BARRING DOMINIONS FROM LEAGUE OF NATIONS PROPOSED

RUSSIAN TROOPS JOIN BOLSHEVIKI NEAR ARCHANGEL

Mutiny and Hand Over Onega Front to Enemy

BRITISH ARE SAFE

Hungarian Reds Advance Into Rumania With Strong Army

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, July 24.—The Government has received a despatch from Major-General William E. Ironside, commander-in-chief on the Archangel front, stating that the Russian troops have mutinied and joined the Bolsheviki, handing over the town of Onega and the Onega front to the enemy. The latter also tried to take the railroad front, but were repulsed.

There are few British troops on the railroad front and none on the Onega front. General Ironside now has the situation in hand, and believes that the fresh British volunteer troops "are equal to their difficult and perilous task."

Bolshevik wireless messages received here today also claimed the capture of Onega, on the Archangel front. According to the Bolshevik statement, they are now afforded an opportunity to drive the British from Archangel.

Onega is 85 miles south of Archangel, at the mouth of the Onega river.

WARSHIPS IN THE BALTIC.

LONDON, July 24. — (Reuter's Agency).—In the House of Commons yesterday, Right Hon. Walter Hume Long, First Lord of the Admiralty, stated that British warships were kept in the Baltic in order to prevent unprovoked Bolshevist raids on the coast towns of the Baltic States and Finland, interference with the feeding of the population and the spread of Bolshevism. He was satisfied the forces were sufficient.

Mr. Long said a British naval force had been operating in the Caspian Sea since August, 1918, against many Bolshevik armed merchantmen, destroyers and submarines. The operations would be concluded and the personnel withdrawn before winter.

ADVANCE ON RUMANIA.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

VIENNA, July 24.—The Hungarian Reds, continuing their offensive against the Rumanians, were advancing yesterday along the entire line of the east bank of the Tisza River. Reports received here stated the Red offensive was being directed by Bela Kun.

(This apparently refutes the report that Bela Kun had been ousted as dictator of the Hungarian Communist Government, or indicates that he has been restored to power.)

The Red forces, in their drive towards Grosswardein, had captured the important towns of Szentes and Torok-Szent-Miklos, east of the Tisza, between Budapest and their objective. They had also seized large quantities of war material.

In their defeat of the Rumanians, the Reds crossed the Tisza at numerous places between Tokaj and Csongrad. They were under the command of Commissary Landler and former Lieut.-Col. Julier, chief of the general staff.

It is learned that the Reds also intend to attack the Hungarian White army, employing three divisions of infantry and thirty batteries of artillery. Attacks are planned from several directions.

Bela Kun has addressed an ironical note to the peace conference, explaining that the Reds were obliged to attack the Rumanians because the latter had disregarded the "will of the Entente." The Reds, it was added, desired to force the Rumanians to respect the will of the peace conference.

The Hungarian Reds, apparently, have begun the offensive plans reported in recent despatches. Grosswardein, one of the oldest towns in Hungary, dating from the middle of the eleventh century, is 137 miles east of Budapest.

ASK SOVIET IN FRANCE.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

Budapest, July 24.—The Hungarian Soviet leaders addressed a wireless manifesto to the French proletariat yesterday, inciting them to establish a Soviet in France.

SEEKING SYMPATHY.

By Associated Press.

VIENNA, July 24.—The object of the reported attempt of Count Michael Karolyi, former President of the Hungarian Republic, to sail from Italy for the United States, it is said here, is to enlist sympathy and help for the political and industrial reconstruction of Hungary and to secure better territorial conditions. Count Karolyi is also said to intend writing a book dealing with conditions in the Hungarian republic during the past eight months. He has no intention of attempting communistic agitation.

A despatch from Berlin under date of July 17 quoted Vienna advices to the Kreuz Zeitung as declaring that Count Karolyi had arrived in Italy from Austria through the assistance of the Italian military authorities. The Vienna despatch said that Count Karolyi would have to leave for America immediately. No report of him having attempted to sail has been received.

LARGEST SHIPS NOW TO BE BUILT

U.S. Shipping Board to Construct Two Leviathians of Sea

By Canadian Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Two gigantic ocean liners larger than any ships now afloat, and designed to cross the Atlantic in four days, are to be built by the Shipping Board. They will be 1,000 feet long and of 30 knots speed and will be equipped for use as commerce destroyers in the event of war.

Announcement was made today by the board that plans for the ships had been completed and that work on them would be started in the near future. It is proposed to provide a special terminal for them at Ford Pond Bay, Long Island.

The ships, which are to be built under the supervision of the Navy Department, will be fifty feet longer than the Leviathan, now the largest ship afloat, and will have a gross tonnage of 55,000. Their draft will be 35 feet, depth 74 feet, beam 102 feet and accommodations will be provided for 1,000 saloon passengers, 800 second cabin passengers and 1,200 steerage passengers.

The crew will number 1,000 officers and men and the ships will be of the oil-burning type with a cruising radius of 7,000 miles, which will enable them to complete a round trip on the Atlantic without loading fuel overseas. They will be driven by four propellers on which will be thrown the strength of 110,000 horsepower.

In order that the vessels may be converted into commerce destroyers in time of war, gun emplacements will be built on the decks and the after-deck will be constructed with a view of transforming it into a landing and launching space for seaplanes.

EX-KAISER NOT BROKEN BY FATE

Sorry Germany Voted for His Extradition, Says Old Friend

Special Cable to The Chicago News and Montreal Star by Leopold Alexrino. Copyright.

AMSTERDAM, July 24.—Herr von Begg, former chief of the Civil Cabinet of ex-Emperor William recently paid a visit of ten days to Amerogen. Writing in a Berlin newspaper he tells of meeting the former Kaiser after a long separation.

It was very sorrowful, he says, but it was great joy to see that the Kaiser was not a broken man but that he was bearing his fate with resignation.

The Emperor, he says, takes to heart the fate of his country much more than his own. He does not complain on his own account but expressed sorrow at hearing that the German National Assembly had voted for his extradition.

LONG FORD CASE OVER NEXT WEEK

Defence Will Close Case Today—Goes to Jury Soon

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 24.—In all probability Henry Ford's $1,000,000 libel suit against the Chicago Daily Tribune will reach the jury late next week. It began May 12.

Attorney Weymouth Kirkland, before court opened today told Attorney Alfred Lucking that the Tribune case would be concluded today and Mr. Lucking stated that the Ford rebuttal would require only a few days.

H. H. Esselstyn was recalled to the witness stand in connection with a letter he sent to Henry A. Wise-Wood, of New York, May 9, 1916. Mr. Wood in a speech at Detroit the night before had quoted Mr. Ford as saying that "in case of invasion he would not make a dollar's worth of munitions for profit."

Mr. Esselstyn wrote that he and several others who were at the luncheon where Mr. Wood and Mr. Ford conversed had not heard the words "for profit."

BRITISH LEADERS AND MINISTERS DISCUSS STRIKE

Federation Today Considers New Offer Based on Sankey Decision

HOPEFUL SIGNS

Miners Show Little Excitement Even When Navy Men Arrive

LONDON, July 24. — The exportation of Cardiff coal has been stopped by a Government order issued today.

London Times-Public Ledger Cable to Montreal Star. Copyright.

LONDON, July 24.—Although the area of the coal strike has spread to Cumberland, Staffordshire and Nottinghamshire, the position today is more hopeful, the basis being the conference today between Premier Lloyd George and the executive committee of the Miners' Federation.

In some districts, pumpmen have voluntarily returned. Naval men nowhere were interfered with.

Sir Eric Geddes is holding a conference with the Yorkshire Miners' Council today and has issued a statement asking the workers to return to insure safety of the mines.

LONDON, July 24.—The executive of the Miners' Federation met Premier Lloyd George and other members of the Government today in an effort to settle the dispute in the Yorkshire coal fields.

The Premier was attended by Sir Auckland Geddes, Minister for National Service and Reconstruction, Sir Robert Stevenson Horne, Minister of Labor, and officials of the coal labor department of the Board of Trade.

Before entering the conference one of the representatives of the miners said: "Of course, we are ready for a settlement, but not on the Government's own terms."

No settlement was reached at the morning session of the conferees. The conference adjourned until evening to allow the miners' representatives time to consider further Government proposals on the question of piece rates, growing out of the advance in the price of coal.

The Government proposed that, acting on the basis of the interim report of the Sankey coal commission to the effect that the reduction of output through reduced hours would be less than 10 per cent. The Government was prepared to see that the piece workers should not suffer any loss in earnings and that the piece rates would be increased by an amount which on the average was found necessary to correspond with the 10 per cent reduction in hours.

Robert Smillie, the miners' leader, said the excutive body of the Federation would meet tonight to consider the proposal.

YORKSHIREMEN MEN DETERMINED.

BARNSLEY, Eng., July 24.—On Wednesday I visited Barnsley, largest mining centre in South Yorkshire. The streets are still decorated with peace day flags and are crowded with idle miners. There is no excitement. Horse racing is the chief subject of conversation.

Those I talked to said they wanted a speedy settlement but the decision was to be left to their officials and leaders.

The marines arrived in Barnsley this morning and are going down neighboring pits to work the pumps, but only in a very few places are the marines actually working.

At one place I visited the mine owner himself had worked all night tending machinery to relieve his manager who had previously done duty down in the pit keeping the machinery going which automatically pumps water. Some of the regular pumpmen have refused to strike.

The opinion is expressed by the men themselves that if the strike lasts much longer the men will grow tired of doing nothing and will cause disorder. Their strike pay is only nine shillings a week so that the men will not be content with that.

The men's strong argument is that the majority of the owners are willing to pay the full fourteen per cent demanded. At the weekly executive miners' meeting here tomorrow the question of more drastic action in view of the entrance of naval men in pits, in Britain will be raised.

Unemployment is extending to independent industries, but is not very severe as yet, but within a week or ten days coal stocks will be exhausted and unemployment will be ten times greater. Outside of Yorkshire some of the miners are returning to work.

SIGNS OF PERIL AHEAD.

LONDON, July 24.—Delegates from the Labor triple alliance met in Caxton Hall today, the chief matter for consideration being the application of the strike weapon to secure political, as distinct from industrial, objects.

The original resolution called on to Government to: 1. Abolish conscription; 2. Withdraw troops from Russia; 3. Release conscientious objectors.

The third was never a popular demand and the Government has in advance declared the first and second part of its own considered policy.

Another contentious matter has, however, arisen regarding Churchill's order as to the use of troops in strikes and it is on this chiefly that the direct action vote will be taken.

Press representatives were present during the opening of proceedings today, but Robert Smillie, the chairman intimated that there was a suggestion that the press should be excluded. Ben Tillett moved that the press remain, but this was defeated, 144 against 81.

The lady reporters of the Women's party newspaper protested indignantly, and one yelled to Smillie, "This knocks the bottom out of your cry, no 'secret diplomacy.'"

Smillie replied: "Well, the conference has decided." The press representatives thereupon withdrew.

WILL REFUSE OFFER.

CHICAGO, July 24. — Representatives of the 15,000 street car employes yesterday announced that they would refuse to accept the compromise offer of 62 cents an hour wages, a nine-hour day and time and a half for overtime.

TIMES PROPOSES PLAN TO SOLVE IRISH PROBLEM

Legislature for Three South Provinces—One for Ulster

ULSTER AS A UNIT

Would Afford Greater Stability Than by Breaking it Up

London Times-Public Ledger Cable to Montreal Star. Copyright.

LONDON, July 24.—The Times propose a specific and immediate solution of the Irish problem. Its suggestions follow:

There should be created in Ireland two provincial or state legislatures set up by an act in substitution for the Home Rule act. One legislature should be for the three southern provinces, the other for Ulster. The retention of the whole province of Ulster as a unit would give greater stability than if Ulster were reduced to six or four counties with an overwhelming Unionist majority.

Arrangement of the constituencies under the act would insure a Unionits majority in the province, while the existence of a powerful Nationalist minority in the whole province would give protection against any disregard for minority rights and interests.

Similar considerations do not apply with the same force to the three other provinces which it is proposed to group under one legislature.

The variance of their interests is not sufficient to justify the additional complication of the machinery of government that would be entailed by the creation of separate legislatures for Munster, Leinster and Connaught. Nevertheless, were it thought expedient to set up either two or three southern legislatures such sub-divisions would not be wholly inconsistent with the main provisions of the plan.

Upon the two state legislatures should be bestowed full powers of legislation in all matters affecting international affairs. While it is obvious that certain powers, such as control of posts and telegraphs, customs or railways, could not be decentralized, the provincial legislatures might have the power to legislate in regard to such matters as agriculture, fisheries, technical instruction, municipal interests and local government, local works and undertakings, licensing hospitals charitable institutions, direct taxation for provincial purposes, control of provincial revenue, borrowing on the sole credit of the province, factory legislation and private bill legislation in matters affecting the state concerned.

To these state legislatures might also be entrusted the administration of such proportion of the grant for development and re-construction as might be properly applicable to the provincial needs as distinct from those of Ireland as a whole.

FOR SELF-GOVERNMENT.

In each state, moreover, there would be a constituted state executive responsible to the state legislatures. This executive would be charged with the administration of all state or provincial services.

The creation of state legislatures and executives would be the first stage in the bestowal of self-government upon Ireland. They would furnish the basis of government upon lines parallel to those of the possible decentralization of government in the United Kingdom under the scheme of general federalization, but they are not conceived as being contingent upon such a measure, nor are they to be regarded as meeting the full claims of the reasonable Nationalists. There are powers of the central government which the great majority of Irishmen desire to control, and these powers should not be withheld if and when conditions in Ireland permit of their exercise by an Irish Parliament. Therefore it should be made possible for Irishmen to obtain these wider powers as soon as they are in a position to employ them, and the act constituting the state legislatures should contain provisions to this end.

Such provisions can consist only in and for the establishment of an all-Ireland Parliament. The basis of such a Parliament should be that each of the two states would have equal representation. This principle of equality is recognized in the constitutions of Australia and South Africa.

The parliament might perhaps consist of delegates from the two state legislatures so elected as to secure exact reflection of the parties and interest in those legislatures. Thus for example the Ulster delegation would consist of Unionist and Nationists in the same proportion as they would exist in the Ulster legislature.

The Irish parliament might well sit alternately at Dublin and Belfast. The object in its information is to create a body that could eventually discharge the functions of the central authority in the Irish federation.

POWERS OF WESTMINSTER.

The right of the British Parliament to legislate for all portions of the British Dominions is in principle beyond the question, and this principle should be specifically recognized in the act.

Broadly stated, the powers to be retained by the United Kingdom Parliament are the Crown and the succession to it, peace, war, navy, army, air force and for the present the right of raising territorial forces, treaties and foreign relations other than commercial treaties, dignities and titles of honor, treason, felony aliens and naturalization, quarantine and navigation, coinage, legal tender, trademarks, copyright and patent rights, lighthouses, buoys and beacons.

Transferable to the Irish parliament might again broadly be the imposition and collection of all direct taxation, borrowing on the credit of Ireland as distinguished from the credit of the provinces, fixing and collection of customs and excise duties, negotiation and conclusion of commercial treaties, (subject perhaps to a free trade treaty with Great Britain and to provision against the dumping of British goods in Ireland, land purchase, estate commissioners, labor exchanges, national insurance,

RT. HON. H. A. L. FISHER.

Named as Ambassador to the U. S., succeeding Lord Reading.

NEW AMBASSADOR TO UNITED STATES

London Report Says H. A. L. Fisher is Appointed

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, July 24.—In view of the urgency of appointing an Ambassador to Washington before the departure of the Prince of Wales for America, the British Government has decided to hesitate no longer, and the name of H. A. L. Fisher, president of the Board of Education, has been forwarded to Washington.

Under the acceptance of Mr. Fisher by America announcement of his appointment will be made formally. Among the numerous candidates whose names were mentioned for the post until the last minute were Lord Rothermore and Lord Lytton.

SCHOLAR AND ADMINISTRATOR.

The Right Hon. Herbert A. L. Fisher has been President of the Board of Education in the ministry of Premier Lloyd George since December 1916, and is recognized as one of the foremost scholars and administrators in the United Kingdom. He was born in London, on March 21, 1865, the eldest son of H. W. Fisher, and received his education at Winchester and New College, Oxford, finishing at Paris and Gottingen. At Oxford he had a brilliant career and took a "double first" upon graduation.

History was his great subject; and for over twenty years he was a tower of strength to the Oxford School of Modern History.

In 1912 he went to Yorkshire as Vice-Chancellor of Sheffield University, and he filled that post with great distinction until the end of 1916, when Mr. Lloyd George called on him to take office as President of the Board of Education. He then entered Parliament as member for the Hallam Division of Sheffield. Edinburgh University had given him the honorary degree of LL.D., in 1913.

VALUABLE LITERARY WORK.

Dr. Fisher's literary work is remarkable both for its range and for its powers of expression and criticism. He is best known as an authority in the Napoleonic period, and he has added much to our knowledge of Napoleon's legislative achievements in Germany. He has written a learned and illuminating history of the reigns of Henry VII. and Henry VIII.

Among his books are: "The Mediaeval Empire"; "Studies in Napoleonic Statesmanship"; "A Political History of England"; "Bonapartism"; "Life of F. W. Maitland"; "The Republican Tradition in Europe"; "Political Unions"; "Napoleon Bonaparte." He has also made most valuable contributions to the "Cambridge Modern History," while his articles in the English Historical Review, The Quarterly Review, The Economic Journal, The Economic Review, The Speaker, and The Fortnightly Review have commanded attention and been widely quoted in all parts of the world.

His eminence has been recognized outside Britain; in 1908 he delivered a series of lectures in South Africa and in 1909 he was Lowell lecturer in the United States. He is a trustee of the British Museum and a Fellow of the British Academy. He was a member of the Royal Commission on the Public Services of India, 1912-15, and of the Government Committee on German Outrages, 1915.

A SUCCESSFUL MINISTER.

As Minister of Education he has been a great success and his second Education Bill, which was introduced in Parliament in March, 1918, was placed on the statute book and has been recognized in all parts of the world as a notable piece of legislation. It has come into operation with the close of the war at the official proclamation of peace, and is declared by experts to be destined to work a swift and silent revolution in the life of the Motherland, so sweeping are its provisions for the reform and extension of education among the masses.

Personally, Dr. Fisher is a man of spare, fit frame, clear cut and eloquent of adequacy in his every movement. He is a tremendous worker and a great optimist.

Dr. Fisher married Miss Lettice Ilbert, daughter of Sir Courtenay Ilbert.

READY TO HAND SHANTUNG OVER TO CHINA NOW

Japanese Delegates Say Will Act When Peace Ratified

AUSTRIAN TREATY

Consideration of Terms Begins in Vienna Tomorrow

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, July 24. — Chinese and Japanese delegates to the peace conference continued at loggerheads today, no nearer an agreement with regard to Shantung than they were the day peace was signed.

Japan is ready to return Shantung to China as soon as the peace treaty is ratified, according to a statement today by a member of the Japanese delegation.

"Although Japan would be most happy to see China sign the German treaty," he continued, "whether she signs it or not makes no material difference. Hence, Japan is not making any advances to China with the view of getting her to sign.

"The Japanese delegation is surprised that America, as well as China, is not willing to trust Japan. We are obliged to return Shantung under the terms of the 1915 treaty. We are ready now to give Shantung to China, retaining equal rights with China in the international railway, and guaranteeing free entrance to the port of Kiauchau."

According to the best information, Baron Makino, head of the Japanese delegation, does not intend to make public his promises to the Big Four, as he believes such a statement would be superfluous.

The Chinese maintain the same stand they held when the treaty was signed. They declare that the retention of the railway rights by Japan places Shantung directly under the domination of the Tokio Government. They insist that China will sign the treaty only if permitted to file a reservation.

In response to their assertion that the treaty of 1915 was forced, and hence is invalid, Japan replies that nearly all of the world's treaties have been forced and this fact does not cause the treaty to be invalid.

ISLANDS NEUTRAL GROUND.

By Canadian Press.

PARIS, July 24.—The Bulgarian peace delegation now on its way here from Sofia will be quartered at Neuilly, a suburb of Paris, just outside the city. The delegation is expected to reach here tomorrow morning.

The Baltic commission of the peace conference presented a report today recommending that the Aland Islands between Sweden and Finland at the mouth of the Gulf of Bothnia, be neutralized under the guarantee of the League of Nations.

The Aland Islands is an Archipelago of eighty inhabited islands and a vast number of rocks and islets. The population is about 12,000. The islands formerly were held by Sweden, but were taken over by Russia in 1809. Early in 1918 when the warfare between the White Guards and the Bolshevik forces became active in Finland it was reported that the Germans planned to make use of the Aland Islands in connection with their operations in Finland. Sweden sent troops to occupy the islands.

After the peace conference opened in Paris a delegation from the Aland Islands presented former Premier Orlando of Italy with a claim for annexation to Finland based on historic, linguistic and geographic and commercial grounds.

The Swedish Government on June 25, 1919, sent a note to Finland in reply to one from that Government and in its note Sweden insisted that the future of the Aland Islands should be settled by a plebiscite and said that as an alternative the question would be submitted to the peace conference.

TO CONSIDER THE TREATY.

Special Star Bable by United Press.

VIENNA, July 24.—Consideration of the peace treaty, as presented to the Austrian delegations by the Allies, will begin here tomorrow. On that day the chief committee of the National Assembly will meet in plenary session. The assembly will convene Saturday for a discussion of the peace terms.

President Seitz, accompanied by Vice-Chancellor Fink and Ministerial Secretaries Bauer, Zerdich and Schumpeter, have left to meet Mr. Karl Renner, delegate to the peace canference. They will return to Vienna Friday.

Secretary Bauer announced that under the financial clauses of the peace treaty Austria's obligations would amount to 3,000 crowns per capita (about $1,600).

CAN'T VALIDATE TREATY.

Special Cable to The Star by United Press.

LONDON, July 24.—Indications are that the Austrian National Assembly will be unable to validate the peace treaty, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Vienna today.

PRINCE TO LIVE ON BATTLESHIP

Special to The Star by United Press.

LONDON, July 24.—Social aspirants will be much disappointed by the news that the Prince of Wales when he visits the United States will live aboard the British dreadnought Renown.

According to the official explanation of his residence aboard the battleship, the Prince desires to return American hospitality "in his own home."

It is stated in court circles that the Prince's American program is entirely in the hands of the United States Government. President and Mrs. Wilson, it is expected, will probably be his guests aboard the Renown.

It is doubted whether the British heir will make an elaborate tour of the United States. At present his program is to provide for more than a fortnight's tour. The Prince is not going to visit the Middle West, but the part of his trip has not been decided upon.

FORCE DOMINIONS FROM NATIONS LEAGUE, SAYS FORMER PRESIDENT TAFT

Startling Proposition by Famous American Known as One of Strongest Backers of League of Nations—Direct Blow at British Empire

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Proposals by William Howard Taft for League of Nations reservations today were proving the biggest league development since the events immediately following the return of President Wilson.

Announcement from the White House that the President has known of the Taft proposals for a week apparently strengthened predictions that they might form the basis of a compromise between the President and anti-League Senators.

While the Senate Foreign Relations Committee continued reading of the Treaty today, Senators Robinson, Arkansas, and Lenroot, Wisconsin, were to take the floor with Treaty speeches.

SENATOR DEMANDS TEXT OF FRENCH PROTECTION COMPACT

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Inquiring why the treaty with France proposing that the United States aid that country in event of an unprovoked attack by Germany has not been submitted to the Senate, Senator Brandegee, Republican, Connecticut, read into the record today a magazine article quoting the text of the document as requiring that it be submitted for ratification "at the same time," as the treaty with Germany.

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—William Howard Taft, former President of the United States, has proposed a new reservation to the covenant of the League of Nations intended to limit the prerogatives and powers of the overseas dominions or self-governing colonies which have been admitted to membership.

Mr. Taft's reservation would prohibit membership on the Council of the League to dominions or self-governing colonies if the Mother Country is represented, or to the Mother Country if any of the other nations of the Empire are admitted to the supreme body of the league. The reservation is aimed directly at the British Empire, as no other nation has at present dominions or colonies which can be admitted under the provisions of the league.

This proposal is one of several contained in letters written by Mr. Taft from his summer home in Pointe a Pic, Que., to Will H. Hayes, chairman of the Republican National Committee. The correspondence has not been made public, although it has been sent by Mr. Hayes to several Republicans. One of the Senators assured me that the above version of this Taft reservation was correct.

FIRM FOR COVENANT.

Mr. Taft has been from the first a strong believer in the league, and has done much to aid the President in his fight for the passage of the treaty through the Senate. He has stated, and still declares, that he believes the covenant should be adopted as it stands, but he looks on the problem, it is said, from the practical standpoint, and believes now that the only way of obtaining ratification of the treaty is by compromising on certain reservations. He names these reservations, which deal with article 10, withdrawal from the league, immigration and the Monroe Doctrine, and then introduces the entirely new reservation which affects the standing of the dominions.

His statement that he favors the covenant as it stands is not regarded as consistent here with his introduction of a new plank in the platform of the opponents to the league.

FEELER FOR NOMINATION?

The fact that the letters have been addressed to Mr. Hayes, who is the head of the National Republican organization, that they show an inclination to fall in line with the main body of Republican sentiment in the Senate on this leading question of the time, taken with the fast that the Republican party is looking far and wide for a man to assume the leadership and carry the banner in the next presidential election are the grounds for the belief here that Mr. Taft is endeavoring to establish cordial relations once more with the heads of the machine that controls the "Grand Old Party."

The new reservation also lends color to this theory. Any move that can in any way be construed as limiting the power of the British Empire will be popular with the large Irish vote, and possibly might affect the many German communities in the United States.

The criticism that the representation of the dominions in the league gives Great Britain a preponderance of power has been heard on the floor of the Senate. Here it is crystalized, for the first time, into a definite proposal to limit that representation.

WOULD DEVITALIZE TREATY.

To do so would mean not a reservation, but a direct amendment. It is assumed, which would throw the treaty back for further consideration by all the powers signatory to it.

Article 4 of the covenant states that "any member of the league not represented on the council shall be invited to send a representative to sit as a member at any meeting of the council during the consideration of matters specially affecting the interests of that member of the league."

This paragraph was regarded by the representatives of the minor powers in Paris as one of the most vital to the covenant, as affording them protection from arbitrary decisions of the "Big Five" who dominate the council. The representatives of the dominions, which were ranked as minor powers, especially Sir Robert Borden, were most insistent that it should be included. It is evident that this paragraph would have to be wiped out to meet the wishes of Mr. Taft, as certain matters specially affecting a dominion might easily arise which would call for the presence of that dominion as a member of the council.

Thus Mr. Taft, while publicly endorsing the treaty as it stands, privately works for an amendment which is what the proponents of the league are most anxious to avoid, as it would mean delay in the signing of the treaty and might easily, according to the President, endanger the peace of the world.

That the proposals of Mr. Taft are taken seriously and will be used by the opponents is proved by the statement of Senator Borah, leader of the irreconcilables, that certain statements by the ex-President would probably change the entire situation within the next 48 hours.

HARRY N. MOORE.

CAMOUFLAGE "INTERPRETATION" WOULD BAR CANADA OUT

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—A plan for "interpretations" in Senate acceptance of the League of Nations has been suggested by former President Taft in the hope of uniting on a middle ground enough Democrat and Republican senators to defeat any radical amendment of the covenant, and in the end obtain its ratification.

The suggestion has been received with earnest consideration by the group of Republicans who favor the League idea and who already are at work on a definite program of interpretative reservations which they declare they have reason to believe will be accepted by the administration. The administration leaders, however, unwilling to concede that any reservations will be necessary, still insist they will have the votes when the time comes to ratify the convenant.

SIX PROPOSED CHANGES.

Mr. Taft's suggestion, which created a sensation in the Senate because of his well-known advocacy of unreserved ratification, was embodied in two letters to Will. H. Hays, the Republican National chairman. They touched upon many features of the treaty controversy and emphasized the former president's belief that only by acceptance of some reservations could the treaty be ratified.

In one of his letters to Mr. Hays, Mr. Taft severely criticised President Wilson for his "partisan" course during the war and in the peace negotiations and in the other gave the impression that no serious opposition is to be feared to any portion of the peace treaty except the League covenant. The Shantung provision, he wrote, has been the subject of deliberate exaggeration."

WOULD AFFECT CANADA.

The two letters to Mr. Hays do not outline definitely the six interpretations suggested by Mr. Taft, but they are referred to as having been contained in a previous unpublished communication. These six stipulations are understood to be substantially as follows:

1. That upon two years notice the United States could cease to be a member of the League without having the League pass upon whether she had fulfilled all her obligations under the covenant.

2. That self-governed colonies and dominions could not be represented on the League council at the same time with the mother government or be included in any of those clauses where the parties to the dispute are excluded from its settlement.

3. That the functioning of the council under Article X shall be advisory only and that each member shall be left free to determine questions of war in its own way, the decision of the United States resting with Congress.

4. That differences between the nations regarding immigration, the tariff and other domestic questions shall not be left to the League for settlement.

5. That the Monroe Doctrine is to be reserved for administration by the United States.

6. That the United States reserves the right to withdraw unconditionally at the end of ten years or at least to terminate then her obligations under Article X.

These interpretations, Mr. Taft wrote, could be made without weakening the covenant.

The President saw four more Republicans yesterday and it is understood that each of them expressed a determination to vote for reservations. They were Senators Page, Vermont, McLean, Connecticut; Sterling, South Dakota; and Newberry, Michigan. None of them would discuss the conferences in detail, but it is known that some of them implied from the President's remarks that the door was not entirely closed to reservations or an interpretative character.

PRESIDENT WAS INFORMED.

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—President Wilson knew of William Howard Taft's letters to senators and to Will H. Hays, chairman of the Republican National Committee, a week ago, it was said, at the White House today. Further than this, no comment was forthcoming on the publication of the letters which, in some quarters, are regarded as a possible basis for compromise on the peace treaty and covenant.

LETTERS PROVE NO CONNECTION WITH VILLISTAS

U.S. Senator from New Mexico Produces Correspondence

WOULD MEET VILLA

But Told Intermediary He Demanded Guarantees for Americans

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Senator Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico, today made public correspondence referred to in an announcement at Mexico City yesterday as showing an attempt to arrange a conference between himself and Francisco Villa. None of the letters showed any direct communication or connection between the senator and the Mexican bandit leader.

Among the letters made public by Fall were two he wrote to Charles F. Hunt, an El Paso broker. Included also was a letter, Fall said he had been informed the State Department had intercepted. This letter was said to have been written in 1917 to Villa by Hunt, offering to arrange a conference between Villa and several influential Americans, including Fall. Fall also gave out a letter he wrote to Secretary Lansing, March 12, 1917, after he had been informed that George C. Carrothers, the State Department agent on the border, had probably obtained a copy of Hunt's proposal to Villa. In this letter Fall declared he had done nothing illegal and he had no apologies.

Fall made public the correspondence following an announcement in Mexico City that the Mexican Government would publish letters recently captured at Juarez. One of the letters purporting to have been written by Villa to Hunt, contained a reference to "ex-Governor" Charles Hunt, which, it is believed here, caused Mexican officials to confuse Hunt with Former Governor George W. P. Hunt of Arizona.

The first letter written by Hunt to Villa in January, 1917, said:

"If you will meet me at a place designated by you on the border I promise to bring to our conference one of the most eminent statesmen in the United States with powerful influence with both our political parties relative to questions pertaining to Mexico. I refer to United States Senator Albert B. Fall, who appreciates the Mexican people, and no living American knows the conditions in Mexico better than he."

ON HIS OWN INITIATIVE.

Hunt also said in the letter that he had discussed "this question" thoroughly with Senator Fall. He added that he was taking this step on his own initiative. Hunt then wrote to Fall stating what he had done. Fall replied at length, explaining his position, under date of Feb. 1, 1917. He said:

"I presumed that you had simply written to Villa or some of his friends along the line of our conversation when I visited you at the hospital in El Paso and that if you had mentioned my name at all, you had possibly, in doing so stated your conclusions from this conversation.

"I stated to you that in the event Villa came to the border or had his representatives come, that I would have no hesitancy in talking with them openly and discussing Mexican matters with them, but that I would not discuss with any representative of any faction anything touching Mexico except that as a preliminary thereto. There must be an absolute pledge of respect for American lives and property, of respect for treaty obligations, etc.

"I have very carefully refrained from aligning myself directly or indirectly with any of the so-called factions in Mexico.

"If Mr. Villa could convince me that he was in a position where, if not interfered with by this Government, he could restore order and maintain peace and order in Mexico, and thus would be in a position to and would give me satisfactory assurances that he desired and would perform all international obligations, as well as the national obligations, to protect foreign citizens and property investments in Mexico, I would, without hesitation, publicly, in the Senate or elsewhere, lay before the people of the United States such assurances, and frankly and impartially advise them, from my knowledge of Mexican affairs, as I have heretofore done, just what I thought was best for this Government to do in Mexico."

CARRANZA GOT LETTER.

Hunt then discovered the letter to Villa had evidently miscarried, and wrote Fall that it appeared Carrothers had intercepted it and a copy had been obtained by Carranza.

Fall replied he regretted Hunt wrote to Villa, but it could do no more than call for explanations. A few days later Fall wrote Secretary Lansing that Hunts' mental condition was not what it might be, and enclosed copies of his correspondence with Hunt.

"I have no apologies to make for any actions of mine whatsoever," Fall wrote.

BICYCLE MERCHANTS' PICNIC.

The bicycle merchants of Montreal are holding their second annual picnic next Sunday to Cartierville, all taking part proceeding from Lafontaine Park to the picnic grounds awheel. There will be sports and other attractions provided, as well as a drawing for a valuable prize.

THE TRANS-CANADA LIMITED.

Western Canada and the Pacific Coast have been brought within much quicker reach of the East by "The Trans-Canada Limited," the popular all-sleeping-car train operated by the Canadian Pacific Railway from Montreal and Toronto to Vancouver. It makes the fastest time between terminals of any trans-continental train in America. Leaving Montreal at 3.30 p.m. daily, Fort William is reached in 30 hours, Winnipeg in 48, Regina in 54, Calgary in 68, and Vancouver in 93. By this means a business day is saved—a great convenience to the large number of business men who travel between Eastern and Western Canada. Leaving Montreal on the afternoon of Monday, for instance, it is possible to spend a full business day in Winnipeg and be back in Montreal by Friday 6.45 p.m. Tourists to the famous resorts of the Canadian Pacific at Banff, Lake Louise, Glacier, Vancouver and Victoria will also find this train particularly convenient. It consists of standard sleeping cars, dining car and compartment observation car and sleeping car passengers only are carried except between Montreal and Ottawa, where there is limited parlor car accommodation. Make reservations early at any C.P.R. Ticket Offices.

ST. AGATHE SOLDIERS WERE ENTERTAINED

The verandah of the Laurentide Inn, Ste. Agathe, was the scene of a pleasant entertainment last evening when the fifth of a series of concerts for returned soldiers was given by the Knights of Columbus Catholic Army Huts.

An excellent program was rendered by volunteer artists from Montreal, including Miss Celeste Benjamin, soprano; Miss Fanny Stafford, contralto; P. Griffin and J. Fisher, tenors; R. E. and D. W. Dowling, eukelele solo; Chas. Coleman, magician, and W. McEvilla, comedian. Miss Magnan accompanied the various performers, and selections by the orchestra under the direction of Prof. J. J. Shea, composed of F. Mills, Drouin, F. Drouin, Gagnon, and Whitman proved very popular. 'Cello solos by F. Drouin were a feature of the instrumental program.

Some 125 invalided soldiers were in attendance and warmly applauded and encored the various numbers. Refreshments and smokes provided.

Lee Burns, secretary, who was accompanied by Mrs. Burns as chaperone of the party, was in the chair, while Dr. Leo Doran, a member of the Hospital Committee of the K. of C. Huts was also in attendance.

Thanks to the organizers and performers and to the K. and C. Huts for their interest in the soldiers at the Inn were voiced by Dr. J. R. Byers, medical superintendent of the Sanatorium, and by Dr. McDonnell.

A letter of thanks has been received by the comptroller of the Catholic Army Huts from Dr. Byers, medical superintendent at St. Agathe, for the motor launch which was recently provided for the accommodation of the invalided soldiers.

PREFERENCE IN TRADE DEFENDED

British House Adopts the Policy in New Financial Bill

LONDON, July 24.—(Reuter's Agency.—The Right Hon. Austin Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer, concluded the debate on third reading of the Finance bill. Wedgewood Benn moved its rejection on the ground that it initiated a system of colonial preference. J. J. Wilson also objected to the extension of a preference to mandated territories.

Mr. Chamberlain in reply declared: "It is not proposed that we take for ourselves in a mandated country any advantage which is not open to any other members of the League of Nations; but in respect to the mandatories' relationship we would give them in our markets something we did not give to all the world outside. (Cheers). We contemplate favoring the import into this country of goods from the mandated territories.

"We are not securing any selfish advantage for ourselves in the markets of the mandated territory and are not doing for the produce of the mandated country anything which any other nation might not do in its own market if it so pleased.

"If this budget were referred to in the future with and word of praise or commendation it would be because for the first time it established the principle of Imperial preference by legislative act. Mr. Benn's motion was rejected on a vote of 215 to 48.

PONTIFICAL CHOIR WILL BE DELAYED

Transportation Conditions to Blame for New Dates

By Canadian Press.

CINCINNATI, July 24. — According to a cablegram received here by the Catholic Telegraph from its correspondent at Rome, the Pontifical Choir, which was expected to reach this country from Rome about August 9, will be delayed a few days on account of transportation conditions. The cablegram follows:

"The departure of James Shevlin, president of the St. Gregoire Society of New York, and the Pontifical Choir may be delayed for a few days on account of transportation conditions. Papal authorization and encouragement has been given to no other party of singers and none other has the right to call itself Sistine or pretend to be papal."

According to local Catholic authorities the choir will be made up of sixty singers selected from the Sistine choir and the three Patriarchal Basilica choirs. The itinerary of the choir has not yet been definitely decided upon.

URGES QUARRIES BE PROTECTED

A recommendation that disused quarries which had filled with water and become a danger to the community be filled in, was made by Coroner McMahon this morning in returning a verdict of accidental death at the inquest upon Wilfred Beaudin, aged 13, of 1868 St. Catherine street east, and Adelard Devinson, aged 11, of 89 Davidson street, who were drowned in a quarry upon property belonging to the Canada Cement Company at Longue Pointe yesterday.

The evidence heard at the inquest showed that there was a fence around the quarry, but that the boys climbed over and were precipitated into 15 feet of water by the dislodging of a piece of rock under their feet.

When the accident was reported to him, Coroner McMahon at once wrote to the Administrative Commission asking that something be done to prevent such fatal occurences, and a reply was received this morning stating that measures were being taken by the Administrative Commission to obviate the danger.

MISSED HER TRAIN.

ALTON, Ill., July 24.—A woman waited at the union station here yesterday two hours for the Big Four flyer. Then she inquired and learned she had missed it. The flyer made its last trip two years ago.

WHILE THE POLICE SLEPT.

RED BLUFF, Cal., July 24.—A. B. Babcock, garage night watchman, thinks the local police ought to tell where they sleep. After arresting a burglar suspect, last night, Babcock led him around two hours seeking a cop, then got sore and let him go.

DIDN'T KNOW IT WAS LOADED.

LONDON, July 24.—Mines may make good targets for stone throwing boys, but around the Orkney Islands they're going to be let severely alone hereafter. A lad who scored a bullseye yesterday from what he thought a safe place on a cliff was thrown into the air and badly injured when the derelict mine which he attacked blew up. The side of the cliff was blown away by the explosion.

WAITED FOR A SIGN.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Refusal to work for the support of his family because "he was waiting for a sign from the Lord telling him when to begin," cost the "Rev." Frank M. Rhoads of the "Holy Roller's his wife.

Mrs. Holma A. Rhoads was granted a divorce by Superior Judge Flood this morning on the grounds of failure to provide. She said their larder grew empty and the assertion of her husband that "the Lord will provide" was without foundation in fact.

She was awarded $50 a month alimony for the support of herself and child.

"Rev." Rhoads has secured a job at the Union Iron works.

CIVIC EMPLOYES AFTER INCREASES

Special to The Star.

HAMILTON, July 24.—A meeting of the fire, police and jail sub-committee will probably be held tomorrow to deal with the application of the firemen for an increase of $200 a year in their pay. The members of the committee are in favor of granting some increases but not all the men are asking.

The street railway men, whose agreement with the company does not expire until next April, have asked for an increase of pay. The company has promised consideration.

POSTMEN'S PICNIC.

The letter carriers of the city will hold their annual picnic next week at Dominion Park, the entertainment for their benefit to be continuous from Monday morning until Saturday evening. A special feature will be a tombola for the exclusive benefit of the letter carriers. Many valuable prizes have been secured. One of the week's attractions will be the well-known Montreal quartette consisting of Emile Gour, tenor; J. H. Thibodeau, tenor; Hercule Lavoie, baritone; and Ulysses Paquin, bass. They will be under the direction of William Dupuis and will give a free concert each afternoon and evening. Sums of $25 and $10 in gold will be given to the persons who hold admission tickets corresponding in their numbering to the lucky numbers to be drawn for on the last day of the picnic.

NOW OPPOSES PROHIBITION

LADY HENRY SOMERSET, the noted English temperance worker, who declares that to force prohibition now would be the undoing of all her years of labor to obtain a sober England. Lady Somerset believes that America differs from England, and while prohibition may be all right for the former, it will but mean a revolt in England, and she intends to do her best to ignore the prohibition drive in England, which she states will set public opinion dead against temperance.

New G.W.V.A. Band Concert Tonight in the McGill Stadium

In the McGill Stadium this evening, at 8 p.m. sharp, the newly organized band of the Great War Veterans' Association will give its first open-air concert. As this is the band's initial bow to the Montreal public in its new status, the event is one of considerable interest, not only to war veterans, but to the general public. A program has been arranged for the occasion which is of a distinctly popular type, and which will at the same time afford the organization ample opportunity to reveal its qualities. The band is composed entirely of men who have seen active service at the front.

The following is the program:

MAX SELINSKY ON BRIEF VISIT HERE

M. Max Selinsky, the brilliant violinist whose short season here some two years ago created such a deep impression on music-lovers, is in Montreal on a brief visit from his beloved Honolulu, where he now resides, and where he has established a famous quintette and a philharmonic society which has become famous throughout the Pacific.

M. Selinsky had Miss May Mukle, also well-known to Montrealers, as his 'cellist last season, and he is now searching for a viola player, a second violinist, and a 'cellist to go to Honolulu for a twenty weeks' engagement.

While "kanten," or isinglass, made from seaweed, is produced in practically every part of Japan where climatic conditions are favorable, the prefectures of Osaka, Kyota and Hyogo, are said to produce more than two-thirds of the entire production of isinglass in Japan, which was about 2,809,207 pounds, valued at $977,492, in 1917.

Lingerie Blouses $4

Formerly to $10.50

A group we have selected from stock because they must be sold while the hot weather prevails, being primarily hot weather blouses.

They are mostly white—three or four colored—in organdie, dimity and cotton voile—self-patterned in dots, stripes and cross-bar effects.

A handful of tailored Forsythe blouses are among the group. There are also self-embroidered models with round necks, others with high collars and tucked, soft fronts, finished with crisp little linen lawn ruffles.

Only a few, at most, but distinctly fine value at $4.00.

"TRUST-BUSTING" TO BE RESUMED

U.S. Will Take Up Work Where War Interrupted it

Special to The Star.

WASHINGTON, July 24. — Attorney-General Palmer has set at rest reports that the prosecution of the anti-trust cases would be allowed to drop. The Government will resume "trust-busting" in October where it left off at the outbreak of the war, officials said.

The case against the alleged steel combine is the first docketed for argument before the Supreme Court when it convenes in October. It was moved forward at the request of the Department of Justice. Similar suits, now pending, will probably be moved ahead also.

Indications were also that the Attorney-General expects to look into the affairs of the meat packers. He said the department has about completed its examination of testimony taken by the Federal Trade Commission and would probably have "something definite to say," about August 1st.

