Westmount Municipal Association To Launch Membership Drive

Making as early a start as possible in the year, the Membership Committee of the Westmount Municipal Association held an organization meeting on Monday evening last in the Men's Lounge, Victoria Hall, under the Chairmanship of C. S. Madill, of Wood Avenue.

The Committee consists of Messrs. Harold W. Corrigan, Frank R. Findlay, J. W. Foster, T. M. Gillingham, E. D. Gordon, R. Bainbridge Hall, Denny A. Hanson, Brian Heward, Ernest C. Koch, Alex O. McMurtry, Claude P. Ross, and William Chairman Madill pointed out that although the Association has always represented the citizenry adequately in the past, an increase to at least double the present membership is most desirable as a means of affording a generous cross-section of the views of the population, of bringing out interest in the affairs of the City, and of consolidating public opinion.

Twelve teams have been set up to cover the City on a geographical basis, and an intensive campaign will be carried out to offer to all citizens the opportunity of associating themselves in this useful endeavour.

The Committee is hopeful that many Westmount residents will join the Association without receiving personal solicitation. Application with membership fee of $1.00 may be sent to the Secretary-Treasurer, V. F. McAdam, 6 Weredale Park.

Mrs. Andrew Fleming Makes Appeal For Red Cross Workers

"The work of the Red Cross in the province of Quebec has fallen off badly during 1943, and it might be of interest for you to know that during the year that has just passed, the total number of completed articles is 415,000 less than in 1942. The time has come when an all-out effort must be made to keep Red Cross production at its peak, and there must be no regrets later in 1944. Red Cross supplies and reserve stock must be ready," declared Mrs. Andrew Fleming, of 3030 Trafalgar Avenue, co-chairman of the Women's War Work Committee of Red Cross House.

Mrs. Fleming says, "During the year that has just passed, the Canadian Red Cross has extended its activities into an ever-widening field of service.

"Now, a new year has opened out before us, and with it has come a renewed sense of responsibility, and realization of the important role the Red Cross is playing in the Allied cause. But it brings to us also the knowledge of the heavy task which must be accomplished in 1944.

"Every day the news from overseas tells us of the progress and the victories which the Allies have achieved, while every day the possibility of a new invasion front becomes more evident. All this means more—and more, responsibilities for the Red Cross. The Red Cross must be ready to meet these new eventualities, but it can do this only if each of us—very woman in the province of Quebec—does her individual share.

"My message to you, from the Red Cross, can be given in one brief sentence: We need volunteer women workers in every one of the branch workrooms.

"Now that the holiday season is over and the branch workrooms are again open, we need all our former volunteers back at their places, but I should like to appeal especially to the women who have not yet become Red Cross workers to offer their services and help keep these supplies moving."

Westmount Navigator Parachutes To Safety From Training Craft

According to a report received here this week, from Rivers, Man., No. 1, Central Navigation School, Sgt. Melvin Willis C. Chateauvert, son of Mrs. Robert Willis Chateauvert, of 4560 St. Catherine Street West, along with another student navigator, Sgt. Charlie Murphy, of Edmonton, showed great resourcefulness in obeying orders to abandon aircraft and bail out. It also states they parachuted to safety through fog and the blackness of night from their Anson training craft when engine trouble developed, and their wireless set became unserviceable and the weather closed in.

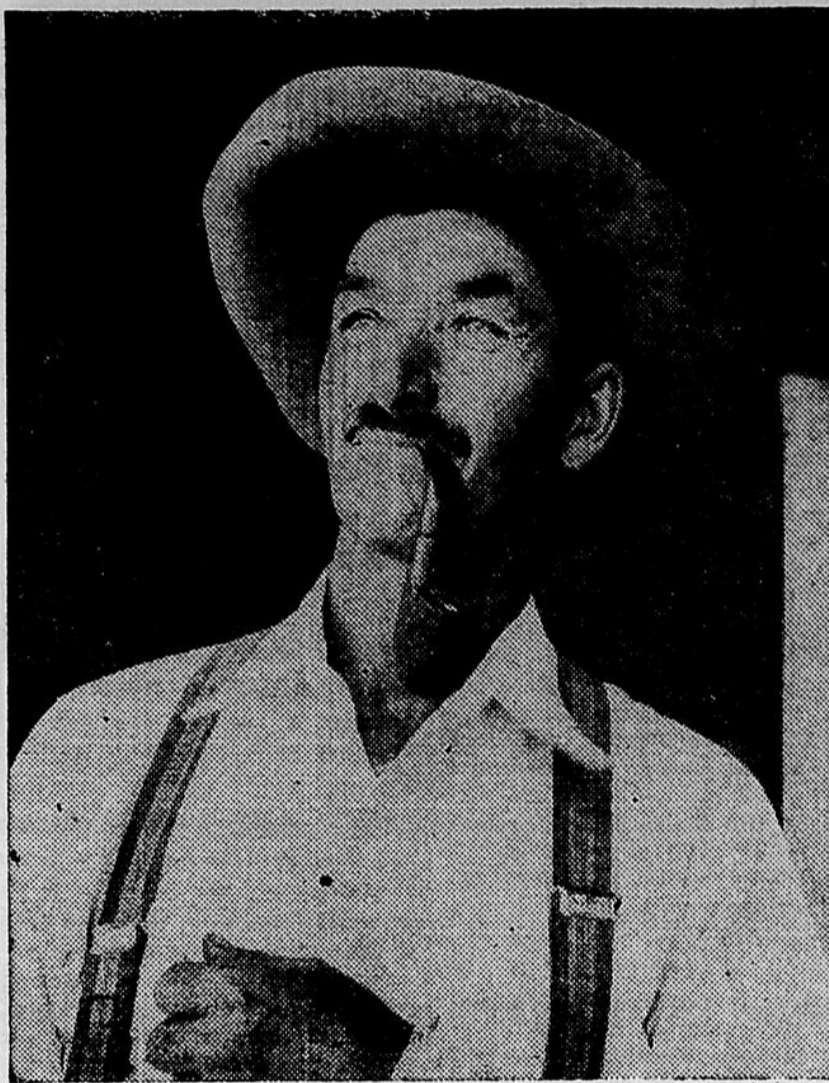

The resourcefulness of the two navigators, the pilot and wireless operator who likewise bailed out, was held out to other student navigators at the big school as an object lesson. In addition, the gruelling experience has served to sharpen the appetites of Murphy and Chateauvert for action overseas.

Coolly they obeyed the order to abandon aircraft. One of the navigators took time out to fold his cap and stick it in his pocket while descending. His comrade thought to take along a flashlight to help them probe through the darkness when they landed.

