World News In Brief

Koje Island, Korea, June 18—(AP)—United States troops today moved 11,600 more Red prisoners of war from two Koje compounds without a hitch.

During the move, 300 anti-communist P.O.W.s broke away from the 5,600 prisoners in compound 85 and were put in separate camps. None from 605, the other group moved, joined the anti-Reds. Since the transfer to smaller compounds began June 10, about 1,100 prisoners have signified they are anti-communists by breaking away from their comrades.

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—W. Averell Harriman scored a 3½-to-1 victory yesterday over Senator Estes Kefauver in the district of Columbia Presidential preference primary.

With the triumph goes the backing of the district's six-vote delegation to the national convention.

Harriman, mutual security administrator, is making his first bid for an elective office. Kefauver, going into the D.C. vote Tuesday, had won all but one of 15 previous Presidential primaries this year.

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—June's heat wave appeared broken in most parts of the eastern half of the United States today, but it was still hot and humid in southern areas.

More hot weather was in prospect for some midwest areas but temperatures generally levelled off to nearly normal marks.

Hot and sticky weather was reported over southeastern and gulf states with prospects of temperatures climbing back into the high 80's and 90's.

Vienna, Austria, June 18.—(AP)—Diplomatic reports from Bucharest said today that Romania's communist government has suspended completely the migration of Jews to Israel.

The reports said also that the communist government's mass deportation of "politically-unreliable" citizens from the cities has spread to Brasov, in the Transylvanian Alps, and that thousands are being driven from their homes there.

Through last March Romania permitted up to 8,000 Jews to leave Romania each month.

Extensive Damage Caused In Townships By High Winds And Electric Storm

Power Lines, Barns, Trees Smashed During Short But Sharp Storm.

Described as one of the worst windstorms to hit the Eastern Townships in many years, yesterday's electrical disturbance — as the weather man describes it — left a trail of disrupted power lines, levelled barns, fallen trees and flooded properties throughout the district.

Sherbrooke itself escaped the brunt of the storm but the immediately adjoining areas suffered heavily. Throughout the Eastern Townships, some 40,000 families were without lights, heat or power as a result of damage to the transmission and distribution facilities of the Southern Canada Power Company which serves most of the area.

Two hundred company employees worked through the night in an effort to restore service but it is doubtful if conditions will return to anything like normal until late this afternoon.

Hundreds of trees, broken by the 60-mile-an-hour gale, fell across the power lines, breaking them at many points, while lightning damaged substations at St. Cesaire, Magog and Sherbrooke. Some of these substations had a capacity as high as 110,000 volts.

Wires were down between North Hatley and Burrough's Falls and between Lennoxville and North Hatley, regular residents and summer visitors alike finding themselves without power facilities.

Fifteen men worked under the direction of G. T. Miltimore, Southern Canada Power manager at Waterville, to effect temporary repairs which were completed about eight o'clock this morning. However, it expected that several days of intensive effort will be required before the permanent work necessary can be completed.

The chief damage in Sherbrooke apparently was suffered by the Fire Department signal system. Lightning hit the wires between central headquarters and Number Five station on Belvidere Street, burning out fuses at both stations. A fire alarm box at the corner of Short and St. Pierre Street was also slightly damaged when the contact insulation was burned by the overcharged circuits. The damage was repaired immediately after the storm. There were no fire calls during the storm, according to the director, Percy Donahue.

The City of Sherbrooke electric department also was fortunate in that none of its high tension lines were struck and no damage done to facilities in the city. According to Superintendent Gaston Masse, damage was confined to the rural lines where a few transformers and fuses were burned out but these were replaced early last evening.

Adding to the troubles of Southern Canada, car owned by G. Dezan, of Ayer's Cliff, got out of control between Massawippi and Burrough's Falls, smashing into a power pole. The car was badly damaged but Mr. Dezan escaped without serious injury.

The Bell Telephone Company reported its lines suffered no damage and that service was perfectly normal today.

At Coaticook, the storm whipped through the town about five o'clock. Moving in a narrow path it left considerable damage in its wake although it lasted only a few minutes. Rain and wind caused flooding of streets and cellars.

A large barn and implement shed on the outskirts of the town owned by Alcide Laperle was flattened. A house on Johnson Avenue, owned by Mrs. Myrtle Pyne, was damaged when a maple tree fell on it. Buildings on an abandoned farm on the town limits were flattened.

Police Chief G. Groleau reported heavy damage in the town itself with large trees being knocked down by wind and lightning. Many private gardens and lawns were washed out.

Other farm buildings were also smashed in the vicinity of Dixville and Waterville.

At the junction of the Waterville road and the Sherbrooke-Stanstead Highway, a barn on the property of Kenneth Johnson was completely destroyed. Fortunately the cellar of the wooden structure that served as a stable withstood the fury of the wind and assured the safety of fourteen calves and eighteen hogs which were in the lower part. Two cows which had sought refuge from the wind, described by Mr. Johnson as the worst he had ever witnessed, were pinned beneath falling timbers when the barn was levelled but they were extricated unharmed.

Mr. Johnson, who was working near the barn when the fury of the storm was loosed, took refuge in a small milk house nearby and witnessed the destruction.

"It was the craziest storm I have ever seen," he said. "You could seen the barn move a foot at a time as each blast of wind struck it. The wind seemed to come from from all directions. First planks from the left side were carried behind the barn and deposited at the righthand corner. Then planks from the right were carried to the left. The front was thrown to the back and the back to the front. It was a real whirlwind."

Some of the sheet iron roofing was taken up by the wind, carried across the highway and deposited in a field several hundred feet away. Fortunately, his house, situated on the opposite side of the road was unharmed.

Montreal appeared to receive the brunt of the storm, and the meteorology department of McGill University estimated 1.28 inches of rain fell in the 90-minute period.

Electricity failed on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River between St. Lambert and Longueuil. In both centres entire sections of the sidewalk were under water. At Brosseau Station, near St. Lambert, two barns were set afire when struck by lightning and in St. Lambert itself a 60 foot tree toppled into a summer fair ground.

In Montreal, fire and police radio went dead. Radio taxis reported uncontrollable static, and four of the five Montreal radio stations were forced to leave the air. The storm crippled radio communications for the Provincial Police between Sherbrooke and Montreal when lightning struck the main station on Mount Royal.

The storm, which hit Sherbrooke area shortly before five o'clock, brought relief to the most stifling day residents of the district have suffered this year.

Party Chiefs Resume Campaigns

By The Canadian Press

Quebec's pre-election campaign swung into the lower St. Lawrence River region Tuesday night with both Premier Duplessis and Liberal leader Georges Lapalme addressing political gatherings.

In Carleton, Mr. Lapalme promised farmers that the Liberal party, once elected, would establish a system of farm-improvement loans to complement existing federal legislation.

At Mont Joli,, Mr. Duplessis said that "government expenditures, generally speaking, must be limited to reasonable taxation possibilities.

"The government is not a manufacturer of money, but a tax collector," he said.

Mr. Lapalme said that the farmer and the industrial worker in Quebec are paid wage scales below those existing in other provinces.

He said his party intended to establish a farm-marketing board, similar to that existing in Ontario, to help farmers find a ready market for their produce.

For fishermen, the Liberals would institute a system of grants to aid the fisherman expand his industry.

Mr. Duplessis said that Quebec, the province most ravaged by tuberculosis when his government took over in 1936, now has reduced deaths attributed to the disease by 70 per cent.

He spoke of achievements of his administration farm loans, land drainage and rural electrification that had aided farmers; winter roads that had been maintained at a cost of $3,500,000; 1,700 schools and a number of special schools built; small municipalities aided to obtain fire-fighting equipment.

Of all tax money in Quebec collected, he said, 77 per cent went to the federal government, 13 per cent to the province and the balance to municipalities and school boards. The proportion received by the province was unfair, he said.

Forgot Glasses Youth Walks Thru Glass Door

A 14-year-old St. Charles Seminary student, Claude Courtemanche, of 375 Sherbrooke street in Magog, forgot his glasses at home this morning and ended up with a badly cut leg when he walked through the plate glass door of Wilson's Music Store, Wellington street north.

The boy was taken to the Hotel Dieu by Monfette's ambulance and was released after he received first aid.

A healthy slice of glass was taken out of the door, now covered temporarily by brown paper.

New York, June 18—(AP)—Seven persons died early today when fire swept a four-storey apartment house in Brooklyn. A woman and her three children were among the dead.

A cripple, his wife and two children—trapped in a second-floor apartment — were rescued by a neighbor in a dramatic flight through bursts of flame along a ledge 1½ feet wide.

St. Lawrence Seaway Bill Is Killed In United States Senate, 43 To 40

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The United States Senate, spurning a last-minute plea by President Truman, today killed a bill to authorize the United States to join with Canada in constructing the $818,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

It adopted 43 to 40 a motion by Senator Herbert O'Conor (Dem.-Md.) to return the bill to its Foreign Relations Committee for further study.

The Senate thus repeated action it took in 1947, the last time a similar bill was up for consideration.

The measure has no chance of being brought up again at this session of Congress, nearing adjournment or recess until after the national political conventions.

Washington, June 18 — (AP) — Senate opponents of the $818,000,000 St. Lawrence seaway and power project expected to kill the long-debated bill today.

Should they fail, they will have an opportunity later to talk enough against the measure to delay a showdown vote indefinitely.

Proposals to build the seaway have been in Congress in one form or another for 25 years.

The Senate is scheduled to vote on a motion to send the bill back to committee for further study. If this motion is approved — and backers say they have votes to spare — the St. Lawrence proposal will be dead as far as this session of Congress is concerned.

Senator George D. Aiken (Rep. Vt.), author of an amendment to make the big international project completely self-liquidating, refused to concede that the bill will be recommitted. He did agree, however, as did Senator Hubert Humphrey (Dem. Minn.), another supporter of the measure, that the vote would be close.

If the recommittal motion is defeated—as urged by Senator Robert Taft (Rep. Ohio)—The Senate will turn to consideration of the Aiken amendment.

Still another amendment is on tap. This is a proposal by Senator Everett Dirksen (Rep. Ill.) and others that a citizens' commission be named to study the seaway proposal and report back to Congress by June 30, 1953.

Taft, who at one time opposed the seaway on the ground that he did not think it could be self-liquidating through imposition of tolls on shipping, later came out strongly for the bill. Asserting that shipment of Labrador iron ore over the seaway would be enough to make it self-supporting, Taft said the United States should have an interest in the seaway "for our own economic protection."

Canada has announced it will build the waterway by itself if the Congress persists in its refusal to authorize U. S. participation.

Korean War Front Is Quiet Today

Seoul, Korea, June 18—(AP)—Bloody hill T was comparatively quiet today after six days of savage fighting for that western-front high point. United States infantrymen wrested it from the Chinese last Thursday.

The United States Eighth Army reported "very heavy" communist shelling resumed shortly before noon today but tapered off to sporadic fire by mid-afternoon.

For five straight nights the Chinese threw battalion - size counter-attacks against Americans holding three rocky knobs of the hill. Each attack was beaten off.

The most recent Chinese assault was beaten off early Tuesday. An estimated 157 Reds were killed or wounded, some in bayonet fighting.

Munsan, Korea, June 18—(AP)—Smarting under an allied-imposed three-day recess, the communists today sent their liaison officers to Panmunjom with a complaint that the United Nations walkout was unjustified.

Four-Year-Old Is Only Culprit

Someone called the City Police Department last evening to say that a large window of the Massey Harris Store on Wellington South had been kicked in.

The Police radio car responded at about eight o'clock but the only culprit on the scene was a four-year-old boy.

The other "rogues," kids of his age, had fled.

The child had beat the curfew by one hour but Policemen will undoubtedly talk to his parents, asking that the boy and his companions be told that breaking windows, particularly if they are 10 feet by eight, is N.G. since somebody has to pay for replacing them.

Malik Plans To Revive Germ Charge

By MAX HARRELSON

United Nations, N.Y., June 18.—(AP)—Russia's Jakob A. Malik readied a double-barreled propaganda attack in which he was expected today to accuse the United States of using germ warfare in Korea and keeping 14 countries out of the United Nations.

Western delegates agreed these were the main points Malik will try to put across in discussing the two items he has set for security council consideration this afternoon.

As worded by Malik, the proposed Soviet resolutions appeared harmless enough. The first would "appeal to states to accede to and ratify the Geneva protocol of 1925 for the prohibition of the use of bacteriological weapons." The second calls for "adoption of a recommendation to the General Assembly concerning the simultaneous admission to membership in the United Nations of all 14 states which have applied for such admission."

The new Malik move obviously was aimed at the U.S., the only one of the major western powers which has not ratified the Geneva protocol and the leader of the fight against the Soviet proposal at the last Assembly to admit all 14 applicant countries.

The germ-warfare charges already have been aired thoroughly in the U.N. disarmament commission. There Malik said the U.S. had refused to ratify the Geneva protocol because it had planned to use this type of warfare in Korea.

Alexander Praises Koje Handling

Tokyo, June 18—(AP)—Earl Alexander, British defence minister, today praised the "firm and efficient" rule of Brig.-Gen. Haydon L. Boatner, commander of the mutinous Koje island prison camp.

Alexander, in a statement before leaving here in an R.C.A.F. plane for Ottawa after his week-long, fact-finding tour of Korea and Japan, said he does not expect further trouble on Koje island.

He is due in Ottawa Friday, accompanied by Selwyn Lloyd, British minister of state, and R. H. Scott, assistant under-secretary for Far Eastern affairs.

During his tour of the Korean front he saw troops of the Canadian 25th brigade in action against the communists.

