

GREEKS DECLARE WAR AGAINST AXIS AGGRESSION

Early Action By Turkey Expected If Britain Acts

With Britain Promising All "Possible" Support to Grecian Resistance to Italian Demands, Balkan Capitals Hear that Turkish Declaration of War in Support of Great Britain Is Matter of Hours.

(By GUY RHOADES, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Greece declared war on Italy today in the face of a three-hour ultimatum demanding territorial concessions and free passage of Italian troops through the tiny kingdom. Italian bombs fell on Greek soil, killing and wounding citizens while the Greek army of 100,000 indifferently armed men rushed to defence posts behind the newly-strengthened "Metaxas Line" of fortifications.

Authorities in London said the Axis aggression against Greece would bring into operation the guarantee of Greek territorial integrity offered on April 13, 1939, by former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain—provided Greece resists Italy.

Plans were reported being hastened to provide Greece with all possible aid without delay, and it was believed likely that Eastern Mediterranean units of the Royal Navy already were en route to Grecian waters.

Premier John Metaxas of Greece, faced with an ultimatum delivered at 3 a.m. when practically the whole nation was asleep, unhesitatingly rejected it and issued orders for general mobilization.

This morning Athenians rushed through the streets, waving Greek, British and Turkish flags and shouting anti-Italian slogans.

Belgrade reports said Turkey also had declared war on Italy, but there was no confirmation elsewhere and the reports were believed at least premature.

The position of Turkey, an ally of Greece, aroused keen interest, however, for there was reason to believe that Greece was about to be a prelude to an Italian attempt to march to the Dardanelles.

Italian troops, characteristically, were reported to have struck along the Greek-Albanian border half an hour before the ultimatum was due to expire. There were said to be ten or eleven divisions of about 200,000 men and to be supplied from bases established well before today's event.

Rome authorities, who have been drumming up "incidents" along the Albanian border ever since August, when they accused Greek citizens of heeding an Albanian bandit, Daut Hoxha, whom they called a "patriot," claimed today that Greece was in danger of falling into British hands—the old Axis excuse for conquest. Today they also blamed Greeks for alleged bomb explosions on Albanian soil.

Greek troops faced their enemies since September 1, 1939, to find it self the victim of Axis aggression. Germany's invasion of Poland started Continued on Page 2, Col. 6.

German Raiders Continuing Wide Raids On British Factory Areas

London, Oct. 28.—(P)—German planes were reported over the West of England, the industrial Midlands, the East Coast and South Wales in daylight raids today after a series of widespread raids during the night.

Luncheon throngs in London were given a brief air raid alert, second of the day.

Bombers stabbed at London in the first grey light of dawn, only a short time after the all-clear ended the fifty-first consecutive series of night raids on the British capital. The first daylight raid was brief, however.

The overnight air attacks on London were "much less" severe than on the previous night, the Government said, adding that "the main attacks, which were made in the earlier hours of darkness, were on Northwest England and the Midlands."

The Merseyside section of Liverpool and a Midlands town were reported to have been hardest hit in the night raiding on England. Casualties in these places, however, were said to have been "not numerous."

In other parts of the country, the Government said, damage was "limited mainly to houses and casualties were almost confined to one town in Northwest England where some people were killed and others injured."

Before midnight, however, heavy bombs—both incendiary and high explosive—were falling in sticks of

REFINERIES IN GERMANY AGAIN UNDER ATTACK

Six Oil Refineries and Fourteen Air Bases Bombed by British Planes During Night Attacks.

London, Oct. 28.—(P)—Oil refineries were the chief targets of Royal Air Force bombers over Germany last night, the Air Ministry reported today.

Six were attacked, it said, two at Hamburg and others at Hannover, Ostermoor, Gelsenkirchen and Magdeburg.

Among other targets it mentioned fourteen German air bases.

CLAIM ATTACKERS WERE BEATEN OFF

Berlin, Oct. 28.—(P)—Official sources claimed today that British planes attempted to attack Berlin last night but were driven off before they reached the city's outer defences. They claimed no bombs fell.

The alarm in the capital was brief. It was announced in London that the Royal Air Force last night attacked communications in Western Germany, oil targets in Central and Northern Germany and two invasion ports.

Among first photos to reach Canada, picture above shows what happened to Dakar, Africa, when warships shelled the city as Gen. Charles de Gaulle's "Free French" forces sought unsuccessfully to take control from authorities loyal to the Vichy Government. Cookshire Man Listed In 140 Missing In Loss Of Destroyer Margaree

Royal Canadian Navy Loses Second Destroyer Since Outbreak of War with Tragedy in North Atlantic—Warship and Merchant Vessel, Running Without Lights Crash—Many of Crew Fraser Survivors.

Ottawa, Oct. 28.—(P)—The Canadian Destroyer Margaree lies at the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean—sunk in a wartime collision at sea after escaping destruction from enemy bombers while being prepared for service in the docks of London.

Missing and believed lost with this recent addition to Canada's expanded destroyer fleet are 140 officers and men, including her brilliant, youthful officer commanding, Thirty-one others, rescued by the merchant vessel whose steel hull sank their ship, are now en route to Canada.

The Margaree was acquired from Britain to replace the destroyer Fraser, by strange coincidence also the victim of a collision. Many of the men aboard the Margaree when she went down were survivors of the Fraser disaster which cost the lives of forty-five Canadian naval men off Bordeaux, France, last June.

Sinking of the Margaree occurred in the eerie blackness of night over the North Atlantic. Both the destroyer and the big merchant ship she hit were running without lights, through an area threatening enemy action.

Details of the collision are not known. The announcement of the sinking made last night by Naval Service headquarters was only four hundred words long, and that included biographical matter on Commander Joseph W. Roy, of Ottawa, the Margaree's skipper.

"Naval service headquarters at Ottawa deeply regrets to announce that H.M.C.S. Margaree was lost in collision with a large merchant ship in the North Atlantic Ocean during the night hours of 22nd October," the statement said.

"Both ships were completely darkened at the time in accordance with precautions considered necessary in the submarine zone."

"Some survivors were rescued by the merchant ship and are en route to Canada. It is believed there was a total of 171 officers and men aboard the Margaree. Of this number thirty-one are believed to have been saved. The rest are presumed to have been lost."

A short time after the navy announcement, Prime Minister Mackenzie King issued a statement expressing the deepest sympathy of the Canadian people and Government to those who suffered bereavement in the sinking.

"The place of the Margaree will speedily be taken by another destroyer in the Canadian Navy," he said, "but none can take the place of the brave sailors in the hearts of their families and their comrades."

"The names of the brave officers and men who perished with their distinguished commander in the performance of their duty at sea will live in the grateful memory of their countrymen."

British Confirm Sinking Of Noted Canadian Ocean Liner

Some 598 of 643 Persons Aboard Empress of Britain Have Already Been Landed by British Warships, Official Admiralty Communique States—Ship Blew Up and Sank After Salvage Operations Were Underway.

London, Oct. 28.—(P)—Loss of the Empress of Britain, 42,348-ton flagship of the Canadian Pacific line which was under charter to the Admiralty, was announced today.

Of the 643 persons on board, including military families and "a small number of military personnel," 598 already have been landed by warships in British ports, a joint communique from the Admiralty and War Office said.

The announcement said the ship, which last year carried the King and Queen back from their Canadian tour, had been damaged "by enemy action" and later blew up and sank while in tow.

The communique said: "The Admiralty and War Office regret to announce that the S.S. Empress of Britain has been lost as the result of enemy action. The Empress of Britain was attacked by Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.

PARLIAMENT TO PERMIT AIRING OF GRIEVANCES

With Little Government Legislation Expected, Next Session May Be Devoted to Proposals to Speed War Effort.

By FRANK FLAHERTY (Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Ottawa, Oct. 28.—(P)—For the fourth time since war broke out last September the Parliament of Canada will assemble next week.

The first session of the nineteenth Parliament which started in May, continued into August and adjourned until November 5 will come to a speedy close the day it reassembles.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King has announced it is the Government's intention to prorogue that session immediately and open the regular 1941 session on Thursday, November 7.

From the point of view of Government legislation the new session is not expected to be a heavy one. There may be a St. Lawrence Waterway Treaty for approval and some legislation relating to various phases of the war effort and development in the economic life of the country, but for the most part the session will be devoted to the passing of the last session.

So the session may be of more consequence as a forum for airing grievances, presenting suggestions from different parts of the country and bringing out information on the progress of war developments than for the legislation which will be placed on the statute books.

Hon. R. B. Hanson, Conservative House Leader whose recent speeches in the Maritime Provinces gave rise to some pre-session controversy, has called a caucus of Conservative members for November 4, day before the session opens. At that meeting the course of the Conservatives for the session probably will be mapped out and members may express their views on Mr. Hanson's recent utterances.

The Conservative party now is engaged in a campaign to rebuild its organization throughout the country and the Party's House Members probably will consider how their course of action in the Parliament

DICTATORS IN CONFERENCE ON GREEK ACTION

Hitler and Mussolini Study Next Move as Greece Acts to Resist Italian Aggression.

