KNOCKOUT ATTACK AGAINST JAP OIL GROWS

Stranglehold On Japs Grows

By DEWITT MACKENZIE,
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Analyst.

The old Shoguns are rattling their swords and playing the smash-buckler amidst all the setting of a buzz-saw melodrama as the Allied D-Day for Japan approaches—that is, it would be melodramatic if so many terrible actualities weren't involved.

We have something here that has come out of the Middle Ages, but it's not Gilbert and Sullivan opera. Despite touches of grim humor, there's no laugh in it, for the lives of Allied fighting-men are at stake.

The Japanese Government tells us of an invasion of the homeland will be resisted by every man and woman to the death. The Mikado's captains also threaten us with secret suicide weapons.

Well, what's the answer to that? First, we can see the threats as representing the intention of the war-lords. It isn't bluff. We know that there are many Japanese men and women who are ready to make suicidal defence of the homeland. We know, too, that the Japanese have developed secret weapons, for recently several of them have come into action, including a new type of rocket bomb.

So Tokyo's garish announcements are in fact, based on some truth and plenty of determination. However, the important point to consider is whether they will be able to implement their determination—to make good their threats.

The Japanese Domei Agency has told its public that planes based on Okinawa are opening the battle for air supremacy over the southern home island of Kyushu, but that this is only a "feint" to draw the decisive battle of the Japanese homeland.

That's a fair estimate, so far as it goes. It's only a glimpse of the truth, however, for Japan is going to be hit with a hurricane of bombing which will destroy her unless she surrenders. Secret weapons and suicidal tactics, which work on the earth's surface, won't be effective against Superforts.

Moreover—and this is highly important—Nippon is virtually isolated by sea and air blockades, not only from her vital supplies in Indonesia but from the continent. She is being garroted.

Tokyo boasts that Japanese war industries are being shipped to Manchuria. That's a lie, because the Allies control the seas. Some industries were moved to Manchuria a considerable time ago—but not these days.

The Mikado's home domains are surrounded and have no way of escape.

Decatur, Ga., June 30.—(AP)—Bridge club ladies showed up at the neighborhood butcher shop with cards and scorepads and calmly sat down in the midst of a crowd of shoppers for their regular session while the butcher awaited his weekly meat shipment.

San Francisco, June 30.—(AP)—Radio Tokyo said today several U.S. destroyers and minesweepers made a coastal reconnaissance of Okinawa and about 275 miles south of Japan's southernmost island of Kyushu.

Superforts Attacking New Target

Heavy Explosives Used in Major Attack Against Leading Oil Refinery on Home Islands.

Guam, June 30.—(AP)—The B-29 knockout campaign against oil plants on Japan was extended last night to the eighth rich target.

Raiding the enemy homeland for the second time in one day, nearly fifty Superforts bombed the Kudamatsu Lil refining plant with high explosives. The plant, Nippon's fourth largest, is on the inland sea coast of southwest Honshu.

(Tokyo radio, in a broadcast heard by the American Broadcasting Company, said at noon the same day B-29's raided the southwest area of Hokkaido island and one was damaged by interceptors.

(The Federal Communications Commission heard Tokyo today say that last night ten "large enemy planes" sowed mines in the north Honshu harbors of Niigata and Sakata.)

The raid at Kudamatsu followed a pre-dawn strike Friday by nearly 500 Superforts at the big naval base of Saebao and two other port cities on Kyushu and the industrial city of Okayama on Honshu which started such big fires they cast a glow through obscuring clouds.

The Kudamatsu strike was the fourth Superfort raid on Japan in a week during which sorties of the big bombers approached 1,100.

Manila, June 30.—(AP)—The Allied fleet of Balikpapan, Borneo, is increasing in size, Tokyo Radio said today, and now includes 41 ships plus "several" transports—twice the size reported by the enemy two weeks ago.

Under cover of "furious bombardments" aerial small craft approach more to carry out "close and careful reconnaissance," related the Dopei dispatch, monitored by the Federal Communications Commission.

The broadcast was unconfirmed although headquarters acknowledged today that guns of "light naval units" have taken up the bombardment of the oil-rich eastern Borneo coast.

The steady red glow of mounting flames at Balikpapan undoubtedly is not due entirely to attacks, however. The enemy doubtless has been sabotaging oil wells there as he did at Seria and Miri, North Borneo.

Oil wells on recaptured Tarakan, off Borneo's east coast, already are pumping fuel into Allied storage tanks—two months after D-Day. In the Davao area of Mindanao, the first sizeable haul of Japanese civilians surrendered to American troops. Associated Press Correspondent Richard Bergholz in a dispatch from Eighth Army headquarters said 75 Japanese women and children walked into American lines to be interned. Whether they have

Smuts Repudiates Reports Of Appointment To Rideau Hall

By FRANK FLAHERTY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, June 30.—Prime Minister Smuts of South Africa leaves by air today on the record lap of his journey from the San Francisco United Nations Conference to his native country in which he has fought for and against the British Empire.

The veteran statesman left four clear messages for the Canadian people and the peoples of other countries in talks to the Canadian Club and at a press conference:

1. Preparedness is necessary to peace—there must be no repetition of the disarmament which followed the First Great War;

2. Particularly in Europe, the mother continent of civilization—wars come from errors in men's souls more than from economic causes;

3. All young men should receive training not necessarily military, but such as to teach them to carry themselves properly, respect their bodies and be prepared for life in a dangerous world;

4. Regional groups of nations within the world organization can step in to enforce peace where and if the central organization fails because of the veto power accorded the five big powers and the British Commonwealth as the oldest and most successful regional group.

In his visit of a day and a half to the Canadian capital Field Marshal Smuts was guest of the Governor-General and Princess Alice at Rideau Hall. He knew them well since the Earl of Athlone was Governor-General of South Africa before coming to Canada.

Justly, with the remark, "You would not want a Methuselah," he dismissed rumors that he might be asked to or become the next Governor-General of Canada.

The busy programme wedged in a day and a half visit included a long talk with Prime Minister Mackenzie King at Laurier House. There the two senior statesmen of the British Commonwealth exchanged views on the problems of the post-war world.

In his argument about the importance of preparedness the South African Prime Minister said it had now been demonstrated that nations, like individuals, could go mad. Germany had gone mad. He did not urge preparedness against any particular enemy. He did not know who the enemy might be but it was a dangerous world, a world on the move and men should be prepared.

U.S. PRESIDENT CONGRATULATES GEN. MACARTHUR

Kansas City, June 30.—(AP)—President Truman yesterday congratulated Gen. MacArthur on the successful redemption of his pledge to free the Philippines and predicted that a powerful base being established in the liberated islands would play a vital part in the final knockout blow against Japan.

Earlier, he began work on an appeal he will send to the Senate Monday for immediate ratification of the United Nations Peace Charter.

Between visits from a second cousin and his former haberdashery store partner and a speech to a luncheon club the President signed an executive order transferring to Agriculture Secretary Clinton P. Anderson the functions of the war food administration in line with a programme to unify control over agricultural production.

The President's speech last night in which he said there would be no world peace unless the United States took the leadership was regarded by his associates as his strongest foreign policy utterance.

Experimental Model of Bristol Brabazon Will Be Taken to Canada for Special Tests to Determine Adaptability to Canadian Conditions.

By JOHN DAUPHINEE
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Bristol, England, June 30.—(C.P. Cable)—Along one wall in the huge research hangar a "mock-up" of the world's biggest landplane is taking shape—the Bristol Brabazon which is planned to carry 72 passengers non-stop from London to New York.

Sketches published recently of this Government-approved monster gave some indication of its size but to examine the half of the fuselage now completed in wood is a fantastic experience.

The Bristol type 167—it is popularly known as the Brabazon—is Lord Brabazon, former Minister of Aircraft Production, who headed the committee which accepted the de-

BITTER BATTLE BEING WAGED IN JUNCTION CITY

Chinese Forces More Than 100 Miles to Northeast of Liuchow Closing in Upon Kweilin, Where Another U.S. Air Base Was Abandoned.

By SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, June 30.—(AP)—Chinese troops fighting into wrecked and burning Liuchow captured the main airfield of the abandoned United States air base in the southern suburbs and the city's south rail station, the Chinese High Command announced today.

Heavy fighting continued in the western and northwestern suburbs of the strategic junction city, its centre destroyed by week-long fires, the Chinese said.

Other Chinese forces more than 100 miles to the northeast closed within ten miles of Kweilin, where another American air base was abandoned last November, a Chinese army spokesman said. A Chinese are being pushed forward from the north and northwest now runs within ten to eighteen miles of Kweilin, he declared.

The Chinese apparently had rewon control of virtually all the Kweilin-Kwangsi railroad, the first rail route to be regained by the Chinese since their long war started July 7, 1937.