The three airmen crew members plunked down a few yards apart in a farmyard and were given shelter in the farmhouse. The pilot dropped into a tree,

K. H. Murray Tells Home and School Of Students' Aid

Speaking under the auspices of the Rosedale Home and School Association on Thursday night last, Kenneth H. Murray, Guidance Counsellor at the Intermediate School, Westmount, told his audience about the important role that counsellors perform in aiding students in their training.

Mr. Murray dealt with the merits of a good teacher and the effectiveness in student counselling. He went on to say that in small schools, the principal often acted as special counsellor, while in larger schools, a specially trained counsellor was often used.

The speaker said that he thought it was the task of the counsellor to become acquainted with the abilities and attributes of individual students and to assist them in obtaining the most out of their school course. Vocational guidance counsel was also often given.

R. Japp, Protestant school official, E. G. Hildebrand, of the Bell Telephone Company, G. H. Heslam, principal of West Hill High School, and Miss C. I. Mackenzie, principal of the Montreal Girls High School, were speakers at a meeting last night of the Iona Home and School Association, held in Iona School. Mr. Hildebrand noted that English-speaking high school graduates were often weak in bilingualism, spelling and arithmetic.

Edward Anderson Booked To Address NDG Garden Club

Westmount Horticulturist To Speak on Growing Of Vegetables

In order that gardeners of N.D.G. and surrounding districts may get away to a good start, the Garden Club in co-operation with the Victory Garden section of the Community Garden League of Greater Montreal have secured the services of Edward Anderson, director of parks and recreational activities for the City of Westmount, to speak at the first of the winter meetings sponsored by these groups, which will be held on Tuesday next in Wesley United Hall.

Mr. Anderson has chosen for his talk "Planning and Planting Your Vegetable Garden," and will include in his talk the preparation and care of hotbeds and cold frames.

Mr. Anderson directed the Victory Garden campaign for the City of Westmount in 1943, is well known for his activities in gardening circles and the club is fortunate to have secured such an authority to open this very popular series of "off season" gatherings.

Following Mr. Anderson's address a ten minute "Question Period" will be held during which the speaker will answer questions submitted regarding gardens and gardening.

Motion pictures dealing with gardening will also be shown during the evening.

Rev. G. W. Goth Addresses King's Home and School

Speaking on "Character Training," on Wednesday at the King's Home and School Association, Rev. George W. Goth, minister of Westmount Park Church, made a plea for more discipline to be used by parents in bringing up their children.

The speaker said that no civilization has ever been conquered from without unless it collapsed internally, and that our western civilization came very near to defeat in the present war is indicative of the collapse of character in our midst.

Mr. Goth maintained that there is too much emphasis today on self-expression and not enough on restraint and discipline. But discipline must be towards some permanent value.

In differentiating between customs and values, he said the latter "are embedded in the very structure of the universe and it is our task to discover and maintain them." True values and discipline itself in this way cannot be separated from religion, he concluded.

First Company Boys' Brigade Hold Father and Son Banquet

The Friday evening father and son banquet of the 1st Company turned out most successful. The address of the evening was delivered by the Rev. W. Talbot-Hindley and was most inspiring.

The display which took place in King's School at 8.15, commenced with the regular falling in of the Company, followed by the marching on of the colors. The Boys' Brigade hymn, "Stand Up For Jesus, Christians Stand," was sung, followed by a prayer by Rev. W. Talbot-Hindley. Immediately following this opening ceremony the unit was inspected by Flt. Lieut. T. H. Stirling of the No. 1 Wireless School. In his remarks, following the inspection and march-past, F/Lt. Stirling lauded the boys on their splendid turn-out and neatness. He told them they should be proud to belong to such a worthy organization which had as its object such a sound foundation, laid by the funder for the upbuilding of strong Christian manhood. He to had been through the ranks of the B.B., as a boy in Scotland, and was proud to be present at the inspection of this kind, which brought back so many pleasant memories of his boyhood days. He wished the Company every success and hoped to be present at the next display later in the season.

The drill down competition was well conducted by Color Sgt. Eddie Goring, who finally boiled the Company down to two boys, and eventually breaking the tie, leaving Corp. Bob Eastwood as winner of a handsome pocket purse. As the runner-up had shown such remarkable talent, he was awarded a blazer crest. Pte. Ron Thurston was the lucky individual.

The physical training team showed that their training had been well conducted by Instructor W. Brown. Each member of the team performed far beyond expectation.

The brass band's first appearance was certainly a splendid one. The boys, while rather nervous at making a public appearance, gained confidence as they played and ended up by proving themselves most capable of handling their instruments. Mr. H. Scales, former bandmaster of the Ottawa Citizens' band, commended the band on this first performance and congratulated Lt. Chas. King for his competent training. Cpl. Bob Eastwood played a Euphoneum solo which was much appreciated.

To close the evening, Captain Richardson called upon Mr. W. A. C. Cranmond to present the following awards: Long service badge to Color/Sgt. Edwin Goring; three month service buttons to: Pte. Monty Dugan, Pte. Jim Durocher, Pte. Les Parker, Pte. W. McClelland, and Pte. G. Smith. Christmas card sales: Pte. Jordan Durocher, camp knife; Cpl. A. Keith, pocket-book. Calendars: Pte. Rufus Curry, a camp-knife. The evening ended by the playing of the National Anthem by the brass band and the benediction being pronounced by Rev. W. Talbot-Hindley.

The Company will have the honor of a visit from P/O Alan Weaver, formerly with the Garden City Baptist Company. He will inspect the unit and remain as guest for the evening.

Sgt. Bdr. O'Reilly Presumed Dead

Sgt. Bdr. J. P. G. O'Reilly, R.C.A.F., who was reported missing after air operations overseas last summer, is now for official purposes presumed dead, according to casualty list. German sources previously reported his body was found on the Dutch coast, but Ottawa holds these reports as unreliable.

The news from German sources was received through Ottawa by Sgt. Bdr. O'Reilly's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James P. O'Reilly, 356 Elm avenue, only six weeks after the airman was reported missing. "Jimmy" O'Reilly was prominent in local sports circles, having played with both junior and senior football, hockey, lacrosse and track teams. He worked with The Gazette circulation department for four years and played with The Gazette hockey team for three years.

Born in Notre Dame de Grace, Sgt. Bdr. O'Reilly celebrated his 22nd birthday the day he left for overseas—December 12, 1942. He was educated at Lajole Academy and St. Leo's High School, graduating from the latter in 1939. He enlisted with the R.C.A.F. on March 1, 1942, and after training at Lachine, Belleville and Jarvis he received his wing at St. Johns in November 1942, going overseas in December.

Sgt. Bdr. O'Reilly's brother, Lt. John O'Reilly, is serving with the Canadian Armored Corps and is stationed at Dundurn, Sask. His three sisters, Mrs. James McTaggart, and Betty and Sheila O'Reilly, all live here.

