CHASE ENDS IN ST. HYACINTHE

A wild, long distance, stolen-car chase, from Westmount to St. Hyacinthe, in the small hours of Monday involving four police forces and damage to two police cruisers, brought a South Shore pair a suspended sentence Tuesday.

More charges are being prepared against the duo — who it took a pistol shot to finally stop — including four traffic summonses issued in Westmount this morning.

At 3:45 am Monday a Westmount police officer noticed a 1961 Chevrolet driving without lights east on Sherbrooke street at Prince Albert avenue. When the cruiser approached to investigate, the car took off at high speed and the officer gave chase — radioing to two other Westmount patrol cars which joined in the pursuit.

che attempted to ram the police car. The chase ran through red lights at Greene and at Wood avenues.

Westmount headquarters alerted Montreal Police but the quarry evaded their roadblock near Pie IX boulevard and a Québec Provincial Police one at the south end of the Louis Hyppolyte-Lafontaine bridge-tunnel. In the tunnel, meanwhile, one of the Westmount vehicles was damaged when it struck the tunnel wall.

A short while later, further east, the Chev succeeded in ramming another QPP car into the median strip and continue its 85-miles-an-hour getaway.

Shot Fired

At St. Hyacinthe, police of that city had time to set up a more substantial roadblock but, in attempting to evade this, the two occupants were stopped and apprehended only after a St. Hyacinthe policeman fired a shot through the rear window.

Tuesday morning in Montreal Sessions Court, Michel Larivière, 24, and Denis Sauve, 19, the driver, both of LaFleche, received suspended sentences from Judge Marcel Gaboury, on a count of theft and possession of a stolen vehicle.

Church union basis deplored here

The proposed basis for Anglican-United Church union is intolerable, according to Rev. H. L. Hertzler.

The former pastor of St. John the Evangelist Anglican Church, Montreal, now on the staff of St. Thomas Church, Toronto, and university chaplain, Father Hertzler addressed a meeting of approximately 200 Montreal diocese lay people and clergy, convened by the Council for the Faith, at the Church of the Advent, Westmount, at mid-day Sunday.

A committee of the Council of the Faith, Montreal Branch, was elected at the meeting with Rev. H. G. Rutter, rector of Advent, named chairman.

The Council, which began in Toronto, describes itself as "an organization of clergy and lay people of the Anglican Church of Canada who are concerned lest the current negotiations for Union with the United Church of Canada should mean that the witness of Anglicanism to Evangelical Truth and Apostolic Order be lost or impaired in this country.

Inadequate

Plans for intercommunion now before the Anglican Committee for Christian Unity and the Committee of Union of the United Church are inadequate for many under both church systems, and Father Hertzler stressed that those not in agreement have a right to be heard.

He noted that Anglican and United Church people, while seeking union, have not laid the foundation for unity of a truly homogenous nature. Many visualize phasing out of a church life which has developed structural defects. Father Hertzler doubted that a new church could be built "just by patching the cracks" in the old.

The Principles of Union do attempt to present an acceptable united approach on the matters of creed, ministry, the Bible and sacraments. However, the speaker expressed his opinion that further consideration of these matters by church people tends to weaken union and "promote divisiveness" within Anglican and United Church structures themselves.

Father Hertzler considered it essential to recognize the existing importance of Anglican intercommunion with Orthodox, Old Catholic and other church groups throughout the world. Also of importance is the excellent dialogue now developing with the Roman Catholic Church. He doubts that significant aspects of ecumenism are properly recognized by the Principles of Union.

Father Hertzler admitted that he was expressing views which are personal and shared by others, but not necessarily the views and feelings of all church people on church union.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL

May 3 to 10

This is the Spring Full Moon week so we may count upon light winds, blue skies and warm sunshine through mid-week. Morning mists or rime frosts in the St. Lawrence valley, and sharp frosts in the north.

Clouding for Moon Last Quarter storms. Gale winds, rain, hail and thunder for the weekend. Cold drizzle in the mountains.

Temp. range: 30-75°F.; Laurentians, 30-70°F.; northern and Gulf counties, 25-65°F. Rain ¼" to ½". Sunshine, 50 hours.

Seeding and planting will commence in the south next week; a fortnight later north of the St. Lawrence.

English rights group probes views

Just over 400 persons, including some Westmounters, turned out at Victoria Hall last night to hear the organizers of the Committee for Linguistic Rights outline their program to make the English-speaking minority feel more "comfortable" in Quebec.

The group said they looked toward a conference of interested groups and individuals, best described as an English-language "Estates General," to define the attitudes and feelings of the non-French people of the province, seek appropriate spokesmen at the legislative and government levels, and develop dialogue with like groups representing the majority people.

The event was conducted by Don Smith, pro-tem chairman, an advertising salesman from Laval. He was supported by Mark Abramowitz, a Cote St. Luc lawyer, treasurer; André Fitzpatrick, a Roman Catholic School teacher from Notre Dame de Grace, whose duties are research, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Samuels, St. Laurent writer and bookkeeper, respectively, dealing with secretarial duties and public relations.

