City's Civil Defence Program Is Stepped Up

At a Westmount City Council meeting Mayor J. S. Cameron approved tentative plans for the Civil Defence program here and requested those responsible for carrying out this work to continue their efforts. The Examiner was informed yesterday.

Plans were formulated at several meetings held by the Senior Wardens who decided that the aim of the program will be the completion of the organization of the Warden Service.

This will necessitate the recruiting of personnel to complete establishments and the training of this personnel.

Sector Wardens have been asked to organize work in their respective sectors, posts and blocks.

This consists of (a) mapping the area (b) the registration of residents living in the areas (c) the locating of headquarters for each area.

J. G. ATKINSON, CHIEF INSTRUCTOR

It was also announced that a group of instructors, headed by J. G. Atkinson as Chief Instructor, has been organized to supervise the refresher courses, demonstrations for trained personnel, courses in basic first aid and the Warden Service for "partly trained personnel and new recruits."

Arrangements have already been made to commence a course in Basic Civil Defence on Tuesday, Nov. 8, 11 and 13 which will be followed immediately by a course in basic first aid. A warden course of four evenings' duration is being planned for early 1953.

It was announced that rooms at Civil Defence headquarters are available for sector wardens who wish to hold meetings.

Verdun Optimist Present Variety Show Tonight

The 1952 version of the Verdun Optimist Variety Show will be presented at Victoria Hall this evening starting at 8 p.m.

Weeks of preparations and rehearsals will be brought to a climax when the curtain rises on a lively revue of young talent. Stage appearances are nothing new to the majority of these entertainers who have appeared in all of the 159 shows given by this group to date for sick veterans, children hospitals, home and school associations, armed services, church groups and others.

However, new routines have been developed, new costumes purchased, and the best lighting and sound equipment available has been obtained to make this year's revue the biggest yet.

The majority of these young talented entertainers have made several radio appearances over Station C.K.V.L., some of them in their own fifteen minute show, and a few are scheduled to appear shortly on a coast to coast television show emanating from New York City.

Maritimes' Business Shows Big Increase Abbott States

Since 1948, business capital investment in the Maritime Provinces has been only a little short of $500,000,000, Hon. Douglas Abbott, Minister of Finance, and M.P. for Westmount, told the annual meeting of the Maritime Provinces Board of Trade last week.

"There is a spirit of well-founded confidence in the Maritimes today," Mr. Abbott said, "There has been a growth of new industries to cater to both the domestic and foreign markets. This latter development tends to favor high value products in which the cost of transportation is relatively less important."

"But despite this great improvement in Maritime economics," said

Mr. Abbott, "in the post-war period, it is obvious, I think, that the strength of your economy still rests in the main upon the products of the sea, the forest, and the farm."

Mr. Abbott said the new diversification has reduced and will further reduce the vulnerability of the Maritime economy, but Maritimers will have a paramount interest in trade with other countries.

Unrestricted Trade Sought

Discussing trade, the speaker said that the policy of the Government has been aimed at achieving a high level of unrestricted trade over as broad an area as possible.

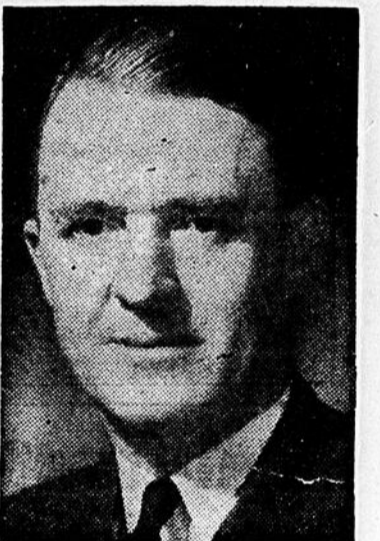

"I feel we must do everything within our power," said Mr. Abbott, "to keep the channels of world commerce as free as possible. We have practised what we preach."

"Canada's part in the development of the general agreement on tariffs and trade and in three major tariff negotiation at Geneva, Annecy and Torquay has helped to open up important new export markets for Canadian goods."

Defence First

Defence is clearly the biggest single factor in the current budgetary picture, it alone accounting for almost half the total budget, the speaker said.

"I believe," said Mr. Abbott, "that in order to meet our requirements for defence and to maintain to expand the production of our basic resources, it is essential that our economy be kept as flexible as possible. . . . I use the word flexible because I think it represents,

HON. D. C. ABBOTT.

if any one word can, the type of economy which we would like to see maintained in Canada."

The speaker concluded: "May I say in conclusion that although it is natural and proper to grumble about government expenditures and high taxes, I am sure the vast majority of Canadians agree that we are a fortunate people. High as it is, our taxation burden is lower than in most other countries. It is the price we ourselves choose to pay for security against war and against social evils."

"I am inclined to think that we get better value than most for our money. Despite the day to day problems that are bound to arise in a dangerous and rapidly changing world, we can, I think, look to the future with growing confidence."

Col. Wilfrid Bovey Addresses Lions Club Of Montreal

Hospital Problems Outlined In Talk By Col. W. Bovey

"Hospital problems are like the devils in the Bible who said 'My name is legion for we are many,' and I assure you they are as troublesome as any devils could be," Col. Wilfrid Bovey, president of Reddy Memorial Hospital told members of the Lions Club at their weekly luncheon.

Col. Bovey said money is not the first of hospital problems, it is the last.

"I have always found that if you have a really good project the money would come," he added.

"Since the Montreal General Hospital began its long and wonderful work, Quebec has an outstanding history of selfless kindness and private charity," Col. Bovey said.

Elaborating further Col. Bovey said that socialized medicine is not wanted and every citizen should help in avoiding it.

"At present the Quebec Government sees a situation in which over a course of years the eastern half of the Province has obtained enough hospital beds in theory but not enough in practice for many are in the wrong places," Col. Bovey said.

Not Enough Beds

The western half of the Province has not enough hospital beds he claimed. He added that the population of Montreal has sky-rocketed, but so has the cost of the beds.

