

POINCARÉ'S STATEMENT OF FRENCH POSITION Resignation Or Fight Election, Is Lloyd George's Plan

THE POLITICAL CRISIS IN BRITAIN IS LIKELY TO LEAD TO SOME DECISIVE ACTION SOON -- COALITION WILL NOT STAND ATTACKS LONG

Premier Believed to Be Watching for an Opening—Criticism by Young Conservative Leader Precipitates Crisis—Financial Statements Submitted to British House—Industrial Depression Shows in Country's Finances.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, March 2.—Either an early general election or the resignation of Premier Lloyd George will be the upshot of the present political crisis, it is generally believed.

The apparently widening breach in the Conservative party together with the consistent gain in strength of the Liberals under former Premier Asquith and the Laborites, as evidenced in the recent bye-elections have forced these alternatives on the Premier.

Mr. Lloyd George is understood to have served notice in his letter to J. Austen Chamberlain that Sir George Younger, leader of the Conservative secessionists, who recently attacked the Premier in the House of Commons, must go or he will step down from office.

Sir George Younger's tactics have met with disfavor among a considerable number of the party, especially with Mr. Chamberlain and Lord Chancellor Birkenhead, the latter publicly voicing his disapproval in a recent speech. In this connection, some significance is attached to a report that Younger may resign from the House and be elevated to the peerage.

Meanwhile the Government leaders are giving much time to the problem, and an early meeting of the whole Conservative party is expected.

THE FINANCIAL AND TRADE SITUATION IS DISCUSSED IN THE BRITISH HOUSE

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, March 2.—Addressing the House of Commons, yesterday, a speech in which he minutely detailed the economies the Government has decided to adopt in connection with the recommendations of the economy committee headed by Sir Eric Geddes, Sir Robert S. Horne, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, asserted that these would total $24,000,000, compared with $26,000,000 advised by the committee. Of the total amount of economies to be effected, $24,000,000 would be saved in the coming financial year.

The principal points in the Chancellor's address were his acceptance of reductions in the Army estimates by £16,500,000 instead of £22,000,000 as proposed by the Geddes committee, his statement that the naval estimates for 1922-23 would be below £51,000,000, as against nearly £52,500,000 for the current year, and the announcement that it was the purpose to economize by a reduction of £2,500,000 in the educational estimates instead of £18,000,000 as suggested in the Geddes report.

Another interesting point in the address was the Chancellor's announcement of the Government's decision not to abolish the Minister of Labor, as was advised by the committee.

Discussing Indian finances here, last night, the finance minister expressed regret at having to submit a situation of great financial difficulty due to extraordinary trade depression. Nobody could guess beforehand the abyssal depth of depression, due to a variety of causes, internal and external, the necessity of heavy wheat importations, labor troubles and the curtailed outlet for exports to Russia and Central Europe. All these combined to bring about the unfortunate result of a trade balance against India for ten months amounting to 33 crores. (A crore is equivalent to ten million rupees, or normally $2,400,000). As anticipated a small surplus had been converted into a large deficit of 34 crores.

During the past four years the expenditures exceeded the revenues by ninety crores. It was impossible to continue in this way and the only practical remedy was to increase taxation. An additional taxation proposed, it was estimated, would yield 29 crores.

STORMY SCENE IN LEGISLATURE AT QUEBEC

Resulted from Attack on Seed Measure of Minister of Agriculture.

(Special to The Record.)

QUEBEC, Mar. 2.—Not for a long time has the legislative assembly witnessed such a stormy scene as during the sitting yesterday afternoon, when Mr. Sauve, Hon. J. L. Caron, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. Mr. Gauthier, Dr. Lemieux, Chairman of the House in committee, and the Liberal membership generally staged a battle that, while short, threatened to necessitate the intervention of the sergeant-at-arms.

The confusion was great, the Liberal members shouting "Order" at Mr. Sauve with great gusto, while he told them to rattle their chains of slavery.

The opposition was in fine fighting form, making up in vigor, what it so sadly lacks in numbers, and the Minister of Agriculture finally called up the reserve in the shape of half a dozen rural members to say what a fine measure was before the House.

The bill was one providing that rural municipalities may advance money to farmers for the purpose of buying seed. C. E. Gault, St. George, Montreal, and General Smart, Westmount, fought the bill on its financial basis. Mr. Sauve joined in, and, contrary to usual custom, fell full on the Minister of Agriculture. Jos. Renaud, of La Vallée, took a hand on the general principle of aiding the farmer. Mr. Sauve was not until adjournment that the excitement calmed down.

The bill provides that the council of any rural municipality or any county council governing a territory not yet erected into a local municipality, or whose council is not yet organized, may by resolution passed by the majority of the members, not otherwise appropriated, or borrow the sums necessary for the purchase of seeds of seed grain intended to be sold to such of the rate payers who may need the same, or the sums required for granting loans to such of the rate payers as desire to purchase for themselves. The money loaned by a municipality can be collected in the same way as taxes up to the amount of $100. Money raised for these purposes will not affect the borrowing power of such municipalities.

Hon. Mr. Caron explained that last year had been an exceedingly difficult one for the farmers in Quebec, and unless some provision was made many of them would be without seed for the 1922 planting. This bill was finally put through this reading.

NO MORE POWER FOR MAYOR MARTIN.

No attempt was made to obtain any additional powers for Mayor Mederic Martin, of Montreal, when the bill of the city was being put through the final stages in the private bills committee today.

"Has anyone a motion as to the powers of the Mayor?" asked Dr. Poulin, of Laurier, Montreal, who has been most active in Montreal affairs before the committee.

"We are all unanimous that the powers of the Mayor should not be extended," said Ald. Leon Tremblay, and the matter ended there.

There has been a heavy slump in mayoralty stock this season, judging by indications.

Hon. Mr. Martin, when asked whether he intended to make an effort for the restoration of his old powers when the bill is before the Legislative council, failed to show any enthusiasm, and contented himself with the cryptic phrase "Time will tell."

There will be various motions in the Legislative Assembly when the bill is being considered to restore some of the clauses struck out, and notable will be the fight of Dr. Poulin, of Laurier, on the Montreal Water & Power Company, he wants it expropriated.

FARM SITUATION IN ONTARIO IS DISCUSSED

Statement Made by Minister of Agriculture in Legislature.

(Associated Press Despatch.)

TORONTO, Mar. 2.—A statement on the farming situation by Hon. Manning Doherty, Minister of Agriculture, featured yesterday afternoon's session of the Ontario Legislature, when the debate on the reply to the speech from the throne was continued. The Minister said that although during the past year products had fallen to an extent far in excess of what had been anticipated and greatly out of proportion to price reductions in other commodities, yet the farmers of Ontario had met the situation bravely and with a confidence that was inspiring. While their condition is such as to give serious thought, yet he believed that they were better off than those farmers of any other part of the North American continent.

Sam Clarke, M. L. A. for Northumberland East, Liberal, thought the O. T. A. was wrong in its inception being too drastic and he believed "he time would come when a more sane, a more rational and a more human measure would be put in force. He favored giving magistrates more discretion and not force them to put a fine of two hundred dollars for first offenders."

If the government was maintaining liquor dispensaries to supply the needs of the sick then $5.60 a bottle was too much to charge for liquor.

"If you are selling it as a beverage then put on the price," he said, "but don't take it out of the sick and afflicted."

The member of Northumberland questioned the fairness of the government opening banks to solicit savings at four per cent with the credit of the province as a guarantee.

U.S. CHAIRMAN IS OPPOSED TO RECIPROCITY

States Canada Refused Definite Offer in 1911.

