PROSPECTUS
OF THE
METROPOLITAN FIRE INSURANCE COMPANY.

AN ACT to Incorporate this Company passed the Legislature at its last Session.

It is provided that the Capital shall not be less than Two Hundred Thousand Dollars, divided into Two Thousand Shares of One Hundred Dollars each, with the power of extension to One Million Dollars.

Believing that Insurance business would be safe if well conducted,—that it would now be so, especially in Montreal, and that in the hands of a Company with a considerable portion of its Capital paid-up, select in its risks and independent in its management, (as it is proposed this Company shall be,) it would be remunerative to its Shareholders and worthy the confidence of the community,—they respectfully invite Subscription of Shares by their fellow-citizens

Whenever the requisite number of Shares shall have been subscribed, the Provincial Directors will call a meeting of the Subscribers for the organization of the Company, the adoption of By-laws and the election of Directors; and when Twenty-five per cent of that amount, or Fifty Thousand Dollars shall have been paid up, the Company will begin the business of Insurance.

The further provision that within one year thereafter $100,000 in all must be paid up, is fitted to inspire confidence in its stability.

Twenty-five per cent. of the Subscribed Capital will be payable immediately after the organization of the Company, and the remainder in such instalments and at such intervals as the Directors may deem proper in the interest of the Company, or find necessary to fulfill the conditions of the Charter.

At all meetings every Share is entitled to a vote.

It is believed that the establishment of this Local Company will be viewed with favor by the community generally, as calculated, if judiciously managed, to retain in the country a considerable portion of the large amount of money annually remitted for account of Foreign Companies.

The undersigned Provisional Directors have now to announce that a Book for the Subscription of Stock is opened at the Office of Messrs. TAYLOR BROTHERS, Union Buildings.

To Purchasers of Pianofortes.

I have secured the SOLE IMPORTATION, and WHOLESALE AGENCY for CANADA, of the CELEBRATED PIANOFORTES o
MESSRS. NUNNS & CLARK, NEW YORK.

The Pianoforte manufactory of NUNN'S & CLARK, is the oldest in this Continent.

This firm has ever been distinguished for the scrupulous care with which every portion of its manufacture has been conducted, and this has gained for these piano's the character, admitted among makers themselves, of being the best finished instruments in America. Their tone is brilliant and powerful, and being constructed on the English system, they are free from the HARSHNESS so generally complained of by European musicians in American Pianos.

That the NUNNS & CLARK Pianoforte is well adapted for resisting the severe vicissitudes of our Canadian climate, is proved by the experience of more than a quarter of a century, many of them that have been in use in this country for a longer period being now in perfect order.

At the great London Exhibition of 1851, a prize medal was awarded to Messrs. NUNNS & CLARK for their Pianofortes. Their regular importation was commenced in Montreal in March 1858, and they have since commanded the most favorable appreciation of the musical public, with a steadily increasing sale,—already numerous purchasers throughout the Province bearing testimony to their superiority over all others heretofore seen in Canada.

Discriptive lists, with prices, will be sent on application, and intending purchasers of pianofortes will find it to their advantage to obtain the information thus given:

TARRANT'S
Effervescent Seltzer Aperient.

THIS valuable and popular Medicine, prepared in conformity with the analysis of the waters of the celebrated Seltzer Spring, in Germany, in a most convenient and portable form, has universally received the most favorable recommendations of the Medical profession and a discerning public, as the most efficient and agreeable in use, and as being entitled to special preference over the many Mineral Spring waters, Seidlitz Powders, and other similar articles, both from its compactness and greater efficacy. It may be used with the best effect in all Bilious and Febrile Diseases, Sick Headache, Loss of Appetite, Indigestion, and all similar Complaints, peculiarly incident to the SPRING and SUMMER SEASONS.

It is particularly adapted to the wants of Travellers by sea and land, residents in hot climates, persons of sedentary habits, invalids and convalescents; captains of vessels and planters will find it a valuable addition to their Medicine Chests.

With those who have used it, it has high favour and is deemed indispensable.

IN A TORPID STATE OF THE LIVER—It renders great service in restoring healthy action.

IN GOUT AND RHEUMATISM—It gives the best satisfaction, allaying all inflammatory symptoms, and it many cases effectually curing those afflicted.

IT'S SUCCESS IN CASES OF GRAVEL, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN AND COSTIVENESS—Proves it to be a Medicine of the greatest utility.

