Musketeer Of The Air Sqn. Ldr. G.P. Christie Victim Of Irony Of Fate

Like The Legendary Cyrano, "Pat" Meets Death In Accident After Downing A Score Or More Of His Foes

An adventurous career, replete with adventure, courage, daring and deeds of valor so outstanding that he was one of the best known of Canadian fliers, was shattered by an accident which resulted in the death of Sqn. Ldr. George Patterson Christie, D.F.C., with his Hudson bomber crashed into Lake St. Louis, off Windmill Point on Sunday last.

The plane carried two others, Wing Commander Brian Carr-Harris, R.C.A.F., and Leading Aircraftman Clement Stuart Llewellyn, R.A.F., to their death.

Who was at the controls at the time, or what was the exact cause of the accident, is not known.

Witnesses of the crash, which occurred about 12.30 Sunday afternoon, said the machine was heading into the wind and was apparently about to make a forced landing when it skimmed down to the surface of the lake. The tip of the left wing struck the water and the heavy plane summersaulted.

When would-be rescuers reached the scene of the accident the bomber was found crumpled up in about seven feet of water. Its nose was buried in the clay bank, and bits of debris were floating in the current.

It was noticed there was a large hole in the upturned belly of the ship.

A floating seat, and some wearing apparel, located about 1,000 feet from the scene of the crash, indicated that one of the occupants of the plane had been hurled out of the machine, or had managed to get out, as it struck. The other two were most likely trapped in the cabin of the bomber.

The crash occurred shortly after the machine had left the Dorval airfield.

"Pat" as he was familiarly known to his many friends, was the victim of one of those ironies of fate that so often befall those who have faced and conquered dangers of all kinds, who have excelled in feats of daring and have shown undaunted courage when faced with the direst perils. After vanquishing many enemies in the air, being shot down, getting out of numerous most difficult situations, having narrow escapes, and suffering only what he himself termed "minor" injuries, although he was burned rather severely in a crash overseas, he met his death in one of those sudden manifestations of the vagaries of everyday common operations or performances of routine duty.

But he died in the performance of that duty which he had voluntarily assumed when he accepted to act as chief flying instructor of the Training Flight.

His death may not be enshrined in a halo of glory, but it is nevertheless that of a hero to the cause he had espoused when he went forth to do battle in the skies for his King, his Country, and the liberty and freedom of mankind.

Born 25 years ago, the son of Prof. C. V. Christie, of McGill University, and Mrs. Christie, Sqn. Ldr. Christie joined the R.A.F. in 1937.

He was educated at Westmount High School and McGill University, which he left to join the Royal Air Force. He had learned to fly at Cartierville airport before enlisting.

He was awarded the Disting-ished Flying Cross in 1940, "for gallantry and devotion to duty in execution of air operations".

While serving as a Flying Officer with the All-Canadian Squadron, with the legless ace, Sqn. Ldr. Douglas Bader, now a prisoner of war in Germany, he shot down at least one enemy plane in a furious fight over England, when they were outnumbered by six to one.

A few days later he was shot down in another fight over Britain. He suffered burns, and was confined for some time to hospital. He arrived home on sick leave in 1940, this time as Flt. Lt. Christie.

In a scrap over the mouth of the Thames, he had been forced to bail out and fell into the sea, but was later rescued.

He was awarded a Bar to the D.F.C. in 1941, shortly after returning to England after his sick leave in this country. The citation said "has shown outstanding ability and leadership over a long period of time. He is a keen and determined pilot and has destroyed at least seven enemy aircraft".

Just a year after his first visit home, he once more came back to Canada, in 1941, with a group of R.A.F. men, to, as he said: "Carry out various undertakings on this continent". Following his return he was appointed Squadron Leader.

Sqn. Ldr. Christie was married on January 27, 1941, to Miss Joan Francis Morecroft Tooke, youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick T. Tooke.

"Pat" had always been a keen follower of sport. He was a well known skier, and played both football and water polo at high school and university.

Two former neighbors, buddies when they were mere boys, Wing Cndr. E. L. Wurtele, and Flight Sgt. Bob McBride, are both attached to a new torpedo squadron of the R.C.A.F. which took part in a recent attack on enemy shipping off the Dutch coast. As a matter of fact young Wurtele is in command of the squadron, and Sgt. McBride is its pilot.

Both young men lived only a few doors from one another before they joined the Air Force. Wurtele's relatives reside at 755 Lansdowne avenue, and McBride's people live at 783 on the same avenue.

The attack was made under somewhat unusual circumstances. The squadron's attention was attracted by anti-aircraft fire some miles away. The shooting was quite evidently directed at some plane or planes engaged in combat with a Nazi ship. Several of the squadron took off at once, and two of the aircraft flew to the scene of the engagement.

They swooped down to within some fifty feet from the enemy ship, and dropped their loads of bombs. One of the pilots reported they "got one". The attacking aircraft returned to their base, but they had many holes in their wings after going through the terrific barrage set up by the Nazi ship.

The squadron had had a long period of what their crews referred to as "hard but unexciting patrols" as a coastal command unit, and this was their first brush with enemy naval forces.

Control Centre Of A.R.P. Needs 12 Volunteers

Organization of a control report A.R.P. centre at the City Hall is now well under way. Men are now being selected and put to training. Twelve men over military age are now being sought as volunteers to act as auxiliaries with the police department to undertake duties as telephonists in the communication system linking the police, fire and signal offices and eventually leading into the control office. The volunteers are being sought for this duty with the idea of freeing trained men for other work. Applicants are invited to apply for an interview with Chief Gough.

JACK DOUGALL DIES IN CRASH OF RCAF PLANE

Member of Montreal Witness Publishing Family Killed in Forced Landing in Ontario

Sgt. Pilot John Ralph Dougall, R.C.A.F., was killed Tuesday when he attempted a forced landing close to Sioux Lookout, Ont., according to word received by his parents, Frederick E. Dougall, 618 Belmont avenue, Westmount, proprietor of the Witness Press and John Dougall & Son, and Mrs. Dougall.

Sgt. Pilot Dougall, who had been ferrying planes, was attached to the R.C.A.F. Ferry Squadron at Rockcliffe Airport, Ont.

A native of Westmount, Sgt. Pilot Dougall—who would have been 29 on August 25—attended Westmount High School, and joined the R.C.A.F. in August last. He completed his training at Moncton, N.B., where he graduated fifth in his class, receiving his wings and promotion to sergeant pilot's rank.

Active in various Westmount young people's organizations prior to joining the R.C.A.F., Sgt. Dougall was an Assistant Scoutmaster and a member of Dominion Douglas church.

A memorial service in his honor has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon at the Stanley Presbyterian Church, Westmount and Victoria avenues.

An only son, Sgt. Dougall had two sisters, the Misses Janet and Mary Dougall, both of Westmount.

Brigadier A. E. Walford Working On Invasion Plans

One of the Canadian officers now hard at work on plans for the invasion of continental Europe is Brigadier A. E. Walford, M.M., E.D., a resident of Arlington Avenue, Westmount, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Walford of N.D.G. Brigadier Walford was promoted from the rank of Colonel and appointed to the headquarters staff of the First Canadian Army earlier this year.

He first saw military service with the 58th Westmount Rifles, which he joined in September, 1914. He was posted to the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve for service on the St. Lawrence ship channel, Inspection Service, during 1915, but in September of that year joined the 3rd Siege Battery, C.E.F., with which he proceeded to France.