(Associated Press Despatch)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 2.—Opposition to any general reciprocity agreement with Canada was voiced today by Chairman McCumber of the Senate Finance Committee, when informed that W. S. Fielding, Canadian Minister of Finance, was in Washington in the interest of such an agreement.

"Canada has only agricultural products to send to the United States under such an agreement," said Senator McCumber, "and we have an exportable surplus of such commodities."

The finance committee chairman and other members of the committee expressed the opinion that the reciprocity law passed by Congress in 1911 was a dead letter, although never formally repealed. Senator McCumber said the United States had made a definite offer to Canada which that country has specifically refused to accept, and that since then tariff legislation had been enacted without reference to the 1911 act.

Repeal of the law is provided in the so-called permanent tariff bill passed by the House last year and now under consideration by the Finance Committee.

ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY PROJECT

People of Michigan Are Solidly Behind It, Says Governor.

(Associated Press Despatch)

LANSING, Mich., Mar. 2.—The people of Michigan are solidly behind the proposed St. Lawrence-Lake Michigan waterway project, Governor Goresback declared yesterday in a telegram to the National Rivers and Harbors Congress at Washington.

"The lakes to the ocean project," the Governor's telegram said, "means much to our agricultural and industrial developments. If New York could afford to spend $165,000,000 on its present canal, it would seem that the United States could afford to double this expenditure in the development of a real lakes to the ocean waterway. We, of the middle west, would like to see some such action as was taken by Roosevelt when the Panama Canal was begun. I trust no selfish, specious or sectional plea will be allowed to prevail against ultimate success of this national enterprise."

FRANCE SEEKS ONLY PEACE WITH SECURITY, DECLARES PRESIDENT TO THE ANGLO-AMERICAN PRESS

French Imperialism a Thing of the Past, But Geographical Position of France and Hostility of Her Neighbor Are Facts Which Cannot Be Overlooked—Sacrifices Must Be Made to Remain in State of Defence.

(Associated Press Despatch)

PARIS, March 2.—Premier Poincaré at a luncheon given by the Anglo-American Press Association, yesterday, said that "French imperialism is the old scare-crow which long ago was laid to rest alongside the tomb of Napoleon in the Invalides."

He declared there was not a single Frenchman who had a thought either for the present, for tomorrow or for a later period, of any warlike enterprise or of annexations.

"We have no other wish than to guarantee peace," continued the Premier. "Unfortunately, we are not guaranteed against those who might trouble it. Unlike England, with her sea belt, and unlike the United States, by the absence of any dangerous neighbor, we are obliged to adopt some precautions against renewed attacks and invasions. It is not with a light heart that we still impose upon ourselves sacrifices in order to remain in a state of defence."

"We cannot, however, remake history or revise the geography of the world. We would prefer to enjoy security from all exterior peril, but we are obliged to take account of realities, while having no greater desire than to develop peacefully at home our scientific, industrial and social progress and to maintain courteous relations with all the peoples of the world."

KING GEORGE VS. PRES. HARDING; A LAWSUIT SHIP SUBSIDY FIGHT IS ON IN U. S. CONGRESS

Peculiar Case Fyled in District Court at Fort Worth, Texas.

(Associated Press Despatch)

FORT WORTH, Texas, March 2.—King George of Great Britain, through his attorneys, has filed a suit in the District Court here against President Harding, asking damages of $1,079 for the alleged non-delivery by the Rock Island Railway of sixty-four cases of corned beef, during the war.

President Harding is a party to the suit because the railroad is the defendant and the United States Government had control of the railroad for a period during the war. King George was the only plaintiff named in the suit.

According to the suit, the corned beef, which was to be shipped from here to Hoboken, N.J., was never delivered.

"Indications are members of the Farm block in both houses hold the key to subsidy legislation and unless agricultural opposition can be overcome, the Harding programme will fail. The administration, however, has made a strong bid for support of agricultural interests by pledging itself to the St. Lawrence project."

LIQUOR BY THE SHIPLOAD

(Associated Press Despatch)
PHILADELPHIA, Mar. 2.—"Dapper Don" Collins was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury yesterday on charges of having violated the Volstead Act.

Helen Cromwell, said to be Collins' wife, was indicted on the same charge. Collins was named in the indictment as the "mysterious skipper of the gas yacht Nomad," which, it was alleged, has landed along the Atlantic coast several cargoes of liquor from the British West Indies.

With his wife and three other men, said to constitute the crew of the Nomad, Collins was specifically charged with having imported one thousand bottles of liquor into this country without a permit on December 18th last.

The liquors were said to have been landed at Chester, Pa.

IS ARRESTED IN ITALY

(Associated Press Despatch)
NAPLES, Mar. 2.—The Italian police yesterday arrested Grant Lee Bevan, on the complaint of the British Consul, who stated that Bevan was the head of the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company of London, which recently failed with a deficit of $3,000,000.

Bevan fled from London some time ago, according to the British Consul, and tried to reach Constantinople. He had applied to the Turkish consul for a passport as a Turkish subject in order to avoid extradition, since Turkey does not grant extradition for financial misdemeanors.

Grandma is Their Doctor

"ON an old-fashioned bureau, in a house I know, lies a large-sized New Testament with the binding well worn, and with it a much-used old copy of Dr. Chase's Receipt Book. When the calves have the colic or the neighbor's baby the earache, 'Grandma' hands out well-assimilated advice from the Dr. Chase Book. When 'Grandma' herself feels 'run-down,' Dr. Chase's Nerve Food stands ready on the dining-room table among the salt and pepper shakers."

In these few simple words Mrs. Bert Smith, Way's Mills, Que., beautifully describes the way in which many a grandmother is a blessing to her family and to her neighbors as a guardian of health.

And what finer compliment can be paid to Dr. Chase's Receipt Book and Dr. Chase's Medicines than the approval of such mothers of experience as the one here described.

Just as in this home, Dr. Chase's Almanac hangs on the wall in the great majority of Canadian homes, and in the cupboard or medicine chest will be found one or more of Dr. Chase's Medicines ready for use in case of emergency.

If you did not receive a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac it will be sent free by Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

The High School scholars attending Miss Clark's room held their regular monthly social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. U. B. Powers on Tuesday evening of this week.

The anniversary services in connection with the Methodist Church will be held on Sunday, March 19th. Special services and special music are being arranged for this annual event.

"Canada from East to West" is the title of two sets of slides that will be shown in the Sunday School rooms of the Methodist Church on Monday evening, March 6th. These views are part of a series of illustrated lantern lectures supplied by the University of McGill, originally designed for teachers and scholars, but are now made more available to the general public. The object in issuing these lectures is to diffuse in an attractive manner a broader knowledge of the geography, physical aspects and great natural resources of Canada. The admission is free, but a silver collection will be taken to defray some expenses incurred in placing the views before the public. A special invitation is extended to the local scholars to attend.

Careless Shampooing Spoils the Hair

If you want to keep your hair looking its best, be careful what you wash it with. Don't use prepared shampoos or anything else that contains too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just plain Mulisified coconut oil shampoo. Mulisified is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulisified in a cup or glass with a little warm water, is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulisified coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure you get Mulisified. Beware of imitations. Look for the name Watkins on the package.

Wayland, of Montreal, who was to have received with Mrs. Codere, but who was prevented from attending by illness. The tea table in the large specious dining room was decorated with a lace centrepiece and a large basket of daffodils as well as festoons of smilax and cornerpieces of violets with candles shaded in soft yellow and violet, making a very attractive color scheme which was further carried out in the ices and small fancy cakes, which were each marked with the letter "M" in honor of Princess Mary's wedding day.