VETERANS DISCUSS VARIED QUESTIONS

Farming, Fishing and Government Recognition of Services Dealt with

That stimulus should be given, not only agriculture, but the other food producing possibilities of Canada, notably stock raising and fishing, was the decision arrived at this morning at the session of the Army and Navy Veterans Association Convention.

Discussion in this regard arose out of the submission of a resolution from the Army and Navy Veterans, Halifax branch, which emphasized that too much stress was being laid by the Government on the question of supporting agriculture, while support to other vocations was denied ex-soldiers in vocations other than farming were in quite as much need of assistance as the tiller of the soil, according to the sentiment of the convention, and if profiteering and high cost of living were to be abrogated it was essential that agriculture should not be nursed to the exclusion of every other form of food production.

The resolution suggested that the Government should encourage and exploit the fisheries of Canada by allowing any five fishermen who have served in naval ratings for two years to take possession of drifters, value $15,000, from the Government on putting up $600 each, while ten soldiers should be value $15,000, on putting up $600 each, while ten soldiers should be able to take possession of a trawler value $75,000, on putting up $600 each, the various veterans' organizations raising a fund to insure the vessels. The resolution also suggests that veterans desiring to engage in fish curing, smoking or canning, or sheep raising, should be granted credit the same as that granted for farming.

The Halifax delegates are also taking up the question of what they claim is an injustice to the officers and men of the Halifax Garrison Artillery, the 63rd and 66th regiments of Halifax, the P.E.I. Heavy Artillery and the 94th Cape Breton Highlanders. It is claimed that at the outbreak of the war they were ordered out at full strength, and remained on duty during the whole war, and were not allowed to go overseas, although repeatedly volunteering for overseas service. The importance of the work undertaken in connection with this important port is emphasized in a memorandum issued by the Halifax branch, who also point out that they did not get all the regular army supplies because they were militiamen, and that therefore, in fairness to the men who had thus served the Government should be asked to order that the Atlantic Seaboard be declared a war zone; that all troops on active service in Canada in 1914 and 1915 be granted a Canadian 1914 and 1915 decoration; that all ranks serving in Canada be granted the War Service Chevrons according to length of service; that all ranks be granted Farm Credit on the same terms as troops who served overseas; that all ranks be granted War Gratuity whether discharged before 11th November or not, and to be dealt with on the same basis as overseas troops; and that there should be only one Great War Council Service Medal, and that it should be issued to all who served in the Great War, whether they served in Canada or Overseas.

WANT LADIES' COMMITTEE.

That every effort should be made for the organization of Ladies' Auxiliary Associations to be conducted in connection with the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, was the substance of the report rendered to the convention by Comrade Evans (Kingston.)

Mr. Evans warmly referred to the great work done throughout Canada during the war and subsequently by the ladies.

The greatest financiers, because the veriest "tightwad" would fall for the smile of a woman, the best organizers of charitable things, the exponents of highest ideals and purposes, Comrade Evans stated that without the ladies the veterans would not be as influential or as complete in organization.

The question of a cable message indicative of the fealty of all the members of the association, directed to the King, was discussed, and referred to a committee to be brought up at the afternoon session.

That the association should be represented on the Civil Service and repatriation committees of the Dominion House, was a matter before the convention in the form of a resolution. It was stated that the G.W.V.A. had a representative on the repatriation committee and had been very considerate in taking care of the recommendations put forward by the Army and Navy Veterans. Representations in this regard will be made to the Ottawa authorities.

A resolution calling for modification in the methods of making land grants was the subject of considerable discussion.

This resolution from the Winnipeg Branch asked that any soldier or sailor who has homesteaded, should have his time of service count on his homestead duties, whether he made the entry for his land before his enlistment or afterward, and that the Minister of the Interior be memorialized to grant this right in form of a regulation.

E. Browne-Wilkinson of Winnipeg, thought that this resolution was a trifle too sweeping. Many men would seize this opportunity to get land who would have no intention of farming it. The interests of Canadians as a body and not one particular body should be considered.

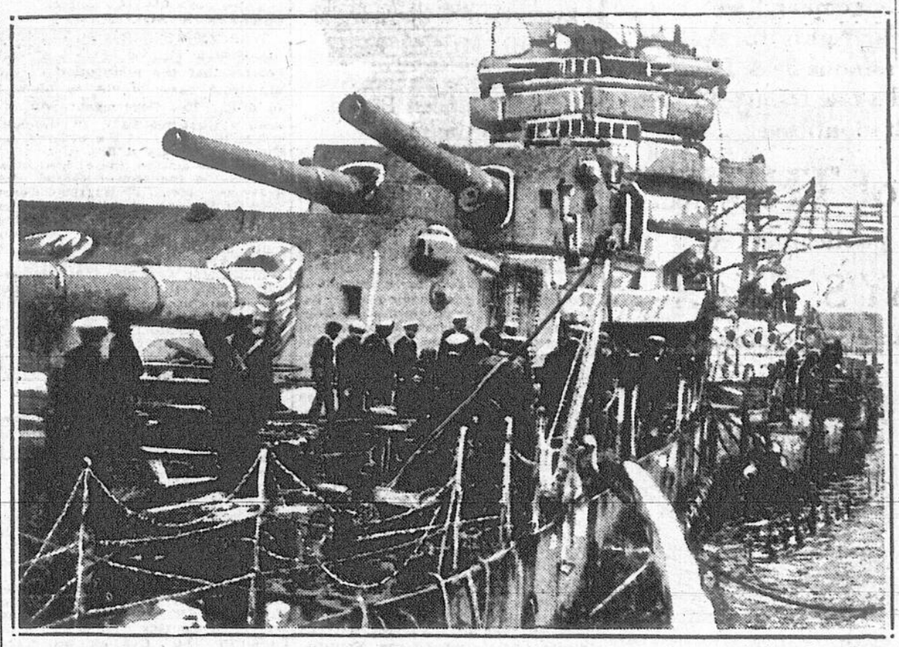

The motion was carried by a very large majority.

Comrade E. W. Low, treasurer of the association, presented the financial statement, which shows a surplus of $986.62. It was recommended that the per capita assessment be raised from 10c to 25c annually. This was adopted before the adjournment.

AN ARTIST SOLDIER.

Lt. E. T. Adney, convenor of the Publicity Committee, Army and Navy Veterans' Association, was at one time one of the leading American artists. He was a student of the late Kenyon Cox school and for years his work was a feature of the Art Students' League exhibitions in New York. Tappan Adney, as his work was signed, is best known through articles and illustrations for Harper's Magazine and Collier's Magazine. When 20 years or more ago, those publications were America's leading magazines. Mr Adney, who has been engrossed in the training work of Canadian Field Engineers during the war, and who is attached to the Royal Military College at Kingston, staying at the Windsor Hotel. Other members of the Publicity committee are: Joe Tennant, an old time newspaperman of Winnipeg, and Capt. Hawtrey, of Toronto.

GOING BACK TO HELP SERBIANS

Miss Kathleen Burke Says Country in Greatest Need of Aid

"I am going to Serbia to look over conditions there" said Miss Kathleen Burke (who is renowned for the work she has done for that unfortunate little country through her collections for the Scottish Women's Hospitals for Foreign Service) as she went on board the S.S. Melita this morning en route for England.

"If ever a country needed help, I am convinced that Serbia does. And if ever a country merited assistance, surely it is that one of our gallant Allies. But from all reports which reach me from authentic sources, it is only too clear that conditions are still appalling. Supplies of all kinds are needed and aid in reconstruction is an urgent necessity. There are districts where the inhabitants, men and women and children, are still living in caves and dug-outs, for all the houses were destroyed before the enemy left last October. Those people are really hungry and ill now, and although peace has been signed, it has not yet brought them relief. The sufferings of our Serbian allies have been excruciating. Every rank and age shared the pain inflicted by the brutal enemy. But none more so than the children. The deeds of some of those little ones merit a place among those of our shrined heroes."

Miss Burke, who has visited the occupied areas in France, Belgium, and Serbia, intends to write several books on the share the children of these lands have had in the great war. Their heroism has amazed her, and it is to preserve the memory of some of the most outstanding episodes in which these children of sorrow have done marvellous things, that she is undertaking the work of collecting and publishing authentic accounts of their glorious deeds.

Miss Burke was a member of the Scottish Women's Hosptials in Serbia before the retreat of 1915. Since that time she has spent all her energy in raising money on this side of the Atlantic for the carryin gon and expansion of the Scottish women's work for the Serbs and French. For years, hospitals were maintained at Salonika, Lake Ostrovo, and Corfu, for the Serbs. Ambulance columns for the transportation of the wounded from foremost dressing stations were also provided. Other hospitals were carried on in France. For this work Miss Burke raised $1,200,000 in the United States, and almost $80,000 in Canada. For her untiring efforts she has been decorated several times by France, Serbia, Great Britain and the United States.

Miss Burke is well known as the only woman to visit the Verdun area at the time of the fearful struggle which was taking place there. Her impressions of that time have been published in a book entitled "The White Road to Verdun."

Miss Burke expects to return to this country in October.

ECHO OF MOONEY CASE IN CONGRESS

Texas Representative Demands Details of Investigator's Work

Special to The Star.

WASHINGTON, July 24. — Congress should make a complete investigation of the activities of John B. Densmore, as special Government investigator in the case of Thomas J. Mooney, Representative Blanton, Texas, declared today. Blanton's resolution was responsible for Secretary of Labor Wilson sending Densmore's report to the House yesterday.

Blanton criticized the Secretary's action in refusing to give the details of Densmore's activities or an itemized statement of the expenditure of Government money in the case.

The investigation should be held to determine these facts, Blanton said, and he has prepared another resolution asking for the probe.

"The Department had withheld some information on the case that Congress should have," he said.

Board Ordered to Resume Work of Conciliation

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, July 24.—The boards of conciliation named by the Minister of Labor to deal with street railway troubles in Toronto and Montreal, whose deliberations were suspended when Toronto employees went out on strike, have both been instructed to resume work and bring down their findings.

It is likely that the same thing will occur in the case of the board which was dealing with the dispute between the Winnipeg Street Railway Company and its employees, when the latter joined the sympathetic strike. Negotiations to that end, it is understood, are now in progress.

IRISH PROTESTANT SOCIETY'S SYMPATHY

Irish Protestant Benevolent Society,
45 Belmont Park,
Montreal, July 21, 1919.

To the Editor of The Star:

Dear Sir,—The serious financial position of the Charity Organization is a matter of great sympathetic and consequential concern to the Irish Protestant Benevolent Society. Our charitable work has brought us into close observation of their methods and usefulness, and in our case a survey by the C.O.S. of cases handled by us proved of inestimable value. Their recommendation regarding one of the "opportunities" mentioned in your paper last December resulted in our adoption of balance required for a good home for the year, which in all probability will be continued or other arangements made. It would be a calamity for the charitable work of this great and wealthy city were this organization's work to be suspended or curtailed. It is the sincere hope of the executive of this society that sufficient funds will be available immediately to prevent such a catastrophe.

STOCK AND FEED FREE TO NEEDY

Arrangements Made to Help Farmers in Drought Areas

By Canadian Press.

CALGARY, July 24.—The Hon. Duncan Marshall stated to the Canadian Press, last night, that arrangements had been made to ship free of charge two carloads of stock for any one man, into the feed areas from any point in Southern Alberta.

It has also been arranged that free transportation will be provided for seven cars of hay for any one man from any point in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta, to the drought areas. Mr. Marshall stated that a good deal of hay and feed had been located in the northern part of Alberta.

CROWN ENTERS IN STRAW BAIL CASE

Attorney-General's Office Issues Instructions—Case Up Tomorrow

Announcement that the Crown would prosecute in the case of Gabriel, alias "King," Gianetti, charged with attempted perjury, misrepresentation of person, and frustration of justice, was made when the case of Gianetti was called before Judge Choquet in the Court of Sessions this morning. Postponement was accordingly made until tomorrow morning at 10.30, after Joseph Cohen, counsel for the accused had appealed to the judge for a brief postponement on account of the absence of bail.

The prosecution was originally in the hands of the Merchants Association of Montreal, the manager of which, John J. FitzGerald, probing alleged instances of "straw" bail, and Peter Bercovitch, K.C., was retained to conduct the case for the association. After three postponements the case against Gianetti was down for hearing in the Court of Sessions today, but at the last minute, Mr. Ladouceur, clerk of the court, received a communication from the Provincial Attorney-General's office at Quebec, stating that in the interests of the public the Crown would enter the prosecution, and that Crown Prosecutor Walsh would conduct the case. Accordingly Judge Choquet postponed the hearing until tomorrow, when Mr. Walsh and Mr. Bercovitch will jointly conduct the prosecution. Meanwhile Gianetti will spend the night in the cells, as his bondsman refused to go bail for him again.

The charges against Gianetti arise out of bail given by him for Hyman Crystal, who was arrested in January on ten charges of theft. Bail was fixed by the judge at $10,000 and Gianetti, in the name of Pellegrini del Sole, stood for this amount, representing that he owned property on St. Dominique street worth $12,000.

Then Crystal "jumped" his bail, and the matter being brought to the attention of the Merchants' Association of Montreal, Manager FitzGerald of that body made a search at the registry office and discovered that the St. Dominique street property was no longer in the possession of del Sole. Moreover, it was learned that the del Sole referred to was Gianetti's godfather, and the misrepresentation of person was thereby discovered. Unknown to Gianetti the St. Dominique street property had been sold in August, 1918, to his own mother by del Sole, it is claimed by the Merchant's Association, who further allege that Gianetti went bail for seven prisoners in the course of a year, all of whom "jumped" their bail.

WANTS INJUNCTION RE PAPER MAKING

Before Mr. Justice Martineau in the Practice Court today is being argued the petition for an injunction presented by Albert J. Brown, K.C., against the Canada Paper Company, Limited, to restrain the latter from using sulphate of soda in connection with the making of newsprint at their Windsor mills plant.

The petition of Mr. Brown is a similar one to that presented by him last year and on which Mr. Justice Duclos discharged the delebre owing to war conditions.

Mr. Brown's contention is that the odors emanating from the use of sulphate of soda as aforesaid by the Canada Paper Company, Limited, is injurious and detrimental to the peaceful enjoyment of the citizens of Windsor Mills, and more particularly on himself and family, owing to the fact that his summer residence and farm are situated in this municipality.

Quite an array of prominent counsel are engaged in the case: Geo. H. Montgomery, K. C., Eugene Lafleur, K.C., and Aime Geoffrion, K.C., appear for Mr. Brown, while A. W. P. Buchanan, K.C., and J. L. Perron, K. C., are looking after the company's interests.

JAIL SENTENCES ARE CHANGED

Recorder Lets Two Keepers of "Houses" Off with Fine

Blanche Bisette and Rose Pelletier, two of the seven women who were sentenced to three months' imprisonment by Recorder Semple for being keepers of disorderly houses on City Hall avenue, will not go to jail, for they have been "let off" and will only have to pay fines of $100 and $200, respectively. The change was made on Tuesday afternoon in the private office of the Recorder. The city prosecutor, Nathan Gordon, was not present.

Recorder Semple stated to The Star this morning that representations had been made to him that these women were before the courts for the first time charged with "keeping" a disorderly house. He had therefore taken this into consideration, and let them go with fines.

According to the records, Rose Pelletier stated that she had only kept the disorderly house for three weeks. Blanche Bisette declared to the judge that she was not the real keeper of the house, but was there as a "blind." She had not been long in Montreal.

Twelve keepers of disorderly houses faced the Recorder for sentence this morning. Four of them were given three months in jail with hard labor; they were Rene Lavallee, St. Justin street; Georgette Legrand, St. Dominique street; Pearl Gray, Vitre street west, and Lena Clifton, Charlotte Lane.

All the other women were heavily fined, mostly $200 and costs, and some had to make deposits of $1,000 to keep the peace for a year. The inmates were all fined $25 and costs apiece.

Claiming that the alleged keepers of four notorious houses had never pleaded guilty on their own will, but at the instigation of their counsel, Leopold Houle, K.C., made a motion to have their pleas changed to "not guilty." He had affidavits to this effect, but Recorder Semple refused to admit them. He did, however, allow the change of plea and the cases were postponed until July 30 for trial.

"If you want my opinion about this," said Judge Semple, "it was because they heard of my sentencing some women to imprisonment only two days ago."

The houses are on St. Justin street, Market Place, City Hall avenue, and Dorchester street east.

Rene Lavalee claimed that she was not the real owner of the house on St. Justin street. She was merely the housekeeper, she said, and she had never been condemned as a "keeper" before. She had rented the house from a "Monsieur," but she could not remember his name or anything else about him, although it was only a few months ago.

Stories of nocturnal orgies were told by a Mrs. Apple, who said she lived near the house run by Georgette Legrand on St. Dominique street. For years she said the noise had been bothersome, and the coming and going of men and women had bothered the whole neighborhood. She knew that the real landlady lived in Bordeaux and only came from time to time to inspect her business. Pointing to Georgette Legrand, she declared that she was the housekeeper, and that she knew her face well. The Legrand woman got three months in jail.

Pearl Grey, a middle-aged woman, was next sentenced to three months with hard labor. Capt. Sauve stated that she had a bad record and had been fined repeatedly.

Lena Clifton, the fourth to receive the jail sentence, was also well over her 'teens. She had been keeping a notorious house on Charlotte lane.

Camille Dubois had only been mistress of the house on Dorchester street east for about two weeks, and she claimed that she was not the real mistress at all. Judge Semple fined her $200 and costs, and another $200 and costs for selling liquor.

The sentence of Alice Boyd was postponed until July 31, as it was claimed that she was sick in bed. A doctor's certificate was produced.

Leda Soreda, Market Place, was fined $200 and costs, and $150 and costs for selling liquor. Louis Gray, who wore black-smoked glasses, was penalized to the extent of $200 and costs, and had to deposit $1,000 for keeping a house on St. Norbert street.

Grey Nun Found Strangled to Death in Elevator Shaft

Word was received today in Montreal of the accidental death of Sister Victor, one of the "Grey Nuns" at the Healy Orphan Asylum, Lewiston, Me. Sister Victor, who was formerly in Montreal, was strangled by her robe when she fell into an elevator well. Her robe had been drawn tighely about her neck. One ankle was held locked between the wall and the cage of the elevator. Upon enquiry from the Grey Nuns here it was learned that Sister Victor's home was in Ste. Hyacinthe. The order in Montreal has received no further details of the accident.

MINEOLA, L. I., July 24.—Ten airpanes left Hazelhurst Field today on a flight to Albany. Colonel Archie Miller, commandant of the field, accompanied them and will confer with Governor Smith regarding the advisability of establishing landing places throughout the state. The squadron expects to return tomorrow.

BRIGHTER

Hour by hour the prospects of the Charity Organization grow brighter.

Although it is $7,000 from goal, there is an awakened interest, a keener anxiety for its fate, as the people who have hearts to give come to know what the Charity Organization means—the destitution it relieves, the impostures it kills, the lives it brightens. There are four days more in which the balance of the deficit can be made good. The Star has full confidence that the people will not acquiesce in the extinction of such a Christian benevolence as the Charity Organization.

LETTER CARRIERS MAY BE SATISFIED

Ottawa Department Thinks Bonus Payment System Cause of Unrest

Special to Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, July 24. — The change made in the system of paying bonuses is believed by the Post Office Department to be the cause of the present dissatisfaction on the part of the letter carriers in Montreal and Toronto.

For years post salaries of Post Office employes have been paid twice a month. When bonuses were voted last year to compensate for the increase in the cost of living, they too were paid to postal employes twice a month. The recent Order-in-Council providing for the distribution of bonuses voted at the last session of Parliament, however, for the sake of informity provided that payments should be made in all the departments once a month.

This change has been under discussion and there is reason to believe that an arrangement will be reached whereby payment will be made hereafter to Post Office employes, including letter carriers, twice a month. There are some 10,000 Post Office employes.

Letter carriers both in Toronto and Montreal are anxious to know what their salaries will be under the new Civil Service classification and from what date those salaries will be effective. The Civil Service re-classification which was completed too late to receive requisite consideration by Parliament. It had, therefore, to be allowed to stand until another session. During the session Hon. N. W. Rowell intimated that the new salaries would likely date from April 1, 1919.

Not until yesterday afternoon was the letter of the Toronto letter carriers asking information respecting salary schedules and bonuses received by the Postmaster-General. It is being answered at once.

EARLY END TO MARBLE STRIKE

Expect Settlement Within Next Two Days, Says President

The marble workers' strike will probably be settled within the next two days, according to a statement made this morning by J. A. Nantel, president of the union. The executive committee of the union met the master marble workers yesterday afternoon at the Builders' Exchange and though the discussion resulted in no definite steps being taken, it is believed by the union that a settlement is not far distant. The meeting was adjourned at the instance of the master workers. The marble workers form part of the International Stone Cutters' Union.

The employees of the Dominion Copper Products Company, Lachine, who went out yesterday, are demanding a minimum wage of 40 cents an hour. The Company has offered them 35c, but the offer has not been accepted.

PERSONALS

Capt. H. W. Byers, military physician of the Fleming Hospital, Ottawa, is in the city for a few days on leave and is staying at the Windsor Hotel. Capt. Byers was the medical officer for a time of the 1st Canadian Reserve Battalion (British Columbia Regiment) in England.

CHINESE COUPLE WED HERE TODAY

Big Celebration in Local Colony—Ceremony in English

One of the biggest celebrations that have ever been held in the Chinese district took place this afternoon when Miss Gracie San Kee, daughter of H. San Kee, of Quebec, was united in marriage to Harry Lee, one of the proprietors of the Mandarin Inn, Lagauchetiere street, and one of the foremost mebers of the Chinese colony in Montreal. The bride was born in Canada. The groom has been in this country about ten years.

The ceremony which took place at three o'clock this afternoon at the Chinese Mission, 336 Lagauchetiere street west, was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Montgomery, of Knox Crescent Presbyterian Church. The wedding march was played by Miss Thompson, Litile Miss Margaret Lee was the only bridesmaid. The wedding service was conducted in English but the singing was in Chinese. Speeches by prominent members of the Chinese quarter followed the ceremony, after which refreshments were served to the women and children. The mission hall was decorated with palms and flowers. Over three hundred Chinese guests were invited. A few English people who have been connected with various Chinese enterprises and missions were also asked to the wedding ceremony. The whole affair was conducted along strictly occidental lines and the costumes were those of this country. A wedding in China requires three days of feasting and enjoyment but the principals in this union decided that this hymeneal celebration should conform to western practise.

After the speeches and light refreshments served at the Chinese Mission were over all the guests were taken in automobiles to the Mandarin Inn where a grand Chinese feast was held. All the dishes dear to the Oriental palate have been prepared for the occasion. The Inn was elaborately decorated with lanterns, palms and flowers.

The honeymoon will be spent in Toronto after which the couple will take up their residence in Montreal.

MRS. J. R. DUCKETT BURIED.

Mrs. J. R. Duckett, wife of J. R. Duckett, who died at Notre Dame Hospital on the 20th inst, was buried yesterday. The deceased leaves her husband and two sons, Anthony and Edward. The funeral service was sung at St. Louis de France Church, where the body was taken to Cote des Neiges cemetery for burial

HARBOR MEETING OFF.

The meeting of the Harbor Commissioners to discuss tenders for the electrification of the Harbor Railway from Victoria Pier to Montreal East, which was to have taken place today, has been postponed until noon tomorrow.

"There's Nothing Like Leather"

While in England last month we noticed that, in spite of Government restrictions imposed on the Leather Trade in general, it was very evident that high grade English Leather is still unsurpassed by any other market in the world.

P.E.I. ELECTIONS BEING HELD TODAY

Both Parties Claim Confidence in the Result

NEW PULP MILL

A Cold Storage for Fish is Projected at North Sydney

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., July 24.—After a short but sharp campaign, both parties are facing polling day today with confidence. When the House was dissolved there were eighteen Conservatives, eleven Liberals and one seat vacant. The Government gained one seat at a by-election since the general election of 1915. There are two independents running in this contest who are not opposed by Liberals, making four candidates running in each fifteen districts. The soldiers' vote is an uncertain element in this election. Men who went overseas have the right to vote for two candidates in each riding, men who served in Canada only one vote, the only qualification being the khaki uniform. A plebiscite is to be taken on the educational tax act by which $75,000 is to be raised to increase teachers' salaries.

CHINAMAN DENIES THEFT.

MONCTON, N.B., July 24.—The Chinaman, Sam Brown, alias Sam Tay, and his white wife and eight year old boy who were arrested at Sydney recently in connection with the three thousand dollar diamond robbery in Moncton last week arrived here yesterday in charge of an officer.

The child was taken to the Children's Aid Home. The Chinaman denies ever having been in Moncton before. The accused will be arraigned before the police magistrate today. The stolen diamonds have so far not been recovered. The prisoners have been finger printed and photographed.

PULP MILL BOOMING.

Sydney N.S., July 24.—Great activity prevails at St. Anne, C.B., the scene of operations of the Cape Breton Pulp and Paper Company, which is made up of wealthy New York and American capitalists and is expected to become one of the biggest industries in the country. It is expected that not only pulp but paper will be manufactured at an early date. At present there are about three hundred men steadily employed and the company are looking for more men, there being plenty of work to keep six hundred men daily employed during the summer months at least. Last week several directors of the company came to North Sydney in their private car and paid an official visit to their timber areas in Victoria County. The pulp mill is said to be one of the finest in the country and it is the intention of the promoters to erect a finishing mill for the product of all kinds of paper. The absence of a railway no doubt militates against the company. However, shipments can be easily made by steamer and already several cargoes have gone forward to the United States.

COLD STORAGE AT N. SYDNEY.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 24.—A movement is on foot to erect a cold storage plant at North Sydney and operate a fleet of fishing vessels out of that port, which is one of the finest on the Atlantic seaboard for the carrying on successfully of such a business. George Hackett and N. J. McPherson will leave for Boston tonight in conection with the industry and it is likely they will succeed in inducing American capital to take up the matter with them.

APPROACHING CELEBRATION.

SYDNEY, N.S., July 24.—At a special meeting of the city council last evening it was decided to hold a big celebration on August 28, the fifth anniversary of the departure of 17th Field Battery for the front. The 17th was the first unit from the Maritime provinces to be accepted for war service and was one of the first complete militia units to reach Valcartier. Two of its officers, Lieut.-Col. Harvey McLeod and Lieut. Col. George Pleesey, lost their lives in the war. A third, Lieut. Col. John A. Macdonald, distinguished himself at the front.

CAPT. JOSEPH SCOTT DEAD.

ARICHAT, N.S., July 24.—Captain Joseph Scott, of the steamer Magdalene, died on the steamer yesterday, a few minutes after she left from Mulgrave. The first mate took command and brought the steamer back to Mulgrave, where she will be tied up until a new Captain is secured.

ST. JOHN LIBERAL DELEGATES.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 24.—The Northumberland county Liberals convention Tuesday elected delegates to the National Liberal convention D. Vallaini, James Robinson and K. P. Sullivan with W. B. Snowball, Dr. Ryan and Andre Arseneau alternates. The convention welcomed those who supported the Unionist cause at the last election, but the chairman, D. J. Buckley, after the delegates had been chosen, expressed regret that no Unionist Liberal had been elected.

REFUSE OFFER OF DIRECTORSHIP.

ST. JOHN, N.B., July 24.—Some weeks ago the N. B. Power Company offered a place on its directorate to a member of the union of the company's employees. The union has decided not to accept now but takes up the matter six months hence.

UNIONS TO AID STRIKE RELIEF

WINNIPEG, July 24.—E. G. Veitch, chairman of the strike relief commission, and several members addressed the unions of boilermakers, stockyard men, plumbers, photo engravers, railway clerks and maintenance of railway men at their respective meetings and in each case was enthusiastically received. Promises of their support were given by all these bodies.

100 PRESCRIPTION LIMIT IN LIQUOR

VICTORIA, B.C., July 24.—That no medical men in the province of British Columbia shall issue more than 100 prescriptions for liquor in any one month is the expressed wish of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of this province, contained in a resolution forwarded to Hon. J. D. McLean, Provincial Secretary and Minister of Education.

QUEBEC CIVIL SERVANTS UNITE

QUEBEC, July 24.—At a meeting of the Quebec Civil Service Association last night by-laws were adopted, and it was decided to hold a convention here next month or early in September which will be attended by delegates of the Quebec and Montreal associations. The by-laws are said to be similar to those of mutual benefit associations.

RY. STRIKE VOTE WAS CROOKED ONE

Many Union Men Did Not Get Ballots Officials Say

EXPLAINS STRIKES

Strong Evidence in Industrial Relations Inquiry in West

WINNIPEG, July 24.—At virtually the same time when the International officers of the running trades were acting as a mediation board in an attempt to settle the metal trades strike, members of the strike committee were denouncing them as "bloodsuckers living off the flesh of workers," and "parasites living off the per capita tax of the men." A. J. Ryall, general chairman of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, yesterday told the Robson Commission, inquiring into the industrial relations and the causes of the recent Winnipeg strike.

According to evidence introduced before the Commission the Internationals were fought strenuously at the time that a One Big Union ballot providing for a vote on a general strike, a six hour day and five day week, severance of affiliation with the Internationals and regrouping of Dominion Trades unions under the One Big Union, was circulated among the railroad workers at Transcona.

C. F. Wilson, K.C., acting on behalf of the provincial attorney-general, read a ballot which stated that a vote was to be taken on these questions and the ballots were to be returned to the Manitoba Provincial executive of the O.B.U.

INTERNATIONAL VILIFIED.

Mr. Ryall old of a meeting of railroad men at Transcona at which addresses were made by both International officers and members of the strike committee. "Their speeches amounted simply to a vilification of the Internationals," he said. "The men were advised to repudiate their International charters and send us back to the United States," he added.

E. H. Cooke, general chairman of western lines for the C.P.R. Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, said that it was impossible to secure the names of the men responsible for the organization of the strike in the C.P.R. running trades in the west. Such a strike was unconstitutional and every member of the brotherhood who participated in that sympathetic strike would be expelled from the organization. Witness said that he felt justified in naming as leaders of the striking trainmen the three men who had served notice on the railway of the sympathetic strike. He named R. Maybanks, R. A. Goodman, and C. MacDonald.

A CROOKED VOTE.

Witness also stated that when the strike vote was taken in the Winnipeg locals, he had been led to believe certain members of the organization who were entitled to cast a vote had not received ballots and had not voted. The witness did not get accurate information as to the result of the vote, but the railway company had been informed that eighty-seven per cent had favored a strike.

Mr. Cooke said that the committee of five who tried the members participating in the unconstitutional strike had expelled only 51, who refused to return to work when called upon to do so.

He thought that a large number of the trainmen stated to have struck were idle during the strike period only because they were on the "spare" list at that time and would not have been working in any case.

DIDN'T HEAR OF STRIKE VOTE.

The next witness, G. H. Lawrence, a member of the lodge 223, of the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen, stated that he had received strike ballot for C.P.R. western lines but that the ballot papers did not state that the strike was authorized by the federation. Witness had had several ballots handed to him on different occasions, and once he was asked if he cared to vote on a purely local matter. He had declined. He had been elected to the strike committee for his lodge, but had not acted on such a committee. At the end of a regular meeting of the lodge a special strike meeting was held at which the attendance was about a hundred. A strike vote was taken with a special ballot marked simply "for" or "against."

Witness said that he believed that the strike committee appointed after this balloting was over had done its utmost to geta fully representative vote of the lodge on the strike question. He knew of members, however, who had never heard of the vote. Witness said that he was nominated for the strike committee for the lodge during his absence. He had not refused to act but had taken no part in the committee's activities because he was not in favor of the strike or of the strike meeting. The latter was not in accordance with the rules of the federation. It was the feeling at the meeting that if he international or grand lodge officers would not release them from the regulation, and if the western lines of the brotherhood would not support them, the lodge should "cut the strings and go out anyway," the witness concluded.

T. H. Argue, another member of local 223, who gave evidence at Monday's session, concerning the distribution of ballots in the running trades, was recalled for cross examination by Mr. Murray. He repeated that he had never received a ballot from though he had heard that the lodge was taking a strike vote. Asked if he thought that the ballot was purposedly withheld from him, he replied that he would not say that. It would have been difficult, however, for the men in charge of the vote to reach him. He knew of two other members who did not get a ballot paper.

FIFTY THOUSAND STILL OVERSEAS

OTTAWA, July 24.—Apart from the thirty-eight hundred officers and men being brought to Canada by the Regina and the Winnifredian, there still remain in England, including soldiers' dependents and unattached women, approximately forty-nine thousand Canadians who must be brought home before the task of demobilization is complete. Unmarried soldiers and officers still to be returned number ten thousand and married eleven thousand. Wives, children and unattached women swell the total to nearly fifty thousand.

Although the homeward movement of Canadians is not at present as heavy as formerly, it will shortly be speeded up and it is anticipated that by the end of August the Canadians and their dependents will all be back in Canada.

CONSERVATIVE CANDIDATE.

TRENTON, Ont., July 24.—Mayor W. H. Ireland, of Trenton, was yesterday nominated as Conservative candidate for the legislature at a convention of West Hastings Conservatives held at Sydney. On the final vote he received one vote more than F. Ketcheson, of Belleville, after which the nomination was made unanimous.

CROP REPORTS

WHEAT CUTTING BEGAN ON TUESDAY

Manitoba Farmer Says His is the Best Crop Since 1914

RAIN NEEDED

With Rain Crops Would Make Feed for Cattle

Special to The Star.

WINNIPEG, July 24.—It is cool generally through the west, but with no rain except in northern Manitoba and central Alberta. The condition is improving, but $2.25 was bid for October delivery in Winnipeg yesterday, in spite of reports that the harvest is actually beginning in some parts of Manitoba with a good yield. The dealers continue to fear the worst from western Saskatchewan and central southern Alberta.

Brandon:—Robert Roddick, a farmer of Brandon Hills, is cutting wheat. He commenced Tuesday on a field that was sown on April 18. He declares it is the finest crop since 1914. It is 30 years since wheat was cut in this particular district during July. Wheat fields in the Assiniboine River Valley are ripening fast.

Fannystelle:—Condition of wheat good and will be harvested about Aug. 4. Very little sign of black rust. Condition of oats very good, barley fair, rye fair, flax good.

Gladstone:—Wheat good. Harvest will begin July 25. Black rust is reported developing. Oats, barley and rye fair.

Gilbert Plains:—Wheat fair and cutting will start in three days. No black rust; some red. Oats average, barley good, no flax.

Grandview:—General condition of wheat good. Harvest will commence about July 28. No sign of black rust. General condition of oats and barley good. No surplus hay or pasture except in the mountains.

Gretna:—Wheat condition excellent. Wheat cutting about Aug. 4. No black rust. Oats, barley, rye, flax, all good; no damage from hail or wind. An odd field of barley cut.

FROM SASKATCHEWAN.

Halbrite:—Moisture is still needed. The crop in this district will all be cut. Stock is not suffering for pasture.

Hawarden:—Crop almost a total failure. Rain is needed badly. Thirty per cent of the wheat acreage will not be cut. There is no flax, oats, barley or hay, and stock is suffering for want of pasture. Wheat will not average more than three to five bushels per acre. Part of the district will not get their seed.

Kelliher:—Sufficient moisture. Seventy-five per cent wheat headed. Some wheat will be cut in July. Oats and barley good crop. Good all round crop in this district.

Kinistino:—Wheat and barley cutting will begin Aug. 10; oats, Aug. 15; no flax. Probable yield of wheat 12 bushels; barley, 25 bushels; oats, 35 bushels.

Kindersley:—A few localities need rain. About 75 per cent of wheat will be cut, 50 per cent oats and nearly 100 per cent flax.

FROM ALBERTA.

Irma:—Rains enough to fill what grain there is, need more to bring green feed ahead. From present appearances, probably 10 per cent wheat, 40 per cent oats and 70 per cent barley will be cut.

Medicine Hat:—Crops a total failure unless get rain soon. Less than 10 per cent wheat will be cut, about same for oats, barley and flax, but if we get rain, latter may make better showing. Very little hay. Only enough to feed stock until fall.

Munson:—Wheat not suffering, but good rain would help it to fill better. All grain sown will be cut. Good standard of wheat, but other grains lighter. Sufficient hay for local demand. Wheat should average over 20 bushels per acre, three feet high. Abundance of pasture for all stock.

Nobleford:—No rain. Oats nearly all gone, but a few fields, with rain, would make green feed. Wheat has been steadily going back, but some fields on well-worked fallow will be worth cutting. The best yield will probably be 15 bushels, without rain. Fall rye all cut and will yield from 15 to 25 bushels.

BOOSTS UNION GOVT. IN ALL PROVINCES

Orange Sentinel Would Organize Against Anti-Conscriptionists

TORONTO, July 24.—Union Government for the province of Ontario is advocated in an editorial in the Orange Sentinel, of which H. C. Hocken, M.P., is editor and proprietor, as follows:

"There is talk of forming a Union Government in Ontario. That is what ought to be done. There are tens of thousands of loyal, progressive British Liberals in this province that do not want to be dominated by the reactionaries who have selected H. H. Dewart as their leader. The only bond between them is the name of the party. As an exponent of progressive political thought Sir William Hearst is a thousand times more a Liberal than Mr. Dewart. In fact there is no significance in the party nomenclature. The real Liberals are the Conservatives, as the policies of the late Sir James Whitney and the present Premier fully substantiate. A Union Government in Ontario would lead the way for a Union party in Manitoba and the other Western provinces, and soon cover the whole Dominion.

"The Sentinel stands for a union of the loyalists of Canada, so that the Dominion will be free from the attempts of anti-conscription and reactionaries to destroy our place in the empire."

IVENS TOLD ALIENS POLICE THIEVES

Further Evidence of Revolutionary Movements of Accused Strikers

WINNIPEG, July 24.—A secret service whose ramifications extended even into the carefully guarded precincts of the labor temple was named as the source of evidence of an actual revolution by Sergeant A. E. Reames, chief of the Manitoba Royal Northwest Mounted Police secret service, at the preliminary trial yesterday of eight labor leaders charged with seditious conspiracy.

The accused, R. B. Russell, William Ivens, W. A. Pritchard, R. J. Johns, Alderman A. A. Heaps, Alderman John Queen, George Armstrong and R. E. Bray, maintained the indifferent attitude they adopted at the first sessions. They laughed outright at some of the evidence, and continually passed laughing whispers.

"Reports I had from reliable agents were to the effect that there was a revolution in the making," Sergeant Reames declared, under cross-examination by E. J. McMurray, counsel for the labor men. He reiterated quotations from speeches by William Ivens and George Armstrong which counselled revolution. He said he believed these speeches were contributory causes to the general strike.

"I was not surprised that the strike was peaceful at first," he said. "It would have remained so if the strike committee could have retained control of everything in the city under the labor temple permit system. They wanted peace, for a purpose."

Evidence of an independent witness, Joseph Thill, who had attended a meeting the day before the first riot, brought out the fact that William Ivens had told a large gathering of ignorant foreigners that their homes were in danger of violation by the special police. Mr. Ivens told a story of a special policeman stealing money from a striker's wife and children under threat of his baton. When the special police had been attacked the next day, the witness had thought it his duty to report Ivens' speech to the police. He said he believed it was contributory to the riots, and was "vicious and that its effect at that time would be particularly bad, " He said he had been shocked and horrified at the thought of a man having so little sense that he would make such an inflammatory address to such an audience.

J. S. Woodsworth, acting editor of the Labor News, after the arrest of Rev. Wm. Ivens, who is charged with sedition and counselling to commit an indictable offence, was given a further remand of one week when he appeared in police court yesterday.

C.N.R. MEN STICK BY INTERNATIONAL

One Hundred Per Cent Voted Against the O.B.U.

WINNIPEG, July 24.—Reorganization of the C.N.R. system federation by the election of delegates lined up with international trades unionism was suggested in the action taken Tuesday night at a largely attended meeting of the North Star Lodge, Number 871, composed of C.N.R. carmen. K. McIver, President, was an the chair. The lodge has now about four hundred members and approximately three hundred were present.

The lodge advised the C.N.R. joint protective board to immediately appoint delegates to the system federation to fill two vacancies and that the four delegates to the federation be instructed to proceed at once to take steps to reform the federation by getting in touch with the delegates from other crafts.

It was decided to elect delegates to the reorganized Trades and Labor Council of Winnipeg, and Arthur Brester, W. Cooke, J. Woolstool and H. Nightingale were chosen to represent the lodge on the council when it is reconstituted.

The maintenance of way local is 100 per cent opposed to the O.B.U. This announcement was made at the conclusion of an address made by S. A. Weeks, Assistant General Chairman, William Varley, General Organizer of the A.F.O.L., Toronto, was present at a meeting of the storemen's local of the international organization of clerks and freight handlers of America. By unanimous vote of its membership this union decided to remain with the International body.

WOMEN JOIN THE O.B.U.

The women's labor league passed a resolution favoring its affiliation with the O.B.U. and decided to appoint delegates to its central council. It is asserted, however, that this body will not be eligible according to the constitution of that arganization, which provides: "That no delegate shall be seated in the central labor council who is not a bonafide wage earner and a paid-up member of the O.B.U."

A resolution was also passed urging the members to use every effort to support the defence fund for the men arrested in connection with the general strike.

Raw Furs 20% to 65% Higher

In spite of the ever-increasing cost of pelts, one can always get at Alexandor's the finest Furs and the most exclusive modes at very moderate prices.

The reason of this lies in the fact that A. J. Alexandor, Limited, is a large organization with branches in three cities, possessing unusual facilities for securing the best raw furs at lowest prices, while the head of the firm is himself a master-designer, outrivalling the best that Paris and London can produce in the creation of superb Furs.

Beef to Consumer Advances More Than Live Stock

TOO MUCH FISH

Cold Storage Report Show Twenty Million Pounds in Store

OTTAWA, July 24. — That stocks of food products in cold storage on July 1 compare favorably with last year is shown by the report of the Cost of Living Commissioner to the Minister of Labor concerning food in storage and in process of cure in Canada on that date. Attention is drawn, however, to the export demand which is likely to be considerable. Attention is drawn also to a serious accumulation of fish. The report follows:

Butter went into storage rapidly during the month of June, notwithstanding the high prices, and on July 1st we had 10,365,116 pounds of creamery and 1,000,634 pounds of dairy butter. This is a total of nearly two million pounds above July 1st of last year. There should be no shortage here next winter if exports are not too heavy, although this is less than one-half of our requirements for next winter's use.

The oleomargarine in storage is only 412,584 pounds, which is, as usual, less than two week's market requirements.

The cheese in storage amounts to 9,812,910 pounds. As in the case of butter, the heavy flow of milk in June has had a large effect upon the stocks and we now have approximately the same quantity on hand as on July 1, 1918. This amount would supply our domestic requirements for about five months if we had no export but the export trade is the heaviest part of our cheese trade. Last year we exported 152,000,000 pounds.

EGGS MOVING FREELY.

Eggs are also coming into storage more freely than last year in spite of the high prices, but apparently not so freely as two years ago. The stocks include 12,263,536 dozen in cold storage, 482,791 dozen on hand, other than in cold storage, and 533,737 pounds of frozen eggs.

The stocks of pork on hand in process of cure and in storage are just about equal to the average for these last two years. If our domestic trade were the only matter to be considered we have enough on hand today for five months. However, our export trade took about twelve million pounds a month this last year. The total stock on July 1st was 39,659,877 pounds. Of this, by far the largest part was in process of cure and not in cold storage at all. There was in cold storage 6,431,652 pounds frozen, 2,838,444 pounds fresh unfrozen, 2,505,545 pounds dry salted, and 8,812,384 pounds sweet pickled. It is evident that the export market is taking our surplus just as fast as the surplus gets out of the curing tanks.

