Segregation

Bomber Threatens University

ATLANTA (AP) — More than 4,000 Negroes and white persons sang Onward Christian Soldiers as they marched out of the auditorium at Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn., because of an anonymous bomb threat.

Police, firemen and ambulances stood by at the Negro college. The orderly evacuation occurred shortly before an address by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. of Atlanta, a Negro integration leader active in the 11-week-old campaign against segregated lunch counters in the United States south.

Police inspector W. P. Donoho said the bomb threat was telephoned to police headquarters Wednesday night. The auditorium was searched. No bomb was found, however, and the audience returned.

King told the group "segregation is on its death bed now and the only uncertain thing about it is the day it will be buried."

The bomb-threat incident happened the day after a dynamite blast shattered the home of Z. Alexander Looby, a Nashville city councilman and lawyer who has defended several students arrested in sit-down demonstrations. Looby and his wife escaped injury.

The dynamiting led the Nashville chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to send a telegram to President Eisenhower at Augusta, Ga., asking him to visit the city and personally work for improved race relations.

There was no immediate reply from Eisenhower.

Meanwhile, sit-down demonstrations spread to Beaumont, Tex., for the first time and there was court action and scattered demonstrations in other parts of the racially tense south.

Negro students, 13 co-eds and nine youths from Lamar Tech College, an integrated state educational institution, demonstrated at two downtown Beaumont lunch counters.

Police said a white minister who drove several of the students to the lunch counters was arrested. Officers at first booked the Rev. W. D. Simpson for investigation but later filed a complaint charging he gave a Beaumont firm a worthless cheque for $10 April 9. His lawyer posted $500 bond.

At Marshall, Tex., the first of 57 Negro college students arrested during a singing, praying demonstration was convicted by a white jury and fined $400. Lawyers indicated they would appeal. The March 30 demonstration was broken up when fire hoses were turned on the students.

Royal Salute Hails Queen On Birthday

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth is 34 today and flags flew from public buildings and guns thundered in royal salute.

The Queen has been staying at Windsor Castle with her family. In London's Hyde Park the Royal Horse Artillery fired a 41-gun salute and the Honorable Artillery Company fired at the Tower of London a 62-gun salute. Naval ships and shore batteries fired salutes of 21 guns.

Prince Philip, known not to share his wife's love of horses, made an unexpected decision to accompany the Queen from Windsor to the Badminton horse trials today.

After a quiet, family morning at Windsor Castle, Prince Charles, 11, and nine-year-old Princess Anne left with their parents for Gloucestershire for the three-day trials.

Princess Margaret and her fiancé, Antony Armstrong-Jones also were expected to attend the trials along with the Queen Mother.

FRENCH PRESIDENT CHARLES DE GAULLE

Quebec Greets French Leader

OTTAWA — (CP) — France and French Canada may be geographically and politically separated but their "causes are the same," President de Gaulle said Wednesday night.

He told a glittering state banquet that in the great debate wracking the world Wednesday, France and French Canada "think with the same heart, speak the same words."

He spoke for about five minutes before 235 bejeweled and bejeweled leaders of Quebec's military, governmental, religious and social spheres.

The banquet, given by the provincial government, was the last event of the general's visit Wednesday to Quebec City.

Earlier he said French life and thought are "indispensable if the free world is to go on."

"It is essential that French thoughts should not only continue and blossom out throughout the world . . . but we French must recognize that a great struggle is under way."

French thought "plays a part" in this struggle, he told a standing room only audience of 1,200 at Laval University, the oldest educational institution in North America.

Leaving the university, he crossed city hall square to city hall where Mayor Wilfrid Hamel welcomed him.

From City Hall he drove to the Quebec Winter Club where some 350 members of the French community in Quebec held a reception for him. He stayed about 15 minutes, telling them their role here is "to inspire confidence in France."

At city hall de Gaulle thanked Quebec for "the splendid and most touching welcome you have accorded me — and which you

Demand Clarification Of Race Policy

Sauer's Speech Is Under Fire

CAPETOWN, South Africa — Reuters — The white government faced pressure from an opposition political party today to clear up confusion over the future of racial segregation caused by the nation's acting leader.

The demand for a clarifying statement was made Wednesday night by Harry Lawrence, chief of the Progressive party—a small break-away group from the main opposition United Party.

He referred to a speech Tuesday by acting cabinet chairman Paul Sauer who said there must be an important change in the practical application of apartheid (racial segregation).

Lawrence told a party meeting the government should make clear whether the "new approach" to Negroes urged by Sauer reflected its official views.

Sauer, minister of lands, was appointed cabinet chairman in the absence of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd, still recovering in hospital from injuries suffered when a white farmer tried to assassinate him April 9.

Verwoerd was expected to be able to give full attention to his duties in about a week.

ARRESTS MOUNT UP
Sauer's speech was followed by a statement in Parliament Wednesday by External Affairs Minister Eric Louw. He said the government's apartheid policy remained basically unchanged.

Meanwhile, the number of Negroes arrested in raids since Monday mounted to at least 1,200 with Wednesday's roundup of 550 in Negro townships.

The raids were organized by police in a successful attempt to break the back of a stay-at-home campaign urged on Negro workers by the outlawed African National Congress.

At Vereeniging, a judicial inquiry was told that police opened fire without being ordered to do so.

Gallic Enthusiasm Bubbles Over

QUEBEC — Gallic enthusiasm bubbled over here Wednesday as President de Gaulle of France paid a fleeting visit to this capital of New France, second stop of a four-city Canadian visit.

Everywhere he went there were cries of "vive de Gaulle," and "vive la France." Street crowds were not large, but they were enthusiastic. At each stop, France's strongman evoked the ancient ties between Quebec and France.

At City Hall—where he signed the same golden book he signed in 1944—he said that seeing the importance of French Canada is believing it.

At Laval University—where he addressed an overflow crowd of 1,200—he congratulated the university for its contribution to French thought and "especially for maintaining the links with the main motherland, France."

He told some 350 members of the French community at a reception that their role is to "spread the renown of France."

SMILES FOR QUEBECERS
And at a state banquet Wednesday night he said that what is being done in Quebec province is a "great human success and a great French success."

De Gaulle and his party arrived here from Ottawa in chill winds and sunny blue skies. The group was to fly to Montreal early today for a six-hour visit after spending 22 hours here.

Noted as dignified and poker-faced, President de Gaulle had plenty of smiles for Quebecers. Reviewing a guard of Canadian Legion members, he stepped through the lines into the clapping crowd, shaking hands exchanging words with any who could reach him.

He bent far enough to buss a little girl being carried on her father's shoulders.

Driving the 150-yard distance from Laval to City Hall, his limousine was stopped by some of the 3,000 people gathered in City Hall square. He stepped out, shook hands with several, then drove the remaining few yards.

The French leader's visit was mainly ceremonial, a necessary call on his way to a pre-summit meeting with President Eisenhower. He is due in Washington Friday.

Captive Audience In Coal Mine Doesn't Dig Rock 'n' Roll Miner

LONDON (CP)—Rock 'n' roll singer Terry Hale, a 19-year-old digger of rhythm, has been called on the carpet as an unsatisfactory digger of coal.

Hale, an aspiring recording star, tries to do both at once. But his captive listeners at the underground coal face don't dig him. They want to dig coal in peace.

They complained to the management against interference by "coal mine carolling."

Hale called them a "bunch of squares."

And the fight was on. The long-haired rock 'n' roll roller belted out one tune after another at the Workshop, Nottinghamshire, mine while the underground manager belted out a consistent refrain:

"Shut up!"
Hale says he heard that order so often "you could have written a best number to the theme."

But the determined singer, who doesn't make enough money from his crooning to

Key Issues

Map Out Program For Labor

MONTREAL (CP)—Union leaders from across Canada are congregating here for preliminary meetings leading into next week's massive Canadian Labor Congress convention.

Top men in some of Canada's most powerful unions are holding policy conferences to plan their official stand on some of the key—and far-reaching—issues to be aired during the week-long CLC gathering starting Monday.

The country's largest single union—the 80,000-member United Steelworkers of America (USWA)—will set the public pace Thursday with its two-day national policy conference. It promises to be a wide-open discussion of policies and practices on wages, contracts, political action, fringe benefits and public relations in the Canadian primary iron and steel industry and in the metal-mining industry.

Other unions are holding high-level talks as a prelude to the big congress convention, expected to attract more than 1,800 delegates from across the country.

These quieter meetings involve top officials of unions representing oil workers, railway clerks, teamsters and truck drivers, and electrical workers.

US Firemen Are Buffaloed
WORCESTER, Mass.—(AP)—It doesn't happen often, but these firemen were really buffaloed.

Answering a call to a burning hay and feed shed at Green Hill Park Wednesday, the fearless firefighters were met by three buffalo snuggled together in an open pen adjoining the shed, happily enjoying the warmth of the fire.

It's one thing to pull a parked car out of a barn. It's another to pull out parked buffalo, especially when they rise up, draw back and brace for a charge.

While five tons of hay and buffalo mash crackled merrily, firemen and animals glared at each other. Finally the buffalo relaxed, retreated to the rear of the pen and let the firemen go to work.

The buffalo may rue their stand, though. Until the lost feed is replaced, they will have to eat deer mash.

Revolt Crumbles In Venezuela

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—The rebel stronghold in San Cristobal crumbled today under the threat of a battle with troops and tanks of President Romulo Betancourt's army. The rebel leader was in flight with his aides.

Jesus Maria Castro Leon, the ambitious former general in the Venezuelan air force who led the rebel troops across the border from Colombia Wednesday, apparently was heading back where he came from.

Troops attempted to seal off the border by blocking the international road.

LUDLOW, India (Reuters)—Thirty wedding guests—including 19 women and 10 children—were burned to death Wednesday night at the nearby village of Girwarbhera, according to reports received here.

President Summons 'Neutrals'

SEOUL, South Korea — (CP) — President Syngman Rhee was left in lonely control of South Korean affairs today after both his cabinet and the central committee of his Liberal Party resigned en bloc.

