

THE WESTMOUNT Examiner

Vol. XXXIV, No. 10 MONTREAL 6, THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1966 16 PAGES 5c

THE CORNER: This is the corner that came under fire this week. The no parking sign is circled and the 30 minute parking sign is just behind it. This is the view of a driver who stops near the large elm tree in front of Macy's. The white line on the sidewalk indicates no parking but cannot be seen when there is snow on the ground. One would think that one was allowed to park here for 30 minutes, yet this is not the case. The car in the foreground is, in this case, parked illegally. Does the driver know it?

Council promotes three policemen

Three Public Safety officers of the City of Westmount were promoted to the rank of sergeant at this week's monthly meeting of the city council.

The new ranks went to: N. J. F. R. Myles, G. J. McKenna and D. Campeau.

The motion was put forth by Alderman Fred Gross for Alderman Byers who was unable to attend the council meeting due to sickness.

Alderman Gross noted that the promotions were well deserved and that the three officers had served their city well.

Deputy Director Sid Ashford was on hand at the meeting on behalf of the Public Safety Department.

The three officers were not aware that they had been made sergeants until the next day when they arrived at the station on Stanton street. They were then officially told.

Traffic signs

Alderman Gross, again on behalf of Alderman Byers, moved that council order the placement of 'Stop' signs on Winchester avenue. The signs proposed are to be placed on Winchester at its intersection with Claremont and Prince Albert avenues. The move was adopted by council.

It was a busy night for Alderman Gross who also moved that a '20 MPH' sign be placed on the north side of Barat road directly opposite its intersection with Vignal street. Gross told the council that both recommendations had been made by the Administrative Traffic Committee.

Alderman Peter McIntyre, Commissioner of Finance for the City of Westmount, moved that the council give its approval to the city's list of accounts for the month of February amounting to $731,742.84. The move was passed.

Westmount detective recovering

Westmount detective Bruce Whiteford is at home recovering from a major eye operation.

Bruce, who has figured in many big cases in Westmount in the past few months, came to headquarters prior to the operation complaining of a loss of focus in his right eye.

He was sent to the health department where the doctor had not yet arrived on duty. Rather than wait, he proceeded to a specialist on Sherbrooke street who, as it turned out, had the very latest equipment for eye examination.

After one look at Whiteford's eye the doctor told him he had a serious problem. The retina had been injured and the doctor ordered an operation at once.

That afternoon he was booked into the Queen Elizabeth Hospital and the following morning the operation took place. He was released from hospital eight days later.

Doctors have assured Bruce that his eye will be fine after several weeks of total rest.

All the officers and men at the police station send him their best wishes, also the staff of The Westmount Examiner.

Firemen show speed

Our firemen are fast, very fast.

This reporter happened to be in the police and fire station on Stanton street recently when the fire alarm sounded.

I dropped everything and ran down a flight of stairs out the door and around the building into my car. When I got the car on Stanton street, less than 60 seconds from the time the alarm sounded, the trucks had left and were out of sight.

I went along Cote St. Antoine to Lansdowne avenue and down near Sherbrooke I saw the red trucks. By the time I got down there, they were ready to leave.

It was a very small leak in a pipe where men were working in a hole in the street.

This reporter isn't very slow on his feet or in his car, but next to those firemen, well...

Next week's weather

By ERIC NEAL

MARCH 12-19

This is another week of sudden changes, but mainly sunny. Fog or rime frosts and a little powder snow most mornings. Afternoons sunny and mild. Cold, moonlit nights.

More snow in the middle of the week (2 to 4") with blustery winds from the east and north, then south-west. Fluffy, soft snow in the south. Powder snow in the north and Gulf regions.

Robins and crow scouts arrive to look things over, and return south awhile to wait until fields begin to clear of snow.

Weekend sunny with very cold nights.

Parking issue under fire

The problem of parking was brought up again this week by one Westmouter who called this paper with a seemingly reasonable complaint.

He stated that he had pulled up outside of Macy's at the corner of Sherbrooke and Victoria and parked his car in front of that large elm tree just a few steps west of the corner. He stayed in the car while a friend dashed into the store. While sitting there he noticed an officer writing in a pad. But then the officer came over and plunked the ticket on his windshield. That was that.

The caller told us that, "Finding the ticket was not too disheartening but what really got me was that I could not find the no parking sign."

He went on to say that as he walked around the front of his car he found the sign partially hidden behind the elm. The fact is that when you are driving west on Sherbrooke and you stop your car on this corner, from the driver's seat, one cannot see this sign. What one does see however, is a sign a few feet ahead of it that says parking for 60 minutes.

Our caller suggested that the city should either move the sign closer to the street or get rid of the elm tree.

It should be pointed out here that at this corner there is a heavy white line on the edge of the sidewalk which indicates 'no parking' but when there is snow around, well...

This is just an example of the rising number of outcries that can be heard throughout the commercial and administrative districts of Westmount as far as parking is concerned.

CITY HALL

Another 'hotspot' is city hall. Here, residents are granted five or six parking spots out of some 24. These are labeled, 'Reserved for persons on business at City Hall.' The remaining 18 or so are simply marked 'Reserved.' These we found out to be for department heads.

This ration seems a little out of sorts to many of the people we find trying to park in the rear of the building. But, what really hurts is the fact that these few parking places which are reserved for the residents are used by employees' cars.

This was discovered by a day-by-day look at the problem and it was learned that the three or four places available to the public near Cote St. Antoine road are always filled by the same cars, some with Westmount stickers on them.

