World News In Brief

Ottawa — (AP) — The government has given meat packers until May 9 to eliminate red-striped wrappers from the bacon trade.

Dr. C. A. Morrell, director of the health department's food and drug division, said Friday he sent the deadline notice to the packers last Friday. His letter of Feb. 7 said the department considers red-striped transparent wrappers on bacon as false and misleading packaging and that they should be removed.

Housewives and MPs have complained red stripes make bacon look leaner than it is.

Dr. Morrell said the government might be more favorably inclined to blue-striped packaging or even black stripes.

Tokyo. — (Reuters) — The Japanese trade ministry said today it is preparing to send a trade mission to Canada to increase Japanese exports and promote trade between the two countries. The mission is expected to comprise 15 business men.

Kitchener, Ont. — (AP) — A one-year-old boy Friday was awarded $1,500 damages and his father awarded $573 because a nurse accidentally cut off part of two of the toes while removing a bandage. The Kitchener-Waterloo hospital commission, the municipalities of Kitchener and Waterloo, owners of the hospital, and Nurse Mary Debus were sued by Earl Ruby on behalf of himself and his son, Martin.

Ottawa — (AP) — Ray Grenier, 39, of Ottawa, chief classification officer with the civil service commission, will be loaned to the Cambodian government for six months as an adviser in public administration, the commission announced Friday. His services are part of Canada's contribution to the Colombo plan technical assistance program.

Toronto — (AP) — A man saved himself from drowning after he fell through the ice of a creek in suburban Pickering township Thursday by pressing his nose upwards against the ice until he found a weak spot and forced his way through. Harry Lyon, 21, was dynamiting ice on the creek when the ice broke beneath him and he dropped into eight feet of water.

Legion Asks Widening Of Allowances

Ottawa — (AP) — The Canadian Legion Friday asked that First World War veterans who served in England be made eligible for war veterans' allowances.

Officials of the Veterans' Affairs Department estimated that some 52,000 Canadian soldiers who saw First World War overseas service in England only are still living and that approximately 11,500 of these could qualify for the allowances. They also estimated cost of extension of the allowances to these men at about $9,750,000.

A Legion brief read by Very Rev. John Anderson, MC, Anglican Dean of Ottawa and Legion president, was presented to the Commons veterans affairs committee which now is studying a bill to raise war veterans' allowances for the some 41,500 recipients.

The legislation would increase the monthly benefits to $80 from $50 for needy single veterans and to $108 from $90 for married veterans or their widows.

Permissive ceilings on over-all annual income to enable a veteran to qualify for the allowances would be increased to $840 from $720 for single veterans and to $1,440 from $1,200 for those married. The ceilings would include the allowances.

Total cost of the allowances, with the increases, would be some $37,000,000 annually.

The Legion again asked that the monthly benefit be raised to $120 for married veterans or their widows and that the respective annual ceilings be boosted to $1,200 and $2,000. The bill's provision of a $60-a-month allowance for single veterans met Legion requests.

To be eligible for the allowances a veteran must have served in a theatre of war. In the case of the First World War, England is not classed as a war theatre for purposes of the act.

A veteran may earn up to $50 a month by taking odd jobs and still receive the allowances. If a veteran is physically unable to work, he may receive supplementary allowances from a special assistance fund, amounting to $10 a month for single veterans and $12 for married.

Half Of Colorado Winter Wheat Crop Wiped Out By Storms — Floods Add To Troubles.

Pittsburgh — (AP) — The season's biggest crop of tornadoes and thunderstorms ripped across the eastern third of the United States Friday, killing at least two persons, injuring a score and causing property damage in the millions.

The twisters were a feature of a violent outbreak of March weather over large areas of the country.

Thunderstorm doused the sodden Ohio river valley basin hard on the heels of the river's worst flood in seven years. However, the U.S. weather bureau at Pittsburgh saw no new flood threat resulting.

Winds up to 70 miles an hour sent the winter's worst dust storms billowing over the southern and central great plains. Half of Colorado's three million acres of winter wheat was ripped out.

Hardest hit was a 45-mile area in Indiana, Ohio and southwest Pennsylvania area around Pittsburgh. Winds up to 92 miles an hour buffeted much of the area.

The twisters tore down power lines, toppled television and radio towers, blew a freight car off its track and unroofed homes and buildings.

Damage in Pennsylvania was estimated well in excess of a million dollars. Damage also was expected to pass the million-dollar mark in Ohio. Indiana counted nearly $750,000 damage in urban areas alone.

The crest of the most severe Ohio river flood in seven years drifted towards the stream's mouth Friday, leaving $14,000,000 in damage from Louisville to Pittsburgh.

In its first display of mercy, the muddy river levelled off at Louisville, Ky., Friday considerably under the crest it had promised. The damage upriver to Pittsburgh already had been set at $13,000,000. About 25 square blocks in Cincinnati were flooded before the river crested there Thursday morning.

Third Tar Sentenced For Spree

Halifax — (AP) — A navy court Friday sentenced Lt. Fraser Way of Colchester, Ont., to 12 months detention for his part in a January drinking spree aboard the carrier Magnificent.

Way was convicted on two of three charges—that of improper possession of one can of duplicating fluid and unlawfully consuming an intoxicant. He was acquitted of furnishing the poison cocktail to three other seamen.

The sentencing of Way brought to a close the navy's investigation into the Jan. 21 drinking bout that sent 47 sailors to hospital suffering from various stages of methyl alcohol poisoning. Duplicating fluid has a methyl alcohol base.

A fourth court martial was called off Thursday on advice from naval headquarters in Ottawa and the unnamed rating was ordered disciplined by his captain.

Two previous court martials convicted a rating and a petty officer.

AB John L. MacDonald of Beaverton, Ont., was sentenced to two years less one day in jail and dismissed from the service and PO 1st class Maynard Johnson of Victoria, was reduced to PO 2nd class.

Arnprior, Ont. — (AP) — Federal and provincial civil-defence authorities plan to use press, radio and television as the chief means of spreading civil defence information. A federal-provincial conference on Friday will form the basis of any large-scale information program.

Army Takes More Power In Soviets

London — (Reuters) — Russia announced Friday the appointment of 10 new Soviet army and air force marshals and the elevation of the air force commander, Marshal P. F. Zhigarev, to a new post of chief marshal.

The announcement Friday is one more indication that the Soviet army chiefs are a far bigger power and force in today's Russia than they ever were under Stalin, who always held the marshals and generals in check. He feared they would exercise power independently and overthrow him.

But in today's Soviet administration, marshals of the Red army hold three key posts — President of the Soviet Union, the veteran Marshal Kliment Voroshilov, Prime Minister (Marshal Nikolai Bulganin) and Defence Minister (Marshal Georgi K. Zhukov).

The price that Nikita S. Khrushchev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party, has had to pay for his increasing power and influence is to give a far greater measure of independence to the Soviet army.

The army, which wants modern weapons to keep in a state of battle readiness, is behind the Khrushchev — backed drive for the development of heavy industry.

Although several of the officers honored hold key commands, the appointments announced Friday do not necessarily mean that Russia regards a world war as imminent. Their importance lies more in the sphere of influence and prestige.

Zhigarev has been commander-in-chief of the Soviet air force since July, 1950.

The other two air force men promoted to marshal's rank are Sergei Rudenko, chief of staff of the Soviet air force, and Vladimir Sudets, former air force chief of staff.

Army generals promoted are: Vassili Chulikov, who commanded Russian forces at the battle of Stalingrad; Andrei Grechko, a Ukrainian who succeeded Chulikov as Soviet commander in Germany in 1953; Ivan Bagramyan, an Armenian who commanded the first Baltic front in the war. Sergei Biryuzov, commander in Austria in 1954.

Andrei Yermenko, commander-in-chief of the second Baltic front now commanding general in western Siberia. Kiril Moskalenko, commander of the Moscow military garrison since 1953 who is reported to have played a key role in the events which led to the arrest of secret police chief Lavrenty Beria and Sergei Varentsov and Vassili Kazakov, artillery specialists.

Official Silence Begins To Wear Down Gossipers

London — (Reuters) — The wall of official silence which has met all rumors of an impending marriage between Princess Margaret and Group Capt. Peter Townsend began to bear results Friday.

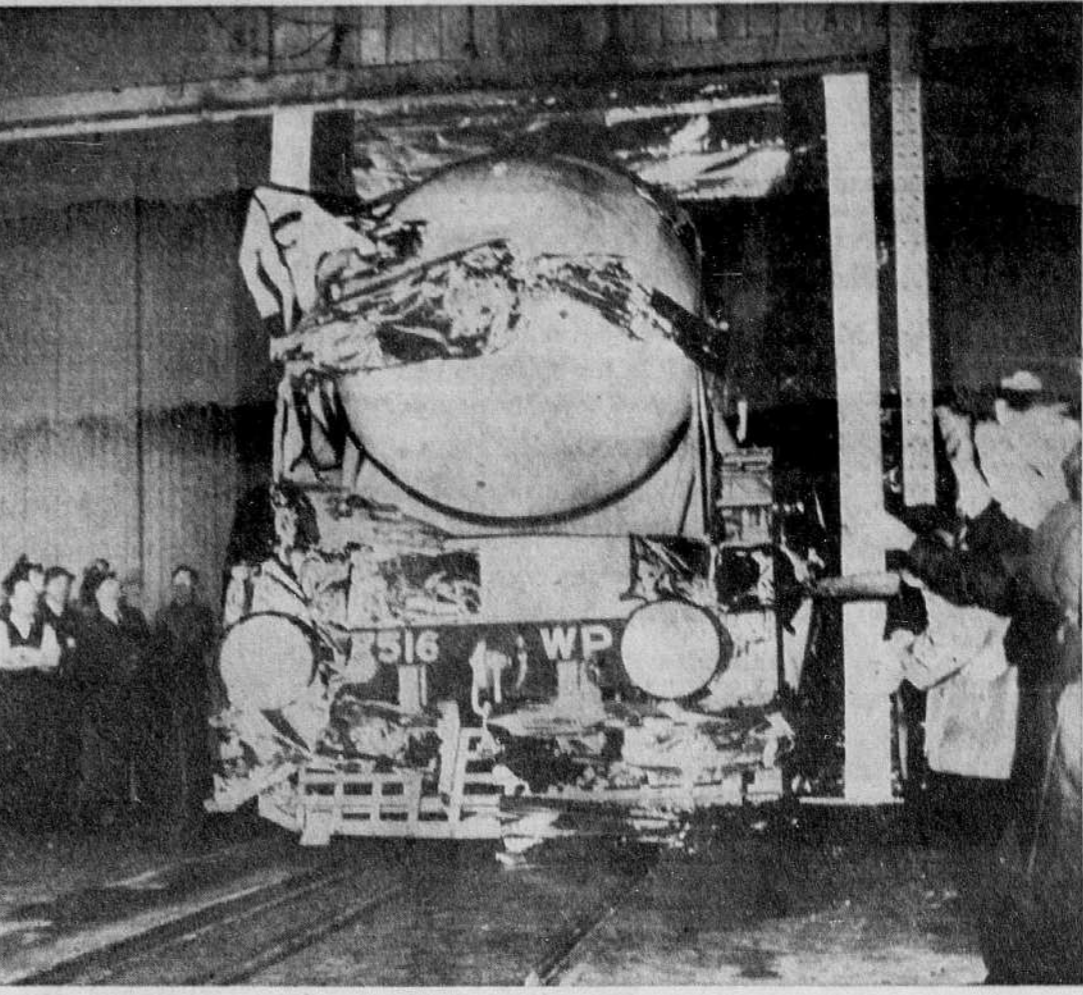

The gossips showed signs of becoming discouraged as royal and government officials continued to hold out against all demands for news of the reported romance.

Even those most strongly convinced of the truth of the reports at the beginning of this week began to waver.

Many recall that in 1953—when unsorted stories of the romance first appeared—Exchequer Chancellor Robert A. Butler dismissed them in the House of Commons as "deplorable speculation and gossip."

Butler, then acting Prime Minister in the absence of Sir Winston Churchill, said the question of Princess Margaret marrying Peter Townsend had "never even required ministerial advice and has never come before the cabinet."

Current reports headlined throughout the world hinge on alleged "Buckingham Palace

Labor Party Leaders Fear Churchill To Capitalize On Opposition Split

London — (Reuters) — Leaders of the Labor party expressed fears Friday night that Prime Minister Churchill's government will exploit the current split within their party by calling a general election soon.

The split came last week when Aneurin Bevan led 61 other left-wing Labor MPs in a revolt against a motion on defence backed by party leader Clement Attlee. Fiery 57-year-old Bevan capped this by making a public challenge to Attlee's leadership.

The patience of Attlee and his colleagues at least had been tried beyond endurance. They called for a showdown. Next Wednesday they will formally ask Labor MPs to oust Bevan from the parliamentary organization.

