given above.

I don't doubt, Mr. Editor, that your paper desirous to see Quebec improve in beauty, will give loyal help to the promoters of this monument, and help them in their patriotic enterprise.

Yours very truly,
DR. EMILE ST. HILAIRE.

SOLD AGAIN.

A burglar big and bold and bad
Entered my house to steal;
A dreadful loaded gun he had
Its lead I feared to feel.
With crafty skill he hunted round—
His boldness made me stare—
And presently some cash he found
I had not known was there!

My gentle wife upon the sly
Had hidden it away;
What was her subtle purpose I
Am not prepared to say.
Roused by the sight, that thief I Fought,
For hours surely two;
When from him all that cash I'd got
The rascal out I threw.

Soon came my wife, near driven wild
With seeming fright and fear,
I said to her in accent mild
"Love, see what I have here!"
She looked; she saw; a living flame
Her fierceness seemed to be,
And like a tigress then she came
And took the cash from me!

ATLANTIC CITY AS VACATION RESORT

VISITORS FIND HEALTH AND PLEASURE AT THIS POPU-LAR RESORT.

The rush of early season visitors flowing into the resort from every section of the country attests the constantly growing popularity of Atlantic City as a vacation spot during a period generally considered off-season. Those who once experience the late winter and early spring enjoyment of the Boardwalk with the tang of the sea to give them health and pleasure are sure to return and their number is being augmented with the return of every season. Social leaders weary of the round of winter affairs, come to rest and recuperation and give the resort that touch of beauty and fashion which has made it one of the places of interest of the world. Business and professional men who long ago realized the necessity of relaxation after the long period of winter labors have found in the splendid hotels the acme of comfort inducing rest and upbuilding of nervous fibre. Members of the younger sets of scores of metropolitan cities welcome their trips to Atlantic City with its prospects of social and other enjoyment.

Visitors who come to Atlantic City during or after Lent, of 1915, will find augmented preparations for their reception. All the big piers are open and offering their varied amusements for nominal prices. Oreste Vessella, impresario and composer is once more in charge of the Steel Pier band and orchestra so well known to those who came here in former years. The Million Dollar Pier with its dancing and other pastimes; the Garden Pier which houses a theatre and other attractions are all ready for the reception of those who seek relaxation. Managers of Boardwalk play houses have announced booking of plays with special merit and every big hotel offers musical entertainment of high merit for patrons and their friends.

To those who seek outdoor sport the Country Club with its splendid golf course of 18 holes offers an attraction especially seductive with the breaking up of winter. Thousands of dollars have been spent during the winter in making the course better and in conserving turf ready for the early spring golfers. Roads surrounding the resort are smooth and dry and tempt the motorist to trips through pretty villages and country, or along the strand in constant sight and hearing of the breakers. Two new roads, one leading directly to the bridge which connects with Ocean City and the resorts of the lower coast are under construction and the present wide boulevard to the mainland is to be resurfaced for a fine auto speedway and drive. Yachts of the popular Inlet fleet are being placed in commission both for sailing and fishing.

Fine craft in commission over the Inland Waterway, on which the State has spent millions of dollars, carry patrons through safe inland waters to points up and down the coast. With Paris war torn and practically out of the running as to fashions the Boardwalk this spring will be the style centre of the world. Already those coming from inland cities or from other winter resorts are wearing the advance styles in hats and gowns, and the coming Easter parade promises to be the fashion sight of the century.

New arrivals will notice many improvements both in the hotels and in the resort. The larger houses have added baths and other luxuries while the hotels of more moderate class have been refurbished and generally made epic and span in anticipation of coming custom. Officials who realize the lure of the rolling chair have laid a specially smooth stretch of Boardwalk especially for the use of these luxurious vehicles. New planking has also been put down over much of the surface of the seven mile stretch of footway.

Figures compiled by weather experts show that Atlantic City enjoys an average winter and spring temperature ten degrees higher than that of other cities in the same latitude and sunny days on the Boardwalk have already resulted in the discarding of wraps and overcoats during the noon day stroll. Many of those seeking health spend hours of each day in the open, choosing shelter spots along the Boardwalk or making resting places in the sand of the beach. Practically every hotel on the beach-front has one or more sun parlors for those who wish to enjoy the sunshine without going outside.

Taken altogether, Atlantic City offers to those seeking a spring outing the greatest aggregation of advantages of any resort place in the country. No matter whether health or pleasure of a combination of the two is the object of the visitor, the resort stands ready to meet the desire. The daily program of pastime, both indoors and out is as complete as can be made and the entire power of the resort is behind the effort to cater to the comfort and well being of those who enter the city's portals.

President of United States Will Remain at White House.

Washington, Mar. 8.—Formal announcement that President Wilson will be unable to attend the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco this month was made today at the White House. LIFE IN BRITISH hears no one growling or swearing when it would seem that human irritation must have an escape valve.
TRENCHES AS SEEN
BY CORRESPONDENT

"Profanity comes too high," said a soldier. "The Gerboys may hear you and then turn loose. And it may not only cost you your life but your pals." Anyone who has been much with the British army on campaign has heard the same remark many times, and spoken in the same language it had a peculiar appeal.

With darkness falling over the flat country and the buildings, becoming shadowy, the correspondent walked away from the cover of a village with the commanding officer of that section of the front, with the rattle of a machine gun growing louder toward the trench. When ever anyone goes near the front he is bound to hear the machine gun.

"They can't be firing at any definite object in the dark?" queried a correspondent.

"Perhaps — perhaps not," the officer replied. "The gun is laid for the top of their trench. We don't hold down the fire too much, as we want the Germans to know we are on deck."

"Are we in bullet range yet?" was asked.

"Rather — five hundred yards. That's why we don't walk up in the day time. The flares you see are going up from the trenches," replied the officer.

"These flares, like sky rockets, throw a glare over the sodden fields and revealed the faces of the correspondents and the officer and outlined their figures. "In that way they keep watch to see that we are not cropping up for an attack," the officer added.

Another 300 yards of plunging in mud and the correspondents descended into the wet earth behind tiers of sand bags and were walking on a boardwalk at the bottom of a great ditch. Step off that and one sank over his ankles. The commanding officer pulled aside a curtain and a lieutenant came out of his cellar looking neat enough for a parade. Neatness under any conditions is a point with the British officer, and he keeps his men up to it. It is amazing how Private Thomas Atkins in this sea of mud keeps clear of it.

Carelessness Fatal.

"If the men get careless in their appearance and in their habits," say the officers, "this means carelessness in the trenches which would be fatal. Thoroughness of detail and industry are of paramount importance in this kind of war."

Behind curtains in the same kind of cellars as the officers occupy were soldiers lying on broad floors in their blankets above the waterline. A subaltern was up for questioning when the commanding officer found one of the pumps was not working. Pumping alone keeps the trenches from being flooded. The commander spoke to every watching man with rifle, said a cheery "good night," and from a soldier came an equally cheery answer.

On that gigantic zig-zagging ditch in the darkness, slipping off the planks at times and catching ones self by stretching up the hands for support against the wet and slippery walls, for a mile the visitors proceeded with heads below the parapet, while the German flares lighted the sky and while the British rapid-firing gun whirled at intervals and the German snipers made reply. Then the correspondents left the trenches and wallowed in the mud back to a point in the road outside the bullet range, where a column of sturdy soldiers was waiting before going up for their turn in the trenches. Behind them an ambulance to care for the wounded who had accumulated during the day in the trenches or those hurt during the entrance of relief parties or the departure of the men relieved when the German rapid-fire guns sent out a spray of bullets in the hope of finishing a target under cover of the night.

Good Care for Men.

The tired men who come out of the trenches find baths and clean clothes awaiting them, and have nothing to do but rest until they return to the watch. For the British army regards the care of each man's physical well-being as the prime essential.

The trenches to the observer who sees the British army for the first time don't supply the most interesting feature. If one seeks picturesque-ness it may be found on the road where the French flank and the British line join—where one sees the East Indian, a trotting battery of the French artillery, Belgian reservists at work on the road and the British in khaki. In the doorways where he is billeted one finds Tommy Atkins trying to talk French with the inhabitants, driving a big tractor engine made in the United States, riding out to the front on a bus which once pylon in London, sitting on the front of an ambulance seat beside the driver when he has only an arm wound, or poking his head out of a shell-proof to see if there is any chance of the rain stopping in Flanders. His remarks about the weather are unintelligible profanity.

The extreme thoroughness with which all is done makes a more lasting impression. The fastidiousness about sanitation and the treatment of the wounded is admirable.

There seems little unnecessary fighting to gain any minor advantages in the trenches. Everything seems submissive to a purpose—when the time comes for the "big push," which will see the deadliest fighting of the war.

YOUR ICE SUPPLY

Having commenced to solicit my clients for a renewal of their patronage, which I hope to retain and largely increase, I have, nevertheless, been informed by some of my friends that they have already been solicited by other parties who went so far as to inform them that they had already secured a large number of my customers and that I would not be in the business very long and other such statements.

Having no fear whatever that this will affect my business, still I do not consider it fair or legitimate competition, and therefore take this occasion and means to inform my friends that I have harvested more ice this season than for the past fifteen years for the very reason that I considered that I would be in a better position to increase my trade on the strength of the satisfaction which I have given in the past, and consequently respectfully request my friends not to entertain for a moment any such statements.

I will, as in the past, do my utmost to uphold the reputation in business that I have gained; also to supply the very best natural ice that can be obtained and rely upon my friends for a renewal of their confidence, and on the public generally for an increase of my business.

SERVICE MUST SAVE ITSELF.