After Vimy Ridge, he served on the instructional staff in England, but returned to France to join the 3rd Heavy Brigade, remaining with that unit until February, 1919.

Brig. Walford joined the 2nd Montreal Regiment on reorganization in 1921, as a subaltern with the 3rd Medium Battery. After serving as captain in the 7th Medium Battery he was promoted to command in 1927 and became Regimental Adjutant in October, 1933.

In November, 1937, he was named O.C. of the 2nd Medium Brigade of the Regiment with the rank of lieutenant-colonel, and when war broke out in September, 1939, he was given a staff appointment and went overseas in December of that year as Deputy Assistant Adjutant General of the First Canadian Division.

One of the first Canadian officers to attend the senior war course at Camberley Staff College, in England, he was appointed to Canadian Corps Headquarters as Assistant Quartermaster-General in December.

Municipal Journal Calls Westmount Worthy of Example

City Is Held Up To Other Communities As Model To Follow In Article In Municipal Review Of Canada

Westmount, as a well-governed city and one that is taking a leading part in every type of wartime activity from salvage to C.P.C. work is highly commended in the current issue of the Municipal Review of Canada which devotes a leading article to the management of this city. Westmount is held up as an example to other cities in its handling of municipal finance, particular reference being made to its small but sure balance each year. The Municipal Review article reads as follows:

The importance of giving full publicity, of the right kind, to activities of the local administration has been stressed by leading civic authorities both in the United States and Great Britain, not only to show just how local taxes are spent and utilized, but because of the value of such publicity in educating the citizens and their families in civic matters—such value depending on the attractiveness of the publicity. From time to time The Municipal Review has drawn attention to the attractive and usefully informative booklets and reports put out by certain of Canada's local authorities, our contention being that this publicity is always profitable both to the community and the individual taxpayer. This month we draw attention to the City of Westmount's Annual Report, which according to its introduction is "an account of Department activities, cost and operation of Municipal Services during the year". Being one of Canada's cities to which this war calls for a full time job, the Mayor and Council of the City of Westmount have taken the lead in every war activity, from Salvage to C.P.C. work, the record of which is presented in an interesting manner in this Report. Such items as the fact that Ex-Alderman M. G. Price had become

DRIVER'S NOSE IS STRUCK BY HIS OWN CANE

Suffers Painful Wound When He is Thrown on His Walking Stick in Collision

To be "biffed" on the bridge of the nose with his own walking stick, although it had never left his possession, was the most unusual occurrence that happened to Archie Larose, "believe it or not".

Larose was driving his automobile on Sherbrooke street, near Greene avenue, on July 2, when he struck the rear fender of a truck which had suddenly stopped right in front of him.

Larose is not a cripple, but he carries a "stick", and he takes it along with him when he goes driving in his auto. He had, as he usually does, propped the cane in front of him, between his knees. The shock of the collision threw him forward, and the top of the walking stick gave him a resounding wallop on the nose.

Two stitches had to be put in the man's wound. The only damage to the automobile and the truck was bent or dented fenders.

Both drivers denied all responsibility for the accident, but when told by police they could take the matter to the courts and sue for damages, neither of them relished the idea, and they decided to let matters stand as they were; two broken or bent fenders, and the partial collapse of a "bridge".

J. D. LORIMER RESIGNS OFFICE

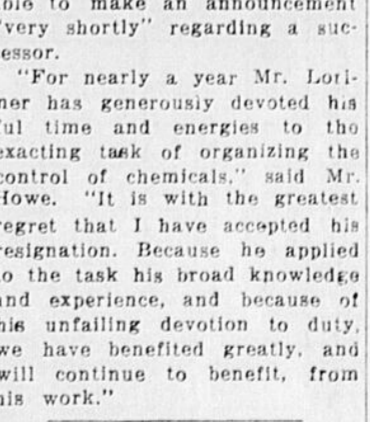

Westmount Citizen Leaves Post as Chemicals Controller for Dominion

Munitions Minister Howe announced this week the resignation of J. Douglas Lorimer of Westmount from his post as Chemicals Controller, and added that acceptance of the resignation was held up until a successor could be chosen.

Mr. Lorimer is an alderman of Westmount and is controller of finance.

The announcement, issued through the Munitions and Supply Department, said Mr. Lorimer resigned "because of increasing responsibilities as managing director of the chemicals company he has headed for the past eight years."

Mr. Howe said he hoped to be able to make an announcement "very shortly" regarding a successor.

"For nearly a year Mr. Lorimer has generously devoted his full time and energies to the exacting task of organizing the control of chemicals," said Mr. Howe. "It is with the greatest regret that I have accepted his resignation. Because he applied to the task his broad knowledge and experience, and because of his unflinching devotion to duty, we have benefited greatly, and will continue to benefit, from his work."

BRUSH DEMONSTRATION

A demonstration of household brushes will be given by a representative of a leading brush manufacturing company at the Canadian Auxiliary Service Corps headquarters, 4876 Sherbrooke street west, on Wednesday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock. The Canadian Auxiliary Service Corps will serve refreshments; several prizes will be given, and a silver collection will be taken.

Role of Police Chief in Canadian Society Praised by Godbout

Westmount Represented By Director Walter Gough At 37th Annual Conference Of Association Held In Ancient Capital

"The chiefs of police play an eminently useful role in our society. The maintenance of order and good morals, the suppression of crime, the protection of public and private property, are functions requiring knowledge, competency, good will, and a lively sense of discipline and duty, but to which the citizen does not always attach due importance."

Those words are taken from the message of welcome extended by Premier Hon. Adelard Godbout of the Province of Quebec, to the members of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada, on the occasion of their thirty-seventh annual conference which was held in the city of Quebec.

The convention was one of the largest ever held by the association, no less than 150 police chiefs from all parts of the Dominion having gathered in the Ancient Capital to attend the sessions which lasted four days, and at which matters of momentous importance were discussed by the chief constables and other officers who attended the gatherings.

The conference this year took on somewhat of an international aspect since two of the most outstanding figures in police work in the United States, Arthur Cornelius, Jr., Special Agent in Charge of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, of the United States Department of Justice (the G-Men), who had been commissioned by his chief, Edgar Hoover, to attend the meetings, and Frank J. Wilson, chief of the United States Secret Service, assisted at all the meetings and took an active part in the deliberations.

Westmount Represented

The City of Westmount was represented by Walter Gough, director of police and fire, who, upon his return, stated the conference was one of the best he had attended in several years. The questions brought up for discussion, he stated, were most varied and of tremendous importance, particularly under existing war conditions.

Chief Gough stressed the wonderful hospitality extended to the delegates by officials of Quebec as well as by the citizens themselves. Everything possible was done to make the chief constables feel quite at home during their stay in the old historic city.

The importance of the convention may be realized by a mere mention of some of the outstanding subjects that were submitted to the sessions. "Our Present Role and Burden" was the subject of a paper read by Lt.-Col. Leon Lambert, assistant director of the Provincial Police of Quebec; "Pedestrian Traffic" was dealt with by T. A. Brown, chief of police of Hamilton, Ont., and it was also discussed by Arthur Cornelius, Jr., special agent in charge of the F.B.I. in the United States; "The Vice Problem", which was the subject handled by Captain A. S. Bigaouette, chief of police of the City of Quebec, and to which Col. P. A. Pluze, Provost Marshal and Officer Adminstrating the Canadian Army Provost Corps, at Ottawa, contributed; "Criminal Identification" was the subject of a paper by H. R. Butchers, Inspector of fingerprints section of the R.C.M.P. at Ottawa; "Police Responsibility" was dealt with by Chief S. L. Schriver, of Woodstock, N.B.; and Hon. L. St. Laurent, Federal Minister of Justice, and Wing Commander M. M. Slaye, Provost Marshal of the R.C.A.F. at Ottawa, took part; "Civilian Defence in Relation to Police" was the question discussed by H. S. McCready, Deputy Commissioner of the Ontario Provincial Police; "Saving Gasoline and Rubber on Police Cruiser Cars" was handled by Chief Constable Geo. Smith, of Winnipeg.