Florence, Italy, Oct. 28.—(P)—Hitler and Mussolini conferred nearly three hours today in the first session of a meeting staged as Italy took what were claimed to be "urgent measures required to face the danger of the situation" in Greece.

The two Axis leaders began their session at 11:30 a.m. and emerged at 1:50 p.m. for luncheon with their Foreign Ministers, Ribbentrop and Ciano, and others.

A second conference was expected to begin about 4 p.m. (10 a.m. E.D.T.).

The Berlin radio broadcast the following communique:

"The Fuehrer and the Duce had a conversation Monday lasting several hours about the present topical questions which took place in the spirit of alliance between the two countries, as usual, in a cordial manner."

DE GAULLE TO CONTINUE WITH FREEDOM FIGHT

Establishes New War Government to Centralize Activities of Anti-Vichy Followers Throughout the World.

By J. F. SANDERSON (Canadian Press Staff Writer)
London, Oct. 28.—(P.C. Cable)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of Free Frenchmen, has set up a Council for the Defence of the French Empire, exercising the duties of a "War Government" and issued a call to Frenchmen the world over to "stand to your arms."

In the first order of the Council, de Gaulle, said Sunday the Government would operate under the laws prevailing in France up to the Armistice.

The move came immediately after the announcement by the Vichy Government that Premier Petain had agreed to participate with Hitler in establishing the "New Order in Europe" and was regarded as the first answer of the Free Frenchmen Continued on page 2, col. 7.

E.T. FAMILY IS BEREAVED IN MARGAREE LOSS

Lt. Rufus C. Pope, Missing and Believed Lost in Sinking of Canadian Destroyer, Son of Cookshire Couple.

Cookshire, Oct. 28.—(P)—Lieutenant Rufus C. Pope, one of one hundred and forty officers and men of the Royal Canadian Navy missing and believed lost in the sinking of the Canadian destroyer Margaree on Tuesday, October 22, following a collision in the North Atlantic with a large merchant ship, was well-known in the Eastern Townships.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Desmond I. Pope, of this place, Lt. Pope had escaped death some four months ago when rescued before the sinking of H.M.C.S. Fraser during operations off the coast of France. His parents had received a letter from him on Friday, just twenty-four hours before receipt of a telegram from Ottawa announcing that he was missing.

Twenty-five years old, Lt. Pope was born in Calgary, Alta., and was educated at a private school in Westmount and later at the Montreal High School. He joined the Sea Cadets at the age of twelve and the R.C.N.V.R. six years ago.

Lt. Pope was a grandson of Senator Rufus Pope, of Cookshire, and of Mrs. F. G. Campbell, Haddon Hall, Sherbrooke Street West, Montreal. His father, and his mother, the former Olive Campbell, of Montreal, have lived in Cookshire since Mr. Pope retired from a position with the National Harbors Board three years ago.

CANADA FIGHTING ENTIRE GERMAN RACE
Toronto, Ont., Oct. 28.—(P)—Canada is faced with the grimmest struggle the world has ever faced and Canadians must realize they are fighting the entire German nation and not Hitler and his followers alone, Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V.C., said in an address here last night.

WAR BULLETINS

Belgrade — Diplomatic circles heard unconfirmed reports today that Turkey had declared war on Italy, following Italian invasion of Greece, but the Turkish legation said it had no knowledge of such action. It said, however, it had received word that the Turkish cabinet had been summoned for an emergency meeting.

London — A Reuters News Agency report from Sofia, Bulgaria, today said air raid precautions had been ordered officially throughout Bulgaria for the first time since the European war began.

Hong Kong — The Saigon radio broadcast a communique of the French Indo-China administration today saying about four hundred Chinese soldiers crossed the Chinese-Indo-China border Saturday and attacked a French post at Probang. The communique said the Chinese were repulsed.

Vichy, France — A Foreign Ministry spokesman said today Marshal Philippe Petain, France's Chief of State had received from President Roosevelt a "personal message" which could be disclosed only by Petain "because of the privacy of its character."

The spokesman said the Foreign Ministry had been informed only orally of the arrival of the message.

Vichy Cabinet Reorganization To Pave Way For Closer Axis Chains

Vichy, France, Oct. 28.—(P)—Vice-Premier Laval was named Premier Minister of the Vichy regime today.

Former Foreign Minister Paul Beauchamp was made Secretary of State, attached to the Presidency of the Council.

Announcement of the shakeup came in a Vichy communique issued after an urgently-called Cabinet session, which Laval left for a trip to Paris for "important discussions."

It did not give the reason. He will be joined later by Gen. Charles Huntziger, Minister of War.

Earlier the Vice-Premier announced he would explain to the nation by radio some time today the French-German conversations which resulted in the Vichy Government's agreement to a policy of collaboration with the Axis for "peace in Europe."

Laval still is charged with the Information and State Radio services.

Frenchmen today were forbidden to listen to British radio broadcasts in public places under penalty of confiscation of the radio.

Laval was pictured by his friends as highly pleased with the success of his policy but was reported to hold the opinion that it is necessary to have not only the Government but strong public opinion back of the new orientation toward the Axis in order to achieve results.

As a result, the Petain-Laval Government began a campaign last night

105TH JUBILEE CELEBRATED BY LOCAL CHURCH

Special Services Held Yesterday to Mark Anniversary of Foundation of Plymouth United Church.

For more than a century a pillar of the Christian faith in this city, Plymouth United Church yesterday observed the one hundred and fifth anniversary of its inception. The building on Dufferin Avenue, in which services are now held was erected eighty-five years ago and can claim the distinction of being the oldest church structure, Protestant or Catholic, located in Sherbrooke.

The guest preacher on this occasion at both the morning and evening services which were conducted by the minister, Rev. F. A. C. Doss, B.A., was Rev. Professor Gerald R. Cragg, M.A., of the United Theological College, Montreal. Professor Cragg delivered addresses at St. Andrew's Church last year.

In his evening sermon the speaker attacked hypocrisy as "really the besetting sin of Christianity." In his opinion hypocrisy in our present day religion is similar to that prac-

ner. It resulted in complete agreement of views.

German Foreign Minister Ribbentrop and Italian Foreign Minister Ciano took part in the conversations.

Planes dived overhead to keep the skies above Florence safe from air attack as the two dictators sat down at a large table in the Palazzo Vecchio, which serves as the City Hall.

It was Hitler's second visit to Florence, which he saw first in May, 1938, when he came to Italy to solidify the Axis.

As they sat, Mussolini on one side of the table with Hitler at his right and Ribbentrop and Ciano seated across from Hitler, a bust of Machiavelli—who once worked in the room—looked down at them from one corner.

Today was the 18th anniversary of the Fascist "March on Rome" which put Mussolini in power in Italy.

Hitler arrived by special train at 11 a.m. (8 a.m. E.D.T.).

tised by the Scribes and Pharisees of Biblical times. "To these sects was handed down, a great tradition but they made little use of it, and we, in turn, are not living up to the standards set by Jesus Christ."

Professor Cragg cited the acceptance of city slums and resignation to the belief that war is inevitable as illustrations of hypocrisy in modern times. The reason for this, in his belief, lies in the fact that "we have loved something else more than we have loved God."

The popular conception of Christ as a meek and mild man overlooked the occasions when He was moved to righteous anger, an example of this being His wrath at those who were buying and selling in the temple.

Goodness, according to the speaker, "is not weakness nor resignation," but rather "a consuming passion."

Goodness which reaches down to men in their sinfulness was held to be the underlying theme of the New Testament.

But if hypocrisy is prevalent among Christians today so, too, is there evidence that it was practised even by great Christian leaders such as Martin Luther, John Wesley and George Whitfield. In this connection Professor Cragg recalled the hope expressed by Whitfield that Christianity would embrace slavery for he would thus have an opportunity of securing several slaves and teaching them the word of God.

The following practices were advanced by the speaker as ways out of hypocrisy: first, greater humility, gained from comparing our lives with that of Christ; second, greater integrity, the carrying out of self-imposed rules or practices; and third, greater commitment, the giving up of our lives to God's guidance.

Professor Cragg summed up his address by giving a quotation of John Bunyan as illustrating sincere, purposeful Christianity: "I will even now leap off the ladder blindfold into eternity, sink or swim, come Heaven, come Hell. Lord Jesus, if thou wilt catch me, do; if not, I will venture for Thy glory's sake."

Present at the evening service were the congregations of the Baptist, St. Andrew's and Trinity Churches.

The following practices were represented by Rev. R. T. Morris, of Montreal, and Rev. R. P. Stafford, of Coaticook, both of whom took part in the service. Rev. Robert Weaver, of the Baptist Church, was unable to attend.

At the morning service Professor Cragg stressed the power of the Holy Spirit, which men say in concrete form in Jesus Christ. This power of God was, according to the prophets, directed to certain ends, namely the deliverance of men and the enrichment of their lives. Thus through Christ's example and teachings what had been an outward example became an inward presence.

