ROMMEL ADVANCE TOWARD MATRUH SLACKENS

Nazis Awaiting Fresh Supplies Before Attack

British Headquarters Report that German Armies Advanced Fifteen Miles Closer to Matruh Yesterday, with Little Fighting Being Registered by Either Side—Fast Torpedo Boats Join British Fleet.

Cairo, June 27.—(AP)—British headquarters reported today that Axis forces of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel had moved up to within fifteen miles of Matruh, about 115 miles into Egypt from the Libyan frontier.

The position of Axis armored divisions indicated a fifteen-mile advance along the coast toward Matruh, restricted only by light parrying action of British mobile forces.

"There was no major engagement yesterday," a communiqué said. "Our converging forces were in contact with the enemy's forward troops throughout the day."

The advance of Rommel's armored and motorized troops concentrated along a five-mile front, was slow by comparison with his earlier drives of from forty to sixty miles a day, indicating he might be awaiting the arrival of fresh supplies before starting an all-out attack.

Hammering of major Libyan bases by British and United States army air force bombers and strafing of German-Italian columns hindered the movement of food, water, oil and munitions necessary to maintain the invading field army.

Moreover it was announced in Alexandria, less than 200 miles behind the defence lines of Lt.-Gen. Neil Ritchie's 8th Army, that speedy American-built motor torpedo boats had arrived to augment the British fleet.

Capable of a speed of more than 45 knots, the craft are already credited with sinking three Axis vessels off Libya and removing several hundred British soldiers and sailors from Tobruk under heavy bombardment just before that port fell last Sunday.

British warships are standing by for orders to steam out and engage coastal formations from the sea.

The main Axis force is made up of three armored divisions supported by motorized infantry and the initiative is clearly still in their hands.

Military observers said they had three possible courses:

1.—A frontal attack on Matruh, a fortified port linked to Alexandria by rail as well as sea supply lines.

2.—An attempt to negotiate the hill-rimmed sand and marshes of the vast Qattara depression, farther inland.

3.—To swing south toward the Nile River, the Sudd el-Bahr.

British authorities ruled out none of these possibilities, but said that—on the basis of present dispositions—the first appeared to be most likely.

Several large fires were started by the Nazi raiders, some of which spread almost to house-top level in defiance of heavy anti-aircraft fire and British night fighters.

Many private homes and business establishments were damaged and the wing of a hospital was burned out.

Authoritative sources indicated the R.A.F. had not engaged in any large scale offensive activity overnight.

CREDIT SCHEME PROVIDED FOR COAL PURCHASE

Government Sponsors Plan Designed to Speed Up Delivery of Coal for Canadian Householders.

Ottawa, June 27.—(AP)—A Government-sponsored credit plan enabling consumers to buy fuel at discount rates through chartered banks and thus facilitate early purchase of fuel supplies was announced today by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Under the credit system, the banks will discount notes tendered by customers whose dealers recommend them as satisfactory credit risks. Dealers are not obliged to adopt the plan but the majority are expected to co-operate.

Advances from the banks, to be not less than $50 and not more than $250, are to be repaid in equal monthly instalments with the deadline for payment May 15th, 1943. Interest, payable by the consumer, will be at the basic rate of 6.25 per cent under the Home Improvement Plan.

All coal purchased under the scheme.

Possibility Of Appeal In Stanstead Vote Annulment

Supreme Court Judgment Unseating Robert G. Davidson as Member of Parliament for Stanstead County May Be Taken to Privy Council—Case May Set Precedent for Annulment of Canadian Elections.

Ottawa, June 27.—The possibility of an appeal to the Privy Council from the judgment of the Supreme Court unseating Robert Greig Davidson, Liberal Member of Parliament for Stanstead County, may further delay the case which arose out of the Federal elections of 1940. Unless the appeal is launched within the next few days, the judgment will be handed to Speaker James A. Glen, who will table it in the House of Commons and declare the seat vacant.

(In Sherbrooke, the attorneys for Mr. Davidson state that they had as yet received no instructions as to whether an appeal should be launched, while Mr. Davidson could not be reached this morning at his home in North Hatley.)

The Supreme Court decision given on an appeal by Albert Sidleau, bailiff of the Town of Coaticook, Que., and Desjardins Goyette, a taxpayer of Magog, reversed a decision of the Quebec Superior Court in an action charging corrupt election practices.

Precedent for the annulment was not immediately recalled in parliamentary and legal circles, and it was believed to be the first time the Supreme Court has set aside a Superior Court decision on an election trial.

In the general election of 1940 Mr. Davidson, official Liberal candidate, was elected with a majority of 306 votes over his opponent, Alphonse Girard of Magog, an Independent Liberal candidate.

The appellants, in their factum to

Churchill, Returning From North American Conference, Greeted By Storm Of Criticism Over Events

London, June 27.—(AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill came back to England today from his historic conference with President Roosevelt, and stepped from a trans-Atlantic plane into the most serious political crisis in his career.

He returned to a country troubled by the setback in North Africa and the imminent Axis smash at Egypt. The long-held British stronghold at Tobruk fell while the Prime Minister was discussing war strategy with President Roosevelt and the capture of some 25,000 British troops there brought strong criticism of his conduct of the war. Facing him in the House of Commons is an insurgent motion for a vote of "no confidence" in his direction of the war.

Political observers believe the Prime Minister will win a vote of confidence—as he has before—with some twenty votes cast against him and a number abstaining from the vote.

Observers agreed that Mr. Churchill, with the strategy mapped in Washington fresh in his mind, would respond to his critics in a fighting mood, but they also agreed his opposition has never been more outspoken.

The London Times attacked British war direction today and called for a combined general staff in an editorial declaring there had been "too many symptoms . . . of reluctance to subordinate personal predilections or established interests to the urgent need of bringing fresh blood and fresh ideas into the conduct of the war."

"Things are seriously wrong," The Times said. "The House of Commons accurately reflects public opinion both in demanding radical changes and in placing on the Government . . . the responsibility of deciding what those changes should be."

Although the Prime Minister's early return has been expected, his reappearance so soon after the announcement of his meeting with Congressional leaders and the Pacific War Council in Washington Thursday was surprising.

Canada was represented at Thursday's War Council conference by Prime Minister Mackenzie King. After the meeting Mr. Mackenzie King conferred with President Roosevelt, Mr. Churchill, State Secretary Cordell Hull, Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles and with various British military leaders.

Replying Thursday to a question in Commons as to whether the Prime Minister would return in time to deal with the "no confidence" motion introduced by Sir John Wardlaw-Milne and eighteen other members, Sir Stafford Cripps, House Leader, said merely he hoped that would be possible.

The debate is scheduled for the second and third days of the next series of sittings. Criticism which followed the Libyan setback has overshadowed speculation on a European Second Front offensive which was aroused when Mr. Churchill's trip to the United States was announced here June 18th.

W. Averell Harriman, United States lend-lease administrator in London, accompanied the Prime Minister on the homeward trip. Other members of the party were not mentioned in the brief Government announcement of the Prime Minister's arrival.

It was the second time Mr. Churchill had flown back from the United States. Last January he came back by ship, and in Ottawa where he addressed the House of Commons.

Mr. Churchill, it was learned, travelled in a flying boat of the British Overseas Airways both to and from the United States on his most recent trip. The commander of the ship was Capt. J. G. Kelly Rogers, who commanded the plane which brought the Prime Minister home on his previous visit.

SOVEREIGNS PAY VISIT TO U.S. SOLDIERS

Queen Elizabeth Wins Hearts of United States Troops During Inspection in Northern Ireland.

With the U.S. Forces in Northern Ireland, June 27.—(AP)—United States troops seemed pretty well agreed today that Queen Elizabeth is "a swell girl" after putting on a show for the King and Queen which drew congratulations from the King because of its "impressive efficiency."

Demonstrating everything from bridge-building to doughnut-making, the soldiers staged a mock battle for the royal visitors on their three-day trip to Northern Ireland. Their Majesties rode in jeeps and tanks, examined guns, gas masks and field kitchens.

The performance of the Americans led one member of Their Majesties' entourage to remark: "It was the best show put on during the war and the King seems happier than I have ever seen him."

The King and Queen started their

Air Minister, Defying Constituents, Demands Conscription Passage

Hon. C. G. Power, Quebec South Representative, Announces Intention of Supporting Bill Removing Restrictions from Mobilization Act—Convinced that Passage of Bill 80 Is Prelude to Conscription.

By C. R. BLACKBURN, Canadian Press Staff Writer.

Ottawa, June 27.—(AP)—Two

Quebec Members of the House of Commons were on record today as supporting the conscription-enabling amendment to the National Resources Mobilization Act—with full knowledge that the majority in their constituencies appear to oppose conscription.

