SHERBROOKE EXHIBITION. Wednesday Brings Its Usual Thousands to the Fair. EXCURSION TRAINS FROM ALL PARTS CROWDED. First Two Days of the Fair Financially Successful--Result of Yesterday's Races--Great Programme of Entertainment for Today and Tomorrow.

Wednesday, the great day of Sherbrooke Fair is here. Rain fell during the night, but as the sun rose the clouds were broken and driven away. Today Sherbrooke is truly the hub of the country for hundreds of miles around. The four railways centering here were bringing in train loads of people all the morning until the town and fair grounds are nearly filled. The programme of entertainment today is complete and this evening the novel evening performance will be given. The fire works display will consist of special designs and set pieces, and will include among other spectacular effects, a chromotrope wheel, fifty feet in circumference producing a wonderful effect as it revolves a Chinese star piece composed of 100 chain lights, brilliant rocket display, etc.

Hon. H. T. Duffy is expected to arrive via the G.T.R. at about 12.30 p.m., and Hon. Premier Marchand via the C.P.R. at 1.20. They will be escorted to the grounds by a delegation of directors and entertained at lunch after which they will make an inspection of the exhibition. Some of those arriving this morning from a distance, report that rain was falling, when their trains left, which may have caused some to remain at home till tomorrow for better weather. The indications at noon today, are, however, that the attendance will not fall far short of the 15,000 mark, which is the usual point reached by Wednesday's crowd.

The street cars are doing their best to accommodate the thousands seeking transportation to the grounds. The service today is excellent, cars arriving at the grounds every four minutes. The manager announces this morning that the financial results from the first two days were very satisfactory. The receipts at the gate and grand stand being larger than for the same same days last year. The attendance on the grounds yesterday was not very large, the outside patrons of the fair evidently waiting for Wednesday and following days when everybody is expected to be present. As a civic holiday, Tuesday was very generally observed among the advertising houses of the city, and the greater portion of those present yesterday were from the city or vicinity. The judges began their work early in the day in all departments, and continued until quite late in the afternoon. The grand stand was well filled in the afternoon, when the specialty artists gave their performance and the two racing events took place. These resulted as follows:

2.40 CLASS. Black B., jr., M. Archambault, 2 1 1 Mac V., H. B. Stewart, 1 2 2 Rock Farm King, H. H. Ingram, 3 3 3 Time, 2.23, 2.24, 2.24, 2.24. HANDICAP RUNNING 3 MILE. Geo. Russell, S. S. Monteith, 1 1 Horicon, P. Pope, 2 2 Bonnie Field, P. Coleman, 3 3 At the conclusion of the races, Prof. Wolcott made a successful balloon ascension, landing safely a short distance to the north of the exhibition grounds. The Victoria Band supplied music during the afternoon. THURSDAY'S OFFICIAL PROGRAMME. 1.30 p.m.—Second Grand Parade of Horses and Cattle around the Track, headed by bands. RACING. No. 6—2.10 Trot, 2.22 pace, purse $200 No. 7—2.30 Trot, 2.34 pace, Stake " 500 No. 8—Hurdle Race, " 150 No. 9—Exciting and laughable performance on platform by the Exhibition Specialty Co., in which all the artists will take part. Exhibition of speed by the wonderful guidless pacing horse "Tommy."

CHILD'S TRAGIC DEATH. Run Over by a Truck and Instantly Killed. Quebec, Sept. 6.—A very distressing termination to a little pleasure excursion took place about six o'clock yesterday evening, by which one little girl lost her life, and another was dangerously wounded. Mr. Leblanc, a carter, residing at No. 111 Bedford St., on returning home from his work last night, good naturedly allowed several young children that were playing about, to mount his truck for a short ride, but unfortunately, as they were going over a crossing, a sudden sharp jolt threw all the children off. One, a little girl of eight and a half years old, Flora, daughter of Mr. Damase Cote, 117 Bedford street, was thrown in front of the wheel, when it passed over her head and neck, crushing the former and breaking the latter, causing instantaneous death. Her younger sister Delia, five-years old was also badly injured and picked up unconscious. The oldest girl was conveyed into a house, where Dr. Drum who was passing, examined her, and pronounced her dead, whilst the younger one was conveyed at once to the residence of her father. Her leg is very badly injured, and she is suffering from internal injuries.

MR. GLADSTONE'S WILL. Like Its Maker, it was of Simple Phrasology. London, September 6.—The will of the late Right Hon. William E. Gladstone has been probated. It shows that his personal estate, valued at £659,506. Mr. Gladstone's will was written by himself in an ordinary memorandum book. It is a document of about two thousand words and is a remarkable specimen of penmanship. The second clause of the will has reference to the funeral arrangements and says: "Commending myself to the infinite mercies of God in the incarnate Son as my only and sufficient hope, I leave the particulars of my burial to my executors, specifying only that they be very simple and private, unless there be conclusive reasons to the contrary. I desire to be buried where my wife may also lie. On no account shall a laudatory inscription be placed over me."

After appointing his sons as executors, the will charges the future possessors of Hawarden to remember that, as the head of the family, it will be his duty to extend good offices to other members thereof, according to his ability and their manifest needs and merits. The rest of the document leaves sonnets to servants and bequeaths to his grandson, William, as heirlooms all patents of Crown Offices held by the testator and books and prints presented to him by the Queen, letters from the Queen, etc. The will bears the date of November 26, 1896.