P-O R. P. Brodie Wins Commission

Word has been received that P.O. Robert P. Brodie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Carlyle Brodie, of 635 Murray Hill Avenue, has been commissioned and awarded his wings at a recent graduation of pilots at St. Hubert. A graduate of Westmount High School, he was employed by the Dominion Textile Company, Limited, prior to enlistment.

P.O. G. H. Wurtele Is Commissioned

After two years overseas in radio location work, remustered to air crew and returned to Canada for training, Pilot Officer G. H. Wurtele has recently been awarded his pilot's wings and commission at Camp Borden.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. H. Wurtele, of 756 Upper Lansdowne avenue. Educated at Lower Canada College and McGill University, he was employed by Fairchild Aircraft, Limited, before joining the R.C.A.F. in May, 1940.

Sgt. Melvin Chateauvert, was a graduate of Westmount High School, and is a well-known athlete having won the Provincial Championship in broad-jumping for three years at the M.A.A.A. Sermon On Burns To Be Delivered At St. Andrew's

Rev. Donald Morrison To Speak on Poet's Attitude to Religion

In view of next Sunday being the one nearest to Burns' birthday, Rev. Donald Morrison will preach a special sermon on "Robert Burns and the Religion of his day," at St. Andrew's Church next Sunday evening. Mr. Morrison is himself a Scotsman with all the fervor and fire of the Highlander, and has made a special study of the Scottish peasant poet. He has formed strong convictions regarding the religious value not only of Burns' poetry, but of the poet as well. During his sermon he will quote from some of his better-known poems such as the Cotter's Saturday Night, as well as from some of his forceful invectives against the Pharisees of that day. Mr. Morrison is minister of Westminster-Central Church.

At the morning service, Rev. Dr. F. W. Kerr will preach, his topic being "Luther—The Nemesis of an Earlier Day." In this sermon, Dr. Kerr will show similar forces of oppression and intimidation at work in Germany of the Middle Ages, until the resolute Luther rose to defy it all in the name of Jesus Christ.

Following the evening service, the Alpha Omega Society will meet for group discussion, the topic being "Right and Wrong activities on the Sabbath." This meeting of young folks has been attracting the largest attendance in its history. Especially has there been an excellent attendance of visiting young men in uniform. In the following week, a Social Evening has been planned.

Included in the service on Sunday evening will be a new song, "The Lord is my Strength," by James D. McRae, a former pupil of Fred Whiteley, of St. Andrew's Church.

Besides being organist at Knox United Church, Portage la Prairie, Mr. McRae is a Barrister-at-law of the Manitoba Bar. Already he has gained much fame in musical composition, chiefly in the sacred field. Mr. McRae is a son of the late Reverend Doctor Farquhar McRae, a pioneer Presbyterian clergyman in Manitoba.

His most recent work, to be sung by Mlle Madeleine Lefebvre, is orthodox in form, full of melody, and with a free flowing accompaniment; the text is Biblical, and a distinct piece of musical literature which will please singer and listener alike.

February 2nd, at 8.30 p.m. in Temple Community House, the speaker will be Dr. Yui Ming Guest, Director of Chinese Ministry of Information in Canada, who will speak on "China's Place Among The United Nations."

Parker School Of Trained Attendants Comes Of Age

The Parker School for Trained Attendants came into existence in 1921. Miss M. L. Parker, R.N., M.B., C.N., is the pioneer of this work in Canada and in 1921, in order to carry out the necessary standards, required for its future success, started her own school and by special request, under her own name, under direct patronage of some twenty-five prominent doctors, headed by Dr. F. J. Shepperd, LL.D., then Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, McGill University, Dr. Lafleur, Dr. Tooke, Dr. Archibald, etc. It was always recognized by Miss Parker that a proper supervision and control was as important, if not more so, than the curriculum. This has been accomplished in a dual way by a brief contract with each pupil, in connection with the school and one with the Association of Trained Attendants for the Province of Quebec, to maintain esprit de corps, thus giving trained attendants "student government," with the cooperation of R.N.'s. It can readily be understood that this work must be organized, supervised and controlled by registered nurses, otherwise it is like children running a kindergarten. Recently the Canadian Nurses Association recognized the need for such a worker and passed a resolution that it was to be produced in every province. Montreal has the honor of being some twenty-one years ahead of the other provinces. This year the A.R.N.P.Q. has sponsored not only Miss Parker's School but her association of trained attendants for the province of Quebec.

The pupils are carefully selected by Miss Parker and the first two weeks are probation periods.

If the pupils pass their examinations, at the end of the first three months, they are sent on cases or go into suitable convalescent or chronic hospitals. The Parker School has trained over eight hundred pupils. They come from and are scattered over all Canada. They are known by this blue uniform and their reliability and are too proud to pretend they are fully trained nurses.

Here let it be emphasized that only R.N.'s, with large experience are capable of running registers for trained attendants and placing them on cases. It is of the utmost importance that the public should recognize the danger of badly trained, unsuitable women for this work. In order to protect the public and the R.N.'s, Miss Parker designed an attractive uniform of Alice Blue, white apron, veil, similar to the St. John Ambulance veil, kerchief, etc. This uniform, together with the badge, worn on the veil, are registered at Ottawa.

Two courses are given yearly. One starting in September, the other in January. The school cannot begin to supply the demand for its graduates. Now that the government is reducing the number of women workers, a great opportunity for women, with a spirit of service and desirous of earning a good living, is open. This school is the one sponsored by the A.R.N.P.Q. It means that its graduates will be qualified and recognized by them in any future standardization and registration.

Seventh Day Adventists Burn Mortgage

H. L. Rudy, Oshawa, president of the Canadian Union Conference, Seventh Day Adventists, dedicated the Seventh Day Adventist Church, 4250 Western avenue, at a special dedicatory service held at the church last week, when the mortgage on the property since its purchase 20 years ago was burned.

Prior to the mortgage burning ceremony, conducted by J. C. Neithercut, Oshawa, treasurer, Ontario-Quebec Conference, the church's history was discussed by I. S. Jones, one of the oldest members of the congregation, who also recalled the ministers, 20 in all, who had served the congregation. Practically the entire congregation, as well as a number of visitors, attended the service.

VISITS WESTMOUNT

Lt.-Col. Margaret Eaton, assistant adjutant general (C.W.A.C.) at Ottawa paid an informal visit to the Westmount Ordinance last week. Colonel Eaton made a point of chatting informally with as many members of the Women's Army as possible during her visit. She was accompanied by Capt. Cecile Bouchard, staff officer, M.D. 4.

Westmount Park

Dr. W. J. Gallagher who is secretary of the Canadian Committee of the World Council of Churches is to visit in this area over the week-end. He will address an open meeting in Westmount Park Church on Sunday evening during the regular church hour. Dr. Gallagher was formerly minister of Chalmers United Church, Guelph, Ontario, and is one of our foremost Canadian churchmen. Most of us are becoming aware of the oneness of man. Circumstances are bringing us together. The old isolationism is dead. Dr. Gallagher will speak to us of the churches in occupied Europe; of the world-wide church and its challenge at this time.

