FOR FINANCIAL ALLIANCE WITH ALL THE ALLIES

Former Italian Finance Minister Says Extraordinary Steps Must Be Taken Immediately if Europe is to Avoid Momentary Absorption

Special Star Cable by Luigi Tazzatti, former Minister of Finance for Italy.

PARIS, August 30.—A financial alliance between the Allies is urgently needed for the mutual protection of their markets. The pulse beats of France, Great Britain and Russia—that is, the exchange rates—give no true indication of the health of these nations. Extraordinary measures must be taken immediately if Europe is to avoid monetary absorption by America.

England and France must remain the leaders of the world's money markets. It is illogical and false that Germany's rate for exchange should so closely approximate that of France. The difference ought to be enormous.

Financial and business alliances are always more difficult to make than alliances of hearts and armies, but the Allies must build up this necessary rampart. The great banks must get together and provide a monetary peace.

TO CENTRALIZE CONTROL.

The treasuries of France, England, Russia and Italy ought to organize a great central institution to take care of their national debts and remove the wide difference between their rates of exchange due to the huge note circulation, while the normal imports are not being offset by exports.

The Financial Secretary of Germany in his latest speech said:

"Our $6,000,000,000 war debts, and others that will be necessary, will be paid by the vanquished nations."

Even should Germany prove victorious—which we firmly believe is impossible—which of the vanquished nations could pay such a bill, as well as support its own war indebtedness? Only by a bankruptcy of civilization and a return to slavery could Germany's absurd financial pretensions be realized.

SECRET AGENTS OF GERMANY SEEK TO SCARE RUSSIANS

Special Star Cable by International News.

PETROGRAD, August 30. — That agents of Germany are secretly attempting to spread panic among the Russian people in order to create a demand for peace is the charge made in an official statement issued at the War Office today.

As a result of discoveries made by Russian Secret Service officers, it was later learned, more than 200 men and women have been arrested. Though posing as patriotic Russians, these persons were in reality German citizens in the pay of the Berlin Government, Russian officials assert.

The War Office statement follows:

"Among the unworthy methods to which our enemies are resorting are the following:

"Attempts are made to spread through neutral countries mendacious, revolting appeals, describing exaggerated victories. The enemy is endeavoring to impress public opinion with the necessity for concluding peace.

HOW CENSOR IS EVADED.

"In order to evade the censorship, these appeals are secretly smuggled in different articles imported. Such appeals have been found in blocks of photographic papers, in cardboard cases, in millimetric blocks destined for architects and engineers, and in boxes of chocolate circulated by supposed friends of Russia.

"These appeals constitute an illintentioned distortion of the real situation, with the object of causing disturbance and alarm to the population.

"The General Staff warns the public as to the real origin and significance of these appeals, in the conviction that the great Russian people will not be shaken."

ARREST SUSPECT AS ACCOMPLICE IN DYNAMITE CASE

By Canadian Press.

DETROIT, Mich., August 30. — While at a picnic on Canadian soil soil last night, Charles Respa, alias Schmidt, for whom the Dominion authorities have been searching in connection with the dynamite explosions at Walkerville, Ont., two months ago, was taken in custody on Bois Blanc Island.

Respa's home is in Detroit. It is charged that he was one of three or more persons of German descent living in Detroit, who had conspired to destroy the Peabody Overall plant at Walkerville, the Windsor Armory, and other buildings used for military purposes.

Respa was taken to the Walkerville jail and a guard of five policemen placed about his cell. It was announced that he will be arraigned on a charge of attempting to destroy private and public property.

SERVING LONG TERM.

William Lefler, who is serving a term of ten years in the penitentiary at Kingston, Ont., is alleged to have implicated Respa and Albert Kaltschmidt, another Detroiter, in a confession. Kaltschmidt is living in Detroit. He cannot be extradited.

As Respa was being ferried across to Amherstburg he placed his hand in his pocket and took out a letter, which he quickly threw overboard. The movement, however, was not lost upon the officers, who stopped the boat and recovered the letter. It is written entirely in German, is addressed to a man with a German name in New York city and is signed "Carl."

ACCUSED SAYS NOTHING.

Arraigned before Magistrate Miera in the Walkerville Police Court this morning, Respa, stood mute when two charges, one of conspiring to dynamite the Peabody Overall plant at Walkerville, and the other charging the actual commission of the deed were read to him.

The accused was remanded for eight days to permit the prosecution to gather the evidence necessary to proceed with his preliminary examination.

SOLD HORSE FULL OF LIFE AT LOSS AS WAR REMOUNT

Nervous of Street Cars and Unsuitable for Livery Business

ONE ANIMAL HAD TOUCH OF ROARS

Witness Fails to Identify Receipt for Horse Signed in His Name

By Canadian Press.

HALIFAX, August 30.—The sale of a spirited bay mare for $150 which a year before had cost $350 was explained by George Robinson, Halifax, to the War Contracts Commission this morning. Robinson said the mare was full of life. She was between nine and ten years old.

"Were the spirits of the mare the reason for your selling at a discount?" asked the Commisison counsel, Mr. Thompson.

Robinson said the mare was nervous of street cars and unsuitable for livery purposes. This animal and a bay gelding he sold for $170, were quite sound. Dr. Gough was the veterinary surgeon.

THOUGHT WORTH MORE.

Fred Harrison, a local liveryman, got Fader to sell a horse for him to the remount buyers. Two years before this the horse had cost him $250. It had a touch of the roars. He did not remember whether he knew of this before he bought it, but could say it did not interfere with its work. Fader only got $150 for the horse and he (witness) thought it worth more.

Frank Fraser, Halifax, was paid by Government buyers $155 for a light bay horse which a year before had cost him $125, and $140 for a dark bay, which eleven months before was purchased at auction for $115. Dr. Gough said their ages were eight and nine, respectively. He thought the light bay was between ten and eleven.

A MYSTERIOUS RECEIPT.

Hugh Fraser sold six horses which cost him $1140 for $900. He did not want to winter them. They were all perfectly sound. Witness said one of his men took the horses to the sale, as he was ill in the hospital at the time. Dr. Gough brought the money for the horses to witness' office in two parcels, $290 in one and $610 in another. No receipts were signed.

Fraser was shown a receipt with the figures $160 on it and his name.

Witness said none of his horses was sold for this sum, while the name was not in his writing.

Edward Latter, Halifax, sold a horse which cost him $73 for $160. When he got the animal he considered he had a "snap," as it was perfectly sound.

THE SOUNDEST EVER.

William Robinson, Halifax, who sold four horses, gave their pedigrees, and when pressed for an opinion on their soundness, said they were "the soundest horses that ever walked on iron." He got $560 for the four. One he bought for $50 when it was lame, but it had improved. The witness accepted one signature on the receipt as his, but disavowed another.

William Maynott, Halifax, who paid $60 for a thirteen-year-old horse, four years later, last August, sold it to the remount agents for $140. It was slightly sprung forward.

John Gough, brother of Dr. Gough, was asked by Mr. Thompson, the Commission counsel, if he knew anything about a horse being stolen.

Gough said he had heard some talk. He shipped sixty-nine to Valcartier and went with them.

Mr. Thompson said seventy were purchased here.

REPUTATION AT STAKE.

Counsel then said to Gough—"You had better get your brother back from West Virginia, if you can do it; his reputation is at stake."

Sir Charles Davidson also remarked to witness: "I would suggest that you telegraph your brother and inform him that evidence affecting his honor and personal character had been given here."

Gough promised to wire his brother and inform the Commission of his reply.

Thos. Myra, Halifax, questioned by Mr. Thompson, denied that he gave Gough $20 after dealing with the remount buyers. He paid him a bill, amounting to around $14, for attending his horses, some of which he had owed for several years.

"Have you a receipt for that money?" asked Sir Charles Davidson.

Witness said he was afraid it had been destroyed.

Mr. Thompson then instructed Gough to bring his brother's cash books to court.

GERMANS FIND ARMIES CAUGHT IN VAST MARSH

Weather Condition Now Fighting for Russians in Poland

NEW GALICIAN DRIVE BEGINS

Fourth Effort to Catch Army of Grand Duke Being Made

Special Star Cable by International News.

PETROGRAD, August 30.—Terrific storms are raging in Western Russia. Rain has swollen the rivers until they are out of their banks, and the marshes along the Pripet river and tributaries of the Dniester and Bug are becoming impassable morasses.

The German troops will be greatly handicapped in their advance by the heavy rains, which are the beginning of the autumn storms. It is believed that the Austro-German armies will have to abandon their attempts to get artillery across the marshes and that for several weeks the campaign will be waged with cavalry forces.

This will be to the advantage of the Russians, the Cossacks having proved their superiority over the Germans in every engagement which has occurred.

Germans Interned in the Marshes

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, August 30.—Frederick Rennet sends the following to the Daily News:

"Petrograd, August 30.—Heavy fighting is now engaging the whole Russian line from the Western Dvina to the Dniester. In the Baltic region the Germans, after advancing seven miles northward from the river Niemen, in the course of three days, now are interned in the region of the swamps and forests extending to the western Dvina.

Their object here is to break the Russian front on the Dvina and to compell the evacuation of Riga. The Russians are successfully preventing this plan by advancing in the direction of Poniewitz and threatening the rear of the Germans on the river's Missau.

"In the districts of Bielostok and Vilna the Russians are conducting very stubborn rearguard fights, screening the retreat of the main body from the line of the Niemen.

"It is clear that both the German armies operating at Vilna and Bielostok intend if possible to meet at Grodno and so clinch the Russians, but the Russians are retreating with great deliberation, giving themselves time in which to evacuate Vilna and Bielostok.

The Germans, and still more the Austrians, both officers and men, have been worn out both in strength and in spirit during this interminable advance."

ASSURED OF SAFETY NOW.

Unless Field Marshal von Mackensen's cavalry, of which he now is using large numbers, succeed in getting ahead of the Russian armies retreating through Bielolesh forest, the marshes of the Pripet and along the Plinsk Railway, military men here say the main Russian forces are assured of a safe arrival at the new positions prepared for them.

The effective resistance of the units in Courland, who are preventing any appreciable advance from the Aa by Field-Marshal von Hindenberg, has disposed of German hopes to cut off the retreat to Vilna and Lida, and has thrown the responsibility for obtaining a decisive result on the Austro-German armies which broke through Kovel and south of Brest-Litovsk.

At the same time cavalry and infantry, turning to the right from a point about midway between Vladimir Volinsky and Kovel, are attempting to roll up the right wing of the extreme southern Russian army. This operation is in progress in conjunction with the new Austro-German offensive on the Zlota Lipa, in Southeastern Galicia.

ANOTHER IMMENSE DRIVE.

Here, between the Lemberg-Brody railway and the Dniester, the Teutonic allies are directing an immense pressure that has forced back the Russians on a thirty-mile front for more than ten miles.

The reports from this section on Saturday that the Russian line had broken near Brzezany obviously were exaggerated. What seems to have occurred was a general assault on a wide front, in which the Austro-Germans crossed the river, dislodged the Russians and forced a general retreat in that sector. Nowhere, however, did the Russian units lose touch and thus permit the opposing forces to effect a distinct breach in the line.

There is a general belief here that the Galician offensive means a broad Austro-German drive on the Lusk-Dubno-Rovno fortified triangle which guards the Russian province of Volhynia from invasion from Galicia.

The triangle occupies a position in relation to Kieff such as the Kovno, Grodno and Ossowetz fortresses occupied to Vilna, and it is to the protection of the triangle which forms a part of the new Russian defence line that the armies in Galicia are expected to retire.

COALITION CABINET FOR WAR.

PETROGRAD, August 30.—Formation of a coalition Cabinet to direct the affairs of Russia for the remainder of the war was urged at a great meeting in Moscow, according to despatches received here today.

Duma members and representative leaders organized the meeting. Resolutions were adopted, declaring that the war should be continued regardless of its cost, but urging the immediate formation of a non-political ministry.

WHAT BERLIN HAS HEARD.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

BERLIN, via London, August 30.—Three hundred thousand Russian troops are reported here to be in grave danger of being cut off entirely from the armies to the north by the new Austro-German offensive in the south-east.

The right wing of this Russian army is under heavy attack by flying columns of German cavalry and large bodies of Austrian infantry. The Austro-Germans are smashing hard at the Slav front between Kovel and Lusk, threatening to turn the enemy's flank.

At the other end of this battle front the Slavs, it is declared, are being thrown back upon a line from Brody stretching southward through Tarnopol. In their pursuit east of Brzezany the Austrians are approaching the Strypa River, according to Vienna advices today.

Around Brest-Litovsk and before Vilna the Russians continue their retreat. The Bavarians under Prince Leopold, pressing through the forests north of Brest-Litovsk, are within ten miles of the Brest-Litovsk-Minsk railway, moving eastward on the Prushany road.

GERMANS MAY ENTRENCH.

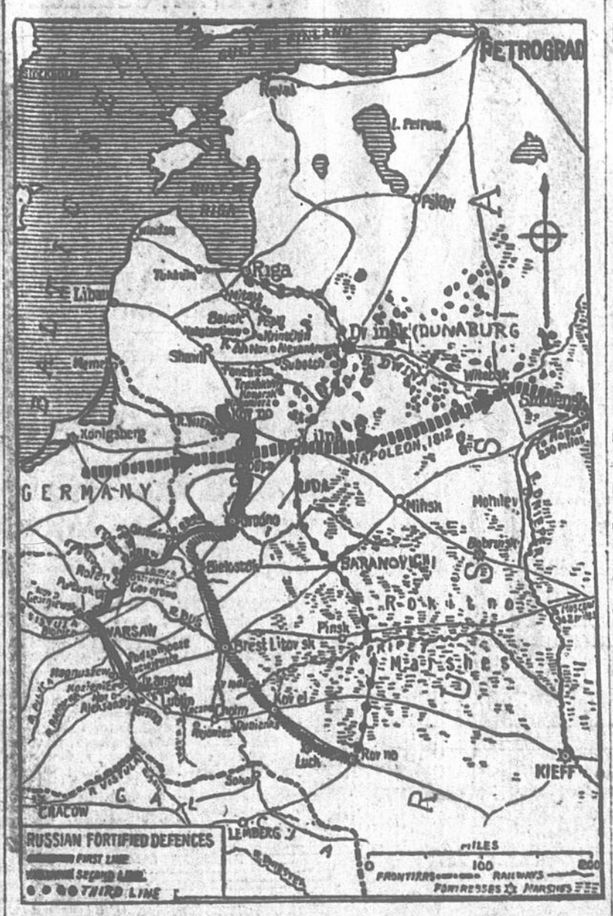

Special Star Cable by International News.

FRANKFORT, Germany, August 30. — The Gazette forecasts the German military policy in Russia during the coming winter as follows:

"It is to be supposed that the Germans will entrench themselves and not venture into the marshes so fatal to Napoleon, waiting for spring to see whether the Russians will about face. In the meanwhile they will send forward the troops that can be disposed of."

LAUSANNE, August 30. — According to advices from Vienna, Austria has called to arms the class of 1897. It is understood there are about 200,000 of these 18-year-old soldiers.

RUSSIA'S THIRD DEFENCE LINE

The military defence lines of Russia are, shown above—three in number. It was not originally intended by the Russian general staff to have three lines, but on the representations of France after the Franco-Russian treaty was negotiated, Russia decided to make the first line of strength Lomza-Novo Georgievsk-Ivangorod. The first first line as originally intended was Kovno - Grodno - Bialystok - Brest-Litovsk and the banks of the Bug to the frontier. With this as first line the second was to be—what is now the third—Riga-Dvinsk (Dunsburg) - Vilna-Lida - Baranovitschi-Pinsk-Rovno. To this line, apparently, the Russians are now falling back because it offers so many natural, formidable defences, at the same time increasing the difficulty in German communication lines. From Riga to Dvinsk the high-banked Dvina River offers an excellent barrier to Teutonic advance; from Dvinsk to Vilna there is no protecting river, but what is more formidable for invaders, innumerable lakes, great and small, with accompanying marsh lands. From Vilna to Lida and Baranovitschi there are marshes and bogs to assist defence which in the sectors of Pinsk develop into an area of swamp more than twenty times the size of the whole of Massachusetts. The Pripet marshes prevent anything in the way of a flanking movement from the south, while the interminable lakes and swamps to the northeast and north of the Dvinsk-Riga sectors practically preclude any flanking movement on the Russian right. This line is splendidly chosen, for it secures the Russians a parallel railroad behind the lines for the entire distance, a factor of first importance. This front held, there is no approach in the direction of Petrograd secure to the Germans, as railroads conecting Warsaw and Petrograd go through this Russian third-defence line at Dvinsk. The sole feasible chance for the enemy is in the capture and control of Riga—whence a long roundabout railway runs north to the Gulf of Finland, thence east along the gulf shore to Petrograd. In this event, the Russian right would fall back to Pskov, thence north with the great lake of Peipus in the front to the Gulf of Finland. To the aid of this Russian line has now come bad weather.

ITALIANS EFFECT A LANDING ALONG COAST OF TURKEY

Several Transports Have Reached Gallipoli, it is Reported—German Trenches Blown Up by the French in Argonne

Special Star Cable by International News.

ATHENS, August 30. — Several transports carrying Italian troops have reached the Turkish coast, according to a despatch from Mitylene, and several regiments have effected a landing.

The message does not state at what point the Italians are landing, but it is believed to be on Gallipoli Peninsula or near Smyrna.

Special Star Cable by International News.

LONDON, August 30. — A Central News despatch, dated "In the North of France," says:

"The Allies have begun a furious bombardment of the German positions. An attack attempted by a strong German force west of Lille was stopped by artillery."

GERMAN TRENCHES BLOWN UP.

PARIS, August 30.—Whole sections of German trenches were blown out by a concerted attack by French artillery and explosion of mines last night, the War Office reported this afternoon.

The damage was most severe at Court Chausses, Meurissons and Bolante. The French inflicted heavy losses on the Teutons by attacks with grenades immediately afterward.

There were no important engagements of infantry on the battle front last night.

The French official report this afternoon says:

"Yesterday evening saw severe artillery fighting, accompanied by the explosion of mines and engagements with bombs and hand grenades at a large number of positions in the Argonne district.

"The trenches of the enemy were seriously damaged at Courtes Chaussees, Meurissons and at Bolante.

"The advent of night brought relative quiet to this region, as well as on the rest of the front."

ITALIANS' GREAT FEAT.

Special Star Cable by International News.

ROME, Aug. 30. — Fighting on the edge of precipices and engaging in hand-to-hand combats on crags high in the air, the Italian soldiers attempting to take the Austrian positions on Monte Rombon, in the Upper Isonzo region, are slowly but steadily gaining ground, according to a despatch received from Udine today.

The Alpine troops have already ascended the mountain for 5,000 feet, but the Austrians hold the summit 2,000 feet above. An entire company of Alpine troops was swept away on Saturday when the Austrians loosened an avalanche of rocks.

Another company narrowly escaped the same fate, but these men ascended the steep path made by the avalanche and gained 1,000 feet before the Austrians were able to check them with their rifle fire.

ITALY'S ENORMOUS ADVANTAGE

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, Aug. 30. — A correspondent of the Daily Telegraph in the Adige Valley says:

During the last eight days I have visited many places on the north-western line between Austria and Italy, and about 170 miles of the frontier mountain chain chosen by the Austrians.

One was struck by the enormous advantage Italy has secured in this area.

The Italian army has won territory of inestimable worth to the Austrians, and Italy's position is immeasurably superior to what it was at the opening of the campaign.

At some points I have been fully ten kilometres into what was Austria before the end of May, and in other districts the advance has been quite as great.

STRIKE OF MINERS IS THREATENED TOMORROW IF TERMS ARE REFUSED

Miners Want Six Turns of Pay for Five Turns of Work Done—Conference of Vital Import Between Government, Owners and Miners in London Today

Special Star Cable by International News.

CARDIFF, August 30. — Local leaders of the South Wales coal miners announced today that a general strike, affecting every colliery, would be called unless an agreement should be reached by Tuesday at the London conference and the men granted more concessions. Such a strike call would take out 300,000 men, they asserted.

One thousands more miners struck today.

Special Star Cable by International News.

LONDON, August 30.—Coal operators and miners today met the Minister of Munitions, Lloyd George, and Walter Runciman, President of the Board of Trade, in the most important conference ever held by representatives of labor, capital and the Government.

While the immediate issue before the conference was the demand of the miners for more concessions than were granted in the recent decision of Mr. Runciman, the meeting was in reality to determine whether the British Government should in the future have the complete support of the Miners' Federation — a support rendered necessary by the ever-increasing demand for more ammunition.

MINERS' ATTITUDE ADAMANT.

A general strike of 200,000 to 300,000 South Wales coal miners, unless the present conferences settles the dispute, was predicted by the miner's officials.

Mass meetings were held throughout the Wales coal districts on Sunday. The spirit of the men was adamant. They cheered speakers who accused the mine-owners of taking huge war profits and refusing to share them with the workers, and denounced the Government's arbitration award. The majority of the meetings adopted resolutions favoring a walk-out on Wednesday if no agreement is reached today.

The only ray of hope to the Government this morning was the news that 3,000 strikers in the Monmouthshire district have returned to work. It was said, however, that these men went back at the urging of the miners' Executive Council, who asked that all miners remain at work pending attempts to reach a settlement. Strikers in other districts remained out.

WHAT THE MEN WANT

Put briefly, the demand of the men is for six turns of pay for five turns of work rendered.

Meanwhile, the majority of the miners are working on day-to-day contracts and the number of actual strikers has not increased.

The Daily Mail's correspondent at Cardiff asked the leaders whether the miners realized the glee with which the Germans viewed the prospect of another strike. They replied that if the men thought there was a real danger of their nation being ruled by Germany they would not think of striking or of making any other resistance.

More than 95 per cent of the miners have relatives in the army, the leaders told the interviewer, but they added that the miners knew their employers were getting big profits and they did not see why they should be accused of lack of patriotism because they wanted a share in those profits, which would enable them to meet the increased cost of living.

DESTRUCTION OF LONDON AS HOPE OF THE GERMANS

Press Campaign Urges More Zeppelin Raids on England—Would Send Entire Fleet to Heart of the Country to Work Havoc and Ruin

Special Star Cable by International News.

LONDON, Aug. 30. — A very decided campaign in favor of more air raids on England is being carried on in the German press. The leading Berlin journals urge the Government to turn all attention possible to attacks on the British people in their homes, and declare that nothing less than the destruction of London will satisfy Germany.

The leaders of this propaganda call upon the Government to send the entire fleet of Zeppelins to the heart of England to create havoc and ruin that cannot soon be forgotten. Perhaps the most fiery demand upon the Government is printed in the Taglische Rundscha.

NO BETTER TARGET.

"Justice, every element of human justice," says this paper, "demands the destruction of London. There is in the whole world no better target for aerial attack than the city of London, that gigantic, complex assemblage of lofty ancient warehouses with their enormous stores of all descriptions and their inviting situation in narrow streets. If only such raids can be repeated again and again, the result will be assured."

The Neuste Nachrichten encourages its readers by asserting that London already has been partially destroyed by the Zeppelin raiders, and declaring that the remainder is soon to go.

"Our brave air heroes," says the paper, "are not inspired by blind hatred or raging anger, but a solemn and religious awe at being the chosen instruments of a Divine wrath."

"When they see London breaking up in smoke and fire they will live through a thousand lives of immeasurable joy which all at home must envy. At last the long-yearned-for punishment will fall on England and its people."

MAY FOLLOW PLAN OF EACH LOCALITY PROVIDING QUOTA

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, August 30. — The News of the World says that a Cabinet committee, consisting of Lord Selborne, the Marquis of Crewe, Winston Spencer Churchill, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Curzon and Arthur Henderson, is preparing a report on the whole question of recruiting and enlistment.

The newspaper hints that the report will recommend that the United Kingdom follow the South African precedent under which each locality is obliged to furnish its quota of men.

Paying Good Dividends

Diamonds pay large dividends on their cost. Ten years ago you might have purchased a Diamond for less than half its present price, making an average rate of 10% advance each year. Present conditions and the ever increasing demand for an article of which the supply is limited indicates that this rate of increase will continue. This is true of all Diamonds and infinitely more so of first water Diamonds of which the Birks' stock is exclusively composed.

DRAMATIC ART SCHOOL PLANNED FOR THIS CITY

Miss Barney and Mr. Ancker to Open One in Plamondon Studios

SEVERAL STUDENTS ALREADY PROMISED

Co-operation with Leading Singing and Dancing Teachers

Montreal is to have a School of Dramatic Art. This will be opened within a few days, it is stated, at the Plamondon Studios, 628 St. Catherine street west, and will afford opportunities for a complete course in the art of acting, stage technique, make-up, etc.