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, and the distressing sickness so usual during Pregnancy—Yields speedily, and with marked success, under its healthful influence.

It affords the greatest relief to those afflicted with or subject to the Piles.—Acting gently on the bowels, neutralizing all irritating secretions, and thereby removing all inflammatory tendencies.

In fact, it is invaluable in all cases where a gentle aperient or purgative is required.

It is in the form of a Powder, carefully put up in bottles, to keep in any climate, and merely requires water poured upon it to produce a delightful effervescent beverage.

Taken in the morning, it never interferes with the avocations of the day, acting gently on the system, restoring the digestive powers, exciting a healthy and vigorous tone of the stomach, and creating an elasticity of mind and flow of spirits, which give zest to every enjoyment. It also enables the invalid to enjoy many luxuries with impunity, from which he must otherwise be debarred, and without which life is irksome and distressing.

Numerous testimonials from professional and other gentlemen of the highest standing throughout the country, and its steadily increasing popularity for a series of years, strongly guarantee its efficacy and valuable character, and commend it to the favorable notice of an intelligent public.

The "North American" passed Father Point at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and arrived at Quebec at 7 last evening.

The "North American" brings 24 cabin and 96 steerage passengers. She experienced head winds and was detained by fog in the Straits. Her mails and passengers left this morning by train at 7.15.

No further fighting has taken place. British Cabinet same as formerly announced.

The "Asia" arrived out on the 19th, and the Hungarian on the 20th ult.

No further fighting had taken place, but the hostile armies were face to face on the Mincio, and a decisive battle was daily expected.

Napoleon and the King of Sardinia were at Brescia, and the Emperor of Austria at Villa Franca.

The ship "Stalwart," from New Orleans for Liverpool, was burned at sea; crew and passengers saved and brought into Queenstown by the "Princess Helena." £6000 in specie had also been saved.

The intelligence from the seat of war was meagre. Stirring events were expected before the end of June.

The retreat of the Austrians had brought them to their reserves on the Mincio and Adige, where they had been joined by great reinforcements.

Between the Brenta and Mincio were probably 100,000 to 150,000 men who had not yet seen the allies. The Emperor of Austria was with them. They occupied one of the strongest positions in the world, and had a decided numerical superiority.

An official dispatch from Verona says, Gyulai at his own request had been recalled from the command of the 2nd corps d'armée, which had been given to Count Schlick.

Napoleon and the King of Sardinia entered Brescia, on the 18th, amid great enthusiasm.

The following dispatches show the course of events :

On the 14th the Sardinian army took up its position on the Milla, near Brescia.

Forces have been despatched to observe the mouths of the Upper Oglio.

Garibaldi advanced on the 15th, towards Lenato.

It is asserted the Austrians are concentrated at Montechiaro, with a strong rear guard at Castenedola.

Gen. D'Urban occupied Capriano on the 14th, but abandoned it the following night.

Turin, 19th.

The Austrians finished, on the 16th, the evacuation of Montechiaro—their right wing is said to have gone to Lelando, taking the direction of Peschiera; the centre occupies the heights of Castiglione, and the left has gone towards Castel Gofferdo.

During the last few days 80,000 men with 6,000 horses and two batteries have passed through Montichiaro.

On the 17th instant the allied army made a forward movement.

Berne, June 18.

The Austrians, in great force, have occupied the pass of the Stalvio, blown up the Devils Bridge, and brought up their artillery into the pass. They have also made entrenchments at Nanders.

A French corps of 3,000 men is advancing by forced marches against this position.

Garribaldi's officers are organizing free corps in the Valtelline.

Turin, June 21.

Advices from Brescia to 18th say the Sardinian army preserves its position before Brescia.

The French occupy Briscia and its environs in line with the Sardinians.

On the 17th the Austrians re-occupied Montechiaro with considerable force.

Fano, Urbius, Fassonbrone, Sescia, and Ariwona have pronounced for the national cause.

Rumor had been current that Count Pourtales, the Prussian Ambassador to France, had been sent to the head-quarters of both armies; but the Paris Patrie asserts the report to be unfounded.

King Victor Emmanuel had officially declared that he would not consent to the annexation of any part of the Roman States to Sardinia.

The Nord contradicts the report that Napoleon would soon return to Paris.

Count Rechberg, the Austrian Minister of Foreign Affairs, had gone to Verona, the head-quarters of Francis Joseph, and it was stated he was accompanied by M. Werther, the Prussian Ambassador to Vienna.

