Youth in park

Kiosk readied

The amplified sound from the youth kiosk at the checkerboard area in the middle of Westmount Park will be controlled this year and not constitute an annoyance to residents bordering on the park or, otherwise, will be closed down.

This was the promise of Mayor Peter M. McEntyre, following adjournment of the formal part of Monday evening's statutory May city council meeting, to concerned citizens including the president of the Westmount Municipal Association who attended and were invited to speak.

V. Geoffrey Hobbes, 520 Victoria avenue, the WMA head, opened the matter by reminding the mayor of an exchange of correspondence last summer on the question of undue noise and other nuisances resulting from the construction and operation of the kiosk. He remarked that as the summer wore on a compromise was agreed on hours and sound levels.

Asks for ideas

The mayor said city hall was in process of studying the problem, as was the Mayor's Youth Action Committee. He would welcome recommendations including those of the WMA. "Council will be giving it high priority."

Will there be a decision "before the fatal day when it opens?" Mr. Hobbes asked.

"Certainly. Maybe on a problem basis," replied His Worship. If the experience is unsatisfactory, he added, the project would be closed down.

City Manager Norman Dawe interjected that city engineers would be testing sound equipment during the coming week. He warned that the sound could be rather loud but no one should be alarmed.

Ald. Charles Aspler opined that some records played were more objectionable than others.

Dr. Geoffrey Lehman, who described himself as a "neighbour of the park," residing at 349 Lansdowne and recently providing a lead in "noise pollution" in the WMA, said it was the "continuous and incessant" noise that was most disturbing. If one was in the park, perhaps, it would be alright; but if working at home, it was disturbing. Even if just heard, it constituted a nuisance in his estimation.

Mr. Aspler agreed that it was necessary to adjust the loudspeakers so that the sound does not carry beyond 100 or 150 yards.

Different music

The mayor then suggested that perhaps the music should not all be of the same type. There were some senior citizens who would welcome a different type.

But, he added, it all depends on electronics for this type of recreation.

Would it be left to the kids to control themselves, asked a woman in the council audience?

Mayor: Last season the gentleman in charge was not given sufficient guidelines, but he was given guidelines later on.

Lady citizen: The kids had keys to the kiosk and the man in charge said he wasn't in charge.

Mayor: It will be different this year. If we can't solve the problems, we won't have it. "But I feel it's an asset," he concluded.

Minutes changed

At the opening of the formal meeting, there was a rare oc-curance: a change in the minutes. There apparently was a reference to the 4424 Inc. youth centre which indicated the city had no power to close the St. Catherine street establishment. After kicking the point around briefly, the solons agreed that the words "without due cause" should be added to the reference.

Moments later, for Agenda Item No. 2, "Mayor's Action Committee on Youth," Ald. Douglas C. Robertson tersely declared: "Nothing new to report."

Citizens balk light change

A concerted group of petitioners, acting as and for pedestrians, got fast action from city hall Friday and reversion overnight of the traffic lights on Sherbrooke street from a three-day-old experimental progressive-change timing to simultaneous switching, from Claremont eastward.

The progressive system had been inaugurated Tuesday to smooth the flow of vehicles along the busy thoroughfare, a very high proportion of which is through Montreal traffic.

Young pair hurt on motorcycle

Motorcycles may be handy for getting to the head of the line in rush-hour traffic—but there are hazards of cross-traffic hidden from view by the vehicles being overtaken.

This was demonstrated at 5:10 pm last Thursday, resulting in two young riders being taken by ambulance to the Montreal General Hospital for assorted leg and arm injuries and lacerations after their PSA bike was tossed 15 feet and landed upside down on the northwest corner sidewalk.

Basilio Marchitto, 20, of LaSalle, and his passenger, Miss Catherine White, 19, of 2201 Wilson avenue, N.D.G. were going west on de Maisonneuve boulevard which, at the time, had two solid lines of car awaiting traffic lights at Metcalfe avenue.

One block east, at Kensington, the cars had quite correctly left a gap for cross traffic and at the crucial moment Herbert Franz, 26, of Montreal was driving his 1966 Corvair north through the intersection. Marchitto was proceeding at the curb, failed to see Franz and struck the right front of the Corvair.

Westmount Police observation and radar checks indicated that almost immediately there was a considerable improvement in movement together with a reduction in incidence of speeding, attributed to the fact that drivers no longer felt the need to "beat the lights."

Meanwhile, however, residents of the Strathcona-Mount Stephen area who like to get to the library and the park were finding it more difficult to get a sufficiently long clear time to safely cross Sherbrooke on foot.

By noon Friday, A. Van Dyk, superintendent of the Parkview Apartments at 450 Sherbrooke street, corner of Mount Stephen, delivered to city hall a petition with 40 to 50 signatures, claiming great risks to pedestrians and asking for a return of the lights to the status quo.

The matter went before the administrative traffic committee that afternoon where, while satisfaction with the effect on traffic was expressed, there wasn't certainty about the pedestrian safety factor.

The electrical department was thereupon ordered to restore simultaneous signals to the synchronized lights, which was effected overnight.

The petition, which was addressed to mayor and council, was presented in committee prior to Monday evening's statutory May council meeting and the action taken reported then to the solons. No mention of the matter was made in open meeting.

Booze gone

Several bottles of liquor were reported Saturday morning stolen from a locker of Chateau Maisonneuve, 4998 de Maisonneuve boulevard west.

Car thefts show burst

Car thefts figured a little more prominently than usual on the Westmount Police blotter over the past week.

The first was reported missing

Damage 'slight' at J.E. Hanger

Damage was officially described as slight despite firemen having to break through a floor to extinguish a stubborn fire late Monday morning at the J.E. Hanger Ltd. artificial limb establishment at 4259 St. Catherine street west.

At first two extinguishers and then two 1½-inch hoses had to be used by Westmount Fire Brigade to quench flames which began when a plumber was using a torch to connect piping in the basement. Surrounding material in a vertical pipewell became ignited and flames worked their way into the ceiling, necessitating opening of the floor above.

Men and equipment were called under mutual aid from St. Laurent to stand by at No. 1 Fire Station while the fire was in progress.

Count starts

Some 20 students yesterday commenced a census of the City of Westmount.

Unsparked

The battery was stolen from a motorcycle at 331 Clarke avenue, it was discovered Sunday night.

at 9:30 pm last Thursday from 250 Lansdowne avenue, the second early next morning from a parking lot just east of Harrison Bros. bakery on St. Catherine street west.

Later on Friday, investigation of a complaint of a car blocking the rear of 33 Holton avenue led to the discovery that the vehicle had been stolen earlier from Benny crescent.

