Strike at Laval

QUEBEC (CP) — Students at the University of Laval are in danger of losing their academic year if a strike by 802 professors continues for another one or two weeks, Rector Larkin Kerwin said Monday.

Mr. Kerwin invited the professors' union to reopen negotiations, which broke off Friday. About 15,000 students and 1,200 non-teaching employees have been affected by the strike, which began Sept. 7.

"The actual and potential consequences of the strike are too severe for the students, the professors and for everybody," the rector said.

He said the university is prepared to create an "assembly of professors" which would be consulted in the administration of curriculae and the hiring and promotion of professors.

Flight changes

MONTREAL (CP) — CP Air has published schedules for the winter months which will eliminate some flights into Montreal's Mirabel Airport and replace them with flights which overfly the city and land instead at Toronto.

Currently most flights to and from Europe stop in both cities.

"We have just been made aware of the problem and are launching a study into it immediately," a spokesman for Transport Minister Otto Lang said Monday.

"It would seem a pity to have spent the money building Mirabel airport and then not use it to the fullest extent."

Last year CP Air had seven flights a week, with 1,545 seats, leaving Montreal for European destinations. This year it will have only three flights a week, with 604 seats.

Protest suspension

MONTREAL (CP) — The Quebec Civil Liberties Association protested Monday the suspension of nine social workers for refusing to hand over private files on their clients to a social services centre.

The nine social workers were suspended for insubordination after they refused to give the Richelieu Social Services Centre personal files on people who used services offered by the centre.

Association director Jean Caron said a coding system currently being introduced at the centre gives employees at the centre "access to all private information" for each client.

Gypsies given freedom

QUEBEC (CP) — A 22-member gypsy family will be allowed freedom of movement within the Quebec City area pending an appeal of their deportation, the federal department of immigration announced Monday.

The Petrov family of Yugoslavia, which has been confined to detention cells for almost a month, will be moved to a lodging centre, the department announced.

The case of the gypsy clan, 12 adults and 10 children who entered Canada allegedly carrying stolen passes after fleeing Yugoslavia, has aroused considerable interest here.

A group of demonstrators marched on the detention centre during the weekend and the opposition Parti Quebecois announced its support for their fight against deportation Monday.

Robert Burns, the party's immigration spokesman, said he wondered how the Petrovs could be denied entry to Quebec while former South Vietnamese general Dang Van Quang is permitted to stay in the country despite a deportation order.

You can always tell the host at a cocktail party. He's the one who keeps looking at his watch.

"How long have you been planning the President's trips this way?"

CHARLOTTETOWN (CP) — Prince Edward Islanders are responding with criticism and hostility to Prime Minister Trudeau's search for closer contacts with ordinary people.

Almost from the moment he arrived here Monday the islanders let Mr. Trudeau know that they feel ignored by Ottawa and that many do not like wage and price controls, bilingualism, or a range of federal energy and farm policies.

Some even rebuked Mr. Trudeau personally for refusing to appear on a local radio open line program, calling him arrogant, aloof and uncaring.

Today Mr. Trudeau will visit an experimental solar-powered home on the P.E.I. north shore, meet fishermen and hold a news conference before flying to Saint John, N.B.

The complaints followed Mr. Trudeau throughout the first day of a five-day tour of Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick. The trip follows a recent poll which showed popularity of the federal Liberals has reached an unprecedented low.

The Liberals are blaming the showing on a variety of factors but mainly on the anti-inflation program and on a backlash against bilingualism.

PLANS OTHER TRIPS
Mr. Trudeau says other trips will be made to meet the people in other parts of the country.

Aides said Mr. Trudeau was not expecting enthusiasm from the islanders because "he wasn't supposed to be making a big impact, he was supposed to be listening."

He heard repeated criticism of the anti-inflation program, complaints that agriculture and transport policies are a disaster for potato and dairy farmers and charges that higher ferry rates between P.E.I. and the mainland caused a serious decline in tourism this year.

The host of an open line radio program, offended because Mr. Trudeau would not appear to answer caller's questions, also criticized him. Listeners telephoned anyway—three supporting Mr. Trudeau and 28 attacking him.

They complained about the bilingualism program and said Mr. Trudeau was arrogant for refusing the invitation to appear on the program. Tour organizers said the program could not be worked into his schedule.

Progressive Conservative Leader Joe Clark will appear on the program Friday when he arrives here for the P.E.I. Conservative leadership convention. Mr. Trudeau held private meetings with business and agriculture officials where the economic and farm policies came under criticism.

Organized labor refused an invitation to meet with the prime minister and set up a picket line protesting wage controls.

Businessmen called for a review of a government restraint policy which requires that users of certain services to pay the full cost. This has led to a doubling in ferry charges and a sharp drop in tourism, they said.

Calls for economic growth

LONDON (CP) — Canadian Opposition Leader Joe Clark urged industrialized countries today to disregard doomsayers and commit themselves to an economic and political "modernization of the planet."

In a speech to the Canada-

JOE CLARK

U.K. Chamber of Commerce, he said economic growth is a moral and ethical necessity.

"The goal of economic progress is the extension of human liberty, not, as its critics sometimes allege, the open-ended servicing of human greed."

Industrial growth has brought "undoubted material and spiritual benefits" to about one-quarter of the world.

"To call a halt now to freeze the economic status quo—would be the most profoundly immoral act of all."

Clark said critics counter such suggestions with talk about redistribution of wealth.

But current total production of goods and services would only provide an annual income of between $1,200 and $1,400 for each person if it was equitably spread about the world he said.

The speech, text of which was released to reporters in advance, was the second and final formal address he has made during a 17-day, five-country tour of Europe.

MUST CARRY OTHERS
Clark said advanced countries must "pull the rest of the world in their wake."

He said recent economic changes, particularly petroleum price increases and commodity shortages, have given weight to several "popular disaster scenarios."

But resources have value only as long as the industrial system has uses for them. In the real economic world, the use of materials and commodities changes gradually as a result of price changes.

High-priced commodities eventually are replaced with lower-priced ones. Though there may be painful adjustments as the world switches from fossil fuels to sources of energy such as solar power, those adjustments will be made.

"There may be dark moments in our economic world for all of us, but these will occur as a result of problems associated with growth and positive changes, rather than problems of decline and dissipation," Clark said.

"On balance, the economic future gives more reason for optimism than pessimism."

Clark said the most difficult problems facing the world are political rather than economic. He warned of the danger of some countries and organizations becoming claudesine nuclear powers.

"The longer-term danger here is that even the possibility of such occurrences will create a domestic and international demand for repressive and totalitarian power systems to ensure personal security from random acts of violence."

To preserve individual liberty in such a climate required "nothing less than modernization of the planet."

There is evidence it is needed, he said.

Mr. Forget said there has been only one case of swine flu in North America since February and every week that goes by without a new occurrence reduces the chance that there will be a major outbreak.

Another reason for holding back, he said, is that the vaccine immunizes a person for "not more than a few months." The flu could strike after the immunization has disappeared and the vaccine is gone.

AGREEMENT NEAR
Meanwhile, spokesmen for a handful of delegations indicated agreement in principle is near on a federal proposal on cost-sharing for services not covered by existing agreements.

In return for the federal funds Ottawa wants a commitment from the provinces to restrain the growth of costs in the more expensive area of hospital care.

New services that would be covered under the arrangement include intermediate nursing home care and community mental health programs.

Saskatchewan Health Minister Marc Lalonde to extend his deadline on the offer.

Mr. Lalonde has given the provinces until Oct. 1 to decide what to do.

Quebec holds back on flu vaccine

FREDERICTON (CP) — Resolutions approving a modified swine flu vaccination program and a new cost-sharing proposal by the federal government appeared to be in the making Monday as provincial health ministers ended the first of two days of talks.

Details of the resolutions are not expected to be released until after the closed sessions end today.

Quebec Social Affairs Minister Claude Forget said a massive swine flu vaccination program "is not physically possible" in his province.

The program in Quebec will be held in abeyance until

there is evidence it is needed, he said.

Mr. Forget said there has been only one case of swine flu in North America since February and every week that goes by without a new occurrence reduces the chance that there will be a major outbreak.

Bill 22 discussed

MONTREAL (CP) — Premier Robert Bourassa discussed application of the province's Official Language Act with the secretary-general of the Italian-Canadian Educational Council Monday.

The council, a private body of parents, contends the law is not being applied fairly and is forcing some children to attend French-language schools rather than allowing them to go to English schools.

Angelo Montini said the discussion had been intensive and would continue in the next few days. He presented Mr. Bourassa with a lengthy brief prepared by the council, which outlined possible solutions to the conflict.

Says process not purpose of bilingualism opposed

HALIFAX (CP) — Most people accept the need for bilingualism but are discontented with the manner in which it is being carried out, Hugh Faulkner, former state secretary, said Monday.

He met Sunday with a group of local residents to sound out opinions on the federal government's bilingualism program. They told him the program is one of the central causes of French-English tensions in Canada.

Only 16 of the 30 people invited to the meeting attended, among them academic, business, law and labor representatives.

In spite of the apparent negative message, Mr. Faulkner said Monday he left the meeting with a feeling that most people accept the desirability of a second language and the aims of the bilingualism program.

He said the discontent rests with the manner in which the program is being implemented, admitting that the program has failed to ease tensions in the country between French and English speaking Canadians.

LANGUAGE DIVIDED
"I fear we are drifting toward a unilingual society with one language in Quebec and one language in the rest of Canada," he said.

"I fear if we allow these forces to continue unchallenged Canada will be the real loser."

Mr. Faulkner, who was made minister of science in last week's cabinet shuffle, is here to attend a meeting of the Council of Ministers of Education. He is accompanied by John Roberts, who took over the secretary of state portfolio.

Both men are touring the country to find out the feeling about bilingualism and try to calm tensions resulting from the program. Several delegates who attended the education ministers' meeting said the discussions had been candid and most agreed the bilingualism program has failed to meet its original objectives.

FEEL MONEY WASTED
Delegates emerging from the meeting complained that the program was being forced on English-speaking Canadians and there is a widely-held view that millions of dollars have been squandered on bilingualism.

Halifax education director Arthur Conrad said almost everyone who attended the sessions told Mr. Faulkner the government cannot develop a bilingual country with its present policies.

John Puchyr, president of the Nova Scotia Government Employees Association, said in an interview that Mr. Faulkner also was told the program will continue to flounder until attitudes toward language training are changed.

However, many diplomats predicted that the Assembly would mark time until after the U.S. presidential election on Nov. 2.

The Assembly's first business following the opening at 3 p.m. EDT was to install its new president, Ambassador Shirley Amerasinghe of Sri Lanka, who succeeds Prime Minister Gaston Thorn of Luxembourg.