Articulate

The speakers were articulate and professed a moderate approach to the problems they saw confronting English-speaking Québeckers. And in the following question period they won support for their determination to keep the organization apolitical and unidentified with any party.

Indeed, there was a suggestion that, while prepared to co-operate with any other group with similar aims, there may be differences and tensions. For instance, Robert Beale, head of the St. Leonard educational rights group, and Mr. Smith exchanged pointed words during the question period, and the chairman and other speakers insisted that, while pro-Canadian, the problems of the English in Québec must be worked out in a Québec context.

Development of "grass roots" chapters of the committee is looked for throughout the province.

Collecting, defined as a science, hobby or craze, according to the viewpoint of the spectator, has conquered the world. Stamp collecting is instructive and entertaining, stimulating and at the same time relaxing. In 1968 China celebrated the 90th anniversary of the country's first postage stamps and a stamp exhibition to commemorate this occasion was opened March 20, the 72nd anniversary of the Chinese Postal Service, and continued through March 31. The number of visitors during the 12 days of the exhibition was estimated at 145,000, about one-tenth of the population of Taipei city.

What I find to be of interest are the comments by Warren W. S. Yang, director, philatelic department, General Directorate of Posts, Republic of China:

"The exhibition stimulated many people to choose stamp collecting as a hobby. Furthermore, thousands of people have been convinced of its merits by personally observing the fine display of collections at this exhibition.

"People choose hobbies because such activities bring them enjoyment, friendship, knowledge and relaxation. Hobbies can also contribute to one's mental and physical health or even help to cure an illness.

"Experts on hobbies have found, after extensive inquiry, that stamp collecting ranks first among all popular hobbies. Many a juvenile delinquent has turned into a diligent student after taking up stamp collecting. As a result, quite a number of superintendents of middle schools (including grades 7-12) are promoting the organization of philatelic societies for their students."

Stop and think a moment, if all this could take place in Taiwan, then why not Montreal? A Pavilion of Philately, having the full co-operation of all levels of government, at Man and His World, is the logical answer. If you are in support of such a program then express your feelings to Mayor Jean Drapeau.

Radio stamp

On March 6 the Netherlands Antilles issued a special 25c stamp to mark the opening of the latest telecommunications facilities in the Islands. Designed by Oscar Ravelo, it shows a map of Bonaire with an antenna superimposed by concentric radio waves enclosing the Dutch. "Netherlands Worldwide Radio." The stamp marked the inauguration of Radio Netherlands' newest radio relay station built on Bonaire. These new installations make the Netherlands Antilles one of the most active and important telecommunications centres of the world. The stamp will remain on sale for one year unless stocks are exhausted earlier.

Three commemoratives were the means of focusing world attention on Ethiopia's Struggle for Peace. The three stamps, 15c, 35c and $1, were printed by the Government Printers, Jerusalem, Israel, by photoengraving process in six to seven colors. The total quantity printed was 200,000 stamps of each denomination. On March 9 Ethiopia observed the 75th Anniversary of its postal service, which was commemorated with a special series of stamps issued March 10. The common design for the three stamps, 10c, 15c and 35c, was executed by Ato Afe-werk Tekle, and printing was by Thomas de La Rue, London, in three colors.

Only one building permit was issued in Westmount over the past week. (see "Who's Doing What!" this page) considered a bit surprising in that the advent of good weather usually signals an upswing in repairs, refurbishings and additions to homes and other buildings.

However, city officials say it is still a bit early for concerted activity.

A check of records at city hall shows that exactly the same number of permits have been issued in April as in the same month last year; that is, 17.

Pharmacy continues at old Macy's site

The landmark name "Macy's" is disappearing, after some 40 years, from the familiar Victoria and Sherbrooke location but, it was learned this week, the familiar drug store is to continue there under a new name.

Pharmacist Pierre Millette told The Examiner on Monday that he expects to hang out his shingle under the name "Old Colony," the same as that brought during the winter by Lewis Greenberg when he took over the restaurant portion of the former Macy's establishment.

The two operations, under their separate managements, will remain physically interconnected.

Macy's continue their other drug stores at Rockland Shopping Centre and at Guy and St. Catherine streets. Thus, while withdrawing after their long identification from Westmount they did not — as reported here last week and as did nearby Grindley's some weeks previous — close the doors.

Mr. Millette, a veteran pharmacist, is carrying on in the same facilities.

Meanwhile, Mr. Greenberg, himself a pharmacist and wholesale druggist, is no newcomer to the restaurant business. The Old Colony here is the third eating establishment in his chain, though he is determined to retain the atmosphere of the Westmount operation. Chef Frank Oster, there for 30 years, still presides over the food.

We Say

Press on with church union

Nearly half Westmount's 24,107 souls are actively or nominally Protestants.

Rather more than a third are Roman Catholics; the remainder, Jewish; of some other faith, or of no faith at all.

The predominance of Protestants here makes the proposal for creation of a new church in Canada of the United and Anglican communions of abiding interest and concern in this community.