BUILDINGS BURNED BY LIGHTNING. Beebe Plain, Sept. 6.—A very severe thunderstorm struck this vicinity last Sunday evening at about 5 o'clock. The buildings of Mr. Henry Tomkins were burned to the ground, containing about 100 tons of hay and fifty loads of grain. A large number of agricultural implements were also destroyed. Besides the barn there were three sheds filled with three years' supply of hard wood destroyed. The lightning also struck the cupola of the Mr. Jackson's barn and passed to the basement, killing five cows. Mr. Tomkins' loss is very heavy, with little insurance.

ANGLO-GERMAN AGREEMENT. All Reports Denied that Suggest a Complete Change in German Policy. Berlin, Sept. 5.—The Cologne Gazette dismisses the various rumors of an Anglo-German agreement, which, it says, would infer a complete change of front for Germany. It suggests that there is an understanding between Germany and Great Britain regarding a joint loan to Portugal.

HOT WAVE CLAIMS VICTIMS IN NEW YORK. New York, Sept. 6.—The heat was not so oppressive today as on last Friday, Saturday and Sunday, but the heat still holds many patients prostrated by the unusual hot and humid weather. The official temperature at 10 a.m. was 81 degrees and the humidity 61. Two deaths due to heat are reported.

SIR CHARLES FOR FRATERNITY. Hopes the Joint High Commission Will Succeed. Pledges Hearty Support of his Party and Says Obstructive Tactics Would be a Crime. Picton, N.S., Sept. 6.—Anglo-American relations and the better feeling growing out of the recent war were the chief topics in a speech made here last evening by Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., the Conservative leader in the Dominion Parliament. Like all the speeches which Sir Charles Tupper has delivered since coming to Nova Scotia his address was of a non-partisan nature. Indeed, his utterances were of a nature calculated to reassure the American commissioners to Quebec that they have the good will of the Liberal-Conservative party of Canada in any negotiations which they may attempt to carry to a conclusion in conjunction with that commission and the Dominion Government. Sir Charles was emphatic on that point. "Never in the history of Canada," said he, "has so favorable an opportunity been afforded the people of the United States and of Canada to come to an understanding, and it would be almost criminal to lay a straw in the way of those charged with the deliberations."

He added that true to the policy of the Conservative party, neither its leader nor any of its representatives would do anything during the deliberations of the commission to weaken the hands of the delegates. Sir Charles went a step further and declared that if the Canadian commissioners were able to secure anything to the advantage or benefit of Canada, anything that was going to improve the interests of the Canadian people, there would be no stancher advocates of these measures on the floor of the House than himself. "The people of Great Britain will rejoice, as we will rejoice, if better relations between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon family can be brought about. Such a step would be to our interest and to their interest. That between the United States and Canada the mostly friendly feeling and the closest commercial relations should obtain would be for the common good. (Cheers.) It would have been impossible for the United States in the way they had had it not been for the action of Great Britain. That country practically warned all the rest of the world not to interfere. Do the American people forget this? This is evidenced by the better tone of the great papers of New York and Boston. Where formerly all was bitterness, now, in the light of the action of Great Britain toward Great Britain. Sir Charles was not of the opinion that this "entente cordiale" would be short lived. "Some people," he declared, "say all this will soon be forgotten, and you will find that the United States will again become anti-British. I do not believe it. A most radical change has taken place in the minds of the people of the United States. Both in Great Britain and the United States there is a common sentiment in favor of drawing closer together, and the British States and the United States will be benefited by a drawing closer together of the great branches of the English-speaking family. Such a step would be to their mutual advantage and benefit, and furthermore a benefit to the civilized world. The power of the United States has developed, and the recognized power of Great Britain would have this effect that, when they say 'peace,' that mandate will have to be obeyed."

VERMONT STATE ELECTION. The Biennial Walkover by the Republicans of Vermont Took Place Yesterday. White River Junction, Vt., Sept. 6.—The biennial State election took place today. Not for many years has there been so little interest. In the presidential year, 1896, Josiah Grout received the largest Republican majority ever given a candidate for governor in the State. This year the Republicans do not anticipate their candidate, E. C. Smith, of St. Albans, will receive a majority anywhere near that of Grout's, but are confident that it will be above the average majority of years. They also expect to elect their entire State ticket by substantial majorities. There are several local contests in towns for representatives, but it is predicted that Democrats will not elect over twenty-five representatives out of 245. Of the thirty senators the Democrats expect to elect two, but the Republicans are confident that they will have a solid Republican Senate, as during the two previous sessions. The Republicans have no doubt of re-electing Congressman Powers and Grout by the usual majorities. Mr. Smith, who is to be the next governor, is of Central Vermont Railroad fame and son of a former governor. He was nominated without a struggle, or so far as an outsider could see, the least opposition.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES. Sept. 7, 11 a.m.—Forecast for next 24 hours, issued by the Meteorological Bureau: Moderately fresh westerly winds; fair; a little cooler.