31st UN session opens

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United Nations General Assembly opens its 31st annual session today with the racial confrontation in southern Africa and the perennial Arab-Israeli standoff among its most pressing issues.

Also on the agenda are the questions of curbing political terrorism, bridging the gap between rich and poor countries and the election of the UN secretary-general.

Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, who is expected to be reelected to a second five-year term, urged Monday that the Assembly tackle issues head-on and help guide "potentially divisive forces of change into constructive channels of cooperation."

However, many diplomats predicted that the Assembly would mark time until after the U.S. presidential election on Nov. 2.

The Assembly's first business following the opening at 3 p.m. EDT was to install its new president, Ambassador Shirley Amerasinghe of Sri Lanka, who succeeds Prime Minister Gaston Thorn of Luxembourg.

The Assembly also was to admit Seychelles, its 145th member.

These are the main issues facing the three-month session: Southern Africa: The majority coalition of Third World and Communist countries is expected to call for stringent measures, including mandatory economic sanctions, against South Africa's white government because of its white supremacy policy at home, its delay in giving independence and black-majority rule to South-West Africa (Namibia) and its support of the white minority regime in Rhodesia.

U.S. State Secretary Henry Kissinger's peace efforts in southern Africa will be examined closely in the Assembly and in the Security Council, which has scheduled debate on Namibia next week.

Middle East: The UN special committee against apartheid has accused Israel of collaborating with South Africa and charged both with "racist policies." This may form the basis for a condemnation of Israel.

The Assembly also is expected to approve a demand that Israel withdraw from the occupied territory on the west bank of the Jordan River and the Gaza Strip so that the UN can deliver them to the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Terrorism: Waldheim said last week he believes chances are good this year for action on terrorism, an inactive agenda item since it first was introduced in 1972 in the wake of the massacre of Israeli athletes at the Munich Olympics.

West Germany is heading a drive to produce an international treaty against the taking of hostages aboard planes, in embassies and in other locations favored by political terrorists.

Waldheim completes his first five-year term at the end of this year. Of the half dozen persons mentioned as possible candidates for the post, the 57-year-old Austrian is considered to be the only one acceptable to all five permanent members of the Security Council—the United States, the Soviet Union, China, France and Britain. Any of the five can veto a nominee.

For the first time in many years, the acrimonious Korean debate may not take place. Diplomats reported Monday night that North Korea's allies have agreed to withdraw their resolution calling for the withdrawal of the 40,000 U.S. troops in South Korea.

The opening three-week policy debate in which the member governments outline their foreign policies will begin Monday.

Urges inquiry study textile import effects

OTTAWA (CP) — Trade Minister Jean Chretien made public Monday a letter to the chairman of the Textile and Clothing Board, a federal advisory body, calling for an inquiry into the effects of imported clothing on domestic production and employment.

The request for an inquiry follows pressure from businessmen concerned that cheaper imports will cause serious injury to Canadian production.

Among the goods to be considered are pants, including jeans, coveralls and overalls, leisure suits, blouses and ladies' shirts, pyjamas and sleepwear, raincoats, sportswear, foundation garments, swimwear, underwear and topcoats, overcoats and outer jackets.

Mr. Chretien said in the letter to G.L. Bennett, the board chairman, that the inquiry should examine proposals by Canadian producers and make recommendations to the government that would prevent or remedy the problems.

The board should take into account the effect on consumers of any restrictions on imports and also consider any international agreements in which Canada is involved, Mr. Chretien added.

Minesweeper, frigate collide in North Sea

THE HAGUE (Reuter) — Divers today were searching the wooden hull of the British navy minesweeper Fittleton in 162 feet of water for possible survivors from a collision in the North Sea Monday.

Two sailors were killed and 10 were missing after the 360-ton Fittleton and the British frigate Mermaid collided in calm seas 80 miles north of the Dutch island of Texel during a NATO exercise.

The Fittleton sank as sea and air rescue teams rushed to the area.

Thirty-two survivors, including three injured men, were rescued from the Fittleton, which was operated by Britain's Royal Navy reserve. Nearly all its crew were part-time sailors on their annual two weeks of sea training.

The rescue operation, involving ships and aircraft from Britain, the Netherlands and West Germany, continued during the night.

A special six-man team of British naval divers was flown to the area by helicopter. Dutch divers were also at the scene.

A Dutch defence ministry spokesman said it is not known what caused the collision between the Fittleton—which was built of wood as protection against magnetic mines—and the Mermaid.

The Mermaid, a 2,300-ton vessel, suffered only superficial damage, but the Fittleton capsized and sank after about two hours.

"Wholesome, family type atmosphere" comes with every burger McDonald's opens up its 4,000th restaurant

MONTREAL (CP) — The official opening of McDonald's 4,000th restaurant brought company presidents from four countries and 1,200 company operators and concessionaires to Montreal recently.

The occasion was symbolic of the wealth, efficiency and self-proclaimed "wholesome family-type atmosphere" at McDonald's.

"We take this business a lot more seriously than anyone else," says the Canadian president of the hamburger chain.

George Cohen is happy, somewhat corny, and makes money — Canada is McDonald's largest market outside the U.S.

The former Chicago lawyer who became a Canadian citizen last year heads an operation of 200 restaurants expected to achieve $200 million in sales and $11 million in profits this year.

"We're a group of young guys who love what we're doing." He is 39 and wears a Ronald McDonald watch.

The presidents of the American, Hong Kong and Australian operations are about the same age and radiate the kind of confidence and satisfaction born of success.

About 30 per cent of the restaurants are company-owned. The rest are run by licensees, as the company calls concessionaires, who must sign a 20-year contract.

American president Fred Turner called recruiting restaurant managers and licensees "a very difficult part of the business."

"It's tough finding the good ones because they must be interested in community work," he said, explaining that McDonald's devotes half of one per cent of sales to good works in each restaurant's community.

Hong Kong president Daniel Ng heads an operation of four restaurants and attributes some of his success to the British colony's laissez-faire government.

"The government really leaves people alone," he says happily.

In Australia, where income can be taxed as high as 67 per cent, president Peter Ritchie says the McDonald formula works just as well.

Mr. Ritchie said he had been talking to operators, exchanging ideas and "we're going to Chicago after for an international advertising meeting."

The founder of the chain which sold its 19 billionth hamburger in May was 55 when he started it all 21 years ago.

Ray Kroc still looks closer to 55 than 76 and says the fun of it is "to see a gorgeous establishment such as this."

The gorgeous establishment is the 4,000th restaurant on a corner location across from the Montreal Forum.

The McDonald empire takes in 23 countries and generated sales of nearly $2.5 billion in 1975.

GM announces new car prices

OSHAWA, Ont. (CP) — Canada's largest automobile manufacturer adjusted the prices of its 1977 cars and trucks Thursday, increasing some and lowering others, but claiming that on an overall basis they will average the same as the 1976 model prices.

General Motors Co. of Canada Ltd. said it was complying with federal anti-inflation regulations in not increasing the over-all price structure at this time.

However, a company spokesman said the introductory prices would be subject to review and possibly changed later to reflect increasing production costs.

As an example of the adjustments, the price of a Chevrolet Malibu station wagon drops $73, a Monte Carlo two-door coupe $28 and a two-door Monte Carlo Landau $12 from 1976 model-year prices.

But a two-door Camaro coupe will cost $126 more and a Buick Regal $125 more.

"While unchanged on an overall basis, prices have been realigned to more properly reflect market conditions," GM said in a prepared statement.

"While under the government regulations, GM of Canada is not permitted to increase prices, our costs of labor, raw materials, component parts, services and utilities have risen substantially, and we have been notified of further increases which will affect the cost of 1977 model production."

PEPIN HAPPY
 The company's price adjustments were greeted favorably by Jean-Luc Pepin, anti-inflation board chairman, who said in a statement in Ottawa:

"The announcement... is a direct result of the anti-inflation program. Without it, General Motors would probably have followed tradition and increased its prices to correspond with the corporation's increase in the United States."

The parent company, General Motors Corp., has already announced price increases in the U.S. averaging 6.9 per cent for its 1977 models.

Meanwhile, the United Auto Workers, bargaining in Detroit for a new contract with Ford Motor Co. as its target, has predicted a prolonged strike before contract negotiations are settled.

New York

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed Monday, failing in two more bids to reach the 1,000 level despite the encouragement of prime-rate cuts by major banks in New York and Chicago.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, up about 3 points in the early going and again at mid-afternoon, closed with a .59 loss at 994.51. The average had climbed 16.46 points in the three preceding sessions.

Advances held on to outpace declines by about a 5-3 margin among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Volume was a moderately active 21.73 million shares, down from Friday's 28.27 million, which was the largest total in nearly six months.

The session opened amid continuing optimism about the interest rate outlook. There was considerable speculation that the U.S. federal reserve might be inclined to ease up a bit in its credit policy.

The reserve's policy-making open market committee is to hold its monthly meeting Tuesday.

New York's Morgan Guaranty Trust and the First National Bank of Chicago, meanwhile, announced that they were lowering their prime lending rates to 6 3/4 per cent from seven.

They thus became the first two major banks to match a reduction in the basic charge on blue chip loans posted last Thursday by the Southwest Bank of St. Louis.

Standard and Poor's 500-stock index struggled ahead .05 to 106.32, and the NYSE's composite index of all its listed common stocks also gained .05, to 56.74.

Sony, the most active NYSE issue, picked up a fraction. The company reported sharply higher quarterly earnings.

Ingersoll-Rand fell nearly 7 points after the company estimated lower profits for the year and announced plans to lay off some 1,000 workers.

PLANS SPINOFF
 General Tire, which plans a spinoff of its RKO General subsidiary to shareholders, rose nearly 2 points. The company also reported a large gain in earnings for its fiscal third quarter ended Aug. 31 and projected a strong fourth quarter.

Gold stocks followed European bullion prices on a downward course. Homestake was off more than a point, and Dome Mines and ASA Ltd. lost fractions.

ASA, an investment company concentrating on South African gold mining shares, reported that its net assets per share fell to $12.21 as of Aug. 31 from $26.89 a year earlier.

Carbon Industries, an American Stock Exchange issue, shot up nearly 14 points after International Telephone's plans to acquire the company were announced.

ITT declined a fraction. The Amex market value index rose .11 to 103.49.

Among Canadian issues on the NYSE, Seagram was up 3/4 at $25 1/2, Hiram Walker 3/4 at $30 3/4 and Inco 3/4 at $34 3/4. Dome Mines was down 1/2 at $37 3/4, Massey-Ferguson 3/4 at $26 3/4 and Campbell Red Lake 3/4 to $19 3/4.