Gen. Mark Clark, United Nations Far East commander, saw Alexander off in a plane piloted by Flt. Lt. L. W. Hussey of Ottawa.

Alexander, former Governor-General of Canada, said this last lap on his round-the-world flight will enable him to have a "long talk with old friends." After his Ottawa visit he will go on to Washington and then London, where he is expected June 25.

The defence minister is due to land at Edmonton at 8 p.m. MST (11 P.M. EDT) Thursday for a five-hour stop-over. His plane will make earlier refuelling stops at Shemya, in the Aleutians, and Anchorage, Alaska. At Anchorage a crew headed by Ft. Lt. D. R. Adamson of Penticton, B.C., will take over from Hussey.

As he waited to board his plane here, Alexander said he was impressed with what he saw of the Korean war front, especially the morale of troops.

Long Island Service Resumes

New York, June 18.—(AP)—The Long Island Rail Road announced resumption of normal service today to the relief of thousands of commuters forced by a two-day engineers' strike into New York's worst traffic tie-up in years.

Settlement of the strike came late yesterday. Full agreement was announced between the road and the striking members of the Independent Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Issues involved working conditions and rules, not wages.

Early today the Long Island, busiest commuter railroad in the United States, said full service had been restored between New York City and the Long Island communities on the line's 400 miles of road.

Restoration of service was made in plenty of time for the start of the morning rush of more than 100,000 regular commuters.

The engineers were seeking modifications in a national railway labor settlement of last May 23, which neither the brotherhood nor the Long Island had agreed to. Under the agreement, the railroad added protective clauses to four disputed rules changes.

West German Agreement Gets Canadian Approval

Ottawa, June 18— (CP) —The Commons yesterday ratified an international alliance under which Canada and her North Atlantic treaty partners will defend the West German republic against Soviet or other attack.

The protocol, signed at Paris last month, brought a day-long debate. The 10-man Social Credit group was alone in withholding support of the treaty but did not press for a formal division.

External Affairs Minister Pearson said there are "calculated risks" in bringing Germany into the security alliance. A prime Soviet aim now was to prevent West German ratification of the move.

He is not blind, he said, to the dangers of a restored and rearmed Germany. However, within the European defence community restoration and rearmament "can be brought to serve, not the ends of totalitarian aggression, but the ends of the peace of Europe and of the world."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, said he cannot support the protocol until he knows just what commitments are involved for Canada. He termed rearmament of Germany as being "fraught with danger" and warned that that country is still ambitious and may yet provoke a new war.

His split with the government on foreign policy—usually all parties present a united front—was similar to that of the C.C.F. earlier in the session. The C.C.F. then criticized the amount of economic aid to members of N.A.T.O. and said more should be done.

However, yesterday M. J. Coldwell, C.C.F. leader, said he supports the protocol under which the N.A.T.O. partners agree to go to eGrmany's aid if she is attacked.

There also was support from Gordon Graydon (PC — Peel), speaking for the Progressive Conservative party. He said Canada should show no hesitancy about approving the treaty because this might be construed as a weakness.

The protocol was sent to the Senate for approval. After that it can be made effective at any time by depositing the papers of ratification with the United States.

However, Mr. Pearson said no move will be made until a clear picture is obtained of developments in Germany and Europe generally and there is an indication of what other countries are doing about the protocol.

At the night sitting George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, urged immediate reallocation of the taxation powers of the central and provincial governments. He launched a debate on federal-provincial taxation agreements after Finance Minister Abbott introduced legislation to renew these agreements with eight of the 10 provinces—all except Ontario and Quebec.

Mr. Abbott gave no details but he has previously disclosed that the guaranteed payments to the provinces will be increased in the new agreements to replace those which expired March 31 last.

Under the agreements the provinces give the federal government almost exclusive use of the personal income, corporation and inheritance tax fields. In return they get payments based on population and the value of gross national production.

Mr. Drew said the agreements started as a wartime "temporary expedient." But now the government was coming back for a third time to ask for renewal. Steps should be taken to reallocate taxation powers so the federal, provincial and municipal governments would have clearly-defined fields of their own.

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said it is "almost a tragedy" that no solution has been found for the taxation problem. There was no threat to the federal system in strengthening the taxation authority at the centre. But there would be a threat to Canadian unity if "we go back to the kind of set-up we had before the war."

Health insurance and old age pensions and other proposals had been "wrapped in one package" along with taxation proposals when presented to the provinces. When no agreement was reached they were put on the shelf. But old age pensions had since been taken down and made effective. The same should be done with national health insurance.

John Blackmore (SC — Lethbridge) said he disagrees with Mr. Knowles. The C.C.F. member was disregarding the essential factor of Canada's constitution—provincial sovereignty.

Mr. Blackmore said he favors the view of Mr. Drew and objects to centralizing control. Decentralization, if carried far enough, brought government to the level of the people where it should be.

A. Wesley Stuart (L—Charlotte) said Canada's wealth should be fairly distributed among the "have not" provinces.

Swedes Deny Soviet Charge That Lost Plane Fired First

Stockholm, Sweden, June 18—(AP)—Angry Swedes bitterly denounced as lies today Russian charges that a Swedish plane shot down Monday by Soviet jet fighters had flown over Russian territory and opened fire on the Reds first.

The Soviet claims were contained in a note handed the Swedish ambassador in Moscow by foreign minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky. The note, as broadcast by Radio Moscow, said that the Swedish plane flew over the Russian-held island of Dagoe near the Estonian coast, opened fire on Soviet fighters when they ordered it to land, and flew out over the Baltic Sea after the Russian planes returned the fire.

The Swedish air force had told a vastly different story—that the plane, a Catalina flying boat searching for a Swedish transport plane missing over the Baltic since last Friday and also feared a victim of Soviet jets, was unarmed and was shot down 18 miles outside Russian territorial waters.

Two of the downed plane's crew of seven were wounded in the attack but all were rescued by a German freighter.

The Swedish foreign office admitted, however, that a search plane had flown over Dagoe island last Friday, the day the transport disappeared with eight men aboard.

A foreign office announcement blamed the trespass on heavy clouds and bad weather and said the pilot, when he discovered he was over Soviet territory, flew back out to sea. The Swedish ambassador in Moscow was told to apologize to Russia for this incident.

Though official comment was not forthcoming until the text of the Soviet note on the flying boat was received from Moscow, one government authority denied every major point of the Russian contention.

The plane, he said, "was a Catalina flying boat and absolutely unarmed. Thus it could not have opened fire against anybody. There was not the slightest shade of doubt that the Catalina was shot down over international waters. The position has been definitely established by thorough investigation."

Stockholm's morning newspapers were unanimous in their denunciation of the Soviet note.

"Russia's government is lying," the Liberal Dagens Nyheter declared.

The Conservative Svenska Dagbladet said the Russian charges "will not convince any Swedes. The lies are too obvious, the false accusations too flagrant."

The incident infuriated the neutrality-loving Swedes. Thousands of jeering demonstrators, some throwing stones and firecrackers, massed in front of the Russian embassy here the last two nights.

The government ordered its naval and air force units to keep up the search for the plane missing since Friday, and to shoot back at any further Soviet attacks.

A special session of the government also decided to tighten the country's defence against air attacks, but no details were disclosed.

Light Damage In Fire Here

Light damage was caused yesterday afternoon in a blaze which broke out at Sherbrooke Metal and Supply, Wellington Street South, owned by Mrs. A. D. Smith, Regina, Sask.

Apparently, sparks from an acetylene torch ignited in a paper pile near where a workman was cutting steel. The fire threatened about 100 40-gallon tanks covered with layers of rubber but prompt action by the firemen brought the blaze under control within a few minutes with practically no damage.

Firemen under Director W. P. Donahue, Lieutenants Harton and Lessard responded to the alarm at 1.36 p.m. and returned to their post at 2.15 o'clock.

U.S. Steel Production Is 12 P.C. Of Normal Output

Pittsburgh, June 18.—(AP)—The strike-bound steel industry—backbone of the United States defence program—is limping along today on 12 per cent of its normal weekly output of 2,134,000 tons.

Only 15 per cent of the mills are producing. Most of these have contracts with independent unions.

While 650,000 of Philip Murray's C.I.O. United Steelworkers are striking, the government is trying desperately to work out a program for some steel plants to produce materials vitally needed for the military effort. The White House says "considerable progress" has been made in conferences with the company and union spokesmen.

The American Iron and Steel Institute says strikers so far this year have resulted in a loss of 5,500,000 tons of steel. It estimates the total will increase 262,000 tons each day the strike continues.

In addition to the steelworkers, more than 100,000 employees in allied industries have been laid off because of the steel strike.

Since the strike was called June 2nd no serious steel shortages have occurred, but the pressure is beginning to mount. In the last few days three companies announced they will be forced to stop making munitions this week.

International Harvester Company is preparing to lay off 50,000 production workers in six states. A spokesman said nearly 90 per cent of the company's operations will be shut down by July 3rd.

The government wants something under 500,000 tons of finished steel monthly for the idle plants to meet military and atomic energy needs. That is about seven per cent of normal output.

Murray and the industry both have agreed to the reopening of a few plants to furnish steel for defence.

The Wage Stabilization Board has recommended a package boost for steel workers amounting to 26 cents an hour plus a union shop.

The industry says its final offer was a 24.6-cent-an-hour package deal. Murray contends the management offer was not that high.

The industry claims the union shop, which would require all steel workers to join the union, is the only bone to contention.

Basic steelworkers average about $1.95 an hour.

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The House of Representatives appeared ready today to go along with the Senate in asking President Truman to use the Taft-Hartley act to reopen the strike-closed steel mills.

Representative Howard W. Smith (Dem., Va.), told reporters he had been assured by many Democrats and Republicans of support for such a move. The law empowers the President to ask a court injunction calling off a strike for 80 days.

Smith planned to tack the request onto a bill to continue wage, price, rent and production controls which expires June 30th.

As the steel shutdown moved into its 17th day—with no signs of the union-management fight being settled — "considerable progress" was reported in getting some mills back into operation to meet critical defence needs.

John R. Steelman, assistant to the President, announced a union-management-government conference had agreed on a procedure for moving some finished steel out of picketed warehouses and plants to weapons makers.

The 650,000-member steelworkers of the C.I.O. agreed, when the strike began June 2, that it would co-operate in turning out sufficient steel to meet the needs of the Korea battlefront.

Truman so far has declined to invoke the Taft-Hartley law, partly on the grounds that the union at his request postponed its strike for well over 80 days. He has asked Congress to give him the power to seize the mills, a power the Supreme Court ruled June 2nd he doesn't have himself.

VITTORIO SCORES SYLVANA SHORT AS SIZZLER IN FILM LOVE SCENES

Hollywood—Behind the Screen: Sylvana Pampanini, the fiery Italian movie queen who claims Clark Gable, Ronald Coleman, Gary Cooper and other past-50 actors are "too old" for movie love making, can start blushing.

She's no jet-propelled whiz herself at celluloid romancing.

I tossed the 64-lira question about Sylvana's emoter rating at Vittorio Gassman, who's played love scenes with her in Italian films and on the set of his first Hollywood movie, "The Glass Wall."

Shelley Winter's ever lovin' and Hollywood's new heart-throb bet—MGM's ready to give him the triple-A romantic-star treatment—gave the question a diplomatic blush, but said:

"Love scenes with Sylvana? I think she'll play them much better when she has more experience."

Vittorio plays a displaced person who leads immigration officials on a big chase when he escapes from a boat in New York harbor in "The Glass Wall," an Ivan Tore Production with Maxwell Shane directing.

Seventeen days of chase scenes were filmed in Manhattan, including a big sequence in the United Nations building. Gloria Grahame, Ann Robinson and Robin Raymond are the dolls in the film.

On married life with fiery Shelley Winters, Vittorio declared: "It's wonderful.

Stanbridge East W. I. Hears Talk On "Soil"

Stanbridge East, June 18. — The June meeting of the Stanbridge East Women's Institute was held one Thursday afternoon, in the United Church Hall with an attendance of 22 members.

The president, Mrs. Creller presided. The meeting opened as usual with the recital of the "Salute to the Flag" and the "Mary Stewart Creed." The minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. C. Rhicard. The roll call was answered by reciting a garden hint or a joke; many interesting answers were enjoyed.

Mrs. Creller asked members to send articles to the W. I. Convention for the Handicraft Exhibit.

Mrs. Davitt was appointed to act as Sunshine convener to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Husband.

The program was under the supervision of the Agriculture convener, Mrs. L. Rhicard, who displayed a table of literature on gardening and insect control, etc.

The speaker, Mr. Rousseau, was introduced by Mrs. Rhicard and gave an interesting and instructive lecture on soil. Compositions of soil, the importance of bacteria in the soil, necessary organic matter in fertilizers to add to lightness of the soil and allow air space, which is necessary for the bacteria to perform efficiently.

He stressed the necessity of more organic matter to be added to the soils, thus the value of saving all plant growth in the fall to add to the compost heap with the addition of a little lime and a little 9-5-7 fertilizer. This is considered the almost perfect fertilizer consisting of the most important plant foods, nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

Mrs. Rhicard thanked Mr. Rousseau for the kindness in spending the time to come and speak to the ladies of the W. I.

The coming School Fair and Hobby Show were discussed and Mr. Rousseau kindly answered questions and gave information for same. Mrs. Rhicard stressed that because of the loss of the large hall the number of exhibits will have to be limited and more money will be placed on garden plots, 10 prizes each for Jr. and Sr. gardens. The Fair will be held in the Parochial Hall on September 5th.

Mrs. Harvey asked that a letter of sympathy be sent to Mrs. Ellwood Wilson, of Knowlton.