Not only does the politician hold the strings to the higher positions, he also has it in his power to stop a clerk's promotion in the Service, even after the clerk has passed all necessary examinations and has been recommended for promotion. Such interference has been proved beyond a shadow of doubt, and it is up to the men in the Service to put their backs against the wall and fight this question to a finish.—The Civilian, (Ottawa).

ALLIED FLEET OPERATIONS AGAINST DARDANELLES

BRITISH ADMIRALTY ISSUES STATEMENT—THREE SHIPS BEGAN ATTACK FIRING AT 21,000 YARDS—OPERATIONS PROGRESSING.

London, March 8.—9 p.m.—The British Admiralty tonight made public the following statement concerning the operations of the Allied fleet against the Dardanelles.

"The operations against the Dardanelles are progressing in fine weather. Vice-Admiral Sackville H. Carden reports that on the sixth of March the battleship Queen Elizabeth, supported by the battleships Agamemnon and Ocean began an attack on forts Hamidieh-I-Tabia and Hamidieh 3, which are marked on the Admiralty map as forts U. and V., by indirect fire across the Gallipoli peninsula, firing at 21,000 yards.

"These forts are armed as follows: Fort U, two 14-inch guns and seven 9.4 guns; fort V, two 14-inch, one 9.4, one 8.2 and four 4.9 inch guns.

"The Queen Elizabeth was replied to by Howitzers and field guns and three shells from the field guns struck her, without, however, causing any damage.

"Meanwhile inside the straits the Vengeance, Albion, Majestic and Prince George and the French battleship Suffren fired on Souain Dere and Mout. Dardenus batteries, marked F. and E. on the Admiralty map, and were fired on by a number of concealed guns.

"Fort Rumli Medjidieh Tabia, marked J. on the Admiralty map, which had been attacked on the previous day, opened fire and was engaged and hit by 12-inch shells.

"A majority of the ships in the straits were struck by shells, but there was no serious damage done and no casualties resulted.

"On the seventh of March, the weather continued calm and fine, four French battleships—the Gaultois, Charlemagne, Bouvet and Suffren—entered the straits to cover the direct bombardment of the defences of the narrow by the Agamemnon and Lord Nelson. The French ships engaged the Mount Dardanus battery and various concealed guns, silencing the former. The Agamemnon and Lord Nelson then advanced and engaged the forts at the narrow by from 14,000 down to 12,000 yards by direct fire.

"Fort Rumli Medjidieh Tabia, marked J., and Hamidieh-I-Tabia, marked U., both were silenced after a heavy bombardment. Explosions occurred in both forts. Fort L. has not fired since the explosion on the fifth.

"The Gaultois, Agamemnon and Lord Nelson each struck three times, but the damage done was not serious. The Lord Nelson had three men slightly wounded.

"While these operations were in progress the British light cruiser Dublin continued the watch the Bosphorus. She was fired at by four inch guns and struck three or four times.

"Owing to the importance of locating concealed guns the seaplanes had to fly very low at times.

"On the 4th instant a seaplane, Pilot Flight Lieut. Garnet and Observer Lieut. Commander Williamson became unstable and fell into the sea. Both officers were injured. Flight Lieut. Douglas, reconnoitering at close quarters in another seaplane, was wounded but returned safely.

"On the fifth seaplane No. 172, Pilot Flight Lieut. Bromet with Lieut. Brown was hit twenty times, and seaplane No. 7, Pilot Flight Lieut. Hershaw, with Petty Officer Merchant, was struck eight times, in locating concealed positions.

"The Ark Royal (mother ship for seaplanes) is equipped with every appliance necessary for the repair and maintenance of the numerous aircraft she carries."

BATTLESHIPS HIT BUT LOSSES LIGHT

THE COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF IN EAST INDIES SENDS HIS REPORT.

London, Mar. 8.—10:30 p.m.—The Admiralty announces that the commander-in-chief in the East Indies, Vice-Admiral Sir Richard Piers, has reported further on his operations before Smyrna. From the report it appears that having bombarded fort Yeni Kale on March 5th and severely damaged it, the Admiral proceeded in the 6th to sweep his way through the mine fields until he drew the fire of several subsidiary batteries—one containing four 6-inch guns, near Palea Tabia Point, another with five 4.7 guns and 150 feet up on the hillside and three field guns in the earthworks in the Chiflik guardhouse. There also were several smaller guns concealed along the shore to the eastward.

These positions were engaged by the ships at from 7,000 to 8,000 yards. The batteries replied vigorously, but after one hour's firing all were silenced. In the afternoon the ships steamed in to a closer range and engaged the Palea Tabia battery and the other batteries on the hill. The fire was continued until all were put out of action.

Vice-Admiral Piers reports that the cruiser Euryalus and one of the battleships were hit by six-inch projectiles and that the mine sweepers were struck by fragments of shells, but that the British casualties were slight. The Admiral says the operations are continuing.

BELGIAN ARMY IS RE-INFORCED

BELGIUM PAPERS RESENT A GERMAN CLAIM THAT IT IS NEARLY EXTINGUISHED.

Havre, via Paris, March 8.—6:30 p.m.—The Belgian Press Bureau has issued a note concerning the situation of the Belgian army, in reply to alleged declarations by the Germans that the Belgian force had been reduced to a single army corps.

"The army," the note says, "entered the campaign with six divisions of infantry and one division of cavalry. All voids have been filled and the army has still six divisions of infantry and two divisions of cavalry. Instead of having one machine gun section, this arm of the service has been strongly reinforced. In addition, measures have been taken for the enlistment of young recruits to further increase the strength of the army, while the school established to train officers already has shown excellent results."

CLYDE SHIPBUILDERS THREATEN STRIKE

OVER 15,000 WORKMEN MAY GO OUT IF THE TERMS ARE REJECTED.

Glasgow, via London, March 8.—8:40 p.m.—Over fifteen thousand laborers and unskilled workmen in the Clyde ship yards have decided to strike next Saturday if an increase of two cents an hour in their wages is not granted.

S.S. LA TOURAINE ARRIVES AT HAVRE

London, March 8, 7:55 p.m.—A message to Lloyd's from Havre tonight announces the arrival of La Touraine at that port.

HARRY THAW ON TRIAL ONCE MORE

Faces Charge of Having Escaped From Insane Asylum.

New York, March 8.—In the same room where he twice faced a jury for the murder of Stanford White, Harry Kendall Thaw tonight went on trial for conspiring to escape from the state hospital for the criminal insane at Matteawan.

With him as co-defendants were five men the State charges were parties to the alleged conspiracy. The entire day was required to complete the jury. Taking of testimony will begin tomorrow morning.

BRITAIN MAY TRY SUBMARINE CREWS ON MURDER CHARGE

POLICY TO BE ADOPTED TOWARDS GERMAN DESTROYERS OF UNARMED SHIPS.

London, March 8.—10:01 p.m.—The Admiralty announces that it is not justified in extending honors to the crews of German submarine boats owing to the methods, and it is intended to segregate them under special restrictions pending their possible conviction at the conclusion of peace.

The Admiralty states that this ruling applies to the 29 officers and men of German submarine U-8, which was sunk recently off Dover.

The policy to be adopted toward the crews of German submarines is in answer to the demand of Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, retired, and others, that such men be tried for murder, and the Admiralty statement indicates that the Government has this in mind. The statement refers to the generous treatment accorded German officers and men saved, numbering upwards of one thousand, and then says with reference to the U-8:

"This vessel had been operating in the Straits of Dover and in the English Channel and there is a strong probability that she had been guilty of attacking and sinking unarmed merchantmen and firing torpedoes at ships carrying non-combatants, neutrals and women. In particular, the steamer Oriole is missing and there is grave reason to fear that she has been sunk with all hands—twenty."

"There is, of course, great difficulty in bringing home particular crimes to any individual German submarine, and it may be that the evidence necessary to establish conviction will not be obtained until after the conclusion of peace. Meantime persons against whom such charges are pending must be subject to a special restriction and cannot be accorded the distinction of their rank or be allowed to mingle with other prisoners of war."

REPRISAL METHODS ARE STILL VAGUE

BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE GIVES RELIEF TO COTTON SHIPPER.

London, March 8.—7:35 p.m.—Although the order-in-council prescribing methods of making reprisals on German trade is still promised in the near future, no date has been given. The Foreign Office constantly emphasizes the declaration that it will not be inflexible so far as effects neutrals but will permit negotiations in specific cases. As proof of this, announcement is made of special concessions to Percy Chubb, of Chubb & Son, cotton shippers of New York.

Mr. Chubb appeared before the Admiralty seeking relief for cotton firms which contracted to deliver cotton to the neutrals within the war zone during March. The Admiralty gave immediate assurance "that all cotton for which contracts of sale and freight engagements were made before March 2 will be allowed free (or bound at contract prices if stopped) sailing not later than March 31. Similar treatment is to be accorded all cotton insured before March 2 provided the cotton is on board ships not later than March 16. All shipments of cotton claiming the above protection are to be declared before sailing, and documents are to be produced and certificates obtained from consular officers or other authority fixed by law."

BRITISH STEAMER.

New Orleans, La., March 8.—The British steamship Wyvisbrook has been seized by Carranza authorities at Campeche and her commander, Captain Muir, has been placed in jail, according to mail advices reaching here tonight from Progresso.

BRITISH COLLIER SUNK BY TORPEDO

BENGROVE WAS ATTACKED WITHOUT WARNING—CREW WAS SAVED.

London, Mar. 8.—10:05 p.m.—The Admiralty announces that the British collier Bengrove was sunk Sunday, probably by a torpedo, off Ilfracombe, which lies ten miles northwest of Barnstaple, county Devon, England.

