Particularly active last summer were the Men's and Women's Bowling Clubs, both of which had increased membership with games taking place practically every night in the week and many competitions being played both at home and in other centres.

The Lawn Tennis grounds are kept in excellent condition and the Institute looks forward to additional members taking part in this activity during the coming season.

The Institute provides an open-air skating rink on the corner of Boulevard du Havre and Maden Street. A caretaker is provided to keep this ice in condition at all times and the use made of the rink by the children in the community helps considerably in giving the children of the district healthy and invigorating sport.

To the Directors of the Institute go the thanks of the Community for providing the many and varied activities.

Easter - 1945

"Alleluia" echoing from Gothic columns heralds Easter, the beginning of a new ecclesiastical year with Christ's resurrection and Nature's rebirth after the death of winter.

Easter is a movable feast celebrated on the first Sunday after the full moon following the vernal equinox. The Crucifixion occurred at the time of the Jewish Passover which, according to the lunar calendar, fell within the first full moon after the vernal equinox. Passover, when the Jewish people celebrate the deliverance of the children of Israel from the destroying angel who smote the Egyptians, passing over the houses of the Jews in bondage, always falls in Eastertide.

The coincidence of Easter with the beginning of Spring is marked in the word "Easter" itself, harking back to Eostre, the Teutonic spring goddess. Easter, however, is one of the few Christian feast days which does not fall on a former pagan holiday. Early Christian teachers frequently set the celebration of Christian feast days with pagan festivals to wean their flocks away from the old mythologies without denying them their traditional holidays.

Into this background of religious festivity, civilization has woven a web of custom with the result that Easter is associated with a frivolous hat, colored eggs, a chocolate bunny and numerous other survivals of ancient times. Finery on the boardwalk is our way of marking the beginning of a new year with brand new clothes as the men and women of medieval times doffed the sombre garments of Lent for joyous holiday garb. The Easter egg stems from Oriental symbolism which made the egg the figure of new life. Rabbits got in there because in Teutonic mythology they were supposed to be able to lay eggs on the spring goddess' feast day.

The coincidence of Easter 1945 and the traditional practical jokers' holiday, like many contrasts of the sublime and the ridiculous, is not a rare event. From 1800 to 2000 A.D., Easter and April Fools' Day fell on the same date eight times. But it won't happen again until 1956 and that will be the last time until the turn of the century that the family wit will have a chance to slip a porcelain egg onto the breakfast table.

Weekly War Commentary

Written Specially for
The Huntingdon Gleaner
By MICHAEL O'MARA

Canadian Press Staff Writer

With action on the Western Front rushing toward what appeared at the week-end would be climactic events, and with the greatest aerial offensive in history methodically hammering Germany day after day with hundreds of thousands of tons of high explosives and incendiaries, the significance of one news item may have been overlooked.

That was the completion of more than a month of regular nightly bombing of Berlin by the fast deadly Mosquitos of the R.A.F. unloading their 4,000-pound block-busters on industrial and communication facilities, the plywood aircraft flew from Britain through fog, and ice and thick cloud—and sometimes in weather conditions that three years ago would have made navigation impossible.

Much of the credit for keeping up the sustained Mosquito offensive must go to a little-known organization—the "weather spotters" of the Allied air forces—who have the responsibility of collecting within a few hours of the time for take-off, the information from which they can forecast weather conditions the crews will have to face.

The Mosquito, the fastest bomber in the world, has proved to be the ideal aircraft for this kind of work. It has to blaze the trail for the following processions of bombers, the crews noting every detail of such features as cloud formations, wind speeds and directions, and industrial haze. The work has to be carried out swiftly and accurately, with pilots and navigators working out their reports on their way back, ready to present a detailed account on landing.

Immediately a pilot lands, he reads out his report over the telephone to R.A.F. Bomber Command headquarters and to all groups of the command. With this latest information, meteorological officers can decide whether an attack on projected targets is possible.

Big Airfield Map

In one of the secret rooms at R.A.F. Bomber Command headquarters is a large map showing every airfield in Britain. In good weather each is marked by a little green light. Sometimes the lights go out here and there and on one occasion the entire map was in darkness and airfield serviceability was nil.

But there was one airfield where Mosquitos were still taking off and landing. "Met Flight" was continuing its work in defiance of the appalling weather—to plot the blows that are crippling Germany.

While Allied fleets of bombers hammered the Reich from the air, the ground troops they were supporting advanced at such speed east of the Rhine that it was difficult to keep track of their progress. Allied armies had entered two cities in the nothern Ruhr—Rees and Wesel. Rees is about 10 miles south of the Rhine city of Emmerich, regarded as the key to the north Germain plain. Wesel is on the northern edge of the Ruhr industrial basin.

British, Canadian and American forces, led by tough British commandos, stormed the lower reaches of the Rhine establishing bridgeheads at least 3,000 yards deep and taking hundreds of German prisoners in their advance.

The new river crossings were made Friday by the British 21st Army group and airborne troops of Lt.-Gen. Brereton's 1st airborne Army.

The 1st Canadian Army, elements of the British 2nd and American 9th armies, two Scottish divisions, a British tank unit and British and American naval personnel have been identified as taking part in this phase of the Rhine battle. Airborne glider and parachute troops have landed north of the Ruhr valley.

Associated Press correspondent Wes Gallagher with the American 9th Army, said the new Allied landings across the Rhine were aimed at Germany's most vital area. Allied forces were gaining ground in a sector which would offer the greatest opportunity for mobile warfare, Gallagher said. This plain provides a route to Hamburg, Bremen and Emden as well as Berlin, he said.

Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery told his troops the last round of the battle is going well and decisive defeat of Germany now is certain.

Meanwhile, both the American 3rd and 1st Armies were swiftly expanding their bridgeheads along the middle and upper courses of the Rhine, with American spearheads within 12 miles of the southern boundary of the Ruhr. American 3rd Army units were pouring across the Rhine to reinforce their comrades on the eastern bank.

Drive on Berlin

On the other side of Germany the Russians appeared to have launched a new offensive in co-ordination with the big drive in the west. The Germans reported the Red Army had thrown its full weight against the Kuestrin sector in what appeared to be a frontal assault on Berlin.

The Russians have smashed German defences along the Berlin-Oder River line and at the week-end had penetrated to within 31 miles of the Reich capital.

There was still no sign of any German withdrawal from the Italian front far to the south. British 8th and American 5th army patrols reported the enemy was constructing large-scale defence works at several points and German artillery fire increased all along the front. The enemy was apparently building a new trench network across northern Italy.

Across the world in the Pacific, American carrier planes are continuing their attacks on Okinawa naval base in the Ryukyu Island group between Japan and Formosa. Tokyo broadcasts said the second day's bombing by 230 U.S. navy planes lasted at least eight hours.

Admiral Chester Nimitz disclosed that the Japanese sank one American carrier, the baby flat-top U.S.S. Bismarck Sea, during the Iwo campaign. More than 300 men of her complement of 1,500 are listed as casualties of the sinking.

In the Philippines, General MacArthur's troops captured a town and airfield only 16 miles from the summer capital of Baguio where Japanese General Yamashita is believed to have his headquarters.

In Burma, Allied armored groups were driving closer to the approaches to Meiktila, mopping up large groups of stragglers from the disorganized Japanese defenders. On the Irrawaddy River 50 miles southwest of Mandalay, Myingyan had been entirely cleared of Japanese. Northeast of Mandalay a British division occupied Mong Long village and field dispatches said Allied units had killed 1,000 of the enemy Thursday and Friday alone. The mop-up in the central Burma area is yielding more and more prisoners, indicating a sharp increase in the general demoralization of the trapped Japanese.

WOULD GIVE YOUTH EMPIRE KNOWLEDGE

Cardiff, Wales—(CP)—Bursaries to provide holidays for British youths in Empire and foreign countries are recommended by the Welsh Youth Committee in a report just published.

Every young person has a right to a wide range of facilities for leisure, which should be provided as an integral part of the national education service, it said.

The youth service of the future should include clubs, recreational and practical centres, organizations interested in eisteddfodau and other competitive functions and opportunities for acquiring communal experiences and training as a preparation for full citizenship, such as residential colleges, and courses in aeronautics and seamanship.

