DE VALERA REFUSES OFFER OF CONFERENCE

BRITAIN FEARS A TURKISH MASSACRE IN ASIA MINOR

MUNICIPAL STRIKE IN QUEBEC ENDS IN WIN FOR OFFICIALS

Men to Return to Work on Terms Offered by City

INCREASE IN PAY

Wage Scale Now from $18 to $26 a Week—Depends Upon Service

QUEBEC, Que., June 29—(Canadian Press.)—The strike of the municipal firemen and policemen here ended at noon.

Mayor Samson, announcing the end of the strike, stated that the men had agreed to return to duty on the conditions sumbitted to them by the city, and which were based on the report of a board of arbitration which recently enquired into the demands of the men for increases in pay.

The men will get increases in pay of 75 cents and $1 a week, according to length of service. The wage scale of the firemen and police now runs from $18 to $26 per week.

Policemen and firemen are already in uniform and an inspection will be held at 5 o'clock. A dicipline committee is considering each case and at the last minute men have obtained an appeal tribunal composed of Judge Choquette, two city representatives and one of their own number to which those rejected may appeal.

MAYOR'S STATEMENT.

Mayor Samson made the following official statement to The Star:

"The strike is over and the firemen as well as the police are returning to work in a few minutes. The time limit which we gave them has expired but we are willing to extend it so that the affair may be satisfactorily settled."

The Mayor added that no man against whom any charge of depredation would be proven would be accepted back and that, therefore, it was impossible to state at present how many men would have to be replaced.

MESSAGE FROM STRIKERS.

At noon today Chief Trudel got a telephone message from the strikers' headquarters at the Bourse du Travail, to the effect that all his men were reporting for duty, and that they would be at the city hall in a short time.

In view of this move on the part of the strikers, it was decided to extend the reporting period for a few hours, so as to allow the goodwill of the policemen to be tested.

The men reporting will not, however, be accepted without a new examination. Many of them will be rejected and replaced by strike-breakers.

The terms of the city have been accepted in full by that section of the strikers, and by this evening 140 men, which is the usual strength on duty, will be uniformed and ready to look after the protection of citizens. It is understood that at least thirty former policemen will be rejected, and all the others will have to sign a declaration that they will not go out on any other strike.

FIRST ARREST.

The first arrest made by a special constable, sworn in since the strike, was made this morning, when a man charged with causing disorder was apprehended and brought before the Recorder's Court. Other arrests of pickpockets had previously been made, but by the municipal detectives, who were not on strike.

At 12.30 p.m. three of the firemen's strike leaders called on Fire Chief Donnelly and it was semi-officially announced that the men were also coming back.

SABOTAGE DISCOVERED.

Further cases of sabotage in connection with the strike have been discovered here. While testing harness in one of the stations volunteer firemen replacing the strikers discovered that it had been cut with a knife. A further examination of the fire fighting apparatus revealed the fact that the contents of some of the chemical extinguishers had been poured out.

All the strikers arrested by the police have been released without bail. No date has been set for the hearing of their cases, but they have been advised that they are liable to be ordered to court at any time.

Last night and this morning there were rumors that volunteer firemen were to be assaulted by sympathizers of the strikers. The city authorities were prepared to read the riot act and use the military to protect the volunteers. This was not found to be necessary, however.

ANOTHER ATTEMPT TO STOP SATURDAY BOUT

JERSEY CITY, N.J., June 29.—Rev. Harry B. Wyatt, representing the Clergymen's Community Club of Jersey City, today laid before Prosecutor Garvan a bill of complaint to stop the Dempsey-Carpentier bout here Saturday.

A letter accompanying the Bill charged the principals and the promoters with conspiring to "pervert the boxing or sparring law and also to violate the Crimes Act prohibiting prize fights." H. C. Gilson, of counsel for the clergymen, said affidavits had been submitted and witnesses were prepared to appear before the grand jury or to testify in whatever action the prosecutor may take.

Assistant Prosecutor James F. Clark told Mr. Gilson to produce his affidavits and witnesses before the grand jury Friday afternoon. He assured the attorney the matter would be given a fair and impartial hearing.

Mr. Gilson intimated that should the indictment be returned, as asked, the procedure would be to arrest those named, hold them without bail, and thus prevent the fight.

Mr. Garvan stated that, while he did not believe that the fight promoters intended to violate the law, it was his duty to lay the matter before the grand jury.

FEAR MASSACRES IN ISMID BY TURKS; GREEKS EVACUATE

Announcement in British Commons by Harmsworth

POSITION OBSCURE

Allies Taking Steps to Prevent Massacre, it is Announced

LONDON, June 29.—The position on the Ismid Peninsula in Asia Minor, where the Greek and Turkish Nationalist forces are opposed to each other, is obscure, Cecil B. Harmsworth, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, stated in the House of Commons today.

Information received this morning, however, he added, was that the town of Ismid had been evacuated by the Greeks and was burning, with the result that there was great panic in the district.

Mr. Harmworth said there was danger of a considerable massacre and the Allied representatives were taking steps to prevent such an occurrence.

FAYOLLE MISSION REACHES CAPITAL

Presentation of Rodin's Bust in Parliament Buildings

OTTAWA, June 29.—(By Canadian Press).—The French Mission, headed by Marshal Fayolle, reached Ottawa at half past twelve today.

The visitors were welcomed at Central Station by Right Hon. C. J. Doherty, Minister of Justice and acting Prime Minister; Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Opposition Leader, and by members of the Canadian Government.

A special guard of honor from the 38th Ottawa Highlanders presented arms as Marshal Fayolle stepped off the train. The large concourse of Central Station and the streets were thronged with hundreds of persons. Immediately after the ceremony at the station, the members of the mission were escorted to the Chateau Laurier. They are being tendered an informal lunch there this afternoon by the members of the Government.

The presentation of Rodin's bust, La France Reconnaissante (grateful France) will be made in the railway committee room of the House of Commons this afternoon at 3:30. Marshal Fayolle will present the bust which will be received on behalf of the Government by Hon. Mr. Doherty. Hon. Mr. King will also take part in this ceremony.

After the presentation the members of the mission will be taken on a motor drive to the Experimental Farm and will be the guests of the Government at a state dinner at the Country Club this evening.

FRANCO-SPANISH NOTES EXCHANGED

Spain Protests Regarding Concession Granted by Turkish Sultan

PARIS, June 29. — (Associated Press.)—The Spanish Government has sent to France a note protesting against a concession at the port of Tangier which was granted by the Turkish Sultan before the war to an international corporation. Austro-German interests were ceded to France by the Treaty of Versailles, and this country now possesses 53 per cent. of the stock in the corporation against 20 per cent. held by Great Britain and Spain, says the Petit Parisien.

The newspaper declares France will not enter into a discussion bearing upon the right of the Sultan to grant the concession.

ST. JOHN RAILWAY CO COMPLETELY TIED UP

Men Claim a Lockout—Company Declares it is a Strike

ST. JOHN, N.B. June 29—As a result of a break in relations between the New Brunswick Power Company and its employes, not a wheel turned over the street railway lines in the city today, the company's gas plant is idle and the power house is being operated by a relief crew. Following the decision of the car men's union last night not to accept the offer of the company regarding wages the men reported for work as usual this morning, but found the company had decided not to operate its cars today.

While the company claims that the men are on strike, officials of the union said this morning that it was a lockout.

Perry W. Thomson, the company's general manager, said today that while the gas works were idle, they would remain so only until sufficient protection was offered for the men who were available to put it in operation again.

While it is not anticipated that the lighting circuits of the city will be shut off, the power house of the company is not working at full capacity, and as a consequence many industries operating by electricity may be forced to cease operations.

HARDING WOULD HAVE CONGRESS FAVOR WORLD DISARMAMENT

WASHINGTON, June 29—It is "wholly desirable" to have the expression of a favorable opinion on the part of Congress relating to world disarmament and "it would seem to me ample if it should be expressed in the broadest and most general terms," President Harding wrote today to Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the Republican leader in the House.

"I am vastly more concerned with the favorable attitude of the Congress than I am to the form of expressing that attitude," the President added. "You may be sure that the executive will be ready to give consideration to such expression as the members of the two Houses of Congress find themselves disposed to make."

ONE MILLION IN INTEREST TO U.S.

Amount Due May 15—Funding Negotiations With Great Britain

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Approximately one billion dollars interest was owed the United States by European debtor nations up to about May 15, Treasury officials told the Senate finance committee today in explaining the Administration Bill to give the Secretary of the Treasury broad authority in funding the Allied debts. Assistant Secretary Wadsworth placed the amount of interest due at $943,534,750.

Secretary Mellon told the committee that no suggestion has been made that the United States accept German reparation bonds as substitutes for the Allied obligations and declared that the Treasury had no intention of inviting any such proposal.

Mr. Mellon said the only funding negotiations entered into were with Great Britain and that they had been of a preliminary nature.

RADIO-CONTROLLED SHIP VS. 'PLANES

WASHINGTON, June 29. — Army and navy air scout planes established contact with the radio-controlled battleship Iowa at 10.45 a.m. today, off the Virginia coast.

Telephonic reports to the Navy Department from the commandant of the air service station at Hampton Roads, said all the army and navy aircraft assigned for the attack had left the shore stations at 11.25 a.m.

The Iowa was found approaching the mainland after she had been under way nearly two hours. The scouts having established contact, the bombing craft were expected soon to begin their attack with dummy bombs.

VAST TURCO-BOLSHEVIK PLOT DISCOVERED IN CONSTANTINOPLE

CONSTANTINOPLE, June 29.—(Associated Press.)—A Turco-Bolshevik plot of vast proportions has been discovered by the Allied authorities here, it was announced today. Numerous arrests have been made, including the alleged ringleader of the movement, a man named Augenblick.

INTERFERENCE OF DE VALERA SPOILS IRISH LOAN IN U.S.

Indications of Marked Dissension in Sinn Fein Ranks

DIPLOMATIC AGENT

"President's" Arrest Looked on as Serious Blunder in England

LONDON, June 29.—(By Sidney R. Thatcher, Special Cable to Montreal Star and Philadelphia Ledger. Copyright.)—The constant personal interference of Eamon De Valera with his representatives in the United States, particularly in regard to finance, killed the prospects for the success of the $20,000,000 Irish loan next year, in the opinion of James O'Mara, formerly Sinn Fein "diplomatic agent" in the United States.

O'Mara considered De Valera's proposal to members of the American Association for recognition of the Irish Republic for a dollar or two dollar contribution for running expenses a great mistake, in view of the fact that "there is nearly $3,000,000 lying idle here and at the disposal of your government."

O'Mara then advised De Valera to "promptly send someone to this country who has your confidence, if such a person exists, and, having done so, do not constantly interfere with his work," and resigned.

MISTAKE TO ARREST HIM.

De Valera's arrest last week is looked upon here as a serious blunder, in that it created an unfavorable atmosphere for Premier Lloyd George to call for a conference and admittedly he was taken into custody by troops which had not been properly informed. Dublin Castle, however, was happy to get a mass of correspondence which was seized in the house where the "president" was made prisoner. It is this correspondence that shows that ever since De Valera's return to Ireland he insistently has been pressing his representatives in America to get money and was continually admonishing them to cut down operating expenses in the United States.

"Munitions and money are our greatest needs," he told O'Mara in one letter. The plan of campaign in America much of which evidently was intrusted to O'Mara is:

PLAN OF CAMPAIGN.

"First to examine the state of our finances in the United States and also the possibility of raising a further loan in the autumn of next Year.

"Second, to secure American agents for the Irish Land Bank.

"Third, to consider the project of a credit bank from the American side and to interest wealthy Americans in the project if possible.

"Fourth, to devise schemes and assist in an American boycott of English financial and commercial interests, particularly to examine how the question of English indebtedness to the United States might be used as a lever in our interest.

"Fifth, to see to the building up of the system of communications through which despatches and material may be sent with increased safety between the two countries.

"Sixth, to examine the possibility of the United States from the point of view of supplying material to the Minister of Defense."

FUND OF $3,000,000.

It was on April 24 that O'Mara wrote that there was a three million dollar Sinn Fein fund in America but there is no evidence here that amounted to anything like that and it is believed O'Mara either was badly informed or over-stated his case in his irritation over De Valera's interference.

A copy of another letter written by Michael Collins, which has fallen into Government hands, shows the Sinn Fein army leader also is disgruntled over lack of funds. In it he complains that some White Cross funds were being controlled by "certain of the clergy" which precluded the Irish Republican Army from sequestering them.

NOT GUILTY SAYS MRS. CLARA PERRY

YARMOUTH, N.S., June 29. — "I am not guilty," declared Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Perry, when charged with the murder of her husband, Capt. George Henry Perry before Mr. Justice Meltish, in the Supreme Court here this morning.

Her answer to the charge was clear and distinct, and despite the roar of a torrential rain which beat upon the roof of the curling rink where the trial is being held, it could be heard by every one of the great crowd of spectators that thronged the building. The work of empanelling a jury was speedily completed.

THINK FOCH WILL COME TO CANADA

OTTAWA, June 29.—It is practically certain that Marshal Foch, commander-in-chief of the Allied armies in the late war, will be a guest and speaker at the Great War Veterans' convention, which is to be held the latter part of September.

The Marshal has notified Secretary Lemuel Bolles of the American Legion that he will be present at the Legion convention which is to be held around the end of October, and it is not thought that any difficulty will arise to prevent his coming to Canada.

REJECT WAGE CUT

Metal Workers Against Railroad Board's Decision

CHICAGO, June 29—(United Press) Railroad shop metal workers, meeting here, have rejected the 12 per cent wage cut made effective July 1 by the United States Railroad Labor Board, according to unofficial advices received today. Tabulation of the vote is not complete, but shows that the majority of the workers favor rejecting the wage cut, according to reliable sources.

PREMIERS DISLIKE ANGLO-JAPANESE MILITARY TREATY

London Despatch Says Alliance to Become Merely An Understanding

MEIGHEN LEADS

Gen. Smuts Goes Farther, Opposing All Special Alliances

LONDON, June 29. — (By Grattan O'Leary, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.)—The Anglo-Japanese alliance is not to be renewed in its present form. Although the discussion of the Treaty by the Conference of British Premiers has just begun that much has already been made abundantly clear.

It is true that Right Hon. Arthur Balfour and Lord Curzon, the only members of the Conference thus far who have dealt with the subject used due diplomatic caution in their speeches, but according to information which may be regarded as authoritative, they left a clear impression that while the British Government would like to have some form of understanding with Japan, it is not inclined to continue the present purely military agreement.

Inasmuch, therefore, as Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Premier of Canada, and General Smuts, Premier of British South Africa, will strongly urge against an alliance of any kind, but will advocate a British-American-Japanese understanding instead, the clear prospect is that if the alliance is renewed at all it will be little more than a shadow of its former self.

Premier Meighen was the first speaker when the conference met today. He had prepared a stated case against the alliance which it is understood, will be circulated in the Conference only as a confidential document. General Smuts, who is to follow, will support Meighen and will, in all likelihood, attack the whole foreign policy of special alliances, and will urge instead a mutual understanding with nations through moral and intellectual sympathy.

The discussion of Premier Meighen's four principles respecting what ought to constitute the voice of the Dominions in the foreign policy of the Empire, as already cabled, arrived at no definite conclusion. It is understood that Premier Lloyd George, while frankly subscribing to all four propositions, presented the suggestion that the demand that the advice of the Dominions on all matters exclusively affecting them be final, might possibly lead to complications and would have the effect of dividing the Empire into watertight compartments, so far as the foreign policy was concerned. Further than that nothing was said or done that could be regarded as definite.