Will the day ever come when a resident will get a ticket for parking in his own spot? The fact is, there are more department heads than there are parking places, therefore the public is suffering by having to park, in some cases, as far as two and three blocks away from their city hall.

ELSEWHERE

The problem turns south from here down to St. Catherine street east of Greene avenue. At this corner there is a mighty detour sign which would indicate at first glance that the street is closed... not true. This has been the big complaint of all the store owners on St. Catherine street.

Then you have the Westmount Square and the Alexis Nihon Plaza. Construction at these two sites has turned St. Catherine street into a mud bath and those few who know St. Catherine to be open east of Greene must dodge this muck to reach the stores which are almost all having sales in order to make up for the loss of business.

But, parking here is also a problem. On the Alexis Nihon Plaza alone, there are some 300 men working every day. A large number of them come to work by car. The result has been fantastic.

'Y' seeks $12,300 here

William Ridley, Chairman of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Finance Campaign, announced today that final arrangements are being made for 110 volunteer canvassers to visit 1200 homes and firms to raise $12,300 in its Annual Financial Campaign.

The Westmount branch joins with eight other divisions during the two weeks of March 21 to April 4th to raise a total of $325,000.00. This objective is the bare minimum the 'Y' needs to carry out its Youth & Leadership Development programs and represents the actual gap between income and costs.

'Y' canvassers are confident that the citizens of Westmount will generously support this worthy cause.

The Westmount campaign committee includes: Mrs. C. Ancrum, W. S. Macdonald, D. Rennie, R. O. Huntington as section vice-president.

Library issues 66th annual report

"A library is many things. It is a storehouse of recorded knowledge, a means of continuing education, and a reflection of community needs and interests. In this last aspect it is clear that Canadians are vitally interested in their own country and are preparing for both Expo and the Centennial.

"Looking back over 1965 one important factor was the confidence with which we could expand our services to the public through a program begun last year with the very generous grant-in-aid from the Department of Cultural Affairs. We have increased our microfilm holdings and subscribed to more periodicals. We have bound more books and brought more books. As a result the Cataloguing, Circulation and reference Departments have been busier than ever before, and much of the Grant has been spent on salaries to enable them to deal with the increased work.

"The Grant has also allowed us to inaugurate an experimental Student Membership which seems likely to be successful. None Resident students pay a small fee to take books from the Library and in this way more people may share the benefit of the Grant.

"Another first this year was the acquisition of a copying machine. The company installs it and collects all revenues — we merely house it for the convenience of the public. It is too early to tell, but it may protect the books from the desperate students who used to tear pages out. August was a rather quiet month to install the machine, and we were doubtful how often it would be used. Little did we know. With the computer's odd compilation of High School Leaving results, parents and pupils descended on the machine to make copies to accompany their protests.

"For the first time the change in the age for entrance to the Adult Library is reflected in the statistics. In the fall of 1964 it was decided to lower the age of admittance from fourteen to thirteen and there was a stream of teenagers transferring to the Adult Library. These are the avid readers and the Juvenile found their circulation noticeably affected. It is ironic too, that with qualified librarians in the Protestant Schools there are no longer organized class visits to the Library. This means that children whose parents do not introduce them to the Library often miss the adventure of reading for pleasure.

BOOKS

"Critics are always bemoaning the downfall of the novel and this year there was little to encourage its defenders. Arthur Hailey's Hotel topped the Best Seller list most of the year, and though we wish a fellow Canadian well we can hardly throw hats in the air for his achievement. Up the doown staircase and The Source pleased our public but little else stirred excitement.

"Biographies are always popular, and the numerous books on President Kennedy lead the list followed by Larry Bonham-Carter's Winston Churchill as I knew him. After Churchill's death there was an increased demand for his own writings. Markings by the late Dag Hammarskjöld, Dame Edith Sitwell's Taken Care Of and Lady Longford's Queen Victoria: born to succeed were other noteworthy biographies.

"Dr X writing on his years of internship was the surprise best-seller of the year, and everyone wanted to know what life with Picasso would be like as told by Françoise Gilot.

"Travellers, a r m c h a i r and otherwise, liked Morton's Traveller in Italy and V. S. Pritchett's beautiful New York Proclaimed.

"An odd and engaging best seller was Games People Play, by Dr. Berne. It must be enlivening many social occasions.

"As I have intimated before there has been a growing interest in our own country. Edmund Wilson's O Canada drew attention to Canadian novelists and poets, particularly those of French Canada. An unlikely choice for popularity was The Vertical Mosaic, a study of class structure in Canada. Election year brought many readers to Fari-bault and Fowler's Ten to One — The Confederation Wager, Pierre Sevigny's This game of politics, George Grant's Lament for Nation, Walter O'Hearn's amusing Member from Pasquobit and his brother's more serious Peace, order, and good government.

"Early photography in Canada, a collection by Greenhill, and two picture books on Montreal, one by Leonard Knott and Huguette Lavigne, and the other by Leslie Roberts and Robert Choquette, another of De Volpi's collections, this time on Toronto, and E. A. Collard's Call back yesterdays gave up a look at ourselves past and present.

"With the publication of volume three of Lanctot's History of Canada in English, Joseph Schulls Laurier and the conclusion of Graham's biography of Arthur Meighen, we saw our history in perspective.

"Novelists Michael Sheldon and Claude Jasmin portrayed our Canadian ways in The unmelting pot and Ethel and the Terrorist, and perhaps we can be persuaded to mend them.

