World News In Brief

Scarsdale, N.Y.—(AP)—A cave-in of part of a luxury office building under construction killed at least two workmen late Friday under tons of wet concrete and rubble, and injured 10 others.

Amarillo, Tex.—(AP)—President Eisenhower told a sweating, cheering crowd of ranchers and farmers Friday that the full assets of the federal government would be mobilized to help them in their plea for aid because of long and bitter drought.

Fresno, Calif.—(AP)—Major fires broke out late Friday in three hotels, an apartment house and two churches in scattered sections of this central California city of 92,000. Officials blamed arsonists. Mayor Gordon Dunn declared a state of emergency and called for national guard help.

New York—(AP)—Composer Sidney Homer, 88, died Friday at his home at Winter Park, Fla. Homer, composer of some 150 popular, classical and church songs, was the husband of the late Metropolitan Opera star Louise Homer. He studied music in Munich and was a prolific songwriter between 1900 and 1920. His compositions included "The Basso Song," "Swing Low," and "The Requiem."

Washington—(AP)—The Eisenhower administration won its fight Friday night to extend the excess profits tax six months in an effort to balance the budget. The House of Representatives voted 325 to 77 for the bill extending the tax on corporations from June 30 to Jan. 1. The measure now goes to the Senate where early passage is expected.

Montreal—(AP)—Bengt Rosengren 21-year-old Swedish sailor charged with illegal possession of marijuana, was held Friday without bail pending preliminary hearing July 16. He was arrested when he allegedly attempted to sell 25 ounces of marijuana, enough to make 2,000 cigarettes, to RCMP officers.

Montreal—(AP)—Mr. Justice E. Fabre Surveylor a Superior Court judgment Friday overruled a Canadian immigration department order for the deportation to Austria of Mrs. Erich Lazarus. Mr. Justice Surveylor said the deportation order "was illegal and unfounded." He also called it "so cruel and inhuman as to be revolting."

Battalion Again On Active Duty

London—(Reuters)—Britain still favors East-West talks despite the sudden fall this week of the No. 2 man in the Kremlin, Lavrenty P. Beria.

A foreign office spokesman confirmed today that British policy favoring talks, opposed by Washington, remains unchanged. He said there has been no switch since Premier Sir Winston Churchill told the House of Commons May 11 to believe a conference on the highest level should take place between the leading powers without delay.

St. Laurent Warns Against Return Of Splinter Groups

By Canadian Press Staff Writer
British Columbia voters who recently returned to office a Social Credit government received a candid opinion from Prime Minister St. Laurent Friday night of Social Credit and its chances in the Aug. 10 general election.

He said at a Victoria Liberal rally there is "a remote danger that, if enough Social Crediters, Conservatives and so-called Quebec Independents could be elected, the Social Credit party might have just enough strength to force its peculiar ideas on a ramshackle, make-shift coalition in return for its support."

While Mr. St. Laurent aimed his blows at the Social Credit and the Progressive Conservatives, Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, charged the Liberals with re-writing history to give themselves a creditable record.

"They're re-writing history in a number of strange ways" in claiming that all major economic advances and steps to national stature came under Liberal governments. Conservative governments were responsible for Confederation, the CPR, CNR and CBC, among other things.

Mr. St. Laurent said he is sure British Columbians do not want a federal Social Credit government that would reduce taxes by the magic of debt-free money off the printing press.

His opinion was that after Aug. 10 Social Credit would "continue to be a small group sitting in a corner of the House of Commons without any real influence on affairs," just as it has been since 1935.

Eisenhower Offer To Feed East Germany Creates Near Dilemma For Soviet Chiefs

Defence Cut Impossible Says Premier

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Victoria — (AP) — For the first time in his national election tour, Prime Minister St. Laurent has raised the possibility that a "ramshackle, make-shift coalition" could arise in Ottawa if the Liberal government were defeated.

He told an election meeting here Friday night it is just possible, if a coalition developed, that Social Credit might force its "peculiar ideas" on it in return for its support.

The prime minister said "there is a danger, a remote danger, that if enough Social Crediters and Conservatives and so-called Quebec Independents could be elected, the Social Credit party might have just enough strength to force its peculiar ideas on a ramshackle, make-shift coalition in return for its support of the coalition."

He warned that the Liberals must win the Aug. 10 federal election or "there is likely to be a mess such as you had in your legislature before the recent election."

Social Credit formed a 19-member minority government here in 1952, its first in the province's history. It elected 28 members out of 48 in the recent election.

An enthusiastic audience of 1,500 heard Mr. St. Laurent fire the first big broadside against Social Credit of his campaign at the Royal theatre here. Hundreds more were turned away from the door.

After his speech Mr. St. Laurent stood by the orchestra pit and shook hands with the audience as it filed by. He had expressed a desire to meet the people.

Today he flies to Calgary. As in Vancouver Thursday night, Mr. St. Laurent referred to the "anti-money" policies of Social Credit.

British Columbians did not want a Social Credit federal government that would reduce taxes by the magic of debt-free money off the printing press.

The Progressive Conservative party, particularly Maj.-Gen. G. B. Peakes, VC, who is seeking re-election in Esquimalt-Saanich, also came in for heavy criticism from the prime minister.

He was "shocked" to hear Gen. Peakes, Progressive Conservative military critic, had said $250,000,000 could be saved from defence expenditure without threatening the efficiency of the armed services. In the last two years Gen. Peakes had said Canada's forces were short of modern equipment and not enough was being spent on the country's defences.

Mr. St. Laurent conceded there might have been "some mistakes" and "some cases of thievery" in Canada's rapid defence buildup. "Canada's allies discovered concealed Canada is spending her share. The people were entitled to straight answers."

He conceded some mistakes were made in defence but they had been discovered and corrective steps taken.

Speaking in Brockville, Ont., Mr. Drew said the 1950 rail strike was due "to failure of this Liberal government to be frank in its dealings with the unions."

Washington — (AP) — President Eisenhower's offer of food for rebellious East Germany faced the Kremlin today with a choice between accepting capitalist aid or letting Germans go hungry.

The United States proposal Friday to begin immediate delivery of $15,000,000 worth of food to Germany's Soviet-controlled Eastern zone was made directly to Moscow.

That bypassed the East German Communist government, which the U.S. has never recognized, and put the issue squarely up to the Kremlin, which just rooked Lavrenty P. Beria from his No. 2 perch as boss of the Soviet secret police.

The move caught the Communists at a time when they were fighting revolt among Moscow-dominated peoples.

There was an air of suddenness about the president's move. Eleven days ago at a press conference held by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, a reporter suggested sending U.S. food to East Germany. Dulles replied that he did not know whether the Allied commissioners in Germany had considered the idea. He implied it was news to him but worth thinking about.

The "Voice of America," which beams radio news to the world as an outlet of the state department, gave global coverage to the food offer. A "Voice" official said it was presented fully and as another indication of U.S. willingness to help the unfortunate.

White House officials said most of the food would come out of existing surpluses held under the government's price support program.

But some of the commodities, such as sugar, would be purchased before shipment abroad, they said.

Foreign aid chief Harold Stassen said the offer was made under authority of the mutual security law which permits the president to extend up to $20,000,000 in aid to any one country.

Besides sugar, commodities would include grain, lard and soy bean oil.

Eisenhower acted in response to a letter from Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of Western Germany. Both Adenauer's letter, dated July 4, and Eisenhower's response were released by the White House Friday.

Adenauer's letter asked the U.S. to join his country in helping East Germany. He said political pressures there were "steadily increasing" while the food supply "has been steadily deteriorating."

The move capped mounting suggestions in Congress for "positive action" to wrest the initiative from Russia in the cold war.

Eisenhower has asked authority to give away or sell some of the $3,000,000,000 in crop surpluses. But Democrats protested he was asking for a "blank check" and Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, the ailing GOP leader, said the request for authority was too broad.

RoK Troops Hold Against Red Attacks

By JOHN RANDOLPH
Seoul. — (AP) — South Korean infantrymen, in seven hours of bitter fighting, drove off more than 4,000 Communists who assaulted RoK mainline positions along a four-mile front today in east-central Korea.

In the air, Red night fighters attacked Allied B-29s bombing a newly-repaired bridge network deep in northwest Korea which funnels Red supplies into Korea from Manchuria.

The Red jet fighters sprayed with cannon fire seven of 16 B-29s which slammed 160 tons of bombs at wood and steel bridges spanning the Chongchon river. Red anti-aircraft batteries also opened up on the Superforts, which were outlined by searchlights.

Eastern Area Is Mythical Raid Victim

Montreal — (AP) — Was your city "bombed" today?
With aircraft criss-crossing our skies night and day, probably you didn't notice it. If you live in an industrial centre in Quebec or Ontario, possibly you were the victim of an "air attack." Or perhaps it happened Friday.

Or perhaps you weren't attacked. Possibly the anti-aircraft gunners, the ground observer corps and the fighter squadrons, all members of the RCAF's air defence command team, beat the "attackers" off.

This is the week-end when "operation tailwind," joint Canada-United States air manoeuvres, gets into full swing.

RCAF bombers and others from the United States strategic air command will do their best to penetrate Canada's air defences and air defence command, with headquarters at nearby St. Hubert, will attempt to stop them.

It's only "make believe" bombing. But it's serious business to Air Vice-Marshal A. L. James of St. Hubert and Gen. Benjamin W. Chidlaw of Colorado Springs, Colo., commander of the air defences of Canada and the United States.

The public won't be told the results of the manoeuvres. They won't even be known to the two air forces until after long, hard study.

Paradoxically, it won't be a success if the bombers get through or if they don't.

If they get through, then there's something wrong with our defence system. If they don't, then there's something wrong with our plans of attack.

The only real success will come out of setting defences or attack plans straight.

All available units, both permanent and auxiliary will be in the field. The real relievers from Canada and the United States, fighters from St. Hubert, Uplands, Ont., Toronto, London, Ont., Hamilton, Bagotville, Que., and North Bay, Ont.; anti-aircraft units from Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., and Montreal; radar units from Toronto, Ottawa, Montreal, Halifax, Quebec and Three Rivers.

Britain Still Favoring Talks

In Korea — (AP) — The 3rd battalion, Royal Canadian Regiment, today returned to the line to begin its second tour of front-line duty in the Korean war.