The conference late yesterday took the first definite action when a section of it, meeting under the chairmanship of the Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, appointed a sub-committee to investigate proposals for keeping British emigrants of good class within the Empire. The tentative plan is for the British Parliament to vote ten million dollars to aid such emigration, and the Dominions to vote a like amount between them. This proposal has been turned over to the sub-committee on which Canada is represented, by Sir George Perley. A report is to be made by the sub-committee to the conference within the next ten days.

Owing to the heavy domestic troubles demanding the attention of Lloyd George, the conference is proceeding slowly.

Premier Meighen yesterday, however, urged greater speed. The result of the by-election in Medicine Hat has propably confirmed the Canadian Premier in his determination to sail for home about July 21.

U. S. PRESS COMMENT.

NEW YORK, June 29.—(Canadian Press).—"The Canadian Premier has sketched out a political constitution for the Empire which gives the Dominions a really national standing," says the New York Tribune today in commenting on the speech of Premier Meighen before the Imperial Conference.

"Mr. Meighen's propositions put Lloyd George's phrases to the test," the article continues. "If they are accepted as a logical deduction from the British Premier's assertions, the Imperial Conference at London will mark a material modification of the structure of the British Empire, enhancing it's value as a moderating influence in International politics."

After noting the four propositions to govern relations between the self-governing colonies and Great Britain, the Tribune says:

"The Canadian Premier has thus sketched out a political constitution for the Empire which gives the Dominions a really national standing. They become self-governing in foreign relations as well as in domestic affairs. No one questions the autonomy of the Dominions within their own boundaries. The Geneva League accepts them as equals in the family of nations. But, as Premier Hughes told the Australian House of Representatives last spring, the Dominions have not yet been admitted to partnership in the British Treaty-making power. Without such partnership full nationality will still be denied them, for their relations to the other members of the League and to States outside the League may be determined by a sovereignty superior to their own, pursuing policies with which they do not sympathize."

WATER SHORTAGE THREATENS PARIS

PARIS, June 29. Owing to the protracted drought Paris is menaced with a shortage of water, as the rivers Seine and Marne are extremely low, and are just barely supplying the 400,000 cubic meters of water necessary for Paris' daily consumption.

The municipal council discussed the matter today, and decided to ask bids for plans to supply Paris with water from the Loire as soon as possible.

SINN FEIN PRESIDENT CLAIMS LIMITATIONS PREVENT CONFERENCE

Dublin Despatch Declares Sinn Fein Must Meet Lloyd George Without Unreasonable Demands or Lose Confidence of Irish People—Craig Declines Preliminary Conference

LONDON, June 29.—(Bulletin)—Eamonn de Valera, the Irish Republican leader, in a letter to Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, says that the proposal of the Prime Minister, Mr. Lloyd George, for a conference in London between representatives of southern and northern Ireland and the British Government, owing to its limitations, is impossible of acceptance in its present form.

DUBLIN, June 29.—(By C. H. Bretherton, to Montreal Star and Philadelphia Ledger. Copyright.)—Great pressure is being brought to bear upon Eamonn De Valera and his colleagues to accept Lloyd George's invitation to a conference, both by the Nationalist press and the Catholic Church, and opinion in Dublin is growing that acceptance without impossible conditions is imperative if the Sinn Fein leaders desire to retain the confidence of the Irish people, who greatly desire a settlement.

De Valera's difficulty is to frame some acceptable condition which will enable him to go to Westminster other than on equal terms with Sir James Craig and as the representative of Southern Ireland only. Actual acceptance of less than a republic by the Sinn Fein cabinet on their own responsibility need not be expected, and whether they will agree to submit proposals to the Dail Eireann depends on the decision of the Central Council of the Irish Republican Brotherhood.

CRAIG UNABLE TO MEET SUGGESTION OF IRISH LEADER FOR EARLY CONFERENCE

BELFAST, June 29 — (Associated Press) — Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, declined today the invitation extended him by Eamonn de Valera, the Irish Republican leader to meet de Valera in Dublin. The invitation was contained in a letter to the Ulster Premier and four other eminent Irishmen outside of de Valera's party, asking them to meet him at the Mansion House in Dublin on Monday for a conference.

The other men invited by the Republican leader were Earl Midleton, Sir Maurice Dockrell, member of Parliament of the Rathmines division of Dublin county, a Unionist supporter of the coalition Government except as to its Irish policy of home rule; Sir Robert Henry Woods, member of Parliament for Dublin University and Andrew Jameson. It was stated that de Valera wished to learn from them at first hand the views on the Irish question of certain sections of the people they represent.

In his reply to the Republican leader's invitation, Sir James said:

"It is impossible for me to arrange any meeting. I have already accepted the Prime Minister's invitation to the London conference."

It was announced later that Sir Robert Woods had accepted de Valera's invitation.

The answer of Sir James Craig added that he would publish telegrams in order to obviate a misunderstanding in the press between a namesake in the Southern Irish Parliament and himself. The theory advanced here is that de Valera's invitation to a conference was really sent to Professor Sir James Craig, of Dublin, but that, de Valera's attention being drawn to the confusion in names, he decided to fly at higher game.

UNITY A PREREQUISITE.

LONDON, June 29 — By John Steele, Montreal Star and Chicago Tribune. Copyright.) — Sir James Craig, Ulster Premier, after a meeting of his Cabinet in Belfast yesterday announced that he had accepted by letter Prime Minister Lloyd George's invitation to attend a conference in London in the near future looking to a settlement of the Irish controversy.

Although nothing definite was heard from Eamonn de Valera, "President of the Irish Republic" as to his acceptance or refusal of the invitation the Sinn Fein chieftain late despatched this letter to Mr. Lloyd George:

"I am consulting with such of the principal representatives as are available. We earnestly desire to help in bringing about a lasting peace between the peoples of these two islands, but see no avenue through which I can be reached if you deny Ireland essential unity.

"Before replying more fully to your letter I am seeking a conference with certain representatives of the political minority in this country."

OPINIONS DIVIDED.

It is the opinion in official London circles that a triangular peace parley between the Government and North and South Ireland will result from the Prime Minister's appeal, but opinion is divided as to the success of such conference, the weight leaning perhaps to the pessimistic side.

The same despatch which reached London declaring that de Valera had been in conference with Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, in his cell at Mount Joy prison, told of a raid by the military upon the offices in Dublin of "New Ireland," Griffith's newspaper. The offices and plant were wrecked, the despatch said.

It is declared in Belfast that Sir James Craig has already selected two of his colleagues to accompany him to London if a conference is arranged. They are H. M. Pollock, who is finance minister, and W. Archdale, Ulster's minister of agriculture.

SLIP STILLMAN INTO COURTHOUSE

Resumption of Hearing of N.Y. Banker's Divorce Suit

POUHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 29.—James A. Stillman early today was smuggled into the building here where his divorce suit is being heard.

Avoiding reporters, photographers and scandal fans, the former president of the National City Bank was believed to have entered through an areaway before dawn, climbing through a basement boiler room and through park passages and hiding himself in one of the offices of the building to await his call to testify.

Stillman's desire to avoid publicity prompted him to slip quietly into Poughkeepsie and to enter the building before daylight. The banker's friends declared he would not leave the building until after dark, helping thus to avoid newspaper and cameramen.

Throughout the morning it was said Stillman would not appear until tomorrow. All the time he was hidden away, quietly awaiting a call to answer some of the 200 questions prepared for him by John E. Mack, guardian for baby Guy Stillman, whose legitimacy Stillman questions.

BYNG TO LAND AT HALIFAX ON AUG. 11

HALIFAX, June 29.—Lord Byng, of Vimy, the new Governor-General of Canada, will land at Quebec August 11 from the Empress of Britain, according to advices received here by the Halifax Board of Trade, who had requested, through Hon. F. B. McCurdy, that Canada's new Governor-General make his Canadian landing at Halifax.

MIKE McTIGUE WON.

NEW YORK, June 29.—(Canadian Press).—At the Commonwealth Sporting Club here last night, Jim Coffey won a decision over Pat Bolger in ten rounds. Mike McTigue scored an easy victory, sending Fred McKay to dreamland in the first round. Willie Bush, who substituted for Vic McLoughlin, won a decision over Young Ahearn in ten rounds.

TOLMIE DEFENDS CANADIAN CATTLE AT BRITISH INQUIRY

Tells Royal Commission Canada Herds are Free from Disease

LONDON, June 29.—(Star Cable by D. Hemming, copyright.)— "Canada earnestly seeks an alternative cattle market, the better to secure the independence of her producers," said the Hon. S. F. Tolmie, appearing today before the Royal Commission to inquire into the British embargo against cattle from overseas. "The interests of the Mother Country and the Dominion of Canada are identical. The more fresh beef produced within the United Kingdom the less trade will remain under the domination of foreign meat interests."

Mr. Tolmie's evidence contained many new lights upon this well worn controversy. He dwelt at length upon the methods of preventing diseased cattle from the United States from contaminating Canadian herds. The difficulties consequent upon the existence of a boundary some 3,900 miles in length, he showed, is greatly reduced by the fact that contained in this boundary are fully 1,700 miles of waterways and several hundred miles of inaccessible mountainous country.

EFFICIENCY IS PROVED.

The efficiency of the Dominion's regulations are shown by the records which prove that no foot and mouth disease exists or has existed since 1884 when two cases were brought into the Dominion and in both instances these came from Great Britain.

Mr. Tolmie suggested that the Commission discuss reasonable measures for the further protection of the traffic over the boundary into Canada, which he thought, might include the branding of imported cattle, the establishment of a cattle institute and a rigid system of inspection of export cattle.

BRILLIANT FIGURE OF BRILLIANT ERA

Talents, Wit, Beauty Made Lady Randolph "Prima Inter Pares"

THRICE MARRIED

Died of Heart Failure at Sixty-seven Years of Age

LONDON, June 29. — (Associated Press) — Lady Randolph Churchill, who was Miss Jennie Jerome, of New York, died here today. She recently underwent an operation on her right foot which was injured in a fall down a flight of steps. She married Lord Randolph Churchill, second son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough and one of Great Britain's most influential political leaders of his day in 1874.

Lady Randolph Churchill's death occurred suddenly from heart failure, following a hemorrhage. Her son, Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary of State for the Colonies, was with her at the end.

Lady Randolph Churchill was born 67 years ago. She was the daughter of the late Leonard Jerome, of New York.

Lady Randolph Churchill was born an American and, as she has always kept some ties with the United States, she was probably better known to American women than any other woman in the British aristocracy. She was a politician, a musician, an editor, a writer, an artist, an amateur actress of distinction and had figured largely in the career of her son, the Right Hon. Wilston Churchill, M.P., the present Secretary of State for the Colonies.

Lady Randolph Churchill had been married three times. She was Miss Jennie Jerome, daughter of the late Leonard Jerome, of New York. In 1874 she married Lord Randolph Churchill, third son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, having met him in France while on a trip around the world on her father's yacht. She became interested in politics and her husband was soon one of the most successful of British politicians. He was a leader in the House of Commons until shortly before his death in 1895.

Five years later Lady Randolph Churchill caused a sensation in London society by marrying Lieutenant George Cornwallis-West, a son of one of her closest friends and a friend of her son, Winston Churchill. There was a great difference in their ages, Mr. Cornwallis-West being much the younger. The marriage did not result happily and in 1914 a sensation only second to that of the marriage was caused by the divorce obtained by Mrs. Cornwallis-West, who resumed her name of Lady Randolph Churchill. On the day the decree was granted, Mr. Cornwallis-West was married to Mrs. Pat Campbell, the actress.

Lady Randolph Churchill's third marriage, which took place in London on June 1, 1918, was to Mr. Montagu Porch, an officer in the British Army, attached to the Nigerian Government and a member of an old English family. Lady Randolph Churchill was always known as a woman of wit and humor, and some of her writings have been clever satires of English life. She had several plays produced and was at one time proprietor and editor of the Anglo-Saxon Review. She also published her reminiscences and several essays. One of her books published during the Great War dealt with the part played in it by women. She also interested herself in a number of war charities and organizations as she did during the South African campaign, when she took charge of the hospital ship Maine.

Craig Unable to Meet Suggestion of Irish Leader

Downing Street expects de Valera's next move to be a request for a truce, and it has been authoritatively stated that this would be granted readily, for in such a truce England sees a test of the power of the moderate Sinn Fein element to restrain the "gunmen."

Pending negotiations the Government has decided to suspend execution of all men now under sentence of death in Ireland.

IRELAND AND THE EMPIRE.

Speaking at a luncheon before the English-speaking union, Winston Churchill, Minister of the Colonies, declared:

"One of the gravest impediments to the growing unity of the English-speaking peoples for a long time has been the condition of affairs in Ireland.

"We have now reached a time in our history that is full of tragedy, but which at the same time is not without a growing light of hope.

"Another opportunity has been presented for Ireland to be rescued from her present terrible position and to be placed upon an honorable, free and enduring foundation.

"Lack of reason may dash the cup from Ireland's lips, but I will say this —the British people must not consider Ireland from the point of view of Irishmen alone, but must give Erin a very much larger and wider consideration, for its effect will spread beyond this United Kingdom to the most distant quarters of the globe."

SHOWING HIS CARDS.

BELFAST, June 29.—The choice of Eamonn de Valera, the Irish Republican leader, of the United States Independence Day for the proposed conference between representatives of Southern and Northern Ireland is stressed today by the Irish News of this city, a Nationalist journal, which expresses the hope that Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, will accept the invitation. It says representatives of Southern Ireland would probably be quite willing to do so.

The Northern Whig, Unionist, says the world at the present time is having an object lesson, not "in the essential unity of the north and south, but in their essential unlikeness."

"De Valera complains that the British Government has set aside the principle of national self determination," the Northern Whig says. "That he should still trot out that question, despite frequent exposure of the gross inconsistencies which in Ireland it has been employed to cloak and dissemble, suggests there is much probability of the Ethiopian getting a white skin or the leopard becoming spotless as of the Sinn Fein being influenced by counsels of sweet reasonableness. Ulster stands for self-determination. The Ulster Parliament and the Ulster Government are in being as a result of the logical application of that principle."

BLACK AND TANS.

LONDON, June 29.—(By A. E. Johnson, United News).— Immediate withdrawal of all Black and Tan forces from Ireland may be the price set by de Valera upon his willingness to confer with Lloyd George on the Irish problem.

From advices reaching here from Ireland, where the "president" of the Irish "republic" is now discussing the situation with his lieutenants, it is becoming apparent that de Valera is being urged, particularly by the more extreme faction, to establish the removal of the hated force as a condition to the peace conference.

A continuous interchange of unofficial "feelers" between members of the Government and Sinn Fein leaders, however, is in progress, although these exchanges may prove premature and abortive.

According to the Irish Office and the party dominated by Sir Hamer Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, withdrawal of the auxiliary troops under present conditions would be impossible unless the Sinn Feiners are willing, for their part, to surrender their arms.

It is generally believed that the result will be the establishment of a general truce, the Sinn Feiners voluntarily refraining from their harassing tactics, and the Black and Tans remaining, under government orders in barracks while the negotiations are proceeding.

At Dublin on Tuesday afternoon the southern Parliament was convoked in accord with the Parliamentary Home Rule Act. The convocation itself was a farce-comedy, since 128 Sinn Fein members of the Parliament had refused, in accord with their program, to participate in the ceremony.

Consequently, the affair developed in a "march" to the chamber, of four members representing Trinity College.

NO SINN FEINERS ATTEND.

DUBLIN, June 29.—The opening of the Southern Parliament yesterday afternoon lasted less than ten minutes. The function was purely a formal one, called to satisfy the statutory conditions of the Home Rule Act.

