LEAGUE INVESTIGATES MOSUL AFFAIR

LIBERALS UNABLE TO FOLLOW KING ON TARIFF POLICY

Prominent Party Men Support Meighen at Renfrew Meeting

FEARS "DRIFTING"

Opposition Leader Sees Repetition of Past if Government Returned

RENFREW, Ont., Sept. 28.—(Star Special by Staff Correspondent.)—The Conservative meeting in the O'Brien Theatre here Saturday night was somewhat unusual in that it was presided over by a Mayor who announced his adherence to the present Government while the two speakers of the evening, in addition to the Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, were both strong Liberals, who declared they were unable to follow Mr. King any further in his methods of administration of the affairs of the country and would support the Conservative party in the present contest.

One of them was I. E. Pedlow, who formerly represented this constituency of South Renfrew in the Liberal interest, and the other was Russell Sparkes, an Ottawa business man and president of the Ottawa Liberal Club. Both of them declared that they had been Liberals all their lives and that the King Government had not only brought disaster on the industries of the country but had departed from the path followed by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the other stalwarts of Liberalism.

MEIGHEN WELCOMED

Mayor J. M. Murray extended a welcome to Mr. Meighen on behalf of the citizens, afterwards making a declaration of his political faith and concluding with an eulogy of the Opposition leader, welcoming him "because of the great services you have rendered to this country and as a fellow Canadian who has done his share."

CAILLAUX DEFENDS FRENCH DEBT PLAN

Explains Country's Position and Offer at Session Today

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(A.P.) The French position in regard to her four billion debt to the United States was argued again today by Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux, in the third meeting of the French and American debt commissions.

Meeting at the Treasury shortly after 10 o'clock the two missions went into joint session, and less than 30 minutes was required to complete the business on hand.

A week-end of informal discussion still left a wide ground for debate between the commissions.

After talking over with Secretary Mellon and other members of the United States commission, the problem of funding his Government's four billion dollar debt, Caillaux defended the settlement offer submitted by the French. To further elaborate the French position, M. Caillaux had drawn up a declaration of principles.

The session was expected to develop the first actual discussion of terms.

YELLOW RIVER FLOODING CHINA

15,000 Square Miles Inundated and Homes of 2,000,000 Endangered

PEKING, Sept. 28.—(A.P.) — Fifteen thousand square miles, containing the homes of 2,000,000 persons are flooded, and it is feared that hundreds have been drowned, in consequence of the break in the Yellow River dyke on the Shantung-Chihli border. The affected area is being extended hourly and famine relief workers returning from the scene, say the flood is the greatest since that of 1887.

A further break in the main south dyke is allowing the waters of the Yellow River to flow unrestrictedly to the south, and a portion may reach the Yangtse River through the Grand Canal. The possibility is seen of a complete and permanent alteration in the river's course.

Relief work is proceeding with Yunchenghsien as the base.

BRIEFS AND JOTTINGS FROM OUR LONDON CORRESPONDENT

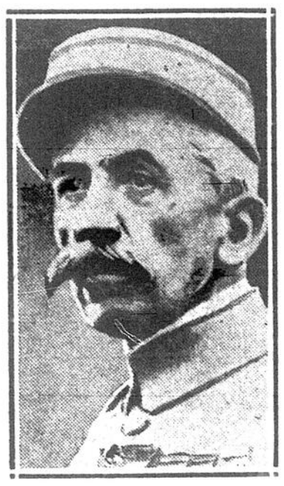
LONDON, Sept. 28.—(Star Special Cable by J. E. Poole, Staff Correspondent)—Herbert Smith, president of the Miners Federation at Sheffield, said that his recent visit to Russia had convinced him that revolution was wrong and that the preachers of revolution little knew the effect of their teaching.

The Paris "Intransigeant" says that Paul Faure, Internationalist Mayor of Lecreusot, has ordered the name of Rue Edith Cavell to be changed and the inscription, telling the manner of her death, to be effaced. His action is causing a storm throughout the Lecreusot neighborhood.

STEAMER PERRY REACHES CURLING

CURLING, Nfld., Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—The steamer Peary of the MacMillan Arctic expedition was in port here today. She arrived during the night.

Resigns Command



PARIS, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—Marshal Lyautey, French commander in the campaign against the Riffians in Morocco, has resigned, Marshal Petain, Commander-in-Chief of the French Forces, is now in Fez, but will go to Taza shortly.

PATENAUDE ASKS ELECTORS TO PUT DOMINION FIRST

Supports Notary Labelle in Address at Maniwaki, Que.

NATIONAL POLICY

Declares Adversaries Have Already Started Race Prejudice Cry

MANIWAKI, Que., Sept. 28.—(Star Special by Staff Correspondent.)—"I have kept independent of all parties and of all chieftains because above all chieftains and above all parties is our country—Canada, and to me that is of the most supreme importance."

Thus did the Hon. E. L. Patenaude sum up the serious nature of the present electoral contest in a short address delivered at Maniwaki in the District of Wright to a crowded assembly of electors on Sunday afternoon. "Patenaude and Labelle," was the slogan in the mouths of everyone in the little agriculture and pulpwood centre to the far north of Hull. There were four chairmen — William McSheffrey, of Kensington; J. B. Patry, of Maniwaki; James Millar, Mayor of South Egan and Louis Corbeille, Mayor of Messines.

These were supported on the platform by Charles Logue, Mayor of Maniwaki; Arthur L'Ecuyer, Mayor of Wright; Alph A. Lavigne, L. A. Mondoux and P. J. Chartrand, all of Aylmer, and Eugene Picard, the President of the Liberal Association of Aylmer.

PLEDGED TO WORK.

Mr. Picard told the audience that his officers and all the members of his association were pledged to work and vote for the success of the Patenaude candidate—Notary Labelle.

SECURITY PARLEY SET FOR OCT. 5

Allied and German Statesmen Will Meet at Locarno, Switzerland

PARIS, Sept. 28 — (A. P.) — The security pact conference of the German and Allied statesmen will be held at Locarno, Switzerland, on Oct. 5, it was officially announced here today.

BERLIN, Sept. 28. — (A. P.) — Official quarters here look for postponement of the security pact conference, which had been tentatively set for Oct. 5 "in some Swiss town."

It is now thought that the Allied and German statesmen will not convene until Oct. 12. The reason for the delay is the reported desire of Foreign Minister Briand, of France, to confer with the Allies regarding the conditions enumerated in the verbal note delivered by the German Ambassadors to the Entente powers Saturday.

Injection of the war guilt issue into the agenda of the conference is defended in an inspired communique on the ground that the Allies demand Germany's entry into the League of Nations as a necessary prerequisite to conclusion of the security pact. For this reason, the communique says, the Berlin Government instructed its ambassadors to inform the Allied Government that it reserve the privilege of reiterating formally, the position previously enunciated on the war guilt question.

The Government also, it was stated, would request decisive action regarding the evacuation of the Cologne bridgehead, as an earnest indication of the Allies intentions to deal with Germany on a footing of equality.

TO PROHIBIT DEMPSEY FIGHT

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Sept. 28. — (U.P.) — The proposed Dempsey-Wills bout at Michigan City, Ind., July 4, 1926, will be prohibited under Indiana's anti-prize fight law, it was announced today by Edward White, assistant attorney general.

ROBERT FORKE RAPS GRITS AND TORIES ON ELECTION TALK

Declares Neither King Nor Meighen are Enlightening the People

PREDICTS SUCCESS

Progressives in Manitoba Will Return 12 Members, Leader Says

MORRIS, Man., Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—"Mr. King and Mr. Meighen are not throwing much light on our problems. So far it has been a verbal duel," declared Robert Forke, Progressive leader, in a speech here Saturday night. "They do it so much in the House of Commons that when they get out before the people they seem to forget the major problems. It is not doing much toward helping us out of our difficulties."

Mr. Forke defended at some length the record of the Progressive party in the House of Commons. The Progressives had been more active and more effective in opposition than the Conservatives, he said, and on such matters vitally affecting the West as freight rates and the Hudson Bay Railway, it was the Progressive party which led the opposition and the Conservative party which voted with the Government. Of the four budgets brought down by the Government, the Progressive party had put forward amendments to three. When the Government in 1923 had reduced the tariff on the implements of production the Progressives had lent their support and given the largest budget majority since Confederation. In its other budgets, said Mr. Forke, the Government had, "strayed from the straight and narrow path of its own platform."

FREIGHT RATES.

To the two million people living between the Great Lakes and the mountains, low freight rates were essential for prosperity. The years of 1901 to 1910 were years of prosperity, but also of over-expansion. They had brought the over-capitalization and duplication of railroads which confronted Canada today.

SAYS FINANCIERS BEHIND RUM SHIP

Madame Casares Asserts She Had Nothing to Do With Cargo

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(A. P.) — Members of the British aristocracy and well known financiers of both Great Britain and the western hemisphere, were back of the scheme to deliver whiskey in the United States rum row from Mme. Gloria De Casares' much advertised ship, the General Serrett, it is now stated, in a quarter which is in a position to know the facts.

Mme. Casares, divorced wife of a wealthy Argentine and formerly a British film actress, has announced that she merely leased her ship to others and had nothing to do with the cargo or the rum running scheme, which came to naught recently, when a controversy arose over the payment of the crew.

While the General Serrett has frequently been referred to as a "rum runner," it is stated that the vessel never actually made a trip with whiskey and that this was to have been her first.

Her backers planned that she sail ostensibly for Halifax and unload her cargo outside the 12-mile limit off the United States coast upon some real rum runner, which would pay cash and take chances of delivering the wet goods in the United States.

Some of the men involved are said to figure in the British "who's who" and in the social register, and move in exclusive circles.

CRAMP PREDICTS BRITISH ELECTION

Railway Secretary Says Labor Difficulties Will Force Issue Next Year

LONDON, Sept. 28 — (C.P.)—A. J. Cook, general secretary of the Miners' Federation, who recently predicted a general election in the United Kingdom next year as an outcome of the labor troubles among the miners and other workers generally is now joined in this opinion by C. T. Cramp, industrial secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen.

Cramp declares that unless the railway companies are prepared to discuss a general scheme of pensions he is not prepared to enter into any other negotiations with them. Cramp is all for nationalization of the railways. He admits that the railways are suffering severely from the competition of motor transport. He admits also that the men engaged in the latter are miserably underpaid, whereas the railway workers at any rate possess their union strength. Through the strength of the union, he says, it is up to the railwaymen to save themselves from the competition of sweated road labor.

NO PROGRESSIVE IN ELGIN COUNTY FIELD

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Sept. 28 —(C.P.) — There will be no three-cornered fight in Elgin District of the federal riding at the election on Oct. 29, this announcement coming as a result of the failure of the Labor-Progressives to put a candidate in the field Saturday.

Foreigners Chased Away From Dock As British M.P.'s Reach New York

NEW YORK, Sept. 28. — (A.P.) — Arrival of European delegates for the Inter-Parliamentary Union conference in Washington reached the peak today when the steamship Caronia brought 155 foreign Government representatives including 40 members of the British Parliament and delegates from the Scandinavian and central European countries.

A crowd of approximately 200 foreign men and women tried to reach the pier as the Caronia docked this morning at 14th Street, but they were turned back by mounted police.

They carried several banners. One bore the inscription, "down with British Imperialism"; another, "We demand unrestricted immigration to the United States," and a third "Stop persecution of foreign born." Some of the banners were hauled down by the police.

Sir Robert Horne, former Chancellor of the British Exchequer, heading the British delegation, will arrive on the Majestic tomorrow.

SCORES IDEA OF BRITISH REVOLT

Sir Sydney Skinner Says Revolution in Britain Impossible

LABOR IN FIGHT

Tussle Over Communism to Take Prominent Part in Conferences

LONDON, Sept. 28 — (Star Special Cable by Windermere. Copyright.) — Today Liverpool becomes the scene of the Labor party's tussle over Communism and next week the Conservatives at Brighton are to renew, in annual conference, their pressure upon ministers to do what Baldwin has hitherto hesitated to do, namely suppress Communism when expressed in propaganda and public meetings.

Yesterday Sir Sydney Skinner, head of one of London' leading stores, pleaded for cessation of "the silly talk about the 'Red' flag, Bolshevism and black shirts." Revolution, he says, is impossible in England, and this "panic over the emphasis of opinions of a few wild men," is bad for trade.

Ramsay MacDonald, Thomas, and other Labor moderates know too much to be equally complacent. They realize that they and all constitutional Labor leaders, are fighting for their political lives. It is parliamentarianism that is at stake if the Liverpool conference follows the recent Trade Union Congress and embraces practical Communism, even though repudiating the description.

The executive will invite the Liverpool conference to say that no member of the Communist party can become or remain a constituent of the Labor party, and to request the affiliated trade unions to refrain from nominating Communists as delegates to the Labor party conferences. If these resolutions are carried, as is probable, Labor will have nailed its colors to the parliamentary mast, and the breach with the minority movement in the trade unions will be complete. —WINDERMERE.

LONDON, Sept. 28 — (U.P.) — Nationalization of natural resources and the outlawing of war are the outstanding points of the Agenda to be dealt with by the British Labor party at its 25th annual conference to be held at Liverpool this week. Leaders of the party will lay stress on the nationalization issue.

"The lamentable feature of capitalism in every department of social life," runs one phrase of an amendment to the agenda, "makes the social ownership of the means of the production, which only a workers' Government can introduce, an imperative necessity."

Measures for defeating a declaration of war as outlined by the Liverpool Trades Council and Labor party include a plan for mass strike action in event a serious war threat impends.

EXPECT TO SETTLE LENGTHY QUESTION

To Decide Whether Prince of Wales Should Welcome Germans

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—The question of whether the Prince of Wales, as president of the British Association, will welcome the German delegates to next year's meeting of the scientists' organization, a subject of discussion for the last five years, is to be settled during the next few months.

There has been a sharp division of opinion as to whether former enemy nationals should be allowed to attend the parliament of science and at recent meetings of the association at Southampton the committee of recommendation decided by a narrow majority of admitting Germans. The general committee, too, decided that invitations next year should be issued "irrespective of nationality" and the next move now rests with the general council, which meets in November.

NEW GOVERNOR ARRIVES IN N.S.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—Hon. Jas. C. Tory, newly appointed Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia, who will be sworn-in to office next Thursday, Oct. 1, arrived last night from Montreal, accompanied by Mrs. Tory.

Pending the departure of former Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. J. R. Douglas from Government House, Lieutenant-Governor Tory and Mrs. Tory will reside at a local hotel.

ITALIAN AIRPLANE CRASHES TO GROUND

TURIN, Italy, Sept. 28.—(U.P.)—Two civilians and the pilot of an airplane participating in manoeuvres at Mazzeze Field crashed to the ground.

General Piccio and other aviation officials were sent to investigate.

GRAIN RATE PROBE STARTS TOMORROW

Railway Commission Will Hear Arguments at Ottawa

OPINION DIVIDED

West Wants Cut Rate Sustained While Others Seek Suspension

OTTAWA, Sept. 28. — (Star Special by Our Own Correspondent.) — Argument will begin before the Railway Commission tomorrow in the application of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Montreal Board of Trade for a suspension of the recent order of the Commission respecting the Pacific Grain Rate. The concession to shipments, via the Pacific, of rates proportionate to the Eastern movement to Fort William, has caused a commotion in the Commission itself, with clear evidence of divided opinion and it is also figuring in the political campaign. The outcome will be watched with particular interest.

The appellants are attacking the order, not so much upon the merits of the rate question as upon the ground that, in view of the impending equalization process, it is unwise to deal with the Pacific end of the subject in advance. An array of lawyers will be present and in addition to them there are many representations by letter and telegram, for and against the order. Eastern interests, generally, are opposed to it under the circumstances, while on the other hand it will be supported by counsel for British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

OPPOSE ORDER.

After the order was made by Chief Commissioner McKeown and Commissioner Oliver, dissenting judgments were filed by Commissioners Boyce and Lawrence, while Commissioner McLean agreed in a "resolution" against the propriety of the procedure, but did not go further.

The Board has been completed by the appointment of Thomas Vien to the Quebec vacancy and an interesting situation is possible. Should the previous alignment stand, and Commissioner Vien go with those who oppose the order, it would be suspended. Should he, on the contrary, side in with Messrs. Oliver and McKeown, an even division would result.

In that event, under the ordinary appellate rules, the order would not be disturbed. Incidental to the argument will be the contention, that, in applying to shipments from Calgary to Vancouver, the grain rate obtaining over the Canadian National from Edmonton to Vancouver, the Canadian Pacific is not fulfilling the directions of the order. The company denies this.

CAPE TO CAIRO AIR ROUTE PLANS

Preliminary Arrangements Complete for the Establishment of Service

LONDON, Sept. 28.—(B.U.P.)—Preliminary arrangements have been completed for the completion of the Cape to Cairo Air Route it is announced this morning.

The first step will be the establishment of an experimental service between Khartoum and Mismu which is situated at the head of the Uganda Railway and the primary object of the establishment of such a service is the opening up of hitherto undeveloped tracts of land in Central Africa. When the line is established it will be boomed as a "health" line in that it will enable travellers to escape the malarial swamps through which they are now forced to pass under the present system of transport. If this branch is successful the service will be extended until eventually a regular Cape to Cairo route will be in operation.

The entire route has been surveyed and promises of financial support have already been received from the governments of Uganda, Kenya and the Sudan Kenya's help being of course subject to the consent of the Colonial Office. The Belgian government has also expressed itself as favorable to the scheme.

Special eight passenger amphibian machines will be used for the journey, ordinary landplanes being unusable from the fact that papyrus grass twenty feet in height flanks the rivers and borders the lakes. It is claimed that the route will be coverable in two days and the greatest commercial value is predicted for it.

QUEBEC APPOINTS JUSTICES OF PEACE

QUEBEC, Sept. 28.—(Star Special) The following Justices of Peace have been appointed by orders in council: Robertval, Jules H. Leclerc; Montreal, F. W. Evans; Gaspe, P. Letourneau; school inspector, Charles Drolet.

PATENAUDE SAYS PATH OF INSULTS LEADS TO SEWER

Will Not Follow Adversaries in Their Ways Despite Abuse

DEFENDS SENATE

Cannot See How King Can Reform Body Without Provinces' Consent

HULL, Que., Sept. 28 — (Star Special by Staff Correspondent.) — Hon. E. L. Patenaude will not follow his Liberal opponents in the path of insults along which he declares they have set out, for that path only leads to the sewer, he told a capacity audience at the Hull City Hall on Saturday evening. "They may succeed in insulting me," he added, "but I have no fear of them."

The Senate he described as perhaps the "greatest rampart of the French race in this country," and he gave voice to burning indignation at the effort of Mackenzie King to put over a reform of that body without consulting the Provinces, as provided for in the Pact of Honor of Confederation.

Mr. Patenaude replied to the questions of his opponents as to who was his chief, by saying that they asked that because they were accustomed to be tied hand and foot to one man, who could move them about as he pleased. Mr. Patenaude declined to be tied in that way. He remained free to set forth his opinions to the party of which he was a member, and to strive to convert the members of that party to his line of thinking, for the benefit of the country and of his own Province.

He outlined a tariff policy which comprised a review of the industries of the country, with a view to finding out which ones were profitable to the country and giving them an adequate measure of protection.

STATES WITNESSES ARE UNHAMPERED

U.S. Army and Navy Heads Before Inquiry Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28.—(A. P.) —With renewed assurance from the War Department that they are under no restraint whatever, in presenting their individual opinion, a group of ten army air service officers, were called as witnesses at resumed sessions today, of the President's air board.

Chairman Morrow, of the board, which was meeting after a three day recess to hear army and navy air pilots as the next phase of its inquiry, had in his possession for reading into the record, letters from both acting Secretary of War Davis and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur, reiterating that army and navy witnesses would be unhampered in giving testimony.

Reports that departmental authorities were not giving a free rein to army and navy officers to express their views before the board, are understood to have prompted the letters.

Colonel William Mitchell, regarded as one of the most important witnesses to be called by the board because of his outspoken criticism of air service policies, is included among the 10 army fliers called to appear. The board's plan to examine the officers in the inverse order of rank, however, was expected to put off his testimony until tomorrow.

N.S. SERVICE FOR MISSING SEAMEN

Fishing Centre Conducts Prayers at Water's Edge for First Time

LUNENBURG, N.S., Sept. 28. — — (C.P.) — For the first time in the history of this fishing centre of Nova Scotia, a memorial service for those who annually go down to the sea, never to return again, was held yesterday afternoon at the water's edge. Each year a memorial service for lost mariners who sailed their last voyage from this port has been held in local churches, but yesterday afternoon hundreds gathered on one of the fishing piers to pay tribute to the dead.

Seven names were on the roll of those who had gone during the season to the "port of missing men." A huge wreath of flowers was set adrift on the water by Mayor Schwartz, of Lunenburg.

LORD BYNG LEAVES ON WESTERN TRIP

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—Their Excellencies the Governor-General and Lady Byng of Vimy returned to Ottawa from Quebec.

His Excellency, accompanied by Lieut.-Col. H. W. Snow and Captain C. S. Price-Davies, subsequently left for Regina and Winnipeg, Her Excellency, has also left for Algonquin Park on a private visit. They will not return to Government House until Oct. 24.

N.Y. CHURCH FIRE SCARES WORSHIPPERS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 — (U. P.)— Fire starting in the ceiling of St. Paul the Apostle's Catholic Church last night drove 4,000 worshippers to the street and for a time threatened to destroy the interior of one of the oldest religious edifices in the city.

Valuable mural decorations and the Blessed Virgin's altar were damaged by smoke and water.

Defective insulation is believed to have caused the blaze.

May Be Governor

LONDON, Sept. 28.— (B.U.P.) — The Earl of Cavan, Chief of the Imperial Staff, is being considered as a possibility for the post of Governor-General of Canada at the end of Lord Byng's term, according to authentic reports current here today.

SUBMARINE RESCUE WORK IS HALTED

High Seas Make Progress Now Impossible in Rough Water

FIND BULKHEAD

Report Diver Reached Craft —Affidavit Says Students in Charge

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., Sept. 28. — (U. P.) — Simon Lake, inventor of the even keel type submarine and in whose plant the sunken S-51 was built, does not believe there is any chance of bringing out any of the imprisoned crew alive.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 28.— (U.P.)—Operations for rescue of men trapped in the sunken submarine S-51 were halted this morning.

The seas were running high, in the wake of stormy weather over-night.

The giant cranes, Monarch and Century, counted upon to hoist the stern of the S-51, could not operate in the heavy swells.

The smaller of the enormous cranes the Century, lumbered back to the lee of Block Island, while the second giant was snaked out to the direction of other harborage where the running tides could not damage them.

How long a delay this would occasion was not known.

Craft coming back from the scene of the sinking declared that out there it was "making sea."

Along the coast a hot summer sun was shining, casting a glint of silver across the sound.

But the blow of last night had so stirred the sound that the great awkward derricks could not operate.

FIND BULKHEAD.

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 28.—(U.P.) — An unofficial wireless dispatch here shortly after 10 a.m. today from the zone of the submarine S-51 disaster stated that a diver sent down to the boat had found the bulkhead of one compartment slightly damaged but closed.

Navy officials here said that if this information were accurate there was still a remote chance that at least a few of the 34 trapped men might be alive.

It was pointed out that each compartment of the submarine was supplied with oxygen sufficient to sustain life for about 72 hours and that if the sailors had succeeded in closing one of the bulkheads they might keep alive at least until 10 o'clock tonight.

STUDENTS IN CHARGE.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Sept. 28 — (A. P.) — When informed that the owners of the City of Rome had an affidavit which stated that the S-51, sunk 14 miles east of Block Island, Friday night, by that steamer, was commanded by student officers, Lieut.-Commander H. A. Flanigan, executive officer at the submarine base here, denied that anyone of the officers on the submarine at the time of the disaster, was inexperienced.

The affidavit made by one of the three survivors, declares that two of the student officers, known to the member of their crew as "rookies" occupied positions of command in the conning tower when the accident occurred.

The existence of the affidavit was kept secret until last night when an official of the Boston Steamship Company, owners of the City of Rome admitted that such a statement had been secured. It is believed it will form one of the most important features of the investigation of the disaster.

CARROLL NOT TO CONTEST RIDING

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 28 — (C. P.) —W. F. Carroll, member for Cape Breton in the last Parliament, has announced in a letter addressed to S. E. Muggah, President of the Liberal Association of the constituency, that he will not offer for re-nomination. The Liberal candidate will be selected at a convention to be held Oct. 1.

YOUTHS 10 AND 13 COMMIT SUICIDE

DESMOINES, Iowa, Sept. 28— (U. P.) — Police and the coroner today sought a reason for the hanging of Louis Marts, 10, believed to be the youngest suicide in the history of Iowa.

Marts was found hanging from a rafter in his father's barn last evening. The boy used a manger for the scaffold. Ira Marts, the father, said he could give no reason for the suicide.

GRAND ISLAND, Nebr., Sept. 28— (U. P.) — Because he was locked in his bedroom as a matter of discipline, Donald Povant, 13, committed suicide last night by hanging himself from a bed.

The boy made a noose of his belt and strangled himself by tying it to the bed and swinging himself against the noose.

FORMER HEAD OF ESTHONIAN ARMY TO PROBE CHARGES

General Johan Laidoner is League's Representative in Mosul

DELEGATE QUITS

Galvanauskas Shouts Defiance at Council During Memel Discussion

GENEVA, Sept. 28. — (A.P.) — General Johan Laidoner, former Commander-in-Chief of the Esthonian army, was appointed by the League of Nations Council today, as the League's representative in Mosul, northern Mesopotamia.

He will proceed forthwith to the disputed territory to investigate the British charges of deportations of Christians by the Turks, and the Turkish counter-charges that British forces have been invading the section of Mosul provisionally held by the Turks since the Brussels conference.

General Laidoner is a member of the Esthonian Chamber of Deputies and is chairman of the committees on Foreign Affairs and National Defense. After disposing of this matter the council adjourned, to meet here again in December. Because of the importance of the Mosul affair it is postponing its projected session in Madrid until March.

MODIFIES STAND.

GENEVA, Sept. 28. — Tewfik Bey, Turkish Foreign Minister who mysteriously left Geneva Friday, after an extremely bitter clash Thursday with Colonial Secretary Amery of Britain, over the Mosul dispute, left Lausanne Sunday night for Angora.

Before leaving he notified the League of Nations that he had modified his previous stand and was willing to permit a League commission to investigate charges of deportation of Christians and other Turkish activities in the territory north of the Brussels line. He made the acceptance, however, conditional on Angora's approval.

SHOUTS DEFIANCE.

—GENEVA, Switz., Sept. 28.—(A. P.)—Shouting defiance of the League of Nations Council, M. Galvanauskas, former Lithuanian Premier and now Minister to Great Britain, pounded the table violently and stamped angrily out of the meeting room today, during discussion of the convention defining the status of the Memel territory, drawn up by Norman H. Davis former United States Under Secretary of State.

The action of the Lithuanian minister, unprecedented in the history of the Council, was inspired by the Council's decision regarding complaints sent to the League of minorities under Lithuanian rule. The Council instructed the Secretary-General to transmit copies of such complaints to all the council members, leaving them free to call the matter to the Council's attention if the complaints appeared to warrant such action.

"It is none of the Secretary-General's business to forward such information at the League's expense," shouted M. Galvanauskas. "You have all got foreign ministers and other diplomatic agents to inform you. When protests reach you, why don't you take them up with us first and give us a chance to investigate?"

OFFER SUBSTITUTE.

M. Boncour, of France, who was presiding, tried to calm the agitated Lithuanian. Lord Cecil offered to draft a substitute text, so worded as not to hurt Lithuanian susceptibilities, and M. Hymans, of Belgium, proffered his services in a like capacity, but, not waiting the result of their collaboration, M. Galvanauskas, slammed his chair to the floor and made his stormy exit.

The Memel territory, with a population of 170,000, was detached from Germany by the Versailles Treaty and placed under the control of the Council of Ambassadors. It was handed over to Lithuania in February, 1923, subject to certain conditions intended to regulate the use of the port by Lithuania and Poland.

Difficulties between Poland and Lithuania, over the administration of the territory, were settled in March, 1924, when the League Council ratified a convention prepared by a neutral committee, headed by Norman H. Davis.

At that time, M. Galvanauskas declared before the Council that Lithuania's acceptance of the terms involved a great sacrifice, but that she accepted them gladly because she wanted to support the League, which he termed "an organism which is now inseparable from the maintenance of peace."

PREPARE FOR WAR.

ROME, Sept. 28. — (U. N.) — Reports of great excitement and warlike preparations are being received here in a roundabout way from Constantinople. These developments are claimed to have arisen because of the Anglo-Turkish dispute over Mosul.

According to despatches from Belgrave, travellers arriving on the Orient Express from Constantinople declare that war hysteria has gripped the city and that the Turkish Government has called all reserves to the colors.

Mobs are declared to be parading the streets, carrying the "flag of the prophet" and placards inscribed "Long live Mustapha Kemal" and "Long live Russia" and shouting "Death to the Englishmen!"

There is a rumor that the Turkish Government is preparing to close the Dardanelles.

The reports dealt with in the above cable did not receive confirmation today from any other source.

MUNICIPALITIES GET BORROWING POWER

QUEBEC, Sept. 28.—(Star Special) The following municipalities have been authorized to borrow by an order in council signed today:—St. Henri, $50,000; Valleyfield, $125,000; Cacouna, $10,000; Causapscal, $3,500; Cabano, $18,000; Melbourne, $1,000; Delery, $3,000; Litchfield, $8,000.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Coolican—Gault.

The marriage took place in Washington, D.C., on Saturday, September 19, of Ilze Martha Gault, daughter of Mrs. A. Baumgarten, McTavish street, to Mr. Oscar Coolican, of Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Coolican have taken up their residence in Washington.

Chambers—McGreer.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D

WORTH KNOWING.

The number of people who take bichloride of mercury tablets in mistake for the ordinary aspirin tablets is increasing greatly.

A physician who has witnessed the action of this poison on the body, tells us that although it burns the mouth and throat on its way down, that its real danger results from its action on the kidneys. By inflaming the kidneys it really prevents them from separating the poison from the blood, and so the poison remains in the system. He states that one tablet of five grains is sufficient to cause death on an empty stomach, whereas a tablet of seven and a half grains has been taken immediately after a heavy dinner with no ill effects of any kind.

Now as this poison is not hard to obtain, and is easily mistaken for aspirin tablets, when a mistake has been made, immediate treatment should be commenced.

In former days the first thought was the physician, because so many of these cases died. However, the treatment suggested might easily be carried out in the home whilst waiting for the physician.

The first thought, as in all poisoning cases, is to get the stomach emptied and the old reliable mustard and water is still your best remedy. A heaping tablespoonful of mustard in a cup of hot water is always obtainable and is most effective. The stomach should then be washed with a soda solution, a couple of teaspoonfuls in warm water should be poured down the throat and the throat tickled with a feather or the finger to induce vomiting again. After this has been done the antidote for the poison, our old friend epsom salts, is given. A solution is made by putting some epsom salts into a cup of water until the water can't dissolve any more of the salts. Three tablespoonfuls of this solution is given. This reacts with the mercury so that it can't be absorbed by the blood, and it passes out by way of the intestine.

Now, when your physician is at a distance the above treatment can be given in almost any home and may save a life.

WOMEN INVITED TO CONSULT FAMOUS VISITOR

Elizabeth Arden Sends Personal Representative to Advise Women on Skin Care.

Every woman who values her good looks will be interested in the arrival tomorrow of Miss Mary E. Johnstone, who is here as the personal representative of Elizabeth Arden, the famous skin specialist of New York, Paris and London. Miss Johnstone comes to us from the fashionable Arden Salon on Fifth Avenue, New York, where her close association with Miss Arden has made her thoroughly familiar with the scientific methods of skin treatment developed by this specialist.

Miss Johnstone comes to help every woman who is interested in improving her good looks. She issues an invitation to all women to visit her during her stay. She will give private interviews to all who care to consult her. You may bring to her your problems in the care of the skin, hair, hands, figure, etc. She will outline for you a course of home treatment suited to your particular needs, giving every detail of the scientific method to correct wrinkles or other blemishes which trouble you.

Miss Johnstone will have her headquarters here at Henry Morgan & Co. Limited, where she will receive visitors on each day from Sept. 28th to Oct. 3rd, in the toilet goods department. Appointments may be made in advance by telephoning the store.—(Adv.)

BOURASSA TO RUN AS AN INDEPENDENT

Will Contest Labelle County in October Elections

ISSUES MANIFESTO

"Party Spirit Very Dead in Me," He Tells His Electors

Henri Bourassa is a candidate in Labelle, the county where he made his political debut in 1896.

Last Friday afternoon an important delegation of electors of Labelle presented to the director of the "Devoir," numerous petitions signed by a large number of electors, both men and women, of the county.

"We the undersigned electors of the County of Labelle," said the petitioners, "beg Mr. Henri Bourassa to become a candidate in the next Federal election.

"We consider that, in the crisis through which the country is now passing, we have need in the House of honest and worthy men allowing themselves to be influenced only by their consciences and desiring the welfare of the country.

"Having known you for a long time and having watched you at work, we know that you possess all the qualities which a good member should have, and be assured that your candidature is requested by the large majority of the County."

"Very much touched by this manifestation of confidence, by the entreaties and the testimonies which accompany it, Mr. Bourassa requested the delegates to give him several hours to make a formal decision," The Devoir says today and adds:

ACCEPTS OFFER.

"That decision is today public and final.

"Mr. Bourassa has accepted the invitation of his friends of Labelle County. He will begin his electoral campaign next Sunday at Mount Laurier. A large public meeting at which he will speak will take place in the afternoon in the new and attractive little town. On the following Tuesday, Mr. Bourassa will speak in the afternoon at L'Annonciation, another fine parish which has arisen within the last few years in the forests of the North. Two or three other district meetings, whose dates will be speedily announced, will follow."

Today, through the medium of the Devoir, Mr. Bourassa will deliver addresses to the delegates, signatories of the petition and to all voters of Labelle the following letter:—

"Ladies and Gentlemen, — Your overture has touched me deeply. As witnesses of a great many of my entrances into public life, you have followed with a constant and sympathetic attention my efforts to win recognition for the principles of a purely national policy. At each dissolution of Parliament since 1908, many among you have offered me the candidature. Serious considerations both public and private caused me to decline this honor in 1911, 1917 and 1921. This year you return in greater numbers and with a more pressing insistence. On the other hand, outside of the country and the province, some disinterested and thoughtful men, several of whom do not share all our ideas, believe that I should carry to Parliament the expression of the principles which I have extolled in an organ of opinion which scarcely touches the English-speaking public.

STATES HIS PROGRAM

"These considerations incline me to grant your wish, in spite of my profound repugnance of re-entering the political furnace. Is it necessary for me to add that if the electors of Labelle send me to Parliament I shall retain the fullest liberty of speech and in my vote? All party spirit is dead, very dead, in me. The country has need of the concerted action but free and thoughtful on the part of all people of goodwill, freed from the slavery of parties. It is to them that I address myself. They are the people whom I wish to represent to the best of my restricted abilities.

"It will not be possible before election day for me to visit every parish in the county. I must confine myself to several district meetings in the north and south of the constituency. There I will set forth my views on the principal problems of the present hour. For the moment it must suffice me to summarize the leading principles of all my public life, today as 30 years ago when I solicited your votes for the first time, but with a vision larger and more serene. I support a firm Government, a truly national policy, the respect of the pact of Confederation, the just treatment of all races, the maintenance of social order based on the family, the re-establishment of economic balances between the Provinces, the towns and the rural districts, the readjusting of taxes and of public charges with a view to lessening the burden of the taxpayers of medium resources and particularly on large families attached to the soil, who are better guarantees of the safety of the nation than the multitude of strangers brought in by money, recruits from the army of unemployed malcontents and fomentors of revolution.

"Today as formerly, but strengthened by the unhappy experiences of the great war, I resolutely oppose all policy, or action tending to drag Canada afresh into a conflict where her territory is not directly threatened. The supreme duty of all true Canadians at the present hour and for years to come is to live in peace and to work for peace, to heal the wounds of the war, to readjust our budget, to diminish public charges, to repopulate the country, to re-establish national unity which has been severely threatened by our Imperial and international adventures.

"If you share these views and if you believe I am in a position to express them with some confidence in the Parliament of the nation your votes will give to my feeble voice the amplitude and authority which it lacks. It is for you to decide. (signed) Henri Bourassa."

STRUCK BY AUTO.

Struck by an automobile driven by Moise Bastien, of St. Elzear, while stepping onto the sidewalk at the corner of Boulevard Levesque and College street, St. Vincent de Paul, at 11.15 yesterday morning, Mrs. Ernest Allen, aged 31, and her three and a half year old daughter Yvonne were thrown to the ground. The child escaped with minor cuts and bruises, but Mrs. Allen was in such pain that she was carried to her home, nearby, and Dr. Pominville, of St. Vincent de Paul, was summoned.

He declared her uninjured, but Mr. Allen summoned an ambulance from the Royal Victoria hospital, where the victim was admitted, suffering from fractures in the right hand and right foot. She is progressing favorably.

Those Who Have Moved

Any persons, men or women, who have moved since July 5th, must REGISTER in the division from which they moved.

They cannot vote in the division into which they have moved, if it is a different division from that in which they lived before.

They have a vote only in the division in which they lived prior to July 5th, and must REGISTER in that division in order to cast it.

MAURO, SHACKLED, ARRIVES IN CITY

BOUND TO MEXICO

Will Face Capital Charge in Court Tomorrow Morning

Shackled hand and feet on the journey from Banff to Toronto, Joseph Mauro, named in a warrant for the murder of Donald Carragher, drummer at Belmont Park, Montreal, who was shot and killed in a hold-up in Dreamland, July 22, arrived at Montreal this morning at 9 o'clock.

The prisoner, who was accompanied east by Detective Armand Brodeur of this city and Constable Campbell, of Vancouver, was taken to the prisoner's department in the City Hall annex and will be removed some time today to Bordeaux jail. Tomorrow morning he will be brought before Judge Enright charged with the murder of Carragher.

On the trail of the wanted man for five weeks, Detective Brodeur came across Mauro hiking it along the highway 160 miles north of Vancouver. Mauro was alone when the detective drove alongside and jumped to the road in front of his quarry.

The detective asked the suspect if he knew him and got a negative answer.

"Have you ever been to Montreal?"

"No, I don't know anyone there, I have never been east of Toronto."

"Well, Mauro, I know who you are, and you will soon see Montreal again".

The prisoner who had beaten his way to the west, bound for Mexico, was unarmed and penniless. He gave his name as Charlie Fowler, is known to the police under the aliases of Mauro, Cooney and Frost.

On the way east, at Banff, while the two officers were with him, he attempted to get possession of a revolver, that Detective Brodeur carried in his coat pocket. The attempt cost him whatever freedom he had enjoyed up to that time. Shackling his hands prevented the lifting of the "gat" from the pocket, and carried with it the last chance of escape. He was strapped at the ankles for the remainder of the journey.

No trace of Beanti, the second man named in the warrant, was unearthed in the west. He is believed to be heading towards Mexico, where Mauro admitted he was also making tracks for.

WEATHER

PROBABILITIES:

Fresh Northwest winds, partly cloudy and a little cooler. Tuesday fair.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 28.—Pressure changes are occurring with great rapidity. The shallow depression which was over the Southwestern States on Saturday passed rapidly Northeastward causing rain yesterday in Ontario and Quebec and is now centred in the Northern portion of the Gulf of Saint Lawrence as a moderate storm. Pressure is unusually high over the Great Lakes and the Western Provinces.

FORECASTS:

Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay: Moderate to fresh Northwest and North winds, mostly cloudy and a little cooler. Tuesday, Northeast winds and cool.

Upper St. Lawrence and Ottawa Valley: Fresh Northwest winds, partly cloudy and a little cooler. Tuesday, fair.

Lower St. Lawrence, Gulf and North Shore: Strong West and Northwest winds, fair today and Tuesday, a little cooler.

Maritime: Strong West and Northwest winds, clearing. Tuesday, fresh Northwest winds, fair and a little cooler.

RUSH OF STUDENTS TO ENTER McGILL

The registration offices of the East Wing of McGill University were jammed this morning with students registering for first year Arts. Registration opened today in all years in Arts, the first year registering in the East Wing, and the second, third and fourth year students in Molson's Hall.

Registration is second, third, and fourth year Applied Science also opened this morning, students registering in the Macdonald Engineering Building. Students entering first year Applied Science began registering last week and registration is still continuing.

The big rush will continue all day and also tomorrow.