Westmount is more heavily endowed than most cities of its size with church structures. Directly concerned if the union discussions assume reality are no less than six local congregations, three United and three Anglican.

And to date, involvement in discussion by local people — whatever the reasons — has been extraordinarily light. It is a subject, so far as we can detect, which is little discussed, formally or informally, even by those who may be directly affected by the eventual outcome of debates in presbyteries, synods, commissions and councils.

Our own view is that there is a basic, heartfelt longing to end divisions; that there is prayerful hope for unity in faith and creed; that there is also a fear that such hopes might be fragile and easily thwarted or broken. There is something of the fear of the unknown in people's reticence; a sense that what is comfortable and familiar may be irretrievably lost.

On the other hand, one does hear more often the voices of caution, of warning and, even, of doom. These are the voices — discounting those of the cynical — of the devout who draw their comfort from what they undeniably know and cherish. The feelings of these should be respected.

Even the most optimistic ecumenicist must admit that no union will be perfect. There will be those on both sides who will not be able in their conscience to accept any compromise of principles, even in the name of uniting God's kingdom, which they hold to be immutable.

Already, a "Council for the Faith" is taking shape avowedly to uphold Anglicanism — a Montreal branch was organized last Sunday at Westmount's Church of the Advent. There are United Church people who may be expected, just as staunchly, to hold out against acceptance of tenets other than what they now hold — just as, for example there were many who chose to continue their Presbyterian identity rather than join the United Church union.

As much as we must admire firm belief, we do not believe it is reason for not pressing on toward the unity of God's kingdom on earth as He may express it through the desires of a majority.

The Church is beleaguered in so many ways, not least by its failure to relate to people, times and needs.

We also wonder what certainties are possessed by any particular point of view which remains so rigid that it cannot be charitable toward other views of the road to Salvation — not charitable enough to be willing to divert, and perhaps not too far off one's own track, so that more might travel the same road together.

Surely to love God, which is to love one another, should have a higher priority than how we worship Him.

The Canada Council and its grants

"Permissiveness and tolerance of extremist activities can go just so far before they begin to lead directly to anarchy."

This sentence, written by a constituent, seems to reflect the essence of public anger over the Canada Council's decision to award a doctoral fellowship to McGill Lecturer Stanley Gray.

Strong and unambiguous the statement appears; however, I do not think that in this country we have reached this particular threshold. It is my conviction that the present student unrest that permeates our universities and our whole society is due less to any undue tolerance on the part of university administrations than to a rigidity and a desire to cling to past patterns and past practices.

When the Canada Council was established in 1957 it was the express hope of many that such a government agency should be free from outside, i.e. political, control. A body whose primary object was to foster and promote the development of the arts, humanities and social sciences should be free from partisan considerations, and likewise in determining awards and grants such a body should not have to consider the political leanings of applicants.

Criterion

I do not feel that the conditions under which the Canada Council must choose between applicants are fundamentally different from what existed in 1957. The basic criterion then was professional qualifications; so it should be today and tomorrow, for that matter.

Mr. Gray's political philosophy may not coincide with the views of the average citizen. This is a matter, however, for the individual conscience to wrestle with, not the state. That we have and can tolerate the dissent of Stanley Gray is encouraging evidence of a healthy democratic system.

To repress the likes of Stanley Gray would serve no positive purpose. In fact it would be a retrograde step. First, it would indicate a reactionary tendency that could ultimately lead to a police state, similar to those in eastern Europe. Secondly, such a step would only confirm the worst fears that the activists harbor about our society.

I consider unthinkable the suggestion made by one opposition MP to the Secretary of State that the Government should interfere with the Canada Council's decision. As Mr. Pelletier pointed out in his reply, it would be most improper to make suggestions to an agency such as the Canada Council, considering the responsibilities the body has received from Parliament.

Disincentive

Furthermore, such a suggestion if acted upon, would establish an unfortunate precedent. It would undermine, psychologically at least, the independence of the Canada Council and it would act as a disincentive to those potential applicants whose political views differ from the main stream of political thought.

Those who remain unconvinced by my arguments should not let the case of Mr. Gray prejudice their general opinion of the Canada Council. This body's contribution to the arts, humanities and social sciences is immeasurable. Within the limits of its financial means, it has aided young Canadians who, by a combination of inclination and intellectual gifts, showed promise of a competent and productive career.

Traffic lights now working

Traffic lights recently installed at Tupper street and Atwater avenue went into operation Tuesday afternoon.

Westmount police are hopeful that the signals may end the need for a constable on point duty at the intersection at rush hours, as heretofore.

Three of the four corners are in Westmount. The northeast corner is in Montreal.

The lights were installed by and will be maintained by Montreal, which will bill the appropriate proportion of the cost to Westmount. The new lamps are coordinated with the existing ones at other Atwater intersections.

It was completely orderly. It was pouring rain.

Science Fair big success at Park school

Close to 100 Westmount Park students proudly presented their first annual science fair in the main corridor of the school.

The science projects, the efforts of the individual boys and girls from kindergarden to grade six, covered just about every aspect of sciences and represented several weeks' work and research by each exhibitor.

