THE DAY AT THE CAPITAL.

Various Notes From Ottawa and the Surrounding Districts.

WHAT POLITICIANS ARE AT.

Two Temporary Premiers Strike Me About the Same Time—Superintendent Schreiber and Manager Pottinger, of the Intercolonial Railway, Return to the Capital After a Tour of Inspection.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Premier Abbott went to Montreal on Saturday evening and returned at noon to-day. In conversation he expressed himself satisfied with the outlook and at the work now being done by his Government. It may only have been a coincidence, but Premier DeBoucherville arrived in Montreal on Saturday morning and remained until Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, chief engineer of Government railways, and Mr. D. Pottinger, manager of the Intercolonial Railway, arrived from the Lower Provinces in their official car at noon to-day. Mr. Schreiber returns from an inspection of the line. Mr. Pottinger comes to consult with the new minister of railways on matters pertaining to his administration.

Countess Dowager of Cavan died here to-day at the residence of her son, Hon. Octavious Lambert. The cause of the death was heart failure.

Mr. Chas. DeLanandiere has been appointed private secretary to Hon. J. A. Chapin.

Hon. J. A. Oulmet has appointed Mr. D. C. Durocher his private secretary.

Mr. Chapin's condition is slightly improved to-day. He has been working the greater part of the day with his private secretary.

The following general order has been issued to-night:

By order, WALKER POWELL, Colonel, Adjutant-General.

OTTAWA, Jan. 18, 1892.

A general mourning for H. H. H. has been ordered throughout the Dominion for a period of six weeks. Bands will be worn by officers in all orders of dress, on the left arm, during that period from this date. Bands will not be played and flags at all flag stations will be flown at half-mast until sunset on Thursday, Jan. 21.

Lord Stanley has been officially notified that the funeral of the Duke of Clarence will take place on Wednesday, at 3 p.m. The day will probably be set aside as one of public mourning.

The writ for Peal County is issued; nomination Jan. 22, and polling Feb. 4. That for Queens, Nova Scotia, issues to-day; nomination Feb. 2, polling Feb. 9.

Fire broke out last evening in the residence of H. H. Morton, Post Office Department on Coopers-street, origin unknown. The brigade quickly had it extinguished. Damage $1000, covered by insurance.

The rescue last September in mid-ocean of the crew of the Yarmouth, N.S., brigantine, by the British steamer Cyprus, was reported to the Marine Department. Mr. Wm. Smith, deputy minister, after reviewing the circumstances of the rescue, has recommended the award of a binocular glass case to Captain Guild and Mate Trenholme, and a money award to the life-boat crew of the Cyprus.

A STORY THAT RESEMBLES AN ARABIAN NIGHTS TALE.

PETERBOROUGH, Ont., Jan. 18.—Two half-breeds were arrested here some years ago for counterfeiting and were given long terms in the prison at Kingston. Their counterfeiting proves to be of pure silver. One of the men died in prison and the other escaped and was shot on the Canadian border in the Northwest.

Before dying he told his physician, Dr. Young, about a wonderful cave in this vicinity, whose floor and sides were said to contain large quantities of pure silver. This information was turned over to A. P. Poussett, Q.C. As a result sixty acres of farming land were bought near here and mining was begun. One of the miners recently discovered a cleft in the side of a rocky hill, and passing through a narrow passage entered a magnificent cave.

Lights were procured and the cave was explored. The sides were found to be of pure silver. About fifty feet from the entrance was a subterranean lake, extending as far as the eye could reach. A dugout was found upon a shelf of rock and launched. At a distance of 300 feet the explorers found another platform leading into a second chamber.

The roof was about 20 feet high and studded with stalactites. Twelve pounds of the ore have been found to contain $11 worth of silver. Armed men are guarding the cave. The principal stockholders of the mine are A. P. Poussett, Q.C., A. V. Young and A. E. Dixon, all of Peterborough.

MUSTN'T MEDDLE AT MOROCCO.

France Warned Against Following the Example of Great Britain.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The Journal des Debats, referring to the trouble in Morocco, says:

"The crisis in Morocco is an internal one, in which France must not interfere. The French Government must not treat Morocco as Great Britain dealt with Portugal in Africa."

"As soon as Tangier is safe and tranquil the European warships will have to retire altogether, unless Great Britain seeks pretexts to stay. The English press, in affecting to confound Tangier with Morocco, takes the ground that France cannot consent to consider the question."

"According to the latest news from Tangier the situation there is improving. The Sultan agrees to withdraw the Governor, who is unpopular with the malcontent tribes."

SHE MAKES THIEVES CONFESS.

If Only Miss Eva Cusick Could be Induced to Go to the Court.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Jan. 18.—The work of Miss Eva Cusick, the revivalist, is causing a great sensation here. Hardened sinners are joining the church and confessing their weaknesses in open meeting.

Besides the confession of William Coulter, who says he murdered his father, many highly respected citizens are confessing their sins and reprobates. Henry Jordan came to town to-day and gave P. L. Newton a text which he confessed to have stolen from him three years ago. He said he had become chock full of religion.

J. A. Pringle came to town with a flour sack for P. Keilher, which he said he stole two years ago. He was troubled and could not sleep.

L. Mathews returned a large chain to J. P. Moran, which he said he had taken a year ago and forgot to return.

Peet Felton handed $40 to James Stuart, which he cheated him out of at cards two years ago.

MURDER FOLLOWS A CHRISTENING.

Four Guests Wrester in Play and Then One is Killed to Death.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Jan. 18.—A christening was held Saturday night at Maltby, five miles from here, and a general fight followed. Four of the guests turned up this morning in a speak-easy on the mountain side.

They began to wrestle in play and Stephen Harshaaley and Mike Matisco were thrown by Mike Litheran and Frank Sop. The defeated men set upon the victors with fence pickets. Sop managed to escape with two severe cuts on his head, but Litheran was knocked unconscious. His head was beaten and kicked until his features were unrecognizable.

Harshaaley and Matisco then got drunk and were arrested this afternoon. Sop is dangerously injured and may also die.

THE CORPSE THAT NEVER CAME.

Mr. Peck's Sister and His Widow in a Row Over His Remains.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 18.—J. C. Peck, a retired furniture dealer in this city, died in Litchfield on last Wednesday, but his body has not yet been buried and will not until a dispute between relatives as to where it shall be buried is settled by the court.

He separated from his wife about a year ago, and then went to live at Litchfield, with his sister, a Mrs. Randall, where he died. Mrs. Randall says that he told her before his death that he wished to be buried in Litchfield. His wife, however, who still lives in this city, wants him buried here.

She had employed an undertaker to care for the body, which she expected here on Friday, but it did not come. Mr. Peck's widow has asked for a mandamus to compel Mrs. Randall to give up possession of the body in Litchfield and allow it to be brought here. The deceased left an estate, the bulk of which he willed to his sister. This will probably be contested by his widow.

THREW KISSES AT THE ACTRESS.

Rutgers Students Disturb a Theatrical Performance.

NEW BRUNSWICK, Jan. 18.—During the performance of Fred Williams' company in "Mora" in the Opera house last night the audience was disturbed by a lot of Rutgers students, who gazed at the actors. Their conduct was resented by the audience. The students were hissed and hooted, and the result was a general uproar. It broke out several times.

The trouble, it is said, was started by the students making insulting remarks and throwing kisses to Miss Mora on the stage. This interfered with the performance and she ordered the curtain down. When it was raised kisses were thrown at the actress again. Miss Mora walked to the footlights and in ladylike but scornful manner, she did not heed her, but continued the disturbance, whereupon Officer Kelly appeared. He "collared" and shook a few of the ring-leaders. Then the others shut up and the performance went on quietly.

THEY START THEIR WORK.

DeBoucherville's Commission Commence to Examine Witnesses at Quebec.

THE STATIONERY SCANDAL.

Quite a Host of Witnesses Sworn and Questioned for a Start Off—The Lawyers Who Are Doing the Work for the Government—Mr. Webb, Manager of the Union Bank, Once More on the Stand.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

QUEBEC, Jan. 18.—The Royal Commission appointed by the DeBoucherville Government to investigate the letters of credit issued by the ex-Mercier Government, opened for business to-day. Hon. Judge Mathieu, D. Macmistr and D. Masson presided. Messrs. J. N. Belleau, Q.C., and Gustave Stuart, Q.C., conducted the enquiry for the Government.

Mr. Gustave Grenier was the first witness examined. He deposed that no order-in-council was passed sanctioning the letters of credit between the Government and Mr. Langlais.

Mr. Gustave Grenier was the first witness examined. He deposed that no order-in-council was passed sanctioning the letters of credit between the Government and Mr. Langlais.

Mr. Marceau, of La Caisse d'Economie, gave evidence in connection with the letters of credit in question that were cashed by that monetary institution. The facts of which have already been published, and the evidence of the witnesses went to strengthen the act of the legitimacy of the transaction.

Mr. Mallou, clerk in the Provincial Public Works Department, was the next witness and deposed that the department was connected with obtained stationery from Mr. Langlais' store to the amount of $710.

Mr. Simpson, of the Legislative Assembly, deposed as to the amounts for stationery expended by the Assembly from the month of January, 1891.

Mr. Demers, in charge of the Legislative Assembly stationery department, was examined as to the quality of stationery that he received from Mr. Langlais from Feb. 23, 1891.

Mr. Lafrance, cashier of the National Bank, related transactions with his bank and the Caisse d'Economie, and among the number several in favor of Mr. Langlais.

Mr. Campeau, another Government official, accountant of contingencies, was called upon to give a detailed account of all the monies that he had paid out of the contingent fund for the different departments as since the month of January, 1891, amounting in all to $11,797.70, for stationery paid to Mr. Langlais and others.

Mr. Lepage, accountant for the Crown Lands Department, deposed that the amount of $281.60 was paid for stationery by the department he was employed in.

Mr. Webb, cashier of the Union Bank, was the next witness, and he was questioned about everything in relation to the bank and transactions in connection with Mr. Pacaud and Mr. J. A. Langlais.

Mr. Webb said that he had paid a check of the Caisse d'Economie amounting to $24,500 on Feb. 24 last. He has a check for the amount of $56,772.33, $24,500 of which were placed to the credit of Mr. E. Pacaud. Witness could not say whether Mr. Pacaud had disposed of that sum, as he withdrew all his checks at the time of the Baie des Chaleurs affair. Twenty-five thousand dollars of the Langlais contract were placed at the credit of Mr. Mercier at the Montreal branch office on the eve of the general Federal elections. He is positive that the sum was paid, as the books show it.

On Saturday morning the coroner held an inquest at St. Henri de Laron upon the body of Miss Henriette Couture, 62 years of age, who died suddenly from heart disease.

The interior of the Anglican Cathedral has been draped in black cloth, and there will be a funeral service for the late Duke of Clarence on Wednesday, the date fixed for his interment.

Hon. W. Laurier spoke at the meeting of the Quebec East electors last night. The hall was crowded to its utmost capacity with a sympathetic crowd. He spoke of the action of Lient-Governor Angers in dismissing Mr. Mercier's Government. The Liberal chief was as usual well received. Mr. Mercier also spoke and received an ovation. Several other politicians spoke on the subject.

SHE FROZE TO DEATH.

A Chicago Woman Found Nude on the Lake Shore.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Henry Garry, while on the lake shore, at the foot of Ohio-street, this morning, found the nude body of a woman frozen and lying on the clothes that had covered her in life. The body was not in the water, and the evidence indicated that the woman had walked to the lake shore some time last night, deliberately stripped and frozen to death.

From marks on the clothing the body is supposed to be that of Mrs. Mary Simpson. The only mark of violence was a discolored eye. Mrs. Simpson was a young woman, and formerly lived on Elizabeth-street. She was suffering from paresis.

Simcoe Merchants Burnt Out.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

SIMCOE, Ont., Jan. 18.—Late last night fire broke out in the brick store owned by O. H. Fall, and occupied in the lower flat by J. C. Watson, grocer, and in the upper by Dr. Fitton, dentist. Mr. Watson's goods are a total loss; insured in the British American for $2300. Dr. Fitton's office is also a total loss; insurance light. The building was entirely burned inside, but the walls are not much injured. Insured in the Norwich Union for $4000. Henry's stock of dry goods was badly damaged by water; fully insured in the British American and Norwich Union.