PATENAUDE SPEAKS AT VARIOUS POINTS

This Week's Program Announced—Bell Fyles' Formal Protest

BOURASSA'S ENTRY

"Which Side Will He Lean on?" Asks Premier

Hon. E. L. Patenaude's program of speaking engagements for the coming week provides for meetings at Joliette tomorrow afternoon, following a convention to choose a Conservative candidate; at Magog Wednesday evening, when he will speak in support of John T. Hackett, and next Sunday at Quebec City.

Leslie G. Bell, Conservative candidate in St. Antoine Division has forwarded a protest to Col. O. M. Biggar, Chief Election Officer at Ottawa, as follows: "I have already protested to Returning Officer and now protest to you regarding registration in this division on the following grounds: First, applicants for registration are not being sworn; second, registrars are not complying with the Election Act regarding correct entries at time or registration, of putting names of applicants in Index Books provided for that purpose, but are violating the Act by entering same on unofficial separate sheets. This procedure I consider a flagrant violation of the Act, detrimental to me as a candidate, and also to ensuring me of final correct completion of lists. I protest most vigorously and ask that you remedy same at once, by giving definite instructions on these points of protest immediately."

Georges Beaulieu, grain broker, of Montreal, was approached over the week-end by a number of friends asking him to be the Conservative candidate in Terrebonne county.

MANY CONVENTIONS

A Liberal convention will be held in Laurier-Outremont division tomorrow evening at 8.30, at 2493 St. Dominique street, presided over by Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, to choose a candidate. At 9.30 p.m. a meeting will be held open to the public, at which Mr. Cardin will speak. This is the only address Mr. Cardin will make, in this division.

Mr. Cardin is presiding this afternoon at the Liberal convention for Chambly Vercheres, at Longueuil. The two names most frequently mentioned lately in connection with this division were Armand Lebeau and Salluste Lavery. Mayor Thurber is not thought likely to let his name go before the convention.

There seems to be a tendency amongst the prospective Liberal candidates in Laurier-Outremont division to drop out in favor of the most generally approved candidate, and present indications seem in favor of Charlemagne Rodier.

Tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock the Liberals of Three Rivers will hold their convention, and on October 1, that of Argenteuil will be held. The convention of St. Mary's division will be held on Thursday evening, and will be attended by Lucien Cannon, K.C., M.P., from Quebec.

A Liberal delegation from Maisonneuve division with signatures of over a hundred names has invited J. B. Merineau, former Montreal Post Office employe, to run as candidate in that division. He asked for a few days to consider the proposal.

J. E. C. Bumbray has received a petition signed by 3,400 electors of that division asking him to stand as protectionist candidate, and announces his intention of doing so.

There is talk of Dr. W. L. McDougald as a likely Liberal candidate in St. Ann's division, to succeed J. C. Walsh, K.C., M.P., who has now ascended the bench of the Superior Court.

PITY PLATEAU 1234.

The gentleman who has the misfortune to own the telephone number Plateau 1234 has had the time of his life since last Friday, and will probably vote Bolshevist if a suitable candidate stands in his division.

By some mistake, Liberal headquarters had on their list of telephone numbers Pl. 1234, as their organizer's number, instead of Pl. 1324, which is the right number. All the newspapers published, at the request of headquarters, the list of H. Q. telephone numbers, including Pl. 1234, and the party who actually owns that number has had no rest day or night for answering telephone calls, and explaining to people that he is not Liberal headquarters.

Commenting on incidents of the political campaign going on in this province, Hon. L. A. Taschereau this morning declared that the entry of Henri Bourassa into the political field once more was the biggest piece of news of the day.

"It now remains to be seen what side he is going to lean toward," he remarked. "It is a striking proof of the fact that once a man gets into politics, it always draws him more or less. After fourteen years of absence from active political life, Mr. Bourassa again finds himself drawn back to it."

R. L. Calder, K.C., will open his campaign in Mount Royal Ward as independent candidate, by an address tonight at eight o'clock to the electors of Notre Dame de Grace Ward, in the old Fire Hall.

Rimouski will be visited by the Hon. E. L. Patenaude next week, it is rumored this morning. Mr. Patenaude will speak in that constituency in the interests of G. Simard, who is opposing Sir E. Fiset, the former Liberal member for that riding. It is possible that the Honorable Mr. Patenaude and his party will also speak in Gaspe.

ARMY AND NAVY MEN WANT COL. BUCKLEY

The eastern contingent of delegates to the annual convention of Army and Navy Veterans opening today in Regina, have approached Lieut.-Col. J. F. Buckley, of Montreal, secretary of the Quebec Provincial Branch of the Canadian Red Cross Society, to ask him to let his name be put in nomination for the Dominion Presidency. His supporters feel that in the person of Col. Buckley, whose interests are wholly taken up in matters relative to the ex-soldier, and whose presence is constantly required at Ottawa, that the Dominion Association would be worthily represented. However Col. Buckley has stated that he will give no decision until after his arrival in Regina.

Attendance at the Regina convention will be heavy in view of the importance of the matters on the agenda.

A. E. Baldock, and Lieut.-Col. J. F. Buckley are representing the Montreal Unit of the Veterans. The attitude of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada as a whole on the subject of amalgamation will be determined, and matters relative to ex-service men and their dependents will be discussed as usual.

To the Women of Canada

In other countries where women who have been endowed with the right to vote, and have grown keenly appreciative of the power that has been placed in their hands, the great majority now exercise the power as a sacred endowment and with fixed determination.

Intelligent women, alive to their responsibility, allow no obstacle such as weather or inconvenience to deter them in going to the polls.

Generally speaking, women's instincts in regard to the public welfare are of a better quality than those of the men. Women's judgment as to what is right and good for the country is not so apt to be warped by party affiliation and in a great crisis such as has overtaken Canada the salvation of the Dominion, the halting of the wild era of destructive extravagance can be greatly helped by the women if they will qualify themselves by registering and then use their ballots on the 29th of October.

In what looks like an attempt to defraud the women of their votes the Government has restricted the right and opportunity to register to six days instead of one month, the time necessary to accomplish the work with any degree of thoroughness, but notwithstanding this hindrance it is firmly believed hundreds of thousands of women animated by a patriotic spirit will take the trouble to register and follow it up by exercising their franchise.

The 29th day of October should mark the beginning of a new era in Canadian history if the women are to work for the country's good.

This is an opportunity once lost may not recur because the nation, if not brought to a halt, is heading for disaster that may bring distress to the whole people. There are only two days more for registration.

MEN VOTERS

During the last fifty years we do not recollect an election in Canada that was not followed by hundreds of complaints sent to The Star from men who found their names were not on the voting list. Investigation proved in many cases that the fraud was committed by returning officers in collusion with the candidates, but not INFREQUENTLY, THE OMISSION WAS DUE TO THE NEGLECT OF THE VOTER IN NOT SECURING THE RIGHT BY REGISTERING. There are still two days in which to register. Any person in doubt about their registering station can find help at 177 St. James street. It is to be hoped that in the coming election every one who is entitled to vote will make sure their names are inscribed. The fact that they voted four years ago is no guarantee that their names have been carried over to this year's list. In the meantime The Star will pay a reward of $1,000 for information that will lead to the conviction of a returning officer guilty of collusion.

WHO ARE ENTITLED TO VOTE

Every British subject, man or woman, who is twenty-one years of age and has been in Canada for one year. They must register in the division in which they were resident before July 5th last.

POLITICAL NEWS ACROSS CANADA

OTTAWA, Sept. 28.—(Star Special by Own Correspondent). — Fourteen seats in the House of Commons are representative of as many constituencies in the Ottawa Valley. Five of them are on the Quebec side of the river and the remaining nine in Ontario. In all of them political activity in preparation for the election is apparent, but in some the choice of candidates is yet to be made, the delay being due mainly to difficulties in securing the desired men.

Ottawa is one of three constituencies in Canada electing two members by dual vote. Here the Conservatives have nominated Stewart McClenaghan and Dr. John L. Chabot. The Liberals seem to be having trouble in securing a running mate for E. R. E. Chevrier, former French M.P. Gordon Edwards, upon whom they depended, switched to Russell County. Now efforts are being made to induce Norman Wilson, former M.P., to run. At one time he represented Russell when filling out the term of his brother-in-law, the late Senator Edwards. Mrs. Wilson is more prominent in politics than her husband. She is a daughter of the late Senator Robert MacKay, of Montreal. Of the Conservative team, Dr. Chabot has sat two terms in the Commons. His colleague, Mr. McClenaghan is an old and active Conservative, high up in the Retail Merchants Association in Canada. Four years ago, Progressives tried their luck in Ottawa and got as far as to poll 5000 votes. Without candidates this time, that element of the community may be a potent factor.

In Russell County, Gordon Edwards and Alfred Goulet are contending for the Liberal nomination at a convention fixed for next Friday. Conservatives, before nominating, await its outcome. In Prescott neither side has yet made a choice. There are five active aspirants for the Liberal nomination but a convention has not been called and the riding executive recently decided not to summon a convention but this will likely be countermanded. Conservatives, so far, are looking on. In Carleton, the fight is between W. F. Garland, Conservative, former M.P., and M. N. Cummings, Liberal. In Lanark County, Dr. R. F. Preston has been chosen again by the Conservatives but no Liberal has lined up in the race. In South Lanark, Hon. T. A. Low, Minister of Trade and Commerce, is opposed by Dr. Maloney, Conservative, and the latter is being supported by Isaac Pedlow, Liberal, former M.P., who has broken with his party. In North Renfrew, Dr. Matthew McKay, Liberal, former M.P., is opposed by Dr. Cotnam, Conservative. They are the same team as in 1921. In Nipissing, at the head of the Valley, Wm. Lapierre, Liberal, former M.P., is to fight it out with John Ferguson, former mayor of North Bay, Conservative.

On the Quebec side, in Pontiac, Conservatives have not yet chosen an apponent to Frank Cahill, Liberal, former M.P. There is talk of a French Independent-Liberal. In Wright County, R. M. Gendron, Liberal M.P., lost the nomination and has been replaced by William Perras, mayor of Gracefield, who will be opposed by F. A. Labelle, Conservative. In Hull City, to which is added some rural townships, the Liberals have Dr. Fontaine, former M.P., in the field and the Conservatives, Louis Cousineau, Mayor of Hull. H. A. Fortier, former M.P., for Labelle, has gone to the Superior Bench and Henri Bourassa has been nominated as an independent. Sir George Perley has accepted the Conservative candidature but the Liberals have not selected his opponent. Mr. Legault, K.C., of Lachute, is spoken of in that connection.

TORONTO OUTLOOK

TORONTO, Sept. 28 — (Star Special). — The immediate election outlook in Toronto is for seven sure Conservative seats. The two doubtful seats appear to be those of East and West Centre Toronto. In West Centre, ex-Mayor Horatio Hocken is likely to meet a stiff battle from Joseph Singer, and his seat is regarded as the most risky. In Centre East, which embraces wards two and three, the convention's choice was the sitting member, Hon. Edmund Bristol, but the ward two delegation did not agree and appointed their own candidate, Armstrong, so that at the moment there are two Tories opposing Dr. Cascadden, Liberal. If both run the split vote may elect the Liberal. There is the possibility of reunion of the Conservative party in East Centre.

T. L. Church, M.P., has the convention for Northwest Toronto; R. L. Baker for Northeast; J. B. Ryckman for East Toronto and A. J. Anderson for High Park, where it is expected he will defeat his opponent, Hon. James Murdock.

Dave Spencer is the Conservative candidate for Parkdale, and J. Harris for Scarboro. In addition to these the South Toronto convention is called for this evening when it is virtually certain that ex-Mayor Reg. Geary will be chosen as the Tory standard-bearer.

Except for the two centre constituencies mentioned the candidates named are regarded as absolutely certain of victory.

General election talk in Toronto would indicate a belief that the King Government will be returned at the polls, though with a considerably lower margin of control. Various grounds are given for this belief. It is held that despite the railway and tariff situation the country, as a whole, especially in rural districts, is considerably better off than it was when the King administration came into power. This is not only the case in the West, but in Ontario, where country bank managers report a general cleaning off of farmer liabilities and stiffening in their cash position.

Some curious betting is being done in street circles. Several bets have been placed on the possibility of the leaders of both parties going down to defeat in their own constituencies. H. Lennox will give the Premier a good run in North York, in fact quite a bit of money is available favoring a Lennox's election. Had Keith, the other proposed Tory standard-bearer, run through, it is said, more money would have been offered that the Premier would be defeated.

No little local interest is attached to the appearance of Vincent Massey in the lists as a Government supporter. If any company was ever built up on a tariff, the Massey Harris concern was. One story is current that the Premier was particularly anxious to get Mr. Massey on his side in order to prevent any active participation on the Conservative side by Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt, on the grounds that it would be almost impossible for two implement manufacturers to come out on opposing sides of the fence.

ACTIVE IN B. C.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 28 — (Star Special.) — British Columbia always takes its politics in large doses, and in the present Federal contest is not only digesting National policies but is repeating the menue of local railway freight issues, served at the provincial campaign table last year.

The fight in the four Vancouver constituencies, and in New Westminster and Fraser Valley, centres on the duel in the centre division of the city riding between Hon. H. H. Stevens, former minister of trade and commerce in the Meighen Government and G. G. McGeer, K.C., British Columbia counsel in freight rate matters. Naturally Mr. McGeer's appeal is being made on freight rates alone, his friends arguing that he should, because of his past performance as counsel, be delegated to carry the fight into Parliament. Conservatives reply that credit for the sustained effort of British Columbia, to obtain removal of discriminatory rates, rests with the tax payers, who have paid Mr. McGeer $150,000 in counsel fees and expenses, and not with their lawyer.

Both sides display a tendency to inject a bitterness into the fight that promises to develop into what is usually referred to as "A red hot dish" before the campaign ends. Mr. McGeer has attacked his opponent, declaring that he has been neglectful of British Columbia's interest in railway matters, while Mr. Stevens quotes Hansard in refutation of the allegation.

Mr. Stevens has launched a vigorous attack on the manner which the Harbor Board has been conducting the grain elevators of the port, and in this his opponent agrees, to the extent of promising an enquiry into the affairs of the Commission. The honors in this duel, to the present, are slightly in favor of the Conservative who maintains that a wise and careful Government would not have permitted such conditions to have developed.

VANCOUVER ISLAND

On Vancouver Island interest is largely confined to the fight between A. W. Neill, Independent, and Tom Collicutt, Conservative. Liberals are backing Neill, who supported the Government in the last House. Here, and in the constituency of Nanaimo, the tariff is an issue. The argument is advanced that a high tariff, as advocated by Arthur Meighen, will protect the Collieries against the competition of cheap fuel.

The only riding in the province where a nominee has not been selected is Victoria. There the Liberals are acknowledging difficulty in securing a strong candidate to contest the seat held by Hons. S. F. Tolmie. There is a possibility that the election of the genial doctor may be conceded, although a strong section of the Liberal party favor making a fight.

In Cariboo and Skeena local rivalries have become enmeshed in the wheels of the party machines. Fred Stork, of Skeena, is being opposed by George Nickerson, who is running as an Independent Liberal-Progressive, in addition to having to face George Bushby, a grandson of Sir James Douglas, the "Father of B.C." In Cariboo previous arrangements were for the Liberals to swing in behind Tom McBride, the Independent who voted with the Government in the last House, but something went wrong and Ray Leighton, Liberal, was forced into the field by the adherents of the party in the northern section of the riding—and they are making a stirring fight. J. A. Fraser is the Conservative candidate.

In West Kootenay, W. K. Esling and J. Humphreys, Labor member in the former Parliament, are fighting a quiet but intensive duel. In East Kootenay, Hon. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, is in a straight fight with Dr. Rutledge. Dr. Rutledge is receiving platform support from Hon. H. H. Stevens.

Business Men Object When Street Work Puts Crimp In Their Trade

Proprietors with business places at the intersection of St. Denis and Mount Royal, entered complaints at the City Hall today of city operations. Road and street improvements along these streets of late. Practically a new sidewalk had been torn up on Saturday.

The business men complained that the interruption and inconvenience caused damage to their week-end trade and asked the city that in future, when such work has to be done, it be postponed to some other day.

BURGLARS STEAL $6,000 IN CLOTH

Smash Barriers to Get Stock of St. Lawrence Boule-Tailor

Burglars, using skeleton keys, opened the front door at the Canadian Upholstery company, 1600 St. Lawrence boulevard, battered their way to the upper flat by demolishing every barrier, broke a door leading to the second storey of 1602, occupied by Deutsch Brothers, manufacturing clothiers, and got away with bolts of cloth to the value of $6,000, Saturday night.

The burglars took the precaution to lock the front door after them to disarm suspicion of the policeman trying the doors on his route. Once inside the upholstery store, they made for the upper flat through which they broke their way through a door into the clothier's premises. Nothing was disturbed at 1600, the object of the unlawful errand being Deutsch Brothers store, from which the $6,000 worth of cloth was stolen. The goods were taken out by a rear door which was found locked by the owner when he visited his store Sunday Morning at 7.30.

WILL OPEN ROOMS

William Tremblay, treasurer of the Maisonneuve Labor Club, who has been nominated Labor candidate for Maisonneuve Division in the forthcoming Federal election will open his central committee rooms during the coming week. The Maisonneuve Labor Club will hold its regular meeting on October 5 for the expounding of the Labor program to the electors.

SAY CHAUFFEUR HELPED ROBBERS

Peter Birrill Arrested as Involved in Bank Robbery

LINKED WITH RIFKIN

Police Allege Newest Prisoner Got Car for Getaway

Charged with implication in a conspiracy to obtain the automobile used in the hold-up of the Bank of Hochelaga branch at Sherrington, Que., last December, when bandits secured $1,900 cah, Peter Birrell, chauffeur, 300 Old Orchard avenue, was arraigned in Enquete Court, before Judge Enright this morning.

The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge and bail of $5,000 was demanded for his release.

Birrell's name was linked with that of Kin Rifkin, alleged head of the combination that planned and executed the Sherrington hold-up. He was arrested Sunday night by Sergeant Detective Therrien, who, in conjunction with other members of the detective force, has been at work on the affair since last December.

Although no evidence was heard at this morning's session of the Court, it is understood the prosecution will attempt to establish connection between Birrell and the gang responsible for the hold-up. Birrell, they say, was responsible for obtaining the car the bandits used to make their getaway. The car in question, later recovered by the police, was found to be the property of Birrell's employer.

It is alleged that Kin Rifkin approached Birrell shortly before the hold-up and arranged to steal the car the accused was at that time employed to drive. The conspiracy, the police say, was successful and shrouded in mystery until the arrest of Rifkin last week.

Birrell will appear for preliminary hearing October 5th.

Housekeeping Up-to-Date

Many homes, little and big alike, are working on a budget system nowadays, and finding it a practical way of making the most of their income. When it comes to the division labeled, "Table," it will be found in most instances, that Stanford's figures largely here. For it is these business-like people who realize that the most economical food is that of first-class quality because it goes farthest with a minimum of waste—and they patronize a store they can depend upon for such.

He favored a policy in regard to the Dominion's natural resources, which would have as its ultimate object to reach a point where the resources of the country would be exploited in the country, and her raw materials manufactured at home, for the profit of Canadian workers.

"When these matters were properly disposed of, he urged, the questions of immigration and emigration would solve themselves. When all this had been accomplished, there still remained the task of cultivating the National spirit amongst Canadians, the spirit which would prompt them to cease grabbing each for his own, and be ready to make sacrifices, one for another.

HAS FULLEST LIBERTY

After a few complimentary allusions to the local candidate, Louis Cousineau, Hon. Mr. Patenaude said:

"A few days ago, after a good deal of urging from various sources, I came to the conclusion that I ought to enter the field of Federal politics, because I thought the political situation of the country was such that all good citizens were called to join the struggle which is now going on.

"I am still only a man who came out of the crowd, without any particular influence, but it happens I have, both for myself and for my friends, the fullest liberty to speak and to act that any man can have.

"If the party of Mr. King, his Ministers and his Members of Parliament and friends have set out upon a campaign of lies and insults in the Province of Quebec, because a single man has arisen who is free, I wonder if it is not a very great compliment to me. And, even as Mr. Cousineau said, even if I am alone, I can do my duty. I think that perhaps one man alone, but free, may be better than a whole party, in view of the campaign that is being carried out by the Ministers of the King Government in the Province of Quebec recently.

"I want to tell them one thing this evening. I will not follow them on the road they have started, for that road leads only to the sewer. They may succeed in insulting me, but I have no fear of them, not even if there were an army of them.

"They have great need to meet a man who would tell them what is their end. I started out doing so at St. Laurent. I will perhaps not be able to speak as often as they, but I have the intention to continue to the end of the struggle, if I keep my strength. And even if my strength fails, I will not abandon the task of telling them the truth right to the end.

"Questions have been raised as to who are the party chiefs. They are in a hurry to sort and share out the authority and name chiefs. That is because these men have been accustomed to bind themselves hand and foot to a man, so that he can do as he likes with them. That is what has been done for the past four years. Quebec gave to King 65 deputies to go to Ottawa, to carry out a sane policy for the country, but the Province of Quebec did not ask them to stuff their ears and close their eyes and allow themselves to be delivered like a postal parcel to the Western Progressives.

COME BACK SLAVES.

The Province of Quebec elected them as free men, and Mr. King hands them back four years later as slaves. Mr. King played see-saw with them for four years, asking first the support of the Conservatives to keep them in power, and the next day asking the help of the Progressives to help them stay in power, and after four years of this, they come back before the people and tell them what? Just what they told them four years ago.

But in what position are they now? What is their position as regard the tariff? The Government ceded before the demand of the Progressives, and directed its policy toward lower tariffs. But when the election comes near, they say to themselves, "The Quebec members were elected for something else. We may finish up by meeting some objections and obstacles in our path if we are not careful."

Then they had the idea of organizing what they called the advisory committee to recommend regarding the tariff. They also had the idea of choosing two ministers without portfolio, so that they could say to the Province of Quebec and the East that these men were protectionists, and therefore the Government must be protectionist. But I wonder how these men are going to sit together.

Mr. Marler and Mr. Massey are on one side, set there to show to the central Provinces that there is no danger for the tariff. But beside them there is Mr. Stewart, who when the amendment lowering the tariff was put through said this was the death knell of protection.

How can they reconcile themselves and their contradictory opinions? It is in that position that the Government comes before the people. Worried on one hand about the vote of the West, and on the other hand by the vote of the Eastern Provinces.

And this is the man who comes and asks us whom we are following. We have reached a moment in the history of our country where you have no more need to ask what man you will follow, but rather what convictions a man will carry, and what interest he will give to the affairs of his country.

NO LONGER SOLID.

You had a solid bloc in Quebec in 1921. They say they will elect the bloc solid again. But already their bloc is no longer solid.

Some little time ago, when the tariff amendments were presented to Parliament, there were in their ranks some people who condemned their policy, people who abandoned them, not because they lacked sympathy for their neighbors, but because they could not see that the policy was in the interests of the country.

And today they appear before us. What will they do tomorrow? Suppose the situation should arise that arose two years ago. Would the 65 be again disposed to be tied hand and foot and put themselves in the hands of their chief so that he could deliver them whereasever he would provided he kept their party in power? Is that the sentiment of the Province of Quebec? If so, I do not recognize it any more.

As between them and me, whatever they may think, I am but a small person considered alone, but compared with them I begin to think I am better than any of them.

But what it is interesting to know at present, is not what I am or what I may be, but to know whether what I say is reasonable, and if I am right in what I ask of my friends.

I tell them, "strike me as hard as you like, but at least listen to me."

The question now before the country is, to know whether the Government you have had for four years can be kept in power. The question before the country is, whether you should elect to represent you a man who may belong to either one of the parties, if you like, but who, in his party, would be free to set forth his convictions, and try to convert to his opinions the bulk of his party, in the interest of his Province and of his country.

In this country, if we want to continue to develop it and bring it to prosperity and peace, we must first of all reconsider the basis of its economic life, and establish peace in the minds of the people.

We live in an immense country, only in its infancy, alongside an immense country, fully populated. The United States have over 125 million souls. Canada has only ten million. We are established all along the frontier. The United States exercises a sort of magnetic action on us.

Both in economic and physical life, the theory of communicating vessels applies. We must believe that with the close communication between the two countries, we must be penetrated by the neighboring country, and the National sentiment of this country is liable to disappear, and with it, her prosperity.

Then, to the East, we have England which for nearly a century has been the workshop and head office of the whole world. That is the country that we naturally touch closely. They have behind them a century of prosperity and commercial supremacy. On the other hand, we see rising up on the west, a country with hordes of workers working for trifling wages.

So you see our position. On one side we have England with its hundred years of commercial supremacy. On the other hand, a race of poorly paid workers, and on the south, the richest people in the world.

MUST REDUCE DEBT.

Do you not think we ought to begin to take an inventory of our affairs? That we must start by studying how to re-organize our economic life so as to assure the prosperity of the people of the country, and at the same time to furnish the means of raising families and looking with confidence to the future?

For that purpose, we must adopt first a policy that will gradually and steadily reduce the burden of our National debt. And, whatever may be said of it, if we add up the total of our debts, Federal, Provincial, Municipal, debts of big corporations to foreign countries, you arrive at a formidable amount, such an amount that we are obliged every day to pay to foreign countries in interest, hundreds of millions of dollars that the community pours out daily. If we stopped there, that would be bad enough. But if we figure up the number of our sons that we have lost in a few years, in addition to the money, if we take account that we are paying a tribute of blood besides in money—for in recent years we lose 400 to 500 of our sons every day. Canada cannot afford to lose 400 to 500 of her sons every day in order that Mr. King may be kept in power and that a solid bloc may exist in Quebec.

I will take up the question of the tariff first. I am not ready to say that it is sufficient simply, when a crisis arises, to raise the tariff. It is hardly probable that in every case that would be the efficacious remedy. But in every case, taking into account the situation of our country, I would start by making an economic inventory, in order to know, before readjusting the tariff, what were the most profitable industries to the country, what were those that assured the greatest amount of prosperity. I would readjust the tariff so as to procure in each centre, a reasonable measure of protection which would allow these industries to develop.

When that inventory has been made, what would be the wise doctrine? Wherever we have a profitable industry, we must provide such protection as will enable the manufacturer to cover the expenses of his business, pay his workers generously, his overhead, his materials, and a reasonable profit on this enterprise. That is a fair protective tariff. It should allow the man to carry on his industry profitably, but without speculation, to continue to run his business, and make it permanent, given a fair wage to his workers, paying a profit and laying something by.

The first duty of Mr. King four years ago would have been to make a study, and to apply the remedy, in the way I have indicated.

TWO WAYS EXIST.

Now let us pass to another line of thought. We have in this country natural resources of immense wealth. Contrary to what happens in other countries, these resources are not exploited as they should be. Let us examine the situation. You know the wealth of our forest domains, of our nickels mines, of our asbestos mines, of our mines in general, our fisheries, and other natural resources. But what is the best means of exploiting them? There are two ways.

You can do what Mr. Cousineau was speaking of a little while ago, and pay wages of $25 to $30 a month for cutting the forests down, and ship the raw wood and a little pulp to the United States to be finished and manufactured there, or you can follow the industry right through to the finish, and sell the finally manufactured paper.

What is happening now, is that we are not deriving from our forest wealth all the benefit and profit we ought to. That difficulty cannot perhaps be settled in a few days, but should we not start to take steps toward exploiting these riches in our own country, so that the people may get the full benefit from them?

And instead of exporting to the United States our half manufactured wood, we would sell the paper and fine wood products to them, so as to keep in the country all the profit from our natural resources and provide for thousands of additional families.

What I say regarding wood applies equally to asbestos, nickel, and other products that we have abundantly here, and that we could exploit for the benefit of our people.

And do not forget that when employ your sons as schatymen and miners, and let Government allow the exportation of these natural resources to be manufactured elsewhere, the result is, that one train takes our resources abroad, and the next train takes our young men after them, seeking work where the materials are to be manufactured.

What this country needs, is to have its materials stay in this country, and to establish in this country manufactures to exploit our natural resources for the benefit of our fellow-countrymen, so that our own people may get all the benefit of them, and that some day we may produce expert workers of our own to carry on the manufacture of these things to the last stage, giving our workers a remunerative wage for the time and talent they devote to the work.

WILL CHOOSE IMMIGRANTS.

When you have given to the country a tariff policy which allows capitalists to invest their money without fear; when ye have readjusted the tariff, and revised the economic regime of the country; when you have established throughout the country industries that will make it prosperous and will give the means of developing the population; when you have organized the complete exploitation of your natural resources, and brought prosperity to the country, the questions of emigration and immigration will resolve themselves, for they are the outcome of the other questions I have discussed. When your country is prosperous your children will not go abroad. You will be able to choose your immigrants, even as the United States do.

But, not only must we revise the economic life of the country, we must also bring peace into the minds of the people. We must develop a Canadian sentiment in this country. I have said that already in other meetings. I repeat it. We live in a country where we have to make sacrifices one for another. We have almost impassable barriers separating one part of the nation from another. We have to take account of this.

I know that we shall be obliged to make sacrifices for each other, but if we are to ask for sacrifices we must start by developing the sentiment of nationality. To get sacrifices from the members of a family, you must have the family spirit developed amongst them. Otherwise, they will not make sacrifices.

You have a difficult situation in the West. You have another in the Maritime Provinces. You have still another in the Central Provinces. Are we to go on for ever, each asking for himself and thinking nothing of the others? No.

But the sacrifices that must be made right and left must be made by the Nation as a whole, and for that you must understand much of its institutions.

It is not sufficient to do as the Government has done in the past four years, playing see-saw to keep in power, sometimes with the help of the Opposition, sometimes by the help of the Progressives. The general situation of the country must be studied. A complete inventory must be made. Readjustments must be made where required. And when that important National work has been done, we can then ask Canadians to develop among themselves the true National spirit, which will allow each of the two great races to develop itself according to its own tradition, according to its own temperament, according to its own mentality, in order that both, growing like two sisters side by side, can work together in harmony and concord, developing the country further and giving it the prosperity and happiness to which it is entitled.

And in passing, since I am at the door of Ontario and the West, and yet within the confines of the French province of this country, I am happy, turning toward the West, to say to those who inhabit those Provinces, "We may have been wrong sometimes, but sometimes we have been right. Let us put aside the discussions of the past." But in the name of my Province I think I can tell them that we are ready to offer them our hand, if they will do the same, and in this country, tell us that at Vancouver, at Winnipeg or Toronto, both of us may feel at home, as if we were in our own city of Quebec, Montreal or Hull, for those of us who are of French language, and you, when you are amongst us, you will be as much at home as if you were in Winnipeg, Toronto or Vancouver.

NEW SPIRIT ARISING.

I have the firm conviction that a new spirit is arising in this country, different from that of former days, which will give us abundant fruit before long, for it is not possible that in the state of crisis we are in now, this country will not give us men who will want to get together and give to the policy of the country the direction that will bring peace back to the minds of the people, and to the hearts of the people, and will produce a result that in Canada, more beautiful in her riches than all the other countries, these two races will each give to the other their good qualities and each drive out the other's defects, uniting to make the country greater, and continue to give to the country those great families that we have, in order to people ourselves the immense territory that makes our wealth, in order to populate it with our own people, so that along the sides of our rivers and streams our own people may dwell and grow.

We are only opening the soil and sowing the seed now, but in the fullness of time the harvest will come abundant and beautiful, the harvest I am hoping for and that you all hope for.

There is another question I want to take up yet. Mr. King at the start of this struggle spoke of reforming the Senate. The Senate forms one of the most valuable features of our administration. The Senate was constituted following the Pact of Honor of Confederation, to be the rampart not only of the minorities, but of the country's general interests, and to be the protection of the different sections of the country.

It was agreed then, between those who made the pact, that no one should ever touch the position of the Senate without having first obtained the consent of all the Provinces. And never before Mr. King did it ever occur to anyone to touch those who form perhaps the principal rampart of our race in this country.

Mr. King went beyond discussing the question of reform. He tells us in one of his recent meetings, that he would obtain reform of the Senate, because not one of the Senators appointed by him could enter the Senate without agreeing to reform it. How could he, knowing the pact of Honor, open the woor of the Senate only to people pledged in advance to reform it—refrom it without taking the pact into account?

Mr. King is adventuring on dangerous ground, and those who follow him are also in danger. Instead of passing their time raising up shameful prejudices, ministers and Quebec members would do better to tell us if they are ready to follow Mr. King on this ground. Are they ready to demolish the Pact of Confederation? Are they ready to destroy this rampart of the Senate? Why do they not speak of it, they who prostrate themselves before their chief. Why do they not speak of his policy?

Reform of the Senate is discussed by Mr. King. It is a dangerous policy, and one against the National interest. What we would it be for Mr. King to obtain a majority in the Senate by the means he indicates, if it is to compromise the work of Confederation? He has no right to tear out the foundation stones of Federation in order to keep his party in power.

Parties are quite respectable. t is necessary for the Government of a country that there should be parties, and a group of men co-ordinating their forces to give the Government a majority. It is necessary that these parties should have some direction. It is necessary that there should be authority. But above men, above parties, there is the country, and it is because Mr. King has no right to tear out the foundation stones of Federation in order to keep his party in power.

Parties are quite respectable. It is necessary for the Government of a country that there should be parties, and a group of men co-ordinating their forces to give the Government a majority. It is necessary that these parties should have some direction. It is necessary that there should be authority. But above men, above parties, there is the country, and it is because Mr. King has forgotten that above men and parties there is the country, that Mr. King merits to be severely condemned by the people of the country. He merits to be condemned because he thought that the first duty of a Government was to maintain his party in power not matter what the people suffered, that the first duty of a Government was to serve its friends, rather than to ask if the people had food to eat or if the people had confidence in him. (Applause.)

Mr. King deserves to be condemned because he made only party politics. Because he had a policy of one section against another. Because he from time to time delivered those who gave him his majority, to the Progressive group. The Chief of the Government in the past four years was not Mr. King. It was the Progressive party and no other.

I have been glad to spend the evening with you discussing the affairs of the country, without raising any prejudice, without distributing any insults to the Government or their friends, but treating them very politely, and whatever insults they may scatter along the road, I have no intention of stopping either to consider what they say or to make any appreciation of it. I simply want, along with you and the people of the Province, to study the situation, analyze it, find the solution if possible, and in any case inform you of the problems that we have to solve. Today I am here, tomorrow Maniwaki, the next day somewhere else. But no matter where I may be called upon to speak, no matter what the audience, it is the same doctrine I will preach everywhere, the doctrine of a man free in his party—(cheers—free from men and from things, but ready to accept all help, no matter from where it comes, and grasp every loyal hand that wants to come forward to serve the country's interests, and be assured of one thing, that if every public man who asks the public suffrage in this struggle was a little inspired by the complaints that are rising from the people, and if he would analyze the sufferings of the people, he would feel arising in him sentiments that would not drive him to insults, but would cause him to look with greater love toward the people who suffer, in order to see their sufferings and help their troubles, and enable each family to have tomorrow more bread on the table, greater consolation for their womenfolk, and a brighter future for the family that is growing up, for the greater good of the country and the greater happiness of the Nation.

Mayo L. Cousineau, the Conservative candidate in the division drew striking contrasts between his own public life and that of his Liberal opponent in the division. Dr. F. A. Labelle and J. C. Langlois also spoke. Dr. J. A. Archambault and J. B. Charrette presided.

ALBAN GERMAIN IS NOMINATED

Liberal-Conservative Choice in Laval-Two Mountains

CUT INCOME TAX

Hon. James A. Robb Makes Promises at Ormstown Meeting

Alban Germain, K.C., was chosen Liberal-Conservative candidate in Laval-Two Mountains division at a convention of Conservative electors at St. Eustache Saturday afternoon. Hon. Andre Fauteux had been frequently mentioned as likely candidate for this division, but a letter from him was read at Saturday's meeting, in which he asked that his name be not presented.

Mr. Germain proclaimed himself a true Liberal-Conservative, but possessed, nevertheless, of a bit of independence. He had stayed out of the unionist group in 1917 on account of his opposition to conscription, and had stayed out of Conservative politics in 1921 on account of his opposition to state-owned railways. If elected, he would still be a stubborn opponent of state ownership of railways.

He was opposed to any tendency to break friendship with Great Britain. Canada was in a minority here, and if the day ever came when her rights were in jeopardy, the only remedy lay in an appeal to the throne of Great Britain.

ROBB'S PROMISES.

A reduction in income tax next session, if his party is in power then, was promised by Hon. James A. Robb, Minister of Finance, in his address to a gathering of electors at Ormstown on Saturday afternoon.

He favored moderate tariff, with reduction of public debt and carrying charges. He thought the improved position obtained by recent financing operations would enable him to substantially reduce carrying charges, and reduce the income tax in proportion.

Mr. Robb took issue with the argument of people from the Maritime provinces who contended that Central Canada, Ontario and Quebec profited most by the tariff, and that they sometimes did so at the expense of other parts of the Dominion. That was not so. But in Ontario and Quebec great industries had been established, giving work to thousands of people who had been in turn good customers for the products of other parts of Canada. There had been no complete revision of the tariff since 1897.

He urged that the appointment of a tariff board was a much wiser plan than the hit or miss policies of Mr. Meighen and the Progressive party, one of whom wants to put the tariff up and the other to bring it down, without any study of details, or consideration for particular requirements.

A big part of the agricultural imports that were cited as an argument against the Liberal Government, were tea, coffee, raw sugar, tropical fruits, and so forth. The Canadian farmer had no desire, he thought, to try to grow these, so why tax them? With goodwill all round, taxes could be still further reduced, but he was anxious to produce a gradual liquidation of the national debt, which would not prove burdensome.

R. L. CALDER, K.C., SPEAKS ON TARIFF

The tariff and the buying of Canadian made goods were the two main subjects discussed at Saturday morning's meeting of the Purchasing Agents' Association convention. After the meeting, the delegates toured the harbor in the afternoon in the Sir Hugh Allan, and held a banquet in the evening.

H. M. Jaquays, chairman of the Montreal divisions of Canadian Manufacturers' Association, addressed the delegates in the morning on the necessity of buying to an increased extent home made goods. This would help the Government in dealing with the railway and the immigration and emigration problems.

R. L. Calder spoke on the tariff, pointing out that the customs tax was a most essentially fair tax. He was in favor of adopting a level, uniform customs tariff, sufficient to meet all taxation needs, and wiping out all sales taxes and income taxes and such like. The only alternative to this, with manufacturers clamoring for free entry of their raw materials, was the appointment of a tariff commission, with power to study these manufacturers' claims and make recommendations.

MEIGHEN TO SPEAK ON ELECTION EVE

OTTAWA, Sept. 28. — (C.P.) — Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader will speak at the Auditorium here on the eve of the general election, October 28, it is announced.

Robert Forke Raps Grits and Tories On Election Talk

"The Prime Minister thinks that everything is going smoothly," said Mr. Forke. "Mr. Meighen is inclined to take a gloomy view of life anyway, and when he looks at the Government he despairs. For him, only a change of Government will save the country. The truth is probably somewhere between these two. The Canadian National debt increased over one hundred million dollars last year.

"We cannot go on that way forever and I am not going to shout blue ruin but that is the condition in which we find ourselves in respect to the Canadian National Railway. There must be a change. What are we going to do? That is what I am waiting to hear Mr. King and Mr. Meighen say."

Mr. Meighen would cut out all capital expenditures but, argued Mr. Forke, that would mean the deterioration of the system. The Senate scheme of amalgamation would be very acceptable to the C.P.R. with its 7 per cent interest guaranteed. "I think what ought to be done would be to write down the capitalization of the National system to what may be its value as a going concern. I would like also to see the elimination of much of the existing duplication."

SAVED MILLIONS.

The presence of the Progressive at Ottawa had saved the Crow's Nest Pass rates on grain and flour and consequently millions of dollars to the west. Mr. Forke traced the history of the Crow's Nest rates from 1922, when the Government had recommended the abrogation of the rates "and then backed down." In 1924 we put up all the fight we could but we were vastly out-numbered and though we had no sympathy, we were able to retain the rates on grain and flour.

"The Progressives will be behind any Government which will secure lower transportation rates on land and sea." In regard to the Petersen contract the Progressives had not been enthusiastic because they could not see how ten ships could break an Atlantic combine with one thousand sailings every season from Montreal alone. "We were not prepared to see $13,000,000 spent on an abortive scheme."

"That great statesman, Mr. Motherwell, the Minister of Agriculture, is almost a Progressive when he is in Ottawa," said the Progressive leader, "but when he comes west he slaps and slays Progressive. Let me tell you, if I get back to Ottawa, I'll have no mercy on the Minister of Agriculture." It was he who had confused the issue when the Hudson Bay railway was being discussed in the House by suggesting an alternative terminal at Fort Churchill.

