U.S. price freeze not as damaging as feared?

OTTAWA (CP) — The price freeze, ordered by President Nixon Aug. 15 in the U.S. will not be as damaging to Canadian agriculture as it first appeared, Agriculture Minister H. A. Olson said Wednesday.

But the extra tax on imports will hit certain Canadian farm products with varying degrees of severity.

Speaking at a news conference following a two-hour closed session with about 50 representatives of national farm organizations, commodity groups and food processors, Mr. Olson said delegates raised a number of specific issues and problems resulting from the U.S. economic moves.

The session was called to provide an "accurate exchange of information" between the department and the farm representatives and home in on special problems.

The department is in daily contact with their counterparts in the U.S. and a program of specific measures to ease the effect of some of the moves will be announced in the Commons shortly, Mr. Olson said.

Although no one can predict what will happen to the market price, Mr. Olson said, the fact that U.S. prices were frozen at their highest rate since May 25, 1970 means that few agricultural goods will suffer from the freeze. Most prices for agricultural products will not fluctuate any higher than the peak price since then—the date Congress authorized Nixon to institute wage and price controls.

But about $129 million worth of imports will be hit by varying degrees—"some minimal, some severe"—by the surtax. Canada exported about $331 million worth of goods to the U.S. in 1970. About one third of these were shipped duty free or were exempt from quotas.

Stanfield asks for repeal of U.S. 10% surtax

VICTORIA (CP) — Conservative Leader Robert Stanfield said Wednesday he has no objection to the federal government's plan to provide special measures to help industries adversely affected by the United States 10-per-cent supplementary import duty.

"I would stress, however, that this is no substitute for the repeal of that surtax, which should be our priority," he told a joint meeting of the Men's Canadian Club and the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Stanfield repeated his call for Prime Minister Trudeau to present the Canadian viewpoint on the U.S. economic measures to President Nixon personally and said he would be willing to accompany the prime minister.

He spoke shortly after Mr. Trudeau announced in Ottawa that special measures for industries where unemployment has been or will be caused by the 10-per-cent duty will be made known when Parliament convenes next Tuesday.

Mr. Stanfield said he had no idea what the measures would be but was happy to see the federal government taking such action.

The federal government should also use the opening of Parliament, the Conservative leader said, as an opportunity "to tell the Canadian people what the economic forecast is for the coming winter and to announce what it specifically plans to do to get the economy moving again and to reduce unemployment in the months ahead."

Mr. Stanfield, here on the last day of a four-day tour of B.C., said it is very important that Canada present a forceful stand against the imposition of the surcharge, because of the danger that Washington could do the same thing again.

Mr. Stanfield's morning air-taxi flight from Vancouver was a nervous one after fuel line trouble shortly after takeoff caused the small plane's single engine to stall.

The pilot banked to return to the mainland but the flight was resumed after an auxiliary line was connected and the engine restarted.

Mr. Stanfield urged the government to expand its system of foreign trade officers around the world.

Summer manpower centre declared great success

SHERBROOKE (WC) — Many students will be returning to their respective classrooms in secondary schools, CEGEPs and universities during the next few weeks because of the great cooperative effort witnessed this past summer between the students and businessmen, merchants, industries, and other individuals of the region.

These were the words Robert Courchesne used to describe the success of the Student Manpower Centre which operated during the summer months in Sherbrooke.

Mr. Courchesne, a fulltime employee of the department of manpower and immigration, was the coordinator of the student centre this summer.

The centre opened the doors to its office in the La Tribune building on April 27, with eight students handling the workload.

When the centre finally closed last Friday, Aug. 27, everyone knew that a great job had been done.

"In the beginning we set an objective of placing 1,000 students in positions in the area. When the doors closed we had succeeded in placing more than our objective," he said.

Although Mr. Courchesne would not tell The Record exactly how many students had been placed, he said that this year's student centre had found 25 per cent more jobs for students this year than it had last.

Most of the jobs lasted long enough for students to earn quite a bit of money.

"When we worked out the number of people placed and divided it into the number of days worked we found that the average job length was over a month," Courchesne said.

During the time the centre was open, the eight student employees were bombarded with an onslaught of over 4,000 applications.

One of the most successful aspects of the centre was the "flying squad." The squad, driven in a borrowed station wagon and powered by donated gas, swept through Sherbrooke doing odd jobs for any individual who asked.

"We had an average of 20 people at a time working on the flying squad," Courchesne added.

The coordinator feels that there will be another student placement centre in Sherbrooke next year when summer holidays from school begin once again.

"With the success of this year's student manpower office already known, I am quite certain there will be another bureau of the same kind next year," he said.

Arson suspect to take tests, trial delayed

SHERBROOKE (DM) — Sessions Judge Benoit Turmel Wednesday ordered that Patrick Baron be taken to Montreal for a series of psychiatric tests.

Baron, 21, is accused of setting fires last week in the New Sherbrooke and Wellington Hotels and also in two private residences.

Judge Turmel postponed Baron's trial to Oct. 1 after hearing testimony from a Hotel Dieu psychiatrist who examined the 21-year-old accused Tuesday.

Dr. Paul Michaud told the court he had found Baron to be in a "deeply depressed" state and said he didn't think the accused was capable of standing trial "at the present time."

Baron is subject to a maximum sentence of 56 years.

PATRICK BARON

in prison if convicted of the charges brought against him. He was not represented by counsel Wednesday. Crown prosecutor in the case is Pierre Boily.

Suspect charged in slayings

TROIS-RIVIERES, Que. (CP) — Luderger de la Rosbil, 23 was arraigned Wednesday on two murder charges arising from the July 16 sex-slaying of two girls from nearby Cap de la Madeleine. A preliminary as set for Sept. 8.

The victims—Carole Marchand, 13, and Chantal Cote, 12—were abducted by two men while picking blueberries near their homes. Their bodies were found in a wooded area six miles east of Trois-Rivieres.

Each had been shot once in the back of the neck with a .303-calibre rifle, and the older girl had been raped before she was killed.

At a coroner's inquest here late Tuesday night, De la Rosbil and Michel July 23, were found criminally responsible for the death. July, a Montrealer who came from the Trois-Rivieres area, shot himself in the mouth with a .303-calibre rifle several weeks ago.

Alberta victory pleases UN

QUEBEC (CP) — Union Nationale leader Gabriel Loubier Wednesday hailed the progressive conservative victory in the Alberta election as "the beginning of the end for political utopias."

Mr. Loubier, head of the official Opposition in Quebec's national assembly, said he was pleased that Peter Lougheed is a new type of premier for Alberta, "one who is more at home with the concrete management of affairs than with obscure political theories."

He expressed the hope that Quebecers would learn a lesson from Alberta's rejection of the "Creditiste paradise" in Monday's election.

At present the Ralliement Creditiste holds 12 seats in the national assembly and 12 members of the federal Social Credit party sit in the House of Commons representing Quebec ridings under the leadership of Real Caouette.

Vianney inquest to open

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP) — A coroner's inquest into the deaths of 31 persons in the May 4 landslide at nearby St. Jean Vianney will open here in two weeks.

Constable Roch Beaulieu, handling the Quebec Provincial Police investigation at St. Jean Vianney, said the inquest will examine the death of 38-year-old Roger Brassard and apply its findings to the 30 other victims.

Dr. L.A. Laliberte, assigned to act as coroner, said he will hear testimony from specialists explaining the disaster which buried 45 homes in a sea of mud.

The transportation of the 90 undamaged village homes was delayed a week because of poor weather at their new location in Arvida, 15 miles south of St. Jean Vianney.

Four homes a day were scheduled to be moved starting Sept. 1.

Liberals build together

QUEBEC (CP) — "Let's build together" is the theme of the Quebec Liberal Federation's annual convention to be held here Nov. 19-22.

Federation President Lise Bacon said workshops at the convention will study reform of the party's structure as well as social, economic and political problems.

La Presse gets injunction

MONTREAL (CP) — La Presse said Wednesday it has obtained a temporary injunction forbidding members of four unions involved in a lock-out to harass or threaten newspaper employees still working or to try to prevent delivery trucks from leaving the shipping rooms.

The injunction expires Sept. 8 at which time the daily plans to request issuance of an interlocutory injunction, also aimed at preventing lock-out workers from damaging property or injuring other employees.

Some 350 stereotypers, pressmen, mailroom personnel, typographers and photoengravers as well as officials of the Quebec Federation of Labor are named in the injunction.

The injunction orders the workers to permit free access to and exit from La Presse offices by employees and trucks, to refrain from threatening other employees with injury or property damage and limits the number of pickets to one for each of the unions involved.

Furthermore, the daily threatened Tuesday night to fire any of its locked-out employees involved in a brawl which caused about $7,000 damage to the Portage Golf Club in L'Assomption, Que.

May form Quebec bloc on two common views

OTTAWA, (CP) — Fifteen prominent Quebecers who are discussing the possibility of forming a "Quebec bloc" to work politically at the federal level hold two points of view in common, a spokesman said Wednesday.

These are the definite belief that Quebec is a nation which has the right to self-determination and the definite belief that Ottawa's powers must be decentralized in favor of the provinces.

However, the spokesman said in a telephone interview that any Quebec bloc formed as a result of the discussions would not be a separatist party at the federal level.

It also was not intended to promote Rene Levesque's separatist Parti Quebecois.

Fernand Alie, former chairman of the Quebec wing of the Progressive Conservative party, and Guy Bertrand, defeated Parti Quebecois candidate in provincial riding of Dorchester, near Quebec City, said last week that a meeting to discuss the creation of a Quebec party had been held.

Another meeting is scheduled for tonight in Montreal.

A spokesman for the group said Wednesday that the group had to agree on one of two "types of action."

These are either to form a pressure group or create a new Quebec federal party.

"Many among us," he said, "favor a pressure group, others favor a political party and some prefer having first a pressure group to be followed by a party."

Mr. Alie, one of those favoring a pressure group, said such a group could support the Trudeau government if it decided to reverse its constitutional position in favor of Quebec's position.

Mr. Bertrand, however, favored creating a party which would not be a federal separatist group.

He said the bloc must not necessarily promote the Parti Quebecois or independence but the interests of Quebecers.

It would be a party "open to all those who are Quebecers, first of all, before being Canadians."

It would be a party intended "for those who are ready to act for Quebec even to the detriment of Canada, if need be."

Mr. Bertrand said the bloc should not be separatist because there are some Quebecers who are good people and who are not yet ready "to make the jump for independence."

Will relieve some Canadian concern of import surtax

OTTAWA (CP) — First order of business when Parliament resumes Tuesday will be relieving some Canadian industries of the full burden of the new additional United States import duties.

In announcing the economic steps Wednesday after a cabinet meeting, Prime Minister Trudeau said he expects debate on them and the implications of President Nixon's Aug. 15 announcement of new American economic policy to take about two days. He asked for Opposition support.

The prime minister's announcement indicated the government believes the so-called temporary duties on most manufactured goods will remain in effect longer than only a matter of a few weeks.

Mr. Trudeau did not elaborate on what kind of measures the government has in mind. A source close to the cabinet, however, said the business community shouldn't count on general tax relief as the main thrust of the measures.

They are more likely to be selective, designed to help avert unemployment and to pare industrial costs.

The new tariffs amount to up to 10 per cent points on all dutiable imports of goods not governed by quota restrictions or special arrangements such as the Canada-U.S. auto free trade pact.

PLEA STILL UNANSWERED

Finance Minister E. J. Benson and Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin asked the United States formally on Aug. 19 for a general exemption for Canada from the surcharge. Canadian officials went to Washington again a week ago to reinforce the bid. But so far there has been no response beyond a promise of sympathy and consideration.

The feeling here now is that the new duties may be long-lived. Unlike the U.S. price and wage freeze, they were not levied for a specific 90-day period. One official here said he fears the so-called temporary tariff might become as temporary as Canada's freeing of the dollar from its international exchange peg 15 months ago.

Mr. Trudeau told reporters that Japan's decision to float the yen, letting it rise in value in comparison with the U.S. dollar, helps Canadian goods to be more competitive.

But lack of response from Washington to Canada's request for a general exemption "is not very encouraging thus far."

"If the answer was going to be yes, we would have liked it by now."

Says Nixon's wage freeze won't stop

MONTREAL (CP) — Harry Sayre of Albany, N.Y., president of the United Papermakers and Paperworkers, said Wednesday there is little likelihood President Nixon's wage freeze will end after 90 days.

He told the 29th convention of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers the freeze announced Aug. 15 is one of the most confusing and unfair decisions yet made by Washington.

There is no freeze on interest rates, corporate profits, bank profits or capital gains, he said. There is no freeze on dividends and prices are frozen at the highest levels in history.

"There's not a moratorium on negotiations and strikes," he added. Negotiations would have to be carried out for future contracts despite Mr. Nixon's action. He called for all the unions representing the pulp, paper and printing industries to merge in an effort to work more effectively in bargaining for new contracts.

The success of the various unions is what is standing in the way of a merger and formation of a giant union to represent workers of the entire pulp, paper and printing industry, said Mr. Sayre.

"If we get into real trouble, we'll have a merger."

Lane Kirkland, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO, told the 1,200 delegates from across the United States and Canada:

"When President Nixon took office in January, 1969, he inherited a strong and productive economy. There had been an eight-year period of economic expansion. The unemployment rate was 3.4 per cent, the lowest in 15 years.