Mantua was declared to be in a state of siege, and the provisioning of the place had been ordered.

A naval expedition, possessing immense means of destruction, was on the way to Venice. 102 flat-bottomed boats, armed with rifled cannon, are, it is said to ascend the Adige and Po.

On the 14th, there were disturbances in Venice; but order was soon restored. There were 2 men killed and 3 wounded.

Lombardo-Venetian bank notes to the amount of fifty million florins were to be issued at Mantua, their acceptance to be obligatory.

Vienna journals publish the official account of the Austrian losses at Magenta. 63 officers and 1302 soldiers were killed; 210 officers and 4130 soldiers wounded; and 4000 soldiers missing. The Paris Monitour also recapitulates the French loss at Magenta was 323 killed, 2165 wounded, and 470 missing.

The French loss at Milegnano was 154 killed, 925 wounded and 64 missing.

A Unitied States Frigate had arrived at Trieste.

Garibaldi had pushed his outposts as far as Balladore, in the direction of Bordio.

The King of Sardinia's speech to the Commissioners from Bologna is published. He refused the military dictatorship offered him, and stated that he disapproved of every act subversive of or contrary to equity, and prejudicial to cause of National Independence.

The King also sent an aide-de-camp to the Pope to assure him that he had nothing to fear from the events now happening.

General Taun had left Munich for Berlin on a special mission relating, it was supposed, to the attitude Prussia was about to assume towards the belligerent powers.

The London Times in a leader on Kossuth's departure for Italy, infers that war is to be carried into the other hereditary dominions of Francis Joseph, not by a French army for the present, but by a revolutionary propaganda, supported by the whole strength of the French and Russian Courts.

The London Post's correspondent states that news reached Paris on Sunday of a political movement in Hungary and the Tyrol.

The Times Paris correspondent says Kossuth deliberated with a number of his friends, Hungarians and others, and he believes no objection was made by the authorities to their holding a meeting, not a public one, from which it is interred that the present movement is considered propitious to do something in Hungary.

Kossuth embarked at Marseilles for Genoa on the 21st.

GREAT BRITAIN.

The official list of the new Cabinet published shows no variation from the list received per Arabia.

Among the appointments which do not figure in the Cabinet are the Lord-Lieutenant of Ireland, Karl of Carlisle; Attorney-General, Sir R. Bethel; Solicitor-General, Sir H. Keatings.

The absence of Mr. Bright's name from the Cabinet gives offence to many ultra-Liberals, some of whom say that he was left out at the instigation of the Queen.

The "North American's" news, it will be seen, has no very striking interest. Whether we look to the seat of war or to the progress of the ministerial arrangements in England, matters remain very much as they were when the Arabia sailed on the 18th ultimo. As to the position of the belligerent forces, a Liverpool contemporary says :—

The Austrian and French armies having reached the point where the next great conflict must occur, their movements until they come into actual collision, are, and may be, guided by accounts of this terrible event; and the next few days must do so. The French are too impetuous, and have gained too much in the present campaign by rapid movements, to postpone an attack which must be made very shortly. The Austrians have taken the strongest position which they possess in Italy, and cannot abandon it without a great loss of military reputation and the sacrifice of the whole of the Italian provinces of the Austrian empire.

The Austrian army now assembled in front of the Mincio consists of nine corps d'armee, each composed of two divisions. Its precise strength is not known, but some accounts raise it as high as 280,000 men. The real strength of the French army is still more uncertain, but it is also very numerous. The forces engaged in the approaching conflict will thus be the largest which have met since the time of the battle of Leipzic, in which memorable battle from 300,000 to 300,000 men were engaged on each side.

Of the ruthless conduct of the Austrians towards the unfortunate inhabitants of the Sardinian Province, from whence they have just been driven by the allied arms, we have the following official statement, in a circular addressed by Count Cavour to all the Ministers and representatives of Sardinia at foreign courts :—

"Turin, June 12.

"Sir,—In a previous circular despatch I had the honour of making known to the legations of his Majesty, the acts of spoliation of which the Austrian army was guilty in the Sardinian province that it occupied. I ought now to inform you that a judicial investigation has been ordered by the government into this matter. It will be prove that Austria has brutally violated the laws of war, and that the conduct of her troops is not that which distinguishes civilised nations. The results of this inquiry will be communicated at the proper time to the legations. But there is now a fact just legally verified by the judicial authorities, and which I ought to point out to the indignation of the cabinets throughout Europe. Published by the press it would perhaps be believed; the government ought itself to make it known, and guarantee its exact truth.