Ilfracombe, England, Sunday, (Delayed), via London, Mar. 9.—1:21 a.m.—The British steamer Bengrove was seen in distress sounding her siren five miles off this shore at 1:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Forty minutes later the ship's bow rose from the water and she sank by the stern. Thousands of people stood on the shore and watched her go down.

Two steamers were in the vicinity, one of which, the Paignton, of Liverpool, rescued the crew of 33 and local lifeboats brought them ashore amid the cheers of the populace. The captain of the Bengrove made this statement:

"We had no warning. There was a loud explosion forward which threw everybody on board off their feet and covered them with debris and coal but nobody was seriously hurt. We took to the boats quickly and orderly. We watched the ship sink and then came ashore through the agency of the Paignton."

GERMANY MAY WIN THOUGH DEFEATED

GERMAN PROFESSOR GIVES HIS IDEAS OF WAR'S RESULT.

London, March 9.—2:43 a.m.—The Amsterdam correspondent of Reuters' Telegram Company says that the Berlin newspaper Vorwaerts reproduces an article from the Wochenschrift, a Berlin weekly publication, by Prof. P. Rohrbach, who, the Vorwaerts says, reflects the government view.

The article recalls, says the correspondent, that Frederick the Great was the conqueror in the Seven Years war although he failed to gain a square mile of territory, and only held his own by straining every nerve. His victory consisted in the fact that he compelled the enemy to recognize Prussian power with all its logical consequences for the altered situation in Europe.

"Prof. Rohrbach," continues the correspondent, "considers that Germany might likewise regard herself victorious if at the end of the struggle her combined enemies were obliged to desist in their intention to destroy her military power and fall back upon the same condition as before the war, thus signifying their resources were exhausted more quickly than the Germans. In that case, without fighting the struggle out to a complete triumph, Germany might enter a new epoch with better prospects."

"Prof. Rohrbach also develops the theory that a lasting peace with Russia is unthinkable and that, therefore, a second war is almost inevitable."

MANY WAR SHIPS IN DARDANELLES

REPORTS EVERY DAY REVEAL NAMES OF NEW SHIPS OF ALLIES.

London, March 9, 3:48 a.m.—The Times' naval correspondent, discussing the operations in the Dardanelles, says the official reports daily reveal the presence of more ships and that it is known that all those engaged have not yet been mentioned.

"Yet it is quite clear," the correspondent says, "that the position in the North Sea has been affected by this gathering of vessels in the Mediterranean, which has been collected from the four quarters of the globe."

According to the Daily Telegraph's Athens correspondent another warship of the Queen Elizabeth type has arrived on the scene.

LIFE IN BRITISH TRENCHES AS SEEN BY CORRESPONDENT

TOMMIES ALL CONTENTED WITH THEIR LOT AND EXPECTED MUCH TO HAPPEN ON ARRIVAL OF NEW BRITISH ARMY.

(Frederick Palmer, who is at the front in France for the Associated Press, sends the following:)

British Headquarters in France, via London, Mar. 8.—8:05—"There you are, and keep your head down! It is a fair target at that distance," said the officer who had come out of the shelter to meet the newspaper correspondents who were being permitted to visit the trenches.

"The correspondents were in the defences at the edge of a hard wood grove called the Ploegsteert woods. The British had fought fiercely in order to get possession of this grove, for it meant cover for them. Occasionally bullets whistled over head and the swish of German shells which were being fired at something in the rear passed higher up, while a hidden British battery was sending its shells in the opposite direction.

At intervals in the defences men were waiting, with rifles laid, to plug any moving thing that looked like a "Gerboy."

"If a 'gerboy' helmet appears can you put a hole through it?" was asked of one of the riflemen.

"It looks so. They don't put them up very often, sir," was the answer.

Two hundred and fifty yards away was a wall of sand bags. The bare field between the two lines was as lifeless as a desert, and for all one could see, the German breastworks were not occupied by a single human being. But there, as on the British side, sharpshooters were waiting and officers were watching through the reflecting mirrors of the periscope.

For three months the trenches have remained in the same position, and never in all that time, here as elsewhere along the line, but someone is on the lookout and the reserves are ready for an attack.

"Waiting For 'Big Push'."

"Here we will be until the big push comes," say the men. By the "big push" they refer to the movement when the new British army is in the trenches.

At night German patrols creep out to see if the British are up to anything new and the British do likewise to ascertain if the Germans are. And sometimes some of the men are killed.

Those who are not on watch are lounging on beds of straw under the timber roofs. To the rear there are many more shelters where officers and men are quartered. One old South African veteran was planting primroses on the earth roof of his house. "It is getting primrose time at home in England," he said.

Except for the rush of shells and the bang of the guns the scene is most peaceful. When the Germans cut loose with some thrills of the rapid-fire guns or begin shelling the men take to their shelters until the storm is over. They are always in danger from sniping and are likely to be called at any minute to suffer heavy losses in repelling an attack. They are veterans who cease to think of possibilities.

"If you are killed, why you are killed," says Tommy Atkins, "and what's the use in worrying about it? The more you worry the better it pleases the Germans."

From Mons to Ypres the British regular gained familiarity with death. Very proud are all the men who have stuck it through from the time of the British landing until now. When one of them was asked about it, he said, "Just luck, that's all. Maybe I'll get it from a sniper when this winter is over."

Tommies Cheerful.

At night all the work in the neighborhood trenches is done. Across the fire-zone behind the trenches food and timbers and everything needed in the trenches is carried up by hand in a wallow of mud. Yet one (Continued on Page Two)

MUCH SUFFERING AMONG AUSTRIANS

CAPTURED PARTY WERE FAMILIAR—THEY WERE UNABLE TO RESIST.

London, March 8.—7:45 p.m.—Austrian prisoners from East Galicia and Bukovina are pouring into Kiev, says a despatch from that Russian town to Reuters' Telegram Company, 8,000 arriving there yesterday.

The members of one Austrian party, when captured are reported to have said that they had been without food for a week. Many of the prisoners were so famished, according to the despatch, that they were unable to resist and with the arrival of Russian provisions hundreds of the Austrians sat eating, indifferent to all danger.

FINANCIAL AID TO SMALLER NATIONS

BY FRANCE, ENGLAND AND RUSSIA WILL TOTAL $270,000,000.

Paris, Mar. 8.—7:20 p.m.—The Temps today gives the details of the advances already made or which are to be made by France, Great Britain and Russia to the small Allied countries, as agreed upon by the Finance Ministers of the three powers during their recent conference in Paris.

The total advances for the present, according to the newspaper, are to be 1,350,000,000 francs ($270,000,000) which amount is to be borne equally by the three powers. These powers already have advanced to Belgium 250,000,000 francs ($50,000,000), to Serbia 185,000,000 francs ($37,000,000) to Greece 20,000,000 francs ($4,000,000) and to Montenegro 500,000 francs ($100,000). There remains to be advanced 894,500,000 francs ($178,900,000), which will be divided between Serbia and Belgium.

France, the Temps says, will take care of Russia's share for the present by placing sums against grain to be bought in Russia for French account. A bill now before the French parliament authorizes this arrangement.

Danger Signals Warn You of Approaching Paralysis

Slowly and Surely Exhaustion Goes on Until Collapse of the Nerves is the Natural Result.

You may be restless, nervous, irritable and sleepless, but you think there's nothing to be alarmed at. You have no appetite, digestion is impaired, and there is weakness and irregularity of other bodily organs. You feel tired in body and mind, and find that you lack the energy to attend to the daily task.

You may not realize that these are the symptoms of nervous prostration and the danger signals which warn you that some form of paralysis is the next step of development.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is the most successful restorative for the nerves that has ever been offered to the public. This has been proven in many thousands of cases similar to the one described in this letter.

Mrs. Thos. Allan, R.F.D., 2, Sombra, Ont., writes: "Five years ago I suffered a complete breakdown, and frequently had palpitation of the heart. Since that illness I have had dizzy spells, had no power over my limbs (locomotor ataxia) and could not walk straight. At night I would have severe nervous spells, with heart palpitation, and would shake as though I had the ague. I felt improvement after using the first box of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after continuing the treatment can now walk, eat and sleep well, have no nervous spells and do not require heart medicine. I have told several of my neighbors of the splendid results obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

The Quebec Chronicle

QUEBEC, MARCH 9, 1915.

THE INTERNATIONAL OUTLAW.

One of the most amazing things in this war is that Germany, a police-ridden country, has developed into an international criminal and outlaw. The same nation illustrates the extremes—too much law and no law at all.

Before the war every traveler who visited Germany came home with stories of petty, annoying restrictions. All kinds of innocent and trivial actions were "verboten." A decent, law-abiding traveler might be arrested and fined or imprisoned for some action, which he never dreamed of associating with crime, or for failing to comply with some red-tape regulation. A Canadian student in Saxony carelessly picked some cherries from a tree growing in the highway. Suddenly a man rushed at him with every evidence of Teutonic fury and tried to drag him off to prison. Not understanding the purpose of the onslaught, the young man resisted, and was handling the assailant quite successfully when other excited Teutons arrived and carried the Canadian to jail, where he spent several months. At length he was tried, and solemnly banished from the realm.

Such were the Germans at peace—worshippers of uniforms, watched and bossed every moment of their lives by prigs, pedants and police. War broke out and the whole character of the nation apparently changed. It became an outlaw and a criminal. Its assault upon Belgium was as lawless and ruffianly as anything that the vilest slums of a misruled city could show. Wherever its soldiers appeared there were robbery, murder, drunkenness, debauchery, incendiarism, blackmail. A conqueror sometimes tries to justify himself by saying that he has introduced civilization among barbarians. The German conquerors destroyed civilization and introduced savagery so far as their power extended.