There now are five million workers unemployed in the United States, said Mr. Kirkland. "About 14.5 million Americans are on the welfare rolls and 25.5 million, citizens of the richest nation on earth are living in poverty."

But there has been no recession for bankers and giant corporations, he added. The rich have had no trouble insulating themselves against inflation, and sheltering themselves from taxation.

Because Mr. Nixon's tight-money policy drove interest rates to the highest level in a century, bank after bank reported increases of 15 to 20 per cent in their profit rates.

Life after death vividly described

TORONTO (CP) — Leslie Sharpe is still mystified by death, but his recollection of sensations beyond the curtain of life have helped ease the fears of many facing the prospect of dying.

The heart of Mr. Sharpe, 68-year-old head of a Toronto printing firm, stopped beating for three minutes and 11 seconds after a cardiac arrest in May, 1970.

During that time, he reported later in the Canadian Medical Association Journal, he was able to observe himself "face to face" and float through a vaporous space of strange colors.

After his heart attack in a hospital bed, he said his head flopped over and "almost immediately I saw myself leave my body, coming out through my head and shoulders."

"The body was somewhat transparent, although not exactly in vapor form, watching, I thought, 'so this is what happens when you die.'"

More than a year after hospital emergency teams revived Mr. Sharpe and ended his eerie excursion, the businessman says the publication of his medical journal article has "caused a lot of things to happen."

For one thing, the widespread response to his article has made him introspective and thoughtful about religion and man's destiny on earth, although "I'm still mystified and still searching."

He says the description of his experience also has helped many people face the prospect of death without terror or panic.

Dr. Barrie de Veber, a London, Ont., pediatrician who became interested in Mr. Sharpe's case after publication of the medical journal article, says the Toronto man's story "helps people believe in a life after death."

"Believing makes both living and dying easier," he says, adding that he welcomes any evidence that can indicate to patients with fatal illnesses that death is nothing more than the prelude to a joyous, eternal life with one's loved ones.

Hearings to be held on effects of WMA

MONTREAL (CP) — A group of 10 Canadians Wednesday announced plans to hold a series of public hearings on the effects of the War Measures Act starting here Oct. 12, two days after the anniversary of the kidnapping of Pierre Laporte, slain Quebec labor minister.

Fernand Daoust, group spokesman and secretary-general of the Quebec Federation of Labor, said the 10-member group will accept briefs from anyone on its tour across the country.

The inquiry will be under the chairmanship of Woodrow Lloyd, former premier of Saskatchewan.

Laurier Lapiere, a McGill University professor and a member of the group, told a news conference the group will study the War Measures Act, how and why it was applied during last fall's kidnap crisis, the legislation's effects on human rights and civil liberties, and assess the role of the government, citizens and the media during the crisis.

He said the inquiry will also study the WMA's successor, the Public Order (Temporary Measures) Act 1970, which expired last April 30, and the nature of Canadian federalism during the crisis.

Attends workshop

BEEBE — Mrs. Dorothy Roy of Newport, Vt., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wendall Sheldon of Beebe, Que., has attended a two-week workshop conducted by the School of International Training of the Experiment in International Living, at Brattleboro, Vt. The program was designed for teachers of English as a Second Language to non-English speaking adults. Supported by a grant from the Department of Health, Education, Welfare, the program enrolled 52 participants representing teachers and administrators of Adult Basic Education programs throughout all of the New England States as well as Louisiana, Maryland and New York. The major focus of the workshop was on material development and on observing and practicing various techniques of ESL teaching. Discussions and a "Third Culture Simulation Exercise" were held which were designed to improve the teacher's understanding of students' problems in adjusting to a new culture and a new language.

New school being built

BEDFORD — Building operations have commenced on the new French intermediate school, which is being built on the land, which the Town of Bedford, purchased some years ago from the Missisquoi County Agricultural Society, eight acres.

The work is being done by the Comet Construction Company of Cowansville, and is expected that the school will be ready by the middle of October. It is a one storey pre-fab building, which will house about 400 students, up to Grade IX.

When the regional school was built at Cowansville, the French parents of Bedford and district were not in favor of their children going to the school, which would entail long distances by bus.

Over the years they have continued to work on the project, which has been crowned with success.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) — Those who live with or near you may upset you with their tales of woe. Don't let it get to you!
CANCER (June 22 to July 21) — Some emotional difficulties denoted. You feel depressed and tense and don't seem to shake the blues.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) — There is no real reason for alarm. Things will work out much sooner than you really thought they would.
VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) — There can be problems through impulsive action, especially where opposite sex is involved.
LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) — Even though the situation is frustrating, there isn't a thing you can do about it for the moment.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) — Think twice before sailing with someone in neighborhood feud. No matter which way the wind blows, you lose.
SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) — Much patience is needed to face difficulties suggested by star's negative rays. You tend to be indecisive.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) — Try to recall something you read and apply it to present situation. Outcome should be satisfactory.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) — Although you are doing fine, you could do even better. Keep striving. Home should be more serene by evening.
PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) — Get down to business instead of dilly-dallying around trying to make up your mind. It's time to act now!

Notes from Stanstead College

STANSTEAD (IH) — The summer holidays are about over. Members of staff at Stanstead College here have had a busy summer: some have gone visiting relatives or friends; some taken trips; and some have been involved in local community projects. All have been active some of the time in preparation for the coming school year.

The summer school for high school students was a satisfactory one and everyone, both pupils and teachers seeming to get a lot out of it.

The registration of students this year is about 205; of these there will be 75 or 80 new boys coming on Sept. 8, with the remaining boys returning the following day. There will be tea in the reception room on both days for parents or those who bring the boys here.

Sept. 5 there will be a staff dinner with faculty meeting on Monday and Tuesday. Classes will start on Friday, Sept. 10.

There is one new teacher this year. D. Gomez, master to teach Spanish. He holds a BA degree from Chilo University, and his MA from Columbia in New York. He has been teaching in Montreal. He is married and has three children who will be in residence here.

Bugbee housemasters' residence has been completed this summer, and Mr. and Mrs. Bary Gallant and family have moved in. Hackett House is undergoing renovation and will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Eveleigh and family, so it has been a busy summer for some with the moving schedule.

The office staff has another secretary, Mrs. Eleanor Davies of Rock Island. David Audet is teaching manual training this year. Capt. John Getty will instruct the students taking driver education and will be alumni secretary.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Russell and family and a group of students who spent a few weeks this summer in Jamaica found it a most worthwhile venture and a very educational experience.

There is a new trophy at the school this year, which will go to an outstanding individual on the soccer team. It has been donated to the school by Bobby Moore, captain of one of England's top soccer teams. Mr. Moore is well known as one of England's best soccer players, and was at one time coached by Mr. Russell in England.

The football schedule nears completion, the first game to be played against North County Union High School, Newport. The following game will be the old boys' match.

KEEPING TRAINING IN HIGH GEAR — Cpl. J. Y. Cayer, Sgt. Thomas McDonald, Lt. Jacques Provencher and Cpl. Rotary Club hears speech, plans projects, programs

By PAUL TROLLOPE
SHERBROOKE — If you don't have problems, you're dead. In fact, one might almost say, the more problems one has, the more alive one is.

So spoke internationally-known author and Rotarian Dr. Norman Vincent Peale at the Rotary International Convention held in Sydney, Australia recently.

Members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club were fortunate enough to be able to listen to a tape recording of Dr. Peale's speech at their regular meeting Tuesday.

Dr. Peale's speech dwelled on the theme of the importance of problems to modern man, emphasizing that although people are always complaining about all their problems, they would be in a sorry state without them.

"The creator wants you to grow strong, so he gives you problems; you can't be strong without them. If any of you in the audience have no problems at all, I want you to go home, get down on your knees and ask God why he doesn't trust you any more," Dr. Peale said, only half jokingly.

"If you don't have any problems, you're on your way out and don't know it. The only people I know of with no problems are lying in Woodlawn Cemetery. We'll all have problems until we die...and maybe after that," he added.

The purpose of the local Rotarians hearing the speech was to warm them up for new attendance and service projects for the club's upcoming season.

A club assembly will be held on Nov. 16 following the regular dinner at a local hotel, and past presidents and others will be on hand to answer any new members' questions on "anything puzzling you about Rotary."

In the past, these assemblies have been successful in promoting Rotary spirit, and the Nov. 16 gathering will be followed up by five-minute talks to be given by members of the program committee on various aspects of Rotary.

Drummondville youth survives perilous four days in forest

DRUMMONDVILLE (PT) — A young man of 17 succeeded in surviving for more than four days in dense forest near here by building himself a lean-to and eating mushrooms and roots.

A team of searchers found Paul Genereux, of St-Cyrille, safe and sound Tuesday. Although the boy was not taken to hospital, it was impossible to speak to him since his rescuers said he was suffering from nervous shock and fatigue following his 97-hour stint in the forest.

The young man is a resident of a "commune" in nearby St-Lucien, and other members of this group revealed that he had eaten wild fruit and drank water from brooks and streams, during the time he was lost in the forest.

The commune apparently is of a survival-oriented nature, and the boy previously had been taught to build a shelter and how to distinguish wild edibles should he ever have need to do so.

Rescue operation did not start until Monday afternoon, three days after the young man's departure from the communal house situated on the Hemmings Falls Road bordering the St-Francis River and the St-Lucien forest.

Drummondville detachment of the Quebec Police Force, who aided in the rescue operations, said that a good knowledge of the woods was the only thing which saved the boy's life.

The boy had left Friday afternoon to go hunting, but when he did not return that weekend members of the commune began to wonder whether he had injured himself with his rifle or been caught by bears, which are numerous in the region. They decided to call the police Sunday night.

The first search party, which set out Monday, was unsuccessful, and it was not until 10 members of the commune ventured into the woods that five of them discovered their friend in his shelter, about six miles from the house.

Three hurt in local accidents
SHERBROOKE (PT) — One man was injured late last night in a collision between a car and a motorcycle at the corner of McManamy and Bienville Streets in Sherbrooke's west ward. Injured and taken to hospital as a result of the accident, which occurred, at about 10 p.m., is Robert Isabelle, 18, of Sherbrooke.

Two Sherbrookers suffered various injuries in a traffic accident which occurred in Deauville Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. J. A. Dion and Berthe Dion, of 30 Brooks Street, Sherbrooke, were taken to St-Vincent-de-Paul Hospital in Sherbrooke following the accident, of which the exact circumstances are not known.

Members and guests wishing to go on the boat trip (L'Aventure II) must be at the Federal dock (near the tourist office and CPR station in Magog) between 1:30 and 1:45 p.m.

The boat will be leaving at precisely 1:45 p.m.

Drive carefully on Labor Day weekend

Labor Day weekend, the deadliest of all long holiday weekends for Canadian motorists, may take the lives of another 70 or more people, said the Canada Safety Council.

"It's not written in the stars," said Council director, Phil Farmer, "but in the poor performance of Canadian drivers during past Labor Day weekends."

"If the prospect of 70 deaths in traffic doesn't jolt anyone,"

he added, "let me add that during the past 10 Labor Day weekends 783 people died in traffic and some 25,000 were injured."

The reporting period starts at 6 p.m., Friday, Sept. 3, and ends at midnight, Monday, Sept. 6.

The highest number of motorists killed during the past Labor Day weekends was 102, in 1966, followed by 94 in 1967 and 82 in 1969. Last year, 74 people were killed on Canada's roads and streets.

Mr. Farmer said he found it difficult to understand how any driver can accept the killing of so many people as the inevitable consequence of driving, and—worse yet—continue stubbornly to contribute to the carnage by refusing to admit that his own bad driving habits are unquestionably involved.

"Those that feel that this type of information is distasteful, even ghoulish," he said, "are the very people who should heed the warning, because they are the ones who close their eyes to the numerous accident-producing situations that are part of everyday driving."

The Canada Safety Council is appealing to each driver to pitch in and make the statistics lie, by applying the following simple formula:

"Think of your family in the car, then think of the other driver's family."

From all indications discernible on the diplomatic scene, our peripatetic Prime Minister Trudeau has decided that state visits from foreign dignitaries will do his image more good than trotting around the world to drop in on them.

A day after it was learned that United States president Nixon will come to Canada next spring we hear of a planned visit by Yugoslavia's President Tito and a possible trip by Soviet president Podgorny. Mr. Trudeau, it seems, will entertain just about anybody.

Mr. Nixon's visit is a timely face-saving device for Mr. Trudeau. He made a state visit to Washington in 1969 and has been uneasy since that he might be called upon to make another without an intervening return visit.

A second consecutive trip to Washington, of course, would make it appear as if the Canadian prime minister were currying the favor of a superior instead of chatting amiably with a diplomatic peer. Appearances being important to Mr. Trudeau, the Nixon visit must be putting him at ease — especially coming as it does while the sight of the Prime Minister stepping off the plane at the end of his mad dash back home from Europe in the midst of the dollar crisis is still in the public's mind.

The Tito invitation was issued through diplomatic channels instead of being delivered by Mr. Trudeau personally on his aborted European visit. Although peer Tito was necessarily forgotten in the confusion, Mr. Trudeau deemed it advisable to be home in time to hold Messrs. Sharp's and Benson's hands when they returned from their begging mission to peer Nixon. Some are more equal than others, it seems.