The stocks of beef are 40.31 per cent less than last month, but greater than normally at this time of the year. The prices for beef animals are not so high as earlier in the season, and yet prices for the meat have been advancing markedly, and this in spite of the fact that the reports from both London and Chicago have indicated that the world situation warranted a decline rather than an advance. The largest portion of the beef in storage is frozen, of which we have 15,737,658 pounds; unfrozen fresh beef amounts to 1,768,810 pounds; cured beef amounts to 604,173 pounds, and the quantity in process of cure if 397,972 pounds. These stocks look large for this time of the year, but it must be remembered that the domestic consumption of beef in Canada last winter ran nearly that high each month and that in addition our exports averaged over ten million pounds a month last year.

PRICE TO CONSUMER TOO HIGH.

The trouble is not in the quantity in store; the trouble is that the consumers' price has been advancing as compared with the price of livestock.

The stocks of mutton and lamb consists of 1,537,807 pounds frozen and 60,280 pounds unfrozen. Comparative figures show the total to be 27 per cent less than a month ago, but 42 per cent more than last year.

The stocks of poultry include 64,583 pounds broilers, 397,600 pounds chickens, 682,495 pounds fowl, 12,294 pounds ducks, 96,692 pounds geese, 192,805 pounds turkeys, and 161,159 pounds unclassified, making a total of 1,607,628 pounds. Comparisons show this to be 25 per cent less than last month, but 489 per cent more than last July.

The fish in storage are accumulating seriously. The stocks in cold storage on July 1st were 20,357,445 pounds and in addition there were 3,244,400 pounds on hand other than in cold storage. The largest holdings are on the Pacific Coast, although there are large stocks generally, excepting in the large cities.

PREMIER BORDEN BACK AT WEEK-END

OTTAWA, July 24.—Sir Robert Borden is expected back in Ottawa during the week-end. He is on a cruise in the St. Lawrence Gulf.

SAYS HUDSON BAY LINE SACRIFICED

THE PAS, Man., July 24.—That the Union Government sacrificed the Hudson Bay Railway for branch line construction elsewhere in the West, of which only a small portion would be built, was charged by J. A. Campbell, in a public address. He went on to say that the Government had made huge votes of money for public works in order to give employment to labor, and in the same breath almost, the Government declared that it was impossible to secure labor for the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway.

VERA WOULD BEGIN LIFE OVER AGAIN

TORONTO, July 24.—Vera de Lavell, who surrendered to the police Tuesday, several weeks after breaking jail, where she was confined while awaiting sentence for helping the late Frank McCullough, condemned murderer, to escape, was arraigned yesterday on the charge of jail-breaking. In explanation why she surrendered, her counsel stated that she wished to "begin life over again." The prisoner was remanded for a week.

EMPTYING COBALT FORT.

COBALT, Ont., July 24.—The detachment of number three C.G.R. at Fort Henry, is being removed to Ottawa, and the old Fort will once more be closed, except for the gunner, who still resides as in days of peace there, when visitors climbed the hill to view the fort. During the first part of the war alien enemies were interned at Fort Henry, being subsequently removed to Kapusking.

JUDGE DENTON CHAIRMAN.

OTTAWA, July 24.—Hon. Justice Denton has been named by the Department of Labor as Chairman of the Board of Conciliation which will inquire into the dispute between the Master Bakers of Toronto and their delivery men. F. H. McGuigan will represent the twenty employers and W. A. Clay the employes.

FIX MINIMUM WAGES IN STORES

Saskatchewan Girls to Get $15 After First Year's Experience

Special to The Star.

REGINA, Sask., July 24.—Minimum wages for female employes in retail stores in Saskatchewan were fixed yesterday at $9.50 for beginners during the first three months; $10.50 the next three months; $11.50 the third three months, and $13.50 for the balance of the first year. Thereafter they are to be deemed experienced and to receive a minimum wage of $15 a week. The hours of work are to be 48.

These were the decisions announced by the Saskatchewan Minimum Wage Board, following sittings at which evidence was heard at Moose Jaw, Prince Albert, Saskatoon and Regina.

Out of 659 adult women and girls reported employed in this class of work in this province, 341 are being paid wages from $6 to $15 a week and a large proportion will automatically be increased when the board's order becomes effective which will be about the middle of September. Provision is made for an extension of the hours of work under special circumstances when permits may be issued by the secretary of the board not to exceed 36 days in any one year. The minimum of $15 is higher than that in effect in other western provinces, the figure being $12 in Manitoba, $12.75 in British Columbia and $9 in Alberta. The board will meet again on July 30 to fix hours and minimum wages in other classes of employment provided for in the act.

PALL OF SMOKE OVER NORTHWEST

Forest Fires in Western States Cover Vast Area

RAGING FOR WEEKS

In One District 612 Fires Reported Since the Tenth of June

By Canadian Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—Much of the Pacific northwest was under a pall of smoke from grass, brush and forest fires burning today in Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

Lightning was responsible for a number of new blazes reported and high wind in many places overcame the temporary advantage brought about by the slight rain fall which accompanied the thunderstorms, to the thousands of fire fighters who have been for weeks waging an almost ceaseless struggle against the flames.

In Western Montana and Northern Idaho, according to forest officials there have been 612 fires since June 10. About 2,500 men are employed in fighting the fires in that territory.

A change in the wind last night brought temporary safety to the little town of St. Regis, Montana, which for several days had been threatened by fires on three sides. The most serious fire, to the north of St. Regis covered an area of thirty miles in circumference.

Three crews of 300 men each were fighting a fire along a fifteen mile front in the Blackfeet forest adjoining Glacier National Park on the west. It had covered fifteen thousand acres and the only hope of extinguishing it was said to be heavy rain.

The forest service estimated four hundred thousand acres of land have been burned over during the present season 250,000 acres in Montana, and 150,000 in Idaho. The damage in Montana was estimated at $25,00 dollars and it was said thirty million feet of timber have been destroyed in Montana and 75,000,000 feet in Idaho.

Forest fires were reported also from western Washington and points in Oregon.

MICHIGAN HIT ALSO.

DETROIT, July 24.—Forest fires in Northern Michigan have again assumed serious proportions, according to advices received here this forenoon. It is reported that Dollar Settlement, on the Whitefish Bay shore, about thirty miles west of Sault Ste. Marie, was wiped out late yesterday, but that all residents moved out in time. A blaze for a time yesterday threatened a number of houses on the outskirts of Sault Ste. Marie, but was brought under control by city employes.

In the northern part of the lower peninsula fire has broken out anew east of Mancolona. One of the largest camps owned by the Antrim Iron Company was destroyed this morning and volunteer fire brigades have been rushed to the scene.

RAINS IN NORTHWEST.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 24. — Heavy rain last night in Western Montana and Northern Idaho were believed at the district forest service headquarters to have greatly improved the forest fire situation which has been regarded as extremely critical.

BELA KUN DEPOSED BY THE EXTREMISTS

Head of Hungarian Soviets Was Not Radical Enough

London Times Cable to Montreal Star. Copyright.

VIENNA, July 24.—An unconfirmed report says that Bela Kun was deposed by the most extreme of his colleagues, Zamuely and Varga, supported by the terrorist group in Budapest on the ground that he sought negotiations here with the Entente.

Refugees agree that the extremist elements at Budapest have recently become more vigorous, and especially are eager to attack the Rumanians as a means, not only of reviving the morale of the Red army, but also of relieving the desperate food situation by the acquisition of further rich tracts of national territory.

JAPAN AGAINST TRIAL.

TOKIO, July 24.—The citizens of Fukushima have started a movement against Japan participating in the international tribunal to try the former German Emperor on the ground that such action would have a bad effect upon the Japanese people. Viscount Takaaki Kato, member of the House of Peers, and former foreign minister addressing a meeting of the Kensei-Kai, or opposition party at Osaka, expressed doubt whether the League of Nations would restrict armaments and said he believed that expansion of the Japanese navy was necessary to the interests of the empire.

NEW YORK CHEERS UP.

NEW YORK, July 24.—After nine days of almost incessant rain, the sun struggled through the cloud banks at noon yesterday. Simultaneously came the announcement by the manager of the Raincoat Makers' Union that its members would walk out today to enforce its demands for a 44 hour week with $44 pay. If the rain has ceased it probably will avert serious floods in the lowlands of New Jersey and Long Island where considerable damage has been caused.

CHASE MURDER SUSPECT.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., July 24.—The second man implicated in the murder of Constable Armstrong at Nipigon last Friday is at large. Apparently since Monday afternoon there has been no sign of him, although Inspector Symons, Sergeant Burleigh and members of the local police forces, Mounted police, Dominion, Provincial and Railway police are still scouring woods between Port Arthur and Wild Goose Point.

GREAT LAKES

It is not necessary to go to the ocean for an ocean trip. Out on Lake Superior, you might think you were in mid-Atlantic, particularly when you sit in the verandah cafe of the big C.P.R. Great Lakes steamers. The difference is that you get more sunshine, less chance of nasty weather and more other ships to see. All along between the Soo and the Twin Cities of Port Arthur and Fort William you pass great freighters carrying the golden grain of the western prairies to the mills and markets of the East.

Between Port McNicoll and the Soo, the steamer travels through the island-dotted waters of Georgian Bay and up the sweet, green-fringed waters of St. Mary's River. A delightful trip; why not take it Any C.P.R. agent will give you the particulars.

FRENCH CROSS FOR CARDINAL MERCIER

Rain Did Not Dampen Belgian Welcome to French President

BRUSSELS, July 24.—The visit of President Poincare to Antwerp yesterday was marred by rain. Cardinal Mercier, primate of Belgium, received the President at the door of the cathedral in Mechlin, where addresses were exchanged and the President pinned the French War Cross on the cardinal's breast. Antwerp was beautifully decorated for the President's visit and the streets were densely packed with enthusiastic citizens. At a reception in the town hall President Poincare was made a citizen of Antwerp.

King Albert and Queen Elizabeth and President Poincare dined at the French embassy in Brussels in the evening.

King Albert and President Poincare went in the morning to Ghent, accompanied by Crown Prince Leopold, Marshal Foch, Stephen Pichon, the French foreign minister, and a retinue of high dignitaries of the court. All the towns along the route were elaborately decorated with flags, and despite the rain the people in each of the places through which the party passed lined the streets and extended enthusiastic greetings.

The ovation reached a climax at Ghent, where the party was received by the burgomaster, the various civic societies and a committee of prominent residents. In welcoming President Poincare, the burgomaster greeted his as the representative "of noble and heroic France."

In thanking the burgomaster for the cordial welcome of the French President alluded to the "victory of reparation" which had crowned the patriotic hopes of France and Belgium, and voiced his personal good wishes and those of his nation for the welfare of Belgium and her people.

Times Proposes Plan to Settle Irish Problem

old-age pensions, posts, telegraphs, telephones, postal savings banks, trustee, savings banks, ways and communication now before Parliament and education.

CONTROL OVER EDUCATION.

Education is perhaps the most contentious question of the day in Ireland. Its ultimate solution could best be left to Irishmen after they have begun to see the probable development of their country under the new system, but in the act of settlement and on the analogy of the Home Rule act, legislation calculated to endanger religious liberty might be withheld from the sphere of competency either of the state legislatures or of the Irish parliament.

The three categories of powers enumerated—those conferrable upon the state legislatures, those to be retained by the Parliament of the United Kingdom and those transferrable to the all-Ireland parliament—are neither exhaustive nor final. They are susceptible of adjustment and variation.

The main feature would be that all powers in the last category should be transferred to the Irish parliament, ratified by a majority in both state legislatures.

The all-Ireland executive, responsible to the all-Ireland parliament, would take over from the existing Irish executive the working of the departments actually transferred or of any new departments that might have to be created as a result of the transfer.

COMPOSITION OF EXECUTIVE.

The composition of the all Irish executive would necessarily be affected by the condition that the consent of both state legislatures would be necessary to its creation. The office of Lord Lieutenant should be continued, but should be shorn of its political character. It should be similar in character and in power to that of the Governor-General of a Dominion. The Lord-Lieutenant would have the right of veto, both on Irish and state legislation and in his office he might be assisted by the Irish Privy Council, perhaps re-constituted for the purpose.

SAFEGUARD OF LIBERTIES.

It is proposed further to safeguard the liberties of both states in the Irish federation by giving to each legislature a permanent veto upon the application to its own state of any legislation passed by the all-Ireland parliament. This veto might be extended to cover the administrative orders of the all-Ireland executive. By this means each state would enjoy the position of absolute independence within the Irish feteration.

The chief virtue of these suggestions is that they possess the paramount virtue of elasticity. For seven hundred years the Irish question has run its troubled course. It can hardly be settled off-hand and for all time by a single legislative act.

It is not expected the principles will obtain the immediate approval of the Ulsterites nor the extreme Nationalists. They represent that the Times regards as the basis for the solution to be imposed upon Ireland.

It would completely safeguard the Ulster Unionists' liberties. The Sinn Fein may oppose so full a recognition of the Ulster claim, but no scheme has been or can be suggested for the Irish settlement that the obduracy of one or the other of the great political parties might not wreck. This scheme is no exception.

BAUER'S WARNING

German Premier Says Strikes Useless—Must Remedy Grievances

By the Associated Press.

WEIMAR, July 26.—In addressing the National Assembly today Gustav Bauer, the Premier, alluding to the recent strikes warned the country against a hasty revolution, which he said could only be a counter-revolution resulting in disaster.

The Premier admitted that the great masses of the people had ground for discontent and said it was the Governments' task to remove any just reason for this. The remedy, he added, was a law regulating workers' councils and economic councils, which the Government would draft.

GERMAN-AMERICANS PLAN RELIEF FUND

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, July 24.—A campaign will soon be launched by German-Americans in this country to raise at least $35,000,000 for the relief of war sufferers in Germany and German-Austria, according to a decision reached at a mass meeting here last night. The meting was attended by about six hundred prominent citizens of German ancestry.

A committee of thirty-five men and women was appointed to conduct the campaign. It was said that similar organizations will be formed in Chicago, Cincinnati and St. Louis. Among those backing the project here are James Speyer, banker; Hubert Cillis, president of the Guardian Life Insurance Company, and Victor Ridder, editor of the Staats Zeitung. It was said the meeting was sanctioned by the State Department.

MONTREAL KILTIE GETS ONE YEAR

The Epsom Manslaughter Charges Fall to the Ground

GUILTY OF RIOTING

Two Canadians Not Guilty and Five Given Year in Jail

LONDON, July 24.—(Reuter).—At the Surrey Assizes yesterday, Bugler Robert Todd and Pte. R. A. McAllen, of the Canadian Forestry Corps, were found not guilty of manslaughter in connection with the death of Police Sergeant Green at Epsom and discharged.

Privates F. H. Wilkie, 102nd Canadian Battalion; J. Connors, 13th Canadian Highlanders; A. McMaster, 3rd Canadian Reserve, and D. Yerez and A. Masse, of the Canadian Forestry Corps, were found guilty and sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment without hard labor.

H. Benjamin, defending Connors and McAllan, opened the defence by calling Connors, who, he said, was 19 years old, had enlisted in the army at the age of 16 and had been in it ever since. He had been wounded in France. While sitting on a bench near a hotel in Epsom he saw a party of soldiers going past. He followed them to the police station, and stayed there about ten minutes, during which time he saw no act of violence. He then returned to camp and absolutely denied he used a plank in any struggle with the police.

Cross-examined by Sir Ernest Wild, Connors said he did not see any soldiers tearing down palings near which he had been seated, nor had he heard any bugle calls. Connors said he waited five minutes before he followed the soldiers, and could not estimate the time when "we" arrived at the police station.

Justice Darling—"Why do you say 'we' when you were by yourself?"

Connors proceeded to deny evidence for the prosecution that he threw a policeman over a hedge.

NO PLACE FOR MOTHER'S SON.

McAllan said he followed the crowd in the execution of his duty as camp policeman. At the police station some one had told him they were going to get some men out. He meditated, "This is no place for me" (laughter), and was turning to depart when he was struck by a stone.

McMaster said he was asleep on the night of June 17 when he heard "fall in" sounded. He dressed and joined the crowd in camp, and, not knowing the object of the march, accompanied the others to Epsom, and was proceeding along the road when he was struck by a stone on the head and knocked out.

Masse denied participation in any violence against the police, and said he was struck on the head with a stone.

Wilkie's evidence was much the same as McMaster's, but he admitted he was in front of the attack on the station and in the station yard.

Yerex gave similar evidence.

Bugler Todd said he was formerly a Dr. Barnardo Home boy, who had been sent to Canada. On June 17, after sounding "lights out," he went to bed. There was a great noise in the camps at 11 o'clock. A number of men came to his hut and ordered him to blow the "fall in." The mob became threatening, and he complied. He heard men shouting: "We are going down to the police station to rescue our men." He went to Epsom with the crowd and lent his bugle to several men on the way, with which they made noises. After two men had been released from the police station, Todd deposed he heard men threatening to wreck the town. He searched out Major Ross, who, when he told him, said: "For God's sake blow something on the bugle and try and get them back to camp."

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FAILS.

Sir Ernest Wild, the Crown prosecutor, mentioned that Major Ross had denied he ordered Todd to sound the "fall in," but added that no one would find fault with Todd for sounding the bugle at that juncture and trying to get the men back to camp.

After counsel for the accused had addressed the court, the jury found all not guilty of manslaughter, and McAllan and Todd not guilty of the other charges.

Connors, McMaster, Wilkie, Masse and Yerez were found guilty of unlawfully and riotously assembling together.

CAPTAIN IS KILLED IN CHICAGO FIRE

Special to The Star by United Press.

CHICAGO, July 24.—Fire Captain Hugh Murray was killed and damage of $150,000 was done last night and early today in a fire that wiped out three blocks of frame dwellings in the Polish tenement district. More than a score of families were made homeless.

WITHDRAW MONEY TO FIND OUT HOW MUCH

Germany Will Then Reissue and Tax All Incomes

By the Associated Press.

WEIMAR, July 24.—In order to determine exactly how much property in Germany is available for inevitable taxation, the Imperial Finance Ministry has decided to withdraw all current paper money, which will be replaced by bonds or emergency papers. These, in turn, can be exchanged for new paper money when issued. Everyone will be compelled to surrender all cash on hand and he will get back only what he has turned in on the basis of bonds, as the old paper money will be declared invalid.

All stocks and bonds will be subjected to stamping, and thus brought under control. All unstamped papers will lose their values. Similar measures will be taken with contracts of companies, to determine invested values.

Rush of Foodstuffs to Germany Follows Blockade Removal

By the Associated Press.

BERLIN, July 24.—The first results of the raising of the blockade, says the Deutsche Allegmeine Zeitung, is the flooding of Cologne with foreign goods.

"French firms," the newspaper adds, "are offering hundreds of thousands of kilograms of cocoa powder, chocolate, coffee, ox-fat, pork-fat, macaroni and toilet soaps. German import companies have been offered large quantities of corn starch and cocoa, hundreds of carloads of white pearl beans and Chinese yellow peas, and raw coffee and chocolate in huge quantities.

"The American offers include bacon, olive oil, rubber coats, steam turbines, automobile machinery, various oils and vaseline.

"An Anglo-Japanese firm offers the direct importation of borax, paraffine, rosin, flax oil, shellac and soap."

FRANCE WILL FLOAT ANOTHER PEACE LOAN

PARIS, July 24 (Havas). — Louis Klotz, Minister of Finance, answering interpellations on the Government's financial policy in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday stated that the issuance of treasury bonds had increased, while advances to the Bank of France had decreased. He said the economic situation had improved each month.

A new loan has been decided upon, M. Klotz said, but a favorable time must be awaited to float it. He said the Government would have recourse to the taxation.

Discussing financial relations with the Allies, the minister assured the Chamber that negotiations now in progress will be concluded favorably, and added: "We must have confidence in those who helped us win the war."

GERMANY MUST RETURN LIVE STOCK

By Associated Press.

PARIS, July 24.—Germany will have to surrender to France 500 stallions, 3,000 fillies, 90,000 milch cows, 100,000 sheep and 10,000 goats, according to a report made yesterday before the French Peace Commission, sitting under the presidency of Rene Viviani, by M. Dubois, economic expert for the commission, in commenting on the peace treaty clauses.

Two hundred stallions, 5,000 mares, 5,000 fillies, 50,000 cows and 40,000 heifers are also to go to Belgium from Germany. The deliveries are to be made monthly during a period of three months until completed.

LUXEMBURG, July 24 (Havas).—The president of the Chamber of Deputies proposed yesterday that the City of Verdun be adopted. The proposition was greeted with enthusiasm.

ATTACK PREFERENCE IN MANDATE TERRITORY

Chamberlain Says it is Not Forbidden by League of Nations

LONDON, July 24. — On the third reading of the finance bill, which was carried last night in the House of Commons, J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, was again attacked on account of the amendment moved by him to the bill July 9, giving the Government power by an order-in-council to extend colonial preference to any territory of which any portion of the British Empire may become a mandatary under the League of Nations. The amendment of Mr. Chamberlain was adopted at the time.

The critics of the Chancellor argued that this provision would act as a precedent for other countries to retaliate. Mr. Chamberlain in a long reply contended that there was nothing in the Government proposal contrary to the principles of the League of Nations, and that nothing would be done without the sanction of Parliament. There was no intention, Mr. Chamberlain declared, to create in mandatory territory a position more favorable to Great Britain than to her competitors, nor to take advantages which were not open to other nations.

CABLE CENSORSHIP IN U.S. AT AN END

CLEAN UP BANDS OF BOLSHEVIKI

American Troops Again in Touch with Russian Headquarters

By Associated Press.

VLADIVOSTOK, Friday, July 11, (Delayed).—Communication was re-established today with the American military column in the Suchan district after more than a week's interruption. The troops which had been clearing out the gangs of Bolsheviki in the Suchan valley, had two men killed and eleven wounded during a week's skirmishing.

News from the detachments came when the British cruiser Carlisle and the American cruiser Albany conveying supplies, entered America Bay, sixty miles southeast of here and found that the troops had reached there after their trip down the valley.

American soldiers, captured from the detachment in June by the Bolshevik were released later and reported they were well treated but that the interpreters daily threatened them with death. With the release of the five men, the Bolsheviki in Siberia have no American prisoners.

The skirmishing campaign undertaken by the detachment resulted in the scattering of the Bolsheviki into the hills. A number of villages were occupied. On July 2 the village of Novitskaya was taken and on July 3 the Bolsheviki were cleared out of Kasanka and Frolovoka. The column started for America Bay on July 5 and after a 15 hour march took Vladimir, a fortified town. The next day the patrol detachment got in communication with the landing party at Albank.

A company of Japanese troops cooperated in the skirmish and the Japanese are now sending an expedition through the Suchan valley.

In the Kangaus district American and Russian troops attempting to reestablish rail communication with Suchan, engaged the Bolsheviki near Gerdiavka. During this engagement one American was killed and four wounded. The Russians lost three killed and seven wounded. Six Bolsheviki were known to have been killed and seven wounded.

RADIO STATIONS FOR COMMERCIAL USE

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The request of Secretary Daniels that Congress authorize the use of the powerful naval radio stations for commercial messages seemed to meet general approval in the House today as the secretary's letter was referred to the naval affairs committee.

Chairman Butler stated he believed it would prove to be the only way of reducing congestion on the cables. The navy now owns 85 per cent of the radio stations in the country.

The wireless, it is believed, would prove a big factor in establishing much more satisfactory relations with the Orient. Nearly all messages across the Pacific are delayed a week.

DEMONSTRATION IN BERLIN ON FIASCO

Special to The Star by United Press.

BERLIN, July 24.—Berlin newspapers generally described Monday's demonstrations as a fiasco, deploring the interference of Independent Socialists with meetings called by the Majority Socialists.

The former packed their members in meetings of the Majority Socialists and in some cases disturbed the sessions by throwing beer glasses and firing revolvers.

GENERAL CURRIE IS CAMBRIDGE LL.D.

GREAT RECEPTION

Undergraduates Cheered and Chaffed the Recipients

CAMBRIDGE, England, July 24.—General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian forces, yesterday received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Cambridge University.

The ceremony took place in the Senate House, which was crowded mostly with undergraduates, who were dressed in military and naval uniforms for the occasion.

The vice chancellor of the university, Dr. Arthur E. Shipley, of Christ's College, presided. In addition to General Currie there were various recipients of the degree, among them Admirals Sturdee and Wemyss and Generals Rawlinson, Birdwood, Wilson, Horne, Monash, the Earl of Cavan and General Pershing.

All the recipients were greeted with enthusiasm.

The procession to the Senate House formed in the library arcade. It was led by "Esquire Cadets" carrying the maces. Then came the vice chancellor, with the public orator and then the recipients of the honorary degree with the university officials bringing up the rear.

The public orator read his address in Latin. Each recipient of the degree was cheered as he rose to receive the honor. Afterwards the party proceeded to the steps overlooking the court of the Senate House, where the newly honored men were photographed, meantime being cheered and also chaffed by the undergraduates.

The vice chancellor then entertained the party at luncheon in Christ College Hall to which they walked through the rain, the students following and cheering. General Birdwood was carried shoulder high by the youths.

BULGARIAN TERMS MAY BE LIGHTER

Peace Conference May Consider Losses in Second Balkan War

Special Cable to Chicago News and Montreal Star by Paul Scholl Mowrer. Copyright.

PARIS, July 24.—The present indications are that the Bulgarian treaty will be less stringent than was expected.

Bulgaria was trimmed by Turkey, Greece, Serbia and Rumania following the second Balkan war and it was chiefly in order to emancipate the Bulgarian regions thus lost that Bulgaria committed the criminal mistake of entering the Great War on the side of the Germans. She was again defeated and while her delegates are pleading for the restoration of the territories taken from her after the second Balkan war the Greek, Serbian and Rumanian delegates are all asking the conference to take still further territories from her on the pretext that she is the "Prussia of the Balkans."

They furthermore cite quantities of statistics to prove their claims on the principle of nationality, but to anyone familiar with Balkan politics most of these statistics are quickly recognized as merely so much typical Balkans "propaganda." Serbia is asking frontier rectifications on strategic grounds and it seems probable that she will get them although the question of Strumitza is still being discussed.

Greece wants both eastern and western Thrace, thus cutting off Bulgaria from the Aegean Sea and imposing a strip of Greek territory between Bulgaria and Constantinople. The particular claims have been placed in the hands of Foreign Minister Tittoni, and indications are that the Italian diplomat will reject them, leaving Bulgaria her Aegean coast with the point at Dedeagatch, and even extending her territory at Turkish expense to the old Enos-Midia line, which was the frontier accorded to her after the first Balkan war.

Two months ago it looked as if all the claims hostile to Bulgaria would be granted, and although at present there is a tendency to view Bulgaria's case more favorably, there is no certainty that the conference may not again change its policy before the treaty is finally drafted.

GOLFERS LEAVE FOR HAMILTON---LANGEVIN SUSPENDED

Four Montreal Amateurs Including Canadian Champion and Ten Professionals Went from Here Last Evening to Take Part in Tourneys

NEW YORK, July 24.—Five members of the American Golf team who will compete Friday against the collection of Canadian stars in the first American-Canadian golf competition in more than ten years, left last night for Hamilton, Ont., where the match will be played.

The five are: John Anderson, of the Siwancy Country Club; Maxwell R. Marston, of Baltusrol; Oswald Kirkby, of Englewood; Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair and Eben M. Byers, of the Allegheny Country club.

HAMILTON, July 24.—After nineteen years the international golf match between Canada and the United States will be resumed tomorrow when ten players, representing each country, will meet. All the contestants are amateurs. Included in the Canadian team are four Montreal men. W. McLuckie (the present amateur champion of Canada), G. H. Turpin (an ex-amateur champion), T. B. Reith, C. Beaconsfield and E. S. McDougall.

The official arrangement of the teams announced says that George S. Lyon, who has held the Canadian amateur title on eight occasions, will captain the Canadian team, and Charles Evans, jr., the men from the States. The teams are as follows:

United States—Charles Evans, jr., Francis Ouimet, J. D. Travers, R. A. Gardner, Oswald Kirby, W. C. Fownes, jr., John G. Anderson, J. P. Guilford, Max Marston, R. T. Jones, jr.

Canada—George S. Lyon, W. McLuckie, G. H. Turpin, T. B. Reith, F. R. Martin, W. J. Thompson, Seymour Lyon, J. Hadden, F. C. Hoblitzel, E. S. McDougall.

Ouimet and Guilford would be unable to travel to Hamilton, so the players on the United States team will move up and two substitutes placed to play the last two men on the Canadian list. This will bring McLuckie up against Travers, which will cause one of the most important duels of the event.

The links are in excellent condition, and there can be no excuse for bad scores under that head.

A dinner will be tendered to all the international players on Friday night, after which many of the United States men will come to Toronto for private matches, returning to Hamilton in time for the open championship on Tuesday and Wednesday. A record entry for this event is being obtained.

The Montreal party left by the Canadian Pacific, and headed by William McLuckie, the amateur champion of Canada, and Charles R. Murphy, professional, of the Royal Montreal Golf Club.

The players were accompanied by a good following, members of the various local clubs, who went to Hamilton to witness the match.

Those in the party leaving last night were W. McLuckie, champion of Canada; G. H. Turpin, runner-up; T. B. Reith and E. S. McDougall.

PROFESSIONALS.

Charles R. Murray, Royal Montreal.
Albert Murray, Kanawaki.
A. Desjardin, Outremont.
Jimmy Black, Beaconsfield.
A. Woodward, Country Club.
A. Brault, Granby.
D. Cuthbert, Grand'Mere.
F. Grant, Whitlock.
T. Locke, Quebec.
Dave Black, Rivermead, Ottawa, and Karl Keffer, Royal Ottawa, will join the party at Hamilton. Keffer won the title a year ago.

F. PATRICK WILL NOT HAVE JONES

VANCOUVER, B.C., July 24.—"I want to state now that there is absolutely no chance of Con Jones securing a franchise in the Pacific Coast Hockey Association. We have conducted the ice sport successfully for eight years now and we will will make no change to suit the convenience of anyone," Frank Patrick, President of the Pacific Coast Hockey Association, stated today.

Con Jones arrived home from Montreal this morning and it was following a statement by him that he intended to file a formal application for a franchise in the ice sport that President Patrick made his official statement which he declared was absolutely final. Patrick's statement is taken to mean that the Pacific Coast Hockey Association will remain a three-club circuit with Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle competing.

FETE-DE-NUIT BY ISLE PERROT PEOPLE

The amateur sailors, oarsmen and canoists of Isle Perrot will hold a "Fete de nuit" next Saturday, which they hope will rival if not surpass those noted events of a similar nature connected with Boucherville and Chateauguay Basin in the past.

The display will be made on the side of the island facing Ste. Anne de Bellevue and will coincide with the Feast of Ste. Anne.

A valuable prize has been offered for the resident providing the most beautiful illumination.

BEAUTIFUL MEDALS FOR THIS DOG SHOW

In addition to the numerous specials already donated, the committee in charge of the M.K.A. dog show which is to be held on the 9th, 10th and 11th of August, in connection with the Cartier Centenary Fair, have received a further generous donation in the form of a number of silver and bronze medals from the Cartier Centenary Fair committee.

These medals are very handsome, on one side is the head of Sir George Etienne Cartier, and on the reverse side appears his family crest and motto. The allocation of these handsome medals has been left to the show committee's discretion and will be distributed so as to ensure keen competition for such handsome prizes. Anyone wishing to donate prizes should communicate with the secretary, S. Wisdom, Sunderhill Place, or phone Up. 6214.

ALEXANDER THE GREAT SHUT-OUT THE DODGERS

Special to The Star from Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The sudden exhaustion of St. Swithin's stock yesterday morning brought baseball back to the Polo Grounds and Ebbetts Field in the afternoon. On the latter spot, Alexander the Great, in one of the finest games of his career, shut out the Dodgers, 3 to 0, in eleven innings. The Chicago twirler allowed only five weak hits, and did not issue a pass. In the second game of the doubleheader, Phil Douglas took up the work of Aleck and proved a worthy successor, yielding five puny hits and but two passes, shutting out the Brooklynites for the second time, 6 to 0. Held scoreless for 20 innings, Brooklyn's defeat was the sixth in ten games. The pitching of Al Mamaux was the only bright spot on an otherwise sombre escutcheon. Three runs the Cubs bagged in the eleventh inning of the first combat were ushered in on an error by Myers.

On the Harlem grounds, the Cincinnati Reds succumbed to the Giants without much of a battle, losing, 5 to 1. A doubleheader was scheduled, but wet grounds in the early afternoon prevented one combat. Rube Benton, it was who humbled the Reds. Not only did he hold the visitors to six hits, but he swatter a beautiful homer with two on bases and made the crowd forget they had hooed McGraw for calling off the first game.

Philadelphia and Pittsburgh shared the honors in a doubleheader, Philadelphia winning, 6 to 1 in the first game and Pittsburgh winning 1 to 0 in the second.

The games scheduled between Boston and St. Louis were postponed on account of rain.

In the American League, only one game was scheduled, Boston beating Detroit, 8 to 1.

Children's Tennis and Evening Party at St Rose

The regular bi-weekly dance at the St. Rose Boating Club was held last evening. There was a good attendance of the members and their friends and a most enjoyable evening was voted by all. During the dance intermissions, President Riley Hern announced that on Friday evening, the children's party will be held, following the tennis tournament for children on Friday afternoon.

On Saturday afternoon, the ladies' and gentlemen's tennis tournament will take place, and on Saturday evening, the usual dance. The Saturday evening dances are one of the big features of the club's season and are always very largely attended.

Jess Willard Buys Another Big Farm

TOPEKA, Kans., July 24.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight champion, who received $100,000 for his participation in the boxing match with Jack Dempsey at Toledo, July 4, has purchased a farm containing 700 acres near his home at Lawrence. Willard took possession today, having paid down $100,000 in cash. The total purchase price, it is understood, was $175,000.

AUSTRALASIAN BETTING AND TAXATION.

The Auckland, New Zealand, Racing Club's totalizator turnover for the nine days this season was $3,077,790, of which the club retained $230,000 and the taxation department $150,000.

It is estimated that the Victorian (Australian) Government's revenue this season from bookmakers in the way of licenses fees and ticket tax will be about $425,000.

DUMOUCHEL SUSPENDED LANGEVIN

Having secured evidence that Langevin played on Sunday, President Dumouchel, of the N.L.U., has suspended that member of the National team. The case of Secours is doubtful, however. Even should both be suspended President A. L. Caron, of the N.A.A.A., has no fear of not being able to defeat the Cornwalls on the Cornwall grounds.

The referees will be Eddie Robinson and Frank Maguire, once a well known lacrosse man and team captain.

It is not likely that Cornwall will be permitted to play Anderson, as he became a free agent by Cornwall not playing him in 1917.

GRAND TRUNKS WON CALEDONIA CUP

Grand Trunks won the Caledonian Cup last evening, defeating Verdun City by 4—3, before fully 2,000 spectators. The temperature was ideal, and the M.A.A.A. pitch never looked better, when the twenty-two men stepped on to the field. With one exception, the teams were as given in last night's Star, George Taylor coming in for Carter, on the Verdun side.

The start was sensational, Renfrew scoring in the first minute for Verdun. This put their supporters in an excellent mood, that is, for a very short time, as Smith equalled with a beautiful shot. Then Stott put Grand Trunks ahead. For nearly half an hour the spectators were treated to some magnificent play on the part of Trunks, Smith, in particular playing brilliantly. In fact, Smith never played better in Montreal than he did in the first half. Fed to a nicety by Craigie, Smith's centres were worth looking at. Verdun made occasional bursts, but altogether Harris was having an easy time. When Adamson scored twice, in quick time, it looked something like a debacle, as Trunks led 4—1, at half-time.

It was in the second period that Verdun City showed their true form, and any visions of a runaway victory were quickly dispelled as the red and white quintette swooped down on Harris time and again. Under hard pressure, Trunk's defence was getting a bit shaky. Reynolds shot, when suspiciously offside, Harris met the ball by the post, but before he could clear, Reynolds tipped the leather into the net, and the score read:

Grand Trunks, 4; Verdun City, 2.

There was still half an hour to go, and for a time it looked as if Trunks were feeling the strain. But they took matters to Daun, and stayed there for quite a time, gaining during their visit three corners. Dunn saved in grand style from Smith and Stott, while McLeish shot over the bar when placed in an easy position for scoring. McLeish nearly did the trick, but was hedged off by Renfrew, who had changed places with Emery.

Verdun returned to the attack, and Harris more than once had to run out to save. Trauter was brought down inside the line, and from the penalty kick, Norman Hill scored Verdun's third goal.

Excitement grew apace, and encouraged by the cheers of their supporters, Verdun went for the equaliser. Reynolds shot weakly with a clear course in front of him. They tried hard and valiantly, but could not again find the net, retiring defeated by four goals to three.

Smith's best work was done in the first half, but all through he played great football, and was easily the best man on the field. Craigie was a useful, very clever, the whole Trunk team running true to form, and once more proved themselves the best eleven in Montreal, Verdun City were by no manner of means disgraced, playing with great pluck, especially when the score was 4l —against them. It was an interesting game, clean and clever.

The results of the games played in the Spalding Association Football League last week-end are as follows:

Juvenile League.

Verdun City, 4; Vickers, 4.
Aylwin, 2; Red Rovers, 0.

Midget League.

Mount Royal, 4; C.P.R. Boys, 1.
Ch. of Redeemer, 1; St. Matthews, 5.

WOMAN WHO "CAME BACK" AND REGAINED TENNIS TITLE AFTER LAPSE OF EIGHT YEARS

MRS. GEORGE WIGHTMAN AND CHILDREN

Sporting writers are always asking, and trying to answer the question: "Can they come back?" A woman has answered it for them. She is Mrs. George W. Wightman, who regained the tennis championship after a lapse of eight years. She was Miss Hazel Hotchkiss and started her tennis career in 1902. This photograph shows Mrs. Wightman, whose husband also is an expert racquet wielder, with her three children, George (back), Hazel (left), and Virginia (right). If they are naughty the most effective way to punish them, says their mother, is to take away their tennis racquets.

WESTMOUNT C.C. VS. FALL RIVER C.C.

The team from Fall River which is playing in Montreal this week will visit Westmount Park next Saturday. The game will begin at 2 p. m. and after the match the teams will have supper in Victoria Hall. Westmount are putting a strong team in the field and hope to put up a good fight against the strong combination from the States. The Westmount team will be as follows:

A. Anthony, A. Beacock, A. J. Binnie, V. Branch, F. W. Delgado, E. W. Cope, F. W. Hudson, A. P. MacPherson, Reynolds, G. P. Shortreade and E. F. Wallace. Fall River, defeated C. P. R. yesterday by 130 to 124.

U.S. Soccerites Will Not See South America

BETHLEHEM, Pa., July 23.—A cablegram received today at the office of the Bethlehem Steel Company announces the abandonment of the contemplated trip of the Bethlehem Steel soccer team to Brazil. This is brought about by the lateness of the completion of the Scandinavian trip September 7th, which would not permit their getting to Brazil, with due allowance for training before the end of October, when climatic conditions in South America would be entirely out of the question for football.

How fleeting is that fame thing. Three lines of small type on the bottom of the page is all that heralded the final arrival of the late Jess Willard to the old homestead in Lawrence, Kansas.

BAND ESCORTED THE VICTORIOUS TRUNKS

On Grand Trunks' Football Club's victorious return from the Caledonian Cup game they were met at the subway by the Grand Trunk brass band and paraded through the streets of the "Point" and eventually landed at the mess-room where a royal time was held for a couple of hours.

McLeish will probably be out of the game for a couple of weeks with a bad leg. Prier took sick at half time and his work in the second half showed the effect of it. Smith's great work was the talk of the town, and he has certainly "come back" with a vengeance.

LAWN BOWLING.

In a postponed M. A. A. A. Trophy competition fixture played with ten rinks a side, Outremont defeated Westmount by a margin of 28 points. Five rinks a side played at each lawn, and the visitors were up on each lawn. The majority of the north end bowlers at Westmount lawn carried them to victory. Scores:

PROTEST FEES RAISED; TOO MANY KICKS

The Clover-Rambler game which was won by the former club and protested by the Rambler manager will have to be replayed if things come out so that it might affect the championship race. The executive head of the Spalding Intermediate League has instructed the league secretary to notify the interested managers of his decision arrived at to that effect in connection with the above.

It is said that in view of the fact that so many protests are lodged by the losing clubs in connection with their league games, next year the fee to go with each complaint or protest will be increased from $5 to $10 for junior leagues, while for higher leagues a deposit of $25 will be asked.

SERGT.-MAJOR SHARPE STARTS S.A.A.A. BOXING

Sergt. Sharpe gave a very pleasing demonstration of his new method in boxing at the Shamrock Club House last night.

The pupils belonging to the C.P.R. Boxing Club, who have been under Sergt. Sharpe only one month, performed in a manner which speaks highly for the aptitude of the instructor in imparting the idea of self-defence and attack in a concentrated and simple form.

The method is fashioned somewhat after the military style of teaching and enables the instructor to handle a great number of pupils simultaneously, allowing ample time for free Swedish exercises in which are embodied the more essential movements in the art of boxing. The method also includes various exercises such as basketball, rope climbing, etc., adopted for the purpose of encouraging the beginner and developing the pupils preparatory to the actual ring work.

It was decided last night after the exhibition to begin the first course on August 4 next. This course will last for six weeks and at the completion of same, and subsequent classes, the association will offer medals for the winners in the different weights.

Y.M.C.A. Senior Camp Appointments

The appointment of H. C. Patterson, lately returned from overseas, to be director of the popular Lake St. Joseph camp for the first two weeks of August, will be pleasing news to many of the old campers. Mr. Patterson was on the staff of the Central branch before going overseas and was for several seasons camp director. W. H. Henderson, General Secretary of the Central, who has been in charge of the camp since the opening returns to the city this week and will be succeeded at the camp by Mr. C. L. Brown of the Westmount Branch. Under Mr. Henderson's supervision a very successful camp has been held, the large attendance testifying to his popularity. The following are registered at the camp.—W. Bell, A. Pritchard, G. Ellis, P. Major, E. J. Tees, T. A. Dale, H. Bowden, L. A. Collins, A. Tremblay, L. A. Boyle, A. Wisseberg, C. A. Pook, H. E. Humphrey, W. P. Henry, Gus Caron, R. Marcoux, N. Little Metis Tennis Club Keeps Very Busy

The Ladies' Doubles handicap, were played last week on the courts of the Little Metis Tennis Club and resulted in a win by Mrs. Handsombody of Quebec and Miss Peacock of England, who were handicapped "Owe 30." Miss Oaia Cains and Miss Louise Molson 15, made a plucky fight in the finals but were beaten by their more experienced opponents by 6—2, 6—1, 6—2.

The following is the Amended Tennis program for 1919: July 31, Aug. 2, Men's Open Challenge Cup; July 31, Aug. 2, Mixed Doubles Handicap; Aug. 5th, Ladies Open Challenge Cup; Aug. 12, Men's Doubles.

C.P.R. Team Won from Smith's Falls

SMITH'S FALLS, July 24.—The C. P. R. Recreation Team visited Smith's Falls over the holiday and played a hotly contested game, which ended in a victory for the Windsor Street team by a score of 11 to 3. The feature of the game was the fielding of Cherry in left field and the pitching of Leblanc. At night the boys went to Perth and spent a pleasant evening.

AMATEUR BALL

STAR, 21; HERALD, 6.

The Star team of the Printer's League continues its string of victories, last night defeating their old rivals the Herald, by a score of 21 to 6, mainly through Sheppard's fine pitching, backed up by some heavy hitting. Sheppard must be given credit for the wonderful way in which he kept in the game, his support for the first two innings was weird, and at one time he had but part of his infield. The Star's manager had to do some "rounding up" of the police to recover part of the club's property that some "ladies" on the adjoining lot took a peculiar fancy to.

Score by innings:—

Star	0	0	7	1	1	3	x	—	21
Herald	2	2	0	0	1	1	—	6

Batteries—Powers, Poulin and Moreau; Blickstead and Sheppard.

PRINTER'S LEAGUE NOTES.

The Star team now has a very comfortable lead in the Printer's League, and a win in their next game practically means the championship.

Just now Sheppard, the Star's big twirler is going fine, and with Blickstead working in fine form with him they are a hard pair to beat.

Herald has a fine fielding team, but are weak in the pitching end of it.