The cabinet and the party organization accepted responsibility for the bloody riots this week in which hundreds of anti-government demonstrators were killed or wounded.

Following the resignations, Rhee summoned six senior "neutral" politicians to his heavily guarded residence to discuss the crisis.

But Dr. John M. Chang, the opposition leader who was vice-president until his defeat in the March 15 elections, said the only real settlement was new presidential elections.

Chang, whose Democratic Party claims the elections were rigged by the ruling Liberals, said United States President Eisenhower "through his goodwill" could bring peace to South Korea without directly interfering in the country's affairs.

The 85-year-old president's opposition also declared that his promise of redress for those with "major grievances" was insufficient. The promise came in the wake of bloody anti-government riots Tuesday that brought martial law to the capital and other major Korean cities.

There were no reports of renewed violence as troops and police patrolled the cities. But tension mounted as the bodies of demonstrators shot by police were turned over to weeping, wailing relatives.

With at least 1,000 persons shot during the riots, the known death toll stood at 147. Hundreds more still were in critical condition in hospitals or in their homes.

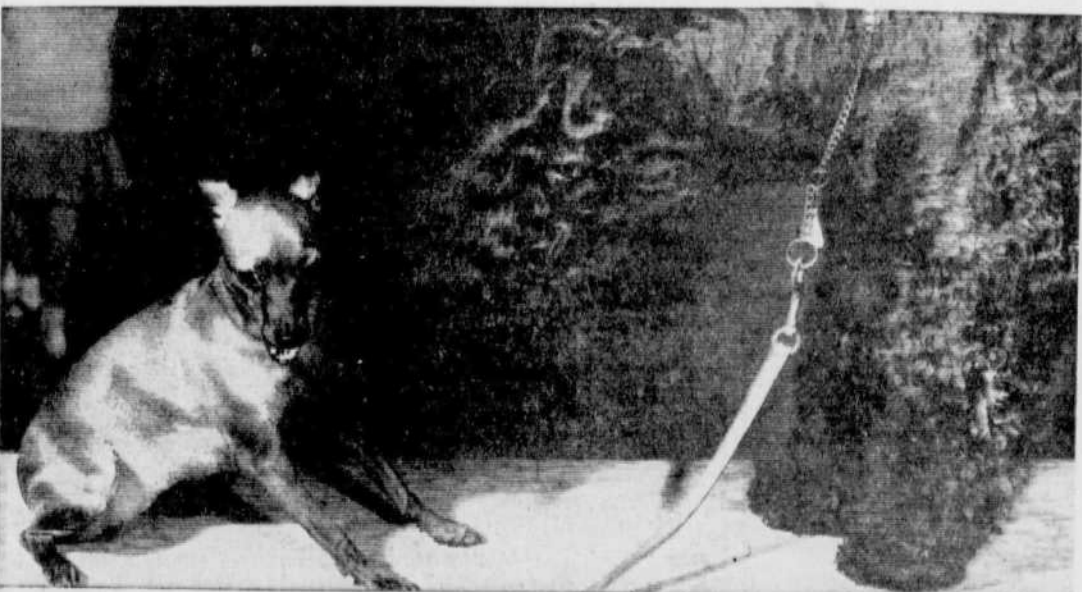

NO COMPROMISE
John M. Chang, leader of the opposition Democratic Party, declared there would be no compromise in his party's demand for new elections.

"Anything short of that would never solve the fundamental question," he told a press conference after the announcement of the cabinet's resignation.

Chang lost his bid for re-election last month to Lee Ki-poong, Rhee's Liberal Party running mate. Rhee, running unopposed for his fourth term after the death of the Democratic party candidate, piled up the biggest vote of his career in the election.

The election was the principal issue behind the uprisings. The Democrats have charged Rhee's Liberals with rigging the voting and widespread ballot box stuffing to insure a Liberal in power should the aged president not live out his term. Chang defeated Lee POLICE ACTION IN SOUTH KOREA — Korean police restrain rioting student mobs with guns, clubs, and tear gas, killing 82 and injuring some 300 others in the nation's capital, Seoul. Dr. Syngman Rhee has declared martial law in Seoul and five other cities including Pusan where five were killed in the second day of violence in the tiny Republic of Korea.

Burning Grass Ignites House At Fitch Bay

FITCH BAY — A small house at the rear of the Roger Poitras store was gutted on Saturday when fire spread from nearby burning grass to the building.

The house had been vacated by tenants the previous day.

Rock Island firemen were called, as there was danger of the adjoining house, belonging to Clarence Thayer, and other buildings becoming ignited.

Hoses laid to the river played water on the fire to prevent sparks from flying. The metal roof of the house was also of help in containing the sparks. Power saws were used to fell two trees and hoses were attached to faucets in nearby houses to spray the Thayer home. The work of removing a considerable amount of lumber was hampered by thick smoke.

The Magog firemen also answered the call, but the blaze was under control when they arrived. The house, recently purchased by Mr. Poitras from Alcide Gaudreau, was partially covered by insurance.

Show Business

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Chuck Connors played baseball, other players labelled him as "that actor."

Now that he's successful in movies and television, other actors label him as "that ballplayer."

"I can't seem to belong to the right group at the right time," moans the six-foot, five-inch former first baseman for Brooklyn Dodgers, Chicago Cubs, Montreal Royals and Los Angeles Angels.

Connors, whose confidence is reminiscent of Dizzy Dean's, took me with him to the Los Angeles Dodgers' opener with the Cubs.

As the crowd roared, I asked Connors if he ever regretted giving up baseball for acting.

"You want the truth?" he answered. "I don't regret it one bit. As a ballplayer, I was a good minor league. As an actor, I'm major league—if I can get the other actors to accept me as such."

A few years ago, Connors deserved an Oscar nomination as best supporting actor for The Big Country. His portrayal of the mean son of Burl Ives is a classic of screen villainy, but he didn't get the nomination.

"Too many actors refused to vote for a ballplayer," he says.

When he was offered the starring role in TV's The Rifleman, Connors confidently predicted that the show would make TV's top 10 this season. It did—and it's still there.

"I wouldn't have accepted the role if I hadn't thought so," he says with a likable cockiness. "I could have had good movie roles instead."

For a change of pace, he has a role coming up soon in a big budget epic to be filmed in Europe.

As a Dodger rookie, Connors was noted for reciting aloud The Shooting of Dan McGrew, his devastating imitations of owner Branch Rickey and manager Burt Shotton—so devastating that he got farmed out to Montreal after one performance in front of the subjects.

In 1952, he was earning $6,200 a year with the Angels here when he put his histrionics to spare time use in the movies. "I got $500 for the first three days I worked in the movies," recalls Connors. Other parts followed and he doubled his Angels salary in his off time. Now he earns $150,000 or better a year—double what Babe Ruth used to make.

Male Nurses Not Rarity In Britain, Visitor Says

By BARBARA WARK
 (Record Staff Writer)

Male nurses in England are not the phenomena they are in Canada.

Clifford H. Scowcroft, one of their number who has just completed a 12-week tour of hospitals in the United States and Canada to study nursing education methods, says in fact they are fairly common.

Mr. Scowcroft is principal tutor of the Nurse-Training School at Pinderfields General Hospital in Yorkshire, England, the equivalent of our educational director.

His visit to the Sherbrooke Hospital and its School of Nursing the past couple of days was the wind-up of a tour that has taken him to such centres as New York, Detroit, Toronto, Montreal, Windsor, Brantford and Hamilton. In some he has visited former students now working here.

This first visit to Canada was sponsored by the British Commonwealth Nurses War Memorial Fund, a fund providing scholarships for study abroad.

"I guess I didn't choose the right time of year," the visitor commented. His view of the famous Niagara Falls was seen through a blizzard.

But a number of things have impressed the English instructor. One is the standard of hospital accommodation, the bright, modern surroundings and small wards.

He also thought student nurses have more continual supervision during their training period and considers the ratio of instructors to students much better in this country than in England.

But he is a bit wary of the increase in mechanical aids such as intercom systems, TV etc., which might take some of the personal touch away.

"We shouldn't make nursing a mechanical thing," he said.

Male nurses are used particularly in English mental hospitals, Mr. Scowcroft commented. Often they take their psychiatric training first and then their general training. There are 12 following this procedure now in his own training school.

And there are certainly opportunities for those who prove themselves, he added. At the Pinderfields General there are 12 male head nurses at present.

"I would like to see more Canadian nurses receive scholarships to come to England to study," Mr. Scowcroft said.

Miss Charlotte Lavoie and Miss Denise Samson were named winners last night at the annual public speaking contest at Mont Notre Dame School sponsored by the Alumni Association.

Each of the winners received $25 cash prizes from special funds established by the Alumni Association in 1938 and 1939.

Miss Lavoie who spoke in English, chose as her topic, "Our Sovereign Pontiff John XXIII," outlining his life from the time of his birth, during the war and his climb in life until his appointment as Pope in 1958.

"Contrary to many other Popes," Miss Lavoie said, "jolly" Pope John understands the working class, and often visits outside the Vatican. He regrets that he cannot speak the English language."

Miss Samson, speaking in French, chose "Culture" as her topic, emphasizing that although it is not necessary for high school students to always choose to speak about cultural topics, it is preferable to continuous talk about social life.

Miss Christiane Fiset chose the topic, "Baden Powell and The Marvellous Scout Movement."

Miss Marlene Parker, delivered her speech concerning the problem of national concern, "Juvenile Delinquency" in a pleasing manner using many catch phrases to emphasize her well-chosen points.

"Statistics prove that fathers only spend seven and one half minutes each week alone with their sons," Miss Parker said.

"Although life may be just a bowl of cherries to some," she said, "it will mean just a bottle of champagne to children whose parents drink continuously in the home."

Miss Claudette Langlois' speech, "The Men Who Are Like The Rest" gave a resume of the leprosy disease in French. The other French contestant Miss Marthe Beauchemin, was unable to present.