Air Minister Power, veteran of twenty-five years' constant membership, and Dr. Rodolphe Ledue (Liberal, Wright), expressed their support of the Government bill to amend the N.R.M.A. Act in the Commons yesterday afternoon. Both said at once they were inviting defeat at the hands of their electors.

Maj. Power, a veteran of the First Great War who has represented Quebec South since 1917, said in his fifteen-minute speech that he holds the same views as his electors against coercion and compulsion.

But the people as a whole had indicated a desire for action of which this legislation is possibly the least expression, and "following the ordinary democratic process, and being a Canadian before I am a Quebecker, I propose to vote for this bill."

He was referring to the plebiscite of April 27 when the people, asked if they favored releasing the Government from past non-conscription pledges, voted in the affirmative.

Both Major Powers' riding and that of Dr. Ledue voted against releasing the Government.

Dr. Ledue said his choice was between serving his country and gaining re-election and he had no hesitation in choosing to serve his country.

The debate was on second reading of Bill 80 which would repeal section three of the Mobilization Act restricting use of men called up under the Act to service in Canada.

It was the end of the second full week of debate on second reading of the bill and reports today were that the vote might be reached early next week.

The Government's intention is to open debate on the budget next Tuesday, whether the conscription debate is ended or not. Conservative House Leader Hanson will be the opening speaker in the budget debate.

Basing their judgment on reports from the whips on the number of speakers anxious to take part in both debates, some observers prophesied that both the budget and conscription would be out of the way in another week.

Fresh Nazi Assaults Fail To Break Sevastopol Lines

Front-Line Settlements Changed Hands Several Times During Bitter Fighting in Sevastopol Outer Defences—Nazis Reported Transferring Troops from Another Front in Effort to Remove Russian Opposition.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY, Associated Press Staff Writer.
Moscow, June 27.—(AP)—The Red army has checked the new German offensive in the Ukraine, repulsing enemy attacks East of Kupyansk and at one point counter-attacking, while the German gains on the Sevastopol front are measured in yards after the bloodiest kind of fighting, Soviet military dispatches said today.

Severe losses were inflicted on the Germans who were forced to retreat by the Russian counterdrive at Kupyansk on the Osokir River sixty miles Southeast of Kharkov, the reports said.

At Sevastopol, the Red Fleet navy base in the Crimea, the Germans were estimated to have hurled fifty trainloads of bombs, shells and mines in an effort to reach the city, but their gains were said to have netted them only a few dozen yards in two sectors.

A Sevastopol report to Pravda, the Communist party organ, said the Germans continued to move up reserves and "the presence of several new infantry regiments evidently transferred from another front has been noted in the last few days."

At the same time it was declared that assault groups there had dwindled from regiments or divisions to companies and battalions, an evidence of the strain of the campaign upon Axis manpower.

(The German high command claimed last night that Nazi and Rumanian troops had captured Izyum, a railroad town on the West Bank of the Donets river 70 miles from Sevastopol.)

He is the first to hold the title of D.C.I.G.S., a spot created when the War Office recently was divided into halves to give greater liaison between the users and makers of war tools.

One side of the General Staff—that headed by Lt.-Gen. A. E. Nye—will make military plans. On the other side Gen. Weeks will see that the best possible tools are available to carry out these plans or be in a position to advise in their shaping in the light of the tools obtainable.

Gen. Weeks was only a colonel in 1939. Today he is probably the only general who has worked in the coal pits. After his graduation from Cambridge he took up mining engineering and worked underground for some months.

His last job was Director-General of Army Equipment. There he saw to it that when Britain promised tanks, tank guns, anti-tank guns and other war materials, she got them away on time.

"We never missed a boat," he said, telling of the regularly scheduled shipments to Russia which still is unoccupied was said to have come through "trustworthy underground channels"—the same channels which recently reported the Germans were moving heavy guns from the Mtsin and Stegried lines to the French West coast.

The source credited with relaying this information also said he had been informed more than 1,000,000 French residents have been evacuated from the coastal areas in connection with the German defence preparations.

The area between Boulogne and Dieppe, he said, "has been particularly well-cleared by the Nazis of everybody suspected of being likely to aid Allied invaders."

The same source said there is a possibility Hitler might recall Gen. Johannes Blaskowitz—hero of the Polish campaign who has been in virtual retirement since reportedly disagreeing with the Fuehrer over the invasion of Russia—to assist in reorganizing the defences of Western Europe.

In line with this reorganization Hitler is said to have replaced twenty-six German divisional commanders within the last three or four weeks in a drastic shakeup.

"They should be taken for the present for just what they are—evildoers of German preparedness which the Allies must be equipped to overcome if and when they invade," he said.

WAR BULLETINS

Rome, (from Italian broadcasts) — The Italian high command said today Italian and German motorized forces in Egypt "have made contact with the defences of Matruh."

Chungking — Brig.-Gen. Claire Chennault, commander of the American Volunteer Group which has been flying with the Chinese air force, will remain in control of air operations against the Japanese in China after his "Flying Tigers" are inducted into the United States Army Air Corps, it was announced today.

Headquarters of Lt.-Gen. Joseph Stilwell, American Chief of Staff under Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek, issued the statement.

London—The Polish Telegraph Agency quoted German newspapers today as reporting daily fights on the frontier of Polish territories incorporated into the Reich and the buffer state called "Government General Poland," between Polish guerrillas and German police.

During one skirmish, with an SS motorized detachment twelve Poles were captured and shot and five German officers were killed, the agency said.

Martinez, Calif., June 27.—(AP)—A big truck roll rolled along the highway to Stockton, loaded with kegs of nails. A couple of the kegs shook loose; nails began dribbling out. An incomplete count over fifty miles showed thirty mournful motorists looking glumly at flat tires.

British Fighter Aircraft Strike Heavy Blows At Enemy Transport

London, June 27.—(AP)—British fighter aircraft swept over occupied territory and attacked enemy shipping and railway objectives last night, the Air Ministry said today, but most of the big bombers stayed at home.

Some bombers were sent out to lay mines in enemy waters, but there were no reports of raids such as the previous night's R.A.F.-R.C.A.F. 1,000-plane attack against Bremen where fires raged for hours.

One British fighter is missing from last night's operations.

The Air Ministry said three enemy aircraft were destroyed by British bombers during the attack on Bremen. One of these, it was disclosed yesterday, was picked off by Sgt. Don Morrison, twenty-year-old rear gunner from Sherbrooke, Que.

In apparent retaliation for the Bremen raid, German bombers attacked the East Anglian city of Norwich briefly last night and left fires in residential and shopping areas, the Air Ministry said.

"Some casualties were caused, including a small number of people killed," the Air Ministry said. "Three enemy aircraft were destroyed."

MANY MILITARY EVENTS LISTED FOR ARMY WEEK

Parades and Band Concerts Among Highlights of Programme for Week Honoring Canadian Forces.

Programme for Army Week, which starts on Monday and continues inclusively until next Sunday, was announced today. Complete details of the seven days programme, however, will be announced during the week-end.

Ceremonies on the opening day will get underway at eight p.m. at the corner of King and Wellington Streets, when His Worship Mayor A. C. Ross will read the proclamation inviting the citizens of Sherbrooke to observe Army Week. Following the reading of the proclamation, the Union Jack will be lowered in the presence of all local military units.

At 8:00 o'clock that night there will be a concert at Dufresne Park by the Harmony Band, which will be attended by all military units. During the programme, there will be a sing-song in French for the crowd. Tuesday has been set aside as Civilian Day. On this day a tribute will be paid to the next of kin in the Canadian Army. All citizens will be asked to prepare meals on this day within the confines of a ration system that might become necessary. That night at 8:15 o'clock the Sherbrooke Regiment Band will present a band concert at Portland Square and there will be an English sing-song by the crowd.

On Wednesday, which is Dominion Day, a programme arranged by the Sherbrooke Dominion Day Committee, will be highlighted with Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke saluting the citizens of the city, with Mayor Ross taking the salute, at 9:30 a.m., at the Sherbrooke Baseball Park. At the time that, however, there will be acrobatics by Constable Bell and his Y.M.C.A. athletes, and a baseball game, Army vs. Notre Dame, at nine o'clock. The Harmony Band will be in attendance.

A large parade, which will pass on major local streets, will be held on Wednesday morning. Marchers will form at the Lansdowne Market at ten o'clock and the paraders will start moving at 10:30.

Soldiers' Day will be observed on Thursday when all ranks of the Army will be invited to the homes of citizens. The day will be observed. There will be a grand stand exhibition at eight o'clock at the Exhibition Grounds, where a free show for both soldiers and civilians will be presented. Lewney's Caravan will be a feature of the show.

