Westmt, Tramways Seek Court Ruling On Snow Costs

Down through the years since Westmount was the Town of Cote St. Antoine and the trams rumbling over its streets belonged to the Montreal Street Railways Company, the municipality has consistently collected every winter, one-half the cost of removing snow and ice from streets over which street cars operate.

Now, there's trouble. It broke last winter when the usual bills for the snow removal service were sent out every week by the municipality and nothing happened. Only they accumulated in a sizeable pile in the Montreal Transportation Commission officer with no payments coming.

It was the first winter of the new tramways operators in office and they decided they were not bound to pay any such bills to the City of Westmount.

Decision Sought

Tuesday the disputants moved into the Superior Court with a request for a judicial decision as to who's right. They agree on the facts on which the dispute is based and a single point of law is at issue, they declare. On the strength of the franchise to operate a street railway system in the Westmount area, inherited by the Montreal Transportation Commission through the Montreal Street Railway Company and the Montreal Tramways Company, is the commission bound to pay Westmount its bill for snow removal?

Started in 1893

In a statement to the court, the City of Westmount claims that the right to collect from the tramways operators originated with its first franchise in 1893 with the Montreal Street Railway Company, in November, 1911, when the Montreal Tramways Company took over the same agreement with respect to snow removal was continued, and again in June, 1951, when the Montreal Transportation Commission succeeded to the ownership, the municipality contends.

Last winter, as in the past 58 years, the accounts for snow removal costs were sent weekly to the commission, the city points out, but no payments were made. For the entire winter the bills accumulated to $20,475.55.

On behalf of the Montreal Transportation Commission, it is contended that the franchise on which the claim is based expired long before the commission took over and, therefore, has no legal existence now.

The dispute will come before the court in due course.

Sails From England

Mrs. A. Waldie, better known as Carrie Biggers of the Carrie Biggers School of Dancing, is sailing today on the S.S. Empress of France, accompanied by her young son John and Lois Allum, an 11-year old pupil and Highland dancer. Mrs. Waldie and Lois will attend the various Highland Games in Scotland this summer, where Lois will enter the dancing competitions. They plan to return in late October.

Prizes Awarded In Putting Competitions

Two Putting Tournaments were held on Friday, July 11 and on Tuesday, July 15.

The first, being a regular low-score tournament, was won by Miss Sargeant in the ladies' competition, and by H. Smith in the men's.

Tuesday night's tournament was a little more interesting in that it was a "Honeypot." Mrs. W. Jones was the ladies' winner, and W. Stott collected the men's prize. All winners took home silver spoons as awards.

These Putting Tournaments are open to all residents of the City of Westmount. You are welcome to join this happy group of putting enthusiasts.

Miss C. Holiday

Mrs. C. Wilf Eagle, Mrs. Edwards Jones and Miss Edwards Jones, all of N.D.G., and Miss G. Holiday, of Westmount, all of the Montreal Detachment of the Canadian Red Cross Corps, will be among those who will do voluntary work at the International Conference in Toronto.

Inter-Y Swimming Meet Feature Of Camp Westmount

Next week at Camp Westmount the boys of Westmount Y.M.C.A. will have a very busy week. The two highlights of the week will be the Annual Inter-Y swimming meet to be held at South Western "Y" on Tuesday July 22, and the Junior Olympics to be held at the Westmount Athletic Grounds.

Other activities during the week include a trip to the Verdun Natatorium on Monday afternoon, an all day picnic to St. Helen's Island on Friday and Baseball, soccer, Swimming Instruction, Swimming, etc.

The Highlight of the past week was the trip to Belmont Park on Friday when 50 boys were guests of Steinberg's Super Markets.

Camp Westmount, the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Summer Program will continue until July 26. During the month of August The Summer Fun Club will take place directed by Hugh Stratton assisted by Mr. Jack Donnelly. Further information can be obtained at the Westmount Y.M.C.A. or by phoning GL 3916.

Wilson Concedes Race; CCF Down

George C. Marler, Liberal candidate for Westmount-St. George's landslided to victory yesterday as Westmount residents staged a quiet voting day in comparison with other districts in Montreal.

National Union candidate Kenneth A. Wilson conceded victory after a count of 50 polls had been taken.

Total votes for each party are as follows: George C. Marler (L.), 12,438; Kenneth A. Wilson (N.U.), 3,168; Miss Gisele Bergeron (CCF), 654.

Returned to the Assembly for the fourth consecutive term, Mr. Marler acted as Opposition Leader in the House since the last Provincial election.

Mr. Marler is well equipped for the position being an able lawyer and administrator. He was formerly a Montreal City Councillor and was on the Executive Committee but resigned to devote his entire time and abilities to the Legislative Assembly.

He has been a resident in this constituency for 47 years and is a graduate of Selwyn House School; Bishop's College School, Lennoxville; Royal Naval College of Canada and McGill University.

A member of the Notarial profession since 1923, Mr. Marler is also a member of the Canadian Bar Association and was on the Board of Notaries from 1930 to 1939.

He was an instructor in Navigation in the RCNVR from 1940 to 1942, and a member of the Metropolitan Commission from 1940 to 1947 as well as being Vice-President of the Executive Commission of the City Council. Other offices held include member of the Executive Committee of Greater Montreal Economic Council; complimentary life member of the Montreal Board of Trade and member of La Chambre de Commerce, Montreal.

350,000 Names In 'Phone Book

If names make news, as many an editor is wont to say, then there are some 350,000 news items in a book just out.

The book is the new Montreal telephone directory, and the figure represents the approximate number of alphabetical listings it contains.

G. H. Lowndes, Bell Telephone manager for the Montreal area, said that a force of about 125 men began delivering the books from door-to-door this week and they expect to complete the task in eight to 10 days. They're using about 16 trucks and 125 specially-designed hand carts on the job.

Their task is a bigger one than ever before as there were 584,400 copies of the 1952 directory printed, compared with 495,000 copies of last year's book.

The new directory contains 163,110 new and changed listings, Mr. Lowndes said. This figure includes listings for four new exchanges — Riverside 4, Pontiac 6, HUnter 8 and REgent 3 — which were brought into service during the past four months.