LIUT. TELLIER INVESTED WITH GEORGE MEDAL

Son of Redfern Avenue Resident Called to Buckingham Palace to Receive Decoration

Lieutenant William Tellier, of the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve, who was recommended earlier this year for the George Medal for great courage and coolness in the removal of a time bomb in London, has just received his decoration at the hands of King George at an investiture held in Buckingham Palace.

He is a son of Mrs. H. J. Tellier, of 358 Redfern Avenue, and a brother of Edward (Red) Tellier, a figure to conjure with in rugby and hockey circles here and in the Maritimes a decade ago.

Lieutenant Tellier was accompanied to the palace by his nephew, Lieutenant Henri Tellier, son of H. J. Tellier, Jr., and Mrs. Tellier, of Western Avenue. A letter from the younger Tellier to his parents here described the affair which thrilled both Westmounters.

Flt.-Sgt. McCallum Missing Overseas

Flt.-Sgt. James McCallum, aged 22, son of Mrs. Beatrice McCallum, 4876 Grosvenor Ave., is reported missing after air operations overseas, according to a recent R.C.A.F. casualty list.

Educated at Montreal High School and McGill University, McCallum joined the air force in October, 1940, and won his wings on June 16, 1941, at Uplands Airport, Ottawa. He went overseas in July, 1941.

His mother received a letter from her son on Thursday saying that he expected to go on leave, after she had received officials news from Ottawa on Tuesday, reporting that he was missing.

His brother, Reide McCallum, is a sub-lieutenant in the R.C.N. V.R., now stationed at Halifax.

Lost And Found At City Parks

The following articles have been found and turned in to the comfort stations at the various parks where they may be claimed on proper identification.

Westmount Park: one red jacket (child's); one blue purse; one white sweater with the name of Jean and the surname unreadable; one pair of sun-glasses; one child's beige cloth purse.

King George Park: three different softball gloves; one fawn sleeveless; one small plaid coat.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, JULY 9, 1942

JACK DOUGALL AND PAT CHRISTIE

Sympathy, extending far beyond their neighbours in Westmount and in Montreal is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Dougall in the loss of their only son, Sergeant-Pilot John R. Dougall cut down in the morning of his brief day by a crash in Ontario. Their sense of loss will be shared by thousands all over Canada to whom the Montreal Witness was a lamp and a guide in every political and economic problem where morality was a factor. The young pilot "slipped the surly bonds of earth" in the same week which saw the disappearance beneath the waters of Lake St. Louis of another Westmount knight of the air, Squadron-Leader "Pat" Christie. The boy had to his credit none of the achievements against the foe that add lustre to the veteran; yet both are equal, both gave their all. The boys who only yesterday laid aside the toys of childhood are today the bulwark of the spirit of mankind against the hordes of darkness. This is part of the cost.

With Sgt. Pilot Dougall there goes from among us the bearer of the name and initials of his great-uncle; the revered and saintly John R. Dougall, editor of the Witness for 64 years. That great Canadian spent his life aiding and planning the better day that is to come at the end of this labyrinth of misery and woe to which, years ago, all too clearly, he saw humanity hastening with winged feet. His young kinsman has died helping to make the glorious dream a reality.

HE ADMIRER THE HUNS

Attila, King of Huns, who ruled from the Caspian Sea to the Rhine, in the middle of the fifth century, is hardly a chieftain whose mantle it is an honor to put on. He called himself, as King of the Barbarians, the "Scourge of God." Perhaps it would be more fitting if he were nominated as the "Scourge of the Devil." In no sense could he be considered as a knight of godliness. And yet German historians take a sort of glory in him. He is something of a hero in folk lore. Of course this helps to explain the Nazi bent of mind.

Kaiser Wilhelm, who liked nothing better than a flashing sword, contributed to the Attila worship when, on the occasion of German soldiers leaving for China, at the time of the Boxer rebellion, he implored his troops to "go forth like the Huns of old and strike such terror into their enemies that the very name of Germans would be so dreaded among them that for a thousand years, no Chinese would dare to look askance at a German."

Well, a thousand years have not passed, by a long shot, and the Chinese are not bothered by a look at a German. Incidentally, this quotation makes it clear where Hitler got the phrase about Nazi Germany settling the fate of the world for a thousand years. He "pinched" the thousand years from the Kaiser.

Dr. William Zimmerman, who was attached to the court of Emperor William I, published the "Popular History of Germany" about the time of the Franco-Prussian War. Read what the German historian wrote—it could have been written about Hitler:

"Whether Attila was, like his original Huns, of Tartar-Mongolian blood is indifferent. He was formed to terrify mankind. The crafty diplomats of the eastern and western empires found in their negotiations with Attila that they had to deal with a more skillful, more smooth and more cunning diplomat than themselves. Asiatic in his passions, Hun in his mode of life, in politics he was a European and born statesman. To train the Huns, to give them more cultivation and make them more useful for his grand enterprises, he negotiated peace from time to time, and during his negotiations, he knew how to sow discord."

Certainly Hitler was "formed to terrify mankind." Attila destroyed cities, drove the inhabitants into the wilds to starve, burned, laid waste and tortured everywhere. Hitler does that too. He would like to improve on Attila by using poison gas but he has heard his master's voice. Hitler may remember, on one of those nights when he weeps and trembles if left alone, that Attila went down to defeat and died an ignominious death.

ELIMINATION OF TWO-PANT SUITS

Elimination of the two-pants suit in the government's recently announced men's clothing restrictions does not appear to be receiving a very good reception across Canada. Men who have found that a suit coat and vest will nearly always outwear one pair of pants are finding it hard to see any economy of material in this restriction.

REMEMBERED HER MANNERS

A Belgian recently arrived in Great Britain witnessed the following scene in occupied Belgium:

A little four-year-old girl was sitting crying by her mother's side in a street car. A German officer found this opportunity for propaganda too good to miss and offered her a sweet. Without looking at him, the little girl took the present before her mother could intervene, and wiping her eyes, whispered: "Thank you, you dirty Boche!"

HOSTEL HOLIDAYS DESCRIBED IN TALK BY MRS. F. DENTON

"In this day of stress and strain hostels are playing an important part in the lives of young people," said Mrs. Fred Denton, Quebec Secretary of the Canadian Youth Hostel Association, addressing a joint meeting of the Westmount Park and St. Luke's Young People's groups, at Westmount Park United Church recently.

Mrs. Denton spoke of the hostel idea, its growth in Canada, and especially in Quebec, and of the contribution it is making in war time when patriotic young people do not wish to spend large sums of money on vacations. Hostelling is the answer for the young person who wants to see the world on a budget and still keep the glow of health in their cheeks and have strong, healthy bodies, she said.

The many questions that were asked in the period following the talk clearly showed the interest which had been aroused in the hostel idea.