If they win, Labor's executive committee is expected to read the rebel leader out of the party.

The orthodox Labor leaders realize this would be an ideal time for the Conservative government to call an election, although constitutionally it has until the fall of 1956. They reason:

1. The Labor party is disorganized by the row.

2. Britain's economic boom would give the Conservatives many votes.

Sources close to Churchill, however, do not encourage speculation that the Conservatives plan to spring an election soon.

The Attlee decision on a final showdown with Bevan amounts to a confidence vote in the opposition party's parliamentary leadership.

Although Bevan has a loyal following, even his supporters feel he cannot succeed in this test against Attlee. But they predict the majority in favor of expelling him may be narrow.

Some local Labor parties already have passed resolutions opposing Bevan's ousting—at Manchester, Coventry and Birmingham. Others may join them, which would embarrass Attlee and his lieutenants during the debate.

The die has been cast, says labor MP Patrick Gordon-Walker, a former Labor government commonwealth relations secretary. He said Friday the issue is simply between Bevan and Attlee for party leadership.

"There is no alternative now, no other choice," he added. "It is the one or the other."

Canada Hesitates On Moon Project

Ottawa — (AP) — Canada has not yet decided whether to participate in a 1957 moon-photography project, Dominion Astronomer C. S. Beals said Friday.

The project, sponsored by the United States naval observatory, will be part of an international scientific fact-finding program about the earth and its atmosphere during the international geo-physical year in 1957.

"We have to give consideration to the personnel and funds we have available for astronomical research, and what advantages there would be for Canada in participating," Dr. Beals said.

The moon photography will be the first large-scale work-out of equipment and techniques developed by astronomer William Markowitz of the U.S. naval observatory.

Cabinet To Debate Aid To Oil Line

Ottawa — (AP) — An extraordinary Saturday meeting of the cabinet was called, Friday to deal with the question of federal financial aid for the proposed $300,000,000 natural gas pipeline between Alberta and eastern Canada.

There were reports — none firm — that the ministers in this third full-dress cabinet session in a single week would try to reach a decision on whether the treasury should give financial backing to the 2,200-mile pipeline.

It will be the first time in about a year that the cabinet has met on a Saturday, usually a government off-day. Only in times of fast-moving issues of national importance has the cabinet held three formal sittings in a week.

The stimulus at the moment is that Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Ltd. needs quick backing for its huge project if construction is to get under way by spring.

The company asked the government several weeks ago to guarantee its bonds, after it ran into a slowdown in getting supply and sales contracts necessary to one of the biggest private financing jobs in Canada's history.

Without assurances of financing, it cannot get final go-ahead from the federal Board of Transport Commissioners and the Alberta Petroleum and Natural Gas Conservation board. It has been reported the company sought a federal guarantee for about $275,000,000 worth of bonds.

The proposal has been under study by officials of the finance department and the Bank of Canada.

French Seek To Increase Steel Usage

Paris — (Reuters) — A stainless steel cantilever hangar, in which four Super-Constellation airliners can be parked side by side with room to spare, marks the opening shot in a battle between the advocates of steel and the champions of concrete in French construction engineering.

The hangar is the largest of several new buildings at the International airport at Orly, near here. There is not a single vertical support along its 702-foot front. And the giant canopy roof is held up by a row of steel buttresses. From these buttresses, slim girders soar to the canopy's front edge, about 123 feet above the airport paron.

The designers claim that it is the largest all-steel cantilever hangar in the world. They also claim it is stronger than comparable structures in concrete, with many more practical advantages.

Contemporary with the hangar is what the French claim to be the longest steel bridge in Europe. On the Seine just west of Paris, the bridge is 1,339 feet long and took only 5½ months to build, using no other material but steel.

Paris already has an all-steel hospital in the suburb of Villejuif. It is completely sound-proof, and clinically clean inside and out. Its exterior has been so disguised that few Parisians realize they are looking at a silent architectural revolution.

Trust Chief Is Dubious Of Markets

Washington — (AP) — Gen. Robert E. Wood, who manages the big profit-sharing pension fund of Sears, Roebuck and Co., said Friday "I don't want to risk my employees' money" in the stock market at its present level.

Wood told the Senate banking committee the fund now has $90,000,000 in cash but its directors are "at wit's end" wondering where to invest it.

Chairman William Fulbright (Dem.—Ark.) asked Wood why, if he doesn't think the stock market is too high, he didn't invest the money in stocks.

"I'm uncertain," Wood replied. Wood insisted, however, he didn't know whether the market is too high.

He also replied "I don't know" when Fulbright asked whether there is too much speculative activity in the market.

Wild Scenes As Italian Senate Passes Paris Pact

Rome — (AP) — The Italian Senate voted 139 to 82 Friday night to approve the Paris agreements to rearm the West Germans and make them partners in the Western European Union.

The decisive Senate vote completed Italian parliamentary action on the accords. It made Italy the eighth of the 15 nations involved to complete such action. Italy's Lower House, the Chamber of Deputies, approved the treaties Dec. 23 by 335 to 215.

In addition to providing for German troops as part of the Western lineup against the threat of Red aggression, the accords restore West German sovereignty and admit West Germany into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The vote came after two weeks of Senate debate that saw fist fights break out on the floor of the chamber. There also were noisy disorders on the streets of Rome.

The Communists have bitterly opposed Western union and fought ratification of the accords here to the end. Police and Communist demonstrators clashed briefly outside the Senate while the vote was being taken.

About 1,000 armed police ringed the Senate building during the final hours of the Senate session. They blocked all streets leading to the building.

At one point police charged a group of shouting Communist demonstrators and sent them scurrying down side streets. Several demonstrators were taken into custody, bringing the number of arrests in two days of rioting and demonstrations to more than 50.

As a last-minute protest against ratification of the pacts and against an attack Wednesday on Communist party headquarters here, the Red-bossed Rome chamber of labor called out its members in a two-hour general strike Friday. The strike had little effect, since non-Communist unions had instructed their members to stay on the job.

In pushing the approval through the Senate the government had the solid backing of the four-party centre coalition — the Christian Democrats, Social Democrats, Liberals and Republicans — and the support of the monarchists and members of the Fascist Italian social movement.

Only the Communists and the Italian Socialist party voted against ratification.

Nations now having completed parliamentary action on the Paris accords are Britain, Canada, Greece, Turkey and Italy. Approval has been voted in the lower houses of parliament in Belgium, France and West Germany. No action has been taken in Denmark, Luxembourg, The Netherlands and the United States.

Declares No Politics In Appointment

Ottawa — (AP) — Two cabinet ministers Friday denied, amid jeers from CCF members in the Commons, that there is any political significance behind the recent appointment of the son of a Saskatchewan Liberal to the Board of Grain Commissioners.

The denial came from Trade Minister Howe and Agriculture Minister Gardiner in the face of renewed CCF criticism of the appointment as "political."

Mr. Howe said he appointed Stanley Loptson, 42, of Bredenburg, Sask., to the Board last month after deciding he is the best man for the job.

He said he did not know until after he made this decision that Mr. Loptson is the son of Asmund Loptson, member of the Saskatchewan Legislature for Saltcoats and former acting House leader for the Liberals in the provincial house.

Mr. Gardiner said Mr. Loptson, Jr., was suggested for the post by the board of the United Grain Growers, pioneer farm organization in the west. He said Mr. Howe did not know the appointee came from his (Mr. Gardiner's) constituency.

The CCF critics, led by Hanes Argue (CCF—Assiniboia), were joined by John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) who said the appointment cannot be excused. It bore too much resemblance to a reward to the son for his father's political activities.

CCF members and Mr. Diefenbaker also strongly opposed government proposals to increase the annual salaries of the grain commissioners.

The extensive debate was on a government motion to amend the Canada Grain Act. It provides, among other things, for appointment of a fourth assistant grain commissioner and for a salary increase for the chief commissioner to $15,000 from $14,000 a year and for the commissioners to $13,500 from $12,000 annually.

The Doofer Family

By ALMA SIOUX SCARBERRY

A REMARKABLE SPECIMEN
A great air of mystery hung over Dooferville the day after the fire at the Doofer Grocery Store. There were mysterious conversations on the party line, and people gathered in small groups and talked and smiled. Everybody but Gussie Goofers and her Grannie knew what was going on. It was to be a big surprise. Dollie Doofer was so excited she could hardly wait!

Late in the afternoon Gussie and her Grannie were their little house and Sorry-Lookin' was playing on the porch when they heard music! Hammie Hooper, the singing, dancing boy, was playing his accordion. Gussie ran to the window. Down the street—with Hammie Hooper leading them—arched all the men and women and boys and girls of Dooferville. They stopped right in front of Grannie Goofers' little old house. Everybody was cheering. Gussie couldn't believe her ears.

"We want Sorry-Lookin'," they cried. "Hurray!"

Gussie ran out, and Grannie Goofers hobbled out with her cane. Sorry-Lookin' wagged his tail. He was friendly, but puzzled. Then Professor Zoofers, the kindly keeper of animals at the zoo, stepped up. He cleared his throat. He took a box from under his arm, opened it up, and raised his voice: "Miss Gussie Goofers," his voice shook with emotion, "it is my pleasure, on behalf of Everybody cheered and wiped his eyes—and had a wonderful time. Everybody was there but Woolie Woofers, the boy who wasn't kind to animals. And Dollie Doofer and Gussie Goofers were just about the happiest, proudest little girls in the whole, wide world.

And you can just believe Sorry-Lookin' moved right into Grannie Goofers' little house—and took over. He was a HERO. Nobody would ever call him just a mutt again!

Dinner being completed the president turned the meeting over to Lion Guy Cousins, chairman of the Public Speaking Committee, who called on Lion G. K. Lechasseur to introduce the committee of judges, comprising Mr.

Next on the list will be the Canadian Ingersoll Rand and both sides are expected to start arguing their case in two weeks. . . Rumours have it that a new brokerage firm may open in Sherbrooke. . . Developments are expected soon. . . The Royal 22nd Band played to a full house at the University of Sherbrooke Auditorium Thursday night. . . There was not a seat left in the house by 8.45 and acoustics were ideal for that type of a concert.

St. John Hospital In Jerusalem Has Lengthy History

In the Old City of Jerusalem today exists one of the most historic hospitals in the world. Since its foundation in the third century, almost 1,700 years ago, it has been moved hither and yon in the Old City, after changing its name and administration, but never the spirit of healing which was its foundation.

During the latter part of its lifetime it has been known as the "St. John Ophthalmic Hospital of Jerusalem" and is now under the administration of the St. John Ambulance Association.

The obscure origin of the hospital has its roots in third century courtesy and hospitality which dictated that no pilgrim or traveller could be turned away from the existing Monastery and Manor House without first being given a meal and a night's rest. It seems that there were many travellers and wanderers in those days and the Manor House was often filled to overflowing. So it was decided to set up an annex or hospice, as it was then known, to provide for these people. The hospice was also used as a centre for Christian pilgrimage.

Some time early in the 9th century, a Latin hospital was established in Jerusalem by Charlemagne, then Emperor of the Holy Roman Empire, only to be destroyed in 1010 by a fanatical Egyptian Caliph. Nothing daunted, however, it rose up again this time when the site was bought by a group of Italian merchants and a hospice for pilgrims erected there. It was subsequently dedicated to St. John the Baptist and this is probably the point where the foundations for the Order of St. John were laid.

From that time on the hospital and its keepers sat in the midst of history. Every year of strife raged around them in the centuries that followed but the greatest blow was yet to come in the 13th century when the Christians were driven out of Palestine. From then on until the 19th century the history of the hospital is rather obscure. However, it vaulted into the foreground again when St. John Ambulance took over the maintenance of what it called the St. John Ophthalmic Hospital at Jerusalem in 1883.

The hospital was mainly for the treatment of Ophthalmia and other eye diseases which are so common in countries where the combination of dust and sun is harmful to the eyes. The original small building was repeatedly enlarged in the ensuing years and in 1933 an annex for acute conjunctivitis cases was opened. In 1946 a new block to house paying patients was built plus an X-ray and physical therapy department.

Another staggering blow was awaiting the hospital however, and two years later strife between the Israeli and Arab nations brought the turmoil right into the Holy City. The hospital building was seized and turned into a refugee post for registration but the equipment was able to be moved from the outer city into the old part of Jerusalem and the hospital set up in what is known as "Watsonpasha House" and is still flourishing there today.

From the third century to the 20th, this hospital has existed and is continuing to exist, carrying on the healing and protective aims of the Order of St. John, now the St. John Ambulance Association.

MRS. ESTHER ARBERY, of St. Elie d'Orford, who will be ninety-two tomorrow. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Mrs. Esther Arbery, Of St. Elie, To Observe 92nd Anniversary Sunday

A real pioneer of the Sherbrooke-St. Elie d'Orford district, Mrs. Esther Arbery, of St. Elie, will celebrate her 92nd birthday tomorrow. To this woman it was nothing in her younger days to get up day after day, go out in the forest surrounding her home, and help her father clear the land for farming. She even remembers helping her husband do the same thing a few years later. So, in her case, the secret of old age has obviously been plenty of hard work.

