But Nehru doesn't accept cease-fire

Shooting stops on India border

(CP from AP-Reuters)

NEW DELHI — Shooting has stopped along the Himalayan frontier but informed sources said today India is not planning to accept Red China's terms for settlement of the month-old border war.

Prime Minister Nehru told Parliament: "So far as we know there has been an effective cease-fire." He made no mention of the Indian reaction but informants said the Indian Army has been ordered to withhold its fire against Chinese troops who are observing a self-imposed cease-fire.

The lull in the undeclared frontier war left open the prospect of more fighting, informed observers in New Delhi said.

India appeared to be buying time by using the lull offered by the Chinese to rebuild its defeated army units in north-east India.

A defence ministry spokesman refused at his daily briefing to clarify the cease-fire situation. He would not deny that Indian troops might have fired since the Chinese cease-fire deadline Wednesday. But he said there has not necessarily been any firing.

WOULD ANSWER FIRE
Informed sources said the orders were for Indian soldiers to fire only when fired upon.

The defence ministry spokesman said orders were a military secret and refused to disclose them.

In Parliament earlier Nehru reported the Chinese had silenced their guns but he did not say that Indian troops also had been ordered to hold their fire.

Nehru told Parliament earlier today that firing had stopped. Replying to questions, he said "there has been no firing since last night and before that, too."

His statement came after the Chinese Communist party newspaper People's Daily in Peking announced the cease-fire had gone into effect today.

The announcement was made in an editorial which reviewed the Peking government's statement Tuesday night that the Chinese would voluntarily cease fire at midnight Peking Time.

Nehru told Parliament he had sent a letter to Chinese Premier Chou En-lai Nov. 14—almost a week before the Chinese cease-fire statement—accusing the Chinese of assuming the attitude

S. Africa riot kills 7 people

PAARL, South Africa (Reuters) — Two white persons and at least five Negroes were killed today in a bloody pre-dawn riot in which a 17-year-old girl, a schoolteacher, was dragged from her bed and beaten to death with iron bars and sticks.

One report put the number of Negroes dead as high as eight after police fired on a crowd of 100 knife-wielding Negroes during an outbreak of racial violence in this wine-making town 30 miles from Cape Town.

Also dead was a 22-year-old rugby player, hacked to death with knives.

Three other whites were in critical condition in a hospital.

STONE POLICE STATION

Police said five Negroes were shot to death after they opened fire when the Negroes surrounded Paarl police station and began stoning it and trying to break in.

A police helicopter hovered over the town and policemen armed with sub-machine guns patrolled the streets while many townspeople also armed themselves in the wake of violence.

The rioters stoned stores near the police station, shattering windows, and attempted to set fire to gas stations and other buildings.

Eighteen Negroes were arrested after police reinforcements were rushed to the scene. Police said the rioters were finally dispersed at dawn.

Judge issues orders

SIU ordered to bare financial operations

By ROBERT RICE

OTTAWA (CP) — The Seafarers' International Union of Canada has been ordered to bare its financial affairs publicly before the federal investigation into labor strife on the Great Lakes.

In a series of specific orders, Mr. Justice T. G. Norris told the SIU to file documents, reports and minutes to spell out the union's internal financial operation.

Some of the answers expected to be found in the documentation include details of salaries, loans and expenses paid to union officials, loans to other unions, income from special assessments levied against SIU members, a breakdown of the corporate structure of a holding company which owns all SIU buildings as well as the constitutional authority for the expenditures.

Mr. Justice Norris issued his orders at the request of J. A. Geller, lawyer for Upper Lakes Shipping Limited.

Mr. Geller made the requests after criticizing vague or evasive answers from Leonard J. McLaughlin, SIU executive vice-president who is facing cross-examination before the federal inquiry. He is the first senior SIU officer to undergo questioning by opposing lawyers on the broad range of issues under investigation by Mr. Justice Norris.

Several times, the Vancouver jurist cautioned Mr. McLaughlin against giving argumentative answers to questions. Finally, Mr. Justice Norris told the witness that if he persisted in such replies, he would face punishment—a warning the judge did not withhold.

Under cross-examination, Mr. McLaughlin said the SIU's annual audited financial statement, showing the union's overall fiscal position in detail, was not given to the members, although it was "available" to them.

He said the SIU prepared a financial statement in simpler form to present at each semi-monthly membership meeting.

CHARGE 11-YEAR-OLD IN $100,000 BLAZES

GRANBY — (Staff) — An eleven-year-old Granby boy was arrested here yesterday by municipal detectives and charged with setting five fires since the month of June which caused an estimated $100,000 damage.

Granby Municipal Police Chief Raymond Forand, said a nine-year-old boy was also arrested with the older one. "We have recommended to the Social Welfare Judge that the eleven-year-old boy be sent to a mental institution where he can be treated. As for the younger boy, who now lives in Sherbrooke, his parents have promised to keep an eye on him, so we are not pressing charges against him," Chief Forand said.

Chief Forand said he arrested the boys after a citizen tipped off police the two companions were always playing with matches.

Chief Forand said the older boy would set the fire assisted by the younger one and then they'd go and pull the fire alarm when the fire was going well.

PM's reaction in Ottawa supports Bertrand report

By CUTHBERT JONES (Record staff writer)

Reports originating in Ottawa to the effect that Jean-Jacques Bertrand, Union Nationale Member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Missisquoi and a former provincial cabinet minister, would enter the Diefenbaker cabinet were given support by a rather negative stand in official quarters in the Capital yesterday.

Mr. Bertrand himself described press reports that he had agreed to enter the cabinet as "unfounded," although he said nothing about possible negotiations with this objective.

Asked in the House of Commons by NDP Douglas Fisher of Port Arthur whether he is considering bringing Mr. Bertrand into the cabinet, the Prime Minister is reported to have merely smiled broadly without giving any definite reply. Reportedly his smile was one of pleasure rather than annoyance.

Observers point out that he did not deny the reports outright but, rather, acted as if he were toying with the proposition.

The attitude of the Prime Minister and Mr. Bertrand is understandable, especially if the latter's entry into the federal cabinet has been agreed upon. Traditionally, a Prime Minister gives no official indication of any planned changes until his recommendations have been approved by the Governor-General. The announcements of appointments are made after the new Minister has taken his oath of office and not before. Constitutionally the cabinet ministers are advisers to the Governor General and courtesy demands that he accept the recommendations of the Prime Minister before changes are announced.

A similar condition surrounds the position of Rene Letourneau, PC MP for Stanstead, who reportedly will be called to the Senate to open a seat for Mr. Bertrand who is slated as Associate Minister of Agriculture.

The Governor General also summons individuals to become members of the Upper House and here, too, protocol demands the announcements be made after the new Senator is sworn in.

Probable transfer by Mr. Bertrand of his interest from the provincial to federal political field is creating some conjecture as to the future of the Union Nationale party.

The Missisquoi M.L.A., runner-up for the leadership at the party convention in September, 1961, has been considered as second-in-command of the provincial group and many contend that except for his presence in the upper echelons of the organization, the U.N. showing in last week's provincial general elections would have been worse than it was.

An important faction within the party is openly dissatisfied with Mr. Johnson's leadership. They claim he does not enjoy the confidence of the electorate and that he muffed several golden opportunities to place the Liberals on the spot.

Leaders in the anti-Johnson campaign have pinned their hopes on Mr. Bertrand as the next party leader. Should he leave the provincial party ranks, they might have trouble in finding a man suitable.

'Big' Quebec families failing to grow with national average

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian families have gradually been getting larger, except in Quebec.

That is one of the conclusions in a Dominion Bureau of Statistics report today on families counted in the June, 1961, census.

The census found 4,147,444 families, an increase of 26.2 per cent since the 1951 census. Some 88.2 per cent of Canada's total population lived in families last year, compared with 87.2 per cent a decade earlier, and the average family size rose to 3.9 persons from 3.7.