Miss Barney and Mr. Ancker, who have made many friends during last season at His Majesty's theatre, and who are severing their connection with His Majesty's Players in order to open this school, have already met with much encouragement. A number of pupils from prominent families in the city have been assured them, and they have the financial support of two prominent Montreal business men.

Miss Barney, whose long and varied stage experience, as well as her special studies in elocution qualify her eminently for the work she is undertaking, will pay special attention to elocution classes, as well as acting, and will conduct these herself.

Mr. Ancker, whose work in stock over a period of years, and whose knowledge of stage technique have won for him recognition, will devote himself more particularly to the purely technical side of stage work, including details of make-up, etc.

It is the intention of Miss Barney and Mr. Ancker to establish co-operation with leading singing and dancing masters in the city, so that those pupils who reveal talent in either direction may take lessons in dancing and singing along with their dramatic course.

The dramatic classes, which will be run conjointly by Miss Barney and Mr. Ancker, will be held in the evenings, and individual lessons will be given in the afternoons.

It is the intention of the directors of the school not to retain in the classes any pupil who, after a given number of lessons does not manifest such ability as would, in their opinion, warrant him or her in spending any more money in tuition.

Public Appearances Will Be Guaranteed

Public performances of plays will be given as soon as the class, in the directors' opinion, is sufficiently advanced to do justice to the plays to be studied. These performances will not, it is stated, be amateur performances, but such as will entitle those taking part in them to be considered competent for professional appearances.

The terms, it is announced, will be reasonable. There is no intention of offering a complete course for a lump sum. The charge will be so much per lesson, and care will be taken to eliminate every element of false encouragement to pupils.

A number of local amateurs have expressed their satisfaction that such an institution as Miss Barney and Mr. Ancker propose to establish has at last become a practical scheme in Montreal. There are many ambitious students of the stage who have hitherto lacked the opportunity to follow up their inclinations in this direction. The School of Dramatic Art, it is anticipated, will remedy the deficiency and afford them the opportunity desired.

Provided the scheme for this school is carried out along the lines originally planned, and outlined above, there seems to be no reason why it should not, in the hands of experienced and competent directors, meet with a distinct measure of success. Progress with such institutions is of necessity slow, but once firmly established, they can be made of much practical use.—S.M.P.

The marriage of Miss Edith K. Wells, daughter of the late George B. Wells, to Mr. F. H. Rowe took place at St. John's Church, Waterville, Que., on the 18th inst., in the presence of their immediate relatives and many interested friends. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. J. P. Wells, wore her travelling dress of battleship grey with toque to match and carried a white prayer-book. The church was very prettily decorated with a profusion of sweet peas and maidenhair fern, and the choir, with which Miss Wells has been connected for some time as organist, sang, "O, Perfect Love" at the beginning of the service. Among many beautiful presents may be mentioned those which were given to show appreciation of the active and kindly interest which Miss Wells has always taken in church work in the parish. Mr. and Mrs. Rowe left on the noon express for a short holiday at Portland, Me.

Murdock MacQuarrie will be seen in some of his wonderful character-acting in the two-reel drama, "His Beloved Violin." In the nature of comedies there are Eddie Lyons, Victoria Forde and Lee Moran in "Toney the Wo—" and Ben Wilson and Dorothy Phillips in "A Seashore Romeo," both guaranteed to drive away any depression in spirits with good, wholesome laughter. There is also an exceptionally strong single-reel drama, "Dr. Mason's Temptation," with M. K. Wilson, Helen Leslie and others in it.

For the change of programme on Monday and the following day the ninth episode of the Broken Coin will be given; a clever drama in two parts, "The Substitute Widow," with Frances Nelson and Hobart Henley; a clever detective story, "The Disappearing Necklace," with Charles Cummings, Ollie Kirby, and Frank Jonnasson included in the cast; and "His Lucky Vacation," a rattling comedy with Billie Rhodes and Herbert Stanley playing. Some other interesting features are promised for mid-week.

MAKING OTTAWA UNIVERSITY INTO FRENCH COLLEGE

Eight English-Speaking Priests Have Left the Staff This Summer

QUEBEC OBLATES SUCCEED IN OBJECT

Question Now Where Students Can Get Higher Education

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, August 30.—The opinion of English-speaking Catholics concerning recent changes on the staff of Ottawa University, and their future attitude towards that institution are indicated by the following announcement made by the Rev. Dr. O'Gorman in the Blessed Sacrament Church, yesterday:—

Many English-speaking Catholics, anxious to give their sons that most valuable of all heritages, a sound Catholic secondary and higher education, are to put it mildly grieved at the turn things have taken at Ottawa University. When Ottawa College, then an English College, was in 1889 given the title of a Catholic University, hopes were entertained by the English-speaking Catholics of Canada, especially those of Ontario, that they would soon have a real English Catholic University. A certain development has, indeed, taken place at Ottawa College; but it was not the expected development of an English College into an English University; it was rather the transformation of an English College into a French College.

AIM AT FRENCH COLLEGE.

The Quebec French Oblates who own and control Ottawa University have aimed at making it a French College, and, we might as well admit, they have succeeded. An English course still exists in the institution, but it holds the rank merely of a Cinderella in the house. Eight English-speaking priests have been dismissed or have resigned from the staff this summer. Of the forty-three priests still connected with the institution, only three are English-speaking; and of these two are curates of St. Joseph's Parish, while the third is yet a student of theology. It has been officially announced that one lay teacher with a University degree, who is expected to arrive together with a few lay teachers, who have second class certificates, that is, who are qualified to teach in primary schools, will form the rest of the English-speaking staff of this University. Whether the instruction of the Roman Congregation of the Propaganda to the Superior General of the Oblates of Mary Imaculate, in 1902, directing him "to procure for the literary and scientific courses in the University, a teaching staff possessed of desirable qualifications, in order to ensure for the institution a large attendance, and to gain for it the sympathy and support of the people," is being carried out by dispensing with practically the whole qualified English-speaking staff of the University I leave to those competent to decide. I am not now complaining or criticizing; I am merely stating a few public and patent facts.

MUST GO FAR AFIELD.

The practical question remains, now that Ottawa University is overwhelmingly French, is where can English-speaking boys best get a Catholic secondary and higher education? There is little difficulty as regards our girls. They can get a secondary education at either of our city convent schools, and can follow an Arts course in Lorette Abbey College, Toronto, or in St. Joseph's College Acadamy, Toronto. Let us hope that more young ladies from this section of the province will avail themselves of the excellent opportunities for University education in those latter institutions.

As far as our boys are concerned, they, too, if they travel sufficiently far, can find excellent English Catholic Colleges. To begin with, there is one English-speaking University in Canada, St. Francis Xavier, at Antigonish, N.S. Antigonish University has an arts course, a general science course, and the initial years of an engineering and of a law course. Being a university strictly speaking, it does not go in for high school work. Its professors are all specialists who have degrees from the best universities in Europe and America, and the University, now that it at last being provided with funds by generous benefactors, has a very promising future before it.

TO FURTHER EDUCATION.

Of the English Catholic Colleges which give both the high school and arts course, the two nearest Ottawa are Loyola College, Montreal, and St. Michael's College, Toronto. Loyola College is conducted by the Jesuit Fathers, and is about to move into new palatial buildings in a beautiful section of Montreal. St. Michael's College, Toronto, directed by the Basilican Fathers, is now a Federated College of the University of Toronto; its students prepare for the University of Toronto degrees.

Those anticipating studying theology can find an excellent course of philosophy in St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. To send a young man away to one of these institutions may involve some inconvenience or even sacrifice; but the result to be obtained, a Catholic education, repays amply the efforts made. Catholic education can be furthered, not by complaints, however justified, but by deeds.

Gayety Theatre Opens Tonight

The Gayety theatre begins its season today with the Joe Hurtig show, "The Girl Trust." Heading the list of comedians is Frank A. Burt, well known to followers of burlesque. This season he has a part that suits him admirably.

The Gayety theatre has been redecorated throughout and presents a fine appearance, and the prospects of a good season are bright with the majority of the shows like the opener, new to Montreal. In the cast on the feminine contingent is Miss Maudie Heath, one of the cleverest soubrettes on the circuit. Miss Heath is a recruit from musical comedy, and has appeared here before with considerable success.

The ladies' matinees which were inaugurated last season will be continued this year.

FOUR YOUTHS IN FATAL ACCIDENTS OVER THE WEEK END

Michael Morin, aged 16, drowned.
Donat Tessier, aged 13, drowned.
Toby Sicchire, aged 6, run over by cart.
Louise Pariselle, aged 10, burned to death.

The above are the fatal accidents of the week-end, and it is quite possible that several more may be included. J. B. Aubin, 77 years of age, was knocked down by an automobile on St. Lawrence Boulevard and Fairmount street on Saturday. He was dangerously injured, and is in a critical condition at the Hotel Dieu.

Michael Morin, who was a brass polisher on the steamer Anglo-Brazilian, fell into the water when he attempted to pass hand-over-hand along one of the cables holding the vessel to the shore. He fell between boat and pier and was not seen again.

Donat Tessier was playing with other children on the bank of the Lachine Canal near Cote St. Paul, when he fell in yesterday afternoon. His companions tried to help, but he soon disappeared. Late in the afternoon policemen from the Turcot police station found the body, which was taken to the parents' home at 62 Coursol street.

Toby Sicchire, 178 Lagauchetiere street east, died in the General Hospital from injuries when he was run over by a cart on Friday on Cote des Neiges road. The police have no report of how the accident occurred.

Matches are supposed to be the cause of the death of Louise Pariselia, of 206 Letourneux street. She was playing with other youngsters in a field near her home, when her clothing caught fire.

The other children were powerless to assist.

OTHER ACCIDENTS.

"Bitten by a lion" is the entry made in the General Hospital records in the case of Tony Williams, a member of the circus which is showing at Maisonneuve these days. Williams, who takes care of the lions, had his back turned for a moment, when a lioness sprang on him. The gravest fears are for blood poisoning.

In a collision on St. Antoine and Inspector strets on Saturday afternoon, the car of Dr. George Lonergan, 226 Des Ormeaux street, was badly smashed. He escaped injuries.

Felix St. Martin, a driver for the Montreal Public Service Corporation, was run into by a motor car on Saturday night. He also escaped injuries. The auto got away without being identified.

TWO OTHER DEATHS.

"Accidental" was the verdict by the coroner's juries in the cases of George Peat and Mrs. C. Hubillard, which were heard on Saturday. Peat, a newsboy of 13 years, was struck by an auto on Ontario street on Friday. Mrs. Robillard, aged 58, was killed when her clothing caught fire from an exploding lamp on Thursday night.

CONVICTS MADE ESCAPE AND ARE STILL AT LARGE

Two convicts, who escaped from the penitentiary of St. Vincent de Paul on Saturday by breaking away from a stone quarry gang and getting to cover, are still at large.

The men were William Parker, alias Skelton, serving a three-year term for burglary, and Patrick O'Brien, doing the last leg of a nine-year sentence, also for burglary. Parker has one year and O'Brien fifteen months yet to serve.

With twenty-four other convicts, the two were at work in a stone quarry some distance from the penitentiary, under an armed guard. Suddenly, when the guards were not looking they made a dash for a patch of woods about 150 yards away. The guards opened fire just as the men were about to disappear among the trees. They were under cover quickly.

All day Saturday and yesterday the search was kept up by guards with rifles and armed citizens of the town of St. Vincent de Paul. It is believed that they are hidden among the woods not far from the penitentiary, hoping to escape detection until the pursuit has slackened. All trains, both passenger and freight, on the C.P.R. line are being closely watched, and the track itself is being patrolled. The police of Montreal are watching, too, lest Parker and O'Brien should try to escape in this direction.

Parker was sent to the penitentiary two years ago for burglaries in the North End. O'Brien was sentenced seven years ago. Both men have been of good conduct previously.

CANON ALMOND IS FULL OF PRAISE FOR CANADIANS

Lauds Men of the Army Service Corps in Special Way

NO OFFENSIVE ON THE WEST

Says His Opinion is Nothing Will Be Done Until Spring

"It was a privilege to work among them. There never was a finer, more gallant, or more heroic body of men than those of the First Canadian Division."

This was the answer of Lieut.-Col., the Rev. Canon Almond, senior chaplain of the Division, who returned on two months' leave on the Missanabie last evening. Optimism, enthusiasm and confidence shone through every thing he said. A mother whose boy is at the front called the vestry while The Star reporter was present. She wanted news of her son.

"I saw him just before I left France," said the chaplain in his hearty voice, a voice which can soften with sympathy over the cots in the hospitals. "He was fine. Don't worry about him. He's playing a great game, the greatest game in the world, and he's playing it like a real man. You have every reason to be proud of him."

Little was said of the scenes at the front. It is the spirit of the men that has captured Lieut.-Col. Almond.

"You cannot daunt them," he said. "They are all in the best of spirits and they are confident. As you move among them, talk with them, listen to them chatting together about the war, one thing stands out. To a man they believe that this is God's fight, that they cannot lose because they are fighting for what is right. They go forward to the trenches bravely, courageously, they are well-fed and are well-clad. They do not know what fear is. They have made Canada grow tremendously in the eyes of the world. They have made the Dominion grow in my eyes. I did not think that any body of men could be so self-sacrificing, so utterly contemptuous of all danger, where duty was involved."

PRAISES SERVICE CORPS.

And then he spoke of the Army Service Corps and the Medical Corps, two units which perhaps do not get all the glory that they win.

"Every man who goes out with a stretcher, every man who drives an ammunition waggon or who takes any kind of supplies up to the front, takes his life in his hands dozens of times," he said. "It is wonderful to watch the transport men, plunging along those roads, torn to pieces by shells, with dead piled up behind them in the form of explosives, always happy, even though the shell that is on its way across the miles may mean annihilation.

"All these men have won the Victoria Cross. But it cannot be awarded to all, because it would never do to make it as common as the Iron Cross of Germany."

ABOUT THE RUSSIANS.

Lieut.-Col. Almond sees in the Russian retreat no disaster, but a well-considered strategic move, made with the knowledge of the Allies and with their approval. He believes that a waiting game is being played. There has been no really great offensive attempted on the British front since Neuve Chappelle, and until all is ready, there will be none. He states that in his opinion the winter will be passed with all the armies practically in the positions they now occupy.

"Of course I am not a soldier," said he. "I am a chaplain, and those views must not be considered as anything beyond a private opinion."

After spending some three weeks on the Gaspe coast with his family, Canon Almond will return to Montreal, and will take the services at Trinity Church until his leave expires.

RECEPTION FOR SIR ROBERT IS BEING PLANNED

Meeting at Board of Trade This Afternoon Arranging Details

FUNCTION ON FLETCHER'S FIELD

Military Forces May Take Part—Or Address of Welcome

A meeting will be held in the Council Chamber of the Board of Trade at four o'clock this afternoon for the purpose of deciding what steps shall be taken to tender Sir Robert Borden a welcome on his return from Great Britain and France.

A preliminary meeting was held on Saturday morning, at which it was agreed that the reception should be of a non-partisan character, and that if possible it should be out of doors.

Although the details have not yet been definitely decided upon, it is understood that what is proposed is that the Premier would be met at the railway station by a deputation and escorted to Fletcher's Field, where an address of welcome would be presented. It is proposed to ask Col. E. W. Wilson, O.C., of the 4th Military District, to allow the military forces in the city to take part, as well as the military bands.

It is not at present known when the Premier will arrive in New York, but it is anticipated that he will reach the city on his way to the capital on Thursday or Friday, and the idea is to arrange the reception for one of these afternoons.

Invitations have been sent out to the Mayor and civic authorities, the senators and legislative councillors residing in the city, the federal and provincial members of Parliament, representatives of the Church, the militia, the Bar, the universities, the railways, the national societies, the Citizens' Association, the commercial and labor organizations of the city and prominent citizens to attend this afternoon's meeting, when the draft scheme which is being prepared by a sub-committee will be presented.

Those present at Saturday's meeting were:—H. B. Walker, first vice-president Board of Trade; Ald. Leslie Boyd; Frank Pauze, president La Chambre de Commerce; Col. A. E. Labelle, Harbor Commissioner; J. T. Wardleworth, chairman Canadian Manufacturers' Association; J. T. Foster, president Trades and Labor Council; John Quinlan, president, and D. R. Trotter, secretary Builders' Exchange; C. S. J. Phillips, acting president Citizens' Association; Huntly Drummond, C. P. Beaubien.

CHEVALIER ROY IS GIVEN DECORATION

The insignia of his rank as Chevalier of St. Gregory the Great, conferred on him by the Pope, was presented yesterday to Cleophas Roy, 1994 Clarke street. Lieutenant-Governor LeBlanc presented the decoration to Mr. Roy during solemn High Mass at the church of L'Enfant Jesus yesterday.

Mr. Roy was conducted from his home to the church by a detachment of the Papal Zouaves. The Rev. Father Perrier, parish priest, read the communication from the Vatican granting the signal honor, and Lieutenant-Governor LeBlanc then pinned the decoration to Mr. Roy's coat. The Rev. Hyacinthe Couture, of the Dominican Order, a nephew of Mr. Roy, preached an eloquent sermon recounting the brave deeds of the Papal Zouaves and praising Chevalier Roy for the part he played in the famous campaign.

GETS PURSE OF GOLD.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont., August 30.—More than four thousand people gathered on Saturday night in the armory here to witness the presentation of a purse of gold on behalf of the city to Private F. S. Bowker, the first of the Sault Ste. Marie contingent to return from the war.

STILL ARGUING OVER CONTRACT FOR CITY BLOCKS

Injunction Issued Saturday is Made Good Until Tuesday

LAWYERS HIT AT EACH OTHER

One Says That Blocks City Contracted for are No Good

The interim injunction granted by Mr. Justice Weir on Saturday, ordering the city not to conclude its contract for a million and a half paving blocks with the Stinson-Reeb Builders' Supply Company, was renewed this morning by Mr. Justice Maclennan, and will hold good until tomorrow morning. His Lordship expressed a desire to study the reports of experts and engineers submitted to the City Hall.

Injunction proceedings were taken by Webster & Sons Limited. Their counsel alleged that the block the city had agreed to purchase from the Stinson-Reeb Company at $41 a thousand did not come up to the city's specifications, either in size or powers of resistance.

Today's argument was upon the interlocutory injunction, which is an order of the court preventing the party against whom it is issued from any action in the matter under consideration, until the court decides whether a final injunction shall be issued.

WHY SUDDEN CHANGE?

G. Desaulniers, K.C., with Senator Beique as counsel, opened the case for the Webster Company. The only blocks chosen by Paul Mercier, the acting chief engineer, he said, were the "Metropolitan," offered by the Webster Company at $44 a thousand.

Mr. Mercier's report had been set aside by favoritism, and the "Bessemer" blocks of the Stinson-Reeb Company had been chosen.

"My learned friends," said Mr. Desaulniers, "have stated that to obtain an injunction it is necessary to prove fraud and malpractice. What if I prove that the blocks ordered were not the ones required? What if I prove that there was connivance between the Controllers and the city employes to set aside the report of the chief engineer? Surely the Superior Court has the right, or rather, is obliged, to rectify such a state of affairs? Not only are the Bessemer blocks not the size called for in the specifications (9 by 3½ by 4 inches), but they did not stand the test of resistance. . . . Despite the declaration made by Mayor Martin that the Metropolitan blocks have given the city of Montreal splendid service for five years, the Bessemer is chosen. Why this sudden change?"

The Court—Is there any difference in price?

"Yes, at present one of $3 a thousand. My clients ask for $44 a thousand, the Stinson-Reeb Company for $41. But in April they asked $49 a thousand, and now they have made this extraordinary change."

Mr. Monty, acting for the Stinson-Reeb Company: "Yes, but that was for a smaller amount, and included cartage."

City Attorney Laurendeau stated, on behalf of the city, that the Board of Control had the right to choose the materials most suitable for the city's needs, and was the sole judge of such matters.

THE SPECIFICATIONS.

The Court—"As I understand it, the city called for a supply of paving blocks. There were several tenders, and samples were sumbitted to experts. They made a report, and the blocks chosen turned out not to be in conformity with the specifications."

Mr. Laurendeau—"Is it illegal to accept blocks that do not conform with all the specifications? The Court can hear experts, but even then the court could be mistaken in its conclusions, just as much as the experts."

Sen. Beique:—Yes, we want to bring your experts here to show that they did not write their own reports.

At this point Mr. Monty read a list giving the sizes of blocks offered by a dozen odd tenderers.

"None of them are of the size specified," he said.

The Court—Is that to the point?

Mr. Monty—It shows that none of the tenderers were ready to conform with the exact specifications. The contract was submitted on July 25, and signed on the 27th. My friends had plenty of time to take out an injunction in the interval. But they did not, and now there are thirty carloads of blocks on their way from the States.

The Court — Mr. Desaulniers, do you admit that the contract was signed?

Mr. Desaulniers—Yes, and it is the first time in the history of Montreal that a contract has been signed so speedily.

"I suppose," continued Mr. Desaulniers, "that we shall in future always have to ask the Superior Court to administer the City of Montreal. You may laugh (turning to Mr. Monty), one can afford to laugh when one sells the City of Montreal a million and a half paving blocks that are no good."

After a few more minutes' argument, Mr. Justice Maclennan continued the interim injunction until tomorrow, stating that he wished to study the various reports.

SOLDIER ON A BIGAMY CHARGE

Still dressed in his khaki uniform, Stuart Marston, who was brought back from Valcartier to answer a charge of bigamy, appeared in the Arrangement Court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty through his counsel, H. S. Ross, K.C. He was arrested by Deputy High Constable Clouthier, and brought to the city Saturday.

The charge against Marston is that while the wife he married in Scotland eight years ago was still living he married in Montreal a young woman who was his own cousin.

Marston will be given preliminary trial on Thursday.

FLOUR IS DOWN BUT RETAILERS MAKE NO CHANGE

Is Not Expected Price of Bread Will Be Affected, for Some Time at Least—Drop of 25 Cents Registered Today

Another big cut in the price of flour, the second since early summer, was announced today, and amounts, according to the estimate of Montreal millers, to about 75 cents a barrel. The previous cut, which was made in June, was of about $1 per barrel.

The announcement so far affects millers' prices only, and, it is stated, some time must elapse before it will affect the consumer of bread, the retailer, or even the wholesaler. As stocks of flour held by dealers are, however, very much shorter than before the war, the change will not be so long in making itself generally felt as would have been the case formerly. The large dealers have for many months been restricting bakers to a month's supply ahead.

According to those who follow closely the varying turns of the wheat market, the state of affairs that has resulted in a price reduction is due to entirely logical and natural causes, and has no basis on Dardanelles or other rumors. It is strictly owing to the law of supply and demand.

NEW CROP COMING.

When wheat options were about $1.17 or $1.18 large stocks were bought up, and the price of wheat was then about $1.20 per bushel. Now the option is down to about $1.08. The former price was, of course, based on the old crop. Now the new crop is just beginning to arrive, with cash wheat at about 95 cents in Winnipeg.

The general rule of thumb is that there is a drop of about five cents a barrel in flour for every cent per bushel wheat goes down. With a drop in option prices from $1.17 to about $1.08 there would naturally be a drop of about fifty cents per barrel in flour prices. For some reason the drop has been put at 75 cents.

While the weakness in wheat has been developing for some time, it was impossible to reduce the price of flour because the old stock of wheat remained to be used up at the old prices, and the new crop was not yet on the market. So although prices were going down in the option market, there was no appreciable, if any, cut in flour prices. Now the new crop is on the way and the buying is at new crop prices.

As stated the announced reduction is in millers' prices. This state of affairs has been known and expected for some time by wholesalers and retailers, and they have not been attempting to stock up. They still, however, have stocks on hand, and it is not expected that the change will filter through to the public for some time, say for a week or ten days, until these old stocks have disposed of.

The new prices for flour will be: Spring wheat grades, first patent, $6.36; seconds, $5.85; strong bakers, $5.65.

SAILOR WAS HIS OWN LAWYER ON A THEFT CHARGE

There was a noteworthy addition to the ranks of the Montreal Bar this morning when William Jones, quartermaster of the S.S. Raeburn, now in port, undertook in Police Court the defence of himself and Seaman Ernest Leghorn, of the same vessel. The two are charged with the theft of the compass, and its stand from the Raeburn, sold as "fifty pounds of old brass" to a second-hand dealer on Notre Dame street.

Among other witnesses, Jones cross-examined the second officer of the ship, who had given evidence against him. He put the officer through his facings quite severely, and when he had finished with the witness he said, "That will do. Step down." The officer stepped.

Witnesses were brought to show that the compass had disappeared on Thursday morning last. It was located by the police in a pawn shop and the owner himself came down to the ship and picked out Jones and Leghorn as two men who had carried it to his store and sold it for $4.