Arrangements were made to entertain the Home Demonstration Group from Franklin County, in Frelighsburg on August 7th, the regular meeting day. A committee was appointed to take charge of refreshments etc. The menu is to be left in charge of same.

Mrs. Wanzer suggested that the Institute sponser a Blood Donor Clinic. Members were asked to consider this suggestion.

A vote was taken on the two questions, delegates will be asked to vote on at the Convention. It was decided to vote "no" on both, the raising of dues, and the pooling of fares to Convention.

A birthday card was presented to Mrs. Davitt, on the occasion of her birthday.

The meeting was adjourned and refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

Pleasing Performance Of Ballet

Fine dancing, varied and colorful, marked Ballet Impromptu, the annual recital of the Sherbrooke Ballet School, presented last night before a large audience at the Granada Theatre.

The pupils of Miss Joan Stirling, from the knee-high-to-a-grasshopper toddlers to the experienced seniors, turned in a polished performance that was greatly enhanced by the featured dancing of Miss Stirling herself and of Gunnar Spencer, a young American who has been assisting at the school.

Miss Stirling and Mr. Spencer appeared in three numbers, which were the major presentations of the program. These provided them with an opportunity to display their versatility and gave the appreciative audience an insight into three completely different types of dancing.

While Ballet Impromptu was certainly a success, it is questionable whether it was as spirited as last year's inaugural show at the Granada. Possibly, however, that is because the 1951 show was so surprisingly good for the first major performance of the school that too much was expected of the second.

The major production numbers this year, however, were definitely more ambitious than anything tried previously and Miss Stirling and Mr. Spencer were ably supported by the dancers who shared the spotlight with them in these numbers.

Ballet Impromptu opened with Ballet Bleu, a classical number featuring some of the senior girls and with Manon Morrissette and Francoise Perras as soloists.

This was an attractive dance in which the girls showed that they have continued to make progress during the last year. Dvorak's music was the background for this dance and the excellent recording used enhanced the number.

In addition to Miss Morrissette and Miss Perras, the dancers were Louisette Bousquet, Madeleine Couture, Charlotte Couprchesne, Anita Doucet, Therese Pronovost. Claire Thibault and Rachel Turcotte.

"Kindergarten," featuring toddlers from Mme. Giguere-Becigneul's Au Lycee des Petits, was the hit of the evening as far as the audience was concerned. The little boys and girls, some of them under five, put on a sprightly performance that was more polished than that of some of their elders.

The direction and choreography were by Miss Stirling and the attractive, colorful costumes were by Mr. Spencer.

Taking part were Micheline Vallee, France Dion, Ginette Riva, Nicole Lafond, Andree Asselin, Diane Devost, Lise Couture, Andree Crepeau, Denise Gagnon, Suzanne Boislard, Francine Valtieres, Marc Rivard, Louis Racine, Jean Marc Rivard, Richard Perrault, Roger Roy, Benoit Belleau, Michel Blanchard, Gilbert Cloutier, Gerald Lauzon, Andre Lemay, Jacques Lacroix, Francois Crepeau, Guy Rousseau and Richard Cantin.

"Baby Bonnets", "Highland Lassie", "Little China" and "May Day" were four brief numbers featuring pupils in the early 'teens or just under. Naturally there were some flaws, but for the most part the young dancers maintained the high standard of the whole show.

Costumes in all these numbers were excellent. "Little China" was

16-Year-Old Youth From Eaton Corner Is Electrocuted By Broken Power Line

Katevale, June 18.—A 16-year-old boy from Eaton Corner was electrocuted late yesterday morning when he came in contact with a high-tension wire which had broken when hit by a derrick which the boy and a co-worker were using to load logs into a truck.

Dead is Byron Murdock Currier, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Currier of Eaton Corner.

An employee of C. Brazel, young Currier and a companion were loading logs, using a derrick. The boom broke and swung around, hitting a high-tension power line which broke off and fell across the truck, touching the youngster.

Dr. C. L. Brown of Ayer's Cliff and Blake's Ambulance of Sherbrooke were summoned and the Rock Island Fire Department was asked to send a resuscitator.

They haven't a resuscitator at Rock Island but hurriedly asked the Derby Line, Vt., Brigade to send theirs.

Chief Laurence Moore, Richford Parker, and Paul Bedard, of the Derby Line Fire Department and Arnold Bronson of the Rock Island brigade left hurriedly with the apparatus but were unable to revive the victim.

The Boundary authorities wish to draw attention to the fact that there is a resuscitator at Derby Line which can be used in emergencies such as electrocution and near drownings. However, they urge an immediate call.

The victim is resting at his late residence in Eaton Cornor where funeral services will be held Friday at two o'clock in the afternoon, Rev. A. Cameron officiating.

An inquest was scheduled for Sherbrooke late this morning.

Sunday School Picnic Set For Next Saturday

The annual inter-Sunday School picnic will be held this Saturday, June 21st, at Eric Webster's property, North Hatley. Participating in this popular event are St. Andrew's, St. Paul's, St. Peter's, Trinity, Church of the Advent and North Hatley Baptist.

Buses will leave Church of the Advent and St. Paul's Church at 1.15 p.m. proceeding to Portland Square, where they will leave at 1.30 p.m. Departure from the Picnic Site will be at 7 p.m.

There will be swimming, games and races for all. A special programme has been arranged for the tiny tots at 2.30 p.m. All Sunday School teachers are urged to be on hand for these events.

This is a basket picnic and everyone is asked to bring his own lunch. Ice cream and soft drinks will be distributed but only after the races are run.

In the event of rain, the picnic will be postponed one week to June 28th.

Oxygen Given At Oil Fire On Island St.

A fire caused by a leak in an oil stove occupied the fire department for about half an hour yesterday morning and necessitated oxygen for a man who had succeded in putting out the blaze before the brigade arrived.

The fire occurred at 44 Island street in a tenement occupied by Mrs. D. Flanagan and owned by Edgar Stracchino, 51 Island street.

Mr. Stracchino rushed over with an extinguisher and had the fire out when firemen arrived immediately after they were called at 10.10 a.m.

The house was filled with dense smoke and Mr. Stracchino was administered oxygen by Lieut. L. P. Harton.

Slight damage was caused the stove and stovepipe in the kitchen.

Director W. P. Donahue and Lieutenants Harton and L. P. Lessard were in charge of the fire-fighting party.

Director Donahue warns residents to be careful about leaving oil drips on heated stoves and about oil leaks.

Return Verdict In Tractor Death

A verdict of accidental death was returned at St. Hermenegilde yesterday in the death of Rodolphe Langevin who was crushed underneath a tractor Sunday evening.

Dr. Louis Gagnon of Sherbrooke, district coroner, presided at the inquest.

Langevin, 37, died in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital Sunday evening about two hours after he was brought in from the accident.

He had been driving the tractor along a country road at St. Hermenegilde when, on attempting to turn around, landed in a roadside ditch and the vehicle fell on him.

Garden Party Will Be Held At Lennoxville

The Lennoxville wing of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary is sponsoring a garden party to be held today at the "Lodge," the home of Mrs. A. R. Jewitt.

Tea will be served from 4 to 6 p.m. There will also be a food sale. Everyone will be made welcome.

In case of rain, the tea will be held in the St. George's Church Hall, Lennoxville.

The Lennoxville wing of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary held very successful tag days on June 6 and 7. The wing would like to extend thanks to Miss Vals Horsfall and all the girls who assisted in any way to make these tag days a success.

Child Injured When Tricycle Struck By Truck

Nine-year-old Claude Lemieux, 83 Fairmount Street, coming out of a yard entrance on his tricycle near his home last night, suffered a possible dislocation of his right shoulder blade when he was struck by a truck driven by Robert Fortier, 36, of 774 King Street West.

The accident happened at approximately 8:06 p. m. and the child was taken to the Hotel Dieu by a taxi driven by E. Brochu.

Constable Paul-Yvon Messier and Detective Anicet Gosselin investigated.

Tex Beneke Band Coming Here Saturday

The famous Tex Beneke band is coming to Sherbrooke this Saturday.

The former sax player in Glenn Miller's orchestra is bringing his internationally-renowned orchestra to the Arena for another in the series of dance nights featuring local and United States orchestras.

Beneke, who will play for dancing and also give a concert, is famous for not only his sax playing for also for his vocals in such numbers as Kalamazoo, Chattanooga Choo Choo, and Ida.

His masterful sax number, Ida, sold in the millions of copies and his playing of Embraceable You also was a highly popular number.

Under the insistence of Glenn Miller, Tex Beneke finally decided to form his own band, and at the first engagement they cracked every record. From then on, they went forward winning polls and popularity contests, breaking records at theaters, etc., and turning out hit records.

Glenn Miller's fans adopted Beneke's music and moreover Beneke made thousands of new fans. Having been the main cog in Miller's Orchestra, Tex Beneke, who will appear at the Arena from 9.00 p.m. until 1.00 a.m.; will certainly make the patrons enjoy dancing.

Toronto Juvenile Family Court Judge Addresses Rotarians Here

"Life today presents a challenge to every country, to every community and to every man. We as men must face it or cease to be."

This statement was made last night by Judge Hawley Mott, of the Juvenile Family Court, Toronto, in an inspiring address to the local Rotary Club, entitled "Whither?"

"We are living in a disturbed, I would not like to say a hopeless age," he said, "for I think some dawn is breaking in the East and people who have tasted our way of life, who know what freedom is, will not give up easily."

He said that the old easy, commonplace way of life has gone and there is a struggle ahead. "Society endeavouring to perpetuate itself has time and time again come forth with ideas which have taken root in the world, spread like leaven, and saved the day. That is history!"

Touching on the philosophy of great men in earlier centuries, he said that history reveals they all had the same ideal, the observance of the Golden Rule which today is embodied in the Rotary motto "He profits most who serves best."

"Rotary is not a 5 o'clock tea party," he declared, "there is a challenge facing us and we must respond. We have a great tradition."

Stating that the strongest thing in the world is an idea, when its time has come, Judge Mott pointed out the importance of exposing young boys to ideals, the necessity of a living touch and a personal relationship.

He urged Rotarians to know the boys in their street, the youth who comes into their office, and exhorted them to introduce these young people to the proper way of life, gradually and safely.

The leaven which can spread and save the world, he said, is the growth of service above self, the propagation of the Golden Rule.

Judge Mott also spoke briefly on the activities of the Juvenile Court saying that since 1929, in Toronto, delinquency has dropped 50 per cent or more.

He pointed out that the unit of society is the home, not the individual, and that the welfare court endeavours to build a happy home on a solid foundation and thus eliminate the tendency to delinquency.

The speaker was introduced by Past President B. N. Holtham and thanked by Harry Walker.

President Emile Levesque welcomed Mrs. Mott to the meeting as well as the following guests, John J. Dee, East Chicago, Ind., Dale Vandervoot, Valleyfield, William M. Kline, Greenville, S.C., C. W. Tourtelottle, Vancouver, Judge J. C. Samson, of the local Juvenile Court, and M. Houde, Sherbrooke.

PACIFIC SALVAGE

An incredible story of wanton waste of surplus war material has been revealed piecemeal to an amazed and disgusted taxpaying public ever since hostilities ceased in 1945. In this country much usable, valuable equipment was abandoned in the northwest and at other isolated bases. More was left to the depradation of thieves and even that sold by the War Assets Corporation often brought fantastically low prices. Most Canadians had let this ugly phase of postwar reconstruction slip from their minds until the recent thefts admitted by the Department of Defence and the persistent criticism of the Government's expense expenditures recalled all the unsavory disarmament mess.

Many Canadians are uneasy over large Government requisitions, out of all proportion to the seeming need, which are being made by the Government with the mere excuse, "just in case." Opposition sharpshooters, finding these defence requisitions inviting, vulnerable targets, have only added to the taxpayer's misgivings. Although in a different category from that dealing with surplus material at the war's end, such a policy could have effects equally as wasteful.

A proportionately larger wastage and dumping took place in the United States. In fact such was the speed and lack of adequate supervision attending the American disposal of surplus in the post-war years that in more than one instance the American Government has been forced to buy back at a fantastically high price some of its war surplus material already sold to civilian firms for a pittance.

The latest example of this frightful waste is the announcement that an Australian salvage company is attempting to recover as much as possible from the billion dollar equipment dump in the shallow waters off the New Hebrides Islands in the South Pacific. Here the Americans sank jeeps, construction machinery and all manner of heavy defence material, rather than transport it home. Acres upon acres of the ocean floor are reported covered with rusting metal.

In the unreasoned optimism of 1945, dumping seemed to be the most obvious method of dealing with heavy equipment far from home, much of which was of little use in peace time. Surplus equipment in the northwest of this continent and throughout the Pacific was thus disposed of in what seemed at the moment to be a justifiable procedure.

In the far from unreasoned gloom of 1952, the value of the scrap in these graveyards on land and under water makes salvage operations a vital and necessary operation. One can recall with misgivings the frantic salvage drives of the last war. A repetition of this need for scrap confirms the unpleasant suspicion that the Allies' short-sighted and improvident policy in the months following V-J Day is an important forbear in the family tree of the present brood of shortages. The picture is aggravated a thousandfold when one considers that one billion dollars worth of metal under the tropical New Hebrides surf is only a small fraction of that rusting in other Pacific, African and Arctic graveyards.

PEPPER PRICES

Perhaps you have been wondering why pepper is high in price and often scarce. An answer is provided by the Foreign Department of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and distributed in the Bank's commercial letter.

In India, it says, pepper is not cultivated on large plantations, and the size of the holding is usually uneconomic. Since bumper crops can be grown only every other year, and new vines take from three to five years to produce berries, there has been a lack of incentive to increase production.