Then on Sunday at 1:20 pm came word of a car theft from the Shell Service Station at 4200 de Maisonneuve boulevard west.

Last Wednesday a stolen car report proved to have been the result of the police towing away a car which had been involved in a minor hit-and-run accident on Victoria avenue.

Petty cash is burgled

There was a rash of break-and-entry cases, with only small amounts of cash taken in each instance, in Westmount early this week.

Sunday it was a home at 473 Victoria avenue, where a rear door was forced.

Monday morning it was found that several offices at 4695 Sherbrooke street west had been entered.

And Tuesday morning there was a similar run of complaints from dentists' offices at 4484 Sherbrooke, near Melville avenue. In this case there was no visible sign of how entry was gained.

NEXT WEEK'S WEATHER

By ERIC NEAL

May 8 to 16

Pleasant conditions will continue to Wednesday. Nights are clear and cold, killing frosts likely for low-lying districts and lower end of sloping gardens. Days are bright and quite warm.

This is another tornado year so we should allow for trouble from Wednesday to Saturday: squally windstorms, rain, hail and ice-storms, accompanied by thunder. Cloudbursts to flood streets and underpasses together with lightning and wind damage are not unusual.

Improving rapidly for a pleasant sunny weekend. Temperature range: 35-85

Expropriation settled

City council Monday evening agreed to a $88,000 settlement, plus interest, fees of $500 and judicial costs, for the expropriated site of the former 4228-30-32 St. Catherine street west, between Greene avenue and the end of Dorchester boulevard.

The area is intended for an eventual new headquarters of the RCMP in the Montreal area.

The expropriations were initiated by the city in 1966 and, in this instance, in the words of Ald. Charles Aspler, there was the "usual haggling back and forth."

The city's decision was taken on the strength of a report by the Warnock-Hersey firm.

The owner of the property was Mrs. Beryl M. Quigley.

Foreign aide

Mrs. Mae Dowling, 255 Kensington avenue, was secretary for a Scarborough Night bridge part at St. Ignatius Loyola Church parish hall last week, in aid of foreign missions.

Gets tough

It's getting tougher again for taxis to get Westmount permits.

The city has strengthened its procedures and inspection of vehicles has been taken up by the Police department. Unless strict standards are maintained on vehicles, taxi licenses are going to be hard to come by.

Exercise program

A minimal daily exercise programme for women should include exercises for the abdominal area (leg lifts or sit-ups) and a brisk, 15 minute walk, says the federal welfare department publication, "Get Fit....Keep Fit!" The benefits derived from these two exercises are not normally included in a woman's working day. Getting out of the house could be psychologically beneficial as well.

4424 Inc. to close for fix-up, paint-in

By RINA FRATICELLI

After several weeks of growing pains and chaos, 4424 Inc. is getting itself together. A variety of programs are being held on a regular basis and every week new additions are being added to the programs list.

We are still in desperate need of paints, desk, filing cabinets and various types of furniture and would appeal once more to the Westmount community for any of these items they might have to spare.

Here's what's happening:

Friday, May 8, evening: 4424 will be closed to the general public for a general clean-up, paint-in, fix-in session which will last a maximum of one week. During this time only previously scheduled programs will go on. In order that all cleaning, painting, decorating and repairs be completed as quickly as possible, only those people who are directly involved and committed to work will be permitted in the house. If you would like to help, sign up with Rena or Wayne before Friday afternoon.

Sunday Evening, May 10, 8 pm: Paul Bley, currently appearing at the Black Bottom, will be members of the board and programs committee will be in attendance to answer your questions, complaints, or comments. This is the time to express them. It is vital that every member of the community attend. Hope to see you there.

Friday, May 8 4:00: Jessica will talk about the California grape growers. Anyone interested in this very worthwhile cause is welcome.

Come out Sunday and support your centre and enjoy the sounds of Paul Bley.

New programmes

Guitar lessons: A course in guitar will begin next week. Anyone interested please see Rina as soon as possible. Enrolment is limited due to the nature of the course.

Graphics and Design: Working with shapes, materials of different textures. There's still time to get in on it. better hurry...

For all who still have a number of unanswered questions about what exactly 4424 Inc. is and does a community open forum has been planned at Victoria Hall for Thursday, May 21. All staff and where it goes

Funds raised in the UNICEF-NIGERIA national appeal will be used directly to supply aid to mothers and children in dire need in Nigeria.

While in most cases, adults will be able to walk back to their villages and resume normal life, the children, many of whom are separated from their parents or are orphans, have to be treated on the spot.

The most urgent need is for high protein food and medicines. Medical centres have to be set up and education restarted.

Ready-mix bid finally accepted

Dominion Building Materials (Montreal) Ltd., as low bidder of three firms whose tenders were opened April 16, finally was awarded the contract for 1970 ready-mixed concrete requirements of the City of Westmount by city council Monday night.

The city will be paying $13.88 per cubic yard for 3,000-pounds-per-square-inch concrete and $15.02 for 3,500-psi. Next lowest bidder was Lagace Construction Limited, at $14.21 and $16.69, and highest was Franco Limitee at $14.75 and $17.23.

Ald. Jean Richer moved the resolution, seconded by Ald. Ian Craig. Mayor Peter McEntyre declared his interest and refrained from any vote, being chairman of the board of a firm which has an interest in the successful bidder.

In response to a question from Ald. Craig, City Manager Norman Dawe said the estimated city requirements this year were about 1,500 cubic yards.

Which brought a jocular remark from Ald. Richer that "a cubic yard could be used in front of my house, in a big pothole!"

City backs lower fares for elderly

Half fares for certain senior citizens on city buses and the Metro are being recommended by the City of Westmount.

Monday night city council approved a motion by Ald. Charles Aspler that the city recommend to the Montreal Urban Community that Montreal Urban Community Transit Commission—formerly the Montreal Transportation Commission—fares be reduced for all residents in the area served by the commission, who are recipients of the federal guaranteed income supplement and those over 65 receiving Quebec public assistance.

In reply to a question by Ald. G. Ian Craig, Mayor Peter M. McEntyre explained that the reason the recommendation is to the MUC council rather than direct to the transportation commission is because the MUC council has just approved the budget of the commission and adoption of the recommendation might affect revenues.

Later, the mayor agreed that it was possible that such a move could have no financial effect and simply increase the volume of passengers for the same revenues.

Child, 4, hit

Four-year-old Susan Chadwick, 18 Ramezay road, suffered abrasions to the left side about 4:45 pm last Wednesday when she ran out into the street from in front of a car parked outside 58 St. Sulpice road and was struck by a 1969 Plymouth being driven east on St. Sulpice by Hector Rivard, 49, of 3760 Melrose avenue, N.D.G. She was taken to the Montreal Children's Hospital by a Westmount Police patrol car.

