Commencement Exercises At O.H.S. --- Dr. M. R. Stalker Guest Speaker

On Friday evening, Oct. 14, 1955, the annual Commencement Exercises were held at Ormstown High School.

Mr. E. A. King, principal, gave the invocation prayer and called on the School Board Chairman, Mr. James Winter, for his report, the text of which follows —

It is gratifying to see such a large attendance of parents and friends at our 1955 school opening exercises, and along with my fellow School Board members, I wish to welcome you to this gathering and hope that you will have a pleasant and a fruitful evening.

I am glad to welcome the new staff members and would like to introduce them to the gathering — Mrs. Campbell, Grade IX; Mr. Coffin, Grade VIII; Mr. Lacombe, French Specialist; Grade VII, Miss Nickerson; Grade III, Miss Phillips; Grade II. we hope they will enjoy their work here and life in our community.

I also wish to welcome the boys and girls who make up our student body for the year 1955. I would like to remind them that their early school years are the most important ones of their lives, and how they apply themselves to their studies during their school years will determine to a great extent the degree of success they obtain later in life.

I would like to suggest to the boys and girls that they take a pride in their school, in its appearance both inside the building itself and in the grounds surrounding the school and in its good name amongst other schools of the district.

The school enrollment this year has increased and now stands at approximately 260 and naturally, like a lot of other schools, we find ourselves taxed for room for our classes, every available inch of room has been utilized. This year every class has a home teacher, for a number of years Grades 6 and 7 were presided over by one teacher but these classes are now so large that it was neither fair to the teacher or students to have them both in one class room, under one teacher.

Some re-arranging of the staff has taken place this term. Mrs. Upton is now Grade 5 teacher, before this year she had Grade 8; Mrs. McEwen has Grade 1 this year, she was in charge of Grade 2 last year; and Mr. Arthur White is home teacher for Grade 10 — his first year in charge of a class.

As to the building itself, since last term, no major changes have taken place, it was a program of general maintenance, one room, Gr. 5, was re-decorated and some re-decorating done in other parts of the building as well.

Due to the ever-increasing enrollment and consequent overcrowding of the school and its facilities, the Board has embarked on a plan of expansion and plans will soon be approved for an addition to the present building. With expansion in mind, the property south of the present school was purchased last spring along with the buildings thereon. The house was retained by your Board and will be moved to a new location further back on the same lot and will be rented, possibly to school personnel. The money for this transaction was taken from the bequest made to the school by the Sam and Ida Cottingham estate.

It is true that in practically all business, operating costs are on the increase, this is true also for school operating costs, our budget is increasing annually, and who can predict when the upward trend will end?

Our ratepayers can help the Board keep its costs down by paying their school taxes promptly when they fall due.

I take it upon myself as chairman to tell you that the Board will welcome at any time constructive criticism on school matters and trust this is so for the staff also. If parents or ratepayers have problems, let us sit down together and endeavour to find a satisfactory solution.

After the program, the Board invites the parents and others interested to inspect the school, visit the various classrooms and get acquainted with the staff.

Finally, your Board feels that our 1955 staff is a very competent one, let us give them, one and all, our confidence and co-operation to make the school year 1955-56 a most successful one for all concerned, especially the boys and girls, the future leaders of our country.

Address to Graduates

Mr. James Winter introduced the speaker, Dr. M. R. Stalker, reviewing his various associations in educational circles.

I would like to mention the significance of the title of this meeting. It has been spoken of both as Graduation Exercises and Commencement Exercises. May I take it that the Graduating Class are graduating from High School and from that part of your life when you have been largely dependent, into another part of life, more independent and more self-sufficient. You also are commencing your citizenship in Ormstown, the Chateauguay Valley, the Province of Quebec, Canada, and the World.

In thinking of your ages I am impressed by the fact that you all were born just prior to the beginning of World War II. That being so, that war which has now been over for ten years came to

Above are some photographs which Miss Evelyn Ness took while making her summer tour of European points, these are in England. 1. Top left, Warwick Castle — "which in my estimation was the most interesting castle of my whole trip." Next left, Windsor Castle, so very well known all over the world. Below left, Magdelen College Tower, at Oxford. Next, Deer Park on the way to Stratford.

The following is a summary of a trip to Europe taken by Evelyn Ness, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Earl Ness, of Howick, Que., from July 4 to September 4, visiting the countries of England, Belgium, Luxembourg, Germany, Switzerland Austria, Yugoslavia, Italy, France and Scotland.

England

I was accompanied throughout this trip by a friend-Mary Bennett. We went by car (twelve passenger Bedford Grosvenor) from London through to Naples with Dave and Joyce Townsend and Ken Wood.

Dave, Joyce and Ken had been living in London for two years, all had travelled before in Europe.

After a very smooth crossing of the Ocean, we arrived at Southhampton to take the boat train to London. The first thing that took my eye were the numerous chimneys on each house. In front of most of these homes which are close together were neat gardens.

London is quiet, compared to Montreal, with less horn honking. It is a bustling smoky city — the heart of the Commonwealth.

The first thing we went to see was the changing of the guard at Buckingham Palace. Though this takes place every other day at 10.30 a.m. there were still hundreds of tourists to see this event. Afterwards we walked through St. James Park, one of the many beautiful parks in London.

Madame Tussaud's Exhibition of Waxworks was fascinating particularly the Royal Group. The Chamber of Horrors which lives up to its name, contains the notorious criminals and torture weapons of the past.

Westminster Abbey, the setting for the coronation of English monarchs since 1066, is of early English architecture. We saw the Coronation chair, Stone of Scone, and Henry VII magnificent chapel.

From Westminster Pier we travelled by pleasure boat along the Thames river to the tower of London, passing several of the many bridges that span this historic waterway. One of the many places to be seen along this stretch of river is the Royal Festival Hall, which was built for the 1951 Festival of Britain, and is said to be the finest of its kind in the world.

The famous Tower of London was everything I expected it to be, but as always, time being a limiting factor, prevented me from giving it a thorough tour. However I was impressed by the carvings made by prisoners in the Beauchamp Tower.

Windsor Castle at Berkshire is impressive, the Best View is from the end of a 2¾ mile stretch called Long Walk. I heard the band of the Grenedier Guards at Victoria Gardens which costs nothing unless you buy a program for about threepence.

We attended the church service at St. Bartholomew, which happened to be the day of the Annual Church Parade of 600 Squadron Royal Auxiliary Air Force. This church was bombed during the war but reconstruction is nearly finished.

In the afternoon we visited Lousley Mansion House which was built in 1572 and Elizabeth I stayed there.

I believe there is always a line up for the crown jewels. We went early in the morning but still had to stand in line for an hour. However, during the time I met a chap by the name of Adam Gray, who had met brother Bob when he was in Scotland five years ago, so it is a small world. The jewels were worth waiting to see, the size of the diamonds is unbelievable.

We climbed up the 311 steps to the top of the London Monument which is 202 feet high, built by Wren and marks the spot where the Great Fire of 1666 broke out. We had a good view of London from the summit.

St. Paul's Cathedral stands magnificently at the top of Ludgate Hill. I was impressed by the size of it. Within the cathedral are the memorials of many famous men and tombs of the most honoured servants of the State.

At night we saw the Ballet at Festival Hall which deserves some mention. It is of modern architecture and contains reception and dining halls, besides the Concert Hall. The latter is in red and white and the acoustics were excellent.

On July 19th, we went on a bus tour to Stratford and saw Oxford College and Anne Hathaway's Cottage which has been newly thatched requiring three tons of straw. We visited Shakespeare's burial place at Stratford then checked in at the Shakespeare Hotel. Each room has the name of one of Shakespeare's plays, ours happened to be "Anthony and Cleopatra".

We enjoyed the play "All's Well that Ends Well" at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre. The building is uncompromisingly modern and is situated on the river Avon.

The following day we saw the ruins at Kenilworth Castle then Warwick Castle, which in my estimation was the most interesting castle of my whole trip. It contains many well known pictures and a collection of armour. Each room and hall is furnished as much as possible with the original furniture.

The round trip to Stratford was 300 miles but we saw the English countryside which is pretty with rolling hills. The towns are close together and most homes have lovely gardens. Either the people are born with green thumbs or the weather is suitable, but the flowers are beautiful no matter where you go in England.

Kew Gardens is a very large area containing many kinds of trees and flowers. There are hot houses also containing beautiful species of flowers from all over the world.

That night we went to Hyde Park Corner where we saw a row of simultaneous orators perched on platforms. Not only do the orators

Romain Menard in Accident Last Evening

On Tuesday evening, about eight o'clock, Romain Menard was driving the firm's truck toward Montreal where he had an appointment. As he passed Ste. Martine and came to the intersection of the highway leading to Beauharnois, another truck came from this direction and hit the Menard truck in the centre. The Menard truck is a complete wreck, and Romain is suffering from shock and his leg may be affected. He is presently resting at home.

12 Head Cattle Lost in Fire

A fire caused by spontaneous combustion soon demolished several recently remodelled farm buildings on the farm of Mr. B. McKellar, Braemanor Farm, Island Road, Dewittville, Que., on Friday night.

Calls for assistance were sent out to nearby fire brigades and Huntingdon ordered its Booster pump, eight men and 700 feet of hose to the scene. The brigade here received the call at about 7.10 p.m. and were on their way in short time. However much headway had been gained.

Of the stock in the barn, the implements, feed, etc., little was saved, with the exception of three calves. 12 head of very choice beef cattle were lost, including the herd sires: "Bandolier of Malden 8th" and "Bandolier of Braemanor 2nd." Several head recently purchased at the Ontario Aberdeen-Angus, the Canadiana and Maple Leaf Circuit of Aberdeen - Angus Sales. The out buildings with the exception of the milkhouse were lost. Crop and equipment from a former farm at St. Genevieve had only been moved to Braemanor some two weeks ago, and also the cattle. There are still 23 head at pasture and the three calves.

During the course of the summer the barns, etc., had been entirely remodelled. Preparations are now under way to build accommodation for the remainder of the cattle, before the severe weather sets in.

Huntingdon Firemen stayed on the job until 3.30 a.m. the following day. They saved the fire spreading to the house which was very near by.

