John D. Hamilton Loses Milk House and Shed in Fire Sunday

Huntingdon Fire Brigade Called Does Much to Save Other Buildings

A series of fires during the latter few days of the past week provided plenty of practice for the Huntingdon Volunteer Fire Brigade and showed the men to be ever ready in case of fire. No time was lost in reaching any of the fires and it was this speed which possibly prevented more serious results.

Two of the fires were in town. On Wednesday afternoon, January 23rd, at about 3.35, the brigade got a call to the home of Miss Paul, 108 York Street, where stove pipes and the chimney were on fire. This was very quickly extinguished and no damage resulted. On Saturday morning, January 26th, at about 11.30 the brigade was called to the home of Miss Paul, 22 King Street, where the stove pipes had become overheated. As the fire was under control when the firemen arrived, their services were not needed.

The worst fire occurred on Sunday morning, at about 10 o'clock at the farm of John D. Hamilton, on the River Road, about half a mile outside the town limits, in Hinchinbrook municipality. The fire started in the milk house at about the time mentioned above and was quickly ablaze. The hired man had just left the building for another part of the farm and turned back to find the smoke and flame. Mr. Hamilton had also noticed it. The alarm was given and the nearby neighbours rushed to the assistance, but it was already spreading quite fast and threatened the adjacent buildings. A call was sent in to the Huntingdon Fire Dept. and as the fire was in the country permission had to be gained from the Fire Committee. Alderman Warden was contacted and the fire brigade arrived at the scene of the fire at about 11 a.m., which was very soon after the call had been received. With Fire Chief C. Stark in charge, were the following members of the brigade: D. Moody, O. Samson, J. Chambers, I. McWhinnie, L. Duheine, R. Rousseau, E. Duheine, B. Boyd, J. Cluff, J. Brooks, A. Laberge, J. McGraw and G. Samuill.

The booster pump was taken down to the river after much difficulty due to the large jagged pieces of ice that had been washed against the banks in the recent thaw. These pieces of ice made the getting of the pump to the smooth ice of the river most dangerous and several times the pump was thrown off balance and one man was pinned down by the tongue, but luckily was not hurt. However it was not long before the pump was going and a stream of water was played on the fire. As it was then impossible to save the milk house building, efforts were concentrated on the big cow barn which almost joined the other building. The hay in this barn was starting to catch and some of the sides had to be pulled off in order that the water could be played on this. Several head of cattle were removed from this end of the barn and smoke was starting to come out of the roof from the smoking hay. The efforts of the firemen prevented the fire from spreading to this building although the outside corner was very badly scorched. It was 2 p.m. before the firemen from Huntingdon left the scene of the fire and deemed it was safe. As late as 5 p.m. the ruins were still smoldering and many persons were out to view it. The outside corner was very badly scorched and the building was used as a combination milk house, implement shed and feed storage and most of the contents were a total loss. One trailer with a few bags of feed was taken out of the shed. Some insurance was carried.

Mr. Hamilton was burned rather severely about the face when he tried to save some of the contents of the milk house and he is now under the doctor's care. The cause of the fire is not known. Much credit is due the Huntingdon Fire Brigade for their quick turn-out of its members and their speedy arrival at the fire after the call had been received. Their efforts saved the other buildings which undoubtedly would have been lost had their assistance not been available. Sunday was quite cold and at the time there was a high wind. After the brigade arrived back in Huntingdon it took some time to get the equipment back in shape in preparation for another call. The booster pump did not have much water in it although it is outmanned and parts are hard to get for it. It would seem that a good investment would be in a later model for which parts could be more easily obtained.

It was noticed that a number of the neighbors brought chemical extinguishers to the fire, but apparently did not know how to operate them properly. It is therefore suggested that a knowledge of how to operate these extinguishers should be gained so that their full use may be obtained. These extinguishers are required to be refilled every year whether they have been used or not and it is well to check on this from time to time in order that the extinguisher will be ready when required in an emergency.

Howick School Re-opens After Disastrous Fire Loss

Serious Loss Sustained by Destruction of School Library

Regular classes, Grades 1-3 in the Curling Rink and Grades 4-6 in the undamaged part of the school building, were resumed in Howick School on Monday.

The most serious damage was done in the old wing, the school proper until 1931. Books and furniture were badly damaged in this part, both by fire and water, and the children in Grades 1, 2, 3, 6 and 7 are carrying on their work with what is still usable from among their possessions.

The students are to be congratulated on the splendid way in which they worked to save books and laboratory equipment the night of the fire, January 18. The four classrooms of the New Wing were stripped quickly and efficiently of all books and valuables. Little damage except to floors has, therefore, resulted in this part.

The Staff and pupils of Howick

High School are very grateful to parents and other good friends who have been giving so generously of their time to the testing down of the damaged walls and roof and the rebuilding of the roof of the Old Wing. Though it is doubtful whether that section will be used again, a great deal of repairing and re-inforcing was imperative and large groups of willing workers are completing it very quickly.

One of the greatest losses was in the destruction of the entire library, located in the Old Wing. The pupils are anxious to replace the Books of Knowledge, Encyclopaedia and other reference books stored there. Towards this end, a Benefit Dance is to be held by the High School in the Howick Temperance Hall on Friday, February 1. All who would like to contribute to the rebuilding of the library books are asked to attend and give all support possible.

Progressiveness of the Farm Co-operative of Ste-Martine

The Ste. Martine Co-operative Society has just ended its fiscal year. The following results are a proof that farm co-operatives should continually expand their activities so as to keep up with the ever-increasing demands of the farmer.

Founded in 1934, this co-operative now has 122 members. Business turnover for the past year was $211,593.57, with a profit of $7,613.82. Assets were $57,106.95; liabilities amounted to $19,568.11, including debts, ordinary and privileged capital as well as credited dividends totalling $24,766.22, with a reserve and non-attributed profits of $12,772.62.

During the past year a large grist mill was erected at a cost of $19,000. The activities of the past six months are a guarantee that the enterprise will pay for itself and its usefulness will justify its existence. The seed and feed section alone earned $140,143.98. Seed grains, particularly Timothy, Clover and Alfalfa, are also sold.

Two seed cleaners of heavy dimensions have been installed in the warehouse of the co-operative where the farmers' seed is screened for their own use as well as that to be used for selling purposes.

The incubating section has felt the let-down in chick demand. Business for this part of the co-operative amounted to $27,094.91; 153,623 chicks were sold as well as 13,116 turkey poults.

The candling and egg-grading stations did well, their figures amounting to $44,354.63. Thanks to good management, all good quality eggs of proper size for export purposes were sent directly to England.

A limestone quarry operated by the co-operative was rented to a road contractor who pledged himself to supply the society with the by-product of the entire output of limestone.

Church Society Observes Anniversary

A very happy event took place on Thursday afternoon, Jan. 24, in the Kirk Hall of Beauharnois Presbyterian Church, this being the commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the Ladies' Aid Society.

The hall and the tea tables were tastefully decorated, gold being the predominant color. Mrs. J. W. Kilgour, who has been actively interested in the work since its inception, conducted the devotional period. The minutes of the first annual meeting, which was held in the old manse 50 years ago, were read by the original secretary, Miss Sarah Robert, now of Montreal. A resume of the work done during the 50 years was then read by another charter member, Miss Annie Wilson of Oakville, Ont. These three ladies were each presented with a corsage of gold-colored roses.

Mrs. Worthington and Mrs. Drummond sang several delightful old-fashioned songs, including a most appropriate number, "Bless This House."

After the usual business the retiring president, Mrs. J. Turnbull, vacated the chair to Mrs. M. Scott. A very happy social hour followed when dairy refreshments, including the birthday cake, were served.

Do Unto Others As You Would Be Done By

To Avoid Accidents Drive With Caution

The new 1946 licenses were issued starting Monday, January 29th. This offers an opportunity time for the Province of Quebec Safety League to have a short heart to heart talk with the motorists and impress upon them the heavy responsibility and duty towards others as well as themselves, when they assume, by accepting their driving permits and license plates.

First, let not your car lead you to the Coroner's Court, let it not be the cause of the death of an adult and least of all, a child. Nor must you take your car to Civil Court, to not allow ever, that it be the cause of material damage to others. Do not be a "road hog", roads and streets are public and other people have just as much right to use them as you. Make your own, this GOLDEN RULE which says that "you must not do to others what you would not like others to do unto you."

Your responsibilities both to you and yours are tremendous; let them create a sentiment that will have this golden result of putting off your own death as well as that of others. We know that this is your own car but, when your vehicle turns out to be a menace or an instrument of danger to others, then, it is not yours any longer.