"God working in men's lives in the way they had seen Him working through Christ." The speaker summed up his remarks with the statement that "When we say that we believe in the Holy Spirit we say that God continues to work in men's lives in and through the power of Jesus Christ."

country."

The Margaree disaster is the largest single loss Canada has sustained in any of her armed forces during this war. With another individual casualty reported by the navy last night, it raised to 213 the total number of Canadian naval men reported dead and missing since hostilities began over a year ago.

This figure is greater than the combined total of casualties reported by the Canadian Active Service Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force. The C.A.S.F. casualties total 98, the R.C.A.F. 73.

The Margaree was commissioned in England as a unit of the Royal Canadian Navy last September 6. Only last October 13 she was reported as having sailed from the United Kingdom. A story reporting her sailing said she left "for duties overseas."

Eight days later, October 22, she sank following the North Atlantic collision. Naval headquarters withheld announcement of her loss until the next of kin of all officers and men missing and believed drowned had been notified.

Navy headquarters have not disclosed the name of the merchant ship which collided with the Margaree, but presumably she was not seriously damaged, since the Margaree survivors are heading for Canada aboard her.

Cmdr. Roy was holding his first destroyer command. The navy said most described him as "one of the most promising officers in the Canadian Navy" and "would have gone far in the service."

Since the war he had performed several duties which could not be divulged, but which "stamped him as a man of tact and diplomacy."

A native of Ottawa, 39 years old, Cmdr. Roy completed his naval studies at the Royal Navy College of Canada at Halifax in 1918. He served in various ships and shore establishments.

His death was Canada's first loss of a naval commander in this war. Cmdr. Wallace B. Creery of the Fraser survived the sinking of his ship.

Loss of the Margaree reduced Canada's destroyer strength to twelve. Included in this figure are six destroyers, over-age but still

Text Of Address Delivered By Right Hon. Ernest Lapointe

In an address originating in Ottawa, the Right Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Canadian Minister of Justice, delivered a stirring message to Frenchmen in France. The speech, the text of which follows, was relayed to the British Broadcasting Corporation in London for rebroadcast to the people of France, and by long, medium and short wave to all parts of the world. Mr. Lapointe spoke in both English and French.

I speak to you tonight as a French-Canadian, as a representative of that son of the old French oak which you planted and which has grown on American soil. I speak to you in a language which we inherited from you and which we have jealously guarded, and proudly treasured for the past one hundred and eighty years.

With that language you bequeathed us a still more precious legacy: something of the soul of eternity—the sign and symbol of courage, fidelity and honour.

And because we speak the same language as you do, because we understand and feel as you do, I thought you might perhaps like to hear, in these clouded hours of our common history, a brotherly voice speaking to you from the other side of the ocean, there live four million men and women of your own blood and share your anguish and your hopes. There is a saying current among men of all races who honour France—"Every man has two countries, his own and the sweet land of France."

Since our country has been a common home to us, we have been deeply distressed and have offered up fervent prayers to Heaven on your behalf. You brought faith to the shores of our own St. Lawrence; it is not just that we should invoke on your behalf the God whom your martyrs' missionaries glorified in this land?

But we are not content, to suffer and pray with you. The traditions which Cartier, Champlain, Dollard des Ormeaux, LaSalle, Montcalm, and so many of your other valiant knights planted in Canadian soil are ours ever green. Since fate of arms has willed that we should remain in this struggle, we are determined to do our share to restore freedom and peace to the world. You still retain not only our affection but the support of our arms. Since last June, the war effort of Canada has been tremendously increased. Canada has authorized a general mobilization of the country's resources. The training of her thousands of young aviators has been advanced with remarkable speed, and new air training schools are springing up as if by magic on our vast plains. In our aircraft plants, shipbuilding yards, and in the great battlefields, we are labouring day and night with the strongest vigour, will, purpose, to ensure final victory, our common victory.

I say common victory advisedly, for in our eyes, you are still our allies, not only on Europe's far-flung battlefields, but everywhere, on this American continent, where a common soul and a common language cause us, so to speak, to share your reverses and your triumphs. Over there, you are our allies because we know too well the heart of France to doubt an instant of her heart's loyalty.

Because we love the same things, we know that, no matter what fate may bring to her, no matter what tribulations await her, France will never fight against the British, against us, French-Canadians, so many of whose sons have been resting in the soil of France for the past twenty-three years.

This conviction and the solemn pledge made by Great Britain to "free your country, sustain our efforts and exalt our pride. If we find it impossible to imagine a France completely prostrate, renouncing her ancient ideals, we find it equally impossible to imagine that France, who settled us on this soil of France, could ever become the enemy of Great Britain who has always given protection to our freedom and to whom we are bound not only by common interests but further, and above all, by an oath of loyalty, a French oath.

This cannot be, for if the motto of Quebec Province has always been "I Remember," the motto of France has ever been that which is embodied in the words: "Honour and Fatherland." And France, the spiritual and intellectual France, as you well know, goes far beyond mere geographical borders.

In 1936 I had the honour to represent my country at the unveiling of the monument erected on Vimy Ridge as a memorial to our Canadian soldiers who had given their lives on the soil of France in the sacred cause of human liberty and the liberation of your land. This ceremony, witnessed by His Majesty the King of Great Britain and His Excellency the President of the French Republic, confirmed the alliance of the two great nations, whom a common ideal had united in a common sacrifice, a sacrifice which, alas, has not yet ended, but of which the reward may not be very far away. On that occasion Marshal Petain, on behalf of the soldiers of France, presented me with three commemorative medals that I have constantly treasured. To me they have ever remained symbolic: three pieces of metal, which the ravages of time cannot rust.

In my eyes they personify France, Great Britain and Canada; Great Britain and France, two great countries long allied in the same love of freedom and justice, peace, Canada, begotten of them both and uniting them both; Canada proud of her two great parents, and demanding as her birthright the privilege of sharing in the great enterprise of civilization which they have brought to the world. Men of France, we still remain the glorious trinity, bound to triumph in the end, for that trinity will never cease to be one and indivisible. Let us remember Vimy and hold fast to our trust in each other.

To this message of faith and hope, my eminent colleague, Senator Dandurand, member of the Institute of France, and Grand Officer of the Legion of Honour is cheerfully associating himself.

serviceable, recently transferred to the Dominion from the United States navy.

Eighty-six of the 140 men missing and believed dead after the Margaree sinking were survivors of the Fraser disaster, although thirteen of them had been injured when the latter ship was lost. Fourteen of the thirty-one rescued from the Margaree also escaped death on the Fraser.

Every province but Prince Edward Island suffered a personal loss in the Margaree sinking.

As is natural, nearest relatives of most casualties live in British Columbia and Nova Scotia. Next of kin of forty-six live in British Columbia, and of thirty-five in Nova Scotia. But relatives of thirteen live in Quebec, of thirteen in Saskatchewan, of ten in Ontario, eight in Alberta, and of four in New Brunswick and of another four in Manitoba.

The nearest relatives of three others live in England, of one in Newfoundland and of another in the United States.

Amongst Canada's cities, Halifax suffered the greatest loss, since next of kin of twenty-five casualties live there.

Early Action By Turkey Expected If Britain Acts

ed the Second Great War September 3, 1939. Then there fell Denmark, which submitted, Norway, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg and France, which resisted. Rumania ousted King Carol and submitted quietly to German supervision.

It was noted that Mr. Chamberlain's guarantee to Greece embraced also Rumania which rejected it and Turkey if the latter wished at any time to avail herself of it. His statement regarding Greece and Rumania was:

"The (the British Government) have come to the conclusion that in the event of any action being taken that would clearly threaten the independence of Greece or Rumania and which the Greek or Rumanian Governments respectively considered it necessary to resist with their national forces, His Majesty's Government will feel bound at once to lend the Greek or Rumanian Governments all the support in their power."

It was believed Metaxas based his resistance on that promise. Otherwise his defiance of the Italians would have been little short of foolhardy.

GREEK GOVERNMENT FORMAL STATEMENT

Athens, Oct. 28.—(P)—Greece fought today against invading Italian forces and announced officially that Great Britain is sending her "unlimited support."

Some twelve hours after the Italians had attacked by land and air, the Government issued this communique:

"Premier Metaxas conferred early this morning with the British minister, who told him that Greece in her fight against Italy would have the fullest support of England to the fullest extent. British support will be unlimited."

"Metaxas also conferred with the Turkish Minister to Athens and immediately afterwards communicated by telephone with the Greek Minister in Ankara. The Premier later communicated by telephone with the President of the Turkish Republic, Inonu."

The conversations with the highest authority in Turkey were taken as evidence that Premier Metaxas is making every effort to bring the Turks in on his side.

Turkey and Britain have a mutual assistance pact, but the Turks are not directly bound to go to the aid of Greece.

The Greeks elected to fight rather than bow to Italian demands for Greek territory and free passage for Italian troops.

Italian motorized units thrust across the mountainous Greek-Italian frontier at 5:30 a.m. (11:33 p.m. E.D.T. Sunday)—half an hour before the expiration of an Italian ultimatum, a Greek communique said.