The Reds relieved the 3rd battalion, Royal Australian Regiment, in the sector held by the Commonwealth division.

CHARLEY RETURNS — Charles Stichel, 86, receives a warm welcome from his wife Clara, whom he left 50 years ago, at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Pearl Luning, in New York. Stichel couldn't remember why he left home, but said, that after wandering around for awhile he was afraid to come home and settled in Detroit. He received a Texas divorce by mail 25 years ago and married an Ohio woman, who died last November. All these years Mrs. Stichel has kept on her gold wedding band. "I never stopped loving him," she said.

Soviets Leaders Believed Planning Wide Reform Move

By THOMAS P. WHITNEY
Moscow. — (AP) — Western observers believe Soviet leaders plan to announce broad reforms affecting millions of citizens as an aftermath of Lavrenty P. Beria's ouster. This opinion was expressed by the Russian press today reported widespread popular denunciation of the former deputy premier as an enemy of the people.

The reforms were expected to include important changes in the administration of Soviet law and agricultural policies, as well as price cuts and moves to increase the Russian standard of living.

An editorial in the Communist party newspaper Pravda gave support to the view that some changes were in the wind. It charged Beria had used his power as first deputy premier and police chief to block "important and urgent" measures in agriculture and law reform. With his removal it seemed logical that the government would go ahead with these measures.

Pravda also claimed the Soviet people warmly approved the actions of the party and the government against Beria, fired from the party and government Thursday night as an "agent of international imperialism."

"Millions of Soviet people enthusiastically condemn the criminal actions of the inveterate enemy of the people and the party, Beria, and call for intensification of revolutionary vigilance," the newspaper declared.

Red Radio Gives Twist To Report

San Francisco. — (AP) — Three days ago, Associated Press correspondent John Randolph reported from Seoul:

"There are very few indeed, although there are some, in the RoK army who say they would resist an order from President Syngman Rhee to disregard an armistice and attack the communists alone."

Peiping's Red radio, in a broadcast monitored here, played it back this way:

"AP correspondent John Randolph writes from Seoul that some of the puppet soldiers said they would 'resist' an order from Syngman Rhee to disregard an armistice and mount an attack alone."

Peiping didn't touch Randolph's angle that most of the RoKs would obey Rhee.

Big Three Ministers Await Report From Moscow Envoys

Believe United States And Korea Near Agreement Over Delicate Armistice Issues

By ROBERT GIBSON
Seoul. — (AP) — President Eisenhower's truce emissary said today he has optimism up his secret confereer with President Syngman Rhee and U. S. embassy sources indicated Rhee had been won over to an armistice.

A joint communique on the talks will be issued at 10 a. m. Sunday 9 p. m. EDT today.

Robertson told a press conference he was leaving for home because "I feel my work is done." He said substantial progress had been made toward winning Rhee over to an armistice in more than two weeks of talks, but refused to say an agreement had been reached.

While there were indications some sort of agreement had been concluded, a South Korean source indicated the talks would continue at a different level.

The joint communique on the conference was to have been issued Saturday, but a South Korean government source said it was held up because "we have to work on it."

These developments in the Korean truce tangle came a few hours after Allied and Communist negotiators met twice at Panmunjom to discuss final details of an armistice.

Rhee told newspaper men Saturday he and Robertson had reached "a friendly understanding" on problems relating to a truce.

And while Robertson refused to comment on his talks with the stubborn statesman, he appeared well satisfied with his mission as he talked with reporters after reception in his honor at the U.S. embassy in Seoul.

Robertson said he would confer Monday and Tuesday with Gen. Mark Clark, the United Nations commander, and Japanese officials. He said he would leave for Washington about Wednesday.

The South Korean president said earlier:

"I think some more meetings will be held," he told a press conference, "but we have covered all the important points."

"I think a final decision will come from the United States," Robertson said glowing tribute to Rhee at his press conference. "Never in my life have I met a more dedicated man than President Rhee," he said. "He is a real patriot. He is single-mindedly for the welfare of Korea, and I am certain that his actions in this matter have been well above any personal plane."

Efforts to win Rhee over to an armistice at Panmunjom have been stalemated by his insistence that his country be unified soon, by force if necessary.

The truce dispute provides only for a political conference to discuss Korean problems.

The armistice negotiations at Panmunjom, were, as usual, cloaked in secrecy. The delegates met for 27 minutes in the morning, then returned to the conference hut for a 23-minute afternoon session.

Government Blamed For 1950 Strike

By ALAN DONNELLY
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Brockville, Ont. — (AP) — Blame for the 1950 rail strike and other labor trouble in Canada was laid at the doorstep of the Liberal government Friday night.

Progressive Conservative leader George Drew charged the rail strike was due "to the failure of this government to be frank in its dealings with unions."

Other labor problems were due to the lack of fair and adequate labor laws.

The speech before 650 persons in the collegiate auditorium here was Mr. Drew's most detailed reference to labor so far in his election campaign.

"We believe in fair labor laws," he said. Federal labor laws should be revised so they would be fair to labor management and the public and providing adequate conciliation boards and negotiation procedure.

In a speech earlier at Halville, 35 miles northeast of here, he charged the Liberal government with "dewriting history" to take credit for what previous Conservative governments had done.

Mr. Drew flies today from Montreal to the Quebec-Saguenay district for meetings at St. Joseph's and Alms and Jouveteau before launching his campaign.

Referring to the 1950 railway strike which was settled only after a special session of Parliament ordered arbitration procedure, Mr. Drew said:

"The government led them unions down the garden path. It promised them certain concessions and left them holding the bag."

The principle of Parliament's solution was wrong because "you can't force people to work."

"We have pressed time and again for adequate labor laws. But the government did not act on our suggestions. As a result of this, there have been crippling strikes in Canada."

Mr. Drew also referred to federal-provincial issues mentioned by Prime Minister St. Laurent in a radio speech from Vancouver Thursday night.

The prime minister had said the provinces would lose financially in a Progressive Conservative government's reallocation of tax cuts between the federal and provincial governments. He also said he regretted no agreement had been reached on ways of amending the constitution on federal-provincial matters.

Mr. Drew said the Prime Minister's statement on tax reallocation was "absolutely untrue."

At far constitutional amendment, Mr. St. Laurent was "solely responsible" for the lack of agreement. The provinces were "still willing" to resume the 1950 constitutional conference which had been adjourned by the federal government with the promise of further meetings.

Duplessis Sees By-Election Results Approval Of Policy

Quebec. — (CP) — Premier Duplessis said the results of Thursday's Quebec by-elections show a "regression of Liberal supporters" and an increase of Union Nationale supporters.

Union Nationale winners in Matapedia and Portneuf reaped larger majorities than at the last general election while Georges Lapalme, Quebec Liberal leader, won in Montreal Outremont, a Liberal stronghold, with a smaller margin than that of the late Henri Groulx. The premier made these statements at his press conference Friday.

His government had "excellent reasons to rejoice," Duplessis said. Mr. Lapalme's election was "without enthusiasm" as less than 50 per cent of eligible voters cast ballots and only about 25 per cent of all eligible voters favored the Liberal candidate.

"That means his candidacy failed to raise much interest. Evidently there was not much enthusiasm."

Mr. Lapalme's majority of 4,273 in 289 of 293 polls, was half Mr. Groulx's majority at the general election last year. Mr. Groulx, a Liberal, was re-elected with a majority of 9,137 in 1952.

Chartierville Girl Works As Secretary In Offices Of U. N. Children's Fund

Written for the Sherbrooke Record By MICHAEL CARACAPPA United Nations, N.Y. — Among the 4,000 secretariat members with the United Nations is a pretty and dark-eyed French-Canadian mademoiselle, who little knew when she arrived in New York for a brief visit a few years ago that Fate already was taking a hand in mapping her future.

MISS BLANCHELETTE

Taking time out from her duties as secretary in the busy offices of the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund the other day, Miss Blanchelette explained it thusly: "New York is really an amazing city. While it is true that I have known Montreal and other large cities since I was a little girl, somehow New York proved irresistible and I knew that I could not return home just then."

The young lady immediately wired her Dad, J. A. Blanchelette, M.P. and Assistant Parliamentary Secretary of the Ministry of National Defense, and informed him of her plans. Despite his repeated offers to help his daughter find a job, Helene, who comes from a brood of seven boys and two girls, was determined to do it by herself.

Armed with a business training course received in Sherbrooke and Ottawa, she went to the Canadian Consulate and was told that a secretarial position was open at the Australian Consulate. Once there, the usual questions were fired at her. Could she type, take dictation, had she any experience, etc? To the first two, Helene nodded her head eagerly, but to the third, she said, "No, Sir."

To her surprise, the interviewer accepted her. Later, he confessed it was because of her honesty that she had won the job—the only French-speaking Canadian on the Consulate's staff.

So far, so good. But there was still another problem confronting the plucky young girl—the English language. True that she was familiar with it and could make herself understood, but now that she had found employment, Helene knew she would have to learn it fluently—and fast.

"I was probably the only secretary in New York," she recalled with a smile, "who had an interpreter whenever I was called to the boss's office. But my colleagues, bless them, took it good naturedly and helped me considerably with the language. Imagine, though, instead of cultivating a New York accent, I began to sound like an Australian and that provoked some amusement, you may be sure."

Nonetheless, Melle Blanchelette soon began taking on the ways of a native New Yorker and she felt right at home among the city's 8,000,000 people. Anxious to discover what it would be like to work for a private business firm, she then joined the

Monday morning after a ball game, the camp took in the impressive all-glass secretariat skyscraper overlooking the East River, hoping she could work there. Once again Lady Fortune smiled at Helene and she was placed with UNICEF. Asked how she felt about working for this all-important international welfare agency, she said: "I am more than delighted to be here. I feel that I am doing something vital now in helping distressed persons and needy children throughout the world. The Fund is doing a phenomenal job in aiding long-range child-care programs in forty-nine countries and helping youngsters in seventy-two countries and territories."

