Under the arrangements now completed any boy or girl of school age will be admitted to Belmont Park on July 22 for the sum of four cents plus one of the coupons which will be found elsewhere in this edition of the Examiner. Payment of the same amount, when the coupon is shown, will also entitle the children to admission to any of the many amusements such as the Whip, Thriller, Lindy Loop, Merry-go-round and so on.

Free Entertainment
 The Pezay Pingens, famous bicycle acrobats and comedians will provide free entertainment during the afternoon. Picnic facilities are available in the park itself and adults who wish to attend with their children will discover the event to be a most enjoyable one.

Belmont Park has an enviable reputation for guarding the safety of its patrons — both young and old — parents may rest assured that the best of care will be given to those children who take advantage of The Examiner's gala celebration, even if unattended.

BAD CRACK-UP IN WESTMOUNT HALTS SUSPECT

Laurent Leroux, 18, Under Police Guard in Hospital After Alleged Stolen Car Crashes Wall

Eighteen-year-old Laurent Leroux, seriously injured when an allegedly stolen automobile in which he and a companion were attempting to evade police crashed into a brick wall in Westmount Tuesday morning, was under police guard yesterday while detectives sought an accomplice who escaped on foot after the crash-up.

The crash occurred at Clarke Avenue and The Boulevard ending a brief 80-miles-an-hour chase which began at Cote St. Luke road and Decarie boulevard, when two Montreal radio patrol officers, Constables P. Coulson and R. Longtin, spotted the reportedly-stolen vehicle and ordered the driver to pull over to the curb.

SUMMER LEAGUE AT LOCAL PARK IS CLOSE RACE

Royals, Panthers Tied for Lead — Sail Boat Races And Swim Classes Popular With Youngsters

The Summer League at Westmount Park for the Juniors is developing into a close race with both Royals and Panthers boasting 16 points.

Both teams are about equal at softball, with Royals holding sway in volleyball and the Panthers having things their way in soccer.

Those starring for the Panthers in softball during the past week have been Craig Millward, Steve Galley and Bob Woodburn, while the mainstays of the Royals have been John Gutellus, George McGlanders, John McVey and John Waterston.

Quite a large number of sailboats and motor-boats took part in the races held last Saturday afternoon in the sailing pond at King George Park. The two Hull boys, Ronald and Bobbie, again dominated in the sailing events.

Ronald and Bobbie took a first and second ribbon apiece while little Claudette Lacaille captured the third place ribbon. The motor boat event was captured by Bobbie Phelan of 606 Belmont, with the second place award going to Leonard Cohen of 599 Belmont.

These races are held each Saturday afternoon at King George Park, for both sail-boats and motor-boats. A large entry list is anticipated for this Saturday's events.

Large groups of children are enjoying the swimming privileges obtained for them three days a week at the local YMCA.

Forty-eight children have registered with the Summer School in Westmount Park, with an average daily attendance of thirty-five. The following are the results of the various activities taken part in by the children during the past week:

FINAL TRIBUTE IS OFFERED TO C. P. CLEGHORN

Funeral service was held Saturday for Charles Power Cleghorn, well-known insurance agent of 361 Kensington Avenue, Westmount. The service was held in the Church of St. John the Evangelist with Father Crummer officiating.

Mr. Cleghorn died suddenly last Wednesday aboard the S.S. Princess Helene en route from St. John, N.B., to Digby, N.S. His only sister, Emily, with whom he had been living in Montreal for the past twelve years, was travelling with him. They had planned to spend the summer at Sandy Cove, N.S.

Born in 1879, he was educated at the old Montreal High School, and at the age of 17, entered the insurance business. Ten years ago he left the Hartford Fire and Life to become a partner in the firm of Miller and Cleghorn selling devices for the hard of hearing. Three years ago, at the age of 63, he retired.

A FAREWELL KISS TO $4,135.12

MRS. R. M. MACAULAY, president of the Westmount Women's Club, bestows a kiss on a $4,135.12 cheque before handing it over to Sholto Watt, executive director of the Queen's Canadian Fund. The Fund benefited to that extent as a result of the Westmount club's three-day Victory Fair held in Westmount Park. At right is Mrs. Harold Mills, co-chairman of the Fair. Below is a reproduction of the cheque.

$4,135.12 Total Is Realized By Westmount Club

Figures Released for Victory Fair, Sponsored by Women's Group at Westmount Park in Mid-June — Cheque for Amount Turned Over to Queen's Canadian Fund — Fish Pond Booth Judged Outstanding

The Victory Fair, under the auspices of the Westmount Women's Club, in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund, held in Westmount Park, June 17, 18 and 19, was a great success.

In spite of the thunders and rain the last two days, every worker stayed at her uncovered booth and carried on. This, of course, handicapped their efforts in disposing of articles for sale, but it did not in any way dampen their enthusiasm.

The net amount realized at this Fair was $4,135.12 which was most gratifying, and at a meeting of all fair workers, held in Victoria Hall a check for this amount was handed to Mr. Watt, of the Queen's Canadian Fund by Mrs. R. M. MacAulay, president of the Westmount Women's Club.

The Victory Fair was organized May 15, at a special meeting of the Westmount Women's Club, and Mrs. R. M. MacAulay, president, and Mrs. Harold Mills, immediate past president were appointed joint chairmen. Booths were decided on and convenors for each booth were chosen, and each convenor agreed to get all necessary assistants which she required.