"Taking new construction as a whole the Government is paying 75% of the cost, according to the Federal - Provincial agreements made a few years ago each government was to pay $1,000 for the cost of each new adult bed. This makes $2,000. The cost in a new building is anywhere up to $14,000. Taking the municipalities as a whole, they pay little or nothing, although in some special cases they do prescribe. The public finds it very hard to give new subscriptions — there, then is one government problem."

He said that another problem is the cost of hospital indigents which with other problems was the subject of an extensive survey by the City Improvement League of Montreal.

Soon to make its appearance in Westmount, NDG and the Town of Mount Royal, this van houses part of the largest mobile exhibition any church has ever put on tour. Local residents are taking prominent parts in the community cast to appear in the colorful pageant "Triumphs of the Faith" that is a feature of this United Church of Canada pictorial exposition descriptive of the church at work around the world. The preliminary program is to be held in St. Andrew's Church, Cote St. Antoine road, Westmount, Oct. 30 to Nov. 3, inclusive, while the pageant is to take place the nights of November 4-5-6 in the Town of Mount Royal high school auditorium.

West End United Church Groups Prepare For Big Mobile Missionary Show

Clergy and laity will combine later this month and at the beginning of November to produce and present the local version of the largest exposition of the Church-at-Work ever put on tour. Designed to offer a popular, graphic outline of United Church missionary endeavors, the pageant, to be seen in the Town of Mount Royal High School on Nov. 4, 5 and 6, is en route to urban centres throughout Canada during the next two years.

The Exposition committee working on the local aspects of the project draws heavily from the ranks of community congregations and among individuals trained and experienced in dramatic presentations. The chairman is Fred N. Stephen, Marcell avenue, secretary-treasurer of Protestant Colonization.

Exposition committee men include Rev. Charles Cushing, of Montreal West, as secretary, and Rev. Dr. R. DeWitt Scott, Rev. N. A. McMurray, Dr. J. S. Astbury, D. Walkington, C. Leslie Copland, and the following directors: programs, Rev. Dr. Harvey B. Campbell and Rev. M. N. Buchanan; publicity, Jack P. Hughes; finance, A. M. Wait; exhibit, W. M. Redmond, and pageant, Alan G. Murray.

Mr. Murray, as pageant director, is assisted by G. F. Mitchell in charge of musical arrangements, and Arthur Gundy, costuming, and by the local directors co-operating in the eight participating churches. Players in the pageant prologue are representing Wesley United Church and include Rev. R. S. Beal, Miss Barbara Emms and Douglas Atkinson.

Notable among the parts now in rehearsal are those to be representative of John Knox, the Pilgrims, John Wesley, Africa, Japan, new frontier and strangers. The respective players are under the direction of Mrs. D. M. Grant, of St. Andrew's, Westmount; Mrs. E. Bromley, Queen Mary Road United Church; Fred Collins, Fairmount-St. Giles; W. Arliss, St. Luke's; Mrs. W. J. McEachen, St. Andrew's Church in St. Laurent; Mrs. G. Shimo of the Japanese Fellowship, Sherbrooke Street west, and Miss Marion Keith of the Sun Life dramatic club.

Individual roles among the outstanding portraits in preparation here, to supplement the players who appear in the travelling entourage, will be taken by Mrs. G. E. Cross, Clarke Avenue, representing Christianity; Miss J. Cooke of Cote des Neiges, as Presbyterianism; Miss V. Jamieson of Calvary United as Congregationalism; Miss Marion Mathews of Fairmount-St. Giles, as Methodism, and Mrs. J. K. Brown of Cote des Neiges who takes the part of United Church. Details concerned with administration are well defined and should mean smooth-functioning of the entire project. Members of the Young People's Union will act as ushers at the pageant. President Thomas Taylor and Secretary Scott Brooks of the Montreal Sunday School Association will take charge of children's day activities during the pageant here. Billetting of the travelling troupe is being arranged by Rev. E. A. McIlwain of Dominion-Douglas Church. Rev. Eric D. Evrey of Queen Mary United is looking after the needs for special speak-

Howard Haag Tells Of New Hiroshima In YMCA Letter

Howard Haag, the Y.M.C.A. World Service Secretary in Japan, in a letter to the local Y.M.C.A. Secretary tells of the dedication of the new Hiroshima Y.M.C.A. in these words.

"On the afternoon of July 19 the Hiroshima Y.M.C.A. building was formally dedicated. From early morning the Committees on decoration and program were busy engaged in preparing the new building for this event which has thrilled so many people in many parts of the world. The contractor had moved out of the building the day before. The furniture had been delivered the same day. There was a great tension and excitement among the dozens of young people who were there to put everything in readiness.

"At 6 o'clock in the morning a group of small boys stood in front of the building eagerly watching the process and awaiting the time when they could move their activities of their boys group from the crowded quarters of the quonset huts to this spacious new building. At 7 o'clock breakfast was served in the dining room for the building committee. Mr. Saito and I attended. At 12 o'clock the same room was used for a dinner for the Board of Directors, and by that time people were beginning to assemble for the formal opening at 1:30 p.m. At 5 o'clock tea was served to some 300 guests and at 7 in the evening there was a meeting of lay leaders to review the problems of the program and administration. Truly it was a busy day.

"One could not be a part of that program without feeling that he represented hundreds or perhaps thousands of Y.M.C.A. people all over the world who by their contributions made this building possible. As we took part in the dedication we heard many names mentioned. I cannot begin to recall them all. Immense appreciation was expressed to the International Committee to the World Youth and Special Needs Funds.

"A simple little dedication of the drinking fountain was significant. At the entrance to the building there stands this little monument inscribed as follows: "Fountain of World Brotherhood donated by the Y.M.C.A. friends around the world." It is a symbol of universal hopes and prayer that never again will there be a repetition of "Hiroshima."

"One cannot view this simple yet efficient Y.M.C.A. building without a feeling that it is a living monument to a way of life which if properly employed might make wars cease. It is an instrument to be used rather than a monument to be admired. It does not compare in size or grandeur with some of the structures being dedicated in Hiroshima "To Peace," yet it is a usable, efficient and functional structure. By this building the Associations and individuals, who have made it possible, have put an instrument in the hands of people of Hiroshima by which the present and future generations of that city may build citizenship with purpose.

