—o—

A delegation consisted of Paul Raymond, Buckingham, vice-president of the Union of Boards of Trade of Western Quebec; Hector Belec, president of the Fort Coulonge Board of Trade, and represenatives of the County Council of Pontiac, Herman Cahill, of Chapeau, and Michael Kennedy, of Allumette Island; and Messrs G. A. Howard and G. G. McDowell, of Shawville, paid a visit to Hon. Antonio Talbot, Quebec Minister of Roads, last week and asked that the provincial Deroute No. 8, Pontiac County's main partment of Roads continue servicing highway. The delegation was accompanied by Mr. E. C. Lawn, Liberal member for Pontiac.

Mr. Talbot promised the delegation that their requests will be given "every consideration".

Among other things, the delegation asked that the Quebec Department of Roads take under its responsibility the removal of snow on the highway during the Winter months.

As a post-war measure, it was suggested that Route No. 8, which stops 90 miles short of Temiscaming County, be completed in order to meet the South Temiskaming highway and to facilitate transportation in the northwestern part of the province.

Shawville Juniors Defeat Primrose In First Game of Play-off Series

Shawville Juniors won their first game in the play-off series on Friday night, defeating Primrose Juniors, out-door champions of Ottawa, by 4 to 2.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd attending a hockey event at the Shawville Arena this season.

In the opening period, Primrose appeared to have a slight edge on play, and only the staunch blocking of goalie Bill Thompson, Shore and the "great McDowell", on the Shawville defence held the score down to one counter at the 15 minute mark when Oakley and Doxstader combined to slip the disc behind Thompson. This was the only goal of the period.

The teams seemed very evenly matched and play went from end to end. After two minutes in the second session, Gibson banged home Shawville's first tally in an nice passing play with Hewitt McCredie and Corrigan. Before the period ended Primrose evened the count from a scramble in front of Shawville nets.

Ten minutes of the third period had elapsed before Shawville struck their stride, when Corrigan put his team out in front after a three-way play with Gibson and Hewitt McCredie; four minutes later Corrigan slammed another one behind "Popeye" Wilson in the Primrose nets. One minute afterwards Corrigan passed to Hewitt McCredie for the fourth and last counter.

Leslie and Hubert Dale, were in charge of the game which was clean, only two penalties being handed out one to each team.

The line up was as follows:—

Shawville— Goal, Thompson, defence, McDowell, Shore; centre, Gibson, wings, Corrigan, H. McCredie; alternates, McKay, R. McCredie, W. Hobbs, S. Hobbs, M. Hodgins, Kingdon, Farrell, D. Hodgins.

Primrose, Goal— P. Wilson, defence, Cappogreco, Bartalotti, centre, Doxstader; wings, Gowan, Harwood; alternates, Taylor, Oakley, Champagne, K. Wilson, O'Connor.

About one hundred friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H.I. Smith, at Elmside, on February 21st, to extend a welcome to their son, Flying Officer Leslie Smith, who has recently returned home on leave after serving for three years in the European and Mediterranean war zones.

Winters McCorriston then presented the guest of honour with a sum of money, the gift of the assembled guests.

During his reply F. O. Smith thanked the Women's Institute, the Young People's Union, the Women's Association, and all those who had sent mail and boxes overseas, stating that no one could realize what it meant to those so far away to receive boxes from friends at home.

With Mrs. Ruby Armstrong at the piano the assemblage sang "For He's a Jolly Goodfellow" after which Mayor McLellan called on Mr.Leslie Dean who brought greetings and welcome from St. Andrew's Untied Church, of which F.O. Smith is a member.

Big Three Plan Military Eclipse Of Germany And Beginning Of Peace

From Feb. 4 to Feb. 11 President Roosevelt, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Churchill with their staffs of military and political advisors held day-and-night sessions at Yalta, Crimean watering resort on the Black Sea.

Their program embraced plans to smash, occupy and control Germany; to assist Europe's liberated peoples in solving their pressing political and economic problems and to organize "a secure and lasting peace".

Missing was any reference to possible Russian participation in the Anglo-American war against Japan.

This, in quick summary, is what the Big Three propose for Germany:

1. Defeat.
2. No destruction of the German people.
3. Disarmament.
4. Elimnation of the General Staff.
5. Payment of reparations.
6. Elimination or control of potential military production.
7. Punishment of war criminals.
8. Wiping out of the Nazi Party
9. Elimination of Nazi institutions and laws.
10. Removal of militaristic influences.
11. Measures necessary for "peace and safety" of the world.