If you blindly go through a crossing, you are welcoming death! You become another customer for the Coroner and soon on your way to the cemetery. A few days later, you are forgotten by all except those who have ruthlessly left behind without means of subsistence. Trains cannot leave the tracks to avoid your car. If you stubbornly attempt to push them aside, they will cause heavy damage if you are lucky enough to emerge without a scratch.

Moreover, you must think of all these people whose sole means of transportation are the trams. Let us sum up the above in reminding you that, when accepting your driving permit, you also accept your individual responsibility, that others have an equal right to use the road and, finally, that you must give to others the same consideration that you claim for yourself.

Periodical County-wide T.B. Test Dairy Cattle Being Made

Dr. J. Boyer, Veterinary Inspector, Health of Animals Branch, in Charge

The Chateauguay Valley being an important dairying district, great care must be exercised to keep its animal population free from disease as far as is humanly possible. Animals in this area are valuable both in money and for their production and no farmer can afford to gamble with the health of his animals. Periodically the Health of Animals Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture conducts inspections of all the animals throughout the area. In Huntingdon County, this branch is under the charge of Dr. J. Boyer.

It might be pointed out here that just as tuberculosis can be transferred from animals to human beings, so can it be transferred from human beings to animals. Thus it is that care should be taken by persons who may be suffering from this disease in their handling of these animals and their habits around the barn. Farmers should also be careful that their helpers are free from the disease or do not transmit it to the animals by their habits and actions.

The re-actors are destroyed under supervision of the Department and the owners are reimbursed in part for the loss, to the extent of two-thirds the value of the animal. Such values are based on the average of the various types of animals and set by the Department. The disposal of the animals is closely watched by the Department until it has been completed to its satisfaction.

Dr. Boyer also reported that during 1945, 4,117 head of cattle were exported from this county to the United States. Four head were shipped to Great Britain by P. D. McArthur and Sons, of Howick and constituted the first shipment of Great Britain from these parts since the war began in 1939.

Road Committee Notified Roads Will Not be Kept Open After February 1st

According to latest word received from the Road Committee as to the keeping of the roads open in this area in the event of further storms this winter, it is to the effect that they will not be kept open after February 1st. Mr. D. Faubert is in receipt of a letter from the Chief Engineer, which says that due to the amount of money not being forthcoming the roads will not be kept open after the date mentioned above. There is still about $1,100 lacking to make up the required sum and many have flatly refused to support the scheme this year.

Governors For Ormstown W.M.C.C.

First Annual Meeting Held Monday Evening

The adoption of the constitution and election of a board of governors were the principal items on the agenda of the first annual meeting of the Ormstown War Memorial Community Centre, held on Monday evening at the Methodist Hall, Ormstown. Forty-five members were present, representing all parts of the Ormstown district, and all were enthusiastic about the success of the project. The governors elected were as follows: J. D. Bryson, Romeo Brunet, George Collin, Raymond Graham, George McClintock and Dr. M. R. Stalker. A meeting of the governors to elect their chairman and secretary-treasurer will be held next week.

Earlier in the evening, reports were read by the chairmen of the various committees. Dr. Stalker reviewed the progress of the campaign. The response throughout the whole community had been most encouraging, he said, and a number of additional subscriptions are still to be received. Dr. Stalker also read the letter of Mr. R. E. Walsh, donating the land on which the Community Hall is to be erected. Total receipts from the campaign were $26,503. J. C. Munroe reported on the constitution committee and moved that the secretary be instructed to write a letter of appreciation to the Huntingdon Gleaner for its interest and support during the campaign. R. F. Corkran presented the Organization Committee's report, which included correspondence with other community centres and recreational organizations, government regulations and architect's estimates. Mr. Bryson expressed the thanks of the members to the committee chairmen in receiving these reports.

Mr. Corkran presented the proposed constitution, which is materially the same as that published during the campaign. The hall will be under the supervision of a board of six governors, three of whom will be elected by the members annually. In addition, various non-denominational societies have the privilege of nominating representatives to the governing body. According to the constitution, such societies must have a membership of at least 20. The annual membership of the Community Centre will be $10. Dr. W. S. McLane seconded the adoption of this constitution and the motion was carried unanimously.

Some Imports Given Special Ceiling Prices

A new pricing policy on goods imported from a number of designated countries has been announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. Under the new policy trade between Canada and allied countries will be facilitated and encouraged.

The new procedure will allow, after application by importers to be setting of price ceilings at levels which will not prevent their importation because of local price ceilings. It will apply to goods imported from countries where production costs have risen because of the ravages of war.

The new ruling will add to the supply of goods available to the Canadian public. The goods will appear at high prices in some instances but will be mainly specialty goods and will not result in a general increase in the cost of living in Canada.

The goods from which imports may be imported under the new procedure are: the United Kingdom and Northern Ireland, Belgium, France, Netherlands, Norway, Luxembourg, Poland, Greece, Yugoslavia, China, U.S.S.R., Czechoslovakia, India, British India, Burma and Ceylon.

Two Men Injured in Collision

Truck and Snow Plough Collide Near Cazaville

A bad accident occurred on Saturday morning between eight and nine o'clock when a truck driven by John J. Stirling of St. Anicet, and a snow plough, collided head-on on the main highway between Leek's Corners and Cazaville. Saturday morning was quite stormy and the snow was blowing in swirls, making vision very difficult. Mr. Stirling, who was accompanied by Mr. J. Deshaie, was proceeding to Cazaville by way of Cazaville, he was coming up over the hill on his own side of the road while the plough was proceeding in the opposite direction on the same side of the road. Stirling was driving a light half-ton truck and this went up onto the plough when the collision occurred.

The two men in the truck were badly injured and were brought to Huntingdon County Hospital for medical attention.

It was found that both men were very badly cut about the head and both had had cuts on the chin. Stirling was the most severely injured, suffering a scalp wound and a broken jaw in addition to other wounds. He was nearly scalped, the head wound was so bad. Both men are resting at the hospital and their condition is considered quite serious, but they are progressing satisfactorily at the present.

The light truck was brought in to the O'Connor Garage early this week and it is quite badly smashed. The men on the plough did not suffer injury of any kind as far as is known, nor was the plough damaged to any great extent.

Mustard Gas From Cornwall Finds Grave in Atlantic

More than 2,000 tons of deadly mustard gas, secretly manufactured and stored in Canada for possible retaliation against a desperate enemy resort to chemical warfare, shortly will find a watery grave far out in the North Atlantic.

Sometime within the next two weeks surplus army landing barges will be loaded at Halifax and towed several hundred miles to sea and scuttled. Since last January 18, trainloads of the dangerous material have been moving eastward from the Stormont Chemicals, Ltd., plant at Cornwall, Ont., under army supervision. At Halifax the gas drums will be loaded on surplus army landing barges made available by War Assets, Limited, and towed from Montreal to Halifax before the winter freeze-up of the St. Lawrence river.

The actual disposal work will be undertaken by a private firm well away from the normal sea lanes and fishing grounds of the eastern seaboard.

The disposal of gas in the Atlantic follows procedure adopted by the authorities for getting rid of surplus ammunition. Until the inland shipping season closed, various types of ammunition was dumped in various parts of the Great Lakes. The localities were not disclosed and it was considered highly unlikely that disposal points in the North Atlantic would be made public. Military officials said deep water disposal was less costly and more efficient than detonation or burial.

No disclosures have been made as to the localities where mustard gas was manufactured or stored in Canada other than at the Cornwall plant.

R. Cauchon Re-elected As Valleyfield Mayor

Robert Cauchon, an official court stenographer, was re-elected mayor of Valleyfield, on Monday, defeating former Mayor Louis Major, by a majority of 514 votes.

With the mayor, three aldermen who formed the previous city council, were also elected.

They were: Louis Quevillon, with a majority of 140 votes over Orla Lefebvre; Adrien Lebeault, who drew 38 more votes than Eugene Lalonde, and Delphis Gagnier with a majority of 50 votes over Eugene Parent.

Board of Trade Meeting Held To Discuss Memorial Project

Favour Hall For Town; Old People's Home or New Hospital if For County

A sparsely-attended meeting of the Huntingdon Board of Trade was held in the County Building, on Monday evening, for the purpose of discussing the proposed memorial project. Mr. Walter S. Brown, vice-president, was in the chair and in opening the meeting said that the main object was to have some proposal or proposals to hand to the delegates from the Board of Trade who would meet with the delegates from the Rotary Club, Canadian Legion and the Town Council at the County Building, on February 5.

The ideas given from the Board of Trade would be discussed at the latter meeting and then some concrete proposal or proposals would be taken to a public meeting of the citizens for their approval or rejection. First of all he thought that it should be decided whether the memorial was going to be for the Town of Huntingdon alone or for the County of Huntingdon as a whole. He said he thought this was important and the delegates should be quite clear on the point.