This left less than five weeks in which to complete all arrangements, lay out the booths, arrange construction and lighting, and gather all the necessary supplies and material. All this was made possible by the quick and generous response of friends in Westmount and Montreal, who offered their services and came forward with donations of all kinds, and particularly by the workers, who gave freely of their time and energy.

A prize was offered for the most original and best trimmed booth and was finally awarded to the Fish Pond under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. D. French and Mrs. M. J. Campbell. This booth represented the pot of gold at the foot of the rainbow. The flower booth, under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. W. Clark, was mentioned as particularly attractive, and honorable mention also was made of several others, notably the candy booth and the country store.

Following is a list of the various booths and the net amount realized by each of them:

- Mrs. H. C. Holland R. M. Stott, Miscellaneous, $366.93;

R. Wilson-Smith Wins In Golf Event

A card of 88 for 36 holes gave Mr. R. Wilson-Smith his second successive win in the putting tournaments held on the Adult Course in King George Park every Thursday evening.

Mr. Wilson-Smith's score gave him a stroke advantage over Charles Holland who carded an 80. Great interest is taken by the golfing enthusiasts in these tournaments, of which another one is being held this evening.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, JULY 17, 1941

THOSE CANVAS TANKS

Too much faith, of course, should not be placed in the story of a Russian officer, that the Germans are using dummy tanks of wood and canvas in their drive into the Soviet. The report, however, is so interesting as to merit investigation.

If any credence can be given it, it may be an indication that the long-awaited effect of shortage of materials is beginning to make itself felt in Germany. One of the mysteries has been how Hitler could go on building machines in such volume as they are reported, with supplies of steel and other materials that were notoriously inadequate. There is just a possibility that he is running a huge bluff and that the Russians, who were of course expected to be scared into submission, have unmasked it.

DON'T DRIVE IN THE MIDDLE

Many local motorists were warned this week by an augmented police force to avoid driving in the middle of the street. In many cases, motorists were motioned to the curb and politely reminded that the centre of the road was as imperative to keep to the side of the street. There is good common sense in this advice, and it is to be hoped that the police will make it their business to see that it is taken. There is nothing so annoying as a motorist loafing along in the middle of the street, forcing drivers who want to pass to take the dangerous course by passing between him and the curb. This has been the cause of so many accidents, both to motorists and pedestrians, that the police wisely decided to make a general check-up. Let us permit no relapse on the part of the careless motorist.

STORM OVER BRITISH TANKS

The report of Lieut. Rupert Brabner in the House of Commons in London that seventy to eighty per cent of the British tanks in Crete "broke down before they ever saw the enemy," and that the tanks used in Libya were inferior to the Nazi product in numbers and speed, does not make pleasant reading. If it is accurate—and at this distance there are no grounds on which it can be challenged—it exposes almost criminal muddling in high places.

The Nazi tank is not a secret weapon that was suddenly unveiled in Libya a few months back. It functioned with deadly efficiency in Poland almost two years ago; it rolled over the Low Countries and Northern France last year. Army experts have had all kinds of opportunities to study its speed and performance, and at this late date those in charge of British tank production will be hard put to explain why they allowed themselves to be caught short.

Canada and the United States, just now getting into quantity production of tanks, can and should profit from this development.

UNITY IN WAR WORK

Announcing the accord and amity which exists between the Government, the military and industry in Canada, Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King outlines a situation which we have always had reason to hope exists in this country. His assurance is designed to increase our confidence in those who, in their various fields, are responsible for our war effort.

Nothing could so quickly immobilize us as controversy and bickering between the various branches. The Government, the military forces and industry all have important roles to play, and they can play them to the best advantage only if there is a complete lack of jealousy and bickering, and a common purpose to achieve a common goal.

DIGESTIBLE

Now the Italian panjandrums are saying that President Roosevelt wants to eat up all Europe. There are many Italians who would be in favor of that, especially if it meant getting rid of Hitler and Mussolini.

BOOK REVIEW

By HOWARD S. ROSS

"NEVER A DULL MOMENT"

By Harry and Kathleen Strange
Publishers: The Macmillans in Canada, Toronto, Ont.

To the Stranges, human beings are unpredictable, fascinating actors who dance, cavort, strut, sing or speak, playing sometimes dramatic, often humorous roles before the infinitely varied, rapidly changing scenes that form the background of life's vast stage.

Watching, applauding, laughing, sometimes weeping, often dismayed, always interested and frequently taking part in some drama or comedy themselves the Stranges have never found the stage or actors dull.

Kathleen Strange with her recognized flair for vivid description and swift, almost racy style, has in this book, written the life story of one who must be to her the most important actor on her own particular stage. It is her husband's story as he gave it to her, and the combined task must have afforded them both amusement and intense pleasure, for it is the story of a life filled with an extraordinary variety of wide experience.

His experiences as a Scout in the Boer War, gold mining in the Klondike, engineering in the Hawaiian Islands, life in Paris, London, Honolulu and in the home of the Jack Londons, are all described vividly. In a word, from his school days in France, through active service in the Great War, working with the Royal Air Force and later, agricultural work in Western Canada, to his final moving appeal for world peace, it is a stimulating, at times highly exciting autobiography which may readily claim all that the title suggests.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Deputy Director W. L. Batt of the U.S. Office of Production Management, recently announced in an address to the convention of the Edison Electric Institute that the United States will have to spend at least $100,000,000,000 on equipment for war if it expects to hold its own with the German war machine. It looks as though we will have to revise our ideas of financial arithmetic. The measurement of the totals of preparedness costs or war efforts in terms of dollars does not mean very much to most of us. It can be considered now only in proportion to the total wealth and income of the country.