Lord Chief Justice Moloney and Charles O'Connor, Master of Rolls, represented the viceroy and read the proclamation summoning the assembly. Only a few members were present. These included four Imperialistic members of the Senate from Trinity College and fifteen others elected to that body. Nearly all the members of the Lower House are Sinn Feiners. They ignored the summons to attend. There was little public interest in the inauguration of the Parliament.

The proclamation said the reason for the King having summoned the Parliament would be announced when a sufficient number of its members were sworn in. It added that larger numbers of members of the lower House were necessary for the election of a speaker, but that a chairman should be chosen to direct the time and manner for the taking of the oath. A continuance of the Parliament could not be assured, it said, unless the oath was taken by one half the total membership within a fortnight.

Gill Fitzgibbon was elected chairman of the House of Commons, and Sir Nugent Everard, former Lord Lieutenant of County Meath, chairman of the Senate.

The Senators present consisted of a portion of the Viceroy's seventeen nominees. The remainder represented the protestant churches. Men belonging to public bodies who had declined nominations accorded them and the Lord Mayor's Senators and former officers did not attend.

After the inauguration Parliament adjourned to July 13.

REBELS CAPTURED.

CORK, June 29.—Commandant Leo Murphy of the Mid-Cork Brigade of the "Irish Republican Army," was shot dead yesterday in a military round-up at Waterfall, near here. Forty-five republicans were captured.

Murphy was wanted on charges in connection with several deaths and a kidnapping. The military surrounded a house in which Murphy was presiding over an "Irish Republican Army" battalion meeting. He escaped through the back door, but was killed after he had gone a hundred yards.

A quantity of arms and ammunition was seized.

PREMIER'S ANNOUNCEMENT.

LONDON, June 29.—Mr. Lloyd George, in announcing in the House of Commons late last night the receipt of a telegram from Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, expressing the willingness of himself and colleagues to attend a conference in London on the Irish question, added that he had not yet received a reply from Eamonn de Valera.

THREE PRISONERS RESCUED.

SLIGO, Ireland, June 29.—The jail here was broken into last evening and three prisoners were removed from it. The removal was effected despite the fact that the full military guard was inside the prison.

Churchill's Warning Anglo-Americans

LONDON, June 29. — (Special Star Cable.) — Making a plea for continued Anglo-American friendship, in speaking before the English-Speaking Union yesterday, Winston Churchill declared: "The joint advance of British-Australian and American troops in France on July 4, 1918, raised an impassible barrier to future quarrels between English-speaking peoples.

"We must never hesitate in our exertions to counteract the malicious and false-hearted people, who, while professing to be friends of the British Empire on one hand and of the United States on the other, are endeavoring to create divergencies between the two countries."

THE SOCIAL WORLD

Livingstone—Howard.

The marriage is taking place quietly this afternoon at St. George's church, of Miss Kathleen Howard, youngest daughter of Mrs. Robert Howard, The Linton, to Major J. Stanley Livingstone of Toronto. Following their wedding trip Major and Mrs. Livingstone will reside in Toronto.

Waterston—Longworth.

At five o'clock this afternoon the marriage will take place at St. George's Church, St. Anne de Belleville, Que., of Miss Dorothy A. Longworth, daughter of the late Col. J. A. Longworth and of Mrs. Longworth, of Montreal, formerly of Charlottetown, P.E.I., to Mr. Edward J. Waterston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Waterston, of Westmount. The ceremony will be performed by the Rev. C. F. Lancaster and the church is to be decorated by friends of the bride at McDonald College, of which the bride is a graduate, with a profusion of wild flowers. Mr. H. J. Palmer, K.C., of Charlottetown, P.E.I., will give his niece away and she will wear her travelling suit of navy blue tricotine, embroidered in grey and blue, a blue mohair hat, the crown encircled with an incurled ostrich feather of blue and grey, and she will carry a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Joan Longworth is attending her sister, as bridesmaid, wearing a gown of electric blue armourset, a black mohair picture hat, with trimming of blue flowers to match her gown and will carry pink sweet peas. Dr. C. Birchard is to be the best man. A reception will follow the ceremony at the home of the bride, 74a St. Famille street. Mrs. Longworth, mother of the bride, will wear black satin, with a black flower trimmed hat; Mrs. Waterston, mother of the groom, will wear a midnight blue duchess satin costume, and Mrs. H. J. Palmer, of Charlottetown, P.E.I., will be in black crepe de chine, and wear a black hat, with roses. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waterston, will spend July at Lake Massawippi, Que., where they have a cottage, and on their return will reside at 345 Clarke avenue, Westmount.

Whittall—Hall.

The marriage is taking place at four o'clock this afternoon, at the home of the bride's parents, 4544, St. Catherine street, Westmount, of Miss Doris Mabel Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Hall, to Mr. Norman R. Whittall, son of Mr. Henry Whittall, of Montreal. The Rev. Ellis Ireland will perform the ceremony. The bride, who will be given away by her father, will wear a gown of ivory satin made with a short scalloped skirt and embroidered with seed pearls. Her veil, arranged in fan effect, will be caught with orange blossoms, and she will carry a shower bouquet of Ward roses and white sweet peas. She will also wear the gift of the groom, a string of pearls. Miss Vera Hall, sister of the bride, will be maid of honor, wearing yellow organdie with inserts of lace, and a black mohair picture hat. Miss Olga Whittall, sister of the groom, will be bridesmaid, in pale pink charmeuse, with a black picture hat. Both attendants will carry bouquets of pink sweet peas tied with pink chiffon, and will wear the groom's gifts, pearl pins. Miss Olga Smith, niece of the groom, will act as flower girl, wearing a frock of white silk, and carrying a basket of marguerites and cut flowers. The groom's brother, Mr. Earl Whittall, will act as best man, and Miss Hazel Whittall will play the wedding music. Following the ceremony, a buffet supper will be served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Whittall will leave for their wedding trip up the Saguenay. The bride will wear going away a grey georgette dress with a large black mohair hat and a navy blue wrap. On their return they will reside in Montreal.

Thompson—Schofield.

At the First Presbyterian Church this morning at eight fifteen o'clock, the marriage took place of Miss Helen May Schofield, only daughter of Mrs. I. Schofield, to Mr. J. Bertram Thompson, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Thompson, both of Montreal. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Malcolm A. Campbell. The bride who was given away by her brother, R. E. Schofield, wore a navy blue tricotine costume embroidered in beads, pearl grey georgette hat trimmed with an ostrich bandeau to match, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia and sweetheart roses. She was attended by Miss Isabel Watt as bridesmaid, wearing a navy blue costume with a white satin hat and carrying a bouquet of Columbia roses and sweet peas. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. N. Thompson, as best man. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Thompson left for their wedding trip to the coast.

HIKERS HAVE HAD ENOUGH WALKING

Will Not Walk to Halifax—Pleasant Trip—Good Exercise

DREARY PRAIRIES

Could See Each Morning Their Evening's Destination

"Walk to Halifax in this weather? Not for a million dollars." In these words Mrs. Frank Dill answered an enquiry regarding the report that she and her husband, after having hiked from Halifax to Vancouver, were to abandon the railway for the high road on the last lap of their return journey. Her husband has also declined the invitation to enter a walking race from Montreal to Vancouver, and both were waiting at Bonaventure station for a train home when the Star representative met them.

"All the same, I would rather be walking than riding in the train," Mrs. Dill added as an afterthought, "but this weather spoils the pleasure of any form of travelling."

Starting from Halifax on February 1, the couple reached Vancouver on June 14, breaking the record for transcontinental hiking by covering the 3,360 miles in 134 days. In addition to this, Mrs. Dill created a new record of her own, being the first woman to make the journey across the continent on foot. Their average tramp, including days lost en route, worked out at 28 miles a day, while on some parts of the journey they covered 37 miles a day.

APATHETIC PRAIRIES.

Their journey, they declared, had been, on the whole, most agreeable, and interesting. The tramp across the prairie was certainly the dullest part of the journey. While quite ready to believe the prairie pleasant to those who cross it in a couple of days by rail, they found it monotonous tramping for weeks through the eternal plain. "You got up early in the morning, and you could see right in front of you the place, thirty-five miles away, where you were to spend the night. There was never any change and it gets wearisome seeing the same thing day after day and all day, especially when you practically never meet a soul to talk to." The prairie people, too, showed very little interest in their adventure. "You can't get them to take an interest in anything outside of horses and cattle and seed and crops and such like," Mrs. Dill remarked.

Apart from being lost in a snow storm soon after leaving Halifax, and being caught in a sandstorm out on the prairie, they had no extraordinary experiences to relate. They only had to sleep out one night during the whole journey, at Yale, where funds ran out temporarily and they had to spend the night on the station platform, and had to walk thirteen miles on empty stomachs the following morning before they could raise a breakfast. "We got scared at the hotels," they said. "We found some of them were ready to charge for the privilege of looking at them." Other hotels there were however, where they were welcomed as distinguished guests.

TOO DRY.

The severe liquor laws of some of the provinces they passed through did not assist them in their tramp. Brandy or whiskey before going to bed at night they consider the best thing in the world to help the long distance walker to keep in good form.

"On the whole, we had a splendid time," said Mr. Dill, "and I tell you, walking is the finest exercise you can get for keeping in good health." No better witness to this could be wished for than the picture of good health presented by the two hikers themselves. Garbed in brown riding breeches, loose shirt and a woollen sweater, the perfectly poised, lithe, athletic little figure, sparkling eyes and clear complexion of Mrs. Dill bore eloquent testimony to the efficacity of walking as a rival to cosmetics and beauty doctors, and Frank Dill's erect, muscular frame, unweighted by an ounce of superfluous fat, is as good an advertisement for any form of physical culture as could be wished for. "I don't mind walking in the heat," the latter remarked. "When perspiration runs out of me I'm happy, but I've done enough walking for a bit, and unless a substantial sum is put up for it, I'm not doing any more just now."

Dearest Peggy, my dear,
Imagine what I found when I got home! Dorcy had used up every dish in the place — had even started on the hand-painted china and cut-glass — and had them all piled neatly and in order on the kitchen table! But bless his old heart, he was a dear to let me go for so long anyway!
Housework didn't take long to make a mess of my hands again though, Peggy, even after all your thoughtful care. However, I rubbed some Campana's Italian Balm on last night, and I see a marvellous improvement already — it's fast, really! It certainly is a "balm" for housework worn hands.
Good-bye, honey,
As ever,
Marie

CORONER BELIEVES WITNESS KNOWS OF JOBIN'S MURDERER

Were Two Men in Store Few Minutes Before Murder Committed?—Man with Hard Hat and One with Cap Seen—Inquest Completed

That Georges Jobin was murdered in his Amherst street store on the evening of Saturday, May 14, by a person or persons unknown, was the verdict of the coroner's jury this morning. A rider stated that several persons might be able to identify the murderer. New witnesses were heard at the last hearing today, but failed to reveal the identity of the person who cut the furrier's throat and smashed his head.

An incident of this morning's investigation was Coroner McMahon's reprimand of a witness for his failure to reveal all that he knew at previous sittings.

"I understand that at previous hearings you did not mention the name of a certain man whom you have since informed the police you suspect of being the murderer," Coroner McMahon stated to Rodolphe Levesque, of 124b, Papineau avenue, an employe of Jobin at the time of the murder. "Why did you not do so?"

"I did not think of it at the time," Levesque stated.

"The way you have acted with the police leads me to believe that you know the murderer and that you are trying to shield him," was the coroner's accusation.

"I know absolutely nothing," Levesque quietly but emphatically replied.

WORE HARD HAT.

Evidence regarding the apparel worn by a strange man who was the last to be seen with Jobin on the night of the murder was given at today's hearing. Edmond Granger, a butcher of 288 Amherst street testified that he lived opposite the store where the furrier was murdered. About 7.02 or 7.03 on the evening of Saturday, May 14 he had gone to a grocer's store on the corner of the street to give an order. He was sure of the time because the grocer's store closed at 7 o'clock and the proprietor was just shutting his doors when he arrived. He saw Jobin and a stranger go into the furrier's store. The stranger wore a "hard" hat. He did not see the man very plainly but the individual was of large proportions. There was no light in the furrier's store and witness could not say whether the two men entered only the front part of the shop or whether they also went into the workroom. He did not see the stranger come out again. It was half-an-hour later that he heard of the crime.

Several witnesses, including Levesque and a former employe of Jobin as well as the murdered man's cousin, were shown to witness, but he stated that none of them resembled the man he had seen with Jobin. They were not so big as he. Witness knew Levesque and had seen him leave the store between 5 and 5.30 on the Saturday afternoon previous to the murder with a parcel under his arm.

Evidence that he saw his cousin Jobin with a man wearing a cap a few minutes before the crime must have been committed was given by Azerie Courtois, of 423 Duluth street.

Courtois said that he was going on the night of the murder to visit a friend living on Amherst street. It was about 7.20 when he passed Jobin's store. Jobin was stading at his door and witness stopped to talk with him. He noticed a man coming from a telephone in the store. He had a work-bag about eighteen inches long in his left hand. It struck him at the time that the man was a plumber. He was not wearing overalls but was in old working clothes and wore a cap.

Jobin said to the stranger, "Couldn't you get any answer?" The man replied in the negative and then walked over to a radiator and sat down on it.

Courtois said to his cousin, "Why don't you open the front door, it is very hot?"

"I always close at 7 o'clock," Jobin replied. "I sometimes leave the back door open."

Witness talked for about eight minutes with his cousin and then went to visit his friend, for whose home, he was originally bound. It was ten minutes later, while he was talking in this man's room that they noticed through the window that something had happened. They went outside and heard of the murder.

Levesque's evidence was to the effect that he had worked in Jobin's store until between 5 and 5.30 on the Saturday afternoon. He had seen a man there about 4 o'clock at the telephone, but this individual had not returned when he finished work. The man's name was Paul Trudel.

It was at this point that the Coroner criticized the witness.

George H. Maheux, of 1904b Ste. Marie street, said that he had a contract to keep Johbin's books. He had found since the murder that Jobin had received $25 from a man and $65 from a woman on the day of the murder. As the furrier must at the time have had about $100 in his cash box he should have had between $150 and $200 when the murder occurred.

DUTY OF POLICE.

Coroner McMahon told the jury that there would be no object in further prolonging the inquest. The work of finding the murderer, he said, was the police's duty. The court could do nothing but return a verdict that a person or persons unknown had murdered Jobin. The jury agreed and the verdict was accordingly drawn up and signed.

It was learnt after the inquest that Rodolphe Levesque recently told detectives working on the case that he had seen a man he named in the neighborhood of the store on the day of the murder. He suspected this man of the crime. Investigations showed that the man was not in any way connected with the murder.

"THE LOBBY" AND POLITICAL LAXITY

One of the foulest sources of personal corruption among our political representatives in this country has long been the Lobby.

A cynical and unscrupulous Lobby will invade the corridors of a Parliament or a Legislature and will proceed deliberately to buy such members on both sides of the House as are found to possess a prostitute's standard of political honor. They "buy" with all sorts of prices—party support, political preferment, help for friends, making their mercenaries back "pet" measures, whatever will pierce the vulnerable spot of those who fear "spot cash."

The Canadian people would be appalled if they knew the sordid details of this covered traffic in public virtue. Occasionally a quarrel among thieves or a chance discovery does uncover a small section of the malodorous moral cess-pool. Yet it is by no means the worst cases which are so exposed nor do the people get any idea from these sporadic eruptions of the enormous extent of the vile quagmire.

But the terrific consequences are all too plain. The country is looted like a conquered city. When a Lobby is powerful enough and prodigal enough and prodded into recklessness by the prospect of some fabulous booty to be captured, then it is astounding how it can open the hands of public men entrusted with the care of our revenues and resources while hermetically sealing the eyes and the lips of other public men whose duty it is to examine and criticise. They stake out claims on both the Government and the Opposition reservations. Under such circumstances, anything can be jammed through. The Lobbyists and the looters must be amazed at their own moderation.