"At the opening of the dedication ceremony the contractor handed the keys of the building to the President of the Board of Directors, Dr. Saeki. Then with great formalities Dr. Saeki passed them on the General Secretary, Iguchi. As he spoke Dr. Saeki's voice was shaken with emotion. "A dream has come true," he said.

"Again Hiroshima is a part of great Christian Brotherhood. Again Hiroshima lives."

The local Y.M.C.A. raises the sum of $1,000.00 yearly as its share of the World Service Work of the National World Service Committee of the Y.M.C.A.s of United States and Canada.

Interesting Subject To Be Given By "Rays Of Light"

"Where Are The Dead?" is the subject of an address to be presented Sunday night, by Harold J. Brendel, minister and director of the "Rays of Light Evangelistic Team" and the "Better in Health Team". He stated that he will use colored pictures to illustrate the truth about the "Dead" and show from the Bible just where the dead are, how long they remain where they are, and what they are doing at the present time. Believing the Bible Truth in this matter, Mr. Brendel pointed out that he would be able to bring the greatest hope to those who experienced the death of loved-ones as well as to help each one attending to be better prepared to face death with "hope".

Paul Burgess, organist, will give an organ recital at 7 p.m. while pictures will be shown for quiet thought and meditation. At 7.30, Ernest Roy, soloist and song director, will begin an inspirational song service.

The "Rays of Light" evangelistic team will begin a new series of lectures on Sunday night in the Seventh-day Adventist church at 4250 Western Ave. and plan to present some of the most misunderstood truths of the Bible. These meetings shall be held every Sunday night and everyone is invited to attend. They are free to the public. The doors open at 6.30 p.m.

Neighborhood For New House Should Be Selected With Care

Many factors make or mar the happiness and security of a home. The selection of the neighborhood in which the house is built is one of them. Too often, in the enthusiasm of home-planning, people overlook the fact that they may also be selecting their surroundings and environment for many years to come. Think long and well before you invest your future in a community.

The location of your home determines the accessibility of work and play, and fixes the conditions of light, air and sunshine. It also provides neighborhood associates and activities. A walk around a residential district is a good way to judge its general appearance and character, and in this way you will be able to tell whether it fits in with your living habits. You will be able to see how far the schools, shopping centers, churches, recreation and amusement centers are located from the property you buy.

A talk with your future neighbors will often reveal hidden nuisances not readily seen at first glance. If there are children in the family you will not want to locate on a street used as a traffic thoroughfare or as a motorists' short-cut. You should also remember to check on such items as tax rates, the availability of police and fire protection, and whether there will be sewer and water connections for your house.

A neighborhood with a high percentage of homes occupied by owners generally means better care of buildings and grounds, and greater stability of property values.

The character and appearance of the community in which you build or buy will have considerable effect on the value of your property. Where adequate zoning by-laws and an official community plan have been adopted your investment is protected.

Before you buy a lot on which to build be sure you obtain all information on existing building restrictions and plans for future community development. It is easy to understand what would happen to the value of your house if construction of a factory, garage or warehouse was allowed on adjoining property. This could happen if your community did not have restrictions to control non-residential building.

Most cities and towns have zoning by-laws but it is good policy to check them to see that they are not too rigid to meet new needs, or too loose to prevent industrial encroachment on a purely residential district.

With a master plan, a community can properly arrange its expansion or re-development to provide adequate recreation and playground areas, to locate shopping, commercial and amusement centers in their proper place in relation to the residential areas, and to plan the streets with an eye to beauty, safety and economy.

Through the organization of the Community Planning Association of Canada, interested citizens are working more closely with civic authorities and planning experts to achieve a better layout for living in their communities. Your local branch members can offer advice which will assist you in attaining successful home-ownership.

Christian Science

"Doctrine of Atonement" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Oct. 19.

This Lesson-Sermon explains that Christ Jesus envisaged no vicarious salvation, but instead commanded that his followers in every age themselves overcome sin, sickness and death; and he showed them how to do so.

The Golden Text is from I Corinthians: "The preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God".

Bible citations include the following from Matthew: "And when he had called unto him his twelve disciples, he gave them power against unclean spirits, to cast them out, and to heal all manner of sickness, and all manner of disease".

Correlative passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following: "Christians are under as direct orders now, as they were then, to be Christlike, to possess the Christ-spirit, to follow the Christ-example, and to heal the sick as well as the sinning. It is easier for Christianity to cast out sickness than sin, for the sick are more willing to part with pain than are sinners to give up the sinful, so-called pleasures of the senses."

Support Catholic Charities

Campaign for $563,000 Must Not Be Allowed to Fail

Once more Montrealers are being asked to support the campaign of the Federation of Catholic Charities and St. Mary's Hospital, combined for the second successive year.

We commend this appeal to people of all tongues and creeds, for true charity knows no such distinctions.

The Federation this year is seeking the formidable sum of $563,000, the minimum necessary if the twenty-five charities comprised in federation are to carry on their full work. Last year, it will be remembered the campaign fell seriously short of the minimum objective and the work suffered in consequence. This city benefits too much from the activity of the Federation for us to allow the campaign again to fail.

Rising costs all down the line, and a shrinking income, have imposed severe handicaps on those entrusted to administer these gifts, and the poor and the needy sick have inevitably suffered. This year, let us put the campaign over the top. This district, which is always generous in responding to worthy appeals will, we know, again do its full part. When the canvasser calls upon you, remember your own many blessings, and be generous to those less fortunate.

In a Sunday newspaper, we read a whole page of questions — 91 — which unmarried girls were invited to ask themselves. A scoring system gave a clue to their chances of getting a proposal of marriage.

What interested us was the many ways in which women can irritate men. We were acquainted with about a dozen ways, but we had no idea there were 91. The 91 were thought up by one woman, Judith P. Chase, so it is possible there are even more.

On Using Time

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor
Trinity Memorial Church

One of the commonest sayings I know is this: "I haven't the time." Ask a man to do some public work or a woman to canvass systematically for the Red Cross or Red Feather and in three cases out of four his or her answer is: "Oh, I haven't the time." In the fourth case the answer may be: "Yes, I should be glad to do it." Yet, in each case the basic condition is the same; they all have the same time at their disposal, that is, twenty-four hours a day.