Newfoundland had the largest families—an average 4.7 persons—while Ontario and British Columbia were at the other end of the scale with 3.6 persons per family. Quebec was the only province with no change in family size during the 10 years, remaining at an average of 4.2 persons.

Other facts noted in the report: Farm families are the largest, averaging 4.5 compared with 3.7 for urban families. Just over 29 per cent of all families consisted of a husband and wife with no unmarried children living at home. One-fifth of all families—a total 855,196—had two children at home while 838,684 families had three children. Nearly nine per cent of families had more than five children.

Average family size by province, with 1951 figures in brackets: Newfoundland 4.7 (4.4); Prince Edward Island 4.2 (4.0); Nova Scotia 4.0 (3.9); New Brunswick 4.3 (4.1); Quebec 4.2 (4.2); Ontario 3.6 (3.4); Manitoba 3.7 (3.6); Saskatchewan 3.8 (3.7); Alberta 3.8 (3.7); British Columbia 3.6 (3.3).

Approved by UN

Canada-backed resolution urges renewed efforts on disarmament

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations General Assembly Wednesday approved a Canadian-backed resolution calling on the 17-nation disarmament committee to meet with renewed determination to achieve its goal of multilateral disarmament.

The French abstention was based on its refusal to participate in the disarmament talks.

The resolution, approved by an 84 to 0 vote with France abstaining, urges the committee to resume its negotiations on general and complete disarmament "in a spirit of constructive compromise until agreement would preclude."

Speeches backing the resolution stressed that the best way to prevent similar threats of nuclear war in the future would be a speedy agreement at Geneva.

The resolution also requested that other measures to relax international tensions be placed higher on the Geneva agenda. These proposals included banning further admittance to the nuclear club and methods of preventing war by miscalculation.

Begins sculpture

LONDON (CP) — Sculptor Sir Charles Wheeler has completed three busts of the Queen as preliminary studies for a final version to be placed in the Royal Academy. Speaking from his Chelsea Studio Wednesday, Sir Charles said he has no idea when the sculpture will be finished.

Mr. Gregoire was a substitute for party leader Robert N. Thompson, unable to break away from a Social Credit convention in Alberta.

Mr. Marchand urged students to avoid the ideological traps of doctrinaire socialism or unlimited free enterprise. Each problem had to be studied objectively, especially in Canada where the federal system posed some difficulties for government activity in industry.

Mr. Gregoire said Social Credit is not opposed to public ownership of primary, non-competitive industries which are controlled by foreign capital. He said state control would be most effective if it took control of monetary policy—creation of money and credit—from the chartered banks, who now controlled the whole economy through these powers.

More than 14,200 air force reservists called to active duty with their troop-carrying squadrons on Oct. 27 were told they will be getting out starting Friday.

Some 17,000 navy men and marines received a Thanksgiving present when the navy unfroze discharges.

The vanguard of 63 navy vessels, relieved of blockading duties, began arriving at east coast ports including Norfolk, Va., and Key West, Fla.

The navy disclosed that a total of 183 ships, carrying more than 85,000 men, spread over a 2,100-mile front in the Atlantic and Caribbean while maintaining the Cuban blockade.

A total of 68 navy and marine squadrons numbering more than 19,000 men accounted for 9,000 separate patrol and surveillance flights that clocked better than six million miles.

With the unwinding of the crisis the government notified civilian fliers it was lifting restrictions on flying over all but the southern tip of Florida.

System to measure water levels is installed along St. Lawrence

OTTAWA (CP) — A new automatic system for measuring water levels has been installed at two points along the St. Lawrence River waterway to improve navigation and reduce the danger of spring floods caused by ice jams.

Officials of the mines and technical surveys department said the system could be the forerunner of a network that would result in annual savings of thousands of dollars in operating costs to ship owners and navigation authorities.

Initial operation of the system, also has disclosed for the first time complete details of why it's sometimes impossible to raise the level of the Montreal harbor by allowing more water to spill from upstream power plant dams.

The system involves the use of standard gauges for measuring water levels. They are hooked to special telemetering equipment which transmits a continuous record of water levels to officials in charge of navigation.

Two gauges with telemetering equipment have been installed—one at the King Edward Pier in Montreal harbor and the other at Sorel, 40 miles downstream.

GOES TO THREE PLACES

The Montreal harbor gauge provides instantaneous and simultaneous water level readings to the Montreal harbor master, the National Harbors Board and the St. Lawrence River ship channel offices. Instantaneous readings from the Sorel gauge are telephoned to the three agencies.

Laval planning big reception for Socred head

QUEBEC (CP) — Student organizers of the congress of Canadian universities expected a packed hall today when Real Caouette and David Lewis are scheduled to discuss unemployment.

Mr. Caouette, deputy national leader of the Social Credit party, is regarded on the campus as the star attraction.

He and Mr. Lewis, NDP Member of Parliament for York South, will talk about "The Province and Full Employment."

The 80 student-delegates from 35 Canadian universities Wednesday heard Gilles Gregoire, Social Credit MP for Lapointe, and Jean Marchand, president of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, debate the role of state enterprise in industry.

"Some students were agreeably surprised by Mr. Gregoire's arguments," said Peter Guymon of Montreal, one of the Laval students who helped organize the congress.

Other speakers Wednesday were T. C. Douglas, national leader of the New Democratic Party, and Montreal economist Francois-Albert Angers, both on the subject of economic planning.

Mr. Gregoire was a substitute for party leader Robert N. Thompson, unable to break away from a Social Credit convention in Alberta.

Mr. Marchand urged students to avoid the ideological traps of doctrinaire socialism or unlimited free enterprise. Each problem had to be studied objectively, especially in Canada where the federal system posed some difficulties for government activity in industry.

Principal appointed for McGill

MONTREAL (CP) — A surgeon has been appointed to succeed one of the world's best known educationists as principal of McGill University.

"I have a tremendous pair of shoes to fill," Dr. H. Locke Robertson, 50, said at a press conference Wednesday night. He became McGill's 11th principal in 133 years.

Dr. F. Cyril James, principal of McGill since 1939, retires Dec. 1 to give more time to the International Association of Universities, of which he was elected president in 1960.

Dr. Robertson, a native of Victoria who calls himself "a transplanted westerner," was surgeon-in-chief of the Montreal General Hospital and chairman of the department of surgery in the McGill medical faculty. He says it will take him about six weeks to shed both of these jobs before taking over at McGill.

Dr. Robertson praised Dr. James as a brilliant administrator.

McGill, he said, had reached the strongest position in his history under Dr. James. This was a good base from which to tackle the tasks ahead.

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—The principal sketch on last Saturday's Jackie Gleason Show was an interesting example of the way today's desperate search for comedy material can lead writers into strange pastures. It was a spoof, of all things, of Alcoholics Anonymous, an organization dedicated to helping victims of what today is widely believed to be a disease. The skit used the phraseology generally associated with compulsive drinking, described the symptoms — merely switching the problem from over-drinking to over-eating. The treatment was not only unfunny but tasteless and gratuitous. Sufferers from compulsive drinking or eating must have been dismayed by the spectacle. It was part of a program CBS called "satiric comedy." It was neither. The Gleason sketch surely ridiculed and was sarcastic but its purpose was a build-up to a sorry gag—both victims sneaking back to the kitchen to gorge themselves.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

TWO WAYS SLAM CAN BE REACHED
The Jacoby Transfer can be used handily in slam bidding after an opening no-trump. One method is to transfer and continue with a bid of six or seven. Another is to follow with a Blackwood four no-trump. In the JTB if responder transfers, any later four no-trump is Blackwood—not a strong no-trump raise. Thus, North started proceedings by responding two hearts as requested. North might jump to six hearts, but he checks for aces first. There is a chance that South holds only one ace. After South shows two aces,

North goes to six hearts and there is no trouble making the contract. East takes his ace of clubs and returns a spade. South rises with the ace, draws trumps, discards a spade on the king of clubs and spreads his hand. South would also make six no-trump, but if North plays the hand in hearts he will go down if a spade is opened. Of course, South could also make six no-trump, but such a bid would be a real gamble on North's part. It would be easy to set up a lot of South hands that would produce the slam in hearts, but would not make

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The omantists would have us believe that there is nothing like having a wife and kiddies to put a man on to achievement. Nonsense, says humorist Bob Newhart, sharpshooter of many popular legends. "If I had married when I was 25, I'd still be an accountant in Chicago," says he. Instead of tending other people's riches, he's minding his own. This is the result of his offbeat monologues about such matters as a public relations man advising Abe Lincoln on his image.