The High Command said its troops on Thursday recaptured Lungnan and Tingnan in southwest Kiangsi province, 140 miles northeast of Canton. Both are important towns in communications linking Kiangsi and Kwangtung provinces, and they were believed to be two of the objectives in a Japanese push to smash any Chinese potential for a counter-offensive against Canton and Hong Kong.

On China's east coast, Japanese continued a retreat north of Wenzhou, with the Chinese following. The Chinese pushed north from Hwangtze, taken Tuesday, toward Ninghai, 40 miles south of Ningpo, believed to be the objective of the withdrawing enemy.

Meanwhile, a Chinese army spokesman declared there were no signs that the Japanese were abandoning the "rice bowl" area near Lake Tungting east of Chungking. In fact, there were indications, he said, that the Japanese were reinforcing this area to guard their Hankow-Hong Kong corridor.

NEW U.S. ARMY APPOINTMENT
Washington, June 30.—(AP)—General Jacob L. Devers will command the army ground forces in place of General Joseph W. Stilwell, the War Department announced last night.

Gen. Stilwell has taken over command of the 10th army on Okinawa, succeeding Lt.-Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, who was killed in action.

World News In Brief

Ottawa, June 30.—(P)—Prince Abdul Ilah, Regent of Iraq, and his party arrived in Ottawa last night for a two-day visit to the capital and were met at the station by the Governor-General, Princess Alice, Prime Minister Mackenzie King and high-ranking military officials.

The Prince, pro-tem ruler of some 3,000,000 inhabitants of Iraq, came from Toronto in a Government railway car. He will be the guest of the Governor-General at Rideau Hall during his Ottawa visit and tomorrow night will be guest of honor at an official dinner given by the Prime Minister.

Ottawa, June 30.—(P)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in an address yesterday that he looked forward to the day when a Prime Minister of India would speak in Ottawa.

He made his comments in thanking Field Marshal Smuts, Prime Minister of South Africa, who addressed a Canadian Club luncheon.

Mr. King said the Dominions were inspired by the same spirit of freedom which in all cases came from the same source, Britain. All the nations of the British Commonwealth sought to make freedom part of the inheritance of mankind.

Canada felt close to South Africa as the political problems of the two nations were similar and the evolution of government in both lands were almost identical.

London, June 30.—(Reuters)—Membership of the Anglo-American Caribbean Commission will be increased to enable two British West Indian representatives to be included, it was announced yesterday.

The announcement came amid speculation that big changes in structure of the British Colonial Empire may follow war, with union or federation of wide regions.

Areas which might be involved in federation are the British West Indies, the Malay States and the African Colonies. Each of these sections contains numerous dependencies now under separate and widely varying forms of government.

Colonial Secretary Oliver Stanley recently proclaimed that British policy in the Caribbean aimed at the development of the entire area and emphasized the greater economy and efficiency of large-scale units of government under modern conditions.

Bexhill, England, June 30.—(CP)—Maj.-Gen. Sir Charles Maynard, 74, who was commander of Allied forces at Murnansk, Russia, in 1918 and 1919, died today. His long military career included service in India, South Africa and in France during the First World War.

Caserta, Italy, June 30.—(AP)—U.S. Mediterranean headquarters announced today that 357,686 American soldiers in the Mediterranean theatre will be redeployed to the Pacific within the next nine months. There were 508,202 in the theatre when the war in Italy ended.

London, June 30.—(P)—The Moscow radio announced yesterday.

Attorney-General Denies Any Knowledge Of Secret Police

Toronto, June 30.—(P)—The Royal Commission under Mr. Justice A. M. LeBel today stood adjourned to Tuesday after eight days of hearings on the charge of C.C.F. Leader E. B. Joffe that the Ontario Progressive Conservative Government of Premier George Drew operated a "secret political police."

High officers of the Ontario Provincial Police were continuing testimony yesterday when the sequence was interrupted to bring Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell to the stand.

Mr. Blackwell testified after vigorous objections by Joffe's counsel, F. Andrew Brewin, against changing the order of witnesses, Commission Counsel Joseph Sedgwick declared he had given no assurance that the sequence of witnesses would not be changed and Mr. Justice LeBel said he could not overrule the Commission counsel in naming the order of witnesses.

The Attorney-General then testified that he had never heard of the Provincial Police "special branch" until Mr. Joffe asserted that it was the headquarters of the alleged political police.

STUDY BRITISH PROPOSALS IN INDIA IMPASSE

Gandhi's Congress Party and Jinnah's Moslem League to Call Their Working Committees Together in Simla Next Week.

By PRESTON GROVER.

Simla, India, June 30.—(P)—A conference of Indian leaders called by the Viceroy, Viscount Wavell, to constitute a new government for India adjourned today for two weeks while the congress party and the Moslem league study new British proposals for reconciling their differences.

Mohandas K. Gandhi declared in an interview that it was his "hope and prayer that things will come out right for both India and Great Britain." It was announced the conference was "expected" to reconvene here July 14.

Gandhi's Congress Party and Mohammed Ali Jinnah's Moslem league will call their working committees together in Simla next week. They will consider Lord Wavell's proposals that each of the major parties and other delegates to the conference submit to him lists of names from which to choose a working cabinet suitable to all.

An impasse resulted when the Congress party, made up mainly of Hindus but claiming to be representative of all India, disputed the Moslem League's argument that it alone was entitled to designate the Moslem members of the executive council. Both parties have agreed the Moslems and Hindus should have equality in numbers on the cabinet.

Jinnah reiterated at a press conference tonight that the Moslem league would accept no arrangement which deprived it of authority to name all the Moslem members.

The frail, 75-year-old Gandhi told this correspondent his congress party had entered the conference in "recognition of the fact that it was a step toward independence."

In one of the few interviews he has granted in recent months, Gandhi chatted merrily and informally. His dominance of the Simla Conference was rejected in his own words.

"I have constituted myself," he explained, "as both an advisor to the Congress (party) and advisor to the Viceroy, and through him to the British people."

Gandhi explained he "was not joking when I made the statement sometime back that Jawaharlal Nehru (party leader) is my heir. He has got the ability, knowledge and close touch with the public here and can interpret India's mind."

Asked why he persists in traveling third class on Indian trains, Gandhi said it was "feel just a touch of the real India."

Count Ruediger von der Foltz, Noted German Lawyer, Tells of Trouble Which Preceded Dismissal of Col. Gen. von Fritsch.

(By GEORGE TUCKER)

Wiesbaden, Germany, June 30.—(P)—Count Ruediger von der Foltz, former Reichstag member and one of Germany's ablest lawyers, has told Allied officers that Adolf Hitler used unfounded morals charges against Col. Gen. Werner von Fritsch in 1938 to drive a political wedge into the German army.

This move, which the army tolerated despite a violent reaction within its ranks, cost the army its political independence leadership and left it in a position from which it never recovered, Foltz said.

He added that the case was so patently a frame-up that Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt and other high ranking officers interceded personally with Hitler but von Fritsch had been earmarked for removal as supreme commander because of his opposition to the S.S. (Elite Guard) and because Hitler himself wanted the supreme command.

Reichsmarschal Hermann Goering, who had ambitions to become Minister of War, also figured prominently in the deal, Foltz said. He explained that in the natural course of events, von Fritsch would have become Minister of War succeeding Marshal Werner von Blomberg who resigned under pressure because his marriage in 1938 displeased the army.

(Associated Press Correspondent Louis P. Lochner said in a Berlin dispatch on November 7, 1938, von Fritsch was the one who told Hitler that von Blomberg's continuation in office was impossible because of his marriage to a woman whose record was not up to the standard of the army.)

Goltz said von Fritsch gave his personal word of honor to Hitler that the morals charges against him were nothing but slander, but Hitler refused to accept the General's word and ordered an investigation by the Reich Minister of Justice.

Goltz said that all the high ranking personnel sitting on the hearing by Czechoslovak Prime Minister Zdenek Fierling and by Foreign Commissar Molotov provided, the announcement said, that the area "is by mutual agreement and the desire of its peoples returned to the Ukraine Soviet Socialist Republic."

The sector, sometimes known as Ruthenia, formerly adjoined Poland. It was absorbed by Hungary in the 1939 break-up of Czechoslovakia. It comprised nearly one-eighth of pre-war Czechoslovakia's 54,244 square miles.

Czech officials in London have stressed throughout the negotiations leading to the announcement that there was no controversy over ceding the territory to Russia. They said a majority of the sector's 725,000 population had asked to be made a part of Russia as far back as the end of the First Great War.