REFERENCE DEPT.

"Never before in the history of the Library has there been such a demand for material on Canada. Often every book on a particular subject was in circulation. This unprecedented demand is probably a combination of factors, including the approach of our Centenary, the fact of Expo '67 and more school and college courses on Canadian history and economics. Whatever the reason, we looked up information on Canada's natural resources, the pension plan, bankruptcies, Hudson's Bay, life in New France, the Underground Railway, the game of Lacrosse, the Red River Settlement and statistics of all kinds.

"In science, we looked up the thyroid gland, photosynthesis, D.N.A., the language of bees, and insecticides. In biography we found material on Audiberti, de Mondrian, Brecht, Ghelderode, Dupleix, Copernicus, Hammurabi, Marquis de Laroche and Miquel Servetus.

"The do-it-yourself enthusiasts wanted to know how to make yoghurt, a rabbit trap, soap, build a gun rack, dye with homemade vegetable dyes, blow glass, clean a swimming pool, thin woodlots, solder silver and make quince jelly.

"Other subjects covered were burial customs of non-literate nations, the Hapsburg lip, the location of Anfa, Periclean architecture and all the perennials — censorship, courtly love, toast etc.

"We found out who first used the phrase "The Cold War" poem begins "What is it that roareth thus" and translated "Fluctuat nec Mergitur".

"Pictures were found of anti-aircraft guns, swamps, geysers, chess men, bull fights, warships, H.M.S. Pinafore and 18th century Paris. There were enquiries by mail including a request for addresses of prominent Americans and list of Sousa marches.

"Interlibrary loans show an increase. Over 250 books were loaned and 85 were borrowed from other libraries. Subjects included were gorillas, bee culture, rhetoric, Spanish history, Canadian legends, Ukrainian Cookery, Etruscan jewellery and medical jurisprudence.

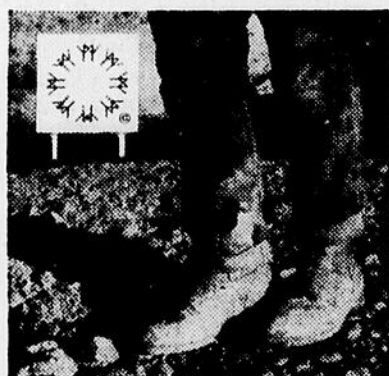

"Almost 1000 books were used in the building by non members, who filled out reserve slips and also over 500 back issues of periodicals.

CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

"From January until the end of April during the absence of Miss Fraser, the Children's Department was fortunate to have Mrs. Clayton and Mrs. Gay to take over. Miss Fraser is difficult to replace, and we are all Who's on first?

Obviously, when Expo 67 opens, there'll be radio and TV, teletypewriters, picture transmission machines — and phones. And the microwave and cable equipment for almost all of them will be supplied by Bell.

But it may surprise you to hear that Bell people were among the very first to work on the Expo site. They not only helped plan things from the very beginning — they were right in there with mobile or temporary phones as soon as the first machine got to work.

Because: without communications (and that means much more than merely phones) there's practically nothing that can happen these days. That goes for the important big jobs like Expo, and the important little jobs like getting your phone installed. Each one requires a lot of work and effort — long before the first message ever goes through.

Long-Range Planning — one of the reasons why Bell Communications serve you so well.

HI THERE: It was fun time at the Westmount ice rink this week for the students of Westmount Park School who held their annual Ice Carnival. Many gay costumes were shown by the young-

St. Paul's news shorts

This Monday, March 7, the YCS held an assembly to inform us of upcoming events marking "Education Week" — March 6-13 — Social Awareness is the pivotal theme. The first day highlighted Social Awareness in Religion. A folk-singing mass for the high schools of St. Paul's and St. Leo's, was held at 3 o'clock. Several students from McGill's Newman Centre led the singing with guitars while the priest celebrated mass. Tuesday was Social Awareness in Youth and in International Affairs. In the morning high school students attended a model YCS meeting, to see how it functions, and to encourage co-operation.

After school that afternoon, was a lecture on the controversial issue of Viet Nam. Wednesday was designated for Social Awareness in Culture and Personal Development. To exemplify Social Awareness in Inter-School Activities, there will be a spring carnival Thursday night at St. Leo's. This takes in a dinner: for high school of St. Leo's and St. Paul's only; and a dance: open to everyone. The dance starts at 9:00 o'clock; admission only 25c. You're all welcome! Highlight of the evening will be the crowning of a King and Queen. Friday, Social Awareness in Community Enterprise is dealt with. Students have been asked to make up colorful and interesting scrapbooks for hospitalized children. Results will be displayed in our library tomorrow afternoon. The scrapbooks will then be delivered to the Douglas and the Montreal Children's Hospitals. Closing of Education Week will officially take place in Chapel at 1:00 p.m.

From Wednesday evening, March 2, to Friday afternoon, March 4, the 4th high girls were on a retreat at Holy Spirit Retreat House.

For many, this Saturday was the day for the writing of Achievements Tests, necessary for most college entrances.

Local group active in 'CAC Week'

This week has been proclaimed Consumer Week by Prime Minister Pearson, and to acquaint the public with the aims and achievements of the CAC (Consumer Association of Canada) a booth will be set up in Simpson's department store.

The booth will be staffed by members of the Westmount branch of CAC, who are there to answer questions about how the Consumer Association can be of service, and how interested persons can join.