"On the 20th of May, the very day of the battle at Montebello, about eleven o'clock in the forenoon, some Austrian troops were encamped on the heights of Torricolla, a small commune in the province of Voghera. A patrol having met on the road a bailiff of the tribunal, and having compelled him to act as a guide, entered the village, and went into the house of a farmer named Cignoli. There, after a strict search in every part of the building, the soldiers ordered all the members of the Cignoli family, and every other individual happening to be present in the farm-yard, to follow them.

"The search had enabled them to discover in the house a small leathern bottle containing a small quantity of shot for a fowling-piece.

"The persons arrested were to the number of nine, viz :—Peter Cignoli, aged 68; Antony Cignoli, aged 50; Jerome Cignoli, aged 35; Charles Cignoli, aged 19; Bartholomew Cignoli, aged 17; Antony Setti, aged 26; Gaspard Biecardi, aged 48; Hermenegild San Pellegrin, aged 40; Louis Archille, aged 14.—There were, it will be seen, an old man of 60 years and a child of 14.

"The patrol conducted them to the presence of the Austrian commander, who was on the main road, on horseback, in the midst of his troops.

"Having exchanged a few words in German with the soldiers who had escorted the prisoners, the commander told the bailiff, who had served as guide, to remain where he was; he then order the nine unfortunate peasants, who could not make themselves understood and who were trembling in every limb, to go down into a path on one side of the road; they had taken but a few steps when the commander gave to a platoon drawn up an the road the signal to fire.

"Eight of those unfortunate persons fell instantly dead; the old Cignoli, mortally wounded, gave no sign of life. The Austrian troops resumed their march, and the commander, turning to the bailiff, told him he might go; and, to prevent his being arrested by the troops still in the neighbourhood, gave him a card which, in case of need he was to produce, and which would serve him as a safe-conduct.

"This card was a visiting one, which bore under a Count's coronet, this name :

"'Lieutenant Field-Marshal Urban.'

"This card is attached to the back of the official document of inquiry.

"Some time after, the inhabitants approached the spot where the frightful butchery had been enacted. Old Cignoli, who had regained his senses, was conveyed to the hospital of Voghera, where he died five days later.

"Such enormities require no commentary. That wao an assassination as cowardly as it was atrocious, similar examples of which could at most be found among barbarians and savages.

"You are requested, sir, to communicate this despatch to the Minister of Foreign Affairs of the government to which you are accredited, and I beg you at the same time to accept the fresh assurances of my most distinguished consideration."

The conduct of the French soldiery, on the other hand, is thus described by a Turin correspondent of the London Herald :—

The French are everywhere execrated. Long before they crossed the Ticino the priests denounced the invaders from every pulpit, described them in the blackest colours, drew frightful pictures of the special corps of the French army, depicting them as fiends in human shape, &c. Now, it was in some measure within the power of the French themselves to remove this unfavorable impression, and to prove by their conduct that they were not so black as they had been painted. I regret to say that they have not done so. They do not generally commit murder if they are civily received, it is true; but no woman's honour is safe in any village through which a French detachment happens to be marching. After the affair at Malegnano the licentiousness of the victorious soldiery knew no bounds. They penetrated into the cellars of the houses, where some part of the female population had taken refuge while the fighting was going on, and frightful excesses were committed there. At Gallinazzo and Pugnalo, near Lodi, the villages were still deserted when I passed there. I went to see the parish priest, to ask him what had happened, but I could only get out of him, "Ah! que' Francesi indiavolati." A few houses had been gutted, but the natives had, by keeping out of the way, rendered any greater crime impossible. At Isola Bella the Turcos had left marks of their passage. I saw a group of women standing round the door of a cottage, and, moved by curiosity, asked what was the matter. "Questi cani d'inferno ci han preso nostre figlie;" and, in fact, I saw several Italian village girls following the regiment at Lodi. They were unwilling to return after their disgrace, and shame kept them trailing after ravishers. Their fate is indeed lamentable.