A street dance on Wellington Street at ten o'clock Saturday will highlight United Nations' Day. Sunday has been set aside for religious services. At ten o'clock there will be an open air High Mass for Catholics at the grand stand on the Exhibition Grounds. At the same hour a drum-head Military Church parade is scheduled to be held at Portland Square, to which the Protestant civilian population is invited.

ANOTHER FLIER BRINGS HONOR TO SHERBROOKE

Sgt. Air Gunner Don Morrison, Who Downed Nazi Plane in Bremen Raid, Son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morrison, of this City.

Twenty-year-old Sergeant Air Gunner Donald Morrison, who knocked a German plane into the sea when it attempted to intercept the all-Canadian "Moose" Squadron on its way back from the pulverizing R.A.F. raid on Bremen Thursday night, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Morrison, of this city, his father being the local Canadian Pacific Railway Locomotive Foreman.

It was the first chance for Morrison, who was making his twenty-sixth operational flight in a Wellington bomber shipped by Squadron Leader Wolfe, of Regina, to use his gun on an enemy plane, and the entire crew saw the flaming ME-110 dive into the sea.

Sgt. Morrison, who attended high school at Chalk River, Ont., enlisted in the Canadian Army in July, 1940, at the age of eighteen, after his application into the Air Force in January, 1940, had been refused because he was too young. He transferred to the Air Force, however, in October of the same year.

Trained at Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal and Macdonald, Man., where he received his stripes, he went overseas in July, 1941, and was on operations with a Royal Air Force unit before getting into action with the all-Canadian squadron.

ONE CHIMNEY FIRE
A chimney blaze at the home of Roger Genest, 123 Vimy Street, was put out by the Municipal Fire Department at 8:40 o'clock this morning, before any damage resulted.

The department experienced another "fireless" day yesterday. There were no calls received during a twenty-four hour period.

ALUMINUM COLLECTION
Two hundred tons of aluminum were yielded by a nation-wide collection of beer bottle caps in Sweden, begun about a year ago.

Army Week Proclamation

The following proclamation has been issued in the name of His Majesty, King George VI, in connection with observance of Army Week, which will be inaugurated on Monday:

CANADA
GEORGE THE SIXTH, by the Grace of God of Great Britain, Ireland and the British Dominions beyond the Seas KING, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.
To All To Whom these Presents shall come or whom the same may in anywise concern,

GREETING:

WHEREAS it seems to Us fitting that an opportunity should be afforded Our Loving Subjects, the people of Canada, of paying tribute to the Canadian Army during a period set apart for that purpose, to be designated and known as "Army Week";

Now Know Ye that We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council for Canada, have thought fit to appoint and do by this Our Proclamation appoint the period commencing Monday, June 29, 1942, and ending Sunday, July 5, 1942, as "Army Week," during which it is Our request that Our Loving Subjects, the people of Canada, may pay honour to the Canadian Army.

And Further Know Ye that We do hereby request that during Army Week Our Loving Subjects, the people of Canada, shall, whenever possible, display flags and bunting on their private residences and on their places of business by way of expressing their pride and confidence in the men and women who, as members of the Canadian Army, have offered their lives, if need be, to defend their homes and their country.

Of All Whom Our Loving Subjects and all others whom these Presents may concern are hereby required to take notice and to govern themselves accordingly.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF We have caused these Our Letters to be made Patent and the Great Seal of Canada to be hereunto affixed. Witness: Our Dear Uncle, Our Right Trusty and Right Well Beloved Cousin and Counsellor, Alexander Augustus Frederick George, Earl of Athlone, Knight of Our Most Noble Order of the Garter, a Member of Our Most Honourable Privy Council, Knight Grand Cross of Our Most Honourable Order of the Bath, Grand Master of Our Most Distinguished Order of Saint Michael and Saint George, Knight Grand Cross of Our Royal Victorian Order, Companion of Our Distinguished Service Order, Colonel in our Army (retired), having the honorary rank of Major-General, one of Our Personal Aides-de-Camp, Governor General and Commander-in-Chief of Our Dominion of Canada.

AT OUR GOVERNMENT HOUSE, in Our City of Ottawa, this ninth day of June, in the year of Our Lord One thousand nine hundred and forty-two and in the Sixth year of Our Reign,
By Command,
N. A. McLARTY, Secretary of State.

Coming Week Will Give Civilian Keen Insight Into Life In Army

Typical Day for Soldier Begins at 6.30 O'Clock and Is Crowded with Activity and Entertainment—There Is Never a Dull Moment for the Men in Canada's Active Army.

By Machine-Gunner
A bugle is blown, a flag unfurled, and a new day has begun for the soldier in Canada's army. Routine is to be expected, but it may vary in camps, usually at the discretion of the officer commanding; a typical day begins at 6:30 a.m., or in military terminology, 0630 hours.

Life, for the recruit, is ever-changing, and although "Reveille" is the name given to the hour of arising, it means more than "Just getting up." First, of course, comes a shave in one of the comfortable wash-rooms, and then a general clean-up of the soldier's person and quarters. He soon learns how to fold his blankets in accordance with camp standing orders, how to arrange his kit, and in a matter of days after his initiation into the ranks he has learned to have pride in the appearance of his hut.

Breakfast, at seven a.m., convinces the soldier that he really is being considered, because beside his plate, he now finds fresh fruit. The first parade, physical training, is not until eight o'clock, so, for a while at least, leisure is the rule; last night is discussed from many interesting angles, and then back to work. Men are usually grouped in quarters at platoons, two platoons share a hut, and the huts are arranged to have companies centralized. The soldier's primary training is termed "basic," and in centres giving this training the number of men in a platoon varies, usually from forty to fifty.

The "P.T." parade begins, and the wheels of defence have begun to turn in harmony with the calling of the step or time for exercises by platoon N.C.O.'s. Days are divided into periods, in most camps a period means forty-five minutes, and happily, periods are separated by "breaks" of five minutes for relaxation. Before lunch time, the soldier has completed four periods, and has learned something new, perhaps about the Bren gun, map-reading, and possible defence against gas. From 11:20 a.m. to noon he is free to do what he will, and then, with the other members of his platoon, he parades to lunch. The afternoon consists of another group of four periods for the man in the army, beginning at 1:30 p.m., and ending at 4:30. Reasonably office his afternoon duties give him a chance to see the country beyond the limits of his own camp, because several periods are devoted to map work and the study of field-craft. Both subjects consist of the practical application of knowledge gained in a classroom.

Except for occasional days, when, for one reason or another, the entire establishment of a camp is confined to barracks, a soldier may leave his camp at 4:30 p.m., and his time is his own until ten. Although dinner is served at five o'clock he need not eat in camp and is free to keep such engagements as he may have made. Usually two nights a week are set aside as "leave nights," and then he need not be back until 11:30 or midnight, depending upon the time stated in orders.

Entertainment is provided for troops in barracks by the War Service, and usually there are movies two nights a week and means of relaxation provided for the others. All troops may attend the shows with the exception of those under going punishment for some minor misdeeds; these are given periods of C.B. (confined to barracks) by their company commanders, and while under sentence they are not allowed to enter the canteen in which the shows usually take place. In addition to this restriction, the offender has extra duties to perform after his day on the parade ground is finished. Grass has to be cut, dishes washed, and other odd jobs done; the C.B. man is usually the one called upon.

Off duty leave, that period between the completion of parades and the time the soldier must be

LOCAL TROOPS RETAINED FOR DOMINION DAY

Military Authorities Accede to Local Protests Against Despatch of Units for Montreal Parade.

The thousand soldiers from Sherbrooke who were ordered by Military District No. 4 to participate in the Montreal Dominion Day celebration, will remain in the city to take part in the local Dominion Day demonstration, it was announced today by City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers, following a telephonic conversation with Leon Trepanier, Assistant Director of Civil Recruiting at Montreal.

Mayor A. C. Ross yesterday wired National Defence Minister, J. L. Ralston, Ottawa, protesting the order of the department received here by military officials that eight hundred soldiers of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke and two hundred others from the Sherbrooke Training Centre were instructed to take part in the special parade being held in honor of King George VI in connection with the Montreal Army Week programme. The thousand militia men were to leave the city early Wednesday morning and return that night by special train. It was explained in the telegraphic protest communication by Mayor Ross that plans already had been arranged here for an Army Week rally and a huge Dominion Day parade for July 1st, pointing out that four hundred dollars already had been spent on the programme.