Large Attendance at Service For Sub.-Lieut. W. J. Munro

Lost in Sinking of Clayoquot Memorial Service Is Held at United Church

Huntingdon community paid respect to the memory of one of its sons in the person of the late Sub.-Lieut. William J. Munro, at a memorial service held at the United Church, on Sunday afternoon. The church was filled to overflowing and many were unable to obtain seats, thus showing the esteem in which the deceased was held in this community. Sub-Lieut. Munro was one of the young men of Huntingdon, who left to serve in the Royal Canadian Navy and to do his duty for his country. He lost his life when the ship H.M.C.S. Clayoquot was torpedoed in the Atlantic by an enemy submarine. He had just gone off watch and was sleeping in his quarters in the part of the ship where the torpedo struck.

Rev. T. Knowles, pastor of the church was in charge of the service and was assisted by Rev. J. R. Maclean, D.D., Rev. W. S. Hatcher of Huntingdon, and Rev. L. Taylor of Ormstown.

Members of the Chateauguay-Huntingdon Branch of the Canadian Legion and of the Ladies' Auxiliary marched in a body to the church and were led by the Huntingdon Troop of Boy Scouts and followed by the Huntingdon High School Cadets. Seats were reserved for these at the front of the church and certain seats were also reserved for the mourners. The mourners were escorted to their seats just after the Legion members had paraded.

The service opened with a hymn announced by Rev. J. B. Maclean and followed by a prayer. Rev. W. S. Hatcher gave the reading of the lesson and Rev. T. Knowles gave the main address.

He took his text from Sam. 20:18—"Thou shalt be missed because thy seat will be empty." The question was, Why would he be missed? Because of his charming character, affable, kind, bright, sunny disposition, was a happy co-worker—his seat will be empty. Are all the people living a good life and taking their proper places in church and community life and if they are absent will they be missed and their seat remain empty? Some people are just in the world and no more; when they drop out, few, if any, care; it makes no difference. But to the one we honour today, the words of the text truly apply, Thou shalt be missed because of the places you filled in our community. He was ever ready to help when and where needed and won the hearts of old people when others would not be bothered. Thou shalt be missed. The tragedy of it is that so many useless, indifferent, selfish mortals who do not appreciate what is done for them, are left to pester the earth.

As we think of the brave men in all ranks who have laid down their lives, we must be prepared to accept fully our share. We must not say after the war stops—why worry now like we did last time—then plunge into a debacle of individual and national seeking, or we shall be contemptuous wretches indeed. We need the same determination as Madame Curie, if we are to be worthy of such men as William Munro, Douglas Hayter, Robert Cluff, Cecil Rolfe and others who have given their lives in this war. We must live so that our sons of the future shall never have to go to war. We must learn to think of one another so that men will not think of war. We must think seriously and do something to prevent the next generation from going through such another inferno. There is no room in the Kingdom of God for war.

As the men who were rescued from the Clayoquot pushed off in their rubber rafts, numb to their hips through being in the icy waters of the Atlantic, the Captain kept them singing, not the latest hits—but "O Come All Ye Faithful." If such things and such a power can hold men together in their hour of danger and death, then the same power can hold us together and help us to live.

The speaker then gave an illustration of a boy who made good and gave his life. He was the heartbreak of his parents and then one day he prayed that he might do good and be good and his father prayed with him. He went overseas and was wounded, but he was very brave and he said with his dying breath, "Tell father I tried to make good."

God makes a place for those who make good, but there is another place for those who do not care.

To you, the mother and relatives of William Munro—This land owes more to you than it is willing to pay, for the sacrifice of so fine a son. It has been a joy and a privilege to know him and from our hearts we thank you.

The following is a tribute from a friend in Hamilton, to Sub-Lieut. Wm. J. Munro:

Proudly our soldier marched,
bravely he died,
All that he had, he gave
To stem the tide
Of human wickedness and greed.
What did he give?
His hopes, his plans, his talents—
Then—his life.
No more had he to give,
Freely he offered all
That we might live.

H. S. D. Hamilton.

Rev. T. Knowles concluded his address by saying that if the deceased could give a message it would go something like this: Carry on, don't slack, keep the good work going just the same as before. Life gave me many friends and everywhere people need friends.

Rev. L. Taylor announced the last hymn and following this a wreath was placed upon the platform and Bugler Gervais sounded the Last Post.

The service was a most impressive one and everyone present felt the solemness of the occasion and the fact that there was an empty chair and that there was one missing.

Sub-Lieut. Trenholm and Lieut. Frosst of the Royal Canadian Navy were present at the service as representing that branch of the service to which the late William Munro belonged.

Raymond Stark Victim of Hit and Run Car Driver

Police Trace Driver of Hit and Run Car as Newton Arthur

An accident occurred late on Wednesday night, on Chateauguay Street, near the Bridge Sweets Cafe, which might have been much more serious than it is.

Mr. Raymond Stark, son of the late John Stark and Mrs. Stark, New Erin, had just come out of the cafe and was about to cross the street to his car, when he was struck by another car that was being driven along at a fast rate. He was stepping from in front of a parked car, when a car driven by Newton Arthur suddenly swerved into, and clipped the fender of the parked car and ran over Stark's left leg. Stark tried to step back but was not quick enough, with the result he suffered a compound fracture of the left leg above the ankle. The driver of the car did not stop to see what had happened and Stark lay on the road for some time before assistance was obtained. The accident happened at about 11.30 p.m.

Dr. Clouston was called and the injured man taken to the Huntingdon County Hospital, where it was found that the bone was sticking right out of the flesh. He was placed on the operating table and a fairly large piece of bone was removed from the leg. He is being given the new drug Penicillin and stands a very good chance of recovery. From enquiries he was doing very well at the time this article was written.

Meantime Constables J. C. Robins and W. Greig investigated the case and made a search for the driver of the car which struck the man down and never stopped. After various enquiries it was discovered that it was Newton Arthur, son of Wilbur Arthur, of Huntingdon. The young man is about 19 years old and has been cautioned by the police about his driving on previous occasions. When questioned about the accident, he admitted that he knew he had hit a man, but did not think he had hurt him. His car, which belongs to his father, shows signs of having hit another car and he admitted that he thought he had clipped the parked car.

It is understood that the police are making a strong report in this case and they desire that it should be a warning to many young farmer's sons who have been warned of their driving tactics. This young man being a minor in the eyes of the law, the costs of the case will be assessed against the father, and so it is in the case of all minors. Sometimes these accidents can be disastrous to parents and be the cause of them losing all they have. The police believe that parents allowing their sons to drive cars, should do everything in their power to impress upon them to drive with caution, or not allow them to drive at all.

Not all the blame lies with these young men, as some of the older drivers speed their cars through town at an unnecessarily high rate and a close watch is being kept for these infractions of the law. It is quite probable in this particular case that the lad's license will be suspended for at least one year and that he will be subjected to a heavy fine for not stopping at the scene of the accident. There will also be the matter of the injuries suffered by the victim of the accident, to be taken care of. Accidents of this kind can be avoided and there is no need to add to them by driving on and not rendering any possible assistance.

It is indeed fortunate that the injuries are no worse than they are, as at the speed credited the car was going, the victim could have been killed.

Huntingdon, Wed., March 28th, 1945

Penicillin to be Made in Valleyfield

THE announcement has been made from the City of Valleyfield that the firm of Merck & Co. Ltd., manufacturers of penicillin and other pharmaceutical products, has decided to construct a plant in that city. The Beauharnois District has attracted a number of industries to locate here during the war and prospects are for more to do so after the war.

The location of the above mentioned industry in Valleyfield will mean an increase in the number of people to be employed in peace time work after the war. Penicillin has become famous since the war started and has proved a valuable aid in curing many ills since its discovery. Such an industry, therefore, is liable to prove a very important one in this district and the people of Valleyfield are indeed fortunate that their city has been chosen for its establishment.

To celebrate this event, His Worship Mayor Robert Cauchon, and members of the Industrial Committee will tender an industrial banquet to which the Hon. MacKinnon, Minister of Trade and Commerce, Ottawa, and Hon. Paul Beaulieu, Minister of Commerce for Quebec, together with the commercial attaches of the principal Allied Nations, industrial representatives of the railroads and other important guests will be present, on Thursday, April 5th.