Two reasons may be assigned for these foul orgies of a police-ridden soldiery. One is that too much restriction is bad. The man who is too much governed forgets how to govern himself. The law becomes for him something arbitrary, dissociated from reason, justice and morality. So, when the foolish, artificial restriction is removed he is bound by no laws of God or man. He has no sense of his own duty, and no sense of the rights of others. He gives free rein to his passions.

Another reason is the exaggerated and fanatical worship of the State preached by some German writers. The State, according to this doctrine, commands the unbounded, unquestioning obedience of its subjects, but it is itself bound by no law. It owes no duty, either to its subjects or to the world. It tears up treaties. It violates the most solemn obligations. It tramples on the rights of a weak nation. It has no conception of international relations governed by anything but force.

For this reason the progress of civilization depends upon the defeat of Germany. Civilization can be advanced only as freedom, law, and order are respected. In that way we have arrived at civilization within a State—by the observance of law and order by individuals and by respecting their liberty. In that way we shall eventually arrive at civilization for the whole world—by the observance of law and order by free nations. Germany is the antagonist of this progress. Germany is the arch-outlaw, who must be subjugated before the progress of civilization can be resumed.

The world does not want the anarchy and lawlessness and violence for which Germany stands as a nation. The world does not want the pedantry and petty tyranny which travelers in Germany observed in time of peace. The world wants an ordered freedom, such as exists in a well-governed country. In such a country every individual is protected, allowed to live as he pleases within the bounds of decency and reason, to do as he pleases as long as he does not hurt his neighbor, and to develop his own talent and capacities. He is not compelled, but encouraged, to develop them in such a way as to serve the community.

In the community of nations the same ideals should be kept in view. There should be law, there should be order, there should be freedom. There should be recognition of the fact that each nation and race has its own peculiar genius. There should be an end of the notion that that work can be done only by domineering and violence. It is to prevent domineering and violence that the use of physical force is justifiable. There is such a thing as the occasional use of physical force to prevent the world being perpetually ruled by physical force alone. That is the reason the allies are fighting against Germany today.

It was once believed that Germany would play a great part in the advancement of civilization. The crack-brained militarists of Germany turned her aside from this work, so that today Germany seems to be fortified all right to guide or help to govern the world. Men who acted as the Germans did in Belgium are not qualified to be the advance guards of civilization. A regenerated Germany, clothed and in its right mind, may take up the work of civilization again. But so long as Germany is obstinate, the civilized world must fight. Society must protect itself or perish.

BUSINESS AS USUAL.

Canada is moving along toward the springtime in good heart. With the reawakening of nature will come the busy period. The spring of 1915 will be the busiest that this country has ever known or experienced.

With never-yielding confidence the people of Canada have come through seven months of war. They have held well together. Canada has not been permitted to experience evil. The buoyancy of Canadian business life has refused to admit depression.

The days that are at hand will see this spirit of confidence put to the test—a test in which the people will not fail. If the war has wrought much that is disastrous, it at least has done this: It has put fresh vigor into the blood of the race; it has given them a new and broadened outlook.

Springtime will give to agriculture the occasion to inaugurate a campaign of production that in extent has not been equaled. Here and there we hear that farmers have always been doing their utmost. No doubt this is correct. But this year agricultural Canada is going to produce, natural conditions being normal, vastly more than in any previous year.

Business life in every department will catch this spirit that pervades agricultural Canada. Indeed, business life might be said to be leading the way. One of the largest plow works is working with a staff larger than hitherto in anticipation of the busier days on the farm. This is but one example in numbers.

If through the winter Canada has so well lived up to the war-time maxim, "Business as Usual," her efforts in this direction will be more than maintained with the entrance of the spring season.

PRESS COMMENT.

Relative to Mr. Lloyd George's threat that the British Government may do something as a war measure to curb the drink habit in Great Britain, it should be remembered that he was menacing workmen rather than soldiers. Furthermore, restrictions suggested by him were not prohibitive in their nature. What he hinted was a prospective shortening of the business hours of public houses adjacent to great industrial plants at which Government work is carried on. The suppression of the traffic in absinthe in France and the abolition of the Government monopoly of vodka in Russia are measures radically different in purpose from that which the British statesman has in mind. He evidently believes that workmen, on whose labor the fate of the empire depends as truly as upon armies and navies, are spending too much time and strength in the saloons. What he proposes is not abstinence but industry, not prohibition but temperance. By the abolition of absinthe and vodka, France and Russia did not suppress the use of alcoholic beverages. Both countries are still well supplied with lighter drinkables which would be outlawed in our "dry" States. So Great Britain, if it moves at all in the direction indicated by Mr. Lloyd George, will do no more than apply with greater stringency the excise laws. War is not, therefore, as many of our prohibitionists believe, a mighty promoter of their contention. On the contrary, war and drink go hand in hand, leading from one excess to another. No British statesman of any party or any creed, charged with the responsibility of carrying on a desperate war, will undertake at one and the same time to conquer the enemy and revolutionize the appetites and habits of his countrymen.—New York World.

Sir Edward Grey's rather brusque remark to the effect that the Allies did not want the advice of neutrals as to how further devastation could be prevented in Belgium will discourage outside meddling, which however well intended, could serve no good purpose, and might even complicate the military problem of the Allies. About the only great neutral country which has interested itself on behalf of Belgium is the United States, and a few days ago the British Foreign Secretary paid a warm tribute to the helpful and generous work that had been done by American relief societies. This work, however, is the work of individuals and of private corporations. The advice which Sir Edward Grey said that the Allies were ready to do without would not have come from private citizens. Evidently it would have been offered by Governments, and it is not unlikely that the Government of Sir Edward Grey had in mind was the United States Government. The American nation six months ago had an opportunity that does not often present itself to a great nation. When Belgian neutrality had been violated and the Belgian nation trodden in the dust, President Wilson ought to have spoken to Germany with the voice of the neutral world. Had Theodore Roosevelt been President the United States would not have been dumb and helpless in the face of this great cataclysm. President Wilson, however, feared that for the United States Government to protest against the policy pursued by Germany might be to involve his country in the war. In regarding this as the worst disaster that could befall his country, he no doubt represented the views of millions of Americans. He was playing "safety first," which is a prudent, if not glorious game. But having failed to show any sense of America's responsibility for the violation of The Hague agreements, it is not to be wondered at the subsequent notes which can be represented as dealing with matters of trade rather than with matters of international law and morality have not the authority that would attach to them had they followed earlier and emphatic protests against Germany's war in Belgium. He will be given no opportunity by Sir Edward Grey to appear at this late date as a helper of Belgium.—Exchange.

In ignoring the German crime in invading a small neutral country without provocation whose peace Germany had guaranteed by international agreement; in ignoring the German breaches of Hague agreements to which the United States was a party; in urging on Congress a measure which means American purchase of interned German ships; in sending American congratulations to the kaiser, and in some lesser matters, has not the Wilson administration given some ground for the suspicion that the German-American vote in the United States is badly wanted by the Democrats and their leader for the next presidential election?—Ottawa Journal.

Little hydrogen balloons, carrying small loads of high explosives and attached to two miles of very light wire, are to be released over cities which are menaced by dirigibles. An airship, becoming entangled in the wires, will draw the explosive into contact, and be wrecked by the resulting explosion. Such is the scheme of a Philadelphia inventor, and he is offering it for what it is worth to the European countries that are menaced by air attacks. The plan seems feasible enough. Moreover, it is not open to any of the objections which have been advanced against submarine mines. The mines of the air would menace nothing but the hostile aircraft, for the destruction of which they are intended. Unlike the mines of the sea they would bring destruction to no peaceful craft. Another plan, which is of far more doubtful utility, is to send up an aeroplane from which dangles a colony of the air mines. This could, perhaps, be sent far above the dirigibles, toward which it might descend till the dangling mines reached their mark. Being above the dirigible the aeroplane would, it is said, suffer no damage from the explosion. Certain it is some defense far more serviceable than the high angle gun will soon be devised to put an end to the immunity hitherto enjoyed by the air raiders, and it may be that the ingenious American has pointed the way.—Vancouver Sun.

SALTS IN HOT WATER CLEARS PIMPLY SKIN.

SAYS WE MUST MAKE KID-
NEYS CLEAN THE BLOOD AND PIMPLES DISAPPEAR.

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate, then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities which often break all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of hot water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys to normal activity, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually makes pimples disappear; cleanses the blood; and is excellent for the kidneys as well.

TENSION RELAXES IN AUSTRO-ITAL. SITUATION.
Berlin, via London, March 8.—8.15 p.m.—It is announced in diplomatic quarters that a decided relaxation of tension in the Austro-Italian situation is noticeable. This is attributable probably to the initiation of direct negotiations between the two countries in response to the Austrian overtures. How far the negotiations have progressed and whether tangible results have been obtained has not been learned, but it is believed improbable in diplomatic circles that any decisive result has been reached.

To Grow Hair on A Bald Head
BY A SPECIALIST.
Thousands of people suffer from baldness and falling hair who, having tried nearly every advertised hair tonic and hair-grower without results, have resigned themselves to baldness, and its attendant discomfort. Yet their case is not hopeless; the following simple home prescription has made hair grow after years of baldness, and is also unequalled for restoring gray hair to its original color, stopping hair from falling out, and destroying the dandruff germ. It will not make the hair greasy, and can be put up by any druggist: Bay Rum, 6 ounces; Lavona de Composee, 2 ounces; Menthol Crystals, one-half drachm. If you wish it perfumed, add 1 drachm of your favorite perfume. This preparation is highly recommended by physicians and specialists, and is absolutely harmless, as it contains none of the poisonous wood alcohol so frequently found in hair tonics.