Hopes to challenge European market in Canada

Cowansville industry sports latest technology

"Two years from now I would not be surprised if Karhu-Pinso became as important as Karhu-Finland in the cross-country ski field. This is because the Canadian market has more room for expansion than does the European one and right now Pinso Sports. Doug Barbour rose to the position of president of Fasco Sports, Karhu's distributor in Canada.

Having established the market strength, the quality of the available technology and the dependability of Canadian contacts, the mar-everyone else in North America. A few factories use plastic injection to make skis but none practices lamination on a large scale. Even European manufacturers will be behind for a year or two in comparison to Karhu-Canada.

"In spite of initial impressions, it would have been impossible to have a factory producing wooden skis in the Eastern Townships," suggests Mr. Claude Lavallee, technical adviser. "There is not enough wood here and this production technique is obsolete now."

"The pine in the St-Lawrence lowlands is too small," says Claude. "It is completely different than large Alpine or Scandinavian pine. As for poplar, ash and birch, they are full of knots and require difficult hand labor. What do you want?" he adds, here we have a sub-arctic climate. Scandinavia has the Gulf Stream. This is why it has been so difficult in the past to develop a wooden ski industry." The appearance of synthetic skis has changed all this. Thus, the hard wood kingdom of the Eastern Townships did become a viable location.

"We would never have invested in or even taken an interest in making wooden skis," declares Doug Barbour. "Market trends show that the future is in synthetic skis." Already during the last two or three years wood cross-country skis have been replaced by wood and fiberglass compound skis that are much more durable. They don't break after two or three years. They are more flexible and supple than wood skis. There are approximately twenty four different operations needed to complete our ski compared to approximately eighty for the conventional pressed laminated skis. Fortunately, mechanization of production has reached new peaks through the use of polyethylene bases and polyurethane foam cores for these skis.

"Ski Business journal already considers us to be the firm of the month," quotes Doug Barbour. "Karhu-Pinso has a promising future."

EDGE TRIMMING — One of the Cowansville plant employees is seen here trimming one of the firm's fine cross-country skis.

it is twice as important as the American one. Thus, I strongly feel that this company has a lot of future."

This is the diagnosis formulated by Mr. Antti Tittola, Vice-President of Karhu-Finland. He is the inventor of the new fabrication process at Cowansville.

"In Europe," continues the Finnish engineer, "the market is so segmented and competitive that no producer can really hope to enlarge his share."

On the North American scene, still pursued by the founder of Titan, we would have met heavy competition and customs duties that were unfavorable to us. Due to this, it was worth Karhu-Finland offering their technology to anyone interested. This penetration of the Canadian market in Quebec facilitates entry into the American market.

Maurice Pinsonnault, President of the new company, adds that in his opinion cross-country skiing will expand more quickly than snowmobiling in North America. This is due to a trend in the last four or five years to return to nature, it is accessible to everyone and it is inexpensive. Perhaps it is partly due to cross-country skiing that snowmobile market is stagnating. For several years, Maurice Pinsonnault was in charge of the distribution of Karhu products for Quebec and Doug Barbour for the west, then Maurice Pinsonnault started his own firm.

Twins celebrate 94th birthday

By MRS. JOHN WILKINS
(Record Correspondent)

Everyone present were proud that the twins could leave their wheelchairs and walk behind the cake and present-filled table to have their picture taken.

Affectionately known as Nella and Tillie, they were born at Denison's Mills, Quebec, on Monday, September 18, 1882. Mr. and Mrs. Euzébe Hébert were the parents of these twins and also of seven sons and one other daughter.

The youngest brother, Allie, lives on the old family farm that borders Denison Lake. He and the twins are the only ones surviving today.

The twins were both married in St. Bibiane's Church in Richmond. Nella was married to William A. Wheeler on Tuesday, May 2nd, 1905; and Tillie to Alfred Marchand on Monday, April 29, 1907; Both husbands were conductors on the old Grand Trunk Railway, later called the Canadian National.

Mrs. Wheeler lived all her married life in Richmond. Her husband died in 1948. They had three children: Thelma (Mrs. Lloyd Fuller) of Richmond; Herbert of Vancouver, B.C.; and Ellsworth of Montreal. She has nine grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Marchand lived for 25 years in Victoriaville. Then her husband was transferred to Richmond and later to Montreal for three years. On his retirement they moved back to Richmond. Mr. Marchand passed away in 1963. They had two daughters: Gladys (Mrs. Stewart Lockwood) who lives in Danville and Dorothy, who died in infancy. Mrs. Marchand has one granddaughter and two great-grandchildren.

Hilda MacNaughton gave a short resume of the past lives of the twins and read the following poem composed by Muriel Hill who were neighbors of the twins when they were children at Denison's Mills.

To Tillie and Nella — September 18, 1976

Tillie and Nella, on your 94th birthday,
Your relatives and friends join you here today
With love, fond memories, and good wishes too
For good health and happiness to both of you.

Accident rulings handed down in court

COWANSVILLE (JM) — Dr. Paul E. Roy, coroner for the District of Bedford, ruled Friday, David Quigley, 41, of Montreal, was criminally responsible in the accident which claimed his life on Route 133, June 27, near St. Armand West.

Constable Pierre Rudolph, Cowansville detachment Quebec Police, testified Mr. Quigley died as a result of a head on collision when his car ran into another driven by David Rothstein. Const. Rudolph stated the autopsy report revealed Mr. Quigley's blood-alcohol ratio was 222 milligrams at the time of the accident, and added Mr. Quigley had been involved in a hit and run in Pike River 10 minutes prior to his death.

Mr. Rothstein, of Cote St. Luc, testified he was in the centre lane of the three lane highway overtaking slower cars when the car driven by Mr. Quigley swerved into the centre lane approximately 30 feet in front of his vehicle.

He said there were no cars preceding Mr. Quigley's car and he recalled regaining consciousness in his car in the ditch.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH
Coroner Roy then ruled a verdict of accidental death with no criminal responsibility in the case of Miss Patricia Livingstone, 25, of Frelighsburg, near Abercorn on Route 139, June 30.

Victor Boucher, 63, of Sutton, said he was driving between Sutton and Abercorn when he saw the other vehicle in question approaching him from the right. He indicated he didn't think it would halt at the crossroads, slowed down, applied his brakes and moved to the left of the road to avoid any impact when his car was struck by Miss Livingstone's.

Const. Bertrand Huppe, Cowansville QPF, read a declaration from Miss Eleanor Zyniski, Frelighsburg, a passenger in the Livingstone vehicle. The declaration stated they were driving to Abercorn and Miss Livingstone geared down into second gear without halting at a mandatory stop sign when the impact occurred. Mr. Huppe indicated there were brake marks over a 43 foot distance from Mr. Boucher's car.

Mr. Boucher was absolved of all responsibility.

SOLDIER SLAIN

Const. Guy Lehoux, RCMP, testified he was on a routine Olympic security patrol, July 16, with Master Corporal Gaston Berube on Route 237 between Frelighsburg and Stanbridge East. "We were returning to Bedford between 9 and 9:15 a.m., and were rounding a left hand curve when a red panel truck coming in the opposite direction forced me to go off the paved section of the road onto the shoulder where I continued for approximately 50 to 100 feet. When I regained the asphalt I lost control of the car and we turned over in the ditch on the right hand side of the road."

Mr. Lehoux said he was driving between 45 and 50 miles an hour at the time of the accident, and the truck was at least one, if not, two feet, on the wrong side of the road.

Mrs. May Darbyson, a farm wife said she witnessed the accident from her kitchen window. "I had just given my son a drink of water and turned to the window when I saw the red car swerve to avoid the truck which was in the middle of the road. Crushed stone and gravel flew and the car went into the air and landed on the ground with all the doors opened. I recall saying 'Oh My God' and my son and I ran to the scene of the accident."

Under examination by Crown attorney Claude Noisieux, Mrs. Darbyson testified it would be impossible for the driver of the automobile coming from Frelighsburg to be able to judge the position of a vehicle coming from Stanbridge East in the sharp curve. She said, on several occasions, the curve could be manoeuvred with difficulty at 45 to 50 mph if both drivers stayed on their sides of the road.

Const. Jacques Lamontagne, Cowansville QPF, testified there were wheel marks for 118 feet on the shoulder, 100 feet diagonally across the asphalt, and the squad car landed up 152 feet (See Rulings on Page 5)

Police protection topic at North Hatley meeting

NORTH HATLEY (BS) — The topic of future police protection for this village drew residents to a crowded public meeting last night in the Community Club.

A lively one hour discussion period preceded a vote on the question of whether or not council should hire a full-time policeman to patrol North Hatley. Results will be announced late this morning.

The vote outcome is to form the basis for council's decision on the matter, an informed source said last week in an interview.

Since August the village has been patrolled weekdays by the Quebec Police Force (QPF) and weekends by Policeman Charlie Kydd, following the resignation of Police Chief Stanley Meigs who had worked full-time for the past nine years. Some residents have complained at the decrease in police protection and a 115-name petition calling for full-time patrolling was presented to council at the September regular council meeting.

The cost of a full-time policeman would total $18,000 a year and would result in a two mill increase to property owners' taxes, Mayor George St. Pierre told the meeting. For example, the tax increase would be $20 a year to the owner of a $10,000 home, he explained.

The present part-time policeman is paid about $5,200 a year, he added. During the weekdays he works elsewhere; however, he is on call after 5 p.m.

The $18,000 cost would consist of $10,000 for salary, $5,000 for a police car and $3,000 for other expenses, he said.

A police chief would work eight hours a day, be on call 24 hours, and have two days off a week. Council would decide the hours, Mayor St. Pierre said. A non-unionized policeman would be hired, thus enabling North Hatley council to state the contract's terms, he added.

Commenting on QPF protection, Mayor St. Pierre said police cruise through town as often as they can. However, their staff and time are limited as they cover a wide area, and if a robbery or such occurs elsewhere, they must leave to investigate it.

Concern was expressed by some present regarding cost. "I don't think we can afford to hire a policeman," was a typical comment. Others questioned what improvement in service a full-time policeman could provide.

Some others called for former police chief Meigs to be rehired.

Mr. Meigs, commenting at the meeting, said that recent break-ins have not been caused by North Hatley boys. He also added that he was paid $4,490 a year and he worked 3,650 hours.

SHERBROOKE (GB) — A fire yesterday morning at the farm of Real Boisvert, Sand Hill, caused $55,000 damages.

Lennoxville and Cookshire fire departments were called on the scene. On their arrival the fire was out of control and firemen could do little but try and salvage the two badly damaged silos.