Great praise is due the Industrial Committee of Valleyfield for the efforts it has put forth in engineering this company's decision to locate in that city, as well as for lining up other possible manufacturing firms for location. The names of these other possible new industries will be given out at the banquet. Such new industries will help in no small way to solve the city's post-war problems and contribute toward the welfare of the entire population.

A Community Pays Tribute

MANY times during this war has the community been called upon to pay tribute to the memory of one of its sons who has become a war casualty. The parents and relatives of these sons have suffered a great loss and the people of the community together with the relatives also feel that loss. In the case of the relatives the loss is of a closer tie and the suffering is much greater.

From a community standpoint the loss is one of friendship, value and standing in the community, of the one who is lost. If the one who is lost has held a prominent position in the community life and has been a valuable citizen, the loss is that much greater. The memorial service held at the United Church on Sunday afternoon, for the late Sub-Lieut. William James Munro, was in memory of one such very good citizen.

While the late "Bill" Munro was very young, he had endeared himself to everyone in the community through his cheerful disposition and his ever readiness to be useful to his fellow citizens. He was a thorough gentleman in every respect and held great respect for his elders, friend and stranger alike. While in training in the navy and after, when he was in actual active service, "Bill" made many friends among the ratings and officers with whom he came in contact.

His loss therefore is very great to this community and it is no wonder that so many people gathered at the church to pay respect to his memory. It is one of those tragedies of war that everyone must be prepared to face, but it does seem strange that those persons whose lives are so useful are taken, while others who sometimes become a scourge to the country and the community are able to come through.

Sub-Lieut. Munro was a patrol leader in the Huntingdon Boy Scout Troop before he joined the navy and his influence had a great effect upon the boys in his patrol. With such people as leaders, it would be easy for the world to go along and live in peace and harmony. When he joined the navy he was again chosen to a place of leadership, which proved he had the qualifications for such leadership. The officers of a ship at sea require much courage and determination, especially when the ship is under attack. The attack that laid the "Clayoquot" low was sudden and came without warning, "Bill" and his three other companions had no chance, they were right in the path of the torpedo. But he had the courage that made him answer the call to duty and he had the courage that made him accept one of the most hazardous jobs, an officer on a ship of the Royal Canadian Navy. If the officer shows signs of fear it is hardly likely his men will be able to carry out his orders. He must be a leader at all times. "Bill" was a leader, and as such, he will be missed in this community.

Council Doing the Right Thing

THE decision of the Huntingdon Town Council to take the responsibility of supervising the proper collection and removal of garbage from householders in town, is something to be commended. It may have arrived a little late to save the heavy criticism that preceded the decision, but it is sure that something will be done about it now.

In the meantime it has been noticed that cans and ashes have been placed out for collection and are lying along the edge of lots in an unsightly fashion. As it will be almost another week before anything can be done as to who will do the collection, the town should see that the garbage now gathered, is collected. Apparently, as soon as the previous collector knew that the Town Council was making a move toward a suitable collection, he stopped his own method, thus there have been two weeks in which no collection has been made.

It is hoped that satisfactory tenders will be received at the meeting of the Council on Tuesday, April 3rd, in order that the regular collection can go into force at once. We do not believe that any householder objects to paying a small fee for this service providing value is given and the work carried out in a satisfactory manner. We also believe that the Town Council has the solid backing of the people in their decision to take over the responsibility of seeing that the job is properly done.

The decision to keep the streets in town clean and tidy was also a good one, as there have been many complaints on the untidiness of the main street especially. This untidiness is specially noticeable on Sunday mornings and it has been remarked that something should be done to have the streets cleaned up before church time on Sunday mornings. In this matter, citizens could help greatly by refraining from throwing papers and other litter all over the streets on a Saturday night. A clean, tidy town gives visitors a much better impression than one that is not properly kept. Huntingdon is a pretty town and well kept premises and buildings provide a better appearance and show a pride in the town by its citizens. Many visitors come to Huntingdon during the course of a year and it is better that they should leave with the impression that Huntingdon is a well kept town, than to have them going away thinking otherwise.

The Board of Trade intended to place several waste receptables at convenient points and it was thought that these could be made of wood. However, it was pointed out that people are so careless that in all probability lighted matches and cigarettes would be thrown into these receptacles and a fire would be caused. It was found impossible to secure the steel type of container. Thus this matter has had to be left until it is possible to obtain the steel type bins.

To further enhance the beauty of the town it might be a good idea to keep the grass cut along the riverbank where there is no one looking after it. Meanwhile we congratulate the Council on the decisions it has made.

Canada's Place in International Peace

THINGS are beginning to take shape as to what may take place at the international conference to be held at San Francisco, in April. Discussion on this subject has already taken place in the Canadian Federal Parliament and there seems to be determination that Canada shall be properly represented. This is as it should be because Canada has played an important part in this war and has and will be responsible in no small way in helping in the rehabilitation of the European countries. Such rehabilitation may mean that the people in this country will have to continue on rations and perhaps be subjected to further rationing, in order that the people of the countries mentioned can be supplied with their needs.

It is quite possible that such things as this will form part of the discussions that will take place at the San Francisco conference as part of the plan to bring about security and peace in the world after this war. If for no other reason, it is important that Canada should have strong representation on any world security council which comes about as a result of this conference. But there are other reasons, so it is imperative that Canada be adequately represented.

In the discussions in the Federal House, there has already been opposition to Canada having a place on a security council, and this has come from Quebec members, who fear conscription will be involved. This fear comes from the probable need for armed forces to maintain law and order in the various countries before they attain normal ways of living standards. But the security of the world depends on much more than that and if Canada is to protect her trade and see that a fair share of world business is gained, she must be represented on a world security council. It will rest with the delegates chosen to see that Canada secures her proper place on such a council. We believe that those delegates should be representatives of the people of Canada and the views of the people so that they will be able to know what the people of this country expect from a world security council. This is not a political issue and no one party should seek the limelight any more than the other. The conference will no doubt have a far greater significance than party politics, therefore the delegates who go to it, should go as representing the nation and the people and not for the party they may happen to belong to. But we do believe that all main parties should be represented among the delegates.

In any peace conference or world security parley, we believe the people of every nation should be consulted as to the terms that such will be based upon. The security of the peace of the world rests with the people of the world today, not with a few leaders of each nation. More and more the peoples of the world are becoming united and air travel is going to make it even more so. Thus there will be a greater understanding of what the people desire in order to maintain peaceful relations. We therefore strongly urge that Canada makes sure that its views are made clear and that the people of the nation are in agreement with such views. This time it is a much more serious matter than in 1918 and 1919. This war has been TOTAL WAR and we must see that we get a TOTAL PEACE. The security organization that is set up must carry the rights of the people and be known in every detail to the people—for it is they who will have to suffer and not only the leaders of the nations.

WEEK AT OTTAWA

By DOUGLAS GREEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA—(CP)—The defeat of Premier George Drew's Progressive Conservative government in the Ontario legislature has given rise to speculation here regarding the effect which a provincial general election, possibly in May, may have upon the date of the federal election.

The life of parliament expires April 17, and it is expected the federal election will be held within a short time of the Ontario vote. There is no question that the result in Ontario will be of great interest to federal political circles and particularly as it affects the fortunes of the C.C.F. party, whose members formed the official opposition in the provincial house until the defeat of the Drew administration.

Saskatchewan now has a C.C.F. government and in British Columbia C.C.F. members form the official opposition. E. B. Jolliffe, the party's leader in Ontario, has said he would form a government if called upon and there was no need of an election.

Amid heightened political activity parliament continued debate on world security, with John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member for Lake Centre saying the delegation chosen to represent Canada at San Francisco conference should include not only Prime Minister Mackenzie King but also Mr. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. and John Bracken, national Progressive Conservative leader.

Mr. King has said only members of parliament would be chosen, and Mr. Bracken has not seat in the house. Mr. Diefenbaker also put forward the suggestion that the delegation to San Francisco include cabinet ministers and members of parliament who are veterans of the last war.

Meat Situation

The action of the United States in heavily reducing lend-lease supplies of meat to Britain, coupled with the fact that hog marketings have declined sharply in Canada has resulted in some agitation for the reimposition of meat rationing, lifted early in 1944 and then described as "temporary".