In this era of increasing prices and competing products, the Consumer Association serves as a channel for complaints and suggestions from the public to the manufacturers, helps you to decide which product will give you best value for your money, and the magazine Consumer Report tells you the results of CAC testings.

Copies of the Report will be available at the CAC booth in Simpson's. Stop by and have a look — your support will help the Consumer Association to increase its services to you.

Local scout troop conducts own service

On Saturday, February 19, the 67th Montreal Shaar Hashomayim Troop conducted their own Sabbath services in honor of Scout Sabbath.

On Sunday, February 20, the Troop and Brownie Pack were host to their parents as part of Scout Week, as well as to celebrate the 45th Anniversary of the Troop.

On this occasion Ralph Berzan and Norman M. Friedman presented new Canadian hoist and parade flags to the Troop which were consecrated by Rabbi Wilfred Shuchat. A Troop demonstration, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Jeff Weissler and Assistant-Scoutmaster Barry S. Gordon, and a puppet show by the Brownies, under the leadership of Brown Owl Sandra Friedman, were presented. The MC for the afternoon was Group Committee Chairman, Miss Jeanne Rosenthal.

Among those present for the occasion were: C. Carey Foster, District Commissioner for Westmount, Mrs. R. Wilson-Smith, Westmount Guide Commissioner, Ernest Sabloff Chairman of the Jewish Advisory Committee, and

Ed. Sampson Assistant-Scoutmaster St. Leo's Troop.

We Say

'Give Enough' to French Charities

WESTMOUNT is the wealthiest community in Canada.

It is the most charitable.

This goes for citizens as individuals and as responsible heads of a multitude of business organizations.

The Federation of French Charities Inc., is launching this week its annual two-week campaign for funds, is to be commended for a forthright appeal this year directly to all in the Montreal Roman Catholic diocesan area, regardless of faith or language.

The 1966 objective of $2,825,000, like that of other local campaigns, is a scale-down from actual needs of the agencies supported. The Federation estimates it could with reason be asking for $9,000,000. Its 35 agencies cater to needs of 70 per cent of the local population.

Yet the Federation collects only 30 per cent of the charity donations to the four major Montreal welfare federations.

Federation officials forthrightly admit that this situation is something of their own fault: for not making the facts sufficiently clear in the past.

Thus, this year business in particular, both English and French-controlled, is being reminded of its responsibility to the less fortunate and needy of the community.

It is not being suggested that donations should be diverted from other charities to the French Federation. The simple call, to all in the community who can give anything, is to make good the wide and clear omissions of the past.

Montreal's business firms last year gave less than $800,000 to the French Federation and over $2,000,000 to the three other major charities.

These facts are far more eloquent, and will receive far more sympathy, than the boorish, bludgeoning words recently of one René Lévesque to the English-speaking community on this same subject.

Charity ceases to have any virtue if it is by direction or by the blackmail Lévesque would practice.

But the plain-spoken facts from the French Charities officials will, we are sure, strike a harmonious note in the minds and hearts of traditionally generous and community-conscious Westmount.

We do not need, even reject, the ham-handedness of an ex-TV performer to tell us our duty. Westmounters already are too well aware that Quebecers, English and French, must live together in one community.

Given the facts, most will respond to the Federation '66 appeal:

"They deserve more than crumbs . . . give enough."

Sir: On behalf of the Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal Children's Hospital, I want to thank you for your cooperation in helping to make our Mardi Gras Fiesta a success.

We were very pleased with the overwhelming response which we received and are deeply grateful to those who made it possible.

It just isn't so

By STEVE COLLIER
NEWS EDITOR

One of the most rewarding ways to win new votes in a riding is to show the people in that riding that you have their interests at heart and that you are prepared to make a genuine effort on their behalf.

In the case of the National Union Party of Quebec, who have just launched an appeal in every provincial riding on the island of Montreal, they have failed miserably in Westmount.

To every household in every riding went a notice this week which was headed, "Do You Know What Provincial Riding You Belong To Now?"

Inside this informative notice there is a detailed map of the electoral district in which it was delivered. This map shows the electoral boundaries according to the National Union Party.

The borders on these maps, where one riding is divided from its neighbouring ridings are drawn in with heavy black lines with the name of the dividing street in bold black letters.

In the case of the provincial riding of Notre Dame de Grace, the NU maps states clearly that that ridings eastern border is Prince Albert avenue — in the City of Westmount — in the provincial riding of Westmount.

Also according to the NU map, the block east of Prince Albert is called Vendome avenue.

It may interest the National Union Party to know that NDG provincial electoral boundary is the same as that of the municipal border between N.D.G. and Westmount, being between Grey avenue in N.D.G. and Claremont avenue in Westmount.

This is the understanding, at least, of the Quebec government, the Hon. Richard Hyde and the residents of the City of Westmount.

Yet, when contacted, an official spokesman for the National Union Party in Montreal, Yvon Royal, said of the map — "Yes, the map is correct — it was all changed (the boundaries) in the last six or seven months and the riding of N.D.G. runs from Connaught avenue in the west to Prince Albert avenue in the east."

When questioned again concerning the Prince Albert border, he said, "The map is correct."

When contacted in Quebec, the Hon. Richard Hyde, Minister of Finance and member for the provincial riding of Westmount, said, "If this is the case, no one in Quebec knows about

Biography of Streets

Metcalf avenue

Sixth in a series

Metcalf avenue originated in a sub-division laid out by J. H. Springle, which was registered in 1869. It connected Cote St. Antoine road with Sissons' Lane or Little Cote St. Antoine road, old names for the unconnected portion of what was then St. Catherine street.