The second officer said that Jones tried to hide while the crew was mustered for identification, and that Leghorn cut off his moustache immediately afterwards. Apprentice Calderbank, who was on the gangplank on Thursday morning, said he saw Jones and Leghorn go ashore about nine o'clock and return at 9:40. Another apprentice said he saw the two returning to the ship at the time mentioned. The night watchman said Jones and Leghorn were ashore late on Wednesday night, and early Thursday morning as well. The bosun also testified.

In his defence Jones called Seaman Howard and Seaman Hanlan, who had been assigned with him Thursday morning to paint the ship's boats "battleship gray." They said they were working near Jones and Leghorn, and did not see them go ashore, but they would not swear positively that the men had not gone.

Judge Lanctot raised the question of the jurisdiction of the police court in the matter, which involved a theft of over $100 in value, and the case was adjourned to the afternoon to decide this point.

J. BELL'S WILL

The will of the late John Bell, of the firm of Duncan Bell, Limited, who died in Foster a week ago, has been filed for probate at the Court House. He leaves most of his property, including his interests in the firm, to his son, Andrew Leslie, providing that the latter pays his mother an allowance of $50 a month. A property at Foster Mr. Bell leaves to Miss Mary Bell, his sister.

The latest thing in the way of suffrage propaganda is to wear veils into which are woven the words, "Votes for Women."

LORD CROMER'S OPINIONS UPON CONSCRIPTION

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Lord Cromer gives reasons in the Times why he deprecates the campaign in favor of conscription. He says:

"In the first place, I think that whatever may be my personal opinions, my support would at present do more harm than good. It would tend not to ally, but rather to accentuate, the class controversy with which we are manifestly threatened and which we should, above all things, endeavor to avoid.

"In the second place, it is obviously not impossible that the acute differences of opinion which exist on this subject may break up the present Coalition, and this, in my opinion, would be disastrous. It is essential that unity be preserved, even at the expense of great sacrifice of personal opinion on the part of many.

"In the third place, I think this is eminently a question upon which the Government, which has full information on the subject, should give the lead. When I say the Government, I mean more especially Lord Kitchener.

"Circumstances have forced him into a position which is altogether unique. If he were to state publicly that compulsion is necessary, my belief is that the support of the mass of the public would be at once secured.

"On the other hand, I should regard it as not merely unwise, but practically hopeless, to endeavor to enforce compulsion if Lord Kitchener were to adopt the hostile or even neutral attitude. There never was occasion when, as it appears to me, silence more deserved the epithet of golden."

CLAESSENS TO SING AT CONCERT IN ARENA

Madame Claessens will sing at the concert to be given at the Arena on Monday, September 13, by the Band of the Grenadier Guards. The noted Belgian contralto will be remembered as one of the most reliable artists of the Montreal Opera Company. Her rich, full voice was always heard with pleasure. Tickets will be on sale shortly at Lindsay's and Archambault's piano warerooms for this important event. C. O. Lamontagne has the arrangements in hand.

Artesian well drillers recently discovered a rich deposit of copper in a region in Argentina, where none was known to exist.

MAKE ADDITIONS TO OFFICE OF HIGH COMMISSIONER

Canadian Associated Press Correspondence.

LONDON, August 30.—During the last few months the High Commissioner's Office in Victoria street, Westminster, has been enlarged and made more commodious generally by the addition of several additional apartments. The small room which was the ordinary place of working for the late Lord Strathcona has given place to a large and more agreeable room in which Sir George Perley receives visitors and carries out the duties of High Commissioner. A new general entrance has been made direct from Victoria street, which enables visitors to obtain admission to the public rooms without the wandering and jostling of one another in corridors, which had to be endured under the old conditions.

GET LIBRARY TOGETHER.

At the present time the permanent secretary, Mr. W. L. Griffith, is busy getting together a library for the use of callers. From half-forgotten storages he has brought forth a considerable number of books, pamphlets and papers dealing with Canadian matters. Some of these printed records extend as far back as sixty or seventy years, and are of considerable value as records of the progress of the Dominion. There is also a comprehensive collection of law books. All these are being carefully catalogued, and when this work is completed it will doubtless add much to the usefulness of the High Commissioner's Office and prove of value to Canadian visitors and those having relations with the Dominion.

M. L. G. ECREMENT HAS PASSED AWAY

M. L. G. Ecrement, for sixteen years secretary to the city of Maisonneuve and the school commission of that city, died at his residence yesterday after a long illness. Mr. Ecrement, who was fifty years old, studied at L'Assomption College, and later at Laval University, where he passed his examinations as notary. At college he was a contemporary of Mr. Justice Monet and Recorder Geoffrion.

Mr. Ecrement is survived by the Rev. Father Ecrement, parish priest of Ste. Cunegonde, a brother; Mrs. Ecrement, formerly Miss Clara Blondin, and eleven children, and Arthur Ecrement, notary and former member for Berthier county, a nephew.

There are many flags at half-mast in Maisonneuve today, and the City Hall is draped in black. The funeral will take place on Tuesday from the family residence, 529 Lafontaine street.

Autoists Had Pleasant Time

The Montreal Auto Trade Association held another of their successful outings on Saturday. This time the affair took the shape of a gymkana anud automobile carnical at Cartierville, on the ground of Castellani's Hotel. The cars left Place Viger at 2:45, and a short time later were in the suburb, where they were welcomed by Mayor Grothe.

After the program of sports, dinner was served, and T. C. Kirby, the manager of the association, thanked the mayor and others who had made such a success of the outing. In reply, Mr. Grothe stated that Cartierville was proud to entertain the organization, the importance of which could not be denied. He referred to the roads which in the past few years have been greatly improved, and stated that there was still much further room for good work along these lines. He hoped that every year would see still better highways in the district.

The Empty Trees

Why pole the trees that have no persimmons on them?

In other words, why waste advertising money on large sections of the country where there is little or no hope of returns?

Why not concentrate on the places where business is ripe?

In other words why not advertise in the newspapers of the cities where the goods are well distributed?

This kind of use of the pole lands the greatest quantity of ripe and juicy fruit.

NO REASON FOR AN INCREASE IN RATES FOR WATER

Fear Expressed That Proposal May Be Trotted Out Again

A LONG FIGHT FOR REDUCTION

Still Trying to Find a Means of Looking After Deficit

The fact that a proposal has been made by an alderman to increase the water rates, so that the city may get out of some of its financial difficulties, is causing concern among householders and several letters have reached the City Palace in regard to the matter.

While the answers to the communications say that the father of the project is not now pressing the matter, it is firmly believed among many of the aldermen that he will bring it up again.

It is admitted now, both by Controllers and members of Council, that there will be a shortage of between two and three millions for administration purposes in 1916, and how the huge amount is to be got is a problem. It is contended that almost half of the expected shortage would be made good if the water rates were put back to their old figure—seven and a half per cent. The Controllers first tried to increase the property tax, but the outcry was so great that it is now openly stated no such course will be pursued; longing eyes are being cast, however, on the increased revenue which would be got by adding to the water tax.

It is pointed out that, should the aldermen amend the by-law relating to the charges for water and put the price back to its original figures, every single householder in the city would suffer. In the case of the real estate tax it is paid by property owners only; the water tax, on the other hand, falls on practically one and all.

It will be of interest, in face of the threat of dearer water, to note that in 1908 the charge for water was seven and a half per cent. on assessed rentals. After a long campaign on the part of The Star the price was cut down, in the year in question, to five per cent. The charge still being higher than the cost of water to the city justified, the fight for another reduction was again taken up by The Star, and in October, 1914, the rate was finally reduced from five per cent to four per cent. In other words householders would be paying today just about as much again for water had it not been for these two campaigns.

ILLUMINATING FIGURES.

A clear idea is got from the following figures as to what these two reductions meant to citizens paying from one to eight hundred dilars a year rental:

Rental	1907. Rates.	1908. Rates.	1913. Rates.	1914 Rates.
$800	$60.00	$40.00	$40.00	$32.00
700	52.50	35.00	35.00	28.00
600	45.00	30.00	30.00	24.00
500	37.00	25.00	25.00	20.00
400	30.00	20.00	20.00	16.00
300	22.00	15.00	15.00	12.00
250	18.75	12.50	12.50	10.00
200	15.00	10.00	10.00	8.00
150	11.25	7.50	7.50	6.00
100	7.50	5.00	5.00	4.00

The great justification of the demand of the citizens for a reduction in the charges for water was the abnormal profits the city was making. Even with the rate now at four per cent, civic officials cannot deny the assertion that a profit is not being yet made. This fact is the great stumbling block in the desire to mulct citizens in additional charges for water.

Those aldermen who will fight against any increase in the rates, will bring forward the powerful argument that the assessed rentals have been so boosted, both by landlords and the city assessors, that any increase whatever would be extortion. In 1908, when the water rate was reduced, the assessors boosted assessed rentals in a way that did much to make up the loss from the reduction in the rate of seven and a half per cent. Landlords also increased rentals, and thus again the total revenue from this source was greatly augmented. As already shown, the first reduction was made in 1908, when the total revenue was slightly under a million dollars. In 1911, however, despite the lowering of the price, the total sum derived from the sale of water was actually a million and a quarter dollars. The landlords and the assessors were the parties responsible for this. It was these fact which led to the final reduction of the charge to four per cent. To put the rate back to seven per cent and over now would mean a very much worse situation for householders than when the charge was at this figure in 1908.

Several members of the Council have been informed by electors that indignation meetings will be held if the subject of an increase is brought up again and pushed.

LOOK FOR TROUBLE AT REOPENING OF OTTAWA SCHOOLS

Both Bodies in the Bi-Lingual Dispute to Seek Possession

MAIN DIFFICULTY IN FRENCH SCHOOLS

Separate School Board Still Ignores Ontario Government Regulation

Special to The Montreal Star from our own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, August 30. — There is every prospect of trouble, more or less serious, when the separate schools of Ottawa open on Wednesday. It all arises out of the bi-lingual issue, of which for over a year Ottawa has been the storm centre, and the scene of almost constant litigation.

Because the majority of the Separate School Board — the French speaking trustees, in conjunction with three English trustees representing French wards—have ignored the famous Regulation 17, restricting the teaching of French in the Schools, the Ontario Government recently appointed a commission of three members to take over and direct the schools. In that commission are vested all the powers that previously were exercised by the Separate School Board. Its creation was due to the chaotic conditions of last year, and the desire to obviate a repetition this year.

DIFFER OVER COMMISSION.

But while the English-speaking Catholics accept the new Commission, the French-speaking trustees and the supporters will have none of it. They claim that as a Board they still exist, and that the Government had no constitutional right to appoint, even on the basis of special legislation, a body elected under the Separate School Act.

So the situation comes down to this, that both bodies intend to open the schools on Wednesday. There will be trouble in the English schools, a pronouncement from all the English-speaking priests of the city read in the parish churches yesterday giving hearty concurrence to the plans of the new Commission.

The difficulty will arise in the French schools, of which there are seven or eight. Both the commission and the old "Board" propose to open these schools. The Janitors have the keys, and there is much speculation as to which will be first on the scene and which authority will establish possession.

The French trustees who have been supplanted, claim that the new Commission will not be able to secure teachers for the French schols, while, on the other hand, the old Board has no money or financial powers. All School taxes are vested in the new body, which alone is in a position to pay teachers. This should be a potential influence in the situation, influence in the situation.

Roman Catholic circles here are much worked up over the matter, and the two sides of it were aired yesterday. While, as stated, in the English Catholic churches strong adherence was given to the Ontario Government's policy, including the Regulation 17, the French had another big mass meeting, protesting against the rule, and the new order of things, and determining to fight it to the bitter end.

With much enthusiasm the new Commission was condemned and a strong resolution passed alleging violation by the Ontario Government of the rights and liberties conferred by the B.N.A. Act.

Senator Landry, Speaker of the Senate, presided. He is head of the Ontario French Educational Association.

COMMISSION IS FIRM.

The Government Commission, of course, is firm in its intention of opening and operating the schools, while the other side threatens, and evidently intends, to offer the strongest resistance. Bad feeling exists, and under the circumstances more or less spectacular trouble seems inevitable when the two bodies exercise their disputed authority at the school openings on Wednesday.

Last week's developments at Ottawa College have tended to intensify the bitterness of the school question. The English Catholics claim that on the teaching staff of the college there are now only two English priests, where a few years ago there were sixteen.

The Rev. Father O'Gorman, of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, and the Rev. Father Fay, of St. Bridget's church, in sermons yesterday, strongly advised English parents not to send their boys to Ottawa College, but instead to Loyola College, at Montreal, St. Michael's, at Toronto, or St. Francis Xavier's, at Antigonish.

GERMAN ADVANCE IN NORTH POLAND IS NOW STOPPED

ITALIANS HAVE MADE BIG GAINS

Polish Guerillas Harassing German Armies in the Rear

PARIS, August 30.—Another raid by French aeroplanes on military establishments of the Germans was announced by the French War Office yesterday. Barracks and railway stations in the Ardennes and the Argonne were attacked.

Violent German attacks near Marie-Therese and west of the Forest of Malincourt were repulsed.

The statement follows:

"Our artillery continued during the night its activity against the positions of the enemy. The cannonading was especially active in the sector of Ablain, in the Region of Roye, to the north of the Aisne in the vicinity of Craonne and Berry-au-Bac, as well as between the Aisne and the Argonne.

There was violent hand-to-hand fighting at Marie-Therese and to the west of the Forest of Malincourt, for possession of excavations made by mines. We ramained in possession of these positions.

"We subjected to a heavy bombardment the trenches and groups of German pioneers over the whole line along the Lorraine frontier at Gremecey, Bezange, Gondrexon and Embermenil. There was heavy fighting with bombs and hand grenades in the region of Metzeral.

"Our aeroplanes last night bombarded the railway station and the barracks of the enemy at Grandpre (in the Ardennes), as well as the barracks at Monchemin and Lancon, in the Argonnes."

The following official statement was given out by the French War Office at night:

"The same activity on the part of our artillery has prevailed on the larger section of the front. Particularly efficacious bombardments of the enemy's lines occurred in the region of Hetsas and Steenstraete, in the region of Chauline; to the north of the Aisne in the neighborhood of Ailles and of Courcon, and also between the Meuse and Moselle, in the neighborhood of Pannes, of Euvezin and of Mortmare Wood."

FIERCE FIGHT IN CLOUDS.

ROME, August 29, via Paris, August 30.—The following official statement from the general headquarters of the Italian army, dated August 29, was made public tonight (Sunday):

"In Val Sugana the destruction by the Austrians of several bridges on the main high road and railroad at the bottom of the valley between Roncegno and Novaledo, is reported.

"Our adversary attempted a fierce attack on the evening of the 27th against Monte Armentera, but was promptly repulsed.

"In the upper Isonzo region some of our Alpine detachments occupying the position of Monte Cukla, west of Monte Rombon, tried the morning of the 27th to rush very strong enemy trenches. The latter were situated on several points of the summit of Rombon (7,000 feet), and, taking advantage of the difficulties of the terrain, made desperate resistance to our troops by infantry fire, hand-grenade throwing, and even the rolling down of great boulders. Our troops succeeded in capturing only a few trenches. Our adversary is still holding out on the extreme summit of the mountain, and our troops are keeping in closest contact with him.

AVIATORS ARE ENERGETIC.

"The Aisevissa aerodrome was again bombarded yesterday by one of our squadrons, which threw down 120 bombs. Two sheds were hit and the whole camp was ravaged, fire breaking out in several places. Our aeroplanes, although during more than half an hour the target for numerous batteries, returned unscathed after their daring expedition."

"Details of our success in the Strina Valley show that the enemy suffered losses leaving in our hands a great quantity of machine-guns, ammunition and 16 cases of bombs. An important force of the enemy at Saccrant and Pozzi Alta suffered heavily, some guns being destroyed and those remaining being transferred to other positions outside the defence works, from where they still reply to our fire.

"Among materials taken by us in trenches captured on August 20 at Monte Nero we found two apparatus supposed to be for inflammable liquids."

BEAR'S RETREAT DELIBERATE.

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, August 30.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Daily Telegraph says:

"For two or three days the German advance towards Dvinsk and Vilna has been practically at a standstill, but it is admitted that the Russian resistance to the west of the latter town merely aims at holding back the enemy until the work of evacuation is completed.

"The same is the case with Grodno and Bielostok, both of which are still in the hands of the Russians, but will be retained only until everything which could facilitate the work of the invader has been removed.

"Speaking generally, the Russian retirement is taking place with deliberation and tranquility, and will be continued until the position has been reached on which, we are authoritatively assured, it has been decided to make a firm stand. Where that position is we have yet to learn."

RUSSIAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

The following Russian official statement was given out in Petrograd last night.

"In the Riga region the situation is unchanged.

"In the direction of Frederickstadt, after the last few days of stubborn fighting, our troops have retired further. In the direction of Jacobstadt and Dvinsk towards the west there is no important change.

"On the right of the Viliva and between the Viliva and the Niemen River stubborn fighting continued Friday and Saturday on the front from Podbrodze towards the north of Vilna to Noyde-Troki and Ganchoucki and still further up to the Niemen.

"On the front between the sources of the Bobr and the Pripet there is no essential change. In the course of Saturday night and Sunday in this region there was only rearguard fighting.

"As a consequence of the enemy massing strong forces south of Vladimer-Volynski, with a view of developing an offensive towards Staroe and Rojistche, in an endeavor to turn our right flank in Galicia, we took the necessary measures to change the position of our forces. These changes were executed Friday and Saturday under cover of actions northwest of Lutsk."

A Petrograd dispatch to the Morning Post says:

"It is reported that partisan warfare, such as was so very largely instrumental in causing disaster to Napoleon's 'Grande Armee,' has begun in several regions in the rear of the German advance. The Poles, in particular, have always shown themselves admirable guerilla fighters and are again winning distinction as such, notwithstanding the severity of the merciless German methods of repression."

BERLIN, August 29, via London, August 30.—The following announcement was made today by army headquarters:—

"In the western theatre of war there have been no new developments of importance.

"Eastern theatre of war — Army group of Field Marshal von Hindenberg—Southeast of Kovno the stubborn resistance of the enemy has been broken. Our troops are pursuing the retreating Russians. The wooded region east of Augustowo has been crossed. Further south, in our pursuit of the enemy, we reached Dombrova and Grodek, and the sector east of the city of Narew.

"The army group of Prince Leopold is advancing through the Bialowiez Forest in pursuit of the enemy, and has nearly come up with his right wing near Szereszowo.

"Army group of Field Marshal von Mackensen: After rearguard fighting the Russians were pressed back as far as the Koddubno line on the Pruzana road. Troops co-operating with us from the south through the marshy region have pursued the enemy and almost reached Kobrin.

"Southeastern theatre of war—The Austro-German troops, which defeated the enemy, have driven him back across the Polorzany-Konluchy-Kozowa line and behind the Koropetz sector."

VIENNA'S OFFICIAL CLAIMS.

VIENNA, August 29, via Amsterdam, August 30. — The following Austrian official war statement was given out last night (Sunday):

"Our successes east of Vladimir-Volynski and on the Zlota Lipa broke the enemy's resistance on a front of 200 kilometers. Everywhere in their retreat the Russians set fire to villages and destroyed settlements. The number of prisoners who have fallen into our hands has increased to 10,000.

The troops of Generals Pflanzer and Baltin are pursuing the enemy on the Buezzez. General Bolmer's forces, consisting of German and Austro-Hungarian troops, have advanced beyond Podhajee and against Zborow. General von Boehm-Ermolli's troops occupied the town of Zloczow after the Russians had burned it.

"General von Puhallo's corps beat back several Russian rearguards and continue a sharp pursuit of the enemy, who is retreating toward the fortress of Lutsk. Near Kobrin, where the allies are gaining further ground, is the only way northeastwards opened to the Russians. In the region of Szereszowo Austro-Hungarian forces reached the southeastern edge of Sielowicz and Puszcza.

FIGHTING ON ITALIAN FRONT.

"The separate Italian attack on the Isonzo front yesterday increased in extent and violence, but nowhere was successful. In the Doberdo sector in the late evening an attack prepared by strong artillery fire on Monte Seibusi was repulsed. In the forenoon two mobile regiments four times stormed Monte San Michele and penetrated in some places our trenches, but everywhere were again repulsed, sustaining severe losses.

"Some time ago the enemy opened a sap attack against the Gorizia bridge-head, but our guns and mine-throwers destroyed all the saps dug in the environs of our front. The Tolmino bridge-head was under heavy gun fire during the whole day, after which two regiments and two Alpine battalions attacked but were repulsed in hand-to-hand fighting.

"Some attacks against the bridge west of Tolmino and in the region north of this passage and four attacks on the front Mrzlivrh-Sgamme also were repulsed. An attack attempted with considerable forces against the Flitsch region also was checked. All the positions remain strongly in our hands.

"The Carinthian front is rather quiet. In the Tyrolean frontier district artillery duels continue with intermittent strength."

SERBIANS STOP AUSTRIANS.

LONDON, August 30.—In connection with their movement against the Serbians, the Austrians are attempting to construct new defences along the border, on the banks of the Dnabank of the Save."

An official statement dealing with these operations was forwarded today from Nish to Reuter's Telegram Company. It follows:

"On August 25 we stopped the enemy's defence operations on the Danube front at the large island near Mala-Stratcheva, and also on the Save front, near Gositchinabara, opposite Skela. On the same day we interrupted similar operations near the Island of Moldava, on the left bank of the Sa e."

A MONTENEGRIN VICTORY.

CETTINJE, Montenegro, August 30. —The following official statement was given out here on Saturday:

"A violent Austrian bombardment in the Bilek sector occurred yesterday. It was followed by an infantry attack, which we repulsed brilliantly.

TURKS' LATEST CLAIMS.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 29, via London, August 30.—A new attack by land and sea on the Turkish positions at the Dardanelles has resulted in heavy fighting. The Turkish War Office announced today that several onslaughts had been repulsed with heavy losses to the Allies. It was also said that a cruiser and a transport of the Allies had been hit repeatedly by the German guns. The statement follows:

"On the Dardanelles front on August 27, in the region of Anafarta, the enemy made a land and sea attack, after a preparatory bombardment with artillery on our right wing near Liretsch Tepe, and on our centre south of Asmakdere. These attacks were entirely unsuccessful. Three attacks on our centre were repulsed, the enemy sustaining heavy losses each time.

"Our artillery repeatedly hit a hostile cruiser and a transport.

"On our right wing, near Avi Burnu, on the night of August 27, there were repeated attacks with bombs.

"Our artillery damaged a trapsport and a tug near Seddul-Bahr.

"The usual artillery and infantry firing is in progress on the other parts of the front. Otherwise there is nothing to report."

SYMPATHISE WITH CAUSE OF SERBIA

NEW YORK, Aug 30. — Several hundred Southern Slavs, Serbs, Croatians, Slovenes — whose people are still under the Austrian flag — met yesterday afternoon at the Amsterdam Opera House to give expression to their sympathy with the cause of Serbia and her Allies in the present war.

Professor Mischael Idvorsky Pupin, of Columbia, honorary Serbia consul-general to the United States, was chairman of the meeting.

The principal speaker was Dr. Nikola Velimirovitch, of the Theological Faculty of the University of Belgrade, which institution has been closed on account of the war. He spoke at great length on the justice of the Serbian arms and ideals, and the misdeeds of the Austrians, and predicted the possibility of uniting Serbs, Croats and Slovenes with the present Serbia and Montenegro in a federal kingdom.

CHARGE CONSPIRACY AGAINST MILITIA

DENVER, Colo., August 30.—Members of a military court of inquiry recently appointed by Governor Carlson made a partial report to the chief executive on Saturday night in which they alleged having in their possession evidence in the form of letters taken from the Burns' Detective Agency to show a general conspiracy to prevent the reorganization of the State Militia.

They particularly mentioned having indisputable proof that the United Mine Workers of America had secured a detective agency to spy upon the movements of the recruiting officers.

CRIMEAN VETERAN KILLED BY TRAIN

LONDON, Ont., August 30.—Col. James Hesketh, aged 86, residing at 216 George street, and a veteran of the Crimean War, was instantly killed on Saturday morning, when struck by the Chicago express at the Richmond street crossing. The gates were lowered against pedestrians at the time.

Major James Hesketh, of the Strathcona Horse, who was wounded in a recent engagement at the front, is a son.

GERMAN AERIAL ATTACK ON PARIS A GREAT FAILURE

No Damage Done and One Aeroplane Shot to Pieces in Mid-Air

PARIS, Aug. 30. — Four German military aeroplanes attempted to make a raid on Paris on Saturday morning. They were attacked by a French air flotilla and one of the German machines was shot to pieces in midair.

The German machines crossed the French lines flying at a great height and driving toward the City of Paris. When over a point to the north of the capital they sighted a French air flotilla, which was waiting for them and three of the German aeroplanes wheeled about and headed for the German lines.

Two of the German machines escaped, but one was out-distanced by its pursuers, and was riddled by bullets. It fell flaming into the forest of Halatte, where the burned bodies of two aviators were found.

