Antigonish, N.S., March 3——Antigonish rural and village teachers voted during the week-end to continue their two-week-old strike for a $300 salary increase.

A meeting of the county local of the Nova Scotia Teachers' Union was attended by 46 of the 94 teachers affected by the strike. They turned down a County Council offer of a cost-of-living bonus equal to nine days' salary.

The strike affects 2,000 pupils.

No celebration as held today. A ceremony will be held tomorrow at the Pontifical Lateran Athanaeum.

Trondheim, Norway, March 3—(Reuters)—Boys playing in the snow yesterday found the body of Atom scientist Per Werenskiold, who mysteriously disappeared from his Trondheim home last month. Montreal, March 3—(P)—Co-operation between employers, employees and the government for the technical and moral preparation of young Quebec workers has given them outstanding skill. Quebec Labor Minister Barrette said Saturday.

Mr. Barrette was speaking to delegates from apprenticeship centres in Quebec and Ontario on a two-day training course here.

"Outstanding training work is being done in Ontario under the Provincial Institute of Trades," he said. "This co-operative work cannot be overestimated in its long-range effect upon our two provinces."

Mr. Barrette said that more than 6,800 students had completed their training in the six years since the centre was established here.

The six-month courses are taught by 86 instructors in English and French.

No Livestock, Meat May Be Brought Into Dominion Without Government Permit

Slaughter Of Cattle Is Continuing

Regina, March 3—(P)—Bitterly cold winds swept the Prairies yesterday when R. C. M. P. rifles slaughtered 164 diseased animals in the second shooting of the drive to wipe out Canada's first foot-and-mouth disease outbreak.

The slaughter, postponed from Saturday when drifting snow blocked roads to the grave site on a farm about 15 miles east of Regina, brought to 370 the number of animals shot and buried so far.

Friday 238 cattle and 63 sheep were killed and yesterday's total included 149 cattle, mostly beef breeds, 14 swine and a goat which formerly was the mascot of the Saskatchewan football Roughriders. Ten federal government bulls, used in Regina by the Saskatchewan government for its artificial insemination program, were among the cattle slain.

Today the third shooting is to take place on the farm of William Hanley, a dairy site just outside the northwest corner of the Regina city limits.

Federal animal health officials didn't disclose the number of cattle scheduled for today's slaughter. Unofficial estimates said the entire 850 cattle, 190 swine and 140 sheep will be killed by Wednesday.

Dr. Kenneth Wells, federal veterinarian from Ottawa who is directing the extermination program, said yesterday's slaughter was carried out in orderly fashion despite the bitter wind and the sub-zero temperatures.

R.C.M.P. continued to patrol the roads adjoining the premises where the grave site was located, keeping all unauthorized persons away. Federal officials said the patrol will be carried out at each slaughtering.

Dr. E. E. Carlson, federal assistant district veterinary inspector for Saskatchewan, said no new cases of the dreaded disease have been reported since Feb. 19.

About 30 federal veterinarians are doing inspection work in the quarantined area and more out-of-province veterinarians were expected to arrive in Regina today to aid in the rigorous inspection program necessary to see that no trace of the disease remains.

Meanwhile, 11 rural municipalities remained under strict quarantine. Officials said the disease is located in only three of the 11 municipalities with the most cases in Sherwood, bordering the city. Twenty-two farms have been afflicted.

Royston, England, March 3—(Reuters)—Five fighting teams working in relays struggled vainly for five hours against a fire in a coal mine. It was decided last night to abandon the 200-yard stretch of burning coal face and seal off the area with sandbags. Nobody was underground when the fire broke out.

France Gropes For Solution To Her Political Crisis

By JOSEPH DYNAN

Paris, March 3—(P)—France today groped for a solution to her deepening political crisis following failure of Paul Reynaud to patch together a national union coalition cabinet.

Efforts to form a new government to succeed Edgar Faure's administration appeared stalemated after another former Premier, Rene Pleven, refused even to try to cope with the manifold divisions within the French National Assembly.

President Vincent Auriol scheduled another series of talks with political elders amid reports he would call upon Antoine Pinay, outgoing transport minister, for the Premiership. Pinay is a slightly right-of-centre member of the independent Republican party.

Pinay would be expected to try to form another government in the image of its predecessor's middle-of-the-road coalition. Whether this can be done now is highly doubtful.

France's financial and ministerial crisis has stalled development of western European defence and may mean that much of the west's defence planning will have to be reshaped. The middle even has caused some officials to think seriously about dropping the costly anti-communist fight in Indo-China.

The French Socialist party lashed Reynaud's hope when it refused to join a government with followers of Charles de Gaulle—the Reassemblement du Peuple Français. Socialist leaders accused de Gaulle of "anti-republican tendencies" and implied that his followers would enter such a coalition only to seize outright powers for themselves.

Reynaud had proposed that leaders of all parties except the communists join him in the cabinet to map out a common program for salvation of the country's currency and equilibrium of the country's finances.

Spokesman for de Gaulle agreed. So did leaders of the other parties although some like the Mouvement Republicain Populaire, attached conditions which in effect would have excluded the Gaullists from cabinet posts.

With runaway inflation staring the country in the face, some way must be found for France to meet the obligations for western defence which she assumed at the North Atlantic Treaty Organization conference at Lisbon last month.

Before Faure was forced to resign Friday, the National Assembly overwhelmingly voted his record $4,000,000,000 defence budget, including France's share of N.A.T.O. European defence.

But the assemblymen then defeated Faure's plan for a 15-per-cent tax increase to pay for defence and other expenses.

Gardiner Also Announces Bigger Payments For Animals Which Must Be Destroyed

Ottawa, March 3.—(CP)—The Canadian government today banned imports of livestock and meats from any country except under permit.

At the same time, the government announced new measures to cope with the outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease in south Saskatchewan, including bigger payments for animals which must be destroyed.

The announcements, made by Agriculture Minister Gardiner in a 2,500-word speech over a CBC trans-Canada network, covered these new steps:

1. As a result of the embargo placed by the United States on Canadian livestock and meats, the government, under the emergency powers act, will restrict imports in order that the Canadian market may be retained for domestic production.
2. Payments to farmers whose animals must be destroyed to prevent the disease from spreading will be paid for the animal destroyed and all losses which may be "fair and reasonable," including feed and equipment.
3. The government is throwing up a buffer zone as a second line of defence against possible spread of the disease. Until further notice all animals which come from within 50 miles of the 10-municipality south Saskatchewan quarantine area "will be slaughtered at the nearest available packing plant."
4. The federal government will not ask any province to take live animals from the Prairies, even though the extra buffer-zone protection is being provided. But if any province wants to admit the live animals, "we do intend to set up an inspection which makes it perfectly safe for them to do so."

"If any province asks to have live animals forwarded, they will be able to obtain them with a certificate which makes them as secure against the disease as it is possible for them to be when obtaining animals from anywhere in the world," Mr. Gardiner said.

"They will not, however, be permitted to go unless the province in question asks for them."

The emergency restrictions on imported livestock and meats appears to be the federal government's reply to provinces which have put restrictions on interprovincial trade on livestock and meats to safeguard against the spread of the disease, and possibly also to avoid "dumping" of surpluses from other provinces into their own.

British Columbia, whose producers supply only about 10 per cent of the province's requirements in livestock and meats, has banned imports from Alberta and other Prairie provinces.

Quebec has placed imports of meats and livestock from all provinces under a permit system. The outlook resulting from the federal government's announcements is that either these provinces will lift restrictions or face a possible meat shortage.

Mr. Gardiner said the scourge is in an area about 50 miles square in 10 municipalities around Regina. The disease has not spread, but inspectors are watching the area outside the 10-municipality quarantine.

"I make a special appeal to all those reached through this broadcast," he said, "that they do not hesitate to report any suspicious cases. We require the co-operation of everyone in our efforts to confine the disease to this small area and stamp it out completely here."

By providing increased payments to farmers the government believes the farmer will be encouraged to make reports quickly.

The contagious diseases act provides that owners of animals which may be destroyed will be paid commercial value. The act will be amended to cover all losses which may occur as a result of the destruction of animals, feed and equipment.

"I know the taxpayers will agree to the necessary costs being paid," Mr. Gardiner said.

Though Mr. Gardiner did not detail the payments, officials previously disclosed that they will include cost of, say, a dairy cow, and loss of revenue which might have been obtained from that cow.

A special board has been set up at Regina to which farmers may appeal for compensation. Members are:

George W. Robertson, secretary of the Saskatchewan wheat pool; Raymond Youngman, in charge of Prairie farm rehabilitation act; and G. W. Stead of the finance department.

These will pass on proposed settlements and make recommendations to the Agriculture Minister as to payments which may be considered "fair and reasonable."

Mr. Gardiner, referring to the economic results of the outbreak,

Living Costs Details Are Awaited

Ottawa, March 3—(P)—Canadians will know Tuesday, if they don't know now, whether it cost them more or less to live in January. That is the day the Dominion Bureau of Statistics releases its official cost-of-living index.

At this time last month, Canadians learned that the cost of living index hit its highest point in history at Jan. 2. The jump of two-fifths of a point was sparked then by small price increases for meats, vegetables, dairy products, coal and a number of other items.