At the north end it passed to the east of a row of four square houses, which were called Metcalfe Terrace. At the moment it is not known whether the Terrace gave the name to the street or vice versa, but in either case it seems beyond doubt that the name honored the governor-general Lord Metcalfe who held office from 1843-1845 when he retired due to ill health.

Developed from the accessible south end from which Sissons' Lane led to the city by way of Dorchester avenue, now Greene avenue and Turnpike Trust Road, now Dorchester boulevard, the beginning may be said to date from 1865 prior to the sub-division when the late A. C. Hutcheson built a pair of semi-detached houses on the north-west corner of St. Catherine street and Kensington avenue.

ONCE AN ORCHARD

At the time, much of the block of land was cultivated by one Sissons whose residence straddled the site of Metcalfe avenue. A short distance south of Sissons' Lane there was a "U" shaped driveway flanked on either side by an orchard of English cherry trees some of remained until recently.

The actual opening took place in 1872 or '73 when Hutcheson built a new house, on the northeast corner of St. Catherine street, next to his first house. Sissons' house, which was being dismantled at the time, furnished Hutcheson with some excellent cedar beams and other materials.

The first house fronting on Metcalfe avenue was built in 1877 by one Bernard. This was soon followed by several others including that of the late Robert Harvie in 1879.

The assessment roll for 1884 lists five houses on the east side and two on the west side.

STILL IN PRIME

By 1900 the street was nearly completed and the fact that few houses have been constructed on that street since this date and that the street is still in its prime, is a credit to its early builders.

At the time of the sub-division the upper portion of Metcalfe avenue formed part of the Raynes property. The earlier history of the land has not been learned but barns and a stone farm house which stood approximately on the site of Springfield avenue until around 1895 suggested that there had been two separate farm properties on this block or sub-division.

At an early date some optimist appears to have had an idea of joining with the upper section of a street in St. Henry in continuation of Metcalfe which extended from the foot of "St. Henry hill" to St. James street. At any rate this section was named Metcalfe and remained so until a number of years after the building of the CPR about 1888 when there was a well established foot path connecting the two sections, the hill slope being overcome by a long flight of stairs. Until the installation of the electric cars in 1892 it was the practice of the businessmen, even from as far as Greene avenue, to walk down the hill to the St. Henry station and take the train into town. This was preferable to using the horse cars which had their terminus at St. Catherine and Greene.

BLOCK BURNED OUT

It is related that a group of these men one spring day about 1891, while waiting on the platform for the train, were greatly concerned to see huge volumes of smoke rising from the vicinity of Greene avenue. Only on their return home after an anxious day wondering whose was the bad luck did they learn that the block containing Perry's Store at the corner of Greene and St. Catherine had been burned out and that the rush of smoke had come from hay in the stables where the fire started. This was before telephones were common.

The commercial development on Metcalfe avenue began in a front room of a wooden building built by the late James Smith which until the early 1940's stood on the southeast corner of St. Catherine street. Here a kindly widow eked out a living by exchanging sticks of licorice or sticker candy for the scarce coppers of the neighborhood children. About 1899 this tuck shop was put out of business by a new brick store on the northwest corner where one Regan conducted a similar business with greater appeal.

How to pass a driving test

Accredited high quality driver education courses — sponsored by the Quebec Motor League — at high school level for teenagers and for adults will begin on the 14th of March at the Sheraton Mount-Royal Hotel at 6.45 p.m. with a free preview on "How to Pass a Driving Test" (lecture with color slides on the actual driving test).

The driver education course is open for those over 16 years of age and up to 72. Twenty-seven hours will be spent with classroom work and 12 hours in the car. In the teenager course and 12 hours classroom work with 12 hours in the car is offered for busy adults.

BOMBS CHANGE WEATHER

The scientists now believe that the dust from the nuclear explosion and more especially, since China has set off a series of blasts, disturbs the atmosphere which in turn releases moisture content over scattered areas of the world. They also believe that the violent windstorms experienced are also a part of the upset being caused. They also add that the layman has been convinced of this for a far longer time than they. —Huntingdon (Que.)

'Substance' sermon topic

The true nature of "Substance" as defined first by Biblical prophets and later by Christ Jesus will be the Lesson-
Sermon subject in all Christian Science church services this Sunday. Among Bible selections, the story of Peter's healing of the lame man at the gate of the temple called Beautiful will be presented to illustrate the theme that real substance is spiritual.

Pertinent passages to be read from the denominational textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "When we come to have more faith in the truth of being than we have in error, more faith in Spirit than matter, more faith in living than in dying, more faith in God than in man, then no material suppositions can prevent us from healing the sick and destroying error."

'How Fares the Church'

The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered next Sunday morning in Dominion-Douglas. Dr. Smith will preach on the theme "How Fares the Church?" and will deal with the results of the criticisms which have been expressed about the institution of the church.

In the evening he will deal with the fourth chapter in the Lenten Study Book — under the theme — Is Security a Legitimate Goal? This will be followed by discussion.

Obituary

J. S. Babbitt

J. Stanley Babbitt, a resident of Westmount, died recently while vacationing in Florida. He was 72.

Born in New York City, Mr. Babbitt attended St. Paul's School in Concord, New Hampshire, and went on to graduate from Cornell University with a degree in chemical engineering.

During the First World War, he served with the U.S. Army Chemical Corps. At the time of his discharge he held the rank of captain.