Secretary Hull assured the new Chinese foreign minister, Dr. Quo Tai-chi, that the United States will relinquish its extra-territorial rights in China as soon as possible after the end of the war. China is the only nation in which the extra-territorial system for maintaining the privileges of foreigners survives. Japan ended it 100 years ago and Turkey and Egypt since the close of War No. 1.

In a radio address on June 1. His Holiness Pope Pius XII made his contribution to the celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of Leo XIII's Rerum Novarum and the tenth of Pius XI's Quadragesimo Anno, the two great modern social encyclicals. Against the totalitarian state there is the declaration that public authority must not encroach upon the freedom of the individual or the function of the family. The right of both employers and working men to organize is reaffirmed, but subject to the right of the state to intervene for the integration and coordination of their activities if they fail to accomplish this for themselves. The ownership of private property is declared to be a natural right. But also: "Every man . . . has from nature the fundamental right to make use of the material goods of the earth . . . This individual right cannot in any way be suppressed, even by other clear and undisputed rights over material goods."

Hon. Hugh Dalton, a Labor representative and Economic Warfare Minister in the Churchill Cabinet, summed up the attitude of British Labor in his declaration that just as Labor is resolved to win the war so it is resolved to win the peace. He said this war will not make millionaires such as resulted from War 1. He said: Even as many buildings have been bombed and burned, so I hope that many old ideas and conceptions have been blasted away.

Personally I feel that nothing would raise the engine in the esteem of the public so much as his giving attention to some social and economic problems that sadly need real engineering."—A. G. Dalzell.

On the Pacific coast Chile is called the California of South America and the Norway of Latin America. Her shoe-making area has forced her people to use the sea and she is easily the maritime leader. Their steamers are new and fairly fast and clean and comfortable.

All races of the earth, chiefly Indian in background are fused into the people called Panamanians. The in-race nationalism of that country runs very strong. A decree for one price plainly marked on each article is now in force and the nationalism of industry proceeds. The Chinese shopkeepers (240) were liquidated at a large loss to them, they claim, of a large sum. Steamships going to the Orient are filled with Chinese. Nationalization of the professions has been decreed. Residents of Panama can no longer use a United States post office in the zone. People are asking "What will come next?"

A railway line in China is Strange's life in the Yukon has special interest for this reviewer because of the fact that his cousin, Joseph S. Peters, a native of North Sydney, N.S., has spent at least forty years of his life as a miner in different parts of the Yukon. He is now eighty-one years of age and still carrying on his work there, sometimes alone and sometimes with a partner, and makes now on an average of $700.00 a year. He used to go to Vancouver for the winter but has not done so for a few years. He sends his gold to the Vancouver branch of the Ottawa mint. It is surprising the amount of earth which has to be moved in order to get $700 worth of gold but fortunately he is in good health and likes the work.

I have always thought it curious that although Robert Burns, Scotland's National Bard, achieved world-wide publicity on January 25, the anniversary of his birth, he rarely receives even passing mention on the anniversary of his death, July 21. I have also thought it very strange that despite the great number of books that have been written about Burns a belief seems to persist that he was a poor, ignorant ploughman endowed with a miraculous poetic gift. That Burns was an educated man, and singularly well read for one in his position, can be substantiated by a glance over the books that the poet was known to have read. The eighteenth century Ayrshire ploughman's library would compare favourably with that of any average young man of today, whether from the country or from the city. The poet not only read books, but he bought them and his accounts booksellers alone would give the lie to the belief that he was uneducated. An account totalling over forty dollars was paid by Burns to Peter Hill, the bookseller, in December, 1791. This included such books as "Peregrine Pickle," "Ferdinand, Count Fathom," and "Lancelotti Greaves," all by Tobias Smollett, Dr. Samuel Johnson's English Dictionary, a copy of Shakespeare, Ossian's Poems, and the famous Bible which cost Burns about ten dollars, and which was acquired by the Trustees of Burns Cottage at Alloway at a cost exceeding eight thousand dollars. One is tempted to ask in closing, how many educated business men in good circumstances today pay booksellers accounts of over forty dollars?

THE SPORTSCASTER

By MACK

The official all-star team and the nominations which we made last week ran along the same lines with only three changes made. . . Bill Wilcock replaced Sid Bond on the receiving end of the battery, Buddy Dixon taking Don Maher's place at third place, and Rolfe Loftus tying with Bert Dalzell for left field honors. . . Wilcock and Bond were, in our minds about parallel but we gave the call to the latter as he was the only man on the air force team who could be rated as an all-star. . . Buddy Dixon should be in the category of pitchers and there is no doubt that Bert Dalzell should receive the honors above Loftus, as Dalzell has a higher batting average than Loftus and he can field as well. . . So we think that our nominations were the more correct.

John Chenier is going great guns for St. Ann's in the Intermediate League at Atwater Park this year. . . Last night against Columbus he led the Irish team to their first victory of the season, having a perfect day at bat with three for three. . . He also batted in three of his team's six runs and stole three bases, which isn't too bad for one night's work. . . Desse Browne will enter the hospital shortly to undergo an ear operation. . . Jamieson's Royals are hoping that he has a speedy recovery so he won't miss any of the play-off games.