S.A. Campaign Reaches Sum Of $1,432.00

The Salvation Army Campaign in this district, while closed is still in its throes of cleaning up. Thirty canvassers have reported to Headquarters in Huntingdon for a total to date of $1,432.00. Last year, 1954, the total amount raised was $1,747.00. It is possible that the balance of the canvass will reach this figure and may even pass it as there are about twenty more canvassers to hear from. The Committee would appreciate having all reports in as quickly as possible in order to check the final results, please send yours in without further delay.

Turkey Supper At Dundee Well Attended

Dundee— The Turkey Supper held on Tuesday evening, Oct. 11th at Zion United Church, was a most successful event, for almost mid October, the evening proved an ideal one. Even without fire in the building it was quite warm for everyone. Serving commenced almost one hour earlier at 4.30 due to D.S. Time being still in effect in the U.S., therefore the visitors from the South arrived a bit before things were completely ready, but they were soon taken care of.

A sumptuous supper of turkey with all the trimmings was served which was sufficient to delight the taste of even the most fastidious gourmet and with plenty of time for serving (the visitors seemed to come in small groups) everyone did justice to the good things set before them. In all 294 tickets were sold. Despite considerable expense, a tidy sum will be left for the Maintenance Fund. This was the only large social event of the season held at the Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Fraser and family spent Thanksgiving week-end with Mrs. Fraser's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Barber, at Farnham.

Mr. Gordon Fraser, who returned from hospital two weeks ago, is now able to be up around the house and seems to be improving quite rapidly from the effects of his accident.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Fraser were Dr. and Mrs. Peter Kozak of Quebec City, also Dr. Gordon Mack of Halifax. The party were on their way to a uralogy convention which took place at the Lake Placid Club at Lake Placid, N.Y. On their way back Mrs. Kozak stopped off in Dundee and spent a week with her sister, Mrs. Fraser.

Dundee W.I.

The regular monthly meeting of the Dundee W.I. was held on October 5th, at the home of Mrs. Jos. Platt.

Eight members responded to the roll call with ways to brighten a kitchen.

A lengthy discussion followed pertaining to the tenders received for the sale of the shed and hall belonging to the local Institute. As the tenders were not accepted it was decided to have

Secret of Covey Hill Tower At Last Released For Public

COVEY HILL — This crossroads in Huntingdon County, Quebec, has become the centre of a vitally important experiment in radio wave transmission, it was revealed the past week by RCA Victor Company, Ltd.

Unknown except to a small group for two years, details came out as newsmen were shown a massive steel tower dominating the landscape two miles west of here. Its strange, bowl-shaped head, company spokesmen explained, is the pitcher in a giant, cross-the-border game of catch.

Three things make the game important: it is played with ultra high frequency radio waves; the catcher is 288 miles away, at Riverhead on Long Island; and there are no intermediate relay points to pass the ball along from start to finish.

Together, according to RCA Victor Engineer Bruce MacKimmie, these things reflect this fact:

— it has now become possible to build the most modern communications systems in countries and areas where these had been far too expensive. Dense forests and jungles can be crossed, mountain ranges vaulted, key points linked along our northern frontier, all at a fraction of the old cost.

Explained MacKimmie, who is in charge of Covey Hill: "In most ultra high frequency communication systems operating now, intermediate transmission stations have been set up, spaced about 25 miles apart, to help relay the signal along.

"Here at Covey Hill, however, we are beaming UHF waves direct to Long Island. There is not a single relay station between the two points, despite the fact that the route passes through both the Adirondacks and the Green Mountains, which have peaks as high as 3000 feet."

The secret is in RCA Victor's giant antenna, 40 feet in diameter and mounted atop the most northerly peak of the Adirondacks here near the New York-Quebec border.

Until fairly recently, it was thought that all UHF waves behaved like a stick on a ball. In other words, that when they reached the curve of the earth's surface at the horizon they simply zoomed off into space, gone forever.

This meant that relay stations were needed, to pick off the waves as they came flashing by, bend them, and fire them along.

But it is now known that if left free to travel as they like not all the waves in a UHF signal will zoom into space. Most of them will, but some will scatter — in all directions — and can be picked up very, very faintly hundreds of miles away.

Hence the big contraption at Covey Hill, looking very much out of place in this peaceful farm country. Many organizations are doing research on "scatter propagation", and this is RCA Victor's contribution.

It is so big, and the amount of power it uses is so great, that the signal it beams is super-strong. Strong enough to make those waves which do scatter over the horizon come through loud and clear at a point hundreds of miles away on Long Island.

Basic requirements for the antenna were laid down by RCA Victor's MacKimmie, and mechanical design and erection were handled by Dominion Bridge Co., of Montreal. Until late last summer, company engineers spent all their time simply experimenting with it. Then a test signal was beamed in August, and the circuit went into steady operation recently.

Direct UHF transmission is not expected to replace the relay chain system in built-up areas or over reasonable terrain. The cost of the huge antenna and the extra power needed is too high for that.

But it is a long-sought solution to communication problems in areas and countries where the cost of building and maintaining stations every 25 miles would be prohibitive.

Editor's Note — More interesting details of this project will appear in our next issue.

Basketball Girls Assured Of Their New Uniforms

Red and black paper streamers, autumn flowers and coloured leaves decorated the gymnasium of Huntingdon High School on Friday evening, October 14, when the Girls' Basketball Team sponsored a dance. This project was undertaken by the girls with the purpose of raising money for the purchase of basketball uniforms in the school colours — black shorts and red blouses.

At this time, the team is happy to announce the success of their undertaking — both socially and financially. The girls will be able to meet the full cost of their uniforms with the $125 which they cleared through the sale of tickets prior to the dance and at the door on the evening of the dance, as well as the sale of soft drinks during the course of the evening.

The dance was a unified effort and its success was due to the co-operation and interest of many people. Special thanks are extended to the chaperones of the evening for their active participation in the dance: Dr. and Mrs. K. R. Willis, Mr. and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. C. Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Donnelly, Miss J. Pryde and Mr. H. MacKrith.

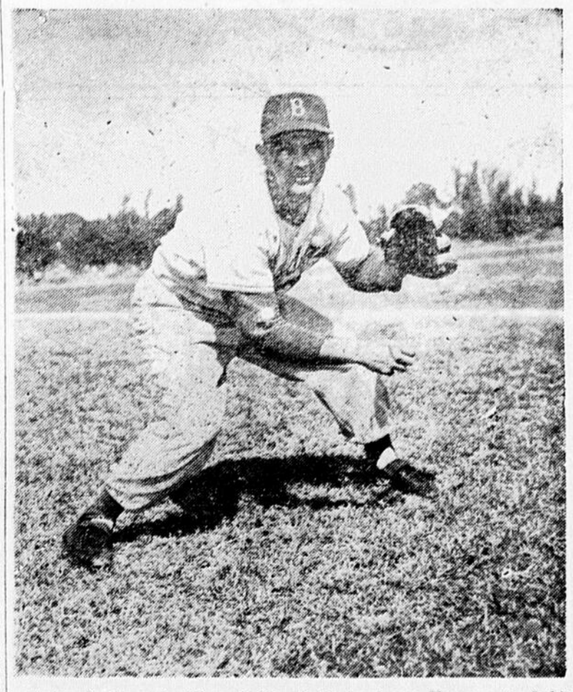

The students from Huntingdon High School were pleased to welcome thirty-five pupils from Howick High School, accompanied by the principal and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. R. Morgan, who had come to join in the evening's fun along with many people from the immediate locality. Everyone seemed to enjoy himself as he participated in the various dances of the evening, among which were included spot dances, elimination dances, musical knees, waltzing and several sets of square dances, ably called by Mr. David Rennie and his son, Murray. Hope Stewart, captain of the team, and Sandra Phillips carried out their jobs as masters of ceremonies with ample efficiency and apparently effortless ease.

The success and enjoyment of the different dances may be attributed to the excellent clarity of the music as provided by the Hi-Fi record set of Mr. Douglas Stephen. Records were also graciously provided by Mrs. M. MacGregor, Mr. Robert Sellar, and Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Stephen. A further word of thanks may, at this time, be extended to Mr. and Mrs. D. Stephen who undertook the task of disc-jockeys for the entire evening.

About half way through the evening's fun, a Grand March led by Dr. and Mrs. Willis, guided everyone to a corner booth where the girls offered soft drinks and trays of sandwiches and cookies. After this interlude for refreshments, dancing resumed until one p.m.

The Girls' Basketball Team wishes to take this opportunity to thank all those who so kindly and willingly offered their assistance and support, either through donations or actual participation in their project.

Pitcher For Game Here on Sunday

Franklin Centre

On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Brooks held a reception for their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brooks, in the Dumas Barn, on the Dumas Range Road. A very large attendance was present and a good time was enjoyed.

Harvey Ruddick's Orchestra, of Ormstown, had charge of the music.

During the Refreshment Period, Mr. Stewart Moneypenny, Master of Ceremonies, presented the newly-weds with a purse of money and an Address, which was replied to by the groom. After delicious refreshments were served dancing was resumed.

A miscellaneous shower was held in the U. C. Basement on Saturday evening, in honour of Miss Mary Dickenson, whose marriage to Mr. Gordon Brooks takes place this month. When the bride elect entered the room, she was welcomed by a large gathering of relatives and friends, a table loaded with numerous beautiful and useful gifts and the wedding march played by Mrs. Fergus Moore. The gifts were opened and passed around for all to see, after which Miss Dickenson expressed her thanks and all sang For She's a Jolly Good Fellow, accompanied by Mrs. Moore. Refreshments were served by the Hostesses, Mrs. George Dickenson, Mrs. Norval Blair and the Misses Audrey and Mina Dickenson.

Howick W.I.

The October meeting of Howick W.I. was held in Howick High School, on Tuesday, October 4, at 8.30 P.M. Pres. Mrs. Cairncross presided. The roll call was "An Interesting Event in the Community history."

Mrs. Arthur Kerr, 2nd. vice-pres., was named representative on the Purchasing Committee for the School Cafeteria.

A vote of thanks was given to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Clarke, Franklin Centre, for their generous donation of plums and apples for the School Cafeteria.

