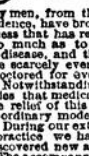
Errors of Youth.



SUFFERERS FROM
Nervous Debility, Youthful Indiscretions, Lost Manhood,
BE YOUR OWN PHYSICIAN!

Many men, from the effects of youthful imprudence, have brought about a state of weakness that has reduced the general system so much as to induce almost every other disease, and the real cause of the trouble scarcely ever being suspected, they are doctored for everything but the right one. Notwithstanding the many valuable remedies that medical science has produced for the relief of this class of patients, none of the ordinary modes of treatment effect a cure. During our extensive college and hospital practice we have experimented with and discovered new and concentrated remedies. The accompanying prescription is offered as a certain and speedy cure, as hundreds of cases in our practice have been restored to perfect health by its use after all other remedies failed. Perfectly pure ingredients must be used in the preparation of this prescription.

℞.—Erythroxylon coca ½ drachm.
Jerubebin, ½ drachm.
Helonias Dioica, ½ drachm.
Gelsemin, 8 grains.
Ext. ignatia amara (alcoholic), 2 grains
Ext. leptandra, 2 scruples.
Glycerine, q. s. Mix.

Make 60 pills. Take 1 pill at 3 p. m., and another on going to bed. In some cases it will be necessary for the patient to take two pills at bedtime, making the number three a day. This remedy is adapted to every condition of nervous debility and weakness in either sex, and especially in those cases resulting from imprudence. The recuperative powers of this restorative are truly astonishing, and its use continued for a short time changes the languid, debilitated, nerveless condition to one of renewed life and vigor.

As we are constantly in receipt of letters of inquiry relative to this remedy, we would say to those who would prefer to obtain it of us, by remitting $1 a securely sealed package containing 60 pills, carefully compounded, will be sent by return mail from our private laboratory, or we will furnish 6 packages, which will cure most cases, for $5.

DUAL LANGUAGE.

MR. M'CARTHY'S BILL INTRODUCED.

Its Purpose to Authorize the North-West Legislature to Do Away With French as an Official Language Altogether.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 17.—St. Patrick's Day was celebrated at the Capitol to a modest extent. Flags were flying from the Government buildings, of course, the meteor flag of the empire, and legislators wore shamrocks in their buttonholes. This did not prevent the House sitting, for at the usual time the electric bell sounded and called the members to their seats. The wearers of the green were noticeable on both sides, but more particularly so on the breasts of supporters of the Government. Sir John Thompson wore a sprig and so did Mr. Tupper, Mr. Kirkpatrick, Mr. McCarthy, Mr. Ives and others, while Sir Adolphe sported his usual cardinal bouquet. On the other side Mr. Campbell wore the green and Mr. Innes kept him company. The latter had a page bring in his shamrock after the House opened. Then Mr. Dalton McCarthy helped to observe the day, for he made it the occasion of bringing up once more the dual language question in the North-West Territories. It seemed rather fitting, perhaps, that a subject so wrapped up with race and religious feelings should be brought up on St. Patrick's Day. Mr. McCarthy was equal to the occasion and he moved the first reading of his bill intituled. "An Act to further amend the North-West Territories Act." The present law empowered the Legislative Council of the Territories to regulate the question of dual languages, and to admit both if they saw fit. Under that law they have abolished the French language. In introducing his bill Mr. McCarthy made a little speech. As is usual with him he was clear, brief, and right to the point. The hub-bub of conversation died away as he proceeded, and the House gave him a careful attention. One member especially lost not a word. He was Mr. Lariviere, of Manitoba, who sits across the gangway, and a little lower down than the orator of the "glorious thirteen," Mr. McCarthy told the House about the discussion of this question two sessions ago. It ended, he said, in a compromise, in which he did not acquiesce nor which he thought wise. Before that compromise, the French language was official in the Territories in four departments of the public service; it was permissive in debates of the Assembly, but their records had to be published in French as well as in English; it was also permissive in the courts but the ordinances of the Legislative Council must be in both languages. A compromise had been effected, but the still existed. For the benefit of those members who have not heard that discussion he gave a synopsis of the history of the dual language question in Canada. The right to the use of the French language had been claimed by members of the old Legislative Assembly of Canada years ago. By the act of union of 1841 the French language was abolished, and this prohibition remained in force for six or seven years. An appeal was made and the permission restored. This had been incorporated in the constitution of 1867, and the two languages had been established in the House of Commons as it was in the Province of Quebec. This did not extend to Ontario, but, unfortunately, it had been extended to Manitoba and the North-West Territories. It had never been questioned till he brought the matter before the House. Then came the compromise, and the debates of the Assembly and the ordinances were still to be published in French. His amendment would strike out that clause from the compromise act and leave the Legislative Council to deal with that matter. The other branch of the subject was that of education. If any section of the Dominion needed united schools that was the Territories, on account of the sparseness of the population. The added powers given to the Council vested in them the right to deal with licenses, municipal matters and civil rights, but they left the subject of education untouched. The present law constituted separate schools, their character being determined by a majority of the ratepayers of the locality, still reserving to the minority the right to their own school. He now proposed to empower the Legislative Council to deal with it.

EVIL OF A DUAL LANGUAGE

Mr. Denison seconded the bill. The effect of this amendment would be this: The compromise legislation to which Mr. McCarthy referred, gave to the Legislative Council of the North-West Territories the right to legislate respecting the use of the French language in public matters, except in regard to the publishing of public ordinances. That right was reserved, and, consequently, they have to be published in both English and French. Now the amendment introduced yesterday extends to the Council power to legislate with respect to this matter too.

Mr. Speaker was just putting to the House the introduction of the bill when Mr. Lariviere caught his eye, and so gained permission to make a speech. He was against the bill. He was sorry the matter was brought up again; it had a tendency to stir up race and national feelings. The privileges of the French were guaranteed at confederation for the whole Dominion. Why should they refuse to the North-West those rights enjoyed in the Province of Quebec. "Does it do harm," said Mr. Lariviere in doleful tones, "does it do harm that I speak French and got the laws of my country in my mother tongue. It is only a question of dollars and cents, but on the other hand, there was principle." Certain persons, he continued, wished

TO RAISE RACE FEELINGS.

Some persons had no other means of raising themselves above the level of common people and they did this in order to try to make something of themselves in the world. That was all, and the concluding remarks raised a laugh in which Mr. McCarthy joined heartily. The bill was introduced and read the first time.

Then came the questions. First, Mr. Prior asked:

1. Whether the attention of the Government has been called to the discussion that took place in the British House of Commons a few days ago, in regard to the fortifications that are proposed to be built at Esquimalt, British Columbia?

2. Is it a fact that the Imperial Government have signified their willingness to supply the guns and plans of fortifications, and that the Canadian Government is asked to build the fortifications and to supply the men for taking care of, and manning the guns?

3. Is it a fact that the Canadian Government has refused to erect the fortifications?

4. In case the Canadian Government has not absolutely refused to build the fortifications, is it their intention to shortly ask Parliament for a sum with which to erect the said fortifications?

The Hon. Mr. Bowell replied that this was under consideration but such matter as could be given would be brought down.

There were several questions respecting rural post offices. Sir Adolphe replied and in French but Mr. Innes called out "both languages" and so both were used.

Mr. Lepine proposed the question put on the paper by Mr. Curran: "Whether it is the intention of the Government to appoint an Inspector of Gear and Tackle on vessels in the Port of Montreal before the opening of navigation?"

Mr. Tupper replied that the Act would come into force on April first, and that an officer of the port would be clothed with necessary power to carry out the law.

Mr. Davies had a question. It was: "When Sir Charles Tupper at the recent banquet of the London, England, Board of Commerce said that a vital blow would be struck at the United States, was he foreshadowing the policy of the Canadian Government?"

Sir John Thompson replied. When he read that such a statement had been made he did not believe the report to be correct. Since then he had seen a and that gentleman denied having made use of such an expression.

The bills fixed for a second reading all had to stand and that brought the House to the adjourned debate on the respective merits of the Beauharnois and Soulanges shores for a canal. Mr. Bain had the floor and once more presented the claims of his county. After all Mr. Bergeron's motion for reports, etc., of the canal to be brought down was carried, and so the House will have an opportunity of examining into the canal question at their leisure.

But few of the notices of motion were disposed of. Mr. Perry asked for returns showing amount expended on piers and breakwaters in Prince Edward Island County, P. E. I., and it was carried.

Mr. Edgar's long motion asking for maps and volumes of information respecting land in the North-West was allowed to stand with the understanding that he should call at the Department of Interior and arrange with the minister respecting what was to be produced.

Mr. Laurier asked for an address. For copy of all correspondence between the Imperial Government and the Canadian Government concerning the defenses of Esquimalt.

Mr. Bowell stated that part of such information could not in the interest of the public service be brought down. That which it was expedient to produce would be laid on the table.

That was satisfactory and at six o'clock the House adjourned.

Sir John Thompson left early in order to catch his train for Montreal.

During the sitting Mr. Tupper brought down the papers relating to lobster fishing which were asked for when he brought in his bill. Mr. Ives gave notice of motion asking for a map showing extent of white pine and spruce timber areas still existing in Canada.

Mr. McCarthy has a notice of motion enquiring into the working of the Railway Committee of the Privy Council. He asks for a statement of complaints and applications filed, the names and the manner in which they were disposed of.

The Senate.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 18.—A return brought down in Senate yesterday showed that Hon. Jno. Carling, Minister of Agriculture, resigned his seat in the Senate on 17th February last, the resignation being accepted the following day in order to enable him to run for London.

The Senate had an important sitting yesterday. Hon. Mr. Lougheed, of Calgary, withdrew his motion calling attention to the alleged discrimination made in the carrying out of the quarantine regulations, as between British Columbia and the North-west Territories on the ground that he understood the Government would change the regulation.

Senator Boulton will enquire on Monday whether the commercial status between Canada and Newfoundland, which existed prior to last session, will be renewed.

Hon. Mr. O'Donahue drew the attention of the Government to the reported utterances in England of Sir Chas. Tupper to the effect that Canada would shortly strike a vital blow at the United States. He asked whether the High Commissioner had been authorized to make the statement and if correct would the Government repudiate it. Premier Abbott, in reply, said the alleged statements attributed to Sir Charles were erroneous and without foundation.

CLEMENCEAU DIVORCE CASE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

PARIS, March 18.—Although the Clemenceau divorce was granted three weeks ago and has been the chief topic of conversation during that time, not a line or hint of it has appeared in any Paris newspaper. This secrecy on a subject of common knowledge is due to the strongest personal efforts on the part of Mr. Clemenceau, who, notwithstanding the lively gossip which this event has occasioned in political and social circles, has appeared every day in the Chamber and has been attending to his ordinary duties. The woman in the case on whose relations with her husband Mme. Clemenceau based her petition for divorce, is the Countess D'Aunay, a young and very beautiful woman, who, although she has been much talked of by Parisian gossips, has not hitherto been the subject of any serious scandal. She is the wife of the Count D'Aunay, who, although actually French minister at Copenhagen, has latterly been acting as French minister at Cairo and while living at the latter place the countess has been the constant subject of gossip both in diplomatic and social circles. She is a brunette with bright, brown eyes which she uses very effectively, and she has a willowy figure, while her voice is exquisitely soft and mellow. She always dresses in admirable taste and during her stay in Cairo her flirtations were entirely confined to the British officers. On her return to Paris some months ago her name first began to be coupled with that of Clemenceau, for she was a constant visitor to the Chamber and was often seen promenading the corridors in his company. Gossip had it that Clemenceau was a very good friend of hers and that it was to her friendship that her husband owed much of his rapid political advance. The culmination of their relations was when Mme. Clemenceau caught her husband in a flagrant breach of propriety with the countess, when she immediately instituted divorce proceedings.

M'GILL GRADUATES AT OTTAWA.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 18.—The Ottawa Valley graduates of the McGill University held their annual meeting last night at the Russell House. The president, Sir James Grant, occupied the chair. The annual report was presented by the secretary, Mr. Ami. During the year there had been one general meeting of the society and five meetings of the executive committee. Facilities were afforded to matriculating students for being examined. Messrs. Dowling and Wicksteed were the examiners, and of five candidates four passed. One of the Ottawa candidates carried off the highest exhibition ($100) in the Donalda course, open to women. The secretary had been deputed by Dr. Wright, delegate-elect, to replace him as representative of the society. The secretary had the honor to make a short address—stating what the society was doing—and presented on its behalf the cheque for $25 towards the library of the University, which was well received. The election of officers resulted as follows: Hon. President, Hon. J. J. C. Abbott; president, Sir James Grant, re-elected; first vice-president, Dr. H. P. Wright; second vice-president, Dr. R. W. Ells; third vice-president, Dr. R. K. Klock; treasurer, J. H. Burland; secretary, H. M. Ami, re-elected; committee, R. Cassels, R. H. Conroy, D. B. Dowling, G. F. Calder, Lachute, and Dr. Powell.

The hon. president and vice-presidents were appointed delegates to the convocation of the university in May. Mr. J. Burland and Dr. Powell were elected candidates for representative fellows of the corporation of the university, and the president, secretary and treasurer and Drs. Powell and Ells were appointed to make arrangements for a banquet to be held in May.

QUEBEC AND THE DOMINION.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 18.—Hon. T. C. Casgrain, Attorney-General of Quebec, had an interview yesterday with the Deputy Minister of Justice respecting the proposed arbitration for the settlement of the unsettled accounts between the Dominion and Quebec and Ontario. Judge Burbidge and Chancellor Boyd represent the Dominion and Ontario respectively, but the Quebec arbitrator has not yet been named.

It is rumored that one of the first acts of the Quebec Legislature at its coming session will be to repeal the Quebec mining law, passed by the Mercier Government.

TORONTO TOPICS.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 18.—A deputation of medical men yesterday asked the Provincial Government to repeal the clause of the Medical Act providing that all practitioners must pay a fee of $2 a year or be struck from the roll.

The Toronto Board of Trade has decided that it could not recommend interference with the right of municipalities to grant bonuses to manufacturers.

Bankrupt Portugal.

PARIS, March 18. — The bankruptcy of Portugal is almost an official fact. Foreign experts maintain that the national treasury is empty, that the April coupons will not be paid, and that payment of interest will be suspended for three years. Paris bankers do not believe payment will ever be resumed.

DO WE DISCRIMINATE AGAINST BRITISH GOODS?

The Toronto Mail, which enjoys the doubtful honor of having begun the Wiman crusade for Commercial Union, has been publishing a series of articles of late that seem to point toward the possibility that one of these mornings this able journal will declare for lower duties on British goods. It has been talking about "The Trend of Trade," which it finds to be in the direction of the English market, since the erection of the McKinley barrier to the south deflected it that way. After a column full of figures from the trade returns showing how our commerce with Britain has been growing while that with the Americans has gone down with signal rapidity, the Mail says:

The result of the McKinley Act, so far as can be judged, is to throw us out of the United States market and to force us to look to England. In many lines we should do better in the American market than in the English, but Great Britain is an importer of agricultural products on a vast scale. In 1889 the English purchased from abroad 13,800 horses; 555,000 cattle; 677,000 sheep; 137,200,000 pounds of mutton; 43,000,000 pounds of pork; 502,000,000 pounds of bacon; 155,000,000 pounds of fresh beef; 72,000,000 pounds of canned beef; 215,000,000 pounds of butter; 215,000,000 pounds of cheese; 94,000,000 dozen of eggs; 109,000,000 bushels of wheat; 40,000,000 bushels of barley; 52,000,000 bushels of oats, and so on. We might share in that trade, of which, by the way, the United States has a tremendous proportion. But it stands to reason that we cannot do it unless we suit our economic conditions to the market we are seeking by rendering production cheap.