Howie Hushion, in his hardball debut, gave a very good account of himself when he lashed out an important single in the game played at St. Remi field last Sunday. . . He also handled his two outfield putouts like a veteran. . . Molly Feeney tells us Bert Dalzell is coming along fine with his dancing lessons. . . She states that he is light on his feet. . .

Bombardier Doug Maher was in the city last week-end and is looking great. . . John Priestman is leaving for the Manning Pool at Toronto on August 15th for the Air Force. . . Westmount Midget Hardball team is setting some kind of a record for high scoring games. . . Yesterday morning at the end of third inning the score was 19-0. . . Smiley Read made his 42nd error of the year in this game.

Bill Cameron is getting in shape this season and is expected to pitch in the Juvenile league next season. . . Buddy Hellyer is still trying to break par at the local golf courses. . . Euard Read in our books he actually is battling claims to have a .500 average but .237. . . He also is fielding in the neighborhood of .700.

There is a competition going on now on the Westmount Juvenile team to find out who is the best dressed man. . . Everyone comes to the game in their Sunday clothes.

Who keeps one end in view makes all things serve.

place had a fair allocation." Is it not time that we in Canada and the United States supplemented the "Bundles for Britain" movement with a "Candles for the Children" organization?

A city business executive tells me that an envelope addressed to "The Sleeping Partner" was received by his firm recently. It contained literature relating to the cure of insomnia and was accompanied by the request, "Please pass on to your less fortunate colleagues."

It was a performance of Rosland's play, "Cyrano de Bergerac," that first aroused my interest in the part played by noses in literature.

At the risk of being considered a mere perpetrator of puns, I hasten to affirm that the nose is a much more prominent feature in literature than is generally supposed.

Most of us somewhat thoughtlessly assume that the nasal honours are shared by the puppet Punch and the theatrical Cyrano, and are there content to let the matter rest.

Mr. H. G. Wells, however, in that cycling classic of his, "The Wheels of Chance," shows up the failings of the human nose with all his customary scientific verve and thoroughness. He denounces it as "a needless excrescence," and characterizes its ornamental esteem as being dictated not so much by "a sense of its absolute beauty as by the vitiating effect of a universally prevalent fashion."

In short, the hero of the story, Mr. Hoopdriver, has to dismount each time he wants to blow his nose, which is very often, as his cycling skill is insufficient to cope with that action while in motion.

As a matter of fact, the nose is not a new theme for Mr. Wells, for in that comparatively scarce early work of his, "Select Conversations with an Uncle," one is entitled "The Man with a Nose," which opens with the frank statement, "My nose has been the curse of my life."

Dickens, too, realized the importance of noses, for besides a number of very graphic descriptions of such appendages, he causes little Miss La Creevy, the miniature painter in "Nicholas Nickleby," to explain the state of the nose "market" to Nicholas— "Snubs and Romans are plentiful enough, and there are flats of all sorts and sizes when there's a meeting at Exeter Hall, but perfect aquilines, I am sorry to say, are scarce."

Sterne, in "Tristram Shandy," devotes a chapter to noses, but apart from all these purely fictional references, there are a number of serious treatises on the nose other than those from the medical standpoint. There is a book by Taglicozzi entitled "On the Dignity, Gravity, and Authority of Noses"; another called "Pious Meditations on the Nose of the Virgin Mary," by J. Petit; "The Noses of Adam and Eve," by Mdlle. Bourignon; and "Sermons on Noses," by Annibal Caro. Dion Clayton Calhoun, in his excellent little essay on "Punch and Judy," devotes a few pages to "Nose Literature."

Sufficient has been said to indicate that the subject is more extensive than was at first supposed. I have one great regret, however, and that is that Charles Lamb did not supplement his "Chapter on Ears" with a similar essay on noses.

The theme of the morning sermon will be "Grace Out-shining the God Who dwells with the Humble and the Contrite." The address of the evening will be under the title, "The Heavenly Vision for the Earthly Task." Visitors are cordially invited to these services.

FIRE HORSE WANTED
A very gentle old fire horse, but one which will perk up its ears at the sound of an alarm, is sought for Barbara Jo Allen to ride in the new Paramount movie, "Buy Me That Town."

Hollywood History Made By Tracey-Rooney Team

With Spencer Tracy and Mickey Rooney, it's one for all and all for one. It is interesting in this respect that Rooney literally has grown up with Tracy, and their careers have shared many mutual highlights.

two stars: "It is always a treat to work with Spence and Mickey. Most of their scenes are made in a single take. Tracy never tries to take a scene from Mickey or Mickey to take one from Spence.

STIRRING DRAMA SEEN AT YORK

"Cheers for Miss Bishop" Is Cavalcade of American Life

Their first picture together was "Riffraff," filmed in 1936. At that time Tracy had yet to play Father Tim in "San Francisco" and to go on from there to become one of the greatest stars of the screen.

When Richard A. Rowland decided to produce "Cheers For Miss Bishop" for United Artists release, he was entirely aware of the fact that he was undertaking a job of gargantuan dimensions.

"Boys Town," made three years ago, firmly cemented the Tracy-Rooney combination. Mickey, who enjoys clowning like any other kid, settled down to business. He made Tracy his model and underplayed scenes.