Gladys Thorner announced that a special sponsored tour had been arranged for the two young people's groups and would be held at Rougemont Hostel the week-end of July 25 and 26.

Previous to the meeting the group of young people spent some time on the High School campus in a game of baseball. The meeting was opened with some get-acquainted games and a sing-song, when some of the songs popular on the hostel trail were learnt.

After the talk by Mrs. Denton, refreshments were served by Kay Donaldson and Betty Russell, acting social conveners. In keeping with the "typical hostel night," hotdogs and lemonade, favorite hostel refreshments, were served.

Roberta Ridley conducted the worship service.

Food As Factor In Wartime Discussed Before Rotary

Food as the deciding factor in the war was discussed at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club yesterday by Colin C. Campbell, secretary-treasurer of W. Clark Limited.

After sketching the development of the art of preserving food in hermetically sealed containers from its beginnings during the Napoleonic wars to the present, Mr. Campbell dwelt on the difficulties raised for the canning industries of the United Nations by the Japanese seizure of most of the sources of the raw material. In 1938, he said, the United Nations controlled 90.6 per cent of the world's production of tin. Today that figure had dwindled to 26.8 per cent.

Under these circumstances, said the speaker, restrictions were inevitable. Use of tins, containers is now prohibited for a long list of foods. Consumers of canned vegetables or fruit who had hitherto bought sufficient for one meal would have to buy larger tins — enough for two meals. The reason for this is that large-size containers are more economical in their use of tin than the smaller sizes, many of which are now prohibited. Tinplate will be available for essential perishable foods of high nutritional value, such as fresh fruits, peas, tomatoes, tomato juice, green and wax beans, corn which can be preserved in large quantities only by canning. He thought there would be enough of these this year to meet public needs. Tinplate is not available for foods which can be preserved in other ways. Canned pork and beans will soon be eliminated.

Mr. Campbell outlined some suggested substitute containers, coming to the conclusion that satisfactory results await still further research. Use of tinless steel containers, he held, is contingent upon the ever-increasing demands for steel by war industries.

"Vitamins," said Mr. Campbell in conclusion, "are the important keys to victory. For in this terrible contest of armed man against armed man, the one who is most likely to win—both being equally well armed and equipped—will be the fittest and the one who possesses the greatest strength, fortitude and morale. To achieve this, vitamins are just as important as bullets—and food, the deciding factor."

Chester McBride, vice-president of the club conducted the meeting. Mr. Campbell was introduced by Rotarian Dave Kerr, Charles W. Wright expressed the thanks of the club to Mr. Campbell's address.

BOYS' BRIGADE TO GO TO CAMP NEXT SATURDAY

First Montreal-Westmount Company to Head for St. Andrew's East

The 1st Montreal-Westmount Company of the Boys' Brigade, will set out for camp on Saturday morning, most of the boys travelling by bicycle, but all looking forward with keen anticipation to two weeks of thrilling adventure in St. Andrew's East. The camp is located at Riverview, on the North River, a little west of the town. It is expected that some twenty odd boys will attend for the full period. These being divided into three tents under the following N.C.O.'s:—1st Sgt. Edwin Goring and Cpl. Robert Burries; 2nd Cpl. James Wright and Lance Cpl. Geoff. Camp and 3rd under Lance-Cpls. Robert Eastwood and Alan Keith.

Captain J. Howard Richardson will be camp commander with Lieut. Alex Upham as second in command. Staff-Sergeant Robert Morrow will act as adjutant. A very active program has been drawn up, including trips of interest, many of which will be cycle trips. Boating, swimming, athletics as well as model building are all a part of the daily schedule and with the traditional evening camp-fire and vesper, give the campers all that is to be desired. Indian Council Ring has ever proven an interesting feature in Canadian camping life and will form a part of the evening camp-fire. Sundays, the boys will parade to church, led by their bugle and drum band. In the afternoons, parents and visitors will be welcomed and for the evening drum-head services.

The new Jubilee crests will be introduced in time for camp as well as a light weight shirt for parades. These have been much needed, especially during the summer months, and will be received with welcome by the boys. As the Brigade prepares to celebrate its diamond jubilee, camps throughout Canada will feature Jubilee Night. This is a night devoted to portraying features from 1853 down to the present year. The Jubilee song, now the favorite theme of all B.B. boys will find a warm spot at all sing-songs.

VACATION CLUB NAMES OFFICERS FOR 1942 SEASON

Marvin Greenbaum Elected Mayor, Assisted by Junior Council of Leaders

Last Friday morning the members of the Vacation Club elected their officers for this season. Marvin Greenbaum was elected Mayor and will be assisted in his task by the Junior Council of Leaders. Ron George will head the Police Dept., while Dave Binmore will occupy the Judge's seat. Cameron McFadden was appointed to head the Junior Council of Leaders, a group of boys who have been doing a grand job acting as leaders to the other chaps. Their work has been a grand help and is much appreciated by the vacationers.

The club has started a paper of their own which is edited and published by the boys themselves. The first edition came out on Friday and it will be published each week.

Another member of the club has learned to swim the length of the pool; Lydon McKeown completed this feat last Monday morning. Many have already learned to swim and will soon have completed their beginner's test.

The attendance at all meetings has been very high this year with between forty and fifty boys taking part in all activities. Last year Owen Kennedy held the record for attendance and is off to a good start again this year. Nelson Creamer, Jeff Williams and Bruce Hildebrand have left for camp. The vacationers welcomed Jim Kennedy back again after a short sickness in bed.

Next week is "Salvage Week" at the local "Y" and a prize will be given to the lad that brings in the most.

The program for this coming week is as follows: Monday, 9:30: Morning Assembly; 10:30: Handicrafts and Photography; 11:00: General Swim; 2:00: Scavenger Hunt; 4:30: General Swim.

Tuesday, 9:30: Morning Assembly and Swim; 11:00: Court Session; 2:00: Trip; 5:00: General Swim.

Wednesday, 9:30: General Assembly (Truth and Consequences); 10:30: Handicrafts and Photography; 11:00: General Swim; 3:00: Verdun Swimming Pool.

Thursday, 9:30: General Assembly Amateur Hour; 10:30: Handicrafts and Photography; 11:00: General Swim; 2:00: Movies; 5:00: General Swim.

Friday, 9:30: General Assembly and Swim; 10:30: Handicrafts and Learn to Swim; 2:00: Trip; 5:00: General Swim; 8:00: Snooze Party. Turkey Herders Prosper On U.S. Western Plains

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Turkey has become a year-around meat dish and the industry in Utah and Idaho is assuming the importance of cattle and sheep raising.

Thousands of persons are employed annually in the two states in the turkey-raising cycle of hatching, feeding, ranging, killing, processing and shipping. And a new term has entered western talk. Before it was only sheep herders and cowboys. Now "turkey herder" has been added.

As the Brigade prepares to celebrate its diamond jubilee, camps throughout Canada will feature Jubilee Night. This is a night devoted to portraying features from 1853 down to the present year. The Jubilee song, now the favorite theme of all B.B. boys will find a warm spot at all sing-songs.

Who bathes in worldly joys, swims in a world of fears.—Phineas Fletcher.

Westmount Scores Victory In Davidson Cup Cricket

There were only three cricket matches played on Saturday afternoon. Play was somewhat delayed by the rain but all matches were concluded.

The Davidson cup tie of Maisonneuve and Westmount, left unfinished last week, was completed and resulted in a victory for Westmount by 34 runs. St. Henry Indians are now tied with Westmount at the head of the league but Westmount has a game in hand.