This is no very distinct declaration of opinion and succeeding articles have been equally hazy. Still a demand that this question be considered, coming from such a quarter, is significant. The Mail has never been violently pro-British. When a Conservative organ, back in the tumultous days of '78, it was the author of that historic bit of bravado, declaring that if protection threatened the endurance of the colonial tie then "so much the worse for British connection." Since, its course is well known. It fought the battle of Commercial Union, even after the Liberals, with an eye on political exigencies, had rechristened it Unrestricted Reciprocity. It endangered the national life of the Dominion by recklessly crusading against the religious views of two-fifths of our people; and, taken generally, it has been looked upon as a force not to be counted in with those which would make for the maintenance of a Brittannic Canada. Nor does it come single handed to the consideration of this question. Rumor credits the Liberal party with serious cogitation as to whether they had not better throw aside their present policy, tainted with a suspicion of disloyalty, and take up the task of making our bond with Britain a more enduring one. The Mail led them into the wilderness after the trade chimera they are now following; and it would be eminently fitting if that journal should lead them back again.

In this matter, however, the Mail is no pioneer. The advisability of fostering British trade has long been considered in many quarters, and the main obstacle lies in the necessity of conserving our protective policy. As an actual matter of fact, we tax British goods now more severely than we do those coming from the United States. We went into detail some time ago to show this, but the lump sums are equally striking. Last year on $42,000,000 worth of British goods, we levied taxes totalling $9,114,000; while on $53,000,000 in American goods, we only collected $7,734,511 in duties. The difference does not occur, of course, on specific articles. We tax every import exactly the same, no matter whence it comes; but our tariff is so arranged—unintentionally, no doubt—that the heavier duties fall on the goods we import from Britain. Just how far this innocent-looking style of discrimination can be carried, was seen in the case of the British West Indies before Mr. Blaine throttled the islanders into accepting his reciprocity propositions, where articles that Britain alone could supply bore a merely nominal tax, while such things as must come from the States paid a gigantic duty. Thus the islanders could declare that they did not discriminate and point to their tariff as positive proof of their statement, while, all the time, American goods were supplying the whole revenue of the colonies. Mr. Blaine was not hoodwinked by this device, and now they take Yankee goods free of duty at the peril of losing their sugar trade.

Canada is, perhaps unconsciously, working this little game too, but the other way round. We do not discriminate—no, not on a single article—but, as a whole, British goods pay nearly 22 per cent., while American products get off with 14½ per cent. We would work a great change and send British trade ahead with a bound, if we only evened things up. The difficulty of doing so much as this is quite easily understood. Our tariff is arranged on a protective basis, and we cannot endanger our hitherto carefully guarded industries. But we equally cannot do without trade. We especially must export if we are to live. The American market is barricaded against us; the British market is wide open; and there must come a time when our manufacturers will be willing to so readjust their lines of enterprise that we can at least give to Britain as much as we do to her American rivals. The consequent reduction in taxation would be most welcome to our uneasy farming community, and we would be in a better position to laugh at the frequent proposals from Washington to settle international difficulties by strength of arm. A step in this direction would be worth a dozen resolutions such as Mr. McNeill's, proposing that Britain abandon free trade.

WHILE our maritime members are baiting our naturally fair-minded and good tempered maritime Minister of Marine into saying stern and unyielding things about the quarrel with Newfoundland, the St. John's Telegram, the organ of the Newfoundland Government, is saying: "All things considered, we are not unwilling to return to the old condition of things, provided, of course, that the authorities at Ottawa take the first step towards a reconciliation." The little fellows have all of a little fellow's pride, of course; but we are big enough to lose no dignity in taking a long "first step."

The New York Tribune says:

A few years ago a party of English railroad men visited this country, travelled about for some time, observing things and taking notes, and then went home and reported that they had seen nothing worth copying. Yet, even then American ideas were entering their conservative world, and now bid fair to prevail altogether. The English companies now use baggage-cars—or luggage-vans.

How gratifying such baby talk as this must be to American pride! And how much more gratifying but for the fact that the English companies have certainly been using one or two "baggage cars or luggage vans" on every passenger train for the last thirty or forty years and probably much longer. The Tribune is also responsible for the statement that the English railways "have adopted American methods of lighting with gas and electricity." It is only fair to the party of English railroad men who are accused of stealing so many American ideas "a few years ago," to point out that gas has been in common use for lighting railway trains on some of the English lines for many years. It will not be long before the Tribune or some equally well informed American journal accuses the English of stealing the idea of railways and steam engines from the United States.

A GRENVILLE deputation of farmers are asking the Government to increase the duty on pork. The lumbermen will hardly consent to this, but our pork-growers would reach the same end if they had the duty on American corn removed. This would injure no one as we do no practical corn-raising, and by importing the American article free, they could feed their hogs as cheaply as the Yankees can.

DURING the present Parliament, the Conservative party, with its overwhelming majority, has a splendid chance to make a record for wise and patriotic legislation.

Perhaps the habit of exaggeration is sometimes born of a desire to be picturesque in speech. A school girl returning home the other evening was overheard to say to a young friend:

When Curran and Egan met on the dueling ground, the latter complained of the advantage his antagonist had over him, and declared that he was as easily hit as a haystack, while as to firing at Curran, he might as well fire at a razor's edge. Whereupon Curran waggishly proposed that his size should be chalked out on Egan's side, and that "every shot which hits outside that mark should go for nothing."

Amid general sorrow, Commander Guiseppe Martucci, the oldest follower of Garibaldi, was borne to the grave in Naples a few days ago. He was one hundred and two years old. He had not only taken part in the campaigns of his famous leader, but had played an important part in every Italian revolt of the century. He earned the right to wear on his breast twenty-six medals and royal decorations. In December he attended the last reunion of his old comrades in arms, and took a cold which resulted in his death.

This anecdote of Robert Browning is related in a recent number of "Temple Bar:" The poet's son had on one occasion hired a room in a neighboring house in which to exhibit his pictures. In the temporary absence of the artist, Mr. Browning was doing the honors, the room being half filled with fashionable friends. Mr. Browning was standing near the door when a visitor, unannounced, made her appearance; he immediately shook hands with the stranger or tried to do so, when she exclaimed, "Oh, I beg your pardon, but please, sir, I'm the cook. Mr. Barret asked me to come and see his pictures." "And I'm very glad to see you," said Mr. Browning, with ready courtesy. "Take my arm and I will show you round."

Patti had planned to join Albani in a peculiar tribute to Rossini on the recent centenary of the great composer. The diva, who was one of the most famous Semiramides, proposed to sing her part of a well-known duet into a phonograph, and to have Mme. Albani, one of the most eminent living representatives of Arsace, do likewise. Then, though the singers were thousands of miles apart, their voices were to be brought together. But as Albani was not provided with the necessary apparatus, the scheme could not be carried into execution.

SILO BUILDING.

MATERIAL USED IN CONSTRUCTION.

Method of Filling the Silo—Corn and Clover Ensilage—Advice to Farmers From Prof. Robertson.

The afternoon session of the Ensilage and Economic Feed Association commenced shortly after two o'clock. The first paper was on the subject of tilling the soil and cultivation of corn, by Rev. H. Charest. Corn, he said, makes the best ensilage. It requires a rich soil, and the ground requires to be freely manured. If possible, let the manure spreading machine be followed immediately by the plough. The seeding should be wide, and at least two and a half to three feet apart for smaller varieties and two to four for larger. It was best to adopt varieties that matured before the early frosts. Red cob was recommended. In reply to questions whether superphosphates and potash were best placed in autumn or in solution when applied in the spring, opinions were divided. Mr. Barnard was strongly in favor of spreading three hundred to four hundred pounds per acre of phosphates, together with a small amount of manure required, in autumn. A discussion ensued as to varieties, Mr. Fisher stating that the Sorel variety was much appreciated. In this neighborhood, however, it was doubtful whether this corn would mature each year. Mr. Trennam stated that after growing fodder corn fifteen years he differed from Mr. Fisher. The time to sow, he said, was to plough just before planting, and the result was that the corn got a start ahead of the weeds. The weeds turned down afforded a hot bed. This principle was strongly endorsed. After some discussion on ploughing Mr. Fisher said that all the men present knew how to grow corn. It was the preparation of corn for ensilage that they wished to discuss. Prof. Robertson in reply to a question as to smut stated it came when sowed only. The corn should not be grown for a couple of years when once smut had appeared. Ploughing should always be deep at first, but shallow and distant cultivation should be observed. Speaking of the previous remarks on cultivation and ploughing, he said there was no general rule for this, as each field would require a special rule.

Hon. Mr. Beaubien urged that what they wanted to know was what variety of corn was to be grown. They knew very well how to cultivate it, but the drawback was that all beginners had sour ensilage, and this had a bad effect on their trade.

Mr. Barnard: "This depends so entirely on climate and soil it is impossible to name a universal variety."

"Does a sweet variety prove best for cattle?" was asked.

Mr. Robertson: "Grow what yields the greater weight of corn per acre."

Mr. Garth read his paper on "Filling a Silo." When cut, the ear must be well formed, but not dead ripe. He used his reaping machine to cut, and placed the stalks in handy armfuls. He thought the cutter should have long knives. Green corn was apt to choke short-knived machines. He kept a man in the silo to stamp corners and sides when filling his silo. A horse would often tramp it down well. A good plan was to divide the silo in half. When filled it should be left a day and then covered with straw. He advised a moderate amount of weight on top. Clover, he found, spoiled, in contact with corn, but buckwheat kept well with it. He had stored 2 ft. buckwheat and 3 ft. of clover,

AND HAD CORN OVER.

Mr. Tylee then read a paper on the "Construction of the Silo." A proper construction was of the first importance. A silo could be cheaply built. It was simply an air tight compartment or tank. At first masonry was thought to be indispensable, but it was a well known fact that the ordinary wooden building did very well. The oblong shape was preferable to the square. Matched lumber was to be preferred. The silo should be made to contain more than was actually required for feed for the cattle, as some might be spoilt on opening. A silo should not cost more than $1 a ton capacity. Some had been built for 50 cents per ton. Referring to wooden silos Mr. Macpherson suggested that ventilation should be secured to avoid rot. The linings should be coated with crude petroleum. No rotting would occur during the winter, but in the summer, when the silo is emptied, it must be dried as rapidly as possible. Prof. Robertson built a silo with one ply of lumber inside of tongued and grooved pine; in the sides towards the weather he had a tar-paper covering and an outside wood covering. He preferred to have the studding perpendicular and the board horizontal. The discussion went to prove that the air must be kept out from the ensilage entirely.

Mr. Barnard read a very interesting paper on making ensilage of crops other than corn. He stated that corn was not a perfect food. The importance of clover for ensilage was therefore demonstrated. In Germany years ago brown hay was made outside by simply covering with mud, and this made a perfect food. It was the idea of English farmers to make their clover

A BROWN HAY.

They could also make ensilage of any crop that would press down.

A sample of ruffage grass was passed round which had been placed in a silo. It showed that the grass had undergone a chemical process of softening.

Continuing, he stated that clover would always have a dark appearance, but so long as the cattle ate it clean they must be satisfied. The clover must not be allowed to rot on the farm before being placed in the silo, but must be fresh, but clover was a complete good, and only half the quantity of it was needed, and it was therefore much to be preferred to corn ensilage.

Mr. Dawes had used clover ensilage for years. It was actually worth more than 150 per cent. more than corn ensilage. The clover required to be spread out when placed in the silo.

Mr. Barnard gave the following comparison between ordinary and sweet corn for ensilage:

1000 lbs.—Gives in heat........... 11 p. c.
Flesh forming property 9-10 of 1 p. c.
Fat forming property.. 4-10 of 1 p. c.

SWEET CORN GIVES IN

1000 lbs.—Heat forming........... 8.03
Flesh forming.......... 1.43
Fat forming............ 6-10 of 1 p. c.

which showed the relative value of sweet corn to be higher.

Mr. Beaubien said his duty was not to give a lecture. He had to say that his heart and soul's desire was to push the good practice of ensilage through the country. He wanted to put a silo in every parish in the Province of Quebec. "Our winter lasts six months and here we have a method by which we have cheap fodder throughout the year. At present the cattle never come out of the winter fat, and therefore do not benefit so well in the spring. The secret is to find a good wintering for our cattle. This ensilage system is a gift of Providence, and it will certainly become generally adopted."

He was gratified that the present Association was once again on its feet; its work was so beneficial that too much could not be said for it. They must follow the lead of the Eastern Division by giving a name to their products, and make only the best of manufacture and brands of butter. He urged that the silo system could alone enable the province to meet the competition from the North-West. They must leave cereals and adopt dairying and cattle raising. He was very glad to see Mr. Tylee present, because he was so persevering. He hoped that the Association would continue to be very prosperous. The president hoped that the membership would be increased, and also that all present would join the Association.

The Evening Session.

There was a large attendance at the evening session. Prof. Robertson, of the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, in his address, dwelt principally on the best modes of how to till the soil to advantage, cheapen the cost and improve the products generally. The farmer, he said, must do a deal of clear thinking before he would get a profitable turnover. The newspapers of Montreal were fast becoming potent factors in circulating information among the farmers in the country. Improvements in agriculture meant increased comfort and good living for all. Good crops came from good weather and good management, and in nine years out of ten the weather in this country was uniformly good and good for crops, but they were a most shiftless set of farmers.

This he attributed to the fact that the soil was so good that not much exertion was needed, and he compared them to the sturdy and thrifty farmers of Scotland. In Canada there were 25,000,000 acres under cultivation, and 16¼ under crop, and if the poor farmer could only come up to the average one the value of the grain would be $80,000,000 more per year. Canada was truly an agricultural country, and Professor Robertson took his audience on an imaginary trip over the Dominion. From Ottawa to here was fairly good agricultural ground. Going down through Quebec and the Saguenay the scenery was beautiful. The farmers there depended largely on the cheese factories. New Brunswick was a mixed agricultural and lumbering section and so was Nova Scotia. Acadia produced apples for shipment to England. Prince Edward Island was capable of great things, having a thrifty and intelligent people, who formerly sowed four and a half bushels to the acre, with 47 per cent. of vitality. In five years more they expected to have fifty cheese factories in Prince Edward Island. Ontario was largely agricultural, and he knew of no set of farmers in any country where so much real solid comfort existed, obtained by those who had substantial thrift, and did their own thinking and management. Manitoba's producing qualities were hopeful and so was the North-West generally. Prof. Robertson got enthusiastic over the Rocky Mountains and said it would pay the Government to send two men from each county to go out and see them. In Canada the farmer got on the average 16½ bushels of wheat to the acre and in England they got 30% and here we got

MORE THAN IN THE UNITED STATES.

The people of England used more intelligence in farming than in Canada. Industry was the basis for natural prosperity and with skill, frugality and fair dealing would make any people prosperous. The present agricultural condition was a reproach to the country. Prof. Robertson next went into the question of products for exportation, and how these should be cultivated, as well as the best markets for them. Especially did he urge upon them the advisability of extending the cheese trade. Last year they exported $9,922,000 worth of England, and those competent to judge did not see why it should not be increased to $20,000,000 annually, and it would if they went on improving. The United States last year only sent one half what they did sixteen years ago. Canada sent 108,298 head of cattle to England, valued at $8,623,202, and England bought $41,500,000 worth abroad. Denmark got 12 cents in England for bacon and Canadians got 8¾ cents. Was there room for improvement here? They sent $912,000 worth of butter to England, which purchased $56,000,000 worth abroad. They should develop this branch for exportation and that could be done by ensilage. He urged them to sow early for barley and wheat, as well as a good deal more clear thinking and the studying of the seasons.

Mr. A. G. McBean made a few remarks, dwelling upon the advantages to be derived from ensilage.

Mr. Fisher, ex-M. P. P. of Knowlton, was asked to give his views as to whether it would be well to have the meetings stationery in Montreal or move around. He favored Montreal, as it was the railroad centre and easily got at. He hoped this was the inauguration of a new era.

THE MURDERER FULLY IDENTIFIED.

He Belongs to a Good Family, But Had a Mania For Marrying—His Victim's Identity Proven.