We elsewhere give the opinions of the leading liberal London papers on the personnel of the new Ministry. The following Parliamentary and election intelligence is from the Liverpool papers of the 22d ultimo—the day of the "North American's" departure :—

The House of Commons held a short sitting last night, and Mr. James gave notice that on Monday he should ask the Government whether it was their duty to bring in a Reform Bill during the present session. Sir C. Napier postponed his motion for a committe of in quiry into the state of the navy on this day fortnight, and in doing so he expressed his hope that there would dbe no undue curtailment of preparations for defence. Mr. Brand stated that the new writs would be moved for this day. A large number of election petitions were presented, and the Houses adjourned. It is stated on very good authority, that the re-election of Mr. W. E. Gladstone will be contested by the Marquis of Chandos. Mr. Bernal Osborne has declined to come forward for Marylebone. Lord John Russell has issued an address to the electors of the city of London. He promises strict neutrality in the pending war, and a further amendment of the lawregulating the representation of the people in parliament. Mr. Samuel Laing, M.P. for Wick, will probably be the new financial secretary of the new Treasury. Mr. Cowan has declined the Irish lordship of the treasury. The Globe states that the estimates and financial measures will be brought forward soon after the re-assembling of the House of Commons, when the members of the government will be in their places.

MR. GLADSTONE AND THE PALMERSTON CABINET.

A letter from Mr. Gladstone to the Provost of Oriel has been printed and circulated. The right hon. gentleman meets the objection against sitting in the same Cabinet with Mr. Milner Gibson and Mr. Cobden, by showing that Cabinets cannot in these days be constituted without including some, and perhaps very wide, differences of opinion, even on great questions. Having joined in the vote last year which led to the downfall of the Palmerston Cabinet, he thought it his duty to support that of Lord Derby; and he did not vote in the second majority, as that would have implied a course of previous opposition. He could not concur in their Reform Bill, and thought its changes singularly ill-advised. Under these circumstances, he considered his duty towards the late Cabinet had been fully discharged. He considers the guidance of our foreign policy with respect to the war in Italy, and Parliamentary Reform, to be the paramount interests of the present moment. On the question of Italy, his views have always been in union with those of the statesmen who have now charge of our foreign affairs. As to Reform, he never understood the principles on which that subject had been managed by the late Cabinet, and he thinks that the fact of the dissolution, together with the return of an adverse, and now no longer indulgent majority, rendered the settlement of the question by the late ministers impossible. The right hon. gentleman, therefore, naturally turns to the hope of its being settled by a Cabinet thoroughly constituted and led by the man together with whom he was responsible for framing and minor points he has seen the inconvenience of separate political action, and subject to the conditions of honour and of public utility, he could not with propriety pass by any opportunity of bringing it at least in his own person to a close.

LORD JOHN RUSSELL ON NEUTRALITY AND REFORM.—Lord John Russell has issued a short address, offering himself for re-election. It consists, besides, others of the two following paragraphs :—

"The grave responsibility which I have incurred by accepting the appointment of Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, in the present critical state of Europe, can only be lightened by the very general assent of the nation to the course of honourable neutrality which her Majesty's advisers are determined to pursue.

"The question of further amendments in the laws regulating the representation of the people in Parliament will be undertaken with a view to strengthen our institutions, and place them on a broader and stronger foundation."

CANADIAN STEAMSHIPS.—By the "North American, which arrived at Quebec on Sunday, have intelligence of the arrival at Liverpool, on Monday, the 20th June, at 9 o'clock p.m., of the Steamship Hungarian, Captain Jones.

The Hungarian sailed from Quebec at 10 o'clock on Saturday, the 11th, and has thus made the run from port to port in 9 days and eleven hours, from which must be deducted 5 hours for difference in time, making exactly 9 days and six hours mean time on the passage. We do not remember exactly the figures of the quickest passage across the Atlantic, but we doubt if any of them have bern better than this if they were fairly reported. The Hungarian took home 90 cabin passengers, amongst whom were many from Montreal.

We have a note from G. Prowse, Esq., one of the passengers, in which the ship's log is given as follows :—

CITY COUNCIL.—The Mayor called a meeting for last night, but there was no quorum. We understand that a private meeting of the majority of the Council was held yesterday afternoon; the business consisted in agreeing to certain orders of the day which they intend to discuss next week; they also determined to call this morning upon the Mayor, asking him to convene a meeting on Monday evening next. We have also learnt that the Mayor intends summoning a meeting on next Monday. The members present last evening were Alderman McCambridge, Councillors Leprohon and Bristow

A NUISANCE REMOVED.—For a considerable time back, many have complained of the disgraceful scenes which have taken place in the bush, Papineau Road. Accordingly, on Friday last, Mr. Coursol directed Chief-Constable Delisle to proceed in that direction and seize all he could. He so far succeeded as to secure about 8 men and 10 women, who had been living in the bush in a state approaching to nudity, and who were a disgrace to that part of the city, and dangerous to the locality. On reaching the jail, the Chief-Constable turned over his prisoners to Mr. McGinn. On Sunday evening, the Chief-Constable, acting under orders, made another expedition into the bush, and captured 8 men and as many women. They also were deposited in the keeping of Mr. McGinn. The manner in which Mr. Coursol effected the abatement of this nuisance is in keeping with his energetic habits and promptitude.