Mrs. Joseph Codere and Mrs. John Leonard poured tea and coffee while Mrs. J. A. Darce and Mrs. F. H. Bradley cut the ices. a jealous pain. She was often angry and impatient with this man whom she had married; many times she had called him dull, and compared him unfavorably with old Ferguson, half-regretting the choice she had made between the two men; and yet now—at sight of him holding this girl's hand—all her old romantic love for him seemed to rush back to her heart. Time is a great dissembler; we may imagine that we have got quite accustomed to the man or woman we have married; we may tell ourselves that the radiant girl is all off, leaving nothing but commonplace gingerbread, and yet, let another seemingly dare to step ever so slightly into our pace, and in a flash the years are gone, and we are back again in the days of romance, with our lover's first kiss on our lips.

It was a very real pang of suffering that convulsed Brenda as she stood there in the chill autumn evening; but there was yet worse to bear, for as she watched with all her lonely, jealous heart in her eyes, she saw her husband bend and kiss the delicate face of the girl lying in the firelight.

A whole lifetime of pain seemed to whirl past her as she stood there, clinging to the low palings; it was as if she had been plunged into a world where nothing was real, nothing of any moment. She was roused by the opening of the door and the sound of her husband's voice.

"We shall be here quite by half-past ten, Mrs. Fowler. You will remember all my instructions."

With a tremendous effort Brenda gathered her self-control; she shrank back into the shadows as the doctor came down the path, and she heard the click of the gate which let him into the road.

He did not glance in her direction; he went straight across to the inn, but he seemed to walk slowly, heavily, as if he carried a burden, on his shoulders.

Brenda crept after him, keeping in the shadows; she was shaking in every limb; she felt as if she could have killed him, and yet—some instinct forbade her to reveal herself.

It seemed an eternity until he came out again with young Briton. She could hear them laughing and talking as they fastened their coats about their throats and walked off in the direction of home.

She followed at a distance, with faltering steps. A great weakness had come upon her all at once; sobbing surged in her throat; she broke into a run now and then; the tears streamed down her face; she felt like a lost child who knows in which direction its mother has gone, and yet cannot overtake her.

"PAPER ROSES"

(BY RUBY M. AYRES)

CHAPTER XX.

They parted outside Four Winds. Myers refusing to go in and have a drink. He said he wanted to get back to his wife, which was the truth; his kind heart already regretted the little tiff of the early evening. Rorie went into the big house alone; he opened the door with his key. There seemed nobody about; he looked at himself surreptitiously in the glass above the hall mantle shelf.

There was a rough graze on his left cheek; it smarted a little as he wiped it with his handkerchief.

"A letter for you, Mr. Rorie. It came an hour or more ago. Wait for an answer," the boy said; but I told him you was out, and he said as he'd call again. Have your hurt yourself, Mr. Rorie, sir?"

Young Briton forced a laugh. "No; grazed my face, that's all. Ran into a tree in the dark." It did not sound a very plausible story, but Blunt lowered his eyes discreetly, as he handed his young master the note on a tray.

Rorie glanced at the writing; he had never seen it before. He broke open the envelope without much interest.

Blunt, watching, saw a sudden stiffening of his tall figure, a tightening of the casual grasp on the paper.

Rorie read each scribbled word carefully.

"Dear Sir:

"Now Miss Fane is free, possibly you will find it worth while to secure my permanent silence. I am in Bedmond for a couple of days, and will call to see you by appointment. If I receive no answer in forty-eight hours, shall go direct to the lady. L. B. Sherry."

Young Briton flushed crimson; he crushed the insolent letter in his hand and tossed it into the fire.

Blunt's smooth voice at his elbow broke the silence.

"What shall I say, sir, if the messenger calls again?"

Young Briton swung around.

"Tell him to go to the devil," he answered curtly.

CHAPTER XXI.

For the first time, when Dr. Myers and Young Briton had started on their way to Bedmond, it struck Brenda what an unusual amount of attention her husband was paying to Rosalie Dean.

The doctor was always thorough with his patients; rich and poor came in for equal care; but he had never before given the almost exaggerated attention which he was now giving to Rosalie.

Brenda had spoken disparagingly of his conscientiousness to old Ferguson, and had laughed at his devotion to his "protégée," as she called Rosalie; but until the moment when she heard the door bang behind the two men she never realized that she was jealous.

She had been on the landing above when the doctor called to her, and had purposely remained silent, knowing ing who was with him. She found it impossible to get over her dislike for young Briton; she was one of those women who imagine a personal slight without the slightest ground for so doing. She believed it was Roderick's fault that her husband had not been called in to attend up at Four Winds when old Briton lay dying; it gave her an absurd pleasure to imagine that she was snubbing him now by keeping out of the way.

But she did not like it when she heard the front door slam. She ran to the window and peered through the blind. It was getting dark, and she could only faintly see the figures of the two men as they turned out of the gate and disappeared down the road. She was conscious of a little tightening in her throat as she let the blind fall and turned away.

Eustace had already been to Bedmond once that day; it was absurd to take the trouble all over again. She considered Rosalie most ungratefully; it annoyed her that she should be left alone in the house while the two men walked the five miles through the damp, gray evening.

She wandered downstairs into the drawing room, but it looked lonely and uninviting; the gas was turned out in her husband's study; the whole house seemed deserted. With sudden impulse she went upstairs and put on her hat and coat.

There was no fixed intention in her mind at the moment, but it seemed only natural to turn her steps toward Bedmond.

She was a good walker; the five miles seemed nothing to her. She reached the village shortly after the two men had separated—the one to go to Mrs. Fowler's and Roderick across to the inn.

Brenda could not have explained why she did not go boldly up to the cottage door and knock; it would have been a natural proceeding. Many times before she had been there with her husband; but this evening she stood at the gate irresolutely, a sort of unhappy indecision in her heart.

As she stood outside the little garden, her hands resting on the low railing, she could see quite plainly into the small front room where Rosalie lay. It looked very cheery and inviting in comparison with the gray, damp evening outside. There was a ruby-colored shade to the lamp, a big bowl of flowers on the table beside the bed, and the warm glow of the fire flickered about Rosalie's still, straight figure and masses of hair.

Dr. Myers sat beside her; his wife could see the shaggy silhouette of his head, and the profile of his kind face. Something in his attitude reminded her of the night their baby died—he had been so good—so comforting to her. For a moment tears blinded her eyes, but she brushed them away angrily.

He was holding this girl's hand now, as he had held hers then; he was bending towards her attentively. The heart of the woman outside in the gray shadows contracted with

Dampen the cloth—then add

UNDER a tap you hold your cloth and wring it out until you have it "just damp".

Then pour on just a little O-Cedar and rub the wood surface you wish to polish.

A slight lather will form—this cleans the wood and reveals all its grain beauty. Complete the treatment by a brisk polishing with a dry cloth.

This, the only correct way to use O-Cedar, gives the truly wonderful O-Cedar result.

All fine furniture improves under this treatment—mahogany, walnut and all varnished surfaces. You do not have to apply O-Cedar Polish frequently—its finish is not only brilliant but lasting; and so hard and dry is this finish that it will not collect the dust.

FIXING VALUES.

What considerations should establish the value of property for taxable purposes?

This question is a fruitful source of debate at every meeting of ratepayers, where the matter of valuation and taxation is discussed.

One citizen will contend that the real value of any structure is what it would cost to replace it new, less depreciation.

Another will argue that the real test of the value of a property is not the construction cost but what it yields or would yield as a rental proposition.