TERRORIZED THE PASSENGERS.

Albany Roughs Fight Desperately on a New York Central Train.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Jan. 18.—Three intoxicated workmen, William Beardon, Albert Burnessen and John Van Norris, got on board a New York Central train at Albany this evening and threw the passengers into a panic by having several desperate fights before the train reached here.

They took possession of the buffet car and at once became very boisterous. Chief Detective Humphrey tried to quiet them and came near being thrown off the train by Burnessen, who attacked him with a chair. Humphrey clubbed the man into submission with his revolver.

Burnessen and Beardon soon began fighting with knives, and when Humphrey again entered the car Beardon attacked him. With the help of others Beardon was disarmed, tied with a belt and put in the baggage-car. Humphrey had hardly rejoined his wife in another car when the conductor and several passengers came running in exclaiming "Beardon has a knife and is coming to kill you."

Beardon had cut himself loose and driven eight or ten men out of the baggage-car. Chief Humphrey hurried to the front of the coach and saw Beardon coming running through the car next forward with coat and vest off, with blood streaming from his face and a large knife in his hand.

The conductor shut the car door and held it. Humphrey pulled out his revolver, opened the car door and seized Beardon and took his knife away from him. Detective Fuller and the conductor assisted.

Humphrey dragged his man back into the baggage car, retied him with the belt and stayed with him until the train reached Poughkeepsie, when all three of the men were locked up.

From the Queen City.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

TORONTO, Jan. 18.—George Theodore Berthon, aged 86, the oldest of Canadian painters, died to-day of bronchial trouble. He had painted all the gubernatorial portraits to be found in the Government House here and all but two of the judges' portraits hanging in Osgoode Hall.

Premier Greenway is expected here immediately to begin a lecturing tour through Ontario describing life in and prospects of Manitoba. Immigration work in Ontario is being vigorously pushed by Manitoba government and agents that have lately been sent out report that there is every prospect of heavy emigration to the Northwest next spring.

W. H. Scott, travelling emigration agent of the Manitoba Government, returned to Toronto. Mr. Scott says that agents throughout Ontario are making good progress. Already a number of farmers in Lindsay and Belleville districts are preparing to emigrate and also a large number from Muskoka. The first of the C. P. R. excursion to Manitoba will leave Toronto on the 8th and be continued every week through March and April.

Rev. F. Pirritte, ex-president of the Toronto Methodist conference, is not expected to live through the night.

Mary McFee, a widow aged 42, was found dead in her room at 159 York-street. A doctor was called in and pronounced death to have occurred from suffocation. Deceased had been drinking heavily and had fallen off the bed on a skin rug on the floor and being unable to move had been suffocated before assistance came.

The inaugural meeting of the newly elected mayor and council took place this morning and the attendance was probably the biggest in the history of the city. Mayor Fleming abolished the traditional custom of appearing in old court dress and silk hat, and was simply attired in a broadcloth suit. He delivered an inaugural address of rather less than half an hour in length, outlining the policy he proposed pursuing, paying particular attention to the local improvement question where he intimated his expectation of effecting important economical reforms. The council then elected delegates to the various railways, etc. Alderman Saunders represents the city on the Northern Railway board, Ald. Bailey on the Toronto Grey & Bruce board; Ald. Maloney on Credit Valley and the Ontario and Quebec, and Ald. Graham and McMurrich were elected delegates to the Harbor Trust. Judge McDougall and ex-Ald. Miles Vokes were nominated for the free library board delegates, and on a vote Mr. Vokes was elected.

MARTIME PROVINCE NOTES.

Observances at Halifax out of Respect to the Late Duke—Ministerial Patients.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

HALIFAX, Jan. 18.—A memorial service for the Duke of Clarence will be held in the Garrison chapel at 11 o'clock on Wednesday morning. On Wednesday afternoon, while the Prince's funeral is in progress, minute guns will be fired from the Citadel, commencing at 4 and lasting till 5 o'clock.

Carl Richardson, a Swede, was lost overboard from the schooner Viola on Dec. 31, on the voyage from Demerara to Halifax. He fell into the waves from the jibboom and sank before a boat could reach him in the heavy sea running.

Hon. C. H. Tupper is still confined to the house, but is improving. Sir John Thompson is still at the Halifax Hotel.

The Blade Broke in His Heart.

PITTSBURGH, M. S., Jan. 18.—Louis Lussier, who was stabbed at Lenoxdale Friday night by Charles Edwards, colored, died this morning. He lived over 50 hours after the small blade of a knife had pierced his heart.

Lussier is white, and was attending a dance given Friday night by colored people. He and Edwards danced till midnight, and then had a sparring match. They quarrelled, and Edwards, drawing a pocket knife, plunged it into Lussier's heart. Edwards was arrested and will be arraigned at the District Court Monday.

Medical Examiner Holcomb found today the blade of the knife in the heart. Edwards is held for murder and the police say that after the sparring match Edwards left the hall and returned with an open knife up his sleeve. Lussier bore a good reputation, and worked as a blacksmith for O'Brien, of Lenoxdale.

HOLDING THE COLORED VOTE.

Funny Tactics of the Liberals at London to Prevent the Dusky Gentry

GETTING IN BAD COMPANY.

The Night Before the Election a Meeting Was Kept Up All Night, so that the Colored Voters Would Not Fall into the Hands of the Tory Healers and thus become Incapacitated From Voting.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The Hyman protested election trial was re-commenced before Justices Ferguson and Robinson at 1.25 this afternoon. On Mr. Osler asking permission to make an amendment to charge 234, so that a case of bribery of one Wm. Evans might be included, a lengthy argument resulted, which ended in their lordships reserving decision. The only charges gone into this afternoon related to the alleged corrupt practices resorted to for the purpose of controlling the colored vote, in which pigs' feet and lager is said to have played a prominent part.

Isaac Horace Duncan, colored, had a bad memory for dates, but as the refreshments served at the various meetings appears to have been somewhat varied he made himself clear by that means as to the specific meetings at which certain transactions took place. At one of the meetings a subscription list for the band was handed round, and T. S. Hobbs subscribed $5, but Mr. Hyman declined to put his name down. There were several other subscriptions obtained and Mr. Osler asked that the subscription list be produced, but Mr. Blake objected and was sustained by their lordships.

J. S. Hobbs, wholesale hardware merchant, said he went to the colored church occasionally, and in reply to Mr. Osler said there were more politics than piety in his attendance. He had attended some of the practice meetings of the colored band, but no refreshments were served while he was there.

On being questioned as to his presence in the vicinity of Port Stanley bridge at 2 o'clock on the morning of the election, he said that there were nearly 100 men in that ward watching the "Tory heilers."

Justice Ferguson was somewhat puzzled by this phrase and asked Mr. Osler for a definition, but that gentleman declared he was unable to translate it and appealed to Mr. Hobbs, who said a heiler was a man out late attempting to bribe or use other corrupt practices. They had chased a cab that morning and discovered a certain custom house officer in hiding under the robes and in his opinion the watching was necessary. At the celebrated Waterloo-street school house meeting, otherwise known as "Pigs' Feet," Mr. Hyman told a bear story but the only speech was made by himself, Hobbs. During the time Mr. Hyman was there refreshments were served. He called again about 2:30 in the morning and found the meeting still in progress, but this was for the purpose of preventing the colored voters from falling into the hands of the Tory heilers, whose special speeches in the Primitive Methodist church, a few blocks away, would probably have resulted in incapacitating the colored voters from

HOCKEY AT THE CRYSTAL.

Another Match Last Night in the Insurance League—Guarantee Team Victorious.

TO-NIGHT'S GLOVE CONTEST.

Jimmy Hurst and Billy Frazier Both Good Men—M.A.A.A. Men to Go Up to Ottawa—A Trotting Meet at the Driving Park—Emerald Snowshoe Club Trump—St. George's this Evening.

A very hard fought hockey match took place in the Crystal Rink last night between the Guarantee and North British Mercantile Insurance Companies, which resulted in a victory for the former by 2 goals to 0. Routh, Dobbin and Tatley did the work for the Guarantee and Barry, Routh and Fairbairn for the British. A large crowd assembled to witness the game, which was well played throughout. The following were the teams and positions:

North British & Mercantile	Guarantee.
Drysdale.....Goal.....Amos	Barry.....Goal.....Kennedy
Routh.....Forward.....Dobbin	C. Routh.....Forward.....Tatley
Fairbairn.....Forward.....Rankin	Barry.....Forward.....Tatley

GOING TO OTTAWA.

The M.A.A.A. Hockey Team intend going to Ottawa on Friday to play the Ottawa team for the championship and try to win back their lost laurels. Quebec will be the next to try for the championship.

SNOWSHOEING.

A Good Turn Out of the Emerald Snowshoe Club.

The Emerald Snowshoe Club held their usual weekly tramp last night, 41 members turning out as there was first-class snowshoeing. On arrival at Cat-dal's Hotel, Notre Dame de Grace, the usual good time was spent. Songs were sung by Messrs. O'Neill, Jones, Kearns, Booth, Cawthorne and Grant. Mr. Egan danced an Irish jig in good style. Mr. McGee, the president of the Lachine Snowshoe Club, was introduced, and banded in the good old Emerald style. The annual green and open club steeple-chase will take place next Monday night.

ST. GEORGE.

The St. George Snowshoe Club's regular weekly tramp takes place to-night. The Holly club will also go to the Athletic Club House.

QUOITS.

Annual Meeting of the Montreal Quoiting Club, Election of Officers, Etc.

The sixth annual meeting of the Montreal Quoiting Club will be held on Thursday evening next, at 7.30, in the club room, Craig-street, for the reception of reports and election of officers for the current year. A full attendance of members is particularly requested.

BASEBALL.

Captain Anson Signs Michigan—Silver Flint's Funeral.

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—Anson to-day signed Harry L. Pipp, of Kankaska, Mich., the second baseman he has along referred to as "Michigan." Silver Flint's body was forwarded to St. Louis to-day. Billy Sunday conducted the funeral services at Flint's house here.

ROWING.

Fred Hawkins, the Oarsman, is Reinstated by the N.A.A.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Fred Hawkins the well-known oarsman of the Manhattan Athletic Club, was tried last night by the National Association of Amateur Oarsmen at the Gilsey House for professionalism and failing to row his best in races.

Those of the Executive Committee present were H. W. Garfield, Albany; H.K. Hinchman, Philadelphia; M. A. Mullin, Newark; Charles Catlin, Chicago; G. D. Phillips, New York; J. F. Hunker, Philadelphia; F. D. Stahl and R. H. Pelton, Brooklyn. Hawkins was accompanied by George W. Carr and Fred Fortmeyer, of the Manhattan A. C.

The evidence against Hawkins was in the shape of several letters from persons in Saratoga, his home. One writer stated that he had seen drafts and checks in Hawkins' possession from the Manhattan A. C. Another wrote that Hawkins had said he received a regular sum from the club in New York. A boat-builder of Troy sent a letter to the effect that Hawkins had asked him to use his influence in getting the Triton Boat Club, of Newark, to give him a membership which would be without dues.

Hawkins then made a denial of all the charges. President Carr, of the Manhattan A. C., then examined him closely, as did the members of the committee. Several letters from prominent officials and persons of Saratoga Springs were read, and all spoke in the highest terms of Hawkins.

A vote was taken and Hawkins was reinstated.

THE KING.

Great Interest in the McManus-Wango Fight in Norfolk.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The following special was received at The Police Gazette office yesterday from Norfolk, Va.: The coming fight between Tom McManus, of New York, and Wango, the half breed, who are to fight in two weeks for $1000 and a purse, near this city, is creating considerable interest. Wango has won several battles in the ring and Mike Haley, Tommy Warren's backer, and other sporting men here are betting on the Indian. The men are to fight at catch weights, according to Police Gazette rules, with two ounce gloves. McManus' friends are confident he will win, but the sporting men of Alexandria, Washington and this place are putting up their money on Wango.