By noon Athens had undergone two air raid alarms, and in the second anti-aircraft batteries went into action when two Italian planes were seen high over the ancient city. The Corinto and Tatoi airdromes twelve miles from Athens were bombed, and fifteen Italian planes in three waves bombed the port city of Patras, damaging port facilities, public buildings and residences, with a toll of four killed and seventeen injured.

(Reports from Belgrade said Italian planes also bombed the 2,600-year-old port of Piraeus, four miles south of Athens. Other planes were said to be supporting Italian land drives at Florina and Kastoria, on the Greek border South of Albania.)

Greece hurled her manpower and resources into the struggle, flatly rejecting demands which Premier John Metaxas said constituted "a declaration of war."

Full mobilization was ordered immediately for the army and then "political mobilization" was decreed, placing all business and industry under Government control.

Not even the air raid alarms kept away our of the Athens streets where demonstrators cheered, waved Greek, British and Turkish flags, and shouted "Down with Italy."

King George II called on his nation to "fight for its hearths to final victory" and declared "we have been compelled to go to war against an Italy, coveting Greece's independence."

The King's message came only a few minutes after Premier John Metaxas flatly rejected the demands of a three-hour Italian ultimatum expiring at 6 a.m. (midnight E.D.T. Sunday).

An hour later Athens had its first air raid alarm.

The city's anti-aircraft batteries began firing from their positions atop Lycabettus Hill when planes were sighted for the first time at 10 a.m. No bombs were dropped.

In a neater raid alarm no planes were seen over the city.

The King and Metaxas were cheered by crowds as they drove through the streets. Later the Premier conferred with ministers from Britain, Turkey and Yugoslavia.

Street crowds demonstrated with Greek, British and Turkish flags and shouted: "Down with Italy."

A Greek communique said "Italian forces have been attacking since 5:30 this morning our advanced posts along the Greek-Albanian border. Our forces are defending their national soil."

(Reports from anxiously-watching Yugoslavia said ten Italian divisions of at least 200,000 troops swarmed across the Greek border from Italian-held Albania promptly at six and were met by Greek soldiers.)

Greece looked to Britain—and perhaps to Turkey—for aid.

A British treaty of 1939 promised Greece "all possible support" if her independence were threatened. Turkey has been understood recently to feel that any armed push across Greece would be a direct menace to herself.

(London reported that Greece appealed for help as soon as her border was crossed and authoritative sources predicted "all advisable aid" would be pushed.

(British sources in Belgrade indicated battle units of the Royal Navy's Eastern Mediterranean Fleet to Vichy's recent Axis-cleanings.

"This Council will perform on behalf of France all the duties of a War Government in all French territories which are fighting on or will fight on," said Gen. de Gaulle's announcement, broadcast from Leopoldville, in the Belgian Congo.

Gen. de Gaulle has set up headquarters at Duala in the French Cameroons.

The first order of the Council said that "as long as the French Government and a representation of the French nation do not exist normally and independently from the enemy, powers formerly performed by the Chief of State and by the Cabinet will be exercised by the leader of the Free French forces, assisted by the Free French Council."

Observers predicted that this special "War Government" would receive recognition from Britain in due course—depending, they said, on the trend taken by relations between London and Vichy.

There was no official British comment on the Vichy communique Saturday announcing agreement between Petain and Hitler on the "New Order in Europe" largely because the text could mean almost anything and the whole meaning of the new development will be apparent only when its exact terms are known.

Already were steaming into action.) Almost as soon as the Italian ultimatum was handed to Metaxas, giving him a scant three hours for the decision which meant was a resisting occupation, full mobilization of Greek manpower was ordered.

Her army was estimated as upwards of 100,000 because class after class has been called to the colors in the past several months as Axis threats have increased and war clouds have darkened over the Balkans.

The Greek Premier was with his cabinet in emergency session for two and a half hours before the ultimatum expired and officials said at that time that disposition of the army for Greek defence already had been made.

Where the blow would come seemed obvious because of steadily increasing tension along the Greek-Albanian frontier and recurrent reports of heavy Italian troop concentrations on the Albanian side of the border.

Greek guns and soldiers were in place in the Metaxas line—the defence system Greece's strong man had built along the Northwestern frontier after Italy first took over little Albania.

There was no immediate disclosure of the exact terms in the rejected ultimatum.

Earlier Italy had been represented as wanting "for Albania" slices of Greek territory along the Albanian frontier.

The Italian ultimatum was delivered little more than twenty-four hours after a new series of "incidents" along the Albanian frontier was charged by Italy—an alleged outbreak of shooting which Italians blamed on Greeks they claimed had penetrated Albanian territory Friday night and Saturday morning.

Two Greek communiques officially denied any Greek connection with the shooting and suggested that roving Albanian bands were to blame. Greece has denied equally firmly Italian-backed Albanian charges of Greek disorders along the frontier, or mistreatment of Albanians in Greece, of inciting Albanians to revolt, and of any responsibility for the beheading of the Albanian "patriot," Daur Hoggia, last August.

Greece's position as a friend of Britain in the Southeastern corner of the Balkans, where Axis domination has progressed steadily deeper, has brought repeated reports of Axis demands on the Government at Athens. Most of these have met denials.

There have been conferences recently between Axis representatives in Greece and the Greek Government to indicate that pressure has been applied to force Greece to step into the Axis orbit.

The latest of these included conferences Metaxas had October 17 with Ministers of Germany and Italy. Their topic was not disclosed.

It is expected Parliament will sit for at least three weeks and perhaps longer, starting with November 8. Debate on the Speech from the Throne may occupy the whole of this time. If not, some of the main estimates for the fiscal year 1941-42 may be considered.

Some time in December the session is expected to adjourn until a date in January or February. After this adjournment the Government's legislative programme will be dealt with.

Recruiting Brisk For Unit's First Line Reinforcements

Eighty of the one hundred and seventy-five recruits required as first line reinforcements for the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment, C.A.S.F., have already been obtained, it was stated this morning by Col. M. W. McNulty, Officer in Command. In making the announcement Col. McNulty expressed keen satisfaction with the type of men reporting. Largely from the Eastern Townships, these recruits are of exceptionally high calibre and a large number of them have a limited amount of experience received through training in the Non-Permanent Active Militia. All come within the minimum height requirement of five feet six inches.

The new men are showing great keenness and applying to their work and are rapidly adapting themselves to the routine of army life.

With such a fine response already made to the recruiting for first line reinforcements it is expected that little difficulty will be experienced in securing the remaining ninety-five men in the near future.

The local regiment is now up to full strength and training of the men is proceeding at a rapid pace. Quick to respond to instructions, the privates of this unit show a remarkable aptitude for acquiring a knowledge of army manoeuvres and greatly facilitate the work of the officers in this respect.

The City of Sherbrooke and the Eastern Townships as a whole may be proud of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment as their representative in the ranks of Canada's active fighting forces.

ISSUES APPEAL ON BEHALF OF CHARITY DRIVE

Much Benevolent Work Carried on by Institutions Benefiting from Results of Catholic Charities Campaign.

Making a final appeal for a generous public response to this year's Catholic Federated Charities drive, the President, J. Leo Foley, addressed a gathering at the Sacred Heart Hospice last night on the eve of the opening of the campaign. Mayor Joseph Labrecque and Mgr. Desranleau, Coadjutor Bishop of Sherbrooke, also spoke on behalf of the campaign.

Mr. Foley based his plea for support of the drive on the work accomplished by the various institutions which annually receive aid from Federated Charities. Moreover, he stated, in replacing the annual bazaar, which formerly was the means of raising funds for these charitable institutions, the Charity Campaign dispenses with the financial outlay necessary in organizing such an undertaking, thus leaving the entire revenue available for charitable purposes.

Naming the Sacred Heart Hospice, the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, the St. Elizabeth Refuge, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Maternal Aid Society, the Child Welfare Society and the Milk Fund as the seven institutions which will benefit from this year's campaign, the speaker produced facts and figures of the charity work being accomplished for the purpose of proving that donations would be given in a worthy cause.

Some of the more salient facts mentioned by Mr. Foley were the 628,000 meals given by the Sacred Heart Hospice in one year to aged men and women and underprivileged girls and boys; the 1,200 children who are registered with the Child Welfare Society and who receive medical attention from this organization; the 63 maternity cases for which the Maternal Aid Society provided medical services in 1939 and the substantial increase in services rendered by the Milk Fund, these two societies operating together; the thirty-one children as well as those in need who were given meals and lunch lunches by the Refuge Ste. Elizabeth, the cost of these being only partly defrayed by the parents of the children and by the Public Assistance; the world-wide fame which the St. Vincent de Paul Society has earned through its philanthropic gestures and the fact that it has never turned away a "meritorious case of any kind presented by any creed or race"; and last but by no means least, the work done by the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital which began caring for suffering humanity thirty-five years ago and which has earned a class "A" rating.

In closing Mr. Foley remarked that through the ages the "poor have been with us" and that a final solution to the problem had never been advanced. It was, therefore, he stated, the duty of more fortunate individuals to make their lot as happy as possible by contributing something towards charity work done in their behalf.