Nothing For Nothing

That important side of social security about which so little is heard during election campaigns—the cost of such services to the taxpayer—received a pointed airing during the recent British House of Commons debate on the governments's social insurance scheme, says the Regina Leader-Post.

Total annual cost of the scheme at the beginning is placed at $2,600 million. Of this, one-half will be a direct charge on the British taxpayer. Within 30 years, the cost will have reached $3,324 million, and at this point the taxpayers will bear two-thirds of the charge.

And just in case anybody thinks the largest part of this will be borne by those in the high income brackets, it has been accurately computed that the only way the scheme can be carried at all is through collecting one-third of the required tax revenue from those whose incomes are under $2,500 a year.

Paris has a talking clock, which automatically tells the time when rung up. Four million people used the service in one year.

Likes All Animals Except Germans

The educational expert who has been recommending that in time of war even school children should "learn to hate" would perhaps be satisfied with the first step in that direction as taken by Erica Ann, aged four years who had just paid a visit to the Zoo in Manchester, England. On the journey home her aunt asked which of the animals she had liked best. Much to the amusement of other passengers, she replied in a clear voice: "I like all animals except Germans."

Important Question Up To Farmers

—o—

The question how to use spare or disposable cash to the best advantage is an important one in connection with farm business management at the present time. The choice is between spending and saving. The farmer who chooses to save the greatest possible amount now makes his own post-war plans practicable. Reserves of savings which to secure better farms, make them more pleasant places to live and work on and provide a nest-egg against unforseen events.

There is no more convincing proof than the experience of the past. About 25 years ago the demand for farm products was high as it is now. Prices not being controlled as in this war, rose rapidly and went far. Farmers, as a result, appeared to be doing pretty well. In the latter years of the 1914-18 war, and for a time afterwards, they went on a fairly generous spending spree. They bought land and machinery and other goods at high prices, and in doing so, pushed prices still higher The day of reckoning came in the 1930's. The debt which had been piled up in the early period became one of the chief burdens of the depression years.

In World War 1 farmers got into debt; in the present war so far, they have been getting out of debt.

This time, higher income has been used to get down to a reasonable level—to a point where farmers can be sure, in the future, of being able to meet interest and principal payments.

Over and above this, farmers have put away substantial amounts of savings. The wise farmer will not invest these savings in farm land, which may now appear to be an attractive buy, but will invest them in safe securities such as Victory bonds, so that in the post-war period he will be able to get those things which, when on the market again, will make for a higher standard of farm living.

Red Cross Campaign Opens Next Monday

—o—

Monday, March 5th, will mark the opening in this province of the 1945 fund-raising appeal for $2,250,000 for the Canadian Red Cross. The campaign, which will continue until March 21, is part of a Dominion-wide drive for $10,000,000.

Out of every dollar given to the Red Cross, 53 cents will be used to provide food parcels for Canadian prisoners of war, both in Europe and the Far East. 140,000 of these food parcels leave Canada every week, for distribution to Canadian and Allied Prisoners through the International Red Cross in Geneva.

Twenty-one cents from each dollar will be designated for Allied Relief that is, the provision of food, clothing and medicaments for the destitute people of Allied countries. It is estimated that 17,000,000 persons are in urgent need of these things throughout the United Nations.

Fifteen and one half cents of every dollar will be allocated as follows: for hospital supplies and comforts for the armed forces and civilians; for grants, including the budget of the St. John's Ambulance Association, and various contingencies; and for other war services.

Maintenance of the blood donor clinics throughout the Dominion will require nearly three cents of each dollar.

Thus we see that a total of 93 cents of every dollar subscribed during the forthcoming campaign will be spent on war services. Peace requirements, including maintenance of Red Cross Lodges at military hospitals in Canada, will use five of the remaining cents; while administration expenses in Canada and publicity, will require only 2 point 66 cents of each dollar.

In a brief message to the people of this province, His Emminence Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, has given his whole-hearted support of the forthcoming Red Cross appeal.

