IRISH SITUATION IN HAND NOW

TWO NEW AGREEMENTS WITH U. S. COMPANY ARE NOW BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Amended Contracts, Between American Ammunition Company and the New Imperial Munitions Board, Give New Order for 600,000 Time Fuses at $4.30 Each

Special to The Montreal Star from Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28.—The new agreement with the American Ammunition Company, both of them dated April 6, came to light at the Royal Commission's fuse inquiry this afternoon. The amended contracts are with the American Ammunition Company on one part, and the Imperial Munitions Board, successor to the Shell Committee, on the other. The company gets a new order for 600,000 time fuses at $4.30 each, while by reason of being greatly in arrears in deliveries on the old contract the price under it for certain fuses is reduced from $3.72 to $2.34 per fuse.

The original price was $4, but this was brought down to $3.72 by an arrangement entirely, whereby the company was relieved of supply of detonators. The reduction to $2.34 is therefore the second to be made.

On April 1 the company was 1,858,000 fuses behind in deliveries. In other words, because of having fallen down in deliveries the company on the one hand gets a lower price on its old contract but on the other secures a new contract for 600,000 at a higher rate than previously.

STRIKES DELAYED FUSE-MAKING

On resuming after lunch, Mr Hellmuth produced a letter dated November 17, 1915, from Dr. Harris, president of the International Arms and Fuse Company, to the Shell Committee. The letter began:

"In accordance with my verbal understanding had with you when I was in Ottawa on November 10, and asked for an extension of two months in deliveries from November 19, 1915.

The plea put forward by Dr. Harris was delay in obtaining guages, owing to a strike at the Keystone Watch Case Company, the Taft Pierce Company and Messrs. Brown and Sharp. Difficulties owing to change in design in the fuse were also put forward.

Mr. Hellmuth—Dr. Harris refers to a verbal understanding he had with you on November 10. Can you tell me if you have any notes of that understanding or have any recollection of it?—No, Col. Carnegie replied.

You have no recollection?—No recollection.

Of meeting him at all? — I may have met him, doubtless I did, but I have no recollection of it.

Let me ask you this. Was this letter asking for an extension of time any surprise to you?—None whatever.

Why wasn't it?—Because there had been several conferences regarding the changes suggested by the War Office in the design of the fuse placed with them. The letter, I think is characteristic of the subject that was pressing upon us, the subject of why they were behind in the progress which we expected they should have made towards the completion of the fuses. Therefore, Dr. Harris, prior to the writing of this letter had discussed this matter with me and now he puts into writing just what had taken place and shows the reasons why a demand for a two months' extension should be made.

What was your attitude in regard to that demand?—I expressed it in a letter on November 20.

Mr. Hellmuth read Col. Carnegie's letter to company, in which he said: "We cannot allow the extension of time asked for, as we do not consider the details call for it."

The writer went on to call the request "unreasonable" and said he could not express too strongly what a delay of two months would mean to the War Office. There had been delays at the start, and it would be a great disappointment to the War Office if the promises given by the company were not carried out.

DELAY DISCUSSED WITH IN SPECTOR.

On November 23, the International Company again wrote that they had been in communication with the companies making the gauges and had been told that the delay was due to the strike. "They said if we could call it off, it was more than they could. Our assembling and loading plant, with three thousand men, had been ready for a month. Our contract calls for gauges on September 15. This is the 23rd of November, and we have not yet got a complete set."

The letter wound up with an expression of the company's willingnessness at all times to co-operate in quick production and delivery.

Col. Carnegie wrote the company on November 26 thanking them for their assurance that they were endeavoring to deliver at the earliest possible moment, but expressing surprise why, if they could not get the gauges made on time, they didn't get them made somewhere else, "especially when you were aware of the urgent need of fuses." The progress of the work was to be discussed with Mr. Brown when he arrived in Ottawa.

Who is he?—Our inspector.

Where was he inspector?—In the United States. He is the civil assistant to the chief inspector of Woolwich in Canada. He is an engineer.

Is his work entirely in the United States and Canada?—Yes. He came out from England.

He was chief inspector of your committee for fuses?—Yes.

For anyone else?—No.

Col. Carnegie stated that Mr. Brown was sent out by the War Office as inspector of fuses for the Shell Committee and was paid by the War Office.

He is still inspector for the Imperial Munitions Board, and now paid under our administration, said witness.

It wasn't previously charged up against your contracts?—No.

Mr. Brown's work was confined to inspecting fuses only ordered by the Shell Committee here, the witness declared.

Had Mr. Brown been inspecting in New York, the progress of the International Company in fuses?

Witness said this was so, and a verbal report had been made.

What was the report?—I can't tell exactly. It was a general report of progress and standing.

Then Mr. Hellmuth produced the minutes of the Shell Committee, of November 29.

"The dying confession," said he, "of the committee before it went out of existence."

Col. H. M. Elliott was at this meeting and counsel wanted to know who he was. He was told he was the Master-General of the Ordnance department and took Gen. Benson's place in the Canadian service.

The resolution turning over all powers and monies in the hands of the Shell Committee to the British Government or parties appointed by them was read, also that the resignations of the committee were handed to the Minister of Militia and Defence.

This was done, it was stated in the resolution, "in view of the desire of the British and Canadian Governments to reorganize the purchasing agents for British munitions of war."

You were present at that meeting?—Yes.

How soon after that did you send in your resignation as a member of the Committee?—I have not sent it in yet.

STILL MEMBER OF DEAD BODY?

You were first appointed ordnance officer?—Yes.

And at a considerably later date you were appointed a member of the committee?—Yes.

And you never resigned formally? No, not formally.

But you were immediately thereafter appointed a member of the Imperial Munitions board (The Successor to the Shell Committee)?—Yes.

Sir William Meredith—How can you still be a member of a dead body?—The Shell Committe is no longer in existence.

It was an ommission on my part not to have resigned formally, the witness replied smiling.

Mr. Hellmuth—You get your present remuneration, do you not, as a member of the Imperial Munitions board?—Yes, as Ardnance adviser.

Have you at the present time any connection with the war office in any other capacity?—None whatever.

It is entirely with the Imperial munitions?—Entirely.

Are you aware, by reason of the fact of your connection with the Imperial Munitions Board of what has been done since with reference to those contracts with the International and the American companies?—Oh, yes.

Then Mr. Hellmuth read to the commission a contract which evidently enhanced especial interest. This was a contract given as recently as the sixth of the present month (April 6, 1916), by the Imperial Munitions Board to the American Ammunition Company.

OUTSIDE PRIOR CONTRACT.

The contract called for 600,000 No. 80 mark 70 loaded time and percussion fuses at $4.30 per fuse. Deliveries were to be at least 50,000 during the month beginning June 15, 100,000 during the month beginning July 15, and 150,000 per month thereafter.

Mr. Hellmuth — The contract in relation to 600,000 fuses was outside altogether of the prior contract?—Yes.

Mr. Hellmuth here presented the new agreement whereby in default of deliveries the price of fuses was reduced to $2.34.

The agreement which was very long set forth that on April 1 the Company was 1,016,666 in arrears of No. 1 fuse and $33,334 in arrears of No. 8. The Munitions Board waived its rights to cancel the agreement as affecting the parts of the order not delivered and in consideration of this the company agreed to accept a price of $2.54 per fuse instead of $3.72, to which figure it has previously been reduced from $4.

DELIVERY STIPULATIONS.

It is stipulated that the deliveries must be 100,000 in April, 150,000 in May, 200,000 in June, 200,000 in July and the balance of the contract by the end of August. The agreements were executed by E. is. Caldwell for the company and C. B. Gordon for the Munitions Board. The Guarantee Trust Company is a party to the modified agreement.

Mr. Hellmuth—I want to understand if I can exactly what this modifying agreement amounted to, and you can correct me if I state it wrongly. The company by this agreement under the two agreements had the time extended for delivery under contract of June, 1915, till August 31, 1916, with a certain amount of grace for the last delivery?—Yes

ROYALS SCORED FIVE RUNS IN THE FIRST INNINGS

Special to The Montreal Star.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 28. — Manager Dan Howley picked Colwell the Brooklyn recruit to try and even up the series with the Birds this afternoon. The Royal leader was very anxious to tie up the series.

Herb Thormahlen, a Southpaw, whom Manager Dunn grabbed from a Jersey City semi-professional club, was on the slab for the home team. Madden and McAvoy were behind the plate, Bobby Wells went to first in place of Howley. A double-header is booked tomorrow. A game will also be played next day on the grounds in the country where the Orioles usually play their week-end games.

Line up:

Baltimore—Bates, 1f; Kopf, 2b; Twombly, 1b; Miller, cf; Lamar, rf; Fewster, ss; Ritter, 3b; McAvoy, c; Thormahlen, p.

Montreal—Smith, 2b; Moran, cf; Cathers, lf; P. Smith, rf; Wells, 1b; Wagner, ss; Damrau, 3b; Madden, c; Colwell p.

Umpires—Carpenter and Chestnut.

First Innings.

Montreal—Smyth walked. Moran singled to left, Cathers forced Smyth, Thormahlen to Ritter, the runners advancing on Smith's infield out, Thormahlen to Fewster to Twombly. Kepf fell down on Wells' grounder, Moran scoring. Wagner walked, filling the bases. Ritter's bad throw of Damrau's grounder permitted Cathers, Wall and Wagner to count. McAvoy, who had gotten the ball, threw past Ritter to get Damrau, and the latter scored. Madden went via Fewster to Twombly. 5 runs, 1 hit, 3 errors.

Baltimore—Bates fouled to Damrau. Kopf was deadheaded. Twombly singled to left, Kopf stopping at the midway. Miller forced Twombly, Wagner to Smyth, Miller stole second. Wagner, who had gotten Madden's, tossed past third, Kopf tallying. Lamar fouled to Damrau. 1 run, 1 hit, 1 error.

Second Innings.

Montreal—Ritter and Twombly got Colwell. Kopf threw out Smyth. Moran was easy, Ritter to Twombly. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Baltimore—Fewster took the Smyth to Wells route. Ritter went Wagner to Wells. Colwell threw out McAvoy. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third innings.

Montreal—Ritter threw out Cathers. Smith walked and stole second. Wells singled past second, Smith taking third. On an attempted double steal, Smith was out McAvoy to Kopf to McAvoy. McAvoy tossed badly to get Wells off second and Bobby went to third. Wagner fanned. No runs, 1 hit, 1 error.

Baltimore — Thormahlen walked and was forced by Bates, Wagner to Smyth. Kopf walked. Twombly singled to left Bates tallying. Kopf perished trying to go to third, Cathers to Colwell to Damrau. Miller fanned. 1 run, 1 hit, no errors.

Fourth Innings.

Montreal—Damrau whiffed. Miller got Madden's fly. Colwell perished, Twombly to Thormahlen who covered. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Baltimore—Lamar hoisted to Moran. Fewster walked, Ritter hit to centre for two bases, scoring Fewster. McAvoy fouled to Damrau. Thormahlen singled to left and Ritter was out at the plate, Cathers to Madden. 1 run, 2 hits, no errors.

LATEST NEWS FROM THE IRISH CAPITAL PROVES TROOPS ARE IN CHARGE

Public Demand for Swift Suppression of Rising —Confidence in Sir John Maxwell—Loss of Battleship Russell Partly Offset in Public Mind by Sinking of Hun Submarine

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, April 28.—The Nationalist members of Parliament today denied a report published in morning newspapers that they intended to withdraw their support of the Coalition Government on the recruiting question.

LONDON, April 28, 7:45 p.m.—A relief ship sent by the British with supplies for the garrison at Kut-el-Amara grounded in the Tigris four miles to the east of Kut, it was announced in an official statement this evening.

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, April 28.—The first serious naval disaster recorded for some time past served to remind the public today that the danger from mines is every present in all waters patrolled by the navy, and that despite the utmost vigilance, a catastrophe such as that which overtook the battleship Russell is unavoidable.

The announcement of the destruction of a German submarine off the East Coast afforded some consolation, as indicating the unceasing watchfulness of the Naval Patrol on the North Sea.

News from Ireland served still further to reassure the nation in regard to the ability of the Government to handle the situation. It is indicated that the troops at Dublin have now practically got the rebels at their mercy.

There is a general feleing that the rising should be put down with the utmost firmness and that an example should be made of Casement. The latter will be tried by court-martial shortly. Gen. Sir John Maxwell's record in the Soudan is ample guarantee that he will allow no lack of firmness to affect his handling of the Dublin rebels.

OFFICIAL BRITISH STATEMENT

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, April 28.—A German submarine was sunk off the east coast of England yesterday, the Admiralty announced this afternoon. The crew of eighteen surrendered.

The British battleship Russell struck a mine and sank in the Mediterranean yesterday, the Admiralty announced today. Of the crew of about 824, it is stated, 124 officers and men are missing and believed to have perished.

Admiral Freemantle, Captain Smith, twenty-four officers and 676 men were saved.

The sinking of the Russell and of the German submarine was announced in the following official statement:

"H.M.S. Russell, Captain William Bowden Smith, R.N., flying the flag of Rear-Admiral Freemantle, struck a mine in the Mediterranean yesterday and was sunk. The Admiral, captain, twenty-four officers and 676 men were saved. There are about 124 officers and men missing.

"A German submarine was sunk off the east coast yesterday. One officer and seventeen men of the crew surrendered and were made prisoners.

The Russell was one of the older British battleships, having been constructed in 1900-01. She displaced 14,000 tons and was 405 feet long, with a beam of 75 feet. She was built at a cost of about $5,000,000. The Russell normally carried a crew of 824 men. Her armament included four twelve-inch guns, twelve six-inch and twenty guns of lesser calibre. She carried also four torpedo tubes. The battleship Montagu, a sister ship of the Russell, was wrecked on Lundy in 1906.

FRENCH BOMB HUN STATIONS

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, April 28. Numerous air raids along the western front in which several German planes, including a Fokker, were brought down, were reported by the War Office today. There were no important activities on the west front, excepting intermittent bombardment northwest of Verdun.

A French squadron dropped eight bombs on La Machine station in the Woevre. One German plane attacked by the French dropped in Dommartmont, badly damaged, and another fell near Mont Faucon. A French aviator, piloting a Nieuport monoplane, defeated a Fokker, which fell behind the German lines.

The Germans dropped shells at infrequent intervals during the night in the region of Avocourt, Esnes and Fromezy.

This information is contained in the French official report issued this afternoon, the text of which is as follows:

"Last night witnessed no event of importance with the exception of an intermittent bombardment in the regions of Avocourt and Esnes, and certain activity on the part of our trench guns in the sector of Bonneville, to the west of Pont-a-Mousson.

"During the day of Thursday French aviators delivered numerous aerial attacks. An aeroplane of the enemy was brought down in the region of Fromezy. Two other German machines attacked by French patrols were compelled to land, badly injured one near Dommartmont, the other in the wood of Montgrignon, in the region of Ne les Chambres. A German Fokker plane reached by French fire was seen to crash head first within the German line.

During the day of the 27th a French air squadron in the Woevre bombarded the railroad station at Lamorche, throwing down eighteen shells.

Russian Positions on Poland Front Have Been Made Secure

By Canadian Press.

PETROGRAD, April 28. — London April 28 — Excepting for a few ominous German offensive on the Dvinsk front, which has resolved itself into a sustained assault upon the Beskuli bridge-head, the Easter holidays passed without even minor episodes to say nothing of the sanguinary battles which have marked almost every month of the warfare on the Russian fronts.

According to Russian officers, recent reports of heavy losses inflicted on the Germans in the Dvinsk region, the fighting there has been of a desultory character, the Germans making no attempt to push their attacks home and did not, apparently, insist upon remaining on duty.

More Russian Troops Landed at Marseilles

DEFENDS HAZELTON AND ABUSES PAPERS

In Turn Senator is Denounced by Fellows in Senate

OTTAWA, April 28.—Senator Choquette's recent speech regarding recruiting formed the one subject of debate in the Senate this afternoon, warm language being used by the Quebec legislator in reference to his remarks.

At the opening of the sitting, Senator Sproule said he had been asked by Senator Taylor to ask the Senate to drop his (Senator Taylor's) enquiry of the Government if it intended to take any action in reference to the Montreal Star's editorial statement "that Senator Choquette should be kicked out of the Senate."

Senator Choquette said that although it was proposed to drop the enquiry, it had appeared on the records, and it was only fair he should be permitted to reply to it.

"I could have said then what I say now," said Senator Choquette, "Speaking of Sir Hugh Graham, of the Montreal Star, that I don't care for the barkings of dirty dogs or blackmailers, like Graham, of the Montreal Star, or Willison, of the Toronto News, but I would not degrade the Senate by raising a question of privilege.

"To have done so would have been an insult to the members of the Senate by indirectly admitting that my speech had been insulting to the soldiers of Canada, and that the Senate had listened to it without resenting it. If I had insulted these soldiers the leader of the Government in the Senate should have called me to order; but, on the contrary, when I spoke the first time in the Senate, I praised and congratulated the soldiers, and never said a word against them."

Senator Choquette denounced the attack of Hon. Mr. Kemp, the acting Minister of Militia, as most unfair.

Senator Choquette's offence was his approval of Hazelton's letter which said of the soldiers who had enlisted in Toronto:

"These defectives are 99 percent so-called English—are they English—or are they the offspring of foreign sailors and English dock prostitutes!

"And again:

"Our well-bred educated Canadians have no use for such cattle, and refuse to enlist as comrades with such beasts."

(The Star said Choquette should be expelled. Choquette, under the protection of his privilege as a Senator, abused The Star publishers and others in the choice language which has made the Senator famous. A Senator or a member of Parliament can make use of any language he chooses without being subject to prosecution.)

Is Denounced by Fellow-Senators

Senator Beaubien said he had been in Toronto just after Hazelton had been mobbed and the newspapers had connected the riot with the speech delivered by Senator Choquette. He had been pained to hear responsible men in Toronto take the words of Senator Choquette as the expression of the sentiment of the people of Quebec. He congratulated the English members of the Senate for the disregard with which they had listened to Senator Choquette, and declared that in reading the letter Senator Choquette had made himself responsible for the abuse of the English which that letter contained.

In reading that letter in the Senate and putting it on record for publication, Senator Choquette had made himself responsible for it. The effect had been to set further apart the two great races of Canada and that was a real crime. People who commit such crimes will stay branded for their act, he said.

Senator Gordon declared that Senator Choquette had no right to assume that because English members of the Senate had not risen to contradict him they were in accord with his sentiments. He believed members of the Senate had decided that silence was the best answer that Senator Choquette could have had.

REMARKS AN INSULT.

Senator Daniel was sorry that Senator Choquette thought he agreed with him because he had not replied to his speech. The long explanation given by Senator Choquette amounted to nothing, but again showed that his remarks were an insult to the soldiers of Canada, and the whole English-speaking race.

Senator Watson said that he, too, had been slandered. "The Toronto News printed a report of Senator Choquette's speech and credited me with having delivered it. I wrote to the editor of the News, and, I may say, that he corrected the mistake. However, I think that when a Senator delivers such speeches as that made by Senator Choquette and credited to me I think that the senator making the speech should have it copyrighted so that other members of the Senate would not be given credit for it."

Facts Cited Prove Senator Choquette's Statements Grotesque

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28.—Answering Senator Choquette, the morning papers make editorial use of remarkable recruiting figures among the "British-born" in Toronto.

The Globe says:

"Senator Choquette has been at it again. The trouble-maker says he has been abused, not for what he said, but because he is a French-Canadian Roman Catholic. So far as the Globe is concerned, that is a falsehood so ridiculous as to require no denial. The Globe did not publish the offensive reference in Senator Choquette's original speech to the parentage of rejected Toronto recruits. It was so filthy that it was struck out of the report by the telegraph editor as a matter of common decency.

"If any cowardice has been displayed in the matter it has been by the wretched falsifier who declared in the Senate on April 12: 'I see by the papers that there is no recruiting of good men in Toronto; not one-third of the men recruited are able to pass the examination,' and who has not the courage to admit that this statement, which was not Hazelton's, but his own, is a slanderous lie levelled at thousands of good Toronto citizens.

"The official figures to which Senator Choquette could have had access, had he wanted to learn the truth, prove that on an average not quite one-fourth of the recruits who have come forward in Toronto since hostilities began have been rejected.

"Of 1,522 Earlscourt men who presented themselves for enlistment only sixty-five were rejected. Of the accepted 1,073 were English, 234 Scotch, and 26 Irish. In face of these figures, the Hazelton-Choquette slanders seem grotesque."

UNANSWERABLE FIGURES.

In a news column the Globe adds: "Earlscourt homes have given 1,457 men to the colors according to information gathered by a band of workers from the Earlscourt Methodist churches during the past ten ten days. Of the total enlistment 1,441 are British-born, thirteen from Newfoundland, two from the United States, and one is French-Canadian.

"Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Boon avenue, have given seven sons. Mr. Cameron, of Oakwood avenue, and his sons have enlisted, likewise Mr. Cooper, of Earlscourt avenue, and his four sons. Mr. Cooper has six brothers in the British Army.

"One avenue has only two men left, another four and another seven men."

RECORD OF BRITISH-BORN.

The Mail says editorially:

"The population of Earlscourt is probably about 10,000. This 'British-born' district has given to the colors 1,457 men, of whom 914 are married, and 513 single. Of the married men, 145 have three children each, seventy have four, thirty-five have five, sixteen have six, ten have seven, five have eight, and one has twelve and one thirteen.

"Perhaps no other district in any community in Canada can show as good a response to the call for men. Earlscourt is distinctive as being a thorough 'British-born' colony, planted on clearly cut lines in a Canadian city."

CONTINUATION OF LT.-COL. P. A. GUTHRIE'S NARRATIVE OF THE FIGHT WHERE CANADIANS WON UNDYING FAME A YEAR AGO

Friday, April 30th.

Last night we got orders to move up and occupy a line of trenches on the bank of the canal a short distance from the firing line. I moved up the battalion through the darkness along the roads and through fields, and while the new men did not of course display the same coution as did the vets, still they left nothing to be desired. They took their places in the trenches quietly. We had no mishaps and the day was spent with few casualties.

It is reported that the Germans are preparing for another big smash. They are likely waiting for a favorable wind so as to use the gas once more. We were to have gone out into billets quite a distance back for a good rest and to get thoroughly organized, but I guess we are needed. They will never break through now, however, as we have reinforcements here aplenty. If they could not handle a division of Canadians, I am sure they will not handle all the British troops that are here now, besides what is left of that division of Canadians.

Saturday, May 1st.

"We have had a fairly hard day. The shells have been coming overthick. We have had a few casualties. We are getting a bit acquainted with our new men. They are all right, but like new men will not keep their heads down. They seem to think it is part of their duty to see where the shells hit. They wish to gaze at every Taube that passes over, and of course in so doing they show their faces an dgive us all away. They ony require, however, a few days in which to become the best soldiers in the world, for they were "Made in Canada."

Last night Capt. Costigan, our adjutant, remarked that we had forgotten to instruct the new men whom we sent out on fatigue duty not to stand at the cross roads and wait for the water cart and grub waggon of our transport section to come up, and away he went down the road for a mile or so to tell them what not to do. You understand the Boche has all the roads, and especially the cross roads, marked, and at night, now and then drops a few shells along, just to make it interesting for our transports and fatigue men.

Costigan got to the cross roads just in time to find a chap lighting a cigarette and he ordered them to spread out in a field and lie down. This they did, but Costigan, not taking his own advice, stood warbling French to a "soldat de Francais" on the cross roads until Mr. Coalbox came along and lifting Costigan up, placed him in a ditch some yards away. The Frenchman was blown to pieces and scattered over about an acre of ground.

Costigan crawled out of the ditch and came back to report that he had, given the men some good advice about standing on cross roads, and a practical demonstration to prove his arguments.

BURIED BY A SHELL.

During the afternoon, Costigan and Sam Maxwell of Winnipeg, our cook, orderly and general handy man, crawled into my dugout for a sleep, so that Costigan could go on duty tonight and let me turn in, as he insists that I have been taking too little sleep and will go "bug." They had just nicely got away into dreamland when a big shell came through the bank and levelled the dugout. The earth around was like a nicely raked garden newly put in.

I was in the next dugout, about six feet away, and immediately sprang on top of where the dugout had been and on my hands and knees tossed the earth back between my legs like a terrier after a rat. I first got Maxwell's face bare, so he could breathe, and then started in to dig Costigan out. Another shell burst about ten feet away, right in the middle of a pile of rifles (about two hundred) that had been gathered in from the field and stacked there there for the amourers to take back. There was not a rifle but what was shattered and the pieces of shell and of rifle filled the air round about. Five of our chaps who were hastening to my assistance got hurt and were taken to the dressing station nearby. A piece hit me on the sole of the boot.

I kept on digging and soon got Costigan's nose and mouth bared His first exclamation was: "You son of a gun, get off my chest."

A couple of our boys got a shovel and one fellow in his excitement started to dig him out, as you would a grave He put his foot on the shovel and run the point of it into Costigan's ribs Finally, we got him on a stretcher and sent him to the dressing station Maxwell was not hurt badly

Capt Arthur and I were discussing who we would put in as adjutant to take Costigan's place and had just decided on George G. Duncan, when in crept Costigan, his face stuck up with plaster, to report for duty. I think Costigan must have a charmed life. I have not known him long, but I am sure he is A 1 through and through.

THE "LINEUP."

On our left were French troops, which were up against the enemy, where the firing line crosses the canal; on our right were more French troops, and further on were the 5th Battalion. The 7th and 8th held positions slightly to the rear in support. The Third Brigade was up in front of the canal, and in close touch at one point with the enemy. The 1st Brigade was in reserve, but having been detailed for working parties, the Battalion were called upon to do very hard and dangerous work The 2nd Battalion under Col (now Gen. Watson connected up the French and British lines in front of us, which was a task requiring the greatest skill and courage.

I was struck with the careless and happy-go-lucky style of the pioupiou. He is sure to get along under any conditions and make the most of his opportunities. When the shells were falling during the afternoon, from behind a deserted farmhouse came the coaxing, hungry squeals of a pig, and next we saw running across the field towards the canal bank a French soldier with a carrot in his hand, as an inducement to the poor, half-starved porker, which was close on his heels. Near the canal a little brook ran, crossed by a footbridge.

The pig balked at this, but a couple of soldier's comrades came to the rescue and pushed the pig across. The shells during this performance were dropping everywhere, trying to seek out one of our batteries hid in the field. One of our chaps remarked that the "Frenchie should get a V.C. for rescuing the pig. He was starving, poor chap, and they are going to feed him some of their rations."

Another replied that "if he was a good, selfrespecting pig, he wouldn't eat the stuff."

A short time afterwards the squeals of the pig told us that he had become a "casualty," and one of our chaps advised that we "take his identity disk and sent it to Berlin, so that he might be published among his comrades."

In this vicinity the people had made a quick get-away and their live stock was left roaming through the fields. Sometimes a shell did up a few of them, but the surprising part of it was that so many escaped. Feeding along the canal bank, right up in full view and about 280 yards from the enemy, were a few cattle.

At night I found a couple of French soldiers milking by flarelight, while their comrades were joshing them from the dugouts near at hand. In the morning about five o'clock I was making my last trip for the night along our lines with Lieut. Gilbert Todhunter (killed May 20, 1915), and Sergt.-Major John Watson (died of wounds, May 24, 1915), and ran into the odor of broiling beefsteak. Following the smell, and almost getting a meal on it, we came to a dugout and here were some of our men over a little fire with a large chunk of steak nearby.

They were new men, so I pretended to be very stern and demanded where they had got the steak. One chap, who was something of a joker, replied "Don't say a word, Major, and we'll send down a choice bit to your dugout, and the King won't be any the wiser."

Sure enough, when I returned, Maxwell had the steak sizzling, which had been delivered with a note reading: "To our beloved O. C. from his Midnight Rustlers."

Dawson-Duckworth.

In St. Paul's Church, Vancouver, the marriage was solemnized this week of Miss Lilian Ruth Duckworth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Duckworth, formerly of Montreal, and Mr. Charles E. Dawson, of Vaucouver, the Rev. H. King officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white ninon over white silk, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. She was attended by Miss Eva Martin, wearing white marquisette over old rose, with an old rose hat, and carrying pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Raymond K. Stirling. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dawson left for California, where the honeymoon will be spent. Going away the bride wore a white broadcloth costume and hat of old rose.

Benefit Card Party.

A successful Bridge and Five Hundred for the benefit of the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. Charles A. Workman, 333 Kensington avenue. Daffodils and marguerites formed the decorations throughout the house. Cards were played at thirty-two tables, Mrs. G. Fischel and Mrs. Abinovitch were conveners of the card tables, and Mrs. D. Friedman and Mrs. J. Jacobs were in charge of the tea room. Twenty prizes were given.

HERE and THERE

Eight weeks ago the police department of Monmoth, Ill., bought two bloodhounds and paid the sum of $250 for them. The dogs have earned $225 and have located stolen property in Warren, Mercer and Henderson Counties to the value of $1800.

Rellis G. Conant, a law student at the University of Wisconsin, pitched a tent last Fall on the slope from Main Hall to Lake Mendota, and has lived and studied there all Winter. The abode is well furnished with table, chairs, bed, stove. Conant has done all his cooking.

In one day, recently, Postmaster E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis had applications from 12 mail carriers who wanted their vacations in June because they were to be married then. Mr. Purdy said he was not surprised; it was the same story every Spring.

A celebrated Japanese singing bird, known as the bush warbler, has just gone into retirement. A dinner was given in her honor at the villa of her owner, T. Tanaka of Osaka, Japan, and many notable persons were present. About 20 singing birds were there and gave a chorus of adieu for their comrade, who has won prizes at every competition.

Federal Court attaches in Toledo, O, declared a precedent was established when members of the Woman's Relief Corps presented the United States District Court here with an American flag. Flags have been placed in schools from coast to coast by the organization, but never in any court of Justice, it was said, and, so far as is known no flag has ever before been presented to a Federal tribunal.

STUDENTS PLAY VERY GOOD MUSIC IN McGILL PROGRAM

The orchestral concert given in the Hall of the Royal Victoria College last night by members of the McGill University Conservatorium of Music, was greatly appreciated by a large audience. The orchestra was at its best and performed excellently under the baton of Dr. Perrin. The only noticeable slips, made were in the opening overture "The Barber of Seville" where the horns and cellos flatted in their leads and in the "Deluge" where the second violins were slightly off color.

The last overture "Raymond" (Thomas) by the orchestra was the best and made a very fitting closing to a most successful concert.

Miss Edith Eager, a young and very accomplished pianist carried off honors in the first movement of the concerto for pianoforte and orchestra, in D. Mmor by Rubinstein.

This composition has tripped up musicians of much greater years and experience than Miss Eager, and the audience appreciated her efforts and recalled her several times to the platform.

The evening was practically devoted to instrumental work, the only vocal number being given by Miss Doris Grose, who sang two songs by Rimsky-Korsakow and Teresa Del Riego, displaying a fine voice and careful training in both.

Mr. Casey, violinist, was heard to great advantage in the solo part of the "Deluge" number, which preceded an interesting work in the Finnish Prelude by Jarnfelt. There was a novelty, excellently rendered, in the concertino for clarinet and orchestra by Weber, the soloist, J. D. Robinson, showing mastery of his instrument and playing with fine phrasing.

A Schubert Moment Musical and Scharwenka's Polonaise in A flat were very well played on the piano by Miss Hazel Rexford.

Mrs. H. B. Clay delighted everybody with her interpretation of a Humoresque by Grieg and a Chopin Nocturne and Miss Dorothy Armstrong's renderings of Schubert's Impromptu in E flat and Barrett's "Cloches" were artistic and most effective. Miss Alice Magnan gave a brilliant reading of Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz."

The Misses M. Reddy and Ruth Duncan contributed two violin duets, "Berceuse" and "Abandon" by Godard, in musical fashion.

LADIES' CHORAL ASSN. SINGS WELL IN GOOD PROGRAM

The Montreal Ladies' Choral Society, a new organization of some thirty enthusiasts, was heard by its friends for the first time yesterday afternoon, when an enjoyable program was given in the blue room of the Windsor Hotel. A. E. J. McCreary, the conductor, explained that the members were not banded together to make money, but for the pleasure of singing and to cultivate the voice. Moreover, the recital was more a final rehearsal than a public concert, the audience being invited to see what the society had accomplished.

This accomplishment was such that those interested had every reason to feel gratified. The material composing the choir is not lacking in all the qualities needed for good choral singing and Mr. McCreary has brought his singers up to a high grade of efficiency in the comparatively short time of the society's existence. He has laid emphasis upon the essential things, clear enunciation, good rhythm, a brisk, clean tone and attention to expression. In Cadman's "Indian Mountain Song," breadth of effect was achieved, while the lighter numbers, "The Retort," by Wooler and Bartlett's "Robert of Lincoln," went con brio and with a catchy swing.

Among the soloists, Mrs. Eldred Archibald, who possesses a soprano voice of vibrant brightness and resonance, was heard in a florid obligato to "Robert," measures which were rippled out with the proper sparkle. Mrs. Hyde sang very tastefully in the solo part of "Fair Maiden," her joining Mrs. Dewar in a pretty duet. Miss Carrie Dougherty, whose voice has an individual timbre of much charm, gave a good account of herself in the solo of Mr. McCreary's patriotic song, "Daughters of the Empire." Mr. Medlar's baritone is of beautiful quality, round and full of color. He sang "Star of Eve," from "Tannhauser." Mr. Griffin in "The Caravan" and "Because" showed an appreciation of refined emotional expression, artistic phrasing and an admirable lyrical voice. Mrs. William Murray Reid was an efficient accompanist.

A Chopin Fantasie for piano was played in musicianly style by Miss Lander.

EDWARD FARRER DEAD IN OTTAWA

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, April 28.—Edward Farrer, one of Canada's most distinguished journalists, died at his residence here yesterday after a lengthy illness of heart trouble. He was in his sixty-sixth year. The late Mr. Farrer, who was born in England of Irish parentage, was educated at Stonyhurst, England, and the Jesuit College in Rome. He came to Canada in 1870 and joined the editorial staff of the old Daily Telegraph at Toronto. On the establishment of the Mail two years later, he joined that paper in a similar capacity. In 1874 he went to Ireland as an immigration agent, and went to the New York World as foreign editor. From 1882 to 1884 he was editor-in-chief of the Mail, and afterwards went to Winnipeg, where he conducted the Times and Sun. Subsequently he was on the editorial staff of the Toronto Globe, but retired from active newspaper work in 1892.

Later he resided in Washington, but returned to Canada in 1905, and had since been a magazine writer and correspondent of the London Economist. He had been a believer in political union with the United States as Canada's ultimate destiny.

$30.00 for an Holt-Renfrew Suit

—is exceedingly reasonable, because Holt-Renfrew Suits are positively dependable for style and for quality of material and workmanship. We are making a special effort to please women who must do their important shopping on Saturday afternoons, hence this $30.00 feature. The Suits are in all approved fabrics—Checks, Velours, Serges, Gabardine, and styles include the strictly-tailored as well as dressy effects. The occasion is unusual, and very well worth taking advantage of.

Hats at $8.50 to $15.00

OUR MILLINER decided that she must join with the suit buyer to please Saturday shoppers, and has arranged an attractive display of hats for that day. There are New York sailors, turbans, helmet hats and the medium sizes, all smart and becoming. You will find them close beside the Suits, upstairs.

$3.50 Blouses $4.75
Crepe de Chine and Jap Silk
Crepe Georgette $6.00

Unusual values in Waists are scheduled for Saturday, also. We find it hard to keep a complete stock of these especial Blouses, because they are popular. They are mostly white.

TWO NEW AGREEMENTS WITH U. S. COMPANY ARE NOW BROUGHT TO LIGHT

Amended Contracts, Between American Ammunition Company and the New Imperial Munitions Board, Gives New Order for 600,000 Time Fuses at $4.30 Each

Special to The Montreal Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28. — The new agreement with the American Ammuition Company, both of them dated April 6, came to light at the Royal Commissions fuse inquiry this afternoon. The amended contracts are with the American Ammunition Company on one part, and the Imperial Munitions Board, successor to the Shell Committee, on the other. The company gets a new order for 600,000 time fuses at $4.30 each, while by reason of being greatly in arrears in deliveries on the old contract the price under it for certain fuses is reduced from $3.72 to $2.34 per fuse.

The original price was $4, but this was brought down to $3.72, by an arrangement entirely, whereby the company was relieved of supply of detonators. The reduction to $2.34 is therefore the second to be made.

On April 1 the company was 1,858,000 fuses behind in deliveries. In other words, because of having fallen down in deliveries the company on the one hand gets a lower price on its old contract, but on the other secures a new contract for 600,000 at a higher rate than previously.

STRIKES DELAYED FUSE-MAKING

On resuming after lunch. Mr Hellmuth produced a letter dated November 17, 1915, from Dr. Harris, president of the International Arms and Fuse Company, to the Shell Committee. The letter began:

"In accordance with my verbal understanding had with you when I was in Ottawa on November 10, and asked for an extension of two months in deliveries from November 19, 1915.

The plea put forward by Dr. Harris was delay in obtaining guages, owing to a strike at the Keystone Watch Case Company, the Taft Pierce Company and Messrs. Brown and Sharp. Difficulties owing to change in design in the fuse were also put forward.

Mr. Hellmuth—Dr. Harris refers to a verbal understanding he had with you on November 10. Can you tell me if you have any notes of that understanding or have any recollection of it?—No. Col. Carnegie replied.

You have no recollection?—No recollection.

Of meeting him at all?—I may have met him, doubtless I did, but I have no recollection of it.

Let me ask you this. Was this letter asking for an extension of time any surprise to you?—None whatever.

Why wasn't it?—Because there had been several conferences regarding the changes suggested by the War Office in the design of the fuse placed with them. The letter, I think is characteristic of the subject that was pressing upon us, the subject of why they were behind in the progress which we expected they should have made towards the completion of the fuses. Therefore, Dr. Harris, prior to the writing of this letter had discussed this matter with me and now he puts into writing just what had taken place and shows the reasons why a demand for a two months' extension should be made.