Some judge in rendering decision in some valuation roll case has defined the value of a property as "what the owner would take for it if decided to sell it but did not have to sell it and what a person would be willing to pay for it if he were willing to buy it but was not obliged to buy it."

There might be a very wide range of values arrived at by these three considerations taken separately.

Construction costs, for instance, might be such as not to justify the replacement of a building erected when lower costs prevailed and in consideration of the building's earning power.

The rental value, on the other hand, as in the case of a residence or factory would be difficult to determine and the opinion of valuers would vary very considerably.

The judge's definition would, also, be difficult to apply in practice.

It would seem that all three considerations should enter into the fixing of values. An arbitrary plan of fixing a value based upon replacement cost, less depreciation, might be extremely unjust. Likewise, the rental test would not be infallible.

Taken together a fairly accurate figure might be arrived at.

This will be the advantage of the Newton plan, now before the Council. It provides for the assembling of all information with regard to a property.

In the past such information has not been available and values have been set under a guess-work system.

The Council would appear to be moving in the direction of an improved system as the result of the interest in the matter shown by the ratepayers.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.

On this page appears a letter from Inverness, signed "Ratepayer," suggesting a cut in teachers' salaries as a result of slightly lower cost of living.

It scarcely seems to the Record that this writer can be serious in his proposal. From the beginning of history in the Eastern Townships, and elsewhere as well, the teachers of our schools, and particularly of rural schools, including Model schools and Academies, have been paid less than a living wage. The conditions which have prevailed during the past few years have forced advances in teachers' salaries but in no cases, we believe, have these reached the point of fair compensation for services rendered where teachers are qualified and competent.

The financial features of our school system are faulty in as much as the money for the maintenance of our schools, with the exception of the comparatively small Government grants, is derived from direct taxation. The ratepayer feels the dollars being drawn from his pockets.

Surely, however, the sense of justice in the communities of the Eastern Townships will not permit any reaction such as is suggested by the correspondent.

THE NEWSPAPER.

Another daily paper has dropped out of the field, the Detroit News discontinuing its morning edition.

This leads the London, Ont., Advertiser to remark:

"A few days ago the Detroit News abandoned its morning paper. Detroit is a large city, backed by a good district, and yet this morning paper, well edited, and conducted, could not survive, and Detroit now has just one morning paper."

"Newspaper costs are not apparent on the surface, nor does the public have any real conception of the effort required to put a new paper across."

"Rumors have been put in circulation at various times of a new paper in Hamilton, Ottawa, Brockville and Brantford. The trouble has invariably been that those who enter the field never figure far enough ahead."

"Nearly every new paper that is thought of now is put in the field to serve some particular purpose or sharpen some set of axes."

"As a medium for propaganda it is not possible for a newspaper to succeed financially. Its only chance for success—if success it can be called—is that those who wish to have certain selfish interests served, keep on putting up enough money to make good the gap between receipts and expenses. The average reader does not like to be continually bombarded with propaganda. He likes to have a paper recognize the fact that he has a certain capacity for doing his own thinking, and drawing his own conclusions."

"Then, too, a new paper must figure on the fact that it must be prepared financially to stay in the field from two to four years before it can be demonstrated whether the venture will be a paying one or just another order for an additional tombstone in the newspaper graveyard, which is fairly well crowded already."

March 2, 1922.

Sam Houston Day, Texas.

The hero of San Jacinto is honored on the second day of March each year in Texas, the Lone Star State. It is the anniversary of his birth in 1798, and it also marks the date of the declaration of independence of Texas, the Lone Star Republic, in 1836.

Few states of the Union, if we except the original thirteen, have had as stirring a history as has Texas. Once a part of Mexico, she seceded from that country when American settlers gained political power north of the Rio Grande, and Sam Houston was elected as the first and only President.

The famous fight at San Jacinto, at which the few hundred raw Americans under Houston whipped a much larger force commanded by Santa Anna, was decisive.

Five years later Texas joined the United States, and by that act precipitated the Mexican war. The succession of these notable events left an indelible impress on the minds of Texans, and they have never ceased to honor Sam Houston Day as a special occasion. Thus today's a holiday in the largest state, and on plantation and on rancho, in city and in village, the flag with its single star is hoisted along with the American banner of freedom.

PARAGRAPHS

All good industrial projects go to Ford when they die.

We spend one-third of our lives in bed, and at least another third in bad.

On the matrimonial sea, the hand that rocks the cradle very seldom rocks the boat.

There is always a brighter side. Spring is seldom as slushy as the poetry it inspires.

"Cabinet rasps the nerves of Europe." Probably something in the nature of a filling cabinet.

The new day promises to be rather pleasant. Not a single ultimatum on the horizon.

Well, it may be that the sun never sets on the British flag; but Uncle Sam has a monopoly of moonshine.

Culture, however, is something more than can be obtained by spending ten minutes each day with a dull book.

In a small town, a social leader is one who doesn't serve dinner in the kitchen, even when there is no company.

After all, you can't blame France. The grocer's insistent demand that one pay up always seems a little sordid.

They have to introduce a bill in the house, but some of the bills that come to our house are old acquaintances.

Lot's wife looked back and became a pillar of salt; and even yet, queer old backward-lookers become pillars of society.

One way to limit the influence of wicked movies would be to provide a matron to keep the children while parents see the picture.

"All great sentences lose their meaning when we grow accustomed to them." This is also true of the common saying: "Please remit."

The reason there were fewer wrecks in the old horse-and-buggy days was because the driver didn't depend wholly on his own intelligence.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 2.—Representatives of the manufacturers and of both unions involved in the strike in the cotton mills in Rhode Island yesterday rejected the proposition of the state board of mediation and conciliation that the wage controversy be submitted to Judge J. J. Hahn, chairman of the Board, as sole arbiter.

TURCO-GREEK QUESTION

(Associated Press Despatch.)
PARIS, March 2.—Foreign Minister Schanzer, of Italy, informed Premier Poincaré that he would be ready to return to Paris on March 10 or 12, to meet the British Foreign Secretary, Marquis Curzon, and M. Poincaré, for a discussion of the Turco-Greek question and also the results of the Boulogne Conference. In the interim he will consult Premier Faict, on these questions.

CANADIAN COUNCIL OF AGRICULTURE

(Associated Press Despatch.)
REGINA, March 2.—The Canadian Council of Agriculture at its sessions here decided that in connection with the formation of an eastern section of the Council, a meeting will be held in Toronto within a few weeks. At this meeting representatives from Quebec, Ontario and the Maritime Provinces will attend with the object of arriving at a formal organization.

WANT MORE DRILL GROUND ON RHINE

BERLIN, March 2.—The request of General Degoutte, Commander of the Allied Troops on the Rhine, for a new drill ground in the Bavarian Palatinate and a small gauge railroad leading to it, has been protested by the German Government on the ground that it is a violation of the peace treaty and not in accord with the Rhineland Agreement, which did not obligate Germany to establish more drill places.

The government's answer to the request declares "this is only one of many violations of the Peace Treaty," and says that in case Germany is forced to comply with the request she will hold France liable for damages. The ground required covers 3,000 hectares and is mostly fine wood land. Compliance with the request would cost Germany a sum estimated at two hundred million marks.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

IS THIS WRITER SERIOUS?