Here is his letter:

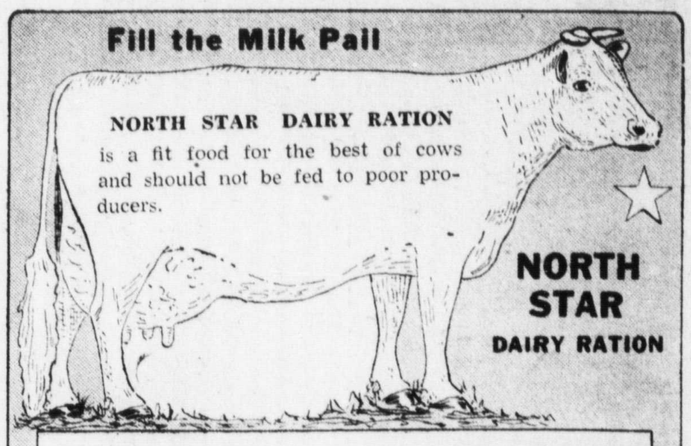

"The Red Cross has shown its mettle. Our Prisoners of War's profound gratitude is too evident for those on the Home Front to remain indifferent to, or hinder its admirable munificence.

"The testimonials that I have received during my recent voyage in Europe are as touching as they are indisputable.

"Let us remember the old Christian and moral adage, 'Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.'

"To this end, the Red Cross gives us powerful and admirable means. Please accept the assurance of my sincere devotion."

Canadian Gifts Sent Overseas Total $33,743,000

—o—

The spirit of Canadian generosity touched many lands in 1944 and brightened the drab monotony of camp life for servicemen held prisoners of war in Germany.

Last year free gifts and donations sent by Canadians to their friends in other countries had an aggregate declared value of $33,743,000, nearly half of which—$16,032,000— was consigned to Switzerland, presumably representing gifts and donations for Canadian prisoners of war in Germany, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics said last week.

The value of these gifts and donations sent aboard represented nearly $3 per head of Canada's population. Gifts to the Canadian forces and to friends in the Uniter Kingdom valued $13,943,000. They were contributions to Canada's Russian Allies, aggregating $2,341,000.

To the people of war-torn Greece Canadians sent $702,000 worth of gifts and donations last year, and "smaller but still considerable amounts" went to Newfoundland, China and India.

First Patent Granted Narrow Bladed Scythe

The first patent granted in the new world was for an agricultural tool, a scythe. This was invented about 1646 by Joseph Jenks, a famous ironworker of colonial days, who was granted a patent which gave him a monopoly of the manufacture of the scythe for a period of 14 years. The scythe consisted of a long narrow blade similar to the scythes now in use. It represented a great improvement over the sickle shaped like a quarter moon, and Jenks built up a prosperous manufacturing business at Pawtucket, R. I. These New England scythes were so superior that many of them were shipped to Pennsylvania and bar iron returned in payment. It was not until about 150 years later that someone thought of attaching a series of wooden fingers to the scythe and so making a cradle which would be useful in the reaping of wheat as well as the mowing of hay.

The replacement of the sickle by the scythe doubled the speed with which hay could be cut, but it required more manual labor, and, made with poor steel, the scythe was soon dulled. It became the custom to store the best barrel of hard cider on every farm, to be broached at harvest time, when it was known as "the scythe sharpener." The haying season meant hard work but with a barrel of hard cider it became a festive event.

Many Rabbit Varieties Have U. S. Supporters

Some 40 years of rabbit-keeping in America has demonstrated that the White New Zealands combine excellent meat quality, quickly maturing youngsters and top value in skins, which latter factor must always be kept in mind as a big help on the feed bill.

All standardized breeds and varieties of domestic rabbits, however, from the giant Flemish found in six color varieties and ranging up to 22 pounds at full maturity, down to the diminutive Polish, often tilting the scales at only three pounds when fully grown, have their supporters. Between these extremes range a kaleidoscopic rainbow of solid color breeds—black, blue, red, brown, chocolate, silver and fawn—every one beautiful to the eye, and good meat and fur producers. Well-bred rabbits come alike in all these colors in four variations of silky fur—normal fur (ordinary rabbits), short, velvety fur (the Rex breeds), long, wooly fur (the Angoras), and even in short, wavy, Astrakhan-like fur (The Astrea-Rex).

There are the spotted varieties, bred in black, blue, tortoise and chocolate markings on a pure white background—the Dutch belted; the white Himalayans with black ears, nose, feet and tail; and the agouti varieties, or Chinchillas, Belgian hares, silver Martens and Black and Tans. And the French and English silver breeds, and the American silver fox Giants.

Foster Hill Site of Historic Pioneer Fort

The first meeting house in Brookfield, Mass., in 1660, stood on historic Foster hill, about one-half mile southeast of the present church. This first meeting house was destroyed by the Indians during King Philip's war, August 4, 1675. This building was the first of its kind between Marlboro and the Connecticut river.