LIVERPOOL, March 18.—The excitement over the Rainhill murders continues. Yesterday a gardener who lives next door to Dinham villa, where the bodies were found, recognized the eldest body as that of a woman he had seen in the backyard of Dinham villa on August 9th last. On August 10 he heard children screaming. He paid no attention, thinking perhaps some of the children had been hurt. He never saw the woman or children afterwards. Another recognized the body as that of Marie Dening, who had been in the employ of a Liverpool fish merchant. Williams had married her under the name of Dening, at that time describing himself as a mining engineer. Williams and his wife, the man said, afterwards went to Hull, where Williams was arrested and convicted of forgery. For this crime he was sentenced to a year's imprisonment. On being discharged from prison he married a young woman in Hull. He wished her to go abroad, but she declined. Williams deserted her and returned to Marie. Accompanied by Marie, Williams went to Cape Town, where they remained for a time. Then they returned to Birkenhead and took up their residence there, remaining for some time. Marie had three brothers and two sisters in Birkenhead. The man believed that Williams was the same individual who married a young lady named Matheson at Beverley in 1890, at that time assuming the name of Harry Lawson. He then described himself as a large farmer in Australia. He left a number of valuable presents to Miss Matheson. After his marriage to Miss Matheson he deserted her and

ABSCONDED TO SOUTH AMERICA.

Miss Matheson swore out a warrant against him, charging him with the theft of the presents he had given her, and he was arrested in Uruguay. Williams was brought back to Hull and was sent to gaol for nine months. During the time he was in prison it was ascertained he had married a lady in Birkenhead. It is considered strange, in view of these developments, that proceedings were not taken against the man for bigamy, but for some reason this was not done, and when he was released he vanished. The more the facts in this strange case are brought to light, the stronger grows the belief that Williams is the most consummate, cold-blooded villain that this or any other country has ever produced. A theory has been advanced that he is insane, but there has been too much method in his madness for this theory to gain many supporters. He certainly appears to have a mania for marrying, and nothing seems to have deterred him from putting his wives out of the way when they proved obstacles to his contracting other bigamous marriages. The police believe Williams has committed other murders than those now known, and the authorities at every place he is known have been notified to trace him while in their respective localities. It has been learned that the name of Williams is assumed and that the murderer's proper name is Dening, the name under which he married the woman whose body was found under the hearthstone at Dinham Villa. Dening has a brother who lives in Birkenhead and he was summoned to attend the coroner's inquest on the body of Mrs. Dening and the four unfortunate children. He arrived at Rainhill this afternoon. He bears a striking

RESEMBLANCE TO HIS BROTHER

and some of the people in the crowd thought it was the murderer. The news spread with lightning-like speed that the murderer had returned, in the excitement no one recalling that he was safely in the custody of the police at Melbourne. The crowd hooted and yelled, and finally made a threatening rush for Dening. The latter thought that his life was in danger and rushed to a hotel, in which he found shelter from the yelling crowd of men and boys, who following him to the very doors. Two sisters of Marie Dening, with the brother of Dening, alias Williams, yesterday visited the place where the bodies are lying and identified the remains of the woman and also of the four children, whose names were respectively given as Bertha, Maria, Lillian and Sydney. It was ascertained that the murderer, Frederick Dening, is a member of a good family residing in Birkenhead. He has always been of a restless disposition, and has led a roving, unsettled life. He married the woman Marie James in 1880, and she accompanied him to Australia. She remained in that country for a number of years, and returned to England in July last. The woman and her children remained with her sisters until they mysteriously disappeared. The excavations at the Rainhill villa were continued throughout the day, but in spite of the closest search, no further discovery was made.

Heavy Snow in New York.

NEW YORK, March 17.—A snowstorm of unusual severity at this season of the year started in about 9 o'clock to-night. Four hours afterward about two inches of snow had fallen. Street car travel was delayed to a considerable extent, and telegraphic communication suffered interruption.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 17.—Last night's storm was the heaviest ever known in this part of the country. The snow began falling at two o'clock yesterday and now lies eighteen inches on a level.

STANTON, Va., March 17.—For the past 12 hours the severest snowstorm of the winter has prevailed here, followed by a furious fall of hail.

CHAPTER XL.—(Continued.)

"The whole——Oh, I see! You mean it is all redolent of antiquity. Found in a chest, I hope, as I suggested, with a few words of introduction to explain the circumstance—good; and stated, I perceive, with great frankness and simplicity. You find it easy to be frank, Mr. Derwent, I daresay?"

"My nature, Mr. Sanders," observed Jeff, indifferently.

"Yes. Now, what astonishes me in your writing is its objectiveness."

"Ah! that astonishes myself," said Jeff with a little yawn.

There was a little pause.

"Why, bless my soul," said the editor, whose face was now invisible behind the manuscript, "this is a satire!"

"I should rather think it was," replied Jeff, "and a deucedly good satire too."

"Eh!"—Mr. Sanders looked over the top of the manuscript at Jeff; the young gentleman's face was imperturbable; he was tapping his right boot with his umbrella. "This is most extraordinary," murmured the editor.

"That is quite my idea of it," observed the other. "I never wrote anything half so good before."

"I was not referring to the manuscript," rejoined Mr. Sanders blandly; that is good no doubt—in its way. But satires are scarcely quite the sort of thing for the Smelifungus Magazine."

"I didn't mean it for the Smellfungus," cried Jeff.

"Eh! what?" The editor looked up again, but Jeff was only tapping his other boot.

"This is not for you. This is to go to some magazine that pays.—Pray, don't be angry, my dear sir; I am aware that your magazine is solvent—I mean, that pays its proprietor."

"Now, this is hard," said Mr. Sanders, looking at his book-shelves for sympathy; "for it was I who brought this young man out—correct me, if I am mistaken, Mr. Derwent, but I think I was the first—as editor of the Smellfungus Magazine"——

"And proprietor," interrupted Jeff. "That is where the shoe pinches. The literary side of your character is perfection; it is the financial side which is in fault. I have never seen the color of your money."

"So young," murmured Mr. Sanders, "and yet so grasping; this is quite a revelation to me."

"Very good," said Jeff; "I shall make no extra charge on that account; but I must have twenty pounds for the story."

"Youth is sanguine," observed Mr. Sanders; "and likewise full of high spirits. You must be joking."

But Jeff only looked in the fire, and repeated "Twenty pounds."

"Well, I'll tell you what," said Mr. Sanders, clapping his knee, like a man who has resolved to do something regardless of expense—I'll tell you what. In consideration of the two papers I have had for nothing, added to the cost of this story—for there must be no doubt for the future about the market value of such articles—I will give you five pounds. But it must be understood that you give the Smellfungus the refusal of your next work, and at the same proportionate price."

"I'll take the five pounds," said Jeff, after a little pause, on account. Or look here: pay me ten pounds down, and you shall have the story."

The deft celerity with which Mr. Sanders produced his cheque-book, filled in a cheque, and also a receipt upon stamped paper, was quite pleasant to see. "Short accounts make long friends," said he, cheerfully. And now, my dear sir, that business is over, let me congratulate you on having permanently joined the staff of the Smellfungus. I see before you a great—or at least a considerable future. You have the art—a very rare one—of making dry details palatable; of putting fire into old-world facts. All you want are materials. You must come and dwell in the shadow of the British Museum."

"I live at Islington," observed Jeff simply.

"Then you must come by the 'bus to Bloomsbury. The British Museum has been bequeathed to you by the nation to furnish you with facts for the Smellfungus Magazine."

"Very good," said Jeff. "I will accept the legacy."

"It is wonderful to me how—out at Islington—you can have procured such materials as you have done. However, the whole affair is remarkable; that at your time of life your taste should lead you to grasp these details of the past"—

"So young, so grasping," interrupted Jeff. "Well I must be off now." Ta-ta."

"Good-bye, my young friend, good-bye," said Mr. Sanders, impressively. Then softly repeated to himself: "Ta-ta." He said Ta-ta. That lad is a phenomenon. Antiquarianism is a passion with him, and yet how he talks! I wonder whether Chatterton talked like that? He reminds me very much of Chatterton—in some respects."

CHAPTER XLI.
THE EXODUS.

When an overwhelming grief befalls us, it seems for the moment, even to the humblest, to dwarf all other cares. It is only the rich, however, who can afford to indulge it. With the poor, the next day, or the day after, some miserable need pushes divine Sorrow from her stool, and compels attention. Even Kate Dalton, whose sense of duty was so strong, and whose consciousness of responsibility so keen, had in the anguish of her loss underrated the more sordid troubles that were awaiting her. The cold touch of Death had numbed her somewhat to the meaner pain. But though the weight of sorrow still oppressed her sorely, she now began to feel the other burdens that pressed upon her. Lucy was gone, her wages paid to the last farthing, and her fare to town—but without any present, such as her young mistress yearned to make her; and her loss was felt, but not in gain. One mouth the less to feed made but small difference in the household expenses, already reduced to the most economical figure. Do what she could, Kitty found her little income did but just keep pace with her out-goings. And there was still some debts. Dr. Curzon's bill—which must have grown to be a pretty long one by this time—had not yet been sent in; and Kitty dared not ask for it. Yet it seemed to her shocking, and almost sacriligious, that what was due for medical attendance on her poor mother in those latter weeks, as well as on Jenny, should not be settled. The parcel of cast-off raiment had come from Riverside, and Kitty had humbly arrayed herself in one of Mary's dresses. It was nothing more, she had said to herself, than hundreds of well-born and well-bred girls, who are not rich, are wont to do. "You will not be offended if I send you baby's pelisse, who has grown out of all knowledge," is a very usual thing for one mother to write to another who is her friend or relative, but happens not to be so rich in this world's goods. It is as common as Dick's old clothes being "cut up" for his brother Jack. And it is the same, or almost the same, with other garments. Yet somehow Kitty felt it. The change from complete equity with her cousin to this state of dependence, obligation, subordination—there was no actual term for it—had been too sudden to be accepted yet as a matter of course.

Jenny, who had been reading about "doles" in her old books, used to speak of these gratuitous garments as "the Riverside dole," and could not be persuaded to make use of them. Some of the furniture from Cardigan Place had come packed in sacking; and "When my clothes are worn out, Margate and I are going to set to work at dressmaking with that," she said. "Mrs. Campden will like to see me in sackcloth, I know, and it will no doubt be very becoming."

But neither Kitty's meekness, nor Jenny's mock-humility availed them in a financial point of view, even though the former effected a distaste for butcher-meat—which was essential for her delicate sister—and took to eating bread and cheese.

One afternoon Mrs. Campden drove over to the Nook, and found their little dining-table spread with one chop for Jenny, and a loaf and cheese. Tony, as often happened now, had been asked to dine by the good doctor.

"Cheese is very bad for you, Kitty," said she, taking in the situation at a glance; "and I am afraid you will find it false economy."

"It agrees with me very well I thank you," said Kitty, with the nearest approach to bitterness that her gentle nature had ever shown.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

OTTAWA CRICKETERS

PREPARING FOR A BUSY SEASON.

The Personnel of the Team and Where They Are to Play—A New Pavilion—Curling Last Night.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 16.—The prospects of the Ottawa Cricket Club for the coming season are unusually good. True, at present there are no signs of any such drawing events as the match with Lord Hawke's English eleven proved last autumn, but already negotiations have been entered into by the Ottawa Club with the Toronto, Hamilton, Peterboro, Royal Military College, Kingston, McGill College Club and other first class teams, with whom fixtures will be made in a few days after the opening of the season. The home team will have a good chance of putting themselves in good form before the season gets old. All the above fixtures are for home play, on the Rideau Hall ground, but trips are talked of to St. John, N. B., Halifax and Montreal, to meet brother cricketers on their own pitch. It will be remarked there are places where probably the best cricket played in the Dominion is to be met with. A still further trip is spoken of, the eleven being anxious to revisit Boston, and if possible renew the lawrels they won five years ago. The personnel of the eleven will be very little altered from that of last season. Britton, the professional of 1890, whose bowling contributed in no small degree to the victories of that year, has been re-engaged and will arrive here from England, where he played last year, about May 1. J. Stewart Dickey, late of the Toronto Club, has taken up his residence in Ottawa for a time, and will strengthen the bowling of the Ottawa team this season with his peculiar high left arm delivery. B. T. A. Bell, W. C. Little, Louis Coste, L. H. Warden, A. Bristow, G. L. Bouchier, P. W. Bentley, Norton Taylor, A. Turton, and H. Ackland will complete the eleven. This list gives great encouragement to young players. Several colts are to be noticed in it, and one Ackland deserved promotion long before. Still if somewhat tardy it comes not too late. The club will also have another eleven of more than average strength composed of such men as Capt. Streatfield, V. H. Steele, C. D. Tripp, A. H. Balderson, Plunkett Taylor, Grant Emery, A. L. Jarvis, Slow. Wilson, E. J. Smith, H. Collier, Grounds A. Z. Palmer and others.

The plans for the new pavilion, to replace the tumble down draught hole burnt last winter, have been prepared and tenders are being invited. The new building will be ready by May 15, and will be one of the best going. It will be one story high with a verandah all round, and a cupola containing a scoring box. The pavilion will contain lunch room, dining-room, lavatory and bath-room, and members' private room. An efficient grounds-man has been engaged and the pitch will be better than ever.

SKATING.

An Outburst of Wrath From the United States.

The gentleman who has charge of the skating department of the Spirit of the Times devotes some four columns to the doings of skaters from the United States, and in a most gentlemanly manner addresses the following polite sentences to his Canadian confreres in the beginning of the articles:

During the past five years certain narrow-minded, ignorant and unprincipled fellows, who are permitted to edit the sporting columns of several Canadian newspapers, have continually blackguarded, maligned and insulted the fastest amateur skaters of the United States, because they did not choose to visit Canada and skate around the small Canadian rinks for the amusement of Canadian spectators and the increase of Canadian gate-money. The readers of these journals were instructed that the alleged champions of America were no champions at all, but merely third-class skaters, who would have no chance against the Canadian champions, and dare not come to Canada and exhibit their inferiority to the local experts. These silly fools even went so far as to state that J. F. Donoghue, the fastest amateur in the world, and holder of the world's championship by the clearest of titles, was a tolerable skater, but could not be considered a champion until he had visited Canada and tested himself against the Canadian flyers. These effusions were unworthy of attention, but Mr. Donoghue was finally taunted into noticing them and entering in the Canadian championship contests on February 20.

In referring to the fancy skating he says each of these skaters, Phillips, Rubinstein and Bacon, has now won a championship in his own city, and all ought to be satisfied. There can be no valid excuse for the conduct of these beaten competitors, whose unseemly complaints appear to have been prompted by undue self-esteem and a desire to set their own judgment above that of the officials. But the criticisms of the spectators are less reprehensible, because they spring from ignorance of the true character of the sport which they are witnessing and from failure to understand the difference between figure skating and fancy skating.

Fancy skating is an exhibition of feats, selected and arranged by the performer, such as have been given by A. Paulsen, of Norway, in this country, and by Callie Curtis, Jackson Haines, and other Americans, in Europe. The skater arranges a series of feats at which he is exceptionally proficient and which are calculated to please the public. Competitions are frequently held at fancy skating in several European countries, each contestant being allowed to do what he pleases in a stipulated time, usually ten minutes, and the judges deciding who gave the most pleasing exhibitions.

Figure skating was first formulated and reduced to an exact science by the members of the old New York Skating Club, and has since been improved and perfected by the experts of New York City and vicinity. Figure-skating is by them and by the National Amateur Skating Association divided into a schedule or programme of 22 sections, each section embracing one group or class of figures. The character and object of this programme is well set forth in the following extracts from its provisions:

"....The object of this programme is to set forth the movements of figure-skating so as best to test the proficiency of skaters, and in an order that will economize the strength of the contestants. The movements are arranged under comprehensive, fundamental heads, designed to include everything appertaining to the art. It is to be understood that whenever practicable all movements are to be executed both forward and backward, on right foot and on left.... The schedule is intended as a guide, as well to skaters as to judges, who should continually bear in mind that grace is the most desirable attribute of artistic skating ....In deciding the relative merits of competitors special attention will be given to grace and ease of position, accuracy in skating to place and ability to use both feet equally well...."