CHURCH CORNER STONE LAID AT CEREMONY HERE

Mgr. Philippe S. Desranleau, Bishop-Coadjutor, Officiated at Impressive Rituals at Christ-Roi Church.

Hundreds of persons from all walks of life yesterday afternoon witnessed the traditional ceremonies of the Roman Catholic Church performed by Mgr. P. S. Desranleau, Bishop-Coadjutor of the Sherbrooke Diocese, who officiated at the blessing of the corner stone of the Christ-Roi Church situated on the corner of Aberdeen and Laurier Streets. Despite the cold weather the impressive rituals were attended by a large number of out-of-town residents, members of the clergy and officials of the City of Sherbrooke.

In his brief remarks, the Bishop Coadjutor, wearing the mitre and carrying the episcopal staff, declared that the first corner stone of the world was laid by Christ when He established Christianity, and added that as the Cross is a symbol of the Christian faith so the corner stone of the House of God should be a symbol of strength to all who come to worship.

For some time members of the Christ-Roi parish have been holding their services in Sacred Heart School but it is expected that the new church will be sufficiently completed so that the Christmas service will be held in the basement. Parishioners of the new church consist of several hundred families from the Immaculate Conception Church and the Cathedral.

Among those who attended the ceremony were Mayor Joseph Labrecque and Mrs. Labrecque, Aldermen J. E. Lacroix and Eugene Thibault and their wives, and representing the clergy were Canon J. N. Codere, of St. Charles Seminary, Canon Joseph Veilleux, Superior of the Grand Seminary, Canon J. C. McGee, Pastor of St. Patrick's Church, and Rev. Father Leonidas Adam, Pastor of Christ-Roi Church. Earlier during the day the Bishop-Coadjutor journeyed to Windsor Mills where he presided at the benediction of a statue of St. Philip. He celebrated Pontifical Mass and delivered sermons at three other Masses.

SERGEANTS OF LOCAL UNIT IN GET-TOGETHER

Annual Reunion of Sergeants' Mess of Second Battalion of Sherbrooke Regiment Held Saturday Night.

The annual get-together of the Sergeant's Mess of the Second Battalion of the Sherbrooke Regiment (M.G.), N.P.A.M., was held at the Magog House on Saturday evening and attended by members from Sherbrooke, Magog, East Angus and Drummondville.

Appropriate addresses, referring to Canada's war effort and also to the reorganization of the Regiment, were delivered during the course of the evening, principal speakers being Col. T. R. MacKenzie, O.B.E., O.C., Senator Charles B. Howard, Honorary Colonel E. B. Worthington, Honorary Lieutenant-Colonel A. A. Munster, George Strickland, life member of the Sergeant's Mess, and oldest member of the Sergeants of the old 53rd Regiment, Regimental Sergeant-Major G. C. H. Barlow, of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment, C.A.S.F., Sergeant-Major MacIntosh and Sergeant R. Smith.

Seated at the head table were Col. MacKenzie, Col. Worthington, Lieut. Col. Munster, Sergeant C. E. Price, President of the Sergeant's Mess, who acted as master of ceremonies, Sergeant Charles Mutchler, Secretary-Treasurer of the Sergeant's Mess, Senator Howard, Captain Adjutant H. L. Cleveland, R.S.M., G. Barlow, Lieut. F. H. West, Lieutenant-Quartermaster F. Shelley, Sgt. Major MacIntosh, Captain G. F. Ranshouan, Captain Ashton Tobin, Major J. R. Walters, Major F. J. Sangster, Second in Command of the Sherbrooke Regiment (M.G.), Captain R. White, R.Q.M., K. Muzzy and Lieut. B. C. Howard.

Eastern Townships Baptist Churches Stage Fall Rally

The Fall Rally of the Eastern Townships Baptist Churches was held in the Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon and evening. Representatives were present from North Hatley, Sherbrooke, Dixville, Sutton, Coaticook, Mansonville and Dunham.

The meetings were opened with Wesley Sherman in the chair. The opening worship exercises were led by the Rev. N. H. Brock, of Mansonville, after which Leo Liddell extended a hearty welcome to those who were present. After the reading of the reports Mrs. W. J. Baxter sang "Sunrise," accompanied at the organ by Miss Eva Bean.

Rev. S. Robert Weaver spoke at the afternoon session and said that as Christians "we repudiate the Gospel of natural selection and accept the Gospel of Divine election." He pointed out that the circumstances of life, and the careers which people take up, are not the result of chance but are part of a plan which God has for individual lives. "Our responsibility," he said, "is to discover what that plan is and what God would have us learn in the experiences that he allows to come into our lives."

Following the afternoon session supper was served in the lower auditorium by the ladies of the church convened by Mrs. Hopkins. The room and the tables were beautifully decorated with Halloween colors.

The interval between supper and the evening session was spent at the Mitchell School playing games of various descriptions. This part of the programme was arranged by Miss Betty Lee.

The evening session was opened by a short musical recital which was given by Miss Bean. The worship was conducted by the Sutton group after which Mr. Sherman introduced the state of new officers, which are as follows: Miss Violet Champion, of Sutton, President; Miss Wallace, of Coaticook, Vice-President; Mr. Ken Willis, of Sherbrooke, Secretary-Treasurer.

The music for the evening was presented by the choir of the Sherbrooke Baptist Church, after which Rev. Mr. Brock introduced the speaker for the occasion, Rev. W. J. Baxter. Mr. Baxter pointed out that there are three attitudes which men have to the Gospel. Some mock; some prevaricate; some believe—but the attitude which they adopt is but the reflection of their character. "Your character," he said, "is displayed by your choice." He went on to point out that in a world of conscription there is little room for the old idea of volunteer service but that Christianity is the greatest volunteer force the world has ever seen, numbering men in all walks of life. The speaker closed by appealing for surrender and service.

Greetings were brought from the Interprovincial Cabinet by Miss Alice Watson, B.A., of Montreal, who pointed out the significance of Christian fellowship and the demands that it made on individuals as well as the joy that it offered.

The meeting was closed by the singing of the National Anthem and the benediction.

THE CAULDRON BOILS

The official declaration by Greece that a state of war existed between that country and Italy will likely be the last spark needed to set off a general upheaval in the Balkans and bring about a definite alignment of the powers in that ever-troubled area. British aid to the Kingdom is inevitable and under the interlocking pacts of mutual defence and non-aggression, the entry of Turkey into the conflict without undue delay may be pre-supposed. In turn, it would appear certain that virtually every other state will become involved on one side or the other.

The entry of Greece into the conflict is on a rather different basis than the participation of the other smaller powers who have been drawn into the fight to date. Whereas the Northern and Northwest European nations were overrun by blitzkrieg tactics, German surprise attacks being staged without any extended warning, the Greek Government has been under no illusions as to the intentions of its Mediterranean neighbors and as a result has been able to build up its defences as far as its resources would permit. Furthermore, it has not been adverse to having its stand in favor of Britain known with a consequence that plans have been effected for the better defence of the Southeastern Kingdom, and British defence forces will be enabled to move into the troubled area with little delay.

Russia is also vitally involved in the Greek action, as any spread of the conflict would involve the neutrality of the Dardanelles, a matter which Russia considers vital to her well-being. Furthermore, Turkey is noted for its close relationship to the Soviets on defence matters and it may be pre-supposed that Greek officials were, unofficially at least, informed as to the stand of Russia on any trouble which might arise.

This does not mean that open Russian participation in the fight is inevitable, or even probable, but it does indicate that unofficial aid of some sort may be forthcoming. This may take the form of material assistance to the Turks, large troop concentrations along the long Russo-German border or perhaps moves in the East designed to keep Japanese attention off British possessions.

In any case, the Italian pressure which has forced the Greek action will also compel the other would-be neutrals to align themselves with one party or the other, and, to this extent, clarify an extremely obscure situation.

ANOTHER CRUEL BLOW

Like a major military battle, the loss of a naval vessel in the theatre of war operations is usually accompanied by a heavy loss of life affecting all parts of the country and this is true in the case of the Margaree sunk in the North Atlantic. This marks the second Canadian naval tragedy of the present conflict and by a queer prank of fate, a large portion of the crew of the Margaree were survivors of the earlier Fraser disaster, while in both cases the circumstances of the sinking were similar, i.e., collisions with other vessels rather than through direct enemy action. But in both cases the causes resulted directly from the war, making the crashes almost unavoidable.

Although the most recently developed of the Canadian defence services, the Royal Canadian Navy has so far suffered greater losses than all other branches combined, its deaths to date amounting to 213, largely as a result of the Fraser and Margaree sinkings, while the army has reported eighty-three dead and missing, and the air force seventy-three, a total loss of 471, or forty-two less than the navy.

This tragedy is brought home to the Eastern Townships in the loss of Lieut. R. C. Pope, a native of Cookshire, and the descendant of a family which has played a prominent part in the upbuilding of the district, his great-grandfather being one of the Fathers of Confederation, while his grandfather is a prominent member of the Canadian Senate.

