COPPER PLANT HEAD INDICTED

Frank Hart, above, manager of the Ancon Wire and Cable Co., Marion, Ind., was one of five officials named in a U. S. Federal indictment returned at Fort Wayne on charges of conspiracy to defraud the Government and present false claims. The indictments grew out of a complaint from Russia that practically fifty per cent of the wire manufactured by the Marion plant, and shipped to Russia, was found defective.

Mrs. M. Matthews'. The meeting was then brought to a close by repeating the Club Woman's Creed, after which a social evening was enjoyed, "5000" being played at eight tables, the prize going to Mr. Harold Locke.

The hostess served a delicious lunch assisted by members in serving.

The Women's Institute also held a card party in the Town Hall in December which was well attended and the lucky prize winners were, in "5000," Miss Helena Labrecque, and in bridge, Mr. A. Babir.

An interesting letter was read from LAC. Eric Hurd now serving overseas.

STREAM-LINED ACCOUNTING IN OTTAWA BUREAU

Director of Contracts Has Increased Efficiency of Branch Designed to Handle 150,000 Invoices Annually for Army and Navy.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—Accounting has gone on the production line and is coming off in the form of streamlined efficiency at the offices of the Director of Contracts, Department of National Defence, which handles more than 150,000 invoices a year for the Army and Navy.

Ranging from a butcher's knife for the mess kitchens to a mechanized transport, the invoices present a variety never dreamed of by the largest business concern. Summing up a year's work the Department investigates and approves of bills to the extent of approximately eight hundred million dollars, which is passed along to the Treasury for payment.

Many changes have taken place in this section in the last year and a half. The outbreak of war found the Contracts Branch working smoothly but geared only to cope with the necessities of the small number of men then in the armed forces.

Practically overnight as the Dominion swung into action thousands of invoices for every known kind of military equipment poured into the Department and literally swamped the staff. Something had to be done to cope with this tidal wave of work that threatened to deluge them. Action was necessary. National Defence heads went into a huddle and emerged with plans for reorganization to handle the situation.

To handle the new set-up D. C. Mackenzie, of Toronto, a man of wide experience in business organization was brought in. A combined accountant and business man was needed because the armed forces were definitely becoming big business.

Mr. Mackenzie was born in Durham, Ontario, and worked for seventeen years in organizing subsidiary companies for the Canada Steamship Company. During the last eight years he conducted his own business in Toronto.

Today the small peace-time staff has mushroomed into a working personnel of 130 who occupy the whole floor of a building. In spite of the smooth functioning of his Department, Mr. Mackenzie claims he is not satisfied that further improvement cannot be made. "The way always room for improvement in every business, and we intend to keep striving in that direction at a minimum expense to the taxpayer," he said.

At the time of his statement men were in the house and working in a nearby office installing an electrical accounting system, that will not only reduce manpower but speed up the production of work, saving time and money.

Another movement just undertaken is the enlargement of the Customs Department to cover the work of the Army all over Canada. Previously the customs work of the Ottawa district only was handled. Every military district had its own staff handling their customs work.

Many in the house had to be sent wading through detail, exacting invoices, and shipments were held up until these transactions were completed.

With one central department now responsible for all customs work, the eliminating of district staff, the army can pick up their consignments immediately on arrival, with the paper work done later. Besides saving valuable time and releasing vital manpower, the taxpayers will be saved approximately $200,000 a year.

A tour through the Director of Contracts offices is similar to watching articles going on the assembly line. Every invoice received is date stamped to eliminate any later dispute regarding its time of arrival.

The invoices are then sorted and registered in a filing room, where clerks can produce any invoice received in the past two years within a few minutes notice. The older ones are kept in a special morgue.

After they have been stamped and registered they move along to "the cash assembly room of the plant." There, in a large room a busy staff of accountants and clerks check over the invoices and verify that they are correct and the goods have been received by the units concerned.

Specialists in this section are trouble shooters. All experienced men who straighten out the snags that arise. With goods shipped to all parts of Canada and Newfoundland, tangles occur along the line that have to be unravelled. Approximately forty per cent of those received have to be dealt with by the trouble shooters.

Also in this room are two other special sections, one for the handling of mechanized equipment and the other for dealing with United States contracts.

Every effort is made to facilitate transaction of invoices that stipulate a percentage reduction for prompt payment. With the machinery now in motion, it is possible when assurance of good conduct and delivery of goods has been made, to O.K. a statement and pass it to the Treasury in one day. From October, 1941, to October, 1942, $147,321 was saved the Government by prompt attention to these accounts.