LOCAL C.P.C. MOBILE FORCE DRILLS MONDAY

Local drills of the Civilian Protection Committee Mobile Force will be inaugurated at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening at the Marquette Street Police Station, it was announced today. All auxiliaries are urged to participate in the Dominion Day celebration in Sherbrooke next Wednesday.

ON THE DECLINE
Texas, during 1939, had a tuberculosis death rate of 63.9 per 100,000 of its population, as compared with a rate of 65.3 per 100,000 of the population in the preceding year.

back in barracks, ends in most camps at ten o'clock. Roll call is taken by the N.C.O. in the hut, and any man not answering his name is marked A.W.O.L. on what is called a tattoo report. These reports are made out nightly, and a copy handed to the military police at the camp gate. A record is thus kept, and though a man may enter the barracks by some means other than the gate he is counted absent because his name appears on the list. This is considered proof that he wasn't in his hut at roll call, and tells his company commander that he came "over the fence."

Authorities agree that the average soldier is a reasonable person, and the converse is true. If a soldier has sufficient reason, in the mind of his company commander, he may be granted a revolve pass which will allow him to remain out of barracks until reveille on the day after the pass was issued, and even without this pass exceptions are occasionally made when soldiers have been kept late by circumstances beyond their control.

Roberts Mitchell, Of Granby, Again Elected President Of Wales Home

Richmond, June 27.—Officers were elected and reports covering the past year's operations presented yesterday afternoon at the annual meeting of the Wales Home for Old People, held at the Home with Roberts Mitchell, of Granby, presiding.

Mr. Mitchell was re-elected President of the Home for the year 1942-43, with the other officers also being returned to their positions as follows: Honorary President, Harry A. Norton; Honorary Vice-President, Col. John Price; First Vice-President, George E. Ewing of Sherbrooke; Second Vice-President, A. St. L. Triggs, of Melbourne; Secretary, Dr. C. E. Manning, of Richmond, and Treasurer, H. N. Becker, of Richmond.

G. Torrance was elected to the Executive Committee replacing the late M. G. Crombie, the other members, all re-elected, being D. J. Salls, H. E. Bieher, A. E. Curtis, W. R. Stevens, W. E. McIver, F. J. Campbell, Dr. G. A. Bowen, M. T. J. McKee, J. K. Edwards, A. St. L. Triggs, George E. Ewing, Manning, T. L. Tanner, A. C. Skinner, Roberts Mitchell, H. S. Ball, K. G. Nourse, E. E. Goodenough, F. E. M. Robinson and A. E. Dyson. Other committees are as follows: Finance: A. St. L. Triggs, H. E. Bieher, D. J. Salls, Dr. C. E. Manning, H. N. Becker, W. I. McIver and G. E. F. Pope.

House: K. G. Nourse, Angus MacRae, M. T. J. McKee, R. L. Mitchell, T. L. Tanner. Admission: W. E. McIver, A. E. Curtis, A. M. McKee, H. E. Bieher, C. O. Jones, J. K. Edwards, A. St. L. Triggs, C. E. Manning, Angus MacRae, R. L. Mitchell.

Farm: F. E. M. Robinson, G. T. Pope, C. Ross Hooley, A. E. Dyson, G. L. Wintle, W. R. Hooley and J. A. McClure, who was elected to replace the late J. W. Bidgood.

Nomination: D. J. Salls, W. E. McIver and M. T. J. McKee. H. W. Welsh, of Sherbrooke, and T. G. Torrance were named to the Board of Governors. McDonald, Currie and Co., Chartered Accountants, were re-elected Auditors.

At the meeting of Governors which was held following the annual meeting of the Corporation it was decided that in view of the wartime restrictions on travel the annual reception, usually held in August, would be cancelled for this year.

The report of the President showed that the chief preoccupation during the past twelve months had been to complete the undertakings entered into during the previous year. Reference was made to the loss through death of M. G. Crombie, Patron and an original subscriber; W. L. R. Stewart and Hon. W. F. Kay, of the Board of Governors, J. H. Bryce, auditor for many years, Mrs. Helen E. Howard, Mrs. W. H. Fuller, Mrs. J. S. Mitchell, Miss C. McMorine, D. W. Davis, Mrs. W. Bunbury, W. J. Bidgood, for many years a member of the Farm Committee, and Mrs. Hovey, President of the Sherbrooke Auxiliary, who took a great interest in the welfare of the Home. The drilling of a well to ensure an adequate supply of water, and the remodelling of the grounds around the Home were also reported.

In the report of Miss Lucy Shaw, Home Superintendent, it was noted that the year concluded had been comparatively favorable, with not as much illness among the residents as in previous years. For that reason more infirm patients from outside were admitted, there being an average number of seventeen patients throughout the year. Eighty-six people are in residence, thirty-seven being admitted during the year, one re-admitted, eight discharged and ten removed by death.

In his report for the finance committee, Mr. Triggs acknowledged the following donations to the Endowment Fund: $50, Mrs. Nelson Mitchell, of Granby; $100, Miss M. Bidgood Ewing, Sherbrooke; $358.31, Estate of David Dunlop, Windsor Mills; $5,000, Estate of Mrs. Margaret Robinson, Upper Melbourne. During the year the sum of $3,150 was paid off mortgages held by the Home, and $1,000 was invested in the extension of a mortgage already held.

In the statement of revenue and expenditure it was noted that excess of expenditure over income for the year was $1,492.15. Revenue included $152.20 from the sale of eggs, and $1,054.29, the farm operating profit.

Mr. Melver reported for the Admission Committee and A. E. Dyson read the report of V. R. Beattie, Farm Manager, which showed that the Home had 53 head of pure-bred Holsteins, with a total valuation of $5,210. A capital investment of $458 was made for new implements, $320 worth of hay was purchased, and repairs to building and fencing amounted to $290.

Members of the Corporation expressed their complete satisfaction with the work of Miss Shaw, who is starting her twenty-first year as Superintendent. D. J. Salls, President, Mitchell and J. Fuller, of Granby, voiced in behalf of the Corporation, the appreciation of the out-of-town members for the work done for the Home by the residents of Richmond and Melbourne.

WILLIE DUSSAULT SAYS:

Well has it been said that we rate high as "floor-fixers." When it comes to fixing cracked floors—thus cutting down fuel bills and adding to the comfort of the entire household—we rate high. Because of the coming fuel shortage, every homeowner should consider it his patriotic duty to have all repairs done now so that heat losses will be cut to a minimum. Phone me today. Let me make an estimate on any home repair. There's no obligation.

IN THE WOMEN'S SPHERE

A TRUMPET CALL TO LOCAL WOMEN FOR JULY FIRST

Women's Committee Appeals to All Patriotic Women to Help Celebrate Dominion Day, Canada's Own Birthday.

By MRS. A. F. FRASER

The committee of local women, representing all patriotic organizations, is most desirous that the women of Sherbrooke should rally and support the general effort to fittingly observe Dominion Day, next Wednesday, July 1.

Perhaps the influence of women in the decorating of the city for Canada's natal day might best begin in the home, where she reigns supreme, but in order to avoid any mistakes or misunderstandings perhaps a few suggestions might at this time be opportune.

That the "unity" which brought about Confederation may continue forever is the heart's desire of every true and loyal Canadian, and to preserve this priceless heritage there is a solemn duty and obligation, therefore in decorating always give the place of honor to Canada's official and only flag, the Union Jack. Should other emblems be used, be quite certain of their significance and remember that they, the flags of our Allies, must ever be hung a little lower than the Union Jack and never without it.

No matter how artistic or colorful, no flag or emblem of enemy countries should find a place in Canada, especially on Dominion Day when with a united "Home Front" we again swear allegiance to England's eldest daughter, the Dominion of Canada, and her standard, the Union Jack.

Digestion — The Great Process of Life

Acute indigestion may arise from over-eating or the use of food which is difficult to digest.

But chronic indigestion, which stays with you, causing sleepless nights, headaches, bodily pains and depressed spirits, is usually the result of torpid liver and constipation. The process of digestion is held up and the body is poisoned by accumulated waste matter.

The use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills helps to arouse the torpid liver to action, the bile flows freely to the intestines, stimulating these organs and soon everything is going fine. What a pleasure it is to enjoy your meals and feel that there will be no discomfort afterwards.

MIND YOUR MANNERS

Test your knowledge of correct social usage by answering the following questions; then checking against the authoritative answers given below:

1. If you intend to go to a near-by city on business, should you expect to use a friend's house as a hotel during your stay?

2. Is it necessary to let your hostess know ahead of time that you plan to visit her for a few days, if she happens to be a relative of yours?

3. Is it a good idea to wire a relative that you are arriving next day for a "good long visit" if the only invitation you have received from the relative was a vague "come and see us some time"?