Maisonneuve did well to come within 34 runs of the Westmount total. The leading batsmen appeared to have the match in hand but the tall were unable to cope with the Westmount attack after Grew (55) and Delves (46) had placed their team in a good position, considering the Westmount total of 243. Westmount now go into the semi-finals with Wanderers II, West Indians and Verdun.

Municipal Paper Lauds Westmount

Major-General Price, the Commander of the 3rd Division of the Canadian Army in England; or that Miss Norma Shearer, the famous movie actress, who was born and educated in Westmount had last year taken a leading part in the local Victory Loan Campaign; or again, that up to the end of 1941, nineteen Westmount members of the armed forces had died while on active service—such items, although already known, in tabulated form have a special interest in building up that patriotic and civic pride in the community life which is the essence of good citizenship.

Other events recorded relate to local welfare and social activities, and the municipal services, all of interest to the citizens; but, of course, the principal part of the Report is devoted to the financial statement, and here Westmount sets an excellent example to other municipalities, not only in its manner of presenting its close budgeting—as is instanced in its small but sure balance each year—but in the clearness and conscientiousness with which it sets forth the departmental expenditures, so that the ordinary taxpayer knows exactly what it costs to administer the police, the fire department, the parks and playgrounds, the library, the electric service, the upkeep of the streets, and so on, not forgetting the actual administrative expenses. All this is presented in the excellently prepared Report which cannot help but make Westmount taxpayers proud of their beautiful city.

Another member of the club has learned to swim the length of the pool; Lydon McKeown completed this feat last Monday morning. Many have already learned to swim and will soon have completed their beginner's test.

The attendance at all meetings has been very high this year with between forty and fifty boys taking part in all activities. Last year Owen Kennedy held the record for attendance and is off to a good start again this year. Nelson Creamer, Jeff Williams and Bruce Hildebrand have left for camp. The vacationers welcomed Jim Kennedy back again after a short sickness in bed.

Next week is "Salvage Week" at the local "Y" and a prize will be given to the lad that brings in the most.

The program for this coming week is as follows: Monday, 9:30: Morning Assembly; 10:30: Handicrafts and Photography; 11:00: General Swim; 2:00: Scavenger Hunt; 4:30: General Swim.

Tuesday, 9:30: Morning Assembly and Swim; 11:00: Court Session; 2:00: Trip; 5:00: General Swim.

Wednesday, 9:30: General Assembly (Truth and Consequences); 10:30: Handicrafts and Photography; 11:00: General Swim; 3:00: Verdun Swimming Pool.

Thursday, 9:30: General Assembly Amateur Hour; 10:30: Handicrafts and Photography; 11:00: General Swim; 2:00: Movies; 5:00: General Swim.

Friday, 9:30: General Assembly and Swim; 10:30: Handicrafts and Learn to Swim; 2:00: Trip; 5:00: General Swim; 8:00: Snooze Party. (All boys will come to the "Y" and spend an evening similar to one in camp. After a camp program they will all sleep in the gym carrying on this idea the following morning till noon hour).

Saturday, 9:00: All Westmount boys leave for Camp Kanawana; 9:30: Baseball in the park; 11:00: General Swim.

Westmount Baptist Church

Dr. J. A. Johnston has announced a double series of sermons to be preached in Westmount Baptist Church during mid-summer.

The morning service themes will be as follows: Sunday, "Jesus' Appeal to the Irreligious"—Not the Pious but the Irreligious; July 19th—"The Man who Shocked People—the Pharisees were Greatly Shocked"; Sunday, July 26th, "Crowding Christ into a Uniform—They put on Him a General's short, Crimson Cloak"; Sunday, August 2nd—"The Master Spirit of the Age—we struggle with the master-spirits of this dark age."

For the evening services the series will be concerned with "The Everlasting Mercy as Revealed in Scottish Literature." Sunday, July 12th, "Margaret Howe's 'Ladie a Lad O' Pairts'" —The Story of a Country Schoolmaster"; Sunday, July 19th, "Lora Cambilley—The Lass Who Fled to London—The Story of an Elder in the Kirk"; Sunday, July 26th, "A Country Doctor of the Old School—The Story of a General Practitioner"; Sunday, August 2nd, "Self-Imposed Handcuffs—The Story of the Liberation of a Captive." Visitors are most cordially welcomed.

The church holds its Mid-Week Service each Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. This is really a community gathering, folk from various communions attend.

'Born To Sing' Orchestra Most Unusual In Filmland

One of America's most unusual orchestras appears on the screen in "Born to Sing" now playing at the Westmount United Theatre. It is also one of the wonders of Hollywood.

It is Peter Meremblum's youth orchestra, composed of youngsters who play the most difficult symphonies with the ease and talent of grownups. It was organized some years ago by its founder and has won national music fame.

"Born to Sing" is a lighthearted musical presenting a group of talented young singers, dancers and musicians, the cast headed by Virginia Weidler, turned from drama to musical comedy. Ray McDonald, young dancing star of the New York stage, and Leo Gorcey. Its climax is a lavish presentation of "Ballad for Americans," sung by Douglas McPhail, young baritone and a huge chorus representing all walks of American life.

Players include Beverly Hudson, new singing discovery, Dickie Hall, five-year-old concert pianist, Darla Hood of "Our Gang" fame, "Rags" Ragland, Sheldon Leonard, Henry O'Neill, Larry Nunn, Margaret Dumont and Joe Yule.

JUDY SLAYS 'EM IN COMEDY HIT

A gay and refreshing stimulant for war-shattered nerves, Republic's "Sleepytime Gal," starring Judy Canova, opens Sunday at the Monkland United Theatre playing until Tuesday night.

Miss Canova's comedy is irresistible; she could extract laughs from the sourest of misanthropes or the gloomiest of neurotics. And as for the average, normal and intelligent movie-goers—she slays 'em!

Judy in "Sleepytime Gal," is a kitchen mechanic in a large Florida hotel. The ambitious bell hop (played engagingly by Tom Brown) has large ambitions due to his love for the news-stand girl (Mildred Coles). He cannot marry because of his low financial status, but by making Judy a spectacular radio star, he will be in a position to achieve his heart's desire.

So Judy, the unpretentious, unambitious cook's assistant, is heartlessly glamorized and flung into the position of radio contest winner, with the glaring publicity spotlight focused directly on her winsome but ungainly self.

GIRLS DIVIDE TWO GAMES

The Westmount girls' softball team won and lost in their last two games. A week ago Tuesday they won their first game of the season when they defeated the Mansfields from the Verdun Ladies Softball League 9-7 while on Tuesday night, they were losing 10-7 to the CWAAC team in the fifth inning when the game was called on account of threatening weather. In all likelihood, this game will be played over next Tuesday evening.

hood, this game will be played over next Tuesday evening. The local team could do very little with the pitching of Evelyn Munroe on the mound for the CWAAC team on Tuesday evening, and although they scored seven times, they only made two hits and both of them were extra base efforts by Jean Wrigglesworth, a double and a triple. Both teams were missing some of their players for the game.

Marg Armstrong was on the mound for the Westmount team and struck out five players and walked two. The CWAAC hurler fanned seven and walked four. The following girls played for the Westmount team in the game: Marg Armstrong, p; Mary Van Tangerin, 3b; Ann Hofman, ss; Marg Forrest, 1b; Shirley Thompson, 2b; Jean Wrigglesworth, c; Beverly Condon, lf; M. Summer School Leaders Named At Staynor Park

The Summer School at Staynor Park is developing rapidly with large numbers of children attending. Various lines of activities are taking place under the supervision of the supervisors.