At the morning service Mr. Goth will preach on "The Ninth Commandment."

A "Fireside Hour" will follow the evening service at 8.45 at which one of the recent student delegates to the student conference in Ohio will speak.

Red Cross group meets on Mondays and Wednesdays.

Mid-week service each Wednesday at 8.00 p.m. The minister is conducting a series of studies on The Acts of the Apostles.

F. C. Whitaker Says Sense Of Humor Needed In Life

F. C. Whitaker, past president of the Westmount Rotary Club, was the speaker at the luncheon held on Wednesday in Victoria Hall, and his subject was "Sense of Humor Needed in Life."

Observation and mental analysis of the seemingly unimportant everyday little things of life were suggested as a field of unlimited entertainment today, the speaker said.

Pointing out that taxation, among other things, has steadily reduced the amusement item in the average citizen's budget in the past few years Mr. Whitaker demonstrated by a number of examples based on his own research that life contains many a prospective chuckle for which nothing need be paid, if only people develop the faculty of observation. The fruit of such effort, he observed, would help people to preserve their mental balance in times of stress such as the present.

He said that with the aid of several collaborators, "it was established to our complete satisfaction that we all go too far afield for our entertainment."

Children's sayings or doings were generally considered amusing, whereas the doings and sayings of adults in their dealings with children were often really far more entertaining, he said.

Observation, he showed, would bring out an unlimited store of amusement in contradictions in the spoken and written word, in facial expressions and people's reactions to even commonplace courtesies and other incidents.

Chester Morris, president, was in the chair, and the speaker was introduced by Percy Delgado and thanked by Dave Kerr.

MR. CHURCHILL'S RECOVERY

EVERYONE is glad to know that Prime Minister Churchill has recovered from his illness when he suffered an attack of pneumonia, and while he will not perhaps take as active a part in events for a while, he refuses to sit back and take no notice. Mr. Churchill has been in constant touch with all events and actions taking place all throughout his illness and no doubt his counsel has been sought and given in all matters, in fact he has demanded that it be so. The people everywhere were naturally greatly worried as to Mr. Churchill's recovery and anxiety and speculation was rampant for some time in most circles. Mr. Churchill himself, attributes his recovery in no small measure to the new sulfa drug which was used in his treatment. He said "There is no doubt that pneumonia is a very different illness from what it was before this marvelous drug was discovered."

Strange to say, The Chicago Tribune, Col. McCormick's noted newspaper, pays tribute to him as one of the greatest war leaders and says that he has gifts unequalled in any other man of our times. It is hard to imagine that The Tribune would even go so far as to rate Mr. Churchill as durable goods and that the United Kingdom would have a hard time in replacing him, but the editorial does go that far.

THIS YEAR—TRY LESS, DO MORE

OVER three hundred bright new days of 1944 and packed full of potential accomplishment, big things to be done, more all around satisfaction than we managed to get from 1943. But before we consider the new resolutions that we set at the beginning of the year, let's stop a minute and consider.

Take a good look at your contemplated resolutions. Are they actually as sensible as they seem? Or are they going to start us in this new year on another din and confusion formula, a three ring circus with far more going on than the senses can grasp. Will we feel, if we follow them, we are wasting time unless we are trying to do three or four things at once? Do we get more that way or do we baffle our minds and bodies without satisfying them? Do we really get more done on the days when every minute is accounted for on the memo pad—mornings spent with three telephones ringing on the desk, dictating a telegram, going over figures mentally and keeping two foremen waiting while we talk to the order department? Maybe there is something in the old saw, "Do one thing at a time and do it well."

Perhaps it works on the happiness angle too. Do we get more fun out of listening to Charlie McCarthy while we talk and read the newspaper? Our Creator must sometimes look down, shake his head and say, "There's too much going on there." Obviously, if we stop to think about it, we can't prolong or enrich our lives by doing two things at once all the time. Only by sticking to one thing at a time can we savour it fully. If we never taste, see, or hear anything we can hardly say we have lived it. How can we enjoy a piece of pie if we eat it à la mode between puffs of a cigarette, listening to music and talking to our special dinner guests?

Do we go to the beach in summer to enjoy the expanse of sea, the wide sky, the solitary sands? We do not! We take the Sunday paper, four magazines, a ball, a rubber tire, umbrella, our camera and a portable radio. In winter, instead of driving along the roads shut in with the fumes of gasoline, why don't we get out, spend an hour looking, enjoying the clean cold air, admiring the white "decked" trees. That way we might store up a full-sided memory, have it for years afterward to remember and enjoy. Our present technique is to bolt everything from business to Beethoven.

Why don't we take our "resolutions" this year from a page of the book of 1883. We might be called eccentric but we would have a fair chance of getting some of the things in 1944 that old fashioned folk used to just take for granted every year. Time to really think, time to really do, time to really live!

POPULAR RADIO NEWSCASTS

A FIVE-MINUTE news broadcast contains approximately as many words as are printed in a full column of your daily newspaper. To broadcast a full page of the paper would require more than half an hour. This is one reason for the popularity of news broadcasts. They are digests of the news, making no pretence of full coverage, and this may explain why the press encourages such competition. Listeners hear the radio bulletins and then scan the paper eagerly for details. Also, they look in the newspapers for the news that the radio voluntarily omits. Crime news isn't broadcast, unless it is of such importance that brief mention of it must be made. The radio newscaster always handles crime and sex with gloves. He avoids anything that might be offensive to a family group listening in. The radio advertisers, apparently, are under no such handicap.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Hon. Herbert Morrison, in addressing the Fabian Society recently, stated that if the people of Great Britain accepted any solution less than full and responsible public management and control of industry they would run three risks: Inefficiency, exploitation and the irresponsible exercise of power and influence in the political sphere — by far the worst menace of all. He asked the industrialists who were demanding self-government in industry what they meant by "self." He did not plead for a socialization at once of all industries, though in some instances a monopoly, he believed that the remedy was socialization. But in other cases "we might be led," he explained, "to find methods of effective management and operation in the public interest without socializing the whole undertaking, at any rate at the outset." He closed with these words: "There is a great future for British workers and British industry. What is wanted is a change of methods and of heart."