There is just one safeguard against this systematic sacking of the country. And that is to put only men of impregnable honor and high character on guard.

It is idle to look to the Lobbyists to forebear. If one set of Lobyists or their masters become gorged, another mercenary army appears. The possible pickings are too fat to be resisted. We cannot hope to produce an entire population which will contain no men ready to trade in public honor in order that they may fatten on public franchises, public resources, public concessions and public privileges.

But we can surely find enough men to fill our Houses of Parliament and our Legislatures who can be trusted neither to steal themselves nor let anybody else steal. That ought to be elemental. Be they free traders or protectionists, easterners or westerners, "wet" or "dry," they ought to keep the fourth commandment.

If they will but do this resolutely, uncompromisingly and with an intelligent vigilance against the wiles of the evil-minded, they will effectively disarm the Lobby, so far as its sinister power to induce public dishonesty goes. The Lobby can still appeal to reason and supply information and fight with the weapons of the mind for measures which it desires to see pass. This can no more be prevented than we can prevent paid counsel from fighting in courts of justice for causes and men of whom we may or may not approve. Attempts have been made from time to time to drive out the Lobby by legislation. But it can always find refuge and do its work in the rotundas of hotels and even less reputable places. It is just as well, perhaps, to let it work under the eyes of the Parliamentarians and the Press in the halls from which it gets its name.

But the public man of tested integrity is immune from its most alluring temptation.

The double-barreled Lobby which goes gunning for Government and Opposition simultaneously, has done this country an immense amount of harm. How much of our crushing railway debt is due to this two-handed gun-practice, it would be impossible to estimate. But we can at any rate make sure that no man who has been connected in the public mind with these piratical operations shall ever again be elected to a position of public trust. If we cannot with certainty assess the future rectitude of any new men who may come forward or are brought forward to serve us in our representative bodies, we can at least keep out all the "willing workers" who have in the past labored for and profitted from these financial free-booters.

It is not only that a public man who has sold out once, may sell out again; but his recall to a position of honor and trust is a dangerously bad example to every untried man who may be tempted to tread the broad road. He sees that moral malfeasance in public office—provided the "fiscal traitor" is not too conspicuously branded—is easily forgotten and forgiven by a careless electorate. This means that a man may line his nest, go into a comfortable oblivion for a few years, and then come back again.

Nothing could strike a more destructive blow at the integrity of our public men, as a class. At the very least, we can exile from high office those who have once proven to be untrustworthy guardians. The army shoots its sentinels when they are caught even asleep at the post of duty, let alone selling out to the enemy. Civil life must at any rate refrain from putting them on watch a second time.

* * *

We should resolve now, before the passions of party are aroused or the quite legitimate struggle over vital issues begins, that we will this next election put in the very forefront of our political program the selection of men of high character to represent us, our beloved party and our chosen policies. It is impossible that we should associate ourselves with a party or an issue which can find only scoundrels ready to fight for it. There are plenty of honest men.

Let us have an honest Parliament.

CITY PAVING MAY YET BE COMPLETED

Many Reports from Commission are Sent to City Clerk

The whole paving program of the Administrative Commission is likely to be carried out this year after all, for unless a special meeting of the city council is called by Mayor Martin next month, or as an alternative is called by five aldermen, nineteen paving reports, five sidewalk reports and two sewer reports which have been sent to the Council by the Administrative Commission will be adopted automatically. Article 21K of the city charter provides that "The Council may by a majority of threequarters of all its members reject or amend the Commission's reports within thirty days of their receipt by the city clerk. . . . . Otherwise they shall be deemed to be adopted notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the charter or in any special general law."

The paving reports that were sent to the City Clerk on June 17 include $11,100 for the paving of Normand street, $32,100 for the paving of Ash avenue; $17,330 for paving Leber street; $13,800 for Labelle street; $15,941.75 for Wilson avenue; $21,-950, for Harvard avenue, $17,539 for Beaconsfield street, $31,803.20 for a part of Cote St. Antoine road, and $39,672.88 for another section of the same road; $15,344.45 for a part of Belgrave road, and $13,165.24 for a part of Vendome avenue. The total amount of the paving reports is $264,-893.45. The two sewer reports deal with Boulevard Gouin, work on which is estimated to cost $57,000, and on Walkey avenue, where the sewer will cost $4,743. The main sidewalk report is for Girard avenue the estimated cost of which is $33,340. The total for sidewalks is $40,598. The total for all reports is $368,234.45.

The Mayor stated this morning that his interpretation of the law was that the two months vacation for the city council does not count in the thirty days allowed by the charter, but that if there was any doubt about it he would convoke a special meeting of the aldermen and have the reports which have already been rejected again sent back to the Commission. Sixteen votes are necessary to reject any of the Commission's reports, and as there are four if not five aldermen in favor of the paving reports, and one at least is in Europe, it is doubtful if his worship can secure a sufficient majority to carry out his wishes, and the reports will be adopted automatically in the middle of July, thus giving a lot more employment in the late summer and early fall.

DETECTIVES FIND STUDENT IN JAIL

Alfred Leger Sold Drugs—Denies Charge of Manslaughter

Alfred Leger, fourth year medical student at Laval University, held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury for the death of Alice Lavallee, nineteen years of age, of Sorel, who died at the Notre Dame Hospital on Monday from the effects of an alleged illegal operation, was arrested this morning and arraigned before Judge Cusson, on the charge of manslaughter. He was located as a prisoner in Bordeaux jail by Detectives Gagnon, Lemire and Barrette. The accused was in the jail under the name of Alfred Gaudry, and charged by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police with selling drugs. He pleaded guilty to the drug selling charge this morning, before Judge Cuson. Sentence will be pronounced on July 6. On the charge of manslaughter he pleaded not guilty. Enquette was fixed for July 7. The accused was represented by J. Armand Houle.

Miss Lavallee died at the Notre Dame Hospital on the morning of June 27. Before she died, in an ante mortem statement, she stated that a "Dr." Leger, who resided at 475 Dorchester street east, had performed an illegal operation on her. Subsequently the coroner's jury held Leger responsible for the death of the girl and a warrant was issued for his arrest.

On June 20, Leger was arrested by Detectives Fafard and McDonald, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, on a charge of selling morphine, cocaine and heroin. He was arraigned under the name of Alfred Gaudry, in the police court and sent to Bordeaux jail to wait trial.

BUILDING PERMITS

New Church in Notre Dame de Grace Proposed

Building permits issued at the City Hall yesterday included one to the Kensington Presbyterian Church congregation for the erection of a new church on Godfrey avenue, Notre Dame de Grace, the estimated cost of which is $44,750. Other permits included a triple apartment house on Bourbonnier street, to be erected by E. Drapeau at a cost of $5,000. A permit to J. Versailles for alterations to two houses on Hutchison street at a cost of $12,000 and to the Molson Brewery Co., for alteration and repairs to their brewery on Notre Dame street east costing $9,000.

BOOKKEEPER THREATENED AND CASH-DRAWER ROBBED BY MORE ARMED ROBBERS

The third hold up to occur within five days was perpetreted at the private bank and steamship agency of Ram and Wall, 437 St. Lawrence boulevard, between one and two o'clock yesterday afternoon. Two men with drawn revolvers entered the bank, threatened Leon Kaldesky, the book-keeper, stole $1,000 in American currency, and locked the book-keeper in the lavatory.

According to the story told by the book-keeper to the detectives, who were hurried to the scene when the first report of the hold-up was received by the police, he was alone in the bank. Mr. Ram had gone to lunch. He was working on the book when the two men entered. They were well dressed. He went to attend to their wants when one of the men pushed a black revolver in his face.

The counter is at the back of the bank and runs paralell to St. Lawrence boulevard. The front door was open, and hundreds of people were passing on the sidewalk. At the side of the counter is a lavatory. The man with the revolver ordered the book-keeper into the lavatory and closed the door, threatening that if he came out he would be shot. The men then went behind the counter and opened the cash drawer, in the drawer at the time was about $1,000 in American currency. This they took. Two large safes are behind the counter, but were locked. No attempt to rob them was made.

After taking the cash from the drawer the men left the bank quietly, the book-keeper not hearing them go out. He got out of the wash-room, and finding the men had left telephoned to the police. Detectives and constables were quickly on the scene and commenced investigations. It is thought the bandits had an automobile waiting for them a short distance up the street.

The book-keeper accompanied the detectives to the detective office and gave a description of the bandits and full particulars of the hold up. He stated that he had never seen the men before, nor had he noticed them loitering around the bank.

F. J. SUTHERLAND DIES HERE.

The death occurred in Montreal last evening of Francis J. Sutherland, of the Toronto city health department. The late Mr. Sutherland, who was 51 years of age, had been in poor health for some time, and came to Montreal three weeks ago to visit his brother, W. A. Sutherland, of 4123 Western avenue. His condition was believed to be improving, but his illness suddenly took a critical turn and death followed. The deceased was a son of the late Richard O. A. Sutherland, of Montreal, and eight or ten years ago moved to Toronto where he was appointed to the city health department. He is survived by the widow and one son.

OVER MILLION FOR STREETS.

The amount to be spent by the Tramways Company of Montreal streets, will exceed a million and a half this year, according to a statement made by chairman St. Cyr, of the Tramways Commission, and employment for something like 1,500 men is resulting from this work. The principal streets on which paving work is being done by the Tramways Company are St. Catherine street, St. Lawrence Boulevard and Ontario st. It is expected that the new Bordeaux line will be in operation soon.

For The First

No matter what you may be doing on the first, you'll appreciate something cool and refreshing about lunch time — there is no argument about that. One of the nicest dishes you could have, either at home or out in the open, would be a nice cold boiled fowl served with sliced cooked ham and salad and with the jelly still around it. If you are going into the country on your car or if you are boating, such a dish can easily be packed in the picnic basket and when lunch time comes round you'll find it just to your taste. We have some splendid boiling fowls for you but would ask you to order early as this is a short week.

BIG IMPERIAL OIL MONOPLANE IS ON ITS WAY TO NORTH

Big Flying Ship at Times Makes One Hundred Miles An Hour

FLOTILLA OF BOATS

Rush to Oil Fields Somewhat Later Than Was Expected

By Chester A. Bloom, Staff Correspondent of The Montreal Daily Star and the Calgary Herald. Copyright by The Montreal Daily Star and the Calgary Herald.

FORT McMURRAY, Alta. June 21.—(Fitzgerald, head of Smith Rapids, Alberta, June 14.)—The Imperial Oil Company monoplane, bound from Peace River to Fort Simpson on the Mackenzie River, passed through Fort Smith, sixteen miles below this point, on May 30 last, according to Ronald McKinnon, in charge of the Imperial Oil Company quarters at Fort Smith.

The monoplane, which was driven by Pilot E. G. Fullerton, and which carried Geologist T. A. Link; Surveyor W. H. Waddell and Senior Mechanic W. J. Hill of the company's flying crew, flew the 550 miles from Peace River to Fort Smith in four hours and thirty-five minutes, with the wind on her tail. The big flying ship at times made better than 100 miles an hour. Being equipped with pontoons for rising from and alighting on the water, it is necessary for the monoplane to follow the course of the lakes and rivers, which somewhat lengthens the route.

ICE OUT OF LAKE.

Mr. McKinnon reports ice has all gone out of Great Slave Lake, and the flotilla of small boats has already gone ahead down the lake though none of the larger steamships have attempted the crossing as yet.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police boat, in charge of Constable Pennefather, son of Inspector Pennefather, of Lethbridge, returned to Fort Smith two days ago from Fort Resolution, at the head of the Great Slave Lake.

Constable Pennefather reported that for ten days previous to their leaving, that is two weeks ago, no ice had been seen in the Great Slave Lake.

This clearing of the lake is five weeks earlier than last year, and breaks all records for opening of the big sheet of water to navigation, as a consequence there is feverish activity at Fort Smith in the trans-shipment of oil drilling machinery to steamships for transportation to Windy Point, Fort Norman and other camps where drilling is in progress.

VALUABLE TIME LOST.

Mr. McKinnon said that the unexpected early clearing of the lake has caused the loss of much valuable time to all the oil companies, as had the machinery been on hand earlier at the head of the lake, it could now have been shipped in and be on hand and at work on the locations.

The afternoon after the day the Imperial Oil Company plane arrived at Fort Smith, it continued its journey on to Fort Simpson. Mr. McKinnon said the machine was expected back at Fort Smith on its homeward flight from Fort Simpson at any time. When Mr. McKinnon left Fort Smith yesterday the machine was carrying an extra pair of wheels for the other monoplane which had been marooned at Fort Simpson since last April, as it was only equipped with skis for winter flying.

After the wheels are put on the other machine at Fort Simpson, it will be flown back to Vermilion Chutes, on the Peace River, and also equipped with pontoons for summer flying.

EXPECT APPOINTMENT OF TAFT TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, June 29. — Announcement of the appointment of William Howard Taft to be Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court, probably will be made shortly, it was learned today.

President Harding, it is said, has practically decided on the appointment of Taft and unless there is some hitch he plans to announce his appointment tomorrow just before leaving here for a week-end vacation in New Jersey.

Disabled Veterans Challenge Socialist Orator to Battle

DETROIT, Mich., June 29.—(United Press.)—Disabled veterans of the world war burst into the Socialist party convention here today and challenged a Socialist orator to "step out and fight."

The veterans, holding their first annual convention here, demanded an explanation of a speech made by a Socialist delegate yesterday, in which he was alleged to have said: "There is only one flag—the red flag."

DELAY MENNONITES.

WINNIPEG, June 29. — A local Government official declared here yesterday upon his return from the Manitoba Mennonite settlement that there is little prospect of a movement of Mennonites to Mexico or any other country from the province this year. He stated that less than 100,000 of 1,000,000 acres held by Mennonites in southeastern Manitoba is listed for sale up to the present time. None of this has been sold nor prospective buyers secured.

POLES WITHDRAW IN UPPER SILESIA

Berlin States Insurgents are Keeping Promise to Move Back

BERLIN, June 29. — (Associated Press.)—Keeping their agreement to withdraw from Upper Silesia, the insurgent Poles near Beuthen, and a number of other places in the industrial district, have begun moving toward the Polish frontier, according to information received here from Inter-Allied sources.

German reports, however, assert that the Poles are concentrating in the Rybnik district, and that at Rogau, in the Ratibor district, a large body of bandits under the leadership of Josef Karzeschka, an escaped life convict, is blackmailing and robbing extensively.

It is reported from Ober-Glogau that Bolsheviki are organizing and issuing to their adherents green arm bands.

A fight between the French and Poles took place at Pielwitz, while the French were searching for arms. It is not know whether there were any casualties.

Real Cruelty at New Orleans; Six Breweries Seized

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 29.—Federal prohibition agents have seized six breweries here, and formally declared all the property of each plant, both real and personal, under Government ownership. The seizures involve several millions of dollars. The dry agents claim the breweries had put too much kick in the beer they were manufacturing.

TOO MUCH SOOTHING SYRUP KILLS INFANT

QUEBEC, June 29.—A two-months-old baby, child of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Blouin, of Sacre Coeur, Lotbinière county, died Monday of poisoning. At the coroner's inquest yesterday it was established that the six-year-old sister of the baby had given him an overdose of soothing syrup. The verdict was one of accidental death.

URGE BUILDING OF CHANNEL TUNNEL

Favored by Committee of International Chambers of Commerce

LONDON, June 29—(United News.)—Construction of a tunnel under the British Channel to connect Great Britain with the Continent, is recommended in the report of the committee on transportation of the International Chamber of Commerce, in convention here. The committee also recommends that the Chamber take steps to bring transportation laws of the several countries to a common level.