The fourth machine dropped five bombs at Montmorency, a town fifteen miles from Paris. No one was hurt. The batteries at Montmorency opened fire on the aeroplane, but it got away in the haze.

Travellers arriving in Paris by train from the north can see at almost any hour from ten to fifteen French warplanes in the air at the same time, protecting the capital from German air raids.

OFFICIAL REPORT MADE.

The official War Office report said:

"Yesterday morning towards ten o'clock three German aeroplanes sailed forth from the region of Scissons and three from the region of Compiegne, heading for Paris.

"They were unable to reach their goal and only dropped a few bombs on Nungent-sur-Marne, Montmorency, Montfermeril, Ricecourt and Compiegne.

"The only victims they made were at Compiegne, in which city two male nurses and a child were killed. The hostile aeroplanes, promptly detected, were shelled at various points and chased by our airmen.

"The commander of one of our aerial squadrons chased one of the aeroplanes at a height of nearly 11,000 feet and brought it down to the north of Senlis. The pilot and his machine were found incinerated."

IF THIS IS YOUR BIRTHDAY

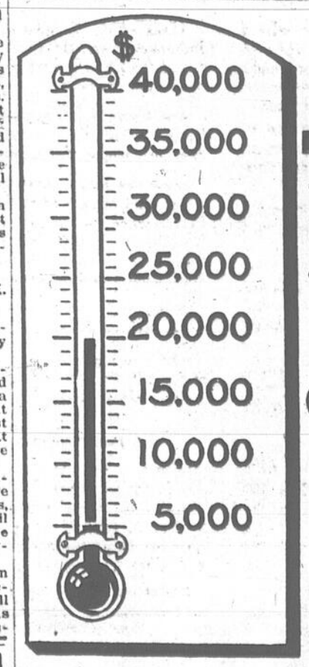

AUGUST 30.

The governing planet is Mercury. This gives keen judgment, a marvelous temperament, and an ambitious, proud nature.

In dress and personal appearance these people are extremely neat and have great pride in their surroundings.

The women are inclined to be fickle in love but are usually very attractive and have more than one love affair. The men are overcritical about the manner of living and personal appearance and though they demand the best they have not always the means to pay for it.

This is an excellent time to secure substitute positions for clerks, office helpers or stenographers, through the Montreal Daily Star Want Ads.

ARABIC'S CASE MUST BE SETTLED FIRST SAYS U. S.

Germany Notified to This Effect and Has Signified Agreement

BERLIN WANTS FOOD SUPPLIES

Seeks Modification of Blockade for Benefit of Civilians

LONDON, August 30.—Since August 27 (last Friday), when one British merchantman was sunk by a German submarine, not a single attack by the German submersibles has been recorded by the British Admiralty.

It is conjectured in some quarters that the sudden cessation of activity by German submarines is the immediate consequence of the recent German-American crisis over the sinking of the Arabic, the inference being that the German Admiralty has instructed its submarine commanders to discontinue their attacks or, at least, to confine their activity to small British merchantmen and fishing trawlers pending the conclusion of a definite agreement between Germany and the United States.

ARABIC SETTLEMENT FIRST.

WASHINGTON, August 30.—Germany has been informed by the United States that this Government prefers that the Arabic case be settled before the other questions regarding submarine warfare are taken up for adjustment.

To this request Germany has assented and has indicated that she will be ready to make a settlement of the additional matters in the controversy as soon as the Arabic case is out of the way. It is expected here that the Arabic incident will be disposed of next week.

A clearer idea was obtained today of the German plan for removing causes of friction with the United States over the submarine warfare. This plan is comprehensive, for it contemplates not merely an adjustment of pending issues, but inferentially suggests an arrangement that will modify both the German submarine activity and the British restrictions on shipments of foodstuffs to German ports for the use of the civilian population of the country.

GERMAN TERMS INDICATED.

It was learned today in an authoritative quarter that in presenting the plan of settlement the German Government was not attaching a string to its offer to modify its orders to submarine commanders, but would put the modifications in effect without the stipulation that their permanency must depend on the success of efforts by this Government to arrange with Great Britain for a lessening of the restrictions on neutral commerce. That the modifying changes in the orders to submarine commanders will be made permanent only if Great Britain mitigates the severity of her orders in council is to be inferred from instead of stated in the German proposal.

The German proposal may be stated in the following form:

First—Germany will offer to adjust the Lusitania case through reparation and through other means in a way that she hopes will be satisfactory to the United States.

Second—Germany will continue the orders to submarine commanders not to attack passenger vessels without warning, and may agree to observe the rule of visit and search with respect to merchant craft generally.

Third—Germany will express gratification over the statement in the American note of July 21 that the United States is contending for the freedom of the seas, and will look to this Government to make good its offer to see that the freedom of the seas is made practicable between the belligerents themselves and to act as the common friend who may be privileged to suggest a way.

WANTS BLOCKADE MODIFIED.

The third division of the German proposal is the most important, according to opinion in well-informed circles here. It means that the German Government expects the United States to take up with Great Britain the question of obtaining modifications of the Orders-in-Council with their restriction on American trade with neutral European countries and Germany.

These modifications could be put into effect, if the American negotiations were successful, through a modus vivendi to which both Germany and Great Britain would be parties, the German Government for its part to make material changes in its submarine warfare against merchant shipping.

To state it more clearly the German Government apparently calls on the United States to fulfill what Germany regards as a pledge of this Government to insist that British restrictions on trade shall be softened.

Out of the relaxing tension of the situation between Germany and the United States a new hope for peace in Europe has sprung. German observers here have noted that there is a group in each country which sees possibilities of American mediation behind the peaceful adjustment of the American-German dispute.

With one concession won from the belligerents by diplomatic means — the security of the lives of neutrals on the high seas—it is thought possible that other proposals may follow with restoration of peace as their object. The ascendancy of the liberal element in Germany, it is said, lends color to that view so far as Germany is concerned.

PRESIDENT STAYS AT HOME.

President Wilson had given up all idea today of a further extended vacation this year. His plans now are not to leave Washington until the situation between the United States and Germany clears, if he leaves at all.

The President already has received assurances from official sources, which he hoped will result in solving the controversy with Germany over her submarine warfare. He is waiting, however, for Germany to make formal disavowal of the attack on the Arabic and assurances of safety to Americans on the high seas in the future.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, had returned today to the summer Embassy on Long Island, satisfied that an amicable understanding would be reached regarding the Arabic tragedy, as well as all other issues with Germany. He probably will not return here, pending the receipt by the Washington Government of further word from Berlin.

Talking Still of Awaiting Report

Special Star Cable by Carl W. Ackerman, of the United Press.

BERLIN, via The Hague, August 30.—Grand Admiral von Tirpitz, creator of the German submarine policy that gave rise to difficulties with America, believes with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Secretary von Jagow that all differences with America should be adjusted at once.

Von Tirpitz, it is understood, does not look with favor on a formal disavowal of the attack on the Arabic. He desires that most friendly relations between the United States and Germany be established in the negotiations already in progress, but is not yet convinced that this end cannot be attained by means other than repudiation of the act of one of his submarine commanders.

The source of the following information cannot be disclosed, but it is an absolute fact that Germany's viewpoint is as follows:

First—Germany hopes that the American Government will consider the informal representations already made to be sufficient, until the official report of the submarine commander is received.

Second—That the question of whether the action of the submarine commander shall be disavowed must rest largely upon this report.

The submarine report may be expected at any moment. Probably it will be received this week. It is possible it may not be forwarded to Berlin for a fortnight.

No Report From Submarines Yet

Associated Press Despatch.

BERLIN, via London, August 30.—No word has reached Berlin concerning the conference at Eastern Headquarters between Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German Imperial Chancellor, Admiral von Tirpitz, Minister of Marine, and Emperor William, and no developments of any sort have occurred in the case here since the Chancellor's declaration of policy given out last Wednesday.

Admiral von Mueller, chief of the private Marine Cabinet, and the Emperor's direct personal adviser on naval affairs, is also with the Emperor. The Admiral's influence, it is known, is thrown with that of Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg and Foreign Minister von Jagow against complications with the United States, and so the opinion is held here that there is no reason to change the hopeful view of the situation expressed after the Chancellor's statement.

The exact wording of instructions issued to naval commanders has not been divulged, and higher officials, when questioned, avoid an answer, but it is said that they certainly include the direction to attack no passenger steamers without adequate warning.

Whether this applied to freighters cannot be learned, but the technical difficulties in distinguishing a freighter from a passenger ship through a periscope would in any case produce the same effect.

The American Government is now officially in possession of the same declaration of policy as contained in Dr. von Bethmann-Hollwegg's statement, and apparently with the same limitations, this having been conveyed by von Jagow to James W. Gerard, the American Ambassador, at a conference Wednesday noon.

No report on the sinking of the Arabic has yet been received, none of the submarines which might possible have been involved having returned to port.

The Admiralty says that the report may come in any day and may possibly be delayed another fortnight. At least that interval may elapse before the last of the submarines operating south of Ireland returns.

PRUSSIAN CASUALTIES.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Aug. 30.—The latest Prussian casualty lists give the names of 40,245 killed, wounded and missing, according to the Nieuwe Rotterdamsche Courant. The total Prussian losses published up to August 24 amount to 1,740,836 killed, wounded and missing, says the paper.

AIRMEN OBSERVE CHIVALROUS WAYS IN PRESENT FIGHT

Relatives of Aviators Notified as to Their Condition

AERIAL WARRIORS VERY MODEST MEN

How Heroic Pilot with Smashed Leg Saved Machine and Self

By Frederick Palmer, Correspondent of the Associated Press at the Front.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS, France, Aug. 10.—"Though it has been repeatedly stated that chivalry does not exist in this war," said a British aviator, "this does not apply to the British and German aviation branches. Whether it is the individualism of our work and its novelty or whatever it is that is responsible, something of the old spirit of knighthood maintains among the fliers of the air.

"When a British aviator has to descend in the German lines, whether from engine trouble or because his engine or his plane has been damaged by anti-aircraft gunfire, the next day the Germans report to us his name and whether he survived, and if so, whether he is wounded. We always do the same. It has come to be a custom."

The reports are made in a manner worthy of airmen and they are the only communications that ever pass between the two foes which watch for heads to snipe at from their trenches.

What is called a "message-bag" is dropped over the British lines by a German or over the German lines by a British aviator—sometimes when he is in the midst of bursting shells from the anti-craft guns.

Long streamers are attached to the little cloth bag. These as they pirouette down to the earth from a height of seven or eight thousand feet attract the attention of soldiers in the neighborhood and they run out to get the prize when it lands.

LIKE CARRIER PIGEONS.

It is taken to battalion headquarters, which wires the fact on to the aviation headquarters, where the fate of a comrade may be known a few hours after he has left his home aerodrome; and in another few hours some one in England may know the fate of a relative.

"That is one of the advantages of belonging to the flying corps," say the British aviators. "It may be weeks before his relatives and comrades know whether a man who is missing after a trench attack or counter-attack is a prisoner or dead.

"Such little kindnesses as this don't interfere with your fighting your best for your cause; at the same time they take a little of the savagery out of war.

"Of course, the rule could not apply to prisoners taken in trench fighting—only to airmen. There are relatively few airmen on either side and only an occasional one ever comes down to the enemy's lines."

With the first flush of dawn the British planes rise from the aviation grounds and frequently just as a carrier pigeon makes a circle before orienting his compass they will make a circle before starting out for a reconnaissance over the German lines. All day they are coming and going and in the dusk of the evening they appear out of the vague distances of the heavens, returning home to roost.

ALL SHY, DIFFIDENT MEN.

The fliers become a type with certain marked characteristics. No nervous man is wanted; and it is time for any man who shows any signs of nerves to take a rest. They seem shy, diffident men of the kind given to observation rather than talking; men who are used to using their eyes rather than their hands. It is a little difficult to realize that some quiet young fellow who is pointed out has had so many hairbreadth escapes.

What tales worthy of "Arabian Nights' heroes who were borne away on magic carpets they bring home, relating them as matter-of-factly as if they had broken a shoelace. Up in their seats, a whirr of the motor and they are always on another adventure.

They shy at the mention of their names in print, for that is not considered good for the spirit of this the newest branch of the service of war. Anonymity is absolute.

Everything is done by the corps for the corps. Some members have luck, as they put it, and some do not. L——'s name may not be given, but his is the most dramatic of recent experiences.

ONE THRILLING ESCAPE.

"He was a pilot flying in Belgium far away from the British lines when an anti-craft shell mashed his leg, which was hit by fifty bullets and fragments, the doctor estimated," as the story was told to the correspondent. "He collapsed in his seat unconscious. His machine dropped at right angles to the line of flight with the concussion. The observer who was with him managed to hold on by clutching at the machine gun.

"They were careening down to the earth, with the observer helpless from his position to do anything when L—— recovered consciousness and mustered strength and presence of mind enough to right the machine and to turn it around in the midst of a cloud of shrapnel smoke.

"He was not going to be taken prisoner despite his shattered leg when he found that the shell which had so nearly done for him had not injured the engine or the plane. So he made for the nearest aerodrome."

There he managed to land safely. But, as he said, he did not dare to get out of his seat until the doctor came, for fear that his leg would fall off. He will get well.

PRINCESS MARY'S GIFTS TO SOLDIER'S

LONDON, Ont., August 30.—The gifts from Her Royal Highness Princess Mary to all soldiers serving the Empire at Christmas time, 1914, have arrived in this city for distribution. For Canadians, the gift will mean a new realization of the Empire and its bonds.

LITTLE DAMAGE BY PRAIRIE FIRE

WINNIPEG, August 30.—Though the prairie fire fifteen miles north of Winnipeg is still smouldering its way towards this city in the vast peat bog between the C. P. R. tracks and the Stonewall car line, and may in time endanger homes and grain crops, it has so far done no damage beyond consuming hundreds of tons of wild hay.

Sensational reports which circulated yesterday that five families were missing are found to be without foundation. One of the men supposed to have perished has been dead a year.

BARRED FROM MAILS.

OTTAWA, August 30.—The Post Office Department under the War Measures Act has issued an order excluding from Cadadian mails the People's Post, a monthly pro-German paper published at Indianapolis.

LOSE MILLIONS ON GERMAN GOODS ORDERED FOR U. S.

BERLIN, via London, Aug. 30.—American business men in Germany are taking the gloomiest view of the fate of great quantities of goods ordered in Germany for the American Christmas trade. They say that the loss on these goods will amount to millions.

Orders totalling about $50,000,000 for such wares as toys, Bohemian glassware, bronzes, Christmas cards and optical specialties had been placed, mostly last autumn, for summer delivery, it is stated, this being the usual practice in order to give American wholesale dealers an opportunity to place the goods.

The articles are all of a seasonable value and become virtually valueless unless delivered immediately. However, the British order-in-Council, although not effective when the orders for the goods were placed, prevents such a delivery.

American dentists, who constitute one of the most numerous elements among the Americans in Europe, also are suffering under the war situation. This is not on account of any anti-American feeling on any slackening in the demand for their services, but because they are unable to get dental supplies and artificial teeth from America.

RAISE SUBMARINE . . . SUNK IN HONOLULU

HONOLULU, August 30.—The United States submarine F-4, submerged outside the harbor here since March 26 last, was refloated on Saturday night and towed to the quarantine station in Honolulu Bay.

The submarine F-4, commanded by Lieut. Alfred L. Ede, and with a crew of 21 men, went to the bottom off the harbor of Honolulu March 26, 1915, during manoeuvres of the "F" squadron. She was located two days later, but attempts to raise her failed, and the crew was given up for lost.

Chalmers Six-40

$1850 Duty Paid

First Quality Car at $1850

40-Horsepower, 7-Passenger Touring Car, Weight 3075 lbs.

Valve-in-Head Motor with Overhead Camshaft

The battle of the giants is on. It is a battle royal for the supremacy of the medium priced motor car field.

It is the battle of that type of motor which smashed all speed and endurance records at Indianapolis and Chicago—against old style motors.

It is the battle of the principles of construction that went 90 miles an hour, for 500 miles at Indianapolis, and 100 miles an hour for 500 miles at Chicago—against out-dated principles of motor construction.

It is the battle of the manufacturer against the middleman, the producer against the assembler, of buying for cash, against buying on time, of new efficiency in methods of manufacture and administration against inexperienced methods.

It is the battle of Quality and lower profits against higher profits and lack of quality.

It is the battle of new service ideals and co-operation against old methods of expensive upkeep and neglect of the owner.

Into this contest the Chalmers Motor Company enters the greatest car it has ever built, the "Six-40" with valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor.

It is the lowest price at which Chalmers Quality has ever been sold—$1850, with duty paid, for a big 7-passenger touring car.

It is a new car at a lower price sent to battle with old cars at cut prices.

With new service to owners, bigger plans, new buildings, increased factory facilities, and greatly increased production, the Chalmers Motor Company moves forward to the great battle with supreme confidence.

New Motor—New Car—New Price—New Service to Owners

Increased Factory Facilities—Greatly Increased Production for 1916

TWO years ago we saw three things. First was that the tendency of the public demand in both Europe and America was to a compact high speed motor that was more efficient, would get away quicker, run more smoothly, have greater flexibility, show greater economy and last longer under hard service.

Second was that a public temporarily diverted to cars that only looked well and rode nicely for a while, would swing back to demand quality manufacture and the ability to "stay put."

Third was that only those manufacturers who built their own cars in large volume and bought their own materials for spot cash at the advantage of the market could survive.

Motor Designed in Europe

So we sent our engineers to Europe to design a new motor and began to lay our plans for a greatly increased production this season.

We are now building two big new factory additions to handle the work. We added machines that cost $90,000.00 apiece to do work in our factory in order to give this remarkable quality car to you at $1850.

Here is the result.

No one dreamed that such a car could be built for $1850. It is equal to cars that sold for $4000 three years ago. It isn't a made-over model, reduced in size, or certain things eliminated to fit the price—it is a brand new car, designed specially as a Quality car at a low price.

The Quality Car at Small Profit

We are marketing this QUALITY car on the lowest profit per car in the motor car business.

The great valve-in-head motor, with overhead camshaft, costs us $80.00 more to build in our own shops, than the ordinary type of motor can be bought for on the outside, and most of the competitors in our price class are using the ordinary type of motor.

When Chalmers engineers went to Europe to study design two years ago, they found European designers at work on high speed motors of the valve-in-head type with overhead camshaft.

European makers had already tried this type out in their racers. They were perfecting it for a road car.

We hoped to be the first in America to adopt this style of motor. But when the war stopped European makers, fate decreed that we should lead the world in the use of the valve-in-head overhead camshaft motor for a stock car.

We were not surprised at the showing at Indianapolis and Chicago, where this type of motor won all honors. We knew a year ago that these results would be achieved.

Speedway Racers All of This Type

We knew that to attain a speed of 90 to 100 miles an hour that the motor would have to be a valve-in-head, overhead camshaft type.

Quality First

"Let your next car be a Chalmers"

Think of it! 90 miles an hour for 500 miles at Indianapolis and the first four to finish, and eight out of the first ten were valve-in-head motors, with overhead camshafts!

And then the Chicago races at 100 miles an hour for 500 miles—the first three and seven out of the first eleven were of this type!

Some one said a short time ago that people buy motor cars largely on three P's—Paint, Price and Performance. You can measure this wonderful Chalmers car, at $1850, by any one of these three standards. It is right in Paint, which indicates finish and wearing qualities.

It is right in Performance, because no car at any price, performs better than this car does.

And it is right in Price. No one in the history of the industry ever approached such quality at such a price before.

Take a Ride in this Car

"Take a ride in this car," and see for yourself if you do not get in this Chalmers type of six-cylinder motor all the smoothness, all of the flexibility, all of the pick-up, and all of the "pep" that is claimed for any other motor built, no matter how many cylinders it may have.

Therefore, we say that all of our strength, all of our organization, all of our money, all of our reputation, are back of these six words: "TAKE A RIDE IN THIS CAR."

Demonstrators are now in the hands of our dealers.

FOR FIRST TIME TORONTO CREW ENTERS 200 MILE RACE

FAVORITES WON AT CONNAUGHT PARK SATURDAY

Special to The Montreal Star.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 30.—A well balanced card was offered by the officials at the Connaught Park course Saturday afternoon, and spirited racing was in order throughout the day. No special feature was down for decision, but a handicap fashioned for Canadian owned horses and a steeplechase for three-year-olds and upwards at two miles divided the interest during the day. In the former number, Splutter, carrying the silks of Sir J. S. Hendrie ran back to his impressive performance of earlier in the week and was easily returned over Hampton Dame and Sea Lord. While in the race through the field Lewis Garth scored another victory when Stucco, the popular choice, showed the way home for the field in a spectacular event. The half-holiday brought out a record breaking crowd at the picturesque course, and much enthusiasm was displayed. Both players again had a good line on the merits of the different performers, the majority of the winners being heavily supported. Ideal weather conditions favored the management and the best track of the meeting tended to bring together better balanced fields. The stables of Lewis Garth was very prominent during the course of the afternoon, accounting for two of the seven dashes, Stucco and Star of Love, in the sixth. Sam N. Holman, of the Dorval Park Jockey Club, was amongst the visitors in the interest of the coming meeting to be held at that track.

W. P. Northey, secretary of the Montreal Jockey Club, was also amongst the arrivals and was busy during the course of the morning altering stalls for the coming meeting at Blue Bonnets. There is at present a large number of horses at the course, several stables having shipped down from Windsor. Mr. Northey brought the information that several minor changes had been completed at the mutuel plant that insures greater comfort and convenience for the patrons. No additional machines have, however, been installed.

QUEBEC TENNIS TOURNEY TO HAVE FINE TROPHIES

The Lawn Tennis Club of the Ancient Capital will enlarge the scope of its tournament this year by the addition of two events which will be open to all the Province and the prizes for which will be handsome cups to be donated by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor. Hons. P. E. Leblanc, who has done much of late to encourage the spread of the game and has had what is probably the finest court in the Province laid down in the beautiful grounds at Spencerwood.

Already La Tuque, Shawinigan, and a number of other clubs have signified their intention of entering teams and replies are expected from Grand'Mere, Mount Royal, Three Rivers, St. Lambert, Sherbrooke, Ste. Hyacinthe, and other clubs within the next few days. Each club will be limited to four singles and two doubles.

The tournament will begin on September 16, and all entries must be sent in by Wednesday the 8th, to W. P. Osborne, Secretary Quebec Lawn Tennis Club, 9 Buade Street, Quebec. Matches will be played on the Quebec Courts.

TORONTO CREW FOR FIRST TIME IN CANOE RACE

Montreal Y.M.C.A. Crew Has Also Entered Making a Total of Fourteen Crews Expected to Start

Chief Trustee Percy Smith, of the Graham Browne Trophy, was informed today that an entry was received from the Toronto Canoe Club: W. H. Reed and David Wing.

This is the first time a club from Toronto has entered the \200 Mile Canoe Race.

Log-books, maps, instructions, etc., will be handed to the contestants at Prescott by a delegate from the Board. Race will start from Prescott in the early hours of the morning on Thursday, September 2nd. Contestants should therefore be at Prescott on Wednesday, September 1st.

An entry was also received from the Central Y. M. C. A., Montreal, Donald H. Stewart and Ivan H. Upton. These two competitors have been paddling for the last three months in the Algonquin Parks. They should be in great shape for the race.

A crew which is looked upon as likely winner in Ottawa is the crew of Cassels and Perney (Ottawa-New Edinburgh Canoe Club). Perney has been stroke for the war canoe (half-mile champions of Canada), and Cassels is a long distance paddler.

REPORTING STATIONS.

1. Each crew shall report at every one of the reporting stations indicated in the log-book.

2. On arriving at a reporting station, one of the contestants, from each crew, shall take the canoe log-book to the reporting office and have it signed, at the proper page, by one of the wardens, who shall also record the exact time of arrival of the crew.

REST STATIONS.

There shall be two compulsory rests of nine hours each between Prescott and Ottawa. The first rest may be taken either at Gananoque or at Kingston, on the St. Lawrence. The second at any one of the following places on the Rideau: Newboro, Rideau, Ferry, Smith's Falls or Merrickville.

When stopping for rest at any one of the above stations, both contestants, in each crew, shall take their log-book to the reporting office, and have it signed at the proper page, by both wardens, who shall also record the exact time of arrival of the crew at the reporting office.

Crews shall be started by both wardens, one by one, exactly nine hours after time of arrival. For instance, if a canoe arrives at a rest station at 8:17 p.m., the contestants must not, under any account, leave before 5:17 a.m. Both wardens shall again sign the canoe log-book before the crew leaves and record exact time of leaving.

The clubs which are expected to enter, with names given, are:

Lady Swimmer Defeated the Men in Toronto Race

Special to the Montreal Star.