"Collective bargaining by workmen for just wages and right working conditions is an indisputable right," said Roman Catholic Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch of Chicago, in a formal statement on the settlement of a three-day strike of workers at St. Adalbert's cemetery here. The strike had delayed thirty-six interments and had necessitated storing caskets in the mortuary. The archbishop went on to say that workers bargaining right was not destroyed by the fact that cemeteries are administered by the church as consecrated ground. His statement recounted, however, that the controversy arose not at this point but over the question of which union was to have the right to represent workers. That question, he said, was determined by the agency established by the United States government for that purpose. "In a democracy," he declared, "freedoms are bulwarked by obedience to legitimately constituted authorities... The church teaches obedience to civil authority and calls on her children conscientiously to accept its decisions and to do nothing outside the provisions of law to resist them or try to nullify them."

of chairman of the federal Fair Employment Practices Committee. Among his books are Shop Collective Bargaining, 1922, and Man and Society, 1930. He is also the author of numerous pamphlets on social, labor and economic topics. Prominent prelates, priests and laymen poured into Grand Rapids for Bishop Haas' consecration.

Peter Kropotkin wrote: "But if we resort to an indirect test, and ask nature: Who are the fittest among the animals. Those who are continually at war with each other, or those who support one another? We, at once, see that those animals which acquire habits of mutual aid are undoubtedly the fittest."

A South American priest recently informed one in the U.S.A. that there are 122,000,000 people in South America, but 4,000 people have 90% of the income.

Fascism is not distinctly German or Italian, and when you lift the mask and look at it critically, its essence is the domination of the many by the few in the interest of the few.

An inspector was examining a class of boys in science and receiving few answers to his questions. He asked one in a rather facetious manner which drew an aside from a boy in the back row. "Silly ass!"

The inspector, seeing the boy's lips move, called to him encouragingly: "Speak up, my boy, you may be right!"—Smith's Weekly.

In Gary, Ind., as interesting an organization as one might want to meet is now in its 12th year. Limited to 50 persons but requiring that they represent all faiths, colors, racial backgrounds and shades of political thinking, the Anselm Forum has demonstrated that an organization can be fruitful and significant in many other and more important ways than by being large. Their purpose is to "disagree agreeably." Each member is expected to have a vital religious faith. It was the belief of the founders and has been the experience of the members that each one's religious faith is deepened, not destroyed, by his fellowship and association.

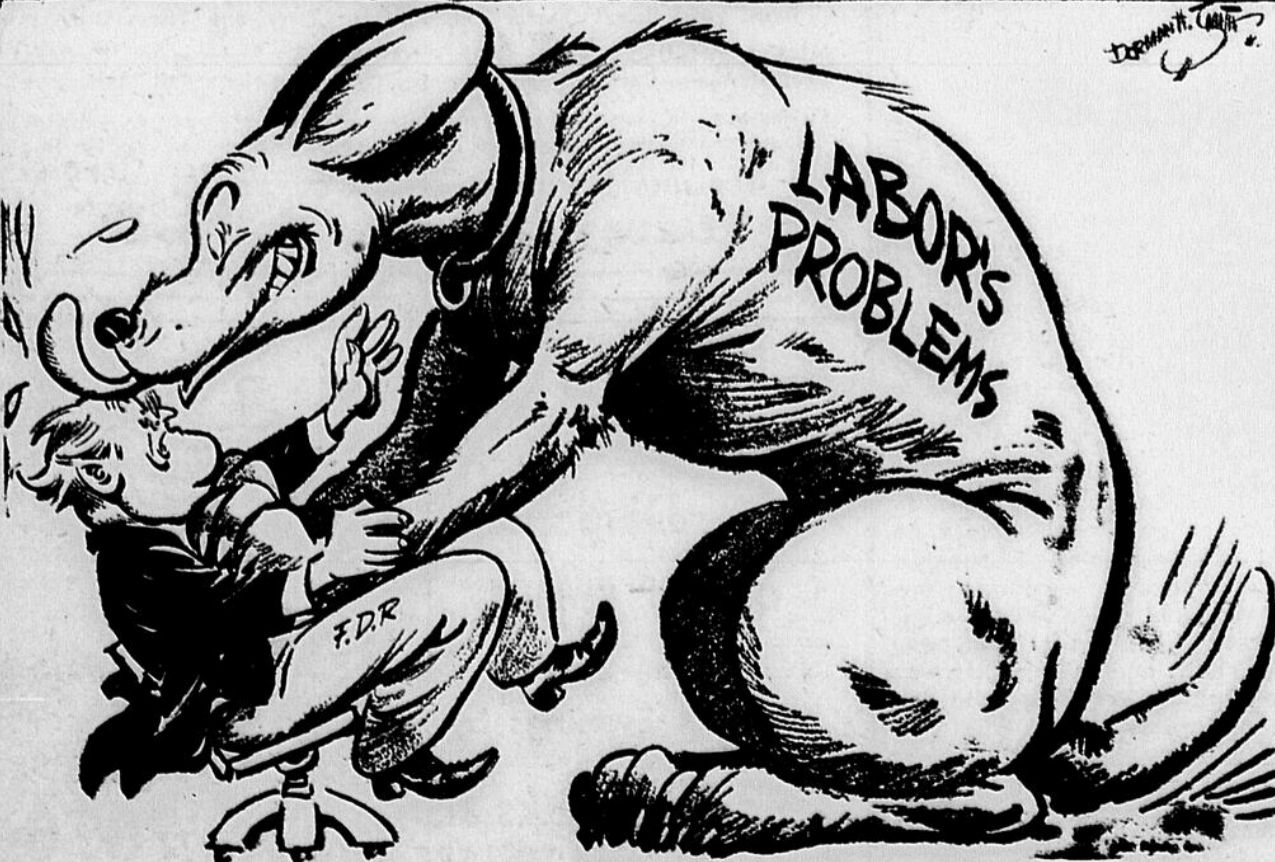

The most notable recent event in Michigan church circles was the enthronement of Francis Joseph Haas as Roman Catholic bishop of Grand Rapids. The Detroit papers gave abundant space to the pageantry and the ceremonies attendant upon the event, and praised the distinguished prelate unstintedly. Nor is this surprising. Bishop Haas, born in 1889 at Racine, Wis., has had an extraordinary career and has received many honors. He is one of the social liberals of the Roman Catholic Church, having a special interest in labor. He served on numerous boards and commissions, both state and federal. His latest post was that

A travelling showman with a portable cinema projector made a tour of remote villages. His films were silent and the main attraction was an interest film called "Deer Stalking."

At the first village he was packed out at the first performance, but on the second night the hall was empty. He stood outside and extolled the virtues of the show to a gaping crowd.

"What's the matter with you?" he demanded at last, exasperated.

"You don't catch us a second time," said the village postman. "The deer never said a word."—Sporting and Dramatic.

THE PUP GREW UP

The Church Calls to Worship

Calvary Church

The sixty-seventh anniversary of the founding of Calvary Church—formerly Congregational—now United, will be celebrated with special services on Sunday next.

The church school will meet at 10 o'clock at which time the story of the early days will be recalled for Calvary Congregational Church started first as a Sunday school on Mountain street, Montreal.