We Say

Taxicabs, drivers cleaner, sharper

If your local taxicab is looking cleaner and the driver neater and the service more courteous, you can thank the City of Westmount for getting more demanding this year in their inspections and other requirements before issuing new permits.

In the instance of some vehicles and drivers, the drive is long overdue.

Westmount, the city of affluence and appearance of well-being, has suffered some of the most deplorable local taxi service on the island.

There are signs that owners have been getting the message, with city hall's nudging. Some men could even be sporting uniforms soon!

The alternative to their paying some regard to their public relations is for the city to chuck its 172 permits and let outside cabs service our citizens.

What's here with churches joining?

What's with ecumenism in Westmount?

More particularly, what's being done looking to the creation of a new church of the United and Anglican communions?

In other communities, meaningful inter-communion services in which congregations of the two denominations have been coming to the same Lord's Table, have been held. We've heard of none here.

We are wondering if there will not have to be first more practical displays of concern and Christian co-operation among the three local Anglican churches, on the one hand, and the three United congregations, on the other.

There just may be a "silent majority" in each of these six churches hoping for a lead. They may be wondering if vestrymen, stewards or clergy here are giving thought to coming together. Christian separatism is out of date.

Appeal falls short; why not give again

The $3 million shortfall of the 1970 Federated Appeal is a shock.

What happens to the vital work of all those agencies if their budgets must be cut?

Now is the time for Westmounters, whose generosity is a mainstay of the annual appeal and whose means are relied upon, to check their 1970 giving: Have you done it? Have you given enough? Why not give again?

our M.P.Q. Kevin Drummond also says...

In this my first column as your Member of the National Assembly for the Constituency of Westmount, I would like to thank you all for your overwhelming support of the Liberal Party in the general election of April 29.

On a more personal basis, I would also reiterate a pledge made many times during the course of the campaign to work to the fullest extent of my capacity in the interests of my electors.

I decided to enter provincial politics principally because of the threat to Confederation. I do not believe that the various provinces could survive without the mutual support that they provide for each other.

I am convinced that Quebec is stronger, culturally and economically, within Confederation than without. The French language and culture is taking on a new importance throughout the country. This must be continued. An individual culture cannot be maintained at a certain level any more than an economy or business. It must expand or it will inevitably contract, and finally disappear.

For the French fact to withdraw behind the borders of Quebec would be the first step toward its disappearance, because of the overwhelming pressures of English-speaking North America.

The next government of Quebec will face more complex problems than any government in Canada, problems of cultural survival, economic development and employment.

Robert Bourassa has recognized that meeting these our M.P. Hon. C. M. Drury says...

Ottawa's role in housing

Westmounters' attention still will be focused on the results of the provincial elections and what they portend for the future of the province and perhaps Canada.

One matter that the new government will have to come face to face with is housing. This is not something peculiar to Quebec. It affects the whole country, at a time when so many forces and factors are contributing to aggravate the demand for housing that exists in Canada, particularly in respect of those earning less than $6,000 a year. In fact, the minister responsible for housing, Mr. Andras, recently put a stop to a number of contemplated urban renewal schemes because he had found that more houses were being destroyed than were being built for low-income groups, a situation which this government found intolerable.

There has been considerable discussion of late about a national or federal urban policy. While the government does not pretend to have elaborated anything so sophisticated or definitive, it has in recent years, and particularly in recent months, marshalled considerable resources in attempting to formulate a housing policy which can not only meet the exigencies of today, (or yesterday for that matter) but can take the initiative in providing the funds and expertise to satisfy our housing requirements of tomorrow.

Difficult

What has made our position difficult is the fact that the federal government has had only a reactive or semi-passive housing role for low-income groups until recently through the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation. To illustrate this, I need only mention that during the 20 years prior to 1969, 82,000 homes for low-income families were built in Canada through the CMHC loan budget. In 1969, in line with government policy, provision was made for 27,000 units of low-rental, low-income housing in that year, a number that has been increased to some 35,000 units in 1970.

The total allocation of capital funds for low-income housing in 1969 and 1970 at 62,000 units therefore represents 75 per cent of the previous 20 years' performance.

It is quite apparent from these figures that the federal government is taking a much more active role in the field of low-income housing. The government realizes also that certain criteria should be established to enable maximum use of limited funds to make housing more accessible to low income groups. As well, recent experiences with various forms of public housing show that substantial improvements could be made in the area of high-density accommodations, which often give rise to sociological and psychological problems.

In order to come to grips with some of these vital aspects of viable low-income housing projects, Mr. Andras recently announced several proposals, which to be implemented would require the approval of the various provinces but which approval, Mr. Andras believes would be largely forthcoming, following consultations.

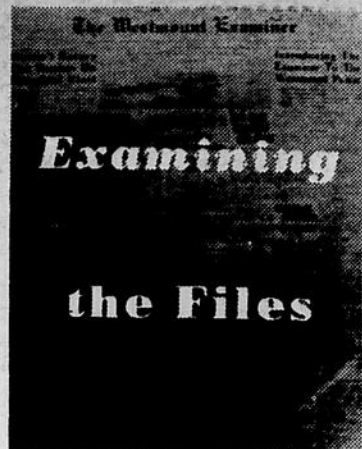

Rent structure

Rather than dwell on all of these proposals I should like to mention one or two. The government has found that the present rent structure is not of homes on the open market.

At present, public housing tenants other than welfare recipients pay a rent based on their income, up to 30 per cent of income. This 30 per cent rate was set at a time when families who had reached this level of income could reasonably be expected to fend for themselves on the open market. It was expected that, at this stage, they would move into other accommodation.

In the present housing market, however, many families—particularly those with a large number of children—have a great deal of difficulty in finding other accommodation. When they

Mischievous letter identity is refuted

Sir: I would like to draw your attention to a letter that was printed in your edition of the 23rd April 1970.

The letter concerned "Council spurns ban on trucks" and was signed by a C.T. Darwent of 3 Burton avenue. Obviously, the writer of the article was mistaken in the revelation of his identity since he is neither C.T. Darwent nor does he reside at 3 Burton avenue.

The shock of reading an article signed by myself was not relieved by the fact that I did not agree with the views of the writer, whoever he was.

I would suggest that if this sort of thing is a common occurrence that you ascertain the identities of thing is a common occurrence newspaper since it can cause considerable embarrassment to be wrongfully associated with an article that one did not even write.