SENTRY WAS SHOT ON COVE FIELD

PTE WILLIS, OF 8TH R. R. ACCIDENTALLY WOUNDED IN LEFT ARM.

Private Willis, of the 8th Royal Rifles, was accidentally shot in the left forearm, shortly after midnight this morning while doing sentry duty at the Cartridge Factory on the Cove Fields.

Willis was shot by the discharge of his own rifle, upon which he had neglected to apply the safety catch after he had loaded the weapon. He was resting the butt of the rifle on the ground and leaning over the muzzle when his puttees caught in the trigger. The bullet, which was a .303 calibre, hard-nose, ploughed through the flesh of the left forearm inflicting an ugly wound, and came out below the elbow.

The injured man was taken to the military hospital where he was operated on by Lieut. Petticler, and Lieut. Enright. It required 5 stitches to close the wound after it has been cleaned.

Although the wound does not appear to be very serious, the patient will be confined to hospital for some time.

STREET CAR ON FIRE

Car No. 76 of the Q. R. L. H. & P. Co. caught fire on St. Peter street, yesterday morning. The motor underneath the car became overheated and ignited the flooring, burning a considerable portion of it. The firemen of No. 5 station were summoned and extinguished the blaze with Babcocks.

FUNERAL OF LATE PETER MURPHY.

The funeral of the late Peter Murphy was held from his late residence, St. Michael street to St. Patrick's Church and cemetery yesterday morning, followed by a large number of relatives and friends of deceased.

At St. Patrick's Church, the Rev. Father Costello officiated at the solemn Requiem Mass and Libera, assisted by the Rev. Fathers O'Hare and Healey, as deacon and subdeacon respectively.

The chief mourners were Mr. S. P. Murphy, son; Mr. Simon Murphy, brother; Jas. O'Donnell and Master Herbert Murphy, grandson.

RECORDER'S COURT.

His Honor the Recorder had three prisoners before him yesterday. Two young men who belong to one of the gangs which are in the habit of standing at corners and passing remarks on passers-by, were condemned to fines of $10 and costs each or fifteen days' jail each. They paid up. The Court in passing sentence, instructed the police to pay particular attention to corner loiterers, saying that in future any of these individuals brought before him would receive the maximum punishment. A man arrested for attempting suicide in an endeavor to jump from the Ramparts, was sent to jail for a month to undergo medical examination as to his sanity.

LATE WM. W. JOHNSTON LAI D AT REST.

The remains of the late William Withycomb Johnston whose unexpected demise a few days ago after a short illness, caused such widespread regret among a large circle of friends, were laid at rest in Mount Hermon Cemetery yesterday afternoon. The funeral cortege, which was a large and representative one, was but a fitting tribute to the respect and esteem in which the deceased was held by all who knew him. Among the large number of mourners were some of the old officials of the Quebec & Lake St. John Railway in whose employ the late Mr. Johnston spent many years; there were also representatives from the various departments of the Provincial Parliament, including the Treasury Department where deceased had been employed up to a few months ago when he took ill; the St. Andrew's Lodge No. 6 A. F. and A. M., to which the late Mr. Johnston was prominently attached, was represented as well as other Masonic Lodges and fraternal societies.

On a separate sleigh there were several beautiful floral offerings, among others from deceased's conferees at the Parliament, from former officials of the Q. & L. St. J. Ry., and a star each from the Companions of Stadacona Chapter, Royal Arch Masons and the St. Andrew's Lodge No. 6 A. F. and A. M.

The service conducted by Rev. S. T. Martin at Chalmers' Presbyterian Church was impressive. The officiating clergyman gave a short address which was followed by the singing of the following hymns by the choir—"Peace, Perfect Peace" Now the Laborer's Task is O'er" and "O God of Bethel" all of which were rendered in a touching manner.

Following immediately after the hearse were the chief mourners Mr. Peter Johnston, of Toronto, brother; Mr. J. M. Johnston, of Quebec, uncle and Mr. Kenneth Smith, of Toronto, nephew.

President Jacob Schiff, of the American Red Cross ought to be Schiffed out of that.

SOLD MILK FROM TUBERCULAR COWS

LEEDS CATTLE DEALER FINED BY THE RECORDER, YESTERDAY.

In the Recorder's Court yesterday morning, a man named Wark, was condemned to a fine of $40.00 and costs or two months imprisonment, for having sold milk in this city from tubercular cows.

The complaint was lodged by the Civic Health Department through an inspection made by the Civic Veterinary Surgeon, Dr. Bedard. The accused, who is a cattle dealer, of Leeds, pleaded guilty to the accusation and was subsequently condemned.

Mr. Oscar Morin, one of the city's legal advisors, pleaded in behalf of the Civic Health Department. It was pointed out in the evidence that the accused had been advised some time ago to do away with the two cows in question. Mr. Morin laid special stress on the dangerous trade of selling such milk.

LAI D AT REST.

That was a very large and representative body of citizens of Quebec and Leeds that formed the cortege which followed the remains of the late Mr. John Lovitt Davie, yesterday afternoon, from his mother's residence, Leeds, to St. Andrew's Church in this city, and Mount Hermon cemetery. The chief mourners were Messrs Geo. D. and Allison Davie, brothers of the deceased, and J. De S. Bosse, and Sandeland, brothers-in-law.

The mournful procession left the ferry landing on the Quebec side of the river, shortly before 2.30 p.m. to St. Andrew's Church, where Rev. Dr. Love, pastor of the church, and Rev. Mr. Wright, of Leeds, conducted a simple but most impressive service, during which the choir, under the direction of Mrs. A. D. Scott, organist, rendered the hymns "Nearer My God to Thee," "Rock of Ages Cleft for Me," and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," in a very feeling manner.

At the conclusion of the service the remains were conveyed to Mount Hermon cemetery for interment in the family lot. As the casket, which was covered with wreaths of flowers, was being borne from the church, a funeral march was played on the organ.

The floral tributes of respect were both numerous and costly and completely filled a carriage, in addition to those that lined the interior of the hearse. A large number of vehicles containing mourners followed the remains to their last resting place.

SPLENDID LECTURE BY PROF. LEACOCK

LARGE AUDIENCE HEARS DISTINGUISHED SPEAKER AT COLUMBUS HALL.

As was expected, those who attended the Columbus Hall last night to hear Professor Leacock reading selections from his writings, did not fail to enjoy themselves. The distinguished lecturer and humorist never fails to interest a Quebec audience, either while he deals eloquently with pertinent public questions of deep importance, or brings home to the hearts of his listeners the humorous side of life to point a moral or adorn a tale. And the fact that he came to Quebec last night to give a helping hand to the ladies of the Red Cross Society, placed him and his audience in the kindest good-natured one with the other, from the beginning of the lecturer's programme to its close. From the specimens given of the seriously philosophical side of life last night to the specimens of the seriously humorous originality of storytelling which has placed Mr. Leacock in the very front rank of Canadian humorists, all came in for hearty applause, and, when the lecturer comes back to Quebec, he will have a hearty welcome from those of our citizens who have heard him and can appreciate a gifted speaker.

Professor Leacock in opening the programme read a novel, which he followed by the reading of a play and then proceeded with a most interesting address on Belgian Heroism. In view of quite recent events in the great European war the address was particularly appealing to the audience who showed their appreciation of the successful efforts of the lecturer in enthusiastic applause from the large audience.

The speaker then wrote a description of the session of the House of Commons in which the Home Rule Bill was discussed which was also well received.

Dr. J. M. Harper who presided, introduced the distinguished professor in brief but well-chosen remarks.

Dr. Parmelee at the conclusion of the lecture moved a hearty vote of thanks to Prof. Leacock, which was seconded by Sir Louis Jetté.

The ladies of the Red Cross are to be congratulated on securing the gratuitous services of one who can generously give of his time and literary talent, without any hesitancy, in a cause so dear to the heart of all of us, as is at present engrossing the labours of Quebec ladies, to alleviate the pains of war, as far as may be, for our boys at the front.

COALING SHIPS IN JAPAN

Interesting Lecture at Y. M. C. A. Tonight by Mr. Frank Carrel.

Coaling ships with the aid of human carriers from the barges up the steep sides of the ship to the landing spot opposite the hatchways, is the manner in which ships are coaled in many parts of the world, but probably there is no port that can do it so quickly as Nagasaki, Japan, 5,300 tons of coal were stowed away in the bottom of the S.S. "Cleveland" by about three thousand Japanese men and women. Many of the latter were working with their children tied to their backs, doing the same identical labor as the men. The side of the vessel is very quickly covered with a trellis work of scaffolding, upon which the coal is passed from one elevation to the other, in a small basket carrying probably half a bucket. The dexterity in the filling of these baskets and passing them on from one to the other, the contents thrown into the ship, and the basket returned to the coal laden barge, is something astounding. There are many continual lines from the barge to the ship's hatches, which makes an endless carriage of coal.

A picture of the above scene, colored by Japanese artists, will be among the pictures shown at Mr. Frank Carrel's illustrated lecture on the Women and Babies of Japan, tonight at Y. M. C. A. John St.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE

MR. J. R. AMBROSE.

The funeral of the late Mr. J. R. Ambrose, former manager of the Bank of British North America in this city, took place from his late residence, Grande Allee, yesterday morning to the Cathedral of the Holy Trinity and was very numerous attended, some of the most prominent men in the city being present. The Quebec branch of the Bank of British North America was officially represented by Mr. C. W. Ismay, local manager, and Mr. A. A. Stewart, accountant. The chief mourners were Mr. L. P. Ambrose, teller in the Bank of Montreal, Montreal, son of deceased, and Mr. W. G. Hinds, a particular friend.