TORONTO, August 30.—The Wards Island Association held its first cross-the-bay swim on Saturday afternoon in spite of a heavy southeast wind and choppy water. Three contestants braved the adverse conditions. Miss Elizabeth Wilson won the race by one minute and ten seconds, thus adding to her laurels as a prize winner. She made the distance in 62 minutes. Locke, who started 15 minutes after her, finished a little more than 18 minutes behind her, his time being 1:03 10.

Saunders came in strong at the finish about 120 yards behind Locke, his time 1:06 45.

It is intended to make the cross-the-bay swim an annual event and to offer a handsome shield for competition.

VETERAN LYON ONLY CANADIAN GOLF SURVIVOR

Golfers Astonish Baseball Players at Distance They Can Drive the Ball—U. S. Amateur Championships Continued Today

(By Grantland Rice.)

DETROIT, August 30.—The main difference, as Ty Cobb expressed it, was about this: "Sometimes I can hit 'em where they ain't, but these fellows can hit 'em where a bird can't fly."

Ty was referring exclusively to Francis Ouimet, Jesse Guilford and Max Marston, three long-hitting golfers, who stood at the home plate yesterday afternoon before 15,000 persons and made the mightiest wallops of Cobb and Crawford resemble infield pop-ups or fouls back of the plate.

There has been, for time immemorial, or thereabouts, an argument under way as to how much further a golfer could drive a golf ball than a ball player could drive a baseball.

It was agreed that here was the proper spot to make the test—here in the home of Cobb and Crawford, the slugging kings—here where they had gathered also the greatest golfers in the land.

So three of the longest hitters in golfdom, Ouimet, Guilford and Marston, were selected to make the test. The centre field palisade here is 170 yards from the home plate—far beyond the carry of Ty's greatest wallop or Wahoo Sam's mightiest clout. In fact, neither has ever hit this centre field fence near the flagpole on a fly. Ouimet, the amateur champion, introduced by Hughey Jennings, led the fusillade. His wallop not only carried the fence, but, sailing far beyond, crossed a row of houses thirty yards further back and disappeared from sight through the top of a tall oak, maple or ash tree, as the case might be.

BALLPLAYERS STARTLED.

Any way, it was a regular tree full grown to a true western height. Cobb, Crawford and Jennings, with the assembled Tigers and Yanks, made no effort to conceal their astonishment. When Max Marston followed with another long smash almost to the spot the wonder grew. But the biggest shock came when Jesse Guilford, the human Krupp, known also as the Bay State siege gun, lit into one that was only beginning to rise as it cleared the deep fence and crossed the roof of some outlying house across the street. Guilford's drive, under normal conditions, or rather over normal turf, would have travelled at least 330 yards. For he is the longest hitter in the game, and that smash was one of his best, timed to the last flicker and struck with terrific power.

Immediately after this exhibition Ty came up and announced that he would be at first tee on Monday at 10 o'clock. He had no intention of missing anything like this.

Which is a reminder that at dusk today only thirty-two of the big field will be left and that the landscape then will be cleared for the match play to follow on Tuesday through the rest of the week.

VETERAN SURVIVES.

Of the four Canadian candidates for the United States National Amateur golf title only one survived the qualifying round played here at the Detroit Country Club course on Saturday. That one is George S. Lyon, the veteran from the Lambton Golf and Country Club of Toronto. Lyon played consistent golf, going out and coming in, his outgoing score being 40, while his in return card read 42. Only those who did the course in 85 or less qualified. Following are the cards turned in by the Canadians:

G. S. Lyon, Lambton G. and C. . . . . 40-42—82
H. B. Hoblitzel, Sarnia G.C. . . 42-44—86
J. M. Hunt, G.C., Ontario . . . 43-47—90
A. A. Adams, Hamilton, Ont. . 50-43—93

Despite flashes from the players of lesser repute the gallery refused to know any others than Jerome D. Travers, Charles W. Evans, Jr., and Francis Ouimet, respectively, the national open, western and national amateur title holders. All three were conveniently placed in the starting list, so the spectators had a chance to go at least a few holes with each.

OUIMET'S IRON PLAY WEAK.

Of the trio Ouimet gave the poorest exhibition, his iron play being especially weak and his putting not at all reliable. Three times incoming, the champion missed putts of less than a club's length and at the eleventh hole he gave an exhibition that more closely resembled haymaking than golf. With his visits to the rough he required five strikes to reach the green here, ultimately holing out in seven strokes. There cannot be any doubt that Ouimet will do better as the tournament progresses. It will be necessary, too, as an eighty-two will not get him far in the match play.

It is only reasonable to suppose, however, that Ouimet, like a great many more, was content with a "place." Travers finished his round in the same mood, but he had made his position safe by going over the first nine holes in thirty-seven. Like Ouimet, "Jerry" also had one or two crude iron shots, but taken all over his play appeared to be built on sound lines. His direction with wood was the most encouraging sign for the metropolitan members of the gallery, as until he came to life at Baltusrol in the open championship, Travers was for a long time notoriously weak from the tee.

WHAT EVANS DID.

Evans scored a seventy-six, and with the exception of one or two holes played sound golf. On the first hole "Chick" missed a putt, on the second he topped a drive and misjudged an approach on the third. He took five for each.

Davison Herron, of Pittsburg, and D. E. Sawyer, of Wheaton, Ill., each turned in low cards of 73. Sixty golfers had scores of 84 on better and the thirteen who tied with 85 also were permitted to enter the second preliminary round of medal play.

There were few surprises and no important upsets. Herron made history for the Detroit Country Club course by completing the thirteenth hole of 380 yards in 2. Arthur V. Lee, of Detroit, after going out in 46, came home in 36, a feat that was not equaled.

SEVEN THOUSAND SAW GRAND TRUNK REGATTA AT VERDUN SATURDAY

There Were No Disputes or Protests of Any Kind and the Competitions Were Very Close and Exciting

The above club held its fortieth annual regatta on Saturday afternoon, in beautiful weather, in fact it was of the most successful ever held by the club, and will go down in the archives as a red-letter day. The attendance of spectators was very large, about 7,000 lining the grounds and banks of the river. Only one thing marred the afternoon's pleasure, and that was the constant interference of motor boats and other craft continually crossing the course. One or two spills occurred through this, and in one event A. Woodward had his boat completely wrecked, being cut in halves. There was a scarcity, too, of sister clubs entering, only three being present—St. Lambert, Club Champetre and Lachine. This was especially noticeable in the war canoe race, where only Club Champetre competed. However, the has-beens of the club (among whom we noticed Charley Marshall and Charley Boaz), entered a crew and put up a good race.

GOOD TIME MADE.

Some good time was made in some of the races. The turn proved the stumbling-block for many, who came to grief there. Doc Brown proved himself a capital starter, showing no favor to any crew. The course was half a mile with turn, and was lined with gaily decorated craft. No accidents occurred, except a few capsizing, but a wetting was the only damage done. The prizes were distributed at the close of the races by Commodore C. J. Forrester. In the evening a largely-attended bonnet hop was held in the boat-house. After the races a dinner was tendered the "judges" and officials by the club. The club numbers six hundred members, forty being at the front. The judges' duties were light, there being no disputes or protests of any kind. There were fourteen events on the program; all of the intermeriate class were made club events.

Here No. 1 G.T. crew turned splendidly; No. 2 G.T. crew and Club Champetre crew lost several seconds. However, after turning, they made a splendid try to catch No. 1 crew, but failed to do so, losing by three lengths; C.C.C. being six lengths behind.

GAMES NEXT WEEK.

Indians vs. Stars.
Shamrocks vs. Nationals.

Tecumsehs Won.

TORONTO, Aug. 30.—It was the first game Saturday in the Queen City Professional league game between Tecumsehs and Rosedales, the final score being 7 to 3 in favor of the Reds.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 30.—An announcement was made yesterday of the unconditional release by the Baltimore Federal League Club of Catcher Jacklitsch and First Baseman Swacina, and of negotiations for the sale of Third Baseman Jimmy Walsh, to the St. Louis Federals.

It is understood there is to be a general reorganization of the local club as a result of its tail-end position.

EXCITING TIMES WHEN SHAMROCKS CAME NEAR EVENING THE SCORE

Players Staged Many Unnecessary Mix-ups, But No One Was Hurt — Nationals Champions of N.L.U. Once Again

NATIONALS	10
SHAMROCKS	8

Wildly exciting at times, and interlarded with many fights on the field, too many in fact, although as usual no one was hurt worth speaking of, punctuated also with a few fights amongst the spectators, and the spectacle of one of them jumping over the grand stand fence and threatening to lick both teams, the three thousand or more spectators who gathered at the National lacrosse grounds on Saturday certainly got their money's worth.

What started out as a terribly one-sided match, the Nationals fairly running away with the Shamrocks in the first two periods, turned into as exciting a set-to as one might well desire to see during the second half when the Shamrocks by redoubling the dash and vigor their forwards had displayed right along, managed to come within two goals of evening a score which at one time was ten to two against them.

DEFENCE WAS WEAK.

The Shamrock defence was weak and Vallieres missed nearly all the shots he was counted upon to stop in the first half.

Unfortunately two of the strong Shamrock defence players were absent through illness, Mahoney and McMullen, and this had probably something to do with their poor showing early in the game, when the National veterans with terrible precision and more terrible execution pushed their way time and again up to the Shamrock stronghold.

L'Heureux, up to the beginning of the second half, was invincible and unapproachable, later on, he seemed to be getting a little nervous and became easier to circumvent.

PLAYERS OUT OF HAND.

The referees did their best to keep the game clean, but somehow or other the players got out of hand. Mr. McCutcheon, who was in charge, being hardly quick enough in his decisions, and a little vague in the announcement of his penalties, while being compelled to admit once that he did not know the name of the man he had ruled off.

The outcome of Saturday's matches virtually make the Nationals N. L. U. champions, but this fact will not detract in the slightest on Saturday from interest in the Montreal-National match on the M. A. A. A. grounds, for the Nationals will try all hard to beat their old rivals there, as the Shamrocks did, and nothing would please them so much next to winning the championship.

MONTREALER WHO AGAIN BEAT ALL CRACK LONG DISTANCE RUNNERS AT PANAMA EXHIBITION MARATHON AT SAN FRANCISCO SATURDAY

Edouard Fabre as he was snapshotted for The Montreal Star when he won the Boston Marathon.

FABRE FIRST IN SAN FRANCISCO MARATHON RACE

Hugh Honahan of New York Second Despite An Injured Foot — Fabre Wired News of Victory to Richmond Club

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., August 30.—Edouard Fabre, the French-Canadian entrant of the Richmond Athletic Club of Montreal, won the Olympic Club Marathon over the full course of 26 miles and 385 yards, and after he crossed the tape in the Exposition Stadium inquired what his dinner was to be.

Hugh Honahan of the New York Athletic Club was second, and Oliver Millard of the Olympic Club was third. Fabre's time for the race was 2 hours, 56 minutes and 41 4-5 seconds. Honahan negotiated the course in 3 hours 1 minute and 22 2-5 seconds, and Millard's time was 3 hours 11 minutes and 36 3-5 seconds. Honahan had injured his foot, but ran gamely. Manuel Cooper, of the Chicago Hebrew Institute, was the fourth man to the tape and the last of the fourteen starters to finish. His time was 3 hours 17 minutes and 57 1-5 seconds.

TOOK THE LEAD.

Fabre took the lead near the west portal of the Twin Peaks Tunnel, after the runners had made twenty miles, and gradually drew away from his competitors. Previous to that he had been running easily with the five leaders. From the start in the Exposition Stadium to the nineteen-mile flag Millard, Horne of Boston, Honahan, and Nick Gianakopulos of New York led the other contestants and demonstrated that they constituted the class of the race. Millard, Horne and Honahan alternated in setting the pace.

Those who started in the race were: Charles Pores and Nick Gianakopulos of the Millrose A.C., New York City; Edouard Fabre, Richmond A. C., Montreal; Clifton Horne, Dorchester A. C., Boston; H. G. Dobler, Mystic A. C., Chicago; Hugh Honahan, New York A. C.; Pat Coyne, Holy Cross Lyceum, New York; O. J. Millard, Olympic Club, San Francisco; William O. Johnson (unattached), San Francisco; Sidney Hatch, Illinois A. C.; A. Monteverde, (unattached), Carmel; William J. Heavind, Farallone City; F. S. McWilliams, Olympic Club; Manuel Cooper, Chicago Hebrew Institute.

A more difficult marathon course could not have been chosen. It was over long hills and dusty and rocky roads. Beginning, the runners circled the one-mile cinder path at the racetrack, then circled the Exposition Grounds, and returned to the track. Thence the course led over the Presidio grounds and through Golden Gate Park to the Great Highway, down the Great Highway and Boulevard, and then back to Market and Van Ness avenue by way of the Corbet Road to the Zone entrance of the Exposition. The finish was on the cinder path in the Exposition track.

WAS NOT FATIGUED.

Fabre did not seem fatigued to any extent when he finished. His breathing was perfect, and as he came down the final fifty yards he sprinted to show the assembled crowd that he still had plenty of endurance left. This was his third marathon winning within a short period. Fabre jumped into fame as a long-distance runner when he won the Boston Marathon last month. Before that he won several Montreal races and came second in Boston last year. Horne, who finished second in this year's Boston race, dropped out today when he reached Van Ness avenue and Market street. Hatch, who took third place in the Boston event, quit at the end of the sixteenth mile today.

From the fifteenth to the seventeenth mile Horne looked like a winner. He opened up a gap of several hundred yards, but the effort proved his downfall. After showing well for the first fifteen miles, Nick Gianakopulos, the Millrose Athletic Club entrant, was picked up exhausted by the Exposition Emergency Hospital ambulance, which followed the racers. Cooper, the representative of the Chicago Hebrew Institute, came from behind in the final eight miles and passed all competitors, to finish a close fourth.

WIRED HIS CLUB.

There was a great crowd waiting for news Saturday night at the Richmond Athletic Club headquarters on Notre Dame street west. Fabre wired to the president:

"Won race going strong."

He will return on the third or four of September and receive a big reception.

2ND ROUND QUEBEC CUP BAD DAY FOR THE SENIORS, VICKERS AND CALVIN WIN

Locos Have Hard Time with Beloeil — Invictas Again Score a 1-0 Victory — M.A.A.A. and C.P.R. Among the Slain

RESULTS OF PRINCIPAL SOCCER GAMES.

Second Round Quebec Cup.

Calvin, 2; C. P. R., 1.
Invicta, 1; Peter Lyalls, 0.
Canadian Vickers, 3; M. A. A. A., 1.
Locos, 2; Beloeil, 1.

First Division.

Sons of Scotland, 4; Shamrocks, 0.
Grand Trunk, 3; Lachine, 1.
Sons of England, 2; St. Paul Rangers, 1.

Second Division.

Maisonneuve, 4; St. Thomas, 0.

Third Division.

Blue Bonnets, 3; Chemicals, 1.
St. Thomas A., 2; Sweet Caps, 1.
Maisonneuve, 4; St. Thomas, 0.

Saturday's Quebec Cup round proved a triumph for two Third Division clubs, and showed once again that cup ties are levelers, and no respecters of leagues, senior or otherwise. Canadian Vickers and Calvin were the heroes of the afternoon, and M. A. A. A. and C. P. R. were the unfortunate victims. Needless to say, there is much joy in Third Division circles.

Where Calvin lined up at Angus Shops to face C. P. R., few would have given them a win, even though C. P. R. had only ten men out, but win they did by 2 to 1. As per the nature of this competition, play was full of excitement, and, accepting the warning, not to underrate Calvin, the seniors went hot for victory. At half-time the teams were level, one goal each. This was the score, until four minutes from the end, when Barrie beat the C. P. R. goalie for the winning point. Then came the final blow of the whistle, leaving happy, happy Calvin, victorious over a team that had the previous Saturday defeated Grand Trunk.

When a senior team loses to a so-called inferior bunch, the customary, and altogether too convenient, excuse is that they were beaten by the "kick and rush" game. This form of arguing is most pitiable, and goes for nought. Vickers, certainly astonishing the good figure they cut when they went in cup ties Saturday, saw them beaten by the Indian way down in the throats of Canadian Vickers, and the score 2-1, but M. A. A. A. had a goal disallowed. Verdun, earlier in the season, knocked the winged wheel boys out of the Connaught Cup, and Vickers did similarly in the Quebec trophy. This result, while not so surprising as the Calvin-C. P. R. affair, nevertheless will go to chasten the spirit of our senior clubs. It is now "Stats off to the Third."

Invictas scored a one-nothing win over Peter Lyalls, in an anybody's game. It was not until away on to the second half that Sam McLean booted in the solitary, and all that was necessary, goal. Play was of the cup tie order—all excitement and very little in it. Two goals in two weeks is not particularly good going for a team with Invictas' great scoring record, but running close to the wind, two sick forwards makes a big difference.

It will take Locos a long time to forget the 1915 competition of the Quebec Cup. Saturday saw them winners over Beloeil in another close scoring game, of 2 to 1, and the result in doubt until the very last crack of the whip. Seeing that Beloeil were playing away from home, and Locos were on their "ain particular," Beloeil came out of the encounter leaving much respect behind for Bob Walker and his "ammunition column."

Grand Trunka won away from home in a senior league game, defeating Lachine 3-1. It was a game of vital importance to Grand Trunka, if they were to keep in the running for league honors, the result shows they rose to the occasion.

Sons of England also won away, taking two points from St. Paul Rangers, which means that the Englishmen will finish the season in a very respectable position.

Shamrocks appeared without Bayne or Neal, Heaven dropping back from the half-way line. While no one would blame Bayne's deputy for the defeat, it doubtless had, a lot to do with the ease with which Sons of Scotland defeated them—4 to 0. This completely reverses the previous result, when the Scots were beaten. Billy Crossans continues to show the master-strokes of soccer, and should he wish for representative games, it will take an extremely able man to supersede him.

Blue Bonnets victory over Chemicals, 3-1, deserves more than passing notice, considering that Chemicals have men equal to any in the district, and a 3-1 victory leaves no excuses.

FOUR FAVORITES WON SATURDAY AT MAISONNEUVE

A record crowd turned out on Saturday to witness the last day's sports at the Maisonneuve race meeting. Nine well-filled races were run on a fast track, making a fitting finish to a very successful week.

Four of the nine favorites won their races on Saturday. The riding honors were carried away by Jockey Pickens who won three races and came in second and third on two occasions.

MAROONS WIN TITLE.

In one of the most hotly contested baseball games played on Fletcher's Field this season, the Maroons beat their famous rivals, the C. P. R. Tel. Boys by a score to 7 to 4. The loose plays of the C. P. R. Boys were responsible for four of the Maroons' runs. Fee, for the winners, pitched one of the best games of his career, and by his wonderful twirling, kept his opponents well in hand. For the losers Henry Heckland and Schulick put up a star game in the outer garden.

A large crowd of supporters of both clubs were on hand, and applauded at every good play made by their favorites. In winning this game the Maroons cinched the championship of the Boys' League, and Manager Barash is now waiting untill the arrangements are made for the play-off with the N. B. Y. M. C. A. team, winners of the Juvenile League, to settle the boys' championship of Montreal.

THISTLE WON FROM LIVINGSTONE.

On Saturday Verdun was the scene of one of the best football games played this season. The Thistles showed their supremacy over the Levingstone in defeating them by a score of 3 to 2. It was splendid fast Association football from the first whistle to the last one, and the winners had to put up their very best line of skill to gain the verdict.

Thistle won the toss and played down hill. Livingstone again took up the offensive, and after a good combination play made it 2 to 0. Thistle then realized the fact that they were playing against a very strong team, and started to rush matters, and succeeded in scoring one goal. The balance of the first half was fought to a finish, and it was certainly clever billiards, but nobody was doing it, what? Scoring goals, and 2 to 1 was still the score in favor of the Livingstones at the end of the first period.

Second Half.

A few minutes after the kick-off the Thistles, playing uphill against the wind, McHenry scored a beauty, tieing the score. With the score tied it looked to everyone as if the next goal would do the trick, but who was going to get it—that was the question. Thistles forced a corner ten minutes off time and kept the ball in Livingstone's goal until Harrison found an opening and scored the winning tally.

The line-up of the winners was: R. Bruce, W. Renfrew, A. Pearson, Allan Pearson, J. Small, S. Harrison, J. Renfrew, A. Bradbury, J. McHenry, R. Phillips, Gunstone.

SECOND Lieutenant Ferdinand Marsham-Townsend, Scots Guards (owner of Polygamist, the winner of Haydock Park Handicap last year), who was killed in action at Festubert, France, on May 16, youngest son of the late Hon. Robert Marsham-Townsend, and grandson of the second Earl of Romney, left an estate valued at £49,425.

THE MILITARY SITUATION.

THE revival of the Austro-German offensive in Eastern Galicia may indicate the next development of the Teutonic campaign in the East. The enemy's forces have remained practically idle on this section of the front ever since Field Marshal von Mackensen turned north from Lemberg. Before this swing to the north, accompanied by Field Marshal von Hindenberg's thrust through toward Kovno, it was a debatable point whether the Austro-Germans intended to try for the capture of the Russian armies or for the pocketing of Roumania, which was very restive at that time. The decision was made to try for a Russian "Sedan"—which did not come off—and Roumania was left to smother under the flood of her superfluous wheat.

Now, however, the Balkan situation has again become critical. The vigorous new offensive pending in Gallipoli, the arrival of M. Venizelos in the Greek Premiership and the loyal spirit of self-sacrifice which seems to have arisen in Serbia, combined with the shortage of shells in Turkey, has made it very necessary for the Teutons to apply some strong and swift pressure on this district if they are to save their Ottoman Ally. And it may be—as the Russian campaign is not even yet satisfactorily closed—that they propose to make a first move in this direction by driving down behind Roumania into Bessarabia.

This will be more in the nature of an extension of their present campaign than would a serious expedition against Serbia. Yet it may—if it succeeds—make it appear to Roumania as if she were shut off for the time being from Russian support. This will probably be expected to shake the neutrality of Roumania—at least so far as to persuade her to permit the shipment of munitions of war to Bulgaria. Thus this new activity in the southeast is important and will be watched with keen interest. Its results, however, can only be of temporary advantage to the enemy, no matter how readily the Russians retire, continuing their policy of saving their armies for another day.

* * * * *

The successful Russian fighting in the north marks the real pivot of the campaign. There is the only point at which the Germans can deliver a dangerous blow—territorially—at our Ally. In every other part of the field, it is merely a matter of keeping the Russian armies intact and ready for the revival that is coming—a revival which the generous and organized activity of our Japanese Ally, in the business of supplying war munitions, will greatly hasten. But in Courland, there is always a possibility that the German "gang-plough" may have Petrograd before it, and it would undoubtedly discommode Russia to lose Petrograd. Of course, we have already seen that it did not injure France at all to withdraw its Government from Paris—and Paris is more truly France than Petrograd is Russia. Still the Russians will undoubtedly make a stubborn fight for it to keep the Germans out of their Capital.

And they are making a winning fight. In that section of the field—in spite of the tremendous and expensive efforts of the enemy—no progress is reported. Moreover, it is still a long way to Petrograd, and winter is coming on. For the Germans to attempt to maintain a long line of communications across the Russian snows to the Gulf of Finland through a Russian winter, would be madness, indeed. We shall hardly see it tried, especially if our submarines become active in the Baltic.

* * * * *

The Italians report serious gains in the Trent district. Most of their heaviest fighting has been done so far across the Isonzo, but the invasion of the Trentino will much more seriously threaten the Austrian power to capture the offensive when and if their forces are released from the long Russian adventure. The losses suffered by our Italian Allies are admittedly severe. This is a proof of their courage and enterprise against very strong natural positions. Austria did not select this strategic line in the past without some foresight and military knowledge.

If the Italians now give us the victory on Gallipoli, they will have contributed most effective and decisive assistance to the prosecution of the war. It is plucky of them to try it, with their own frontiers always under the Teuton menace. They are in the best position, however, to quickly transport troops to the Dardanelles, and they may happily be able to bear down Turkish resistance by sheer weight of overwhelming numbers before any Austro-German expedition can possibly fight its way across the Balkans to the relief of the Gallipoli garrisons.

* * * * *

On the western front, we are still largely marking time and awaiting the strategic moment for a great offensive. Again, in this part of the field—as in Russia—we seem to be sparing our armies against the day when German resistance weakens. Time fights on our side. We are in no hurry. All the wearing down forces are with us. We are not compelled by internal strain or outside blockade to try to force a decision this year—or next year. It is our "cue" to fight on, as economically as we can be with our men, until the hour comes when, from some point in the iron circle about the Central Empires, we can thrust with deadly effect at the vitals of the enemy.

THE ONE GREAT NEED.