"Until four years ago, I was doing accounting jobs just long enough to afford to do some sketches in radio," Newhart said. "If I had a family to support, I would have stuck to a steady job." This story has a conclusion that will please those romantics. Newhart is planning a January wedding to Virginia Quinn, 22-year-old daughter of character actor William Quinn. Newhart waited until he was 33 to take the step. "I'm sure I can get a couple of monologues out of it," he cracked. Newhart admitted that marriage will change his life—and for the better. For one thing, he hopes to end his gypsy ways.

COUNTRY A BLUR
He has been on the road most of the time since his television series went off the air last spring. The comedian abhors night clubs, preferring concerts in auditoriums. Playing them requires quick hops to one-night stands, with the result that the country becomes a blur. "The audiences are great, especially at the universities," he commented. "But moving from one town to another gets to be a drag." "I'll have to figure out some way to spend more time here," he said. "I might go into commercials or writing pilot films or just writing. I'll naturally be making less money but that's not so important." A possibility is another television series. He has been talking to the networks and something may come up. Newhart offers this post-mortem on his NBC series, for which he won an Emmy but not a renewal: "If I had it to do over again, I'd do it all over again. Maybe I would have added some production values. But the best

Contract granting

City abandons plan to write university

Sherbrooke City Council has abandoned its intention of sending a letter to the Msgr. Irene Pinard, rector of the University of Sherbrooke, to request that this institution take into consideration local firms when issuing sub-contracts.

Henri Paul Emard told The Record that "the council decided that the sending of a letter to the university could serve no purpose, since the city cannot tell the institution how to handle its personal affairs."

Although the council was well aware of this fact on Monday night, they had nevertheless decided to send a letter to the rector, asking him to take into consideration local firms when issuing the sub-contracts.

Mayor Armand Nadeau said at the Monday council meeting that 80% of the university's sub-contracts were issued to out-of-town firms, and that this wasn't exactly a desirable situation from the stand point of the unemployed in the city of Sherbrooke.

According to Rev. Paul Gilmore at the university, the policy of the general contractor with regards to the issuing of sub-contracts, is to call for tenders and then to accept the lowest bid.

The sub-contracts that have been issued to date on the basis of the lowest bidder being accepted are as follows, according to Msgr. Pinard:

Caron et Freres (Asbestos)

Roland Voyer (Drummondville), Ernest Leblanc (Montreal), Otis Elevator (Toronto), MacKinnon Structural Steel (Sherbrooke), Charles Castonguay (Sherbrooke), Therrien et Freres (Sherbrooke), Eastern Townships Terrazzo (Sherbrooke), Adrien Nolet (Sherbrooke), A. R. Wilson (Sherbrooke), Fred Korman (Sherbrooke).

The statement that appeared in the Tuesday edition of The Record that the R.C. School Commission was the body responsible for issuing sub-contracts for work done at the University of Sherbrooke was erroneous.

It is the general contractor at the University who is responsible for issuing these sub-contracts.

Municipal airport

C of C to press for completion

The president of the Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday night the Chamber will continue to work toward having the construction of the Sherbrooke Airport complete "and to also have an airline serve the airport."

Herbert A. Simons who was honored by Chamber members at a dinner at the Social Club Wednesday night said the Chamber helped the Walter M. Lowney Company settle here, helped to develop the Sherbrooke airport, studied traffic problems in the city and presented a brief of what should be done to improve it, studied and made a brief of what should be done with the Howard Estate, and also helped to develop the Montreal-Sherbrooke project.

"We have underlined the importance of extending the route just to Sherbrooke and we have confidence that our suggestion will be adopted," Mr. Simons said.

He told over 150 members from the Chamber and from the Social Club, the Chamber's work wasn't only the work of one man but a large group of businessmen working together.

Mr. Simons said he was very pleased with the work which the Chamber accomplished during the past and will continue to do in the future for the benefit of the city and region.

"At present, we have 450 members who contribute a budget of $15,000 a year," Mr. Simons said.

"This budget limits our operations to a minimum because we have no other income. We now have 25 committees and a total of 100 members who participate actively on these committees," he said.

He added the city had about 1,000 to 1,100 business men who could all be members of the Chamber and attend Chamber meetings without interfering with their work.

"I urge each member and I invite all business and professional men to always be prepared to take part in the life of the Chamber. It is only by exercising our privileges to the fullest that the excellent spirit of 'Bonne Entente' which reigns in the Chamber will

"Our regional economic development committee is presently hard at work and I believe it will show very interesting results for the region," Mr. Simons said.

He said, "the formation of such a committee comes at a time most needed especially in view of the construction of the Montreal-Sherbrooke autoroute, which will provide many industrial and commercial opportunities for the region which should not be missed."

RICHMOND — (Staff) — Cpl. Donat Sevigny, officer in charge of the Quebec Provincial Police detachment here, said Wednesday he expects to arrest several youths in connection with the vandalism at St. Pat's Old Boys' Camp where over $500 damage was caused three weeks ago.

Cpl. Sevigny said he has the names of the persons involved in the vandalism and expects to arrest them in the near future.

"I tried to contact them Tuesday," Cpl. Sevigny told The Record, "but they were not home."

The vandals pried open the door to the camp directors residence, smashed several panes of glass on the inside of the building, tore out a porcelain toilet bowl and split it in half, littered the place with small cardboard boxes and a variety of other objects before leaving.

The vandals also damaged several other buildings and stole sleeping bags, mattresses, baseball bats, softballs, two electric clocks and a toaster along with other objects from the camp.

Cpl. Sevigny also said he expects to break up a robbery ring of youths who have been breaking and entering and stealing things from summer cottages, restaurants and industries in the area.

The council wants to consolidate the deficit of Sept. 30, 1962, of the revenue accounts of the water department for an amount of $20,091.07.

The council also wants to consolidate the sum of $46,083.82 due by the revenue accounts of the water department to the revenue accounts of the general section.

The by-law was read at an adjourned meeting of Town Council under chairmanship of Mayor Marcel Roy, Pro-Mayor Paul Labrosse, aldermen Wilton Pope, Lucien Cormier, Raymond Lafrance, John W. Barrington, Armand Lampron, with the secretary-treasurer, G. Marveau Alexander.

OTHER BUSINESS

Mayor Roy presided at the monthly meeting with all aldermen present excepting Melvin Butler, who had turned in his resignation earlier giving business and other responsibilities as reasons.

Alderman L. Paul Labrosse was named pro-mayor for a three-month term.

A letter was read by the secretary pertaining to a request for a grant to be used for preliminary work on city streets before paving.

Surplus of $2,000 expected

Two mill tax increase adopted at Richmond

RICHMOND — (Special) — The two mill tax increase adopted by council in its budget Monday night is expected to leave the town with a $2,128.08 surplus for its 1962-63 operations because of the higher revenues.

One half mill of the new tax which brings the total rate to 12 mills, will produce $3,318.66, annually to reimburse the 1956 working fund. The money will be deposited in the local caisse populaire. Another half mill will be used for general administration.

Total taxable valuation of the town is placed at $6,637,320. Tax income is anticipated at $79,647.84 while revenue from other sources is calculated at $77,465, giving a total revenue of $157,112.84 while expenditures are estimated at $154,984.76.

Council is considering imposing a business tax in order to erase a deficit of $1,190.58 for the 1962-63 financial year.

Income from general funds in the 1961-62 year totalled $139,251.48 expenses being $145,330.88, accounting for deficit of $6,079.40.