Canada now is exporting to Britain whatever meat supplies are surplus to domestic requirements, and Agriculture Minister Gardiner said recently it was unnecessary for United Kingdom authorities to ask Canada to increase shipments of meat products since they already have indicated they would accept whatever quantities were available above the amounts contracted for.

In discussing post-war markets for Canada's agricultural products, Dr. G. S. H. Barton, deputy minister of agriculture, said in a broadcast address that because of the "unparalleled output" of wartime agricultural production to meet the needs of an export market, Canadian farm income now was higher than it has ever been.

He warned that Canadian agriculture must export in order to prosper—and to ship foods of the kind required by the export market. The buyer decided what should be produced, and the needs of the buyer were "uppermost in the minds" of delegates attending the Dominion provincial conference on agriculture here in December.

Unless Canada's farmers continued to plan production for export, said Dr. Barton, the farm standard of income could not help but decline, and depending upon the choice it made Canadian agriculture would either gradually relinquish its export position or "choose the highway stretching out to the markets of the world".

LITTLE LAMBS BETTER CHOPS

WASHINGTON — (CP) — More succulent lamb chops and legs of lamb are an after-the-war prospect.

Cross-breeding experiments by the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, U.S. Department of Agriculture, have developed a strain of sheep which produce a high quality lamb meat in the small and medium-sized cuts so much in demand by many city consumers. The experiments are being conducted at the bureau's Morgan Horse Farm, near Middleburg, Vt.

The new sheep, called Southdale, have resulted from crossbreeding Southdowns and Corriedales.

Bureau officials point out that the work is in the experimental stage and the Southdale sheep are not as yet for sale.

Human Nature

WHY doesn't life insurance sell itself?

ANSWER: Because it just happens to be human nature to put off until tomorrow the things we should do today. Practically everyone recognizes the need for life insurance, but few people actually do anything about it without some incentive to action. The agent not only brings home their need to them—he tells them how they can budget to get the protection they want—why certain policies are best for certain conditions—how to build an estate.

What would you consider the main asset of the life insurance business?

ANSWER: Human assets are always among the most valuable. In the life insurance business the agents who help people to protect themselves are of tremendous importance to the companies. But they are even more vital to the people who benefit by their counsel.

Opinions of Others ...

DAME GOSSIP

A sermonette may hardly take the place of an editorial but Rev. Dr. Brice D. Knott, in the Moncton Transcript, expresses a thought in a little Sunday message which might readily be incorporated into an editorial. Sussex has recently, as well as on many previous occasions, and as well as other places, had an example of how a rumour can develop into a widely exaggerated story bringing with it much concern, distrust and anger. Therefore in the words of Dr. Knott; "Let us trim the sails of our conversation very carefully" and see that no story is repeated that cannot be verified.

A notable body is Dame Gossip. She pays us frequent visits, never in pursuance of her own concerns, but always and forever bent on broadcasting personals about others. "Have you heard?" she begins confidentially, laying aside her gloves; "Did you know?" she whispers, drawing her chair closer as we sit on the chesterfield; "And they do say"—she takes a parting shot as she rises to depart.

At last you are alone again, but with confidence in the integrity of your fellow humans well nigh shattered. Who ever would have believed that Brother and Sister A. would do thus and so!

Never mind. Ten chances to one they didn't. Madame Gossip prefers to believe the worst of every one and what is more she enjoys telling the sordid tale with abundant variations and embellishments of her own fertile invention. Remember this and don't let her idle and ofttimes cruel words dim your outlook or shadow your uplook.

"God's in His heaven—

This is one of the most despicable of the seven deadly sins—the one which causes more heartaches and sorrow and trouble than all the rest put together. When tempted to repeat something you have heard about a friend or anyone see that it passes these three sentries: First, "Is it true?"; Second, "It is necessary?"; Third, "Is it kind?" If not, it better, far better, be left unsaid.

A wise man once observed that we should have an eleventh Commandment, reading "Mind your own business." And really this isn't a bad suggestion, is it? Let's trim the sails of our conversation carefully, very carefully in the days to come.

HOME TOWN PAPER IMPORTANT TO FIGHTING MAN

A returned man who had spent about five years overseas was talking to the editor of a weekly newspaper, states the Arnprior Chronicle, and in the course of conversation he said:

"They have drives for funds for this thing and that, they send boxes to the boys overseas which are greatly appreciated, but why don't they put on a drive to send the home town paper to every man over there?

"I used to go over to another unit to borrow my home town paper from one of the boys who had it sent from home, and I was lucky if I got it. There were always a dozen others after the home town news.

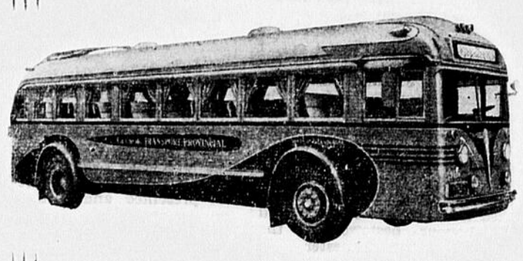

"The boys overseas are all hungry for news from home and there is nothing like the old home town paper to supply it. Letters are always welcome, but as a rule they only give the personal news of the family circle. The weekly newspaper gives all the happenings around town in which the boys are interested, who is curling, who is playing hockey, who has enlisted, been promotd, been killed in action, is missing or returned home from overseas. Who won the municipal elections, who is visiting in town or out of town, births, marriages and deaths.

"Letters from home are eagerly looked forward to and read first, but there is not a man in the armed forces overseas who would not walk a mile to get a copy of the home town newspaper."

HANGAR HOMES?

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. —(CP) —An attempt by the Renters' Association to find a solutuion for the housing problem here was met with mixed feelings. It was suggested the airport buildings be used temporarily. Federal officials have been consulted.

THE SPRING THAW PERIOD will affect running times TEMPORARILY

To co-operate with the highway authorities of the Province of Quebec, during the spring thaw period, Provincial Transport coaches will not operate at a speed exceeding 30 miles per hour.

This means that scheduled departure times will be observed at all starting points, but the coaches may lose time en route and arrive at the end of their runs slightly behind their usual schedules.

Also, on certain highways, where the effects of the spring thaw are very pronounced, smaller coaches than usual will be operated until the roadbeds return to normal.

We regret any inconvenience to our passengers, but these conditions are only temporary. As soon as the spring thaw is over, coaches will operate again on schedule.

REGISTER NOW for FAMILY ALLOWANCES

Family Allowances will be paid every month for every eligible child under 16 years of age. First cheques will be mailed in July, 1945. Family Allowances are being paid to help parents in the care of their children, to help pay for medical, dental and nursing services—for better food, clothing and shelter, and to assist in equalizing opportunities for all children.

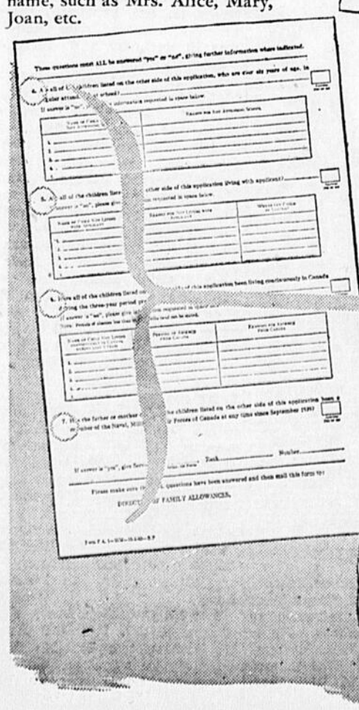

Registration forms have been mailed to every family. Fill in your form as soon as received. It is very simple—only seven questions—and information is given below to help you complete the form accurately. Do it right away in the interests of your children, as cheques can only be mailed to those eligible families which have completed and returned the Registration Form.

If you do not receive a form through the mail, please ask for one at the nearest Post Office.

QUESTION 1. PRINT IN BLOCK LETTERS (LIKE THIS) the names of your children under 16. Write out the month of birth, then give day and year. Write name of place where each child was born. Complete each line by stating your relationship to child and if father and mother are applying, fill in both "relationship" columns.