Tragic as these happenings are, they will but increase the determination of Canadians to press on the campaign against Hitlerism to ensure that some day the world might be free from the continued menace of such attacks.

LONELY SWITZERLAND

How long can Switzerland stave off Nazi domination?

This tiny country, so admired throughout the world for the sturdy independence it has so precariously maintained through two general wars, is in a most unhappy situation today. Hemmed all around on every side by Nazi-dominated countries, France on the west, Italy on the south, Austria on the north and east, Switzerland is cut off from all its normal intercourse with the world—and it is a country singularly dependent on trade.

The propaganda pressure to "find a new relationship to Germany," which is the current quaint euphemism for "lie down and roll over," in increasing Swiss independence and democracy is an increasingly "intolerable" thing for Nazi potentates to see in the midst of more powerful countries already humbled.

Swiss resolution and devotion have not faltered. Can Swiss economic stamina sustain this people's spiritual courage?

A world looking on with admiration and respect can only hope so.

KNOW YOU CAN DO IT

By Grenville Kleiser.

It is the seasoned opinion of E. B. Freeman, President of Sturtevant Company, Boston, that opportunities for advancement today are just as good as when he embarked on a business career.

But significantly he says that in order to achieve success a man must have a thorough knowledge of the business in question; there must be intense and industrious attention to that business, and the ability to handle economically and intelligently the many problems constantly to be solved.

Plan your work. Have a definite schedule and live up to it. Systematic effort yields the best results.

Men who are intent upon accomplishing the best results are wholly unlike those who are occupied with thoughts of how hard they are working, how unappreciated they are, or what difficulties beset them.

They have neither time nor inclination to think whether their work is strenuous or difficult, since they are looking for results rather than for recognition.

Some men are plodders, others work by impulse. Because of differences of temperament no two persons go about the same thing in the same way. The man and the method, however, must be largely judged by the actual results achieved.

If you are by nature a plodder, endeavor to cultivate alertness and enthusiasm in your daily work. The word "plodder," unfortunately, is associated in the minds of most men with lethargy. The plodder is usually slow but sure.

If you are an impulsive worker, try to cultivate poise and deliberateness in your daily work. Develop the habit of doing things slowly and quietly. Take time to think before you speak or act.

By the end of the year it is the deliberate worker who achieves most.

Plan your time so that you get an adequate amount of real rest, both physical and mental; but make sure that you know what is adequate. Over-rest becomes, paradoxically, tiring.

A day idled away often leaves one more weary than a day spent too strenuously. Find out how much rest you really need to keep healthy and alert, and then see that you get that amount.

Spare hours can be filled in all kinds of beneficial ways—by exercise, by mental culture, by interesting conversation. Avoid anything that injures your health.

It is impossible to suggest a limit of hours to be spent in rest. We all have a sure instinct, however, that tells us how much rest and sleep we need; to disobey that instinct on either side is folly.

Reports from Rome, Italy, indicate that over three hundred persons perished when a tidal wave swept the Island of Ischia. King Victor Emmanuel has left to make a tour of inspection of the affected areas.

The following took part in the initial programme of the Boyer Reading Club, Rock Island, Mrs. B. F. Butterworth, Miss Helen Baxter, Miss Harding, Mrs. J. A. Bissonnet and Mrs. Alfred Bishop.

Information from Chicoutimi indicates that Hawley and Post, two missing balloonists are safe fifty-eight miles north of that Northern Quebec town and that a relief party is being organized to bring them out.

The following officials were elected at the annual convention of the Congregational Churches of Quebec being held at Waterville: Rev. Churchill Moore, Ayer's Cliff; Rev. J. G. Hindley, Rock Island; Rev. Hugh Popley, Montreal; and Rev. E. C. Woodley, Danville.

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Mrs. E. L. Johnson, Brissette's Corner, for a farewell party prior to her departure for Alberta.

Work was started on the erection of a new bridge over Moffatt Creek, at Gould, replacing the structure washed away some time ago.

A FANTASY

I walked a mile with Beauty
Companions we became,
She captured me and my heart
Enkindled a new flame.

I talked awhile with Beauty
And though she spoke no word,
Her presence touched the world with song
And melodies I heard.

I gave a smile to Beauty
And Oh! the ecstasy
That burned my soul when she smiled back,
And threw a kiss at me.

THE HUNTSMEN'S CALL

Hurrah! Hurrah! the bugle blares,
Ye huntsmen, hear my call;
Get out your boots and saddle, men,
There's jolly times for all!

For valley, forest, moor and hill
Doth echo strong and clear,
There's chilly nights, and frosty morns',
For hunting time is here!

The hounds are barking in the yard,
The horses stamp and neigh;
But in the wood the old red fox
Slings cunningly away.

The leaves are falling thick and fast
Upon the frozen ground;
But absent is the echoing
Of horses' hoofs, and hound.

Oh come! ye lazy huntsmen,
Come put the pipe away
And drink a toast to the fox and hounds,
In the good old English way!

WHEN THE LEAVES CAME TUMBLING DOWN

By Rev. B. S. Murray

As we, during the October recession, lift our eyes unto the everlasting hills with their trees robed in amethyst and dressed in fire we are forced to pause, think and thank, for it is autumn and the leaves come tumbling down.

Nature has sounded her retreat and sent her servants, the winds, to strip the trees of their leafy tresses. This command is carried out in the spirit of triumph and victory rather than that of regret and tragedy.

"Autumn leaves though buried low will rise, next spring, as leaf and flower," for the falling of the leaves is an inevitable natural process without which there is no life of fruitfulness.

Triumph, then, as well as progressive service, immortal hope and good cheer are silently breathed by the tongues of beauteous leaves in the glowing colors, crimson, brown and gold, as the winds, whistling through the tree boughs, recite the Ode of Good.

All through the spring and summer seasons the leaves have lived, moved and had their being in light. Now, however, they fade beautifully, change fully, splendidly. Because of this, moralists have depicted life's changes to the fading of the leaves. And autumn reveals the true character of the leaves. So, when autumn flings its banner upon the October air, they shine. Like a good man they cannot be hid.

Dear to the hearts of all Canadians is the Maple Leaf. It is their national emblem. Simple in structure, symmetrical in shape, graceful in gesture, most beautiful in color, the Maple Leaf, the Maple is a leaf of rare beauty. No one can paint in words or on canvas its exquisite beauty or evaluate its utility in terms of active service, quiet edifying work, balanced temper and its hint of compensation. May Heaven bless the land the Maple Leaf symbolizes for ever!

Turn the leaves of literature and you will find an honored place accorded the leaf. Have you ever thought that our word book is derived from bark? And folio signifies leaf? In words and music, poets and people have lauded the leaf. In the prologue to the Legend of Good Women, in the fifteenth century, there is a charming allegory of the flower and the leaf. To the leaf is given the superiority for its symbolizing useful work over the flower, a type of life frivolity.

Spencer, Shakespeare, Dante, Moore, Thomson, Keats, Shelley and Longfellow take up the leafy tale. Shelley bids the west wind "Thou breath of autumn's being with its tumult of mightiest harmonies modulated by the rustle of whispering leaves, yellow, black and hectic red, sweep away the dead leaves, be symbolic of his love of freedom. Keats, in his colorful autumnal ode, breathes contentment with Nature's gifts as fully as Shelley's loftier "Ode To The West Wind," is aflame with aspiration and prayer that his voice may be the voice of the west wind, autumn and his thoughts driven like dead leaves over the world.

Walt Whitman's Leaves

As the leaves came tumbling down, in pensive mood, I thought of those leaves Walt Whitman wrote of so gloriously on the pages of American literature. He made his "leaves" speak of Democracy and Comradeship interspersed with good cheer, hope and the vision splendid. Pick up his poems, leaf by leaf... Read "This Compost" at the time Whitman marvels at the chemistry of nature—we are continually putting refuse into the earth but it gives back only health and beauty. "To a Pupil" outlines the course one must take to be of real service to one's fellow man. "Out of the Cradle Endlessly Rocking" the story of a mother bird, one was killed, the other mourned, the sea waited to the bare-footed listening boy "the low and delicious word death." In his "Miracles" he knows of nothing else but miracles. "When Lilacs in the Dooryard Bloom'd," he makes the lilac the star, and the birds every spring remind him of the death of Lincoln. Nor can we forget that gem entitled "A Sight in Camp in the Daybreak Gray and Dim," wherein he tells of looking at three dead soldiers in the side of an army hospital tent. Then, there are some of the Open Road, of the Universal and of Myself in which the good gray poet deals with progress, perfection and himself, respectively.

Yes, I am glad that Canada has as her emblem the Maple Leaf. And I am hoping that Canadians will determine to live lives of the maple leaf brand (Psalm 1:3). War drums may beat and chaotic conditions ensue but, in the end of the day, victory will be ours. That's what the leaf suggests. Inspired then by the year's last, loveliest smile, we must endeavor in these out-of-joint days to keep smiling through, thinking thoughts good, beautiful and true, interlarding spring will come again to us. And the Empire. The first foliage, the leaves, survive the autumnal decay and remain still as fresh as the day God began His creative work, pointing with a message of everlasting hope to all men to a Tree of Life whose leaves shall be for the healing of the nations.