Three Proposals

Three proposals were discussed—these being a Memorial Hall for the Town of Huntingdon, or an Old People's Home or new County Hospital if the idea would be for the County of Huntingdon. Mr. Brown was definitely opposed to a new wing being added to the present hospital building and said if the memorial was to favor the hospital, he would like to see a new building on another site where it could be made into the most up-to-date possible. He said that he was not opposed to the hospital and would do all he could to see that a hospital always remained in Huntingdon regardless of what form the memorial might take. If the proposal was to be for the Town of Huntingdon he would definitely favor a hall being built. The town was greatly in need of a hall in which to hold meetings and other events and after all the hospital was established and would remain. On the other hand there was no place large enough in town to accommodate a large crowd and some such place was absolutely needed.

Favors Hall and Library

Mr. I. Roskes said he favored the idea of a hall and he would like to see it equipped with a library and reading room. He felt that there was a definite need for a library in every town and was surprised when he found that there was none in a town like Huntingdon. He also felt that whatever project was decided upon it should be built in the town itself in order to avail of the facilities of the town. He was in favor of an Old People's Home, where all might live and enjoy the comforts in their old age whether they could pay or not. He felt that this should form part of the hospital rather than a separate project, and he was not in favor of it being built in the country as was suggested by some other members present.

Mr. Manning was greatly in favor of an Old People's Home as he said there was a great need for such an institution and many of the older people would find such a place a great comfort to them in their old age. He cited some instances of where this would have been quite useful in the past. He was for having an institution built where space would be available for gardens and where perhaps some cows and chickens and so forth could be kept. He said there were many old people who would still like to work around such things and so pass their time. He mentioned the Wales' Home in the Eastern Townships as an example of what he had in mind. For want of a better description he used the title "Old People's Home," but he would suggest that such an institution be called a different name to that if it were decided upon.

Favors Hall For Town

Mr. George Dixon favored a Memorial Hall for the Town of Huntingdon and suggested that behind the hall a house be built for a caretaker and over this a room set apart for the Canadian Legion. A meeting place for its members. The hall would be for the purpose of renting out for community activities of all kinds and thus provide a revenue that might prove to be self-sustaining. He was not in favor of the hospital idea as he felt that this need had been met, but he did favor the idea of the Old People's Home, if that were to be a county project. He also felt that if such an institution were decided upon it should be built in the Town of Huntingdon so that all facilities could be available.

After this discussion it was decided that the delegates be appointed and told that the Board of Trade favored the hall idea for a town memorial and either the hospital or Old People's Home if it should be for the County of Huntingdon. The delegates named were: Mr. I. Roskes and Mr. W. S. Brown, with alternatives, Mr. A. A. Luman and Mr. W. K. Phillips. These delegates will meet with those from the other associations on Tuesday, February 5, at 8 p.m.

Subsidy Discussed

Mr. Brown announced that in connection with Spinners Limited, the Board of Trade had agreed to subsidize the rental of the building from Mr. Morris Hunter for a period of 10 years. When this arrangement was made Mr. A. Langevin of The Chateau had consented to contribute $150, which was half of the required amount, and this left the Board of Trade to find the balance. Mr. Langevin had disposed of his holdings at The Chateau, it was thought the Board of Trade would have to put up the whole amount from now on. However, Mr. J. A. Landreault, the present owner of The Chateau, had notified the Board of Trade that he wanted to carry on the same obligation as Mr. Langevin. This offer was graciously accepted. Mr. Morris Hunter also informed the Board of Trade that he was willing to allow $50 of the remaining $150 to be supplied by the Board of Trade, to be kept by the Board of Trade as a donation to the memorial project. The members also appreciated this donation and gesture on the part of Mr. Hunter.

Mr. Brown also announced that he had been informed by Mr. W. K. Pope that Mr. J. A. Ros was willing to make a special price on his property on Chateauguay Street if this was bought and used as a memorial site. No other particulars were given on this and no action was taken by the members on this offer. It is to be kept in mind as a consideration when the memorial project is discussed at future meetings.

Winter Tests Held For Musk-ox Cameras

Photographers on Expedition May Work at 60 Below Zero

OTTAWA (CP)—Soon Canadian newspapers will be publishing pictures of the progress of Musk-ox, the combined army-air force far northern expedition, and conditions encountered during the 3,200-mile trek across the bleak sub-arctic. Behind those pictures will be a tale of cameramen assigned to "cover" the fact-finding and scientific project were worried about the performance of their cameras under the conditions of extreme cold which will be encountered and army camera trouble-shooter Lieut. H. D. King went to work.

Exhaustive tests were conducted in "winterization" of cameras at the National Research Council laboratories here. As a result, cameras carried by photographers Lieut. Robert W. Morton and Sgt. Roger Racine may be able to operate in temperatures as low as 60 below zero. "Winterization" was accomplished by complete dismantling of the machines and washing the parts in a benzene bath to remove oils and grit. Small quantities of a special grease were then applied to moving parts.

"Balls of Frost"

Both "winterized" and ordinary cameras were placed in freezing vaults and temperatures reduced to 60 below zero. "All cameras were just balls of frost when we entered the chamber and, although ordinary cameras were jammed, the

Huntingdon, Wed., January 30th, 1946

A Sports Promotion Organizer

AS A CULMINATION of editorials appearing in The Gleaner in recent weeks on the use of the school by the community and the erection of a Memorial Hall or other suitable project, the following matter has been discussed. It is the thought that the school itself could be made as a suitable memorial and that with the gymnastic equipment already secured at some expense, a paid organizer and sports promoter could be engaged to supervise all athletic activities within the school and around the community. Should such a person be engaged he would be recommended by the Y.M.C.A. or some other responsible organization.

For a time it will be remembered that classes in physical training were held all throughout the school and that equipment for practically all kinds of exercises was obtained amounting to over $1,000. There was no expense attached to the school for this equipment as it was generously subscribed to by interested citizens and taxpayers. An instructor was engaged from the military camp but he was not able to keep the work going due to his duties at the camp. Thus this training and equipment has received very little use since. It was the original intention to make the equipment available to others than the scholars at the school, but this did not materialize.

It has been pointed out to The Gleaner by several prominent citizens in the past weeks that there is no finer building than Huntingdon High School and when one Y.M.C.A. official visited here some time ago, he was reported as saying there was no finer school building in Montreal. The school is equipped with an excellent auditorium complete with seating capacity, stage, moving picture screen and so forth. With a paid organizer to promote activities for both adults and children, a good workable program could be carried out for summer and winter. Social gatherings could also be promoted, for which the auditorium could be used. It has been suggested that certain organizations in town would be willing to contribute sufficient funds throughout the year to pay the salary of such an organizer and this could be augmented by donations from public spirited citizens. An alternative to this suggestion could be that instead of going to the expense of building another hall, a memorial fund could be set up to be used in conjunction with the idea and that a suitable plaque could be placed in the school designating the fund and the purpose of it. It must be remembered that several of the men who have served and sacrificed their lives were originally students at the Huntingdon High School and thus such a memorial would be a very fitting one for the Town of Huntingdon.

There is a great need in this town for more promoted activities for all our citizens, young or old, and if this idea could be fostered it would help to bring the school building into greater use, an idea that is entertained in the minds of not a few of the citizens. Many have expressed the opinion that they do not see why a building of this kind should stand idle most of its time, and which contains such useful equipment, and that the community should go to the expense of building a hall that would be expressly for the same thing. There is no doubt there is a thought here that is worth considering at this time. A further expression has been given that a library should be included in a memorial hall—here again the school is equipped and has a library that could be used at other times than during the school hours. It is possible that more books would be needed that would be suitable for adult tastes, but the library is there. For the sporting activities the school is also equipped with showers, which add to the advantages. This building is required to be heated at all times during the winter months so expense could be cut to a minimum both for the school board and the public by sharing in this expense.

Why not think this over before the actual decision is made on the building of a new hall and see what could be worked out in this connection?

How About A Study Club?

A FURTHER idea that could be incorporated with that contained in the foregoing editorial is the formation of a study club or groups in the Town of Huntingdon. Such a group has been in existence in Ormstown for some time past and other centres are favoring the idea. There is plenty of material in Huntingdon to make subjects for study groups and we have a number of persons who are capable of addressing such groups for some time to come. Here again, the school would serve a useful purpose in accommodating the groups for these meetings and it would be possible for several groups to hold meetings simultaneously, as the classrooms could be used for this purpose. Thus, if the auditorium was being used for some other purpose it would not interfere with such activity. The classrooms would provide the opportunity for the lecturer to make sketches, etc., on the black boards, as well as have the audience in a compact space.