At the preaching services at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m. the minister, Capt. the Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D., will conduct the services of worship and preach the sermons.

The theme of the morning sermon will be, "The Sanctuary, the place of Revelation and Consecration". Do we place the value we should on our churches? Are we finding challenge and inspiration in the services of worship in the Lord's House?

At the evening service he will preach on the subject "The Parable of the Builders", this being the third in the series on Lessons for Life today from the Parables of Jesus. Special music will be rendered at both services by the choir under the direction of the organist, Mr. A. J. Binnie.

The Young People's Union will hold its 67th anniversary gathering on Monday, at which time a program in keeping with this important celebration will be presented under the convenership of Miss Lily Moffatt, convener of the Missionary Committee of the Union.

The 67th annual business meeting of the church will be held on Wednesday, at 8 p.m. This is actually the birthday of the church, for it was on January 28th, 1877, that the church was formally organized on Guy street, Montreal, in the Calvary Congregational Church edifice which stood near the spot where the C.P.R. tracks now cross Guy street.

All are invited to attend this annual meeting, at which time all reports of the work of the church for the year, 1943, will be presented and officers for 1944 elected, following which a social gathering will be held in the church parlors under the auspices of the Women's Association.

The Red Cross group will meet as usual on Tuesday from 10.30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the ladies' parlors.

On Sunday night, January 30th, the choir, under the leadership of Mr. A. J. Binnie, will render a program of negro spirituals.

St. Luke's Church

In dealing with the morning subject, "A Religion that Really Grips Us" some reference will be made by the minister, Rev. R. E. Spencer, to the New Catechism of the United Church, which has recently been published. A short series of evening sermons leading up to Lent will begin this Sunday in St. Luke's. The first in the series, entitled, "Vital Questions", is "Has God a Plan for My Life?" The other subjects for successive Sunday evenings are: "Can I Accept the Biblical Account of Creation?"; "Can Human Nature Be Changed?"; "What of the Future Life?"

The annual congregational meeting will take place on Friday evening, January 28th, at 8 p.m.

The Women's Association is preparing for a Valentine Luncheon on Friday, February 11th. Keep this date in mind—it is amazing what a group of women can plan in a month's time

A verse for to-day . . .

And Elijah came unto all the people, and said, How long halt ye between two opinions? if the Lord be God, follow him.—I Kings 18:21.

Westmount Baptist

On Sunday morning Dr. J. A. Johnston will speak of "The Recovery of a Lost Radiance—Maintaining the Spiritual Glow."

In the evening the minister's theme will be "Three Modern Heresies—that the 'Cultured' are in no need of Grace; that the 'Graceless' are past Redemption; that Church Membership is a substitute for Christ Membership." Communion and reception of members will follow the worship service.

Westmount Fireside Fellowship, which begins at 9 o'clock, will have in its program—Three Striking Personal Testimonies. Mrs. E. Friendship will be the soloist.

The midweek fellowship of the congregation takes place on Wednesday evenings at 8 o'clock. This service is conducted by the minister and is happy, vital and inspiring. People of the city and community are cordially invited to this delightful gathering.

On Sunday evening, February 6th, the church will have a visit from "The Singing Strouds." Mr. Victor Stroud, lyric tenor, and Mrs. Victor Stroud, mezzo-soprano, both of whom are very well known throughout the United States and Canada, will present a program of "Sacred Songs You Love." The entire evening service, apart from the time necessary for a brief address by Dr. Johnston, will be given over to these Christian artists who present, so effectively, the message of Grace in song.

Font Candlestick To Be Dedicated

In memory of a former choir boy, of the Church of The Advent, William Robert Merrifield, who died several years ago at the age of 16, a font candlestick will be blessed and dedicated next Sunday. After the sermon at the Solemn Eucharist, there will be a procession of the clergy, servers and choir to the baptistery, where the dedication will take place. The candlestick is the gift of the boy's mother.

people, their homes and their future. "And it is the duty of every one back home," said Father MacNeil, to see that the boys had something with fighting for. Some of them will never come back but those that do will need understanding and encouragement to enable them to fit in and take up the old life."

The padre spoke of the ambition of the boys to continue their education and told of the classes formed for the study of French, German, English, Business Subjects and Social Questions. They had also organized a Public Speaking Class, giving speeches from books, some of their own topics and debates. One lively debate took place, he said, when the question under consideration was, "Can a man marry and live comfortably on $25 a week."

The English people were doing every thing in their power to help the boys. They fib them and cheer them on with a smile.

Father MacNeil, who has here invite the troops in Newfoundland and England, thanked the Xavier Apostolate for the gift of crucifixes to the Chaplains for distribution among the boys, and girls of the forces.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. J. A. Clement and thanked by Mrs. Franco Consiglio.

The Moderates Father Edward Brown, S.J., spoke briefly.

Father MacNeil played and sang some of his own compositions; and Mrs. Bernard Shea also sang accompanied by Mrs. Stephen McGivern.

Address On Chekov Given By Charles Rittenhouse

Anton Chekov, dean and exemplar of the Russian drama, was described as the John Sebastian Bach of playwrights in an address on Monday to the Montreal Women's Club by Charles Rittenhouse, supervisor of speech arts for Montreal Protestant schools.

Mr. Rittenhouse lives at 4950 Coronet Avenue.

As Bach was the uncontested master of austere and noble style of composition for one particular instrument, the organ, said Mr. Rittenhouse, so Chekov is the uncontested master of an austere, if less noble, style, naturalism. "Then again Bach is the uncontested master of the fuge and of contrapuntal writing. It might be rather far-fetched to say that Chekov writes plays in fugal form, but at any rate he comes as near to it as can any playwright. And certainly Chekov is a master of counterpoint. By that I mean that his characters weave in and out of the scenes with a sort of egotistic life all their own. He does not have one melody, the story, and enrich that melody with chord harmonies. Every character has his own melody. These melodies harmonize, of course, but the characters very seldom get together to form chords."

Mr. Rittenhouse described the development of his own appreciation of Chekov from the erroneous conceptions he had formed from Stephen Leacock's parodies of Russian dramas. After seeing a performance in London of one of Maxim Gorki's plays he attained a greater understanding of naturalistic drama and returned with new zest to the study of Chekov. He went further and decided as an experiment to direct one of Chekov's works. The play he chose was Uncle Vanya which Eva Le Gallienne had shortly before revived with considerable acceptance in New York. While studying and rehearsing this play he came to a realization of what lay behind Bernard Shaw's remark that whenever he read a play by Chekov, he felt like destroying all his own scripts. Chekov, said the speaker, makes other dramatists seem crude and obvious by comparison.