The junior leaders at the park have been appointed and are as follows: Cardboard work, Marjorie Baker; oilcloth work, Patsey Kerr and Shirley Bishop; for the small tots, Nina Gedge.

A new program in Indian beadwork and crepe-paper will be started soon.

The girls of the park will have a picnic this Tuesday and will go to Beaver Lake on the top of Mount Royal. Those wishing to go should get in touch with the lady supervisor at the park. The boys' softball team on the park has been very successful this year and have played eleven games, winning them all.

Amongst the teams defeated by the Staynor boys are St. Anthony's, Richmond, St. Thomas Aquinas, Iverley Settlement, Granites, Argos and others. This week they will play against a team from the D.L.L.

Bob Lord is the manager of the team and has lined up a strong squad. They hope to challenge the winners of the Westmount Municipal Senior Softball League at the end of the season.

Lord has two good hurlers in Hughie Brown and Harold Burt. Paul Karse is the catcher. Other players on the team are Kenneth Gittens, first base; Brendan

BARBARA, JOEL CO-STAR AGAIN

Romantic drama played against the vast sweep of a vast country with the thrills and power that went into its development is headed this way in Paramount's triple-starring film "The Great Man's Lady," in which the three stars appeared together for the first time, and the romantic fireworks of "Ball of Fire." The story covers a span of many years showing Miss Stanwyck first as a girl of sixteen when she eloped from her staid Philadelphia home with McCrea, a Lochinvar in buckskins, and carrying her through a whirlwind life to the point where the world waits on her doorstep to learn the secret behind "The Great Man's Lady."

CRITICS HAIL FILM AT KENT AS YEAR'S BEST

Warner Bros.' mighty picturization of "Sergeant York" now playing at the Kent Theatre till Friday. The widely-heralded biographical tribute to one of the World War's greatest heroes has been acclaimed from coast to coast as the greatest picture of the year.

Gary Cooper stars in the title role. The lanky star of "Meet John Doe" and countless other triumphs plays his greatest role to date as the Tennessee mountaineer who "got religion," became a conscientious objector, yet emerged as one of the greatest heroes of all time!

The war sequences of "Sergeant York" are unparalleled, and rival war sequences from any other film. Opposed to these thrilling moments are the tranquil scenes showing Alvin York's life in Tennessee, and the metamorphosis from renegade to a soldier-hero.

Undoubtedly the film's greatest sequence is that one delineating York's capture of 132 Germans. The feat remains in war annals as one of the most amazing of its kind. More surprising still was York's admission that he had accomplished this only to stop more killing, since he believed reverentially in the biblical adage "Thou Shalt Not Kill."

In addition to Gary Cooper, "Sergeant York" prominently features such personages as Walter Brennan as Pastor Pile, Ivey, Joan Leslie, George Tobias, Stanley Ridges, Margaret Wyck, and thousands of others.

Also on the program is "Niagara Falls," an uproarious comedy.

Her fingertip length veil of tulle illusion, of the same shade as her gown, was caught at each side of her head with a spray of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of Tallis-man roses and sweet peas.

Miss Jean Forrester was her sister's only attendant, wearing a floor-length gown of yellow organza over taffeta, and a Juliet cap. She carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas.

Mr. Emerson Barrie was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Arnold Forrester, brother of the bride, and Mr. Alfred Barrie, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the LaSalle Hotel, and later the bridal couple left on a Richelieu cruise to Murray Bay, the bride wearing a suit of dusty rose with navy blue accessories and a corsage of orange roses.

Mrs. W. Christie, of New York, aunt of the groom, was a guest from out-of-town.

Kenny-Carroll
The marriage of Evelyn Constance Salmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. S. Carroll, to Leading Aircraftman Robert Allen Kenny, R.C.A.F., son of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Kenny, of Buckingham, Que., took place on Saturday evening in the Church of St. James the Apostle, the Reverend Harold Shore officiating. Mr. J. E. F. Martin played the wedding music, and Mr. Harry Maude sang during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with variegated summer flowers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore ivory satin, having heart-shaped neckline long sleeves and a flowing skirt. Her veil, of antique embroidered lace, was held by a coronet of the same lace, and her cascade bouquet was of bouvardia and white gladioli.

Miss Janet Kingsland was maid of honor, and Miss V. Dobson and Miss Jane Spearman were bridesmaids, all three attendants being gowned alike in frocks of silk jersey modelled on long, classical lines, and they wore halos of matching tulle ruching. They carried cascade bouquets of Sweetheart roses, bouvardia and delphiniums. Miss Kingsland was in petal pink, and the bridesmaids wore Heavenly blue.

Mr. T. R. Kenny was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Leading Aircraftman J. H. Kenny, brother of the groom, Lieutenant Harrison Bennett, The Black Watch (R.H.R.), of Canada, and Mr. Lovell C. Carroll, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, and later the bridal couple left for Ottawa, where they will reside, the bride traveling in a frock of aquamarine and white printed crepe under a coat of raspberry tweed, with a raspberry grosgrain hat and matching accessories.

Storey-McGill
The marriage of Marguerite Lois Mary, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John McGill, to Mr. Leonard Alexander Storey, eldest son of Mrs. A. C. Bray and of the late Alexander Storey, took place recently at Calvary

EVERYTHING CONSIDERED

BY GERALDINE BRIETZCKE

Did you read the Nesbit books when you were a child? They were good reading. They still are. They are fairy tales, minus the sugar-sweetness of many stories "written down" for children; they tell the tale of ordinary English boys and girls who lived in the gas-light, black stocking, basement kitchen days of the early 1900's, and who by some accident stumbled upon magic potent enough, among other things, to take them from Suburbia to the past years and show them history in the making.

Irony steps in when we read the books now, though, and changes the meaning of many innocent sentences, such as this one from "The House of Arden":

"We live so safely now. We have nothing to be afraid of. When we have wars they are not in our country. The police look after burglars, and even thunder is attended to by lightning rods. It is not easy for us to understand the frantic terror of those times—" (the year 1807)—

"When, from day to day, every man, woman and child trembled in its shoes for fear lest 'The French should come'."

Still harder would it have been for the comfortable little English children of 1907 to realize that in seven or eight more years their own brothers would be killed in France, and that in a few more years when they were grown up they would be hustling their own children to air raid shelters while bombs pounded sleepy English towns to dust and rubble. What a golden—if stuffy—age the year 1907 must have been!

most of his passengers are good natured and holiday minded — except perhaps the few that go dashing around the mountain to Get Away From It All, like we did that high school summer when we got word about an algebra "supp." He sits in the sun and his time is pretty much his own. Now, if he could only knit...

Interesting things always happen in street cars. How about the old lady who hurled us to the floor in our childhood? She came into the car muttering to herself, which boded no good to start with. There we were, sitting down quite innocently, like Elsie Dinsmore, in a little frock and socks, as becomes infancy—and this unpleasant crone seized us by the wrist and hurled us out of our seat. The car lurched, and our tender knees met the floor. It was all very upsetting.

And we've heard, from a witness, the one about the old man with the fuzzy beard, who made the mistake of bringing a paper bag on the street car. The paper bag in itself was all right, but it wasn't made to transport a hen in, and the hen got out. The patriarch made frantic dives under the seats as the chicken ran, agile and alarmed, probably making vague hen noises and wondering why the barn was moving down the street like this.