Editor Daily Record:
Dear Sir—Will you please give me space in your paper for the following letter:

To the school commissioners and ratepayers of Inverness, Que.:
Understanding that you engage your teachers for the coming terms within the next few weeks allow me, as a ratepayer, to express my opinion to you. You all who are farmers know how prices are reduced for all produce, wood etc., which we have to sell, and how difficult it is going to be this coming year to meet our tax bills, etc., when we have very little money coming in. The cost of living is being reduced, wages are reduced, why not reduce the teachers' wages until times improve. There are hundreds of girls training for teachers, so there will be no scarcity. Some will say, look at the advertisement column for teachers; they are paying as much, if not more, in other municipalities. That may be the case, but inquire into the teachers' expenses in other municipalities, and you will find in most cases they are double the expenses which they are in this municipality.

RATEPAYER.

PRESS COMMENT

CHANGES IN ENGLAND.

(Christian Science Monitor.)
Alas, a silent tragedy is stalking through England. The country squire is passing away. The England that Anthony Trollope loved will shortly be no more. And this is because the landowner finds it impossible to retain his domains. One has but to gaze into the London Times and note the country estates that are announced for auction. Three reasons have been offered for the breakup of English country life. They are the difficulty of raising rents, the difficulty of reducing family expenditure, and the increased pressure of local and national taxation. Archibald Marshall, the English novelist, who has been in this country for some time, discussed the changes of life in England recently. He saw that the squire, ruddy and happy on his country estate with his fox-hunting and big dinners, would ere long be but a figure of fiction if the difficulties of living in England did not lighten. According to the advertisements that appear in English papers, these difficulties have not lightened. Romantic England suffers. But was the fox-hunting squire quite as useful in the economic life of the nation as he was to the writers of fiction?

TROUBLE IN SPAIN IS REPORTED

SYNDICISM ISSUES A REVOLUTIONARY MANIFESTO.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
BARCELONA, Mar. 2.—The syndicalism general confederation of labor has issued a violent manifesto against compulsory syndicates, the formation of which has been proposed by the government.

The manifesto, which is addressed to workers throughout Spain, says the Bourgeoisie are attempting to limit the rights of workers and the confederation declines to accept this idea.

"We declare ourselves essentially anarchists, and will not be ruled by any one," the manifesto adds.

"We are the enemies of all states, whether monarchical or republican. The confederation is able to take responsibility for its action."

The manifesto is signed "Committee."

TRAGEDY IN MOUNTAIN HOME

(Associated Press Despatch.)
KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Mar. 2.—Belated correspondence from Winfield, a remote mountain section, tells of the alleged killing there on February 10th, of Dewey Walker, 23, by a widow named Mrs. Hanna Strunk, her daughter, and the two small sons. The tragedy is said to have resulted from Walker teasing the children, who were playing marbles. The onslaught of the widow and her children followed.

The eleven year old son of Mrs. Strunk is said to have cut Walker in the heart, death resulting in a few minutes. The mother and daughter were placed under bond of $2,500 each and the boys under $500 each for appearance at the Circuit Court.

THE ARBUCKLE TRIAL

(Associated Press Despatch.)
SAN FRANCISCO, March 2.—Milton T. U'ren, Assistant District Attorney, formally objected in Superior Court to the appointment of a commission to take depositions from five Chicago witnesses for use by the defense in third manslaughter trial of Roscoe Arbuckle, in connection with the death of Miss Virginia Rappe.

Mr. U'ren said he objected to the defence petition on the specific ground that it did not definitely set forth what bearing the depositions would have on the case. The proposed witnesses were five doctors who were said to have been familiar with certain alleged physical defects of Miss Rappe.

WARNS GIRLS TO MARRY FOR LOVE NOT FOR MONEY

Woman Who Married Eight Men Without Obtaining a Divorce from Any Gives Advice.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
CLEVELAND, O., March 2. — Girls who anticipate a happy wedded life should marry for love and not for a home or money, Mrs. Jennie Seaman, who today will be taken to the Marysville Reformatory to serve an indeterminate term for bigamy, declared here tonight. She admitted she married eight men without obtaining a divorce from any.

"I would not advise any girl to marry unless she knows what she is doing," Mrs. Seaman said.

"I was married when I was eighteen, hoping to get a good home."

"My first husband was a teacher of languages in Nashville, Tenn. I got him through a matrimonial paper. I did not love him, and in looking back I realize now that I never loved any man. But I wanted a good home, so I left my home in Pennsylvania and went with him to Nashville."

"We lived together about a year and I found out he was a crook."

"Even on our honeymoon he got a number of books he never paid for. I learned later he had been sent to Sing Sing for nineteen years."

"My next husband was a bartender. We lived together for about twelve years. He got to drinking too much and was very abusive, so I left him in Meadville, Pa."

"My third was a waiter whom I met in a restaurant where I worked in Buffalo. Then I married a ten-pin setter in a bowling alley. My fifth was a coffee house proprietor in Buffalo. Then I married a chef, a laborer and a fake detective, a Cleveland man."

"He's in the reformatory now. Drinking and cigarettes were the cause of some of my troubles. I'm converted now, and I mean to be perfect hereafter."

"I advise every girl not to marry for a home or money. I see now that the happiness of married life must come through love."

Mrs. Seaman, who is forty-two, says she never heard directly from any of her husbands after she left them. They may all be "living for all I know," she said.

SHOP STEWARDS RECEIVE MORE RECOGNITION

Factor in British Industry Has Thrived in Spite of Opposition.

LONDON (Special).—Over a score or more years the engineering industry has evolved a procedure for the settlement of workshop and other industrial grievances that may be regarded as a model upon which other industries might build. The agreement described as the "Provisions for Avoiding Disputes" has been remodeled from time to time, and its machinery, once slow and cumbersome, speeded up so as to keep pace with the hurry-scurry of modern times.

For instance, up to within a few years ago these provisions contained nothing that allowed the shop steward to function, took no regard of his presence or gave him official recognition. He was frequently of service to his employers during the anxious days of the war; and far-sighted employees who realized that, like an uninvited guest, he had come to stay, immediately began to make the best of what the timid regarded as a bad bargain by saddling him with some amount of responsibility.

To the federated employers—or, at all events, to the officials of the federation—the shop stewards and shops committees, all that they stood for and all who supported them, acted unofficially without the authority of their national executives, and could not therefore be allowed to negotiate with their respective employers on matters of even purely local concern. The union officials, too, rather supported this point of view for what was to them the very excellent reason that the stewards' activities tended to undermine their prestige.

Both union officials and employers discovered, however, that a movement does not cease to exist and its efforts are not rendered abortive by flinging the Constitution in its face. Contrariwise, the shops stewards' movement thrived abundantly because of official opposition. Besides, it became obviously more influential in their own particular spheres than the union officials. So it came to pass that the provisions for avoiding disputes, which had already been subjected to revision and brought up to date, were again widened to embrace the shop steward.

A niche was thus found for the shop steward; he plays his part in the early negotiations, and how well he performs his duties and with what little friction is gathered from the fact that no single cause for complaint is believed to have been made, not a hint that employers had taken a false step in agreeing to recognize him. Thus it is that the engineering industry, which carries more than its fair percentage of Reds, has been particularly free from strikes or lockouts.

In the very first days of a grievance the matter is gone into by the principal of a firm, who has had his attention directed to it by the shop steward. In many ways this is by far the most important stage: the grievances remedied, and misunderstandings cleared up before a whole host of officials are called upon to stand upon their dignity and attempt to justify their mistake. Similarity with the workmen: the offender is brought to account by the shop steward, if he needs support, calls a meeting of his members to explain the position.

There are, however, some old standing differences which even shop stewards are unable to bridge; one of these is the much-discussed machine question, various phases of which have been subject matter of discussion recently at a central conference—the last court under the provisions for avoiding disputes. These, together with other matters, had in accordance with the provisions been discussed at local conference—that is, between local associations of employers and local union officials—but without settlement.