DISASTER AT CORNWALL. International Bridge Collapses Owing to Defective Pier. 14 WERE KILLED. And Seventeen Others Were Badly Injured. WITHOUT A MOMENT'S WARNING. The Accident Occurred When the Bridge Was Nearly Completed. Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 6.—A terrible catastrophe took place here today, when, without a moment's warning, two spans of the International Railway bridge across the south channel of the St. Lawrence River, were thrown into the water by the giving way of the pier which supported them in the centre. Fortunately, the gang of men at work was not as large as usual, the bridge being practically completed, or the loss of life would have been much greater. As it is the number of killed and drowned is 14, and the seriously wounded 17. A number of others have hands crushed, and are bruised and cut; but did not go to the hospital. The accident happened a few minutes before the noon hour, and several men who had been on the bridge had just walked ashore. Among them was Mr. Simmons, the Phoenix Bridge Company's chief engineer. To your correspondent tonight he said: "I can hardly realize that the bridge is gone. I told Mr. F. D. Anthony, the chief engineer of the New York & O. Company, this morning, that the bridge was practically ready for trains to cross. All that remained in their way was the hoisting engines on the shore span. A gang of men were at work taking down the big traveller, and a few riveters were finishing the riveting. I had just gone ashore and was looking towards the bridge when all at once the pier in the centre of the two south spans seemed to crumble away, and the two completed and finished spans, with the 30 odd men working on them tumbled into the water. Most of the men were caught in the iron, and are probably pinned to the bottom of the river, which, at this point is over 30 feet deep. None of the bodies have been recovered, although the tug Beaver, with scows, divers and a gang of men worked all afternoon in the wreckage."

J. Spearling. Mr. Wm. J. Stuart, who was injured about a week ago by being thrown from his bicycle, was removed from his residence on Meadow street to the Protestant Hospital last evening. Yesterday there were six arrests in all made by the police, three for being drunk and incapable, two for loitering on the streets, and one for being disorderly. The newspapers now regard the revision of the Dreyfus case as being assured, saying that the prisoner's counsel will make strenuous efforts to secure a public re-trial. The Matin says that Colonel Picquart yesterday signed a demand for the provisional liberation of Dreyfus. M. Sarrien will form a commission composed of six members to determine whether there is any cause for revision. If the Commission reports in the affirmative, the dossier will be addressed to the criminal chamber, which will determine upon definite action. Since 1896 five hundred demands for revision of cases have been addressed to the grand chancellerie, only seven of which were granted. Thus there is little chance that the favor will be accorded to Dreyfus. If it should be accorded the case will not be taken up until February or March next.

FARMER'S CONTEST. Baldwin, of Coaticook, Still Leads. Carr Denies That He Will Drop Out—Fight Between the Four Leaders. Mr. C. E. Baldwin, of Coaticook, still leads in the Farmer's Contest, being conducted by the SHERBROOKE DAILY RECORD. As far as reports go the contest has narrowed down to the first four, and all determined to win. It has been reported that Mr. Guy Carr intended to drop out of the contest, but yesterday he said he wished it emphatically decided for his intended to stay in to the finish. All those desiring to purchase extra papers for coupons, should bear in mind that no papers can be bought after 6 p.m. of Friday, Sept. 16th, at the Record office. From the rules governing the contest some have the idea that papers can be purchased up to 12 o'clock on Tuesday, Sept. 20th. This is a mistake. At 9 a.m. today the standing of the candidates was as follows: C. E. Baldwin, Coaticook, 18,818 Guy Carr, Compton, 13,498 N. S. Bourque, East Sherbrooke, 10,200 John J. Bayley, Compton, 7,182 Edward Peuder, Compton, 1,372 H. B. Learned, Learned Plain, 1,246 Col. J. H. Taylor, Cookshire, 759 M. Hamilton, Johnville, 506 John P. A RARE MUSICAL TREAT. By special request of the Fair management, America's celebrated cornet virtuoso, Mr. Joseph Butler, late soloist of Brook's Chicago Marine Band, Sateen Cadet Band, etc., whose valuable services as musical director of the "Harmonie" of this city has been most fortunate to secure, has consented to appear before the visitors at the exhibition grounds tomorrow afternoon and execute Jules Levy's masterpiece, "Russian Fantasia." Mr. Butler's rendering of this masterly work, a succession of exceedingly difficult "tour-de-force," is considered by Sousa, Brooks, Missud, Baldwin, Reeves, America's greatest bandmasters to be superior even to that of its world famed author, the great and only Levy, the King of cornet virtuosity. Such a musical treat is rarely granted to Sherbrooke, or in fact to Canada, and the management of the Fair, is to be congratulated for its initiative. The opportunity should not be missed. In the United States, where he has long been a resident, Mr. Butler is considered as second to none among the cornet virtuosity of America. BRIEFLETS. Mr. S. F. Morey and family returned Tuesday evening from their outing on the sea coast in Maine. It is said that the house that struck the tower of St. Andrew's Church last Sunday afternoon has been sent back to its proper owner—No charges for damages were made.

SAILOR FELL OVERBOARD IN MID-OCEAN.

New York, Sept. 6.—August Mason, a young French sailor on La Champagne, which arrived yesterday from Havre, fell overboard in mid-ocean last Wednesday while fixing an awning on the foredeck of the steamship. His shipmates raised the cry of "Man overboard." The ship was stopped and the propeller sent whirling full speed astern. Life preservers and buoys were tossed to the helpless tar, and a lifeboat was lowered within ten minutes after the accident.

The men in the lifeboat rowed for two hours about the place where the sailor had disappeared without getting trace of him. He was a good swimmer and the sea was calm. It is supposed that he was killed by the ship's propeller as she backed toward him.

SHERBROOKE FAIR.

MACHINERY HALL.

The new Machinery Hall, while a great improvement over the accommodations last year is still insufficient for the needs of the case. It is filled to the limit of its capacity with large special exhibits of agricultural machinery. The spaces are crowded and the directors will very likely find it advisable to make an addition to the hall next year. Everything is in full running order, most of the machinery being kept in motion throughout the day. The farming scene in one corner of W. N. Irwin's exhibit attracts much attention. Power from a special engine keeps the people in motion as they act out the process of farming.