While the children conferred with their parents and members of the teaching staff in cases of difficulties, each project was completed by the pupil himself. Many of the students will readily admit that a great deal more learning took place in completing their science projects than would have been the case in the normal classroom setting.

The calibre of the project work was extremely high and the participating students can be well proud of their efforts, especially Larry Harrison, Grade 3, for his scale model of moon as it would appear to astronauts landing, complete with space ship, spacemen, etc., executed in asbestos clay;

Ian Aldwinckle, Grade 6, battery operated motor made from bits and pieces. Not a kit but own invention. Also a study of optical illusions;

Shona, Sean and Keith French, representing kindergarden to Grade 2, styrofoam model of solar system;

Peter Fernberg, Grade 6, cardboard model of lunar module;

Kairos Folksingers at morning service

A new sound of worship will be heard this Sunday when the Kairos Folksingers conduct the 11 a.m. service at St. Andrew's Church.

Founded three years ago, this group of 50 young adults drawn from many of the United Churches in the Montreal area has presented services in many churches in Montreal, Ottawa and the Eastern Townships. Out-of-town trips have taken the group to Charlottetown, P.E.I., and Ocean Park, Maine. Later this month they will fly to Halifax for a series of services in the Nova Scotia capital.

Leader of the group is Ron Anderson, a Westmount resident who has been acting as youth counsellor at St. Andrew's this past winter. Writing their own material, the Kairos Folksingers bring to each service a freshness of approach, enthusiasm and sincerity, as they seek to express the Christian faith in a contemporary form. In the St. Andrew's congregation this Sunday will be a group of 20 visiting young people from Sutton who are participating in an exchange visit with the St. Andrew's Youth Club.

Sunday evening at 7:30 the induction of Rev. M.R. Ralph as the second minister at St. Andrew's will take place, followed by a congregation reception.

Exercises planned at Temple

Sabbath Services tomorrow evening, at Temple Emanu-El at 8:15 o'clock will include a sermon by Rabbi Bloomstone and Saturday morning at 11:30 o'clock a sermonette by Dr. Stern will be based on Pirke Ovos.

Closing exercises and award of prizes of Temple schools will take place on Sunday morning, May 11 at 10 o'clock. Students are to meet for final class sessions at 9:30 and to receive their report cards.

Annual commencement exercises, high school department of the Religious School, takes place Friday evening, May 16 at 8 o'clock. A class of students will be awarded their high school graduation diplomas and post-graduate students will receive their certificates.

Annual Confirmation and Shavuoth Services will be held Friday evening, May 23 and 7:45 o'clock. A class of students will undergo the beautiful rite of Confirmation that is unique in the practice of Reform Judaism.

The closing lecture of the Book Lovers' Forum held on April 23 drew an audience of 500 to hear Rabbi Stern review "Heaven Help Us" by Herbert Tarr. David Bassett of Radio Station CKGM paid glowing tribute in his morning broadcast to the brilliant review.

"Discrimination, Emancipation and Behavior in Modern Society" will be discussed by Dr. Zvi Hermon, visiting professor from Israel in the forensic psychiatry department of McGill University at the Temple Brotherhood breakfast meeting Sunday morning, May 4th, at 9:45. This will mark the closing program meeting of Temple Brotherhood, to which ladies are invited, and at which time the annual election of officers and board members will take place. The program is under the direction of David Metrick, Robert Glaymon and David Bernstein.

The Home and School Association elected officers and board members at a meeting held recently, resulting, as follows: President, Ben Seavack; honorary president, Lawrence Libman; vice-presidents, Jim Williams and Ben Weider; secretary, Max Loeb; treasurer, Miss Fanny Shuster; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Jack Markow; councillors Jack Markow and Zoltan E. Sabo. Members of the board are Mrs. Lawrence Libman, Mrs. Ben Seavack, Mrs. Jim Williams, Mrs. Ben Weider, Mrs. Max Loeb, Miss Bess Shuster, Mrs. John Dubey, Mrs. R. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Savas Cohen, Mrs. Zoltan Sabo, Mrs. Rose B. Vitek and Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Brigel.

22 confirmed at Dominion this Sunday

Twenty-two young people will be confirmed Sunday in Dominion-Douglas Church. They are the members of the Communicants' Class.

At 9:30 am there will be a Communion service for the new members and their families.

At 11:00 am the young people will be confirmed in their profession of faith. Dr. Smith's sermon topic will be "Spiritual Healthiness".

Following the Morning Worship a buffet luncheon will be served for the new members and their families.

Films on Liberia at Baptist Church

The minister, Rev. J. Frank Patch, will be the preacher at both services on Sunday at Westmount Baptist Church. Communion will be administered at the morning service, and the topic of the sermon will be "Venture in Obedience." In the evening Mr. Patch will preach on "A Wide Door for Effective Work."

At the fireside following evening worship Miss Wilhelmina Tolbert, McGill medical student from Liberia, will present a film about her home country.

'Punishment' Science theme

"Everlasting Punishment" is the subject of Sunday's lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches.