Income from the industrial funds brought $85,706.32, expenses amounting to $83,400.53 for a surplus of $2,305.76. Current

JIM BERRY

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — When Finance Minister Nowlan went out of his way recently to prove that the prime minister was not lying last June, it was a commentary on the Diefenbaker image, 1962.

The proof was of the PM's statement that the foreign exchange crisis blew up very suddenly last spring, and that the PM had no opportunity to reveal the emergency to the people before the June 18 election day.

Now, in Parliament, views, opinions and interpretations vary widely. There may even be differences over what indeed are the true facts, in cases where discrepancies appear between information put forward by the government and the opposition.

Thus when the PM told the House that the dollar crisis arose only in the very last days of the election campaign, and that there was no time to give the country a report on the situation before the election, he had every right to expect that this would settle the matter.

Like those Roman politicians of whom Antony spoke, are they not all honorable men?

It was not coincidence that about this time a young Liberal MP from Montreal, John Turner, moved a motion in the House to ask disclosure of the day-to-day standings of the gold and dollar reserves in the weeks before the election.

These are figures in the possession of the Bank of Canada, in its capacity as manager of the government exchange reserve. I have never before known them to be made public. And there was general expectation that they would not be made public now — that Mr. Nowlan would demur, perhaps on the ground that it would not be in the public interest.

The Liberals scarcely expected to be given the figures, but the government's blunt refusal would suit them well enough. In that situation they could charge on the hustings, without fear of proof to the contrary, that the PM had indeed deceived the people last June, that he had hidden the real truth while asserting falsely that all was well with the economy.

The Conservatives thus had a Hobson's choice. If they didn't produce the figures, the refusal would be cited as "proof" of the PM's deception. Moreover, there was also the danger that the opposition parties would combine to override the government's refusal and order the Bank of Canada to produce the figures.

On the other hand it was well nigh intolerable to the Tories to have to prove their leader was not a liar. It was shocking that, in parliamentary parlance, "Hon. gentlemen opposite do not accept the word of the rt. hon. gentleman."

But this is how the cookie — to say nothing of the PM's image — crumbleth in this Parliament.

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Nov. 22, 1962...

The French language newspaper Le Canadien was founded by liberal members of the Lower Canada legislature 136 years ago today — in 1826. Until then French-language newspapers were mostly literary journals or news sheets containing little but translations from the English. It published only one edition before it was ordered closed by the government but was revised and closed several times before its stormy career ended in the early 20th century.

1922—The Royal Agricultural Winter Fair first opened in Toronto.

1950—Two passenger trains crashed in New York killing 76 persons.

Boom in Western Europe — 3

National hates, and rivalries are disappearing on continent

AMSTERDAM (AP)—Locked inside their tight little borders, West Europeans generated prejudices about each other for centuries. Now their world is opening up and their national hates and emotional rivalries are disappearing.

By RICHARD O'REGAN

Europe has only one way to go. That is to abandon national bias and work together. Instead of their negative attitudes toward each other, a great many Europeans have substituted a positive concept: Unite Europe, but preserve our national cultures and differences.

New marketing safeguards

Aussies plan wheat legislation

By GRAEME BROOKS

MELBOURNE (Reuters) Australian government officials are drawing up new safeguards for wheat marketing in the face of a growing challenge from European Common Market agriculture.

But market observers believe there is every chance that large-scale Chinese buying will continue if prices and credit arrangements can be kept competitive with other big wheat exporters such as Canada.

He said unless new wheat markets open up, wheat cultivation should be kept "well below" 14,000,000 acres. This compares with the 14,680,000 acres under cultivation that produced a record wheat crop this year.

Farmers' organizations have proposed that the new farm legislation be worked out on the basis of annual exports of 150,000,000 bushels.

But there are dangers inherent in central planning, as J. Hebert Smith, president of an international electrical appliance manufacturing company, pointed out this week in commenting on a proposal that Canada set up its own national economic development board.

People without basements throw out a lot more junk than people with them.

'Dignified tourists' urged for B. C.

All the prevalent slogans of nationalistic groups throughout the world, "Yankee go home!", "Canada for Canadians" and "Masters at home" appear to have been adapted, and adopted, by an as-yet-unorganized group of British Columbia residents who have launched an attack against opening up the natural vacation lands of the province to outsiders.

Writing to a Vancouver newspaper, one of the sponsors of the movement urges: "Tourist go home! Keep British Columbia dignified! British Columbia for British Columbians!"

In his bitter attack on the British Columbia and Canadian Chambers of Commerce he charges these groups with "merchandizing" the natural beauties of the province to the detriment of present and future generations.

Apparently, however, he does not object to Canada, and even British Columbia, receiving the tourist dollar if the visitors are "dignified" because he closes his letter with the suggestion: "Let us develop our country, and if it is well done we shall draw the kind and number of tourists it merits, and still preserve our dignity."

Unfortunately he fails to advance any suggestions for attracting "dignified" tourists nor does he seek to define dignity when it applies to visitors.

Farmers' organizations have proposed that the new farm legislation be worked out on the basis of annual exports of 150,000,000 bushels.

Much will depend on the Asian market which since 1952 has taken more Australian wheat than Europe and has increased sharply in the last two years with big sales to Communist China.

Sales to China are hard to predict. But market observers believe there is every chance that large-scale Chinese buying will continue if prices and credit arrangements can be kept competitive with other big wheat exporters such as Canada.

Danger is seen not in the probable loss of the British market with Britain's entry into the Common Market but in the possibility that Europe will become a net exporter with high-cost grain offered at subsidized rates under the six-nation trade group's common agricultural policy.

Sales of Australian wheat to Britain now total about $45,000,000 a year, and last year Europe bought more than $67,000,000 worth.

But Australian observers fear that, behind a high tariff wall, European wheat production may be stimulated, with a large export surplus from Italy and France.

France's big crop this year makes a 150,000,000-bushel surplus available to other countries. This could be a forerunner of what is to come, the observers warn.

Australian flour millers are particularly unhappy about prospects. The milling industry already is down to half its capacity and has applied for inclusion in the stabilization provisions of the 1963 legislation.

Other papers say: Milk the best fallout indicator

The Ontario Federation of Agriculture has suggested that the Federal Government should stop using milk as an indicator of nuclear fallout. Delegates believe that milk is getting a bad name across Canada because some people believe it to be contaminated by fallout.

It may be unfortunate for dairy farmers interested in their bank balances, but milk happens to be the best commodity for testing the fallout from nuclear explosions. It is a widely used food which goes from the producer directly to the consumer in the shortest possible period. From cow to child, so to speak, with little processing and within a few days. The same cannot be claimed for most other foods. And water, which might be considered a comparable subject for survey, cannot be used as an indicator because it is virtually impossible to find uniform water samples from different areas.

Although in July the long-term effects of Strontium 90 in Canadian milk reached record levels, and the short-term effects from radioactive iodine jumped more than 15-fold, Health and Welfare Minister J. Waldo Monteith has said fallout levels were well below the point at which remedial action was considered essential to public health.

Most people will agree that the Government's use of milk in fallout tests is wise, for surely the nation's health is more vital than increased profits on milk sales.

able to do battle with Mr. Johnson should his leadership be challenged.

Thus, Mr. Johnson will welcome the departure of Mr. Bertrand for greener fields as strengthening his hold on the leadership.

But a move by Mr. Bertrand could bring a complete break-up of the party.

Some of the dissidents in the Union Nationale ranks believe the time has come to revive the old provincial Conservative party. Last week's election results, they say, indicate that the Quebec electorate has lost its fear of an alliance between federal and provincial political parties. By reorganizing the provincial Conservatives, the way would be open for streamlining and improving the party organizations. A single control over federal and provincial set-ups would cut down overhead costs and perhaps permit the entry of new blood into the provincial party.

One of the obvious weaknesses of the Union Nationale in last week's election was the failure to win support of the younger element.