At that time, they said, it was impossible to fulfill the request because Polish territory lay between Ruthenia and Russia. Ruthenian leaders in the United States then petitioned Czechoslovakia for incorporation of their state as an autonomous unit within the framework of the Czech republic.

Since the tentative revision of Poland's frontiers in the Yalta agreement brought the Carpatho-Ukraine into contact with Russia, the area's population—predominantly Ukrainian—has renewed its agitation for incorporation into the Soviet Union.

Servicewomen's Rehabilitation

Ottawa, June 30.—(P)—The first servicewomen's rehabilitation wing set up in January at Toronto for members of the Canadian Women's Army Corps—has proved so successful that similar projects are being started at other depots across Canada, Defence Headquarters announced today.

Termed "one of the most significant projects in the whole field of rehabilitation" by Col. W. Line, director of Personnel Selection, the wing has earned its present reputation through a willingness to experiment and now stands ready to help other centres.

The wing operates at present for C.W.A.C.'s in M.D. No. 2, who spend from ten days to two weeks there while going through discharge procedure. In discussions, lectures and interviews the girls are helped to plan for their future.

"Personnel up for discharge were formerly maintained right in the depot," said Maj. Phyllis Arnold, Toronto, official commanding No. 102 Depot Company, who is responsible for the wing's development.

The more rigid discipline necessary made an individual routine almost impossible. The rehabilitation wing although part of the depot, is quartered, staffed and administered independently and personnel are given full individual help with their problems."

Many of the girls plan to establish homes of their own after discharge; others will take jobs. Still others will take advantage of the chance for vocational or academic training.

FIRE ON SHIP IS CAUSED BY INFLAMMABLES

A few weeks ago the Post Office Department announced a fire breaking out on the S. S. Scotia as it docked at Liverpool, England, containing a heavy load of mail. The ship carried 8,701 bags of Parcel Post for members of the United Forces overseas and of this quantity some 4,000 bags were damaged, either by fire or water.

Amongst the debris from the burned parcels were found quantities of matches, light fluid and canned heat, mailed by people who had ignored the warnings of the Post Office Department against mailing matches or inflammables in soldiers' parcels.

The Postal Corps overseas has made every effort to forward to the addressee such parcels as were in a fit condition but those of parcels which were destroyed, others were returned, or damaged to the extent that it was impossible to decipher either the name of the sender or the address.

A total of 1,600 bags were unaccounted for as a result of the disaster approximately 54 tons of debris were absolutely useless and disposed of by incineration. Certain articles of personal or intrinsic value which it was possible to salvage are being returned to the Dead Letter Office, Ottawa, and will be sent to the sender if the expected enquiries enable ownership to be determined.

Salvaged also were some 500 bags of canned goods, bottled goods, toilet articles and soap which have been despatched to the Auxiliary Services Branch of the Canadian Army for distribution amongst members of the Armed Forces. There were also various items of clothing—pyjamas, underwear, shirts, socks, etc., and these have been sent to the Auxiliary Services Branch of the Canadian Army for distribution to soldiers who have lost their kit, who are in hospital or who are in need of such supplies.

Actual origin of the fire was not determined but the fact that matches and other inflammables were found in the debris should constitute a further severe warning to the Canadian public.

LOCAL TOURIST OFFICE REOPENS

Closed in the fall of 1942 for the duration of the war due to lack of tourists and owing to travel and border crossing restrictions of United States residents, the office of the Sherbrooke Tourist Bureau at 34 King Street West was re-opened today under the direction of Lucien Robichaud.

The Ration Board, who have occupied the office since it was closed, will continue to operate in the same room. Tourists will be able to obtain information regarding cabins, hotels, restaurants, highway routes, schedules of train, bus, air and boat running times, maps, etc. It has also been arranged to have a bulletin every week from the Provincial District Roads Engineer as to the condition of highways in the area.

The Sherbrooke Chamber of Commerce report that since early spring they have received inquiries from tourists in every mail, one from as far as the West Indies. However, according to City Clerk Antonin Desjardins, this office will provide the most complete and unique service to tourists of any other such office known, the feature being that tourists will not only be able to obtain travelling information but also obtain temporary ration cards, all in the one office.

AYER'S CLIFF FARMERS HELD JERSEY PICNIC

Ayer's Cliff, June 30.—Members of the Ayer's Cliff Farmers Club and their families and friends gathered at Burroughs Falls on Wednesday for their annual Jersey Picnic, which was highlighted by an old-fashioned basket lunch at noon, with ice cream and soft drinks served by the Club.

Presided over by Turner Hunter, President of the Club, the afternoon's activities included numerous addresses by district agriculturalists, climaxed by an address given by Dan Johnson, Eastern Superintendent of Colonization and Agriculture for the Canadian National Railways.

Mr. Johnson, who has travelled extensively, spoke on pre-war agricultural conditions in Europe, giving great credit to the people of Denmark for their far-advanced methods and leadership in marketing and co-operative agriculture. The speaker predicted that Canada would find strong competition for her bacon exports from the Danish market, as the Danes have concentrated on the bacon industry and are much nearer to the European outlets. He urged the farmers to endeavour to do a better culling job in their own herds in order to raise Canadian cattle standards even higher than they are today.

W. G. MacDougall, of Lennoxville, District Agriculturalist, spoke on increasing the average of herds, and told of the importance of using lime to improve farm crops. He made special mention of the forthcoming Centennial Exhibition of Ayer's Cliff Fair, which will be held on August 22-24-25, and urged the Jersey breeders to attend, telling of the extensive programme being planned and especially mentioned Golden Jersey Day which will be held on Friday the middle day of the Fair.

Donald MacMillan, also of the Lennoxville Agricultural office, spoke on the chief points of the R.P.E. system, urging greater productivity of herds, and also stressed the use of lime for field crops. He closed with a further outline of plans for the Ayer's Cliff Fair, which will undoubtedly be the biggest event of its kind ever held in Stanstead County.

A sports programme for the children brought the day to a close.

COATICOOK

The regular meeting of the W.M.S. of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. A. A. Hopkins, Central Street. The meeting opened with a hymn, followed by prayer in unison, after which the worship service was conducted by the President, Mrs. R. P. Stafford. Her theme was "The growing unity among Christian people," and the scripture reading was from I Corinthians XII. Mrs. Stafford reported on the Dominion Board sessions held recently in Toronto, dealing particularly with the work of the Canadian Council of Churches, and the World Council of Churches.

Mr. and Mrs. Edson presented the minutes of the last meeting and the treasurer's report was given. It was decided to have a garden party and apron sale at the Parsonage during July. Mrs. Parnell and Mrs. Cora Ferrill then gave interesting reports from the Presbyterian held in Magog. A note of appreciation from Mrs. L. Hanson was read, after which the benediction was pronounced by the Mizpah Benediction.

Pilot Officer Stanford Rowe, the twenty-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Rowe, Baldwin Street, Coaticook, was among the R.C.A.F. personnel, who arrived home recently for thirty days' leave before proceeding to further training for the Pacific war. The Golden Text is from Hebrews 12:12, "Lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees; and make straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Then he called his twelve disciples together, and gave them power and authority over all devils, and to cure diseases. And he said unto them, I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven. Behold, I give unto you power to tread on serpents and scorpions, and over all the power of the enemy; and nothing shall hurt you.—(Luke 9:1, 10; 18, 19).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Working out the rules of Science in practice, the autologs restored health in cases of both acute and chronic disease in their severest forms. Secretions have been changed, the structure has been renewed, shortened."

Common Summer Hazards Outlined For Vacationists By Health League

In a warning to summer vacationists, the Health League of Canada advises that there are many common summer hazards, which could be termed Summer Gremlins, and which too often are forgotten or overlooked.

The League's Industrial Division, in one of its payroll pamphlet inserts, admonishes:

"Enjoy yourself this summer. But watch what you're about. The 'Gremlins' sure will get you if you don't watch out!"

Stating that vacation-time should be a period of relaxation, recuperation, and restoration, the League advises vacationists to take it easy—enjoy the warm days—but watch out for Summer Gremlins—a name that could be applied to the common hazards that all too frequently rob them of needed pleasure and change.

PARADE WILL BE HELD HERE DOMINION DAY

Sherbrooke, along with the rest of Canada, is going to celebrate Dominion Day properly this year. An organizing committee of J. W. McKee, chairman, Col. Aime Biron, R. A. Bartlett, Mrs. St. Louis and Mrs. Beattie have lined up a parade of twenty units that represent all the leading organizations of Sherbrooke and should make a truly impressive sight. Included are the motorcycle police, the city police, Provincial Motorcycle Police, the R.C.M.P., the Harmony Band, His Worship Mayor J. W. Genest and the Aldermen, the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Lions Club, the Rotary Club, the 43 Military Camp, Air Cadets, Girl Guides, the Riding and Driving Club, boys and girls with flags, and decorated cars.