The families from the first settlement on the hill had all fled after the attack of the Indians on this memorable day, the colony realizing the value of this important outpost for travel between the Massachusetts bay and the Connecticut river as a place for refuge and refreshment for travelers, and on September 20, 1688, built a garrison or fort later known as Fort Gilbert, named for Henry Gilbert, a direct descendant of Lewis A. Gilbert, one of the settlers who had gone to Brookfield and taken up a grant of land to the west side of the garrison.

This fort was of considerable size, large enough for barracks for soldiers and also for all families who took refuge there at night within the palisade, and for the next 40 years this garrison was used as a place of religious worship by the settlers, the chaplain of the garrison acting as the minister most of the time.

Strange Fashions

Nobility in France prior to the French Revolution went in for highly decorative eyeglasses. Large jewels of various colors frequently were arranged around the lenses, and because it was fashionable to wear glasses merely to be in style. Many women carried lorgnettes whose handles were bestudded with jewels worth a fortune. One prominent lady inserted lenses in a jeweled fan, so that when she demurely hid her face behind her fan, as ladies were wont to do in those days, she still could see what was going on.

After Napoleon, who was nearsighted, came into power, he frequently used a monocle for far vision. Aping the master, many of his followers resorted to monocles. The popularity of monocles more recently among German military officers is said to trace to the Napoleonic complex.

Marshalls Valuable

The Marshall group has been considered valuable because of its large and deep-water lagoons, providing shelter for submarines and other shipping. Where protected from the wind and water, some of the atolls offer positions for repair work and refueling.

Natural disadvantages include the fact that the islands generally are extremely narrow, often only a few yards across. Although they are dotted over some 200,000 square miles of sea expanse, they cover less than 100 square miles of territory. It has been said of the Marshalls that they have perfect harbors, without land.

Moreover, the islands are nowhere higher than 33 feet above the sea. Many of them are so low that ocean waves wash across the coral reefs into the lagoons.

Hardy Vegetables

Kale and brussels sprouts are among the hardy vegetables that may continue to provide fresh greens until well into December, or even later, if early winter weather is mild. To keep the plants in production long, they may need some straw for protection in freezing weather. A few plants may be put in a coldframe, if the gardener has one. A fence of chicken wire may be needed around the green plants, to keep out the rabbits.

If you are particularly hard to fit in a stock suit a MADE-TO-MEASURE would prove both satisfactory and econimcal !

TREAT CORMS NOW

—o—

Growers of gladiolus who have not already fumigated their corms should do so now without further delay. Naphthlene uakes, cyanide gas, or methyl bromide may beused for this purpose. If naphthleneflakes are chosen, sufficient time should be allowed for a six week's fumigation period, and a month in which to air the treated corms before planting.

—x—

TO CONTROL CORN BORER

—o—

The destruction of all corn refuse in the early spring (before May 20) or in the preceeding autumn still remains the standard control for the European corn borer. To be effective, this practice should be carried out by all growers over a wide area, otherwise moths from farms where no clean-up was made will fly to re-infest farms where proper precautions had been taken.

Pilots Lonely

There is something about the loneliness of a pilot's life in the air that contributes to mysticism. Any pilot who has done any appreciable amount of flying can tell strange stories if he feels that he is with kindred spirits. There are cloudscapes of unbelievable grandeur to be seen upstairs; lonely ice fields of cloud, towering castles, mountain ranges, strangest of all, the faces of people cut sharply in cloud shapes.

Some pilots claim that they have seen the same person, or perhaps several people, time after time in the clouds—that there is expression on their faces, and that sometimes these faces warn of dangers ahead. Some pilots have worried when, over a period of time, a certain face was missing. Other pilots, of course, laugh at such fancies as these. And few, even those who believe, will risk ridicule by discussing such matters with any but people they trust implicitly.

Ignored Critics

When Zane Grey was still an unknown trying to sell his book manuscripts, a publisher told him he had no ability for writing fiction.

The first time George Gershwin ever played the piano on the stage he was laughed out of the theater by both the audience and his fellow actors.

Marconi was bawled out by his father for wasting time when he first began to experiment with radio.

And when Thomas A. Edison was in school he was always at the foot of his class because he couldn't remember his three R's. His teachers called him stupid and doctors predicted he'd have brain trouble.

Oil Reserve

Underlying anywhere from 10,000 to 30,000 square miles in Northern Alberta is the most tremendous reserve of oil yet discovered. It is a layer of sands, 100 to 200 feet thick, saturated with oil. Reliable estimates have been made that anywhere from 100 to 250 billion barrels of oil may be extracted from these sands. Although known and mapped in 1913, it was not until the 1930s that an attempt was made to extract any oil commercially. At that time a plant was erected to extract some 350 barrels daily. Although not strictly a U. S. reserve, gasoline derived from this reserve undoubtedly will be available to American motorists.