At the north end of Machinery Hall Mr. F. L. Plaisance, general agent for the above Company, exhibits one of the celebrated stone crushers and a road grader, manufactured by the above firm. The stone crusher is supplied with an engine, and is kept in motion, showing the wonderful power of the big machine and the excellence of its work. Several of these machines are in use in surrounding municipalities, one having been purchased by the Corporation of the County of Sherbrooke. The members of the County Council speak highly of the excellence of its work. Fifteen cords of stone crushed in ten hours, is given by the operator of a machine in one municipality as an easy accomplishment of the machine. It appears to be a perfect outfit for municipal roadwork. The road making machine of this company, which is also on exhibition, is too well known to require special mention. It has several special and novel features of its own, which have commended it to many municipalities and gained for it a large sale throughout the United States and Canada. All interested in the good roads question should not fail to visit this exhibit when at the fair.

Their effect upon the Townships roads is already marked, and as other counties follow the lead of those who already employ the machines in their road making, the country will owe a still further debt to the Sawyer & Massey Co.

OTHER EXHIBITS OF MACHINERY.

Among the well known manufacturing firms who have exhibits of agricultural implements in Machinery Hall, are Walter A. Wood Co., Wortman & Ward Mfg. Co., Massey-Harris Co., Moody & Sons, Messrs. Terrill & McNicol, and Mr. F. L. Bean, of this city have large exhibits. That of the former firm contain a large variety of heavy farming implements, while that of the latter is principally composed of ploughs, cultivators, &c. Thos. McKeage, of Danville, exhibits a Vestot grain grinder in operation.

INDUSTRIAL HALL.

The Judges began their work in the agricultural and other departments yesterday. Several of the special exhibits which were not in place Monday were opened up yesterday. These are worthy of special note.

JAS. F. KERR.

representing the Moffatt Stove Co., of Weston, Ont., has an exhibit of stoves and ranges worthy of mention. The display is an unqualified success. Some of the attractive features of the exhibit are the silver steel ranges, the finest and most perfect range that can be manufactured, extra large top, duplex grate, easily removed, with frame through front door, without disturbing linings or water front. The oven is ventilated and all lined with asbestos, extra heavy plate steel, with patent truss. The cast iron ranges and stoves are made of new iron adopted with silver steel ovens, supported with patent trusses, takes less fuel than a cast iron oven and bakes more quickly and more evenly. The management of the exhibit is under the charge of Mr. Chas. A. Connor, the Company's Agent, who is very energetic in showing the superior qualities of these goods.

H. C. WILSON & CO.

Messrs. H. C. Wilson & Sons exhibit of musical instruments, which covers the largest space in the building, is certainly, as in former years, the centre of attraction. The display is artistically arranged in every respect, and this enterprising firm, who are the pioneers of the music business in the Townships, are to be congratulated upon their efforts.

JOHNSTON & FOSS.

This well-known city firm make a very interesting exhibit of groceries this year in the Industrial Hall. The display is very carefully and artistically arranged, which makes this firm's space a very attractive one. Owing to the limited space available, Johnston & Foss mark no exhibit from the hardware department of their store on Commercial street. Among the prominent features of the exhibit is the display of bird's food, Heinz's pickles and other delicacies, and art baking powder for which there is a very large sale. Johnston & Foss have the only grocery exhibit in the hall, and it is, indeed, somewhat of a new thing none the less interesting feature among the special exhibits.

GEO. GALE AND SONS.

As usual, this well-known Waterville firm has a fine exhibit of their new famous beds. The brass bed display is the most prominent feature. The elegant trusses are manufactured by the firm at Waterville and range in prices from $110 down. A number of combination iron and brass beds are also shown. Hospital beds and folding cots are also shown. Of course the Company's exhibit gives but little idea of the productions of the big factory at Waterville, but in the brass bed line an idea is given of the artistic work turned out by Geo. Gale & Sons.

HOSPITAL COUNTER.

The refreshment counter in aid of the Protestant Hospital appears to be receiving good patronage. It is excellently conducted by the ladies, and the laudable purpose for which it has been opened should commend it to the friends of the Hospital.

TWO MEN FIGHT OVER A HORSE.

One of Them Dies From His Injuries.

A despatch from St. Hughes brings the intelligence of a serious quarrel which took place there some days ago and which has since resulted in the death of one of the parties implicated in the affair. On Saturday a man named Bergeron quarreled with a man named Dalbee over the exchange of a horse. Words grew hotter and hotter and finally terminated in blows. During the course of the fight Bergeron was fatally injured. It was not thought that the injuries were of a serious nature, but on Thursday evening the unfortunate man passed away. Coroner Blanchard, of St. Hyacinthe, was called to St. Hughes to hold an inquest and take the case in hand. The matter has aroused intense excitement at St. Hughes and in the neighboring parishes. The verdict is anxiously looked forward to by the people of the regions where the two men were known.

THE REAL WIDOW BROWN.

Presented by the Scammon Company at Opera House.

The Q. C. Scammon Company, who presented the "Real Widow Brown" at the Opera House last evening, did not have as large an audience as they deserved. This was probably owing to the fact that it is a new Company to Sherbrooke people, and our citizens have been fooled so often with cheap, and in some cases disgusting travelling troops, that they are now shy about attending at first.

The Scammon Company is without doubt one of the best that has ever visited Sherbrooke, while the play was humorous throughout. The costumes were elaborate, to what is usually shown by companies coming to this city. Tonight "The Real Widow Brown" will again be presented, followed Thursday and Friday evenings with the play, "Side-Tracked," by the same company.