Whereas much of the Liberal campaign burden was carried by members of the Junior Associations in each constituency, the "Old Guard" dominated the UN committee rooms. The only way youth interest in the opposition can be revived, some argue, is for the rank-and-file to quit the Union Nationale. The Old Guard, they say, will never surrender authority.

A. J. ELLIS

D. B. PETERS

A. John Ellis, assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal's eastern division for the past four years, has been named senior assistant general manager at the head office, succeeding the late James M. Jackson, according to an announcement by G. Arnold Hart, president and chief executive officer of the bank.

Replacing Mr. Ellis as head of the eastern division is Douglas B. Peters, superintendent of the Atlantic Provinces district at Halifax, a post he took over from Mr. Ellis in 1958. Mr. Peters has had broad experience in Eastern Canada, having served at numerous branches in the Maritimes and at Quebec and Ottawa. For four years before going to Halifax, he was at the head office in Montreal, where he was assistant superintendent of branches.

WANTS TO SAVE PRINCE FROM TOO MUCH ATHLETICS

LONDON (AP) — A British educationist wants to save Prince Andrew from what he called the boy scoutism of Prince Philip. Apparently he thinks it is too late to rescue Prince Charles, heir to the throne.

Prof. John Vaizey made his comments in a lecture Wednesday and dwelt on the younger son of Philip and Queen Elizabeth—now nearing age three. Vaizey wants more culture, less athletics for Andrew. Prince Philip is strong for athletics.

The object of Vaizey's sour attention was no only the royal children but the Gordonstoun boarding school. The school is strong on athletics, rugged training and cold baths.

"Why not get an award, for example, for going to see modern Italian painting at the Venice Biennale rather than for walking up (Mount) Snowdon in bare feet or whatever

Couple feted at Silver Wedding party in Sutton

ABERCORN — Mr. and Mrs. Loren Sherrer, of Abercorn, were guests of honor at a Silver Wedding Anniversary party arranged by Mrs. Sherrer's mother, Mrs. Sweet, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Sherrer, of Sutton. The event took place on Nov. 3, at the Sutton Town Hall and was attended by about 150 guests.

As the couple entered the hall a corsage of white mums was presented to Mrs. Sherrer. They were escorted to decorated chairs near a table which was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake decorated with motifs of 25th wedding anniversary. Streamers from white bows and wedding bells to the table and white mums completed the decorations.

After receiving congratulations from the assembled guests, old and new dances were enjoyed to the music supplied by a four-piece orchestra.

Lunch was served by family and friends of the couple. During the intermission, Homer Sargent of Cowansville, presented the couple with a purse of money from all present wishing them many more years of happiness.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Sherrer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Sherrer, of Abercorn, and Mrs. Sherrer's mother, Mrs. Sweet. Guests were present from Dunkin, Cowansville, Richford, Vt. Granby, Bromie and other points.

Aid increase

MONTREAL (CP) — Donald Macdonald, Liberal member of Parliament for Toronto Rosedale, said Wednesday in a speech to a Liberal party rally Canadians should make immediate increases in aid to the West Indies. He said the assistance could take the form of long-term, low-interest loans as well as help in the field of education.

INDIAN BIBLE

The second complete Bible in a North American Indian language—Plains Cree—was published in 1862.

of a victor." It said India would "never submit, whatever the consequences and however long and hard the struggle may be."

KEEP SAME POLICY
It added that the "minimum corrective action necessary" before India would consider negotiations was an agreement that the "status quo along the entire boundary as it prevailed before Sept. 8, 1962, should be restored."

In another development, E. M. S. Namboodripad, general secretary of India's Communist party, was arrested at his party headquarters under "Defence of India" regulations. His arrest followed nationwide raids Wednesday in which Indian police took into custody more than 350 party members, including some party leaders in various states, under the preventive detention act.

Meantime, two high-level missions from the United States and Britain were on their way here to see what India needs in the face of the Chinese-Indian border dispute.

American and British planes were also reported to be flying to India, the British with arms supplies and the American to serve as transports.

LED BY HARRIMAN
Heading the U.S. mission is Averell Harriman, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, and Gen. Paul D. Adams, commander of the U.S. Strike Command which specializes in long-distance troop air movements.

Nehru told legislators at the time of the cease-fire he thought the Chinese—"who have steadily advanced southward since major border fighting broke out last month—were north of the town of Foothills in the north-east frontier area."

He also said he told Chinese Premier Chou En-lai in a letter Nov. 14 that recent events have "completely shattered any hope that anyone could have entertained about settling India-China differences in accordance with normal principles observed by all civilized governments."

In Peking the People's Daily said the Chinese had imposed a unilateral cease-fire on the border. It said: "Beginning today, Nov. 22, 1962, the Chinese frontier guards have ceased fire on Chinese initiative along the entire Sino-Indian border."

TO FALL BEHIND LINE
The newspaper added: "In nine days, on Dec. 1, they will withdraw, again on Chinese initiative, to positions 20 kilometres (about 12½ miles) behind the line of actual control which existed on Nov. 7, 1959."

It said checkpoints would be set up by the Chinese on their "own side" on the control line and added: "These decisions announced by the Chinese government... represent a most sincere effort of the Chinese government on its own initiative for the speedy termination of the Sino-Indian border conflict, re-opening peaceful negotiations, and a peaceful settlement of the boundary question."

The papers said Peking's proposals for a cease-fire, withdrawal of forces and top-level discussions would not prejudice the claims of either side in subsequent negotiations.

CLAIM BREAKTHROUGH
The New Delhi newspaper Times of India said today that before the cease-fire deadline Chinese troops had broken through the last line of defences south of the newly-seized key town of Bomdila and had taken up positions on the rim of the Assam Plains.

The Times of India said the Chinese were on the southernmost range of hills overlooking Foothills and the Assam Plains, about 60 miles from the Indian military headquarters town of Tezpur.

The report that the Chinese had reached the rim of the Assam Plains south of Bomdila indicated they had moved 160 miles in four days since they bypassed the Se La Pass and broken through Indian defences east of the town of Tawang. They appeared to have reached the limit of what is claimed as Chinese on Chinese maps of this area.

Let's dip into grandma pool for leadership aid

"Grandmothers needed." When Memphis, Tenn., Girl Scout leaders got that idea across, 75 grandmothers promptly signed up to help out with the scouting program.

With so many mothers today working and so many others either tied down by small children or loaded down with community projects, there aren't always enough mothers available for leadership in such worthwhile organizations as scouting.

It looks as though Memphis scout leaders have found the perfect solution to that problem — call the grandmothers of the community back to work.

Many of them have the time, the energy, the enthusiasm needed. And even more important, many of them NEED to be needed.

Isn't there an idea here for other communities and other service organizations that have been depending on mothers for working leadership?

Why not recruit grandmothers? Grandmothers are staying younger, longer — in all the ways that really matter. They're active; they're interested; they're doers. They don't really want to sit on the sidelines or retire to a rocking chair and knitting needles.

Furthermore, grandmothers ought to make wonderful youth leaders. They are experienced. They've learned from experience with their own children. They are relaxed because they have more leisure and can move at a slower pace than young mothers of young children. And if life has taught them anything it should have taught them what is important and what is unimportant — a wonderful asset to anyone guiding children or doing any other kind of community work.

How about your own community or your own organizations that are crying for working members? Why not put out the "Grandmothers Needed" sign — and see if you don't get all the help you need?

St. Paul's Ladies' Guild Meet

A regular meeting of the St. Paul's Ladies' Guild was held at the church hall recently, with Mrs. G. Carleton in the chair.

The meeting opened with prayer, and the reading of various reports.

The president thanked all who had worked to make the card party held on November 8, such a success.

Further plans were made for the Christmas Tea and Sale, to be held on December 6. It was decided to decorate the church hall and kitchen, the Guild to pay for same.

The meeting closed with prayer, followed by refreshments being served by the members.

The next meeting will be on November 28 in the church hall.

An unusual and delicious spread for breakfast toast is made by beating one-half cup honey into one-half cup soft butter or margarine and mixing in one-eighth teaspoon ground cinnamon.