No one was hurt in the blaze but Mr. Boisvert lost 70 head of cattle, farm machinery and a large quantity of hay.

Man dies following collision

SHERBROOKE (GB) — Rejean Thibault, 23, of Ste. Foy was killed yesterday at 8 a.m. when the vehicle he was driving struck the rear of a tractor trailer on route 20 near Notre Dame de Bon Conseil.

Mr. Thibault was brought to the Sherbrooke University Hospital where he died late last night.

The driver of the truck suffered minor cuts and bruises and after observation was released from the hospital.

Hijacking back

The Croatia hijacking of a United States domestic flight and the ensuing drama has ended without casualties among the passengers. However, one policeman died and three others were injured when they tried to dismantle a bomb left by the hijackers in New York as an earnest threat of their intentions. The matter was thus hardly a lark, or "showbiz" as one of the hijackers jokingly put it. It was a murderous affair, quite apart from the anguish of the passengers and the enormous cost of the cross-Atlantic journeying, a cost that eventually will have to be defrayed by the taxpayer.

Meanwhile, Interpol has warned that Carlos, the arch-terrorist who, apart from all his other crimes, is responsible for the murder of two French policemen, was reported to be in Belgrade with a group of Palestinians planning a "revenge for Entebbe."

Hijacking is thus back in fashion and it is more than necessary that governments come to an agreement to put an end to this plague. The case of the Croatians was doomed from the beginning. They had nowhere to go. When, some time ago, Croatian terrorists hijacked a Swedish airliner and brought it to Spain, where the Franco regime was still in existence, they got short shrift from the Spanish police, who, they had hoped, would be sympathetic to their cause. On the other hand, Arab terrorists always find a haven, and even when captured can be sure that their stay in prison will be both short and comfortable. Indeed, one wonders whether President Giscard d'Estaing would have been as tough in dealing with the hijackers had the latter been Arabs rather than Croatians.

This, of course, is the crux of the matter: The governments most affected by the crime of hijacking have the means of dealing with it, but lack the will. The Yugoslavs would not go out of their way to nab Carlos and his band of killers. The Turks will not hang the Arabs who shot up a group of passengers at the Istanbul airport. The Greek Supreme Court is still undecided whether or not to quash the decision of the Athens Court of Appeal that ordered the release of the German terrorist, Rolf Pohle, described by the Greek judges as a "political prisoner." Chancellor Helmut Schmidt did not mince words when he told Greek Premier Karamanlis what Germany thinks of this sophism. However, it would appear that the Greeks take more heed of the terrorists than of their German allies. They do not seem to dismiss lightly the warnings of Pohle who told the Supreme Court: "Whatever your verdict, the Liberation movements, particularly the Greek, German and Palestinian, shall take note of your decision and act accordingly."

The Germans, who had been fairly successful in breaking up their own terrorist movement, have been anxious to secure an international treaty to deal with this menace that threatens to wreck our civilization. But it is an uphill struggle. The mealy-mouthed attitude of Canada, as expressed by Canada's new ambassador to the United Nations, William Barton, is typical of the "count me out" stand of most nations. Mr. Barton, who used to be quite outspoken about such international issues, has returned from Ottawa with new guidelines. He is worried that a new controversy over international terrorism would prove "counter-productive" and that it might not be the best way to tackle the issue. What is the best way Ottawa did not say. Unlike the French, the Canadians dutifully refueled the hijacked plane at Gander and sent it on its way across the Atlantic. Our government is always very high-minded when it comes to international morality — as long as such high-mindedness requires no more than high-flown verbiage. When it comes to action, the government prefers to shut both eyes and then, to make quite sure it will not get involved, to turn the other way.

As long as Pohle, Carlos and other ruthless men whose hands are armed by the Soviet Union, to foster detente no doubt, are secure in their knowledge that Western governments are more afraid of them than they are of the axioms of law, which should govern the behavior of civilized nations, every passenger who boards a plane takes a frightening risk — one he should not have to take.

Prose being polished for TV debate

President Ford is polishing his prose for the upcoming debate with Jimmy Carter, his Democratic rival in the November U.S. presidential election. Meanwhile, Carter is reviving whistle-stop campaigning in a barnstorming tour of key Eastern states.

Carter boards a train in New York City today to campaign through New Jersey and Pennsylvania. Ford's light schedule, meanwhile, leaves plenty of time to rehearse for Thursday night's televised debate on domestic issues with Carter in Philadelphia.

Aides said the president basically has the substance of what he wants to say prepared and is concentrating on how to get his points across without wasting words.

The League of Women Voters said it will stick to its ground rules for the debates, prohibiting television cameras from focusing on the audience, unless both Ford and Carter agree to a change.

The television networks have protested the restrictions, particularly Richard Salant, president of CBS News, who said in telegrams to Ford and Carter that barring TV from showing audience reaction would "create the most dangerous precedent" for news coverage.

Tax reform shaped up as a leading subject for the first face-to-face confrontation between the candidates.

Carter traded charges and accusations with Republicans during the weekend, in a controversy that followed an Associated Press interview in which the former Georgia governor expounded on tax revision.

Carter said the purpose of reform should be to shift a substantial portion of the tax burden to persons with higher incomes.

With vice-presidential candidate Bob Dole leading the way, Republican critics contended Carter would increase taxes for half the families in the U.S., all those above the median family income of about $12,000 to $15,000 a year.

Charging distortion by Republicans, Carter said Sunday: "I'm not going to add a tax burden on working families and the medium income categories, $15,000."

He contended Republicans favor tax breaks for the rich and giant corporations at the expense of working families.

PREDICTS TOPIC Dole, who said Carter should "drop out of the race" if he can't get a better grip on specifics, predicted that tax reform would be the major topic at the first debate.

In his interview with The AP, Carter said the aim of his tax reform proposals would not be to either raise or lower government revenues over-all.

"The over-all effect would be to shift a substantial increase towards those who have the higher incomes and reduce the income (tax) on the lower-and middle-income taxpayers," Carter said.

Republicans said the Ford administration favors cutting taxes for everyone.

In an interview with The Readers' Digest, Ford said there should be greater tax relief for persons earning $8,000 to $30,000 a year, "the so-called middle-income taxpayers."

Dole, taking the offensive, said he didn't know specifically what Ford proposed for tax reform. But the senator from Kansas said that "a vote for Carter is a vote to raise taxes."

Letters to the Editor

Clears up enrolment misconception

To The Editor:
With reference to your report of Thursday, September 16 concerning enrolment and staffing in L.D.S.B. schools, I hasten to clear up an obvious misconception.

While the opening day enrolment shows an increase over the annual spring registration figures (2065 as compared to 2016), the total pupil population has, in fact, decreased from what it was a year ago, 2201. The official enrolment for the current school year will be determined on September 30th.

The increase in staff in spite of the decrease in enrolment reflects the more favorable pupil-teacher ratio in the new contract offer to teachers which, in our case, appears to provide one teacher for each 19.3 pupils in our schools. According to information I have received, no home-room class exceeds 33 pupils. Nevertheless, every school in the area enjoys the services of at least one specialist which has not been the case in recent years.

Appreciates support for Festival

To The Editor:
The third Festival des Cantons is now tucked away in the past. It is because of people like you that the success of this year's festival developed into something beyond our wildest dreams. The number of people at each activity of the festival was particularly startling, especially those visitors from other parts of the Eastern Townships.

It is because of the people's response to the festival that it was a grand success. Surely, without the support and encouragement manifested by the public, the festival would have been a failure. It is estimated that 600,000 people attended the festival this year.

Thanking the public does not seem to be enough recognition for the work that people have put into the festival. The public's collaboration and positive attitude contributed immensely toward the development of the festival into an occasion which is of incalculable value for Sherbrooke and the region.

In the name of the Corporation and the festival's personnel, I thank you.

Government not doing a good job

To The Editor:
As I was watching channel 9 Sherbrooke a Mr. Samson came on and spoke for a half an hour recently.

He spoke all in French but I understood most of what he was saying. He talked of all these strikes that have been on with the construction workers, teachers, postal workers, etc.

He spoke a mouthful of truth when he said that our Government was no good. They don't step in and stop all these strikes. I wish he could have had an hour on the TV Ch. 9. He was very good. I am glad someone can get up and give our Government men old heck. They sure deserve it. I hope Mr. Samson woke up our Government here in Canada. Also in the USA, the government needs waking up.

Also, I agree with Mrs. Allison of Bury about our postage being raised so high. I am afraid there won't be much letter writing.

I hope that hit our government good. We need a government in that will straighten up this awful mess we are in.

Everything is so high. I am like Mr. Samson. Put a ceiling price on things and don't let it go any higher.

People won't be able to afford to buy their supplies for a week or month. Our Government is going crazy. They don't know where to turn.

But I hope they step in on all these strikes and make the workers return to work or fire everyone of them and get men that want to work, not sit on their rears and expect to get paid.

First global opinion poll is carried out

LONDON (Reuter) — Scandinavians are the happiest people in the non-Communist world, Japanese are the most agnostic and the people of India are strongest in their belief in immortality, says a survey described as the first global opinion poll.

Americans, Scandinavians and Australians are the most sociable, with roughly half the people claiming 10 or more close friends.

The survey, which took 2½ years to complete, is published in the Reader's Digest by pollster George Gallup and involves more than 10,000 interviews covering nearly 70 countries and filling 18 thick volumes.

The dominant fact emerging from the survey, Gallup said, is the economic gulf that still separates havenot from well-off nations. Some 900 million people subsist on $40-$80 a year, less than many people in wealthy countries make in a day, the survey said.

The poll did not cover Communist countries, some Arab countries and a few military dictatorships.

Research crews travelled from Norway to Chile, pursued nomadic tribesmen across the Sahara and journeyed by oxcart to remote villages in India in pursuit of opinions.

WORRY A LOT Two-thirds of all respondents in Latin America, Africa and the Far East worry about their economic situation all or most of the time, the survey indicated. By contrast, North Americans and West Europeans, though complaining of inflation, admit in 75 per cent of cases that they almost never or only occasionally worry.

"On average," said Gallup, "people from the richest countries—those who live in North America, Australia and western Europe—report themselves as being far happier, find their lives more interesting, worry less and would like few if any changes..."

"They are also far more content with their family life, their countries, their communities, their educations and with themselves."

But only 28 per cent of Latin Americans interviewed, eight per cent of Africans and six per cent of the people of India consider themselves fully satisfied with their lives.

DISRUPTS THEORY The survey shatters the theory sometimes advanced that a nation's happiness correlates closely with the amount of sunshine it enjoys.

Canada, despite long winters, stands high in the satisfactions scale as do the Scandinavian nations, even though all of the Nordic countries except Norway paradoxically have high suicide rates.