Mrs. Arbery, who now lives with her daughter, Mrs. John Billing, in St. Elie, remembers well the days when St. Elie was a pretty rugged settlement. Many are the times she recalls hiking the eight miles between her home and Sherbrooke, over a roughly cut road, to bring a few eggs or farm produce to sell for the meagre amount it brought at the Sherbrooke market.

This nonagenarian, although she is not a native of St. Elie, considers herself as much, for she moved there with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Gautrey, eighty-three years ago when they came to Canada from Cottingham, England, near Cambridge. Only nine years old at the time, Mrs. Arbery was the oldest in the family and she and her three sisters and later, her three younger brothers, worked hard and long with their father to settle his farmland. All her immediate family has predeceased Mrs. Arbery, except for her younger sister, Mrs. Sarah Ross, herself over seventy, who resides in Vancouver.

Before she was married Esther Gautrey worked at the farm of James Doherty. By a strange coincidence, this very same farm is now owned by her son-in-law with whom she lives. Recalling her younger days, Mrs. Arbery proudly remembers the many times she rocked the late Josephine Doherty Codere, well-known Sherbrooke musician, when she was only a few months old.

At 16 she married Arthur T. Arbery, who had also come from England when he was only 11. For a time her husband was a miner and worked at different mines in the Eastern Townships, finally settling down on a farm where the couple and their family lived until he died 18 years ago, at the age of 78.

Mr. and Mrs. Arbery had four children, three of whom are still living: Her daughter, Mrs. Billing, and two sons, William, of St. Elie, and Arthur, of Sherbrooke. Nathan, a third son, was killed in Three Rivers several years ago. Along with these children Mrs. Arbery also has a host of grandchildren.

Mrs. Arbery, who is quite deaf, enjoys fairly good health. Only recently, the old lady has started losing her eyesight, and now, with not too much to occupy her time, she may sit back and enjoy a deserving rest, after having been so active for many years.

Up until two years ago, the St. Elie woman was an ardent gardener. And now, she can hardly wait for spring when she can get out outside among the flowers. She goes up and down the stairs unassisted and loves to sit down and talk to an eager ear about the old days.

One of her favorite stories is to tell about the joy she and her brothers and sisters used to receive out of their father giving them a special treat by making forks out of branches of a tree.

Expecting her to need several hours of rest a day, we asked her daughter what time Mrs. Arbery went to bed at night. Laughing, she stated although she is up and about by nine in the morning she "would sit up all night and talk, if we'd sit with her."

And, for her birthday tomorrow, is there any special occasion planned? Yes, Mrs. Arbery will spend her usual quiet day, only she will have all her family to spend it with her, and to the oldest lady in St. Elie, that is a real pleasure.

Trombone Group To Appear With Rand Choristers

The Rand Male Chorus, one of Sherbrooke's most popular musical organizations, will make its first appearance of the 1955 spring season at the Plymouth Church Hall on Tuesday evening, March 15. ## A Hearty Thank-You Co-Operation Of Readers Aided Annual Preparation

When the Sherbrooke Daily Record made an appeal several weeks ago for old photographs to be used in today's annual review we were certain that there must be many such reminders of the early days in the district, but we were unprepared for the veritable landslide which resulted from our appeal.

Some of you people responded with single much-prized photographs; others turned them in by tens and a few sent us complete albums containing literally hundreds of pictures. In many cases, these were accompanied by information that permitted us to compile complete stories about the person or the scene shown, something which we hope will add materially to your enjoyment reading this anniversary number.

The only regretful feature of this undertaking is that the number of photographs received so far exceeded our expectations that we were unable to use all the fine shots sent us by our readers and to you whose entries we could not find room for, we offer our humble apologies, accompanied by our sincere thanks for the kind interest you displayed.

To the following who contributed pictures, we extend our heartfelt thanks for your assistance and we assure you that the pictures have been well cared for and will be returned to you within the next few days:

"A CHIEL TAKIN' NOTES"

By WRIGHT W. GIBSON, M.A.
Superintendent of Protestant Schools, Sherbrooke, Que.

(This article was prepared by the author, who is on leave of absence and attending Edinburgh University, for publication in the School Board, official organ of the Quebec Association of Protestant School Boards. It is published here with permission of that magazine.)

At the invitation of your President I am attempting to share with your readers some of my observations and impressions while on leave of absence in Scotland. When I arrived in the country the Scots were busy celebrating Hogmanay, but those festivities soon came to an end because it is the nature of these people to practice the art of restraint in most of the things they do.

The purpose of my visit to Edinburgh, "The Athens of the North", is to take courses in Education at the University, and to visit the various types of schools. I was informed that Moray House, situated on the Royal Mile between Edinburgh Castle and the Palace of Holyroodhouse, would be the centre of my scholastic activities. The National Committee for the Training of Teachers controls four Training Centres in Scotland. These centres are at Edinburgh, Dundee, Glasgow, and Aberdeen where they maintain a close connection with the Universities of Edinburgh, St. Andrews, Glasgow, and Aberdeen respectively. Moray House, the Training Centre at Edinburgh, has an instructional staff that is outstanding, and I am convinced that it is making a distinct contribution to the educational and cultural life of this country. There is a warm and friendly atmosphere about the place that makes a stranger feel at once that he is among friends.

One of my first interests has been to visit the University Libraries, and to use their excellent facilities to gain a better understanding of the developments that have been taking place here in the field of Education. Of the ideas which are influencing educational practice, the most important to-day is undoubtedly the demand of equality in every sphere of life, social, economic, and cultural. It shows itself in the trend towards the welfare state, and in the movement in education which attempts to educate all the children of all the people.

Many of the educational leaders in Scotland question whether this is an attainable ideal, and

The Record's Annual Review

Progress is like time itself — it never stops. The Record is now entering its 59th year of publication and during the past year has brought to its readers a story of progress. Today the Record takes pleasure in presenting that whole story in one annual review, devoted to the whole, to the Eastern Townships.

This edition summarizes the highlights of agricultural, commercial and industrial development in the Eastern Townships' forward march.

Step by step, reports, information and pictures have run the gauntlet of the city desk and only that of highest merit has reached the review of well over 100 pages.

This edition will likely take you into your own history, and renew strong ties with many a vivid memory. But even the newcomer to the Eastern Townships will find comfort in these pages which bring him the story of his surroundings.

For the Eastern Townships offer not only a wealth of scenic beauty and variety. Behind every new power project or factory there lies a story which characterizes a spirit of co-operation and pride of community in every country.

Today we send on its way another outward expression of this spirit of co-operation and of fraternal ties which bind together the people of the Eastern Townships.

These days we prefer to look ahead rather than dwell gloomily on the past, but it is natural and pleasurable to glance back into what has gone.

The Eastern Townships have changed in the last few decades, and will go on changing. The people who made the changes yesterday surely differ from those we know today, and their life is new in many ways.

The Record, while thanking its contributors, advertisers and subscribers for making this event possible, is most proud to bring these people of both the old and the new life together. Meet them all in our 58th Annual Review!

When The Consumer Hits Back

One of the prize examples of the folly of seeking to maintain the price of a product at an unreasonable level by artificial means is offered by the recent slashing reductions in the price of coffee, which resulted from the determination of the consumers not to be gouged by a quasi-monopoly.

When coffee rose to record prices about a year ago, housewives in the United States, Canada and elsewhere simply stopped buying it. The result was that in 1954, Brazil's exports of coffee fell to the lowest level in forty-five years — with the exception of four "war" years i.e. 1917, 1918, 1942 and 1943.

Statistics show that Brazil shipped 15.8 million bags of coffee, weighing 182 pounds each, in 1952, 15.5 million bags in 1953, and 10.9 million bags in 1954. The greater part of this drop was accounted for by sales to the United States, whose 1954 coffee imports were 17 per cent below those of 1953.

Faced with this sharp reduction in world consumption, the Brazilian government, to save its own skin, had to reduce export prices, with the result that in the United States and Canada prices are only slightly higher than they were in August, 1953. And with Brazil carrying over about nine million bags of coffee from the 1954-55 crop, further price reductions in North America may well be expected.

Spring Rackets

A spring cartoon reminds us that seeding time is not far away. Colorful seed catalogues will be arriving in countless Canadian homes this month. But it reminds us too of the many racketeers whose business blooms in spring.

The Better Business Bureau cautions us about the fellow who comes to the door with a verbal barrage about how wonderful his plants are. A chance, according to him, which you just can't afford to miss. There's a host of sharpsters selling anything from lettuce seeds to poplar trees.

Nevertheless, there are also many legitimate salesmen on the beat offering value for the money from reliable firms. These salesmen are actually doing the busy householder a great service and their job is hampered by those meanest of all wretches, the so-called seed "experts."

It's easy to distinguish the rabble from reputable if one merely takes the time. No legitimate salesman will hesitate to produce credentials. He is even more anxious than the householder to do away with the tricksters. Nobody should stop for a moment to ask him for identification. If he's on the level, he won't mind.

Seaway Attracts Workers

Many Villages Get 'Seaway Fever'

Editor's Note: On a tour of the St. Lawrence seaway route, a Canadian Press reporter went into New York state to sample sentiment on the United States side of the project. This story, last of a series, is from the typical seaway community of Massena, N.Y.

By JOHN LEBLANC
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Massena, N.Y.—This town isn't even on the St. Lawrence river but it's caught seaway fever.

After 50 years of waiting for the St. Lawrence seaway, Massena's 17,000 people still find it hard to believe that the big ditch is actually getting started, but they're throwing their collective hat into the air.

A mile inland from the seaway area along the river, Massena looks forward to stretching its corporate limits down to the river-side and becoming a port. It sees unlimited and cheap power for the aluminum plant that supports the community. It is getting an immediate inflow of new residents to work on the $400,000,000 United States part of the navigation-power project close at hand.

That job is well under way. Just upriver from Massena, crews of the New York State Power Authority have been pushing out from shore a series of caissons that eventually will halt the flow of the river to permit construction of the power dam. That part of the work will cost New York $300,000,000.

Opposite Massena and stretching up and down river from it will be a 10-mile-long waterway capable of accommodating big ocean ships. That will cost around $100,000,000.

As the only sizable community in upstate New York smack against the development, Massena is beginning to bulge as workers pile in.

Community services such as hospitals and sewage are getting strained. Property is getting scarce. Civic authorities are looking for more territory in which to expand.

While they battle with the headaches of a municipal planning program, the citizenry keeps whooping it up for the big development. Stickers and posters plugging "Seaway Village" appear on car windshields. People talk about it in bars and restaurants. The semi-weekly Massena Observer gives over two-thirds of its front page to covering minute aspects of construction and other activities.

Electricity is the big requirement for the aluminum plant that provides a $25,000,000-a-year payroll for 6,500 workers. Too, the seaway will allow ocean ships carrying the raw material—bauxite—to unload at Massena's front door.
"We're hustling around doing a selling job on new industries also," Mayor Stowell P. Fournia said.

About the only ones not happy about it all, the mayor said, are oldsters living on fixed incomes such as pensions.

"They see their taxes going up as the result of the municipal improvements we'll have to make," added the mayor, "but I suppose it's inevitable. We've got to be ready for the seaway."

To the east of Massena, along the stretch of the 40-mile power pool that will be dammed in, a scattering of farmers and other rural residents will be flooded out of their homes. But the area is thinly settled, and the cost won't be anywhere near the $85,000,000 or $70,000,000 involved in relocating communities and communication and transport facilities on the Canadian side of the artificial lake.

A Strange Combination!

By Rev. B. S. Murray, M.A.

When I told my friend that I had chosen to discuss Shoes and Peace this week, he appeared surprised and pausing, added: "That's a strange twosome," meaning, of course, a strange combination. But is it? Well, we shall see.

Shoes
First of all, let us consider shoes. When St. Paul in discussing the Christian armour referred to shoes (Eph. 6:15), he knew their value from his experiences walking through the rough Roman roads on his three famous missionary journeys. Here then was one who wore God's shoes from the beginning of his ministry to the end discussing their importance.

Now those who conduct military campaigns, expeditions, surveys and what not, with high mountains, low plains, difficult terrain, burning deserts and ice-floes as their locale, know the value of the right kind of shoes. If perchance you happened to see the film titled The Late Company B, in which one of the men in the company lost his life in combat because he failed to take care of his shoes, you know what I mean.

Over the sea of memory, the mind of Paul the Dauntless travelled whenever he saw the soldier who guarded him put on his girdle, breastplate and those shoes! . . . I suspect he longed to be free again as he once was to walk here, there, anywhere for Christ and His Cause. But now in prison he had no alternative but muse on shoes; perhaps immortalize them in words!