The exhibitions usually given by fancy skaters would form but a small portion of this programme, and would almost all fall under sections 21 and 22. Many champion figure skaters, expert in every section of the programme, could give but an ordinary exhibition of fancy skating, and on the other hand, many fancy skaters whose exhibitions are extremely popular, and always loudly applauded, could score nothing better than total failure in several of the sections of the figure-skating programme.

The unpleasant consequence of all this is that whenever a figure skating contest is held the spectators award the prize to the contestant who is the most skilful and showy fancy skater, while the judges give their decision to the most expert figure skater, and the difference between these two decisions almost always causes dissatisfaction.

The M. A. A. A. Closing Hop.

To-night, the last of the series of enjoyable hops given at the M. A. A. A. Club House, Cote St. Antoine, will be held. Being the last this year a very full attendance may be expected and a particularly good time enjoyed. Members are requested to wear their membership badges in order to obtain admission.

THE WHEEL.

The Cycle Comedy.

Has any one ever heard of the proposed bicycle comedy which was to have been launched on the theatrical world two years ago, asks a writer in Music, Sport and Drama? I remember very distinctly the day when young Mr. Palmer, nephew of the redoubtable A. M. Palmer, came to me and wanted an expression of opinion regarding the feasibility of the idea. It struck me as being particularly novel, even if it did not possess other redeeming qualities. Mr. Palmer proposed organizing a small but well-selected company, mount them on wheels and ride from town to town in regular tourist fashion. The bicycle clubs in the different towns were to be interested in the project, and were to take tickets and dispose of them as best they could. They, of course, were to receive some remuneration for services rendered. It can easily be seen that there were a number of drawbacks to this very pretty scheme, and I explained to Mr. Palmer what were, in my opinion, the principal arguments against his project. I rather imagine, too, that the elder Mr. Palmer did not think very well of his bright young nephew's venture, and that he would not lend him his support. Undoubtedly, Mr. Palmer found many difficulties to contend with, and having heard nothing of the comedy on wheels, I have come to the conclusion that the attempt to educate the public up to the cycle drama was abandoned.

CURLING.

The Caledonians Win Their Inter-club Match.

The twelve rink match between the Montreal and the Caledonia Curling Clubs was concluded last Wednesday. TURF.

Steeplechasing in France.

Steeplechasing has taken a firm hold upon the sport-loving people of France. It is a pastime that seems to exactly suit the nervous, excitable temperament of the Frenchman, and steeplechase meetings are gala events in the life of the excitement craving Gaul. The French Steeplechase Society has just issued its programme for 1892. There are to be forty days' racing at Auteuil, with six events per day. Sixty thousand pounds is to be given away in prizes. A large number of these races are open to foreign horses. There are no fewer than twenty-nine events with £160 added, five with £200 and three with £240, either steeplechase or hurdle races, besides forty selling stakes with £120 added. There are also the Prix Harry (steeplechase) of £400, the Prix du Drags (steeplechase) of £480, and the Prix d'Anjou (over hurdles) of £500. Furthermore, there are three new races which will certainly prove attractive for English owners during the autumn meeting (November 13 and 20)—namely, the Prix Montgomery, a handicap of 6000 meters, founded in memory of the late steward, with £2000 added; the Prix Aston Blount, a handicap hurdle race, to be run over 5000 metres; and, thirdly, an international military steeplechase handicap, the Prix de Chalons, with £600 added.

It is, however, during the Summer meeting that most money is to be won, for there are then the Prix de France steeplechase of £4800 and the Grand Course de Haies of £2000. The grand total of races open to foreign horses comes, therefore, to no less the £32,340 added money.

Horse News from the United States.

The equine statistics issued by the Department of Agriculture are interesting and surprising. January 1, 1882, there were in the United States 15,498,140 horses, valued at $1,007,593,636. Illinois has the largest number of horses of any state in the Union, which is probably owing to the immense number of draught horse farms within her borders. Little Rhode Island has the smallest number. In Illinois there are 1,337,528 and in Rhode Island 10,361.

The Union Agricultural Society of Blandford, Mass., is making arrangements to build a first-class half-mile track.

A. M. Rathburn, of Grand Rapids, Mich., a well-know trainer and driver, will, it is said, have charge of the great stallion "Nelson," 2.10, during the coming season.

Tulare, Cal., will have a kite track. An association has been formed with a capital stock of $10,000, and ninety acres of land adjoining the city has been secured. The soil is springy and well adapted for the purpose.

There is quite a boom in the kite shaped track business in California. Three of them will be built in that State inside of two months. On March 1, the horsemen of Merced decided on a race course of the kite description and have subscribed $20,000 for building it. Bakersfield, a thriving town between Los Angeles and Fresno, has just declared for a kite shaped track, and the people have come up with over $10,000 to date for building it. Vocaville will have a kite, too, and Watsonville talks strongly of building one.

Mr. J. Malcolm Forbes still continues to buy liberally. His latest purchases are from Messrs Miller & Sibley, and consist of a two-year-old and a yearling filly by "St. Bel," out of dams by Nutwood and Sultan. Price $15,000.

Last year Maine passed in its Legislature a bill making ringing and the issuance of false pedigrees a penal offence. Several other states have passed similar acts. Secretary M. M. Morse, of the National Trotting Association, has been very active in drawing the attention of the leading members of the Association to the desirable character of such legislation. At the last meeting of the National Trotting Association, the Committee on Rules, recognizing the importance of the matter, passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That this committee recommends to the associate members of each state that they combine to obtain the passage of laws making the obtaining of money by entering horses out of their classes, or by false entries in races, or issuing or publishing false pedigrees a criminal offence and punishable by imprisonment." In Massachusetts Hon. C. D. Palmer and the Hon. George M. Stearns have the matter in hand. They have gone very actively to work, and will try and get the Legislature to take the matter up at this session. The bar which has to be removed is the fact that before the secretary communicated with Mr. Palmer, the new business had been exhausted, and it will require a vote of the Legislature to accept a bill dealing with the subject. To attain this end Mr. Palmer has been all over Boston recently, and as a result will place before the house a petition bearing the names of such men as William Russell Allen, J. Malcolm Forbes, Walter Cutting, John E. Thayer, John Shepard, H. E. Willis, J. Reed Whipple, George Adams and many others, asking that a rule of the Legislature be suspended, in order that a bill may be passed at this session.

Argyle Lachine Tramp.

The Argyle boys will tramp to Lachine to-morrow, weather permitting, and there will, no doubt, be a large muster, as this will be the first Saturday afternoon tramp this season, and most likely the last.

The Oxford Executions.

LONDON, March 17.—Several questions were put to Home Secretary Matthews in the House of Commons last evening regarding the execution of the Oxfordshire poachers. The Speaker called Mr. Coneybeare to order for accusing Mr. Matthews of not taking the trouble to refer to the documents bearing on the case.

Mr. Hunter (Liberal) then asked whether Mr. Matthews after this judicial scandal was prepared to make a definition of what constitutes the crime of murder merely in harmony with the sentiments of the people.

Mr. Matthews declined to answer an off-hand question on a law that had lasted for centuries.

Max Strakosch Dead.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Max Strakosch, the famous impressario, died yesterday morning in the Home for Incurables. Four years ago Mr. Strakosch was stricken with paralysis, and though the most skilful physicians in this country attended him he gradually grew worse, and it soon became apparent that it was only a question of time when the end would come. Two years ago he was removed to the Home for Incurables.

St. Patrick's Day at the Vatican.

ROME, March 18.—Prior Glynn, of the Irish National Church in Rome, was given a special audience yesterday by the Pope. The prior presented to His Holiness a number of shamrocks that had been sent from Ireland. They were enclosed in a coffer of crystal bearing the papal arms. The Pope expressed his gratification for the gift and promised to wear a sprig of the shamrock on his heart all day.

Ontario Ship Railway.

TORONTO, March 18.—The Railway Committee of the Ontario Legislature met again yesterday morning and resumed consideration of the bill to incorporate the Ontario Ship Railway Company. The committee wished to introduce certain changes in the provisions of the bill which David Blain, one of the promoters, would not consent to. The bill was afterwards withdrawn.

Old Citizen of Cornwall Dead.

CORNWALL, March 18.—Donald MacMillan, one of Cornwall's oldest and most respected citizens, died here last evening. Mr. MacMillan at one time carried on the largest general store in Cornwall. He retired from business some ten years ago. His widow, one daughter and three sons survive him. Among the latter is Mr. A. V. MacMillan, Collector of Customs.

More Typhus Cases.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Two more cases of typhus fever have occurred in the Riverside Hospital. The victims are Lizzie Fitzpatrick and Mary E. Gorman, nurses in the institution.

Lord Tennyson's Play.

LONDON, March 18.—Lord Tennyson's "Foresters" was produced at the Lyceum Theatre yesterday for copyright purposes. The piece promises to be a fair success.

ARCHITECTURAL EXCELLENCE.

Beauty and Utility Combined in the New Warehouse of Messrs. Owen McGarvey & Son.

That Montreal possesses more solid and substantial buildings than many other cities on this continent which have more than twice her population, is a fact which has long been recognized, but it was said on the other hand that many buildings which were in other respects remarkable architectural monuments, lacked the air and the light necessary to the development of modern commerce. To whatever extent that may be true, the reproach cannot be laid upon the magnificent show rooms which Messrs. Owen McGarvey & Son have just thrown open to the public. Not only is the whole front of glass, but the panes are of exceptionally large size. Those of the ground show windows measure not less than 152 x 170⅝ inches, or 25,916 square inches. It was recently claimed that the largest sheet of glass in the world was set in the front of a building on Vine street, Cincinnati, and measured 186 x 104 inches, or 21,204 square inches. It will thus be seen that the panes in the front of Owen McGarvey & Son's store, are 4712 square inches larger than the alleged largest pane in the world. These monster panes of glass were made in England, and were the largest that could be imported.

These windows contain some of the finest pieces of fancy furniture that can be seen on this continent, and the display will be changed every week, so that the public will be given ample opportunity to view all that is necessary for the interior of the most stately mansion.

Messrs. Owen McGarvey & Son have a well established reputation with the people of Montreal for keeping up with and even a little ahead of the demand for artistic and solid furniture, and the stock which they already display in their numerous show rooms is abundant proof that they intend to be equal to their reputation.

They are also prepared to take orders for any piece of furniture which they may not have in stock and will fill them promptly and to the satisfaction of the most exacting.

That friendship will not continue to the end that is begun for an end.

The action of Carter's Little Liver Pills is pleasant, mild and natural. They gently stimulate the liver and regulate the bowels, but do not purge.

CHAPLEAU IN NEW YORK.

THE SECRETARY OF STATE PLEASED.

Thinks the Conservatives Are Sure to Remain in Power in Quebec For Ten Years—Canada and the United States.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Hon. J. A. Chapleau, the Canadian Secretary of State, has arrived here on his way back from Florida to Ottawa. He told a reporter to-day that he had been in Florida for the past two months for his health. When he left Canada for the south he was so weak he had to reach Florida by easy stages, resting in Washington and other cities. In the land of oranges and alligators, and hotels built by Northern capitalists, he hunted a little, fished a great deal and kept in the sunshine. He is now strong and robust and able to go through a dozen campaigns. The Mail and Express publishes the following interview with Mr. Chapleau:

"What do you think of Premier Mercier's defeat and its effect upon the Liberal party?"

"Now that Mr. Mercier has been defeated I have only pity for him. It would be out of place to discuss his case in detail. His defeat was crushing, and from the nature of the situation, inevitable. He was crazy—yes, crazy."

Mr. Chapleau said in substance that Mr. Mercier, under the circumstances, had no chance to win, and that the Conservative party, having right on its side, had no alternative but to go ahead and defeat him. But he did not care to rehearse the charges against the fallen Liberal. He was content to see a large Conservative majority in the Dominion Parliament, as well as in the province of Quebec.

"Will Mr. Mercier's defeat relegate him permanently to private life?"

"That I cannot say. He says, I see by the papers, that he intends to remain in private life. The effect of the recent victory of the Conservatives will keep the party in power

FOR THE NEXT TEN YEARS."

The long-haired orator's face put on a happier look when he mentioned the long lease of power in store for his party. When his attention was called to the fact that a general Liberal victory was imminent in England, with Mr. Gladstone as Premier, he said that it would not affect Canada in the least. Lord Dufferin and Lord Lansdowne, Governors-General of Canada, he added, were Liberals, and yet the Dominion prospered and all was serene. The Conservatives were also in power at that time. About Lord Salisbury's alleged refusal to agree to a renewal of the modus vivendi in the Behring Sea matter, Mr. Chapleau said:

"I see by the papers that Lord Salisbury desires to make the limit line thirty miles. In 1891 Mr. Blaine was in favor of a twenty-five-mile limit. Naturally the seal company which has the contract for catching seals desires the entire sea. But I do not apprehend any trouble in settling the question, because Canada and England both are anxious to prevent the extermination of the seals. There are very few Canadian vessels that could be called poachers. They say that stolen fruit is sometimes the sweetest, and I suppose on that principle there are vessels that poach now and then. It is on a small scale and consists of isolated cases."

"What do you think of the retaliation measures discussed in the United States senate?"

The United States is all powerful, but I believe the Behring Sea question

CAN BE SETTLED SATISFACTORILY,

for, as I said before, neither Canada nor England desires to see the seals destroyed. It is a matter that can be arranged, and is, I believe, going to be adjusted by arbitration."

Mr. Chapleau's attention was called to the report that England was building upon the great lakes, in violation of a treaty made with this country, a number of war vessels. He said the report was untrue. The few small armed vessels on the great lakes were built by Canada to police the Dominion, not against the United States, but against violation of the law by their own subjects. In the fishing grounds they had armed vessels to look after infractions of the law by Canadians. No treaty had been violated in the great lakes. Mr. Chapleau said very earnestly that he hoped the time would soon come when the Welland and the Sault Ste. Marie Canals would be as free to both countries as if no international lines existed. No complications would then arise, and there would be no hindrance to the great traffic in those canals.

HE WILL NOT GO BACK TO QUEBEC.

Mr. Laurier's Friends in the United States Feel Sorry for Him—No Sympathy With the Late Quebec Government.

Hon. J. A. Chapleau, Minister of Customs, and Madame Chapleau returned to Montreal this morning from their American tour. They were accompanied from New York by Hon. G. A. Nantel, Commissioner of Public Works, who had gone down to meet them. Mr. Chapleau is much improved in health, and expresses much satisfaction at the journey, which was a pleasant one for both himself and wife. The tour included the leading places in Florida, where quite a number of Canadians and American friends were met. The winter has been quite cold down there and furs were in use, especially in the evening. The return included Washington and New York. "I met a large number of prominent Americans," said the Minister, 'and from what I could gather from them I am satisfied that in time all the questions pending between Canada and the United States

WILL BE SETTLED

to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. Any friction which may have occurred was the work of a portion of the American press and a number of interested parties who sought to poison the public mind against Canada. I am satisfied that a fair measure of reciprocity will also be secured in time. I may reiterate that among the leading politicians the feeling towards Canada is not at all unfriendly." Turning to local politics and the result of the last Provincial campaign, Mr. Chapleau said: "I noticed that in many places in the United States there was strong admiration and personal friendship for Mr. Laurier, and the disastrous result of the campaign in Provincial and Federal politics was regretted on his account. I may state, however, that I found no sympathy expressed for the late government and their friends."

Mr. Chapleau denied most positively that he had any intention of returning to Quebec in any capacity. Mr. Chapleau will go to Ottawa on Sunday. This morning he was waited upon by a large number of his friends, who congratulated him upon his improved health and appearance.