LARCENY.—A man of haggard appearance, named Fitzgerald, who seemed to be a sailor, was brought before Mr. Coursol, on a charge of stealing a dollar from a man named Plunkett. The prisoner stoutly denied the charge; and as the complainant did not make his appearance, having, as it was supposed, been kept out of the way, the case was remanded.

THEATRE ROYAL.—Last night Mr. Barry Sullivan and Mrs. Buckland played before a large and fashionable audience, in Bulwer's drama, "Money." In this piece Mr. Sullivan, in the character of "Evelyn," displayed the same capacity for high comedy as he evinces in tragedy. His acting was calm, polished and refined; his demeanor nautral and pathetic; his conception of the part perfect; his enunciation clear, full and sonorous. In short, he proved that in comedy, requiring high intellectual perception and rendering, that he is in this line inferior to no other player of the present day. He was well supported by the old favourite of our Montreal play-goers, Mrs. Buckland. As "Lady Franklin" she showed to the greatest advantage the the culture which she has acquired, and the peculiar aptitude she possesses for interpreting her author in the most natural as well as in the most pleasing manner. She, along with Mr. Sullivan, was loudly and warmly applauded, and at the end of the performance was summoned, amid great applause, to appear before the curtain. The Band of the 17th Regiment was in attendance, and diversified the proceedings by several pieces of the best music. The play to-night is the "Lady of Lyons;" Barry Sullivan as "Claude Melnotte."

ITALIAN OPERA COMPANY.—Our musical readers will be pleased to learn that the performance of the Strakosch Troupe, at Nordheimer's Hall, is to be followed next week by that of a well known list of musical artistes, with Parodi at their head. We shall give further particulars in a day or two—in the meantime, we must take the occasion to congratulate the public of Montreal on the possession of so fine a Hall as that with which the Messrs. Nordheimers have endowed the city. It must be gratifying to those gentlemen to find, not only that the mechanical arrangements of mouldings, paintings, and other decorations have been so successful; but that the more difficult achievement of conferring upon the Hall a fine acoustic quality, has been also accomplished. It will be seen, by a letter addressed to the Messrs. Nordheimer by the members of the Strakosch Troupe, that the latter award very high praise indeed to the form of the Hall, considered in respect to its adaptation for the conveyance of sound. No better judges could express an opinion on the subject, and both the proprietors and the architect, Mr. Kauffman, must feel proud of their work.

CRICKET—MONTREAL AND NEW YORK.—We are glad to see that the real old English game of Cricket is being made one of our Canadian Games. On Wednesday next, the Montreal Club play the return match with the St. George's Club of New York, on their ground in St. Catherine Street. Last year, it we remember right, the Montrealers lost the match by some five runs, but this must have happened because their best players could not conveniently go to New York to play. This year, on their own ground, we fully expect to see them return the compliment by beating their opponents. 400 miles is a long way to travel to play any game; but when we take into consideration that it is a National Game, distance should become no obstacle. Our sympathies, however, are with our Montreal men, inasmuch as they have a character to retrieve.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT AT THE GRAND TRUNK TERMINUS.—A man, dressed in the garb of a labourer, and named Michael McCann, was brought before Mr. Coursol, by Sergeant Wilson of the Water Police, charged with creating a disturbance, on the arrival of the train, on Saturday evening. The prisoner was exceedingly violent in his conduct; for some minutes he continued to wave a shovel round his head, and it was with much difficulty he was arrested. His wife was encouraging him in his attempts to break the peace. The Magistrate suffered the woman to escape, but, in the case of her husband, sentenced him, after an appropriate caution, to pay a fine of 25s, or be imprisoned for one month.