Historians inform us that first century Roman soldiers wore sandals which fastened and gripped wherever they went. They did not slip or slide but had a firm foothold! With such shoes they were always prepared, ready for any conflict, any march or climb, to run, or simply hold their ground. In a word, they were "prepared!"

Today, to youth comes the clarion call to prepare themselves by study, followed by the serious application of those rules agreed upon for the successful playing of the Game of Life. Lives of the great—and near-great—with a philosophy based on "As a man thinketh, so is he," demonstrate that the better we plan—the better we prepare—the more we achieve. So, think your way through! Be prepared, and adjusting yourself to any new situation, continue on steadfast, immovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord!

Such worthily wear the shoes of God and with patience, courage, and in a partnership with the Almighty, wrest, from life, victory!

The Shoes of the Gospel

of Peace
But peace! "What connection does peace have with shoes?" ask you? Well, didn't St. Paul in exhorting the Ephesians to have their feet shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace (Eph. 6:15), thereby imply that only as men and women have peace in their hearts can they have stability. Peace must be within—the result of keeping one's mind and heart centred on God (Is. 26:3).

So keep on thinking and working for Peace! If, at times, you become discouraged, remember history assures us that when ordinary people—such as you and I—desire anything strongly enough and plan accordingly for it, they eventually get it. And when millions such as we join the Peace Crusade, then will the song of the angels, "Peace on earth good will to men," become a reality o'er all the earth.

Armed with such a dream, on to the City of God we walk, aware, at the same time that anxiety, worry, feverishness, restlessness, the jitters—all these things leave man in a barefoot condition, unable to go out into the world and help. Such individuals are not wearing the right kind of shoes. They are not shod with the preparation of the gospel of peace!

From their unfortunate experience, let us, as wise men, determine to begin equipping ourselves with shoes of peace here on earth if we are "going to walk all over God's heaven"—some day!

Another Combination
For our guidance and essential instruction, we have the Holy Bible—the Divine Word—which, when rightly understood, received, and applied, gives us a sure foothold all the while preparing us for any attack Satan may launch against us. To be forewarned is to be forearmed!

So with shoes, suitable and adequate, let us plant them in His steps, and strengthened by divine grace, continue on to Journey's End!

As we walk we shall talk with that Companion Who is the Way, the Truth and the Life, and getting to know Him, and His will, dedicate ourselves to the elimination of such negative forces as hate, greed, pride, prejudice and all uncharitableness which disturb our peace.

Prayer, according to this view, then, is a disinfectant and a preventative, purifying the air as it destroys contagion.

And do Thou, O Church of the Living Christ, teach thy spiritual children to pray to a loving heavenly Father who both hears and answers prayer. Lure them to this great spiritual experience of speaking words in God's ear—words that live as long as His ears are open to holy pleas and His heart alive to holy things.

O Christ, Thyself the path of prayer hast trod; teach us to pray—well!

Prayer and the Bible are an unbeatable combination; nothing strange about them! Shoes and Peace; surely you will not, after this meditation, regard them as a strange combination!

Italy's Problem

(Newsweek Magazine)

Italy's economy still poses a postwar paradox. Gross national product and industrial output rose last year (4 percent and 9.7 percent respectively). Wages went up 3.5 percent. The cost of living held steady. The nation expects to make further gains this year, though perhaps at a somewhat slower rate.

At the same time, the country's chronic unemployment problem fails to improve — 2 millions jobless and an equal number only partially employed. And there is a recurring trade deficit due to the need for importing most raw materials.

Businessmen are pinning some long-term hopes on the Vanoni plan. This is an ambitious ten-year program that aims to create 4 million new jobs, boost import 43 per cent and export 60 per cent, raise gross national products 5 per cent a year, and launch some huge public-works projects.

Canada's Famous Newsmen

T. H. Preston

Thomas Hiram Preston, one of the outstanding Canadian editors and publishers of his time, was a native of Mount Vernon, Indiana, son of Rev. James Preston, a Methodist clergyman of English birth, and Emmeline Phelps, whose forebears were of Brant County.

He was educated in the public and high schools of Ontario and became a printer's apprentice with The Woodstock Sentinel, completing his term with The Stratford Beacon. After working on several large newspapers in the United States, Mr. Preston returned to Canada and The Ottawa Free Press in 1874 and became a member of the Press Gallery of the House of Commons.

In 1881, at the age of 28, he became night editor of The Toronto Globe and then went to the West as managing director of The Winnipeg Sun, a position he held from 1882 to 1890. In the latter year he became the proprietor and editor of The Brandon Expositor which, by the time of his death on November 7, 1925, he had developed into a leading publication in the Canadian "small daily" field.

Mr. Preston's interest in community, provincial and national affairs was wide and sincere. He was elected to the Ontario Legislative Assembly as Liberal member for South Brant in 1899 and was re-elected in 1902 and 1904. In 1911 he represented the press of Canada at the Durbar in Delhi, India. He was a member of the Ontario Parole Board from its inception in 1910 up to the time of his death and was for many years its vice-chairman. He was also actively associated with various local organizations, including the General Hospital Board and Board of Trade.

Always zealous in promoting better news coverage, he was president of the Press Association of Manitoba and of the Canadian Press Association, forerunner of the present Canadian Press, 1894-95, and a director of The Canadian Press from 1920 to 1925.

It was while managing director of The Sun in Winnipeg that he achieved one of his greatest newspaper triumphs. The Sun was an evening paper. Its opposition, The Free Press, a morning publication, which boasted rather blantly in a slogan that if one did not read it in the Free Press, it hadn't happened. The Riel Rebellion was on. The year was 1885. A decisive battle was anticipated at Batoche. Mr. Preston, with characteristic enterprise, quietly made an arrangement with the telegraph operator at that place, under which the operator was to wire news of the outcome of the battle to Mr. Preston immediately the engagement was over. All went according to plan. Mr. Preston got the exclusive message—and printed it in a special morning edition or "extra" of The Sun, thereby scoring a notable "beat."

His son, W. B. Preston, succeeded him as managing director of The Expositor and his grandsons, John C. Preston and Peter M. Preston are now actively at the head of the business, John C. Preston being publisher.

PROBLEM HERE ISN'T IN THE BIDDING

There was no problem in the bidding of today's hand. South had a book opening bid of one no-trump, with 17 points in high cards (the bid shows 16 to 18 points), balanced distribution and stoppers in at least three of the four suits. North had a book raise to three no-trump, since he had 10 points in high cards with balanced distribution.

The only problem came in the play of the cards. Declarer could count seven tricks in top cards and thought that he was going to need the diamond finesse sooner or later. Hence South won the first trick in dummy with the queen of hearts and tried the diamond finesse at once.

West won with the king of diamonds and thought that his partner's eight of diamonds told a significant story. He therefore returned a diamond, and South was in trouble.

South wriggled and squirmed, but there was no way to escape. The defenders were bound to get two spades and three diamonds, and declarer was down one.

There was no need to suffer this fate. The right line of play is to win the first trick with the queen of hearts and lead a low spade from the dummy.

If East is alert enough to hop up with the ace of spades (which most defenders would fail to do), and to return a diamond, South must put up the ace of diamonds. South then leads another spade.

As the cards lie, West must win the second spade, and South is safe from another diamond lead. If East held both of the top spades, he could lead a second diamond and then—but only then—South would have to risk plying the queen of diamonds. In short, South takes a risk in diamonds only as a last desperate resort, not as a voluntary first play.

By the recommended line of play South sets up two spades. Those, together with his seven tricks in top cards, give South his game contract.

BISHOP'S BULLETIN BOARD

THE POLITICAL SHUFFLE—A second nomination meeting held in the Old Dining Hall on Tuesday has set off another—and final—round of student activity on the campus political scene, as nominations were posted for those vacancies still remaining on the Student's Executive Council after the elections of a week ago. Three candidates swept in to office on acclamations. Stu Clarke, who was elected last week as the Manager of Minor Athletics, was acclaimed vice-president of Athletics; John Brierley is new president of the university Dramatic Society, and Jane Bartlett is the new vice-president of the Women's Society. For the position of President of Athletics, two candidates are in the running—Lewis Abbott, hockey manager of this season, and Bob McHarg. The contest for president of the Literary and Debating Society is a three-way one among Ruth Townsend, Eric Clarke and Paul Gibson, while Rupert Buchanan and Elizabeth Home are campaigning for the position of president of Publications. Jim Ferrabee and John Matthews are contesting the position of president of Second Year; Di Young, Sue Peppall and Pat Fidoux, Second Year Representative on the Women's Society; and Pauline Reed, Alice Wickenden and Louise Dupont, secretary-treasurer of the Women's Society. Election day is Thursday, March 17, and you can be sure, all the Irish candidates are expecting a shoo-in.

POLITICAL CHAFF—Some rather elaborate election stunts usually appear on the campus around this time. Scores of handbills, brilliant posters, personalized match boxes, stylized "personal" letters, and stickers. . . all of this costs a lot of money, which must be coming out of somebody's pocket. . . losers must feel deflated in more ways than one.

ON THE SPORTS SCENE—Hockey made its farewell appearance of the season in Montreal last week-end when the hockey Galtors took on Sir George Williams College at the Verdun auditorium in the last Ottawa-St. Lawrence Valley Conference contest of the season. . . the Purple and White pucksters tried hard to end the season in a blaze of glory, and defeat the all-enders, but Sir George fought hard to pull out of a 4-4 tie. . . they picked up their only point of the year in this tilt. . . goal getters for the Purple and White were led by Blair Whittemore who fired two markers, while Dexter Jolly and Nick Powell each fired a single. . . Sir George, a scrappy team who managed to match the bad condition of the Galtors, took a 2-1 lead at the end of the first period, but the Purple and White team tied it up 2-2 at the end of the middle frame. . . Sir George came back to take a 3-2 lead in the third period, then Bishop's tied it up, and a few minutes forged ahead 4-3, only to have the Georgians tie it all up with about three minutes left in the game. . . five minute overtime period solved nothing. . .

In the final analysis, this year's squad did better in the standing than did last year's, finishing in fourth place with a total of three points in the six team loop. . . Bishop's played a total of five games, won one, and tied one. . . they scored a total of 19 goals, two better than last year's goal, which scored 17, and had a total of 42 scored against them, two worse than last year's team who were scored on a total of 40 times in six games. . .

MINOR SLANTS—Women's basketball is now to the fore at Bishop's, as the men call it quits for this season. . . statistics straight from Sherbrooke House League headquarters show that Bishop's has played fewer games than any of the other teams—only four—and has two more left to play to complete the schedule. . . currently riding the top of the House League heap are the Sherbrooke Hospital Nurses who have played their full quota of six games, won five, and dropped only one for a total of ten points, four ahead of second place Bishop's. . . Tartans follow in third place with four points on two wins and three losses, while the lowly Y.W.C.A. Residents have not won a contest in five starts. . . if Bishop's wins the next two games against Y.W.C.A. and the Tartans, they will tie the Nurses for top spot in the league. . . playoffs are planned as soon as the regular schedule is finished, with the first and third teams playing off, and the second and last teams. Bishop's has scored the most points per game in the schedule so far, popping in a total of 168 points in four games, forty-two on an average per contest. . . The Nurses have scored an even 200 points, better than 33 a game. . . On the intra-mural scene, basketball is the coming sport, and from the way things are starting off, it appears that the Yellows and the Blues are the two teams who will battle it out for top positions. . . if some of the better players start showing up for games for the Reds and the Greens, however, things could get quite interesting. . .

CAMPUS CAPERS—The dread spectre of final exams is rearing its ugly head again this year, as the exam time-tables go up on all bulletin boards all over the campus. . . writing will begin on Monday, May 16, and will end on Saturday, May 28. . . Convocation this year is on Friday, June 10. . . Members of the graduating class of this year met on Wednesday to elect five or their number to the Golden Mitre Society, an elected society of those graduating students, who in the opinion of their classmates, have contributed the most to Bishop's during their years at the university. . . announcement of the results of the election will be made at the annual Awards Banquet to be held at the end of April. . . president of Athletics Peter Morand announced at the Student's Association meeting held on Wednesday that come next fall, the Bishop's gridiron will be graced by long-sought bleachers, which will seat approximately 325 spectators. . . Playwrights are blossoming like spring flowers on the campus these days. . . the Dramatics Society will hold their annual Drama Night in the near future, and many of the aspiring writers of the university are trying their hand at writing a play to be put on during this evening. . .

CLUBS AND SOCIETIES—Glee Club sang themselves hoarse on Wednesday night in rehearsal for the recording session which they will make on Monday. . . watch for announcement of the coming Glee Club concert. . . Film Society last night presented Alec Guinness and "The Man in the White Suit". . . Photography Club to meet on Monday to hold election of new officers, and watch a movie on photographic lenses. . .