A verse from Psalms in the responsive reading states: "The Lord executeth righteousness and judgment for all that are oppressed."

Relative selections from the denominational textbook will include: "Divine Love corrects and governs man. Men may pardon, but this divine Principle alone reforms the sinner."

Weredale routine outlined

A number of people have been asking about daily life at Weredale House. In answer to all these queries, I have prepared a brief summary which I hope will suffice to answer these questions.

Each morning, a supervisor somehow manages to get 160 boys up by seven-fifteen. That is the time for the seniors to have breakfast. The juniors have their morning meal at seven-forty-five. By eight-fifteen, everyone is off to school.

All the boys return to the building for lunch except those whose schools are too far away. In the afternoons, after school is out, the fellows are on their own time as long as they are in for supper, which begins around five-thirty. After supper each school night, there is an hour and a half of compulsory studying done by each boy. Those who need more time, get it. Those who don't have an hour and a half's work bring a book to read.

The juniors go off to bed at 8:30 pm, the seniors at 10 and 10:30. During the period between studies and bedtime, activities such as table tennis, pool, billiards, hockey in the winter, football and baseball in the spring and fall, athletic events in the gym, woodwork, art classes and swimming in our pool provide a varied program, something of

Only six calls for firemen during week

The Westmount Fire Brigade had one of its quietest weeks in many months over the past week (see "Where they were going").

There were only six calls to bring out the men and equipment, and of these only one involved actual fire—bedding ignited by a defective electric blanket, which firemen promptly removed from the Roslyn avenue residence and extinguished outdoors without any other damage or harm to anyone.

The other alarms related to smell from a radiator, malfunction of an oil furnace and a broken water pipe, all in private residences, and two false alarms.

which appeals to everyone.

On Saturdays, the dirty laundry is handed in and the clean distributed. After lunch, there is general leave for all until the evening when the different age groups have to be in at their respective times. On Sundays, leave is also to be had, after a non-denominational church service in the auditorium, which is conducted by Mr. Brugman, director of Weredale House.

This is basically a week's program and activities at the House. Of course, not everything can be covered in this small space but, in the near future, I hope to be able to supply more information to those of you who are interested.

Westmount residents will lead conference on Foster recruiting

Two Westmount residents will serve as discussion leaders at a weekend conference which will examine foster parenthood.

The seminar, sponsored by the Foster Home Recruiting Centre, will be held Sunday afternoon and evening in the Bryan Building of Loyola College.

Among the eight persons who will lead discussions of the implications of fostering are Miss Shirley Wallace, 250 Kensington avenue, and Fraser Lindsay, 55 Thornhill avenue.

Miss Wallace is director of social service at Marian Hall, Beaconsfield, and Mr. Lindsay, a lawyer, is a member of the board of the Children's Service Centre.

Some 300 persons are expected to attend. The theme is: "Foster parents are people."

Chairman will be Andrew Fogarty, of Beaconsfield, president of the board of the Foster Home Recruiting Centre and a member of the board of the Catholic Welfare Bureau.

At an evening banquet in Loyola's Hingston Hall, a summary of the day's findings and observations will be presented by Roland Hennessey, assistant executive-director of the Federation of Catholic Charities.

A brief period of the banquet will be devoted to business, including the election of officers, which will constitute the FHRC's annual meeting.

The Foster Home Recruiting Centre promotes the continuing need for accommodation for homeless children on behalf of the Children's Service Centre (Protestant), the Catholic Welfare Bureau, the Jewish Child Welfare Bureau, the South Shore Community Services and the Children's Services of the Douglas Hospital.

Women's Club formed at Unity Boys' Club

The Unity Women's Club has been formed. Purpose is to raise funds for the children's activities, such as materials, outings in the summer and for costumes for the productions of TV Theatre. Mrs. E. Dubé is the president, Mrs. Kitchen the treasurer and Mrs. Ward secretary. Mrs. Luker volunteered as social convenor.

TV Theatre is planning to put on a Unity Pageant in June. Ron Donahue will direct this venture and anyone interested please contact him or Wendy Jolly.

Unity is most fortunate in that the Speirs-Miller dance studio is putting on a recital for the benefit of the club. This studio has had many successes to its credit and has turned out many fine dancers. This event will be held at the Westmount High Auditorium, 4350 St. Catherine street west, on Friday, May 9, at 8 pm.

A Penny Carnival is being planned, under the auspices of the Women's Club, in the Talent Room tomorrow at 8 pm.

Kevin Murphy and Andrew Walker are hard at work building their cars to enter in the Soap Box Derby to be held in early June at de La Vérendrye Park. There will be a contest for boys 10 and 12 years of age to decide who will be permitted to drive.

Our Bantam basketball team lost the first game by a close margin 40-42 to University Settlement, (Red Team). This is a two-games, total-point, final series.

A swimming group will be going to the Pointe St. Charles Boys' Club every Friday, night from 8 to 9 pm. A bus will leave Unity at 7:30 pm.

a way to bring them to Westmount every month of the year, along with the flowers of other seasons and climes - and fruit, ferns and even hedges, at their peak, to boot.