The Kosygin visit is Mr. Trudeau's payoff for waxing so enthusiastic over the slave-labor built Soviet arctic installations last May.

We can only hope that the Prime Minister, after his adventurous absences of the past months, remembers enough of his own back yard to make his various guests — justifiably welcome or not — feel at home at 24 Sussex Drive.

Rash verdict

The federal government's committee on youth rashly swept aside some extremely important considerations in recommending yesterday the legalization of marijuana and hashish.

The committee, not content to wait until all the evidence is in, has decided for itself that soft drugs are, in its words, "innocuous" and as such should be legalized at once.

The contention is not supported by the facts.

The federal government has recognized that much more information is needed before a final judgment can be rendered on the ultimate effects of soft-drug usage.

The government is taking the right course in commissioning scientific studies designed to chart the results which can be expected from using marijuana and hashish. One of these projects is being conducted at the University of Calgary.

That is the only way to get at the truth. Talking to youthful users, of drugs, as the committee obviously has done, reveals opinions rather than scientific facts.

It wouldn't make sense to change the drug laws before all the evidence is gathered and assessed from the various tests.

The fact that some sections of youth — by no means a proven majority — resent the continued illegality of soft drugs is not a convincing argument for change. Nor does the committee make itself convincing by arguing that a society that has been unable to suppress the use of tobacco and alcohol cannot hope to control the use of soft drugs.

The committee, comprising a former youth leader and parole officer, a Toronto lawyer and the former head of Office Franco-Quebecois, spent nearly two years and $500,000, preparing its report. One might have hoped for something with more depth and balance and less contradiction to emerge from such a costly effort.

There are people who can become transfixed by certain ideas and causes to the exclusion of reason, common sense and patience. The counsel of zealots should be accepted for what it is.

Presumably the federal government is well aware of this, otherwise it wouldn't have committed itself to a long and thorough study of marijuana's effects.

From the Calgary Herald

Here's a hot tip: Buy Canada

By ALLAN DICKIE

Unlike the War of 1812, this invasion is a friendly one. The ammunition is money, not bullets. But a Cross-Canada Survey by The Canadian Press reveals that Canada's wilderness and recreational areas are being bought up by Americans in amounts that are alarming more and more Canadians.

As the United States becomes more crowded and its own wilderness dwindles, many Americans yearn for the lakes, the cottage lots and the islands to be found north of the border.

So they buy here. And many Canadians, while not necessarily anti-American and who in fact welcome American visitors, wonder what's going to be left for them and their children.

For example: William J. Wineberg, an amiable 69-year-old from Portland, Ore., has made a hobby of collecting Canadian recreation land since 1938. Mr. Wineberg created a furore in British Columbia when he said he had 60,000 acres of prime recreation land, most of it bought for $10 an acre or less.

"TOO DUMB"

He says he has sold islands which cost him $400 for $40,000 and most of his sales are to Americans. Mr. Wineberg said Canadians have been "too dumb to invest in their own country."

And then there's the prime beach land in the Fort Erie area in Ontario where up to 90 per cent of the property is American-owned. That's in the riding of Energy and Resources Minister J. J. Greene.

An outspoken critic of American ownership of Canadian businesses, in Newfoundland, there's concern that Americans may be taking over the scenic Codroy Valley and beach land is being purchased by Americans in the Maritime Provinces.

The survey shows that the prime targets for American buyers so far have been the Maritimes, Ontario and B.C. — all readily accessible to large urban areas in the U.S. Still, Canadians in the other provinces are concerned, too.

A member of the Northwest Territories Council said he was amazed when he bought 75 acres of wilderness and was approached shortly after by an American who wanted to buy it.

PROFIT GUARANTEED

"But Canada" says one pamphlet extensively distributed in the United States. "Claim your bonanza right away. Speculators, guarantee profit or money refunded."

Officials in the provinces can only guess the number of Americans owning property in Canada. Some have trouble compiling even rough figures.

Federally, there is no record of land sales to Americans. Americans can lease property in national parkland, but an official in the northern development department says there is no record kept of the number of Americans who have leases.

The 1971 census, for example, did not even touch on American residents in Canada, or their property. It applied only to Canadian citizens.

Province-by-province results of the Canadian Press survey:

NEWFOUNDLAND

Of the 153,000 square miles of Newfoundland and Labrador, 90 per cent is Crown land, most of it recreational area.

Resources Minister William R. Callahan says as far as he knows, no Crown land has been granted to absentee owners — Americans or otherwise — for recreational purposes.

"I want to plant his feet firmly on the ladder of future success and financial security — where's the sports department . . . ?"

Always on Sunday

TORONTO (CP) — A church without the familiar morning Sunday school? Impossible? The Sunday school, for years, has been a familiar and accepted department of Protestant church life.

Today, however, in many church quarters, the Sunday school is undergoing probing re-evaluation. Alarming attendance declines and second thoughts about its effectiveness have led to the reappraisal.

If today's Sunday school is really tomorrow's church, Canada's major denominations must face the future with foreboding. During the past decade those mainline churches, without exception, have witnessed steady and sharp declines in Sunday school enrolments.

The United Church of Canada, the country's largest Protestant denomination, registered an enrolment drop from 757,388 in 1961 to 425,467 in 1969. That decline of nearly 50 per cent took place during the very time that the church's much-publicized New Curriculum was being introduced to inject new life into Sunday schools.

The Anglican Church of Canada experienced a similar slump in its Sunday schools. The 1958 total of 312,000 skidded to 122,500 in 1968 — an even sharper drop than in the United Church. And the Presbyterian Church in Canada Sunday school enrolment slipped from 122,000 in 1961 to 90,000 in 1970.

NEAR TOP

However, the newer evangelical denominations and independent congregations report increasing enrolments and attendances.

The Pentecostal Assemblies of Canada, for instance, now have approximately 125,000 on Sunday school rolls. That number would place them next to the United Church in the Sunday school stakes — ahead of the Anglicans, Presbyterians, and the Federation Baptists.

Toronto's Peoples Church, an independent evangelical congregation, attracts nearly 2,000 children and adults weekly to its Sunday school.

Most observers agree, however, that the success or value of the Sunday school is not determined merely by counting heads.

A Vancouver Mennonite Brethren minister, Rev. Robert Roxburgh, contends that a Sunday school fails if it does not strengthen the home and equip parents to lead in religious instruction in the home.

"I venture to say that most Christian parents leave the matter of religious instruction to the almost totally inadequate hour Sunday morning," contends Mr. Roxburgh.

"For the future I do not see the abandonment of Sunday school," says Roxburgh, "but a dramatic shift of emphasis. Graded classes where children are taught 'facts' in isolation from their daily experience have little effect in the long haul. We must gear our schools for not only more adult participation but to train families."

A congregation such as the Peoples Church, which already has a large and growing Sunday school, tries to improve the operation. Adults who attend are offered a wide selection of elective courses, college-age young people discover a constantly improved curriculum, and extensive nursery and kindergarten facilities care for the very young.

Rev. Clifford Plant of Kitchener's Christ the King United Church introduced a Saturday school to replace the familiar Sunday school. And it's held monthly during a three- or four-hour block of time rather than weekly for a hurried hour.

The teaching team meets twice a month to plan the activity-oriented and life-related program. Increased attendances, a longer teaching time, correlated activities, and adequate teaching personnel have all added up to the success of the program, state its sponsors.

FAMILY MEETINGS

The Kitchener church then uses the Sunday morning hour prior to the morning service for family meetings. The minister launches the morning's program by introducing the topic for the hour and suggestions for considering it in the family groups. Each family signs up for an eight-week course.

Eglinton Baptist Church, in the heart of an apartment jungle in Toronto, watched its Sunday school evaporate. The Sunday morning school became a Friday night school. And, reports Rev. James Pequegnat, the church is reaching a hitherto-unreached constituency.

All Saints Anglican Church in Waterloo, Ont., is located next door to a public school. The church doors are thrown open on Tuesday afternoon at school closing time. The 10 teachers cope with 80 to 120 children, most of them not from church families and many non-attenders at any Sunday school.

And there's going to be more experimentation as serious churchmen wrestle with the Sunday school slump.

Until someone comes up, however, with a more effective way of imparting religious instruction, the Sunday school or some variant will probably be a part of the Canadian Protestant church scene. The challenge facing the churches will be to make it work.

But in the Newfoundland legislature last April T. Alex Hickman, Progressive Conservative Member for Burin, said Americans may be taking over the Codroy Valley in southwestern Newfoundland.

He said Americans began buying into the area two years ago when many abandoned farms were bought privately, and he asked the government to set up a commission to acquire land there for sale.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND

"American ownership of island land is of very serious concern here," one government official said.

The amount of land owned by Americans amounts to 2.2 per cent of the Prince Edward Island total.

Prince Edward Island's legislature has set up a special committee to inquire into the extent of land acquisition. No alien may hold more than 10 acres of land in P.E.I. except with the consent of the lieutenant-governor-in-council.

The development department lists 895 American-owned properties with a real estate value of $2,682,975.

NOVA SCOTIA

Robert Burgess, deputy minister of lands and forests, said there is no way of determining what percentage of the province's best recreation land is being sought by Americans.

"We do know that a considerable amount of shore property is being bought by non-residents — not only Americans but Canadians."

There are more than 10,000 individual land parcels in Nova Scotia owned by non-residents and the lands and forests department has written to each one for details of ownership.

"We're having all sorts of problems," said Mr. Burgess. "Many of these people are reluctant to send us copies of their deeds and let us know what their plans are for the land."

Ocean frontage properties are in particular demand. The south coast of Lunenburg County and the Annapolis Valley are the most popular.

No Crown land is for sale in Nova Scotia to non-residents.

NEW BRUNSWICK

An official in the provincial municipal affairs office said Americans owned "about 3,500" of 198,000 pieces of real estate in the province.

He said Americans owned one per cent of the total land acreage of the province and the percentage of privately-owned land held by Americans was "less than two per cent."

Most of the foreign-owned land is being developed for summer places. The trend seems to be toward lots along shorelines and lake fronts but a number of farms have also been sold, notably in the Upper St. John River Valley area.

QUEBEC

Lands and forest officials and real estate dealers indicate American ownership of Canadian land is not much of a problem in Quebec.

About 93 per cent of all Quebec land is owned by the government and one government spokesman said transactions with Americans amount to no more than one per cent of all land dealings.

Crown land in Quebec is mostly leased and not sold. But many of Quebec's 1,600 private hunting and fishing clubs are operated by U.S. residents and these clubs controlled some 23,500 square miles of Crown land under a leasing arrangement which closed off nearly 80 per cent of the best recreational areas to the public.

There have been protests, with Quebecers fishing in private lakes and streams to show their discontent with the situation. The government policy is now changing and a number of private club charters have already been cancelled.

ONTARIO

Rene Brunelle, lands and forests minister in Ontario, estimates that some 40,000 of the present 315,000 cottage properties in Ontario are owned by Americans.

During the last 20 years, Ontario has sold more than 32,337 acres of Crown land and 17 per cent of that went to foreigners.

Seventy-five per cent of foreign sales were made in the districts of Kenora, Algoma, Parry Sound, Nipissing, Rainy River and Sudbury.

American ownership of recreation lands averages 30 per cent but the figure reaches 80 per cent in some areas of the northwest and Lake Erie.

Government officials say most Lake Erie properties are held for personal use, but in the northwest, much of the land is the basis for foreign-owned tourist industry or it is being held for recreational land development and sale.

Recent provincial government legislation provides for Crown land to be leased rather than sold and gives Canadians first crack at leases.

MANITOBA

Although Americans have purchased recreational land in Manitoba, it is not a major issue. There is no percentage breakdown of just what Americans have bought in the province.

Manitoba's department of tourism administers about 4,750 cottage and trailer-site leases in the province's 10 provincial parks.

As a general rule, Manitoba does not sell Crown land. For recreational purposes, the land is leased to cottage owners.

SASKATCHEWAN

No figures are available on the percentage of the best recreation lands in Saskatchewan owned by Americans.

It is not a major issue in the province but concern has been expressed by some, including Premier Allan Blakeney who wrote a letter to The Canadian Press when he was NDP opposition leader.

"There is a sense of urgency among some in feeling that steps should be taken to prevent further alienation of recreational lands," he said in the letter.

There is a general feeling that most of the land purchased by Americans is in southeastern Saskatchewan and is mainly farmland.

Government officials said they are not aware of any Crown land being sold to Americans.

A study by a University of Saskatchewan professor showed that the rate of purchase by Americans along a 390-mile stretch of Saskatchewan border "has declined greatly since 1965."

But at the same time, the total acreage held by Americans has gone up. Most of the land involved is described as average farmland.

ALBERTA

Government and real estate spokesmen could give no estimate of the amount of land held by Americans. Foreign ownership is not a major issue in Alberta.

The provincial government, under the Public Lands Act, restricts the sale of all Crown lands to persons who have resided in the province for one year and they may not hold title to the land until they become Canadian citizens.

Only 32.6 per cent of all the land in the province is privately-owned.

The only land Americans can purchase in the province is in private areas; there is little wilderness land available to them and most waterfront land is owned by the Crown.

The general manager of a real estate firm based in Edmonton verified that most of the good recreational land in the province is still Crown land. So, he said, the problem isn't as great as in B.C. or Ontario.

BRITISH COLUMBIA

Sources say that not only is recreation land owned by Americans, but a good proportion of the farm and ranch land in the interior is U.S.-owned.