The Cafeteria will be operating after the Thanksgiving holiday and anyone having any surplus vegetables or fruit to donate, will please leave them at the School.

Mrs. Huntley Greig read two appropriate poems by Edna Jacques, one on "Fallen Leaves", the other "Thanksgiving".

Mrs. Eric Smith, Conv. of Education introduced the teachers and welcomed them to the district. Help and backing from the W.I. was offered.

Mr. Arthur Lang, Montreal, was the guest speaker, taking for his subject "Changes in Schools in the past 35 years." He paid tribute to Dr. Percival who had done a marvellous job. Montreal Schools do not need to take off their hats to any other schools in Canada. Westhill High School had cost $2 million, $15,000 a classroom, it is the most modern, classes trained under these conditions should be superior to those of by gone days.

Montreal now has need of 400 teachers more, and 500 before long. 325 students are enrolled in Macdonald School for Teachers this year, but very few rural girls are going in for this vocation. He urged the W.I. to use their influence toward encouraging more rural girls to take up teaching.

He also urged the most utmost understanding between Parents, School Boards and Teachers, and all pull together. Begin right where we are, live peaceably with our families at home, our neighbours and on around the international circle. Begin with some one we do not like, get to know them, understand each others point of view, there is always some good in every one, and you will make them know the true meaning of democracy.

Mrs. Cairncross thanked Mr. Lang for his very interesting and informative talk. All those who know Mr. Lang's eloquence and humor know what an enjoyable evening this was.

Mr. Morgan, Prin. of H.H.S. thanked the W.I. for their effort in entertaining the teachers and for the enjoyable evening.

Refreshments were served by all the members and a social hour enjoyed.

CARS ARE MY Line
COPYRIGHT © 1955
by Noel A. Foisy

While the war was on I remember hearing about a lady in Chatham, Ont., who had the problem of gasoline rationing completely licked. She drove as much as she wanted, but without the worry of running out of gas. And do you remember how people used to raise their eyebrows during the war if they thought you were using your car more than an "A" sticker on the windshield would allow? She didn't have ANY sticker on the windshield and the looks she got were envy, not suspicion.

Her name was Mrs. Robert Gray, and she was the widow of a pioneer automobile manufacturer. The car she drove was a pioneer, too, the 1919 Detroit Electric. If you remember the First World War you probably remember the fling electric cars had. Another model about the same time was the Anderson Electric.

Mrs. Gray's Detroit Electric was the last battery-driven car running in Canada. It was powered by 42 batteries, each of two volts, that she recharged once a week at home. She had no radiator, no clutch, no mufler, and could go about 30 miles an hour.

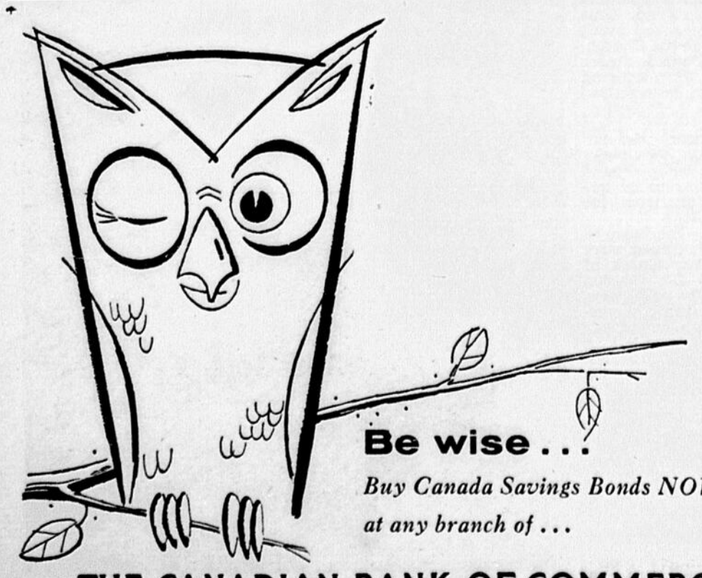

Maybe someday someone will design a new electric car that will give the kind of service we want today. Mrs. Gray, for instance, never went on any long trips and the batteries alone weighed 1400 pounds.

There's just one main reason why the gasoline engine beat out the electric car: one pound of gas will deliver more than 20 times the power one pound of the best storage battery can. As I say, maybe someday we'll get a good, powerful electric car, but actually I doubt it. On our used car lot we've got a "lot-full" of reasons why most everybody wants to own one of today's cars. Good reliable cars that gave somebody else good service before they decided it was time to move up a notch to a newer car. There's electricity in these cars too — in the ignition system that's the "brains" of the car. We've checked it — and everything else in the car — before we even put it on our lot.

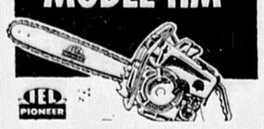

This week we would like you to know that Mr. Allan Wilson of Franklin Centre has just traded his 1953 Ford Sedan, green metallic, radio, sun visor and air conditioned heater for a new 1956 Ford so anyone knowing Mr. Wilson's car will know that it is a good buy. Come in and see it soon.

Don't Cut Down on Sidewalk Width

THE Huntingdon Town Council has been doing much rebuilding and repair work on the sidewalks in town the past few months and these have presented a vastly improved appearance and better walking. In some cases the old sidewalk has been removed completely and an entirely new walk laid in its place.

Such work is presently being done on the north side of Chateauguay Street from the Canadian Bank of Commerce to about S. J. Currie's Store. When the forms were laid for this new piece of walk, it seemed that the sidewalk would be narrower than previously. The Gleaner made enquiries and ascertained that the walk would be 18 inches narrower than before. The intention is to add more width to the street and we presume aid the traffic problem at a time when this work is being undertaken.

The Gleaner feels it must take a stand against this cutting down of the width of the walks on this street, as being undesirable. The walks on such a street should be as wide as possible and at least in this part, as wide as they were before. People going into and out of stores do not want to be colliding with other pedestrians using the sidewalk.

The Gleaner feels that if the street is to be made wider, then it should be done through expropriation of buildings and the whole street be made wider by removal of such buildings. The width of the sidewalk should not be sacrificed to make extra width in the street. Chateauguay Street is the main business artery of our town and most of the business is transacted here. Naturally there is considerable vehicular traffic and equally so in pedestrian movement. If we have a problem on our street, we will also be creating one on our sidewalk, by cutting the width. No one has any wish to increase the difficulties on this street, a satisfactory solution is trying to be found for them.

We therefore make a strong protest at this time against cutting down in width of any sidewalks that are being repaired or rebuilt, either at this time or in the future. We further suggest that the present forms be rearranged to bring the new sidewalk on the West end of Chateauguay Street back to its original width. Practically every city or town in eastern Canada will be found to have one or more narrow sidewalks and in all cases it means a depreciated value on the business property facing such a street. If the highway is too narrow at such a point in Huntingdon, let us maintain the sidewalk width at least, and in due time the vehicle traffic demand will bring about a solution, and not likely wholly at the expense of the taxpayer facing the sidewalk as here in question. If the walk is built as present indications point it will ultimately cost these same property owners dearly through the street taking on the appearance of being but a side street of not so potential a commercial value as further east on Chateauguay St. Actually this particular section of Chateauguay Street is a real good commercial business section and should be so retained. The day will come when Bouchette Street will be much more of a commercial street than it is to-day; and when that time arrives the west end of Chateauguay Street will be of even greater importance to the pedestrian trade than is the case to-day. The Chateauguay St. section in question has potential business sites to be developed and every bit of such anticipated business expansion will call for just so much more pedestrian trade. True the vehicle trade will grow too, but vehicle traffic can create demands that can be achieved much more readily than can that for the pedestrian.

Developments in the Chateauguay-Montreal Area

THERE are very definite signs that Montreal is pushing itself further into the suburbs and beyond and while the pattern may at this time seem a little scattered, it will eventually link up. This may take several years to accomplish, but plans should be made according to the trend.

Presently the trend seems toward housing, as the city residents desire a nice detached rural home to be away from the regular rush and bustle of city life. They don't want to go too far away, just within easy commuting distance by car. Thus we find that all around the Chateauguay district there is an intensity of building, houses are going up fast and vacant lots are being quickly taken up and built upon.

In addition to these small projects, a much larger one is pending and already large tracts of farm lands have been purchased from their owners and will form lots for new housing. From practically a summer resort before the war, this thriving centre has grown. There came a time during the acute housing shortage during the last war, the summer houses were winterized and people began living in these parts all year round. Now it is an established thing for people to own houses and make their homes here. They have organized schools, council bodies and so forth for proper functioning of the law and services. They have sewer and water connections and building by-laws. Organization and careful planning have done much to turn this area into modern communities. The large project pending at the moment, will probably include a large shopping centre in due course. In all large housing developments today, such shopping centres are usually a part of the plan. The shopping centres provide plenty of parking space for cars and thus shopping can be done in comfort. They also centre the shopping area in one spot and close to the homes that are built in the vicinity.

This then, is the trend today insofar as the Chateauguay area is concerned. This same trend can be seen above Beauharnois in the same district. At scattered points along the main highway, small settlements are building up which may eventually link Montreal right down to this point. How much farther it may come this way is anybody's guess, but it could only mean a matter of a few years. Montreal is a great industrial and business centre and it is growing all the time as new developments take shape in a number of ways. The new seaway is going to push activities all along its course and this is going to mean that there must be expansion and new sites. Chateauguay therefore, is logically situated.

Observing the Safety of Electrical Wiring

WHILE we still have a tinge of Fire Prevention Week lingering in our memories, let us consider the safety or otherwise of that great servant of ours, Electrical Power. In reading about fires, one of the most common causes given for starting fires is electrical wiring. No state of the wiring is given to substantiate that it was actually so, the cause if it was in the wiring has been swallowed up and also much more of the system.

How often can you go into a small apartment for instance, and find that several appliances are plugged into one outlet by a series of other plugs. The outlet might be the light socket and it will also be giving the light required, although dimmed down somewhat by the drain on this one outlet. This outlet may have only been figured for lighting purposes and not for toasters, washing machines, coffee percolators, irons, etc. It is no wonder that wiring becomes overheated under the strain, and it is no wonder that a fire may be caused.