At Jan. 2, the index stood at 191.5 compared with 191.1 at Dec. 1. The index is based on 1935-39 prices equaling 100.

The increases outweighed small declines for eggs, fats and women's wear. They wiped out the drop of one-tenth of a point registered at Dec. 1 from the previous record high of 191.2 in November.

Wholesale prices continued to drop with the bureau's wholesale price index registering 283.8 at Jan. 4 from 284.2 at Dec. 28 and 279.3 at January 26.

An increase in food prices during December pushed the sub-index on foods seven-tenths of a point higher at 250.0, a near record. Fuel and light sub-index jumped two-fifths of a point to a peak of 151.2 from 150.8, mostly because of higher coal prices in a number of western cities.

Home furnishings and other miscellaneous items also were up during December, pushing the sub-index up half a point to a high of 201.1 from 200.6.

The clothing group declined following lower women's wear prices which offset an increase in the price of men's work boots and wool piece goods. The sub-index was one-fifth of a point down at 215.3 from its peak of 215.5.

Victoria, B.C., March 3—

A young man and woman died here Sunday, victims of gas fumes.

Frank Fraser, 20, and 21-year-old Doreen Aikman were found in a second-storey room of an apartment.

Police said gas jets in the room were turned on. The windows were closed.

An inquest will be held.

Egyptian Parliament Is Suspended For 30 Days

Cairo, Egypt, March 3.—(P)—Egypt's new Prime Minister, Ahmed Naguib Hilaly Pasha, announced suspension of Parliament for 30 days and today headed into a reform regime dedicated to purging corruption from the government.

The Cairo dispatches, which are strictly censored, did not say who issued the first suspension decree, but presumably it came from King Farouk's palace.

Hilaly said he was starting at once to study Egypt's position in relation to Britain, but that he would need time before he could begin new talks aimed at sterling the Anglo-Egyptian dispute.

The week-end political upheaval came just as such talks were due to start between Maher Pasha and British Ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson. Sir Ralph postponed the first meeting Saturday, however, with the announcement that he had a sudden chill.

In a letter accepting the King's mandate, Hilaly pledged he would wipe out disturbances and clean up the government. He would, he said, crush "corruption in politics which has become a trade used for a source of income."

Thirty Seven Persons Are Killed In Crash Of Air France Airliner

C.C.L. Faces Internal Differences

Nice, France, March 3.—(P)—Thirty-seven persons, including an American ballet dancer, were killed today when a four-engine Air France airliner crashed just after taking off.

The dead American was Joan Katzman, 21, of Brooklyn, who danced under the name of Harriet Toby with the Marquis de Cuevas company. Last night at Cannes she had danced in the ballet "La Muerte"—Spanish for death.

Employees at the Nice airport said pieces of sea gull's wings and feathers had been found in the air intakes of the plane's engines and that this might have caused the crash.

Air France officials in Paris said they could not confirm this.

The plane—a French-built Langueodoc with 34 passengers and a crew of four aboard—plummeted into an olive grove at 9:05 a.m. (3:05 a.m. EST). One woman, an Italian, was pulled out of the wreckage alive but died en route to hospital.

Air France released an official casualty list which gave no nationalities of the victims. All were listed from French, Italian or British home addresses.

The dead included the wife of the pilot, Theu Farrugia, 29, a veteran of 4,500 hours flying time.

On taking off, the plane circled and turned back to the airport, losing altitude, and crashed only a few feet from a group of houses inhabited by 20 families.

All the bodies were badly burned.

The two left engines of the plane were reported to have gone dead, leading to the crash.

An unconfirmed report in Paris said the airliner had run into a flight of birds just before the engines cut out.

The plane went down 150 feet from the railway station at the village of St. Augustin, three miles from Nice.

French actress Lise Topart was among the victims.

Week-End Death Toll Is Eighteen

By The Canadian Press

Fire, traffic, bullets and other causes brought death to 18 persons in eastern Canada during the week-end.

Five children were burned to death in a log-cabin fire in Newfoundland.

A Canadian Press survey early today showed eight persons killed in Ontario, two each in Quebec and New Brunswick and one in Prince Edward Island.

Six persons died in traffic accidents, two were shot to death and two were killed in industrial accidents. Neglected killed a new-born baby and one man died of apparent poisoning. A woman died in a fall down stairs.

In Newfoundland five of the nine children of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cross were killed in a fire in their log-cabin home at remote Nicholsville near Deer Lake. The oldest Cross boy picked up a baby and two other children, broke down the front door and led them to safety.

A new-born baby was found dead in a street in Quebec city.

Rearmament Program Is Resisted

Sheffield, England, March 3.—(P)—Two hundred and fifty shop stewards, claiming to represent more than 250,000 British workers, were pledged today to resist the rearmament program and protest recent reductions in social services.

The delegates did not call themselves social services, but Communist will program followed the communist line. Their pledges were made at a meeting here last night convened by an organization known as the Sheffield Action Committee, in cooperation with a national council of engineering and allied shop stewards.

Resolutions passed included a demand for an increase of at least 30 shillings a week for engineering and shipbuilding workers; banning of overtime in areas where there is short-time working or unemployment; and resistance to "Tory cuts in the social service."

The committee has no official trade-union backing—speakers strongly criticized the appointed leaders—and what results the resolutions may bring will depend on the support delegates can rally in individual areas.

One resolution said that in disputes arising from stewards resisting redundancy—which is to say dismissals—"the whole area should be brought into the campaign to expose of real cause of the sackings and to demand full employment."

In South Wales, workers marched in protest against proposed cuts in social services. Communist will paymaster, president of South Wales miners, said in a speech the miners will be called on for mighty demonstrations and to use if necessary "our organized industrial strength."

The demonstration was linked with a boycott of Saturday work in many Welsh pits. Aneurin (Nye) Bevan, leader of the Labor party's left wing and once a miner himself, declined to join the march. Bevan has said resistance to Conservative government measures must be achieved by Parliamentary rather than industrial action.

The week-end events in Sheffield and South Wales are believed by most British observers to mark the start of a deliberate communist campaign.

The current campaign could have two decisive effects: A disruption of British industry at a time of economic emergency, and a further weakening of the labor party—already divided internally. Even now some British newspapers are using phrases such as "democracy on trial," and warning that use of strikes as a political weapon may lead to dictatorship or civil war.

Compound 62 Is Festering Sore For U.N.

By WILLIAM JORDEN

Koje Island, Korea, March 2.—(Delayed by Censor)—(P)—Compound 62, a barbed-wire enclosure housing some 5,000 communist troublemakers, is a festering sore in the huge United Nations prisoner-of-war camp on this South Korean island.

More violence has erupted in 62 than in all the other 28 compounds for Korean civilian prisoners.

Two weeks ago, the inmates of 62 attacked U.S. soldiers who had

UN Right To Reject Russia As Supervisor Is Admitted

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

Munich, Germany, March 3.—(P)—Communist trade negotiators today angrily accused the United Nations command of lying and stalling. But the Reds acknowledged that the U.N. has a legal right to reject Russia as a neutral inspector of an armistice.

North Korean Col. Chang Chuan San conceded that the U.N. has the right to reject Russia, but insisted that the allies give logical reasons.

"We had a thoroughly unproductive and most unpleasant session," Rear-Admiral E. E. Libby told reporters after an acrimonious session of the prisoner-exchange sub-committee.

At one point North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Sang Choo became so angry that Libby interrupted to ask him to stop screaming.

Highly placed Washington sources said there were indications Russia is so determined to serve as a neutral inspector that it may wreck the peace talks.

These sources said the U.S. never will accept the Soviet Union as a neutral, but might go back to the original allied proposal to supervise a truce by a joint commission of belligerents. They said if Russia is willing to acknowledge that she is a belligerent she should legally help police a truce.

Lee touched off the verbal explosion in the prisoner-exchange negotiations with a tirade in which he accused the U.N. of lying about treatment of prisoners. He also charged that the U.N. reneged on a promise to hand over information on about 44,000 prisoners the Reds claim are "military personnel of our side."

And he accused the allies of lying when they said Sunday he communitists had repudiated an agreement to exchange information on all war prisoners and go back to the agreement to nominate neutral countries acceptable to both sides.

"Unfortunately," he said, "what has been shown by our side during these days is the fact that in addition to the raising of side issues and a complete lack of sincerity, your side further has developed its persistent stalling tactics to a surprising degree."

Libby replied: "The U.N. command and the U.N. do not indulge in lies—we do not lie. We have not lied. We shall not lie."

Concerning the exchange of data on prisoners, Libby told the Reds "you will get that data on an exchange basis and in accordance with our agreements or you will not get it at all."

Washington, March 3.—(P)—Russia apparently is so determined to gain a role in Korean peacemaking that she may wreck the peace talks in the attempt.

Some highly-placed officials offered that explanation today for the present deadlock in the armistice talks at Panmunjom. They assumed as Washington has generally assumed from the first, that the Kremlin is masterminding communist strategy in Korea.

The Reds' insistence that the Soviet Union be included in a proposed commission of neutral countries to police the truce, if and when one is agreed upon, is thus regarded here as a move inspired and doggedly persisted in by the Soviet government itself.

The first sign of a possible breakdown from this position came during today's negotiations. When the Reds were told objections to Russia could not be removed, Chinese Col. Chang Chung San replied that the allies had the right to reject any nominee but should give logical reasons.