To-night's Eight Round Contest.

The eight round glove contest between Jimmy Hurst, formerly of Montreal, and Billy Frazier, the ex-preacher, of Boston, will take place to-night in the Armory

Hall, Cathart-street, and judging from the talk and great interest manifested in the event throughout the city an immense crowd will be in attendance. Hurst's ability, as previously stated in this paper, is well-known, but his opponent has a fine record and is prepared to meet any man in the world at 128 pounds. The contest to-night is for points, and those who are desirous of seeing scientific sparring should not miss this treat.

Maher After the Big Ones.

A fight between a couple of good men of the largest size will be arranged in a day or two, if the indications of yesterday go for anything. Billy Madden and Pete Maher, the Irish champion, were down town challenging all the best known men and they had money to back their offer. Madden was especially warm in the way he described the situation.

"Peter Maher is the only man of the whole lot," he said, "who will fight. The rest are what Peter calls 'pantomime' boxers. Here is a proposition that ought to convince the public that we mean business: Within 24 hours after acceptance, I will place $5000 in the hands of any responsible party, to fight Corbett, Jackson, Mitchell, Fitzsimmons, Hall or Slavin, before any club that will give a purse. Mind you, I don't say the biggest purse, a term that is often used in issuing a challenge; my man will fight anybody before any club that both sides can agree upon. If Corbett won't fight in the California club there are two other clubs in San Francisco and two in New Orleans, any one of which is quite acceptable to us.

"Is it not true," continued Madden to a party of a dozen men who were listening, "that Maher is the only one among the so-called champions who has been ready for a week to fight any of them?" The party assented. "You can bet it," Madden went on, and now I intend to make him the champion in fact."

"How?" was the unanimous inquiry. "I'll tell you. I shall challenge John L. Sullivan, and put up my $5,000. If Sullivan accepts, all right. If Maher is beaten, John L. will still be the champion, as he has been ever since he won the title. I have a belief, however, that Sullivan will accept this offer, but if he declines, Maher will meet the first man who replies favorably to this challenge, and, as I said before, my $5,000 will be deposited within twenty-four hours. It makes no difference who accepts. Let him be 'on top' or underneath. If he has the money Maher will fight him. They say that Maher wants a reputation; he'll give them one, or make all these talkers crawl."

During the afternoon a reporter made Madden and Capt. Williams of the Olympic Club of New Orleans acquainted with each other, and to the Captain Madden repeated his offer.

"You know, Mr. Madden," said Capt. Williams, "that Maher is not quite as well known as he should be to rank with the best men. No club would offer him as big money as those you have named, because he has not earned their reputations. Why would it not do to put him against Joe Chynski, who is held very highly among California judges? If he beats Chynski he would have a better chance for a match with some of the others."

"For my part," Madden replied, "I would match him with Chynski in no time, provided there was large enough money to win, but I am tied down. Tony Sage of Dublin, who sent Maher to me, has instructed me, without qualification, to match him against unbeaten men only. I have no discretion in the matter."

"Suppose," said Capt. Williams, in his slow, deliberate way, "that I should cable to Tony Sage asking permission to match Maher against Chynski before the Olympic Club for a $10,000 purse?" "If Sage says yes to that," returned Madden, with more excitement than he usually displays, "it will suit to a dot."

A message was sent to Sage, and a reply is due to-day. Chynski is a great fighter. His weight, which is about 175 pounds, has always been against him in making and carrying matches with the 190 to 220 pound men who are at the top. He gave Joe Goddard, the champion of the Barrier, who weighed 220 pounds, two terrific four-round fights, though he was beaten in both. The Australian papers all agree that Goddard's weight alone beat Chynski. Maher will be at his level in weight, and if the Irish champion wins, he will be fully entitled to a match with anybody, for Goddard is held to be in Australia far and away above any champion that that country has produced.

Maher will undertake to-night to stop Joe Godfrey, of Port Richmond, at the Ariel Club in Philadelphia. Godfrey is a 210 pound man, who gave Jake Kilrain a fast three rounds three years ago. Kilrain won, but Godfrey knocked him down during the bout. Godfrey is of the giant build, but Maher told a reporter yesterday that he might be "as big as the Metropolitan Hotel, and yet not able to stand a stiff punch."

Gilmore and Collins.

Next Thursday night is the date fixed for Jack Collins' eight-round "go" with Harry Gilmore at the Detroit opera house. It ought to be the best sparring exhibition seen in Detroit for over a year. Both men are about the same weight, and are scientific sparrers. Gilmore has been training at Chicago, and will arrive in Detroit Wednesday. He is said to be in the pink of condition; and, as for Collins, his work as trainer at the Detroit athletic club keeps him always in condition. Jack's friends are confident that he will have no difficulty in making the best showing, but it should not be forgotten that Gilmore is very skillful with his dukes. Ed. H. Gillman will be master of ceremonies at the exhibition and Fred Striker referee. The sale of tickets opens at the theatre to-morrow.

Corbett a Sick Man.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—An intimate friend of Jim Corbett in Philadelphia writes to a New York sporting man that Jim Corbett is a sick man. "He contracted malaria some months ago," says the writer, "and he appears to be worse now than he was when he first came ashore. It is doubtful if he will engage in any contests this year."

Tony Sage Has Not Answered.

Tony Sage, of Dublin, the friend and backer of Peter Maher, did not answer Editor Lamley's cablegram yesterday.

The $10,000 purse offered by the Olympic Club for Maher and Chynski is still open. It is expected that Maher's backer will offer no objections to the match.

Had No Finger in the Pie.

The pugilistic writer of The World says: In my judgment Joe Early had something to do with Fitzsimmons' sudden change of mind in connection with Maher. After positively declaring that he would fight the Irishman or Corbett, Fitz announces that he will not try Maher under any circumstances, but he doesn't bar Corbett. Early is training Tom Callaghan at Fitzsimmons' place, in Bay St. Louis, and it is altogether likely that he "tipped off" Peter's hand to the Australian. If he did he spoiled what would have been a very interesting battle. Fitz must hold Maher a better man than Corbett. He would have to give away nearly forty pounds to the latter and only half that weight to Maher.

MISCELLANEOUS.

How the Religious Editor Judged the Face of a Fugitive.

The World says: A good story is told of the religious editor of a morning newspaper in connection with the Slavin party. The Australian, Mitchell and Fred Gallagher, correspondent of the London Sporting Life, were at the newspaper office in question talking about the proposed match between Slavin and Sullivan. A crowd of well-dressed sports were listening to what was going on. Gallagher sat in the sporting editor's chair, taking stenographic notes. He is a medium-sized man, a trifle on the sunny side of forty, with a dark beard liberally sprinkled with gray and trimmed on the Van Dyck order. He also has a glumpy leg, which interferes with rapid locomotion. The religious editor, pondering over some momentous theological proposition, walked along the passageway and was attracted by the crowd in the sporting editor's room.

"Which is Mitchell?" he asked. "Some one pointed to Gallagher. The religious editor studied the correspondent for a full minute. Then he heaved a sigh.

"That is the most brutal, ferocious countenance I have ever seen my misfortune to gaze upon," he remarked. "It is an ideal pugilist's face."

Gallagher did not indulge in any boisterous merriment when he heard of this comment.

ATHLETICS.

Wants Dempsey to Go.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Boxing Director Sterry, of the Manhattan Athletic Club, means to make the professional show to be held in the Cherry Diamond Gymnasium on Feb. 6 a notable one. Dominick McCaffrey made Jack Dempsey an offer to meet an "unknown" middle-weight last night. The terms did not suit Jack, but he named his figure and expects an answer to-morrow. Offers have been made to a number of other first-class professionals.

Heavy-Weight Lifting Contest. A heavy-weight lifting contest will take place in the Armory Hall on Thursday evening between the Montreal strong boy, Horace Barre, and O. Paquette, also of this city for $250 a side and the alleged championship of Canada.

WRESTLING.

John T. Hartnett the Man Who Wants to Meet Billy Quinn.

SPECIAL TO THE HERALD. NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—In regard to the proposed wrestling match between W.H. Quinn and John T. Hartnett for $500 a side and the collar and elbow championship of America, the following despatch was received at The Police Gazette office yesterday from Boston, Mass.

I have forwarded $50 to The Police Gazette and accepted the challenge of W. H. Quinn, of Montreal, to wrestle for $500 a side, open for $1000, and the collar and elbow championship of America. If Quinn covers money and forwards articles match can be speedily arranged. J. T. HARTNETT.

SKATING.

The New St. Lawrence Rink Under Mr. Stenhouse.

Mr. James Stenhouse, proprietor of the late Prince of Wales Rink, has taken hold of the St. Lawrence Rink, St. Constant-street, as manager, and is making it a paying affair. A fancy dress carnival is to be held on Thursday evening, when a band will be in attendance, and it is hoped that the attendance will be large.

It Will Take Time.

An evening paper says: "Frank Dowd has donned the skates again and may be seen slipping around as of old. Active steps are going to be taken to have him reinstated as an amateur. There are a good many lovers of sport who would like to see him face Donahue, as it is thought he is about the only Canadian who could give him a hard nut for victory. It is also stated that Charlie Goddon is getting into condition with a view of meeting Donahue."

It will take considerable time as well as good working before Dowd will be reinstated.

TROTTLING.

Opening Meet of the Winter at the Montreal Driving Park.

Winter trotting will be started on Thursday next at the Montreal Driving Park, Point St. Charles. The track had been nicely flooded and the present fall of snow only tends to improve it. The management have arranged a three days' meet, the dates being Feb. 3, 4 and 5. For Thursday there are two events announced, viz.: a named race and 2.35 class. The February meet will be a big one, as $1,550 will be hung out in purses. The track is again under the management of Mr. Dan Donnelly.

Senator Stanford Already Regrets Selling Arion.

Senator Stanford already regrets that he sold Arion. In speaking about the colt he said: "Now that Arion has passed from my hands, I regret that I have parted with him, and if I had the matter to do over again I should decide differently. If ever a horse trots a mile in two minutes, which I have much doubt, with all due respect to Secretary Tracy, Arion will be that horse. When Marvin drove him in his 2-year-old form to his record of 2:10, he could have beaten his record two seconds without question, which is the time of Maud S and Palo Alto for a mile. While I am disconsolate over the sale of the colt, I am,

THE TURF.

Brighton Beach Association to Be Made a Stock Company.

The Spirit of the Times is authority for the statement that the Brighton Beach Racing Association is to be made a stock company and will race under the name of the Brighton Jockey Club.

The same authority states that the property will be capitalized at $500,000, and that it will be divided into 500 shares of $100 each, William A. Engeman to retain a controlling interest, with well-known turfmen as his associates. The intention is to construct a new stand on the east side of the property, and the track will be widened considerably. A new betting ring will be built, and the stables overhauled. Everything is to be in first-class modern style. Slaves with liberal added money are to close in April, and the over-night events will be a sweepstakes of $1,000 each, thus attracting the best class of horses in training.

Mr. William A. Engeman could not be found last night at his home in Brooklyn.

General Sporting Gossip.

Joe Goddard may come to America if he can first secure a match.

Captain Williams, of the New Orleans Olympic Club, had a fruitless trip to Chicago.

Tommy Danforth has challenged Johnny Lynch, and Ed. Avery wants to meet Johnny Griffin.

Billy Meyer is conferring with officers of the Chicago Athletic Association relative to being the club instructor.

The New York Herald gives currency to a report that Ormonde will be domiciled in America in 1893.

George Dixon should give Johnny Van Heest a chance. The latter's friends say Dixon is afraid. This is a laughable claim.

Frank Krieg, the "Harlem Coffee Cooler," who was recently defeated by Billy Dunn, of Bayonne, says he is prepared to arrange another match with the latter.

John Skelly, the clever featherweight boxer of the National Athletic Club, will join the professional ranks, and has accepted an offer to meet George Dixon before the California club.

A fist event will be the meeting of Andy Bowen, the champion lightweight of Louisiana, and Murphy, of Chicago, the latter part of this month in the lake front armory, Chicago.