Before the war about 85 per cent of the world's pepper supply came from Indonesia, but due to wartime destruction pepper crops there have been reduced to a small fraction of their normal size. As a result, India has almost a monopoly of world supplies.

India hasn't added much to its pepper output, but the sneezy stuff holds sixth place on its export list, and the No. 2 spot as a dollar earner. Where are its best markets? In the United States, Britain and Canada, in that order. In 1950-51 Canada imported 582 long tons of it, compared to an average of 65 tons in previous years.

Obviously, this fantastic increase calls for further research. Is the present tonnage diluted, or are we becoming a nation of fire-eaters?

"The pepper vine," the report concludes, "is native to South India, where it grows at a height of 4,000 feet above sea level. The harvesting season is from November to April. The berries grow in bunches and are plucked while green and dried in the sun to produce black pepper, or allowed to ripen on the vine to produce white pepper."

EISENHOWER LISTENS TO ADVICE, BUT EXPRESSES HIS OWN IDEAS

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

New York — (NEA) — An Eisenhower assistant went to the general's Columbia University residence one Sunday morning to confer about Eisenhower's Detroit speech. He found the Republican presidential candidate in a dressing gown.

He was seated in a comfortable chair with a big yellow tablet on his knee, writing with pencil, in longhand, some of the things he wanted to say.

This Detroit speech had been plugged as Candidate Eisenhower's major policy declaration on labor-management relations. The general has already made several refences to his views on the steel industry seizure and the Taft-Hartley law in his Abilene and New York press conferences. But the Detroit speech was intended to present his own ideas on the subject in detail and in full.

The point stressed by this Sunday morning incident is that the words now coming out of Mr. Eisenhower's mouth express his own thoughts and opinions.

General Eisenhower came back from Paris with the draft of his Abilene speech already prepared. It was not ghost-written for him. A number of his advisers got a look at the draft and made suggestions. But on the plane ride from Washington to Kansas City, the general laboriously went over his text again, and so wrote out the final draft, the way he delivered it.

To anyone who thought the Abilene speech wasn't a very good one, this may be an explanation.

No Aides Behind Him In Press Conferences

In the general's press conference appearances, however, he has been strictly on his own. There have been no aides or advisers standing behind him, whispering in his ear and telling him what to say.

To the delight of the press and to the amazement of many others, Candidate Eisenhower has proved that he is literate, that he has ideas of his own and that he can express them.

The Eisenhower publicity staff, headed by Robert R. Mullen, former Christian Science Monitor correspondent and more recently head of Marshall Plan public relations, is not sure that the general will be able to keep up this place of writing his own speeches.

If he wins the nominations and goes into an all-out, cross-country barnstorming campaign where five or six speeches a day are called for, there will have to be some ghost-written first drafts, re-expressing the general's ideas.

That will give The Man himself more time to chuck voters under the chin and buttonhole babies, or whatever it is candidates are supposed to do.

Like President Truman, General Eisenhower is now considered at his best when he is talking off the cuff. He has not yet shown that he is a gifted reader of prepared speeches, as President Roosevelt was.

In his press conference statements, General Eisenhower's skill at this give-and-take business is cited as proof that he has done his homework.

He Had Time To Plan His Line Of Attack

Before he left Paris, he was given a complete list of questions that he might be asked. They were compiled with the help of a group of Washington correspondents. So the general knew what to expect and was prepared to meet the attack.

General Eisenhower's return to the U. S. has made some change in his political headquarters' organization.

Corralling delegates was the work of the Washington headquarters under Sen. Frank Carlson of Kansas. Sen Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., of Massachusetts, as general campaign manager, was liaison man between New York, Washington and Paris.

A new personal staff has now been built up around the general. It is headed by Arthur H. Vandenberg Jr., son of the late Michigan senator and formerly his father's administrative assistant in Washington. The general's appointments are being handled by Tom Stephens, a young New York lawyer active in the Dewey organization.

Close around the Eisenhower throne, as principal advisers, are Senators Lodge, Carlson, Duff of Pennsylvania, ex-Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas, Governor Dewy, Herbert Brownell, Paul Hoffman and Walter Williams.

The role that Ike's brother Milton Eisenhower will play has not been determined. He accompanied the general to Abilene, then returned to Penn State College, of which he is president. As a former Department of Agriculture and Office of War Information official he would fit into the brain trust naturally.

PRESS COMMENTS

DYNAMITE OVER BERLIN

Vancouver Sun

If General Eisenhower hadn't assured us that Russia doesn't want open warfare, her present pattern of behavior in Berlin could give the ordinary man some uneasy moments.

Russia has been forcibly seizing small areas on the fringes of West Berlin to establish what she calls "security belts." In retaliation the British have surrounded and besieged Radio Berlin, operated by the Russians as a sort of island in the allied section of the city.

British troops were given extra ammunition and ordered to "meet force with force." Once upon a time such orders were known as fighting words.

But one of General Eisenhower's first announcements on his return to the United States was that there was little chance of the Russians "deliberately provoking" World War III, because they have no chance of "winning instantly." The general says the Russians know they could not sustain a global conflict.

We are impelled to believe that Eisenhower knows what he is talking about, not only because of his experience and knowledge, but because he is now in a position where one wrong guess could cost him his political future.

Nevertheless, many will recall that feature of the Russian character which used to be expressed, and perhaps still is, in the game known as "Russian roulette." It is a contest where one bullet is put in a six-chambered revolver. The contestants spin the chamber and take turns shoving the muzzle in their mouths and pulling the trigger.

Against the Muscovite bias towards "Russian roulette" we have General Eisenhower's reassurance in a moment when he can't afford to be wrong.

It affords a nervous kind of comfort.

Fifty-Two Countries Co-Operate To Fight Foot, Mouth Disease

Paris, June 18— (Reuters) — Fifty-two governments have decided to buckle down to the task of beating the scourge of foot-and-mouth disease, now rampant in Europe, and increasing in other parts of the world.

All governments are members of the international animal disease control office which recently held a conference here attended by 100 delegates.

The conference spent most of its time discussing the plague, which spreads swiftly among cloven-footed beasts, particularly hitting cows and reducing the milk production.

The conference recommended first the creation of a laboratory to deal specifically with the disease and this proposal now is being studied by member governments.

Task of the laboratory would be the preparation of sample serums and the drafting of a "standard" method of diagnosis.

Other recommendations by the conference were:

1. Special precautions should be taken in handling vaccine viruses —a "two-edged weapon" which while being used to defeat the disease, may also lead to further infection through negligent use.

2. Vaccination formulae should not be modified without the advice of I.A.D.C.O.

3. Every country should set up foot-and-mouth disease research centres.

Prof. Gaston Ramon, director of I.A.D.C.O., said the choice between slaughtering or treatment of infected animals would be left to individual governments.

Ramon soon will make arrangements to hold this year's session of the technical research council of I.A.D.C.O. in Copenhagen.

The council of some 15 members will meet in September and will discuss, first and foremost, new ways of obtaining foot-and-mouth disease vaccines.

"The lack of vaccine is an important reason for the spread of the disease," Ramon said.

At present vaccines are obtained from the tongues of special breeds of live cattle injected with the virus. But the council will discuss a new system of broth-culture, easier to manage and with a greater yield.

The council also will examine ways of producing new kinds of vaccine. The kinds at present in use show signs in some places of losing their effectiveness.

Ramon hopes that Russia will be a member of the council. "The council's work should interest her as much as anyone else," he said.

Poland and Bulgaria attended last year's council meeting in Madrid, but Russia—though a member of the organization—did not.

"The organization has recently been joined by the largest South American country—Brazil. We hope that the two great North American countries—Canada and America—will join too," Ramon said.

"We have already had our successes. Three years ago I.A.D.C.O. played a large part in suppressing a threatened scourage of cattle plague in Europe. We were successful then and we shall be successful now in our new campaign."

Family Shelters Urged In Report On Atom Attacks

Toronto —(CP)— In any atomic bomb attack Canadians probably would have less than 15 minutes' warning, and any shelter that could not be reached in that time would be useless.

This and many other sombre warnings are contained in a report by the Ontario Association of Professional Engineers, issued following a study of engineering aspects of civil defence.

The report notes that any shelter built in a Canadian city would not likely be used more than once.

The committee, headed by Dean K. F. Tupper of the faculty of applied science and engineering, University of Toronto, compiled the report mainly for the Ontario government.

Small, family-sized shelters are recommended. "It has been estimated in the United States it would cost $3,000,000,000 to provide communal shelters for one per cent of the population living in 140 critical target areas."

War production plants, hospitals and public utilities however would warrant considerable expenditure on shelters, and should give protection at 7,500-feet from the centre of an atomic blast.

Large glass areas should be avoided. "Glass is a lethal weapon even at some miles from the point of burst . . . some protection can be provided by half-inch wire mesh. Non-brittle plastics can also be used as a substitute for glass."

Fireproof buildings of structural steel or reinforced concrete, in locations relatively free from combustible buildings, may be adapted for use as shelters.

With regard to radiation effects in the atomic bomb, the report indicates that personnel would be reasonably protected by 24 inches of masonry or 36 inches of earth.

The report suggests that all householders explore their homes to determine the best means of providing a shelter. Since large communal shelters are not feasible it is suggested that each family or small group look after its own needs.

Structures which are almost constantly occupied, such as residences, stores, factories and schools, should have shelters where they can be provided at small cost.

Those used only a few hours per week such as churches and warehouses must take "calculated risk." Theatres, rinks and amusement centres would not warrant shelters.

The report says blast effects of the A-bomb are the most important cause of damage to buildings. The incendiary effect and the danger of fires caused by broken gas mains or electric wiring is considered secondary.

And radioactivity has little or no effect on the structure, although of course it must be considered for protection of the occupants.

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOBY

NOVICE PLAYERS SHOW INTERESTING HANDS

Last year the English tried the interesting experiment of conducting tournaments over a period of several months in order to select their national bridge team. The usual practice is to select the team that wins a national tournament conducted over a period of a few days.

The English experiment kept bridge stars in a constant state of excitement for a long time, and developed several new ranking players. On the debit side, it turned up an inexperienced team to represent England in an international tournament; and the inexperienced players lost where seasoned players might have won.

On the credit side we have all the interesting hands that were played during months of anxious competition. The hand shown today was one of these.

Declarer must lose a club sooner or later, no matter what happens. The problem is to avoid losing a diamond trick.

The slapdash player bangs out three rounds of trumps and two or three top diamonds. Then he says "Bad luck, partner," and concedes two tricks to the enemy. That sort of player doesn't land a place on any national team.

The careful declarer wins the first heart, draws three rounds of trumps, cashes the rest of the hearts, then takes the ace of diamonds and the ace of clubs. At this point he lets the enemy take a club trick.

If West wins the club, he must return a heart or a club. This gives dummy a ruff, while South discards the losing diamond.

If East wins the club, his only chance is to return a diamond. A low diamond would be won by dummy's nine. If East returns the jack of diamonds, dummy wins with the queen; and South still has the king-eight for the finesse that he then knows to be necessary. (West fails to follow suit on the second round of diamonds, so the situation is clear.)

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

South	West	North	East
1 Heart	Pass	1 Spade	Pass

You, South, hold: Spades 7-2, Hearts K-Q-9-8-4-2, Diamonds K-8, Clubs A-J-5. What do you do?

A—Bid two hearts. You have a minimum opening bid in high cards, but you should rebid the hearts rather than show a minimum by a rebid of one no-trump. The length and strength of the heart suit are the important features of your hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-8, Hearts K-Q-9-8-4, Diamonds 7-3-2, Clubs A-Q-J. What do you do?

The Record Short Story

SEEDS

By PAUL ELLERBE

Lying on her stomach on the back porch that afternoon, when you felt Spring might be right over there behind the osage orange windbreak, Ellen looked at the seed company's advertisement with the eye of faith and experienced a miracle. The garden promised, if you would plant the seed company's seeds, blossomed suddenly and fragrantly around her. If you are eight years old an experience like that can be breath-takingly important. This secret garden of hers was so delicious that she lingered there.

When she came out of it she was aware of her father in the backyard. Some of the light that never was on sea or land still clung to her when she ran to him and said what she knew the minute the words were out she should have kept to say to her mother: "Father, I want a garden."

The tall gaunt man straightened up from the chopping block where he was splitting kindling and looked the long way down it was his only daughter. There was ten years between her and the youngest of her three strapping brothers and her father was still trying to figure out what she was all about.

"We've got a garden," he said.

"A flower garden, I mean. We haven't got any flower garden."

"Can't eat flowers," he said reasonably, "—nor yet sell 'em. This is a corn country. There isn't a square yard we own that's not needed for growing it. You know that"; and the light that never was merged with the plain daylight, and all the sense of color and fragrance went away.

It was a corn country all right. In the spring the corn welled up out of the earth and by full summer was an ocean of sweet-smelling green, deeper than a man's head is high, lapping up to the window-sills and porch edges of the houses. Though Ellen's family was poor, the ground needed for a very little flower garden couldn't make any difference, she thought, one way or another. But she didn't say so. She never could say the things that mattered to her father, nor could he say them to her. He stood there staring at her in perplexity and when she didn't say anything, he didn't either, though it was plain he would have liked to if he could have thought of just the right thing to say, and she walked away and he went back to his chopping.

"What are you up to now, little beaver?" Ellen's mother said; but Ellen didn't answer, just smiled and went on carrying the stove-wood, two or three sticks at a time, from the place where it was over by the backyard fence to the flat piece of cement near the kitchen door. "Always play-acting out some dress or other," Ellen's mother said, and smiled back at her and let her be. The smiles were better than words between them. The gentle feminine auspice of her girl-child, coming so late and unexpectedly into a household so heavily masculine, had lain on Mattie Bassett's life like a benediction; the three great boys had neither play-acted nor dreamt. It would be nice to have the stove-wood over closer to the kitchen door. Mattie wondered why her husband hadn't put it there in the first place.