That is the second stage. The third is the central conference, where the national executive of the union meets the National Federated Employers; the important feature in this connection is that both sets of negotiators bring a calm, dispassioned and disinterested outlook upon the problems, such as it is not always possible locally where both conflicting interests are prone to allow their judgment to be warped by personal consideration.

BUILDING TRADES DISPUTE IN CLEVELAND, OHIO

(Associated Press Despatch.)
CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 2. — Construction of many buildings was at a standstill here today, and many were idle as a result of the failure of the Building Trades Council and the Building Trades Employees' Association to reach an agreement over a wage scale for 1922. The old contracts expired last midnight, according to the contractors, but the unions insist they are operative until May 1st.

The twenty-one unions affiliated with the Trades Council have a membership of about 25,000.

Building under construction amounts to approximately $25,000,000, William F. Hennessy, secretary of the Employees' Association, predicted that the tie-up would be complete, while Charles Smith, secretary of the Building Trades Council, estimated only about forty per cent. would be affected.

The wage scale announced by the employers Saturday was ordered in to effect this morning, pending a settlement.

SOUTH AFRICAN TOWN IN DARKNESS

LONDON, March 2. — (Canadian Press).—Johannesburg town was in total darkness last night except for a few places of amusement possessing their own lighting plants, as a result of the refusal of the power plant staff, who recently abandoned the strike and returned to work, declining to continue in the absence of sufficient protection from the strikers still out, says a Reuter cable from Johannesburg.

All industries depending on electrical power are at a standstill. The strikers were holding a meeting in the power plant yesterday when one hundred police with fixed bayonets appeared and ordered them to clear out. The police took possession of the plant.

FOUR EXECUTED FOR ONE MURDER

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 2. — Charles Petree, Tom Cristam, Otto Stevens and John McLure were electrocuted at the State Prison this morning, all in the space of twenty-five minutes, for the murder of George Lewis, of Knoxville, on May 30, 1921. The men went to their deaths with prayers on their lips, and all except Petree met death calmly. An hour before the execution Petree became ill.

SOVIET AGAIN SHOWS FAILURE

(Associated Press Despatch.)
MOSCOW, Mar. 2. — The Russian Soviet Government has abandoned its monopoly of the salt industry. Salt has heretofore been considered one of the most important key commodities of the country. The newspaper Pravda, in a leading editorial strikes a new note by advocating the abandonment of state trading. "Time has shown that the idea of getting state trade into the hands of the Government is a dead one," it says. "The time has come to give up the idea of concentrating the entire state trade in one hand. The government should try to control only two or three of the chief products."

Pure ~ Clean ~ New

In these three words is summed up one of the greatest services ever performed for the households of the Dominion. Simmons Mattresses BUILT FOR SLEEP—wholly of pure, clean, NEW cotton. No "renovated" materials. Each Mattress MADE clean. And KEPT clean. Sealed in CARTON ROLL—dust-proof, germ-proof. Delivered to the home sweet and clean.

On the face of it—here is a service that appeals instantly to the instincts of the housewife.

And perhaps she cannot comprehend all it means until she knows more about conditions in the Mattress industry.

True, the responsible merchant takes all possible precautions, and sells his mattresses in good faith.

But there are no Dominion-Wide Pure Bedding Laws.

Much still depends on the integrity of the manufacturer. We say this without prejudice to any mattress maker of integrity.

We do not for a moment imply that Simmons Limited is the only maker of sanitary mattresses.

But it is a fact that many mattresses are still made of "renovated" materials.

Even materials out of old mattresses discarded by hospitals, or by homes where there has been infectious disease. There is nothing to prevent it.

Even clean mattresses are still hauled in open trucks through the dust and dirt of the streets.

As originators of Simmons Beds, Springs and Mattresses built for sleep—as the largest single factor in the business—

Simmons Limited is concerned for the integrity of the industry and the consequent well-being of the people of this country.

Simmons Limited makes this unqualified statement to the merchant—

"Cut open any Simmons Mattress that comes into your store. If you do not find it up to specifications or better—ship back every item of Simmons merchandise and never send us another order."

Canada has no Pure Bedding Laws—but Simmons Limited has!

Simmons Mattresses are now at your service in five styles—distinguished by Labels of different color—at a popular range of prices—

Purple Label, $40.00
Blue Label, $25.00	Green Label, $16.50
Red Label, $21.00	White Label, $10.50

A Service due the Canadian Public

Today Simmons can give the public a complete sleeping unit. Beds, Springs and Mattresses, each built to fit the other—all built for sleep. In this way, you secure a real guarantee of sleep satisfaction.

NOTE
The responsibility of a manufacturer does not end with making a mattress clean and pure. It must be delivered to your home in a dirt-proof package, sealed by the manufacturer in the factory.

VOLTEIGURS HERE TOMORROW
Tomorrow night's game between Voltigeurs, of Quebec, and the Sherbrooke Independents promises to be a splendid contest. The visitors will line up Wallace Hebert, an old Sherbrooke favorite, as well as Brishois, reputed to have been signed on by the Canadiens.

The Voltigeurs played in Berlin last night and came away with a two to one victory, this representing the only occasion on which a Canadian team has beaten the Berlin star aggregation.

Jack MacDonald, the old Quebec and Hamilton player, will be in the box for the visitors. Mac is up in Montreal coaching Sons of Ireland for the game with St. Ann's tonight and promises to be on hand tomorrow.

The game will start at 8.15 p.m. and special car service are being arranged.

CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES
The championship series between Waterville and St. Patricks will open on Saturday when St. Patricks play the first game of a home and home series on the Waterville ice. The game will be played at 3 p.m. sharp and promises to be the most interesting game of the season. Both teams are confident of their ability to represent the League in the championship series with Montreal or Quebec and interest has reached a high pitch.

The Quebec Amateur Hockey Association is meeting this morning and it is expected that definite arrangements for the draw will be arranged.

The second game of the series between Waterville and St. Patricks will be played in Sherbrooke on Thursday night next.

ST. ANN'S WANT SUDDEN DEATH GAME
(Associated Press Despatch)
QUEBEC, March 2.—John Laroche, manager of the Sons of Ireland hockey team stated last night that his team would abide by the order of the registration committee of the Q. A. H. A. for home and home games with St. Ann's of Montreal. The latter have refused to play a second game in the Allen Cup elimination series.

SHERBROOKE BEATEN IN BOSTON
(Associated Press Despatch.)
BOSTON, March 2.—Sherbrooke hockey team was again defeated by 8 to 0 by the Westminster team here last night. Shorty Veno and Irving Small each scored three goals.

ST. REGIS VS. BERLIN
The fast Berlin team is scheduled to meet the strong St. Regis sextette next Monday night at Minto Rink at 8.15 p.m. The Berlin boys are yet to be defeated by a Canadian team.

It will be remembered that on their last appearance here against St. Regis the visitors put up one of the best exhibitions of hockey seen here for some time. The general impression was that if Dannie Towns had not received a severe cut necessitating his retirement from the game, the local boys would have held their lead.

The St. Regis will have practically the same men in uniform with the addition of a couple of new men.

BOWLING
COTTON MILLS GOOD SCORE
Playing against the strong Dillard team, the Cotton Mills made it two strings out of three. In no instance was the scoring exceptionally high. T. Corcoran was individual high with 132 and he tied with J. Sullivan, his team mate, for the high aggregate total, both getting 350.

The Knights of Columbus took two out of three from the New Bowling team. A. Roy, of the Knights, was individual high with 134 and he also secured the aggregate high total.