It's all done by the medium of the once-despised artificial flowers - or, as Mr. Pickrell prefers to call them in keeping with their new-found and well-earned respectability, "permanents."

George betrays no prejudice in favor of his nearly-everlasting "growing" things. He sells both these and the real, fresh varieties at his Westmount Florists Ltd., 4154 St. Catherine street west, opposite prestigious Westmount Square.

You can walk into his establishment and find it more or less indistinguishable from any other first-class florist shop - all the usual things, tied more or less to the seasons.

Or you can walk either directly from the street or through an interconnecting corridor into the next-door Potting Shed - a charmingly designed and laid out, multi-roomed floral and fruit emporium quite unlike its neighbor, if only for the profusion of things which even the largest florist could not afford to keep on regular display or in stock.

Rustic

Against rustically designed walls, hung with old-fashioned farm hand implements, worn and rusty, are profusions of arrangements to suit every fancy and mood. The realism is stark and dramatic. "They're real!" visitors exclaim.

But they're not. The components are imported by George from the Orient and Europe, assembly here on St. Catherine street, and go out to an ever-widening market throughout the Montreal area, both direct and through other retail outlets. The demand after a year of operation is so great that Westmount Florists Ltd. can't always get adequate supply.

When the demand? Ever growing. Posh new apartment lobbies are decorated with them, changed regularly. Business firms with receptions areas and special events will buy or, get this, rent displays. Big parties in private homes are made gayer in the same way. In many cases, the "permanents" and "fresh" are mixed so intriguingly that only close inspection can reveal the difference - and a spray of perfume can make even that difficult.

The secret with permanent flowers, plants and fruit is not to leave the same ones on display, anywhere, too long. They should be rotated regularly with others and with the real thing so that the beholder does not find them monotonous.

When changing, they can be washed and put away for another day, as is, pots and all, or rearranged next time.

Another successful business happening in Westmount.

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

I. And still they come II. Westmouter to Chicago

I. WHO? WHO? Who is sending the programs? Five more have arrived - Mischa Levitzki, Dec. 2, 1936 (he died in 1941 at the age of 43) is a program from The Wednesday Nine O'Clocks, held in the Ritz Carlton Hotel.

This long-running series was inaugurated and managed by Mrs. A. N. Russel, a Westmouter who was an important member of the Ladies' Morning Musical Club and an able pianist herself. Georgina Russel also performed in two-piano recitals.

There are four encores marked in and Levitzki's autograph is written diagonally across the inside first page. Who would part with this great pianist's autograph? I know I would not.

No. 17 is a recital by Cameron Taylor, Dec. 14, 1930. McGill presented him in Moyse Hall.

Taylor was studying at the Conservatorium when I was there and this was probably his debut as a concert pianist. One of his own compositions is listed on the program and another was an encore - an arrangement of a piece by Purcell.

The manager of the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, Pierre Beique, brought Artur Rubinstein (No. 18) to Plateau Hall, Jan. 18, 1943. Encores written on the program are: Valse C sharp minor, Chopin - and sundry others. What amused me is this: "Flower arrangements by Mlle Ang. Germaey," in French and English.

The 19th program is also Virtuoso Rubinstein but this time in His Majesty's Theatre, Mar. 13, 1944. Four encores were added and an advertisement leaflet is enclosed (will write about this and other details of the programs in a future column).

Monday No. 20 arrived - another of Cameron Taylor in Tudor Hall (Ogilvy's) Dec. 12, 1931. Two encores. Whatever became of this pianist? He left Montreal and I have not heard of him since.

Continued thanks to the anonymous sender. - F. G.

II. The Montreal Symphony Orchestra, like so many other major orchestras, has a women's committee and if anyone thinks it is not important, they have been grossly misinformed.

The ladies are so essential, influential and significant that there is an "Association of Women's Committees for Symphonies." They meet every year to improve all phases of their own orchestra and exchange ideas like any other convention.

The annual conference of the AWCSO is being held in Chicago this year and three members of the MSO's Women's Committee will be delegates to the "windy city". They are Westmouter Mrs. Michael Bell, Redfern avenue and Mme Guy Sicotte, co-presidents, and Mrs. William Hayman, president of the financial planning committee.

The conference is taking place May 5 to May 9 and the three ladies will be guests of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra during their sojourn in that large and very musical city.

Final exams month away for pupils

Final exams are but a month away and students are preparing for the last debacle of the year. Senior students registered for matrics this week and the schedule is already out - the end seems near.

The last of the school sports teams is finishing its program.

door sports, crafts, nature lore, dramatics and trips and tours. There will also be one overnight camping trip every two weeks for youngsters of 8 to 11 years.

Extra care has been given to planning a program for 5-year-olds. There will be two sections: one in the morning and the other in the afternoon. The emphasis will be on fun and a preparation for a more extensive camp experience.