When it was all moved, "Now," Ellen said at the dinner table, "can I have a flower garden? Where the wood used to be?"

"You could," her father said, "if there was any money for seeds, but—"

"I've got seeds," Ellen said, and reached down to the floor beside her chair and handed him a paper bag.

But he didn't look into it. He wasn't interested in flower seeds. He didn't even ask her what kind they were. In some vague way perhaps the idea of flowers distressed him. He knew he had let that kind of thing get crowded out of his life, and that he shouldn't have, and he didn't want to think about it. But Ellen's mother asked about the seeds, and learned that Ellen didn't know what kind they were. Mr. Radovich had given them to her and, though he spoke English, his accent was so thick and guttural that she could understand only about one word in four, and it hadn't seemed polite to keep asking him to repeat..

And so the women—the big one who had grown and bloomed and borne fruit and the little seed one who was just beginning—dug the earth and planted the seeds just the way Mr. Radovich had said to plant them. "Bee-oo-ti-ful!" he had said. "Bee-oo-ti-ful. You wait. You see. They will be bee-oo-ti-ful." Mr. Radovich was an old man, recently come from another country. Which country it was Ellen hadn't learned. She was a shy little girl and the sound of the soft, gentle, kindly flow of his guttural speech said more to her than his words. About all she had gathered was that the flowers when they came were going to be tall and blue and wavy and "bee-oo-ti-ful," but that was enough. She dreamed them up every now and then, smoothing and patting and watering her little patch. She was very happy, and that light that never was came back again. Sometimes it's even more usual for 8-year-olds than daylight—though most of us, as we get further and further from that age, forget that.

"No, darling," Ellen's mother said regretfully as she bent to pull them up, "those aren't flowers out dandelions." And the next day "—burdock." and then "—ragweed." "—Grass." "—clover. I guess the flowers'll come later."

And then it was later. And later and later. And though the things that weren't flowers kept coming, the flowers didn't, and finally: "That old foreigner," Ellen's father said, "he probably brought those seeds from the old country. They're likely the kind that won't grow here. You'd best forget all about them."

But Ellen couldn't. In her mind's eye she had seen them tall and stately and as blue as heaven waving over there by the fence, and when suddenly she fell ill and reality merged with phantasm, the two realest things in all her world were her ministering mother, who dropped everything and let the family shift for itself to be beside her, and the flowers. "The blue ladies," Ellen called them, and talked about them in her delirium.

And when at long last she was herself again, though pale and weak and too shaky to walk, and her father came to carry her out into the sunshine after so long away from it, "The seeds weren't any good, were they?" she said in her feeble voice. "They didn't come up, did they? I dreamed——" Suddenly she realized that there was a new quality in the way her father held her. "I dreamed they did," she said, and for the first time in her life nestled down in his arms like a bird in its nest.

Five strides and they were in the yard, and there they were, an incredibly blue and gracious company, nodding lacy and graceful and magical in the breeze.

"They're like——," her father said, and had to clear his throat, "——like the fringed gentians I used to pick when I was your age and lived back east, but they're not gentians. Nobody knows what they are and Mr. Radovich has moved away."

And then a strange thing happened; the big man held her up close and kissed her; and suddenly it wouldn't have mattered so much after all even if she had had no garden!

"They're blue ladies," she said happily. "Bee-oo-ti-ful blue ladies," and her arms went up and she kissed him back.

particularly colorful and in this number pantomime was used. "May Day" introduced Guy Therrien, a youngster who though not yet in his 'teens, gave an exceptionally fine performance.

Taking part in these numbers were:

"Baby Bonnets" — Wanda Britton, Therese Camirand, Suzanne Comire, Marilyn Cooperman, Anne Cowans, Myron Hughes, Maura McKeon, Carole Shepherd, Joan Tinker, Danielle Vallee, Martha Welsh, Diane Winget.

"Highland Lassies" — Brenda Bergman, Christine Dunsmore, Ruth Maskell, Denise Samson, M. Samson, Michelle Samson and Beth Ann Walker.

"Little China"—Linda Chankin, Andrea Echenberg, Joan Echenberg, Suzanne Latulippe, Michelle Richard, Nancy Rule and Sandra Smith.

"May Day" — Andree Gadbois, Guy Therrien, Louise Camirand, Diane Codere, Roger Codere and Diane Marchand.

"Concerto," a classic Greek dance that was a development of the Greek dance which was one of the highlights of the 1951 recital, brought the first half of the program to a close.

Miss Stirling and Mr. Spencer appeared together in this number, which won high praise last week when it was presented at the Music Teachers' Festival in Montreal. The benefit of the Montreal performance was obvious for all the dancers were at ease in this difficult routine.

Makeup, costuming and a fine back-drop, painted by Mr. Spencer, combined with the fine dancing to make this number a happy choice for the closing of the first half.

The dancers with Miss Stirling and Mr. Spencer were Marie Amaron, Barbara Wark, Helen Morgan, Manon Morissette, Francoise Perras, Madeleine Couture, Charlotte Courchesne, Anita Doucet, Catherine Wark, Claire Thibault and Rachel Turcotte.

"Fiance de la Mort," a modern abstract ballet which certainly was the most ambitious venture of the school to date, opened the second half of the program. The choreography was by Mr. Spencer who gave an outstanding performance of a melancholy young man who imagines himself in love.

Love is symbolized by a beautiful woman (Miss Stirling) who rebuffs the young man's desires and becomes the symbol of death forcing the young man to kill himself.

During the struggle with his emotions, symbols of temptation and death dance by encouraging him to suicide. These were excellently danced by Madeleine Couture, Francoise Perras, Anita Doucet, Andre Roy, Claude Langlois and Robert Beaudoin.

Music from Streetcar Named Desire was used in this number and although there was trouble with the recording at the end of the dance it did not detract materially from the performance. Diffused lighting and unusual costumes and makeup further enhanced the number.

"Polka," "Three-Quarter Time in Black" and the gay "Vive la Canadienne" brought the evening of ballet to a close. Guy Therrien again gave a fine solo performance in the polka number, while Francoise Perras was the able soloist in the attractive waltz number. Miss Stirling and Mr. Spencer danced in the closing "Vive la Canadienne."

Other dancers in these numbers were:

"Polka"—Margery Ann Barton-Slater, Diane Bolduc, Susan Chankin, Celina Gregoire, Suzanne Olivier, Susan St. Pierre, Aurette Duchesne, Helen Morgan, Andree Thibault, Lois Wallace, Barbara Wark and Catherine Wark.

"Three-Quarter Time in Black" —Barbara Wark, Raymonde Galipeau, Monique Gaucher, Michelone Goulet, Gertrude Heath, Suzanne Lacombe and Huguette Lepine.

"Vive la Canadienne" — Francoise Perras, Madeleine Couture, Manon Morrissette, Helen Morgan, Charlotte Courchesne, Anita Doucet, Arette Duchesne, Therese Pronovost, Micheline Goulet, Claire Thibault, Andree Thibault, Rachel Turcotte, Victor Roy, Andre Roy, Claude Langlois and Robert Beaudoin.

For numbers where recordings were not used, piano music was provided by Miss Evelyn Robidas, who again proved herself an excellent accompanist. Raymonde Morin arranged the coiffures for the girls.

QUEBEC'S SHAME

• 9,000 PERMITS 9,000 SCHOOLS •

2,000 NEW LIQUOR LICENSES ISSUED SINCE 1944

• AS MANY PERMITS IN MONTREAL AS FOR THE WHOLE OF ONTARIO!

Since he took office in 1944, Duplessis has issued more than 2,000 new liquor licenses — or "privileges" as he chooses to call them. Bars and taverns have multiplied . . . the pockets of party favourites have been filled . . . a huge election fund has been built up . . . all this, while teachers, the sick and the underprivileged have been neglected. In 1950-51 alone, 3,088,289 gallons of wine and liquor were sold in Quebec, plus 53,840,625 gallons of beer — or twice the total for the years 1940 to 1944 combined! Beer, wine and liquor cost Quebecers $100,000,000 a year, while Duplessis permits flagrant violations of our liquor laws.

Ralph Sweet Is Guest Of Magog Kiwanians

Magog, June 18.—Lieut.-Governor Ralph Sweet of the O-Q-M district made his annual visit to the Magog Kiwanis Club here last night at the weekly meeting at the Union Hotel.

Mr. Sweet said that he was confident of this club's success as it was on a sound foundation with conscientious and active members. He complimented Maurice Levasseur for his all-out effort to better his club. He referred to Edward Foggo's interesting monthly reports, Henry Jorgenson's bulletin and the splendid publicity that this club receives from newspapers of the district. Mr. Sweet said that the newspaper support given this club was the best he has seen.

"Liberty, let's keep it!" is the theme for 1952 in Kiwanis International. Mr. Sweet spoke on this theme and the one of 32 years ago, "We build!" He said that today there are more than 200,000 members in more than 3,000 clubs, and the number is growing steadily. The speaker emphasized the importance of influence of the church, home and school. In all of these it is the duty of Kiwanis International to see that influence for continuance of our democratic way of life is encouraged.

The importance of voting was stressed by the speaker. He referred to this province's coming election, and said, "If we do not vote, we have no right to criticize!" He continued by saying, "If Kiwanis is good for us, it is good for the men who are not in Kiwanis!"

In closing, Mr. Sweet made these remarks, "Every Kiwanian working with fellow Kiwanians can exert a tremendous power for good through service in his community Our Kiwanis clubs afford a wonderful vehicle through which we can give self expression, through which and with which we can work and achieve our objectives.

"Fifty-two times in '52 at your weekly luncheons you will hear the Kiwanis gong struck with a gavel. Each stroke should be a reminder that on that day and every day subversive forces are striking at your liberty—my liberty. May each reverberating tone be a challenge to you and me to defend—yes, fight for our libertly. Let's keep it!"

The Lieut.-Governor was introduced by President Levasseur and thanked by Jack Peters.

During the evening reports were heard and different items of business were raised. Mr. Jorgenson mentioned a special commission that has recommended the lengthening of this city's water intake, and it was proposed that a delegation from the club investigate this further.

The biggest item of business was the club's horse show which will take place at Chez Jeanne's grounds on July 13.

Another interesting part of this meeting was a short talk by Arthur St. Martin, who has just returned from a special Boy Scout training course for leaders at Tamaracouta Camp, Quebec. This was the 21st annual Gilwell course held there. He described the importance of the Scout movement, and encouraged its furtherance in this city.

One other guest was present at this meeting, Mac Fisher, from the Waterloo Kiwanis Club.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, June 24, when Roger Boudreau, secretary for the City of Magog, will be guest speaker.

Magog Players At Beebe Tonight

Magog, June 18.—St. Margaret's W. A. Guild of St. Luke's Church will stage their three act comedy at the Beebe Town Hall tonight at 8 p.m. This play, "Three Pegs" was a hit last night in Magog and promises many laughs.

GREENSHIELDS' MARKET REVIEW

Stocks drifted fractionally downwards in moderate trading yesterday. Among active leaders, Consolidated Smelters, ex dividend 90 cents, closed at 34, off one point, Imperial Oil was off ½ at 34¾ and Anglo Canadian Pulp up ¼ at 26¾.

The 88,208,608 outstanding common shares of General Motors Corporation will be admitted to trade on the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges on June 19th.

The U.S. National Production Administration is increasing its allotments of copper because it expects larger imports of the metal by fabricators.

The N.P.A. plans to start replenishing the strategic stockpile of copper, from which it borrowed 77,000 tons in the past 12 months.

Canadian Railway freight loadings totalled 10,893,000 tons in May, a new record for the month, comparing with 10,738,000 tons last year.

The International Nickel Co. is negotiating to acquire 5,000 acres of nickel and copper bearing lands near Elgin Minnesota.

Shipments of British Columbia iron ore to Japan are being stepped up to more than 100,000 tons a month. It is contended in many quarters that it would be preferable to build a steel industry in B.C. instead of shipping ore to Japan and then buying it back in the form of steel.

Canada General Fund Inc. a new company for the purpose of investing in Canadian securities, has filed an application for a public offering in the U.S. of 1,350,000 shares of capital stock. After completion of this initial financing at around $10 a share the company will become an open end Investment Fund.

Production of newsprint in Canada reached an all time high of 495,972 tons in May, an increase of about 10,000 tons over May of last year. Consumption of newsprint in the U.S. was up 4,678 tons over May 1951 while U.S. consumers' stocks decreased 6,660 tons from the month end April total of 710,320 tons.

Benjamin V. Cohen, speaking for the U.S. replied that President Truman had withdrawn the protocol from the Senate in 1947 after it had become evident "that the paper pledge approach had become obsolete."

"There had been too many incidents of treaty violations which have been concealed under the covering technique of the big lie," Cohen said.

On the membership issue, the Soviet proposal for a "one-package" admission of all applicants won a majority vote but failed to get the necessary two-thirds margin. Britain and France abstained rather than back the U.S. position.

Countries applying for membership are Albania, Outer Mongolia, Bulgaria, Romania, Hungary, Finland, Italy, Portugal, Ireland, Jordan, Austria, Ceylon, Nepal and Libya.

COOKBOOK OF THE WEEK

From the Collection of 24 of the World's Greatest Cookbooks

Rarebit Or Spanish Sauce Dress Up Rice, Fish Or Egg Dishes For Lunch Variations

A good sauce can be the basis of a whole meal. For all sorts of unusual ideas to spruce up any dish from cocktail to dessert you must see "250 Sauces, Gravies and Dressings," twentieth title in the Culinary Arts Institute series of twenty-four cookbooks that are being made available to readers of the Record, a book a week.