This fault is not alone with the small apartment, it happens in a number of homes in town and country and in the barns on the farms. Outlets were placed strategically, a few years ago and they were never called upon to work too hard. Mr. Farmer is introduced to a number of new gadgets and he decides he is going to add them to his equipment. Invariably what he does not think about is whether the wiring is suitable for the additional load. He decides an extension will do the trick and he can plug it into the old outlet. It is most probable he immediately has an overload, although he may not realize it until some day he loses his barn. He cannot blame the electrical wiring, in the first place it was not put in to carry the load now called upon. When any kind of overloading occurs, sooner or later there is a break down. This happens sometimes with disastrous results.

The Gleaner is not touting for the electricians, it is anxious to cut down the fire losses and to point out that all things treated with care and attention are no more a hazard than anything else which is treated with proper care. The care includes the proper checking of electrical wiring by a competent person — that is a qualified electrician. You need to be perfectly sure that the person is qualified and not just someone who has picked up the business enough to string around a few wires. They must be able to work out capacities and so forth and to decide that the wiring is able to do what it is now called upon to do. When adding new equipment get the advice of the qualified electrician as to whether it would be safe to add this to the present system. Don't be half sure about it, be really sure and ask for proof. An extra circuit put in to accommodate an extra piece of equipment may cost money, but it could be insurance against possible losses later. Your electrical system will only do so much, do not expect impossibilities from it any more than you would from anything else. It is hard on your machinery by operating them on a lower voltage than called for and frequently it is the cause of overheating and burning out of motors.

Valleyfield — The question of improving the street lighting and overhead wires of the city was brought up by Ald. Loiselle who stated the Bell Co. had plans replacing its wires in conduits on St. Laurent street. The electric wires of the city could be likewise disposed of at a probable cost of from $5 to $6 a light. The matter was ordered to be looked into immediately.

Huntingdon — Dr. Douglas returned home on Saturday after a six weeks trip to Great Britain. The doctor had the satisfaction of landing every head of cattle on the ship in good condition. During his stay in England he visited several of the large cities and came back well pleased with what he had seen. The return trip was a lengthy one, taking 16 days. Fogs, icebergs and storms were responsible.

Douglas Ness gets Certificate — Among the list of those who passed the year in agriculture at Macdonald College is the name of D. A. Ness of Howick, who took the winter course and led the class.

Local Boys Who Write for The Bar—

The official list of those who intend writing for the right to plead at the Quebec Bar on Tuesday next, includes several from this locality Phillip Lamarre, Longueuil, Erle C. Martin, Dewittville; G. St. Onge, Valleyfield and Albert W. Stewart, Napierville.

July 6 —

Huntingdon — At the meeting of the council on Tuesday night the Building By-law was given three readings and adopted. By this By-law definite classes of buildings must be constructed in certain areas. Aldermen Small, Hunter and Stark were appointed a Building Committee.

Dundee — Aeroplanes are seen almost as frequently along the St. Lawrence now as motor boats.

July 19th —

Huntingdon — The Lodge rooms of the Rebekahs were all arranged for the installation of officers on Thursday night, last, and everything went off to the satisfaction of the ladies. In all over 65 were present and the installations were made by Mrs. Hugh Patton of Ormstown, District Deputy. The Ormstown Lodge put on the degree work. The officers installed are: P. G. Miss Myrtle Sparrow. N. G. Miss Ida G. Elder, V. G. Miss Evelyn Brethour; Rec. Sec. Miss Mildred Scott. Financial Sec. Miss Margaret Hunter; Treas. Mrs. W. C. Hunter.

Ste. Martine — At a meeting of the ratepayers Messrs. Romeo Laberge and Joseph Roy were selected school commissioners by acclamation. People appear to take no interest in these elections, and for the second time it was necessary to search the village for ratepayers to nominate candidates. There were only four present and to pass the time until eleven o'clock whist was played. Jos. Hebert and Ernest Bergevin being the winners.

Valleyfield — At the Valleyfield council meeting on the 11th the inhabitants of Billette Village appeared en masse and demanded that their faithful Fidos be exempted from paying dog taxes. They pictured the dangers of the district, owing to it being so far from the centre of the city and in brief wanted either nice big, stout policemen to look after their possessions, or let the dogs do it. The council decided that the dogs should have the chance, so the clerk was instructed not to collect dog taxes from the owners of dogs in this locality this year.

July 26th —

Chateauguay — Workmen when engaged in tarring the main road through Chateauguay got a scare on Saturday when the tar suddenly caught fire. In no time at all the whole locality was lost in a cloud of smoke and it was some time before it cleared away. Fortunately the amount of tar near the blaze was small, and apart from damage to appearances of houses by the smoke, no damage was done. The residences, chiefly damaged belonged to Dr. Marchand and Mr. Arthur Desparais.

AUSTRALIAN JOURNEY Article No. 4

Weekly Editor Returns After "Waltzin' Matilda"

"If you have some bird lime on your German Bands, take a General Eisenhower and meet me at snakes alive".
No — I'm not crazy.

The foregoing is just a sample of Australian slang and translated means: "If you have some time on your hands, take a shower and meet me at five".

Taking liberties with the English language was only a sideline with Jim Betts, a lad I met in Melbourne who was to me the genuine, modern, "dinkum" Aussie. Hard-working, successful in business, married with two children, Jim could tell a story, boast of Australia's great strides since the last war, and discuss the merits or otherwise of the two cars he owned — a '48 Buick convertible (which he drives as though it were a jet bomber), and an English M.G.

At about this time my action in bringing skiis all the way from Canada caught up with me, and one Saturday morning I found myself skiing, about 6,000 feet up, on the heights of the Australian Alps, operating from a private lodge part owned by Betts and named "Gray Rocks".

For the enthusiast, good skiing is available in Australia; and being harder to get at than in Canada, the average of skiing is very high. Public lodges will accommodate visitors for around $12. a week-end and a Canadian has no trouble in borrowing a pair of "boards".

What of Australian Art and Culture

Sydney has one of the six finest symphony orchestras in the world; the theatre is enjoying a renaissance; and the most talked of discovery in the field of painting is the watercolor work of aboriginal artist Albert Namatjira, whose interpretation of the Australian landscape is as typically Australian as the boomerang.

As gifts for friends at home I bought what are considered to be three Australian classics in literature — Marcus Clarke's "For the Term of His Natural Life" (a dramatic and harrowing account on the convict system); Rolf Boldrewood's "Robbery Under Arms" (an exciting account of bushranging in New South Wales; and the contemporary "Fortunes of Richard Mahony" by Henrietta Richardson.

Holy Snakes!

For local color, a visiting Canadian will learn more from Bill Beatty's collection of legends, "Come a-Waltzin' Matilda", in one hour's reading than he will discover for himself during his whole visit. The edition contains a rib-tickling collection of folklore, historical notes and incidents on the early days of the country.

The story of Sir Henry Brown Hayes and Vauclause House is a typical gem.

"Originally sent to the convict colony from the Emerald Isle for abducting an heiress (without her permission), Sir Henry served his sentence and upon release built a beautiful home near Sydney which he named Vauclause House.

"Only there was one trouble. The property was overrun with snakes.

"With St. Patrick's successful campaign in mind, Sir Henry imported five hundred barrels of Irish sod and with a gang of convict laborers, Irish every one, had dug a trench six feet down by two feet wide.

"March 17th was chosen as an appropriate day to fill the trench with the good Irish earth and according to the story — curiously enough, Sir Henry was never troubled again . . ."

The same house now belongs to the State of New South Wales and is a "must" for all visitors to Sydney.

Sydney's Youthful Mayor

Included in my Sydney stay was an hour's visit with the Lord Mayor of that city, youthful Pat Hills, whose appearance is that of a young business executive rather than the popular conception of a Lord Mayor.

With my return to harness as a weekly editor in mind, I asked "His Worship" for something to take back in the nature of a greeting to our own Mayor Olive Urquhart of Pointe Claire, Que.

My reportorial feeling was rewarded by my being entrusted for delivery to Her Worship with a pictorial volume on Sydney entitled: "Sydney — The Soul of a City". I was also able to scrounge a two-col. glossy print of Mayor Hills in full ceremonial robes.

For all his youthful appearance, Mayor Hills is a go-getter for his city. I saw a scale model of a new 500-car underground parking lot, on which work has started, and which also included a 600-foot double lane MOVING walkway through the city gardens to the downtown shopping area!

The Mayor is also an amateur photographer and I enjoyed his colored movies of the inaugural flight of CPA's new over-the-pole service to Amsterdam, on which he represented his city, the southern terminal of the service.

However, fluoridation, to halt tooth decay, now being somewhat timidly accepted by Canadians, was a complete mystery to him.

Aussie Weekly Editors

There are oved 400 weekly newspapers in Australia and their editors do the same grass roots jobs as their Canadian cousins do here.

They attend the Town's Council meeting, double as lino operators, shop men, and collect bad debts. One of their first loves is the old reliable Double-Royal Wharfdale flatbed press, on which many of the country's weeklies are printed.

They receive recognition for the job they do for their communities, seldom get rich, yet always have the esteem and respect of their fellow townspeople as compensation.

Good-bye Sydney!

I departed from Sydney on a Wednesday for the return flight via CPA's "Empress of Mexico" but my adventures were not over.

We set down at dawn on Fiji and after a shower and breakfast of paw paw and fried eggs took off for Hawaii where we arrived, according to the schedule, only three hours after leaving Sydney! Of course the joker in this deck is the International Date Line east of Fiji — for us that week contained eight days including two Wednesdays!

On arrival at Honolulu we were driven to the Royal Hawaiian for another night and day stopover, courtesy of the airline. This must be, without doubt, the most popular stopover in the world.

O'er The Pali

"King Kamehamoha, the conqueror of the Islands, Became a famous hero one day."

I never did know what the song was all about until on my return my memory was jogged by a later line.

"And threw them o'er the Pali."

The Pali is a fearsome height on Oahu Island, which I visited, and over which the famous warrior threw back the remnants of an invading army. The height, combined with terrific winds roaring up from the Pacific, present an awe-inspiring picture and make one feel very sorry indeed for the soldiers of that trapped army of long ago.