TARIFF TAX.

Mr. King has said that "tariff is a tax and should bear as lightly as possible upon the people," yet he had also said that there should be a tariff to safeguard Canadian industries. Mr. Meighen says just the same thing. "I have no faith in anything we are going to get from Mr. Meighen, he is going to raise a tariff and you will have to pay more for your implements. I can't see how any man farming can support such policies. Talk of the home market is largely a myth. The home market is valuable so far as it goes, but high tariffs are out of place for people who have to sell in the markets of the world."

Taxation would be high in Canada for years to come. The interest alone on two and a half billion public debt would be sufficient to run the country before the war. In the handling of finance by the Parliament of Canada, the private member was not in a position to intelligently criticize the estimates. "Something ought to be done to handle more efficiently the millions of dollars in estimates which come before the House," said Mr. Forke.

"The tactics of our opponents are to repeat that the Progressive movement has failed and is dead. We are willing to admit mistakes. It is our frankness that had been capitalized." The Progressives have very small support in the press of Canada, Mr. Forke said. "We have many friends in the press gallery, but reports go out from the gallery which, while truthful, have a slant which is not flattering to the Progressives. Practically only the weeklies tell you anything about the Progressive movement.

NO MORE PARTISANSHIP.

"It has been said that we should make bargains with the Government. I don't believe in this idea of bargaining with extravagance. If we support a thing we will support it because we believe it to be right."

Mr. Forke predicted that Manitoba would return twelve Progressive members. "Our people will never go back to the old blind partizanship of other days. Public life has been enriched and made better by the Progressive movement. We stand for the prosperity of the primary industries and for national welfare. I don't want to see any division of Canada at the head of the Great Lakes, and I believe that the genius of the people of Canada will work out the vision of the fathers of Confederation."

ISSUES DEFI TO MR. PATENAUDE

Theoduie Rheaume Doubts Independence of Jacques Cartier Opponent

LIVELY MEETING

Liberal Orators Hurl Challenges Galore at Lachine Talkfest

A challenge to Hon. E. L. Patenaude, to the effect that he was an "Independent" candidate ashamed to acknowledge his leader, Hon. Arthur Meighen, and that he in no way represented the sentiment either of the province, its French-Canadian population or the voters of Jacques Cartier division, was issued by Theodule Rheaume, M.P., in opening his campaign at the Academy Piche, Lachine, Sunday afternoon.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor J. A. S. Ashby, of Lachine, and J. McLaughlin, president of Lachine Liberal Club, who briefly introduced the Liberal candidate. Mr. Rheaume was very warmly received.

A warm reception was given to Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who repeated, with a few new epithets, the attacks he launched in his address at a meeting in St. James' division last Tuesday.

Mr. Patenaude's declaration about his candidature being an answer to the call of duty, that he placed the good of the country before all party consideration, being as free of King as he was of Meighen, came in for scathing denunciation at the hands of Mr. Rheaume.

"He told us that it was his duty that made him abandon his provincial mandate at Quebec. Like the Maid of Orleans he heard voices calling him to Ottawa. There is "however" an expression of opinion among many of Mr. Patenaude's friends, that it was his duty to remain in Quebec, where popular favor had placed him, and where he had only served two years of his mandate, which still had three to run.

"He heard voices, but where? In the fields as did the maid? No. But in the Ritz Carlton and the Windsor Hotel."

The speaker insisted that Hon. Mr. Patenaude lacked the courage to form a third party in Quebec, declaring such to be unnecessary. He declared himself to be equally free of both parties, but in this case it was indeed strange that he had no reproaches to offer Mr. Meighen while he heaped them on the head of Mackenzie King.

"If Mr. Patenaude has no alliance with Mr. Meighen I should like to know what he was doing at Laval sur le Lac Golf Club, where Mr. Meighen suddenly decided he would like to play golf.

"Where does Mr. Patenaude hope to take his seat in parliament should any mischance return him for this riding? He has denied Mr. Meighen and Mr. King, he insults the Progressives. I feel that his ultimate destination can only be the knees of Miss Agnes McPhail." (Laughter).

The position of Hon. Rodolphe Monty was then taken up by the speaker. Here was a man who prior to Mr. Patenaude's advent in the campaign had been looked on as the leader of the Conservative party in Quebec, and as such had done much to revive Conservative sentiment throughout the province. "And here is Mr. Patenaude who reaps his sowing," shouted the speaker.

"With such a state of affairs, I am sure that the Conservatives elected in Quebec on October 29 will well be able to go to Ottawa in a motorcar and side car with the side car empty."

LAUDS LIBERALS.

Touching on the benefits which the city and district of Lachine had received under Liberal administration the Liberal incumbent referred to his success in obtaining a vote of $55,000 for the completion of the Lachine wharf and pointed proudly to the imminent fabrication of over 30,000 tons of steel in the machine shops for the new Montreal-Longueuil bridge.

Referring to the ten years of the Borden-Meighen regime as comparable to the ten plagues of Egypt, Mr. Rheaume drew a brief comparison of the administration of the country during that period and since the Liberal accession to power.

The question of Canadian autonomy was also taken up, the speaker harking back to the old days of the French Canadian patriots and pointing out amid cheers from his audience that William Lyon Mackenzie, maternal grandfather of the present Liberal chieftain, had been chased from his seat in Parliament for fighting similar battles on behalf of a neighboring province. He acclaimed the attitude adopted by Premier King in refusing to send troops to take part in a threatened near east conflict, without first consulting the people.

"In Mr. Patenaude's own interest I have a word of advice for him," Mr. Rheaume said, drawing toward the conclusion of his address," and that is, to tear away from his face the political mask which disfigures him before the electorate of Jacques Cartier and of this whole country. Quebec wants no masked politicians.

He closed with a dramatic appeal to Liberal sentiment, visualizing the spirit of Laurier hovering over the meeting, expressing "the grand old man's approval of Mackenzie King as his successor."

NO NEW GOSPEL.

Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, Minister of Marine, after eulogizing the candidate and his predecessor the late D. A. Lafortune, K.C., M.P., declared that he had not a new gospel to preach like Mr. Patenaude.

They had heard Mr. Patenaude preaching black ruin and sowing seeds of distrust of Canada. Mr. Cardin preferred to preach a doctrine of hope and to defend his country against people like Patenaude who had not the courage to believe in their country.

The friends of Mr. Patenaude had a right to criticize the principles and the administrative acts of any Governments or parties, but they had no right to preach that Canada was going bankrupt and that the United States was the real promised land.

The electorate should take steps to stop these preachers of discord, and pessimism and distrust. Canada was actually in a better position than the other countries that had taken part in the war.

Conservative newspapers in Canada admitted in their financial columns that Canada was prospering. The heads of banks and insurance companies agreed in this respect. They had the testimony of E. W. Beatty, president of the C.P.R. to the same effect. All the signs of returning prosperity were on hand.

Canada had taken a more effective part in the war than the United States, had played a bigger role, and had made a bigger sacrifice. And today they were rising out of their post-war troubles more rapidly than most other countries that were in the war.

NO PARTY, NO CHIEF.

The only new influence in the situation, was the advent of a new leader, who was so independent that he had no party, no chief and no definite policy to support. The only object that he could attain was to bring division into the Province of Quebec.

That game had been played in 1911, and it had caused the fall of Laurier. But that game could never be played again. (Applause.)

The public would not again be led astray. If Patenaude was neither for Meighen nor for King, he should have the courage to declare that he was the Mussolini that The Star had sought recently and intended forming a new party in Quebec to impose his will on the parties at present in existence. But he was simply ashamed of his chief. He boasted of Macdonald and Cartier, and yet he was ashamed to declare himself openly Conservative as they were.

Mr. Patenaude was independent. He wondered, whether, if Meighen came to Montreal, Mr. Patenaude would be there at his side to support or endorse his policy. If Mr. Meighen ever came back to power, he wondered if Patenaude would have a portfolio in the Government, and whether that portfolio would be that of Minister of Independence.

ALLEGES PARTIZANSHIP.

If there was any man showing partizanship in this election, it surely was this man, who was trying to divide the Province for the benefit of Mr. Meighen.

It required the audacity of a false saviour to put forward an opinion that the Liberals from Quebec favored conscription. "Why didn't he, the coward, come and tell us that in 1917," Mr. Cardin demanded in conclusion, amidst an outburst of cheers.

"Why did not the coward come and take his share with us of the blame and shameful treatment we got. He threw his portfolio in Mr. Borden's face, we are told. But that did not help you in any way. And when the fight was on he stayed safe and comfortable at home."

Mr. Cardin reiterated his charge that Mr. Patenaude was allied to the greatest Imperialist oin Canada, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, no matter what he might say about his own ideas of Imperialism. If there were many Canadians in the United States, the bulk of them had gone while the Conservatives were in power, and the current once started, was hard to stop.

There was no reason to fear that the solid bloc of Quebec would co-operate in destroying the Senate. Not one of the Quebec members wanted to destroy the Senate. But that did not mean that changes and reforms might not be carried out in its organization with advantage. And in any case, nothing would be done along these lines, until a conference of the Provinces of Canada had approved of it.

Among those present on the platform were: Senator Casgrain, Paul Mercier, M.P.; Dr. A. Denis, M.P.; and Ald. Legault. Armand Lebeau, president of La Jeunesse Liberale, also spoke briefly in spport of the candidate.

LIBERALS SELECT YOUNG CANDIDATE

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 28—(C. P.)—William H. Comstock the youngest candidate ever placed before the electors of the riding on Saturday was the unanimous choice of the Liberal convention for Leeds to oppose H. A. Stewart, K.C., Conservative Member in the late Parliament. Hon. Duncan Marshall was the chief speaker.

The Liberal candidate is in his 29th year and served overseas as an officer in the Royal Air Force. His father carried the celebrated Brockville by-election in 1899 for the House of Commons against Hon. Peter White.

M.D. No. 4 RIFLE ASS'N MEETING

Private E. E. Wright Led All Local Militia Marksmen

Private E. E. Wright, R.C.O.C., after a fine exhibition of marksmanship, both in rapid fire and deliberate shooting, captured the senior honors at the Military District No. 4 annual shoot, held at the rifle ranges at Pointe aux Trembles, Saturday. He even bettered his previous performance in the P.Q.R.A. meet, winning not only the grand aggregate but also the service one, at the same time winning the rapid fire contest.

Brig.-General C. J. Armstrong, C.B., C.M.G., was present, as officer commanding the military district and was accompanied by Lieut.-Col. K. M. Perry, D.S.O., general staff officer of the local district, while Major Wm. Neilson, D.S.O., had charge of the shoot, assisted by Sergt. A. P. Thwaites, captain of the M.D. No. 4 Rifle Association.

The tyro match was won by Sergt. W. Jackson, C.M.S.C., and the tyro aggregate by Private G. F. A. Wilkes, R.C.O.C. The Merchants' Match was won by Sergt. L. Chitty, R.C.O.C., who thus won the Workman Cup and Silver Medal. Sergt. A. P. Thwaites won the Association Match.

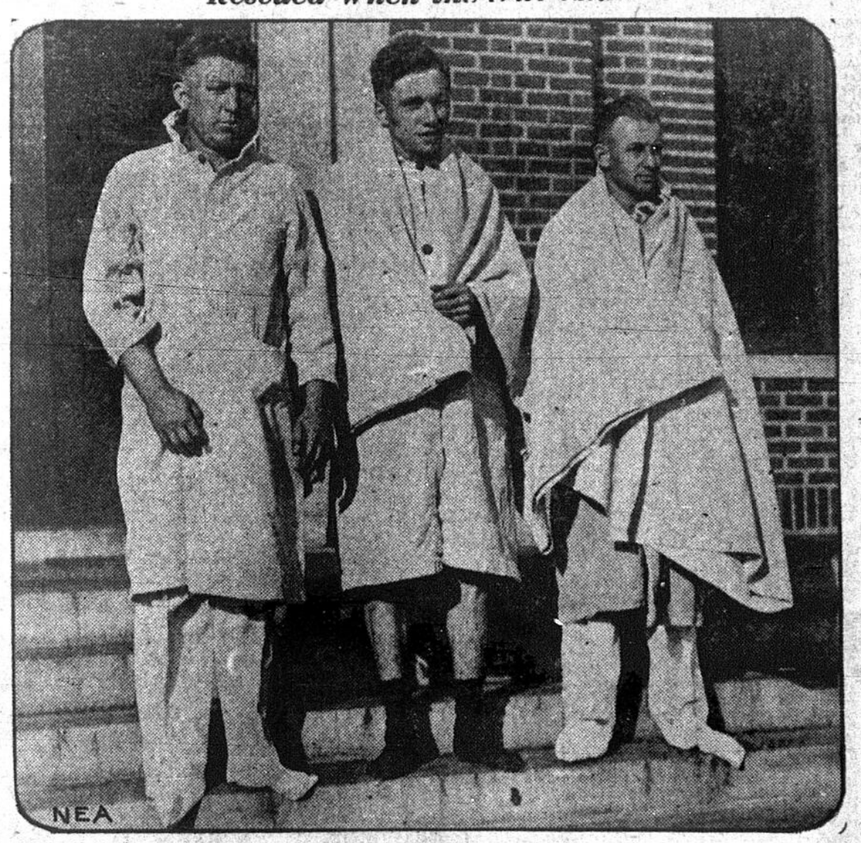
Rescued When the S-51 Sank



Clad only in pyjamas these three sailors, left to right: D. G. Kile, M. S. Lira and Alfred Geier, escaped when their 35 companions went down with the craft. Michael Lira, of St. Louis, and Alfred Geier, of New Bedford, are at the Chelsea Naval Hospital, Boston, for three or four days. Dewey Kile, of Peoria, Missouri, the third survivor, received scarcely a scratch and returned to the submarine base at New London, Conn., after examination by hospital physicians. It was said at the hospital today that Geier and Lira had sustained painful injuries but were not seriously hurt.

WILL PAY BOYS AT SHAWBRIDGE

Inmates of Training School Will Be Remunerated for Work

Boys residing at the Boys' Farm and Training School, Shawbridge, will probably receive remuneration for the agricultural work, commencing May 1 of next year, it was announced by Superintendent J. N. Barss, at the sports held there by the Rotary Club on Saturday. The step will be an innovation in institutions of this kind.

A farm band greeted the hundred or so Rotarians and their friends on arrival at the school by special train on Saturday afternoon. When the band ceased, a new kind of music made itself heard in the Laurentian valley. An Italian organgrinder whose music had resounded in Montreal streets for 37 years had accompanied the Rotarians to Shawbridge, and he started right in with his program. The boys hovered round him, and the fine assortment of prizes the Rotarians brought with them for the athletic events.

The program included a tug-of-war, in which the visitors were easily beaten by the farm boys, pillow fights from the top of greasy poles, shoe races, and a baseball game in which the Rotarians again lost out. In charge of the races were Superintendent Barss, Owen Dawson and Rotarians Charles Allen, W. R. Allen, Vernon McAdam, John Tremble, R. Gomery and F. C. Lydon. Before leaving, the visitors were entertained to supper at the farm. John Anderson, president of the Rotarians, announced that a radio set would be placed in the Lewis Memorial Cottage. The boys of the farm also had a presentation to make. Rotarian Anderson was the proud recipient of a pig, the gift of the boys. It was auctioned for $40 and the money and porker given to the farm.

Rotarian Pemberton Smith declared that if the institution encouraged boys to earn their living on the land instead of crowding into cities, it would have done a great deal for the Dominion. The institution has an agreement with the Laurentian Sanitorium to provide the sanitorium with milk, cream, eggs and butter produced on the farm. The amount of milk required will be 30,000 gallons per year when the sanitorium is filled to capacity. Further, the farm supplies 7,000 gallons of milk a year to the Mount Sinai Sanitorium, and vegetables have been carried to market in Montreal for the past two months. Fruit picked by the boys this summer includes 5,000 quarts of raspberries, 100 quarts of currants and 150 quarts of gooseberries. Their 210 hens have produced this year 19,000 eggs. From 65 acres of land they have produced hundreds of bushels of vegetables. Their tomato crop weighed five tons, their grain crop 600 bushels and their hay crop 150 pounds.

HARVEST FESTIVAL.

The annual Harvest Festival Services of St. Barnabas Church, St. Lambert, were held yesterday. The attendance was large at every service and the church was beautifully decorated with the fruits of the Earth. The evening service was conducted by the Rector, Rev. H. A. Naylor, M.A., the sermon being preached by Rev. H. Jekill, B. A., who took for his text, 107 Psalm, 8 verse. A full choir was present under the baton of St. Clair Tilley, the anthem rendered being—Ye shall dwell in the land. The services were greatly enjoyed.

HIGHLAND SOCIETY.

Arrangements are well under way for the opening of the Montreal Highland Society Saturday in the Morin Building, 3414 Park ave. The committee is sparing no effort to offer something out of the ordinary in the coming season's program. A link with the past is in store for old original members.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.

(From the Star Files, Saturday, Sept. 26, 1895.)

Ottawa—The Hon. A. R. Angers was here yesterday, having been summoned by a letter from the Premier. He had a long interview with Sir Mackenzie Bowell previous to the meeting of the Council, in the course of which he was offered the seat on the Supreme Court bench, rendered vacant by the death of Mr. Justice Fournier. Mr. Angers declined the appointment, on the ground that he would be deserting the rights of the minority if he were to accept any office, until the vexed school question is settled, and he wished to give to the minority all the assistance he could.

Montreal—A well-attended meeting of the electors of Montreal centre was held at the Roller Skating Rink, St. Maurice street, last night, in the interest of Mr. C. A. McDonnell, the Conservative candidate for the vacancy in the Provincial Legislature. The Hon. Edward Murphy presided and delivered a brief opening address in favor of Mr. McDonnell.

London—Four generations of Royalty were gathered last night at Balmoral, where ex-Empress Frederick of Germany, Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia and their son Prince Waldemar are visiting the Queen.

Yokohama—An attempt was made today on the life of Marquis Ito, Prime Minister and President of the Council of Japan. The would-be assassin, who is a member of the Anti-Foreign League, was arrested.

Winnipeg—Lieut.-Governor Chapleau, of Quebec, visited the French settlement at St. Jean yesterday.

TWENTY YEARS AGO.

(From The Star Files, Thursday, Sept. 28, 1905.)

Montreal — Baron Komura, Japan's plenipotentiary at the Portsmouth peace conference, passed through Montreal last night on his way to the Pacific Coast, where he will take ship for Japan. The great Japanese diplomat was accompanied by Baron Kaneko, Secretary Sato, Dr. Pytchard, of New York, and Miss Pinkerton, a trained nurse, also of New York. The Hon. T. Nosse, Consul-General of Japan in Canada, met the Rutland train, in which Baron Komura was travelling, at Montreal Junction, and at once boarded the private car, Saskatchewan, which had been placed at the Baron's disposal.

St. Petersburg—M. Witte arrived here at 8:25 a.m. and was accorded a very hearty reception by a large crowd of officials and others. In a brief speech, replying to a welcoming address, M. Witte showed clearly that he was deeply touched by the welcome with which he was received. When he left St. Petersburg in July, a small delegation of officials accompanied him to the railway station to bid him farewell. There was no public demonstration whatever. Today there were many officials, and an enthusiastic crowd of five or six hundred people.

Tokio—Marquis Ito, in his capacity of President of the Privy Council, was granted an audience by the Emperor yesterday afternoon, and received the Imperial rescript of the renewed alliance between Japan and Great Britain. Immediately thereafter the Emperor received the Privy Council as a whole. Premier Katsura is reported to have then explained the treaty. There is general rejoicing throughout the city, British and Japanese flags being much in evidence.

Montreal—Two old and trusted employes of the Customs Department in Montreal were yesterday presented with Imperial service medals, at the hands of Lieutenant-Governor Sir Louis Jette. The interesting event took place at three o'clock in the Mayor's rooms at the City Hall. The Lieutenant-Governor was accompanied by his aide-de-camp, Major Sheppard.

London—Passengers sailing on the Allan liner Virginian today, include the Hon. Neil Primrose, the second son of Lord Rosebery, who is to tour Canada preparatory to his entry to the British House of Commons, and Mr. J. Howard, M.P., a member of Mr. Chamberlain's tariff commission, who is paying a private visit.

THOMAS HENRICHON BURIED.

The burial service of Thomas Henrichon, was held on Saturday at the Church of Cote St. Paul, with Rev. A. Arbour, assisted by the Rev. Andre Beauregard and Rev. Jos. Martin, officiating. He is survived by his widow, Lumina Charland, and six daughters.

WOMEN'S WORK

SAILORS WERE ENTERTAINED.

The McLachlan W.C.T.U. held a social evening with the sailors at the Institute Place Royale, on Saturday night. Tea and cake were served, and a good program was given mainly by the members of the Verdun Onward Mission. After opening the meeting, J. Ritchie Bell gave Mr. Middleton, leader of the Mission, charge of the program. The choir sang two selections; a duet was sung by Miss Williamson and Mr. Wardlaw; Master Donald Mallinson sang two solos; a solo was also given by Harold Turner; the Misses Weir and Middleton sang a duet, and Miss Kitty Anderson played a piano selection. A recitation was given by Master Willie Milmine. The McLachlan Union provided comfort-bags for the seamen. Next Saturday's meeting will be in charge of the Montreal West W.C.T.U.

ST. CUTHBERT'S CHURCH W. A.

The annual bazaar in aid of St. Cuthbert's Church funds will be held on Tuesday and Wednesday, November 17 and 18, in the Church Hall, Ogilvy avenue, Park Avenue Extension. An addition is being made to the existing building, and it is expected that this will be completed by the end of October. The church is being enlarged so as to provide accommodation for another one hundred people; a basement-kitchen, new heating apparatus, new electric lighting installation and other improvements are included. The Harvest Festival Services will be held on Sunday, October 25, and the Harvest supper, under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary, has been arranged for Wednesday and Thursday, October 28 and 29.

Y.W.H.A. ACTIVITIES.

The Young Women's Hebrew Association has resumed its activities after the summer holidays, and registration for the various clubs and classes is now going on. Monday, October 12, is the opening day for all clubs, and girls are asked to enroll before that date. The activities for the coming season are as follows: Senior and junior social clubs, senior and junior dramatics, senior and junior gymnastic classes, dressmaking, millinery, art needlework, French conversation, English for foreign girls, swimming, social, recreation, and athletic clubs for juniors and seniors. Any girl over twelve years old is eligible for membership.

ELECTA CHAPTER PARTY.

Electa Chapter, O.E.S., is holding a card party on Wednesday afternoon at three o'clock in Ogilvy's tea rooms. The following members form the committee; Mrs. J. Morrison, Mrs. C. Cresswell, Mrs. E. Bradley, Mrs. C. Carr, and Mrs. J. Tilley. Players will bring their cards, score pads and tallies.

TEA AND COOKERY SALE.

The ladies of Mount Royal Vale Presbyterian Church are holding an afternoon tea and sale of home cooking, on Wednesday of this week.

FOSTER TO LEAD NEW BRUNSWICK

Declares Liberal Party Will Contest Every Constituency

St. John, N.B., Sept. 28.—(C. P.)—Hon. Dr. W. E. Foster, former Premier of New Brunswick, who was sworn in as Secretary of State at Ottawa on Saturday, and at once returned to St. John, yesterday announced he would direct the Federal campaign in New Brunswick for the Liberal Party and that every constituency would be contested in the coming election. He also announced that if the Liberals of St. John-Albert selected him as a candidate he would run in this constituency.

Arrangements are now being made for holding conventions in the two counties. The convention will likely be held a week from Monday.

Dr. Foster said:

"I have taken a deep interest in the development of the Port of St. John and while in Ottawa I took advantage of the opportunity to point out the needs of the port in the way of improvements and increased facilities for handling the export traffic that should come here over the C. N. R. and I soon hope to make an important and welcome announcement in this connection.

"I am very strongly impressed with the necessity of early plans being made to take care of the increased business that will naturally come to the Maritime ports in winter by reason of the going into effect of the New British West Indies Treaty which provides for increased steamship service.

"In upper Canada I found a most optimistic feeling in regard to the future and the prospects of the Liberal Party in the coming contest."

McGILL PREPARES FOR FOUNDER'S DAY

The Corporation of McGill University will meet on the morning of Monday next, to approve degrees to be granted at the fall convocation. The convocation will be held on the afternoon of October 6, "Founder's Day." The university will celebrate on this day the birthday of its honored founder, James McGill.

Convocation will be the usual formal ceremony, and a very large attendance of students and friends and of the staff is expected. It will be held in the convocation hall of Royal Victoria College. Sir Arthur Currie will deliver the Founder's Day address.

OPEN HOUSE IN "Y."

Five orchestras will assist the Y.M. C.A. orchestras in providing a musical program each evening during Open House Week, from October 5 to 10 at the Central Y.M.C.A., Drummond street. The Sun Life Assurance Orchestra, the Emmanuel Church Orchestra, the Argonaut Club Orchestra, Mr. Horsley's Y.M.C.A. Orchestra, and the Y.M.C.A. Symphony Orchestra under the leadership of J. J. Gagnier, will take part in the entertainment, and Miss Louise Millward and Mrs. W. Blane will be soloists.

Albert J. Leet will give a Dickens recital during the week, and F. Napier Smith, vice-president of the Quebec Society for the Protection of Birds, will give a talk. Every evening the department of physical training will give demonstrations in the main gymnasium. Monday and Thursday the young men will take part in class exercises and games, Tuesday evening the wrestling championship meet is scheduled. Basketball and in-door baseball games will be held Wednesday, and the boys' division will give their program Friday. There will also be a program of aquatic sports.

EARLY CLOSING.

The early closing committee of the city council will hold another meeting tomorrow to discuss the question of whether or not the present by-laws will be abrogated. Strong movements have been made by clerks and store keepers to have the regulations remain as they are.

EULER TO CONTEST NORTH WATERLOO

KITCHENER, Ont., Sept. 28 — (C. P.)—W. D. Euler, who represented the riding of North Waterloo in the House of Commons for the last eight years, was the unanimous choice of the convention of the Independent Liberal Association of North Waterloo at the convention held Saturday afternoon in the Town Hall of Waterloo.

Senator Rankin, of Stratford, and Karl K. Homuth, Labor member of the Ontario Legislature for South Waterloo were the principal speakers.

COLCHESTER GRITS ENDORSE McCURDY

Convention Give Support to Independent "Maritime Righter"

TRURO, N.S., Sept. 28.—(C. P.)—The Liberals of Colchester County met here in convention Saturday and agreed not to select a candidate for the forthcoming election, but to endorse the candidacy of F. B. McCurdy, former Federal Minister of Public Works, providing the latter will enter the contest as an Independent, on a platform of Maritime Rights, as outlined in his pamphlets, published letters and speeches. Harold Putnam, member of the last Parliament for Colchester County, addressed a letter to the convention in which he declined to accept re-nomination. M. B. Archibald, Halifax, defeated Liberal candidate in Colchester in the last Provincial election, was elected president of the County Liberal Association.

Mr. McCurdy was not present at the convention.

No statement from Mr. McCurdy was available last night. In a letter addressed to a local newspaper, some days ago, in which he discussed the political situation and his possible entrance into the Federal contest, Mr. McCurdy declared that he had been approached by both Liberal and Conservative parties as a possible candidate and to each he had replied that he could not accept nomination from either except as a "Bona Fide Maritime Righter."

THREE CANDIDATES FOR CHICOUTIMI

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Sept. 28 — (C. P.) — Claiming that he was urged by a representative group of Liberals to enter the fight in the interests of that party, notwithstanding the fact that there was already an official candidate in the field, J. E. A. Dubuc, announced that he would be a candidate in the present fight for Federal honors.

As a result there will be three candidates in this district, as the Conservatives chose their representative yesterday afternoon.

MRS. A. J. GRANT DEAD.

Death took place on Saturday after an illness lasting two years, of Louisa Charlotte Grant, wife of Archibald J. Grant, in her 58th year. The daughter of the late Hiram Duclos, she was a lifelong resident in this city, and was educated at St. Aloysius Academy. She was a member of St. Michael's Church and of the Catholic Women's League, and was greatly interested in charitable work. One daughter, Mary Elsie, a brother, George A. Duclos, and a sister, Miss E. M. Duclos, survive her.

This Evening's Recital By Rosa Ponselle

The first singer of this season will be at H's Majesty's Theatre this evening. Miss Rosa Ponselle startled New York seven years ago on her appearance as prima donna, with Caruso, at the Metropolitan. It was not merely her first appearance at the Metropolitan, but her first part in any opera. Before that she had sung only at moving picture theatres until her discovery by Caruso. Since the triumph of her voice and her singing on that occasion, she has remained as one of the principal dramatic sopranos at the Metropolitan. This evening she will sing two of Verdi's big operatic arias as well as a number of other well chosen songs.

The accompanying pianist, Mr. Stuart Ross, will play a Scherzo by Chopin and a group of modern piano music.

Liberals Unable To Follow King On Tariff Policy

The chief argument advanced by the former Liberal member for the constituency was that the King Government had failed in their duties and responsibilities, had a blank page so far as carrying out their 1919 program was concerned, had increased the National debt by two hundred million dollars instead of practising the severest economy, and that he "could not, as a Liberal, stand for that sort of humbug." Mr. Pedlow described the recent Renfrew convention as a "hole and corner convention of hand-picked delegates" and seeking to find something that the Hon. T. A. Low, the sitting member, and Minister of Trade and Commerce had done, asserted that all he knew was that he had "taken a number of his lady friends out joy riding", which evoked a lot of laughter which turned to applause when he promised to do his utmost to defeat the Liberal nominee.

SEE GOOD REASON

Russell Sparkes, who made his first appearance on a Conservative platform, attacked the Mackenzie King Government from a business viewpoint, and maintained that its policy had destroyed the woollen and other industries of the Dominion. He asserted this had been deliberately done, because the Government knew that if they did not so legislate as to destroy some mills the Progressives would destroy them. Living in Ottawa he had come to the conclusion that they had not had a Government at all during the past four years, and, faced again with the prospect of four years more of log-rolling, balancing one group against the other, and political expediency, with no public policy of any kind, he and many other Liberals had come to the conclusion that there was good reason to vote against the present Administration.

Mr. Sparkes contended that there was a great misconception regarding protection, and after showing how it was impossible for industries to fix prices because of competition maintained that while duties on foreign products meant revenue for the Dominion the income tax, sales tax and the like were a real tax on home production. These should be lightened as much as possible, and home industries should be protected in their home market and increased revenue obtained from foreign manufactured goods that were in competition with them. The Conservative candidate, Dr. J. T. Maloney, received an enthusiastic endorsation of his candidature. He promised a hot but clean fight against his "friend Tom Low" in order to defeat the Government, to bring prosperity to Canada, and get rid of the bundle of men gathered together for no other purpose than to help themselves."

RECALLS VISIT

Mr. Meighen recalled his visit to Renfrew 11 years ago at the opening of the Renfrew Hotel, and then immediately launched into an attack on those who called themselves Liberal-Protectionists and yet supported the present Government, which had first befuddled and then betrayed the people. Mr. King had claimed, he said, that the principles and policies of the Liberals and Progressives as "outlined in the book of the prophets"—the Liberal Handbook—were the same and yet they had not carried out ten per cent. of their program. "It is a good job for the Dominion that they have not," he added, "because it would have shaken the whole foundation of the industrial development of Canada."

The Conservative leader asked the Liberals present if they could enlighten him as to what the present policy of the King Government was, and when there was no answer told them that, of course they did not know, because Mr. King did not know himself. All they had was quack remedies for everything, including immigration, not realizing that they could not get immigrants to a country until there was work for them to do. Mr. Meighen maintained that with the adoption of a protective tariff industry would be revived and immigrants would come of their own accord.

The future of this country was to be decided at this election, for according to whether the Conservative party has the majority and is able to implant its policy on the legislation of the country, or whether the Liberal party with its Progressive allies had the majority, so their future prosperity would be decided. It was evident that as the Conservatives would make substantial gains in the Maritimes, Quebec and Ontario, the Liberals would have to rely to an even greater extent on the Progressive vote if they were to have a majority. That was why, as a forlorn hope of regaining office they were not opposing Progressive candidates. It was in the interests of the Dominion that this result should not be. Industry should know that a consistent tariff policy was to be followed, enabling them to expand and attracting capital for investment in them.

PRESS MORE HEAVILY.

The Opposition leader disabused the public mind of the idea that his party proposed to impose a tariff "so high that a periscope was necessary to see over it"—they did not need a high tariff, but one that would give business men confidence to expand their plants and enter into fair competition with the rest of the world, backed with the natural resources which were so abundant.

Mr. Meighen demolished the lower taxation argument of his opponents as proved by the income tax returns, maintaining that the taxation had not been lowered, but the earnings of industry had so decreased that the revenue was millions less and the taxes, therefore, pressed more heavily on the public. With increased earnings the revenue would be greater and taxes could be lowered. Along the same lines Mr. Meighen demolished the plea of Mr. King that the failure of factories last year was due to lack of capital rather than to Government policy, arguing that had conditions been stable and favorable the firms would have been able to get the capital needed for just as a man died of pneumonia because he could not get his breath, so businesses died for want of capital to increase their output and lessen the overhead cost of production.

A policy that encouraged the exportation of raw materials encouraged also the departure of Canadian men and women, and so-called Liberal Protectionists were just as responsible for this as "freer traders" who declared their policy "sounded the death-knell of protection," and he appealed to the electorate not to be misled by their promises in view of their past performances.

Mr. Meighen left after the meeting for Fort William and Port Arthur, accompanied by Senator G. D. Robertson. The son of the Rt. Hon. Bonar Law (Mr. Richard Law), is making a tour of the Dominion with Mr. Meighen, but is not participating in the speech-making.

APPEALS TO LIBERALS.

RENFREW, Ont., Sept. 28.— (C. P.)—"I appeal specially to protectionist Liberals," said Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, Saturday night in striking the keynote of his speech to a mass meeting in support of the candidature of Dr. M. J. Maloney in South Renfrew. The Leader of the Opposition urged that Canada could not prosper without protection, and he asserted that it was useless to elect to Parliament a protectionist Liberal who would be compelled to vote for a low tariff government in order to gain Progressive support in the House.

"We don't want a tariff so high that you would have to use a periscope to see over it," Mr. Meighen said at another point in his address, which was made before a packed house in a local theatre. He had been accused of favoring such terrifically high tariff, he said, but what he aimed at was a tariff which would promise stability from year to year, encourage the investment of money for the expansion of industry and keep the attention of Canadians directed to home instead of the United States.

Supporting Dr. Maloney were also two Liberals, I. E. Pedlow, former M.P. for South Renfrew, and R. P. Sparks, former chairman of the Ottawa Liberal Association. Both declared their intention of remaining Liberals, but denounced the policy of the Mackenzie King Government as displayed in the last Parliament. Mr. Sparks endorsed a protectionist policy, and quoted figures to prove his contention that industies such as the woollen industry in Canada, had been "destroyed" by the policy of the present Government.

Mr. Pedlow denounced the Government as not having carried out its promises to the electorate. As a Liberal he could not "stand for that sort of humbug in public affairs." Hon. T. A. Low, present member for South Renfrew, said Mr. Pedlow had been chosen Liberal candidate at "a hole in the corner convention packed with his own hand-picked favorites."

Dr. Maloney, in a very brief address, said that he was out to defeat, not his "old friend Tom Low," but the Government of which Mr. Low was a member.

Mr. Meighen told his hearers that a return of Premier King with a nominal majority such as he has possessed for the last four years would mean another four years of "a policy drift." The Liberals, he said, cared very little how they held power, and were again bidding for Progressive support in the next Parliament by holding back on nominations in favorite Progressive seats. This rapproachment, he said, was already in effect in some rural seats in Ontario and would be carried out in nearly all the Progressive seats in the Prairie Provinces and this while the administration was trying to justify four years of unfulfilled policy by pointing to its necessity for placating the Progressives. The Liberals had had no intention of carrying out this platform contained in the "very book of the prophets," drawn up at the 1919 convention.

He asserted the electorate could not give Mr. King endorsement of a railway policy because the Government had no railway policy. As for immigration, the House had always voted all the money asked for immigration on the oft-announced immigration policy of the Government. The policy was declared, but Canada still lacked the immigrants. The many times changed policy for Senate reform, said Mr. Meighen, now resolved itself into a scheme for compelling senators when they reached a certain age "either to die or resign." This was simply "another article in the great book of apology," which was the only thing Premier King had to take back to the electors, after four years of office.

United States consular officers are the busiest people in this country today, said Mr. Meighen, dealing with the exodus of Canadians. These officers are making out papers for Canadians wishing to try their luck in the United States and they go there, not because they like that country better, but because of stern necessity."

Canada, to keep her people at home, must follow the example of every other country to raise her tariff.

SECOND LIBERAL JOINS QUEBEC FIGHT

CHICOUTIMI, Que., Sept. 28 — (C. P.)—Claiming that he was urged by a representative group of Liberals of this country to enter the fight in the interests of that party, notwithstanding the fact that there was already an official candidate in the field, J. E. A. Dubuc, well-known financier, announced that he would be a candidate in the present fight for Federal honors.

As a result there will be three candidates in this district, as the Conservatives chose their representative yesterday afternoon.

Lucy Stone, noted woman's rights speaker, graduated from Oberlin College in 1847.

The second woman's rights convention in America was held at Rochester, N. Y.

"Vote the way the stomach talks," was a doctrine preached by George C. Douglas of Ottawa, which caught the imagination of the audience. Mr. Douglas spoke of the uselessness of Wrights' former Member of Parliament. "We paid him $16,000," he declared, "to speak for only two minutes during his whole four years of office, and he used up even that two minutes in telling us of the beauties of the Gatineau. The beauty of the Gatineau is free and God-given. Every citizen of Wright can see it for himself and herself. We don't need to pay $16,000 to have it talked about."

The Hon. E. L. Patenaude, who looked fresh and vigorous in spite of Saturday night's meeting at Hull and the fatigue of a weary train journey over a rough road bed, was received with salvos of cheers.

WOULD HAVE LAUGHED.

Mr. Patenaude said:

"In coming along the beautiful route which brought me to Maniwaki, some of my friends asked me if the dampness of today would not affect the meeting which I am now addressing. Evidently they forgot the interest which the people of this Province take in the present fight; they forgot that the colonizers of this district would have laughed at any temperature which would have prevented them from taking an interest in their Canada.

"The fight which has just commenced is evidently going to be a hot one, but it will not be conducted in the same way by both sides. Our adversaries have already started race prejudices, to incite the thought of certain of our electors with the intention of distracting the attention of the people and to keep them from knowing their leader's faults, but it will not keep my fellow citizens from criticizing all that is bad in the present Government in the coming election. No matter what their arguments, they will find some people who will uphold the right in spite of what the majority of the newspapers may print.

"I know of no better way of replying to these insults than the testimony of that father of a family, the father of 12 children, a Liberal, who has told us today that he wants the help of every honest citizen to upset the present Government. He is not merely a private citizen; he is the president of the Liberal Association of Aylmer. The vice-president of that body and all of its members are of the same opinion.

"To those of his friends who come from far away, I want to say that everywhere in the Province we hear the spontaneous calls of other citizens who think as they think and who talk as they are talking. For instance, I see on this platform two Liberal mayors from municipalities of this district who are with us heart and soul in the present fight. To tell you the number of mayors of this county who are behind Mr. Labelle and the cause he upholds in the interests of this country of ours would be superfluous.

CRISIS IN CANADA.

"Cardin and his henchmen can say as they like, I am not much impressed with their testimony, but after hearing the testimony of this brave father, after the declarations of free citizens, after the children's cries, after hearing the little one who is just bawling now, I ask you all if you will always have the same courage to declare your true sentiments when we see this true son of our soil who has brought civilization into this solitude, who has endeavored to sow the seeds of Canadianism in this virgin soil, the men who love their country and wish to make it bigger and better, I am comforted and it makes me feel like a prophet of old.

"The crisis in Canadian affairs has come. I ask every elector and every candidate to say freely exactly what he thinks. I ask every candidate to ask his electorate to elect only those who have convictions which they will support, and characters strong enough to stand, to do their duty in spite of the errors of their party leaders. We have no further use for members like those of the last Parliament, men who were ready to vote for anything at the crack of the party whip and at the urge of their love for power. Above parties, power, pelf and Government there is something superior. It is Canada, and our people with their good sense and their patriotism will think of their country, their Province and their fireside when they vote.

"It is your right and your duty to take such measures to see that those whom you elect are not only strong in promises but strong in performances. I know that Mr. Labelle is one of these men of action. I have known him for a long time. I know he will have the courage of his convictions.