Canadian Woods and Their Economic Use.

Hon. J. K. Ward delivered the fourth of the Somerville lectures in the rooms of the Natural History Society last evening. The lecturer had chosen "Canadian Woods and Their Economic Use" as his subject, and handled it as might be expected of a man having had his long experience in the workshop, forest and saw-mill. He spoke of the value of the cedar, the hemlock, the spruce, the beech, the maple, but proclaimed the pine tree the king of the forest. The cutting and manufacturing of this wood gave more employment than any other industry in the country, excepting agriculture, and it supplied more freight for vessels coming into the St. Lawrence than any other commodity. He concluded his remarks by calling attention to the importance of taking means to preserve this great source of wealth from destruction.

Chartering for the Coming Season.

Active chartering has hardly yet commenced in shipping circles, yet some business is being done. Steamship brokers are appearing on 'Change every day, and everybody is talking business. Rates on grain to Bristol, Antwerp, and for orders are quoted at 3s. 6d. to 3s. 9d. The regular lines are asking on grain 3s. to Liverpool, 3s. 3d. to Glasgow and 3s. 6d. to London, and some contracts have been made at these figures. Sack flour is quoted at 15s. 3d. to Liverpool, 16s. 3d. to Glasgow and 17s. 6d. to London, but it is not understood that much space has been engaged. Boat charters are being made to Glasgow at 4s. 6d. to 5os.

The Case Was Dismissed.

The case of the Citizens' Leaguers vs. Joseph Lebeau, tobacconist, 1382 Ontario street, for offering for sale Louisiana State Lottery tickets, which had been postponed since last December, was disposed of on Wednesday by Recorder De Montigny. The defendant did not appear in person, but was represented by counsel. Mr. Mackie prosecuted. Two witnesses testified to having been offered the tickets at 1382 Ontario street and that defendant's name was outside, but could not swear that it was defendant who offered them. Mr. Tansey, of the assessors' department, proved that defendant was occupant of that house. In giving judgment His Honor said that it had been proved that the tickets had been offered and that defendant kept the shop, but it was not proved that he had sold them himself or that they were kept with his knowledge. Had it been in the ordinary line of his business he would have been found guilty, but in this case a clerk might have kept them without the knowledge or consent of his master. After hearing the evidence he had no alternative but to dismiss the case. He advised in future in a case of this kind that a warrant instead of a summons be taken out, so as to have defendant present for identification.

THE LIVE STOCK EXPORT TRADE.

It May be Affected by the Cattle Disease in England and Scotland.

There is a good deal of anxiety expressed on the part of live stock exporters in regard to the effect that the cattle disease in England and Scotland is going to have on the Canadian live stock trade. In a short time now the Canadian season will open, and the disease in Great Britain, instead of abating, is apparently spreading. A cable received yesterday from Edinburgh stated that the disease had stopped the market there and for shippers to exercise great caution. Other cables say that the disease has spread to Perth. Of course, the districts where the disease exists are cut off from other counties, and if it is not cured when the Canadian cattle commence to arrive on the other side, the effect is likely to be most prejudicial to the Canadian exporters' interests. Canadians are still exporting American cattle, for the reason that they are so cheap, that money can be made on the other side with them. Lately American shipments have been very heavy. The steamship "Mongolian" left Portland for Liverpool with 400 American cattle, belonging to Canadians, Messrs. Lunness and Price. The freight was 50s, and the cattle stood the purchasers probably about $4.26 per cwt. At the present moment Canadian cattle, fit for export, are fully $1 per cwt. dearer than American cattle of the same quality. Several of the Montreal live stock exporters have engaged to fill several boats out of Portland with American cattle. The rate is understood to be 50s. In Canada cattle are being bought more rapidly in Ontario, and several thousand head have already been purchased. There will hardly be so many distillery cattle to ship this year, as two sheds in Toronto were not filled in the autumn, the distillers not being able to supply the stop. Altogether, the shortage in distillery cattle will amount to about two thousand head. The action of the railway companies in reducing the cost of transportation to the seaboard is favorably commented upon in the trade. The companies have made a reduction of $5 per car from all points west of Bowmanville to Montreal, and a reduction of ten per cent. from points east of Bowmanville. The new rates go into effect on April 4. What the exporters want now is to have the port charges reduced.

BEHRING SEA ARBITRATION.

Sir George Baden Powell's Estimate of Mr. Blaine's Contention.

Sir George Baden Powell, British Commissioner in the Behring Sea arbitration, was in the city to-day. He is staying at the residence of Sir Donald A. Smith, whose guest he will be for a few days. He stated that the arrangements had not yet been completed, but would be shortly for a modus vivendi for the coming year, pending final settlement of the question by arbitration. Sir George does not consider Mr. Blaine's contention that America should have the right to control the seal fisheries in the Behring Sea, because England controls the pearl fisheries around Ceylon, as worthy of much consideration. The cases he thinks are not parallel. Britain's rights respecting the Ceylon pearl fisheries were formally secured to them in the treaty by which the island was ceded to her by the Dutch Government in 1796, whereas the American Government obtained no similar privileges from Russia at the time of the purchase of Alaska. Besides, these portions of the Indian Ocean where the pearls are gathered are not navigable, as the Behring Sea is. Sir George is confident that the matter will ultimately be amicably and satisfactorily arranged. He is anxious that a speedy settlement should be arrived at, as he is greatly in sympathy with the sailors who are interested in the controversy, and who, Sir George stated, were fine fellows, whose interests he would like to see protected. Sir George takes quite a lively interest in our political affairs, and was exceedingly gratified at the result of the late provincial general election. He thought it showed that the people of Quebec knew how to unite to put down corruption.

DEATH OF MR. MOISE PLANTE.

The Lately Elected M. P. P. for Beauharnois.

The sad news reached the city this morning of the death, shortly after eight o'clock, at Valleyfield, of Mr. Moise Plante, the lately elected M. P. P. for Beauharnois. The sad event was precipitated by the deceased gentleman's strong devotion to the public interest and Conservative party, which induced him, while very unwell, to undertake an active, arduous campaign in such a bad season. Mr. Plante accepted nomination only at the last moment and on the pressing invitation of his friends to save the county for the party. On nomination day at Beauharnois he was very unwell, and, in fact, it was only with the greatest difficulty that he pulled through to voting day, when he defeated the old member, Mr. Herculе Bisson, by 94. The next day he took to his bed, and in spite of skilful treatment he expired this morning, the direct cause of death being inflammation of the bowels. He was in his sixty-second year, and it is sufficient to show the esteem in which he was held by his townsmen to say that he was Mayor of Valleyfield for twenty-two years. He was a man of means, acquired in business as a merchant. He leaves a wife, a married daughter, the wife of Mr. de Martigny, manager of the Jacques Cartier Bank at Valleyfield, and a son, who is studying law. The date of the funeral has not yet been fixed, but it is expected to be attended by most of the Quebec ministers and a large number of the newly elected members of the Legislative Assembly.

No Liberal Demonstration.

(Huntingdon Gleaner.)

Conservatives these days are busy celebrating the rout of Mercier by demonstrations that are generally meant to be as aggravating as possible. To gloat over a prostrate foe, to jab him to hear his groans, and to pull his hair to cause him to make wry faces, is more becoming Indians than pious Bleus. We do not like Mercier, but we would be ashamed to kick him while he lies unable to defend himself, and we fail to see what good can come of mocking the discomfiture of his followers. Although it was the votes of old time Liberals, who never bowed the knee to Mercier, that elected a third and more of the Conservative candidates, nobody hears of a Liberal demonstration.

A Matter for Congratulation.

The Mayor this morning received the following letter, which speaks for itself:

OFFICE OF THE CLERK OF THE RECORDER'S COURT,
March 18, 1892.

To His Worship the Mayor:

Your Worship, I have much pleasure in informing you that not one single Irishman appeared before the Recorder's Court this morning for an offence committed on St. Patrick's day. His Honor the Recorder joins with me in saying that this is greatly to the credit of the sons of Ireland, especially as opportunities to overdo the celebration are admittedly so numerous on a great national holiday.

Yours very truly,
L. FORGET,
Clerk of the Recorder's Court.

The Shamrock Bazaar Tombola.

The drawing of the tombola of the Shamrock bazaar will commence at the Victoria Rifles Armory to-morrow afternoon at four, and will probably not be finished much before midnight. The following well-known gentlemen have agreed to act as committee of the drawing: Messrs. Ross McKenzie, W. L. Maltby, Lieut.-Col. Massey, Lieut.-Col. Henshaw, Major Radiger, Messrs. F. J. Hart, A. Brault, A. Charlebois, C. W. Hagar, John Storey, J. Cochrane, and D. English.

Weekly Service to Bristol.

The Dominion Line will have a weekly service from Bristol this season. The new boat chartered for the line is the "Pomeroy,"

TRADE COMMERCE AND FINANCE.

Montreal Wholesale Markets.

Grain.

For wheat and barley the market rules very dull, and prices are nominal. There is a fair consumptive enquiry for oats, but trade does not broaden to any extent. Peas are having a moderate request, and values are firm. We quote: No. 2 hard Manitoba wheat, $1 to $1.02; No. 3 do., 91c to 92c; peas, per 66 lbs. in store, 75c to 76c; oats, No. 2, 33½c to 34c; rye, 91c to 93c; feed barley, 42c to 43c; malting barley, 57c to 62c.

Flour.

The spot market, while showing no radical change, has perhaps a little firmer look for Manitoba flour owing to the temporary interference with the traffic of the P. P. R., but in no other respect is there any alteration. On home trade account business is still very moderate and in an export way nothing is being done, holders, in view of present through rates, preferring to wait until after the opening of navigation before offering their surplus supplies to their foreign customers. We quote:

Patent spring	$5.00 to 5.20
Patent winter	5.00 to 5.10
Straight roller	4.00 to 4.05
Extra	4.15 to 4.30
Superfine	3.90 to 4.05
Fine	3.30 to 3.65
Strong bakers	4.00 to 5.00

Oatmeal.

Trading is still in light quantities and at easy prices and dealers report an absence of agreeable indications. We quote:

Granulated, bbls	$4.00 to 0.00
Rolled, bbls	4.00 to 0.00
Standard, bbls	3.95 to 0.00
Granulated, in bags	1.95 to 2.00
Rolled, in bags	1.95 to 2.00
Standard, in bags	1.85 to 1.90

Provisions.

There is no positive change, but the tendency of prices for barrelled pork is rather easier, as business is of so very restricted and unsatisfactory a character and as the foreign markets continue weak. Smoked meats and lard are inactive. We quote:

Canada short cut mess pork, per bbl	$16.50 to 17.00
Mess pork, American, new per bbl	15.25 to 15.50
Mess pork, American, old, per bbl	14.00 to 14.50
Hams, city cured, per lb	0.10½ to 0.11
Bacon, per lb	0.09½ to 0.10
Lard, compound	0.07½ to 0.07¾
Lard, pure Canadian	0.08¾ to 0.09

Cheese.

Under a fairly active jobbing demand, prices are steadily maintained. 12c being about the basis for operations.

Butter.

Trade to-day is about equal to late reports. Creamery does not share as freely on the general distribution as might be desired perhaps, but it is not probable that any concessions on recent prices would be made to-day. We quote: Creamery, 21c to 23c; Townships dairy, new, 22c to 23c; Western dairy, 17c to 18c.

Eggs.

The market continues its downward career, fresh eggs selling at 14c to 15c this morning.

The following were the receipts posted on 'Change to-day:

	G. T. R.	C. P. R.
Wheat, bush	2000	3114
Corn, bush	600
Peas, bush	3900	1574
Oats, bush	5800
Barley, bush		1999
Flour, bbls	353	584
Ashes, bbls	4	3
Butter, pkgs	4	116
Eggs, cases	31	12
Ham, bacon, boxes		2
Leather, rolls	409	39
Tobacco, pkgs	4
High wines, bbls		8

Bonsecours Retail Market.

The better roads brought in more farmers this morning and there was quite a lively market, with ample supplies of most sorts of produce. Owing to the mild weather in the west a number of fresh killed ducks have come into town, and poultry of all sorts are plentiful. Fish are dull, but there was a good business doing in dairy produce and vegetables. There was a fair supply of grain that sold at quoted rates.

Viger Cow Market.

The Viger market presented to-day scene this morning, some 160 milch cows and 60 calves being offered. A number of buyers were on the market, and sales were good. Calves were in particular demand and brought $3 to $6 according to size and quality, while cows brought $20 to $35 for poor; $28 to $35 for medium; $40 to $45 for good, and $50 to $55 for a few choice milkers.

Cement and Firebricks.

The market for cement is very inactive at present, a not unusual circumstance at this time of year, and although stocks in the hands of dealers are light and prices are complained of as unsatisfactory a good deal more disposition on the part of buyers would be necessary to render an advance possible. Belgian cement is quotable at $2.30 to $2.45 per cask, and English brands at $2.40 to $2.55. For firebricks the demand is however fairly brisk, as not a few manufacturers are taking advantage of the quiet times to do necessary repairing. Values range from $20 to $25 per 1000.

Toronto Produce Market.

TORONTO, March 18.—Wheat, autumn, No. 2, 91c to 92c; spring, No. 2, 88c to 89c; No. 2 red winter, 91c to 92c; No. 1 hard Man., $1 04 to $1 05; No. 2, hard, 99c to $1; No. 3 hard, 91c to 92c. Manitoba Wheat Situation.

The Winnipeg Commercial says: The week has been one of the flattest of the season, both as regards trading on the Winnipeg exchange, and in deliveries of wheat at country points. Dullness on change was due to the weak feeling in outside markets, and to the interruption of communication with United States markets for a short time, on account of the big storm south. The break-up of the roads on account of the thaw, followed by the storm which raged on Tuesday night and Wednesday, was a further check to farmers' deliveries in Manitoba, country merchants' roads were in bad shape at the opening of the week, on account of the soft weather, but the wind and snow storm made travel almost impossible for a short time. Before the storm waggons were coming into use instead of sleighs, but the blow left the roads almost impassable for either wheels or runners. So far there has been no protracted period of weather suitable for threshing, but a little threshing is being done. Quite a number of new threshers have been purchased recently, which is a further indication that there is a lot of threshing to do yet. Before the storm there were reports that farmers were preparing for seeding, and one or two reports came in that some wheat had been sown, but these may be termed "too previous." The last weekly report shows 1,908,770 bushels of wheat in store at Fort William, being an increase of 69,442 bushels for the week. Following were quotations on the Winnipeg exchange on Saturday last: No. 1 hard, $1.03 bid North Bay. No. 2 hard, 99c bid North Bay; 83¼c bid on track Fort William. Offered afloat, May, at 91c Duluth, and 90½c Fort William. No. 3 hard, 89c bid North Bay. No. 2 regular, 41c bid, country point, March shipments, sellers at 42½c; No. 3 regular, sellers at 39c country point.

New York Items.

Messrs. Meredith & O'Brien received the following despatches over their private New York wire this morning:

Mo. Pacific earnings increased $58,000 for the second week in March.

The large increase in St. Paul earnings for the second week was rather unexpected in view of the reports of blizzards in that section of the country during the week. The car movement on the road has been exceptionally large, and the freight which is being moved is reported to be of a very paying character. There is more westbound business than there has been, and there is evidence that farmers are spending more money than in the past. The delay in handling business because of the storms has been unusually slight. The company is reported to be lending a large amount of money on the street, and is in an easy financial condition, which enables it to carry on its business to greater advantage than has been the case when its credit has not been so good because of want of money. In this respect the action of the directors in not paying a dividend has raised the credit of the company and has facilitated its business very much.

Financial Notes.

Paris rentes were at 96.15 francs.

Canadian Pacific closed at 90¾ in London.

Consols in London were at 95 11-16 for money and 95 13-16 for the account. The open market discount rate was 1½ per cent.