Also new in the 1952 directory is a map, on page five, which outlines the boundaries of the Montreal exchange area and the suburban exchanges which are included in the Montreal local calling area.

All these additions have been included without any increase in the number of pages of alphabetical listings. There are 845 white pages in the current directory — the same number as in the last book.

"EIGHT IRON MEN"

"Eight Iron Men" has been set by The Kramer Company as the final title of the recently completed picture which had as its working title, "The Dirty Dozen." The picture, to be released by Columbia, was based on the Broadway play, "A Sound of Hunting," by Harry Brown, who also wrote the screen play. "Eight Iron Men" was directed by Edward Dmytryk with a cast which includes Bonar Colleano, Arthur Franz, Mary Castle, Richard Kiley, Dick Moore and Nick Dennis.

Direct From Hollywood By JACK HIRSHBERG Looks Back At More Than 20-Year Stint For Examiner

HOLLYWOOD, July 16 — There is absolutely no need to run right out and mail me monogrammed hankies or even a birthday card, but tomorrow I'll be 35. Since it's unlikely any parades or Kiwanis luncheons will be staged to mark the date, I hope you'll pardon a few paragraphs on the subject here.

After all, you can switch to the want ad section if I bore you.

I don't suppose there's anything remarkable about being 35. It didn't require much talent. If it had I'm afraid I might not have made the grade. But being 35 presents a certain terror. It means that five years hence I'll be 40. Then it's only ten years until I'm 50. And the prospect of being a grandpappy and dangling my children's children on my knee does not intrigue me. I suppose the sensation has brought a similar effect to most men, but somehow 35 to me seems a pivot age.

By this time in life a man's dreams should be partly realized. He may not have arrived at his goal, but he should at least be on the way.

Me? Frankly, I don't know.

Sometimes I feel perhaps I lack ambition. I never wanted to make a million, and the latest streamlined convertible has seldom tempted me. I'm satisfied with a medium-priced car, half a dozen pair of slacks, a sport coat or three and a few suits. Small talk at country clubs bores me sick and the thought of having to sell anything to anybody is revolting. Nor do I yearn to be heroic, to pioneer the fields of science or the arts.

I may not set my kids the proper example, but I've always felt life is meant to be lived — and thus far I've had a pretty good time living it.

Sitting here in a Hollywood office it's somewhat startling to realize I've been pounding out this pillar just about 20 years. Back when I started the printing plant was located above the AOA garage on Sherbrooke Street. They used an ancient flat-bed press rescued from the bottom of the ocean, and I was paid a handsome penny a line. Every Thursday I'd clip the column and paste it in my scrap book. It was quite a thrill.

Strange, isn't it, what can happen by following the line of least resistance. I could have been a doctor, like my pop. But it was my misfortune to live next door to L. S. B. Shapiro, who banged a typewriter at The Gazette. Shapiro played the reporter role right to the hilt — dressing in black fedora with turned-down brim and overcoat with turned-up collar. To impressionable little me he presented a figure of glamour. I've never forgiven him!

Anyhow, I sent away for one of those 25-cent mail order press cards that's supposed to get you past police lines. It did, too. I'd flash it backstage at Loew's and His Majesty's and you'd be surprised how many celebrities I interviewed that way. This led to the birth of the column, to Europe one summer, and to Hollywood 14 years ago. Meanwhile, because a guy's got to eat, I pounded out yarns for a variety of syndicates and magazines, even stooping to press agency for such celluloid gods and goddesses as Alan Ladd, Bing Crosby, Jose Ferrer and Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis. But still the column continued, except for several years of wartime absence.

Let's be honest. I don't regret a single day of it. It's all been fun, from my interview (aged 16) with Sally Rand backstage at Loew's to covering the royal visit in 1939, the 1945 San Francisco United Nations Conference on the annual Academy Awards. There are times I think I must be as

Orland's Present 'Holiday in Mexico' Drama Feature

This Saturday, Orland's Breweries of Montreal will present the radio version of "Holiday in Mexico" over Radio Station CJAD at nine p.m. The original stars of the movie version of "Holiday" will be featured in the full hour adaptation of the famous MGM musical which was such a success a short while ago.

Walter Pidgeon will again play the role of the American Ambassador to Mexico whose main preoccupation, it seems, is not guarding Uncle Sam's interests in the Mexican capital, but looking after the involved and melodramatic crises in his daughter's life. Chris, the blonde, charming and beautiful little bundle of trouble, is none other than Jane Powell.

Westmount Strongman Olympics Bound

W. David Baillie Former WHS Great Wins Olympic Nod

By ALLAN SANDZELIUS

A Westmount athlete known to the world as 'mighty Dave Baillie' is presently in Finland where he is representing Canada as a weight-lifting strong-man.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Baillie of 12 Summit Circle, Westmount, Dave has been attending Springfield College, Massachusetts the past few years and was a former student at Westmount High School and McGill University. He is at present studying toward a Bachelor of Science degree, majoring in Physical Education.

During the Canadian Olympic team tryouts recently, Dave, in his role of champion weight-lifter, 'pressed' a total of 925 pounds to capture the coveted berth as Canada's Olympic weight-lifter.

Standing 6 feet one inch and weighing between 255 and 260 pounds, Dave is probably the tallest man ever to press over 300 lbs. officially, lifting no less than 305 at one time in the combined Canadian National Championships and Olympic tryouts.

Digressing a moment, we note that one John Douglas Woodward, presently residing in Dorval with his bride of recent months, and with parents Mr. and Mrs. K. D. Woodward living at 330 Kensington Ave., Westmount, has been selected to take part in the Olympic Star Class Sailing competitions in a crew under the direction of another Montrealer, Don Hugeson.

Mr. Woodward, aged 27, attended Lachine High School and McGill's Dawson College, and since 1949 till his marriage a short time ago lived with his parents in Westmount. He is also an active member in the Montreal Badminton and Squash Club as well as spending a great deal of time at his sailing hobby.

At this point it might be of interest to Examiner readers to know a little of the athletic background of Westmount's own Dave Baillie so we'll check a few of the important facts.

