

Montreal Herald

MONDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 25

Academy of Music—Performance at 8 p.m.

AUCTION SALES THIS DAY.

By C. F. LEBLANC.

Carriage and Saddle Horses—At Mr. Gervais Stables, at 2.30 p.m.

SUMMARY OF NEWS.

DOMINION.

—Hon. John A. Macdonald, the last man spoken of for the Toronto Collectorship.

—A merchant doing business on St. Peter Street, Quebec, is said to have fallen heir to $250,000, by the death of a relative in England.

—Mr. James Barbeau, of St. Hyacinthe, builder, has been awarded the contract for the building of the best-roof sugar factory at Farnham. He is already at work.

—North Augusta has a sensation. A man named Mayne recently died, and the funeral he is said to have appeared three times in succession to his wife, and told her that he had been buried. The grave was opened, and it was found that the body was there, and it was found that one of the hands was broken and one of the legs was broken.

GRAND BRITAIN AND IRELAND.

—It is stated that Lord Ardilaun has received a threatening letter, and as a result is about to take up residence in London.

—The indictment against the Land-

Leaguers will include 200 speeches, the testimony of 300 witnesses, and various newspaper articles.

—Her Majesty gave a ball at Balmoral

Castle lately to the servants, tenants, and other householders, at Balmoral, Aberdeenshire, and Birkhall estates.

—Oxford is to be disfranchised on account of the bribery practiced there at the late election. The revelation of the bribery by the inquiry everywhere are scandalous.

—The tenants of Mr. King Harman, ex-

Member of Parliament for the County of Sligo, and other landlords, have received notice not to pay their fall rents under penalty of being shot.

—The Government reports attended the Adelphi Theatre Friday night, and watched the election scene in the Irish play very carefully. They took for notes of the hustings speech in the play.

—The Duke of Connaught was a few days ago, thrown from his horse when riding from Baginbun Park to Alderbury.

His Royal Highness fortunately escaped without injury, and was shortly afterwards enabled to resume his journey.

—The installation of the Most Honourable Marquis of Londonderry as Provincial Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Freemasons took place lately in the Castle Hall, Durham. The Earl of Latham officiated as installing master.

—Circulars have been issued to tenants on an estate in Kerry, stating that leases former will be granted to the occupying tenants at rents fixed in 1879.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

—The present Governor of the Province of

Wales, Sir John Lubbock, has been

appointed to succeed Sir John Lubbock.

system has produced on the masses of the people. It is this life to which it is proposed to attract men and women, and which could be so much more healthy and profitable, especially on the land, which is everywhere demanding cultivators? Some of our older readers may remember the early accounts of Lowell, and of the farmers' daughters who were the original mill hands of forty years ago, with their pleasant residences, their pianos, and the literary periodicals, of which they were the writers. All these seem to have disappeared. The stock from which these girls came has found employment in Western lands, and the mills are occupied by foreigners at very low wages. Such, we believe, is everywhere the course of the factory system. The question which the Mail might ask its readers and itself is not whether such occupations as are afforded in these towns should attract to Canada, but whether it is just or desirable to draw upon our people engaged in agriculture and other self-supporting industries in order to create inducements for their sons and daughters to go into such occupations at home, as the Mail declares when it looks at them abroad. We are saying nothing against factory industry when it arises naturally. When that happens, it supplies a want, and gives employment to people who, for some reason or other, would not be otherwise employed. We are disposed to discourage it by law, just as little as to encourage it by law; but the encouragement has this of evil in it, that in a country where the "land hunger" is so easily satisfied, it takes the population from modes of life which, in order to create inducements, it is to say the least of it, less wholesome. In the account of the late Mr. Senior's visits to France and conversations with distinguished Frenchmen, there is a narrative of his visit to M. Guizot, in his chateau in Normandy. Normandy is a great manufacturing province, but in the adjoining commune to that in which M. Guizot lived the people were largely engaged in manufactures. The consequence of this occupation was a remarkable falling off in the number of men who could be drafted by the conscription into the army, as compared with those who were obtained from the other communes. The manufacturing industry had depressed them in stature, muscle and vitality till a very large percentage were unfit for military service. This large problem which we have suggested is the one which might be most profitably constructed out of the very interesting facts put together in the Atlantic Monthly.

QUEEN'S COUNSEL.