Chekov's subtle fugal pattern, his mastery of counterpoint which form his most original contribution to the dramatic art were well illustrated by the Three Sisters written in a style never before attempted, declared Mr. Rittenhouse. The method had been imitated since, particularly by Clifford Odet whose "Awake and Sing" produced in New York some years ago was instantly labelled by discerning critics as Chekovian—a coined adjective which in itself demonstrated the Russian writer's powerful influence on the drama. This of itself did not account for the writer's popularity in the contemporary theatre. That was the result partly of his naturalistic style, his genuine dialogue and his fidelity to life. Still more important was his sense of the theatre. A Chekov character is a profound three-dimensional study in personality. Above all, his characters are always creatures of the stage, each being given his time in the spotlights by a playwright who wrote for actors no less than for spectators.

The speaker bracketed Chekov with Shaw and Moliere as the only trio in the long parade of dramatists since the Middle Ages who can really bear comparison with Shakespeare. Basing judgment of Chekov solely on the reading of his plays does not do him justice. That can only come from witnessing them enacted by a company competent to rise to the heights he demands. Chekov, he asserted, is entirely the man of the theatre.

Mr. Rittenhouse illustrated his talk by reading several excerpts, including the closing portion of The Three Sisters and a duologue entitled "A Tragedian in Spite of Himself" which represents all phases of Chekov's humour.

The chairman of the meeting Mrs. W. S. Edgar, introduced the speaker who was thanked by Mrs. Horace Clark

Mrs. Sylvia Bernstein, accompanied by Miss Phyllis Rowell, was soloist.

At York Theatre

Joan Crawford and Fred MacMurray bring Helen MacInnes' characters to life on the screen of the York United Theatre, where they are now co-starring in M-G-M's "Above Suspicion."

Joan and Fred play a honeymoon couple who take advantage of their position as typical tourists traveling in Germany before the outbreak of war to track down a mysteriously missing British agent. The trail starts in Paris, leads them to Salzburg, where bookshop owner Felix Bressart gives them the next clue. In Salzburg they become friendly with Conrad Veidt and Basil Rathbone and receive the clue leading to the end of the trail.

In Pertisau, they discover Rathbone to be a Nazi spy and Veidt to be a member of the British Secret Service. They rescue the missing agent and make their escape in a series of hairbreadth adventures.

Joan Crawford is at her most glamorous as the young bride and MacMurray uses his air of nonchalance to best advantage as her groom who must combine sleuthing with his honeymoon.

For the ladies, Joan wears several new hiking costumes to inspire those of us who are walking more these days.

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

Robert Young had a hard day. Young, who is currently featured with Dorothy McGuire and Ina Claire in 20th Century-Fox's "Claudia" now at the Westmount United Theatre, was also working with Betty Grable in the studio's "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" at the same time.

He worked before the cameras in "Claudia," which was easy.

But on this day there were no cameras trained on Bob for his "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" stint, which made it both difficult and messy. He sat for a plaster cast of his own face. The cast was needed in a hurry for a key scene in "Sweet Rosie O'Grady."

Young had to remove the make-up he wears for "Claudia," in which he appears as the lovable and frivolous Claudia's husband in Rose Franken's delightful comedy drama.

Make-up Director Guy Pearce smeared Bob's unadorned face with a sticky mixture of well-boiled still-warm liquid plaster. For a solid hour Bob sat without daring to move a muscle until the plaster hardened and the mold could be removed in one piece.

Next Bob was made up for "Claudia" and returned to that set for another siege of emoting.

After the plaster mold dried he was called back from the "Claudia" set, his dark make-up for the black-and-white picture removed, and the full Technicolor make-up he uses for "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" applied.

Then with his living model before him, Pearce carefully painted the mask to match Bob's exact Technicolor coloring. The mask was sent to the "Sweet Rosie O'Grady" set, but not Bob. His Technicolor make-up was removed; the dark make-up re-applied, and once again he returned to his "Claudia" for a final hour.

When the last shot was finished, Bob bicycled once again to the make-up department for removal of that final coat of grease-paint.

"My Day!" muttered Mr. Young as he wearily started homeward.

At The Monkland

"Lady of Burlesque" opens at the Monkland United Theatre on Friday through United Artists release, is as gay and tuneful and mirth-provoking as the doctor ordered.

Gypsy Rose Lee wrote the story, "G-String Murders," from which this brittle, streamlined story running from the zaniest farce to tense, suspense-filled drama, was adapted. And who, better than Gypsy, could describe so perfectly the exciting, colorful life behind the scenes as well as in front of the footlights in a Broadway burlesque theatre.

Barbara Stanwyck plays the starring role, that of Dixie Dalsy, a small town burlesque performer who suddenly gets her big chance at The Old Opera House, a famous burlesque theatre on Broadway. Barbara sings and dances her way to instant success on opening night. There are some gay and tantalizing songs which Miss Stanwyck sings in her sauciest manner, an abundance of dancing, from tap to jitterbug to splits and cartwheels, and lusty jokes and slapstick comedy of the burlesque variety that will have the audience practically rolling in the aisles.

A wedding story in an Eastern Canada weekly recently ended: "The groom expects to be transferred in a few days. The bird will continue to reside at home with her parents." In a gilded cage?

At The Snowdon

George Abbott proved himself one of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's most successful talent-pickers when he assembled his cast for his stage musical, "Best Foot Forward."

This show ran a full season in New York to enthusiastic patronage and five of the youngsters recruited by Abbott from nowhere and everywhere were transported intact with the script to California, for the new movie musical version of the production in Technicolor. The film starts Saturday at the Snowdon Theatre. These young players are Nancy Walker, June Allyson, Tommy Dix, Kenny Bowers and Jack Jordan.

Lucille Ball has the feminine starring lead in "Best Food Forward," which is a contagiously gay story of a Hollywood movie star invited to a prep school prom and the amusing complications that result. Miss Ball recently completed the feminine lead in another M-G-M musical, "Du Barry Was A Lady."

High Pressure Stuff

William Gaxton is Miss Ball's high-pressure press agent, who stumbles on some unexpected and personally discomfiting complications. He is one of Broadway's best-known musical comedy troupers, having registered successfully in "Louisiana Purchase," "White Horse Inn," "Of Thee I Sing," "Anything Goes" and "Fifty Million Frenchmen."

One of the characterizations that seems certain to have movie fans buzzing is that turned in by Virginia Weidler. It seems just the other day that Miss Weidler was a child actress, in pig-tails. Now she is Lucille Ball's romantic rival in this fast-paced story of adolescence and school mirthmaking.

The musical score of "Best Foot Forward" had theatregoers whistling and dance orchestras working overtime last year. Some of the best-remembered melodies to be brought to the new film musical are "Buckle Down Winsocki" and "The Three B's." They are supplemented by some new and equally sprightly tunes.

Anent James, Freed, Buzzell

The tunesmith who presents these musical confections is Harry James, now ranked as leader of the country's No. 1 band. Arthur Freed, who is responsible for some of the leading musical attractions of recent years — including "Babes on Broadway" and "Du Barry Was A Lady" — is the producer of the new picture. The director is Eddie Buzzell, who recently finished a new comedy, "The Youngest Profession."