It is not surprising that we catch the contemplative mood of autumn, listening eagerly to the tongues in leaves as they come tumbling down.

ENGLAND AND PETAIN GOVERNMENT COMPARED
(Le Jour, of Montreal)

The Petain Government, at the time of capitulation, had a navy untouched. It could have sent to other shores a flock of airships. It still had time to embark on its warships possibly a half-million of seasoned soldiers, who might have gone whither in Africa or in England, to continue the fight and ensure the liberation of France. It had at least 500,000 soldiers in the Colonies. More easily than Holland, than Poland, than Czechoslovakia, better than Belgium or Norway, who all refused to abdicate, she could have continued on foreign shores a victorious fight. Without any doubt it could have swung the balance on the side of the Allies. Nothing would have been lost, not even honor.

Today all is lost, at least for a long time, and the only man who represents the honor of France is General de Gaulle, to whom have rallied all the French who have their hearts in the right place. On the whole European continent, England alone resists the butchers of France. And it is on England alone, from now on, that France, the true France, must depend on for her liberation. Certainly it is not the Petain Government that can achieve this deliverance. Therefore it is necessary to choose between the government of Petain and England.

CONFIDENT OF BRITAIN'S ULTIMATE SUCCESS

(La Presse, Montreal.)

The people of Great Britain have every reason to be alert and maintain their will to victory. Certainly there is no reason whatever to feel their slightest discouragement. France and the whole Empire, and all the best people who wish to rattle the triumph of Britain against the tyranny of the totalitarian nations, feel more confident because of the splendid resistance England is making against the enemy.

We are all convinced that, as the strength of British armaments increases with the passing of time, the outcome of the war will be the definite triumph of Great Britain.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By Wm. E. McKenney, America's Card Authority

WAR CAN'T STOP CANADA'S BRIDGE; OLD SWINDLE WORKS

Recently I completed a most enjoyable trip through Canada. While I found a country that was seriously at war, I found a people who were neither worried nor panicky. They were working hard and fast at preparation, but still taking their bridge seriously.

We entered Canada at Niagara Falls and were treated warmly and courteously by the Canadian officials. Our first stop was at Toronto, where I met some members of the Canadian Bridge League, which is affiliated with the American Contract Bridge League. The subject of conversation on my part was the war, and on their part, what happened at Asbury Park this year.

While telling stories of famous hands, one of the Canadian boys said he had pulled off an old swindle, one I haven't seen work for a long time. East saw that his hand might not be good enough to stop a game in hearts or spades, but certainly should defeat three no trumps. If he bid clubs, the opponents would be warned off the no trump. So he bid one spade, hoping to lure South into no trumps because of strong spade stoppers.

That was exactly what happened.

FINE ADDRESS DELIVERED TO COUNTY GROUP

Mrs. Alfred Watt, O.B.E., President of Federated Countrywomen of World, Addresses Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes.

The visit of Mrs. Alfred Watt, O.B.E., President of the Federated Countrywomen of the World, to the meeting of the Sherbrooke County Women's Institutes was an event of note. Mrs. Watt introduced the organization of Women's Institutes to England and Wales and the movement has been called the greatest gift to countrywomen.

Mrs. Watt was introduced to the gathering by Mrs. J. H. Lyster, President of the Sherbrooke County Women's Institute in the new hall on the Brompton Road by Mrs. Robert Ashe, President of Sherbrooke County, and after her address she was thanked by Mrs. R. S. Lyster, Provincial Secretary. Mrs. Watt told, in a most interesting manner, of her round the world visit to Women's organizations, which she found taking a prominent part in the affairs of their country in every land except Egypt. Starting with the meeting of the Federated Countrywomen at Washington, D.C., she travelled first to Vancouver, her home city, for the gathering of the Canadian organization. This convention was attended by three Cabinet Ministers who came to ask the support of women for three bills to be presented in Parliament.

One of the proposed bills met with the approval of Canadian women and in consequence the other two failed to pass when they were brought up. Mrs. Watt sailed for Honolulu and she was impressed with the great difference in climate and scenery when entering the Southern Hemisphere. The blue skies, songs and wonderful flowers of the islands were a never ending pleasure and the sudden falling of darkness, like a deep velvet curtain seemed like magic. After calling at the Fiji and Samoa Islands, a visit was paid to New Zealand, where Mrs. Watt said the coloring was the most wonderful in the whole world, while in Australia she was impressed with the great variety of fruit as well as the immense size of the stations and the practical use made of all the natural products of the country. The remainder of this trip included the countries of Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Finland, Denmark, Latvia, Estonia, Norway, Sweden, Ireland and Scotland and everywhere women are doing a great work for their country. Mrs. Watt said the good fellowship shown between the black and white races was a wonderful inspiration as they forgot their differences and remembered only the things in which they were one. She paid a tribute to the sincerity and kindness of Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, whose sterling character was shown in all her connection with women everywhere.

Kidney Acids
Rob Your Rest
Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

COMPTON RED CROSS EVENT FINE SUCCESS

Bridge Played at Fourteen Tables—Salad Tea Later Served to Many Guests.

Compton, Oct. 28.—A most interesting event took place at the Compton town hall on Tuesday, October 22 under the able management of Miss St. Laurent and Mrs. Carr, assisted by Mrs. Charles Hyatt, in aid of the Red Cross. All the local church denominations worked in hearty co-operation to make the affair a huge success.

The hall was appropriately and tastefully decorated in patriotic colors, this being the responsibility of Mrs. S. Broderick and Mrs. E. Bruneau, who also presided at the daintily arranged tea table, which carried out the color scheme in red, white and blue.

During the afternoon, bridge was played at fourteen tables, a War Saving Stamp being awarded to the winner at each table. Later a salad tea was served to the many visitors who came from Sherbrooke, Coaticook, Waterville and surrounding districts. A pleasant feature of the afternoon was the rendering of piano solos by Mrs. L. E. Codere, of Sherbrooke, and Mr. Meade, of Coaticook.

A table of candy and home-made articles, in charge of Miss Mary Hyatt, was well patronized and the sum of twelve dollars was added to the treasury of the Junior Red Cross at the Hyatt School. In the evening a card party and box social were held which proved very enjoyable, especially to the younger people. The boxes were sold at auction by Mr. George Robinson.

The proceeds far over-reached the hoped for objective, amounting to $160, which was most gratifying to all concerned.

Stanstead College Seniors Defeat S.H.S. 35-2 but Local Lads Make Gallant Fight in Second Half—"Y" Tops Commissioners' High School of Quebec as Late Forward Pass Clicks—Stanstead and S.H.S. Juniors Tie 5-5

Sherbrooke football teams broke even in three games played on the Parade Grounds Saturday afternoon, the Y.M.C.A. handing Commissioners' High School of Quebec City a 7-5 setback, Sherbrooke High School seniors bowing 35-2 to Stanstead College and the Sherbrooke High Juniors playing a 5-5 deadlock with the Stanstead Juniors.

Although beaten by a large score, Sherbrooke High turned in the best exhibition of the season in the second half of the game against Stanstead. Trailing 29-0 at the end of the second quarter, S.H.S. took command of the play in the second half and refused to admit defeat.

A binding snow storm and dangerous footing made fumbles numerous and the forward pass a play to be used with discretion in the "Y" Commissioners' tilt, but when the cards were down both Sherbrooke and the Ancient Capital lads took to the air and each team scored touchdowns on aerial thrusts.

Percival passed to Vezina, Commissioners' late in the second quarter and he fell over from the one-yard line. Don Barfield tossed a forward to Rice with three minutes to go and the little speedster sewed up the game when he went the remaining ten yards for a major.

Sherbrooke got off to a poor start, the Commissioners' backs smashing their line for healthy gains. The Sherbrooke offense, missing the spark of their regular quarter Billy Stewart, who has been called up by the R.C.A.F. and will be lost to the team for the duration, lacked its usual sting. The best ground gain for Sherbrooke was the outside kicker and it clicked with amazing regularity.

Near the end of the second half Quebec drove Sherbrooke deep into its own territory and Percival, the Commissioners' quarterback, fired a pass to Vezina, an outside. Vezina gathered it in on the one-yard line and fell over for a touchdown as two tacklers hit him. The convert bid failed and the score at half-time stood: Commissioners 5, Sherbrooke "Y" 0.

A driving snowstorm greeted the teams as they opened the second half. Sherbrooke, taking advantage of the wind, kicked frequently and the strategy played dividends when Rice booted to the deadline for a single. Quebec took over once more and a concentrated ground attack placed them in scoring position again. On the one-yard line a charging Sherbrooke line rushed the Quebec quarter and recovered his fumble.

Rice kicked out of the end zone to relieve the pressure and the Quebec threat was stalemated. With minutes remaining Sherbrooke took to the air and a series of Barfield to Rice passes clicked to place the "Y"

POWERFUL U.S. GRID OUTFITS SUFFER LOSSES

Half-Dozen Previously Unbeaten and Untied College Teams Dropped Off Rose Bowl Bandwagon at Halfway Mark.