Cal. McCarthy now weighs 125 pounds, speaking of Johnny Murphy's back down, McCarthy said that he could not understand why Murphy acted as he did, when it was Murphy who sought this fight.

A Kentucky jury has decided in C. W. Williams' favor in the suit for $25,000 damages, entered by Horseman Massei, injured by the falling of a platform at the Independence races.

James D'atin has declined to act as trainer at Palo Alto. He expected $200 a month, but was only offered $1200 a year. Orrin Hickok is now talked of for the place, but he'll accept no $100 a month.

Jockey William Fitzpatrick has brought suit against A. F. Walcott to recover $4000 for his services as a jockey for the Fairfax Stable, of unfortunate memory, in which Mr. Walcott was interested.

In speaking of Richard Howell's alleged record of 2:15, The Wheel, of London, says: "At present, the balance of opinion over here is that Richard did not ride one mile on a safety bicycle on the Coventry track, in September last, in 2:15."

When John L. Sullivan loses flesh he loses strength. He was far from being in full strength on that ill-fated day at Chantilly, because he was trained for a race, the fortune of war was against him, as well as the elements. He injured his right arm so that it became worthless.

The great Australian race horse and sire Chester, by Tattered, imp. Lady Chester, by Stockwell, died at Camden, N.S.W., recently. He was sold as a two-year old for $10,000, and was by far the greatest race horse of his day. He was one of the very few horses that won the double event of the V.R.C. Derby and Melbourne Cup, which he did in 1877. He was foaled in 1874 and sired many horses famous on the Australian turf.

HODGSON, SUMNER

"GWINE TO DE CIRCUS."

THEY WERE NOT WELL PREPARED,
BUT FOUND A FRIEND.

The Simple and Pathetic Tale of Daddy and Mammy—Their Sudden Grief and Their Equally Sudden and Overwhelming Joy—A Quick Transition.

At the top of a long hill I met an old colored man and his wife. Both were at least 60 years old, and were so out of breath that they had to sit down to rest.

"Well, uncle, going somewhere?" I asked.

"Yec, sah; gwine ober to Scottsville, sah," he replied.

"Why, Scottsville is twelve miles from here."

"Yes, sah, 'bout twelve miles."

"Camp-meeting over there?" I persisted, as I noticed that both were dressed in their Sunday best.

"No, sah—not 'zactly, sah. We's gwine ober dar to a circus."

"And where do you live?"

"On de cross-road, 'bout fo' miles from heah. Yes, sah—gwine ober to Scottsville to see de circus. Day say it's de powerfullest circus dat eber cum in dis stait."

"And your wife wants to see the circus, too, does she?"

"She do, sah. She neebber dun see no circus in all her bo'n days. All she eber seed was a camp meeting, an' dey don't hev no elephants at camp meetings, you know."

"Dars gwine to be 2,000 elephants at dis circus, besides all de lions an' tigers an' snakes. When de old woman sees dem elephants I'spect I'll hev to hold right on to her—Yah! yah! yah!"

"Spec you will, honey. Yah! yah! yah!" she replied.

"You've got de money to go in, have you?" I asked.

"Money? Go in? What you mean?" he replied.

"Why, a circus is held in a tent, and you'll have to pay to go in. I believe de seats for colored folks are two bits apiece."

"Hev to pay to go in? Hev to pay two bits apiece? Lawd bress yo', man, but don't deceive de old folks! Am dat a fact?"

"Why certainly. You didn't suppose you could go in for nothing, did you?"

"Dat's what Maj. Black's nigger Jim dun tole us. Lawd sabe us, but we hain't got only ten cents to buy ginger-bread wid!"

"An' we won't see dem elephants an' lions!" exclaimed the old woman in dire dismay.

"Reckon not. We's jest busted all to smash."

She began weeping and wringing her hands, and as she saw the picture of despair. Presently I asked:

"This is a great disappointment to you isn't it?"

"De powerfullest sort, sah," he answered, "I'd eanestmost radder de cabin had burned up."

"Oh! Lawd! how kin I eber git ober it!" she added as she looked to and fro.

"Well, I'll fix you. Here's four bits, that will take you into the circus, and I hope you'll have a good time."

"Oh! Lawd!" she gasped as she wiped her eyes.

It took them a full minute to realize the situation. Then he turned to her and said:

"Honey, didn't I dun tell you de Lawd would dun fix it somehow so dat we could see dem 2,000 elephants and de trick mewl. He's gone an' dun it afore we got half way dar!"

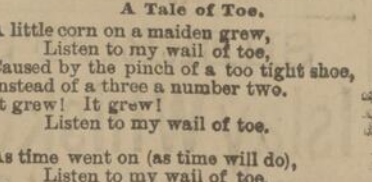

"Praise de Lawd for eber mo'!" she replied, as she raised her hands.

And so pleased and excited that they forgot to return thanks, they clasped each other's hands, took the middle of the road, and resumed their journey at a run.—Detroit Free Press.

A Slight Discrepancy.

This is the picture Mrs. Toplat saw in the advertisement of the Meteoric stove polish.

This is a picture of Mrs. Toplat in her first attempt to apply the polish according to directions.

A little corn on a maiden grew,
Listen to my wail of toe,
Caused by the pinch of a too tight shoe,
Instead of a three a number two.
It grew! It grew!
Listen to my wail of toe.

As time went on (as time will do),
Listen to my wail of toe,
The corn waxed red—the maiden blue,
Twas ten times worse than the grip (ketch-chew!)
Too true! Too true!
Listen to my wail of toe.

She had a seat in the end of a pew,
Listen to my wail of toe,
And a man with another seat in view
Put his cowhide boots on her kangaroo,
O, Whew! O, whew!
Listen to my wail of toe.

"Papa, why do we wish people a 'good appetite,' but not a 'good throat'?"

A FABLE.

The Woman and the Rat Which Preyed
Upon Her Weakness.

A Housewife whose cellar was infested by Rats baited a trap and finally managed to catch one, whose size and condition proved how often he had eaten her cake and cheese. Greatly rejoiced over the capture she was about to place the trap in a tub of water and drown him, when the Rat calmly inquired:

"Your name is Jones, isn't it?"

"Yes—Jones."

"The wife of Sam Jones, who hasn't sweat his collar for the last fifteen years?"

"Yes."

"And over there on the grocery steps are Pete Clay, Jim Watson, Silie White, and a dozen other chaps equally as lazy as Jones?"

"Yes; the usual crowd has got together over there to chew tobacco and talk horse," replied Mrs. Jones.

"Well, now," continued the Rat, "turn me loose into that lumber pile, and if you don't get more fun out of the antics of that crowd than would load a hayrack I'll agree to return and be drowned."

After due reflection Mrs. Jones decided to try the experiment. As the Rat ran for shelter he was observed by all, and a minute later, headed by Jones, the crowd was digging for the Rodent. For two long hours, under a broiling summer sun, fourteen men tossed that lumber around in hopes to come upon the Rat, and when the search was finally abandoned Jones had got up steam enough to bring out three boils which had lain dormant in his system for the last ten years, while at least half of the others had to go home and wash their necks and get into clean shirts.

MORAL.—"You see," said the rat to Mrs. Jones as he met her down-cellar next day, "dead opportunities are simply a source of regret, while live issues, if properly grasped, lead up to success."

What a Chance!
A clever teacher who has the power of calling out originality in her pupils says that she should certainly have no time for the use of text-books if she attempted to answer all the startling questions asked her in the class. One day the attraction of gravitation was under discussion, and Charley Beale volunteered the opinion that he "didn't see any need of it, anyway."

"It seems to me," said Charley, "there's no particular use in having the earth attract things. Now, when the apple fell and made Newton think out the reason why, that apple might just as well have stayed where it was till somebody gathered it."

"You play ball, don't you?" asked the teacher.

"Yes'm."

"Suppose you hit the ball very high, what happens?"

"It falls."

"But if there were no attraction toward the earth it wouldn't fall. Don't you think that might prove inconvenient?"

Charley did not answer immediately. His eyes were bright with the light of a new idea.

"My!" he broke forth involuntarily. "What a chance for a home run."

TUESDAY MORNING JAN 19

THE REMISSION OF TIMBER DUES.

The peculiar circumstances of the times seem to have brought out a little army of scandal hunters who, without regard to the essential element of truth, have adopted a policy of mud-slinging. Every payment by Government, even to the quarterly salaries of its officials, is at once assumed to be of a questionable nature. Every remission granted to creditors of the Government, no matter how legal or customary, is raked up as another specimen of venality. One of the latest stories current is that the Liberal Government of Quebec, taking a lesson out of Sir John Macdonald's book, had been bleeding the lumber manufacturers and occupiers of crown lands for election corruption funds. Sir John's version was, that the "hands that shook down the acorns" were worthy of their hire, and it is alleged of the Quebec Ministry that they also acted on the same principle. The scandal mongers version of the affair is that the parties interested in Crown Lands had been liberal subscribers to a secret fund, on the understanding that they should be recompensed their outlay by remission of fees and other underhand ways. Now it is well known that by introducing business methods into the Crown Lands Department in place of the old "Happy-go-lucky" system prevailing under the Tory regime, the Mercier Government very largely augmented the receipts from that source. In increasing the fees for lumbering operations, there was necessarily a certain amount of experiment involved, and in practice it was found that certain remissions or rebates, had to be allowed to prevent injury to this important source of revenue. The remissions are of three classes. The first was by special order and was based on the demands of the lumbermen that small logs, under 12 inches, of red pine should not be charged at the same rate as the larger logs. The lumbermen complained that the fees were 40 per cent in excess of what they were under the previous Government and that under the previous Government small logs were put in as cordwood. The Mercier Government considered the complaint a fair one, and agreed that all small logs of 11 inches and under of red pine should go in at the price of spruce. Then there was a remission to encourage the removal of burnt timber, the object being to keep under the boring worms that get into burnt standing trees, and to effect this purpose Government reduced the fees from $1.30 per thousand feet to 65c. There was also a special remission of $15,000 allowed by Government to Messrs. Gilmour & Co. as compensation for the amount paid to Father Paradis in his suit against them. Then there were remissions for shortages. Lumbermen found that the amounts figured in logs by cutters did not pan out in board measure in the yards, and this being the fact the Government could not do otherwise than make a remission of fees for the difference. Some of the lumbermen pay as much as $4,000 a year, and their remissions in the four years would not amount to much over $8000. In all this there is nothing to impeach the integrity of the Government officials. The remissions made were on a regulated scale, in accordance with a well defined policy, and on the total dues of $2,800,000 for the last four years have amounted to less than 3 per cent. This is a wonderfully favorable showing if compared with the wholesale timber steals that had the sanction of the Tory Government at Ottawa. Throw mud enough and some of it will stick is a favorite Tory policy. They may not be able to delude the more intelligent portion of the voters, but hope to create a bad impression in other quarters. Any way these scandal mongers may be depended on to work their unholy trade with the greatest zeal, if only to divert public attention from the rottenness and corruption unearthed during the last few sessions at Ottawa.

THE PROJECTORS AND SUPPORTERS of the Chignecto ship railway are making determined efforts to obtain Government assistance. They have reached the end of their own funds and in the manner that has been unhappily so common, they now want public money to be thrown away upon their preposterous scheme. Their agreement was to receive an annual subsidy from government on the successful working of their undertaking, but they now want that subsidy changed into an immediate advance for construction. The commonsense, business answer would be, complete your part of the bargain and we will not go back from our pledged word. Why government should be expected to step in to avert loss to certain sanguine projectors there is no argument to show. The policy of granting public money to every rash and ill conceived scheme that can command a few votes among its supporters has already been carried to too great lengths, and in the present state of the public exchequer and the declining condition of trade it is quite time to call halt.

MISDIRECTED SYMPATHY.