Aloha!

As CPA superintendent for the South Pacific, W. "Babe" Wool-

The Week At Ottawa

OTTAWA, Oct. (CP) — The volume of crime in Canada remains high, but indications are that it is no longer increasing greatly every year.

That's the opinion expressed by one of the nation's foremost authorities on the subject — RCMP Commissioner L. H. Nicholson. In his annual report for 1954-55 he said a declining percentage increase during the last five years "seems to indicate a levelling-off trend" in crime in Canada.

But the RCMP still has major headaches in fighting bootlegging and illicit drug traffic, and catching up with the man who won't pay taxes.

The RCMP is the federal police arm in all parts of Canada, the provincial police for all provinces except Ontario and Quebec, and the local police in 124 municipalities.

The force increased its ranks by 104 to 6,326 in the last fiscal year. Commissioner Nicholson asked the government for a further increase to reinforce divisions during seasonal work peaks, but this was not granted. He is to resubmit his proposal later.

Boost Interest Rate

For the second time in two months the Bank of Canada last week boosted its interest charges in an apparent government move to restrain credit buying, raise interest generally and prevent a drain of foreign investment in Canadian enterprise.

The central bank's interest rate for loans to chartered banks was raised by one-quarter per cent to a record 2¼. This followed an increase of one-half per cent last Aug. 6.

As usual the bank gave no reason for its action, but federal officials observed that Canadian interest rates have been among the lowest in the western world. Foreign investors had been cashing in some of their Canadian holdings and taking their money elsewhere to get higher interest yields.

Officials said the bank's action may tend to put a few more brakes on credit, but they felt Canada's booming economy is strong enough to withstand them.

Entry of Asiatics

The immigration department has tightened one rule on the entry of Asiatics to Canada and relaxed another.

It has tightened its regulation on the entry of children of Asiatic Canadian citizens. Children will not be admissible unless both parents have become landed immigrants here or one of the parents emigrates to Canada at the same time.

In a more lenient move in another direction the department announced it will consider applications by Asiatic Canadians to bring to Canada their aged parents. The new policy applying to mothers 60 and over and fathers 65 and over—will be tried experimentally for one year.

Immigration minister Pickersgill said the first change is intended to ensure maintenance of family groups. While the second is intended "to facilitate the reunion of family groups".

Chinese are the main group affected by the tightened rule on entry of children. In the past it has been common for Chinese men, after becoming Canadian citizens, to return to China to marry, bringing out their children later.

Memo on Public Utterances

Defence minister Campney may issue a memo on public statements by members of the armed forces.

He prepared such a memo after Air Vice-Marshal John Plant last June publicly advocated that the army be scrapped to make way for a bigger air force, but did not issue it, informants said, because of pressure of work.

Informants said last week that Mr. Campney may issue the memo when he returns from the meeting of NATO defence ministers at Paris, which ended last Wednesday. It would be part of a crackdown on armed forces officers making public utterances on government policy.

After Vice-Marshal Plant's statements, made in a Toronto speech, he was removed from his position as chief of RCAF technical services and made head of air material command where he has nothing to do with tri-service policy.

Fresh Incident

Last week Air Commodore Fred Carpenter, chief of air operations, was quoted in Halifax as saying "our position is to make the Russians know we can knock hell out of them" and that the Russians militarily are 20 years behind the west.

A garbled version of what he said was carried by Tass, Russian news agency. Soviet deputy minister Kaganovich showed it to external affairs minister Pearson in Moscow last Tuesday. It quoted the air operations chief as saying that Canadian fighter squadrons in Europe were poised for an attack against Russia.

Air Commodore Carpenter denied making the statement contained in the version shown Mr. Pearson in Moscow. But one informant said he did not deny the original "knock the hell out of them" quotation.

It appeared likely that Air Commodore Carpenter will be asked to explain his statement to Air Marshal Roy Slemon, chief of staff.

Economic Commission Studying Maritimes

OTTAWA, Oct. (CP) — Members of the Gordon economic commission —who last August spent a week studying developments in the Arctic fringes of the northwest—now are turning their economic stethoscope on the Maritimes provinces.

The five commissioners left Ottawa by plane last week to open the public hearing phase of the biggest economic probe in Canada's history.

They set up shop Oct. 17 at St. John's, Nfld., to hear how Newfoundland feels about its economic future over the next 20 or 30 years; what its problems may be and how they can be resolved.

From Newfoundland they move to Halifax Oct. 20; Charlottetown Oct. 24; and Fredericton Oct. 26.

They will return to Ottawa for a brief spell to digest the Maritime findings before journeying into the west to continue their probe which will cover all 10 provinces. The final roundup sittings are slated for Ottawa, Feb. 13.

When you get a French chef to touch mass-produced, quick-frozen foods with a ten-foot spoon—that's a kitchen revolution. Yet some fifty quick-frozen Gallic delicacies are now being marketed by a French company of cooks.

We're glad to report that aluminum gets a Cordon Bleu from the gastronomes. They use it in conveyors, containers and kitchen equipment; and they use nothing else for packaging their products. They respect the way tasteless, odorless, moisture-proof aluminum respects their creations, keeping their freshness and delicacy of flavor till the magic moment when they reach the table.

In Memoriam

FEWSTER — In loving memory of a dear wife, mother and grandmother who passed away October 21, 1954 —

Our dearly beloved lies,
Her passing so unexpected, no time allowed for goodbyes,
Just when your days were brighter,
Just when your days were best,
You were called away from your loved ones,

Two little words not hard to write,
But we will remember all our lives — "Our Mom."

Rockburn

ROCKBURN — Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Steele, who have spent the past year in New Brunswick, called on Mr. Harold Steele, Mrs. Bruce, Mrs. Trainer, Miss Cain, Miss Jamieson, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Barr, on Monday, leaving there Tuesday en route to their home in B.C. where their son had preceded them by train. These friends were very pleased indeed to again see Mr. and Mrs. Steele.

Mr. and Mrs. Sloan received word that their son, Lt. Cdr. J. C. Sloan of Halifax, N.S., met with what might have been easily a fatal accident on the night of Oct. 3rd.,, while doing night flying at Stadacona Base. He was practicing "Touch and Go" landings, and had climbed only about 500 feet when his motor failed. Being unable to bail out at that altitude he managed to bring the plane down through the trees by working the rudders. Fortunately the machine did not catch fire. Mr. Sloan was picked up in a short time by helicopter and taken to Base Hospital where it was found that he had suffered two broken ankles.

Mrs. Farquhar of Saranac and Mrs. Lawson of Montreal are spending a week with Mrs. Pollock in her own home. Glad to say Mrs. Pollock seems in better health in many ways.

Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Reid and Mr. and Mrs. F. Smith motored on Saturday to Pittsfield, Mass., and called on friends in Rutland, Vt. en route home, Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. King of Montreal were visitors on Monday at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Trainer and Dr. and Mrs. Reid.

At the regular Service Sunday morning two babies were presented for baptism: Pamela Winnifred, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Currie, and Brent Charles, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Waller, by the Pastor Rev. G. L. Bannerman. The church was beautifully decorated for the Thanksgiving service, and Rev. Bannerman urged upon his hearers the need for regular attendance at the Christian Services that we might never forget to thank the Giver for all the bounties bestowed upon us, of the common things of life. A fine display of these common fruits was laid before the pulpit, and later given by the donors to the Pastor.

Thanksgiving guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Oliver included Mr. and Mrs. W. Henry of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Merritt of Oswego. During the past week Dr. and Mrs. Austin Oliver of Montreal and Dr. John Abbott of Pulaski were visitors at the same home.

Sorry to report Mrs. Arden Douglas sustained a bad fall recently and is not too well as a result. Hope she may soon be better. At present Mrs. Knox is with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Ashton and daughter Joan, and Mr. and Mrs. Timmins of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Trainer of Chateauguay, N.Y., were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Trainer Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Welburn and family of Montreal were guests a couple of days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Welburn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Tannahill of Trout River, and family, were visitors Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sloan.

let, who was prominent in Canadian Pacific's training of navigators for the Air Force during the war, is on hand whenever possible to welcome arriving and bid "Aloha" to departing flights.

Nowhere else in the world does a departing tourist get the send off he is given on leaving Honolulu airport.

Beautiful scented leis accompanied by "buses" are standard procedure and I made a mental note that the Islanders' habit of presenting flowers while you are in this world seems a far more practical and desirable one than waiting until you're in the next!

Even the bus driver gets into the act. A big Hawaiian with a fine voice, he sang the beautiful "Aloha" on the way to the airport.

Reception For Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Quenneville

BEAVER — On Monday evening, Oct. 10th, a reception was held in St. Agnes Hotel, for Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Quenneville, on their return from their honeymoon trip. The hall was filled to capacity with relatives, neighbours and friends to wish them health and happiness. Excellent music for dancing was supplied by The Prairie Rangers, with Mr. Franklin Cameron as "Caller".

At midnight refreshments were served by Miss Lucille Quenneville, assisted by several ladies and gents. Mr. Herman Quenneville called the gathering to order and in a few well chosen words presented the bride and groom with a purse of money. Mr. Raymond Quenneville made a suitable reply on behalf of himself and his wife, to the gesture of goodwill on the part of those present. All joined in singing, "For they are Jolly Good Fellows".

Hello Vancouver

We arrived next morning at Sea Island Airport, with all passengers giving way for our senior air-traveller, Mrs. Ethel Wilson. Eighty-four years of age, she had accompanied us all the way from Sydney and thought the trip was "just marvellous."

Before writing "thirty" to this story, I must mention one thing more.

No Canadian making such a trip, weekly editor or not, will ever regret it.

He will make friends, good friends, in the fascinating land "Down Under" and will return with a clearer idea of Australia and a greater appreciation of its wonderful and hospitable people.

Australia — faithful ally in wartime, whose citizens have the enviable reputation of being the staunchest friends a man could have. What could be finer than that?

(Third of a special Space Travel series of HOW AND WHY)

The first men to travel through outer space will be pioneers in the full sense of that very old word.. Like the sailors of olden times, these men of the future will be taking man's knowledge and experience one step further. Like Columbus, they will be taking a great and dangerous step.