What was your attitude in regard to that demand?—I expressed it in a letter on November 20.

Mr. Hellmuth read Col. Carnegie's letter to company, in which he said: "We cannot allow the extension of time asked for, as we do not consider the details call for it."

The writer went on to call the request "unreasonable," and said he could not express too strongly what a delay of two months would mean to the War Office. There had been delays at the start, and it would be a great disappointment to the War Office if the promises given by the company were not carried out.

DELAY DISCUSSED WITH INSPECTOR.

On November 23, the International Company again wrote that they had been in communication with the companies making the gauges and had been told that the delay was due to the strike. "They said if we could call it off, it was more than they could. Our assembling and loading plant, with three thousand men, had been ready for a month. Our contract calls for gauges on September 15. This is the 23rd of November, and we have not yet got a complete set."

The letter wound up with an expression of the company's willingnessness at all times to co-operate in quick production and delivery.

Col. Carnegie wrote the company on November 26 thanking them for their assurance that they were endeavoring to deliver at the earliest possible moment, but expressing surprise why, if they could not get the gauges made on time, they didn't get them made somewhere else, "especially when you were aware of the urgent need of fuses." The progress of the work was to be discussed with Mr. Brown when he arrived in Ottawa.

Who is he?—Our inspector.

Where was he inspector?—In the United States. He is the civil assistant to the chief inspector of Woolwich in Canada. He is an engineer.

Is his work entirely in the United States and Canada?—Yes. He came out from England.

He was chief inspector of your committee for fuses?—Yes.

For anyone else?—No.

Col. Carnegie stated that Mr. Brown was sent out by the War Office as inspector of fuses for the Shell Committee and was paid by the War Office.

He is still inspector for the Imperial Munitions Board, and now paid under our administration, said witness.

It wasn't previously charged up against your contracts?—No.

Mr. Brown's work was confined to inspecting fuses only ordered by the Shell Committee here, the witness declared.

Had Mr. Brown been inspecting in New York, the progress of the International Company in fuses?

Witness said this was so, and a verbal report had been made.

What was the report?—I can't tell exactly. It was a general report of progress and standing.

Then Mr. Hellmuth produced the minutes of the Shell Committee, of November 29.

"The dying confession," said he, "of the committee before it went out of existence."

Col. H. M. Elliott was at this meeting and counsel wanted to know who he was. He was told he was the Master-General of the Ordnance department and took Gen. Benson's place in the Canadian service.

The resolution turning over all powers and monies in the hands of the Shell Committee to the British Government or parties appointed by them was read, also that the resignations of the committee were handed to the Minister of Militia and Defence.

This was done, it was stated in the resolution, "in view of the desire of the British and Canadian Governments to reorganize the purchasing agents for British munitions of war."

You were present at that meeting?—Yes.

How soon after that did you send in your resignation as a member of the Committee?—I have not sent it in yet.

STILL MEMBER OF DEAD BODY?

You were first apointed ordnance officer?—Yes.

And at a considerably later date you were appointed a member of the committee?—Yes.

And you never resigned formally? No, not formally.

But you were immediately thereafter appointed a member of the Imperial Munitions board (The Successor to the Shell Committee)?—Yes.

Sir William Meredith—How can you still be a member of a dead body?—The Shell Committe is no longer in existence.

It was an ommission on my part not to have resigned formally, the witness replied smiling.

Mr. Hellmuth—You get your present remuneration, do you not, as a member of the Imperial Munitions board?—Yes, as Ardnance adviser.

Have you at the present time any connection with the war office in any other capacity?—None whatever.

It is entirely with the Imperial munitions?—Entirely.

Are you aware, by reason of the fact of your connection with the Imperial Munitions Board of what has been done since with reference to those contracts with the International and the American companies?—Oh, yes.

Then Mr. Hellmuth read to the commission a contract which evidently enhanced especial interest. This was a contract given as recently as the sixth of the present month (April 6, 1916), by the Imperial Munitions Board to the American Ammunition Company.

RAILWAY SHARES FEATURE OF THE STOCK EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, April 28.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today said:

Continued interest in railway shares was a feature of today's early stock exchange trading, but the movement lost much of its spontaneity as the session progressed, and some of the early gains were cancelled.

There was little or no indication of extensive selling for foreign account, however and the somewhat hesitating tendency that developed midway in the session was quite generally ascribed to profit-taking upon yesterday's sharp upturn.

The news bearing upon the railway issues was generally better, particularly in respect to the labor situation, and included the announcement of the resumption of the conference between the anthracite operators and miners over the question of the wage scale, and the recognition of the union.

OBREGON TO RENEW REQUEST AMERICAN TROOPS WITHDRAW

Special to The Montreal Star by E. T. Conkle, of the United Press.

EL PASO, Texas, April 28.—Withdrawal of the American expedition from Mexico will be one of the principal points. Obregon will try to arrange in his coming conference with the American Chief of Staff, Gen. Scott, the Carranza War Minister said in a statement to the United Press in Juarez today.

Villa is not dead, but is in grave condition from lack of medical attention to a wounded leg, Gen. Obregon announced.

Gen. Obregon laughed when asked about reports of a break with Carranza. He said he had telegraphed Mexico City for instructions only this morning. The Carranza War Minister established headquarters in the Juarez Customs House.

WILL PERSIST IN REQUEST.

"I will persist in Gen. Carranza's request for the withdrawal of the American troops from Mexico in my conference with Gens Scott and Funston," he said. This I cannot discuss. Neither do I want to discuss the conference, as I do not want to injure the procedure in any way.

"I have telegraphed Mexico City this morning for instructions regarding the conference, and until they arrive I cannot say whether I will consent to holding meetings on American soil.

"The situation in Mexico rapidly is becoming peaceful. Not a single bandit group of importance is left in the States of Chihuahua. There are a few in the State of Durango, and Coachuila, but they are now negotiating for surrender.

"The Carranza Government is able to cope with the situation without outside assistance," he said.

"We have sufficient troops and elements to meet the situation. Persecution of bands such as Villa's must be done in a hunt and not by a large column, as the bands are small and remain in the mountains.

"Villa is not dead, but is seriously wounded in the leg. He has had no medical attention for his wound and is in grave condition. Last reports were that Villa was in the mountains in the vicinity of Guerrero. He may be headed for the Sonora border.

"No friction ever existed between Gen. Carranza and myself and at the present time there is no reason for any existing."

Gen. Obregon said he would not cross over to El Paso until Gens. Scott and Funston arrive. He will live in his private car at the Juarez railroad station, guarded by the 200 soldiers he picked as his bodyguard.

The room in which Gen. Obregon established his headquarters was once the meeting place of Presidents Taft and Porfirio Diaz. One of Obregon's first acts on arriving in Juarez was to hold a conference with Gen. Gavira, Consul Garcia and Gen. Ramon Iturbe, Carranza envoy to Japan.

Gen. Obregon ordered a special train made up in Juarez and rushed to Villa Ahumada, where the engine of the third section carrying Gen. Luis Gutierrez and other members of the Mexican conference was derailed. Reports of injuries among the Mexicans were not confirmed.

SOLE OBJECTIVE OF ALLIES TO END WAR VICTORIOUSLY--LAW

By Canadian Press.

PARIS, April 28.—"There is only one objective at the present moment to which we must concentrate all our energies and our wills—to end the war victoriously," said A. Bonar Law, British Secretary of State for the Colonies, in discussing the economic conference of the Allies here with a representative of Le Journal.

"Consequently it is our duty to avoid as much as possible in these hours of trial and discussion which migh give birth to controversies, to the resumption of struggles between holders of different economic views.

"The fact that all the Allies, whose economic theories are necessarily most divergent, will be represented at the conference greatly increases the difficulty of arriving at an immediate solution of the questions at stake."

The interviewer asked if it would not be possible for the Allies to sign a pact banning German imports until a time arrived when the problem could be examined under more favorable circumstances, to which the Secretary only replied by an enigmatic smile.

The present conference is one of three among the Allies regarding which there appears to be much misapprehension. The first one, held early in April, dealt with united military measures.

The second, beginning yesterday, deals with many commercial and economic questions and called interparliamentary, although the Allied Parliaments are not directly responsible.

The third will be held later, with important Cabinet members attending, including David Lloyd George, the British Minister of Munitions, and Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, to consider economics, particularly the tariff.

LATEST NEWS FROM THE IRISH CAPITAL PROVES TROOPS ARE IN CHARGE

Public Demand for Swift Suppression of Rising —Confidence in Sir John Maxwell—Loss of Battleship Russell Partly Offset in Public Mind by Sinking of Hun Submarine

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, April 28.—The first serious naval disaster recorded for some time past served to remind the public today that the danger from mines is every present in all waters patrolled by the navy, and that despite the utmost vigilance, a catastrophe such as that which overtook the battleship Russell is unavoidable.

The announcement of the destruction of a German submarine off the East Coast afforded some consolation, as indicating the unceasing watchfulness of the Naval Patrol on the North Sea.

News from Ireland served still further to reassure the nation in regard to the ability of the Government to handle the situation. It is indicated that the troops at Dublin have now practically got the rebels at their mercy.

There is a general feleing that the rising should be put down with the utmost firmness and that an example should be made of Casement. The latter will be tried by court-martial shortly. Gen. Sir John Maxwell's record in the Soudan is ample guarantee that he will allow no lack of firmness to affect his handling of the Dublin rebels.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, April 28.—A German submarine was sunk off the east coast of England yesterday, the Admiralty announced this afternoon. The crew of eighteen surrendered.

The British battleship Russell struck a mine and sank in the Mediterranean yesterday, the Admiralty announced today. Of the crew of about 824, it is stated, 124 officers and men are missing and believed to have perished.

Admiral Freemantle, Captain Smith, twenty-four officers and 676 men were saved.

The sinking of the Russell and of the German submarine was announced in the following official statement:

"H.M.S. Russell, Captain William Bowden Smith, R.N., flying the flag of Rear-Admiral Freemantle, struck a mine in the Mediterranean yesterday and was sunk. The Admiral, captain, twenty-four officers and 676 men were saved. There are about 124 officers and men missing.

"A German submarine was sunk off the east coast yesterday. One officer and seventeen men of the crew surrendered and were made prisoners.

The Russell was one of the older British battleships, having been constructed in 1900-01. She displaced 14,000 tons and was 405 feet long, with a beam of 75 feet. She was built at a cost of about $5,000,000. The Russell normally carried a crew of 824 men. Her armament included four twelve-inch guns, twelve six-inch and twenty guns of lesser calibre. She carried also four torpedo tubes. The battleship Montagu, a sister ship of the Russell, was wrecked on Lundy in 1906.

FRENCH BOMB HUN STATIONS

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, April 28.—Numerous air raids along the western front in which several German planes, including a Fokker, were brought down, were reported by the War Office today. There were no important activities on the whole front, excepting intermittent bombardment northwest of Verdun.

A French squadron dropped eighteen bombs on La Marche station in the Woevre. One German plane attacked by the French dropped near Douaumont, badly damaged, and another fell near Mont Faucon. A French aviator, piloting a Nieuport monoplane, defeated a Fokker, which fell behind the German lines.

The Germans dropped shells at infrequent intervals during the night in the region of Avocourt, Esnes and Fromezy.

This information is contained in the French official report issued this afternoon, the text of which is as follows:

"Last night witnessed no event of importance with the exception of an intermittent bombardment in the regions of Avocourt and Esnes, and a certain activity on the part of our trench guns in the sector of Regneville, to the west of Pont-a-Mousson.

"During the day of Thursday French aviators delivered numerous aerial attacks. An aeroplane of the enemy was brought down in the region of Fromezy. Two other German machines, attacked by French airmen, were compelled to land seriously injured, one near Douaumont and the other in the wood of Mont-Faucon. In the region of Nesles-Chaulnes a German Fokker plane, reached by the French fire, was seen to fall head first within the German line.

During the day of the 27th a French air squadron in the Woevre bombarded the railroad station at La marche, throwing down eighteen shells."

More Russian Troops Landed at Marseilles

Special Star Cable by United Press.

MARSEILLES, April 28.—A third convoy of Russian troops was landed here today.

The third Russian contingent marched through the streets to the accompaniament of bands and was escorted by French troops to a camp just outside the city, joining the second contingent landed a few days ago, which has not yet moved forward to the western front.

Russian Positions on Poland Front Have Been Made Secure

By Canadian Press.

PETROGRAD, April 27, via London, April 28.—Excepting for a continuous German offensive on the Dvinsk front, which has resolved itself into a sustained assault upon the Ikskull bridgehead, the Easter holidays passed without even minor episodes, to say nothing of the swift changes which have marked almost every month of the warfare on the Russian fronts.

According to Russian officers returning from various fronts on the battle line, the period of absolute calm enforced by the impassible condition of the roads after the spring thaw has been utilized to the best advantage by the Russians, who everywhere have greatly strengthened or perfected their defence, until now thy are confident that all future German attempts to advance, either on the northern front or in Galicia, will be defeated.

A correspondent of the Associated Press in Galicia, who took an aeroplane flight over a sector of the Russian front in order to examine the condition of the Russian defences, says that in the three months since the Russians occupied their present advanced positions, everything possible has been done, by means of an amazing network of trenches and entanglements, to render the positions impregnable.

Although there is no immediate prospect of a Russian offensive, the army is equipped and prepared in every way to resume the initiative as soon as the condition of the ground and the roads permit. There is an abundance of ammunition on hand, and a minimum of illness among the soldiers, who appear to be in the best of spirits.

In Asia Minor, the successive arrivals of Turkish reinforcements from Constantinople, Bagdad and Syria, which are said to have brought up the total of Turkish troops in the neighborhood of Erzingan to eight divisions, are declared to have been unable to check the gradual westward progress of the Russian troops from Erzerum and Trebizond.

Each forward move of the Russians however, is only achieved now after a desperate struggle, and it is apparent as the Russians proceed they will meet with steadily increasing resistance.

AUSTRIAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, April 28, by wireless to Sayville. The Austro-Hungarian headquarters report of April 26, received here from Vienna, is as follows:

"On the southwest edge of the Doberdo plateau new and violent engagements took place.

"East of Selz, the enemy succeeded in entering our positions on a larger front, but when they manifested an intention to continue the attack, the Austro-Hungarians, by counter-attacks, drove the Italians into their former position and even ejected them from these in bitter hand-to-hand fighting. Thereby all our former positions are in our hands. Italians to the number of 130 were made prisoners.

"The artillery fire was very lively at several places on the Isonzo front.

"On the Carnician front, there was little change. At Col di Lana our heavy mortars continued their fire. The enemy's artillery decreased its activity.

"In the Sugana sector the Italians evacuated all positions between Vetto and Ronceano, where much war material was found. The Italians withdrew to Ronceano."

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

BERLIN, April 28, via London, 2:05 p.m.—The Admiralty announced today that on the night of April 27 German naval forces destroyed a large British guard vessel on the ... Sea, and brought in a fishing ... as a prize.

COURT OF APPEAL RULES THAT MAYOR MUST PAY THE FINE

Holds He Was Guilty of Contempt of Court in Franchise Matter

In a judgment handed down this afternoon, the Court of King's Bench, Appeals Side, confirms the judgment of Mr. Justice Maclennan who condemned Mayor Martin to a $1,000 fine for contempt of court in connection with the tramways project adopted by the old Board of Control on June 30, 1915.

Chief Justice Archambault, and Justices Trenholme, Cross, Pelletier, and Lavergne were on the bench when the Chief Justice read the judgment that decides against the mayor on his three main points of defence. These were that the injunction was not valid, that it was irregularly served and that he did not, in any event, know of its existence at the time when he was charged with having committed contempt of court.

know of the existence of the injunction was not valid, the Appeals judges found that, though the injunction may have been irregular in form because of the absence of security, that did not excuse the mayor in his action.

The mayor's claim that he did not kne of the existence of the injunction brought forth stinging comment from the court.

"He did know," said the judgment, "otherwise how can we explain the scandalous haste with which he proceeded to the vote. Anyway, if he did not know of the existence of the injunction on the day when it was served, he did know of it two days afterwards, when he signed the report at his home at Laval des Rapids.

"He says, when examined, that he signed it because he did not consider it was a valid order. He tells us he was not a lawyer, but it is rather peculiar that, though not a lawyer, he should set himself up as the judge of the validity of a legal document.

"He committed an act of contempt of court which led to one of the most scandalous incidents in the municipal history of Montreal."

Mayor Martin appealed from Mr. Justice Maclennan's judgment which condemned him to pay $1,000 to the Crown, for contempt of court, in disobeying an injunction restraining the members of the Board of Control from taking action on the Tramways franchise, renewal project, June 30 last. Mr. Justice Maclennan found that the injunction was known to the Mayor and his colleagues, and that they had wilfully disregarded it. In court, the Mayor submitted that the injunction was not a valid one, that it was irregularly served, and that he, in any event, had no knowledge of its existence at the time when he was charged with having disregarded it. Knowledge, proper service, and wilful disregard, submitted the Mayor, were three essential conditions before contempt could be committed.

HIS MAJESTY WAS STARTER AT THE HARRIER MEET

LONDON, April 28. — The King acted as starter at the military seven miles cross country race at Aldershot yesterday, in which thirty-eight teams and 760 runners competed.

This was the first occasion on which South Africans and Canadians have taken part in a competition of this kind at Aldershot.

Corp. Stidolph, of the Royal Flying Corps, a Herne Hill harrier, was the individual winner, doing it in 40 minutes 55 seconds. The next men were Pte. C. Ferr, of the 47th Canadians, 40 minutes 56 seconds, and Pte. Morgan, of the 47th, 43 minutes 8 seconds.

The timber and other lands owned by the United States are a source of profit which is growing yearly.

WAR NEWS OF ONE YEAR AGO TODAY.

SEN. CHOQUETTE AGAIN DISCUSSES HAZELTON LIBELS

Declares He Did Not Attack Canadian Soldiers at All

DEFENDS HAZELTON AND ABUSES PAPERS

In Turn Senator is Denounced by Fellows in Senate

OTTAWA, April 28.—Senator Choquette's recent speech regarding recrulting formed the one subject of debate in the Senate this afternoon, warm language being used by the Quebec legislator in reference to his remarks.

At the opening of the sitting, Senator Sproule said he had been asked by Senator Taylor to ask the Senate to drop his (Senator Taylor's) enquiry of the Government if it intended to take any action in reference to the Montreal Star's editorial statement "that Senator Choquette should be kicked out of the Senate."

Senator Choquette said that although it was proposed to drop the enquiry, it had appeared on the records, and it was only fair he should be permitted to reply to it.

"I could have said then what I say now," said Senator Choquette, "Speaking of Sir Hugh Graham, of the Montreal Star, that I don't care for the barkings of dirty dogs or blackmailers, like Graham, of the Montreal Star, or Willison, of the Toronto News, but I would not degrade the Senate by raising a question of privilege.

"To have done so would have been an insult to the members of the Senate by indirectly admitting that my speech had been insulting to the soldiers of Canada, and that the Senate had listened to it without resenting it. If I had insulted these soldiers the leader of the Government in the Senate should have called me to order; but, on the contrary, when I spoke the first time in the Senate, I praised and congratulated the soldiers, and never said a word against them."

Senator Choquette denounced the attack of Hon. Mr. Kemp, the acting Minister of Militia, as most unfair.

Senator Choquette's offence was his approval of Hazelton's letter which said of the soldiers who had enlisted in Toronto:

"These defectives are 99 percent so-called English—are they English—or are they the offspring of foreign sailors and English dock prostitutes!

"And again:

"Our well-bred educated Canadians have no use for such cattle, and refuse to enlist as comrades with such beasts."

(The Star said Choquette should be expelled. Choquette, under the protection of his privilege as a Senator, abused The Star publishers and others in the choice language which has made the Senator famous. A Senator or a member of Parliament can make use of any language he chooses without being subject to prosecution.)

Is Denounced by Fellow-Senators

Senator Beaubien said he had been in Toronto just after Hazelton had been mobbed and the newspapers had connected the riot with the speech delivered by Senator Choquette. He had been pained to hear responsible men in Toronto take the words of Senator Choquette as the expression of the sentiment of the people of Quebec. He congratulated the English members of the Senate for the disregard with which they had listened to Senator Choquette, and declared that in reading the letter Senator Choquette had made himself responsible for the abuse of the English which that letter contained.

In reading that letter in the Senate and putting it on record for publication, Senator Choquette had made himself responsible for it. The effect had been to set further apart the two great races of Canada and that was a real crime. People who commit such crimes will stay branded for their act, he said.

Senator Gordon declared that Senator Choquette had no right to assume that because English members of the Senate had not risen to contradict him they were in accord with his sentiments. He believed members of the Senate had decided that silence was the best answer that Senator Choquette could have had.

REMARKS AN INSULT.

Senator Daniel was sorry that Senator Choquette thought he agreed with him because he had not replied to his speech. The long explanation given by Senator Choquette amounted to nothing, but again showed that his remarks were an insult to the soldiers of Canada, and the whole English-speaking race.

Senator Watson said that he, too, had been slandered. "The Toronto News printed a report of Senator Choquette's speech and credited me with having delivered it. I wrote to the editor of the News, and, I may say, that he corrected the mistake. However, I think that when a Senator delivers such speeches as that made by Senator Choquette and credited to me I think that the senator making the speech should have it copyrighted so that other members of the Senate would not be given credit for it."

Facts Cited Prove Senator Choquette's Statements Grotesque

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28.—Answering Senator Choquette, the morning papers make editorial use of remarkable recruiting figures among the "British-born" in Toronto.

The Globe says:

"Senator Choquette has been at it again. The trouble-maker says he has been abused, not for what he said, but because he is a French-Canadian Roman Catholic. So far as the Globe is concerned, that is a falsehood so ridiculous as to require no denial. The Globe did not publish the offensive reference in Senator Choquette's original speech to the parentage of rejected Toronto recruits. It was so filthy that it was struck out of the report by the telegraph editor as a matter of common decency.

"If any cowardice has been displayed in the matter it has been by the wretched falsifier who declared in the Senate on April 12: 'I see by the papers that there is no recruiting of good men in Toronto; not one-third of the men recruited are able to pass the examination,' and who has not the courage to admit that this statement, which was not Hazelton's, but his own, is a slanderous lie levelled at thousands of good Toronto citizens.

"The official figures to which Senator Choquette could have had access, had he wanted to learn the truth, prove that on an average not quite one-fourth of the recruits who have come forward in Toronto since hostilities began have been rejected.

"Of 1,522 Earlscourt men who presented themselves for enlistment only sixty-five were rejected. Of the accepted 1,073 were English, 234 Scotch, and 26 Irish. In face of these figures, the Hazelton-Choquette slanders seem grotesque."

UNANSWERABLE FIGURES.

In a news column the Globe adds: "Earlscourt homes have given 1,457 men to the colors according to information gathered by a band of workers from the Earlscourt Methodist churches during the past ten days. Of the total enlistment 1,441 are British-born, thirteen from Newfoundland, two from the United States, and one is French-Canadian.

"Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Boon avenue, have given seven sons. Mr. Cameron, of Oakwood avenue, and his sons have enlisted, likewise Mr. Cooper, of Earlscourt avenue, and his four sons. Mr. Cooper has six brothers in the British Army.

"One avenue has only two men left, another four and another seven men."

RECORD OF BRITISH-BORN.

The Mail says editorially:

"The population of Earlscourt is probably about 10,000. This 'British-born' district has given to the colors 1,457 men, of whom 914 are married, and 513 single. Of the married men, 145 have three children each, seventy have four, thirty-five have five, sixteen have six, ten have seven, five have eight, and one has twelve and one thirteen.

"Perhaps no other district in any community in Canada can show as good a response to the call for men. Earlscourt is distinctive as being a thorough 'British-born' colony, planted on clearly cut lines in a Canadian city."

CONTINUATION OF LT.-COL. P. A. GUTHRIE'S NARRATIVE OF THE FIGHT WHERE CANADIANS WON UNDYING FAME A YEAR AGO

Friday, April 30th.

Last night we got orders to move up and occupy a line of trenches on the bank of the canal a short distance from the firing line. I moved up the battalion through the darkness along the roads and through fields, and while the new men did not of course display the same caution as did the vets, still they left nothing to be desired. They took their places in the trenches quietly. We had no mishaps and the day was spent with few casualties.

It is reported that the Germans are preparing for another big smash. They are likely waiting for a favorable wind so as to use the gas once more. We were to have gone out into billets quite a distance back for a good rest and to get thoroughly organized, but I guess we are needed. They will never break through now, however, as we have reinforcements here aplenty. If they could not handle a division of Canadians, I am sure they will not handle all the British troops that are here now, besides what is left of that division of Canadians.

Saturday, May 1st.

"We have had a fairly hard day. The shells have been coming overthick. We have had a few casualties. We are getting a bit acquainted with our new men. They are all right, but like new men will not keep their heads down. They seem to think it is part of their duty to see where the shells hit. They wish to gaze at every Taube that passes over, and of course in so doing they show their faces an dgive us all away. They ony require, however, a few days in which to become the best soldiers in the world, for they were "Made in Canada."

Last night Capt. Costigan, our adjutant, remarked that we had forgotten to instruct the new men whom we sent out on fatigue duty not to stand at the cross roads and wait for the water cart and grub waggon of our transport section to come up, and away he went down the road for a mile or so to tell them what not to do. You understand the Boche has all the roads, and especially the cross roads, marked, and at night, now and then drops a few shells along, just to make it interesting for our transports and fatigue men.

Costigan got to the cross roads just in time to find a chap lighting a cigarette and he ordered them to spread out in a field and lie down. This they did, but Costigan, not taking his own advice, stood warbling French to a "soldat de Francais" on the cross roads until Mr. Coalbox came along and lifting Costigan up, placed him in a ditch some yards away. The Frenchman was blown to pieces and scattered over about an acre of ground.

Costigan crawled out of the ditch and came back to report that he had given the men some good advice about standing on cross roads, and a practical demonstration to prove his arguments.

BURIED BY A SHELL.

During the afternoon, Costigan and Sam Maxwell of Winnipeg, our cook, orderly and general handy man, crawled into my dugout for a sleep, so that Costigan could go on duty tonight and let me turn in, as he insists that I have been taking too little sleep and will go "bug." They had just nicely got away into dreamland when a big shell came through the bank and levelled the dugout. The earth around was like a nicely raked garden newly put in.

I was in the next dugout, about six feet away, and immediately sprang on top of where the dugout had been and on my hands and knees tossed the earth back between my legs like a terrier after a rat. I first got Maxwell's face bare, so he could breathe, and then started in to dig Costigan out. Another shell burst about ten feet away, right in the middle of a pile of rifles (about two hundred) that had been gathered in from the field and stacked there there for the amourers to take back. There was not a rifle but what was shattered and the pieces of shell and of rifle filled the air round about. Five of our chaps who were hastening to my assistance got hurt and were taken to the dressing station nearby. A piece hit me on the sole of the boot.

I kept on digging and soon got Costigan's nose and mouth bared His first exclamation was: "You son of a gun, get off my chest"

A couple of our boys got a shovel and one fellow in his excitement started to dig him out, as you would a grave He put his foot on the shovel and run the point of it into Costigan's ribs Finally, we got him on a stretcher and sent him to the dressing station Maxwell was not hurt badly

Capt Arthur and I were discussing who we would put in as adjutant to take Costigan's place and had just decided on George G. Duncan, when in crept Costigan, his face stuck up with plaster, to report for duty. I think Costigan must have a charmed life. I have not known him long, but I am sure he is A 1 through and through.

THE "LINEUP."

On our left were French troops, which were up against the enemy, where the firing line crosses the canal; on our right were more French troops, and further on were the 5th Battalion. The 7th and 8th held positions slightly to the rear in support. The Third Brigade was up in front of the canal, and in close touch at one point with the enemy The 1st Brigade was in reserve, but having been detailed for working parties, the battalion were called upon to do very hard and dangerous work. The 2nd Battalion under Col (now Gen. Watson connected up the French and British lines in front of us, which was a task requiring the greatest skill and courage.

I was struck with the careless and happy-go-lucky style of the ploupiou. He is sure to get along under any conditions and make the most of his opportunities. When the shells were falling during the afternoon, from behind a deserted farmhouse came the coaxing, hungry squeals of a pig, and next we saw running across the field towards the canal bank a French soldier with a carrot in his hand, as an inducement to the poor, half-starved porker, which was close on his heels. Near the canal a little brook ran, crossed by a footbridge.

The pig balked at this, but a couple of soldier's comrades came to the rescue and pushed the pig across. The shells during this performance were dropping everywhere, trying to seek out one of our batteries hid in the field. One of our chaps remarked that the "Frenchie should get a V.C. for rescuing the pig. He was starving, poor chap, and they are going to feed him some of their rations.

Another replied that "if he was a good, self-respecting pig, he wouldn't eat the stuff."

A short time afterwards the squeals of the pig told us that he had become a "casualty," and one of our chaps advised that we "take his identity disk and sent it to Berlin, so that he might be published among his comrades."

In this vicinity the people had made a quick get-away and their live stock was left roaming through the fields. Sometimes a shell did up a few of them, but the surprising part of it was that so many escaped. Feeding along the canal bank, right up in full view and about 280 yards from the enemy, were a few cattle.

At night I found a couple of French soldiers milking by flarelight, while their comrades were joshing them from the dugouts near at hand. In the morning about five o'clock I was making my last trip for the night along our lines with Lieut. Gilbert Todhunter (killed May 20, 1915), and Sergt.-Major John Watson (died of wounds, May 24, 1915), and ran into the odor of broiling beefsteak. Following the smell, and almost getting a meal on it, we came to a dugout and here were some of our men over a little fire with a large junk of steak nearby.

They were new men, so I pretended to be very stern and demanded where they had got the steak. One chap, who was something of a joker, replied "Don't say a word, Major, and we'll send down a choice bit to your dugout, and the King won't be any the wiser."

Sure enough, when I returned, Maxwell had the steak sizzling, which had been delivered with a note reading: "To our beloved O. C. from his Midnight Rustlers."

STUDENTS PLAY VERY GOOD MUSIC IN McGILL PROGRAM

The orchestral concert given in the Hall of the Royal Victoria College last night by members of the McGill University Conservatorium of Music, was greatly appreciated by a large audience. The orchestra was at its best and performed excellently under the baton of Dr. Perrin. The only noticeable slips, made were in the opening overture "The Barber of Seville" where the horns and cellos flatted in their leads and in the "Deluge" where the second violins were slightly off color.

The last overture "Raymond" (Thomas) by the orchestra was the best and made a very fitting closing to a most successful concert.

Miss Edith Eager, a young and very accomplished pianist carried off honors in the first movement of the concerto for pianoforte and orchestra in D. Minor by Rubinstein.

This composition has tripped up musicians of much greater years and experience than Miss Eager, and the audience appreciated her efforts and recalled her several times to the platform.

The evening was practically devoted to instrumental work, the only vocal number being given by Miss Doris Grose, who sang two songs by Rimsky-Korsakow and Teresa Del Riego, displaying a fine voice and careful training in both.

Mr. Casey, violinist, was heard to great advantage in the solo part of the "Deluge" number, which preceded an interesting work in the Finnish Prelude by Jarnfelt. There was a novelty, excellently rendered, in the concertino for clarinet and orchestra by Weber, the soloist, J. D. Robinson, showing mastery of his instrument and playing with fine phrasing.

A Schubert Moment Musical and Scharwenka's Polonaise in A flat were very well played on the piano by Miss Hazel Rexford.

Mrs. H. B. Clay delighted everybody with her interpretation of a Humoresque by Grieg and a Chopin Nocturne and Miss Dorothy Armstrong's renderings of Schubert's Impromptu in E flat and Barrett's "Cloches" were artistic and most effective. Miss Alice Magnan gave a brilliant reading of Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz."

The Misses M. Reddy and Ruth Duncan contributed two violin duets, "Berceuse" and "Abandon" by Godard, in musical fashion.

LADIES' CHORAL ASSN. SINGS WELL IN GOOD PROGRAM

The Montreal Ladies' Choral Society, a new organization of some thirty enthusiasts, was heard by its friends for the first time yesterday afternoon, when an enjoyable program was given in the blue room of the Windsor Hotel. A. E. J. McCreary, the conductor, explained that the members were not banded together to make money, but for the pleasure of singing and to cultivate the voice. Moreover, the recital was more a final rehearsal than a public concert, the audience being invited to see what the society had accomplished.

This accomplishment was such that those interested had every reason to feel gratified. The material composing the choir is not lacking in all the qualities needed for good choral singing and Mr. McCreary has brought his singers up to a high grade of efficiency in the comparatively short time of the society's existence. He has laid emphasis upon the essential things, clear enunciation, good rhythm, a brisk, clean tone and attention to expression. In Cadman's "Indian Mountain Song," breadth of effect was achieved, while the lighter numbers, "The Retort," by Wooler and Bartlett's "Robert of Lincoln," went con brio and with a catchy swing.

Among the soloists, Mrs. Eldred Archibald, who possesses a soprano voice of vibrant brightness and resonance, was heard in a florid obligato to "Robert," measures which were rippled out with the proper sparkle. Mrs. Hyde sang very tastefully in the solo part of "Fair Maiden," later joining Mrs. Dewar in a pretty duet. Miss Carrie Dougherty, whose voice has an individual timbre of much charm, gave a good account of herself in the solo of Mr. McCreary's patriotic song, "Daughters of the Empire." Mr. Medlar's baritone is of beautiful quality, round and full of color. He sang "Star of Eve," from "Tannhauser." Mr. Griffin in "The Caravan" and "Because" showed an appreciation of refined emotional expression, artistic phrasing and an admirable lyrical voice. Mrs. William Murray Reid was an efficient accompanist.

A Chopin Fantasie for piano was played in musicianly style by Miss Lander.

EDWARD FARRER DEAD IN OTTAWA

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, April 28.—Edward Farrer, one of Canada's most distinguished journalists, died at his residence here yesterday after a lengthy illness of heart trouble. He was in his sixty-sixth year. The late Mr. Farrer, who was born in England of Irish parentage, was educated at Stoneyhurst, England, and the Jesuit College in Rome. He came to Canada in 1870 and joined the editorial staff of the old Daily Telegraph at Toronto. On the establishment of the Mail two years later, he joined that paper in a similar capacity. In 1874 he went to Ireland as an immigration agent, and went to the New York World as foreign editor. From 1882 to 1884 he was editor-in-chief of the Mail, and afterwards went to Winnipeg, where he conducted the Times and Sun. Subsequently he was on the editorial staff of the Toronto Globe, but retired from active newspaper work in 1892.

Later he resided in Washington, but returned to Canada in 1905, and had since been a magazine writer and correspondent of the London Economist. He had been a believer in political union with the United States as Canada's ultimate destiny.

MAGAZINE COLLECTION.

The Wolfe and Montcalm Chapter I.O.D.E., will make a collection for waste papers and magazines on Monday, May 1, on the side streets above Sherbrooke to St. Catherine from Atwater to Bleury streets. Any persons having old magazines and papers may telephone to Mrs. C. E. Neill, Uptown 4504, and they will be called for.

Dawson-Duckworth.

In St. Paul's Church, Vancouver, the marriage was solemnized this week of Miss Lilian Ruth Duckworth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Duckworth, formerly of Montreal, and Mr. Charles E. Dawson, of Vaucouver, the Rev. H. King officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white ninon over white silk, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. She was attended by Miss Eva Martin, wearing white marquisette over old rose, with an old rose hat, and carrying pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Raymond K. Stirling. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dawson left for California, where the honeymoon will be spent. Going away the bride wore a white broadcloth costume and hat of old rose.

Benefit Card Party.

A successful Bridge and Five Hundred for the benefit of the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. Charles A. Workman, 333 Kensington avenue. Daffodils and marguerites formed the decorations throughout the house. Cards were played at thirty-two tables. Mrs. G. Fischel and Mrs. Abinovitch were conveners of the card tables, and Mrs. D. Friedman and Mrs. J. Jacobs were in charge of the tea room. Twenty prizes were given.

HERE and THERE

Eight weeks ago the police department of Monmoth, Ill., bought two bloodhounds and paid the sum of $250 for them. The dogs have earned $225 and have located stolen property in Warren, Mercer and Henderson Counties to the value of $1800.

Rellis G. Conant, a law student at the University of Wisconsin, pitched a tent last Fall on the slope from Main Hall to Lake Mendota, and has lived and studied there all Winter. The abode is well furnished with table, chairs, bed, stove. Conant has done all his cooking.

In one day, recently, Postmaster E. A. Purdy of Minneapolis had applications from 12 mail carriers who wanted their vacations in June because they were to be married then. Mr. Purdy said he was not surprised; it was the same story every Spring.

A celebrated Japanese singing bird, known as the bush warbler, has just gone into retirement. A dinner was given in her honor at the villa of her owner, T. Tanaka of Osaka, Japan, and many notable persons were present. About 20 singing birds were there and gave a chorus of adieu for their comrade, who has won prizes at every competition.

Federal Court attaches in Toledo, O, declared a precedent was established when members of the Women's Relief Corps presented the United States District Court here with an American flag. Flags have been placed in schools from coast to coast by the organization, but never in any court of Justice, it was said, so far as is known no flag has ever before been presented to a Federal tribunal.

GAVE CANADIAN FIRM SMALL ORDER AFTER A BIG ONE WENT TO U.S.

Month After Ordering 1,665,000 No. 100 Fuses From America at $4 Shell Committee Let Order to Canadians for 500,000 at $3.50, "To Encourage Manufacture in Canada"

Special to The Montreal Star by Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28.—That a month after an order for 1,665,000 No. 100 fuses at $4 each had been let to two United States firms, an order for 500,000 of the same fuses had been let to Messrs. T. A. Russell and Lloyd Harris at an average price of $3.50, because "the importance of starting the manufacture of fuses in Canada would justify the foregoing prices." was brought out during this morning's session of the Royal Commission investigating the Kyte fuse charges.