The Beavers won the first game in the Staynor pee wee section of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League when they defeated the Tigers last Saturday afternoon, 5-0.

Bert Kelley led the winner's attack with two goals, while Phil Martin, Ken Black and Ted Budzen each accounted for one. Ken Black was credited with three assists while Phil Martin was chalked up with one.

Another game will be played tomorrow afternoon at the Staynor rink with the Beavers meeting the third club in the league. The game is scheduled to start at one-thirty p.m.

Westmount Highlights

by Buddy Cochrane

Holding the spotlight this week is the Westmount High Red Cross. Advised by Doug Lawley and presided by Jim Spencer, this year's Red Cross has been doing a magnificent job. Now, with the help of a $500 cheque from the Hi-Y, they have about $950 in the bank. The money is to be used to buy a dental clinic for a prisoner-of-war camp in Germany. Latest addition to the rising bank total was the thirty or so dollars profit that was realized from this week's doughnut sale! Tickets will be on sale next week for a Red Cross-sponsored drawing that will be held on February 10 or 11. The lucky winner will receive the best of Doug Lawley's many good paintings. The picture is done in oils and is handsomely framed. It is now on display in the building's library with two other Lawley-painted pictures. The latter two are smaller and are for the boy and the girl who sell the most raffle tickets.

Also on the Red Cross program is another afternoon dance that will be held some time during the first two weeks in February. It is probable that Dapper Dan Leavitt will again be in charge of this.

Purple and White Revue
 The first full length rehearsal of the revue was held in the junior high yesterday. It looked very good. There is lots of polishing yet to be done but the players showed a real keenness that is a suitable substitute for their general lack of experience. By February 4, the Purple and White Revue will be a first-class production.

Incidentally, on the afternoon of February 3 the revue will hold a dress rehearsal to which the pupils of the junior high will be admitted.

 At long last it looks as though there may be a debate this year. President James Spencer reports that the persons who are to participate in the tenth form debate have been chosen. All that is needed now is a subject. Jeems is open for suggestions. Representing the boys will be Peter Scott and Stan Freeman. Deborah Pierce and Ingor Jorgenson will oppose them. Jeems says that the debate will probably be held some time in the first couple of weeks in February.

Hobby Show
 Hobby Show president, Dave Johnson, has chosen, with the help of last year's president, Dave Townsend, a tentative 1944 Hobby Show committee. The way it looks now, and remember that this is only tentative, Dave Johnson will be in the big chair. Charles McCrae and Eleanor LaRiche will be vice-presidents, Pete King will be advertising manager, John Peirson and Janet Nicholson will be in charge of exhibits, Harvie Walford will be treasurer, and Bob Sproule will be in charge of prizes and judges. The committee will start work immediately.

Skigulls Dance
 Tonight is the night of the long-awaited Skigulls dance. The place is Westmount High School. The time is 9.00 o'clock. Tickets will be on sale at the door. The way it looks now there is going to be quite a crowd there. Other dances that are coming up are the red Cross afternoon tea dance, the football dance at Montreal High next Friday, the Purple and White Revue dance on February 4, the W.H.S. hockey dance on February 18, and a Hi-Y dance in early March.

Vox Ducum
 Literary editor Brian Macdonald reports that despite the tuneless appeals of Ian Roberts and Don Fisher contributions for the mag are not coming in at the expected rate.

Judging from the biographies that have already been handed in, this year's biographical section is going to be really good.

Items
 The Hi-Y's third form representative is Charles McCrae, whom some people know as Mr. Pat McGoun. Fraser Vipond's Victoria Hall party, which was held last Saturday night, was an enjoyable affair. The basketball team suffered a 59-25 defeat at the hands of the West Hill Senior A team in an exhibition tilt last Friday. The game was played in the Westmount gym. A highlight of the Purple and White Revue will be the dancing of Gerry MacKinnon. Due to pressure of school work Doug Scythes has had to resign his position as treasurer of the Hi-Y.

He will still remain a member. New treasurer is Don Patterson. (See W.H.S. on Page 12)

Book Review

by Howard S. Ross

STARS AND SAND — Jewish Notes by Non-Jewish Notables Selected and Edited by Joseph L. Baron. (The Jewish Publication Society of America, Philadelphia. Pages 553. Price $2.50.)

This volume is intended for all men and women of good will, regardless of race and creed. It is well for both Jews and Gentiles to see how many distinguished persons of various national and religious backgrounds have through the centuries stood by the side of the Jew in fellowship and sympathy and how frequently they have raised their voices in condemnation of the unjust treatment accorded them. It will bolster Jewish courage and add to Christian self-respect that so many non-Jews have shown an understanding of Jewish problems.

More than seven hundred of the world's foremost statesmen, religious authorities, philosophers and artists, beginning with Themistocles and Augustine and ending with Roosevelt and Churchill, voice their appreciation of Israel's glorious tradition and their sympathy with Israel's heroic struggle.

There are four hundred and forty selections in this book. Many of them, the author stated, never appeared in English before and were culled from a score of languages and from the national literatures of forty-four countries. Each selection is carefully annotated.

Y's Chats

About 80 couples took advantage of the annual Westmount night at the Park Slide last Friday. The weather was just right and all who went had a marvelous time, tobogganing, skiing, skating and dancing.

There is a possibility that there will be another Westmount "Y" night at the slide some time in February.

The swimming pool is now back in operation after extensive repairs. Members are urged to take a look at it. There have been many improvements.

Due to the Skigulls' dance at Westmount High School, there will be no Friday night club for the high school boys and girls tonight. However, the parties will be resumed next Friday.

The Listening Group will hold its weekly meeting Tuesday. More members are needed.

Both Jack Sinclair's photography group and George Gay's woodworkers will meet at the "Y" this Saturday morning at ten. The boys are taking quite an interest in these groups.

Not as many as usual attended the "Y's" servicemen's party last Saturday night but those who did were glad they came. All servicemen are welcome at these weekly affairs. Girls from the business girls' gym class act as hostesses.

F/O W. Hall, of the R.A.F., addressed last week's meeting of the boys' Hi-Y. Holder of the D.F.M., F/O Hall told the boys some of his experiences.

Howard S. Ross, the Examiner's columnist, will address a joint meeting of the Hi-Y on January 28 on "Modern Poetry."

A heap of ill-chosen erudition is but the luggage of antiquity. —Balzac.

notated. There is a brilliant introduction which gives a comprehensive study of the historic attitudes toward Judaism and the Jews. A number of striking illustrations (some of them quite rare) are included in this volume. They represent the work of eighteen foremost Christian artists, who pay tribute to the Jews and Judaism on canvas or in stone.