Meetings could be arranged once or twice a month, or oftener if felt necessary, and subjects and speakers for the meetings could be scheduled ahead of time so that a plan for a certain period could be drawn up. One plan that is often tried out is for each of the business and professional men to give a talk or a series of talks on his particular line of business and for the club to study the various angles presented for a better knowledge of the community's interests. With the various manufacturing concerns in the Town of Huntingdon, a variety of subjects could be introduced that would provide interesting and instructive material for some time to come. It might also be that special occasions could be set aside when groups could be given an opportunity to visit the plants and see for themselves the actual workings. Such a club could form the basis of adult education classes in many subjects that are not now familiar and which would do much in causing a greater interest in the community as a whole. Study groups could also be fostered among the younger population on subjects that would prove of interest to them.

We feel sure that if such a plan were originated that it would find favor with a large group of townspeople and if the subjects were made interesting and entertaining, that it would not be long before the attendance would be on the increase. Later it might be possible to introduce study on subjects that had a wider scope than just that of the community. A small membership fee could be charged to look after incidentals and some social activity could be incorporated to add attraction to the plan.

Health Week February 3rd to 9th

THERE is no greater human asset and perhaps one that is so little prized, as good health. We are all apt to take chances with our health and to regret the consequences when too late. For the purpose of bringing this matter more forcibly to the attention of everyone, the week of February 3rd to the 9th has been set aside as "Health Week." In connection with observance, the Health League of Canada, in co-operation with all health bodies throughout the Dominion, has prepared a series of pamphlets pertaining to health and statistics regarding it. Some of the objectives of the League follow:

The promotion of community and personal health;
To assist the health authorities throughout Canada — Federal, Provincial, local — in the following:
Pastorization of milk.
Elimination of communicable diseases.
Development of best nutritional habits.
Elimination of Venereal Diseases.
Development of industrial health.

SOCIAL HYGIENE CAMPAIGN

A great national campaign is being carried out by Dominion, Provincial and local Departments of Health this year against venereal diseases. Note especially the Social Hygiene Day on Wednesday, February 6th. There is a definite place for Social Hygiene in that great field of Industrial Health, which is a major objective of the Health League of Canada.

Through the designation of the week of February 3rd as "Health Week" the Health League of Canada hopes to put emphasis on the year-round programs of disease prevention carried on by official campaigns for compulsory pasteurization of milk and pre-marital medical examinations including blood tests.

The League at present is engaged in an intensive campaign seeking enactment of compulsory pasteurization laws by the provinces. Ontario, the only province with such a law on its statutes, has profited greatly from this legislation, passed in 1938.

A law similar to that in effect in Ontario could be and should be passed and enforced in the other eight provinces. There can be no sound argument advanced against the pasteurization of milk which is a simple and harmless procedure. Pasteurization does no harm to milk's nutritive value, but there are still many Canadian citizens who ignore the facts and for reasons, selfish or otherwise, continue to oppose this harmless and economical method of making milk, the world's finest food, safe for human consumption.

"National Social Hygiene Day," a feature of "Health Week" on Wednesday, February 6th, will mark, among other things, the opening of this year's drive against the menace of venereal diseases. This season particular attention will be paid to the importance of pre-marital examinations, including blood tests. Designed to protect both prospective marriage partners, such examinations are compulsory at present in two provinces—Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The war against Germany, Italy and Japan may be over, but the perpetual fight against our persistent, life-wrecking "enemy within" — the venereal disease germ — must continue.

As for the Canadian situation, it is stated that while official figures for 1944 show a reduction of 2,000 reported new cases of venereal disease over 1943 — a decrease entirely in syphilis cases — the latest 1945 figures, up to December 22nd, furnished by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reveal that since mid-year, with the beginning of mass demobilization, there has been a resumption in the upward trend, notably in gonorrhea cases.

In the 1945 period under review there were 39,937 cases of syphilis and gonorrhea reported as against 38,760 for entire 1944.

In round figures, the 1945 average monthly rate for the Dominion has been 2,000 of gonorrhea and 1,250 in syphilis; or 500 fresh cases of gonorrhea and 300 of syphilis weekly.

Of 1,260,952 men examined up to the end of last June for Canadian armed forces in connection with National Selective Service mobilization call-up, 357,634 were placed in Medical Category E — unsuitable for service anywhere in any capacity.

This and other facts — some bad, some good — concerning the health of the nation are included in "Health Facts"—a pamphlet publication of the Health League of Canada. The pamphlet emphasizes that every effort should be made to control illness which is largely at the root of poverty and inefficiency which make the organization of charities and charitable machinery necessary.

Reviewing these various facts makes one stop and think and realize that health is valuable and should be taken the greatest care of. Into this picture comes the value of a nutritious diet from which the full use of the vitamins can be obtained as they have regard to our health. We believe that proper attention to food and eating habits has much to do with the health of the body and the building up of resistance against disease germs. In the case of the pumbers of men rejected from the army, it was found that in numerous cases the cause could be traced to malnutrition either at the time or in some period of their lifetime. Study of nutrition must be made and the practices exercised right from the birth of all children, and the housewife must continue to practice the methods throughout all her meal planning. If proper attention is paid to this important matter it will do much to secure the health of all our citizens.

This Week at OTTAWA

OTTAWA. (CP)—Canada's price control system — international model of wartime anti-inflation efficiency — is facing new threats brought on by changing economic conditions and by the impatience of some Canadians with the continued imposition of wartime controls.

Price ceilings which have remained fairly steady throughout the war, now are subject to new factors. Domestic consumer goods are replacing war products, easing the shortages of articles which have been scarce during the war. In addition, Canada is able to import from overseas an increasing number of products which have been excluded because of war and lack of shipping.

The increase in imports, many of which cannot be manufactured and shipped to the Dominion at the 1941 basic price level, has been met by a readjustment of ceilings in certain classes of goods not affecting the cost-of-living index, and by a revised schedule of subsidies paid by the Government to keep down the price of imported products.

Meanwhile, the Prices Board is making a survey of domestic goods and services now in good supply and the prospects are that price ceilings will be removed from a number of them.

Finance Minister Isley announced this week that a Government statement of policy in the fight against inflation likely will be made by the end of this month. Mr. Isley's selection of goods to be freed of ceilings would depend entirely on the supply. Goods on which the cost-of-living index is based may be among those freed, if supply is such that ceiling removal would not result in price increases.

He made it clear that price ceilings would not be removed from goods in short supply. Among items likely to remain under the thumb of the Prices Board will be sugar, meat, butter and construction materials.

It was intimated during the week that Prices Board Chairman Donald Gordon was feeling the strain of responsibility brought on by the new problems, by loss of some of his key controllers and by lack of public support in maintaining price ceilings. Mr. Gordon denied he has sent in his resignation, but said: "Certainly I would like to leave my job as would any man who had been at it as long as I have. Of course I'm tired."

LABOR DEPARTMENT officials crossed their fingers as 1,600,000 workers remained on strike in the United States and States and strikes were rampant. Canada had only about 100 men on strike last week. However, the strike of United States steel workers was viewed with alarm by C. D. Howe, Minister of Reconstruction and Supply. He said a prolonged steel strike in the United States would be "disastrous" to many Canadian industries.

Steel control was promptly re-established in the Dominion under Martin A. Hoey, of Montreal, former assistant steel controller, who met with steel industrialists in Ottawa. Mr. Hoey said "every possible effort" would be made to step up Canadian production.

THE Munitions Department, which engineered output of $10,500,000,000 worth of war goods during its existence, held an informal farewell dinner to celebrate the completion of its job last January 1. As it did so, one of its major achievements came to light—the supplying of manufactured goods valued at $1,095,000,000 ordered in Canada by the United States Government.

Another feather in the department's cap was receipt of the United States Navy's highest industrial award—the certificate of achievement.

Addressing some 300 members of the department at a farewell dinner, Mr. Hoey predicted Canada's peacetime industry would equal peak wartime production by next June.

THE labor front in the United States dissolved into something nearing chaos with approximately 1,635,000 American workers idle because of strikes; with the steel, meat-packing and automotive industries at a virtual standstill, and worried government officials striving to dam the flood of workers leaving their jobs in the vital reconversion period.

The Government seized strike-baited "hot-potato" plants across the country, but 193,000 C.I.O. workers were not to return to their jobs until some kind of general rank-and-file agreement was reached. American Federation of Labor packers in far smaller numbers than the C.I.O. membership returned to their jobs on union orders.

Meat supplies in most of the larger centres in the country were dwindling rapidly at the week-end. A week had passed with no major developments in the country-wide steel strike of 750,000 C.I.O. workers over a wage dispute. And 35,000 workers in related industries were off the job because of lack of supplies occasioned by the strike of the steel workers.

In the automotive industry C.I.O. workers planned to resume their negotiations with the Big Three auto-bound companies, but the general picture remained the same as in past weeks, with more and more workers in related industries leaving their jobs for lack of materials normally shipped from the idle plants.