The fact of the teller of the Bank of Ottawa being placed under arrest on a charge of defrauding the bank of about $7000 is being taken advantage of to engineer another crusade against stock brokers. There is a certain class of persons who from superabundance of emotional faculties or misdirected sensibility are ever ready to pet and champion a criminal. In their diseased minds the murderer is to be pitied and petted, while they are not chary of spiteful and wicked suggestions against the name the honesty or the modesty of the poor victim. The forger, the embezzler, the brutal assailant of innocence all find sympathy from this class of people. Their idea of making the punishment fit the crime is peculiar. The criminal they seem to argue was always led out of the straight path by some overpowering temptation. Let us find the temptor, and punish him, they argue, while they feed the poor criminal with the fat of the land and whine over him, and pray over him, and gush about him till he is elevated to the rank of a hero in their eyes and sometimes is persuaded to half believe in the hypocrisy himself. If a man maddens himself with strong drink their only remedy is to prevent the sober law abiding portion of the community from enjoying a glass of beer. The thief need feel under no necessity to alter his mode of life or repent his dishonesty, the simpler way is to remove out of sight all objects that may tempt his cupidity. Such is their flabby idea of manhood that they talk of their Ottawa young man, well paid and enjoying the confidence of his employers, as if his dishonesty was occasioned by circumstances over which he had no control. If he had been mobbed by a gang of brokers and stripped of his employer's money by force, they could scarcely talk in a more commiserative manner. How can he be best reformed on society at large for his lapse from honesty is the problem that at once commences to work out. The simplest way would seem to be to abolish all banks, and thus remove from him, and thousands of other young men like him, all temptation to peculation. This reform however is a little too drastic to be accepted, so they are willing to compound by proposing an increased stringency of the law against what they call bucket-shops. For the present they are willing to exempt certain brokers, perhaps they have an eye on the support of some of their associates, but what will be their next cry who shall say? Great is the power of humbug, and there are those who know how to realize a good income by pandering to it. If the young man's speculations had been more fortunate he would probably be welcomed as quite an addition to the number of the "unco' guid."

IN OUR CORRESPONDENCE COLUMN to-day a letter signed "An Unwilling Settler" gives our readers a terse and trenchant specimen of the dissatisfied feeling prevailing among our people over the absurd perpetuation of discriminatory duties, especially towards Great Britain. Canadian professions of loyalty stop short of practice, and if our people could only see it, the result is to the actual detriment of the Dominion, for how can our constant efforts to increase the population end in anything but failure, while we selfishly increase the cost of our living by high tariffs? On the other side of the Atlantic our policy of protection is keenly watched, and if we are to have active immigration it will need to be greatly moderated. As a beginning, in the best interests of our country, we recommend, first, the recall of Sir Charles Tupper, who is manifestly unfit to represent us, seeing that he has investments that have to be bolstered up by heavy duties.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

JERUSALEM THE HOLY CITY, ITS HISTORY AND HOPES.—By Mrs. Oliphant, authoress of the "Makers of Venice" and the "Makers of Rome."
 Profusely illustrated from drawings by Hamilton Aide, and photographs by F. M. Good. The work is not a record of Eastern travel or experiences in the Holy Land, but having visited the Holy City, the gifted authoress has issued what might be called a history of the city from its inception by the great Israelitish King David down to the time of Christ and its final destruction and end of the Jewish dispensation. The story is well and graphically told. The writings of the Biblical prophets and seers are collected and put into a more continuous story. The book is divided into four parts: Jerusalem under the House of David, the prophets and captivity, the return and restoration and the final tragedy. The story of Jerusalem is one of the most wonderful in the world; no other city has ever had such a history or one of more importance to the human race, and to all Biblical students Mrs. Oliphant's work will be found extremely interesting. Macmillan & Co., New York and London, publishers; William Drysdale & Co., St. James-street, Montreal.

LOVE OR MONEY.—By Katherine Lee (Mrs. Henry Farmer).
 The plot of this story is laid in England, in Cornwall, the principal character being the daughter of a Cornish parson who marries for position and money. She is depicted as very heartless, in fact so much so that one can hardly comprehend any one being so very callous and indifferent. Appleton & Co., publishers, New York.

The Fraser Institute Catalogue.
 If the mayor of Montreal were to ask to be introduced to the man, presumably educated, the least fitted to undertake the work of compiling a catalogue for a city library, we should be much tempted to apply at the Fraser

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is Dr. Samuel Pitcher's prescription for Infants and Children. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrops, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."
 Dr. G. C. Osgood,
 Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
 Dr. J. F. Kinzel,
 Conway, Ar.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
 H. A. Archer, M. D.,
 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular Castoria, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria are won us to look with favor upon it."

HISTORIC ENGLISH PAPERS

THEIR RECORDS AND FORTUNES AND HOW THEY WERE MADE.

The Oldest Surviving English Paper is The London Gazette—Politics of the Great Organs of To-day.

Occasionally news pamphlets were published in different parts of Europe at intervals after the invention of printing. But it was not until a century and a half after the discovery of the art that the earliest periodical collection of the "news of the day" appeared at Frankfurt-on-Main under the title of Frankfurt Journal, a weekly publication started by Egenolph Emmel in 1615. In less than a year later Antwerp had followed suit with The Nieuw Tydinghen. Six years later Nathaniel Butcher had started The Weekly News in London, and 1631 witnessed the birth at Paris of a journal which eventually attained fame as the Gazette de France. In the same year Stockholm founded The Post (och Inrikes) Tidende, which is still in existence. St. Petersburg had no local paper until 1702, when the Wildomosti appeared there, and two years later our own Boston, Mass., became the mother of the News-Letter, which lived until the loss of Boston by the British. The first Italian journal was the Diario di Roma, founded in 1716 and destined to live only 90 years, while the Gaceta de Madrid brought Spain into journalistic recognition in 1728, and was not discontinued until about 1850.

The oldest surviving English journal appeared Nov. 14, 1665, as the Oxford Gazette, but with its twenty-fourth number it was removed from Oxford and became The London Gazette. It has appeared twice a week in a continuous series for 225 years, but as it has always been controlled by the Government and has been a public statement of the Government's despatches, it should be considered a chronicle of contemporary history rather than a newspaper in the strict sense of the word.

The Public Advertiser was first published in 1726 under the title of The London Daily Post and General Advertiser. The first part of the title was dropped in 1728 and in 1752 the General Advertiser was altered to Public Advertiser, which the letters of "Junius" have made the most famous of all the old London journals. These letters doubled the circulation of the paper, but the fortunes of The Advertiser declined almost as rapidly as they had risen. It continued to appear until 1798 and then seems to have been amalgamated with the commercial paper called The Public Ledger, which still exists as a London daily journal.

The Morning Chronicle was begun in 1769, William Woodfall being for some years printer, reporter and editor, and he continued to conduct the paper until 1786. After passing through many hands and having many names, it was finally purchased in 1849 by the Duke of Newcastle, Mr. Gladstone and some of their political friends. Their management kept it alive for some years, but its affairs were finally wound up in the Bankruptcy Court of London, after an existence of 90 years.

The Morning Post dates from 1772. In 1795 the value of the property was much depreciated and the entire copyright, with the house and printing materials, was sold for £200 to Peter and Daniel Stuart, who quickly raised its position by enlisting Mackintosh and Coleridge in its service and by giving unremitting attention to advertisement and to the copious supply of incidental news and amusing paragraphs. The list of Coleridge's fellow workers on The Post is a brilliant and varied one. Besides Mackintosh and Arthur Young it included a galaxy of poets. Many of the lyrics of Moore, many of the social verses of Mackintosh, and some of the noblest sonnets of Coleridge were first published in the columns of The Post. And the story of the paper in its early days had its tragicas well as its poetic side, for in consequence of offence taken at some of its articles, the editor and proprietor, Nicholas Burne, who succeeded Daniel Stuart, was assaulted and murdered while sitting in his office.

Great longevity is as rare among newspapers as it is among human beings. There is but one other morning journal that can really be called a contemporary of The Post, and its history is a epitome of changes in the style of English newspapers during the past century, as well as of the progress made in the gathering of news and the improvements in the mechanical part of the publication. The Times was founded on Jan. 1, 1785, but was not known by its present name until it had reached its 940th number on Jan. 1, 1788. It was in those days no unusual thing for an established newspaper to assume a new face, as witness the successive changes in The Public Advertiser and The Morning Post. For the first three years of its existence The Times was styled The Daily Universal Register. A journal in those days contained a little news, more or less authentic, several paragraphs of gossip, many bad verses and a few advertisements. Leading articles were unknown, letters to the editor filled their place, and when these were written by as powerful a pen as "Junius," they were more serviceable and noteworthy than any leaders could have been.

The founder of The Times was John Walter. Left an orphan in 1755 and only 17 years old, he had his own way to make in the world. Yet in ten years he had made himself a successful business man and in five years more he was a member of Lloyd's. Soon afterwards a French squadron captured a fleet of vessels on which he had taken a large risk, and his loss amounted to £200,000. While he was struggling with a fresh footing in the business world, he fell in with Henry Johnson, a compositor, and in 1784 he took the same premises in Printing House Square where, in 1666, John Bell had founded and printed The London Gazette. The monastery of the Black Friars had formerly occupied that site—The Times office stands there now.

Success was slow; libel suits were numerous, and in consequence of adverse verdicts, the proprietors were many times mulct in damages and a number of times the editors suffered imprisonment for the same cause. Before many years Walter associated with himself his son, John Walter, Jr., who became sole conductor of the paper in 1803. At that time The Times stood lowest of the four great dailies in point of circulation, but a great alteration followed the change of management, and, in the teeth of fierce opposition from the Government, he quickly made the journal successful. The Government was hot against the journal on account of its independence and every possible hindrance, legal or illegal, was resorted to in order to ruin it. But Walter was not to be beaten. When parcels directed to him were stopped in the post by order of the ministers he set up special messengers and special boats of his own. He was the first to employ a special correspondent, on the continent, and Henry Crab Robinson was the first man appointed (1807) to this important position. The dogged energy of the proprietor triumphed over conspiracies and strikes at home and delays and hindrances abroad and the special service was so thoroughly organized that he was frequently able to anticipate even the king's messengers and publish important news before any information of the facts had reached the Government.

John Walters, Jr., died in 1847 and was succeeded by the third of the name. He, too, began to feel the need of improved machinery and designed a new press, but before his machine was constructed Walters witnessed the performances of Hoe's machine, which had just been introduced. He immediately saw that his own design was inferior to Hoe's, and the machine of the latter was adopted and used until Walters designed a new press almost identical with the one in use now. He kept abreast of his rivals in every improvement and has surpassed them in many ways. Not the least of his works was the invention of a typesetting machine, which reduced the cost of composition nearly two-thirds. It was these mechanical improvements and the reduced expense of printing that they inaugurated that enabled him to stand the increased expenditure necessary to keep ahead of the other journals in the gathering of news. The paper has now not only its own telegraph or telephone service to all the main centres of Great Britain, but also supports its own special wires to Paris and Vienna.

The thorough going Tory finds in The Morning Post the sentiments wherein he cordially concurs, the Tory-Democrat delights in the enterprising Standard, the philosophical Radical and the serious Liberal expects to find his views represented with ability and fidelity in The Daily News or Daily Chronicle. Those who care more for fine writing on social subjects than for party politics find what suits them in The Daily Telegraph, while the licensed victuallers derive mental illumination from The Morning Advertiser. Each of these journals has its own circle of readers, but among them, though not of them, moves The Times, grand in its impartiality and freedom from party bias, and in its staunch patriotism. And it is because the nation recognizes in its columns the faithful reflection of its own mind that the title of "leading journal" has been accorded to it by common consent.

A Telegraph Company's Responsibility

When Sending a Message.

In the Court of Appeals yesterday morning judgment was rendered in the case of the Great North Western Telegraph Co. and B. Laurence & Co. This was an action for $200 damages taken by respondent on account of an error in the transmission of a despatch sent him by his clerk here while he was in New York. The despatch ended with the words "writing to-night," but it was transmitted as reading "waiting to-night." The result was that Mr. Laurence left his New York business and at once came back. Hence the court below granted $30 damages, being the actual cost of the journey. In rendering the judgment of the Court in Appeal, Chief Justice Lacoste remarked that although a very small amount was at stake, the case was of considerable importance as establishing the extent of the company's responsibility. Could the appellant be taxed with negligence in this instance? One letter only was changed, the letter "a" being used instead of the letter "r."