United States officials said here, as United Nations negotiators have said in Korea, that they will never agree to accept Russia as a neutral. The U.N. stand is that Russia told the North Koreans to start the war in the first place.

What the U.S. would agree to—and what might prove to be the way out—would be to drop the idea of a neutral commission and go back to the original suggestion by the U.N. side that the truce be supervised by a joint commission of belligerents.

Russia and the U.S. would then be represented in equal position, provided Russia was willing to acknowledge a belligerent status.

MICKEY ROONEY JOINS STARS PLAYING BEFORE TV CAMERAS

Hollywood—Move over, Red Skelton, Milton Berle and Sid Caesar—here comes Mickey Rooney with a half-hour show of his own for the folks who gather around the parlor screen. The Mick dipped his toes into the channels first when he appeared recently on TV, with Jimmy Durante. Then he'll next get ankle-deep with two straight dramatic shows from New York on Feb. 27 and March 17. Soon he'll be in the swim completely with a weekly program that will be, according to Mickey: "All comedy, because I'm a comedian, not a leading man. There won't be any dancing and singing to speak of, and there won't be anybody to hold me down. "People started saying I was a mugg. But what's wrong with that? Look at Jerry Lewis. Comedy is comedy. You have to play it."

It's not being boasted about in Hollywood, but there are now a million more television sets than movie seats in the U.S. Latest count of video receivers: 15,700,000. Movie theater seats: 14,685,150. Put an average of three persons in front of those TV sets and of 47 million bags of popcorn! No there's a nightly video audience wonder theater owners are screaming about the sale of movies to TV and about "producers who are playing both ends against the middle."

TELEVISIONS: Marie Wilson better do something quick about the video version of "My Friend Irma" or it will be retitled, "My Friend Cathy Lewis." . . . When will TV announcers stop reading aloud those commercial titles? Really, people CAN read!

Joe Laurie, Jr.'s definite of TV: "Television is just vaudeville under glass."

Latest big-time movies sold to TV: "Open City," "Paisan," and "The Quiet One." More TV Shows on Film Channel Chatter: Robert Stack will star in a filmed series, "The Phantom Pirate." . . . George Burns and Gracie Allen, with an eye to residual profits in the years to come, will film their show for CBS-TV beginning in March. . . . CBS's "Big Town" is also switching to film for better quality. It's the first time one of the top-10 shows has been transferred to celluloid. . . . Five Hollywood originated shows, by the way, are now in the top-10—Red Skelton, I Love Lucy, Comedy Hour, Granchio Marx and Fireside theater.

It's a second chance in Hollywood for Richard Crane as the star of the "Rocky Jones—Space Ranger" TV films. He was under contract for three years to Fox. (Thanks to movie tricks, Rocky's space ship will really "fly" to other planets).

You'd be surprised at the number of Hollywood producers dangling offers before Maria Riva, Marlene Dietrich's daughter. But Maria can't accept movies. She's exclusively tied to CBS-TV.

Jack Webb and his partner, Mike Mesheko, are cooking up films other than their "Dragnet" series of TV. One of their Mark VII productions may star Howard Duff.

When the FCC says "Go" Those 1800 new TV stations waiting for the FCC's go-ahead will cost somewhere near $700,000,000! . . . W. A. Tea Is Held At Bulwer

Bulwer, March 3.—Mrs. W. A. Rogers entertained at a very enjoyable tea, under the auspices of the Women's Association, at her home recently. In spite of the very cold, stormy weather, there was a good attendance.

A business meeting was held with the president, Mrs. Leslie Richardson in the chair. The meeting opened with a short devotional period in charge of Mrs. W. S. Laberee. This included a two minutes silence in memory of the late King.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved, but owing to the absence of the treasurer, no treasurer's report was given.

Letters were read from several in the community, who had been remembered by the Cheer Committee, and a number of bills were ordered paid. Mrs. Stuart Merrill was welcomed as a new member. It was decided to serve a large supper in May in place of the usual small monthly suppers. A penny sale, with Miss Alice Hill acting as auctioneer, was held. At the close of the afternoon tea was served by Mrs. Rogers, who was assisted in serving by Miss Alice Hill and Mrs. E. H. Parker.

Travel Talk Given Rotary At Boundary

Derby Line, March 3.—"In crossing the international boundary at least five times during this trip I encountered only one young officer who seemed to be suffering from a gastric ulcer," said Dr. Carl Harris, of Magog, in the course of a most interesting and very humorous account of a trip from his home in Magog to Milwaukee, Wis., and thence to the Canadian West. The talk was given Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary, held at the Del Monty Hotel. President David Goodsell presided. Dr. Harris was on his way to a veterinary convention in Milwaukee at the time of crossing the boundary, as mentioned above, and said that the officer was a young one who evidently felt the need of being very official. "It was so different from the other times we crossed the border," said the speaker, "that it was a real contrast. Usually we were handled pleasantly and in a very friendly manner, as is always the case locally. "Montana seemed like the real west of the cowboy movies and novels. There was a genuine western atmosphere that was apparent in the people and the scenery. It was during this trip that I got my first view of the Mississippi River, and luckily there was a stern-wheeler present. It reminded me of the scene in 'Steamboat Round the Bend' where Will Rogers was asked if he had seen the New Moses, and replied, 'No, we haven't even seen the old Moses.'" Dr. Harris' talk was liberally sprinkled with genuine humor, and proved to be interesting and informative as well. He was introduced by V. A. Davis, who mentioned that the speaker was related to the late R. Rush Harris and that he had been a student at Derby Academy. He was thanked for his talk by V. B. Griffith. Music for the singing was played by Miss Aline Ricard, and the singing led by C. R. MacLean. Present as visiting Rotarians were Myron Clapper, Doulph Loukes and Karl Page, Jr., of Newport. Leonard Auger, of Magog, was present as a visitor. The meeting next Monday evening will feature speakers from the sophomore class speaking group of Derby Academy.

Cherry River Holds Meeting

Cherry River, March 3.—The February meeting of the Cherry River Women's Institute was held with Mrs. Merrill Whittier. The meeting opened in the usual manner with Club Women's Creed and salute to the flag. The roll call was answered with, "Why I would like to be a W.I. President."

There were six members present, two visitors and three children. Three letters were read, one from county secretary, telling about county meeting held at Lennoxville, one from England, letter of thanks for parcel sent at Christmas, a letter for donation for Watt Memorial from Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Austin Buzzell and Mrs. Desmond Hornett were asked to audit the books. A contest was put on, guessing number of pennies in a jar and won by Mrs. Austin Buzzell. Refreshments were served after meeting had adjourned. Next meeting is to be held with Mrs. Yvonne Powers.

Canned Music Is Restored In Grills Here

The thin wedge to crack open the ban on entertainment in local grills has been inserted. Friday afternoon, Sherbrooke hotel owners received word by telephone from Quebec Liquor Commission offices in Montreal saying it was now permissible to play music boxes and radios in the local grills. Friday night the canned music began to play in local bars for the first time since the Provincial edict silenced them just before the joyous Yuletide season. The Commission gave no indication when "live" entertainment would be restored to the grills. Perhaps they are waiting for the end of this somber Lenten period.

She told about Beirut, a city of bustling traffic where donkeys and camels are found on the main streets beside the most modern American cars.

There are no hovels in the villages of Lebanon, Mrs. Savage said. Houses are built of white stone and are colorful and clean-looking with their colored roofs and shutters.

Impressive Anniversary Services Held By Sherbrooke Baptist Church

In a church beautifully decorated with spring flowers, and the bright sun of a glorious March morning streaming in through the windows and reflecting the Greater Sun of Righteousness, the Baptists and their friends from many surrounding points gathered yesterday to celebrate the 80th anniversary of the Sherbrooke Baptist Church.

Dr. C. R. Duncan of Grimsby, Ont., the anniversary preacher, in the spirit of the occasion lifted the large congregation to new heights of appreciation and feeling for the church of which Jesus Christ is Lord.

Dr. Duncan reminded the people that the church was not a man-made organization but a divine, God-made society, of which man is a vital part. "People who do not attend the church desecrate it," the speaker said.

The great good news that Jesus Christ is Lord is channelled through the church, which is the instrument of God's will. The church will remain, said Dr. Duncan, until God wills to take it out of the world.

Referring to Prime Minister Churchill's Ottawa speech in which he said the greatest phenomenon in the world today is the Commonwealth of the British Empire, Dr. Duncan went on to point out a yet greater commonwealth, the commonwealth of God.

There are many national anthems and Commonwealths but one great unifying song, "God Save the Queen." Likewise, the preacher said, there are many individual and denominational expressions of the Christian commonwealth, but one great unifying song, "Jesus Christ is Lord."

Dr. Duncan then went on to develop his theme from the words of St. Paul in his letter to the Ephesians, chapter two, verses 19 to 22, suggesting that the church is a family of God, a building of God, built upon the sure and only foundation, Jesus Christ, and made up of living stones, a structure in which God condescends to dwell.

Rev. O. L. Davidson, pastor of the church, conducted the worship period. The anniversary prayer was given by Rev. D. W. Terry, a former pastor, and now home missions representative of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec in the province of Quebec. The choir under the direction of Mrs. E. A. Salter, with Mrs. C. Wright Gibson organist rendered special music. Mrs. Elsie Hough was the guest soloist.