The strikers insist that they need more money and that the companies are in a position to make the demanded increases. The steel and meat industries have asked the Government to permit them to raise prices as the only means by which they could grant the strikers' demands. Generally the workers are not against the companies receiving the increases they demand, so long as they themselves receive wage increases. But the auto workers have said that they will accept no wage increase if it means a price increase.

THE formation of a global "peace army" was a step closer this week with the summoning of the chiefs of staffs of the five permanent members of the Security Council of the United Nations to hold an organization meeting before Feb. 2.

The establishment of a military staff committee to act on questions relating to military requirements for maintaining international peace and security is provided for in the charter of the agency. Under the Security Council it will be responsible for the strategic direction of any armed forces placed at the disposal of the Security Council.

The charter requires members of the United Nations to make available armed forces and national air force contingents "for combined international enforcement action."

The Security Council also decided to investigate the military and political issues involving Iran, Greece and Indonesia which have been described as impeding peace.

Russia denied Iran's charges of interference in her internal affairs. The Russian note declared that the council should not intervene in the question which they said could best be settled by two-way negotiations. But it said that the big powers were trying to wind up the London session of the general assembly and move the new security organization to a site in the United States, made questionable on what side of the Atlantic the present problem would be thrashed out.

THREE days of rioting in Bombay had brought the list of casualties to 22 dead and more than 600 wounded. Touched off by a demonstration on the birthday of Subhas Chandra Bose, former leader of the Japanese-sponsored Indian national army, the fighting between police and demonstrators led to the imposition of a curfew on the affected areas from 9 p.m. to 6 a.m.

Police officials said gangs of hoodlums were responsible for the looting of shops and the burning of houses and that students were to blame for much of the rioting. Military forces were expected to be called out if the rioting continued.

FOLLOWING investigations in Holland, Belgium and France which led to the arrest of three officers of the Canadian Army, a court of inquiry began this week to probe into the administration of the Dominion forces in the Netherlands.

The three officers, all of Toronto, were Lt.-Col. Philip Tedman, former chairman of the Canadian Army Ammunition Control Committee; Capt. B. Landell and Capt. D. W. Thomson, all of whom were charged with improperly possessing and exporting automobiles.

The inquiry which Canadian Army headquarters announced this week is under Lt.-Col. Price Montague, former chief-of-staff in the Canadian Army.

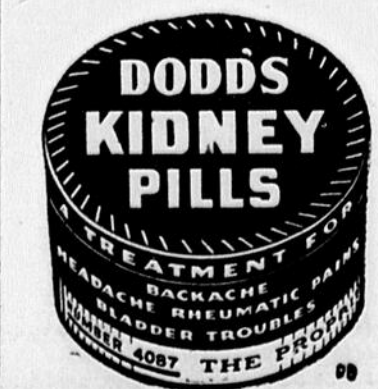

The disposal of an estimated 200 German vehicles was also under investigation by a second court which was revealed had been sitting since January 5 under Brig. J. G. Sprague, of Toronto.

PLACING the "defence of the franc" as the most important problem facing France, President Felix Gouin of France called upon the three major political parties of the country to accept his program of large reductions in Government spending.

The announcement of a new cabinet depended upon a favorable response from the leaders of the Communist, Socialist and Popular Republican Movement (M.R.P.) parties. Socialist deputies had declared that the new president had told them that only a loan of $2,500,000,000 from the United States could save France from financial chaos.

Confederation Life Marks 75th Anniversary This Year

President Thinks Canada Did Good Job in Preventing Inflation

Following excerpts from addresses made at the 74th annual meeting of the Confederation Life Association, held on January 22, will be of interest to policy holders in this company and to others connected with same. The following excerpt is from the address by the president of the company, Mr. V. R. Smith:

"The continuous forcing down of long-term interest rates, already low, can ultimately be dangerous to Canada."

"This has not always been the case. There is good reason, I think, for believing that in peacetime, during the 1930's, reduced interest rates were a valuable stimulus to business recovery. That was in a period of grim and long-drawn-out stagnation. Moreover, since 1939, the maintenance, in wartime, of low rates, together with stringent policies of taxation and price and wage control, has assisted materially to limit the cost of waging war."

"In this connection, I quote an interesting contrast. As of the 31st of December last, and measured in Canadian dollars, the per capita debts of the three countries which most nearly concern us were about as follows: United Kingdom, $2,400; United States, $2,100; Canada, $1,400. This is a record of which those who have been in charge of our national finances may well be proud."

"But policies which were appropriate in wartime do not, in time of peace, necessarily keep their validity."

"In terms of finance, our wartime objectives were two-fold; first and most important, rigidly to restrict the consumption of civilian goods, in order to release the largest possible proportion of energies for war-making; secondly, to set limits on inflation—in wartime inflation always threatens. In regard to the former of these objectives, and comparing ourselves with all the democracies, we now know that we did a job second only to Britain. In restricting inflation, we have reason to believe that we did the best job in the world."

Good Deal of Satisfaction

"Looking back, therefore, we can take a good deal of satisfaction in noting the success of these anti-inflationary policies. But I do not feel quite the same enthusiasm for them in our immediate future."

"Governments in most countries have learned how to restrict production. So long as it is necessary to prevent goods from being produced, they can be relied upon to do quite a good job. But from now on, it is not the task of governments to prevent goods from being produced; rather, it is their task to stimulate production. Here is the job which the 'planners' have now set before themselves. Are we satisfied that they can do this equally well?"

"Insufficient consideration so far seems to have been given to the proportion of the national income which can be taken from the people in form of taxes, without grave danger to the national welfare. How much of the national income can the Federal Government, for example, take for its purposes?—20%, 25%, 30%—or even more?"

"In considering this question, let us remember that the ten-year average before the war was approximately 19%; and that in 1939, the proportion was only 12½%."

"The present and immediate prospective commitments of the Federal Government will require a minimum budget of about $2,000,000,000 per annum; indeed, this figure will probably prove an under-statement."

"Without attempting to be precise, I venture to say that such a budget, if it is to be covered by taxation, is likely to require about 25% of the national income at the present level of prices; in other words, the post-war burden of taxation, by the Federal Government alone, will necessarily be twice the pre-war burden."

Remarks of Vice-president

The following is an excerpt from the address by the vice-president of the company, Mr. J. K. MacDonald: "Nineteen-forty-six marks a special milestone in the history of Confederation Life Association—our 75th Anniversary. Functions honoring the occasion are planned in head office and the branches and there will be special anniversary advertisements appearing in the press throughout the year together with an exhibit across Canada of the original paintings of our historical calendar series."

"In conjunction with the other life companies doing business in Canada, we are participating in Housing Enterprises of Canada Ltd., a limited dividend corporation set up in Canada in conjunction with the Dominion Government to build under the National Housing Act. With building costs so high, as at present, due to shortage of material and labor, the obtaining of low-rental accommodation is indeed a serious one and almost impossible of attainment without assistance from local or provincial authorities."

"It is the duty of the Institute of Life Insurance to be prepared to meet the legitimate needs of its policy-holders in full at any time, whether they be required now or in the distant future. Therefore, we cannot participate in any investment that will not give us a full return of our principal and a fair interest earning in the interim with the funds entrusted to us by the saving people."

"The next few years will test the fibre of us all in the establishing of a sound and reasonable world in which to live. It has been proven that life insurance is one of the greatest mediums in preserving the individual family life when conditions in the outside world are turbulent. We in the life insurance business must be prepared to give good counsel and guidance in order that all may have a fair chance to live a sound economic life."

RECIPES

— SAVE THAT FAT —

One role which busy homemakers play is that of "kitchen police" constantly on guard to reduce all waste to a minimum. This is particularly true in the case of fats. Fat is a necessary ingredient in the preparation of many foods. Fat is a precious commodity. None must be wasted.

The shells made from cookie dough are new and interesting. If you do serve pies make them open face and save the top crust. Toast croutons in a dry pan in the oven. Use biscuit dough to cover meat or chicken pie.

Never let the fat smoke. Smoke means burning or breaking down which results in waste. Keep all fat cool. If left in a warm place, it will become rancid or sour. Use dripping from roasts, broiled meat or poultry in making sauces for scalloped dishes, cheese dishes or in creamed soups.

A few suggestions for saving fat come from the kitchen of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

BUTTERSCOTCH SLICES

1/3 cup chicken fat
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 egg
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1 1/2 cups pastry flour
OR
1 1/3 all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream fat and sugar, then add vanilla and egg. Beat well. Mix in flour sifted with baking powder and salt. Shape in roll about 2-inches in diameter. Wrap in wax paper. Chill thoroughly. Cut in 1/4-inch slices. Place cookies on lightly greased baking sheet and bake in moderately hot oven, 375° F. for 8 to 10 minutes. Makes 3 1/2 to 4 dozen cookies.