Still further along the line the invoices reach a group of audit clerks, who are top notchers in their line and cognizant with the work of every branch of the Department. They again check everything. Final approval is made in still another office where the official signature for payment is attached to the invoices.

The machinery never halts. The invoices come off the end of the line—news ones are continually being fed to the other end, as one of the biggest single accounting establishments in Canada O.K.'s the bills to keep Canada's army and navy supplied.

West of Sanananda, drove Southeast along the shore to within a mile of Sanananda Village before being held up by a strong enemy position.

The third Australian force struck boldly across swamps separating the three Aussie units to capture Sanananda Village just before noon.

The Aussies took the village after a short, sharp fight. Front-line reports indicated the Japanese there seemed beaten as soon as the Australians launched their surprise attack. This was apparently because they relied upon strong outlying defenses which the Allied troops, wise in the ways of jungle warfare, bypassed neatly in pressing toward the coastal anchor of the enemy's Sanananda line.

While the Australians were gaining a firm foothold on the coastal end of the corridor in which the enemy had resisted long and stubbornly, enveloping Allied units swept through the swamps around Cape Killerton hunting scattered groups of Japanese.

What Japanese are left in the corridor are enclosed in pockets roughly one mile West of Sanananda, about 1,500 yards Eastward from the point and behind the main track roadblock.

On the aerial front, Allied bombers sank an 8,000-ton Japanese cargo ship in the Bismarck Sea and blasted enemy airfields and installations over a wide area of the Southwest Pacific yesterday, an Allied communique said today.

Heavy bombers scored two hits on the cargo ship and she "burst into flames from bow to stern, sinking in eight minutes," it was reported.

Allied planes again visited New Britain Island, attacking Japanese shipping in the Rabaul harbor and bombing the airport at Gasmata.

Medium bombers and long-range fighters attacked Japanese supply dumps and installations at Lae, New Guinea, setting fire to two buildings and destroying a Japanese fighter plane on the ground.

CITY and SUBURBAN

District Campaign To Offset Decline In War Savings Drive

Sherbrooke National War Finance Committee headquarters in City Hall announced today that sales of War Savings Certificates for the week ending January 16 totalled $1,664, which is $572 less than the purchases of the previous week.

Owing to the fact that sales have been dwindling for the past fortnight, officials announced at the same time that the sale of stamps and certificates is to be pushed vigorously to offset the decline.

"The announcement at Ottawa that Canada's war expenditures will exceed Finance Minister Isley's budget estimate by some $600 million makes savings more necessary than ever," an official of the local N. W. F. C. pointed out.

He said that during the early months of this year, investment dealers and banks will be asked to encourage the purchase of maximum certificates by persons of above-average means.

There has been an aggregate of $36,221 worth of certificates purchased by local citizens, business and plant employees since the drive was launched on August 6. The figures of last week reflect a drop in the number of certificates sold. There were 322 certificates bought last week at local and district banks, post offices and postal sub-stations, compared to 337 for the week ending January 9, which is a decrease of fifteen.

Weekly amounts since the drive was launched here:

Director Donahue Again Warns About "No Duration Parking"

"Duration parkers" again came in for a warning from Director Percy Donahue of the Municipal Police Department this morning. "We issued a warning of this sort recently," he said, "but the effect has not been any too good."

"We keep receiving complaints from the Roads Department that it cannot properly clean the snow off the city streets because of cars left at the curb for days on end."

"The City by-law states that cars shall not be parked overnight. Even if the by-law said six days, we could still prosecute a lot of people. Some of these people seem to have tied up at the nearest curb for the duration. Whether they like it or not, we are going to put a stop to that practice."

Continuing in the same vein, he added: "These people have been saying that they have no place to put their cars and have been claiming that it has been unfair of the police department to take advantage of them, because the gas rationing has made it impossible to move cars about as often as they used to."

"Well, the city streets are meant to facilitate the flow of traffic, not impede it. Our job is to see that the streets are used for that purpose. The problem of parking space is their worry, not ours. There are still parking lots, and the people may find that. After all, this may be the cheapest storage they can find."

LIONISM THEME OF ADDRESS AT SERVICE CLUB

Alpheus Gauthier, General Manager of La Tribune, outlined the members of the Sherbrooke Lions Club at their regular weekly meeting at the New Sherbrooke Hotel last night just what constitutes a Lion. His talk included a description of the personality, disposition, aim and activity of a member of the Lions Club.