The evening gathering was one of those happy occasions which, over the years have become a part of the United Protestant Christian witness in the community, with the ministers of Plymouth, Trinity, and Sangster United and the St. Andrew's Presbyterian churches in attendance, and co-operating in the 80th anniversary services of the Baptists.

The Trinity United Church Choir under the direction of Professor Havard and with Mrs. R. Bell at the organ rendered special music and demonstrated in their willing service that there is a tie that binds all Protestants together in common purpose and like fellowship.

This evening the members and friends of the Baptist Church will gather for the annual anniversary supper. Following the supper hour Dr. Duncan will address the gathering on the subject "Digging Wells or Building Monuments." Rev. D. W. Terry and the other ministers present will bring greetings.

The importance of having young people on committees and boards of Y.W.C.A.'s was emphasized Saturday by Mrs. J. L. Savage, O.B.E., national president, who addressed the annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Y.W.C.A.

Mrs. Savage's advice was given during an address in which she told about the Y.W.C.A. World Council meeting in Lebanon last fall, at which she was one of five Canadian delegates present.

She remarked that the Y.W.C.A. does not like to be known as just a "worthy organization" as it has many attributes in addition to worthiness for which it should be known.

There is criticism, she said, that the Y.W.C.A. is "dull" and one way of overcoming this is to bring young people into the organization.

When your young people leave to get married or for some other such reason, bring them back into the Association as committee members. Older women are needed, too, for only they have the time to give to the Association, but "keep the younger ones as well."

Mrs. Savage's address, before a large audience at the MacKinnon Memorial building, was the highlight of the meeting which was presided by Mrs. Ben C. Howard re-elected as president. The only officer change was the election of Mrs. John Allen, 2nd vice-president, as 1st vice-president, and election of Mrs. Carl Skinner as 2nd vice-president.

Mrs. E. B. Sims, Mrs. C. Pyke, Mrs. George Ewing, Mrs. H. R. Barker and Mrs. R. M. Spearing became Board members.

Red Cross Drive Seeks $10,000 In Sherbrooke

March, the Red Cross Campaign month has arrived and with it, an objective of 10,000 has been set before Sherbrooke residents. Thanks to the Red Cross and thanks to each and every contributor, a tremendous humanitarian program was carried out in the past year, despite the fact that this Province did not reach its last Campaign objective.

The Provincial goal this year is $1,000,000, twenty per cent less than last year. But the total subscribed last year barely reached $853,000.

It must however, be remembered that the Blood Transfusion Service is being expanded to cover more and more hospitals and to supply more and more blood for Canada's Armed Services.

The Disaster Services are being adapted from a peace-time relief organization to a huge network of Civil Defence protection.

With the constant growth of the Province's population area, the demands on the other Red Cross Services keep increasing from year to year.

Final Tribute Is Paid To J. P. Laine

Impressive tribute was paid on Saturday to Jean-Paul (Mike) Laine, popular sports editor of La Tribune, who passed away suddenly at his home last week.

In his 38th year, the deceased had been employed by the French language daily for the past fourteen years and during that period had proved himself an excellent newspaperman in all fields and particularly sports.

He established a fine reputation also among his conferees of the newspaper world, to whom his death brings a deep personal loss.

Born in Sherbrooke, the son of Michael A. Laine and Maria Beauregard, he was educated at the Central School, St. Charles Seminary, the Seminary of St. Hyacinthe, and later at Mont Saint Louis. He enrolled in the faculty of medicine at Laval, intended for a while at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, and finally decided on a journalism career. This was interrupted by the Second World War when he served in the Canadian Army.

The long funeral cortege left his late residence, 5 Elizabeth Street, at 9 a.m., and proceeded along Montreal, Queen, Wolfe, Belvidere and Marquette Streets to St. Michael's Cathedral. Two cars laden with floral tributes testified to the respect and esteem in which the young newspaperman was held by his large circle of friends.

Under the direction of Marcel Marcotte, the Sherbrooke Harmony Band led the cortege, followed by a detachment of officers from Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke. Among them were Lieut.-Col. Charles Codere, Major Paul E. Genest, Major E. Pelletier, Major Andre Cloutier and Major P. Marcoux; Captain Lucien Turcotte, Captain Marcel Dufresne, Captain Andre Laberge and Captain Roland Savoie; Lieutenants P. Blais, Pierre Beaudry, Henry Leonard and Paul Laflamme.

Leading the mourners was Alphe Gauthier, manager of La Tribune, and the entire staff attended the service.

Honorary bearers were Jean-Marcel Renaud, city Editor of La Tribune, Louis C. O'Neil and Amede Gaudreault, of the editorial staff; Ivan Dugre, coach of the St. Francis Hockey team, and president of the Sherbrooke Baseball Club; Donat Girouard and Philippe Letourneau, of the printing department.

Bearers were Jean-Louis Gauthier, director of programs at CHLT; Francois Bailly, publicist; Len O'Donnell, sports editor of the Record; Henry Delorme, Fernand Joyal and Gaston Leroux, former hockey player with the Montreal Canadiens and the Sherbrooke Saints.

The body was received at the church by the Rev. L. Vaillancourt, while Rev. Claude Pelletier officiated, assisted by Rev. J. A. Sirois and Rev. Aime Doyon, as deacon and sub-deacon, respectively.

Mourners were his wife, the former Gisele Couture; father-in-law and mother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Couture; a brother, Albert Laine; two sisters, Mrs. Lucien Hebert and Miss Lucienne Laine; brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law, Lucien Hebert, Mrs. Albert Laine, Normand Couture, and Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Lemieux. He also leaves to mourn his loss a five year old daughter, Francine.

Among his uncles and aunts present were Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Paradis, of Quebec, Arthur Beauregard, Miss Eva Beauregard, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Janelle, Mr. and Mrs. Raoul Couture, of Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Aime Cote, Windsor Mills; Mrs. J. T. Theriault, Mr. and Mrs. Hector Cote, Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Dussault, of Waterloo; Mr. and Mrs. John Galvin, Sherbrooke; Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Bertrand, Mr. and Mrs. Jules Couture, Mr. and Mrs. Rene Joubert, all of Sherbrooke, nephews and nieces, Mrs. Andre Laberge (Therese Hebert) Micheline, Marthe, Fernand, Louis and Julie Laine.

In addition to the Honorable J.

Established Of C. I. M. M. Branch Here Emphasizes Growth Of Mining

Emphasizing the growing importance of the mining industry in the Sherbrooke area in the past few years, representatives of the industry in this district organized a Sherbrooke branch of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy at a gathering held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel on Saturday evening.

Herbert A. Burbank, of the Canadian Ingersoll Rand Company, Sherbrooke, who acted as chairman of the organization meeting, was the unanimous choice as first president of the local branch, with the following being named as vice-presidents: Martin Stevens, Weedon Copper and Pyrite, M. J. Messel, of Hyde Park, Vt., Fred E. Hall, of Ascot Metals, and Joseph Eby, of Canadian Johns-Manville, Asbestos. Jack Nightingale, of Sherbrooke, was named secretary-treasurer.

In explaining the reasons for the formation of a Sherbrooke branch, Mr. Burbank said that the Sherbrooke branch, of which most of the local men were members, had become too cumbersome as a result of the recent growth of the base metals mining in this district and it was felt that the best interests of the industry could be served by establishing a second branch.

This view was supported by J. M. Cunningham, chairman of the Sherbrooke branch, who declared that his group lacked the facilities for holding regular gatherings at which upwards of one hundred members would attend. Therefore, he continued, the Sherbrooke branch has loaned its active support to the suggestion that the new branch be established.

S. Bourque, and Maurice Gingues, M.P. there were representatives of the various sports associations, the Intermediate and Athletic Baseball Clubs, the St. Francis and Intermediate Hockey Clubs, the various Snowshoe Clubs, Table Tennis League, the Y.M.C.A., the Tennis Association of the Eastern Townships, the Intermediate Hockey and Minor Hockey Leagues of the Eastern Townships, the Independent Hockey League of Sherbrooke, Sherbrooke Country Club, Sherbrooke Curling Club, the E.T.A.A. and many others.

The Sherbrooke Athletic Commission was represented by Emile Levesque, president, and the Provincial Baseball League by its president, Albert Molini, as well as their respective secretaries, Antonin Deslauriers and Lucien Masson.

Others attending the funeral were Ivan Saunders, general manager, D. G. Amaron, editorial director, Arnold Baron, Margaret Doherty, and R. E. Kenalty, all of the Sherbrooke Record.

As the present Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy had had its inception in Sherbrooke with the formation of the Eastern Townships Mining Association in 1898, he felt that it was but right that with renewed mining interest locally in this region, the branch be revived.

A brief history of the Canadian Institute was given by F. R. Pearson, of Lennoxville. Mr. Pearson, who has been a member of the Institute for the past 50 years, has retired from active mining and moved from Montreal to Lennoxville a few months ago. A former chairman of the finance committee of the Institute, he retains the position of honorary treasurer, a post he held for 25 years.

Support for the Sherbrooke branch was also offered by Karl V. Lindell, of Canadian Johns-Manville, who stated that he and his associates felt that they would be better served through membership in a branch here than by forming an Asbestos chapter which would be comprised essentially of one company. He promised that Johns-Manville personnel would be well represented in the new group.