Mr. Babbitt was first employed by the Barrett Chemical Corporation and later by the Ogden Minton Vacuum Dryer Co.

Mr. Babbitt then worked for the Gair Paper Co. as a manufacturer's agent and subsequently came to live in Canada.

February 27th and were a credit to all concerned.

SPORTS

Hudson Aleyne, a Unity volunteer for several years in the basketball department has been on a trip to the West Coast with the Montreal Orchids to play in the Junior Canadian Basketball finals.

In City Midget Basketball League semi-final action, Unity Boys' Club defeated Sun Youth Organization 77-65. Steve Aleyne and Dave Atherton led the winners with 26 and 22 points respectively. The deciding game will take place on Monday at Montreal High School at 7:30 p.m.

RETURN VISIT

We had a fine group of boys from the Ottawa Boys' Club visit us at Unity on Saturday, February 26th. These inter-club visits are considered very beneficial in fostering good sportsmanship and interest in others. Consequently another trip has been arranged for the Midget and Bantam Basketball teams to return to Ottawa on Saturday, March 12th.

PLEASE NOTE

The Club will be closed for regular program from Monday, March 14th to Saturday, March 19th. Aside from the preparation and production of the "Sound of Music" several special events will take place. On Monday evening the staff will meet with the Women's Auxiliary to discuss plans for the coming year. This is the first time such a meeting has occurred. On Tuesday evening the Volunteer Banquet will be held. On Wednesday night the staff will be Club Hopping — NOT Night Clubs please but Boys' Clubs. The Lion's Boys' Club and Point St. Charles Club will be honored by a visit. Thursday and Friday, of course, "THE SOUND OF MUSIC," and Saturday — Recovery.

'Brigadoon' shows much improvement

The Arcadian's production of 'Brigadoon' at the Westmount High School auditorium has an improvement over the original of twenty years ago. It is possible that in New York there is a dearth of pipe bands, but the addition of the ten kilted pipers and drummers of St. Laurent in their spanking regalia started the evening off in fine style.

Christine Troup as Fiona, and Ralph Alcorn as Tommy Albright are to be commended on a fine performance. Madeline Hastings as the bride Jeanny, and her groom Ralph Emery, were a convincingly loving pair, and in fine voice. Among others who supported the principals well, were Malcolm Miller as the dominie Lundie, and Carol Palidor as Meg, and we hope she regains her voice for the performances to come.

He was also associated with the Continental Can Corporation.

He was a member of the Royal Montreal Golf Club and the Larrimac Golf Club.

Mr. Babbitt is survived by his wife, the former M. Millicent, a brother Niles, of Marion, Pa., and a sister, Mrs. John S. Ogilvie of Lutherville, Md.

ST. PATRICK'S BALL: Members of St. Patrick's Ball Committee photographed at a recent meeting (left to right) Mrs. Joseph Dunne, Mr. William McNally, 4467 Sherbrooke St. West, Westmount and Dr. Albert Cloutier.

John J. Pepper of 3637 The Boulevard, Westmount, who is Chairman of the 1966 Alumni Fund for Loyola, which is now underway. A member of the firm of Brais Campbell Pepper & Durand, Pepper has long been active in affairs of the Bar Association. He is married to the former Anita Turcotte and is the father of five sons.

We wish the Russians could get away with their demands that the price of gold be raised. Auxiliary displays collection Fashions for all seasons were presented by Mme. Dysthe for the Women's Auxiliary of the Montreal General Hospital (Westmount branch) in Livingston Hall last week. Miss Barbara Whitley assisted Mme. Dysthe as commentator.

The annual showing was beautifully presented to a full house, and the designs, modelled by members of the auxiliary, disclosed Mme. Dysthe's great ability to overcome some very serious problems in women's fashion. I liked her imaginative skill in eliminating the back zipper for instance, and also her sympathy with the problem of the too tight skirt, which added such variety to the collection.

Some of my own favorites: A paneled A-line skirted suit of cotton tweed, a natural sheared seal long jacket, a black lace evening coat with a straight simple line, a painted linen summer evening dress, and the prize of the collection, a black and white mink evening collar which can be separated. (Mme. Dysthe knows where to use zippers) to make two neck pieces, one black and of course the other a snowy white.

MR. and MRS. BRIAN WILLIAM STOKES, photographed following their wedding recently in Divinity Hall Chapel of McGill University. Mrs. Stokes was formerly Miss Beatrice Redpath, daughter of Mrs. John Peterson Redpath, of Westmount, and Mr. Stokes is the son of Mrs. Ralph Grainger Stokes, of Dunedin, New Zealand.

Queen Elizabeth Auxiliary Meets

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Queen Elizabeth Hospital is holding its annual meeting on Wednesday afternoon, March 16, at two o'clock, in the Nurses' Residence, Northcliffe Ave., to be preceded by an executive meeting at one o'clock. Mrs. Philip Pugsley, the president, will preside. Tea will be served following the meeting. Mrs. Emil Cote is tea convener. Miss Jessie Harris, Mrs. R. W. Jones and Mrs. Ian Hutchison will preside at the tea table.

Redpath — Stokes

The marriage of Beatrice, daughter of Mrs. John Peterson Redpath, of Westmount, to Mr. Brian William Stokes, of London, England, son of Mrs. Ralph Grainger Stokes, of Dunedin, New Zealand, took place recently in the Divinity Hall Chapel, McGill University, the Rev. E. Clifford Knowles, D.D., officiating. Miss Mary Blaikie played the wedding music, and standards of spring flowers decorated the church.