FUSE ORDER EXPLAINED

"It seems somewhat remarkable," observed Mr. Hellmuth, counsel for the Commission, "that a month after letting the order for 1,665,000 fuses at $4, we should find the Committee justifying itself for letting one for 500,000 at the prices mentioned.'

Col. Carnegie's answer seemed somewhat involved. At the time the large order had been let, he stated, the Shell Committee had no information as to the cost of the No. 100 fuse in the United States and England.

When the order was let to Russell and Harris, however, the Committee had the help of Gen. Pease, who had meanwhile visited the United States and had been informed that "the prices paid there for the unloaded fuse were less than the prices for which we had let orders to the American Ammunition Company."

The Committee, said Col. Carnegie, had at the time no orders for fuses from the War Office, but considered that in order to start the manufacture of No. 100 fuses in Canada it would stretch a point and give a contract to the Russell firm.

Col. Carnegie in his answer appeared to be anxious to justify the price given to the Russell firm rather than the higher one placed a month before with the American company, and said in justification of it that at the same date an order had been placed by the War Office with a splendidly equipped British firm for No. 100 fuses at $3 each.

WANTED ORDER RE-OPENED

In this morning's examination of Col. Carnegie Mr. Hellmuth took the witness through a file of correspondence between the Shell Committee, various manufacturing firms, the War Office and others. There was a further letter from the Russell Motor Car Company, stating that Gen. Pease, the expert from the War Office, had visited their plant and was anxious to have fuses manufactured there.

They had inquired whether it would not be possible to reopen a portion of the order for 5,000,000 fuses given to the two American companies. This letter was dated June 21, two days after the order had been placed in the United States.

Col. Carnegie reiterated his opinion, entertained at that time, that the Russell Company could manufacture No. 100, but not time fuses. J. B. Drain, representing two other United States companies, had also sought orders a few days after they had been placed with the American Ammunition and International Arms and Fuse Companies.

The guarantees secured by the Shell Committee from the Guarantee Trust Company, of New York, recommended by the general manager of the Bank of Montreal as to their financial standing, were also read and showed that the 10 per cent advances, made to the United States fuse firms of $1,040,000 and $1,125,000 each, were repayable to the Shell Committee in the event of cancellation of the contracts by the Committee for non-delivery.

RUSSELL COMPANY WANTS ORDER

Col. Carnegie, continuing his evidence, said that the difference between the loaded and the unloaded graze fuse was that the unloaded contained no detonator.

Mr. Hellmuth then read another letter from the Russell Motor Company, of Toronto, dated June 21, 1915. It was addressed to the Shell Committee and read in part:

"On Wednesday last we had, after Col. Carnegie's return, a very full discussion on the question of fuse manufacture with Lieut.-Gen. Pease.

Mr. Hellmuth — Do you know if Lieut.-Gen. Pease was in Toronto at that time?

The witness—Yes.

The letter read that Lieut.-Gen. Pease was anxious to see if fuses could be manufactured completely in Canada so as to be independent of outside service and particularly of the United States.

"Since that time," the letter continued, "we have given our best attention to the question discussed by Col. Carnegie of making 200,000 time fuses. Our conclusion is that it is problematical if a firm could start in and learn this intricate work successfully on an order of 200,000. We have, concluded, however, that if we are favored with the proposed order of one million No. 100 fuses, this is a class of work for which we are specially well suited, and that we would be willing to devote some of the experience gained in making small quantities and appropriate some of the profits we would hope to make from such transaction to the development of the time fuse business."

WANTED CONTRACT REOPENED.

The letter continues that the firm would be ready to put in necessary equipment and that Lloyd Harris, of the Russell Company, had been to New York and found that the American concerns had not yet done anything with the 5,000,000 order of time fuses. The letter added that if the War Office had decided not to order the extra million of No. 100 fuse, the Russell Company would like to reopen the question of the 5,000,000 order.

LATEST NEWS OF CASUALTIES IN BRITISH FORCES

Special Cable to The Montreal Star From Our London Correspondent. (Copyright).

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur street, London, April 28. —Relatives today announce that the following have been killed in action: Lieut. Warren Pemberton of the Royal Flying Corps, son of F. Pemberton, of Victoria, B.C.; and Pte. William Torrance, of the C.A.M.C., son of Lady Torrance and the late Sir Andrew Torrance.

It is unofficially announced that Lieut.-Col. the Hon. C. Coventry, second son of Earl Coventry, has been taken prisoner at Katia, Egypt.

The following is the latest report of Canadian wounded: Brig.-Gen. Leckie, who for a time was on the danger list, transferred to hospital in London; Lieut. J Levett, suffering from shell concussion and exposure, and Capt F Peterman, who is progressing satisfactorily from a gunshot wound in the forehead, both in hospital in London; Lieut A Rushton, suffering from shell-shock, in hospital in Cambridge; Lieut. E. Mingo, with a gunshot wound in the left arm, and Lieut. F. Rowan, with a gunshot wound in the left thigh, in hospital in France; Lieut. R. Burnett, dangerously wounded in the thigh, and Lieut. A. D. Armour, severely wounded, in hospital at Le Touquet; Capt. H. Kingstone, and Lieuts. C. Kingsford and G. Morrisey, who are only slightly wounded, have all returned to duty.

OTTAWA DECIDES NOT TO DISALLOW THE ONTARIO ACT

Special to The Montreal Star From Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28.—The Dominion Government has decided to not interfere with or disallow the enactment of the Ontario Legislature last year, creating a commission to operate the separate schools in Ottawa and incidentally validating the famous Regulation 17.

Under the British North America Act the Dominion Government has the right to disallow any act of a Legislature within one year after the official copy of it is received at Ottawa.

The bilingual Act was received on April 28 of last year, so the time in which the prerogative of disallowance could be exercised expired today.

Thousands of petitions asking that the Act be vetoed were received, but the Government declines to intervene in what is peculiarly a matter of provincial jurisdiction.

The constitutionality of the law has so far been upheld in the courts, but final appeal to the Privy Council has been made and will be argued this summer.

It is probable that the question will be brought up by some one in Parliament, though neither side indicates any extreme anxiety to do so.

MEXICO CITY, April 28—In a battle between 6,000 rebels and the Constitutionalist army just north of the city of Oaxaca, the rebels were defeated with a loss of 500 men killed and many wounded or taken prisoner, according to a message received last night at the War Department from Oaxaca.

The battle line extended over a front of fifteen kilometres at the foot and on the slopes of Sierra de Ixtla. The fighting lasted five hours before the insurgents were forced to flee into the mountains.

The Constitutionalist troops were commanded by Gen. Castro, who is pursuing the rebels.

CONFERENCE POSSIBILITIES.

Special to The Montreal Star by Carl D. Great of the United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Indications are given that in his conference at Juarez with Gen. Obregon, Gen. Scott may propose that Carranza's soldiers independently scour a portion of Chihuahua, while the American columns search elsewhere.

This move, authorities said, would provide the actual co-operation Scott seeks, would relieve the American expedition of considerable of its work and at the same time make for the early dispersal of Villa's bands and perhaps his capture.

Above all, such a working agreement would obviate the danger of a repetition of the Parral clash. Officials are hopeful that Col. Dodd soon will have fresh victories to report. The campaign still has much work ahead, army men say, as Villa bands are rossming the wild lands of Chihuahua.

Supplies are known to be sufficient until May 15 or longer. If Gen. Scott can get better use of the railways the supply problem will be solved.

WORLD'S ALTITUDE RECORD BROKEN BY 24,408-FOOT ASCENT.

LONDON, April 28.—Harry G. Hawker made a world's altitude record in an aeroplane at Brooklands Wednesday, according to an announcement made by the Aero Club here. Hawker ascended to a height of 24,408 feet.

The greatest height attained by an aviator was 25,756 feet by Heinrich Oelerich, a German aviator, in 1914. This feat, however, according to available data, has not been recognized by the Royal Aero Club.

COMPROMISE BILL'S COLLAPSE PRESAGES FULL CONSCRIPTION

Although Failure is Embarrassing to Ministry, There is No Reason to Anticipate Fall of Government — Lloyd George's Plan May Be Adopted

Special Cable to The Montreal Star From our London Correspondent (Copyright.)

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur street, London, April 28. —Unquestionably the Asquith Ministry is much embarrassed by last night's collapse in the House of Commons of their compromise measure on conscription, but there is no reason as yet to anticipate the fall of the Government.

The collapse completes the absurdity of the secret session, which certainly will not be repeated by a British Parliamentary Government, which requires fresh air.

It will also probably be the prelude to a frank Government adoption of general compulsion and the possibility of embracing Lloyd George's plan, which the Carsonites will accept, viz., immediate legislation to adopt conscription, if 50,000 unattested married men do not volunteer by May 27.

The best authorities in London seem confident that Sir John Maxwell and martial law will cope with the Irish trouble.

The Times suggests editorially that the Irish Secret Society in America is reaping a golden harvest from German sources.

SIR JOHN MAXWELL LANDS IN IRELAND: STEAMERS RUNNING

British Public Realizes Situation Grave—Official Announcement to Be Made Shortly—Demands That Traitor Suffer Death Penalty — Irish-Americans to Try and Save Him

Special Cable to The Montreal Star From Our London Correspondent. (Copyright.)

THE MONTREAL STAR OFFICE, 17 Cockspur Street, April 28. — Mr. Birrell's present visit to Ireland may be his last as Irish Secretary. Some of his best friends here find it difficult to acquit him of slackness and neglect of obviously necessary precautions. The Daily Express suggests that Earl Kitchener should go to Ireland as Viceroy in place of Lord Wimborne, who also is charged with lack of decision.

It is believed here that 3,000 is the utmost number of rioters in Dublin. The Government forces now there are ample to prevent any extension of disorder. It is stated that the rioters are almost wholly youthful enthusiasts, probably not more than a hundred of them voters or men of mature age, whose greatest hope is to damage Mr. Redmond's reputation and the Nationalist cause in the interest of Irish extremist views. In this they will fail.

WINDERMERE.

SIR JOHN MAXWELL LANDS

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, April 28. Major-Gen. Sir John Maxwell, one of the heroes of the last Egyptian campaign, arrived in Ireland today and assumed immediate command of the troops which will suppress the rebellion.

His point of landing is a secret, as are all other details concerning the progress of the rebellion in the past twenty-four hours. The Press Bureau, however, hopes to be able to give out a statement in the course of the day dealing with the Irish disorders.

Both the press and public admit today that the Irish rebellion confronts England with a grave situation. The public has no knowledge as to the extent to which the revolt has spread, beyond Premier Asquith's statement, mentioning Western counties in particular. It has been reported from time to time, however, that the counties of Meath and Louth, north of Dublin, as well as the western counties of Clare, Tipperary and Limerick, were centres of Sinn Fein activities.

A limited passenger service to Ireland was restored today, but the rigid censorship on all despatches from Irish cities continues. Many rumors continue in circulation regarding the progress of the street fighting in Dublin where the rebels at last reports held the post office and other buildings, but nothing definite is known here, beyond the official statement.

The public is demanding the early execution of Casement, who is described in the newspapers as strutting about his cell in the Tower of London boasting of his success in starting the Dublin revolts. Statements that the traitor's life will be spared because he is mentally unbalanced have aroused intense indignation.

To Punish Cowardly Traducers of Wilson

By Canadian Press.

NEW YORK, April 28. An investigation was begun today at the office of the United States District Attorney to determine whether a crime has been committed by persons responsible for attacks on President Wilson and the national administration that have appeared in Irish-American papers published here since the outbreak of the revolution in Dublin.

Copies of these editorials will be examined, it was said, in one of the assistant district attorney's who has been prominent in the investigation of alien conspiracies.

The attention of the Federal authorities was first aroused by an editorial statement that information which led to the sinking of the German ship which attempted to land arms and ammunition on Irish soil came from a member of the Washington administration "on the orders of President Wilson." This declaration has been authoritatively denied in Washington.

Col. Patrick J. Wallace, commander of a Connemara brigade of the Irish Volunteers, who is now in New York, is authority for the statement that the present situation in Ireland was not fostered in Germany nor in America.

"The plans of the Irish Volunteers," he said, "have been ready ever since the first draft of conscription was heard in Ireland. At the time of the revolt there were 3,000 fully armed and fully trained volunteers in Dublin. Out through the country there were 60,000."

An opposite view is expressed by the Marquis of Aberdeen, for nine years Viceroy of Ireland. Lord Aberdeen, who is now in New York, said that while he did not underestimate the seriousness of the situation he was nevertheless convinced that the outbreak would be of a short duration.

PLEA FOR TRAITOR'S LIFE.

In discussing yesterday's despatches regarding signs of unrest in parts of Ireland outside Dublin, he said:

"This statement doubtless refers to certain localities where for a very long time there have been small centres of discontent, and in view of all these circumstances it is not the least surprising that it has been thought proper to place the whole country, nominally, for the time being, under martial law.

"As to the apparent lack of repressive measures on the part of the Government in the past concerning this Sinn Fein movement, it must be remembered that in Britain, as also in this country, the public mind is sensitive about anything that might seem to trench upon freedom of speech, and of the press."

Michael Francis Doyle, a lawyer, living in Philadelphia, who in this city today, in the interest of Sir Roger Casement, from whom he said he had a power of attorney, Mr. Doyle said he had come here to oppose Mrs. George Henry Newman, a sister of Sir Roger, who is living at a hotel.

"I have urged Secretary Tumulty to ask for an appointment with President Wilson," Mr. Doyle said. "I will ask him to intercede for Sir Roger. I shall present a strong case for such action by the President in behalf of one who has done a great work done for humanity by Sir Roger in South Africa."

GERMAN SUBMARINE ON EAST COAST SUNK: H.M.S. RUSSELL HITS MINE

British Battleship Goes Down in Mediterranean With Loss of 124 Lives—Was Admiral Fremantle's Flagship—French Aviators Active on Western Front—Bomb Military Stations

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, April 28.—A German submarine was sunk off the east coast of England yesterday, the Admiralty announced this afternoon. The crew of eighteen surrendered.

Special Star Cable by United Press.

LONDON, April 28.—The British battleship Russell struck a mine and sank in the Mediterranean yesterday, the Admiralty announced this afternoon. Of the crew of about 824, it is stated, 124 officers and men are missing and believed to have perished. Admiral Fremantle, Captain Smith, twenty-four officers and 676 men were saved.

OFFICIAL BRITISH STATEMENT

The sinking of the Russell and of the German submarine was announced in the following official statement:

"H.M.S. Russell, Captain William Bowden Smith, R. N., flying the flag of Rear-Admiral Fremantle, struck a mine in the Mediterranean yesterday and was sunk. The admiral, captain, twenty-four officers and 676 men were saved. There are about 124 officers and men missing.

"A German submarine was sunk off the east coast yesterday. One officer and seventeen men of the crew surrendered and were made prisoners.

The Russell was one of the older British battleships, having been constructed in 1900-01. She displaced 14,000 tons and was 405 feet long, with a beam of 75 feet. She was built at a cost of about $5,000,000. The Russell normally carried a crew of 824 men. Her armament included four twelve-inch guns, twelve 6-inch, and twenty guns of lesser calibre. She carried also four torpedo tubes. The battleship Montagu, a sister ship of the Russell, was wrecked on Lundy in 1906.

FRENCH BOMB HUN STATIONS

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, April 28. Numerous air raids along the western front in which several German planes, including a Fokker, were brought down, were reported by the War Office today. There were no important activities on the whole front, excepting intermittent bombardment northwest of Verdun.

A French squadron dropped eighteen bombs on La Marche station in the Woevre. One German plane attacked by the French dropped near Donaumont, badly damaged, and another fell near Mont Faucon. A French aviator, piloting a Nieuport monoplane, defeated a Fokker, which fell behind the German lines.

The Germans dropped shells at infrequent intervals during the night in the region of Avocourt, Esnes and Fromezy.

This information is contained in the French official report issued this afternoon, the text of which is as follows:

"Last night witnessed no event of importance with the exception of an intermittent bombardment in the regions of Avocourt and Esnes, and a certain activity on the part of our trench guns in the sector of Regneville, to the west of Pont-a-Mousson.

"During the day of Thursday French aviators delivered numerous aerial attacks. An aeroplane of the enemy was brought down in the region of Fromezey. Two other German machines, attacked by French airmen, were compelled to land seriously injured, one near Donaumont and the other in the wood of Montfaucon. In the region of Nesles-Chaulnes a German Fokker plane, reached by the French fire, was seen to fall head first within the German line.

During the day of the 27th a French air squadron in the Woevre bombarded the railroad station at Lamarche, throwing down eighteen shells."

More Russian Troops Landed at Marseilles

Special Star Cable by United Press.

MARSEILLES, April 28 A third convoy of Russian troops was landed here today.

The third Russian contingent marched through the streets to the accompaniment of bands and was escorted by French troops to a camp just outside the city, joining the second contingent landed a few days ago, which has not yet moved forward to the western front.

Russian Positions on Poland Front Have Been Made Secure

By Canadian Press.

PETROGRAD, April 27, via London, April 28.—Excepting for a continuous German offensive on the Dvinsk front, which has resolved itself into a sustained assault upon the Riga bridge-head, the Easter holidays passed without even minor episodes, to say nothing of the sanguinary battles which have marked almost every month of the warfare on the Russian fronts.

According to Russian officers returning from various fronts on the battle line the period of armistice enforced by the impassible condition of the roads after the spring thaw has been utilized to the best advantage by the Russians, who everywhere have greatly strengthened or perfected their defences, until now they are confident that all future German attempts to advance, either on the northern front or in Galicia, will be defeated.

A correspondent of the Associated Press in Galicia who took an aeroplane flight over a sector of the Russian front in order to examine the condition of the Russian defences, says that in the three months since the Russians occupied their present advanced positions, everything possible has been done, in spite of an extensive network of streams and canals, to render the positions impregnable.

Although there is no immediate prospect of a Russian offensive, the army is equipped and prepared in every way to resume the initiative as soon as the condition of the ground and the roads permit. There is an abundance of ammunition on hand, and a minimum of illness among the soldiers, who appear to be in the best of spirits.

In Asia Minor, the successive arrivals of Turkish reinforcements from Constantinople, Bagdad and Syria, which are said to have brought up the total of Turkish troops in the neighborhood of Erzingan to eight divisions, are declared to have been unable to check the gradual westward progress of the Russian troops from Erzerum and Trebizond.

Each forward move of the Russians however, is only achieved now after a desperate struggle, and it is apparent as the Russians proceed they will meet with steadily increasing resistance.

AUSTRIAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

By Canadian Press.

BERLIN, April 28, by wireless to Sayville The Austro-Hungarian headquarters report of April 26, received here from Vienna, is as follows:

"On the southwest edge of the Doberdo plateau new and violent engagements took place.

"East of Selz, the enemy succeeded in entering our positions on a larger front, but when they manifested an intention to continue the attack, the Austro-Hungarians, by counter-attacks, drove the Italians into their former position and even ejected them from these in bitter hand-to-hand fighting. Thereby all our former positions are in our hands. Italians to the number of 130 were made prisoner.

"The artillery fire was very lively at several places on the Isonzo front.

"On the Carinthian front, there was little activity. At Col di Lana our heavy mortars continued their fire. The enemy's artillery decreased its activity.

"In the Sugana sector the Italians evacuated all positions between Volto and Roncegno, where much war material was found. The Italians withdrew to Roncegno."

GERMAN OFFICIAL REPORT.

BERLIN, April 28, via London, 2:05 p.m. The Admiralty announced today that on the night of April 26-27 German naval forces destroyed a large British guard vessel on Dogger Bank, and brought in a fishing steamer as a prize.

Confirms Bulgarian Abuse of Prisoners

LONDON, April 28.—Baron Newton, Under Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, has addressed a communication to Stephen Walsh, Labor member of Parliament, saying that a letter received by the American Ambassador in London from Lewis Einstein, American Minister to Bulgaria, confirms the reported ill treatment of British prisoners in Bulgaria.

Mr. Einstein says Baron Newton's letter, "is keenly alive to the urgent necessity of bringing about an immediate improvement, and he has already addressed to Bulgaria a vigorous remonstrance."

SEN. CHOQUETTE AGAIN DISCUSSES HAZELTON LIBELS

Declares He Did Not Attack Canadian Soldiers at All

DEFENDS HAZELTON AND ABUSES PAPERS

In Turn Senator is Denounced by Fellows in Senate

OTTAWA, April 28.—Senator Choquette's recent speech regarding recruiting formed the one subject of debate in the Senate this afternoon, warm language being used by the Quebec legislator in reference to his remarks.

At the opening of the sitting, Senator Sproule said he had been asked by Senator Taylor to ask the Senate to drop his (Senator Taylor's) enquiry of the Government if it intended to take any action in reference to the Montreal Star's editorial statement "that Senator Choquette should be kicked out of the Senate."

Senator Choquette said that although it was proposed to drop the enquiry, it had appeared on the records, and it was only fair he should be permitted to reply to it.

"I could have said then what I say now," said Senator Choquette, "Speaking of Sir Hugh Graham, of the Montreal Star, that I don't care for the barkings of dirty dogs or blackmailers, like Graham, of the Montreal Star, or Willison, of the Toronto News, but I would not degrade the Senate by raising a question of privilege.

"To have done so would have been an insult to the members of the Senate by indirectly admitting that my speech had been insulting to the soldiers of Canada, and that the Senate had listened to it without resenting it. If I had insulted these soldiers the leader of the Government in the Senate should have called me to order; but, on the contrary, when I spoke the first time in the Senate, I praised and congratulated the soldiers, and never said a word against them."

Senator Choquette denounced the attack of Hon. Mr. Kemp, the acting Minister of Militia, as most unfair.

Senator Choquette's offence was his approval of Hazelton's letter which said of the soldiers who had enlisted in Toronto:

"These defectives are 99 percent so-called English—are they English—or are they the offspring of foreign sailors and English dock prostitutes!

"And again:

"Our well-bred educated Canadians have no use for such cattle, and refuse to enlist as comrades with such beaste."

(The Star said Choquette should be expelled. Choquette, under the protection of his privilege as a Senator, abused The Star publishers and others in the choice language which has made the Senator famous. A Senator or a member of Parliament can make use of any language he chooses without being subject to prosecution.)

Is Denounced by Fellow-Senators

Senator Beaubien said he had been in Toronto just after Hazelton had been mobbed and the newspapers had connected the riot with the speech delivered by Senator Choquette. He had been pained to hear responsible men in Toronto take the words of Senator Choquette as the expression of the sentiment of the people of Quebec. He congratulated the English members of the Senate for the disregard with which they had listened to Senator Choquette, and declared that in reading the letter Senator Choquette had made himself responsible for the abuse of the English which that letter contained.

In reading that letter in the Senate and putting it on record for publication, Senator Choquette had made himself responsible for it. The effect had been to set further apart the two great races of Canada and that was a real crime. People who commit such crimes will stay branded for their act, he said.

Senator Gordon declared that Senator Choquette had no right to assume that because English members of the Senate had not risen to contradict him they were in accord with his sentiments. He believed members of the Senate had decided that silence was the best answer that Senator Choquette could have had.

REMARKS AN INSULT.

Senator Daniel was sorry that Senator Choquette thought he agreed with him because he had not replied to his speech. The long explanation given by Senator Choquette amounted to nothing, but again showed that his remarks were an insult to the soldiers of Canada, and the whole English-speaking race.

Senator Watson said that he, too, had been slandered. "The Toronto News printed a report of Senator Choquette's speech and credited me with having delivered it. I wrote to the editor of the News, and, I may say, that he corrected the mistake. However, I think that when a Senator delivers such speeches as that made by Senator Choquette and credited to me I think that the senator making the speech should have it copyrighted so that other members of the Senate would not be given credit for it."

YPRES--April 30th and May 1st, 1915

CONTINUATION OF LT.-COL. P. A. GUTHRIE'S NARRATIVE OF THE FIGHT WHERE CANADIANS WON UNDYING FAME A YEAR AGO

Friday, April 30th.

Last night we got orders to move up and occupy a line of trenches on the bank of the canal a short distance from the firing line. I moved up the battalion through the darkness along the roads and through fields, and while the new men did not of course display the same caution as did the vets, still they left nothing to be desired. They took their places in the trenches quietly. We had no mishaps and the day was spent with few casualties.

It is reported that the Germans are preparing for another big smash. They are likely waiting for a favorable wind so as to use the gas once more. We were to have gone out into billets quite a distance back for a good rest and to get thoroughly organized, but I guess we are needed. They will never break through now, however, as we have reinforcements here aplenty. If they could not handle a division of Canadians, I am sure they will not handle all the British troops that are here now, besides what is left of that division of Canadians.

Saturday, May 1st.

We have had a fairly hard day. The shells have been coming overthick. We have had a few casualties. We are getting a bit acquainted with our new men. They are all right, but like new men will not keep their heads down. They seem to think it is part of their duty to see where the shells hit. They wish to gaze at every Taube that passes over, and of course in so doing they show their faces an dgive us all away. They ony require, however, a few days in which to become the best soldiers in the world, for they were "Made in Canada."

Last night Capt. Costigan, our adjutant, remarked that we had forgotten to instruct the new men whom we sent out on fatigue duty not to stand at the cross roads and wait for the water cart and grub waggon of our transport section to come up, and away he went down the road for a mile or so to tell them what not to do. You understand the Boche has all the roads, and especially the cross roads, marked, and at night, now and then drops a few shells along, just to make it interesting for our transports and fatigue men.

Costigan got to the cross roads just in time to find a chap lighting a cigarette and he ordered them to spread out in a field and lie down. This they did, but Costigan, not taking his own advice, stood warbling French to a "soldat de Francais" on the cross roads until Mr. Coalbox came along and lifting Costigan up, placed him in a ditch some yards away. The Frenchman was blown to pieces and scattered over about an acre of ground.

Costigan crawled out of the ditch and came back to report that he had, given the men some good advice about standing on cross roads, and a practical demonstration to prove his arguments.

BURIED BY A SHELL.

During the afternoon, Costigan and Sam Maxwell of Winnipeg, our cook, orderly and general handy man, crawled into my dugout for a sleep, so that Costigan could go on duty tonight and let me turn in, as he insists that I have been taking too little sleep and will go "bug." They had just nicely got away into dreamland when a big shell came through the bank and levelled the dugout. The earth around was like a nicely raked garden newly put in.

I was in the next dugout, about six feet away, and immediately sprang on top of where the dugout had been and on my hands and knees tossed the earth back between my legs like a terrier after a rat. I first got Maxwell's face bare, so he could breathe, and then started in to dig Costigan out. Another shell burst about ten feet away, right in the middle of a pile of rifles (about two hundred) that had been gathered in from the field and stacked there there for the amourers to take back. There was not a rifle but what was shattered and the pieces of shell and of rifle filled the air round about. Five of our chaps who were hastening to my assistance got hurt and were taken to the dressing station nearby. A piece hit me on the sole of the boot.

I kept on digging and soon got Costigan's nose and mouth bared His first exclamation was: "You son of a gun, get off my chest"

A couple of our boys got a shovel and one fellow in his excitement started to dig him out, as you would a grave He put his foot on the shovel and run the point of it into Costigan's ribs Finally, we got him on a stretcher and sent him to the dressing station Maxwell was not hurt badly

Capt Arthur and I were discussing who we would put in as adjutant to take Costigan's place and had just decided on George G. Duncan, when in crept Costigan, his face stuck up with plaster, to report for duty. I think Costigan must have a charmed life. I have not known him long, but I am sure he is A 1 through and through.

THE "LINEUP."

On our left were French troops, which were up against the enemy, where the firing line crosses the canal; on our right were more French troops, and further on were the 5th Battalion. The 7th and 8th held positions slightly to the rear in support. The Third Brigade was up in front of the canal, and in close touch at one point with the enemy The 1st Brigade was in reserve, but having been detailed for working parties, the battalion were called upon to do very hard and dangerous work The 2nd Battalion under Col (now Gen. Watson connected up the French and British lines in front of us, which was a task requiring the greatest skill and courage.

I was struck with the careless and happy-go-lucky style of the plouplou. He is sure to get along under any conditions and make the most of his opportunities. When the shells were falling during the afternoon, from behind a deserted farmhouse came the coaxing, hungry squeals of a pig, and next we saw running across the field towards the canal bank a French soldier with a carrot in his hand, as an inducement to the poor, half-starved porker, which was close on his heels. Near the canal a little brook ran, crossed by a footbridge.

The pig balked at this, but a couple of soldier's comrades came to the rescue and pushed the pig across. The shells during this performance were dropping everywhere, trying to seek out one of our batteries hid in the field. One of our chaps remarked that the "Frenchie should get a V.C. for rescuing the pig. He was starving, poor chap, and they are going to feed him some of their rations."

Another replied that "if he was a good, selfrespecting pig, he wouldn't eat the stuff."

A short time afterwards the squeals of the pig told us that he had become a "casualty," and one of our chaps advised that we "take his identity disk and sent it to Berlin, so that he might be published among his comrades."

In this vicinity the people had made a quick get-away and their live stock was left roaming through the fields. Sometimes a shell did up a few of them, but the surprising part of it was that so many escaped. Feeding along the canal bank, right up in full view and about 280 yards from the enemy, were a few cattle.

At night I found a couple of French soldiers milking by flarelight, while their comrades were joshing them from the dugouts near at hand. In the morning about five o'clock I was making my last trip for the night along our lines with Lieut. Gilbert Todhunter (killed May 20, 1915), and Sergt.-Major John Watson (died of wounds, May 24, 1915), and ran into the odor of broiling beefsteak. Following the smell, and almost getting a meal on it, we came to a dugout and here were some of our men over a little fire with a large junk of steak nearby.

They were new men, so I pretended to be very stern and demanded where they had got the steak. One chap, who was something of a joker, replied "Don't say a word, Major, and we'll send down a choice bit to your dugout, and the King won't be any the wiser."

Sure enough, when I returned, Maxwell had the steak sizzling, which had been delivered with a note reading: "To our beloved O. C. from his Midnight Rustlers."

STUDENTS PLAY VERY GOOD MUSIC IN McGILL PROGRAM

The orchestral concert given in the Hall of the Royal Victoria College last night by members of the McGill University Conservatorium of Music, was greatly appreciated by a large audience. The orchestra was at its best and performed excellently under the baton of Dr. Perrin. The only noticeable slips, made were in the opening overture "The Barber of Seville" where the horns and cellos flatted in their leads and in the "Deluge" where the second violins were slightly off color.

The last overture "Raymond" (Thomas) by the orchestra was the best and made a very fitting closing to a most successful concert.

Miss Edith Eager, a young and very accomplished pianist carried off honors in the first movement of the concerto for pianoforte and orchestra, in D. Minor by Rubinstein.

This composition has tripped up musicians of much greater years and experience than Miss Eager, and the audience appreciated her efforts and recalled her several times to the platform.

The evening was practically devoted to instrumental work, the only vocal number being given by Miss Doris Grose, who sang two songs by Rimsky-Korsakow and Teresa Del Riego, displaying a fine voice and careful training in both.

Mr. Casey, violinist, was heard to great advantage in the solo part of the "Deluge" number, which preceded an interesting work in the Finnish Prelude by Jarnfelt. There was a novelty, excellently rendered, in the concertino for clarinet and orchestra by Weber, the soloist, J. D. Robinson, showing mastery of his instrument and playing with fine phrasing.

A Schubert Moment Musical and Scharwenka's Polonaise in A flat were very well played on the piano by Miss Hazel Rexford.

Mrs. H. B. Clay delighted everybody with her interpretation of a Humoresque by Grieg and a Chopin Nocturne and Miss Dorothy Armstrong's renderings of Schubert's Impromptu in E flat and Barrett's "Cloches" were artistic and most effective. Miss Alice Magnan gave a brilliant reading of Liszt's "Mephisto Waltz."

The Misses M. Reddy and Ruth Duncan contributed two violin duets, "Berceuse" and "Abandon", by Godard, in musical fashion.

LADIES' CHORAL ASSN. SINGS WELL IN GOOD PROGRAM

The Montreal Ladies' Choral Society, a new organization of some thirty enthusiasts, was heard by its friends for the first time yesterday afternoon, when an enjoyable program was given in the blue room of the Windsor Hotel. A. E. J. McCreary, the conductor, explained that the members were not banded together to make money, but for the pleasure of singing and to cultivate the voice. Moreover, the recital was more a final rehearsal than a public concert, the audience being invited to see what the society had accomplished.

This accomplishment was such that those interested had every reason to feel gratified. The material composing the choir is not lacking in all the qualities needed for good choral singing and Mr. McCreary has brought his singers up to a high grade of efficiency in the comparatively short time of the society's existence. He has laid emphasis upon the essential things, clear enunciation, good rhythm, a brisk, clean tone and attention to expression. In Cadman's "Indian Mountain Song," breadth of effect was achieved, while the lighter numbers, "The Retort," by Wooler and Bartlett's "Robert of Lincoln," went con brio and with a catchy swing.

Among the soloists, Mrs. Eldred Archibald, who possesses a soprano voice of vibrant brightness and resonance, was heard in a florid obligato to "Robert," measures which were rippled out with the proper sparkle. Mrs. Hyde sang very tastefully in the solo part of "Fair Maiden," later joining Mrs. Dewar in a pretty duet. Miss Carrie Dougherty, whose voice has an individual timbre of much charm, gave a good account of herself in the solo of Mr. McCreary's patriotic song, "Daughters of the Empire." Mr. Medlar's baritone is of beautiful quality, round and full of color. He sang "Star of Eve," from "Tannhauser." Mr. Griffin in "The Caravan" and "Because" showed an appreciation of refined emotional expression, artistic phrasing and an admirable lyrical voice. Mrs. William Murray Reid was an efficient accompanist.

A Chopin Fantasie for piano was played in musicianly style by Miss Lander.

EDWARD FARRER DEAD IN OTTAWA

By Canadian Press.

OTTAWA, April 28.—Edward Farrer, one of Canada's most distinguished journalists, died at his residence here yesterday after a lengthy illness of heart trouble. He was in his sixty-sixth year. The late Mr. Farrer, who was born in England of Irish parentage, was educated at Stoneyhurst, England, and the Jesuit College in Rome. He came to Canada in 1870 and joined the editorial staff of the old Daily Telegraph at Toronto. On the establishment of the Mail two years later, he joined that paper in a similar capacity. In 1874 he went to Ireland as an immigration agent, and went to the New York World as foreign editor. From 1882 to 1884 he was editor-in-chief of the Mail, and afterwards went to Winnipeg, where he conducted the Times and Sun. Subsequently he was on the editorial staff of the Toronto Globe, but retired from active newspaper work in 1892.

Later he resided in Washington, but returned to Canada in 1905, and had since been a magazine writer and correspondent of the London Economist. He had been a believer in political union with the United States as Canada's ultimate destiny.

MAGAZINE COLLECTION.

The Wolfe and Montcalm Chapter I.O.D.E., will make a collection for waste papers and magazines on Monday, May 1, on the side streets above Sherbrooke to St. Catherine from Atwater to Bleury streets. Any persons having old magazines and papers may telephone to Mrs. C. E. Neill, Uptown 4504, and they will be called for.

Dawson-Duckworth.

In St. Paul's Church, Vancouver, the marriage was solemnized this week of Miss Lilian Ruth Duckworth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Duckworth, formerly of Montreal, and Mr. Charles E. Dawson, of Vancouver, the Rev. H. King officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, was gowned in white ninon over white silk, and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. She was attended by Miss Eva Martin, wearing white marquisette over old rose, with an old rose hat, and carrying pink carnations. The best man was Mr. Raymond K. Stirling. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Dawson left for California, where the honeymoon will be spent. Going away the bride wore a white broadcloth costume and hat of old rose.

Benefit Card Party.

A successful Bridge and Five Hundred for the benefit of the Ladies' Hebrew Benevolent Society was held yesterday afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. Charles A. Workman, 333 Kensington avenue. Daffodils and marguerites formed the decorations throughout the house. Cards were played at thirty-two tables. Mrs. G. Fischel and Mrs. Ablnovitch were conveners of the card tables, and Mrs. D. Friedman and Mrs. J. Jacobs were in charge of the tea room. Twenty prizes were given.

Facts Cited Prove Senator Choquette's Statements Grotesque

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28.—Answering Senator Choquette, the morning papers make editorial use of remarkable recruiting figures among the "British-born" in Toronto.

The Globe says:

"Senator Choquette has been at it again. The trouble-maker says he has been abused, not for what he said, but because he is a French-Canadian Roman Catholic. So far as the Globe is concerned, that is a falsehood so ridiculous as to require no denial. The Globe did not publish the offensive reference in Senator Choquette's original speech to the parentage of rejected Toronto recruits. It was so filthy that it was struck out of the report by the telegraph editor as a matter of common decency.

"If any cowardice has been displayed in the matter it has been by the wretched falsifier who declared in the Senate on April 12: 'I see by the papers that there is no recruiting of good men in Toronto; not one-third of the men recruited are able to pass the examination,' and who has not the courage to admit that this statement, which was not Hazelton's, but his own, is a slanderous lie levelled at thousands of good Toronto citizens.

"The official figures to which Senator Choquette could have had access, had he wanted to learn the truth, prove that on an average not quite one-fourth of the recruits who have come forward in Toronto since hostilities began have been rejected.

"Of 1,522 Earlscourt men who presented themselves for enlistment only sixty-five were rejected. Of the accepted 1,073 were English, 234 Scotch, and 26 Irish. In face of these figures, the Hazelton-Choquette slanders seem grotesque."

UNANSWERABLE FIGURES.

In a news column the Globe adds:

"Earlscourt homes have given 1,457 men to the colors according to information gathered by a band of workers from the Earlscourt Methodist churches during the past ten ten days. Of the total enlistment 1,441 are British-born, thirteen from Newfoundland, two from the United States, and one is French-Canadian.

"Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Boon avenue, have given seven sons. Mr. Cameron, of Oakwood avenue, and his sons have enlisted, likewise Mr. Cooper, of Earlscourt avenue, and his four sons. Mr. Cooper has six brothers in the British Army.

"One avenue has only two men left, another four and another seven men."

RECORD OF BRITISH-BORN.

The Mail says editorially:

"The population of Earlscourt is probably about 10,000. This 'British-born' district has given to the colors 1,457 men, of whom 914 are married, and 543 single. Of the married men, 145 have three children each, seventy have four, thirty-five have five, sixteen have six, ten have seven, five have eight, and one has twelve and one thirteen.

"Perhaps no other district in any community in Canada can show as good a response to the call for men. Earlscourt is distinctive as being a thorough 'British-born' colony, planted on clearly cut lines in a Canadian city."

$30.00 for an Holt-Renfrew Suit

—is exceedingly reasonable, because Holt-Renfrew Suits are positively dependable for style and for quality of material and workmanship. We are making a special effort to please women who must do their important shopping on Saturday afternoons, hence this $30.00 feature. The Suits are in all approved fabrics—Checks, Velours, Serges, Gabardine, and styles include the strictly-tailored as well as dressy effects. The occasion is unusual, and very well worth taking advantage of.

Hats at $8.50 to $15.00

OUR MILLINER decided that she must join with the suit buyer to please Saturday shoppers, and has arranged an attractive display of hats for that day. There are New York sailors, turbans, helmet hats and the medium sizes, all smart and becoming. You will find them close beside the Suits, upstairs.

$3.50 Blouses $4.75
Crepe de Chine and Jap Silk
Crepe Georgette $6.00

Unusual values in Waists are scheduled for Saturday, also. We find it hard to keep a complete stock of these especial Blouses, because they are popular. They are mostly white.

HOPE GROWS IN WASHINGTON OF PACIFIC ISSUE

Reports Crisis is Past Bring Relief—Expect Berlin Reply Within Week—Rumored No Break Possible Before May 5—Gerard at Headquarters

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, April 28.— The British steamship Industry has been sunk by a submarine, which left the crew of the vessel in boat 120 miles from land. The crew was picked up by the American liner Finland. The sinking of the steamship was made known in the following official statement:

"The British steamer Industry was sunk by an enemy submarine, and the crew was left in open boats in the Atlantic, 120 miles from the nearest land. The boats, with the entire crew, were picked up by the American liner Finland.

"The Industry was proceeding to a United States port and was unarmed."

The Industry was a 400-foot boat, 4,044 tons gross, built in Belfast in 1888 and owned in Liverpool. She was last reported as having sailed on March 17 from Newport News for St. Nazaire, France.

The Finland sailed from Liverpool for New York on Wednesday.

Special to The Montreal Star by Robert J. Bender of the United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Optimism increased today on receipt of despatches from Berlin and The Hague saying that danger of a break between the United States and Germany on the U-boat issue had passed—at least for the present.

Officials remain non-committal on the German situation, but there have been plain indictations for some days now that all hope is based on a belief that there will be a way out. What that way would be, none could forecast.

When the German reply will reach this country is fixed at any time from Saturday night to a week hence, the latter day being considered likeliest. The Cabinet met today but it is understood, had little news from Ambassador Gerard upon which to have a discussion of the international situation.

IMMEDIATE DANGER IS PAST.

Special Star Cable by Wm. G. Shepherd of the United Press.

THE HAGUE, April 28.—Positive assurances have reached the American Embassy in Berlin that there will be no diplomatic rupture between Germany and the United States growing out of the present crisis, it was learned here today from reliable sources.

The Embassy attaches last Saturday quietly began packing their personal effect. On Wednesday assurances of a nature as yet unrevealed caused them to abandon their preparations for leaving Berlin.

The American colony in Berlin received word late yesterday that there is no prospect at least of an early break. This information was received in messages to a leading Dutch business house last night.

One message said that the crisis apparently had passed but that if for some unforseen reason a break should come, it would certainly not be before May 5. No reason was given in the message for fixing positively this date.

Notwithstanding censored press messages from Germany to the contrary, the populace of Berlin has shown hostility to Americans since the arrival of President Wilson's latest note. There have been no noisy demonstrations, but Americans appearing in public places have been made to feel uncomfortable. Most of the Americans are remaining indoors as much as possible on the advice of the Berlin police.

U. S. ENVOY TO SEE KAISER.

Special Star Cable by Carl W. Ackerman, of the United Press.

BERLIN, April 28. — Ambassador Gerard was due at Grand Army Headquarters this afternoon for the final conference with the Kaiser, which is to preceed the forwarding of the German reply to Washington.

The First Secretary, Mr. Grew, accompanied the Ambassador when he left Berlin in a special car placed at his disposal late last night. The Ambassador said he expected to return to Berlin on Sunday.

When Mr. Gerard started for the conference with the Kaiser he had not yet received from Washington an answer to the messages he sent following his two conferences with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg.

He left instructions that these replies be forwarded to him at Army Headquarters by special courier if they are received before tonight.

TALES OF TREATY WITH BRITISH.

Some queer ideas were revived in Berlin early this week while the situation was still tense. The old story that President Wilson has entered into a secret agreement with England to throw the United States into the side of the Allies was repeated and several members of the Reichstag actually went so far as to repeat it to Ambassador Gerard, who made a vigorous denial.

Other Germans button-holed American correspondents and wanted to know if it wasn't true that the United States had a secret treaty with England.

One thing particularly impressed Germans who were first inclined to believe that the majority of the people of the United States would not stand behind President Wilson. That was the manner in which the American colony in Germany rallied to President Wilson's support.

Even many Americans of German birth, who had sometimes been free in criticising America's stand during the early negotiations, ceased their criticism when a break threatened and made preparations to return to the United States.

NOT ALL SETTLED YET.

By United Press.

BERLIN, via London, April 28. — Ambassador Gerard left Berlin last night for German Army Headquarters for an audience with Emperor William.

Although no information has been given out regarding the purpose of the Ambassador's journey, it is evident that Emperor William wished a thorough personal talk with him in order to obtain a clearer view of the American position on the submarine issue.

The invitation to visit the German Headquarters was brought to the Ambassador personally by the Foreign Minister von Jagow.

The invitation is regarded in financial circles as a good omen. Nevertheless, experienced observers consider the situation still very serious and believe that the mere fact of the Ambassador's meeting with the Emperor and his advisers is of less importance than what was done at the conference at German Headquarters.

The ultimate decision at Washington is held to be quite incalculable until it is known how far Germany meets American wishes.

DOVE OVER GERMAN EMBASSY.

By Canadian Press.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Despatches received at the German Embassy today from the Berlin Foreign Office indicate that Germany will attempt to meet the American demands for the immediate abandonment of its present practices in submarine warfare.

The nature of the proposals was not disclosed.

Count von Bernstorff has not been advised whether the suggestion he recently made to his Government at the invitation of the Foreign Office, have been adopted. He expects additional despatches.

A visit of Ambassador Gerard to Emperor William was a topic of broad interest in official and diplomatic quarters today. German Embassy officials believed the Emperor invited Mr. Gerard to confer with him for the purpose of elaborating, for the benefit of President Wilson, his position and the position of the German Government in further explanation of certain phases of the forthcoming German reply to the American note. It would be unusual for the Emperor to conduct negotiations directly with the diplomatic representative of a foreign Government.

Weather!

PROBABILITIES.

Today and tomorrow: Fine and warmer.

Pressure is high over the eastern portion of the continent, while a moderate depression is centred in Saskatchewan. A few local showers have fallen in Ontario, Cape Breton and northern Alberta, but the weather over the Dominion has been for the most part fair. It has been cold in the Maritime Provinces.

CIVIC WASTE

WILD EXTRAVAGANCE ASTOUNDING FIGURES

That there are a great many unnecessary employes in the civic service is a statement that was frequently made, in the City Council Chamber, when the Budget was being voted several months ago.

Ex-Ald. Giroux, who was never noted for economy, declared in December last that there would have been no deficit of two million dollars if greater care had been taken in the giving out of positions. "There are far too many employes," he declared. He also made the charge that if there was a proper revision of the salary list an immense saving could be made in this connection.

Ex-Ald. L. A. Lapointe made exactly similar statements. He said: "There are far too many employes, and this in very many of the departments. Of recent years the City Hall has been filled with a lot of clerks who have little to do. I believe that fully $50,000 a year could be saved in merely cutting down the employes connected with the offices of the mayor and the controllers. The private staffs of these gentlemen are so large as to constitute a disgrace." It was further urged by Ald. Lapointe that a special commission should be appointed to enquire into the entire internal administration at the City Hall, and put it on a business footing.

FACTS AND FIGURES.

From statistics compiled by the City Treasurer and City Finance Comptroller, it will be seen by the following that the pay rolls have nearly doubled since 1912:

1913	3,071,081
1914	3,607,986
1915	3,973,962
1916	4,000,000

The astonishing fact is that, ten years ago, the total revenue of the city was less than the city is paying today in salaries alone.

The civic salary list means about seven dollars apiece from every man, woman and child in the city. Today salaries eat up a shade over one-third of the total annual revenue.

A HUGE PERSONAL STAFF.

Just how the city's money is squandered is seen by the following staff which dances attendance upon His Worship the mayor:

1 secretary.
2 typists.
1 messenger.
1 policeman attendant at mayor's office.
1 chauffeur.
1 constable with chauffeur.
2 constables at mayor's house.

Each of the controllers has a typist and a secretary. In the case of Controller Cote, however, he has a chauffeur and a policeman attendant as well.

Attached to the general office of the Board of Control are also the following employes:

1 general secretary.
2 assistant secretaries.
2 voucher clerks.
8 clerks.
1 messenger.
2 typists.

That there could be curtailment in this department has more than once been contended.

THE WATER DEPARTMENT.

An enquiry into the administration of the Water Department would bring to light the fact that there could be a marked curtailment of employes both in the "outside" and "inside" services. It is common knowledge that there are far too many men engaged in the various yards, as well as in the clerical department. There are literally hundreds of men employed in this branch of the service. The salary list alone for the current year amounts to $345,000. This means eating up considerably over a third of the entire revenue from the water taxes.

"There is also congestion in the Roads Department. Four years ago, when it was decided that a goodly percentage of the permanent paving work should be done by the city itself, a large number of "permanent" employes were engaged. It is true that there has been some reduction in this special staff, now the city is doing little paving, but the curtailment was far from being sufficient. A probe into this branch of the service would show that there is marked waste of funds in the matter of salaries and wages. The same might be said of the Incineration Department where the inspectors are so numerous as to have frequently caused amazement to those who had a peep behind the curtain.

The staff of the Law Department has often been held to be abnormally large. Its personnel is as follows:

1 chief attorney.
1 assistant attorney.
1 consulting attorney.
5 joint attorneys.
1 secretary.
1 accountant.
2 clerks.
8 stenographers.

There are also connected with this department six claim agents. The total salary list of the department amounts to $81,950.

It will be shown later, just how the $4,000,000 in salaries is divided up among the various departments. It is not going too far to say that half a million could easily be saved in salaries if there was anything like economical administration.

MOTION PICTURES OF ARMY AND NAVY NEARING CLOSE

"Britain Prepared" to Remain at Princess Only This Week

UNIQUE VIEWS OF EMPIRE'S FORCES

Special Performance for Youngsters One of Features for Saturday

Six more performances only remain of "Britain Prepared", the marvellous films of the Army and Navy produced under the direction of the British Government and one of these six is a special performance for children on Saturday morning at 10:30. So it behooves those who have waited until the last moment to see these pictures to wait no longer, but to arrange to attend before the last opportunity has slipped by.

The attendance at the Princess Theatre again this week has testified to the interest these films of the Army and Navy at their daily work in the Great War has aroused among the people of Montreal. And no wonder. For never before has such a series of views of the Empire's military and naval power been put before the public in such comprehensive and illuminating form.

Further, one feels that one is aiding in supporting the Government when one realised that "Britain Prepared" is distinctly a Government endeavor and that the Government shares as a partner in the proceeds.

Every activity of the Army and Navy is shown in detail. The stiff course of training, with which even we here in the midst of war do not realize the scope, is bared for us, not merely as something to entertain but as a matter of instruction. The pictures of the Grand Fleet, too, give an unique understanding not only of what the Navy is doing, but how it is being done. Scenically, the views of the battle squadron and cruisers in "heavy weather" in the North Sea are particularly inspiring.

There will be the usual matinees and evening performances for the next three days, and in addition a special performance for children Saturday morning at 10:30 at which the best seats are only fifteen cents. Further details will be found in the advertising columns on page 5.

ANNOUNCE TAG DAY RESULTS TOMORROW

It is expected that the total financial returns from the St. George's Tag Day, held last Saturday, will be announced sometime tomorrow. The work of counting the boxes, which numbered over 1,000, is being done by the Molson's Bank. All the boxes have been opened and the contents are now in process of counting, but before the total amount is made public, the whole collection will be counted a second time to avoid mistakes.

CITY'S WATER SUPPLY IN GRAVE DANGER FROM WATER FROM THE CANAL

Two Chief Mains on Atwater Avenue Liable to Be Undermined—Caused by New Syphon Installed Last Year—Will Drain Section of Canal Tonight in Effort to Remedy Matters

The two thirty-inch pipes from the pumping station at the foot of Atwater avenue, which are the main feeds for the reservoirs supplying Montreal with water, are in grave danger. So perilous is the situation that the city this morning secured permission to empty a section of the canal in an effort to remedy matters.

The danger point is on Atwater avenue, just south of the canal, where something has gone wrong with the syphon put in last year by Laurin and Leach to connect a sewer now in course of construction beneath the canal. The ends of the syphon were supposed to be blocked, but engineers in charge say such is not the case. In addition, the banks of the canal, cut away to allow the syphon to be put in, and then filled with earth and stone, have apparently caved in, with the result that an immense volume of water is pouring from the canal on both sides. A diver was sent down in the canal yesterday afternoon to pack fifty bags of clay and sand along the north side of the canal, but so great was the rush of water that they were swept away. Last night tarpaulins were spread along the north bank of the canal, and this reduced the flow considerably, but it is still coming through in such volume that three powerful steam pumps, one working at the south of the canal another at the end of the sewer on the corner of D'Argenson and Atwater and a third at another sewer at the bottom of D'Argenson street are unable to make the slightest impression on it.

Workmen put in a dam this morning at the south end of the canal section, but the water is rushing out on either side and eating away the ground at a rapid rate. And the fear is that despite the pumps, and in consequence of the suction they are creating, the bank of the canal will be so weakened and the leak so enlarged that the water will burst through in still greater volume. If it does then the city water mains will be undermined, for they are built directly over the sewer, and if this is washed out and the earth between it and the water pipes loosened, there is nothing to support the two mains except some timber baulks that are slung across where the excavations were made and on which wire hawsers are hung encircling the water mains.

The ends of these rest on a very narrow margin of solid ground on each side of the filled-in excavations, and with a big burst of water would be swept away.

Contractors and engineers who have visited the place contend that there is also a break in the bank on the south side, as the water that is rushing out there is quite a strong stream of thousands of gallons an hour.

The city is spending at least $200 a day in pumping the canal out—for this is what it amounts to, using day and night shifts, but this morning they realized that they could not mend the breaks in this manner, and so will empty the section affected this evening, and put in a concrete wall two hundred feet in length on either side.

MOTOR ACCIDENT; POP-CORN VENDOR AT DEATH'S DOOR

Jean Triantiffolos, pop-corn and peanut vendor, lies in the Victoria Hospital near death as the result of an automobile accident at the corner of St. Catherine and University streets, yesterday evening. Saddie Cully, of 286 St. Martin street, is in the same hospital suffering from internal injuries received in the same accident.

An automobile owned and driven by Charles Coleman, of 243 Mount Royal avenue west, was travelling west on St. Catherine street when it skidded at the corner of University street. On trying to avoid Miss Cully, who was struck and thrown to the ground, the car ran into the sidewalk but in doing so smashed up the peanut waggon belonging to Triantiffolos, which was standing by the curb, and threw him under his waggon. In falling, he struck his head on the edge of the curb and was knocked unconscious with a fractured skull. Both he and Miss Cully were immediately taken to the Royal Victoria Hospital in two passing automobiles, and while Miss Cully's injuries are not dangerous, there is little hope held out by the doctors for his recovery.

Mr. Coleman, who was driving with his wife at the time, afterward went to the Chenneville police station and there told his story of the accident to the lieutenant in charge.

BELMONT SCHOOL CHEERS SOLDIERS

The chief feature of the entertainment given by the junior choir and elocution class of the Belmont School last evening at the Grey Nunnery to wounded soldiers was the patriotic address given by the Hon. E. M. Jackman, former Minister of Finance in the Newfoundland Government.

The heroes of Flanders should never be forgotten in life, and their memories kept green in death, he said. The glory of a nation lay in the valor of her sons, and the British Empire felt proud of her soldiers, for Irish, Scotch and English had fought side by side.

The choir rendered eight patriotic choruses, while the elocution class gave a similar number of recitations. William Lamont was accompanist, and Lieut.-Col Renouf presided.

SUNDAY SERVICE ON McGILL CAMPUS BY 148TH BATT.

The 148th "Overseas" Battalion will hold divine service in the open on McGill Campus on Sunday next.

The 148th will be formed up on three sides of the square, facing the grand stand, with the officiating clergymen in the centre. The service will be essentially military; and in the absence of Capt. Graham, will be conducted by Lieut V Hobart, one of the officers of the Battalion, who before joining was Incumbent at St Matthias Church, Quebec

The music will be provided by the band, under the direction of Bandmaster Bleasdale. The musical program, as well as the hymns, have been arranged, and the necessary music set by Lieut H Key

A military service held in the open is a most impressive one, and one not easily forgotten. Provided the weather is fine, it is expected that a great many citizens will take advantage of the opportunity. The service will last about half an hour and will commence at 9:45 a.m., the men parading at their barracks at 9:30 o'clock.

Yesterday a muster parade took place, to give Headquarters an opportunity of checking off every man. This passed off successfully, every man being accounted for. The men have discarded their serges, and are now parading in fatigue order.

The requisite number of men required to complete the strength of the Battalion is being gradually obtained; yesterday the strength was increased by five men. This brings the number required below eighty; and it is confidently expected that this number will be forthcoming soon.

TALK ON AIRCRAFT.

"Aircraft in the Great War" will be the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given this evening in the lecture hall of the American Presbyterian Church by the Rev. Dr. Johnston. The lecture will trace the progress of aviation from its earliest days to the present.

MUSICAL APPEAL MADE BY IRISH TO GET RECRUITS

A novel feature was introduced by the Irish Canadian Rangers in the recruiting appeal made last night at the Princess Theatre. An officer announced that the Rangers were about to make an original appeal. As he made his exit another officer entered, and as he walked across the stage the music struck up. The officer at once broke into a stirring song with a fine swing, the whole being an invitation to join the Irish Canadian Rangers who are now "Answering Dear Old Canada's Call," as the chorus has it. Lieut. Foley, who sang, has a fine voice, and his musical appeal fell upon receptive ears. The singer was given a hearty ovation, and was compelled to repeat his song.

The Rangers are using window displays to attract attention to the recruiting campaign now in progress. One is to be seen in one of Goodwin's windows, St. Catherine street west. The background is of Union Jacks, and, naturally, green occupies a prominent part in the decorations. The regimental crest, the shamrock surrounded by a band bearing the name of the battalion, and surmounted by the crown, stands out prominently. Below is a maple leaf, with the regimental number. At one side is a harp slashed with green. In the foreground is a uniform, kit and equipment, and a card with this inscription: "Wanted, men to wear this uniform." The display is striking, and combines a pleasing picture and a patriotic appeal in an artistic manner.

HOSPITAL REPORT

The medical superintendent of the Protestant Hospital for the Insane, Verdun issues the following report for the fortnight ending April 25:

Admissions, 9; discharged cured, 2; discharged on trial, 3; deaths, 1.

Visiting Governors for next week are: Charles Gurd, A. C. Lyman, Alex Macdougall and Dr. Geo. Wilkins.

BATTALIONS HERE STILL NEED RECRUITS

Thirty-three men and two officers joined the twenty odd units that are recruiting in No. 4 Military District yesterday. At present four battalions are nearing completion, and every effort is being made to get the young men of the city to join them, so that they may be filled up to strength and thus have the field clear for the other battalions to be raised.

For the 117th Battalion there are required 136 men; the 148th wants 87; the 163rd Battalion, French-Canadians, 156, and the 150th, 403 men. No. 4 Divisional Mobile Veterinary Section is now being raised, and 1 officer and 24 men are required for it, application being made to Col. M. A. Piche, P.V.O., at militia headquarters.

A number of bandsmen are wanted for various units. Applicants should apply to Pte. Field, at Militia Headquarters.

Prisoners' Work is Physical Not of Spiritual Sort

The honorary secretary of the Criminal Reform Association takes exception to the statement made by Robert Campbell, president of the Prisoners Aid Association of Montreal, in the annual report issued yesterday, that the Reform Association was formed to look after the spiritual condition of prisoners undergoing sentence. The Reform Association official points out that its object is the legislative, psychological and physiological object of criminals. The intention is to leave the spiritual end to other organizations like the Prisoners Aid Association.

PRISON FOR YOUTHS, JUDGE IS REGRETFUL

"It is a shame that boys of your age should have already started on a career of crime. You are more dangerous to the community than a highway robber. If I could send you to the reformatory I would; but you are too old for that. In the penitentiary you will learn a trade, and I sincerely hope that it will prove the means of your earning an honest living hereafter."

With this lecture Judge Bazin sentenced Omer Robert and Pierre Lauzon, both sixteen years of age, and Reynold Daly, nineteen, to three years in the penitentiary, in the Court of Sessions yesterday. They were found guilty of stealing lead pipes from empty houses and damaging property to the extent of $300.

CONFIRMATION RITE.

The Bishop of Montreal will visit St. Edward's Church, Paul and Inspector streets, at the seven o'clock service next Sunday evening to administer the rite of confirmation.

The Governor's View

Governor Capper of Kansas says:

"There are many business men who make money without advertising, but they are few and far between. You can't, now, to yourself, name a live, go ahead town that has poor newspapers, a live town that does not have enterprising merchants.

"A live town is made up of live business men, and a live business man shows his liveliness by going after business. And there is only one way of going after business.

"You can't help yourself and help boost your city in any way more effective than by telling the world, through your local newspapers."

HUNS ATTACKING ALONG THE BRITISH FRONT DRIVEN BACK

Irish Regiments Win Praise for Their Gallant Defence

BRITISH AIRMEN'S FINE ACHIEVEMENT

Hun Onslaught Developed at Over Twenty Different Points

LONDON, April 28.—Great activity at various points along the British front is reported in the latest official communication. The Bedfordshire Regiments carried out a successful raid near Carleul. Three hostile artillery attacks at La Bassee, Hulluch, Mouchy-au-Bois, Neuville-St. Vaast, Armentieres and Frelinghein.

At Frelinghein the Germans entered the British trenches, but were driven out.

Similar attacks on the British trenches on Hill 60, and at St. Eloi were repulsed.

The British communication issued last night is the longest ever sent out from British Headquarters, to the extent of nearly five hundred words, it describes the great amount of activity on the British front, where many observers have been predicting that the Germans were about to launch an attack as determined as that against Verdun.

The new German activity has shown itself at more than a score of points, with the principal fighting apparently around Hulluch and Loos.

IRISH REGIMENTS PRAISED.

The Irish regiments get special mention for bravery in a counter-attack which drove the Germans out of a section of trenches where they had gained a footing with the help of gas and an artillery curtain of fire.

The communication closes with an account of the aeroplane activity, including a description of a fight between a German "two-seater" and a British "one-seater," resulting in the death of both German aviators and the destruction of the machine, which fell from a height of 14,000 feet.

Of the work of the Irish regiments on Thursday, the communication says:

"This morning at 5:10 o'clock the enemy discharged gas from trenches south of Hulluch, and at the same time put artillery barrage on our lines north of Loos.

"At 7:30 a.m. a second gas cloud was released from about the same place, and, after a heavy artillery bombardment, the enemy gained a footing in our front and support lines east and northeast of Loos.

"A counter-attack by our Irish troops took place within half an hour and the enemy was driven out, leaving many dead in our trenches.

"The enemy also advanced from trenches just south of Hulluch, but this attack was enfiladed by our machine guns and many corpses were left in front of our trenches. A few Germans reached our lines, but were driven out."

BRITISH AVIATORS' ENERGY.

The communication also says:

"Hostile artillery was active during the day against our trenches about Carency, Souchez, Les Bredis and Fosse (or Braquement).

"Yesterday there was much aerial activity, nineteen combats in the air taking place. The machine reported yesterday as having been brought down in our lines was a two-seater. It was attacked by a single-seater three times at a great height. The enemy pilot was shot through the body. The machine crashed to earth with the engine full on from a height of 14,000 feet.

"One of our reconnaissances was attacked by eight hostile aeroplanes. All the hostile attacks were driven off, and one hostile machine was brought down. Our reconnaissance was completed. Two of our aeroplan were damaged, but all returned safely.

"Last night the Bedfordshire Regiment carried out a very successful raid near Carnoy. The raiding party rushed the trenches and, after fierce hand-to-hand fighting, drove the remaining Germans into their dug-outs and bombed them. Our casualties were eight wounded. The German losses were considerable.

"Today the hostile artillery was active about Labeiselle and Hebuterne. Last night the enemy exploded a mine southwest of Neuville-St. Vaast.

ST. ELOI ATTACK REPULSED.

"Today the hostile artillery was active about Mouchy-au-Bois and Neuville-St. Vaast. Yesterday evening the enemy carried out a heavy bombardment of our trenches east of Armentieres and about Frelinghein. South of Frelinghein the enemy entered our trenches about eight p.m. in under cover of a bombardment, but was immediately driven out by a counter attack.

"Last night, after a heavy bombardment, followed by the explosion of a mine, the enemy attacked our trenches on Hill 60 but was repulsed. At the same time the enemy gained a footing in one of our sap-heads north of Hill 60 but was driven out by our bombers.

"Our trenches west of Zillebeke and northeast of Hill 60 and the battery positions in the rear where heavily shelled from six p.m. to midnight. An attack at St. Eloi was repulsed.

"Today the hostile artillery was active against our trenches south west of St. Eloi.

"Last night the enemy gained a footing in one of our craters in the Hohenzollern section, but was driven out at once.

"During the night the enemy sprang mines southeast of Souchez, northeast of the Double Crassier, northeast of the Vermelles and west of Hulluch. We sprang a mine in the Hulluch sector."

BRITISH AVIATOR RESCUED.

SCHEVENINGEN, Holland, April 2, via London, April 28. — A lugger brought into this port today a biplane bearing the French colors but carrying a British officer, named Beare. Beare was the aviator before reported in the British official communication of Wednesday as missing after an attack on the Zeppelin airships which raided Lowestoft Tuesday morning.

The aeroplane and its occupant were picked up fourteen miles from the coast after it had floated helpless there for thirty hours. The aviator had been obliged to descend because of lack of fuel.

Beare was released by the Dutch authorities. He was not ordered interned, because he had been picked up shipwrecked outside Dutch territorial waters.

POPE IS GRAVELY CONCERNED OVER U. S.-HUN CRISIS

LONDON, April 28. — A despatch to the Daily Chronicle from its correspondent at ome says:

"I am informed that the Pope is daily following closely every stage in the controversy between America and Germany, but, adhering strictly to his policy of neutrality, has not expressed any opinion regarding the merits of the dispute. Much less has he used, or will he use, his influence respondent at Rome says:

"His Holiness, however, is gravely concerned, in the first place because he is relying on the influence of America which he has hitherto described as pre-eminent among the neutral nations of the world, to move when the time comes for peace and, secondly, because a rupture in diplomatic relations between the two nations would hinder the magnificent work being done by America in behalf of sufferers through the war, and especially her diplomatic efforts on behalf of prisoners of war.

"In this connection, I am informed that in case of a rupture the Pope will endeavor to organize more thoroughly the present activity of Catholic Bishops throughout Europe to safeguard the well-being of prisoners in the various concentration camps."

A Daniel come to judgment- Harry K. Thaw asserts that he does not believe in divorces; "because of their injurious effect on society." His own case is, however, he claims, an exception.

SWISS TERRITORY AGAIN INVADED BY HUN AIRMEN

GENEVA, via Paris, April 28.—Swiss territory has again been violated by a German aeroplane. The machine flew over the region of Porentruy at dawn Wednesday and was bombarded by Swiss troops all along the frontier.

The aircraft dropped bombs on the French town of Delle eleven miles southeast of Belfort, and then crossed the Swiss frontier a second time, finally disappearing in the direction of Alsace.

The flight occurring so soon after a previous similar flight over the same territory, has provoked the strongest indignation in Switzerland. This is reflected in all sections of the press.

CALL BERLIN MINISTER.

BERNE, Switzerland, via Paris, April 28.—As the result of violations of Swiss territory by German aeroplanes, the Federal Council, according to the Swiss Telegraphic Agency, has summoned to Berne the Swiss Minister in Berlin to discuss the situation arising from these incidents.

CANADIANS FOR BRITISH COAST PATROL SOUGHT

OTTAWA, April 28. — Four British naval officers have arrived in Ottawa to deal with the question of recruits for the British coast patrol service. Some months ago it will be recalled recruits for the motor-boat patrol service around the British coast were asked for in Canada.

As a result several hundred applications have been received by the Canadian Naval Service Department at Ottawa. These applicants will be examined for the coast patrol service and selected and sent to Britain for further training.

The officers now in Ottawa are Commander F. P. Armstrong, Commander Brown, Lieut. B. C. Cox and Lieut. N. Mitchell, of the Admiralty staff.

GREAT BRITAIN IS NOT NEGOTIATING WITH BULGARIANS

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, April 28.—Lord Robert Cecil, Minister of War Trade, denied in the House of Commons yesterday that Great Britain was carrying on semi-official negotiations with Bulgaria.

He reminded his questioner that Great Britain was precluded by the spirit of the agreement with her Allies from entertaining any peace negotiations with any of their common enemies with out the knowledge and consent of the other parties to the agreement.

Billy Sunday, the evangelist, invited to Austip, Texas, replied that he could probably make it about 1923.

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying powers are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

FRENCH BIRDMEN RAIN BOMBS ON TEUTON STATIONS

Curtains of Fire Prevent Two German Attempts to Attack

RUSSIANS DISPERSE ATTACKING PARTIES

Italians Repulse Four Determined Attacks Near Ballone

PARIS, April 28. — The official communication issued by the War Office last night reads:

"On the left bank of the Meuse there has been intense artillery activity in the regions of Avocourt, Esnes and Cumieres.

"On the right bank the enemy made two semblances of attack, accompanied by violent bombardments —one on the front of Haudremont the the Thiaumont front, the other between Douaumont and Vaux. Arrested by our curtain of fire, the Germans were not able to leave their trenches.

"On the rest of the front the day was comparatively calm, save in the region of Roye, and in the sectors to the west of Pont-a-Mousson, where our batteries displayed great activity.

"Yesterday an enemy aeroplane, brought down by the fire of our auto-cannon, fell in front of Fort Vaux. Last night three of our dirigibles carried out bombing operations. Numerous projectiles of large calibre were dropped by them on the stations at Etain and Bensdorf, and on the railway at Arnaville.

"The same night our aeroplanes dropped thirty-seven shells of 120 millimetres on different statins in the valley of the Aire; twenty-five shells on bivouacs in the valley of the Orne; six shells and two incendiary bombs on the station at Thionville and eight shells on the Conflans station."

The Belgian official communication reads:

"There were local artillery actions at various points along the whole front, especially in the direction of Dixmude. Our batteries took under their fire enemy groups in the direction of Keyem and Wyshuysen."

VERDUN PSYCHOLOGICAL VICTORY.

"The fundamental secret of French resistance at Verdun was psychological," says a high French officer, incapacitated by wounds. "It was universal auto-suggestion on a vast scale. All were so self-hypnotized the the constant repetition of the phrase: 'They won't pass,' that no idea save that of resistance to the uttermost could enter their heads." Continuing this novel explanation of the French success, the officer said:

"Anyone familiar with crowd psychology must have noticed the immediate response of bodies of men to suggestion. Of all the peoples on earth the French are the most sensitive to such influence. Imagine, then, the result when Gen. Petain transferred doubt and discouragement into iron determination, when throughout the whole army flashed his resolution that the Germans should not get through.

"That is what enabled the infantry to undergo unexampled bombardments and then rush forward with the bayonet as eagerly as fresh troops. That is the explanation of the confidence in victory, seen even in captured Frenchmen, which has amazed their German captors.

MORALE DECISIVE FACTOR.

"In all battles morale is present, but at Verdun it is literally the decisive factor."

The officer's theory is strengthened by a surgeon, who spent five weeks in a dressing station close to the front.

"The most remarkable thing about the wounded," said he, "was their general attitude of determination. In some cases their faces seemed fixed in an expression of ferocious resolution, especially among those suffering from shell shock.

"I treated the wounded at Chalons in the Champagne ofefnsive, but I never noticed a similar phenomenon there, though the majority of the soldiers were equally confident of victory. But at Verdun it was more than confidence; they appeared obsessed by the one dominating idea to the exclusion of everything else."

An American who visited the Verdun front made a similar observation. He said: "I saw one regiment coming back to rest after six days in the trenches. There was less laughter and talk than usual, but all seemed animated by an intense spirit of determination. When asked their opinion of the battle, the general reply was just 'The Germans won't pass.'"

SLAV REPULSES HUN.

PETROGRAD, via London, April 28.—The following official communication was issued yesterday:

"Western Russian front—The enemy has continued his bombardment of the Ikskull Bridgehead.

"Enemy aeroplanes have flown over our Dvina lines at many points, dropping bombs. Seven enemy aeroplanes yesterday flew over the Dvinsk region. One of them bore the distinguishing mark of a Russian aeroplane.

One of our aeroplanes bombarded the railway station of Daudsevas and Ujvertymie, southeast of Friedrichstadt. Twenty large bombs were dropped and started fires.

"On Wednesday night the enemy, after an artillery preparation lasting two hours, attacked Vlassy Kroshin, in the sector northeast of Baranovichi, but was repulsed by the fire of our outposts and scouts. In the morning we observed a fresh massing of troops against this sector, which we again dispersed.

"The enemy's artillery is particularly active in the region of the Oginski Canal and the Jasiolda River. Enemy aeroplanes at several points flew over the cantonments of Gen. Everts' troops and dropped bombs.

"In the region of the Bovno-Kovel Railway, after a fight, we occupied the village of Chromiakoua. The enemy attempted to recapture the ground lost, but was repulsed by our fire.

"Caucasian front — Engagements between outposts occurred in the district of Mamakhatun and Mush. Southwards of Bitlis our troops have dislodged the Turks from their whole series of positions in the mountains.

FOUR ATTACKS REPULSED.

ROME, via London, April 28.—The War Office communication issued yesterday says:

"On the Trentino front, Lake Gardia to Brenta, the artillery and aeroplanes have been active. In the Upper Cordevole our artillery fired on the enemy's Mount Slef defences.

"In the valley of the Drave our heavy artillery repeatedly shelled the Innichen Station and railway.

"On the Isonzo and the Carso fronts there have been the usual artillery actions. An enemy waggon train between Oppachiasella and Rpbbia was attacked by our artillery. Several of the waggons blew up with loud explosions.

"East of Selz the enemy wasted ammunition and men in vain attempts to expel us from our positions we had captured south of Ballone. Last night, after several hours of violent bombardment, the enemy launched four determined attacks here. His dense columns were mown down by our fire, and thrown back each time in great disorder."

HUN FLEET NABBED SWEDISH STEAMER

LONDON, April 28.—The Swedish steamer J. J. Dickson, bound to Amsterdam, was captured and taken to Hamburg by the fleet of German warships while the fleet was returning from the bombardment of the English coast on Tuesday last.

The name of the J. J. Dickson does not appear in available shipping records.

BATTLE-CRUISERS REPEATEDLY HIT BY BRITISH SHIPS

Courageous Fight of Commander of Light Cruiser Squadron

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, April 28. The Lowestoft correspondent of the Daily Mail, telegraphing under date of April 25, says:

"The scream of shells and their detonation as they burst inland was the first intimation the people of Lowestoft had that for the second time German dreadnoughts were off their shores. The people sprang from their beds, peering toward the sea, where, looming through the mist, could be seen great gray shapes here and there picked out with flashes of flame as another shell came inshore.

"The inhabitants scrambled into their clothes and, catching hold of their little ones, hurried out, not in panic, but out of curiosity, to the shore to watch and count the German shells.

"The enemy did not have his own way for long. The watchers saw German seaplanes, which a few minutes before had left the vessels, come hurrying back. The reason was soon apparent. From the south came little clouds of smoke drawing nearer every moment.

"A rousing cheer was given as it was seen that the smoke was coming from British cruisers and destroyers.

"The big German ships loosed a stream of shells at the approaching ships and then swung to the east, but the German Admiral again changed his course when he found that the British force was not nearly equal to his five great battle-cruisers and many destroyers.

"Every moment we expected to see our ships blown out of the water," said one of our watchers. "Our comparatively small vessels were seeking to get at close quarters with the German giants, and a perfect storm of shells screamed across the water toward them, but whoever commanded our ships had great courage.

HUNS HIT TIME AND AGAIN.

"The German shells were falling all around our craft, but they did not reply until well within range. Then time and again they hit the German monsters. Once we saw a volume of flame leap from a funnel of one of the great warships. Another suddenly staggered, but in a second righted itself, though we could see steam and smoke coming from unusual places.

"Our ships were hit—they could hardly escape, so thickly did the Germans plaster the water with shells. The sea was so churned by the fast moving ships and the exploding shells that it looked like foam.

"Suddenly we saw an aeroplane coming from the north at a terrific rate.