The parade will assemble at 10 a.m. at Lansdowne Market, and from there will follow a route to King and Alexander Streets, along Wellington South to Aberdeen, to Montreal, along Dufferin, along to Alexander, to King West, to Belvidere, to Wolfe, to Wolfe, down Wellington North to the corner of King.

The committee has purchased 200 flags which it will furnish to the boys and girls taking part. It asks all merchants to co-operate in making a good display by putting out any flags or other decorations which they may have.

This year, for the first time in five years, Canadians will really be able to have fun on Dominion Day. And this year they feel that celebrating won't be out of place. Canadians have fought a good fight in the European war, and now that it is finished they can take time out once more to parade, to send off fireworks, and to look back across history to their country's beginning.

It was July 1, 1867, that Canada became a nation. But long before that the first steps towards union had begun. In 1864 the Maritime Provinces held a convention at Charlottetown, P.E.I., for the purpose of discussing their union, and to this came a delegation from United Canada, Ontario and Quebec, to pledge its support to the Maritime plan. The leaders of this group suggested to the Maritimers the possibility of the union of all British North America.

Out of this suggestion came a conference of all British North American provinces in Quebec City in October, 1864. This was the famous meeting of the Fathers of Confederation, at which seventy-two resolutions were drawn up, which became the basis of the British North America Act of 1867, the act which gave Canada its nationhood. The work of the "Big Seven"—Brown, Cartier, Macdonald, McGee, Tilley, Tupper—had accomplished its purpose, and the dream of Confederation had come true. July 1, 1867, was proclaimed as Canada's official birthday.

Included in the union at first were only Quebec, Ontario, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Manitoba joined the group in 1870, and Prince Edward Island, where Confederation actually was born, came into the fold following the following year, along with British Columbia. Saskatchewan and Alberta were formed from the original Northwest Territories in 1905.

Now, seventy-eight years after the lusty infant was born, Canada emerges from the fires and pains of war, a brave self-confident adult, ready to take its place alongside the great world powers. If those wise Fathers of Confederation could see the amazing growth of the child they brought into being, they would surely feel that even their rosiest dreams had been surpassed.

WAY'S MILLS

of bringing back consciousness. Also, it is emphasized, artificial respiration must be started as quickly as possible and continued for a long period—six hours or longer. It is not until rigor mortis sets in that life can be assumed to be extinct. One of the most documented cases of late revival is that of a child, brought back to life after five hours' active work and hours after the child had been pronounced dead.

It is also important that those using artificial respiration be sure that air enters the lungs properly while they are working on the patient. There is always a possibility that spasm of the larynx occurred and that the victim suffocated rather than drowned.

The most popular method of artificial respiration is the Schafer method. In this, the body is raised gently by the waist to allow water to drain from the lungs and stomach. It is then placed in a prone position with the head and chest lower than the rest, if possible. The head should be placed on one side on one of the patient's arms. The rescuer kneels astride the victim and applies pressure rhythmically in the region of the lungs. If possible, the patient should be kept warm with blankets and hot water bottles.

Slight Darkness Will Be Only Sign Of Eclipse Locally On July 9th

A total eclipse of the sun will be visible in Western Canada on July 9, but according to Father Philippe Mercier, Professor of Mathematical Chemistry at St. Charles Seminary, a slight darkness will be the only sign of the phenomenon locally. The path of totality extends across Canada from Northern Manitoba to Southern Saskatchewan, lasting at its greatest extent not more than 45 seconds. Unfortunately, in Canada the eclipse will occur when the sun is still low in the morning sky, as it begins at 6 o'clock and ends at 10:55 a.m. E.S.T. Wolsey and Grenfell, Sask., and God's Lake and Churchill, Man., will be near the centre of the path of totality. The path also crosses Eastern Europe and Western Asia.

The eclipse, which is the first total since August, 1932, and the last before 1954 to be visible in Canada, is attracting the usual amount of scientific interest. Two expeditions, one American and one Canadian, will journey thousands of miles to study the solar blackout. The American party, headed by Dr. Roy K. Marshall, Director of the Fels Planetarium at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, and sponsored by the Philadelphia Bulletin, will locate at Wolsey, about 60 miles east of Regina. The Canadian expedition, headed by E. Lesuer of the Dominion Observatory, headed by Dr. G. Cameron, an astronomy student at Winnipeg, will set up an observation post at Churchill, Man.

Still as well as motion picture photography will be used by both expeditions to record all phases of the eclipse. It is hoped that this will lead to important information on the "flash spectrum," which is the form of fiery gases surrounding the sun, visible only at such a time. Scientific tests will also be carried out which should add still more to man's knowledge of the universe. Further data may be gained from such laboratory tests as the study of the corona, the effect of a total eclipse on the earth's magnetic field, especially with regard to the magnetic pole.

New York, June 30.—(AP)—The July 9 eclipse of the sun which starts at sunrise near Boise, Idaho, and finishes in the Kitz Republic in Siberia at sunset on that side of the world, is one of a series that started at the North Pole in 1839. The last eclipse of this series will take place at the South Pole about the beginning of the 28th century. Meanwhile the eclipses of the series will have crossed the earth's face many times, 18 years and a few days apart, each time marching further southward.

The 1945 path runs steeply north-east, across Montana, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, Hudson Bay, Greenland, Norway, Sweden, Russia, and Siberia. The centre of the July 9 eclipse starts at sunrise in Cascade, Idaho. Totality lasts only about 25 seconds at first in Idaho, later the shadow will last longer, but not much more than a minute. The shadow of the total shadow will be about 25 miles.

Impressive sights to watch for are the corona, a pearly-white halo of light around the blackened sun, the brilliant spots of light where at last moments before and after totality, the edge of the sun is shining through dark cross lines deep on the edge of the moon, and the prominences, which are rosy-colored fountains of fire 10,000 to 100,000 miles high. They often shoot out visibly beyond the black edge.

The composition of the corona is one of the things astronomers will study with their spectroscopes. During the moments of eclipse the corona is a rare laboratory. The spectroscopic shows the light from atoms in a different place than customary on photographic film. If later on astronomers can duplicate that position, they will have gained a new laboratory test. They know they have duplicated one of the conditions in the corona.

Mayor Genest Intends To Enforce Ban On Wearing Of "Shorts"

Passed by the City of Sherbrooke in 1907, by-law No. 562 setting styles of summer clothing for residents here, has come in for a terrific beating every year since, but despite violent vocal protests and open flaunting of its rules, the "Blue-Law" persists and according to a reliable informant, Mayor J. W. Genest intends this year to have it enforced to the limit by advising the Police Department to have offenders arrested and prosecuted.

The matter, came to a head yesterday when a letter written by Father Victor Dupuis, Chaplain of the Independent Catholic Youth Organization, was received by Mayor Genest, protesting over the statement made by Chief of Police Edouard Moreau, early this week. Chief Moreau stated that his department would, as in the past, tolerate the wearing of shorts on tennis courts in the city by girls although such apparel worn on courts is directly contrary to the "Blue-Law."

He also stated that since it is impossible to obtain suits for men to the city, bathing suits for men to conform with the regulations laid down in the law, police would allow men to wear bathing "trunks," the only type of suit available.

Local Arts And Crafts School Used As Canadian Film Production Theme

Converging upon the Sherbrooke School of Arts and Crafts with cameras and floodlights, a crew of the National Film Board, using local talent, began shooting scenes today of typical classes of students attending night courses which will soon be seen in a film, as yet unnamed, to be shown in rural areas of Canada and to the foreign market.

Beginning in the machine shop, the crew soon had the room resembling a Hollywood movie set with coils of heavy electrical wiring snaking around machines leading to seven powerful heat-producing, blindingly bright floodlights. Several cameras were positioned and lighting effects were obtained before the camera began to grind.

The scene, as will be shown in the picture, is of seven young students operating six lathes and one drill press and the instructor of the class grinding a tool bit, taken from different angles and positions around the room.

Altogether more than 100 feet of film were shot before the equipment was moved to the second floor of the building and into the wood-working room where similar scenes were photographed. The players have no speaking parts in these scenes for which the sound of revolving motors was previously recorded. When the picture is shown, there will be a running dialogue explaining these scenes.

J. LATRAVERSE NEW PRESIDENT OF LOCAL S.L.

J. H. Latraverse was unanimously elected President of the Sherbrooke branch of the Quebec Safety League at a meeting held here yesterday. In this capacity he succeeds Leonidas Bachand, who has resigned the position after two years, during which he organized the Sherbrooke branch.

Mr. Bachand briefly sketched the work that was done by the Safety League in this city, and he thanked the police department and city officials for the assistance which they had given him in his task. He then suggested that Mr. Latraverse be elected to succeed him, since he had all the necessary qualifications for the job. This was done unanimously.