QUESTION 2. Here the father and mother must both sign if both are at home. Then give the address to which cheques should be mailed. PRINT THIS IN BLOCK TYPE (LIKE THIS) under both signatures. The mother should not sign her husband's first name. She should sign her own first name, such as Mrs. Alice, Mary, Joan, etc.

QUESTION 3.
If only one person has signed under question 2, state the reason why the other signature cannot be given. Give details—don't say Father or Mother is "away"—state where and for how long.

QUESTIONS 4, 5, 6 and 7
on the other side of the form must also be answered either "Yes" or "No" If the answer is "No" to questions 4, 5 or 6, state details giving name of child, or children concerned. In the case of No. 5, if you have any children under 16 not living with you, list their names, give the reason and the complete address as to where they can be visited. If the answer to No. 7 is "Yes", give the details required.

INCOME TAX: So that nobody will benefit from both Family Allowances and a full income tax deduction for their children, the income tax deductions for children will be reduced by the amount received from Family Allowances. Parents, therefore, have the choice of claiming—or not claiming—Family Allowances. Those uncertain as to whether or not they will benefit are advised to apply for the Family Allowance.

Choose Beef or Chicken for This Year's Easter Menu

Fussy meals are definitely out for the duration. That doesn't mean, however, that one shouldn't have special menus for such occasions as Easter. In former years the Easter dinner included ham, but this Easter Canadians may have to eat less pork so that the pork contracts with Great Britain may be filled. This means that the juicy ham will possibly be replaced by a tender roast of beef or chicken. The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Consumer Section, suggest the following menu:

Cream of Parsley Soup
Roast Beef
Casserole of Onion and Tomatoes
Browned Potatoes
Jellied Cabbage and Red Apple Salad
Maple Spanish Cream
Rolls Coffee

In roasting beef cook uncovered. Do not add water. Whether meat is seasoned before or after roasting is optional. Use a moderate oven, 325 deg.-350 deg. F, for the entire cooking period, allowing 20 to 30 minutes per pound according to whether the family likes it rare, medium or very well done. Let the cooked roast stand in a warm place for a short time. This makes carving easier and more economical. Make plenty of gravy.

Casserole of Onion and Tomatoes

6 large onions, sliced
3 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper.
2 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
1½ cups tomato juice or canned tomatoes

Arrange half of the onions in a casserole, sprinkle with half of the flour, the salt and pepper. Dot with fat. Repeat ingredients in a second layer. Pour tomato juice over all. Bake at 400°F, for 35 to 40 minutes. If cooked at the same time as the beef, bake the casserole for 1 hour at 325°F. Six servings.

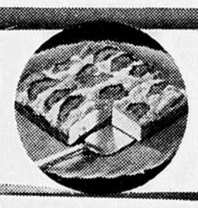

Maple Spanish Cream

1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup milk
3 egg yolks
1 cup maple syrup
⅛ teaspoon salt
3 egg whites

Soak gelatine in cold water. Heat milk in double boiler. Beat egg yolks until light. Pour hot milk over eggs, stirring constantly, and return to double boiler. Add maple syrup and salt. Stir until the custard coats the spoon. Add gelatine. Stir until dissolved. Cool. Fold into stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into greased mould. Chill thoroughly. Six servings.

Glad to learn Mrs. Jo Arthur has returned from the Barrie Memorial Hospital and her friends are hoping this will mean improved health. Mrs. Alex. Elder stayed with her brother and the children during Mrs. Arthur's absence from home.

Sorry to report that Miss Isabel Lindsay is home from Huntingdon, ill with the Grippe. Mrs. W. Barr is also suffering from the same complaint.

The Rockburn P.Y.P.S. varied their regular monthly program on Wednesday evening, by making it a purely social gathering and inviting the Y.P.S. of the Gore Church and also of the Franklin Church to a gathering in the Rockburn Church Hall. The meeting opened with Hymn and Bible reading by the President, Mrs. Goldie and Rev. H. Pritchard led in prayer. 36 answered the roll call by giving an Irish Joke. Different members made short speeches expressing pleasure at being present in such an informal social gathering, games were played and two contests entered into: the "Nail-driving for ladies" was won by Miss Currie, and the quickest doll-dresser among the gentlemen proved to be Rev. H. Pritchard. Maple taffy was served on snow and the meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to the Rockburn P.Y.P.S. for such a pleasant evening and with the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Middlemiss and Roy went to Montreal, on Saturday, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Middlemiss, of Cookshire, returned with them for a stay of an indefinite period. Mr. E. Family Allowances

Question:—Will family allowance be paid for a child above the age of six not attending school?

Answer:—Under the Family Allowance Act, the allowance is not payable in respect of a child who, being above the age of six years and physically fit to attend school, fails to attend school or receive the equivalent training.

Question:—Are adopted children covered?

Answer:—Yes, in fact there need not be any legal adoption, just confirmation that the parent or other relative or person is actually maintaining the child.

Question:—Do children in institutions receive family allowances?

Answer:—No. The purpose of the Act is to help parents provide for the health and welfare of their children, not to relieve institutions of their responsibilities. However, where a parent is supporting a child in an institution, the family allowance will be paid.

Question:—Will family allowances be paid to people who are already receiving mothers' allowances, dependents' allowances, war pensions, unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation?

Answer:—Yes.

Merry England -- Housewife

That Easter parade for Merry England, housewife, won't be so much a fashion show as a show of pluck. She's having a hard enough time these days keeping her family covered, let alone keeping them stylish. In the never-ending effort to make a something out of nothing, Mrs. Sew-and-Sew is Merry England's shining example. Mrs. Sew-and-Sew can do anything. She can make a pinafore from an old dirndl dress, she can make a blouse from an old rayon skirt and saves four coupons—she can fashion another blouse from scrap-bag oddments and even finds time to reinforce heels and toes of new socks before wearing. No doubt about it Mrs. Sew-and-Sew is the cleverest woman that ever snipped a pair of scissors. And all Merry England has to do is follow her instructions in the neat little government manual titled "Make Do and Mend". Merry England gets mighty fed up with her efforts to create a wardrobe out of a rag bag, but knows there's nothing for it but to keep at it.

When Johnnie needs a new pair of shorts Merry England doesn't rash around to the store and get him a pair. For one thing she probably wouldn't find any and for another they would take too many of his 24 yearly coupons. No, she has a better system. She takes a grey flannel skirt of her own. It, by the way, had been her husband's trousers before it was her skirt. She turned the skirt and Johnnie had flannel shorts. When Johnnie outgrew them Merry England toyed with the idea of converting the shorts back into a wee skirt for Sue. And then decided to let Susan wear them as they were. Little girls are more comfortable in boys' clothes anyway in wartime.

Some women, Merry England knows, have had their soldier husband's pre-war shirts to make over into blouses and dresses. But not so Merry herself. With her husband in an essential civilian job, he must continue to wear his shabby pre-war business clothes. In his coat he looks fairly respectable. But in his shirt sleeves he looks like a comic. His wife has not hesitated to combine two or even three ragged shirts. She keeps the collar, front and cuffs of one material but the back and elbows are frequently of different color and pattern.

Marrying off a daughter gave Merry England her biggest headache. Peggy, although in the Women's Auxiliary Airforce, had two weeks' leave for her honeymoon when she could wear civies. Peggy's civilian clothes had long since gone to clothe the other children. And to make matters worse she was allowed no clothes coupons. Merry England did her best by her daughter and the result was a tribute to her ingenuity. The family's best damask table cloth made a shimmering wedding gown. Her top coat was made from a lap robe. (The Browns once drove a car). Her father's tail-coat and trousers had been ruthlessly sacrificed to make her going-away costume. A black evening slip furnished her with an afternoon dress.

Merry England receives the same number of coupons as the other members of her family. Yet she must somehow contrive to provide the table and bed linens out of her slim clothes ration. So far, by mending and cutting worn tablecloths into luncheon sets, Merry has made do except for buying a few dishtowels. On this occasion she sacrificed buying herself a pair of wool stockings to get six small towels.

Some day soon Merry England will have a new Easter bonnet and she won't have to make it herself. Some day she'll have yards and yards of vari-colored materials to work on. She has become an expert seamstress and she will create lovely things with her needle. Until that day comes she will continue to mend and patch and improvise for victory.