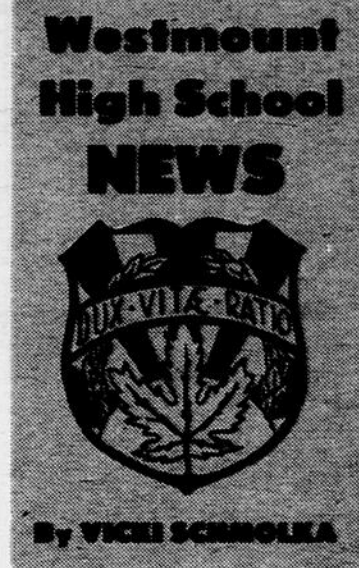

The ratio of trained counsellors to campers for this age group is two to ten and for ages 6 to 11 it is one counsellor to eight campers. Overall activities of the camp will be under the direction of Mrs. Ann Erb, youth director of Westmount YMCA. The branch's physical education director, Gary Boone, will be in charge of the aquatics program and Miss Helen Pheasey will head the art and drama section. Each of these people are specialists in their fields.

"Our main purpose is to provide youngsters in the city with opportunities to have fun, develop physically and mentally, promote creative expression and acquire

Day camp program offered again, including French

Westmount YMCA's day camp will operate its regular urban camp program again this summer, as well as a French-language section for English-speaking boys and girls from June 30 to Aug. 8.

Introduced last year as a pilot project, the program will continue to motivate the youngsters to learn French by presenting it as a key to an enjoyable and exciting experience.

Westmount Y'S NEWS

Though operated by French-language counsellors and supervisors, its range of activities will be similar to those offered in English by the "Y" for 5- to 11-year-olds.

These include swimming instruction, art, indoor and out-

Everyone fits into the square

Tall, Dark and Handsome . . .

Look for the three black towers. Two full city blocks bordered by de Maisonneuve Blvd., Greene Ave., St. Catherine St. W., and Wood Ave. Parking validation now in effect and direct Metro entrance, too.

Why? Because Galeries Westmount Square has appeal for young at heart people of all ages.

Right now you'll find the Square at its glamorous best.

See newly arrived fashions from around the world, and one-of-a-kind gift suggestions from the specialty shops.

Browse for paper things and paperbacks . . . knitting things and baby things . . . children's wear and toys en masse, imported jewellery (china, too) . . . and ideas galore for home decor.

Plus four fine restaurants, first-run theatre, florist, shoe salon, health and beauty spa, national grocery chain, Quebec Liquor Board, travel agency, modern pharmacy, men's hair stylist, bakery, bank and a great deal more.

Open until 9 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

RUGGER CLUB IMPROVES AT TRIAL GAMES

Following their first games in Boston at Easter, Westmount's two rugger teams have taken the field in trial games against Town of Mount Royal, the top-rated Montreal club.

Each of the games was divided into four quarters instead of the customary two halves in order to provide additional time out for coaching. In the first team's game this proved its worth because, although the Town were able to storm through for four quick scores in the first quarter, Westmount learned quickly from their experience and restricted the Town to only one score in the second quarter and to a complete shut-out in the third and fourth quarters.

Westmount's attack was weakened by John Peters being forced to retire from attacking stand-off to full back in order to protect a broken nose collected in Boston. John will represent Montreal against Ottawa this Saturday.

The second team's game was much the same, their opposition being very strong as many of the Town's players represented their first team last season.

As a result of these two games, Westmount's defence is greatly improved, but the attack still needs to be tested.

The standard of play in Mont-

real generally appears much higher than last year and is an encouragement for rugby in Eastern Canada.

This week-end Westmount has representatives on both Montreal Selects and Montreal Canadians teams, who play their Ottawa counterparts in Ottawa. Westmount is also sending its own team there to play Ottawa Irish.

Tennis training for boys, girls

Boys and girls, from 10 to 16 years of age, who are residents of Westmount may register for special tennis instruction this summer.

This instruction will take place on the junior tennis courts starting on Tuesday, July 1 from 10 am to noon and subsequent Thursdays and Tuesdays through to Aug. 28. The group will be limited to 60.

John Garland, recreation supervisor asks those interested to register at the artificial rink by Friday, June 26. The fee will be $3.

Each player must have his or her own racket and three well marked tennis balls.

French workshop at Park school asks volunteers

The French workshop of the Westmount Park Home and School Association is looking for French-speaking volunteers and possibly paid group leaders to help expand the existing French program by creating opportunities for enjoyable conversation and play in French.

Any persons interested in participating in any of the activities of the French committee are most welcome. Progress in the development of activities to encourage bilingualism, such as French film showings, will be related to the number of active parents and community members.

Ideas and suggestions are invited; and, above all, participation. Call Mrs. Hilda Bleyer 932-6776 any evening, or drop a note to 4712 de Maisonneuve boulevard west.

PCs elect Gavin Ross president

Gavin Ross, 444 Mount Pleasant avenue, was elected president by acclamation at the recent annual meeting of the Progressive Conservative Association of Westmount.

The meeting, attended by over 100, was held at the Berkley Hotel.

Guest speaker was Frank Moores, MP from Bonavista-Twillingate and president of the Progressive Conservative Association of Canada. He spoke about the importance of associations and how they can play a major role in policy decisions of a party. For this reason he encouraged everyone to become involved, for "you get the government you deserve by your efforts or lack of."