Menard is playing a fine game at short for the Star, and is also hitting good.

Sephton, Star's new third baseman showed up well on third and should strengthen them considerably in that corner.

A practice of the Star team has been called for Monday night. All members should be on hand.

CITY LEAGUE NOTES.

Oliver the speed king pitcher continues to burn them over, keeping up the same pace from the beginning of the game to the last. He must control that wild pitch he pulls off now and again, however, as he has lost several games on its account.

C. C. WILKINSON.

Secy.-Treas. Canadian Canoe Association, Director St. Johns Yacht Club, over whose course the Dominion championships will be held, Aug. 2.

SOCCER FOLLOWERS PRAISE M.A.A.A. GROUNDS.

Of the more than two thousand people who attended the soccer match on the M.A.A.A. grounds last evening the majority were from Point St. Charles, and the care of the President and the general manager and groundkeeper should have burned, judging from the remarks these visitors passed upon the condition of the grounds.

"What a magnificent turf," was the general exclamation.

"Yes, but," said a Grand Trunk supporter, "that bit of turf costs just about half a million dollars."

"Well," rejoined a Verdun man, "we'll pass the hat around at our next match and buy it."

The grounds really presented a most attractive spectacle with their green velvetty carpet, and the soccerites in their striped shirts juggling the round pigskin in the centre, while at the far side young ladies and gentlemen unconcernedly kept the many tennis courts in operation, and a solitary golf enthusiast practiced "driving" on the miniature golf course on the near side.

TO QUESTION PREROGATIVE P.Q.F.A. PRES.

The soccer appeals will be heard this evening by the full board of the P.Q.F.A., and there is much speculation as to the outcome, more especially in the case of Craigie, the crack Trunk player. It will be remembered that Craigie was suspended for one month for striking Crossan of Lyalls. Pending the appeal, Craigie was permitted to play against Great War Veterans, and Verdun City. His behaviour on the field has since been above reproach, and whether this will count in his favor remains to be seen. However, it is almost certain that the president's action in bringing the charge against Craigie, will be questioned by members who act on the referees committee.

Neil Hepburn will propose that a trial game between possibles and probables be staged, and the team to play against Toronto to be picked from the best twenty-two.

WILL ST. ARSENE DOWN INDIANS?

The question has been going around town, will St. Arsene down Indians in the big baseball match which is scheduled on the Shamrock grounds next week-end. From the standing of these two teams, Indians won 7 and lost 1, and St. Arsene won 6 and lost 2, it will be noted that St. Arsene must win to tie up for the first place, and a loss gives Indians the championship. At the beginning of the season it was a safe bet to pick these two team to win out in the first half, but the race has been such a close one and the unexpected has happened so often that it is a wise one who can pick a winner, although Indians have a better chance to grab the honors. Fraser-Brace were the team to beat two weeks ago. They took St Arsene into camp, winning their game 4 to 1. After St. Arsene beat Indians 2 to 1, along came St. Henry the tail-enders and walloped St. Arsene 11 to 7.

UP TO LAST WEEK.

Fraser-Brace were in the running, up to last week until Indians stopped their winning streak by a close score of 5 to 4. There will be no play-off after this week-end if Indians can help it, and every man on the team is out to win and end the half if at all possible. St. Arsene will have their strongest team on the field, and are very confident that they can hold their own. Their win over Indians in the last game have made them very sure of duplicating and forcing Indians to another game for the championship. There is no reason why this fame shouldn't even surpass the previous one, between these teams. Each nine is strong in every positoin and it will be another case of a fine pitchers battle between Palmer and Genereau. Both pitchers should be in the very best of condition. It will be remembered that Genereau pitched one of the best games of the season against Indians and was strong in the pinches. With the good support that his teammates are capable of giving him, it would not be surprising if he should turn in a win. In any event Montreal baseball fans can rest assured that this game will be one of the best so far played here this season. Fraser-Brace and Lachine are the other teams scheduled to play in the opening game.

STILL UP IN AIR ABOUT THE RACES

Special to The Star.

TORONTO, July 24.—The officials of the Ontario Jockey Club have the Woodbine race course all in order for an expected resumption of racing after exhibition.

"We put the place in good shape, hoping to use it this spring," one of the executive told the Star, "but as no definite information was forthcoming on the expiration of the war measures regarding racing, the proposed meet was carried over for six months."

A direct question was put to certain officials of the Club who are looked upon as "kep men" in the local situation and they all replied that no information regarding the resumption of racing in Toronto could be given out now.

"Because no one knew," they said, but it was evident from the trend of conversation that one and all expect that Ottawa will soon lift the ban and clear the way for horse-racing without any restrictions or misunderstanding.

"We are just waiting for the word of the King to declare the war ended," stated W. P. Fraser, the secretary of the Jockey Club, "and then we will know where we stand. No matter what treaties have been signed, or what parliaments have ratified them, the war does not officially end until the King declares it so."

A conversation with parties who are in a position to speak for the Seagram and other well-known racing interests, reveals the fact that the legal aspect of the present racing situation has been fathomed and that a definite program calling for an early resumption of racing in Canada is promised. The activities at the Woodbine but add to this surmise.

James Haverson, K.C., who is looked upon by the advocates of racing as an authority on all laws and legislations pertaining to the War measures Act, was approached by the Star regarding the statement made by Sir Allan Aylesworth with reference to all restrictions on racing expiring with the royal proclamation.

"Sir Allen is a very clever lawyer," remarked Mr. Haverson, "and doubtless has studied deeply into the conditions. However, in the 13th section of the 56th Chapter of the War Measures Act of March 11, 1918, clearly states that the regulations shall be in force for a period of six months after the signing of peace. Beyond that I have nothing to say for publication."

Golfer's Great Form in Open Championship

CLEVELAND, July 24. — James Barnes, of the Sunset Hill Club, equalled the course record of 69 here yesterday, when he led a field of 134 starters in the first round of the western open gold championship over the Mayfield Country Club. Tom McNamara, former champion, was second with 70, setting a record for the first nine at 33, including Eagle Threes on the 455 yard third and the 515 yard sixth.

Walter Hagen, of Detroit, national champion, and Leo Diegal, Detroit champion; Fred McLeod, of Washington, formerly national champion; Willie Kidd, of St. Louis, and Chas. D. Thern, of Shinnecock Hills, N.Y., each took 71. The scoring was so good that sixty-four scores better than eighty, indicating that a score of 160 or better would be required to remain among the sixty-four players who will remain in the final 36 holes play on Friday.

R. J. TOOKE STORES

NOW COMES THE AUSTRALIAN.

By ROBERT L. RIPLEY.

Norman E. Brookes, the famous Australian tennis player, is due within a few days with three other antipodeans to take a smash at our tennis champs and championships.

Besides Brookes, the party includes Gerald L. Patterson, the youthful star; R. V. Thomas, and Randolph Lycett. The party has just finished playing in the English championship at Wimbledon.

Their comparatively early arrival will give them an opportunity to play in many of the important tournaments preceding the national championship, which they will undoubtedly enter. As this is the first visit of the kind since the war, the Australians are sure to be welcomed enthusiastically by the tennis public, which remembers the remarkable match between Brookes and Maurice McLoughlin, which was a feature of the Davis Cup contest of 1914.

Brookes is well known everywhere the game is played and it is unnecessary to go into details except to remind you that he is now almost forty-three years old and was a champion twenty years ago. He has won the singles championship of Australia on numerous occasions and won the British title also in 1907 and 1914. His wonderful playing in the Davis Cup matches from 1905 to 1914 will never be forgotten.

Patterson is a nephew of Mme. Melba and was a lieutenant overseas. He is only twenty-three years old. He is a lively, aggressive player of the California type. He is a protege of Brookes and recently conquered his teacher in straight sets for the English championship. Patterson won 6—3, 7—5, 6—2. Almost without exception the English critics spoke of his service as being the greatest since McLoughlin.

R. V. Thomas is one of the younger generation of Australian racquet wielders. An idea of his ability may be gained from the fact that he put Willie E. Davis, the Californian, out of the English championships—Davis taking but one set.

Randolph Lycett from Melbourne was chosen to represent Australasia in the Davis Cup matches in 1911 but was unable to compete. He won the Victory Service Doubles in Paris last December and his playing recently in the English championship won favorable comment.

THE PASSING HOUR

IT'S NOT BEING DONE.

Her Mother—If you don't like Mr. Gaulk and his attentions annoy you why don't you send him about his business instead of keeping him on the string?

Vera Pflippe—And let some other girl get him? I should say not.

They had been wife and man for three blissful days. She looked wonderful that afternoon in a morning gown of trilled nougatine, and he gazed at her adoringly.

"Tell me," he whispered, "just which one of my qualities was it that finally convinced you that you loved me?

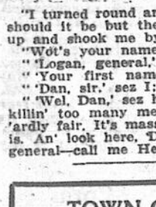

Was it my superb playing of the violin, my rich, 'cellolike voice; or perhaps it was one of the exquisite poems that I wrote you? Tell me!"

"Hector," she said softly, "it was the perfectly intoxicating stuff the barber puts on your hair. What is it about me that convinced you beyond the shadow of a doubt that we were made for each other? The intangible, indefinable beauty of my eyes? My adorable profile? Tell me.

"It was the cunning little sound you make when you eat celery," he confessed.

And, both vaguely displeased, they refrained from speaking to each other for at least five minutes.

"I were a-layin' down behind the breastworks one day," said the veteran prevaricator, "a-firin' at the henemy an' a-'it-tin' of 'em hevery time, when I 'ears the patter of a 'orse's 'oofs be'ind me. Then a voice said:

"'Hi, there, you with the deadly haim! Jist come 'ere 'alf a mo!'"

"I turned round an' salooted an' who should it be but the general. 'E come up and shook me by the 'and.

"'Wot's your name,' sez 'e.

"'Logan, general,' sez I.

"'Your first name?'" sez 'e.

"'Dan, sir,' sez I; 'Dan Logan.'

"'Wel, Dan,' sez he, 'go 'ome. You're killin' too many men. It don't seem 'ardly fair. It's massycre, that's wot it is. An' look here, Dan, don't call me general—call me Herbert,' sez 'e.

TOWN GOSSIP

By K. C. B.
(Copyright)

Dear K. C. B.—I am in trouble, and as you seem to be adjuster of troubles and champion in general for every one from presidents to wrens, I'm sure you can help me out.

It's this way. I'm mother in general to a lot of girls. Three evenings ago I was at a neighborhood party where the young folks danced. Two perfectly respectable, but painfully loud girls were followed by all the cavaliers, while the nice quiet girls either danced together or braced the walls.

One dainty little miss sat down beside me and, slipping her hand into mine, said:

"Why it is always so? Why is it that the frowsy head and rouged face attract them like moths to a candle? Hundreds of us would really like to know if it pays a girl to be ladylike."

What is your man's viewpoint of the matter?

A LOVER OF GIRLS.

DEAR MOTHER-in-General.
I ASKED my wife
TO ANSWER your question.
AND GAVE her your letter.
AND WHEN she read it.
SHE HANDED it back.
AND WAS going to say something.
AND JUST at that moment.
A GIRL went by.
ON THE way to the lake.
AND SHE had red hair.
AND WAS dolled up so.
AND LOOKED so grand.
TRAT I rose right up.
TO SEE her go by.
AND A moment later.
ANOTHER GIRL came.
IN A summer dress.
AND I let her go by.
WITHOUT MOVING an inch.
AND WHATEVER'S the answer.
I'M HANGED if I know.
EXCEPT I do know.
THAT IF I was a girl.
LIKE THE nice little girl.
I'D NOT worry at all.
FOR SOONER or later.
THE SAME silly boys.
With THE frowsy heads.
WILL CEASE to be boys.
AND GROW into men.
AND START looking around.
FOR A nice little girl.
AND A nice little house.
AND THE frowsy haired girl.
WITH THE painted face.
WILL BEGIN to grow old.
AND SHE'LL find that the men.
WHOM SHE used to command.
HAVE ALL drifted away.
AND IT'S all just the same.
AS THE Great White Way.
WE LIKE to play there.
BUT WE all like to know.
THAT ON a side street.
WHERE IT isn't so bright.
WE MAY all of us find.
WHAT WE all of us seek.
WHEN THE glare of the lights.
CEASES BLINDING our eyes.
I THANK you.

LADY TRAPSHOOTING CHAMPIONSHIPS AUG. 17

PREVIOUS WINNERS OF WOMEN'S TRAPSHOOTING CHAMPIONSHIP.

Year.	Winner.	At.	Score
1916	Mrs. D. J. Dalton, St. Louis		89
1917	Mrs. L. C. Vogel, Chicago		88
1918	Mrs. H. Almert, Chicago		89

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.—The National Amateur Trapshooting Championship for Women will take place at the South Shore Country Club, Chicago, Ill., August 14th—classification day in the Grand American Handicap Trapshooting tournament. The event will be at 100 yards, each contestant standing 16 yards behind the traphouse. The winner will be awarded a championship trophy.

The management of the American Trapshooting Association is making a determined effort to have 1000 shooters participate in the tournament and if this number of shooters gather in Chicago, quite naturally there will be more fair Dianas in the shoot than ever before. Nine women faced the traps last year in the Grand American, and for several years the entrants have ran between eight and twelve.

NOTABLE WOMEN SHOOTERS.

There are a number of women who always attend the Grand American Handicap tournament, and quite a number of them shoot the program. Others pick out one or two events. Mrs. Louise Vogel, of Detroit, Mich., can always be counted upon as one of the headliners. Mrs. Vogel always shoots well. Mrs. D. J. Dalton, of Warsaw, Ind.; Mrs. Harold Almert, of Chicago; Mrs. C. D. Moon, of Eau Claire, Wis.; Miss Emma Wettleaf, of Nichols, Ia., and Miss Lucile Meusel, of Green Bay, Wis., are usually to be found in the competition.

Mrs. C. M. Buchanan, of Sioux Falls, S. D., and Mrs. A. H. Winkler, of Chicago, will more than likely be contestants for the championship, and they are highclass shots. Mrs. Buchanan is the present woman's champion of South Dakota and Mrs. Winkler holds the same title in Illinois. Both women shot better than 90 per cent. to win their titles. It is expected that Chicago will enter a number of women, for there are a number of fair Dianas in the Windy City who are real good trapshots, among them being Mrs. J. L. Hooper, Mrs. J. H. May, Mrs. Featherstone, Mrs. W. A. Davis and daughter Caroline, and Miss Mabel Skinner.

GOOD SPORT FOR WOMEN.

Trapshooting is proving a most enjoyable sport for women. It isn't an undignified or unwomanly sport, and the women are taking to it quite as freely as they are taking to other pastimes. There are women who excel all others of their sex in shooting as they do in other things. Mrs. Topperwein and Annie Oakley are the best of the women trapshooters, but they are professionals. Among the top-notch amateurs we have Mrs. Vogel, Mrs. Buchanan, Mrs. Winger, Mrs. Almert, Mrs. Groat and Mrs. Schilling. These latter two broke 250 targets each out of 300 in the California and Oregon State shoots. Mrs. Harry Harrison, of Rochester, N. Y., recently broke 96 out of 100 targets and won the shoot in Rochester, and not long ago we were informed that Miss Gladys Reed, of Portland, Ore., broke 131 targets in succession.

Mrs. O. L. Garl, of Birmingtion, Ala., is treasurer of the club in that city, and a real good shot, too. So is Mrs. Margaret Park, of Boston; Miss Harriett Hammond, of Wilmington, Del.; Mrs. A. B. Moulton and Mrs. Henry Miller, of Philadelphia, and one of the best young shots in the East is Miss Alice Doerkin, of Paterson, N. J. She gave quite an exhibition in the Lakewood shoot with a 20-gauge gun. In a recent shoot in Vernon Mrs. W. H. Wagner of that place broke 137 out of 150 targets and Mrs. C. M. Buchanan broke 136. This kind of shooting keeps them right up with the sterner sex.

It has now been definitely decided by the committee that ladies' singles will be played.

Nine entries have already been received, and as many more are in sight.

The following referees have been appointed: P. J. Thompson, J. J. C. Ward, H. W. Reynolds, John W. Ross, C. M. Robertson, and the services of a few others will be secured before the preliminaries are started.

The following gentlemen have kindly allowed any of the tournament matches to be played on their courts: C. M. Robertson, A. H. Chave, J. J. C. Ward, Dr. Brosseau, W. G. Ross, John W. Ross and others.

Great interest is being shown in the coming matches, and much practising is being done.

Will intending competitors please send in their entries as soon as possible, as the list will positively close and the time is getting short.

Preliminary round in the singles will be started on August 1st.

The preliminary round in the doubles will start as soon as the second round in the singles is reached.

The events: Open singles, open doubles, mixed doubles, ladies' singles, ladies' doubles.

Entry fees: Junior (under twenty) singles, $1. Junior (under twenty), doubles, $2. Senior (twenty and over) singles, $2. Senior (twenty and over), doubles, $4.

LESSONS IN BASEBALL

By HUGH S. FULLERTON
No. 33—CATCHING.

Size, weight and a strong pair of hands are essential qualifications of the catcher. The light, speedy type of player usually is out of proper position behind the bat, and as a rule a catcher must have weight to stand the shock and constant hammering to which he is subjected in a game. However, some of the best catchers in the history of baseball; Tip O'Neill, Lew Criger, Malachi Kittridge, Red Dooin, Bill Killefer and Ray Schalk have been comparatively small men.

It is inadvisable, however, for a small man to essay to catch. The big man offers the pitcher a better mark at which to pitch, can block runners better and is generally more useful.

After headwork there are two prime factors in the success of a catcher, one throwing and the other catching foul flies. The throw has been described in a preceding article. The catcher should always throw to second base low and a foot to the first base side of second base, and should practice at all times throwing to the base and not to the fielder. Remember that on steals the short stop and second baseman have arranged between themselves which one shall take a throw a ball on a steal. The catcher should know which fielder is to receive the throw, and yet should throw instantly without waiting to see that they are covering the base. He must throw at the corner of the bag and trust the fielders to be there to receive it.

The catcher becomes more and more important when runners are on the bases and must always assist the pitcher in holding base runners close to the bases. He can do this without risking many throws. In fact the best catchers are those who can throw, who are known for their ability to throw with a short snap shot to first base, yet these good throwers seldom have to make such throws. In fact the catcher who makes the fewest throws to first base catches the most runners. He must judge from the movements of the base runner what his plans are, and must make the throw only when he sees the runner make a false start and get overbalanced and unable to turn and slide back to first quickly.

The primary object is to hold the runner from advancing and not to attempt to catch him unless he becomes over-daring. The throw to first is at best a risky one and the catcher who makes many throws seldom catches a runner.

The use of the pitch out to stop base runners is growing less and less popular. Unless the catcher is practically certain that he has detected a signal for a hit and run play or for a steal he never should order the pitcher to waste a ball. In the modern game one ball wasted frequently is sufficient to turn the tide of a game. Pitchers do not like to waste balls. A ball pitched wide and high so that the catcher can receive it easily and in perfect position to make a throw, can be used effectively in stopping hit and run plays, but the play is selfish on the part of the catcher, and should be used only when, either through the detection of a signal or through the stage of the game it is practically certain that the runner will attempt to advance on the next pitched ball.

Catchers should remember that the batter and base runner also are thinking and that they will guess his plan for a pitch out quite as often as he will guess their hit and run plans.

TOLEDO, July 24.—The largest racing crown ever assembled here witnessed the Grand Circuit events at Port Miami today. The attendance was estimated at 12,000.

H. Thomas, with Peter Billiken, won the 2.09 trot.

Tommy Murphy drove Marfondale to a straight heat victory in the 2.13 trot, his best time being 2.05¼.

Frank Dewey, with Walter Cox driving, was winner of the Willys-Overland stake of $2,000 in the 2.06 pace. The two minute mark was crowded closely, the Cox steed traversing the first two miles each in 2.02¼.

McDonald drove Little Lee to a win in the three year old trot, although he lost the first heat to Brother Peter in 2.09¼. Little Lee's best time was 2.09¾.

MARGARET CURRIE'S CHATS

IF WOMEN CO-OPERATED.

What a wonderful world this would be if women would "get together" as men do.

Perhaps some of you noticed a paragraph in the news columns to the effect that twelve Toronto men would build their own houses together in order to combat the high cost of building. One would do the bricklaying, another the plastering, a third the carpentry, and so forth, each contributing what he could do best to the common cause.

If we women would do that, we should solve the servant problem and go far towards reducing that bogey, the H. C. of L.

If the women who are specially good at housework, the arrangement of rooms, the sweeping and dusting, would exchange that work with the women who cook—if the women who adore babies, and love to amuse them, but who don't know a thing about sewing would mind the kiddies of the woman who loves to sew while the latter goes to a matinee and then "runs up" a set of underwear on her machine or makes a little house-dress for the kind nurse—wouldn't life be more worth while?

If, instead of paying money for all service, you gave your own time and thought and the work of your hands in return for the other woman's work, you would be much freer than you are now, and your work would be on a basis of equality that would altogether prohibit the idea of "service"—it would be literally equal pay for equal work.

Wouldn't it be worth while trying? MARGARET CURRIE.

AMATEUR WIRELESS.

"Wireless Enthusiast's" advice to budding Marconis is all very well as far as it goes. That the amateur should appreciate the privilege given him by the Government rather than abuse it is a sentiment in which all bona-fide experimenters with the true love of the science of radio are in agreement with "Wireless Enthusiast." For patriotic reasons alone amateurs should refrain from interfering with Marconi Commercial stations—even were they not bound by law so to do—for Canada, like most countries has tremendous war debts to meet, and wireless will play its part in this as it did in the great conflict which is now happily over. The ships which come and go in the St. Lawrence river are bringing things which Canada needs or taking other things which she wants placed in foreign markets. Communication—the efficient link between ship and shore which radiotelegraphy provides—counts these days more than ever, and every wireless message promptly dispatched means a saving of time, dollars and cents to Canada. A mischievous amateur, abusing the privilege granted in the best interests of science, may hold up important business for hours by allowing his wireless signals to interfere with those of the local Marconi station and ships on the river. "Wireless Enthusiast's" advice to the operators at Tarte Pier is unnecessary. If his apparatus is constructed so as to comply with Government regulations it will be a long way "out of tune" with commercial stations, unless it happens to be located very close indeed to such stations, in which case the amateur's clear duty is to refrain altogether from transmitting and confine his experiments to receiving.

Let the amateur make himself efficient in copying and sending signals by practising on a buzzer before he attempts to disturb the ether with his meaningless jumble of dots and dashes. There is an etiquette of the ether, and one of its first rules is taken from those governing polite society and refers to loud talking in company! Let the amateur be encouraged in his experiments by all means, but for decency's sake, brother amateurs, let us play the game. Get your licenses, comply with the regulations made in the best interests of your country, and don't make commercial stations waste valuable time in giving you the "S.T.P." signal and explaining what it means. Commercial business spells somebody's bread and butter, and its a thousand-to-one chance that, if your amusement continues to interfere with it, your highly lacquered little "box of tricks" will be annexed, and yourself probably heavily fined. D. R. F. C.

I am coming to back up "Wireless Enthusiast." There is a very small number of wireless amateurs helping to form an association in Canada.

We should form a reliable association and be able to help each other in emergencies, like the amateurs in the States do.

As to interfering with our coast station and the different ship stations. There is absolutely no danger to interfere if the amateur uses the proper wave length required by the law. And you better not expect to receive S. T. P. "Wireless Enthusiast" as wireless operators use mostly Q. R. T. which is one of the International wireless breviations meaning stop.

We should all protest against the present wave length we are granted from Ottawa. We should be allowed to use at the very least 100 meters.

There are plenty of opportunities for the amateur to learn the code in listening in. And amateurs should not use the ether for "sending," before they can read and send at a respectable speed. They are only a case of bother for others and they are liable to be looked after.

And for "goodness sake" fellow amateurs, do not Q.R.M. (interfere) with commercial stations. It only puts Ottawa against us.

There is no excuse for interfering. Use the proper wave length.

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

"Hello, Mummer!" cried Peter.

A LITTLE FRIEND WITH A BLACK MASK.

(Copyright, 1919.)

Though Peter Rabbit had hard work recognizing some members of the Warbler family and others he didn't know at all, there was one whom he never could mistake for anybody else. It was Mummer the Yellow-throat, sometimes called Maryland Yellow-throat. It is because he wears a funny little black mask that Peter can always be sure of Mummer. Peter had caught a glimpse of him as he darted into a thicket of bushes along the Old Stone Wall. At once Peter hurried over there to look for him.

But when Peter reached the place where he had seen Mummer, no one was to be seen. He sat down, uncertain which way to go. Seemingly from nowhere in particular Mummer suddenly popped out right in front of Peter. His throat and breast were bright yellow and his back, wings and tail a soft olive-green. Right across his cheeks, eyes and forehead he wore a black mask. At least that is what it looked like.

"Hello, Mummer!" cried Peter.

"Hello yourself!" cried Mummer, and disappeared as abruptly as he had appeared. Peter blinked and vainly looked all about.

"Looking for some one?" asked Mummer suddenly popping into view where Peter least expected him.

"For goodness sake, can't you sit still a minute?" cried Peter. "How do you expect a fellow to talk to you when he can't keep his eyes on you more than two seconds at a time?"

"Who asked you to talk to me?" responded Mummer, and popped out of sight. In a jiffy he was back and his bright little eyes fairly shone with mischief. Before Peter could say a word Mummer burst into a pleasant little song. He was so brimming full of happiness that Peter couldn't be cross with him.

"There's one thing I like about you, Mummer," declared Peter, "and that is, I never get you mixed up with any one else. I should know you just as far as I could see you, at least, as far as I could see that black mask across your face. Has Mrs. Yellow-throat arrived yet?"

"Certainly," replied another voice. "You'll pardon me, Peter if I speak for myself." Mrs. Yellow-throat flitted right across in front of Peter. She sat still for just an instant, just long enough for him to have one good look at her. She was dressed very like Mummer save that she did not wear the black mask. Peter was just about to say something polite and pleasant when from just behind him there sounded a loud, very emphatic, "chut, chut!" Peter turned to find another old friend. It was Chut-Chut the Yellow Breasted Chat.

THE REVOLT OF SUSAN HYDE

By CAROLYN BEECHER

(Copyright, 1919, by Carolyn Beecher.)

CHAPTER LXXXII.

"Yes, I too think that Manville cares—a little—more than I have thought. I must tell you, June, that even if I do not go back he is going to let me keep Anna. He gave me his word. He never breaks that, you know."

"That shows consideration, and more. He loves Anna. No father could help loving the dear."

"He was very different, June. I don't know whether it was the accident, the idea that he had driven me from home and that we might have been killed, or what; but he was softer, more gentle than I ever have known him. He has written me twice and sent me books and flowers. But he is undecided between me and his aunt. That makes me think he cares more for her than for us."

"I don't know, Susan. You have told me he calls her his mother, that she brought him up. He may think he owes his duty to her. She is old and loves him."

"I can't help it, Susan. He should not have married me. I will not give in in this."

"When is he to decide?"

"He asked me to give him two weeks. He has four more days. At times I hope he will want us back; at others I am sure he will decide to let us go. But I am glad the accident occurred, June. His actions when here have taken away a great deal of the bitterness. I never shall feel as hard as I did when I left home, no matter how he decides."

"What shall you do if he chooses his aunt? Go home?"

"No, I had made all my plans. Now I shall do nothing of which he could disapprove. I shall go to Elsa in California if he thinks best. She has begged me many times to come for a visit. It would do Anna good. Doesn't she look well? Just this happy little time out of doors by ourselves has made her so fat and rosy."

"Indeed she does look well, like a different child. And you too, Susan. You haven't looked as well as you do now since she was born."

"It is not because I am happy away from Manville. I am not. But, June, I think one becomes accustomed to big things which hurt, while we never can adjust ourselves to the constant pin pricks, the everyday unpleasantness which some of us have in our lives. I have become used to being unhappy. I don't think the woman lives who could, without a struggle, let another woman take the reins of her household from her, order her servants, herself, her child. No, it isn't the big things that drive women to leave their husbands. It is neglect, lack of consideration. I imagine it is the same the other way round; that it is the nagging and little things a wife does which drive her husband to other women for comfort and understanding. Or else it may be that the wife, because of either natural stupidity or because of her environment, no longer interests him."

"My, Susan! You have grown quite a philosopher, haven't you?"

"I have had so much time to think, June. I belong to the last class. I have grown so uninteresting, such a nonentity, that had I let things go on as they were I should have lost Manville. He is a bright, clever man. I had reached a point where I dared not say my soul was my own. 'Yes' and 'no' were about the limit of my conversation when with him or his aunt. I had absolutely no initiative even when in society. I began to shrink from observation, physically as well as mentally. Oh, June, I can't tell you; can tell no one how desperate I have been at times."

"It will all come right in the end, Susan. I am sure of it. It would do you good to visit your sister, however it turns out. But somehow I am positive Mr. Hyde never will let you leave him. There was something in his face, his eyes, that day I met him after he knew of the wreck that showed his love for you, and there was another look I could not fathom. I think from what you have told me it was remorse. You see, if you had been injured, either you or Anna, he would always have felt to blame after the letter you say you left."

"Well, all I can do is to hope and wait."

"And pray," June added softly. She was inclined to say such things, although she made no pretentions to being particularly religious. But she was good, good all through. I never knew her to say an unkind word or do an unkind act in her life. She deserved her happiness, all she had.

"I have prayed until I felt God didn't care any more for me than others did. Then I stopped. But, June, I have commenced again since I came here. I ask Him constantly to put love in Manville's heart for me and for Anna." Then I added: "I also ask Him to help me do what is for the best."

"All things work together, you know, Susan. Don't get discouraged."

ECONOMY CORNER

SWEET PICKLES.

(Requested.)

Pick small cucumbers, wash and place in a strong brine that will float an egg. Weigh down to keep stem under the brine. Let stand for 6 days. Take from brine and rinse well. Place in a preserving kettle and cover with cider vinegar, and to each quart of vinegar add: 1 cup brown sugar; 1 ounce mixed spices; 4 blades mace; 1 lemon cut in paper-thin slices and par boiled until tender and 1 clove of garlic. Cook slowly for 15 minutes and then fill into all-glass jars. Seal and store in a cool place.

SMALL CUCUMBER PICKLES.

Wash cucumbers, make a weak brine, allow them to remain in it over night, drain thoroughly in the morning. Cover with good cold vinegar, let stand 24 hours, then pour off, heat fresh vinegar in which sugar has been added, the proportion being a cupful and a half to a quart of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of whole mixed spice. When it comes to the boil, put in cucumbers, when it begins to boil again, take off fire and bottle. C. J. N.

Ed. Note:—Many thanks.

Chicken Salad.—Mix two cups of diced cold chicken (using all white meat or all dark meat or half of each), with one cup celery diagonally sliced. Marinate with a mild French dressing, drain well and mix with cooked dressing. Mayonnaise may be used if more convenient. Arrange on crisp, green lettuce leaves and garnish with olives.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY

The sketch presented today shows a graceful, long-handled parasol on Japanese lines, made of dull blue taffeta and hand-painted in purple and black. The handle is black wood. Novelty parasols are decided additions to the summer wardrobe and by the use of hand-painting it is possible for a woman to possess one, or a number for that matter, entirely different from anything the shops may be able to offer. A plain parasol purchased at a nominal price may be easily transformed into a really rich and apparently expensive article by decorating it with painted or embroidered designs. Floral effects are most frequently seen but vividly plumaged birds are effective. The surface of one lovely parasol noticed recently was pretty well covered with round dots in various sizes and colors, the general effect suggesting floating balloons.

The smock shown may be made of Georgette in any preferred color and embroidered with heavy wool in contrasting shade.

Smocks now being brought out for fall emphasize the strong hold this garment has acquired. The Cossack smock is an interesting model. This is cut on straight lines and is somewhat longer than the conventional smock. The jersey weaves either in silk or wool (fibre silk is more frequently employed than pure silk) are popular fabrics, and brilliantly contrasting silk floss, heavy wool or chenille is used to embroider the garment.

One of these smocks will be found excellent for sport wear during the late summer or very early fall days. The young college or high school girl will find such a garment matched with a plain wool fabric skirt very useful.

Hand-Painted Parasol and Modish Frock.

No Patterns are sold with this.

Preparation of the wardrobe of the girl who goes away to school should be begun early. Fortunately fall styles have already been sufficiently settled so that making up simple dresses, blouses, etc., for school wear may be done along next season style specifications.

HEALTH TALKS

By JOHN B. HUBER, A.M., M.D.

ELECTROLOSIS.

My correspondent of yesterday has found the electric needle ineffective in her case. And yet the removal of hairs by this method, when it is rightly and skilfully done, is without a shadow of doubt, in my mind, a permanent remedy. But only a doctor very expert in skin diseases will be successful.

The object must be to destroy the papillae in which the hair roots are imbedded. As the papilla is oftentimes very small and placed at an unexpected angle to the skin surface it is not always possible to succeed at first attempt. The amount of success after going over the face the first time, will vary with the skill of the operator. Accordingly there will be a return of from 20 to 50 per cent of the hairs. It will be necessary, therefore, to go over the face a second or a third time, after which there will be no return.

In some cases, after the dark, coarse hairs are removed, a number of finer, lighter hairs will be found to have developed. This appearance is due partly to the uncovering of those hairs, and partly to the fact that new hairs will (in young women) grow from new papillae, just as in a young man's beard. Thus doctors have to be perfectly frank and tell such patients that they must be prepared for a long course of treatment; because only the hairs that appear can be destroyed, and we have no means of preventing the formation of new hairs. Those new hairs do not form in old papillae that have been properly destroyed, but are developed in time from those already in the skin. Thus the treatment must extend through a number of years, until all the papillae have produced their hairs, which latter shall also have been destroyed. The handiwork of a real expert should leave practically no scarring.

Questions and Answers.

WEANING BABY.

Q—Will you excuse me for taking up your valuable time, but I would like your advice concerning my baby girl who is three and one half months old, breast fed and doing well. But it seems to be necessary now for me to wean her.

Ans.—My valuable time is never so well employed as when advising mothers about their babies. I am sorry it is necessary to wean the baby, because the bottle fed baby has not nearly so good a chance in the world afterward as the breast-fed baby. I hope you have sought your doctor's advice as to this. Anyway, information as to weaning the baby is being mailed to you.

HARD WAX.

Que.—My child, six years of age, has a hardness which has formed in both of her ears. It cannot be moved around and it seems to be the wax hardening. When she was a baby both ears gathered and ran and now it comes out like a powder.

Ans.—You must soften up the wax with warm sweet oil. Then you must take the child to a doctor and have him syringe out the wax. It is very important that you do this.

CARRY OUT TREATY, WORK FOR REVISION

That is Advice of German Minister to National Assembly

FOR OPEN DIPLOMACY

Without Germany and Russia There Can Be No League

WEIMAR, July 24.—Dr. Hermann Mueller, Minister of Foreign Affairs, speaking before the National Assembly yesterday, urged the carrying out of the peace treaty to the utmost, while working also for its revision. He advocated the friendliest disposition towards Belgium by real sacrifices, thus paving the way for an understanding with the Belgian neighbor nation.

"Relatively," said the Minister, "no nation has lost so many lives or made so many sacrifices as France; therefore love expressed in practice must be our revenge."

Dr. Mueller favored non-intervention in Russia and an effort to promote friendly relations with Poland and Czecho-Slovakia, while not forgetting Germany's former allies, Bulgaria and Turkey. The Foreign Minister entered a strong plea in favor of the League of Nations. He declared that the German people, having discarded their militarism, must devote themselves to convincing a distrustful world of their unshakable will to peace, so that the policy of alliances which precipitated the war shall forever be buried.

"We shall work best against the unhappy policy of alliances if we participate in none and thus prepare the ground for a real league of nations," he asserted. "The age of secret diplomacy shall be closed, but a league without Germany and Russia would be no league."

Dr. Mueller, remarking that the treaty gave their opponents an enormous number of rights and powers over Germany, while it only gave Germany obligations, warned his hearers not to indulge in optimism with regard to the manner in which their opponents would use these rights. He declared, however, that Germany would remain a political and economic factor with which its opponents would have to reckon.

It was impossible, continued the minister, and contrary to their own interests for the opponents to adopt an attitude of force towards Germany. It would be the task of German diplomacy in the future to study the cultural and economic life of other peoples. They must try by special agreements with individual states to restore the most-favored nation treatment, which is denied in the treaty.

ALLEGED SLAYER OF NUN WILL FIGHT

TRAVERS CITY, Mich., July 24.—Attorneys for Mrs. Stanislaus Lypchinsk, who is charged with the murder eleven years ago of Sister Mary John, of the Isadore Convent, announced yesterday that their habeas corpus writ petition would be carried before the State Supreme Court following the decision of Circuit Judge Frederick W. Mawna, at Leland, that the woman must stand trial there July 29th.

The court held that sufficient evidence had been produced upon which to warrant holding her to Circuit Court. He also stated that there was sufficient evidence that the body dug from beneath the Isadore Church and transferred to a cemetery at night was that of the missing nun.

ENLARGE ITALIAN ASIA MINOR ZONE

PARIS, July 24 (Havas).—According to the Temps, the agreement between the Italian and Greek delegations to the Peace Conference concerning the frontiers of Thrace seems to extend to other regions where Italian and Greek interests meet. The conversations between Premier Venizelas, of Greece, and Signor Tittoni, the Italian Foreign Minister, are mainly on questions concerning Asia Minor and Epirus. One of the eventualities considered possible is the enlarging of the Italian zone in South Asia Minor.

The highest score was by Sergt. Burr, Great Britain, 270.

INFLUENZA RIFE IN INDIAN CITIES

SILMA, India, July 24. — In view of outbreaks of influenza in Bombay, Calcutta, Rangoon and Madras, the Government is adopting preliminary precautions, including a suggestion to the governments of the maritime provinces of India that they should take power under the ports act to notify ship-borne cases of pneumonia, and discretionary powers to deal with ship-borne cases of virulent influenza.

Stocks of vaccine are being prepared and other medical measures adopted. Except in Bombay, the outbreaks have not assumed serious dimensions.

MINISTERS WILL CROSS ATLANTIC

Pulpit Exchange Arranged Between Britain and United States

Philadelphia Public Ledger Cable to The Montreal Star. Copyright.

LONDON, July 24.—With the approval of the American government and the consent of the British government, a linked organization has been formed through which the churches of both countries may exchange preachers. The following Britishers, I am informed, are on the schedule for America:

The Rev. John Baillie, M.A., examiner in philosophy at Edinburgh Union, who leaves in September to take a year's professorship at Auburn seminary, from which he will be available for preaching; Dr. Hensley Henson, bishop of Hereford; Dr. Wallace Williamson, of Edinburgh; and Dr. Alfred Ernest Garvie, chairman-elect of the Congregational Union. They have all been signed up to cross overseas and occupy American pulpits.

Dr. John Daniel Jones, of Bournemouth, is going to America, especially to Congregational churches. A selection of the leading British Methodists is being made, probably by the Rev. Luke Wiseman. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan will associate himself with the work of Dr. W. W. White at the Bible Institute in New York. Dr. Adam W. Ferguson will supply the Presbyterian church at Montclair, N.J. The Rev. Dugald MacFadyen, the Rev. F. R. Hist and the Rev. M. E. Aubrey will occupy pulpits in New York, Boston and Washington.

The list is only partially made up. In return the British have prepared a warm welcome for the American ministers who will exchange pulpits across the seas.

KLIM is made from the Purest Separated Milk

OUR inspectors regularly inspect the sanitary conditions of the farms which supply milk from which Klim is made. Our milk powder plants in the best dairy districts in Ontario separate this milk to remove the fat, pasteurize it and dry it by the "spray process" removing the ninety per cent of water and leaving the solids in the dry powder form of Klim.

Recently we established at our Head Office, in Toronto, the most up-to-date Milk Laboratory which exists in Canada today for bacteriological and chemical research work on milk, both liquid and powdered.

In this laboratory we analyse the milk from all the farms which deliver milk to all our plants and receiving stations. We are able, in this way, to keep absolute control on the quality of the milk from the receiving room to the milk powder packing department. No milk industry in Canada has such a perfect and completely equipped laboratory and research department. This insures to the user of Klim, whether in the home, the hotel or the lumber camp, the purity, cleanliness and wholesomeness of Klim.

We welcome anyone to our Bacteriological Laboratories at our Head Office, 10-12 St. Patrick St., where we can show our research equipment and methods of control of purity and quality of the milk we receive.

LET US UNITE.

CANADA has some heavy weather ahead. We have weathered one storm, and another is upon us. The war of armament, which has brought us glory and pride at a great price, is over. Now comes the war after the war.

The Allies won the battle against Germany only after they had come together under one command—only after they had sunk their minor differences and jealousies and joined their wealth and their energies, material and military, under one war council and one command. And only thus can Canada win the struggle upon which she is now entering. To solve the industrial and political problems that darken our horizon; to transform into peaceful channels of power and production the forces which now threaten the State, demands the united, patriotic effort of every good Canadian, forgetting provincial, racial and credal differences in strong, harmonious co-operation for the common good.

All through the war, while German guns were pounding Allied front lines, and German bombs were battering Allied cities ordinarily far beyond the danger zone, German propaganda no less desperately spread poison gas through every Allied nation in a frantic endeavor to create misunderstanding and differences which would weaken their co-operative war efforts. And we have today in Canada, in shame let it be said, men so stupidly blind or so daringly unscrupulous as to attempt to serve sectional or private interests by sowing seeds of discord among the varied elements which we must weld into a solid, coherent nation if Canada is to find her real and rightful place in the world.

The worst of these conspirators are those, in this province and elsewhere, who by playing upon differences in language, religion and in ideas about education would set Quebec against the rest of Canada, and the rest of Canada against Quebec. Their success would hamstring Canada's progress, would set her back hopelessly in the international industrial race, and would eventually smash the Confederation, if not the Empire. It is to this end that the extremists of Quebec, and the equally culpable bigots who beat the same drum in Ontario, are working, whether by treasonable design or blind, bull-headed stupidity.

Properly understood and properly handled, Quebec, instead of a source of discord, should be an influence to pacify and harmonize the other variant elements now boiling in the national melting pot of the Dominion.

Quebec is easy-going and slow to change—a land of quiet homes. The average French-Canadian is peace-loving, law-abiding, and rooted deep in his native soil with an affection which newer comers to this new world often fail to understand. His outlook may not be broad for he knows little and cares less for the swirling world outside his pleasant back-water, but it is unclouded by any of the red heresies which are sweeping away old foundations elsewhere. Naturally, his attitude in all things is conservative—and the Lord knows we need, in these days of frenzied radicalism, a stronger element of cool deliberation in our public affairs; more of the disposition that, while proving all things, holds fast to that which is good.

But Quebec went wrong on the war; it voted almost solidly against the conscription required to support our men overseas, say the irreconcilables. Which illustrates the weakness of most general statements. If voting "anti" was "treason" there were thousands more traitors in Ontario than in Quebec, and a score of thousands more in other provinces. The official returns show that while in Quebec 220,070 civilian electors voted against the Union, the "antis" in Ontario numbered 235,998 and in the other provinces 249,592. Quebec, in fact, contributed considerably less than half of the opposition votes. So, even if Union Government were as popular today as a year ago, there is slight ground here for feeling against Quebec. Anyway, the thing is past and gone. The issue is dead. New issues are alive and impending. Let's forget and get together.

Canada needs Quebec—needs the sanity and sobriety of her counsels as much as her wealth of forest and stream and mine and soil. The statesmanship which fails to utilize all these assets in Canada's impending difficulties is weak and short-sighted, or worse. Apart from her firebrands whose influence has weakened greatly the last couple of years, Quebec is not exorbitant in her desires. Her people are proud and sensitive and very susceptible to real or fancied slights even from sources which should be negligible. We must have regard for these susceptibilities and consider carefully the conditions upon which they are based and the demands that thence arise. French-Canadians are entitled to generous treatment both as fellow-citizens and as a minority in a British country under a flag which stands always for tolerance and fair play. Their views are entitled to respect and their constitutional privileges demand not only justice, but generosity and friendly conciliation.