Now Tracy and Rooney are together again, as co-stars of "Men of Boys Town," sequel to "Boys Town," with Tracy again playing Father Flanagan and Rooney "Whitey."

To span this period of several decades on the screen presented more than a problem in make-up and research. It is easy enough to find out from old pictures and engravings and from library books how people looked and lived at a certain given time. But it is a lot more complicated to cover a period of sixty years accurately—especially when most of those sixty years happened to be in a period of many inventions and innovations.

Gather some profit to thy soul wheresoever thou art.

'FREEDOM RADIO' AT THE SNOWDON

Powerful Picture Of War At Sea To Come To Snowdon

A bang up-to-the-minute thrills-packed drama of war at sea with an intriguing plot and an all-star cast of famous screen names. "Neutral Port" comes to the Snowdon United Theatre on Sunday.

Cleverly filmed against an impressive background of war-time seafaring, with brilliant direction by Marcel Varnel, Gainsborough's ace director, the film will grip your interest and imagination from the start.

"THE WAGONS ROLL AT NIGHT"

MUSIC, DANCING AND ROMANCE

Jack Oakie, Alice Faye and John Payne in a scene from "The Great American Broadcast," which also features Cesar Romero and Mary Beth Hughes, the film opens at the York United Theatre on Saturday playing until Tuesday night.

GRIPPING FILM IS AT MONKLAND

Jack London's Saga "Sea Wolf" Makes Stirring Picture

The power and fury of the raging sea surged from Jack London's pen as he wrote his most famous novel "The Sea Wolf," and the new screen version of the story which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday night has translated that power and fury into the most dramatic and thrilling screen entertainment of the year.

One thought kept every hateridden man in the crew of "The Ghost" alive—it was to see Wolf Larsen dead. A merciless tyrant, he ruled his shanghaied crews with methods that remind us of today's totalitarian dictators. Yet he is the possessor of a keen mind and an indomitable will. Through the genius of Edward G. Robinson's brilliant portrayal, Larsen comes to the screen a real-life character. Ida Lupino, who is fast proving herself one of the most accomplished dramatic stars in films today, manages to make the drab little castaway one of the most memorable feminine screen characters of the year.

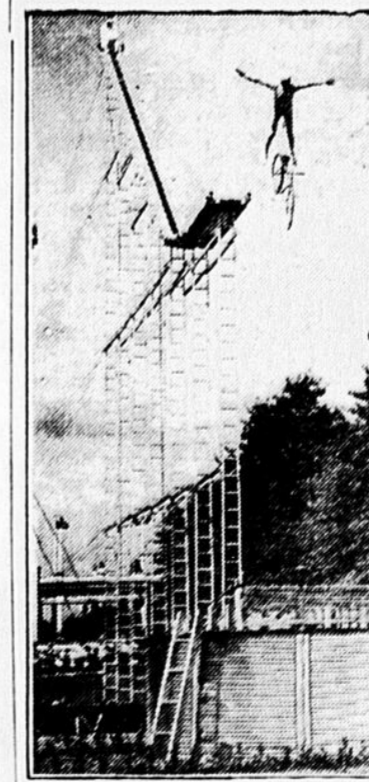

Hurricane Fighter To Be Displayed At Belmont Park

The Blondin Reelin Troupe who have been thrilling patrons of the park for the past two weeks with their feats of high-wire daring will terminate their engagement on Sunday evening. On Monday, it is announced, patrons of Belmont Park will be treated to an act that is said to be the most spine-tingling of all thrilling attractions. The act will be presented by Peejay Ringens, aerial cyclist who, after climbing a lofty rigging, rides his cycle along the runway and soars into space.

Summer Resorts Advance Prices

The expected scarcity of labor and the rise in food and commodity prices has brought two simultaneous moves on the part of the Catskill Mountain summer resort industry.

Guest rates will be increased by 10 per cent this summer, by virtually unanimous agreement of 600 hotel operators, and a school will be opened for the training of local youth to fill various hotel posts.

Recruiting of women in this city for the Canadian Auxiliary Service Corps is progressing satisfactorily, according to Mrs. Parkinson, head of the Montreal unit. The C.A.S.C. is a nationwide organization with headquarters at Ottawa.

Although the Montreal Unit was started only a week ago, arrangements have already been made for the St. John Ambulance Association to give instruction in the First Aid course, the opening class to be held this evening at eight o'clock, at Room 202—1502 St. Catherine street west. The course will last approximately six weeks, and new members will be enrolled in other classes to follow the present one.

On completion of the first aid course, the members of the C.A.S.C. will be eligible for a course in home nursing which the unit will provide.

PICTURESQUE BASES MAKE LAMPS MORE INTERESTING

Picturesque bases for lamps, delightfully original, are in the mode this season, not only for the summer cottage, but also for the more sedate all-year-round home. Ingenious home makers are taking the hubs of old-time cartwheels and lichen-covered tree branches to convert into lamp bases. Leather, perhaps, are some by a modern designer with tall, cylindrical supports of brass, copper or aluminum, and shades of the same material. Less adventurous home decorators find in shops ready-made lamps which incorporate nautical or sport motifs, or amusing pottery figures, says the New York Times.