The latest information from St. Petersburg regarding the affairs of the suspended banker Guenzburg places the liabilities at between 15,000,000 and 20,000,000 rubles. The assets are said to amount to about 15,000,000 rubles, of which securities and property to the amount of 10,000,000 rubles can be easily converted into cash. The remainder will be difficult to realize on.

At a meeting yesterday of the Bank of England directors, Governor Lidderdale announced that the liabilities of the Barings have been reduced to £7,017,666, making an apparent surplus of £3,321,091. He expressed confidence that the guarantors would not lose anything.

The Bank of England reports increase in bullion for the week of £328,000. Surplus reserve increased £595,000, and proportion of reserve to liability is 45.52 per cent., against 44.50 last week and 38.18 a year ago. The Bank's gold holdings now compare as follows with the same date last year:

1892.	1891.
£25,620,314	£23,470,874

The regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. was declared by the New York Central directors on Tuesday, for which the transfer books will close on Saturday. This dividend is the first declared in accordance with the resolution passed at the directors' meeting in December, placing the stock on a 5 per cent. dividend basis.

The Bank of France reports increase of 4,375,000 francs gold and 2,800,000 francs silver. The bank's holdings in sterling now compare as follows with those of a year ago:

1892.	1891.
£55,736,094	£48,251,000
50,863,271	49,763,000

A special London cable last night said: The bank reserve was increased this week £595,000. The total of nearly $17,500,000 means prolonged ease in the money market, as more gold still comes in for recoinage. The governors of the bank are hopeful on the coming liquidation. Six million pounds are still due the bank, but the assets are valued at £8,000,000. The liquidation is likely to remain in the bank's hands, the securities being more readily liquidated and the position generally has paralyzed. Money markets are quiet to-day, and open rates for short loans on foreign stocks followed the fall in Portuguese securities. Lisbon exchange was flat. The paper currency is inflated. Uruguayan securities were more in demand. Americans were quiet till the close, when there was a recovery. Bonds are still absorbed.

The Richmond Terminal Plan.

"Anything like an analysis of the Richmond Terminal reorganization plan, or even exhaustive comment on its financial merits, is at present quite impossible. This much may be said without reserve, that while on the one hand the complexities and difficulties of the problem are such as have probably never before been presented in the history of corporations, on the other hand the agents of reorganization now represent the strongest combination of experience, influence and capital ever made up on this continent. Like all great railway reorganizations of the last decade, the present plan is based substantially upon current market values. The Reading and Atchison reorganizations were both made possible through the application of a simple principle of modern development. The shareholder or bondholder was induced to surrender his securities, not through the promise of an unimpaired cash revenue, but through the offer of new and good securities worth on the market not far from what the old securities were worth, salted down with a "bonus" of worthless or nominal securities which could at least be for something. The whole principle is founded on the well-known fact that no security which represents anything is so worthless as not to bring some actual price on the Stock Exchange. In the present instance, the reorganizers have figured on the new common stock at 10, on the new preferred at 40, and on the new 4 per cent. bonds at 70. Nor need any one be amazed at the colossal issue of $110,000,000 new common stock for the reorganized Richmond Terminal. There is here at least no whipping the devil around the stump with that fascinating delusion of modern finance, the income bond. The plan published to-day meets the issue fairly, and indulges in little or no juggling with terms. Its history will be studied with unusual interest."

Bank of England and the Barings.

LONDON, March 18.—The regular half-yearly meeting of the directors of the Bank of England was held yesterday. The Right Honorable William Lidderdale, the governor of the bank, announced that the present liabilities of the Barings due the bank were £6,500,000. He said that the proposal to relieve the bank by transferring the unrealized assets of the Barings to a committee or new trust, which would raise funds to repay the £500,000 advanced by the bank for the liquidation of the Barings' affairs, was not opportune. The balance must be reduced before anything of the kind could be done. It was impossible to speak with confidence upon the final outcome of the liquidation. Without holding out false hopes, however, Mr. Lidderdale said he did not expect any loss to fall upon the guarantors.

A Dead Market.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

NEW YORK, March 18.—The Post's financial article says: The stock market was dead this morning. The market opened without transactions. Generally the tone was heavy. Richmond Terminal stocks sold lower again, while sugar certificates after an initial break were courageously bid up again. Except for this there was nothing in the market worthy of comment.

The Central Bank Assets.

TORONTO, March 18.—The Master-in-Chancery yesterday morning barred all claims against the Central Bank assets, of which no notice has been received. This will exclude all further claims of any nature and heralds the approach of the final dividend.

NATURAL GAS FOR TORONTO.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 18.—There is no cessation in the excitement over the gas strike at New Toronto. Several experts from Bradford, Pa., and Petrolia, Ont., have been exploring matters, and a company in Brooklyn, N. Y., have an offer in to buy out the New Toronto Gas Company. Operations are at a stand-still for a few days on account of preparations to "shoot" the well. It is expected that the "shooting" will be done on Tuesday next. Mr. Wright, of Montreal, one of the promoters, spoke as follows yesterday: "This first experimental well is now capped as tightly as it is possible to be done, but, notwithstanding, the pressure is so strong that the gas escapes profusely. We expect when the rock strata are split open that we will have a tremendous quantity of a fine quality of gas, and are led to this confident belief from the strong and steady pressure which is now in evidence. We will at once proceed to put down a number of wells, and before many months will have the gas in use in the city. What the effect of our enterprise will be may be estimated by locating the striking results following the striking of gas in other fields."

WANT THE DUTIES CHAZGED.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 18.—A deputation composed of Dr. Sproule, S. Hughes, Charles Fairbairn, James Marshall, Hodgins, W. H. Hutchins, David Henderson, W. H. Bennett, W. Wood, Geo. Taylor, Lieut.-Col. Tyrwhitt, A. W. Ross, A. McKay, S. Ryckman, E. N. Carpenter, F. Madill, E. Cochrane, Dr. Reid, Geo. McDonnell, Clarke Wallace, H. Corby, Dr. Roome, A. Ingram, Lieut.-Col. Tisdale and Rufus Pope waited on the Hon. Geo. E. Foster and Mackenzie Bowell this morning to ask that the duty on mess pork be increased to $6 a barrel, as they contend the Canadian product has no chance of competing with the United States product at the present $3 duty.

A deputation of corset-makers composed of Messrs. S. L. Atkinson and Brush of Toronto; Walker, Compton, Que.; and O. Gendreau waited on Hon. Geo. E. Foster this morning and asked that specific instead of ad valorem duties should be charged on stays and corsets in future to prevent under-valuation.

A DENIAL BY GOLDWIN SMITH.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

TORONTO, Ont., March 18.—New York and Washington papers have been during the last few days taking liberties with Prof. Goldwin Smith by publishing bogus interviews purporting to have taken place in New York. He has given his views on the subject of international relations and Canadian defences. The Mail is authorized by the professor to state that these "interviews" are wholly imaginary, that he has seen none of the representatives of these papers, that he has never expressed the sentiments attributed to him, and that he is in no way responsible for the publication. Prof. Smith adds: "I have not been in New York for over two months. I have not been interviewed by any person whatever, and I have never said what is ascribed to me."

"WILFUL WASTE."

A set of parlor furniture that is good all but the covering is often sold for much less than half its value. Some economical party buys it, and, by spending a few dollars, gets a set at less than half the original price, and perhaps worth a better covering. The seller loses say from $50 to $100, and in many cases buys a poorer set of furniture. Thus, thousands of dollars are wasted every spring. The same holds good for single articles of furniture.—STAR.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

ENTERTAINMENTS IN THE EVENING.

Large Attendances at the Various Meetings—Sir John Thompson and Mr. Hazen, M. P., at the Academic Hall.

The Academic Hall of St. Mary's College, under the Church of the Gesu, was crowded last night at the annual concert of the St. Patrick's Society. Mr. J. J. Curran, M. P., presided, and among those on the platform were Sir John Thompson, T. D. Hazen, Esq., M. P., Hon. Ed. Murphy, Ald. P. Kennedy, M. P. P., Mr. D. Parizeau, M. P. P., Consul-General Knapp and others. Miss Rubenstein sang very sweetly "The Last Rose of Summer," and "The Kerry Dance," while Mr. H. C. St. Pierre, Q. C., sang the old Irish song "O'Donnell Aboo!" "The Vale of Avoca" and "Like a Dream." Miss Bergeron sang, "Come back to Erin" and "The Song My Mother Sang," composed for her by Madame D'Angelis Waters. "Killarney" and "Neath the Wild Western Prairie," received a sympathetic rendering from Miss Graham. Mr. A. G. Cunningham's rounded tones were heard to advantage in the "Toreador." He also sang "When the pilot take command" and two others. Messrs. T. and E. McRae danced a hornpipe and an Irish jig in costume, to the delight of the audience. "The Orange and the Green" was dramatically recited by Miss Belle Boyd. Mr. Holland contributed several comic songs. All the numbers were encored.

Mr. J. D. Hazen, M. P., of St. John, N. B., was introduced in complimentary terms by the president. Mr. Hazen, in his address, briefly glanced at the history of Ireland's patron saint, how it is doubtful whether he was born in France, A. D. 400, or in Scotland. At a very early age he went to Ireland, and set to work to Christianize that country, explaining the principle of the Trinity to the King by

A THREE-LEAVED CLOVER.

From Ireland, Christianity, through his efforts, spread to other countries, and had made an effect on the civilized world for all time to come. Since then Ireland had become famous as the birthplace of such persons as Goldsmith, Tom Moore, Hon. Mrs. Norton, Thomas D'Arcy Magee, Sheridan, Curran, the two Currans, he said with a bow to the president, Daniel O'Connell, Wellington, Napier and Wolseley. The occasion was one which must appeal to every Irish heart, for Scott says:

> "Lives there a man with soul so dead,
> Who never to himself has said,
> 'This is my own, my native land.'"

In remembering the old land, none of the old prejudices or dissensions should be thought of. In this Canada of ours we should try that the rose of England, shamrock of Ireland, thistle of Scotland, and lilies of France should be closely entwined with the maple leaf of Canada. No matter what our political or religious differences might be, all feeling should be sunk in one proud word, Canadians.

Sir John Thompson was introduced by the chairman as the most prominent statesman in Canada, the Minister of Justice. He was tendered a magnificent reception, handkerchiefs were waved and many shouted and cheered until they were hoarse. Sir John thanked them for the reception and said that men who were in the sea of political life were in the position of law students, to whom a professor once said: "Always carry two pockets, a big one for the insults you will receive, and a small one for the fees." The remembrance of that night would be something that he and his confreres, who were fortunate enough to be present, would put into the small pocket. When one remembered the good that had been done in every part of the wide Dominion by this and kindred societies, it went right to the heart of humanity itself. The tasks of distributing charity and advising immigrants were sacred duties which brought blessings upon those who took part in the work. Some people thought that men were less Canadians because they loved and esteemed the Old Country. Any one who gave it a second thought would be convinced of the foolishness of such an impression. Any one treasuring the love of his former country would have more esteem for the land of his adoption, for love, patriotism, and loyalty grew as they were encouraged. The Society no longer met as exiles from the old land. In most cases the men who had come from Ireland and hewn a home out of the woods for themselves and family were sleeping in quiet country graveyards. It was now the second generation who would gather on these occasions and it was just as pleasant to treasure up

THE GOOD TRADITIONS OF IRELAND.

The chairman had suggested that he should say a few words on the Irishmen of Nova Scotia. In that province, Sir John remembered a host of names leading in every walk of life who had served their sovereign in every calling. Archbishop Connolly was the first incumbent of the See of Halifax. Bishop Burke followed him. In 1783 the Legislature of Nova Scotia passed an act decreeing absolute freedom of worship, but it was disallowed on the ground that the Roman Catholic Church could not enjoy any greater privileges than it did in the United Kingdom. This was a rebuff to people who believed that religion was a question between God and man, and not between sovereign and subject, but next year the same act was passed and allowed by the Government. In 1822 the penal laws which excluded Catholics from public offices was repealed in the legislature, five years before Daniel O'Connell stood before the bar of the House of Commons and spurned the oath which denied his religion. This was brought about by the united action of Protestants and Catholics alike. He gave an amusing account of how the first Irishman was caught in Nova Scotia in 1751. A solemn council was held and after mature deliberation the Government granted land to one James O'Neil, who married a lady from Mr. Hazen's province. He alluded to the good work done by the Irish Society of Halifax and concluded by quoting Shakespeare's words:

> "Let all the ends thou aimest at
> Be thy country's, God's and Truth's."

Hon. Senator Murphy moved a vote of thanks, which was deafeningly carried, and Sir John Thompson said he and Mr. Hazen would put it in the small pocket.

At the Queen's Theatre.

Last night the members of the Young Irishmen's Literary and Benefit Association gave a dramatic entertainment in the Queen's Theatre, which was a complete success, both artistically and financially. Every seat in the house was occupied, and numbers of people were unable to obtain admission. The piece selected for presentation was Rory O More, a dramatic version of Lover's great novel. Miss Cassie Foley made an ideal Kathleen. This lady's acting is above the ordinary amateur standard, and the taste with which she sang a number of old Irish ballads, including the ever-welcome "Killarney," is beyond criticism. Miss Bella Foley as Nelly and Misses Minnie and Julia Newman as Mary O'Moore and the Widow O'Moore, respectively, gave indications of possessing considerable histrionic talent. The first mentioned young lady's dancing was much admired. The title role was assumed by Mr. James E. Rowan, whose impersonation of the rollicking Irish lad was true to life. His recital of the story of the fox of Ballybothrum created much laughter. Mr. Rowan understands how to play such a part as that of Rory without overdoing it. Mr. J. J. Griffiths, as "De Welskin" or "Divilskin," was immense, his distinguished air, combined with his captivating foreign accent, making him a favorite with one section of the audience at least. Mr. A. Coller, as "Shaun Dhu," was a terrible villain, and Mr. J. Lyons, as "Solomon," looked and acted his part to perfection. The other parts were capably filled by Messrs. Ed. Tobin, Jas. McMahon, J. P. O'Connor, M. Flood, Jas. J. McLean and John Daly. All the details of the performance were carefully attended to. The costumes were all excellent and at the same time appropriate. Miss Cassie Foley's Connemara cloak and hood creating quite a sensation. The orchestra was under the direction of Mr. R. Cavallo. The president, Mr. W. J. Murphy, in the course of his opening address last night, mentioned that the Society hoped shortly to commence the erection of a new hall for the accommodation of the members, whose numbers are constantly on the increase.

At the Windsor Hall.

Irish love of oratory and song and Irish national enthusiasm for the celebration of the glorious seventeenth, filled Windsor Hall last night to overflowing. The central attraction was the lecture of R. F. Quigley, L. L. D., late of St. John, N. B. Doctor Quigley is still on the youthful side of the prime of life, rather below medium height, but strongly built, quick in gesture and passionate in declamation. His literary style, in the matter of verbiage at least, is simply faultless, and the force of his appeal to sentiment and reason is broken only by the great length of sentences and profusion of poetical figures. The subject of the address was "Our Privileges and Duties." They had met, he told his audience, to assert the directness of their descent from an ancestry as great and noble as that of any race of men in life to-day. He extolled the spirit of patriotism and justified Irish love of Ireland by the precedents of Judea and Greece. Passing higher he claimed that in this respect the exemplar of Irish women was Mary of Nazareth who, forgetting herself in her love for her ancient race, sang her praises to God for the honor done to Israel through her. Passing higher still he quoted the words of the Redeemer, mourning for perverse Jerusalem as a complete and final justification of the patriotic sentiment in the human heart. Then referring to the mountain back of Windsor Hall he illustrated the relations of the individual to the state by dwelling on the importance of the constancy of each particle of matter in sustaining the majestic beauty of the whole mountain. An Irishman's privilege, and his duty, was to remember the words of Shakespeare, put in the mouth of a cardinal of the Church, and to act upon these words: "Be just and fear not, let all the ends thou aimest at be thy country's, God's and Truth's." An excellent musical and literary programme occupied the rest of the evening.