It is a question of the wise distribution of time. In fact, it is very similar to the problem of the right distribution of the world's resources. There is food enough to feed the world, but it is badly distributed and millions go hungry. So there is time to perform all the tasks that would make for good living, but some of us do too much and some have no work to do at all, except for our selfish selves.

It is of the very nature of man and woman to be busy — to fill up the time. It is also a curious fact that we all try to get through our work in order that we may have spare time, and then we look frantically for some way to fill it.

The papers are full of advertisements of gadgets to save time so that we may spend time playing golf or bridge or taking another job to increase our income. And when we are asked to do some serious piece of work three out of four of us say: "Oh, I haven't the time". We may go on to say: "I have to play golf on Monday and Wednesday, and bridge on Tuesday and Thursday; you can see how frantically busy I am." I once asked a man to come to Church. He replied: "Oh, I couldn't do that; I have to rest sometime." He was using his time to the limit.

We all have twenty-four hours a day. How often do we stop in our busy-ness and ask whether we are using them profitably? Suppose you ask a man whether he has read Milton's Paradise Lost. The chances are that he will reply: "No, I have always intended to, but I have never had the time." Yet, he probably reads two newspapers a day and possibly three. It is one of the most curious wastes of time that we indulge in — reading the same news twice. It has become almost a disease with us. One of my clerical friends in 1939 used to buy each edition of the paper as it came out. And it is not only a waste of time but a rasping of the nervous system as well.

We have no time to read the great books, the record of the spiritual striving of the great souls of our race, for that is what our literature is. Spenser, Shakespeare, Milton, Browning have all gone through our human experience, and they have looked into it with the deeper poetic vision. They may not have found all the answers, but they have come nearer to an answer than most of us can. Their writings are not only great poetry — they are also deep

Fabrics Forecast In Full-Length Fall Coats

New York — There's news to be found in the full-length coat. Silhouette, when it's princess or pendulum, is a point. Fabric, when it's deep-textured boucle or hand-some tweed, is another point.

The Directoire and Empire periods cast a strong influence over the cut of a coat this fall. Deep-yoked coats with curved sleeves, small waistlines, and back fullness are the results of a romantic past projected into 1952.

In the boucle-textured fabrics, colors fairly bloom. In the tweeds, black-and-white makes a strong combination.

Fitted full-length coat (left) by Seymour Fox is black-and-white tweed with low-notched coachman's collar and double-breasted closing fastened with jet jewel buttons. Slim sleeves are cuffed; skirt has easy fullness.

Modified pendulum silhouette appears (right) in a loose wrap coat by this same designer. Notched cape collar frames the face; three-quarter sleeves have wide cuffs. This is in boucle wool.

Your School, Your Child, and You

By E. GEORGE COCHRANE

(Assistant Principal, Van Horne School)

THE NEW ARITHMETIC

It is still a little early in the season but those citizens who keep their auditory cavities alerted will soon be hearing the annual bleat concerning the poor quality of the arithmetic instruction now provided in the schools of the nation. That the blatant criticisms are based to a large extent on ignorance and are not supported to even the most meager extent by the findings of educational research workers does not lessen the volume one iota. "The children aren't being taught any arithmetic at all."

"My child is in grade one and she can't even add one and one." "We did so much more arithmetic when I went to school." And so on, and on, and on.

Let's take those statements one at a time and subject them to the critical light of analysis.

Are Well Grounded

The first one, to the effect that children aren't being taught any arithmetic at all is obviously, to put it as politely as possible, an exaggeration. Children are being taught arithmetic and they are being taught it well, better than it ever has been taught. The latest findings of psychologists and research have been harnessed to the task of giving today's child the best possible grounding in arithmetic.

It is true that present-day schools no longer attempt to teach the same amount and variety of arithmetic as was the case 20 years ago. A deliberate attempt has been made to make arithmetic functional, or real use to the child in his present and future life.

Such problems as the following, which are nothing more than a mental exercise, have been deleted from the course of study; A frog is at the bottom of a 12-foot well. If he climbs three feet each day and slides back two how long will it take him to reach the top of the well?"

Instead an effort is being made to teach, first of all, the basic facts in addition, subtraction, multiplication and division. Once those have been learned the child advances to a knowledge of fractions of the type which will stand him in good stead in adult situations, of decimals, or per cent, of denominate numbers, and of other phases of arithmetic. The emphasis is at all times on the functional aspect.

But there is also a growing tendency to stress social arithmetic, arithmetic which teaches children the need for co-operation among people in all areas of human endeavour.

The second criticism, to the effect that grade one children do not know how to do even the simplest sums in addition, is true. But there are reasons for it. In grade one the teacher's primary task, so far as arithmetic is concerned, is to give the child an understanding of numbers. The child learns what three actually means. He learns to count and he knows what he is counting. Numbers are not abstractions. It is three owls, or three windowpanes. When finished grade one, the child should have a complete understanding of number and with that understanding he can proceed in grade two to successful, meaningful work in arithmetic.

The third criticism, that children used to "learn" more arithmetic than they are taught at present, is one of those half-truths which can cause a great deal of mental confusion. Not so long ago pupils did arithmetic without even the slightest understanding of what they were doing.

Today it is meaningful and useful arithmetic which is being taught, and all kinds of tests have shown that today's school children know their arithmetic better than their parents.

Turn-About Meat Loaf, Welcome Time-Saver

A classic in every best cook's repertoire is brown-crust, tender meat loaf. Perfect sauce to use in it and over it is condensed tomato soup.

And you can use different condensed soup-sauces to vary this basic loaf into other scrumptious versions. Just a "presto-chango" and you can turn the Tomato Loaf into a Mushroom Meat Loaf—by using cream of mushroom soup instead of tomato soup for the sauce. Or make the loaf with cream of celery soup for still another good one.

Master Meat Loaf

- 2 cans (2½ cups) condensed tomato soup
- 1 pound ground beef
- ½ pound ground pork
- 1½ cups soft bread cubes
- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped parsley
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper

Combine ½ cup of soup with other ingredients. (Save rest of soup for sauce.) Shape into a loaf or pack lightly into a greased loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 1 hour. Remove loaf from pan; pour in remaining soup and simmer about 5 minutes. Pour hot sauce over loaf. Makes 6 servings.