Dave was born in Montreal on June 10, 1928. His father, Donald

Downward Trend In Real Estate Sales Shown In Report By Board

Real estate sales were on the downward trend again this month, figures released by the Montreal Real Estate Board show, in both city wards and the suburban municipalities.

City wards sales for the month of May dropped off almost $7,000,000 as compared to 1951 figures and the suburban figure was off by $100,000.

January to May sales in both fields also fell off. The five month period of January to May showed a $20,000,000 drop in the city wards and a $7,000,000 fall-off in the suburban areas.

Mount Royal ward and Notre Dame de Grace ward retained their leads in city sales this May with totals of $1,983,550 and $1,904,371 respectively. Mount Royal reached the total in 57 sales as compared to the 116 sales recorded in NDG.

St. George ward also showed a better than million dollar total for May. In 15 sales the figure was listed at $1,370,800.

City ward totals for May were listed at $13,905,755 in 1,031 sales as compared to the 1951 total of $20,771,009 in 1,446 sales.

Newly Issued Booklet Helpful Dieting Guide

A booklet, clearly printed and well laid out, has been issued by Good Housekeeping with eight diet plans based on "Best Diet plans from Good Housekeeping." Four of these are reducing plans, one is a gaining plan, one a weight. All of them are specifically plan-maintenance, one a pregnancy diet and one a special low-sodium diet. ned to fit easily as possible into normal family living.

Developed by Good Housekeeping, care has been taken to make the diets not only sound nutritionally but good to eat. Consultation with your doctor is advised before launching on any special diet, such as the low-sodium.

Reducing made easy for Teen-agers is the title of one section and three-day and 14-day diets for normal diets in reducing or gaining are included, all fitting into the normal family meals pattern.

Don't Overdo It While On Vacation

The keynote of the whole program should be relaxation rather than tension, recreation rather than exertion. While there is a temptation to crowd a year's activities into a few weeks, don't do it.

Never get fatigued, says Dr. F. M. Jones in CIL "Oval", always quit before you are really tired. Rest and sleep are just as essential now as they are all year. Don't drive several thousand miles and expect to get real value out of your vacation. Keep within the limits of moderation or you will require a convalescent period to recover from your labours.

PRETTY FOR PUNCH

If you don't have gardenias to float in your punch bowl, just be resourceful with ice cubes. Fill the tray with punch and put cherries, bits of pineapple, mint, or other fruit in patterns in each section; or remove the separator and make an over-all pattern for a "brick" of punch-ice for the punch bowl.

For the man of the household, trouser and tie racks and some extra shelves will help to relieve the congestion.

There are three other boys in the Baillie family who have also made names for themselves in athletic prowess. Tom, now employed by the C.P.R. is an excellent skier with a flair for jumping and not to mention the famed W.H.S. football 'twins', Ray and Charlie, 17, who are serving notice of their individual athletic abilities not only in rugby but in hockey, weight-lifting, softball, etc. . . .

Ray weighs about 265 pounds at 5'10" and qualified for Montreal's 1950 High School All-Star team as lineman whilst brother Charlie's record is well known to readers of this paper, having been named most valuable player and all-star back on the 1951 dream-team with his sensational triple threat playing on this year's W.H.S. third place football squad. Furthermore, Charlie is at present the Canadian National AAU Interscholastic Shot Putting champion for the second time.

Both Ray and Charlie train with weights during the off-season.

Attending Westmount High in 1945-6, Dave Baillie tried out as lineman on the second string, Sr. "B" football team in '45 and disgusted with his inadequate showing and weighing a mere 165 lbs., Dave took up training with weights that spring, continuing on into that summer.

Returning to school the next fall he tipped the scales at 180 and was picked to play at the tackle position on the "A" team over several other 200-lb. candidates. One thing led to another and by the time he entered McGill in '46 he had been on the Westmount High championship Ski team ('45-'46) and had been elected to the select Ski Gull ski club which has produced a great deal of National and Olympic skiing champions in its day.

After two years at McGill, Dave transferred to Springfield College, Mass., where he has been ever since, playing consistently excellent football (he hadn't missed one game or practice in three years) as well as chalking up myriad victories for himself and his school in track and field, discus, weight-lifting, shot-putting, (breaking the college record with a 46 foot 3 1/2 inch shot-put); gaining an enviable total of 12 firsts, three seconds and four thirds in 16 weight-lifting and track meets in and around the New England states and Canada.

Just to make your mouth water, Dave recounts that his average diet consists of at least two large meals a day and then whenever he's hungry, which is usually most of the time. His food intake includes four quarts of milk, 3 to 4 oranges, figs and raisins daily as well as steaks, when he can afford them.

To conclude, then, perhaps we could make Dave's body measurements speak a few volumes for him as for example his neck — 18 1/2"; chest — (N) 51"; (Ex) 53"; waist — 40"; hips — 44"; arm — 18 1/2"; forearm — 14"; wrist — 7 1/2"; thigh — 28" and calf — 17".

P.S. — Dave is not only a top notch athlete — he excels in the Town of Mount Royal, recorded the only over the million dollar mark in May with a total of $1,651,352 in 55 sales.

Other Leaders

Other leaders in the suburban field were Town of St. Laurent with 48 sales for a total of $716,472, city of Verdun with $600,963 in 43 sales and Westmount with 35 sales for a value of $636,647.

January to May figures in the suburbs fell off considerably as compared to last year.

Last year's total sales were listed at 3,740 for a grand total of $37,429,742 as compared to this year's figure of $30,859,464 in 2,885 sales.

Mount Royal sales in the five month period totaled $4,116,969 in 192 sales but Town of St. Laurent with 242 sales took over the first place with a total of $4,506,028.

Westmount, with 132 sales, for a total of $2,958,905 and Verdun with $2,907,054 in 239 sales maintained to positions in the suburban field.

Hampstead bettered the million dollar mark with $1,117,141 in 53 sales and Cote St. Luc forged ahead with 40 sales for a total of 274,106.