The alternative is up to the rest of Canada whether Quebec shall be a liability or an asset; a problem or a partner; whether it shall become a clog in the gears or more power in the motor of this great Dominion.

"INTERPRETING" THE LEAGUE COVENANT.

FORMER President Taft's endeavors to find some middle course between that of the irreconcilable opponents of the League of Nations plan and the administration is understandable. Mr. Taft is a very shrewd politician as well as an able student of world affairs, and it is possible he has discovered that the vitriolic attacks on the League and the man who was peculiarly responsible for its adoption are not meeting with a great degree of approval throughout the country. Unfortunately, his compromise plan is likely to emasculate the League of Nations as the price of political manipulation in the United States.

The Taft "interpretations" naturally make for greater freedom for the United States within the League. The question is whether the degree of autonomy of that country which they would create would not in itself violate the basic principle of the agreement. If each nation is to remain free to follow its own devices as regards the making of treaties with other members of the League, if League members can withdraw "unconditionally" after ten years and upon two years' notice without fulfilling the condition as regards their League obligations—that is to say in violation of an express stipulation of the first Article in the League covenant—if, furthermore, any one regional understanding, such as the Monroe Doctrine, is "reserved" for the administration of one particular country to the implied exclusion of all the rest; if, finally, a solid block, of five voters is ruled out under certain conditions of particular gravity in the League discussions, it is useless to pretend that the structure of the League is not weakened.

For these are some of the things that the Taft "interpretations" undertake to do for the United States. And if these reservations are to be made for one country, they can hardly be denied to such others as may demand them, for it is inconceivable that any one member of the League should be given privileges that are to be refused to others.

Most assuredly the British Overseas Dominions will not consent to be drummed out of the League of Nations at Mr. Taft's suggestion. They earned their right to append their signatures to it by entering the war at the very beginning, and by fighting with all their strength to the very end. They signed the League Covenant because they believed in it; they still believe in it, and they will most certainly not consent to having their prerogatives as signatories to the League Covenant abrogated or even curtailed in the interests of Mr. Taft's political arrangements in the United States.

ENGLAND AND THE COAL STRIKE.

THE conference of Government leaders and Labor officials, which assembled in London this morning, and over which Premier Lloyd George will himself preside, is the first glint of a silver lining in the boding clouds that have wrapped England in a dark pall since the coal-miners of Yorkshire went out on strike. Coal mining is the master key industry of Great Britain. British trade prosperity has been built upon her manufactured and her carrying trade, and the foundation stone of such industry is coal. The lowering of coal production in England and Wales means an increase in the cost of every manufactured article in the British trade catalogue with its ultimate corollary of keen competition in the world markets, price cutting and a handicap in the battle for world trade.

On July 14 Sir Auckland Geddes defended the proposal of the Government to increase the price of coal by a dollar and a half a ton, and intimated that unless production was increased in volume it might be necessary to make a further advance. The Yorkshire coal miners opposed the increase, alleging profiteering. Speaking unofficially on behalf of the miners, Mr. William Brace, a Welsh member, promised co-operation on behalf of the miners on two conditions—that the increase should be suspended for three months, and that the recommendations in the report of the Sankey Commission be carried out and the mines nationalized.

The Miners' Conference met two days later, and Mr. Brace outlined the promise he had conditionally given, but this brought the question of nationalization more prominently before the country. The miners refused to give the assurance that there would be no stoppage of work until nationalization legislation had been introduced in Parliament, the tentative promise of Mr. Brace was withdrawn, and consequently the increase in price went into effect.

The negotiations between the Government and the coal operators were complicated by the fact that in Yorkshire the miners began to strike before their delegates had an opportunity to accept or refuse the Government proposals. The Welsh miners refused to join in the walk-out, but about 200,000 men in Yorkshire, 45,000 in Derbyshire and several thousands in Nottinghamshire and other midland counties were affected.

What lies behind the action of the strikers has not been made clear. They are not striking for nationalization, for the "Triple Alliance" has steadfastly set its face against political strikes or strikes for any but industrial causes. So far as the increase in the price of coal is concerned, it would seem more likely to induce a strike from consumers than from producers. It appears rather that the Yorkshire miners are striking to prove their political strength, to display the force of the lever which they control and which they will use to obtain their aims.

Unfortunately England cannot afford at this time to make economic experiments in her coal industry. If her grip of the world markets is relaxed in the coming months, it will take years for her to regain her former trade pre-eminence, and the road will lie through national suffering and much individual and State sacrifice.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

A Whole Winter of it!

Baltimore American: The absorbing topic this fall and winter promises to be, how to shut off the debate on the League of Nations.

No Help to the Consumer.

Toledo Blade: Beef is cheaper on the hoof, but the average consumer cannot buy a steer every time he wants a soup bone.

Nor Without Offers, Sir—

Cleveland Plain Dealer: It is said that in Great Britain there are 1,500,000 spinsters without hope of marriage. But statistics sometimes lie. There never was a spinster without hope.

Can Teach Us Much.

Pittsburgh Gazette-Times: If Italy succeeds in reducing food prices 50 per cent, we move that an American commission be dispatched thither at once to learn the trick.

A Stand Patter.

Kansas City Star: A lecturer at the Chautauqua in Erie the other night advocated "one church and one party for all." Just as the Record reporter was leaving the tent, he heard a woman say, "I am for this one church and one party business, but for me it must be the Methodist Church and the Republican party."

Getting Down to Brass Tacks.

New York Sun: When are the miners of Pennsylvania, when are the wage-earners in other industries, when are all the workers and all the consumers going to reach a common understanding that you cannot cut the cost of living by cutting the production, which is the basis of the cost of living? When are we all going to get down to the brass tack business of making sure that enough is produced for everybody, and that then the producers shall have their full share of it because they did produce it?

The Next War.

London Morning Post: The French are not a nation of cowards, but they have, what Mr. Llyod George has not, a proper understanding of military matters. They know that Germany has still in her hands all the realties of military power, and that attempts to limit that power by paper regulations are likely to fail. For what is the essence of military power? It is a great and warlike population, with a strong industrial system and great resources in the raw materials of and the machinery for making munitions. And all that, Germany has got. Relatively to the rest of Europe, Germany is likely to be as strong after as before the war, and we are bound to say that that is a prospect which does not lead us to animadvert upon the undue severity of this Treaty of Peace.

Living Memorials.

London Daily Chronicle: Two hundred young maple saplings, a gift from Toronto, are being planted on Vimy Ridge in commemoration of the exploits of Canadian battalions during the war. Simple unaffected memorials of this description seem more in keeping with the tone of devastated trenchland than the costly and elaborate erections in marble and bronze that have so often been proposed. Tree memorials will be not only an aesthetic, but a practical way by which to honor the heroic dead, for vast expanses of the old battlefields are devoid of all life. No living trees break the monotony of the tortured Somme country, while in the Salient the shattered trunks have long since disappeared in the all-pervading mud. To the east of Noyon every tree was felled by the retreating enemy, and around Arras waving branches are the exception rather than the rule.

Universally Unpopular.

London Daily Express: It is difficult to fathom the minds of police-court magistrates who let off with ludicrously inadequate fines persons convicted of profiteering in food. In their capacity as consumers, these magistrates must know that the cost of living is already a tremendous burden. As citizens they must recognize the abhorrence felt for those who profiteer at the expense of the public. As human beings, they must share this sentiment. They cannot imagine that a sordid form of dishonesty can be checked by imposing on those who practise it fines which are swallowed up in the profits made. They cannot plead for any reason for mitigating in such cases the punishment which has been so fully earned. Yet profiteering in food is rampant, and the examples of ludicrous penalties imposed in many cases may well bring despair to citizens who are despoiled. The Government allowed the war profiteer to escape from the Budget. Too many magistrates are encouraging him to persevere.

Labor's Suicide.

New York Herald: Is not organized labor not only in this country but in England, France and Italy making a tremendous mistake by striking and stopping the world's production and trade and commerce at a time when it is most needed? Perhaps labor is seizing this opportunity in order to show its power, but it is in the position of the man sitting on a limb of a tree and sawing off the limb near the trunk. The amputation will take place all right, but the man will be the sufferer. The war advanced labor's interests tremendously. In this country the War Labor Board granted recognition of unions' union activity and collective bargaining. Former President Taift as one of the joint chairmen of the Board was foremost in granting these concessions "during the period of the war." But the war is over, wages are the highest ever known and the world needs more production in order to bring down the cost of living. Labor strikes anywhere which tend to check or stop production will certainly tend to increase the cost of living—the very thing labor wants to avoid.

Nationalizing Coal.

London Daily Telegraph: It is perfectly true that the present system of 4,000 coal-owners, all theoretically at liberty to conduct their business on different lines, is open to serious disadvantages. It involves serious waste and much expense is incurred which may be avoided by standardization and unification. But one might almost suppose from the stress which the miners lay on these drawbacks that hardly a ton of coal ever safely reached the consumer and in any case it is a sheer assumption that all these vices will turn to blessings if only the coal industry is nationalized. We are afraid as we have said, that whatever is gained from the unification which springs from nationalization will be more than swallowed up in the increased cost of wages which will inevitably follow, and in the rapid multiplication throughout the industry of "non-productive" posts. That was the experience of Germany in the State mines of the Saar coalfields, and if a German State Department could not resist the pressure of Labor, what likelihood is there of effective resistance in this country?

Name Your Poison.

(On the nomenclature of American "dry" drinks.)

If you need a megrim-shifter,
Or a cooler brew than tea,
Try a Loganberry Snifter,
Or a Grape-juice Stingaree.

Artful are the cocktail mixers,
With their Gold and Silver Fizz;
Sloe Slings, Apricot Elixirs,
Prune Gloomchasers, are—Gee, Whizz!

Drinks for speakers, draughts for singers,
Blue Moon Cocktails, Lady Pink;
Ginger Rickeys, Strawberry Stingers—
No? You only want a drink?

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, July 24, 1889.)

Montreal.—A meeting of the Early Closing Association, held last night, was attended by about 150 clerks of various callings. Committees were appointed to enlist the sympahies of Protestant and Roman Catholic clergy. The movement has for its object a uniform closing hour for all stores and is endorsed by the Council of the Trades and Labor Association. Mr. C. J. Doherty, Q.C., has been asked for an opinion as to possibility of obtaining legislation on the subject; and in the meantime the City Council will be approached.

London.—Again the Queen is being urged from certain quarters to visit Ireland, but Her Majesty does not seem disposed to do so.

London.—The House of Commons, by a vote of 230 to 96, agreed last night to grant a lump sum of £600,000 or an alternative £20,000 annually, to build railways in Ireland.

New York.—A huge python, being shipped from London to a menagerie in this city, escaped from its cage on board ship much to the discomfort of the crew.

Cote St. Antoine.—A peal of eight bells was rung on Sunday for the first time in St. Matthias Church.

Murray Bay.—Gen. and Lady Middleton are spending a holiday here.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, July 24, 1899.)

Ottawa.—Sunday street cars ran in this city for the first time yesterday. The first car left the sheds at 7:10, carrying a passenger who was so anxious to be the first that he had remained at the sheds all night.

London.—A despatch from Pretoria says that the Outlanders have been given to understand that no abatement of the demands made upon the Boer Government by Sir Alfred Milner, British High Commissioner, will be acceptable to the Imperial authorities. The real crisis is, therefore, now held to be within sight.

French-Canadian Views

CANADA'S HARVEST.

La Presse:—The most recent reports of the great farming provinces of Canada indicate that the harvest off the whole will be satisfactory. It is everywhere excellent in the Province of Quebec and in the greater part of Ontario, while in Manitoba it promises to surpass the best records hitherto obtained. Unfortunately the same cannot be said with regard to Saskatchewan and Alberta where frosts, hot winds, the prolonged drought in the spring, cut worms and grasshoppers seem to have combined to cause ruin and desolation. The situation is so bad in the south of Alberta that a number of families are in want, literally at the end of their resources and the Government will have to come to their rescue. It is satisfactory that Providence has been kind to the oldest province of the prairies—Manitoba and to the Province of Quebec. In this way a fair equilibrium is maintained in Canada's agriculture. Whatever happens it is estimated that the harvest will yield a surplus of one hundred million bushels of wheat for export. Without doubt this is not as large as was expected, yet it is an asset to place in the balance against famine.

La Patrie —The decision of the Federal Ministry to maintain a prohibition against horse racing for six months after the signing of peace is declared to be ultra vires by such an eminent judicial authority as Sir Allen B. Aylesworth, former Minister of Justice in the Laurier Government. Public opinion has already condemned this decision as inopportune and as an attempt to proscribe the liberty of the citizens. Horse racing has not been prohibited by an act of Parliament, but simply by a decree under the War Measures powers. For this reason the interdiction ought to cease to be valid when the war comes to an end or according to Sir Allen Aylesworth's opinion at the very moment when peace is proclaimed by the Crown. In other countries horse racing has not been prohibited during the war or they have already begun again. It is difficult to see why it should be different in this country.

KING WISHES TO HONOR PREMIER

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, July 24.—King George is eager to bestow an honor on Premier Lloyd George in recognition of his services in the war and at the Peace Conference, and the form the honor is to take is being discussed in court circles, says the Mirror.

Mr. Lloyd George would not accept a peerage the newspaper asserts, while Knighthood of the Garter, which is one of the highest honors in the sovereign's gift, is practically confined to peers, although an exception wa smade in the case of Sir Edward Grey in 1912. The Mirror suggests that if the Grey precedent is followed some special honor may be created.

THE PEACE PARADE FIASCO.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Allow me to say that your editorial regarding the action of the Ministry, Overseas Military Forces of Canada, in failing to properly provide for Canada's participation in last Saturday's Peace Parade in London, hits the nail squarely on the head.

If proof of the charges made by General Smart against the Overseas Ministry and Argyle House was wanted, surely it has been provided by those two institutions themselves within the past few days. First of all we have their failure to make provision for Canada's participation in the parade and their last-minute reversal of their policy—apparently under orders from Sir Robert Borden—in deference to public opinion, and also their mean treatment of General Sir Arthur Currie by ignoring him entirely in coming to their decision. Doubtless it was General Currie's protest, voiced publicly through the British press, that brought the Government to its senses.

I have served with General Smart, both in France and England, and from the opportunity I had while so serving, I know from personal knowledge that the charges he has made are only too true, and if given the opportunity I am satisfied he can substantiate every one of them. RETURNED OFFICER.

AN APPRECIATION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Sixty odd years' experience leaves me on the brink of the great change which comes to all men and I know the end is near. I mention the fact as it explains the presumption of this letter.

The terrific slaughter that has held the world spell-bound has ceased, but the epoch is in the making and the unseen forces that make and unmake our civilization move on with a power that is irresistible.

I leave to abler pens the discussion of problems the war has left—but I wish with all my puny strength to thank you and the press in general for the self-sacrifice made for the war. Sir Douglas Haig says the Empire won the war.

Imagine Britain and Canada, each with a hostile press in 1914—nothing sir, that has been done can eclipse the work done by our loyal press, and really very few ever think about it, or if they do think the press well paid.

CHAS. R. COWENS.

RUDENESS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Reading the Star I see someone else has a complaint to make about rude women. I can hardly call them ladies travelling in the cars with three or four children. I have felt like complaining several times myself about the same thing, but as we say in England, grin and bide. Last week in a Notre Dame car I had the ill-luck to hang onto a strap in front of such a bunch. A woman and three young kids, all comfortably seated, several oldish ladies, myself included, standing. Of course, the mother hadn't the manners or sense to make two of them stand. I guess she had one ticket for the lot. No sir, such travelling wouldn't be tolerated in the Old Country; the conductor would see to it in the first place the traveller would watch it. MRS. E.

ANOTHER PROTEST FROM POINT ST. CHARLES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—As a physician practising in Point St. Charles for more than twenty-five years, I wish most emphatically to protest against the report of Dr. W. A. L. Styles, of the Baby Welfare Committee, published in your paper on the 16th inst.

In that report he refers to what is known as Victoriatown, which is part of Point St. Charles, in an insulting term as "Goose Village." This may have been a correct title for the place in years gone by, when Dr. Styles was a boy, but since my acquaintance with it there are no more geese in Victoriatown than there are on Sherbrooke street, St. Catherine street, or even on Prince Arthur street west, and the inhabitants of this part of the city naturally object to the name.

I have every sympathy with Dr. Styles' endeavor to improve the health of the children in the poorer parts of Montreal by establishing milk centres for their benefit. I believe it is of vital importance that these children should be enabled to get good, pure, fresh milk for the benefit of their health, and that Dr. Styles and his associates of the Baby Welfare Committee deserve a great deal of credit for their work in his direction, but that does not in any way excuse the wholesale exaggerated denunciation of one portion of the city which cannot fail and in fact which has hurt the feelings of many of the inhabitants. Such expressions as "pest hole," and "canker spots" may be correct in small isolated places in this portion of St. Ann's ward, inhabited by foreigners, but certainly does not represent anything like the majority of the houses in this section. I can take Dr. Styles to houses in Victoriatown that are as sweet, neat and clean as any house on Sherbrooke st. or Prince Arthur st., and I can show him children in this section of the city that would be a credit to the same localities beforementioned; children that are robust, healthy, clean and neat, and whose parents take as much pride in their personal appearance as any in the city.

He states that "kiddies in this section are little, handicapped wrecks of society," that "the air is filled with smoke and soot from the Grand Trunk engines," this I absolutely deny. I agree with him, however, that the air of that section is poisoned with the stench from the abattoirs. I have been in sick rooms on a hot summer's day where the windows had to be kept closed because the odor from the abattoirs was so offensive that it was enough to turn one's stomach. More shame to our city authorities to permit such a nuisance notwithstanding all the outcry that has been made in reference thereto.

He further invites the public to go and look at the bow-legged, rickety children." They are all suffering from malnutrition," I deny that all the children in this section are suffering from malnutrition; doubtless there are some bow-legged, rickety children, and if Dr. Styles took the trouble to examine the children on Price Arthur st., he probably would find bow-legged, rickety children there, too.

Apart from the foreign element in this section of the city Victoriatown is inhabited by well-to-do mechanics and people employed in the Grand Trunk shops, many of whom own their own properties, which are well-furnished—pianos and expensive gramophones can be found. Some even own automobiles for personal pleasure, and they are as worthy citizens, although perhaps not as well known as some of those living in other sections of the city. Were I a property-owner in Victoriatown, I would take an action against Dr. Styles for defaming the character of the place as tending to reduce the value of its real estate.

I understand that the excuse is given that it was necessary to make out a strong case in order to be able to extract from the pockets of our wealthy citizens sufficient funds to carry on this baby welfare movement, but to my mind it is impossible that any work of that nature could be a success when it is founded on palpable, deliberate misstatements of the facts.

Dr. Styles has little idea of the hornets' nest he has stirred up. One old resident—a much-respected old Irishman, who owns his own property—said to me gently and without animus: "Dr. Styles ought to be ashamed of his ignorance; there are many very respectable people living in this section that he had no need to insult. It ill becomes Dr. Styles to besmirch the hand (land) that fed him."

Many of our prominent citizens have been born in this very section of the city and it must be a surprise to them to find that the land of their birth is besmerched by such titles as "pesthole canker spots."

H. B. CARMICHAEL, M.D.

If Paderewski Bought a Willis Piano

at our store, he would get exactly the same value for his money that you would get, or that a child would get, if a child bought for you.

Many years ago, we established the "one-price" system in our business. We fix the lowest price we can—and that price is the same to everybody.

It is well to remember this when you buy your piano, for pianos, with rugs, jewellery, pictures and real estate comprise almost the only things sold nowadays in which this one-price policy is not universal.

Our terms of payment are also the same to all—and equally easy to everybody.

MANUSCRIPT BY LAS CASAS, FRIEND OF INDIANS SOLD

He Sailed with Columbus on His Discovery of America

TRUE REFORMER

Exposed the Cruelties of the Spaniards to American Natives

Closer relations having been brought about between England and the United States by the great world war, book lovers, collectors and bibliographers of all kinds in London are taking a keen interest in Americana and fabulous sums are being paid at the auction sales in London for books and manuscripts that deal with the early discoverers of America. Then, too, inheritance duties and high taxation of all kinds are compelling the disintegration of many collections of famous books and manuscripts, which are now finding their way to the auctioneer.

Gladstone used to say that he envied but one other man—Sir Thomas Phillipps—who, like himself, was the son of a Lancashire merchant, and also a passionate lover of books. When but a boy in Rugby School, Phillipps, encouraged by his father, began to acquire libraries, and he soon came to be known as "the prince of accumulators." At 29 a baronetcy was bestowed on Phillips on account of his researches in old libraries and cartularies. When Phillipps died his house in Cheltenham contained sixty thousand rare books and manuscripts, comprising monastic libraries bought en bloc. He had spent more than ¾ million dollars on his hobby.

Since 1886 there have been auction sales out of the Phillipps library at intervals, totalling more than $350,000, and now there will be soon another sale at Sotheby's of interest to book collecters the world over. The forthcoming lot for sale bristles with manuscripts of American interest.

ORIGINAL MANUSCRIPT BY LAS CASAS.

Here will be found the original manuscript by Bartolome de Las Casas, the great "aposle to the Indians," for his book of 1542, describing the enormities inflicted by the Spaniards on the natives of the West Indies. There are seventeen water color drawings of the terrible tortures practiced.

Las Sasas was born in Seville, Spain, in 1474. His father was one of the companions of Columbus in the voyage that resulted in the discovery of the New World. In 1849 young Las Casas accompanied his father in the third voyage of Columbus to the West Indies, and here the young man's mind was shocked by the cruelties practiced by the Spanish colonists on the poor Indians. It will be remembered that Columbus, on his first voyage, left a colony on the island of Hispaniola, or Haiti, with a fort constructed from the material of one of his vessels that had gone aground on the coast.

COLUMBUS IN THE SLAVE TRADE.

When Columbus returned on his second voyage in 1493, bringing over with him fifteen hundred men, he found the fort burned and the colony dispersed. Then he founded a second colony on the same island and called it Isabella, and put a captain-general in charge of it. He founded a gold mining camp in the central portion of Haiti, and sent back to Spain to King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella the famous message which shows that he was the one who started the notorious West Indian slave trade. Columbus left on his tour of discovery of the many other islands among the West Indies and did not return to the colony at Isabella until the latter part of 1494.

He found the colony in a bad way, as the captain-general had done much to outrage and alienate the Indians, and the Red Men had naturally retaliated. When Columbus left Spain on his second voyage he had been directed especially by Queen Isabella, to endeavor by all means in his power to Christianize the inhabitants of the Islands, to make them presents, an to "honor them much," while all under him were commanded to treat them "well and lovingly," under pain of severe punishment.

COLUMBUS MISTREATS THE INDIANS.

But when Columbus saw the deplorable condition of the colony, although it was prompted by the cruelties of the Spaniards who had caused the attacks of the Indians on the palfaces that had come in strange ships to make them slaves and burn them at stakes and take their lands without pay, he forgot the gentle admonition of Queen Isabella and proceeded himself on a campaign of subjection, backed by his brother, Bartholomew. The cacique, or chief, of the Indians was Caonabo, who was captured and the rest were forced into submission. Five ship loads of the Indians were sent off to Seville, Spain, to be sold as slaves. Furthermore, Columbus imposed a tribute on the Indians of the island, and this was the origin of this infamous system in the New World that afterward was to work such mischief among the conquered aborigines.

When young Las Casas came out with Columbus on the third voyage of the great discoverer in 1498, he saw how the Indians had been mistreated by Columbus. Las Casas saw Bobadilla arrive to supersede Columbus as viceroy of the West Indies and place Columbus and his three brothers in irons because of the charges of severity and injustice. Las Casas returned to Spain on the ship that carried Columbus in irons. But he also knew these charges were made for the purpose of deposing Columbus, who was a Genoese, in order to place a Spaniard in charge of the islands, as the other persons sent out to reign were as cruel as Columbus.

FIRST PRIEST ORDAINED IN AMERICA.

When Columbus regained favor after being taken back to Spain, a new governor, Nicholas de Ovando, was sent out to Haiti. Young Las Casas made this trip with Ovando in 1502, and saw Bobadilla impeached and sent home. Las Casas did not make a trip back to Spain for fourteen years. He was admitted to holy orders in Haiti in 1510, being the first priest ordained in the American colonies. He took up the cause of the Indians and traveled through Cuba and other islands of the West Indies, trying to effect pacification. In 1513 and 1514 he was an eye witness to the horrible tortures and the slavery imposed on the Indians at Caonao by the Spaniards, and when the Spaniards started a great massacre of the Indians in Haiti Las Casas raised his voice in protest, but it was of no avail.

But, strange to say, Las Casas was not averse to having slaves himself, for he was assigned a village with a large number of Indians attached to it. Like the rest of his countrymen, he made the most of his opportunity for growing rich, but he occasionally celebrated mass and preached.

LAS CASAS GIVES UP HIS SLAVES.

After he had accumulated a large amount of this world's goods, he saw that the slave system was wrong, and he began to preach against it, at the same time giving up his own slaves. He returned to Spain in 1516 on behalf of the oppressed natives, and through the influence of Cardinal Jimenes he headed a commission sent out to Santo Domingo in 1516 to report on a plan of reform of the abuses. Las Casas returned to Spa in the next year, but his plan failed, and, overwhelmed with disappointment, he returned to Haiti and entered a Dominican monastery, joined the order and devoted eight years to study. He later spent much time in the Central American countries and in Peru, teaching Christianity to the natives, and was for some time Bishop of Chiapa in Mexico. In 1550 he was back in Spain, trying to get laws for better treatment of the Indians in the New World, and he did obtain some aid from Philip II. of Spain. Among other things he obtained an order restoring a court of justice which had been suppressed in Guatemala. He died in Madrid in 1566.

While Las Casas was on a speaking tour in Spain in 1542, on behalf of the Indians, he wrote his famous book telling the history of the outrages committed by the Spaniards from the landing of Columbus down to that time. It is of rare value to historians. It is the original manuscript of this book which is to go under the hammer at an auction sale in London soon.

KILLED 3000, BURNED INDIAN CHIEF.

Las Casas tells in his book that the Indians of Cuba came with provisions and presents when the Spands landed there, caressing the woomers and worshipping them as gods, and showing joy and good will. The brutal Spaniards turned on them and massacred three thousand that day before their blood lust was satisfied. They tied the chief to a tree and started a fire around him and then a friar in the name of Christianity, offered to release the Indian chief if he would promise to worship in the name of the Holy Catholic Church and thereby be assured of going to heaven.

"I do not understand your worship of a strange God that allows you to murder my innocent people, who offered you our best food and met you with love and kindness," said the brave Indian chief. "No, I would rather die and go to the hell you tell me about than to go to a heaven accompanied by men who have outraged and killed my women and murdered my men, when all fell on their knees and begged for your mercy."

So the Indian chief was left to burn to death.

LAS CASAS PROTESTED AGAINST CRUELTY.

But one strong voice, although unheeded, was raised in protest, and that was Las Casas's. He told the blood-thirsty Spaniards that such cruelties done in the name of Christianity were a mockery of the Catholic creed. He saw six thousand babies die in three months from starvation because their mothers had been taken to the mines to pile up gold for the Spaniards. No wonder one cacique held up before his trembling subjects a piece of gold and said: "This is the Spaniards' god."

Las Casas tells how several of the islands were depopulated in twenty years by the slavery in the mines and by the murder of the innocent and kind-hearted Indians. These horrors spurred to greater efforts for Christianity and humanity a saintly man of signal virtues and heroic services, who lifted up his voice in fervent prayer and protest against the cruelties inflicted on the children of Nature, and who spent a half century of his life in working to bring about reforms in behalf of the Indians.

TOP HAT HAS COME INTO ITS OWN AGAIN

Londoners Go in for Formality After-War Dress

The reappearance of the tall hat in London has already been commented upon, but no one was quite prepared for the completeness of its reconquest of Ascot, says the Manchester Guardian. It was not only the royal enclosure, where nothing else was seen except the military caps of the soldiers and the turbans of the rajahs, but in the grandstand nearly half the men wore tall hats. Just before the war things had become less conventional even at Ascot, and it was the bookmakers rather than the grandstand that wore tall hats. This week the bookmakers nearly all had straw hats—not Panamas but ordinary boaters.

Another point was the vast number of tall gray hats, many of them worn by young men, generally along with check trousers. The short black coat, by the way, was hardly to be seen, and frock coats were common. There were a few stock ties.

A Piccadilly hatter, consulted on the question, said that the young demobilized man of the West End seems anxious to get a silk hat as soon as he has put off his steel helmet. Probably the weight and stiffness of the tall hat, which used to bother him, seem nothing at all now after steel headgear. During the war, he said, men at home liked to seem as inconspicuous as possible, and that as well as other reasons led to the internment of the tall hat. However, like many things now, the supply is not equal to the demand, and many young men were disappointed this week, and had to wear their old hats or go without a topper.

U.S. ARMY FAILED IN TRANSPORTATION

Inexperience and Lack of Understanding of Traffic Discipline

Nothing is more delicate than transport organization before a battle and a single mistake may be fatal to victory, says H. Warner Allen in the National Review, London. It was particularly delicate for the Americans, as their sector was very badly provided with roads. In these circumstances a serious blunder was made in the traffic scheme, and it ended in the most colossal traffic jam in the war. Those of us who were on the Somme remember the traffic jams of 1916. In those days we thought that the Guillemont road when it marked the boundary between the British and French beat all the records of confusion, but that road was an orderly practical means of communication compared to the chaos of the roads behind the American front. At Avocourt, the critical point, there was a jam in which not a wheel turned for seventeen hours. The men in the first line, who had advanced four miles or so, were in many cases without supplies for four days.

The American difficulties were in no way due to the German artillery. On a great part of their front they were fighting on ground that had never been fought on before, so that it was tolerably free of shell holes. The mud was bad, but certainly not so bad as both at Verdun and in the Somme. The confusion arose, first, from the staff mistake and, secondly, from want of comprehension of the meaning of traffic discipline.

The great lesson of the war has been the need of submission to authority. This lesson the Americans had not had time to learn, and they are by nature an independent people. There were far too many detached lorries on the roads without any responsible N. C. O., and their drivers seemed to take a malicious delight in holding up all traffic Much time and confusion might have been saved if the Americans, in the days immediately preceding the attack, had prepared tracks beside the roads for infantry and horse vericles. roads for infantry and horse vehicles, and men were all muddled together in a conglomerate mess, and it took miracles of patience and endless delay to re-establish circulation.

There followed for the whole American army a period of acute disappointment. The British in the north were advancing with enormous strides, while they themselves, burning with eagerness and enthusiasm, were held up after the first two days' success. The American high command had hoped to reach its first main objective on the second or third day of the fighting and to have cleared the Argonne within a week; their patrols were to have met the French patrols at Grandpre. The whole plan was upset by the disorganization behind the lines. A precious week was lost and the enemy had time to strengthen his defenses in the rear, with the result that they were able to stave off military disasters until the armistice.

"MAN ABOUT TOWN" IS ENTIRELY NEW

Stroll in London Shows Immaculate Types Just Out of Khaki

One is inclined to wonder at times if the people who walk the streets and travel on 'buses and tubes just now get as much interest as they might out of their fellow passengers, and especially out of these new young men in the street, the history of whose lives would make such exciting reading did we but know it. It is difficult enough for the civilians but it must be extremely interesting for the ex-soldier.

One young officer who was until a very few weeks ago a prisoner of war in Germany tells me it is very difficult for him to go into the streets without meeting people he knew in captivity. Some, of course, are still in khaki, but many have donned civilian clothes for the period of their repatriation leave. In one night he told me, he met in one walk between Whitehall and Oxford street four of his fellows he never expected to see in London except by special arrangement.

"But the greatest surprise," he said, "occurred the following morning when I was walking down St. Martin's lane. I heard my name being called from behind, and, turning, saw coming towards me two exact models of the 1914 'young man about town.' But to me they were something quite different from that. I only saw them as I knew them. They had shared the same room with me for eight months, and one I knew to be the most even tempered and pleasant man it has ever been my good fortune to know intimately. One needs to live with a man night and day in one room, to cook porridge with him on a crowded stove, to overhaul a refuse bin for stray bits of bacon rind and scraps of moldy bread—and find nothing—during the early days of captivity, before parcels began to arrive, to know what a man's nature really is These men had gone through dangers and hardships of which the civilian knows nothing, and today they are walking our streets as carelessly and aimlessly as ever. It will be very difficult to appraise men at their real value in the future."—Manchester Guardian.

CORNER-STONES TO NORTH-EAST

At the northeast corner of the Great Pyramid of Cheops is a stone bigger and more symmetrically cut than any other in the gigantic structure. It is supposed to have been meant as a corner stone.

The practice of laying corner stones for important buildings is certainly very ancient, and many very old ones have yielded most interesting relica — coins, documents, etc.—placed within them evidently as memorials likely to be instructive to subsequent generations.

The Great Pyramid, which was designed as a tomb for a monarch, was expected to endure forever, and so its corner stone could not have been expected to contain any such memorabilia.

It has always been customary to place the corner stone at the northeast corner of a building, and this is the practice today whenever possible. The corner stones of municipal buildings are commonly receptacles for copies of current newspapers and historical documents.

The masons take a special interest in corner stones. On such an occasion they appear in full regalia, and a copper box is used to hold the articles interred. The box is soldered up and placed inside the corner stone, which is then sealed with cement.

Keep your underarms dry and sweet even in the warmest weather

YOU needn't worry about perspiration! You needn't be afraid that even the warmest weather will make the moisture or odor of perspiration under your arms noticeable to others!

You can keep your underarms perfectly dry and sweet in the warmest weather and under the most trying circumstances.

Odorono, a toilet lotion especially prepared for this purpose, will give you complete assurance of a daintiness that you haven't believed possible. It is a physician's formula and harmlessly corrects the excessive perspiration which cannot evaporate as it should.

How to keep your underarms dry

Regularly, two or three times a week, use Odorono. Pat it under the arms with a piece of cloth, or absorbent cotton. Let it dry. Dust over it some talcum powder. You'll always be free from moisture and odor under your arms!

Begin to use Odorono tonight. Get a bottle from your druggist or toilet goods dealer. THE ODORONO COMPANY, 654 Blair Avenue, Cincinnati, O., U. S. A. Canadian address, The Arthur Sales Co., 61 Adelaide Street, E., Toronto, Ont.

Life and Character Reading

JULY 24.

We have here the most interesting characters of the Zodiac. They partake of the powerful, magnetic vibrations of their planets, the Earth and the Sun and they also reflect accurately the characteristics of their birthsign Leo, the lion.

These people are the most adaptable in nature. They are seldom disturbed by changed conditions of mind or body or environment. Their success in life seems to be dependent on a happy marriage, and greatest care should be used in forming marriage ties. The love nature is intense and demands an equal response, and, unless met, the nature becomes moody and morose and difficult to deal with.

The birthstone is a diamond.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

CHRISTIANITY AND SOCIALISM.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In his letter on Socialism, E. M. H. seems to have failed to grasp the points at issue between that system and Christianity. The appeal of Christ was to the heart and affections, that of Socialism is to the appetites. Balzac observed that "many hurt vanities long for equality," and "half of democratic opinion is envy." A good deal more than half socialistic belief is inspired by that vice, "the moth of the mind," which "keeps no holidays." From whence otherwise comes the furious class war so loudly preached in these days, the denunciation of the "kept classes," the favored few and privileged interests. The doctrine of Christ was that riches were worthless, whereas the socialist believes in a more even distribution of property than at present exists. The essence of the Olivet sermon is voluntarism, that of Socialism is constraint of a number for the benefit of a majority. Socialism is a code of laws based on certain economic assumptions. Christianity is a state of mind. The Sermon on the Mount is spiritual, Socialism is materialism, "earthly;" not "sensual and devilish," it can easily become so. It takes no acuteness to see that an ideal is always far ahead of a sober reality, but in the case of Christianity and Socialism the goals aimed at are entirely different. The one tries to get a remnant ready for the next world, while the other aims to make the most of this. The sermon on Olivet was intended for a minority because the virtues insisted on most forcibly, patience and humility, are the least palatable to human nature, and Matt. 5, 14 and 16 would suggest that it was so consciously directed. The passage cited by E. M. H. only goes to show that Christ believed riches an impediment to the spiritual life, while Socialists do not count even riches as such. The Socialist, at least the average one, wants more than he has, and he calls this feeling a desire to share with others. He canonizes his own appetites and diabolizes those of his opponents. Socialism is intended for nations, Christianity is a rule for individuals. The phrase, "A Christian Nation," is a self-contradiction. Nations as such are not dealt with under Christianity, which exalts the importance of the unit, while Socialism would destroy individuality to a degree that would render it the worst of despotism. "Whatever does so is tyranny," as Mill said, "no matter what it may be called," and there is already far too little individuality and too much uniformity in the world as it is. England 168 years ago was as little Christian as at any time in its history, because the laws of no state are really founded on Christianity, but rather on the old Mosaic code, of which the Sermon on the Mount was an accentuation and spiritualization. Probably socialists have rendered great services in calling attention to the evils of unrestrained private enterprise, and the greed of capitalization, but with all this Christianity has no connection. The average professing Christian is possibly not any more virtuous than the ordinary Socialist, but Christianity is a very different thing from Socialism, because it has a hope for the immortal part of man, and the founder of Christianity, although no social reformer, was a being of a dissimilar type to the megaphones of class hatred, some of whom add to the eloquent vocables of Jack Cade, the sincerity of Cagliastro and the fine moral idealism of a town bull. The most typical Socialists have been atheists like Marx and Owen, or believers in free love, even when they did not adopt the doctrine of the community of women like Engels and Marx in his earlier years. No Socialist ever said he believed in theft. Like ancient Tistol he would call it by another name, but expropriation without payment is robbery, whatever it may be termed. This programme is an integral part of Communism and Bolshevism, and the number of Socialists who advocate it at least in regard to public utilities is very large. Most English Socialists believed in compensation for private owners, but the war appears to have upset the moral balance of many of them. Thus, the English mining leaders, Smillie, Smith and Hodges, in the Sankey Commission report declared against any payment to the mine owners, though the natural corollary of this would be that all property should be taken over on the same basis. This scheme is justified by the wolfish avarice of profiteers, but experience has shown that those who rob the rich will do the same to the poor.

R. E. HUTCHISON.

THE INCLINE RAILWAY.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—You are quite right in demanding that no time be lost in putting the incline railway into operation, provided always the safety of the structure is assured. As a permanent means of transportation to the top of the mountain, however, the incline railway is little better than a joke, when the population of Montreal is considered and due regard is given to the incalculable value of the mountain park from a health creating point of view. I shall leave it for others to scintillate upon the beauties and invigorating properties of the mountain, and shall confine myself to the practical side of the question. Let us recall our memories a bit: After a tedious wait in a crowded station on the afternoon of a hot Sunday or holiday, we were packed into an uncomfortable car for a two-minutes' ride, and then herded like cattle into a couple of rickety old boxes on wheels to be dragged up the steep incline. Regarding the safety of the latter half of the journey not a few had their misgivings, more especially those who took the trouble to examine the wood, stone and iron trestles that carry the rails. The fare was high, quite beyond the reach of many poor people with a family of children. The service on week days was irregular and the last car down was timed so early that on holidays many missed it, and had to descend by the road or steps. The whole outfit is out of date, and unsuitable to the requirements of a great city like Montreal. Frequently, as I used the railway in former years, I have rejoiced to see the cars stop running because I have felt that nothing else would make us realize the need for a change.

We Montrealers are truly a conservative people and, once we accept a shibboleth, we close our eyes and ears to any suggested improvement that seems to be out of accord with the supposedly inviolable law. Some person a generation ago laid down a sort of eleventh commandment that the street cars must never be allowed on the mountain. If to do so the rails would require to be laid upon the beautiful roads I should be in accord with that view, but I cannot believe that a competent engineer would find any great difficulty in routing the cars to the top of the mountain by a reasonably short run, and on grades such as trolleys require, starting with the conditions that he must either run upon nor cross a road, and that the cars must be kept away from all play grounds. He would, of course, be allowed to tunnel and build bridges, the style of the latter to be in accord with the surroundings. One would suppose that an entrance could be effected with but little difficulty either from Guy street on the west side or Mount Royal avenue on the north, the latter running to the east of the cemetery.

The Tramways Company could well afford to carry the people onto the mountain without an additional charge, for during the summer months hundreds of thousands of extra passengers would avail themselves of the trip both ways, while in winter many would "take the cars" to join in the season's sports.

With a service such as I have outlined, the mountain would become a great resort and the benefit to the health of our people would be incalculable.

I fancy that I can hear from some quarters a rumble of discontent at the prospect of losing the seclusion and restfulness now so readily obtained in the wonderful park. Let such people remember that it is public property and that it is a veritable Laurentian mountain placed at the doors of our countless dwellers.

I should deem it a privilege to join with others in an organization having for its object the carrying out of the above plan. H. K. S. HEMMING.

TWO SUGGESTIONS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Imagination reflects, therefore, let us go back to those early days of the past war, when thousands of fathers and sons volunteered for service, heralded away amidst optimistic and somewhat inflated patriotism, yet being propelled by a strong under-current of the serious responsibility which they as a people were assuming.

We can also recall the exhortation and promises which were given at that time to the departing boys who left the shores of this, our own, Canadian home.

"Peace, perfect peace," has again taken the place of war. Our boys who have fought and won are returning home, satisfied that they have done their share and made the necessary contribution in the sport line of sacrifice. Among those who are returning some are strong, vigorous and animated with the prospect of a new lease of liberty, willing to go on and fight the battles of life, while there are others who have not enjoyed the good fortune of their fellow comrades. I speak of those who are being returned on account of disability, otherwise hospital patients. I trust I am not voicing any imaginary grievances when speaking in regard to the relation of crippled soldiers and civilians of Montreal and vicinity. Speaking in a technical sense as regards pensions and other provisions, the disabled soldiers of Canada are compensated in a very liberal way, compared with other countries, and I trust is appreciated by same. But, after all, there are other essentials of life than mere money and compensation for services rendered. What we want is a wee bit of consideration and practical sympathy. I would make the following suggestions:

Kindly remember when a wounded chap on crutches boards a street car that although you may think he is amply provided for in the way of compensation, that it is impossible for him to stand upon a five-dollar bill. Therefore, in place of that sympathetic look, which after all is of no use, be a gentleman; give the fellow your seat. You may have been working hard all day, but just reflect for a moment. In France we had no ten-hour day, also the insurance risk was high. So in place of the usual procedure, which consists of smiles and stares, which are both ignorant and silly, if the chap asks for a seat, which has been the case in Montreal, in place of reminding him of the horrors of an after life, follow the above given formula.

Suggestion number two is equally important. The patients of the Military Hospital at Ste. Anne's, being quite human, consequently go to Montreal, occasionally. (Please note.) Our hospital dress is blue suit, white shirt, and red tie, which is regarded in England and other civilized parts of the globe as a suit of honor, but, judging from the impression one gets from the above-named city, we are looked upon as so many libertines or denizens of the underworld. Moreover, we are often the objects of some very uncalled-for jokes.

Kindly digest the following formula: Please do not gaze. It makes one feel bored. Also, we have to pinch ourselves to recollect if we are in ignorant or illiterate Russia, or the commercial metropolis of a growing nation, and surely the people of this city do not wish to be compared to Russia. But I may say in the army there are men not "toughs," who have come from all corners of the earth, and I have yet to hear any of them speak of an enlightened Montreal, and, remember, the tongue is the greatest advertiser of the age.

PHILIP JEFFREY.

LABOR AND LIQUOR.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Few social developments are more significant than the changed attitude of organized labor to prohibition. Two years ago the Trades and Labor Councils of Canadian cities were strongly arrayed in opposition to the various prohibitory laws, and not the least reason for this was the distrust awakened by the fact that prohibition was advocated by large employers for what workmen supposed to be class purposes.

The working out of prohibition, however, has had unexpected results. Union meetings are better attended, and there is less disposition to leave early before the bars should close. And certainly the new conditions under prohibition have made far more sustained attention and study of the problems of industry.