This worthy organization is essentially, said Mr. Gauthier, "a group of men banded together with a common spirit of helpfulness, following a service devoted to the aiding of less fortunate and distressed people. The expansive association possesses an ambition which is wholly constructive."

How Lionism provides the average man with an excellent opportunity for helping his fellowmen was another point stressed in Mr. Gauthier's illustrative account. A membership in Lions International instills in the person a wonderful feeling of companionship, helpfulness and co-operation, working with his brother Lions in their common cause of usefulness. In conclusion, Mr. Gauthier said that there is room in every community for Lionism.

Rene Vanier introduced the speaker, who was thanked by Henri-Lee Gagnon.

Under the leadership of Skipper William Hutchison, about thirty-seven boys and girls were treated to a sleigh ride on the regular meeting night of St. Andrew's Pack. Assisting Skipper Hutchison were the Messrs. Don Richardson and Elery Caunter.

Value Of Snowshoe Conventions To War Effort Questioned By Aldermen

Certain members of the Sherbrooke City Council are not at all certain that snowshoe conventions form an integral part of winning the war, and in fact some of them are convinced that a snowshoe convention is not even of enough importance to change the Sherbrooke official market day. This became apparent at the local City Council session last evening, when a triple-clause motion was presented providing for the changing of the market day scheduled for January 23 to the previous day, Thursday, January 22nd, in order that the market might be turned over to the International Snowshoe Union for its annual reunion to be held here on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, January 29, 30 and 31, while the third clause recommended that the grant of $500 previously made to the local Snowshoe Union to help defray the costs of the convention be increased to $500.

Although the report stood in the name of the Chairman of the Finance Committee, Ald. Ernest Gervais, the individual in question made it clear that he thoroughly opposed the whole plan and refused to move the report be accepted. Ald. Fiset then jumped into the breach, and while expressing disapproval of the idea of changing market day, proposed the adoption of the report and moved the resolution in question. Duly seconded by Ald. Robert, it provoked loud debate among one section of the gathering and resulted in an amendment by Ald. Gervais that market day be left alone and that the money be not voted. The amendment was carried.

Then came a wonderful succession of amendments, each more complicated than the previous one. Becoming more and more involved, the Aldermen soon reached the position of not knowing where they were at, one councillor appealing to Clerk Antonin Deslaurier pathetically, "Just where in—where are we now?" Then it was decided to drop the whole business and start all over again.

This time the resolution was put clause by clause. First came the proposal to change the market day, which was carried on a polled vote. Aldermen Gervais and Fiset registering their dissent. The proposal to grant the use of the market for three days was then carried without opposition, being a logical corollary to the first motion. Then came the question of increasing the grant, which brought forth a blast from Ald. Thibault that while snowshoe conventions were all right in normal times, they and other gatherings of their ilk, were inadvisable, wasteful and otherwise undesirable during wartime. In this he was supported by Ald. Gervais who felt that in time of crisis it was "business before pleasure," and he failed to see much in the business way from a snowshoe convention. The question was put, the motion being carried with Aldermen Gervais, Thibault and Genest opposing.

The Aldermen were in a decidedly argumentative mood for the present session, which opened only at 9:30 p.m., lasted barely twenty minutes, they managed to get in another minor spat, this time in connection with changing the name of a section of St. Martin Street in the West Ward to Lacroix Lane. A letter to this effect was read to the Council. It brought from Ald. Gervais the opinion that there was too much changing of street names and that such matters should be referred to the local Historical Committee, wherever that is functioning, before hasty action was taken. The two West Ward representatives, however, explained that this in reality meant nothing, covering the entrance-way to a house some distance back from the street, and the motion carried. A few bills were ordered paid.

The moon would be an important factor during an annular invasion of England because of its light and its tidal effect.

and lover of concord, defend us Thy humble servants in all assaults of our enemies.

BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS

The regimen of blood, sweat and tears set forth from the beginning as necessary in order to win the war still seems to be holding good. There were exuberant hopes when the British Eighth Army began chasing Rommel in Egypt and Libya and when the landing was made in North Africa. It seemed then to most of us that it would not be long before the Germans and their allies would be driven out of Africa. Lately there has been what some commentators describe as stalemate in the vast sphere of action bordering the Mediterranean on the South. It is becoming clear that there is a stronger core of Axis resistance around Tunis and Tripoli than was suspected. Either that or unexpectedly strong reinforcements have been rushed to the key spots from the conveniently adjacent Axis bases in Italy or on the islands seaward from Italy.