At the Academy of Music.

The Academy was packed, aisles and boxes and everything, and at half-past seven people were turned away from the doors. Reserved seats could not be had for love or money. The entertainment was a great success, and though it commenced too late, the audience waited with good-natured patience for the curtain to go up, and applauded with a vigor born from admiration on every possible occasion afterwards. The Irish National Minstrels were very good. The jokes were fresh, without being too much so, and the songs well rendered. The company was composed of the following gentlemen: Interlocutor, W. F. Finn; end-men, Geo. P. Holland, Ed. Carroll, P. Burns, Frank Drew, A. F. Nicholson, T. Jones; first tenors, J. J. Rowan, J. Morgan, W. P. Clancy, W. Murphy, F. Butler; second tenors, T. C. Emblem, R. Hilliard, J. Quinn, J. Flynn, E. O'Shea; first bassos, Ed. Quinn, M. Mullarky, W. J. McCaffrey, M. O'Brien, T. Lane; second bassos, Morgan J. Quinn, J. Murray, J. T. Altimas, A. McKeown, C. Smith; musical director, P. Shea; stage manager, J. J. Gethings. A well staged, well rendered performance of Robert Emmet, which is the pièce de résistance of the Society, wound up the programme.

Masonic Ball.

The annual ball and supper given by the Lodge of Antiquity, No. 1, Q.R. (formerly on the register of the Grand Lodge of Ireland), at the Queen's Hall Assembly Rooms last night, was a signal success. The hall was tastefully decorated with Masonic emblems and bunting. The Italian orchestra furnished good music and the supper was all that could be desired. There was a good attendance of Grand Lodge officers and members of city lodges, all clothed in the regalia of their respective rank.

CARMODY DISCHARGED.

The Jury Brings in a Verdict of Not Guilty.

The Carmody trial was concluded yesterday afternoon in the Court of Queen's Bench. Paul Hemphy, carter, Detective Barrett and Mr. W. Grant were called by the defence to corroborate previous evidence, and then Mr. Harkins was called in rebuttal. He denied having ever accused Mackay of robbing him or having offered him anything to induce him to testify against Carmody.

Mr. T. Doyle, agent, who was the gentleman who accompanied Mr. Harkins to the Vendome restaurant on the morning of February 6, corroborated his evidence as to what passed then.

Chief Detective Cullen swore that he had never made any threats to Mackay concerning this case, and the evidence was declared complete.

Messrs. Guerin and Quinn addressed the jury, and then Mr. Justice Baby delivered his charge, which was clearly against the prisoner. In closing, he said that they could bring in three different verdicts, viz., guilty of robbery, guilty of assault with intent to commit robbery, or guilty of assault alone. It was 5.20 o'clock when the jury retired. In less than a quarter of an hour they re-appeared, and the foreman announced that they found the prisoner "not guilty." Carmody was discharged, after being compelled to listen to a severe lecture from the Court.

AN ANARCHIST HUNT.

France, Germany and Belgium Making an Effort to Arrest All Dynamiters.

PARIS, March 18.—Premier Loubet intimated at a Cabinet Council yesterday that important results had been obtained in the Anarchist investigation. The police search of the lodgings of Anarchists continues. Sixty suspects were arrested in a hotel in the rue Arbre section. Those who gave a satisfactory account of themselves were afterwards released. The lodgings of an Anarchist named Cazeau were searched by the police and they were rewarded by the discovery of a number of phials containing chlorate of potassium, and hydrochloric acid. Several pans containing a suspicious looking mixture were also found. All the chemicals were discovered concealed in a cupboard. Cazeau was arrested, but he refused to make any explanation of what he intended to do with the chemicals. Chlorate of potassium and hydrochloric acid are ingredients in the manufacture of explosives. Experts will examine the mixture found in the pans. It is reported that the police are on the track of the man who caused the explosion at the Lobeau barracks on Tuesday morning.

LIEGE, March 18.—Three Anarchists who had stolen five hundred pounds of dynamite from a mill, and afterwards tried to blow up the magazine at the mill, were sentenced yesterday, one to fifteen years and the other two to twelve years' penal servitude each. These sentences aroused the ire of the prisoners' fellow Anarchists, and they determined, if possible, to take revenge. The object of their vengeance was the president of the assize courts, who had sentenced the culprits. This morning a dynamite cartridge was discovered at the door of the residence of the president of the court. Fortunately it was found before it was exploded and no harm was done. An enquiry into the affair is now going on.

BERLIN, March 18.—The police yesterday searched the lodgings of several Anarchists and seized a number of inflammatory pamphlets. They arrested two men, a compositor and a metal turner.

TRAIN LOADS OF IMMIGRANTS.

A Large Influx of Settlers Into Manitoba and the North-West Territories.

WINNIPEG, March 18.—Sixteen or seventeen colonist excursion trains from Eastern Canada are on the way here and will arrive regularly between to-morrow and Sunday. There are eight hundred people aboard destined for various provincial points. Manitoba and North-West immigration this season will certainly be larger than ever before. During the first three months of this year nearly two thousand more immigrants arrived than last year.

There is an unprecedently large demand for farm laborers from all parts of the province. Applications for help are pouring in from all quarters, but the supply is exceedingly limited. The immigration agent says that he could locate over 150 men to-day if he could obtain them and guarantee them good wages. Any number of boys could be placed in positions, but none are obtainable. Farmers are in a rather awkward fix just now, but it is hoped that the colonization trains now on the way here may be the means of helping them out to a considerable extent.

AT THE ROYAL MILITARY COLLEGE.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

KINGSTON, March 18.—The following military men arrived at the Tete du Pont Barracks on Tuesday to take the long course at the Royal Military College, which extends over three months: Second Lieut. Guy L. Mott, 66th Princess Louise Fusiliers, Halifax; Capt. B. A. Wycott, 16th Batt., Picton; Lieut. C. Fiset, I. S. C., St. Johns, Que.; Lieut. Geo. D. Orsonnens, 80th Battalion, St. Johns, Que.; Second Lieut. S. Y. Baldwin, Q. O. R., Toronto; Lieut. R. C. Windeyou, 36th Battalion, Toronto; Second Lieut. J. Benyon, M. F. B., Montreal; First Lieut. A. V. Fages, I. S. C., St. Johns, Que.; Second Lieut. J. H. Copley, M. G. A., Montreal; Lieut. A. E. Carpenter, I. S. C., Fredericton, N. B.; Lieut. D. A. MacMahon, Royal Grenadiers, Toronto.

Another Belgian Mining Accident.

BRUSSELS, March 18.—Another mine accident occurred yesterday in the pits at Cuesmes-en-Borinage in Hainault. Five persons were killed.

CANAL TOLLS.

THE COMPLAINTS OF MONTREAL MEN.

The Steamship Companies Will Send a Deputation to Ottawa—The Claims of the Opposing Parties.

The steamship companies have definitely decided to go to Ottawa in regard to the rebate on canal tolls, and are now only awaiting a communication from the Government to proceed on their mission. The Board of Trade has not yet appointed its delegates to accompany this deputation, but the president has had power conferred upon him to appoint such a delegation, which will in all probability be done. The grain trade especially feel very strongly on the matter of the delay in announcing the reduction, if one is to be made. A large grain shipper said to-day that hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain had been contracted for via the Erie route, which would have come to Montreal had the canal toll question been definitely settled. The same merchant stated that in making contracts for grain he had to guarantee the canal tolls, else he would have lost the business. Merchants and shippers are unable to quote rates to Chicago parties who wish to ship their grain by the St. Lawrence route, because they do not know what the canal tolls are going to be, and the Chicago men cannot afford to wait. Therefore the trade is passing Montreal. When they go to Ottawa the grain and steamship men propose to strongly urge the Government to grant the rebate on all grain transhipped at Ogdensburg for the St. Lawrence. The views of the Canadian Marine Association, which is opposing this rebate, are given as follows by a prominent member of the Association: "If this rebate is granted the Canadian lake marine will be

ALMOST EXTINGUISHED.

A Canadian vessel cannot carry grain from Duluth or Chicago to Ogdensburg, because the American coasting laws do not permit it. The American vessels are, however, placed in a much more favorable position than Canadian craft for the reason that a United States vessel may carry grain from Chicago to Ogdensburg, and take a cargo of coal back from Oswego. The Canadian vessel which takes grain from a United States port to Kingston cannot take a load of coal back. Her freight has therefore, to pay the expenses of both trips and leave a profit, while an American vessel having a freight both ways, can afford to carry grain much cheaper than can the Canadian. If the rebate is granted, the United States boats will underbid Canadian boats, and take all the trade. The rebate at present is our only protection." Grain shippers here, however, state that they cannot get the service they require from the Canadian boats. The Ogdensburg line of steamers leave Chicago every day, and a merchant can ship any quantity, large or small, by these boats, as they are properly fitted up for the trade. On the other hand, the Canadian craft cannot, in most instances, take small lots, but the entire boat has to be chartered. This is one reason why the Montreal men want the rebate, and they say it will not take a bushel of grain from Kingston. "We are not looking for Ogdensburg here," remarked a big shipper to-day, "we simply want the rebate in our own interests and in the interests of the trade of Montreal and of the St. Lawrence."

ST. LAWRENCE MARKET.

The Question of its Removal Referred to a Sub-Committee.

Ald. Cunningham presided at the meeting of the Market Committee this morning. It being the first of the new Committee the chairman welcomed his new members and expressed the hope that they would work harmoniously together. Ald. McBride presented a petition from several fruit dealers in Bonsecours Market, asking that their rent be reduced from $350 to $300, the same as paid by others. The matter was left over for the present. The chairman brought up the question of the removal of Viger market. They would require to make temporary provision for a cow market. Ald. Prefontaine informed those present that the road department intended taking possession of it by the middle of April. It was then resolved to have one in the east end and another at St. Gabriel market and to have the by-law so amended. Mr. L. O. David appeared on behalf of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, which is erecting a new hall opposite the St. Lawrence market, and they ask that the market be abolished. They suggested that land around St. Constant street be purchased and that the present site be turned into a square. Mr. Beauchamp maintained that it was an eyesore and there was not sufficient facility for carrying on the business properly. Ald. Griffin thought that meant to move it opposite the General Hospital and he objected. The chairman held it was a serious matter to move it. Then Ald. Prefontaine said such cries were raised about abolishing Papineau market. Now the people were thankful, and they would be in this instance. Ald. Griffin did not think the people of St. Lawrence and St. Louis wards would. Ald. Prefontaine thought the present time opportune, as when the question of widening Dorchester street came up they would then have a fine square. Mr. J. X. Perrault said that the Chambre de Commerce had given the matter some attention.

Ald. Noian: "How much interest have they in St. Lawrence street?"

"About four hundred members," was the answer. "It's a rookery and a disgrace to the city. The directors of the Hospital are favorable to its removal," said Mr. Perrault. On the motion of Ald. Noian, a sub-committee composed of Ald. Beausoleil, Griffin and Lamarche was appointed to consider the advisability of removing it and to report at the next meeting. The Montreal Gymnastic Society applied for the use of some unoccupied rooms in Bonsecours market. Referred to a sub-committee of the chairman, Ald. Beausoleil and Dagenais. The question of appointing a successor to Mr. Jolicœur, who resigned the clerkship of St. Lawrence market, came up. The chairman said that he had placed Jolicœur's brother temporarily in the position. Ald. Griffin asked if there was any deficiency in this cash. The chairman admitted that there had been, but all had been made good before he left for Chicago. The brother was appointed.

This year's appropriations amount to $46,356.82.

Reserved the Decision.

The case of George Carpenter, Inspector of the Citizens' League, vs. Justinien Benoit was up before Mr. Justice Tait this morning on an exception to the form. The plaintiff seeks to have confiscated a sum of money now in the hands of the Banque du Peuple to the credit of defendant, and said to be the proceeds of the capital prize in one of the drawings of the lottery of the Province of Quebec. As in the former case against the Lottery Company itself, the defendant takes exception to the form of procedure, and sets forth the same reasons upon which the former action was dismissed. After hearing the arguments the court reserved its decision.

A Man Missing.

Mrs. Andrew Engle, of 4 Dansereau street, reported to the police this morning that her husband had been missing since last Tuesday. Some time ago he was injured on the C. P. R. and this week received $500 from the Foresters, to which organization he belonged. As he had the money on his person she fears that he has met with foul play.

Board of Health.

The Board of Health is to meet this afternoon to consider their money needs for the ensuing year. They are going to ask for $86,755 against $59,000 last year. The increase includes $3000 for a new public bath in St. Jean Baptiste ward, also $2500 for needed repairs to the Civic Hospital.

Bill Stickers Beware.

Chief of Police Hughes has written to all the bill-posters, notifying them that no vulgar or indecent posters shall be exposed to view. He warns them that the penalty for infraction of the by-law is four years penitentiary.

Two Horses Burned.

Box 215 was sounded at a quarter to six o'clock this morning for a fire in the wooden stable of Mr. M. Poirier, rear 408 Rivard street. The loss, outside of two horses being burned to death, was slight.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Ever since the robbery at Mr. Norman McLaren's on January 10 last, the police have been on the lookout for the guilty ones. Three of them have been captured, two of whom are paying the penalty on a five years' sentence in St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary and the third a six months' term in the common gaol. There was, however, one still at large, whom the detectives believe to have been the principal in the affair. He left for the United States at the time his alleged companions were arrested and was traced to Rochester. Some time since he returned to Canada and last night Detective McMahon went out to Lachine and found his man, Edward Tourangeau, working as ostler at a hotel. He at once arrested him and brought him to the city. He was remanded in the Police Court this morning.

THE RAILWAY STRIKE.

The Situation Practically Unchanged on Both Lines.

The C. P. R. strike and the threatened lockout on the G. T. R. continue to be the all-absorbing topics in railway circles here. Employers and employés are still at daggers drawn. The strikers on the former line are reported to be determined in their demands and the C. P. R. Company just as persistent in their refusals. Mr. Shaughnessy, the vice-president, states that the Company have already received enough applications for work on the line to fill all the vacancies ten times over. But, he adds, in view of the high order of service demanded in this work the selections have to be made with the greatest care. He attributes all the trouble to the agitation of a few leaders, and not to any general dissatisfaction among the men. Mr. Shaughnessy said that the relations between the company and the Eastern Division employes remained perfectly satisfactory. Conductors, baggagemen and brakemen are being massed in Winnipeg in large numbers and the Company anticipate little delay in business.

Speaking of the situation on the G. T. R. Mr. Wainwright, the general superintendent, stated that the situation remained absolutely unchanged. The men had the Company's ultimatum and were evidently considering it.

The men on this side deny the Company's argument that the line has not been paying as large dividends as in former years. They assert that the increase in the earnings of the road for the last month has been from $30,000 to $50,000 per week and they insist on this as one reason for their demand of higher pay. They point out also that the Canada Southern, passing over the same ground as the Grand Trunk, pays $110 a month while the latter pays only $73. Local passenger conductors on the latter road only receive $65.82 per month and between Toronto and Hamilton passenger conductors get as low as $60 for working heavier trains than those of Michigan Central, on which $110 are paid over the same territory. The delegates also insist on the payment of equal wages to men performing similar work, regardless of the length of time in which they have been in the Company's employ. Yesterday at 2.15 p. m., two of the delegates requested a further interview with Mr. Stephenson, superintendent of all the lines except the Southern Division. Mr. Wilkins, one of the delegates, stated at noon that there was absolutely nothing new to report.

Eastern Men Threatening.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 18.—A C. P. R. conductor here informed a STAR correspondent to-day that all the conductors on the Eastern, Pacific and Atlantic divisions would probably go out on strike if the strikers on the western division failed in securing their demands.

Why He Was Defeated.