"What ever message it brought the Germans turned tail and made off at high speed to the northeast. As they fled one of the giants seemed in trouble. Our destroyers shot after them and worried them as they disappeared, the sound of the firing growing fainter."

ON LIST OF WOUNDED

Pte. A. Wareham, 2559a Esplanade avenue, 42nd Highlanders. His brother, Stanley, is in the 60th Battalion and is now on the firing line. They are nephews of J. Openshaw, 1136 Wellington street, Verdun.

BRITISH STEAM SHIPPING GREATER THAN BEFORE WAR

WASHINGTON, April 28. British figures on the effects of the U-boat campaign, as reported by the American Consul-General at London, Mr. Skinner, show only a small reduction from grand totals existing before the war began.

The whole loss inflicted on British shipping, down to the 23rd of last March, after nineteen months of war, was less than 4 per cent of numbers and a little over 6 per cent of tonnage.

The losses of steamships among the belligerents were: Great Britain, 379 vessels, and 1,320,171 tons; France, 41 vessels and 139,865 tons; Belgium, 10 vessels, and 29,861 tons; Russia, 27 vessels, and 42,226 tons; Italy, 21 vessels, and 70,231 tons; Japan, 3 vessels and 19,267 tons, or a total of 481 vessels for all belligerents, and 1,621,621 tons. There have been 57 sailing vessels belonging to all belligerents lost, with a tonnage of 155,28.

Shipbuilding has been continued during the war and the losses of vessels have been made up. The steam shipping of Great Britain is reported to have increased during the war over the figures of 1914, by 88 vessels, and 343,616 tons. France has sustained a net loss of only 9 steamers and 12,571 tons from the figures of 1914. Russia has three steamers less in the net result, but a gain of 902 in tonnage. In Italy there has been a gain of 18 vessels and of 83,156 tons. Neutral countries have been a total of 155 vessels, and 292,721 tons.

FLEMING MAKES SPORTING OFFER TO FIGHT BOUT AGAIN

P.Q.F.A. SEASON IS TO START WITH 22 TEAMS THIS YEAR

Three Leagues Operating Might Be Almost Called Munition League for Nine Out of Every Ten Players are Making Shells

COMPETITION FOR BIG CRICKET CUP OFF INDEFINITELY

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28.—That active competition for the McGaw cricket championship cup is suspended for the duration of the war was the resolution determined upon by the Ontario Cricket Association at its annual meeting last evening. It was thought that even one team of eleven men could not be gathered together, much less enough teams to arrange a league schedule.

The cause is, of course, the enlistments, from which every sporting club has suffered. So the officers were re-elected and will remain in office until the end of the war.

No annual meetings will be held in the event of the war lasting for more than one year, and the club will remain in a state of dormancy. But when the boys return the association will become active immediately.

The officers elected are: Hon. president, Mayor Church; president, M. Kirwan Martin, of Hamilton; vice-presidents, H. Hancock, St. Albans; A. D. Cordner, Toronto; H. Wright, St. Barnabas; W. Paris, Grace Church; P. Blackwell, Riverdale; committee, H. S. Reid, Rosedale; L. Samson, St. Barnabas; N. Seagram, Toronto; A. Hope Gibson, Hamilton; W. Kent, St. Albans; W. K. Brendo, Riverdale; R. Hill, Grace; L. Rowlinson, Grace; secretary-treasurer, H. Dean, Toronto.

The team from Grace Church won the McGaw championship Cup last season with flying colors, and it was presented to the captain, Mr. Paris, by President Martin just before the close of the meeting.

Maisonneuve Stanley Euchre and Dance a Success

A pleasant evening was spent at the Lansdowne Hall last evening when the Maisonneuve Stanley Ladies held their euchre and dance.

Manager Thompson announced that the Maisonneuve Stanleys would have a basket ball club. The young ladies will start practising at the Jubilee Rink on May 5th. They will also have swimming classes. Miss MacGillvray and Mr. Thompson's songs were greatly appreciated by all present.

BRUNSWICKS HOLD McCALLUM TROPHY

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28.—The final game for the McCallum Trophy this season was rolled last night, when the Brunswick's successfully defended the trophy by defeating the Standards lots, of Toronto, by a score of 2,749 to 2,730. The challengers got away to a bad start, or else they might have taken away the cup, for at the finish they were only beaten by nineteen pins.

According to the rules of the Trophy, no more challenges will be accepted until the season opens next November.

WESTMOUNT HIGH SCHOOL INTER CLASS BASBEALL LEAGUE.

The following schedule for 1916, has been adopted:
May 3—Fourth vs. First.
May 5—Second vs. Third.
May 8—First vs. Second.
May 10—Third vs. Fourth.
May 12—First vs. Third.
May 15—Fourth vs. Second.
May 17—Third vs. First.
May 19—Second vs. Fourth.
May 22—Fourth vs. Third.
May 24—First vs. Fourth.
May 26—Second vs. First.
May 29—Third vs. Second.
The boys will play for Spalding fob medals.

The sixth season of the P. Q. F. A. opens tomorrow when twenty-two clubs set out on the long journey for soccer honors. Three leagues operate, and if shorn of former strength, owing to enlistment, there is enough quality left to make a most successful season. They could in truth be termed "munition leagues," as nine out of ten men left here are making shells for their former team mates to speed to German trenches.

Being the first serious try out for the teams, it is little more than guess work to anticipate winners, as another grand shuffle has taken place. One important senior game is Grand Trunk at C. P. R. Trunks call, reports say, put out a corking eleven, including Adam Rae, Billy Bayne, Bert Watkin, Scott and McLeish. With these fellows in form, "nuff sed." C. P. R. will rely mostly on juniors, but given time, juniors become seniors. Everyone was in a cradle once. Even though the game takes place at Angus, Trunks should win.

The promoted and much-discussed Verdun City have a stiff ordeal for their first appearance. The game takes place on their own ground, and while that is a lot in their favor, especially if it is one of those "uncharted" pitches, still Locos should get home. Invictus and Shamrocks will be interesting from an experimental point of view, as neither know exactly the value of their talent. If Shamrocks have secured some M. A. A. A. men, then Invictus must extend themselves.

Lachine with Norman Wilson back once more, open against Sons of England. Both have done the shape-up act, and anything might happen, with S. O. E. taking a point. Sons of Scotland are expected to take two points from St. Paul Rangers, that is if Rangers let them. This game takes place on Trunks ground Alexandra Park.

The Second Division have decided what appears to be against their own interests, to have idle teams instead of rearranging their schedule, consequently only have three games. The feature one is Chemicals vs. Lyalls, the latter being the latest team of all talents, Chemicals know this and expect to take some.

Watching the Score Board

Tinker's crew have now won six games in a row. And Mordecai Brown is waiting for Christy Mathewson and the New York Giants.

Jack Graney of the Indians got three hits again yesterday. This will never do. He will be passing Tris Speaker at that rate.

Benny Kauff's batting average yesterday—.600.

The Cubs made ten of their twelve hits in two innings.

The Tigers routed an old jinx when they drove Weilman of the Browns from the slab yesterday. The Senators reversed on the Athletics, winning 4 to 2.

One of the "almost fights" made things hum when Umpire Bill Klem and Muggs McGraw exchanged hard looks in the fourth inning at Boston.

The White Sox took the Indians into camp finally. Fournier's swat club put the jinx on the Indians and the Sox had no trouble winning five to three. The Giants' percentage looks small beside the heighth of the Woolworth building.

FRANKIE FLEMING WON LAST NIGHT'S BOUT ON FOUL THAT WAS UNINTENTIONAL IN SECOND ROUND; WILLING TO FIGHT IT OVER AGAIN FOR NOTHING ABOUT MAY 24TH

Likely That Wallace Will Accept "Sporty" Offer —$500 of Fleming's End of Purse to Be Left in Chief Campeau's Hands as Guarantee—Assault-at-Arms on the Whole Was a Huge Success and Though it Cost $2,500, Will Net 163rd Regiment a Neat Sum

Between three and four thousand people saw Frankie Fleming win his ten round bout with Eddie Wallace last night on a foul, and once more a much heralded Montreal boxing match was turned into a fiasco.

Fleming, who is at present cared for in Dr. Dupont's private hospital on Sherbrooke street east, states that he does not harbor any ill-feeling against Wallace, and does not believe the latter fouled him on purpose, thus repeating what he told Wallace himself after the bout.

Personal examination of Fleming's body by even such an unpracticed surgical eye as that of a Star reporter, showed conclusively this morning that a foul had occurred.

BOUT PROMISED WELL.

It was a sad ending to what promised to be one of the finest boxing exhibitions ever arranged in Montreal, for the start of the entertainment in the drill hall was most auspicious and everything had been done by the officers of the 163rd Regiment and Messrs. Moisan and Moorhouse, who had the actual looking after the details in charge to make it a success.

The preliminaries opened with some excellent boxing stunts by the celebrated Fisher boys, youngsters, whose father, himself a well-known and popular local fighter, is now fighting at the front, were all worth watching; the band furnished a superior program of military music; the crowd three-quarters civilian and one-quarter in khaki, was enthusiastic; and the blare of the bugle which took the place of the time honored gong gave a martial air to it all.

ABOUT FIVE MINUTES.

The main bout lasted just about five minutes of actual fighting, which, therefore, gives Fleming the tremendous honorarium of two hundred dollars per minute, from which, however, must be deducted his training and hospital expenses.

As far as the fight went, there was not much to choose between the two, considering that it is a well-known Fleming characteristic to start out very slowly, but whatever there was to choose between them should go to the credit of Wallace.

Referee Moorhouse, judging from his actions right after the foul blow was struck, realized that it was low and warned Wallace, but a large number of the crowd seemed to think that Fleming was shamming.

The first physician in the ring, Dr. Max Wiseman, of St. Lawrence Boulevard, after a brief examination, seemed to think that there was nothing much the matter with Frankie, but a later examination by Dr. P. P. McCormick, of St. James street west, showed a bruise in the left groin, accompanied by symptoms, which made it advisable to send Fleming to a hospital.

NOT FOR THREE WEEKS.

His injuries are not dangerous, and ice-packs and rest will set him up properly again in a very few days, although he will not be able to fight again for at least three weeks.

This will be a disappointment to Wallace, who is anxious to have another go with Fleming and is willing to stay here for a week or so, if there is a chance of securing it in that time.

"I am very sorry anything out of the way happened," said Wallace. "I do not believe now I fouled him, but if it is proven that I did, I did it unintentionally. My reputation is such that no one would accuse me of fouling an opponent deliberately.

I tried to put him out with the same stomach blow, with which I put out Hughes here some time ago, and which made the latter double up and quit, and when I saw Fleming double up I was sure it was through the effect of a similar blow.

TO WAIT A WEEK.

I am willing to wait here a week and give half of whatever money I should get out of another fight with Fleming for patriotic purposes.

I am afraid though wild horses could not drag Fleming into the ring with me again. I know I have his number, and he knows it.

As to the talk about the thing having been a frame up, that was all rot.

I am a Jew and I spent most of my time while here amongst friends in the Jewish quarter, and these all told me that they had heard I was going to lay down to Fleming.

I am sorry the thing wound up so unsatisfactorily, because I like the Montreal people and I like to please them.

The one thing I want more just now than anything else is another chance to meet Fleming in the ring again.

It is understood that both men have already been approached by emissaries from a promoter other than the ones who staged last night's bout for a match but at much reduced figures.

"Nobody regrets the disastrous ending of last night's scrap worse than I do, and I would give all the money I ever saw if it had not happened," said Frankie Fleming when a Star representative dropped in on him this morning at a private hospital at 218 Sherbrooke street west, where he was taken directly from the Drill Shed last night.

Fleming, declares that he was awake the greater part of the night and was in great pain. The doctor who is attending him stated in the presence of The Star representative that there could be no doubt about Fleming having been injured, and that he might be confined to his bed for a couple of days.

FLEMING'S EXPLANATION.

Wallace, is not held responsible, however, by Fleming. He explained that the blow was struck in a clinch and that Wallace was plugging away blindly, not knowing where he was hitting. He further states that he was struck twice in practically the same spot, first a left and then a right being landed foul, but it was the last blow which caused the trouble.

Fleming, like many a fighter, seems to be superstitious and says his luck seems to be going back on him. "I came up her from New York, on Good Friday and have had nothing but bad luck since," he said today.

Asked if he would be willing to fight Wallace again, Fleming stated that he would gladly fight him in two or three weeks' time and would give all the proceeds from the fight to any patriotic or charitable institution, decided upon.

NO SOLAR PLEXUS BLOW.

He denies that he was struck in the solar plexus and says that Wallace only landed a couple of straight blows during the two rounds the fight was in progress.

Some delay was caused in starting the main bout, Fleming objecting to the heavy bandages worn by Wallace, which had to be changed. The local boy was the first to enter the ring, but Wallace was only a few minutes behind him.

When the bugle sounded both boys stepped into the centre of the ring, and for almost a minute not a blow was attempted, then as they gained confidence Wallace became the aggressor and made a swing for Fleming's body, but the latter got away from him and a clinch followed. On the break Wallace forced Fleming back against the ropes and landed a right on the body that sent Fleming almost through the ropes. Wallace helped him to his feet. Fleming was finding it difficult to ward off the aggressiveness of Wallace and was noticeably bewildered; he was apparantly playing for Wallace's stomach and body and he landed two or three blows but they had little effect. It was Wallace's round.

DID ALL THE LEADING.

While Wallace was the aggressor in the first he went to work even harder in the second. He started with a right and left, but Fleming successfully evaded both of them, and then landed a right on the face. A clinch followed and Wallace scored a couple of blows in the infighting. Right and left jabs were exchanged, which were doing but little damage. Wallace then got away from a wicked right, and then landed a stiff body blow. The boys came together again and the blow that ended the fight was struck while the two boys were breaking away.

The semi final between Kid Burns and Kid Hubert was a slam bang affair from start to finish, and after Hubert had been floored twice in the last round, Referee McLaughlin called the bout off when there was about a minute left to fight.

BURNS AT TOP FORM.

Burns has become exceedingly popular with local fight fans of late and can always be counted upon to give a good account of himself. Last night he was at the top of his form and had something on his opponent at every stage of the game.

Herbert started off trying to rough matters, and before the fight was in progress a minute he had thrown Burns while breaking from a clinch. This wrestling stunt he kept on throughout the fight, which did not add to his popularity with the crowd.

While both these boys fight in a different style there was lots of action to the go, and it was perhaps the best preliminary ever staged here. Burns is a clever boxer with a right hand that does a lot of damage, and in the early rounds of last night's battle he opened up a gash over Hubert's eye and a few minutes after started the crimson flowing from the Frenchman's nose with the same punch.

Herbert is a rugged boy and has every appearance of enjoying a scrap. He wades into his opponent wildly, and could do a great deal of damage to an opponent who was not clever enough to look out for himself.

REFEREE STOPPED IT.

Burns, although he did not knock Kid Herbert completely out is given credit for a knockout on technical grounds, as the referee stopped the fight.

Gilbert and Hill were the performers in the curtain raiser, a six round affair in which Gilbert had a shade the best of it.

Robt. E. Power, Frank Fleming's business manager, said that Wallace struck him in the groin. This was almost as foul as a kick in the lower part of the abdomen might have been. Fleming has always in the first one or two rounds felt his opponent out, to get the range so to speak. In the present case, neither Fleming nor Wallace did any injury to one another bar the foul.

ONLY LOOKED AT HIM.

"Dr. Max Wiseman," said Mr. Power, "never really examined Fleming. He merely looked at him from a distance of a few feet and said he was all right."

"Dr. McCormick saw how serious the injury was," made a thorough examination, and ordered the patient to the hospital, where he has been in bed ever since with ice bags changed often enough as the swelling necessitates."

Do you think any man could have continued to fight under the circumstances?"

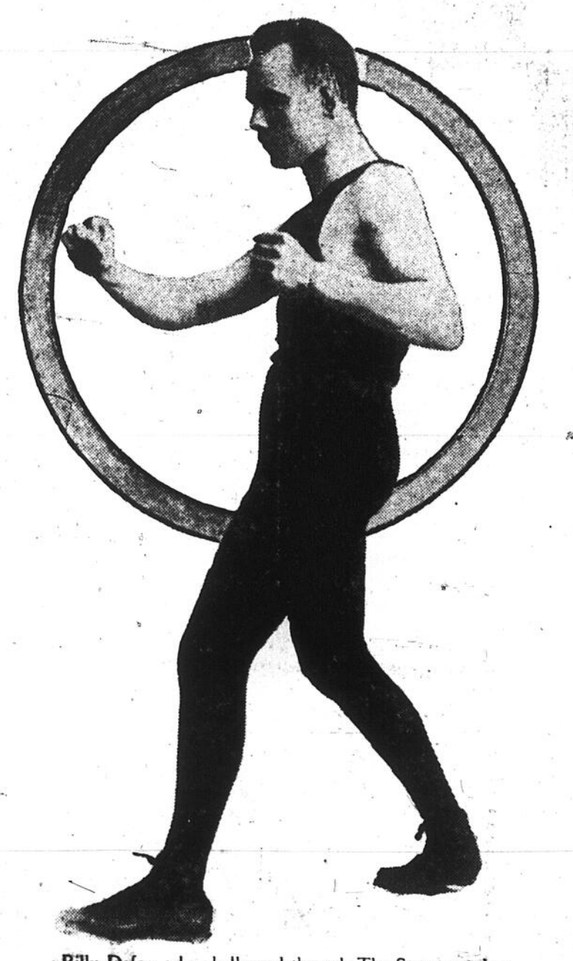
"No, also we are not complaining in any shape or form and we accept Wallace's challenge to fight again."

Mr. Power showed an accepted cheque which he is ready to post.

Later on it was announced by Mr. Moorhouse, that Mr. Power was ready to feave half of the thousand Collars which Fleming receives for this bout in the hands of Chief of Police Campeau as a guarantee that he will meet Wallace in another ten round fight about the 24th of May and will charge nothing for it, the proceeds to go again to the 163rd regiment or any other patriotic purpose that may be decided.

It is more than likely that Wallace will agree to such an arrangement

THE BOXER WHO WANTED TO MEET THE WINNER



Billy Defoe, who challenged through The Star yesterday.

One of the Sportiest Boxing Offers Ever Made in Montreal

The following is a copy of the agreement drawn up for a further fight between Fleming and Wallace:

Montreal, April 28, 1916.

To Messrs. Moisan and Morehouse, of Montreal.

I, Robert Power, agree to furnish Frankie Fleming to box Eddie Wallace ten rounds, 126 pounds ringside, on or about the 24th of May, date to be set just as soon as doctors report Flemnig to be able to start training. Fleming is extending his services gratis, the funds to be given to the 163rd Regiment.

If the proper arrangements can be made I am willing to have Fleming meet Wallace over the twenty round route, or to a finish.

(Signed), ROBERT E. POWER, Mgr. of Fleming.
J. A. MOISAU, for 163rd Regiment.

M.A.A.A. Notes

The M. A. A. A. Lacrosse Club, at a special meeting last night appointed committees from the various departments with a view to finding out how many teams will be available to participate in an inter-club league. This idea will be followed by both the soccer and baseball clubs. The committees were named as follows:

Soccer — W. E. Roughton, J. N. Doyle, W. W. Caven and J. J. Louson.

Bowling — E. E. Perry, G. Pierce and A. Anderson.

Baseball — R. Taylor, R. Sanders, M. Milloy and G. Cornell.

Lacrosse — G. Bower, T. Carlind, W. Hagar and D. Brown.

A sixteen run rally in the fifth or final inning by the Snowshoe Club gave them a victory over the Baseball Club by 19 to 14 in the M. A. A. A. Indoor Baseball League last night. The teams:

Snowshoe — Christmas, pitcher and catcher; Parkinson, second; Clark, third; Todd, first; Armstrong, left field; Thompson, pitcher and catcher; Brophy, right field.

Baseball — Sanders, pitcher; Allan, left field; McGregor, third; Vittie, first; Shield, catcher; Logan, second.

Score by innings:

Snowshoe	.	.	.	.	.	1	1	0	1	16—19
Baseball	.	.	.	.	.	1	6	2	0	5—14

CHICAGO TO THE FORE.

CHICAGO, April 28.—The Illinois Athletic Club boasted two more world's records today. I. A. C., swimmers competing against two teams from the New York Athletic Club, lowered the 400 and 500 yard relay marks in a tank meet here last night.

UNDEFEATED TEAM.

NEW YORK, April 28. — Columbia University's undefeated baseball team is trying to arrange a game with Harvard for May 19. The two Blue and White games with the Crimson on the spring schedule were not played on account of rain.

INDOOR LADIES' BASEBALL GAME AT M.A.A.A. GYM TOMORROW

Tomorrow the M. A. A. A. Outdoor Departments will start in full swing on the Westmount grounds, and at same time the Indoor Department will be closed and to mark this closing there will be a Ladies Indoor Baseball game at the Gym tomorrow evening between the M.A.A.A. and Westmount Ladies.

IRISH RANGERS MAY ENTER INTO RUGBY LEAGUE

Special to The Montreal Star.

HAMILTON, Ont., April 28. — Although an announcement that Rugby football matters with regard to next fall is claiming attention of no small proportions at the present time, may seem a little premature, it is, nevertheless, quite true.

If the present plans are carried out, as undoubtedly they will be, a league that will be in every respect worthy will succeed the "big four," which, owing to the war, will suspend operations.

Montreal and Ottawa have already announced that they are out of the interprovincial, the reason being that the mainstays of the club have donned khaki, and they, in turn, are giving attention to the probability of a military league, which would embrace teams made up from members of and representing the Irish Rangers, of Montreal, the 180th Sportsmen's Battalion, of Toronto, and the 208th Sportsman's Battalion, of Hamilton.

"Sins" McEvenue, a lieutenant of the Montreal unit; "King" Clancy, who needs no introduction to Hamilton football fans; Capt. Ernie Laidlaw, of the 180th Battalion, Toronto, and Capt. H. M. Pitticary, of the local Sportsmen's Battalion, the 105th, are at present negotiating regarding the proposed league, and within a week or ten days a definite announcement will be made.

It is intended to play home and home games, and, with the interest in military matters as tense as it is at the present time, and will be in the fall, all expenses will be easily taken care of by the receipts from the games.

VALUABLE HORSES SOLD.

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, April 28.—The sale of Sir Adam Beck's hunters and saddle horses took place here yesterday. Ten were sold, averaging $1,327.50 each. The grand performer, Sir Edward, brought $3,600; Hydro, $2,000; Hampton, $1,700, and Parkaway, $1,350. The sale was quite a popular affair. Sir Adam was alongside the auctioneer on the stand, and gave descriptions of the horses.

Irish-Canadian Rangers Start Series of Musical Smokers Wednesday Next at St. Ann's Hall

The Irish Rangers will give a grand athletic and musical entertainment at St. Ann's Hall on Wednesday night, May 3.

There is a great deal of talent amongst the different members of the regiment and they will take care of the vocal and instrumental numbers, and in addition to that there will be some prominent and well-known local boxers on the program.

President Foley, of the St. Ann's Young Men's Association, has kindly agreed to work in conjunction with the officers of the Regiment to make the affair a huge success.

Captain McCrory and Lieutenant McEvenue will look after the details.

This is one of the first of a series of smokers and entertainments that will be regularly put on, so as to improve mutual good-fellowship and camaraderie amongst the men, and provide pleasant diversion during spare hours.

NEWSY LALONDE HAS NOT COME TO TERMS YET

Will Have Conference With Leo Dandurand Today But Does Not Look for Settlement of Terms —Annual Lacrosse Meeting Tomorrow

Newsy Lalonde announced this morning that although he had an appointment to meet Leo Dandurand of the Nationals this afternoon, there was but little chance of any definite agreement being reached between them today and that he would renew negotiations with both Cornwall and Ottawa immediately.

The annual meeting of the National Lacrosse Union will be held tomorrow, but nothing of importance is expected to transpire, except the ratification of certain changes and amendments to the playing rules which have already been announced.

It is expected that E. C. St. Pierre, the president, will give out the schedule of the games for the coming season.

Nantel Esq., of Cote St. Paul: Verdun City, Chemicals (present holders of the cup), St. Paul Rangers, Calvin, Canada Tube, Cote St. Paul. The competition is for clubs in Cote St. Paul district. Mr. C. Moss was elected president and M. G. Newlove secretary, 1100 Joseph street, Verdun, to handle the business for the matches.

Sons of Scotland team to play St. Paul Rangers on Saturday at Alexandra Park will be selected from the following: Easson, Tydsley, McLagan, Liddell, McAllister, Menary, McDowell, McKenzie, McChristie, Sanderson, Seath, Dalton, Proctor. Kick-off at 3 p.m.

It looks like an end to the differences between Billy Moore and the Referees' Association, but Mr. Moore wants to be clearly shown that he is indebted to the R. A.'s. The whole question goes back to the handing over of treasurer's accounts, and is mainly a difference of opinion, and a suggestion of anything else.

BATTERIES FOR OPENING GAMES IN CITY LEAGUE

The batteries for the opening games in the City League Sunday afternoon at Delorimier Park, have been announced by the various managers.

From the list given the fans should witness some very clever mound work even for so early in the season.

In the opening game Manager Bill Innes will use Henry Clement in the box and Art. Mullen behind the bat for the Athletics, while Manager Red Trempe, of the Nationals, will have either Gagnon, the speedy St. Laurent twirler, Freddy Ashton, or Lefty Lorrain, with Duplessis or Emile Morin at the receiving end.

Lorrain is under contract with the Stars, and may be loaned to the Frenchmen for this opening game.

In the second game the Indians will have their crack twirler, Malcolm Fraser, to face the champion Crescents with "Big Chief" Sam Nelson behind the plate. Bob Stronach and Carl Rilly Whelan of the Crescents will use Joe Morin, Cy. Curtis or Nick Roques in the box, and either Leo Fitz or Smith, the new comer, as catcher.

Canadian Racing Association Hold Annual Meet

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28.—The annual meeting of the Canadian Racing Association was held here yesterday at the offices of the Ontario Jockey Club with the following in attendance: Col. William Hendrie, O.L.C.; Colonel Campbell, Blue Bonnets; W. J. McIntyre, Hamilton J.C.; George M. Hendrie, Windsor; J. H. Madigan, Fort Erie, and Secretary-Treasurer W. P. Fraser.

The committee was advised by the Dorval Jockey Club that they would hold their spring meeting; on the dates originally allotted, namely May 29 to June 5.

It was announced that the Jockey Clubs composing the Canadian Racing Associations have decided to grant the sum of $500 to the Canadian Thoroughbred Horse Society towards the giving of prizes at the horse shows in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec for thoroughbred stallions standing to half-bred mares.

The following committee were elected for the coming season: Chairman, Joseph E. Seagram; vice-chairman, Sir H. Montagu Allan; secretary-treasurer, W. P. Fraser.

OLD FIGHTER IS DOWN AND OUT

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, April 28. — Johnny Reardon, once champion welterweight prize fighter, pleaded guilty to vagrancy in the Tombs police court yesterday. His home, he said, was in the back room of Bowery saloons, his downfall he attributed to the old trio, wine, women and song. He boasted of having retired from the ring seven years ago with $40,000, having fought 367 battles, and been knocked out only once. The magistrate suspended sentence.

FULTON AN UNCERTAINTY.

NEW YORK, April 28.—That Fred Fulton, heavyweight, who meets Al Reich here tonight in a ten round bout, is absolutely uncertain quantity and quality, is betokened by the betting. There has not been enough to determine the odds.

Ye Shoe Primer—

Production and Thrift

11. The Government is telling us to produce and to practice thrift—through dark days and bright days—we have kept our Canadian shoemakers on their job producing Invictus Shoes.

And we have kept on telling Canadians that we make "The Best Good Shoe."

We are keeping up the quality irrespective of the rising cost of raw material.

It is the right kind of thrift to wear Invictus Shoes—because we are using all our resources in money, brains, and machinery—in producing a "quality" shoe—a shoe of style and comfort, better than the price your Invictus dealer will charge. He is in your town and at your service.

Life and Character Reading
APRIL 28.

Your horoscope shows you must become the supreme governor over all passions, appetites and affections.

By so doing you will become the master of your fate and be able to accomplish lasting success in whatever you undertake.

High ideas alone will bring about remarkable changes in the Taurus born.

Pure and sincere love alone will influence men and women with this birthdate.

This sign gives ferocity of strength under the influence of anger. The only way to deal with a man or woman having this birthdate, when they are in one of their paroxysms of madness, is to leave them entirely alone and let them rage it out by themselves. They will not listen to reason. After their anger has spent itself, the calm and well poised person will be able to lead them.

There is a demand for good domestic help at this time and the Montreal Daily Star Want Ads will help the energetic, capable and enthusiastic worker to an excellent position during the coming week.

What Has Become of Fed. Players? Still a Shortage

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEWARK, N.J., April 28.—President Ed Barrow, of the International League, will be here today to assist in the opening ceremonies, when Toronto and Newark inaugurate the local baseball season. Newark's unprofitable venture in the Federal League seems to have whetted the appetite of the local fans, and the entry of Newark into the Barrow circuit is awaited with satisfaction.

Manager Birmingham, of the Leafs, is in New York endeavoring to get a pitcher from the Highlanders. The Toronto staff is weak, and Birmingham has not a flinger ready to go nine innings. Two pitchers per game will be used until the club runs into some warm weather.

The Leafs are weak at third base and in right field. Whight, the former St. Thomas, Buffalo and Providence player, is a clever fielder and base runner, but it is a question whether he will hit International League pitching. Reed, in right field, is a big, fast, hard hitting fellow, but he knows very little baseball as yet. For the pitching assignment today Birmingham has Herbert, Manning and McQuillan ready to go at least part of the route. Kelly will catch. Johnny Enzmann and Ben Egan will be the local battery.

Toronto's batting order will be as follows:

Becker, c.f.; Truesdale, 2b; Brackett, l.f.; Graham, 1b.; Blackburne, ss.; Reed, r.f.; Wright or Trout, 3b.; Kelly, c.; and Herbert, Manning and McQuillan, p.

PROVIDENCE GETS HELP.

PROVIDENCE, April 28.—Providence Ball Club scout, Egan, yesterday announced the purchase of Third Baseman Brinard from the New York Giants, and Catcher Blackburn fram the Boston Brayes. Both men reported to Manager Shean yesterday. Brainard and Blackburn were purchased outright, with no strings attached.

BACK IN BASEBALL.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Fred Brainerd, who decided to quit baseball and go into business when he was released by the Giants, has changed his mind and will play with the Providence club. He is determined to show Manager McGraw that the release was a big mistake

GIDDINGS' STRING GETS TO TORONTO

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28. — Seven horses, comprising the Giddings string of Oakville, arrived yesterday at the Woodbine in charge of trainer Harry Giddings, Jr. In the same car Joseph Doane's good Plaudite horse, Plaudmore, came along. The latter has been doing stud duty at the Giddings farm.

Capt. Bee, one of the two-year-olds, is the property of Capt. Ross Gooderham, but will be trained by Harry Giddings Jr. The latter will also handle Hearts of Oak when he returns from Pimlico next month.

The Giddings horses now at the Woodbine are as follows:

Beehive, Harry Bassett II, Armine, Priline, Orlana, Bavarde, Capt. Bee.

Canadian Troops at Folkestone, Eng., Hold Sport Day

Special to The Montreal Star.

LONDON, April 28. — The program of sports for the Canadian troops on the bank holiday attracted a large crowd of spectators at Folkestone. Private C. Kelly, of the Dental Corps, took first place in the mile walking race and the mile hurdle, and with Sergt Davis, of the 17th Battalion won the three-legged race. Bandsman Craig, of the 32nd Battalion, was the winner of the bandsmens race.

THE English Football League have declined to accede to the request of the Scottish League to play a match for war funds.

BIG GATHERING FOR ATHLETIC MEET

Special to The Montreal Star.

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 — With the vanguard of Uncle Sam's premier intercollegiate athletes already here, and several hundred others due to arrive late this afternoon, final touches were given to Franklin Field today for the opening of the University of Pennsylvania's twenty-second annual relay carnival.

If weather conditions are favorable, several world's records are expected to be broken. Practically every champion in the United States will compete.

In addition there will be entered several world, American or Olympic title holders.

A. G. H. KERRY, the Oxford "Soccer" Blue, has been transferred to the motor cycle section of the Royal Engineers.

The Ale Your Great Grandfather Drank

MOLSON'S

Is A Valuable Tonic

A fine, old, creamy ale---like Molson's---is a nourishing, strengthening, invigorating tonic. It contains the valuable food properties extracted from barley, enriched by malting---blended with the appetizing bitter properties of the hops.

MOLSON'S Ale gives vigor and vitality to the system---really creates an appetite---helps digestion---and the doctors say it is of assistance in overcoming sleeplessness. If you are not feeling fit, enjoy a bottle of Molson's Ale at mealtime and before going to bed.

DIRTY STREETS MEAN SAVING OF $35,000 TO CITY

The discomfort which citizens have experienced for a month through lack of money to clean streets has saved them about $35,000, it was announced at the City Hall yesterday.

Since the Board of Control provided money for street cleaning yesterday morning, the entire length of paved roads in the city has been flushed, and much of the unpaved roadway is being cleaned. Engineers estimate that the cost of the spring cleaning will be around $40,000, some $35,000 less than the amount spent last year. The reason is that the cleaning, coming later, has to deal with less dirt, much of which has blown away.

Capt. Mackenzie Rogan, M.V.O., and the Coldstream Guards band have been in France for some time cheering the troops by daily concerts. Capt. Rogan is now in his fiftieth year of military service.

B.C. Women Want Vote Without Referendum

Special to The Montreal Star.

VICTORIA, April 28.—Speaking to a delegation of women from various parts of the Province yesterday, Premier Bowser explained in detail why the Government was planning to submit a franchise referendum to the people. The delegation which claimed to represent about 15,000 members of women's organizations, objected to the plan and wanted the vote given them outright by the Legislature. The Premier promised further to consider the question.

Spread the News

When you have decided that that unoccupied room in your home might just as well as not be bringing you a good weekly revenue to help out with the rent, spread the news that you want a roomer.

Of course, don't spread this news by putting an old-fashioned unsightly, cheap window sign in your house but spread it in the modern way by running a little Want Ad in the Montreal Daily Star telling what kind of a room you have for rent, how much you want for it and the location of your house.

This method spreads the news like wildfire in 24 hours and inside of another day you will have a tenant.

Quick Service As Well As Big Values

At This Live Store

We are equipped to give you remarkably quick service although we regret to say that we disappointed some of our customers for Easter Sunday. We would assure you that we did everything in our power to deliver all the orders promised, but as we had orders for over a thousand suits in excess of any Easter business we have ever had in our history, you will understand the strain to which our sewing rooms have been put, and as it is our policy never to deliver a suit unless it is properly and carefully made we were forced to disappoint a few of our clients. However most of those disappointed have complimented themselves on the receipt a few days late of a suit that was really made for them. We can now assure you that we have the spring rush well in hand and that all orders given us will be finished on time.

Pte. Johnson Was in Bank of Montreal

STRATFORD, Ont., April 28.—Pte. Ernest Johnson, son of H. M. Johnson, was killed in action April 17, according to an official message received today. He was in the employ of the Bank of Montreal, in Montreal, when he enlisted.

He discontinued his course for a commission in order to join his comrades in the McGill University quota of the 24th Battalion in May of last year, and had been at the front since last September.

Pte. Johnson was particularly well known as an oarsman, being stroke of the Lachine boat crew. Capt. Sydney Johnson, of the 110th Battalion, the Rev. Cyril Johnson, East Moseley, London, England, the Rev. Herbert Johnson, Port Dover, and Horace Johnson, barrister, Pembroke, Ont., are brothers.

A process has been invented in India for producing saltpetre of about 94 per cent purity.

Dug in Wrong House for Dorothy Arnold

PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 28.—Octave Glennoris, the convict whose startling "confession" has put the New York police once more on a search for long-lost Dorothy Arnold, will be allowed to go to New York and point out the house under which, he declares, her body was buried.

Mr. Davis, warden of the Rhode Island State prison, declared today that while an official parole for the release of Glennoris had not been yet presented, he was entirely willing to have him go.

Glennoris, on his part, was eager to go to New York today. He declared that the detectives in their search dug in the wrong house, and that he will waive immunity if they will only take him to New York and West Point.

NOMINATIONS BY U. S. CONSERVATIVES

HALIFAX, N.S., April 28.—At the Conservative Convention yesterday at Digby, Felix Caudet, of Weymouth was nominated to represent the Clare district of the County, and Walton K. Tibert, of Bear River, for Derby district.

H. H. Marshall, the present member, refused to allow his name to go before the convention.

Clarence Jameson, M.P., was among the speakers. The Convention for Richmond County, held at St. Peters, unanimously nominated Dr. J. A. Macdonald, Jr., St. Peters, and Dr. R. A. Leblanc, of Arichat, to contest the County in the interests of the Conservative party in the Provincial election.

Advertisers' Guarantee

AS TO

CIRCULATION OF THE STAR

The circulation of The Daily Star every day last week exceeded

98,000

In all contracts for advertising, advertisers have the right to demand guarantees, and may embody the following figures as minimums. Excess over these figures to be treated as overweight not charged for:

Monday	94,800
Tuesday	94,800
Wednesday	94,800
Thursday	94,800
Friday	94,800
Saturday	95,000
Daily Star last week (average) over	98,000
Weekly Star last week	136,500
One issue of Daily and Weekly Star, over	234,500
Circulation of The Star last week, Daily and Weekly, over	725,000

In addition to the above figures, there is a large excess circulation, bona fide, and which has run from 70,000 to 350,000 a week. This is all included in the overweight in the guarantee to advertisers.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28, 1916.

CO-OPERATING WITH CASEMENT —THE KAISER AND PRESIDENT WILSON.