TWO GREAT POWERS.

"It is for these reasons that I have come away up here to support him and to ask your support for him. The duty of a citizen is one that is known to you and you will do it. If it was mine to intervene, it is yours to study the political problems and vote with sincerity. Up and let your voice be heard. Support Notary Labelle by work and by act. Do these things which will cause him to be your standard bearer in the country's interest.

"There are two great powers, two great forces, that are at the base of our economic life, which are the source of our prosperity if we are to prosper. Those are agriculture and industry. Other things are but corollaries. On these two things we must build up our country. Perhaps the greater of these is agriculture but I know that the two are so intimately tied together that one cannot prosper while the other becomes decrepit. They should walk together like twins. They should help each other. From their success should come the solution of our problems, the increase in our population. With the development and the security of our population, our farms and our industry, prosperity will come of itself, and when a country becomes prosperous her sons will not desert her. How can this development be assured? We will study this briefly.

"The farmer who opens the soil in the spring, sows the seed, confident in a harvest. He sows in the confidence that the good God will assist his efforts and that his field will bloom with rich golden grain. This is all his work—his and God's—but there are things which do not depend on him but on us—that is to say whether he can thresh his corn and sell it, collect his fruits and vegetables and sell them, bind his hay and sell it — and thus receive the legitimate profit which is his due and is the daily bread of himself and of his children. What do we see? The farmer no longer has this confidence.

CANADIANS' DUTY.

"The father of a family who looks at his children doubts the future and all it may hold in store and asks himself, if that country which he is working for, is worth the trouble and the pains he is taking. Doubtless the duty of every good Canadian is to stay at home and raise a family. To do this we must assure him of the tomorrow. We must see to it that he and his children have bread and that his heirs remain in possession of the means and substance to gain a living. In the face of the present crisis how can we blame the Canadian father, who with breaking and despairing heart goes into the United States factories to gain the daily bread for him and for his children.

"Give the farmers a market that will allow him to sell his produce at an advantage — a market which will encourage him to raise a large family —a market in this country where his ancesters hewed out a place for themselves in the primitive forests where they were sure that they would be able to make a living for themselves and their children. We see today all around us cold hearts and ruined buildings that now but obstruct the view where formerly were smiling homes. Something must have happened and it is this something which we must combat.

SUPPORTS HIGH TARIFF.

"We want the sunshine to return, we want happy families again. And why? Because, despite all we should have confidence that today's evils must end some time. If the farmer should be prosperous, how much more must the workingman and the industrialist be content. They must expend their time and energy in something that will give their employers a legitimate profit and to themselves a living wage —enough to raise their families and to save a little for their future. Each time a foreign product comes into the country which competes with a home product article, it is a little bit of ruinous competition against the sons of our country. We need a tariff high enough to keep these articles out. Is that clear, is it reasonable?

"This tariff must be high enough to effectually protect everything we manufacture or produce without it being an incentive to profiteering or speculation. I do not wish you who only produce fruits and vegetables during six months in the year as against the twelve months of the United States, you who have but one harvest, whereas many States have two — I do not wish that you should be longer but subsidiaries of United States producers, and what is true in the farming business is true in every line, whether in trade or in professional circles. The workman has the right to know if we are stabbing him in the back by importing into the country products that sell here at prices that are ruinously competitive. We cannot stand the fact much longer — the fact that our young men go away to the United States where those competitive products are manufactured.

"When you allow foreign articles to come into this country — products identical with Canadian goods, you are taking away our children's salary, and this invasion forces you to give in return not only money that does not come back, but also the bodies of your sons. This is the policy that is bleeding us, this is the policy of suicide. It is because of the gravity of this situation that I have intervened and I believe that every citizen should intervene to the full of his energy and his resources.

NATIONAL RESOURCES.

"In the same category of crime I place the exploitation of our National resources. They are extraordinarily abundant and truly exceptional. What should be the true Canadian policy as to their exploitation? It should be always the same. We have immense forests, nickel and asbestos mines, fisheries of wonderful wealth. Rich as they are they are not inexhaustible. When forests are cut down, they are down for a long time. When the mines are mined, it is a permanent loss. What should we do? Should we continue to allow spruce to be cut down and exported to the United State to be made into pulp and paper, when this could be manufactured here and keep for ourselves the profit of this transformation — a profit that now goes into the pockets of citizens of the United States. We should direct our tariff policy towards that end; the reasonable exploitation of our National resources including their manufacture in this country by Canadians for Canadians. We must be firm. Canada must get all the benefit of its richness.

"Is that not what Providence intended when it endowed us with all this wealth? It gave us the intelligence to get the profit out of its gifts. How long will we be naive enough to allow the foreigner to profit out of what belongs to us? How long are we to watch our sons following the trail of our resources across the United States frontier? We must have a Canadian policy, a National policy. I have no preferences and no sympathies. In business nations are like individuals—each man for himself. If the good of the country demands the abolition of preferential duties — even those with Britain, we should abolish them without delay and give our sons 100 per cent of what belongs to them. We should adopt an economic policy which will be of real benefit to us. We must combat wealth of our neighbors to the south, the power of Britain, the productive facilities of the Orient. We must fortify ourselves by establishing a fiscal regime which will protect our agriculture and our industry.

STATES CANADA FIRST.

"I would have liked to have touched on other urgent questions, but the hour arrives when I must take my train. I must thank you, however, for this splendid reception. You have welcomed us so heartily that I am confounded when I see this awful weather and the still more awful roads. Men, women, and children, you have filled this room and stayed until the last moment. I thank you. But you have lost your time, however, if you have not realized the gravity of the situation and if you have not taken a resolution to apply your hearts and minds to the study of the National Policy.

"Streams of abuse are flowing from my adversaries. I am asking you all to sacrifice yourselves for the sake of our country. I ask you in your children's interests to think over your ballot of October 29. I know the situation is serious. It is for that reason that I have kept independent of parties and chieftains, because after all above them all comes Canada.

"Do not remain deaf to the National demands, hear that which should be to you stronger than the call of party, reflect, consider. Prepare to give your support to Mr. Labelle —thus aiding to give Canada a Government which will govern. The role of such a Government will be to gratify the country by giving it a stability in its agriculture, which will bring back peace to the Canadian soul and will open the door to prosperity which awaits you and your children," Mr. Patenaude concluded.

Notary Labelle, the candidate against the King administration, spoke along the same lines as laid down by Mr. Patenaude, urging a high tariff policy as the panacea for all the ills from which Canada is now suffering. Noel Beauchamp, who ran Mr. Labelle a close second in the Conservative convention, said a few words in support of the candidature of his former opponent. He ridiculed Mackenzie King as a leader who was filling Laurier's shoes. "He could not even rise above the hem of Sir Wilfrid's garment," he declared.

The time between the arrival and the departure of the only train which runs between Maniwaki and Ottawa on Sunday was so short that the talk of the visiting speakers had to be curtailed considerably, but local politicians made use of the hall of the convent long after the Hon. Mr. Patenaude and the contingents form other portions of Wright District had entrained for the south. Despite the rain, Hon. Mr. Patenaude was greeted by enthusiastic demonstrations at the hotel and at his other stopping places in Maniwaki.

If Your Daughter became the breadwinner

—such things happen!

If your daughter had to become the breadwinner for your family, would she have to look for a job, or could she fill a position where her earnings would be a real help to the household?

It is a contingency you do not want to think of, but she may have to grapple with it some day.

Have you made sure that she would not have to face a life of drudgery or be forced into an undesirable marriage? Would there be funds to complete her education, or to pay for a business college training? Would there be some help from you—or nothing but debts to pay?

She has a right to look to you for the protection that an Imperial Life Policy will give, should you pass on.

Today, while you are insurable, let us tell you how fully an Imperial Life policy will protect your family. Our booklet "On the Road to Tomorrow" will be sent free on request.

Bringing the Best of the World's Markets to You.

Our Buyers, when abroad, have many wonderful and varied experiences. Travelling in many lands, in out-of-the-way places and through great factory centres—a fund of interesting facts come naturally their way — all adding to the romance of Merchandising—And Merchandising is a Romance.

Our Buyer of Leather Goods, when on his recent visit to Walsall, that wonderful old English Leather town was impressed by the following facts—That the various workmen often specialize on a given leather. So zealously—Is this branch of trade guarded, that, as a rule, only sons of sealskin leather finishers are admitted as apprentices to work on Seal Skins.

Seal, as you know, is considered the aristocrat of the leather world.

The hunting of seals in the cold waters of the North Atlantic is one of the most hazardous callings.

The manufacture of crushed Morocco Leather is perhaps one of the most intricate in the trade. There are not more than ten factories in the whole world able to produce it. Yet probably, no leather is more used today in the making of pretty fancy leather goods.

It is such a background as this, coupled with long years of experience, that has stamped British made leather goods with an excellence, unexcelled the world over.

NOTED CANADIAN BUSINESS MAN IS TAKEN BY DEATH

Lloyd Harris, Director of Massey-Harris, Victim Of Stroke

HAD EARLY SUCCESS

Brantford Man Was to Have Been Conservative Candidate

BRANTFORD, Ont., Sept. 28 —(C. P.) — Lloyd Harris, a forceful personality in the commercial, financial and public life of Canada, died at his home here shortly after nine o'clock last night, following a stroke of paralysis, which he suffered Friday afternoon, Mr. Harris never regained consciousness, and the end came quietly. He was 58 years of age and was born at Beamsville, Ont., the son of John Harris, of the Harris Manufacturing Company, now merged in the Massey-Harris firm of implement manufacturers, of which he was a director.

Mr. Harris received much public notice in connection with the coming Federal elections in the last week or so because of the fact that he was to be named Conservative candidate for Brantford constituency, and in view of the fact that Hon. Vincent Massey, president of the Massey-Harris Company, is contesting the constituency of Durham as a supporter and member of the King Government, it was anticipated that their candidatures with distinctly opposite views on the tariff question would have lent much zest to the campaign. The Brantford Conservative convention was to have been held on Friday evening, but it was postponed until Monday evening, when the news of Mr. Harris' illness became known. In the view of the Conservative executive Mr. Harris was a capable and experienced leader. He was not always a Conservative in politics, however, having represented Brantford in the House of Commons in the Liberal interests from 1908 till 1911, when he broke spectacularly from the Liberal Party on the question of reciprocity and was slowly converted to Conservatism. But he took no further active part in politics.

KNOWN AS ORGANIZER.

Known as a practical man of ideas, it was as an organizer and business executive that Mr. Harris was best known. He had keen civic pride, great faith in the future of Canada as an export country and broad outlook of Empire. When the war came, as president of the Russel Motor Car Company he took a prominent part in the manufacture of munitions and in the win-the-war movement. He was chairman of the Canadian War Mission and represented the Imperial Munitions Board at Washington. When the war ended in November, 1918, he became chairman of the Canadian Trade Commission in England and in this office he was eminently successful, becoming a notable champion of Empire trade and laying the foundation for a great extension in the export trade of Canada. Mr. Harris made a reputation in London as a Canadian of vivid personality and a man of great enterprise and initiative. When he resigned from the commission he was tendered a notable banquet in London, representative of city and State, at which Lord Beaverbrook presided.

JOINED MANY FIRMS.

Lloyd Harris was educated at Brantford public school and collegiate and Woodstock College and early entered the Harris firm. Soon showing remarkable business ability in 1881 at the age of 21 years he became European representative of the company and inaugurated exports to Russia and Siberia, thus laying the foundation of Canada's world-wide trade in agricultural implements. For nine years after the merging of the Harris and Massey firms he was European manager and returned to Canada in 1900. Still holding an interest in the Massey-Harris firm he became associated with many varied enterprises. He was president of the Russel Motor Car Company, Ltd., Toronto, president of the Under-Feed Stoker Co., of America, Detroit; president of the Canada Glue Company, Brantford; vice-president of the Willys-Overland Ltd., Toronto; vice-president of the Canada Cycle and Motor Company, Ltd., Toronto, vice-president of the Machine and Stamping Company, Ltd., and director of many companies including the Massey-Harris Company, Ltd., Toronto; Steel Company of Canada, Hamilton; Dominion Power and Transmission Company, Hamilton; American Glue Company, Boston; Trusts and Guarantee Company, Ltd., Toronto; and the British Foundation Ovens Ltd., Montreal. He was a member of the Brantford City Council in 1905 and 1906, president of the Brantford Board of Trade in 1902 and 1903, and vice-president of the Canadian Manufacturers in 1905.

The funeral will be held here on Tuesday with a private service at the home, Brant Avenue, at 2 o'clock and a public service at Grace Anglican Church at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Dies From Stroke

Lloyd Harris, of Massey-Harris Company, Brantford, who was to be a Conservative candidate, died at his home Saturday night, following a stroke of paralysis, Friday afternoon.

Member Is Dead

William Bunting Snowball, member for Northumberland in the last Parliament, died at his home in Chatham, N.B., Saturday night, after an illness of 24 hours. Mr. Snowball was a son of former Governor Snowball, of New Brunswick.

W. B. SNOWBALL IS DEAD AT CHATHAM

Northumberland Member in Parliament is Heart Victim

ILL SHORT TIME

Son of Former Lieutenant-Governor of Province

CHATHAM, N. B., Sept. 28 — (C. P.) — William Bunting Snowball, member for Northumberland in the last Parliament, died last night after an illness of less than 24 hours. Mr. Snowball had been at his office Saturday afternoon and had attended to business as usual. About midnight he was suddenly stricken with a heart attack and in spite of expert medical aid he became worse and passed away last evening.

W. B. Snowball was born in Chatham, Jan 12, 1865, the son of the late Hon. Jabez Bunting Snowball, who was at one time Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick.

Mr. Snowball's father defeated Hon. Peter Mitchell on the National Policy in 1878 and sat in the Commons for Northumberland until the general election in 1882. He was first elected to the House of Commons at a by-election in Northumberland county in 1924 to fill a vacancy caused by the death of Hon. John Morrisey of Newcastle.

At a convention of the Liberal party in Northumberland County on Sept. 16, Mr. Snowball was selected to contest the constituency again. He made practically his last appearance on the public platform at the unveiling of the Bonar Law memorial at Rexton, N.B., the next day.

Definite arrangements for the funeral were not announced last night but it will probably be arranged for Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. Snowball was the member chosen to meet the West Indies trade delegation that landed in St. John this summer on its way to Ottawa.

W. B. Snowball was educated at Chatham grammar school and Upper Canada College, Toronto. He was married June 17, 1889, to Mary Louise Harrison, daughter of Rev. Fred. Harrison, of Woodstock, N. B., who died in 1894. He was remarried in 1896 to Miss Bertha Harris, of Hamilton, Ont., who survives him. He is also survived by two brothers, R. A. Snowball, Chatham, MacDougall Snowball, California, and three sisters, Miss Lillian Snowball, Chatham, Mrs. Henry Rawlings, Montreal, and Mrs. Cochrane, Toronto. The children are Harry, in British Columbia, Lawrence, in Toronto, Walter, Bunting and McDougall, at home, and two daughters, Bertha and Mona, at home.

The late Mr. Snowball was a lumber merchant. He was president of the J. B. Snowball Company, Limited, and the Mirimachi Exhibition Association and was interested in other companies. He was a director of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, Limited, and the Canadian Lumbermen's Association. He was mayor of Chatham in 1901, 1902, 1917 and 1918 and also an alderman for several years.

PREMIER SPEAKS AT COCHRANE, ONT.

Plans Changed by Delay of Train at Northern City

REACHES WINNIPEG

Revival of Reciprocity Issue Possible in Western Speeches

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—Premier King arrived in Winnipeg last evening for the opening of his western campaign at Neepawa, Man., Monday night. In his Neepawa speech and in subsequent speeches throughout the West, it is expected that the Prime Minister will break considerable new ground. Since his last speech in Quebec city on Wednesday, Mr. King has taken opportunity to secure a considerable amount of material touching on trade development and in other directions, and it is likely that his pronouncement may give a new angle to the campaign.

In his Maritime speeches the Prime Minister took opportunity to indicate that the Fielding offer of reciprocity with the United States was still on the statute books and there is a suggestion that he may discuss this in more detail during his Western campaign. It is further understood that he intends to press the necessity of unity between the West and the East as the mainspring of Liberal policy.

A broken bridge trestle on the National Transcontinental occasioned a change in the Premier's week-end plans. As originally arranged, it was not intended that he should speak again before he reached Neepawa. But when he arrived at Cochrane from Ottawa it was found that the connecting train from Quebec was three hours late owing to delay from a broken bridge trestle and advantage was taken for a brief speech from the end of the Premier's car.

SUMMARIZES DEEDS.

The Prime Minister summarized the accomplishments of his administration as:

(1) Honest Government:
(2) Economical Government.

No one, he said, had ever charged the Government with not being honest; and, by every means in its power, it had tried both to reduce public expenditure and to reduce taxes. He argued that reduction in taxation made for business prosperity. He took the ground that the Government's policy in reducing the duties on implements of production used by the basic industries of agriculture, lumbering, mining and fishing had furthered improvement in trade.

"Our policy," said he, "is to develop the great basic industries. Should it not then appeal to these parts of Canada which furnish raw material on which the rest of the Dominion depends?"

"We have felt," he went on, "that we should seek to relieve these basic industries as far as possible from taxation."

He appealed to the electors to concentrate on the Liberal candidate.

"The only hope of Conservatives," he declared, "is in the three-cornered fight."

North Temiskaming, in which Premier King was speaking, has an official Liberal and an official Conservative candidate in the field. There is talk of an independent Liberal entering the contest.

READ THIS CAREFULLY

IT is impossible to emphasize too strongly the need for every individual entitled to a vote in the forthcoming election to make sure by personal inquiry that he or she is duly registered in the division in which they reside. You cannot register either by telephone or by deputy. Each voter must go to the place of registration personally if physically able to do so; and, if he or she is not on the list, then be sure that their name is placed upon that list before they leave.

Women voters should remember that they must register for each election. Their names are under no circumstances carried over from any previous list. In their case it is an absolute necessity that they register if they wish to vote at the forthcoming election. It does not matter whether they are property-owners or not, their names are not on the register for this election until they go personally and register themselves. There is no exception of any kind whatever to this rule for women voters.

Male adults entitled to the vote ought in every instance to make sure that they are on the register. In the case of those whose names are—or were—on the provincial list, as householders and property-owners, it is not sufficient to assume that because their names were on the last list, they will necessarily be continued on the list for the forthcoming election. Change of residence, sale of property, or the overzealous action of some revision clerk may have resulted in the removal of their names from the list. In which case they would find themselves unable to vote on October 29, unless they go and register again.

Those whose names are not on the provincial list have an imperative duty imposed upon them. They must register, if they wish to vote. In no other way can they secure the right to exercise the franchise. There are no alternative methods, and no subterfuges, substitutes or indirect means of communication can effect registration. It must be the personal act of the voter, exercised in person before the registration officer, unless sick or absent.

Those who changed their place of residence within two months of September 5, the date of the issue of the election writs, cannot register in the division into which they have removed. They must register in their former division. This is in the highest degree important to note.

Every adult, male and female, entitled to vote should pay a visit to the registration booths to make sure that his or her name is on the list or is duly placed on the list, between now and September 30, the last day for registration. Remember, Thursday morning will be too late. Register NOW.

WILL QUEBEC HELP SLAY THE SENATE?

MR. PATENAUDE, speaking at Hull, proposed a test of sincerity for the "solid sixty-five" whom the Liberals elected last time from this province which will serve as well as another to separate the sheep from the goats, the loyal representatives of Quebec from the bond slaves of the Progressive bloc.

The test is their attitude toward Mr. King's policy of "Senate Reform".

If there is one thing that Quebec does not want, it is any meddling with or weakening of its principal constitutional bulwark, the Senate of Canada. The Senate is almost the sole safeguard that this "minority province" has that its especial privileges and treaty rights, guaranteed to it by the British North America Act, shall not be over-ridden. The Senate was created, indeed, largely as a champion of minorities; and the people of Quebec—once their eyes are free from partizanship—would regard with the deepest apprehensions any agitation for the curtailment of its powers or the dilution of its independence.

In two words, Mr. King could hardly propose, off-hand, a more unpopular policy in this province than "Senate Reform".

* * * *

Why, then, should he propose this policy when a solid Quebec is absolutely essential to his retention of office?

The answer is plain. His Progressive masters hunger greedily for certain measures which the Senate has the stalwart independence and loyal patriotism to reject. For instance, they clamor for certain branch railway lines which, in the present condition of the country's finances, it would be an abominable outrage to saddle upon the nation. If they had only the Commons to deal with—the Commons with its docile barnacles of office from this province tamely submissive to the bullying "bloc" of reckless spenders from the West—they would get them through. In fact, they have got them through, as far as the Commons is concerned. But the vigilant Senate blocks the way.

So they naturally want to "reform" the Senate. Knowing little or nothing of the hard struggles we had in the East over the making of our Constitution—caring nothing for the traditions of the past—they light-heartedly propose to remove from their path whatever obstacle seems for the moment to stand between them and their immediate desires.

When it is the right of appeal to the Privy Council, they want to expunge that ancient privilege—in ten minutes.

When it is the Supreme Court, they are very impatient with that venerable body—that linchpin of Confederation.

When it is the Senate, they want to "reform" it into tame and timorous tractability.

* * * *

But why should Quebec help them?

The Senate is Quebec's sheet anchor. Quebec would never dream of helping to destroy it. Nominal representatives of Quebec who sit silent while their party leader tickles the ears of the Radicals with promises to dynamite the stubborn Senate out of their way, are not representing Quebec feeling at all, but are merely trying to make sure of their own continued access to the sweets of office.

They are selling Quebec to the Progressives.

This, then, is a test question. Mr. Patenaude is quite right to pose it. Any candidate who fails to protest against Mackenzie King's gratuitous pledge to bind every new Senator hand and foot to an undefined and nebulous program of "Senate Reform"—to suit the Progressives—is not speaking for Quebec, but, like a trained poodle, is "speaking for his dinner."

Put only loyal Quebeckers on guard!

Patenaude and his candidates are "as free of Meighen as of King," and will be able to concentrate on the defence of Quebec.

KEMAL WANTS TO START SOMETHING.

MUSTAPHA KEMAL, dictator of the new Turkey and head of the Angora Government, after some months of quiescence, appears once more in his old role of fire-eater, and boasts of the "steadiness" of his soldiers and the excellence of their morale. "We don't want to fight, but by Jingo if we do," says Mustapha, while his mouthpiece in the League, Rushdi Bey, declares that "Turkey will fight rather than submit to any decision of the League favoring Great Britain in the Mosul dispute."

This is the same Mustapha who authorized his representative last February to pledge Turkey to "abide by the decision of the League with regard to Mosul" and who made solemn promise at that time to this effect. What then has happened to account for this sudden volte face. Did Mustapha think that he could dragoon the Commissioners into a favorable verdict and has he now had a peep into the League's findings and found them "unacceptable"? Has Mustapha listened to the siren song of his old friends of Soviet Russia and is he deliberately provoking Britain into hostilities? Moscow would have much to gain and nothing to lose by such provocation. Open hostilities with Turkey over Mosul, no matter how just the cause of such a break, would be unpopular with a large section of the British people.

No doubt the immediate cause of Kemal's boastful vaporings is the vacillation of the League which on the eve of the publication of the report took sudden fright and discovered overnight some abstruse legal points in the problem which had to be submitted to The Hague Tribunal for unravelling. This pretext of legal difficulties seems to have deceived no one and the loss of prestige and influence which the League has sustained by such a subterfuge can hardly yet be measured.

Had the League shown firmness where strength was demanded, the Turks would never have dared to renew their old policy of the systematic removal of all Christians from the territory between the "Brussels Line" and that claimed by Great Britain, which was initiated when armed Turkish forces crossed the Hezil River. It is not the first time that the Turks have made such an invasion, but on the former occasion the Council of the League held a special meeting in order to define precisely the status of both powers in accordance with Article Three of the Lausanne Treaty. It was then that the Turkish representative gave his solemn promise that there would be no further penetration of armed forces into the disputed territory and the recent violation of this promise, coupled with the flamboyant talk of Rushdi Bey, endorsed by Mustapha himself suggests that the promise of last February was extracted through fear and respect for the League which has now been transformed into contempt.

Britain, however, does not intend to be rushed into hostilities because Moscow is secretly egging on Mustapha to provoke her. Britain, takes the Lausanne Treaty before the League and demands that a Commissioner be sent to enquire into the truth of these charges at first hand. General Johan Laidoner, former Commander in Chief of the Esthonian Army, has been appointed to conduct the investigations. Up to the present Turkey has shown no disposition to give facilities for the conduct of such an enquiry and has even refused permission to the Commissioner to enter Turkish territory. It is scarcely the attitude which a nation would assume which is convinced of the justice of its own case.

The charm of the best courages is that they are inventions, inspirations, flashes of genius. —Ralph Waldo Emerson.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

* * *

The Transportation Problem.

Quebec Action Catholique: It is high time we knew why we have been deprived of reasonable railway rates, and why those rates have not been restored, why our merchant marine lies at anchor, why our transcontinental lines are in need of traffic, and why we let two-thirds of our grain pass through the United States, where it is easy enough to mix it with American grain of inferior quality.

For Patenaude.

Quebec Evenement: We do not know if Mr. Patenaude will be elected or not, and we are not aware how many of his friends will enjoy their hour of triumph on October 29 next. Nevertheless we have no hesitation in saying that the return of such a leader to the House of Commons, whether alone or with ten or twenty French-Canadian Conservative followers, will tend to combat, if not destroy, the illicit influence of the radicals of the West.

The Voter's Duty.

Sherbrooke Tribune: A considered and conscientious vote given at the polls on October 29 will further the cause of good government in Canada by helping the selection of those representatives who promise best to become honorable administrators and far-sighted statesmen. Is there a man who pays his share of taxes towards the direction of our national affairs who is going to neglect or disdain to see that public money is handled in the most intelligent manner possible?

Gold-Mining In Quebec.

La Presse: At the present time Ontario produces something like seven-eighths of the gold mined in Canada. The district of Porcupine alone supplies 82 per cent of the gold produced in Ontario, Kirkland Lake furnishing the rest. It is reasonable to suppose that in a few more years the Rouyn region and others situated to the south of Abitibi will make an appreciable addition to this gold production and will compete with Porcupine and Kirkland Lake, of which fields they are the geological extension.

Mr. Patenaude's Decision.

Three Rivers Nouvelliste: The decision of the member for Jacques Cartier will be differently appreciated and judged according to the political point of view of those who consider it. But whatever may be one's opinion, it must be recognized that it introduces a new element of interest into the electoral campaign. The member for Jacques Cartier is not an unknown quantity. He has already a long career to his credit and it is in the fullest possession of all his physical and intellectual powers that he is staging his return into the federal arena.

Officers of the City.

Le Devoir: The Chief of Police should be not merely a man of strong character, irreproachable from every standpoint, but he should be—he, who is permanent, whilst our administrators are temporary, weak and for the most part ignorant or stupid—a man of intelligence above the ordinary and animated with a desire to make our city healthy, clean and beautiful. More than any other man, he has the opportunity to accomplish this. Yet we do not think it unjust towards our present Chief, no more than to his predecessor, Campeau, to state that in mental vigor and culture they do not surpass the average alderman or member of the executive.

The Communist Menace.

Ottawa Droit: The American Government has refused a Communist member of the British House of Commons, Shapurji Saklatvala, the right to land on American territory. The reason for this refusal, according to the statement of Secretary Kellogg, is that the United States cannot admit strangers who are going there for the purpose of anarchy or revolution, which would have for its result the overthrow of the existing Government. In addition to this, the recent American immigration laws have provided against this emergency in every text, and the present instance has only been one of applying an established law. Nor could they have acted more to the purpose! Nothing is more dangerous in reality than this British Communism, which springs directly from the Moscow International. Countries which are in a position to protect themselves against this unholy doctrine should always do so, for it is in their best interests.

The Eastern Grain Route.

Quebec Soleil: The Prime Minister said enough (at Quebec, September 23,) for us to be able to predict that the question of freight rates on the Transcontinental will be settled before very long in an advantageous manner, for this port, that is to say rates will be lowered sufficiently to encourage the despatch of a large bulk of Western grain to Quebec, and via this port to Europe, which is the export market for grain. In point of fact, if the rates have been lowered in the case of grain transport to British Columbia, for export via Vancouver, it follows as a necessary consequence that the Railway Commission, which has been entrusted by the Government and its friends in Parliament, with the task of establishing equal and reasonable rates for all parts of the country and which is actually prosecuting an immense investigation into the whole matter, must grant this section of the country equivalent advantages from which our port will derive direct profit.

Maritime Difficulties.

La Patrie: To bring prosperity back again to the Maritime Provinces, settlers must be attracted there, new industries created, agriculture stimulated, mining and fishing encouraged, and—most important of all—the great markets of Montreal, Toronto and the West must be brought within reach of their products. Hitherto distance has been an insurmountable obstacle. Is there any way of overcoming this obstacle or at least rendering it less prejudical? Nothing is impossible, above all when the livelihood of our brothers is in jeopardy. But who is going to find the remedy for existing discontents? A convention of the Boards of Trade of the three provinces is to meet at Charlottetown on October 6 and 7 to make a thorough investigation of the grave problem which is so vital to them. The rest of the country will follow the discussions with interest, in the hope that they will end with the discovery of the proper method of saving the situation.

A Song of Marco Polo.

Madonna, I have gone the world around,
Fought for blue jewels, marked the azure dyes
Of Tyria. Great wonders have I found—
I have seen nothing lovely as your eyes.

Madonna, I have sailed a hundred seas,
Coasted the flaming gardens of the South,
Plucked roses born of fire. Yet what were these?—
I have seen nothing lovely as your mouth.

Madonna, I have seen a land struck white,
Frozen and ice-locked from a world apart,
Have felt the white death at my throat all night,
I have known nothing cold as is your heart.

Madonna, I have ceased from wandering.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A great many interesting letters received by the Editor of The Star are too long for publication. Our correspondents would do well to study brevity.

VERDUN IMPROVEMENTS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star;

Sir,—I have noticed in The Star that the City of Verdun, at a meeting of its Council, has put forward a scheme for improving that city. This is all very well in its way, and I have no doubt the improvement in view would be appreciated by the citizens. In my opinion, however, if the city guardians would expend the public money on much more needed improvements—such as an incinerator, the making of streets passable so that we can get our local tradesmen to deliver to us the necessities of life, — then the proposed "White Way" might be undertaken later, if the finances would allow.

A TAXPAYER.

BRITISH EMPIRE FILMS.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star;

Sir,—I wish to bring forward the suggestion of an idea which occurred to me lately, while visiting a motion picture show. I have been interested in the recent agitation throughout our Empire against the showing of certain types of American films and for the production and presentation of more British made ones. Recently a party of us went to the "movies," and after the feature picture in which the "Stars and Stripes" figured as prominently as usual, we were delighted to see one of the Canadian Government's scenic pictures entitled, "The River of Deep Waters"—refreshingly Canadian — the question was immediately asked:—"Why can't we get more of that?"

Enlarging on this idea, why can't we have more such pictures, not only of Canada, but of all the countries of our vast Empire, so that we (not only Canadians, but our home country and overseas brethern as well,) can see our colors flying on every continent and sea? Surely no unfavorable Canadian immigration propaganda in Britain could compete with moving pictures of your great waving grain fields of the west; and surely, in view of the comparative lack of knowledge we have regarding each other, a series of Empire films would not only bring us into closer touch with each other, but would bring home to us forcibly what a splendid heritage is ours.

The production of such films, it seems to me, would not be a very great expense; and, apart altogether from the idea of promoting closer relationship, they would be invaluable for immigration purposes.

"UNION JACK."

TRUE BROTHERHOOD WANTED.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star;

Sir,—The statement made by the late Bishop Ryle, of Liverpool, regarding the true church is beautiful and scriptural, and if uttered from a public platform would be theoretically endorsed by many, but an honest retrospect would reveal that such a theory is lacking in practice. The apostolic injunction is, "Salute every saint in Christ Jesus," but the Church has got away from such teaching, and there is truth in the statement that the last place to experience love is in the Church. It has been noticeable that the man "without any religion" is often kinder and more honest than the average Christian. Personal popularity and denominational advantage is a serious menace to the mission of the Church and has so blinded the eyes of many Christians that they are not adverse to an unfair attitude against other members of the Body of Christ. They may pray much about revival, speak much about loyalty to the Bible and make assertions regarding the spirit-filled life, but the idea of making any reparation or the righting of wrongs is beyond their conception, notwithstanding that the teaching of Scripture is very plain on this matter. A great preacher has pointed out the difference between politeness and love and how we should be on our guard against anything that displaces the latter. Christians are called upon to walk honestly before God, before men and before the brethren, and when there is a return to such a path we cannot doubt that we are on the verge of a great spiritual uplift to the Church.

AN OBSERVER.

YOUTH AND THE LAND.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star:

Sir,—The problem of keeping people on the land, is I believe, of equal, if not of more, importance than the problem of getting people on the land. When I was in Toronto for about a year during the war it was a surprise to me to meet so many people making a living there who were native-born Canadians from the farm. I was also told of men who were driving teams there who had abandoned farming for that occupation. Such conditions should not be. The problem of keeping people on the land is chiefly the problem of keeping youth on the land, for it is generally youth, with all its energy, hope and strength, so much needed for Canada's agricultural development, that is abandoning the land. The drain of much of its youth from agriculture to the city does not matter much to a country like the United States, with its long and extensively established agriculture, but to Canada, with its much needed agricultural development, it is to be greatly deplored. From my experience and observations of country life I am inclined to the belief that the craving for better social intercourse and entertainment—to mix more with one's fellows, to be at times within a crowd—is as strong as the craving for material gain. Like the latter, it is ever present and as old as the race. Some years ago I read of a plan formulated in England to bring city life and country life together in harmonious contact. It was to establish what was to be called "The Garden City." I think the tract of land was secured for the purpose, but the war may have blocked the project. It was to be a city of considerable size built in a circle, the principal avenues like the spokes of a wheel radiating from the hub, the social centre, past the different sections.—industrial, shopping and residential, each set apart,—to the surrounding outlying farms, making access easy to or from any part. Such a plan as this could scarcely be considered in a country like Canada, yet something of its kind in a smaller way might be tried. For instance a space of land, say, about a mile and a half long and a quarter of a mile wide reserved for village development, could be bordered around by a score or so of farms of equal frontage, the farm lands stretching back in the rear and the houses fronting the reserved space. In the centre of this a church, a school and a general store, the latter with postoffice facilities, could form the nucleus of the village social centre, which would be in easy reach of the most distant farm dwellings. The school could be used for general entertainments some nights of the week, but especially for "movies" for without the latter all else might be doomed to failure.

THE PASSING HOUR

THIEVES IN COURT.

Pointing out to his court that a witness was not necessarily to be regarded as untruthful because he altered a statement that he had made previously, a magistrate said:

"For instance, when I entered this court today I could have sworn that I had my watch in my pocket. But then I remembered I had left it in the bath-room at home."

The case was then adjourned and the magistrate made his way home.

On arriving, the first words his wife addressed to him were:

"I say, why all this fuss about your watch—sending four or five men for it?"

"Good heavens," gasped the man of law, "I didn't send anyone! What ever did you do?"

"I gave it to the first who came, my dear," answered his wife. "He knew just where it was."

A lady visitor to a prison, in the course of a chat with a burglar, thought she detected signs of reform in him.

"And, now," she said, "have you any plans for the future, on the expiration of your sentence?"

"Oh, yes," whispered the convict confidentially, "I've got my eye on two banks and a post office."

A POSER.

The eminent scientist, Sir Charles Sherrington, tells an amusing story to illustrate his contention that the habit of reasoning is developed in male children at a remarkably early age.

While visiting a friend he overheard a discussion between the little son and daughter of his host.

"I wonder what we're brought into the world for?" asked the little boy.

His sister, thinking of a recent lesson, answered gently: "Why, you ought to know we are put here to help others, of course."

"Um!" exclaimed her brother, after a moment's thought, "if what you say is right, what are the others here for?"

"Did your husband appreciate the scarf I knitted for him?"

"Oh, mum, it came in most useful. 'E's gone and 'anged 'isself with it."

X.: "Hardup can't meet his creditors."

Y.: "Can't he just! He can meet so many of them he's got to stay at home to keep out of their way.

Retarded Gallantry.—Hix.—"As I was sitting in a crowded car this evening an old lady entered."

Wix—"And you got up and gave her your seat?"

Hix—"No; another man got ahead of me. But I had to wait for him nearly five minutes."

FOR TOURISTS.

Sign outside inn on road from London to Brighton: "This is the hostelry Dick Turpin would have passed if he had come this way."

Junior: "Pop, why was Adam made first?"

Senior: "To give him a chance to say something, I suppose."

At a college examination a professor asked: "Does the question embarrass you?"

"Not at all, sir," replied the student; "not at all. It is quite clear. It is the answer that bothers me!"

A writer has been discovered whose work bears a strong resemblance to Shakespeare's. Both use the same punctuation marks.

She: "You drive awfully fast, don't you?"

He: "Yes, I hit 70 yesterday."

She: "Did you kill any of them?"

LITERALLY CORRECT

A young Serbian studying in England was asked to translate the following sentence from his native tongue into English: "He gave up his life on the battlefield." With the help of a dictionary he produced the version: "He relinquished his vitality on the bellicose meadow."

A prisoner was in the dock on a serious charge of stealing, and the case having been presented to the court by the prosecuting solicitor, he was ordered to stand up.

"Have you a lawyer?" asked the court.

"No, sir."

"Are you able to employ one?"

"No, sir."

"Do you want a lawer to defend the case?"

"Not partickler, sir."

"Well, what do you propose to do about the case?"

"We—ll——ll," with a yawn, as if wearied of the thing. "I'm willin' to drop the case, far's I'm concerned."

HER OWN FAULT.

She (strumming)—I don't know why, but this wretched tune seems to haunt me.

He—Well, naturally. You've murdered it.

EASIER STRETCH

Irate Mother (at dinner)—Johnny, I wish you'd stop reaching for things. Haven't you a tongue?

Johnny—Yes, mother, but my arm's longer.

LEGAL QUERRIES

CONCERNING WILLS.

Q.—1. Is it customary to have a will registered to prevent loss or destruction of the same? 2. What does the word "probate" mean in connection with a will—e.g., "If the will has been probated, etc.?" 3. What is the fee for registering a will, if it is customary to have them registered?—J. G.

A.—1. A will is never registered before the death of the deceased. 2. It means if it has been proved. All wills, other than notarial wills, require to be probated. 3. For registration after the opening of the will, it depends on the property involved, but, in any case, the fee is only nominal.

A MISSING WIFE.

Q.—A man married in United States 21 years ago, in Catholic Church; husband and wife have been separated for 12 years; husband has written to United States nearly every year to find wife, whether dead or alive, and for years has not had any news of her. Can the man marry again?—N. M.

A.—If a man has not heard of, or from, his wife for seven years, and takes the chance that she is dead and remarries, if she returns he is not liable for criminal prosecution for bigamy, but all the civil results of the second marriage become null and void.

DRIVER WITH NECK BROKEN RECOVERING

PRESCOTT, Ont., Sept. 28—(Star Special) — Under the care of Dr. Grant, C. Madill and Dr. John Free, Seeber Moore, a truck driver who suffered a broken neck in a recent accident at Ogdensburg is recovering. Moore was dumping a load of stone from a truck and had raised the box when the clutch broke and the box crashed down on the chassis. The shock threw Moore's head against the edge of the window with such force as to break the upper vertebrae of the spine. As the spinal cord was not injured and the fractured vertebrae are beginning to heal Moore's complete recovery is expected.

PROPERTY TAXES

Notice is hereby given that

THURSDAY, the 1st of OCTOBER NEXT will be the last day on which the property taxes of 1925 may be

RECEIVED WITHOUT INTEREST

Ratepayers paying after that date will have to add interest at the rate of 6% per annum to the amount of their bills, and sixty days thereafter the rate will be 7% per annum.

SPECIAL TAXES, FOR SEWERS, SIDEWALKS, PAVINGS AND STREET IMPROVEMENTS ARE ALSO PAYABLE ON THE 1st OF OCTOBER WITH THE SAME RATE OF INTEREST FOR NON-PAYMENT.

PAYMENTS MAY BE MADE BY MAILING CHEQUES, but ratepayers are advised that no cheque may be received without the full amount of war stamps affixed thereto, viz., 2 cents per $50.00.

Parties wishing to pay personally at the office will avoid delay by bringing the exact amount of their bills or a certified cheque for the amount. Since the City Hall fire, the office of the City Treasurer is in the City Hall Annex, Gosford Street.