Miss Margaret Pearson gave a detailed talk on the "Advances of Science" and Miss Kathleen Small chose to speak about "Careers and Vocations For Women."

In naming many careers for women, she cited marriage as the most important.

"The wife must be a woman of many virtues," Miss Small said, "the most important of these being patience and tolerance following close on its heels."

Dr. R. Cousineau gave the decision of the French judges. Mrs. Jacques Olivier, Mrs. Albert Rivard and himself, R. Finn declared the winner of the English section on behalf of himself and the other judges. Mrs. Stewart Hensford and Mrs. Fred White.

The guests were welcomed in English by Miss Geraldine Hebert and in French by Mrs. Octavien Leveque, co-chairman of the public speaking committee of the Alumni Association.

Funeral Of Rene Buser Held Today

Funeral service was held this morning at ten a.m. in St. Anthony's Church, Lennoxville for Rene Buser who died suddenly at his home this week.

Mr. Buser has been chef at Bishop's College School for some years. He was 44 years old. He leaves his wife and two sons, Arthur and Lawrence to mourn his death.

Interment will take place in the parish cemetery.

Formal Charge In Magog Case

Twenty-four-year-old Denise Bousquet, of Magog, was arraigned on a charge of endangering the life of her 31-year-old brother Paul by causing him bodily harm when she appeared before Judge Redmond Hayes yesterday in District Court.

Judge Hayes set April 29 as the date for the girl's preliminary hearing.

The axing of the girl's brother was first discovered by Magog police about 7 a.m. when they were called to the home of Henri Bousquet, father of the injured man.

Neighbors at the time stated that Mrs. Henri Bousquet first notified them of the incident about 7 a.m. when she rushed over in her night clothes to call a doctor.

Near the body of the victim police discovered an axe believed to be the weapon which inflicted the wounds.

Bousquet was taken to La Providence hospital in Magog but was later transferred to the Montreal Notre Dame hospital where he was reported hovering between life and death for more than 10 hours. He suffered four wounds to the head.

Ferguson Is Given Pen Term

Ewan G. Ferguson, of Asbestos, was sentenced to a two-year penitentiary term with recommendations for psychiatric treatment when he appeared before Judge Edouard Boisvert yesterday.

He had pleaded guilty April 6 to 16 charges of defrauding Quebec businesses of more than $1,150.

Ferguson was recommended for psychiatric treatment upon his own request. Instead of asking for clemency, Ferguson asked the court to give him a break by ordering psychiatric treatment for him because he did not have to steal.

"With the salary I earn," he had said, "I had no reason whatever to act the way I did. I do not ask for the clemency of the court but simply a chance to be treated by a psychiatrist."

Four Plays In English Drama Event

Four plays will be presented in the English drama section of the Youth Festival taking place this Saturday night in the Bishop's College School auditorium at 7.30 p.m.

King's Hall, Compton, Stanstead College and Bishop's College School will be competing and adjudicator will be Peter Symcox, drama director and designer of Montreal, who will give his remarks and announce the winners at the end of the performances.

The benediction of the land and the turning of the first sod at the site of the $17,000,000 mental hospital to be erected on the northeastern outskirts will take place on Saturday morning at 11.15.

Among the special guests invited to the ceremony are Archbishop Georges Cabana, who will dedicate the property, Finance Minister J. S. Bourque, Claude Gosselin, MPP for Compton, Denis Gerin, MPP for Stanstead, and Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke.

The construction of the new hospital has been entrusted to two local firms, Newton Construction Co. Ltd. and J. M. Jeanson, Ltd.

Golf Pro Speaks To Y's Men

Harry Fowles, golf pro of the North Hatley Golf Club was the guest speaker at the weekly supper meeting of the Y's Men's club last night at the Magog Hotel. President Hal Evans presided.

Mr. Fowles spoke on the fundamentals of becoming a good golfer stating that stance, grip, and proper hitting of the ball were big factors in good golf. These were shown to the members in a film, "From Tee to Green," which displayed many well known golfers and their different styles. Another film of the 1958 Open Golf Championship held at the Mayfair Golf Course in Alberta was also shown to the members. The speaker was introduced by Walter Mutchler Jr. and thanked by Jeff Wilson.

Members were again asked to have all ads for the track meet program in by next Wednesday. This was a must as the time is limited for the printing of the program. "Life Saver" money returns should also be in by the next meeting.

Ladies' night will be observed at next Wednesday's meeting. Members and their wives or girl friends are asked to be on hand not later than 6.30 p.m. Bowling will follow the supper.

With only four more meetings to the Track Meet, May 21, a full attendance at these remaining sessions was requested. The success of the Track Meet depends upon these preparation meetings.

Increased Research Vital To Textile Industry Expansion

"The truly great and important developments in the world are nearly always the result of the future security of the textile industry will depend on more highly-trained technical people in the industry, management understanding and the financial support of the industry for research and wider use of the application of scientific investigation, S. J. Hungerford, new products supervisor, textile fibres department, DuPont of Canada, last night told the Eastern Townships Textile Association at their annual banquet.

Mr. Hungerford described the broadening horizons of science and technology in the textile industry. In his talk he dealt with the background and traditional aspects of the industry, the changing role of textiles today and the accelerated change in the foreseeable future.

The keynote of the future, he said, lies in the field of research, for that is the direction of further development. "In the interests of self-preservation the time may not be far distant when Canada may have to take positive action in the further development of technical resources within our industry."

"The industry . . . has a long history and therefore is deeply influenced by tradition. The production of textiles has always been on a 'unit basis.' This term means that we have developed certain equipment to a state of advanced refinement but we are still obliged to duplicate the equipment when we want to double our capacity."

Mr. Hungerford pointed out that certain investigations have been made to bypass this difficulty. These investigations include the fields of mechanics, ultrasonics, hydrodynamics, electrostatics and aerodynamics.

"What we need now" he said, "are new machines and processes with productive capacity greatly in excess of standards now generally accepted."

"The keynote today is one of change. We must be ever ready to evaluate new developments and to determine their applicability to our daily tasks. Moreover, our scientific interests must extend beyond textiles as such in order to reap the maximum possible benefit, collaboration between industries."

ARCTIC BIRD
 The knot, a robin-size bird of the sandpiper family, breeds in the Arctic and is an occasional visitor to southern areas.

"There are three essential ingredients" he concluded, "needed to insure our future. A wider understanding of the philosophy, use and application of scientific investigation in industry problems. This will insure that management will understand research to be good business when money is spent intelligently in this direction. We need better and more highly trained technical people in our industry, since without them, we can do nothing. We need the financial support of the industry to do the job but even more than this we need management understanding so that science and management may move forward in step."

Growing Too Fast

No mother needs to be told that children can grow too fast for their own good. Often what appears to be healthy, rapid growth is really a danger sign.

The same thing, to some degree, may be said of the economy of a nation such as Canada which over the past few years has enjoyed a period of unparalleled prosperity and expansion.

This seeming paradox — problems over prosperity — was touched on by Eric W. Kierans, president of the Montreal and Canadian Stock Exchanges in an address to the Sherbrooke Rotary Club this week.

Mr. Kierans said it seemed difficult for Canadians to realize that in an era of rapidly expanding output of goods and services serious problems could be created by the very pace of that growth.

Our most pressing problems, he pointed out, are the high measure of foreign control over our resources and the growing deficit in our balance of trade.

His solution to both of these problems is simple — a greater ownership in Canada's resources by a larger and better informed section of the Canadian public.

And his solution, though simple, makes sense.

A country can't purchase foreign consumer goods at an excessive rate if it is directing its surplus cash into domestic investments. And as more of this surplus money is thus employed less foreign capital will be required to prime our national pumps.

We would then be able to continue our rapid growth without the dangerous and unnecessary side-effects that we are now enduring.

The High Cost Of Motoring

It should come as no shock to the long-suffering motorist to learn that he is shouldering a hefty share of the provincial tax burden.

The extent of his tax payments, however, might rock him.

It was set this week, in an analysis prepared by the Canadian Tax Foundation and published in its Tax Journal, at $129 for each licensed driver in the Province of Quebec.

Week-ending In Jail

The Missouri judge who sentenced a speeding student to spend the next seven week-ends in jail may have established something of a doubtful precedent.

Magistrate E. A. Harrison, in explaining the sentence said he wished to punish the boy for travelling 90 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone and at the same time allow him to keep up with his school work.

Actually, it is doubtful if the plan will have the desired effect. The offender obviously is a thrill seeker and probably is seeking the kudos of his companions for his "feats" behind the wheel. The fact that he is a part-time jail bird might only serve to increase his prestige in the eyes of his fellow students, many of whom find the lawbreaker is a more picturesque character than the law enforcer. The one-day terms will cause little serious inconvenience to the youth.

Apparently, during 1958 provincial governments across Canada derived nearly one-quarter of their total revenue from gasoline taxes, vehicle registrations and license fees and from fines for traffic infractions.

So the next time you add up your car expenses, don't stop at depreciation, mileage, insurance and parking. Add on that healthy $129 tax bill if you want to get a true picture of your motoring costs.

Not knowing the complete details of the case, it is difficult at this distance to propose a proper punishment, but it seems that some more effective action could have been taken to prevent a recurrence of the offence.

Tariff Protection And Unemployment

(Financial Times)

Impatience is being shown by the Canadian Apparel and Textile Manufacturers Association over the failure of the Japanese authorities to provide any information regarding voluntary quotas on exports to this country. In an interview in Montreal during the past week Laz Peters, president of the association said: "Fabric producers, garment manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers are finding it extremely difficult to plan business while living under the uncertainty caused by the Japanese. If Japan does not announce voluntary quotas soon, then the Canadian government will be justified in taking strong action."

The question is, however, whether the strong action CATMA states is called for by the government will be taken. To date, during its two terms of office, the Progressive Conservative administration at Ottawa has demonstrated no inclination to depart from the traditional free trade policies of Liberal governments or to pursue the traditional protective tariff policies of former Conservative administrations. Possibly the fact that the Prime Minister is a westerner and represents a Saskatchewan constituency might have something to do with this departure from tradition or possibly the "Progressive" in the nomenclature of the party may be the reason.