IT is quite possible that these civilians who occupied the telephone booths while the soldier waited to make his last call home were talking important business. It may even have been war business.

But if we all remember to make our telephone calls as brief as possible, then at least there will be no needless waiting by our boys who want so urgently to get their calls through.

Long talks tie up vital switching equipment at central. Too often urgent calls must wait because we forget to be brief.

A Visit to the Hospital

Visiting the Hospital last evening we found Mr. John Ross visiting with his brother and with a firm voice bidding my entry to his room. We found Mr. Ross in excellent spirits. His arm that was affected appears to be fully recovered. Mr. Ross says he feels perfect and with that expression, "wasn't it lucky for me we have this hospital. I was in this bed within half an hour of having the attack in the Bank of Montreal". Yes, Mr. Ross is lucky, but why shouldn't he be. Isn't it a case of one good turn deserves another. Throughout his life Mr. Ross has continually been performing acts of kindness and rendering general assistance to others. Well, how's the drive for the Hospital Equipment fund progressing, was the next question. The reply being commendable he then said, "I put the Hospital name on the book of tickets I bought, and will you tell the treasurer to put the Hospital name on another book of tickets and let me pay the $10. Perhaps the Hospital will win one of the lots and that could be turned into cash and that would be so much more for the Fund. For some little time I have been thinking I should not stand for re-election as a Hospital Governor. Tell the nominating committee to drop my name, and with that Mr. Ross suggested two excellent young men who would make good representatives for Hinchinbrook Township on the Board. In the adjoining bed was Raymond Stark who has the badly fractured left leg. To find two more cheerful patients one might go a long way. Raymond is certainly going to be confined to his bed for quite some time and when Mr. Ross leaves the Hospital we can quite well believe Raymond is going to miss his congenial companionship. Raymond, like Mr. Ross is thankful that we have a local Hospital where he was able to receive such prompt attention, and at the same time be able to have his friends visit him.

Amateur Night at St. Joseph's Hall

On March 15th an Amateur Night was held at St. Joseph's Hall, Father Pigeon, parish priest presiding. The evening was more than a success as about two hundred persons were turned back, the hall being packed. Some even followed the programme outdoors, getting same by the open windows.

About 30 contestants took part in the concert. Mrs. E. Lefebvre, Captain Allan Murray, some members of St. Joseph's Choir and Miss Durnin and Miss Demers were also invited to contribute one or two numbers (songs or piano). Mr. H. Provost was master of ceremonies and his charming personality contributed in chasing away "Stage-fright" from those who faced the public for the first time. The audience enjoyed and encouraged the amateurs by their hearty applause after hearing Irish folksongs and dances, violin, guitar, piano, songs, tap dancing, a sketch, imitations, etc. After the concert Father Pigeon congratulated the local talent and thanked one and all who contributed to the success of the evening. It was a pleasant surprise for each amateur to hear his name called and be presented with a prize.

28 Farm Forum Groups in Chateauguay-Huntingdon

National Farm Radio Forum is one of the greatest Agricultural organizations that has ever been started. First, as an educational campaign of non-political, undenomination origin, and second, gathering authentic information re general conditions.

It is amazing to think that, as we listen to a Farm Forum Broadcast thousands of people from coast to coast of Canada are listening in groups to the same broadcast, following it up with a real live discussion from which decisive reports are forwarded to a provincial secretary who compiles the findings for further use. Many thousands of others are listening to the broadcast privately, and often people in high agricultural positions, who wish to get a first hand view of just what farmers are thinking.

The value of meeting in groups for discussions is that it gives each listener an opportunity of expressing his or her views on the subject and having them sent on to be listed with others of the same views from all over Canada, as well as creating a more social neighbourly atmosphere among people of a district and eventually a broadening of the viewpoint of interest to the community.

Outstanding experts in all lines of work have given of their time and talent to take part in the broadcast radio discussion, while the Farm Forum Guide is full of information for study and serves as a lead to better discussion, and other pamphlets which may be secured for further study of any particular project.

Chateauguay-Huntingdon district has 28 registered groups this year with over 300 families attending. There are many sections of the County that are not yet organized, due chiefly to the fact that many have not yet realized the value of this Dominion-wide organization. These two Counties of the Province of Quebec have taken steps to follow the example of many Counties in other Provinces by forming a County Farm Forum Committee to act as a connecting link between the groups and the Provincial organization and from that to the Canadian Federation of Agriculture.

What other Dominion-wide Agriculture Organization has attained a prestige that gives it a direct share in the governing of the country by helping to plan necessary adjustment in production.

Farmers must be given an opportunity to organize themselves and to fit their combined production to consumers' requirements. Organized marketing would have to be carried into the International field. Co-operation, not competition, among producers in various nations is the need. National planning of this sort makes farming more of a profession and less of a gamble.

Plan to support the Federation of Agriculture by joining a Farm Forum listening group. If there is not a group in your community arrange with your Forum representative to organize a group in your district.

J. D. Lang is Chairman; A. H. Crutchfield is Sec.-Treas. of the District Farm Forum Committee.

The theme: "The Kingdom of God in the World", was emphasized in the words of the hymn, read by the leader, God is working his purpose out - The time that shall surely be when the earth shall be filled with the glory of God, as the waters cover the sea". After the singing of the hymn, "Thy Kingdom Come O Lord", and a short prayer by Miss Bazin, the question, "What can we do towards God's work?" was answered by the members assisting in the following way: that we can help to spread abroad the knowledge of God—that all may honor him; we can help to establish justice in the world; we can work for understanding and fellowship between peoples of different races and nations, scriptural passages were read emphasizing these methods of furthering God's work. Another hymn, "Lead on O King Eternal," was sung and prayer by Miss Bazin concluded this part of the service. Obituaries

The Late W. A. Fennell

The death of W. A. Fennell occurred Sunday evening, March 25th, after being in failing health for the past two years. The deceased was in his 51st year, and had been customs officer in charge at the border station of Herdman, Que. for the past 22 years.

"Bill" as he was popularly known, was a veteran of Great War Number 1. He joined the 75th Inf. Battalion at the age of twenty and was severely wounded at the battle of the Somme, in 1916. He was in hospital over a year recovering from his wound.

Bill was of a cheerful and sociable disposition, and had a succession of interesting hobbies and there were very few outdoor pursuits that he was unfamiliar with. These included bee-keeping, gardening, fishing, hunting, and butterfly collecting; and among sports baseball and broomola. In his latter years he was known as an expert on sweet pea culture.

Bill was well-known and popular with the travelling public from both sides of the line, and his cheery smile and easy manners will be sadly missed by his many friends.

Mr. Fennell is survived by his wife Kathryn, his daughter, Alma, and his son William the III.

Dundee

DUNDEE RED CROSS NEWS

The President of the Dundee Red Cross Branch, Mr. A. P. O'Reilly, also the Treasurer, Mr. Harold S. Smith and Secretary, Mr. A. H. Fraser, who planned the recent Red Cross drive are very pleased to announce that the Dundee area went over the top by a comfortable margin. The fact that the allocation of $500 was reached in the allotted time was due in no large measure to the unflagging enthusiasm of the canvassers who unstintingly devoted their time making the rounds of the householders of the community. For their interest in the cause of making the local drive a success the executive of the Society is very grateful.

The Work and Supply Committee of the Dundee Branch is as follows: Convener: Mrs. Harry McNaughton; Beaver: Mrs. Harold McDonald; St. Agnes: Mrs. J. B. Quenneville; Stowell's Corners, Mrs. T. Stowell; Upper St. Agnes: Mrs. J. E. Platt.

Anyone able to assist in the service of making up Red Cross supplies so that critical shortages can be overcome can get in touch with any of the above persons and their needs will be taken care of.

Miss Marjorie MacLaren, of Edmonton, Alberta, gave a stirring missionary address before an appreciative audience on Wednesday afternoon, in St. Andrew's Church Annex, at the W.M.S. Easter Thank offering service.

Miss MacLaren, who has just completed her missionary training course in Toronto, expects to take up mission work in Colombia, South America, as soon as conditions permit. This work is in connection with the Evangelical Union of South America, with fields in Brazil, Colombia, and Bolivia.