Here is an excellent recipe for rarebit sauce taken from the Sauce Book which can make an appetizing dish out of something as simple as hard-boiled eggs or leftover fish or vegetables:

RAREBIT SAUCE

1 tablespoon butter
1½ cup (6 ounces) grated American cheese
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 drops Tabasco sauce
¾ cup milk
1 egg, well beaten

Melt butter and cheese together over low heat; add salt, mustard, Worcestershire sauce and Tabasco sauce. Add milk gradually, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and stir in the egg. Serve with rice, fish or egg dishes. Makes about 2¼ cups.

Tomato — Add ¾ cup sieved cooked tomatoes.

Mushroom—Add 1¼ cups sliced mushrooms.

And for another type of sauce to use on any number of luncheon dishes you might try the following:

SPANISH SAUCE

1 small onion, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
3 tablespoons butter
1 tablespoon chopped pimiento
1 teaspoon salt
½ clove garlic, mashed
½ cup chopped mushrooms
2 cups cooked tomatoes
⅛ teaspoon pepper

Saute onion and green pepper in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients and cook over low heat 40 minutes. Serve with liver. Makes 2 cups.

On Saturday afternoon, Miss Maureen Hodgman, a bride-elect of the month, was guest of honor at a towel and china shower given by Mrs. Stanley Rainey at her home on Belvidere Street, Lennoxville.

Miss Hodgman, on her arrival, was presented with a gaily trimmed basket in white, pink and blue, by Miss Judy Wilson and Miss Charlene Beaulieu. She graciously thanked those present for the lovely gifts which were admired by all the guests.

The hostess later served refreshments assisted by Mrs. Les Beaulieu, Mrs. Mac Wilson and Miss Judy Wilson.

The Dew-Drop-In monthly meeting was held on June 11 at the home of Mrs. J. W. King, Camirand Street. It took the form of a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Elsie Mouldy, a bride-to-be. After all the lovely gifts had been opened and duly admired, the guest of honor was presented with a special gift from the members of the Christmas Club, which consisted of a four place setting of Fiesta dishes.

Miss Mouldy then thanked all her friends for their thoughtfulness. Five hundred was played at three tables the prizes going to Mrs. Elizabeth King and Mrs. Leonard Cabana. Later the hostesses served refreshments and a pleasant social hour was enjoyed.

The Friendly Christmas Club of Lennoxville was entertained by Mrs. Earl Kingsley at her home on Warren Street, on Wednesday evening. Mrs. Chester Squire and Mrs. W. Stratton substituted at "500" which was played at three tables, the winners being Miss Barbara Smith and Mrs. James Povey. The floating prize went to Mrs. Stratton.

Refreshments were served and Mrs. Rupert Hall presented Miss B. Smith, a bride-to-be, with a gift from the members. The bride-elect thanked her friends and invited them to visit her in her new home.

A letter was read from Mrs. C. H. George, who was in Chilliwack, B.C., on her way to Alberta.

Mrs. Melville McHarg will entertain the next meeting on June 25.

Richmond Ladies' Auxiliary B. E. S. L. Held Card Party

Richmond, June 18. — A very enjoyable card party sponsored by the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Canadian Legion, Branch 15, B.E.S.L., was held in the Legion Hall, which was well attended.

The conveners were Mrs. B. MacIntosh, of the Ways and Means committee, and Mrs. Howard Hills, of the Social committee, who were assisted by the members of their committees.

Canasta, contract bridge, five hundred and auction bridge were played at 25 tables.

Ladies card prizes were won by Mrs. Ernie Newell, Mrs. George Walker, Mrs. Evan Crook, Mrs. Ivy Fuller, Mrs. Sam Doyle, Mrs. George Setterland, Miss Rita Lay, Mrs. Arthur Galbraith, Mrs. Leon Delaney, Mrs. B. Gray, Mrs. P. McLaughlin and Mrs. Stein Taylor; and gentlemen's prizes went to Messrs. B. MacIntosh, C. Bogie, Fred Wintle, Col. M. Brady, Herbert Stevens, A. Wentworth, Sam Doyle, William Gee and Gordon Bush.

Mrs. Arthur Galbraith, president of the Auxiliary, thanked all for attending and expressed her appreciation to the conveners and to all who assisted and who donated the prizes.

Door prizes were won by Dr. C. E. Manning, Mrs. Robert Rodgers, Col. M. Brady, George Setterlund and Mrs. Lloyd Roberts.

The drawing for the box of home-made candy donated by Mrs. Harry Crook went to Mr. H. Coles.

Refreshments were served after the games by the ladies' committee.

THE WALES HOME

The annual meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Wales Home was held in Chalmers' Church parlor, one Tuesday afternoon. The president, Mrs. Mabel Morrill, occupied the chair.

Mrs. George Chamberlain, secretary-treasurer, read the minutes of the previous meeting and gave a very interesting account of the reception given Miss Lucy Shaw, matron, on the occasion of her retirement and gave the report on the recent membership drive, which proved to be very satisfactory, the amount of $75.75 being realized.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Mrs. Mabel Morrill; first vice-president, Mrs. C. R. Boast; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Chamberlain. Mrs. Morrill reported that the house committee had requested the Auxiliary to assist Mrs. Cownie, the matron, in the choice of new drapes and the following committee was appointed to assist: Mrs. M. T. J. McGee, Mrs. W. J. Ewing, Mrs. Charles W. Armstrong and Mrs. C. E. Manning.

General Notes

Mr. Austin Law has returned to Kingston, Ont., after spending a day calling on friends.

Miss Fannie Scott, of Montreal, is the guest of Miss Jennie Farquhar, of Dufferin Avenue.

Miss Edith McCourt attended the fortieth wedding anniversary reception given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCourt, at their home, in Lower Windsor, on Thursday evening.

Dominion Day Celebration At Bury

Bury, June 18. — Expressing his views on the Dominion Day celebration held here last year, six year old Allan Stokes, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stokes says,– "What I liked best was "Bozo, the clown." This opinion was no doubt shared by others of the younger set. Older ones found the sports more in line with their interest, while the attention of others was focussed on the grand street parade, and for many others the amateur hour, fire works and dance provided the greatest thrill of all. Whichever way the fancy lies there is sure to be something to please every one at the annual Dominion Day celebration, in Memorial Park, at Bury, on July 1.

This annual event, the largest of its kind in the Eastern Townships, has become an established custom in Bury, and is sponsored by the Bury Athletic Association in co-operation with citizens of the town.

For weeks past the various committees have been busy making arrangements for the big day.

The preliminary arrangements for this project begin immediately after the previous event, when the committees meet and with a critical eye, review in detail the events of the day, recording all constructive criticism and helpful suggestions, to be acted upon when plans are begun the following year, in the hope of thus improving it from year to year.

The day's events begin with a baseball match between teams of two adjacent towns.

At 12.30 p.m., the mammoth street parade leaves its starting point at the C.P.R. Station, and takes its course through the town, returning finally to Memorial Park, where the various floats, decorated cars, teams, and bicycles, etc., are judged and awarded prizes.

The Legion Pipe Band, of Sherbrooke, is in attendance all day.

In the afternoon a program of sports and special events takes place.

Among the special events this year, the Horse Shoe Pitching promises keen interest, in addition to local fans, many contestants are entering from out of town. This event is in charge of Gerald Huot and his committee.

In the ladies' events, the rolling pin throw always attracts a crowd.

The early evening, beginning at 7 p. m., features the Amateur hour, succeeded by fireworks at dusk, while a big dance in both Town Hall and Armoury, with two good orchestras providing music for modern and old time dances is a fitting climax to the great day.

Not the least of the attractions of the day, is the opportunity it offers to meet old friends and renew acquaintance with those, who come from far and near to participate in the pleasures of this happy day.

The Association greatly appreciates the generous donation of $200 given by the Hon. C. D. French, which is being used to augment the seating capacity.

Among the many prizes and trophies offered on this occasion is a special trophy, known as the "Victor Jewkes" trophy awarded to athletes of the Township of Bury, with the highest aggregate of points.

It is earnestly hoped that Major Victor Jewkes, whose return from Korea, is expected shortly, may arrive in time to present the trophy this year in person.

Under the capable presidency of Mr. William Jewkes, the various committees are as follows:

Dance Committee, R. N. Mayhew, chairman; A. J. Hunt, Ibrey Batley, W. A. Bishop, Douglas Harrison and K. D. MacDonald.

Sports Committee, T. G. Stokes, chairman; Arthur Ward, Donald Saunders, Irvine Cuming, Romeo Lapointe, R. Biron, James Dawson and W. F. Prangley.

Decorations, Mrs. R. N. Mayhew, chairman; Mrs. Elsie Boucher, Mrs. K. E. Tarrant, Mrs. Eric Fisher, Mrs. Arthur Ward, Miss Jeanne Bedard, Mr. Thomas Morrow and Mr. William MacDonald.

Park, Thomas Stokes, chairman; Ronald Stokes, Peter Matheson, Avery Barter, Raynard Atkins, Ivan Barter, William MacDonald and William Gaulin, Jr.

Prize Soliciting Committee, Roland Lizotte, Arthur Prangley, Wilfred Coates.

Amateur Hour Committee, Miss Lilian Palmer, chairman; Mrs. Russell Dougherty, Douglas Harrison and Jean Paul Lapointe.

Fireworks Committee, Ronald Stokes, chairman; Donald Hopkins and Irvine Cuming.

Finance & Prize Committee, W. Jewkes, D. B. Hopkins, Sr., James Saunders and Wilfred Coates.

Baseball Committee, Donald Saunders and Raoul Turcotte.

Horse Race Committee, Osborne Dougherty, Arthur Ward and N. G. Bennett.

Band & Sound System Committee, R. C. Stokes, Cecil Ross and Donald Hopkins.

Publicity and Advertising, A. Whitehead, chairman; Mrs. Geo. Parsons.

RICHMOND

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jones, Jr., of Otterburn Park, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kent, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Otis Blair, of Dufferin Avenue.

The regular afternoon tea held at the Belleview Golf Club House was well attended. The tables looked very attractive centered with vases, cut flowers, several baskets of summer flowers decorated the tea room. The hostesses were Mrs. Denzil McLaughlin, Mrs. Percy Frazer, Miss Dorothy Arnold, Miss Patricia Pearson, Mrs. C. Pope, Mrs. Clarence Ginn. Among the out of town guests were Miss Helena McKee, R.N., of New York City, and Mrs. A. B. Lyster, of South Durham.

Friends will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Angus MacRae who has been ill was taken by ambulance to the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital. She was accompanied by her niece, Mrs. Ira Harris.

Mrs. Denzil McLaughlin won the beautiful needle point beaded hand bag, which had been donated to the I.O.D.E. and was drawn for at the annual I.O.D.E. Street Fair.

Dr. Nadeau will move shortly to his new residence on Clevemont Avenue, which has just been completed.

A Capacity Audience Enjoyed Play, "Hardscrabble Farm," At Richmond

Richmond, June 18. — A capacity audience gathered in the Chalmer's United Church Hall, at Richmond, to enjoy an old New England play called "Hardscrabble Farm," put on by the Young People's Union of the Church.

The plot centred around Zeph Cummings, a sagacious middle-aged Maine farmer, with calloused hands and a big heart. Rev. J. L. Dean, portrayed this character very realistically. Margaret Pope, concealed in an old-fashioned dress and effective make-up was Mrs. Cummings, a prim, proper and puritanical middle-aged housewife.

Mose Gossin, played by Eric McMannis, was the handicapped lover of Betsy Thomps, acted by Dora Perkins. In this case love found a way, perhaps because the practical suggestions of Betsy were such a help.

Bijah Thomps, a somewhat mercenary widower, and Bingle, an old fisherman and carefree Character about the village, pushed each other around the stage in contending for the hand and heart of Keziah Ketchum, forty-three and desparate. She had just inherited a legacy of some three hundred dollars. The maiden lady with the money and the make-up of middle age on her face and her figure was in real life Milfred Lemoine. Henry Healy took the part of Bijah Thomps, and Garth Taylor, as Bingle, successfully won Keziah and later successfully revolted against petticoat rule and became master in his own house or wherever they were.

Ralph Cummings, a dapper city millionaire, a brother of Zeph, was a difficult character faithfully portrayed by Errol Taylor. Mr. Cummings put his foot down against his wealthy daughter, Susie, marrying Neil Wentworth, a young inventor, who had great hopes for the future and small financial assets for the present. Susie married Neil and her father promptly disowned her.

Miss Anderson interpreted the character of a daughter with a mind of her own, and Richard Norris was the young inventor who later made good. Norman Skillen was Lawyer Holden, who handled any legal matters the plot required.

Jimsey was the "Fresh Air Kid" from the city boarding at the farm and leading well-meaning old Bingle into mischief, none of which was very serious. Donald Chamberlin took Jimsey's part.

True to the pattern of the old plays founded on New England rural life, before the last act was over, the hard-hearted charcters had relented, and the handicapped had overcome all obstacles and the moral lesson had trimphed over all the frailties of human nature around which the plot was built.

Mrs. Lloyd Fuller was in charge of making-up the players to portray the various characters. She was assisted by Mrs. L. V. Farthing, of Long Beach, Calif., and Mrs. Boast.

RAMPAGING CHICAGO SOX AT IT AGAIN MOVING IN ON LEADERS

Dump Athletics Twice To Gain On Faltering Indians And Yankees; Dodgers Increase Lead To Four

From a listless bunch of second divisioners, Chicago White Sox have again become the "Go-Go Sox" of the early 1951 American League baseball campaign.