Wedding

FORGET—OULMET

A quiet but pretty wedding took place in St. Malachie's Church, Ormstown, on January 22nd, when Mary Catherine Eunice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Oulmet, became the bride of Eloyisius Forget, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Forget, also of Ormstown. The Rev. Father T. H. Delage officiated, with Rev. Father P. Desjardis at the console of the organ.

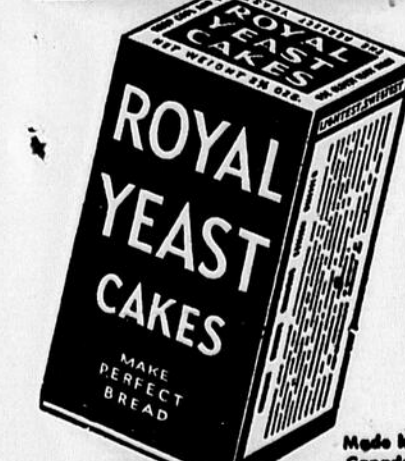

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a lovely blue velvet dress, over which she wore a turquoise blue coat, trimmed with white fox, with a corsage of Talsman roses and pink carnations. The bride's headpiece was a blue plume hat to match her ensemble. Mr. Rene Forget, brother of the groom, was best man.

The bride couple left later on their honeymoon for Quebec City and other points.

Weekly Ration Fashion for a single person

SUN.	MON.	TUES.	WED.	THU.	FRI.	SAT.
Breaded Veal Cutlet	Veal Stew	Parsley Omelet	Sausages	Lamb Chop	Broiled Fish	Meat Loaf
Group B	left-over	unrationed	Group D	Group C	unrationed	Group C
9 oz tokens			5 oz token	4 oz token		3/4 lb 3 tokens

Even under meat rationing one can live alone — and like it, for the use of tokens is a boon to the single person. The one meat coupon valid each week is equivalent to eight tokens which enable the purchases to be varied throughout the week. Being on familiar terms with the Consumer Coupon Value Chart and the Coupon and Token Calculator which are available from your local Ration Board, will help you to obtain full ration value for the tokens expended. And with a little foresight, the single person's token budget can provide a meal for guests. This week's ration fashion suggests how this may be done.

Three tokens are ration exchange for a nine-ounce slice of veal steak or cutlet. This purchase will provide serving to be breaded for Sunday dinner, as well as the basis for Monday's stew. On Tuesday a parsley omelet, quickly prepared goodness so appreciated by the single, will keep you up to date with the meatless day fashion in restaurants. A token's worth of sausages on Wednesday will be generous enough to provide an extra to complement Thursday's lamb chop. Friday is a day to forget your token arithmetic and make unrationed fish the protein dish. For week-end hospitality an extender dish is ration economy and a savoury meat loaf is conducive to eating enjoyment. Three-quarters of a pound of hamburger with soft bread-crumbs or cereal elasticizer will nicely serve from four to six, so that if Saturday's party is a small one you should have some cold slices remaining to supplement with unrationed tongue for Sunday night supper.

Price Control and Rationing Notes

THIS column is conducted under the supervision of the Women's Regional Advisory Committee to the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. All enquiries should be addressed to 910 Aldred Bldg., Montreal, Quebec.

Q.—I lost my ration book with several unused valid coupons. When I obtained a new book coupons were removed. Why is this?
A.—It would be difficult to check on the number of unused coupons and the ration administration believes that if you did not use these coupons when they became valid you would require the rationed commodities.

Q.—My daughters are boarding in the city. What is the regulation regarding weekly rations in private boarding houses? In residence such as the Y.W.C.A.? What is the regulation re canning sugar? What should be done when they are on holidays at home?
A.—The landladies of boarding houses and operators of residences are entitled to the use of your daughters' ration books. Your daughters are not obliged to give up their rationing sugar coupons. With regard to your last question regarding holidays, if these are of some length your daughters would give you their ration allowances. If you mean week-ends, then they would come to some agreement with you.

Rockburn

Mr. Victor Welburn, of Montreal, was home over the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Welburn.

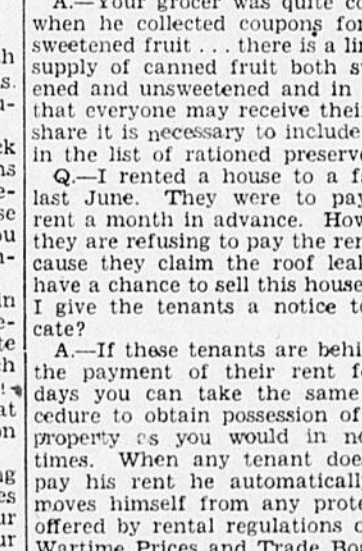

The regular annual meeting of the Rockburn Presbyterian Congregation was held on Thursday the 24th instant, a good representation of members and adherents being present. The pastor, Rev. H. A. Pritchard presided. The reports of the Sec. Treas. and of the Secretaries of the other Church organizations were met with gratifying, all obligations being met and a substantial cash balance on hand. A gift of $50.00 was made to the Rev. H. A. Pritchard from the congregation. Arrangement was made for the forthcoming canvass for the general fund for the Presbyterian Church at large. As this is the ninetieth anniversary of the erection of the Rockburn Church it was decided to mark the event in some fitting manner. The Sec. Treas. and retiring Trustees were re-elected. Following the business meeting refreshments were served. Miss Eleanor Sloan is spending some time in Montreal with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Percy.

Reports show successful Church year

The annual joint congregational meeting of Athelstan and Powerscourt United Churches was held on Friday, in Munro Hall. Dinner was served at the noon hour and a social hour enjoyed. Rev. R. W. Carr presided over the meeting which opened with a short devotional period.

Excellent financial reports showed that it had been a most successful year, for all departments of the church and substantial balances with which to start the year.

The Woman's Missionary Society and Lend-A-Hand Mission Circle had forwarded to Presbyterial Treasurer the sum of $45.00 which is over and above their allocation. These special gifts are designated to special objects of Africa. Missionary work. A sincere vote of thanks was extended to Rev. R. W. and Mrs. Carr in appreciation of their work among the families of these congregations, they in turn also expressed their thanks for the help and kindness shown them during the few months they had served among us. Both Secretaries for the two churches were re-appointed, viz. Mr. Henry Wallace for Athelstan, Mr. Fred Wood for Powerscourt. One new name was added to the Board of Stewards that of Mr. Clarence Johnson.

W.M.S. Meeting
The January meeting of the Presbyterial W.M.S. Auxiliary was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. Leslie Elder. Mrs. Jamieson read a timely little poem, "Be with us Lord, in this New Year that's dawning". The meeting then opened with singing "O God Our Help in Ages Past". Bible Reading from Ps. 121 and prayer. Roll call answered by eleven members by repeating a verse of scripture containing the word "Courage". Word for next month will be "Peace".

Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. As Mrs. B. Shearer did not wish to be assistant Mission Band Leader, Mrs. L. Elder was asked to choose some one else for the office. A letter re Annual Presbyterial Meeting to be held in Knox Crescent Church on Feb. 5 and 6 was read and Mrs. James MacFarlane and Mrs. L. D. Watson were appointed delegates. A letter was also read reminding us about the balance of money for Peace Thanksgiving Fund. As $35.00 of the $60.00 asked for has already been sent, the members felt that 75 cents per member would clear up the balance for the church group. Notice of the World Day of Prayer on March 6th was given and Mrs. H. A. Hampson offered to have the meeting at her home. The Secretary was asked to write President of U.C. W.M.S. inviting them to join us for Day of Prayer. The offering was taken, amounting to $61.00 and Offertory Prayer given by Mrs. Jamieson. Certificates of Life Membership in Women's Missionary Society were given to Mrs. Robert McCaig and Mrs. Elwin Armstrong.

Typed copies of the programme for the year's work were given each member and the Secretary was asked to send a note of thanks to Miss Betty Hampson, who typed them so neatly. Mrs. Watson took up the opening chapter, Introduction to Africa from the Study Book, "Think of Africa", which was most interesting. Some may ask, Why Study Africa? Many reasons could be given. At a meeting of the Co-ordinating Committee it was decided that in order to strengthen mission education throughout the Church as a whole it would be advisable to study one theme throughout the church each year and to study the same subjects as had been prepared by the Missionary Education Movement. Although our own Church has no definite field there, we have assisted in the past in various enterprises through the Society to Orphaned Missions. Two new members were enrolled. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Elder.

Quilt blocks for home work were distributed by Mrs. Jamieson.

Q.—I lost my ration book with several unused valid coupons. When I obtained a new book coupons were removed. Why is this?
A.—It would be difficult to check on the number of unused coupons and the ration administration believes that if you did not use these coupons when they became valid you would require the rationed commodities.