Highest crime rates in the non-Communist world are found in Latin America, Africa and the United States, the survey reported.

CABINET COSMETICS

US bows to Shah

WASHINGTON — The secret papers of James Akins, the former ambassador to Saudi Arabia, reveal that the Saudis repeatedly urged the United States to bring pressure on Iran to lower oil prices.

Yet the United States made no apparent effort to bring the Shah of Iran into line. The Saudis, therefore, became convinced that the United States was secretly conspiring with the Shah to keep oil prices up.

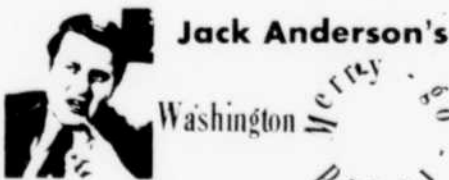

Akins reported that he had an "explicit" conversation with the Saudi oil minister Ahmed Zaki Yamani about reducing oil prices. Yamani said he "knows" that Secretary of State Henry Kissinger "is speaking about lower oil prices but in secret doing everything possible to jack them up. This will enable him to unite the consumers in a front against the producers, particularly the Arabs."

In a secret "memorandum for the file," the former ambassador revealed: "The Saudis had urged us on numerous occasions to put pressure on the Shah to cooperate with Saudi Arabia and reduce the oil prices, yet we had refused to do this."

It reached the point that the Saudis no longer believed what Kissinger told them. Wrote Akins: "In one of Kissinger's last meetings with King Faisal, the king urged him directly to take (oil prices) up with the Shah, and the secretary agreed to do so. The secretary saw the Shah in late winter 1975 and reported back to King Faisal that he had indeed tried to persuade the Shah to reduce oil prices."

"The Saudis themselves have subsequently been told by the Shah himself... that the subject of oil was not discussed in these meetings. Although the Saudis know the Iranian propensity to lie, they believe in this case that the Iranians were telling the truth."

The Saudis became all the more convinced that Kissinger was lying. Yamani told Akins, by the special treatment the Shah received in Washington. "The Shah, in his recent visit to the United States, was honored by the President and other highest ranking members of the government," Yamani noted.

Although the Shah had announced "that oil prices must go up by $3.50-barrel," reported Akins, "the Iranians had told them we were completely unconcerned about any price rise. The Shah has also told this to numerous oilmen as proof that the U.S. is at least indifferent to an increase in oil prices."

"In any case, the Saudis have seen no account from any American source that we in any way tried to pressure the Shah to back off this extreme position on oil crisis."

Yamani wrote directly to Treasury Secretary William Simon, who has warned of the ruinous effect of high oil prices on the Western world. The letter, dated Sept. 3, 1975, and marked "strictly personal," declared:

"I would like you to know that there are those amongst us who think that the U.S. Administration does not really object to an increase in oil prices. There are even those who think that you encourage it for obvious political reasons, and that any official position taken to the contrary is merely to cover up this fact."

Yamani strongly indicated the United States should use its influence with the Shah. Otherwise, he wrote, "it can only lead to Saudi Arabia giving up its present position on crisis and joining its OPEC colleagues in their uncompromising stand."

Footnote: The Akins papers raised some grave questions which demand a full congressional investigation. Why did ex-President Richard Nixon and Secretary of State Henry Kissinger permit the Shah of Iran to drive up oil prices, at a terrible cost to the U.S. economy, without any apparent protest? Why did Nixon give the Shah virtually a blank check to purchase more U.S. weapons than his armed forces can handle?

Saudi Arabia has been America's staunchest friend in the Arab world. The Saudi oil reserves are also far more important to the United States than the dwindling Iranian supply. Then why did Nixon and Kissinger risk the valuable Saudi friendship to court the unreliable and unstable Shah? It almost seems that Nixon and Kissinger put the Shah's wishes ahead of vital U.S. interests. Why?

WEICKER'S MEOW: Sen. Lowell Weicker, R-Conn., has been a tiger for the consumer on most issues, but on energy he has been a pussycat.

Weicker was the only New England senator to uphold President Ford's veto of oil price control extensions. He also has opposed breaking up the giant oil conglomerates and has pushed for decontrol of natural gas prices.

Now we have learned that grateful oil industry magnates from Exxon, Mobil, Sun Oil and related industrial allies have kicked in a total of about $10,000 to his re-election campaign. Weicker told us he has turned down another $30,000 from oil company political action funds. He reminded us that he has also supported mandatory energy conservation legislation including rationing which the oil industry opposes.

DOCTOR KILLED
Mrs. Carole Fregault Tremblay, 26, of Farnham, testified she was driving between Farnham and Cowansville, June 25, when she saw two cars approaching her. "One car suddenly landed in front of me and I hit the passengers' side. It all happened in a split second and it was only later I learned the driver of the other car was Dr. Michel Dubois."

Mrs. Denise Brais, RR 3, Dunham, testified she finished her shift at the BMP Hospital at 3 p.m. and was driving home on Route 104. "I was slowing down to make a left turn onto my road and had my flashers on. There was a car coming from Farnham when I looked in my mirror and saw another vehicle approaching very rapidly. I then stepped on the gas to proceed towards Farnham in hopes of avoiding an accident and I presume the car behind me pulled out when I heard the impact."

Const. Pierre Menard, Cowansville QPF, testified he arrived on the scene shortly after the accident. He said there were no brake marks and it would have been almost impossible as the road was freshly paved and a light rain had been falling intermittently that day.

Dr. Dubois, 29, of Farnham, died at the scene of the accident. Coroner Roy again ruled a violent death with no criminal responsibility.

JOHNE SEYMOUR of Foster

Canada holds first Fur Week

This week Canadians are participating in the first Fur Week in Canada.

This national week has been initiated by the Fur Fashion Council of Canada, an umbrella organization which includes every facet of the Canadian fur industry from raw fur brokers to retailers.

The theme of Fur Week in Canada is "Fur is for Everyone". In recent years the Canadian fur market has broadened to encompass consumers from varied walks of life and of varied interests. Strong at the forefront of this trend is the group of younger men and women who influence the consumer market to a very large extent.

The celebration of Fur Week in Canada was preceded by the first Canada

Cup international hockey series in which the Fur Fashion Council of Canada participated along with Team Canada, through the presentation of hats made from different Canadian furs to the members of all the teams playing in the series.

For their 'special' achievement, the heads of the tournament champions will boast a special hat in a special Canadian fur: Canada Majestic Mink.

Local Canadian retailers will be participating in Fur Week in Canada too, with special events designed to provide information about Canadian furs to Canadian consumers, including how to make a wise purchase and how to take care of your 'investment' once the purchase has been made.

FUR INDUSTRY

The fur industry in Canada is different things to different people: To the raw fur broker, it's hundreds of lots of Canadian furs sold to domestic and international markets. To the fur processor, it's producing 'dressed' furs from raw furs. To the manufacturer, it's the transformation of dressed furs into coats, and to the Canadian consumer, the fur industry is practical and fashionable warmth.

The fur industry was also the momentum for the conquest of an alien geography begun over four hundred years ago. Now, the fur industry is one of the more impressive stories in Canada's modern economic history. Once, this great natural resource was fought for by rivaling European colonial interests. Their tools of battle were forts, swift canoes, and Indian alliance. Now our furs are won by the art of the ranch breeder, the auction gavel, and the fashion instincts of our manufacturers.

The story of the fur industry is the story of Canada, and as our development as a nation is a 20th century story, so too is the development of the fur industry.

In the 1930's, enterprising young men began breeding wild mink. By the late 40's, we had a thriving Canadian mink industry. The Canadian Mink Breeders now proudly market their efforts under the name Canada Majestic Mink.

This type of fur production is termed 'ranch'. Fox, especially silver fox and the mutation foxes, are also raised in this manner.

The Canadian wild fur harvest includes, in order of economic importance, beaver, muskrat, lynx, and of about the same importance, coyote, cross and red fox, and raccoon, according to a 74-75 Statistics Canada report.

The harvest of wild Canadian fur species is scientifically planned and supervised by provincial and territorial governments. The yearly quotas of each species are gauged according to the environmental factors current in each harvest area. The fur industry and in particular, the Fur Fashion Council of Canada, works closely with these and other environment organizations to ensure the continuity of one of our greatest natural resources.

The Fur Fashion Council of Canada, which now represents every facet of the Canadian fur industry, began about 23 years ago. A small group of enthusiastic people were determined to provide not just a Canadian presence in international fur fashion, but Canadian excellence.

The fruit of the efforts of this group began to be realized in the early 60's. Now, Canadian-made fur garments are respected all over the world, and people come here to learn how this respect was earned. As the Chairman of the Fur Fashion Council of Canada, Mr. Alf Cleven says: "We have earned our place; we can hold our own as exporters of fur fashion."

In 1975, our exports of $63 million were almost triple those of 1971; the 1976 forecast is for export sales of $70 million.

Our domestic sales have risen from $53 million in 1971 to $85 million in 1975. That figure is expected to increase this year.

The most unique export this year, however, will be on the heads of the players of the six teams involved in the first Canada Cup international hockey series. While the host team is suitably outfitted in beaver hats, the Finnish team will carry home muskrat hats; the Americans, marten hats; the Swedes, coyote hats; the Czechs, raccoon hats, and the Soviets, otter hats.

These hats, presented by Team Canada and the Fur Fashion Council, are providing both a domestic and an international focus for the first Fur Week in Canada, September 20-September 26.

ceived congratulations from the guests.

Silk lamp shades can be washed

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — Do you know of a good way to clean silk lamp shades? The silk is not split, but mine are all very dusty and the folds of silk used as a finish are dirty from handling. — MRS. F.

DEAR MRS. F. — Silk or rayon lamp shades should be dusted regularly with a soft brush or the soft brush attachment on your vacuum. Such shades can be dry cleaned and even washed IF they are not glued, but are sewed to the frame. Be sure any trimmings, such as your folds, are colorfast and sewn on. When washed the job must be done quickly — both the washing and the drying. Dip up and down in a deep tub with mild, lukewarm soap suds and brush any spots with a soft brush. Rinse the same way in clear lukewarm water. Do not dry in the sun but in a warm or breezy spot so it is done quickly. Do remember to first inspect carefully to be sure no parts are glued, or you will be in real trouble. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — My pie crust is flakier when I put the pie shell, in its pan, in the freezer for about fifteen minutes before baking. — PEG

Ken Stabler carves through Kansas City defence with throwing arm

Oakland Raiders hold off Kansas City for 24-21 victory

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Oakland quarterback Ken Stabler, using the forward pass like a surgical instrument, carved through Kansas City's defence for 224 yards and three touchdowns Monday night as the Raiders held off the Chiefs 24-21.