ASCOT W.I.

Waterloo High School looks back on 100 years of progress

WATERLOO—(Special)—The Protestant School Municipality of Waterloo will officially open the new extension to Waterloo High School on November 26, 1962 at 8:00 p.m.

By coincidence, the first school built on this location was opened exactly one hundred years ago, although the first school in Waterloo was built in 1828 near the present post office.

Records taken from the History of Shefford, written in

1876 by C. Thomas read: "On Monday, the 22nd December 1862, the school was opened with R. W. Laing, M.A. as Principal, assisted by an efficient staff of teachers."

"The completion of this academy building was entirely accomplished by private means and not by any assistance from the municipality. In 1870, the academy came into the hands of the School Commissioners and a graded school was established."

This is the site of today's modern school. Cyrus Thomas, author of the History of Shefford became principal in 1874.

In that same year, 1874, Waterloo was established into a separate school municipality, with same limits as the municipal corporation. Also in 1874, a French model school building was erected in Waterloo at a cost of $2,500.

To write up a historical resume of Waterloo High School, it is necessary to go back to Frost Village, which was a prosperous village before Waterloo existed. Nearly all the business of Shefford was transacted in this place.

The first school house at Frost Village was built in 1812. In 1824 a building designed for a church was erected. The upper half was used for several years as Shefford Academy, then a famous local institution of learning. In 1858, Mr. Laing, while principal there organized the District of Bedford Teacher's Association, which is still flourishing. The Rev. Dr. Nichol, principal of the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville was chairman.

The early history of this school cannot be written without mention of Hon. Lucius Seth Huntington. He was, as far as public life is concerned, one of the ablest men born in the Eastern Townships.

As a young man, he located in Frost Village, where he was married and taught school. He was instrumental in helping Mr. Laing form the Bedford Teachers Association, especially with his paper, The Advertiser, which he started in 1856.

Due to abundant water-power at Waterloo, the railroad and the successful mills, this village soon gained importance and became the center of trade and the county seat. Progress has continued in Waterloo, incorporated as a town on January First, 1867. Education has always been

With over 450 children on the roll, the present school commissioners were again faced with the problem of space. A new extension had to be planned. Chairman A. J. Buckland, B.Sc., Agr., and Commissioners Robert Flood, David Schaeffeld, Russell Savage, of South Stukely and Kenneth Birch of West Shefford with G. E. Hanson as secretary-treasurer were approximately two years in preliminary work before architects were chosen and contracts finally awarded.

foremost. The old Shefford Academy became obsolete.

In 1907 a new building was erected to accommodate 150 pupils, "ample space for all time." By 1947, there were 275 children. The school commissioners, with Robert Flood, B.Sc. Agr., as chairman built an addition at a cost of $260,000, with the Province of Quebec paying $150,000 of this amount. The commissioners who worked with Mr. Flood on this big project were J. S. Macdonald, F. W. Bockus, O. L. Lewis, W. A. Parkes and secretary-treasurer, H. Boyle. O. T. Pickford, B.A., was Principal and M. W. Johnston, B.A. Assistant Principal the year the new addition opened, 1948.

Ten teachers were on the staff. The Charles W. Slack Gymnasium occupied a considerable proportion of the new addition. Also serving as an auditorium, this fine gymnasium was donated by Mr. Slack.

Time went on and Waterloo progressed in size and importance. In 1960 the Township of Shefford and South Stukely were included in the school municipality.

The new extension is four stories. A three-bus garage and furnace room is on the lower level floor. Directly above this is a playground and cafeteria. The two top floors contain 10 class rooms and a spacious library.

The 1907 building has been remodelled with a visual aid room, domestic science department, staff rooms, principal's office and nurse's quarters.

An added attraction will be the Waterloo High School Glee Club which has been practising for this particular occasion for some time.

There are 30 girls in the Glee Club Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Hackwell and Mr. Trew.

Refreshments will be served by the local Home & School, under the presidency of Mrs. Albert Coupland.

Special arrangements are being made to make the tour of the school as complete and convenient as is possible. The principal, Mr. Wayne and Commissioner Dave Schaeffeld, with the assistance of the teaching staff are looking after these arrangements.

The board is most anxious and very proud to show the ten new class rooms, the new library and cafeteria as well as the renovations in the other buildings.

Everyone is urged to come and make an inspection.

RICHARD W. LAING — Principal of the first Waterloo Academy which opened December 22, 1862. Waterloo High School today is situated on the same site as the first school.

Prince Philip officially opens seventh British Empire Games at Perth, 35 countries are entered

PERTH, Australia (CP) — Under a broiling sun, Prince Philip today officially opened the seventh British Empire Games in this Indian Ocean seaport's new stadium while guns boomed and RAF and RAAF jets zoomed overhead in a royal fly-past.

It was six years to the day since Philip opened the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne. Sweltering heat that reached the 90s and pesky bushflies plagued the crowd of about 50,000 that packed the $2,240,000 Perry Lakes Stadium in the suburbs of this western Australian city of 500,000.

Athletes of many races, wearing brightly-colored blazers, hats and national costumes, formed a dazzling picture on the green turf of the stadium and as they paraded around the red clay track.

More than 1,000 athletes and officials from 35 countries took part in the march-past after Philip, as president of the British Empire and Commonwealth Games Federation, declared the games open.

There was not a spare seat in the stadium when Philip arrived in an open car, dressed in a grey lounge suit. He stood up in the back seat and waved to the cheering crowd.

Then he stepped from the car to be greeted by the chairman of the games, Sir Arthur Porritt.

The ceremony got under way at 4:15 p.m. Perth time (4:15 a.m. AST). Two thousand pigeons were released as a salute of seven guns—one for each of the seven games to date—was sounded.

Fencer Ivan Lund of Australia, competing in his fourth Empire Games, took the oath on behalf of all competitors: "We declare that we shall take part in the British Empire and Commonwealth Games of 1962 in the spirit of true sportsmanship, recognizing the rules which govern them and desirous of participating in them for the honor of our Commonwealth and Empire and for the glory of sport."

Five countries were absent from the games including two which played a major role in previous games—South Africa and India.

South Africa left the Commonwealth last year in the face of condemnation by other Commonwealth leaders of its racial segregation policies, and India, one of the major Asian sports countries, dropped out of the games because of the China-India border situation. Nigeria, Brunei and Gambia also did not send teams.

The national contingents ranged in size from Australia's 247 athletes to the one-man teams from Barbados, Malta, the Bahamas and Dominica.

Wales, host of the 1958 games at Cardiff, dressed in bright red blazers, led the parade of athletes on the track where a wholesale attack on Empire and possibly world track and field records is expected during the next nine days. The games end Dec. 1.

Then came Aden followed by the other countries in alphabetical order.

The 72-member Canadian contingent led by flag-bearer Gordon Dickson, a marathoner from Hamilton, Ont., looked ultra smart. The women wore upturned white summer felt hats with a red ribbon band and bow, white sleeveless dresses, white-trimmed mountie-style blazers, white tailored gloves, white shoulder-strap purses and white kid pumps.

The men's team wore straw hats with blue and white striped bands, cream flannel trousers and black shoes.

With the completion of the parade, a massed choir sang as Philip left the stadium and the athletes, who had been standing on the turf, marched around the track once more and out of the big arena.

The temperature had reached 92.7 degrees in the shade about an hour before the opening, but cooling afternoon breezes known as "the Fremantle doctor" began sending the mercury down a bit.

Aces lose and Bears move into tie for lead

The streaking Hershey Bears, riding a seven-game winning string and benefitting from a sudden Quebec Aces slump, have charged into a tie for the top spot in the Eastern Division of the American Hockey League.

Hershey blanked Pittsburgh Hornets 2-0 on goalie Ed Chadwick's first shutout of the season Wednesday night while Quebec lost its third straight, 4-2 to Buffalo Bisons. The combination allowed Hershey to tie Quebec for the lead, each with 22 points.

Cleveland Barons edged Springfield Indians 6-3 in the only other AHL game scheduled Wednesday night.