'A CHIEL TAKIN'

how far such accords with the Scottish educational tradition. Scotland has always accepted the ideas that ability and successful effort should be the deciding factors in determining the kind of education that a pupil should receive. This strong academic tradition has been an important factor in developing the Scottish belief in discipline, hard work, and thoroughness. Many teachers are finding it extremely difficult to adjust themselves to this equalizing trend, and they seem to be quite convinced that it will bring about a disastrous drop in academic standards that have long been a distinctive feature of Scottish education.

It has been the policy of the National System of Education to attempt to provide for all children from five to fifteen an education suited to their age, ability, and aptitude. It also makes suitable educational provision both general and vocational for young people over school age, and for the adult population in so far as they choose to avail themselves of it.

The opportunity which has been extended to me to visit many Scottish schools has been a most interesting and valued experience. Headmasters and members of their staffs have submitted with patience and goodwill to a barrage of questions which I have asked on almost every aspect of education, and they have assisted me in many ways in finding information which has been helpful in my attempt to gain a better understanding of their educational system.

I am told that Scotland has a limited number of NURSERY SCHOOLS for children between two and five years of age. Their aim is stated as follows: "to provide for the little child and educative environment, wherein he may actively pursue the natural interests appropriate to his age, and where he may receive nurture calculated to foster the healthy growth of his body, mind and spirit."

The PRIMARY SCHOOLS, which correspond to the Elementary Schools in Quebec, are attended by children from the age of five to about twelve, the primary course extending to seven years. There is a regulation that the number of pupils that may be enrolled in one class room is 45. The largest that I have seen in any class room is 41. Both Individual and Group Methods are employed. When it can possibly be arranged pupils who require special instruction because of limited ability or because of other factors are placed in an Adjustment Class, where there is a teacher specially trained for this type of work. Education authorities are required to ascertain which children because of physical or mental handicap, need special educational treatment, and to provide this treatment in special schools or classes.

TRENHOLMVILLE CHURCH—One of the oldest churches of the Eastern Townships is this structure at Trenholmvilleville now used by the United Church. It was started in 1840 and completed in 1842.

Much is being done in the cities for the handicapped children, but I am told that there is need for much more to be done in the rural areas.

In the matter of promotion from the Primary to the Secondary School there is very little retardation. The following factors are taken into consideration when it is being determined whether a pupil shall be promoted to a Junior or to a Senior Secondary School: (1) the teacher's estimate of the pupil's ability; (2) the results of Intelligence Tests; (3) the results of Attainment Tests in English and Arithmetic. At present, there is much controversy over here with reference to the reliability of intelligence testing, and the press is giving wide publicity to the different points of view.

There are two categories of SECONDARY SCHOOLS (High Schools). The Junior Secondary Schools offer General Courses extending for three years for pupils who plan to leave school at the age of fifteen when compulsory education ends. The Senior Secondary Schools offer courses of five or even six years for pupils who plan to remain at school until they reach the age of seventeen or eighteen. The courses in each type of school are designed "to provide a sound general education, but they are differentiated in character to suit the varying needs and abilities of the pupils, and they include academic, commercial, technical, domestic, and agricultural courses." I have noted that while some schools are solely junior secondary and some are solely senior secondary, there are also schools of the "comprehensive" type, in which courses of every kind, both general and academic, are provided. They are sometimes referred to as "omnibus schools".

The pupils who leave school at the age of fifteen do not receive a Certificate, but they are given a School Leaving Record which indicates the subjects they have taken, and the progress which they have made in these subjects. This Record or Statement gives information regarding their participation in the various school activities, and the school's estimate of them with reference to the qualities of citizenship. On completion of a five or six year course in a Senior Secondary School pupils may qualify for the Scottish Leaving Certificate which is awarded by the Scottish Department of Education. There is a strong feeling being expressed that changes in the requirements for the Leaving Certificate should be made to meet the needs of pupils who leave school before completing the course that would prepare them for University Entrance. One proposal is that a distinctive certificate should be introduced testifying to a satisfactory general education and quite divorced from University entrance requirements. The examination would be on a national basis, and would comprise not only academic, but commercial, technical, and other practical sub-

FRENCH SEEK INCREASE

The French government has plans for new industrial towns in northeast France to be built entirely of steel.

The move towards steel gained added impetus last September when the Orleansville earthquake struck in Algeria. When the dust had cleared away, observers noticed that the only buildings still standing were those of steel skeletons. Those with reinforced concrete skeletons had collapsed along with those of brick and wood.

Old-Fashioned Stoves In Magog Are Masterpieces Of Art As Well As Utility

(By CAROL WITTY)

It is almost impossible to believe that at one time the old-fashioned wood burning stove was "a thing of beauty and a joy forever," occupying the place of honor in the Canadian home. Since those days however, the swift moving age of chrome and enamel, gas and electricity, has out dated these one time beauties in favor of more useful pieces of equipment, and the place of honor in the modern home has been usurped by the TV set.

Nevertheless there are still a few relics of the "stove art age" in existence about the Townships. Three of them can be found in Magog. These three, which are photographed on this page, illustrate the three predominant types of stoves which decorated the artistic home in the early days of Canadian history. For the first owners these pieces were indeed something to be proud of and they were considered pieces of art, like treasured old masters, rather than heating facilities.

The largest and most elaborate of the three types is now in the possession of Luc Cabana of 69 Pine street, Magog, and he is the fourth generation of his family to possess it.

The shiny black hunk of metal measures about the same height as the average man. It is ebony black in color and gleams with constant polishing and good care. It is a wood-burning effort and the logs are put in the bottom cupboard. If cooking is desired the fancy pot-like affairs can be removed to put pans over the flames. The four cylinders act as chimneys carrying the smoke away.

This stove is the exact sister of one which is in Henry Ford's museum in Chicago and dates back at least 150 years.

According to trade markings on the stove it is a Morrison and Manning product and is known as a "nonpareil parlor stove." It was first sold by the Greensland Furnace Co. in Troy, Vt., to a minister in Lennoxville whose name is not known. It was then sold to the present owner's great-great-uncle, Francis Carr of Compton, who later gave it to his son, Guy Carr, also of Compton. From there it went to Mr. Carr's nephew, Dr. E. C. Cabana, now living in Magog and he recently gave it to his son, Luc Cabana.

The two other antiques pictured here include the square cabinet like stove and the smaller fancier model, both of which are over 100 years old and were brought to Magog by one of the community's earliest settlers, the Merrys.

The former model was bought at Three Rivers and brought to Magog by sled covering the 100 miles in mid-winter weather. The first owner was Ralph Merry and it has remained in the Merry home in Magog ever since. However the house is now owned by Ernest Fields who reports that the stove has been in use until this year when it was replaced with a fire place. It is still in excellent condition and its polished jet black appearance is remarkable considering the century of use it has had.

The smaller but more elaborate model which remains in the same home with its contemporary has also been in use until recent years. It is approximately two and a half feet high and is made of beautifully cast iron with a very ornamental design.

After seeing these stoves it's no wonder they were precious treasures to their early owners. In those days central heating was unknown as the blacksmiths did their best to beautify the heating elements which were needed to keep each room

Montreal Woman Holds Dual Job At University

Montreal — Dr. Muriel Roscoe has trained herself not to carry problems between her two important posts at McGill University — as dean of women and professor of botany.

"When I'm at my desk, I think only in terms of the problems of women students. But put me in a lab and I think only as a botanist" she says. As dean of women — the official title is warden of Royal Victoria College — Dr. Roscoe has supervision over all the academic activities of the co-eds as well as being responsible for the good morale of the college.

She claims she has seldom helped her student solve their personal problems. Rather she has concentrated on creating an atmosphere at the college which will help young girls mature and be able to deal with their own troubles.

The 57-year-old woman works in a spacious office in the college, the same building which houses her apartment.

"I have no life outside the college. My family is 300 girls who are in my charge while they are being educated."

On the wall of her office is a group of pictures taken at Buckingham Palace in 1952 when Queen Elizabeth, now the Queen Mother, received Dr. Roscoe and 50 Canadian schoolgirls whose trip was sponsored by Industrialist Garfield Weston.

Cherly Lappman spent the past week-end in Farnham. Mrs. Neil Baker accompanied her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Martin, of Pigeon Hill, to Farnham.

"That was the highlight of my four trips abroad," the dean said. "The Queen was fully aware of the details of our trip and was highly interested in the project."

She visited Europe on the three other occasions to attend International Botanical Congresses.

Dr. Roscoe, who works several hours a day in the laboratory, is particularly interested in the reproduction of plant cells and has written several papers on the subject.

She holds five degrees — bachelor of arts from Acadia University, master and doctor

Mrs. Fred Coak attended a meeting of the Bi-monthly Bridge Club, at Bedford.

Friends here were sorry to learn that Mrs. Jess, Sr., who spent the winter in Montreal, has been a patient for a short time in the Sweetzburg Hospital.

Mr. Thomas McGovern has recently been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Lampman attended an agricultural exhibit at the "Show Mart," in Montreal.

of philosophy degrees from Radcliffe College, and two honorary degrees, doctor of science from Acadia and doctor of laws from Queen's.

She has found in her years of administrative work that while men and women have two different viewpoints, they supplement rather than oppose each other. "I'm neither a feminist nor a suffragette."

Right now, Dr. Roscoe is working on plans for the next International Botanical Congress to be held in Montreal in 1959.

SWEETSBURG—

Mrs. Owen McLaughlin spent the week-end at Sutton, as guest of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Miller.

Snyder, Mr. Howard Hastings and other relatives went in every day to visit him. Mr. Snyder was severely injured in a motor accident at West Brome on March 4.

Master Brian Frizzle, year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Dana Frizzle, of Scotstown, underwent surgery at the B.M.P.M. Hospital.

Miss Eva Symons, of Montreal, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. J. H. McClery.

Mrs. Clayton Page, and Mrs. Thurston Spicer, and Mrs. Gladys Garland were in Montreal to see an eye specialist.

Idea Helped Farmer To Recoup Lost Fortune

Nobleford, Alta.— When Charles Sherwood Noble lost a farming empire estimated worth $2,500,000 in 1922, he started to build a new one as farmer, inventor and manufacturer.

Noble, now 81, invented a cultivator blade and began manufacturing in this district 20 miles northwest of Lethbridge. In 1950 he built a shop worth $200,000 and in the last three years production has touched almost $1,000,000 a year.

He came into Alberta in 1902 from North Dakota, walking behind a plow pulled by four oxen to break homestead land at Claresholm. He went into the implement business and then real estate, and by 1920 he was the landlord of 60 sections, running 61 binders and 600 horses and mules.

Drought struck in 1922 and the enterprise failed. Foreclosure came and the holdings went for $650,000.

In the parched 1930s high winds swept into great black clouds the topsoil from which the fibre had gone.

Strip farming helped a little, but Noble believed there was a need for tillage equipment that would leave all the stubble and crop residue on the surface, sufficiently anchored so it would not blow away.

In 1935, while visiting California, he saw an implement used in the sugar beet field. It was a short, flat blade which undercut beets in the ground without knocking down the growth above the surface. He started experimenting with a cultivator along that line.

It was crude. Essentially it was a long, straight blade like a road grader, attached by a standard at warm. That old art which died with the advent of the modern era can still be remembered however in these fine old antiques which are found in Magog.

each end to a frame which ran on two wheels. It worked well in the orange groves and cultivated to a depth of three inches.

Noble tried it on his fields. All stubble was left on the summer-fallowed fields that year and has been ever since. Working in his farm blacksmith shop, he made two improved blades and neighbors began testing them.

The farm workshop grew into the present plant.

Ken Liddell tells about the venture in a copyright article in the Calgary Herald.

Two-thirds of the company's output is shipped to the United States. Noble blades have also gone to Egypt, South Africa and Central America.

He and Mrs. Noble, who is a year older than he, have two sons and a daughter—all married. Shirley is vice-president of the company and Gerald is general manager.

Their only daughter, Mrs. Walter Reich of Lethbridge, formerly was a stenographer in the company.

DIXVILLE—

Mrs. Ivor R. Whitehead, of Rock Island, has been spending a few days here with her son, Mr. Ivor F. Whitehead and family.

Mrs. Grady Beaton spent the week-end in Montreal with Mr. Grady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson A. Beaton. She was accompanied home by her daughter, Helen and son, Tommy, who have been the guests of their grandparents for a few weeks.

Misses Juliette and Elisabeth Desbiens, of Sherbrooke, were guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Desbiens and family.

Mrs. Guelph Parker accompanied by Miss Ruth Nelson and Mr. Wilmot Nelson, of Norton, Vt., have been spending a few days in Boston, Mass.

How obvious it is that no one infected with a sinful nature in that day could possibly be allowed to survive the End of the World, and mar the new creation! This is the simple equipment you must have: the Bible says of those who will survive: "Here are they that keep [1] the commandments of God, and [2] the faith of Jesus." Revelation 14:12.

Do you feel up to par in both of these respects? If you would survive, and live through the ages, meeting this divine standard must become the most urgent consideration of your life!