Although St. Roch outscored St. Francois, they were only able to take two out of three strings. The scoring was rather poor only one of the St. Francois team reaching the hundred mark. Gingue, of St. Roch, was individual high with 116, also taking the high aggregate total with 306.

The scores were as follows:

"It's His Turn Now"—

HARDING AND SHIP SUBSIDY PROPOSAL

British View Is Not Favorable to the Idea.

LONDON, March 2.—President Harding's proposal for a United States merchant marine ship subsidy was crowded out of several of the London newspapers by the accounts of Princess Mary's wedding to which every journal devotes many pages.

Only the biggest newspapers print more than a brief summary of the president's statement to Congress, and the Daily Chronicle, the only one to comment, says that America's possession of a huge fleet of merchant shipping was bound to evoke some such proposals and that nobody need be surprised.

Nevertheless, it adds, the position created for British ship owners—themselves very hard hit by the collapse of the world's trade—is a serious one. For the moment "we can only take note of these portents, but not without expressing profound regret that so strong a lead should be given in such quarters to what is from a world standpoint a most reactionary trade policy."

NEW BRAND OF INFLUENZA.

CORN REACHES THE RUSSIAN FAMINE AREA

First Trainload Arrives in Saratov Region.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
MOSCOW, Mar. 2.—The first of the corn purchased with the United States Congressional appropriation of $20,000,000 reached the actual starvation belt when a trainload arrived at Tsaritsyn, in the Saratov region, on February 25, according to advices to the American Relief Administration Headquarters here.

Twenty-five trains from Novorossysk on the Black Sea, are now moving to the various hunger points. Six ships have arrived at Novorossysk and two at Odessa since February 6, and the unloading is proceeding satisfactorily.

The movement from the Baltic ports of corn and of rations for the starving children is being considerably held up by the ice in the Kiel Canal, which prevents the movement of ships.

BRAZILIAN IS ACTIVE ON MONTREAL EXCHANGE
(Associated Press Despatch)
MONTREAL, March 2.—(Stock Exchange 10:30)—Brazilian was by far the most active issue on the local stock exchange during the first half hour this morning, a great number of shares changing hands at 34 1/2, a quarterpoint below yesterday's closing figure. Asbestos registered a half point gain to 52 on a small turnover, and National Breweries sold fractionally stronger at 59. Riordon was up a half at 6 1/2. Other leaders were quiet.

EQUIPMENTS, STEELS AND MOTORS SHOWED STRENGTH

(Associated Press Despatch.)
NEW YORK, Mar. 1.—(Wall Street Noon.) Fears of an early money flurry, due to March first payments, were groundless, call loans opening at 4 1/2 per cent. Equipments, Independent Steels and Motors and their subsidiaries continued to move forward with Shippings. Gains of 1 to 3 points were made by Kelsey Wheel, Crucible, Replique Vanadium, New York Air Brake, Pierce Arrow preferred, Stewart Warner, Stromberg, United States Rubber and Kelly Springfield. Mexican and California Petroleum and Standard Oil of New Jersey featured the stronger oils. Except for Texas and Pacific and Canadian Pacific, at gains of 1 point and 1 1/2 points, rails were apathetic.

WHEAT MARKET SHOWED A VERY MATERIAL SETBACK

(Associated Press Despatch)
CHICAGO, Mar. 1.—With snow on the ground over practically the entire domestic winter crop territory today and with lower quotations from Liverpool, the wheat market here showed a material setback in prices during the early trading. It was pointed out also that the United States visible supply of wheat was larger than a year ago and that there was more wheat on ocean passage as compared with this time last year.

An upturn in values at Buenos Aires however, tended to check declines here. The opening, which varied from 1/2 to 1 1/2 cents lower, with May at $1.46 1/2 to $1.47 and July $1.22 1/2 to $1.23 1/2, was followed by slight further losses and then something of a rally.

Corn and oats were easier with wheat. After opening half to 3/4 cent lower, with May at 67 1/2 to 67 3/4 cents, the corn market weakened a trifle further.

Oats started unchanged to 1/4 to 3/4 cent down, with May at 42 1/2 to 43 cents and then held near to the initial range.

Provisions reflected downturns in the value of hogs.

NEW YORK PRESS MARKET COMMENT
Furnished by McManamy & Walsh
Journal of Commerce—The encouraging reports which had advanced steel stocks within the past day or two to higher values had apparently been overdone and in yesterday's business there was a special effort to drive them down.

Herald—More important factors in this market have to do with gradually clearing political relations between several European countries, notably England and France, the outlook for construction work in the Genoa Conference easing money conditions and prospects for more active interchange of goods in the next few months.

Wall Street Journal—Rails were firm throughout the session, but the trading was mainly in the industrials and oils.

Wall Street Journal will say today:—
Railway wage meeting to resume in New York.
Lima Locomotive Works earns $21.51 for common.
New York Central will show 9 p.c. on stock for 1921.
Copper producers continue to force the home market.
Political interference with stock exchange unwarranted.
Norfolk Southern improves position despite deficit.
International Paper producing 1100 tons daily.
Union Pacific January earnings relatively good.

To the Shareholders

Regal Tire & Rubber Co. Limited

The Officers and Directors of the above named company have entered into an agreement with Red Arrow Tires, Limited, of Peterborough, Ontario, which provides for the absorption of the Regal Tire and Rubber Company, Limited, by a new company to be known as Red Arrow Tires of Quebec, Limited.

Under this agreement Red Arrow Tires, Limited, undertakes to make such arrangements as are necessary to take care of the claims of the creditors of the company and agrees that each shareholder of the Regal Company in exchange for his present paid up holdings, preferred and common, shall receive equal par value of common stock in the new company. Further, Red Arrow Tires, Limited, agrees to furnish to the new company the capital necessary for the operation of the company.

Under this agreement, if the proper support is given, the factory can practically be put into immediate operation and your Officers and Directors believe that this agreement is an excellent solution of your present financial difficulties. If some arrangement of this kind is not made promptly it is inevitable that the alternative is liquidation and total loss to all shareholders.

Your Directors have done everything in their power to arrange delays with your creditors, and have been untiring in their efforts to dispose of the plant in a manner that would protect the shareholders. Temporary delay has been granted by a number of creditors but the time is rapidly approaching when a settlement must be made. Of the numerous propositions received for disposal of the interests of your company the Officers and Directors of your company consider the one offered by Red Arrow Tires, Limited, as the best and recommend its acceptance.

Respectfully submitted,
RED ARROW TIRES, LTD.,
J. J. Turner, President.

The Shareholders of the Regal Tire & Rubber Company, Limited, are requested to call at the offices of the Regal Tire & Rubber Company, Limited, Sherbrooke, Quebec, in order that the proposal of Red Arrow Tires, Limited, may be explained to them. Immediate action is necessary.

MAN KILLED WHEN BRANCHES FELL ON HIM

While Chopping Down a Tree,
Some Dead Limbs Struck Him on the Head.

Mr. Rolland Able, of East Swanton, Vt., met with sudden death while he and his younger brother were chopping a tree, and when it fell some dead limbs broke off, striking him on the head and killing him instantly. Mr. Able leaves a wife and one child, his father and mother and one brother to mourn his loss. The sympathy of all is extended to the bereaved family. Mr. Able was a nephew of the late Mr. D. J. Pells and of Mrs. D. J. Pells, of Upper Bedford.

We learn that Dr. G. A. Leblanc, surgeon dentist, has decided to open an office in Montreal, on Park avenue, during the month of May next, and after that date will only maintain his office at Bedford on Fridays and Saturdays of each week.