Taking for her theme, "Why be a missionary?", Miss MacLaren spoke from Romans 12 chapter, 1st verse, pointing out our duty and responsibility as Christians and the need of world evangelization.

A vote of thanks and appreciation of her earnest talk was tendered by Miss Kimball, seconded by Miss J. Robb. Dr. Maclean, who was present, also thanked Miss MacLaren and wished her every success in her chosen work. During the offering a duet, "Why not say yes today", was beautifully rendered by Miss MacLaren and her sister, Mrs. Stanley Ruddock, with Mrs. Gay as accompanist.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. McDermid.

Favorite EASTER FOODS

Canada's Food Rules

MILK—Adults: one-half pint. Children more than one pint. And some cheese.

FRUITS—One serving of tomatoes daily, or of a citrus fruit, or of tomato or citrus fruit juices, and one serving of other fruits, fresh, canned, or dried.

VEGETABLES—(In addition to potatoes of which you need one serving daily)—Two servings daily of vegetables, preferably leafy green, or yellow, and frequently raw.

CEREALS and BREADS—One serving of a whole grain cereal and four to six slices of Canada-approved bread, brown or white.

MEAT, FISH, EGGS, etc.—One serving a day of meat, fish or meat substitutes. Liver, heart or kidney once a week. Eggs, at least three or four weekly.

PLUS OTHER FOODS YOU WISH

At Easter Time one thinks of ham and eggs as outstanding on the Easter menu. From a nutrition point of view both are very good. Eggs are given in Canada's Food Rules as an essential part of the daily diet and so is meat. Thus there should be no harm done by eating eggs at Easter Time, and then having a nice cut of Boiled Ham, with potatoes and peas or other favorite vegetables, for the mid-day meal or late evening dinner. Easter is also the time when one can obtain many of the fresh new spring greens that begin to make their appearance in the stores—raddishes, onions, lettuce, rhubarb and many other items of this kind. Make the most of these things until such time as you can obtain them from your own Victory Garden. After the long winter months, the sunshine is vital to your health and all of it possible should be obtained.

Lowry farm in Ernestown township south of Napanee, Ont., they saw the brick farm house on fire. Handicapped by water shortage they tried to put fire out with cans of fresh milk, failed . . . . Mrs. Walter Stobie of Cache Creek, near Kamloops, B.C., has finished 400 pairs of socks for the Red Cross, started on her five hundred.

*Bill Evans, big 250-lb. rural councillor at Watrous, Sask., had a baby deer left on his doorstep, probably by a mother deer worried with wartime restrictions, rationing and unaware of the family allowances coming up. He brought it up on a nippled beer bottle filled with lacteal fluid and Vitamin D, later started bringing chocolate bars and chewing gum. Now when Bill comes home, the fawn comes dashing up and if there are no sweets he shows his dislike just like a human.

*An important change in poll tax is being legislated for at Milltown, up in New Brunswick, effecting women. Set at $5 for every male over 21 years, the new proposal makes it apply automatically from $5 to $10 also to all women residents gainfully employed.

*The Parrsboro (N.S.) Record puts it tersely this way: "Democracy, of course, means freedom—but freedom with responsibility." That's the trouble, some people want one without the other.

*Discussing V-Day projected celebrations, the Coburg (Ont.) Sentinel-Star, says: "In Canada, it seems almost trifling with tragedy, or debasing great events, when we hear of commercial people blandly discussing the sale of flags and fireworks, or citizens dolefully debating whether there will be enough liquor to go around." The editor, apparently is in accord with Churchill's, "when the time comes, we shall celebrate a victorious peace in a manner worthy of the British nation.

*How times have changed. Law enforcement officers of Phillips county, Montana, and Saskatchewan out to find why 49 head of cattle have disappeared, didn't go after the suspected cattle rustlers with a clatter of galloping horses, as per the Western flickers. A search was made by low flying planes over the counties.

*Once again Picton, Ont., district takes the spotlight for longevity. From the Gazette: Mrs. W. Marshall, Bloomfield celebrated her 90th birthday March 2. Her husband had his 96th last December. On March 13, Mrs. Elizabeth Ann Massay of Consecon observed her 100th. And the oldest resident of Prince Edward county, Peter Addison Maybe, died at the age of 102. Mrs. Maybe died five years ago in her 96th year; they were approaching their 77th wedding anniversary.

*Believe it or not. To "Khaki," the Canadian Army bulletin, from a lieutenant in the Veterans Guard of Canada, an incident in a prisoner of war camp in this country. A German major ran short of clothes, was supplied with a complete battle-dress outfit. Imagine the shock of the camp commandant when the major asked to be paraded, demanded the G.S. markings for his sleeve. He said: "I don't want to look like a Zombie."

*New businesses getting ready for the post-war: At Killarney, Man., a new modern hatchery with a total setting capacity of 12,000 eggs every 3 weeks. . . . At Barrie, Ont., Canadian General Electric plant to employ about a hundred workers for toasters, irons, coffee makers, kettles, etc. . . . At Midland, Ont., prospect for a new shoe factory to employ around a hundred . . . at Drumheller, Alta., a new brick and tile manufacturing plant.

*The editor at Armstrong, B.C., has a word for bird life. "The heavy blanket of snow . . . dead pheasants seen in the city, and the smaller birds must be having a difficult time, too . . a few crumbs from the table . . . or a little bit of fat will go a long way to alleviate distress among these little creatures." All is still well in this mundane world, people are kind and thoughtful.

*Just a country Nobel prize, but a grand idea. W. R. Powell, former reeve of Summerland, B.C., and prominent orchardist and community service worker was presented with the Reid Johnston "Good Citizenship" Cup by the Board of Trade. He is the seventh recipient of the annual award in this community.

*When a farmer dies, or sells out, the whole price received for livestock is taxed as if it were income for the current year, when actually it is accumulation of years. The Shoal Lake (Man.) Star is "agin" such action and like others would want to see the whole income tax business straightened out. "A man may farm for years and never come within sight of the income tax bracket, but if he sells out his whole outfit, less machinery, is taxed as though earned or produced within the last year. This is just another of the inequalities which need ironing out."

*A reeve is major league stuff, too. Reeve D. D. Gray, of Ermosa township, Ontario, was going to the rural convention in Toronto, wrote to a hotel down there for a reservation, was turned down because of "full up." Remembering Mayor Saunders had promised accommodation for "mayors" wrote to His Worship. Right back came the reservation. Good neighbor policy, we call it.

*They're working for health in an organized way in Quebec. The Health Unit of Brome-Missisquoi Counties have organized a program of prevention and education among the population of both counties lasting for about two weeks. The idea is to induce folks to take a more active part in the fight against contagious diseases, especially against T.B. and V.D.

*Memorials should be useful, not cold stone, thinks the Granby (Que.) Leader-Mail, adding: "A returning soldier would be pleased to learn that to commemorate his service his home town has decided to provide better education facilities for his children, or the children of a fallen comrade would have the opportunity of a more healthy life through supervised playgrounds and sports centres or a more efficient hospital.

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR D-68

SCIENCE AND THE FARMER

By W. D. Talton, Director of Extension, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, Ont.

(Note: This is the fourth of a series of comments by well-known authorities, written expressly for the Weekly Press of Quebec.)

Can the practical farmer make use of the marvellous discoveries of science to increase his profits and achieve a higher standard of living for himself and his children?

No one will deny that our scientists have been taking giant steps forward. We read daily about startling new discoveries such, for example, as life saving penicillin, as well as life destroying jet propulsion. But about Agriculture? To answer the question we have only to look about us and examine the results of science on our farm today. Science shows its hand here in a surprising number of ways. The bumper wheat crops of Western Canada were made possible by the patient cross breeding of selected varieties by Dr. Saunders and the men who came after him and are continuing his work. The electric current which at the turn of a switch floods the stable with light on dark mornings and operates the compressor for the milking machine, the chemical fertilizer which raises the crop yield, and the sprays which protect against insect ravages and bacterial and fungus diseases are only a few examples of science at work on the farm.

There are bigger and better things to come. When the war ends Canadian Agriculture will be presented with many opportunities for development and expansion, and Canadian farmers must be prepared to grasp these opportunities and make the most of them. This will only be possible if farmers have saved enough of their wartime earnings to provide themselves with the tools which they require.