Three operators had testified that in the rush of business one letter could easily be taken for another, while other witnesses declared that the despatch was sufficiently legible. Operators cannot expect to write to night with copper plates. Hence the court below granted $30 damages, being the actual cost of the journey. TRADE AND COMMERCE

FINANCIAL.

MONTREAL, Jan. 18.

Montreal Stock Exchange.

The morning board was fairly active, but business seemed to die completely away in the afternoon, when only three transactions were recorded. The chief support of the day's market lay in Canada Pacific shares, which comprised nearly three-fourths of the entire day's business. The opening sale was $\frac{1}{2}$ above Saturday's close, but it declined $\frac{1}{2}$ by noon, firming up a fraction in the afternoon and closing 94. Montreal Telegraph was again on a down turn, closing at 129. One transaction in Commercial Cable and a few very small sales in banks completed the day's business. Total sales 1476 shares.

The Todd machine, the Blum machine, the Doolley machine, all working upon different principles to the same end. The multiplicity of these machines is an indication that inventors are achieving some success. Each machine has its peculiar features, and it may be that none of them will do perfectly the work expected, but altogether they give hope that man's invention will at last solve this great problem, and enable the people of the South to produce their crops at a cost low enough to make its cultivation remunerative under almost any condition of the market.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

New York Stocks.

Messrs. Oswald Bros., brokers, 13 and 15 Hospital-street, have the following over their direct private wire:

New York, Jan. 18.—The stock market opened weak on rumors of war with Chili, an event which is likely to begin at any time. The bear traders were free sellers, Cammack and his party offering the market down on all opportunities. A large number of stop orders were reached and weak holders are pretty well thinned out. We do not see any reason why the market should go much lower. It was declared to-morrow we would only have a temporary effect, as there could be but one result to such a conflict. We believe stocks should be bought on this slump. We are bullish now and consider this decline a good thing for a sharp turn.

Messrs. McDougall Bros., stock brokers, 69 St. Francis Xavier-street, report the New York market as follows:

There is very little doing in any kind of grain and the market is quoted about nominal. We quote: No. 2 hard Manitoba wheat $1.00 to 1.02; No. 3 hard, 91c to 92c; No. 2 northern $1.00 to 1.02; peas, per 60 lbs., in store, 72c to 74c; oats, No. 2, 35c to 36c; rye, 91c to 92c; feed barley, 43c to 50c; malted barley, 57c to 62c; corn, 65c to 66c duty paid.

Business continues very light and prices are somewhat weaker. No prospect of export shipment seems to open up at present and local demand is dull. We quote: patent spring $5.05 to $5.15; roller, $4.50 to $4.65; extra, $4.15 to $4.25; upper fine, $3.90 to $4.10; fine, $3.40 to $3.50; strong bakers, $4.90 to $5.00; Manitoba bakers, $4.50 to $4.75; Ontario bakers extra, $2.10 to $2.20; superfine, $2.20 to $2.10.

Flour.

The market continues very dull. Prices are nominally unchanged but the feeling is weak. We quote: Granulated and rolled oats $4.50 to $4.60 per bbl, $2.15 to $2.20 per bag; standard and fine oatmeal, $4.40 to $4.50 per bbl, $2.10 to $2.15 per bag; pot barley, $4 per bbl, $1.90 to $1.95 per bag; pearl barley, No. 1, $7.25 per bbl, $3.75 per half bbl; No. 2, $6.75 per bbl, $3.50 per half bbl, $2.90 per pocket 45 lbs; 32c per pocket 45 lbs. Gold dust cornmeal, $4.50 to $4.75 per bbl; split peas, $4.00 per bbl.

Oatmeal, Etc.

The market is firmer and shows a little more activity, but business is still far from brisk. We quote: Heavy Canada short cut mess $15.50 to $16; Canada choice family pork $15.50 to $16; Canada short cut clear pork $15; western mess pork, $13.50 to $14; Chicago extra clear, $15 to $15.50; Plate beef, $15 to $15.25; city cured hams 10c to 11c; breakfast bacon, 9c to 10c; dry salt flanks, 7c; lard comp., 7c to 7.5c; Pure Canadian lard, 8c to 9c per lb.

Butter.

The shipping demand still continues restricted by high prices, but the local jobbing trade is in good condition and holders are very firm. We quote: Creamery, 23c to 24c; Eastern Townships, 19c to 20c; western, 15c to 17c; western rolls, 15c to 17c; Morrisburg, 18c to 19c.

Cheese.

The market is again encouraged by a slight rise in the English cable, and advances speak of a good demand for Canadian with large sales. Sales of 3000 boxes autumn made white cheese are reported on P. T., but said to be fully 11c.

Eggs.

The demand is still sufficient to absorb all fresh arrivals at from 20c to 22c. Lined stock are in lighter demand at 15c to 16c.

Dressed Poultry.

The arrivals are dropping off, but demand is also lighter, so no inconvenience is experienced from shortage. Turkeys are quoted 9c to 10c; geese, 5c to 6c; ducks, 8c; chickens scarce at 9c.

The Live Stock Markets.

The receipts of live stock at the yards of the Montreal Stock Yards Company, Point St. Charles, for the week ending Jan. 16, were as follows:

Cattle	Sheep	Hogs	Calves
755	287	246	48
Left over from previous week	39	—	—
Total for week	801	287	246
Left on hand	44	—	—

The market for good cattle in the early part of the week was brisk and prices generally fair, but heavier receipts as week advanced turned down values, Thursday's market being dull with lower prices and a number of cattle remaining unsold.

Sheep quiet at 3c. Slight advance in live hogs under better demand. They are now firm at $4.65.

We quote the following as being fair values:

Cattle Butchers good	4c to 4.25c
do medium	3.75c to 4.00c
do poor	3.50c to 3.75c
Sheep	3c to 3.25c
Hogs	4c to 4.25c
Calves	3c to 3.25c

The Horse Market.

Report of the Montreal Horse Exchange, Point St. Charles. The receipts of horses at these stables for week ending Jan. 16 were 121:

Left over from previous week.

Left over from previous week	23
Shipped during week	14
Left for city	2
On hand for sale	1
Total	40

Messrs. Meredith & O'Brien have received the following over their direct special wire:

Chicago, Jan. 18.—The friends of wheat are not very well pleased with the action of the market. This morning cables were all reported higher. There is a severe blizzard raging in the Northwest, with unusually cold weather away down in Texas. The visible supply decreased about 1,500,000 bushels of wheat and wheat flour were nearly 1,000,000 bushels. The effect on the market was an advance of about $\frac{1}{2}$ cent per bushel, but it finally reacted, closing at about Saturday's figures. About the only news of a bearish nature was the large shipments from India, aggregating about 1,000,000 bushels, that the shipments on passage to the U. K. and the continent were on the increase. The advance in the foreign markets was probably caused by a sort of natural reaction from the recent sharp decline and the advance here. Our market was fairly active with a good volume of business.

Oats and corn were neglected, prices nominally unchanged.

The hogs are again enjoying the pleasures of home life by remaining there and paying special attention to the corn crib. The demand for hog product continues good; the steady advance does not in the least check consumptive requirements. We think that the bear element will find it much more profitable shovelling snow than in trying to depress prices with the present supply and demand.

Chicago Notes.

Messrs. Meredith & O'Brien have the following over their direct private wire:

VERY VICIOUS UPPERCUTS

HARD TELLING BLOWS AT INFLATED NEWS STORIES.

Many Rounds Indulged in Before the Day's Doings Were Properly Fitted for The Herald Readers.

All the provincial ministers were in town yesterday.

From this day onward The National will be issued as an evening paper.

Alfred Tison was arrested last night by Officer O'Donnell for fast driving.

William Hunter was sent down for one month, yesterday, by Judge Desnoyers for stealing a whip.

High class jewellery, the largest and choicest stock in the city, at J. B. Williams, 1741 Notre Dame-street.

The Canadian Association of Stationary Engineers will hold its annual dinner on Saturday night at the Riendeau Hotel.

A still alarm was sent in last evening at 9.10 for a blaze in the feed store of Mr. Burdeaux, 63 Fulford-street. No damage.

In conversation with a reporter last night Chief Hughes said he would shut up every lottery fake in the city brought to his notice.

Cleaning, dyeing and repairing a specialty at M. J. Adler's, 47 Beaver Hall Hill. Parcels called for and delivered. Bell telephone 4861.

An effort is to be made to raise the wreck of the steamship Cynthia, which was sunk by a collision with the steamship Polyneesian in 1889.

The only contest for office at the coming Board of Trade election is that for second vice-president between James A. Cantlie and Richard White.

A defective line caused a fire at 123 Inspector-street early yesterday morning. It was speedily extinguished with the streams from three backbores. Damage about $100.

The mail steamship Sardinian, for Halifax and Portland, which should have sailed from Liverpool on Thursday last, Jan. 14, only got away on Saturday morning, having been delayed by fog.

Messrs. Waters Bros. & Co. are in financial difficulties, but this will in no way affect A. L. Little & Co., lithographers and engravers, the latter being a distinct firm from the former, and is perfectly solvent.

Make It Warm for the New Treasurer.

The name of Col. Frank Bond is mentioned as a probable candidate to oppose J. S. Hall in St. Antoine ward. No better man than Col. Bond could be chosen. His well-known business ability and general popularity, coupled with the solid Liberal vote, would tend to make matters decidedly warm for the Provincial Treasurer.

Coming to Trial at Last.

Rev. A. D. Lockhart, who was arrested some time ago by John McLean in Montreal, prior to leaving for the Old Country, and who gave bail to appear on Jan. 18, was brought before Justice De Laurier, at Beauharnois, yesterday, and the case was adjourned until to-day, when it will come up before the district magistrate.

Not Likely to Recover.

Wm. Wilson, aged 74, while standing on the corner of St. James and St. John-streets, Sunday afternoon, was struck with the shaft of a passing vehicle and had to be taken to his home on Lagardiere-street. Drs. Bell and Williams were summoned and they found that the shoulder had been broken, a piece of the bone entering one of his lungs. Rev. Father McCallan was sent for and the last sacrament administered. Mr. Wilson is not likely to recover.

The Court of Review Upheld.

In the Court of Appeals yesterday morning the judgment of the Court of Review, giving judgment in favor of defendant in the case of Trester vs. the Canadian Pacific Railway Co., was confirmed. This was an action for damages on account of delay in the receipt of merchandise that was shipped to a wrong destination. The case was heard before a jury, and after the trial both parties asked for judgment according to the verdict. The court below interpreted the verdict to be in favor of defendant, and the Court of Appeal confirmed this view.

Too Much Morphine and Paregoric.

Philomèle Vige, aged 50, wife of Perre Tredeau, of 513 Amherst-street, died on Saturday morning last. For some months past Mrs. Tredeau has been in failing health, and on advice of her doctor began to take paregoric and morphine. Grief, however, struck in a few days ago, leaving her in a weak condition. She continued to take the paregoric and morphine, but it proved too much for her weak state of health, with the above result. Coroner Jones held an inquest last night and the jury returned a verdict of "died from the excessive use of paregoric and morphine."

Protestant Workmen.

The regular monthly meeting of the United Protestant Workmen's Benefit Society took place last evening in the Oddfellows' Hall Craig-street. Mr. John Cunningham, trustee, in the chair. After some routine business was transacted the treasurer, Mr. Wm. Seale, read his report for the past month, showing receipts as follows: Cash balance from last month, $30.25; cash from financial secretary, $36.40; Total, $129.65. Disbursements: Paid sick benefit to four members, $37; paid funeral benefit, $40; paid sundries, $4. Total, $81. Cash balance in hands of the treasurer, $48.63. Total, $129.63.

No Irish Need Apply!!!

There is trouble in the camp over the appointment of Mr. Atwater as Crown prosecutor. Mr. J. F. Quinn says he was promised the position and the Irish wing of the party feel that a slight has been tendered them. Mr. Quinn and his friends claim that the position should go to an Irish Catholic, and as he was promised it they are kicking with both feet. A fire commissioner has been offered Mr. Quinn as a soother, but it is said he will get the prosecutorship or know the reason why. As Mr. Cloran, who held the office before Mr. Atwater, is a Catholic, it is only natural to suppose that his successor would be one also.