"The commandments of God, the faith of Jesus." It is a pretty good combination with which to be equipped. At least it will take just that to survive the End of the World. Something to think about, isn't it? (Next: A Noose on Your Neck?)

YOU and the FUTURE DEAD END How to SURVIVE the END of the WORLD

How can we survive the End of the World? It sounds like an impossible proposition; but it should be quite easy—if we know how. And, with world affairs as they are, it may be wise to start learning. It is vital to note that surviving the End of the World involves infinitely more than merely dodging Atom Bombs! In the catastrophic final events on this earth, the actual End will be the doing of God—not man. The Bible declares that in the last day God will "destroy them which destroy the earth." The End of the World is repeatedly referred to as "The Day of the Lord."

This is one of the most cheering of all the promises of Scripture—that God will finally intervene in the confused affairs of men!

Is it not clear that the chaotic circumstances in which we find ourselves are not a part of God's design? Then, just as surely as the Bible outlines the rise and fall of nations and depicts the misrule of men made imperfect by sin, so it predicts that one day God will summarily destroy the actual cause of this chaos—sin itself!

He will then, according to Bible promises, start a re-created world again—and permanently—on the perfect path from which it has been lured by unholy forces. If the express purpose of the End of the World is once and for all to root out the cancer of evil and confusion and to clear the way for all that is good—should not surviving the End of the World be a simple matter?

It is only necessary that every one of us takes every precaution to insure that in that awesome day we are not found infected with sin, and thus be destroyed along with it.

Here is the simple way to survive the End: not merely to go underground with a Geiger counter, but to "seek righteousness, seek meekness: it may be ye shall be hid in the day of the Lord's anger." Zephaniah 2:3.

EXPLANATION OF MORE DIFFICULT CLUES

- CLUES ACROSS: 6. Certainly true if he is FIRED unjustly. However unjust a FINE may SEEM, if it has been imposed in a court of law one must assume that justice has been done. 8. If musical, a BOY could certainly be a source of pleasure. We can have a music-BOX, but cannot say that a BOY is musical. 9. PART is preferred. A PACT is an AGREEMENT, that is, it does not become a PACT until all alterations have BEEN made. It is only in a PROPOSAL OF PACT that "last minute alterations" may be demanded. No such objection applies to PART. 10. FLOOD is a good answer as it stands. To be BLOOD the clue would have to be qualified. For example, BLOOD would have to be HUMAN BLOOD. For all the clue says, it may be just a little FLOOD on a piece of meat. 11. CAN is best. Surely ANY person might think twice before deciding to throw an old CAP away. Only a thrifty person would be likely to hesitate before throwing an old CAN away. You wouldn't "throw" a CAR, CAB or CAT away. 12. DEAR is a perfect answer which EMBRACES NEAR which means intimate or familiar. NEAR, however, COULD mean "not far away" and there is no reason why you should think a lot of THESE people. 17. RINK is preferred. It is particularly the NOVICE who is apt to fall on a RINK. In the RING, a boxer may take an early "count" whether he is a novice OR NOT. Also, in the RING some attempt is generally made to match boxers of opposite and a novice would presumably be boxing another novice. 18. CHEFS is more direct, because they perform a positive action in making life more enjoyable for those for whom they cook GUESTS is abstract and passive. It is PEOPLE who make life better for themselves by PLAYING CHESS. 21. SUE is better. SEE is a little weak because there is no indication of how long ago the person was seen. You may have practically forgotten about it. When you SUE such a person the offense is fresh in your mind and the very fact that you are SUING indicates that you are taking a serious view of the matter. 23. PLATE is best. The clue is an understatement for PLANE, which calls for a GREAT DEAL of technical knowledge. The development of a photographic PLATE is a straightforward operation that nevertheless calls for a certain amount of knowledge. PLATE is not favored.

CLUES DOWN:

- 1. BILLS is preferred. Bad writing could only lead to mistakes in the interpretation of a WILL, since the testator must know what he means, regardless of the quality of his writing. Even if somebody else draws it up, it is not a valid WILL until the person has read and signed it — and he will not do if there are any mistakes. BILLS, which may be typed from handwriting, is quite apt. 2. REPORT fits the clue better. THE decision to DEPORT somebody CAN ONLY be taken by a responsible AUTHORITY. This would surely be MORE than ONE person, and anyway the "should" in the clue ought to be "must". SHOULD rest with a responsible person" matches better with REPORT. 4. BATTLE is more apt. It is not a ship, but a MODEL ship, that you see in a BOTTLE and why a seafaring man especially, when this novelty is equally well-known to landmen. There must be many an old sailor who has experience of a naval BATTLE, and this word is preferable. 11. A CASE undoubtedly is better if light. CASE is vague, but there must be various kinds of CASES in which business is disadvantaged. A show CASE in a store or museum, for instance. 13. Medical students certainly get to know a lot of peculiar TERMS — that is TERMS peculiar to the medical profession, that would seem strange to the layman or raw student. GERMS is not a natural answer here. What on earth is a "peculiar" GERM? Are not all GERMS peculiar in a way? And does a student really "get to know" them? Get to know their names and effects, perhaps. 14. Since "poor SINNER" is a conventional phrase SINNER fits nicely and justifies the inclusion of the word "poor". There is little point in specifying a poor SINNER, because the desire to improve is not confined to those who are poor in either sense of the word. Every sincere SINNER tries to improve his sinning. 15. FRONT is more apt. FROST can mean hardship for ANYBODY not properly equipped for it. It is soldiers who are at the FRONT and FRONT has a specific application to soldiers.

the most modern and the most important dept. store in Sherbrooke

• MOZART'S store first appeared on Wellington Street North in March 1938. The first store occupied approximately one sixteenth of the floor space of the present establishment. High quality merchandise, low prices and easy terms caused the public to beat a path to Mozart's door. So new departments were added from time to time, so that customers would be given better service and complete satisfaction.

Today, thanks to the value-conscious public of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships, Mozart's is the most modern and the most important department store in the district where you find everything for everybody in the family.

Windsor And Sherbrooke Clash Tonight

Meet Twice In Important Week-End Series; Paper Makers Lead Fixture; Asbstos At Home To Magog Aces

HOCKEY PLAYOFFS REACH FEVER PITCH THE WINDSOR Paper Makers tossed a surprise at the over-confident Sherbrooke club Thursday evening when they posted a 4-1 win in the first meeting of the best-of-five semi-finals of the Massachusetts Valley Hockey League playdowns.

It seems to us that the locals figured the young crew from the Paper Town lacked the experience to hold them but it turned out the other way around. The locals were hard pressed to keep Windsor at bay and following the first five minutes of play they were behind the proverbial "eight ball" and at no time were they in the game.

If Sherbrooke had played the same brand of hockey against the Pirates of East Angus they wouldn't have been around to battle the Paper Makers. We think that the win over the Pirates gave certain members of the local club a good opinion of themselves. But it failed to impress us as such.

They say "over-confidence" can lick the best team in any sport in the world; this is true and we have seen it work often. Thursday's exhibition by the locals really proved this. You could tell this by the way they waltzed around before the game but five minutes after it started was a different story.

Perhaps tonight's game may be a little different and the locals must realize they have a real fight on their hands if they wish to knock off the Edgar Gendron crew. We think that the Paper Makers are as well-drilled a team we have seen for quite sometime and they will give a good account of themselves. Edgar has done a wonderful job and he has certainly changed a lot of the kids around, which has improved their playing. They have fine points down and they listen to him and it shows in their play. Anyway it will be a good series but Sherbrooke must win over the week-end or they can forget everything for another season. So boys, quit thinking how good you are and show the fans what you can do. That's what counts.

AN IMPORTANT meeting of the City Senior Softball League has been called for Monday evening at the New Sherbrooke Hotel for 8.15. President Eric Sharpe is hoping for a large turnout and all teams desiring to operate in the circuit are asked to have representatives on hand.

THE ANNUAL Lennoxville Curling Club Bonspiel opens Monday evening and from the look of things another fine week of curling should be witnessed. Fifty-six rinks are entered in the event and all games will be played in the evening.

Evening curling seems to meet with the approval of all contestants, judging from the reports we have heard. We believe it helps the 'spies' as the big fault with previous events was the amount of time lost from work and this kept several rinks from entering the event.

The only day games listed in the Lennoxville 'Spjel' will take place Saturday while the rest of the week three shifts are slated each night. All games will be played in Lennoxville and Sherbrooke with fifteen on tap for each shift. So all in all it should be a good week of curling.

GEORGE "Specs" Toporec, former major leaguer, has written a book on baseball called "From Back Yard to Big League." Judging from the comments of present day major league owners and managers, it has the appearance of a good book and one that every youngster should read if he wishes to take up the game seriously.

As we all know, George has lost his sight but he still continues to travel around the country on lecture tours and is a very good speaker. He is doing a great deal to help the kids along with his valuable pointers and suggestions. All the proceeds from the book go to him and if anyone is interested he can obtain one by writing to A. J. Mullen, P.O. Box 10, Hamilton, Ont.

THE QUESTION of world hockey supremacy has been settled for another year and the crown is where it rightly belongs, and where it should have been for years, in Canada. We are of the opinion that if the CAHA had years back taken as much trouble as they did this year in sending over a strong team our prestige would not have been marred.

It is hard to understand that a country like ours can't send a club capable of maintaining our standards at the peak where they belong. On the other hand it is easy to understand if you have a working knowledge of Mr. George and the CAHA. We think that F/O Louis Lecompte, of Ottawa, now overseas with the RCAF, came out with the proper statement when he said that Canada had underestimated European teams.

If half the trouble had been taken last year we would not have been obliged to put up with all this red propaganda for the past year. Anyway, now that we have copped the crown let's send only good teams over and if we can't do that then get out of the tournament. It is always better to quit when on the top.

As for the Vs, we think that they certainly played it smart and our hat is off to them. They didn't go all out during their exhibition games or in the early stages of the world tourney but they certainly pulled out all the stops against the Russians. The best part of the outcome, we think, was the white-washing job they applied.

So for a year the crown will rest where it rightly belongs, with a group of hard fighting boys from the famous Okanagan Valley. Now that Canada has it we sincerely hope that the CAHA has learned a real lesson. Just in case they haven't, let us repeat, "Never send a boy to do a man's job."

TOMORROW afternoon the minor "Hockey Afternoon" which is held each year by District Minor Hockey Convenor Maurice Parsons, moves to the Border Arena and the fans around there will be in for a very interesting afternoon.

Each year this event is held and all the champs of the District move in to decide the champions of the various sections. It takes the complete afternoon to run off the various games and four are on tomorrow's agenda. So don't forget to drop down and see the kids in action. We are sure you will enjoy every minute of it and will be surprised as well.

SEE WHERE Harry Griffiths, former athlete from Bishop's University, has been appointed McGill Athletic Director to replace Vic Obeck, who has moved over to the Alouettes. Maybe only a few remember Harry when he was at Bishop's, but we had the pleasure playing against and also with him several times and always found him a real sport in the very sense of the word.

We are sure he will do a top job at McGill as we think he is well qualified for the position and comes to McGill with a good record. So Harry, on behalf of all your friends out in the Townships we wish you the best in your new position and lots of success.

IN THE present issue of MacLean's Magazine there is a very interesting story on "Why Big-League Goalies Crack Up." It is very interesting and gives the inside story of the boys who battle the rubber. Any youngster who is interested in playing goal should read it and perhaps he will change his mind about the position. We think it is the toughest spot in present day hockey, especially the way the defencemen back in. A goalie has no chance what-so-ever on the partially screened, hard drives which sometimes hit them in the face. So boys, read the story and think it over.

CLEVELAND GETS PAN-AMERICAN GAMES Mexico City —(P)—Cleveland has been awarded the 1959 Pan American games. The vote Friday was unanimous. It will mark the first time for the games in the United States. The first games were at Buenos Aires in 1951. The second games open here Saturday.

KOVALESKI DROBNY IN MARATHON Cairo —(P)—Fred Kovaleski of the United States defeated Wimbledon champion Jaroslav Drobny Friday in a marathon two-hour 30 minute match to qualify for the finals of Egypt's international tennis championship. The score: 3-6, 6-4, 6-1, 11-9.

The battle for a berth against Asbestos Meteors in the finals of Massachusetts Valley Hockey League continues this evening and tomorrow afternoon at the local Arena when Windsor Paper Makers and Sherbrooke square off. Windsor leads the best-of-five series 1-0.

In the first game played Thursday evening the Gendron clan came through with flying colors when they posted a 4-1 decision over the confident Sherbrooke team to move out in front in the series. Tonight's tilt is slated for 8.30 and tomorrow at 2.30 and if the Paper Makers win both they will open the final series Tuesday in Asbestos.