By one estimate, Americans now own three-quarters of the cattle ranches in the province.

"When you get right down to it, the Americans own the Cariboo," one ranch salesman said.

Until 1958 non-Canadians could buy up all the Crown waterfront land they could afford. After that, they could get around the ban on direct purchase by using an agent.

The 1970 legislative session put all Crown property out of reach of all foreigners.

There is heavy American ownership in the sunny Gulf Islands in the Strait of Georgia between Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Lands and forests officials in B.C. say it's impossible to estimate the worth of foreign-owned land because the province doesn't compile such statistics.

But there's no doubt that Americans on the West Coast of the United States find B.C.'s wilderness and recreational areas attractive.

One tiny island off the B.C. mainland was recently sold by its former owners, a Pasadena, Cal. couple, for $150,000.

It went to a resident of the state of Washington.

LATE SUMMER FUN — St. Pat's parishioners enjoy corn, one of the many enjoyable features at a corn roast held at St. Pat's Camp, Stoke Lake.

Corn roast enjoyed by all

Wednesday, August 25, a corn roast was held at St. Pat's Camp, Stoke Lake. It proved to be a fun-filled evening enjoyed by about 75 people, characterized by no specific age group but by those who were young at heart.

Apart from munching on several ears of Golden Bantam, guests were able to listen to records, swing on a Tarzan rope, participate in a sing-song led by Carol St. Onge which was centred around a campfire.

Through Rev. Brault's keen parish spirit, a group of girls were assembled to organize a corn roast. They were Patti Baldwin, Susan Daniels, Joan Bryson, Terri McKenna, Betsy O'Boyle, Diane Thibeault, Gisela and Peggy Adams.

Special thanks to Brian O'Boyle, Henry Crochetiere, and his two assistants, Mark and Mario Butterfield.

Social notes from Three Villages

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Armstrong, Bonnie and Betty Stanstead, enjoyed a motor trip to Winnipeg, Man. where their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gary Perkins, were moving from there to Vancouver, B.C. They spent a couple of days there, then left accompanied by Mrs. Perkins, to motor the Yellowhead route, visiting at Jasper, Lake Louise, Banff and so forth to Vancouver and the Perkins new home. They were also visitors of Mr. and Mrs.

Russell Chamberlain, Edmonton, Alta, Mr. and Mrs. Warner Zurbrugg and family in Vancouver, and met an old army buddy of Mr. Armstrong in Vancouver. They returned home via the Prairies route.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanschagrin and three children of Rexdale, Ont., were visitors of his mother, Mrs. Mildred Sanschagrin in Rock Island and visiting others of their relatives in the communities. Mr. Sanschagrin also visited his

Mr. James Moore, Newcastle, Ont., spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Moore.

Bronchiectasis is lung disease

Dear Dr. Lamb—I would like some information on the disease bronchiectasis. How can it be diagnosed to determine if one has it? What are the symptoms? Is there a special treatment for it? Can it be cured?

Dear Reader — Bronchiectasis is a disease of the lungs. The large trachea or windpipe separates into right and left bronchi. These continue to branch out like a tree into smaller and smaller or air passageways. These are called the bronchi. When the wall of these or any part of the bronchial tree begins to dilate too much and become a saccular or dilated structure, it is called bronchiectasis.

The normal elasticity of the bronchial tubes affected is lost. The small hairlike projections and ways of moving out bronchial secretions is lost. The net result is that lung secretions pool in the enlarged dilated bronchial tubes. This gives rise to the most common symptom—a chronic cough.

The cough usually brings up fluid—often at least two tablespoons a day and sometimes much more. In the early stages, the fluid is relatively odorless, but as the disease progresses and more fluid is trapped, or if there is an associated infection, the fluid can develop a foul odor. The two most common symptoms of bronchiectasis are a chronic cough and coughing up a lot of sputum. The patient may otherwise feel well, unless a lot of the lung is involved.

Less commonly, a person may have "dry bronchiectasis" with a cough but no sputum. These individuals sometimes bleed and start coughing up blood.

A plain X ray of the chest usually shows evidence of the enlarged and dilated bronchial tree. A more exact diagnosis can be made by putting a dye in the bronchial tree that outlines the bronchi more clearly on X-ray studies (this is not a simple procedure.)

Treatment consists of "postural drainage" daily. Since the lower bronchial tree is usually involved, the person should assume a position with the head down so the collected secretions can drain out, just like emptying a bottle. A minimum of 30 minutes a day of postural drainage is advised. The biggest complication is infection and appropriate antibiotic treatment is often necessary.

In certain cases, surgical removal of the affected bronchi is advisable. Whether to use medical or surgical treatment has to be decided in each individual case after a careful evaluation to determine the extent of the disease. It is wise for individuals with bronchiectasis to minimize the probability of respiratory infections. That means staying away from people with "colds."

lead a third spade and West would ruff for the fourth defensive trick.

Better declarers would analyze the lead as the top of a doubleton. They would note that potential fourth loser and look to see if they could do anything about it.

After a little thought they would see the possibilities of the diamonds. After winning the first trick in dummy, the king of diamonds would be led. Should East duck they would find a way to avoid the loss of a diamond trick. Should East win and lead back a spade, South would win in his hand and discard dummy's last two spades on the queen and jack of diamonds. Then he would ruff his last spade and then play trumps.

Those South players who simply use the last two letters of "ARCH" would waste little time with today's hand.

They would Count just three losers. The ace and king of trumps and the ace of diamonds. They would ask themselves, "How can we make this hand?" and note that they could simply knock out the ace and king of trumps and then concede a trick to the ace of diamonds.

After that start they would lead a trump at trick two. East would take his king and lead another spade.

They would win and play a second trump. West would win that and lead a diamond to East's ace. East would POTATO PANCAKES — This is just one of the many delicious dishes that can be made with the ordinary potato. These pancakes will brighten any meal, and are bound to please the kids.

The potato can be different

No other vegetable is used as often or combines as well with so many foods as the familiar potato. Economical to buy, rich in vitamin C and food energy, the versatile potato can add interest, glamour and simple good-eating pleasure to any menu.

Perfect for cooler fall weather is Potage Bonne Femme. It is a delicately flavored by hearty appetizer.

Introduce new interest in the entree portion of your menu by serving potatoes in a variety of ways. Gnocchi is an Italian potato dish which is an especially good accompaniment for veal or creamed meat. Light and cheese flavored, it is shaped in cylinders and poached. Sprinkle with grated cheese and reheat under the broiler just before serving.

Pommes Chateaux is an interesting cross between fried and boiled potato. Browned in corn oil, then cooked in chicken bouillon, it has a very special flavor and is easy to prepare. It is an excellent substitute for roast potatoes and a good accompaniment for roasts, steaks and chops.

Lyonnais Potatoes is a wonderful recipe for left-over potatoes. It is best with waxy type potatoes such as new potatoes. Baking potatoes are too mealy and tend to break up.

Potato Pancakes will brighten any menu and children enjoy them too. They are especially delicious served with sour cream.

For supper-in-a-dish we suggest Pork Chop Casserole. Layers of onions and potatoes top the chops and all cook in a seasoned tomato sauce.

Basic buying points and proper storage of potatoes will help ensure best flavor and texture. Buy graded potatoes and choose the packaging that lets you see the product. If the potatoes are green, they have been exposed to light and may be bitter. Store potatoes in a cool, dark, well-ventilated area. If space is at a premium and potatoes must be stored at room temperature, buy small quantities that can be used in a short period of time.

Potage Bonne Femme
2 tablespoons corn oil
1-3 cup finely chopped onion
3 leeks cut into 1/2-inch wide slices
1 pound potatoes (5-6 medium potatoes) peeled and sliced 1/4-inch thick
5 cups chicken stock
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup light cream (optional)
Sauté onion in corn oil. Add leeks, potatoes, chicken stock and seasonings. Bring to a boil and simmer. Cover and simmer for one hour. Just before serving add cream and heat through.

Gnocchi
1 pound baking potatoes
1/2 cup water
1/4 cup corn oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sifted flour
2 eggs
1/4 cup grated Parmesan or Swiss cheese
1/4 teaspoon pepper
Topping:
1/2 cup grated Swiss cheese
2 tablespoons butter
Peel potatoes and cook in boiling water. Drain and put through a ricer. Set aside. In a saucepan bring water and oil to a boil. Remove from heat and stir in flour all at once. Beat thoroughly to blend well. Add eggs one at a time and mix until well blended. Mix in cooked potatoes, 1/4 cup grated cheese and pepper. On a lightly floured board roll 1/4 of the mixture at a time with hands to form a 1 1/2-inch cylinder. Cut off 2-inch lengths and drop gently into simmering water.

Poach uncovered for 10 to 12 minutes. Do not allow water to boil as Gnocchi may disintegrate. When they have doubled in size and turn easily in the water, remove and drain on paper towels. Arrange cooked Gnocchi in shallow, buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with cheese and dot with butter. Just before serving reheat by placing Gnocchi 5 to 6 inches from broiler. Serves 4 to 6.

Pommes Chateaux
4-5 medium potatoes
3 tablespoons corn oil
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon chicken bouillon powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Peel potatoes cut into quarters lengthwise. Heat corn oil in a frying pan. Fry potatoes for 5 to 6 minutes or until lightly browned, turning occasionally. Pour off excess oil. Mix water and seasonings and pour over potatoes. Cover and cook over a low heat for 10 to 15 minutes or until potatoes are cooked. Most liquid will have been absorbed by potatoes. Sprinkle with chopped parsley or paprika. Serves 4 to 6.

Lyonnais Potatoes
1/2 cup thinly sliced onions
4 tablespoons corn oil
4 cups thinly sliced cooked potatoes
Salt and pepper

In a skillet sauté onions in 2 tablespoons corn oil until golden. Drain, set aside and keep warm. Add remaining 2 tablespoons corn oil to skillet and sauté potatoes turning occasionally until golden brown. Return onions to pan and gently mix into potatoes. Add salt and pepper to taste. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serves 4 to 6.

Potato Pancakes
6 medium potatoes
1 to 2 medium onions
1/4 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
1 egg, beaten
Corn oil for frying
Peel potatoes and dry well. Peel onion.

Grate potatoes and onion on coarsest side of grater working quickly to prevent potatoes from darkening. Mix in remaining ingredients except corn oil. Fry potato mixture a spoonful at a time in hot corn oil until golden brown on each side. Drain on paper towels. Delicious served with sour cream. Serves 4 to 6.

Pork Chop Casserole
6 1-inch thick pork chops
2 tablespoons corn oil
2 medium onions, thinly sliced
5 to 6 medium potatoes peeled and thinly sliced
1 can (7 1/2 ounce) tomato sauce
1/2 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/4 teaspoon sage
Trim away excess fat from chops. Sauté in corn oil until browned. Place in bottom of a 9" x 13" casserole dish. Arrange alternate layers of onions and potatoes over chops ending with potatoes. Mix tomato sauce, water and seasonings and pour over casserole. Cover with foil and bake in a 350 degree F. oven for 1 1/2 hours. Remove foil for last 20 minutes to brown potatoes. Serves 4 to 6.

Sprague, Mangieri exchange vows

RICHMOND — Miss Cynthia Ann Mangieri, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mangieri of Rutland, Vt., became the bride of David Arthur Sprague, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sprague of Gray Road, Gorham, Me. on Saturday, Aug. 7, 1971, at high noon. The ceremony took place at Christ The King Church at Rutland, Vt.

The bride was given away by her father. Miss Dale Mangieri was maid of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Mrs. Daniel Level of West Rutland, Vt., Mrs. Thomas Perry, Richmond, Vt., the Misses Mary, Teresa, Jeannette and Shelly, all sisters of the bride. The flower girl was little Miss Heidi Lynn Perry of Richmond, Vt.

The best man was Mr. John Kirk of Holliston, Mass., and the ushers were Stephen Fournier of Revere, Mass., David Ott of Gorham, Me., Walter Nadeau, Berlin, N.H.,

Derry Leeman, Portland, Me., Daniel Level, Portland, Me.

Following the wedding the reception was held at the Pico Basin Ski Lodge at Shelburne, Vt. after which the couple left by plane for a honeymoon in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sprague entertained at the rehearsal party at the Hearstside Inn at Rutland, Vt. prior to the wedding.

Among those who attended were Mrs. Eva Donahue of Richmond, Quebec, Canada, maternal grandmother of the groom.

The bride is a graduate of Castleton State College and the groom is a graduate of Gorham High School and Springfield Mass. College.

On their return they will reside at Bennington, Vt. where Mr. Sprague will be teaching in the High School there.

THE FAMILY

Bridal showers

RICHMOND — Miss Anne de Forest was guest of honor at a miscellaneous bridal shower, held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Moreland, on Wednesday evening, Aug. 11.

Miss de Forest arrived at the door without any suspicion of anything going on and was greeted by Miss Brenda Nixon, sister of the groom-to-be, who pinned a pink carnation corsage on her. Mrs. Nixon also received a corsage of yellow and white carnations.

The guest of honor was then escorted to her decorated chair, where she was presented with many beautiful gifts and was assisted in opening them by Mrs. E. C. Nixon and Mrs. Ethel Moreland.

At the close of the evening the bride-to-be expressed her thanks to everyone, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses the Misses Brenda Nixon and Carol Paterson, assisted by Miss Norma Husk.