M. J. Messel, Ruberoid Company's Vermont asbestos mines, representing the northern Vermont asbestos producers, said the Vermont men favored such a move and felt they could be best served by a branch in Sherbrooke.

Approximately 50 men directly and indirectly interested in Eastern Townships mining development were present at Saturday's gathering and took out membership, thus giving strong support to the hopes of the sponsors that the membership will ultimately exceed 100.

One of the first tasks to be undertaken by the new branch will be arranging for a visit here later this summer of the geological branch of the Canadian Institute, when over 150 leading Canadian geologists are expected to hold a convention in the Townships.

Following the meeting, a buffet supper was served.

REVIVING NAZISM

The United States High Commissioner to West Germany, John J. McCloy, is gravely disturbed over that country's reviving nationalism. The feelings of Mr. McCloy will be shared by the Western World.

Unfortunately, as the history of the past century has proved so tragically, German nationalism does not stop at being a form of intensive patriotism. Actually, it inclines to a bristling militarism, and also has a penchant for being led by any mountebank who can show the way to conquest and its spoils.

Currently the level of West German armament is not high but the Germans, Mr. McCloy points out, are being appealed to by expanding movements of the Nazi pattern. Strong attempts are being made to discredit a democratic form of government.

One can see in this how much the German people were part of the old Nazism, although in the hour of defeat they were not above representing themselves as misled. That now is water over the dam. The problem is to prevent a recurrence of the "fuehrer worship" that led to trouble once before.

Unfortunately there is no way to guarantee West Germany's good behavior. The best assurance of orderly conduct rests on the Allied occupation forces of the country. But with some prospect of considerable German armament in the future, that occupation task is going to become more complicated.

EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

The purpose of Education Week is to encourage Canadians to study their educational system, discuss it and help its development. Criticism by parents, ratepayers and teachers, provided it is sincere and based upon accurate information, can make a very valuable contribution to our schools, our teaching methods and the effectiveness of education in today's changing world.

In these times of high taxes for defence and social security, and a steadily climbing cost of living, it is easy to fall into the dangerous state of taking education for granted. Education Week is a time for every citizen to clarify his or her thinking on the real purposes of education — to focus the spotlight on all its aspects and to strengthen this bulwark of our democracy.

Your interest, your ideas, your active participation are vital to the improvement of education in Canada. The home, the church, the school, the farm, industry and commerce, management and labor, all have responsibilities in this continuing process.

Education Week is Everybody's Business.

LIFE EXPECTANCY

Persons who are inclined to be pessimistic about the world and its conditions can take satisfaction out of the latest life expectancy tables. These indicate that if the present generation has more troubles than prior generations — which many are inclined to doubt — at least it will live longer to enjoy its trials and tribulations.

At the turn of the century Canadians had a life expectancy of about 52 years. By 1931 this had risen to 64 years for males and 65 for females. By 1941 it was 66 and 68 respectively. In 1951, according to statistics just published, it had become 68 for men and 70 for women.

In no era in history has there been such a dramatic increase in life expectancy. This has been despite wars; despite automobiles and their tolls; despite all the pressure of modern life. It is due largely to medical science and a standard of living which permits more and more people to obtain the benefits of medical science. And the end is not yet. Almost daily new drugs, new methods of treatment are being discovered, all of which tend to greater longevity. What has been accomplished in the past 50 years suggests what still can be achieved.

In a practical way, this extension of life's limits should mean lower insurance premiums and higher annuity rates; if the tables used accurately reflect life expectancy. It also means new problems in caring for the old, in their financial, housing, medical care and other aspects.

It's well to remember we in Canada

a fortunate people. In India and some other countries, life expectancy still is much less than it was in Canada 50 years ago.

By PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent
 Washington — (NEA) — Demands for a step-up of the war against Communist China have been causing a great deal of strategic soul-searching in the Pentagon. These demands have been made by such leaders as Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina.

Both prefaced their remarks with an expression of hope that peace can be concluded in Korea. If it can't, they want a hotter war.

"Our Air Force should be directed to seek out enemy (Chinese) bases and destroy them. Our Navy should blockade the ports of Communist China," declared Governor Byrnes at Williamsburg. And he added, "We should accept the aid of 50,000 fighting men of Nationalist China."

Senator Taft in his Seattle speech declared that a Chinese Nationalist invasion of the mainland was the only chance of stopping a Communist assault on Southeast Asia. Earlier he declared in Washington, "If the Korean peace talks break down completely, unfortunately I don't see any choice except to fight an all-out war against Red China."

One proposal has been to change President Truman's order which placed the U.S. Seventh fleet in the straits between Formosa and the Chinese mainland, to neutralize the Nationalist Chinese-held island base.

All such sentiments, however, follow up on General Douglas MacArthur's advocacy of bombing Chinese bases north of the Yalu River, in Manchuria.

Democratic Senators charge GOP wants "Taft War"

These proposals have drawn sharp counter-charges from such Democratic politicians as Senator Kerr of Oklahoma, Ellender of Louisiana, Sparkman of Alabama, Magnuson of Washington and Moody of Michigan. They charge the Republicans, principally, with wanting to start a "Taft war" against Red China.

What therefore should be considered as a purely military and foreign policy question has become a political campaign issue.

No high military authority approached by this writer has been willing to discuss these things on the record. All want to stay away from any political fight. For background, however, they point out some of the military factors in this argument:

1. Assume the U.S. Seventh fleet is withdrawn from the 80-mile wide Formosa straits and an attack on China mainland is launched by Chinese Nationalist troops. They will have to be carried across the water in American ships. They will have to be supplied with American weapons, ammunition and rations.

2. The growth of Chinese Communist air power must be considered. It was estimated at about 1,000 planes last June. It was zero a year before. Today it is about 1,700 planes, of which 900 are jets.

The point is made that if the U.S. Seventh fleet were withdrawn, Formosa would be a "sitting duck" target for Communist aircraft. The Chinese Nationalist air force would be no match. The only alternative would be to protect the island by American air power.

3. The question of where this extra American air power would come from merits some consideration. The U.S. Air Force expansion program has now been cut down — or rather stretched out.

Air Aid To Chiang Would Jeopardize U.S. Security

Its present goal is to have a 143-wing air force on hand by 1954, or maybe 1955. This is considered sufficient to provide a counter-offensive striking force in case of enemy attack, plus an adequate U.S. air defense. No reserves are provided for.

If U.S. air power is dissipated in other wars, this build-up of air strength will be destroyed. The alternative here is a much bigger U.S. Air Force, in a hurry, at multi-billion dollar cost.

4. If U.S. bombing of Manchuria and Red China does become necessary and is ordered, considerable damage can be inflicted. Air, bases, ports, railroads and other strategic targets could be attacked.

The Communists' main production centers would not, however, be reached by these attacks. These factories are not in Manchuria, nor in Red China. They are in Russia. It might, therefore, take a bombing attack on the Soviet to destroy Red China's war potential.

5. Finally, there is widespread belief that if any attack is made on Red China, Soviet Russia would automatically be brought into the Korean War as a full-scale participant. This mutual aid and full military assistance is provided in the Mao-Stalin pact of 1950. This would mean the start of World War III.

BURDEN ON THE CITIES

Peterborough has now to undertake the care and repair of a couple of miles of Highway 7 at the south end of the city; a good chunk of Highway 7 at the north end, another mile or so of Highway 28 and Highway 28 southwest. The Department of Highways pays not a cent directly towards keeping these roads up. It is for this reason that highway entrances and exits in towns are often allowed to deteriorate.

An example most Peterborough drivers know has been the deplorable state of No. 2 through Bowmanville. Why should Bowmanville be charged with keeping it up, even if part of it is its main street? Most of the heavy traffic bounces through the town without stopping.

Similarly, in Peterborough, there is a great deal of through traffic on Lansdowne street—but Peterborough must keep the road in repair.

WHY HUNTERS GET SHOT

Brookville Recorder and Times
 This week we had a bit of a local stir on the St. Lawrence river. A deer was seen floundering on the ice flows about 500 yards from the Canadian shore.

Two members of the Brockville police force equipped with poles and a light punt went out on the treacherous ice to rescue the stricken animal. Comments were heard from spectators on the shore: "He's a buck all right, you can see his rack of horns"; another, "you can see his head moving all right, must be a deer"; and yet another, "the way he's waving his legs and head you can see he's badly hurt," and so on.

The police returned empty-handed. The "deer" was nothing but a big piece of "dark tar paper flapping in the breeze."
 It is far too easy to "see" a deer, if you really want to see a deer whether the animal is actually there or not. And this is precisely why every year far too many hunters shoot each other.

THE POINT OF VIEW

Into an old watch-tinkers shop
 I stepped the other day
 And as I turned to leave it
 I ventured this to say,

"I would think that all this ticking, Sir,
 Would drive you quite insane!"
 And the teaching in his answer
 Was a jewel, fit to frame.

"I do not mind the noise a bit,
 Because you see," said he,
 "The silence of the dumb ones
 Is what's distracting me."

The axiom in his reply,

Britons Bank On Prince Philip To Handle Difficult Job Well

By COLIN FROST
 London — A blond young athlete with a ready smile is settling down to the toughest job Britain has to offer. And the British people, although unsure what the job entails, are certain he'll make the grade.