4. If you are a house guest and your hostess has recently stopped serving liquor, should you complain about it?

5. If your host and hostess have to work in the garden while you are their house guest, should you offer to help?

What would you do if—
You call on a woman who obviously is having a bad time, the telephone ringing, the baby crying, etc.

(a) Make your visit very brief, cutting it short if possible with some excuse like, "I just stopped by to see if you can come over for a cup of tea Thursday?"

(b) Stay as long as you had intended, trying to ignore the confusion and the interruptions?

Answers

1. No. That is an imposition.

2. Yes.

3. No. Wait for a more definite invitation before deciding to make a "nice, long visit."

4. No.

5. Certainly. Don't say gardens bore you and then eat heartily of all your hostess' fresh vegetables.

Better "What Would You Do" solution—(b).

Later the hostess served refreshments with Miss Rosa Trussler and Mrs. Matthews assisting. The Club's next meeting will be held at Mrs. Spackman's home on the Montreal Road.

Mrs. William Gordon entertained delightfully at the tea hour on Wednesday afternoon in honor of her sister, Mrs. William N. Stack, of New York, who is her house guest at 209 London Street. Garden flowers in profusion were placed about the already attractive room. In the dining room where tea was served, Mrs. Ronald H. Welsh and Miss Isabel Mutchler presided at the lace-covered table which was centered with an arrangement of garden flowers in a silver rose bowl and pale pink candles in Sheffield candlesticks. Assisting in the tea room were Miss Sue Reid and Mrs. Harold Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred W. Davey were the guests of honor on Tuesday evening at a largely-attended and most delightful buffet supper given at "Strenslwood" by Mr. and Mrs. J. Gordon Armitage's beautiful suburban home on the Montreal Road, by a group of intimate friends on the occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding day. Garden flowers in profusion from the quite famous Strenslwood gardens, were arranged about the verdant and in the already attractive rooms, where the many guests were so graciously entertained by the genial host and his charming wife. Supper was served in the dining room, the beautifully-appointed table, which was covered with an exquisite lace banquet cloth, being centered with a wedding cake topped and surrounded with mock orange syringa blooms with fernery and lighted with many pale blue and white candles in crystal candelabra with prisms. John Davey, mother of the groom, poured tea and Mrs. G. T. Armstrong presided at the other Sheffield service, pouring coffee. Afterwards bridge was played at five tables. During the interim Mr. Gordon Armitage on behalf of their friends presented Mr. and Mrs. Davey with a beautiful Sheffield tray, and voiced in a felicitous and happy manner their congratulations and best wishes. Among the guests from out of town were Mrs. A. (Brownie) Baker, a bridesmaid at the Davey-Mitchell wedding twenty-five years ago, and Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell, the former Mrs. Davey's brother, Lennoxville, and Mr. and Mrs. E. Richardson, of Montreal.

HEARTY SANDWICH

Ever try slices of broiled crisp bacon and peanut butter between slices of whole wheat bread? A good sandwich, and hearty.

A Scotsman had won twenty-two shillings at bridge. His opponent ran through his pockets, but could find only a pound, which he handed over with the remark that he was afraid he was a couple of shillings short.

"Pooh!" said the Scotsman, "never mind about the two shillings, I'll just tak' yer wristwatch."

Mr. Earle Hall has left for Moss-town, N.S., where she will spend the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil A. Howitt are in Rock Island today to attend the marriage of the latter's cousin, Miss Sybil Sandish, to Mr. Wayne C. Miller, of Palmer, Mass.

Mrs. Allan Bayley was among those who helped to entertain the guests who attended the garden party given by Mr. G. S. Thomson for the Duke of Wellington Chapter I.O.D.E., when during the tea hour she told tea-cup-fortunes.

Mrs. Donald Dundin entertained delightfully at dinner on Thursday evening at her home on Council Street, in honor of Miss Alma Grogire, a July bride-to-be. Covers were laid for eight, the table being charmingly done with pink roses, the same floral decorations also adorning the buffet. In addition to the bride-elect the guests included Mrs. Aime Bergeron, Mrs. Roland Delorme, Mrs. P. Marcoux, Miss E. Bringle, Miss Esther Vallee and Miss M. Kirouac.

After the lovely dinner, finding her hostess presented the guest of honor with an appropriate souvenir gift.

Mrs. Ashley Hunter and Mrs. Guy Littlejohn acted jointly as hostesses on Wednesday evening at the former's home on Warren Street, Lennoxville, in honor of Miss Olive Jenne, a bride-to-be of the month. The guest-of-honor was sent on a treasure hunt for her shower gifts of lovely linen, finding her directions on the ceiling. After the "hunt," tea and dainty refreshments were served, lighted blue candles adorning the table at which Mrs. Frank Jenne, mother of the bride-elect, did the honors. Mock orange blossoms and peonies were used to decorate the already attractive room, and the hostesses were assisted in serving by Mrs. Leslie Byrne and Miss Doris Ross.

Mrs. A. J. J. and Mrs. R. S. Giff acted jointly as conveners for a delectable strawberry short-cake tea given under the auspices of St. Andrew's Auxiliary in the Church Hall on Thursday afternoon. The many guests were cordially received by Mrs. W. R. Bell, President, and Mrs. A. Michie, acting as cashier. Garden flowers in profusion were arranged about the hall and adorned the pretty tea table at which Mrs. W. R. Northridge did the honors. The small tables were also centered with small bowls of dainty garden flowers. The tea conveners were assisted by Mrs. L. W. Wells and Mrs. H. Gilbert, and serving were Mrs. E. Kenalty, Mrs. George Eklund and Mrs. W. Sjlander. An additional attraction was the apron and food table in charge of Mrs. J. Sawyer, with Mrs. George MacRae assisting.

Lively, New Games Mean End of Stuffy Evenings

Clever Card Game Makes Hit

Yours is a popular house where you know lively games, can keep the fun going for a two-or-more-or-four-or-more! No stuffy evenings then—wondering what to do.

Friends drop in! Out comes the card deck and you plunge merrily into the exciting game "Remember."

Each player is given one card and the remainder are spread face down on a table. The object of the game is to get as many pairs as you can, drawing one card at a time.

But here's the trick you need to win! When a player draws a card which won't make a pair he must return it to the table—first showing everybody what it is. And you must REMEMBER where he put the card so you can grab it when you need it to make a pair. A trick that keeps everybody happy!

Fun, too, for "at home" evenings are stunts like "Rising Wrist." Perform a little voodoo on a guest and against his will his wrists start rising, like slowly flapping wings! Know the stunts and games that make you a popular hostess. Our brand-new 32-page booklet is chockful of good card games, puzzles, nonsense, games of action and skill, games on paper, for two or more people.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of Games and Stunts for Two or More" to Daily Record, Home Service, Sherbrooke, Quebec. Be sure to write plainly your name, address, and the name of booklet.

MARRIAGES

O'DONNELL-NEILAN

Quebec, June 27.—The marriage of Katherine Marie, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Neilan, of Quebec, to Mr. D'Arcy O'Donnell, son of Mrs. O'Donnell, of Richmond, and the late Mr. Michael O'Donnell, took place in St. Patrick's Church at seven o'clock this morning. The Reverend Edward McDonald officiating.

Mr. Hoffner, organist, presided at the organ, and accompanied Mr. William O'Reilly, who sang several selections.

Tall standards of multi-colored peonies, jacksup and ferns, interspersed with pointed palms were used to decorate the Church inside the altar rail.

The bride who was unattended, was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Edward Neilan, and wore a dressmaker suit of feather-weight aqua tulle, a skull cap model of forget-me-nots, with shoulder-length veil of blue tulle illusion.

Her shoes, underarm bag and accessories were of natural tone crushed kid, and she carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and forget-me-nots.

Private Michael O'Donnell acted as best man for his brother.

After the ceremony the reception was held at the St. Louis Hotel.

Later the bride and groom left on a cruise up the Saguenay, thence to Montreal, Sherbrooke and Richmond.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Donnell will reside in Montreal.

The out-of-town guests included Mrs. Michael O'Donnell, the groom's mother, Miss Mary O'Donnell, Mr. Thomas O'Donnell, Richmond, Miss Anne O'Donnell, Miss Florence O'Donnell, Mr. Frank O'Donnell, and Mr. Gerald O'Donnell, of Montreal.

STRATTON-SMITH

Rutland, Vt., June 27.—A wedding of special interest to friends in Beebe and vicinity took place in Rutland, Vt., at noon June 20, in St. Paul's Universalist Church, when Miss Marjorie June Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton F. Smith, Lincoln Avenue, local bride, was united in marriage to the Rev. Raymond M. Scott, of the Rev. Raymond M. Scott, of Rutland, Vt., who was best man. The ushers were Robert Richardson and Glenn Smith.