New York, Oct. 28.—The "Rose Bowl Bandwagon" stopped at the half-way mark of its trip to the post-season classic Saturday, dropping off a half-dozen of the previously unbeaten and untied United States major college grid powers who suffered their first defeats.

Fordham, Columbia, Penn. Texas, Southern California and Rutgers were the unfortunate. However, there's a chance that half of the survivors of the day's hectic grid warfare will go down this week-end. Counting teams whose "major ranking" is considered unimpeachable, the unbeaten and untied survivors are Cornell, Georgetown, Boston College and Navy in the east; Michigan, Northwestern, Minnesota, Notre Dame and Detroit in the mid-west; Tennessee, Texas A&M and Clemson in the south; and Stanford in the far west. Lafayette, Penn State and Franklin Marshall might also be included in the list.

Tied but unbeaten were Mississippi State, Southern Methodist and Kentucky.

In the east Cornell's 21-7 triumph over Ohio State gave the Indians their 16th straight win and made them the only " Ivy League" team in the national picture except Navy who looked good in beating Yale 21-0. A last minute Syracuse field goal eliminated Columbia 3-0 while Fordham fell from the unbeaten ranks when St. Mary's of California defeated them 9-6.

Boston Breaks Camp After Handing Hershey Club 6-4 Lacing Saturday

Boston Bruins have pitched camp in Montreal for the remainder of their National Hockey League pre-season training. The Bruins, who open the season in Montreal November 3rd against Canadiens, left their camp in Hershey, Pa., after a 6-4 victory Saturday over the Hershey Bears, their farm club in the American Hockey Association.

There will be no danger of Art Ross' men clashing with the Canadiens during their training in Montreal this week. The Bruins have decided to remain at their St. Hyacinthe camp until the day of their opening game with the Bruins.

The 19-year-old Ottawa rookie, Johnny Quilty, is leading Canadiens' scorers in pre-season exhibition games in the Montreal club. Johnny, making the N.H.L. jump from junior ranks, scored his third goal yesterday to give Canadiens a 1-0 victory over New Haven Eagles. In five exhibition games with American League teams, the Canadiens have defeated New Haven twice, drawn one with the Eagles and another with Springfield Indians, and lost to Providence Reds.

Two more junior stars have been given permission to sign professional contracts by the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. They are forward Bill Mosienko and defenceman Andy Brannigan, who both played with Winnipeg Monarchs in the Manitoba junior circuit last year. Mosienko probably will line up with Chicago Black Hawks' American League club, Providence Reds, while Brannigan is expected to play with Springfield Indians, where he will be subject to recall by New York Americans.

The National Hockey League intracity rivals, the Rangers and the Americans of New York, are all square in their Western Canada exhibition series. Red Dutton's rejuvenated Amerks evened the series at three games apiece by defeating the Stanley Cup holders, 4-2, in Regina Saturday night. The veteran Lorne Carr bagged two for the Americans while Murray Armstrong and Jack (Peanuts) O'Flaherty got the others. For Rangers, Alex Shilbick counted twice and Lynn Patrick netted the other.

Detroit officials say that the Red Wings' contract difficulties with their centre star, Syd Howe, are just about ironed out. The Detroit management announced after a game against Indianapolis Capitals last night that Howe has not yet signed a contract, but said they were "not far apart" on terms.

The veteran centre, bagged on goal, although Detroit lost the exhibition match, 3-2, to their American League farm club.

Red Wings' Rebuilding Programme Gives Younger Players Opportunities to Make Good—Adams and Goodfellow Run Team.

Detroit, Oct. 28.—On the theory that two heads are better than one—especially if one is in the thick of the battle—Detroit Red Wings are out this year to regain a lot of lost prestige in the National Hockey League.

Surrounded by a mixture of veterans and youth, Jack Adams and Ebbie Goodfellow will get together to tell the team how to win a few more games than it did last season. Adams will sit on the bench and Goodfellow will be on the defence as playing coach.

Out there with old Ebbie will be a few of the old guard, including Al Brodeur, Syd Howe and Cecil Dillon. But in the main, it's the big chance for the youngsters.

Kids like Jimmy Orlando, the Montreal Italer who plays defence; Alex Motter, Gus Giesbrecht, Connie Brown and Sid Abel, entered the Detroit scene last season as the club's rebuilding problem began in earnest. They didn't set the league afire as the Wings finished fifth, but they showed plenty of promise and the Detroit bosses figure they'll shine this season.

Several amateurs are trying out with the Wings and their Indianapolis farm club at daily drills at the Olympia ring here and four have been signed to professional contracts. The Wings might not win the Stanley Cup this season, but Adams, elevated recently from wing manager to first vice-president of the vast Detroit farm system, know from long years of experience that the rookies of today are the Cup heroes of tomorrow.

Because of the influx of youth, calibre of the Wings is a question mark—just as is their starting lineup for the opening league game here November 3 against New York Americans. Only one thing is certain—a new goalkeeper will be between the posts.

Tiny Thompson, the old master, has left to become Coach of the Buffalo Bisons of the American League. His successor probably will be Johnny Mowers, a sensation in senior amateur hockey with Niagara Falls of the Ontario Hockey Association two seasons ago. Mowers played for Detroit's Omaha farm of the American Association last season.

Other contenders are Jimmy Franks, last winter with Indianapolis, and Floyd Perras, Detroit Pontiac netminder in the Michigan-Ontario League.

All in all, Adams is mighty enthusiastic. He says his Wings and his farm club players are the "best-looking crowd of players I have ever seen assembled."

As forecast, Dr. Miller's Yalors couldn't match our dourthy Sailors . . . Ohio State bowed to Cornell . . . and did it very, very well.

While FDR is in this section Perhaps he'll make a brief inspection Of our Army's grid defences. Lafayette, nineteen; Army, 0 Certainly should go to show Someone ought to mend his fences.

Today's guest star: Jack Miley, New York Post: "Laugh of the week was the holier-than-thou howl from Harvard that Cornell didn't do right by our Nell in acquiring its splendid team. It looks as if the Big Three can't take it. First Yale yelps about Penn, then Harvard howls at Cornell. Maybe Princeton will plead Rutgers was too tough."

ARGOS RECORD 11-9 WIN OVER ROUGH RIDERS

Nearly 16,000 Hilarious Fans Watch Toronto Beat Back Interprovincial Union Champs—Tigers Claw Montreal 12-7.

In a week-end of minor and major upset, Toronto Balmy Beach emerged today as the east's only undefeated football club.

Their 12-2 triumph over Sarnia's 2-26 Battery on the soldiers' home field Saturday was the only balmy to the experts after Toronto Argonauts had fought from behind to crush Ottawa Rough Riders 11-9 and Hamilton Tigers scored their first triumph of the season, 12-7 right in Montreal's backyard.

At Hamilton, the Ontario Union Alerts whitewashed Camp Borden 8-0, paving the way to a dogfight to the wire for the Union's second playoff off spot behind Balmy Beach. The victory left Alerts only a point behind the Battery with two games to play.

Nearly 16,000 hilarious Toronto fans watched the Argos' exhibition of courage and skill in beating back the Interprovincial Union champions just a week after Riders had crushed them 41-6 in Ottawa. This game was a thriller with everything a fan could ask for. At the end, little Bobby Coulter was the hero of a great Argos backfield that had only one substitution throughout.

Air Force Footballers Top Collegians By Score Of 7-2

Fliers from St. Francois Xavier de Brompton Demonstrate Ability to Go Places on Ground in Grid Exhibition on Lennoxville Campus—Dineen Scores Touchdown for R.C.A.F.—Walters Best Man for Bishop's.

A football squad from the Elementary Flying Training School at Windsor Mills defeated the Bishop's University grid squad 7-2 on the College campus Saturday in a tightly fought game. The fliers treated the Bishop's boys like so many Dorniers, Messerschmitts, and Heinkels, and the Bishop's secondary could have used a balloon barrage to good advantage in knocking down some of the Air Force passes. What the R.C.A.F. team lacked in polish and timing, they more than made up for with a display of good, hard tackling and well timed blocks.

McFall, an Ottawa Rough Rider for three seasons, showed how they tackle and run in the Big Four; with a nice sixty minute effort, Gleason punted, passed and ran his way to a four-star performance, and Dineen and Fee, resembling a tank corps more than an Air Force unit, ripped the line for huge gains.

Local football fans cheered on Harry Allen, a L.H.S. backfield star for the past few seasons. Home on leave from the R.C.A.F. station at Trenton, Allen was made welcome by the Windsor lads and played a strong game on his old stamping grounds. "Flash" Bilkey a Bishop's football star in 1935 and 1936, sparked the R.C.A.F. team at quarter.

The purple-clad team was not clicking and when it did get in scoring position fumbles usually spoiled their chances. Sid Walters played a hard game but the rest of the team seemed a bit too courteous to their guests.