It is not surprising, therefore, that prohibition has been accompanied by an emphatic re-assertion of the aspirations of labor for better conditions and more effective organization in support of those aspirations. This explains why leading authorities in the shipbuilding industry appeared before the United States Senate committee in opposition to prohibition on the ground that increased industrial unrest followed the doing away of the liquor trade.

On the other hand, men like Professor Leacock have awakened deep resentment by pleas that the ordinary worker is far more happy sitting with his mug of beer than attending to the duties of his union. And writers in labor papers have protested against the efforts of men conspicuous in financial circles to restore the open sale of liquor.

It is, therefore, not surprising that one labor council after another has placed itself on record as favoring prohibition. While there are still several who have not thus fully changed their minds, and others who would favor the provision for beer, there is no doubt about a widespread and definite change from hostility to support of drastic measures for the restriction of the sale of liquor.

Great efforts have been put forth to secure from various unions and labor councils expressions of opposition to total prohibition, but the efforts to maintain the old line-up have been quite disappointing.

If prohibition brings as its first result a more thoughtful and disciplined, and also a more ambitious spirit in organized labor, every true citizen will rejoice. ERNEST THOMAS.

Toronto. Board of Social Service.

EVOLUTION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—With regard to evolution there is a widespread misapprehension that one distinct animal evolves into another, as links of a chain or steps of a ladder; but man never was an ape, nor an ape man: each has developed from common sources through the ages, as branches in diverging lines, evolving features in different environments. The evolution is repeated before each birth, for from an initial cell develops a paunch, a worm, a lizard, until the human form in miniature is complete in each exquisite feature. Each plant, too, develops as in the third "day" of creation; the blade, the ear, the fruit; which order also exists from the grass of the sterile north or the snow-clad mountain summit of the south to the perennial tropical fruits at its base and in like order in the ages-old strata of the earth's crust. We ourselves evolve the evergreen oak, the fuschia, horse-less cattle, seedless oranges, coreless apples. The very cell is modified; an egg placed in special environment in a bee-hive produces a queen. The cake of yeast in cool suspense, if submitted to warmth and moisture, is inspired by the breath of life to multiply (in myriad organisms) with joy and beauty. An impulse to beauty is one universal factor in evolution, producing endless variety; modified by necessity, climate and locality. A heap of herrings gathered on the High Seas from all parts of the world may each be named from the very bay or loch from which it came, and to which it would in time have returned, and the male bird almost universally puts on gay plumage from which the female is debarred to conceal her eggs or young. Even the elements are impelled to beauty. Ruskin poetically treats an ounce of black shine on a beaten footpath, removing it in fancy from disturbance into natural conditions from which the clay would emerge a sapphire; the sand an opal, the soot a diamond and the wet a "star of snow." What an apocalypse of hope for earth's refuse!

Nature's modes called "laws" persist; the spirit also evolves: not at a wave of a wand even at death, is all wisdom acquired or perfection of character; nor is atonement by ritual or vicarious death; the soul that sins in like measure "dies", and is healed by its own atonement; in the only way Christ Himself set of complete self-surrender to truth and life. A. P. P.

H.M.S. RENOWN.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Some other details of this ship may, perhaps, supplement the interesting picture of her in the Star of July 21st.

She was the direct outcome of the destruction of von Spee's squadron at the Falkland Islands in December, 1914, by the battle cruisers Invincible and Inflexible. The value of this class was so manifested by this fight, that it was decided to produce something which combined the heaviest possible armament compatible with the limits of size, and exceptional speed. Renown and her sister, Repute, were the result. They were the next of the battle cruiser class after Tiger, which was completed in October, 1914. As compared with her, Renown (and of course Repulse) is 90 feet longer, 6 inches less beam, and 3 feet less draught of water, she burns oil only. With her remarkably light draught, she is more like a vastly enlarged light cruiser, but her heavy armament and good protection, as well as her great speed, class her as a battle cruiser.

Her leading details are: Length over all, 794 feet; beam, 90 feet; draught (normal trim), 25 ft. 6 in.; displacement (ditto), 26,500 tons; shaft horse-power, 120,000; speed (exceeded on trial), 32 knots.

She carries six 15-in. and seventeen 4-in. guns. Normally she stows 1,000 tons of oil, but can take in 4,250 tons.

Not the least remarkable point about Renown and Repute is that they were designed, built and completed between January, 1915, and September, 1916, or 21 months; truly a fine performance. There is nothing on the seas that these two ships could not overtake in anything like "weather."

These and other facts may be found in a paper by Sir E. Tennyson d'Eyncourt, chief constructor, on "Recent Additions to the Navy," read before the Institution of Naval Architects in London not long ago. NAVIS.

RAISING A STORM.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—May I express my appreciation on your editorial in the Star of July 16th, "Peace or politics?" I can only say it was a clear, correct and straightforward review of the world politics in the Far East, and, no doubt, an honest political student will, without hesitation, agree with your view.

There are a few Senators who are trying to raise a storm in the peaceful chamber of the U. S. Senate; crying at the top of their voices of things which are too ridiculous to speak, such as the Shantung problem that was buried more than ten years ago and the German-Japanese secret treaty, which is nothing but their imagination.

Senator Norris seems to be anxious to play a title role, too. He has published some papers, which he claims to be copies of the correspondence between the Japanese Government and the British and French ambassadors at Tokio. Of course, the Senator will not tell us how and where has has secured those papers. Possibly they may be so-called home-made papers, or perhaps they might have been composed by a smart Chinaman. Who knows? I hope, however, Senator Norris did not pay too high a price for them, I hope, moreover, all those manufactors who are trying to hit at Champion Wilson with the old Shantung glove put on one hand and home-made German-Japanese secret treaty glove on the other, as Willard tried, in vain, to knock out Dempsey, are not playing under the influence of German or Chinese spirit, for we hear that all states are dry now. A NIPPONOB.

TWO SIDES TO THIS, TOO.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I was disgusted to read in tonight's Star, of the crippled soldiers being imprisoned 28 days for playing cards on a Sunday, which included loss of pay and defaulter's rations. Some of the poor crippled need feeding up instead of being put on poorer rations, what are the soldiers (our boys) to do?

There are no movies, etc., open in Toronto (the good?) on a Sunday.

Just recently there were no cars running, on account of the strike and those who were crippled had to stay in as a great many of the amputation cases cannot walk very far. What can they do on a Sunday? After being at the front since 1914 this is what is handed out to our soldiers for playing a game of cards. Where is the justice of it? No wonder we read of so many suicides, after the nerve-racking experience of those who have spent years at the front, more leniency and justice should be shown. I think the Y. W. V. A. should investigate this and see that our privates get a fairer show and what they fought for, Freedom.

Look it up, Y. W. V. A. and perhaps there is more than we can see on the surface. ONE FOR FREEDOM.

(As frequently happens, only one side of the Toronto story was published. The soldiers were not punished for playing cards but for openly refusing to obey an order given by an officer. Card playing is contrary to the regulations of the hospital of which the officers were compelled to observe the regulations.—Ed. Star.)

EARLY CLOSING.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I have heard and read in the daily papers a good deal about this issue, and which city fathers are about to decide at an early date. May I ask a few questions? I am a business man, and run a retail store in the heart of the city, selling fancy goods, curios, novelties, etc., etc. In the summer I depend solely on the tourist travel, and a great deal of my sales are done during the course of the evening, after 7 p. m. I always allow my employes to go off almost every evening and remain in the store myself with my partner. Now I am told that the stores are going to be closed up four out of the six nights. Is it fair and square that a man should be told to close up if he runs the store himself? The cigar stores and drug stores, which sell the same class of goods that I do, namely fancy goods, etc., are not even mentioned. Where does the justice come in? Surely if a man wishes to run the store without keeping his employes there he ought not to be interfered with. We have high taxes to pay and high rents, and to meet those we are compelled to remain open at nights. I trust that our city fathers will use sane judgment in drafting the new bylaw and treat our taxpayers with justice. F. G. C.

ABOLISH MAYOR AND COUNCIL.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I was surprised at the attitude taken by Mayor Martin, when he says that he felt nervous about the move made by some members of the Council calling a special meeting in his absence. Does he really believe that without him the city of Montreal would not exist? Those members of the council who have called this meeting have done their duty, and I wish that there were others with such broad views as theirs to support the commissioners when they are doing what is right. He says our streets are in bad order. We all know that, but whose fault is it? Why did he not take the proper means to have them repaired, and even if there were no new paving done, the city would not have any more money to do the repairs. As to the cost of new pavements, we know very well that the price is higher now than it was before the war, but will they be any cheaper next year? I do not believe that the price will be lower during the next five years, and as it is to be paid by the proprietors interested, the city and the mayor will not lose one cent. I trust and hope that at the next session of the Legislature the city council will disappear to make room for a commission only to administer the affairs of the city.

A CITIZEN OF NOTRE DAME DE GRACE.

"BUTTING-IN."

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—Speaking of the Irish question your own correspondent in London, says; "At the same time British opinion seems emphatically to endorse Carson's protest against foreign intervention in British affairs. "The Morning Post, too, indulges in some plain speaking. There has been just a little too much of that "Butting-In." What would our friends over the line think if the case had been like this: The State of New York having decided to break away from the Union, and to set up a separate Republic, with the city of New York as its capital, the British, approving the plan, sent a group of American-British delegates to Paris while the peace conference was in session. The British Parliament then passed a resolution strongly urging that these American-British delegates should be allowed to be heard at the Peace Table. Then King George, in his usual modesty, must put in his oar and publicly declare that he sympathized with the aims and aspirations of this American-British delegation. "What would our friends say to that? Guess there would be a howl." A. BRITON.

THE INCLINE RAILWAY

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I was glad to see your recent editorial on the non-operation of Mount Royal Incline Railway, but apparently according to announcements appearing in the papers, there is little prospect of the line being operated this season. It is a peculiar situation, and I think the citizens are justified in making a most emphatic protest against this state of affairs, whereby very many thousands are virtually precluded from visiting Montreal's most beautiful resort, the far-famed Mount Royal, as climbing up innumerable steps is practically impossible to the majority, and other means of locomotion would be out of the question except to the comparative few who could afford it. When a situation like the present deadlock can occur it is high time a change took place, and the Incline Railway be operated by the city for its citizens, and visitors to our city, to whom the present deprivation (through no fault of our own) is a very real loss, and a grave injustice to all of us.

F. E. YARDLEY.

WHY NOT KEEP THEM CLEAN?

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—It is too bad the way some of the citizens neglect the lawns and concreted spaces in front of their houses. If they cannot erect some kind of a fence and cut the grass, etc., they can surely remove all waste paper and other rubbish from the spaces in front of the houses and sweep off the sidewalks (providing, of course, it is not breaking the law to sweep off the lawns, etc., and sidewalks into the streets).

One neglected, littered lawn or concreted space will spoil the effect of a whole row of well kept fronts and passers-by are apt to form impressions of a neighborhood and regard it as being run down merely because the front spaces are neglected.

I have noticed some neatly trimmed lawns are spoiled in appearance by the amount of paper, etc., littered about on them, and in one case a very dignified home with a concreted space in front made hideous looking from the same cause. CITIZEN.

TRANSPORTATION IN PARK AVENUE EXTENSION.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—May I be allowed a few lines of space in your valuable paper on a matter of public interest, especially to property owners of Park Avenue Extension?

I am assessed by the City of Montreal for about twenty thousand dollars on property in this locality, and, therefore, I am naturally desirous to see this part of Montreal improve. In spite of the recent decision of the Board of Railway Commissioners not to allow the Tramways to cross the C. P. R. tracks at Atlantic avenue, the authorities at the City Hall should see that the Tramway Company install a stub line, as suggested by the Engineer's report to the board. A stub line would relieve the situation, pending the building of a subway.

Thanks are due to Mr. E. W. Griffith and his friends for their continued energetic and determined action on the question of transportation for the district. JOHN H. HOWARD.

WHO BUILT IT?

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—When in Ottawa recently, a gentleman was showing me round his home and I casually asked, "from whom did you buy it?" "Oh," my host replied, "I built it." The architect who designed it was doubtless very proud of the house, and most likely a photo of it, hung on his office wall. He was sure he had built the house. Again the builder who had contracted for the house, and who after passed it, in his $3,500 car, would say, "I built that house." The foreman, consuming his glass of 2½ per cent. could remark that he had "built Mr. Robert's house." Even the bricklayer could say that he had "built the house." Pride in good work is commendable, and if such a feeling be stimulated, I verily believe better buildings would result. As to architects and builders, it would be a good idea to weed out the builders from the botchers and separate the "know it all" architect from the well merited designer.

HOHENZOLLERN WOOD SAWING.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—You do wrong to print wood-sawing stunts, such as 7,000 six-inch cuts per month. It could be done with a band saw run by a gasoline engine. You do wrong, further, to puff up this vapid wind-bag by noticing him, thus helping still more to throw his hide-binding tentacles over the minds of men. Since he must be under the spot light—put him in a cage and exhibit him. CONSTANT READER.

BANFF

Banff Springs Hotel, in the Canadian Pacific Rockies, is now the Summer Resort of a large number of discriminating visitors, both American and Canadian. Banff is beautifully situated on the Bow River, under the shadow of huge mountain peaks. It provides outdoor life in many forms—golf, tennis, motoring, pony riding on mountain trails and climbing. It has wonderful warm open air sulphur pools for bathing.

The big hotel has a roomy restfulness, and, with an excellent ballroom and orchestra, a splendid cuisine and service, has a distinctive tone all its own. Making this hotel as a centre, excursions can be made in all directions into the beauty spots of the Canadian Pacific Rockies. A holiday such as this is a unique experience, tending, in addition to health-giving results, to enlarge your conception of Canada.

Key Lost

A man went to open the inner compartment of his office safe the other day, but could not find the key. He searched everywhere, finally returning home to look, but without success. Some papers in that safe were required to put a deal through.

At once a Want Ad was inserted and the same day the key was once more in his possession, giving him access to his papers and valuables.

"LABOR UNREST IS NOT A BAD SIGN"

Says Ralph Connor, Means Lessons of War Learned

FEAR RED RULE

One Leader Union Leaves Council—Others to Follow

TORONTO, July 24.—Major (Rev. Dr.) C. W. Gordon, beter known as Ralph Connor, the eminent Canadian preacher-author, is anxious for the reputation of the Canadian soldiers still overseas.

"The feeling toward the Canadian soldier in England has been one of extraordinary popularity. But the frequently-recurring riots in the Canadian camps are making an unpleasant impression, and the sooner the Canadian soldier is brought back home the better for the reputation of the Canadian soldier and for the country. Every possible means should be adopted to bring the men home at the earliest moment, and money should not count at all in carrying it out."

"What is the chief trouble?" he was asked.

The major declined to speak further for publication, but he remarked, "a soldier's life in peace time is a rotten job. The trouble is they want to get home."

Major Gordon, speaking for the coal miners in strike in England said that the chief demand of the men was nationalization of the coal mining industry, and that that would probably be the best solution of the vexing problem now confronting the British Government.

UNREST NOT A BAD SIGN.

"What did they think in Britain about our Winnipeg strike?"

"It was followed very closely and received prominent notice in the newspapers. For one thing they were very pleased with the way in which it was handled, firmly and fairly."

"As a Winnipeg man yourself, Major, were you surprised?"

"No, I knew it was bound to come, and we are not through with it yet."

After a thoughtful pause the Major said, reflectively: "It isn't a bad sign, the unrest, indeed it is a very hopeful sign in one sense. It shows that the reactions of the war are being felt in civil life, and that the demand for freedom and justice has stirred the hearts of the people more than ever before. On the other hand the attitude of the community regarding strikes is that they will not stand for any nonsense, and that order must be maintained while justice is being done."

LABOR MEN FEAR RED RULE.

"Red-Rule" in the Toronto trades and labor council is proving a bitter pill for the moderates, who bemoan the sudden rise to power of the radical labor element, which now controls organized labor, in the city at least, so far as the more conservative unions continue to maintain representation in the council. This is the pivotal point of the labor situation in Toronto today, and rumors are rife as to the possibility of this or that union withdrawing from the Trades and Labor Council as the Local 128 of the Shipbuilders and Boilermakers has already done. Many of these unions who have been opposed to the hoisting of the red flag feel that it will be impossible to sit in a body which is controlled by the radical element and there are strong forces at work to bring about their resignation from the Council.

TOMMY IS CHECKED.

Tommy Church cannot always have his way. This time, a friend threw him down, though, it may be, not deliberately. There was hot talk at the Board of Control meeting yesterday over the request of prominent local sportsmen to have the city erect a stadium on the Rosedale lacrosse grounds to cost in the neighborhood of $40,000, ex-controller Joseph Thompson and Francis Nelson, formerly sporting editor of the Globe, appeared before the Board. The Mayor was strong for acceding to their request, but controllers McBride and Robbins were not and when a vote came the Mayor had only Controller Cameron with him, because of the absence of Controller Maguire, who probably would have supported the Mayor. The result of the meeting was that the three controllers present promised to go out and have a look at the Trinity College grounds on Queen Street West, which were mentioned as an alternative site for a stadium. Mr. Church, of course was vehement in his support of his sportsmen friends but it availed little.

THRILLING RIVER CHASE.

Inspector John McCabe, of the United States Immigration staff, whose special duty it is to watch for Chinese smugglers, engaged in a thrilling battle with two white men who were trying to cross the Detroit river from Sandwich in a small boat early yesterday morning with three celestians for a cargo.

Inspector McCabe in his motor launch, and accompanied by his wife, was drifting quietly down stream, when he detected a row boat approaching. When ordered to stop the smugglers replied with oaths, and pulling up to the launch began an attack on McCabe. One of the men was recognized as Harold Fontaine, of Windsor, a returned soldier, while the other was John Geiser, recently released from the Federal prison at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas, for Chinese smuggling.

Geiser attacked the immigration inspector with a heavy iron bar, nearly breaking a bone in his arm, while another blow crippled his motor, leaving him at the mercy of the smugglers.

Then Mrs. McCabe came to her husband's assistance, and with his revolver taken from a locker she threatened to shoot. Both men immediately leaped overboard, and at least one of them perished, Inspector McCabe believes.

The three Chinese—Jong Ing, Ing Wing and Ing Way—were held in Detroit for deportation.

A MERRY BOOZE MOVIE.

Fleet of foot, William Chabot, of 117 Centre avenue, led Plainclothesmen Clarkson and Ward a merry chase last night through the Ward in spite of the advantage which they possessed in an auto. Clarkson, in the auto, a liquor detective on the running board, and Ward, on foot, failed to catch Chabot until he was exhausted and jumped into an excavation on Centre avenue as he rounded a corner with the police on his heels.

Mr. William Williams, chairman of the local Union of the Civic Employes, announced last night that he purposed calling a mass meeting of all civic employes between now and the end of the month for the purpose of laying before them a plan for the formation of an association which should embrace every branch of civil service. It was pointed out by Mr. Williams that the civic employes received by little benefit from the Toronto Trades and Labor Council, while they paid in large sums to that body, and that greater good might be accomplished in the coming years by an association which would be in the sole interests of its members.

LIKE THE FISH DIET.

Although the demand for Government fresh water fish is not as great from provincial points this year as last, Toronto people have apparently become confirmed fish eaters. Sales during the last week, as recorded in the sales branch of the Department of Fisheries, indicate that more Government fish is being consumed in Toronto this year than there was at the same season in 1918. For the first four days of this week 55,000 pounds of fish taken from Lake Nipigon have been placed on the Toronto market. An average of 150,000 pounds is being distributed weekly throughout the province.

A joint session of the executives of the Brotherhoods of Railway Carmen has been summoned to confer with W. D. Hines, director-general of American Railways at Washington, on Monday, according to a statement given out by Joseph Corbett, of London. Mr. Corbett was the official spokesman of the Canadian brotherhood in negotiations recently carried on with the Canadian Railway War Labor Board. That body has announced that it will approve whatever rates are set by Mr. Hines in his forthcoming wage award.

FINE SHOE EXHIBIT.

Over 400 delegates, who had been attending the National Shoe Retailers' convention in Toronto this week, went to Kitchener by special train yesterday and attended the shoe and leather exhibition there. The display of footwear exceeded the expectations of the visitors, and the entire day was devoted to an inspection of the exhibits. The retailers of Toronto and Montreal made an effort to secure a similar exhibition for their respective cities next year, but found that the exhibitors had been signed up to display their goods there again in 1920. The question of erecting a permanent exhibition building in Kitchener for the annual furniture, automobile rubber and shoe exhibition there is being seriously considered by local manufacturers.

BARBERS' FINAL OFFER.

The master barbers of Kingston have made what they say is their final offer to the striking journeymen barbers. The master barbers offer the men a guarantee of $17 a week and half over $23, hours to be from 8 a.m. to 7.30 p.m., and on Saturday to 10 p.m. Broken weeks, in which there is a holiday or in which the men lay off, the master barbers will pay the men a straight 65 per cent of what they take in. The original demands of the journeymen were for a guarantee of $20 and half over $28.

FORD IN HURRY TO LEAVE MT. CLEMENS

Rushed Off Murmuring "New York," When Freed from Stand

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., July 24.—The defence of the Chicago Daily Tribune against the charge of libel brought by Henry Ford, is nearing the end. It began nearly two months ago. Yesterday Weymoth Kirkland, one of the Chicago Tribune lawyers, stated that little remained in the way of evidence except a witness or two, with linking up testimony, and the reading of two or three editorials. Just how near this comes to bringing the suit to an end cannot be foretold, for Alfred Lucking, senior counsel for the manufacturer, said that he had considerable evidence to present in rebuttal.

Mr. Ford, who went on the stand eight days ago, concluded his testimony yesterday, and seizing his hat and murmuring something about "New York" was away in a hurry.

According to the testimony of Mr. Ford today his son, Edsel, wished to go to war, but was dissuaded by his father. Mr. Ford's attorney brought up the subject of the exemption of Edsel Ford, which has figured in the recent speeches in the United States Senate.

"Will you state whether your son had become necessary to the work of your great factory when the United States entered the war in order to relieve you of the detail of it?"

"We have worked together all his life," said the witness, and declared that Edsel had reached a position where he was a great relief to him in looking after war work.

WILLING TO GO.

"He personally was willing to go to war?"

"Yes."

"You felt you needed him in the factory?"

"Yes."

"Was he offered commissions in the army, although he would stay right in the factory?"

"Yes."

"On war work?"

"Yes, but he declined them."

"Do you remember saying that you did not care to see him camouflage? To wear a uniform and appear to be in the service, when he was actually attending to necessary war work in the factory?"

"Yes."

Attorney Stevenson asked Mr. Ford if he assumed all responsibility for his son not enlisting.

"Yes, I think I did," replied the manufacturer.

"He was more useful to you in the factory?"

"Yes."

"The draft board disagreed with you?"

"I think so."

A former employe of the Ford Motor Company, followed Ford on the stand.

He was John Lee, eight years with the company. He was asked if he recalled interviews between Ford and Edwin Marshall, New York writer, and was requested to give in a general way what the interviews were about.

Lee said Ford expressed his opinion that the word "murderer" should be embroidered across the breast of every soldier"; that "without qualification," he did "not believe in the navy"; that he favored disarmament of all nations, and that if he had his way he "would sink every ounce of powder into the sea."

Lee said also Ford declared he did not blame men for leaving European nations to avoid military service and men from every warring nation were employed in his plants.

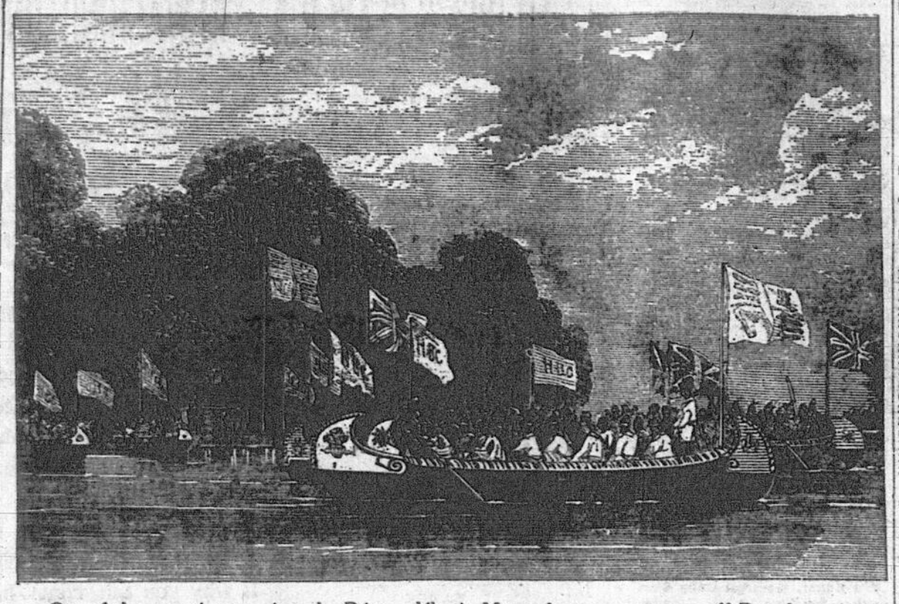

PHILANTHROPIST OF CHICAGO IS DEAD

By Canadian Press.

CHICAGO, July 24.—La Verne W. Noyes, manufacturer and philanthropist, died early today of a complication of diseases. He was 70 years old. Most recent of his philanthropic gifts was the establishment of what is known as "The La Verne W. Noyes' Foundation," a fund of $2,500,000, the income of which is to be used for the education of American soldiers, sailors and marines in the world war, their children and descendants.

The Ida Noyes Hall, a $300,000 social centre and gymnasium, at the University of Chicago, for women students, was his memorial to his wife, a well-known writer and artist, who died in 1912.

MGR. SPRATT HAS NO MONEY PAY JUDGMENT

Attaching Orders Issued on Twelve Parish Priests for Their Tenth

KINGSTON, Ont., July 24.—An examination was made of Archbishop Spratt yesterday afternoon before T. M. Asselatine, local registrar of the high court of justice, to ascertain the extent of his personal property in view of judgment which Sister Mary Basil received against him and Sister Mary Regie, of the House of Providence, for twenty thousand dollars. His Grace declared that he had not enough money to meet the judgment.

He presented bank books showing a few thousand dollars, but said it was impossible to decide which money belonged to the church and which to him. He admitted that recently he had given considerable sums of money as gifts to the Canadian Freeman Roman Catholic Weekly paper, published in Kingston.

Judge Lavell has issued attaching orders to twelve Roman Catholic clergymen in the Kingston Arch Diocese for the Cathedratium. Ten per cent of the revenue of the parish priest is payable to Archbishop Spratt, from the respective parishes of these men. This step is being taken to realize under the judgment obtained by Sister Mary Basil against Archbishop Spratt and Sister Mary Regie, of the House of Providence, for the sum of $20,000.

MOTHER DROWNED IN SAVING SON

By Canadian Press.

PORT ELGIN, Ont., July 24.—Mrs. Humphreys, of Winnipeg, who was spending a vacation with relatives here, was drowned while attempting to rescue her little son, who was wading along the shore and had gone into the canal at the end of the dock.

Mrs. Humphreys became excited as her son and little niece were being picked up by Elgin Hayes and brought to shore safely. She had apparently fallen and gone under, and when Mr. Hayes put the children in safety, she was not to be seen. After diving and dragging for half an hour, the searchers found her body in about four feet of water.

ROME, July 24.—Declaring that the proposed general strike last Monday was a failure, the provincial press issued warning today that the beginning of the real reconstruction period in Italy could no longer be delayed by "irresponsible labor and agitation."

FIGHTS TO SAVE HIS GERMAN POTASH

Waldemar Schmidtmann Claims English in Spite of Name

NEW YORK, July 24.—Asserting he had developed mines at Sollstedt, Germany, estimated to contain 50,000,000 tons of potash, "to fight the German potash monopoly," and later had sold the property to the International Agricultural Corporation, an American organization capitalized at $36,000,000, Waldemar Schmidtmann, who claims he is an Englishman, although bearing the surname of his Austrian foster father, brought suit here today to prevent disposal of interests he controlled in the company on the ground that they were owned by an enemy alien.

Named as defendant are O. R. Simpkin, public trustee of Great Britain and Ireland under the Defence of the Realm Act; the English Association of American Bond and Share Holders' National City Bank of New York and Francis P. Garvan, alien property custodian.

The plaintiff declared that as payment for the mines, he and his foster father received shares in the American company, and that before this country entered the war, his foster parent had transferred to him control of his holdings, making it clear that he was interested in the corporation solely as it represented a legacy for his adopted son. The plaintiff added that, although he had notified the alien property custodian of "the facts of the case," he had been removed as an officer of the company and now, he understood, his interests were to be disposed of.

TORONTO STREET RY. TROUBLE.

TORONTO, July 24.—Two sessions of the Street Railway Conciliation Board were held yesterday when the 23 points still at issue between the Company and the men were discussed. No final decisions were arrived at, the Board contenting itself with a discussion of the clauses in order to get at the viewpoint of both sides. Judge John A. Barrow of Stratford presided.

DOES A LITTLE DRINK MAKE YOU A LIAR?

Crown Attorney Asks Mayor Who is Not Sure

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., July 24.—Crown Attorney Brennan and Mayor Elson, enlivened proceedings in police court yesterday, when the case against Myrtle Garibien, for alleged breach of the Ontario Temperance Act in selling liquor on Sunday was dismissed.

"I don't believe the witness," said Mayor Elson, with reference to the Crown's witness.

"Very well, then, there is no use going before your Honor with those other cases with evidence of a similar kind," declared the Crown Attorney.

"While your Honor may look on this case as a question of creditability, you have no right to declare that you do not believe the witness, when nothing has been brought out in evidence against the woman's reputation."

"I don't think the woman's word is worth anything," insisted the mayor.

"She admitted in her testimony that she was drinking wine."

"Did you ever drink any wine?" asked Mr. Brennan.

"Yes," the mayor admitted.

"Did drinking wine hurt your reputation?"

"I think it would if I drank too much."

"If you drank too much, would it make your reputation so bad that it could not be trusted, and your word not be accepted?" asked the Crown's attorney.

"I don't know about that," replied the mayor.

At the conclusion of the case, the mayor issued an ultimatum declaring that he would not sit on the bench again unless the Crown's attorney ceased telling him what he should or should not do.

SAYS U.S. SENATORS WERE AIDING VILLA

Mexican Leader Will Produce Letters Found at Villa's Camp

By the Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Official accounts of the robbing of American sailors from the U. S. S. Cheyenne, on July 6, and of deaths of Americans, were given out today by General Juan Barragan, chief of the presidential staff, in the form of governmental dispatches. One of these stated that the sailors went up the river Temesi into rebel territory.

General Rickardo Gonzales, chief of the Tampico garrison, in a despatch reporting on the murder of John W. Correll, near Tampico on June 16, stated the murder was committed by Temesi bandits, and that he had ordered a pursuit of the outlaws and that four of the bandits had been killed and twenty horses recovered in a fight at the bandits' headquarters. Other official despatches on deaths of Americans placed the responsibility for the incidents in some cases upon the men killed. General Barragan also announced that there would be made public "various documents belonging to the archives of the Bandit Villa," recovered in Juarez, and including a letter addressed to Villa, "by Charles F. Hunt, offering Villa a visit by Senator Fall and other persons in an effort to aid Villa's campaign."

WAR PROFITEERS ARE FLAYED BY VETERANS' HEAD

Men Who Looked After Themselves During War Meanest on Earth

AIMS OUTLINED

Convention Decides on Title of Comrade Among the Members

The feature of yesterday afternoon's session of the Army and Navy veterans, now holding their 2nd annual convention, was the address of the president, W. J. Tupper, K.C. Though the delegates expected to convene about 2:30, it was more than an hour later before the chair called the convention to order and proceeded with the business of the afternoon.

The president first of all outlined the work of the organization since its inception, stating that there are at present 28 Canadian units as compared with 9 at the last convention. There was no suggestion, he declared, of any opposition with other associations having similar aims and objects to that of the Army and Navy veterans, rather was there a desire of the part of the body he represented, to co-operate in every possible manner on matters concerning the welfare of ex-service men.

With pride, the speaker referred to the record made by the Canadians during the recent hostilities, and of the great services rendered to the Mother country. He spoke of the second batle of Ypres when a handfull of gas-drenched troops held the line against tremendous German attacks, and concurred with the British Premier, Lloyd George, in the belief that these men had saved the British Army and France.

"The great object of the association," declared the president, "is to discharge the obligations of Canada in respect to her returned soldiers." In the matter of pensions, the president thought that it was generally felt that the amount paid for various disabilities was not sufficient as compared with the increased cost of living. Canada, however, must not undertake more than she could well carry out. "What is bad for Canada is bad for the veterans," he said.

Mr. Tupper pointed out that the Veterans' Association had been able, through its representations, to secure recognition from the Government on matters vital to the welfare of the veterans. This policy was being consistently pursued, but he would advocate restraint except on matters connected with the vital needs of the men, as the Dominion at present was passing through a crisis of financial and industrial trouble, that required careful and sane handling to ensure success and prosperity for the Canadian people.

LAND SETTLEMENT.

Vocational training was referred to by President Tupper. A good policy was being carried out in this regard and the land settlement policy of the Government was both financially sound and even generous, though it had been hoped that the Government would have made the land free to veterans of other wars. Difficulties might arise from the too great borrowing of money from the Government, a state which was likely to arise from the present land settlement scheme. He pointed out that while this tilling of the land scheme had been put into effect for farmers, the sons of farmers and those whose tastes ran toward agricultural pursuits, the other vocations and callings from which the men of the Canadian Corps had beend rawn, had been virtually left without assistance. He thought that no distinction should be made between countrymen and the dweller of the city.

THE MEANEST MEN.

"While you were away fighting for Canada, there were certain individuals in Canada who were looking after themselves" declared President Tupper, in a stinging arraingment of the profiteer.

"The soldier fought for the profiteer as well as for anyone else in Canada," he declared, "and this mean despicable type, robbed right and left, the families of the men who were fighting overseas and the soldier himself when opportunity offered. I consider him to be the meanest man on earth.

Mr. Tupper commented upon the prevailing form of taxation in the United States, stating that it was much preferable to an organized raid upon capital with taxation as extremists in Canada are now advocating.

It was decided during the afternoon that the term "Comrade" should be applied to all members, regardless of rank and office. A fine of 25 cents was imposed for infractions of this rule and some amusement was caused during the afternoon by the payment of the fines by speakers who "forgot."

The following committees were appointed:

Credentials—Comrades Irving, Winnipeg; Cross, Montreal; Barrett, Kingston; Cooper, Toronto; Pickering, Yorktown.

Publicity—Comrades Tennant, Winnipeg; Young, Victoria; Hawtrey, Toronto.

Contstitution — Comrades Evans, Kingston; Leitch, Winnipeg; representing British Columbia; Beck, Saskatchewan; Hay, Manitoba; McCausland, Ontario; Bates, Quebec; Cooke, Nova Scotia.

Ways and Means — Comrades Sweeney, Ontario; Pickering, Saskatchewan; Cooke, Nova Scotia; Holman, Manitoba; Murphy, representing Alberta; Hall, Quebec; Cockburn, Toronto.

Grievances — Comrades McCausland, Toronto; Stewart, Yorktown; Young, Victoria.

IF MEN ARE IDLE THEIR OWN FAULT

TORONTO, July 24.—Men who are killing away their time in Toronto, claiming that they cannot get work, have themselves to blame according to Mr. J. A. Miller, Superintendent of the Toronto branches of the Government Employment Bureau. There is plenty of work to be had if men are willing to leave the city and try farming or some other line. It is impossible for the Bureau to fill the demand for men for railroad construction.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—The Senate yesterday passed the $34,000,000 Agricultural Bill, which recently was vetoed by President Wilson because of the rider for repeal of the daylight saving law. No effort to restore the rider was made in the Senate.

NO LAWS COVER BLIMP ACCIDENT

Chicago Disaster May Cause Legislation on Air Traffic

Special to The Star by United Press.

CHICAGO, July 24.—In the absence of laws governing the case, criminal prosecution was believed today to be unlikely to follow the halted inquest into the thirteen deaths resulting from the fall of a blazing dirigible through the roof of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank on Monday.

Coroner Hoffman declared he believed that the net result of the double jury investigation he is conducting will be the drafting of laws restricting air navigation above cities.

Meanwhile, States Attorney Hoyne continued his quest for evidence to turn over to a grand jury. He continued to hold J. A. Boettner, pilot of the death ship, and W. C. Young, aeronautical expert of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, owners of the "blimp." The men were allowed the freedom of the city, however, in company with detectives.

The thirteenth victim died late yesterday. He was Marcus A. Calloppy, a teller, who was burned by flaming gasoline.

G. M. Stadelman, vice-president of the Tire Company, who arrived here yesterday, issued a statement today in which he said the company was conducting an investigation, the findings of which would be turned over to the Chicago authorities. No responsibility for the accident will be shirked by the company, Stadelman said.

SMALLPOX CASES IN HALIFAX DECLINE

By Canadian Press.

HALIFAX, July 24.—During the past two weeks there has been a marked decrease in the number of cases of smallpox in the city, and there are now only fifteen patients at the hospital, the majority of whom have contracted the disease in the mildest form.

The paratyphoid epidemic has also apparently died out.

HARD POSITION FOR MAGISTRATE

Owner of Paper, on Bench, Finds Employe Prisoner

Special to The Star.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., July 24. — Police Magistrate James H. Campbell, of St. Catharines, is out of the city and Mayor J. M. Elson, of that city, proprietor of the Evening Journal, has been taking his place on the bench in police court.

The mayor received the surprise of his life yesterday when on opening court he found arraigned before him as plaintiff and defendant respectively, his own city editor, George T. Strong, and his former city editor, W. Arthur Moore, now city editor of the Daily Standard, St. Catharines. Mr. Moore was accused of assaulting Mr. Strong in connection with a dispute of some kind they had had, the nature of which is not yet public.

The mayor decided that as exigencies of a fair trial for all concerned required the offices of a neutral magistrate, he had better adjourn the case until Magistrate Campbell returns.

GERMAN SILESIA TO GET AUTONOMY

BERLIN, July 24.—Upper Silesia, in the event that it is decided under the plebiscite to remain German, will become an independent autonomous province, according to an official announcement. The vote will be taken in the entire government and district of Oppeln. Grotkau, Neisse and a part of the Neustadt and Zuelzerland districts will remain German and part of the Namstau district will go to Poland without a plebiscite. Sate Commissioner Hoerminger will retain his position.

DAMOD PASHA IS NOW GRAND VIZIER

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 24.—Damad Ferid Pasha, head of the Turkish Peace Commission to Paris, was named Grand Vizier and organized a new Cabinet.

Damad Ferid Pasha is known for his pro-Ally tendencies, especially for his sympathies toward France. He was informed in Paris, as head of the Turkish peace delegation, that the Allies were not yet ready to discuss peace with Turkey, so returned recently to Constantinople.

COBALT MINERS OUT EN MASSE

Every Mine in District Was Closed at Noon Yesterday

Special to The Star.

COBALT, Ont., July 24.—Sharp at noon yesterday the mine workers in the Cobalt mines responded to the call to strike and today not a wheel is turning. The employees to a man appear to have walked out.

The mines had made the necessary preparations for closing but did not close until forced to do so for lack of men, thus leaving the responsibility for the tie-up strictly on the shoulders of the mine workers. Pumps have been removed from the majority of the mines and for the time being the underground workings will be permitted to flood with water.

So far the Northern Ontario Light and Power Company has succeeded in keeping its plants in operation despite the endeavors of the union to cause a tie-up there. This has prevented embarrassment in connection with the water and light plants in the various towns and also permitted the electric car line between Cobalt, Haileybury and New Liskeard to continue to operate.

In the Porcupine district there is no labor trouble.

RATION STORY PREMATURE.

PARIS, July 24.—The Food Ministry states that it has not as yet had to consider the eventuality of again issuing bread tickets and says there is nothing at present to justify the statement that restrictions would again be imposed, as repored yesterday.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 24.—With all the energies of the Rochester police and the Wayne county sheriff's office bent on the finding of Charles Percy Roberts, the authorities are confident that the murder of Miss Nettie Coates, whose body was fund in an old barn near Sodus, on Monday night, will be quickly cleared up.

The authorities have learned that on Tusday, July 15, the night Miss Coates was last seen alive, she dined at the Roberts' home, where the man who is being sought by the police lived with his mother and brother, and where Miss Coates formerly made her home. After dinner Miss Coates went for an automobile ride with Roberts and Mrs. Edward Chapin. They returned early and left Mrs. Chapin at her home and Roberts later drove Miss Coates to a flat in Wellington avenue, which she was occupying in the absence of a family that lived there, and drove away, according to the neighbors. After Roberts left Miss Coates was visited there by David Condon, a fireman, who left in a short time. About 10 o'clock Miss Coates invited some neighbors to share some ice cream. That was the last seen of her alive. Condon told the police he had been told that Roberts had threatened his life for his attentions to Miss Coates.

An automobile hammer stained with what appeared to be blood was found in Roberts' automobile yesterday. A description of his has been sent to the police of cities in all parts of the country.

To Probe Fate of Men Missing During the War

LONDON, July 24. (Reuter's Agency)—In order to exhaust all sources of information in regard to the fate of officers and men missing in Belgium and Northern France during the war, the Government has decided to despatch a special mission to the continent to make an extensive tour throughout the country districts, and conduct an inquiry among peasants, parish priests and other classes of the population likely to have been in touch with men hiding in occupied territory.

The members of the mission are Dame Elaide Livingstone, Sir Malcom McElwraith, and Brig.-General C. N. Bruce. Any recent information likely to be of service to the mission and not previous y communicated to a Government department or committee, should be sent without delay to the Honorary Secretary, Prisoners of War Committee, Houses of Parliament, Westminster, London, England.

QUIET IS RESTORED IN WASHINGTON

Only Unimportant Isolated Incidents Reported Last Night

Special to The Star.

WASHINGTON, July 24. — Police officials today said they believed race riots were at an end, following a night of calm, during which armed soldiers patrolled the streets.

The toll of fatalities has reached six with the death in a hospital of Louis Havlick, marine private, who was shot.

Although there was reports of isolated outbreaks by negroes, including the firing into a street car, last night passed without serious renewal of the race rioting which has terrorized the national capital since Saturday.

The presence of 2,000 armed soldiers and co-operation generally by the police with the request of the city authorities that street traffic be held to a minimum resulted in quietening the situation and both the military and city officers expressed belief there will be no more serious trouble.

Reading Unionist Liberals Out of Liberal Party

TORONTO, July 24.—Liberals who stick to the new "permanent Unionist" party may soon expect to lose their Liberalism, according to an editorial in the Globe this morning. The article says:

"Liberals who follow Mr. Rowell and the other Liberal-Unionist members of the Government into a permanent Unionist party with the expectation that the policy of the new party will be materially different from that of the pre-Union Conservative party, will be undeceived speedily. All over the country Conservative party gatherings and Conservative newspapers are serving notice upon the Liberal Unionists that they must accept the main tenets of the Conservative political creed. There is no intention of permitting the tail to wag the dog, and there is little reticience in the identification of the Liberal Unionists as the subordinate end of the animal."

CIGAR STORE CLERKS IN CHICAGO STRIKE

Special to The Star by United Press.

CHICAGO, July 24.—More than 300 United Cigar Stores clerks were on strike here today, following the hasty formation of a union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor last night.

Officials of the Cigar Stores declared that the men were influenced by agitators and left their jobs without making any formal demands.

SISAL HEMP PRICES MAY TOBOGGAN

MEXICO CITY, July 24.—Huge stocks of sisal held in Yucaton soon may be placed on the market at prices lower than those which hitherto have resulted in consumers in the United States refusing to buy, according to reports in financial circles.

The newspapers say that 500,000 bales of Manila hemp and 750,000 bales of henequen (sisal hemp), are now held in Yucaton. It is reported that an extensive press campaign is to be inaugurated to hasten the selling movement which has been made necessary by the financial situation of the Yucatan growers.

WASHINGTON, July 24. — The Senate today voted to raise the legation in Belgium to the rank of an embassy as requested by President Wilson.