The bride wore a gown of white mousseline de sole, with a shoulder-length veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and swansonia.

The maid of honor wore a gown of pink organza and lace and she carried pink roses and blue delphiniums.

Miss Polly Cole, of Barre, Vt., sang a solo, "Because," before the ceremony. Mrs. Robert Noble was the organist.

Mrs. Stratton is a graduate of Rutland High School, class of 1941, and attended Dean Junior College in Franklin, Mass. Sergeant Stratton is also a graduate of Rutland High School. In December, 1940, he enlisted in the United States Army Air Corps and is now stationed at Mitchell Field, Long Island.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Mrs. Beaman Stratton, Miss Polly Cole, of Barre, Vt., Miss Lorraine Hutchins, of Saugus, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kearton and J. G. Kearton, Jr., of Union City, N.J., Miss Betty Thayer, of Burlington, and Miss Elizabeth Walker, of Bel-lows Falls.

Letter From Minister Of National Defence Urges Full Co-Operation During Army Week

MINISTER OF NATIONAL DEFENCE

OTTAWA.

To the Citizens of Canada.

It has been decided to mark the period from June 29th to July 5th, 1942, as "Army Week". The purpose is to give the people of Canada an opportunity of expressing their pride in the Canadian Army and honouring the Gentleman in Battledress, the Nursing Sisters and the Members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

During Army Week, citizens will have an unusual opportunity of seeing the Army at work. Each day has been set aside for some specific purpose. Monday, June 29th, for instance, has been made "Soldier's Day" when the public will be invited to send gifts and parcels to the men overseas and when they can entertain the men at dances and other special entertainments. The next day, June 30th, is "Civilians' Day", when civilians will be asked to prepare meals on a food ration system and restaurants will serve meals identical to those served to Canadian soldiers. On Dominion Day there will be garrison parades and special military demonstrations. The 2nd, 3rd and 4th of July will equally be devoted to enabling Canadians to learn at first hand various phases of Army activities.

Army Week will wind up on Sunday, July 5th, when the public will be invited to attend church services in Army camps and barracks, and special prayers will be offered for the members of the Armed Forces. On that day, camps will be open to the public and demonstrations and displays of barracks and camps will be arranged.

As Minister of National Defence, I am intensely proud of the men and women in khaki and of the women in Nursing Service blue who are serving Canada. I am sure that my fellow Canadians feel just as I do. I extend a most cordial invitation to all of you to express this well deserved appreciation by joining in the events of Army Week.

Yours very truly,

J.L.R.

AT THE LOCAL THEATRES

Jean Gabin and Ida Lupino in "Moon Tide," which begins today at the Granada Theatre.

William Gargan, Margaret Lindsay and Charley Grapewin in "A Close Call for Ellery Queen," which begins tomorrow at the New Premier.

At The Granada

The long-awaited appearance of Jean Gabin in his first American motion picture takes place in "Moon Tide," which begins today at the Granada Theatre.

Aided by splendid performances by Ida Lupino, Thomas Mitchell, and Claude Rains, Gabin makes the film a memorable addition to the season's roster of fine motion pictures—and one of its best.

Those who were stirred by Gabin's previous portrayals in French pictures will find him at the peak of his talent in "Moon Tide," while those who meet Gabin for the first time are certain of a great film experience.

The feature has been excellently directed by Archie Mayo, while the production leaves nothing to be desired under the guidance of Mark Hellinger. The screenplay by John O'Hara preserves the dramatic flavor of the Willard Robertson best-selling novel.

The other picture is "Dangerously They Live," starring John Garfield, Nancy Coleman and Raymond Massey.

At The New Premier

With William Gargan in the title role, "A Close Call for Ellery Queen" provides the feature entertainment beginning at the New Premier Theatre tomorrow.

The suave sleuth of fiction and screen fame is here confronted with a varied assortment of clueless crimes, including a triple homicide, blackmail, and the mysterious disappearance of some $50,000 in small bills.

Contributing to the excitement are Margaret Lindsay, who again is seen delightfully as Nikki Porter, Queen's lovely young secretary, whose man-hunting efforts are directed at either Ellery or at criminals; Charley Grapewin, as Inspector Queen, Ellery's policeman-father who finds it difficult to keep pace with his criminologist-son; and James Burke, as Sergeant Velle, the flat-footed cop who never does quite catch up to any of them.

FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE

An Exciting Adventure

THERE were very few people at Rock Point because it was too early in the season, but Carl and Ruby did not mind that. In fact, they thought it was a good thing. In the first place, they were just getting over whooping cough and if there had been a lot of people around, they would have had to stay away from them. In the second place, they did not have to dress up when there was nobody to see how they looked.

"I don't like it," said Ruby. "I guess I'll stay outside and watch. When I see the waves coming I'll call you."

"You see there's a house on top of this rock," said Frank. "There's a cross old man lives in the house, and he carries a cane with a gold knob, and one time when I stayed on the rock too long and got chased up by the tide, he chased me away."

"Well, I certainly don't like it called every once in awhile, but the boys paid no attention to her. Pretty soon she heard the water hiss and a wave unrolled itself at her feet like a long carpet, one end of which slid into the mouth of the cave. She jumped up with a little cry and putting her head into the cave she called: "Carl! Carl!"

There was no reply. At first Ruby felt like running into the cave to warn the boys, then she thought, "Frank said they could hang from the roof. Carl is a good climber and I'm not. If I go in they might drown trying to save me."

So instead of going in, she ran as fast as she could to Miss James and shouted in her ear that the boys were trapped in the cave. Of course, the poor lady was very much frightened. There was nobody on the beach, but Ruby said: "There's an old gentleman in the house up on top with a cane and he chases people, but maybe he would know what to do." So they hurried to the big house on top of the pile of rocks.

Meanwhile the boys were having plenty of excitement. They had not heard Ruby call them, because Carl had coaxed Frank to explore the cave with him and they had gone deeper and deeper, squirming along a very small passage and coming out into another cavern, very black and dark. Frank struck matches and they found themselves in a glistening weird place fit for a pirate den. Just then, Frank cried: "Gee, listen to that! Look!"

He had heard the water hissing along the small passage by which they had come, and now he pointed to the floor which had suddenly become covered with cold sea water.

"We can't go back," he said. "We'll have to find a place to hang ourselves up."

"Maybe we can go on," said Carl. In a scared voice.

They found another opening in the cave higher than the one they had crept through so they stumbled along it, feeling real scared now.

"I oughtn't to have let you come in here," said Frank. "We may get drowned and what'll your sister say?"

Carl cried a little, but he did not let Frank know, and Frank cried

"The Exciting Part," said Frank, "is When the Tide Comes In"

Miss James, an old school teacher, very deaf and absent-minded, came with them and, of course, their old nurse, Lizzie Lee. Dad and mother and the baby stayed behind in the city.

Every day it was nice, the children were allowed on the beach to play, and Miss James would sit down with a book, or Lizzie Lee would bring her grapevine edging which she had been making for years, and keep an eye on the children while they played.

One day a stranger came to where Carl and Ruby were. He was a boy about nine years old, and he stood watching their play with a little smile on his face, as if he were saying: "Very nice, but childish!"

"Why don't you go away and make your own sand castles," said Carl at last. "It's rude to stare."

"Oh, I've made so many sand castles I don't get any fun out of it any more," replied the strange boy.

"Well, if you haven't had whooping cough, you'd better go away from us," said Ruby.

"I've had it," said the boy. "I've had everything, measles, mumps, diphtheria, scarlet fever, chicken-pox, water-on-the-knee."

"Well, then," said Carl, "Come on and play with us."

"I never play here," said the strange boy.

"Why not?" asked Ruby.

"It's not exciting enough," replied the boy with a yawn.

Of course, the children wanted to know where he did play, and when he replied: "In the cave," they were filled with curiosity. They had not known there was a cave.

"Well, ask Miss James and you can take us to it," said Carl, racing up the beach to where his old friend sat with her favorite book.

Carl talked very loudly, but the meaning of the sea, or maybe the wind, made Miss James hearing duller than usual. She thought he said: "May we go paddling in the waves?" But what he said was: "May we go exploring in the caves?" So she said "Yes" because it was quite a nice balmy day with a land breeze.

Off ran Carl and Ruby with their new companion, who said his name was Frank.

They soon came to a big pile of rocks towering above their heads, which at high tide was partly covered with water. Up among the rocks was a small hole into which the new boy led them. When they got clear inside, they found quite a large cave, very dark and mysterious with a pool in the middle.