McDonald's Confectionery Store Outed.

Box 18 had another ring last night. At 11 o'clock smoke was observed issuing from McDonald's confectionery store on Beaver Hall; next to the Herald office. The firemen were soon on the spot and the shop door forced. Down in the cellar things were burning at a lively rate, but two streams were put on and in a short time the flames were under control. How the fire started is a mystery. Mr. McDonald was in the store, in company with some friends, about three-quarters of an hour before the alarm was given, and did not detect any signs of fire then. The stock, which is badly damaged by water and smoke, is partially insured. Loss about $500.

More Business Failures.

Messrs. Hubbell & Brown, leather merchants, St. Peter street, are in financial difficulties brought about by losses in connection with the recent failures of Messrs. Geo. Mooney & Co., Montreal, and Messrs. Gourdeau, Quebec, and other firms which have lately assigned.

Hood, Mann & Co., importers of china, glass and earthenware, have assigned at the demand of Frederick D. Lawrence with liabilities of $96,401, of which $26,324 is indirect. The largest creditors are: F. D. Lawrence $26,583; G. H. Mathews $1,269; Jno Edwards $1,902; Dunn, Bennett & Co. $1,173; British Porcelain Works $1,499; St. John's Stone China Co. $4,174; Lazarus & Rosenfeld, New York, $1,114; Haida Lamp Co., New York, $1,590; A. Klinger, New York, $3,143; H. A. Bar, $1,816; Jordan & Lock, $2,426; North American Glass Co. $4,790.

Yesterday's Recorders Court.

The recorder held the scales of justice over 23 delinquents yesterday. Joseph Girard, Felix Hetu and Louis Durocher were each asked to put up their $20 or go below for one calendar month for fast driving. John McGuire was convicted for being drunk and insulting the police. He got $3 or ten days. Joseph Mongeau was found lying drunk on Farm-street, and was ordered to cash up to the extent of $3 or take ten days. For being drunk and refusing to pay his carter, Daniel Wall was fined $5 or 15 days. Philomène Joubert is, or was, the proprietress of No. 84 Jacques Cartier-street. Sergeant Beattie swooped down upon her and the recorder imposed a tax of $25 or six months. Melina Mercier, an inmate, met the same fate. The case of Alfred Tremblay, charged with fast driving, was postponed.

Getting Rid of the Fakes.

Yesterday Detective Trempe received orders from Chief Hughes to close up a certain lottery fake on St. Lawrence street. At 8 o'clock the detective entered a place on that street kept by one McKenzie. The place was formerly run by the Rocky Mountain Oil concern, but had lately been changed and the candy fake instituted. When Trempe entered a number of the sporting gentry who were present and who had an interest in the affair, suddenly remembered that they had urgent business outside. The detective then ordered the man in charge to close up the ranch. The man hesitated and asked for the detective's authority. But it was no use. Trempe was there for business, and he gave the man to understand that if he did not close up mighty sudden he would find himself in a place not very congenial to his taste. He closed the shop. Another fake of a like order, on the opposite side of the street, is still running.

An Interesting Bread Story.

The Jews of this city, in preparing for the annual Easter Passover, have diverted from the usual custom of importing the bread used on that occasion.

The wheat, which, according to the rules of the Jewish Church, must be of the finest and best quality of white wheat, is generally imported from Europe and the bread made in New York. At the coming feast bread made of Canadian flour will be used and it will be prepared in a Canadian bakery. Last week a contract was entered into for 1200 bags of wheat. Grand Rabbi Tucker went out to Valleyfield and made the necessary arrangements for the grinding of the wheat with Messrs. Bolduc, Lesperance & Co., of St. Marys. According to ancient usage the mill will have to be thoroughly cleaned from top to bottom before the grist starts, and blessed by the Rabbi, who will perform the ceremony in his robes of office. The bread will be baked by H. Schlinger, Jewish baker, of 124 Vitre-street, Montreal. About 50,000 biscuits are necessary for the feast.

The Late James S. Evans.

The funeral of the late James S. Evans took place yesterday. Mr. Evans was born in Montreal, May 3, 1833, and succeeded to the wholesale clothing business of his elder brother, Mr. Edward P. Evans, who lost his life in February, 1880, on board the ill-fated Allan steamship Hungarian, which went down off Cape Sable with every soul on board. The house was thus the oldest wholesale manufacturing firm of clothing in the Dominion. Mr. James S. Evans was very successful in business, but of late years paid more attention to real estate speculations and was the owner of considerable property in this city. He leaves two sons, James and William Evans, and two married daughters, Mrs. Reddy and Mrs. Darling, and an elder brother, Mr. William S. Evans. The funeral took place from his late residence, the service being conducted by the Rev. Mr. Barclay, of St. Paul Church. The chief mourners were Mr. Wm. S. Evans, brother of deceased; Messrs. J. S. and W. H. Evans, sons; Messrs. H. Darling and J. Reddy, sons-in-law; Mr. R. Allan, Mr. Robert Anderson, Mr. Jam's Whyte, Messrs. W. H. and J. K. Whyte, Mr. R. A. Dickson and Mr. J. T. Gladstone. A large number of citizens attended, among whom were many of the representative business men of the city.

Jacques Cartier Bank vs. Leblanc.

In the Court of Appeals yesterday morning Judge Wurtel pronounced the judgment of the court in the case of the Jacques Cartier Bank and Leblanc. This was an action arising out of the famous swindles of C. B. Mahon & Co., by which farmers throughout the whole land were made to sign notes, thinking at the time that they were simply signing contracts for the purchase of agricultural implements. In the present instance Mahon had given as security to the Jacques Cartier Bank for advances notes of his customers, and among them one from Leblanc for $300. When sued for payment Leblanc pleaded that he had not signed a note but a contract, and that the bank had become aware of Mahon's crooked ways and frauds to obtain such notes as the one sued upon. The action was dismissed in the court below, on the ground that defendant's good faith had been taken by surprise. The Court of Appeal reversed this judgment, however, holding that, it being established that the bank not being aware of the frauds at the time, and having accepted and holding the note in good faith, it could not, as a third party, be made to lose on a perfectly legitimate and honest transaction on its part. As between appellant and respondent, the first was blameless and the other was guilty of imprudence. The bank had a lien on the note as its holder in good faith for value given, and it must be paid.

ONLY A SHORT SESSION

MONTREAL ALDERMEN PAY A TRIBUTE TO THE LATE DUKE.

Meeting of the City Council Yesterday—Road, Finance and Water Committees—Send in Reports.

The City Council met yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, but adjourned after a short session out of respect to the memory of the late Duke of Clarence. There were present His Worship the mayor, and Aldermen Nolan, Arthur Dubuc, Griffin, Perreault, Robert Gauthier, Lamarche, J. M. Dufresne, Tansey, Grenier, Boisseau, Cunningham, McBride, Farrell, Pierre Dubuc, Savignac, Patrick Kennedy, Martineau, Brunet, William Kennedy, Wilson, J. B. R. Dufresne, Villeneuve, Hamelin, Thompson, Rainville, Conroy, Stevenson, Prefontaine, Rolland, Germain.

An invitation having been extended the council by Sir Wm. Dawson to visit the new building of Applied Science at McGill, it was moved by Ald. Stevenson and seconded by Ald. Cunningham that the invitation be accepted, and that the council should go there in a body this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

A letter was received from J. B. de Lorimier, complaining that his tender for the Cavanagh-street bridge had not been fairly dealt with. Ald. Prefontaine explained that the tender was irregular, which accounted for its not being entertained.

The petition from the proprietors on St. James-street in regard to expropriation was placed on file.

The Water Committee presented a report for the expenditure of $218,000 during the coming year, which was referred to the Finance Committee. A motion to supply free water for experimental purposes to the new building at McGill was also referred to the Finance Committee.

The Road Committee reported in favor of allowing Louis Perreault to erect a bridge over Fortification-lane, which was granted on the usual conditions. The application of the St. Jean Baptiste Electric Co., to erect poles in St. Jean Baptiste village, was laid over until the next meeting.

The Road Committee also reported on contracts for the St. Catherine-street bridge, and the opening of Ontario-street, and it was suggested that they be laid over until the next meeting, but on the explanation made by Ald. Prefontaine, that the work would only cost $40,000 instead of $90,000 as originally understood, and that the granting of the contracts would furnish work for the unemployed, Ald. Rainville withdrew his objections and the report was then carried, the mayor being authorized to sign same.

The Fire Committee reported in regard to the Brossard fire. The evidence adduced by the committee proved that the Fire Department had done their full duty, and it was decided to contest the suit. The report was adopted and referred to the City Attorney.

The Finance Committee concurred in the granting of $900, for the opening of Cedar-avenue. The report was adopted and the mayor authorized to sign same.

Appropriations of $3000 for the opening and grading of Champlain, Panet and Maisonneuve-streets, and $12,000 for stone for paving St. Catherine-street, were reported by the Road and Finance Committees and adopted.

A report received from the Water Committee for the purchase of a supply of gas pipes was adopted and the mayor authorized to sign same.

Notice of motion was made by Ald. Robert for the purpose of allowing proprietors the right to vote in all cases, whether their names appeared on the voters' lists or not.

The following resolution of condolence was then moved by Ald. Rolland and seconded by Ald. Stevens:

That the Mayor and Council of the City of Montreal have learned with deep sorrow of the death of H. R. H. Albert Victor, Duke of Clarence and Avondale, in the prime of his manhood and under circumstances exceptionally sad. Deeply conscious of the honorable loss sustained by their Royal Highnesses the Queen and Prince of Wales, Her Majesty the Queen and the members of the Royal family as well as by the United Kingdom and the Empire at large, the Mayor and Council of Montreal hasten to offer their heartfelt condolence to the bereaved household thus desolated by death. In common with all the subjects of Her Gracious Majesty throughout the world, they have felt as a personal affliction the dread visitation which has thus suddenly cut down a young life so full of promise, and on which so many hopes had been reasonably built, and realizing the full degree of the intense grief of the illustrious parents, the venerable Sovereign, the betrothed princess, widowed before she was wed, and the other relatives and friends of the royal household, they have sympathized with the Royal household in its sore distress. It is the prayer of the Mayor and Council of Montreal, a prayer which echoes the sentiments of the whole city, that the exalted sufferers may be soled in the loss of their beloved son and that the same Divine Hand which has lately pressed so heavily upon them may mercifully support the bereaved parents and on which trials that a copy of the foregoing resolution be transmitted to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales.

Ald. Cunningham, seconded by Ald. Robert, moved that the foregoing resolution be suitably engrossed and transmitted to His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales.

The mayor then read the following telegram, which had been received by him on Saturday:

SANDRINGHAM, Jan. 18.

Their Highnesses' warm thanks to citizens for kind sympathy.

PRINCE, Comptroller.

Ald. Thompson then proposed the following resolution, which was seconded by Ald. Martineau:

That the council has learned with profound regret the demise of His Emancence the late Duke of Clarence and Avondale, and desires to express its feelings of admiration for the eminently philanthropic qualities which adorned the venerable prelate's character.

On motion of Ald. Dufresne it was decided to inscribe the above resolutions in the minutes of the council.

Ald. McBride then proposed that out of respect to the late Duke of Clarence and Avondale the meeting be adjourned. This was seconded by Ald. Rainville and carried.

Road Committee.

The Road Committee met at 2 o'clock yesterday with Ald. Prefontaine in the chair. There were present Aldermen Wilson, A. Dubuc, J. B. R. Dufresne, Brunet, P. Kennedy and W. Kennedy. The tenders for the Ontario-street subway under the C. P. R. tracks were opened, and the contract for the foundation and masonry was awarded to Laurier, Rheame & Co. (who were the lowest tenderers) at the following prices:

Earth excavation per cubic yard, 29
Rock excavation " " " " 80
Masonry rock, face ashlar " " $3.50
" " " " " " $1.25
Piles, per lineal foot 19 1/2

For the iron work the Dominion Bridge Co. asked $16,400; James Cochrane and W. G. Reed, $13,500; Bastien & Valliquette, and Canadian Bridge Co., $11,491. The award was not decided on, as the plans had to be examined, and were referred to the city surveyor and an expert.