THE increased German activity all along the British front may have been planned in advance to coincide with Casement's mad dash for the Irish coast and with the cruiser and airship raids on the coast of Great Britain. It looks as if the German General Staff had turned its attention to "strafed England" at last. None of us will have the smallest doubt about the ability of the British soldiers to give a good account of themselves. They have never fallen short in quality, though their quantity has not always been as great as we could wish. But it may be that no really heavy blow is to be delivered. The German idea may merely have been to keep our troops busy in France while Sir Roger was whirling through his dervish dance in victimized Ireland.

The statements of Mr. Redmond and Sir Edward Carson make it quite clear how pitifully little Casementism represents. A few deluded madmen are going to certain defeat and punishment—that is all. It is a thousand pities that it has happened. The regret that the delusion should have succeeded, even as meagrely as it has, will be as wide as the migration of the Irish race—wider still if possible, for it will include the endless circle of their well-wishers. But the great thing now is to get the poison extirpated with as little loss of time or of life as possible, and to keep constantly in mind that there are no sterner enemies of this tea-cup rebellion than the Nationalist Party in Parliament and out of it.

Except for this general harassment of the British lines, there is no great military activity at any point. The Germans seem to have pretty well recognized the fact that they cannot crack the nut of Verdun. There will probably be more infantry attacks, following the unceasing artillery deluge; but of late they have not been pressed home. The idea probably is to keep the French on the defensive there, and so prevent the return of their troops to other parts of the line.

* * * * *

The Kaiser has apparently taken a hand in settling the submarine controversy with President Wilson. He has summoned Ambassador Gerard to meet him at the front—a most unusual proceeding. Commonly he would leave the negotiations to his Chancellor. But clearly he desires above all things to take no risks. President Wilson has won his point—if he has the patience and the insistence to refuse to allow himself to be talked out of it in the end. Germany will trim her policy of piracy to meet the American taste. She has, indeed, already pruned the prongs on her submarine program, and told her submarine commanders to take their orders—in effect—from Washington.

There is another feature of this submarine business which will help the Germans bow to the American demand, and that is that it is just about time for the German Admiralty to call in its submarines for rest and recuperation. The fierce and far-flung activity of these stealthy pirates can last just about so long. They then must stop, whether any neutral nation objects or not. There is the wear-and-tear on the submarines; and there is—a much more serious factor—the deadly activity of the British Navy. The campaign of frightfulness ceases to be frightful. So it is called off until new U-boats can be built and old ones mended.

Hence it will fit in fairly well with German policy to take a rest now, pretending to do so wholly out of consideration for their dear friends, the "stupid" Americans. They will seek to get full credit for this yielding to the American Government, while in reality they are yielding to the assiduous attentions of the British destroyers, and to the blunting of their submarine weapon. A period of inaction will follow. The Germans will be very, very good. "When the devil was sick, the devil a saint would be." Then when they are quite ready with a new swarm of poisonous insects to scatter death over the ocean, they will find some new excuse for re-opening their piratical campaign. And they will hope that they can run it for a little while, carefully avoiding ships carrying Americans, before some new "Sussex" wakes Uncle Sam up once more. That was what they did before when the "Lusitania" controversy became acute; and that is what they are very likely to do again. "When the devil gets well, the devil a saint is he."

* * * * *

The trouble is that Uncle Sam is trying to do business with a deliberate lair and pledge-breaker. To the Prussian, a lie is a legitimate ruse of war. The only thing which would limit his lying would be a fear that Uncle Sam might some day grow impatient at being made a fool of in the face of the whole world, and strike swift and strong in his indignation, without giving time for any more lying. But Germany depends upon her diplomats in the United States to keep constant watch on the temperature of the patient and warn her when the danger point approaches. That is Bernstorff's job; and he doubtless has his automatic human thermometers stationed at all critical points throughout the Republic. Several are to be found, we fancy, in Congress.

But there will be no breach, except by accident. Germany will not take on the United States. She will recall her submarines first. President Wilson has only to stand to his guns to win the greatest diplomatic victory of this war.

EDWARD FARRER.

EVERY knight of the pen in Canada will bow his head before the bier of, perhaps, the greatest master-craftsman of his art that this country has ever seen. Edward Farrer was in the days of his supreme power the most effective writer of opinion on the Canadian press. A man of wide and accurate knowledge, he possessed the gift of convincing expression to an extraordinary extent. This gift was regularly employed conspicuously in journals with which he was publicly connected; but the anonymity of journalism enabled him to devote it to wider uses, and public opinion in Canada has been more swayed by the genius of Edward Farrer than it has ever suspected.

Mr. Farrer was, however, far more than an advocate of causes—he was the creator of policies. Few men had more influence on those who came into immediate contact with them, and his hand shaped many a program which has long since passed into action and into history. His genial personality made him friends in abundance; but his titanic mental powers won him admirers and followers. That he was mistaken in some of his opinions is but the common lot of mortals. Some of his causes became "lost causes"—in our opinion, properly so. But his pen was ever a power on whatever side it was employed; and only those who have been in a position to pierce his anonymity know how many worthy and successful causes it served.

MUNICIPAL BORROWINGS.

CONSIDERABLE attention is being attracted to the contention of prominent bank managers that there ought to be Government supervision of all municipal borrowing. The history of Canadian municipal flotations certainly tends to prove the unwisdom of permitting hundreds of millions to be borrowed and spent without effective supervision. One result of this haphazard borrowing is that the interest rates, for Canadian municipal securities, have been going up in a way to cause grave anxiety. It is quite a common thing to see several Canadian municipalities in the London markets at the same time, and the competition is demoralizing.

In England there is Government supervision of all such borrowings, with the result that they are placed at the minimum interest. Montreal has loans actually calling for interest at seven per cent. The recognized custom in England is that before municipalities can place loans they have first to be submitted to what is known as the Local Government Board. A minute investigation is conducted by this Board into the assets, etc., of the municipalities wishing to borrow, and when everything is found to be satisfactory, assent is always promptly given. This approval matters very much to the investors—they look upon it, indeed, as the Government's guarantee that everything is right. The Government never permits the offering of municipal loans where the debt has any abnormal features. It is unnecessary to point out that had Montreal loans been subject to similar supervision there would not be a colossal debt today of one hundred and two million dollars.

"God Save Ireland" should be as much the plea of Irishmen today as it ever was, but with the addition, "from being the catspaw of German intriguers."

A Chicago alderman now proposes to change Shakespeare street, in that city, to Bacon avenue. In view of what made Chicago famous the name is appropriate enough.

All those stories of a German-American invasion of Canada would be more effective if they were not told by men who happen to have fallen foul of American justice. The word of a gentleman on his way to penitentiary does not receive the attention it perhaps merits.

Scarcely a day has passed for some time when the newspapers have been without an account of one or more automobile accidents, some of them of the utmost gravity. Is it not time the police paid more attention to the careless driver, both in the interests of pedestrians and of the large numbers of careful chauffeurs and owners who suffer through the ignorance and recklessness of a few of their number?

THE WORLD'S PRESS

American Fusion

New York Globe: The legislature of New York represents a constituency the most mixed in racial elements of any found on earth. Yet the patriotic action of its delegates shows that the contents of the melting pot have melted into a common mass. On the surface here and there may float a little scum and lumps of dross, but these things are negligible. There is fusion on the basis of virile Americanism.

Build New Ships

London Chronicle:—There are strong grounds for insisting that all interned German steamers be retained by the Allies under the terms of peace. But that will not take us far. We need a thoroughgoing plan whereby at the first dawn of peace the whole resources of British shipbuilding now mobilised for naval work shall be switched as instantaneously as possible on to building steamers. Every merchantman launched within the first year may make an incalculable difference to our post-war recovery.

Ships For Switzerland

Providence Journal:—The old jest about the "Swiss navy" is in the way of becoming a true word. At any rate, according to a report from Berne, the Swiss Government is thinking of establishing a line of ocean steamships. The difficulty of importing supplies into Switzerland is becoming serious, such is the scarcity of tonnage and the hazard to shipping under the British, French and Italian flags, and even under those of neutral nations trading chiefly with Germany's enemies. The Swiss flag, covering goods destined by transhipment on railroads only to Switzerland, should certainly command the maximum of respect from the patrol boats of the Allies or the German submarines. The neutral character of the Swiss ensign, a white Greek cross on a red field, is emphasized by its resemblance to the flag of the Red Cross.

Continue Splendid Co-operation

London Daily News:—The ideal, of course, would be for the Allies to adopt the policy of Free Trade among themselves, leaving the rest of the world to follow the example at its leisure. That would mark the greatest advance ever made in world relationships and would be the noblest fruit of the war. We hope that heroic expedient will be discussed at the conference. But in the absence of such an achievement, there are many things to be done. The Allies at the present time are pooling their resources in an unprecedented measure. We are working together as one firm. France concentrating on this form of production, England on that, Russia on the other—all by arrangement, all for the common benefit. We have founded great trusts, not for private advantage, but for the general advantage, and have excluded the exploitation of the middle-man from great areas of trade. Let us organise the continuance of this splendid co-operation. It is saving us in war; it will bless us in peace.

Canada's Rural Schools

Christian Science Monitor:—Leadership in this expansion of the rural school so that it will honor ideals of beauty as well as of social service will rest with the older provinces, and in Ontario and Nova Scotia a considerable amount has already been done to meet the desires of the Dominion's educational officials. But the central and western provinces have the advantage of being unhampered by traditions and of being full of ambition and enterprise. With Dominion officials cooperating, they can forge ahead rapidly if they decide on such a course. The experience of the United States has been that its western states often seize on new ideals in education and make them operative while the older eastern seaboard states are still busy debating whether they will undertake the risks involved. Canada may duplicate this record. At any rate she starts on her educational expansion with a federal conception of responsibility dominating her national departments such as the United States has been a long time, and as yet only informally, acquiring. Educationally considered, the United States is without a national policy, and is local and atomistic in the extreme.

Britain's "International Fleet"

London Telegraph:—In the history of maritime warfare there has never been anything to compare in character and extent with the tasks to which the Navy has daringly applied itself in the past twenty months, and accomplished with unsurpassed efficiency of performance. When hostilities opened, the British people had complete confidence in the sea service; events have shown that that faith was not misplaced. The estimation in which officers and men are held has increased, and stands today higher than ever before, in spite of all the enemy has attempted. The seas have been kept open by a force which, owing to familiar circumstances, has become an "International Fleet." Under its guardianship 4,000,000 combatants, 2,500,000 tons of stores, a million horses, and vast quantities of oil—a very necessary element in these days of automobile vehicles ashore and afloat—have been transported. The Fleet has also guarded the mercantile marine, the heroism of whose officers and men has assured us our necessary supplies. The Navy has been confronted with new dangers in carrying out its unparalled operations, stretching from Archangel in the far north to the Red Sea in the South, and it may well be gratified with the measure of success achieved in conditions as novel as they have been embarrassing.

The Allies and German Trade

Westminster Gazette:—It is an excellent thing that we should endeavor to reach some understanding with our Allies as to the future, so far as it can be foreseen at present, and that we should approach the problem with open minds. The open mind demands a clear recognition that the new conditions will in no way alter economic laws, that anything we may do will be attended by the ordinary consequences, and that in the adoption of certain measures we may well inflict greater injuries upon ourselves than upon our enemy. That consideration need not debar us discussing such measures. Circumstances may well arise in which political advantages outweigh economic consequences. We can imagine situations in which it would be politic to run counter to our own material interests in bringing pressure against aggressors and against Governments which refuse to come into the comity of nations. We may hope that no such policy will be necessary, because we should feel its effects heavily at home, but we do not close the door upon its contemplation. A position in which a militarist State insisted in remaining a constant menace to its neighbors, compelling them to a continuous and heavy expenditure upon armaments for defence, might well warrant those neighbors in proceeding to measures against their own material well-being rather than submit to a situation so intolerable.

"APRIL BLUE"

April blue is in the sky—
Blue-eyed April on the sea!
Gay, the robin diveth by—
Soft the scented winds do sigh.
For, to burst, the buds are nigh—
Blandishments doth April try—
April tearful, or in glee!

So with beating heart thou stray—
Some delight each day shall see!
Thou, more timorous fond than May—
Girt with littered cloud and ray.
Fearful now, then sudden gay—
Ah, we love thee too, alway—
Child or woman, tenderly!

Thou dost pause 'twixt joy and fear—
Sordid winter to the north,
Thou must drive, ere yet thou bear
Gentle May to grace the year,
With her wakening smile, her rare
Woodland scents, her haze-stilled air—
May, that violet-crowned shall dare
Bid the loitering Summer forth!

—Charles Twining.

THE PASSING HOUR

Tommy—Out of a job?
Jimmy—Yes. The boss said he was losin' money on the things I was makin'.

Tommy—Wasn't there anything else you could do in the place?
Jimmy—I guess not. Anyhow, he said I didn't seem able to do anything else.
Tommy — And what were you makin'?
Jimmy—Mistakes.

At the meeting of the Afro-American Debating Club the question of capital punishment for murder occupied the attention of the orators for the evening. One speaker had a great deal to say about the sanity of persons who thus took the law into their own hands. The last speaker, however, after a stirring harange, concluded with great feeling: "Ah disagrees wif cap'tal punishment an' all dis heah talk 'bout sanity. Any jusson 'at c'mits murdeh ain't in a sanitary c'ndition."—Argonaut.

"Hubby," announced Mrs. Stylover, "I'm going to town tomorrow to see the new hats."

"You forget," her husband reminded her, "that tomorrow is Sunday. The shops will be closed."

"Who said anything about shops?" she retored. "I'm going to church."

"Well, thank heaven," he said, approaching a sad looking man who sat back in a corner, "that's over with."

"I've danced with the hostess. Have you gone through with it yet?"

"No; I don't need to. I'm the host."

Pat (to Mike)—I got a letter from a friend.

Mike—Yes?

Pat—He says, "Every rib's gone. I've only one shoulder, and I expect my legs will be gone by the time you get this letter."

Mike—Poor fellow! Is he in hospital in France?

Pat—No, he is in a butcher shop.

"No, sir. Not a penny!" was the reply of young Ardup's opulent but immovable relative. "I've lent you more money already than you will ever pay back. You can shift for yourself henceforth. The difference between us is that I am provident and you are improvident."

"The difference between us," vehemently retorted young Ardup, with his hand on the door knob, "is that I'm a man of moderate means and you're a man of immoderate meanness!"

Then he fled.

The Late Louis Pasteur.

"Paris, April 28.—The French Government has ordered the erection of temporary barracks here for the accommodation of M. Pasteur's patients, while the Pasteur Institute is being built on the grounds of the old College Rollin."—From The Montreal Star, April 28, 1886.

The late Louis Pasteur, the famous French chemist and physicist, was born at Dole, in 1822. In Paris he held the directorship of studies in the Ecole Normale, a professorship at the Ecole des Beaux Arts, the professorship of chemistry at the Sarbonne, the secretaryship of the Academy of Sciences and finally the directorship of the Pasteur Institute.

His work, alike in chemistry and bacteriology, was marked by its brilliancy and epoch-making character. Pasteur is famous especially for his researches in bacteria, fermentation, the Siberian pest and hydrophobia. His vaccines have proved to be of the utmost service in the treatment of anthrax, fowl cholera, rabies and diphtheria. His ideas and methods, although strongly opposed when they were announced, soon met with universal acceptance, and Pasteur institutes of preventive medicine now exist in all parts of the world. Pasteur died in Paris in 1895.

"The City Passenger Railway Company has been prompt in taking advantage of the disappearance of the snow to begin the work of extending the service. Contracts for steel rails have been placed in England. A number of horses will be purchased to meet the demands of the increased service."—From The Montreal Star, April 28, 1886.

CRAZY SCHEME TO INVADE DOMINION REVEALED IN N. Y.

German-Americans Formed Fund of $16,000,000 to Finance it

NEW YORK, April 28.—Max Lyman Louden, known to the Federal authorities as "Count" Louden, told Assistant District Attorney Minton yesterday a remarkable story of a plot formed among German reservists in this country to invade and seize Canada for the Kaiser.

Louden made these revelations after Judge Rosalsky had sentenced him to the penitentiary for bigamy. As an episode of his highly romantic career, he described the plan to invade Canada with himself in command of 150,000 German reservists.

According to Louden, a group of very wealthy German-Americans created a fund of $16,000,000 with which to equip the expedition. As early as October, 1914, he said, they engaged him, because of his superior knowledge of military tactics, to lead the invasion. Many secret meetings were held in New York.

Plans for the quick mobilization and equipment of a full army corps of German reservists now living in the United States, were completed, and the invasion was to take place this spring.

WOULD IMPLICATE U.S.

Suddenly—some time early last summer—the "Count," according to the story he told Assistant District Attorney Minton, became convinced that such an enterprise would implicate the United States in a violation of neutrality.

Being a naturalized citizen and "devoted to the preservation of democratic principles and American institutions," Louden said he decided to relinquish his command of the prospective invasion to some less scrupulous individual.

To clear his conscience of any perfidy involved even in the contemplation of such a plan, he said he hastened to Washington, and had a conference with the former Secretary of War, Lindley M. Garrison, to whom he submitted the plans for the invasion as he had worked them out to the minutest details.

He urged the Secretary to make use of them in the event of war between the United States and England. According to his narrative, he also warned Mr. Garrison that the same army which was being secretly mobilized against Canada would turn its guns on the United States if there should be any break between this country and the Kaiser.

CANADIAN INVASION PLANS.

The plan to invade Canada, as developed in a long series of secret meetings, involved the organization of four divisions, to compromise an army corps of 150,000, including two regiments of artillery and a regiment of sharpshooters.

One division was to be mobilized with New York as a centre; another with Philadelphia as headquarters; a third at Buffalo, and a fourth in the vicinity of Detroit-Milwaukee. Assuming the disguise of "singing societies" and "schoutzen vereins," vast bodies of German reservists were to move, within ten days' notice, from these various centres to the border of Lake Ontario for a "cheutzen and saengerfest."

To explain the appearance of so many thousands of Germans along various points of the lake front, Louden said, the leaders of the expedition had arranged to circulate throughout that part of the country advance notices of a German "saengerfest."

"If apprenhension could not be allayed in this way, they even intended to sing, for, according to Loudon a German could "sing or shoot, at a moment's notice." Once assembled in full force, 120,000 with the rest held in reserve on this side of the frontier, were to embark some dark night, on a fleet of eighty-four excursion boats.

MONEY SOLE NECESSITY.

On board boat, the men were to find a full supply of arms, uniforms rations, etc. According to Louden, the leaders of the expedition were confident of buying all the ammunition necessary, even to full complement of artillery from manufacturers in this country.

All that was necessary was money. And of money, Louden said, they had $16,000,000 behind them, which was more than enough in telling this part of his story today, Louden assured the assistant district attorney that he could equip four million in a week for any enterprise he desired to use them, if he only had the money to pay for it.

As to the seizure of Canada itself, that was the simplest matter of all. He expected to accomplish his object within twenty-four hours after his army land at six points on the United States shores. According to his plans Louden arranged to have his army land at six points on the Canadian border. One section was to land at Windmill Point; another at Port Hope; another at Kingston, and a fourth at Windsor.

After these four divisions had effected their landing and had cut off all lines of communication which might be utilized by the Canadian forces, Louden, at the head of a fifth division, intended to embark from Cornwall and move on Ottawa.

Within twenty-four hours, he assured Assistant District Attorney Minton, the Canadian forces would be either surrounded or annihilated, the Welland Canal destroyed, and the whole Dominion of Canada within the power of the German invaders.

TOO SIMPLE FOR ANYTHING.

"It is so simple, that I cannot tell you how simple it is," said Louden today. "It can be done any day, and if I had stuck to it, I tell you, I could have done it."

But Louden said his sympathies were really with America, and that was why he finally threw up his command. Although arrested as a deserter from the United States army, Louden said he had been trying to prove his loyalty to this country for eleven years. All his resources as an inventor of military kits and war machines, he declared, he had utilized for the benefit of the United States Government.

"I can prove by letters," said Louden, "that I have been the originator of the re-organization of the United States Army and Navy. My army equipment is now under consideration for adoption by the U. S. Army and Marine Corps."

Simply because of his connection with military affairs and the proposed invasion of Canada, Louden said that the Federal authorities had suspected him of being a German spy. He said they were deluded into this belief by a member of the British Embassy, who offered to purchase his plans for the invasion of Canada for $20,000.

Louden said he refused the offer, and thus aroused the attache's resentment. Since then, he alleges, the United States Federal authorities have been after him for one reason or another, and finally landed him in jail on the bigamy charge. If it was known to his fellow-conspirators that he had betrayed the Canada plot, Louden assured the assistant district-attorney, he would be killed as soon as he emerged from the penitentiary.

"Let them know that I told this story," said Louden, "and a bullet will be waiting for me as soon as I come out."

FARMER BROWN'S BOY GOES A-SPYING.

(Copyright, 1916, by T. W. Burgess.)

Now when Mrs. Quack told Peter Rabbit that no one but Jerry Muskrat and Paddy the Beaver, and Buster Bear, and he himself knew the secret of where Mr. and Mrs. Quack had gone to she was mistaken. Some one else knew, and that some one was the very last person in the world that Mrs. Quack thought of as being smart enough to find out. And if Mrs. Quack had known that he knew she would have been quite upset. It was Farmer Brown's Boy. Yes, sir, it was Farmer Brown's Boy.

It had come about in this way: Farmer Brown's boy had paid a daily visit to the Smiling Pool ever since the morning he had hidden among the alder bushes and seen Mr. and Mrs. Quack. Sometimes he had gone in the morning, and sometimes in the afternoon but not another glimpse had he had of either Mr. or Mrs. Quack. He had even tramped down the Laughing Brook clear to the Big River without seeing a sign of either of them. Had it not been for that hurt wing of Mr. Quack's he would have felt sure that they had gone on their way to the usual home in the far Northland, but remembering that wing, he knew they couldn't have done this. Then he made up his mind that they had gone down to the Big River, and if they had escaped the hunters there were probably hiding in some lonely place along the banks of the Big River.

But every day he brought with him a pocketful of yellow corn and scattered it among the bulrushes in the Smiling Pool. "If they should happen to come back, or if any other ducks should happen to drop in here they'll find something to eat, anyway," said he out of the goodness of his heart. Then one morning he happened to think that it was foolish to waste his corn. He would see how much there was out there among the bulrushes before he threw any more there. Slipping off his shoes and stockings he waded out and looked and looked. Not a single yellow kernel could he find. Back on the bank he sat down to think.

"That corn has disappeared, so some one has taken it," thought he. "Now who is there among those who live in the Smiling Pool or visit it who would pick all that corn out of the mud at the bottom of the Smiling Pool?" He looked over at Jerry Muskrat suspiciously. Then he shook his head. I don't believe he would bother with it," said he. "There isn't anyone else unless——" He paused and frowned. "Unless those ducks are not far away after all," he finished. "I'll try it once more and see what happens." He stood up and scattered the corn among the bulrushes and then tramped off home. Quite early the next morning he was back at the Smiling Pool. Not a single kernel of yellow corn could he find.

Farmer Brown's boy chuckled. "That settles it," he said. "Those ducks are somewhere around, though where I can't imagine. They are too smart to come here in daylight, so they must come after dark. I think I'll do a little spying."

So just about the time that jolly, round, red Mr. Sun was going to bed behind the purple hills that night Farmer Brown's Boy was making himself comfortable in his old hiding place among the alder bushes. The black shadows crept over the Green Meadows and across the Smiling Pool. Little Friend the Song Sparrow sang a sleepy good night song and then for a long, long time there wasn't a sound save for the chorus of the Hylas in the Smiling Pool, and once the clap of Jerry Muskrat's tail as Hooty the Owl drifted like a shadow over the Smiling Pool.

Farmer Brown's Boy had about decided that he would have to give up and go home when he heard a sharp whistling sound coming from behind him from up the Laughing Brook. It passed over his head and a moment later Mrs. Quack was among the bulrushes diving for the corn he had left there. Farmer Brown's Boy gave a little sigh of satisfaction as he watched her eat the dinner he had provided for her. When she had eaten the last kernel of corn she could find she took to her stout wings again. Dimly Farmer Brown's Boy could see her against the sky as she passed over him straight toward the Green Forest. As the whistle of her wings died away he got up and stretched and on his freckled face was a smile of satisfaction.

"I've got your secret, old lady," said he. "You're up in the pond of Paddy the Beaver. A wonder I didn't think of it before. I wonder if you will nest up there."

"Why are Good Friday and Easter Sunday and Monday not held on the same date and month every year.
Christmas, Christ's birthday remains the same, 25th Dec. Then why does not His death, remain the same?
IRISH ROSE.
Ans. — According to the decree of the Council of Nice, Easter day is the first Sunday after the paschal full moon, that is, the full moon that occurs on the day of the vernal equinox, March 21, or on any of the twenty-eight days following that date. Consequently the earliest date on which Easter may fall is March 22nd, and the latest, April 25th. It is considered the great movable feast of the Christian year. Next year Easter Sunday will fall on April 8th.

WATERPROOF CLOTHING.
Will you kindly let me know how to waterproof unbleached cotton cloth?
H. Mc.
Ans.—The only thing I can suggest is that you melt paraffin wax and brush it over the reverse side of the cotton.

ICE SINKS?
Why do people say "ice sinks." In the spring of the year one hears a lot about the "ice having sunk" on such a lake. Does the "ice really sink" or is it just that the ice rots and suddenly melts away "Does it sink or does it not?
LAKE.
Ans. — Ice is lighter than water and floats. It does not sink unless it is pressed down by other cakes of ice, as in the case of an ice shove.

FREE DENTAL TREATMENT.
Would you kindly tell me if there is any place in Montreal where I can have my little girl's teeth seen to free of charge. I am not in a position to pay a dentist and her first teeth are coming out and the new ones are coming behind the old ones. I think if it is possible to have young children's teeth seen to it is better for them in after years. Thanking you for the great help your page has been to me.
SARAH PEERS.
Ans.—Take her to the Dental Clinic of the Montreal General Hospital any morning between 9 and 12 for free treatment. I am glad you find the page helpful.

HOUSE PLANS.
Will you please let me know where in Canada I may obtain catalogue of house plans valued from $2,000 to $3,000.
BLUEBIRD.
Ans.—Ask any architect. I believe one of the American magazines issues such a catalogue. If you will send stamped, addressed envelope repeating your question, I will tell you which one it is.
K. M.
1. Your mother is quite right. You are far too young to be engaged. 2. No, I don't think I should care for a paper with such coloring and design on your living room. It is usual to have some neutral tinted paper, grey or buff, or deep cream, in such a room.

CLEANING AND ELECTRICITY.
1. How could you clean and press cloth and silk neckties? 2. What could remove a burn which got on a pair of trousers while being pressed? 3. Is electricity good for the arms or any part of the body?
AN OLD READER.
Ans.—1. Clean with gasoline. Press with damp cloth under the iron. 2. I can only suggest that you sponge it with ammonia and water. 3. It is said to be good, if applied by a competent operator.

IS OR ARE?
Which is correct?
There is a score of patterns from which you may choose or there are a score of patterns from which you may choose.
C. H.
Ans.—It depends on the meaning of the sentence, whether you use the singular or plural form of the verb with words like score, dozen, hundred, etc. In this case "are" is correct.

PEANUT COOKIES.
1-4 cup butter (scant), 1-2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons milk, 1 egg, 1 cup flour, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking-powder, 3-4 cup peanuts. Add the eggs beaten without separating whites from yolks. Reserve few whole pieces of nuts to garnish tops of cakes. Add rest after putting through meat grinder. Drop on buttered tin by teaspoonfuls some distance apart. MRS. H. B.

FIG PUDDING.
1 cup suet, 1 lb. figs, 3 eggs, 2 cups bread crumbs, 2 cups milk. Chop figs and suet and mix together. Beat eggs without separating. Mix all ingredients thoroughly. Turn into a well-greased mould, cover, and boil three hours. Serve hot.

A DAINTY LITTLE FROCK

By MAY MANTON

8906 (With Basting Line and Added Seam Allowance) Child's Bishop Dress, 1, 2 and 4 years.

Price 15 Cents.

Mothers all realize that the bishop dress is one of the best for tiny children. It is very easy to adjust and there are no arm-hole seams to fret or irritate. In addition it is a simple little garment to make, there are few seams and there is no fitting. This one is made of fine white lawn with lace insertion covering the seams as well as finishing the hem but it could be made with simple stitched seams or with hem-stitching in place of the seams or with the edges joined by a little narrow seaming which the French use so generally and which is always so dainty. Here the neck is gathered and joined to a band and that band is covered with insertion. If liked, the sleeves may be made short, and with the coming of the warm weather the short sleeves will be wanted.

For the 2 year size will be needed, 3½ yards of material 27 inches wide, 2 yards 36 or 44 with 4½ yards of banding and 1 yard of edging.

The pattern 8906 is cut in sizes for children of 1, 2 and 4 years of age. It will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper, on receipt of 15 cents.

Is Your Figure Old or New Fashioned?
Very different are this season's corsets from those of last year. Gone are the shapeless, boneless models that produced the "uncorseted effect" and in their place we have trim, closely fitting corsets that follow the natural line of the figure. They are a trifle more curved at the waist—a trifle higher in the bust—a trifle shorter in the skirt and boned to give a free hip.
The new 1916 models of

MR. COUSINEAU DELIVERS ATTACK AGAINST PREMIER

Leader of Opposition Addresses Audience in Critical Speech

Opening his provincial election campaign by speaking last night at Ville Emard Town Hall, Philemon Cousineau, leader of the Conservatives, declared the Gouin Government "rotten," said that Sir Lomer Gouin was associated with "bandits," and held that the Liberals had plundered Montreal to enrich themselves. "Let Gouin run against me in Jacques Cartier" was his defi.

Mr. Cousineau said that as representative of Jacques Cartier, he was there to give a fearless account of his stewardship for the last four years. As leader of the Opposition, he was there to fight to the end the Government the province had had for the last ten years.

"I think this Government has been rotten," said the speaker, "and I protest against its acts, which have been the shame of the Legislature and of the province.

"I have to fight against further administration by these men who have badly served the people of Montreal in every way, and for this one reason—to enrich themselves and put money in their pockets. And the most responsible of these men is Sir Lomer Gouin, the Prime Minister of Quebec."

He turned to scandals of the Gouin Government," referred to the Mousseau affair, declaring Mousseau and Bernard the "ulcers of a rotten body," the Gouin Administration. The Premier, he said, had been "associated with bandits"; he defied Sir Lomer to explain to Quebec how it was that he had risen from a struggling lawyer to be a man worth $3,000,000.

"Let him meet me in any court," continued Mr. Cousineau, "or if he has the courage let him meet me in Jacques Cartier."

Mr. Cousineau made no reference to the policy of the Conservative party; he was merely having a social call to meet some of his friends of the division.

R. Monty, K.C., supported him in a speech in which he condemned the Gouin Government for its "scandals," and said that this election was a Gouin pretext to ward off the thorough probe into Government acts that the province was demanding.

Ald. G. H. Boyd, K.C., referred to the Liberals' folly in "deteriorating the capital of the province" by selling timber lands, etc., at ruinous prices, so that the receipts might bolster the budget and show an annual surplus for the provincial treasurer.

Dr. L. Dubois, H. Painchaud, and C. E. Guerin were among those also on the platform.

LABOR CANDIDATE.

Ex-Alderman Alderic Lavergne, of Rosemount, was nominated Labor candidate for Maisonneuve at a meeting held last night in the division and attended by twenty delegates from Hochelaga and Rosemount labor clubs, and ten representatives from the Maisonneuve Club and the Citizens' Association of Maisonneuve.

Mr. Lavergne got the nomination by a narrow majority. In the first ballot he secured twenty-seven votes, Wilfrid Paquette, clerk of the Montreal Police Court, twenty-three votes, and Dr. M. Lefebvre, seven votes. Eliminating the last named, a second ballot was taken, Mr. Lavergne then securing the choice by twenty-nine votes to twenty-seven, with one blank ballot. He is announced to run as a straight Labor candidate, who will fight for Labor principles, free schools, and school books, and the obligatory vote.

Several conventions on both sides were held in the province yesterday. Dr. P. Ayotte was named Conservative candidate to run against Sir Lomer Gouin in Portneuf; in Argenteuil county, John Hay secured the Liberal nomination, the Hon. Walter Mitchell and A. Philps supporting him at the convention; in Chateauguay, the Hon. Honore Mercier was nominated for re-election as the Liberal candidate; in Drummond, Hector Laferte is the Liberal candidate; in Maskinonge, R. Tourville has been persuaded to run again for the Liberals; in Chicoutimi, M. Petit is the Liberal party's choice; in Frontenac the veteran Dr. Gregoire is once more the Liberal standard-bearer; in Joliette, E. Hebert, K.C., is to present the Liberal case; in Berthier, L. O. Lavallee, M.P. for Bellechasse, is to carry the Conservative colors; in Missisquoi, it was decided to ask Mr. D'Orsonnens, of Farnham, to run for the Conservatives; in Shefford, E. Lodoin, mayor of Waterloo, is the choice of the Conservatives.

That the Gouin forces have no intention of supporting Armand Lavergne is shown by the nomination of Dr. Masson as Liberal candidate.

In St. Lawrence division, Montreal, John Roy, Conservative possibility, is waiting for the convention to make its selection before determining his candidature.

POLICE REQUEST MURDER INQUEST TO BE ADJOURNED

Darragon Case Again Put Off for Another Week —The Jurors

At the request of the police "to allow them to do further work on the case," Coroner McMahon adjourned the inquest in the Mayor street mystery, in which Ezra Darragon lost his life on the night of April 12, for another week.

"I understand," he said to the jury, "that the police hope to have something to lay before you next Thursday. I am sorry to bring you back again, but there is nothing else to be done. In fairness to you I will adjourn the case now without hearing any witnesses."

Mrs. Darragon, wife of the murdered man, "Doc." Lamothe, who was a roomer in his house, and H. Auclair, Mrs. Darragon's brother, were ordered to appear as witnesses Thursday next. After the adjournment, the widow went to the Coroner to have the necessary papers signed to draw Darragon's insurance money.

The police refuse to make any statement of their reasons for asking for a postponement. A number of men from the detective department are still working and making daily reports to the coroner's office. The inquest has already been adjourned twice, but not before without a hearing. The first session was held the day after the murder, the next a week later.

The following are the jurors:

Patrick Brunet, 159 Lagauchetiere street east.

Alderic Beauchamp, St. Elizabeth.

Joseph Leclerc 182a Berri street.

Hormindas Vigeant, 19b Sanguinet street.

Rodolphe Terschke, 133 Craig street east.

Leo Vezina, 267 Craig street east.

Alphonse Gagne, 359 Cham de Mars street.

Darragon was until two years ago a policeman in Rutland, Vermont. A local theatrical manager who knew him in his home town, states that he was a very peacable man, well liked. He said that Darragon had been to see him in his theatre two or three times. Prior to the time of his death he had been employed in a munitions plant at Vaudreuil.

COL. CARNEGIE ADMITS COMMITTEE BROKE WORD TO CANADIAN CONCERNS

Assures Investigators He and Gen. Bertram Shared Disappointment of the Gentlemen—Offered Them Smaller Order for Consolation, Which Was Not Acceptable

Special to The Montreal Star by Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28. — Investigation into the dates of the negotiation which led up to the conclusion of the contracts for fuses was the particular feature of yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Meredith-Duff Commission.

An examination of the correspondence showed once again that the refusal of the Committee to award a contract for fuses to Canadian concerns synchronized with the letters sent to the American concerns advising them that they were to get contracts. The formal ratification came soon afterwards.

Col. Carnegie admitted quite frankly that in passing over the Canadian company "we had gone back on our word" to interests promoted by Messrs Lloyd Harris and F. A. Russell. He said that he and Gen. Bertram shared in the disappointment of these gentlemen. By way of consolation, so to speak, they were advised that though the five million had gone to the United States, the Minister of Militia was quite willing that an order for two hundred thousand fuses should be placed in Canada, and the company was promised this. The reply was that this was not satisfactory at all, as for an output of two hundred thousand it would be necessary to spend $150,000 in plant.

Col. Carnegie was on the stand all the day and from present indications will be for the rest of the week. This morning he admitted having promised an order to the Canadian firms and said he apologized to them for holding out hopes, but "they took it very well". They were consoled with the prospect that further orders might be placed.

The examination by Mr. Hellmuth, K. C., is very thorough and suggests a wide field for cross-examination.

COL. CARNEGIE VOLUBLE WITNESS.

Col. Carnegie is a voluble witness. He rarely answers yes or no, but is wont to give lengthy explanations, some of it by way of comment. He speaks with the accent of an Old Countryman.

All the prominent people in interest are in attendance.

Gen. Hughes is there, following the proceedings closely, but making little comment. He sits with his counsel, Messrs. Nesbitt and Ewart.

John Wesley Allison sits up against the wall. Now and then this morning he went over to the lawyers' enclosure and spoke to Gen. Hughes. The Colonel is one of the most unperturbed gentlemen in the room.

Scores of members of Parliament are watching developments, while an array of fifteen lawyers indicates formidable examination and lengthy proceedings. A battery of stenographers are turning out the evidence, which is being printed daily at the Government Bureau, but the presiding Judges are themselves taking notes of the more outstanding points.

The fuse business is decidedly technical. The explanation of the technique of manufacture and the production and reading of voluminous correspondence tend to protract the examination.

At no time, however, has interest been lacking, and on numerous occasions this morning, when vital points were being brought out, profound silence prevailed.

So far Mr. Hellmuth, K. C., has had all the say from among the lawyers. Interesting as has been the examination, the cross-examination of Col. Carnegie will be more so, it is expected.

RUSSELLS EXPECTED MORE CONTRACTS

When the afternoon sitting opened Mr. Johnston raised the question of the summoning and payment of witnesses.

Sir William Meredith remarked that no doubt money would be available for reasonable expenses for witnesses.