The service at the Cathedral was conducted by Rev. E. R. Eardley-Wilmot, Assistant Minister, assisted by Ven. Archdeacon Balfour, the lesson being read by His Lordship Bishop Williams. The choir of the Church was present, under the direction of Mr. E. A. Bishop, organist and rendered very feelingly the hymns, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," and "On the Resurrection Morn." At the conclusion of the service the remains

LAURENTIDES AND LAVAL WINNERS

CRESCENTS GAVE LEADERS A TERRIFIC FIGHT FOR VICTORY—Y.M.C.A. DEFEATED.

Two good hockey exhibitions were furnished to followers of the local City League at the Quebec Rink last night. Laval won from Y. M. C. A. by 9 to 3 and Laurentides beat Crescents 2-1 after one of the most exciting and heartrending struggles of the season.

Laval-Y. M. C. A.

After two periods of close and exciting play, at the end of which the score stood 4-3 in favor of Laval, the students took a tremendous brace in the last twenty, piling in five goals while their opponents were held scoreless. The substitution of Baillargeon and Delaney for Shink and Power proved disastrous, as the former failed to warm up quickly enough though they showed some good hockey.

The first period ended two all, but on the play Y. M. C. A. deserved a better decision, two long shots eluding McDermott.

Laval came back stronger in the second period and deserved their lead of 4 to 3 at its close. There was nothing to it but Laval in the final session and they scored repeatedly.

Carey and Shink were the pick of the losers, though all worked hard. Woods, Power and Ramsay bringing off some fine plays.

Teams and summary:—

Laval	Goal	Y.M.C.A.
Demers	Point	McDermott
Alleyne	Cover Point	F. Power
Lachance	Centre	Woods

Laurentide-Crescent.

Crescents lost more chances to tie up and even beat Laurentides in the last period of last night's game than any team could have done.

Laurentides won by 2 to 1 and were extremely fortunate to get the decision, as they did not play their usual game, the absence of Simard, also, may have weakened them somewhat. On the other hand Crescents lacked the services of four regulars, Langlois, Goodnoh, L'Heureux and Fuller.

During the first period the Laurentides had the better of the play, but "Joe" Savard's sensational work in goal kept them from scoring and the period ended without score.

Crescents were checking very close and Laurentides were compelled to shoot from far out. Jimmy Walsh's team, however, shaded "Tom" Malone's boys in the second period and despite Savard's marvellous goal-keeping, Laurentides skated off the ice at the end of the twenty with a lead of two to nothing. Turgeon batted in the first goal when the puck was brought out in front of the net by the Crescent defence and Walter Deroin scored the second by following in, taking Roy's pass and giving Savard no chance to save.

Johnny Laroche broke away from the face-off at the opening of the third period and shot a long one which Santerre failed to connect with, making the score 2-1 for Laurentides.

As practically nineteen minutes remained to play chances looked bright for Crescents and the game became decidedly strenuous. Both teams used their bodies freely. Crescents had the better of the play, but Walsh and Deroin played strong defence games, keeping the opposing forwards from shooting.

Lake rushed, faked a pass and fooled Deroin, having only Santerre to beat. He picked out a spot in the net to place the puck but shot it into the crowd, and the Crescent supporters groaned. Joe Marois played fast hockey for Laurentides, and Savard made a great save when he went down alone and shot.

Crescents were forcing the play

RESULTS OF ARENA LEAGUE MATCHES

CERCLE ST. PIERRE AND FEUILLE D'ERABLES WERE WINNERS.

A large crowd witnessed two fast games in the Arena league last night. Cercle St. Pierre had to go at a fast clip to best Levis but they won out by 2 to 1.

Feuille d'Erables defeated Montagnais by 7 to 3 and had a wide margin on the play.

and a score seemed certain. Robitaille went through and missed an open goal and a minute later Doherty with only Santerre to beat, hit the goal's pads. Robitaille was benched and D. Malone came on. Laroche rushed and passed to Malone who dashed in past the defence. Walsh threw his stick but it missed the mark but the nets seemed too small and though Malone had the chance of his life-time, he shot wide. Walsh was ruled off but the game ended without further score, though Crescents played desperately to even up.

Marois was the pick of the Laurentides, as he played fast, clean hockey all the way through. Walsh, Deroin and Roy did some great checking in their work being of much value to their team.

Joe Savard was the shining light on the Crescent team, though he had little to do in the last period. Laroche, Robitaille and Delaney were the best of the rest, though Lake, Crotty and Doherty made splendid showings. Dr. Hamel and Jeff Malone handled the game in a capable manner.

Sporting Notes

The hockey followers got their money's worth at the Quebec Rink last night.

Racine of Laval, has a great shot, and he knows how to use it.

The Bank Nationale team took a game by default from the Bank of British North America-and-combine, yesterday.

Connie Mack, the manager of the Philadelphia Athletics is quoted as saying:

"I have every reason to believe that the Athletics will again win the American pennant. I am confident that my young twirlers will more than make good and that what remains of my 1914 team will be out there working like the champions of old."

If Mack with his record of six American League pennants and three world's championships, can win another pennant this season with two pitchers in Bender and Plank and two infielders in Collins and Baker, missing, he will go down in baseball history as the managerial marvel of the game.

The local baseball magnates will get to business next Wednesday. If any clubs intend joining, Mr. Romeo Lepine, secretary, is the man to whom applications must be sent.

Carey's stick-handling and shooting in last night's game was remarkable.

Joe Savard proved himself the king of all the City League goalkeepers. His coolness in the net is a feature of his playing.

Norman Woods played a good game for the Y.M.C.A. It is reported that Norman may put the goal-er's pads on once more. He was a sensation in goal when he played for St. George.

The Arena League race is becoming interesting. The battle for the championship is between Cercle St. Pierre and Feuille d'Erables.

It is rumored that a dark deep laid plot was concocted by the Lavalists who spirited away McDermott, the Y.M.C.A. goalie and substituted his twin brother. But, we don't believe it, of course.

JOHNSON-WILLARD FIGHT ON APRIL 3

THE ENCOUNTER WILL TAKE PLACE AT HAVANA—JOHNSON BEGINS TRAINING.

Havana, Mar. 8.—A fight for the world's heavyweight pugilistic championship will take place at Havana Saturday, April 3, between Jack Johnson and Jess Willard.

The last obstacle in the way of having the fight take place here was removed this afternoon when Jack Curley, who endeavored to have the men meet at Juarez, Mexico, March 6, received a cable from Willard saying that he would start immediately for Havana, arriving here from New Orleans March 15th. The terms for the fight are identical with those which would have prevailed had the encounter taken place at Juarez. Mr. Curley will act as the chief promoter, and will be assisted by Richard Klegin, managing director. The site for the battle has not yet been selected, but several excellent places are available.

Johnson began training today. Willard will probably have training quarters at Marianao.

KALAMAZOO HARNES RACING MEETING.

Six Early Closing Purses Total $21,000.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Mar. 8.—Six early closing purses with a total value of $21,000 were today announced for Kalamazoo's Grand Circuit harness meeting, August 2 to 6, inclusive. The $10,000 Paper Mills Purse is for 2:07 trotters, while the $3,000 Burdick Hotel Purse is for 2:09 class pacers. There also are four $2,000 purses for the following classes: 2:18 and 2:11 trots; 2:17 and 2:06 paces.

In addition to these events, Recreation Park Association will offer fourteen class purses of $1,000 each as late closers.

GOVERNOR'S VETO CAME TOO LATE.

Little Rock, Ark., March 8.—Governor Hayes sent a message to the House tonight, announcing that he had vetoed the racing bill passed by both Houses of the Legislature last week. The point of order was raised that the time in which the Governor might veto the bill expired at 4.10 this afternoon. Speaker Sawyer sustained the point of order and declared the bill a law. The State constitution provides that if the Governor takes no action on a bill within five days from the date of its passage, excluding Sunday, it automatically becomes law.

The bill passed the House at 4.10 Tuesday afternoon. At 5.11 this afternoon, Harry Stewart, the Governor's secretary, announced that the Governor had signed the racing bill. A few minutes later a denial was issued from the Governor's office.

"ARSENE LUPIN" MAKES A BIG HIT

AUDIENCE WAXES ENTHUSIASTIC OVER FAMOUS FRENCH DRAMA AT AUDITORIUM.

The stirring French drama "Arsene Lupin" was presented at the Auditorium last night before a large and enthusiastic audience who thoroughly enjoyed all the thrills of this sensational play.

Mr. Bonal in the leading role as the famous French burglar "Lupin" fitted the part well and his acting was so realistic that he was warmly applauded.

The other artists were also very good in their respective parts and by their support helped to make this presentation such a success as a whole.

This play will be repeated at the matinee this afternoon and on Thursday as well as tonight and Wednesday night.

AN AFTERMATH OF WAR.

Ropt. Owen, speaking of the great home crisis that followed upon the peace of 1815:

The war was the great and most extravagant customer of farmers, manufacturers and other producers of wealth, and many, during this period, became very wealthy. The expenditure of the last year of the war, of this country alone, was £130,000,000, or an excess of £80,000,000 over the peace expenditure. And, on the day on which peace was signed, this great customer of the producers died and prices fell as the demand diminished. Barns and farmyards were full, warehouses loaded, and such was our artificial state of society, that this very superabundance of wealth was the sole cause of the existing distress. Burn the stock in the farmyards and warehouses, and prosperity would immediately recommence in the same manner as if the war had continued.

Julius Caesar on the Aisne

The New York Herald.

It has repeatedly been pointed out that 2,000 years ago Julius Caesar fought on the battlefields of the Aisne, which are now the location of the fiercest fighting between the Germans and the French. It is probably less known, however, that in this present war Caesar's "Commentarii de Bello Gallico" are used by French officers as a practical textbook on strategy. The war correspondent of The Corriere della Sera reports this somewhat astonishing fact.