Tom Gard's Note Book

A few days ago I came across what might be called the Wonder House. This had been erected by an enterprising young man who carefully collected slats from packing boxes, cutting them to uniform lengths and storing away for future use. In course of time, he drew the plans for a humble cottage, then built it in sections and assembled the various units. The roof was made of used lumber from the local wreckers. The house was finally covered with insulated siding, and the roof covered with imitation shingles. His objective is to take it down and again assemble it as a summer cottage. I could not help but exclaim "more power to his elbow".

DRAIN BOARDS ARE HANDY

Entering one of the small homes constructed during the war years, I came across another item of interest. Space was at a premium, and many items had been left out of the general plan, including a drain board. The good lady of the house had complained on many occasions, especially when looking for a place to put clothing when run through the ringer. The matter was finally settled to her satisfaction by her husband. Collecting discarded pieces of boxes he built a board, supporting it against the wall with an upright piece of one-inch pine. A cleat against the wall gave added support. His intention is to rebuild with B.C. Fir Plywood. Masonite is also excellent for such purposes. Quarter inch moulding finished off the edges to prevent water leaking to the floor.

UTILITY TABLE

When visiting towns where sawmills are located it is always good policy to watch out for the local craftsman. One I met last summer was a worker from the shipyard. He had used pieces of 2" x 6" pine planks to make an exceptionally good coffee or utility table. Sanding down the edges gave good close joints on the top, and when painted these were hardly discernable. The legs and supports were constructed of the same material. I was more than interested to find two other articles made by the same hands, a table lamp of 2" x 4" scantling, and a flower pot which turned out to be a grapefruit juice tin, nicely painted to match the drapes and carpet.

OUTDOOR TABLES

When we think of outdoor tables we naturally have to think of rain and inclement weather. I was impressed by a touch of hospitality over the border when, passing a fine garden, I noticed a sign on the gate: "Enter here all those who love a little beauty" — and so I entered. In a shady nook I noticed a picnic table, and later learned it was made by the local plumber as a gift to a local service club. This man had constructed most of the table by using old water piping, joints and caps which had been discarded. It was painted in pearl gray and could easily grace garden, park or roadside. Seats and top were made of planks, but two by fours could be used instead. Asking if it might be copied the builder replied "Well copying is the sincerest type of flattery". So, here it is for you.

PROGRAM MATERIAL

(In Three Instalments. Part One)

The nucleus of these articles, "Program Material" stems from some censorial comment on recent student recitals. As one who is highly in favour of public performance (when the pupil is capable) from the standpoint of teacher, student and parent, we will deal with several types of students and material.

There is the beginner, the intermediate pupil, the advanced non-professional, the serious student, the semi-professional, the young artist and finally, the concert artist. Consider all these types and naturally the program material varies accordingly. What right then has anyone to reprove the choice of material if a young beginner does not play a piece by Beethoven, Bach or Mozart? How can they in the first or second year when very little practice is done? There are a few elementary numbers that could be used but they are not very interesting concert material.

What child studies Charles Dickens, Robert Louis Stevenson, William Makepeace Thackeray, Shakespeare or Maurice Maeterlinck in his very elementary schooling. It is a justifiable simile. So long as the beginner plays music that is good, in correct time, contrasting forte and piano, legato and staccato, what more can be expected of the very young student? He is not old enough to put in his own interpretation therefore has to be guided by the teacher. He cannot have a fluent technique for some time. Compare this category with the expression of the very young elocution student. Remember, dear readers, we are speaking of the majority of students, which are those of average ability, not the talented ones.

Parents today realize that much progress has been made in making the beginner of this era enjoy his lessons. What has caused this? The fact is that the material, the methods and sheet pieces are much more attractive than in bygone days. One must advance with the times. To be sure, there are standard numbers, classics that are not too difficult, that every student learns at some time or other in his course of study, but prior of this stage he usually has a "Beginners Method Book." Of these, John M. Williams, Blake and Capp, John Thompson, Ada Richter, Michael Aaron, Hazel Cobb, Robert Nolan Kerr and countless others have won much favour.

It is wise on the part of the teacher to change to other material if he finds the pupil does not respond to what he is doing because what suits one does not always suit another. That is where psychology enters the picture — the instructor must understand and train the young mind.

Program material for the beginner is very interesting if the teacher is not afraid of work. It is difficult at times to find something that is attractive for the listener as well as the parent. Pieces for a concert require concentration because nearly every student presents a special personality. For a music examination, everyone has to learn the same pieces... to pass to the next grade in school each student learns the same work but alas and alack it is quite the contrary with a music recital!

The Sterling Area "Crisis"

Canadians Concerned With Problems of Britain, Weaker Trade Ties

For the third time since the war Britain and the rest of the sterling area have been going through a trade "crisis". Between June and December of 1951 the gold and dollar reserves of the area were drawn down by more than $1,500 millions, while in the first three months of this year drawings amounted to over $600 millions more.

At the end of March there was only $1,700 millions left in the pool, the equivalent of barely two months of British imports. Not only this, but the past twelve months have seen the creditor position of nearly $500 millions which the sterling area had built up in the European Payments Union (EPU) change to a debtor position of over $600 millions.

What has been particularly striking about this latest crisis is that it developed so quickly and followed so hard upon a period during which the reserves had been rapidly building up. Not much more than a year ago some observers were voicing the opinion that "dollar shortage" was a thing of the past.

The sudden reversal in the fortunes of the sterling area is indicative of the unsettled character of the postwar world and further emphasizes the vulnerability of a great trading country lacking adequate reserves and without any appreciable surplus earning power.

There is no need to labor the relevance of Britain's problems to Canada. All through the postwar period Canadians have been concerned with the difficulties confronting Britain and with the weakening of trade ties with the Commonwealth. It is true that the contraction in this trade has had no major impact upon the Canadian economy as yet, but there is a good deal to suggest that the latest series of import restrictions imposed by the sterling area may be more widely felt. And quite apart from her direct trade, Canada is profoundly interested in the problems of the sterling area since these difficulties are a potent force tending to divide the Western world into separate trading blocks.

you rather live? In which would the workers be richer, the people more prosperous? Which would have the best housing, the highest standard of living, the happiest and most contented people?

The question is open to all. Who will give the best answer to this question?

R. J. Deachman,

THE FRUITS OF ERROR

The Editor:

The recent crisis in the American steel industry is a logical development of policies pursued by governments of that country during the last two decades.