Resolutions urging international commercial arbitration laws, applying to the interpretation and execution of business contracts between citizens of different countries, were recommended by the special committee on distribution.

IRRESPECTIVE OF COUNTRY.

The laws suggested would render valid in any country the awards of foreign arbitration committees, regardless of nationality.

The committee's measure contemplates the creation of pan-national arbitration boards by the International Chamber of Commerce, which would pass finally on disputed transactions. This suggestion, with that part of the resolution calling for uniform international business legislation, will probably be taken up by the chamber at its next regular session on Friday.

OSHAWA, June 29.—Thomas Morris, for forty years a civic official of this town, died today aged 78. He had filled the office of assessor and tax collector, town clerk and treasurer.

Italian Ministerial Crisis Continues

ROME, June 29.—(Associated Press.)—Solution of the Ministerial crisis resulting from the resignation of the Giolitti Cabinet is not expected until next week, it is declared here. Many men prominent in political life have been mentioned as the next Premier, but nothing definite on the situation has developed in the last twenty-four hours.

ASK GOVERNMENT FOR R.C.M.P. HELP

OTTAWA, June 29.—(Star Special)—The Government has under consideration today an intimation from the St. John Street Railway Company and the Chief of Police there that the mounted police will be requisitioned to protect the strike breakers employed by the company in connection with the lockout.

From what can be learned today the Government is unlikely to do anything of the kind. The company proposed a cut in wages and it was referred to a conciliation board, which made a reduction but not to the extent demanded by the company.

The men accepted the award and now claim to have been locked out. They are appealing to the Minister of Labor while from the other side comes intimations of the mounted police being requisitioned.

HIGHLY PROTECTIVE TARIFF FOR STATES

Permanent Tariff Bill Before Congress Today—75,000 Words

WASHINGTON, June 29. — (By Herbert W. Walker, United Press Staff Correspondent.)—Protective tariff rates which Republican leaders of the House propose to enact in place of the low Democratic schedules were to be revealed today.

The permanent tariff bill, on which Republican members of the Ways and Means Committee have worked for six months, was to be introduced in the House by Chairman Ferdney.

Every article that has been imported into the United States in the last decade will appear in the bill, the total running up into the thousands. Nearly 1,000 articles which have not appeared in previous tariff laws also are included. More than 75,000 words are used in the bill.

The bill is highly protective, the rates being on an average somewhat higher than those of the last Republican tariff, the Payne-Aldrich law of 1909. When passed it will replace the Underwood-Democratic tariff of 1913.

It is estimated that the new bill will double the present revenue from tariff duties and bring into the Treasury between $500,000,000 and $600,000,000.

MGR. COUTORIER FOR ALEXANDRIA SEE

LONDON, June 29. — Monsignor Felix Coutorier has been appointed Bishop of Alexandria, Ontario, says a Central News despatch from Rome under date of Tuesday, received here today. The see has been vacant.

CHURCHILL GRAVE IN IRISH ADDRESS

LONDON, June 29.—(United Press)—Warning English speaking people that the most tragic results are unavoidable if the present oportunity to secure peace in Ireland is ignored, Winston Churchill, British secretary for war, Tuesday declared that the problem of Anglo-Irish relations must be settled on a broader basis than that of mere domestic issues.

The secretary spoke at a luncheon of the English-speaking Union held in honor of the Virginia delegation and President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University, who are to present a statue of George Washington to the British Empire on Thursday.

"One grave impediment to the growing unity of English-speaking people," Churchill said, "has been the condition of affairs in Ireland, which are now full of tragedy, yet present a growing light of hope.

"No one can foretell the course of events. Once more unreason may dash away the cup, once more the sinister fortune which has dogged the relations between England and Ireland may intervene."

After expressing his hope that despite distressing possibilities the present negotiations might lead to a speedy end of the tragic scenes in Ireland, Churchill made it plain that, in his opinion, the future Irish policy of the Empire must take into account considerations which lie beyond the compass of the United Kingdom. Ireland and Irishmen must necessarily look at the question in the same way to insure an equitable settlement, he said.

"Ireland must not be longer the source either of peril or reproach to Britain," the secretary concluded, and again warned against possible misunderstandings between the two peoples fostered by "malicious, false-hearted professing friends who are really enemies to both."

CALIFORNIAN IS TENNIS FINAL

WIMBLEDON, June 29. — Miss Elizabeth Ryan, of California, won the final match in the women's singles of the British turf court lawn tennis championship tournament here today, defeating Mrs. Satterthwaite, of Great Britain, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-0. Miss Ryan thereby earns the right to meet Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen in the challenge round for the championship.

In the third round of the women's doubles today, Mrs. Beamish and Mrs. Peacock, of Great Britain, defeated Mrs. Gracey and Miss Holman, also of Great Britain, 6-0, 6-0.

In the fourth round of men's doubles Randolph Lycett and Max Woosnam, of Great Britain, defeated Major A. R. F. Kingscote and Jock Hillyard, also of Great Britain, 6-4, 6-8, 3-6, 6-0.

NIAGARA STRAWBERRIES.

HAMILTON, June 29.—The strawberry crop in this district has practically been all harvested. Though some growers will pick for a few days longer, according to T. J. Mahoney, general manager of the Niagara Peninsula Growers, Limited. Raspberries will be on the market with good quantity next week, Mr. Mahoney stated in a bulletin issued yesterday.

CANADIAN FLYING MAKES RECORD

OTTAWA, June 29.—(By Canadian Press.)—Approximately 33,612 miles was covered with only three slight crashes and one person slightly injured in the work of civil government flying under direction of the Air Board during 1920, according to statistics covering the year's operations issued by the Air Board. Government machines made 308 flights during the year and the number of hours flown was 480.10. The summary shows 18,671 machine flights made and 6,505 machine hours flown.

NON-GOVERNMENT CONTROLLED.

The average duration of civil flights in minutes was 21, and 15,265 passengers were carried in the flights made. Passenger hours flown were 5,164 and a total of 6,740 pounds of freight was carried.

The record of accidents during the year is considered satisfactory in view of the amount of flying which was done, much of it before the Air Board regulations governing examination of machines and pilots and flying procedure. There were two accidents resulting in the death of one or more occupants of machines, in the case of aircraft in which the pilot or machine was uncertified, and three fatal accidents to planes which had been certified.

The number of non-fatal accidents in which persons were injured was two to uncertified and two to certified machines. Four accidents occurred to certified machines without any one being injured and one to an uncertified plane.

Machine miles per accident were approximately 30,176, and machine flights per accident 1,324. The approximate number of machine hours per accident was 465. Pilots killed per 1,000 flights made were .054; pilots killed per 1,000 hours flown, .480.10 passengers killed per 1,000 passengers carried .266; passengers killed per 1,000 hours flown by passengers .756.

NO INCREASE FOR RADIAL MEN.

TORONTO, June 29.—The wage demands of the electrical workers employed on the Toronto and York Radial Railway have been refused by a board of conciliation appointed by the Minister of Labor, the Labor member dissenting. The present pay of the men for linemen is 47½ cents an hour, the working day in many cases being 12 hours.

ONTARIO CANNOT GET LIQUOR HERE

Illegal to Make Quebec Clearing House for Other Provinces

The Star was informed by a prominent official of the Liquor Commission that it will not permit the attempts now being made to make the Province of Quebec a clearing house for the liquor trade to Ontario or any other province in Canada.

As an instance, this official showed The Star an advertisement in which a firm offers its liquor to the Provinces of Ontario and New Brunswick, directing at the same time its customers to address their orders to their Montreal office, where, the advertisement read, "orders will be sorted, then wired to Ontario distilleries, or our export warehouse, for immediate shipment."

This, declared the official, is against the law, as cited in Article 51, section 0, which reads as follows:

"Whosoever, not being the holder of a permit, leads the public or travellers to believe by means of signs, inscriptions, advertisements or circulars, that he is authorized to sell alcoholic liquor, shall be guilty of an offence under this Act, and shall be liable, in addition to the payment of the costs, for the first offence to a fine of not more than one hundred dollars, and, on failure to pay such fine and costs, to imprisonment in the common jail for one month; and, for any subsequent offence, to imprisonment in the common jail for one month."

The official of the Liquor Commission interviewed by The Star would not state if proceedings would be taken against the firm he referred to, but said that the Montreal members of the Quebec Liquor Commission would be told of the attempt to evade the law.

"It will then be up to the Commission to decide what course shall be taken," he said.

VERDICT OF SUICIDE

Man Wrote Wife He Was Tired of Life

A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned at the inquest yesterday into the death of S. B. Mackenzie, of 1032 Hudson street, Hoboken, Long Island, New York, whose body was found in the river opposite Longue Pointe on Monday afternoon. The body was identified by means of a piece of paper found in the pockets.

New York was communicated with and Mrs. Mackenzie, deceased's wife, arrived in town yesterday and further identified the body. She produced a letter recently written to her by Mackenzie in which he said that he was tired of life and was on the point of doing away with himself.

TWO MORE DAYS FOR INCOME TAXES

Penalties for Delay are Now Much Lighter

A busy morning and a busier afternoon was reported at the income tax office yesterday, though so far there has been no such pressure of business as taxed the staff at the end of April. However, Inspector of Taxation, P. F. McCaffrey, said he anticipated a very heavy day tomorrow and Thursday, as there would be many anxious to pay within the time who would arrive at the last minute.

The last amendment to the Income War Tax Act, which was passed on June 4, 1921, has made the penalties for those who do not meet the payment of the second instalment by June 30 much easier, and the person who does not pay within the time allotted shall pay only 10 per cent, the six per cent from April 30, plus an extra four per cent as penalty, which shall be charged from the date of default until the date of payment.

The same amendment lightened the penalties for those discovered to have sent in insufficient returns, and they will receive a bill charging them interest on this amount at the rate of 10 percent from April 30, instead of the 25 to 50 percent. imposed originally. For those who send in wilfully false returns a penalty of a $10,000 fine or six months' imprisonment or both would be inflicted it was announced this morning.

WEATHER PERMITTING.

Wife—I think, dear, if it keeps fine I shall go and do some shopping. What does the weather report say?

Husband (hastily)—Rain, fog, thunder, and a cloudburst expected!

BID FAREWELL TO FRENCH MISSION

Marshal Fayolle Expresses Thanks for Montreal's Cordial Hospitality

GOES TO CAPITAL

Inspects Guard of Honor of City's Veteran Policemen

The French Mission of thanks to Canada, headed by Marshal Fayolle, bade farewell to Montreal at 9.15 this morning, leaving from the Bonaventure station at that hour for Ottawa, where it will present to the Canadian Government, for inclusion in the decorations of the House of Commons, a Rodin bust symbolical of France, as a lasting souvenir of its visit to the Dominion.

The marshal, with Vice-Admiral Charlier, Mgr. Landrieux, and other members of the party, left the Windsor Hotel just after 9 o'clock, and on arrival at the Grand Trunk station found a large crowd of citizens there to wish them "bon voyage." A guard of honor composed of a score of city policemen under Lieut. Bagot kept the way clear for the mission to board the train, but before doing so Marshal Fayolle stopped to inspect the guardians of law and order. He found that practically everyone of them had served in the war, either in the Canadian, French, or Belgian armies. Several of them had medals for valor, while two of them wore the green and red twisted cords which indicated that they had belonged to French regiments that had, for valor, been decorated as a whole. Marshal Fayolle shook hands with every one of the policemen, congratulating them on their war service, and expressing pleasure that they had recovered from their wounds, for most of them had been wounded in the great struggle, and had been able to return to their peace-time duties.

An array of military men was at the station to wish the Mission God-speed and a safe voyage back to France. Brig.-Gen. Armstrong, commanding Military District No. 4, was there with Col. Alexander, his chief staff officer, while there were also present Brig.-Gen. Panet, Brig.-Gen. Hervey, Major W. G. Skully, Capt. L. J. McMahon, and Lieut. J. S. Millar of the First Heavy Battery, Lieut.-Col. C. B. Price, Lieut.-Col. Milette, C. H. Hood, Major MacRitchie, and Lieut.-Col. McKim.

Senator Beaubien travelled on the train with the party to Ottawa, and among those who were at the station were Senator Raoul Dandurand, Brig.-Gen. A. E. Labelle, A. Tarut, De Gaspe Beaubien, Mayor J Beaubien, J. A. Duchastel de Montrouge, Acting Consul General for France Marcil de Verneuil, Col. Beauchamp, Hector Garneau, K.C., J. Fillion, president of the Sac au Dos Society, Capt. DuPrey, president of L'Union National Francais, and many others.

MARSHAL'S THANKS.

Prior to leaving Marshal Fayolle expressed to the members of the reception committee the thanks of himself and of all the members of the Mission for the cordial hospitality extended to them during their visit. The private, as well as the public receptions that had been given them would long be treasured as pleasant memories of the people of Quebec, while the luncheon given on Saturday last would linger long in their associations because of the warmth of the greeting they had received and the most interesting information that had been given them in the speeches. Marshal Fayolle was particularly enthusiastic over the situation of the city, referring to the wonderful scenic beauty of the view from the top of Mount Royal, being especially delighted at the large number of shade trees in the streets, a proper appreciation of which could only be secured by a visit to the look-out on the mountain.

Warm farewells were exchanged between the members of the Mission and their new-found friends of the city, and as the train pulled out Gen. Armstrong called for three cheers for Marshal Fayolle, which were given with a "tiger" the Marshal smilingly saluting in appreciation of the compliment, and acknowledging the cries of "Vive le Marechal" which were the last words that reached him as the special car was drawn away in the direction of the capital.

The members of the Mission are travelling over the lines of the Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railway on their visits to Ottawa, Toronto and Niagara Falls. The official car "Canada" and two parlor cars were attached to the Grand Trunk train for Ottawa for the use of the party. Accompanying the visitors were H. H. Melanson, Passenger Traffic Manager, and C. K. Howard, General Tourist Agent, Canadian National Railways; H. R. Charlton, General Advertising Agent; C. W. Johnston, Assistant General Passenger Agent and E. C. Elliott, District Passenger Agent of the Grand Trunk Railway System.

The French Mission will reach Toronto tomorrow night, and will stay there until Saturday morning when they will take part in the July Fourth celebrations in the United States.

MUSIC

SHERBROOKE, Que., June 29 — (Special to The Star)—An event of much interest to local musicians is the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Codere, which is being celebrated today. Both are prominent in the musical life of this city, Mr. Codere being an organist, and Mrs. Codere, a pianist and composer whose fame has reached beyond the confines of this district. Her songs have figured on the programs of singers like Eva Gauthier and Paul Dufault; and music from her pen comprised a large part of the program at the mass which was celebrated this morning at St. Patrick's Church. A well-nigh innumerable company of students and young musicians have received practical help and encouragement from Mrs. Codere, and congratulations are pouring in upon her and her husband on this happy occasion.

* * *

Miss Yvette Lamontagne, who spent the winter in Paris studying 'cello, has returned home.

* * *

Old favorites like "Love's Old Sweet Song," "The Long, Long Trail," "Dear Old Pal of Mine," "Old Folks at Home," "Home, Sweet Home," "Blowing Bubbles," "Smiles," "Allouette," etc., are on the program mapped out for community "sings" on Fletcher's Field under the leadership of the Kiwanis Glee Club, of which Ernest F. Kerr is the conductor. The first of these "sings" takes place tonight, beginning promptly at 8:30, and will last about an hour.