Mrs. Edward Westman, of Lime Ridge, is in the city the guest of her brother, Frank Cote, Esq.

CITY OF SHERBROOKE. The City of Sherbrooke is situated at the junction of the Magog and St. Francis rivers. It is 100 miles east of Montreal, 140 miles southwest of Quebec, and the third largest city in the Province of Quebec. It has a population of 11,000. It is the recognized "hub" of the Eastern Townships, a large and prosperous portion of Canada. The Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railways pass through the city, while the Boston & Maine and Quebec Central make this one terminus of their roads. Exceptionally good water power is in use, and can be secured for all kinds of manufacturing. Sherbrooke has all modern conveniences in the way of electric cars, electric lights, gas, etc. Capital from all parts of Canada and the United States is being invested in buildings and enterprises in the city. To anyone looking for a place to start in business, or locate a home, the progressive and growing city of Sherbrooke cannot be surpassed.

To my dear little friend Johnnie: It is quite a while since I had occasion to address you through the Record. Your frequent visits along with your mother through the earlier part of this season gave me an excellent opportunity of showing you all the nice and useful things we keep for boys. I have missed you of late, however, by your absence from the city. You were away I understand enjoying the milder air of the country, thus recuperating your health and strength to resume your close studies at school again. By the way, school opens pretty soon. How are your supplies of clothes and books for school wear? We have a magnificent line of Boys' Suits, Reefers, Overcoats, Underwear, Stockings, Boots, Rubbers, etc., etc. Come down to see me and bring your mother with you. Your friend in need, J. Levinson.

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. Kasson Speaks of United States Reciprocity Clauses.

Quebec, September 6.—So far as the labors of the International Commission are concerned, everything is quiet here. Some of the members of the staff of the commissioners are still in Quebec, but only one of the commissioners, Hon. Mr. Kasson, remains in the city. Mr. Kasson is a man well advanced in years, but still bright and active. He has been very busily engaged at Washington for many months past, and prefers the quiet and coolness of Quebec to Washington, with its hot spells and departmental routine at this time. Mr. Kasson holds the responsible position of reciprocity commissioner under the Dingley tariff of last year. He is regarded as the chief expert of the United States Government on reciprocity treaties, and it is an open secret in Quebec that he will occupy the recess, until the 20th, in working out the schedules of a prospective treaty between Canada and Great Britain. Mr. Kasson has made some progress on the schedule long before he left Washington, but suspended operations for the time being when the Canadian preferential tariff was made exclusively British. However, now that the two countries have come to close quarters, even though many people doubt a practical issue for the reciprocity negotiations, Mr. Kasson, at least, will endeavor to frame a treaty which will give the commissioners something to talk over when they return to Quebec.

In this connection it may be mentioned that should a treaty be agreed upon between Canada and the United States, the text of the document will find by what bodies such treaty shall be ratified. Of course, the Parliament of Canada would say in the matter, but whether the Senate of the United States will be asked to ratify the entire treaty, or only the commercial portions of it, is for the United States commissioners themselves to say.

I was fortunate in running across Mr. Kasson today and had an interesting chat with reference to the operation of the reciprocity clauses in the American tariff. The famous McKinley Bill was the first measure passed by Congress which contained any provisions in relation to reciprocity. The object of inserting these provisions was to protect the United States against injustice in the assessment of duties on American exports from countries which themselves or through their colonies supplied to the United States tropical products like tea, coffee, wine, etc., which the United States admitted free, while at the same time charging extravagant duties upon United States exports entering those countries. In order to accomplish that result Congress authorized the President, by proclamation, to fix a certain rate of duty on the articles specified in the section, numbering about 30 altogether, for such time as the country producing them should not give reciprocal advantage to the United States. Under that provision of the McKinley Bill special arrangements were made with several countries and colonies, by which concessions of duties were made upon certain articles, which those countries imported from the United States; in return for which they received equivalents by the free admission of their products into the American Republic.

RUSSIAN AGGRESSION.

Acting at Niu-Chwang as if the Place Belonged to Them. London, Sept. 6.—The Pekin correspondent of the Times, who has just paid a visit to Niu-Chwang in the province of Lia-Tong, Manchuria, a terminus of the proposed railway extension, the contract for building which has been at issue between the Russian and British Governments, says: "The Russians are acting there quite regardless of the rights of Englishmen and others, and as if the place belonged to them."

According to a despatch to the Daily Mail, from Shanghai, it is rumored there that the British fleet is under orders to rendezvous at Niu-Chwang.

We are glad to see that Mr. Thomas Rainbird, who has been confined to the house for several weeks past, with a severe attack of typhoid fever, is able to be out and around once more. Master Ernest Hamilton, son of Mr. Geo. Hamilton, of the Pinnacle, met with a serious accident on Saturday last. It appears that he was gathering butternuts in the top of a tall tree, when he fell to the ground, dislocating his shoulder and breaking both of his arms, one of them in two places. The town is again extending their new stone sidewalk.

YELLOW FEVER IN SPAIN.

A Report that a Case was Taken There from Santiago on the Montserrat. Madrid, Sept. 4.—It is reported that there was a case of yellow fever on the transport Montserrat, which arrived at Santander with troops from Santiago. The patient has been isolated in the Oza Lazaretto, and all precautions have been taken to prevent the spread of the disease. The Government denies that the man is suffering with yellow fever.

SPAIN'S REQUEST REFUSED.