Mr. Hellmuth read two letters from T. A. Russell, dated May 29, asking for further information as to the specifications for fuses.

Mr. Hellmuth—Reading these two letters, it occurs to one naturally that the Russell people were still looking forward to some contracts for No. 80 fuses. Can you give us any explanation as to this?—Yes, we were proposing to call upon the War Office for another order; if possible for fuses only.

Here a cable to the War Office, dated May 30, was read, wanting to know if the Shell Committee could give another order for 3,000,000 No. 80 fuses at $4.68. "Can we proceed" the cable concluded. The War Office replied, "Not for the present."

MORE LETTERS OFFERED.

Another batch of letters was presented by Mr. Hellmuth, K.C., on May 31. There was one from Col. Carnegie to Gen. Drain, attorney, of Washington, promising to forward drawings and specifications for fuses.

The same day a letter dictated by Col. Carneige and signed by Gen. Bertram was sent to the Russell Company in answer to one of the 29th. It stated that if the company could find a product of brass to give the physical qualities required, there was no reason why it should be refused.

On June 1 Mr. Russell was advised that the War Office was not considering at that time the manufacture of time fuses, but was considering making fuse No. 100.

On June 1, Mr. Russell wrote the Shell Committee urging an appointment with Messrs. Carnegie and Bertram for Thursday. Mr. Russell said he "was anxious to get something closed," and added that the "plans were advanced and the company was anxious to get started right away if at all possible."

WAS DISTINCT DISAPPOINTMENT.

This letter was answered on June 2, as follows: "We have definite information that War Office want no more time fuses. Are sending sample of fuse cover in case more fuses needed later."

On June 7, Mr. Russell wrote to Gen. Bertram: "It was a distinct disappointment in view of what had taken place." The company had made preparation to make fuses in Canada as result of conferences they had had before, especially as it had been "definitely arranged to hold an order of between 1,000,000 and 2,000,000 fuses for us."

The letter went on to say that Col. Carnegie had told them that the order could not be held open indefinitely. The company had telegraphed that the fuse matter had been well advanced, experts had been obtained and the work was to be done in Canada.

Then, when they were ready to submit plans, Col. Carnegie wired them to defer their visit, but Mr. Lloyd Harris and Mr. Russell left for Ottawa and arrived on May 26.

"To our utter amazement," said the letter, "we found the whole order had been placed with two United States firms and at higher prices."

Regarding the No. 100 fuses the company "didn't want to be stung again," and after making all plans for manufacturing these not to get an order.

"Can you give us any idea when we can get this to submit a proposition and also count on getting the order?" continued the writer.

It was explained that the Russell Motor Car Company got none of the 5,000,000 shell order because "the order had been already placed."

Contract Placed Before Russell Message Arrived

Mr. Hellmuth wanted to know just when the order had been placed.

In reply to Mr. Hellmuth, Col. Carsaid that on the 25th the Shell Committee had definitely decided to place an order with Mr. Harris for the remaining 2,500,000 fuses.

Mr. Hellmuth—In regard to Bassick, you had on the 21st, if my recollection is correct, given him an order, and on the 25th Gen. Bertram telephoned and amended that order to 2,500,000. Can you say whether when you were telephoned and when you sent that order, whether at that time you had received the telegram from Russell?—So far as I recollect we had not received the telegram from Russell.

Col. Carnegie was closely questioned as to the procedure in the office of the Shell Committee of dealing with letters sent and received. He could not say if there was what is known as a "mail book," a record of all letters sent and received.

"Where were the papers kept in the office?" Mr. Hellmuth asked.

"Now you tax me somewhat," Col. Carnegie replied, "because our office was like a snowball, growing all the time."

In regard to his letters, Col. Carnegie said they would be opened by the office unless addressed to Col. Carnegie personally.

Mr. Hellmuth—Who opened them?—There was a man in the office who opened all letters.

Gen. Bertram—His name was Matt.

Dealing with the coincident of the detailed Russell proposition arriving the same day that the order was placed in New York, Mr. Hellmuth asked if the Shell Committee had any stamp to show the time when the letters were received.

"No," said the witness.

The committee on June 9 wrote to the Russell-Harris combination, holding out the prospect of a small order. It read:

"Since writing you we had the opportunity of meeting the Minister of Militia, who is quite willing that an order for 200,000 fuses be placed in Canada. If you are able to undertake the work we are quite willing to place an order with you. The 80 fuse would be required."

Mr. Hellmuth—You say the Minister of Militia would be quite willing that an order for 200,000 fuses be placed in Canada?—Yes.

Place for who?—The British Government.

Had you at that time any order from the British Government?—No, sir.

LETTER BASED ON SPECULATION.

May I say your letter was somewhat based on speculation?—Purely speculation. May I explain the disappointment of Merrs. Harris and Russell we felt very keenly. We told them we regretted we had gone back on our word, but that we were under pressure, owing to the urgency of the matter. We had a surplus on our contracts. We discussed the matter with the Minister of Militia. We said we would like to start something, to place some order in Canada and we asked, would he agree. With that he agreed and the letter was written. The letter, evidently, was not satisfactory.

Mr. Hellmuth produced then a telegram from Dr. J. A. Harris, of the International Arms Company, asking Col. Carnegie to arrange for passes for a Mr. Graham to visit Woolwich arsenal to get dies and 888,800 of No. 80 fuse," said Mr. Hellmuth.

Mr. Atwater—All the international got was No. 80 fuse.

Then Mr. Hellmuth wanted to know how the orders had been apportioned to the companies.

"Up to May 25, when 2,500,000 time fuses had been placed, we didn know No. 100 would be required. On May 28, after repeated cables, we heard from the War Office that No. 80 for shrapnel shells, No. 80 over 11 for high explosives and No. 100 for 4.5 shells were required."

Mr. Hellmuth: What did you do?—We had the problem of the fitness of the companies to handle No. 100 as well as the time fuse to decide upon. We knew the Harris company had secured options on aluminum and we knew the American Ammunition Company had not. It was desirous we should not split the order of No. 100 fuses between the two companies. It would mean the duplication of machinery and exports. We had to decide on the suitability of the company to handle all time fuses.

Giving as the reason why the minimum price of $4.25 was given, Col. Carnegie quoted prices of copper at different times and how it had jumped. This was the reason given by the companies for asking higher price. He stated that the International Arms Company preferred time fuses because of the aluminum they had.

The memorandum of agreement of June 19, 1915, between the Shell Committee ("A body appointed by by the Minister of Militia and Defence of Canada" in the words of the memorandum), and the American Ammunition Company, for fuses, was read to the Commission. The agreement gives the terms of the contract as cited in the House by Mr. Kyte. The agreement bore the ratification of Gen. Hughes "on behalf of His Britannic Majesty's Government." The contract with the International Arms and Fuse Company likewise was submitted.

Col. Carnegie said that at the meeting of the Shell Committee on June 19, when the agreements were executed, Lt.-Gen. Pease, who was in Canada for the War Office, was present.

Mr. Hellmuth—How long had he been on the continent? — About a month, I think.

What did he say as to prices and terms of payment?—I cannot say; he sat there and acquiesced. So far as I know, there was no objection to the terms of payment. In fact, I believe he took part in the discussion.

Can you tell me whether at that time you yourself had knowledge of the prices being paid in England at that date for the time fuse?—Yes, approximately from $3.70 to $4 was being paid in England at that time for the No. 80 time fuse.

You are speaking of the same article as you were getting from the American Ammunition Company?—Yes.

It is obvious that the cost of a graze fuse is less than a time fuse. How did you come to fix 50 cents as expressing the correct monetary difference in the two fuses?—It was estimation only.

FACTORIES MAKING GRAZE FUSES.

Was there any factory making or agreeing to supply graze fuses in the U.S.?—I heard of one or two factories who were making component parts.

I'm not asking that. Was there any company making a complete graze fuse?—No factory.

Col. Carnegie explained that the loading of a graze fuse was not as difficult as the loading of a time fuse.

What is the difference today in the price of a loaded and unloaded graze fuse? — Between 27 and 30 cents.

Was there any factory to your knowledge making the completed graze fuse but unloaded?—Yes, the J. L. Mott Company, I think it is at Trenton, N.J.

Had you any knowledge of any United States firm making the complete unloaded graze fuse? — Not then.

But did you know companies making component parts?—Yes.

Could you not have ascertained from them the cost of the completed article?—No doubt I could.

But did you —No.

Why not?—Because it is not our practice to find out the price of things supplied through Morgan & Company.

Were you in communication with Morgan?—We got a drawing of a 100 fuse from them.

How were you competent to judge what price should be paid for fuses?—In the first place I am a mechanical engineer. I have also managed commercial concerns and had to do with estimates.

Then you relied on your own judgment?—Exactly.

Who was there on the Shell Committee in a position to advise you?—Nobody.

Was the price fixed on your advice?—Yes.

You had but one guide,—the English price?—In regard to time fuses, yes.

You had no price on the graze fuse and went on your own judgment?—Yes.

Is it fair to say that you were capable of estimating the proper price to be paid?—I considered at the time that I was.

The Chief Justice—Ask him if he has lost confidence in himself since.

Mr. Hellmuth—Have you now with your added knowledge seen the error of your ways?—Yes, I have seen the error of my ways. I have seen since that lower prices were paid in the United States for the same article, the graze fuse. I am quite satisfied with the other the time fuse.

ALLOWANCE FOR CHANGE.

Col Carnegie explained that the American Ammunition Company was allowed something for having its order partly changed from one kind of fuses to another more difficult to make.

Asked by Mr. Hellmuth why he had not compared notes with Morgan, Col. Carnegie said—We had never been in the habit of comparing prices with Morgan. I do not know of any instance in all our negotiations over any order or contract that we ever applied to Morgan. We were asked not to interfere with the manufacturers who were producing fuses in the States.

In regard to prices paid in England, Col. Carnegie added that one of the most important manufacturing concerns over there was being paid for the empty No. 100 fuse, with "gain". If 30 cents were taken off the price for the gain and the price of labor, and machinery in England considered, it would appear Col. Carnegie said, that the concern had misquoted or was making poor progress as a manufacturer. The Commission adourned till this morning.

MINUTE ON INTERNATIONAL.

There was a similar minute in regard to the International Fuse Company, whose contracts were for two types of fuses, numbering in all 2,555,466 fuses.

"The chairman reported," the minutes continued. "that negotiations were in progress with Canadian companies for further quantities of fuses to be made in Canada.

"You had up to date given two orders on May 25 of 2,500,000 fuses to each of these two companies, and there isn't anything in these papers or orders showing about No. 100 fuses. It leaves it open to you or the Shell Committee about the No. 80 or 85 fuse," said Mr. Hellmuth.

Mr. Hellmuth started to question about the dividing of the fuses when Mr. Nesbitt informed him that all the time fuses went to one company. Mr. Hellmuth then admitted he had been a bit astray.

"By the agreement, I see the American Ammunition Company got the entire No. 100 fuses and only got

GAVE BIG ORDER TO U. S.; SMALL ONE TO CANADA

Committee Ordered 1,665,000 Fuses in America, 500,000 Here

"It would seem" the letter said, "that it will be still possible to place part of the order in Canada, in view of the fact that very little has been done in the United States."

Col. Carnegie said that Lieut.-Gen. Pease, who attended the meeting of the Shell Committee on the 19th, when the contracts were executed with the two American concerns — subsequently visited the Russell Motor Company works in Toronto to confer with them, Lieut.-Gen. Pease was now in England.

Did you see Gen. Pease after his return from the Russell factory?—Not immediately.

Mr. Nesbitt—Did he come to any conclusion following the interview with Mr. Russell?

The witness—We had the opinion that they were able to make the 100 fuse, but not the time fuse.

Mr. Hellmuth—Did I understand you to say that Gen. Pease had come to that conclusion?—I did not say Gen. Pease did, I said, "We" did.

How were the funds provided to pay your and other salaries?—From the same fund as the contracts.

Mr. Hellmuth read a letter dated June 23rd, from Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, of the Bank of Montreal, relating to guarantee companies behind the contracts. It was addressed to A. F. Riddell, financial supervisor, and said—"The three institutions mentioned are reported to us in New York as being in the front rank. Their joint guarantees should be good beyond question.

That evidently refers to the guaranty institutions? suggested Mr. Hellmuth. — Yes.

Then Mr. Hellmuth read a letter dated June 25, from Gen. J. A. Drain, of the Artillery Fuse Company, Wilmington, to Gen. Bertram, in which he asked that drawings and specifications of No. 100 fuse should be sent him, as well as patterns of same. He also explained he wanted to turn out some of these for experimental purposes and asked, would it be allowed to deviate from the specifications called for. Besides unloaded graze fuses, he wanted to know if loaded fuses were wanted, as his factory could supply them.

"We are entitled to consideration," he wrote, "Owing to our equipment and plant being such as it is, we are able to do this."

Mr. Hellmuth—Did General Drain make any fuses or get any orders? — Not from the Shell Committee.

A telegram to Gen. Drain, dated June 29, was read which was signed "Shell Committee," and read as follows:

"Have already given out fuse contracts. Have no further orders."

On the same day a letter was sent to General Drain with the same information, but it was added that if any further orders were asked for the matter would be taken up with him.

Again Gen. Drain wrote Gen. Bertram on July 1 that he wanted specifications and drawings, "so as to intelligently work on them when the next order comes".

Did that end your correspondence with him? — No.

On July 7 the specifications and plans were sent, but with the report that there were no further orders. And on July 10, Gen. Drain replied saying that when any more orders came, they would be in a position to accept them.

Did that close it?—Yes.

You said the Shell Committee did not place an order for fuses with Drain?—No, they did not.

Were they placed through Morgan and Company?—Yes, with the Artillery Fuse Company, with which I presume there was some association.

AGREEMENT WITH GEN. HUGHES.

Mr. Hellmuth next introduced a form of contract between the Shell Committee on the first part and Gen. Sam Hughes on the second part. It was dated July 1, and was an agreement to manufacture ammunition specified in a schedule attached.

The orders from the War Office for 5,000,000 shells, in which the 5,000,000 time fuses were to be filled, were next the subject of a number of exhibits. The order was to be divided into 18-lb H. E. at $17.50 each; 18-lb. shrapnel at $18 each, and 4.5 howitzers at $16.50 each.

"Is it not a fact," Mr. Hellmuth asked, "that when the Shell Committee went out of existence they had in their hands, as a result of the contracts they had let, an amount which was the difference between the prices at which they had filled the contracts and the price the War Office paid?"

"Yes," the witness replied, "but not particularly in regard to this order."

In this order for 5,000,000 shells, were the shell parts to be obtained in Canada?—Yes.

And the fuses for them were ordered by the Shell Committee, either from the American or the International Company?—Yes.

Nobody got any part of the order for the fuses for the shells, except these two?—No.

BIG ADVANCES WERE MADE.

Guarantees to the Shell Committee by the Guarantee Trust Co., of New York, were put in by Mr. Hellmuth, K.C. They were dated July 7, and guaranteed repayment to the committee of the 10 per cent cash advances made by the committee to the American Ammunition and International Fuse Companies in the event of any default by those concerns.

Sir Frederick Williams-Taylor, of the Bank of Montreal, advised that the guarantee bonds were high class and J. F. Orde, K.C., submitted an opinion as to the legality of the documents. The committee advanced $1,040,000 to the American Ammunition and $1,125,000 to the International Co.

Do you know whether or not the Shell Committee paid the premium or any part of it for these guarantees? asked Mr. Hellmuth.

Col. Carnegie started to "guess" at it, but he was stopped by Mr. Hellmuth.

Who paid for these guarantee bonds? — I don't know.

Had you anything to do with the financial payments to these companies? — No.

Mr. Hellmuth—I'll undertake to find some one who does know. I don't want any guessing.

Then Mr. Hellmuth read the following extracts from the minutes of the meeting of the Shell Committee, at which Gen. Pease was present:

"The following advances were made on the premiums: to the International Arms Company: $1,125,000, 13-16 premium on New York funds, $9,140.62, a total of $1,134,140.62; to the American Munition Company, $1,040,000; 13-16 premium on New York funds, $8,540; total, $1,048,540.

Mr. Hellmuth read a minute of a meeting of the Shell Committee on July 17 last. The minute said that a proposal of Messrs. Harris and Russell was before the committee for 500,000 No. 100 fuse filled, at a price of $4. It was decided by the committee that arrangements should be made for an order of 250,000 at $4 and 250,000 at $3.

"This decision," the minute added, "was arrived at after full discussion as to prices being paid in the United States, but the importance of starting the manufacture of fuses in Canada was regarded as sufficient to justify the foregoing prices."

Mr. Hellmuth—You had let a contract for 1,666,666 graze fuses No. 100 to the American Ammunition Company at $4, and practically within a month your committee is justifying itself in letting a contract for 500,000. The first 250,000 at $4 and the second 250,000 at $3, on the ground of the difficulty of starting the manufacture of fuses in Canada. May I suggest to you that it seems somewhat remarkable and if you have any reasons, I should like to know them.

The Witness—You will observe that on the 19th June, Lieut.-Gen. Pease was present when we discussed the letting of one order of 833,334 time fuses coupled with 1,666,666, No 100 fuses, loaded at $4 each. At that time we had no information about the prices paid for the No. 100 fuse either in the States or in England. We had, however, a quotation from a reputable firm in Montreal, the Northern Electric Company, for $4 for No. 100 fuses.

Object to Start Fuse Manufacture Here

Gen. Pease, the witness continued, had visited the States and obtained information as to the prices paid for unloaded fuses.

"We have to consider what action we should take," the witness proceeded. "First of all we had no order, no authority to place any orders for fuses, from the War Office. But, we as a committee, were anxious to place an order for fuses in Canada, fuses that could be made here in Canada—I want to emphasize this,—fuses which had no time element and did not require the expert assistance that was essential to the production of a satisfactory time fuse. We considered that we should start the No. 100 fuses in Canada, even if we had to stretch a point and place an order with the Russell Motor Company."

Col. Carnegie stated the case of one of the oldest established munition companies in England which had received an order from the War Office for 1,000,000 No. 100 gauge fuses at $3.60.

Having a certain amount of money on hand, he added, the Shell Committee decided to take the risk of getting an order from the War Office, in view of the importance of establishing fuse manufacture in Canada.

Col. Carnegie went on to explain again that when the contract for 500,000 fuses was placed with the Russell Company, the committee had the advantage of Gen. Peace's presence and knowledge. He added, "Since we are discussing American prices, I may say that as late as two months ago contracts were let in the States by the War Office for No. 85 fuse, a simpler make, at $4.65.

On July 17, T. A. Russell, wrote both Gen. Bertram and Col. Carnegie, urging that the contract question be settled without delay. The witness told of going to Toronto meeting Mr. Russell and promising to communicate with the War Office.

The witness was again going into details when the Chief Justice remarked, "You told us all that yesterday."

At the date the minutes read this morning, asked Mr. Hellmuth, were prepared, did you have a proposition from Russell?—Yes, verbally.

At those figures?—At $4.

The Russell Company was formally advised on July 17 that the Commissee had decided to offer it an order for half a million "100" fuses, the first half being at $4 and the latter at $3.

"The above proposition," the letter said, "was decided on after a full discussion as to prices in the States and the importance of establishing a fuse industry in Canada."

On July 22nd, the Russell Motor Car Company wrote to General Bertram thanking him for the order of 500,000 No. 100 fuses and were prepared to get usder way with it. There were some conditions of the contract they would like to discuss, however.

GUARANTEE PAYMENTS MADE.

Mr. Hellmuth sai dthat although the Russell Motor Company's orders were not to be investigated they were so close to the others they had to be mentioned.

Back wen Mr. Hellmuth to the Guarantee Trust Company of New York, again, and read from a letter dated July 21, that "in consideration of an advance of $140,625 to the International Arms Company, we guarantee the repayment of this money. This guarantee is an addition, but not a substitution of the other."

"In regard to the Arms and Ammunitions Company and the International Company, the four monthly payments appear to have been made," said Mr. Hellmuth. "And I have been given copies of the guarantee by the company for each and every advance. These subsequent guarantees were passed on by Mr. Orde."

Telegrams were read from the Russell Motor Car Company, saying that they had started on the No. 100 fuse order, but wanted some assistance on some points.

"It is desirable to get this as soon as possible as there was some difference in the sample when checked up," they said.

The company wanted information about the kind of steel to be used and also the names of factories in the United States where these same fuses were being made, as they wanted to visit them.

We are thinking of having some parts made in other factories for us, either in Canada or the United States, said the letter.

A reply was sent back that Col. Carnegie would be pleased to discuss details.

Who is J. Brooks? asked Mr. Hellmuth. He's our fuse man.

Mr. Brooks wrote to the Russell Motor Car Company that the fuses must be up to specifications and of the same metal as called for. Permission was obtained for the company's representatives to visit American Ammunition Company to see how the work was done.

"We are going ahead, and there is no delay with machinery," was a wire from the company to the Shell Committee, and this led Mr. Hellmuth to remark: "That shows they were anxious to go on and there was no delay in the work."

Mr. D. A. Thomas then entered the scene in the investigation, when a cable from "Militia" to the War Office in England was read.

"Have discussed with D. A. Thomas the desirability of establishing one factory in Canada for the making of No. 80 time fuse. Propose to give contract for 250,000 at $4.50, with the company best equipped. Do you agree?"

Were you the author of that?—Yes.

How long before this cable did you meet Thomas?—A day or so, I think; immediately after his arrival in Ottawa. Col. Carnegie said that Gen. Bertram was with him at the time.

What discussion did you have regarding the establishment of a Canadian factory for making No. 80 time fuse?—Col. Carnegie said that when the War Office had been cabled regarding No. 100 fuse, Mr. Thomas was on his way to Canada. We had satisfied ourselves about the placing of 5,000,000 fuses in the United States and as the contract was large we discussed with Mr. Thomas a plan to make a contract for time fuses without the exact day of delivery, said he. Mr. Thomas agreed it was desirable to start a factory here to undertake the work.

HEARD HUSBAND CALLING HER ON DAY OF HIS DEATH

Strange Experience of Soldier's Wife — Montreal Men on Casualty List

The news that her soldier husband had died of wounds on Palm Sunday, April 16, came to Mrs. James E. Gillard, of 1028 St. Andre street, yesterday and formed a startling connection with what she declares occurred that morning. At two o'clock Mrs. Gillard says she distinctly heard her husband call "Laura, Laura." She marked down the day and the hour and although she had a letter from her husband last week in which he spoke cheerfully of the "scrimmage" the soldiers were in and hoped it would soon be over, she dreaded bad news. Yesterday the telegram from Ottawa told her that her husband had died the same day that she heard him call.

Pte. Gillard enlisted in November, 1914, and went in May to the front, where he fought for nearly a year without any wounds. He was forty-two years of age, and a gold finisher in bookbinding by trade. His son was born two months after he left for England. He was secretary-treasurer of the Bookbinders' Union, and a delegation from that body waited on Mrs. Gillard last night to express their sympathy. He leaves two little girls, as well as the baby boy. Mrs. Gillard's two brothers are also in khaki, one of them Pte. H. J. Taylor being with the 148th Battalion. The other, Pte. J. A. Taylor, is at Levis.

LIEUT. DUNLOP.

Lieut. G. P. G. Dunlop, of the 60th Battalion is in hospital at Boulogne-sur-mer with a slight flesh wound in his back. Lieut. Dunlop is the son of Mr. Justice Dunlop, of the Superior Court. He qualified for his commission at Kingston Military College. Mr. Justice Dunlop has lost a nephew and two other relatives in the war.

PTE ANDERSON.

Pte. Robert Anderson, killed in action, is a brother of James Anderson, of 77 Ryde street. He saw a good deal of military service, going through the Boer war with the Scots Guards and serving in both the Orange River Colony and the Transvaal. He joined a Montreal unit last June and was killed on April 15.

PTE MORRIS.

Pte. Henry Stanley Morris, killed in action on April 16, was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. F. Morris, of 19 Laurier avenue, and a brother of Co. Q. M. S. W. C. Morris, of the 1st Grenadier Guards, and of G. F. Morris, of the G. T. R. news stand. He was in the trenches seven months without getting wounded. He was twenty-three years old and served eleven years in the Highland Cadets, being ex-color sergeant.

CORP. BREWER.

Corp. Christopher R. Brewer, lived at 84 Grand Trunk street. He was killed in action on April 17. He was forty years of age.

PTE. McFADYEN.

Pte. Duncan S. McFadyen was the son of Norman McFadyen, of 265 Mance street and was in his twentieth year. He enlisted last June and in his last letter wrote that he was looking forward to two weeks' leave shortly. Five days later he was killed.

PTE WIGGINS.

Pte. Albert E. Wiggins, killed in action was formerly at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel. His sister is Mrs. S. Wilson, of 505 Greene avenue, and he has a brother with the British forces in Egypt. Pte. Wiggins was twenty-three years of age and enlisted last July. He had twice been in hospitals with sickness, but was never wounded till he got his fatal blow.

PTE. HEMOND.

Pte. Ernest Hemond, who died of wounds on April 10, was a quarryman, and the son of Joseph Hemond, of 206 Carrieres street. He had been on active service just a year.

GUNNER McPHEE.

Gunner William McPhee was killed by a kick from a horse. He was formerly a cook, but transferred to the artillery ranks again because he preferred the open air. He enlisted a few days after the declaration of war and was unhurt by enemy fire through all the severe battles in which the Canadian artillery played its part. His mother and sister, Mrs. J. Myles, live at 27 Durocher street, and he was formerly employed by McDonald and O'Brien, of St. Johns, P.Q.

PTE. JOHNSON.

Pte. Ernest Johnson, killed in action April 17, was formerly in the bank of Montreal. He was stroke of the Lachine Rowing Club's boat crew. His father lives at Stratford, Ont., and his brothers are Capt. S. Johnson, of the 110th Battalion, the Rev. C. Johnson, of London, Eng., the Rev. H. Johnson, of Port Dover, and H. Johnson, barrister of Pembroke.

PTE. SUNDERLAND.

Pte. Harold Sunderland, the elder son of Mrs. Sunderland, of 312 Phillips street, St. Henry, killed in action on April 13, was twenty-one years of age and a member of the Lachine Hockey Club. He worked at the Canada Car and Foundry Co.

PTE. JONES.

Pte. George Jones, who is wounded, is nineteen years of age and lived at 119 Leber street. He is a member of the Riverside Gun Club and a crack shot, having won three medals and two cups.

PTE. DESGROSLIERS.

Pte. Frank Desgrosliers, wounded in the shoulder on April 16, lived at 2591 Notre Dame street west with his father. He is twenty-two years of age, and enlisted soon after the outbreak of the war.

PTE. SUTHERLAND.

Pte. Dudley Harcourt Sutherland, who is wounded, was born in Montreal twenty-three years ago, and educated at the High School and W. W. Mowat's Grammar School. He enlisted in the 24th Battalion, Victoria Rifles. He is a grandson of the late Richard Birks, chemist and druggist, of this city. He is a member of the St. Lambert Boating Club, and won several cups. He was chief clerk and paymaster of the Northern Electric Co.

USEFUL BLOCKS FOR ARMY STUDENTS

Sergt.-Major W. A. Roberts, of the 1st Grenadier Guards has evolved an idea which will be of great use to young officers studying military movements. It takes the form of four blocks, on which are marked the various formations of a battalion, each block being nine inches long and one and a half inches in width and representing the four platoons. With the aid of these blocks the student may carry out the movements laid down in his manual instruction, and quickly be able to grasp the details of the movements.

HOW CONTRACTS WERE AWARDED IN SASKATCHEWAN

Fortunate Company Received Plans Before Tenders Were Asked

Special to The Montreal Star.

REGINA, April 28.—Details of the letting of the contract for the plumbing, heating and electrical work at the Battleford Asylum were revealed before the Haultain Commission yesterday. It was a $250,000 job, and the Regina Plumbing and Heating Company got the contract. The construction of the power house was sub-let by this Company to the Saskatchewan Building Construction Company, which had the main building, and the electrical work sub-let to the Northwest Electrical Company, in which W. G. V. Bishop, President of The Saskatchewan Building Construction Company, and W. R. W. Parsons, who put in a tender for the main building at the request of Mr. Bishop were interested.

The advertisements calling for tenders on the second contract were dated March 26. They did not appear in the papers until April 4, with tenders to close April 13. On April 3, it was testified, the Regina Plumbing and Heating Company paid a deposit and got the plans and specifications. No other company had them until April 9, when James Ballantyne and Sons, of Winnipeg, wrote for them, on the same day that company wrote asking for an extension of time, but this letter was not received until April 11, while on April 10, notification was sent this company, and Leonard and Sons, also of Winnipeg, that the time had been extended to April 20.

Of the three tenderers, that of the Regina Plumbing and Heating Company was lowest, but it was accompanied by two letters written on the same day. One offered to instal Babcock and Wilson boilers for $13,000 additional, the other offered to instal the same boilers at $3,000. The first figure would have made that of the Northwest Electric Company the lowest. The second letter also contained modifications of the tender so that it did not comply with the specifications. This tender was accepted.

TENDER RISE ALLOWED.

The Saskatoon Bridge case was before the Wetmore Commission in the morning and interesting information was elicited regarding it. The contract was let by A. J. MacPherson when chairman of the Board of Highway Commissioners to the R. L. Lacky Company in which he had one-third interest. For exposure of this connection, McPherson was recently forced to resign from the position of chairman of the local Government Board, the highest paid office in the gift of the Government.

The principal fact brought out by examination of Capt. Linton, formerly assistant to McPherson, was that when the tenders were received, they were opened in the presence of McPherson and himself, and McPherson produced a letter from the Lacky Company increasing the tender by $15,000 on account of forgetting something in allowing for materials. The increase was allowed.

Capt. Linton said tenders were received from the R. L. Lacky Company, the Parsons Construction and Engineering Company, and the F. J. Robinson Company. Linton said he had not heard of the last named company before nor since. F. J. Robinson was McPherson's predecessor in office of chairman of the Highway Commission and was formerly deputy Minister of Public Works.

Capt. Linton accepted responsibility for the type of bridge that was selected, a concrete structure, but would accept none for the allowance for extras on the bridge or quantities McPherson, he said, was responsible for that.

LUMBER YARD FIRE CAUSED BY CHILDREN

Fire, thought to have been caused by children playing with matches, resulted in damage amounting to about $8,000 to the lumber yard and sash and door factory owned by Ald. Julien Therrien, Papineau avenue and Demontigny streets, last night.

The fire was discovered at 7.45 in a drying shed on the ground floor. An alarm from two different boxes was turned in, but before the firemen arrived the flames, spreading among the shavings, had reached several piles of lumber. The fire soon seized the upper floor and spread to wood piles in the yard. Twelve lines of hose were used by the firemen and by their efforts a quantity of goods ready to ship were saved and flying sparks and embers were extinguished before they could do any harm to the surrounding property. The fire was under control with the hour. The loss is fully covered by insurance.

IMPROVEMENT IN CITY AFFAIRS IS FOUND BY LEAGUE

"Clean-Up" Campaign Reduced Infant Mortality—Other Good Measures

At the seventh annual meeting of the Civic Improvement League of Montreal held last night, the president, Dr. J. J. Guerin, reviewed the varied activities of the league in the past year. The meeting was held in the Medico-Chirurgical Society rooms at 112 Mansfield street, and was largely attended.

The president's outline of the work touched upon the "clean-up" campaign which had so noticeably reduced the rate of infantile mortality in the city by the elimination of breeding grounds for flies. The league had also enthused the school children in the work of cleaning the yards and proposed to distribute this summer $1,250 in prizes to stimulate further efforts.

While Montreal's infantile mortality rate was higher than other cities it was pointed out that the birth rate was also higher. The league wished therefore to impress on the mothers of large families, who had not the time to give the individual child the care it needed, that all milk should be scalded before serving to children. This was a simple form of killing all the bacteria so deadly to children.

GOOD CO-OPERATION.

The legislative activities of the league were also reviewed. Dr. Guerin relating how the league had co-operated with other bodies to form the composite committee. This committee had achieved success at Quebec in fighting for the retention of dual control at the City Hall and for the reduction of aldermanic representation.

The league, he said, had become parent to a larger body, namely the Civic Improvement League of Canada, modelled after the local league. Both Dr. Guerin and Dr. Atherton had attended the initial conference at Ottawa.

Dr. Atherton, the secretary, also submitted his report, followed by the treasurer who showed total receipts of $700.28 and expenses amounting to $660.43, leaving a cash balance of $39.85.

Better care of trees was advocated by the Rev. Robert Campbell who said tree mortality was increasing in the city.

A committee to study the tree situation was elected as follows:

The Rev Dr Campbell, C. H. Gould, Dr. W. H. Atherton and J. Rawson.

THE OFFICERS.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr J. J. Guerin; hon. vice-president, ex-officio, the presidents of the Board of Trade and the Chambre de Commerce; vice-presidents, Farquhar Robertson, C. H. Dandurand, Victor Morin, Zepherin Hebert and G. F. Benson; hon treasurer, J. E. Boulais, N.P.; hon French secretary, J. U. Emard, K.C.; hon. English secretary, C. H. Gould, executive secretary, Dr W. H. Atherton.

Four members of the league died during the year, and the secretary was asked to express to the families the league's sympathy. Those passed away were Sir William Van Horne, Robert Archer, Lieut.-Col. Yates, and the Hon. Louis Beaubien.

YOUNG HOSPITAL PATIENT TOOK WATCH

Ten year old Tommy went to the Royal Victoria Hospital with appendicitis. He came out with a gold watch and a purse containing money and trinkets.

The goods were found in a second hand store. Tommy was taken to the Juvenile Court, and proceedings may be taken against the man who bought the stolen property. Tommy himself will be dealt with later.

The property was stolen from a nurse by the lad, whose real name, of course, is not Tommy.

MISSION CHURCH CAUSES A STORM AT PRESBYTERY

The question of the site chosen for the Presbyterian portable mission, at the corner of Ontario and Delorimier streets, Hochelaga, proved a debatable matter around which much heated discussion took place at the meeting of the Montreal Presbytery yesterday afternoon. No decision was reached save that an unofficial committee was appointed to investigate the matter and report in June. The reading of a letter from the Inter-denominational Committee protesting against the site chosen, was the cause of argument.

The Rev. Mr. Cruikshank, secretary of the Maisonneuve Presbyterian Church, described the method of placing the mission at that corner as very "high handed." It was near the Baptist Church, the Methodist Church and his own Church. He entered a strong protest and felt that he should have been consulted first.

The Rev. Mr. Cruikshank, secretary of the Church Extension Society, who together with the Rev. Mr. Chisholm, (who is in charge of the mission), were responsible for the selection of the site, stated that Mr. Ballantyne was under an illusion, and in reality the mission would not affect him at all. Mr. Cruikshank admitted that the site might have been better chosen but it had been thrust upon them. Residents in the district wanted such exorbitant prices for the land that he could do nothing else but take what he could get.

Rev. A. S. Reid, moderator, pointed out that Mr. Cruikshank had acted with the endorsation of the Presbytery, and that his report had been accepted at the March session without dissent. He appointed a committee composed of Rev. Mr. Dobson, Dr. Kneeland and Prof. Bieler, to report at the June session.

H.C. GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Regulate Kidneys AND Relieve Constipation

Gin Pills are acknowledged to have the largest sale of any proprietary medicine in Canada—an achievement solely due to their remarkable virtue as a Kidney and Bladder remedy.

But users of Gin Pills have discovered that this invaluable remedy also acts as a mild cathartic. The evidence of hundreds of letters we have received establishes the very logical fact that in compounding a medicine to heal and tone up the Kidneys and Bladder certain of the ingredients have a stimulating effect upon the other organs, especially the bowels.

It is important to know, in the case of constipated patients, that Gin Pills do not act harshly on the bowels, there is no griping, but a gradual and gentle restoration of the function. Try Gin Pills for constipation. In thus relieving the bowels you safeguard yourself against possible Kidney trouble.

Gin Pills are 50c a box, or 6 boxes for $2.50 at your dealer's. A trial treatment will be sent upon request, to 16

YOUNG BANDIT COOLY ADMITS MURDER CRIME

Made Attack on Daughter After Killing the Father

Special to The Montreal Star.

ST. JOHNS, Que., April 28.—Jacques, alias Paul Renaud, held [illegible] a coroner's jury yesterday for the murder of Albert Wing, a farmer of St. [illegible] village, whom he killed [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible]

LIKED HIS APPEARANCE

Renaud, who was well dressed and of decent appearance, arrived at the Wing farm, which is a little back of the Chambly-St. Johns road, last Wednesday afternoon and asked if he could be given work. The farmer liked his appearance and after giving him supper put him up for the night, promising him work the next day.

In the small hours of the morning the Wings, who had given Renaud a bedroom on the same floor as that of their two daughters, heard a noise downstairs. Wing went down and his wife heard a fusillade of shots. She too descended, to be blinded by the light of an electric torch which Renaud turned on her as he stood over her husband's dead body.

"I want all the money you have in the house," he said, and Mrs. Wing in terror went upstairs saying she would get some. When she got into her daughters' room she locked the door and prepared to lower the younger girl from the window. The murderer suspected her intentions for he fired three shots through the door, wounding Mrs. Wing.

In spite of her wounds and a very painful bruise she got as she dropped from the window, Mrs. Wing managed to make her way to the adjoining farm with her young daughter.

Renaud was turned over to Captain Menard by the dead man's brother and nephew. He stated that he was a hold up man by profession, and confessed every detail of the crime. Later, at the inquest, he coolly identified Wing's body as that of the man he had shot. Wing was being driven back to St. Johns by Captain Menard and his son, whom he happened to be visiting, when they met Chief Daniel of the local police and handed over their prisoner.

Summarily arraigned before Judge Saint Cyr, Renaud will appear for preliminary trial next week.

ANNUAL MEETING OF WALDENSIAN AID

The annual meeting of the Waldensian Aid Society was held last night in the lecture hall of St. Andrew's Church of Scotland. The object of the society is to support the Waldensian Church in Naples, Italy, and for this purpose $600 is needed annually. In this connection, the treasurer reported contributions amounting only to $483.75.