Stabler, before leaving the National Football League game in the fourth quarter with a strained right knee, completed 22 of 28 passes. He connected on scoring strikes of 15 yards to Dave Casper, 10 yards to Cliff Branch and 14 yards to Mike Siani.

The Chiefs, 0-2, outclassed by the unbeaten Raiders in the first half, charged back in the second. They got a pair of touchdowns on a one-yard run by MacArthur Lane in the third quarter and by quarterback Mike Livingston in the fourth.

They reduced the final margin to a field goal—a 37-yarder by Oakland's Fred Steinfort in the second quarter—when Livingston passed 25 yards to Billy Masters with 2:53 to play.

In the first half, the Raiders had 16 first downs and 288 total yards while the Chiefs managed two first downs and 37 yards over all.

On Oakland's second possession of the game, Stabler swept the Raiders 67 yards on 12 plays. He covered the final 15 on a quick pass to Casper, who beat rookie cornerback Tim Collier with 11:37 gone in the first quarter.

A bad snap on Steinfort's extra-point attempt apparently wiped out the extra point—but the Chiefs were called for offsides. Then the Boston College rookie, who beat George Blanda out of a job, made good on his second attempt.

The Raiders rolled 72 yards in 12 methodical plays to grab a 14-0 lead at 10:35 of the second quarter. Three straight thrusts up the middle by Mark van Eeghan and a 15-yard personal foul penalty on Collier brought the Raiders to the Chiefs' 42-yard line.

An 11-yard run by Pete Banaszak reached the 30. Four plays later Stabler found the wide-open Branch in the end zone with a 10-yard pass.

With time running out in the half, Stabler used 12 plays to pilot the Raiders from their 14-yard line to the Chiefs' 20, where the drive stalled and Steinfort booted a 37-yard field goal with 17 seconds to go in the second quarter, to open a 17-0 halftime lead.

But the Raiders stormed right back, behind Stabler's passing. With 12:56 to play in the fourth quarter, Siani snared Stabler's third touchdown strike, a 14-yarder that gave the Raiders a 24-7 lead—the points that ultimately won it.

It was on that play that Stabler was injured. He stayed crouched on the artificial turf for a few moments, then limped to the sidelines. He was replaced by Mike Rae, formerly of the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, for the remainder of the game.

Livingston directed the Chiefs 87 yards on 12 plays to move within 10 points at 24:14, on the 10-year quarterback's one-yard keeper around left end. It came with 4:36 to play and it seemed merely a futile gesture.

But on their next possession, the Raiders fumbled. Linebacker Billy Andrews pounced on it at Oakland's 25, putting the Chiefs suddenly in charge once again.

Livingston, pressured for a moment, scrambled to his right and connected with Masters in the end zone on the next play with 2:53 on the clock.

Kansas City, in a desperation move, tried an on-side kick—but Oakland successfully fielded it and ran out the clock.

Coach Bruce Coulter held his breath in the dying moments as Queen's was a mere converted touchdown away from tying the battle.

The Gaiters were impressive in their running game collecting 218 yards compared to 112 for Queen's. The passing aspect fell short of its goal by only hitting nine times in 19 attempts for 127 yards, with Greeley and Jim Etchevery sharing the duties. Their counterpart, Gary Lathan, completed 13 passes for 171 yards.

Top rushers for the Gaiters were Pooler with 94 yards on 12 carries, Bruce Wilkins with 65 yards and McLeod with 55. Coach Coulter was pleased with Wilkins' strong running, and with the way the defensive unit came up with tough stances when necessary in the second half. Tackle Kevin Scott and linebacker Marty Edwards were standouts in Coulter's mind from the defensive section.

Gaiters win season opener

LENNOXVILLE — Morale was running high for the Gaiters going into Kingston for Saturday's season-opening grid match, and Bishop's came away with an equally satisfying victory.

In a see-saw battle all the way, the BU contingent held off a last-ditch effort to snatch up a 34-27 triumph on Golden Gael territory at Queen's University.

Things looked bad from the first play when the Gaiter kickoff was returned 100 yards for a touchdown. The locals nudged back with a safety touch and a single before Neal Greeley connected with a 45-yard touchdown hurl to Cliff McLeod. Queen's responded with a matching passing play only to watch Gary Garbarino return a punt 55 yards for a major score. A field goal gave Queen's a slim 17-16 halftime edge.

Gambling on a third down and one situation, a neatly executed pithout to wingback McLeod sent him on his way past surprised opponents for a 54-yard TD. Morgan Quinn kept the points rolling in with a field goal shortly after.

Another Queen's pass ending in a touchdown brought the Gaels within two points of Bishop's. Continuing the hectic, all-out offensive display was Jim Pooler, who took an off-tackle run and romped 34 yards for a touchdown. A field goal by the Kingston squad and a single point by Bishop's rounded out the scoring.

Coach Bruce Coulter held his breath in the dying moments as Queen's was a mere converted touchdown away from tying the battle.

Tackle Kevin Scott and linebacker Marty Edwards were standouts in Coulter's mind from the defensive section.

The girls came up with a tie against John Abbott College and lost 2-0 to Champlain Regional College (St. Lambert campus).

Coach Carol Gregson blames the loss on inexperienced halfbacks who didn't give goalie Sue Mitchell much protection. Their play improved against Abbott, though, after they seemed to realize what they had been doing wrong. Sue Edwards scored the Bishop's goal. More field hockey action comes up today when Bishop's travel to Vermont to oppose Lyndon State College.

Galt ties BCS in opener

The E.T.I.A.C. Senior Football season opened on Saturday at B.C.S. with a heart-stopping 7-7 tie. Both Galt and B.C.S. had difficulty moving the ball in the early stages of the game with the first half ending in a scoreless tie.

bers as the season progresses.

Galt's next game will be at home Saturday when they tangle with the tough Loyola Squad from Montreal. Game time 12:00.

JUNIOR FOOTBALL

The Alexander Galt Junior Piper Football Team plays its first game of the season Wednesday against its downtown rival Bishop's College School, last year's ETIAC Champions. If previous year's play is any indication, Junior Football games should continue to be very interesting and exciting for both fans and players alike. Coaches Brian Heath and Lindsay Smith have been hard at work for the past two weeks trying to mold seven returnees and 45 rookies into a competitive squad. The ball players are looking forward to a very gratifying season with home and away games against Massey-Vanier, Bishop's College School and Stanstead College. Wednesday's game gets underway at Alexander Galt at 2:45 p.m.

Some of the rough edges began to disappear as the second half started. Bishop's College School drew first blood in the fourth quarter. A long pass, followed by several good runs resulted in B.C.S.'s only touchdown scored by David Molson. With less than three minutes in the game Galt recovered a B.C.S. miscue. Marching slowly towards the goal line Galt finally scored with 10 seconds remaining. George MacMillan scored on a 5-yard run and kicked the convert as the game ended.

The players and coaches would like to thank the many fans who came to the game. For a season opener it's the fans weren't disappointed and hoped football fans will give the schools their support in even greater numbers.

The Raiders burdened themselves with penalties in the first half, drawing five for 59 yards.

Coming out smoking in the second half, Kansas City moved from its 46 to the Oakland two-yard line on seven straight rushes, with Woody Green's 14-yard dash the big gainer.

Two smashes into the middle by Lane made it 17-7.

Rangers working overtime

NEW YORK (AP) — Their disastrous 1975-76 National Hockey League season has New York Rangers working overtime trying to erase the bad memories.

First, they invited fans to call general manager-coach John Ferguson directly to discuss the team's problems and, it was hoped, purchase season tickets at the same time.

Then, there were player moves that added goalie Gilles Gratton, right winger Ken Hodge and left winger Nick Fotiu among others.

Ferguson thinks Gratton, previously with St. Louis Blues in the NHL and Toronto Toros of the World Hockey Association, has all-star potential. Hodge will play right wing for his old buddy, Phil Esposito, with whom he teamed so successfully on Boston Bruins. Fotiu, the first New York City native ever to sign a Ranger contract, is expected to add muscle up front.

The new look has gone a step further with uniforms carrying a fresh jersey design that discards their traditional diagonal shoulder-to-hip lettering and replaces it with a more modern look dominated by the club crest.

NAME'S THE SAME

The color scheme is the same—red, white and blue—but broader stripes decorate the shoulders.

The Rangers need all the help they can get after a 29-ended record last year that ended a string of nine straight playoff seasons.

"We want to project a new image," said Ferguson.

Less than one week into training camp, Ferguson thinks his team is ready to do that. He cites the results of a series of scientific tests that he ran on the club when he took over last February and then repeated when they reported last week.

"The tests involved endurance, oxygen intake, fat content of the body and stamina," said Ferguson. "Last February, those tests showed us with two Olympic class athletes. Now, we have 14."

Ferguson said he was enthused by the condition in which the players reported to camp. Most have lost weight since the end of last season.

"Sure, the guys are in good shape and I was impressed with that," said Esposito, captain of the team. "But the thing I noticed is that the mental attitude is a lot different. I believe you've got to be mentally alert. You can't win without it."

More consistency towards good series of plays and improved passing percentages from the quarterbacks are high on Coulter's list for practices this week. Saturday's victory had a sweet taste but the Gaiters are far from the playoffs until all the bugs are worked out of the playbook.

Other weekend action had the women's field hockey team playing in Montreal for the start of league action.

Champlain meets with defeat

LENNOXVILLE — A couple of close defeats were the result of weekend play for Champlain Regional College soccer teams here.

The Cougarettes evened their season schedule to a win and a loss on Sunday when they were shutout by Sherbrooke CEGEP 1-0. Sherbrooke scored early in the game on what was termed a fluke goal which just caught the inside of the far goalpost. A very defensive Volontaire squad kept Champlain from penetrating anywhere near the Sherbrooke goal.

Things were different last Thursday, though, when CRC opened their season with a 1-0 triumph over Alexander Galt Regional. Coach Karen Bryan gave a lot of credit to her halfbacks in enabling Linda Hunting to record the shutout. Penny Schryer scored the winning marker.

In men's soccer, Thetford Mines capitalized twice against an inexperienced goalie to edge the Cougars 2-1. Larry Hart tallied the Champlain goal. Thetford's second score came in the last three minutes of play after CRC seemed to run out of steam in the late going. Coach Archie Quick said his players might have lost a bit of momentum when they missed a penalty kick early in the second half.

The football Cougars completed their pre-season scrimmages by opposing Vanier College Cheetahs. Champlain's running game will need more work before they meet John Abbott next week in the league opener, stated coach Tom Allen, adding that ground control was not a big strongpoint either. QB Dave Jardin had a good day in the passing department.