WHERE TO GO VACATION WHAT TO DO

Trains Take Vacationers To Laurentians This Year

Now that the family on vacation must tread lightly on those tires, and sometimes not at all, and gasoline for long tours is impossible to get, vacation crowds are looking for new ways to reach the Laurentian Mountains. But they "haven't been licked yet." This year, thousands are already streaming northward into their favourite vacationland by rail, by bus, and even by plane. They get there even if the, have to fly.

In the sporting goods stores of Montreal, many of these Laurentian vacationers — some of them visitors from far-away places — are mulling over a range of trout and bass flies, and debating with the experts on the virtues of "Parmachene Belle," "Brown Hackle," "The Silver Doctor," "March Brown," and other favourites.

In the Laurentian playground itself, the scene is a trifle changed in detail during war. Between Montreal and the Laurentian plateau, the traveller may see guarded munitions plants, rows of barracks, and French-Canadian soldiers drilling in the fields.

Due north, the mountains roll on much as ever, surrounding such colourful habitant villages as Mont Roland, Ste. Adele, Ste. Marguerite, Val Morin, Ste. Agathe des Monts, Ivry, and Ste. Justine. Then comes towering Mont Tremblant, highest of the Laurentian peaks, and famous for its ski runs when the snow is deep on the ground.

Farther north still, the traveller's route cuts through the parishes of La-Consolation, La-Belle, and L'Annunciation, through the heart of the fisherman's paradise, and finally into Mont Laurier. This is the wild and rugged fringe of the summer and winter playground of the Laurentian Mountains.

Even in wartime, this great vacationland at Montreal's backdoor is easy to reach. Barring the restricted forms of travel, most of the best vacation spots can be reached in a few hours on any day of the week. Daily trains leave Montreal and Ottawa for the Northern extremes; pass close to most of the trout-rich lakes, and colourful Laurentian resort places. There is no lull in Laurentian vacationing this year. More than ever, Canadians are looking for rest, relaxation, and play to build bodies and minds for hard work ahead.

Laurentian Hotel Uniquely Located

Shadybrook Inn situated in the heart of the Laurentian Mountains has a unique position. Located on the shores of the beautiful Lake Mercier it appears to be miles away from civilization, yet there is everything that could be desired at hand. The station and village are less than half a mile away. Trembling Mountain, the highest peak of the oldest of mountain ranges with its primeval forests rich in Indian lore,

LAURENTIAN GRANDEUR UNRIVALLED

Area North of Montreal Offers Myriad of Holiday Attractions

The summer glory of the Laurentian Mountains is now in full bloom. The trees of the forest, the maple, birch, pine, fir and many others are now resplendent in their green mantles, and the scene is one of beauty.

From a mountain home on the shore of Lake Outimot, one of the beauty spots of the Laurentians, the eye of the beholder gazes upon an entrancing sight. In the distance looms Mount Tremblant, the mysterious trembling mountain, famed in Indian legend, and the highest peak of the whole Laurentian range with an altitude of over 3,200 feet. A series of smaller hills almost completely enclose the lake. The shimmering surface of the lake together with the mountains and trees conjures as pretty a vacation picture as anyone could desire.

But captivating vacation pictures are not peculiar to any remote or secluded section of the Laurentians, for throughout the route traced by the Canadian Pacific Railway line which begins at Montreal and courses through eastern Canada's finest natural playground, summer vacation sites are plentiful and enticing.

Wonderful indeed has been the development of the Laurentians. It is now so many years ago that they were practically a "terra incognita," the attractions of which were known only to a few adventurous spirits. Now they are a favorite haunt of thousands of Montrealers, weary of the vexations and turmoil of city life.

HORRORS OF WAR TEMPORARILY FORGOTTEN

No lurking submarine nor hit and run warplane comes to disturb the enjoyment of holiday-makers in Quebec's inland vacation fairylands.

Eastern Townships Noted For Their Scenic Beauty

To the south of Montreal and between the International boundary, lie the Eastern Townships. These townships, which comprise about 6,500 square miles, include the counties of Sherbrooke, Stanstead, Compton, Richmond, Wolfe, Megantic, Drummond, Arthabaska, Brome, Sheffield and Missisquoi. The Townships differ in many respects from any other part of the province of Quebec. The territory was organized on the "parish system" instead of the "township plan" which prevailed in the French settlements and was called the Eastern Townships to distinguish it from the Western Townships in Ontario.

Among them are Richmond, Windsor Mills, Bromptonville, Sherbrooke — known as the hub of the Eastern Townships — Lennoxville, Coaticook, and Dixville. Eastward from Richmond toward Quebec, the route, after crossing the St. Francis River, runs north-easterly through Danville, Kingsley Falls, Warwick, Victoriaville, Princeville. Part of the route running through the Eastern Townships has been aptly described as "one of the fairest tracts of Old Canada . . . a land of river and plain; of mountain and farm and lake and valley; but first and chiefly a river land."

Gay With Guests
During the summer season, the hotels and cottages around Lake Memphremagog, Lake Massawippi and Brome Lake are gay with guests from all parts of Canada and the United States; while scores of charming villages are sought by many who prefer the hills and forests to the valleys and lakes.

Several important and interesting points lie within the territory traversed by Richmond to Portland route of the C. N. R.

STAR SWIMMERS FOR STE. ADELE

Gloria Callen and her New York Swimming Club record breaking teammates Helen Rains, Marilyn Sahner, have advised the Quebec Section of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association that they will arrive in Montreal July 16. They plan to go on to the Ste. Adele Lodge and Country Club where they will have a day's training before the Dominion championship meet opens on July 17.

The American champions have given no indication as yet what events they plan to enter but state entry blanks will be coming along shortly. It is presumed, they will seek the medley relay honors, attempting to follow up their recent U.S. championship achievement by adding the Canadian relay crown to their pretty heads.

Officials of the host club will be on hand to meet the U.S. speedsters when they arrive in Montreal. They will make the rest of the journey by motor car.

Knowlton Grove Attractions Many

In the heart of the Eastern Townships, like a glittering jewel among the Shefford Range lies Brome Lake—clear, safe and beautiful. Touching this lake near enough for convenience, and yet far enough to be privately secluded is Knowlton Grove.

Three large buildings, nestling among protective trees, offer single or double rooms — some with hot and cold water. Hot and cold water in each bathroom. Spring filled mattresses. A cosy lounge room, a game room, a library, and reading rooms provide relaxation and rest.

Knowlton Golf Course is adjacent to the Grove. A new experience awaits the enthusiastic golfer as he plays on this picturesque and well-kept fairway. Our guests pay reduced rates on week-days.

In the day-time, tennis, swimming, croquet, croquet, baseball, a one mile walk to Knowlton Village provide additional forms of entertainment. A nickelodeon provides dance music, bridge, bingo and other games help to pass the cool and damp evenings in comfort.

Leisure hours can be passed on the lake, for boats are free to our guests. Fishing is also an enjoyable pastime.

Sheer relaxation from wartime stress, an essential to renewed and greater war effort, becomes available through 6-day weekly cruises by the S.S. Richelieu amid beauties of the St. Lawrence and glories of the Saguenay river. First of these cruises out of Montreal began Monday morning (June 29), C. C. Bonter, passenger traffic manager of Canada Steamship Lines, announces.