If the American government had never taken the labor unions under its wing and fostered their growth at the expense of the nation as a whole, if it had made the unions subject to the laws against combines and monopolies as other people are, the unions would never have become strong enough to tie up nation-wide industries and deprive the whole country of essential goods and services, as a means of enforcing their demands on their employers.

If the government had never encouraged the belief that the owners and managers of industry are essentially evil, and hardly entitled to the rights of ordinary citizenship, if it had never deceived itself and the public into believing that it is more capable than the people themselves of determining what wages are fair and what prices are just, it would never have got itself into the impossible position of trying to hold down prices and to raise wages at one and the same time.

If, through the years, the government had confined itself to the task of making and enforcing just laws, and preventing the growth of organizations powerful enough to oppress the people, the nation would not be plagued with these nationwide strikes. For the sole purpose of such strikes is to make the public suffer till their sufferings compel the government to arbitrary action.

"Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 20th.

This Lesson-Sermon brings out that God is the Life of His entire creation; that He has bestowed life on nothing unlike Himself; that sickness and death are overcome in proportion as it is spiritually understood that matter has no life to lose.

The Golden Text is from Revelation (21: 6, 7): "I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son."

Citations from the Bible include the following: "The nobleman saith unto him, Sir, come down ere my child die. Jesus saith unto him, Go thy way; thy son liveth. . . . And as he was now going down, his servants met him, and told him, saying, Thy son liveth." (John 4: 46-51).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Keys to the

Everyday Things

By Rev. Canon R. Kenneth Naylor

There is one everyday thing in which we are all concerned, directly or indirectly, and that is industry. Every one of us is dependent on the modern industrial world. It is said that the same ship that carried a missionary to West Africa also carried a cargo of metal images of some West Africa god, labelled "Made in Birmingham." We cannot escape to any South Sea Island or Arctic Archipelago where the industrial world will not catch up with us.

So quite naturally my third book was Sir George Shuster's volume of Fernley Lectures entitled "Christianity and Human Relations in Industry." Some cynic will say that the very title is a misnomer and that Christianity has no place in industry. But Sir George will show him that he is wrong, and so will a good many industrialists who say that God has His place in the factory as well as in the Church. And all of us will agree that it should be so. If Christianity is too anaemic to live in a factory the trouble may not be with the factory but with the brand of Christianity.

Sir George does not offer us an anaemic Christianity for use in the factory. Factory life is lived by human beings, workers and managers. Human beings enter into relationships with one another, and we must use in those relationships the only rule that will permanently and universally work: "Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." We are reminded that this is the second of two Commandments, the first being "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind"; and we should add the same qualifying clauses to the second Commandment. And it is upon the last of these clauses that Sir George lays his emphasis. In other words, these human relations must be considered not only with emotion but with all the hard thinking that we can put upon them.

And the lecturer lays down three fundamentals for the study of these everyday relationships, in which we are all concerned, even if we never step inside a factory.

The rules are quite simple. The first is: goodwill is not enough. To apply Christianity's second Commandment to human relations in the factory is a hard problem and calls for hard thinking. It includes the relations of workers and management and the relations of workers with one another, and neither set of relations is easy, for the problem is complicated in every way and on both sides by sin and selfishness. The second rule is that the observance of the Commandment is an end in itself. It is not for the purpose of increasing production. The doing of God's will is primary. Every-

Letters To The Editor

A DEFINITE CONTRAST

The Editor:

A bricklayer in Holland lays 1500 bricks a day, and in Ottawa 500. This startling fact came out because a reporter of the Ottawa Citizen saw a bricklayer at work. He differed from all other bricklayers on the job. He was wearing wooden shoes, brown corduroy pants and a blouse that came down to his waist. He couldn't speak a word of English. He came from Holland.

Brick laying in Holland is similar to brick laying in Canada, the only real difference is that in Holland the bricklayer does three times the work, he accomplishes more in a day.

Now take the case of two nations lying side by side. In one, the worker produces 1500 or whatever it may be, the other 500 of the same. In which country would thing else is a by-product. The third principle is that we start where we are. We do not wait for a change in our while economic system before we begin to love our neighbour as ourselves.

It is a program in everyday things on which we can begin as individuals or as a group, a program to give us a full-time spiritual and intellectual job.

This article was intended for July 2nd., so it ended with the idea that this principle in industry would be an excellent birthday present for Our Dominion. But unfortunately for my plan, two weeks earlier the compositor got mixed. He saw the title "Everyday Things" and an article on making Baby booties and thought that the most every day thing in his experience was booties and so there he was and in it went.

Let's Eat By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"It is an exploded idea that the oven makes the kitchen hot in summer." I remarked to the Chef. "This was true a generation ago when coal or wood stoves, or poorly insulated gas or oil stove ovens were used.

"But today's gas and electric ovens are insulated to keep in the heat. And if full use is made of the oven to prepare a whole meal, and to cook a food or two ahead for the next day, the kitchen keeps cooler than when the top burners are all used. Fuel bills are less, and less watching time is required.

APPROACHING MARRIAGES

The marriage of Miss Shirley Mae Gough, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Gough of Verdun to Mr. Sidney Gordon Simpson, youngest son of Mr. Sidney C. Simpson, and the late Mrs. Simpson of Westmount, has been arranged to take place at four o'clock on Saturday, August 2, at Westmount Baptist Church.

The marriage of Constance (Connie), elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Loftus, of Notre Dame de Grace, to Mr. Gordon Spelling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spelling of Point St. Charles, is taking place at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, July 19, at the chapel of the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, Father John Colford officiating.

The bride will be given in marriage by her father and will be attended by Mrs. John Worrall as matron of honor, and Miss Audrey Loftus, her sister, as bridesmaid. Mr. Ray Parker will act as best man, and ushers will be Messrs. John Loftus, brother of the bride, and Kenneth Goodfellow, cousin of the bride.

Afterwards a reception will be held at Tetrault Hall.