Significant is the fact that, according to dispatches from Australia, the government in that country is under fire from different directions and for various sins of omission or commission which are being charged to it. One of the sins of commission is the decision of the Commonwealth government to remove nearly all import quotas. Feared, according to the dispatches, is an increased flood of imports from Japan before a case can be put to the Tariff Board; and the fact is being emphasized that imports of Japanese goods into Canada increased by 15 1/2 per cent during the first 11 months of 1959.

It is all very well to argue, on this question of Japanese competition, that if Canada wants to sell to Japan it must buy from that country. That, of course must be admitted; but surely there should be some regulation of these imports to the extent that the very existence of a Canadian industry will be threatened. Ottawa should wake up if it does not want to see an industry which is an important employer of labour even more seriously affected in its operations than it is today.

Canadian Editors React To American Editorial

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canadian newspapers have not worked up any particular indignation over a United States paper's suggestion that Americans spend their vacations at home to avoid the Canadian discount on U.S. currency.

A Canadian Press survey of reaction in this country shows papers pointing out that the discount rate is set in the U.S. money markets and also noting amiably that in most parts of the U.S. Canadians can't even spend their money despite its premium value.

What impelled the Detroit Times' front-page suggestion Monday was the recent decision of Canadian banks to discount U.S. coinage, previously accepted at face value though paper money was discounted.

"Smacks not only of cupidity but also usury," The Times said. "Aw, c'mon, fellas, don't get sore," admonished the Ottawa Citizen. "It's not our fault... the trouble is our bankers aren't sentimental." Four American quarters were worth only 96 cents Canadian on Wall Street.

The Toronto Globe and Mail said sharp money boys have been working a legal racket by importing U.S. coinage, converting it to Canadian notes at par and changing these back to U.S. money at the discount with the result that about 25 per cent of coins circulating in Canada were American.

The banks had been forced to protect themselves from this "legal racket."

"The splenetic outburst of The Times was composed more of pure ignorance than of sensible considerations," the Calgary Albertan commented.

"A moment's reflection is all that is necessary to recall that it is not really Canada which discounts the American Dollar, it is the U.S. which does it by paying more for Canadian dollars."

The Halifax Chronicle-Herald suggested that Canadian tourist officials, "instead of decrying the unfortunate change," should try to offset adverse propaganda being voiced in the U.S.

"This might well take the form of a kindly letter of explanation, distributed at the border, on the whys and wherefores..."

"Let The Times, purely in the interests of science, send one of its reporters deep into Michigan with a pocketful of Canadian money to try to spend or exchange at a bank," the Montreal Star advised. "His experience could be instructive."

"We think that all Americans ought to know that the premium on the Canadian dollar is not of our making," the Edmonton Journal said. "In fact, we do not like it. The premium can be traced to the law of supply and demand."

"The time had to come when U.S. currency would be excluded from circulation in Canada... there have been signs that U.S. currency was being dumped in Canada, in the hope of taking advantage in the differential in the rate of exchange... it has become, in a certain sense, equivalent to counterfeiting or clipping the coinage of the realm."

The Winnipeg Free Press agreed with the Detroit Times that the banks' discount rate on coins—higher than the dollar rate—smacks of usury. It said a good case can be made for charging the official discount to the closest cent.

But the Winnipeg Tribune said the usury charge was "wounded pride, wounded pocketbooks and a smattering of ignorance—three sure-fire incentives to intemperance and wrong-headed assertions."

The Ottawa Journal commented: "We don't know the age of this Detroit editor, but if he's over 15, which he very well may not be, he must remember when Americans discounted our Canadian dollar not by three or five per cent but by as much as 15 and 18. How one-sided was Canadian-U.S. friendship then?"

STILL A COLONY

(Windsor Star)

Senator Jean-Francois Pouliot of Quebec has more knowledge than most of Canada's constitution. He argues Canada is still a colony, in a technical sense at least. He cites Section 56 of the British North American Act as giving the United Kingdom Parliament power to disallow any legislation passed by Canada's Parliament.

He admits the United Kingdom would not dare do this. It could lead to Canada becoming a republic. The United Kingdom, in fact, would be happy were Canada to take full power to amend the B.N.A. Act. We now have such power in matters over which the Federal Parliament has full jurisdiction but not where federal and provincial jurisdictions overlap or conflict.

We should long since have assumed this complete power. The irony is, insofar as Senator Pouliot is concerned, that his own Province of Quebec has been one of the impediments. There has been no federal-provincial agreement on the exact method by which we should make constitutional amendments. Agreement was impossible during the regime of Premier Maurice Duplessis. The process to date, where necessary, is to apply to the Imperial Parliament which automatically gives consent.

Senator Pouliot is right in that we should remove the last vestiges of colonialism (political colonialism, that is). Perhaps he can persuade his own government in Quebec to be co-operative.

SWIMMING POOLS

by Clyde Blackburn

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Diefenbaker has been ultra careful and almost evasive when questioned on the repulsive and alarming situation in South Africa.

No doubt he has been right in his attitude. He has said that his own feelings about racial discrimination are such that they would line him up with those who oppose apartheid.

But he stood aloof and proposed to keep Canada's Parliament aloof from the vexed question.

His argument has been that what might be said or done in our Parliament might hurt rather than help the distressing circumstances in South Africa. So probably it was something of a shock to him when a Canadian correspondent was jailed under circumstances typical of happenings in rigidly Communist capitals.

And also when the British House of Commons took up discussion last Friday of a resolution deploring racist policies pursued in South Africa and declaring for freedom and equality for all peoples.

NOT INDIFFERENT

This piece is to draw attention to the fact that the Prime Minister is not so indifferent as he might have appeared to be.

And to the fine things that can happen in a House of Commons where so much low comedy and mediocre politics can be and often is displayed in the guise of legislative toiling.

The South African situation was a natural for a blast at the Diefenbaker Government when the House opened Monday.

There was the matter of a Canadian national's arrest and the assassination attempt on the South African Prime Minister, and the continued unhappy situation in that section of the world.

But Opposition leader Pearson, who is a seasoned diplomat probably high among the world's leaders in that field, even if he is not an astute politician (which I doubt he pretends or wants to be) did not jump at the Government.

He quietly asked about steps taken to protect the Canadian national arrested in South Africa (radio reports already had announced he would be released if he would leave the country) and also if the Canadian Parliament would have an opportunity to express its views on South Africa by the means taken in Westminster last Friday.

The Prime Minister repeated

VICAR'S IDEA

(Cleveland Plain Dealer)
An English vicar is a man of courage, and Rev. A. C. Shrimpton, of Nottingham, lived up to precedent when he asked his women parishioners not to wear spike-heeled shoes into his church, or, if they insisted on wearing them, to remove their shoes before they entered.

"It would be a terrible thing," he declared, "if the (new $400) carpet were spoiled before these ankle-twisting death-trap shoes pass out of fashion."

When we consider such things as velvet lawns, we are moved to emulate Vicar Shrimpton's noble example and ask the ladies to leave their heels at the curb.

what we all knew about the Canadian's arrest and the Government's representation on his behalf.

PM AT HIS BEST

On the other aspect—the advisability or otherwise of this Parliament taking a stand on the South African question, I suggest Mr. Diefenbaker was never better as a statesman.

He said, as he had said in the past, that "we deplore the situation that has brought bloodshed in South Africa."

Then he referred to the forthcoming prime ministers' conference in London where he said he was sure this thorny subject would be discussed. It was not on the agenda because there was no agenda.

Then he said that because there was no immediate opening for such an item on the order paper and because the Commons was adjourning Wednesday for an Easter recess, and because there was still much to be learned from both sides on the African problem, it would be better to have the discussion after the recess, and that he proposed to do.

Then the Prime Minister, I believe, made one of his most statesmanlike declarations: "I would also point out," he said, "that if I were not sitting where I am with the responsibilities that are mine, I would express myself somewhat differently." And he was looking straight at the Opposition leader who obviously knew and appreciated what the Prime Minister was conveying.

COMMON BASIS

However, Mr. Diefenbaker said, the Commonwealth Prime Ministers' Conference could not be allowed to assume the task of judge and jury of the conduct of member nations. Nevertheless, he added, and he associated himself with former Prime Ministers King and St. Laurent, he hoped that in time the group of Commonwealth nations would produce something valuable in this connection.

This would be a "declaration of basic, accepted principles with regard to human dignity so that together all nations of the Commonwealth may hold, in so far as these basic fundamental things that touch the sacredness of the human person are concerned, a common basis for agreement."

I may be sentimental but I thought this exchange was one of the best moments of the present session.

EARLY THINKING SAVES CONTRACTS

The time to plan your play is early in the hand; not after you have made a mistake.

South won the second heart trick; cashed the ace of spades, dropping the six spot from dummy. Then he led a spade to dummy's jack. West showed out and East was in the lead with the queen. He played the six of diamonds and South won in dummy. The nine of trumps was led and when East played low, South was still in dummy. He wanted to get back to his hand to pick up the last trump and went into a long huddle. Finally, he led dummy's king of clubs, but West held off with the ace. The jack of clubs came next and again West held off. He did take the third club and led back the jack of diamonds.

South was back in dummy and had to lead a third diamond whereupon East ruffed and set the contract.

The hand would have been easy if South had done his thinking early. In that case he would have unblocked by dropping dummy's nine of spades under his ace. Then when he led the third spade from dummy he would have been able to win the trick in his own hand and pick up East's last trump.

Asbestos Shipments Higher

QUEBEC — (Special) — Shipments of asbestos by producers of the Province of Quebec were appreciably higher in February 1960 than during the same month of the preceding year. On the other hand, those of gold, silver and lime were a little less and those of clay products and cement, much lower than in February 1959.

The information is contained in a statistical bulletin on the mineral production of the Province of Quebec issued by the Honorable W. M. Cottingham, Minister of Mines.