INTEREST ON TAX MAY BE DELAYED

Inspector of Taxation Explains Method of Payment

Interest on the second, third and fourth instalments of the Income Tax does not have to be sent in until the taxpayer makes his last payment, if the instalments are met on time, according to P. F. McCaffrey, Inspector of Taxation. When informed this morning that many taxpayers were under the impression that they must add to the second instalment of their Income Tax, the six per cent interest on the balance due the Government when the first payment had been deducted, Mr. McCaffrey said, this was unnecessary, though they would be credited with the amount so paid.

If a man owes one hundred dollars for Income Tax and paid $25 on April 30, he will not have to pay the interest on the $75 he still owes, until the end of October when the last instalment of $25 is due. He will then pay at the rate of six per cent, if his instalment has not been met on time, interest on $75 for two months, on $50 for two months and on $25 for two months.

Though only one more day is left for tax payers to meet the second instalment, before the additional interest of 4 per cent is prescribed, there was no sign of a rush at the Income Tax Bureau this morning and little in the early afternoon, either at the cashiers wickets downstairs or in the mailing room on the eight floor of the Shaughnessy Building. It is estimated that there now remain about 17,000 people in Montreal District who still owe the whole or part of last year's tax. Many of these are sending in their checks by mail. Cashiers and the mail service clerks are prepared to handle a great rush tomorrow, for apparently the large majority are putting off sending in their remittance until the last day.

ANXIOUS HUNDREDS WAIT FOR WORK

Demolition of Old High School Attracts Unemployed

Over 600 men applied for work this morning on the demolition of the buildings on the Peel street site of the Mount Royal Hotel.

The number of men actually working there this morning is 91. Despite the fact that a notice stating that no more help was wanted there today, groups of men waited all the morning, hoping that a vacancy might occur. So great is the rush of applicants each morning, that the contractors for demolishing the premises are loth to state in advance how many additional men they are likely to require as the work progresses, as they are overwhelmed with men eager for work.

On man, driven to desperation through continued unemployment, actually threatened a member of the contracting firm with violence if he was not given work. Many of the men engaged are destitute, and these the contractors have provided with a square meal and a portion of their wages in advance.

Wrecking operations have progressed a week ahead of schedule, it was stated this morning, and unless an unforeseen delay occurs, the work should be finished at least four to five days ahead of time. Operations are confined at present to the interior, which is rapidly being dismantled.

EXPECT SCATTERED SHOWERS TODAY

The thermometer rose as usual this morning and early this afternoon, though at a less rapid rate than Montrealers have been led to expect the last few days. Shortly after noon today 79 degrees was recorded at the McGill Observatory with prospects for a still higher temperature. No relief was felt, however, by those unfortunate enough to have to stay in the city, for although the cloudy sky somewhat interfered with Old Sol's rays, the closeness of the atmosphere made the increasing heat more trying.

Scattered showers are expected to cool the air this afternoon, with light winds, and the weatherman has promised some abatement of the heat wave tomorrow, as Thursday is to be fair and a little cooler. While today's temperature has not quite reached previous records for the week, many spent an uncomfortable night, for at three o'clock in the morning the thermometer registered 74.6 degrees. By seven o'clock the mercury had dropped, but soon commenced to travel upward again.

GIFT TO PASTOR.

Rev. F. B. Allnutt, pastor of the West End Methodist Church, and Mrs. Allnutt, will leave next week for a tour of England, Scotland, Wales, Belgium, France, Germany and Switzerland. They expect to be absent about two months. In view of their departure, Mr. Allnutt was presented with a valuable camera, the gift of the Men's Club of the Church, and Mrs. Allnutt was made the recipient of a handsome combination purse and hand satchel, the gift of the Dorcas Bible Class. Miss Young, deaconess, and teacher of the Bible Class presided over the gathering, which honored Mrs. Allnutt, and the address and presentation were made by Mrs. Donaldson, the president. T. A. Crawford, president of the Men's Club, made the presentation to Mr. Allnutt, at a club dinner.

REGULATIONS KEEP IMMIGRANTS OUT

Canada Will Not Benefit by Fact of U.S. Closing Its Doors

VIEWS EXPRESSED

President Beatty, of the C.P.R., Points Out Flow Must Be Continuous

Declarations to the effect that Canada is to receive the enormous overflow of European immigration now barred out of the United States by new and drastic restrictions are at least decidedly premature, according to the opinion expressed by officials in Montreal today.

Unless radical amendments are made to Canadian immigration laws the effect of United States' action will hardly be discernible here, it is declared.

Alphonse Regimbal, Dominion Immigration Agent at Montreal, in discussing the situation this morning said:

"While our Canadian regulations remain as they are I do not see any prospect of the wholesale diversion of surplus immigration from the United States to Canada. In the first place the immigrant arriving at a United States port and being refused admission is not eligible for admission to Canada because he has not complied with the requirement which necessitates a direct passage. In the second place a very small percentage of immigrants coming to the United States come with the intention of taking up agricultural work. The financial restrictions which require immigrants to Canada, other than domestics or those coming to take up agricultural pursuits, to possess $250 for each adult and $125 for each child over five years of age, are much more stringent than those previously in force in the United States and it is a foregone conclusion that nothing but a very small percentage of European immigrants could comply.

"There is another factor and it is that a high percentage of immigrants to the United States seek to join friends and relatives already established there. Many of them would probably hesitate to emigrate from their homelands were it not for the presence of these friends or relatives at the journey's end to welcome and assist them."

MR. BEATTY'S VIEWS.

E. W. Beatty, president fo the C.P.R. expressed himself as follows:

"There is danger in framing policies during a period of depression because they are not policies which are predicated upon either hope or courage.

"It is obvious that two great things are necessary to this country's prosperity. One is the backing of foreign capital for new enterprises in order that our natural wealth may be properly realized and the second is more people to aid these industrial conditions, extend the farm areas under cultivation and by their number and financial solvency ease the burdens of the country.

"We should do everything we legitimately can to firmly establish the resources of Canada in the minds of those whose financial support is so essential and we should be very careful not to frame our immigration policies on the principle that a temporary depression and temporary unemployment is a justification for barriers against the introduction of a good type of immigrant into this country.

A CONTINUOUS FLOW.

"It seems to be the assumption that immigration is like a tap that can be turned on and off with absolute freedom. This is not the case. It must be a continuous flow of the right kind of people if we are going to carry our burdens with anything approaching ease. By all means let us exclude permanently those undesirables from the slums of large cities and from countries, the complexion of which makes it impossible for their people to be assimilated into this country. We know now what type of immigrant succeeds in Canada. We can point to races, the representatives of which contain no idlers in this country—people who are nationally and naturally thrifty and hard working and rarely, if ever, become a charge on the community. We know too the type of people who add nothing to the productivity of the country, who are parasites living off others by their wits but increasing not at all the national estate or the economic strength of this country. We do not want and should not encourage these people.

"Coupled with an active desire expressed through a sane immigration policy to obtain settlers of the right type for Canada should be a system of acceptance or rejection at the port of embarkation so as to reduce to a minimum the sometimes almost inhuman practice of returning rejected immigrants from a Canadian port. This could be readily arranged, of course, in the case of all British immigrants but would be somewhat more difficult in the case of continentals where the system is of the greatest importance.

"I see nothing in the future which would render desirable unduly restrictive measures in the matter of immigration."

In his allusion to immigrants easily assimilated, none of which have become charges upon Canada, Mr. Beatty, excepting naturally those from the British Isles, had in mind the people from Scandinavian countries, from Holland and from Northern Italy. To people of this type it was his obvious opinion that no barriers should be erected, that their coming is essential to the well-being of Canada and to the lessening of the tax burdens of Canadians.

VISITOR FROM IRELAND.

Rev. C. R. Clinton, who comes from Ireland, will arrive in Montreal at the end of this week and will be the guest of Rev. Thomas Scott. Mr. Clinton will preach in Sherbrooke Street Church on Sunday morning and is expected to give a lecture on "Vices and Voices of the Emerald Isle," in the same church, probably on Monday or Tuesday evening. Mr. Clinton has been visiting in the United States and will proceed to the important centres in Canada before returning home.

ARBITRATION SET FOR TOMORROW

Counsel for Railway Company Will Open Argument

The Grand Trunk arbitration will resume its sessions tomorrow at 10.30 a.m., when counsel for the railway will open the argument for their side. Attempts to get in touch with counsel this morning were fruitless, each having apparently given the strictest of instructions that on no account was his whereabouts to be revealed while he was engaged in what is a struggle to absorb and condense the gravamen of thousands of pages of evidence and hundreds of exhibits of every kind.

It is stated that so far it has not been decided which aspect of the case will be taken first by Grand Trunk counsel ,nor which of them will open the argument. A full three days will be taken in the presentation of their case, however, and Government counsel are expected to require as much. The end of next week will likely be reached before the argument is ended, and it will then remain for the arbitrators to prepare their award. It cannot be said how long that will take, but it is believed that its consideration will occupy several weeks, and may last into August.

GUARDING CITY'S VALUABLE PAPERS

Commission Asks Council for Money to Complete Vault

The Administrative Commission has sent a report to the City Council asking the aldermen to vote $20,500 for the completion of the furnishing of the fireproof vault under the south east corner of the City Hall, in which are stored the valuable documents belonging to the city. This vault was built two years ago but not more than half of it has been fitted up, and in a recent report the city archivist asked the Commission to order the completion of the work, as there are a vast number of valuable papers which, if a fire should take place in the City Hall, are not protected.

Another report from the Commission recommends that permission be given to the Merchants Bank of Canada to construct vaults under the sidewalk on Drummond and St. Catherine streets.

"HEALTH OR HOVELS?" ASKS HOSPITAL

"Health or hovels! Which shall it be?" asks one of the reports in the Western Hospital 48th year book, which has just been published. "Ignorant parents must be taught better care of their children; lack of cleanliness ought to be made a criminal offence for the sake of people themselves and for the community. The owner of the dirtiest house in Montreal owns 17 lots across the river; his responsibility to his family seems to begin and end in their production."

The wide range of service given by the Western Hospital is shown in interesting tables concerning indoor patients, a list of whose occupations covers almost every letter in the alphabet. "Home" and "housework" 195 and 257 respectively, seem to indicate that women have the greatest need of hospital care, though laborers, 187, run them close, and one many other professions are shown: one case was a pugilist and last battle. The sick or broken of many lands find rest and ease for their pains at the Western; the majority are Canadian, with Great Britain a far-off second, but there is a sprinkling from countries the world over.

The year 1920 showed the unvarying tale of struggle against adverse conditions, it is stated in another report, with a daily cost per patient of $3.92, but already there had been some abatement of excessive prices, and it was hoped that the monthly deficits will continue to diminish.

A still further increase of work done is shown in another report, despite the fact that facilities remained stationary, the result having been achieved by decreasing the average number of hospital days per patient.

SEEK CIVIC HONORS

New Candidates are Spoken of for October Elections

It is reported that Senator J. P. B. Casgrain, who is today out of the city, will come forward as a candidate for municipal honors in No. 1 ward, which is in the centre of the down-town district, at the forthcoming civic elections. In the Papineau district three candidates are named as possibilities—L. A. Rivet, H. Emond and R. A. Benoit.

FALSE PRETENCES.

William Neron, Roberval, was sentenced to 15 days in jail this morning by Judge Cusson, on a charge of obtaining money and goods to the value of $600, under false pretences. Restitution was made by Neron. It was charged that he had passed worthless checks to the value of $100 each, in four stores, and one for $200 in another.

PERSECUTION DUE TO VICE GANGS

Rev. W. B. Tucker Blames Lack of Police Protection for Mission Trouble

SPITEFUL DAMAGE

Blowing of Police Whistle Fails to Bring Constables

"There is an entire lack of proper police protection here," said the Rev. Dr. W. B. Tucker, of the Montreal City Mission, on Cadieux street, this morning. Last night occurred yet another of the petty persecutions to which the mission building has been subjected during the past months, and bricks had been hurled through costly stained glass windows with further damage by hammering at the leading of the glass, which was bent out of recognition.

"This is being done, I believe, by members of the vice gangs which infest this neighborhood," continued Dr. Tucker, "to mark their spite against the success of the mission established about ten years ago, and for long I had to go and beg people to come, and now they send their children. The meeting used to be of only a handful of people—practically all foreigners, Syrians, Galicians, Russians, with a sprinkling of our own people, but our tiny hall is often packed on Sunday evenings, perhaps partly because we have ice-cream then," the Doctor added with a twinkle.

"Spiteful damage is becoming frequent," he went on, "there having been two burglaries in the last three months, windows smashed last winter, and concrete plaster and bricks are being willfully smashed, while their houses, abodes of the lowest vice, are not touched. The trouble is shortage of uniformed police; to settle street rows I sometimes blow my police-whistle, but never succeed in getting one. The neighborhood is vicious, but not dangerous, for usually the sound of the whistle is enough to scare these rowdy people away. There are plain-clothes police who occasionally answer, but I have never seen them arrest anyone in all these years, and consider them useless. I have seen them stand at a street corner and watch women of the streets play their trade, without taking any action.

"I understand there is a much bigger area covered by the Montreal police, whose numbers have been reduced by about 25 per cent. in the last few years. I think they ought to be concentrated where conditions call for them. This neighborhood is certainly one. The mission can claim to be helping the improvement of the district—its sole object is the fighting of vice in any form—but better policing is essential. I strongly approve of the new police regulations, which require the men to put in more time patrolling the streets, and less on watch in the police stations, and hope this will mean it will be easier to get the assistance of a policeman when he is needed."

TWO CHARGES

Andre Ouelette is Alleged to Have Picked Pockets

The case of Andre Ouelette, charged with picking the pockets of Raphael Oliver, 466 1st avenue, Westmount, and of Joe Blazotto, at 11 o'clock on the night of June 20 was remanded until July 7 in Enquete court this morning by Judge Cusson. Oliver claimed to have been robbed of $10, and Blazotto alleged that he had lost $16.

According to the evidence, Blazotto and Oliver were waiting to board a car on the corner of Mount Royal and St. Denis streets at 11 o'clock on the evening of June 20. Blazotto had his hand in his pocket. He took it out to lift up a little child who was being crushed in the crowd, and immediately felt someone put his hand in his pocket. Just at the same time Oliver discovered that his money was gone. A few blocks further on, Ouelette was stopped by a policeman, who searched him, took his name and address, and let him go.

At two o'clock on the following morning, Oliver went to the police station and laid a charge of theft from the person against Ouelette.

Loew's Theatre Will Not Close, Management Says

The management of Loew's theatre has issued an official announcement denying the report that the theatre is contemplating closing down during the month of July.

It has always been the policy of Loew's theatre all over the continent, the statement says, to keep open for the benefit of the amusement-seeking public, no matter what business conditions may be.

Loew's will continue as usual, keeping the reduced price schedule in effect for the remainder of the summer, and longer if the public support the move.

DIFFER ABOUT SPEED OF CAR

Witnesses Give Evidence in Paquette Manslaughter Trial

N. K. Laflamme, K.C., joined counsel for the defense in the continuation of the Paquette trial yesterday afternoon, and the hearing of witnesses took up the rest of the day. Paquette is charged with manslaughter following the death of Victor Depatie, who received fatal injuries when the car which the accused was driving turned completely over with nine passengers on the morning of September 15.

The first witness called by D. A. Lafortune, K.C., M.P., Crown Prosecutor, was Hormisdas Robitaille who was driving along the road with a load of ice on the morning in question. The car driven by accused passed him, he told the court, at the rate of 40 or 45 miles per hour. He did not see the accident occur, but reached the scene of the wreck some few minutes after. He found the car standing on its wheels but with all passengers and equipment scattered over the road. He says he spoke to accused, telling him that he had been going too fast, but Paquette answered him denying this and saying, "Here is another one against me."

Mr. Laflamme submitted the witness to a severe examination on the condition and characteristics of the road at this point, and secured the admission that, as witness was not experienced in driving an auto, he was not much of a judge of speed. "I know when a car is going fast or slowly," he said.