THERE is one dominant factor which it is essential to keep always in mind during these days of stress and strain—the need for self-sacrifice. Every man and every woman throughout this Dominion can do his or her share to help the Empire. It is the paramount duty of all to do all they can. Most people realize this, but not everyone realizes at the same time that in order to accomplish their task so that it shall be of material aid, they must be ready to make certain sacrifices.

It may be a sacrifice of time only; it may be one of time and money combined. It is almost inevitably one that places self-interest aside. But whatever it be, and however hard it be, it is a sacrifice. If it is made in the proper spirit, it cannot fail of its set purpose, though success may not be evident to him or her who makes it.

But any sacrifice, even the smallest, is of no avail unless it be made in the proper spirit—that of cheerfulness and determination. A sacrifice grudgingly made is futile, because the lack of the element of willingness vitiates the spirit that alone can render it of service.

The citizen who grumbles while at his self-enforced hours of drill; the man or woman who grumbles while contributing to this or that patriotic fund; the woman who complains because her husband seems to be neglecting her for the stern duties of the hour—none of these is really helping the cause of Empire.

But the man who cheerfully gives up hours of ease for the hard work of the drill ground; the business man who signs his cheque for some fund with a smile; the woman who greets her husband with a cheerful face on his return from some duty done for the supreme cause—these are the people whose sacrifices can never fail to be of vital service.

It is well, even imperative, to bear this fact in mind, especially at times when duty seems irksome, and sacrifice a burden too heavy to be endured. When thousands are giving their lives every week for the Empire, self-sacrifice surely is a very little thing to achieve in the spirit of a gift willingly given.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

The Grand Fleet.

London Daily Telegraph:—The Grand Fleet has not remained behind barricades of nets and mines. It has kept incessant vigil in grim waters of death sown with mines and haunted by fierce and terrible creatures, submarines and destroyers, with airships hovering overhead and the hum of the waterplane constantly in men's ears. The strain has been bourne with heroic devotion.

A War-Time Reflection.

London Daily Mail:—War is as much a conflic tof spiritual as of material forces. If the nation is careless and selfish the Army must feel the reaction. But as heroism evokes heroism, as the great example has a compelling power, we may hope that the divine conduct of our soldiers may lift the whole people up to their level of faith and love. Victory is not to be looked for until, in the fires of trial, inefficiency and sloth and apathy have been burned out of our hearts and lives.

Be a Mark Tapley.

Detroit Free Press:—The world needs more Mark Tapleys. Social, political, and weather conditions combine to give a gloomy tinge to the average man's reflections and he is certain to have spells of thinking that everything is going to smash. War wages on every hand, men are being killed like flies, more wars threaten, peaceful nations see their peace imperilled and the patter of the rain seems to beat taps for cheerfulness. Out of the welter of war a Mark Tapley would see coming a better, brighter, freer day for the world, and prove by allusion and illustration the beneficent workings of Fate.

Fighting for the Right.

London Times:—They have gone into this war with a good conscience, and they firmly trust that the help which never failed their fathers will not fail them in their need. Not from hate or from lust of aggression have they unsheathed the sword. They are fighting for the right; for the defence of their own shores; for the protection of the weak; for the assistance of their Allies unjustly assailed; and, above all, for the vindication of Justice in the dealings between nations and for the upholding of public law. It is because they are striving for these great moral ends that they carry on this war in a spirit of union and of resolution, scarce approached at any former time. In their determination to win the war the people at home are absolutely one. Party and class have disappeared from amongst them. And behind them the young nations of the Dominions stand marshalled with convictions equally deep, and purpose equally firm. We are together as we never have been yet. We feel that we are one people with a new and a more penetrating sense. And as one people, unrivalled in our traditions, and sustained by many noble and exalted aspirations and hopes, we shall fight on. We shall fight until, in the words of the Prime minister of Australia, "through victory, liberty and lasting peace for all mankind are secured." That is the goal for which the British peoples are striving. That is the goal which, with the blessing of Heaven, they are determined, at all costs and through all dangers, to attain. Their resolution to reach it is firmer today than it was twelve months ago.

THE PASSING HOUR

LAST LAUGH.

"Sure, Oi'll write me name on the back 'o your note, guaranteein' ye'll pay ut," said Pat, smiling pleasantly as he indorsed Billup's note, "but Oi know doomed well ye won't pay ut. We'll have a laugh at th' expinse of the bank."—Life.

A Scotchman and an Irishman met in the country one day, and during their conversation a motor car passed by; the Scotchman said he hated the smell of a motor car, but Paddy said he liked it.

"Why," said the Scotchman, and Paddy said when he smelled it he knew danger was passed.

A JOLT.

"I'm not going to that female barber-shop again; there's a rude girl there, don't you know."

"What did she say?"

"Why, she looked at my mustawsh and awsked me if I would have it sponged off or rubbed in."—Christian Register.

"The good business man turns everything—weather, war, crops—to practical use in his business."

The speaker was George W. Perkins, the millionaire of New York. He continued:

"Just as the clever girl turns everything to practical use toward getting settled in life, you know. I said the other day to a girl:

"'Well, have you learned to swim yet this summer?'

"'Oh, yeas,' she answered; 'seven times.'"

ABEL INCIDENT EXPLAINED.

When their first son was born, Adam is thought by some critics to have remarked, not without much acerbity: "Red hair! Wouldn't that jar you?"

"Well, I am not presenting you with any gold-headed Cains. If I know myself," retorted Eve, affecting indifference, albeit secretly mortified to death."—Puck.

Agent—"Would you like to look at this fine set of Dickens?"

Unson—"No, I never have a bit of luck with books."

Agent—"Whaddye mean, luck?" Unson—"I bought a set of doctor books last year and I haven't been sick a day since."—Judge.

A MISNOMER.

"Did you see where an official says that the Pullman porter's position is regarded as an uplift?"

"He made a mistake; he meant a hold-up."—Baltimore American.

"Now," said the nervous old lady to the druggist, "are you sure you have that medicine mixed right?"

"No, ma'am," said the conscientious apothecary. "I wouldn't go as far as that, but I've got it mixed the way the doctor ordered it."

FOR PEACE.

"What do you think of the acoustics, Mrs. Nurich?" whispered her neighbor.

"Oh, I don't mix in them religious squabbles. Let everybody worship in their own way, I say."—Buffalo Express.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

"Tomorrow will be the 77th birthday of Dr. Oliver Wendell Holmes."—From The Montreal Star, August 29, 1885.

The Late Oliver Wendell Holmes

Oliver Wendell Holmes was born in Cambridge, Mass., in 1809, and died in 1894. In the year 1835 he began the practice of medicine in Boston, and the following year he published his first volume of poems. From 1838-40 he was Professor of Anatomy at Dartmouth College, and in 1847 he was appointed to the chair of Anatomy and Physiology at Harvard, which post he held for thirty-five years. To the Atlantic Monthly he contributed the "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table," which won for him a lasting fame. He was perhaps the most versatile of the remarkable school of American writers flourishing at that time. As an essayist he is ranked with Addison and Leigh Hunt, while his poetry is written with deep human experience. His novels abound in subtle character studies and picturesque local color, and his speculations and investigations are the products of an original mind. His works include the "Professor," and the "Poet at the Breakfast Table," "Elsie Venner," "The Guardian Angel," "A Mortal Antipathy," "Over the Teacups," "Pages from an Old Volume of Life," and various collections of poems and biographies. In 1886 he paid a second visit to the Old World, which he has described in "Our Hundred Days in Europe."

"LONDON, Aug. 29.—It is almost certain that peace between England and Russia on the Afghan question is now completely assured. The two Governments are busily engaged in arranging the last details of a mutual understanding, and negotiations are proceeding rapidly and harmoniously."—From The Montreal Star, August 29, 1885.

"A grand fete champetre took place today on St. Helen's Island for the benefit of the Notre Dame Hospital, under the patronage of His Worship Mayor Beaugrand and aldermen. The grounds were crowded with people, and all were enjoying themselves when we went to press."—From The Star, August 29, 1885.

The Universities After the War

"It would be a great pity if the average man came to look to the Universities in vain for the 'Young Idealist,' who is to have his say after the war is over.

"Wouldn't it?"

This question is put in a very stimulating article in the Aberdeen University Review, entitled "Intelligentia and the War." It is signed "A Master of Arts," and says some things which should make Brains to think.

"To many thoughtful men the time is full of similar portents to "Intelligentia,' because they know full well that the British public is not the docile thing that the German people are and always have been. That public is really never taken in by the claims of 'Intelligentia,' Tommy Atkins, for instance, goes to battle singing 'Tipperary' or 'Who's your lady friend?' or something equally banal, and all attempts to make him sing 'Hearts of Oak' or 'Rule Britannia,' or any of the other declamations of academic patriotism, are ridiculous failures. Similiarly, while 'Intelligentia' has been swallowing—or rather trying to swallow—Wagner's 'Ring,' the 'great British public' has clung to 'The Messiah' or 'The Bohemian Girl'—that is to say, it absolutely refuses to be lectured; and there are signs that it may get angry if it is deliberately thwarted 'for its good' by 'Intelligentia.'"

Testing Respirators by the Trench-Men

At last the British army is putting its respirators to the test, and the work of England's sewing circles has not always been found wanting. A veracious lancers lieutenant has explained the whole matter as follows:

From the discarded diving-bell to the dear little lace and cambric things one sees advertised in ladies' journals, each of us has got his own special pet mask or respirator. So much so that I regret to say there is no subject so calculated to provoke the hasty word and angry tear from otherwise gentle majors and retiring colonels. At one time every man in the regiment suffered from at least four different kinds, each one guaranteed better than the others. And the more simple souls went in hourly danger of their liver through instantly donning the whole collection at the slightest whisper of the word "gas."

Then headquarters took the matter in hand. On a certain day six officers and men per regiment were to go to a vacated trench filled with chlorine gas, there to test the different types of respirator. Accordingly, at the hour appointed, we arrived at the trench, where we found a long, thin line of officers and men, each with his favorite mask, waiting to be gassed. To make things cheerful, there was a motor ambulance and a row of grinning stretcher bearers waiting for possible casualties near by; while to reassure us still further, a little man with a big megaphone and a bigger voice roared out that the atmosphere into which we were going greatly surpassed anything that the Germans could do in the same line, and if we survived on the present occasion we should have nothing more to fear. Sandwiched between a general and a private, I entered the formidable place before the entrance of which a gentleman in a helmet began to squirt a sort of green London fog from a cylinder.

At the sight of this the general in front of me perceptibly wavered, but urged on by the press behind I ran him in. So efficient was my helmet that I breathed with great bravado for several minutes in that terrible atmosphere. The general, however, was not so fortunate. All of a sudden, "Here let me get out of this," he roared in an awful voice, and coughing and spluttering he fairly bolted from the trench. Out in the open again we removed our masks and compared note. One gallant major who had gone in with only a mouth respirator and without his cap, came out with his hair bleached to a corn-like shade. On my pointing this out to him, "How Gwendoline would have appreciated it," he muttered to himself.

The private behind me was enthusiastic. "Lor' bless you, sir," he said, "that there stuff in the trench didn't do me no more harm than if it was a glass of——" then remembering his recent loyal pledge—"of corfy," he ended rather lamely, and drew the back of his hand across his mouth.

MUST WAIT SEVEN YEARS.

Q.—I left my husband six years ago; never lived with him since; he paid me board for my son for eight months and then stopped; never got one cent from him for myself; have not heard from him nor seen him for two years; I wrote to where he was supposed to be but I got no answer; I wrote over again; I put an advertisement in paper for him, but got no answer; I have found a good man who would give me and my son a good living; I am not able to work. Can I marry that man without exposing myself to be arrested for bigamy? or how long must I remain as I am before I can marry without exposing myself?—K. F.

A.—You must wait seven years from the time you last heard from your husband before you can marry again without exposing yourself to being arrested for bigamy.

FIRE INSURANCE CLAIM.

Q.—I had a fire in my place of business and it caused a lot of damage; I employ a watchman and he has a clock to pull every hour, which he did; when he pulled at ten o'clck he went for supper to his house, only four doors from factory; insurance people have found this out and claim he has no right to absent himself from factory even if his house was only one door from factory; they say he must be on the spot all the time. Will you give me a little information on this before I take it to Court. —J. N.

A.—Under an ordinary contract of fire insurance this neglect of the watchman would not prevent you recovering your insurance money.

MONTH'S NOTICE REQUIRED.

Q.—Where two persons have taken rooms from another person at so much rent per calendar month payable at middle of month and on 1st of month, is it legal for us to give a fortnight's notice an leave on 14th of month, when payment has been made up to middle of month; or can landlady make us pay a full month's rent and detain our property till we do pay her a month's rent? No written agreement.—An Anxious Enquirer.

A.—Under the circumstances one month's notice should be given or one month's rent paid.

CANNOT MARRY AGAIN.

Q.—I have a friend who is very anxious to know if he can marry again. He was married about seven years ago in United States, but left his wife about a year later. For the last two years he has been trying to locate her, but has not succeeded. Could he be arrested for bigamy if he married again in Canada?—"A Friend."

A.—He cannot marry again under the circumstances you mention without running the risk of prosecution.

CAN SEIZE FURNITURE.

Q.—I am a soldier's wife, with no friends here; I wish to live in England for remainder of war. Can landlord seize my furniture for rent if I leave, or can he compel me to pay anything to break lease?—Anxious.

A.—The landlord can seize the furniture for rent, less the articles that are exempt by law.

A BROKEN PROMISE.

Q.—Signed lease for one year for new house on promise of landlord putting water and other conveniences in, but up to this date nothing has been done; have to get a supply of water from next house, hundred yards from this house, can I cancel lease and leave house?—J. S.

A.—If you can prove the agreement you can oblige the landlord to carry it out or you can leave the house.

MORE WOUNDED OFFICERS FROM THE FRONT HERE

Quite a Number Arrived Yesterday on the Missinabie

TELL OF NEEDS AT THE FRONT

Mrs. Lorne Gardner Speaks of Work Done by Red Cross

The Canadian Pacific liner Missinabie which reached port last evening had on board a number of officers, doctors, nurses, and soldiers returning from the European battlefield, either totally disabled, or recovering from wounds, or on leave of absence. Most of the officers will not be returning to the front until the end of October, while the men will have about six weeks' leave. A large number of the latter disembarked at Quebec, and will be attended to in the military hospital and convalescent homes there before being sent to their homes.

Among the officers who returned were Capt. H. A. Duncan, 16th Battalion, Highlanders, of Hamilton, who is suffering from shock; Capt. Hassard, Canadian Field Hospital, of Detroit, ankle broken through his horse stumbling and falling on him; Capt. Haywood, Medical Corps, Toronto; Lieut. R. Brown, 1st Battalion, of Galt, Ont., who was wounded at Festubert; Major Mercereau, General Staff, of Quebec; Lieut. H. Teed, General Staff, of New Brunswick, suffering from shock; Lieut. Fornerette, 10th Battalion, of Hamilton, suffering from shock; Lieut.-Col. Gardner, Canadian Army Medical Corps, wounded in the leg; Lieut. W. Cockahutt, 10th Battalion; Lieut. M. de Pey, Princess Patricia's Light Infantry, wounded in the arm at Ypres, May 8; Lieut. Bishop, D.S.O., 1st Middlesex Regiment, England, who is a Canadian by birth, but joined in Britain and gained a commission.

OFFICERS WELL PLEASED.

Most of the officers took part in the battle of St. Julien and the second battle at Ypres, as well as at Festubert, and had interesting tales to tell their many friends who greeted them. All paid tribute to the bravery and steadiness of the men from the Dominion, of the terrible losses they had suffered, and of the need of heavy artillery to support the infantry. Those who had come in contact with the two university companies that had been sent over as reinforcements for the Princess Pats, also spoke in high terms of their efficiency, while the other officers who had to deal with the second contingent reinforcements were pleased at the excellent type of men.

Capt. Duncan was reported by one of his brother officers to have rushed bravely on an orchard in which a crowd of Germans were, with only a handful of men, and after a brief struggle to have driven them out.

Capt. Heywood, of Toronto, has been awarded the Military Cross for his bravery. With his sergeant, who has been recommended for the D.C.M., he was in a dressing station on the firing line attending to a large number of men needing immediate help when the Canadian force was ordered to retire. The Germans shelled the dressing station, but the captain and the sergeant got the majority of the men out safely.

Lieut. De Pey did not think there there were fifty of the original Princess Pats left at the front, as they were sadly thinned out when he left, which was last May, and had been in several big actions since then.

Corp. Stewart, 5th Battalion, of Saskatchewan, returned with twenty-seven shrapnel wounds in the back, another wound in the hip, and his armpit has been practically carried away, but he hopes to get over them all and go back again. He was lifting a wounded comrade when a shell hit him.

WORK OF RED CROSS.

Mrs. Lorne Gardner, of the Canadian Red Cross Society, who has returned on leave of absence, has spent a great deal of time in France seeking information about Canadian soldiers for the benefit of the relatives and friends, and has visited most of the hospitals in which Canadians have been treated. The information that she gained was as a rule sent to the Information department of the Society under Lady Drummond in London, except in the case of inquiries from the large Canadian colony which has grown up in France of relatives of the men at the front. The Society is called the Canadian branch of the British Red Cross Society in France, as that is the only organization officially recognized by the French Government. Mrs. Gardner stated that after the Canadians had been in action the work of the Canadian workers was much expedited, and the welcome given was extraordinary. British and French officers all told the same story that the Canadians had saved Calais, and nothing was too good for the wounded who began to pour into Boulogne and Calais after the battle.

Mrs. Gardner also paid high tribute to the excellence of the Red Cross supplies sent from Canada, which were distributed to every hospital in which any Canadian wounded were, and which were regarded by the workers in the hospitals as models of neat, serviceable and strong work.

THREAT IN LETTER AT THE CITY HALL

The "exasperated citizen" is in arms. He will have no increase in city taxes.

"We the undersigned presently notify you," runs a quaint but angry letter received by Charles Arnoldi, the City Treasurer," and says: "Beware your life, if you are going to ask more taxes or new taxes on immovable properties in Montreal. We have enough suffered before today by the foolish expense of all the boodlers who govern so honestly our civic affairs. If you have not enough money to meet with administration, you will have only to pull out from the City Hall all the parasites, who are paid very high wages to do nothing. For the last time, 'Beware your life.'"

The rush of people into Vera Cruz, Mexico, since United States soldiers evacuated it, has raised the population from 35,000 to more than 100,000. It is said that all traces of the clean-up the troops made have long disappeared, and that the water and sanitation problems are acute.

LITTLE STORIES for Bedtime
By T. W. Burgess

THE GLAD NEWS SPREADS.

(Copyright, 1915, by J. G. Lloyd.)

To carry news that is good to hear
Is the gladdest thing you can do, my dear.

There is an old saying that bad news travels fast. So does good news. It is wonderful how fast it can travel. Just pass good news along some time and see for yourself how fast it travels. And see, too, how good it makes you feel to spread good news. No sooner had Sticky-Toes the Tree Toad opened his mouth and begun to cry "It's going to rain! Its going to rain!" than the good news fairly flew east and west and north and south over the Green Meadows and the Old Pasture and through the Green Forest and Old Orchard.

How did it fly? Why, in ever so many ways. Welcome Robin, who had been sitting with drooping wings and looking very miserable in the very next tree to the one in which was Sticky-Toes, suddenly looked like a new bird, and off he started through the Old Orchard, telling every one he met Sticky-Toes was calling rain and so of course it was going to rain. Each one he told it to hurried to tell some one else, and they in turn passed the word along. Peter Rabbit, who had thrown himself down near Johnny Chuck's doorstep panting with the heat, hopped up at the first sound of Sticky-Toes's voice and started for the dear Old Brier Patch, lipperty-lipperty-lip, to tell little Mrs. Peter. On the way he told Danny Meadow Mouse and Digger the Badger.

Sammy Jay Screamed the News Through the Green Forest.

The Merry Little Breezes of Old Mother West Wind, who hadn't had life enough to move all that day, hurried this way and that way carrying the voice of Stick-Toes as far as they could without losing it. Sammy Jay screamed the news through the Green Forest, and then flew down to the Smiling Pool to tell Grandfather Frog and Jerry Muskrat, who were worrying because the Smiling Pool was growing smaller so fast that they were afraid that pretty soon there wouldn't be any Smiling Pool.

Drummer the Woodpecker hurried to a favorite hollow tree and began to drum with all his might just as he does when he is bubbling over with joy early in the spring. So the news spread, this way, that way, every way, until every one knew that Sticky-Toes the Tree Toad said that it was going to rain. And because everyone had believed the story that he could call rain if he wanted to, every one now believed that he told the truth and that it was going to rain. And because they were so glad they forgot their anger against Sticky-Toes because he hadn't called rain before. You see people cannot be happy and angry at the same time. In a heart full of happiness and gladness there is no room for anger.

So, though there wasn't a cloud in the sky every one went about saying that it was going to rain just because Sticky-Toes said so. As for Sticky-Toes himself, he felt so good to see his neighbors feeling better that he sang with all his might:

Rain, rain, beautiful rain,
It surely is going to fall again.

RETURNING TO HOUSE.

Some months ago, a correspondent asked whether it was unlucky to return to the same house to live. In the fashion
By Lillian Young

A Good Walking Skirt. 107

In these days, when women travel and go to business much as a man does, and when the suburban housewife has many interests outside the home, a good, practical skirt that has smart lines and is yet neither too wide nor too narrow for practical use is a thing greatly to be desired.

This pattern of a skirt is just the thing for a busy woman. It fastens in front, which saves much time in dressing and much wear on the nerves, and it can be made with a finished top, so as to obviate the necessity for a belt.

The skirt fits around the hips and flares at the bottom, and is intended to be made up of stiff linen, crash, khaki, any medium weight or thick woollen material, corduroy, or velveteen. It is not a pattern for a dressy skirt, and this should be borne in mind. The dressy skirt is built on quite different lines, although these lines are good for all general purposes, such as an informal call, shopping, walking, mourning wear, golfing, tennis and the usual pursuits that a woman indulges in around her home.

If more style is wanted, then trim the skirt with braid, for braid is, par excellence, the trimming for the coming months. Buttons, too, will be very largely used for trimming purposes, and, in this case, they serve the double purpose of adorning the skirt and fastening it.

For those people who do not want to use the slashed opening at the top a simple straight opening is arranged for either the back of front of the skirt. The pattern is susceptible of supplying the old-fashioned placket, which, with the modern snaps that now come to fasten it, will not flare open and mar the symmetry and neat appearance of the gown.

When made up with a placket in the back this skirt could be cut in wash materials of an inexpensive nature and trimmed with the customary ruffles.

To-Day's Household Affairs
By MARY LEE.

CARING FOR THE ICE BOX.

"My friends are constantly complaining of the rapidity with which food spoils in their ice-boxes, no matter how much ice they put in," said Mrs. Happy homemaker. "And they look at me with grieved reproach when I say 'You don't keep your ice-box clean.' Just about one housekeeper in ten takes enough trouble to keep her ice-box really clean, and when it comes to maids the proportion is more likely one in a hundred. An ice box may seem perfectly clean, owing to frequent wiping out, while the pipe which connects the ice chamber with the drain below is utterly neglected. This becomes coated with a thick slime which gives off a noxious gas, which contaminates the food and causes the mouldy film to form, which tells us we must throw the food away. Sometimes the danger signal of mould is lacking, owing to the kind of food, and then the food is eaten, and the first thing we know we have the doctor saying with a grave face, 'ptomaine poisoning.'

"The pipe referred to is almost always adjustable, and the only way to insure perfect cleanliness is to take it out and boil is in good strong washing soda solution, at least once in two weeks. Every other Monday morning, when the ice supply is low, and the boiler out for the washing, I put the pipe and trays in and boil them for ten minutes in soda water; the drain pan under the box is washed, with soda likewise, and hot soda water poured down the drain.

"The inside of the box is washed and dried thoroughly; the trays and pipe are cooled by letting cold water run over them, so that they may not retain heat and melt the ice when it is put in, dried and put back, and the ice-box is ready for the ice-man.

"If it is possible, it helps to let the box stand open occasionally after this treatment, so that the air may circulate through it. There should be special ice-box dishes, covered if possible. People have the habit of setting away a dish of food just as it comes from the table, which is not only unhygienic, but hard on the good dishes, which are liable to suffer chips from crowding in the ice-box.

"If anything is spilled, it pays to take the time to clean up at once, and prevent the clogging of the pipes, and, in consequence, a 'smelly' ice-box. I always see that the ice is washed before being put away, and any one who has seen the travels of a piece of ice, even from wagon to kitchen, instantly appreciates the reason for that.

"Charcoal and, unslaked lime are excellent disinfectants, and may be kept in saucers to keep the air of the ice-box sweet.

"So these are a few of the suggestions I offer when the complaint of quickly spoiling food comes, for in a carefully kept ice-box I have proved that food keeps twice as long and the extra effort is thus rewarded.