Hershey gave Chadwick good protection. He was called on to make only 20 saves, and the Hornets had only one shot on goal in the final period.

Dick Meissner and Keke Morrison scored for the winners. Buffalo's victory over Quebec ended a three-game losing streak for the Western Division leading Bisons. Cliff Schmutz, Johnny McKenzie, Barry Cullen and Gerry Melnyk scored for Buffalo. Skip Burchell and Danny Lewicki got the Quebec goals.

Cleveland and Springfield each scored four times in a hectic third period, with the Barons' Dick Van Impe netting the winner with two minutes, 16 seconds left. Fred Glover and John Ferguson each had two Cleveland goals and Hank Ciesla got the other. Jim Anderson and Wally Boyer each scored twice for Springfield and Gerry Foley added the other Indian marker.

Pittsburgh is at Providence in tonight's only game.

How to judge curling ability

When you are looking for a prospective teammate with curling ability, be careful you point the gimlet eye in the right direction. If you are a Group D skip, keep your anxious orbs off the guys in Group A. They will be too rich for your blood unless you spot a likely looking lead who might have ambitions to move up in the ranks but down in competition to vice for you.

Even this selection is fraught with danger. Better you should take a gander at the rinks in your own group or lower for a fellow who has natural co-ordination. His curling ability should ripen with experience and guidance. Forget about the members of the tribe who have reached the peak. Look for the hungry boys!

How do you assess curling ability? "It's better to judge this by your own standards for your ability often decides whom you can ask to play for you. First look at the mechanics of delivery of the person you have in mind. Does the body flow with the swing? Is there a natural reach forward as the stone leaves the fingers—in other words, a follow-through motion?

Watch the left foot. Does it come out under the body or to the left of it? These actions can only be observed standing behind or in front of the player.

SWEEPING ACTION
Another criterion of a good curler is his sweeping action. If he has rhythmic footwork, it usually indicates good co-ordination and stamps him as a man to watch in the hack.

But perfection in the mechanics of delivery and ability to pound the ice do not provide enough evidence for a verdict. The ability and willingness to concentrate are integral characteristics of a curler with promise. Those friendly extroverts, who are continually visiting on the next sheet or passing pleasantries with bystanders as an opposing stone sails blissfully by, are learning nothing about the hidden idiosyncrasies of the ice on which they are playing. Along come the pressure ends. Their lack of attention finds them with no knowledge of the weight required. — "So it's only a game!" — is their excuse for letting the team down.

A natural delivery motion is a good omen but only if accompanied by a willingness to study causes and effects. The choice is obvious. Take the man who is "in the game." Next Week: The "Killer" Instinct in Curling.

TALL TALES IN CURLING
Submitted by "Dud" Little, MLA, who admits being smallest member of Terrace Bay, B.C., Curling Club. Height 6'3". Weight 270 lbs.

"One night in a club game our opponents had six rocks in the rings guarded by a mess of stones—most of which were our short draws. There was no possible way for our skip to get in with his last rock. After sizing up the situation he went into the club-rooms, grabbed a stone sitting under a hot stove and threw it mightily from the hack. The heat in the rock melted the ice until it went down and under the guards. By this time it had started to cool off. Eventually it rose to the surface again and came to rest right on the button!"

Readers are invited to submit Tall Tales of Curling. Address them to Ken Watson, care of the Sherbrooke Daily Record. (TNS)

Schmidt fails in first attempt, Rangers win

On the record, Milt Schmidt failed his first test as new coach of Boston Bruins.

But Braves gave signs they might be a new team under Schmidt in their 4-2 loss Wednesday night to New York Rangers. Without pudgy goalie Gump Worsley and iron man Andy Hebenton, the score might have been different.

Boston bombed Worsley with 45 shots in their sharpest game of the NHL season to date. Rangers had 32 shots on rookie goalie Ed Johnston of Bruins.

Worsley was magnificent, particularly in the first period when he made 18 saves to keep the score a 1-1 tie.

Then in the second, Hebenton sparked a three-goal outburst by Rangers' first line of himself, centre Earl Ingarfield and all-star right winger Andy Bathgate.

Rangers coasted to the 4-2 win from there, holding Bruins to one goal in the third period. CAUSE SURPRISE
The Rangers were surprised by the Boston showing. "We expected them to be fired up," said Muzz Patrick, New York's general manager and coach. "But we didn't expect that."

Observed Emile Francis, the Rangers' assistant general manager: "Boston's power play was the best I've seen in the league this year. They were really giving us fits."

Schmidt said ruefully: "We did just about everything but score enough. We made a few mistakes but I thought we skated well."

Hebenton, who scored the winning goal and assisted on another, tied a club durability record in flying style. He was playing his 508th consecutive regular-season game since entering the NHL in 1955, tying a club record set by Murray Murdoch for consecutive play from 1926 to 1936.

The loss was the last-place Bruins' 14th straight winless game. Schmidt was named to replace Phil Watson on Monday.

TRAIL HABBS BY TWO
The win gives the fifth-place Rangers 14 points, only two less than Montreal Canadiens. New York meets Bruins in a return-match tonight, this time in Boston.

Canadiens play in Detroit, currently atop the league standings with 23 points, and Toronto Maple Leafs, in third spot with 19 points, play in Chicago in a contest that could move them into a second-place tie with the Hawks, who have 21 points.

In Wednesday night's contest, veteran centre Camille Henry opened scoring at the three-minute mark of the first period with his seventh goal of the season. Tom Williams, Boston's 21-year-old right winger, tied the score four minutes later.

Ingarfield gave New York a 2-1 lead at nine minutes of the second period, and Hebenton scored the eventual winner at the 15-minute mark. Bathgate fired home the insurance goal on a pass from Hebenton a minute later.

Boston centre Don McKenney banged in a rebound in the third period for the game's final goal.

For Rangers, it was the third victory in their last four games. It was also the first time this season they have put two wins together.

Rangers now have scored the highest number of goals in the league—53—but have also allowed the most, 62. In contrast, first-place Detroit has scored only 46 goals, allowing 30 to be scored on goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Beavers travel to Granby tonight while Olympics tangle with Rockets in Drumville, Coach Dube may play

Two games are on tap this evening in the Eastern Provincial Hockey League. Beavers travel to Granby and Montreal Olympics will try to stop Drummondville's home ice winning streak.

The Beavers will be minus Andre Vallieres, who reinjured his ankle Tuesday evening against the Rockets, and there is a strong possibility that Bert Bourassa may miss the tilt also. Bourassa, who played with bruised ribs Tuesday, hurt them again and Coach Dube won't know until this evening if he can play.

Chargers have option on Gerry McDougall

SAN DIEGO (CP)—San Diego Chargers of the American Football League Wednesday announced they have an option on the 1963 services of fullback Gerry McDougall.

McDougall, who played out his option with Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference this season, previously signed to play with the Chargers for the last four games of the AFL season after Toronto failed to make the EFC playoffs.

The Chargers continued to deny reports they are interested in obtaining former NFL quarterback Tobin Rote, who also played with the Argos this season.

The Als haven't beaten Ticats in four games this season. FIVE PLAYERS INJURED
Five Montreal regulars missed a 90-minute workout in the rain Wednesday because of injuries and a sixth was running at only half speed.

Tie series, third game Saturday, Coach Dobbs disappointed, last quarter control of ball payoff

WINNIPEG (CP) — "Terrible, terrible, terrible." The words came from coach Bobby Dobbs and neatly summed up the situation in which his Calgary Stampeders found themselves Wednesday night. They had a rough time.

The Stamps were only one game away from entering their first Grey Cup classic in 13 years but were jolted by a 19-11 loss to Winnipeg Blue Bombers that deadlocked the Western Football Conference final series at one game apiece.

Dobbs was referring to the bitter weather and strong wind at Winnipeg Stadium, but his remarks could have been applied to other Stampeders predicaments.