The CRC gridders are anxious to commence their season, and Allen feels the squad will be very competitive in their new 'AA' section. The weekend scrimmage completed a series of similar encounters, enabling each team in the league to get a look at the other.

Livens up Canadian football Ruling fulfills purpose

TORONTO (CP) — The rule allowing blocking on punt returns, employed for the first time in the Canadian Football League last season, has fulfilled its intended purpose.

The move was to liven up the game.

In 1974 only five punts were returned 25 yards or more.

Last season there were 84 punts returned 25 yards or more—an average of 1.17 a game.

This year, after 44 league games, the average is 1.20 times a game punt return teams have returned the ball 25-plus yards.

Of 53 punts returned to date in that category, record-holder Johnny Rodgers of Montreal Alouettes has contributed six. Last year he had 11.

Ottawa Rough Riders' Moody Jackson also has six, four of them in one game, while Jimmy Edwards, the all-purpose running back with Hamilton Tiger-Cats, is tied at five 25-plus yard returns with Dennis Meyer of Calgary Stampeders and Rocky Long of British Columbia Lions.

And whereas in 1974 there was only one punt return of 50 yards or more, there have been 11 to date in 1976, including one of 108 yards for a touchdown by Paul Williams of Saskatchewan Roughriders. Rider team-mate Tom Campana has returned another punt 80 yards for a major score and Long sprinted 71 yards for another TD.

No player in the Eastern Conference has returned a punt for a touchdown this year.

Stanstead County WI holds annual School Fair

AYER'S CLIFF — The sixtieth annual Stanstead County School Fair was held September 16 and 17 at the Ayer's Cliff Fair Grounds. The exhibits of the County youth came in the first day and were judged; the second day was for all the students and included a sports program, and viewing exhibits by them and by many visitors. The exhibits were arranged in the horticultural and the dining-room buildings.

There were 1007 exhibits and everyone marveled at many of the crafts that were made by the young folk. To mention a very few was a colorful duck created from painted nail heads driven into a block of wood by Stephen Dustin; London Bridge made from popsicle sticks by Chris Noble; a rabbit using pussy willows for the grey fur by Beth Corbier; using sunflower seeds, popcorn, rice, and peas Scott Lothrop created a beautiful rooster; Troy Dumoulin created a replica of a sailing vessel; and Andy Coulombe, an early vintage Ford car.

The exhibits included many other crafts, art work, vegetables, flowers, stitching, all beautifully done making the viewers realize there are a lot of talented youngsters around.

Scott Lothrop of Stanstead (a student at Stanstead College) held the boys' highest aggregate; the girls' highest aggregate went to Lorie Curtis of Magog, a student at AGRHS; the runners up were Billy Fisher of Ayer's Cliff and Dana McVittie of North Hatley. Scott and Lorie will hold the perpetual trophies for one year and all four received an engraved smaller trophy to keep.

The second day started off with a colorful parade to the grandstand by the students of Ayer's Cliff, Magog, North Hatley and Rock Island's Sunnyside Schools. With display banners and costumes Ayer's Cliff depicted Planting; Magog, Market Gardening; North Hatley, Dairy, theme being "Use udder Cola"; and Sunnyside, lumbering. There were school bands playing music to add to this event.

In various sections of the field such sports as track, softball and soccer were participated in by all. Although many brought their noon lunch the snack bar on the grounds operated by the Ayer's Cliff Institute Branch did a rushing business. The first day these women served a chicken pie dinner with all the trimmings and apple pie with cheese for dessert in the Beulah United Church Hall.

After lunch on Friday the grandstand program took place. Peter Taylor in public speaking did very well as he spoke on the most exciting summer event which he thought was the summer Olympics. Peter was very well informed on what he was talking about as he referred to the many headaches of the officials, the beauty of the ceremonies and the performance of the athletes and the work they must have put into preparation for them.

The talent show was presented and included a vocal solo by Robin Keeble. A short Indian skit was given by Lisa Roy, Nancy Drew, Billy McComb and Christine Thompson, all of Ayer's Cliff School. Alison Cheal and Ginette Bachand sang a duet in English and French. Karen and Beagan Sheldon sang a duet and Level four presented a song in French. These young people were all from the North Hatley School.

Sonya Voggenreiter played a piano solo. A skit was presented by Debbie Mosher and Christine Voggenreiter from the Ayer's Cliff School. From North Hatley Donna Gallagher and Paula McLellan played a flute duet, then Doona, a solo number.

Sunnyside's Debbie McElravey, Robin Gouette and Patty Phaneuf presented a skit about the three family bunnies. Judy Rever and Cathy Dustin, wearing wee mice costumes, danced a ballet. From North Hatley School Kerry Noble played a piano solo. Lois Miller and Sherry Piercy danced a ballet number. And from Sunnyside Peter Paige played a piano solo, while Christine Mana and Laurie Ann Dubois presented a vocal duet.

Although marks are kept for the sports there is no competitive action.

The fair is sponsored by the Stanstead County Women's Institute who purchase the seeds and attend to the exhibits, as well as raise the prize monies. The Lennoxville District School Board arranges bus transportation and so forth. At the Fair on Friday was George Rothney, LDBS Director General, also several members of the school board.

The teachers in the schools play an important role helping in organization and at the fair. This year the teachers of Ayer's Cliff composed the marshalling committee; Sunnyside and Magog; the tabloid; and North Hatley, the talent show. All assisted with the parade.

W. G. MacDougall of Lennoxville presented the trophies. He was introduced by Mrs. K. Little, co-chairman for the Institute on the fair committee. Just about every County Institute member found a job somewhere the two days working with the judges, arranging and being on duty for the duration.

The fair committee will meet October 4 at the Massawippi Community Hall to discuss the 1976 fair and plan another in 1977.

A 60 YEAR JOB — Former Agronomer W.G. MacDougall again presented prizes to top winners at the Stanstead County School Fair, a function he has performed since 1916 when he originated the idea of

Fair originator presents prizes for sixtieth time

AYER'S CLIFF (IH) — W.G. MacDougall of Lennoxville was on hand at the 60th Stanstead County School annual fair to present the trophies to the boys and girls with highest aggregate and the runners up.

Mr. MacDougall has done this for the past 60 years.

W.G. MacDougall was a young agronomer in 1916, working among the farm folk of Stanstead County.

He felt that if the young people became involved in growing vegetables competitively, it might encourage the development of farming for it is by farming that the country is fed. With this in mind, through his agricultural department he was able to purchase seeds.

This was in the days of the one room rural schools. It was also a time when only a few could afford the motor car so Mr. MacDougall drove all over the countryside with a horse and buggy or horse and sleigh. In this way he distributed the seeds to youth and gave lectures on how they should be planted and cared to gain a good harvest.

Then shortly after school started in September there would be a school fair and competition, to show the harvest from the seeds. Cooking and other categories were also added.

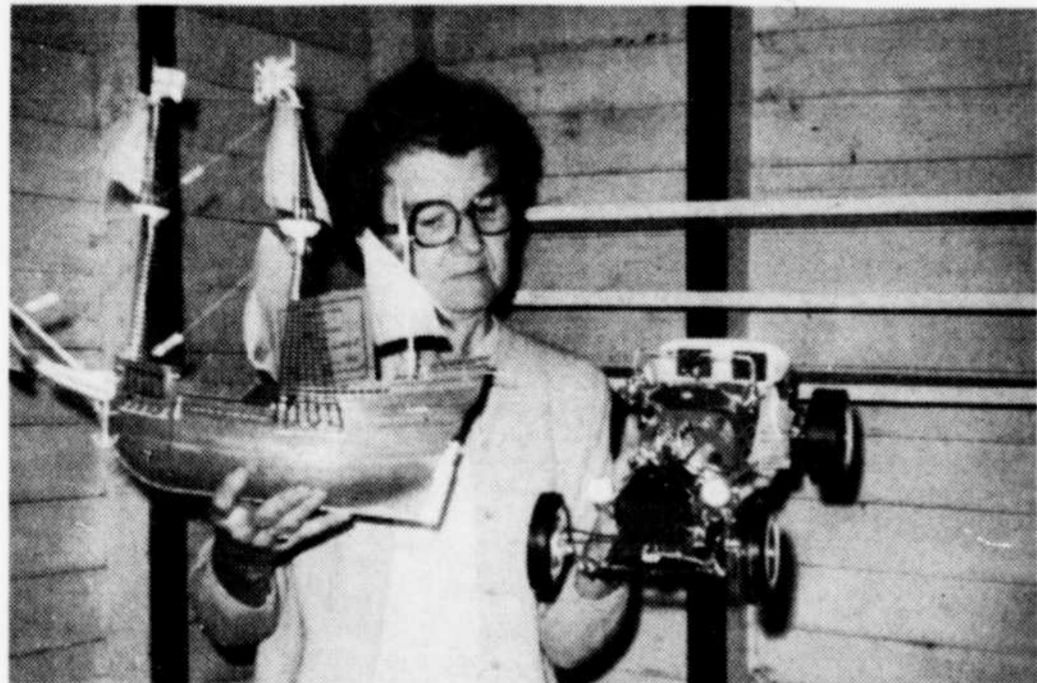

Norman Beach of Lennoxville, another agronomer, and Archie Finlayson of Ormstown, also in the agriculture department, came along to assist Mr. MacDougall after his program was well established.

Some 10 years later the Stanstead County Women's Institute was established from the County branches. Their motto of the QWI was then and still is "for home and country." One of their pioneer projects was to assist Mr. MacDougall with the county school fair which in their estimation was a wonderful program and one worthy of support.

So the Institute purchased the seeds and from then on did much of the organizing of the annual fair. The first generation of Institute members educated the younger members as the years went by and for 60 years the school fair has been held at the Ayer's Cliff Fair Grounds in September.

Some times the going was hard with interest in the schools down but nevertheless the fair took place and every year at every 60 of them W.G. MacDougall was there to take an active part in the judging, to present trophies and to give a talk on how best to exhibit. Although he has been retired many years, his interest is as keen as ever. He has helped and associated with probably four generations or more of school children. He loves everyone of them and they love him. He often smiles recalling when some middle-aged man or woman approaches him and says, "Don't you remember me from school fair days?"

TOP EXHIBITS — Mrs. Warren Soutiere views two top prize-winning exhibits at Thursday's and Friday's School Fair at the Ayer's Cliff Fairgrounds.

SCHOOL FAIR PARADE — North Hatley Elementary School is seen taking part in the school fair parade Friday in Ayer's Cliff, exhibiting their theme, Dairy.