Meat Loaf with Mushroom Sauce: Simply follow recipe for Master Meat Loaf except use 2 cans (2½ cups) of condensed cream of mushroom soup instead of tomato soup. When making sauce with the mushroom soup (2 cups), blend soup with ½ cup of milk and/or meat drippings.

Meat Loaf with Celery-Parsley Sauce: Simply follow recipe for Master Meat Loaf except use 2 cans (2½ cups) of condensed cream of celery soup instead of tomato soup. When making sauce with celery soup (2 cups), blend with ½ cup of milk and or drippings. And add ¼ cup of chopped parsley to the sauce.

Soup Scoop

A likely candidate for your cookie jar is this spicy, rosyhued cookie made with condensed tomato soup. They're full of oatmeal and nuts, too—good nourishment for the nibblers in your family:

Rosy Oatmeal Cookies

- ¾ cup butter
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 cup sifted flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder
 - ½ teaspoon soda
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - 2 teaspoons cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 1 can (1¼ cups) condensed tomato soup
 - 3 cups uncooked oatmeal
 - 2 cups seedless raisins, chopped
 - 1 cup chopped walnuts
- Cream butter and sugar; add eggs and blend thoroughly. Sift dry ingredients together; add alternately with soup to the butter mixture. Mix well after each addition. Blend in oatmeal, raisins and walnuts. Drop by spoonfuls on a lightly greased baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) about 20 minutes or until lightly brown. Makes about 6 dozen cookies, 3 inches in diameter.

Make it Yourself by Pauline Roy

If you would like to have a leaflet which includes the pattern and directions for making this set (medium size), send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Make-It-Yourself Department of this paper requesting FAKE FUR SNAKESKIN HAT AND ASCOT. Leaflet No. E-2788.

Many women who like to sew and turn out lovely home sewn outfits seem puzzled by several terms in connection with fabrics. So, we can spend a little while talking about some of the interesting facts about fabrics. All fabrics are developed from fibers. Cotton and linen are vegetable fibers; silk and wool, animal. Rayons are synthetic and, therefore, man-made, as are also fabrics of glass. All these fibers are spun into yarns of many kinds. Hundreds of different types of looms then weave these yarns into all kinds of textiles whose surface effects may vary from a satin smoothness to a knobby roughness. Then the fabric finish may again change the effect. Some fabrics have a sizing or glazing added to give firmness, stiffness, smoothness, gloss and other effects. Other special finishes render fabrics water-proof, spot repellent, crush resistant, fireproof — properties that will make the fabric suitable to the use to which it is to be put.

Nap or Pile

Some fabrics have a standing surface known as nap or pile. If you're uncertain about a particular fabric, brush your hand over its surface. It will usually feel smooth, running with the nap, and rougher against it. Pile is the term used in reference to velvet and velveteen; and nap, to the relatively smoother fabrics such as wool broadcloth. In making a garment the fabric is generally cut so that the nap runs downward to insure smoothness, but some velvets will give a desirable deep or rich effect if the pile runs upward. It is important, therefore, to have all pieces in such fabrics cut "heads up"; that is, with the tops of each pattern piece facing the same way.

Ensemble Made From Fur

Fake fur snakeskin is used for the hat and ascot set pictured here. The lovely rich fabric lends itself to the making of up-to-date fall accessories to compliment your favorite suit.

In his personal memoirs, Gen-Grant said that the Mexican war was "one of the most unjust ever waged by a stronger against a weaker nation."

Enjoy Economical Frankfurters En Casserole

Let's face it. Beef is high, so are other meats. So try frankfurters in fancy dress, thereby easing up on the budget while you please the family.

One-pound package contains eight to nine franks.

Frank Bean Casserole (4 servings)

Four franks, 2 cups baked beans, 1 teaspoon molasses, ½ teaspoon horseradish, 2 teaspoons melted butter.

Mix beans, molasses, and horseradish. Place in a greased casserole. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 30 minutes.
Brush franks with melted butter.
Place over the beans. Cover and continue baking about 10 minutes.

Or, bake franks atop canned baked beans to which onions, catsup, mustard or molasses have been added for extra flavor. Or combine franks in casserole with Spanish rice, cooked spaghetti or macaroni with sauce or with scalloped potatoes.

Frank-on-a-bun suggestion—Plan on one frank each for a hearty luncheon or supper sandwich. Since quality franks are thoroughly cooked as purchased, the sandwich may be a cold one or the franks may be heated through, as you prefer.

Split a bun, toast it and spread it with butter or margarine and mustard. Cover with a frank slit in half and top with a slice of nippy cheese. Broil until the cheese is melted, brown and bubbly.

The Frank Quail is a variation of this combination. Simply slit the franks not quite through and insert a stick of cheese. Wrap spiral fashion with bacon and fasten with a toothpick. Bake or broil until the bacon is crisp and the cheese melted.

For an appetizer, cut franks in one-inch slices and spear with a toothpick for easy eating. Have a small bowl of barbecue sauce.
Each person dips the frank in thin barbecue sauce and eats.

Thin Barbecue Sauce (1 pint)

One-quarter pound butter or margarine, 1 cup vinegar, ¼ cup water, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon sugar, ¼ cup Worcestershire sauce, ¼ cup tomato catsup, ¼ cup chili sauce, 1½ teaspoons lemon juice, 1 small clove garlic tied in porous cloth bag, cayenne pepper (optional).

Mix all ingredients together and simmer 1 hour to blend. Remove garlic. Add cayenne pepper for a "hot" sauce. This sauce may be made and stored in the refrigerator and used cold with franks or hot with steaks, spareribs, short ribs, franks, hamburgers, liver, chicken.

Pound Day To Aid Children's Home

Rev. John S. McBride, B.A., Minister of Ephraim Scott Memorial Church, will be guest speaker at the fourth anniversary of the Orange and Protestant Home for Children at Rosemere, Que., on Oct. 25.

It will be "open house" at the Home. Mr. Stanly Royston will show movies of the children and of the crowd at the July 12th picnic held on the Rosemere Grounds.