Wanted to Send Warships to the Philippines.

Washington, Sept. 6.—One of the subjects which has demanded the President's attention was a request from the Spanish Government for permission to send a fleet of warships to the Philippine Islands to patrol those parts of the coast which are not under control of the United States, to hold the troublesome insurgents in check.

The cabinet, however, decided adversely to Spain's request, although it appears at first glance that this refusal on our part would give Spain a right to hold us responsible for any outrages committed by the rebels. The President concluded that it would not. He feared that to take any other position would be liable to lead us into dangerous entanglements, and the cabinet agreed in thinking that if any possible hitch occurred in the peace negotiations we should be in the position of having permitted the enemy to reinforce himself at our expense.

Kaiser Wilhelm's Aim in Spain.
Ponitney Biglow contributes to the Century an article on "Ten Years of Kaiser Wilhelm." Mr. Biglow says: I have known few men so free from brag or hypocrisy as this German prince when he ascended the imperial throne. On the Christmas immediately preceding the death of his noble father he wrote a letter to a friend 3,000 miles away. I have no right to make this letter public, but shall be forgiven for this much: The water dwelt earnestly upon the year that was closing, and particularly referred to the problems of the future, little dreaming that he was the one who would be called upon to assist in their solution. In this letter he confessed that the ambition of his life was to improve the condition of the working people, to reconcile the conflicting interests between those who have and those who have not, and, above all, to make the Christian religion a real thing. He went on jokingly to lament that some of our American millionaires did not see fit to leave him legacies for this purpose; for he was, he said, always hampered for want of necessary funds.

He Wanted a Smoke.
An old Welsh preacher in his eightieth year, who was an inveterate smoker, was one day driving out with his servant, also noted for the quantity of tobacco he consumed. Suddenly the trap overturned, with the old man underneath, the groom having succeeded in jumping on to the horse.
A crowd of men by whom the old man was almost worshipped at once rushed to the spot and proceeded to raise the capstayed vehicle, believing that the old gentleman was seriously hurt. If not killed, they had raised one side of the trap when he thrust his head from beneath and addressed his servant:
"George, have you got a light?"—London Tit-Bits.

A Heartless Man.
"I don't suppose my wife'll speak to me again for a week."
"Why?"
"About a month ago I bought a new razor without letting her know it, and since then she's kept on ripping seams with the old one. When she found out last night how she had been fooled, her condemnation was really pitiful."—Chicago Record.

It is probably not generally known that the word "dad," used by many children in place of "father," is the purest Welsh. The opening words of the Lord's prayer in Welsh are "Ein Dad."

THE HORSE SHOW.
Susette, 2:16, is now at the head of Nelson's (3:09) trotting list.
Addie De, by Nutwood, 2:18½, out of old Addie, 2:19½, passed a record of 2:10½ recently.
Conde, 2:19½, by Abbottford, who is well on toward 20 years old, is to be raced in Oregon and Washington this fall.
Little Dan Q, 2:08½, is winning all his races in New England. He stepped to his record quite handsily at Dover, N. H.
Otis Baron, 2:17½, the fastest gelding by Baron Wilkes, who came out green this spring, has been let up and turned out for a run to grass.
Bellwood A, John Hussey's expectedly phenomenal pacing mare, has not quite come up to expectations. She has all kinds of speed, but is unsteady.
The 4-year-old trotter Niso, by Arlon, 2:07½, is expected to beat 2:10 this year. He has worked the last quarter of a mile below 2:14 in 29½ seconds.
No man ever before had three such pacers in his stable at once as Tom Keating now boasts: Searchlight, 4:20½; Klatsch, 3:20½; and Amos, 3:20½.
Charles De Lyder went the 2:37 trot at Davenport recently in three heats with Minnie Birchwood, by Birchwood, reducing her record to 2:17½. She beat 2:18 three times.
Joe Patchen has speed to burn. The other day Peter Johnston worked him five heats at Tollet, two of them in 3:07½, 3:06½. He stopped one-half in 38½ seconds and a quarter in 28½.

Anglina, 2:11½, by Anteco, and Lurline McGregor, 2:11½, by Robert McGregor, who divide the honors as fastest green trotter of the year, are both owned by W. F. Raymond of New York City.—Horse Review.

THE KINOTOSCOPE.
That gold gleaned from sea water must show beautifully in the yearling pig sunshine extracted from cucumbers.—Philadelphia Times.

It is a wise child who can answer the question, Give up the boundaries of the United States for the year 1899.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Denver woman in her petition for divorce declared that her husband's "love has melted." Perhaps she made it too hot for him.—Cleveland Leader.

The man who comes back from the Klondike with gold is receiving very little attention because of the man who comes back from the Klondike with wounds.—Detroit Free Press.

The military exhibition which will be held in Paris will give to the world not the least European interest in the peaceful display it will make at Paris two years hence.—New York Tribune.

It gives the world one more proof of the democratic character of our institutions when a former president of the United States goes to New Jersey and settles down to raising eggs.—Chicago Journal.

Five hundred American trolley cars, with accompanying machinery, have been ordered in Paris at a cost of $500,000. This country has completely distanced all others in electrical transportation.—Exchange.

Fining a locomotive engineer $18,000 and sending him to prison for four months is the way Denmark deals with criminal and disastrous carelessness. In this country the verdict is apt to be, no one to blame.—New York Tribune.

FLOWER AND TREE.
The mignonette is the national flower of Spain.
A nutmeg tree of the largest size will produce no more than five pounds of nutmegs.
The color of hydrangeas is deepened by putting iron nails, green vitriol or alum into the soil. The color of dahlias is deepened by increasing the richness of the soil they grow in.