The man is Philip, 30-year-old Duke of Edinburgh. The job is Prince Consort to a reigning Queen.

Philip as yet has no legal status beyond that of an ordinary husband. His role in state affairs must be largely unofficial. Even his title has prompted speculation.

Only his wife, Queen Elizabeth II, can decide Philip's share in her great burden.

British commentators trying to forecast Philip's role have brought out the history books to see how Queen Victoria shared her job with Prince Albert. But history hasn't helped much.

Both Philip and Albert were foreign-born. Albert was a German and Philip a Greek. The similarity ends there.

Albert came to Britain a stranger, misunderstood and misunderstood. He hardly spoke the language. Much of the country mistrusted him.

Only after his death did Britons realize that Albert's wisdom in state councils had spurred the Victorian age to prosperity, only then did they call him Albert the Good.

Philip came to his new job well-known and well-liked by the British people. He has the right background—a British upbringing, a

The Record Short Story

COWPOKE GETS AN ASSIST

By DENIS MORRISON

I was sitting in the box with Sam Smith and his wife while the horses were parading to the post for the seventh race. It was one of those midweek stakes features for fillies and mares. Sam had his glasses on the thoroughbreds. He was a tall, gangling Texan, straight as a ramrod, with a tall, wide-brimmed Stetson, diamonds on his fingers, diamond shirtbuttons, and a specially made belt with a lot more diamonds worked into it.

He took the glasses from his eyes and turned to his wife. "Bluebonnet," he said, "Alamo is dead set on me buyin' that No. 4 filly, the little chestnut with the white blaze on her forehead. Do you reckon I should ought to?"

"Well," said Bluebonnet Smith, "if that boy of ours is anything like his pappy, and he really wants it, he only waded me away. 'This deal,' he said, 'is strictly between friends, we'll make terms later.'"

It was in the early spring of the year and a bitter, dank, nasty day like you can find in North Texas, with the chilly wind blowin'. The more I wandered over that land the less I figured anything could be done with it. Man would have to put a dollar's worth of back-breakin' labor into it for every nickel he'd take out.

About mid-afternoon I stopped and lit me a pipe to cook some vittles. I gathered some mesquite and brush and struck a match to it. What impressed me was the way that stuff flared up and burned with a steady black-smoky fire so when the time come I could hardly put it out. My petroleum engineering education says to me, this might probly mean oil.

Well, saying nothing to nobody, I took stock and found out I had no money. My land payment was near due but I thought, why let it go until I make sure?

Next day I belined to the MacElwhinney home ranch where you got to drive forty miles from the main gate to the house, and I found my girl Bluebonnet and that Willie Brooks drinkin' lemonade by the swimming pool. Which did not set good.

(At this point Bluebonnet Smith was heard to titter.)
 I laid my business in front of Bluebonnet's pappy. I told him I was certain the oil was there. I said I had to have money to drill well and set in a rig and put up a derrick. He listened and he said to me:

"Sam," he said, "I've knowed you all my life, I and your old man worked together to build up this ranch, but I want to tell you one thing, son, money you get by just comin' askin' for it would never benefit you in the long run, because it would be too easy got. Now you think you've hit oil. All right, if you got oil down under there, go find it, but do it on your own."

I knew better than to push him. Nobody pushed Old Mac Elwhinney. On my way out Bluebonnet hailed me and I went over to the pool and she poured me a lemonade. I told her and Willie Brooks what I was up against. Bluebonnet said:

"Willie, why don't you let Sam have one of those drilling rigs you've got down there by Odessa?" Brooks started asking her questions and before he got through he knew the whole situation. "My boys," he told me, "you haven't got a worry in the world. I'll have the drilling set up on your property as quick as I can get the stuff trucked up there."

I inquired how about terms and we're amused by his lighter encounters.

 He is a good dancer. He can discard Royal Protocol when he thinks necessary.
 Philip's public life now that his wife is Queen is likely to follow the pattern of the last few years. He will still be the good-humored shadow, ready to lend a quick hand when the Queenly course gets tricky.

Behind the scenes Philip is likely to run the Royal household and estates for his wife. If he does, Palace sources say, he will probably shake up the costly routine of court life, little changed since Albert gave it a going over some two centuries ago.
 The aim will be to save money.

I'd taken a few days off and drove up to have a look at my section of land. Was a payment comin' due and had I to make up my mind because I was of a mind to do a series sparkin' of Bluebonnet MacElwhinney and that was gonna require some. I hardly saw how I could carry my land and my girl on my back, especially since there was a young blood name of Willie Brooks that had the same ideas about her that I had, and a lot more to carry on with in the way of ready money.

So the rig got there and we set it up on the spot where I'd built my fire. The roughnecks in the crew were all crazy about what they saw. They said I was sitting right on another Spindletop. We were ready to spud in when Willie Brooks drove up in his shiny car with Bluebonnet beside him. He said: "I got a paper here for you to sign, Smith."

The paper said Brooks was to receive 70% of any oil we found. I hollered: "Look here, Brooks, you're crazy. For the rent of a rig I sign away 70%?" He said: "I got another paper here, Smith. Here's your mortgage, which I bought yesterday, and I'm foreclosing day after tomorrow unless you pay up. Which it don't look like you're gonna do. You are over a barrel, Smith, and it's my barrel. You'd better sign in both these papers and recognize that I'm good to you to let you in."

Now my girl Bluebonnet has a head on her, no dummy. While I am contemplating kicking the sats out of this Brooks she comes running. She says to Willie Brooks: "Willie, who does this rig belong to?"
 "Why," he says, "it's mine, of course."
 "Tell me, then, how is it I find a plate there under the windlass that has stamped on it, 'Property of B. W. Exploration Co.'?"
 He had no answer so Bluebonnet went on: "Just happens that's my own personal outfit, Willie. The B. W. stands for Bluebonnet MacElwhinney, and we have been wonderin' who was stealin' our wild-cattin' outfits 'Sam," she says to me, "got right on and drill and don't worry about Willie's mortgage, he'll be lucky to stay out of jail."

The horses were galloping down the stretch. The chestnut had the front and was drawing out. Young Alamo Smith looked at her with yearning eyes as she crossed the finish line.

Bluebonnet MacElwhinney fished in her pocket and handed him a bunch of yellow mutual tickets. "The filly closed at 18 to 1, son," she said. "Cash these in and go buy her." Alamo said: "Mom!" And Bluebonnet said: "Never mind, boy, I was a long shot filly myself once."

OLD TRICK IS STILL VALUABLE TODAY

The approach of the Eastern Championships, which will be held in New York towards the end of this month, reminds me that I'm not quite the youngster I used to be. This annual tournament was first held in 1929, and I had the good fortune to win it that year, playing with the late George Reith as my partner.

Bridge hasn't changed so much in twenty-three years as we sometimes think. For example, consider one of the hands that we played in that first Eastern.

Most pairs got to four spades with the South hand, but many of them found a way to throw the game out of the window.

The careless declarer would ruff the second club, cash two top diamonds and lead a third diamond to ruff it in dummy. This allowed West to step up with the jack of spades to over-ruff dummy. Now South still had to lose a heart and a trump, for a one-trick set.

When George Reith played the hand, he took the simple precaution of drawing one round of trumps before he began the diamonds. After all, he needed only one of dummy's trumps to ruff a diamond, so it was sound technique to draw the other trump.

This simple safety play removed the jack of spades from the West hand. He couldn't prevent Reith from ruffing a low diamond with dummy's remaining trump, so the game contract was easily made.

To my mind, the lesson taught by this hand is just as clear today as when it was first played.

The Doctor Says

NO QUICK CURE FOR SEBORRHEA, A MAJOR CAUSE OF FALLING HAIR

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

There are many causes for falling hair, but among them is a condition known medically as seborrhea. Seborrhea is commonly divided into two varieties; one, dry seborrhea, or dandruff, and the other, oily seborrhea. Both of these conditions are more common in the scalp than elsewhere, but may extend down to the eyebrows, face, and even other parts of the body.

In oily seborrhea, the hair and scalp feel greasy and are hard to keep clean because dirt floating in the air sticks, and the hair follicles tend to clog with oil and tiny scales of skin, dirt and the like. This certainly does not make for healthy scalp or hair.

What is responsible for either form of seborrhea has not been determined. No living parasite or germ has been identified, though there are reasons to believe that some kind of infection may be at least partially at fault.

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This Syrup, at Home

You'll be surprised how quickly a bad winter cough can be relieved, when you try this well known recipe universally used throughout Canada. It's no trouble to mix, and costs but a trifle.

Into a 16 ounce bottle, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex; then fill up with granulated sugar syrup to make 16 ounces. Syrup is easily made with 2 cups of sugar and 1 cup of water, stirred a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes four times as much cough medicine for your money. Never spoils and tastes fine. Quickly you feel its penetrating effect. It loosens the phlegm, helps to clear the air passages, and soothes the irritated membranes. This explains why it brings such quick relief. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well known for its soothing effect on throat irritations. Money refunded if it does not please you in every way.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW, READY-TO-USE, PREPARED PINEX.

of seborrhea. All these can be considered as predisposing causes. There is no easy or quick cure for seborrhea. If some chronic, weakening disease is present, it should, of course, be treated. Also such conditions as anemia or constipation could be taken care of.