Admission to the grounds will be a "pound" (multiplied as often as you like) of staple food which may be used by Matron Mrs. P. Dur-ning in the feeding of her large family. All members of the Orange Order, also other subscribers and friends of the Home are cordially invited to visit the Home on that day, Oct. 25, at 56 Phillippe St., Rosemere, Que.

WOULDN'T TREAT

In 1777, James Madison, who later became President of the United States, refused to treat the electors to rum and punch, after the custom of the time, and, consequently, was not re-elected to his state convention.

In music, libretto is the text and score is the music composed to fit the libretto.

Delicious budget cutters are frankfurters and beans in a casserole and franks on toasted buns, both with barbecue sauce.

Let's Eat

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"I have here a pound of link sausage and a pound of sausage meat. Which do you think looks the more important when cooked?"
I asked the Chef.

"The sausage links, Madame, because they have shape and style."

"You smile, Madame, but every man appreciates a good shape. And surely the lines of a sausage are worthy of consideration."

"All right, Chef, have it your way," I laughed. "To keep that nice shapely look, the sausage should be started to cook in a moderate oven with 2 tablespoons of water in the pan. I like to bake them. They should be turned once to brown evenly. And every drop of the fat should be saved for frying potatoes or seasoning vegetables."

Thousands Of Lives Saved As Result Of Vaccination

By F. O. WISHART, M.A., M.D., D.P.H., Professor of Hygiene and Preventive Medicine, University of Toronto.

Thousands now living would not have been born had Edward Jenner not discovered vaccination against smallpox. Without vaccination, some of us would have been deprived of a necessary ancestor by an attack of smallpox in the century and a half since his time. That could have resulted in only one thing — no you or no me.

By the same token, it is obvious that thousands of lives have been spared by vaccination alone, in that epidemics of smallpox are entirely prevented or stopped short when they do occur. We can now add to such numbers the lives saved by the more recent achievements in immunization, notably against diphtheria, whooping cough and tetanus. While it is impossible to assess the salvage of life and health with any high degree of accuracy it is undoubtedly very great. One doesn't need a paper and pencil to come to this conclusion. The fact that smallpox and diphtheria, for instance, have largely disappeared from our communities is answer enough. Today, it is usually not possible to demonstrate these diseases to doctors-in-training.

This happy result is due to the efforts of the medical profession in both the practising and public health branches, the governmental and voluntary agencies and their health education efforts, and the acceptance by the public of proven preventive methods. Among the methods for personal health protection, immunization ranks highest. This has become almost a household word in spite of its size, classical derivation and scientific import. In the minds of most people it is synonymous with vaccination and inoculation. While this is not its precise meaning the correspondence is very close in the procedures which are in current use in Canada and will, thus, suffice for our purpose.

Everyone who reads a newspaper knows that smallpox is not yet extinct, that it takes thousands of lives in less fortunate parts of the globe and that it breaks out occasionally in countries with the highest health standards. Great Britain has had several visitations in recent years and not long ago New York and Seattle were confronted with this menace. Here, in Canada, we have been jolted from our complacency at intervals. Vancouver provided us with an object lesson in the "thirties" and Windsor in the "twenties". In the latter outbreak there were 67 cases of whom 32, or 48%, died. None of those who died had ever been vaccinated.

In spite of the utmost vigilance of health authorities, similar disasters could happen again. Germs respect neither persons nor fron-

West End Potters Prominent In Nation-Wide Exhibition To Be Held Oct. 22 To Nov. 1

Residents of the west end take a prominent place in the annual exhibition of Canadian Pottery which opens at 3 p.m. Saturday in the Exhibition Room of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild, 2025 Peel Street.

Working with Miss Eleanor Perry and Mrs. Marjorie Forrest, convenors of the Guild's Pottery Committee, are Mrs. Eileen Harold, Hampstead, Mrs. Lisl Hofman, N.D.G., and Mrs. Eileen Reid, Westmount. Among the exhibitors are many members of the Potters Club, which has its studio on Elm avenue, in Westmount.

As has been the case in past years, the work of local potters stands up well in comparison with the pottery sent in from many places across Canada and interest in this craft continues to grow both among the active potters and laymen.

The aim of the Canadian Handicrafts Guild in organizing this annual exhibition of Canadian pottery, is to acquaint the public with the best of the work being done by Canadian potters and at the same time to help the local craftsmen to improve their knowledge of the craft.

The public is invited to the show between 9.30 a.m. and 5.30 p.m. each day except Sunday, from Oct. 18 to Nov. 1.

Program Planned

An interesting program has been arranged for those who are intrigued with the various aspects of pottery-making. "Potters at Work" periods will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 22, when a group of local potters demonstrate various aspects of pottery making. The afternoon program will begin at 3:15 with Mrs. Hofman in charge while the evening program will start at 8:15, when Mrs. Reid will act as commentator.

On Monday, Oct. 27, at 8:15 p.m. Jean Cartier, a young graduate of the ceramic division of l'Ecole des Beaux Arts, whose winning of a Provincial scholarship enabled him to spend a year studying in Paris, will talk about pottery and Paris. Both of these Wednesday evening sessions are open to the public.

The children of St. George's School, as in previous years, will demonstrate the hand modelling of pottery pieces on Oct. 29, at 3 p.m.

tiers and the risk is somewhat increased by the accelerated travel of today. Vaccination is the only sure protection against illness, blemish or death. Radio Program To Feature H-S Theme

The relationship of home and school will be emphasized on Sunday, October 19th, when thousands of Canadian families hear a "Westinghouse Presents" radio program devoted to education.

John Fisher, whose countless stories about Canada represent a national fund of knowledge, will bring his listeners up-to-date on trends and achievements in education. Commenting on the rapid disappearance of the little red schoolhouse, he will say, "Nowadays, they have built-in-cloakrooms and automatic drinking fountains, gymnasiums and green blackboards."

"They teach domestic science, typing and mechanics. They have vocational guidance and aptitude tests. Nowadays the teacher is an expert and schoolboards want schools that look like dream homes."

Finding the processes of learning so improved since he went to school, John will tell his audience that "There are so many schools being built nowadays that it makes one wonder what we did before."