Sherbrooke faces a tough opponent in the well-drilled Windsor squad and can't afford to take many chances. Coach Gendron has instilled plenty of fight in his team and the youngsters give a good account of themselves. The locals on the other hand seemed a little over-confident on Thursday and before they realized it the Paper Makers were leading 4-0.

The locals tried to rally following this but the Paper Makers held onto their early lead allowing Sherbrooke only one goal as young Rainville Dubois kept turning everything aside. George Beaulieu and Marc Dusault were missing Thursday along with Claude Gingues but no doubt coach Roberge will have them all in uniform for the crucial week-end series.

ASBESTOS TO PLAY MAGOG Tomorrow afternoon the Meteors of Asbestos will meet the Magog Aces in an exhibition game in the Mining Town at 2.30. The Aces, coached by Pee Wee Theriault, have performed in the Brome League and were eliminated early this week in the round-robin series leaving Granby and Waterloo to fight it out for the championship.

Coach Theriault has lined up a fairly strong team but they will meet a well balanced club in the Meteors. The Champagne squad is standing by waiting for the winner in the present Windsor-Sherbrooke series to be decided and in the meantime will take on the Aces in what should be a good indication of their strength.

Campbell Brothers Win Curling Championship For Saskatchewan; 51,724 Attend; Manitoba Second

Regina — (CP) — Saskatchewan ended 26 barren years of play in the Canadian curling championship Friday, finishing 10 rounds undefeated to bring the province its first Macdonald's brier tankard.

Campbell brothers from Avonlea southwest of Regina, who travel the curling circuits in a province which boasts more curlers than any other, brought big silver trophy to Saskatchewan in their third attempt.

Skipped by a nervous little skip who displayed amazing prowess in the draw game during the five days of play, the Campbell boys won the title on the 10th round Friday morning by defeating Rudy Steski of Northern Ontario 9-7.

Roy Forsyth's Manitoba rink was runner-up with a single loss in 10 games.

The victory was a triumphant one for Saskatchewan, celebrating its golden jubilee this year, and established its place as the biggest curling province. Bayne Secord of Saskatoon won the junior curling title last month.

The brier was the largest ever, setting an attendance record of 51,724, nearly 19,000 above the previous record set in Edmonton last year when Matt Baldwin, representing Alberta, won the championship. Baldwin lost early in the Alberta finals this year.

Premier Douglas in presenting trays to the Saskatchewan rink, told members they "did their province proud."

Skip Garnet Campbell, youngest of the brothers at 28, received the tankard from David M. Steward of Montreal, who represented the sponsors.

Ontario finished third, playing the last two matches with just three men, for seven wins and three losses. Northern Ontario and British Columbia tied for fourth place with six wins and four losses.

Bucky Buchanan Rejoins Quebec After Walk-Out

Quebec. —(P)— Right-winger Ralph Bucky Buchanan, suspended by the Quebec Hockey League Quebec Aces for walking out on the team, has been restored to the lineup.

Aces' coach Jack Toupin said Buchanan apologized for his behavior and rejoined the team to play Thursday night against Montreal Royals.

Toupin said Buchanan was fined $50 for skipping a game against Valleyfield Braves and $5 for not showing up at a practice. The fines stand.

Don Campbell To Try For Water Speed Record

Ullswater, England. —(P)— Donald Malcolm Campbell said Friday he hopes to make his first attempt to break the world water speed record in June.

The 33-year-old son of the late Sir Malcolm Campbell took his $75,000 hydroplane bluebird out Thursday on a trial spin over Ullswater lake and reached a speed of "a long way over 100 miles per hour."

The present record is 178.497 set three years ago by Stanley Sayres in Sio-Mo-Shun at Seattle, Wash.

Stops Colds But Ruins Linenware

London. —(P)— The air ministry disclosed Friday a substance made from unripe grapes has been turned into a nonsecter weapon for the Royal Air Force. The flying men use the stuff—glycolic acid—to repel the common cold.

The ministry said its doctors issued handkerchiefs treated with the acid to 256 men in one squadron at a training station. Untreated handkerchiefs were handed out to 256 men in another squadron.

During the four-week experiment only 14 men with the doctor's hankies caught colds. In the second squadron 34 developed the sniffles.

There's just one hitch—the acid, also found in leaves of the virginia creeper, causes handkerchiefs to fall apart when laundered.

Winnipeg Returns To Professional Hockey; Joins Western Loop With Brand-New 9,000-Seat Ice Palace

Winnipeg. —(P)—Winnipeg is turning to professional hockey again in an effort to regain the interest of fans who have turned cool to the sport in recent years.

Backed by mining executive John Draper Perrin, 65, and son, John Jr., a Winnipeg club—still unnamed—has been accepted by the pro Western Hockey League for 1955-56.

Winnipeg, once the hotbed of hockey, has not had a professional team since the Maroons quit the old American Hockey Association in 1923. It will have full voting power at the spring meeting of the WHL. The new club will make the league an eight-team circuit with other teams from Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Regina. The last-named club was accepted last summer for the 1955-56 season.

The Winnipeg club, with Mr. Perrin as president and his son as vice-president and general manager, has agreed with Winnipeg Enterprises Corporation to lease a new 9,000-seat arena costing $2,000,000 which will be completed early next fall. It will replace the 5,000-seat Amphitheatre rink.

Alf Pike, Winnipeg-born former National Hockey League player and coach of Guelph of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A, will coach the new club. Pike was recently reinstated in hockey after his suspension midway through the 1953-54 season for removing Guelph Biltmores from the ice during a game.

The Winnipeg club has no working agreement with an NHL club, but Frank Selke, general manager of Montreal Canadiens, was here recently to discuss the possibility of sponsoring the team. Other NHL clubs mentioned as possible sponsors include Toronto Maple Leafs and New York Rangers.

Hockey has been in the doldrums in Winnipeg since the late 1940s. The city hasn't had a Canadian championship club since the Monarchs won the Memorial Cup in 1946. Winnipeg was the Allan Cup in 1931 and went on to take the Olympic title the following year.

Prior to that Winnipeg teams or other clubs in the Manitoba leagues were threats for both the junior and senior titles every year. Between 1919 and 1946, teams from the MJHL won the Memorial Cup 10 times—seven times from 1935 to 1946. Between 1908 and 1931, Manitoba teams won the Allan Cup eight times.

In the mid-1920s, Winnipeg supported four good leagues—professional, senior, junior and western intercollegiate—and through the '30s and '40s both senior and junior drew well. Now, junior hockey—the only major type in the city—draws an average crowd of 800 a game.

Many old-time fans and former players at Winnipeg—such as Dan Bain, one of the first members of Canada's Hockey Hall of Fame—say they "wouldn't walk across the street" to see hockey.

"No finesse," says Bain, a star of the Winnipeg Victorias which captured the Stanley Cup—then played for by amateur clubs—in 1896 and 1901. "We handed out hard bodychecks in our day, but we used our bodies and not our sticks, knees and elbows as they do nowadays. We could stick-handle too, which you don't see now."

Sherbrooke Club Wins CN Trophy

The Sherbrooke Curling Club won the Canadian National trophy when they compiled a 14-point lead last night to give them the annual event with a 15 point advantage.

At the end of two-day's playing in the event the local curlers held a slim one-point advantage but last night they extended this to 14 to win by fifteen.

In the final round of play last night Ossie Smith of Sherbrooke dropped a 9-7 verdict to Darcy Bennett of Lennoxville but H. Johnston edged out Bob Blake 8-7. In the other three matches W. Olivier came through with a 9-3 win, Ossie Goyette downed A. McKenzie 11-8 and Bill Hammond downed E. Smith 13-7.

Bob Bedard Drops Set To Gori As Don Fontana Wins

Cannes, France. —(P)— Don Fontana of Toronto advanced Friday to the semi-finals of the Cannes tennis tournament with an 8-6, 6-3 victory over Jean Noel Grin of France.

Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., was defeated 6-3, 2-6, 6-3 by Renato Gori of Italy.

Other semi-finalists are Tony Vincent of the United States and Tony Mottram of England.

Edgar Laprade Has Still To Visit Sin-Bin

Not only is New York Rangers' Edgar Laprade the oldest player in the National Hockey League, he is also the only regular in the league who has not made a trip to the penalty box this season. If Laprade completes this season without drawing a penalty, it will mark the third season in his 10-year N.H.L. tenure in which he has failed to incur a single penalty.

In 499 games in the National Hockey League, Laprade has received only 18 penalties for a total of 42 minutes in the penalty coop. Two of these 18 penalties were majors worth 10 minutes, and the other 16 were minors worth two minutes apiece.

Laprade failed to draw a penalty in 1945-46, his first season in the N.H.L., and the year he won the Calder Memorial Trophy as the circuit's outstanding rookie, and in 1950-51. The most minutes he has ever received in a season was in 1948-49 when he was penalized for 12 minutes.

Canadiens Set Record For Assists In NHL

Montreal Canadiens have set a new record for assists by a team this season. After 61 minutes, Montreal players had been awarded 349 assists on 207 goals. The previous high for assists by a team in one season was held by Detroit Red Wings. The Red Wings players picked up 338 assists in 1950-51, the season in which they scored 236 goals and thereby established a National Hockey League record for most goals by a team in one season, which still stands.

Detroit players have been awarded over 300 assists in a season on three different occasions. In 1949-50 the Wings were awarded 307 assists on 229 goals. Two other successive seasons, 1951-52 and 1952-53, the Wings received from N.H.L. scorers 300 and 323 assists respectively. They scored 215 goals when they received 300 assists and 222 goals when they acquired the 323 assists.

The number of assists being laddled out by N.H.L. scorers has been increasing gradually over the past few seasons. In games played up to date this season the league average was 1.57 assists on every goal scored. In 1953-54 the league average was 1.53 assists on every goal, and in 1952-53 it was 1.50.

Home Greatest Scene Of Swindles On Housewives

Montreal — Housewives are more easily swindled in their own home than anywhere else, says Claude Root, manager of the Better Business Bureau here.

"When the kids start crying and the dinner starts boiling over, a woman will sign anything to get an upscrupulous door-to-door salesman out of the house," he says. "Once she signs, she has lost her woman's right to change her mind."

He concedes that women are intelligent shoppers. "They measure economy and performance when they're in the stores. But when they're at home trying to keep the kids away from the hot stove they're tripped up by fast-talking phonies.

The swindle was easily worked on housewives is "bait advertising," says Mr. Root.

"A woman will answer an ad for a cheap vacuum cleaner, for example. The salesman who calls at her door probably says that her rugs, even though they might be shoddy, are too good for such a produce. Then he'll produce an expensive model."

The advent of television has opened a new series of twists, he warns.

Salesmen ask the housewife to sign a delivery slip for a free 10-day trial of a television set.

"Once she signs, she's sunk," says Mr. Root. "The so-called delivery slip used by fraudulent salesmen is a contract to buy the set."

"New products make for new versions of old phoney deals," says Mr. Root. "They have actually been no new swindles since the serpent persuaded Eve to munch the apple.

Another common fraud women fall for is the home-work scheme. A salesman will offer a knitting apparatus, for example, promising to supply the wool free and to buy the finished goods.