Speaking on "Why Should We Support the Waldensian Church" the Rev. Dr. Symonds declared that the Waldensian Church was the oldest protestant church in the world, and that both for historical and religious reasons all Britishers should support it.

Miss Marie Richard, a Waldensian born, spoke on the question of education in connection with the church. She stated that the social and educational side of life was also dealt with [illegible] and that through it in Italy a number of schools, colleges [illegible] had been established.

The committee of the Montreal Waldensian Aid Society for the coming year follows:

POWER GROUP MOST ACTIVE--BAR SILVER'S NEW RECORD

POWER LIST HELD MARKET SPOT LIGHT

While the local list lacked striking price changes as the outcome of the trading in the forenoon session and some of the late favorites assumed an obscure place on the list for the time being, the general tone was satisfactory and a fair volume of trading continued.

Yesterday's revival of interest in the power group was continued and those issues figured largely in the operations. Although not a speculative feature an interesting event was touching of a new high level by Cedars Rapids bonds at 89 after early trading at 88 1-2. This is regarded as the natural movement suggested by the strong position of the company towards taking its place among the front rank of public utility investment bonds. The present attractive price is said to be attracting considerable buying.

The early feature was Montreal Power, which following its rise to 240 yesterday, sold ex-dividend 2 1-2 per cent today but immediately recovered to that extent continuing to sell at yesterday's highest price despite the deduction. Cedars, which accompanied it up to 78 resumed dealings at the same level and continued firm throughout the forenoon session until the close, when it eased a point to 77, while Power closed 239 3-4.

Both Shawinigan and Laurentide shared in the power strength, Shawinigan advancing to 134 1-2 from 132 yesterday, while Laurentide went to 188 from 185 1-4 yesterday.

A sharp jump of 2 1-2 in Canadian Cottons was one of the striking features following a one point rise yesterday. Trading was light when the extent of the advance is considered indicating the small supply of the stock. After first selling at 48 1-2, it eased back to 48. The Street accepts this as an indication of faith in expectations of the placing of the stock on a dividend basis shortly.

Consolidated Smelting shares were traded in for the first time on the new $25 par basis, being a split-up of one of old into four new shares. There was very little done here but there was an active market in Toronto at 39 1-2 to 39, only a couple of local transactions being recorded at 39. This is equivalent to an advance from 151 yesterday on the old basis to 156.

In the unlisted department there was an active market for Wayagamack following the upward spurt from 35 3-4 to 39 3-4 yesterday. The new high created today was at 41 after opening at 40 3-4. The generally bullish conditions in the pulp and paper trade are accepted as having revived speculative interest in the stock.

Quebec Railway was fairly active and strong on expectations of government aid the common touching a fresh high at 25. Price Bros. opened strong at 64 on the strength of the annual report given in yesterday's Star but lost three points later at 61. A rally to 38 7-8 for Ont. Steel was another feature.

Elsewhere changes were of small extent. The steel group was completely overshadowed, Steel of Canada being quieter than for months past at 59 1-4 to 59, with Iron at 50 3-4 to 50 1-2. Other features were Detroit 99 1-2 to 100. Brazilian 54 1-2 to 55, ex-dividend 1 per cent, Ames 27, Car 70, Cement 61 7-8 to 61 1-2, Steamships 28 and preferred 81 3-4, Bridge in odd lots at 216, ex-dividend 5 per cent, Textile 83 and Penmans 61 1-2. Some more Spanish River preferred sold at 35 and the common at 8 3-4.

Opinions from Wall Street

Hanks, Gwynne & Co. — While the stock market is displaying unusual strength, and may work higher, we think it advisable to keep to a trading position for moderate profits for the present.

Laidlaw & Co.—The most encouraging feature yesterday was the lively demand for the long neglected railroad shares. A movement in this quarter of the market would receive encouragement from both banks and brokers.

Post & Flagg.—Shifting of interest from industrials to railroad securities is a welcome incident.

Shearson, Hammill & Co.—We would advise our people getting out of the more speculative industrials and going into the rails, for even if anything adverse to the market should come out, the rails will hold better than industrials.

Burnett & Co. — In the second hour prices eased off fractionally and the market turned dull. Traders worked for a reaction in view of the recent sharp advance.

BERLIN EXCHANGE IS EXPECTATION INDEX

BERLIN, Thursday, April 27, 5 p.m., by wireless to the Associated Press, via Tuckerton, N.J., April 28 (delayed)—The Berlin Stock Exchange, the principal available index to popular expectation on the German-American situation, continues to improve in tone. The market was characterized in today's reports as virtually normal again.

The belief of the operators and the public apparently is based more on surmise that concessions will be offered from this side than on knowledge of the extent of the concessions or how far they may be acceptable to Washington. No further word has been received from the American State Department.

Navigation Holders Get Million Shortly

Special to The Montreal Star.

TORONTO, April 28. — In addition to many other end-of-the-month disbursements a million dollars will be in the mails over the week-end, representing of payment for stock of the St. Lawrence and Chicago Navigation Company turned in for sale under the terms of the agreement for the disposal of the assets of the company announced a short time ago. The interests identified with Canada Steamships have to pay another three-quarters a million for the remaining stock, but the release of the present payment of a million next Monday should have some effect in the market.

Press Opinions on N.Y. Situation

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Sun—In a session of rather evenly distributed activity the stock market yesterday gave the most impressive exhibition of resilient firmness which it has displayed in many weeks. It was not subjected to very pronounced selling pressure, but the general upswing of prices was accomplished not only against the adverse influences of various unfavorable developments, actual or conjectural, both at home and abroad, but against a professional speculative attitude of a rather bearish and skeptical character.

Tribune — With a display of sustained strength such as has not been seen for months, the railroad list advanced yesterday beginning to the rise in the morning and closing strong. Dealings expanded again to upward of 700,000 shares and the whole market improved. The war group, though first to start upward after an irregular opening, was less conspicuous than the railroad and the copper stocks.

Press — Reassuring advices received in the financial community regarding the submarine controversy and the Mexican situation, and further reports showing remarkably favorable railroad earnings together with a better class of buying in the group of railroad shares, were the effective factors which brought about materially higher prices in yesterday's stock market.

Herald—The recent "creeping rise" in railway shares was followed yesterday with a notably sharp rise. How did the Wall Street community regard this unwonted movement? Very much as mariners who have left a sinking ship and taken to the boats regard the sight of firm land.

American—Good news from several quarters yesterday found the bear party unprepared. They tried to buy and found offerings so slight they proceeded to cover without ceremony, especially in the railroads.

World—There was a stampede to cover short contracts in yesterday's market by the traders who have expected an unfavorable outcome of the submarine negotiations, and advances ranging from a fraction to 14½ points were scored throughout the list.

Times—Prices were carried forward vigorously yesterday in trading which at first was no more active than the previous day, but which later expanded considerably in volume the formal pronouncement of this country, outlining its position in respect to armed merchant ships and the news from Berlin, were interpreted as favorable to an agreement between this country and Germany.

C. & O. earnings for March show a net increase of $353,768, for nine months a net increase of $3,753,760.

Norfolk and Western earnings for March show a net increase of $1,080,-521, and for nine months a net increase of $7,988,116.

STRONG TONE IN WALL ST. RAILS ROSE

Special to The Montreal Star.

NEW YORK, April 28. — Railroads again advanced at the opening of the Stock Exchange today, gains of ¼ to ½ were general among the more active rails. United States Steel opened with a gain of ⅜, at 83⅝, and munition shares were strong, Crucible led in this list, up 1¾ at 82¼. Mexican Petroleum was higher.

Yesterday's brisk inquiry for stocks of various descriptions was resumed, initial prices showing gains of material fractions to over a point. Rails, which figured conspicuously in the preceding session, were again very active under the lead of Union Pacific, Reading, N. Y. Central and other standard issues.

Crucible Steel and Baldwin Locomotive led the specialties, with pronounced strength in Bethlehem Steel, other munitions, equipments and industrials. United States Steel added substantially to its recent recovery, and the metal group made further response to favorable trade conditions.

The rise was checked for a time by heavy profit-taking and some apprehension arising from another British marine disaster, but the setback was soon overcome, rails again taking the initiative on the publication of additional remarkable statements of earnings. Reading extended its gain to 2 points and other issues of that class indicated further accumulation. Mexicans were distinctively active and strong, American Smelting advancing 3¼, with 3⅝ for Greene Cananea.

U. S. Smelting came suddenly forward with an overnight gain of 4 and Bethlehem Steel featured the war issues on its rise of 13. Bonds were firm.

FRENCH GOLD SHOWS LOSS OF $19,000,000

The loss of more than $19,000,000 gold by the Bank of France was the most interesting feature of this week's foreign bank returns.

That institution's gold holdings now stand at $1,200,881,500, which compares with $1,258,956,000 on February 24, the largest amount held this year, and with $1,267,616,000 on December 23, 1915, the largest amount the bank has ever held.

A year ago this item stood at $1,042,-252,500. During the year, therefore, gold in the bank's hands has increased $158,692,000.

The Bank of England statement shows an increase of $4,800,000 in the gold item and of $4,440,000 in total reserve. Ratio of reserve against liabilities was increased to 29.40 per cent, the highest figure of the year, compared with 29.10 last week.

NO LONDON WEAKNESS BUT TRADING LIGHT

Special to The Montreal Star.

LONDON, April 28.—Markets were dull and about steady. Consuls 57 1-8; War Loan, old, 87 5-8; British 4 1-2's, 96 11-16; French loan 85 1-2. American securities displayed a good tone here and moved up substantially.

Money was plentiful today. Discounts were a shade more active although treasury bills and exchequer bonds received the most attention.

The stock market was quiet pending the clearing of the Irish situation. There was no weakness, but the dealings were restricted. Speculative issues sagged from lack of support while foreign rails and gilt edged shares were steady.

American securities were marked higher in sympathy with the recovery in Wall street. Very little trading was done afterwards and the closing was dull.

Strong coinage demands for bar silver, advanced the price 1 1-8d to 3-4 1-8d per ounce, the highest point in ten years.

Short Notes of Interest

Topics of the Street

Every time there is a revival of buying in the power issues the gossips begin to talk about the power deal, how and when it will work out, etc.

As a matter of fact, there is nothing particularly new to record in connection with this matter, apart from the fact that it is getintg nearer all the time, and cannot be a great while before curiosity will be gratified.

The buying suggests that people who desire to participate do not think it wise to put off to the last moment, when the company of late-comers might be a little congested.

If anyone doubts that Canada is growing richer in war time than it ever was, all they have to do is to glance over the returns in the March bank statement, published in these columns yesterday.

The savings deposits have now reached a total of over $738,000,000, the greatest amount in the country's history.

Another evidence of the prosperity of the Canadian pulp and paper trade was contained in the Price Bros. statement published in yesterday's Star. The company has worked into the strongest financial position in its history, a trend quite in line with all the other Canadian companies in the same line of business.

Some New York brokers have during the past few weeks taken a decided stand in their views on the market. For the most part, their attitude has been discouraging to expectations of a strong market, while some were decidedly bearish.

This is one of the times when the market makes some men's opinions look somewhat foolish.

There are times when the New York market becomes a veritable puzzle to those who are regarded as most competent to gauge its probable actions. The present is one of them.

When some of the best authorities consider the technical conditions such as to make a weak market inevitable, it suddenly becomes strong, and then again it weakens when there might be some reasonable expectation that it would act better.

This, is of course, because there are at times so many conflicting elements at work in a speculative way. But more important than all appears the fact that while all these superficial currents are at work on the surface there is an undercurrent of strength operating and which seems at times to be lost sight of.

For months the market did not respond to conditions which were all of the most bullish character, but it created the strong undercurrent which sooner or later was destined to suck down the straws floating on the surface.

There has never been any abandonment of these conditions of strength, and the fluctuations for the most part have been due to the little bear raids and the rallies created when they undertook to cover their contracts.

The same conditions as regards strength exist in the local market, but there are no bears here, because they cannot sell short. Spurts and waves of buying come from time to time, and when they are over the modest reaction is due to some realizing, and when that is over the market becomes dull until the public works up to the buying stage again.

Although a short interest is regarded as a safeguard, the market seems to be getting on fairly well without it.

Four Days' Clearings Beat Week's Year Ago

Bank clearings continue to show remarkable gains and despite the fact that the returns this week are for four as against six days a year ago, out of nine leading centres only one decrease is shown. The returns show the following changes compared with a year ago:

City.	Clearings.	Change
Montreal	$49,152,771	+$ 119,959
Toronto	38,128,675	+ 5,918,008
Winnipeg	33,999,516	+ 9,397,037
Quebec	3,149,911	+ 680,699
Ottawa	3,793,885	— 590,013
Halifax	1,937,831	+ 427,964
London	1,497,150	+ 88,745

SHARP GAINS IN EARNINGS OF RAILWAYS

An important item of railway news in Wall Street yesterday was the March report of the Union Pacific, which showed gross earnings for that month of $8,717,000, compared with $6,-260,000 in March, 1915—an increase of 39 per cent, while net earnings last month amounted to $3,347,000, against $1,765,000 a year ago, the increase being 81 per cent.

Going back to 1914, gross earnings were $6,893,000, and net, $2,049,000. Returns last March, therefore, show gains of 26 per cent and 63 per cent respectively, over these figures. The largest net revenue hitherto reported in March was earned in that month of 1909, when net earnings amounted to $2,906,000.

Union Pacific promises to show surplus for common stock of approximately 15 per cent for the year to end June 30, 1916. This would compare with 10.98 per cent in the previous year. The gain in net for nine months ended March 31 was $6,707,853, or 28.2 per cent. There is every prospect that this rate of increase will be at least maintained over the final three months of the year.

Maintenance expenses for March increased $411,167, or 23.6 per cent, while transportation expenses increased $430,-980, also a 23.6 per cent advance, so that the increase in tonnage was carried at a transportation cost of about 16 per cent. of gross.

Of the 17.1 per cent gross gain for nine months which totalled $11,400,766, $10,000,621 was increased freight revenue and $1,046,147 increased passenger revenue. On maintenance of way $1,-984,026 or 25.2 per cent more was spent than in the same period the previous year, with an increased outlay of $268,-486 on maintenance of equipment. Transportation expense for the nine months was $1,557,521, or 8.7 per cent greater, so that it has cost Union Pacific about 12 per cent of gross for transportation of the period's increased traffic.

Grain Shipping Rush on in Fort William

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., April 28. — Since the opening of navigation on Saturday, a great rush in the movement of grain from local terminal elevators to eastern plants, has been in operation and elevators are working night and day to supply the cargoes required. From Saturday to Thursday night, 17,355,000 bushels of all grains have been loaded into bottoms and carried to Buffalo, Montreal and Tiffin.

Another large shipment went out today, when 17 steamers, carrying 3,138,-000 bushels departed. The biggest day's cargoes loaded were 4,187,000 bushels on Wednesday.

Since the opening, 57 steamers, all loaded to capacity, have left here. At one time yesterday 38 boats were in port.

Moving ice is making navigation difficult, acording to captains arriving here. The harbor was full of ice yesterday, and the day before it was clear. Coal stocks were about depleted when navigation opened, but with twelve steamers unloading, hundreds of tons are now in store.

BROCKVILLE CHEESE BOARD

BROCKVILLE, Ont., April 28.—At a special meeting of the Cheese Board for the sale of fodder goods ready to go forward, a large number of salesmen attended, the offerings being 1,896 boxes.

Bidding ranged from 17c to 18¾c; sales were made at 18¾c and at 18⅝c, at which latter price, McVeigh obtained 280 boxes. The price afterward mounted up to 18¾c, at which Bissell bought, and while some factorymen turned down this price, the majority of the holders of unsold lots accepted it, Bissell's total purchases being 1,231 boxes. The market developed strength toward the close. Today's sales, including street transactions, amounted to between 2,500 and 3,000 boxes. The board's regular annual meeting will take place next Thursday.

NEW YORK METALS

NEW YORK, April 27.—Tin, spot bid 49.25, asked 49.75. Lead, bid 7.30, asked 7.55. Spelter, bid 18.25. Antimony, bid 37.50, asked 38.50. Quicksilver, bid $120. Aluminum, bid x58.00, asked 60.00. Iron No. 2 x foundry, bid 20.25, asked 21.25. x-nominal. Electrolytic copper was quoted at 28¾ to 29¼c per pound in the open market.

PHENOMENAL RISE IN SILVER IS CONTINUED

Bar silver, which has been one of the phenomenal features of the mineral market for some months past, had another striking rise today to a new high level in New York at 71¾ from 69 yesterday, which in turn was an advance from 61⅛ the preceding day. In London the advance was equally striking going to 34⅛d.

At this constitutes a rise from 46⅛ on September 1 last, it will be seen that this means a gain of a fraction over 30 cents in the past six months.

At one time last year the Canadian silver miners were storing their output on account of the unprofitable price, but the rise has worked a complete change, and now the mines are speeding up to get the full advantage of the high price.

LONDON HOLIDAY MAY 1

LOW CABLES SENT WHEAT PRICES DOWN

CHICAGO, April 28.—Favorable weather northwest and lower Liverpool quotations gave a downward swing today to the wheat market here. The volume of trade was not very large, and prices were easily influenced.

Brokers said deals in the May option had become difficult to execute, and that the delivery showed signs of tightening.

Initial prices, which ranged from 3-4 decline to a shade advance, with May at 112 3-4 to 113, and July at 114 to 114 5-8, were followed by a slight rally, and then a general decline.

The technical situation in wheat was regarded as rather bearish last night and many traders bought bids at the last, the Herald says. News from the Northwest expected to favor the bears for a few days. One of the largest operators in the Northwest said the Greek Government is about through buying durum wheat and there is four million bushels more at Duluth to be sold. He says the reduction in Northwestern acreage will not be as large as at first figured on.

Professionals here have been bullish and the short interest was cut dow nearly, but increased at he last. Most of the oats traders are bearish, ond the short interests in July and September has increased the last few days. Seeding in all but the Northwes twill be about finished this week.

Notes on 'change

The continued good weather is having a favorable effect on trade generally, and with the opening of navigation in Montreal, and at other points, the shipping season is commencing with all the hustle and bustle accompanying the acceleration of trade movement after six months of inactivity. These signs are welcome to local traders.

Press despatches show floods along the upper Mississippi River, with a stage of water the highest in twenty years, according to advices from Chicago. This emphasizes the excessive snow and rain fall that has prevented seeding of spring wheat. Seeding is now already late and with the ground too wet to work, and with little fall ploughing done, the prospect for a short acreage and a poor seed bed present a serious situation when coupled with the partial failure of winter wheat.

NAVIGATION OPENING ASSISTS LOCAL TRADE

Bradstreet's Montreal weekly trade report says: The river is now open for another season. So far only local boats are in operation, but ocean steamers will arrive next week. The opening of navigation will materially assist trade conditions in our wholesale districts.

The present outlook is for a large make of dairy products, and the trade are wondering how they will get sufficient freight accommodation, owing to the small number of steamers available. Several good sized sales of butter, most of which has been held in cold storage, were sold by auction during the past few days; prices realized were somewhat disappointing to the holders. The flour market is exceedingly quiet; owing to the uncertainty of the future of the market, buyers are only taking sufficient quantities to meet immediate requirements.

The refined sugar market is again on the jump, one of the refineries put on an advance of 15 cents on two different occasions, making a total of 30 cents per hundred pounds. The other refineries only advanced their prices ten cents per hundred.

The advancing season caused an easier feeling in the potato market. Weather conditions being more favorable to the production of eggs, receipts have increased and prices rul lower. There is a good demand for hay in the local market, and prices have ruled firm. Now that the Easter demand for meats has been satisfied, prices ruling in the live stock market have been easier. The green hide market is fairly active, and prices rule strong. The leather market rules strong under a good inquiry.

The retail trade is more encouraging this week. Remittances are coming to hand in a satisfactory manner. City collections are somewhat better.

ALLIES WILL NEVER QUIT TILL EVIL IS CRUSHED--POINCARE

Special Star Cable by United Press.

PARIS, April 28.—The Allies will never lay down arms "until their sword has reduced evil to impotency and has broken iniquity," declared President Poincare at the opening of the International Economic Conference attended by representatives of the Allies yesterday.

"The Central Empires can never hope to return to their former state," added M. Poincare. "Their hypocrisy makes it impossible for them to efface their barbarous deeds. They have done too much.

"It is their Zeppelin fleets which during the nights hurl burning bombs upon sleeping cities. It is their submarines which sink inoffensive passenger ships. It is their paid band of spies which seek to sow corruption throughout the entire world.

"It is their soldiers who have shot down noble nurses. You men gathered here are charged to demonstrate to the entire world against who and what we fight. We shall continue to the very end confident of the support of all thinking men.

"While you come here seeking together solutions of justice, it is armed justice that fights under our flags on the Yser and in the Carso, that bars the route to Salonika, that enters Trebizond, that defends Verdun and will not lay down its sword until it has reduced evil to impotency and has broken iniquity."

REBELLION HAS AROUSED LOYAL IRISH ALL OVER

Denunciation of Rebels Pours in from All Quarters of Empire

BRITISH MINISTRY CONFIDENT TODAY

Traitor Casement Posing as Martyr—Says Cause Lost Now

Special Star Cable.

LONDON, April 28.—"The Pope," says a Daily News despatch from Rome, "deplores the disorders in Dublin, and has requested Cardinal Logue to ascertain whether any clergymen were implicated.

"The Pope is determined, besides resorting to exemplary disciplinary measures, also to make public condemnation of the disloyalty and unpatriotism of any clergymen concerned."

LONDON, April 28.—The revolt, which broke out in Dublin on Monday, has spread to other parts of Ireland, chiefly to the west and south.

The extent of the seditious movement is for the present a Government secret, except that it has spread to the west and south. It was on the west coast of Ireland that Sir Roger Casement's expedition, consisting of a submarine and a steamer, was intending to land munitions, when the steamer was captured by a patrol boat.

In the North of Ireland, so far as is known, there has been no disturbance, a direct despatch from Londonderry reported complete order.

The first boat to leave Dublin for Holyhead since the start of the rebellion arrived at Holyhead this morning.

IRISH SECRETARY SPEAKS.

Right Hon. Augustine Birrell, just before leaving for Ireland, said:

"There is no reason yet to believe serious disturbances are likely to occur in the provinces, although here and there may be an ebullition of feeling. The military have the matter well in hand and are determined to obtain possession of the portion of the city occupied by the rebels, who are not in large numbers."

William O'Malley, Nationalist member in the Commons for County Galway, said:

"The Sinn Fein outburst in Dublin is practically at an end. I feel glad of their action, as it will demonstrate their utter folly and criminal intent. It will finish their vile campaign against Redmond's party and prove once more the folly of the so called extreme policy."

Arthur Lynch, Nationalist member for West Clare, said:

"Despite the natural admiration for the daring coup, and their sympathy with the ultimate ideals of the Irish people, Americans should recognize that the cause of civilization, liberty and progress is bound up with the success of the Allies.

"The mass of the population of Ireland accepts this view. It is impossible for the revolutionists to obtain the success necessary to form a government of their own.

"The movement is comparatively small and localized. The provinces remain peaceful."

Lynch was tried for high treason for fighting with the Boers in the Boer war, and condemned to death, but his sentence was commuted and he was later pardoned.

Whole Empire Condemns Rebels

From Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide and other parts of the Empire came a flood of cablegrams to Mr. Redmond yesterday repudiating the action of the rebellious elements in Dublin and expressing scorn at what they had done "while brave Irish soldiers are dying at the front that their country may prosper."

Incidentally, the messages express the fullest confidence in Mr. Redmond and the Irish Parliamentary party. Some of them were given out by the Nationalist leader. One from Sydney, signed "MacCarthy," reads: "The sectional pro-German rioting disgusts Home Rulers here. Take heart. Our race is with you and our gallant countrymen at the front."

From Melbourne came a message signed "O'Connell," reading: "The Irish in Victoria view with abhorrence the futile and meaningless rebellion at Dublin, and sympathize with the National party in the cruel struggle against the criminal efforts of an insignificant minority to thwart the noble object of peace and reconciliation which was almost accomplished.

"Such fanatics betray gross ingratitude for the benefits Ireland has received through long agitation and the generosity of the Irish abroad, as well as the valuable help rendered by the British and other democracies.

"Brave Irish soldiers are dying at the front that their country may prosper. Their nobility of sacrifice should shame all the wreckers of Ireland's future. The guilt of the horrible bloodshed at Dublin will be on the misguided leaders of the outbreak."

GUN-RUNNERS DROWNED.

The bodies of two men, armed and wearing the Sinn Fein badge, were found at Ballykissane quay, Killorglin, on April 22. The driver of the automobile says he brought three men whose identity was unknown to him, from Limerick, and that the car jumped the bridge. The three were drowned, he said, but he escaped. The incident is supposed to be connected with gun running.

IRISH LEADERS IN COMMONS DENOUNCE REBELS IN DUBLIN

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, April 28.—In the course of a speech in the House of Commons yesterday concernin gthe situation in Ireland, Sir Edward Carson said:

"I feel quite satisfied with the statement of the Prime Minister. I will gladly join with Mr. Redmond in everything that can be done to denounce and put down these rebels now and for evermore.

"I hope the newspapers will not try, during a war of such a character as we are engaged in, to bring about dissension of a political character in relation to the Irish question."

Sir Edward's remarks were greeted with cheers. He was followed by Mr. Redmond, who said:

"May I say a word—although I really think it is scarcely necessary. Perhaps I ought to give expression, on behalf of my colleagues of the Nationalist party here and, as I believe, of the overwhelming majority of the people of Ireland, to the feeling of detestation and horror with which we have regarded these proceedings.

"I join most cordially with Sir Edward Carson in hoping that no set of newspapers or public men in this country will attempt to use what has happened in Ireland as a political weapon against any party that may exist."

REPORT AMERICANS FORCED INTO ARMY DENIED IN HOUSE

Special to The Montreal Star by Our Own Correspondent.

OTTAWA, April 28.—H. H. Stevens, M.P. for Vancouver, brought the attention of the Minister of the Interior in the House of Commons yesterday a statement reported recently to have been made by Robt. E. Mansfield, United States Consul-General in Vancouver, and incorporated in a bulletin issued by the United States Department of Labor, to the effect that American laborers were being induced to come to Canada by promises of employment and then placed under pressure to enlist for overseas service.

Mr. Stevens characterized this statement as absolutely false, as also a further remark of the Consul-General that Vancouver was full of unemployed.

The Minister, in reply, said he had heard of the matter only yesterday, and he had already had the United States Consul-General in Vancouver approached. The latter had refused to make any statement until he should see the text of the remarks attributed to him. Another interview would be had with Mr. Mansfield at once.

As regards unemployment in Vancouver, the Minister said that during January and February the applicants for relief had numbered 285, which was not abnormal.

The House gave second reading to Sir Thomas White's Bill to provide for the payment of bounties on zinc ores mined in Canada.

U. S. REPLIES TO BRITISH NOTE ON GERMANS SEIZED

Special to The Montreal Star by United Press.

WASHINGTON, April 28. — The State Department has despatched a reply to England's note defending her right to seize Germans from the American liner China. The answer is understood to take issue with the British contention that the seized men were German plotters, and potentially, at least, enemies of Great Britain. The note is believed to contain a request for release of the Germans.

Japan's demands are said to be completely met in an amendment to the Burnett Immigration Bill, which a majority of the members of the Senate Immigrations Committee agreed to today.

The British Foreign Office has recently issued an account of visits by members of the United States Embassy in Berlin to camps in different parts of Germany where British prisoners are interned.

At Giessen the men said they had no complaint to make of their treatment in the camp itself. Several spoke, however, of unsanitary conditions at different working camps. They said they had been called on to perform work "in connection with the operations of war," but I could only ascertain one instance where the men had actually come in contact with anything which was obviously ammunition (cartridge cases) says the Ambassador. Many of the men spoke of their objection to do any work, on the grounds that it was "giving assistance to the enemy," and others said that they did not like to accept any pay for their work, fearing that their pay might be stopped in England in consequence. I explained to them that on principle they could be compelled to work, or must take the punishment for refusal to do so, but that if they objected to any particular kind of work on conscientious grounds they should make their objections known to the German officers.

One Canadian Highlander was in arrest barracks (together with other prisoners) because he had refused to wear the trousers furnished to him, the rule being that kilts should not be worn by men at working camps, or when they are sent into Giessen on fatigue parties. One man was in the cells serving a fourteen-day sentence for attempted escape, having been caught after a ten-day absence.

GOT BEST MAN TO MURDER WIFE WHO REFUSED DIVORCE

Husband Watched as Friend Pounded Her to Death After Elopement

Special to The Star by United Press.

NEW YORK, April 28.—In order that Joseph Castelli might be free of his wife, who would not divorce him, Frank Veteri lured Mrs. Castelli to New Haven and pounded her to death with an iron bar while Castelli, who had followed secretly, looked on.

All involved in the unusual crime are deaf mutes. Veteri killed Mrs. Castelli because of his friendship for her husband and for a slight financial gain, the police say. The men are in jail here and both confessed yesterday.

Mrs. Castelli was struck many times. Unable to cry out, she could only struggle silently and was slowly pounded to the floor, where she was found after the men had fled. She was removed to a hospital.

The crime occurred on Sunday. She died on Monday. That her death was due to several skull fractures was determined on Tuesday. She was indentified on Wednesday and the arrests followed.

Early today, after Veteri and Castelli had been bribed by a hearty meal, they confessed, each racing with the other to get his admissions on paper. Veteri coaxed Mrs. Castelli to elope with him on Sunday, he wrote. They went to New Haven and engaged a room. Castelli followed. He crept quietly into the room and secreted himself in a clothes closet.

Veteri had a light iron bar, not much heavier than a pencil. He crept upon Mrs. Castelli and struck her. His weapon descended again and again until Mrs. Castelli was unconscious on the floor. Meanwhile the husband peered from the closet, watching his friend free him of a wife who would not be divorced.

The mother and sister of the slain woman reported the disappearance of Mrs. Castelli after her husband, who returned here, refused to. Veteri was best man at the wedding of Castelli and the slain woman, then Mrs. Antonio Massaro, divorced and the mother of three children.

Castelli recently offered his wife $100 to permit him to get a divorce. She refused.

After arrest the men in writing their answers to police questions denied guilt for several hours. Then they wrote that if fed they would tell all.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter-section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. Applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at any Dominion Lands Agency (but not Sub-Agency), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm at least 80 acres on certain conditions. A habitable house is required except where residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section along side his homestead. Price $3.00 per acre.

Duties—Six months residence in each of three years after earning homestead patent; also 50 acres extra cultivation. Pre-emption patent may be obtained as soon as homestead patent, on certain conditions.

A settler who has exhausted his homestead right may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3.00 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land. Live stock may be substituted for cultivation under certain conditions.

COMMONS REJECTS EXTENSION BILL FOR ARMY SERVICE

By Canadian Press.

LONDON, April 28. — A Bill providing for extension of military service was introduced in the House of Commons yesterday, but it aroused such a degree of opposition that the Government announced it would not press the measure.

Walter Hume Long, President of the Local Government Board, placed the Bill before the House, saying that it was the intention of the Government to enlist every unmarried man between the ages of 18 and 41. He said that one month would be allowed before the Bill, if passed, went into effect.

The measure met with severe criticism from all sections of the House.

Premier Asquith announced that in view of this feeling the Government would not press the Bill.

Sir Edward Carson denounced the Bill introduced by Mr. Long as unfair. He was particularly opposed to the clause extending the service of men on the expiration of the periods for which they enlisted. Compulsion for all, he declared, was much fairer.

Stephen Walsh, Labor member, caused the House to break out in cheers by demanding immediate introduction of a measure for general compulsion if the military situation demanded it.

Compulsory military service for single men was provided for in a Bill passed in January. The application of the measure has been limited, however, by the existence of many classes of exemptions.

GOVERNMENT IN QUANDARY.

It was announced later that the Government had withdrawn the Military Service Bill owing to the strong opposition in the House. It was understood that the Bill, embodying certain aspects of the proposals outlined in the report of the secret session at which recruiting was taken up, had been approved by the Ministry and the Army Council.

The withdrawal of Mr. Long's Bill, which provided for bringing into service every unmarried man between 18 and 45 and prolonging for the duration of the war, the service of all time-expired men and territorials, left the question of unattested married men to be dealt with later.

The discussion that followed the introduction of the Bill showed that the measure was opposed by all parties as unfair, several members urging that nothing but all-round compulsion would prove satisfactory. Particular objection was raised to the extension of the service period of time-expired men.

Being pressed to state what course the Government proposed to adopt, Premier Asquith said he could not be expected to reply on the spur of the moment, but would consult his colleagues and announce his decision next week.

It is understood that two alternatives are before the Government, either to introduce a Bill bringing into operation the proposals concerning unattested married men, given in the Premier's statement at the secret session of the House of Commons on Tuesday, or proceed at once to the adoption of universal service.

LONDON PRESS COMMENT.

The morning newspapers virtually all speak of the situation which has arisen in Parliament through the withdrawal of the Bill as a new political crisis. The Daily News' lobby correspondent says:

"The incident shows it is useless for sections of the Ministers to agree on a compromise if they have not secured the consent of their respective supporters. The Cabinet was deluded by the secret sessions and assumed that because the plan was not then upset it would afterwards receive the assent of the House.

"The secret sessions are now condemned, even by their authors, as absurd, and not to be repeated. The alleged compromise obviously satisfies nobody, and the Cabinet had to withdraw the Bill or invite immediate defeat, which would have meant its departure from office."

The Daily News notes that the National Party have decided to withdraw the support which they hitherto had given to the Coalition Cabinet, and will hold themselves hereafter free to act independently as their own policy dictates.

In the calendar year 1915, in which the United States made such marked advances industrially and in trade, the trade of the Territory of Alaska showed an increase of more than $12,000,000 over the preceding year.

EVERY WOMAN LIKES

to preserve her complexion. At this time of year, despite the raw, biting winds and sudden changes of temperature, this is an easy task if she uses Zam-Buk.

Zam-Buk is a skin food, that not only keeps the surface skin smooth and soft, but, being of unusual penetrating power, reaches and feeds the underlying tissues. It stimulates the cells to healthy action, produces vigorous circulation, which carries away all impurities, and thus creates a permanently clear complexion. How much more satisfying than a temporary complexion produced with the aid of powders and cosmetics!

BRITISH TRAWLER SINKS BIG HUN SUBMARINE BOAT

LONDON, April 28. — The destruction of a German submarine by a British trawler off the north coast of Scotland is described by Dutch newspapers received here.

According to the accounts, the submarine had halted two Dutch steamers when a trawler appeared and killed with its first shot four men who were standing on the deck of the submarine. The trawler then sank the submarine with a second shot. The entire action lasted less than ten minutes.

The papers say the submarine was of the latest and largest type and carried a crew of sixty, all of whom were lost.

DUTCH GETTING ANGRIER.

AMSTERDAM, via London, April 28.—The Dutch newspapers are showing increased indignation and resentment over Germany's submarine campaign and what they allege is a continuation of losses to Dutch shipping by torpedoes or mines.

The Vaderland declares that the mariners are not [illegible] without showing [illegible] was instanced in the sinking of the Dutch steamer Berkelstrom and declares that "this latest outrage by submarine commanders who are raging like madmen, will cost Germany dearly."

The Vaderland further declares that it will be necessary in the investigation into the sinking of the steamer Tubantia for the Germans to establish not only whether reports from all numbered submarines have been sent in, but also report from unnumbered submarines. Otherwise, the newspaper adds, Germany's assertion that no German submarine was responsible will be valueless.

LONDON, April 28. The captain of the Danish steamer Johannes was killed when the vessel struck a mine in the North Sea, according to a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph from Copenhagen.

Important Sale of Ceramics at $2.75

This remarkable sale of Ceramics gives you a most unusual opportunity for the purchase of wedding gifts, of course, that's just a suggestion, you will want them for yourselves also. There are exquisite vases, bon-bon dishes, plates, statues, etc. from such famous potteries as Delft, Royal, Doulton, Crown Staffordshire, and Tuscan. Distel of Amsterdam sent us oddly shaped vases, some almost globular; old pewter candlesticks, boxes, etc. also come from Holland as do the pieces of art pottery in grey green. One bowl represents a pond with ducklings drinking, another has griffins perched on the edge to serve as handles. French historical figures show the costumes of their day. From Nancy, near France, come the crystal vases on which Galle, the maker has put his name. A dragon vase from Kang He is placed close to a beautiful Staffordshire garden patterned vase. Bronze busts, an Empire patterned perfume flask, a most gorgeous peacock vase. Doulton animals, and grotesque figures in the richly colored rouge flambe—in fact a complete list is out of the question, but the piece that you have been wanting for that bare corner, or as a gift will surely be in this collection of Ceramics.

Their values will be recognized at a glance, they are truly remarkable.

On Saturday they will be priced at $2.75

FANCY CHINA—BASEMENT

Gauntlet Gloves are Increasing In Popularity

Not the kind that you probably understand as "gauntlet," with a stiffened cuff, but a glove in eight button length, with a triangular inset from palm to edge, which gives the fashionable flare above the wrist. A single dome is sometimes used as a fastener, or a strap with a roller bearing, or elastic is inserted.

We have just received a special shipment of these smart gauntlet gloves in four lines, all priced at $2.50

Real English White Cape, with a pearl dome strap wrist; sizes 5¾ to 6¼.

Washable Cape, in grey, tan and Newport, one dome strap wrist; sizes 5½ to 7.

Washable English Doeskin in white, with elastic wrists, these are extra fine, sizes 5½ to 6¾.

White English Cape with elastic wrists.

You really should make a point of seeing these gloves, we are well satisfied with the qualities, and they are undoubtedly the smartest of the Spring Gloves. A pair $2.50