The publication also shows that, in relation to the preceding month, asbestos and silver registered a slight rise, and clay products and cement, a more considerable advance during the month of February, whereas gold experienced a negligible drop and lime, a somewhat more important decline.

The cumulative totals for the first two months of 1960 give the following increases and decreases compared with the corresponding period in 1959. Asbestos rose 14 per cent. Gold dropped 14 per cent. Silver, 2 per cent. Clay products, 23 per cent. Lime, 3 per cent. and cement, 14 per cent.

in the 1956 election. The outgoing cabinet ministers were generally considered Lee's proteges. Their resignation appeared to be mainly an apology for the bloodshed and not a move toward correcting underlying causes of discontent.

DEMANDS MORE DEMOCRACY

United States Ambassador Walter P. McCone met with Rhee for an hour to press the U.S. demand for more democracy as a solution to the situation. The retiring ministers neither fixed nor accepted the responsibility for the harsh military suppression of the civilian outbursts. In a statement, they said: "While the causes and responsibilities are yet to be explored and discussed, we fully realize that we have failed in assisting the chief executive and serving the people adequately."

Rhee was reported to be seeking men of greater stature for the new cabinet. Among those believed under consideration are former premiers (Korea has since abolished this post) Y. T. Pyun, and Lee Bum Suk; former chief justice Kim Pyong-no, and former acting premier Huh Chung. All have been out of favor with Rhee for some time.

DEMONSTRATORS FREED

Martial law headquarters reported the first full day of quiet throughout Korea. However, other reports said police in Inchon, west of Seoul, stopped a parade of 100 college boys who then briefly squatted in the street.

The pro-government newspaper Seoul Shinmoon and the English-language Korean Republic appeared for the first time since the rioting Tuesday. Seoul Shinmoon, whose building was set afire and gutted by demonstrators, reduced its normal four-page size to two. Martial law headquarters announced the release of 1,004 demonstrators picked up during the uprising and said 104 were still being held.

Press reports said authorities stopped traffic in Kwangju, 170 miles southwest of Seoul, in a mass roundup of riot suspects. Kwangju is one of four cities in addition to Seoul under martial law.

Sutton High School News

Mr. Mann came to Sutton High on Saturday, April 9, as planned, to give aptitude tests to the 12 candidates who wished to take them, in hopes that the tests will aid them to choose the career they are best suited for. He will return again later on in April for interviews with the pupils.

The Athletic Association has decided to organize girls' inter-school basketball games, to be played during noon hours. The games will be between the school's two "houses", the Tigers and the Lions. Four teams have been formed, junior Tigers and senior Tigers, and similarly a junior team and a senior team belonging to the Lion house.

Grades VI, X, and XII, who study Canadian history had an excellent opportunity recently to get to understand Canadian government. Mr. Glen Brown, M.L.A. for Brome County, visited the school to explain to the pupils the way in which the Parliament is organized and how its members are elected. Mr. Brown also outlined parliamentary procedure. He made this easier to understand by setting up a model parliament with students as members.

Classes dismissed for the Easter Holidays on April 14 and school will re-open again on Monday, April 25 after a ten day holiday.

CJM Earnings Held Steady In Quarter

ASBESTOS—(Special) — Consolidated earnings of Johns-Manville Corporation and subsidiary companies for the first quarter of 1960 were $4,652,000, compared with $4,646,000 for the corresponding period last year. C. B. Burnett, president and chief executive officer, reported Wednesday.

Sales for the first quarter of 1960 were $74,801,000 compared with $74,742,000 for the first quarter of 1959.

Earnings per share of common stock for the first quarter were 55 cents, compared with 56 cents for the same period in 1959.

Mr. Burnett noted that sales and earnings levels were about the same this year as last in spite of a sharp curtailment of business in March this year due to particularly bad weather throughout the country.

No Difficulty Is Foreseen In Russ Trade

OTTAWA. —(CP)— Canadian trade officials foresee no great difficulties in Russia expending its exports to Canada under terms of the new three-year Soviet-Canadian trade treaty.

The two-for-one agreement, signed Monday in Moscow, provides for Canadian exports up to $25,000,000 annually if Canada buys half that amount—$12,500,000—in Soviet goods.

Last year, Soviet sales to Canada totaled only $2,290,000.

One expert here describes the amounts as "a fairly modest target."

"I won't take too many items to bring imports from Russia up to the $12,500,000 figure."

MALE NURSES

He felt there should be more exchange of nurses and while English ones often come over here there does not seem to be the same flow back.

During his travels Mr. Scowcroft found some serious misconceptions about the national health service in England.

Contrary to some ideas, he said, patients can choose their own doctors. And the care they receive is in accordance with their need. This would include special nursing, special treatment—whatever was deemed necessary, irrespective of the patient's social standing.

Mr. Scowcroft is married to a nurse, too, so it's definitely a family affair. But he claims their 13-year-old daughter has no particular leanings in this direction. At the moment she just "wants to be herself."

New York Dock Strike Is Feared

NEW YORK (AP) — White-collar workers of New York shipping firms went on strike today and their waterfront picket lines threatened a tie-up of all port traffic.

Longshoremen refused to cross the picket lines set up by local 153 of the Office Employees International Union, and also refused to work on some piers where pickets had not appeared. Only about 200 pickets were actually on duty.

The longshoremen are members of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Passengers from the American Export Line's Independence which docked just before the pickets appeared, had to carry their own luggage off the ship. They were helped by American Export Line office personnel and ship crew members.

The office workers union called the strike in a campaign to be recognized as bargaining agent for about 90 white collar employees employed by the New York Shipping Association.

The Doctor Says

MOTHER, BREAST-FED BABY GET TO KNOW EACH OTHER
By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.

Letters continue to arrive in support of my advocacy of breast feeding. The following excerpt from one of them is so tender and amusing, I felt I had to share it with you.
"It makes me laugh," writes a 42-year-old grandmother from Bangor, Wis., "when I hear young mothers worry that nursing their children will ruin their shape. I nursed all five of my children. Here are a few reasons why:
"First, I am a firm believer in natural feeding. Besides just feeding, it gives mother and child a rest and time to get to know each other. A bottle-fed baby is cheated of this.
"Also we have lived in old, cold houses in which, at 2 a.m. and 6 a.m., it was much easier and cozier to take the little one into my big bed and nurse it rather than shiver in a cold kitchen, holding a kettle in the open lid of an old cook stove stuffed with papers and pine kindling while Junior howled and woke up the whole household.
"Not for me," our correspondent continues, "I like the cozy way much better and besides I don't think it did anything wrong to my breasts. I take a bra just one size larger now than I did when I was a girl 16."
My reluctance to give up bacon and eggs as a means for preventing arteriosclerotic changes has brought both brickbats and bouquets.
One of my most respected colleagues expressed the opinion that I performed a disservice when I limited my recommendations to the use of a mixed low-calory diet for weight reduction.
Many farmers and their wives praised me for my refusal to subscribe to the current campaign to replace fats of animal origin (cream, butter, lard, eggs) with those of vegetable or synthetic origin.
Addressing a recent meeting of the American Heart Assn., Dr. Louis E. Schaefer reported findings that appear to support my view that the process of arterial hardening is influenced less by the character of the food we eat (exogenous metabolism) than by what we do with that food after it is digested (endogenous metabolism).
Quite simply, Dr. Schaefer studied the blood fats of husbands and wives who presumably subsist on the same diets. He could find no constant relationship in these levels.
But when he compared the levels of each marital partner with the levels of members of their families (fathers, mothers, sisters, brothers), he found quite constant relationships.
While not conclusive, these findings suggest that the development of arteriosclerosis bears a closer relationship to our inherited chemical factories than it does to the type of fuel we use to stoke our furnaces.
How'll you have your bacon? Brown, crisp and sort of powdery? And the eggs? Sunny side up with the yellow kind of jelly-like?
Me, too!
Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the

New Service Gives Tourist Chance To Visit British Homes

LONDON (CP) — The trouble with being a tourist in Britain is that there is little chance to meet the people who live here.

Time is too precious. What with castles, museums, art galleries, theatres, shops and The Tower, it is little wonder that visitors have little time or energy left to get acquainted with Britons.

But now, even meeting congenial people can be arranged.

Mary Leach, a young woman from the Midlands of England, has devised a scheme to introduce visitors to British home life. She has founded the Tourist Hospitality Service which operates from London's West End.

The THS, although only two months old, already has more than 900 names of people willing to entertain the tourists that will be pouring into Britain this summer.

Miss Leach's main task now is making files of prospective hosts and hostesses to ensure that when someone from another country visits a British home, the guest and hostess will have common interests, if not necessarily common age and profession. A doctor from Montreal could meet a doctor from Dorset, or if he would rather forget his work for a while, he might prefer a candle-maker from Cleethorpes.

The idea is that the visitor will be entertained. The details are left to the hostess. It would usually involve meeting members of the family and friends. The service does not, however, include accommodation.

One of the most reasonable aspects of this service is that the entertainment, which can be fatal to a family's weekly budget, is paid for by the visitor himself. He pays Miss Leach a fee of 30 shillings for an introduction card and gives the card to his hostess who sends it back to THS and gets £1 for her expenses.

Miss Leach explains the purpose of the Tourist Hospitality Service:

"We feel that the average visitor would rather enjoy an evening's entertainment in a home with congenial people than eat in a restaurant on his own."

Marriage

WINTLE — BLISS

AYER'S CLIFF — The marriage of Barbara Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Bliss of Stanstead, to Mr. Norman Ephrem Wintle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Wintle of Gould, took place on Easter Saturday, April 16 in Beulah United Church, at half-past two o'clock.