BILLS

The delivery of the bills to property owners, where the addresses are known, is now completed. Should any taxpayer not have received his bill for the current year's property taxes, he is requested to notify this office immediately, when a duplicate will be mailed to him.

THE NON-DELIVERY OF BILLS DOES NOT PREVENT THE PAYMENT OF INTEREST FROM THE 1st OF OCTOBER ON OVERDUE AMOUNTS.

P. COLLINS,
Ass.-City Treasurer.

Urge Women to Register Now

On Wednesday night at nine o'clock, the opportunity for registering as a voter at the forthcoming election ceases, and any woman whose name is not then on the lists loses her franchise for this election. Some of the heads of organizations and other women prominent in public affairs expressed their views to The Star this morning on the urgency of Women's registering in order to exercise their rights of citizenship.

Mrs. Walter E. Lyman, president of the Montreal Local Council of Women said, "It is the obvious duty of all women to register. Besides the duty of accepting our responsibility as citizens in the coming election, if we women in Quebec want to show our sincerity in asking for the Provincial vote, we must manifest our readiness to use the franchise we already have. Registration and the consequent study of questions of the day in order to vote conscientiously are educative, leading women to take an intelligent interest in the affairs of the country."

Mrs. J. Holmes McIntyre, president of the Montreal Women's Club, who, herself, registered the first morning the office in her district was open, said that to her it was incomprehensible that women who had worked to secure the franchise should be neglectful of opportunities to exercise it. "When women have been striving so many years to get the franchise," she said, "the least they can do is to show their appreciation by registering and using their vote. They should guard against the danger of procrastination at this time." Mrs. McIntyre remarked that she thought women's clubs had trained their members to take more interest in public affairs, as a number of club women had telephoned her in regard to registration. In some cases, it appeared, there was a lack of information as to the nearest place of registration in the different districts.

Prof Carrie M. Derick urged that it was most important for women to register, since without registration they cannot vote. The same arguments for taking an interest in the situation applied to women as to men. If peple abstain from voting, they may consider themselves to blame if conditions arise of which they do not approve. Whenever anyone has a right, that right involves a duty, and women's right to vote involves her duty to register and exercise her franchise.

"In the Province of Quebec," Professor Derick added, "women have an additional reason. On our conduct in Federal affairs depends to some extent the efficacy of our approach to the Provincial Legislature to ask for the Provincial franchise."

Mrs. A. D. Pelletier, president of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club, quoted a well-known lecturer who had charged that native born citizens were more indifferent in using their votes than were naturalized foreigners. "If men have been indifferent hitherto," said Mrs. Pelletier, "let us women not be equally lacking in the spirit of public duty, but rather, set an example. We women should do our utmost to show an interest in the affairs of the country. If we don't take the trouble to register and to vote, we are showing, ourselves but indifferent citizens."

Mrs. H. M. MacKay, president of the McGill Women's Union, said: "What does education mean but the broader outlook, thinking for others as well as ourselves? Our first responsibility is to perform the duties of citizenship. We must register.

Miss M. Hersey, lady superintendent of the Royal Victoria Hospital, said that a practical evidence of the interest being taken by the nurses was the fact that they are all registering.

CUT IN NEWSPRINT PRICE EXPECTED

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(A.P.) — A reduction of $5 a ton for newsprint is expected to be announced shortly by the International Paper Company making the 1926 contract price $65 a ton compared with the current year's quotation of $70. As production of newsprint at the company's low cost Canadian plant will be increased from 50 to 100 per cent. during the year, no depressing effect on earnings through the reduction is anticipated.

STE. AGATHE PATIENTS

The number of patients admitted in the Laurentian Sanatorium at Ste. Agathe des Monts during its third week of operation were 29; 18 men and 11 women.

The sanatorium for tubercular patients opened on September 2, and now has a total population of 37 men and 32 women.

Last week there was one man discharged, and no women.

THREE MINERS DIE IN GAS EXPLOSION

HERRIN, Ills., Sept. 28—(A.P.) — Three coal miners were killed and a fourth probably fatally burned Saturday in a gas explosion in Mine number 7 of the Consolidated Coal Company near here. The bodies of the dead miners were recovered after they had been entombed several hours.

THREE COUNTRIES TO RELIEVE RADIO

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(A.P.) —The Canadian, British and United States Governments have entered in an agreement by which merchant ships of all three countries after October 1 will cease operating their wireless apparatus on the wave length between 300 and 450 metres whenever they are within 250 miles of coasts of Canada, the United States and the British Isles. The purpose is to relieve radio broadcasting from a type of interference which has been an increasing cause for complaint.

FOR "QUICKSILVER."

Not so bad, Quicksilver, not so bad. The foxy one didn't know whether to be flattered or downright mad. At the moment he's running wild somewhere.

Your denunciation was excellent, old fellow, but you don't quite understand my aide-de-camp's psychology. He would not say, "What have I done to offend?" He couldn't. He would say, "Put me down you——," and then snap out a few choice invectives.

I'm glad "St. Martin's Eve" still reads his Hans Anderson, Grimm and Hauff aren't read half enough in this age of boyish cuts and monkey business. And Wonderful One, why so silent?

Oh please, a moment. I want to address a word of appreciation to Miami, Sunny Vin, the Man in the Street, and Molly O. OLIVER.

TO "FAIR IN PLAY."

Thank you ever so much, "Fair in Play" for your kind answer to my distress appeal.

Yes, it is true, some maids are stupid. If you should make the mistake of speaking intimately to them, they just smile discreetly and say "Of course Mlle." or "You know best." Why can't they be human for once in their lives?

It certainly would be nice to meet a real knight. I don't mean one of these impossible heroes one hears about nowadays, but a Man. But my "writing Knight," you must know that "faint heart ne'er won fair lady," and you must get over your shyness. And really when you come to think of it we girls are not as ferocious that we would eat a shy young man.

Je voudrais bien, that partnership you speak of, "A young or fair maid starting the French language and a tall lad beginning the English." So you must write often and I shall try to answer you correctly.

One thing more, when I sent out my S. O. S. I asked to be given a human name. Won't you please give me one?"

CULTURE AND SNOBBERY.

I was very much interested when I read No-See-Um's clever letter on culture and snobbery; how the former "breeds" the latter. But when I read Hidden Garden's article contradicting the slightest possibility of culture turning one into a snob, I was prompted into action. It is fairly evident and beyond the shadow of any doubt that an extremely cultured and refined person would not associate with a common day-laborer. It is against the grain, as it were. His moral and intellectual faculties have been raised so high that it is as impossible for him to lower himself to the other's level as it is for the other to grasp his viewpoint. Naturally, the truly cultured and highly refined mind would be inclined to look with disdain and deprecation upon one who is obviously his inferior. Culture surely breeds snobbery. It would not do of course to speak against culture as harmful and demoralising the altruistic spirit but still the tendency is that way, and the man with culture and refinement has a distinct trace of the ego in him. It is very well known that culture is characterized by a trace of snobbishness. No-See-Um, you are right and your letter certainly hit the point. As for Hidden Garden, I believe she took opposition to his words not because she did not believe it to be true, but for the simple reason that she was one of the instigators of the "highbrow" writings to this page. She felt that culture was needed on the page to make it look decent, and by doing so scared away the clever but humble writers. MIAMI.

THE TRUE RELIGION.

Sally, I don't want to criticise another's belief, but I used to think the same as you, that—we were all striving for the same place, so it did not matter which way we went as long as we got there. But the last few years I have realized the fact that it matters a whole lot which way we go, because there is only one way that leads to that place we are all striving for. They say these days there are many ways to reach the blest abode, that it matters not one's faith or creed but God has said, and He knows earth's need, there's only one sure road. There are only two ways we can go, the broad or the narrow way. So you see, Sally, God won't need to ask us which way we came, because if there is only one way, there will be no choosing, will there? I don't believe those who have the true religion would ridicule others who were different. They may pass their opinion because they realize the times we are living in and naturally they are trying to warn the people before it is too late. Don't you think we have to be very careful which way we go, since there is only one road that leads to that place we are all striving to enter? Of course, every creed may claim they are right, but if everyone were right they wouldn't be all different. The safest way is to follow Christ. Live as near as we possibly can to the life that He lived and we won't go wrong then. Our faith in Him will help us even though we may not reach perfection, for the Christian life is a perfect life. How can it possibly be otherwise? I hope I have made it plain so that you will see it is not the creeds that count for anything, because there is only one true religion that will count at the last day and that is the Religion of Christ. I believe, nevertheless, that we should have respect for all who are striving to live right according to the light they have and if they are really sincere they will have more light revealed to them and so they will find out before it is too late which is the right way to go. Even then sometimes it is very hard to travel the same road that Christ did without causing trouble, no matter how careful you try to be so as not to offend others who are different. But faith in God will help us and He will make the path clear for us in His own good time. MOLLY O.

DEATH.

Death is a dread enemy. He is the arch-enemy of all things that live. He is the one immutable enemy whom no one can escape. He is shunned by the good and the evil alike, and yet how seldom we think of him. Perhaps some dangerous illness brings us close to him, not very close, but just within the shadow of his presence, and from the depths of our being we feel the insistent longing to live. Perhaps in the crash of an auto or a fall from an unsafe height, we feel an impulsive foretaste of his presence. There is no vision of death in the consciousness, no expression in the consciousness that this is death and we must avoid it; in fact for the moment our consciousness deserts us and we feel only the blind impulse and the frantic insistence of self-preservation which is akin to all life.

Or again, perhaps we are in a deep, dreamy mood, roaming through the abyss of our consciousness when a flickering sense of death, vague and remote at first, then instantly looming grotesque and monstrous and real, full in the forefront of our consciousness, forcing us to know and realize its every feel, then quickly disappears, leaving us with only a half-dream memory of what was a moment ago so clear and distinct and what so filled us with apprehension and dread.

Death is the one great punishment for the one great crime,—the crime of causing the visit of death. Criminals in their cell sizzle the heat of their life to an ash, dripping drops of poignant sweat because of its hourly approach and wilt into unconsciousness upon the gallows, not because of their fear of a broken neck, but because of the awful awe and the despairing mystery of death.

Death is the one comforting solace of all life when all other power can offer no relief. There are no half-measures about it. It offers complete and abiding rest and relief to all who would accept its bounty. It offers more than life can ever hope to offer with all its proud promises and vain assumptions. Life with all its abounding joy, with all its capricious happiness, with all its despair and agony, with all its shame and depression is but an insipid thing compared with the serene, eternal calm of death. When life has denied and tormented the flesh, starved and crucified the spirit, choking pure ideals and stilling vain illusions, we then know how cheap and sordid, how paltry and vulgar, and how undesirable life is. When one tastes the exquisite misery of existence all alone, when torrid pain grows into the heart and brain like a deathless maggot, and when the last flickering ray of hope flutters out, then will one feel the calm, sad poise, accompanied by the desire to die. It brings no frantic clutching at death, just a great, sad longing. Fears of hell and hopes of heaven are forgotten; remains only the desire of a sombre spirit for the great eternal rest. And that desire is never to be denied us. We may reach out our arms at any moment to welcome death in the anticipation of peace, and in relief and gratitude. PURPLE SAGE.

TO "INA" AND "SALLY ANN."

I am a hustler, Ina, and as to thinking of something sensible, I often have my good moments.

How do you know that ignorance is bliss for me? Why not try to be wise yourself? You're so full of strokes that I'm tempted to think that you wrote your letter immediately after a swim. I am glad that I have twentieth century parents and not pig-headed ones who knock their children stupid trying to pound sense into their heads.

By changing my name to "Rude Little Boy," I would be doing a grave injustice to my most pleasant personality. "Sally Ann," your pen name makes me think of an old boat on which I played when but a mere child, it was built like a Norwegian barque, perhaps you're built along the same lines?

We once had a cow with a name like that, every time I went to town the cow followed me; some cow, I'll tell the wabbly world.

Your letter was so full of the word "we" that I'm afraid that you were trying to speak French. The reason that prompted me to say "we" was because when I wrote that letter I was surrounded by my friends.

They were the first to see "Roughneck's" remark to one "John Allen," in defence of "Diana."

Now we have a pal by the name of "John Allen," and we thought that it was he.

Poor little 'Johney," he only weighs a hundred pounds with his cap on, and besides I thought the pen name of "Roughneck" too suggestive to talk about fists. SWEET AL.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

WHAT HAPPENED BY THE OLD STUMP.

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Look here, look there, look everywhere,
But thorough be and look with care.
—Peter Rabbit.

Peter Rabbit had received a very broad hint from Unc' Billy Possum. Peter isn't so stupid as not to know a hint when he receives it. "I've just been wasting my time looking in treetops for the nest of Ol' Mrs. Buzzard," thought Peter as he scampered, lipperty—lipperty—lip, through the Green Forest. "Unc' Billy Possum knows those Buzzards so well that he probably knows all about their way of nesting. He didn't tell me to look on the ground for that nest, but he hinted that that would be the place to look. If that nest isn't on the ground it probably is pretty close to it. And here I've been running around with my head tipped back until I nearly broke my neck. Probably I've gone right past that nest a dozen times."

In this Peter was nearer right than he had any idea of. He had passed that nest more than a dozen times. In fact, he had passed it almost every day. When he left Unc' Billy Possum and scampered, lipperty—lipperty—lip, through the Green Forest, he ran until he met his big cousin, Jumper the Hare. It was near a great hollow stump. That stump was a little higher than Jumper, even when Jumper sat up straight. Neither Peter nor Jumper had even been able to look into that stump. Now when they met they sat down right at the foot of it with their backs to it.

"Well," said Jumper slowly, "it might be in a hollow log."

"Well, Peter," said Jumper, "have you found the nest of Ol' Mrs. Buzzard yet?"

"No," replied Peter promptly. "No, I haven't found that nest, but I've found out something about it."

"What?" demanded Jumper.

"I've found out," replied Peter, "that it is useless to look up in the tops of the trees for that nest because it isn't in a treetop."

"That is an excellent reason for not looking there, then," replied Jumper drily. "But if it isn't up in a tree, where is it?"

"Where else could it be?" snapped Peter.

"Well, it might be in one of several places," replied Jumper, scratching one of his long ears with a long hind-foot.

Peter prickled up his ears and stared at Jumper. "Huh!" said he. "Huh! What kind of talk is that? If it isn't up in a tree it must be on the ground, mustn't it?"

"Who says it must?" demanded Jumper.

"I do," replied Peter. "If it isn't up in a tree and it isn't on the ground, I'd like to know where it can be."

"Well," said Jumper slowly, "it might be in a hollow log."

Peter looked a little bit foolish. He hadn't thought of a hollow log. "It might," said he, "but I don't believe it is."

"It might be on top of a great pile of brush," said Jumper.

The foolish look on Peter's face increased. "And it might not be," he snapped.

"And it might be in a little cave in the rocks," continued Jumper.

Peter looked more foolish than ever and he couldn't think of a thing to say. He just grunted.

"And it might be in a big hollow stump," concluded Jumper. "Of course, Cousin Peter, I don't say that it is in any of these places. It may be on the ground for all I know. I just mentioned these places. It may be on the ground for all I know. I just mentioned these places because you said that if it wasn't in a tree it would have to be on the ground."

"Well, anyway, I'm going to look on the ground first," declared Peter, and off he started, Jumper following. As they disappeared a bald red head was poked over the edge of the old stump. It was the head of Ol' Mrs. Buzzard, and she grinned as she watched Peter and Jumper go lipperty—lipperty—lip out of sight in the Green Forest.

SEPTEMBER 27

People of this birthdate should not be ashamed of honest work. There are women of this date who would feel themselves permanently disgraced if they were caught washing dishes or sweeping a floor. These are the people who are forever whispering and striving to hide their economies and financial inabilities.

The children of this date are true children of nature. They have strong likes and dislikes, with a dominant will power, quick discrimination and understanding and very early in life show a talent for business careers.

Virgo-Libra governs this sign, and these individuals may have a charming nature and disposition if they are disposed to cultivate it.

THE FLAPPER WIFE:

By BEATRICE BURTON

Gloria went into her own room after her wraps to go out and mail Dick's letter.

The day was cold and there was a tiny jet of steam hissing out from the radiator beside her dressing table.

It gave Gloria a sudden idea.

She picked up the envelope and held it against the little jet of steam. The edges of the gummed flap began to curl back slowly.

. . . She would just open this letter and read what was in it!

She would find out what Dick was writing to Miss Briggs about! He had no business to be writing to her anyway.

Didn't Miss Briggs telephone him every morning from the office to tell him how things were going there? If he had anything important to say to her, why didn't he say it then instead of putting it into a letter, for goodness sake? . . . Unless it was something that he didn't want anyone to hear. Ah, that must be it! . . .

Gloria picked up her nail file from her tray of toilet things. She slipped its sharp point under the loosened flap of the envelope.

Then she stood still, looking down at the sedate syllables of Susan Briggs' name.

She was filled with sudden self disgust.

What a sneaking thing she was doing! Opening another person's letter!

Gloria flung the envelope down on her dresser as if it had been a live coal. She pressed the flap down tight.

Then she snatched it up and went back into Dick's bedroom.

"Looky here, Rikky," she began. "Do you think it's fair of you to write a letter to Miss Briggs and ask me to mail it for you? Particularly when you give it to me all sealed up for fear I might take a peek at it . . . Here it is! I'm not going to post it for you."

* * *

She tossed it down onto the covers of Dick's bed.

"As if I care a snap of my fingers what you've written to your old Miss Briggs!" she added scornfully. "You flatter yourself!"

Dick threw back his head and laughed.

"By Jove, I believe you do care, at that!" he said. "I believe you do!" The thought that she might be jealous of Miss Briggs seemed to please him immensely.

He ripped open the envelope.

"Here's the letter I wrote to her, Glory," he said. "Want to see it?"

Gloria took the two sheets of paper that he handed to her.

One was a bill for a hat that Gloria had bought two or three weeks before on one of her shopping trips with May. The other sheet was a note to Miss Briggs.

Gloria read it with frank curiosity. "Dear Miss Briggs,' it ran. 'This bill is okeh. Will you please send a check with it? Sincerely yours, Richard Gregory."

Gloria looked at it dumbly.

"What did you think I was writing to Miss Briggs? A love letter?" Dick asked good-naturedly. "Did you think I was having an affair of the soul with her?"

His wife nodded and hung her head. "I'm afraid I did," she said in a shamed undertone.

Dick took her hand and held it in one of his.

"Well, you need never be afraid of that sort of thing," he answered her. "I'll never cheat, Gloria. No matter what I do, I'll be honest with you. If ever I find a woman I care for more than I care for you, I'll tell you all about it . . . even before I tell her!"

Gloria looked at him thoughtfully with her wide, brown eyes.

"You don't suppose you ever will care for anybody but me, do you?" she asked, startled.

She was surprised to feel the surge of jealousy that swept through her at the thought of Dick ever falling in love with any other woman.

"Not a chance in the world," Dick answered. "You know I'll never care a rap about anybody but you. But I'm just telling you that you needn't worry about letters I write to Miss Briggs or any other woman living, so that you won't worry. See?"

Gloria couldn't answer him. A lump rose in her throat.

Dick was so honest. So decent. He was too good for her!

What would he say if he knew that she had let Stanley Wayburn make love to her? She raised a pointed finger and rubbed it hard across her lips. She felt as though they were soiled by Stan's kisses.

She made a little movement with her hands almost as if she were wringing them. She was terribly afraid she was going to cry. And she turned away and looked out of the window so that Dick shouldn't see her face. . . .

"I'll never cheat," he had said to her. What an ugly word "cheat" was!

Gloria saw now that she ought to have told Dick how she felt about Stanley Wayburn from the moment when he had kissed her in his dressing-room. That would have been the square thing to do!

But the whole affair had happened so gradually . . . that she hadn't realized that it had completely separated her from Dick until it was too late.

But was it too late, after all, to put Wayburn out of her life? Couldn't she forget him and try to be a good wife to Dick?

. . . After all, what was a few kisses, a few automobile rides with Wayburn? There had been no real harm in them—and Stan was going away soon.

Gloria stared out into the street, thinly veiled by gray April rain.

"I'll try to get that money and give it to Stan and then I'll never see him again. . . . I'll never think of him again!" she said defiantly. It was as if she disputed something with herself.

She put her handkerchief up to her eyes and brushed the welling tears away.

. . . The telephone buzzed loudly in the quiet room.

Gloria glanced at her wrist watch.

It was 2:30. And 2 o'clock was the time that she usually met Stan at the corner for a drive or a hike! He was probably phoning to ask why she had failed him!

"Shall I answer the phone, honey?" Dick asked.

"No, no! Let me do it!" Gloria rushed across the room like a small whirlwind and took the instrument from his hand.

"Hello," she said nervously. To her relief it was not Stan's voice that answered.

"This is Maggie, ma'am," the grim voice at the other end of the wire said. "Will you please go up to the hospital right away? Dr. Seymour has just taken Mr. Dick's mother there to operate on her for appendicitis!"

* * *

Dick's mother! Gloria could scarcely believe her ears.

Mother Gregory with her bright eyes and the blown roses in her cheeks, was the last person in the world who looked like a hospital case.

"Mr. Dick's father is out of town," Maggie went on. "And I do think someone of the family should be at the hospital when they operate on poor Mis' Gregory. . . . Please don't let Mr. Dick know about it, ma'am. It might kill him the way his heart is, and all!"

"Of course, I won't," Gloria snapped, as she hung up the receiver.

But how to keep Dick from knowing about his mother. That was the question.

She couldn't go away and leave him all alone in the house, sick and helpless as he was!

And there was no one to stay with him. It was Mrs. O'Hara's day off. Ranghild had gone to the dentist and wouldn't be back before 5 o'clock.

Suddenly Gloria thought of Miss Briggs. . . . Yes, she would have to ask Miss Briggs to come and stay with Dick in her absence. There was nothing else to do.

"That was my dad on the phone," Gloria fibbed to Dick. "He says my mother's sick and wants me to go over to the house right away. . . . Would you mind if I phoned Miss Briggs to stay here with you while I'm gone?"

Dick considered.

"Oh, I can stay here alone, can't I?" he asked, after a minute's pause. "There's no need to bother Miss Briggs, is there?"

"That's nonsense! You can't stay here by yourself!" Gloria cried. She picked up the telephone and called Dick's office number.

Miss Briggs' low, sweet voice answered at once.

"Could you leave the office for an hour or two, and come out here to the house?" Gloria asked her. "I've had some bad news from my mother and I've got to leave Mr. Gregory for a little while. It's your sister's day off duty, you know."

"I'll be there right away," Miss Briggs answered. Gloria was sure she could hear a note of eagerness in her voice.

"Did Miss Briggs say she'd come?" Dick asked.

"Did she say she'd come?" Gloria laughed with cutting sarcasm. "Oh, boy, did she! Why you couldn't keep her away with wild horses! Her idea of a perfect time is taking care of you for an afternoon. . . . You flip it from me, Rikky, she has a real crush on her boss! And don't you forget it!"

"Why don't you phone mother to come instead?" Dick asked, ignoring Gloria's remarks about Miss Briggs. "I'd rather have her. She hasn't been here for an age."

"Oh, she's not at home today," Gloria replied. "I happen to know." She had a sudden vision of Mother Gregory in the white operating room of the hospital.

"I've got to hurry!" she said. "Here, put your arms into your bathrobe! And let me brush your hair. . . . I must doll you all up for Miss Briggs!"

* * *

She straightened the covers of Dick's bed and laid the volume of Stevenson's "Vailima Letters" on his bedside table.

"There's your book," she said. "Your darling Susy can sit here with her best bedside manner and read it to you all afternoon in her soothing sickroom voice . . . and you won't miss your Gloria a bit!"

And again she was surprised at the sharp pang of jealousy that prickled through her at the thought of Miss Briggs sitting there with Dick all afternoon.

"If there's anything I can do for your mother let me know," Dick called after her as she went into her own room to dress. His kindness was a reproach in itself.

How good he was to her! And she didn't deserve it!

Gloria was ready to go long before the doorbell rang.

When at last it did, Gloria snatched up her coat and ran downstairs impatiently.

"If I'd had any sense I'd have sent a cab for you. Time counts in a thing like this!" she said sharply to Miss Briggs as they went up to Dick's room.

Miss Briggs flushed. She knew that what Gloria meant was that if she had had any sense she would have hurried to the house in a cab herself!

She bit her lip and said nothing.

When she opened the door of Dick's room there was a radiant smile in her eyes.

"Good-by, you two," Gloria said, and was gone.

THE HOUSE WITH NOBODY IN IT.

By Joyce Kilmer.

Whenever I walk to Suffern along the Erie track,
I go by a poor old farmhouse with its shingles broken and black.
I suppose I've passed it a hundred times, but I always stop for a minute
And look at the house, the tragic house, the house with nobody in it.

I have never seen a haunted house, but I hear there are such things;
That they hold the talk of spirits, their mirth and sorrowings.
I know this house isn't haunted, and I wish it were, I do;
For it wouldn't be so lonely if it had a ghost or two.

This house on the road to Suffern needs a dozen panes of glass,
And somebody ought to weed the walk and take a scythe to the grass.
It needs new paint and shingles, and the vines should be trimmed and tied;
But what it needs most of all is some people living inside.

If I had a lot of money and all my debts were paid,
I'd put a gang of men to work with brush and saw and blade.
I'd buy that place and fix it up the way it used to be,
And I'd find some people who wanted a home and give it to them free.

Now, a new house standing empty, with staring window and door,
Looks idle, perhaps, and foolish, like a hat on its block in the store.
But there's nothing mournful about it; it cannot be sad and lone,
For the lack of something within it that it has never known.

But a house that has done what a house should do, a house that has sheltered life,
That has put its loving wooden arms around a man and his wife,
A house that has echoed a baby's laugh and held up his stumbling feet,
Is the saddest sight, when it's left alone, that ever your eyes could meet.

So whenever I go to Suffern along the Erie track,
I never go by the empty house without stopping and looking back.
Yet it hurts me to look at the crumbling roof and the shutters fallen apart,
For I can't help thinking the poor old house is a house with a broken heart.

How to Keep Well: By Dr. W. A. Evans

POINTERS FOR DIABETICS.

Here are a lot of fallacies about diabetes which Drs. Nicely and Edmondson expose in two booklets which they issue from Waukesha:

First—That a little sugar in the urine does no harm. Even a trace of sugar in the urine means that the blood is overloaded and is, therefore, an index of unwholesome conditions.

Second—The quantity of sugar in the urine is an index of the severity of the disease. This is not always true. There are severe cases of diabetes with a low content of sugar in the urine, and vice versa.

Third—The change from high urine sugar to low urine sugar always means an improvement in the patient's condition.

Fourth—That gluten breads and other gluten products are proper diabetic foods that can be eaten without limitation. In the first place, many of the gluten breads are rich in starch, nearly as much so as the ordinary breads. It is difficult to make gluten bread attractive to the palate without incorporating starch in it. In the second place, gluten is a protein. Sixty-eight per cent of the gluten can be changed in the body into glucose. A gluten biscuit containing 45 per cent starch may be converted into 72 per cent glucose by action of the body on the gluten.

Fifth—That honey can be used by diabetics who cannot use syrups and sugar.

Sixth—That meat may be used without limitation. That chicken is preferable to other meats, and white meat to red meat. An ounce of meat contains about 100 grains of protein. Fifty-eight per cent of protein can be converted into sugar. Two ounces of meat equals in sugar production about 120 grains of sugar or one-half slice of bread. The various meats produce about the same quantity of sugar.

Seventh—That milk is a good food for diabetics. Few diabetics can tolerate much milk sugar. Sweet milk, sour milk, buttermilk, and cream all contain milk sugar. Cream should be used with caution, because the fat may do harm.

Eighth—That a diabetic must eat to keep up his strength. The strength is kept up by the food assimilated, not by that eaten.

Ninth—That toast is a better food than bread. Toast is merely dried bread.

Tenth—That some foods need not be limited. Moderation in all things is the slogan for a diabetic. The body can convert 58 per cent of the protein and 10 per cent. of fats into sugar.

Eleventh—Acid fruits are not to be eaten. Fruits that contain benzoic acid — namely: plums, prunes, and cranberries — not only taste acid but cause the urine to be acid. Possibly these should not be eaten. Apples, oranges, and the other fruits which caused the urine to be alkaline cannot be objected to because of their acidity.

Twelfth—That insulin and other pancreatic preparations are active when taken by the mouth.

Thirteenth—That patients of the same weight require the same number of calories. An active, muscular, hard working man weighing 180 pounds requires more calories than a fat, flabby, lazy office worker weighing 200.

Fourteenth—That gain in weight is indication of benefit from treatment. Gain in weight may be due to drinking too much water or eating too much salt.

Fifteenth — That exercise lowers blood sugar.

Sixteenth — That a diet list is all that is necessary in the treatment of diabetes.

SHOULD SLEEP OUTDOORS.

E. K. writes: A relative of mine had an X-ray picture taken showing, according to the doctor and the X-ray expert, tuberculosis of the lungs. This relative had been drinking a quart of goat's milk daily upon the advice of his physician and is gaining. Yet I am not satisfied because he is not changing sleeping conditions, that is, he is not sleeping out of doors. He is highly encouraged on account of gaining a few pounds. Is it not possible for a person with tuberculosis to gain in flesh in the first stages even though the disease may be making steady progress?

Reply.

It is.

He should not be satisfied with a gain in weight. He should live all the rules of right living. Sleeping out of doors, or on a porch, or in an exceptionally well ventilated room is among those rules.

SUPER REGENERATIVE CIRCUIT.

Q.—I am coming to you for some advice, I have built a two tube hook up of the autoplex circuit, but I cannot get outside the city with it. Although I am not particular about distance, what I want is volume. I have cut out the large coil that is shunted across the aerial and ground, it does not make any difference at all. Do you think the coil was faulty or perhaps not enough turns? I also get a terrible hum, if I disconnect aerial it stops so to overcome this I run another wire from my aerial binding post to my gas stove. This seems to absorb it. Why is this? I have tried shunting fixed condensers across my aerial and ground but it is no help. If I did add another stage of amplification do I connect it to the first stage in the same way, as I have connected the first stage to the detector? The transformer I now use is audio ratio 5 to 1, is that too high? What ratio should I use for second stage, and should it be radio or audio frequency? This set is supposed to be super-regenerative. Could I get a better hook up for local?—C. S.

A.—Many so-called super-regenerative circuits are difficult to operate. They provide perhaps, an interesting field for the experimenter, but if you desire to be reasonably sure of consistently good results, I would suggest that you use a standard hook up. A second stage of audio amplification should be added in exactly the same way as the first stage. You should use an audio transformer having a ratio of about 3 to 1. The ratio of the first transformer is alright.

TUBES AND DISTANCE.

Q.—Will you please be kind enough to tell me your opinion on my three tube set, which is a three circuit regenerative hook up. At present I am using dry cell tubes and I can get local only with good aerial, ground and batteries. 1. What will be the difference in volume if I change my dry cell tubes for storage battery type? 2. Is a lightning arrester absolutely necessary? 3. If so, could I ground same to a radiator, where there is the ground for the radio and the telephone already?—O. L.

A.—This type of circuit usually gives good results both for distance and volume when two stages of audio amplification such as you have are used, changing your tubes will not improve distant reception, but should give you more volume for loud speaker operation. Have you tried reversing connections to your tickler coil? If an outdoor aerial is used then a lightning arrester should always be installed, as it provides a safeguard against heavy static charges. You can use the radiator as your ground, but a separate ground wire should be run from the arrester to the radiator. This wire should be as short as possible, and should not be smaller than No. 14 gauge copper wire.

B BATTERY CONNECTIONS.

Q.—I am building the unexcelled three circuit tuning set. I am using for detector a 200 type tube, and for first and second step, 201A type tubes. Would any 201A type tubes advertised do? How many dry cells would I need? There are four B battery posts and the first is B—, on the second there is B plus 22 v. on the third there is B plus 67v. on the fourth B plus 90 v. How many B batteries would I need to have, and what voltage? Could I run a loud speaker off this set?—M. A. C.

A.—For good results use only tubes made by a reputable manufacturer. You will require a total of 90 volts B battery, made up either of four separate 22 1-2 volt units, or two 45 volt units, each having a 22 1-2 volt tap. Connect the B batteries in series, i.e. the plus terminal of the one to the negative terminal of the next. This will mean three connections if four 22 1-2 volt units are used, but only one if two 45 volt units are used. This will give you a free negative terminal of one battery which should be connected to the B minus post. Take a lead from the first 22 1-2 volt terminal to the 22 V post, and a lead from the third 22 1-2 volt terminal to the plus 67 V post, and another lead from the free B plus terminal to the plus 90 V post. This set should give good loud speaker operation.

LOW LOSS COIL.

Q.—I have a Reinart set that I built with spiderweb coil on a cardboard form, which works very well. I should like to put in either a basket weave or a low loss coil. I have block with 3" circle for 11 pins ¼" also hub 2½" diameter with ⅝" spokes for spiderweb (11 spokes). Will you kindly let me know through your column what wire and number of turns in each case.—F. R. C. B.

A.—As your set is working well at present with your present coil I should be inclined to continue using the same coil, as it is doubtful whether changing to one of the so-called low-loss type will give you any better results, as this phrase does not mean much when applied to one part only of the circuit. If you wish to try it however, use a spiderweb form with the spokes and wind your coil exactly as before, using same number of turns and same size wire, applying a little collodion varnish lightly at several places on the coil before spokes are removed so as to render the coil self supporting.

LARGE CONDENSERS.

Q.—I am experimenting just now with a B battery substitute, and wish to make two fixed condensers of 3 mfd. capacity using waxed paper and tin foil. Will you be good enough to tell me what size sheets of paper and tin foil should be and how many sheets will be required. Any information you can give me as to construction will be greatly appreciated. —W. H.

A.—It would be a very difficult undertaking for the home experimenter to construct fixed condensers of so large a capacity, and I think you would be much better advised to purchase suitable condensers as they are not expensive accessories.

LAD LOSES HAND BY EXPLOSION

Serious Result When Little Roger Poked Detonator With Nail

A detonator found in a neighbor's tool-box on Saturday evening, wrought havoc to three little children, one of whom has lost a hand and is in a fair way to lose an eye, as the result of the ensuing explosion.

The tragedy occurred in the rear of the home of the victims, 83 Vitre street west, when Roger Kourie, aged 6, saw the detonator in a box of odds and ends used by a neighbor in repairing a wagon, which the children were watching. The little fellow picked up the little cylinder and eyed it inquisitively. Lucille, aged 4, and Romeo, aged 8, came up to inspect the "find." It was then that Roger took a nail from the box, and started to dig for something which he could just discern down the tube.

A flash and a detonation followed, the children were hurled to the ground by the shock and fright, and Roger's little left hand, which but an instant before had clutched the detonator, was a mangled mass of bleeding flesh, his face seared by the flame of the explosion and his left eye badly injured. Lucille was burned about the face, and suffered bruises on the right leg when she fell. Romeo escaped with a bruised thumb, and minor injuries to the face.

Roger was taken to the Montreal General Hospital by his father, who was hastily summoned from work. His condition is still considered to be serious.

HORSE KICKS BOY

Watching the unhitching of a horse in the stable of A. Gavas, near his home, Saturday evening, Antonio Sauro, aged 12, of 3356 Chabot street, suffered severe injury to the head, with possible fracture of the skull when the animal suddenly lashed out and kicked him. The child was taken to Ste. Justine Hospital, where his condition is regarded as serious.

APPROVES BUILDING OF SINGAPORE BASE

For the purpose of giving better protection to the trade routes, Britain's decision to proceed with the Singapore naval base is heartily commended by commercial interests in the Far East, according to B. Markham, representative of British business houses with headquarters at Singapore. Mr. Markham arrived in Montreal Saturday en route to the Orient, and said business generally in the Malay Peninsula was exceedingly good. Canadian products were gradually finding a way into this market, and the natives appeared to be buying fair quantities.

Mr. Markham stated that an excellent market awaited Canadian manufacturers in the east if they would take more interest and study conditions there. Referring to the chaotic condition of China, he pointed out that China's salvation must come from within her own borders. Outside interference was resented by the Chinese people, he said, as much as the Canadian people would resent it.

ABE MUCKLEY OUT ON BAIL OF $5,000

Abe Muckley who, with three others, including "Kid" Baker, is charged with intimidation of witnesses and selling drugs, was released on bail on Saturday, a $5,000 bond demanded by the court having been furnished.

Among those who appeared in court before Chief Justice Decarie on Saturday morning were 16 men charged with gambling offences.

Steve Marco, 154 Peel street, and Louis Pagaman, of 100 St. Antoine street, pleaded guilty to running betting establishments, and were fined $200 and costs or three months. Fourteen men pleaded guilty to having been found in the establishments, and were fined $25 and costs or one month.

TAXI AND AUTO IN CRASH

In a collision at the intersection of St. Denis and St. Zotique streets on Saturday evening, an automobile and a taxicab were severely damaged and two persons slightly injured. The victims are Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Fournier, aged 29 and 30 years, of 446 City Hall avenue, who were taken to the Notre Dame Hospital, where it was found that they were only suffering from minor bruises. P. Scullior, of 3430 Park avenue, driver of the taxi, and Henri Dubois, of 258 St. Catherine street, driver of the car escaped without injury.

BRITISH GOODS IN GERMAN VESSELS

That British goods are being carried to Mexican ports in German ships, was the statement made by Alfred Levy, president of the C. H. Innis Agencies, Ltd., of Mexico, who arrived in Montreal Saturday after making a tour of England, France, Switzerland and Germany. Mr. Levy states a weekly steamship service has been established between Mexico and Germany but there is hardly a British ship maintaining a regular service to Mexican ports.

Mr. Levy believes that direct steamship service should be established not only between Great Britain and Mexico, but also between Canada and Mexico. Business men in Mexico are seeking these services, he said. He points out that Canadian exports to Mexico have increased materially in the past few years and moreover there is still a tremendous field there for Canadian products. Germans, he said, had seen the value of the Mexican field and had sent a business mission that had borne fruit.

'Recognition of Mexico by Great Britain on August 29 and the subsequent appointment of a minister to Mexico, was hailed by Mr. Levy as a long-looked-for step in the right direction. Britain's recognition, he said, would tend to stabilize the country's affairs.

MINISTERS RETURNED

MONCTON, N.B., Sept. 28—(C.P.)—Hon. A. J. Leger, Provincial Secretary-treasurer and Hon. Lewis Smith Minister of Agriculture in the Baxter Government, were returned unopposed in their respective constituencies, Westmorland and Albert, on Saturday.

CHILD FALLS FROM BALCONY

Rose Wagner, aged 8, of 38 Vitre street east, is in a serious condition at the Montreal General Hospital suffering from head injuries and a fracture of the right arm, as the result of a fall from the second storey balcony of her home on Saturday afternoon. The doctors were informed that the child had lost her balance while at play.

Securing a Home

"You've a splendid home — cozy, modern and convenient; easily reached from business and located where values are rapidly increasing. How were you fortunate enough to find it?"

"It's a comparatively easy matter to find just such values as this represents if you go about it in a business like way," was the reply. "I secured this home by using the Star Want Columns."

The most desirable realty — houses, apartments, flats, vacant, factory sites and business locations—all are within the reach of the shrewd buyer who uses the Star Want Columns.

Your teeth made white
—glorious, gleaming!
—your gums like coral to contrast them

Both come quickly when that dingy film is removed this way
Please accept 10-day tube to try

HERE are beautiful teeth for the asking. Those dazzling clear teeth that add so immeasurably to one's personality and charm.

Millions have found them in this new way. Dental authorities urge it. In a few days you can work a transformation in your mouth. Dull teeth thus are made to glisten. Gums are firmed and given a healthy, coral color.

Now a test is being offered. Find out what can be done with your teeth, quickly, amazingly. Just mail the coupon.

Film—that's the trouble

Dental science now traces scores of tooth and gum troubles to a germ-laden film that forms on your teeth.

Run your tongue across your teeth and you will feel it—a slippery, viscous coating.

That film absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. And that is why your teeth look "off color" and dingy.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It lays your gums open to bacterial attack and your teeth open to decay. Germs by the millions breed in it. And they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Mere brushing won't do

Ordinary dentifrices and cleansing won't fight film successfully. Feel for it now with your tongue. Note how your present cleansing method is failing in its duty.

Now new methods are being used. A dentifrice called Pepsodent—different in formula, action and effect from any other known.

Largely on dental advice, the world has turned to this method.

It removes that film. And Firms the Gums

It accomplishes two important things at once: Removes that film, then firms the gums. No harsh grit, judged dangerous to enamel.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Send the coupon. Clip it now before you forget.