The men at the controls of the first rocket through space may face terrible dangers. Most we can predict. Other dangers will have to be met to be known. Men told Columbus that if he sailed far enough to sea he would fall off the edge of the world. We know such thinking to be nonsense. But it may be that our thinking about outer space is just as confused. The big difference is that we are tackling unanswered space questions not with guesswork but with the careful methods of the scientist. Already we know considerable. More space secrets will be uncovered and we will be surer in our general knowledge before the first space pilot is allowed o leave Earth.

Columbus was first-rate as a sea captain before he commanded his ships through new, unexplored seas to the West. The first space captain, on the other hand, will have no experience to draw on. He will be attempting to do something never tried before and he'll be up where conditions and dangers are completely different from here on Earth.

The slightest mistake — or a stroke of bad luck — and there will not be the slightest chance of his returning to Earth alive.

Meteors, the "shooting stars" we watch at night, may prove the greatest enemy of the man who ventures into space. Millions of tiny rock particles hit the air above Earth each day. They travel at tremendous speeds. Rub your hand fast and hard against a table top — it gets hot. That's friction, and the same sort of thing happens when these tiny rocks rub against the air overhead. Their great speed heats them white hot and in seconds we watch them burn up. Very rarely indeed is it that such a meteor lasts through the hundreds of miles of air above us and reaches ground without having been burned away. Never in history has a human been hit and killed by a meteor from the skies. Space pilots may not prove so fortunate. They fly where there is no air to destroy meteors and may find them striking like bullets. Furthermore, one hit by a Meteor might let air escape from a space ship and kill all persons aboard.

No one is completely sure how great a danger such meteors may prove. No one has a better suggestion for defence against meteors than building hulls of extra thick metal and wearing pressure suits aboard ship at all times.

Ever have a painful sunburn? We all have, though no one ever died of it and anyone could have avoided it by coming promptly indoors. Not so in outer space. Cosmic rays, so called, of space may be thought of as like sun's rays but they neither can be seen or felt and are know to pass right through metal. They can kill. They are like atomic radiation and X-rays, both of which can be dangerous in quantity. A hundred miles of air blocks out most cosmic rays on Earth so we needn't worry. No one knows just how much danger these peculiar space rays may be to the man who leaves Earth and flies beyond.

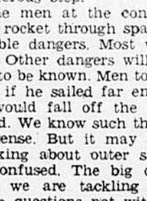

Ever felt sick on an elevetor that was going down too fast? Think of what it will be like turning or stopping at the great speeds necessary for leaving Earth or travelling through space. Doctors can only guess at how much change of speed the body can stand. Aviation science is teaching us some answers. But animals and people will have to leave Earth to know how bodies react when there is no gravity, no weight, but great speed.

Food and water were a problem in the time of Columbus, but his sailors had all the air they could breathe. Not only that, but a starving seaman might try to catch and eat a fish. Everything must be on board, even fresh air, when a rocket leaves Earth behind. Scientists are making good headway on such problems and "army rations" show how plenty of food can be packed into little space. Yet, in Space as nowhere else, there simply cannot be a mistake. Answers to many big questions must be found here on Earth before man can hope to visit beyond the sky.

ORMSTOWN BOARD OF TRADE LADIES' NIGHT

On Thursday evening, the Ormstown Board of Trade held a banquet at the Ormstown Hotel. Seventy-five members, their wives and friends attended.

After the supper, President Milton Gartshore introduced the speaker of the evening, Mr. Carlisle of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce, who gave a historic and economic description of the St. Lawrence Seaway particularly as it affected the Montreal area. He described the Montreal area as that area within a radius of 75 miles of Montreal—Ormstown is well within that area and will be directly benefitted by the industrial expansion that is sure to take place. He stressed the value of town planning and suggested that a committee be appointed to study this important matter.

The speaker was thanked by Bruno Beaulieu.

The president then opened the business meeting and called on Carlyle Dickson to present the report of the nominating Committee consisting of Messrs. Gartshore, Romeo Brunet and Charles Boyer. The following officers were elected for 1955-56.

Hon. Pres., Milton Gartshore; President, Bruno Beaulieu; Treas., H. B. Brittain; Sec'y., Oscar Wing.

The new president Bruno Beaulieu then took the chair and called for nominations for six directors. The following directors were appointed: Milton Gartshore, Romeo Brunet, Charles Boyer, Merrill Barrington, Dr. Jack Davidson, Albert Chabot.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion from the floor. Canon Langlois moved that a Town Planning Committee be appointed by the board to study the Seaway as it affects Ormstown. This will be done at the next meeting.

The musical program then commenced. Mrs. Beauchamp sang three delightful songs, Mr. Bertrand sang three of his rollicking songs and Mr. Delisle two songs followed by Messrs. Lalonde and Sauvé with an old-timers' step dance. The dancing then completed a happy evening with Ernie Yates' orchestra.

The speaker, Miss. A. Elridge, brought an inspiring message on the theme of Thanksgiving. She was introduced by Mrs. E. Hooker and thanked by Mrs. Alvin Gruer.

Tea was served at the close of the meeting by members of the Senior Auxiliary. Mrs. James Anderson and Mrs. Ward Rember presided at the tea table.

The ladies later worked on quilt blocks. Mrs. Large served delicious refreshments at the close of the meeting.

Dundee

DUNDEE — Mrs. Eleanor McNicol recently spent a few days visiting her friend, Mrs. Mayfred Colquhoun, of Massena Centre, N.Y.

Miss Lorna Fleming of Shawville, Que., and friend, Miss Audrey Bishop, of Pointe Claire, spent the Thanksgiving week-end with Mrs. E. J. Fleming. Miss Christena Caldwell of Huntingdon was a Monday visitor at the Fleming home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fraser and family spent Sunday visiting the Cockerlines at Henrysburg, Que.

Mr. Howard Fraser, of Dundee, who is in second year theology at the United Church Theological College in Montreal, was in charge of the services at Lacolle and Henrysburg on Sunday morning and afternoon. During the summer months Howard was in Western Canada near Portage La Prairie, Man., where he was in charge of three preaching places. At each place there were usually 40-60 persons present for services on Sunday.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hartland Platt's father, Mr. Harold J. Moore of Brainardsville, N.Y., were held from his late residence on the Brainardsville-Ellenburg road on Sunday afternoon, Oct. 9, at 2.30 p.m., to the Ellenburg Methodist Church. The services were very largely attended, a tribute to the esteem in which the deceased was held in the community. The service at the church was conducted by the church pastor and the committal rites at the local cemetery were performed by members of the American Legion, of which the deceased was a member, he having served with the American forces in World War I. Mr. Moore, who was 61 on May 13 last, was badly injured by an enraged bull in his farmyard about a month ago and has been in Plattsburg Hospital ever since. Much of his time in hospital was spent in a semi-conscious state and he finally passed away on Friday morning, Oct. 7. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife the former Hazel Hutchins of Boston; four daughters: Carolyn, Mrs. Hartland Platt, St. Agnes; Helen, Mrs. Earl Friend, Burke, N.Y., Mildred, Mrs. Orrin Henry, of Dannemora; Ruth, Mrs. Francis Mitchell, also of Dannemora. One sister, Mrs. Nellie Bennett of Buffalo and one brother, Charles Moore, of Ellenburg Centre, also survive. Floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Mr. Moore was a well established farmer who had 300 acres of land and a large stock. He was a highly respected man and will be sadly missed by his family and the circle of friends in which he moved. As there are no sons to take over it is said the property will in all probability be sold.

The Quebec Roads Dept. with Fortin Freres as contractors are continuing the work of widening the Smallman sideroad from Zion Church to St. Agnes station. The project was started 3 years ago and necessitated considerable grading and leveling of existing hill tops which were a menace to traffic due to being very narrow and steep. It is expected that if the fine weather continues a black top surface will be applied this Fall to the section which was completed three years ago. At present the Department are laying a black top surface from Lee's Corners to Highway No. 4. Materials for the black topping work are being hauled from the asphalt plant which is located near Powerscourt. To make it easier to service the area Fortin Freres bought a 4 acre section of land, drilled a well and have moved in their machinery from Hemmingford and are now in full production with the asphalt mix.

A few weeks ago Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Napier who live near Aubrey's Corners on the Dundee Centre road were having trouble with unknown persons hurling stones at their buildings and windows, apparently from the shelter of nearby trees and brush which border their house quite closely at some points. Early one morning while Mr. Napier was milking in the barn, someone threw a fair sized rock through the open stable window. The missile hit him in the back of the head and inflicted quite a wound near his ear and bounced off into his milk pail. Fearing further attacks he called the police who came but apparently were unable to locate anything tangible concerning the guilty parties.

After having had some further trouble from the same source a few of the local boys armed with shotguns made some patrols of the Napier place and fired several shots in the air.

Apparently the unknown assailant thought that discretion was the better part of valor, for the attacks have ceased.

talk at same time, but their audiences join in.

Their subject is their own choosing though most likely to be politics or religion.

I was fortunate to be invited to a garden party at an English country home. I met many interesting people and enjoyed talking with them about England and Canada. After a buffet dinner we danced Scottish reels on the lawn.

July 26. We went to the North-end Market for groceries. It was a fascinating experience. The people had their stalls all along the street and were selling their wares, everything from nylons to dishes, to groceries. My biggest surprise was when I asked for a dozen eggs and was given them in a flimsy paper bag.

July 26. This was the day for leaving England for Europe. Our trip from London to Dover seemed at first to be uneventful but we soon felt very much at home as we got caught in a traffic jam. We were held up so long that we feared missing the boat and it takes around three to four months to get passage for a car, so it was five worried travellers who pulled up to the dock at Dover just in time for the boat. The channel trip was much rougher than our Atlantic voyage but nothing to cause any sickness.

Mrs. A. H. Fraser gave a full report of the Semi-Annual Convention held in Huntingdon, in September.

Mrs. J. Platt demonstrated colorful bed socks which could be quickly made from two large wash cloths. She said brown sugar would keep soft if stored in the large size plastic container. Also she showed the Atlas Arc-Lid and rubber bands which could be purchased for empty marmalade, jam, etc., jars and so be usable for canning.