Loretteville Girl Feted At Bishopton

Bishopton, July 11. — A surprise shower was given on Wednesday, June 24, by Miss Laura Betts, at the home of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Betts, of Bishopton, for Miss Lorette Alice Atkins, of Loretteville, who is marrying Mr. Merrill Betts, at Valcartier, on July 13. Upon the arrival of the bride-elect, Mrs. Roy Harrison played "Here Comes The Bride." The bride-to-be was introduced to upwards of forty-five friends, who presented her with most useful gifts. After the gifts had been passed around, Mrs. R. O. Boucher read a short paper entitled "Something Old and Something New." Delicious refreshments were served.

Former Townships School Principal Wins Fame As Timber Pathologist

DR. CLARA FRITZ

By BETTIE L. COLE Special to the Record Ottawa — Canadian industries have earned, and been saved, millions of dollars through the scientific effort of a gentle, dignified little woman working quietly in a laboratory of the federal Department of Resources and Development. She is Dr. Clara W. Fritz, a former principal of East Angus and Clarenceville Academies, whose 30 years work as a timber pathologist has gained her an international reputation.

Dr. Fritz, like so many women who have become successful in various professions, began her career as a school teacher for two years in Grand Manan and Saint John, N.B., after taking her teaching course at the Saint John Normal School. Then she entered McGill University, taking her Bachelor of Arts degree in 1914, and taught school four years in Quebec Province and one summer in Saskatchewan, after which she took her Ph.D. degree at the University of Toronto in 1923. Following this she started her important work on the study of organisms which cause decay or discoloration in timber at the Forest Products Laboratory of the Department of Resources and Development in Montreal, moving to the Ottawa laboratory two years later.

The organisms which cause decay or discoloration in timber, she explains, are all fungi, and her work deals mostly with those which attack timber in storage or in service—such as railroad ties, telephone poles, etc. One project carried on by Dr. Fritz for 25 years, from 1926 to 1951, was on jackpine. "There is a disease of the standing tree," she said, "and our experiment was made to find out whether it would continue in the railroad ties, because the railroads were refusing ties, believing the disease would continue. We found that though still alive after a quarter of a century, it remained dormant, and as a result of our findings the railroads now accept the wood." Another important experiment Dr. Fritz completed was on the brown stain in telephone poles. "The stain develops when the poles are kept over in poor storage conditions," she explained, "and the users considered that they would be weakened by it, but we were able to prove that this was not the case."

At the present time, Dr. Fritz and her staff are exploring the disease of poplar trees, the wood of which is being used for paper making by such companies as the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company in East Angus, where, as a school teacher, Dr. Fritz was teaching the children of pulp and paper makers, little realizing that some day she would be turning her efforts from the education of their children to experiments which would be of lasting benefit to theirs, and other companies like the Brompton works. Dr. Fritz is endeavoring to ascertain whether the fungi in the poplar trees continue in storage or die out, and what the effect of such organisms would have on the use of the wood in pulp manufacturing.

As a member of the testing and control committee of the Technical Section of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, Dr. Fritz is also making a survey of lime control in that industry. A native of St. Martin's, N.B., where her father, Captain E. J. Fritz, was a clipper captain, she spent much time aboard the trim little clipper until she was eight years of age, when she went to school. But after graduation from high school in Saint John she was rewarded by her father taking her with him to Indo-China, when the clipper was five months at sea without docking. This proved to be his last trip. Dr. Fritz' sister, Professor Madeline A. Fritz, is professor of invertebrate paleontology at the University of Toronto.

They have returned from a week's holiday travelling through New Brunswick and other points in the United States. Mr. A. Banks and Miss Hilda Brooks, of Sherbrooke, were also of the party. Mr. and Mrs. David Hastie, of Oshawa, Ont., were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Simpson, of Hardwick, Vt., were guests at the same home.

Local Man Named To Quebec Real Estate Assoc.

Officers and directors of the Association of Real Estate Boards of the Province of Quebec met Thursday for luncheon and a business session at the Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal.

This Association is composed of the organized Real Estate Boards from all parts of the Province of Quebec and is also a member of the Canadian Association of Real Estate Boards which is the recognized national association of the real estate profession. This meeting was the first gathering of the Board of Directors following the election of officers for the year 1953 at the Association's general meeting recently held in Quebec City. For the past three years this group has been working towards the passage of legislation to incorporate the real estate brokers of this province under a provincial charter, this with a view to preserving the ethical standards of the profession and to regulate the relationship of real estate agents with the public at large.

Officers of the Association are: President, Georges Paquet, past president of the Quebec City Real Estate Board; first vice-president, Jean Prefontaine, president of the Sherbrooke Board; second vice-president, Roy A. Patterson, past president of the Montreal Real Estate Board; executive secretary, Peter Charlton of Montreal. In addition to the officers, all of whom are ex-officio members, the Board of Directors include: Paul H. Bedard, president of the Quebec Real Estate Board; St. George Cloutier, secretary of the Quebec Real Estate Board; James A. Lowden, vice-president of the Montreal Real Estate Board, and Charles-Guy Pare, president of the Montreal Real Estate Board.

Wanted: $70 Winner In Crossword Contest

Is anybody superstitious? Today we offer you crossword puzzle No. 7 and this is July 11. Seven come 11, as the dice shooters say, so surely someone will hit the lucky jackpot and win the prize money, now at the handsome total of $70.

That's right — $70 this week. Another record was set in the number of replies received to last week's puzzle — 1433 in all — but although many of you were on the verge of success, no one was 100 per cent right. Someone suggested in a letter sent in with a puzzle that "I am beginning to think that there must be a lot of Scotch people running this puzzle business."

It is true that some of us have Scottish blood in our veins, but we keep adding $10 to the total every week and some day soon someone is going to take home the "boodle." So keep your answers coming — you may be the lucky one and at this holiday time that money should come in handy.

Several of you told us this week what you are going to do if you win the prize. "If I ever win I am going to buy myself a nice easy chair," wrote one reader. "We would like to go on a short holiday... haven't had one in four years," a lady from Brome wrote. Someone else simply said: "for Pete's sake, this must be right. I need the money so-o-o bad."

Most of you asked us to keep the puzzle coming, even if no one gets the right answer. Some typical comments were: "Keep up the puzzles; they keep the Gremlins away"; "Your contest has certainly lifted the daily pressure of living for this farm wife"; "They are so much fun, keep them coming." "It is a good way to educate the people; even children are getting interested." "Gets more and more exciting each week." "Keep up with your puzzle." "It makes everyone use their brains." Birth-dates seem to influence some people. "I was born on the 13th, so don't have much hope, but it's fun," a contestant wrote. "Surely this will be my lucky day. It is my birthday. How old? Older than I like to admit," was another comment.

"I was disgusted when I read the last answer; why not be consistent?" wrote another reader, while a North Hatley reader remarked: "I am hoping, and keeping my fingers crossed, that you will keep the contest going, regardless of a few dissatisfied contestants."

As usual, several of you put your comments into verse, a few of which we reproduce here. "Five times the puzzles have been tried; success to hundreds has been denied." "Clues tricky, misleading, we agree, or Record readers must stupid be!" "Fun it is to try again, to beat that British puzzle man."

Another said: "Oh aa—! This madman still is loose!" "I hope this week to cook his goose." "I said at first he was insane. "Now this week I say the same. "For if perchance we here agree, "He then will prove as nuts as me."

Another poem ended like this: "Is it 'pages' or 'pages' that get damaged, or 'pages'?" "Are the 'taxes' or 'tales' most criticized when they're new?" "Do the sailors prefer their old 'nets' or the 'news'?" "So how in the heck do I know what to use?"

RECORD - CROSSWORDS $70. IN CASH!

As no contestant succeeded in winning last week's prize of $60.00, this week's prize is $70.00.

WHAT TO DO Solve the clues as you would any crossword puzzle. Clip out the puzzle after you have filled it in and mail it — or good exact-size facsimile of it — to RECORD CROSSWORDS, c/o the Sherbrooke Daily Record. All answers must be received by mail or delivery in the Record Office not later than next Thursday. If more than one contestant succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be divided among those having the correct solution. If no one succeeds in answering the puzzle correctly the prize will be added to next week's puzzle prize money.

No household may send in more than one solution. Sherbrooke Record employees and their families are not eligible for the prize money. Study the clues carefully before you write down your answers. There is always one answer which is the best. The decision of the judges in the contest will be final and all contestants taking part agree to abide by the decision.

IMPORTANT — To be acceptable all entries must be clipped along the dotted lines. This is important.

- ACROSS: 7. FALL is best. "Almost sure to see" would mean that you might or you might not see. In wrestling you're almost sure to see a fall. There have been matches without a single FALL. You would positively see a FALL in any game requiring a BALL. No "almost sure" about it. 9. PAGES is best. Window PANES are often loose in the frames and do not necessarily become damaged "in the sound recording, and is particularly liable to become damaged around the edges when loose. 12. GLAMOUR is best. There's generally plenty of it. The CLAMOUR comes from the sound recording, and is hardly "in the scenes". 15. TALES is best. New TAXES will definitely be criticized; no "possibility" about it. 20. READING is best. You hardly refer to a "systematic approach" when you do READING. The expression hardly applies but any adjectival will tell you there is certainly something about it. There MAY be some anxiety when one PULSE is taken. 28. SPORT is best. In a quick SPURT speed only is primarily called for and not much stamina, and then "may help" is an understatement. 29. SWAYS is best. To SWAY out of reach is clear boxing. To STAY out of reach isn't even boxing at all.

FOR MORE POLITE DRIVING

It is true that some powerfully bad manners are in evidence on the highways. The road hog, who goes blithely on his way in the middle of a narrow road while frantic drivers pile up behind him demonstrates utter selfishness. Possibly he is a heel when he is not at the wheel of an automobile. The man who cuts in front of you so sharply that you have to jam on your brakes is a menace; possibly he is a heel as well.

But we doubt that this is always true. We have known some pretty nice guys who become changed men when they get behind the wheel of an automobile. They become nervous, erratic. Indeed, we sometimes wonder whether Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, may not have the answer to safer and more polite driving.

Beginning July 9, all drivers in Rio will be subject to mental tests as well as medical tests.

"The time has come," said a spokesman, "to do more than just check motorists' eyesight. We must determine their mental attitude toward driving, and their reactions. If you are highly strung, nervous and impatient, you cannot be a good driver. We have to weed these types off the streets."