Mr. George Hemming and His Bride

Mr. and Mrs. George Walter Boyd Hemming, photographed on Saturday, following their wedding in the Sacred Heart Chapel of Notre Dame Church. Mrs. Hemming was formerly Miss Norma Aileen De Witta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. De Witta, of the Town of Mount Royal, and Mr. Hemming is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hemming, of Westmount.

HEMMING—DE WITTA

The marriage of Norma Aileen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. De Witta, of the Town of Mount Royal, to Mr. George Walter Boyd Hemming, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hemming, of Westmount, took place on Saturday afternoon, July 12, at three o'clock in the Sacred Heart Chapel of Notre Dame Church, the Rev. Father John Colford officiating. Pink and white delphinium were used to decorate.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a strapless gown of embroidered Swiss organdy, with a bodice having a fitted jacket to match, and a bouffant crinoline skirt. Her fingertip length veil of tulle illusion was held by an organdy cap and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and white featured carnations.

Miss Patricia Hemming, sister of the bridegroom, as maid of honor, and Miss May Grimes, as bridesmaid, were in frocks of white organdy, the maid of honor having an azure blue taffeta underskirt and the bridesmaid, delphinium blue, the fitted bodices having collars embroidered with flowers and the embroidered skirts, worn over crinolines. They wore bandeaux of taffeta and embroidered flowers, and carried nosegays of pink and white sweet-peas and pink carnations.

Little Miss Sally Aldom, as flower girl for her cousin, wore a frock of white organdy over azure blue taffeta, the bodice having a bertha and flounce of eyelet embroidery. She wore a white bonnet, with matching blue flowers, and carried a tiny nosegay, similar to those carried by the attendants.

Mrs. De Witta, the bride's mother, was gowned in Brittany blue silk taffeta and wore a shell pink feather hat and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations and stephanotis.

Mrs. Hemming, mother of the bridegroom, wore a tucked gown of navy blue silk marquisette, with a large navy blue embroidered straw and mohair hat, and a corsage bouquet of white carnations.

The reception was held in the Blue Room of the Ritz-Carlton where white delphinium and pink carnations were used as decorations.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Hemming left for Bermuda, the bride traveling in a frock of grey sheer and wearing a hat of white Guipure lace, red accessories and a corsage bouquet of red and white carnations. On their return they will reside in the Town of Mount Royal.

The bride received her Bachelor of Commerce degree from McGill University in 1950 and the bridegroom graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree from Loyola College in 1948.

DUBE - BURNS

White delphinium and feverfew formed the setting in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, on Saturday morning at nine o'clock for the marriage of Anna Louise (Sally) daughter of the late Major W. D. Burns of St. Catharines, Ontario, and Mrs. Charles Hall, Westmount, to Mr. Roger George Dubé, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henri Dubé, of Verdun, Rev. Father John Colford officiating. Mr. E. Savaria presided at the organ, and the soloist Mr. Lecour sang Ave Maria and Panis Angelicus.

The bride who was given in marriage by Mr. Edward Smith of Dorval, Que., was in a model gown of guipure lace and nylon tulle, the fitted bodice having a Queen Anne collar with sleeves ending in points over the hands, and the bouffant skirt of nylon tulle posed over taffeta ended in a train. Her veil of nylon tulle fell from a Queen Anne head dress, and she carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, achillea and ivy.

Mrs. Michael McCarthy as matron of honor for her sister, and Miss Carmen Dubé and Miss Terry Gallant as bridesmaids, wore matching floor length frocks of organdy over taffeta, the matron of honour being gowned in mauve

Mr. and Mrs. Hector Racine are spending the summer at the Manoir Richelieu, Murray Bay.

Mrs. Reginald Holland is spending two weeks as the guest of Miss Marjorie Caverhill at Murray Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mappin have returned from Scarborough Beach, Maine, where they spent two weeks at the Atlantic House. They were accompanied by Mrs. David Roy McNicoll.

and the bridesmaids in heavenly blue, with crownless picture hats and mittens of matching colours. The matron of honor carried a semi cascade of yellow split carnations and ivy, while the bridesmaids carried semi cascades of pink split carnations and ivy.

Mr. Guy Dubé acted as best man for his brother and the ushers were Mr. Michael McCarthy and Mr. Robert Dubé.

Mrs. Hall, mother of the bride, was in a gown of black and white silk with black velvet trimmings, white picture hat, black and white accessories, and spray of white carnations.

Local Teacher and Pupil Sail Today To Attend Scottish Highland Dances

Lois Allum, 11-year-old dancer and leader of the Kinsmenettes, as sailing today on the S.S. Empress of France to compete in the Highland dancing competitions in Scotland. She is accompanied by her dancing teacher, Miss Carrie Biggers, of the Carrie Biggers School of Dancing, and president of the Quebec Dancing Association, and they will return "probably in October", Miss Biggers says.

While in the land of the heather Lois will dance in Scottish games at Braemar, Bridge of Allan, Aberfoyle, Grief, Tobermory and "many others," Miss Biggers stated. She added, that although her pupils learn all types of dance routines, including ballet and character dancing, she is especially familiar with highland dancing, having taken part in dancing competitions at Scottish games herself. During their stay in Scotland they will meet "the world's top Scottish dancer, Winifred Haig who holds such dance distinctions as M. R., A.D., D.T.A., and W.C.H.D." Miss Biggers stated.

Lois and Miss Biggers will be guests of the Highlands Dancing Association during their stay.

The trip will mean one more honor for the young dancer here whose work is well known, having taken part in several variety shows. Most of her dancing has been with the Verdun Kinsmen Boys' Club show where Lois is responsible for the major part of all dance numbers.

Miss Biggers has her own special term to describe Lois. "She's a real little trouper," she said.

Fine Attendance at Rosemere Picnic to Aid Children's Home

Five hundred members of the L.O.L. and L.O.B.A. and friends had a gala time Saturday at the first picnic to be held at the Orange and Protestant Home for Children at Rosemere. Those who had never visited the home before were shown the newly decorated rooms, which have a homey atmosphere of family living. Movies and still pictures were taken of the young residents accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Durning, Superintendent.