NEW WHEAT AT CINCINNATI.—The Cincinnati Gazette, of June 28, says—"The first lot of the new crop wheat, one hundred and fifty bushels, received by Mr. Todd of Covington, $1,45 per bushel. It was what is called Alabama, or Hill, and raised near Lexington, Ky. The quality is excellent, the grain being full and of a fine colour. Flour dull and market tending downward. Wheat quiet and without important change. Corn firm. Under large receipts oats declined 5s per bushel.

THE STOCK OF SUGAR AT NEW YORK.—The account of stock of Sugar at New York, taken on the 1st of July, shows 81,097 hhds. against 36,815 last year; 24,123 boxes against 19,411 last year; 25,450 bags East India against 14,826 last year, and 24,500 bags Brazil against none of this description last year. Prices are again tending downward.

RECORDER'S COURT.—Yesterday morning, before F. P. Sexton, Esq., there were awaiting their trial the extraordinarily large number of 93 prisoners. The charges were mostly for drunkenness and tippling—under the latter charge coming a large number, discovered after 11 o'clock, on Saturday and Sunday nights, to be drinking in taverns. The Court dealt with the cases as the interests of justice demanded.

ROBBERY OF BOTTLES.—Yesterday morning, before Mr. Coursol, two men, named respectively Robert Mann and Thomas Laughlin, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing a number of empty bottles, the property of Mr. William Dow. They were each condemned to a month's imprisonment.

STEALING POULTRY.—A man, named Charles Bezeau, pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing 11 hens, belonging to Samuel Edwards. As he was an old offender, he was sentenced to be imprisoned for the space of 6 months, and kept at bard labour.

AIDING SOLDIERS TO DESERT.—In the case of the old woman, Mary Keogh, tried last week for this offence, the Court decided that she should pay treble the value of three soldiers' coats found in her possession, as well as a fine of 10s—the whole amounting to £4 4s.

FIRE.—About two o'clock on Monday morning, a fire broke out in a wooden house, belonging to Mr. Peel, Royal Lane. The inmates were awakened by the smoke. The fire brigade were soon on the spot, and extinguished the flames in a short time. The house is not much damaged.

ENGLISH PAPERS.—We have again to thank Messrs. Gillespie & Allan, of Liverpool, and Mr. Irish, of the British and American Express Company, for the latest London and Liverpool papers by the North American.

ARRIVAL OF THE "NORTH AMERICAN."—This steamer, which arrived at Quebec on Sunday afternoon, reached Montreal about half-past six last evening.

PERSONAL.—Mr William Swinton, of the New York Press—and author of "Rambles Among Words,"—that most pleasantly erudite little volume, is at present in Montreal, and intends writing a series of letters, on matters Canadian, to the New York TIMES.

NORDHEIMER'S CONCERT HALL.

MONTREAL, 4th July, 1859.

MESSRS. A. & S. NORDHEIMER, Montreal.

Dear Sirs,—The undersigned beg you to accept their sincere congratulation on the complete success which has crowned your endeavors in erecting one of the most splendid Music Halls in America. Having visited almost every Concert Room on this Continent, we consider your Hall containing acoustic qualities of the highest order, elegance of construction and comfort for the audience, as well as performers, which render it, in our opinion, the most perfect Music Hall in America. Wishing you success and prosperity, as you richly deserve, we hope that the public will appreciate your labours for the progress of music and art. With our kindest regards we remain yours very faithfully,

MARCEL JUNCA,
ALESS'A AMODIO,
PAULINE COLSON,

GENERAL GARIBALDI.—The following interesting sketch of General Garibaldi's appearance and manners is from the journal of an Australian colonist, "with a fellow colonist and pastoral squatter, their wives and a young lady friend," who in spite of warnings of the risk of illtreatment they exposed themselves to by crossing the Swiss frontier, reached Como, then in possession of the gallant Italian leader, on the third of last month—it is from the "Times" of the 21st June. Our Antipodes journalist says :—