The speed of the car was only 25 miles an hour, according to J. St. Germain, who was driving a milk wagon just behind the car and who saw the machine turn a complete somersault at the curve on Goulb Boulevard approaching St. Lawrence. Further particulars of the contour of the roadway were given in answer to Frank Callaghan, K.C., of counsel for accused.

VANQUISHED FOES WITH EMPTY BOTTLE

Lieut. John Collins, of number 17 police station received a hurry call early on Sunday morning to send constables to the store of Albert Myre, 2628 Notre Dame street west, as there was a fight in progress and that two men had been wounded. Sergt. Dannis and a constable were immediately despatched to the scene where they found two men stretched on the floor bleeding from numerous wounds on their hands and faces and the owner of the store standing guard over them, wielding an empty bottle. He was also badly cut. The two men were taken to the police station and then to the Western Hospital. After receiving treatment they were placed under arrest charged with causing damage and also with assault.

Yesterday four men were arraigned before Judge Cusson charged with assaulting Myre, and with breaking in the front door of his store. Their names appeared on the police court blotter as Romeo Cyr, 18 years of age, of 80 St. Marguerite street; Royal Arcand, 27 years of age, of 682 Workman street; Thomas Houle, 20 years of age, of 686 Workman street, and Hercuoes Gayer, 21 years of age, of 27 Bourget street. They were remanded for one week.

The complainant stated that on Sunday the four entered his store by breaking in the front door. They then attacked him and he defended himself with a bottle, he said.

TWO CENTS TO COLLECT ONE CENT

Many Montrealers have been astonished recently to receive bills from the Bell Telephone Company for one cent. The bills several hundred of which were despatched all over the city, were stamped with a two-cent stamp so that on all invoices sent out for this amount the company lost one cent in addition, to the amount wasted in stationary and the expense of issuing. It was explained at the office this morning that this was a mistake, and that these bills had been sent out with a number of others for larger amounts which had been found to be owing to the company by reason of the recent award of the Railway Board.

In these cases after certain sums had been subtracted and others added a balance of one cent was found to be due the company, and the bills for this amount had been stamped and sent out to subscribers before the mistake was discovered.

ALLEGE CHINAMAN HAD CLOTH IN BAG

Constables Caron and Bousseau of the motorcycle squad, while patrolling on St. Lawrence boulevard at an early hour yesterday, saw a Chinaman who gave the name Dung Wee, 30 years of age of 555 Sherbrooke street east, carrying a bag.

Suspicious they stopped the Chinaman and examined the bag which they allege contained six rolls of cloth, valued at $600 and stolen from Isaac Cohen, manufacturer of 354 St. Lawrence boulevard. The Chinaman was taken to the police station and yesterday was arraigned before Judge Cusson, charged with theft. He was sent for enquete on July 6.

ROYAL INQUIRY FOR LEMIEUX'S CHARGES

Justice Panneton, of Montreal, Appointed Royal Commissioner

OTTAWA, June 29.—(Star Special) Mr. Justice Panneton of the Superior Court at Montreal, has been appointed a royal commissioner "to make the most thorough, searching and ample investigation" into the charges made by the Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux in the House on the closing day of the session respecting a proposed vote of $60,000 to the Park St. Charles Land Company of Quebec.

The land was expropriated by the Quebec Harbor Board and after a long fight in three courts the land company won. The $60,000 vote was in satisfaction of the judgment.

Mr. Lemieux charged that it was to make good election promises in Yamaska, that the beneficiaries were henchmen of Postmaster-General Blondin, characterized it as a "scandalous grab" and as "fraud from beginning to end." Because of the seriousness of the allegations the Government withdrew the vote, Mr. Lemieux congratulating it on that step and promising to establish his charges at the next session or humbly apologize.

The Government now proposes an immediate inquiry by a commission, but it is understood that Mr. Lemieux will ask for a parliamentary investigation.

AFFIRM INDEMNITIES FREE OF INCOME TAX

Provincial Gov't to Appeal Against Alleged Federal Right

QUEBEC, June 29.—(Star Special.)—Hon. J. E. Caron, Minister of Agriculture, who had contested the right of the Federal Government to collect an income tax on provincial parliamentary indemnities before the Exchequer Court, stated yesterday to The Star that the reverse decision of Justice Audette of that court would be appealed, as the Provincial Government was convinced that such tax could not legally be applied to ministers and members of the Provincial Houses indemnities. The case may be brought directly to the Privy Council by Mr. Charles Lanctot, K.C., who appeared before the Exchequer Court, with Mr. Aime Geoffrion of Montreal, for the Government, and who is at present in England pleading before the Privy Council.

QUEBEC DISTRICT HAY CROP IS A FAILURE

Farmers Declare Will Have to Sell Stock in the Fall

QUEBEC, June 29.—(By Canadian Press)—Farmers in the district of Quebec have given up all hope of a good hay crop this summer, owing to the dry season, and in many places are putting the cattle on their hay fields to pull all they can, saying they will be obliged to sell their stock in the fall for lack of hay to feed them next winter.

The ground is so dry in many fields in the district and stubble so burnt up that it crushes and breaks under foot. The farmers say the only chance they will have for a medium root crop this summer will be a season of rain that cannot come too soon now.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 29.—Five hundred members of the Lincoln League of Watertown, N.Y., and the Jefferson County Board of Supervisors visited Brockville yesterday, and were guests of the town. Mayor Dobbie presented Mayor Robert E. Cahill, of Watertown, with a Union Jack as a memento of the visit.

CHOOSE BAPTIST MODERATOR.

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 29.—The Southern Association of the United Baptist Church in New Brunswick yesterday elected Rev. Abraham Perry, of Penobsquis, as moderator. In the three sessions held in the Ludlow Street Church, reports of a year of greater success were received. Rev. C. T. Clark reported 5,500 pupils enrolled in the Sunday schools, and $6,268.21 raised by the schools.

J. A. NELLES, OF LONDON, DEAD.

LONDON, Ont., June 29. — Following an illness of several weeks, J. A. Nelles, aged 69, perhaps the best-known insurance man in Western Ontario, died at his home here early yesterday. For fifty years Mr. Nelles had been in the insurance business. He was for a number of years secretary of the old board of trade; secretary of the Western Fair Board, and secretary of the London Dairymen's Association.

APPREHEND MESSENGER BOY AND MONEY.

WINNIPEG, June 29. — Apprehension of a messenger boy for a local financial firm, who disappeared from this city last Tuesday, and was later located at Rainy River, Ont., resulted in the recovery of $500 in cash and $10,000 in cheques. In making the announcement today, the police would not say whether the money was found in possession of the boy or whether it had been located in a hiding place. The lad has been sent to the detention home.

CHATHAM PRISONERS ESCAPE.

CHATHAM, Ont., June 29.—Requested yesterday by Turnkey Softley of the County jail here to assist in carrying scaffolding, which had been used in repair work, outside the jail, two prisoners, Joseph Burrows and James Brow, acquiesced with alacrity. No sooner were they outside the jail door, however, than they determined their duty was ended, and dropping the scaffolding, they made a wild dash for liberty. At last reports they were still running. Burrows was serving a two-years' sentence and Brown one year.

2,000 OTTAWA UNEMPLOYED.

OTTAWA, June 29. — There are still about 2,000 unemployed in Ottawa, according to C. S. Ford, superintendent of the Ontario Employment Bureau, Ottawa branch.

After a short business meeting this afternoon the delegates were given motor trips around the city, with dinner at Aylmer, Quebec.

ASSAULTING TURNKEY IS COSTLY.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., June 29.— For assaulting Turnkey Harrison at the county jail in an effort to escape on Sunday last, John Langston was yesterday sentenced to serve an additional two years in Portsmouth penitentiary by Judge Dowsley. Langston was originally sentenced to nine months in the central prison for horse stealing.

RAINS BENEFIT N.S. CROPS.

HALIFAX, N.S., June 29. — Rains which have fallen during the past few days in the agricultural districts of Nova Scotia have been of great benefit, particularly in the Annapolis Valley where the hay was very poor after a ten-day drought. An overcast sky and showers yesterday with prospects of further downpours worried farmers not at all.

JUMPS IN FRONT OF TRAIN.

REGINA, Sask., June 29. — Thomas Bell, a Royal Canadian Mounted Police constable, and said to be a former member of the Royal Irish Constabulary, was instantly killed here yesterday when he deliberately stepped in front of a slowly moving freight train. Bell walked to the side of the track, waved his hand to the engineer, laughed and walked to his death.

MEETS TRAGIC DEATH.

OTTAWA, June 29. — Mistaking carbolic acid for medicine, Henry St. Amand, of Buckingham, died under tragic circumstances last night. St. Amand had been taking medicine for several months from a bottle he carried around for convenience. Last night he placed the bottle of medicine beside one of carbolic acid. Later he went to take a dose of medicine and in the dark drank from the wrong bottle.

FREDERICTON VETRAN DROWNED.

FREDERICTON, N.B., June 29 — Frederick Lewis Greer, a returned soldier, who served for three years with the 26th New Brunswick Battalion in France and was badly wounded, was drowned last evening at Long's Creek, on the St. John River, 16 miles west of Fredericton, while bathing with a party of his fellow employes of a maintenance of way crew, engaged on the St. John Valley Railway division of the C.N.R.

CHRIST'S HOSPITAL TO TEACH FARMING

To Specialise in Training Boys Who Wish to Emigrate

LONDON, June 16.—(By Mail—Canadian Press).—If we want to find the ideal imperial emigrant, says the Daily Telegraph we must make him, and that is a job for the schools. The way is being shown in a scheme which has been planned by authorities of Christ's hospital. To most of us the name of that ancient foundation suggests such purely urban circumstances as befit the alma mater of Charles Lamb. But Christ's hospital has now for many years been established in Sussex, and there, with 1,200 acres of ground in exchange for the narrow yards of Newgate-street it has ample room for training its boys to become capable citizens of Greater Britain. It is intended that boys who wish to emigrate, and who seem likely to make a success of emigration, should spend their last year at school specializing in farm work and handicrafts. Just as at other schools a boy finishes his general education on the science side or in the army class, or some other resort of specialists, so Christ's hospital will provide for the overseas farmer. It posssesés a manual school in which the skill in carpentry and blacksmiths' work that makes a handy man, can be acquired. There is a small dairy and science farm which afford the instruction in the theory and practice of agriculture.

We are told that fellow many of the boys now leaving our public schools find it difficult to choose a career which either materially or in interest is attractive. As Sir George Perley said, the ordinary boy, at any rate, has a better chance overseas than at home. The experiment of Christ's hospital well deserves study by other schools and encouragement from Governments.

NO ATTEMPT TO RUN CARS IN ST. JOHN

N.B. Power Company's Proposals Rejected by Men

ST. JOHN, N.B., June 29.—Percy W. Thomson, general manager of the New Brunswick Power Company announced at 1.20 a.m. that no street cars would leave the barns this morning. The management decided not to attempt to run cars pending further developments.

The entire proposition of the New Brunswick Power Company was rejected by the employes at their two meetings held here yesterday afternoon and evening by a vote of 214 to 2. The meeting also voted unanimously to accept the finding of the Board of Conciliation. The men expect to go to the various departments as usual today until after the manager of the company has received a notice of their decision on his latest offer in wages.

U.S. OPINION STRONG FOR FREE LUMBER

Chairman Fordney Now Proposes Compromise Plan

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(Canadian Press.)—Agricultural and other Republicans in the House who are opposed to a tariff on lumber from Canada, who planned a protest to the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday against the Fordney plan for a lumber tariff, were obliged to postpone the hearing because of pressure of House business. Another meeting will be arranged.

Chairman Fordney, who has been compelled partially to give way before the strong demand for free lumber, wants now to compromise on a plan to make it optional with the President whether or not to assess a duty on Canadian lumber.

The advocates of free lumber express great reluctance to accept this compromise, fearing that such a provision would lead the fir interest to direct a hard campaign against the President to induce him to impose a duty

CHINESE FIRST PAPERED WALLS

Rotarians Hear Address on Manufacture and Use of Wallpaper

A discussion of the manufacture, preparation and general uses of wallpaper, by Rotarian Cuthbert Glover was the principal feature of the Rotary Club luncheon in Windsor Hotel yesterday.

Commencing with the tree in the forest and the clay in the ground, he traced the process of their transformation, the one into the paper itself, the other into the coloring matter with which the patterns are printed on the paper, and explained how the two finished products were ultimately brought together to form a marketable wallpaper—In the course of his remarks Mr. Glover passed round a sample of paper designed to dispense with the intervention of the professional paperhanger. This paper was partly cut along the sides, so that the trimming could be done without scissors.

Going into the history of wallpaper, he explained that this commodity was first used by the Chinese who sketched pictures in linen and other materials to cover the walls of their dwelling long before the Christian era.

In selecting wallpaper, it should be borne in mind that this was the key of the house decoration. If the paper was wrong, the whole room was wrong.

At the close of Mr. Glover's address, it was announced by the Public Affairs Committee that the playground they had secured on Bleury street behind the Jardin de Danse, through the good offices of Rotarian Copping, was not serving its purpose, for want of supervision. It was therefore decided to supply the necessary supervision at a cost of $150.

It was also announced by past president Philips that the charter for the Three Rivers Club was ready and a deputation would probably go there on July 14 to be present when the new club received its charter.

DROWNING ACCIDENTAL.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of James Belliveau, 28 years of age, whose body was recovered from the Lachine Canal at the rear of the Lasalle gas works of the Montreal Light Heat and Power Company on Saturday morning. The body was identified by Belliveau's wife.

HOW THE EAST SHOULD MEET THE WEST.

THERE are some people who reproach Quebec with being "solid." They might now turn their attention to the West. The Prairie Provinces appear to have made up their minds pretty completely as to the group of politicians whom they propose to trust with the protection of their interests. These politicians have annexed the name of "farmer," and they have contrived to secure a vast amount of agrarian support. But the smooth running of their respective "machines" and the impressive results they get at the polls, show that they are primarily politicians—and politicians of no mean order.

A more ambitious name for the movement is "Progressive," which is favored by such sagacious friends as The Manitoba Free Press. Progressive is an elastic term with a powerful appeal in communities whose chief pride it is to show progress. The late Theodore Roosevelt adopted it for his largely personal movement in the United States; but in the mouths of many of those who shouted it with him, it meant a fantastic assortment of political experiments and economic fallacies which seldom survived the cruel test of adoption when, by ill-luck, they got that far. Progressiveness is a fine thing, providing it is neither progress into a morass nor the progress of a merry-go-round.

* * * *

There is no reason, however, why the traditionally "effete East" should become alarmed over this growing political self-consciousness in the West. The only thing really to be feared is political coma or death. The Westerner is not only wide awake, politically, but he is using the proper constitutional means to get what he wants. He may be right or he may be wrong; but he is taking the democratic, the legitimate, the patriotic method of making his desires known.

It is far better for the nation that he should do this than that he should engage in a sham fight over fossilized issues in which he has no actual interest. We have all been too prone in the past to choose our politics by the name on the label. Any movement which leads men to examine into the political situation more deeply and sincerely than this, and to arrive at independent individual judgments touching the matters in dispute, is a healthy influence in our public life, no matter how far astray it may seem to be going. Thinking citizens can always be appealed to; it is the blind and deaf party fanatic who is dangerously beyond the reach of reason.

What we are seeing now is a very definite and downright expression of Western opinion, put frankly into the common "pool." Our reaction to this should not be resentment, censorious condemnation, nor fear for the future. It should be rather an equal definiteness, downrightness and frankness. Let us put Eastern opinion into the common pool. Then let us discuss our whole set of problems with the same outspoken candor, and arrive at an All-Canadian decision. That is what democracy means.