This, in our opinion, is not altogether true. Highly-strung, nervous and impatient individuals CAN be excellent drivers if they can learn to control themselves. As a general rule their reflexes are quicker than those of more phlegmatic individuals, their decisions are faster. They can see traffic troubles piling up in front of them with more acuteness.

But if they cannot learn to control themselves! if they are horn honkers; if they belong to the I'm-going-to-pass-you-if-it's-the-last-thing-I-ever-do school; if they cannot remain calm while creeping after a truck on a long hill — then, probably, they should be weeded off the streets.

SURPLUSES AND PROPAGANDA

The Canadian government has expressed concern lest the United States government dump most of its enormous surplus supplies of food on a world market at a low rate. Wheat is an especially sore point and the fear has been registered that the prices for Canadian commodities of this nature might be forced down.

We hope and believe their fears will be dissipated. President Eisenhower has asked Congress for authority to dispose of the surpluses as he thinks best, and in view of the fact that a gift of 1,000,000 ton of grains has begun to be shipped to Pakistan, there is no reason to believe that the President will do anything else but ship food supplies where they will do most good.

The surplus stocks are mostly those that were bought by the previous Democratic government in pursuance of its policy of farm-price support, and which is being continued by the Republican administration. Altogether there is at the present time about $3,200,000,000 worth of wheat, corn, butter, cottonseed oil, meat, cotton, dried beans, peanuts, tobacco and wool in storage.

The first and most obvious objective in making large gifts of foodstuffs, or selling them at a very low price, is to relieve distress in countries where these commodities are scarce, thereby winning the good-will of the people. The second advantage of such generosity would be that it would have valuable reaction against Communist governments and help to overcome Communist influence. It is general knowledge that Communism has thrived on economic hardships because the people have turned to Communist regimes in the hope it would bring them better times. If their distress is relieved by gifts of food it will dissipate their Communist leanings. One difficulty is that Communism itself has created economic distress, particularly among the countries behind the Iron Curtain, and the Communist leaders would prohibit the people from obtaining that relief.

Nevertheless, the good news from free countries like Pakistan would filter through, and would not only stir up rebellious feelings among these masses, but cause them to compare their own restricted production with the bounteous supplies of food in the non-Communist countries which they have been led to believe are in a worse economic condition than their own.

$2 BILLION SCRAP METAL INDUSTRY GETS FTC CHECK
By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington (NEA) — Don't ever speak of them as "junk dealers" again. The scrap metal industry — if you please — has now become so big that it is being given an antitrust investigation by the Federal Trade Commission. To be investigated for alleged monopolistic practices is, of course, a mark of distinction in the business world.

The FTC case and report on scrap metal trade is now near completion. The investigation has been going on for nearly two years. It began in the great scrap shortage after the Korean war broke out. It was based on complaints from small scrap dealers that they were discriminated against through exclusive buying contracts which the big steel mills make with a few brokers.

Specifically, what the Federal Trade Commission has been digging into is the channeling of scrap — the route it follows from pick up to ultimate purchase by the big steel mills.

Last year the mills bought nearly 34 million tons of scrap. At $40 a ton, that would amount to over $1.3 billion, which ain't junk, that is, scrap. Include the copper, aluminum and other non-ferrous scrap, and it's a $2 billion annual business.

From Back Yard To Mill

The process by which this scrap gets from back yard or cellar to be melted down for some new gadget is almost as complicated and full of protocol as a government operation.

First there are the collectors. They are mostly the little fellows, who buy it by the pound. Then there are the preparers in whose yards the metals are sorted, put in heavy presses for some types of sheet metal and baled, or assembled in carload lots.

Finally there are the brokers. A broker may run a yard on the side as a hedge for his telephone business. But mostly the brokers buy from preparers and sell to the mills on monthly purchase contracts.

The trade practice has developed in such a way that the mills would prefer to buy from several brokers rather than several hundred small dealers. This is where the complaints of the little fellows come in. When they try to sell direct to a mill, they are told that they will have to deal through brokers who have exclusive supply contracts.

The scrap industry is made up of about 2000 firms. Some 1350 of them belong to the Institute of Scrap Iron and Steel, which is the trade association for the industry. It has a swank Washington office, a badge which is "the hallmark of integrity in scrap" and 24 chapters, like a fraternity. The dues range from $125 to $1320 a year. There are seven firms in the top bracket who are the big boys.

The story of Edwin C. Barringer, executive vice-president of the Institute and its Washington representative, is that there is no monopoly in his business. On the contrary, he says there is too much competition of a particularly vicious cut-throat variety. Dealers quarrel with brokers and brokers with preparers over price and quality.

Kingpin Is Philadelphia Firm

It is generally admitted, however, that the kingpin of the industry is Luria Bros. and Co. of Philadelphia. It has offices and yards in 17 cities in all major steel-making centres from coast to coast. In addition, it controls and finances many dealers.

The growth of Luria is one of the romances of American business. The original Luria, a Russian immigrant, started the business as a dealer in 1889. His sons carried on the business and took in as a partner Max Silberman, who married one of their sisters. This started the tradition that a man had to be born into the Luria family, or marry into it, to be a success in the scrap industry.

But the present head of the firm, Joel Claster, is a Dickinson College graduate and lawyer who joined Luria as its counsel in 1919. He is a past-president of the Institute. Ralph E. Ablon, now president, is executive vice-president of Luria in New York.

The tie-up of Luria contracts with some 25 of the big steel companies is one of the subjects that has been under FTC investigation. Its purpose is to increase the flow of scrap to the mills.

When FTC issues its report, it will be on the basis of whether anything contrary to the public interest is involved in present scrap trade practices. If FTC finds evidence that any of the anti-monopoly laws have been violated, it may issue a complaint, specifying what trade practices should be eliminated, after hearings.

If there is a finding of violation, cease-and-desist orders may be issued. These orders may be appealed to the federal courts within 60 days. The steel scrap case is considered important in that it may reveal the future policy line for the reconstituted Federal Trade Commission under its new Chairman, Edward F. Howrey.

Press Comments

IRREVOCABLE

London Free Press

Opponents of capital punishment have fresh evidence for their stand with the conviction of John Christie, the mild-mannered British clerk who confessed to strangling seven women. Four years ago Christie was the Crown's chief witness against Timothy Evans who, after conflicting confessions, was later hanged for the murder of his daughter. Evans in turn accused Christie of the killing but the accusation was laughed out of court. Now Christie has admitted killing Mrs. Evans, whose body was found with that of her child and, at his trial, said he didn't remember whether he killed anyone else. If Evans were serving a life term today, he would certainly get a new trial. As it is, he has paid the death penalty for a crime it seems likely he did not commit, whatever may be said in its favor, hanging is irrevocable.

NEED FOR CLARITY

Montreal Le Canada

Have you ever read texts of laws or of municipal bylaws? It's hopeless. A great English jurist, Lord Macaulay, once said: "Of all writings, the laws should be most concise and lucid. I am convinced that the style of the laws is not less important than their substance. When we make rules applicable to thousands of people we must surely draw them up in such a way that to understand them requires no tiring attention nor an extraordinary quickness of mind."

MIXED WITH WATER

It is a misdemeanor in this province to put water in milk. To put water in whisky, of course, is a very different thing and the government does it from the highest of motives. Strange how the law can discriminate between two kinds of cheating.

THE CHILDREN'S EARNINGS

St. Thomas Times-Journal

Finance Minister Abbott no doubt thought he had said a smart thing Friday night when, in a radio broadcast, he remarked that if the Progressive Conservatives carried out their program it could only be done by taking away the earnings of today's children.

But Mr. Abbott has been taking away from the earnings of today's adults, and therefore impairing the welfare of the children, by over-taxing them to the extent of hundreds of millions of dollars every year since the end of the war.

Cheer Up!

By REV. B. S. MURRAY, M.A.

By Rev. B. S. Murray, M.A.

In a garden, I remember chatting with a friend about birds. To their simplicity of true beauty and their joy of living, I referred. Somehow that afternoon God seemed so especially near that I could hear him say: "Look at the birds (Matt. 6:25) which fly in the air." There and then, I realized afresh that God must like birds for He knows the birds in the nest—knows there is one fewer there today than there was yesterday (Matt. 10:29). God cares for them; how much more will He care for you? (Matt. 6:26). "Ye are of more value than many sparrows" (Matt. 10:31).

Unexpectedly a Baltimore oriole with its brightly-colored golden, orange and white combination flew by, making a musical whistle that sounded like: "Cheer! Cheer! Spring is here!" "There's a challenge—a sermon—to 'cheer up,'" said my friend. And it was and is! "Just All Your Cares On God."

Instantly I discovered that I was not only borrowing Shelley's words to ask this bird to "teach me half the gladness that thy brain must know," but also that, if at all possible, I must discover the reason for such cheerfulness. And isn't it because God cares for them? Didn't St. Peter counsel all who profess and call themselves Christians to "Cast all your care upon Him; for He careth for you" (1 Peter 5:7)?

Won't you then, when such cares as worry, fear, discouragement, perplexity, discord assail you, kneel, and cast your load, 'en-while you pray, upon our God; then rise with lightened cheer, sure that the Father, Who is nigh to still the famished raven's cry, will hear in that we fear?"

So, from the birds I learn something of trust in God, something of melody in my heart. This undoubtedly requires that self-discipline together with a continuous application of those Divine laws which succeed in developing so deep and quiet faith in God that with the assurance that One above Who in perfect wisdom, perfect love is working for the best, I shall continue to call upon Him to strengthen and sustain me till the end of the day. Thus conditioned, I can be cheerful, sing His praises for in Him alone I find the peace which the world cannot give. Wanted: Cheerfulness!

Well, in such a mood we have no alternative but be of good cheer. Sunshine in the heart invariably produces sunshine in one's face. And, at a time, amid life's encircling gloom, when lights are going out here and there, there are few graces more necessary than that of cheerfulness. Its practical value is immeasurable. Not only is this tonic for body and mind invaluable but it also has social and business assets. For wherever a cheerful person goes, he invariably generates confidence and enthusiasm, thereby making and keeping friends.