There is no reason for gloom or pessimism in regard to the African campaign. There have been no sharp or serious reverses for our troops, for such would have been reported. It appears to be a case of a tough job and it just means that we will have to be patient until that job is carried out. Great military campaigns cannot be carried through in a few days or a week, invariably.

Even after Africa has been cleared of the enemy there will remain the task, and it may be titanic, of defeating the Germans in their homeland and in the lands they have occupied. President Roosevelt was unwilling to hazard an opinion that the war would be brought to a conclusion within the next year or two. He expressed such a hope and he also expressed, what is really more to the point, a strong determination to win as quickly as possible. There are possibilities of a German collapse, strong possibilities of an Italian collapse, but it would be fatuous to say that there is the slightest indication of a Japanese collapse. The war cannot be won as long as one of these aggressor nations is unbowed and unbeaten. The terrific price of victory over two of the Axis powers would not be worth while if the other was left unscathed and in possession of the spoils won by perfidy and aggression.

Search as we will no quick and easy road to victory is yet to be described. It is still a case of blood, sweat and tears. President Roosevelt's request for one hundred billions as a war budget shows that he, at least, has no illusions regarding the magnitude of the task ahead.

AID FOR RUSSIA

Although the campaign for a million dollars has barely got underway in most centres of Canada, the officers of the Canadian Aid-to-Russia Fund are already completing arrangements for a shipment of supplies to Russia.

War-time censorship restricts the publication of details concerning dates and ships. But this much can be said: that within approximately the next fortnight, a boatload of clothing and other necessities will be leaving one of our Pacific ports bound for a Soviet port.

It can also be stated, on the authority of Feodor Gouzev, the U.S.S.R. Minister to Canada, that twenty days after the ship's departure the supplies sent by the Canadian people will be unloaded at the Russian port and they will commence to heal and comfort suffering people in Russia.

Thus the Canadian Aid to Russia Fund is already carrying out its aim. This is to dispatch to Russia swiftly, the warm clothing, bedding and medical supplies so urgently needed there. Furthermore, the aim is to send ship after ship laden with necessities for the Russian people.

The ships are available. Our supplies will be taken by Soviet ships. The costs of transportation are borne by the Russian Government.

What a relief it is to know this! To the sensitive minds and hearts of many Canadians, the sight of our deep snows and the feel of our icy blasts bring intense discomfort. Not physical, but spiritual, discomfort. We are sufficiently clad, we go home to heated, peaceful homes and to warm beds. Having all this—spiritual discomfort rises when we think of the sufferings of the Russian people in their sub-zero weather.

It is hard to have inward peace when the visions arise of Russia's women and children. Those thinly clad, unfed people as they stand before their ruined homes, with the wind-swept, snow-laden forests and steppes to engulf them. Many have fallen and more will be lost, if we do not help.

In the hospitals over there lie children, wounded and tortured. They need medicines, blankets, food. Men and women in Russian cities work long hours turning out munitions, planes, tanks, in unheated factories. One woman wrote: "It is so cold, the metal burns our fingers." Yet they keep on working for our front. They wrap newspapers about their chests and backs to keep the wind from cutting into them. Through deep snows and over icy roads, women on active service march smartly, cheerfully, to their posts—their feet clad in running shoes.

To those in Canada who have already subscribed to the Aid to Russia Fund, what a relief it is to know that their money will soon be speeding life-saving materials to our brave Russian comrades.

To those who have not yet sent their donations, it is assured that their money will go "Active" at once. The purchasing and shipping department of the fund, headed by W. R. Ingram, is working overtime right now.

WHY NOT MARGARINE?

Urging that the ban against the use of margarine in Canada be lifted by the Dominion Government, the Financial Post of Toronto points out that this product had a wide use here in the last year of the First Great War, but in 1927 for political reasons, by the urge of the dairy farmers, it was put on the blacklist where it remains to this day. And that in spite of the need of such a food commodity which is in popular use in Britain and the United States. The Post says:

Over the course of years margarine has been greatly improved, both in appearance, taste and food value. In particular the progress has been most marked since the beginning of the present war. Reinforced with vitamins, it can hardly be distinguished from butter, an opinion supported by Canadian soldiers in England.

The manufacture and sale of margarine is legal in both Britain and the United States. Why not in Canada, especially at this time when domestic supplies of butter are inadequate? Admittedly the organized dairy farmer does not want margarine on the Canadian market, but are the needs of the consuming public to be subordinated to the demands of one group of our population only?

The situation in Canada is further aggravated by the lack of butter imports from the Antipodes. Right today, in spite of rationing there are many families of workers who cannot get butter. Why should the protest of one producing class keep the general public from obtaining a most valuable butter substitute?