Other than such obvious lines of attack, treatment is aimed at improving the general health and at local treatment of the scalp and involved skin itself.

In the first category, open-air exercise and sunlight are often helpful. Tonics and nutritious food, cod-liver oil, adequate sleep, and any other measures aimed at improving the general physique are worth-while.

Remove Crusts First The local treatment of seborrhea involves first the removal of the crusts and accumulated fatty material and later use of stimulating applications. The removal of the crusts and debris at first may be accompanied by the loss of a good deal of hair.

The fatty accumulations are first soaked with some oily fluid to aid in removal. This is followed by thorough and frequent washing with soap and water.

Sulphur, resorcin, salicylic acid and mercury preparations are frequently used in the form of ointments or lotions after the removal of the scales. The condition frequently resists treatment and tends to come back unless treatment is continued for weeks or months after the skin appears to be normal.

Sew And Save Week Is Observed From March 1-8

Spring Patterns For Home Sewing Are Featured By Variety, Beauty

Patterns are the foundation of fashion in home sewing and the new spring patterns have enough variety and beauty to please everyone.

National Sew and Save Week, when stores throughout the country will highlight their sewing departments, is a good time to shop for your spring sewing requirements. If you are an inexperienced sewer you'll find it especially helpful. For during Sew and Save Week most stores will offer many valuable services to the home sewer such as sewing classes, fashion shows and cutting services. In several cities pattern company stylists will be on hand to answer questions and to help you straighten out any sewing problems you may encounter.

If you haven't done much sewing it's a good idea to choose an easy pattern. Some particularly simple-to-sew patterns are designed each season by the various pattern companies for the benefit of beginners. These special styles are marked in the catalogues and on the pattern envelopes.

Patterns, today, are much easier to work with than the patterns of several years ago. The directions and construction drawings are clearer, the printed pattern markings facilitate your work and the longer lists of fabric suggestions make it easier for you to choose your material.

You'll find marked on the pattern envelope also, a list of notions you'll need. By the way, while we're on the subject of notions here's a word to the wise. It will save you time and trouble if you shop for your threads, zipper, buttons, shoulder pads, etc., at the same time as you buy your material. One trip to the store to buy your pattern, material and your notions and you have everything on hand. No waiting around to finish your dress because you haven't had a minute to get downtown for the buckle and buttons you need.

COWANSVILLE

Emmanuel Auxiliary held a very successful food sale and afternoon tea in the church parlours.

Much sympathy is expressed for Mrs. Steeves in the death of her daughter, Mrs. K. Ford. Her sister, Mrs. Smith, of Montreal, is spending some time here with her.

Mrs. G. Fee entertained the W.M.S. at the parsonage, with an attendance of fourteen members. Mrs. G. Scott led the devotional period.

Mrs. K. Eldridge reviewed a chapter in the study book. The president, Mrs. W. D. Smith presented Mrs. Nancy Steele, with a Bible, in appreciation of her faithful services of treasurer for eighteen years of the W.M.S. Daintly refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Childs entertained the Women's Association of the United Church one afternoon with a good attendance.

Lance Bombardier Tait Hauer of Trenton, Ont., spent a week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Hauer.

Mrs. G. Barker, Miss Eleanor Barker and Mrs. J. Peacock, were in Montreal to attend the ballet.

Mr. and Mrs. Garth Dean were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dudgeon, in Montreal, for a week-end.

Mrs. Beaudry spent a day in Montreal.

Mrs. R. S. Dean entertained the Two Table Bridge Club, when Mrs. G. Scott made the high score.

LYSANDER

Mrs. Gordon Patterson and Mrs. Harold Patterson, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Patterson.

Miss Rena Melrose spent the week-end with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McCrea.

Mrs. Alger White was a Sunday guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell.

Mrs. Ivan McCrea has returned home, after spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. James Kelly and Mr. Kelly. Mr. Ivan McCrea was also a week-end guest at the Kelly home.

your bust measurement. Even if the waist and hip measurements differ slightly from your own you'll find it easier to adjust the pattern at these two points rather than through the bodice. Some ladies who are not very tall will not require quite as much material as the pattern calls for. However, don't try and guess how much less to buy. Often the pattern envelope will tell you that if the pattern is to be made two inches shorter you will require one eighth of a yard less material. So if this information is given it is quite safe to buy less than the pattern calls for. Otherwise don't play any guessing games! You'll hate yourself if you arrive home with your pattern and your material only to find that you've skimped too much and you haven't enough material to allow for the collar, cuffs and facing or to have buttons covered.

Plan to look over the wonderful range of 1952 patterns during National Sew and Save Week. You couldn't choose a better time to shop for your requirements for that spring and summer wardrobe.

Art Class At Cookshire Meets

Cookshire, March — The Art Class met in the High School with a perfect attendance. There was no actual brush work done, but Rev. P. W. Jones gave a very interesting and informative lecture.

Art is really temperament exemplified and expressed by drawings and paintings. Temperaments differ in individuals, naturally art compositions differ, to conform to the individual's tastes and perceptions.

Some artists (and art instructors) make their students feel that art is something illusive, it just can't be defined, and that few rules can be given as a guidance.

Rev. Mr. Jones prefers to differ with this attitude. He feels that almost anyone can be helped and guided by the medium of simple rules.

He proceeded to give a few rough sketches, which pointed out brush work, lines and composition, harmony, balance and rhythm. He stated that there were a number of basic compositions, which have been used by the masters of painting. With these in mind, the student has a simple working knowledge of art. As he progresses, he may be able to break any, or all, of these rules, produce his own, and still produce a good composition, but only a master could do this.

There will be slides shown at the next meeting, covering a good many of the paintings of the great artists, Corot, Turner, Rembrandt, etc.

A committee was formed to make plans for the continuation of oil painting. This committee comprises the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. Paintin, and four other ladies, Mrs. J. A. Fraser, Mrs. R. M. Elliott, Miss Mildred Waldron and Mrs. H. C. Barber.

This week the fifth book in the series, "250 Superb Pies and Pastries," has been released and you will be certain to want it for its exciting illustrations and recipe suggestions as well as its concise, easy-to-follow descriptions of how to produce these mouthwatering masterpieces. Here is a recipe that is quite out of the ordinary, and for an unusual decorative touch you might arrange orange segments on top of the custard and then sprinkle shredded coconut heavily over them, instead of the suggested topping of whipped cream.

ORANGE CHIFFON PIE
1 tablespoon unflavored gelatin

1/4 cup cold water
4 eggs separated
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup orange juice
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
1 baked Pastry Shell
1/2 recipe Whipped Cream Topping

Soften gelatin in water 5 minutes. Beat egg yolks and add 1/2 cup sugar, orange juice, lemon juice and salt. Cook over boiling water until of custard consistency. Add grated orange rind and softened gelatin and stir thoroughly. Cool. When mixture begins to thicken fold in stiffly beaten egg whites to which remaining 1/2 cup of sugar has been added. Fill pastry shell and chill. Spread with whipped cream topping. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

SAINTS DROP CATS TWICE TO WIN FIFTH PLAYOFF POSITION

Home Stretch Drive Pays Off For Locals; Edge Cats 3-2, 5-4 To Move Ahead Of Braves In Standing

The Sherbrooke Saints climaxed their drive for fifth position in the Quebec Senior Hockey League over the week-end when they dropped the Shawinigan Falls Cataracts by the count of 3-2 and 5-4 to edge the Braves Valleyfield by a single point in the close race.

The under-manned local squad displayed that they had plenty of fight by taking both games when the chips were down. Nils Tremblay, Bobby Pepin and Jimmy Planché missed both week-end games but the rest of the team came through with outstanding performances to win the much coveted fifth spot in the standing.

The locals will open their four-out-of-seven quarter-finals with the Montreal Royals tomorrow evening on the Forum ice with the first tilt slated at the Arena on Thursday.

On Saturday evening Bill Kyle, the rangy pivot man, was the top marksmen with two tallies while Rene Pepin accounted for the other. Yesterday afternoon Guy Labrie, Gilles Dube, Rene Pepin, Tod Campeau and Banny Smith did the scoring. The local rearguard turned in a strong game and gave Roger Bessette good support. The agile net minder was called to extend himself in the last minute of yesterday's game but he rose to the occasion when his team was short-handed with Dube sitting on the penalty bench.

Guy Labrie commenced the play in Sherbrooke's end which finished in the meshings behind Al Millar for the Saints' first tally. Rene Pepin was the trigger man on the play. Captain Labrie rifled a hard shot from the blue-line, Tod Campeau picked it up in the corner and slipped it back to Kyle and Rene Pepin was Johnny-on-the-spot to shove it into Millar.

Play kept humming back and forth and Reid came very close for the Cats but Roger Bessette turned him aside. After a couple of minutes Bill Kyle broke away from a gangling play and when Millar came out to block his shot Gilles Dube snared the rebound and slipped it back to Kyle and the light went on for the Saints' second tally within the first seven minutes of play.

Gross and Mahaffy were right in and Bessette was forced to his knees to save. Buck Buchanan gave the local net minder a real scare when he tried for the open corner but his shot just nicked the post and slid by. This line was giving the Saints plenty of trouble but they failed to click before the end of the frame.