A remarkable plant has recently been discovered in New Guinea. It is green leaved, with spikes of gorgeous crimson flowers, 20 to 30 inches long, and as thick as an ordinary walking stick.
A strange tree, styled the "moonbeam," grows in the Congo. It belongs to the order "urticaceae." When the tree is cut at a height of about five feet, a large quantity of water is observed to flow from the section.
Edgewood is to be protected by law in the Austrian Alps. The emperor has signed laws passed by the diets of Styria and Carinthia forbidding the removal of the plant with its roots, the sale of it to tourists and exportation in large quantities.

RAILWAY RUMBLES.
By the year 1908 the Swiss government will have again secured control of the five leading railways in the country.
The fare for the trip from Montreal to Stanley Pool on the new Kongo railway is $70, though the time is only 30 hours.
Its time table folders cost the Boston and Maine railroad last year $180,000. Simpler and cheaper forms are being used this year and give, it is said, better satisfaction to the patrons of the road.
London's underground electric Waterloo and City railroad has been opened for traffic. The road is a mile and half long, ending at the Mansion House, and shortens to five minutes a journey that takes half an hour in the crowded streets.

A pearl necklace, the property of the late Duchess of Montrose, realized $50,100 at a recent auction sale. It consisted of eight rows, each containing an average of over 80 pearls of exquisite shape and lustre. It is gratifying to know that the proceeds of this one trinket were given to the east end poor.
Perhaps, however, the most valuable pearl necklace in the world is the property of the ex-Empress Frederick. It consists of 29 pearls only, but its cost was $850,000, or at the rate of nearly $3,000 for each pearl.—London Era-Bits.

WILL YOU WALK WITH ME THE DAY?
[A Derry dialogue.]
"Will you walk with me the day, Rose O'Doherty?"
"To Trillix banks away, Rosen dhat?"
"To a ribbon you are ready?"
"And the sun is shinin steady." "Will you walk with me the day, Rose aroo?"
"I'll no walk with you the day, Mr. Cassidy. Not the long nor little way, Master John. The sun is shinin steady." "An for Trillix banks I'm ready. Sense I'm walkin there the day with Constable Conn."
"What's your reason?" "Who was he that on a pleasure boat?"
"When he'd wired Domestic duty keeps me here." "I sought out exchangin kisses. Will you light young Miss or Mrs. Through Conn's telescope from off of Derry pier?"
"I was myself between the putting Juno's paddle boxes." "I confess it, claimin kisses with a will. You're foolish, forward stranger. But safe out of stormy danger. From my sister off the liner at Moville." "Will you walk with me the day, Rose O'Doherty?"
"There, jewel, 'tis too sore you're takin on." "Can't bear it if you'd blame me." "But with kindness—so to shame me! Yes! I'll walk—I'll walk—forever—with you, John." —Alfred Percival Graves in Sketch.

CAUTIOUS UNCLE JERRY.
He Would Take No Chances Even For a Goodly Fortune.
A lawyer had come all the way from California to pay a $10,000 legacy over to Uncle Jerry Hopfield, who had lived all his life in a little town in Ohio, and after breakfast two or three of us were invited to go along and witness the transfer. When we reached the house, Uncle Jerry was waiting up for the hope on the main barrel, while his wife had gone to see a sick neighbor. They had been fully identified the day before as the proper parties, and now the lawyer said:
"Well, Uncle Jerry, I want to hand you that money and get a receipt and be off this instant. It is my duty." "I'm kinder busy just now," said the old man as he stopped hammering for a moment. "Yes, but I have $10,000 here for you. I don't believe there's a man in the world who wouldn't stop work long enough to sign a receipt for such a fortune." "Mebbe not, but it looks like rain, and I want to get this bar fixed right away. Can't you come over in about an hour?" "Look here, man, but did you ever see $10,000 in one life?" asked the lawyer as he opened the estohel and displayed a big package of new greenbacks. "No, I never did," replied Uncle Jerry as he pondered away.
"Did you ever have $1,000 of your own?" "Never had a hundred all at once, did you?" "Never. Durn that hoop, but it don't want to go on!" "I must ask you to get this business over as soon as possible," continued the lawyer as the old man kept at his work. "But it's going to rain." "Yes, but here's your money." "And I've got to get this bar fixed." "I won't take over ten minutes to fix up your business. Run along and fetch your wife." "See here," said Uncle Jerry as he laid down his hammer and wiped the back of his neck. "Marlar has gone over to Blackland, and he's tinkin up this rain bar." "But can't you stop your tinkering to handle $10,000 in cold cash?" exclaimed the lawyer in indignant tones. "Yes, yes, I kin stop work, but what about Marlar?" "Well, what about Marlar?" "Why, she'd come home expectin this bar to be all tinkered up, and if she found it wasn't there $10,000 wouldn't hold her no more in a row string would she?" "I can't stop her," said Uncle Jerry. "I'll go and get her, and God's call down among the cabbages and jump on the bar with both feet and squish it all to squash, and by the next week I'd have to walk around on typhoid and eat my meals in the wood shed."—Washington Star.