Old-Time Air

This vogue for the unusual in lamp bases includes old-fashioned types, some with gilded bronze standards which support painted china fonts, others made all of china, their sides adorned with roses or tiny landscapes, and their spherical shades made of glass. Even in modern lamps this old-time air may be seen, as in some recently designed by A. Coggeshall, who placed on top of beautifully grained wood cylinders, old brass openwork foot supports to hold a milk or white glass font, the light bulb and its shade, which may be either translucent or opaque.

Modern Version

A modern version of the old-time student lamp has been evolved by this designer. A tall centre support of black wrought iron upholds two lights, one on either side. Again, a tall column of milk glass with a drum-shaped shade of the same glass, its top accented by a broad brass rim which also appears at the top of the column, is placed on a square brass base to give a pleasing effect of modern simplicity. Across the top opening of the shade a series of metal bands or louvres prevents the light from shining in the eyes of anyone who happens to be above it. Another interesting lamp, made of brass, has an oval shade, also of brass, which enables it to be placed on the rather narrow top of low shelves.

Labelle-Labrecque

The marriage of Suzanne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Labrecque, to Lieutenant René Labelle, R.C.A.S.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edouard Labelle, took place on Saturday morning in the Church of St. Mathieu, Beloeil, the Reverend Abbe Clermont officiating.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a robe de style, by Marie Paule, of satin Phebus, the bodice having a yoke of margarine and point de rose, and long fitted sleeves, the full skirt fitting in a train. Her veil of tulle illusion, simply arranged, was held by orange blossoms with a satin bow. She carried a white prayer-book with white sweet peas tied to the markers.

Miss Marguerite Labelle, the bridegroom's sister, was her only attendant, wearing a robe de style, also by Marie Paule, in lavender blue mousseline Madonna, with bows of deeper blue velvet ribbon and bunches of flowers in tones of pink down the front of the full skirt. She wore matching flowers caught with velvet ribbon in her hair, and carried a bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Labelle acted as witness for his son, and the ushers were Mr. Charles Antoine Geoffrion, Dr. Lucien Perron, Mr. Jean Paul Lavallee and Mr. Pierre Labrecque, brother of the bride.

The reception was held at the summer home of the bride's parents, in Beloeil, and later the "idyl couple left on their wedding trip, the bride travelling in an ensemble of azure blue crepe with a small matching felt hat, and brown accessories.

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED

BY GERALDINE BRIETZCKE

It might be a good idea to start a League for the Prevention of Slipping Nose Bags. Have you ever noticed the N.D.G. phenomenon which takes place on Sherbrooke street every morning around 9:30?

While we, replete with breakfast, are going our ways, we see the humble horses of various bakeries and dairies having their morning recess, complete with feed bag. They deserve it, poor dears, having been up so early and worked so hard—but the greedy sparrows also manage to make something out of it, eating the oats they didn't earn. Oats so often get spilt on the street when the horse, through no fault of his own, loses his insecurely fastened nose bag, and makes pathetic efforts to get at his feed just the same.

The man-drives-horse system has been in operation for quite some time. Even Julius Caesar used it. Now we have electric dish-washing machines, nylon stockings and cellophane, and the horse still struggles patiently with his obmoded dinner pail.

Make your own clothes—and have what you want. It practically amounts to that, you know, when you consider the lovely materials and the enormous variety of patterns on the market. And it's no mysterious art that causes a home made dress to fit well—it's just commonsense, concentration and obedience.

By obedience, we mean the rigid following of those little 1, 2, 3 step-by-step instructions issued with the pattern. It's not half so tedious to mark the pieces for tucks, etc., properly, as it is to juggle with guesswork. The people who made the patterns knew what they were doing. And until you are as clever as the pattern makers, be obedient.

Another thing to remember is that pressing little seams and big seams alike is the work progress—not only makes everything easier to handle, but gives you a satisfied feeling when you see your handiwork looking so neat—even if it's only a dangling yoke attached to nothing as yet. Of course, that doesn't mean that you should make all seams final until you're sure they fit.

Always hang your dress a while before turning up the hem, as dresses have been known to develop all sorts of peculiar sag and dips around the skirt merely because the material hadn't been allowed to settle before being hemmed.

One of the most pleasant feelings associated with original dressmaking is the knowledge that you will never on any occasion meet someone coming down the street in an outfit just like yours.

You have some depressing cold potatoes, and need one more hot vegetable. You don't want to hash brown them; potato salad would be out of place with hot meat. It would be quite unthinkable to throw them away; Fido can't have them, as potatoes play havoc with a dog's insides; dinner time marches on.

The solution to this delicate problem is easy. Cut the cold potatoes into small cubes and heat them in a little consommé and melted butter. Sprinkle them with chopped parsley—and you'll want to serve them like that again and again.

Those of you who wear redingotes—and who doesn't—might be surprised to learn that the word itself is merely your old friend, "riding coat," wrapped up in an exotic French accent. The women of France liked the English word and the English style, and adopted them in the 19th century, wearing long, double-breasted

SANDWICHES MAKE EXCELLENT STANDBY FOR MANY OCCASIONS

Today we have the greatest variety of sandwiches. They are served for luncheons, afternoon tea, buffet suppers and even for dinners, and, of course, for picnics. The sandwich is indispensable. Picnic sandwiches are cold (never toasted), and savory enough to take the place of a main supper dish—or sweet enough to substitute for dessert. Picnic appetites are likely to be big—so plan your sandwiches accordingly. Use bread cut not too thin, or large soft rolls good enough to hold any kind of hearty filling. It is often wise to take along the supplies, and let each person make up his own. This saves a lot of preparation, and then everyone gets the kind of sandwich desired. Sliced bread, softened butter, a bag of crisped lettuce, sliced meats, cheese spreads, salad dressing or jars of any prepared fillings are easy to pack.