Miss de Forest is soon to become the bride of Mr. Donald Nixon of Richmond. The wedding is to take place on September 25, in Saint John, N.B., home of the bride.

SHERBROOKE — Miss Diane Rawlings, a September bride-to-be, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Donald Jameson, on Beaumont Street.

The bride-to-be was seated in an antique chair, beautifully and colorfully decorated by Miss Nancy Jameson, with hand-made mauve and pink streamers and flowers, which formed an arch from the ceiling. A corsage of red dahlias and pink roses was pinned on the bride-to-be. Gifts were brought in a carriage decorated by Debbie Jameson.

The bride-to-be then opened her gifts, assisted by her bridesmaid, Miss Tina Emery. Bows from the gifts were formed into a hat by Debbie Jameson. Diane then thanked everyone for the lovely gifts.

Games were played with prizes given. The door prize was won by Miss Judy Rawlings.

Refreshments were served by hostesses, Misses Nancy and Debbie Jameson, and Mrs. Shirley Michaud. Out-of-town guest was Miss Tina Emery, of Vancouver, B.C.

BULWER — Miss Mabel Joan Bailey was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower held in the Bulwer Community centre, recently.

The rooms were gaily decorated with blue, pink and white streamers, wedding bells, watering cans and brides and grooms, with an added touch of occasional silver bows.

Upon arrival, Joan and her mother were met by Mrs. Clinton King and Mrs. Arthur King. Joan was presented with a corsage of red roses, as was her mother.

Joan was seated at a table, laden with the many attractively wrapped gifts. Her mother and aunts assisted her in opening these, and they were passed around the large circle of friends and relations to be admired, after which Joan very graciously thanked the guests for the gifts and those who had arranged the shower.

The hostesses for the evening were two cousins, Mrs. Clinton King and Mrs. Arthur Brophy and two aunts, Mrs. Arthur King and Mrs. G. Geake, who served refreshments, assisted by friends.

The bride's table was centred with a shower cake, made and decorated by Mrs. Clinton King. It was topped with a miniature bride and groom and surrounded by red roses, flanked on both sides by bowls of pansies and silver tapers, in silver holders. The other tables were centred with bowls of pansies and flanked on either side with pink or blue candles. Joan was seated between her mother and father, who had been presented with silver bows, to remind them of their silver anniversary which they would be celebrating in a few days.

Mrs. J. Murray asked the blessing. Over 60 relations and friends were present including her father, mother, and brothers, David and Terry, her sister Beverley and the prospective groom, Brian Hopper of North Hatley, Mrs. Earl Robinson, Mrs. John Dempsey, Mrs. Russell Marshall and Mrs. J. Wright, Inverness, Mrs. Arthur King, Toronto. Others were present from Ayer's Cliff, Hatley, Waterville, Huntingville, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Bury, Sawyerville, Eaton and Birchton.

COOKSHIRE — A miscellaneous shower was held recently at the home of Mrs. Leonard Matthews in honor of a prospective September bride, Miss Janice Sparks, of Scarborough, Ont., the hostesses being the Misses Sharon Matthews, Brenda Loach and Valerie Forand.

Having been taken for an auto ride, Miss Sparks was pleasantly surprised on arrival at the home of Mrs. Matthews to find her relatives and friends assembled there in her honor. Miss Brenda Loach presented Miss Sparks with a corsage of small kitchen utensils, and while being escorted to a specially decorated chair of honor, over which a white crepe wedding bell was suspended, and draped in blue and white streamers, Mrs. Irene Morrow played the Wedding March.

The hostesses brought in several baskets of prettily-wrapped gifts, which were passed around for all to admire. Miss Sparks expressed her thanks and appreciation to all for their lovely gifts.

A game was played, and the hostesses served refreshments, which included a bridal cake, decorated in white and blue.

DANVILLE — Mrs. Clarence Mosher and her daughters, Kay and Beverly, were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Debbie Leet on Tuesday evening, Aug. 24.

Arriving at the home of her godmother supposedly to borrow dishes for the forthcoming wedding, she was genuinely surprised to have Mrs. Mosher present her with a corsage and escort her to a chair that had a green umbrella and white wedding bells over it, and was gaily decorated with green and white streamers.

There, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Milton Leet and by her prospective mother-in-law, Mrs. Redvers Noble, she unwrapped the many gifts which had been brought her by the some 20 relatives and neighbors. After all had been duly admired, Miss Leet thanked those present for their gifts, as well as the hostesses for their thoughtfulness in giving her such a pleasant surprise.

Refreshments included a shower cake in the form of an umbrella.

Beebe

Mr. and Mrs. Merle Hall (nee Bronni Patterson) of New Orleans, La. were callers at the home of Mrs. E. Cooke.

Miss Margaret Muir is spending a few days with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. William Smith, while recuperating from recent surgery. She will resume her duties at the Wales Home at the end of her convalescence.

Mr. Allan Pocock has returned to CHU in Sherbrooke for further

Nose job is personal decision

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is 25 years old, a college graduate and presently employed in a large top-notch firm. Several weeks ago Mendel became engaged to a girl he met while on vacation last year. She lives in another city but they have been together every weekend for the past several months. (Usually she comes here.)

Yesterday Mendel told me he is going to have "rhinoplasty." I didn't know what he was talking about until he explained that he plans to see a plastic surgeon about getting his nose shortened. I asked him how come he suddenly decided his nose was too long, seeing as how he had done rather well with it, (Phi Beta Kappa and a Fulbright scholarship). His answer was what I had suspected. "Phyllis wants me to."

Does a woman have the right to ask a man to do this crazy thing? Mendel is a wonderful looking boy. You wouldn't know he had a nose if you didn't see him from the side. I'm afraid he will ruin his looks altogether.

Should I call Phyllis and tell her to keep her hands off Mendel's nose?

—White Plains Mother

Dear Mother: No. This is between Mendel and Phyllis. A 25-year-old ought to know what he's doing. If he makes a mistake he'll have a reminder in the middle of his face for the rest of his life. This decision, however, must be his.

Dear Ann Landers: Most of your advice is sound but now and then you see only one side of a problem and that's when you run into trouble. For example, I didn't like your advice to the woman who had taken a rich cousin into her home and then complained because the cousin paid her only $50 a month for room and board.

What is "rich?" Forty years ago an aunt of mine who had inherited $50,000 was considered "rich." We all wondered why she didn't take expensive trips, buy fine clothes and give fancy presents.

"Auntie" was conservative with her money. We thought she was tight. She said she was saving for her old age. She was wise. They had no Social Security in those days.

Today a person who has $50,000 is far from rich. That sum, invested at 6 per cent interest, yields $250 a month, which is not a great deal of money when one considers the high cost of living and the inflationary pattern of our economy.

If the woman who wrote feels her "rich" relative is not paying enough for room and board she should say so and not write to Ann Landers.

—Same Boat

Dear Boat: Why shouldn't she write to Ann Landers? You did. And I'm glad. Your advice to "Auntie" was precisely the same advice I gave her. You write rather well. How come you can't read?

Dear Ann Landers: Our son called yesterday to say he is coming home for a week. He asked me to reserve a room for his and his girl at a nearby motel. He added, "Please get a room with a large bed. We don't like twin beds." I told him I did not approve of his "now generation" sleeping arrangements and to make his own reservations. His voice became brittle, (as it always does when he becomes irritated) and he replied, "I am 23 years old and I don't need your approval. All I am asking you to do is you make the call. Will you?" I said, "No. I will not." Was I wrong?

—North Platte Mom
Dear Mom: Your son had no business asking you to make that call. Had you done so you would have been condoning the sleeping arrangement—which is what he was after. You out-foxed him, Doll.

Continuing education program popular

While enrolment figures for students in Eastern Townships Regional School Board Schools are maintaining a high level, the Regionals continuing education for adults program hasn't stopped expanding since it began five years ago.

For the first time, the Department of Education will permit students who have not followed established courses, but who have acquired a well rounded knowledge on their own, to take High School Leaving examinations. High School Leaving certificates will be awarded to all those who pass.

The Department courses cover three main areas: Academic studies, technical and vocational training, and popular culture subjects. The courses in Academic studies extend from the earliest Elementary levels through High School and are given on a credit system, so an adult may proceed at his own rate and receive a certificate after completing the required number of credits.

On the vocational side, the Department will continue to offer courses in secretarial and commercial subjects as well as vocational courses which identify with the needs of industry in this area. Popular culture courses will be offered again this year following the format successfully used last season.

Golden wedding feted

SUTTON — On Sunday afternoon, August 15, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Butler Jr. and Mrs. Donald Roberts entertained several relatives and friends and neighbors at a 50th wedding anniversary at the Grace Anglican Church Hall in honor of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Butler Sr. The hall had been nicely decorated with beautiful baskets, vases and low bowls of summer flowers.

On entering the hall, Mr. and Mrs. Butler were met by their son Harry, who pinned a yellow rose corsage on his mother, and their daughter Norma, who pinned a white carnation on her father. They then escorted their parents to a decorated table, and seated with them was their bridesmaid, Mrs. Gladys Garland, who received a red rose corsage.

A delicious lunch was served with Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. Butler Jr. pouring tea and coffee. Lunch was served in buffet style. The two granddaughters assisted their parents in serving the guests.

The beautifully decorated anniversary cake, made and decorated by Mr. Vernie Goyette, was cut and served by the bride of 50 years, also the anniversary cake made and decorated by Mrs. R. C. Gibson. Mr. and Mrs. Butler received gifts and many anniversary cards containing money.

Henry Harry Butler, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Butler, and Mabel Ethel Garland, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank Garland, were united in marriage at the Baptist Parsonage here on August 18, 1921. The late Rev. C. P. England officiated. Their attendants were the late Alfred Garland and Mrs. Gladys Page Garland. They had three children Norma and Harry Jr. and one deceased. They also have three grandchildren.

Guests were present from Connecticut, Richford, Vt., Saskatoon, Cowansville, West Brome, Sutton Junction and Sutton.

On Saturday evening, August 14, Mr. and Mrs. Butler were invited to the Legion Hall. Both are members of the Legion and Women's Auxiliary No. 158.

Dancing was enjoyed. They were presented with a lovely bouquet of flowers and a decorated cake made and decorated by Mrs. R. C. Gibson. They expressed their many thanks to the Comrades for their kind thoughts and best wishes.

TORONTO, September 16th—Uncomfortable dentures? Then cheer up. Here's a product just made for you that will put an end to your present discomfort. Called FASTEETH DENTURE ADHESIVE POWDER, you simply sprinkle it on your dentures and it does it! This... helps hold both uppers and lowers longer, firmer and steadier... holds them more comfortably... helps you eat more naturally. What's more, non-acid Fasteeth has no gummy, pasty taste, so you can eat whatever you wish... smiling to your heart's content! You know dentures that fit are essential to health—so visit your dentist regularly and get easy-to-use Fasteeth today.

"BE PREPARED" has always been a good motto! That's why I make sure I have DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF WILD STRAWBERRY on my shelf. Then if one of my family suddenly develops the nausea, cramps and weakness of diarrhea, Dr. Fowler's is on hand to bring gentle, soothing relief. Formulated from roots and herbs, it quickly relieves embarrassing symptoms and restores intestinal balance. No one is immune... we all tend to over-indulge at times... even a change of climate or water can be the culprit. Whatever, children... the best recommendation I can think of!

YOU'LL BE SURPRISED AND DELIGHTED at how little it costs to serve good wines. Simply ask for Brights Canadian 74 SHERRY and 74 PORT... two of the most pleasant and welcome wines I know. Smooth and delightful, 74 Sherry is a delicious entertaining wine at any time... perfect to serve before dinner. Then with the dessert or after dinner there's no more sociable wine than 74 Port. For your own pleasure or for entertaining... I suggest you stock up on Brights 74 Sherry and 74 Port. You'll thank me for the tip!

TIME AFTER TIME... readers have thanked me for suggesting DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS... when they have had a nagging back-ache and aching feeling. You see, Dodd's contain ingredients that bring effective relief by gently stimulating the kidneys to help relieve back-ache and that worn-out feeling. It was interesting to learn from a friend that Dodd's Kidney Pills are also very helpful during menstrual periods. "Dodd's Kidney Pills help relieve excess retention of body fluids resulting in bloating, swelling caused by urinary irritation during the menstrual period," she said. Another reason, I'm sure, why millions of people use Dodd's!

CLEVER—ECONOMICAL TOO!... G. H. WOOD TOILET BOWL FRESHENER... a scented block deodorizer on a plastic hanger. (The plastic hanger comes in pink, blue or white, fits neatly on the rim of the toilet bowl and does not stain or rust!) G. H. Wood Toilet Bowl Freshener deodorizes, of course, and provides a most pleasant scent in the bathroom... but has numerous other uses, too. It helps prevent mildew... it can be used in garbage cans... a new mother could use it in a diaper pail... in fact, anywhere unpleasant odours occur. Toilet Bowl Freshener... from G. H. Wood & Company... who have provided "Sanitation for the Nation" since 1927!

Brome Fair: something for everyone

VILLAGE OF BROME — Fun for everyone, young and old, will be found watching from grandstand seats at this year's Brome County Fair. The directors of the exhibition have gone all out to assure that there is something for everyone at the fair.