-FROM THE MIXER TO YOU

Mr. FARMER . . .

If your livestock could talk—they'd be asking you for fresh feed! They don't relish stale feed any more than you do. So why give it to them? Make absolutely sure the feed you give them is fresh by getting it from your nearby SHUR-GAIN FEED SERVICE MILL.

Why are SHUR-GAIN feeds fresh?

They are manufactured at frequent intervals—only as needed. There is no storage, resulting in stale feeds. And this fact is very important because feeds lose feeding value when they become stale through storage.

Does it cost more for this freshness?

Definitely not! SHUR-GAIN feeds are manufactured locally and for that reason they cost less. Extra transportation charges and middlemen's profits are eliminated and this shows up in the price of the feed.

Feed the SHUR-GAIN way!

Since SHUR-GAIN feeds are always fresh—since they are so handy to your farm—and since they cost less—surely they are logical feeds for all your livestock. Depend upon them to help you produce better stock that will be worth more money to you.

See us about all your feeding requirements!

CHAPTER X

"Not so deep," Teddy assured him affably; "I got five hundred out of Landon on a wager, got it cold!" and he laughed uproariously, suddenly recalling Landon's rage at subsequent events.

Fosdick swung his chair around and eyed him viciously: "You're a young reprobate," he observed dryly, "what was the wager about?" I didn't know Landon could afford to lose that much."

"Lose it?" Banks laughed again. "He did more than that — he burnt five hundred dollars up in a rage—"

Fosdick, who valued money and had had to work for it, stared hard at young Banks. "He's drunk," he decided, frowning at him darkly.

But Teddy, enjoying his own joke at Landon's expense, explained. He explained in detail, even to the fight in the smoking-room and the holocaust of the money.

* * *

"Mrs. Lynn had frozen me out. She's down on me and I vowed I'd get even. I have! She's invited the fellow in and had him to dinner. And now," he gurgled with mirth, "Landon's black with rage because he's making love to Pamela Rodney! Landon's dead set that way himself, and he can't do a thing — not a bally thing! Mrs. Lynn would fire him if she found out he'd brought a fellow in out of the street, you know; he might have been a whitewing, anything, on a wager!"

Fosdick, who had listened in sheer astonishment, found the key to Pam and Mark in the tearoom. He knew at once how the girl had been fooled. He reddened to his scanty gray hair; he ought to have told Burleson yesterday!

* * *

"You deserve a thrashing, you young reprobate!" he said to Teddy Banks, with the candor of an old man who had been a friend of Teddy's grandfather and guardian of the Banks money fo thirty odd years. "You and Landon both deserve to be sent up for disorderly conduct! You've done a pretty piece of work between you. You don't happen to know the man you introduced into Burleson's house, to his sister-in-law and his niece, do you? Of course not! You picked up a man in the street and Landon palmed him off on them as a friend of his! That's the idea — a friend of his and yours, too?"

Teddy laughed comfortably. "Not on your life! I don't come into it; Mrs. Lynn had cut me out. It's up to Landon."

"Up to Landon — Yes!" thundered the old lawyer, striking his fist on his desk, "but it's up to you, too, because you made the bet; you got Landon into it. He's a dumb fool, anyway! Now, I ask you, young man, who's this fellow? D'you know now?"

Teddy waved his walking-stick airily. "Search me!" he said.

* * *

Fosdick leaned over his desk and thrust his gray face forward until the lgiht caught the ugly glitter in his eyes. "I'll tell you what you did, you young idiot you," he said sharply; "you and Landon picked up an ex-convict in the street and sent him into a friend's house, sent him to meet a pure young girl -- an ex-convict, d'you hear?"

Teddy Banks stood gaping in sheer amazement, his mouth open. "Oh, I say!" he gasped, "aren't you putting it on too thick? The fellow's a good looking chap, pretty decent sort — looks like a gentleman."

Fosdick uttered an inarticulate exclamation. "I know him very well," he said grimly; "I've known him for years. I knew him when he was sent up; he was seventeen years old — a good looking young chap then. He's served his time and he's out. Just the same, he's an ex-convict and you and Landon sponsored him."

* * *

The venom in Fosdick's voice carried conviction. Banks stared at him, sobered; he even turned a little pale.

"Say!" he lowered his voice apprehensively; "what was he up for?"

"Murder!" Fosdick shot the word out with such violence that the young man jumped. "Murder — killed his old uncle for his money; rapped him over the head in his office and tried to clear himself afterwards and couldn't."