Christopher P. Darwent
3 Burton avenue,
WESTMOUNT 215

(Editor's Note: Every reasonable precaution is taken to authenticate letters to the editor, primarily the insistence that they be signed (even if for good reason a nom-de-plume is used in print). Mr. Trevor Darwent is shown in both city and telephone directories as the resident of 3 Burton avenue and he has confirmed that the foregoing letter was written by his son. "C.T. Darwent" is unknown to him and he describes the user of that fictitious name and signature, quite rightly, as "cowardly." The Examiner regrets any inadvertent embarrassment to either Mr. Trevor or Mr. Christopher Darwent.)

reach the income level at which the 30-percent rate comes into effect, they are obliged to stay on in public housing even though they are paying what amounts to an uneconomic rent. The government proposes therefore that the portion of income requirement as rents from families in the higher income ranges would be reduced from 30 to 25 percent.

Another timely proposal deals with the method of adjusting rents as income changes. At the present time, tenants must notify the housing authority as soon as their income increases, and the rent is raised accordingly. The government believes that all tenants should be entitled to enjoy the security of a fixed rent over a reasonable period of time and is proposing to have tenants report their incomes at intervals of two years, at which time any increase in rent would be put into effect. On the other hand, a reduction in income can be reported at any time and the rent reduced an appropriate amount. Other noteworthy proposals include grants for public housing tenants associations; the publication of a revised manual for housing authorities, which will include a model base, and federally assisted social and recreational facilities.

Quality

Two important points that appear to be generally accepted among housing authorities is that while the quantity of public housing units is important, the quality of such projects and their surroundings is equally important, and that one type of accommodation is not necessarily suitable for all types of people. This unfortunately is an area which has received too little attention until recently for anyone, including the government, to conclude what is good and what is bad accommodation. What we can attempt is a reorientation of our objectives and move away from what has proved less successful to mostly untried and unproved areas which may prove more successful.

Aldermen, GM, mayor at MUC council

The last meeting of the council of the Montreal Urban Community, reported on Monday night by its local member, Mayor Peter M. McEntyre, was also attended by Westmount Aldermen G. Ian Craig and Douglas C. Robertson as well as General Manager Norman Dawe. The meeting was held in the City of Montreal council chamber on April 22.

Highlights of the short meeting of 14 minutes, were the passing of the budgets of the council itself and of the MUC Transportation Commission.

Mayor McEntyre Westmount council that Robert Hainealt, a former Montreal Transportation Commission member, was been appointed the suburban municipalities' representative on the MUCTC.

Before leaving the subject of the urban community, Mayor McEntyre referenced resolutions of the Town of Roxboro and Ville St. Pierre, urging rush-hour bans on heavy truck traffic on high-speed expressways. Westmount did not regard favorably a similar proposal from Kirkland a month ago.

Westmount's traffic committee has been looking at the question, said Mr. McEntyre, and there is a feeling that enforcement of the highway code provision requiring large trucks to keep to the righthand lanes would greatly aid the movement of other traffic.

Sincere Thanks . . .

. . . to you, my electors and supporters, for electing me as your member of the National Assembly for Westmount.

I shall do all in my power to deserve the encouragement and confidence which you have so overwhelmingly shown me.

Honors Sunday

The College of Steubenville is to award the degree of Doctor of Letters, Honoris Causa, to Rabbi Stern on Sunday, at Steubenville, Ohio. The college is under the direction of the Franciscan Order and is supported by the government of the United States. Very Rev. Kevin R. Keelan president, inviting Rabbi Stern to be the recipient of the degree and give the charge to the graduates.

He wrote: "The City of your youth is not unmindful of the substantial contribution you have made to the religious life and spiritual well-being of those placed in your care over many years of ecumenism. Your record in this regard is admirable and among other reasons this institution would like to honor you for your heroic efforts."

Robert J. McCleave, QC, MP, of Halifax, speaks on Sunday morning, May 17, at 9:45 am, at 15 confirmed at Dominion-D.

Sunday morning, 15 young people will be confirmed in Dominion-Douglas United Church.

These young people have been part of a communicants' class which has met throughout the year under the leadership of Dr. Parker Chesney and the ministers of the church.

Christian Family Sunday will be observed. The Sacrament of Baptism will be administered.

Dr. Douglas Smith's sermon will be on "That we may grow." Following the worship, a buffet luncheon will be given by the UCW in honor of the young people and their parents. Bibles and certificates will be presented.

the closing Brotherhood breakfast meeting on "Songs from Parliament Hill." At this meeting the Brotherhood will elect officers and board members for the ensuing year. Ladies are invited as guests. Convenors are Seymour Isissenman and David Berstein.

There was a large attendance at the closing meeting of Book Lovers' Forum, marking the end of the 25th season April 29 when Dr Stern reviewed "My Life with Martin Luther King Jr." by Coretta Scott King. Mrs. Stern presided and co-chairman of the day was Dr Kathleen Jenkins, former chief librarian of the Westmount Library.

Long Span

In her remarks, Dr Jenkins said: "I want first of all to express, in the name of all here, the appreciation which we all feel for the many hours of profitable pleasure which we have derived from the Book Lovers' Forum. Twenty-five years is an exceptionally long span of life for an organization of this kind to grow and flourish. Its continued health reflects the sound foundation laid down by Dr Stern and its co-founder, Mrs. Stern, assisted by successive generations of hard-working committees drawn from the women of the Temple."

Adam, fallen man Scientist topic

Differences between spiritual and material interpretations of creation in the Bible are brought out in the lesson-sermon on "Adam and Fallen Man" to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday. An explanation of conflicting accounts in the first and second chapters of Genesis will be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

One citation states: Spiritually followed, the book of Genesis is the history of the untrue image of God, named a sinful mortal. This deflection of being, rightly viewed, serves to suggest the proper reflection of God and the spiritual actuality of man, as given in the first chapter of Genesis."

Liberation of concentration camps marked

Twenty-five years have gone by since victorious allied armies crushed the stranglehold of Nazi tyranny and liberated those incarcerated in concentration camps, revealing to the world the horrendous facts of the Jewish tragedy, Monroe Abby, QC, 519 Clarke avenue, president, Canadian Jewish Congress, declared in a statement marking the 25th anniversary of the liberation of concentration camps.

"The six million Jews who perished in the holocaust were drawn from every corner of Europe," Mr. Abbey said. "Jews were rounded up in their family groups — old and young, men, women and children — and individually, they were tracked down and deported to the death camps and systematically slaughtered by the most infernal apparatus ever known to man. Death pursued them on every side."

"Although it is more than 25 years since the concentration camps were opened, the survivors cannot forget their agonizing experiences and the fact that they stood alone at a time when the free world was unable to give little effective support," Mr. Abbey continued.