They made doubly certain that the grandstand attractions were of a calibre that everyone who attended the showing would enjoy. A list of some of the best acts were drawn up and only the pick of the crop will be introduced on stage in front of the grandstand.

Saturday night at 8 p.m. two of the stars of the Grand Old Opry will take to the stage in front of the grandstand. Long noted as the Opry's top comedy team, they are sure to bring smiles to the faces and memories to the hearts of everyone as the team goes through their familiar song and comedy routines. They have appeared on most of the major television shows and are well known in the world of show business.

They will have time only for a one-night stay in Brome and everyone who has never had a chance to see them live should not miss the great performance of this world-renowned comedy team.

After such a great act as Lonzo and Oscar the fair directors had a hard time to find another act that could hope to live up to the standards they had already set.

"What is more fun for anyone than a circus?" they must have asked themselves. A circus delights everyone from the tiniest tot to the eldest resident in the region. So they booked a circus.

The Gastoni International Circus Review 71, which is bigger and better than ever, will be shown in front of the grandstand. Many unbelievable acts are included in the program of the circus.

Highlight of the circus will be an outstanding aerial act. Hedy and the Sensational Dresler Brothers will combine their talents in a breath-taking motorcycle-in-the-sky act.

One of the funniest clowns in the business, Dave Hanson, will draw waves of laughter with his famous funny car act.

Animal acts? The Gastoni Circus Review has them. One of the best is the Van Donwen's seals and penguins act from France.

The Great Arturo Family featuring the Viennese Daredevils on the high wire will be another daring act on stage. A novelty barrel jumping act.

Competition stiff; space for exhibits booked up

At the moment many exhibitors are busy getting ready to bring their exhibits to be displayed. Farmers are picking out their best to show, housewives are adding the finishing touches to their exhibits, maple sugar is being tasted. All this advance preparation will insure the success of this county agricultural battleground.

Secretary treasurer of the Fair, Albert Smith of Knowlton, told The Record Monday morning that all the space for the agricultural exhibits had already been booked solid.

Competition will be very stiff and fierce as most of the best cattlemen in the region are busy preparing for the judging. Cattle are being fattened, washed, groomed and combed as the Fair's opening day fast approaches.

Hager and Nancy, will be performed as well as Happy The Clown trampoline act. All in all Brome Fair's grandstand act offers hours of entertainment pleasure to all who come.

Being the last fair in the region it is one of the most demanding of the exhibitors. Every producer likes to win at the Brome County Fair because it is one of the Eastern Townships most prestigious exhibitions.

Cattle and machinery parades will also be some of the major items on the agenda of this year's Brome County Fair. Even if you can't find the time to see all the livestock exhibits which will blanket the fairgrounds, the cattle parade should not be missed.

Regional farmers dressed in white will lead the best of their herds in a long parade in front of the grandstand. Truly it will be one of the best showings of livestock in the region.

In addition to agricultural and horticultural exhibits this year's annual fair will offer all the other fair goodies which everyone has become accustomed to.

One of the biggest series of grandstand attractions will be unveiled before the very eyes of all the spectators. The midway, an acknowledged part of any fair, will once again offer many hours of pleasure and delight to thousands of fairgoers.

Whether your pleasure is to feel the delights of defying gravity, to cock your arm, throw the ball, knock over the milk bottles and win a stuffed animal, buy hats, jewelry or trinkets, eat candy floss or toffee apples or just to walk around chatting with friends and watching all the others having a good time, you will find it all on the midway at the Brome County Fair.

Dining room facilities will be on the site of the fair. See you all at the Brome County Fair this coming weekend Sept. 4-6.

Superb entertainment is slated for annual Fair

VILLAGE OF BROME — Rare are the performers who have been able to render burlesque or satirical impressions of Country musicians successfully. Lonzo and Oscar, however, do it.

Born Rollin Sullivan and Dave Hooten, they are the only duo on the Grand Ole Opry who can get by with poking fun at their colleagues and the music they sing seriously.

For Rollin and Dave, the road to stardom was rocky. Originally, the team was composed of Ken Marvin and Oscar (Rollin) and they made their debut on Radio WTJS, Jackson, Tenn., shortly before the Second World War.

At this time they recorded the tune I'm My Own Grandpa. Shortly after this, Ken withdrew from the act and Brother Johnny Sullivan became a fulltime member. For several years, they traveled with Eddie Arnold's Show performing throughout the world.

They went on to new heights as a comedy team making hundreds of television films and records. They have also appeared on network telecasts such as the Kate Smith Show, Dave Garroway and Ed Sullivan. Add to this Bonanza, full length transcriptions, records, commercials and movies.

Tragedy struck again in 1967 when Johnny (Lonzo) died of a heart attack. As agreed before his death, "the show must go on." Therefore, Dave Hooten was asked to fill the void left by Johnny.

The future looks bright for this duo, as their schedule is filled with personal appearances around the world.

The Lonzo and Oscar Show will entertain any type of audience and has been a steady feature on

The Grand Ole Opry, with the same sponsor, Steven's Work Clothes, for the past 15 years, and they seldom fail to bring down the house. They have appeared on all the major network radio and television shows including NBC's Grand Ole Opry, the Dave Garroway show, Steve Allen's Tonight show, the Ed Sullivan show, the Kate Smith Show, and were featured in the full length movie, Country Music Holiday with Zsa Zsa Gabor.

The show now has more than 50 records on sale at stores in the United States and Canada and all over the free world. They have entertained American military forces in Alaska, Germany, England, France, Italy, Australia, Viet Nam, Japan and several other Far Eastern countries, and were great favorites of the servicemen.

The Lonzo and Oscar show is fast and entertaining from start to finish. They will play to as large an audience on their return engagement as they do in their first appearance.

Trust Deragon... you can't go wrong!

It's a matter of logic.
When a man sets his sights on staying in business for a long, long time, he does the one logical and sensible thing: he gears his whole operation to achieve complete customer satisfaction. That's the principle that Andre Deragon, president of Deragon Car Rental Limited, has chosen to build his business on. Deragon Car Rental Ltd. has been leasing cars to hundreds of customers for over ten years... and more than 85% of these satisfied customers keep coming back. The only reason for that: they are all satisfied customers.

On Sunday August 8, there was a car rally of 25 cars that came down over the mountain road, some of the counted points in their routines were that they call at "Blanches" on the Hill for a fresh loaf of bread. This pleased Blanche very much; she thanks them all.

Saturday guests at the Cameron-Bloomfield home were Mr. and Mrs. Hobart Greene, Cowansville; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Duval, Knowlton.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Heckley were visiting their son Donald, who is a patient in the Sweetsburg Hospital.

Rev. and Mrs. Alex Nyssonen and two children Bonnie and Erik from Steinback, Man., Rev. and Mrs. Malcolm Eby and daughter Melodie, Glencoe, Ont., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cameron.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Macdonald and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cameron attended the White family reunion in Starksboro, Vt., on Saturday, August 14.

Mrs. Albert Cameron visited her sister Mrs. Clare Bedard, who is a patient in the Sweetsburg Hospital. Mrs. Cameron also visited Mrs. Ruth Levoy and Mrs. Sauve and infant son.

Bruce and Juanita Johnstone, Montreal, are spending a few days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jefferson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kent Durrell have returned home from a holiday trip to Gaspé, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Maine; they were accompanied on the trip by Mrs. Durrell's sister and family Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sanger and son Douglas, Leaming, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. William Halay, Cookstown, Ont., were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jefferson.

Mrs. Harold Needham went to the Sherbrooke Medical Centre on August 4 to accompany her sister Mrs. Francis Hopps home by ambulance. Mrs. Hopps has been a patient at the Medical Centre for six months. All her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Garland Barnes, sons Jerry and Dale and Miss Pat Clifford were visiting at the home of Mrs. W.G. Knowlton and Mr. and Mrs. George Knowlton and family, Foster.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Garland Barnes, who celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary on Aug. 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Perkins, Brattleboro, Vt., were visiting Mr. Perkins sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Burbank and Barbara, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Willey and daughters Barbara, Julie, Jane enjoyed a drive and picnic on Sunday Aug. 8 when they motored to Georgeville, Fitch Bay, Tomifobia, Beebe, Graniteville, Derby, Newport, North Troy, Mansonville, going completely around Magog.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cole and family of Bromont were calling on Mrs. Hilda Hill on Saturday. Sympathy is extended to Mr. and Mrs. George Rogerson, Bolton Pass., at the death of Mr. Rogerson's uncle, Mr. Robert Macmillan at Fitchburg, Mass., at the age of 92.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Heckley and Cheryl were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jack Heckley and family at Pigeon Hill.

ONE OF THE SPECTACULAR GRANDSTAND SHOWS AT FAIR THIS WEEKEND

Treat yourself this weekend

VILLAGE OF BROME—Soon school children will once again, don their spanking new clothes, pick up their books, their note paper, their pencils and their briefcases and head towards that well known building that lies around the corner.

Yes, soon school will begin, and with it a bit of regret will once again become apparent. We will notice that another summer has gone by but then we will ask ourselves, "There were so many things I could have done last summer that I didn't do. Why didn't I do this or do that?"

Labor Day weekend traditionally marks the end of summer and a new regime begins to take hold in the house which has lived through a hurricane of turmoil during the previous two months. The long weekend fast approaching Sept. 4-6 will also mark the end of a number of events which have been held periodically during the summer.

This weekend the annual Brome Fair will once again turn the Brome County Fairgrounds into a bee-hive of activity, spectacles, parades and people.

After this weekend you will not be able to say, "I'll go to the next county fair." The Brome Fair is the last in the region and if you miss it you will have to say, "Let's wait til next year."

If you have missed the Richmond County Fair, the Sherbrooke Exhibition, the Bedford Fair, the Cookshire Fair, then don't miss the big Brome Fair.

County fairs this year have been very well organized, entertaining and educating Brome Fair promises to be one of the best of the region.

If you have not attended at least one this year then you should come to the Labor Day weekend Fair. Some of the best animals in the region, a fun-filled midway, horticultural exhibits and interesting industrial exhibits are all part of the program.

Come to watch, to enjoy, to chat with old friends, to bring back old memories, or to try your luck at some of the games of chance.

Brome Fair promises a smile, a laugh or an awe for all those who attend.

Animals on display

VILLAGE OF BROME — Sponsored yearly by the Noted primarily as an Brome County Agricultural agricultural and horticultural Society, this year's fair promises exhibition, this year's Brome to be bigger and better than any County Fair will not be a letdown other fair ever held on the for any of the animal lovers who Brome Village site.

Scheduled for Sept 4-6 Labor Day weekend there will be all kinds of animals on display throughout the three days of the fair.

Exhibits of cattle, horses, sheep and swine are to be on the site. All types of flowers, plants, vegetables and fruits will also be on display.

RECOMMENDATIONS PRESENTED

Classification talks, a long-standing Rotary tradition, are to be given again, starting in the near future. These involve each Rotarian, one by one, briefly addressing the club on his vocation in life, or "classification," as it is called in Rotary. Only one member per classification is admitted to the club.

It is hoped that Rotary films also will be shown this fall.

"We have problems, so let's get with it," information committee chairman Clarence Blake told the club after announcing his plans.

PROJECT QUESTIONNAIRE

A few weeks ago, a questionnaire was given to every club member concerning what service projects should be priorities for the club and how to raise funds for these endeavors.

As has been pointed out to members several times, the present "welfare state" nature of the economy means in many cases that former service club projects now become redundant or irrelevant, and the clubs must develop a new "community orientation."

Immediate past president Alex Baptist summed up this necessity for the Sherbrooke Rotary Club to its members several weeks ago, and what was probably the first step of positive action in this direction was revealed last night.

Project research chairman Ron Bishop told the club that out of 74 members in the club, he had expected at least 50 or 60 completed questionnaires, but only 28 members—less than 40 per cent of the club—had bothered to reply.

Recommendations being made by the committee, then, were based only on the opinions of that portion of the membership.

OLD PROJECTS

Fifteen Rotarians opposed continuation of the boots and shoes project, while 12 thought it should be maintained with some modifications.

Half of the members answering the questionnaire thought there was a need for restricting and screening possible recipients.

An overwhelming majority of members recommended continuing support to the Crippled Children's Camp, while most thought general welfare projects should be scrapped.

As a result, Mr. Bishop's committee has recommended to the club's board of directors that, of those three, only the Crippled Children's Camp continue to be supported.

In new project areas, members' wishes were reflected in Mr. Bishop's report recommending the inauguration of a senior citizens' project, involving perhaps a consultation service for senior citizens, a community centre, transportation, books, tea, and so on.

The vast majority of club members recommended increased inter-club activity, but it was pointed out that this is not an easy thing to accomplish, since the nearest Rotary Club is 30 miles away at the border.

Club members were about equally divided on whether or not to initiate a drug information and counselling project, but because of the controversial nature of the idea as well as the lack of properly qualified personnel the idea was rejected.

It was decided that if the club should decide to support a project of this kind, that support should consist of financially aiding the existing Odyssey House project in Sherbrooke.

Past president Eugene Gingras offered to help the club with ideas for an anti-pollution project, favored by most members.

NEW PROJECT IDEAS

Other areas which club members wanted to service were youth and student exchanges, and junior achievement. Since there was a lack of concrete suggestions on the former, the question will be studied further before any recommendation is put forth.

The committee did, however, recommend the immediate innovation of a junior achievement program for the Sherbrooke Rotary Club.