RIFFIANS BREAK THROUGH SPANISH BLOCKADE DAILY

Special Correspondent With Party of 300 Making Dash

BOMBING FUTILE

Results are Gained by the European Aviation Experts

(Copyright, 1925 in United States, Great Britain, South America and Japan by North American Newspaper Alliance, and Montreal Star. All rights reserved.

By VINCENT SHEEAN.

(Special Correspondent of the Star and North American Newspaper Alliance with the Riff Armies.)

RIFF GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, Targhzuit, Sept. 9, by courier to Tangier, Sept. 28. — I set out from Tangier with my guide, a Riff tribesman, at sunset.

We tramped across the fields, avoiding the main roads as much as possible. By a detour through the hills we escaped the French and Moroccan guards. At eight o'clock we were outside the international zone.

Then for an hour and a half we passed through the Spanish lines.

This part of the business of blockade-running merits attention, because the same thing happens every night, and it demonstrates the impossibility of any really effective blockade in such a ruggedly mountainous country.

Just at the edge of the international zone, and at the beginning of the Spanish outpost line, about 300 Moors were gathered,—people who had come by all roads to one agreed point, in order to share mutually the danger of crossing the frontier.

We all made the dash together, helter skelter through the broad belt of Spanish outposts.

Although the Spanish searchlights were playing constantly over the moonlit hills, we all came through without a scratch.

We were at least half-way through the lines before actual firing began.

For about 15 minutes we were under fire from both sides, as the trail we followed led between two Spanish forts.

Yet out of the entire 300 men, women and children,— country folk who never miss the Thursday market at Tangier, war or no war—nobody was injured.

Even the mules, donkeys, chickens and goats escaped.

Just beyond the last point reached by the Spanish searchlights, we blockade runners gathered together again to compare notes. Each family group of country folk called the roll of people and animals, to find out if there were any casualties.

It was a curious scene under the white full moon,—these shadowy figures moving busily about, each some particular Ahmed or Ayesha or Fatima to be anxious about.

My Riff friend and I left them there, and struck out across the hills toward Bohrabish, our first destination.

About two o'clock in the morning, my unaccustomed feet objected to treading any more rocks with their burrs and thorns. So we stopped for the night in a convenient ditch.

In the morning, before the first Spanish cannon had begun, we were again off in the direction of Bohrabish.

GUIDE LOST.

Our menu at meal-time consisted of luscious cactus-fruits, melons and ripe figs, plucked along the way,—another reason why Abd el Krim's armies need no supply train.

We reached Mohrabish after nightfall of a day made exciting by air raids and cannonades.

This part of the Spanish front had been seeing some special activities for the past two days, since Riff troops under Hamid Boudra had captured Darben-aisea and massacred its Spanish garrison.

We left Bohrabish on the evening of the September 6. I was mounted on a long-legged Spanish mule with a mind of its own. We crossed the Djebala to the great Spanish military road, where the Sheshuan-Tetuan retreat took place last year. The journey occupied all night and all day Monday, with only an occasional short rest.

One of these rests took place in the courtyard of a village mosque, directly opposite the Spanish around the Fondak of Ain-Yedida.

We were just getting soundly to sleep on top of our saddlebags when the Muezzin began intoning his last call to prayer:

"God is great! God is great! There is no God but Allah! There is no God but Allah and Mohammed is his Prophet! Hurry to prayer! Hurry to redemption!"

An irritating incident of the journey was the loss of my guide midway on my journey. He, astride a speedier steed, was about half a mile ahead of me on the trail. When we reached a fork of the road and I had to chose one of two trails, Allah was unkind enough to send me along the wrong road.

I made the rest of the journey alone, except for occasional chance companions along the road. I slept in a cornfield Monday night and reached Targhzuit at noon Tuesday. My errant guide had beaten me into town by one hour.

HEAVY BOMBING.

Sidi Mohammed, general-in-chief of the Riff armies and brother of Abd el Krim, received me with the greatest cordiality on my arrival at Targhzuit.

My credentials had preceded me, and my visit of a year ago was pleasantly remembered. I found myself the only correspondent with the Riff forces.

General Sidi Mohammed produced immediate evidence of his tact and courtesy, in the form of a European meal, cooked by the Abd el Krim family's own cook from Melilla.

I was given a tent, with a table, a bed and two chairs, together with a personal servant. The furnishings of my tent were undoubtedly a great concession, for such articles as tables and chairs are the rarest luxuries in the interior of Morocco.

Thus is my personal comfort provided for, in recognition of my representing the press and the public.

Now if Sidi Mohammed could only contrive some sort of a screen against bombs, all would be well. Bombs have been frequent and furious during my stay in the Riff country.

Still, the European aviation experts cannot be said to be distinguishing themselves, judging by the results of the past few days.

A whole escadrille of seven planes from the French zone bombed the Holy City of Sheshuan for two hours on Sunday and two hours Monday. The resultant casualties were only two people killed and one wounded. Both of the dead were non-combatants, one woman and a Jew.

The combined French and Spanish fleets bombarded Wadlau and Tgizas Saturday. Total casualties were four killed.

A furious bombardment of Adjdir on Friday resulted in only three deaths,—two of the fatalities being Spanish prisoners.

It is small wonder that in spite of the gathering dangers of this war against tremendous odds, the Riff tribesmen are still confident.

Events seem to prove that they are right,—that European military methods are of relatively small avail here in the "Mountains of Allah."

From reading Spanish communiques and listening to Spanish generals talk, one might suppose that a Spanish airplane never dropped a bomb without killing at least 50 Arabs. The truth about aerial bombing in the Riff mountains is so ludicrously far from the official fiction that along the Spanish front the raids at times have become nothing more than a way of telling time, inasmuch as they always occur at exactly the same hour of day.

These mountains of the Riff are more suitable for song and poetry than for military accomplishment,—great crimson crags flung incredibly against a sky of sacerdotal blue, gorges magnificent and terrifying, green valleys at peace between protecting precipices. They are at times reminiscent of Colorado. At other times they remind you of nothing else on earth. Their deep burning red is unique, although a mining engineer would explain it promptly in terms of rich deposits of iron ore.

Edible frogs and snails are taken to London from France by air every day.

PRINCE OF WALES LEAVES FOR HOME

Entertains Argentine President at Brilliant Dinner On H.M.S. Repulse

MAR DEL PLATA, Argentina, Sept. 28.—(C.P.)—The Prince of Wales is homeward bound after a six weeks' visit to South America. H.M.S. Repulse, with the Prince aboard, sailed at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

On the eve of his departure for England the Prince entertained President de Alvear at a farewell banquet aboard the British warship. Several members of the Cabinet and high Government officials as well as many others socially prominent, who had come from Buenos Aires to bid the Prince farewell, attended; the Repulse was lavishly illuminated and the function was a brilliant affair.

The Prince spent the last three days of his visit to Argentina at the ranch of the noted Argentine sportsman, Miguel Martinez de Hoz, who is now in Europe but whose sons acted as hosts. Before embarking on the Repulse the Prince was the guest of honor at a reception given by the President and Madame de Alvear at their summer residence here, Argentina's premier seaside resort.

Commenting on the visit of the Prince, La Nacion (Buenos Aires) calls attention to the sympathetic attitude of the Argentina people towards the Prince whenever he appeared in public and adds: "He was able to observe in this spontaneity of the public's attitude the sincerity of these sentiments, demonstrating the profound pleasure with which we received the man for whom a glorious destiny awaits.

"The affection and admiration which we have always professed towards Great Britain were revealed in these manifestations. The Prince leaves in Argentine society an enduring impression."

The paper alludes to the Prince's wide travels, which will enable him to draw many important conclusions upon his arrival home and report many interesting things and concludes:

"We will always record with pleasure this visit of the Prince of Wales."

GENEVA PROTOCOL SUPPORT FEATURE OF WORLD LEAGUE

Arbitration, Security and Disarmament Idea Refuse To be Downed

DANDURAND SPEAKS

Statesmen Predict Greater Progress During Coming Year

GENEVA, Sept. 28.—(Special Star-World Cable. Copyright.)—The outstanding feature of the Sixth Assembly of the League of Nations, which has dragged out over three weeks, without any startling developments, is, in the words of Viscount Cecil of Chelwood the "astounding vitality of the principles behind the protocol for arbitration, security and disarmament."

This trilogy has refused to be downed and no sooner had the Assembly adjourned Saturday night than the 35th Council, which is still in session, took up the recommendations and various resolutions emanating from the former. Despite the attitude of Great Britain toward the protocol, not a single delegation, with the exception of Japan, has consigned it to the graveyard.

Senator Dandurand, the Canadian president of this year's Assembly, in almost his last words declared:

"We have still to examine the outcome of the three words which are henceforth to be classics—arbitration, security and disarmament. The deliberations of the Assembly have shown us that the spirit of the protocol drawn up last year still lives. It constitutes at present an ideal and a rule of conduct. None of the general principles enunciated by the Fifth Assembly were questioned by the Sixth. The only modifications made concerned those principles. The principles themselves formed the very basis of our discussions. The Assembly has again denounced aggressive war as an International crime and re-affirmed arbitration and security as essentials for disarmament."

Dandurand emphasized, however, that security being assured would merely be advancing the program upon which the League was founded. The security pact was a stepping stone toward an end. Statesmen like Cecil, Nansen, and Benes, while not over enthusiastic, regard the past Assembly as a serious step in the right direction. They emphasize that the lack of fireworks and spectacular developments does not mean that the work has lost impetus. They predict that the coming year will witness greater progress for the League than ever before.

If security pacts are arranged at the meetings with Foreign Minister Stresemann and Chancellor Luther, then next year will see Germany at the Assembly. If the pour parlers fail, then the protocol will be re-invoked with inevitable success. While the League is not counting upon American co-operation in disarmament the conference on the private manufacture of arms will be the next step and the Council will continue its preparations.

Although Brazil, Uruguay, Spain, Czecho-Slovakia, Sweden and Belgium who composed the non-permanent members of the Council last year, were re-elected, Venzuela introduced a resolution which was adopted by the Assembly urging that the policy of rotation be resumed next year. The hesitancy to change the complexion of the Council is largely due to the anticipation of Germany's appearance shortly, which will necessitate a redistribution of the non-permanent members. China again put up a determined effort to secure representation for an Oriental nation on the non-permanent list. She secured 26 votes, being beaten out by Belgium's 32.

"POOR MAN OF DOORN" TO BECOME ONE OF RICHEST LAND-HOLDERS IN EUROPE

BERLIN, Sept. 28. — (U.N.) — The "poor man at Doorn," as former Kaiser Wilhelm is known among the German Nationalists, will soon be the richest man of Germany if not in Europe.

His poverty, if ever there were such a thing, will soon be ended, and although political power may be denied him and his family, there will be nothing to prevent him in the near future from wielding financial power over the old "Vaterland."

After seven years of effort comparable in its intensity only to the seven years struggle of Jacob for his beloved Rachel, Wilhelm is about to regain the bulk of the Hohenzollern family's property, held in trust by the German Republic ever since November 30, 1918.

Three hundred thousand acres of the best forest and cultivated area in Prussia, eighty palaces, castles and chatelets, valued before the war at 796,000,000 gold marks, as well as 103 lots of developed real estate in residential sections of various German cities and five opera houses, is the extent of what Prussia's former king claims as his "private property."

MICHAUD DECLARES ARMY RIDICULOUS

PARIS, Sept. 28— (Special Star-World Cable, Copyright.) — They gave me a ridiculous army. It couldn't fight. A great proportion of the men composing it never had learned to use firearms." This astounding defence for his severe defeat is said to have been made by General Michaud, who commanded the first French column sent to relieve Suedia, Syrian fortress besieged by rebel Druses.

Michaud arrived in France Sunday morning, and according to assertions of fellow passengers aboard the ship he intends to ask to be court-martialed in order to present his defense and show his defeat was inevitable owing to the inefficient force placed at his disposal.

REBEL OFFICERS AND SOLDIERS FREED

LISBON, Sept. 28 — (A.P.) — The trial by courtmartial of officers and soldiers arrested after the unsuccessful military rising of last April, ended at four o'clock Sunday morning, the men being acquitted. After five hours debate the generals composing the jury decided that the accused were inspired by patriotic intentions. The verdict caused great enthusiasm.

The April revolt last only about 24 hours. Twelve persons were killed and 73 wounded.

EXPECT RUHR COAL TO BREAK STRIKE

BERLIN, Sept. 28 — (U.N.) — The Bourse Courier declares that the object of the visit of President Wertheimer of Burns Brothers, New York coal merchants, is to buy 250,000 tons of Ruhr coal for $3,000,000 to break the anthracite miners' strike in the United States. The firm also plans to buy British coal, it is reported.

SPANISH WOMAN GIVES BIRTH TO HER 29TH CHILD

VALADOLID, Spain, Sept. 28.—(U.N.) — Senora Camille Lorenzo, has given birth to her 29th child—a son—at the age of 68.

It is believed that this is a record for modern times, although the Bible records that Sarah gave birth to Isaac when over 90 years old.

Only one woman in 3,300 gives birth to a child after reaching 50 years of age, physicians say.

TEACHERS' CONGRESS MEETS IN BELGRADE

BELGRADE, Jugoslavia, Sept. 28. —The seventh international congress of secondary teachers recently met at Belgrade. Fifty delegates took part, many of them women, from the following countries: France, England, the United States, Belgium, Switzerland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Rumania and Lithuania. The Italian Teacher's Union sent a letter regretting that its elected delegate was unable at the last minute to attend. Serious work was begun on the second day, the congress being opened by M. Vukicevic, the Minister of Education, as representative of King Alexander.

PRINCE SUES FOR CASTLE IN FRANCE

PARIS, Sept. 28—(Special Star-World, Copyright.)—Prince Youssoupoff, of Russia, who recently lost a suit in New York to compel Joseph. E. Widener to return to him two Rembrandt paintings, has begun legal proceedings to obtain possession of Kerollet Castle in Brittany, bequeathed to France by his grandmother. He alleges alterations have been made in the castle and many of its finest art objects sold in violation of his grandmother's will.

AVIATORS USED IN RELIEF OF OUTPOST

Sherrifian Squadron Rains Bombs on Riffian Positions

OUEZZAN, Morocco, Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—The entire Sherrifian Squadron of aviators participated in the actual relief of the Bouganous fort, the most important operation in the Ouezzan sector in more than a month, which was carried out yesterday morning. This outpost, topping a mountain lying seven miles northeast of Ouezzan, overlooks an extensive region. It was surrounded by the rebellious tribesman in April, since which time it has been the centre of violent attacks by the Riffians. Last Tuesday the foreign fliers had a share in a manoeuvre which was termed the "false relief" of the fort, from which much was learned to aid in Saturday's operations. Bombing from the air began before dawn, each plane making three or four trips for new bombs. The enemy positions, which were covered with straw in an effort to camouflage them, were heavily bombarded. The only casualty suffered by the squadron was when Adjutant Soule-Nan was slightly wounded by a bullet as he passed low over a hillside. Capt. Holden, whose airplane was temporary out of commission, marched with the infantry column.

After the bomgardment the Sherrifa of Ouezzan, an English woman who 30 years ago married one of the most powerful noblemen in Morocco being known as a descendant of Mohammed, visited the fliers. She was accompanied by her suite of Moroccan noblemen.

Considerable anxiety is felt over the fate of two French planes, with five aviators aboard which disappeared during the bombardment of Shesheuan Wednesday. It is feared they were blown to pieces by their own bombs or smashed into a mountain side in the

BEGUM OF BHOPAL ARRIVES IN LONDON

Comes to Decide Her Successor as Ruler of Indian State

LONDON, Sept. 28—(C.P.)—Heavily veiled and followed by a large entourage of turbanned Ministers, secretaries and attendants, the Begum (Princess) of Bhopal, an interesting personality and the only woman ruler of an Indian State, arrived in London last night and was met by a large gathering of Orientals and a representative of the Earl of Birkenhead, Secretary of State for India.

The Begum has come to London on an issue of considerable importance to Anglo-Indian relations, namely, the question of deciding her successor as Ruler of Bhopal. Her eldest son, Nawab Nasrulla Khan, is dead, so according to the law of primogeniture, his son should inherit the grandmother's mantle, but the Begum seems to prefer that the honor go to her only surviving son Nawabzada Hamidulla and invokes the Islamic custom of potentates nominating their own successors. Several other complicated issues are raised by the question of deciding her successor and the last word rests with the Government of India.

The rulers of Bhopal traditionally have been friendly towards Britain and have stood by the Imperialists in many crises such as the Indian Mutiny and especially during the war when the present Begum maintained an unflinching devotion. For the Begum it must be also said that due to her enlightened rule, some of its educational developments are often held up as examples of what India can do.

It Bucks You Up!

Zowie! — or words to that effect. It isn't only in the West that the great thrill is felt. There are thousands upon thousands of people all over Canada who revel every day in the exciting occupation of being alive.

Tingling with health, bubbling over with energy and high spirits they are out to conquer. They've got "that Kruschen feeling" — and got it for keeps.

You can be as they are. If at times you feel run down, slack, depressed or "nervy" then all you need to change your outlook and buck you up is the "little daily dose" of Kruschen Salts.

"As much as will cover a 10 cent piece in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea every morning" — that's all you have to remember.

You tip the tiny pinch of Kruschen into your breakfast cup of coffee or tea and, although you can't taste it, the magic powder at once starts to make a new being of you.

Each little dose of Kruschen is a blend of the six vital salts which Nature demands for the body's perfect health. Briefly, what these salts do is to clear your system and invigorate your blood, and to set you thrilling from head to foot with a delicious sense of fitness and cheery vigour.

Don't go on wasting what should be your best years. Get a 75c bottle of Kruschen at once and bring the big thrill into your everyday life.

Tasteless in Coffee or Tea

Put as much in your breakfast cup as will lie on a 10 cent piece. It's the little daily dimeful that does it.

Kruschen Salts

Good Health for Half a Cent a Day.

A 75c bottle of Kruschen Salts contains 160 doses—nearly enough for six months—which means bounding health for less than half a cent a day. The dose prescribed for daily use for adults is "as much as will lie on a 10 cent piece," taken in your breakfast cup of coffee or tea. Every druggist sells Kruschen. Get a 75c bottle to-day.

"A Little Out Of The Way—But It Pays To Walk"

MANY AT FUNERAL OF MR. LARIVEE

Late Journalist Buried on Saturday in Longueuil

Mourned by thousands in spirit, and by 500 who paid the last tribute by attendance at his funeral Saturday morning, the late Louis Larivee, was laid to rest in the family burial plot at Longueuil, the home of his youth.

Journalism, in which field Mr. Larivee labored for 40 years, was largely represented in the funeral cortege, that left his late home, 1090 Des Erables street, at 8 o'clock Saturday morning for the Church of the Immaculate Conception, Papineau avenue, where a solemn High Mass of Requiem was celebrated by Rev. Father Louis Arcand celebrant, Rev. Father Albert Buron, deacon, and Rev. Father Aurelien Demers, subdeacon.

The spacious church held a representative gathering of professional men, including judges, lawyers, business men and a large delegation of newspaper men, familiar with the long service of the late reporter, whose "30" had been written for the last time a few days before the grave opened to receive him.

The chief mourners were his three sons, Louis A. Larivee, sporting editor of Le Canada, Armand and Jean Paul Larivee, one brother, Adolphe Larivee, and E. Vanier, J. A. Beaudieu, J. Jockisk and H. Laporte, brothers-in-law.

A solemn Requiem Mass, by Cesare Dolbice, was sung by the celebrant, Tamphile Langlois presided at the organ and the choir was under the direction of Rev. Father Fontaine. The soloists were A. Ducharme, Rev. Father Vinet, Dr. W. Descoteaux, P. P. Gibeault and J. A. Marcoux. Among the mourners who walked from the home of the dead journalist to the church were:

NOW IS TIME TO PLANT PEONIES, SAYS EXPERT

Directions are Given by W. Ormiston Roy

Now is the time to plant peonies. They will thrive in poor soil as well as rich—in clay, in sand, and in black earth, according to directions given by W. Ormiston Roy. They will not stand wet feet, and care must be taken to put them in beds well drained, so that all surplus water trickles away. The ground should be prepared by digging at least two feet deep. Another thing that hinders their growth is too much acid in the soil. An easy way to test this is to buy litmus paper at the drug store, and if it turns red, mix lime in the soil to sweeten it.

Most important of all is to avoid harmful fertilizers. Manure should be two years old before it is mixed with the soil in which roots are put, and no fertilizers containing ammonia and potash should be allowed to come in contact with the roots. Some growers turn under a crop of cow peas or rye before the manure peonies are planted. Amateurs are advised to apply their fertilizer after planting. After the buds appear in the spring-time the plant should be watered with liquid manure — water which has been allowed to stand on a barrel of manure. This should be applied once or twice a week to the ground immediately around the peony roots.

TRAINING FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN

Special Provision for Subnormal Children Through Canada

Training 2,400 sub-normal children is being given in 161 special classes in public schools in Canada, according to a bulletin by the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene, whose Montreal office is situated in the Medical Building of McGill University. These classes have come into being in the past few years, in recognition of the fact that the feeble minded, if taken when young and given training according to individual needs, will give little trouble to society providing supervision is continued into later life.

The special classes are located as follows: British Columbia, 24; Alberta, five; Saskatchewan, two; Manitoba, 14; Ontario, 106; New Brunswick, six; Nova Scotia, four. The committee estimates that there are 32,000 sub-normal children attending public schools in Canada, and that 1,600 auxiliary classes would be needed to take care of these children. In Montreal steps are being taken to provide at least one auxiliary class this year to be located in a local institute.

Further plans provide for a Nursery School of the laboratory type to be established in connection with McGill University and administered with the active co-operation of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene. The school is being established with the aid of a grant of $100,000, spread over five years, from the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial. The school, which will afford Canadian scientists an opportunity of studying the factors of child growth, will receive children from one and a half to five years of age, and the scientific observations made will in no way interfere with the happiness or welfare of the children. Arrangements are being made for psychologists, psychiatrists, physiologists, dieticians, dentists, anatomists and other scientists to co-operate in studies in the nursery school here, and also in a similar school in Toronto. It is stated that the trustees of the Laura Spelman Rockefeller Memorial desire particularly that important findings shall be utilized in a practical way throughout Canada and to meet this requirement, the nursery schools in Montreal and Toronto will be linked up with a program of parent training and with the activities of child workers throughout the Dominion.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN SCHOOL'S EXERCISES

At the commencement exercises of the School for Crippled Children, which took place in the Mount Royal Hotel Saturday, annual reports showed that attendance had risen from 7 to 137 since the opening in 1916. There had been 350 graduates, of which 60 were earning their own living.

Rev. N. Peterson explained the work of the school, declaring it had five motor buses, which travel 370 miles a day, calling for the children in the various districts of the city.

He announced that the course of studies this year would include the first two years of High School.

The children, brown and rosy from their holiday camp, were enthusiastic in the executing of a delightful program of songs and recitations. In his remarks, the chairman, Rev. W. H. Davison, eulogized Miss Tyndale for carrying on the work of the school.

PLEASED WITH WORK AT COTTAGE SCHOOL

Last week the Girl's Cottage Industrial School was visited by Judge J. O. Lacroix of the Juvenile Court, who commented on the efficiency and kindliness of the superintendent, Miss Nancy Stork and the industry of the girls. These girls at the close of the summer's work in their gardens have canned a sufficient supply of vegetables and fruit for their winter use. Their efforts in poultry raising have also been rewarded by greatly increased flocks.

In addition to Judge Lacroix's favorable comment on the school, Mrs. Sigler of the Juvenile Aid Department, also a recent visitor to the Institution expressed keen satisfaction regarding its management.

ELKS ENTERTAIN.

Elks and their friends filled the club house at 265 Peel street on Saturday night for the production by the local lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of Canada and Newfoundland of the first of its series of winter entertainments. An entertainment committee under the direction of F. H. Shallow was responsible for the program in which musical selections were given by S. Furlong, H. Boyce, E. Moore, E. Furlong, E. Morriss, J. Wyate and others.

Watch Your Wrinkles Vanish In 15 Minutes!

Is your face ageing, worn, wrinkled or flabby? Try this harmless and interesting experiment: Mix a spoonful of powdered tarkroot with a spoonful of lemon juice and smooth this soothing, creamy mixture over your face. Then go to the mirror and prepare for the surprise of your life. In the next few minutes wrinkles, crowsfeet, age-lines, sagginess, etc., actually disappear from your face like magic—before your very eyes! It will positively astound you. It is most startling to behold yourself so suddenly rejuvenated. Even in very aged faces a tremendous change is immediately produced.

Tarkroot is not a cosmetic or "make-up." In fact, you wash it entirely off after it has done its work. It is so harmless you could even eat it. It is beneficial to the complexion and any druggist can supply you with an original package containing enough to bring the cost down to 3 cents a treatment.

AUTUMN CUP WON BY HOROLOGE, WOODBINE FALL OPENING SAT'DAY

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 28.—Horologe, the six year old brown gelding by St. Amant-Hour Hand lasted best in the mile and a quarter journey for the Toronto Autumn Cup race Saturday, winning the richest prize of the opening day of Woodbine's fall meet. The race was for three year olds and upwards and carried the added purse of $10,000. About 15,000 people witnessed Saturday afternoon's program. The weather was ideal and the track fast.

Six horses faced the barrier for the feature event and Chloris was the cause of the long delay in the quarter mile shute, being the disturbing element in the otherwise peaceful party. The horses however finally got away in good alignment, Edisto, the hope of the Seagram Stable and the favorite with the bettors, taking the lead, with P. G. Christopher's Procyon second. Cherry Pie of the Greentree Stable, and second favorite in the betting, was running easy at 4 urth. Meruhlina was in third position, Chloris in fifth and Horologe trailing.

These positions with little variation continued until near the end of the back stretch, when Meruhlina and Chloris began to slip back, while out in front Edisto and Procyon were running neck and neck. As they turned into the final stretch, Horologe and Cherry Pie moved up. Edisto weakened, but Procyon hung on. The winner finished almost five lengths in the lead, while Cherry Pie was just able to hold its half a length lead on Procyon. Edisto finished fourth.

Horologe is owned by Joaquin Stables, trained by J. J. Murphy and ridden by F. Horn. It carried 107 pounds, five pounds less than Cherry Pie, which had the top weight.

The second biggest purse of the day went to the jumpers, the Woodbine Autumn Steeplechase having $5,000 added. It was won by J. F. Byers' Thorndale in easy fashion after Upsal, the favorite threw its rider at the final jump. Seven horses ran. Trickey Take Off won the $3,000 Maple Leaf Stakes for Canadian breds, from a big field.

While there were many games played locally on Saturday, and all of great importance to those concerned, the eyes of Montreal soccermen were on the result of the Ulster United-Carsteel game which took place in Toronto, and as the writer was present, it might be of greater interest to local readers to tell how Carsteel defeated the champions of Canada, and in the doing, registered their 14th straight league victory. This match had been the talk of Toronto all week, the Ulster people openly predicting that they would be the first team to put a kink in Carsteel's most remarkable league record, and to this end, persuaded Willie Mathews (who was expected in the States) to stay over for the great event. Bissett was unable to turn out, due to an injury, but as Mathews, who came in his place, is almost a regular, Ulster United can be said to have had out their best eleven.

Carsteel relied upon the same bunch that defeated Willys-Overland and All Scots.

As is now well known, Carsteel won by 1-0, and the victory is all the more meritorious, when it is understood that they played the greater part of the game with ten men, Cheffins being injured early in the first half, and though he came on later, had to be very careful. For some reason or other the appointed referee failed to put in an appearance, and after a good twenty minutes' wait, a spectator, by name of Fulton, was prevailed upon to take the field, and he turned out to be a good man. For a game of this importance, the laxity on someone's part reflects little credit on the way the Interprovincial League is run. A crowd of over 3,000 saw the teams line up as follows:—

Ulster United—Smith, Williams, Johnson, Watt, Clulow, Mathews, Woollacott, P. Lavery, R. Lavery, Grant and Moir.

Carsteel—Robertson, Smith, Houlson, Buchanan, Thompson, McKean, Miller, Brown, MacLaine, McKenzie and Cheffins.

Bobby Lavery kicked off, and Ulster had the best of the early exchanges, but found Adam Smith and Houlson, a pair of backs ready to take on all they had to offer, to say nothing of Stuart Robertson. Woollacott got the first shot, after Houlson had kicked out, missing the far post with a hard drive.

It took some time for Carsteel to get going, but Ernie Thompson kept a good eye on Bobbie Lavery. Thompson picked up an Ulster pass and slipped to McKenzie, but the latter's parting was too strong for Cheffins to connect.

Hercabouts, Moir began putting over centres to his inside men. R. Lavery nearly got at one, with only Robertson in front, but unfortunately for his side, Bobbie handled the ball. Beaten back by Houlson, play went over to Carsteel's left wing; MacLaine sent far out, and Cheffins sprinted for the ball to near goal line when he collided with Williams, who fell heavily on him. Cheffins was knocked clean out, and later carried to the dressing rooms. As Cheffins was in such a state, a doctor was sent for, and absolutely forbade him resuming play.

While the medico was working on Carsteel's outside-left, the game proceeded, ten men against eleven. Ulster continued to have the best of matters as could be expected, but Carsteel's defence was magnificent. Attack after attack was beaten off. Robertson appeared in difficulties once, but quickly recovered. Houlson failed to stop a high pass from P. Lavery to Woollacott, and the latter sent in a stinger, which Robertson stopped. The ball dropped a few feet from goal, and Adam Smith pounced on it and booted away, before Grant or Lavery could get at it.

Carsteel paid brief visits to Smith, but four forwards, however ably backed by the halves, and they were, could not be expected to sustain attacks for any length of time. More than once, Moir nearly scored on his own, and would have done with less capable defenders. Adam Smith saved what looked like a sure goal, when he banged a shot from Moir up-field. Ulster's understanding was really splendid, and most people present looked for a score almost any minute, that is, their forwards would work up time after time, only to be rolled back.

Then came the "goal of a century." Though mainly on the defensive, Carsteel men were ever on the alert for an opening. McKenzie had the ball, and Williams returned his shot, MacLaine secured, and from some distance out, beat Ulster's goalie with a "flyer," a side shot, the ball passing just under the bar. To say that MacLaine's shot took Ulster by surprise does not in the least express the effect. It was a staggerer, and in justice to the Toronto crowd, they gave MacLaine a rousing cheer, while the Montreal sympathizers yelled their heads off. Score: Carsteel, 1; Ulster United, 0.

The Red-banders evidently thought this sort of thing would not do, so they swooped down on the Carsteel goal, and came near equalizing, when a shot from Phil Lavery hit Robertson on the leg, but the whistle had blown for a foul. Still 'twas a near thing. Ulster forwards literally bombarded Carsteel's goal with shot after shot, from all angles, but the defence, denied and defied every mother's son of them.

Now and then Brown and Miller would get away, the latter dropping two beauties into Ulster's goalmouth, and MacLaine made Smith save a hot one. McKenzie scored, breasting wide of the post. Ulster returned and were pressing as the whistle blew for the interval without any addition to the score.

Ulster had the best of the first 15 minutes of the second half, after which, their attacks were a spent force, and they seemed to realize it. Cheffins, contrary to the doctor's advice came on again, and was able to put across more than one good centre. Bobby Lavery twisted himself and left the field, but at this stage Ulster was a beaten team. MacLaine brought Smith to his knees with a hard ground shot.

Mathews who had gone centre had a grand chance of equalizing when he found himself in front of Robertson, but to Ulster's dismay, and loud moans from the crowd, he shot over the bar. As Mathews was walking away, Houlson said: "Hard luck, old man," and from the dejected Ulsterman came "shut up."

This was Ulster's last real chance, and Carsteel ran out winners by 1-0, and champions of the Interprovincial League. They played like champions, and defended like a team worthy of the honor they have brought to Montreal soccer. Courage was shown where most wanted, for though most of the game handicapped by Cheffins' absence, were never flurried, or nervous, and this appealed to the crowd, for if Ulster had the best of the game, they finished like second-raters, a worn-out bunch.

At the top of Ulster's staff flew a large red flag bearing the words "Champions of Canada." As Carsteel have beaten them three times out of four this season, one might assume that the inscription is not quite correct, even if they did win the Connaught Cup.

Royal Highlanders defeated Canadian Explosives in the first round of the Charity Cup, by 3-1. The game was played at Thornton Park, before a good crowd. Groves scored twice for the Highlanders in the first half, and Lone headed C. X. L.'s only goal. Colin Grant, with a beautiful effort, made it 3-1, the best goal of the match.

Nomads fell to Blue Bonnets in the other Charity Cup tie by the only goal of the match, scored by Kelly in the first half. The game offered no special features, being only an ordinary affair, with Blue Bonnets the better side.

C. P. R. defeated Canadian Vickers 5-0, such a score, however, is capable of a little explanation. Joe Angel got the first goal, and C. P. R. led 1-0 at half-time, but before this Turner, of Vickers, was injured in a charge by McKay, and Haley was ordered off. McKay, so Haley says, grazed his shins, whereupon, the Vickers man turned round and landed McKay under the chin, knocking him "cold." In fact, it was some time before Jimmy recovered. This left Vickers with nine men, for though Turner came back for a couple of minutes, he had to retire. Jenkins, C. P. R's. new centre-forward, scored all four goals in the second half, and as Vickers admit, four good ones.

In the other Montreal League fixture played, Canadian Nationals pulled off a smart win, defeating St. Paul Town, 4-2, on the Hadley street ground. At half-time the score stood one all.

The much-discussed brothers Campbell and Martyn, recently detained by the U. S. officials at Plattsburg for attempting to enter the States by the "auto route" have been granted their freedom, after putting up a bond of $500 each to report for trial in a month or so, and are now in the city, none the worse for what at one time looked like being a serious adventure. They are confident of receiving official permission to re-enter that great country, time, about three weeks.

George Collyer, who for three weeks has been kept back, received his papers from Washington, and leaves today to join Bill Langley with the J. and P. Coats club, of the American Soccer League.

Inter-Church Carpet Bowl League Met

The annual general meeting of the above league was held at the First Presbyterian Church Hall, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year.

Hon. president, Rev. A. E. Runnells, West Park United; president, F. J. Richards; vice-president, Frank Smith, St. Paul's Baptist; secretary, Henry Emo, St. Clements; treasurer, Wm. J. Gosling, St. James the Apostle.

The attendance was the largest in the history of the league, and the executive look forward to four sections this year.

The drawing up of schedule and the admission of other clubs will be dealt with at the adjourned meeting on Friday, October 2, at the First Pres. Church Hall, when any other church wishing to join should have their delegates present at this meeting.

INDEPENDENT AMATEUR BASEBALL DEADLOCKED

The Independent Amateur Baseball League is still at a deadlock due to the interruption of the games yesterday at Rheaume Park by rain. The first game between Emmitts and Harps was halted in the sixth inning, with the teams tied at five runs each, after one of the most exciting encounters seen at the Verdun Park this season. Sullivan and Rollin pitched masterly ball throughout.

Emmitts	102 020—	5	5 2

Batteries—Sullivan and McLeod, Rollin and Corbell.

McGILL ONLY HAD LIGHT WORK-OUT ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

After the casualties of Friday's strenuous workouts, Frank Shaughnessy gave his squad only a light workout on Saturday morning at the McGill Stadium. Calisthenics, setting-up exercises, passing and catching by the halves, dummy tackling by the wings and then running and tackling by the whole squad completed the morning's workout. While the line was vainly trying to knock the dummy in two and removing the straw from their mouths, Shag conducted a series of aerial passes in the American style amongst the halves. When the whole squad re-assembled, the backs were given the ball and sent down in turns against a pair of wings with orders to outdodge and twirl when tackled. Eddie Hanna and Joe Cameron were in their element in this style of play, and were seldom brought down.

Gordie Hughes, who has been absent from practise writing off a supp., appeared for the morning workout, and figured in some stiff tackling. The lengthy half will be removed from the backfield this year, as Shaughnessy is counting on him to work with Philpott and Millen at outside wing.

Flynn, a halfback from Colby, turned out and showed a delivery in his passing which savoured more of baseball than football. He also displayed some shortstep broken field running that will place him well up on the ever growing list of backfield candidates for the Red and White senior team.

Perhaps the most surprising display of tackling Saturday came from one of the "old guard" of the team of four years ago. Les Parsons, who played on that team, has again felt the urge after devoting his time to water polo for the last few years, and is out to fight for a line position on Shag's 1925 team. Parsons has weight to spare, and showed surprising speed in going after the halves. Combined with this, his tackling was accurate and hard. Some of last year's regulars will have to put up a grand fight for their line berths.

This week's practises will assume a more serious aspect in preparation for the opening game of the season Saturday, when the undergrads stack up against "Pud" Argue's Old Boys. St. Germain, who was absent from Saturday's practise, returned from Ottawa today: Sullivan, who was in uniform Saturday morning despite his injured nose, will be out for a light workout tomorrow; and Capt. Philpott will also be in uniform.

The Old Boy's lineup is as yet veiled in mystery, but those in charge have threatened to field an aggregation of stars calculated to inspire fear in the hearts of any team in the country. Latest reports as to the condition of each member of the team are that it is better than might be imagined. The McGill camp is inclined to treat these statements as hopes rather than assertions of fact.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—Black Bill, Cuban flyweight champion, resumed his winning streak Saturday when he was awarded a judges' decision over Young Dencio, of the Philippines, in a fast 10-round bout at Commonwealth Club.

It would be much easier to endure the approaching indoor golf season if we could be sure the U. S. G. A. officials would not spend all their time talking about a "new standardized ball."

The second prize was won by H. L. Warren, S. W. Tench, W. A. Hasty, T. Downey and W. Evans (skip).

George Saunders defeated W. Hunter 21 to 17 in the final for the singles championship.

As we gather it, what the American aircraft commission needs is a good playing manager instead of so many bench managers.

For Safety's Sake, Come to the "Old Reliable"
Hundreds of sets of teeth are made by Dr. Decarie's dentists. This experience plus unexcelled laboratory facilities enables Dr. Decarie's Dentists to give you a set of teeth that will look natural, fit well and serve you for years. It is good insurance to come to Dr. Decarie's Dentists where none but graduate dentists trained for years, serve you and where the workmanship is guaranteed by a number of years of reputation. If you need a set of teeth don't experiment, come and let us make one that will be satisfactory.
90% of the pain experienced in a dental chair is carelessness.

Home of Dr. Decarie's Dentists.
The New Method of Examination
Examination by transillumination, the latest scientific method, is now offered, as a part of Dr. Decarie's Dental Service. A small lamp with very intense rays is used to illuminate the tooth, showing clearly whether the tooth is in an unsound condition. If your teeth need attention, we give you an exact estimate of all costs to repair them—and you will be under no obligation to take any treatment unless you wish to do so. If they don't need fixing we truthfully tell you so. Come when it's convenient for you during regular office hours.
For Painless Extracting
Vitalized Air, Gas and Oxygen
When we say Painless we mean Painless. Just a quiet, gentle sleep for about one minute—your tooth is gone—you feel nothing and there are no ill after effects—absolutely without pain.
We also treat the gums with genuine German Novocain by the nerve blocking method. From twenty to hundred teeth extracted daily. Old or young—one tooth or thirty—it's all the same. NO PAIN.
SETS OF TEETH

With Natural Looking Gums
Artificial Dentures (plates) are offered to render a real health service. Our plates carefully made to wear and to fit. Only the best grade of teeth are used. They are selected to match the color of the hair and eyes as well as the shape of the face. Extreme care is taken to restore the natural lines of the mouth and face. In short, my dentures are made to last for years and to appear like healthy natural teeth. Your new plates can be made the same day if desired.
Pyorrhea Successfully Treated
The remarkable new treatment "Inava" has aided thousands of GRATEFUL patients who were afflicted with this dreaded disease. Your case is not too far advanced. Come in at once.

Save That Broken Tooth By Crowning It.
A broken or jagged tooth is a menace. It irritates the tongue and causes sores which may become infected. Such a tooth usually decays easily and infects other teeth. It should therefore be repaired at once. The most satisfactory way is to have it crowned. Crowns made by Dr. Decarie's dentists not only improve the appearance of your mouth, but preserve your teeth. Crowns made here years ago are being worn by Montreal people.

Your Plate Repaired While You Wait.
Your old plate made anew in three hours' notice. Out of town people can also send their plates by mail to have them repaired. Prompt attention, first class work. Try it once, we guarantee satisfaction.