Fire Chief Percy Donahue also addressed the meeting. He said that in his opinion the league had done very good work, and that he was very glad to have been able to be of assistance. Seeing that the police and fire departments were no longer under the same head he suggested that a member of the municipal police force should say a few words. This was done by Capt. Beaudoin, who represented Chief Moreau, and he promised full support and aid to the programme of the Safety League.

Frank Beattie, secretary of the Eastern Townships section of the league, announced that a "No Accident Week" would be held in this province from July 8 to July 14, and he urged everybody to try to make this a week without accidents. "The Safety League's job," said Mr. Beattie, "is to prevent accidents other than industrial. There were 80,000 industrial accidents in this province in one year, and an equal number of accidents occurred in homes, schools, on the streets and on the beaches. One million work-day accidents were reported these accidents, and many could have been prevented." Mr. Beattie also thanked Mr. Bachand for the great service which he has done to the Safety League, and he welcomed the new President and wished him success. He addressed the meeting both in French and in English.

The following were present: Leonidas Bachand, J. H. Latraverse, Frank Beattie, A. Turmel, Sherbrooke Industries Ltd., T. K. Kennedy and W. H. Griffith, Canadian Ingersoll-Rand Co., W. Olivier, Phil Carey, Ltd., Fire Chief Percy Donahue, and Capt. Beaudoin, Sherbrooke Municipal Police.

Magog Man Ordered To Stand Trial On Charge Of Negligence In Mishap

Antoine Perron, 41, of Magog, was yesterday afternoon ordered by Judge Gaudet to appear before the next session of the criminal assizes in October. He was charged with negligence following the death of Etienne Besette, 48, of Magog, who was killed on April 21st while walking on the Montreal highway near Magog. The body was discovered by two Magog taxi drivers, Henri Langevin and George Sansouci, stretched out on the road. An inquiry was immediately started by the police, but it wasn't until the next morning that the victim was identified.

Reaching Vacation Colony Grounds Via C.P.R. Tracks Now Prohibited

Vacation Colony-bent citizens will no longer be able to make their way to the popular picnic centre by way of the C.P.R. tracks, it was announced today by Police Chief Edouard Moreau. This measure will be enforced immediately, and upon the instigation of C.P.R. officials, who find the practice "dangerous."

The C.P.R. is erecting No Trespassing signs, and is arranging to have holes in right-of-way fences closed up by section forces immediately.

It is emphasized that in taking these steps, officials have in mind only the protection of the young people who attend the Colony. In one afternoon alone recently, ten freight trains passed over this main line, so that the danger is obvious.

Alphonse Belanger, President of the Vacation Colony, is co-operating with the C.P.R. request, and announces that supervisors at the Colony will prevent entrance to the spot from the tracks. Trespassers will be handed over to the Municipal Police.

Mr. Belanger announced at the same time that the new closing hour for the playground will be 3:30 p.m. instead of 4. The public, that is adults, may use the grounds after this hour and on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

On Dominion Day, the grounds will be open for the public.

Members have been requested to prepare any resolutions they want to present to the convention as soon as possible, but have been advised not to forget that these resolutions must be of a regional or Provincial interest. Those of a Provincial nature, if approved, will be submitted this fall at the Provincial convention.

DOMINION DAY

Dominion Day is the one distinctly Canadian national holiday of the entire year and the celebration tomorrow of the seventy-eighth birthday of the Dominion will hold special significance. The observances will be joined in by many young Canadians who have returned during the last few weeks from years of service abroad, many of whom are only enjoying a brief breathing spell before taking part in the last lap of the conflict in the Pacific. The day will also serve to impress upon the minds of the people the remarkable manner in which the country has advanced from a scattered group of colonies to the status of a leader in the United Nations fight to preserve the heritage of democracy.

From the date of the Royal Proclamation on July 1, 1867, which brought into being the British North America Act creating the Dominion of Canada, to the present time, the Dominion's increase in constitutional structure has continued. In the course of those seventy-eight years, a system of responsible government grew up, earning for Canada her place as an independent nation among the British Commonwealth of Nations.

Fruit of the 1926 Imperial Conference was virtual independence within the British Empire through the Statute of Westminster, passed in 1931. The Statute, giving Canada full legislative power over her people and her domain, was a renunciation by Britain of the right of legislating for the Dominion. It marked the end of the constitutional trial period which started in the days when Canada, Australia, New Zealand and the other present-day Dominions were colonies.

Bound to the Commonwealth by ties of blood and heritage, Canada owes common allegiance to the King along with the other nations of the British Empire, but the past five years of war have done more perhaps than any other single agency to realize the dream of Sir John A. Macdonald who said:

"It will become year by year less a case of dependence on our part and of over-riding protection on the part of the Mother Country, and more a case of healthy and gradual alliance."

Flags, music and recreation appropriate to a nation with half a war still to fight will mark the occasion. But the most sincere observances of the day will be in the hearts of Canada's youth back from overseas, or shortly due home, who know the cost of preserving in freedom the nation founded in their grandfathers' day "from sea to sea" across the northern stretches of the continent.

JAPANESE INDUSTRY TRANSFERRED

Confirmation for the belief expressed in many quarters for months past that the Japanese Government planned to continue the war against the Western Powers to a finish even if its home land is reduced to a mass of rubble is contained to a degree in the latest announcement of the Tokyo radio that many of the war industries, which have already suffered heavily from Allied aerial bombardment, are being transferred to Manchuria on the Asiatic mainland.

The vulnerability of the Japanese islands to aerial attack has long been recognized and the menace of bombardment has increased as the Allies have gained airfields closer to the islands and at the same time have been producing planes with ever-growing travelling range and bomb power. The geographical nature of the islands is such that industry must be compressed into comparatively limited areas, which makes it an even more attractive target for Allied bombardment. And this has been taken full advantage of by the United Nations fliers in the past.

The transfer of some, or the greater part, of these industries to the mainland of Asia would allow a diffusion of industry and as a secondary objective ease to a certain extent the Japanese raw material crisis as most of the natural resources required by the heavy munition industries are available in Manchuria. Thus it is apparent that Japanese administrators are seriously considering the establishment of their last-ditch defence bastion in Manchuria rather than seek to hold the homeland, possibly limiting their defence there to a suicide delaying action.

If this policy is carried out, it gives emphasis to the need of liberating the northern sections of China from Japanese control, especially the coastal areas, because any drive to exterminate Jap resistance in Manchuria must have strong land bases. An invasion by sea of the Japanese islands would be a tremendous task in itself, considering the long supply lines needed by the Allies. But to move the even greater forces required for the invasion of the mainland would be a near impossibility.

The growing power of the Chinese armies, who are receiving more and more military material from the other members of the United Nations, and their rapid drive to liberate long stretches of Chinese coastline interlocks with the latest Japanese announcement. The Chinese offensive is designed to build the foundations for the land offensive position required by the Allies.

THE NETHERLANDS STATES ITS CASE

One member of the United Nations, Holland, has clearly stated its ideas on the question of reparations. Prime Minister Willem Schermerhorn, in his first public statement to the people of his country and to the world at large, leaves no doubt the Netherlands hopes to exact reparations in full for the economic damage caused to his country by the German occupation and that part of this reparations must consist of slices of Reich territory adjacent to his country. In his announcement, the Prime Minister declared:

"Netherlands has a bill to settle with Germany and will not make sacrifices herself in the interest of German reconstruction. The government will insist on recovering goods or getting them replaced."

That little country, one of the greatest sufferers under the Nazi heel, can present a strong case for territorial concessions. Over a period of centuries the people of the Netherlands had painfully recovered hundreds of thousands of acres of land from the sea through the construction of dykes to hold back the ocean waters and by the levelling and draining of large marsh areas. This land became some of the richest agricultural acreage in the world and formed the foundation for the Dutch agricultural economy.

When the Allied forces threatened to overrun the nation, the German occupation forces blew up sections of the dykes and destroyed many of the drainage canals. Thus valuable land was turned into shallow lakes of salt water designed to impede the Allied progress. But it did more than that. It has virtually ruined the productivity of this land for many years to come. The dykes have been repaired to a great extent and by the joint action of the sun and pumps used for fire-fighting purposes in Great Britain during the blitz the water is being dried up or returned to the sea. But the tragic fact remains that the infiltration of salt water into the soil has spoiled it from a farming point of view and years of labor will be needed to counteract the chemical action of the salt. During this time, thousands of thrifty Dutch farmers will be compelled to seek their livelihood in other districts and the only logical land available for this resettlement movement is in the rich border provinces of Germany.