"The exciting part," explained Frank, "is not getting caught in here when the tide comes in, because if you do get caught in here you would either get drowned, or else you would have to hang yourself up on the roof until the water ebbed."

"Maybe we better go out now," said Ruby, nervously.

"Oh, you needn't be in a hurry," said Frank. "You get a warning. First you hear the water hissing outside. That's the first warning. Then there are several waves come in. The first one covers your feet. You can easily get out before the big ones get in."

"LET'S HAVE A PARADE!"

(To be colored with paints or crayons. Whenever you come to a word spelled in CAPITAL letters use that color.)

BROWN-haired Teddy and YEL-LOW-haired Susie May and little RED (use RED and YEL-LOW mixed) headed Peter march down the GRAY (use BLACK lightly) walk.

"Let's have a parade! I'll be the captain and band leader!" shouts Teddy. "I'll wear my tall YELLOW paper hat with its RED paper tassel and blow my YEL-LOW horn. I've a good RED baton, too, with a YELLOW ball at the end. Come on! Come on! Forward march!"

"I've got a RED mouth organ!" says Peter. "And I can wear this GREEN box for a cap—a real pill box hat."

"I am going to wear my PUR-PLE and White cap with a PINK (use RED lightly) feather in the top," says Susie May. "And I am the drummer. See how well I can keep time!" Her drum is fastened on a long RED leather strap about her neck. The drum has YELLOW sides and RED cords on the sides. The head of the drum is White. Her drum sticks are YELLOW with RED heads.

Teddy wears a White sailor suit with BLUE collar and cuffs trimmed with White braid. His tie is RED. His shoes are BROWN. Peter wears a bright RED suit with big White buttons on it. His collar is White and his tie RED. He wears White shoes with YEL-LOW soles.

Susie May has a BLUE jumper dress on. The gumpie is White. Her head is RED, White and BLUE. She wears BLUE socks and BROWN shoes. Her bracelet is BLUE.

The grass is GREEN. There are RED and YELLOW flowers growing on low bushes along the path, and little BLUE forget-me-nots.

All three children have PINK (use RED lightly) cheeks and RED lips.

Paint the border of this picture RED and the lettering BLUE.

THE FRIGATE BIRD

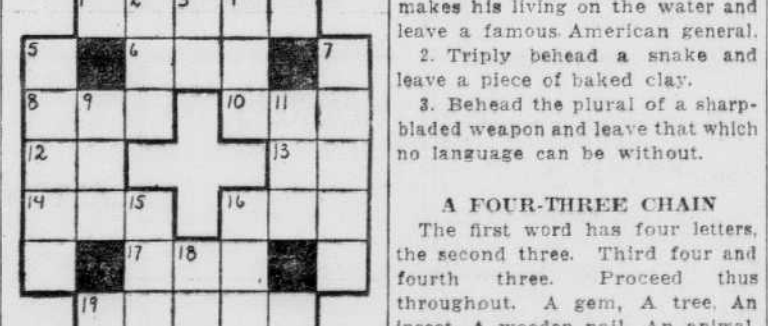

Though the petrel is swift, the frigate bird is far swifter. Seamen generally believe that the frigate bird can start at daybreak with the Trade winds from the coast of Africa and coast that same night upon the American shore. Whether this is a fact has not yet been conclusively determined, but it is certain that this bird is the swiftest of winged creatures, and is able to fly under favorable conditions two hundred miles an hour.

ADJUSTABLE FENCE OR TRELLIS

FOUR fences like this will be handy in the garden for they will enclose a space about ten feet square. By compressing or extending the fence it may be made to enclose a much smaller space, or another say twelve feet square or larger, or they may be joined on end. If but one section is needed it may be made with twenty-two slats or laths $\frac{1}{2}$ " x $1\frac{1}{2}$ " x 35" long. Bore a $\frac{1}{4}$ " hole in the center and others 2" from each end. Thirty-two 1" x $\frac{1}{4}$ " carriage bolts will be needed to hold the fence together and one round head $1\frac{1}{2}$ " x No. 10 screw driven through the fence and into the post as at A. Three posts 1" x $2\frac{1}{2}$ " x 48", pointed on the end as indicated may be pushed into the ground to support the fence. The bottom of the fence should be loose so it may be open or closed to suit a certain distance or to reduce it to the smallest compass for winter storage. Paint the slats and the posts two coats of white lead paint before assembling them.

The Last Day of School

DING goes the bell on the last day of school, Good bye to lessons and farewell to rules, Out from the schoolhouse high up on the hill Laughing the children trip over the sill For school days are over, vacation is here And lessons are done till the fall of the year.

THE JUNIOR COOK

Wash, pick over and wrap in a damp cloth several heads of endive. Keep in a cold place for several hours till crisp and cold. Make a dressing by mixing together:

$\frac{1}{2}$ ounce Roquefort cheese, crumbled fine.
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cupful salad oil.
 $\frac{1}{4}$ cupful white vinegar.
1 teaspoonful salt.
 $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoonful paprika.

Arrange the leaves of endive neatly on individual plates. (If celery hearts are used better put them on a leaf of lettuce, but the endive may be served plain.) Spoon the dressing over carefully and serve at once with toasted salt water. This dressing makes enough for seven servings.

Pack up the Speller and Arithmetic, too. All the outdoors now is calling to you. All the green meadows and wood-lands so cool. Seem to invite you this last day of school. No wonder the pupils run out with such noise. For vacation's a time loved by all girls and boys.

A Wizard With The Brush

PETER PAUL RUBENS
Born June 29, 1577 Died May 30, 1640

TO the father who was held a political prisoner in Slegen was first brought the news of the birth of a little son on the 29th of June in 1577. The mother who had loyally followed her husband to the place of his imprisonment, rejoiced that her days of exile would now be brightened by the presence of the little boy, so Peter Paul, as he was called, came into the world to gladden the hearts of those around him. If that were his divine mission he fulfilled it, for his life work gave joy to his contemporaries and has delighted the artistic soul of man ever since.

When Peter Paul was nine years old his father died, and his mother, who had been longing for her homeland, returned with the boy to Antwerp. For three years the boy Rubens went to school and served as page in the service of Countess Lalange.

The lad had a charming personality, great tact, courtly grace of manner and unusual intelligence. He made friends readily and once known was long remembered. When he displayed inclination to study art his education was supervised by the leading masters of the city who immediately recognized his genius and endeavored to further him in his ambition. So he was sent to Italy, where he was engaged in the service of the Duke of Mantua and for whom he did many of his now famous paintings.

The Duke recognizing the social qualities of the young man further entrusted him with a secret mission to Philip III of Spain, and Rubens' diplomatic career was begun.

Upon his return to Antwerp in 1608, Rubens was appointed Court Painter to Archduke Albert, who built for him a magnificent Italian mansion to be used as a studio. Here he painted "The Christ Bearing" and "Descent From the Cross" and his fame was immediately established. Pupils flocked to his palace studio. So great was the demand on his time that he had to refer eager art students to other masters.

Rubens was a diplomat and a master as well as an artist. He saw the value to be derived from his pupils, many of whom later won independent fame. He allowed them to assist him with his paintings and so well was his system of work arranged that the bulk of the actual paintings was done by the assistants. Rubens designed the canvasses and later applied the finishing touches after his assistants had laid the color. In this way remarkable qualities of painting were accomplished in comparatively short time.

In 1622 Marie de Medici, mother of King Louis XIII of France, invited Rubens to paint a series of allegorical pictures representing scenes in her life, which paintings were to be hung in a gallery of the Luxembourg in Paris; so far had his fame as an artist spread. But his fame as a diplomatist was also growing.

In 1628 he embarked on a diplomatic mission to Philip IV of Spain, and the following year became the envoy to Charles I of England to assist in private negotiations to establish peace between

Montreal Drops Four Games Behind Newark In I.L. Race

Roser, New Newark Pitcher, Hurls Five-Hit 3-0 Verdict Over Syracuse Chiefs While Andy (High) Sierra Scatters Seven Royals Hits to Give Buffalo 4-2 Verdict—Toronto Trims Rochester 7-1.

If first impressions are lasting, there will be some more grey hairs on the heads of seven International League managers now that Emerson Roser, husky righthander, has joined Newark Bears, of the International League.

Making his second start since coming from Kansas City Blues, of the American Association, Roser hurled a five-hit 3-0 verdict over Syracuse Chiefs last night. Nate Andrews, of the Chiefs, gave up only four hits but his wildness proved his undoing as walks to Frank Keller and Henry Majeski in the seventh inning led to the first two Newark runs.

The triumph was Roser's second against one defeat. He previously received credit for a victory in a relief role against Rochester Red Wings.