Rene Pepin and Tod Campeau started things rolling in the middle frame when they walked right in but Millar stepped out to block off the angles and save the situation. Oakley came right back for the Cats and missed a wonderful opportunity when he screened effort went by the open corner.

Just around the half way mark Bucky Buchanan got away in the clear on a pass by Oakley and after exchanging passes with Johnny Mahaffy, waited right in to beat Bessette from close range and put the Cats back in the game. Tommy McDougall drew the nod for tripping and the Pennington squad went all out but the locals held on. The next to follow in the sin-bin was Bill Kyle for tripping. The Cataracts bounced back again and turned on the pressure and when Guy Labrie broke his stick giving the Cats a two-man advantage they had things their own way. Gross finally beat Bessette after they baited away to a good minute to knot the count 2-2.

BILL KYLE GETS WINNER

The rangy pivot man notched his second goal of the evening when he stepped out of the penalty box to snare a loose disc, which slid by one of the Cats' rearguards, to break in all alone on Millar. The Shawinigan netminder, who seemed itchy to play up forward, came way out of his nets and this time Kyle circled him and shoved the disc into the open net to give the Saints a 3-2 lead just before the gong sounded.

The final frame saw the locals still on the attack and Dube and

Jean Beliveau Takes Scoring Championship

Quebec, March 3.—(P)—Star centre Jean Beliveau scored three goals and assisted on two others Saturday night as Quebec Aces defeated Chicoutimi Saguenays 7-2 before some 12,000 Quebec Senior Hockey League fans.

Beliveau's spurge put him two points ahead of Montreal Royals' Les Douglas for the league scoring championship as both teams met in Montreal Sunday in their last scheduled game of the season.

The Saguenays' two goals by Jacques Gagnon and Norm Dussault allowed Quebec goalie Johnny Marois to strengthen his lead for the Vezeina Trophy awarded to the goalie playing the most games with the least goals scored against him.

In second place, with 178 goals, against him, is Valleyfield's Paul Leclerc, while Marois gave up 168 goals.

The other Ace's scorers were Herb Carnegie, Bill Leblanc, Claude Robert and Murdo MacKay. Carnegie's fluke goal came from a high lazy shot from centre ice that deflected on the goal post into the net.

Local Tennis Body To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Sherbrooke Tennis Association has been called for Wednesday evening, stated J. A. Turgeon, president of the group.

The meeting will take place in the Canadian Bank of Commerce, corner of Wellington and King at 8:00.

The main items on the agenda will be the election of officers and discussing the program for the coming season. During the past few years tennis has been on the increase judging from the number of tournaments which have been held and the Association is looking forward to another good year.

The group intends to lay plans to develop junior players and take part in all provincial tournaments. With the loss of baseball here this year the game should attract several newcomers to the sport and at the same time the youngsters will have more time to take part in the various tournaments.

Rockettes Sweep Limoilou Series 78-52 On Round After Second Win; Meet Verdun For Provincial Title

Everett Nicol's Rink Drops Tilt At Brookline

Quebec City, March 3.—Windsor Rockettes, champions of the E.T. Ladies' Basketball League, moved into the Provincial finals here Saturday night by defeating Lois Limolou, 30-18, the second game of the semi-final series.

The girls from Windsor Mills took the opener at home a week ago, 48-34, to sweep the series by 26 points, 78-52 on the round.

Rockettes will now meet Verdun. Fashions in a home-and-home series for the Provincial title, dates have yet to be announced. Verdun entered the finals by eliminating Montreal competition and then Shawinigan Falls in the semi-final round.

Paced by starry Hilary Watt, who scored 18 points and was a tower of strength to Perc Whitney's Windsor crew, all through the game, Rockettes took a 6-1 lead in the first quarter, faltered slightly in the second period to tie the score 14-14 at the half but switched their style of play in the last half to keep Limoilou to an amazing low of only four points combined for the third and fourth quarters.

Six carloads of Windsor fans, exclusive of the team, made the trip to the capitol to take in the game, and the lobby of the Chateau Frontenac before and after the contest looked like "old home week" for the folks from the Paper Town.

The fans from Windsor more than made themselves heard in cheering the Rockettes to their series sweep before a capacity crowd at the Limoilou gymnasium.

Rockettes were without Jean Westgate, one of their first-stringers, who sprained her ankle in a practice session during the week. As a result, Miss Watt had not only to play her regular center position to perfection but took over as right forward and spelled at guard as well. She turned in a first-rate job at each position in playing her best game of the year and, mind you, she took the individual scoring title of the E.T. League.

Sally Butler turned in another outstanding guard performance on behalf of the visiting team and contributed seven points on the

Stanstead Home And School Holds Meeting

Rock Island, March 3. — The Border Home and School Association met recently at Centenary Church Hall, Stanstead, with the president, Harold Cass, in the chair.

Leonard McGillon, treasurer, opened the business session with the financial statement, reporting that to date, supplementary dinners had been served three days a week for 13 weeks, at a cost of $138.46, excluding transportation. This transportation expense, however, of the hot dishes from the home of Mrs. Lawrence Simoneau in West Park to the school is being carried by the Tomifobia Women's Institute. With a balance on hand of $203 this project will be continued until Easter vacation.

A letter was then read by Mrs. Warren Soutiere from the Home and School Federation of Quebec stating that the annual conference will be held on May 9, and 10, at the Windsor Hotel, in Montreal. To this meeting, Mrs. I. Lemon agreed to go as a delegate, while Mrs. W. B. Dustin and Mrs. George Hatch were named to accompany.

Mrs. Hugh McClary and Mrs. W. B. Dustin each submitted reports concerning the Red Cross grant, that is to be used toward kitchen equipment for the new school.

Considerable discussion was given to the distribution of a circular letter among the students to determine the number interested in school dinners and the decision was that the committee should have them sent out.

Mrs. Leonard McGillon raised the question who was to be responsible for the dinner project, the School Board or the Home and School? This will be further discussed at the next meeting. Mr. Lawrence Tilton of the School Board addressed the group and stated he hoped the Home and School would, with the help of North Stanstead and Tomifobia Institutes, be responsible for the first couple of years at least, as at the present, the board was carrying a heavy load in the building of the school. The Home and School parents attending banner was won by Grade VII of the Academy and Grade II of the Elementary.

President Cass referred to the fine "School of the Week" broadcast over CFCF station, which was recorded at Stanstead College. The program was of variety made up of the brass quartet, debating, interviews and a fine description of the setting of the school among the rolling hills of the Eastern Townships.

Dr. E. C. Amaron, college principal, announced the program of education week, which commences on Tuesday, when a debate will be held at Centenary Church Hall. It is open to the public. On Wednesday, there will be open house of the schools, when all parents and friends are invited to visit the classes, and will include afternoon tea at 3:30 at the domestic science room in the college. Friday afternoon, the recital will take place and is open to the public, at Centenary Church Hall. Saturday Bugbee business will be open to all parents and friends.

A motion was made that president Cass name a nominating committee to present a slate of officers, for the annual meeting, to be held in April.

New Elizabethan Era Seen Wielding Wide Influence In Styles

By MURIEL NARRAWAY

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London.—Pondering on fashion in the new Elizabethan era, British writers forecast that dresses worn by Queen Elizabeth II, like those of her ancestor, "Good Queen Bess," will affect clothes trends—but on a far wider scale.

Whereas the first Elizabeth influenced only court styles, the new Queen's sense of fashion will be reflected at all levels of society.

After the Canadian tour, women in all parts of Britain and the Commonwealth discussed and envied the rich velvet coats, slim tailored suits and glittering crinoline gowns worn by Elizabeth.

These were recorded with beauty of detail in such epics as the Canadian tour film, "Royal Journey."

Styles worn by Elizabeth on many important occasions have been in production within the month—and sold at prices acceptable to the general public. Such things as the coat and hat she wore to leave London on her honeymoon were reproduced and sold by the hundred, on home and overseas markets.

Taking into consideration the increased elegance and maturity of the Queen's styles since her marriage, fashion writers incline to think Elizabeth will play an even greater role as fashion leader, Edna McKenna of the Daily Graphic says that styles worn during the Canadian tour may start "a revival of essentially feminine clothes."

Like her ancestor of the earlier Elizabethan era, Elizabeth loves the glittering femininity of jewel-encrusted crinoline ball gowns that give a sparkle to formal state occasions. And with true femininity she shows preference for the graceful sweep of Princess lines that effectively emphasize her 23-inch waist.

The Canadian wardrobe included many such styles. One outstanding example was the olive-green velvet coat with nipped-in waist and swinging skirt fullness.

The Queen has already set her seal on more than one current fashion favorite. She was the first of the Royal family to wear shorter evening styles. Ballet-length dresses formed part of both the Canadian and Australian tour wardrobes.

In the early days of her reign, observations on the Queen's fashion sense were based partly on clothes worn in Canada. So far, the would-be Australian wardrobe remains a secret aboard the Gothic. It is expected, however, that the clothes will be flown to London for wear in June when court mourning is ended.

But the more elaborate of these styles are unlikely to be worn for some time. The summer choice is expected to feature delicate half-shades with a smattering of white and black. The Queen has shown a preference for black on other occasions than court mourning.