"The Canadian Jewish community has been immeasurably enriched by the many survivors of Nazi oppression who came here to rebuild their lives. Through their associations, and individually, they have brought new dimensions to community life and make significant contributions in all areas of Jewish concern. Their vitality and deep-felt attachment to Jewish ideals is an inspiration to us all."

"The Jewish community is regrettably cognizant of the fact that the 25th anniversary of the liberation takes place at a time when there is still existing neo-Nazi and anti-Semitic movements in some parts of the world," Mr. Abbey declared.

"The Jewish tragedy is part of our daily consciousness; we cannot forget and the Canadian Jewish Congress dedicates itself anew to combatting evil forces of racism wherever they may appear and, at the same time, pays homage to the countless innocent victims of the holocaust," Mr. Abbey concluded.

Dawson festival 'Circus One' is great success

"Circus One," Dawson College's last and biggest happening of the year, took place last weekend.

Billed as an "Art-science environment Feast," it culminated the college term and served as a break before exams. Centered around music, which played continuously, it was considered a success, even with the unfavorable weather which necessitated a move for most of the bands into the college building, from the planned outdoor concert.

Drama, both live and on film, occurred simultaneously with an art show by students and independent artists.

Debates and exhibits on contemporary issues such as Arctic and environmental problems shared time slots with displays of the backgrounds of the many different types of people who make up the college.

The amount of time and effort

In Germany during the 12th and 13th centuries a new kind of lyric poetry was created that was composed and sung by men known as Minnesingers. What they wrote became known as Minnesongs, poems rendered from a knight to his mistress within the tradition of courtly love.

Most of the Minnesongs that are known to us today come from the 14th century Great Heidelberg (Manesse) manuscript. The Manesse family lived at the court of Rudiger II in Zurich where the Minnesingers were esteemed and patronized. It was here that the Manese had their songs collected in a beautiful manuscript decorated with 138 full-page miniature paintings, measuring 7 x 10 inches. The manuscript dates from 1330.

The 13 stamps (S.G. 407-411; 415-418; 428-431) in the Minnesingers series from Liechtenstein issued 1961-1963 depict paintings from the Manessian Manuscript of Song. Now for some good news. In response to the many requests from collectors, the government of Liechtenstein has announced August 27 as the date of issue for a souvenir sheet consisting of four Minnesinger stamps to mark the 800th anniversary of the Minnesinger Wolfram von Eschenbach. The sheet comprising one stamp each of 30, 50, 80 and 120 Rappen will sell for Fr. 3.-

Once again seven-color photogravure will be used for the printing process by Courvoisier. Now for the sad part. This special issue will definitely close this very popular Minnesinger series.

If collectors are still wondering what ever became of the set of three from the Netherland Antilles to proclaim the freedom of worship that prevails on the islands, originally scheduled for release April 16, 1969, they were unavoidably delayed for reasons beyond the control of the Postal Administration. It is now official that they will be released on May 12. Each will depict famous, centuries-old places of religious worship established in Curacao and which still serve their congregation, and visitors.

The stamps depict: 10c - main altar of St. Anna, first official church of the Roman Catholic Mission in the Dutch era (1751); 20c - Mikve Israel Emmanuel Synagogue (Hope of Israel), oldest place of Hebrew worship in the Western Hemisphere (1634). It has been designated by the Government as a "Treasured Historic Monument"; 25c - intended for air-mail service, depicts the pulpit of the Protestant Church. After the capture of the Island from the Spaniards, in 1634, Dutch settlers erected within the walls of the fortress the first Protestant Church. The three stamps have been printed in natural colour by rotogravure on coated white paper without watermark.

Norfolk Island. The first four values (3, 4, 9 and 45c) of a definitive series were issued February 25th. The 1, 7, 10 and 25c will be issued on July 22nd; the 2, 5, 15 and 50c on Feb. 24, 1971 and the 20c, 30c and $1 on June 16, 1971. The new series picture birds of Norfolk Island and will replace the current definitive issue which features ships associated with the history of the Island. The stamps are being printed by Harrison and Sons, Ltd. of London.

Amphetamines described

Amphetamines (also called pep-pills, bennies, speed, meth, dioxies, wakeups and jolly beans) are stimulants used for various medical purposes. Because their main effect is stimulation of the central nervous system, they are used medically to counteract such things as psychological depression and excessive drowsiness cause by sedation.

However, they can have serious consequences when misused or abused, and for this reason are legally available to the public only by prescription. Students preparing for exams or vehicle drivers making long trips, who sometimes take amphetamines to increase alertness and lessen fatigue, may experience a state of wakefulness accompanied by increased activity, but they may suffer also loss of judgement or intellectual accuracy which could result in a serious accident or error in performance.

Some persons who take amphetamines obtained by prescription also misuse them by taking them when they are no longer medically useful and develop a psychic dependence on them. When taken in normal doses, tolerance develops slowly, but when progressively larger doses are taken, tolerance builds up quickly to a point where a dose hundreds of times the normal dose may be used.

The most recent pattern of abuse is the self-administering of illicitly-obtained drugs in ever-increasing doses for purpose of getting "kicks" or for an "experience".

The excessive use and abuse of amphetamines can lead to amphetamine toxicity, the symptoms varying, with the individual and the dose, says the Food and Drug Directorate of the Health and Welfare. Mild symptoms include insomnia, tremors, talkativeness, irritability, lack of appetite and hyperactive reflexes; moderate symptoms include dilierium, hallucinations, panic states (with feelings of persecution and suspicion) profuse sweating and muscle and joint pain. Severe symptoms may range from coma and convulsion through circulatory collapse to death.

Some reports indicate loss of memory and diminished ability to concentrate. Marked weight loss, abscesses and non-healing ulcers frequently occur in chronic users, probably due to loss of appetite and malnourishment. Pneumonia and jaundice are frequent complications.

Psychotic feelings usually disappear a few days after the drug is discontinued, but intensive psychiatric treatment and hospitalization may be necessary.

Although initially amphetamines may act as a sex stimulant, continued abuse ultimately leads to a state of sexual impotence.

WHS French needs are being reassessed by committee

Stenuous efforts are being made at Westmount High School to adapt courses and methods of teaching French to the needs of students, Principal H. Noel Hamilton reports.

At a recent meeting of the school committee, the specialists were on hand to tell members of new aspects of teaching French in the high school. Dr. Helene Saly, head of the French department, spoke of the work of her staff in a general way while Mrs. Pierrette McConomy described the work in the junior grades and Armand Tobaly emphasized the senior work.

There have been several liaison meetings with the principals and French specialists of Roslyn and Westmount Park elementary schools this spring. French consultants of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal have also been present.

As a result, the French program in Grade 7 for 1969-70 was modified greatly. Instead of one course for all students, four courses have been given.