Mrs. E. Gardiner read an item which stated that the business part of the meeting should not take long if conducted properly and that the whole meeting could be finished in less than two hours.

Mrs. Rember, county president, is to be invited to the November meeting to be held November 2.

A most bountiful and delicious supper was served by Mrs. J. Platt, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Banane and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Harlan Platt.

Commencement Exercises

a close at an age when you would little appreciate the suffering and great dislocations caused by it. So fast do we move on in history, that World War I is long distance history to you, as remote as the Battle of Chateauguay, the anniversary of which is practically at this time. It seems somewhat remarkable to me that in this hall tonight there are many who remember much of the 19th Century. Following the law of averages the members of the Graduating Class will live many years into the 21st Century, and therefore individuals here tonight will span parts of 3 centuries. Considering these facts, and also that the history of the District of Beauharnois is little more than 150 years, I wondered if it might be of interest to mention some of the changes that have occurred, that we may have some appreciation of this rapidly changing world.

It is within the memory of many who are here and who live in the district to whom it would be a full day's journey to go to Huntingdon and return, and this only in good weather because the roads would be impassable otherwise. It is only approximately 40 years since the beginning of improved roads in this district. This following upon the advent of the early motor car 45 to 50 years ago.

It is of interest to realize that the first railway in Canada was in the outskirts of this valley and in our present political constituency, being between Laprairie and St. John and built and opened in 1836 with wooden rails with a metal surface, the engine being fired with wood. It was almost fifty years later before the railroad arrived in Ormstown, in 1884.

The exceedingly rapid change in transport is evident when one realizes that we can drive to Montreal in one hour, could have lunch there and your dinner in Vancouver. Similarly within 15 hours you can be in Britain.

Another change which is difficult to appreciate is the fact that candles were the only method of illumination after sundown until 1859, when the oil lamp was invented. Therefore citizens such as Mrs. Moe Sr. and Mr. Archibald Craig of Howick must remember the days before oil lamps. Mrs. Moe has recently told me that it was in 1862 that they had the first oil lamp in their home and they cherished it as much as we would a television set. This leads us to the advent of electricity, electric power, telephone, radio and television. And now we are on the doorstep of Atomic Power. I do think it is worthy of note, since we live so close to the development, that the original Soulanges Canal was built for water transport between 1900-1905, and now 50 years later, we are visualizing the advent of the deep Sea Waterway almost at our door. It promises and is very likely within the next decade or two to change the face of this whole area.

There have been so many other changes in this rapidly changing world that you have graduated into but time is too short to mention them. There is however one change which has affected all human beings which deserves mention. Following the Industrial Revolution in Britain it was customary for the working man to labour at least 12 hours per day and seven days per week. I think we might remember that even yet farmers and physicians still labour those hours. However the 5 day, 40 hour week has generally become established. It seems likely that this trend will continue to 35 and 30 hours as the years go on. This change has meant vast disruptions of economics throughout the whole world. Be that as it is, it is beyond our powers and we should appreciate that 80 to 100 hours per week was a form of industrial slavery and fortunately the world has evolved so that we have much more freedom.

I hope a little later to mention what I believe the effects of shorter hours of work and more hours of leisure has upon the field of education. However first I would wish the members of the Graduating Class to go with me in your mind's eye on a short tour along a beautiful street, a street of adventure, of vision and of ambition. On each side of this street are large buildings and over the entrance doors are printed titles such as Agriculture, Education, Engineering, Religion, Art, Music, Medicine, Law, Business, Public Relations, Political Science and many many more.

In other words, the names of the many careers that are open for you to choose. Tonight you have been given the Master Key to open the doors into the anti-room or vestibule of all those buildings, but only into the vestibule beyond which there are other doors to open. It is for you to decide which inner door you wish to enter to spend a large part of the rest of your life. It is a very great decision and one which should not be made in haste. It is one which you must decide for yourself. Your parents and others with experience may assist but see to it that it is your own decision. If necessary wait a year or two exploring the vestibules before the final decision is made. I think it is important to realize the significance of the old saying that "the boy is father to the man". Similarly, "the girl is mother of the woman". You have already created the pattern for your life; you have proven by your success thus far that you can succeed. It is that pattern which will determine the type of man or woman you will be.

In searching for the correct vocation I would be so bold as to make one suggestion. It is this. When you find an occupation in which you are glad to work not 40 hours, but 80 or 100 hours per week, one in which the clock goes around too fast, the hours of the day are too short and you have the desire, energy and ambition to work on burning the midnight oil, then you have found your life work. I believe that in this experimental time it might be well to do various types of toil, to discover the monotony of some and the joy of others. Not only will it help you in this finding of a career but it will give to you tolerance and sympathy for the many who have not succeeded in finding a happy vocation, a tolerance and sympathy for many of the forty-hour weekly workers who cannot help but watch the clock.

I should now like to review very briefly a few of the historical landmarks in connection with education in this district. I am hopeful that it may even, if very dimly, let us peer into the future. My reference is Robert Sellar's history of Huntingdon, Chateauguay and Beauharnois.

Page 47. "The first attempt at education was made in a shanty near the mouth of the English River where a man named Haldane acted as Schoolmaster." This was approximately 1810.

Page 50. The next development was in Williamstown which was known as the Scotch Settlement and we think as Beach Ridge. Here the name of the Schoolmaster and clergyman was Norman McLeod. He was paid £60 per year by the Royal Institution for Advancement of Learning, which was the original name of McGill University. This date was about 1815. This man, Norman McLeod, from all accounts was a remarkable individual.

Page 246, 247. I now wish to quote parts of a paragraph which has a direct bearing on the beginning of education in the Ormstown district.

So we may truthfully say that the origin of education in Ormstown was in 1825 in Robert Lindsay's shanty to be followed in 1826 by a building for the purpose at Stoney Creek.

When the first school in the Village of Ormstown was started I have been unable to find. However, again Mrs. Moe informs me that one school was situated about where Jim Mofatt's house is now and another behind where Robert McGerrigle lives at present — the old Peter McLaren house. But I have here an old Annual Report of a Model School in 1894. It seems reasonable to suggest that there has been an Elementary School which was later formed into a Model School in 1887. In any case in 1894 there were three teachers, D. M. Gilmour, the principal, whose salary was $425 per year; Aggie Blockette with a salary of $180 and Ellard Spearman at $175. The subjects listed were Reading, Grammar, Geography, History, Arithmetic, Algebra and Geometry.

In 1898, an Academy was created and a Principal, Mr. J. W. Alexander, a McGill Graduate, who then had a salary of $500, and four other teachers at salaries of $20 to $25 per month. It is noted then that Drawing, Bookkeeping, French, Latin, Greek and Natural Sciences had been added to the curriculum.

In this brief review the next development of note was Consolidation in 1931 and the building of the present school, the Ormstown Consolidated High School in 1932.

Now finally, members of the Graduating Class and all pupils of this school, I ask you to pretend to return to a reunion of the Ormstown Consolidated High School in the year 2005, fifty years from now. That is not so foolish as it seems. I am sure if Arthur Lang were here tonight he would be doing just that, and it is many more years than that since Mrs. Moe was in school in this district. It is possible that one of you may have written a history of this district and there you will read of Haldane, the first schoolmaster of 1810, of the remarkable character, Norman McLeod of Beach Ridge and of McWattie, the drunken schoolmaster and clergyman of North Georgetown and of the first Ormstown School in the Lindsay shanty and Stoney Creek. You will read of the first Model School, the first Academy, the first High School, the Consolidated School and Composite High School.

You will read of personalities who were principals or teachers in this school and who made their contribution to education elsewhere, such as H. D. Wells who became a Provincial Inspector, C. E. Playort who was Provincial Inspector of High Schools and of Arthur Lang who was born in this district, whose mother was for many years a primary teacher, and who has made an outstanding contribution to education in this Province. You will read and likely remember one who had the vision of the changing order of education, D. C. Munro who became Dean of the School for Teachers at Macdonald College and the first Professor of Education in the new Faculty of Education at McGill University. You will read of Matthew Kee, and remember W. G. McGerrigle and Leslie Ross who between them kept the books and records of the school for nearly a century. You will not need to read but will remember with thoughts akin to love of Eric King and the members of the Staff under whom you worked, studied and received your education.

It is no idle dream to say that you will be proud that you are a graduate of the Ormstown High School. You should be. It is one of the best in the Province.

Dr. Stalker was thanked by Mr. Huntley Greig and heartily applauded by all present.

Merchants Win Pennant

Blackpool Wins The League Series

LACOLLE SOFTBALL LEAGUE

The Merchants' astounding comeback exploits throughout the season spurred them on to win the 1955 Pennant of the Lacolle Softball League. This team showed some great spirit in the regular season and eventually won out in the tight race for first place in the local circuit.

In the semi-finals the Merchants were again in top form. Pitcher Johnny Brosseau and Catcher Ray Grimard stopped the Brokers' heavy hitters at the plate. In the first game, after five innings of play, the Merchants were leading 18 to 5 but the game was called on account of darkness. This game was afterwards cancelled since it had not gone seven complete innings. This was considered a raw deal by many. The Merchants won the first game of a Sunday Double-Header 10 to 0 while they lost the second one 21 to 11. The following Sunday the Merchants rallied and ousted their opponents 16 to 3.

Hemmingford had won booth their games against Blackpool 10 to 9 and 7 to 6 respectively; but, due to the incompetence and the questioned legality of the umpires for the second game, Blackpool won their protest on the last game. Hemmingford then conceeded the series to Blackpool.

On Sunday the 25th of September, the Merchants were pitted against Blackpool for the Trophy of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Lacolle.

Blackpool finally broke the tight defensive play of the Merchants to win both games of the doubleheader 13 to 6 and 21 to 9. Pitcher Frank Galipeau went both games for Blackpool while Johnny Brosseau was relieved in the second game by Alain Martin.

Thus for the second consecutive year Blackpool wins the coveted Trophy of the Jaycees.