The second-place Montreal Royals dropped four games behind the Bears while losing to Buffalo Bisons, 4-2. Andy (High) Sierra turned in his eighth conquest of the campaign by scattering seven Royal hits while his mates made the most of the eight they received from Spencer Smith to bring to an end a three-game Montreal winning streak.

Buffalo clinched the game with a two-run, sixth-inning rally with Sierra driving in one of the scores with a single, Jim Outlaw and Mike Rocco led the Bison assault with two hits each.

Al Rubeling led an 11-hit attack against Rochester Red Wings with four for four, including a home-run as Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Birds, 7-1.

Bill Beckman, of the Leafs, allowed only six hits but one was a home-run by Warren Robinson in the eighth inning to rob him of a shut-out. In addition to his homer, Rubeling had two doubles and a single.

The Leafs scored five of their runs off Ira Hutchinson, who gave up nine hits in his seven-inning start on the mound. Leo Sakas was touched for the final two Toronto tallies.

The Jersey City double-header at Baltimore was postponed.

Like Smith, Al Benton, of Detroit Tigers, and Cliff Melton, of New York Giants, turned in sparkling performances to justify their All-Star nominations.

Benton tossed a six-hitter at Philadelphia Athletics as Pinky Higgins chipped in with two doubles to lead the Tigers to a 3-1 victory, the fifth for Benton against a like number of defeats.

Dick Newsome also gave up only half a dozen blows in hurling the Red Sox to their 3-2 triumph over the Indians in a night game, and four of them went to Les Fleming.

St. Louis Browns halted a four-game losing streak by rapping Buck Newsom and Washington Senators, 8-5, in a night game as Chet Laabs and Harold Clift each drove in three runs.

A 10th-inning squeeze play scored the run that gave Brooklyn its triumph over the Reds and handed undefeated Larry French his seventh mound triumph, although he worked only the last two innings. Dolph Camilli hammered his 11th homer to tie the score for the third time in the eighth, and Peeewe Reese bunted him the winning marker with the bases loaded. Joe Medwick went hitless, ending his batting streak at 27 games, six short of Rogers Hornsby's National League record.

Melton notched his ninth victory compared with five losses by holding Pittsburgh Pirates to half a dozen safeties and contributed further to the 4-2 Giant victory by bagging two of his team's six hits. Five Buc errors helped the New Yorkers. Jimmy Foxx clouted his first home-run since switching to the National League, a two-run blast with two out in the ninth inning to give Chicago Cubs a 6-4 decision over Boston Braves. Home runs by Max West and Paul Waner kept the Braves in the game.

St. Louis Cardinals' night contest with the tail-end Philadelphia Phils was postponed.

PIANISSIMO IS INTERLOPER IN DODGER LINEUP

Brooklyn Fans Would Prefer Another Joe Medwick—MacPhail Reported After Arturo Toscanini.

By HARRY GRAYSON
New York, June 27.—No fantasy, this, J. Reid Spencer, the 70-year-old concert pianist whose misfortune it is to live near Ebbets Field, has won a tremendous victory. Mr. Spencer, who hailed the Brooklyn management to court to compel it to cease the pre-game organ music, has received assurances that Gladys Gooding, the noise box impresario, will hereafter play pianissimo. This has caused quite a ripple on the Gowanus.

We take you to our favorite Flat-bush pub, where the following animated conversation takes place:

Joe: I hold de Dodgers am going to play pianissimo?

Mac: Never hold of de bum. Can he hit as good as Medwick?

Joe: Pianissimo ain't no ball player. Dat's music for Gladys on de organ.

Mac: Oh, I gets it. Gladys ain't gonna play de organ. She's gonna play de pianissimo. Dat's a little pianer.

Joe: Naw. Some guy named Spencer was herling about de organ music. So de Bums promised to play concert music. Stuff by Beethoven, Hams, Hidi' and some other guys.

Mac: Which one of dem Bums wrote de Joicey Bounce? Gladys can sure use her left on dat baby.

Joe: I dunno, but what do you think of dat bum Spencer complainin' about de music. He must be a Giant fan.

Mac: Yeh, sounds like a Terry man to me. Dose peepul in New York is crazy.

Next week: East Lynne.

Of course, it could only happen on the banks of the Gowanus, and where did Larry MacPhail get the organ idea in the first place? Someone said he got it at Macy's.

Reports have it that next year Arturo Toscanini is going to lead a small ensemble in chamber music at the Bedford Avenue lot. Being naturally curious about this, we called Toscanini, asked if there were any truth to the rumor.

"Absurd," insisted the virtuoso, "utterly absurd."

But wait until Loud Speaker MacPhail starts selling the maestro a bill of goods.

And it wouldn't be two innings before the incredible Brooklyn fans were calling the eminent conductor "Art."

Typical Joe McCarthy statement: "There was nothing wrong with the pitching. We didn't get the hitting. We were in a slump."

"Maybe we had a losing streak coming to us. I dunno. We hadn't had one all year. I'm glad it was no worse than it was. We're seven games in front."

"When we start hitting again we'll be all right."

Well, if Manager McCarthy doesn't say much, what he does say adds up.

There being nothing wrong with the pitching, the Yankees will be all right when they start hitting again.

Montreal Reported Lining Up Crack Backfield Players

Toronto, June 27.—(C)—Football talk is brewing once again along the Montreal boulevards. And Dink (Montreal Gazette) Carroll hears that Coach Bill Hughes of Montreal's Big Four team will be replaced by a newcomer from out of town, in an effort to bring an end to those disastrous seasons the team has been having. A grid executive tells Carroll that there'll be a couple of sneaky new backfield men (not including Red Storey) in Montreal together this season. These new ball toters are said to be already located in the city.

Wing Commander Pitt Clayton, who recently returned to Canada after winning the Distinguished Flying Cross and Bar Overseas, got quite a kick out of the way horse races are run in England, according to Stu (Vancouver Province) Kate. Pitt was telling the boys all about it at a baseball luncheon in Vancouver. He was so enthusiastic after placing his bet Clayton drifted up into the stands. Suddenly, he heard someone say "they're off." But let Clayton take it from there.

Said Clayton: "I turned around and looked. I couldn't see anything. Finally by dint of considerable straining I saw a few heads bobbing along atop a hedge and I guess that they must have been the beetles. Of course, the blighters have to do everything different over there. The bleedin' horses couldn't run anti-clockwise. No sir. They were running clockwise. Just the opposite to us."

Incidentally—Lou Wyman, one half of Maxie Berger's managerial combination, has left with Berger for Calgary where the Montreal scrapper will take on Al Lust. Wyman says it's to be recognized as a title bout by the Western Boxing Federation, although not sanctioned as such by the Dominion body. Asked how come, Lou said that the Western group was giving its approval to the scrap as a title bout because the "fight game is dead in the East."

Jockey Merrill Packer rode three winners in successive days at Montreal's Blue Bonnets track. Pete Morin, Canadiens' left winger, still hasn't recovered from an injury suffered when knocked to the ice by John Mariucci of the Hawks last winter. He suffers occasional paralysis in the left hand. Lou (Halifax Chronicle) Zwierling says that the Victoria swimming flash, Gordie Lawrence, is rumored due for a shift from Halifax to some place where he'll be able to get in training along atop a hedge and I guess that they must have been the championships at Ste. Adele, Que.

Remember Lou Sakas, who used to do some pitching for Sherbrooke when the local P-ovincial Baseball League was operating under the ill-fated management of Doc Gautreau? Well, Mr. Sakas, who really could pitch quite a game when the inclination hit him, is now up in a little faster company, working in the uniform of Rochester Red Wings in the International League. You see Lou's name quite often in the summaries of Rochester games, and apparently he is the work to pitch for New York.

WHIRLWAY IS FAVORITE FOR BROOKLYN RUN

Champion of Handicap Division Heads Field of Nine Horses in 54th Running of Aqueduct Park.

New York, June 27.—(P)—Whirlway, who hopes to surpass Seabiscuit's $437,730 bank account sometime this summer, has a chance to add $23,900 to his winnings today in the 1½-mile Brooklyn Handicap on a card that may clear another $100,000 for a trio of war organizations.

The champion of the handicap division heads a field of nine horses in the 54th running of the Aqueduct Park feature at which all proceeds, except for purses to horsemen, go to the United States Army and Navy Relief societies and to the United Service organizations.

Mrs. Parker Corning's Attention, which forced Whirlway to a track record for a mile Monday, is expected to furnish most of the opposition, especially since Market Wise, Lou Tufano's ailing bargain, is not listed.

Whirlway, who toted only 122 pounds Monday, carries 128 today compared with the 122 on Attention.