Voix et Images de France, an audio-visual approach, has been given to students who were excellent in French and who followed Bonjour Line, a preparatory course in Grade VI.

A second course for other outstanding students, Cours Elementaire, was organized for students with intensive French preparation in elementary school. Two courses that use Francais Vivant were developed for the remaining students.

In addition, special features of the daily timetable were incorporated so that flexibility in moving individual students from one class to another was possible. Students would be moved as their progress warranted. Since the emphasis in elementary school is primarily an oral French, great care and effort have been used in the approach to written French — reading, writing and French grammar.

Outsiders aided

Some students who have come from areas outside Quebec have very little French. The Home and School Association, through the efforts of President Sol Cukierman, obtained two parents, Mrs. Ethel Sarwer-Foner and Mrs. Helen Kahn, to hold after school classes twice a week to aid these students. In addition, Mrs. Sarwer-Foner holds other classes for students with pronounced weaknesses.

In French classes in the higher grades, the teachers have introduced new materials and topical material from a variety of books, newspapers and magazines. The French laboratory, which is in constant use, has two teachers - the class teacher and Mrs. Lisette Lichtarge, teacher assistant. Use of tapes in the laboratory, tape recorders, record players and overhead projectors increase the variety of techniques.

Two methods are stressed: the audio-visual and the structural. In the structural approach to French, very little use is made of the English language. As far as possible, translation from English to French, or French to English is avoided.

In Grade Ten a number of students have such proficiency in French that Mr. Tobaly has organized a class which he meets every morning at eight o'clock, in order to prepare them for the Grade Eleven provincial examination. The school hopes that these students will be encouraged to take an enrichment course next year, rather than the regular course.

More books sought

Dr. Saly is examining a large number of books so that the French section of the library can be increased introducing more books written by Quebec authors into the classroom. The school hopes that even more emphasis will be placed on French Canadian writers.

To the present, students receive one full course in French. With the new two-day cycle commencing this September, students will receive one and a half courses in French. In addition, the school will offer, as electives, extra half courses: Paris Maintenant, French Canadian history, French heritage and business French. Some of the extra courses will be enrichment, others remedial.

The school expects all students will achieve a working knowledge of French, and that many students will achieve a working knowledge of French,

The school expects all students will achieve a working knowledge of French and that many students will receive sufficient background to attend French universities if they so desire.

Liaison meetings with Roslyn School and Westmount Park School are continuing this year so that the transition from elementary school to high school will be made smoothly and in the best way to meet the needs of the students who are entering Grade Seven.

The WHS school committee is comprised of Dr. Ian Campbell, Mrs. J.R.D. Cox, Dr. Stanley G. French, Mrs. Carol Kahn, Rev. Leonard Mason, Frederick L. Solomon, W.M. Williams, Miss Dorothy E. King and Mr. Hamilton.

Graduation '70

Although there was some difficulty in attaining sufficient response, the graduation nevertheless will happen this Friday.

This year, unlike last year, guests from outside will attend the dinner at the Windsor Hotel; the dance follows featuring "Elmonto." The Theatre Party will be a showing of "If."

More dancing, in the early hours of the morning, will be at "Alfie's," a discotheque in Old Montreal. Private breakfast will suffice those growling tummies and Graduation '70 will be over for another year.

Students' Council

Constitutionally, this will serve as election week for next year's Student's Council. The candidates are:

President: Michael Millman, Neil Poch, David Edgell and Tom David.

First vice-president: John Willis, Bruce Emo and Stephen McGurk.

Treasurer: Bob Levy, Norman Perry and Claudia Hannon.

Assistant first vice-president: Nancy Volesky and Bill Meldrum.

Second vice-president: Bill Vasilion, Mark Ellwood, David Freedman and Mitchell Wigdor.

Assistant second vice-president: Tommy Shapiro, Kathy Levy, Jane Schneider and Tim Hyde.

Prefect Nominations

This week nominations are being held for prefects to serve on next year's Prefect Board. The Prefects were re-extended to 40, following an interval of time when they had been reduced to 20.

Whither classic concerts?

Janos Starker, an eminent, scholarly violincellist who is widely known in classical music circles, was this year's selection for the annual concert of the Jewish People's Schools. Pianist Gyorgy Sebok was his fine partner.

The program, which lists the artist's pieces in the centre, is immense — a massive book. People like to see their names in print and there are hundreds yes hundreds of donors, workers and name advertisements in this huge book.

I may voice my personal opinion, I think the committee made a wrong choice in selecting Starker.

This Hungarian-born cellist did not make a hit with the public who heard him earlier this season. I knew what to expect but the audience last Saturday night in Salle Wilfrid Pelletier in Place des Arts applauded for several reasons.

First, he is a fine artist although many present rarely go to concerts, and they would clap for a worthy cause. This was the first in 13 consecutive seasons (of which I heard 12 and reviewed several) that there were many empty seats visible. Why? Maybe some were sold and they did not go because the artist did not appeal. Then again, maybe not. Nevertheless it was a surprise.

Simply not true

It is really amazing to read statements that do not coincide with facts. Janos Starker, who teaches in the Music School in Indiana - rated a top in with New York's Juilliard, Philadelphia's Curtis Institute and Rochester's Eastman School of Music, stated that in Indiana they have very many graduates every year — professionals. Real boasting.

Well, if that is the case, why are all symphony orchestras lacking

Kirker heard

Rotary Club of Montreal's speaker Tuesday at the Queen Elizabeth Hotel was Rev. E. Allister Kirker, BA, BD, minister of St. Andrew's United Church, Westmount. "You'd better believe it" was his topic, dealing with faith. A film on sail-planing, in which he is an active participant, was used to drive home his point. The head table included a number of Westmount clergy and lay people of St. Andrew's.

Fund drumming

A drumhead service in Dominion square features the annual appeal week of the Navy League of Canada, which has just moved its headquarters from Metcalfe avenue to 4920 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, Westmount. The service begins at 1:30 pm.

Blood-letting

A Red Cross blood donor clinic takes place at the Readers Digest cafeteria 215 Redfern avenue, next Wednesday, 9 am to noon and 1:30 to 4:30 pm.

players — especially string players?

Throughout the continent, leading orchestras are searching for members. If you doubt these lines just look at any program of the past season of our own Montreal Symphony Orchestra.

The first violins, the second violins, the violas, violincellos, double bass, oboe, clarinette; all have "poste vacant" in their midst. How does that strike you?

Kiss - kiss

Each year that the JPS have their presentation of a special award, it involves three people. The one who makes the speech — Mrs. Charles Balinsky (founder-president); the one who presents it, Gratien Gelinas (award winner, 1969) and this year's recipient, Mme. Ludmilla Chiriaeff.