Directions

For individual sandwiches use the kind of fillings that will not soak into the bread. Do not expect crisp fillings to remain so for very long, in warm weather.

Whenever possible pack crisp foods separately—pieces of celery, head of lettuce, new carrot strips wrapped in wax paper. These will be better to eat after several hours, than if included in the fillings.

Remove crusts or leave on depending on occasion or preference. Slice to desired thickness.

Spread with softened butter (mayonnaise may be substituted in salad sandwiches).

Spread filling on one slice—be sure that it comes to the very edges, then cover with the second slice.

Wrap in wax paper or damp cloth till ready to use. (Do not use a wet cloth).

Sandwich Filling

All kinds of cooked meats are suitable—ham, in all its forms; beef—roasted, corned, dried or canned; pork, lamb, veal, tongue, fowl, liver, bacon or bologna. Slice, chop or grind the meat, and use with mustard, relish, salad dressings, catsup, meat sauces, and with pork—applesauce. (Meat sandwiches should be well seasoned, except when they are to be eaten by children).

All kinds of cooked, flaked fish are tasty fillings. Vinegar or lemon juice, chopped onion, pickle, cucumber, horseradish, minced peppers and parsley are the most appetizing additions to fish mixtures—and of course—wrap these sandwiches well in parchment or waxed paper—to prevent the odor from permeating the rest of the lunch.

Hardcooked eggs are used in many fillings, minced, with salad dressing, or varied with a few capers, chopped pickles, celery or cucumber, ground or grated cheese, nuts, etc.—seasoned with mustard or curry powder.

Cheese Economical

Cheese, like eggs, makes an economical and valuable food, especially in sandwiches. Ready-to-use cheese spreads are available—both bland, and highly seasoned. Plain cheese may be combined with minced meats—meat sauces—preserves, fruits, nuts, onion, pigments, and pickles.

Vegetable fillings are popular, when the bread is generously buttered, and the sandwiches well packed. They may be used, if the lunch is eaten, soon.

Sweet fillings are satisfying, with jellies, jams, fruit butters, conserves and marmalades. Like all fillings they are usually combined with salad dressing. (A good combination is with cheese of any kind.

outer coats, some of them buttoned up the front, some cut away, and twirled the word with careless ease until it became something very special, to be re-adapted by the English.

Life in amp and cottage is delightful, and poets sing about the joys of crisp bacon cooked over a wood fire, or brook trout sizzling gently. They are reticent, however, when it comes to the joys of cleaning the greasy frying pan.

This job can be done in the following primitive but effective manner: grab a hunk of turf and pull it up, mud and all, and wipe the greasy pan with it. It absorbs the grease, and in a short time the pan is clean and dry and only needs a quick wash.

GA'EN STAKES

Nothing is better for flower and vegetable garden stakes than the steel ribs of an old umbrella. They will last for several seasons.

McGill Group Donates Canteen To Londoners

The presentation of a completely equipped mobile canteen to the Borough of Southwark, in London, England, recently marked the completion of an effort made by the Alumnae Chapter of the Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity of McGill University, in co-operation with the Undergraduates Chapter of the same fraternity. As a result of a ball held in February at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, more than $1,900 was raised for aid to Britain, and was sent to Sir Gerald Campbell, who was at that time British High Commissioner in Canada.

The mayor and councillors of the Borough of Southwark, and hundreds of Londoners, including many children, gathered recently in Southwark Square for the presentation of the mobile canteen. Rt. Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian High Commissioner in London, made the presentation, and gave a short address, in which he spoke of the great sympathy felt by Canadians for those who were suffering on behalf of the Empire, and of their desire to help the citizens of London in their hour of need.

Mayor A. J. Gates and several of the councillors responded, expressing the warm gratitude of the citizens of Southwark, and Miss Violet Markham, the originator of mobile canteens for Southwark, also responded, saying that two of the borough's mobile canteens had been destroyed by enemy action.

The Borough of Southwark is a part of the city of London that has been severely hit by enemy bombings, and its volunteer workers have carried on their duties under great danger and hardship. It was felt that the fraternity money could be better spent by purchasing a mobile canteen and equipping it for presentation to Southwark, and this was done.

When the Aid to Britain ball was held Mrs. C. B. Ross was president of the Alumni Chapter of the fraternity while Miss Marjorie Gaunt was president of the Undergraduates Chapter. Miss Helen Fyfe was chairman of the committee that made the arrangements for the ball.

Four other Canadian chapters, along with the Montreal chapter, have held benefits to raise funds for war effort with financial cooperation from the Grand Council of Alpha Gamma Delta Fraternity in the United States which contributed equal amounts for all those amounts raised up to $500.

Municipal Senior Softball Loop Selects All-Stars

6 MEMBERS OF ROYALS TEAM ARE PICKED FOR POSITIONS ON LEAGUE'S NO. 1 OUTFIT

Durnan of Dodgers Gets Pitching Assignment for First Team — Delzell, Loftus Tie for Left Field With 20 Votes Each — Daniels, Mahaffy, Morgan, Brennan, Durno, Dixon, Willock Other Top Men

For the past two weeks the players in the Municipal Softball League have been selecting their choices for an "All Star" team in the league. Forty different selections have been obtained from the players.