A few weeks ago he visited his friend, a commanding colonel of a French regiment in his trench, which was furnished with bare necessities only. In a corner on a small table lay the open volume of "Commentarii Caesaris," which the visitor took into his hand out of curiosity, in order to see what passage the colonel had just been reading. There he found the description of the fight against the Remer, who, at that time, lived in the neighborhood of the present city of Rheims. Principally with the aid of his Numidian troops, Caesar at that time had prevented the Remer from crossing the River Aisne, today called the Aisne.

Caesar's camp was only a few kilometers from Berry-au-Bac, in the vicinity of Pontavert, the headquarters of the division to which the regiment of the colonel belonged. This colonel had received the order to cross the River Aisne with Moroccans and Spahis, and for this purpose he had studied the description of Caesar. To the astonished question of the reporter, what made him occupy his mind with the study of Caesar, the Frenchman replied:

"Caesar's battle descriptions form a book from which even in this present day war a great deal may be learned. Caesar is by no means as obsolete as you seem to think. I ask you to consider, for instance, that the trenches which have gained so much importance in this war date back to Julius Caesar."

TURKS LOST HEAVILY NEAR PERSIAN GULF

"The enemy's losses near Ahwaz (in Khuzistan) on March 3 were heavier than previously reported. Six hundred were killed and many were wounded.

"In the action on the western flank the enemy lost three hundred men killed."

"We all had this trouble for about two or three years, and during that time tried many remedies and prescriptions with no results. We tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it RELIEVED AT ONCE, and before the third jar of ointment had been used, we were all completely cured. THE MUDDLE OF MEXICO.

(New York Herald.)

There can be no criticism of European governments for manifesting anxiety over the Mexican situation. Carranza's truculent attitude toward Spain, whose diplomatic representative he has driven from Mexico City, has served to draw renewed attention to Mexican conditions, which can best be described by the single word—chaos.

Carranza's expulsion of Mr. Jose Caro is as high handed as it is unwarranted. It is not necessary to go beyond the explanation of the Carranza junta at Washington to understand that the diplomatic representative of Spain has been forced to flee the country for no other reason than he was doing his duty in affording protection to a Spanish subject.

"But Spain has not recognized Carranza," the junta says. This is true. Neither has the United States recognized him as official head of Mexico, for he is head of a relatively small faction. It is true, however, that the policy of President Wilson is responsible for such strength as Carranza has, and in all the circumstances Spain has a right to expect of the United States that it "handle" him.

Spain has long been complacent under crimes committed against Spaniards in Mexico—complacent because of faith in the assurance given by the President that the United States would bring order out of the Mexican chaos. Other European nations have waited for the fulfillment of that promise. And while they have waited conditions have grown steadily worse.

President Wilson is sending another "confidential agent" into Mexico. Let us hope his record of accomplishment will be better than those made by his predecessors. If it is not, the United States will be compelled by its responsibility to the rest of the world to go into Mexico and put an end to the anarchy that to so great an extent is due to the mistaken policy of the government at Washington.

WELSH GUARDS

London Times.

—By way of recognition of the magnificent behaviour of the men of Wales of age to join the colors, having regard, too, to their "excellent character" as soldiers, and to further arouse the martial spirit of their nation in support of this just war, would it not be a graceful compliment, which no Welshman would be ever likely to forget, to form a regiment of Welsh Guards? The sister nations of England and Scotland have for a long time past had their guards regiments, and only a few years ago the formation of the Irish Guards afforded ample evidence of how much gratification and pride that most tactful idea of the late Queen Victoria created in the national sentiment of Ireland.

No suggestion would be more popularly acclaimed in Wales. No idea would more vividly stir the imagination of the people. A battalion could be raised in very good time, especially, as might, perhaps, be necessary, if the standard of height used in guards regiments were slightly reduced. Then, with Wales's own young Prince as colonel-in-chief, there would exist a new regiment of guards of which both Wales and the British army would have every justification in feeling proud.

A SHORT WAY WITH STRIKERS

Advocates of compulsory military service are not usually very wise in the conduct of their campaign; but Lord Methuen has certainly surpassed all his fellows. Arguing in favor of the compulsory cadet corps, he quotes the example of the South African Citizen Army, and he says:

Little did we anticipate that within three years this force should (sic) have scotched a strike and quelled a rebellion.

If there is a suggestion that could damage Lord Methuen's proposal more than another, it is precisely this that the cadets are to form the nucleus of an army to be used for the suppression of strikes.—London News and Leader.

Mrs. Wiseneighbour says:

"I should have told you the other day when I was speaking of 'Eddy's' washboards, that it is just as necessary to have an indurated fibreware tub to hold your clothes if you want to make a success of washday."

Mrs. Newlywed says:

"I've heard of Eddy's indurated fibreware. What's the difference between fibre and woodenware?"

"Fibreware is made from compressed fibre, baked at extreme heat. All in one solid piece it cannot warp or fall apart. No chance of splinters—wears much longer—looks better—and is light to carry. The latter point you should always take into consideration," concludes Mrs. Wiseneighbour.

BONAR LAW'S POCKETS

Daily Mail.
—Mr. Bonar Law is looking the better for the parliamentary recess. He has been putting in a vast amount of hard work lately, but looks fitter than for a long while. But then, Mr. Bonar Law loves work, and when he isn't working he plays golf.

One of his little peculiarities is shown in his smokes. In town and in the country he is a great cigar smoker. In the country he is seldom seen without a pipe. The cigar, one might say, is his official smoke. And then Mr. Law's pockets, too, are peculiarities known to all parliamentarians, and feared by them, too.

He seems to have pockets concealed in all parts of his coat, and each pocket contains some carefully tabulated references or figures. Watch the Unionist leader when he is speaking and you will see the pockets come into play. He always speaks without notes, but should he be questioned or heckled, swiftly a hand darts into a pocket, out comes a cutting or a note. Mr. Law reads it off with chapter and verse to support his statement and the heckler generally retires hurt.

The spring costumes are superb and the prices so low that the customers do not hesitate to have their measure taken right away.

A CHANCE ACQUAINTANCE

New York World.
—William Dean Howells passed his seventy-eighth birthday Monday. The dean of American writers recently had to bow to the all-sufficiency of Portsmouth, N.H., the metropolis of his summer land. In that fine old city is a tailoring establishment which clothes naval officers and where a rear-admiral is a common sight. Mr. Howells drifted in one summer day and departed just as a lady entered. The storekeeper pointed to the passing novelist and asked, "There goes William Dean Howells." No response coming, he asked, "You know of Mr. Howells?" "No," was the reply: "I haven't lived in Portsmouth very long." The story spread, and the one who laughed most heartily was Mr. Howells.

USING SOAP SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulled coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), its cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulled coconut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

COMMERCIAL NEWS
NEW YORK MARKET.
(Canadian Press.)

New York, March 8.—Stocks made further decided progress towards higher levels to day on a fairly large volume of business, some of which was believed to represent investment inquiry. The new week began with numerous indications of general trade improvement, particularly in the steel and allied industries. Advances from the middle west pointed to greater activity of leading manufacturing centres and the United States Steel Corporation was reported to have increased its output to 75 per cent. of capacity.
Forecasts of the Steel Corporation's unfilled tonnage, which will be issued on Wednesday, suggest a gain of not less than 200,000 tons over February, which in turn showed an increase of 412,000 tons over last December. Steel, with several of the leading railway issues and Amalgamated Copper, led the movement throughout the session. Realizing for profits caused some minor recessions in the later dealings, but net gains of 1 to 2 points were the rule.
Coppers and the usual miscellaneous group of specialties were put forward at odd intervals, the rise in the metal shares being attended by reports of large exports. Specific reasons accompanied the rise of certain stocks, notably Canadian Pacific, which was strong in London, and New Haven, which showed a pronounced decrease in its deficit for January. Stocks and bonds of the several railroads comprising the Gould group were active at higher prices, presumably in anticipation of favorable developments at tomorrow's meeting of the Missouri Pacific shareholders.
Apart from vague peace rumors, the foreign situation was not a factor in the day's events. Foreign Exchange was at a standstill in the absence of any immediate sailings for Europe, but a fair amount of business was reported in the new German war notes. Grain markets were strong on the large export demand. The government crop report showed a decrease of 207 per cent. in farm reserves of grain.
Bonds were strong, despite further extensive selling for foreign interests. Total sales, par value, were $2,515,000. Panama coupon 3's advanced 3/4 per cent. on call.

New York, March 8.—There was a better tone to trading on the New York Stock Exchange today. On a slightly increased volume of business prices of the leading issues advanced all along the line. The rise was ascribed to various causes. Short covering was in evidence as was also some good actual buying by people who are satisfied that it is time to begin to accumulate cheap stocks. For a short time it looked as if the market would break away from restraint, and send shorts in a rush to cover, but the large interests again exercised their control over it, checked it at the right moment, and retained the factor of technical strength for service later on. New Haven was a strong feature, due to short covering. Coppers were strong notwithstanding unfavorable trade news as it was urged in some places that a change for the better in the industry was at hand. We would not be inclined to follow this advance, but would take profits on strong spots with the idea of re-buying on weak spots.
Sales: Stocks, 269,993; bonds, $2,484,500.

Chicago, March 8.—Sentiment in the wheat pit was bullish at the opening and prices advanced under demand promoted by the firm cables and light offerings. Cash wheat was scarce and there was some export inquiry. In the afternoon the market developed renewed strength on the decrease of 2,045,000 bushels in the American visible supply and prices advanced to a level of 4 1/2 to 7 1/2c above Saturday's closing levels. There were expectations of a bullish Government report. Cash demand was good.
Corn was steady with wheat and the firm foreign markets. Farm offerings were light and there were predictions of bullish farm reserve reports.
The oats market was favorably affected by the firmness of other grains and good export movement. There was some cash demand from cash houses.