THE GREENLANDERS' BOAT.
The Eskimo Kayak is a Most Difficult Craft to Handle.
There is no craft so difficult to handle as the Eskimo kayak. The only boat familiar to us which in any way resembles it is the racing shell, but it is a craft common to one of our crack colleges were tied into a kayak and told to shift for himself, even in smooth water, he would have a hard time of it.
The kayak has been evolved through hundreds of years of necessity. Without it the Greenland Eskimos at least would not be able to provide their daily bread, or, more properly speaking, their daily dinner.
It is singular that all the materials used in the construction of the kayak come from the sea; driftwood for the frame, sealskin for the covering, thong for the harpoon and dart, ivory and bone for bow, stern and keel and for the various implements. The women prepare the skin covering and stretch it over the frame till it is as tight and firm as the head of a drum. On such occasions the great excitement in the community, a regular "kayak bee" is held; and refreshments are not lacking, for the owner of the kayak treats to coffee all around when the work is satisfactorily done.
The completed boat is a triumph of ingenuity and skill. It is about 18 feet long, sharply pointed at each end. Its greatest depth is 6 inches and its width about 18. It is entirely covered save for the little round hole into which the owner alights, pushing his feet underneath the skin deck in front.
This hole is fitted to the person for whom the boat is designed, and his thighs completely fill it up. When he is seated in it and his waterproof jacket is tied securely round the edge, he is able to defy the waves which wash over him or the rain which beats upon him. The six things loops arranged on the deck in front and the three or four behind hold his implements—bird darts, lances, knives and harpoon. The most important of all, his harpoon, is arranged directly in front of him, upon which is called the harpoon line, and behind him on the kayak is the harpoon bladder which is attached, inflated and ready for use to the line.
The most expert are apt sometimes to be overpowered. It may be by the attack of a walrus or even a seal, by a careless movement or an unexpected large wave. If he does not right himself at once, he is inevitably drowned unless a comrade comes to his assistance. The usual method of turning the kayak upright again is by using the paddle as a lever, holding it along the side of the boat, pointing it toward the bow, then sweeping it through the water, but those who are thoroughly proficient are able to do it by means of their throwing stick, their arm or even their hand.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE DRAGON-FLY.
No one could fail to be struck with the singularly perfect adaptation of the insect's structure to a life of aerial piracy. The four wings are large and, in proportion to their weight, enormously strong. The body is supported by a wonderfully arranged network of slender ribs, which give the necessary rigidity to the thin transparent membrane forming its basis. The muscles by which the wings are moved are massive and powerful and are so arranged among themselves that the animal is capable of steering its course with an unerring accuracy which any bird might envy. In this power it is largely aided by a marvelous keenness of sight, for in addition to the two great, goggle-like colored compound eyes which make up so much of the head, the insect possesses three smaller "simple" eyes, making five eyes in all. The prey when overtaken is seized and devoured by means of powerful sharply toothed jaws.
An animal which lives such an active life naturally requires a very perfect breathing apparatus, and this is amply provided by a system of holes on the sides of the body which open into an elaborate network of air tubes, supplying every part of the system. The air in these tubes is constantly renewed by the regular compression and dilatation of the body by special muscles.—Chambers Journal.

Mary Stuart's Curious Watches.
Among the watches owned by Mary Stuart was a coffin shaped watch in a case of crystal. Probably the most remarkable one in her collection was the one which was bequeathed to Mary Scaton, her maid of honor. It was in the form of a skull. On the forehead of the skull was the symbol of death, the scythe and the hourglass. At the back of the skull was "Time, and at the top of the head was the garden of Eden and the crucifixion. The watch was opened by reversing the skull. Inside was a representation of the holy family surrounded by angels, while the shepherds and their flocks were worshipping the newborn Christ. The works formed the bryans, while the dial plate was the palate. She also possessed another skull shaped watch, but it is not known what became of it.—Ladies' Home Journal.

When Tots See In.
The little tots who are inclined to "toe in" when they begin to walk can have this fault quickly rectified if attended to in time, says the Philadelphia Times. The mother or nurse should rub at least twice a day the outer side of the little legs with a firm upward stroke. This can be done regularly when putting baby to bed and at such other times as convenient. When the little one climbs into your lap for a "cuddle" or a story is a good time. Hold the little foot in your hand in the correct position. Recollect do not rub down and not on the inner side of the leg. The object is to nourish and strengthen the outer muscles, which are proportionately weak. Begin below the ankle and rub to the knee, slowly and quietly, but not too lightly. This treatment, patiently persevered in, will soon correct the trouble.

Murder of the Archbishop of Paris.
It was during the outbreak in June, 1844, that the heroic death of the saintly archbishop of Paris, Mgr. Affre, occurred, said C. F. B. Miel in The Atlantic. The soul of this devout man was deeply moved by the spirit of strife among the people. It cut him to the heart to see Paris on the verge of a fratricidal war, and God's call seemed clear to him, as the spiritual father of the community, not to spare himself in any endeavor to restore order and promote peace. Accordingly on the morning of the 27th he proceeded to the scene of the conflict and mounted the barricades to plead with the populace on the one hand, and with the soldiery on the other. Scarcely had he uttered the words "My children" when a shot fired from a neighboring building pierced him, and he fell dead before the eyes of the mob. This tragic event was enough. A horror seemed to seize every one at the enormity of the crime, and from that moment the insurrection ceased. Truly the good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep.

Sandwiches.
For any kind of sandwiches the bread should be 24 hours old; the crusts should be shaved from the sides and ends of the loaf, leaving it nice and even. Each slice should be evenly spread with butter before it is cut from the loaf to prevent its breaking, and it should not be more than the thickness of an ordinary square cracker. A sandwich should never be buttered so that it will cake or get discolored when sliced are pulled apart. Spread very lightly. If necessary, melt the butter.