POST-WAR AIR TRAVEL

A commuters' world with ample space for all nations to develop commercial airlines under some form of international control, is seen by aviation experts in Washington.

"There will never be a Darkest Africa again," an executive of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce said, "and New Guinea and Java never will revert to the status of remote islands. The post-war world will be much smaller physically but larger economically, criss-crossed by commercial air lines."

In the last year or two, air lines have been built all over the world but no attempt has been made to negotiate international agreements providing for post-war operations. Illustrating what has been done, the Air Transport Command of the United States Army Air Forces alone operate air lines ten times greater than all the world's peacetime routes. These routes extend to every part of the world and one is 14,000 miles long.

The United States has spent millions of dollars in the last year developing air bases in many countries, including Canada. The same thing is true, but to a much lesser extent, of Britain. The peace-time status of these bases, will be a matter of international concern at some future date because, as one aviation expert said: "After the war, there is going to be a scramble, or an inclination to scramble, for dominance of commercial routes."

It already has been suggested in some quarters in Washington that many of these important air bases, on the international routes, should be internationalized and the planes of every country given equal access to its facilities. That would mean that no single country would dominate the air highways of the world by controlling the bases.

EDITOR'S NOTE-BOOK

It will help this country hold its own if everyone in it will hold his own tongue.

Gasoline rationing has reduced more people to walking than are walking to reduce.

Party invitations used to include "Bring your own liquor." Is that going to change to "Dine your own horse?"

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

And it shall come to pass in the day that the Lord shall give thee rest from thy sorrow, and from thy fear, and from the hard bondage wherein thou wast made to serve.—Isaiah 14:3.

Calm on the bosom of thy God,
Fair spirit! rest thee now!—Hemans.

A WELL-KEPT SECRET

Journal, Ottawa.

Mr. Howe, in a speech in Montreal, has told something of one of the war's best-kept secrets. Somewhere in the Canadian "wilderness," said Mr. Howe, a power project greater than Boulder Dam is taking form. His only clue to its location was that the district is one of "extreme cold, snow, ice and heavy rains." Boulder Dam had an installed capacity of 975,000 horsepower; the Canadian development will produce 1,020,000 horsepower. The contractors of Boulder Dam had 7½ years to complete the work, in peacetime, and used a maximum of 5,250 workmen; this Canadian project is to be completed in one-third the time, actually was delivering power eighteen months after work was begun, and had a peak payroll of 10,140 men. Moreover, as Mr. Howe pointed out, the Canadian scheme had to contend with wartime shortage of labor and materials.

The secret was wonderfully well kept, although tens of thousands of Canadians must know all about the gigantic plant and the industries it is to serve. And this power project, unlike much wartime construction, is something of permanent value. Obviously there is here a great and important story of Canadian achievement, and Canadians will wonder why there need be so much mystery about it.

SOCIAL LIFE CHANGED

Cleveland Plain Dealer

A complete revolution in the social life of the Eastern seaboard of the United States, which has not yet spread to the Middle Western area, but may do so some day, is the war continues long enough. It is to be a new and drastic restriction upon the use of gasoline for non-essential automobile driving.

Women in the seventeen Eastern States and the District of Columbia affected by the new order will not go to bridge parties, luncheon, except on foot, or by the bus or taxi cab. Country club dinners will be out unless there are public conveyances. High school dances and sports events will be penalized.

Florida horse tracks immediately called off their track meetings. Tropical Park closed at once although it had five more days to run. Hialeah Park cancelled its opening scheduled for next Wednesday.

Even housewives in the Eastern States who drive their cars to groceries may be challenged to prove that they are too far from the store to walk, and are not strong enough to carry their market baskets home.

URGES RADIO SIGNALS FOR RAILWAY TRAINS

The Peterborough Examiner The coroner's jury which sat on the North Bay train wreck of December 28th, made an interesting recommendation in its report. It pointed out the need for "improved means of protecting traffic, including short-wave radio signals which would enable communications with trains between stations."

Reading the daily reports of the Almonte investigation the desirability of such improved signals is clear. The present system of railway signals seems to be reliable in normal traffic, but when there is such congestion as there was all over Canada during the Christmas season this system appears either to become over-loaded or to be inadequate. Short-wave signals would not guarantee against wrecks, but they would surely do much to lessen the danger.

The question is: Could short-wave signals be used in such circumstances? Radio experts could give an answer to this. And considering the ingenuity which is constantly shown in the field of radio communication, the problem, if it exists, should not be impossible to solve. We shall doubtless hear more about the recommendation of the North Bay jury.