SCIENTIFIC REPARATIONS

In the many arguments presented as to what should or should not be done with German industry in the days to come, one important factor is being overlooked in the contribution which the Reich is making, very unwillingly, toward improving the competitive position of the industries of the United Nations. According to Sidney Kirkpatrick, editor of Chemical and Metallurgical Engineering, a trade publication, who is now in London, valuable scientific data and industrial knowledge are falling into Allied hands as the result of the occupation of Germany.

No effort has been made as yet to assess the value of the information so gained, but scientific leaders on both sides of the Atlantic are convinced that it will be considerable. It is common knowledge in industrial circles that Germany was far ahead of the United Nations in some phases of aviation. The Germans were also pioneers in the fields of rocket bombs, magnetic mines and many other instruments of warfare, while their development of substitutes and synthetics enabled them to hold out for an amazingly long time on the economic front despite the lack of many basic raw materials. And whereas in pre-war years, British, Canadian and United States industrial concerns showed a tendency to make their newly-discovered production processes available to the world at large, German industrialists held out some of their most precious, patented secrets from those industrial pools in which they were supposed to co-operate.

Exactly what the various nations plan to do with this information they are obtaining as the result of the occupation of Germany is as yet uncertain, but it is the belief of the average citizen that it should be made available to any concern, large or small, who is desirous and capable of using it.

When Light Shall Spread

Prof. the Rev. H. C. Burt, M.A., D.C.L., Lennoxville.

Genesis II, 12: "And the God of that Land Is God."

Tomorrow will be Dominion Day; let us hope that our Commemoration of the birthday of Confederation may be worthy of a nation that has "won its spurs" in the gravest crisis in recorded history!

Of necessity, because of our youth and our marvellous potentialities, we are a forward-looking people; we have ever in view a better Canada, and a better world; and when the call came we were ready to fight for it!

We live in a change-conscious age, wherein people have come to recognize the fact that the processes of change are, in some sense, manageable, and that our civilization can be adapted to new conditions. Not for us is the 18th century conception of Rousseau and his followers: that the "Golden Age" lies in the far-distant past, but that it lies ahead in the foreseeable future.

Consulting the ancient records of any of the great races of mankind we find a background of myth and tradition, and, almost invariably, the story of a brighter and happier time when there was no war, no poverty, no crime—an age of primeval innocence and ease!

The Greeks had their idea of a Golden Age—as the poets Homer and Hesiod bear witness; also the Romans—in the purity of Ovid and Vergil; and the Hebrews had their Eden, the earthly paradise forfeited through sin. All these old writings hold out the comfortable hope that somehow, somewhere, this blissful state of affairs would be restored.

But in our day the prevailing belief is that the "Golden Age" for mankind is actually in the making. This is seen in the eagerness with which we have followed the debates going on at the great Conference in San Francisco, our fears when a deadlock seemed imminent, and our relief when the time actually came for signing the Covenant!

The Outlawing of War, as a means of national aggrandizement, opens up the prospect of a glorious future.

God has placed the people of this generation under the most favorable conditions for working out the problems of life. The age in which our lot is cast can be a veritable "Golden Age," such as our world has not yet known. In invention, in discovery, in possibilities of mental, social, and industrial progress, our age bids fair to outdistance every other.

"The God of that Land is good!" How then are we to make the most of our "Golden Age," and turn it to the best account?

One way is by Education. But, as Germany has demonstrated to a reluctant world, education divorced from morality must always be a menace to decent, peace-loving humanity. True culture, however, is "good gold," that may be transmuted into refinement of mind, morals and tastes. The gold of Character is like a monetary medium whose value is universally recognized. There is a "sterling" quality in men of high principles. We must remember that "personality" is the dominant fact of our being, so we must not debase it with the vile alloy of vice or meanness. There are men who tie their principles to the apron-strings of expediency; they are—as Wendell Phillips says: "They are gentlemen who serve God as far as will give no offence to the devil." Let us hope that, in the New Era, these unpleasant individuals may achieve only such eminence as they deserve! Moreover, we should not be content without the good "gold" of Faith in the living and true God, for, lacking such faith, whatever else we may chance to possess, we are poor.

We recall the Master's warning: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness," and all those things that are really necessary to your well-being will be added unto you.

We might put the message this way: There is one great end and purpose for young and old that should be placed first of all. There may be secondary or intermediate ends and objects that legitimately call for our attention; but One is

We are living in plain sight of a Wonderful Age. We have not achieved it, but we are on the way. We have in prospect today that grand Age of which Tennyson sings:

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

DECEITFULLY CLEVER, THESE BRIDGE ACES

I doubt if we have ever had a closer match than the recent Eastern States Mixed Team-of-Four Championship event. I told you two teams were tied for first place with 34 1-2 matches, and one-half point behind were two other tying teams. One of the latter teams consisted of Charles H. Goren, Mrs. Peggy Golder, Charles Solom and Helen Sobel. The other team was Ruth Sherman, Ambrose Carter, Edith Seligman and Harry Fishbein.

Harry Fishbein pointed out two good points in today's hand. On North's opening lead of the diamond king, South played the deuce and North shifted to the king of spades. West won with the ace and led a small diamond to dummy's ten.

North won with the ace and continued a diamond, which South won with the ace of trumps. Now here is the feature of the hand: South was quite correct to play the diamond deuce first and then the seven spot. If he played able to lead a spade, it did not work, as West had only one spade. In discussing the hand, Fishbein said it did not always pay to play down and out with only two,

♠ KQ84 ♥ 86 ♦ A K 8 5 3 ♣ 74		♠ J9753 ♥ 2 ♦ J9 ♣ 106 KJ8
♠ 106 ♥ A 7 ♦ 72 ♣ 1096532		South West North East Pass 1♥ 2♦ Pass 3♥ Pass 4♥ Pass Pass Pass Opening—♦ K 30

en, he could have trapped a careless declarer into allowing the diamond to ride around to his jack. However, the correct play was to trump in dummy and, while South would overtrump with the ace so as to be seven first, and then the deuce, he would have informed West that he was out of diamonds and wanted to ruff. By playing the deuce and sev-

MIND YOUR MANNERS

The Situation: A couple is married, and friends invited to the wedding want to do "the right thing" in the matter of giving them the proper send-off.

Wrong Way: Play practical jokes on them—such as hiding their luggage, etc.

Right Way: Wish them well and speed them on their way, since practical jokes at weddings are neither dignified nor sophisticated.

DOROTHY DIX

War Changes Boy

Girl Cannot Foretell Whom She'll
Love Four Years Hence

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a girl of 19. Two or three months ago I met a boy who appealed to me very much, but soon after the glow died out. He is 20 and has just been shipped overseas. I am not in love with him now, nor do I know that he is in love with me, but he is the kind of a fellow I would like to marry.

Do you think by the time he comes back home, say by the time I am 23 and he is 24, that he will have grown up enough so that I will fall in love with him and find him the man with whom I will want to spend the balance of my life? I can't make up my mind whether to wait on the chance of this, or to go about with other boys.

MISS H. G.
ANSWER: No seer could look into the future and tell you what kind of a man you are going to fall in love with when you are 23. The four years that you are entering upon now will work radical changes in your tastes, your habits, your thoughts and your desires, and the boy who might appeal to you now would be anathema when you arrive at the years of discretion, and that is what makes boy and girl marriages so hazardous.

This boy, who is starting to war, will come back changed in many ways. For one thing, he will be a man, not a child any more, because he will mature fast under the strain and stress of the life he will have to lead. He will be disciplined, hardened, wiser, experienced. War may make him a better man, or a worse one. Whether in his new guise he will appeal to you or not, you cannot tell until you see him and get acquainted with him all over again.

You, yourself, will have changed, but not so much as he. He may not fancy you any more than you wish him. So you are wise to keep your heart parked in a safe place until you know more about what you want and the kind of a man to whom you want to give it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: I am 16 years old, a carefree boy and have earned the reputation of being a wolf. I go out with many girls and have a lot of fun, but there is one girl I particularly fancy, and I can't make her believe in the sincerity of my emotions because of my reputation. Please give me some advice.

GENCY, The Wolf.
ANSWER: Well, Gency, there is an old saying about giving a dog a bad name and hanging him. Perhaps that goes for wolves, too, and the reputation you have acquired as a lady-killer makes the girls feel that they have to watch their steps when you are out on the prowl.

Not all the little cuties are as trusting as Red Riding Hood was in the fairy story, and when they see your big eyes rolling at them and your long teeth waiting to devour them, they don't believe that you are as safe as dear old Grandma. They are scared of you and take to cover.