So, South lays down his queen of hearts at trick two. West can do no better than to take his ace. Later on South leads twice through poor West's 10-8-3; picks up the trumps and takes his slam down to the bank.

ASK THE JACOBYs

A Wisconsin reader wants to know the correct response to partner's opening club bid with:

♠ A K ♥ A 7 3 ♦ 9 7 4 ♣ 8 7 5 4 2

This is a perfect hand for a nonforcing (but strong) jump to three clubs. Many people use this type of limit jump raise.

In standard American three clubs (forcing) is a slight overbid but we still would make it.

The man who makes today's slam at the table is one player in a thousand. The other 999 go down.

It is so automatic to win the spade opening and lead a low heart to dummy's king. If East holds all four hearts you will be able to hold him to one trick.

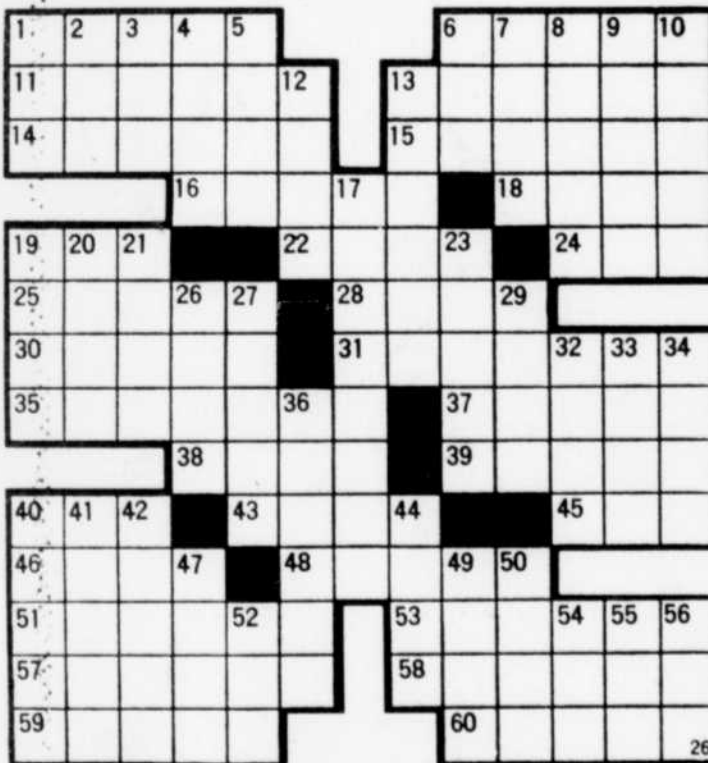

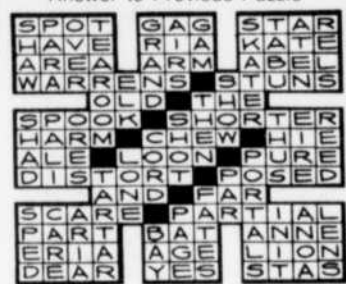

It is almost automatic, but that one man in a thousand stops to think. He remembers that West opened the bidding and that he needed the ace of

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.

Bernice Bede Osol

For Wednesday, Sept. 22, 1976

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You could be a trifle careless regarding health habits. Remember, the ounce of prevention is worth the pound of cure.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Today you're a bit too glib in business matters. Be extra careful when dealing with strange merchants.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Doubts about associates should not be ignored today. If something bothers you, bring it out. Discuss it with the person himself.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If you ignore a task today, figuring you'll get around to it tomorrow, you're barking up the wrong tree. Postponement only means delay.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Spendthrift ways could cause serious financial problems today. Stop telling yourself you need things that you'll buy now and not use later.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Don't anticipate defeat today before you even enter the fray. You have at least as much chance of winning as you do of losing.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You may be tempted to resort to subterfuge today. Don't operate in a way that will make you feel guilty.

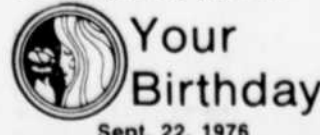

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your generous nature may be taken in today by someone with a sad tale. Before opening your heart and your purse, check her story out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Success may be denied you today through your own fault. If you're not willing to help yourself, don't expect others to either.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Fight a tendency to feel sorry for yourself today. It's futile. Others have their own troubles and you'll get little sympathy.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't feel obligated to do business with one you've dealt with before. Go where you can get the best bargain. Sentiment isn't good sense today.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Inconsistency will be annoying to your friends today. Stick to your agreed course of action. Do what you say you will.

Sept. 22, 1976
You could be restless this year and anxious to make change for change's sake. Better to stay where you are, for things will work out.

UCW meetings

WATERVILLE — The members of the U.C.W. held their first fall meeting on the afternoon of September 8 at the home of Mrs. P. Ingham with an attendance of 17.

The meeting was opened, followed by devotions read by Mrs. K. Spafford, the theme being the Power of Thought. Bible readings were taken from Phillipians, Chap. 4, verses 4 to 8; Proverbs, Chapter 4, Verse 23 and Proverbs, Chapter 12, verse 5.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The treasurer's report was given by Miss E. Swanson. Mrs. George Hopper, community friendship committee, read a letter of thanks from the recipient of a get-well card. She had also received thanks for sympathy cards which had been sent out during the summer months.

The President gave the date of the rummage sale which is being held on Sept. 23rd and 24th and also of the Christmas Tea and Bazaar on Wednesday, Nov. 10.

The fall rally is being held in the community hall in North Hatley on Thursday, Sept. 30.

The meeting was closed by the President and lunch served by the hostess, Mrs. P. Ingham with Mrs. R. Gale and Mrs. C. Moore presiding at the tea table.

BULWER — On Monday, September 13, the Bulwer United Church Women held their first meeting after the summer holidays, at the home of Mrs. Charles Robinson in Birchton, with Mrs. Johnnie King and Mrs. Lindsay Nutbrown, assisting hostesses.

The devotions were conducted by Mrs. W.S. Laberee, who based her talk on the mother of Moses and other women of that period. She and Mrs. George Pinchin reported on the highlights of the summer event they had attended in Ottawa. The hymn "What a Friend we Have in Jesus" was sung and Mrs. Laberee closed with prayer.

Routine business was dispensed with and roll was called with eighteen members answering.

The sale at the community centre on October 16 was accepted by the members and everyone is urged to scour their attics for antiques, household items etc. There will also be a food and handicraft sale.

The Penny for Peace banks are to be turned in at the November meeting and the new slate of officers will also be presented at that meeting.

After the business meeting adjourned, the hostesses served bountiful refreshments.

The October meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Douglas Grapes with Mrs. Ralph Todd as co-hostess.

SCOTSTOWN — Mrs. W.A. Ladd was hostess at her home on September 8 for the U.C.W. monthly meeting.

The meeting opened with the singing of "Jesus Shall Reign," followed with Mrs. W.S. Laberee reading part of the 28th chapter of Acts. Mrs. Mayhew read the Meditation on "Paul, the Reformer Killer," closing with prayer.

Mrs. Ladd welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Waymer Laberee to the meeting and eight members answered the roll call.

Mrs. Mayhew read the minutes of the June meeting and some things that had been planned then had to be changed. The U.C.W. sponsored a bridal shower for Gail Irving in July. They were assisted with food by the ladies of Gould for the lunch after the farewell service for Rev. G. Lokhorst in June. Instead of catering to an anniversary they served refreshments in the church hall following the funeral of the late W.A. Ladd.

Mrs. Ross MacDonald gave the Treasurer's report for June and July, which showed that a donation of money was given to the Ontario Society for Austistic Children in memory of the late W.A. Ladd. Donations of money were given to newlywed couples, Gail Irving and David Bennett, married August 21 and John Gaulin and Brenda Kirby, married August 28, and a purse of money given Rev. and Mrs. G. Lokhorst on June 20.

Mrs. Mayhew and Mrs. MacDonald read thank-you letters from Mrs. Ladd, from the Ontario Society for Austistic Children, from the newlyweds and Mrs. Ladd expressed her thanks to the members for serving refreshments the day of the funeral.

Mrs. Ladd read a letter from the Leprosy Mission. Two Happenings were given out to the members to read and some items were read at the meeting.

Mrs. Laberee and Mrs. Ladd, who both attended Summer Event in Ottawa, Ont., gave reports of the many highlights of the Events that happened.

It was mentioned that there would be a garage sale in Bury at St. Paul's Rest Home and members of the U.C.W. would perhaps have articles that they would be glad to donate to raise funds for the Rest Home.

Mrs. Dave Hillis offered to be hostess for the October meeting at her home.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction and Mrs. MacRae and Mrs. Mayhew assisted Mrs. Ladd in serving refreshments when a social hour was enjoyed.

WI meeting

BROOKBURY — The first regular meeting of the Brookbury W.I. was held at their hall on Thursday evening, Sept. 9, a week later than our regular date, due to some members having other commitments and some were away.

The Roll Call, "Tell an Interesting item you have read" was answered by eleven members. The motto was, "Learn to Live, Live to Learn, Ignorance like a fire doth burn."

Some discussion followed about the Conference to be held at the Town Hall in Bury on Wed., Sept. 15 and each member said what they would donate towards the dinner.

A motion was made to give a donation to the Salvation Army from our branch.

The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. Joyce, showing a satisfactory amount on hand. Proceeds from the lunches served at the Johnnie Thompson auction sale were quite gratifying in spite of the very hot day.

Plans were made to hold a series of Card Parties at the Hall during September. The first one was on Saturday evening September 11th, and the other two on Friday evenings, Sept. 17 and 24. At the final one, on Sept. 24, there will also be a food sale of home baking.

The next W.I. meeting will be held with Mrs. Rufus Stevenson on October 7.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Clifford Lowe and Mrs. Osborne Lowe.

Golden Age Club

KNOWLTON (KT) — The afternoon of Bingo, given to the members of Knowlton Golden Age Club by Knowlton Social Club and postponed from the previous week, was held at the Legion Hall on September 14 with an attendance of 63 members.

The special "X" game was won by Mrs. Dorothy Mizer and the special "T" game by Mrs. Hazel Rhicard. Winner of the jack-pot game was Mrs. Gertrude Christoffersen.

Door prizes were donated by Clairol Inc., Knowlton Social Club, The Silver Dollar Hobby Shop and Metro Store and were won in the order given, by Mrs. Rebecca Porritt, Mrs. Doris Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Frederick and Mrs. G. Christoffersen.

Mr. Louis Giasson announced that Mrs. Rebecca Porritt would celebrate her 95th birthday in two days time (September 16) and good wishes were extended to her.

Refreshments were served at the close of a most enjoyable afternoon.

It's a lot more fun being the after than the before.