About the only concrete suggestion put forward in the area of fund-raising was to hold a 25-mile penny drive. Households would be encouraged to save their pennies and the club would aim for a goal of 25 miles of pennies placed end to end.

Working on the basis of 16 pennies, this would yield 2,112,000 pennies or $21,120.

Members also indicated on their questionnaires that the speaker routine at regular meetings was "worn thin" and thought that meetings were too formal. Some wanted more Rotary orientation, group exchanges, and a return of the fine system.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other Rotary business, the club is going back next week to its winter meeting schedule, and regular gatherings will be held at 6:15 p.m. as opposed to the usual summer time of 12:15.

The international district to which the Sherbrooke club belongs is participating in a children's health project with a Rotary district in India. District governor Richard Smith would like each club to donate $2 per member to make it possible to extend the project and send $400 for medicine and supplies.

Surplus funds will go to a similar project next year.

The club also announced Sept. 12 to 18 as World Understanding Week, and Smith will make an official visit sometime this month as well.

Also noted with regret was the resignation of past president Lyman Tomkins, after 20 years with the club. Mr. Tomkins is the comptroller of Bishop's University, Lennoxville.

Atlantic air fare package in question

MONTREAL (CP) — The question on whether 40 airlines flying the North Atlantic can agree on a fares package and avoid an open-rate situation is still up in the air following a decision to give Lufthansa two more weeks to withdraw its sole veto of the suggestion.

If the West German carrier still has not changed its vote by Sept. 15, airlines will be free to set their own prices Feb. 1, 1972, when the current International Air Transport Association agreement expires.

Originally, Lufthansa had to withdraw its veto, but IATA, under pressure from several members anxious to avoid the competitive open-rate situation, announced just hours before the deadline that Lufthansa would be granted an additional 15 days to reconsider.

The Canadian Press erroneously reported Wednesday that IATA had decided not to give the airline any extension of the deadline. The confusion stemmed from IATA's position that no deadline could be officially announced until member airlines had given their approval to do so.

The go-aheads came early Wednesday and the extension was formally announced.

BREAK FOR GROUPS

The new rates, hammered out during a seven-week IATA traffic conference in Montreal this summer, would not have lowered normal fares. Group rates, however, would have been substantially reduced to make them more competitive with prospering charter flights.

Lufthansa said it did not oppose cheaper fares but maintained the proposed system of several types of group excursion rates was confusing to passengers.

Sources close to the airline industry, while declining to comment officially, say they believe the 15-day extension will not affect Lufthansa's veto and carriers are preparing themselves for its eventualities.

The West German carrier announced in August that "in case it comes to an open-rate situation, as looks possible, Lufthansa will offer its own tariffs which will mean an all-round simplification and reduction."

Its plans include a 14-to-60-day excursion fare of about $210 return between New York and Frankfurt, compared with $442 now for a 17-to-28-day ticket and $372 for 29 to 45 days.

WILL MATCH GERMANS

Air Canada, BOAC, Trans World Airlines and Pan American Airways have all indicated their intention to match or counter Lufthansa's proposed fares.

CP Air says it will apply to the Canadian government for fares similar to those voted on at the IATA conference.

They include a low fare of $168 off-season return ticket for affinity groups made up of persons belonging to a club or special interest organization.

Basic rate would be set at $188 and rise to $248 in the peak summer season.

During an open-rate situation several years ago, airlines chose to stick by old fare agreements rather than venture into the competitive field of undercutting each other.

H. Don Reynolds, chairman of the traffic conference, told reporters recently that because of monumental paper work and confusion to travellers, "it is inconceivable to me that an open-rate situation could last long."

SPORTS IN BRIEF

Norman leads Jackson tour

MONTREAL (CP) — Moe Norman, a veteran Guilford, Ont., golfer, led the field in money earnings on the Peter Jackson Golf Tour this season.

Norman, who finished no worse than fifth in any of the six tournaments he entered on the tour, won a total of $6,978 in prizes, well ahead of the $3,710 collected by second place John Elliott Jr. of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Former Canadian Football League star Tom Nettles took third place with $3,468 in winnings.

Compete for CFHA title

CALGARY (CP) — The Canadian Field Hockey Association inter-provincial championship will be decided this weekend with six provinces competing.

Alberta, as host province, is allowed two teams but one of them is ineligible for the championship.

Also playing against defending-champion British Columbia will be squads from Nova Scotia, Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba.

Track, field team in Italy

ROME (AP) — A 58-member track and field team arrived here by plane Wednesday.

The Canadian men proceeded to Cagliari, Sardinia, where on Saturday and Sunday they will compete against an Italian team.

The Canadian women proceeded to Palermo, the capital city of Sicily, for a one-day meet Friday against Italian women.

The Golden Conca Trophy will be at stake in the women's meet. The new trophy is named for the Sicilian plain on which Palermo is situated.

Italian sources said the Canadian women are favored to win the trophy, with the Italian women given the better chance in only three events—the 1,600 metre relay, the shot putt, the discus and the javelin.

Ten of the Canadians will fly to Berlin for an invitation meet Wednesday, Sept. 8, and eight others will go to London to compete at Crystal Palace. The rest will return home.

Debbie Van Kieckebelt of Toronto and Penny May of Victoria are to participate in a pentathlon in Munich Sept. 11-12.

Kingston '76 sailing site

KINGSTON, Ont. (CP) — Olympics is the magic word here this week with organizers of the Canadian Olympic-training Regatta assuming Kingston will be the site for the sailing portion of the 1976 Games awarded to Montreal.

A delegation of city officials, headed by Mayor Valerie Swain, is visiting Kiel, Germany, this week to view facilities at one of the world's biggest annual regattas.

Meanwhile, top Canadian and international sailors here this week are keeping up for the 1972 Games at Kiel.

Several top sailors here have switched to Olympic-class boats this year in preparation for the 1972 Games.

Officials here are so confident that Kingston will be host to the world's top sailors, they have already planned a $6-million facility to handle boats and competitors.

Many friends and relatives from Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, Montreal, Keene, N.H., Matagami, P.Q., attended the funeral services and relatives were received by Mrs. Arthur McKindsey at the home of her son Gerry after the services, where many friends and neighbours served a delicious lunch.

MRS. NELSON FISH
Formerly of Ayer's Cliff
Mrs. Nelson Fish, the former Lora Belle Hartwell died on Friday, August 6, 1971 at La Providence Hospital, Magog, where she had been a patient at four different times. Previous to this she had resided at La Pension des Lilas Rest Home in Magog.

Mrs. Fish was born in Compton, Que., on February 23, 1883, the daughter of George and Ruth Hartwell. She received her education there.

October 28, 1908 she was united in marriage to Nelson Fish, they resided in Boynton, Que., until his death on October 15, 1945. Mrs. Fish afterwards moved to Ayer's Cliff where she resided with a nephew Delmar White and later with Mrs. Pearl Berwick until her first entrance at the Magog hospital.

The funeral was held at the Cass Funeral Home in Stanstead, Rev. T.W. Tyson officiated. The bearers were Stanley Cooper, and Newton Blake of Ayer's Cliff, Kenneth Fish of Flint, Mich., Gordon White of Stanstead, Interment took place in the Reedville Cemetery, North Hatley.

Mrs. Fish is survived by a sister, Mrs. Eula White of the Wales Home, Richmond, nephews Delmar White, Stanstead, Robert White, Bedford, Basil White,

NEW QUEBEC BLOC

The bloc, he added, would keep its distance from the Parti Quebecois in order not to alienate those who are not totally in favor of independence.

As far as he knows, Mr. Levesque is not opposed to such a bloc.

Commenting on the weekend announcement by Roch LaSalle, independent MP for Joliette, to the effect that he would present himself as an independent candidate in the next federal elections, whether or not a Quebec bloc was formed, Mr. Bertrand said he was "surprised."

Mr. LaSalle, who left the Conservatives last spring, was one of the persons invited to attend the meeting to discuss the creation of a Quebec party.

Others included Camille Laurin, PQ house leader in the Quebec national assembly, Claude Ryan, publisher of Montreal Le Devoir, and Roland Morin, former Quebec leader of the New Democratic Party.

DECISION NORMAL

Mr. Alie, however, said Mr. LaSalle's decision was normal. What was important for him was to be elected.

Mr. Alie added that "there is nothing in the acts and statements of Mr. LaSalle which is contrary to the thought of the group."

OBITUARIES

ARTHUR A. MCKINDSEY of Lennoxville

It was with regret that the community learned of the death of Arthur A. McKindsey, in his 73rd year, on July 27, 1971 at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Mr. McKindsey was born in Lennoxville, the son of the late William John Herbert McKindsey and his wife Mary Elizabeth Abbott.

He received his education at the Lennoxville Academy, Bishop's College School, and Bishop's University, where he graduated in 1922 with a Bachelor of Arts degree.

During the First World War he enlisted in the 87th Battalion, Canadian Grenadier Guards, went overseas in April 1916, was wounded in action at the battle of the Somme "Regina Trench" October 1916, transferred to 7th Battery Canadian Siege Artillery 1917, and again saw action in France. Transferred to R.A.F. Cadet Brigade 1918 where he was training as a pilot when war armistice was declared in November, 1918.

In 1924, he was married to the former Ruth Emily Blodgett, daughter of the late W.W. Blodgett and Mrs. Blodgett of Newport, Vt., and was employed by the Sherbrooke Machineries Company as draftsman until 1927. He then entered the automobile sales business where he was active until 1942.

In 1942 he entered the engineering department of Union Screen Plate of Canada where he was employed until his retirement in 1963.

During the Second World War, he was attached to the 67 Squadron of the Royal Canadian Air Cadets (Rotary) with the rank of Pilot Officer, following which, he was active in the organization of the Lennoxville and Ascot Community Association and in the Lennoxville Young People's Association. He was a member of the Lennoxville Curling Club for several years, an active member of St. George's Anglican Church and served on many committees during his lifetime.

He leaves to mourn his passing, his wife Ruth, their three children John of Ste. Rose, Que., Jean (Mrs. Roy Lindsay) of Fabreville, Que., and Gerry of Lennoxville. Seven grandchildren; Ronald, Douglas, and Joan of Ste. Rose; Christopher of Fabreville; and Lynne and Mark of Lennoxville; a brother Gordon of Montreal and a sister Margaret (Naylor) of Vancouver, B.C.

Funeral services, under the direction of Wilson Johnston Funeral Chapel of Lennoxville, were held in St. George's Anglican Church, Lennoxville on Friday, July 30, 1971 with Rev. John McMurray officiating, assisted by Bishop R.H. Waterman and Rev. O. Merriman. Burial took place at Malvern Cemetery in Lennoxville.

The bearers were neighbours Ron Willard, Les Beaulieu, and John Labreque and friends with whom he worked many years at the Union Screen Plate. Cecil Skinner, Joseph Turcotte and Alex Hodgeman.

Among those attending from out of town were: his brother Gordon and his wife from

In Memoriam

INGREY — In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Miriane who passed away Sept. 2, 1966. We had a mother who were proud to own. How much we miss her will never be known. No longer in our lives to share. But in our hearts she is always there. Lovingly remembered by EILEEN, DAREEN, ERIC & FAMILIES

NEWELL — In loving memory of Arthur S. Newell, husband, father and grandfather who passed away Sept. 2, 1970. Who they think that you are gone. Because no more your face they see. Are wrong — for in our hearts you live. And always will be in memory. MONA (his wife) & FAMILY

Card of Thanks

RIEF — I would like to thank all my friends, relatives and neighbors who sent flowers, gifts and cards while I was in the hospital and since I have been home. Special thanks to Dr. Dykeman, Dr. Taylor and the staff of the 4th floor. MARION RIEF R.R. 2 Richmond, P.Q.

'Peg stymies Calgary offense in 31-15 win

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg's defensive unit, scored by criticism after their last game, stymied Calgary's offensive attack while the Blue Bombers solved the Stampeder's brilliant defence for a 31-15 Western Football Conference victory Wednesday night.

Quarterback Don Jonas, smarting from four pass interceptions in the second quarter and one on the first series of plays in the third, threw for four touchdowns and kicked one field goal, one single and three punts. Bob Larose caught two touchdowns passes with Paul Markle and Jim Thorpe hauling in the others.

Larry Robinson, on a 95-yard pass interception, and Jesse Mims on a 75-yard end run, scored the Calgary majors. Robinson converted both and Bill Van Burkleo kicked a single.

The Winnipeg defence, criticized for giving up 31 points to Edmonton Eskimos last week, had trouble with quarterback Jerry Keeling and the Calgary offence in the first half but came up with the big plays in the second half.

The Winnipeg left side, badly exploited by Edmonton, came up with newcomers end Al Dotson and linebacker Carl Crennel tightening the area.

OFFENSE EXPLODES

The Bombers' offence, the only one in the league to score more than 10 points against Calgary in one game prior to Wednesday, exploded in the third quarter after a dazzling touchdown by Thorpe. The fleet-footed split end hauled in a Jonas pass on the Calgary 40 yard line and appeared stopped as five Stampedeers surrounded him. But the former Toronto Argonaut faked his way around Howard Starks and Terry Wilson and then outran the rest for the touchdown that fired up the Bombers and gave them a 16-15 lead.