But at 16 you are wise to have fun with a lot of girls instead of narrowing yourself down to just one poor little hobby-sucker. My earnest advice to you is to spend the next seven or eight years in cultivating your technique on a wide variety of girls. That will give you a vast training and should make you irresistible.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: A boy with whom I used to go steady and with whom I broke off is spreading stories about me that are untrue and that are ruining my reputation. What shall I do to stop him?

NICKY
ANSWER: If the boy has no proof of what he says, get a lawyer to write him a letter telling him that you are going to sue him for slander. That will stop him in his tracks.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

Nursing and National Health

No. X—GOVERNMENT ASSISTANCE FOR NURSING SERVICES

Before September 1939 no one, not of the profession, spoke of a "nursing situation". Then came the National Emergency. Men and women flocked to the Services—among them members of the nursing profession. Thousands of the population, the hitherto unemployed, housewives, the retired, school children, joined the ranks of the wage-earners. Industries expanded their medical services. War plants established medical departments with one or more nurses in attendance. Where did these nurses come from? They came from private nursing, public health organizations, the staffs of nursing schools and hospital wards.

The Canadian Nurses Association's great concern was that the Armed Forces be adequately supplied with nurses and that Nursing Service be maintained throughout Canada. Nursing has always been recognized as an essential service, but the Canadian Nurses Association realized that this recognition must take a very concrete form if the obligations were to be met. Realizing the gravity of the situation, the Federal Government has for the last three years provided a substantial grant to help the Profession meet its greatly increased demands. What has been done with this money? Refresher courses were held for married nurses and others who had left the profession, and many were persuaded to return to active duty. An active student recruitment campaign was launched, for only by increasing the enrolment of students do we increase the number of graduate nurses. With all branches of the Services calling to these young women, Nursing had to be presented as a definite war job. Travelling instructors were employed to offset the shortage of teachers. These instructors also helped with the reorganization of nursing service to utilize personnel to the utmost. A fair portion of the grant was set aside for bursaries. These bursaries enabled graduates to attend clinical courses and universities. They qualified as teachers, supervisors and administrators. The bursary recipients are under contract to remain in nursing service in Canada for a definite period following their post-graduate course, so that matrimonially or otherwise they will not be lost to the profession.

Of Canada's 22,000 registered nurses, 3,700 are with the Forces. Hospitals, public health organizations and industry have been supported. Standards of education have been maintained and student enrolment is at an all-time high. We have weathered the storm, even made a little progress. Without the aid of the grant from the Federal Government we doubt if the nursing profession in Canada could have maintained its high level of efficiency.

NEXT WEEK:—Better Nursing Service for Canada.

"All Through The Night" Is Exciting Film At New Premier

Kaaren Verne and Humphrey Bogart in a tense scene from "All Through the Night," exciting drama of gangland war opening Sunday at the New Premier.

"All Through the Night," which begins tomorrow at the New Premier Theatre, starring Humphrey Bogart, chalks up a high score of thrills, action and rousing screen excitement. It is the story of an ex-gangster who goes after the Gestapo, using just about the same tactics he used against rival mobs in Prohibition days. With Humphrey Bogart as the gangster, a wonderful supporting cast which includes Kaaren Verne, Conrad Veidt, Judith Anderson, Peter Lorre, Jane Darwell and Frank McHugh, "All Through the Night" spells entertainment plus.

A smart script, written by Leonard Spigelgass and Edwin Gilbert, from a story by Spigelgass and Leonard Q. Ross, combines drama, romance and comedy in just the right proportions and some of the most witty and pungent dialogue of the year. The tightly knit story covers a span of less than twenty-four hours in the lives (and in some cases, the deaths) of its characters. The opening scene cleverly sets the mood showing the ex-gangster Bogart at lunch with some of his henchmen. The boys are playing with some toy soldiers, mapping out the kind of military strategy they think the British should use. Bogart laughs at them and tells them the war is none of their business.

They all go off to the ball game, but Bogart is called away by an S.O.S. from his mother. Mr. Miller, the baker who lives next door, has disappeared. Bogart discovers Miller's murdered body in the cellar, and also gets a glimpse of a lovely young stranger, played by Kaaren Verne, who seems to have some connection with the murder. He trails her to the night club where she works as a singer, but she disappears almost under his eyes. Trailing her further leads him to an old warehouse and a nest of enemy agents. He manages to get the girl away from them, and from her he learns about the nefarious network of the Gestapo right in New York. Miller was murdered, she explains, because he refused to work with them. She herself works for them because her father is being held in a concentration camp in Europe, and it is the only way she can save his life. When Bogart shows her a record book he found in the warehouse which shows that her father has been dead for some time, she tells him all she knows. It is enough to persuade Bogart that this time it really is his business. He rounds up all the ex-mobsters he knows and leads them on a raid against the fifth column meeting that night, neatly foiling a plot for sabotaging a battleship in the harbor, and putting them all behind bars. For the first time in his life, the ex-gangster finds himself a hero with the police—and his first! The other picture will be "Rockin' in the Rockies," a western musical hit featuring The Three Stooges; Mary Beth Hughes, who not only looks like a dream of love but sings like one as well; The Hoosier Hotshots, who with each picture seem to get hotter and hotter in the playing of their crazy musical instrument; Jay Kirby, one of the most likeable action stars of the age, purple or otherwise; those harmonica harmonizing lads, The Cappy Barra Boys; Gladys Blake with song, dance and comedy; the hilarious comedy of Tim Ryan; and the five and sweet and lowdown of Spade Cooley, King of Western Swing.

Memorial Service For Cpl. T. A. Pope Was Largely Attended At Scotstown

Scotstown, June 30.—In fitting tribute to one who gave his life for his country, a largely attended memorial service was held in St. Alban's Anglican Church, in memory of Cpl. Thomas Alexander Pope, R.C.E., who was instantly killed, on June 12, while on active service in Germany.

The simple and impressive service, attended by members of the family and many friends, was conducted by Rev. E. C. Ward, assisted by the lay-reader, Mr. F. J. Buck, who read the lesson from Revelations IX, which was followed by the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers."

In tribute to Cpl. Pope, and all others who paid the great sacrifice, the congregation, standing, observed a moment of silence. Prior to the closing hymn, "O Valiant Heart," Rev. E. C. Ward gave the quotation, "They shall not grow old-we will remember them." A selection by Newell, "Offertoire," rendered by the organist, Mrs. Bernard Atkin, was followed by the "Last Post," and "Reveille," sounded by Mr. F. J. Buck. The beautiful flowers on the altar, from St. Alban's Guild, and other floral offerings bore testimony to the esteem in which the departed was held by the residents of the community.

Cpl. Thomas Alexander Pope, the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. John Pope, was educated at the local High School and was popular alike with his classmates and the older residents. In 1934, he was united in marriage to Annette Lartich, and the young couple became residents of this community, six children were born, three of whom predeceased him.

In 1939, he enlisted in the Royal Canadian Engineers, training in Petawawa, Ont., and had been in overseas service for over two years. His death occurred at the age of thirty-four years the full details of which have not yet been received.

Those who mourn his loss are his widow, and three young children, Harry, Albert, and Rhona; his adopted parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Pope; his sisters, Mrs. F. J. Buck, Mrs. Basil Woolley and Mrs. George Wells, of Scotstown; and Mrs. Frank Hurd, of Cookshire; brothers-in-law, Messrs. F. J. Buck, Basil Woolley, George Wells, and Frank Hurd; nieces, Madeline Woolley, Barbara, Margaret, and Geraldine Buck, Phyllis, Patricia, and Shirley Wells; two nephews in the service, A/B George Woolley, R.C.N.V.R., and Pte. John Wells Infantry Corps, and a nephew, Harold Wells.

Those from out of town attending the service were Mrs. Frank Hurd, and Mrs. Frank Woolley, of Cookshire.

The many friends extend sympathy to the bereaved family.

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

THE ECHENBERG EXTRA

No. 1 No. 14 A FRIENDLY LINK BETWEEN STORE AND CUSTOMERS DURING ALTERATIONS

A DOMINION DAY ODE TO THE BUILDERS

(in commemoration of Confederation—July 1st, 1867)

We're building today for the future,
Just as they did in days of yore,
We're building on a firm foundation,
Like the Fathers of Confederation,
And just as they planned for the nation,
So we, with determination,
Are planning a bright new store.
From the days of 'sixty-seven,
Our country has risen in fame,
Establishing herself as a nation,
Creating respect for her name,
And throughout this great Dominion
On this eventful Dominion Day,
The sons and the daughters of Canada
Unite—their respects to pay
To those men of vision and foresight
Who helped to pave the way
For a bright and shining future—
This country of ours, today.
Here at Echenberg's the work is progressing
And we hope that soon we can mend
The upsetting situation
That has bothered us no end.
Like the men who built up our country,
Our builders have worked like bees
To finish their jobs on schedule—
They soon will be at their ease,
What they have accomplished is plenty,
The final result will please,
When the windows and floors are finished,
The painting and plastering done,
Our store will be as bright and modern
As any under the sun—
So to all who have helped to build it
And are hastening to complete the job,
On this great Dominion Day week-end
We say "Thanks, it's a job well done!"