It is a splendid gesture and naturally there is "buzz-buzz" (comment) also lots of amusement over the "kiss-kiss." Why the cheek-cheek between the three? Each kisses the two others on both cheeks: that makes 12 kisses on stage!

And a lot of "haw-haw" from many viewers.

HEADS DOUGLAS: John E. Birks was elected president and chairman of the board of management at the 83rd annual meeting of Douglas Hospital held last Thursday in Douglas Hall. Mr. Birks, who is alderman, was previously vice-president of the hospital's board, to which he was first elected in 1966. He retired in 1968 as vice-president and director of Cockfield Brown & Co. Ltd., after more than 30 years with the firm and has since devoted much of his time to voluntary service. He is also a governor of the Montreal General Hospital, was previously on the board of the Montreal Children's Hospital, a governor of the Study Corporation, and of Lower Canada College. Born in Montreal, Mr. Birks was educated at Lower Canada College, Upper Canada College and is a graduate of the Royal Military College.

Chess tournament under way

By ROGER FORTIN

A chess tournament is under way this week, organized by Penny Winship and Bob Engel, both students at the McGill School of Social Work. For many of us this is a new experience to learn this fascinating game.

Last week coaches Richard Deneault and Frank Valdes led our junior floor hockey team to victory over St. Pats'. The score was 12 - 6.

Match folders are the new rage around the games rooms. Many of the boys have already built up some fascinating collections.

Birthdays were celebrated last week by Mrs. Boucher, the assistant nurse, and Ross Ingram. Mrs. Boucher joined our staff only a few months ago with a very minimum knowledge of English. It is the same old story; instead of all of us becoming proficient in the French language the staff and boys have taught Mrs. Boucher to speak English. The baseball season has begun and inter-house games will be commencing any day. Play time now is from six to seven in the evenings, so we will be taking full advantage of the longer daylight hours.

Special greetings to Bobby Tufts, a patient in the Montreal Children's Hospital.

Had drugs

A Hudson Heights juvenile, involved in a minor driving accident here on a recent afternoon, had a discrepancy in his car registration. While being checked out, some wine and narcotics were found in his possession. The boy was turned over to his father by Westmount Police.

STUDY FRENCH WITH YOUR HUSBAND ON VACATION

Recently we offered a four-week intensive course in French given in a beautiful Swiss setting on the shores of Lake Geneva.

This offer was made principally to business executives, but a number of applicants have asked whether we could accept their wives as well in this combined European study course and vacation.

The answer is "Yes, by all means." When couples study a language together, they usually make better progress than when they study it alone.

The four-week course is open for two periods: July and August. Only a limited number of applicants may be accepted.

Sports schedule opens at Unity

Coming up on Saturdays at 2 pm, will be the Old Wierd Harold vs. Jr. Barnes football games. These games shall be held outside on the Westmount Athletic Grounds.

On Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7:30 pm, a mixed group of youngsters ages 10 and up will be participating in a health jog on the track at Westmount Athletic Grounds.

For all those interested, there will be a spring baseball warmup period on Wednesdays at 6:30 pm. All kids 8 years and on are welcome to attend, but see Wally Szikita first.

The girls are not left out of the sports scene, for we are entering a girls' baseball team ages 13 to 17 years in a league organized by Sun Youth.

For all boys interested in science, there is a science club opened at Unity for boys 10 and over, meeting every Saturday at 2 pm.

Rugger Club in excellent season start

Following one of the most successful Easter excursions in recent years, Westmount Rugger

Club has had an excellent start to the season.

Setting foot outside a gymnasium for the first time this year, the club played four games in Boston at Easter. These were against clubs who had the advantages of several games under their belts before meeting Westmount. In spite of this, the result of each game was in doubt right up to the final whistle, with Westmount proving that it had lost none of its scoring ability over the winter. However, the more recent game experience of the opposition finally prevented Westmount from winning any of those games.

Since Easter the club has taken two teams to Burlington for games against the University of Vermont, and subsequently hosted two teams in the return. Of the four Westmount against Vermont games, Westmount won all except a narrow defeat for the second team at Burlington.

Last Saturday saw seven Westmount players out of town representing Montreal Selects and Montreal Canadians in two inter-city games against Ottawa. Both the Montreal representatives sides won, the Canadians being aided by a touchdown by Jay Garland of Westmount.

At the same time, a Westmount club side was at MacDonald college, handing the college a 17-10 defeat.

The results of these exhibition games augur well for Westmount in the Quebec Rugby Union League which commences on May 23.

Bowlers meet

The semi-annual meeting of the ladies' branch of the Westmount Lawn Bowling Club Inc. takes place Tuesday at 2:30 pm in St. Matthias parish hall.

Tennis course is set

Boys and girls from 10 to 16 years of age who are residents of Westmount may register for special tennis instructions.

This instruction will take place on the junior tennis courts starting on Thursday, July 2, between 10 am to noon and subsequent Tuesdays and Thursdays through to August 27. The group will be limited to 60.

Interested youngsters should register at the artificial rink by Friday, June 19. The fee will be $3.

Each player must have his/her own racket and three well marked tennis balls.

Salvation Army campaign opens

The Salvation Army has launched its Annual Red Shield Appeal for funds, with an objective of $400,000 to support its 30 centres of service in the Greater Montreal area. These provide aid to thousands of needy people, regardless of race, color or creed.

The Salvation Army had been described as a religious force with an acute social conscience. The religious conviction and dedication of its workers explain the service which it renders in the local and national community and many other lands.

In Montreal the army provides moral, spiritual and physical aid to men, women and children as individuals and as families. It extends the hand of hope in problems of daily living and in disaster. Its program is by belief in the value and dignity of the human being. It complements the work of government and other community social agencies.

For every dollar subscribed to the Red Shield, five additional dollars are earned within the army, regarded as an outstanding investment and opportunity to have the benefits of giving multiplied.

Donations may be sent to The Salvation Army Campaign Headquarters, 1255 University street, Montreal 110.

For easy eating

To facilitate eating for the older person, semi-solid foods can be used and the fibre of fruits and vegetables softened by cooking. Solid foods, such as meats, may be chopped, if necessary, says the federal health department publication, "Healthful Eating".

When chewing is difficult through loss of teeth, food must be adapted to meet this condition. The older person should eat basically the same foods as he ate when younger, but it is the form in which the food is served that must be adapted to his particular needs.

On Lake Champlain is Almost Your Own Front Yard

You've probably seen our historic, red Inn just across the border on U.S. 7 (56 miles south of Montreal) but did you realize it is a part of a 165-acre estate with mile of private shore and 27 lakeshore cottages... and one of the most famous and friendly resorts for families in New England?