The floating house party pulls into the stream at mid-morning, and most of the first day is passed in the lush scenery of Normandy in America. At dusk, the Richelieu passes between the heights that knew Montreal and Wolfe, to moor beneath The Rock of walled Quebec, cradle of history in North America. Next morning the vessel is skirting islets and lofty mountains of the mid-St. Lawrence. Dinnertime finds vacationists rounding historic Tadoussac to enter the gateway to the deep-flowing Saguenay, one of the world's distinctive rivers, carved out of solid rock by titanic forces of the Glacial Age. Up through the forested escarpments, in the lee of capes that tower high 2,999 feet, the Richelieu continues to Chicoutimi, "Queen of the Saguenay", this year 199 years old.

Sightseeing next day, then a cruise down the river, and a turn into picturesque Ha Ha Bay. Out again, and down to Tadoussac for the privileges of the new Hotel Tadoussac, for a bonfire and baguette. Plenty of time to visit this oldest of summer resorts—for such it was even in Indian days centuries ago—then, the following day, up the St. Lawrence again for an overnight halt at Murray Bay, where the golf, swimming, tennis and fishing of the smart Manoir Richelieu are available. Back to Quebec, this time for a good look at this ancient fortress and a trip to Ste. Anne de Beaupre, shrine of the world-revered Wonder Worker. Then back to Montreal, end of six days of glorious rest and fun.

Among recent visitors at Gray Rocks Inn, St. Jovite, Que., have been the following: Mr. J. Reynolds, Mr. J. S. Gerow, Mr. J. M. Martais, Mr. G. M. Taylor, Mr. R. L. Merritt, Mr. L. W. Orr, Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Grove, Mr. Reg. H. Scott, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baugh, Mr. D. W. Scott, Miss Barbara H. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Peterson, Dr. Donald Angus, Miss Eunice Price, Mr. G. D. G. Dodgers Retain Lead In Municipal Softball League

PITCHING BY ALLAN DYKE STRIKING OUT 27 BATTERS FEATURES TEAM VICTORIES

The sudden appearance of Allan Dyke on the mound for the Dodgers and the subsequent pair of shut-outs he nurl'd were the feature of the week's doings in the Westmount Municipal Senior Softball League. Dyke set the Royals down with three hits and struck out ten men in his initial appearance in the loop to win 3-0. He won his next start by the same score when he limited the hard hitting Radiolocators to a single hit, striking out seventeen men this time. These two wins give the Dodgers a three point lead over the No. 3 Training Command team for the league leadership, the Airmen however, have three games in hand.

The Wireless School and the No. 3 Command teams were the only others to go through the week without a defeat. The No. 3 Command team defeated the St. Hubert Flying Squadron 4-2 behind the no hit pitching of George Scully while the Wireless School defeated the No. 12 Equipment Depot team 9-2.

The St. Hubert and No. 12 Depot teams all split on the week. The No. 12 team defeated the Radiolocators 9-8 while the St. Hubert team created the biggest upset of the season when they walloped the Royals 18-10.

The Royals and the Radiolocators were of course the biggest Alexander led the winners at bat with three hits.

A big third inning in which they scored seven times gave the Wireless School a 9-2 win over Knucker Irvine's No. 12 Depot team. The winners got to Bradley on the mound for the East-enders in the third inning for seven hits for the rest of the game. MacDonald not only pitched a good game for the winners but he also banded out three hits including two doubles. Baril of the No. 12 Depot team hit his sixth home-run of the season and now leads this department easily.

George Scully pitched his second no-hit game of the season last Thursday when the No. 3 Training Command team defeated the St. Hubert Flying Squadron 14-2. Scully deserved a no-hit, no-run game but a wild pitch with two out in the last inning struck the bar of the backstop and before the ball could be recovered, two runs had scored and the shut-out was spoiled. Carveth a newcomer to the winners led at bat with three hits. Scully and Snyder hit homers for the No. 3 Command team.

St. Hubert outsluged the Royals to upset them 18-10 on Monday evening. Manship's four hits and a home-run by Richmond sealed the Royals' doom. Ozzie Dalziel continued his hard hitting for Royals and pounded out four hits including a home-run.

The No. 12 Equipment Depot team won their game when they defeated the Radiolocators 9-8. Home-runs by Jones and Aube were the features of the winners' batting attack. Shusterman hit for the circuit for the losers while Cashin and Bert Clarke banged out four and three hits respectively.

The batting averages just issued show Frank Cashin of the Radiolocators on the top of the list replacing Jack Keen of the No. 3 Command team. Keen is in the runner-up spot. Cashin sports an average of .545 while Keen's is .524.

Keen has made the most hits, 22; Noel Romney of the Dodgers has crossed the plate the most times, 19; Don Durno who has left the Dodgers to join the Army is still leading in the doubles with 7 while Baril of the No. 12 Depot team is the home-run leader with 6.

The Radiolocators who have only managed to win three games and one of those via the awarded

Christopher Doggett Wins Sailboat Races

Christopher Doggett made a clean sweep of the sailboat races which were held in the pond at King George Park on Saturday afternoon. Doggett's boats captured all three of the races which were run off. Owing to the small number of motorboats, no races were run.

In the first race which was won by Doggett, Peter Darling came second and Mark Baron third. Mark Baron came second to Doggett in the next race while Peter Darling got the third place ribbon. In the final race Robert Matthews was the runner-up to Doggett and Peter Darling again came third.

More races will be held this Saturday afternoon and if possible, some for motorboats as well. The time for the races is three o'clock.

Putting Tournament Is Won By B. Campbell

B. Campbell of 52 Forden Crescent captured top honours in the putting tournament which was held in King George Park last Thursday evening. Campbell carded an 86 for the thirty-six holes. Three aces notched up on the ninth, twenty-sixth and thirty-fourth holes helped Campbell's score.

Another tournament will be held on the Adult course in King George Park this evening starting at 8.00 p.m.

game route, are leading the league in club batting with the Dodgers in the runner-up position.

Two games in the league will be played tonight at Westmount Park. In one game the No. 12 Equipment Depot meet the No. 13 Command team while in the other Radiolocators play the Wireless School. On Friday night the Royals meet the Swans. Two more games are down for Monday night when the St. Hubert Flying Squadron meet the Dodgers and the Radiolocators play the Royals. Next Wednesday will see the Radiolocators play the Swans and the No. 13 Command play the Wireless School.

108 TENNIS TEAMS ENTERED FOR MIXED DOUBLES CONTEST IN AID OF QUEEN'S FUND

The mixed doubles tennis tournament on the municipal courts in aid of the Queen's Canadian Fund met with unbounded response and a total of 108 teams will compete in the event. The men outnumbered the women 109 to 97, but the women who are eliminated in the first round will pair up with the men who drew byes into the second round.

The tournament will get underway on Monday, July 13th, with games being scheduled on the four courts at the Adult and four of the eight courts at Western courts.

Although the partners were chosen by lot, two or three fairly strong teams cropped up in the draw. The team of Jim Macaulay and Dot Ross would seem pretty hard to beat, another strong pair are Jack McMartin and Flo Arama.

The Men's Open Singles is down to the semi-final round but there is a good possibility that the finals will not be played for a week or so as two or three of the players are now in military camp or away on holidays.

At the present time of writing L. A. Tucker is the only semi-finalist but the others played last night. Tucker defeated J. G. Ross 6-0, 6-0 to enter the semis. Quarter-final matches were won by Leslie Smith who defeated Jim Macaulay 6-0, 6-3; Hugh Brodie who defeated Al Pick 6-2, 6-1; A.