Jackson missed his train the other evening, so he went to have his hair cut. When he entered the barber's shop he was in a quarrelsome frame of mind.

"Cut it without conversation," he growled, as he took his place in the chair. "Don't want any hair restoration, scalp invigorator, dandruff eradicator, face lotion, pollen or anything else. I don't interest myself in boxing, racing or football. As regards the weather . . ."

Here a customer nudged Jackson's elbow. "You'll have to write it on his slate, mister," he said. "He's deaf and dumb."

HITLER GETS A LAUGH

To the Editor of the Record.

Dear Sir:—It certainly must give Adolph a good laugh when he hears of the wonderful loyalty (to him) of our good Canadian steel workers in defying the Government and stopping war work. This is surely a great source of help to him. We wonder if any of these union leaders are on Adolph's pay roll and are paid piece work for every hour or day these mills remain idle.

It gives us a thrill when we see the Canadian news reels "Canada at War" with every shop and mill in the country at full speed ahead. Turning out ammunition, guns, tanks and planes, to "Beat Hitler or Bust," but the thrill turns to a pain in the stomach when we get news of the men by the thousands quitting their jobs, when refused an "illegal" advance in wages of five to ten cents per hour. Every hour or day lost through strikes, regardless of their justice or injustice, means that much longer the war will last, and that much more chance Hitler may have of putting the world into bondage.

In time of war anyone who, in any way, holds up production assists the enemy and is a traitor to his country. What do we do about it?

We know very well what Hitler would do, and without any arbitration or conciliation boards. That's why there are no strikes in Germany. Will our good Canadian people continue to defy all laws of decency and all Government regulations long enough to force the Government to take the same procedure as taken by Adolph? It would take just one or two cases of union leaders, who call strikes, facing a firing squad to settle the strike situation in Canada and U.S. These traitors to the "Warfare Peace," who take undue advantage of the war to help (not the workers) but the union bosses, should be under Hitler's heel for just a short time. They should be treated like the people in German-occupied countries are. After a little taste of this treatment we doubt if there would be any chance of union bosses talking them into another strike.

No individual, union or syndicate, may use the war as a means of bettering their position financially. If they have a grievance, real or imaginary, let them first win the war. Then, after the war is over, let them take up their fight like men, not like cowards who take gross advantage of the shortage of labor due to the needs of war. What of our fighting forces, our sons, our husbands or our fathers, all over the globe, every day taking their lives in their hands, willingly and courageously, with little or no thought of pay or advancement? Do they strike for more pay? Do they ask for a closed shop? Do they quit their jobs on account of a tough sergeant-major? No, you bet they don't. They are in this fight to the end and when they come home (those who do come home) are coming home to a home of liberty and freedom, and this can come only through victory.

Don't let our boys think we are letting them down. Why not change Hitler's laugh to a snarl? If every man and woman at home does his or her utmost to help the war effort, in home, office, shop and mill, and "Gives our boys the Tools," we are sure that "They will Finish the Job."

What do you say, Canadian Workers?

Yours truly,
LET'S GET IT OVER.

RE-ENTRY TO DUMMY ASSURES CONTRACT

The winning of the national open pair championship by Al Roth of Washington and Tobias Stone of New York gave Roth his second national championship and added sufficient Master Points to his credit to qualify him as Life Master No. 34. In 1940 he was a member of the team that won the world championship Masters title. Roth is only 28, is very quiet and unassuming but truly a remarkably good player. You will undoubtedly hear more of both Roth and Stone in future years.

Today's hand helped Roth win the championship. Sitting North, he let East hold the first lead. A diamond shift put West in North dropping the jack. Back came a heart and the ace was forced.

In order to avoid losing a second heart trick, Roth had to establish the club suit. But how could he get re-entry to dummy to make the clubs after the trumps were pulled? How Roth solved this problem is very instructive. He at once cashed four trumps, discarding a heart and a club from dummy. Then he led the jack of clubs. East covered and the ace won. The ten of clubs put West in with the queen. Now West was forced to lead either a club or a diamond. In either case dummy was sure to get in again to make the nine

War... and the Telephone

War has created an unprecedented demand for telephones. At the same time, it has diverted large quantities of telephone materials and equipment to war purposes—both in our factories and our armed forces.

The result is that it is no longer possible to satisfy all civilian demand for new installations. Even when new telephones must be installed, the choice of instruments and services is limited.