Teddy Banks looked glumly at Fosdick, hardly daring to believe what he had heard.—incredible!—this fellow, this Mark Grant, had murdered his uncle for money!

For the first time Banks was seized with qualms of conscience. "Why didn't they hang him?" he cried suddenly angry at the chance the convict had had to undo them all. It was a beastly shame not to have hung him and prevented it!

"Circumstantial evidence," Fosdick growled; "he got sixteen years. Good conduct let him out some nine months earlier. For all that, he's guilty".

* * *

Banks groaned "I say — I never thought of such a thing!" he admitted reductantly red with shame.

The lawyer nodded grimly. "Of course not! But you and Landon pick up a street tramp—a fellow who hadn't a penny of his own that night. I happen to know that much; and turn him loose in a friend's house—to make love to an innocent young girl." the old man stormed. "You deserve a drumhead courtmartial instead of the check I've got here for you," he added, holding out a slip of paper.

For the first time in his life, Banks pocketed a check without a grin of satisfaction. He seized it, picked up his hat and made for the door.

"See here," Fosdick called after him, "you tell Landon I want to see him—hear me?"

But Banks was already at the elevator. He was panting like a man who had been running. He reached the pavement in time to hail a taxi and fling an address at the driver.

* * *

In his excitement he paid the taxi-driver to make better speed by a side street and reached Landon's lodgings in the nick of time; he found him just leaving.

"Hello, Ted," said he coolly, "I'm going out—got anything so show to keep me?"

"You bet your sweet life I have!" Banks seized him by the arm and drew him away from the door. "You come back to your rooms; I've got something that'll knock you cold!"

How You Can Get Quick Relief From Sore, Painful Piles

Most people seem to think the only way to get relief from their sore, painful piles is by local treatment. Local treatment may give temporary relief from the itching but you can easily see why such treatment wil not correct the cause of your piles.

No lasting freedom from pile can be had unless the cause of the trouble is corrected. Piles are due to intestinal causes so the best way to get lasting relief is to treat them internally with a medicine like Hem-Roid.

Hem-Roid is a formula that has been used for over 40 years by thousands of pile sufferers. It is a small, highly concentrated tablet, easy and pleasant to use. This cleverly compounded tablet formula directs its medical action to relief of the congestion that is the real cause of your piles. Hem-Roid promotes free, easy and comfortable bowel movements, quickly relieves itching irritation and soreness and stimulates better blood circulation in the lower bowel. With good blood circulation in the lower bowel, the painful pile tumors soon heal over leaving the sensitive rectal membranes clean and healthy.

We invite you to try Hem-Roid and let it prove itself. You can make your test, in the privacy of your own home. NO COST if you are not convinced that this is an amazingly easy and surprisingly effective method of treating your sore, painful piles.

CHRONICLES of GINGER FARM

By Gwendoline P. Clarke

Here are the answers to a few questions that have come my way from readers of this column.

Mrs. C.P.—You were inquiring as to the kind of fuel we use in our furnace. The answer is coal—with the required amount of coke mixed in. And note this: We have heated the whole house this year—eleven rooms—and by the end of the winter we expect we shall have used only one ton more of coal than would have been required by our three stoves, and which would have heated only half the house. And let me tell you we think the comfort and convenience we enjoyed this winter has well repaid us for that extra ton of coal. So you are undecided about installing a furnace. Well I could hardly take it on myself to advise you—so much depends upon the size and compactness of your house. A small house. Ours is a hot air furnace—with pipes—in fact there are so many pipes sprouting from the top of it that it looks to me like a huge permanent wave machine! Of course if money is no object a hot water heating system is just about tops for any kind of house. Since you have plenty of wood—lucky you!—I am sure you would find it quite as satisfactory as coal for a furnace providing you were advised by a good plumber as to the best type of furnace to install for that purpose.

* * *

Mrs. W. S.—I was simply thrilled to hear your son Charlie is on his way home. I am so happy for you—and for Charlie and his wife and small daughter. Sharon is certainly the sweetest wee thing. I hope you will all have a very happy and satisfactory reunion.

* * *

J.W.—We were pleased to receive your card although we were puzzled for quite awhile as to the identity of the sender. Finally Partner recognised your writing. We still have plenty of snow around here. Young John has to hitch up the team every morning to take the milk to the road—and then goes over for our neighbour's milk cans as well. Not much sense in two teams being harnessed when one can do the job for both.