GLISTENING NEW CEILING IS NOW WHITE AS SNOW

Workmen at Echenberg's have practically finished putting the final coat of plaster on the new ceiling and the sparkling whiteness of the finished job almost makes one blink with surprise when entering the doorway. When the whole job is done and the new lighting installed our store will indeed be "one of the bright spots of the city."

A smart paint job and entirely new show windows will add the final touch of beauty to the completely rebuilt ground floor.

CUSTOMERS ARE STILL USING THE BOARDWALK

Rather than walk on the rough cement and bits of plaster on the still unfinished main floor, the many customers who have become accustomed to "business as usual on the first floor" at Echenberg's, are using a rough "boardwalk" to reach the stairway at the rear. There's plenty to be seen along this boardwalk, too, if one pauses to watch the workmen putting the finishing touches to the big alteration job that has taken weeks to complete.

MUCH BIGGER JOB THAN WAS FIRST PLANNED

What started out to be a minor reconstruction job at Echenberg's has since developed into a major task that far outclasses anything that has been done by the 42-year-old firm. The whole ground floor and basement have been rebuilt, new windows are being installed, new stairways built and other necessary work being done to the upper floors. It took carpenters, bricklayers, steel men and painters, electricians, cement-mixers and plasterers to do the big job.

DODGERS AND CUBS SPLIT DOUBLEHEADER IN NATIONAL LOOP

Brooklyn Lead Cut To 2½ Games As Cards Win Against Philadelphia

Brooklyn and Chicago split a doubleheader yesterday, the Dodgers taking the opener 5-4, with a three-run rally in the ninth and losing the nightcap 3-1. As a result of the outcome the Dodgers' lead in the National League was cut to two and a half games, the Cards, in second place, having won their single engagement with the Phillies.

Vandenberg held the Dodgers to four hits in the nightcap and their only run resulted from a homer by Augie Galan.

In the first game Luis Olmo slashed a single to centre off Wally Signer to break up the contest, the hit sending Goodie Rosen over the plate with the winning run. Before Olmo connected the Dodgers scored two runs on a pass to Johnny Peacock, and singles by Bill Hart, Rosen and Dixie Walker. Prim, the Cubs' starting pitcher, retired in the sixth, a victim of the heat, and he was removed to a hospital for treatment.

At Philadelphia, the Cards, in second place, staged four-run attacks in the third and ninth innings. St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Phillies 9-1.

The world champions ganged up on Marshall Scott to push the first four runs across the plate and repeated the performance when Oscar Judd relieved Scott in the ninth.

Charley (Red) Barrett went the distance for the Red Birds and held the Phils to seven hits.

For the second time in three days, New York Giants rallied for three runs in the ninth inning after being shut out for eight frames to defeat Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2.

Pitcher Max Butcher hit Al Garamelle, batting for Ace Adams with two out and the bases loaded to force in Clyde Klutts with the winning run. The victory gave the Giants a 3-1 edge in their four-game series.

At Boston, Bucky Walters, pitching his first game in two weeks after a spine injury, was robbed of a shut-out by Chuck Workman's 10th homer of the season as Cincinnati Reds took the Braves 4-1.

Except for Workman's fourth-inning homer, the only thing the Braves had to shout about was Tommy Holmes' 100th hit of the year in the first inning.

The victory gave the Reds three of the four-game series.

ST. LOUIS CARDS PLAN A TRYOUT CAMP HERE SOON

A letter has been received from A. J. Mullen, of Hamilton, Ont., stating that the St. Louis Cardinals propose to hold a tryout camp in Sherbrooke on August 20 and 21 when morning, afternoon and evening sessions would be held.

It seems that last September a tryout camp was held in Hamilton which proved to be a big success and thirteen Canadian boys were signed up and ten have been retained by the various teams to which they were assigned. There are undoubtedly many good baseball players in this district, too, and they are all urged to attend this tryout camp where they will be watched by capable scouts and given the opportunity to sign up if their talents warrant it.

Mr. Mullen ends this letter by stating that he was impressed by the quality of baseball seen in Montreal in the semi-pro leagues when he was playing ball there and states his opinion that there are many boys in the Province of Quebec who can make good in baseball if only given the chance.

COTE WINS FROM BRITISH CHAMPION—Losing recently to Tom Richards, England's fastest long distance runner, in the Polytechnic Marathon and the Finchley Twenty Miles, Sergeant Gerard Cote, of St. Hyacinthe, had his revenge Saturday, June 23rd, when he won the Rugby Marathon from the British champion. The 23-year-old Canadian Army athlete is seen here taking his customary mid-race gulp of tea as he matches strides with Tom Richards during the gruelling 26 miles 385 yards Polytechnic in which he finished fourth among 63 of the Empire's finest runners. Next year Cote and Richards intend to test superiority again in the Boston Marathon which the Quebecer has won three times.

Senators Win 8-3 Against Tigers, Rapping 15 Hits Off Four Pitchers

By The Associated Press

Rapping four Detroit pitchers for 15 hits, Washington Senators yesterday won an 8-3 decision from the Tigers to become the first American League club in nearly a year to take a series from Detroit at Briggs Stadium.

The Nats hammered Frank (Stubby) Overmire from the found in the first inning with a five-run assault that proved enough margin for Tiny Marino Pieretti, who let the Tigers down with six hits for his eighth victory.

The Washington win gave the Senators the series two games to one and shaved Detroit's League lead to a half game over the idle New York Yankees.

Allie Reynolds, Cleveland Indians' veteran hurler, handed the last-place Philadelphia Athletics a 4-2 defeat, their tenth straight, as Tribesman Frankie Hayes set a new Major League record of 218 consecutive performances behind the plate.

The victory was Reynolds' seventh against six defeats, although he was retiring by the heat in the seventh inning and relieved by Ed Klieaman. Steve Gerkin, Philadelphia pitcher, suffered his seventh loss.

At Chicago, Dave Ferriss, Boston Red Sox sensational freshman pitcher, registered his 11th victory of the season by hitting a two-run homer in the ninth inning to defeat the White Sox by 4-2.

Previously he tied the score in the fourth with a slashing single.

DOMINION DAY

CANADA'S NATIONAL BIRTHDAY

Tomorrow, July the First, will mark the seventy-eighth anniversary of Confederation, and the holiday to be observed on Monday will be Canada's sixth wartime observance of her great national birthday. From coast-to-coast it should be marked by rejoicing, speech-making, cheers and flag-waving. True, we are still at war, but the Battle of Europe is over, and Canada's fighting forces have done themselves proud. As one of the principal powers signing the momentous United Nations Charter for World Peace, Canada has become firmly established as one of the principal nations in shaping world history. Our great Dominion has come a long way since that day in 1867 when the Fathers of Confederation opened the pages of history for this youthful nation.

Our Dominion Day celebrations this year are but outward manifestations of our pride, but it does the nation good for one day at least to fling away its cares and problems and enter with all the vigor of youth into the happy spirit of the event.

While the manner of observing Dominion Day by flag-waving and joyous celebration has its advantages, Canadians must also give a far deeper and more serious thought to the country's interests. As well as being a day of rejoicing, Dominion Day should also be a day of reflection.

An occasion such as Dominion Day affords a rare opportunity for all to unite as Canadians, as the event is one which is essentially Canadian in every respect. It is the anniversary of a united Canada, an occasion when everyone proud of his Canadian citizenship should show his love of country and his willingness to proclaim unto the world his pride and joy in being a Canadian.

Canadians have every reason to feel proud of their country and grateful to Providence for the countless blessings which have been bestowed upon this land, and there is no reason why her people, whether English or French, Catholic or Protestant, should not unite as Canadians and Christians in coming to the front and proclaiming to the other nations of the world a strong, united citizenship, serving one and all with might and main the country which it is our good fortune to claim as "our home, our native land."

"Three thousand miles of border line!
— nor fort nor armed host

On all this frontier neighbour-ground from east to western coast;

A spectacle to conjure with — a thought to stir the blood!

A living proof to all the world of faith in

Three thousand miles of border line—nor has a century

Seen ought along this common course but peace and harmony.

O nations bound in brotherhood! O faith in fellowman!

What better way on earth to dwell than this
God-given plan!

Three thousand miles of border line!
One hundred years of peace!

In all the pages of history, what parallel to this?

God speed that surely dawning day — that coming hour divine —

When all the nations of this earth shall boast such border line!