Rev. A. W. Seaton, officiated at the double ring ceremony. Mrs. Gordon Shipway played the wedding music, and accompanied Mrs. Nelson Pierce, in the rendition of Because before the ceremony, and O Perfect Love during the signing of the register. Multicolored gladioli were used to decorate with Easter colour tulle marking the guest pews.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white tulle and lace over satin, styled with a bouffant skirt of tulle featuring panels of lace. The lace sequin and pearl trimmed bodice was finished with a bateau neckline, the long sleeves ended in lily points. Her finger tip length veil of tulle fell from a sequin decorated crown. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and her jewelry was a strand of pearls, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. Ernest Wintle, as matron of honor for her sister, wore a waltz length gown of light blue nylon chiffon over taffeta, designed with a bouffant skirt and shirred bodice with floating panels at the back. She wore a white bandeau headdress and her cascade bouquet was of white baby chrysanthemums.

Miss Linda Bliss, as junior bridesmaid for her sister, was in a shell pink flowered frock of nylon chiffon, having a bouffant skirt, and draped cowl neckline with back ties. She wore a white bandeau in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums.

Little Miss Lauren Bliss, niece of the bride, as flower girl, wore a cinderella dress of pale yellow nylon chiffon embellished with tiny pink flowers, over taffeta. She wore a white flowered hat and carried a basket of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. Edward Wintle was best man for the brother and the ushers were Leslie Bliss and Gilbert

Wintle, brothers of the bride and groom.

Mrs. Bliss, mother of the bride was in a powder blue two piece suit, a toning blue hat and accessories, and wore a corsage of white carnations.

Mrs. Wintle, the groom's mother, chose a charcoal and blue flowered dress worn under a navy blue faille duster, with accessories of blue and black and a white carnation corsage.

The reception was held in the church hall where decorations were carried out in Easter colours. The bride's table was centered with the three tier wedding cake, made by Mrs. Bliss, the bride's mother, and decorated by Mrs. Rose Thompson. Flowers and candles completed the arrangement. The Beulah Evening society was in charge of the refreshments.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Wintle left on their honeymoon trip to the New England States, and on their return will reside in Ayer's Cliff. For travelling, Mrs. Wintle wore a heavy blue embossed silk faille jacket dress, white and tan accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Phone Is Mother's Helper And, at Times, Her Despair

Along with its monthly bill the telephone company has sent me a little folder to remind me that the telephone is the "housewife's helper."

The chatty little message goes like this:

"How often do you use your telephone? The answer to this question would probably surprise you, as it did a neighbor of mine who kept track of her calls for a week. In a little diary she jotted down a note about every call she made or received. During one week she counted 107 calls. My neighbor found most of her calls saved time or work."

If most incoming calls save a housewife time and work she must not have any teen-age children in the family. And it is quite obvious that she doesn't have her name on every advertising list in town and on every list of "good prospects" for charity drives and community work.

If she did, her diary of a typical day's calls would probably go something like this:

"Joe called Junior at 4 o'clock to make plans for double-dating tonight. Asked if I could take a message, he said he would call back later."

"Joe called again at 4:20. Joe called at 4:40. Joe again. Junior still not in and Joe still reluctant to leave message."

"Member of church circle called to ask if I would bake two cakes for sale. Said I would. "Dance school called to tell me I had been chosen for a free dance lesson. I said: 'Thank you, but no.'"

"Got out of shower to answer phone. Wrong number."

"Let roast burn while Mrs. C. tried to talk me into heading PTA committee."

"Spent 40 minutes listening to Dora tell me her troubles. Said I

she felt better when she hung up — but my ironing still in basket."

Those outgoing calls may be timesavers for a housewife. But the incoming calls are one of a busy housewife's biggest headaches, for the housewife doesn't have a secretary to say she is in conference when she is elbow deep in work.

Beauty Tips

Don't go out dressed any old way on a rainy day. The weather itself will be depressing enough. You can cheer up your friends and yourself by wearing a trim, colorful rain outfit and carrying a gay umbrella.

FLOWERPOT LOOK — A high, rounded crown gives the "overturned flowerpot" look to this black cloche in London. It's trimmed with a pink rose.

Italy Inspires A Savory Supper Dish

For those who seek adventures in eating, Italian cuisine offers a variety of interesting and flavorful dishes from which to choose. You needn't travel halfway around the world to sample them, however. Many recipes for Italian specialties and their adaptations can now be prepared right in your own kitchen.

If you favor Latin dishes, try Pork and Cheese Pie, Italiane. This zesty entree captures the flavors of ground pork and two cheeses between layers of whole bran cereal buttermilk biscuit. Service this hearty main dish with a crisp green salad.

Pork And Cheese Pie Italiane
1 cup all-bran (whole bran cereal), 3/4 cup buttermilk or sour milk, 1 1/2 cups sifted flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/3 cup shortening.

1 pound ground lean pork, 1/2 cup chopped onions, 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese, 1/2 cup shredded Swiss cheese, 1 egg, beaten, 1/4 teaspoon Tabasco sauce, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons minced parsley, 1 tablespoon milk.

Combine All-Bran and buttermilk; let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse corn meal. Add All-Bran mixture, stirring only until combined. Turn dough out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few times. Divide dough in half. Roll half of dough to fit bottom of 9-inch pie pan. Place dough in pan. Cook pork and onions over low heat until pork is no longer pink. Pour off drippings. Cool. Combine with remaining ingredients except milk, mixing well. Spread over dough in pan. Cover with remaining dough rolled out to fit pan. Brush with milk. Bake in moderately hot oven (400°F.) about 25 minutes. Cut into wedges and serve immediately.

Yield: 6 servings.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

—by Byrne Hope Sanders

MONTREAL, April 21st—Here's my word to the wise homemaker who would like to be a wonderful cook. Try the flavour magic of MAGGI CHICKEN BOUILLON CUBES and you'll agree, I'm sure, that here's a whole new way to make meals taste better. Yes, Maggi Cubes make a delicious hot drink or appetizer (only 4 calories a serving too!)... but there's so much more you can do with them! Add gourmet flavour to your stews, gravies and casserole dishes—simply by adding Maggi Cubes. Drop two or more Maggi Cubes in the boiling water before you add rice, peas or carrots. Delicious! Look for the yellow and red package of Maggi Chicken Bouillon Cubes next time you shop!

AVOID YOUR FAMILY'S WRATH... by double-checking your shopping list for SNACKERS. Yes, once you've given your family a taste of golden-crisp McCormick's Snackers, they'll insist that you keep a box or two always on hand for delicious snacks, anytime. You see, Snackers are the crackers made specially for snacks and parties, too. From one box of Snackers you get four favourite shapes... rounds, triangles, squares and fingers... always fresh and snappy! Ideal for entertaining and perfect with soups, cheese and peanut butter. Next time you shop, don't say crackers—say Snackers!

SPRINGTIME IS PLAYTIME... but still no time to neglect the danger of unsanitary, slow drains! How to take care of this problem with a minimum of time 'n' trouble? Just put quick-and-easy GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER to work. You'll find Gillet's Drain Cleaner has a special churning, boiling action... quickly and completely scours out every trace of the greasy mess that collects in clogged-up drains. All you do is put 2 tablespoons of Gillet's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week... and you know that all your drains are fast-running, clean and sanitary.

HOW NICE TO MAKE THE 'APRIL CHANGE' from winter clothes to fresh spring dresses! The best way I know to keep your spring clothes fresh for many wearings is to trust to the complete protection of ETIQUET (Deodorant and Anti-Perfume). You can buy it in Cream, Jar or Tube; handy Stick—or in the new, unbreakable Etiquet Roll bottle. The built-in Roll marble simply rolls on exactly the right amount of lotion to keep you fresh and dainty all day long. Choose your own favourite method of applying this famous deodorant... Cream, Stick or Roll... you can always count on Etiquet for complete, day-long daintiness.

WASHING AFTER WASHING, your woollens will stay as new-looking as the day you bought them when you give them the deep-cleaning care of NEW WIDE RANGE ZERO SOAP. Yes, Zero, the soap made specially for woollens, is wonderful for keeping them fresh and beautiful, and for retaining the bright new-ness of wonder fabrics like Orlon and Ban-Lon. No scrubbing or rubbing... Zero floats out stubborn dirt. When you wash with Zero at the temperature you like best—cool, tepid or lukewarm—your most precious woollens will never, never shrink or mat. Look for the New Wide Range Zero with the big red "Zed".

A GOOD MIXER!

With all the many things to do these days, there's nothing more helpful than DOMESTIC PURE SHORTENING. Dependable as can be, Domestic is also a good mixer. Into the bowl it goes, right out of the 'rig. No waiting period for this shortening. Pure Domestic makes baking so easy, I've plenty of time for other things, too. If you're like me, with lots of baking to do, buy pure Domestic in the economical 2 1/2 lb. size... in the pretty re-usable plastic containers.

A BARGAIN IS A BARGAIN... only when you have the cash to take advantage of it. That's why I urge my friends to open "special purpose" accounts at their neighbourhood branch of the BANK OF MONTREAL. Be sure to make regular deposits and you'll be delighted to see your savings grow. Then when some attractive bargain presents itself, you're there with the ready cash to take advantage of it. Wonderful "buys" are always turning up, and money in the bank can make the difference between wishing and having. So why not open your own "special purpose" account at your neighbourhood B of M today?

HAS THIS EVER HAPPENED TO YOU? A letter from a Halifax lady says that when she was papering a room she stooped to pick up a roll of paper, and was stricken by a sharp pain in the back, so severe that she couldn't stand up. She goes on to say: "I had heard of TEMPLETON'S T-R-C's through friends and so decided to try them. I am thankful to say that they gave me complete relief from pain." Since then, she says, she takes T-R-C's for relief any time she gets a back-ache or lumbago. Do try them yourself if you suffer from arthritic, neuritic, sciatic or rheumatic pain... and tell your friends about long-famous, reliable T-R-C's.

Gene Fullmer And Joey Giardello Slug To 15-Round Draw

12,000 Fans Paid $110,000 To See Slugfest, Referee And One Judge Were Divided And One Voted For Draw

BOZEMAN, Mont. — (AP) — Gene Fullmer's world middle-weight boxing crown still rested on his bruised brow today after tilting dangerously in a bloody slugfest and butting duel with Joey Giardello.