Recipe Suggestions For Zestful Living

TRIED AND TESTED FOR SATISFACTION

THIS WEEK — "MEAT IN THE HOME FREEZER OR LOCKER"

Experimental work on the storage and cooking of frozen meats which has been in progress for some time in the Consumer Section, Canada Department of Agriculture, has been completed. As a result definite cooking instructions and storage times can now be given to the many Canadian families who store their meat in a home freezer or locker.

Meat and other foods which are to be frozen should always be properly packaged in freezer wrappings or in special freezer containers in order to keep all the moisture and flavour inside the package and to allow the frozen food to retain its fresh characteristics. When foil or plastic freezer wrappings are used they should be covered with an overwrap of brown paper to prevent holes from being punctured in them. This is not necessary when laminated paper or other such heavy locker papers are used. Steaks, chops and meat patties will separate more easily if a folded piece of freezer wrapping or waxed paper has been placed between them. Freezer cartons which are designed for freezing fruits and vegetables may also be used for storing stew meat, minced meat, cutlets and cooked left-over meats and gravies.

Whether or not meat is thawed before cooking is a matter of time and convenience. If it is to be thawed, the wrapping should be left on in order to prevent the evaporation of juices from the meat. It may be thawed in the refrigerator. Allowing nine to ten hours per pound, or at room temperature allowing only two to three hours per pound. The time it takes to thaw at room temperature may be reduced considerably if the package of meat is placed in front of an electric fan. Meat that has been thawed completely should not be refrozen and it should always be cooked promptly to prevent spoilage.

Frozen roasts, steaks and chops may be cooked without thawing or they may be thawed before cooking. If the meat is first thawed then it will require just the same cooking time as meat which has not been frozen and, especially in the case of large roasts, a more even cooking is assured. Roasts which are not thawed before cooking should be cooked uncovered in a moderately slow, 325°F. oven for approximately one and a half times as long as it takes for fresh ones. The use of a meat thermometer is the surest way of determining doneness of roasts cooked this way. The thermometer should not be inserted until the roast is at least half-cooked. In cooking unthawed pot roasts the same extra time is required. That is, for example, if a fresh roast takes two hours to cook, a frozen one that has not been thawed will take approximately three hours.

Frozen steaks and chops can be either panfried or broiled but they are a little more difficult to brown if they are not thawed before cooking. Frozen beef steaks and lamb chops require at least twice as much panfrying time as fresh ones, frozen pork chops one a half times as long, and frozen veal chops just five or ten minutes longer than fresh ones. Frozen steaks or chops to be broiled should be heated in the broiler, six or seven inches below the heating unit, until they are thawed. This will take seven or eight minutes on each side for meat one inch thick and three to four minutes on each side for meat one-half inch thick. Then the broiler pan should be raised and the meat cooked in the same way as fresh steaks or chops.

There are certain time limits for keeping meat in a home freezer or locker. Large or thick cuts of meat can be held considerably longer in storage than small pieces which tend to dry out and develop off-flavours more quickly. Like other frozen foods, meat must be wrapped in moisture-vapour-proof materials and should be stored at a constant temperature of 0°F. Here are the maximum storage times for frozen meats, as recommended by the Consumer Section:

Beef Roasts and Steaks, 10 to 12 months.

Lamb Roasts, 6 to 8 months.

Veal Roasts and Chops, Pork Roasts (fresh or cured), Lamb chops, 4 to 5 months.

Pork Chops, Bacon, Variety Meats (liver, kidney, heart, etc.) 3 to 4 months.

Minced Meats, 2 to 3 months

Sausages, Wieners, 2 to 3 weeks.

Cooked Roasts, 2 to 3 months.

Cooked Stews, Meat Loaves and Other Cooked Meat Dishes, 1 to 2 months.

KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on 'nerves'—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

Round Byre AND Ring

By Frank Napier

At right, Mrs. Ellen McKellar and (left) Bruce McKellar, owners of Braemanor Farm, Island Road, Dewittville. Between them is the Aberdeen-Angus heifer "Maggie of Malden 6th", which was purchased at the Canadiana "Guest Consignment" sale held at Windfields Farm. That sale was one of a circuit of three held in the Toronto district, and at which the McKellars purchased several head, all of which were unfortunately lost in the recent fire at Braemanor Farms.

On Friday morning, that is October 14, we received from Jim Rose, Animal Photographer, Toronto, the photograph which is reproduced above. That is the picture which concerns one of the top animals purchased by Bruce and Mrs. Kellar, Braemanor Farms, Island Road, Dewittville, Que., in the recent Ontario Aberdeen-Angus, the Canadiana and the Maple Leaf Aberdeen-Angus Sales.

Friday night, however, and there came the fire which destroyed not only the steading at Braemanor Farms but twelve head of choicely bred Aberdeen-Angus cattle. In fact, that fire practically wiped out the result of several years of careful selection and breeding by Bruce and Mrs. McKellar prior to their purchase of the present Braemanor Farms several months ago. The herd was originally founded at Ste. Genevieve, Que., and was moved to its new home on the Island Road, Dewittville, less than two weeks ago. However, during the past summer months the steading at the new Braemanor farm was remodelled while the crop from the old farm at Ste. Genevieve had been stored in the remodelled barns. It therefore was that on Friday night several years of efforts were brought to a temporary standstill.

Good Foundation

The fine showing by a number of Braemanor (then of Ste. Genevieve) animals at the 1955 Ormstown Exhibition well indicated that a good foundation had been laid insofar as that Aberdeen-Angus herd was concerned. It is true that as Aberdeen-Angus shows go, the Ormstown show was quite a small one. However, it might well be said that, insofar as quality and bloodlines were concerned the Ormstown Show was a very select one, indeed. Also that the competition was very keen in all the classes.

Noted Sires

Good class females — type and bloodlines — figured in the foundation of the Braemanor herd but it might well be said that the two sires which figured in that scheme of things were quite largely responsible for the success that has been attained.

The late senior herd sire was Bandolier of Malden 8th., incidentally the sire of the grand champion A-A. male at the Royal Winter Fair of two years ago. The late junior herd sire was Bandolier of Braemanor 2nd., which won the junior and reserve grand championships at the 1955 Ormstown Exhibition. Together they represented the cream of Aberdeen-Angus bloodlines.

In Replacement

The reasons annexed to the recent Braemanor purchases at the recent Ontario Aberdeen-Angus; the Canadiana at E. P. Taylor's Windfields Farm, and the Maple Leaf held at Don Head Farms, Richmond Hill, circuit of sales, were to replace a number of animals which had recently been sold for export to Venezuela, South America for herd improvement work in that country. All the heifers purchased by Braemanor at that sale were selected for their type, conformation and bloodlines to mate with either of the above mentioned sires. However, the two herd sires, the Ontario purchases and several other members of the herd—twelve animals in all—were destroyed in the fire. Only three calves that were in the byres at that time being saved.

"Out of the Ashes"

Fortunately, however, twenty-three head were out at pasture at the time of the fire and so there are still 26 head remaining in the Braemanor herd. One of the calves saved is a full brother to the late junior herd sire, while another is a grandson of Prince Sunbeam, the "million dollar Aberdeen-Angus sire". It will therefore doubtless be that "out of the ashes", so to speak, there will emerge an even greater Braemanor herd. And in that respect, we may add that Mr. McKellar has informed us: "We still hold great hopes that we will be able to build up the condition of our large acreage here and that we can erect a suitable structure before the severe weather sets in."

Mr. McKellar also stated "We are very grateful for help and assistance that has been given us in the enormous task of moving our entire farm, including livestock, by our new-found friends and neighbours, and especially so since the fire."

The highlight of the meeting was an address by Miss Isabel McConnell, Reg. N., who recently arrived from India having done outstanding service with the mobile clinics there. She spoke of her work there and urged a continuation of our help by prayer and financial support. Miss Ellen Douglas, who also had served for many years as a Missionary there, but was now in Vancouver serving as a hospital visitor, was also a guest and told of some of their work together after which Miss McConnell and Miss Douglas sang very beautifully a hymn in the Bhil language, Miss McConnell then giving the English version.

Mrs. Archie Hampson favoured with a solo in the forenoon and Mrs. David Watson in the afternoon. Both were much appreciated.

Dinner was served at noon by the Elgin ladies and a light luncheon at the close of the meeting.

Miss Lillian Murdoch has recently returned from a visit with her brother, Mr. Stanley Murdoch of Syracuse. She accompanied him and his wife and Mrs. Murdoch's sister, Miss Florence Burt, on a motor tour of Western Canada and U.S.A. Weigel and Mrs. Bill Holt, in Seattle, Wash., as well as cousins of Mrs. Murdoch's in Roseburg, Ore.

They also took in many of the beauty spots of the West, as well as a boat trip to Victoria, B.C. Among the places visited were the Grand Coulée Dam of the Columbia Basin Project; Lake Louise, Alta.; Yellowstone Park, Wyo.; Crater Lake National Park, Ore.; Crater of the Moon National Park, Idaho; the Black Hills of South Dakota which contain the Needles Highway and Mount Rushmore National Memorial, on which are carved in granite, colossal statues of Washington, Lincoln, Jefferson and Roosevelt. Brooklet

Brooklet—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Association of Rennie's United Church was held Tuesday evening, October 4th at the home of Mrs. Ernest Erskine. Ten members answered the roll call with a verse containing the word "harvest". Mrs. W. J. Maither had charge of the devotional exercises, and, in keeping with the Thanksgiving theme, gave an interesting reading entitled "The Coronation of the Year".

A discussion ensued as to the advisability of sponsoring a Chicken Supper, which in the past, has been an annual enterprise undertaken by the members of Rennie's United Church. It was decided that, due to various reasons, the chief of which is the scarcity of help, the supper be cancelled for this year. Instead of the usual generous donations of food, each family is requested to contribute the sum of ten dollars ($10.), the amount considered as the average cost per family to patronize the supper. The Board of Managers would appreciate the kind co-operation of everyone in the realization of a sum to parallel the usual returns of a Chicken Supper. The contributions may be either given in person or mailed to Mr. J. O. Levers, Secretary-Treasurer of the Board of Managers before November 1st.

The meeting closed with the repetition of the Mizpah, after which the members were treated to delicious refreshments served by the hostess, Mrs. Ernest Erskine, assisted by Mrs. George Erskine.