WHAT GIRLS MAY DO
BY JESSIE ROBERTS

APARTMENT TENANTS GLADLY EMPLOY HER.

How about being emergency helper in a big apartment house?

Several women are finding that it pays. They have their own apartment in the building, and are within call at all times. The tenants know what they are capable of doing, and when a new tenant comes the card that explains the services they stand ready to perform is slipped into the new box or left at the door.

Suppose one of the tenants is a woman with a small child or two. She wants to go off for a shopping or visiting trip. So she telephones down to the emergency lady and asks her to look after her children and apartment for the required time.

Or another woman with a husband who has to be at work all day falls sick. It may not be a serious illness, but it takes the tuck out of her. She 'phones down that she would like to be helped out, and the helper comes in, sees that she is comfortable, gets the necessary meals, and sets things in order.

Another woman has a cold or pressing work, and does not feel able to do her marketing. Once again the emergency helper is called on to give assistance.

In the large apartment houses there are always enough calls for help to make a fair return to the woman who undertakes to answer them. She charges by the hour and will do mending, or help out in some unexpected crisis where a maid suddenly departs with an impending party coming. Higher charges are made where the services is asked for night hours, as when the helper stays in an apartment while the occupants go off to the theatre or a dinner engagement.

The idea is a new one, and is only possible in one of the larger cities, but it is good, and many a woman is enabled to live in a charming place and make both ends meet who would have to put up with far poorer surroundings and probably far more tiring work if it were not for the needs of dwellers in apartments who are only too glad to use her services.

The widow of John Norquay, long Premier of Manitoba, has been granted $50 a month by the Provincial Government.

"Darling, I think of you every moment in the day."

"Law sakes, Tom, give some attention to your work or you'll get fired."

It is said in Prince Albert that prospects for the fur market continue bad.

MARKED STRENGTH IN STOCKS--EXCHANGE IS AT NEW LOW

SOME PRICES WENT HIGHER, N. Y. BUYING

While the trading in the stock market today lacked sensational features there was a broadening volume of business and an exceptionally strong tone to prices.

The fact that New York buying continued a factor helped to stimulate interest and maintain the strong tone which has pervaded the market ever since the sinking of the Arabic ceased to be a prime factor in the creation of market sentiment.

While it is obviously impossible to keep track of all that New York may be doing in the way of purchases there was little doubt that Steel of Canada preferred was one of the issues which is being picked up, while another issue which is being taken in hand is Carriage Factories, which was officially listed on Saturday. This suggests that both of these issues may be well worth watching.

The steel group maintained its position in the front rank of activities with Bridge and Scotia indicating the most marked strength. There is little gossip on Scotia excepting that it is known to be working at full swing since the labor trouble was settled. Bridge is not only turning out a great quantity of ammunition and getting ready to make more but its ordinary structural plant is working to capacity.

Scotia opened at 86 to 85½ and later rose to 86¾, the highest in some weeks, while Bridge after opening at 141½ compared with 142 on Saturday rose to 143 which is nearest the former high of 145 since the Arabic break.

The range in Iron was narrower at 44 to 44¼ compared with 43⅞ at the close on Saturday while Steel of Canada worked up from 35 to 36⅝ from 34½ on Saturday. The preferred was 85½ to 85.

The strength in Carriage Factories was marked, the price touching a new high record at present movement at 39 after opening at 37 compared with 35½ to 36¼ on Saturday.

Ames was quite active and worked higher to 16⅝ with the preferred at 55¾. Other features were Car. 104 to 103; Laurentide, 163; Shawinigan, 118; Ogilvie, 131, and Can. Cottons, pfd., 74.

BANK OF ENGLAND GOLD

LONDON, Aug. 30. — The Bank of England today bought £93,000 and sold £393,000 in bar gold and £44,000 in foreign coin. The latter sum was for shipment to America. Money, 3½ to 4 per cent. Discount rates, short and 3 months, 4⅞ to 5 per cent.

Opinions from Wall Street

Henry Clews—The market, however, exhibits a broadening tendency, and there is more disposition to operate in the better class of industrials and railroad shares, especially those which will benefit from trade improvement.

Laidlaw & Co.—Optimistic opinions of general business prospects are expressed in some of the newspapers.

Burnett & Co.—The prospective arrival of British financiers to arrange English credit here is awaited with very deep interest, and they can be sure of the utmost courtesy, for the mutuality of our interests is too plain to require emphasis.

J. S. Bache & Co.—The trend is still upward, but railway stocks will be more in evidence henceforth.

E. & C. Randolph.—The big arrival of gold and securities will be made the basis of a credit for the Allies. This will tend to bring about an adjustment of the foreign exchange situation, although the amounts received so far have not produced a perceptible effect as the price of sterling has fallen to a new low record this morning.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.—Market has a steady tone today, but commission house business very light. Think there is a disposition to be more cautious.

Post & Flagg—The following from Mr. Post:—Some of the active stocks opened lower this morning, notably Steel. There have been quite a large number of selling orders received from the other side, nevertheless, the absorptive power of our market is just as great as ever. Apparently there is enough new buying coming in every day to more than take care of these foreign sales and local profit-taking.

BIG CALL ON BRITISH WAR LOAN TOMORROW

LONDON, August 30. — The American department today was again strong and most of the leading issues sold at substantial gains over the Saturday closing level in New York. Although sentiment remains more cheerful the trading was quiet and devoid of feature.

United States Steel advanced ⅝ above New York parity. Union Pacific and Pennsylvania were ½ higher, Reading advanced 1¼. New York Central sold ¾ higher, and Southern Pacific ⅜. Canadian Pacific advanced ⅛.

Money was in increased demand today for month end requirements and in preparation for tomorrow's call for about £50,000,0000 on the war loan. Discount rates were steadier.

The stock market was quieter but generally firm. Diamond shares were in strong demand and the war loan, and a few gilt-edged securities were supported, but oil stocks wer easy, and copper issues weak on the decline in the price of the metal.

American securities were uncertain. They failed to maintain the opening prices, but closed fairly steady. Most of the business was in U. S. Steel, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific.

PURE WOOL RECEIVER

In accordance with an order of the court, the Hewson's Pure Wool Textile Company, of Amherst, is now in the hands of a receiver and the mortgage is to be foreclosed. The receiver is the Eastern Trust Company. It was impossible to get the bondholders agreed on a reorganization plan.

DOM. BRIDGE MAINTAINS IS WORKING TO CAPACITY

Dominion Bridge is stated on excellent authority to be maintaining a steady output of 2000 shrapnel and 1500 high explosive shells per day with a remarkably low percentage of rejections, and it is confidently expected that, commencing next month, this output will be increased by over 50 per cent.

The Montreal Ammunition Company is now turning out 6000 finished cartridge cases per day at the Lachine plant of the Dominion Bridge Company, and is rapidly installing at the shops in the East End the equipment necessary for the manufacture of shells of large calibre for which it has orders, in addition to further machinery for the manufacture of brass cartridge cases.

The erection of the Quebec Bridge is progressing so favorably that its completion is likely to be accomplished before the time contemplated.

The progress of the work is most satisfactory both as to ammunition orders and structural equipment, the latter being operated to full capacity. This confirms the impression in the Street that the company is meeting with unusual success, and explains the persistent demand in the market for the shares, together with the tendency of the price to advance.

MEXICAN RECEIVERSHIP

The Financial Post announces that G. T. Clarkson has been appointed receiver for Mexican Light and Power on application of the National Trust Company, trustee for the bondholders. This action, more or less of a friendly nature, will protect shareholders and bondholders against precipitate action on the part of general creditors, of which class, however, there are few.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, August 30.—The Sun:—At the close of the week there was some criticism of the recovery in the stock market on the ground that it was extravagant, since the Arabic matter has not yet been entirely disposed of. But, whatever the subsequent developments, the financial community takes it for granted that the possibility of a break with Germany has definitely been removed.

Journal of Commerce:—It is important to recognize as a fundamental factor in the broad financial situation that the indefinite and threatening situation has obviously cleared. The German Foreign Office at last seems to have reached an accurate appreciation of the position of the United States. This by no means suggests that the war is to be without new shocks to the stock exchange market.

The Tribune:—After a few hours of further apprehension, the sinking of the Arabic ceased last week to depress security prices. Speculative issues that had lost most went furthest in the rally and the whole market rose far above the low prices reached Monday. Such rapid appreciation brought heavy profit taking from speculative accounts and considerable pool distribution.

The Post:—The most interesting news of the day on the financial markets was the announcement that $19,000,000 more gold, sent from London, was on its way from Canada to New York. This is undoubtedly the amount given up for London a week or so ago, by the Bank of France. Despite this gold consignment, sterling exchange fell back to the low level of the week and of the year.

The Herald:—The redundancy of money and exceedingly cheap credits constitute the greatest "bull point" in securities and commodities alike and will facilitate correction of the exchanges without the importation of any stupendous quantity of gold.

The Times:—While fear of war with Germany existed all other market considerations assumed subordinate importance, but with that fear dismissed, as it was definitely dismissed toward the middle of the week, the stock market again lent itself to a reflection of those influences which have with only temporary interruptions controlled its course for many months past. Wall Street talks of a period of expansion comparable with, if not exceeding, any such period in the past, and it finds much support for this view among those outside of Wall Street, for the public is undoubtedly speculating on a large scale.

Copper agencies say good sales of copper are being made on basis of 18 cents a pound, and that there is no significance in drop in spot in London.

GOOD START FOR BULLS IN WALL ST.

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, August 30.—Many purely speculative issues made substantial advances in the first few minutes on the Stock Exchange today. Business was divided chiefly among the low priced industrials, the old time standard shares being comparatively neglected.

American Linseed advances 1¼ to 22½, Pittsburg Coal ⅝ to 36⅝, Colorado Fuel a point to 43⅝ and American Agriculture Chemical, 2⅝ to 65. Tennessee Copper opened 2 points higher at 58, followed by a reaction to 57½.

There was continued buying of Third Avenue on the belief that dividend action would soon be taken, and this stock moved up ⅝ to 55.

Utah Copper started at an advance of ⅝ at 69½, but lost the gain in the next few minutes. Anaconda was practically unchanged, with sales at 74⅝ and 74¾. United States Steel common opened up ⅛ at 76⅝, declined to 76¼, and then rallied to 76½. Only small fractional changes were made in the railroad issues, Reading declining ½ to 148⅝ and Union Pacific rising ⅜ to 131⅝. Texas Coal made a sudden gain of 5 points to 155½.

The market broadened later, a demand for railway issues causing general strength. Union Pacific was the potential leader, advancing 1⅜ to 132¾. New York Central rose 1¼ to 91¾, and Canadian Pacific, New Haven, Erie and Southern Railway preferred participated substantially.

The Mexican situation was again reflected in the oil stocks. California Petroleum preferred rising 3 to 43½.

Irregular tendencies developed in the war group, some receding 1 to 2 points while others rose vigorously, particularly Westinghouse and Baldwin Loco. Lackawana Steel gained 4¾ to 72, a new high record Bonds were irregular.

BENEFIT FELT ALREADY

The London Observer says the immediate result of the good crop outlook in Canada, coupled with high prices, is that Canadian Pacific and, other Canadian railroad securities are making headway and business becoming more pronounced.

ECONOMIST EDITOR ON EXCHANGE PROBLEMS

(By Francis W. Hirst, editor of The Economist.)

Special to The Montreal Star.

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Wall Street's rally encouraged our stock markets, but exchange still drops as it becomes more and more difficult to fill the gap between imports and exports. Moreover, the American crop movement casts its shadow before.

Evidently the market, which had been led to expect a great loan on the American side, is disappointed by the announcement of the Holden-Reading mission. Some authorities express skepticism as to whether there exists on the American side any large surplus funds for genuine investment in a long term external loan which could not be used by savings banks or for trustee purposes. Our stiff, rising income tax presents another difficulty. Both, I suggest, could be met best by 5 per cent treasury bills with one year's currency, for which purpose American banks' money could be borrowed.

Shipping shares just now afford an interesting problem in speculation. Freights are high, but so are working expenses. Secondhand ships fetch big prices. The value of shares depends on the duration of the war, and it is a question whether enough shipping has been sunk to offset the reduction in the world's commerce after the war.

Decrease in C. P. R. Net Some Surprise

C. P. R. started off its new fiscal year with a decrease of $978,042 in net earnings for July, equal to a decrease of 25 per cent and largest in the present calendar year.

The gross of $7,895,000 was the largest since Nov., 1914, and the gross decrease of $2,586,971 is slightly larger than the few preceding months.

The surplus in the figures comes in the size of the net decrease which compares with $657,593 for June and $520,009 for May.

The July returns compare as follows:

	1915.	1914.	Decrease
Gross	$7,895,375	$10,481,971	$2,586,596
Exp.	5,094,972	6,703,525	1,608,553
Net	2,800,405	3,778,445	978,042

Atchison July gross earnings increased $813,099; net after tax increased $477,888.

Financial Men in the Public Eye

SIR H. BABINGTON SMITH

The British financial expert, who is coming to America for the international exchange conference.

Topics of the Street

The United States now lays claim to be leading the world in export business. For the fiscal year ended June 30, the total exports were $2,768,000,000 against Britain's $2,170,100,000.

This represents an increase of 17 per cent for the United States and a British decrease of 30 per cent, compared with the preceding year.

Theory puts the value of Canadian stocks bought and paid for by New York in the last month or so at $3,000,000.

Financial observers abroad think that Germany is pretty nearly due for the financial skids.

Talk about rising market values! This one can show a few wrinkles on how to do it.

There were two sales of Southern Porto Rico Sugar in the Friday's New York market. The first was at 80, the second at 100.

Similes are in order, suggests the New York Post, respecting the retreat of bears in Wall Street and in Russia.

American cartoonists are now putting a "crown" on the American dollar, formerly conceded to the pound sterling.

Is this strictly according to the constitution of the land of liberty?

Powder company shareholders are the first to get fat returns on their shares as the result of the war.

This will naturally stimulate the expectations of holders in other lines of war endeavor.

Considering the difficulty of Germany getting raw materials for war munitions, London financial optimists think that together with the drain on her financial resources the war cannot last more than six months longer.

In July, 1914, the combined national debts of the Allied powers now at war, Great Britain, France, Russia, Italy, Belgium, Servia, Japan and Montenegro were $16,583,000,000. Additions for the one year of war were $11,155,000,000. This makes a total in July, 1915, of $27,738,000,000.

The Teutonic group, Germany, Austria and Turkey saw their debts rise from $9,353,000,000 in July, 1914, to $14,688,000,000 a year later, an increase of $5,336,000,000.

European neutral countries more or less affected by the war added $335,500,000 to their debts or a total of $2,145,250,000 in July last.

This makes a grand total increase of national indebtedness of $16,826,500,000, as the result of the first year of war, or an aggregate debt of $44,571,250,000 for all directly or indirectly concerned.

Many countries, other than European, have felt the strain keenly, and are not included in this.

Unsound Finance in Germany Now in Order

LONDON, August 30.—Minister Helferich's statement before the Reichstag outlining Germany's intentions regarding indemnities from the Allies, if successful in the war, aroused much interest in the city. It is worth noting that the German Government shrinks from imposing fresh taxation and that means that the interest on the war debt will be paid from loans, which would be very unsound finance. It is reported that the new German war loan will be offered at 99 in contrast with 98½ for the second loan and 97 and 97½ for the third. The amount is not to be limited.

Surprise was created here by the admission that £675,000,000 will be required to liquidate outstanding obligations before any part of the loan becomes available for current loans, which is taken to indicate a greatly embarrassed financial position.

STERLING IS OFF DESPITE GOLD INFLOW

NEW YORK, Aug. 30.—Forty-two tons of gold, worth nearly $20,000,000, and securities valued close to $25,000,000, were in the vaults of the United States sub-treasury here today to help pay for Great Britain's huge purchases of war munitions.

The gold and securities arrived yesterday from London, consigned to J. P. Morgan & Co., purchasing agents for the British Government.

The gold was American coin which had been shipped to England in years of trade indebtedness by this country to England and the securities were all American issues.

This shipment, it is estimated, brings the grand total of gold and collateral sent here by and through to $172,000,000 since the beginning of the war. During the same period, however, about $91,000,000 was sent from New York to the account of the Bank of England at Ottawa, but this was in the early months of the war before the trade balance shifted to this side of the Atlantic.

England's $45,000,000 shipment of gold and securities, which reached here yesterday produced virtually no effect whatever today on foreign exchange rates. Pounds sterling were quoted at $4.82 5-8, only one-eighth of a cent above the lowest value ever recorded here, which was reached last Saturday.

What is to be done with the $25,000,000 of American securities which formed part of the shipment, was the subject of speculation. Beyond stating that the total of American securities sent here for Great Britain's account in this and the previous shipment was between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000, corsignees of the shipment had nothing to say.

Adjustment of the situation, it was said, awaits the arrival of British and French financiers sent here from London and Paris.

COBALT ORE SHIPMENTS

Cobalt ore shipments for the week ended August 27 were: Penn.-Can. Mines, 65,000; La Rose Mines, 87,475; Dominion Reduction Company, 88,000; O'Brien Mine, 64,900; Casey Cobalt Mine, 78,443.

CATTLE PRICES STEADY HOG MARKET STRONGER

The large receipts of butcher cattle at the local yards today, as usual, keep the buyers and sellers "on the fence," the former waiting to buy cheaper and the latter holding out for their own valuation of their stock. The consequence was that the market under these conditions dragged. Prices were holding quite steady. No export cattle were offered or received.

Some very good lambs came forward today and these were brought up quickly at 8c to 8¼c lb.

The continued strength of bacon prices in England caused a stronger market here and hogs, under a good demand, advanced around 25 cents cwt.

Calves are steady under fair demand.

Quotations for live stock sold in round lots:

Butcher cows, very choice, $8.25; choice, $7.85 to $8; good, $7.50 to $7.75; fair, $7 to $7.25; medium, $6.50 to $6.75; butcher bulls, $5 to $7; canning bulls, $5.25 to $4.50 cwt.

Butcher cows, very choice, $6.70 to $7; choice, $6 to $6.25; good, $5.50 to $5.75; fair, $5 to $5.50 and poor to medium, $4.25 to $4.55; canners and cutters, $3.50 to $4.50 cwt.

Old sheep, 4½c to 5½c, and lambs, 7½c to 8¼c lb.

Hogs, select, long run, $9.90 to $10.00; short run, $9.65 to $9.75; sows, $7.65 and stags, $5 to $6 cwt., all weighed off cars.

Calves, $3 to $15 each, according to size and quality.

Receipts at the West End (G.T.R.) Stock Yards last week amounted to 1,600 cattle; 2,800 sheep and lambs; 2,000 hogs and 1,300 calves. Today's offerings were 1,300 cattle; 2,400 sheep and lambs; 1,900 hogs and 1,000 calves.

Receipts at the East End (C.P.R.) Stock Yards last week amounted to 2,000 cattle; 2,100 sheep and lambs; 1,000 hogs and 700 calves. Today's offerings were 1,000 cattle; 800 sheep and lambs; 2,050 hogs and 350 calves.

COTTON CROP CONDITION

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30.—The condition of the growing cotton crop of the United States on August 25 was 69.2 per cent of a normal, the United States Department of Agriculture announced at noon today in its fourth condition report of the season. That condition compares with 75.3 per cent on July 25 this year, and 78.0 per cent on August 25 last year.

A crop slightly under 12,000,000 bales was forecast by the crop reporting board from the July 25 report. The Bureau of Crop Estimates announces that a condition of 100 on August 25 would be equivalent to a yield of 253.9 pounds to the acre. The area planted this year has been officially reported at 21,535,000 acres. Weather conditions for the crop had not been very favorable during the month.

EXPORT BIDS FOR NEW CROP WHEAT HIGHER

From the Winnipeg office of Jas. Carruthers & Co.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 30. — Although wheat in Chicago was steady at the opening, later on the favorable weather in the spring wheat belt and lack of export demand caused prices to gradually decline 1½c per bushel

Clear warm weather in Alberta and Saskatchewan with an absence of any frost, caused Winnipeg market to be weak from the first quotations declining 2½ for October with the December down 1⅝.

Flax markets were strong and higher showing an advance of 2½c per bushel on reports of a big decrease in the acreage under last year.

There is a better demand for Manitoba wheat for export, and exporters report a fair inquiry in their cables today, which show a margin of 1 to 2c per bushel. The difficulty, however, at the present time, is to obtain ocean space, as agents are not offering freely for fall seaboard. It looks as if Manitoba Wheat will be given preference to Chicago No. 2 Hard and red wheat as the quality of the latter is not satisfactory, while threshing returns from the early sections in Manitoba and Saskatchewan show Manitoba Wheat this year to be of excellent quality, and the majority of the crop will grade One, Two and Three Northern.

Cash grain prices at Winnipeg at noon were:—Wheat: No. 1 Northern, $1.08! No. 2 do, $1.09½; No. 3 do, $1.00.

There were no quotations on oats.

Cars of grain inspected at Winnipeg today: No. 1 Northern, new 37, old 1; No. 2 do, old 7, new 2; No. 4 do, 1 old; other grades, 20 new and 3 old. Total, 72. Last year, 219.

Oats 7, last year 18. Barley 11, last year 3. Flax 1, last year.

TODAY'S BUTTER SALE

At the auction sale of butter on the Board of Trade, by the Quebec Co-Operative Society today the offerings were 706 packages, which were disposed of as follows: To A. A. Ayer & Co., 376 No. 1 creamery at 28½c; to Z. Limoges, 206 No. 2 creamery at 27½c, and to Jas. Dalrymple, 124 pasteurized at 28¾c.

SHORT COVERING MADE AN EXCITING MARKET

CHICAGO, August 30. — A rush of buying from the short side lifted wheat ⅛ to 1c higher today at the opening with September at 97⅝c to 98¼c and December at 95½c to 96¼c. Large holders let go freely for profit-taking and the market soon receded, the reaction amounting to a range of ⅝c to 1¼c. The market seemed to be a speculative one with little outside influences. For a time, prices held within the lower range.

One of the factors in weakening the wheat market is a rumor that Canada is going to take off the duty on wheat. The Kansas crop is estimated at 99 million by the State authorities.

Corn is strong on frost in Iowa; local shorts covering. Offerings were light at start, since opening they have been a little freer.

Oats are about unchanged, some of local shorts covering moderate commission house buying.

Provisions are easier with pork showing most decline. Trade is generally light.

Bloomhall cables from Liverpool: — World's weekly shipments: Wheat, 6,644,000 bushels; corn, 142,000 bushels; oats, 727,000 bushels from North America.

Liverpool stocks: Wheat, 4,430,000 bushels, decrease 192,000 bushels; corn, 960,000 bushels, increase 93,000 bushels.

Shipments this week Russia to France 136,000; to United Kingdom, 80,000.

There has been a rumor current that there has been shipped from Archangel since May upward of 15,000,000 to United Kingdom and France. This is not confirmed, in fact our agents say that shipments of any amount are impossible under present military conditions, and shipments during season from this port will remain negligible.

FLOUR DROP OF 75C. BBL. MADE TODAY

The expected reduction in spring wheat flour prices took place with the opening of the market this morning, when, owing to the contined weakness in the quotations of new crop wheat local millers caused their prices to be reduced 75c a barrel. This is the first reduction made by millers since last June, when there was a recession during that month of about $1 a barrel.

For some time the reduction has been anticipated, as the last change was made with wheat around $1.17 to $1.18 (option prices), but it has been delayed by the fact that much old crop wheat had yet to be milled, and prices had to be maintained until such time as supplies were exhausted and the new crop was available to millers at the much reduced rates.

The drop in prices is no surprise, as it was only a natural event to be expected, and buying by wholesalers and bakers has for some time been only for actual wants, and stocks on hand are not large.

The retail prices will, in all probability, not feel the change until some time later, as stocks in hand must be disposed of at former prices before the discount can be given.

Millers' prices on spring wheat flour are quoted as follows: First patents, $6.35; second patents, $6.60, and strong bakers, $6.40 a barral, in wood, and 30c less in bags.

Winter wheat flour shows no change, but is easy.

BIRKENHEAD CATTLE

LIVERPOOL, Aug. 30.—With larger supplies of cattle and a slow trade the market at Birkenhead this week has shown signs of weakness. Quotations, however, cannot yet be reduced. Irish steers and heifers are making twenty cents per pound, sinking the offal, with exceptional qualities as high as twenty-two cents. Chilled beef has been in bigger supply and has dropped considerably, both North and South American making sixteen cents per pound for the sides.