With roots embedded in an absolute trust in a dear heavenly Father Who is love and to Whom, in love, are we linked, let us continue to spiritualize cheerfulness. Further, as a child of God, born anew in Christ, and endowed with a clean and sweetened nature, let us be known for our happy sunlit, merry living. And others, seeing us, will catch this grace which makes life lovely.

Cheerful Christians, you know, fully aware of life's difficulties, have, "in Christ," power to overcome them. So, as healthy optimists, mentally alert, serene in mind, and with broadened sympathies, they see life steadily as they live it victoriously, assured of the availability of Divine power.

All such have, in the Game of Life, discovered that to achieve cheerfulness one must eliminate worry and accentuate the positive—love. A mother once said to her little boy: "Charlie, what makes you so happy and sweet all day?" "I guess when God made me out of dust, He put a little sugar in," said Charlie. It is love that makes sunshine in our hearts. "Be of Good Cheer!"

The first century spiritual giant—St. Paul—practised and advocated this (Acts 27:22). He evidently caught the formula of "Be of good cheer" from his Master, Jesus. First century Christians so imitated Christ and lived such Christ-centred lives that they developed an interior tranquillity—a quiet undisturbedness—which their faces revealed in radiant, cheerful smiles. As people respond to a life which is a constant pageant of triumph "in Christ" (2 Cor. 2:14), Christ and His Church expect you to imitate birds—the Baltimore oriole—so that your life will summon all whom you meet to "Cheer Up!"

Cooler Place In Toronto Is In New Subway

Toronto.—One of the coolest times in Toronto is Canada's first subway. Rapid transit system workers say the temperature never varies from between 50 and 60 degrees Fahrenheit, whether surface dwellers are sweltering or shivering.

The city-owned Toronto transportation commission expects its subway to cost a cool $58,500,000 before its turnstiles open to the public in February, 1954.

The concrete tunnels that will carry the trains under crowded downtown streets are complete. More than 70 per cent of the track has been laid and most of the stations are in the final stage of construction. First of the 104 English-built cars will arrive in Toronto in July. The fleet will cost about $8,000,000. By the end of 1953, officials expect to see preliminary test runs started.

In full operation, the trains will be able to carry 40,000 persons an hour from downtown Union Station 4½ miles north to Eglinton Avenue. Trolley buses then will carry "northerners" about two miles farther to the city limits.

The whole subway trip is expected to take less than 20 minutes in rush hour.

Surface travellers should save time too. Yonge street—the city's main north-south artery—will be cleared of street-cars when the subway starts rolling. Yonge cars now carry about 12,000 passengers an hour in rush periods—and move an average of six miles an hour.

The constant below-surface temperatures makes winter heating unnecessary but above-ground stations will be heated by "off-peak" power.

During rush hours the trains will need all the power to carry their thousands of passengers. But between the peaks of demand, some electricity will heat water to warm the stations.

Six of the 12 stations will have entrances directly from stores or office buildings.

The rushing trains will do more than carry passengers—they will also be air pumps. Huge vents have been built into the subway walls at each end of the underground stations. The trains—arriving every 2½ minutes—will act as pistons, driving stale air upward and out through steel gratings in the street. As they pass again, the suction will draw fresh air back in.

When the trains stop, big emergency fans will supply fresh air.

JACOBY On Bridge

GOOD PLAY, NOT LUCK, WINS HAND

South was very disappointed when North bid one spade in today's hand. He was hoping that North would reopen the bidding with a double, thus giving South a chance to pass for penalties. South was lucky that the bidding was reopened at all, and he was also lucky to make his ambitious game contract. Not all of it was luck, however, for South played the hand for all it was worth.

If West had dreamed of opening a spade, South would have lost his contract in short order. Not being a mind reader, however, West made the normal opening lead of the nine of hearts.

It was clear to South that West had led his highest heart, so he put up dummy's jack. East covered with the queen, and South won with the king. Declarer continued with the ace of clubs and the queen of clubs, drawing trumps, and then led dummy's remaining heart. East played low, and South finessed the eight of hearts successfully.

After taking this apparently unnecessary finesse, South cashed the ace of hearts to discard a low diamond from the dummy. Next he ruffed his last heart in dummy and returned the king of diamonds.

East was obliged to win with the ace of diamonds and was now end-played. If he returned a diamond or a heart, dummy could ruff while South discarded a spade. Nor could East save himself by leading a spade, since the dummy's king would surely make a trick.

Advertising boards will occupy the pillars in the centre of each station—as far away as possible from the platforms and moustache-drawing children.

TTC engineers consider the stations almost "public proof." Glass-faced masonry on the walls is believed to be almost impervious to rain scratches and knife pokes, and drawings can be removed easily. Stainless steel hand rails and plastic doors are designed to mark with difficulty and clean quickly. Aluminum oxide abrasives in the terrazo floors makes slipping almost impossible.

Getting lost in the subway will also be difficult. Each station is marked with its name in large letters along the walls and also by a distinctive color combination.

Above-ground stations serve "open cut" sections of the line. Here the rails emerge from the tunnels and run on ordinary railway-type tracks with wooden ties.

In the tunnel sections, the rails rest on steel plates bolted to the concrete floor. Rubber pads under the plates, sound-insulating material under the lip of the platform

SHORT STORY

Waiting For Something

By TED M. RIDER

Uncle Jan twisted in his wicker chair on the front porch when he heard Carol's heels clicking swiftly on the sidewalk. Bax Hammond towered one step behind her and was pretty mad because the thin scar on his cheek looked twisted under the blazing light of the street lamp.

Then the storm broke. "Yes! gotten into your niece, Jan? Yesterday, she insisted on buying her own ticket to the barn dance. Tonight she paid her own way into the movies. Now, I ask you—"

Bax paused to settle his blue eyes indignantly on Carol's bowed red head, but she said in a very bored tone. "Girls are becoming pretty independent now a days, aren't they, Uncle Jan?"

"Well, for the luva Pete!" Bax gasped explosively. "We're engaged aren't we, Carol? And you'll be dependent on me for the rest of your life, won't you? Why, that's taken for granted, and that's the way I want it!"

"Oh, you do? Well, thanks for letting me know that, Mr. Boss Hammond. Now I'll tell you something. Here's your ring back."

She jerked the sparkling diamond from her finger and shoved it into the stunned young man's palm. Then, slammering through the screen door with a speed that made Uncle Jan blink.

"Bax, why didn't you and Carol get hitched right after your army discharge?"

"How could I marry her, then, Jan? I was stone broke and had to start my automobile agency on a flyer. And you know how things went. First, I couldn't get any stock. Then, my garage burned down and I had to start from scratch again. We're through!"

Uncle Jan stopped his departure by quickly asking for a match. He had to untangle things somehow. Why, Carol had always wanted to marry Bax. Even two years ago she'd come right out and asked of him. He'd said yes, a partnership where each person shared rain or shine as it came.

Bax hadn't wanted her when things were going bad for him, so she was wondering why he wanted her now when he was a success. After five long years of waiting, fear had replaced confidence, and her sudden desire to be independent was nothing but a cover-up to hide that fear. Maybe she was fearful that Bax just considered her another step up the ladder for himself, something to be tossed around because he was paying the bills. She wanted proof of his love.

Suddenly, he had an idea for a cure. It would be a pretty drastic one but it would show them how much they really cared for each other.

He turned to the door and bel-lowed. "Did you say Carol won't marry you because of that bullet scar on your cheek, Bax? Well, that's something to think about."

In a second the screen door flew open and Carol stood there, her hand on his shoulder and her heart in her eyes staring down at Bax's white strained face. Had taken the remark seriously, and Uncle Jan felt suddenly frightened. If Carol didn't handle things right now...

"Bax," she said, simply, "your scar stands for everything fine; for duty, loyalty, sacrifice—for everything fine I love in you."

Her hands rose to tremble on the muscles riding his jaw grimly. Then, as he stiffened, she stood on tip-toe and kissed the scar.

When he still stood like a granite statue and Carol started to cry, Uncle Jan roared in high dudgeon. "You going to wait five more years to kiss her back, you dumb galoot? That's why she busts the engagement. When a guy makes a girl wait that long she wants something besides words to prove he loves her. Get it?"

Washing Machine Aid
Pouring hot water in a washing machine which stands in a cold place may crack the porcelain. Warm it up slowly by putting lukewarm water in first and gradually adding the hot water.

Q-2. Clubs 6-5. What do you do?
A.—Bid three diamonds. The only other possibility is a rebid of two spades. Since the spades are somewhat weak and the diamond support is good, a raise to three diamonds gives a better picture of your hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION
The bidding in the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades K-Q-6-3-2, Hearts K-Q-3, Diamonds A-Q-6-2, Club 5. What do you do?

Yankees defeated Washington 6-1. Cleveland beat Chicago 3-0 in 10 innings on Bobby Feller's first shutout in two seasons.

Westrum Chosen To Replace Rice On All-Star Team

Cincinnati. (AP)—Wes Westrum of New York Giants was chosen Friday to replace the injured Del Rice of the St. Louis Cardinals, on the National League all-star team.

It was the second replacement in the National League team's catching department. Clyde McCullough of Chicago Cubs was chosen Thursday to fill the vacancy created when Del Crandall of Milwaukee Braves was injured.

first game at Chicago although Pierce had a no-hitter for seven innings. Luke Easter and Al Rosen drove in the three Cleveland runs in the top of the 10th. The 10-run seventh inning in the second game featured Minnie Minosoff's three-run homer and three Cleveland errors.

Hogan Proves To Scots Prowess In Ancient Game

Carnoustie, Scotland. (AP)—Ben Hogan has proved, even to the skeptical Scots in this birthplace of the game, that he is the modern day wonder of golf.

The Texan, four times winner of the U.S. Open, shot a magnificent 282, four strokes better than anybody else at Carnoustie, to win the British open championship Friday with a pair-breaking final round of 68.

Through the stretch drive he ignored chills, influenza and aches from old injuries received in a 1949 auto accident to capture the coveted title in his first try, something no other American ever was able to do.

The great Bobby Jones, winner in 1927 and 1930, was among the also rans on his first attempt. The old master, Walter Hagen, a four-time winner, finished 53th on his first try and Gene Sarazen, who took the 1932 title, failed to qualify in his first attempt.