* * *

And speaking of taking milk to the road reminds me of a letter I received from my sister in Toronto a few weeks ago. She wrote of the unpleasantness and inconvenience of city transportation these winter days. So much snow! Such ruts! And no way of knowing when the next street-car will come along. And then she adds "It isn't so bad for you people in the country because you always have your horses to get you around!" How little city and country people understand each other's difficulties! No doubt the going has been pretty tough this winter even in the city. But at least apartment dwellers can be reasonably sure of getting their milk, bread and mail delivered each day, whereas in the country where roads were blocked so completely that even horses couldn't make the grade, there were plenty of farm folk who never knew when they were getting anything. Perhaps the greatest hardship was not getting mail. It is pretty hard to sit at home isn't it, knowing there may be a letter from that boy of yours waiting at the post office and absolutely no way of getting it?

Desserts—Good But Not Too Rich

So perhaps it is just as well that the whipped cream and rich desserts have become war casualties. In their place we can have these desserts, from the Consumer Section of the Department of Agriculture. Attractive to look at, delicious to eat they won't leave your guests in that somnolent condition that spoils the best planned party.

LEMON FLUFF

2 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons flour
½ cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
½ cup cold milk
1½ cups hot milk
2 egg yolks
Grated rind and juice of 2 large lemons
2 egg whites

Mix cornstarch, flour, sugar and salt and blend with the cold milk. Gradually stir in the hot milk and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly for about 15 minutes. Beat egg yolks, add grated lemon rind and a little of the hot mixture. Add to remaining mixture in double boiler and cook, stirring, for 3 minutes. Remove from heat and add lemon juice. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into sherbets or a lightly greased mould and chill before serving. Six servings.

COFFEE SPANISH CREAM

1 tablespoon granulated gelatin
¼ cup cold coffee
2 egg yolks
¼ teaspoon salt
¾ cup hot coffee
1 cup hot milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 egg whites
¼ cup sugar

Soak gelatin in the cold coffee. Beat egg yolks and salt and add hot coffee and milk. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly until thickened enough to coat the spoon. Add gelatin and stir until dissolved. Remove from heat, add vanilla and cool. When the mixture begins to thicken fold in meringue made by adding the sugar to the stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a lightly greased mould or individual sherbets and chill thoroughly. Six servings.

How long is 3 weeks, Ivan?

● Hitler boasted he would smash Russia in three weeks . . . Ivan's courage, resourcefulness and fighting skill have already spun those three weeks into a third year.

What is three weeks . . . what is Time itself to Ivan but a succession of minutes, each one marked by the fall of a Nazi soldier.

We have helped Ivan destroy Hitler's time-table by sending planes, tanks, guns, shells, food. It is a proud thing to share even a little in Russia's triumph to this hour.

We who make high-proof alcohol for the smokeless powder in Ivan's high explosives also have a special way of measuring Time. In our plants, wholly converted to war production, we mark the passing of each hour by the thousands of gallons of high-proof alcohol flowing from our giant stills. Three weeks, three months, three years . . . it will go on flowing until the last Axis soldier has laid down either his body or his arms . . . in unconditional surrender!

THE HOUSE OF SEAGRAM

ALCOHOL FOR WAR IS USED IN SYNTHETIC RUBBER, MEDICINES, SHATTERPROOF GLASS AND OTHER PRODUCTS. EVERY SEAGRAM PLANT IN CANADA AND THE UNITED STATES IS ENGAGED 100% IN THE PRODUCTION OF HIGH-PROOF ALCOHOL FOR WAR.

Two years ago, we of The House of Seagram published this advertisement in tribute to the heroic Russian soldier.

Today, we are repeating this message in renewed tribute to the millions of Ivans whose "courage, resourcefulness and fighting skill" have now freed Russian soil and beaten the enemy back to the very threshold of Berlin.

CANNING SUGAR PURCHASE WILL BE SIMPLIFIED

—o—

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board announced recently that, due to the world sugar situation, the regular sugar ration to each Canadian consumer will be reduced two pounds a year, two sugar coupons becoming valid on the third Thursday of each month instead of two coupons being valid every four weeks. At the first of the year, industrial users, hotels and restaurants had their sugar quota cut form 80 per cent to 70 per cent of their 1941 usage, so as to avoid an imminent sugar shortage.

Again this year, consumers will be entitled to ten pounds of canning sugar. Twenty extra preserves coupons will be used this year, at the rate of half a pound of sugar per coupon, representing the ten-pound allowance. Two of these extra preserves coupons will become valid on March 15 to provide for early preserving, eight others will be valid on May 17 and the remaining ten will be good on or after July 19. All these coupons will remain valid thereafter until they are declared invalid by the Board.