Taking a peek at the figures show that the players have a very definite choice for infielders and the center field berth. The other positions were more closely contested, especially the position of left field, out of the forty votes Bert Delzell of the Royals and Rollie Loftus of the Swans polled exactly twenty apiece. No other left fielder was mentioned by the selectors.

Bill Willock of the Royals edged out Syd Bond of the RCAF by three votes to gain the catcher's award, while Bill Durnan of the Dodgers won the hurling honors over Alvin Bell of the RCAF by five votes.

Dodgers won the hurling honors over Alvin Bell of the RCAF by five votes.

The right field berth was a wide open affair with Don Durno of the Dodgers who has never played the position, at least in this league, winning the award. Most of the players took the attitude that seeing as there was no top notch right fielder, Durno was too good a ball player to be left off any team, and so nominated him.

Johnnie Mahaffy of the Royals was selected as first baseman on the All Star squad with his teammate Lloyd Daniels at the key-stone position. Stan Morgan of the Grads beat out better hitters in Desse Browne and Pee Wee Read, for the short stopping duties. Buddy Dixon the versatile Royal player gained the third base spot, while another Royal, Tommie Brennan gained the center field berth easily.

These boys will line up with the All Star team from the Park which will play the leading softball teams of the district in a series of exhibition games to be staged in the next three weeks.

The results of the voting was as follows:
Catcher: Bill Willock (Royals), 16 votes; Syd Bond, (RCAF), 13 votes; Bill McNeel, (Dodger), 6 votes; Emmett Millen, (Grads), 5 votes.

Pitchers: Bill Durnan (Dodger) 20 votes; Alvin Bell, (RCAF), 15 votes; Connie Tudin, (Royals), 5 votes.
First Base: John Mahaffy, (Royals), 18 votes; Jack Coleman, (Swans), 9 votes; Donnie Maher, (Royals), 8 votes.

Second Base: Lloyd Daniels, (Royals), 27 votes; Emmett Cloran, (Swans), 7 votes.

Short Stop: Stan Morgan, (Grads), 22 votes; Desse Browne, (Royals), 10 votes; Pee Wee Read, (Dodger), 8 votes.

Third Base: Buddy Dixon (Royals), 20 votes; Jack Keene, (RCAF), 8 votes; Donnie Maher, (Royals), 7 votes.

Center Field: Tom Brennan, (Royals), 27 votes; Noel Romney, (Dodger), 4 votes.

Right Field: Don Durno, (Dodger), 14 votes; Bill Cameron, (Grads), 8 votes; Rollie Loftus, (Swans), 8 votes.

SOFTBALL STANDINGS REMAIN UNCHANGED IN MUNICIPAL LOOP

Rain Halts Last Two Scheduled Games Having Great Bearing on Positions — Will Be Played In August

Rainy weather left the final standings of the teams in the Westmount Municipal Senior Softball League in doubt until the league resumes play at the beginning of August when the boys return from military camp.

The two final games of the loop were scheduled to be played on Friday night, but Nature intervened in the form of a steady rain, so the teams recessed with the play-off berths still undetermined.

The final two scheduled games will be played on Monday evening August 4th, with the Grads meeting the Royals and the Swans looking up with the Dodgers. Both first and third places will be at stake in these games, as the Dodgers stand a chance of overtaking the league leading Royals in the event the Royals lose. A win for the Swans coupled with a loss for the Grads will mean a tie for third place in the league standing.

In the meantime the boys remaining in the city will participate in a series of exhibition encounters with some of the best teams in the district. Home and home games have been scheduled with the RCAF Wireless School team, a squad who are leading the fast Mount Royal Senior League. The local boys are playing at the Wireless School next Thursday night with Airmen making a return visit on Wednesday July 30th.

Another interesting series has been arranged with the Ahuntsic team, this is one of the top notch teams in the Province and will be seen down here on Monday night July 28th. The local team will play in Ahuntsic this Tuesday. Other teams expected to visit the Westmount team are Kroehler's and Royals Hockey Club. The All-Stars will play the Oxford team at Oxford Park to-night and the N. D. G. All-Stars Friday at Westmount Park.

In the three games played in the league last week the complexion of the league standing changed materially. At last writing the Royals looked a cinch for first place while the Swans did not appear to have an outside chance of making the play-off series. But the Swans surprise win over the Royals together with two successive losses by the Grads kept Jackie Coleman's in the title hunt. The Dodgers, by virtue of their 9-7 win over the Grads, retained a possibility of tying the Royals for first place in the final standings.

Wednesday's Games
Royals 1 2 0 0 1 2 1 —
Swans 2 0 3 2 1 0 8 — 9 6 2
Dodgers 1 0 4 1 0 0 1 — 7 8 1
Grads 0 2 0 3 3 1 8 — 9 10 4
RCAP 1 0 3 1 0 4 8 — 9 12 1

LET HIM DO IT

During the agitation in behalf of woman suffrage, an ardent advocate pleaded with a tired-looking married woman and said:
"Just think! Wouldn't you love to go with your husband to the voting place and there cast your vote with his?"
The woman shook her head, decisively and answered:
"For goodness sake! If there's one single thing that a man's able to do by himself, let him do it!"