Mr. L. Sager, of Morse's Line, Vt., is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Robert Thompson, and Miss Thompson. Mrs. Thompson is the oldest resident of Bedford, and will be eighty-eight in May, and although she is advanced in years, she is still bright and active, and is able to attend to some household duties every day.

Miss Crothers is now stopping at the home of Mr. Edward Morgan, Academy street.

Mr. McLennan, of the Bible Society, Montreal, spoke to a large congregation last Sunday morning in St. James' Church, and in the evening he occupied the pulpit in the Methodist Church, when both congregations united to hear Mr. McLennan speak.

Mrs. Wellington Bockus, who has sufficiently recovered from her recent illness, left for Montreal today, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Lizzie Bockus, who has been caring for her mother through her illness. Mrs. Bockus has closed her house here and intends to remain with her daughter for some time.

Miss Frances Alcombrack has returned home from Clarenceville, where she has spent some weeks the guest of her sister, Mrs. Clifford Dean.

The Altar Guild of St. James' Church met at the home of Mrs. David J. Reid on Friday evening, to consider the best means of raising funds to replenish a few articles yet needed for the altar. A supper and entertainment was decided on, the date of which will be given later. This completed the business for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Williamson entertained at bridge on Monday evening last. Cards were played at three tables. At the close of the game the hostess served delicious refreshments when a very enjoyable evening was brought to a close.

The St. James' Church Guild held their annual meeting at the home of Mrs. Hiram Best, when the officers of the previous year were reinstated with the exception of Mrs. Wilbur Borden, who resigned as secretary. President, Mrs. W. W. Whitley; vice-presidents, Mrs. Heman Hulbert and Mrs. F. C. Saunders; secretary, Mrs. (Dr.) E. F. Draper to replace Mrs. W. Borden; treasurer, Mr. F. C. Saunders.

CANADIAN BOOKS SELL BETTER

(Associated Press Despatch.)
TORONTO, Mar. 2.—The increase in the sale of works in Canada written by Canadian authors has increased from 28 in 1917 to about 400 last year, according to Hugh Eayers, president of the McMillan Company of Canada, who addressed the Kiwanis Club here yesterday, on the subject of Canadian authors. The growth has resulted partly through the efforts of the publishers, Mr. Eayers said, and partly through the awakening of a Canadian national consciousness.

SECURES DIVORCE IN DETROIT

(Associated Press Despatch.)
DETROIT, Mich., March 2.—Mrs. Winifred Dodge Gray, eldest daughter of the late John F. Dodge, auto manufacturer, was granted a divorce from William J. Gray, Jr., local clubman, in the Circuit Court here yesterday. Mrs. Gray charged cruelty. She was given the custody of their daughters, Winifred, four years old, and Susanne, eighteen months.

Gray did not contest the action. Attorneys said a property settlement had been arranged.

STRANGE CASE OF SUICIDE

(Associated Press Despatch.)
BUFFALO, N.Y., March 2.—The death of John McNichol, who was found dead hanged on a tree without a rope, on the Canadian shore, last Monday, is said to have been a suicide, by Inspector Ward, of the Ontario Police.

Relatives had suspected murder because of the unusual death and because of bruises on the head. The doctor who will testify before the adjourned coroner's inquest has found that the wounds were virtually superficial. McNichol apparently forced his neck into an angle on a stout branch and allowed his weight to strangle him.

COAL PRODUCED IN CANADA IS CONSIDERABLE

Value of Output for Year Is Over Seventy-Four Million Dollars.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
OTTAWA, Mar. 2.—Canadian Press)—The output of coal from Canadian mines during the twelve months ending December 1921, amounted to 15,000,000 short tons, valued at $74,273,000 or $4.97 a ton. This quantity was 88 per cent of the amount mined during the preceding year, when the total output was 16.9 million tons.

In 1919 a total of 13.9 million tons of coal was raised so that although the output of 1921 was 12 per cent lower than in the preceding year, it was more than a million tons in excess of the 1919 production. The highest monthly output recorded was for November when more than 1.5 million tons were mined, the lowest was in April, the total for the month being half a million tons less or 941,000 tons.

Alberta held the premier position among the coal producing provinces with an output of 5.8 million tons. Nova Scotia followed closely with 5.7 million tons. The output of coal from the mines of British Columbia amounted to 2.8 million tons while Saskatchewan mined 332,000 tons and New Brunswick 180,000 tons.

An analysis of the dispersion of coal during the year shows that 52.2 was shipped, 22.1 went to railroads for locomotive consumption, 7.2 per cent was used about the colliery for power purposes, 4.2 per cent was sold for ships bunkers, 3.2 per cent was put on bank, 2.6 per cent was put on the waste dump, 1.5 per cent was supplied to employees for domestic consumption, .6 per cent used in the manufacture of coke at the collieries, .4 per cent was used in making briquettes.

Included in quantities referred to in the disposition was 541,820 tons lifted from bank during the year.

TO AID JEWS WHO SUFFERED FROM THE WAR

Large Amount Subscribed in America for Lithuania.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
KOVNA, Mar. 2.—The American joint distribution committee has allocated and placed at the disposal of the National Jewish Council of Lithuania 24,000,000 marks for the rehabilitation of Jews who suffered from the war, director Heimann informed the second Congress of Jewish committees which had just come to a close after a fortnight's session. Part of this money which has approximately the same value as the German mark, will be applied for the constructive relief of the thousands of refugees who are commencing to return to Russia, whither they have been expelled by the former Imperial government and are in a desperate position. Resolutions adopted by the Congress deal with the autonomy for nationalities, which is guaranteed under the new constitution, the reorganization of the National Jewish Council, and the question of Jewish immigrants.

(Associated Press Despatch.)
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Mar. 2.—Officers investigating the William Desmond Taylor murder planned today still further grilling of six men taken into custody here Tuesday on information supplied by their housekeeper, Mrs. John Rupp, known also as Mrs. May Lynch.

Mrs. Rupp has made a formal statement of ten thousand words to the police, who said they would check every detail. This they stated would involve close questioning of the six men, one at a time. They also had in view, they said, the possible arrest of a motion picture actor whose name was brought into the case by Mrs. Rupp, who made the general allegation that the men were bootleggers and drug peddlers, and that two of them had threatened Taylor.

DAVID AND GOLIATH IN MADISON SQUARE

(Associated Press Despatch.)
NEW YORK, March 2.—A pugilistic tableau that might be entitled "David and Goliath done in Sepia" is to be given in Madison Square Garden tonight by two heavyweight performers, Harry Wills and Kid Norfolk.

Wills stands six feet four inches and weighs 210 pounds. He has a reach of 76 inches.

Norfolk is seven and a half inches shorter than Wills, weighs 185 pounds and reaches 67 inches. He has pounded his way to pugilistic fame and the colored light heavyweight championship of the world by more than ninety knock outs.

The meeting of the two in a 15 round contest tonight may develop an opponent for Jack Dempsey, as Wills has been considered by many as one of the most likely of the heavyweights. But he has never met Norfolk.

New Shoes for Old

Of course any shoe will wear out eventually, but how often with children it seems necessary to discard Hurlbut shoes long before they are worn out simply because they have been outgrown.

The Hurlbut Co., Limited, has solved this difficulty for parents so that it is no longer necessary to cast aside good shoes in this way. Every Hurlbut Cushion Welt is so constructed that a full half-size can be added to the shoe by any man equipped to rebuild boots properly.

That is the Hurlbut Rebuilt service, and it offers substantially a new pair of shoes at the price of a repair job.

A special department of The Hurlbut Co. is prepared to advise parents fully concerning this service.