The White Sox, giving every evidence of pennant designs, last night swept a doubleheader from Philadelphia Athletics, 13-1 and 2-1 to roll up their eighth and ninth wins in the last 11 games.

The double win moved them to within a half game of the faltering Cleveland Indians and boosted them to within only three games of the front-running New York Yankees. Chicago picked up ground on all the leaders as Detroit nipped the Yankees 7-6, St. Louis Browns beat Boston's Red Sox 3-1 and Washington whipped the Indians, 4-3.

Brooklyn increased its National League lead to four games, walloping Chicago Cubs 9-1 as Pittsburgh upset the second place New York Giants 6-2. Boston moved into a sixth-place tie with Philadelphia, crushing Cincinnati 5-1 while the Phils were held to a split against St. Louis Cardinals. After Curt Simmons pitched the Phils to a 2-1 triumph in the opener, Al Brazle and Ed Yuhas teamed up to shut them out 4-0 in the nightcap.

Lefty Billy Pierce and right-hander Marvin Grissom turned in fine performances in the White Sox double win. Pierce hurled a six-hitter for his seventh win and Grissom gave up seven hits for his fourth triumph.

Eddie Robinson singled in Connie Minoso with the run in the last half of the 10th that broke up the nightcap. Minoso hit two homers in the first game, each with one man aboard, and had a double, triple and homer in the opener.

It took the Tigers 11 innings to overcome the Yankees. The winning run resulted with Jim McDonald, fourth Yankee hurler, hit Bill Swift with a pitched ball with the bases loaded and one out.

Detroit had taken a 6-1 lead on a two-run homer by Wertz and a grand slammer by Pat Mullin off starter Tom Morgan. The Yankees battled tied the game on Mickey Mantle's eighth - inning homer. Fred Hutchinson, third Tiger pitcher, received credit with the win.

Earl Rapp and Jackie Jensen collected five hits between them and scored all the runs in Washington's 4-3 win over the Indians. Bot Porterfield, with the help of Sandy Consuegra in the eighth, gained the nod over Bob Feller.

Held hitless for five innings, the Browns erupted for three hits and as many runs to hand rookie Dick Brodowski his first defeat. Lefty Bob Cain pitched a four-hitter for his fifth triumph.

Preacher Roe, winning his sixth game without a defeat handed the Cubs their third straight defeat. Roe yielded four hits, two to Eddie Miksis, whose homer prevented a shutout. Gil Hodges hit his 12th homer in a five-run fifth inning.

Gus Bell hit a grand slam homer off starter Hal Gregg in the seventh to snap a 2-2 tie and give Pittsburgh the win over the Giants. Gregg had purposely walked Ralph Kiner with two out to get at Bell.

Vern Bickford yielded seven hits in pitching the Braves to their victory over the Reds. Sid Gordon homered for Boston.

Pinch hitter Bill Nicholson singled in the run that gave Simmons his fifth victory against two defeats as the southpaw held the Cards to give hits.

Stan Musial hit his eighth homer in the second game to hand Robin Roberts his fifth defeat against seven wins. Musial, a five-time batting king, took over the National League leadership with a .335 average, four more than Jackie Robinson of Brooklyn.

China Can't Take Part In Olympics, Says Prexy

Helsinki, June 18—(AP)—Sigfrid Edstrom, president of the International Olympic Committee, said yesterday that neither Nationalist nor Communist China can, under present rules, participate in the Olympic Games here this summer.

"The International Olympic Committee desires that the youth of China participate in the Olympic Games," Edstrom said in a statement. "At present the fundamental organization of the I.O.C. precents its participation."

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Sign Sixth American

Winnipeg, June 18—(CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers yesterday announced the signing of their sixth American import for the 1952 grid season.

Club officials said Ralph McAllister from Minneapolis, Minn., agreed to Bombers' terms. The six-foot, two-inch backfielder will report here for training July 1.

While attending the University of Minnesota, McAllister, a 200-pounder, played every position in the backfield.

RUSSIAN GIRL SETS NEW 800-METRE RECORD

Moscow, June 18 —(AP)— Nina Pletneva, Russian girl track star, cracked the world record for the 800-metre (approximately a half-mile) run today with a time of 2:08.5. The listed world record is 2:22.7 by Paulina Solopova, also a Russian.

Royals Dump Ottawa To Extend Lead In I.L.

Montreal's pace-setting Royals last night pulled three games ahead of the second-place Rochester Red Wings in the International League, sweeping a twin bill from Ottawa Athletics 3-1 and 5-4.

The Red Wings, meanwhile, swamped Baltimore 8-1.

Royals won the opener with two runs in the sixth inning on singles by Don Thompson, Jim Pendleton and errors by Jack Conway and Stan Jok. They scored their winning runs in the second game in the sixth inning. Junior Gilliam singled home the first run and later scored the clincher.

Don Thompson was carried from the field on a stretcher in the sixth inning of the second game. He was struck on the head by a pitched ball by Vince Gohl. X-rays showed he suffered a fractured skull.

Jack Faszholz breezed to his fifth victory for the Red Wings. The Wings supported his four-hit pitching with an 11-hit attack against three Oriole pitchers, including two home runs by Ray Jablonski.

A doubleheader between Springfield and Toronto was rained out.

Johnny Blatnik clouted his seventh home run with two mates aboard to help Syracuse defeat Buffalo Bisons 7-3 in the first game of a doubleheader. Blatnik doubled and singled in the second game but Chiefs dropped the game 6-4.

Ernie Landeck, with help from Gene Costello, picked up his third victory for Syracuse. Landeck, working in relief, was charged with the defeat in the second game when Buffalo scored four runs in the seventh to wipe out a 3-2 deficit.

Bratton After K.O. Over Rocky Castellani

Chcago, June 18.—(AP)—Sharp-punching Johnny Bratton, one of the best when the mood to fight strikes him, will seek a knockout victory in an encore tonight with slugging Rocky Castellani.

Castellani, 26-year-old Luzerne, Pa., middleweight, gained a unanimous decision over Bratton, former welterweight champion, in their previous clash at Madison Square Garden March 28.

Casellani, who will outweigh the Chicago Negro 155 to 149, is an aggressive, two-fisted mauler who was held to a draw by Billy Graham in his last start.

Canada's Amateur Hockey Bosses Plan To Review Links With Pros; Not Satisfied With Present Plans

Minaki, Ont., June 18.—(CP)—Canada's amateur hockey bosses are getting ready for a face-off with professional hockey over relations between the two groups.

It's an unprecedented move that could materially affect the future of the game in Canada.

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association took the initiative yesterday for a sweeping review of practically every phase of the game relating to the two organizations and players under their jurisdiction.

The Negotiating Committee of the C.A.H.A. was instructed to meet the National Hockey League Relations Committee in an effort to iron out problems that have caused widespread dissatisfaction among some amateur clubs, players and sections of the public.

No date has been set for the meeting but it will likely be held some time this summer. C.A.H.A. officials will go to it with evidence of what some officials term "abuse" of the C.A.H.A.-N.H.L. agreement by professional leagues. The evidence was submitted by Association members in different parts of the country.

The agreement was signed first in 1936 and again in 1947 for a ten-year period. The C.A.H.A. feels that a friendly discussion with professional representatives would clear the aid about many of the problems, including the controversial "C" form and negotiation lists. Payments to the C.A.H.A. for its registered players who turn professional.

Delegates to the annual meeting of the C.A.H.A. here say they believe a general revision of the pro-amateur agreement would be beneficial to both.

"We have no intention of holding a pistol to their heads. We simply want them to know that some members of our Association aren't satisfied with the agreement in its present form," said President Doug Grimston of New Westminster, B.C.

But the Association opened the gates for a breach between the two organizations by taking action on playing rules and team sponsorship.

They refused to revert to the old icing-the-puck rule which allows the attacking player to shoot the puck from beyond the red line past the blue line and charge in for it—a rule used in the N.H.L. The amateur player must carry the puck over the blue line.

Action on the rule directly contradicts the pro-amateur agreement. It states that "the amateur organizations agree to adopt the playing rules of the N.H.L."

Quebec introduced the motion to revert to the old rule and was given permission to follow the N.H.L. style in league games only. The Maritimes will also use the N.H.L. rule.

The full executive of the C.A.H.A. then voted 12-8 to ask pro leagues to abolish sponsorship of teams. Each N.H.L. club and affiliated minor pro team is allowed to sponsor two junior "A" teams.

Pro clubs will also be asked to limit reserve lists to 30 players. N.H.L. clubs and their minor affiliates—A.H.L. and W.H.L. clubs—now can put up to 65 players on the lists.

The C.A.H.A. Negotiation Committee will also request an increase of $1,000 in the $2,000 paid by N.H.L. teams and $1,000 paid by minor pro teams to the C.A.H.A. when they sign an amateur.

Delegates also were particularly dissatisfied with the "C" form. In effect, it says that any teen agers who sign it agrees that if at any time within a year he is offered a contract he will turn professional, go to any team the pro club directs, or be suspended from all organized hockey—amateur or professional. The C.A.H.A. is bound to honor any suspension.

Southern Eastern Townships Darts League To Close Season With Supper Friday; Prizes To Be Presented

The 1951-52 darts season, which began last October, will come to a formal end on Friday night when a buffet supper and social evening is held at Hillcrest Lodge for members of the Southern Eastern Townships Darts League.

The evening's program will begin at 7 p.m. and tickets are available from officers of the various clubs. If the weather is favorable, the evening will be an open air affair.

During the evening, prizes for the year's competition will be presented.

The final tournament of the year was held on Saturday at Magog when New Magog, winners of the S.E.T.D.L. playoff, took on the Maples from Stanstead in the provincial playoffs for the Dart Import Reg'd trophy.

Two series of 36 games apiece were played, New Magog winning the first 21-15 and playing an 18-18 tie in the second. This gave New Magog the championship by a 39-33 count.

Montreal, Quebec and Cowansville teams had been invited to compete in this tournament but were unable to be present.

Giants Farm Ray Noble To Oakland Of Pacific

New York, June 18.— (AP) —Ray Noble, Cuban catcher with New York Giants, was optioned to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League yesterday, subject to 24-hour recall. Noble was acquired by the Giants from Oakland at the close of the 1950 season.

This year he has made only six appearances as a pinch hitter without getting a hit, and has caught only a few innings.

Epsom Derby Changes Date For Next Year

Ascot, England, June 18—(AP)—The date of the 1953 Epsom Derby was changed today to Saturday, June 6 instead of Wednesday, June 3.

The change was made because of the coronation of Queen Elizabeth which will be held Tuesday, June 2. Coronation officials asked the Jockey Club to shift the date.

Sugar Ray In Top Shape For Monday's Big Bout

Pompton Lakes, N.J., June 18—(AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson said he was in his best condition of the last two years yesterday as he did road work and punched the bag in a light drill for Monday's light heavyweight title match with champion Joey Maxim at Yankee Stadium.

Manager George Gainford rearranged Robinson's schedule to include boxing only on Wednesday and Friday in the final week.

"We're mapping our program to bring Ray into the ring at 158½ pounds, his perfect weight," said Gainford.

No Decision Reached On Cleveland Admission To National Hockey Loop; Governors Come Up With Rule Changes

Montreal, June 18.—(CP)—Cleveland hockey fans will have to wait another week or more before they know if they'll have a team in the National Hockey League next season.

There was an unmistakeable rift among the league's club-owners yesterday in their closed annual session. The all-day affair ended just where it started — no decision.

When the meeting got under way there was a general feeling about the hotel corridors — lined with general managers, coaches, other club officials, minor league club-owners and newspaper men — that the franchise-granting would be little more than a formality.

The snag was struck somewhere in the closed meeting over financial or legal ends of the arrangement that would move Cleveland up to the major circuit from the American Hockey League.

There was no indication just what these legal or financial matters were. But it was learned reliably that James Norris, Sr., president of the Detroit Red Wings, was the prime mover in opposing any immediate action.

His support came from Chicago Black Hawks and—reports said—to a lesser degree from New York Rangers. Some sources said Rangers, headed by Gen. J. R. Kilpatrick, president, were more neutral than opposed.

It was definite that Toronto Maple Leafs, Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins were solidly in favor of Cleveland's application.

When the meeting broke up, Gen. Kilpatrick made the announcement on behalf of the owners. He said "certain investigation by auditors and attorneys is necessary before a definite decision" and that another meeting will be held "within a week or 10 days."

General Manager Jim Hendy of the Cleveland club was the most rejected-looking man in the hotel.

Hendy said that every stipulation made by the N.H.L. heads last month in Toronto had been met but he welcomed any further delving into his club's affairs if that was what it wanted.

Hendy quoted from the resolution passed unanimously at the Toronto meeting—that the Cleveland club be admitted to the N.H.L. upon fulfillment of certain conditions.

These involved putting up of $425,652 and seeing that 60 per cent of the Cleveland club's stock is held by bona fide residents of Cleveland. The break-down of the money provision was: $50,000 for franchise; $57,652 for the N.H.L.'s reserve fund, in which the Cleveland club would hold an equity; $318,000 working capital.

The League Governors came up with some rule changes at a night meeting — the most important changes dealing with the conduct of players.

The governors decided:

If a player skates offside twice during a face-off in the end circles he will draw an automatic two-minute minor penalty.

A player inciting an opponent into incurring a penalty will be given a misconduct penalty himself. If he is guilty of some other offence at the same time, the misconduct penalty is added punishment.

An automatic fine of $25 shall be added to every penalty imposed for any foul, by means of a stick, causing injury to the face or head.

In addition to their present power—through the referee—to call major and match penalties, linesmen will have the power to call misconduct penalties.