A message of encouragement to the association was read in the absence of Murray Ballantyne, candidate in the last federal election, who was unable to attend due to a recent operation on his back.

Other officers and directors elected were:

Vice-presidents: Mike Price; Mrs. Frank Winsor, 4451 de Maisonneuve boulevard; Stanley Grossman; Dave Campbell, 518 Grosvenor avenue; Ken Morris, 4998 de Maisonneuve; treasurer, David Angus, 636 Murray Hill avenue; and secretary, Lionel Jenks.

Directors from the City of Westmount section of the riding are: Murray Ballantyne, 33 Forden avenue; Mrs. Ian H. Black, 736 Lexington avenue; Egan Chambers, 251 Kensington avenue; Fred Flemming, 38 Forden avenue; Brian Gallery, 19 de Casson road; Mrs. A. K. Glassford, 513 Clark avenue; Keith Ham, 53 Holton avenue; Alex Hutchinson, 555 Roslyn avenue; Mrs. T. Meighen, 16 Braeside Place; Miss Cornelia Vaughan, 7 Grove Park, and W. T. Wood, 3244 The Boulevard.

Various small items were stolen from a car parked at Selby street and Atwater avenue early Friday evening. The unlucky car owner was from Granby.

Rotarians go on 'tour' of Montreal Art Museum

Art lovers were given a first hand view of the work being done by the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts as members of the Westmount Rotary Club were taken on an illustrated tour via the screen by Dr. Dean Murphy, president of the Montreal Museum, yesterday.

Through the medium of colored slides, all aspects of the work being done in the Sherbrooke street institution were explained by Dr. Murphy who enlightened his listeners on the history of the museum from its early days when the original gallery was located on the southeast corner of Phillips square, prior to the First World War.

Dr. Murphy explained the delicate work being done by the museum's experts in preserving works of art and the great care which the staff exercises in perpetuating paintings for future generations. The speaker said that Montreal's museum was the greatest in Canada after Ottawa.

The present premises are far too small, he said, and the City of Montreal has still a long way to go to improve its facilities for art lovers. More initiative is needed to build a greater pride in the museum, he said, and hoped for a greater public response. It was the museum's object to conserve rare works and the aim is to educate the public and children in general.

President D. C. McLuskie called on Tony Reid to introduce guests. John Sparling tendered the vote of thanks to the speaker, while Les Stuart reported on the sale of tickets for the forthcoming auto raffle, proceeds of which are to go to Westmount Rotary Club's community efforts.

Pollution, noise laws up Monday

The air pollution and noise by-laws, given first reading last week, are expected to be proceeded with at Monday's statutory May meeting of Westmount City Council.

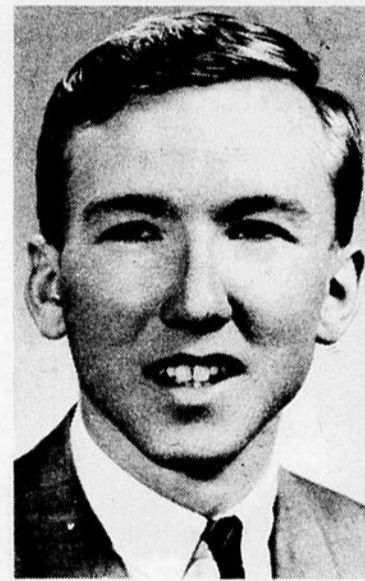

It is understood, however, that some committee work will have been done on wording to clarify and tighten the pollution measure.

Amendments to the zoning and food-establishment bylaws, which would permit appropriate signs indicating the presence of restaurants otherwise hidden away in some of the newer Westmount buildings, are not expected to be acted upon at this sitting even though notices of motion were given last week. Again, drafting has not been completed.

Six valuation roll adjustments are expected to be approved and homologated. These are mostly technical in nature and are the result of hearings by the Board of Revision last Friday. The board is comprised of Westmount Municipal Judge A. McT. Stalker, Donald Baillie, a realtor, and Andrew Rutherford, builder.

Brian Page, vice-president of Graham's Business College in Westmount, has been elected president of the newly formed Civitan Club of Montreal which is sponsored by the Lachine Civitan.

Other officers and directors are Leo Legault, vice-president; Jim Doherty, secretary; Allan Grady, treasurer; Larry Page, sergeant-at-arms, and John Winterhalt, John McRae, Richard White, Marcel Giguere and Nelson Taylor, directors.

The Civitan Club is the first club in Montreal to hold business men's luncheons every Tuesday at the Board of Trade Building.

Moving-day spirit comes to City Hall

The moving-day spirit has caught up to city officials, too.

There has been some shifting around between the city hall ground and basement floors and the annex on Stanton street, involving mostly finance department personnel. More key people are now in the main building and the accounting equipment such as used for tax bills now has related directly to it the addressing machinery.

APPOINTED: Recently appointed director and secretary-treasurer of Zipper Electric Inc., which specializes in industrial contract work, is H. Rose president of Delrose Development Corporation.