Under this simplified arrangement, there will be only two types of sugar coupons, that is, the regular sugar coupon good for one pound of sugar and the preserves coupon good for half a pound of sugar or the alternative value in preserves for housewives who prefer to purchase commercial preserves rather than do their own canning.

CANADA'S VETERANS

Their Post-War Opportunities

An advertisement explaining to the people of Canada the re-establishment credit available to men and women of the Armed Forces.

The Re-establishment Credit—

AN EXPLANATION OF THE GRANT

In planning the return to civilian life of men and women in the armed forces, Canada's parliament realized that assistance in re-establishment must cover a wide variety of fields. For many—particularly younger members of the forces—the best method of effecting permanent re-establishment will be through training or through an opportunity to continue an interrupted education. Others can be assisted through land settlement—either on full time farms or on small holdings operated with some regular form of employment. In many cases a combination of these two things—training and land settlement—will be the solution. Legislation for this type of re-establishment was provided early in the war.

ANOTHER LARGE GROUP

There is, however, another very large group who do not need training and who are not suited for land settlement as provided under the Veterans' Land Act. After long months or years in uniform, these veterans will need assistance also. There will be those who normally would have owned their own homes had it not been for their service. There will be those who own homes but who have been unable to carry out needed repairs and alterations. There will be veterans who sold businesses to enlist and who want to resume them, and others who are fitted for a business of their own but who need assistance in financing. The Re-establishment Credit is designed for this latter group, and primarily is an alternative to training and land settlement benefits.

PAID UNDER WAR SERVICE GRANTS ACT

The Re-establishment Credit is made available under the same Act of Parliament which provides War Service Gratuities. It is not a loan but an outright grant, paid to an eligible veteran to aid in re-establishment if the veteran decides not to use land settlement or training benefits. It may be used in Canada only at any time in the ten years following discharge for certain specified purposes as outlined in this advertisement. The grant is called a "credit" because it is an amount carried on the ledger to the credit of the veteran for ten years until used by him for a re-establishment purpose.

HOW TO APPLY FOR RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT

The re-establishment credit is an amount equal to the basic War Service Gratuity—that is $7.50 for each 30 days' service in the Western Hemisphere and $15.00 for each 30 days' service overseas. The amount is computed by the branch of the armed forces with which the veteran served, and for that reason application first must be made for the War Service Gratuity. When a statement showing the amount of the basic gratuity has been received by the veteran, application for the re-establishment credit may be made to the Department of Veterans Affairs on a form which may be secured from any district office of the department. Application for the war service gratuity is made to the branch of the armed forces with which the veteran served and forms may be secured at any armed forces depot or at any office of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

STUDY ALL MEASURES BEFORE APPLYING

It is important that every veteran shall have made a definite decision as to future plans before applying for the re-establishment credit. Payment of the re-establishment credit debars the veteran from educational and training grants and benefits under the Veterans' Land Act, since on application for the credit the veteran elects not to take advantage of these other benefits. Any benefits under the Veterans' Land Act and payments to, or on behalf of the veteran for training or continuation of education already granted are charged against the credit. Do not apply for your re-establishment credit until you have studied all other rehabilitation measures. Advice of department officials is available to assist you.

PURPOSES FOR WHICH CREDIT MAY BE USED

Grant of the credit may be authorized for the following purposes:

(a) To assist in home owning;
(b) To assist in building a home;
(c) To assist in home repairing or modernization;
(d) To buy household equipment and furniture;
(e) To buy tools, instruments, etc., for trade, profession, or business;
(f) To provide working capital for profession or business;
(g) To buy a business;
(h) To pay premiums on Dominion of Canada insurance;
(i) To buy special equipment required for educational or vocational training.

In the case of (a), (b), (d) and (g) above, the veteran must put up one dollar for every two dollars used from the re-establishment credit. If experience shows a broadening of these purposes is needed, provision has been made for it.

DON'T DELAY ORDER YOUR SEED POTATOES

—o—

Demand from the United States and from other countries for Canadian certified seed potatoes is particularly active, the Agriculture Department said today.

In view of this Canadian potato growers are urged by the Department to place their orders for seed potatoes without delay. If they fail to do so they may find when planting time comes that seed potato dealers will be unable to fill orders. At present there are enough seed potatoes available to fill all orders that are placed; but if the orders from export markets continue to roll in as they are now doing, the supply may soon be exhausted.

Potato growers are reminded of the advantages of certified seed to crop.