The officials ruled the 15-round brawl Wednesday night a draw. Referee Harry Kessler from St. Louis, scored 1: 144-142 for Giardello. Judge Ray Evans of Butte, Mont., gave it to the champion 145-142. Judge Billy McFarland of Missoula, Mont., called it even at 145-145. The Associated Press scored it 144-144 and even in rounds.

More than 12,000 fans who paid in excess of $110,000 crowded into the Montana State College fieldhouse for the bout.

Fullmer, who just made the 160-pound weight limit, collected all the $100,000 television receipts. Giardello, who weighed 158 1/2 pounds, received $25,000 plus $5,000 expenses.

There was confusion at ringside for several minutes after the split votes of the referee and judges were announced. The status of Fullmer's crown remained uncertain until Sonny O'Day, chairman of the Montana Athletic Commission, stepped to the microphone and told the crowd: "The decision has to be a draw. Fullmer retains his crown."

Fullmer said his next bout probably will be in Salt Lake City, Utah, June 15 against Carmen Basilio. The mauler from West Jordan, Utah, won the title from Basilio last August.

Gustave (Bubi) Scholz, German contender, is also in the picture with a possible date this fall in San Francisco.

The action was fast and furious in the early rounds. By the fourth, blood streamed down the faces of both fighters. Kessler's grey shirt and trousers looked as if he had just stepped out of a slaughterhouse.

Giardello peppered away with jabs around Fullmer's head while the champion countered with a relentless body tattoo which made Joey wince half a dozen times. Although both suffered heavy jolts throughout the battle, there were no knockdowns.

Five stitches were needed to close the deepest wound above Fullmer's left eyebrow. Giardello in his dressing room, pointed to a deep gash on the top of his head, other cuts about his eyes and a welt on his left hip.

This was the 28-year-old Fullmer's second successful title defence and brought his record to 31-4-1. Giardello, 29, has an 83-17-6 mark with one no-decision.

General Manager Perry Moss Claims Alouettes Will Do Everything To Prevent Exhibition Between NFL Clubs

MONTREAL (CP) — General manager-coach Perry Moss of Montreal Alouettes said Wednesday his club will do everything in its power to prevent a scheduled football exhibition between New York Giants and Dallas Cowboys from taking place here Aug. 29.

"If this game is not called off," Moss said in a statement, "then the National Football League can rest assured that we will take whatever steps are available to compete against this thoughtless venture and any other ventures that may develop."

Moss made the statement in reply to Giants general manager

CTA Turns Down Racicot's Bid For Appeal

MONTREAL — The Canadian Trotting Association at its annual spring meeting Wednesday rejected Lionel Racicot's appeal against a one-year suspension as secretary of the Sherbrooke, Que., raceway.

The executive in a five-hour meeting upheld a decision made last year in Toronto to suspend Racicot "in the best interests of racing."

There was no elaboration. The association is the administrative body of harness racing in Canada. Hugh Proudfoot of Ft. Coulonge, Que., is president of the 449-director body.

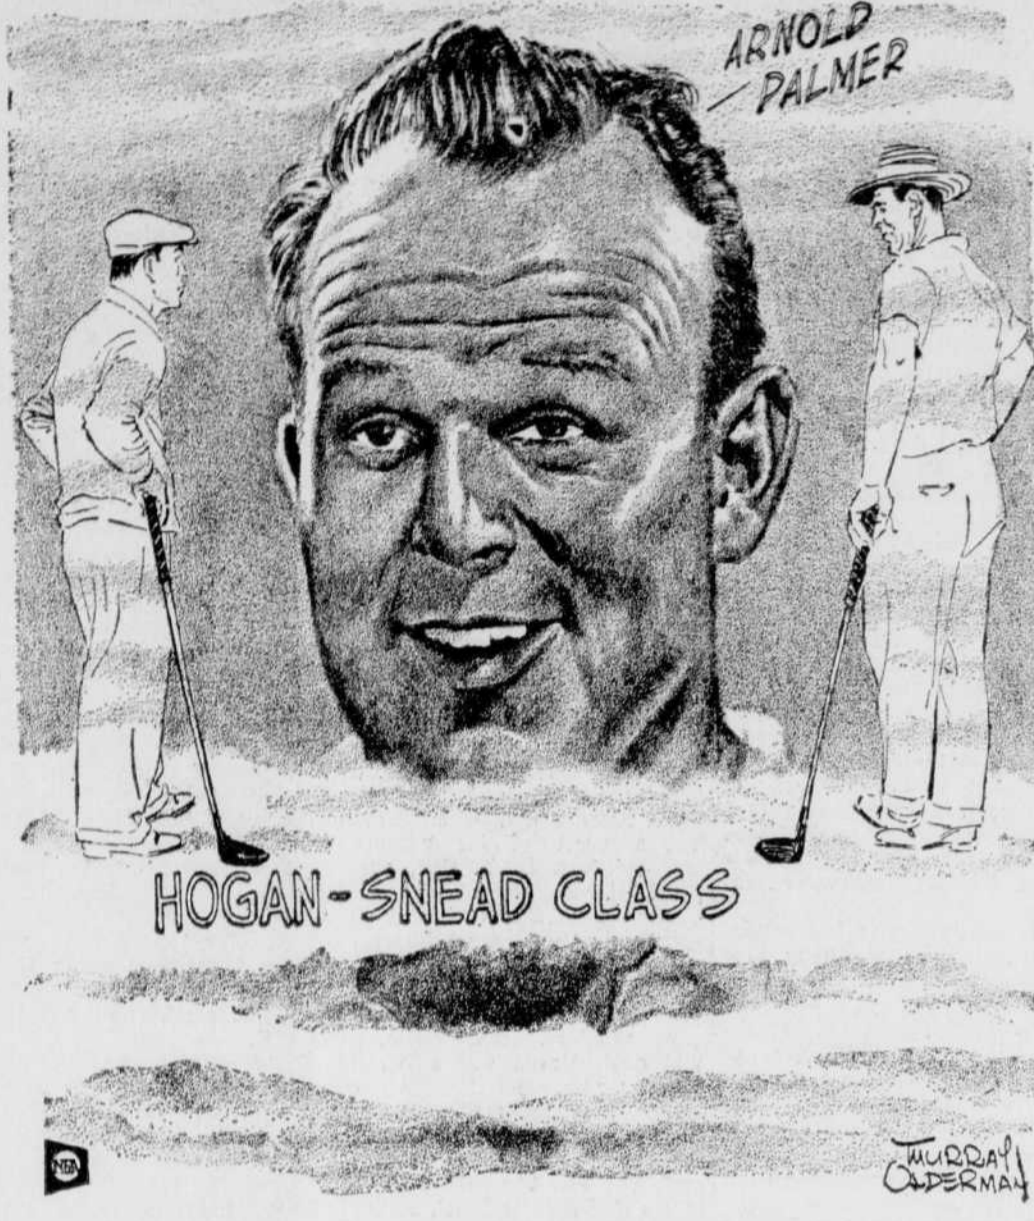

Proudfoot announced the association's schools for officials such as starters and judges will be conducted this year by Ed Hackett of Columbus, Ohio, secretary of the United States Trotting Association.

One school will be held here April 26 and a second in Toronto two days later.

Clifford Bradley of Brighton, Ont., was reappointed Canadian supervisor of racing and Montreal's R. O. Guy was named his assistant, a new post.

Also reappointed was Clare Smith, presiding judge at Ottawa's Connaught Park.

MONTREAL — General Manager and Head Coach Perry Moss of the Montreal Alouettes, announced today the signing of Ted O. Danby, halfback from the University of Virginia.

Scottsville, Virginia. He attended high school at Greenbrier Military School.

In 1959 Danby carried 45 times and picked up 131 yards on the ground. He snagged 14 passes for 170 yards and scored one touchdown. He threw three times and completed two passes for twelve yards.

Teepees lead the best-of-seven series 3-2. Next game is Friday in Toronto and a seventh, if necessary, at the Montreal Forum Saturday.

Gilles Francoeur scored two goals and Andre Drolet, Keith McCreary, Wayne Freitag and Germain Munger one each for Canadiens.

Woodstock Stops St. Lambert 3-0 In Pee-Wee Tilt

WOODSTOCK, Ont. — (CP) — Woodstock blanked St. Lambert, Que., 3-0 today to knock the defending series A champions out of contention in the Young Canada Week Pee Wee Hockey Tournament.

It was the first game for both teams in the nine-day tournament which draws a total of 87 teams from four provinces and the state of Michigan. The A series is for cities of 7,500 to 35,000 population.

Woodstock will face either Waterloo, Ont., or Mount Royal, Que., in the second round tomorrow, both of which play their first games early in the day.

All of Woodstock's three goals came in the final six minutes of play. Jimmy Patterson scored on a passing play in front of the St. Lambert net for the first goal and a little over a minute later Norm Morris slipped a soft shot under St. Lambert goalie Allan Pettley.

Bob Sears scored the final goal on a pass from Ron Nicol just 17 seconds before the end of the game.

Burke Emery Offered Bout With Mike Holt If He Wins Title Fight Here, Sunday Afternoon, May 1st

Burke Emery, Sherbrooke's contender for the Canadian lightweight championship, has an offer to fight Mike Holt of South Africa if he can win the Dominion title at the Sherbrooke Arena, May 1. Holt is rated in the top five lightweights in the world.

Emery's manager, Al Bachman, stated that the Sherbrooke boxer would receive $5,000 plus all expenses for the Holt bout. Consequently, Emery could break into the "big time" with a win over Toronto's rugged Gordy Baldwin a week from Sunday.

Emery has been training for the Baldwin fight as he has never trained before and has been impressing the railbirds at Stillman's Gym in New York. A few days ago, Charley Goldman, who guided Rocky Marciano to a world title, claimed Emery has improved tremendously over the same lad he conditioned a few years ago. Emery has been sparring with some of the boxing game's top performers such as Rory Calhoun, Alex Miteff, Dick Tiger and Bartolo Soti.