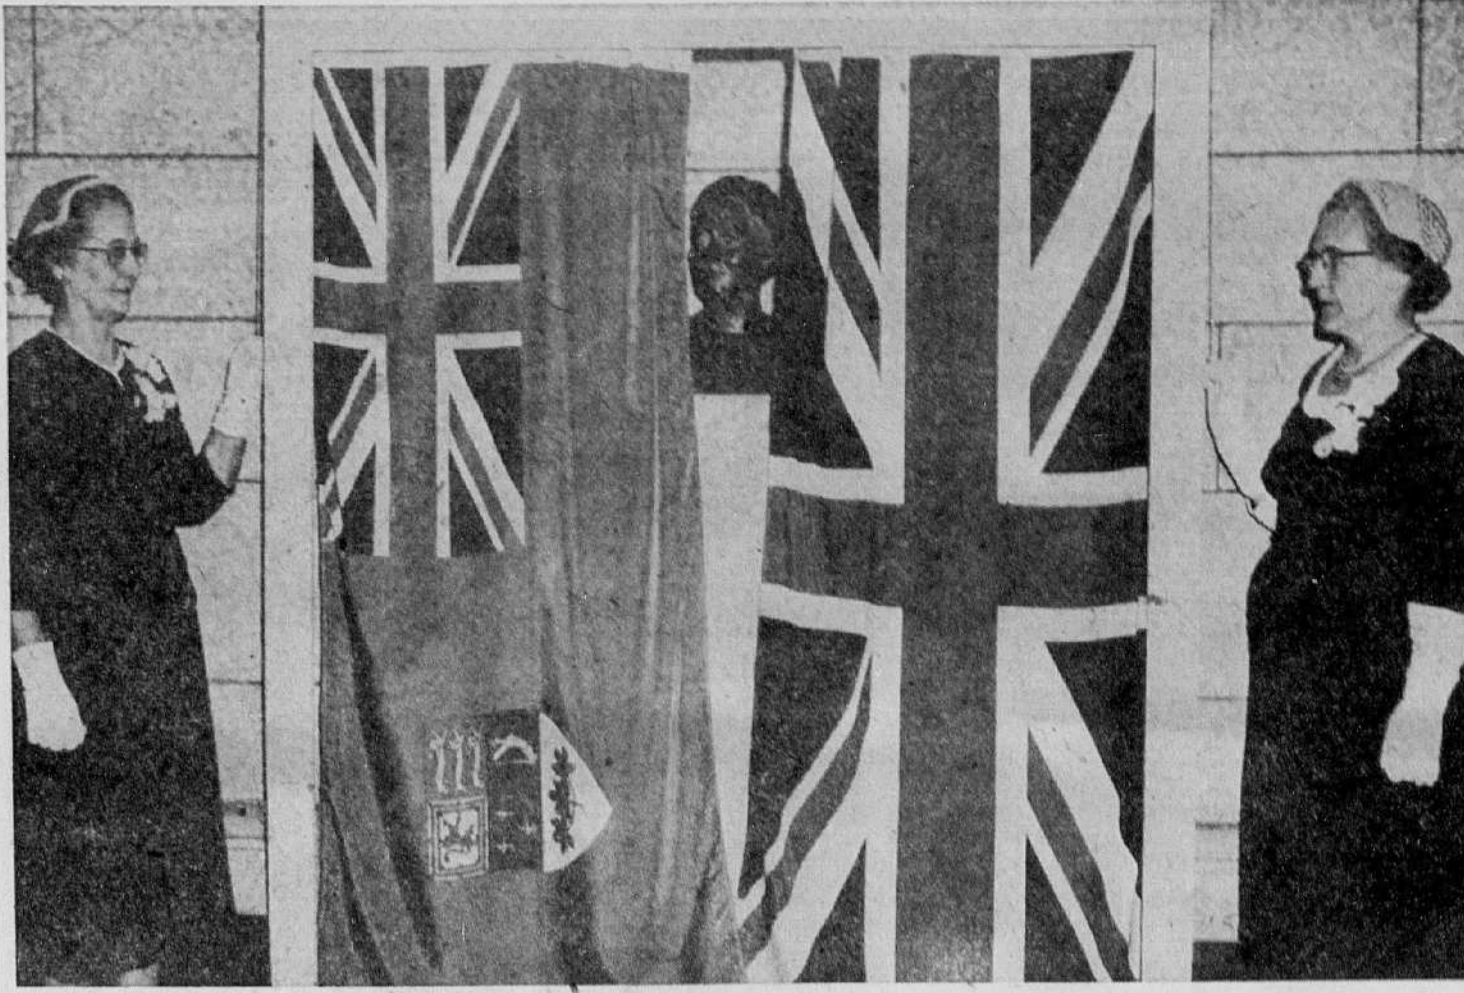

"After the housewife buys the machine, the salesman seldom comes through with the wool. Even if he does, he never buys the knitted products."

Mr. Root's warning to housewives: "Don't sign anything without reading it very carefully.

"When a disguised contract is handed to a woman, she usually smiles and says, 'This won't cost me anything, will it?'

"All she has to do is read it to find out that she may be paying heavily," says Mr. Root.

Colorado was admitted to the Union Aug. 1, 1876. Nearly 400 types of cheese are produced in the United States.

VIEWS OF OUR SCHOOLS

WHAT PART DO PUPILS PLAY

By KEN R. WILLIS

Just as the sparkle in a five-piece orchestra is often provided by the traps, so the sparkle of the school community is often provided by the pupils. In previous "Views of Our Schools" we have likened teachers, parents, school boards and taxpayers to four players and have described partially the sorts of contributions each should make to provide sweet, harmonious music in our schools. Although pupils usually make quite a bit of noise in school, this is not all they can do. Certain characteristics in pupils can enable them to cooperate beautifully and turn what might be dull, depressing monotony into stimulating and exhilarating rhythm.

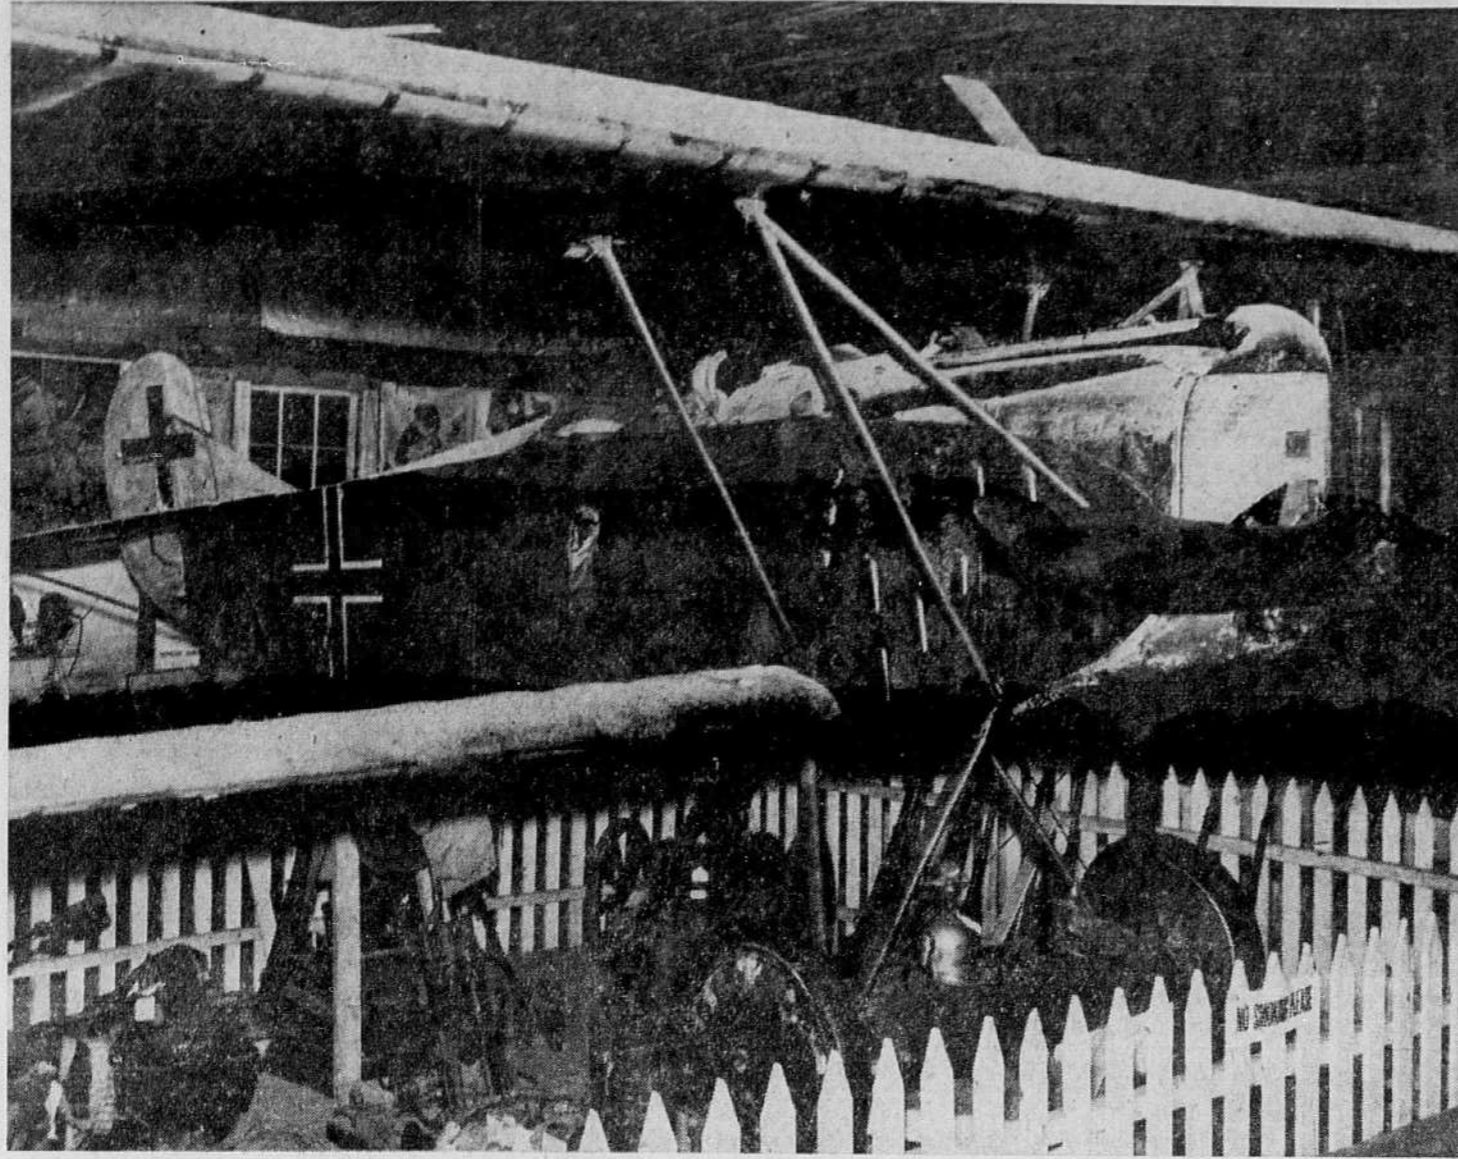

There was a time when pupils referred to school as a jail. It is possible that in a few places this impression still exists. Often where it does exist, the pupils should not lay the blame for the atmosphere of external direction and compulsion on anyone but themselves. At least they should take the beam out of their own eye before they attempt to take the mote out of the other fellow's eye.

The school is the pupil's community. Nine out of ten teachers are very ready and willing to extend to pupils much responsibility for the planning and organizing of school activities in connection both with extra-curricular and curricular areas. Where there are a few pupils who have enough foresight and zest to see that the more they do for themselves the better off they will be, we find schools from which you cannot keep the pupils away.

The lively adult community does not wait for some external organization to come in to build their skating rink or their curling or their library. A few individuals with vision and determination will talk about such enriching facilities and then promote their establishment.

It is the same in the life of the school. Although not all pupils can lead in the organization of ping-pong tournaments, choral speaking contests or panel discussion on history or geography topics, every school has hidden talent that should be out in the open and developed for the sake of the individual and the community. Pupils know where this talent exists. All should see how each and everyone will benefit if they dig out those who have organizing ability, those who have special talents in music, art or woodworking, and those who merely provide the responsive and appreciative audience.

Only a few experiences of genuine participation by pupils with teachers in planning and managing a portion of the school program will transform the school from a jail into a concert hall. Similarly, only a few pupils with the feeling that their school can be as lively and interesting a community as they wish it can develop sparkle and verve in their school — just as the traps put sparkle and verve into a five-piece orchestra.

Home And School Campaign Enters On Final Month

Quebec Federation of Home and School Association's Campaign for Quarters for Headquarters is now entering its final month. The campaign is for the purpose of raising Quebec Federation's share of the cost of the National Home and School Headquarters recently purchased in Toronto at 370 Dundas Street, West.

Quebec Federation is composed of 135 associations throughout the Province of Quebec with a total membership in excess of 22,000 individual family members. During the campaign each member is being canvassed to contribute 25 cents. Quebec Federation's quota is $4,500.

Similar campaigns are being carried on by the other Provincial Home and School Federations across Canada and Nova Scotia was the first Provincial Federation to meet its quota. It is hoped to raise the full cost of the Headquarters within the year.

Mrs. Isobel Shuster, the chairman of Quebec Federation's Campaign Committee, advises that to date $1,800 of Quebec's quota has been contributed. Within the greater Montreal area the Shara Maxwell, Maple Hill, Verdun High, Bannantyne, Central Park, Gilson, Lachine High, Crawford Park, Baon Byng High, Carlyle, Elizabeth Ballantyne, Herbert Symonds, Woodlands, Bronx Park, Maisonneuve and John Jenkins, Highlands, Royal Vale and Rosedale Associations have contributed their full quota. Outside of Montreal associations in Farnham, Howick, Manawacki, Rosemere, St. Johns, Hull, Beaufort, Bedford, Ayer's Cliff, Sherbrooke, Shawinigan Falls High, Otterburn and St. Hilaire, Laurentide, Cowansville, Brownsburg, Longueuil and Montreal South, Lake of Two Mountains High, Drummondville, St. Lambert, Pte. Claire, Summerlea, Chambly-Richelieu, Poltimore, Asbestos-Danville-Shipton have also contributed their full quota of 25 cents per member.

Other associations have contributed part of their individual quotas and plan to make the balance payment in the near future. Indicative of the spirit in which the campaign is being received is the comment by the Sherbrooke Home and School Association: "We believe that a distinctive National Headquarters is a necessity to a great organization such as ours and are delighted to be able to contribute to this cause."