English Yachtsmen Would Like Competition From Canada in Ocean Race

WANT CANADIAN YACHTS FOR OCEAN RACES OVER THERE

British sportsmen are anxious that Canada should send an entry for the next ocean going yacht races, in English waters according to a message brought back from England on Saturday by Dr. G. W. Howland, 72 Forest Hill Road, Toronto who disembarked from the Cunard liner Alaunia.

This message was given to Dr. Howland by the owner of the Joli Breeze, which won the race from the Isle of Wight to Ireland and back to Falmouth a few weeks ago under the handling of J. E. K. Warneford, skipper.

The owner of the winning boat told Dr. Howland that there would be much more interest in the race if entries were sent by Canada and the United States because the British yachtsmen were very much interested in the fishing schooner races that are held off the Atlantic coasts by Canadian sportsmen; and they felt confident that if Canadian yachtsmen sent a boat to compete in the race in English waters it would act as a fillip to the event.

Dr. Howland promised to deliver the message to Canadian sportsmen; and he said any parties interested could communicate with Mr. Warneford at Falmouth, England, direct.

Two Fistic Battles Mar West'rd Game

Crushing the Westward Intermediate rugbyists with a 14 to 3 score, the Canadian National team took the lead in the newly-started race for the championship of the Province of Quebec Rugby Football Union. The game took place on the Westward A. A. A. grounds at Royal Avenue Park, before an excellent attendance of some two thousand spectators. Montefiores opened their season Saturday and took their first engagement with the Columbus squad with the score at 6 to 5. Columbus showed great improvement over their performance of the Saturday before when they were decisively beaten by Westward.

The other intermediate fixture was played out of town, in Quebec City, where one of the new clubs in the circuit, the Quebec Swimming and Athletic Club, defeated their visitors, M. A. A. A., 4 to 3, after a hard-fought game. It was the first game the Quebecers have played in their new league, and like Montefiores, they came out with a win in their first game of the season. In the local junior division of the P. Q. R. F. U., Westmard, M. A. A. A., and Verdun came out on top. At the C. N. R. grounds at Point St. Charles, the visiting Westward team romped off with a 28 to 3 victory. M. A. A. A. went to Lachine and trounced their hosts 27 to 2. The other game was also a crushing defeat, for Verdun won from St. Lambert on the latter's gridiron, 36 to 0.

C. N. R. BEAT WESTWARD.

One of the best games of the day was that between Westward and Canadian National intermediates. These two teams fought it out in the play-off game for the season's title last year, and Canadian National was victorious. They have evidently not deteriorated in playing ability during the long lay-off, for they administered a striking defeat to Westward on Saturday. There was a lot to say for the Westward wings and backfield, but the line did not seem to hold as well as was expected. Time and time again, the two hefty Canadian National line plungers, Godwin and Monahan, ploughed through the opposing front rank for substantial gains. Both these two stalwart men deserve a good piece of credit for the way they performed their task.

TWO FISTIC BATTLES.

There were two fistic broils in the game on Saturday. One of them was a small affair when two opposing men on the line started mixing it while signals were being called. They were both penalized and the game proceeded. Near the end of the game, Nelson, who was playing on the Canadian National half line, was penalized three minutes for a high tackle. As he was passing the Westward bench on his way to report to the timers, he was insulted by a Westward substitute who then came out and the two were soon swinging at each other. The fight rapidly swelled and soon involved a great many players and spectators before the police officials stepped in and broke up the battle, ushering the offending spectators off the field. The game ended quite peaceably, and there was no demonstration afterwards. The referee in the game seemed to be a bit careless. There was a good deal of trouble over the question of yards, and the crowd, both factions collectively, booed the decisions.

The teams:

C. N. R.:—Flying wing, Watkins; halves, Taylor, Burnham and Nelson; quarter, Harrison; snap, Smith; insides, Monahan and Godwin; middles, Miller and Noseworthy; outsides, Dawes and Giles. Subs: Noel, Burnfield, Hyndman, Crozier, Lambton, Stockton and Murphy.

Westward: Flying wing, Fletcher; halves, Anderson, McLean and Burt; quarter, Hodges; snap, Twizell; insides, Desrolsmaisons and Andrew; middles, Burrell and White; outsides, McDonald and Homer. Subs: Kelland, Jones, McNamee, Shearer, J. Clark, Tripp, Porteous and E. Ward.

By failing to convert a touchdown secured by Montague on a neat play, the Columbus team lost their second game of the season. They were defeated by the Monties 6 to 5 at Shamrock grounds. They have improved immensely since their game with Westward the week preceding, and should do much better in their future engagements. The Montefiores drew first blood in the opening quarter, when Ralph Cummings went over the line for a touch which was not converted. The rest of the scoring was not done until the final quarter. Then Billy Feldstein punted to Skelley, who was not able to run the ball out before he was floored for a rouge. The Columbus boys did their scoring a few moments later.

The line-up:

Montefiores: Flying wing, Fischel; halves; Feldstein, Cummings, Glickman; quarter, Held; centre, Shalinsky; insides, Shaffer and Shulman; middles, Abinovitch and Freedman; outsides, Park and Nadler. Subs: Gold, Davis, Cherry, Epstein, Bailey, Litner, Sloves, Edelberg, Silverman.

Columbus: Flying wing, Brennen; halves, Skelly, Platt, Enright; quarter, Montague; centre, Parkes; insides, Whitty and Prudhomme; middles, Dunn and Britt; outsides, Altimas and Martin. Subs: Hart, Lehae, Allen, Moore, Fiader, Maher.

The second game of the season in Q. F. R. U. schedule was played at St. Lambert on Saturday afternoon when the home team was beaten by the visiting Verdun team by 35-0. Verdun had by far the better players, their backs being a formidable wall of strength, in fact they couldn't be beat. McGarvie was their star player, securing three touch downs, whilst Brooks did well for the home team, some of his kicks receiving loud applause. The game throughout was very clean, and though it looked one sided there was some excellent play by both sides. Both sides showed excellent form in tackling.

Action in the M.A.A.A.-Queen's Game

Queen's Beat M.A.A.A. in Exhibition

The defeat of M.A.A.A., Montreal's entry in the Interprovincial Rugby Union, by Queen's, Dominion champions and dominating factors in the resting place of Canadian senior rugby championships for the past three years, in the inaugural exhibition contest at the Westmount grounds on Saturday, can be attributed to two things—two terribly bad breaks for the locals on kicks by the Collegian backfield, and the failure of the Montrealers to follow up closely on every play, which lost them many invaluable opportunities.

To the most observant and critical of the great opening day crowd of nearly 7,000, the doubled score of 16—8 cannot possibly represent the play on the advantage the Dominion champs held over the Wheelers.

It was an expectant crowd that began filling the stands early. They were curious to witness the team that has ruled Canadian rugby for the past three season's in action, and also anxious to determine what Coach Nicholson's rejuvenated M.A.A.A. team had to offer in contention for the "Big Four" title this season. The contest was a rattling good exhibition for so early in the season, and demonstrated that Queen's will certainly be very much in the hunt for the Canadian honors again this year, and that the locals will be in the fighting for the Interprovincial flag.

All the scoring was done in the first half, and each team battled up and down the gridiron in a vain but unsuccessful attempt to reach the goal line in the last two quarters. Montreal improved as the game progressed, and appeared to have a clear edge on the play in the latter stages.

STARTED SCORING EARLY.

Queen's were not long starting the scoring which came as a result of Mundell's fumble of Batstone's long punt soon after play opened. The ball rolled over the goal line about a foot inside the touch line. The alert "Bud" Thomas, who was well under the kick, rushed after the pigskin and fell on it for the first touch of the game and the local senior season. It was a brilliant piece of work by Thomas. Harry Batstone, who did the booting for the Collegians, converted the touch from the most difficult angle possible, as the ball was about a foot inside the touch line.

Another bad break netted Queen's their second 5 points. With the visitors in possession at the Montreal 30 yard line Batstone attempted a field goal which fell short of the bar by several feet. "Pean" Bennett misjudged the ball and decided to let it roll to the deadline for a point, but after the pigskin cleared the goal line Jenny Wright, of Queen's, came from nowhere to fall on the leather for another touch. Batstone failed to convert.

Following Queen's first touchdown the Wheelers came back strong, and after securing on their opponents' 30 yard line they made yards repeatedly from a series of bucks and end runs until about 3 yards out, when Mundell carried the ball over in a buck for the local's first score. He failed to convert it.

BATSTONE'S TOUCH.

The elusive Harry Batstone broke away from Queen's third and final score of the game in the second quarter. Taking a pass from Chantier the Queen's Captain rounded the end, and although tackled by Mundell at the goal line, managed to shove his way across with the ball about a foot inside the touch line. The star's attempt for another point failed miserably. Dunc Anderson made his presence felt when he relieved Consiglio at the start of the second quarter when he forced Batstone back over the line while carrying the ball from a scrimmage near the Queen's goal line. Anderson was responsible for M.A.A.A.'s last score when he forced Chantier to rouge after the latter took Mundell's long punt behind the line.

On the analysis of the play the locals deserved a much better fate. The Wheelers gained yards 11 times to Queen's 7, and while the victory of the champions cannot be minimized, the fumble and excusable misjudgment of the local backfield proved their undoing.

Batstone who is captain of the team this season, struck a mid-season stride from the start and carried the greater part of the offensive burden of the team in the first half, figuring in each of the plays that resulted in scores. When Leadley rounds into form the pair will be as formidable as ever.

BACKFIELD STRONG.

Queen's are well supplied with backfield material again this year. Young Chantier who took Leadley's position in the game played great Rugby and should be a star in another year.

There was no weakness in the kicking department of the Winged Wheelers and Clarrie Booth, who did the majority of the booting, outdistanced his rivals, Batstone and Leadley, on nearly every occasion. Mundell and McCaig also did some good punting and Sheppard who got into the tussle near the end when Booth retired with an injured leg, looked after the kicking in fine style.

Bennett, Booth and McCaig will play better combined rugby before the season is long underway, than they displayed on Saturday. Individually were up to the mark and went through for numerous gains.

The defensive play of the M.A.A.A. men, considering that they had no opposition previous to the game, measured up better than is expected and accounted for the great deal of kicking resorted to by the visitors. Carruthers, Ryan and Foran, besides holding up their wings well, hit the opposing line heavily and went through for gains. Bert Adams sustained a dislocated arm in the last quarter in a collision with a Queen's player.

The game may be a costly one for the local team as Bert Adams who received a dislocated arm in the last quarter may be lost to the team for the balance of the season. Adams has been showing fine form this year and was counted on by Coach Nicholson to help out the line greatly throughout the season. Clarrie Booth received an injured leg near the end of the game, but will not be out of action long. It was found that the muscle was bruised.

The teams:—

M.A.A.A.		Queen's.
Russell	Flying W.	Thomas
Booth	Half B.	Howard
Bennett	Half B.	Batston
McCaig	Half B.	Chantier
Mundell	Quarter	Baldwin

Carruthers	Inside	Adams
Forran	Middle	Norris
Ryan	Middle	McCrimmon
Mill	Outside	Walker
Consiglio	Outside	Wright

Subs. M.A.A.A.: Anderson, McDonald, Jocks, Robinson, Parkes, Paterson, Sheppard, Whittall, Lewis, Adams. Queen's: Leadley, McKelvey, Airth, Muirhead, Skelton, Britton, Agnew, Hanford, Voss, Brown, Baird, Dunlop.

Referee—Tim Murray.

Judge of play—Joe O'Brien.

THE CLOSE-UP

NOTHING TO MAKE A FUSS ABOUT

Everyone interested in hockey, will be pleased that Tex Rickard's banquet to inaugurate the existence of the New York Hockey Club was a success, as long as it tends to increase the popularity of Canada's National winter game. But many seem to fear that it marks merely the beginning of another attempt to Americanize another of Canada's institutions, and ask themselves why the first meeting to discuss the 1925-26 season should have been held in the United States at all, an action which is likely to be interpreted in certain quarters as a sign of weakness on the part of Canada.

Considered as a mere hockey banquet, however, there seems to be little reason for making a fuss about it.

Within the last two, three years, there have been held in Montreal some hockey banquets like those to Leo Dandurand, to the Canadiens, and the one held by the Amateur Hockey Association, that were numerically quite as big, and were quite as important in the matter of the presence of important personages. Provincial Ministers, members of the Dominion Parliament, judges, merchant princes and distinguished clergymen attended them, and all but the few invited guests paid for the privilege of being present.

DOINGS AND GOSSIP OF THE PROFESSIONAL HOCKEY CLUBS

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(Star Special from Staff Correspondent.) announcement that Tex Rickard's team is the former Hamilton Tigers was the feature of the two days' meetings of the National Hockey League here which concluded with a banquet to sports writers and hockey enthusiasts at the Biltmore hotel Saturday night.

The league having granted a franchise to Rickard's newly organized New York hockey club some time ago, the American promoter thereupon signed the Canadian players of the former Hamilton team to represent New York during the coming season. Burch will captain the New York team, the headquarters of which will be the new Madison Square Garden.

There will be seven teams in the international circuit of the Canadian League, these being Pittsburgh, New York, Boston, Montreal, Canadiens, Ottawa, Toronto and Hamilton, but it is expected Thompson will ask to buy back the franchise his company has sold to the league. Arrangements were also made for the probable admission in the 1926-27 season of teams representing Chicago and Cleveland.

The schedule is still indefinite, but the first game will be played in the new Garden, December 8. Changes in the constitution and playing rules will be discussed at a meeting to be held in Montreal in October.

Colonel J. S. Hammond is president of the New York club. The colonel, who is an expert on all matters pertaining to hockey, declares that the rink at the Garden will compare favorably with the best in Canada. Rickard attributes a good deal of the credit in organizing hockey for New York to Colonel Hammond, whose idea it was originally, according to Tex and who was primarily responsible for securing Tommy Gorman as manager.

INTERCOLLEGIATE GAMES.

The first intercollegiate game to be played in the new Garden will be between Harvard and Yale. This will be followed by other official games of the Intercollegiate League.

The meetings were closed to the press, the results being announced immediately prior to the banquet Saturday. Various speakers at the latter function, which was attended by most of the prominent Canadian hockey men, including Frank Calder, lauded the qualities of hockey as a winter sport. The remainder of the evening was taken up by a program of entertainment, provided by Tex Guinan.

Among the speakers were Tex Richard; William Foran, Stanley Ca, trustee; Frank Calder, president N. H. L.; State Senator Thomas Collins, acting-Mayor; Justice Monet of Montreal; James Strachan, of Montreal, and Tommy Gorman, of Ottawa.

Amongst the delegates present were: Montreal: Thomas Arnold; James Strachan, Gordon Cushing and Eddie Gerard. Canadiens: Joseph Cattarinich and Louis Letourneau. Toronto: Charles Querrie and Paul Cicori. Ottawa: Redmond Quain and Dave Gill. Hamilton: Percy Thompson. Boston: Charles Adams and Arthur H. Ross. Pittsburgh: Howard Ridgby. Lord Conacher and Henry Townsend. New York: Col. J. S. Hammond, T. J. Duggan, Rodney Chipp and T. P. Gorman.

An emphatic denial to the report appearing elsewhere that Billy Boucher would be with New York this season was issued by Joe Cattarinich, of the Canadiens Hockey Club, on his return this morning to Montreal from the special meeting of the National Hockey League, which was held in the American metropolis on Saturday.

"There is absolutely no truth to the story," Mr. Cattarinich said. "Billy will be with Canadiens as usual, and I haven't any idea where such a foolish report could have come from."

Regarding the desire of Canadiens to get Charlie Langlois, former Hamilton defence man, Mr. Cattarinich said that the chances of the French Canadian star coming to the National League champions this season were slim.

"He is now the property of New York," the Canadiens' official said, "and Gorman told me he would under no consideration let him go. We had a chance of getting him before all the players were sold with the Hamilton franchise, but it's not the same now. However, we have not given up all hope yet."

Cast-Offs Of New York Clubs To Bear Catching Brunt, In Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—Two cast-offs of New York clubs, Harold (Muddy) Ruel and Earl (Oil) Smith, will bear the main brunt behind the bat in the forthcoming world's series.

Oddly enough, these two travelled parallel routes, to pennant winning clubs, Ruel going from the Yankees to the Boston Red Sox, then to Washington, while Smith was traded to the Boston Braves by the Giants before donning Pirate regalia last season.

There the parallel ends, however, for it would be difficult to find two backstops of more opposite playing type and personality. Ruel, generally rated the most consistent receiver in the American League, is a quiet though alert and heady player. Smith is talkative and aggressive, to a fighting degree.

On the defense, Ruel's steadiness gives him a slight edge, in the opinion of most critics, while at bat they are about on a par, both showing averages comfortably over .300 this year.

Their world's series experience has been about the same. Ruel catching all seven of Washington's games last fall, while Smith figured in parts of as many games for the Giants in the championships of 1921 and 1922 against the Yankees.

Ruel established something of a batting mark last fall when he failed to get a hit in the first six series games, but he came through in timely fashion in the deciding game, getting two hits and tallying the winning run.

As reserve strength behind the bat, Washington has the veteran Hank Severeid, obtained from St. Louis and Tate, while the Pirates have John Gooch, who is likely to share some of the burden with Smith and Spencer.

Severeid is the heaviest sticker of the lot, having a mark of around .350 to his credit, most of the season.

Big Four Champions Beat Balmy Beach

HAMILTON, Sept. 28.—Close to two thousand fans saw Walter "Liz" Marriott's new Bengal machine defeat Balmy Beach of Toronto, 19 to 0, at the H.A.A.A. field on Saturday afternoon. The showing of the Bengals was impressive. For the first thirty minutes the team that will start out regularly for the Tigers this season just toyed with the Beach team and ran up a total of 19 points. In the third and fourth quarters Coach Marriott saw fit to save his seniors and he injected many intermediates into the scramble with no further scoring.

Derby Winner Owner Passed Through City

QUEBEC, Que., Sept. 28.—(Star Special).—Manna, the winner of this year's Derby will not be called upon to race again, his owner, H. E. Morris, declared on arriving here yesterday on board the Empress of Scotland, but in due course hopes are entertained that he may produce progeny, that may follow the old dad's achievements. Manna, who had to be removed in an ambulance because his off-fore fetlock was badly crushed and his knee slightly strained during the Derby, has been retired, although he is in good shape at present he will remain in stud as the winner of the 1925 Guineas and Epsom Derby.

Manna, a bay colt by Phalar, is out of Waffles, was kept at a training establishment known as Beckhampton, situated near Wiltshire Downs.

"As his trainer had reason to believe he developed towards the latter part of his two-year-old career into a colt of exceptional quality, and that he made continued progress during last winter," said Mr. Morris.

"I was encouraged to come home to England this spring from Shanghai. It was therefore in early April that I passed through Canada, having crossed the Pacific on the Empress of Canada, to proceed home and witness his exploits on the English turf."

Manna's owner is on his way back to Shanghai.

Manna's earnings in races during his short career amounted to the remarkable sum of £23,000.

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 28.—Two Ontario baseball championships were decided on Saturday. In the junior final of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, Toronto, McCormicks won an easy victory over Espanola, 23 to 0. Toronto McCormicks, juveniles, also won their finals with Guelph Nationals, defeating them here 11 to 10, Saturday.

How evenly matched London and Niagara Falls are in the senior series was shown when after each had won on its home grounds, they Saturday battled 13 innings in a neutral field, Preston, Ont., to a 5 to 5 draw.

CHICAGO, Sept. 28. — The heavyweight championship pot started boiling over last night with the arrival here of Jack Dempsey and two of his most persistent challengers, Harry Wills, giant negro heavyweight, and Gene Tunney, conqueror of Tom Gibbons.

WHAT'S DOING IN GOLF

By PLUS FOURS

Three Canadian women golf stars are included in the list of eighty entrants for the United States Women's National Golf championship, the qualifying round of which was played here today.

The players from the Dominion are Mrs. W. G. Fraser (Alexa Stirling) of Ottawa, Mrs. F. J. Mulqueen and Miss Ada Mackenzie, of Toronto.

Experts predicted that none of the players in the qualifying round would break 80, and that the top scores among the qualifiers for match play would be at least 95. Thirty two will qualify.

An innovation will be the playing of the match rounds Tuesday, in the afternoon, so that spectators will not have to be on hand at sunrise to see the play.

The finals on Saturday will be at 36 holes, starting in the morning.

In a practise round yesterday, Edith Cummings, of Chicago, former champion, made a 78, including a remarkable 36 on the first nine, only one above men's par. Others who turned in leading place scores were Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, Chicago, 79; Glenna Collet, of Providence, 80; Mrs. Fraser, 81. Dorothy Klotz of Chicago, took first honors in the driving contest with 239 yards.

Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd is the defending champion.

The annual Intercollegiate team golf championship will be played at the Rosedale Club, Toronto, about the middle of next month, and the University of Toronto, which holds the Ruttan Trophy, will have a strong team to defend the title this year, with Jack Carrick, Canadian amateur champion, Joe Sullivan, Fred Lyon and Jack Carrick as the backbone of the defenders.

* * *

R. C. Smith won the championship of the Beaconsfield Golf Club on Saturday afternoon, when he defeated G. R. McCall on the thirty-ninth green. The winner was in command of the play almost throughout the match.

* * *

With a gross of 79 and a net of 70, A. J. Hills captured the Hugh Paton Trophy and the club championship of the Mount Bruno Country Club on the week-end at Mount Bruno. Sir Montagu Allan was second with a net 72 in the 18 holes handicap play for the title.

The East will again hold the United States Professional Golfers' Association Trophy for another season by virtue of Walter Hagen's victory over William Melhorn, of Chicago, in the final at the Olympia Fields Club, Chicago, on Saturday.

In the course of the tourney Hagen defeated Al Watrous, Grand Rapids, 1 up, 39 holes, in the first round; Mike Brady, Winged Foot, 7 and 6, in the second round; Leo Diegel, Glen Oaks, 1 up, 40 holes, in the third round; and Harry Cooper, Dallas, Texas, 3 and 1, in the semi-final.

Melhorn defeated Emmett French, Youngstown, Ohio, 5 and 4, in the first round; Al Espinosa, Chicago, 1 up, in the second round; Tommy Kerrigan, Siwanoy, 7 and 6, in the third round, and Morte Dutra, Aberdeen, Washington, 8 and 6, in the semi-final.

Prospects of a golf match between Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen are discussed in a Chicago dispatch today.

A staff correspondent who covered last week's tournament for the Professional championship, which Hagen won, says that Jones, amateur champion, has consented to play Hagen at some southern course during the winter.

The British golfing world is in a heated controversy by the proposal to adopt as compulsory the new ball of American size for next year's championships. The question recently was debated at the annual meeting of the Royal and Ancient Association at St. Andrews, and golfers are described as astounded over the news.

Royal Montreal Golfers were victorious in their match with Beaconsfield at the two courses on Saturday. The victories were exceedingly close in each case.

At Beaconsfield the feature match between Norman Scott and R. Cowans of Royal Montreal, and J. McBride and W. H. Fowler, of Beaconsfield, was all square.

At Dixie W. H. Hodgson and J. W. Yuille, of Royal Montreal, defeated T. B. Reith and S. Morgan, of Beaconsfield.

Joyce Wethered and Cecil Leitch, the two best women golfers in Great Britain, have decided to retire from competition. Neither has entered the English ladies' championship, to be played in October at Westward Ho. The behavior of the crowds, which seem to grow in size and become more-mannered with every successive tournament, is probably to blame for the retirement of both women.

Neither has explained why she is giving up tournament play, but the general assumption is that they have had too much of a good thing. They were mobbed and even maltreated last May by the over-eager swarms of men, women and children, who watched their 37 hole battle for the British women's championship.

"THE COUNTRY'S WEAL BEFORE RUGBY," IS "RED" McKELVEY'S SLOGAN

The great game of Rugby does not always come first with every player of the sport—not when he has the interest of his country at heart.

This fact is characteristic of one of the best Rugby players in Canada. He is "Red" McKelvey, great line crashing player of the Dominion Champion Queen's team which defeated the M.A.A.A. squad here on Saturday.

"Red" was decidedly conspicuous by his absence from the Queen's line on Saturday. Although the veteran was missed by teammates and spectators alike it is doubtful if many wondered why he was an absentee.

The real reason is that McKelvey has sidetracked the great gridiron sport for the time being and is in the midst of a heated political campaign.

On Friday evening when the Queen's players were arriving in Montreal for their game with the Wheelers, McKelvey was on platform at Kingston delivering a vigorous speech to hundreds of voters to assist in putting his party in power at the forthcoming Federal elections. While "Red" takes his Rugby seriously and gives his best at all times he evidently puts the welfare of the country far ahead of the sport when the two clash.

If the Rugbyist's political work is equally effective as his Rugby playing, his assistance will certainly be invaluable to the party he is supporting.

MONT'L STAR SHIELD WON BY THE BELMONT CRICKETERS SATURDAY

The play-off for The Montreal Star trophy took place Saturday, Sept. 26th, at West Hill between Belmont and Westmount "C." Westmount batted first, except for some steady batting by the Rev. F. H. Mason, the Westmount team collapsed completely and were all out for 32 runs. The failure of Westmount cannot all be put down to the bowling of Craig it must go down on record as one of the great "uncertainties" of the game. For Belmont, Craig had the fine average of eight wickets for 19 runs, including the "hat trick." Wheeler brought off a couple of fine catches particularly the one which dismissed Banks. Belmont had no difficulty in hitting off the runs and won by six wickets. The Belmont team has been playing for three seasons and was originally formed from employes of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners. Under the able guidance of E. B. Palmer, a team has been formed from practically no material at all, until they have now the makings of a good team. This win means that they will now enter "B" Division. After the game the trophy was presented by W. G. Watkins (president), E. B. Palmer replying on behalf of Belmont. The "B" Division shield was also presented to Captain Rodgers who replied on behalf of the Westmount "B" team, "B" Division champions. The game was enjoyed by a considerable number of spectators, who afterwards were entertained by the members of the Belmont C. C. Full score:

Craig took eight wickets for 19 runs and Pratley three wickets for 12 runs.

The "B" Division schedule is now finished, completing the series of league games. St. Henry easily defeated C. P. R. Verdun met Mount Royal on the Mountain and caught them without the services of Taylor and Smith, the game resulting in a win for Verdun by seven wickets. C. P. R. are now bottom of "B" Division. Norman Hill 45, Henry 26 not out for Verdun were the chief scorers.

St. Henry 102, C. P. R. 12.

Verdun 103 for three wickets, Mount Royal 101 for nine wickets (declared).

Belmont C. C. will play a team selected from the Rest of "C" Division, Saturday, Oct. 3rd, on the West Hill ground, game to start at 1:30 sharp. The Rest team will be as follows:

Messrs. Pratley (Capt.), W. H. Jones (Westmount), Munday and Bates (Vickers), Dixon, H. Williams (Buffaloes), Porter (Pt. St. Charles), James and Hargreaves (War Veterans), Watson (Mount Royal), Brent (St. Henry). Reserves: Sparkes (Mount Royal), Makin (Vickers), Marmon (War Veterans). Players will please keep in touch with Mr. Pratley and provide bats and pads.

Montreal Mermaids Won Trophy

For the first time in its history the Rubenstein Life Saving Trophy is now held by a Montreal ladies' team. The Columbus girls, in competition with the Montreal Y.W.C.A. girls, were the winners on Saturday afternoon.

The "Y" girls had the contest all to themselves in the first half, which included all the speed swimming, and up to this point they had a clear lead of over seven seconds. In the second half, which takes in all the life saving methods, the Columbus girls showed great form and not only recovered the lead against them, but they also themselves piled up a margin of over seven seconds and won the silverware. The Ottawa girls who held the cup were unable to come down to defend it, but there is no question about them having a hard time if they had been able to make the trip.

The trophy was first competed for in 1920 and it was won then, and held until 1923, by the Ottawa Life Saving Association and then it was won by the girls of the Ottawa Brighton Beach Swimming Club. Miss Agnes Brownlee, who coached and trained this year's winning team, was herself on the team that first won the trophy in 1920 and again in 1921 for Ottawa.

The contest was held at the Columbus natatorium, on Mountain street, and was attended by a fair-sized crowd. The teams and their friends were served with refreshments when Alderman Louis Rubenstein, President of the R.L.S.S., and donor of the trophy, presented it to the winners and offered his congratulations to all the young ladies who had taken part in the contest. Miss Eileen Kinsella, president of the Columbus Ladies' Club, responded on behalf of the team. Edward Quinn, of the K. of C., swimming executive, also complimented the girls of both teams and concluded by offering the free use of the Columbus natatorium for the contest again next year.

Royal Life Saving Society certificates were presented to the following: Helen Savage, Margaret McCullum, Florence Keneban, Kathleen Kinsella, Elsie Laing.

Bronze medallions were taken by Kathleen Kinsella, Elsie Laing.

Awards of merit were presented to Mrs. M. McGarigle and Miss Catherine McCarrick.

NORWEGIAN HOFF, SMASHES OWN POLE VAULT MARK BY INCHES

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 28. — (A.P.)—Charles Hoff, of Norway, made a pole vault at Abo yesterday, of 13 feet 11½ inches. This is claimed as a world's record.

Hoff holds the world record for the pole vault with 13 feet 9¾ inches, made in Copenhagen in 1923.

1150 Homers In Path of Lively Ball

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(United Press)—The high officials of baseball who jammed the air a few weeks ago with pious denials that the official ball was any different from the missile used before the Babe Ruth era, may read the answer in the homerun statistics for the season, who are almost complete.

If the official ball of 1925 is the same as the one that behaved so decorously in the period of close games and small attendance, it might be well to ascertain whether some of the hitters have been using rubber bats.

With only a few scattered skirmishes remaining on the major schedules, the homerun total for 1925 is almost complete at 1,139. The final figure will probably be about 1,150.

Either figure is almost five times as great as the one for the last "normal year," 1918, in which all the migrity men of both leagues hit the demure total of 235 homers and thought they had done something.

This year the ten leading sluggers of the two leagues have hit 245 homers, ten more than the hundreds of batsmen achieved in 1918. They are Rogers Hornsby with 37; Bob Meusel, 31; Ken Williams, 25; Lou Gehrig, 24; Hartnett, 24; Simmons, 24; Ruth, 21; Fournier, 21; Bottomley, 21; Emil Meusel, 21; and Lou Gehrig, 20.

Although the ball became sluggish for a few weeks this season, arousing a suspicion that the major league owners were abating the liveliness, it didn't remain so. After a period of close games in which few hits and fewer homers were made, the ball again began to over-leap the fences and the homerun total resumed its ascent.

This season's homers break the record of 1,054, made in 1922, when the homerun fad was still a novelty.

Homerun Baker earned his name in the days of the normal ball, but his greatest total for a year with the old apple was not more than a dozen homers. This season Babe Ruth, after losing more than a month, returned to the game on half strength and still managed to hit 21 balls beyond the boundaries.

ROYAL ST. LAWRENCE SAILING COMMITTEE MEETING TONIGHT — PLANS FOR NEXT SUMMER WILL BE DISCUSSED

The 1925 sailing season is practically at an end now. The last scheduled event was the Labor Day cruise. Since then quite a number of boats have been hauled out and stored away for the winter, most of these being "B" Class yachts, whose owners are having their boats painted, varnished and any necessary repairs made this fall, so that they will be all ready to be launched in the spring. This is an excellent plan, and helps the work of outfitting in the spring when everything is in a rush, very considerably.

While actual sailing is almost over, sailing activities are not. This evening the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club's Sailing Committee will hold a very important meeting. The new measurement rule, adopted last spring, provides that alterations to coefficients and factors may be made on October 1, 1925. The measurers have studied the results of this season's racing carefully, particularly with regard to changes in the rule and have prepared a report which will be submitted to the committee tonight.

Then plans for next season will be discussed. At the prize-giving dinner various suggestions were made, and the committee will endeavor to come to some definite decision as to what the policy of the club is to be. This is now absolutely necessary as it is hoped new boats will be built this winter, and there must be something definite for prospective owners to build to. Any who may contemplate building will certainly be will advised to place their orders as soon as possible, so that they may be assured of prompt delivery of their boats. Also early placing of orders helps the builder in planning his winter's work, and as a general rule helps him to turn out better work.

The committee new have plans, specifications and prices on boats of B, D, and E classes, and local yachtsmen who are contemplating building can secure any information they may desire from the Sailing Committee of the R. St. L.Y.C.

Last year four new boats were built for use on Lake St. Louis, two in D Class and two in the E, and it is to be hoped this year will see at least as many more added to the local fleet, and that the B Class will receive its share of new boats. Since 1922 there have been no additions to the racing class on Lake St. Louis, and a new boat or two in this popular class would certainly add great to the interest in next summer's racing.

HIGH SCORING CONTINUES IN OLD COUNTRY SOCCER—FIFTY-NINE GOALS IN ENGLISH FIRST DIVISION

LONDON, Sept. 28.—The high wind that prevailed over many football centres Saturday probably accounted for a number of the freak results that featured league play. The high scoring which continues seems likely to reconcile the small body of objectors to the new offside rule, tending as it has done to open up the game and to speed play generally. In the first string of contests Saturday no fewer than fifty-nine goals were registered, and of this number eleven were shot in during the game between Bury and Sheffield United at Bury. The home team came out with a margin of three counters in the eleven, thus chalking up the fifth defeat for the "Blades" this season.

In the feature contest of the afternoon, the tilt at Sunderland, the home club emerged with flying colors, whitewashing Tottenham Hotspurs by a trinity of goals. This brought Sunderland back into their stride and to some extent wiped out the memory of their only defeat so far sustained at the hands of Blackburn Rovers last Monday by exactly the same count. The game somewhat dampened the 'Spurs chances, checking their pace materially.

One of the outstanding features of Saturday's football was the presence at Upton Park of King Pedal, the ruler of the Iraq. Whether this presages the introduction of soccer into the cities of Mesopotamia or not is not conjectured and the impressions of the desert potentate have not yet been recorded.

Laporte Won Cyclist Race Of 116 Miles

The 116 mile bicycle race for the championship of Canada here yesterday was won by Jos. Laporte, the former champion. The bicycle race is an elimination race for the Olympic events which will be run in Holland in 1928.

Seven riders took part in the long distance event, and five finished the race.

Six of them were Montreal riders, and Toronto was represented by Bill Coles, who took third place.

Along the course hundreds of people cheered the riders as they were passing. Jos. Laporte had 9 minutes and 24 seconds advantage at St. Sulpice, a distance of 28 miles.

Lucien Larose came in a good second, and this young rider deserves a special credit because this long distance race is one of the first in which he has taken part. This little Frenchman is a short distance rider, and owns the Interprovincial championship for two miles, which he won at Ottawa last spring.

The race was held under the auspices of Canadian Wheelmen's Association of Canada, and organized by the Federation of Cyclists of the Province of Quebec. Alderman Louis Rubenstein, who is president of the C.W.A., and also Hon. President of the Federation was accompanied by M. Peer, chairman of the C.W.A.

These two gentlemen were assisted by the officers of the Federation who are Louis Pistono, president; G. Morache, Sr., 1st vice-president; S. Stuart, 2nd vice-president; Andre Descart, treasurer; and A. Mirault, director; and Jos. Lamarre, President of the Excelsior-Henderson Club.

The Control at St. Cuthbert, a distance of 58 miles from Montreal, was checked and organized by the secretary of the Federation, L. Chassay, assisted by Alexandre Burger, also director of the Federation.

The time given by Alderman L. Rubenstein is as follows:—

Jos. Laporte—Started 7:13 a.m., arrived 1.14 p.m.

Lucien Larose—Started 7:19 a.m., arrived 1:47 p.m.

Bill Coles (Toronto)—Started 7:15 a.m., arrived 2:00 25 secs.

Wm. Orr—Started 7:21 a.m., arrived 2:14 p.m.

D. Figiuizzi—Started 7:23 a.m., arrived 2:22 30 secs.

Waking Star is Lost to Canada

LONDON, Sept. 28.—Phil Granville, of Hamilton, Ont., who finished second in the London-to-Brighton walking race on September 12 when he was 11 minutes behind the winner, R. H. Baker, of Huddersfield, in the race of 51 miles, 7 furlongs and 61 yards, has decided to remain in England. He has obtained employment on the Southern Railway at Brighton.

Granville intends to compete under the colors of the Southern Railway Athletic Club next Saturday in the 51½ mile walk from Manchester to Blackpool. He says he hopes in this event to show that he was not in good form when he ran second in the London-Brighton race and expects to make better time in the coming contest than he did in the London-Brighton walk.

Toy Dogs Had A Very Fine Puppy Show

The Toy Dog Club Puppy Show which was held at Drs. Etienne & Etienne's Show Rooms Saturday proved a great success in every way. The promoters were more than pleased with the great number of puppies that turned up for this occasion; also with their owners who took their winnings and defeats in a real sportsmanlike manner. The judge was J. A. Provost. He started judging at 4:30, and continued until 7 p.m., and it seemed as if he pleased everybody as they all went home smiling.

The Cup for best Pekingese in the show was won by Mrs. L. Herman's Chummie, a lovely specimen. The Cup for Best Pomeranian was won by Mrs. C. Hopton's Marcho Chunky. Following are the awards of special prizes.

Mrs. Kojesky's best male under 6 months. Lieutenant A. Gravel's best male under 9 months. Mrs. L. Herman's best male under 12 months.

Female Classes.—Mrs. Kojesky's best female under 3 months. Mrs. Page's best female under 6 months.

Pomeranian Puppy Dogs, under 3 months—Madame Riou's Ti-Ti first; J. Crean, 2nd.

Puppy Dogs under 6 months—Madame Riou, first and special.

Puppy Dogs under 9 months—Mrs. C. Hopton.

Puppy Dogs under 12 months—A Repeat.

Puppy Bitches under 3 months—Madame Riou.

Puppy Bitches under 6 months—Madame Riou first and special.

Puppy Bitches under 9 months—Mr. Shea.

Puppy Bitches under 12 months—A repeat.

Special for best Poodle was won by Miss Holmes' Pego.

The regular monthly meeting and puppy match for members only was held in the same building. There were several Poms and Peke's brought to Mrs. W. W. Brown, of Pekingese fame, who officiated as judge, her awards being as follows:

1st, Mrs. J. A. Provost's Imperial Princess (Pom).

2nd, Miss Yvonne Riou's Cokie (Pekingese).

3rd, Madam Riou's Pearlie (Pom).

The awards were well received by everyone in the building.

SUN LIFE RUGGER CLUB SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Sun Life met Montreal English Rugby Club on the Campus before a good turnout, and considering the early season, the brand of football was quite good. The Sun Life team lacked the coordination of the older team, but they have a wealth of material to pick from, and now that they have secured the services of Jack Usher, the late crack Halifax Wanderers' coach, it will not be long before they will be seen to better advantage.

Montreal again demonstrated its attacking abilities, and with the last year's team practically entact, some good games are in store for "Rugger" fans.

Bobby McCoy, the well-known Halifax Wanderers half, has donned the Montreal jersey, and will be seen working with J. C. Seager, the late Blackheath scrum half.

Some splendid bouts of passing were staged by Montreal, and Sun Life lacked staying powers to withstand the repeated attacks of Montreal, and at the final retired beaten, but not disgraced.

Final—Montreal, 3 goals 2 tries: 21 points. Sun Life, nil.

New Amateur World's Cycling Record Made

TORONTO, Sept. 28.—(Star Special).—Lew Elder, riding from scratch, in the Apollo Bicycle Road Race, Saturday afternoon, established a new amateur world's record, cycling the 25 miles in 59 minutes and 51 seconds clipping 48½ seconds off the time made by Anthony Beckman, in New York in 1922. Elder started alone from scratch and had the task of passing the majority of the forty riders in front of him.

WESTMOUNT LAWN BOWLING CLUB, SPECIAL MEETING

The executive of the Westmount Lawn Bowling Club announces a special general meeting for tonight (Monday), at 8 p.m., to be held in the club house. As important business is to be transacted, all members are requested to attend.

Memorial Flag-Raising Solemn Scene

With the huge rugby crowd standing with bared heads in a perfect silence during the half-time interval of the M.A.A.A.-Queen's game on Saturday, a thirty-foot Union Jack unfolded at the top of the massive flag pole at the north-east corner of the gridiron erected in memory of the 962 members of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association who served overseas in the Great War, fluttered gently in the breeze and shone in the afternoon sunlight.

Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian divisions overseas, pulled the cords which unfuried the immense flag of 30 by 15 feet, and unveiled the bronze tablet at the foot of the pole bearing the inscription: "In Memory of Our Members Who Served in The Great War. Erected by The Montreal Amateur Athletic Association." During the unveiling the band of the Royal Montreal Regiment played the National Anthem.

As the players left the field at the end of the first half a squad of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, attired smartly in their scarlet and blue uniforms, formed a guard of honor at the pole.