Q.—My daughters are boarding in the city. What is the regulation regarding weekly rations in private boarding houses? In residence such as the Y.W.C.A.? What is the regulation re canning sugar? What should be done when they are on holidays at home?
A.—The landladies of boarding houses and operators of residences are entitled to the use of your daughters' ration books. Your daughters are not obliged to give up their rationing sugar coupons. With regard to your last question regarding holidays, if these are of some length your daughters would give you their ration allowances. If you mean week-ends, then they would come to some agreement with you.

COOKING VEGETABLES FOR VITAMIN PRESERVATION

We now know that the method of cooking vegetables is just as important as the choice in obtaining a maximum amount of vitamins and minerals. Baking is the best method as the least amount of vitamins are lost, but not every vegetable can be baked satisfactorily. But we can steam practically all vegetables and as they are not in the water, only the vitamins destroyed by heat (about 10% B1) are lost. If we boil the vegetables and throw the water away as most of us do, vitamin C and members of the vitamin B complex are lost because they are water soluble. Most of us cook vegetables in too much water but science tells us they need be just covered with water. In the case of leafy vegetables just the water that clings to the leaves after washing is necessary.
WE SHOULD DIVIDE VEGETABLES INTO TWO CLASSES:
1. The leafy vegetables, chard, spinach, cabbage, broccoli and strong flavoured vegetables such as onions, turnips and Kohlrabi are cooked without a cover.
2. The other ones, beets, carrots, corn, parsnips, peas, potatoes, salsify, squash, string beans are cooked with a cover.
If you follow these few rules in cooking you will be getting the maximum food value from your vegetables.
1. Use raw vegetables.
2. Bake or steam them frequently.
3. Boil vegetables in skins if possible, in little water and only until they are done.
4. Wash, peel or cut vegetables just before cooking.
5. Use the cooking water for soups, sauces, etc.
6. Serve immediately.

General Manager Canada Life Assurance Addresses 99th Annual Meeting

"We have yet to win the peace and upon the outcome of this struggle will depend the course of all business enterprise," E. C. McEwen, vice-president and general manager of The Canada Life Assurance Company, told policy holders and shareholders at the company's 99th annual meeting.

Referring to inflation as today's "Public Enemy No. 1," Mr. McEwen noted that while living costs during the war had not increased to anything like the extent they did in World War I, the greatest test may still be ahead. He pointed out that all policyholders, all wage-earners, all owners of government or other bonds or savings bank accounts, and all who are dependent on fixed incomes arising from annuities, pensions or other similar sources, should take a direct interest in the problem. "It has a practical application to each of us, and its weight falls

BOYD SETTLEMENT GROUP

The Boyd Settlement Farm Forum Group met Monday, Jan. 21st, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Dahms. The subject of the broadcast was "Should we have an International Farm Organization?" and came from the Hotel London, London, Ont., where the Canadian Federation of Agriculture is holding its 10th meeting.

After some discussion it was decided that an international farm organization would be a help to stabilize prices and look after our surplus products. Leader this week was Mr. Gordon Perry. Next Monday being the fourth night, it was decided to join with the other groups in the district for a Rally at Herdman Town Hall.

DUNDEE GROUP

The Broadcast and subject for discussion for Farm Forums across Canada on Monday evening, Jan. 21st, was "Do we need an International Farm Organization?" The broadcast originated at the Annual Conference of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture being held at London, Ont. When an International Farm Organization is spoken of naturally the question might arise "Is there need for such an organization?" It is thought that it would seem that having a Dominion Dept. of Agriculture and the official body known as the Food and Agricultural Organization set up by the United Nations, and that other countries having Agricultural organizations, it would be a body which would be sufficient and therefore no other body would be necessary. However, as the first two representing Governments entirely it becomes apparent that the Agricultural organizations of all countries should be linked to a United Nations Dept. of Agriculture, a set-up entirely free from Government control the world over.

Once this distinction is made clear, we begin to see what is behind the proposal to establish an international organization of Agriculture producers. Canada has had a Dept. of Agriculture since the year following Confederation, but farmers have not always felt that the various governments since that time have acted in their interest in matters pertaining to agriculture. To this end a decade ago the Canadian Federation of Agriculture was formed, a set-up which has served the farmers of the country quite well up to the present. However, it now becomes increasingly apparent that with other world organizations being set up, the farmers of the world need an International Organization that can speak with a United voice and represent their interests before the various United Nations organizations which are being set up, and of which F.A.O. is the first to be recognized.

The delegation of British farmers who toured Canada, the U.S.A., Australia and New Zealand, last year, proposed that such an international organization should be set up. The spokesman of the group, James Turner, Pres. of the National Farmers Union of England and Wales, speaking before the Directors of the C.F.A. at Winnipeg, on April 12, 1945, said, "When the F.A.O. is set up, when the producer's organization could and should co-ordinate the views of primary producers for representation, either direct or through the respective delegates to this organization or any other body concerned internationally with the problems of food distribution. The delegates of such an International producers' body would prove invaluable sources in the deliberations of the important and the important machinery is in existence in the shape of an International Federation of primary producers organizations."

The role of such an organization would be to handle the important problem of properly feeding the people of the world, the achievement of orderly marketing of all farm produce, the elimination of threat competition and the dumping of food products on each others' doorsteps which always tends to unbalance the price structure.

Summing up it would form a link between the farmer and the United Nations' Food and Agricultural Organization and it would help ensure the co-ordination of effort in food production and marketing which is essential if the food needs of the world are to be met adequately and equitably.

It would crystallize and unify farm opinion throughout the world and give agricultural producers a united voice.

It would help extend scientific agricultural practices among the food producers of the world.

of Mr. and Mrs. A. Baird, twenty-five were present. All were in favour of an international farm organization that would serve as an advisory board to the F.A.O. in making long-term marketing contracts, distributing food to the most needy countries and stabilizing prices to the producer. A singing was led by Mrs. Sloan and bingo was played. The winners were Mrs. Clifford Cowan and Mr. Geo. Colburn.

FARM NOTES

On Wednesday, Jan. 16th, about 40 farmers from the district and members of the Ormsdown High School motored to Altona, N.Y., where they attended Agriculture Day at the Consolidated High School, they were entertained by Mr. Duley, owner of the Iona Creamery. A very interesting and profitable day was spent in listening to Professors from Cornell University who spoke on feeds, field crops, contagious diseases in livestock, permanent pasture and artificial insemination.

Mr. Pritchard on behalf of the society, welcomed Morrison Brooks back to our midst after many months in overseas service, and presented him with a wallet and the best wishes of all. Morrison expressed his thanks for the gift and the many parcels sent to him while he was abroad. The society united in singing "For he's a jolly good fellow". Miss Iris Williams read a much enjoyed paper on "New Year's Resolutions", and Mr. Jasper Lamb read a very interesting essay on his experiences at the Lumber Camp in B.C. Rev. Pritchard commented very favourably on the papers presented and his appreciation of the efforts of the Y.P.S. members in preparing these articles. It was reported that $5.00 had been sent to the Children's Memorial Hospital and that there was a balance of $38.41 remaining at the end of 1945. A letter of thanks from Hector Beaudin for a Christmas parcel was read. Messrs. G. A. Obituaries

The Late Daniel G. MacFarlane

Death came to one of the pioneer agriculturists of the Huntingdon district when Daniel G. MacFarlane died at his home in Elgin, on Sunday, January 20th, in his 86th year. He was the eldest son of the late George L. MacFarlane and his wife Christina Anderson, both of Elgin, and a direct descendant of a distinguished business and "Free Citizen" of Glasgow, who built up an international shipping and ship chandler's business before coming to Canada to spend his later days in farming. The late Mr. MacFarlane took a keen interest in ploughing matches, starting as a boy and in later years won many prizes.

He took a leading part in the municipal affairs of the township of Elgin and was for several years on the school board. He also served as an official on the Elgin Presbyterian and later Kensington United Church. He was a great reader and kept in close touch with world affairs. He was married on January 1st, 1880, to Helen Black, who predeceased him nine years ago. He was a member of the Military Rifle League and won several medals. Always active, he was that way right up until the time of death and enjoyed his daily visits to the barn.

The funeral took place on Tuesday, with service in the Huntingdon United Church, which was conducted by his pastor, Rev. R. W. Carr, assisted by the Rev. T. Knowles and Dr. J. B. Maclean. Interment took place in Huntingdon Protestant Cemetery. The pall bearers were: J. J. Tannahill, J. A. Seriver, Clarence MacFarlane, James MacFarlane, T. C. Paul and Miller Caldwell. Flower bearers: Clarence Stark and George MacFarlane.