MANY BURNED WHEN TANK CARS EXPLODE

BAYONNE, N.J., July 24. — Four persons were seriously injured and many others slightly burned today when eight tank cars containing gasoline or naptha exploded at the plant of the Texas Oil Company, setting fire to two storage houses.

The tanks exploded successively, the shocks being felt within a radius of two miles. The cause of the first explosion was not learned. The flames were controlled after a general alarm was turned in.

RULES FOR AIR ROUTE.

WASHINGTON, July 24. — As a result of the Chicago "blimp" disaster, Senator Sherman, Illinois, today introduced a bill outlining a general code of regulations for the navigation of the air.

A Word to Traveling Men

Selling a dealer the first time is the hardest job the salesman has. If the goods are right—if they move quickly from the dealer's shelves—the rest is easy.

Repeat orders come automatically. The salesman has made a friend.

WHERE TO APPLY.

Sir,—May I ask you to insert in your interesting column my reply to a letter over the signature of "One of Them," which appeared on your page, claiming that soldiers' widows and children are overlooked and forgotten, and asking for a place where they could get some good advice?

I feel quite sure that the Local Pension Office would be only too glad to give their friendly service to our fine widows and children, whose Government allowances could never make up for the loss of their beloved ones in battle. The Patriotic Fund will ever be ready to give friendly help and counsel such as "One of Them" requests, particularly in view of the fact that practically everyone of these families must have been drawing a Patriotic Fund allowance at one time or another, and must have established friendly relationships with the office and visitors.

HELEN R. Y. REID.

OTHERS WILLING TOO.

Sir,—With reference to a letter in the Veterans' column from a "War Widow" suggesting that suitable offices be established for the purpose of advising widows as well as soldiers on various matters, would you be good enough to notify the public, through your columns, that the staff of this office will be pleased to give advice, fill in and sign documents, write letters when necessary, etc., for pensioners, free of charge. You might also mention that I am a commissioner of the Superior Court and when declarations are required I shall be glad to swear in the parties concerned, also free of charge.

I would like the public to know that this office is not merely a routine Government bureau, but has been established primarily to assist the pensioners—men, women and children—in so far as it lies in our power to do so. They can always be assured of kind and courteous treatment. There is a staff of visitors to assist them in the solution of their various problems and to give good sound advice when necessary.

A FATHER'S COMPLAINT.

Editor, Veterans' Page.

Sir,—In reply to "Three Casualty stripes" I will state my own case; which is the same as hundreds of others. Pre-war I had a personal business bringing in $1,800. When I went overseas in January 1918, my three children were young and I was equal financially with the rest of the community. Now I have this year 1919 to work up my business afresh. Wholesale prices are away up and I will not be a profiteer. My children are growing up and two of them are ready for higher education. My neighbors who stayed at home are driving their automobiles for pleasure. I require one urgently for business, which I can't afford. With a bonus of $1,000, or such a one as those in the civil service obtained, I could again take my place; or could catch up in a year. Am I to be left behind? or are my boys to go out into the world without their complete education? Above all things let us be practical.

Military Queries and Answers

GETS THE DIFFERENCE.

G.H.A.K., Woodlands Ave., Verdun.—I enlisted on August 21, 1915, in the C. F. A., and on January 1, 1916, was transferred to the Imperials, and served with them until discharged; three years of which time was spent in France. 1. Does the fact of my transfer to the Imperials debar me from Canadian gratuity? 2. If I am entitled to the gratuity, to whom do I apply?

A.—1. Not altogether. You are entitled to any difference there might be between the Imperial gratuity and the Canadian. 2. Apply to the A.D.P.S., Gratuity Section, Peel Street Barracks.

SAYS HE IS OPPOSED.

T. E. H., Grenshields Ave., Toronto.—I made application for a course in Linotype operating to the Vocational Office in Toronto, but was refused. Objection raised being that the Typographical Union would not allow returned soldiers to be trained in the printing trade unless previously connected with some branch of that line. 1. Would like to know if above-mentioned union does take that stand in the matter? Have now started a course in Upholstering, but am discharged and want to change. 2. Could you tell me how to go about it?

A.—1. Would suggest you stick to Linotype idea. I can hardly believe that the Typographical Union has taken any such stand. 2. Suggest you press the point with the D.V.O., Toronto, and let me know the result.

HIS GRATUITY.

W. K., Sudbury.—I enlisted in February, 1916. Went overseas, but was unable to reach France. Returned to Canada and was discharged January 31, 1918. How much gratuity am I entitled to? Am a married man.

A.—Four months.

NOT TO BOTH.

J. B. D., Cornwall, Ont.—I enlisted under M. S. A. May 6, 1918, with 2nd Depot Battalion, at Ottawa. Remained in Infantry until July 31, 1918, then entered Royal Air Force, and was discharged December 20, 1918. Am I entitled to Canadian and Imperial gratuity?

A.—No.

FOR CIVIL SERVICE.

L. J. G., Bedford, P.Q. — I was a signaller. Got a "Blighty" at Cambrai. Was eight months in hospital. Discharged May 13, at B-111 man. 1. How long will it be before I get a pension, or am I entitled to one? 2. What examinations should I have to pass for a job in the Customs Office staff? 3. Is it possible to get a copy of past examination papers, so that I could study a little should the examinations look stiff?

A.—An answer without knowing full details would be impossible. 2. Civil Service exams; suggest you write the Department of Customs, Ottawa. 3. Ask when you write.

REGARDING BADGES.

J. W., Clarke St.—I enlisted for service in Canada July 19, 1915, after being rejected for overseas. Discharged as unfit August 23, 1917. I received $30 P. D. P. I was given a class "C" badge over a year ago. Your column some time ago stated that no badge was issued for service in Canada that you were aware of. 1. Will this P.D.P. be deducted from any gratuity I may get? Was your statement re badge in The Star a mistake?

A.—The badge award was recently changed. This page has been consistently correct on the badge question. 1. Yes.

NOT ENTITLED.

J. W., St. Antoine St.—Enlisted July 22, 1916. Went to Valcartier. Was discharged there September 8, 1916. Am I entitled to the small silver badge?

A.—No; you had to be in the service for three months at least.

WHERE TO APPLY.

E. J. C., Sherbrooke, Que.—Was discharged at St. John, N.B., February 25th, 1919, on account of being under age. 1. Where can I obtain application form for war gratuity for those discharged before armistice, and who served in Canada and England only?

A.—Write the A. D. P. S., Peel Street Barracks, Montreal.

CHEQUE DELAYED.

A. M. O'S., 9th Ave., Rosemount.—My husband enlisted on May 13, 1915. Was discharged June 8, 1919. When should we expect second gratuity cheque?

A.—It should have reached you the second week in July.

SOME MORE COMING.

W. P., Boyer St.—I enlisted November 5, 1915. Served in England. Discharged October 3, 1916. Re-enlisted July 17, 1917 for treatment. Was again discharged July 31, 1918. Received 2 months P.D.P. $159. Have my mother to support. Have I any gratuity coming to me, if so, how much?

A.—I think you are entitled to $51 dollars more. Write the A. D. P. S., Peel Street Barracks.

NO FREE PASSAGE.

Mrs. A. J., 2nd Ave., Visuville.—I have a son who served 3 years in France and Flanders. Married and got his discharge in England. If he came back to Canada within a year, would passage for himself and wife be free?

A.—I know of no such regulation.

HIS AMOUNT.

J. A. F., St. James St.—I enlisted May 4, 1918. Came back May 27, 1919, and was discharged same day. How much gratuity am I entitled to?

A.—Four months.

CENSORSHIP.

F. R., Chateauguay.—Was there an account in your paper about the 24th Battalion leaving Montreal for overseas in May, 1915, if so, would it be possible to obtain a copy of the issue?

A.—No.—You will, without difficulty, recall the censorship regulations during the war.

ANOTHER.

Corp. D., Snowdon.—I joined on December 14, 1917. Was discharged May 4, 1918. Am I entitled to any gratuity, if so, how much?

A.—You have to have seen 12 months service. Unless you were out of Canada.

AT ONCE.

L. N., St. Antoine St.—I expect a discharge shortly from the Soldiers Civil Re-Establishment and intend going to England and don't want to have to wait here too long for the gratuity that is coming to me. Is one given a cheque for gratuity right away or a month after discharge from the Department of S. C. R.?

A.—One is given at once.

"LAST POST" FUND FILLS GREAT NEED

One of the important questions coming under the jurisdiction of the Army and Navy Veterans now in session at the Windsor Hotel, is that of the administration of the "Last Post" fund which was organized for the purpose of ensuring the proper burial of ex-service men.

In the Province of Quebec for the past ten years it has been absolutely unnecessary that any man who served his country in the army or navy, should occupy a pauper's grave. This fact has been largely due to the work of the fund though it is not generally realized.

The fund received no federal, provincial or civic grants, has no salaried officials, nor does it pay gratuities and its work is considered unique throughout the British Empire.

The fund provides for interment in burying plots of any honorably discharged soldier or sailor for whom the request may be made. In this a national need is fulfilled; first in providing naval and military burying grounds, secured by keeping a proper record of the location of graves, etc. Since the war the local military authorities have availed themselves of the plots provided and upwards of fifty soldiers have been buried.

One of the objects of the fund is that of historical research, relative to the old military burial grounds of the province, and the perpetuity of the memory of those buried therein, the collection of all data relative thereto and endeavoring to secure the restoration of historic spots now suffering from age or desecration.

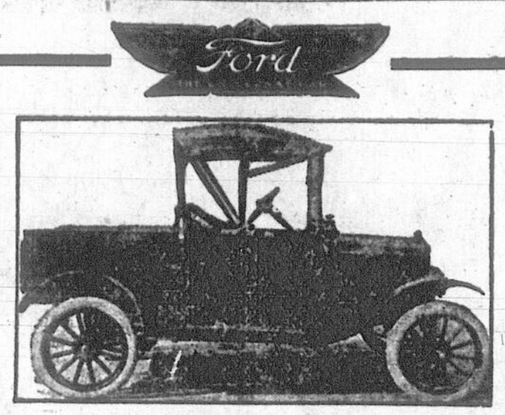

The Trustees, "Last Post" Supplementary Memorial fund, will be glad to receive contributions directed to Box 1352, G. P. O., Montreal.

FUTURE TIRE PRICES
THE PRESENT SITUATION AND OUTLOOK
The New York Times under date of July 15th contained the following paragraph:
"The rapid advance in cotton prices, it was said, has caused some of the automobile tire manufacturers to examine more closely their price schedules. With cotton close to 36 cents a pound in the future market and well above that price for spots, it may well be that tire prices will HAVE TO BE ADVANCED, rather than reduced."
Owners of cars will do well to look the following prices over and purchase Tires now in anticipation of the rise in Tire prices that is bound to take place.

Safety Razor
The Shaving Service for Every Man Everywhere

NO STROPPING—NO HONING
The Gillette owner knows no discomfort over certain places generally regarded as "awkward"—the sensitive spot below the lip; along the angle of the jaw; and where the beard is growing cross-grain on the tender skin of the neck.
The Gillette Safety Razor shaves the entire beard with complete satisfaction.
The Gillette idea is scientific—it is RIGHT! It realizes the fact that minutely adjusted machinery can hone and strop an edge better than any man can do it by hand, and it puts this principle at the service of any man who invests $5.00 for a lifetime's shaving comfort.

GERMANY TO TAKE THIRD OF PROFITS

To Meet War Debt Evolves "Imperial Sacrifice to Needs"

BERLIN, July 24.—Germany's financial program calling for the raising of 25,000,000,000 marks annually, agreed upon by Mathias Erzberger, Minister of Finance, and a group of experts was published yesterday by the North German Gazette. The conference was said to be in complete agreement on the financial reforms.

Eight billion marks will be obtained by war taxes, according to the Gazette's summary of the proposed plan. The remaining 17,000,000,000 must be raised from new sources. The first of these will be a heavy increase in the tax on business turnover. The second new source of income is called the "imperial sacrifice to needs." The third new scheme of taxes will be on the necessaries of life.

An important part of the program will be the imperial income tax which will be a tax on profits from invested capital. These capital profits will be taxed from 25 to 30 per cent, according to a new system evolved that is intended to eliminate inequalities and protect small capitalists from being overburdened.

A COMPLICATED SYSTEM.

The new imperial income taxes are expected to be in operation by April 1, 1920. A large army of officials will be needed to handle the taxation systems.

"Financial bureau districts" will be created and they will be given courses of instructions by officials. These bureaus, which will be opened on October 1, will be under the Ministry of France. Meanwhile technical schools will concentrate on short courses in financial science. The actual operating head of the taxation system will be an imperial property administration which will have headquarters in the old garrison administration offices.

Minister Erzberger told the experts that Germany must pay the Allies 20,000,000,000 marks in gold by May 1, 1920. He said this could be done as the amounts already credited Germany by the Allies for various accounts form an important part of the required total.

PREVENT TAX EVASIONS.

An unusually comprehensive set of measures to prevent tax evasions were presented by Herr Erzberger. The provisions to prevent fraud through capital being taken abroad includes the previously announced plan to require that all stocks, bonds and coupons must be restamped by the Government and that all such securities not restamped will revert to the Empire. The entire bank note circulation system will be controlled. Minister Erzberger, it was said, hopes to bring into circulation auge sums of gold now concealed.

German properties abroad will be brought under control and some means found to bring under taxation such property not declared by its owners.

Minister Erzberger, it was said, agreed that the measures proposed were nothing less than brutal, but that he was afraid there was no other way to bring forth hidden money and to prevent fraud except by imposing heavy penalties.

CAN. SOLDIERS NOT THE ONLY RIOTERS

Imperial Troops Wreck Buildings and Burn Flagstaff

LONDON, July 24.—Civilian disturbances in different parts of the country have been as destructive as anything committed by the military.

At Swindon Tuesday night gangs of youths and discharged Imperial soldiers looted twenty business premises and burnt the flagstaff outside the municipal buildings.

At Luton where the town hall was burnt, further disturbances were quelled by police charges. Two men and four women were arrested and further arrests are imminent.

At Coventry many shops were attacked, forty persons were injured, some dangerously and police assistance was sought from Birmingham.

At Bilston the mob tore down a wall and used the bricks as missiles against the police. Additional police were summoned from neighboring towns.

INDICTED FOR FRAUDS.

NEW YORK, July 24. — The Federal grand jury today returned indictments against Howard B. Wood, a broker and Dr. E. York Ames, of Louisiana, Cuthbert W. Wright and W. I. Cherry, charging them with using the mails to defraud investors in the stock of the Tar Island Producing and Refining Corporation. The frauds, according to District Attorney Miller, aggregate $350,000. The company is capitalized for $2,000,000.

"The Store With A Conscience"

A REAL STORE where you can buy real quality furnishings and clothing at really fair prices.

When we sell Wool it is WOOL
And with us Linen means PURE Linen

When we price an article, that price is the lowest the article can be bought for.

We have ONE PRICE—
That is THE LOWEST and everybody gets it.

These are a few of the reasons why a "Store With a Conscience" cannot and does not run "sales." They are also good reasons why you should buy at

AROUND THE THEATRES

Farce at the Orpheum

The peculiar province of farce to make people laugh is amply demonstrated in such plays as "Charley's Aunt.' There should be no time for thought in the real farce. There isn't a minute in "The Blue Envelope," which will be the bill at the Orpheum Theatre next week.

"The Blue Envelope,' is blue only in title. There is nothing in the play that offends. It is a highly diverting story of The Angel figure. There are "clinging vines," and 'sturdy oaks," and private sanitariums and former wives and husbands, who pop up at the most unexpected times and in the most unexpected places, and the hurried trips that are paid to the private sanitariums in order to convince, to cover up tracks, or to keep the innocent in a state of blissful ignorance, all provide fun of a harmless and unfailingly amusing sort.

This farce is full of amusing types, whose characterization affords plenty of scope for clever acting, and in whom the audience gets unusually interested. For instance, there is a society beauty specialist; a fight and drink sanitarium specialist; a new brand of ladies' maid; and an interne who conducts himself in a rather unprofessional manner.

The play has always produced a continuous stream of laughter, wherever it has been presented. As a hot-weather entertainment it would be hard to beat.

Dorothy Dalton at the Imperial

Dorothy Dalton appears today, Friday and Saturday in "Other Men's Wives," the story of an orphan whose only assets are her beauty and gorgeous gowns. Left among social pirates with not even a knowledge of any profession by which she might support herself, it is hardly to be wondered that the girl of this story falls an easy victim to the unscrupulous methods of a financier. But when she finds out how she has been used merely as a tool to break up the happiness of a man and his wife, she confesses all to the husband, and then disappears to make her way alone in the world, and eventually finds happiness.

Cesar Nesi, tenor, will render "For All Eternity" at three and nine o'clock today, Friday and Saturday, while the orchestral number on these days will be "The Daughter of the Regiment," by Donizetti.

Emmy Wehlen at Strand

"Fools and their Money," one of the cleverest comedy dramas of the season, will be shown at the Strand Theatre tomorrow and Saturday, with Emmy Wehlen in a role of distinctive individuality. The play tells the story of an ambitious social climber, the wife of a newly-made munitions millionaire, who mistakes the daughter of an ultra-aristocratic family on the adjoining estate for a servant. This girl, Louise Allenby, sees her opportunity for an adventure and, as her parents are away, decides to act as social secretary for the rich parvenues. Her experiences are many and varied, and end by her realizing that the son of these newly-rich is a virile, red-blooded young man far above the average of her own set. A romance ensues which ends in a marriage between the blue-blooded aristocrat and the red blooded real man.

Comedy Sketches at Loew's

Two amusing comedy sketches will be featured on next week's bill at Loew's. Clarke and Francis, wil be seen in "Molly's Friend," a one-act playlet, and Kinkel and Mae will present an amusing skit, "Catching a Car."

The feature of the week will be the musical offering presented by the Five Musical Misses, who wear colonial dress and have an orchestra of decided merit. Downing and Burin wil appear in an act introducing comedy songs and dances.

Pauline Frederick will be featured on the picture end of the bill in "The Fear Woman," a thrilling story of a girl who is about to be married, but who flees from the altar at the crucial moment because of a great hereditary fear.

"Hearts and Flower" will be the week's comedy and Loew's British-Canadian News will show scenes in Versailles at the signing of the Peace Treaty.

Marguerite Snow at the Tivoli

Marguerite Snow, a photo-play favorite, is being shown at the Tivoli Theatre today, Friday and Saturday in "The Faded Flower," which is intensely human in theme and character-drawing. Miss Snow has a role that offers every opportunity for excessive emotionalism, but she displays a reserve power and ease of method that are highly commendable. To lovers of realism "The Faded Flower" is a story all satisfying. The direction of the picture is good and shows some really new effects. "The Faded Flower" measures up to the highest standard, and should please the patrons of the Tivoli Theatre. On the same program will be seen comedy and other pictures. The coming attraction, starting Sunday, is a Wm. Fox production presenting Peggy Hyland in "Cowardice Court."

Madlaine Traverse at the Holman

Madlaine Traverse is presented at the Holman Theatre today and for the balance of the week in "When Fate Decides," which has a plot that is said to be intensely absorbing and stirring from beginning to end, demanding unusual emotional powers to present adequately on the screen. It is a sensational story of an unloved wife who was released from a life of suffering by a mysterious murder. Fate used an assassin's knife and involved an innocent woman in a web of suspicion of crime before uniting the lovers. On the same program will be shown the seventeenth episode of "The Red Glove" serial, an L. Ko comedy and other features.

Fannie Ward at Regent

"The Profiteers," starring Fannie Ward, which will be one of the chief attractions at the Regent Theatre to morrow and Saturday, comes at a most opportune time. The story is a page taken almost exactly from history. The woman in it seems but a helpless mite between two giant contending forces,—the forces of ruthless ambition as opposed to the forces of right,—affording an intimate view of the inner workings of a heartless Food Trust. And we are shown how a woman's devotion, courage and desperation carried a frail little creature, when driven to bay, safely through the devilish machinations of the sinister system. Montague Love in "The Quickening Flame" will be the other feature on this program.

KEEP OUTREMONT PURELY RESIDENTIAL

Outremont is to be kept a residential city and no public or semi-public buildings are to be built within its limits. This was plainly shown at last night's meeting of the council, when a request was made by the Salvation Army to enlarge their premises known as the Women's Maternity Hospital and Children's Home, 520 Outremont avenue and the City Council refusing it. For several reasons the permission was not granted; but principally on account of the by-laws which do not allow for public buildings on Outremont avenue which is to be kept strictly residential. It was pointed out that the hospital was not entirely for the benefit of the residents of Outremont, other and cheaper sites could be found which would suit the aims of the founders better.

A number of tenders for the building of cottages were received. The question of raising the salaries of clerks working at the City Hall was also discussed, but owing to the hot weather the meeting was not long.

ART GALLERY EMPLOYE DEAD

News reached Montreal yesterday of the death at Oxford, England, of Richard Seward Featherston, aged 54, who was doorkeeper of the Montreal Art Gallery from 1912 to 1916. In the latter year Mr. Featherston, who had served 30 years in the British Navy, went to England and served in the navy recruiting station at Croydon, where he remained until the present year, when he was invalidad out of the service.

FELL FROM SCAFFOLD.

When a board slipped on the scaffold on which he was working, P. Tremblay, 29 years of age, of 91 Joliette street, was severely injured by a fall of over 60 feet yesterday. The accident occurred at the C.P.R. Angus Shops. He was taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where it was found that he had a broken collar bone and had several ribs fractured.

COST OF DELAY

City Must Pay $25,000 to Repair Road Bed

The ratepayers of Montreal will have to assume an extra cost of $25,000 because the paving of St. Lawrence boulevard, between Isabeau street and 42nd avenue was not proceeded with this spring, according to an announcement made yesterday by A. E. Doucet, director of public works. The latter stated that the foundation of the street had been laid two years ago, and that last year it was found necessary to spend $10,000 in repairing the concrete foundation, and now, as the paving had not been done, he estimated that the city would have to spend another $25,000 for renewing the damaged concrete, and further, if the street is not paved this year the cost of restoring the concrete would amount to $50,000.

The city will begin paving upper St. Lawrence boulevard next week.

A BAD COMBINATION.

Small boys and matches never did go amicably together, specially when firecrackers are mixed up. John Bibwoodie, 11 years of age, of 1179 Parthenais street, learned this to his sorrow as he was running along the street yesterday afternoon. A pocketful of matches and firecrackers ignited and he was literally a human torch before he could throw his coat off. His right arm was badly burnt, and he was treated at the General Hospital.

BOYS' BODY RECOVERED.

After vain attempts by others to recover the bodies of two young boys drowned in a quarry near the Canada Cement Company's plant at Longue Pointe, a diver employed by the Canadian Vickers, Ltd., finally managed to bring them up yesterday. The boys were Wilfrid Boutin, aged 13, of 1886 St. Catherine street, east, and Adelard Davidson, aged 11, of 89 Davidson street. They were drowned early on Tuesday it is thought.

STREET LINE CASE DISMISSED BY COURT

Mr. Justice Loranger handed down judgment in the Practice Court yesterday dismissing the opposition by the Bagg estate to the petition of the City of Montreal asking that the Court should confirm the new homologated line on the north side of Sherbrooke street between Union avenue and St. Denis street.

The Bagg estate, in opposing the petition, asked that a time be fixed for the expropriation of their properties, as it would be prejudicial to their value to have the matter left in suspense indefinitely.

Mr. Justice Loranger, in dismissing the opposition of the Bagg estate, said the right of mandamus did not exist to force a corporation to accomplish a discretionary act, the Court having no jurisdiction to order the city to widen Sherbrooke street within a given delay. The estate had other means at its command to effect the inconvenience complained of, but in the meantime there was no valid reason for the court to withhold approval of the homologated line, which was asked for in the public interest.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save many of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupify, retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. To avoid any possibility of giving your child opiates, or narcotics of any kind, keep Fletcher's Castoria in the house, and Save the Babies.

Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

BUTCHERS PROTEST

Say Abattoir Contract Works to Their Disadvantage

The Montreal Butchers' Association held their regular meeting last night at the Monument National. The chief subject under discussion was that of the picnic which is to take place on August 6 next. The arrangements made by the committees have been found satisfactory and everything points to a very successful affair.

The secretary submitted to the meeting the answer of the president of the Administrative Commission on the abbatoir question. This letter says that the taxes as fixed cannot be changed for they form part of the contract and were set by an expert in the matter. The Butchers' Association does not wish to accept without protest his tax which gives no offal to the butchers. The discussion on this point was very animated and the butchers agree that the contract which binds the Abbatoir Company and the city is to their disadvantage. The offal have today considerable value on the market and these are kept back by the Abattoir Company which receives a large price for them. The butchers also consider themselves cheated in the contract which keeps from them the offal which would help them considerably to pay their abattoir bills. They complain too of insufficient cold chambers in the abattoirs.

NARROW ESCAPE.

Mrs. Martin J. Foley had a narrow escape from drowning yesterday while bathing in the Richelieu River, near Chambly. She got out of her depth, but the speedy action of her two daughters, Thelma and Kate, who swam to her assistance and reached her as she was going down the second time, was the means of saving her life.

CHABOT STREET FIRE.

The fire which damaged a block of houses in Chabot street Monday night started at No. 1538 Chabot street, and not at No. 1534, as first reported, states Mrs. Gallacher, the occupant of the latter house.

KHAKI CLUB CONCERT.

Alkali In Shampoos Bad For the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else, that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

"Fair Play" is What The United Farmers of Quebec Desire.

At the convention of the United Farmers of the Province of Quebec held in Montreal on July 2nd, 1919, at which over 500 delegates and members were present, vigourous protests were registered on all sides against the Dominion Government assuming the sale of certain food products. This action was taken when it had been announced that the Government intended taking such a step. It was pointed out by several of those present that the farmers and their families had worked untiringly during the war, at the request of the Government, and that wages were not any higher than about 20 cents per hour; that the Canadian farmer receives only 24 cents for his cheese while the American gets 31 cents for his; that the Minister of Agriculture of Quebec should not let such injustice take place. After making a thorough investigation of the question the meeting unanimously passed the following resolution, asking the Government to "play fair" with the farmers of the Province of Quebec:-

... Resolution ...

CONSIDERING that the Dominion Government has made known its intention of assuming control of the sale of certain food products, such as wheat, meat, butter, cheese, etc., by fixing the price of same by means of decrees to that effect;

CONSIDERING that agriculture being the foundation of national wealth, must be encouraged in every way and that prohibitive or restrictive measures can only hinder the work of the farmer;

CONSIDERING that the Government ought to take into consideration the unjust situation of the farmer under certain conditions compared to that of the mechanic in our cities, the remuneration of the farmer being lower than that given to the humblest city mechanic;

CONSIDERING that the farmer's wife and children are compelled to help the bread-winner in all of his farm work; that his working hours are longer than those of the city mechanic who furthermore enjoys a home supplied with running water, electric lighting and other comforts unavailable to the majority of farmers;

CONSIDERING that statistics recently compiled in this Province show that the farmer's salary compared with that of city mechanics does not exceed an average of twenty cents an hour, although he must, just like the city mechanic, bear the increased costs of manufactured goods he must buy;

CONSIDERING that the Domiuion Government has in many instances invited the farmer to increase production, which invitation has also been reiteratedby the chief of the Canadian Commercial Commission after a trip of study to the principal countries of Europe; that notably in 1918, the Government insisted on an increased production of potatoes, beans, etc., that in order to answer this appeal the farmer did not hesitate to sacrifice his Sunday rest and to enlist the cooperation of his whole family;

CONSIDERING that the result of this effort on his part has been disheartening to the farmers in general, the overproduction thus realized not having brought to the farmer the profits rightfully expected and the Governmeutnot having thought of offering him compensation in any way;

BE IT RESOLVED: That the Farmers' Union of the Province of Quebec in session in the City of Montreal, on the second day of July, nineteen-hundred nineteen, respectfully set forth to the Dominion Government that it is in the national interest to supply the farmer with all possible commercial facilities by abstaining from the exercise of any control over fixing of prices for farm products, such as butter, cheese and other products, so that the farmer may produce according to the demands of exportation and that the system of supply and demand is not to be affected or nullified by decrees liable to discourage the efforts of the producer.

That a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the Honorable Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion with a request that it be submitted to the kind consideration of his colleagues in the Cabinet;

That the Agricultural Societies of this Province be also invited to unite their efforts to those of the Farmers' Union of the Province of Quebec, so as to obtain from the governing bodies this measure of equity.

The United Farmers of Quebec

Married Men

SUPPOSE your monthly income to be $100, you will spend, probably, as follows:—Rent, $25; food, $30; clothes, laundry, repairs, $20; fuel, $5; light and water, $5; sundries, $15.—leaving you a balance at the bank, of nothing at all. This balance-sheet is the correct average for the $100-a-month-man, who, from a total income of $100, manages to save — "no dollars—no cents!" The only item you can save on is the rent one; for food, clothes, fuel, light, water, sundries, are necessities. When you pay $25 a month on a Lakeshore house and plot of your own, you will cease showing $25 monthly on the wrong side; and, in few years' time, instead of having accumulated rent-receipts, totalling $3,000, or more —you'll own outright your own house and land! Wife of Harvard Professor Designs Jewellery from Butterflies

BOSTON, July 22—Do you know the "Butterfly Lady" of Boston? She lives in a big airy house out at Forest Hills, where the sun beams all the long days of summer.

She has taken up a brand new business which is fast netting her a fortune, and is one of the most fascinating occupations in the world.

She is Mrs. William A. Reiff, and she makes the dainty trays, lockets and other pieces of jewelry, embellished with butterfly wings, which are the latest fad. This business has grown until its lines extend to many foreign countries. It was born of her shrewd adaptation to the business of her husband's work in entomology carried on at Harvard University.

You realize the extent of the business when you mount the steps of Mrs. Reiff's home and meet the girlish figure, just as young in spirits and nearly in appearance as her 14 and 15-year-old daughters.

Downstairs the Butterfly Lady's home is much like any other spacious residence about Boston, but upstairs is a veritable butterfly world. Box after box is opened, and you behold hundreds of species that you never dreamed could exist, in a marvelous variety of colors and hues.

Mrs. Reiff opens a large box and exposes a large metallic butterfly of the genus Morphus, which measures eight inches across. It is worth $75.

TO DECORATE HATS.

Another box was uncovered, and a dozen small butterflies of the genus Thecla are revealed. Light to dark velvet blue is their ground color, bordered with metallic green, purple and pink.

Then you admire a giant Jremona Chloreppe of iridescent metal blue, and a Papilio, swallow tailed and colored with a dark velvet black, metallic green and crimson.

Another big box is opened and you see a wonderful collection of beetles. They are nearly as large as mice, and of all the iridiscent colors of the imagination.

"Once upon a time," breaks in the Butterfly Lady, "we used to just pin these butterflies in cases and classify them, but now we use every one of them in some form in brooches, pins, on trays, in lockets and are soon to use them to decorate handbags and hats.

"In his work as professor of entomology at Harvard University my husband became associated with men who make a business of collecting butterflies in the remote corners of the world, and it is upon this acquaintance that the success of my present business is founded.

FLORISTS SEIZED IDEA.

"I got terribly tired of seeing my scientist husband digging down into his pocket to pay for butterflies. They were all over the house. I saw that everything was going out and nothing coming in.

"So I put on my thinking cap and finally it struck me that if imitation butterflies were so popular for ornamental purposes, why should not real butterflies be more popular?

"When I started out on a round of all the shops in Boston, the jewelers, the florists, the art card shops—in fact, every place where they could use butterflies for decorative and ornamental purposes, I was astonished at the manner in which they seized upon the idea of using real butterflies.

"The florists, in particular, saw the possibilities of utilizing real butterflies and ordered them in such enormous quantities that our supply began to dwindle rapidly. They used them pinned into flowers.

"Then came the tray idea. You can't go into a shop downtown without seeing numerous trays in which my beautiful butterflies have been placed, together with grasses or leaves, and covered over with glass. Soon real butterflies went into scarfpins, cuff buttons, pendants, fobs, rings and many other articles.

"I have many men in foreign countries collecting butterflies for me. One is located in the most prolific of all butterfly fields, the jungles of Peru and Colombia. For several years he has braved the dangers that lurk in that region. He has many trained natives working with him.

USES TWO MILLION BUTTERFLIES A YEAR.

"I have another agent in Japan gathering the beautiful tiger-colored butterflies of that country. Another is in British South Africa, another in Madagascar and still others in Morocco, Australia, New Zealand, Sumatra, Siam, the Himalayan Indies, Siberia, Central America and Alaska. Yes, Alaska furnishes some beautiful butterflies, even though the summer is only one month long.

"It is astonishing how many animals, fish and other things can be duplicated from butterfly wings. I have a large owl, natural as life, that is made wholly out of butterfly wings. Fish of all kinds can be duplicated as though they were alive.

"I have lately, after many months' work, invented a process to harden butterflies, which ordinarily can be utilized only under glass. This fall I shall introduce the fad of using them in the trimming of hats and handbags.

"Lockets are the present fad and I use 500 butterflies a day to keep up with my orders. I use two million butterflies a year in my work now and the number is growing tremendously.

"This house is truly a 'Butterfly Home,' for we have paid for it from butterflies, the education of my girls being finished from butterflies, and our old age will be made comfortable from just butterflies."

PROHIBITION HURTS 'PHONES

Philadelphia Hello Girls Have Little to Do Since July 1

Prohibition is costing the Bell Telephone Company thousands of dollars, according to P. C. Staples, division manager of the corporation, says the Philadelphia Ledger. This is his explanation:

Persons under the influence of an intoxitant become sociable. Becoming more sociable, they are increasingly talkative. They want to talk not only to their friends in the cafes but to their friends who are far away.

So they went to the pay station and all of the nickles which they failed to spend on drink became a part of the revenue of the Bell Telephone Company.

Furthermore, Mr. Staples says, there was the conscientious husband who suddenly discovered while drinking his cocktail that he had a customer in the office. He telephoned to wifey that he could not possibly be home for dinner, that business demanded his presence downtown, that he must spend the evening away from his family. After the tenth cocktail he spent another nickel telephoning for a taxi.

But while waiting for the taxicab the thought suddenly overwhelmed him:

"I wonder what Charlie Jones is doing in Pittsburgh?"

He called long distance. Then after ill-tempered disputes with the operator and repeated uncomplimentary references to her ability, he finally got Charlie Jones. After learning the state of Charlie's health and the sort of weather western Pennsylvania was experiencing he abandoned the telephone, entered the taxi and went home. The next day he spent another nickel telephoning to the drug store.

"There have been few busier nights in the history of the Bell Company than the night of June 30," said Mr. Staples. "Early in the evening in the Walnut exchange not a light seemed to be burning on the switchboards. Later when the whole town was 'lit up' there was an unprecedented amount of illumination on the switchboards. Every wire was in use, every bell was ringing, every buzzer was buzzing. Then when every one was either asleep or sober the exchange became quiet again and the girls went out for their midnight lunch."

JEANNE DARC NOT JEANNE D'ARC

Now that the maid (La Pucelle) of France has been canonized, it should be known that her name is not Jeanne d'Arc, as it is generally spelled; nor is it Joan of Arc. She was a peasant, born of a peasant family named Darc (not d'Arc, which anglicized would be "of Arc;" there is no such place as "Arc" in France) in the small village of Domremy (now called in her honor "Domremy la Pucelle,") a collection of cottages of the humblest character, in which has been built a museum and a monument entirely out of keeping with its character. Opposite the church and surrounded by an iron fence, is the small "lean to" cottage in which she first saw the light in 1411. Over the doorway is a niche surmounted by the royal arms of France, and in this niche is the sculptured kneeling figure of the sainted maid, bearing the date 1456. Down to the beginning of the French Revolution, in honor of the illustrious maid, the village of Domremy was exempted from all taxation. The garden where Joan first heard the mysterious voices is not where she was born, but in a field at the bottom of a hill some half a mile away. The fine picture by Bastien-Lapage in the Metropolitan Museum shows the wall of the cottage, but this is an artistic license. There was no cottage in the apple orchard where she heard the voices. My object, however, in writing this is to establish, according to the best French authority, the correct name of the maid of Domremy, and that is "Jeanne Darc," not Jeanne d'Arc, or in English Joan Darc not Joan of Arc." George Wharton Edwards, in New York World.

QUEER MONEY IN MEXICO

For some years past Mexico has been extensively engaged in the agreeable pastime of making money. More than $2,000,000,000 worth of engraved certificates have been issued since the revolutionary troubles set in. The notes are given the curious name "billembiques," which is only a Mexican effort to pronounce the American name "William Weeks."

This William Weeks was once a paymaster who used to give orders to the peons for small sums to carry them along until next they aligned themselves before the cashier's window. The local merchants would accept the notes with the signature of the accommodating paymaster as good currency, and they were named "Billembiques." By a simple transition the term came to be applied to the revolutionary paper money.

First, it is said, Carranza manufactured paper to the nominal value of 6,000,000 pesos, and those bills were accepted for a time at about three-quarters of the value of a silver peso. Then Villa thoughtfully provided himself with a small hand press and a tramp printer and also went into the paper money industry. When his stock of materials gave out he struck off a quarter of a million notes on scraps of wrapping paper. The printer saw an opportunity to favor his own personal pocket; he struck off thousands of notes on his own account, and then loaned the apparatus to various friends, who followed his example.

The newspapers had it that Villa shot the printer; but the notes were out and the mischief had been done. Moreover, one rebel captain after another hit upon the idea of financing his campaign by means of the printing press and the die, with the result that in many parts of Mexico at one time a square meal cost $100. The new Secretary of the Treasury, at last accounts, had taken steps to restore the old and more stable system of monetary values.—New York Sun.

VERY LITTLE PER CAPITA WEALTH

Equal Distribution of Wealth Wouldn't Give Each Much

Persons in favor of a strict division of national or international wealth are usually rather dreamy in their consideration of the matter, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer, and as a usual thing cherish in their minds the thought that such a division of spoils would bring them all up to the level of the very rich, whom they profess to despise.

It is generally conceded that the United States has greater wealth in proportion to its population than any other country. And yet if wealth were divided equally in the United States the individuals coming into possession of their proper share would not be able to live lives of leisure or even partial leisure.

Take it, then, that everything went smoothly in the industrial revolution, that production was as usual and there was no loss of effort to be compensated for. Then consider the wealth of the country in relation to its population.

According to an estimate of the wealth of the United States made in 1912, the total was $187,789,071,090. The kinds of wealth included in this estimate were as follows: Real property (both taxed and exempt), farm implements and machines, live stock, gold and silver (coin and bullion), manufacturing machines, tools, etc., railroads and equipments.

This constituted one group with a total value of $143,139,573,114. The next group of properties included street railways, telephones, Pullman and other cars, shipping, canals, irrigation enterprises, privately owned power stations. All these properties were valued at $10,365,207,321.

All other property, including agricultural products, manufacturing products, mining products and personal clothing, furniture, ornaments, carriages, etc., was valued at $34,334,290,655.

It may be surprising to many of us to know that the value of the live stock in the United States was more than 100 million dollars in excess of the value of manufacturing machinery, tools, etc. Clothing and personal ornament item amounted to 2 1-2 billion dollars, and furniture, carriages, etc., to more than twice this amount.

According to the last census the population of the United States in 1918 was 105,118,467.

If a simple division of property were made on a basis of these figures, which are the best obtainable, it would give to every man, woman and child property to the amount of $1,785.98.

This, of course, is a great deal more than most of us possess, but we could not hurry off and spend it to have a good time or replenish our wardrobe or refurnish our apartments.

It would have to be conserved in order that public utilities might be conducted, the helpless cared for, etc.

No one could live on the interest of this sum, as it would only amount to $71.43 a year at 4 per cent, and more than that sum, of course, would not be paid under a universal division form of government.

No one could wallow in luxury on $71 a year. And then, besides, perhaps no interest would be paid.

On the whole, an earnest investigation of general finances, worked out with the help of the almanac, does not seem to bring forth hopes that most of us will die rich, even if the industrial revolution arrives and succeeds in "turning them out as has and giving to them as hasn't."

An English scientist asserts he perfected a method whereby metals that have been absorbed by human blood can be withdrawn by electrolysis.

The Government of Uruguay is planning to own all central electric stations in that country, together with all privately owned telephone companies.

To catch hair as it is being cut by a barber, an inventor has patented a circular piece of fabric with the edges turned up, to be fastened around a man's neck.

STRIKERS AGAIN TIE-UP SHIPPING

Steamship connection between Montreal and Liverpool is again interrupted as a consequence of the strikes which have broken out at the Mersey port, and steamship sailings, barely restored to normal after previous labor disputes, are once more thrown out of schedule.

Several transports destined for Canada with troops and dependents are held up, including the Scotian, Canada, Adriatic and Scandinavian. The Scotian was due to sail from Liverpool for Montreal on Tuesday, and is waiting in the stream to get away. She may succeed in clearing before this new strike is settled, but the other boats mentioned cannot leave until the trouble is over.

SHAWINIGAN'S SHARP RISE--SAVINGS DEPOSITS RECORD HIGH

SHAWINIGAN GAINS; TONE HERE BETTER

There was a revival of strength and interest in the local market this morning and following New York's lead, there was a tendency towards expansion of business after a couple of days of contraction.

Shawinigan was one of the features of the trading, early coming into prominence after a day or so of marked strength. This issue opened at 122½, bid up from 122, and then advanced to 127.

It was reported from the floor shortly after the opening that some large orders which have been handing over the market for some time past had been filled and that further buying for general account was under way. For some time past the stock has been referred as one of the list which would some day enjoy a considerable price advance, but few traders thought that the advance would take place so soon. At 127, the price showed a net improvement of 5. The company will probably benefit largely from the recent increase in the Power Company dividend, inasmuch as they are holders of about 30,000 shares of Power stock

Power was firm agan, and advanced to a new high record at 95 towards the close after opening a shade lower at 94½. Textile showed better form advancing to 122½, up 1½ over the previous sale. The Iron and Steel stock also were better, and shortly after the opening, the stock was bid up from around 70 to 71½ before bringing out stock. The opening in Steel of Canada was 71, the price later advancing to 72, up 1¼. Iron was also better, advancing to 69½, but closed off at 69¼, up ⅝.

The milling stocks were also strong, St. Lawrence being the most active issue. This stock advanced to 112 after opening at 111. It closed strong last night at 110¾. The stock is ex-dividend 2½ per cent. Ogilvie sold at 250, a net gain of 4½ points.

The paper group was less active but reflected underlying strength. Laurentide recovered to 220 after opening at 219.] The Spanish Rivers were steady, the common being 43½ and the preferred 109. Brompton was active holding around 64½ to 64½ to 64¾, a net gain of ½. Riordon was 140, unchanged. Wayagamack was 52½ to 53, up 2, while Pulp was fractionally better at 6.

Converters continued to be the strong spot in the cotton and textile list opening today at 65 and advancing ½ for the morning to a net gain of 1. Mont. Cotton preferred was unchanged at 103. Penmans was unchanged at 97.

In the balance of the market the tone was steady to firmer with Steamships 52, 1 up; the preferred 85½ to 85¾, up ¼. Asbestos 75 to 75½, up 1½ Breweries 184 to 187, up 5 Car 41, unchanged; Smelters 30½ to 30, off ¼; Dom. Bridge 101½, off ½; Canners 53 to 52½ steady; Sugar 49, down ½; Cement 69¾, unchanged; Macdonald 31, up ¾; Bell Telephone 118¾, up ¾; Tram-Power 19, unchanged; Tucketts 40 to 41, up 1.

New Stock Exchange Firms Starts Aug. 1

Major F. Stanton Mathewson, D.S.O., who was today elected a member of the Montreal Stock Exchange, will be the floor member of the new firm of Riddell and Mathewson, who on August 1, 1919, are taking over the business of A. F. Riddell and Co. A. F. Riddell, the present head of the firm of A. F. Riddell and Co., is retiring after a connection with the Stock Exchange since 1881. The new firm will be composed of J. A. Riddell, Hugh Mathewson and F. Stanton Mathewson. All three members have recently returned from overseas, where they served with units of the Royal Highlanders of Canada. They will occupy the present offices of A. F. Riddell and Co. at 80 St. Francois Xavier street.