Prominent members attending were Mrs. Ethel Erskine, of Verdun, recently elected Grand Mistress of L.O.B.A. of British America; Mrs. Taylor, of Saint John, N.B., Past Grand Mistress of B.A.; Mr. W. E. Atkins, of Sherbrooke, Que., Grand Master of L.O.L. of Quebec; Mr. Roy Wherry, Q.C., and W. H. Butler, President and Treasurer of the Home; Miss Ellen Helm, Secretary of the Home; and Mrs. Frances Burness, President of the Home Auxiliary.

Cups

A silver cup was presented to Mrs. Annie Connors, 87, as the oldest member of the L.O.B.A. present. The second oldest member was 80-year old Mrs. Ida B. St. James, who also received a cup. A cup for the youngest child present went to David Roy-Bounds, six months old. A cup was presented to Mr. Marsey Chicamore who had the longest service in the Order—54 years in L.O.L. All cups will be appropriately engraved.

The Misses Eleanor Duvall and Irene Waldie, who have won many honours for Scotch and Irish dancing, rendered a number of dances in full costume. Four pipers and three drummers from the Kilted Air Force Band were also in attendance and marched around the grounds continuously furnishing delightful music.

Races

In the races all tiny tots and those competing in the 5 and 6-year races received prizes.

Winners also receiving prizes were: Girls—5-6 years—Beverley May, Maureen Carson and Joyce Miles; Boys—5-6 years—Norman Noel, Kenneth Salmon and Bryan Fisher; Girls—7-9 years—Sandra Miller, Penny Davidson and Susan Hudson; Boys—7-9 years—Teddy Orwell, Bert Mason and Richard Chapman; Girls—10-12 years—Barbara Miller, Noreen Walters and Gizette Debert; Boys—10-12 years, Malcolm Vivian, Clifford Miller and Bobby Lawdy.

Girls—13-15 years, Heather Prophet, Betty Malloy and Mary Britain; Boys—13-15 years, John Prophet, Ross Alexander and Gerald Gosse; 3-legged race for girls, Helen and Brucina Rutherford; 3-legged race for boys, Barry Alexander and John Prophet; Wheelbarrow race for boys and girls, Barbara Miller and John Prophet; Wheelbarrow race for men and women, Mr. and Mrs.

Gordon Cole; special race for children of the Home, Sandra Miller, Susan Hudson and Heather Prophet; boys' open race, John Prophet, Malcolm Vivian and Bobby Lawdy.

A number of races were run for the men and women and a tug-of-war in which ten women won by pulling against five men.

Summer Sewing Is Comfortable If Practical Shortcuts Taken

Midsummer weather is hard on summer clothes. Despite earlier preparations, the supply of washdresses on hand for both mother and children never seems to add up to enough changes. It's worth a little effort to add that one extra dress which will make all the difference in comfort. Sewing in hot weather need not be fatiguing, if you follow a few simple shortcuts. You can learn from your nearest sewing center, for example, which are the easiest fabrics and patterns both to sew and to wear on hot days.

Choose one of those "quick and easy", "make-it-in-an-afternoon", patterns, with the least number of pieces to join, and therefore, fewest seams. Make your closings light wrap-around or tie, to avoid work on buttonholes or zippers. Neckline and sleeves can be finished with bias binding to avoid collar and cuff details. Leave the finishing touches to be added by a decorative button or summer costume jewellery. There are many patterns with good styling in the summer pattern books, and they are as cool to wear as to sew. Try cotton chambrays or gingham or the more easily handled sheers like organdie. And select a shade in sheer for which you already have a matching slip or petticoat to save making another one.

Plan to do your sewing at the coolest time of the day, early morning if you can, and do the finishing touches after supper in the cool of evening. Make up a light sandwich or salad lunch for the children and pop it into the icebox before you begin your sewing. Wear your coolest housedress to work in, preferably sleeveless or one which gives you easy arm movement. Move your sewing machine, pressing board, and iron into your coolest room near a window where you can get the breeze. Draw the blinds to shield yourself from the sun. If you are fortunate enough to have a back verandah, take some extension cord and move machine and ironing board outside. Have refreshing cologne and talcum handy, and a pitcher of icewater or orangeade close by. If you have a dress form, you will be spared the sticky trial of fitting yourself.

Go about your summer sewing

Now Playing At The Monkland

Lana Turner and Ezio Pinza, former star of Broadway's "South Pacific," are the romantic principals of M-G-M's Technicolor singing romance, "Mr. Imperium," which tops the double bill now at the Monkland theatre Thursday and Friday only. Story of a king who falls in love with an actress, the new offering is highlighted by four song hits. The second technicolor feature, "Distant Drums," stars Gary Cooper.

"Phone Call From A Stranger" Tops Bill At Westmount On Sunday

Deep emotional conflict and poignant drama are fused with considerable skill to make "Phone Call From A Stranger," the new picture at the Westmount Theatre this Sunday, an absorbing and unusual film.

There are actually four stories in one in this clever screen play and Director Jean Negulesco has made ingenious use of the flashback method in their telling. With it, he succeeds in integrating the lives of the four principals played by Shelley Winters, Gary Merrill, Michael Rennie and Bette Davis.

In this I. A. R. Wylie story, which Nunnally Johnson wrote and produced, four strangers are thrown together in a cross-country plane flight which ends fatally for three of them when the plane crashes. Gary Merrill as David Trask, a lawyer who has left his wife and children because she confessed that she had terminated a brief love affair with another man, is the only one saved from the crash and in setting out to console the surviving families, he finds that their lives also had reached a crisis similar to his. Through their problems, he learns the lesson of forgiveness.

Added Exciting Hit!

Ray Milland, handsome leading man, whose film fame is due first to an Academy Award-winning role as an alcoholic and second, to his debt handling of the sophisticated type of drawing room comedy parts, returns to rugged action fare in the lead role of "Bugles in the Afternoon." A William Cagney Production for Warner Bros., the Technicolor film is a story of the 7th Cavalry Regiment's patrol of the western frontier.