Starting from the main grandstand the R.M.R. band played tunes well known to boys who were on active service, and followed in military formation by representatives of the military districts, members and past and present officers of the association marched to the pole.

The ceremony of dedication was short. Sir Arthur Currie spoke, briefly, and at the conclusion buglers sounded the Last Post and the Reveille, and the National Anthem concluded the ceremony.

General Armstrong, commander of the military district; Col. K. M. Perry, of General Armstrong's staff; and many prominent officers of the Militia Regiments took part in the dedication which was under the direction of Brig.-Gen. W. O. H. Dodds, vice-president of the M.A.A.A.

On the halyards leading to the mast-heads were flown signals, the first being the gift of Miss Marjorie Sutherland, signifying "In Memory," while later the motto of the association, "Vestigor ut Implear"—"I Am Joined That I May Be Complete" was pulled up on the stays.

NOTES OF THE MONTREAL HARRIERS' CLUBS

The Montreal Harriers' Club had a fine run on Saturday afternoon from Rosemount, over an eight mile course of good country. The attendance was not very large, but a most enjoyable run resulted in C. Madely just nosing out F. Malcolm for first place, with P. Quesnot on his heels. Tuesday night at 8:30 a run will take place from headquarters, 306 St. Antoine, after which a meeting will be held on very important club business; also a few members are in for a good hot time.

Application has been made to the A.A.U. of C. to hold a road race on October 24 for the Vipond Trophy over a course of approximately six miles, the exact distance not being measured as yet. Any and all clubs are invited to enter a team. For further information apply to J. Bailey, 306 St. Antoine St. Phone Uptown 9232.

VERDUN HOLDS ANNUAL ROAD RACE SATURDAY

The 3rd Annual 5-mile Road Race for the Allman Cup, held under the auspices of the Verdun A.A.A., will take place on Saturday, Oct. 3, at three o'clock.

This Cup is to be won three years before becoming the permanent property of the winner. Both Gillispie and Ladriere, Montreal runners, have each a win to their credit. Ladriere being the present holder, having won it last year, after nosing out Gillespie and winning from a field of thirty starters.

The course is from the Verdun A.A.A's summer quarters, on the river front at the foot of 4th Ave. along Lasalle Road to the Power House and back, and is open to any registered athletic in the Province. The race has also been sanctioned by the A.A.U. of C., Quebec Branch.

As has been the custom in the past two races, prizes will be given to the first ten runners to finish the distance Entries blanks can be obtained from the secretary T. Richardson, 309 2nd, Ave., Verdun, and must be returned before 8 o'clock on Friday evening, as the entries will close then.

The past two races proved very popular, judging by the number of starters, and this year should prove no exception, as some of the speediest of Montreal's runners have already signified their intention of running.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Sept. 28 (via Reuter's).—In a 20-round boxing contest here Saturday night, Alex. Ireland, middleweight champion of Scotland, defeated Frattini, of Italy, former middleweight champion of Europe, on points. Ireland's victory was mainly due to the wonderful use of his left hand. He was master of the situation throughout the fight with the exception of from the eleventh to the fifteenth round, during which period the Italian scored heavily with right hand blows.

GENERAL RUN OF STOCKS EASIER; BRIDGE FIRMER

Trading on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning was dull and the trend of the market was generally easier. Brazilian Traction was the feature of the session, closing off ⅝ at 72⅛ after fluctuating between 72¾ and 72⅝ during the trading. Approximately 1,300 shares were traded in. Spanish River preferred ranked second in point of activity with a turnover of 530 shares and closed off ¼ at 115 after selling at 115½ early in the session.

The rally of Dominion Bridge to 97½ was another feature of the market. Opening at 97⅛ this issue maintained its early strength during the first half of the session and then reacted to 97 and closed at that figure for a net rally of a full point. British Empire Steel 2nd preferred was third in point of activity with 365 shares traded in and closed unchanged at 9.

Asbestos common remained unchanged at 91½ on light trading, while the preferred did not make its appearance on the board at all. Shawinigan closed off ⅛ at 162½, with only 57 shares dealt in.

Prices in the paper group were generally firmer, Laurentide rallied a full point to 78 and Abitibi sold up ¼ to 66¾. Spanish River sold off ⅝ at 100. The preferred opened strong at 115½ but sold off ½.

Montreal Power opened at 209½ and later rallied to 210, closing at that figure for a net loss of ⅝ from the closing transaction on Saturday morning. Consolidated Mining and Smelting closed off ½ at 116. Winnipeg Electric was unchanged at 48⅜.

Other features included: B. C. Fishing, off ⅛ at 48⅛; Industrial Alcohol, up ¼ at 15; Can. Cottons unchanged at 121⅛; Montreal Telegraphs, unchanged at 47; National Breweries, off ½ at 57; Ottawa Traction, off ½ at 64½; Shawinigan Rights, unchanged at 3; Twin City, off ¼ at 59⅜; Wabasso Cotton, unchanged at 65; Canada Steamships preferred, up ¼ at 54⅝ and Connecticut Cottons preferred, unchanged at 45½.

The total number of listed shares traded in amounted to 5,145 as compared with Saturday's total of 6,475 shares.

MORE RAPID SERVICE TO ROUYN CONSIDERED

LARDER LAKE, Sept. 28.—(Star Special).—Unofficial reports reaching Larder Lake are that "The Rouyn Special" may be the name of a new train which will operate in the very near future over the lines of the T. & N. O. and the Nipissing Central Railways.

It is stated here that the train will leave North Bay in the early morning, with a guarantee to deliver express, freight, and passengers in the mining town of Rouyn on that same day. The train will cover the 185 miles from North Bay to the end of the Nipissing Central in less than seven hours, after which fast stages will be employed in covering the remaining 25 miles to the mines.

Travellers from Montreal will be able to leave the city in the evening, it is said, so as to make connections the following morning at North Bay in such a way as to be at Rouyn within twenty-four hours of leaving Montreal. Practically this same situation will prevail when travelling from Toronto.

There are reports here that an oil burning electric car may be employed as the Rouyn Special, while the operation of stages may be handled by Walter Little, of Swastika, who for years handled the freight and passenger traffic of the mining field of Kirkland Lake.

St. Roch Franchise for Quebec S. Power Co.

At the last monthly meeting of the Municipal Council of St. Roch l'Achigan, a franchise for a period of ten years was granted to the Quebec Southern Power Corporation, giving this company the right to distribute and sell power and light within the municipality.

The granting of this franchise completed the company's extensions in that direction, meeting the lines of the Shawinigan subsidiary between St. Roch and the next town, l'Epiphanie.

The Quebec Southern Power Corporation's new transmission line carrying 26,000 volts between St. Jerome and St. Lin, is now nearing completion and should be in operation by the 15th of October next, thus enabling the Corporation to meet the large demand for power in the Rawdon district.

Mortgage Investments And Guarantee Plan

Dominion Financial Corporation Limited announces that it is inaugurating a guarantee plan in connection with the purchase of first mortgages.

The plan provides for the unconditional guarantee as to principal and interest of mortgages purchased through the Dominion Financial Corporation, the total assets of the company amounting to more than $500,000, standing as surety as an additional safeguard in the event of loss.

The plan is optional with the purchaser, who, if he prefers, may select the slightly higher yield without the guarantee or choose the guarantee for the added measure of security.

The combination of the two is the plan that will probably appeal to most investors, for dividing the investment funds equally under each plan, the average yield is better than 6%.

VICTORY SILVER DEWATERED

COBALT, Sept. 28.—(Star Special).—The underground workings of the Victory Silver Mines have been completely de-watered to the bottom level at a depth of 352 feet. Two rock drills have been set in operation, and sinking is now in full progress. The objective is to drive the shaft another 20 feet in depth and then crosscut to the vein in which diamond drilling showed silver values of about 4,000 ounces per ton.

IRREGULAR TONE IN WALL STREET; CHRYSLER ROSE

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—(Special to The Star From Our Own Wall Street Correspondent).—Stocks were steadying on the opening but quickly developed much irregularity. Wide fluctuations occurred in a number of specialities, some of which were bid up sharply. On the other hand the general market gave evidences of further liquidation. It looked as if the bull movement had struck a snag. Perhaps the surprise of the day was the selling that was done in the railroad division of the market. Rock Island and Baltimore and Ohio opened more than a point lower, respectively and weakness was displayed by St. Louis and San Francisco, Northern Pacific, Missouri, Kansas and Texas, and other recently popular issues. C.P.R. was off ⅝ to 156½.

Coming at a time when the railroads are making reports for August which show large gains in earnings compared with a year ago, that selling mystified the Street, which had been talking of a rise in the rails.

In the industrial list, the wild gyrations of Fisher Body were the feature. That stock took an initial jump of nearly nine points to 160. The rise was made on a sale of 5,500 shares. On the next sale the price broke to 95, only to rally to 96. Union Bag and Paper rose sharply to a new high at 70⅛. General Baking was bid up to 195½, a new high record, and Chrysler gained two points to 177⅝, also a new maximum quotation. On the other hand, American Can was under persistent pressure and lost four points in the first half hour. General Electric reacted more than a point. Baldwin Locomotive about a point and other industrials were lower as a rule.

Much interest attached to the early trading in United States Steel common because that stock was under severe pressure Saturday. Steel opened lower, but rallied on the next sale and soon was selling above the previous close. American Sugar was weak, but Great Western Sugar registered an initial gain of more than two points. The coppers were steady, Kennecott advancing fractionally. Oils were irregular.

Confused price movements marked the opening, with buying operations restricted by uncertainty over the money situation. Price changes generally were narrow, although Great Western Sugar stood out with an initial rise of almost 3 points. American Car and Foundry and U.S. Cast Iron Pipe declined more than a point each.

Several motor and accessory shares were lifted to new high levels in the early dealings, but persistent selling of low-priced railroad and pivotal industrial shares, including U.S. Steel and American Can, unsettled the general market. Fisher Body, on heavy transactions, soared more than 8 points to a new high record at par, but subsequently reacted to 94½, while Chrysler broke into new high ground above 176. Food shares moved up under the leadership of General Baking, which touched a new top price at 197¾.

Selling pressure increased against American Can, which crumbled 4½ points, while losses of 1 to 4 points were recorded by American Sugar, General Electric, General Outdoor Advertising, Rock Island and Missouri Pacific, in the first half-hour. Mack Trucks fell 5½ points.

Buying in of a stubborn short interest in Chrysler, which touched 181⅝, intimidated shorts in other motor and accessory stocks, and when these began to rise briskly, notably Hudson and U. S. Rubber, the general market began to creep upward.

Baking issues were buoyant in connection with recapitalization and merger rumors. General Baking soaring to 205, Cushman touched 90; Loose-Wiles Biscuit 91. U.S. Industrial Alcohol, May Department Stores, American International and the high priced gas stocks were also conspicuously strong. Call money renewed at 4½ per cent.

Steel sagged to 118⅜ after touching 120⅝ in the early trading and Chrysler reacted to 178 from the high of 181⅝. Am. Can was off to 283¼, down four.

Around 1:30 leaders were:—C. P. R., 156¾; Cast Iron Pipe, 162; Am. Can, 283¼; Smelting, 111; Am. Loco., 115⅛; Am. Car, 106⅛; Baldwin, 117⅝; Beth. Steel "B" 40; Con. MARKED ACTIVITY FOR BRITISH EMPIRE STEEL

SYDNEY, N.S., Sept. 28.—(Star Special).—The great increase in activity at practically all plants of the British Empire Steel Corporation has given Glace Bay the appearance of a new industrial centre. Another new record for number of units in operation was established today, when a further blast furnace was blown in. All open hearth furnaces are now working and in addition arrangements are being completed at the rail mill for starting up next week on orders received from both the big Canadian railways.

Information gathered from leading officials of the company indicates that orders on the books ensure three or four months of marked activity, with other contracts pending which would result in considerable business right through the winter months. During the protracted strike the plants of the company were kept in very efficient condition and several improvements were effected, with the result that it is expected the cost of operation in different departments will be the lowest in the history of the company.

The various coal mines are also working to capacity and night and day gangs will be the order at least until the close of navigation with a view of enabling the company to complete as many of its orders as possible.

Topics of the Street

One of the proverbial "blue" Monday's confronted the stock trading element today and there was very little tendency to do business. With very few exceptions price changes were confined to fractions. The exceptions were Montreal Power, which fell back 1¼ to 209½ but rallied to 210, and Dominion Bridge, which rallied 1½ at the opening to 97½ after sagging off last week to 96 from 99½. Laurentide rallied one to 78.

Fractional changes were pretty well mixed. Brazilian was the most active, easing ⅝ to 72⅜ but later firming at 72½. Milreis reacted slightly below the 14 cent level but early London quotations on the stock were slightly firmer.

Asbestos did not figure in the list until late in the morning session and then did not give any indication of anything specially new in the merger situation. There was no change in the price at 91½.

Outside of the rally in Laurentide there was no action in the paper group worthy of special mention. Spanish common came out at 100, off ⅝, but the preferred opened stronger at 115½ and later reacted ½. Abitibi strengthened ¼ to 66¾, but the remainder of the list was a blank.

There was a firm market for Canada Steamships shares at 54½ to ¾, compared with the recent high of 55 and next to Brazilian this was the most active on the list.

British Empire Steel second preferred was firm at the recent improvement to 9 and with the state of greater activity at the company's plants the Street looks for more interest in that group of shares.

Hollinger Gold Mines was a strong feature advancing to a new high at 13.65. The previous high was 13.50.

Ind. Alcohol firmed ½ at 15, while B. C. Fish eased ½ to 48⅛. Breweries ½ to 57, Smelters ½ to 116. Shawinigan ⅛ at 162½, and Winnipeg Electric ¼ at 48½, but rallied ¼.

For the past year or more news relating to newsprint stocks has been discouraging to shareholders. It has been doubly so to the trading element who have either left them severely alone or established a position on the short side. For the past few weeks the leaders of the group have presented a steadier tone and the market has been acting in a way to give the impression that they had pretty well discounted all the drawbacks which have been known to confront the industry.

About the worst that can happen in the way of newsprint production and reduction of the price of newsprint is now known and provided for in the calculations of the Street. After the action of Belgo a few months ago and the remarks of Mr. Mead at the Spanish River meeting a few days ago, no doubt remained that the general rate after December will be $65 per ton, instead of $70. The latest development in that connection is that the International Paper Company is expected to make a price reduction announcement shortly.

This reduction will do more to discourage the tendency to start new mills than anything else that could happen. Every group which could get together a sizable block of timber limits aimed to build a mill, but with the money getting thin and the problem of finding customers a serious and doubtful one, it can be safely said that the mad rush to get into the newsprint game has run its course. Capital will, furthermore, be decidedly sceptical about new undertakings should such be attempted.

The industry may thus be regarded as having entered upon a new phase and one which should offer possibilities of a brighter outlook for shareholders as well as a more cheerful and broader market. If the public is convinced that the better class of newsprint stocks will not develop further unsettlement the future should be brighter, as it is felt that, despite the price reduction, the leading companies are quite able to maintain their dividends.

It is, however, the outlook for combinations which will offer the market the brightest prospects for a revival of interest in that quarter of the market. There is no room for doubt that the main idea which has been in the minds of several leaders of the industry has been to line up some combinations which would maintain a suitable adjustment between production and consumption and also regulations of markets which would operate in the interest of both the consumers and manufacturers insuring favorable terms to the former and fair profits to the latter.

With these possibilities being worked out and the consummation not far off, a more interesting market should be provided for this neglected group.

Some people consider that consolidations are absolutely essential to prevent future price disturbances and believe that a great deal of the new production which is now in process of construction might have been headed off if the newsprint leaders had been adroit enough to lower prices at the proper time.

WINNIPEG NEED OF MORE POWER IS EMPHASIZED

WINNIPEG, Sept. 28—(Star Special).—Whether or not the Manitoba Power Co. would be willing to sell out to the city will be made known to the Zoning Committee of the City council at its meeting shortly.

A week ago, at a closed meeting of the committee, the city solicitor was instructed to sound out the company as to whether or not it would consider selling. The Manitoba Power Co. now represents an investment of $9,200,000.

The idea grows out of the negotiations between the City Hydro and the Winnipeg Electric Co., of which the Manitoba Power Co. is a subsidiary, for power zoning. The original proposal was that the City Hydro should have a monopoly of power and light business within the city limits and the Winnipeg Electric Co. a similar monopoly outside the city.

At the last meeting of the committee negotiating the zoning arrangement the suggestion was advanced that the city should buy out the Manitoba Power Co., and by that means establish what would be practically a provincial monopoly in the power field. The solicitor was instructed to enter upon negotiations to this end. Another committee of the council is negotiating the purchase of the Winnipeg Electric Street Railway.

Purchase of the Manitoba Power Co. would acquire for the city the Great Falls Hydro-Power development on the Winnipeg River. It would put the city in possession of the Pointe du Bois site, now used for the development of the City Hydro power, the Slave Falls site at present held by the city in reserve for later development, and the Great Falls site also developed by the Manitoba Power Company.

It would also give the city first call on the Seven Sisters Falls, the most important power site on the Winnipeg River still held by the motor-power branch of the Department of the Interior. There is only one other important development on the Winnipeg River, the Pinnewa plant, which was the pioneer development of the Winnipeg Electric Company, and which is tied up to a large extent with the street railway. It may possibly be acquired by the city in that connection.

The Manitoba Power Co. opened its hydro plant at Great Falls three years ago. The plant is capable of developing 168,000 horse power, was built at a total cost of about $13,000,000 and is at present developing about 56,000 horse power. Under the zoning agreement first proposed the city undertook to buy up to 50,000 horse power from the Great Falls plant and to withold development of the Slave Falls site until this was done.

British Mine Venture In British Columbia

VICTORIA, B.C., Sept. 28.—The Porcupine Gold Field Development and Finance Company, Limited, of London, England, which has a capitalization of £1,000,000 sterling, and is now operating some extremely rich properties in Northern Ontario, will branch out in British Columbia. It was announced here Saturday. The company will acquire properties in the northern part of the province, particularly mines in the neighborhood of the famous premier workings.

With Lord Gisborough as chairman of the board and Col. W. Grant Morden, M.P., of London, as one of its directors, the Porcupine organization was on Thursday granted registration for business operations in this province. The Canadian office will be at Vancouver.

SHAWINIGAN STOCK ISSUE

The rights to subscribe to the Shawinigan Water & Power stock issue at par on the basis of one share for each twenty now held, will expire at the close of business of December 28, 1925, on or before which date payment in full of the stock subscribed for must be made, according to a letter to shareholders. Subscriptions will be accepted for full shares only. Holdings that are not multiples of twenty can be adjusted by the purchase or sale of "rights", but the company will neither buy, sell, nor adjust "right". The new stock will rank for dividend for the quarter ending March 31, 1926. Subscription rights will be issued on the basis of twenty to one, to shareholders of record October 15.

MOTORS STRONG, CHRYSLER GOING TO FRESH HIGH

WALL STREET, 1:30 p.m.—Alternating periods of strength and weakness characterized today's stock market which was filled with puzzling cross currents. Conflicting judgment of the business situation and uncertainty regarding the trend of money rates contributed to the general unsettlement of trading. Selling of high priced industrial shares, which fell back 3 to 6 points in the early dealing, quickly undermined the general list, although partial recoveries took place when aggressive bullish operations were attempted in the motor, food and mercantile shares. The rise of several leaders in these groups to new high levels caused a retreat of short interests in other issues. Large scale buying was retarded by the heaviness of U. S. Steel and the absence of recent inquiries for investment rails. The entire market headed downward in the afternoon when the call money rate advanced to 5 per cent.

Another outburst of strength in Chrysler which went to a new high at 182½, after reacting to 177¼, led the motor group in the direction of strength. Steel rallied from 118⅛ to 119⅛ by 2:30. Leading features at that hour included: C.P.R., 150⅜; Am. Can., 234½; Am. Smelting, 111⅝; Baldwin, 118; B. & O., 81; C. and O., 108¼; Cast Iron, 162; Chrysler, 177¼ to 182½ to 181¼; Dupont, 190 to 183⅝; Hudson Motors, 86; Gen. Motors, 106; Gen. Elec., 302¾; Mack Truck, 202; Studebaker, 55⅝; White Motor, 90½; Steel, 118½ to 119⅛.

Near the close leaders were: Abitibi, 66½; C.P.R., 150⅜; Cast Iron Pipe, 46½; Am. Can., 238⅜; Smelting, 111½; Baldwin, 117½; Chrysler, 190; Gen. Motors, 108¾; Gen. ASBESTOS FIRM; BRAZILIAN OFF; CHANGES SLIGHT

The local stock market was quiet in the afternoon with the general tone inclined to softness. Price changes, however, remained within fractional limitations.

Asbestos came out at 92, up ½ and the preferred was traded in for the first time in several days at 112½ to ⅝ after opening at 111½, a net gain of ⅝. It being expected that a very few days will see the conclusion of the merger negotiations.

Brazilian eased a half to 72; making a full point reaction from the close of Saturday. Penmans sold off 1½ to 171, Textile ¾ to 88¼, Steel of Canada ⅛ to 91⅛, and Cement ½ to 107. Other leaders showed little or no change from the forenoon range. Near the close Abitibi eased back to 66. Brazilian rallied to 72¼. A few other slight rallies were recorded near the close.

C.P.R. AUGUST NET

C. P. R. August net earnings were $4,181,781, an increase of $1,013,190 over the same period in 1924.

BURGLAR LOOTS TERREBONNE STORE

Silvio Frotto Arrested Charged With Crime—Pleads Not Guilty

HEAVY BAIL FIXED

Judge Enright Warns Coal Thieves of Heavy Punishment

Buglaries which netted the perpetrator over $4,000 were charged to Silvio Frotto, who was arraigned on two charges of breaking and entering, before Judge Enright in Enquete Court today.

The accused pleaded not guilty to the charge and bail of $5,000 was set for his release.

Police, who arrested Frotto, claim he burglarized a store in Terrebonne on August 14, and stole between $3,000 and $4,000 worth of dry goods. On August 24, they allege, he broke into the Canadian Pacific Railway station at Terrebonne and stole $600 worth of trunks and express parcels.

A quantity of the stolen goods were found in Frotto's home, the police claim.

Counsel for the prosecution told the court there were other charges pending and asked that heavy bail be fixed.

Frotto will appear for preliminary hearing on October 5.

CHARGED WITH COAL THEFT

Charged with the theft of a bag of coal from a load he was delivering, Edward Mayer, employe of a local firm of coal dealers, pleaded guilty when arraigned before Judge Enright in the Enquete Court today.

Mayer put forward a plea for leniency, declaring that his wife and three children would starve if he was sent to jail.

Judge Enright, in granting the accused's plea, made it understood he did so only in consideration of the wife and children. If it had not been for them, he said, Mayer would have been given a lengthy term in jail.

"The practice of coal truck drivers in stealing a bag of coal from every truck they deliver is one which must be stopped," the Judge declared. "Although the amount involved in each case is small, the aggregate is very large. A large number of drivers are in the habit of stealing coal in this way, and their depradations create hardship for struggling families. In future any cases of this kind coming before me will be dealt with severely."

Mayer was sentenced to the time he had already served in jail and released.

SEAMAN DROWNS WITH HELP NEAR

Deputy Coroner Prince this morning opened and adjourned his inquest into the death of a deckhand of the SS. City of Hamilton, who was drowned in the harbor near the foot of McGill street about midnight Saturday. His body was recovered yesterday noon by the harbor police.

Evidence showed that the victim had just pulled the gangway in and had apparently fallen through the opening in the ship's railing. He is thought to be Ovila Benoit, aged 40, of Sorel, and was generally known as "Ben." On the return of the ship to this port tomorrow members of the crew will be called to give evidence. It was shown that a plank had been extended to the drowning man, but that he had failed to grasp it.

McGILL "MINERS" GIVEN MORE ROOM

McGill "miners" will find their laboratory space increased by one-half when they return to their studies at the opening of the fall session Wednesday. A large laboratory in the Department of Mining which had been temporarily turned over to the Department of Mechanical Engineering has been returned to the department and is being equipped, largely with new apparatus and also with part of the apparatus from the older mining laboratory. As a result, the overcrowding, experienced in this department for a long time past, will be largely mitigated.

The head of the Department of Mining, Dr. J. Bonsall Porter, E.M., Ph. D., M.Inst.C.E., has returned to the university after spending the summer in England. While in London, Dr. Porter successfully placed several men of last year's graduating class in positions abroad, in South Africa, Spain, and Central Europe. All last year's graduates are now placed or have positions waiting for them. Satisfactory positions have been more readily found for men this year than for the previous two or three years, Dr. Porter states.

Submarines, destroyers, tugs, barges and virtually every type of vessel available at the Navy Station at Newport, R.I., and New London, Conn., rushed to the scene of the collision of the Submarine S-51 with the passenger ship City of Rome to take part in the rescue. In this photograph is shown the divers' barge standing by over the wrecked vessel, while a submarine of the same type as the lost one lurks in the background. Cross shows location of wreck.

SOLD STOLEN CAR TO GARAGE OWNER

A sidelight was thrown on the activities of the stolen automobile squad of the Montreal police force this morning in the trial in the Court of King's Bench of Joseph Collard for the theft of a Ford sedan, the property of Louis Laplante, 183 Amherst street.

According to Detective Ennis, of the stolen auto squad, the police received information that cars were being sold at ridiculously low prices at a garage at Roxton Falls, Shefford County, belonging to Xavier Riendeau. The police descended on the garage armed with search warrants and among the cars there they found the sedan belonging to Laplante that had been stolen from Amherst street on June 30.

After Laplante swore to the car and evidence of arrest had been given by the detectives, Riondeau, proprietor of the garage, stated that the accused brought the car to him and offered it for sale. Before the sale was made accused showed a bill of sale, according to which the car was sold to him by one L. J. Reid. He had no idea the car was stolen, and gave Collard $425, together with horse, buggy and harness, in exchange for it.

Acting on the information given them by Riondeau police arrested Collard a few days later at Actonvale, declared Detective Ennis.

UNITED SERVICES OF BROTHERHOODS

The public is invited to join the united forces of 18 Brotherhood Societies in Montreal, and leaders of the movement from Britain and all over the Dominion, when they meet in conference in this city on Saturday and Sunday, October 10 and 11.

T. B. Macaulay, founder and honorary president of the movement in Canada, will preside.

The Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, former Home Secretary under the Labor Government, past president of the British Brotherhood and now vice-president of the World Brotherhood Federation, will address a mass meeting for men to be held Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 in Emmanuel Church. The devotional exercises will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Sedgewick.

The Saturday sessions will be held in the Central Y.M.C.A., where speakers will be: J. O. McCarthy, ex-controller of the City of Toronto, and president of the Canadian Brotherhood Federation; Dean Carlisle, of Christ Church Cathedral; Rev. G. H. Donald, of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul, and Prof. Wm. Caldwell, of McGill University.

Sunday morning Rev. Dr. J. W. G. Ward will be the preacher at a special service in Emmanuel Church.

Sunday evening Rev. Dr. Richard Roberts will preach on: "Am I My Brother's Keeper?" This service will be broadcast by the Northern Electric Company (Station C.H.Y.C.)

IT IS AT 331.

The address of the registration office in St. Henri division for No. 3 district, was erroneously given in the official circulars, and should read 331 de Courcelles street, and not 231.

Explosion Victims

Roger Kourie, aged 6, and Lucille Kourie, aged 4, of 83 Vitre street west, who were injured on Saturday evening, when a detonator with which they were playing, exploded in the boy's hand. Roger is in hospital with two fingers off, and may lose an eye. Lucille is in bed at her home, badly burned and bruised. Romeo, aged 8, escaped with bruises.

SAY McGILL MEN CAN CAST VOTE

Ballot Privilege May Apply to All Over 21 Who Register

McGill students from out-of-town are entitled to vote, even though they have come back to town since July 5. Information to this effect is being circulated around the university following a visit of a delegation of officers of college activities who on Saturday called on Liberal headquarters to find out if they were eligible to register. Last election students over 21 years of age, and British subjects, cast their ballots here without trouble. Some of them acted as scrutineers.

This election some who went to registration booths found they were not considered as entitled to vote. It was pointed out that Montreal was not their place of residence, if they had not resided here since July 5. The students were much agitated at this report, and the matter was investigated.

It was stated at the Union today, that the wide interpretation of the term "residence" admitted the qualification of students. If they could prove to the satisfaction of the registrar that they had re-engaged rooms in Montreal, or could give assurance as to the permanence of their stay here, and that this was their home rather than the residence of their parents, where they spend their holidays, there was no reason why they should not go down on the list. If any student is refused he is asked to secure a certificate of refusal, and to present this to the revising officer through his party organization. He will then be given another opportunity to register.

At Conservative headquarters doubt was expressed as to whether, according to law, McGill students from sections of the Dominion too far away for them to visit at voting-time would be allowed to vote in Montreal. While this was a point that only the revising officer could decide, a Conservative official said he was inclined to believe that wide interpretation of the word "residence" would give the opportunity the students wanted. In any event in any case of refusal the student should secure a certificate to show he had been debarred from entering his name. Of course if voting in Montreal was permitted care would have to be taken to strike the student's name off the list in his hometown.

BLAMES LIGHTS FOR AUTO DEATH

Driver Says Glare Blinded Him and Caused Him to Strike Child

Leading two small children by the hand, half prostrated with grief, Mrs. Joseph Franchi, of the village of St. Martin, entered the Coroner's Court this morning for the inquest into the death of her six-year-old daughter, Rosa, killed by an automobile near her home shortly after 7 o'clock on Saturday evening.

Called for evidence, it was found witness spoke neither English nor French, but an interpreter was found and the bereaved mother haltingly told her story in German. J. Sembinelli, secretary of the Consulate-General of Switzerland, arrived a few minutes later and followed the formalities for his countrywoman.

The mother saw her child struck, as she was walking along the side of the road, almost in the grass, on her way back from getting the supper milk at a neighbor's house, when a taxicab, driven by J. N. Aubin of Montreal, felled her from behind.

Persons riding in an automobile going in the opposite direction said the taxi seemed to be far over in its own side of the road. Aubin himself, swore he was dazzled by the bright lights of the oncoming car, without which he would have seen the child, whom he did not actually perceive until she was two or three feet from the front of his machine.

After short deliberation, the jury returned a verdict of "accident," making personal recommendation to the driver of the second car not to use bright lights in passing through villages.

THE LATE P. J. FITZPATRICK.

A Solemn Requiem Mass for Patrick John Fitzpatrick, first president of the Association of English-speaking Catholic men Teachers, will be sung at the request of his fellow teachers on Saturday, October 3, at St. Leo's Church, Westmount. The Right Rev. Mgr. Donnelly will be celebrant, assisted by the Very Rev. Canon J. S. McCrory and the Rev. M. P. Reid. A resolution of sympathy was passed at a meeting held in Congress Hall, Friday. Mr. Fitzpatrick was 72 years of age, and had taught in this city for over half a century.

WONG POK'S BAIL FIXED AT $2,000

Police Want Time to Probe Activities of Wily Chinese

Charging that Wong Pok, arrested Sunday on a charge of possessing opium, was head of a gang that supplied Chinatown with the poppy product officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police demanded exceptionally heavy bail when they appeared against the accused in Enquete Court this morning.

Pok, the police claim, was engaged in running opium into Chinatown and had been on their "black list" for a long time. Up to yesterday, however, he had proved too wily and had managed to preserve his liberty.

Judge Enright fixed bail at $2,000. Pok will appear for preliminary trial October 5th.

FELL FROM SCOOTER; IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Found by passersby on the Canadian National Railways tracks near the corner of Lebrun and Souligny streets shortly before noon yesterday, a man later identified as Albert Lachapelle, aged 34, of 13 Tache street, Joliette, Que., was taken to the Montreal General Hospital in an unconscious condition.

It is believed that he fell from a gasoline scooter on which he had been riding, in his capacity as a linesman for the Shawinigan Water and Power Company. His injuries are of an internal nature. His condition is serious.

FRENCH CASUALTY LIST IS SLIGHT

BEIRUT, Syria, Sept. 28.—(A.P.)—The French claim that their total casualties in killed and wounded during the three days operations which culminated in the relief of the Suedia garrison, numbered less than 30.

The wounded and sick have been removed from the city and the relieving column has taken up a position in the Messei Frey district, owing to the complete lack of water for the troops at Suedia.

The French authorities say that they are receiving offers of submission from rebel tribesmen daily.

SHIPPING NEWS

BETTER PROSPECTS FOR CARGOES SEEN

Port Anticipating Rush of Exports After Period of Quiet

OVERLOADING SHIPS.

Deny Story in English Paper—Cattle Rates' Question to Fore

With new grain arriving here in increasing quantities, and with the apple crop and late dairy produce ready for marketing, prospects for cargoes in the next few weeks are distinctly promising, according to reports in shipping circles today.

A number of freighters are coming towards Montreal from the Atlantic and when they dock there will be a steady stream of grain and cargo sent from the port.

Meanwhile business on the water front is quiet but this is taken as an augury of a big rush in the near future and port officials anticipate a big increase in the exports at any time now.

CATTLE RATES

Rumors have been revived about shippers asking for a reduction in cattle rates from $20 to $15 and there are reports in marine circles that more extensive facilities for carrying cattle at cheaper rates will soon be at the disposal of shippers.

The companies, however, have repeatedly reiterated that cattle cannot be carried at less than $20 per head but there is said to be a possibility of rates being cheapened if sufficient cargo can be obtained with the cattle.

OVERLOADING SHIPS

Port authorities deny suggestions contained in a Liverpool (Eng.) marine journal that "there were constant complaints" last year of Canadian officials permitting Greek and Italian ships to "sail from Canadian ports wickedly overloaded."

The reply to these suggestions today was to the effect that it would be nonsensical to permit ships to overload because of the danger involved; and that even if port officials condoned such a procedure they would give the preference to British ships.

DROP IN LEVEL.

A decrease of seven inches in the harbor level since last Friday was noticed when the readings were taken this morning. The depth today was 28 feet seven inches; last Friday it was 29 feet two inches.

While this affects the loading of cargoes none of the boats were concerned today because the depth of 28 feet seven inches still permits boats loading to 26 feet one inch and obtain the port warden's clearance certificate.

GRAIN MOVEMENT.

In the 24 hour period ending at 7 o'clock yesterday morning five steamers were unloaded of 436,026 bushels which, with unloadings from railway cars brought the day's receipts to 461,776 bushels; deliveries were 724,360 bushels and there are orders on hand for 1,140,570 bushels. Stock amounts to 8,680,167 bushels. Seventeen steamers waiting to unload have 1,198,941 bushels. Total receipts this year amount to 104,215,832 bushels as compared to 97,200,580 bushels at this date last year; deliveries aggregate 104,886,816 bushels as compared to 92,880,644 bushels on the same date in 1924.

BOY SETTLERS.

A party of 58 boys which came out on the White Star liner Canada over the week-end, paraded at the Boys's Hostel operated by the British Emigration and Colonization Aid Association, at noon today. These healthy young Britishers are going to settle on farms in eastern Canada under the guidance of the association.

WEEK-END TRAFFIC.

Three liners came to port during the week-end, the Alaunia of the Cunard line being the first to reach port on Saturday night with 218 cabin passengers on board. Among the returning travellers were Very Rev. Mgr. D. O'Brien, who was in charge of a party of pilgrims, Senator and Mrs. Brady, Major and Mrs. Randolph Rust, of Trinidad and the following Montrealers: J. Beale, Mrs. D. J. Berwick, Miss E. D. Cameron, Miss M. H. Campbell, S. T. Crowe, Thomas Davies, Dr. J. R. Day, J. G. Delgado and Mrs. Delgado, Miss L. Dennison, G. S. Digby, Miss G. A. Gilfillan, A. Goodier, C. Henderson, and Mrs. Henderson, Mrs. R. Hughes, Dr. G. R. Lomer, F. Powell, Miss B. Rowe, Mrs. E. W. Smith, Miss D. S. Stoker, Mrs. H. C. Strachan and R. Thompson.

H. Manley, D.S.C., has succeeded A. F. Williams as purser on the Alaunia, Mr. Williams having been transferred to the Berengaria as assistant senior purser.

The Canada of the White Star-Dominion line came in yesterday morning and passengers included, Professor B. J. Moore, of McGill University and Miss J. T. Black, Rev. D. J. Neugewirts, Miss J. T. Ramsay, Mrs. A. C. Hogle, Mr. and Mrs. T. Johnson, Miss E. Cunningham, Miss L. E. Wilson, Miss A. Pugh, Miss D. E. M. Strangman, Mrs. R. Gibbons, all of Montreal.

FINDS RUSSIANS LIVING BETTER

Improvement in Conditions Noted by Local Organist

Conditions under which the average Russian family is now living are reported very much improved by George Brewer, organist of the Church of the Messiah who reached Montreal yesterday on board the White Star-Dominion line Canada, after making a tour of musical research in Scandinavia and Baltic Provinces.

Transportation is better he said and visitors experience no difficulty whatso ever, providing a visa to enter the country is first obtained.

"Since Moscow has become the capital of the country, the population has increased by upward of one million, while on the other hand that of Leningrad, the old capital, has decreased by almost the same number. The lot of the workers has certainly greatly improved. I recall visiting a worker's club in Moscow one evening where its members were taking regular physical exercise in a well equipped gymnasium in addition to playing tennis, basketball and other outdoor sports, which demonstrates the tendency to general improvement of social conditions in the country."

Leaving Moscow, Mr. Brewer journeyed to Warsaw thence to Berlin, Paris and finally to London.

FATHER OF "MR.A." CREMATED WITH GORGEOUS POMP

Tens of Thousands Attend Funeral of Maharajah Of Jammu

COINS SCATTERED

Magnificent Array of Jewels Placed on Pyre With Potentate

LAHORE, Sept. 28. — (U. N.) — With the gorgeous pomp that only the funeral of a powerful Oriental potentate can command in the 20th century, the body of the Maharajah of Jammu and Kashmir was borne past tens of thousands of his subjects on a bier covered with cloth of gold to a huge funeral pyre and there incinerated.

Close behind the bier came Sir Hari Singh, who will now rule over the great domain that was his father's and who is best known to the western world as "Mr. A."

The Maharajah was cremated in full uniform, with not only his spangles and sword, but also a magnificent array of jewels to wear along his road to Nirvana. The loss of these jewels, worth a fortune in themselves, was but a drop from the fabulous hoard which is inherited by Hari Singh.

The intense excitement of the subjects of Jammu and Kashmir, who poured in from the hills and valleys from far and near, was heightened by a constant shower of rupees thrown from the funeral cortege to the vast scrambling throng.

Behind Sir Hari Singh came Najah Poonch, the Maharajah's adopted son and "spiritual heir," whom the old man desired to succeed him on the Throne.

Najah Poonch, perhaps with an eye to the future, appeared to be the most depressed person in the throng—inasmuch as it is no longer permitted in India for the wives of a rajah to be burned alive upon his pyre.

The "spiritual heir," Sir Hari's rival until the elder statesmen decided that he could not inherit the temporal throne, walked the entire long distance on foot. He was barefoot and clad in the rough costume of a peasant.

ESTRANGED BY SCANDAL.

LONDON, Sept. 28. — (U. N.) — The Maharajah of Jammu and Kashmir, it is revealed, died without any formal reconciliation with Sir Hari Singh, his son and heir. Father and son had become estranged over the latter's famous affair with Mrs. Maude Robinson, which was disclosed to the world when Sir Hari figured as "Mr. A" in Chas. Robinson's famous $750,000 suit.

When Sir Hari first went to Europe, the Maharajah's spies in his entourage reported his activities each day to the Potentate, who astounded the young profligate on his return by demanding that he undergo two days of strict penance on a rigorous diet, with constant offerings of clarified butter and rice in the sacred sacrificial fire.

Thus, Sir Hari was supposed to be cleansed of his impurities, but the Maharajah later was in turn astounded when he heard of the sensational Robinson case and its many horrible details which the spies had failed to report.

The Maharajah then insisted that Sir Hari first go through a ten days period of purification, including performance of the native rite of mourning, which required the prodigal to shave away his Charlie Chaplin moustache. He next ordered the Prince into a six months' period of seclusion which Hari was spending when the venerable Potentate died. Hari's period of seclusion was not rigorous, as his boyhood friend Mawabof Palanpur had turned over his castle and estate to him and he was amusing himself by hunting big game.

The formal reconciliation between the Maharjah and Hari Sing was to occur at the "festival of lights" early in November.

Radicals of Kashmir are expected to make capital of the fact that the pair were not reconciled when the elder man died, but there is no question of this affecting Sir Hari Singh's position, which is quite safe.