The three face-off spots, 12 inches in diameter and placed in each neutral zone five feet from the blue line, will be reduced to two for each blue-line zone.

The annual All-Star game will be held on the ice of Detroit Red Wings, N.H.L. champions and Stanley Cup winners last season. The date is yet to be fixed. Coaches of the already-selected first and second all-star teams will be Tommy Ivan of the Red Wings and Dick Irvin of Montreal Canadiens.

Blue Man Steps Closer To Honors With Win

Boston, June 18.—(AP)—Blue Man moved a step closer to 1952 honors in the three-year-old divisoon yesterday with a come-from-behind 2½-length victory in the $50,000 Yankee Handicap at Suffolk Downs.

The Blue Swords colt got away in leisurely fashion for the 1¼-mile test—richest New England purse—but Conn McCreary brought him up fast to whip Isador Bieber's King Jolie.

Blue Man, top-weighted at 126 pounds, was timed in 2:02 1/5 while boosting his earnings to $220,285 with the winner's share of $38,950. King Jolie, with Sam Boulmetis up, outlasted Eddie Siravo's Royal Marvel by a head to take second money of $10,000. Royal Marvel nipped Cain Hoy Stable's Armageddon for show by a neck.

The Preakness winner returned $2.80, $2.40 and $2.20.

Asbestos Lady Attends Reunion At Macdonald

Asbestos, June 18. — Mrs. Grant Harris attended the reunion of the Macdonald College Teachers' Training Class of 1912, on Saturday, marking the first time the class had met in a body for forty years.

After lunch, at Macdonald, the members toured the campus and buildings, and talked over old times.

Research by a committee of seven members of the class resulted in finding that of the 93 graduates, 16 had died.

Letters were read from widely scattered class members, unable to attend the gathering, and included messages from two missionaries, one in Africa, and the other in India.

THE OFFICE GIRLS' CLUB

The Office Girls' Club of the C.J.M. Factory Department, met at the home of Mrs. Ross MacAllister, in Danville, on Tuesday evening, June 10.

As Mrs. MacAllister is leaving the office staff, she was presented with a lovely gift from the Club members.

Although taken by surprise Mrs. MacAllister thanked them all for their kindness, and said that she hoped to continue as a member of the Club.

Games were played during the evening and later delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

The Women's Missionery Society of St. Andrew's Church met at the Nurses Home on Tuesday evening.

The meeting was opened with "The Lord's Prayer" repeated in unison, followed by Scripture reading by Mrs. MacGonigal.

Minutes were read by Miss Harriet Heath and the treasurer's report by Miss Anne Morrison. A missionery reading was given by Miss Anne Morrison. All old business was cleared up.

It was announced by the president, Miss Christine Morrison, that no meetings will be held during July and August. The September meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Graydon Heath.

Later delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Edith Boyd and Miss Christine Morrison.

THE EVENING GUILD

The Evening Guild of St. Augustine Church met at the home of Mrs. J. Cloutier, in Danville.

A shower of gifts was presented to Mrs. Farrar, with expressions of regret that she will soon be leaving Asbestos.

Mrs. Farrar graciously thanked everyone for the gifts and their good wishes and invited the members to visit them in Toronto.

General Notes

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morey, of Lennoxville, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Beliveau.

Mrs. E. C. MacGonigal and the Misses Dorothy and Lillian MacGonigal were supper guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Ziba Griffith, in Sherbrooke.

The Christmas Club met at the home of Mrs. William Campbelton. Mrs. Sears was a guest of the Club.

Mr. and Mrs. Vallotton and daughter, Phyllis, of Montreal, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Beliveau over the week-end.

Rev. Mr. Foggo exchanged pulpits with the United Church minister of Drummondville, on Sunday, June 8.

Mr. and Mrs. John Cowdrey, Mrs. L. Cowdrey and Mrs. Earl Gale attended the Convocation exercises at Stanstead College, on

LI'L ABNER — By Al Capp

RICHMOND

St. Francis Lodge, No. 15, A.F. &A.M., held its annual divine service at St. Anne's Anglican Church here on Sunday morning, June 8. The rector, Rev. George Harrington, preached an eloquent sermon and there was a goodly attendance of members and friends. R. W. Bro. Hall, of East Angus, D.D.G.M., was in attendance with other visitors and the Companions of Holyrood Chapter, R.A.M., also assisted. Escort was provided by a detail of Knights of Sussex Preceptory, K. T., of Sherbrooke, in full uniform. The collection was in aid of the Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nix, Jr., of Eaton, Colo., and their daughters, Nancy, Gwen and Sylvia, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Nourse, Dufferin Avenue. They left here last week on their return trip by motor, spending a few days at Montreal en route home.

Mr. Harold Smillie, also of Eaton, Colo., who has been spending some time in Montreal in order to be with his father, who is in the Royal Victoria Hospital there, spent a few days in Richmond recently looking up old friends. He has since left for home, accompanied by his granddaughter, Miss Gwennie Nix, and by his niece, Miss Anne Nourse, who will spend Tuesday.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Farrar and Master John Farrar are sorry to know that they are leaving Asbestos before long to take up residence in Toronto, Ont., where Mr. Farrar has secured a position.

several weeks in Colorado visiting relatives.

Miss Millicent Ewing, of Montreal, is a guest at the home of Mrs. W. J. Ewing and Mrs. Erastus Pierce, College Street.

The many friends of Mr. James Smillie will be pleased to learn of his satisfactory convalescence after his recent serious operation. Mr. and Mrs. D. R. McLaughlin are spending the week-end in Montreal.

Friends of Mrs. Marcel Chaput are pleased to note her recovery from her severe illness.

Frelighsburg Bride-To-Be Feted By Showers

Frelighsburg, June 18. — Miss Norma Whitcomb, a bride-to-be of the month, was pleasantly surprised on Thursday evening, on arriving at the home of her friend, Mrs. Milton Hancock, to find upwards of forty friends and relatives waiting to shower her with gifts and good wishes.

She was escorted to a chair of honour placed under a gaily decorated rose and white umbrella from which streamers fell to the many gifts.

The gifts were opened and the bride-to-be and guests admired the pieces of linen, china and silver, etc.

After this Miss Whitcomb in a gracious manner thanked her old and new friends for the lovely gifts and good wishes and invited them to visit her in her new home.

Mrs. Cleveland Tait and Miss Jean Westover conducted "The Penny Make-up" game and the prize for the most correct answers was won by Miss J. A. Hayes.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. C. Tait, Miss Westover, Mrs. E. M. Shepard, Mrs. McGrath, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. R. Tait and Mrs. C. Shepard.

SILVER & ELECTRIC SHOWERS FOR MISS WHITCOMB

Miss Whitcomb was presented with a gift of flat silver from the staff of the Missisquoi and Rouville Fire Insurance Co., where she has been a member of the staff for the past five years.

Previous to this presentation, Miss Whitcomb was presented with an electric tea-kettle from the Helping Hand Society, of which she was a member.

THE H.H. SOCIETY

The Helping Hand Society were hostesses at a "Stanley Party" in the Church Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Annett, of Montreal, representatives of the Stanley Co., conducted several amusing games and later demonstrated the "Stanley" products.

Mrs. R. Fregeau was the winner of the door prize and Mrs. R. B. Goodhue was the winner of the "Stanley" prize.

Later a buffet lunch was served by the society.

Friends from Bedford, Stanbridge East and Dunham attended the demonstration.

General Notes

Mrs. C. Hannon, of Richmond, is spending an indefinite time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Boast.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Graves, Mr. and Mrs. V. Graves and daughters, of Waterloo, were in town calling on friends.

Mr. Hazen Thompson, of Ottawa, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. F. Anderson, of Huntingdon, were visitors of their sister, Mrs. C. Shepard, and Mr. Shepard.

Mrs. M. R. Whitcomb and Miss Norma Whitcomb were in Montreal on Wednesday and attended the "at home" given by Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Holden on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

Quebec And Drummondville Split; Athletics Swamp Granby As St. Johns Edge Three Rivers In Ten Innings

Quebec Braves and Drummondville Cubs split a doubleheader, Quebec winning the first game 3-0 and the Cubs taking the second 3-1, St. Hyacinthe Athletics drubbed the lowly Granby Phillies 14-1 and St. Johns Canadiens defeated Three Rivers Yankees 9-8 in Provincial Baseball League games Tuesday.

In the first game at Quebec, the Braves, playing errorless ball, belted out 11 hits in seven innings off Drummondville hurler Bryja. The Cubs got five hits off Ed Bazydlo and made only one error.

In the second game, the Cubs played errorless ball and got seven hits off Quebec pitchers Cordeiro and Glenn. The Braves got seven hits off Ackroyd Smith and made three miscues.

At Granby, the Athletics, playing perfect ball, started with a splurge and scored nine times in the first inning. They got four more in the seventh and one in the ninth.

The Phillies' only run came in the seventh inning. They got seven hits and made one error. Stan Wotychowisz was the winner and Guy Coleman the loser.

At St. Johns, the Canadiens used four pitchers and two catchers to win the game from the Yanks in 10 innings.

Gord Maltzberger, who relieved John Mullaney for the Canadiens on the mound in the ninth, was credited with the win. Humberto Robinson, who replaced Aaron Osofsky in the eighth, was charged with the loss.

Ron Del Bianco replaced Joe Di Lorenzo behind the plate for St. Johns in the sixth.

Sore-Shouldered Sam Snead Decides To Pass Up Qualifying Round Of P. G .A. As Pros Open Battle Today

Louisville, Ky., June 18.—(AP)—Defending champion Sam Snead, his putter cold, shoulder sore and patience thin, decided yesterday not to seek the low medal in the 36-hole qualifying for the Professional Golfers Association tournament, beginning today at Big Spring.

"I'll spend the two days pitching and putting," he said. "Got to get my shoulder and putter right for Friday."

That's when match play starts in this seven-day marathon regarded by the golfers themselves as the most rigorous test in the sport. It's 36 holes a day after two rounds of qualifying today and Thursday.

Snead, as titlist, is exempt from qualifying. He developed a sore muscle in his right shoulder in the United States Open at Dallas.

Meanwhile, a slight undercurrent of resentment swept through the ranks of the mercenaries over the P.G.A. decision to let the new Open champion, Julius Boros, compete although technically ineligible.

Under existing rules, a golfer must serve a five-year apprenticeship before he can be a member of the P.G.A. Boros, who cracked Ben Hogan's grip on the Open last week-end, has had his card in less than three.

A telephone poll of the executive committee produced a special dispensation and Boros, 32, is seeking to become the third man to win the two big titles in the same season.

Gene Sarazen scored the double first in 1922 at the age of 20. In 1948 the feat was duplicated by Hogan.

The Boros case drew conflicting reaction.

"Personally, I think the five-year rule is a bad rule," said Cary Middlecoff, who was in a similar predicament in 1949 when he won the U.S. National Open at Chicago after only two years as a pro. That time, the P.G.A. made no such concession.

Big Spring has a par of 36-36—72 and measures 6,620 yards.

Mae Murray Is Only American Left In British

Troon, Scotland, June 18—(AP)—Pretty Mae Murray was the lone survivor of an original United States entry of 10 in the British Women's Amateur Golf Championship yesterday after three American Curtis Cup teammates fell by the wayside.

The petite Rutland, Vt., golfer, in weather that changed from biting cold winds to bright sunshine, defeated Celia Nicolson of Scotland, 4 and 2, and upset Philomena Garvey of Ireland, 3 and 2, in third and fourth - round matches.

With the original field of 103 now narrowed to eight, Miss Murray meets Jeanne Bisgood, London lawyer and English Women's Champion, in today's quarter-finals.

Four American women started yesterday's play, but Claire Doran of Cleveland and Polly Riley and Mrs. Frank Goldthwaite of Fort Worth, Tex., were eliminated.

Miss Doran downed Elizabeth Prince of England, 5 and 4 in the third round but Moira Paterson of Scotland whipped her, 7 and 6, in the afternoon match.

Miss Riley got past Mrs. Joan Gee of England in the morning, 2 and 1, but was defeated by Miss Bisgood, 4 and 3, in the fourth round.

Mrs. Goldthwaite, Curtis Cup captain, lost her third round match to Arlette Jacquet of Belgium on the 19th hole.

The defending titleholder, Mrs. Peggy MacCann of Ireland, was eliminated in the third round by Mrs. Celia Barclay of England, 2 and 1.

Queen Opens Royal Ascot, Her Horse Loses

Ascot, England, June 18.—(AP)—Queen Elizabeth II presided over her first Royal Ascot race meeting yesterday but her horse finished 10th in a field of 12.

The young Queen, wearing a dress of lavender-brocaded satin, rode in the first coach of the Royal procession which paraded down the stretch. Then she went to the paddock to watch the saddling of her colt, Choir Boy, the 5 to 2 favorite in the first race.

But Choir Boy never showed much interest in the 7½-furlong gallop, finishing a poor 10th. Southborne, an Irish grey owned by A. Hawkins and ridden by Gordon Richards, won easily as a 7 to 1 outsider.

Flighty Frances, a bargain-basement filly which started as a 20 to 1 outsider, won the big race of the day—the £2,500-added ($7,000) Ascot Stakes over 2½ miles. Crudwell was a fast-clocking second, 1½ lengths back. Vidi Vici was third, another half-length behind.

Flighty Frances, a four-year-old by Legend of France out of quick flight, is the first filly to win the race since 1935. The time was 4:24 4/5.

The gentry turned out in all its splendor for the occasion.

As usual, the clothes on view drew as much attention as the horses. Some of the dresses cost as much as Flighty Frances, which was bought by Mrs. F. P. Jackson for 180 guineas (about $519).