We do not ourselves think that the personal question about the wearing of the gold is of any great consequence. It is, however, a tradition of the profession, and professional men like the honour, which is practically almost all that it contains in this country. But the manner in which it has lately been dealt with involves matters of serious importance. It is known to most of our readers, of course, that the Lieutenant-Governor of the Province has made a number of appointments to the Queen's Council. But the other day the Official Gazette, of Ottawa, appeared with a long list of Queen's Councils, many of them previously created by the Lieutenant-Governors, who were to take precedence over those appointed since a certain date—that is, in fact, over all the Queen's Councils of the Province. As we understand the matter, it is this question merely of precedence; but we see that some persons suppose that the silk gowns have been taken from the shoulders of the Provincial Q.C.'s. We need not say that the new creation is of the most partisan character—when made by such a Governor as ours that goes without saying. The Conservatives appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor are reappointed, the Liberals dropped out, except in the case of Mr. Bethune, of Toronto, who has been put into the new list apparently to enable Ministers to represent the Q.C.'s are not of the same colour. When a name like that of Mr. Britton, of Kingston, however, is omitted, there can be little doubt as to what the omission means. We cannot, however, understand upon what ground the Government has proceeded; and what it does looks like not only a very arbitrary act, but an illegal one. No Queen's Council was named after the establishment of Confederation, until 1872, when the Provincial Government of Nova Scotia obtained from Sir John Macdonald an opinion as to its right to appoint Queen's Councils. Sir John Macdonald, apparently, whether the Lieutenant-Governor had the right to appoint the British Act of Confederation, but he said that "the Legislature of a Province" "being held to administer justice and organize the tribunals may, by Statute, provide generally for the mode of conducting business before these tribunals, and may make dispositions with respect to the law, criminal procedure, and the Council, choice of Council and right of precedence." Lord Kimberley, acting on the request of Sir John Macdonald, submitted the question to the law officers of the Crown in England; and they replied that "the Legislature of a Province may confer by Statute on the Lieutenant-Governor the power to choose Queen's Councils, and as to precedence before the tribunals of the Province has the power of deciding between Queen's Councils named by the Governor-General, and those who are named by the Lieutenant-Governor." There seems to be nothing plain in these authorities, and, acting upon them, the Provincial Legislatures have passed the laws suggested alike by Sir John Macdonald and the law officers of the Crown. Three Judges of the Supreme Court, however, by an obiter dictum as we understand it—that is not by a solemn judgment after argument, but by a way of pronouncing an obiter dictum—in a case involving a question of precedence between two Nova Scotia lawyers, have said that these Provincial acts are ultra vires. Two other Judges, one of whom is Mr. Justice Strong, were of a different opinion. Yet it is apparently on these private opinions of these three gentlemen that it is little known that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have the power of authorizing the creation of Queen's Councils, or of honorary posts equivalent thereto. If the acts passed by them in accordance with that authority have lacked regularity, or even if the opinion of the three Judges were correct, it is not in a case involving a question of precedence, but in a case involving a question of precedence, that the Government has acted, presumably, with the advice of that wonderful jurist, the present Minister of Justice. One thing may be said. The matter is in good hands for a square fight, and the men who have been ill-treated, if they have been ill-treated, are able to take their own parts much more clearly than the Government. Still it strikes one on the face of it. The Legislatures have been pronounced, on very excellent authority, to have

100

Riza Paslia, Montenegro has no intention whatever of drawing back, but, on the contrary, ready to accept the challenge of the Powers. It deplores that the signatory Powers not constrained the Porte to carry out fully the provisions of the treaty of 1878 and declares that Riza Paslia, who was effect the surrender of Dulcigno, sought to create fresh difficulties, deceiving Montenegro and playing with the Powers.

ST. JOY, N. B., October 24.—A N. E. wind accompanied by rain, raging violently. Toronto, October 24.—Mr. Moses, the great weather prophet, is in the city. He predicts a steady winter, with a sleighing, especially in Western Ontario. Woodville, Ont., October 24.—There is over a foot of snow on the ground, every indication of winter having set in. Pitsoy, Ont., October 24.—About 10 inches of snow fell during the night.

for the Evening dailies. A minutes' sharp play on both sides, the ball was sent through the net flags. The second game was at once played, and this time play was made by White, Stewart and Campbell on the attacking flags. The attack was grand, and notwithstanding the stout defense of Smith, Weir and Clark, the ball was sent through by R. White after 26 minutes, scoring game for the morning.

innate. This was known to Edvard Munch, "Norwegian Folks Life," in the vinz. —: On the mounting, procession. 3. At the carnival, not say with what pleasure this listened to. It was to the ear most beautiful painting on Sever would be to the eye. So refined such peculiar and fascinating truth the fair artist interpreted as if it so thoroughly did she grasp the

CAUTION—A large number of labels having been sold at the Rosenheim Bros., the subscribers, Jonas, begs to inform the public that all future all labels will bear his name. SOLE PROPRIETOR OF THE

BEATED

MESSINA LEMONADE BOTTLE

September 13

of old sale of r, Henri that in only.
& CELE-

W.D.R.
219

Saltunnes, Sicily,
Madeira,
Zucco,
Brandy and Gin, Chartreuse &
SAMPLES OF
Papers, Pens, Shooti
French Shoes, Crysta
Band Saws, Por
&c., &c., &c.

February 5

are thoroughly seasoned, having been completed in May. They are fitted with the best description of heating apparatus, and all modern improvements. —A.150—

Two very good Cut-stone best part of ST. ANTOINE. Rent very low. Apply to S. CO., Real Estate, Investment Agents, 101 St. Francois Xavier. August 28

up with the paranets and nt low.

ouses in the
ST. WEST.
BURLAND
and Insurance
or street.

296

will not your friends
use HOP E
while, drug-ed and blast
and blast rejoice ually
to care co and Send
by,

and drive
had said
the way assigned a twelve hundred of and white dot
at 2107

2107