On the other hand, Baldwin who is doing his ring work in Toronto, is confident that when he leaves the Sherbrooke ring on May 1st he will be taking the Canadian title back to Toronto with him. Baldwin has met the likes of George Chuvalo, Dave Rent, George Kartalian and Earl Atteley.

Baldwin's manager, Earl Sullivan, believes his protege can stop the Sherbrooke fighter and go on to bigger things in the boxing world. Regardless of the final outcome of this important battle, there should be a lot of action before a new Canadian champion is crowned. Both fighters are capable of good give and take fighting and don't know the meaning of the word "quit."

Demaret Puts Golf to Music

JIMMY DEMARET starts on Friday a new instructional series, "Natural Golf", for Newspaper Enterprise Assn. and Sherbrooke Daily Record.

A golfer's golfer for more than 25 years, Demaret's bright personality shines through, just as it does in his Golf-to-Music Lessons album and his narration of All-Star Golf seen by millions on television weekly.

Demaret, who was taught golf by Jack Burke, Sr., in Houston as a youngster, knows the game in all its phases—caddy, greenskeeper, club and touring professional. Three-time winner of The Masters, Demaret has finished in the money in more than 325 tournaments. No one has made a more thorough study of the Royal and Ancient game.

Jimmy Demaret's "Natural Golf" will help the beginner, the club player and the star to improve their games.

Bell and Hodgins were unseated along with Ed Kelly driving Meadow Jeb and Eddie Cobb handling Ohio Rose. None of the drivers or horses was seriously injured.

Bromptonville Makes Demand To Join Sherbrooke Junior Baseball League, Four Teams Comprise Loop At Present

The Sherbrooke Junior Baseball League has high hopes of getting an entry from Bromptonville, stated President Marie-Louis Fortier following last night's meeting held at the King George Hotel.

The representatives from Bromptonville asked for fifteen days to give a definite answer and the league officials agreed to their demand. President Fortier is hopeful they will give an affirmative answer as an entry from Bromptonville would certainly be an added attraction to the circuit.

Richard Joncas, president of the Bromptonville Recreation Centre, who attended the meeting last night stated he and his members would do their best to form a club. Other members of the committee were, Lionel Vallieres, Maurice Emond, Jacques Desloges and Edmond Tobin.

A very important motion was passed last night by the league by raising the age limit to 22 years of age by May 1. This move was made in order to help the

Interest In Skiing Grows Rapidly In Mountainous British Columbia

By PETER BUCKLEY

VANCOUVER, (CP)—Skiing is growing up rapidly in mountainous British Columbia, a province just made for the sport.

Surprisingly, the boom seems biggest in areas far from the main population centres.

Community after community in the Interior has blossomed as a ski area and it is there that winners are produced.

There are about 125,000 skiers in B.C.—from the shakyls who don skis once a year to the addicts who get the bends when they drop below 3,000 feet.

Most half are in the southwestern section—the area that includes Vancouver, New Westminster, Victoria and suburbs. Six clubs were formed last year, bringing the total to 27.

B.C. was host to the first Canadian ski championships—in 1968 at Red Mountain between Rossland and Trail—and the world's first laminated ski is said to have been put together by Vancouver boat-builder Hamish Davidson about 1920.

But until about 10 years ago, those who skied generally did so without such refinements as tows and lifts, lodges and plowed access roads.

Although the most highly developed area in B.C. is in the mountains rising out of Burrard Inlet overlooking Vancouver, skiers there aren't happy.

Mostly SIGHTSEERS

For example, 4,100-foot Grouse Mountain has a large free school with about 5,000 members and up to 70 instructors. But it draws more people for the view than the skiing. Last year about 60,000 sightseers used the two chair lifts on the sunny south side during the summer while only 40,000 people went up in the winter. And half the winter visitors also took the ride just for the breathtaking view of the Vancouver area.

Comparable conditions exist at 5,200-foot Red Mountain, one of the toughest hills in B.C. It has a 3,800-foot chair lift and 900-foot rope.

Two areas in eastern B.C. have begun to draw the overflow from Banff and other Alberta resorts.

With $500,000 invested in equipment and property, says manager James Beaton, Grouse is not in a position to cut off the tourist trade to please the skiers.

Although Hollyburn Ridge to the west of Grouse has a 5,800-foot-long aerial lift and other amenities, its best ski area is controlled by the Greater Vancouver Water Board which doesn't like skiers trespassing.

The government has spent considerable sums developing 4,700-foot Mount Seymour, a provincial park, and it draws the largest crowds because of its accessibility by car and closeness to Vancouver. But most of its development is aimed at sightseers since it is below the 3,500-foot level acknowledged as the main snow line in winter.

As long as we have the present indifference to skiing development in Vancouver, we will not develop top skiers," says Bob Bartley, western representative of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association. "We're going to fall behind while the Interior moves further ahead."

Red Wings Rally To Nip Havana In 10-Inning Battle 4-3, Bisons Stop Richmond As Royals Down Columbus

The whirlwind finish of the Havana Sugar Kings that eventually brought them the 1959 little world series title is all forgotten today. This is another International League season and the Kings learned right off that they'll have to stand or fall on 1960 performances.

The Rochester Red Wings spoiled the Kings' opener before Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and 20,000 fans with a 4-3, 10-inning victory.

But the Buffalo Bisons, last season's champions, started off on the right foot with a 6-2, rain-shortened 7-inning victory over Miami. Toronto scored five runs in the last three innings in edging Richmond 6-4 and Montreal defeated Columbus 7-4 in other first game activity.

LAST NIGHT'S STARS

Pitching: Mike McCormick, San Francisco Giants, gave up only two singles, and held Los Angeles Dodgers hitless for five innings in 1-0 victory.

Cincinnati Wallops Milwaukee 10-5 As Red Sox Dump Yanks 7-1, Tigers Down Cleveland To Take Over Top

Southpaw Mike McCormick threw a two-hit shutout at Los Angeles Dodgers Wednesday as San Francisco Giants grabbed a 1-0 victory and moved into a tie with the world champion Dodgers for the National League Lead.

In other day action in the National, Cincinnati Reds crushed Milwaukee Braves 10-5 in 10 innings.

American League action saw Boston Red Sox triumph 7-1 over Casey Stengel's New York Yankees, while Detroit Tigers earned a 6-4 decision over Cleveland Indians.

Two night games were carded, one in each league. Washington was to play at Baltimore in the American loop, while Philadelphia was scheduled at Pittsburgh in the National.

McCORMICK HOT

The Giants' McCormick, who tossed a three-hitter at St. Louis Cardinals in his first start this season, won a pitcher's duel with Dodger right hander Don Drysdale.

Don Blasingame singled home the Giants' run in the fifth with two out. The hit scored Willie Kirkland who had singled and advanced on an infield out and McCormick's bunt.

At Milwaukee, the battling Redlegs, fired up by the big bat of shortstop Roy McMillan and the ouster of manager Fred Hutchinson, pushed across five runs in the top of the 10th inning to crush the Braves.

McMillan, a lightly regarded hitter, drove in five runs with a pair of homers and three singles in the three hour 22-minute marathon.

Hutchinson and second baseman Billy Martin were banished for heckling and arguing with plate umpire Frank Dascoli.

SANCHEZ GETS WIN

The victory went to right hander Raoul Sanchez, sixth of seven Cincy pitchers.

Lefty Warren Spahn was relieved by Lew Burdette in the ninth, but relief specialist Don McMahon and Bob Rush, the fourth Milwaukee pitcher, were the victims of Cincinnati's late explosion.

Detroit swept the two-game series with Cleveland in Cleveland as Rocky Colavito, Norm

Cash and Al Kaline homered to lead the Bengals attack.

Kaline's homer in the left field stands in the ninth proved to be the winning blow. It was Kaline's two-run single in the 15th inning of Tuesday's opener that gave the Tiger's a 4-2 win in the first game of the so-called "cross-hal" series since the Harvey Kuenn-Rocky Colavito switch by the two teams.

The winning pitcher was Tom Morgan; the loss went to starter Jim Perry.

REAL WINNING PITCHER

At Boston, Stengel's Bombers yielded two errors to the Red Sox and these along with Jerry Casale's two-run double to make the difference.

Casale turned in a sparkling five-hit pitching job besides the big double in Boston's four-run second inning.

Yankee starter Bob Turley, using his half-windup delivery, lasted two innings and was charged with the loss.

Harold Henning Of South Africa Fires Three-Under-Par 68 For Lead In New Orleans Golf Open

NEW ORLEANS—(AP)—Despite the presence of some of golf's big names, a fledgling from South Africa today demanded some attention on the eve of the $27,000 greater New Orleans Open.

Harold Henning, another in the line of fine golfers from the tip of the dark continent, came in with a three-under-par 68 in the pro-amateur that precedes the open. The 25-year-old Henning is trying his hand for the first time against the touring pros.

But most of the favorite talk centered around quiet methodical Dow Finsterwald. The Tequesta, Fla., pro is well on his game, as evidenced by a second-place finish in the Greensboro, N.C., open over the weekend. He tied for seventh in last year's renewal of the New Orleans.

PLAYER CLOSE

Others believed close to the throne room included British Open champion Gary Player of South Africa, Bob Goalby of Crystal River, Fla., and Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y.

Defending champion Bill Collins wasn't mentioned among the first fight, but the Baltimore better said he found the city park course in better shape than last year. Collins has been a little less than a ball of fire on this year's tour.

BOLT LATE ENTRY

Former National Open champion Tommy Bolt of Crystal River was a late entry, but if the rugged Oklahoma native should be close to his best, he could make it rough for everyone.

The 6,589-yard city park course isn't too tough a test for the pros, but oddly, few golfers have ever humbled it badly. Henry Picard set the tournament record with a

LAST NIGHT'S FIGHTS

Bozeman, Mont. — Gene Fuller, 160, West Jordan, Utah, and Joey Giardello, 158 1/4, Philadelphia, drew, 15 (Fuller retained NBA middleweight championship). Leroy Flomond, 162, Calgary, scored third-round technical knockout over Dick Bonnet, Butte, Mont.