He is survived by two sons: Gordon and Andrew MacFarlane; three daughters: Mrs. George Bryson, Miss Cora and Miss Helen MacFarlane; two sisters: Miss Margaret and Miss Mary MacFarlane; six grand-children, two

Planning Valentine Party

At the Rotary Club meeting on Monday it was decided that on St. Valentine's Day, Thursday, February 14, a skating rink party should be held in the skating rink for the benefit of the boys and girls attending the local schools. The Rotary Club will undoubtedly arrange a program for the occasion and it is to be hoped the scholars from the country will be able to participate in the frolic. The Rotary Club is holding this party in lieu of the Christmas party, which had to be cancelled due to so much sickness. The skating rink officials have placed the rink at the disposal of the Rotary Club for this special event, free of rental charge, which is most certainly fully appreciated.

Mr. W. L. Carr was the speaker of the day and based his talk on accounting. He believed the accounting done by municipal corporation, companies and partnerships in Huntingdon was good, but he doubted very much if the average individual paid any more attention to good bookkeeping than was to be found amongst those of the agrarian category. Mr. Carr highly recommended bookkeeping be adhered to by everyone whether doing a general business or merely of one's private affairs. Co-operative bookkeeping has been successfully used in Belgium, where a bookkeeper does the work for many farmers, a system well worthy of being considered to put into practice here.

Successful Drawing and Bingo

The pupils of St. Joseph's are jubilant over the great success of their drawing and bingo of last Friday evening, held in St. Joseph's Hall. The results surpassed the hopes of the most optimistic. There is a fund of about $380, obtained from three principal sources: personal donations, after deducting the cost of several prizes, $105; the drawing, netting $130; and the bingo, giving about $145. All this will pay for the two sets of hockey costumes, several indoor and outdoor games, and lay by a fund for the purchase of a coping for the skating rink. The staff and pupils of St. Joseph's School extend their heartfelt thanks to the generous donors of money, prizes and cakes, also to those who sold tickets and helped in making the bingo a success. Special thanks to the ladies who organized and gave the free lunch.

In Car Accident

Mr. Percival "Chick" Fortune and his helper, Morris McLean, figured in a slight accident near Port Lewis on Monday evening about 8 o'clock. They were driving along the road when the car skidded in the snow and took to the ditch. Mr. McLean suffered a cut on the head, but otherwise the men were not hurt. The car was badly damaged and had to be towed into Huntingdon for repair. The radiator was driven back into the motor and badly smashed.

The Late Mr. William McCartney

Death has again visited our community and removed another well known and respected resident in the person of Mr. William McCartney, in his 80th year. Death occurred at his home, Saturday evening, Jan. 19, 1946.

Mr. McCartney was born in Huntingdon, Que., October 9, 1866, eldest son of James McCartney and Mary Watson. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Charlotte McCartney, one daughter, Doris; a step-daughter, Mrs. Edna Todd, of Montreal; two step-sons, Allen and Elmer Harrison; one sister (Eden), Mrs. H. Aubrey Rink Takes Title

Mrs. J. Angell's Aubrey rink of Mrs. R. Reddick, Mrs. W. G. Allen and Mrs. J. Gruet today holds the coveted Women's Coronation Trophy which she defeated Mrs. M. Ferguson, Aberdeen, 16-14. In the consolation Balmoral Trophy play-off, Mrs. G. Mitchell's young Lachurs foursome topped the prize with a six-plus count on a 10-4 win against Pembroke's Mrs. J. A. Supple.

Playing on Thistle ice, the finalists in the men event put on spirited battles. But an early lead by Mrs. Angell's four stood up against some smart shooting of the Aberdeen rink and they held out for victory. Mrs. Angell stamped herself as a future champ when she took Mrs. R. Fife's 14-6 championship team into camp in an outstanding performance.

Both of the consolation games were also well played. Mrs. J. Barkie, of Lachine, defeated Mrs. J. C. Riddell, of Royal Montreal, 14-12, but that two-shot put the consolation game in Mrs. Mitchell's court. Immediately following play the gathering celebrated at a luncheon in Thistle Club at which Mrs. McGowan, president of the Ladies' Curling Association, was the speaker. Prizes were also presented to the winning rink.

"Nob Hill" Features

Action That's Tough,

Love That's Rough!

Starring George Raft, Joan Bennett, Vivian Blaine and Peggy Ann Garner, "Nob Hill," 20th Century-Fox's spectacular new Technicolor hit, showing on Sunday and Monday, Feb. 3 and 4, at the O'Connell Theatre.

The film's exciting story is set in San Francisco's fabulous Barbary Coast at the turn of the century when girls kicked highest, fists crashed hardest and blood ran hottest. It is the story of the love battle that made the Barbary Coast pause in its song, turn from its women and reach for its hips.

In the thrilling drama-with-music, George Raft is seen as tough but suave "Tony Raft," the owner of the "Gold Coast," Frisco's most famous night spot. Beautiful Joan Bennett is the Nob Hill blue blood who invaded the Barbary Coast in search of thrills, and got more than she bargained for. The sensational "Cherry Blonde," Vivian Blaine, in her most important role to date, is seen as the "Gold Coast's" singing and dancing star, tough, torrid and terrific. Fresh from her brilliant triumph in "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn," Peggy Ann Garner is seen as "Katie Flanagan," the little girl from Ireland who is plunged into a world of glamour and conflict she never knew.

Also featured in the outstanding cast are Alan "Falkstaff" Openshaw, Reed, B. S. Pulley, Emil Coleman and Edgar Barrier.

Packed with action that's tough and love that's rough, "Nob Hill" also boasts two new hit songs by Jimmy McHugh and Harold Adamson that are bound to capture top hit parade honors.

While Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schiener, of Montreal, were attending a church supper for the "returned boys," of whom they had two, children entered their home and ransacked the rooms, bureaus, etc., and stole suits, clothing, silverware and several articles. Their youngest son, Kenneth, was asleep in a back room, apparently they did not go there as nothing was molested and Kenneth did not hear them.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackson, of Plattsburg, spent Sunday afternoon with their relatives here.

Mrs. Robt. Turnbull and little Miss Gladys Turnbull, of Plattsburg, visited Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Sweet, on Sunday.

Mr. Howard Miller has been on the sick list with the flu and under the doctor's care.

Among those who attended the service in Knox Church, on Sunday, were Mr. and Mrs. Graham of Arundel, who were visiting Mrs. Graham's sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Curran.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Orr and Mr. and Mrs. Fernie Beattie, motored to Montreal, on Thursday, and met Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGilton, of Stanstead College, who had motored there to welcome their son Lieut. Thayne McGilton, who was overseas over three years and saw active service in Holland for some time. They all motored to Hemmingford and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. Beattie and Mrs. Eva Pettes, returning home the next morning.

BROOKLET GROUP

On Monday evening, Jan. 28th, the Brooklet, Herdman, Gore, Boyd Settlement, Trout River and O'Neill's Corner Farm Forums of Nova Scotia, held a joint meeting in Herdman Hall. This being the fourth night, the National Film Board had their showing of pictures by Mr. Taylor. The broadcast was heard and Messrs. J. Galloway and MacDonald Colledge and G. McKay of Nova Scotia gave a talk on Co-operatives. A social time was spent in card playing and dancing. Refreshments were served, the evening was thoroughly enjoyed by all and more fourth night meetings of this nature are hoped for.

AUBREY CORNER GROUP

The Aubrey Corner Farm Forum, Dundee Central Road, opened the January Series with a meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fraser. Mrs. Fraser was the birthday of one of the members. Mrs. Fraser served refreshments which ended up with a lovely birthday cake, candles and all.

Jan. 14, the Forum met with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fleming, and Jan. 21 with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Armstrong.

At each meeting the topic was thoroughly discussed and the Blue Cross Hospitalization plan came in for a share of the discussion. The realization that economic plans are of no avail if the health of a people are not up to the mark, has urged people in general to look to the future in regards to health as well as to profit and loss. We, as a group, are of the opinion that organizations larger than the two by twice of municipality scope is necessary if farmers are to compete with industrial and manufacturing concerns in the world at large. It was the expressed desire of our members that a more thorough understanding of C.P.A. is both desirable and essential.

The round-up was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Gardiner. As we had planned to hold a banquet in place of the regular discussion period, the latter part of the evening was spent satisfying the inner man. A menu consisting of cold ham, scalloped potatoes, pickles, salad, rolls, butter, cake, cookies, ice cream and coffee was served. Each member contributed some item of food and several helped in serving the supper. Considerable time was spent at the supper table which had as a centerpiece a black vase and green vines, and black candle sticks with white candles. The dining room was candle lit as twenty members entered and a very happy evening was spent proving that while Farm Forums have their serious moments, they also have enjoyable ones.