The Scots took Hogan to their heart as they saw him limp down the last fairway. Courage and the love of golf are two qualities highly prized in this north country.

Coming off that last green, where he shot a birdie four and with the cheers of the crowd ringing in his ears, Hogan said: "I'm happy but so very, very tired. Don't ever mention the possibility of a playoff. I don't think I can make it."

At that time, Antonio Cerdas of Argentina was a couple of twosomes behind Hogan with a chance to tie.

Bue Cerdas never came close. He finished with a 286 for a four-way tie for second with Frank Strahan, Toledo, Ohio, amateur; Da Rees, chubby, good-natured Welshman and Peter Thomson, Australian, promising young golfer.

Next came Roberto de Vincenzo of Argentina with a 287. He was the joint leader with Hogan after the morning round. Sam King, former British Ryder cupper, followed with a 290 and defending champion Bobby Locke of South Africa with a 291.

The champion's greatest shot came at the fifth in the final round. Deeply bunkered with a bad angle, he chipped into the hole from 30 feet for a birdie three. After that he really caught fire.

It was fitting that Hogan won the British Open at Carnoustie. This old seaside course with its unofficial par of 36-36-72 served as the cradle for American golf. Through the years, Carnoustie has sent 290 professionals to the United States.

Having proved to the British he belongs in the same class with the never-to-be-forgotten Jones, Hogan and his wife Valeria plans a week's vacation in Paris before returning home.

"But, I'll be back," said Ben, "perhaps next year. I have no thoughts of retiring."

Wrigley Might Sell Cubs If Price Good

Chicago. (AP)—P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs of the National League, said Friday he might sell the team "if the conditions were right."

He was commenting on a Chicago newspaper story that a group of Chicago business men were interested in buying the team. The story said they had a backing of $5,000,000.

Wrigley said: "It's a rather thankless job owning the club. There's no money in it. All you get is publicity and I don't want that."

For anyone who needs a hearing aid. It provides a facility that makes life more worthwhile. It's fine to hear them say—

IT'S WONDERFUL TO Hear Again

—and my brand new Acousticon cost me only $69.50

Yes, that's right! Acousticon, the world's first and oldest manufacturer of electrical hearing aids, now makes a popular-priced aid for folks like me — who can't afford a higher priced aid. And am I thankful. One-piece, small, and lightweight, too—this aid is wonderful for me. Why don't you drop in, or write to the Acousticon people just like I did or phone 2-6787.

Birchton Church Members Marked 75th Anniversary

Birchton — Anniversary services, commemorating the opening of the Church in Birchton seventy-three years ago, now the United Church, were held on Sunday, July 5, when at the morning service the combined congregations of Bulwer and Birchton and Eaton, augmented by friends from far and near, listened with rapt attention to a masterly interpretation of the First Psalm by Rev. Roy Stafford, Chairman of the Quebec-Sherbrooke Presbytery, who, as guest speaker at that morning service took as his text "Blessed is the man." Psalm I.

Mr. Stafford is no new-comer to the churches in this area, and the pleasure of having the opportunity to hear him speak again was evident on the faces of his listeners. The combined choirs of twenty voices from Bulwer and Birchton led the singing of hymns appropriate to the occasion and gave a beautiful rendition of the anthem "I hear His voice." The male voices of the choir contributed an equally beautiful number, "Remember Me."

Rev. Albert Hinton gave a brief but very thorough resume of the history of the church since the opening in 1880, paying particular tribute to the interior finish of the church which he described as "one of the most beautiful in the Eastern Townships."

The church was well filled again for the evening service at seven-thirty, when Rev. Albert Hinton, with his usual ability for deep thought and understanding, opened out the Scriptures to his listeners from the words of Christ to his disciple Peter, "Lovest thou me?"

The choir again led the singing of the hymns, and gave as the anthem, "Jesus is thinking of me," while the singing of "Heaven seems nearer" by a mixed quartet from Bulwer, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wolters and Mr. and Mrs. Wymmer Laberee, was a very fitting addition to this evening's service of worship.

The organists for the services were Mrs. Walter Rogers of Bulwer and Mrs. Arthur Rogers of Birchton.

The choir is to be highly commended for their very creditable performance, having been but recently organized, under the leadership of Rev. Albert Hinton.

The free-will offering in both these services will go into the Parsonage Restoration Fund, and will be used for needed repairs.

These services of commemoration were brought to a fitting end on Wednesday evening, July 8, when the community served a cold meat and salad supper to a large and enthusiastic gathering.

The thanks of the community are extended to any and all who contributed in any way to the success of this, the first anniversary service.

MARRIAGES

STAPLETON—McCLAY

Graby, July 11.—The marriage of Gwyneth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Stapleton, of Graby, to Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McClay, of Windsor, Vt., took place Saturday, July 4, at three o'clock in the Graby United Church, with the Rev. A. G. Moore officiating. Miss Eshed of Nesbitt, of Knowlton, presided at the organ and Mrs. Larry Kavanaugh, of Graby, sang a solo during the signing of the register. The church was decorated with baskets of multi-colored gladioli and honeysuckle.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Mrs. David Carr, of Montreal, as matron of honor. Mr. David Carr, of Montreal, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Keyworth Stapleton and Mr. Robert Hobbs, both of Graby.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white nylon tulle over bridal satin, the bodice of which was dotted with seed pearls, worn with a bolero of chantilly lace. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls, and she carried a cascade bouquet of red roses.

The matron of honor wore a gown of pale green nylon net over brocade taffeta with a matching bolero of brocade. Her large picture hat was of nylon net, and she carried a cascade bouquet of yellow Talisman roses.

Mrs. Stapleton, the bride's mother, wore an aqua street-length dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink roses. Mrs. McClay, mother of the groom, wore a white linen dress with white and red accessories and a corsage of red roses.

After the reception at the Graby Hotel, the couple left for their wedding trip. For travelling the bride wore a dress of yellow orlon with an aqua duster coat and white accessories. Upon their return from the honeymoon the couple will reside in Windsor, Vt.

Out of town guests were: Miss Ethel Nesbitt, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Perry, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. McClay, Miss Beverly Gaylor and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Armstrong, of Knowlton; Miss Isabella Beattie and Mr. Llewellyn Beattie, of Cowansville; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Sykes, Mr. James McClay, Mrs. Earle Conroy and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McClay, of Windsor, Vt.; Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd McClay and children, of St. Lambert; Mr. Eric Murphy, of Halifax; Mr. Dan Allen, of Gardener, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. George Hogle, of Moors, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. David Carr, of Montreal.

HENDERSON—HENDERSON

South Durham, Que., July 11.—St. James' Anglican Church, adorned with baskets of garden flowers, was the scene of a pretty wedding at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, June 27, when Barbara

MASSAWIPPI

The Christmas Club met with Mrs. Charles Taylor. Cards were played at three tables with the prizes going to Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Wallace. Mrs. Taylor served lunch at the close of the games. She was assisted by Mrs. N. C. Whitcomb. Out of town guests were Mrs. Wallace, Mrs. Whitcomb and Mrs. Sloggett, of Ayer's Cliff.

Mrs. Gilpin, of Barton, Vt., has been spending a week with her niece, Mrs. M. J. Brown, and Mr. Brown.

Mrs. Bertha Gilson was in Sherbrooke to attend the Lane-Sharp wedding.

Callers at Mr. W. W. St. Dizier were Miss Elizabeth Lane of Stanstead, Mr. W. Squire of Compton; Mr. Clare St. Dizier, of St. Lambert; and Mr. Henry Lane, of Springfield, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Taylor, of Montreal, and Mr. and Mrs. John Frappied, of Hamstead, L.I., were visitors at the Taylor home.

Rev. George Harrington officiated at the ceremony, and Miss Marion Montgomery presided at the organ. During the signing of the register the church choir sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride, given away by her father, was attended by Mrs. Mumery as matron of honor, and Mr. Mumery, of Richmond, acted as best man. The ushers were Mr. Raymond Lancaster and Mr. Hugh Lancaster, of Melbourne, Que.

The bride wore a floor-length gown of white brocade satin with a fitted bodice having a portrait neckline, and long tight sleeves tapering to points over the hands, and a full skirt. Her long, embroidered veil of tulle illusion held in place by a cap effect headress extended to the hem of her dress, and she carried a colonial bouquet of deep pink Sweetheart roses. Her only jewellery was a strand of pearls.

The matron of honor wore a short-sleeved gown of lilac nylon net over taffeta, white accessories and she carried a nosegay of deep red roses and baby's breath.

Mrs. Henderson, mother of the bride, wore a dress of white flowered silk with a small white hat and white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Fred Henderson, mother of the bridegroom, was in a frock of purple crepe with black accessories. She wore a shoulder spray of deep pink roses.

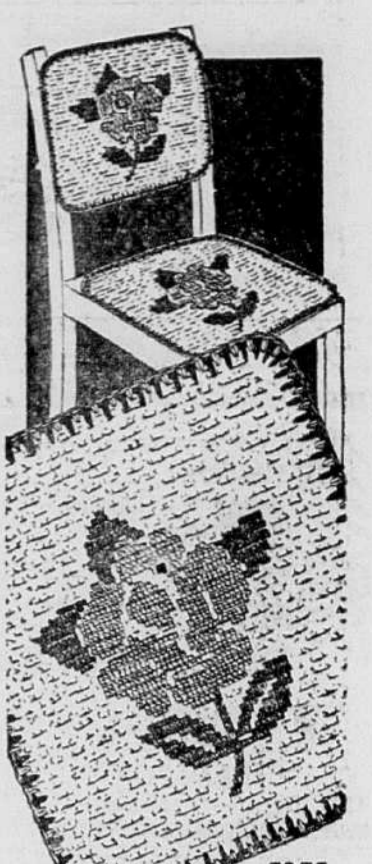

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the hall, which was decorated in pink and white, with baskets of garden flowers.

The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked by white candles on either side.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Henderson will take up residence in Richmond, Que.

The out of town guests were from South Ryegate, Chatham, Ont., Montreal, Windsor Mills, North Ely and Richmond.

Miss A. Howse Was Guest Of Honor At Beulah Evening Assn. At Ayer's Cliff

Ayer's Cliff, July 11 — Mrs. Sheldon True was a delightful hostess, when she entertained the members and friends of the Beulah Evening Association for their regular meeting. The president, Mrs. Ruth Waite, presided and carried on the usual routine of business, when plans were made to have the Sher-Lenn Singers give a concert here in the early fall.