BANK OF ENGLAND REPORT

LONDON, July 24. — The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, decreased £371,000; circulation, dec. £2,000; bullion, dec. £373,140; other securities, dec. £642,000; public deposits, dec. £5,228,000; other deposits, inc. £3,390,000; notes reserve, dec., £351,000; Government securities, inc. £5,132,000. The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 19.67 per cent; last week it was 20.54 per cent. Rate of discount 5 per cent.

FUNDS AGAIN AT HIGH; EXCHANGES ARE FIRMER

There was again a firmer tone to the market for New York funds here with the result that the rate once more went to the high record established on Tuesday, of 3 15-16 per cent. premium, or within 1-16 of 1 per cent. of a 4 per cent. premium. According to foreign exchange bankers, the tone continued extremely strong and the prospect still was that the rate would cross the 4 per cent. level here, which means that the Canadian dollar in New York would be worth but 96 cents.

A despatch from Detroit this morning stated that the discount on Canadian money quoted by Detroit banks today was at the "unusual figure of 4½ per cent." and James A. Wilson cashier of the Detroit National Bank is credited with saying that a request made to Canadian banks for a market on exchange brought the reply that there was none to be sold.

The Star understands, however, that some funds have since been offered at Detroit at a figure representing a smaller discount than that mentioned in the despatch above referred to.

In the foreign exchange market in New York this morning, the tone was strong, sterling having opened up about 1¼ cents with demand at 4.39 and cables at 4.39¾. This improvement in tone was about in line with yesterday's expectations, and it is thought in some circles that further improvement will probably be seen during the balance of this month, while, later in the year, further weakness is looked for, providing, of course stabilizing measures are not brought into effect before that time.

Francs were also better with demand at 7.07 and cables 7.06; lire 8.56 and 8.54 and guilders 37⅞ and 38. Swiss cables wer 5.55, pasets cables 19.20 and Stockholm cables, 24.70, while mark cables were 7.

Brazilian exchange on London was a shade firmer, the quotation holding unchanged at 14⅝ pence to the milreis.

NEW YORK, July 24.—There was vigorous buying of Sterling due for the most part to the sailing of the Aquitania on Saturday and demand Sterling at one stage was bid up to 4.40½. Thereafter there was a preponderange of selling, which carried the rate back to 4.39½.

TORONTO MINING SALES

TORONTO, July 24.—Standard Mining Exchange, Morning sales:

Porcupines—3,000 Apex, 37½: 2,000 Atlas, 25 to 24½; 4,700 Davidson, 68; 3,000 Dame Ex. 21½; 1,000 Gold Reef, 4½; 305 Holly 655; 3,500 Lake Shore, 100 at 97; 9,000 Montana, 11 to 11½; 200 McIntyre, 178 to 177; 200 Pore. E. D. 3½; 3,000 P. Imperial, 2 to 1½; 3,500 Teck Hughes, 21; 1,000 T.-Krist, 20; 200 Tisdale, 2½; 5,000 W. D. C. 11 to 11; 1,000 Wasapika, 87.

Cobalts—23,100 Adanac 10½ to 10; 1,00 Beaver, 83; 500 Chambers, 10; 1,400 Gifford, 2; 2,400 McKinley, 60 to 61; 2,000 Ophir, 3½; 100 Right of Way, 3½; 1,500 Silver Leaf, 2½.

This market will be closed on Saturday.

SILVER CONTINUES RALLY

Bar Silver continued its rally today, going to $1,07¼ an ounce in New York and to 64¾d. in London.

Opinions from Wall Street

Pynchon & Company wired Craig, Luther & Irvine—"We would suggest the taking of profits on issues that have scored large gains and await substantial setbacks for buying purposes."

Laidlaw & Co.—A better feeling towards the steel and other leading industries follows the various expressions that the discussed strikes are not expected to reach proportions which will cause serious trouble.

Post & Flagg.—G. B. Post wires:—I think this autumn we will have bigger dealings than ever before. Just at the moment I feel reactionary byt everyone tells me I am wrong. I imagine the truth of the matter is that the market is adjusting itself to the 50 cent dollar. Everything else is on this basis but securities which have been held back up to now by abnormal conditions.

Miller & Co. wire Fairbanks, Gosselin & Co.—"Yesterday's market gave the bears rather an unpleasant surprise. We see nothing whatever to change our views in general.

Hornblower & Weeks wire P. Brien & Williams: Industrials are easily the favorites for the time being, the rails not in particular favor except those that have some especial feature, outside of their regular business, to make them appear attractive.

E. & C. Randolph—H. K. Evans wires: The public always makes money in a big bull market but generally loses all of it if not more, when the tide turns, as they almost always become most bullish and most overloaded with stocks at the top. It looks to me as if history was going to repeat itself. No one can say when the turn will come, but now is certainly a time to lighten up and be prepared for adverse happenings.

In connection with the sharp advance in American Car, there are reports that the directors will declare an extra dividend in addition to the regular dividend.

STEEL GROUP VERY STRONG IN WALL ST.

Special to The Star.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The market continued generally strong again today with special interest centering in the industrial list. The announcement of the dropping of the extra dividend on Beth. Steel B, had little effect comparatively speaking owing to the bullish tone of the market for steel issues.

The stock opened at 104¾ to 103¾, advanced sharply to 106, and before the news came out had dropped back 2, to 104. Following the dividend announcement it dropped 2 additional to 102 but rallied soon after 1 p. m. to 102¾.

U. S. Steel which eased from 112⅛ to 111⅜ later rallied to 113⅜ and held close to that level in the early afternoon. Crucible showed a somewhat less feverish range at 144 to 141½ to 143½. Nova Scotia Steel was stronger at 86½ to 87⅛; Republic at 98⅝ to ⅝ to 99 to 98½ and Midvale 59¼ to 58⅝ to ⅝.

In the automobile accessory department Stromberg Carburetor furnished the principle display of fireworks. Following its rapid rise from 74⅝ to 92 yesterday, it opened at 96 and went to 104, completing an advance of practically 30 points in the two days. After touching the high, it slipped 13 to 91 rallied to 95, and later ranged around 95 to 97. Bosch Magneto was strong at 120⅜ to 125½ to 123¼. Keystone Tire at 105¼ to 106 to 105.

In the general list the features included United Food, 80⅝ to 84; Cigar Stores, 200 to 201 to 193½; Tobacco Products, 106 to 105¼ to 106; Studebaker, Sinclair Oil, 63¼ to 63⅝ to 62⅝; Royal Dutch, 99 to 97⅞; Pan.-American, 118⅞ to 119¼ to 116⅝ to 117¾; Mex. Pete, 197½ to 196⅛ to 197⅝; Marine, 64 to 63⅝ to 66; preferred, 118⅝ to 119⅝; Inspiration, 67⅝ to 68⅝ to 67⅞.

Goodrich, 84 ⅛ to 85 to 84½; Gt. North Ore., 49⅝ to 50¼; Gen. Motors, 231½ to 233¼ to 230½; Cal. Pet., 52 to 53 to 51⅝; Leather, 115¼ to 116¼ to 114⅝ to 115⅝; Corn Products, 94½ to 92⅝; Baldwin, 114⅞ to ¼ to 116½ to 115½; A. I. C., 111⅛ to 113⅝ to 110⅝ to 111⅞; Car. 120 to 121 to 119½; Studebaker, 116 to 113⅝ to 115 1-8; Nickel, 20⅝; Alcohol, 146; Wool, 127; A. G. W., 172½.

Among the railways there was very little change excepting in C. P. R. which sold lower to 162¼. Texas Pacific was 61⅝ to 61 to ⅝; Southern Pacific, 107⅝ to 106⅝ to ⅞; Reading, 89¼ to ⅛ to ⅛; Union Pacific, 135¼.

Bullish enthusiasm was uppermost at the outset, speculative favorites making material additions to recent gains. Stromberg Carburetors was again the sensational feature, adding some ten points to yesterday's 20 point advance in the first half hour. Steels, tobaccos and food shares were one to four points higher and oils and shipping made moderate progress. Rails were relatively backward, and Lorillard Tobacco forfeited part of yesterday's substantial rise.

Tobaccos and oils were features of the early trading. First sales of American Tobacco were at 250, up 2½, and then the stock rose to 253.

Pan-American, after a strong opening, again leaped, going to 119¼. Central Leather went above 116 in the first turnovers.

The violent fluctuations of Stromberg, which reacted from 104 to 91, and rallied to 98½, exerted little adverse influence in other quarters of the list, where gains were steadily extended on very large dealings.

U. S. Steel assumed a commaning position, gaining 2 points, motors and their specialties advancing 2 to 6, oils and food shares 1½ to 4 and tobaccos and shippings one to 6. Less activity was shown by equipments, aside from leathers and textiles, which were in further demand and rails remained in the background. Call money opened at six to 6½ per cent.

COUNTRY CHEESE BOARDS

COBOURG, Ont., July 24.—(Special)—At the weekly meeting of the Stirling Cheese Board, no cheese was offered and no bids were made.

At Napanee also no cheese was offered at the weekly board meeting.

At the Picton Cheese Board 1,650 boxes were boarded; 300 sold at 24c. The balance was unsold.

LONDON MONEY MARKET

LONDON, July 24. — Closing money, 2¾ per cent; discount rates short bills, 3 7-16 to 3½ per cent; three months bills, 3 9-16 to 3⅝ per cent; gold premiums at Lisbon, 110.00.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Times.—It was clear as the day progressed that buyers were regaining confidence that prices could advance without promoting disturbing conditions in the money market, and presumably, without immediately coming under the adverse force of industrial troubles, such as were contained in the discussion of strikes earlier in the week]

Sun.—As has been the case all along there was no news to influence the market one way or the other. The whole movement seemed to be based, just as it has been, on the knowledge that business is proceeding at a pace as good as expected; that there will be some solution shortly of the perplexing international questions, and that the quarterly statement of the Steel Corporation, which is due next Tuesday will be even more favorable than the most optimistic had expected.

World.—The assurance given yesterday that there would be no serious labor troubles in the steel industry gave increased confidence to those who were operating on the market's constructive side. According to the chief authority in the trade, there is every probability, owing to increased steel consumption, that the bonus system shortly will be resumed. This extends in prosperous times to practically all the employees of the big companies.

Herald.—The real reason for the big gains was the scarcity of stocks. With so many large holdings "locked in" by the income tax law and such a quantity of shares being taken out of the Street daily by small investors the supply is altogether inadequate for the demand of such a big, broad market as that experienced yesterday. The public is in funds.

Tribune.—Stock exchange houses, which sent out calls for more margin after the swift and violent fall in prices on Monday, met a surprising response from their customers. In only a few instances, it is stated, were the additional funds not forthcoming. This is merely cited as indicating that the trading element is apparently well backed when it comes to funds and that something more than a single day's decline is needed to shake them out. This has been true of the market since it started.

Financial Men in the Public Eye

MAJ. F. S. MATHEWSON,
Elected a member of the Montreal Stock Exchange today.

Topics of the Street

Once more there was an expansion in the volume of transactions on the Montreal Stock Exchange, today's total of 7,669 shares being about 2,300 shares better than yesterday's total, and about 1,600 shares better than Tuesday's. The jump into prominence of Shawinigan gave that stock the position of leader of the market from point of volume, the total for the issue being 1,285 shares. This is the largest volume of business done in this stock in a single session for some days past.

Other active stocks made up a fairly long list, second position being held by Iron, with a total of 1,120, the balance of the list being as follows: Montreal Power, 584; St. Lawrence Flour, 573; Brompton, 528; Breweries, 490; Smelters, 480; Steel of Canada, 312; Asbestos and Ames-Holden preferred, 300 each; Converters, 295, and Steamships, 205.

The improvement in Shawinigan was regarded in the Street as a natural sequel to the advance in the Power dividend. While there has been no suggestion of an early advance on the 7 per cent. rate which has prevailed for the past three years the record of the company has been essentially progressive and slight doubts are entertained that an 8 per cent. rate is a fair prospect.

The retirement late this year of the $4,500,000 two year note issue, probably entirely through conversion into common stock, will be one of the first developments of a character to bring a higher dividend within the range of probability. Next to Power in the hydro-electric group, it stands most favored as an investment for the long pull with prospects of substantial appreciation.

Somewhat reluctantly the admission is made by some Wall Street houses that the market does not support their contention that the bull movement was over. The rally of the past few days has forced them to that conclusion.

Some will be willing to admit their market diagnosis was wrong, but others will stick to their contention, but it was ever thus. It takes a great variety of opinions to make a real market.

The announcement that the commodity market for lead is stronger and is likely to continue its advance in sympathy with other trade metals is suggested as a bull argument on Consolidated Smelters.

Lead is one of its most important products and with the riches of the famous Sullivan mine to back it up the company is in a position to secure an excellent strong lead market.

The richness of the Sullivan ore and the reduction to a favorable level of smelting costs will enable it to market its output on a satisfactory basis in competition with American producers generally.

This, however, is only one of the several metalliferous features which suggest a bright future for Smelters.

The question of creating a system of term-settlements on the New York Stock Exchange in lieu of the present method of daily settlements is again to the fore in Wall Street owing to the recent fluctuations in the call money rate and the resultant adverse effect upon the discount market. Bankers hold to the opinion that ultimately the desirability of changing to term-settlements will be proven and that a really perfect financial system will not prevail until the call and discount markets are separated.

In a recent interview, Paul M. Warburg said that the development cannot take place abruptly, but thinks that present steps to improve the clearing House system is a move in the right direction. It still remains to be seen, however, what will be the ultimate outcome.

A. Barton Hepburn, chairman of the advisory board of the Chase National Bank, says that it has always been his opinion that term-settlements such as they have in Europe would do away with the essential quality of call loans or at least impair the loan to some extent. New York has always depended upon the call market for ready funds, and without this market as it has existed the banks would have frequently been placed in embarrassing positions. The acceptance system is rapidly being adopted. This makes commercial paper unsuitable for purposes that call loans have formerly supplied, and it may be advisable and proper within the near future to adopt term settlements. He says, however, that he has not yet worked himself up to that conviction.

STOCKS NOW WELL BELOW YEAR'S HIGH

During the past two weeks, after the large majority of Montreal listed stock had attained the high point of this year to date, a reactionary tone set in which resulted in some fairly sweeping declines in many of the most active issues. Today, however, a somewhat better tone is tending to improve many of the issues over their most recent low level following their advance.

A table of twenty of the most representative stocks in the day's advance indicates that the shakeout was of a general order, and tended largely to strengthen the technical position, which has resulted in a better trading market for the standard issues and less activity for those stocks which are usually placed in the so-called "cat and dog" class.

The table which follows shows the high prices of the stocks referred to for the year, which levels, for the most part, were attained during the recent break, and also indicates the low levels touched on the subsequent decline and the appreciation from the low point up to noon today. The data is interesting and instructive:

	High 1919	Recent Low.	Now
Atlantic Sugar	54	49	49
Ames-Holden	53	49	49
Do. pfd.	104⅞	97	97
Brazilian	61	57½	58½
B. C. Fishing	66	62	62
Brompton	66	63	64½
Car com.	47½	41	41
Do. pfd.	100	97	97½
Iron	73	67	69½
Textile	125⅞	120	120
Laurentide, xd 6 p.c.	226	216	220
Macdonald	36	30	31
Breweries	194	177	187
Spanish River	46	43	43½
Do. pfd.	109	108	109
Steel of Canada	76	69½	72
Tooke	46	42	43¼
Tucketts	46½	40	40
Wayagamack	56	52	53
Scotia	90½	80	85

It will be seen from the above that while many issues show but a point or two loss from the high, several stocks had moderately heavy declines to their credit. For instance, Iron fell 6 points, while Car common dropped 6½ points. Textile fell 5⅞, Laurentide 4, Breweries 17, Steel of Canada 6½, Wayagamack 4, Scotia about 10, Ames-Holden 4, the preferred 4⅞, Sugar 5, Brazilian 3½, Fishing 4, Spanish River 3, Tooke 4, and Tucketts 6½.

Since that time, however, Breweries has made up approximately 10 points of its loss, Iron 2½, Steel of Canada 2½, Scotia 5, Laurentide 2, Brompton 1½, Tooke 2, and Brazilian 1.

The improvement in the Wall Street market, which had a sharp break late last week and early this week, has helped to better some here, while there is some revival of interest evident in several old-time leaders.

BLACK LAKE OPTION OPEN UNTIL AUGUST 22

TORONTO, July 24.—Black Lake Asbestos securities continues to cause a good deal of comment and the development of numerous rumors as to the company's future, including one to the effect that the American steel corporation negotiating for the purchase of the company's chrome iron ore lands had completed its option and was going through with the deal.

With reward to the latter, President Robert F. Massie of Black Lake Asbestos, states that the steel company's engineer has been examining the chrome iron ore lands during the past week, but that to date the option, which has to run until August 22, has not been taken up. It is understood, however, that the engineer has found even better chrome deposits than at first expetced, and prospects are good for the option being taken up.

The operating position of Black Lake Asbestos is the best for many months. Though the company has been forced to sell its output, formerly taken largely by the Government, in the open market, it has so far been able to dispose of its asbestos, and its stocks at the mines are very small. At the present time the company is employing more than three times the number of men working a year ago. Considerable development work has gone forward and the mines prepared for active peace requirements. The company's organization has undergone considerable reorganization, and recently introduced economies are cutting down operating costs.

PROFIT-TAKING KEPT CORN PRICES STEADY

CHICAGO, July 24.—Dry weather tended today to give an advantage to bulls in the corn market, and so too did increasing complaints of car scarcity. Many country elevators were said to be shutting down as a result of lack of cars. On the other hand profit-taking sales by holders of grain were against any radical upturns in price. Opening quotations, which ranged from the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 cents higher, with September $1.95 and December 166 ⅛ to 167, were followed by moderate further gains and then a general reaction.

Hedging business kept the oats market relatively weak. After opening unchanged to ¼ cent off including September at 79⅞ to 80, values hardened a little and then sagged again.

Provisions were firmer for ribs as also for lard. Trade in pork was next to nothing.

CLEARING TOTAL HIGH DESPITE ONE HOLIDAY

The holiday which took place last Saturday, resulted in a slightly lower figure for Canadian bank clearings for the week which ended to-day, although all reports compare most favorably with the full week of 1918. The Montreal clearing house reported clearings of $116,954,513 as compared with $87,973,944, an increase of $28,980,569, or at the rate of 32.94 per cent. In 1917 the clearings were $75,858,819. Owing to the slightly shorter business week the total was less large than that reported in the few weeks previous, which have averaged between $131,000,000 and $143,000,000 since the second week of May, with the exception of but one or two weekly periods.

The table which follows gives comparison of the clearings reported for the week just ended with the corresponding week of 1918:—

Notes on Exchange

Advices from the Persian Gulf are to the effect that the date crop this year is expected to be large and of excellent quality. Packing will begin early in September, and the first direct steamer will probably be on the way to this port by the end of the month, ensuring arrival in ample time for the Thanksgiving trade.

The surplus stock of raw sugar in the United Kingdom on July 1 was slightly over 113,000 tons, the total quantity being 225,143 tons as compared with 109,033 tons at the same time last year.

Wheat trading by American interests in the Winnipeg exchange looks as if it would be surrounded by innumerable obstacles, at least, for the present. The transfer of funds from Chicago to Winnipeg is ranging from $30 to $35 per $1,000. Customers' debit trades have to stand this expense; besides which, it is understood that there has been some talk among Winnipeg houses of demanding wheat at about 25c per bushel on wheat trades in futures. Altogether, therefore, the trading in wheat futures in Winnipeg from the United States looks as if it would be surrounded with several serious restrictions, among which are those named above. Furthermore, it is natural to suppose that fluctuations will be more or less wide and erratic.

ACTIVITY IN LEATHER IS VERY GREAT

Unusual activity prevails throughout the local leather trade at present, and manufacturers state they have never before been so busy as they are now. Factories are keeping open full blast all summer, which is something unusual, and many concerns have found it necessary to increase their facilities because of the pressure of work.

Prices are continuing their aviatory flights, and advances recently have been from 2c to 5c on both sole and upper leathers. And these advances are not expected to be the last. The demand for l

ANOTHER FORGER HELD, SAY POLICE

Authorities Believe Garner, Now Arrested, Belongs to Practised Gang

With the arrest of Bernard Garner in the Royal Bank, the police think they have nearly completed their collection of principals in a well-organized gang of professional cheque forgers who have been swindling the Montreal banks for thousands of dollars during the last year. Garner was arrested Tuesday in the bank by the manager and is charged with having forged a draft for $4,570.10 on James A. Ogilvy's, Limited, department store, and to have obtained $3,350 from the Royal Bank of Canada.

It is alleged that Garner is a member of the gang alleged to be led by "Mo" Schatzberg, who is now in jail awaiting trial on numerous charges of forgery. The Bankers' Association has laid a charge of conspiracy, with intent to defraud, against Schatzberg and two others; one known as Sidney Smith, alias Thompson, the other as Hiram Rosenfeldt, alias Harris, alias Koffman, alias Feldman. The total amount involved in the charge of conspiracy against these three is just below $7,000.

LIST OF CHARGES.

On May 15 and 16 they are alleged to have drawn cheques on the Royal Bank, St. Denis and St. Catherine streets, for $300 and $610.45. Both were signed "G. A. Duclos." The next charge is that the Royal Bank, Beaver Hall Branch, was defrauded of $359.80 with a cheque signed "Beaver Hall Market." La Banque Provinciale cashed a cheque —also forged it is alleged—for $50, signed by "S. Smith," on May 22. The same institution is said to have lost $407.70 with a cheque signed "R. Rosen" on June 22. Other charges are that on June 13 the St. Lawrence Branch of the Merchants Bank of Canada paid a cheque for $805, signed by "Canadian Leather and Shoe Findings," next came the Royal Bank, which was defrauded of $740 with a cheque signed "Z. Demetre," the Canadian Bank of Commerce, St. Catherine Street East Branch, lost $372.80 with a cheque signed "Estelle C. Cuddy," the Bank of Montreal, McGill street branch was the next with $875.40 with a cheque signed by "Dominion Iron and Metal Co." The two last charges are those of the Bank of Hochelaga, which was, it alleges, swindled in turn for $1,210.85 and $966.80, both cheques purporting to be signed by "the North American Iron and Metal Company."

The trial on the conspiracy charges will be held sometime next week. In the meanwhile, ones of the accused, Rosenfeldt, has obtained bail at $4,000. The others are in jail. Garner will have his preliminary trial before Judge Cusson yesterday and was remanded without bail

PACKERS' FOES AND FRIENDS IN CLASH IN SENATE

More Dangerous Than Standard Oil, Says One Speaker

SAY PROPAGANDA

Lively Debate on the Food Situation and Cost of Living

Reprinted from Yesterday's Postscript Edition.

Special to The Star by Raymond Clapper of the United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A propaganda is being conducted to force through Congress the Kenyon bill regulating the big packers, it was charged on the Senate floor today.

While Senator Kenyon was preparing to make a speech amplifying his assertion that the packers instituted a propaganda against his measure, Senators Sherman, Illinois, and Smoot, Utah made the counter-charge. The result was a lively debate on the food situation and the cost of living.

Sherman and Smoot asserted that the National Wholesale Grocers' Association was responsible for the propaganda in favor of regulating the packers.

Smoot asserted that if wholesale grocers would be content with the profits made by the packers, and if retailers would accept even one-tenth of these profits, the cost of living would be greatly reduced.

Senator Harris, Georgia, formerly chairman of the Federal Trade Commission, declared that the packers are "more dangerous than the Standard Oil."

KING WILL UNVEIL CARTIER MEMORIAL

Will Press Electric Button in Balmoral Castle September 6

At a meeting of the Cartier Centenary Committee held yesterday in the rooms of the committee, 248 St. James street, and at which E. W. Villeneuve, president; ex-Mayor (Dr.) J. J. Guerin, ex-Mayor H. A. Ekers, J. N. Dupuis, Eug. H. Godin, K.C., Gustave Francq, C. H. Catelli, J. O. Labrecque, Dr. E. J. C. Kennedy and John Boyd were present, Mr. Villeneuve read a cablegram he received yesterday from H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught, former Governor-General of Canada, and patron of the Cartier Centenary, in which his Royal Highness announced that King George V. will himself unveil the monument erected on Fletcher's Field to the memory of the great Canadian statesman. The cablegram read as follows:

London, July 22, 1919

E. W. Villeneuve, President Cartier Centenary, Montreal, Canada.

King consents to unveil Cartier memorial by pressing electric button. His Majesty will be at Balmoral on September 6. Understand you can make arrangements for connection. Writing.

(Sgd.) CONNAUGHT.

Mr. Villeneuve explained that as the Prince of Wales would not be in Montreal until the end of October, it had been deemed proper to unveil the Cartier monument on September 6, which is the anniversary of the birth of Cartier.

The arrangement whereby His Majesty the King will personally unveil the monument will consist in an electric device which will be connected with the transatlantic cable here. Upon His Majesty touching a button in Balmoral Castle at a given time, the veil which will enclose the statue of Cartier will be released by an electrical apparatus and the unveiling accomplished. At this hour, it is expected, an immense crowd will have congregated on Fletcher's Field and will themselves see the falling down of the veil from the statue, while thousands of people will sing the National Anthem.

It was also announced that Miss Hortense Cartier, daughter of Sir George, who went to France with her father in 1872 and who never returned to Canada, will arrive in Canada during the first week of August. She will be the guest of the Canadian nation for over a month, and it was suggested that while in Montreal, the civic authorities might be communicated with, with a request to tender Miss Cartier an official welcome.

Reporting on the progress of the Centenary Fair, Mr. Villeneuve stated to the committee that arrangements so far point to an unprecedented success. He claimed the Fair would be the greatest affair of its kind ever held here, and would astonish even the most pessimistic.

While giving the Administrative Commission all due credit for their willingness to help the Cartier Fair to the utmost, Mr. Villeneuve remarked that in doing so the city commissioners also performed a civic duty, as the exposition will be the greatest boon the city ever received; especially at this time, when people have been deprived of any exposition since the war broke out five years ago.

It was also announced that some of the largest manufacturers and industries of Canada have secured space allotments and the demand for these allotments has been so brisk that by the end of next week there will be none left.

On the motion of ex-Mayor Ekers and ex-Mayor Guerin, a committee was formed which will take charge of invitations other than official ones to the federal, provincial and civic authorities.

The dates of the unveiling of the Cartier monuments were fixed as follows, in order to coincide with the visit of Miss Cartier in Canada: Montreal, September 6; St. Antoine-on-Richelieu, (the birth place of Cartier) September 14; Quebec City, September 20. There will also be held a ceremony at the Cartier monument at Ottawa on September 13.

Sir Robert Borden and Sir Lomer Gouin will unveil the Cartier monument here, while Sir Lomer, as Premier of this province, has been invited to open the Cartier Centenary Fair.

COAL PRODUCTION IN CANADA FALLS

Reprinted from Yesterday's Postscript Edition.

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, July 23.—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in its monthly survey of the coal production of the Dominion reports that the total output of coal during the month of May was 908,536 tons as compared with 1,217,989 tons during the month of May, 1918.

In Nova Scotia, the production fell from 509,577, to 403,833 tons while the production of bituminous coal in Alberta dropped from 255,462 to 187,304 tons.

GREAT SENSATION SPRUNG IN THOS. J. MOONEY CASE

Government Agent Declares Law Made Mockery in Trial

STARTLING CHARGE

U.S. House Hears of Perjury and Perversion of Justice

Special to The Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, July 24.—Charges of alleged injustice done Thomas J. Mooney, during his trial at San Francisco on the charge of bomb-throwing at a Preparedness Parade are made in the report of John B. Densmore, special agent of the Department of Labor, who made a secret investigation of the case for the Government.

Densmore points to several incidents as indicating the trial was a "frame-up" to discredit union labor. The report was sent to the House today by Secretary of Labor Wilson in response to requests for information on the case by a House resolution recently passed.

"The plain truth," said Densmore in his report, which is dated November 1, 1918, "is that there is nothing about the case to produce a feeling of confidence that the dignity and majesty of the law have been upheld.

"There is nowhere anything resembling consistency, the effect being that of patchwork of incongruous makesnifts and often of desperate expediency."

ATTORNEY IS INVOLVED.

The report indicates that Densmore for several months had a dictaphone in the office of Charles M. Fickert, San Francisco district attorney and obtained much of his information in that manner.

"The reading of the testimony in the case is apt to cause one to wonder at many things" the report says.

The report then enumerates the following objections to methods used at the trial:

"The apparent failure of the District Attorney's office to conduct a real investigation at the scene of the crime; the easy adaptability of some of the star witnesses; the irregular method pursued by the prosecution in identifying various defendants; the sorry type of men and women brought forward to prove essential matters of fact in a case of gravest importance; the seeming inefficacy of a well-established alibi; the sang-froid with which the prosecution occasionally adopted an untenable theory and then changed to another not quite so preposterous; the refusal of the public prosecutor to call witnesses who actually saw the falling of the bomb.

"In short the general flimsiness and improbability of the testimony adduced together with a total absence of anything that looks like a genuine effort to arrive at the facts in the case.

"These things are calculated to cause in the minds of the most blase a decided mental rebellion."

DIRECT PERJURY CHARGE.

The report declares the testimony of Frank G. Oxman, star prosecution witness, was proven perjury and that the presiding judge at the trial and the Attorney-General of the state, asked a new trial for Mooney. Fickert, who had previously agreed to the new trial, Densmore said, then changed and refused to agree to it.

Of this, the Densmore report says:

"There are excellent grounds for the belief that the prosecuting attorney's sudden change of attitude was prompted by emissaries from some of the corporate interests most bitterly opposed to union labor. Fickert's efforts henceforth were directed at a clumsy attempt to whitewash Oxman and justify his own motives and conduct throughout."

At the end of the report were more than one hundred closely typewritten pages of conversations with Fickert, said to have been obtained through the dictaphone placed in his office by Densmore.

Two or more persons heard all the records of conversation offered, the report alleged.

The placing of the dictaphone in the office was a most difficult task, Densmore said, as the office was heavily guarded all the time.

He did not state just how this was accomplished.

Over two thousand years ago the ancient Gauls made good soap of beech ashes and the fat of goats.

SCENT PROPOSAL FOR RED GUARD IN NEW YORK

Committee Studying "Red" Activities Suspects Covert Plan

RETURNED MEN, TOO

Ostensible Aim of Body is to Find Jobs for Members

Reprinted from Yesterday's Postscript Edition.

Special to The Star From Our Own Correspondent.

NEW YORK, July 23. — On the theory that there may be a covert scheme to organize a "Red Guard" as a military adjunct to the "Red Terror" of which so many threats have occurred in the radical and revolutionary propaganda produced in evidence at its recent hearings in this city, the legislative committee investigating seditious activities is looking into a proposal which is pending for the organization of a Soldiers' and Sailors' Soviet, to become affiliated with the Left Wing Socialist organization.

The report came to the legislative committee from one of its subordinate agents who has been operating for some time in Buffalo preparatory to public hearings that the committee will hold in that city at an early date. He learned that the project had been launched at a secret meeting held there late in May, which was attended by Left Wing Socialists, anarchists, and members of the I. W. W. The meeting was addressed by prominent radicals from this city and was attended by delegates from New York, Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Boston and Chicago.

In connection with the plans perfected at that meeting it was learned that in order to realize the project the assembled "Reds" proposed that overtures should be made to so-called Soldiers', Sailors' and Marines' Protective Association, an organization composed of returned fighting men of a radical hue which had been formed at a meeting in the Peoples' House ostensibly for the purpose of aiding its members in getting jobs. What came of the proposal to make this organization the nucleus for a Left Wing Socialist Military Soviet the committee has not learned but proposes to find out.

7% Cumulative Redeemable Sinking Fund Preferred Shares

The Preferred Shares are redeemable in full at par July 1st, 1941, or in full or in part at any prior date, after July 1st, 1922, either by drawings at 110 or in the open market at a price not in excess of 110. The Preferred dividend accumulates from 15th July, 1919, and will be payable quarterly 1st days of January, April, July and October. A sinking fund of 2 per cent. per year on the Preferred Share issue will be established commencing 1st July, 1921. Said Preference Shares are issued upon the condition that the Company covenants that no Mortgages, Bonds or Debentures will be issued by it having priority over the said Preference Shares excepting with the sanction of the holders of not less than two-thirds of the said Preference Shares for the time being issued and outstanding. It will thus be seen that the Preference Shares are practically the equivalent of First Mortgage Sinking Fund Bonds.

THUGS ATTACKED AND ROBBED MAN

Thugs attacked and beat E. Larose, of 479 Rosemount avenue, senseless and threw him into an alleyway off Frontenac St. late Tuesday afternoon, after stealing his watch and chain. Larose was found, bleeding and badly shaken up, in the alley and was sent to Notre Dame hospital where he is being attended to now. He has suffered painful injuries but not of a dangerous nature.

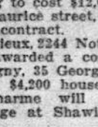

Larose states that he was walking along the street when he was suddenly dragged into a house and received a crack on the head which knocked him unconscious. When he woke up, he was in the alleyway. He was surprised so completely that he cannot give a very good description of his assailants.

EARTH GETS BEYOND ST. SWITHIN'S CONTROL

St. Swithin has fallen down on his job.

Eight days ago it rained. It did more than that, it poured. The sky seemed to open up and deluge the earth with a steady stream. And everyone said lugubriously, "Today is St. Swithin's Day. It will rain for forty days in succession."

But the next day and the day after, and the day following that and still two other days, the sun shone and the birds sang and people enjoyed themselves, nor did a drop of rain mar the holiday weather. Then someone said, "Where is St. Swithin?" One who knows answered that the world had grown beyond the ken of the good saint—consequently he could only attend to a small part of it at a time. This year he had chosen to make himself known in New York and there it has rained every day since the 15th.

The record of the rainfall of the last eight days as given out by the McGill Observatory is as follows: July 15, .60 inches; July 21, .08 inches, and July 22, .01 inches. This is an average rainfall for this season of the year.

Babies' Bodies are Found in Sewer Packed in Shoe Box

Packed in a discarded shoe box, the tiny bodies of two still-born infants were discovered by a sewer cleaner in a sewer near the corner of Sherbrooke street west and Decarie Boulevard, Notre Dame de Grace, yesterday. The remains were not in any way decomposed and could not have been in the sewer for many hours, but there was nothing on the box or about the bodies to connect anyone with their presence there.

Coroner McMahon has ordered detectives to investigate the case.

FATHER TO HAVE 3 DAUGHTERS HOME

In the Practice Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Martineau ordered the writ to issue, returnable on Monday next, on a petition presented by Donat Brodeur, K.C., on behalf of Francois Pion, for a writ of habeas corpus directed against Paul Laviolette, to get possession of his (Pion's) three young daughters, whom he alleges to be forcibly kept away from him by Laviolette.

The litigation is the outcome of family troubles. Laviolette is the uncle of Pion's daughters and has had the children in his care for years, although it is alleged by Pion he paid for their maintenance.

THE DAY IN COURT

Superior Court. Practice division. July 23, 1919. Morning session.

Presiding, Mr. Justice Martineau.

Judgments were rendered in following cases:

POLO IN SPAIN; THE KING AS A PLAYER

A Madrid Correspondent writes in the London Times.

It was one of Spains privileges to keep the flag of polo flying during the war, and many a pony that would otherwise have been playing in England, or sacrificed to more urgent necessities, found his way across the sea to one or other of the sumptuous stables of Spanish players, who are consequently, compared with English teams, in an exceptionally strong position with regard to ponies.

The game here is confined to one small circle, chiefly of the King's personal friends. There is no military polo, and, with the exception of the Club in Barcelona, which is at present at a disadvantage with regard to ponies, it is not played anywhere except at the Golf Club and the Royal Grounds in the Casa de Campo and at the Royal Palace at Santander—and always among the some dozen or so of players. It is thus, so far, a rather private and personal affair, which attracts little interest outside the circle of the players themselves; and it may be said that it is almost entirely owing to King Alfonso's enthusiasm for the game that it exists in Spain at all.

But for one who has followed it closely through two seasons, and who knows the players and their ponies well, it has a charm and interest of its own, and which it would be hard to match outside this country. The beauty and excellence of the grounds—those at the Casa de Campo are perfect, both in situation and condition—as well as the strong individuality of the players, give it a dramatic and human interest which might be the despair of the captain of a highly-trained English team, but affords an infinite and refreshing variety to the onlooker. The national temperament is to be observed arongly at work; there is hardly such a thing as absolutely steady form, although the first halfdozen players represent a high average; you can never be sure how anyone is going to acquit himself.

THE BEST PLAYERS.

The "stars" are the King, the Duke of Penaranda, and Count Maza, all of whom are known to English players: and such veterans as the Marquess de Villavieja and the Mar-Marquess de San Miguel, who have also played for years in England, are an essential part of the nucleus which keeps up the standard of the game. Penaranda is probably the best all-round player if he keeps in training; but he is closely matched by Maza, who, when he restrains his cowboy enthusiasms and curbs the terrific strength with which he literally hurls his ponies about the ground, is capable of sheer brilliancy.

The King is an uncertain player, although full of fire and energy. You can never be sure that he will play up to his form; also you can never be sure that he will not play surprisingly and brilliantly above it. Although he comes to play after a day of far harder work than is probably done by all the rest put together, he claims no Royal privileges, but asks for and gives a hard battle. He is at his best as No. 1 with Maza and Penaranda behind him as No. 3; and you will then see him score some very pretty goals, his favorite "stunt" being a near-side forward centring shot from the boards, followed by a fast gallop with the ball between the posts.

Villavieja, although he does not play a great deal now, is one of those to whom polo in Spain owes most. He is an enthusiast for the game as it ought to be played, and may be said to stand with Penaranda for the English spirit in polo. His friendly rival in the direction of affairs is the Marquis de Viana. Viana is one of the most interesting figures in the game—and, indeed, in the Spanish Court. He is a wonderful example of the virility of the race. Although no youngster and no lightweight, nothing can curb his boyish energy and delight in what he regards as at once a Royal solemnity and the chief game and pleasure of his medieval summer day. He will sit up all night, perform his mysterious duties as Master of the Horse all morning, lunch enthusiastically, well, and long, and then play seven periods under a blazing sun with a furious energy which might well strike terror into the heart of a nervous opponent.

In San Miguel and the Duke of Arion the Spanish teams possess two strong and steady backs. Both on the slow side, they afford, nevertheless, a foundation on which any first-class team might securely build. They are quite different in their style, but both are safe men to have behind you in a tight place. Arion's hit-out is a great affair, as he comes sailing from behind the line like a charge of mounted police. San Miguel, although given at moments to indulgence in an almost excessive calm, is a player of charmingly even temper, an accurate hitter, always scientific and occasionaly brilliant. The Duke of Santona, who also is well-known in England, seldom plays now, although he occasionally came out last year at Santander. He always put up an inspiring fight for his side, and it was a pleasure to see him throwing every ounce into the game—a contrast to the class of player, not unknown here, who loiters outside the game in the hope of getting a showy and unopposed gallop with the ball into goal.

STEWARDS DISMISS CASE AGAINST LOFTUS.

NEW YORK, July 24.—The investigation of Johnny Loftus by the stewards of the Empire City track ended yesterday. The authorities could find no evidence that the noted jockey rode a criminal race on Willis Sharp Kilmer's Sun Briar in the Mount Vernon Handicap last week and dismissed the case.

Loftus admitted to them that he rode a bad race, but said he believed he was following stable instructions. He said that he had been ordered to hold Sun Briar off the pace and make his run through the stretch. This he did, but when he let Sun Briar down in the homestretch the horse quit from a full to a walk.

The stewards were of the opinion that the jockey used bad judgment, but took into consideration that Sun Briar was not up to a hard race.

TURF NOTES

For the Saritoga handicap of $7,000 at one mile and a quarter to be run on Friday, August 1st, the weights have just been announced.

Cudgel is at top weight under 129 pounds, with Sunbrier, Westy Hoan, Old Rosebud and Sunny Slope following in order.

Sam Hildreth's Purchase is rated best of the three-year-olds elible and is asked to shoulder 118 pounds, which means he is rated the equal of Cudgel and Sunbriar.

Sir Barton is not named, but Billy Kelly is assigned 112 pounds, as is Dunboyne, winner of the Futurity last year.

Eighty-four horses are eligible, including most of the best in training and the weights run down to as low as 90 pounds.

DATE FOR BIG POLO MATCH CHANGED

HEMPSTEAD, N.Y., July 24.—Members of the polo committee have decided upon August 2 instead of July 26 as the date for the polo match which probably will determine the team that will go to England in the spring in an effort to again bring back to this country the international cup which was won in June 1914 by the team sponsored by Lord Wimborne.

Definite arrangements for the match of August 2 were completed today and the players to be drawn from for the game on the International field at Meadowbrook will now be Henry P. Whitney, Devereaux Millburn, L. E. Stoddard, Malcolm Stevenson, Henry Carnegie Phipps, Lieut. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., Cornelius V. Whitney, Charles Cary Rumsey and E. W. Hoppings.

Parking spaces about the field will be sold for $10, and all proceeds will be given to the Nassau Hospital, which is making a drive to obtain $300,000 with which to enlarge its buildings at Mineola, L.I. James C. Cooley is managing the match on behalf of the Polo Association.

KOLTCHAK PARTY NOT REACTIONARY

Two-thirds of His Supporters are Moderate Socialists

ALL STATIONS IN LIFE

Former Russian Envoy to the United States Gives Views

Special Cable to Chicago News and Montreal Star by John F. Bass. Copyright.

PARIS, July 24.—The news from Washington concerning information about the Russian situation which the State Department has been receiving excites adverse comment here.

M. Bakhmetieff, the former Russian Ambassador to the United States, who belonged to the Kerensky group, before leaving for America said that the Russian Nationalists were not reactionaries but came from every station in Russian life and from every political party. Their unity, he said, lay in the profound conviction that Greater Russia would inevitably be re-established.

Two thirds of the people around Admiral Koltchak, said M. Bakhmetieff, were Moderate Socialists and many of them had been affiliated with the Kerensky government. Since Koltchak has been recognized as the chief of Russian state by the Denikin - Cossack government in Southern Russia, half of the territory of Russia and one third of her population had been freed from Bolshevist rule.

Bakhmetieff thought that the American people and their representatives would agree with the nationalist party concerning the Letts, Lithuanians and Esthonians. Those small nations could not stand alone either economically or politically. They should have complete autonomy but should form a part of Great Russia when re-established.

Druggists Fight Who Can Sell Scotch Whiskey the Cheapest

Special to The Star.

WINNIPEG, Man., July 24.—There is a price war now raging among local druggists competing for the liquor trade. During the last three months prices in some drug shops have been reduced one-half, it is reported. Here are the latest prices for quart bottles: Scotch whiskey, $2.50; rye whiskey, $2.25; Geneva gin, $2.25; brandy, $3.00.

Distillers report that they are short of supplies and importers say that Scotch whiskey can be bought cheaper in Winnipeg than in Scotland.

CONCERT WAS FORBIDDEN.

DUBLIN, July 2.—A dramatic and concert entertainment which had been arranged to take place in Waterford last week was forbidden by the military authorities. The concert was in aid of the staff of the "Waterford News," who were disemployed by the suppression of the paper a few weeks ago. The patriotic drama, "Ireland First" was to have been produced by the Sinn Fein Club dramatic class.

TENDER GUMS —A WARNING

Beware of gum tenderness that warns of Pyorrhea. Four out of five people over forty have Pyorrhea—many under forty also. Loosening teeth indicate Pyorrhea. Bleeding gums, too. Remember—these inflamed, bleeding gums act as so many doorways for disease germs to enter the system—infecting the joints or tonsils—or causing other ailments.

Forhan's positively prevents Pyorrhea, if used in time and used consistently. As it hardens the gums the teeth become firmer.

Brush your teeth with Forhan's. It cleans the teeth scientifically—keeps them white and clean.

If gum shrinkage has already set in, start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

35c and 60c tubes. All Druggists.