They could have meant the game-winning touchdowns in the fourth quarter by Winnipeg quarterback Kenny Ploen and halfback Leo Lewis. Or they could have meant the Stamps' inability to utilize the 28-mile-an-hour wind in the third quarter when they managed only one point.

The Stampeders led 4-0 after the first quarter and 10-7 at the half. They pulled ahead 11-7 after three quarters but were unable to contain the ball-control game of the defending Canadian champions in the final session.

STAMPS WIN OPENER
The Stampeders won the opener of the best-of-three series 20-14 in Calgary Saturday in such convincing fashion they appeared well on their way to a Grey Cup appearance against the east in Toronto, Saturday, Dec. 1.

But the Western windup got down to the wire with a third skirmish here Saturday. The game, to be televised over the CTV network, starts at 2:30 p.m. CST.

Some 12,500 fans braved the bitter 21-degree weather to watch Winnipeg get two field goals from fullback Gerry James and a single from defensive half Jack Delveaux.

Calgary got a second-quarter touchdown from halfback Jim Dillard, three singles by flanker Larry Robinson on missed field goals and a punt single each from Jim Furlong and Harvey Wylie.

Ploen got away more passes than in the series opener and the return to form of fullback Pierre-Paul Blouin, who had a tryout with the Beavers, was released and under the circumstances Coach Dube may return to action if his injured players are unable to see action.

The Beavers have been hunting for a veteran centre player to bolster their ranks but so far only Leon Bouchard is interested.

Bouchard is under suspension by the United States League for failing to report back this year but it seems his case will be straightened out in the near future.

The Rockets will be out to retain their home winning record intact. So far Drummondville is the only club that has not lost a home game. Against the Olympics tonight they will be seeking their fourth home victory.

On their last trip to Drummondville the Olympics went down to a 7-1 loss but last time the teams met in Montreal the Fillion team came up with a 7-0 shutout to square matters. Both clubs are reported in good condition for what could turn into a tough old battle.

Charlie Shepard helped the Bombers.

Ploen and Lewis completed seven of 17 passes for 178 yards and the team blasted out 204 yards on the ground in 21 first downs.

GAINS: 78 YARDS
Of the total ground yardage, Shepard picked up 78 yards on 12 carries, while Lewis gained 52 on eight carries and fullback Roger Magberg 50 on 16 carries.

Calgary recorded only eight first downs in 70 yards on the ground and 37 in the air as quarterback Eagle Day and Wylie completed five of 21 tosses.

Fullback Earl Lunsford picked up all but six of Calgary's rushing yards, including a 22-yard drive at the start of the third quarter that set up Dillard's three-yard touchdown plunge.

A 62-yard pass to end Farrell Funtston early in the final quarter led to Ploen's five-yard sweep for a touchdown.

A display of ball control that carried the Bombers from their own 23-yard line in 11 plays highlighted Lewis' five-yard dive to score.

Golden wedding is celebrated at Massawippi

MASSAWIPPI — On the evening of Nov. 17, about 50 relatives and old neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pierce gathered at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Sam MacDonald, to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of their wedding day, which was Nov. 20.

On arrival at her daughter's home, Mrs. Pierce was presented with a corsage of yellow poms, tied with gold ribbon and the groom of 50 years with a boutonniere. The bridesmaid at their wedding in 1912, Mrs. Allen McClintock, the former Winnie Coates, of Lennoxville, was also presented with a yellow corsage.

After receiving congratulations and enjoying a chat, their oldest son, Nelson Pierce, presented them with a gift of money from their children.

Bill Oldfield, of Sherbrooke, a relative, on behalf of all the relatives and old friends present and those unable to attend, asked the guests of honor to accept a purse of money and other gifts with their best wishes. Among these gifts was a beautiful floral arrangement of brunze and yellow mums from the people of Massawippi.

The guests of honor were seated at a table, over which was suspended a large bell and a gold 50, with yellow and white streamers extending down to the ends of the table. In the centre of the table was a two-tier wedding cake done in gold and white, topped with a gold basket of yellow and white poms and a gold 50. This was flanked by yellow tapers in crystal holders. The cake was decorated by Mrs. Rose Thompson, of Ayer's Cliff.

Members of the family served refreshments.

All members of the Pierce family were present: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hartley (Zita) and family, Wendal and Dale, of Knowlton; Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Pierce and Jane, of Ayer's Cliff; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Pierce, Rock Island; Mrs. A. Bessette (Carol) and family Diane and Nancy, St. Lambert; Mr. and Mrs. Sam MacDonald (May) and children, John and Kathy, of Massawippi; and a nephew who made his childhood home with his uncle and aunt, Grant Thomas, his wife and two of their children, David and Jimmy, of Lennoxville.

Other relatives and old neighbors were present from Sherbrooke, Drummondville, Lennoxville and Ayer's Cliff.

OBITUARIES

WILLIAM F. WELCH, OF HOWICK.

HOWICK — The death occurred very suddenly in Howick on Nov. 11, 1962, of William Frederick Welch. On Sunday morning, his fellow Legionnaires noticed he was not at the annual Remembrance Day services here, and on calling at his home found that he had died several hours previously.

His wife, the former Lillian Stevens, predeceased him a few years ago. Mr. Welch came to Howick in the early 20's, as manager of the Farmers' Telephone Co., later taken over by the Bell Telephone, and retired a few years ago.

He was a most active citizen, taking part in every community project. He was especially interested in the Barrie Memorial Hospital, the Royal Canadian Legion, of which he was a senior member, and the Red Cross Society.

Mr. Welch was a member of the Ormstown Masonic Lodge, for several years choir master of the Howick United Church and a life member of the Howick Curling Club. He was also secretary-treasurer of Howick village and parish for a few years. The service took place in Howick under the direction of McGerrigle's Funeral Home, and interment was beside his wife in Trenholm United Church Cemetery, directed by the W. A. Storie Funeral Home, with committal service by Rev. L. y a 11 Simpson.

The bearers were George McArthur and son, Bill Brown and Ralph Reddick, of Howick, Lloyd Wintle, and Sydney Stevens, of Trenholm.

MURDO A. MATHESON, OF LINGWICK.

LINGWICK — The death of Murdo Alexander Matheson occurred at his home, after a lengthy illness, on Oct. 21, 1962. Born at Winslow, on May 22, 1882, he was the son of the late John C. Matheson and his wife, Anne MacDonald. In 1907 he moved to Colorado, and married Mary Ann MacDonald, of Tolsta, in Redcliff, Colo., in 1908. They returned in 1914 to Lingwick, where they have resided ever since.

Mr. Matheson was a member of Chalmers United Church in Gould, and was on the board of managers, a trustee and an elder. He also served many years on the school board, and for 51 years was a member of Lingwick Masonic Lodge, No. 79.

He is survived by his wife, three sons, John and Allan, of Gould, and Gordon, of Lennoxville; nine grandchildren; a brother, Angus, of St. Johnsbury, Vt.; two sisters, Mary, Mrs. M. McIver, of St. Catharines, Ont., and Christie, Mrs. N. MacKenzie, of Claremont, N.H., and a number of other relatives. He was predeceased by a son, Harold, who died in prisoner of war camp in Japan in 1945, and a sister and a brother.

Prayers were held at his home, followed by service in Chalmers Church, on Oct. 23, Rev. E. Breen, of Cookshire, officiating, with Miss F. Duffy as organist.

The bearers were Gilbert Wintle, Roscoe Morrison, Donald MacIver, Ross MacDonald, Dave Hillis and Kenneth McIver. The Masons held their service at the grave.

Interment took place in the Lingwick Protestant Cemetery. Among those present were relatives and friends from St. Johnsbury, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Bury, Scottstown, Bishopston, Tolsta, Cookshire and East Angus.

FELIX ROUTHIER, OF DERBY LINE, VT.

DERBY LINE — The funeral of Felix Routhier, a long-time resident of the Boundary communities, was held from the Rodrigue Funeral Home, Rock Island, to St. Edward's parish church, for the High Requiem Mass, celebrated at eleven o'clock on Nov. 3.