The apron committee asked a group of member to meet at the home of Mrs. R. G. McHarg to assist in preparing some articles for the mid-summer sale, on July 16.

A report of the Presbytery W.A. held in Lennoxville was given by the delegates, Mrs. Boomhour, Mrs. H. S. Keeler and Mrs. Waite, and many interesting features were relayed to the group.

A "Going Away Party" was given one of the members, Miss Annie Howse, who has been principal of the High School here for many years and has accepted a position in Granby for the coming term.

On behalf of the society, the president expressed regret that she was leaving this community and presented her with a silk umbrella as a token of their esteem and with the best-wishes for her continued success and happiness in her new surroundings.

Miss Howse replied suitably telling of her pleasant association among the people here and expressed her thanks for their kindness.

Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. True, assisted by Mrs. Waite and Mrs. Pierce, and a thoroughly enjoyable social hour was spent.

All wish her every success, as she is very talented. She has been with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mosher, practically since her birth.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cobleigh and family, of Winchendon, Mass., are spending their holidays at the home of her mother and brother, Mrs. G. M. Robinson and Mr. Sidney Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Voisard and family, of St. Lambert, are in residence in their summer home here.

Mrs. F. J. B. Brown has been spending several days at the home of her brother, Mr. Bond Little, at North Hatley.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Goode and family, of Bury, were guests of Mrs. Doris Goode and family.

Mrs. C. M. Moore and daughter, Margaret, of Howick, are holidaying at Lake Edge Cabins, for a month. Mr. Moore, who is manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in Howick, motors here for the week-ends.

Mr. and Mrs. Wellman Smith and family, of St. Lambert, spent a day with Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Cass. Anthony Smith remained here and will spend the week with his grandmother.

Mrs. F. H. Sleeper, and daughter, Mrs. Raymond Russell, of St. Petersburg, Fla., have arrived at their summer home at Elmwood Park for the season.

Mr. R. G. Cass is spending this week with his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Hodge, at Cookshire.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Vance were Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Wintle, of Welland, Ont., Mrs. H. E. Wintle, of Port Colborne, Ont.; and Mrs. Sidney Wintle and son, Edward, of Gould.

Mrs. W. M. Norris, an aged lady who is not able to get out a great deal would like her friends to know that her telephone number is 31-r-11.

NOTICE

The Honourable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labour of the Province of Quebec, pursuant to the provisions of Section 5 of the Collective Labour Agreement Act (R.S.Q. 1941, chapter 163 and amendments), hereby gives notice that he has received a request in modification to the decree relating to the commercial establishments which territorial jurisdiction comprises the town of Richmond, the Municipality of Melbourne and the territory comprised in a radius of three miles from their limits.

The notice of request of modification has been published in the Quebec Official Gazette of June 27, 1953, in the following manner:

The Honourable Antonio Barrette, Minister of Labour, hereby gives notice, pursuant to the provisions of the Collective Agreement Act (R.S.Q. 1941, chapter 163 and amendments), that he intends to recommend the approval of the following amendments to the decree No. 2861 of July 17, 1946, as amended, relating to the commercial establishments in the town of Richmond, the Municipality of Melbourne and the territory comprised in a radius of three (3) miles from their limits:

1. Subsection "e-ii" of section IV will be replaced by the following: "e-ii) until 6.00 p.m. Wednesday, when a holiday falls in the week."
2. In subsection "e-iii" of section IV, the following sentence will be added: "However, work shall cease at 6.00 p.m. on Christmas eve."
3. Subsection "b" of section V will be replaced by the following: "b) Whenever St. John the Baptist Day (June 24) or Confederation Day (July 1st) fall on a Saturday or Sunday, the following Monday is not worked. As for May 24, it shall be observed on the date set by proclamation issued by the Federal Government."
4. In section VII, the words "butter and cheese" will be added.
5. The first paragraph of section XVI will be replaced by the following: "XVI. Minimum wages: Rates of wages for male and female employees shall not be less than the following: 80% Class "A" $25.00 20% Class "B" 20.00"

During the thirty days following the date of publication of this notice in the Quebec Official Gazette the Honourable Minister of Labour will consider the objections which the interested parties may wish to set forth.

GERARD TREMBLAY, Deputy Minister of Labour, Department of Labour, Quebec, June 27, 1953.

General Notes

Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Mosher, the young people and many of the older ones were able to enjoy a good display of fireworks put on by Mr. Mosher, on July 4. Mr. Mosher's hobby is to give the young folks clean sport.

Miss Kathleen Kezar left last week for Toronto, Ont., to spend an indefinite time with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Mosher. Miss Kezar intends to study commercial art in that city.

Six Horses Entered In $2,000 Pacing Derby Tomorrow

Eight Classes On Program; Close Race Expected In Classic; Top Pacers To Battle It Out For Honors

The $2,000 Pacing Derby which will be held tomorrow evening will be the feature event of the week-end card on the Sherbrooke Racing Club, stated Purvis Lawerson, secretary, late yesterday afternoon. Six horses will face the starter in the two-heat event.

Six other classes are listed on tomorrow night's program with full entries in all events. The BB Trot failed to fill and it was postponed until a later date. In the first race of the evening, the C Pace, eight horses are entered with another eight in the C Pace, the second on the card. Both these races are for purses of $250 each.

In the CC Pace, which is the first of the two-heat fixtures, will be for a purse of $400 (divided) and eight horses will face the starter with two more eligible in case there are any withdrawals. In the A Pace seven horses will battle it out for the $500 (divided) purse.

In the main event, the Derby, six horses have been nominated with L.E.M., Doctor Brooke, Seattle Hanover and Harold Abbe being rated the favorites. The other two are Sally Ann and Cax Brooke. The first four have travelled the distance in 2:09 and better. Seattle Hanover topped the Pacing Derby at Quebec beating Indian Land, one of the top favorites around the Capital City. L.E.M. was second in 2:05 in Montreal a few days ago while Doctor Brooke is another horse who can move when he has to.

In the A Pace Stan H should give the rest of the field plenty to worry about although several of the others can upset the dope. In the other two-heat affair it will be a case of studying the records and picking according to their past performances.

In the first two races on the card several newcomers will make their initial start on the local track and anything may happen. This evening is Ladies Night and all 1 day supporters will be admitted free. The first race is called for 8:00.

The starters with their drivers follow:

NEWCOMER BILL DALEY TO HURL TOMORROW EVENING

Williams Would Be Welcome Says Manager Boudreau

Boston. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox hung out the welcome sign for Ted Williams Friday as they expressed hope almost to a man that the big slugger will be returned to the lineup before the end of the season.

The 35-year-old Williams, a Marine flier who returned to the U.S. from Korea Thursday night, said at Moffett Field, Calif., that possibly the Red Sox might not want an "old man" on the roster. "Absolutely, we want him back," declared manager Lou Boudreau, "what a shot in the arm he would be for this ball club."

Pitcher Willard Nixon said: "He's still the greatest hitter in baseball. We certainly want him back."

But despite the enthusiasm of the Red Sox, Williams does not know if or when he'll be able to don his old No. 9 again. He is not scheduled for discharge until October, after the season ends.

State Golf Event To Be Held Over Orleans Layout

The regular weekly tournament of the Vermont State Golf Association will be held this coming Sunday, July 12, at the Orleans Country Club in Orleans.

This event will be a handicap medal play tournament for amateurs only with three classes for the different handicap golfers. At least two net and two gross prizes will be awarded in each division.

Winners in last year's tournament, included Harold Converse and Dick Kipp of Orleans, Leo St. John of Barre, Paul Monty and Ken Page of Newport, and George Smith of St. Johnsbury. One of the largest fields of the season participated in this event last year, and another large turnout is expected this coming Sunday.

Reports from Dick Kipp, chairman of the tournament committee at the Orleans Country Club indicate that the course is in excellent shape despite the dry weather. Entries may be placed the day of the tournament with Burt Phillips, Tournament Director of the Vermont State Golf Association at the Orleans Country Club.

$1,985.35 Paid On Daily Double Bet

Toronto.—(P)—A 65-year-old trotting fan held the only ticket on a record daily double that paid $1,985.35 at Thorncliffe Raceway Friday.

Mitchell Bullard of Toronto got the whopping payoff after Follow Jim, a 5-1-1 shot, won the second race of the harness meet.

Bullard bought five $2 double tickets on the first race, one of them on the winner, Colonel G., a 14-1-1 outsider. Colonel G. paid $37.60 and Follow Jim returned $12.30 to win.

It was the biggest double ever paid at Thorncliffe.

France-Denmark Split Cup Matches

Paris.—(P)—France and Denmark each won a match in the Friday first day of play in the European zone semi-finals for the Davis Cup.

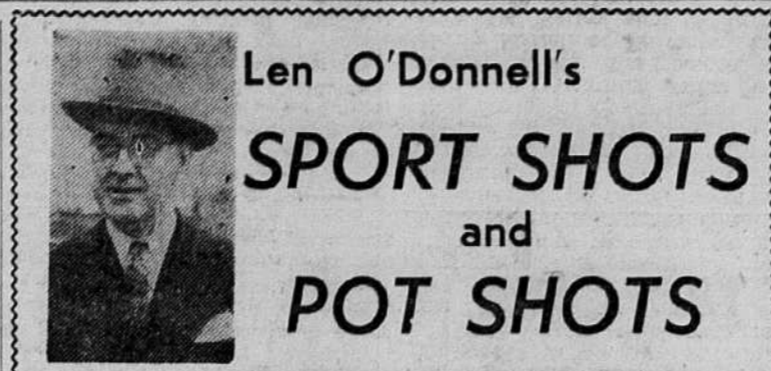

Paul Remy of France defeated Torben Ulrich, 2-6, 6-1, 6-1, 6-2, after Kurt Nielsen of Denmark, downed Robert Haillet, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2, in the opener.

to rack up his 69. Cerda played two twosomes behind Hogan all afternoon. He actually closed in a stroke on Hogan until he sent his second shot on No. 12 into the spectators and later missed a sinkable putt.