The Health Committee met at 2.30 yesterday afternoon and granted permission to Dawes & Co., of Lachine, to cut ice in the canal for cooling purposes. No other business of any importance was transacted.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

Big Successes at the Local Theatres This Week.

If you want a good 24 hours laugh pay a visit to the Queen's this week.

There's only a few of those choice comedians left and Frank Daniels is undoubtedly one of them. He was seen last night at the Queen's Theatre, and to say that a large audience left the building delighted with the entertainment is a poor way in which to express the enjoyment which was felt by every person who selected the first night of the week in which to witness "Little Puck."

Where the title comes in is hard to say, but the fact remains that no one can sit through a performance of this capital fantastical extravaganza and go back home without feeling that they have had a great evening's amusement.

"Little Puck" has already been spoken of in these columns as a successful piece of work, so that it now remains to speak of the performance as it was witnessed last evening. Well, to commence with, it was better than when last seen in this city. That is saying a good deal, but it is nevertheless a fact. People, the continent over, have shown every inclination for that class of entertainment which amuses, and here they have it to their hearts' content.

Quite true to say that there is no plot, no sense and few new departures in "Little Puck," but just the same it is a program so cleverly arranged that not a dull minute follows the rise of the curtain at a few moments past 8 p.m. Mr. Frank Daniels cannot be compared to any other comedian. He is distinctly original. His every movement is unlike other entertainers, and in his very fact his success lies. Others might copy him and fail to please; doubtless many so-called comedians do, and this perhaps is the greatest compliment which can be paid to an artist; but the fact remains that Daniels in his own peculiar style stands without a peer in the comedy world.

His support is fine. Petite Bessie Sanson is ever popular and never more so than last night. She hasn't much to do, but if she had it would be all the better for the people who watch her clever performance. Mr. Daniels has surrounded himself with probably as pretty a lot of girls as it would be one's pleasure to meet. They sing very prettily and do so in a way that conduces to the success of the play. As to the support, the young ladies are equally clever, and taking a look at the company as a whole it would be mighty hard work to suggest an improvement.

Grand Opera Sale to-day.

This morning at 9 o'clock the sale of seats will commence for the grand performances by the Abbey and Grau French and Italian Opera Company.

There is every prospect in view for immense houses at the Academy of Music on Jan. 26, 27, 28. It is unnecessary to make further reference to this gigantic attraction than to say intending theatre-goers should lose no time in securing their seats at Nordheimer's.

The World Against Her.

Frank Harvey has written so many clever plays that when one of his productions is announced as the attraction at a theatre it is pretty certain that a good audience will be present. This was the case yesterday when Agnes Wallace Villa presented "The World Against Her" at the Theatre Royal. The popular house was crowded at both performances.

This play has been frequently seen in Montreal, so that it is unnecessary to dwell upon its merits, and as the company is so little changed little more need be said than that it was received with that warmth which has always characterized its presentation in Montreal.

The plot lies in the story of a husband who disowns his wife. Under unjust suspicion, she flies with her child, is taken care of by a travelling showman and his wife in London; the villain who has caused the trouble in attempting to get control of her is unmasked; the child is carried away to a corner den and is finally rescued by the mother. The husband, in search of her and has a realistic combat with the rascal. This scene closes the play, and a more fitting finale could hardly have emanated from even such a capital writer as Frank Harvey.

Mrs. Villa has lost none of her ability, and the child, "Our Mabel," is one of the best prodigies seen in a long time. Messrs. Gauthier, and Fraser as the husband and villain respectively sustain their parts well, and Miss Deahon and Mr. Taylor are old favorites here, and well preserved that reputation which they have long since gained. It will be remembered that Miss Deahon was the first to introduce to Montrealeers that popular song "Little Annie Rooney."

SATISFIES MOSHER.

Mr. Tarte Acknowledges the Libel Law, but He Has His Say.

Many Montrealeers will remember the story: "The honorable gentleman's statement is not as clear as mud." It is recalled to memory by the retraction made by Mr. Tarte in relation to the language used by the Montreal fakir of The Toronto Empire. Mr. Tarte says:

I am responsible for these words although I am not the writer. I saw the article before it was published and I recognize without any difficulty that the language used is injurious to Mr. Mosher and that he has good reason to complain. I retract, therefore, without hesitation and apologize to him for the same. The role he has played as correspondent of The Empire has on many occasions been far from a proper one, but this is far from saying that he has daily written injurious articles against the province of Quebec and its institutions, etc. He represents a journal whose past and tendencies are the expression of anti-French-Canadian fanaticism. The Empire carried on the campaign, along with Mr. Meredith, against our compatriots in Ontario, and Mr. Mosher has remained attached to it. I have absolutely no confidence in Mr. Mosher and his methods as a newspaper correspondent, and know The Empire's attitude as despises us, but I admit the words complained of are of such a nature that I am obliged to retract, and to take them back. The Canadian is the resolute enemy of injury and injustice as a means of political dispute, and concurs upon the superior power of reason and truth.

JUNIOR LIBERAL CLUB.

MR. W. T. R. PRESTON, OF TORONTO, AD- DRESSES ITS MEMBERS.

Enthusiastic Meeting of the Club and Its Friends Last Night in the Natural History Hall.

The young Liberals had every reason to be gratified with the result of their meeting last night in the Natural History Hall, for the purpose of completing the organization of the Junior Liberal Club, which was formed last Tuesday evening.

It was not the intention of the officers to have called the club together at such an early date, but it was deemed advisable to do so, as Mr. W. T. R. Preston, secretary of the Liberal Association of Ontario, who was expected to be present; could not favor the club with his presence at any other time, as that gentleman, as is well-known, is a very busy and efficient worker in the Liberal interests.

The fact of the meeting being called on very short notice and also in view of the storm which prevailed last night, the meeting was very well attended, there being some 200 enthusiastic Liberals present. The meeting was called principally for the purpose of hearing an address by Mr. Preston, so that very little business was transacted.

Mr. J. P. B. Casgrain, the president of the club, occupied the chair, and among the gentlemen in the audience were noticed: Hon. Arthur Boyer, Col. Frank Bond, Dr. Guerin, Messrs. R. S. Weir, George Horne, T. H. Turton, E. Halley, S. P. Leet, W. D. Burns, Miller McConnell, J. M. Ferguson, James Cochrane, G. P. England, T. B. Warren, Oscar Senecal, G. W. Stephens, Jr., P. A. Duffy, F. W. Hubbard, T. L. Quimby, Carol Ryan, Ed. Guerin, A. Stewart, Lomer Goun, R. Lemieux, J. M. Guerin, T. W. Wallace and many others.

The business portion of the program was quickly disposed of and the president called upon the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Preston delivered a forcible and highly interesting speech, touching briefly and judiciously on most of the subjects which are agitating political circles at the present time. At the outset of his address he referred to the favorable auspices under which the newly organized Junior Liberal Club started its career as compared with other organizations of a similar nature which he knew of, and which are now large and flourishing, and doing a great work for the Liberal cause.

The young Liberals of Montreal, he said, could not expect to have a large and powerful club all at once, but it must grow gradually and gather strength as others have done.

Speaking of the present crisis in the province of Quebec, Mr. Preston stated that he did not wish to discuss provincial issues, but he would say that Lieutenant Governor Angers dare not do in Ontario what he has done in Quebec. As to the constitutionality of the proceedings, the well-known lawyer, Mr. J. J. MacLaren, and their own Premier, Oliver Mowat, have declared that Angers' action was bad and such that no lieutenant-governor in Ontario would dare attempt for one single moment.

As regards actual work in store for such an organization as the Junior Liberal Club, the speaker declared that the young Liberals should prepare to enter the field and take part in the Federal by-elections with a will, and perhaps at a not very distant date a Federal general election.

He referred to the multitude of scandals unearthed at Ottawa during the recent session of Parliament, and stated as regards their investigation, that when the search became too hot for the interloping parties the Government supporters were called in and the investigation simply voted down, so that search in that direction was rendered impossible. Yet Thompson and Tupper had the hardihood to say that the scandals did not amount to very much. Was it possible, he asked, to imagine such a course in the British House of Commons. Such a thing as Mr. Gladstone, and he named many other prominent British politicians, being implicated in such disgraceful scandals as had been smirched the names of Canadian Cabinet ministers, was not to be thought of. Were such a thing to occur, however, he stated, Queen Victoria would not be likely to waste any time in getting rid of such a government.

Reference was made to some of the excuses which might be offered for the large amount of loyalty shouting that is done by Tories. After the speaker had scored Premier Abbott's loyalty and its relation to his celebrated annexation manifesto, that of the Tupper clique was referred to. Considering all the fat offices, both great and small, that this illustrious family have secured, not only for themselves but for large numbers of friends, there is an excuse. With between $30,000 and $50,000 in their pockets from the Dominion treasury last year what else could be expected?

Mr. Preston also dealt with the question of the unsatisfactoriness of the lae census and in that connection, with the trade policy of the Tory administration which is driving so many of the young men out of our country to seek the superior advantages offered them in the neighboring republic. Yet the Tories blame the Liberals for the existing state of affairs. That is simply because they are afraid to squarely face the facts of the case. There must be, he said, a change in the fiscal policy if this condition of affairs is to be remedied.

The fallacy of the Tory cry about discrimination in trade against Great Britain was plainly shown by the speaker. The young men must be imbued with a truly Canadian spirit, and it must be understood that Canada's interests are first.

Contrasting the honor and uprightness of the past and present leaders of the Liberal party with the men who are at the head of affairs at Ottawa to-day, Mr. Preston said, that were certain exposures made, there would be a shaking of the dry bones among the Tories and sons of them would either be fugitives from justice or languishing in a common jail. So far as honesty goes they know no more of honest Government than a man that never was born. Among the leaders of the Liberal party are living open shameful lives and will do so until the honest heart of the people consign them to oblivion.

In concluding his powerful address, Mr. Preston urged the young men to buckle on their armor and prepare for the contest. There is a good deal to contend against, but all the Tory misrepresentation and lies sent from different cities to the Tory papers by their lying correspondents do not do them any good. Premier Mowat being at the head of provincial affairs for nearly a quarter of a century and the Liberals being stronger than for some time past in Ontario is an ample of that fact. The speaker closed with an earnest appeal to the young men to stand by the principles of Liberalism and fight valiantly in the good cause.

Mr. F. W. Hubbard, in a telling speech, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Preston, for his presence and address, which was by Mr. R. S. Weir, in a few appropriate remarks. Messrs. T. B. Warren and Rudolph Lemieux also said a few words thanking Mr. Preston for his kindness in being present. The motion was, of course, carried unanimously.

The Junior Liberal Club then adjourned to be heard from again at a not very distant date. It has started its career with a bona fide membership of forty members.

A Considerable Amount of Money Being Stolen From the G. T. R.

Considerable cash has been missing lately from the money remitted to Montreal by stations south, from the G. T. R. cash bags. Detectives searched an express messenger one day last week and found a key which opened the bags in his possession. Further developments are expected, and in the meantime The Herald withholds the name of the party implicated.

WHY!

WHEREFORE?

The virtues of a remedy for pain do not consist in its being as good for relief as other remedies, but in the fact that it is better, in being more prompt and sure, and in being the best for the specific purpose. It is not an idle catch-line that strikes the eye thus:

ST. JACOBS OIL

THE GREAT REMEDY FOR PAIN, IS THE BEST.

It is the best cure for all aches and pains, and it holds

THE TRUE PROOF.

To this specific fact Architects, Builders, Clergymen, Lawyers, Doctors, Governors, Generals, Senators, Members of Congress and Legislatures, U. S. Consuls, Army and Navy Officers, Mayors and Officials, testify and unite in saying: "We unhesitatingly recommend it."

OTHER REMEDIES FAILED; and St. Jacobs Oil cured promptly and permanently. For the same reason