Most farms are very short of machines and equipment. While production of farm machinery has been drastically curtailed due to the war, the men who build these machines have not been idle. They have been developing new material and planning better machines for peace-time agriculture. New types of labour saving equipment are being invented and tested in order to provide implements which will increase production and cut down on labour.

On the experimental farms and at the Agricultural College much work is being done on soil fertility and soil conservation. Tests are carried out in laboratories and in the field in order to determine the best fertilizer combinations for different crops on all types of soils and the most satisfactory and economical way of applying them. Soil erosion is being studied in all parts of the country and specialists in soil conservation are working on methods of preventing the wastage of good rich topsoil from our farms.

Drainage is another very important question which we cannot overlook. Not only will proper drainage result in bigger crops, but it is also the means of bringing thousands of acres of low lying lands into production.

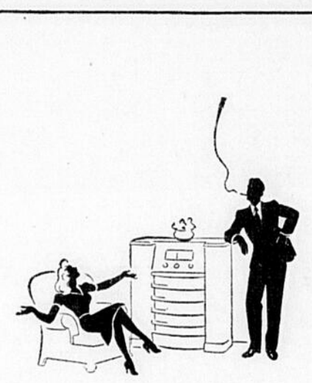

On the other side of the picture, science has created many new materials from the products of our farms and forests. The manufacture of these products will open up new markets for the farmer and new wealth for Canada. Here are a few things we can look forward to: much wider use of electricity on the farm, fast-freezing units for preserving perishable foods, improved building materials, better machinery of all kinds, better radios and washing machines, new insecticides, and many, many more.

We can only come by these things by saving and planning now. The man who had laid up readily available cash in the form of Victory Bonds, War Savings Certificates, and bank account will be able to step ahead with the times. He will be able to buy new mahinery, erect new buildings and repair the old, carry out drainage and soil conservation programmes, and also provide himself with many new comforts in his home. By saving today we can best insure our prosperity tomorrow.

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

Rheumatic pains are often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Treat rheumatic pains by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy. 109

Talk it over with your electrician...

Electrical wiring restrictions have been modified.

If you are building a new home or contemplating additions to an old one, be sure and make provision for an adequate number of electrical outlets.

Provide for floor and table lamps in all dark corners—for use of the vacuum in every room. Provide convenient electric connections for radio, washing machine, iron, toaster and stove.

Remember that after the war electrical appliances will be lower priced and better than ever. Plan now for the happy convenience of their use by ample wiring and sufficient outlets.

War Veterans Insurance NOW AVAILABLE

Offers protection, without medical examination in most cases, to those discharged.

When Canada entered the present war, it was realized that men and women who went into uniform faced the possibility of returning to civilian life with their health impaired, or with some physical disability. It was realized also that, as a result of this impairment in health or disability, many service men and women would be unable to provide protection for their families through the normal channels of commercial life insurance. To meet this situation, Parliament, at its 1944 session, passed an Act known as The Veterans Insurance Act. This act has now been proclaimed and applications may be made for policies under it.

WHAT ARE THE SPECIAL FEATURES OF WAR VETERANS INSURANCE?

One of the principal features of War Veterans Insurance is that, with very few exceptions, it is available at low cost, without medical examination. No extra premiums are charged where the veteran's occupation is unusually hazardous—such as, mining, construction, commercial flying, etc. —and, in addition, premiums are waived in the event of total disability. There is no extra cost for this waiver of premiums.

WHO MAY APPLY FOR WAR VETERANS INSURANCE?

Any ex-service man or woman is eligible. In addition, widows or widowers of veterans may apply for the insurance on themselves if the veterans were not insured under the Act. Merchant Navy personnel in receipt of a war disability pension from the present war are eligible also.

WHAT TYPES OF INSURANCE ARE AVAILABLE?

The plans of insurance available are 10 Payment Life, 15 Payment Life, 20 Payment Life, Life Paid-up at 65 and Life Paid-up at 85; that is, premiums may be paid for 10, 15 or 20 years or until age 65 or 85 respectively. The longer the term of payment the smaller the premium required. Term and Endowment policies are not issued. The insurance is of the non-participating type, that is, no dividends are paid.

WHAT AMOUNTS OF INSURANCE ARE PROVIDED FOR?

Policies may be applied for in amounts ranging from $500 to $10,000. The amount of the policy is payable only in the event of the death of the insured.

HOW ARE PREMIUMS PAID?

At the option of the veteran, premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, half-yearly, or annually. There is no additional cost to the veteran for paying premiums on a monthly basis.

IS THERE ANY CASH SURRENDER VALUE?

After premiums have been paid for two full years, the policy may be surrendered for its Cash Surrender Value, or it may be transferred to Paid-up Insurance or Extended Term Insurance. There is no provision for loans against the policy.

AT DEATH HOW WILL THE INSURANCE BE PAID?

The maximum amount which may be paid at death is $1,000, with the remainder being paid, at the option of the insured, in one of the following three ways:

(1) The money, plus 3½ per cent. interest, may be paid to the beneficiary in equal instalments over a period of five, ten, fifteen or twenty years, as selected. If the beneficiary dies, the payments are continued to his or her estate.

(2) The money may be paid in equal instalments as long as the beneficiary lives.

(3) As in (2), but instalments are guaranteed for five, ten, fifteen or twenty years, whether the beneficiary lives or dies.

WHAT IS THE EFFECT OF A WAR DISABILITY PENSION?

If, on the death of the insured, the beneficiary receives a pension, the insurance money will be paid as follows:

(1) If the policy is paid up, the full face amount of it will be paid to the beneficiary in the manner elected by the insured, plus the pension.

(2) If the policy is not paid up, then the capitalized value of the pension will be deducted from the face value of the policy and instead, the beneficiary will receive the paid-up value of the portion deducted, plus the excess, if any, of the face amount of the insurance over the capitalized value of the pension. If the policy has been in force at least six months and the beneficiary is the wife or husband or children, or both, of the insured, at least $500 will be paid as well as the paid-up value of the remainder.

WHO MAY BE NAMED AS A BENEFICIARY?

Where the insured is married, the beneficiary must be the wife or husband, or children, or both. If the veteran is single, the beneficiary must be the future wife or husband, with a parent, brother or sister, named as a contingent beneficiary to receive the insurance money should the veteran die unmarried.

CAN RE-ESTABLISHMENT CREDIT OR PENSION BE USED FOR VETERANS INSURANCE?

Yes, this is one of the purposes for which the re-establishment credit may be used. Premiums may be deducted from pensions also, if requested.

IF THE VETERAN BECOMES TOTALLY DISABLED, WHAT HAPPENS?

If this occurs before the veteran reaches the age of sixty years, and he is not in receipt of full pension for the disability, no further premiums need be paid.

ARE THERE ANY RESTRICTIONS AS TO TRAVEL, RESIDENCE, OR OCCUPATION?

In addition to being free of occupational restrictions, the insurance also is free of restriction as to travel and residence.

EXAMPLES OF MONTHLY PREMIUMS PER $1,000 INSURANCE

Further information and application forms may be obtained from the nearest office of the Department of Veterans Affairs or by writing direct to the Superintendent of Veterans Insurance, Department of Veterans Affairs, Ottawa.

Services of a trained counsellor are available for individual interview with each veteran who wishes information concerning this insurance.

Issued under the authority of Honourable Ian A. Mackenzie, Minister of Veterans Affairs.

Upon returning home from their honeymoon, on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Elder were greatly surprised to learn that some of their friends had got busy and planned a reception for them. Dancing was enjoyed by old and young to music furnished by Mr. Emmet Duheme, violin, Charles Lepage, guitar and Nicol Stark on piano. Several games of cards were enjoyed by some of the men. Refreshments were served at 12 o'clock to over 100 guests. After the recess Mr. F. W. Stark called the young couple to the platform and on behalf of the relatives and friends presented them with a purse of money and quite a number of nice gifts. Ross thanked every one for their gifts and invited all to come and visit them. All joined in singing "For they are Jolly good fellows". The gathering broke up in the early hours with every one extending their good wishes to the young couple for many happy years of wedded life.