As a telephone user, you can help to safeguard telephone service in the interests of Canada's war effort by carefully observing these wartime telephone tactics:—

INDIANS OVERCOME EARLY WINDSOR LEAD

Redmen Extend League Lead By 5-2 Victory

P.W.O.R. Seek to Halt Winning Streak of Sherbrooke Squad in Encounter Here This Evening.

Windsor Mills, Jan. 19.—(P)—The Sherbrooke Indians overcame a two-goal lead by the Windsor Mills to win a five-goal victory in the P.W.O.R. hockey league tonight.

Playing before only 463 customers, which in spite of its size was the largest crowd to witness a game here this season, both clubs put up a grand display with the score being no indication of the play. During the final twenty minutes the home team put on a strong offensive thrust and although they were almost continually about the Sherbrooke nets they were unable to penetrate Dion's protective armor, while outstanding work by the Indians' defence robbed them continually of golden opportunities. Gus Leroux was top man in these manoeuvres.

Windsor opened the scoring in the first period, beginning and ending their successful drives before the Indians continued. Morey rung up both the Papermakers' tallies, the first with assistance from Desilets and the latter a spectacular rink-length solo, the play of the evening. The Redmen got one back before the frame ended when Allen took a pass from Gaudet to dent the cordage behind Longpre. This one was scored while Duncan was serving a term in the penalty box.

Second period action saw two more Indians' goals flashed on the score board. Harry Allen got the first at 4:27 on a pass from Pat Murphy while the combination was reversed when Murphy scored at 18:00 on passes from Allen and Gagnon. Morey for Windsor and Bergeron for the Indians were banished in this stanza but no damage was done.

Allen got his third goal of the game near the end of the final frame, Sonny Mooney assisting. At the seventeen-minute mark, Planche passed to Sirois who curled to end the scoring for the night. Boisvert and Lacroix received penalties in this period.

The Sherbrooke Indians meet the Princess of Wales Own Regiment at Sherbrooke tonight. This will be the fourth meeting of the two clubs this season, the Blinco Brigade taking the first three. Two of them were routs, but the second, played on January 3, nearly saw the Regiment come out on top. The soldiers will be gunning for their first win in ten games this year and if they show the same kind of hockey that they displayed in the four to three defeat they will have a good chance of realizing this aim. The army team can play good hockey when they set about it and if all the men worked as hard as Kingston, Puffer and McDonald they might have a few numbers in their win column. The Indians are now leading their nearest competitor by seven points and it will be up to the Wales to see that they don't increase this margin.

TORONTO FANS PUZZLED OVER ROAD SHOWING

Wide List of Excuses Offered for Poor Showing Made by Maple Leafs on Road Tours.

By ALAN HARVEY,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.
Fans who hold season tickets to Maple Leaf Gardens say it's difficult to conceive that Toronto's National Hockey League entry finds the hockey heights so hard to scale.

Sitting each Saturday within the hallowed halls that hockey built, regular subscribers have become accustomed to the spectacle of a Toronto team treating the opposition like something the ladies' bloomer league would be reluctant to acknowledge.

Then, on Monday, they pick up their newspapers to discover that Leafs have lost their Sunday engagement—usually to the club that looked so ordinary at the Gardens.

Toronto writers, firing fresh rounds from the arsenal of superlatives each Saturday and resorting Monday to confused criticism, seek the explanation avidly. Among most plausible alibis are the wearying road trips, smaller ice surfaces away from home, enforced absence of rookies Jack McLean and Bob Copp for United States games and unsympathetic foreign ice audiences.

It happens too often to be a coincidence. Leafs have won nine and tied one of their twelve Saturday home games while winning only three of fifteen away from home. They've won only one Sabbath contest.

In the only N. H. L. game Tuesday, Montreal Canadiens seek to renew their temporarily frustrated drive toward the fourth-place Chicago Black Hawks in a meeting with Bruins. Hawks now hold a three-point edge.

RIFLE LEAGUE IS INAUGURATED BY AIR CADETS

The No. 67 Squadron Air Cadets of Sherbrooke opened their Rifle League on Saturday at the 53rd Army when the first of a series of weekly competitions was run off under the supervision of FO. Phil Mathias. These shooting matches will be held every Saturday afternoon, the seven teams entered competing for a Cup donated by Mrs. G. Robins.

The four-man Messerschmitt team took first place in last week-end's shooting compiling a 67 total, a slim enough margin over the Gremlins 66. Close competition featured the day's proceedings as the Lennoxville Jerks brought up the third slot with 63 points. They were closely followed by the Grease Monkeys' 61 and the Flying Fortress' 58. The winning Messerschmitts squad was made up of Cadets Hall, Spalding, Waldman and Thorne.

training base, in the middle of March.