We drove through quiet streets crowded with armed men to the Albergo del Angelo, and were received and shown rooms just as we should have been a year ago, only there was a guard in the gateway, and we passed a room full of officers writing, for the General had here taken up his head-quarters. We did not consider that it would be a serious breach of the neutrality of the nation if we paid our respects to the Garibaldi who had defended Rome, and who, amid all the blunders and disasters of '48, showed that only time and opportunity were wanting to develope in the Italians a single-minded heroism and constancy worthy of ancient Rome. After lunch we sent in our cards, and a message came from the aide-de-camp, saying that the General was asleep, but that as soon as he awoke he would present them, and had no doubt he would be happy to receive us. After an hour's saunter among the volunteers we were informed that the General would be happy to wait upon the ladies, and in a short time he was shown in. He proved as different from what we expected as was the state of the town from that reported From his portraits and warlike exploits I had pictured to myself a very tall large man, of sallow complexion, with long black hair and beard, with something of the romantic air of those Spanish guerilla chiefs, who sung their own songs to the guitar or killed people with equal gusto. Just the reverse. I could scarcely believe that the quiet, unaffected, gentlemanly man who entered Judas Iscariot with us was Garibaldi. He is of middle height, not more than 5 feet 7 or 8 inches, I should think; a square-shouldered, deep chested, powerful man, not being at all heavy. He has a healthy English complexion, with brown hair and beard, rather light, slightly touched with grey, and cut very short. His head shows a very fine development, mental as well as moral, and his face is good, though not remarkable to a casual observer—nothing to show the man who could form and carry out such plans as the retreat from Rome or the capture of Como, but when he spoke of the oppression and sufferings of his country, the lip and eye told the deep feeling long suppressed, and the steadfast daring character of the man. A child would stop him in the street to ask him the time of clock it was, but the man condemned to be shot in half-an-hour, would never, after a look of that calm determined face, waste time in asking mercy upon earth. During our long interview he spoke much of passing events [excepting his own share], but without southern gesticulation. He has the calm manner and appearance of the English gentlemen and officer; it was only when he spoke of the generous sympathy of the people of England with the sufferings of Italy that his Saxon-like calmness gave way; then, as he assured us again and again, how thoroughly it was appreciated by Italians of every class, and how grateful they were for it, he showed that the warm blood of Italy burned in his veins. My impression had been that his operations were more the result of rash impulses than military calculation; but it was palpable that, strong as may be his impulses, they are thoroughly under control.—"I told all to do during the war was to work hard and be steady," he said, "and I am happy to say they have done so." He was evidently much pleased at the feeble, sick son, and the aged, tender mother were not able to save themselves; they were probably drowned together in their seats.

The sleeping car was full. It was much nearer the shore, however, that the water came up only into the first tier of berths. The passengers were greatly astonished, though none were injured seriously, so far as known. They were mostly fast asleep in their berths at the time of the catastrope. One man who was slightly stunned, was seen through a window lying in his berth, his elbow on the pillow, and his cheek supported on his hand, in a reclining position, quietly looking on at scattered senses, while the bed clothes were just covered by the water.

Somewhere between 7 and 9 o'clock the next morning, small locomotives with empty baggage cars, came to the scene from the nearest stations, and many people gathered to aid the sufferers. Before noon over thirty dead bodies had been recovered, and stretched out upon the bank—an awful spectacle—many so mangled as to render recognition impossible. Several more were found further down the stream. The brook, a half a mile distant or so, empties into a river (St. Joseph, probably), and it is possible that some bodies were carried into the river.

Some fifty or sixty more were wounded, more or less; among these was Mr. Grant—so slightly, however, that he thought no thing of it—a bruise or two—on the head. It was fortunate that he was not stunned, for then he would have been drowned. His name was not telegraphed with the list of those saved; he supposed it had been by his family at Watertown before they left. His family at Watertown are glad to see that the real old English game | Sadlier 1 box; Crathern & Caverhill 6 boxes; Ferrier & Co 4 boxes.

The Messrs. Grant and his assistants, and the brakemen were all lost their lives. The conductor and one brakeman only escaped alive. The road-master was on board; he had come down on the train to look after matters on the line, in consequence of the reports which had reached him of the swollen state of the streams all over that section of the country; he was killed. An express agent suffered the same fate. It was at first thought that not one of the persons in the second class car had escaped; one man was afterward heard to say, however, that he was in that car, and his first knowledge of the accident was finding himself thrown some distance into the water. The second car in the train was also shivered to pieces, and the passengers in that were most of them killed, wounded or drowned. The baggage car was broken up, some trunks floated off; and others were destroyed.

The passengers in the third car fared better; some, however, were lost. Mr. Grant states that just before him were seated an elderly lady, and her son, a young man of 21 or 22 years. They had got in at a station further west, some hours before. The young man was sick; he had been sick for months; when he first had come into the car it was with feeble and slow steps, supported by the arm of his mother; she was taking him to New York for celebrated physicians and surgeons. Mr. Grant noticed the feeble, sick son, and the aged, tender mother were not able to save themselves; they were probably drowned together in their seats.