Less than three minutes later, Winnipeg had an eight-point margin after Gene Lakuski intercepted a pass and Jonas hit Larose on the next play for a 40-yard pass-and-run touchdown.

There was no stopping the Bombers as they picked up their third win of the season — one more than all last year — and their first at home in more than a year. The last Winnipeg home victory was Aug. 26, 1970, over Toronto.

A capacity crowd of 22,553 was on hand and gave the club more vocal support than it had received in years.

Calgary retained its position atop the Western Conference, but suffered its first loss in six games and in so doing, yielded more points than in its previous five outings combined.

The Calgary defence appeared headed for another great night in the second quarter, picking off the fourth Jonas pass to stymie the Winnipeg offence, could not contain the Bombers in the third quarter.

Jonas picked apart the Calgary defence but it took a stern effort by the Winnipeg offensive front four that allowed the Stampedeers to get through to their quarterback only twice all night.

Says CAHA not honoring terms

MONTREAL (CP) — Frank Shaughnessy, vice-president of the winter games division of the Canadian Olympic Association, said Wednesday the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association "is not honoring its commitment" in declining to send a team to the 1972 Winter Olympics in Sapporo, Japan.

Shaughnessy said the COA cannot send a hockey team unless it receives the endorsement of the CAHA, which is refusing to send an Olympic team because the International Ice Hockey Federation will not allow it to send a team of professional players to the world hockey championships staged in non-Olympic years.

He said the CAHA has until Sept. 21 to change its mind. The Olympic hockey schedule will be drawn up on that date in Prague.

Shaughnessy said the COA has "strongly urged" the CAHA to send a hockey team to Sapporo.

He termed ridiculous a statement by Gordon Jukes, CAHA executive director, that the hockey organization had not received a formal invitation to attend the games.

He said he had notified the CHA that there was an opening in the tournament for a Canadian team.

"They (the CAHA) shouldn't need a formal invitation to play in the Olympic Games when they know there is a place for them."

Jenkins wrecks Montreal after Cubs drop opener

CHICAGO (AP) — Ferguson Jenkins pitched a six-hitter and slugged two home runs in a 5-2 Chicago Cubs victory over Montreal Wednesday after the Expos completed an 11-2 triumph of Tuesday's suspended second game of a doubleheader.

Jenkins, making his third start to gain his 21st victory, aided his own cause with his third and fourth home runs of the season.

Jenkins drove a Bill Stoneman pitch into the left field bleachers after Brock Davis drew a leadoff walk in the fifth. The big right-hander's second homer, another drive into the left field seats, came when he led off the seventh. It came off Jim Britton and gave Jenkins a career total of 10 homers.

Bob Bailey drove in the Expos' first run in the second inning with an infield grounder that scored Ron Fairly. Montreal's second run was unearned, the result of second baseman Glen Beckert's error.

The Cubs played long ball to get the only runs Jenkins did not drive in. Catcher Chris Cannizzaro's triple led to the first run in the second, and Jim Hickman's triple figured in the Cubs sixth inning score.

In the completion of the suspended game, Mike Marshall posted his 18th save in pitching two-hit ball over the final three innings. The game was resumed with Montreal leading 8-1 after six innings.

Tom Seaver of New York Mets tamed St. Louis Cardinals 7-1 on four hits Wednesday night, becoming the first pitcher to beat St. Louis veteran Bob Gibson three times in a season since Vernon Law of Pittsburgh Pirates did it in 1959.

"He wasn't the real Bob Gibson tonight," said Seaver. "But he's still one of the best pitchers in baseball. I don't think I've ever seen anybody work any harder."

Despite Seaver's praise, Gibson has been erratic this season, winning only 13 and losing 12, although pitching the first no-hitter of his illustrious career. And, instead, it has been Seaver who has developed into one of the game's outstanding pitchers.

The victory was his fifth in a row and gave him a 16-8 record for the year. He also lowered his earned-run average to 1.92, best in the National League, and struck out seven, increasing his league-leading total to 233.

Meanwhile, San Diego's Dave Roberts, National League runner-up in ERA, fired a five-hitter as the Padres defeated Cincinnati Reds 3-1. Pittsburgh outslug Philadelphia Phillies 10-7. Los Angeles Dodgers walloped Philadelphia Phillies 9-2. San Francisco Giants blanked Atlanta Braves 4-0, and Chicago Cubs topped Montreal Expos 5-2 after losing the completion of a suspended game 11-2.

Last minute Theismann pass sparks Argo victory

EDMONTON (CP) — Joe Theismann threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to Mike Eben with 57 seconds left to play to give Toronto Argonauts a 16-15 victory over Edmonton Eskimos in a Canadian Football League interlocking game Wednesday night.

The six-point grab by Eben, a former Eskimo, wrapped up a stunning comeback that saw the Argonauts score 13 points in the last two minutes and 37 seconds of action.

Up to that point the Eskimos, working behind a strong defence, appeared to have sewn the game up with a 14-3 margin fashioned on a touchdown by Bob Humard and Dave Cutler's two field goals, single and convert.

Visions of Edmonton's second victory in seven games brought 22,261 fans to their feet, but it was not to be as Theismann, the Argonauts all-American signal-caller, finally put the Toronto offence into higher gear.

Theismann began to pass, 26 yards to Mel Profit, seven to Leon McQuay, 18 to Profit and 13 to Dave Cranmer. Bill Symonds slammed one yard for a touchdown and the score was 15-9.

Larry Lawrence tried to move Edmonton out of danger with a pass, but it was intercepted by Argos Dave Raimey at the Eskimos' 47-yard line.

Intent on avoiding Toronto's second straight defeat, coach Leo Cahill gave up on the two-quarterback system for the first time this season. Normally Theismann and Greg Barton alternate for Toronto, but this time Cahill decided to stay with Theismann.

It proved to be the right move, as Theismann passed to Profit for 23 yards, to Dave Thornton for 11 and to Eben for the touchdown. Ivan MacMillan, who earlier had kicked a field goal, was good with the convert to make the count 16-14.

Indians, Red Sox in rubber tonight

SHERBROOKE — A pair of whitewashings has told the story up to now but the final chapter will unfold tonight as the Red Sox and Indians meet in the third and deciding game of the Sher-Lenn Little League final.

Last night at the Amedee Roy Stadium, the Indians avenged a 1-0 setback Tuesday by deadlocking the best-of-three series with a 1-0 win.

The Indians, coached by Denis Gosselin, notched the only tally of the game in the fifth frame and then rested on the strength of hurler Jean Grenier's three-hitter.

Grenier, a southpaw, issued three walks while fanning three to post the victory. His mound opponent, Richard Bergeron was providing fans with an exciting pitcher's duel before he had to be lifted in the fourth inning because of shoulder stiffness.

Up to this point, Bergeron had allowed a single hit while walking only one. He was relieved by Donald Dupre, who took the loss despite limiting the Indians to two hits the rest of the way.

Maurice Chouinard scored the winning run when he reached safely on a fielder's choice, advanced to second on a passed ball and came home on Richard Menard's double.

The Tribe's two other hits were provided by Claude Grenier and Denis Caya while Red Sox safeties went to Benoit Halle and Denis Gagnon and Richard Bergeron.

Tonight's deciding match will be contested at the Stadium beginning at 6 p.m.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

We almost made it through the year without mentioning that dreaded nemesis, the shank. That's the horrible-looking shot that squirts off at a 90-degree angle and makes the strongest man break out in a bluish.

More common is the half-shank, which sees the ball—varoom toward a playing partner or a tree. I've done it myself recently, and it's no fun. Out on the tour, nobody ever mentions shanking. It's that awful.

But you have to understand a shank to kill one, so let's discuss it. Ironically, it's the closest thing to a perfect shot there is. The closer to the shaft you hit a shot, the more solid it will be. Up to a point.

The shank is caused by bad balance. Usually you will be up on your toes at impact, trying to kill the ball, your rhythm and tempo destroyed because you're swinging too hard.

To correct this condition, concentrate on keeping your weight back, and on not over-swinging. Don't get up on your toes and don't let your head and upper body slide past the ball as you make contact. Then you'll stop shanking.

And now let's not mention it again for another year.

Orioles' Cuellar tames Hub's Green Monster

Mike Cuellar's pitching baffled Boston Red Sox with a six-hitter Wednesday night as Baltimore Orioles coasted to an 8-2 victory.

It was his first ever in Boston's cozy Fenway Park, making him a winner in every American League stadium.

Cuellar says he's pretty sure he's won in every National League park, too—if you don't count San Diego and Montreal which didn't come into the majors until 1969, the year Cuellar came to Baltimore after four seasons in Houston.

In Wednesday night's other American League action, Chicago White Sox beat Minnesota Twins 2-0 in 11 innings. Milwaukee Brewers edged Kansas City Royals 3-2, Detroit Tigers nipped Cleveland Indians 4-3, Oakland Athletics topped California Angels 7-0 and, in an afternoon game, Washington Senators zipped New York Yankees 2-0.

Left-handers, intimidated by the "Green Monster," the short left field wall, generally fare poorly at Fenway. And Cuellar was no exception. But, he recalled, "When I came out here tonight, I said to myself: 'Well, I've got to win one here sometime!'"

Wilbur Wood, the White Sox' knuckleballing reliever-turned-starter, and Bert Blyleven duelled through nine scoreless innings but neither was around when the game ended. Carlos May's pop-fly single and Walt Williams' sacrifice fly off Bob Gebhardt of the Twins won it for Bart Johnson. It was a reversal of Tuesday's outcome when Gebhardt beat Johnson.

Ellie Rodriguez slammed a double off Royals reliever Tom Burgmeier in the bottom of the ninth and scampered home on Bob Heise's single to centre field with two way for the brewers' victory.

Ike Brown, playing in place of Detroit's slugging Willie Horton, picked up his 26th hit of the season—but it was his seventh homer, a three-run shot that barely cleared the right field fence to help Les Cain defeat the Indians.

Czech upsets no. 1 seed in U. S. Open

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jan Kodes, a curly-haired Czech with an aversion for grass, stunned the United States Open tennis championships with a first-round victory over top-seeded John Newcombe of Australia Wednesday, and admitted no one was more surprised than himself.

"I only wanted to win one set and I won three," Kodes said after upsetting Newcombe, reigning Wimbledon champion and No. 1 ranked player in the world, 2-6, 7-6, 7-6, 6-3.

"I only play on grass twice a year—at Wimbledon and Forest Hills—and I don't play much then. I usually get knocked out in the first round."

"Grass is very difficult. I think the game on grass is a joke."

Newcombe was sluggish and badly off form. "I played lousy," he said.

Elimination of Newcombe took some more lustre from this 12-day tournament, already dulled by the withdrawal of Rod Laver and the defection of such stars as defending champion Ken Rosewall, Tony Roche and Ken Emerson.

But it threw the men's field wide open and buoyed the hopes of American players Stan Smith, Arthur Ashe, Clark Grabner, Cliff Richey and Marty Riessen.

Ashe, seeded No. 3, winner of the inaugural U.S. Open in 1968, passed his opening test easily, turning back Dick Knight of Bellevue, Wash., 6-3, 6-4, 6-1.

Smith, from Pasadena, Calif., puts his No. 2 seeding on the line today against Raul Ramirez of Mexico.

FACES SOUTH AFRICAN

Riessen, No. 5, of Evanston, Ill., goes against Brian Gottfried of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Grabner, No. 7, of New York faces Fred McMillan of South Africa.

Billie Jean King of Long Beach, Calif., top-seeded women's player, makes her debut against Tory Ann Fretz of Los Angeles as 16 women matches and 32 men's tests complete the first round.

Billie Jean's chief rival and long-time companion, Rosemary Casals of San Francisco, beat a rugged Betty Stove of The Netherlands 6-3, 2-6, 6-3. Judy Dalton of Australia, No. 6, crushed Vicki Berner of Vancouver 6-0, 6-1. Julie Heldman of New York, No. 8, ousted Marjorie Gangler of Locust Valley, N.Y., 6-4, 6-3.

One of the major surprises in the ladies' division was the one-sided defeat of Kristy Pigeon of Danville, Calif., injured Wightman Caprice, by Janet Newberry of La Jolla, Calif., 6-0, 6-2.

Pancho Gonzalez, 43, delighted a first-day gallery of 8,000 at the West Side Tennis Club by outlasting Bob Kreiss of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-7, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Newcombe's quick exit marked the first time in 41 years that a top-seeded player had been beaten in the first round of these championships. Jean Borotra of France, No. 1 foreign seed in 1930, lost to Berkeley Bell.

Birdie putt gives Doucet Open win

FREDERICTON (CP) — Duke Doucet of Windsor Mills, Que., tapped in a two-foot birdie putt on the final green here Wednesday to score a one-shot victory in the $2,250 Elm City Chrysler Open Golf tournament.

Doucet, who opened the 36-hole tournament with a 71 Tuesday, came in with a three-over par 73 to post a 144 total and pick up first place prize money of $725.

Finn Sorenson of Edmonton, who opened with a 75 and closed with a 69, had a 145 total and took second place money of $400. The third-place prize of $300 went to Jim Morton of Daytona Beach, Fla., who finished at 146.

First round leader Lou Beatty, a 53-year-old amateur from Woodstock, N.B., carded 81 Tuesday. He finished in a tie for seventh with Kees Huibers of Campbellton at 148 and lost the tournament's amateur title to Huibers in a three-hole playoff.