The Don Wright Chorus plans to present a complete selection of music in keeping with Fisher's friendly talk. Songs by the fourteen-voice group are to include "School Days"; "Eenie Meenie" and "Row, Row, Row Your Boat"; "While We're Young" and "The Childrens Prayer."

Nomination Song of the week will be "You Belong To Me" and the "Westinghouse Presents" program will conclude with the appropriate hymn "Youth of the World, Arise."

Dinner For Three Enjoyable Comedy

Dinner For Three, described as a "comedy with music" introduced a new Canadian theatrical organization, Kool-Vent Theatre and a Canadian company at the Gesu Theatre.

If Dinner For Three lacks what in the modern comedy theatre is called "punch", Charm it does not lack. The argument is European, a somewhat lengthy dissertation on the frailty of women which is a subject dear to the continental playwright.

Herbert Kramer, now of New York, formerly of Vienna, has that touch of sophisticated wit which made, here and there, a very good thing of this age-old argument, and there are some pretty nuances which only need a little more vehemence on the part of this excellent company to come across the footlights with telling effect.

Mr. Kramer, a composer of considerable authority, has written in some songs which are apt, in that the cast includes a composer, a part which he plays himself. The songs are light and not as melodious as the prose text.

But they gave opportunity to the pretty and graceful Viennese light opera singer, Elfi Koenig, to appear in her former Vienna guise, though she is now a Canadian, a resident of Montreal.

A dancer as well as a singer and actress, Miss Koenig moves delightfully. She also acts with wit and ease and sang the new numbers with a light touch to Mr. Kramer's rich accompaniment. The piece itself is comedy, light-hearted but with a near satiric touch. The setting and flavor are tuneful, and the acting admirably in the mood.

Film "Scaramouche" Commences Sunday At Westmount Theatre

"Scaramouche," Rafael Sabatini's swashbuckling novel of an 18th century swordsman and mountebank who fights and "acts" his way through love and adventure, has been brought to the Westmount screen Sunday in a lavish, spectacular and star-studded Technicolor production by the M-G-M studios.

Stewart Granger, Eleanor Parker, Janet Leigh and Mel Ferrer, are the principals in this arresting action-drama, which takes place in the days of Marie Antoinette's extravagant court in the explosive period leading up to the French revolution.

Granger enacts the title role of Scaramouche, handsome, dashing, ardent and plucky adventurer and son of an unknown French nobleman whose closest friend is Philippe de Valmorin, fiery disciple in the cause of the people against the aristocrats. It is when the latter is killed by the arrogant nobleman and brilliant swordsman, Noel, Marquis de Maynes (Mel Ferrer), that Scaramouche vows to avenge the death of his friend. The plot twists and suspense are further engendered when Scaramouche falls in love with the young and appealing Aline de Gavrillac (Janet Leigh), only to learn subsequently that the Count de Gavrillac is his father and the girl he adores, consequently, his half sister. Labeled a traitor and pursued by the King's men, Scaramouche finds refuge with a roving troupe of actors, whose leading lady, Lenore (Eleanor Parker), now plays a leading role in Scaramouche's affections as well as in the hilarious pantomime acts they present on the stage. It is when this traveling troupe reaches Paris that Scaramouche is given an opportunity to demand his revenge from the Marquis de Maynes in one of the most breathtaking dueling sequences ever staged for a motion picture. Since there is a startling surprise due for audiences in the story's climax, it had better be left seen than told. Sufficient to say that before the final fadeout, Scaramouche's honor is vindicated and his romantic aspirations are happily fulfilled.

Director George Sidney, whose last picture was the smashing "Show Boat", and Producer Carey Wilson were unstinting in the lavish mounting they have given "Scaramouche," and every scene is replete with sumptuous settings and costumes. The hair-raising dueling sequences, the scenes of the tumultuous meeting of the French National Assembly and the riots leading to the assault of the Bastille are brilliantly spectacular. Nor have they overlooked the humor of the narrative, particularly evident in the down-to-earth buffoonery of the sketches presented by the travelling players, somewhat akin to the "blackouts" of today's burlesque stage.

Also on the same program is the intriguing piece of thriller fiction expertly unfolded in Paramount's "The Atomic City". Dealing exclusively in taut, spine-tingling action, this chase melodrama relates the harrowing consequences when a top-ranking atomic scientist's son is kidnapped by foreign agents.

Vigorously staged with the compelling authenticity of a documentary film, "The Atomic City" details the tense manhunt and the terrible emotional burden that it places on both the boy and his parents. Fearful for the safety of his son, the father is about to comply with the ransom demands and turn over a top-secret atomic formula to the boy's abductors. But when the FBI takes over the case, he agrees to substitute a file of worthless data that will take days to decipher.

As suspense heightens, the picture shows in absorbing detail the ingenious sleuthing of an army of federal agents desperately battling to save both the boy and the Nation's Number One military secret.

The hair-raising chase leads to Los Angeles and Washington, and with the deadline for deciphering the formula running out, a last-second clue sends government agents and state police to some old Indian cliff dwellings near Los Alamos, where the boy is being held.

Troubles to transmission that develop in power and other electric lines are being located from terminal stations by means of electrical impulses sent along the wire, which are reflected back by any fault encountered on the lines. The instrument is called a "linascope."

of the legitimate stage. But there is a difference between unwarranted license and tasteful depiction of adult themes.

"I feel the fate of children rests with their parents. It is up to the parent, not some politically appointed censor, to say what films a young person can or cannot see."

Brecher may have a point, at that. Certainly all of us want more sophisticated and intelligent films, but the problems facing the producer are very real.

Brecher was already sufficiently hot under the collar in his anger at censorship, so I left without telling him of the situation in Quebec — where children are not permitted inside a movie theatre until they're 16 years old, although they are allowed to marry at an earlier age!

Direct From Hollywood By JACK HIRSHBERG Movie Censorship Labeled "Idiotic" By Film Director

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15 -- Idiotic censorship is throttling Hollywood and making it difficult for the average producer to shoot an adult movie, says Irving Brecher, a slim, bespectacled 40-year old gent who wrote and directed the new Betty Hutton hit, "Somebody Loves Me".