The bride who was given away by her uncle, Mr. James A. MacGowan, of Fort William, Ont., was in a gown of white poul de soie, the empire bodice having a scoop neckline, and sleeves ending in points over the hands finished with small buttons, and the skirt which widened at the hemline was fashioned with a back panel. Her circular veil of tulle illusion was held by an heirloom spray of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of gardenias and white hyacinths.

Miss Lesley Galt, and Miss Daphne Dolan, as bridesmaids, were in frocks of dahlia pink poul de soie, fashioned on empire lines, the bodices having a square necklines, and elbow-length sleeves, with a crocheted band at the waistline. They wore small bows in their hair, and carried bouquets of white and deep pink tulips.

Mr. A. Peter Cumyn acted as best man for Mr. Stokes, and the ushers were Mr. John McGillis, and Mr. Arnold B. Sharp.

Mrs. Redpath, the bride's mother, was gowned in a French blue sheath. She wore a hat of deep pink chiffon and velvet bows, and had a spray of deep pink roses pinned to her handbag.

Mrs. Stokes, mother of the bridegroom, was in a gown of deep jade green silk, under a matching coat. She wore an organza hat in tones of blue and green, and a corsage bouquet of Orange Delight roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the St. James's Club. Later Mr. and Mrs. Stokes left for New York and Bermuda, the bride travelling in an ensemble of blue and green wool weave, the bodice of the frock having a round neckline, and elbow-length sleeves, and the coat being fashioned on slim lines, having a belted back, and wearing a beret of the same material.

Donahue are co-conveners. The meeting will be under the chairmanship of Mrs. John H. Dunne, President of the Auxiliary.

Apples Add Fine Flavor

Cake for breakfast anyone? Yes indeed! And hot apple crumb sugar cake is the favorite of back-to-school youngsters and hungry husbands.

Its sugar goodness and warm aroma makes getting up in the morning easy... it's full of nutrition for a good start to the day.

Apple crumb sugar cake is prepared with a combination of crunchy new apples, sugar and spices. Topped with a sugar-butter-flour crumb mixture, then baked to wholesome goodness, it is one of the most delicious new breakfast cakes. Wonderful for cool, crisp mornings.

APPLE CRUMB SUGAR CAKE

- 2 cups of tart sliced apples
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon allspice
- 1 cup sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 2 cups sifted flour
- 2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup butter
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1/2 cup milk

Mix sliced apples, 1 cup sugar, spices and lemon juice; set aside.

Sift together sugar, salt, flour and baking powder. Add butter and mix thoroughly using a fork. Reserve 1 cup crumbs. Stir in well beaten egg yolks and milk to the remaining crumb mixture. Fold in beaten egg whites; mix thoroughly.

Pour into well-greased 9 x 9 baking pan. Drain apple mixture and spread on top of batter; cover with 1 cup of crumbs that have been reserved.

Bake in hot oven 400°F for about 45 minutes. When done, sprinkle cinnamon over top of cake.

Birdland:

You can look at an owl — but seldom see it

By WINIFRED WILSON

A large, dark lump rested on an almost horizontal branch, pressed close to the trunk of a very big, half dead spruce. Focusing our binoculars, we saw that the lump was a fluffy bundle of feathers, and on looking intently discovered that this was actually an Owl, its head almost buried in its body, eyes tightshut, and two pointed ears sticking up.

The mottled, dark brown plumage blended perfectly with the old bark. The Great Horned Owl was so inconspicuous that we were fortunate to have noticed it at all.

How often have you seen an Owl? Having perfect confidence in camouflage they sleep away the daylight hours, often cuddled in the fork of a tree, and when dusk has fallen they waken up and look about them. As their hunting is done by night rather than by day their unusually large eyes have been placed facing forward, like our own, instead of on the sides of their heads like other birds. All birds have a third eyelid, but Owls make the most use of theirs, drawing the thin membrane across the eye to keep out too strong a light, yet still being able to see quite well.

You must have watched someone's pupils enlarge in a dim light and shrink when a bright light is faced. This automatic control over expansion and constriction is very important to Owls. They have keen eyesight when light is dim, yet most see well in broad daylight. The ability to dodge in and out, around trees in a forest proves this last point.

Culver leads SHS to title

Slender Mike Culver is a young man so far as ski racing is concerned but he is already proof that there is nothing quite as valuable as experience.

Though only 15 years of age, Culver has won promotion to 'A' class Laurentian Zone racing. On the weekend, Culver stepped back into high school competition with his Selwyn House mates and how that experience paid off.

Culver won both the slalom and giant slalom events of the three-day Eastern Canadian junior high school team championships. His performance turned the tide as Selwyn House defeated Lower Canada College by 23 points in the 1100 point competition.

scraping wood with an old saw seemed to come from a small thicket in the clearing — yet the bushes were but shoulder high, not big enough to hide a human being. What bird or animal could be in there? We crept quietly towards the spot, but naturally, as soon as our hands touched a branch the sound ceased. Gently parting the bushes we peered in. Yes, there it was, only a few feet away, sitting on the ground; a small, brown, fluffy-looking creature whose big, yellow eyes stared at us. As the sun had only just peeped over the horizon a short while before, we decided that the little Saw-whet Owl was about to settle down for its daytime sleep. This tiny bird, nearer the size of a common English Sparrow than a Robin, was a pleasing, vandyke brown trimmed with white before, we decided that the ed at us, wondering what we were doing there at such an hour. But we knew that our purpose was to discover birds which could not be seen later in the day.