To the Editor of the STAR:

SIR,—Like your correspondent, H. Belsingham Broadhurst, I, too, am an Englishman and love justice and fair play for all. As regards a man's neighbors being the best judges, it is admitted that Mr. McShane's popularity has been gained mainly by his reckless use of money and his friendly habit of "treating." Mr. Kennedy, no doubt, found that money was too hardly earned to be "easily spent." As a matter of fact, however, Mr. McShane's majority among his own peculiar people was only a pitiful 141, instead of a thousand, as was hoped for him from the elect, while the business portion, the hard-fisted, tax-paying community, who most felt the pressure of the "special" and other screws, cast their votes for the man who, though he may not be able to give a precise or scholarly definition of the term "honesty," can, and has given us a practical example of it throughout a long public career. Mr. H. Belsingham Broadhurst may prefer the high intellectual attainments and cultured polish of the Hon. James to the rugged honesty of Mr. Kennedy, but, unfortunately, the plain, blunt, business man, prejudiced, of course, by the press, thought the figures, though small for the luxury of such a representative, were a little too high, and voted accordingly. It was hard to give up such a financier who made accounts look so reasonable with the aid of a little "special," of no importance whatever, however; but now he will have the satisfaction of knowing just how he stands, and what each ounce is costing; no "Cr." Peter to "Dr." Paul. To conclude, I think that the stand the STAR has, and is now, taking in regard to the new Government, deserves the fullest support and highest commendation from the whole province. It is a fearless, independent stand, and in keeping with its past good record for bold and fearless denunciation of evil and dishonesty, and public immorality. METCALFE.

FARMING INTERESTS.

FEEDING ENSILAGE TO CATTLE.

Papers Read at the Concluding Meeting of the Ensilage and Economic Feed Association.

The final session of the Ensilage and Economic Feeding Association met this morning at 10 o'clock at the STAR Building. Mr. Dawes read an interesting paper on the subject of feeding ensilage to cattle. He showed the necessity of adding meal to this feed, as corn was not a perfect food, and no animal was able to consume sufficient to sustain it in flesh-forming properties. Mr. Dawes gave an interesting account of how the corn crops were grown in the Western States, and gave details of the cultivation there. Mr. Barnard asked whether he had found clover hay cost more than corn for ensilage. Very little, he replied. The fault in this province was that the clover was not properly dried. It was, therefore, of poor value, but he had his clover properly dried and charged one or two dollars a ton more for his clover hay, than his Timothy hay, for a complete food. Mr. Macpherson next addressed the meeting on the same subject, mainly feeding ensilage. He spoke of the increase of debt and mortgages in the provinces, and said that it was this reason that led him to think whether a method could be found so as to give a satisfactory return to farmers. This was a difficult question. The cost of production must first be known and considered and this must be done by estimating cost per acre. Then they must find their best market, and consider the best way to utilize the crops. Animals produced the most profit, therefore, they must decide upon a cheap food for cattle. He found corn and clover crops cheap and good. He proceeded to demonstrate the increased profit resulting from feeding concentrated food purchased, such as oil-cake. He found that not only was the immediate profit greater, but then the manure was of increased value also. He mentioned the three styles of farming: 1. Selling everything off the land. 2. Feeding animals from the products of the farm. 3. Producing back by bought foods. These were the three grades in farming. The latter method was the secret of success in farming. He spoke of the proportion of capital expended on crops and the returns received in the same. He gave as an example a case in which, after a period of four years, 130 acres of poor land had been made to produce some $1000 annually. This was by utilizing ensilage corn by feeding it to animals along with artificial foods. These points should stir the farmers up to enquiry, for they proved that farming could be turned from the down grade to the up grade. He would like an experiment to be made with three steers, three steers, feeding each the same, crediting each with net profits to show which would prove the most profitable. In answer to a question he said: "Yes, you can maintain an animal on corn, but you cannot make profit if you keep an animal in a stationary condition. Unless it is improving in condition a loss is being sustained. Questions were asked by Mr. Macpherson as to the feed of his calves. Speaking of the value of the manure provided by oil seed cake, he estimated this to be 50 per cent. of the value put into the food. The following table was given, showing the relative value of corn and clover ensilage and also of peas and cotton meal:

Per ton.	Heat formers. Lbs.	Protein. Lbs.	Fat. Lbs.
Ensilage	220	18	8
Clover	190	444	19
Peas, dry	1050	416	38
Cotton meal	548	610	196

Mr. Barnard showed the necessity of having the cows warm, as a colder temperature entailed great loss of feed. Food containing an excess of nitrogen formed fat, when to combine it for him from the elect, while the business portion, the hard-fisted, tax-paying community, who most felt the pressure of the "special" and other screws, cast their votes for the man who, though he may not be able to give a precise or scholarly definition of the term "honesty," can, and has given us a practical example of it throughout a long public career. Mr. H. Belsingham Broadhurst may prefer the high intellectual attainments and cultured polish of the Hon. ANOTHER EXPLOSION IN PARIS.

The Police Continuing their Hunt for Anarchist Dynamiters.

PARIS, March 18.—Another explosion of dynamite took place yesterday on the Boulevard Saint Germain, in the residence of a judge. The police yesterday continued their search in the Quartier Halles. Sixty persons living in one house were taken to the police station and all those who could not give a satisfactory explanation as to their means of livelihood were detained. The police believe they have captured one of the persons who is responsible for, or at any rate, who was privy to the explosion at the Lobau Barracks. Several private persons, heads of business houses and managers of newspapers have been receiving threatening letters. For example, the manager of the "Ericie Jockey Club" was warned that a cartridge would be placed in a corner of the café adjoining the club, the explosion of which would shatter the building. At first no importance was attached to these letters, which were placed in the hands of the police, but yesterday the police found cartridges in several places. The concierge of No. 105 Boulevard Malesherbes found before the door of the house a package containing eighteen cartridges and eight pistols. The police found last evening on the Boulevard Arago, a cylindrical tube, enveloped in black paper, and having at one end a wick which had begun to burn. It was placed against the wall of the prison De La Sante. All the explosive articles have been sent to the municipal laboratory. The judge who has been instructed to investigate the recent dynamite plots is decidedly of the opinion that they are not the result of concerted action on the part of the Anarchists. "In my opinion," he said, "the three last explosions are the work of an amateur and of a single individual."

Trouble is feared in Berlin to-day—the anniversary of the revolution of 1848. The unemployed workingmen will parade and march to the cemetery, where they will visit the graves of those who died in 1848.

A Judgment Against Owen Murphy.

NEW YORK, March 18.—A judgment for $9464.09 was entered yesterday in the County Clerk's office in favor of Michael McGovern against Owen Murphy, who returned about four months ago from Canada, where he was in exile and whence he came to avoid imprisonment for perjury and conspiracy. McGovern is an undertaker at No. 47 second avenue. W. A. Crowe, the attorney for Mr. McGovern, in speaking of the judgment, said yesterday: "The judgment is for a claim arising out of a transaction between the parties in 1871. Mr. McGovern was for many years the sexton of the Nativity church, which Murphy attended. He resided in the Nativity parish up to the time he so suddenly left the city. Murphy held a second mortgage on some property at Fifty-sixth street, near Park avenue, for $9000, and assigned this mortgage to my client. The property loaned. Upon the sale under foreclosure of the mortgage there was a deficiency of $4689.13, for which sum, with interest from December 2, 1875, this judgment is now entered."

The entering of the judgment against Mr. Murphy is the first move that has been made against him since his return to the city from Canada.

Manitoba Matters.

WINNIPEG, March 18. — The Manitoba Legislature, after taking nearly a week to dispose of the speech from the throne, has adjourned till Monday.

Reports from various Manitoba grain producing districts place Deloraine in Southern Manitoba ahead of them all. Half a million bushels has already been marketed there, all of it number one or two hard.

T. Keefer, Engineer of Ottawa, has been appointed by the City Council to act as its arbitrator in the matter of taking over the local water works system.

At a meeting of the City Council last night it was decided to apply to the Legislature for power to tax all persons having an income of over one thousand dollars per year. There is considerable dissatisfaction among citizens regarding the decision and local bankers, insurance agents and loan men are raising a big protest over the Council's proposal to impose a tax on their business.

St. Patrick's Day in London.

LONDON, March 18.—Justin McCarthy presided at a banquet given in this city last evening in celebration of St. Patrick's day. In responding to the toast "Ireland a nation," Mr. McCarthy made a sympathetic reference to the late Mr. Parnell. Mr. McCarthy predicted that the friends of Ireland in the Democratic party would soon enable the Nationalists to attain the object for which they had so long struggled—the recognition of Irish nationality.

The Parnellite members of the House of Commons had a separate celebration of the great national holiday. They also observed the feast of their patron saint at a banquet, at which John E. Redmond, the Parnellite, presided. The toast to the memory of Mr. Parnell was drunk in deep silence, all the guests arising from their seats when the name of the departed leader was pronounced.

Four Persons Burned to Death.

LONDON, March 18.—Fire occurred this morning in a butcher's shop in Lilliebridge Road, Brompton, causing the death of four persons. The apartments over the shop were occupied by the family of the butcher, a man named Weston. The fire spread with great rapidity and cut off the escape of Mrs. Weston, her two children, and a girl named Amy Glover, who was employed as cashier in the shop. After the fire their bodies were found burned to a crisp. The fire was caused by the carelessness of a workingman who was employed about the place. He dropped a fuse in the cellar last night. This ignited in some way and set fire to the building.

The New York Snow Storm.

NYACK, N.Y., March 18.—The deepest snow since the blizzard of 1888 fell along the lower Hudson valley last night and to-day. In the towns and villages the snow is deeper on a level than it was at any time last winter, and in the interior the drifts in some places are immense.

NEW YORK, March 18.—Travel on the horse-car lines was seriously impeded by the snowstorm to-day, and many trains have been delayed by the storm. In Long Island City the surface cars were laid up by the snow during the early hours. On the Jersey Central road much inconvenience was experienced.

The "Windermere" Ashore.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., March 18.—The new British four-masted ship "Windermere" is ashore near Deal Beach. She was discovered about 7 o'clock this morning during a blinding snow-storm. She is in ballast and is owned by Fisher & Spratt of London. She is consigned to Vernon H. Brown & Co. of New York, and has a crew of 43 men who have been brought ashore in the breeches buoy by the life-saving crew. The surf is running very high and the vessel is slowly working toward the beach.

The Prisoner in Australia.

MELBOURNE, March 18. — Williams, the bigamist and murderer, it is expected will reach Perth to-day. He is well-guarded by the police in view of any dangerous outbreak of popular feeling against him. After a formal magisterial enquiry at Perth, Williams will be remanded for Court proceedings here.

The Grand Duke's Funeral.

DARMSTADT, March 18.—An immense crowd witnessed the funeral to-day of the Grand Duke of Hesse. Business was suspended and emblems of mourning were everywhere displayed.

For twenty-five cents, you can get Carter's Little Liver Pills—the best liver regulator in the world. Don't forget this. One pill a dose.

A COUNTERFEITER SENTENCED.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

OTTAWA, March 18.—At the Police Court yesterday John Smith pleaded guilty to two charges of uttering counterfeit coin and was sentenced to a year's imprisonment in the Central Prison by Magistrate O'Farrell. Smith said he was sorry he had passed them. He had a wife in Montreal, who was in a delicate condition. It transpired today that the prisoners real name is Albert Dow of St. Antoine street, Montreal, Detective Carpenter, who arrived here last night identified the prisoner, whose wife has been very anxious as to his whereabouts.

LEAVING PRINCE MICHAEL.

[SPECIAL TO THE STAR.]

DETROIT, Mich., March 18.—Prince Michael lost some of his followers yesterday and others are preparing to leave for their former homes as soon as they can get funds to pay the railroad fare. Many of those returning belong to different States in the Union and a great many to Canada. The "Flying Roll" organization is beginning to lose strength, but the members are very guarded in what they say, and even those who see their mistakes will not, with one or two exceptions, talk freely on the subject.

Dehorning Cattle.

TORONTO, March 18.—The Ontario Government Commission to study the dehorning question consists of Hon. Charles Drury, Crownhill, farmer (chairman); J. J. Kelso, Toronto, reporter (secretary); Richard Gibson, Delaware, breeder; D. M. Macpherson, Lancaster, dairyman; Andrew Smith, Toronto, veterinary surgeon, and Henry Glendinning, Sunderland, farmer. Their duty is to make enquiry into the reasons for and against the practice of dehorning cattle, as well by the experience of witnesses as by collecting whatever is accessible of the evidence which has been given by experts and others in trials which have taken place on the subject in England, Ireland and Scotland and in the province, the judgments rendered, etc., and to make a report with all reasonable speed.

A PRUSSIAN CABINET CRISIS.

Reported in Berlin that Chancellor Von Caprivi Has Resigned—The Kaiser's Extravagance.

BERLIN, March 18.—Rumors are current that there is a partial crisis in the Prussian Cabinet resulting from the meeting of the ministers yesterday at which the Emperor presided. The subject under discussion at this meeting was the primary election bill. The sudden return to Berlin of Herr Rauchaupt, a leading Conservative, is believed to be connected with the impending resignations of Dr. Herr Furth, Minister of the Interior, and Count von Zedlitz-Trutschler, Minister of Ecclesiastical Affairs and Instruction.

The Neue Preussiche Zeitung states that a loan of forty million Marks has been raised to clear off the debts of Kaiser William, who has shown great extravagance in the maintenance of the Royal Household, presenting a marked contrast to the simplicity of his father and grandmother.

4 p. m.—The Kreuz Zeitung publishes a report that Chancellor von Caprivi has resigned. It has received no confirmation, however.

Later.—Chancellor von Caprivi has resigned.

TRADE COMMERCE AND FINANCE.

There was quite an exciting turn in Telegraph this morning, the stock jumping up to the highest figure of the previous rally and then reacting again. There is, of course, constant talk on the street as to the merits of Telegraph, one party cautiously advising waiting until the policy of the Western Union with regard to the next dividend is made apparent, while the other sees in the resignation of Mr. Wiman the removal of the last obstacle in the way of Telegraph being treated as a sound eight per cent. investment security. Acting on this latter basis some buying orders came into the market this morning and a combined effort of the bulls sent the stock up from 136½ to 137. At the latter figure stock came out freely, and orders could be easily filled. After that, however, Telegraph sunk down on the point basis until it touched 136, which point the trading revived a little, and finally closed at 136⅝. Nothing new had transpired in connection with it, and the whole movement seemed to be more with the idea of making a turn in it than based on any particular ground. From this time on the developments of the situation will probably begin to be discussed more vigorously, and the stock is likely to give evidences of it. The fact that the trouble on the Canadian Pacific line is more serious than was at first anticipated, has naturally induced weakness in the stock, and it was only natural that it should be selling lower at 88 to-day. The passenger trains are running all right, but the freight movement is seriously restricted. However, the company has tided over the first and worst couple of days, and is now picking up railroad men to take the places of the strikers, so that it is hoped that traffic will not be spread to a standstill, but that the trouble will be got over all right. In the meantime some operators are disposed to view C. P. R. as a purchase, but the majority are inclined to wait for further developments before committing themselves to one side or the other. The earnings for the second week in March increased $19,000. There was a little movement in Richelieu this morning between 64¼ and 63¾, as will be seen below, several other stocks were traded in, but the transactions were of minor importance. Money on call may be quoted at 4 per cent.

New York Stock Market.

Messrs. Oswald Bros., stock brokers, report the New York market over private wire to-day as follows:

The same quiet tone has pervaded the New York market again to-day. Probably the heavy shrinkage in wheat has cost people so much money that they hesitate about risking any more on the long side, if anything, at present. Whatever the reason may be, the market is lifeless, with very few transactions, and there is no special feature to note.

Canada Pacific came in from London at 91. It sold here during the morning session from 88 to 87¾. The strike in the Western division must, no doubt, interfere with the earnings while it lasts, and the prospects of a possible decrease next week make holders uneasy for the time being.