One rate includes everything from sailing, waterskiing, riding, tennis, large pool to all meals (or dinners only) AND complete, separate programs and dining for Teens to the Very Young. (We also have a special June package-plan for those like yourselves who live nearby.) Write or call for our Color Brochure. Tel. (802) 868-3301.

Snatch foiled youth caught not turned in

A 69-year-old woman thwarted a 15- or 16-year-old boy in an attempted purse snatching near her home on Lansdowne near Sherbrooke last Wednesday night.

A man who heard her cry out grabbed the youth, who he brought to the woman's home.

The woman refused to prosecute.

The boy was released. The man departed.

The incident was not reported to the Westmount Police until the following night.

By which time a hot trail was considerably cooled. Not only did the law not get the boy; they haven't even got the identity of the alert citizen who caught the lad.

In another purse incident, a woman had hers stolen in the Alexis Nihon Plaza Steinberg's on Friday evening. It was found in Cabot square the following night, minus a small amount of cash.

Loud 'circus'

Dawson College's "Circus" review attracted some unwanted attention last Friday night, when Westmount Police had to ask the producers to turn down their outside loudspeakers after complaints came in from a wide area of lower Westmount and St. Henry.

De-escaped

A 15-year-old escapee from the boys' farm at Shawbridge was apprehended loitering behind 1215 Greene avenue at 11:23 pm Friday. He was in possession of a bicycle stolen from 335 Clarke avenue.

$250 loss

An alleged theft of $250 in cash was reported from an apartment at 4378 de Maisonneuve boulevard west Saturday evening.

Wine again subject of Rotary meeting

Wine, the object of the first miracle the Lord performed during his earthly ministry, was the subject of a talk given yesterday to Westmount Rotarians by Henry J. Moore, columnist and connoisseur of qualities of the juice of grape.

According to the speaker, if one is to appreciate the qualities of good wine, one must drink it and in his opinion young people should be encouraged to learn how to drink wine as it was a matter of common sense.

Mr. Moore reviewed the history of wine and the important part it has played in the history of the world throughout the ages ever since the days of the Romans. South African and Bulgarian Cabernet wines were prominent in quality on his list of wines which should be taken with good food, good friends or any other occasion or reason.

Over the years the English found French wines were palatable and it was the late Louis Pasteur who discovered that it was microbes that created a by-product of good wine. It was through the dedication of the French people in the growing of good grapes that preserved the qualities of wines and the sealing qualities of cork that continued the process.

Past president D.C. McLuskie occupied the chair and called upon Bob Robson to introduce Tedd McDermott, a new member. Bill Decelles tendered a vote of thanks to the speaker. Cy Dendy was congratulated on his return from a southern sojourn. George Trimm received plaudits for his newly installed identification button rack.

Members were reminded to keep June 3 open for the annual golf tournament at Whitlock. There will be no luncheon speaker that day.

Lou Steinberg reminded members that the auto now up for raffle will be on display in three local shopping centres. Lapel carnations were given Roy McKelvie, Norm Dobson and George Trim in observance of their respective birthdays.

La Renaissance has renaissance

La Renaissance marked the presentation of a new format at Westmount Square Tuesday evening with a reception for media and other guests at the restaurant. A new menu and other services are being offered.

Free concert

"May Melodies," a free performance of music for strings and orchestra, is to be given by 125 players of Westmount High, Westmount Park and Roslyn schools in the WHS gymnasium Tuesday evening at 8:15. The choir of the Church of St. James the Apostle also is on the program.

Zone change

Ald. Charles Aspler gave notice of motion Monday night of a by-law to amend the zoning by-law regarding the Wonder Bakery site on Prince Albert avenue. No intimation was given of the intended use of the property.

Awards: 25th

Annual sports award night for the Westmount recreation department is slated for Victoria Hall Monday, May 25, at 6 pm, in the banquet hall.

'Twin's' mayor is congratulated on MPQ election

Under "new business," Mayor Peter McEntyre noted in city council Monday night that Mayor Maurice Tessier of Westmount's "twin city, Rimouski, had been elected to the national assembly of Quebec last week.

(Mr. Tessier, the Liberal incumbent for the Lower St. Lawrence constituency of Rimouski, was re-elected by a comfortable 1,500-vote margin over his nearest opponent, a Parti Quebecois candidate, though by some 7,000 votes less than the combined ballots cast for his three opponents.)

Mayor Tessier has been mentioned for the post of minister of municipal affairs, Mr. McEntyre noted. It was agreed that a letter of congratulations from Westmount would be appropriate. (Some alderman banged table.)

In ensemble

Peter Kivestu, 17, a student at Selwyn House School, is a member of the Estonian Folk Ensemble which is presenting a concert Saturday, May 16, in the Clarke Theatre at Sir George Williams University. Proceeds are going toward financing a European tour by the youthful group.

By-law there

The only correspondence brought before city council Monday night by City Clerk R.B. Seaman was an acknowledgement from the minister of municipal affairs of a copy of the city's recent by-law imposing business tax and licence fees on gardening and snow-removal contractors operating here but without premises in Westmount.

Candy lifted

Five boxes of candy were reported last Wednesday evening stolen from Des Jardins Vert in Alexis Nihon Plaza. Westmount handed the case, involving a value of $16,90, to Montreal Police in whose jurisdiction the shop lies.

Unbrooched

A Westmount woman has reported the loss of a platinum and gold brooch, containing sapphires and diamonds. Its possible finding or any information concerning it should be reported to the Westmount Police.

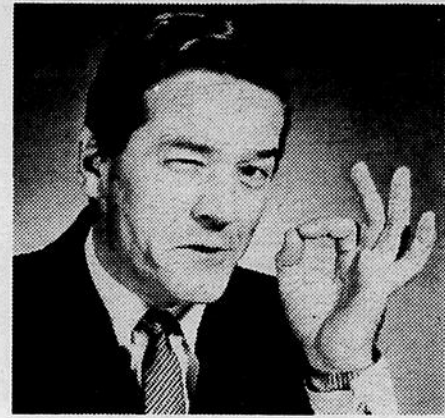

Little hope seen in 'dirt storms' on St. Antoine

Fred Leclaire, a regular attendee of city council meetings from St. Antoine street, Monday night following adjournment asked mayor and aldermen what might be done about the dirt storms "not just dust storms" plaguing his area from the wide expanse of open ground of the Trans-Canada Highway site.

Council, City Manager Norman Dawe and City Attorney Arthur Weldon could offer little cheer: the province is broke, the highways department would like Westmount to take the responsibility, and city by-laws don't apply to Quebec authorities.

However, the mayor said "pressure will be applied to the province."