New York, March 8.—We have had a really good market again today with a well distributed general advance and considerable activity. This latter condition is, of course, only comparative, as we have noted several times before, considering all things, the market is doing well and we are fortunate to have trading as active as it is, the war news, such as comes to hand is all of a favorable nature and that is doubtless the reason why the market acts so buoyant.
Two decisions were handed down by the Supreme Court, favorable to the railroads, the annulment of the West Virginia two-cent passenger rate law, and the Dakota Coal rate regulation. In both cases, the court decided that after a fair trial, the rates were to low. These decisions helped to maintain the optimistic temper.
The market closed quietly, slightly off from the best figures of the day. Sales, 269,993; bonds, $2,484,500.

TO RECRUIT MEN FROM C.P.R. SERVICE

But New Engineering Corps Will Not Be Restricted to Company's Men.

C. RAMSAY TO COMMAND

New Body Will Be Known as the Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps.

The Federal Government recently, in response to the suggestion of the Imperial authorities, asked Sir Thomas Shaughnessy if he would organize and recruit a railway construction corps of five hundred officers and men for immediate service overseas. Sir Thomas, who has aided the Imperial cause both by voice and action, responded to the invitation; and after preliminaries had been disposed of a plan was formed by which men would be recruited, not only from the C. P. R. service itself, but from the general body of citizens. That is to say—the invitation will be made to suitable men in the service; but all others outside the service who present themselves, and who are found to be eligible, will be accepted. Those who join will be required to do so for the duration of the war; and will have to perform all the duties of a field engineering corps, which duties may possibly bring them close to, if not at the firing line. Mr. C. W. P. Ramsay, C.P.R. engineer of construction, with headquarters at Montreal, has been named as commanding officer with rank of Lieut.-Colonel in charge of the force, which will be recruited from men having practical knowledge and experience in steam shovel work, track laying, ballasting, grading, bridge work—(both steel and trestle)—wrecking, concrete work, telegraph building, and, indeed, all the branches that enter into the construction or rebuilding of railways.

The plans decided upon, and the number of men required of the various kinds suggested, are to be sent at once to the general superintendents of the C.P.R. in New Brunswick, Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia, who will consider applications for enlistment, and will forward approved names to the commanding officer in Montreal. The force when enlisted will be mustered at St. John, and will be sent overseas as soon as possible.

Mr. Ramsay's headquarters for the present will be in the Windsor Station offices, where applications from those in the Province of Quebec will be received.

Mr. Ramsay said yesterday that it might take a month in all to get the men properly assembled at St. John before sailing. They wanted the men to be proficient in the directions which have already been mentioned, and, if so, it did not matter whether they belonged to the C. P. R. or not.

In regard to the possibility of the men having to get into the firing line, Mr. Ramsay said they would be precisely like a field engineering corps as to equipment and duties. They would do what they had to do wherever that might be. They would be in no way differentiated from an engineering corps on the field.

LEGAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Number of Judgments Rendered.

By Hon. Chief Justice, Sir F. X. Lemieux:

Marrier & Tremblay vs. Océan—Judgment in plaintiff's favor for $499.48, interest and costs.

Dominion Fish and Fruit Co., vs. Great North Western Telegraph Co.—Considering that the defendant company has neglected to transmit in time to plaintiff company a cablegram from one Cooper, of Liverpool, dated November 21, 1913, in which to plaintiff concerning the English market regarding more particularly, apples; considering that the negligence in the transmission of the said cablegram was the cause of plaintiff being unable to profit by the favorable conditions of said market, and that the cargo of apples destined for Liverpool did not arrive in due time and had to be sold with a loss by plaintiff; considering that the damage incurred by plaintiff amounts to $760.10, the defendant is condemned to pay plaintiff said sum, with interest and costs.

By Hon. Justice Letellier:

Labrecque vs. City of Quebec—Plaintiff claimed $555.00 from defendant for damages, alleging that on the 30th day of April last, about half-past eight in the evening, on St. Joseph street, he fell upon the sidewalk and sustained grievous wounds; that the occasion which he met with on that sidewalk was due to the fact that the sidewalk was in a bad condition; that the plaintiff's left hand was badly wounded, and he received very severe bruises to the left shoulder, losing by this accident at least six weeks' of wages. Defendant pleaded that the accident was due to the fault and gross negligence on the plaintiff's part but without admitting any responsibility from his part defendant offered before the institution of the action, $200.00 in capital and costs. Said offer was refused by plaintiff. The Court declared said offer good and

From the Files of THE CHRONICLE, March, 1885 and 1815.

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Messages of Condolence.

In these columns 30 years ago, the Chronicle issued messages of condolence to the families of two well-known and worthy citizens of Quebec who have departed this life within a very short time of each other: viz. that of Mr. James Bowen, lumber merchant who came to this country from the state of New York about half a century previous to his death, during the most of that time he resided at Sillery Cove where he was actually engaged in the lumber business of this port. The poor and deserving ever found in him a true friend. Four children survive him, all well known in Quebec—Mr. Amos Bowen, Mrs. Edson Fitch, Mrs. Burdill of Liverpool and Mrs. J. G. Leitch.

William Darling Campbell.

The other message of condolence refers to Mr. Wm. Darling Campbell Notary Public. Mr. Campbell was deservedly recognized as filling a place at the very head of his profession and his opinion on professional matters was highly valued by the commercial community. Though never seeking public honors or emoluments, he was really a type of a true public spirited man, always ready to work and give his time, his talents and his money for the good of his country.

Not often is it our lot to mourn the loss of one whose career as a man, a citizen and a Christian, is so eminently satisfying, whether viewed in public or private life, or from an artistic or scientific standpoint. With the members of his estimable family we deeply sympathize sufficient and dismissed the plaintiff's action for the surplus, with costs.

By Hon. Justice Pouliot:

Legare vs. Genest—Action for $300 damages against defendant, for breach of promise. The Court condemned defendant to pay and satisfy plaintiff $100 with costs of the action as brought, but gives plaintiff two months to marry plaintiff if he wishes to do so, and in that case he won't be bound to pay plaintiff the above amount awarded by the present judgment.

By the Prothonotary:

P. T. Legare, Limitée vs. Boyer, et Champoux, S.S.—Judgment against garnishee according to his declaration, the whole with costs against defendant.

Bisson vs. Pellerin—Judgment in plaintiff's favor for $1,200.15, with the costs pursuant to confession. Glickman et al vs. Cie Economique, Limited.—Defendant is condemned to pay the plaintiff $248.10, interest and costs.

AUXILIARY FLEET OF GREAT BRITAIN.

Admiralty Has Taken Over Fifteen Hundred Vessels.

Washington, March 8—Some idea of the size of the auxiliary fleet of Great Britain is using to move and sustain her armies in the field may be gained from a report on shipping conditions from American Consul Lathrop, at Cardiff Wales.

Fifteen hundred British vessels, he reports, aggregating more than 3,500,000 tons have been taken over by the British Admiralty on time charter, the Government taking all responsibility and agreeing to return the vessels as received.

An Easy Way to Get Fat and Be Strong

The trouble with most thin folks who wish to gain weight is that they insist on drugging their stomach or stuffing it with greasy foods; rubbing on useless "flesh creams" or following some foolish physical culture stunt, while the real cause of thinness goes untouched. You cannot get fat until your digestive tract assimilates the food you eat.

Thanks to a remarkable new scientific discovery, it is now possible to combine into simple form the very elements needed by the digestive organs to help them convert food into rich, fat-laden blood. This master-stroke of modern chemistry is called Sargol and has been termed the greatest of flesh-builders. Sargol aims through its re-generative, re-constructive powers to coax the stomach and intestines to literally soak up the fattening elements of your food and pass them into the blood, where they are carried to every starved, broken-down cell and tissue of your body. You can readily picture the result when this amazing transformation has taken place and you notice how your cheeks fill out, hollows about your neck, shoulders and bust disappear and you take on from 10 to 20 pounds of solid, healthy flesh. Sargol is absolutely harmless, inexpensive, efficient. All leading druggists of Quebec and vicinity have it and will refund your money if you are not satisfied, as per the guarantee found in every package.

Caution:—While Sargol has given excellent results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles it should not be taken by those who do not wish to gain ten pounds or more.

A HUNDRED YEARS AGO TODAY

The Battle of Plattsburg

In this column yesterday was given extracts from a despatch from Sir George Prevost the commander-in-Chief of the British forces at Plattsburg whereby he states that when he saw the British flag hauled down on board the Confiance and Linnet and the gun boats seeking safety in flight, it was useless for him to further continue the contest as he required the co-operation of the fleet in his land operations.

The following is from the naval side of this unfortunate affair, being a copy of a letter from commodore Sir James Lucas Yeo, commander-in-chief of His Majesty's ships and vessels on the lakes of Canada:—I have the honor to transmit, for the information of the Lord's Commissioners of the Admiralty, the following:—It appears to me, and I have good reason to believe that Capt. Downie was urged, and his ship hurried into action, before she was in a fit state to meet the enemy. I am also of opinion, that there was not the least necessity for our squadron giving the enemy such decided advantages, by going into their bay to engage them. Even if they had been successful, it would not in the least have assisted the troops under Sir George Prevost in storming the batteries of the enemy; whereas had the troops under Sir George Prevost taken the enemy's batteries first, it would have obliged the enemy's squadron to quit the bay, and given ours a fair chance.