Rees played the last round like a man who believed he was going to win. His only poor hole was the 567-yard sixth, where he took a one-over-par six. He got a birdie four at the 18th.

Thomson reached the turn in 36 and came back in a brilliant 35, shooting eight holes in four and one hole in three. He missed a 40-foot putt for an eagle on No. 18.

Lloyd Mangrum, the daring Chicago professional who insisted upon his arrival that "either Hogan or me will win," finished far down the list with 301. He fired 74-76 Friday.

RACING DERBY TAKES PLACE TOMORROW

The racing fans of the district will have an opportunity of watching some of the outstanding pacers in this part of the country in action tomorrow evening at the local track in the $2,000 Pacing Derby sponsored by the Sherbrooke Racing Club. It is a two-heat affair with six starters.

The class will bring together Harold Abbe, Seattle Hanover, L.E.M., Doctor Parker, Sally Ann and Cax Brooke. The first four horses are very well known throughout provincial racing circles and all have set fast records in their various starts. Sally Ann and Cax Brooke are two good horses but we don't figure them in the same class as the others.

We think that the wagers will have their hands full in picking the winners for both heats as any one of the first named can walk off with the honors. No doubt the local backers will ride along with Harold Abbe, the fast stepping horse from the blue and gold stable of Lucien Dugre of Sherbrooke. L.E.M. belongs to the Corbell stable from Montreal and Doctor Parker is teamed by his owner, L. Dionne of Drummondville.

Seattle Hanover, the horse who trimmed Indian Land in Quebec for top Derby, belongs to J. E. St. Marie and will be driven by A. Foster, and will give them all a real go for the honors before the race is over. He is noted for his fast stepping ability with plenty of finishing power.

The only local entry, Harold Abbe, is making his first appearance on the local oval and from his past records should give a very good account for himself. He topped the Huron Express Derby at Richelieu Park a few days ago when he won the major share of the $3,000 purse in the fast time of 2:06. We really think that whoever wins will set a new track record in doing so. So fans, this is your opportunity to see the outstanding pacers in the country and it should be worth plenty as we think it will be one of the best races ever to be staged at the local track.

The golfers of the Townships will no doubt head for East Angus today where the annual Field Day takes place. There will be prizes for all three classes, A, B and C, in the net and gross sections. We are told that the course is in fine condition and that the officials of the club are hoping for a good crowd.

Out at Mt. Orford, Gerry Huot is staging a Field Day for the youngsters with prizes for the net and gross winners. This is open to all clubs who are affiliated with the Eastern Townships Golf Association and should draw a good entry. Gerry tells us that the kids can play in the morning or afternoon and he will be on hand to attend to them. So boys, here is your chance to try your luck over the tricky nine-hole layout over sloping hills of Mt. Orford.

The City of Sherbrooke is staging a "Civic Day" on Sunday, July 19, at the Municipal Stadium when Theford Mines pays a visit to our Indians. There will be door prizes and also a hitting contest between players from both clubs.

Alderman Carl Camirand tells us that members of the City Council are putting up the sum of $100 for the door prizes. The top prize will be $50 with one $25 and two $10 ones and the other $5.00. In the hitting duel three players will be named from each club and the winners will also be handed prizes.

The main reason for this move is to try and help build the attendance and at the same time we understand that in the contract between the City and the Cleveland organization it is mentioned that the ball club will turn over to the City the gate receipts, which must amount to $3,000, as part of their agreement.

So fans, here is an opportunity of winning a little money on the side and at the same time witness some good entertainment as well as a good ball game. So don't forget, Sunday, July 19, at the local park.

See where Ruben Gomez, former hurler with St. Johns in the Provincial League, is doing O.K. for himself with the New York Giants. He tossed a two-hitter against the Pirates of Pittsburgh and last month stopped the Braves of Milwaukee with another two-hitter. So it looks as though some of the former members of the circuit can hold their own with the best of them.

It looks as though Frank Byrne and Phil Watson may have a tough job convincing the moguls of the Ontario Hockey Association to admit their Quebec Citadels into the circuit. They applied and then made a trip to Toronto explain their case but no decision was taken.

It may turn out that the fiery Byrne and Watson may be holding the bag without any league to be admitted in. Quebec is all set with their new entry the Frontenacs and the Cits are definitely on the outside. Wonder what Mr. Dudley will do now for his outcasts?

It took a little time but Bob Bedard is finally a member of the 1953 Davis Cup squad. It was announced from Toronto a little ahead of time, then denied by Dr. Leclerc, non-playing captain, but he later affirmed it. Anyway the important thing as far as we are concerned is that Bob made the grade and we extend our congratulations to him on behalf of the local tennis fans. Nice work Bob, keep it up.

Ted Williams will definitely remain out of baseball this season but will try to make the grade next year if the Red Sox are willing to take a chance with him. Don't look like too much of a risk to us. The Boudreau clan sure could use him this year.

There is only one game on tap this afternoon in the Minor loop at 1:30 at Sangster Park. St. Joseph Yankees will meet West Ward Dodgers in the encounter. For some of the followers of the Anderson circuit who are wondering just where the park is here is a little information. The park runs off Galt St. West just below Racine School and the street is called Kitchener. So don't forget to drop up and see the kids in action.

Minnesota's Wally Ulrich Takes Lead In Third Round Of Canadian Open; Oklahoma Man Trails By Two Strokes

Toronto.—(P)—Wally Ulrich of Austin, Minn., playing his second year regularly on the tournament trail, took over a two-stroke lead Friday in the third round of the Canadian open golf tournament.

Ulrich shot a four-under-par 67 over the Scarborough course to give him a 54-hole total of 203 and break up a four-way tie that had left the leadership snarled at the half-way point Thursday.

Dutch Harrison of Ardmore, Okla., and Marty Furgol of LeMont, Ill., came from behind to move into second place with 205. Harrison, 1951 Canadian Open champion, shot the best score Friday, a sizzling five-under 66. Furgol, equalled Ulrich's 67.

Tied at 206 were Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Tommy Bolt of Houston, Tex., Fred Hawkins of El Paso, and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del., each shot sub-par golf to join Gardner Dickinson of Panama City, Fla., in the 207 bracket.

Ulrich, a hefty, even-tempered fellow with a crew cut, started out the day sharing a halfway lead of 136 with Dickin n, Ted Kroll of Utica, N.Y., and Leo Biagetti of Baltimore.

Dickinson shot a par 71, but Kroll and Biagetti each took a 73. Kroll lasted until the back nine, where he played sound golf from the first tee to the 18th green. He was never under par and had five one-putt greens, never more than two putts anywhere. At four holes his putts rimmed the cup or rolled off the edge, less than a foot away.

Fletcher's 206 left him far in the lead as low Canadian. Closest were Phil Farley of Scarborough, in the lead as low amateur; Gordie Brydson of Toronto Mississauga, and Henry Martell of Edmonton, each with 214. Farley shot 69 Friday, Martell 72 and Brydson 73.

Yankees Upset Quebec Braves In Provincial

The seventh-place Three Rivers Yankees scored an upset Friday night, dumping the second-place Quebec Braves 8-5 in a Provincial Baseball League game.

In the only other games scheduled, the sixth-place St. Hyacinthe Athletics and fourth-place St. Johns Canadiens split a twin-ball, the Athletics taking the opener 5-3 and the Canadiens the night-cap 6-5.

At Three Rivers, each team scored a single run in the opening frame and then went scoreless until the Yanks broke loose for six runs in the fourth. The Braves managed two runs in the fifth and single runs in the final two frames, but the big six was too much to overcome.

In the first game at St. Johns, the Athletics took a 3-0 lead, on a single run in the first and a pair in the fourth, only to have the Canadiens tie it up in the seventh. Two runs in the extra-inning 10th game the Athletics the game.

In the second tilt, the Athletics again took a healthy lead, only to have the Canadiens tie it up and then go them one better in the seventh win.

New First Baseman, Don Saner, Joins Indians; "Major" Bowes To Work Tonight In Series Opener

Sherbrooke Indians will tangle this week-end with one of the most improved clubs in the Provincial League, the St. Johns Canadiens, in a three-game duel. Tonight they will be hosts to the Ganouze squad while tomorrow afternoon they travel to St. Johns and will return for an evening fixture under the lights at the Municipal Stadium.

The Indians are at present staging a battle with the Braves of Quebec for possession of second position and this week-end will determine who will move into the favored spot. The Braves tangle with the Miners of Theford in another three-game battle over the week-end.

St. Johns is trailing the locals by five and a half games and will no doubt be out to try and reduce the margin. On the other hand the May squad will be out to extend the Canadiens. This evening all teams in the loop will see action, as Drummondville travels to St. Hyacinthe and Three Rivers moves over to Granby to take on the league leaders.

Manager Pinky May has nominated "Major" Jack Bowes for duty tonight at the local park while tomorrow afternoon Jerry Underwood will toe the mound. In the evening the latest addition to the squad, Bill Daley, will make his initial home appearance. He worked in relief at Granby last week and Manager May was impressed with his two inning performance.

NEW FIRST BASEMAN JOINS TEAM
Don Saner has been optioned to the Indians and reported in yesterday afternoon. Saner comes from Peoria of the Three-League class B, where he played this year. He has been hitting .278, straddling 5' 11 1/2" and tips the scales at 179 lbs. He is 20 years old and hails from Sacramento, Cal., and bats and throws left handed. He made the All-Conference Baseball and football teams while attending Sacramento Junior College.

New York Giants Invite Themselves Into National League Pennant Race Whipping Brooks Again For 7th Win

The New York Giants, who recorded, when Roy Campanella hit one in the second inning.

The loss cost Brooklyn a full game of its slender first-place lead over the Milwaukee Braves who whipped third-place St. Louis 5-2. Despite six errors the Philadelphia Phillies clung to fourth place with a 13-3 decision over Pittsburgh.

Going into today's games the Dodgers hold a 2-game edge over the Braves, 3 1/2 over the Cardinals and 5 1/2 over Philadelphia.

Crafty Ken Raffensberger hurled his 31st major league shutout to give Cincinnati a 6-0 victory over Chicago in the front half of a twilight-night twin bill but a three-run homer by Ralph Kiner helped the Cubs win the nightcap 4-3.