"Some censors have the brains of a snail," he wails plaintively. "You can see foreign movies about abortion and even some on miscegenation, but you can't show a married couple asleep in one bed. It seems almost as though the censors and related pressure groups would deny the general public the basic facts of life!"

Yet, Brecher insists, the public WANTS mature movie fare and producers want to give it to them.

"It is far simpler to write for the adult mind," he says. "When you're dealing in juvenile banalities it's rather hard to keep the script interesting. But the moment a writer or producer tries to speak in adult terms a hundred women's clubs and chronic crabs pounce upon him."

"I think the most beautiful sight in the world is a baby with his fanny in a bathinette, but we aren't allowed to show it on the screen!"

Brecher has been around quite a while, writing several films for the Marx brothers and Judy Garland's highly successful "Meet Me in St. Louis". He also originated, wrote, produced and directed the radio, video and screen versions of "The Life of Riley".

"The best way to promote immorality is to ban it," he argues. "The quickest way to boost liquor consumption is to enact a prohibition law. It's human nature. I am not arguing in favor of bad taste on the screen. Perhaps, too, some films should be restricted to adult audiences. I don't know. I do know film attendance falls off sharply in the 30-plus age bracket. This is the time of life when people have bought themselves a problem marriage or they face other difficulties of day-to-day living. They want to see these problems realistically discussed on the screen. They are tired seeing leading men who never work, hot-tempered people who never swear, and a representation of life which at best only hints at reality in many instances."

However, Brecher admits that making motion pictures has some advantages over working in radio or television.

"At least in movies we don't have to worry about the sponsor", he grins.

"Do you know that if you are on radio for a beer sponsor you are not allowed to mention any soft drink in your script — not even lemonade? All you can mention is milk, tea and coffee. If you're on the air for Lucky Strike you can't mention a camel or a chesterfield in your script, even though you are referring to the animal and the piece of furniture, not to Camel or Chesterfield cigarettes. Now, just how silly can a sponsor get?"

Getting back to the subject of adult film fare and censorship, Brecher has plenty of scorn for censors who pretend to protect the minds of the youthful film fans.

"Believe me, kids learn about sex and life and crime from the front pages of the daily papers or from their cronies or from dime novels", he protests. "Movies would never stoop to the vulgarity of sensation publications or even

SPORTS at St. Leo's

The Academy's senior hockey squad, held their initial workout last Monday morning at Verdun Auditorium and from all accounts, the turn-out was good but the quality of the candidates was poor, many of them lacking any poise or balance on their skates.

Tommy St. James, Peter Grant,

Mike Dodman and Dave Orr, hold-overs from last years club, looked far the best and left the remaining candidates at their heels, when it came to the skating drills.

Bob Impey, looked about the best of the newcomers and this looks like the year that the hard working Bob, will break into the Academy sport spotlight. Sandy Morrison up from Bantam, showed a good burst of speed and should make the grade. Frank Jago, Brian Sheridan and Ronny Ahern worked hard and flashed some speed but none of this trio carry too much in the weight department. Dave Donohue, will in all probability catch a defence berth, but he will have to improve his skating before he will become any asset to the team. Another practise will be held next Monday afternoon at Verdun Auditorium and this will give coach Andy McGillis a better line on his potential material, as the boys will be in full equipment.

Argos Tops In Six-Man Touch

Kevin Dunnigan's Argos moved out in front in St. Leo's Bantam six-man touch rugby league. The race is extremely close, with the four teams bunched for the race to the finish line. This Saturday morning at the Wag, will see the Argos meet the Rough Riders and the Ti-Cats tangle with the Alouettes. John Roach and Gerry Dwyer have been playing great ball for the Argos and have contributed largely to the lofty standing of their team.

Our congratulations to the Westmount High girls' Tennis team, under the capable guidance of Miss Mac Millan, for bringing back to its rightful place, the Inter School City Tennis Championship after a four year absence. Let's hope these gals continue on their winning ways by copping the Volleyball title which they must defend this fall, on Nov. 4 at the High School for Girls.

Doing spartan duty for the Purple squad were doubles team, Sue Christmas and Judy Logan who provided the fans with the best action by de-

Other team members were such outstanding players as Heather Doig-Bev Christmas, Di Johnson-Martha McDougall and Carol Black-Sue Brown. The teams ended up: WHS-9; WHHS-7; WJHS-4; MWHS-4 and MRHS-3 points.

It was announced that badminton practices would commence tomorrow morning and continue on

Big Football Game at 3.45

May we take this opportunity to remind all of the important football game this aft between Westmount and undefeated Loyola with game time slated for 3.45. Reserve your seats now and let's show our squad we stand behind them in their bid to overtake the leaders. Impossible you say? Here's the way your reporter figures it.

There's a better than even chance the Thanksgiving game between Loyola and West Hill may be forfeit to the Red and Grey due to the fact that the winners were playing a man overage. Should this come about, it will mean that, provided HSM downed WHHS yesterday, four teams will be tied for top spot with four points apiece (Loyola, WHHS, McGee and HSM).

Now, with Westmount defeating Loyola this afternoon, this would place the locals on even footing with CHS (2 pts each), with WHS still having two games to play. And should Loyola end the schedule on top, with a defeat at the locals' hands, the latter MAY get the right to challenge.

This, of course, must be taken as merely a remote possibility as there is nothing yet to substantiate these assumptions, but it could, perhaps, serve as an added incentive to the much needed Westmount supporters to come out and give the home team some heart. How about it?

PIGSKIN PATTERN

Hope 'Biff' jr. is well enough to lead the team to victory today . . . say, Gerry, how about letting the quarterback call the plays in the huddle . . . it usually pays off . . . hear that G. P. may turn up this aft to pay his annual visit to the squad with a little pep talk . . . last year it worked . . . cheer-leaderettes sported their new 'glad rags' last week . . . wot! no cart-wheels? . . . it might just look and sound a lot better if the rooters could get together in the stands . . . a sort of united front, and all that . . . how about letting yours truly hear a few yells from across the field . . . a few strategically placed megaphones would do it . . . absolutely no comment of last week's game with the exception of the score — McGee 28 — WHS 5 . . . need more be said? . . . and, oh yes, a good cha-hee cha-ha wouldn't be amiss after each and every good run or play . . . makes the players realize they have support.