Even in his younger days, when he was the prima donna of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Wanner was reluctant to leave his Florida home for training camp in Southern California. This was nearly as much of a factor in his frequent holdouts as disagreement over salary. Wanner may work with John Cooney, forty-one-year-old teammate, who also lives at Sarasota.

Early Hockey Provided Many Thrills Of Present Day Game

By CHARLES EDWARDS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto, Jan. 19.—(P)—In some respects perhaps hockey hasn't changed much in the last 100 years, despite talk of "stream-lining." Take this item culled from the Kingston, Ont., Bugle of 1855 describing a game between the Kaituma Pasture Wildcats and the Bell Island Barbarians:

"The rival squad lined up on the ice at Kaituma's Pasture and with bent sticks and a small round ball proceeded to play a game called hockey. Red McDuffy and Hornet Hany McIntosh collided in the middle of the ice, however, before the game had been properly started. McDuffy swatted McIntosh with his stick, McIntosh kicked McDuffy in the shins with his skates. Thereupon McDuffy fell down, but rising up mightily smote McIntosh across the nether regions."

"At this stage of the game both players started a fight which was only quelled when McDuffy skated through a hole in the ice. After the fighters had been carried from the ice the game was carried on for several hours because the referee had swallowed his whistle, but no decision as to the best team could be reached because neither team could count above ten."

The item is reproduced in the Kingston Frontenac hockey programme.

The expert says:
Baz (Montreal Star) O'Meara bewails the poor showing of Montreal Army in the Quebec Senior Hockey League to date. "One would think that Gouppie, Smith, Pat Egan and others on the defence would give a tremendously effective rearguard. When you note that Terry Reardon, Allan Kuntz, Killy McDonald, Gar Peters are on the line you get a suggestion of pro strength. . . . Possibly there are too many stars on the team."

CLOSE MATCHES AT LENNOXVILLE CURLING CLUB

Three close matches featured the semi-final and final rounds of the regular Saturday curling competition held last week-end at the Lennoxville Curling Club. W. J. Lane required an extra end to beat M. J. Bennett in the second game of the semi-final round. The R. S. Clarke foursome won a six to five victory in the other semi-final contest over H. W. S. Downs and continued his winning ways to take the final match, four to three from W. J. Lane. The prizes were donated by E. E. Messenger.

MISS MURCHIE CAPTURED TOP SKIING HONORS

Margaret Murchie captured first place in the downhill race in the Hillcrest Ski Club Ladies' Competition held on Sunday afternoon while Simone Beaudry walked off with the number one spot in the slalom event. These races featured Sunday's ceremony for the blessing of the skis, cross and Club House at which were many from Sherbrooke and district.

Miss Murchie had a good edge over her nearest rival, coming in nine seconds ahead of Jacqueline Olivier, while one second intervals separated the next two entries, Simone Beaudry and Jeannine Beaulieu. Miss Murchie's time was 1:15, and the others were respectively 1:24, 1:25 and 1:26.

Simone Beaudry had a little closer competition in the slalom as time of 2:4 second was only four ahead of Jeannine Beaulieu's 3:22. Jacqueline Olivier came in third at 3:34, while fourth position went to Isabelle St. Jean. Individual honors for the afternoon performances went to Miss Beaudry with first and third positions in the two events.

ST. MICHAEL'S DEFEAT IRISH SQUAD 4 TO 2

St. Pat's Went Down to Their Second Consecutive Defeat in E.T. Midget Hockey League Yesterday.

St. Michael's set St. Pat's down to their second consecutive defeat in the Eastern Townships Midget Hockey League by taking a four to two victory from them on Sunday.

St. Mike's had puffed up a commanding lead before their opponents scored their first tally midway through the final frame. Leading four to nothing at the time, St. Michael's concentrated on defensive tactics in order to retain their lead. St. Pat's counted another before the game ended but their determined attacks, which they staged for the remainder of the game, failed to penetrate further than the St. Michael's defence.

The winners went one up in the opening frame when Mercier combined with Gingues to put the rubbers behind Laliberte. Taking this one nothing led into the next stanza, St. Mike's added to it with Faucher and Gingues the marksmen. They scored their fourth successive marker just after the final period opened when Cote tallied on a solo thrust. This ended their scoring for the day as St. Pat's started. The latter's outburst proved too late as Martin's and Moineau's counters were of no avail and St. Pat's went down to defeat four to two.