Capture Money and Gifts Sent by Turks to German Emperor

PARIS, August 30.—A French torpedo-boat has captured near Tripoli a sailing vessel flying the Greek flag. Aboard were a few Turks and $20,000 in German coin, a number of scimitars and other Oriental gifts and an engrossed casket containing the following letter in Arabic from the Kaiser to the chief of the Senoussi tribe:

"Praises to the Most High God, Emperor William, son of Charlemagne, Allah's envoy and Islam's protector, to the Illustrious Chief of Senoussi,—We pray God to lend our army to victory. Our will is that thy valorous warriors shall expel the infidels from the territory belonging to the true believers and their commanders. To this end we send thee arms and money and the tribe chiefs of our common foes, whom Allah annihilates, shall fly before thee. So be it.—WILLIAM."

P. H. Owens, prominent implement agent, of Yellowgrass, Sask., was killed in an auto accident near Lang, team competitions in farm work.

WHAT HORSE POWER MEANS.

The use of "horsepower" as a measure of an engine's work came naturally from the fact that the first engines were built to do the work which had formerly been performed by horses. John Smeaton, who built atmospheric engines before Bolton and Watt placed their more complete machine upon the market, had valued the work done by a strong horse as equal to lifting a weight of 22,000 pounds one foot high in a minute.

When Bolton and Watt began to bid for public favor they agreed to place their engines for "the value of one-third part of the coals which are saved in its use." They also increased the value of the horsepower to 32,000 foot-pounds, so that their engines were half again as powerful for their rated power as those of their competitors. In this way they established the value of the horsepower.

The following are the various values of a horse power: 33,000 foot-pounds per minute, 550 foot-pounds per second, 2565 thermal units per hour, 42.75 thermal units per minute.

The horsepower of a boiler depends upon its capacity for evaporation. The evaporation of 30 pounds of water from 100 degrees Fahrenheit into steam at 70 pounds gauge pressure equals 34½ pounds from and at 212 degrees Fahrenheit is equivalent to a horsepower.

Dr. Ivory Lowe of Canaan, Me., the oldest physician in Somerset County, in using a waggon which has been in use continuously for 45 years, Dr. Lowe says the waggon has made an average of 20 miles a day for 45 years, thus making the waggon's total trip about 325,000 miles. It still has its original wheels and its original tires.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT OUR OWN SOLAR SYSTEM

A writer in the Scientific Review of Paris, one of the most famous periodicals of its class, tells of new reasons for the assumption that Canopus, the great star of the Southern constellation Argos, or the Ship, is the central attractive power of the universe, the lode-star, and that all other stars and star systems revolve around it.

This is merely the newest resurrection of an ages old story. From the time when star scientists discovered that all of our family of planets revolve in semi-elliptical orbits around our sun, and especially since it became established that our entire solar system, sun, planets and their moons, asteroids, comets, all matter that is within our sun's magnetic influence, is whirling through space at an estimated rate of from 12 to 15 miles a second, presumably in a process of revolution around some central attractive body, attempts have been made to fix the identity of that all-controlling gravitational force.

For a long period when the science of astronomy was young the magical cluster of the Pleiares, appealing to any with the least poetic fancy, was designated as that central dominating force. Alcyone, the chief star of the group of the "Seven Sisters," romantically suffering a loss of one of the seven, was even designated by astrologers of the time as the very seat of the Almighty, from which throne the universe was ruled.

Other great suns have temporarily had the honor now ascribed to Canopus, unfortunately invisible to us on account of its far Southern habitat. That star of the constellation Argos, supposed to be the name for the pilot of Menelaus, the seductions of whose wife, Helen, by Paris, led to the Trojan war, has not even an estimated parallax, and therefore it is only a guess that it is distant from our sun 400 light years, lighting travelling at the rate of about 186,000 miles a second. Other suns there are, thousands of them, which may be far greater in mass than Canopus, and whose distance is estimated at 1,000 and more light years.

If it be assumed that Canopus is the central attractive power of the universe it must be also assumed that it was the nucleus of a universal nebula from which all the millions of stars were formed in the process of astral evolution, as our solar system was evolved from a vast nebula which in myriads of years of attrition and condensation resulted in our rather sorry groups of eight known planets, some of them with "moons" and a belt of some hundreds of planetoids revolving between the orbith of Mars and Jupiter. We can conceive of no other process of the making of world systems than that of our own systems, and to conceive that all of the millions of systems were evolved from a nebula of which Canopus became the central and controlling gravitational power, and that around this sun all of the systems revolve, is an absurd attempt to conceive the inconceivable.

It is known that all of the star systems are in nightly action. All are whirling within themselves, and also as entities of systems, whirling throughout the unfathomable Unknown, but whither they are tending is as inexplicable to human comprehension, notwithstanding all the splendid accomplishments of astronomical science aided by marvelous instruments, as comprehension of time and space. The assumption that the central pivot of revolution is Canopus is as imaginary as the assumption that Alcyone was that centre of universal gravitation and the throne where sat the eternal Deity directing all of the labyrinth of star systems with an omnipotent thought. Before attempting to fix the seat of the Everiasting upon Canopus the scientist of the Paris Review should have explained the mystery of the Galaxy, or Milky Way.

Science has demonstrated that our solar system is travelling toward the brilliant sun Vega, in the constellation of the Lyre. We know that from the spreading, slight within the grasp of scientific observation, of stars, ahead of us and the equally slight closing in of stars behind us; but Vega is also travelling with inconceivable speed in some unknown direction, as Arcturus is speeding across our line of vision at a rate of some 300 miles a second. The wise scientist, the practical scientist, and there is none other worthy the name, will be content with the demonstrable and hold his imagination absolutely within bounds. All great astronomical discoveries have been so made.

Arrest Suspects in Plots to Burn Boats with Allies' Cargoes

NEW YORK, August 30.—An investigation of repeated attempts to burn steamers leaving this port with cargoes for the Allies, which has been going on for several months, resulted in the arrests on Saturday of four lighter captains, three of them Germans, and two others.

One of the lighter captains admitted that he and the others who were arrested later were in a conspiracy to rob the ships on which bombs were found, but denied that he knew anything of the incendiary attempts.

Lighter captains and crews have been under suspicion because it was believed by steamship officials and detectives that they were the only ones who had the opportunity to hide fire bombs in cargoes.

EYES OF A FISH.

In the effort to discover why fishes are so near sighted, scientists have been making some remarkable experimental studies of their eyes. One of the many interesting facts which these studies revealed was that fishes' eyes, compared with human eyes, are relatively large. The length of the eye of a fish is ordinarily about one-twentieth of its length, while the length of the eyeball of a man is from a sixtieth to a seventieth of his height.

The eyes of fishes are in constant use except when they are asleep. Most fishes have no eyelids, their eyes being protected from injury by a shiny material, or by a thick transparent skin. The puffer, or swellfish, which habitually burrows in sand at the bottom of the water, has eyelids which cover the eyeballs when closed, the lower eyelid being larger than the upper.

In the experimental work the eyes of normal fishes were first examined with the retinoscope, then by electrical stimulation the focus was changed from distant to near objects.

It was found that contrary to statements sometimes made, the eyes of fishes when swimming were focused for distant vision. Fishes are able to focus their eyes on near objects—as close as four inches—by the action of the superior and inferior oblique muscles; they have no ciliary muscles. It was found possible by operation on the oblique muscles to make the fish near-sighted, far-sighted, or astigmatic.

LA CASQUETTE'S DEFEAT BY STRACHANS PUTS THE NORTH-ENDERS OUT OF 1'

Mascotte and Indians Play Tie Game — Bakers Have Half Game Lead But Meet National in Feature Game

Although only one verdict was reached in the double header pulled off by the City League yesterday afternoon at Delorimier Park, the rain which fell practically all afternoon did not prevent the clubs from furnishing two close and interesting matches, the first of which was called at the end of the sixth inning with the score six all between Mascotte and the Indians.

In the second half of the bill the Strachans defeated La Casquette by five runs to three, the Bakers coming from behind in the fifth frame and winning through a big rally which counted four runs.

By their victory Strachans are now in the lead by just half a game. They, along with Nationals and Mascotte, have the same number of losses. Next Sunday the Bakers and Frenchmen meet in what is expected to be the hardest fought game of the whole season. La Casquette's defeat was a hard blow, as it, unless something unforeseen happens, means the elimination of the Northenders as champion possibilities.

MOTOR LORRIES NEEDED FOR USE OF THE RED CROSS

J. M. Coote, late honorary secretary of the Provincial Branch, Red Cross Society, now en route to East Africa as Administrator for the British Government, before sailing from London on the 17th inst., wrote a long letter to the president, W. R. Miller, giving an account of his visit to the London receiving depot and offices of the Canadian Red Cross Society. He commented on the satisfaction felt by all the authorities with the shipments from Montreal, which, both as regards quantity and quality, are worthy of the highest praise.

A letter from Col. Yates to the president confirms this statement and adds that the Montreal cases are no longer subject to inspection, but are shipped straight to their destination without examination, the contents having been invariably found up to the highest standard.

Mr. Coote calls attention to the urgent need for motor lorries to transport the supplies from the receiving station at Boulogne to the hospitals and bases in France, often a distance of twenty miles or more. At present the motor ambulances are the only available conveyances for this purpose, and besides being totally inadequate, they are in danger of injury from the rough usage.

Mr. Coote, speaks highly of the work being done by Lady Drummond and her helpers. He says the comfort bags are "enormously appreciated" by the soldiers. A list of the contents of parcels sent to prisoners was enclosed in the letter. When relatives provide funds, a parcel is sent once a week, otherwise fortnightly hence contributions are needed.

At least four-fifths of the damage wrought by earthquakes is due to the neglect of the ordinary requirements of sound construction.

PRIESTS SUPPORT GOVERNMENT ON BI-LINGUAL ISSUE

English-Speaking Parish Fathers Read Pronouncement at Mass

THINK COMMISSION EQUAL TO THE TASK

Hope Bitterness is Past and That All Will Co-operate with New Body

OTTAWA, August 30.—The following pronouncement on the Ottawa bi-lingual question, which is signed by the English-speaking parish priests of Ottawa, was read by them at mass yesterday. It is an endorsement of the educational policy of the Ontario Government.

"For the first time since their establishment seventy years ago, the Ottawa Roman Catholic separate schools are opening this year under the management of a Government Commission. The events of the past two years which have made such a change possible and advisable are fairly well-known to the people of Ontario.

The bi-lingual majority of the Ottawa Separate School Board deliberately and persistently defied a wise and necessary regulation of the Department of Education, and, further, attempted to mortgage the Ottawa separate school properties and rates to the extent of over a third of a million dollars. Therefore, English-speaking separate school supporters sought and obtained protection from the courts.

FAILED IN THE OBJECT.

Then the bi-lingual trustees, with complete disregard for the rights of those who speak or wish to learn the language of this province, resolved to make all the separate schools of Ottawa bi-lingual, dismissed all the English lay teachers and closed the schools in the face of the children last September.

"They failed in their object only because the courts once more stepped in to protect our schools. If we have had separate schools in Ottawa during the past year, it was in spite of the Ottawa Separate School Board. It was a Judge who opened our schools and employed our teachers, and it was the Ontario Government that paid them.

"Such a state of affairs could not continue. The Ontario Government, not being willing, for the present at least to put the English separate schools of this city under a board of trustees of their own, as we had asked, wisely decided to protect the Ottawa separate schools by placing them under a Separate School Commission.

EQUAL TO THE TASK.

"We believe that the Commission will prove itself equal to the task of conducting our schools at a high degree of efficiency. That they may be able to do this, one thing is required, namely, the support and co-operation of all who are or should be separate school supporters.

"Those Catholics who have transferred their taxes to the public schools, because they too readily imagined that the Government and people of this province were going to allow a group of bi-lingual enthusiasts to ruin our separate schools should, now that the fight has been won in the courts and in the Legislature, return to the separate school system.

"This is the only wise and Catholic attitude. We trust that now that the Ottawa school question has been definitely settled, all the Catholics of the city will in a spirit of true Catholic charity bury all past bitternesses and unite in helping the Ottawa Separate School Commission to bring the Ottawa separate schools to the highest attainable grade of efficiency.

"Ottawa, August 23, 1915."

SEND TO OTHER COLLEGES.

In addition to the circular, the Rev. Fathers Fay and O'Gorman touched on the Ottawa University Question in their sermons, from which all the English-speaking priest-professors and lay teachers have been removed with the exception of three out of a teaching staff of forty-three. They urge that English-speaking parents send their children for secondary education to other colleges, such as Loyola College, Montreal; St. Michael's, Toronto; St. Augustine's, Toronto; St. Francois Xavier, Antigonish, N.S.; Lorette Abbey College, Toronto; St. Joseph's College, Academy, Toronto, and other Catholic institutions other than the Ottawa College, where they claim an injustice has been done, and that with the small English staff the regular courses cannot be carried on.

URGES BLOCKADE IN THE BALTIC SEA

PARIS, Aug. 30. — The Echo de Paris suggests that the Allies establish a submarine blockade in the Baltic holding that the developments of the submersible shown by German activities renders the scheme entirely feasible.

"Results," says the newspaper, "would be the stoppage of German trade with Scandinavia, which would satisfy American objections that the allied blockade at present discriminates against that country, a depression of German morale and a halt of naval operations against Russia."

The writer cites the exploits of submarines in the Sea of Marmora to prove this blockade possible. He appeals to the authorities to adopt the scheme, if only to check their flood of supplies now reaching Germany through Scandinavia.

TRAGIC DEATH OF ONTARIO CITIZEN

BERLIN, Ont., August 30.—Solomon H. Brubacher, one of the most prominent citizens of Berlin, and secretary-treasurer of the Dominion Button Company, met with a tragic death some time on Friday night, which was not discovered until 9:30 o'clock on Saturday night, when his family returned from two weeks spent in Muskoka.

The body of Mr. Brubacher was found in the bathroom, literally cooked by boiling water squirting from a leaky pipe above the gas heater. It was evident that he had been asphyxiated by gas fumes from one of the two heaters in the room, one for warmth and the other for water heating purposes, and had been overcome before he could escape. His body had been exposed to the shower of boiling water for twenty-four hours.

Deceased, who was fifty-one years of age, was formerly one of the foremost football players in Canada.

GOOD SPORTS FOR RED CROSS IN MERCIER WARD

A large crowd attended the sports held at Tetraultville Grove on Saturday by the citizens of Mercier ward in aid of the Red Cross funds, and a handsome amount was handed over to the officials of that society. The most interesting race was the one of about ten miles, from Montreal to Tetreaultville, which was won by Edmond Martineau, of the M. A. A. A., who made it in the remarkable time of one hour and five minutes. There were twenty-five starters in the event, but many of them dropped out after a few miles had been covered. E. Clouette, of La Casquette, finished second, followed by Lawrence of the C. P. R. Angus club. The laurels of the mile race also went to Martineau, who did not seem tired by his exertions in the longer event. The half miler was won by Cook, a member of the National Amateur Athletic Association.

ZEPPELIN RAIDS HAVE PROVEN A DISMAL FAILURE

Mr. Balfour Explains Why Details are Not Published

LONDON, Aug. 30—"No soldier or sailor has been killed or even been wounded, and only on one occasion has damage been inflicted which could, by any stretch of language, be ascribed as of the smallest military importance," says the Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, First Lord of the Admiralty, of the Zeppelin raids on England in a letter to a correspondent who had complained that the British accounts of these raids were meagre, while the German reports on the same events "are quite rich in lurid details."

"The reason," says Mr. Balfour, in his letter, "is quite simple, and, by preference, on moonless nights. In such conditions land marks are elusive, navigation difficult and errors inevitable and sometimes of surprising magnitude. The Germans constantly assert, and may somtimes believe, that they dropped bombs on places where, in fact, they never approached.

"Why make their future voyages easier, by telling them where they blundered in the past? Since their errors are our gain, why dissipate them? Let us learn what we can from the enemy, but let us teach him only what we must. Nobody will, I think, be disposed to doubt that this reticence is judicious."

OF NO MILITARY ADVANTAGE.

"But the question may still be asked whether it is used not merely to embarrass the Germans but unduly to reassure the British.

"How ought we to rate the Zeppelins among the weapons to attack, and what have they done and what can they do? To this last question I do not offer a reply. I cannot phophesy about the future of a method of warfare which still is in its infancy. I can, however, say something of its results during the past.

"That it has caused much suffering to many innocent people unhappily is certain but even this result, with all its tragedy, has been modified out of all proportion by ill-informed rumor. I am assured by the Home Office that during the last twelve months seventy-one civilian adults and eighteen children have been killed and that 189 civilian adults and thirty-one children have been injured.

"Judged by numbers, this cumulative result of many successive crimes does not equal the single effort of a submarine which, to the unconcealed pride of Germany, and the horror of all the world, sent 1,198 unoffending civilians to the bottom in the Lusitania.

"Yet it is bad enough, and we may well ask what military advantage has been gained at the cost of so much innocent blood."

ZEPPELIN PAINTED GRAY.

PARIS, Aug. 30 — Germany's fleet of Zeppelins has been repainted a leaden gray, similar to the color of battleships, which renders them difficult to see even when flying beneath the clouds. A telegram from Zurich published in the Milan Stampa says that during recent flights over Lake Constance Zeppelins appeared in their new dress. The latest models resemble large fish. Both ends taper, so that they have lost to some extent the familiar cigar shape.

FIVE KILLED AS EXPRESS TRAIN HITS AUTOMOBILE

TORONTO, Aug. 30. — Five lives were lost in an automobile accident that occurred on the line of the T. H. and B. Railway near Hamilton on Saturday afternoon, when the express from Brantford struck an automobile driven by J. W. Heaton, of St. Catharines. Mrs. Heaton, wife of J. W. Heaton; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Peach, of Port Rowan, and their two sons, Alan, aged 12 years, and Ray, aged 10, were the victims of the accident, Mr. Heaton escaping with a broken leg and a bad shaking up.

Mrs. Heaton and Mr. and Mrs. Peach were killed instantly. Alan Peach died before the train which struck the auto reached this city, and Ray Peach died at the city hospital last night without having gained consciousness.

The train was in charge of Conductor Chester Sheppard, 19 Augusta street, with Engineer Daniel Edwards and Fireman G. E. McGregor in the cab of the engine.

A BAD CROSSING.

The scene of the accident is on the Ancaster road a short distance south of where it branches from the Dundas road, and is a particularly bad crossing, the view of the tracks being obscured by a hedge.

Mr. Heaton, who is a wood and coal dealer at St. Catharines, and party were driving from Brantford to Port Rowan, he drove on the track as the train approached the crossing. The front part of the motor car was caught, and it was dragged a considerable distance before the train could be brought to a standstill, the occupants being thrown in all directions, and three being killed outright. Mr. Heaton is still in the city hospital.

The enginemen state that they did not see the automobile until the train was on top of it, and had no chance to avoid the accident.

Alex. English, a driver of a motor patrol wagon, stated that he noticed while the bodies were being taken from the scene of the accident, that the automatic signal bell at the crossing was ringing constantly, the train being still there when the police arrived.

Mr. Peach was clerk in a store at Port Rowan, and was thirty-seven years of age. His wife was thirty-eight years of age.

Three Drown After Changing Places in Boat Off Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y., August 30. — Mrs. Frederick Binckli, her son Franklin, aged twelve, and daughter Coraler, aged eight, were drowned at Bay Beach, twelve miles above Buffalo, on the Canadian shore on Saturday night. Mr. Binckli had taken his family to Bay Beach for an outing. The little boy was rowing, and finding the task too heavy, asked his father for help. As father and son tried to change places, the boat tipped over.

Binckli first grabbed the little boy and had him safely on top of the overturned skiff, and then made frantic efforts to save his wife and daughter, who sank at once. Failing in his efforts to reach them, he was horrified to see the boy had fallen from the skiff. A rescue party from shore had almost reached the boat when the boy let go his hold and sank.

U. S. FOREST FIRES DESTROY GRAIN

PORTLAND, Ore., August 30. — Hundreds of men, many of them farmers, called from their harvesting were fighting big forest fires today in the Cascade mountains near Mount Hood.

Thousands of acres of woodlands have been burned, and many fields of grain have been destroyed. Smaller fires are burning in other sections near Portland.

Scientists have figured that about 86,000,000 babies are born each year, or at a rate of about 70 a minute.

ALL CANADIANS HAVE ARRIVED SAFE

Special to the Montreal Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, Aug. 30. — In connection with the rumor of the sinking of a Canadian troopship, which came from unreliable German sources, the following statement has been officially issued here by the military authorities:

"Between the 31st of July and the 24th of August only two troopships with more than three hundred troops on board have been despatched from Canada and they have both arrived safely, at their destination. Moreover, every troopship bearing Canadian troops which was at sea on August 15th has arrived safely at its destination.

"There is no Canadian troopship overdue, and if the story coming via Sayville has any basis of truth it must refer to the torpedoing of the Canadian Northern steamship Royal Edward in the Aegean Sea, the report of which event reached Canada August 17."

DECLARE PLOT TO KILL CHRISTIANS

PARIS, August 30.—That Enver Pasha is plotting a massacre of all the Christians in Constantinople is the assertion made in the Gaulois by Emil Galli, former editor of the Levant Herald, who has just escaped from the Turkish capital.

The Turks, he says, realize that the Dardanelles will inevitably be forced, and well-informed observers are expecting the disaster much sooner than even the Allies. On the eve of M. Galli's departure, which was arranged through his influential friends, many Turk leaders implored him to intercede with France on behalf of the Turks, most of whom, he says, are now hostile to the Germans.

Are you a good guesser?
The General says:—No man living can take three different kinds of Roofing and determine in advance by such tests as bending, twisting, tearing, or smelling, how long each will last on the roof. The best you can do is to make a guess. That is why
Certain-teed Roofing
guaranteed by us 5, 10 or 15 years according to whether the thickness is 1, 2 or 3 ply. Most roofings look alike, and even trained chemists can judge roofing quality only by the raw materials that are put into the roofing and not from the finished product.
The responsibility of the biggest Roofing and Building Paper Mills in the world stands behind our guarantee and this makes it unnecessary for you to take the risk of guessing.
Certain-teed Roofing has made good on the roof throughout the entire world. Ask your local dealer for further information. He will quote you reasonable prices.

GOVERNMENT OF CANADA TO BUILD FRENCH HOSPITAL

President Poincare Accepts the Offer Made by Premier Borden

Canadian Associated Press.

LONDON, August 30.—Sir Robert Borden's visit to France has resulted in the Government of Canada deciding to provide a hospital near Paris for wounded French soldiers. This information has been imparted to the Canadian Associated Press.

This decision will give immense pleasure, not only to Canadians, but also to Great Britain and France, affording as it will further demonstration of the reality of the entente cordiale between France and the British Empire. To French-Canadians the gift is of special interest because it was decided to equip the hospital with a medical unit, the members of which are able to speak the French language. Thus we shall see the treatment of French soldiers at the hands of the grandsons of Jacques Cartier, Champlain and Montcalm.

When Sir Robert Borden met the French President recently he offered, on behalf of the Canadian Government, to provide and equip a hospital for French wounded. The offer was gratefully accepted by President Poincare, and, thanks to the exertions of General Carleton Jones, director of the Canadian Army Medical Service, and the co-operation of the Hon. Philippe Roy, the Canadian Commissioner in France, and the interest of Mons. Hanotaux, ex-Minister of Foreign Affairs, the promise of the Canadian Prime Minister is about to be fulfilled.

The hospital is already in existence in England in charge of Col. A. Mignault, of Montreal, since May, with a staff of French-Canadian medical men and nurses. He has been in charge of a tent hospital on the south coast of England, capable of accommodating over five hundred patients. This is officially known as No. 4 Stationary Hospital. While it has done excellent work, it also has afforded members of the staff the opportunity of gaining experience for their new duty.

The hospital to be given by Canada will be in the open, but special tents will be provided so that it may be used throughout the winter. There will be accommodation for over five hundred. All necessary stores have been secured, and shortly the staff of French-Canadians, with Col. Mignault, will leave their south coast pitch for their tents on the outskirts of the French capital.

The Canadian Premier, on the occasion of his visit to Europe, was greatly impressed with the work of the Royal Army Medical Corps, as was recently pointed out by the British press.

Canada has contributed nobly to the funds for alleviating the sufferings of the wounded, the gifts having included £20,000 towards the French hospital at Dinard.

When man first wanted to go from one level to another he built himself a ladder—

Then he discovered it was easier to ascend at an incline than to pull himself up vertically, so he fashioned his primitive inclined plane—a crude device but one that enabled him more easily to make his ascents and to trundle up heavy loads.

NEW BELL BLESSED AT MONTREAL EAST

The new bell of the Church of St. Octave, Montreal East, was dedicated by Archbishop Bruchesi yesterday afternoon with elaborate ceremony. The bell was presented to the parish by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Versailles.

A sermon by Mgr. LePailleur, of Longue Pointe, was followed by the special prayers for the occasion of the dedication of a bell, and then the Archbishop tapped the bell and made it ring out for the first time. Then all those present filed by the bell, which had been placed in the choir, and tapped it each in turn. After the service it was raised into place in the tower.