Saw-whets (the name coming from that strange, sawing sound) are for the most part non-migratory, and seldom seen often live in southern Canada, right across the continent, all year round. Their small size, mottled brown and white colouring, and completely nocturnal habits save them from being molested. Actually, the big, Barred Owl is their only enemy. All day long they sleep silently, close to the ground, usually in some low, thick evergreens, appearing only after dusk has fallen.

In spring and early summer the Saw-whet's courtship calls may be heard — but they are extremely varied and may not all be recognized. At this season it is noisy. Besides the sawing sound, the best known is a monotonous series of rapidly whistled notes, "too, too, too, too, too".

Woodpecker holes are very often used by Saw-whets as nesting sites. Dense woodlands and damp surroundings are preferred. If you want to see a round head with no ear-tufts try knocking on the lower part of a dead tree or stump which has a good-sized hole high up. A little Saw-whet, roused from its slumbers, may look out in curiosity. Of course, the 3 to 6 tiny, round, white eggs are seldom seen, nor are the small, white-clad babies, whose eyes do not open for several days. Born on different days, there is generally quite a period between the age of the oldest and the youngest.

Library issues 66th report . . .

indebted to these two who managed to do their own work and hers, both cheerfully and well.
"Reference work is one of the most interesting features in the Children's Room, and many requests come to us. For example, the C.B.C. has used the Library through the year for research on background material, and are still working with us. Requests for Reading lists have come from many rural libraries — Knowlton, Belisle, Rosemere, and Chateaugay. A member of the University of British Columbia staff asked for assistance in research on children's books by Quebec authors, and the Provincial Association of Catholic Teachers needed a specially graded list for a reading symposium.
"Miss Fraser spoke on radio during Young Canada Book Week, judged at the YMCA Hobby Show (where she received an award for community service) and spoke to the Protestant School Municipality of Laurenvale.
"The Westmount Recreation Department bought children to the Library during the summer for story-telling and a puppet show, and when the Fire Department held a most successful poster contest for Fire Prevention Week, Miss Fraser prepared the entries for the judges.
"The Story Hour continued to weave its magic and there is a steady group of 25-30 children every week. Both Miss Fraser and Mrs. Clayton tell stories to this lively audience.
"The work of collecting books for the Montreal Children's Hospital continues, in co-operation with the Junior League of Montreal. These books have entertained many a child in the Out-door department during waits for the doctor.
"A most rewarding experiment was tried recently in conjunction with the Montreal Oral School for the Deaf. The children came to the Library and were told a specially selected story. Their enjoyment was evident, so we are planning further ways of communicating sound and action in story form for this group.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS

"It is fascinating to glance over the books written for children by outstanding modern poets and authors who have only started to think of children as their readers. Christopher Fry has charmed this year's young ones with The Boat that Moored. Robert Graves with Ann at Highwood Hall and even Ogden Nash has lent a hilarious note with his Animal Garden. Ian Fleming, whose James Bond drives that wonderful Aston-Martin has contributed the tale of a magical car, Chitty Chitty Bang Bang. Gerald Durrell has always had eager readers, and Rumer Godden appeals to little girls when bringing to life the enchanting Victorian dolls she knows so well. Marjorie Sharp, John Keats and Randall Jarrell are other distinguished writers adding their talent to the child's world of imagination.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S

"With careful book selection and a new audience of thirteen year olds, Mrs. Gay reports a definite increase in circulation. Many adult books recommended for young people have been added, as have some magazine favorites such as Seventeen and Motor Trends.

GIFTS

"When our members give us books, we appreciate not only the gift but their warm interest. As in other years no week goes by without some donation. Our thanks to all our friends who help us replace worn out favorites, specially in the mystery field, and add interesting Canadiana or current books in great demand. During the year there were some gifts that deserve a special thank you. Miss M. J. Wheeler and her sister Mrs. Celia Hains sent a cheque to the Library to buy books in memory of their Mother who had

"derived so much pleasure from the Library." How fitting it was that she should share her pleasure with other readers. Mrs. B. Gersovitz gave the Children's one of her enchanting prints full of mystery and fun, and it will delight many generations of children. To all our donors our grateful thanks.

SPECIAL EVENTS

"Each year has its special events both good and bad. The bus and postal strikes affected everyone, but here not one of the staff were defeated by lack of transportation, and always arrived on time. This is so important in a long day divided by the timetable into shifts. The lack of mail was a hardship to many of our newspaper and magazine readers, and when it finally arrived it was a hardship to the staff who had to deal with the flood.

"Theft is always a problem in libraries, and the most ingenious methods to control it have been defeated. This year we felt we had more than our share. Not only one, but two, Lovell's Directories were taken from under our very noses — most certainly by thieves who had studied our habits carefully and chose the right moment. The Juvenile showcase was broken into, and model cars, lent for the pleasure of the children, were taken out and later found smashed in the park.

"To celebrate Canadian Library Week in April, we declared an amnesty on fines, hoping to clear up many cases of badly overdue books. This was not as successful as we hoped. Perhaps the culprits do not read about libraries while their sins are on their conscience, and so missed their chance to be members in good standing again. We hope the amnesty was good public relations as far as the one or two-day-laters were concerned.

"A new venture this year was our display of Closed Shelf books. We felt that many borrowers were unaware of their existence, and because many of these are too expensive for the individual, it is particularly gratifying to find this such a popular exhibit."