It is not that action roles are foreign to Milland, for it was as the classic "Beau-Geste" that he a soldier in a recent re-make of achieved top rank among Hollywood's male actors. More important, however, insofar as essaying a hard-riding role is concerned, is his real life preparation, for, some years ago in

Beverly Michaels In Similar Role

Beverly Michaels, who proved a sensation and won a long term contract at Columbia in the Hugo Haas production of "Pickup," is soon to be starred at her home studio in a similar role. "13 French Street," a novel by Gil Brewer, currently in its second printing and with a sales record of over 500,000 copies, has been bought for production by the Robert Cohn unit. Wallace MacDonald has been assigned to produce it.

was won by Mrs. Chapman and Mrs. Bockus; and Boot and Shoe race for men by Messrs. Ward and Chapman.

Certificates

Mr. Roy Wherry, Q.C., thanked all for staunch support of the Home and announced a drive to clear off the mortgage on the property — the issuance of 4 per cent certificates in $25, $50 and $100 denominations, repayable in 1960. These are available to Lodges and individuals alike from officers of the Home — the aim is to fully pay off the mortgage in the next few weeks through the issuance of these certificates.

The sale of sandwiches, hot and cold drinks, chocolate bars, hot dogs, etc., was brisk the whole day and the complete proceeds were turned over to the Home, along with admission charges and a number of donations.

Contract For TV Pictures Unique

A precedent-shattering contract — the first ever signed between a national advertiser and a major Hollywood studio for the production of motion pictures specifically for television — has been announced by the Ford Motor Company, Columbia Pictures and the National Broadcasting Company.

The contract, negotiated with Columbia and NBC by the J. Walter Thompson Agency representing Ford, calls for the immediate start of production of 39 half-hour plays, to be presented for 39 consecutive weeks commencing Thursday, October 2, over 51 NBC television outlets.

The title of the program will be "The Ford Theatre" and the sponsor will be the Ford Dealers of America.

The plays are to be made by Columbia's television subsidiary, Screen Gems, Inc., and will employ top-name movie stars, male and female, plus big-name film directors and screen writers. All will be produced by Jules Bricken of Screen Gems, and will be filmed

Fish Consumption Not High Enough

One of Canada's important natural resources is her fish industry, important both for export and the domestic market. The consumption of fish in Canada, however, is not as high as it should be, probably because many people are unfamiliar with their variety and their high dietary value. Fish provide calcium, iron, iodine, proteins, niacin, riboflavin and thiamine, all necessary nutrients. A little research by the housewife in the local fish market and the fish recipes in the cookbook would result in new menu interest for the whole family.

at Columbia's studio in Hollywood.

The first play will be a special adaptation of Nathaniel Hawthorne's classic "Snow Image," now being written by Edward Hope, noted magazine writer, novelist, humorist and playwright.

Second will be "Understudy," an original written by Jo Swerling, and now being adapted by Cyril Hume, veteran screen writer, novelist and short-story writer.

The third play will be a special TV adaptation of "Turnip's Blood," the Rachel Maddux novel. No writer has as yet been assigned to do the adaptation.

It was pointed out that the 39 plays will not be a connected series, but each will be an entity of its own. Stars will differ from

Rodomar Pitches Giants To Top

Alexander's Nelcos Behind By One, Dropping Reid 16-5

WESTMOUNT SOFTBALL LEAGUE

The past two weeks saw a change in leadership in the popular local Intermediate Softball League, as the hitherto second place Giants climbed into the top rung on the crest of a five game winning streak. Gordie Graham's squad started on their way to the top by outscoring the Nelco Supply outfit 9-4 and 9-6 in a well-played series. They also topped the Westmount Yards 14-4 and 8-1, and culminated their winning effort by downing the Reid & Cambridge outfit 14-6. Doug Rodomar was the big gun, turning in five well pitched efforts, while Joe Taillon and Graham himself shone with many a well placed hit.

The best the Nelco Supplies nine could muster was one win out of their last five games played. After dropping their third and fourth straight loss to the Yards 8-7 and Reid & Cambridge 11-8, the Red Raiders finally found out their batting eye and pounded out a 16-5 victory over the yellow clad plumbers. Cliff Gill with 5 hits out of six times at bat, including two homers, led the winners in their 22 hit attack on Cloutier and Daoust. John Reddon also scintillated at the short field position for the winners.

Reid & Cambridge and West-mount Yards each came out with two victories in five games, with the plumbers downing Nelco, as mentioned above, and splitting with Yards, winning 14-10 and losing 9-8. The Yards other victory came at Nelco's expense as previously mentioned.

The first and second playoff positions will be decided next Monday and Wednesday when the Giants and Nelco clash in a two game series, as only one point separates these two squads. Reid & Cambridge and Westmount Yards will probably finish in that order as either of these two clubs have no chance of edging into the two top rungs.

Standing as at July 14th:—

	P	W	L	D	Pts
Giants	15	10	4	1	21
Nelco Supplies	15	10	5	0	20
Reid & Cambr'ge	15	6	9	0	12
West. Yards	15	3	11	1	7

Popular Singer Dick Haymes In New Film

Dick Haymes, one of America's outstanding singers of popular songs, has been signed for the romantic lead in Columbia's new technicolor musical, "All Ashore." Judy Lawrence will be the girl Haymes romances while co-star Mickey Rooney will be paired off with Barbara Bates, borrowed from 20th Century for the role.

Character actor Fay Roope has been signed to play the commadore, tycoon father of Barbara Bates.

Haymes, most recently seen in "St. Benny, the Dip," had his last musical lead with Ava Gardner in "One Touch of Venus."

"All Ashore" is the first musical for Miss Lawrence, who also played the feminine lead in all five of her previous Columbia pictures. Miss Bates is currently on the screen in "Belles on Their Toes."

Apple Versatile Due To Chemistry

The apple is becoming a versatile as the soybean or peanut — thanks to chemistry. Chemists have taken this "one a day keeps the doctors away" fruit and have discovered exactly what makes it "tick."

After laborious experiments, they've found, for instance, that 26 different compounds were responsible for the apple's aromatic flavor — no mean feat considering that the fruit's flavoring matter represents only 50 parts per million of the original juice, reports C-I-L Agricultural News.

Chemists have developed a syrup that is not only good for table use but which is used in coated paper, cosmetics, toothpaste, tobacco and in milk products for infant feeding. They've recently developed a high-density apple juice concentrate that will keep a whole year without being frozen.