* * * *

The danger of the situation today lies not in the West, but in the East.

The West is making its position plain. Is the East similarly single-minded and genuine? Have we as completely buried our dead—the party cries, the hackneyed slogans and the broken issues of the past? The West has apparently forgotten what the words Conservative and Liberal once denoted. They are voting with their eyes on the immediate present and the swiftly coming future. Are we? Have we quite cut ourselves free from the glamor of such names as Macdonald, Mowat, Tupper and Laurier? Are we voting with open minds on the issues which will affect our breakfast tables, our jobs, our taxes and our liberties next year and next decade; or are not some of us still fighting the battles of bygone days of which nothing remains but the dust that is clouding our vision?

When it comes to "pooling" Canadian opinion with a view to discovering in correct democratic fashion what is the will of the majority, the opinion of the West will be in the "pool," clear-cut and strongly supported. Will the opinion of the East be there, too, with equal emphasis and precision? It is our business to see that it is. In this respect, we should not carp at the West, but copy it. Eastern Canada should permit its practical experience with fiscal policies, railway adventures and other public issues to mark its ballots—not the magic of a great name, inherited party predilection or poisonous prejudices born of race feeling.

POST OFFICE REFORMS IN BRITAIN.

THE British Postmaster-General has heeded the loud and insistent voices of protest that followed his announcement of a general increase in the rates of postage and has wisely made some concessions. The double rate on printed matter sent Overseas has been dropped in the interests of British trade. Experts in taxation predicted, with the confidence born of study and experience, that the extra $1,500,000, which was all that the proposed double rate was expected to yield, would be more than offset by the loss in other directions which such restrictions of trade, they said, would inflict on British commerce.

Having made this one concession, Mr. Kellaway, the newly-appointed Postmaster-General, refused to go further; the increase on inland postcards and on inland printed matter stands. But Mr. Kellaway was on sound ground when he declared that it was only fair that the deficit on the workings of his department should be made up by increasing the charge for the service supplied rather than by carrying an adverse balance at the end of the year, which, like all other subsidies or deficits, must be borne by the taxpayers. The British Post Office has not always been a losing concern. Before the war there was always a tidy balance to swell the general revenues of the country and during the war these surpluses increased until in 1918-1919 the department showed a balance of $37,000,000, the largest in its history. In 1919-1920 came the first deficit and this was mainly due to the fact that the war bonus to employes was increased from $40,000,000 to $85,000,000, while this year it has risen to $140,000,000.

Deficits are inevitable until that war bonus can be substantially reduced. The employes have agreed that the bonus shall be reviewed every six months and adjusted on a sliding scale to conform with the index figure of the cost of living. As the bonus is now being paid on the basis that living has gone up 165 per cent above the pre-war level, some decrease in the bonus total may be expected shortly.

Apart from the concession with regard to Overseas postage, which will be warmly welcomed in the Dominion, Mr. Kellaway's speech is important because of the introduction of two reforms into the working of his department. There is to be a board of Post Office Heads of Departments, who have hitherto enjoyed no opportunity of meeting one another, thus coordinating the different divisions and assuring a better spirit of loyalty and co-operation. This is an idea adopted from the mercantile world, for no large store or business house on this continent would think of running its business as a bundle of disconnected units having no sympathy nor community of interest with one another.

The other reform which the Postmaster-General proposes to introduce is in the appointment of a Post Office Council in which many of the leading men in the financial and commercial world of London are to serve. The names of these members command general confidence, including as they do men of such eminence in their respective spheres as Mr. Gordon Selfridge; Sir Alan Anderson, director of the Bank of England; Mr. Henry Bell, the managing director of Lloyds Bank; Lord Burnham; Mr. F. J. Blackmore, the president of the National Chamber of Trade, and many others.

There has been a good deal of talk—much of it mere foolish clamor—about business administrations and appointing business men to offices of State. A plan which does not disturb the basic foundations of parliamentary government and at the same time gives the Government the benefit of the best brains of the country is full of augury for more efficient administration of the Post Office and a wiping out of the deficit. The experiment will be worth watching.

MUCH NEEDED INSTRUCTION.

MUNICIPAL LEAGUES have multiplied surprisingly in the United States and Canada during the past fifteen years. Honest and efficient government is their slogan.

One of the surest ways of obtaining better civic government is widespread instruction in civics—through schools, colleges, etc. Recently an important American municipal league investigated the extent and quality of such education, now being given in such places of learning, and reported in the following terms: "The enquiry has revealed a striking ineffectiveness of most of the training imparted, and an almost universal desire on the part of schools and colleges to do something radically better."

It appears the central idea of reform is to make available to every school the latest ideals and experience in civic government. In order that such education might become widespread, municipal leagues appealed to the United States Commissioner of Education, and he promised his co-operation to the fullest extent.

The Commissioner issued a statement to all educational institutions, pointing out the vast importance of municipal education. He asserted that one of the most pressing advance problems was the proper equipping of teachers; for it was very clearly proven that very few teachers possessed the requisite training. The interesting contention was advanced, moreover, that, in less than a decade, the result of widespread municipal education would be the election of a city's most competent men to office, and the consequent conduct of affairs on efficient lines.

There should be something of value in the above to educational institutions in this country. Without doubt, so far as Montreal is concerned there is a splendid field for educational instruction pertaining to higher ideals in civic government.

Absence diminishes minor passions and augments the greater, as the wind extinguishes candles while it fans the fire.—La Rochefoucauld.

Sudden tumultuous popularity comes more from partial delirium on both sides than from clear insight, and is of evil omen to all concerned with it.—Carlyle.

THE WORLD'S PRESS

Calling in the Best Men.

Birmingham Post: Having started optimistically, the Wirth Cabinet has enormously strengthened its prestige and potential power by inducing Dr. Walther Rathenau, the president of the General Electricity Company, to take the post of Minister of Reconstruction.

Wasted Man Power.

Christian Science Monitor: Those accustomed to the good old ways are always insistent in their declaration that the claims of the efficiency experts have been greatly exaggerated. New methods, whatever their virtue, are not always popular. It is observed that it still requires the services of two willing adult workers to display the wonders of a three-ring circus satisfactorily to one youngster.

Praise for Mr. Churchill.

Manchester Guardian: Mr. Churchill delivered at Manchester one of the frankest speeches which we remember from the lips of a Cabinet Minister. Mr. Churchill is known to be a courageous man, and the degree of courage which the speech required will not have taxed his strength. But that a Cabinet Minister should think clearly and honestly and then put his thoughts into words with an entire absence of regard for the political prejudices of the moment, on which his own party has thriven and indeed came into power, is without recent precedent.

No Tiger Hunting With Tino.

London Daily Mail: The British public has not forgotten "Tino's" treacherous conduct during the Great War. It has not the slightest intention of going tiger-hunting with him and alienating the sympathies of the Moslem subjects of the Empire for his sake. Nor does it quite understand why M. Venizelos should have been called in to advise by the British Cabinet. We entertain all due respect for him, but we know that Greece voted against him at the elections by a crushing majority, so that he is a prophet without honor in his own country. There must be no more crusading in the Near East.

The League's Second Birthday.

Springfield Republican: Centennials are usually necessary in order to arouse a minimum of interest in anniversary celebrations; if a thing is 1000 or even 500 years old, so much the better. The League of Nations is only two years old, and it is assumed to be deader than ancient Carthage by the Government of our own country; yet 50,000 people in a great foreign capital give it a birthday party at which no less than forty-eight nations are represented! Mr. Harding's new association of nations is yet to be born, and one is inclined to wager that nobody will live to see a great popular celebration of its second birthday.

Getting Back to Normalcy.

New York Evening Post: There are some very respectable business names connected with the Sell Now League, which has been organised for the purpose of encouraging "intensive selling by manufacturers, sales executives, and merchants at the present time." As we understand the aim of the new organization, the idea is to combat the sit-tight state of mind which is still prevalent among too many business men who will not recognize that the prices of 1919 are gone with the snows of 1919, that losses must be taken, that goods must be moved, and that the only way to stimulate demand and production is to give up waiting for better times, and to make better times.

What the League Has Accomplished.

Indianapolis News: After such a war as that from which the world has only recently emerged there was bound to be great demoralization and uncertainty, and much confusion of purposes. It does not seem reasonable to attribute all this to the League of Nations. The surprising thing is that so much progress should have been made toward restoration. Perhaps the League is entitled to some of the credit. There is one point that seems to be generally overlooked, and that is that some sort of organization, committed to certain broad and enlightened principles, was necessary to restrain the victors from making such a peace as would have been the sure forerunner of future wars. This was the only kind of peace that Europe had ever known. It may be, therefore, that the comparative moderation of the Versailles Treaty is due in no small degree to the fact that the victorious nations themselves were bound by the League covenant.

Another Crank Breaks Loose.

Hartford Courant: The crank we have always with us. In the general upset from the war, cranks have increased either in number or in activity. One has recently broken loose at Chicago. He is offering $1,000 to anybody who will send him one good reason "why the revolver manufacturing industry should be allowed to exist in America and enjoy the facilities of the mails." Presumably the man is a "pacifist" and, now that the war is over between nations, he would make war impossible between individuals. Of course, his proposed legislation would have no such effect. The revolver saves a hundred times as many lives as are lost by its misuse. Killing, when men or women plan to do it, is not dependent on the revolver. The stiletto, the razor, the pocket-knife, the axe, the hatchet, the shotgun, the match, poison and dozens of other means are open to the would-be murderer. On the other hand, the fact that a pistol is supposed to be, or known to be, in a home prevents the incursion of burglars nobody knows how often, for burglars do not publish their plans. Just as a social question the abolition of pistols would make us all less safe than we are today.

A Blow to Human Justice.

London Daily News: It is reported that considerable feeling has been aroused in Germany by the indignant criticisms which have appeared in the British Press on the result of the Leipsic trials. In certain quarters in this country some sympathy has been extended to these German protests. It seems desirable, therefore, to state bluntly and plainly what we conceive to be the ground, and the just ground, of the ordinary Englishman's anger when he reads these sentences. There was a case—in our opinion a strong case—for not trying these criminals at all; for saying that crimes so monstrous committed under circumstances so exceptional were outside the pale of merely human jurisdiction. But the fact that they were brought to trial, wisely or unwisely, implied that the circumstances were not to be held as overriding the crimes; and that these outrages were thought to be legitimate subjects for the application of human law. That being so, the infliction of these nominal sentences in a public proclamation that the law does not regard what these men did as very serious offences. That is a disastrous blow at the credit of human justice. We are told that German law allowed no heavier punishment. So much the worse for German law, and for the lawyers in this or any country who seek to defend it.

Before the Roses and the Longest Day.

So, some tempestuous morn in early June,
When the year's primal burst of bloom is o'er,
Before the roses and the longest day—
When garden-walks and all the grassy floor
With blossoms red and white of fallen May
And chestnut-flowers are strewn—
So have I heard the cuckoo's parting cry,
From the wet field, through the vext garden trees,
Come with the volleying rain and tossing breeze:
The bloom is gone, and with the bloom go I!

Matthew Arnold.

SUMMER READING

THE reading of books as a summer recreation is an established custom. Books with bright colors on the covers are eagerly sought, romance is the favorite theme; out-door adventure has its followers, and the writers of the ever-popular detective tale count their thousands of patrons.

"Summer reading" for too many people, perhaps, means the pursuit and enjoyment of light, frivolous stories. Instructive books helping towards understanding of what is happening in the world at this fascinating time are avoided because of the fear of heavy intellectual labor in the hot weather. The fact remains that a sound, authoritative work on history or economics makes an excellent sauce for summer fiction. No need exists to fear the strain. If the reader who takes up a book on labor or industrial troubles will carefully begin it and make sure of understanding every page as he goes along, he may be surprised at the ease with which he soon floats along with the current of useful information.

Drab, repulsive school books seem to implant in most of us early in life a prejudice against any volume of an educational nature. We fear to transport ourselves back into the endless hours of school. But there never was a time in history when serious works bearing upon the problems of government and industry were calculated to be of greater interest than how. The big, strange events recorded in the press become much more interesting—the strikes, exchange problems, taxation tangles, racial clashes, stock market sensations— once we begin to realize why these things are happening and how, and also once we begin to please ourselves by making good guesses about what is going to happen. Life means much more to the man who tries intelligently to understand than to him who waits each day to be astonished, powerless before events, over-shadowed by the complexity of a little world.

The hard work in reading for recreation an instructive book comes from "skimming over" it. We can fairly skip pages and pages of a tiresome fiction story, but we cannot use this method in reading a solid work. The only way to enjoy an exposition of principles work knowing is to follow it up carefully from the first page to the last.

Great War books are supposed to be unpopular, owing to the flooding of the market in the past, yet there is a form of war stories that never tires one. A book descriptive of the strategy of the armies in the field, like "The River War" in which Winston Churchill explained Kitchener's Soudan campaigns, can be read and enjoyed like any detective story. Follow the maps, trace the action, and there will be no lack of interest.

No book pleasant to read is to be despised; but a great many people permit themselves to be frightened away from the kind of reading they would most enjoy if once they began it.

FROM THE STAR FILES

THIRTY YEARS AGO.
(From The Star File, June 29, 1891.)

Paris.—M. Ribot, Minister of Foreign Affairs, has obtained an assurance that the Czar of Russia and his family will visit the French squadron at Cronstadt in August, and that the Czarewitch will also visit the French fleet on his return from Siberia. French officers will be feted at St. Petersburg and Moscow; and everything will be done, officially, to emphasize the entente between the French and Russian Governments.

Ottawa.—The Shamrock lacrosse team of Montreal was defeated here on Saturday afternoon by the Capitals. The Shamrock line up was as follows: Foley, Brophy, Duggan, Dwyer, Murray, Moore, Kelly, Neville, Macdonald, Tucker, Cafferty, McKenna, Polan.

Lennoxville, Que.—The corner stone of the new Bishop's College School has been laid.

Montreal.—The inundation committee of the City Council met a committee of the Harbor Commissioners again on Saturday to talk over harbor improvement matters. Mr. Henry Bulmer, chairman of the Harbor Board, presided, and read a report from City Surveyor St. George agreeing with Harbor Engineer Kennedy's report on the best means of having the work done.

LEGAL QUERIES

PAYMENT OF RENT.

Q.—Landlord has sent me notice that he has moved and that rent will be payable at address of his residence, which is given; lease states "rent payable at my office." This year I did not receive a lease, only a notice stating increase of rental, which I signed; landlord moved last year, quite a distance and I had to pay car fare to deliver rent every month. Now he has moved still further away; I consider it unreasonable to expect any tenant to follow him with rent wherever he chooses to move to. Please inform me if it would be legal to make him call for rent, which is always ready for the first day of every month.—Mrs. J. M., Montreal.

A.—Your lease states that you must pay your rent at your landlord's office. From the tenor of your letter one judges his office to be in his residence. Your not signing any lease this year makes simply a continuance or tacit renewal of the old one with all its conditions, consequently, you are bound to pay him at his residence.

AGENTS' FEE.

Q.—(1) Are employment agents allowed by law to charge any fee they wish for getting a man a position? (2) What is the maximum fee? (3) Whom are they allowed to charge, the employer or the employee, or both? (4) Are agents liable to any penalties if they promise men bigger money than they get?—W. L., City.

A.—(1) No. (2) It varies with the position. They have a tariff, and you can ask how much it would cost when you go to see them to have your name inscribed on their lists. (3) They would be able to exact a fee from both. (4) If you can prove damages or theft promising you more money than they were in a position to get you, you would have an action.

CAN SEIZE FURNITURE.

Q.—(1) If tenant leaves apartment four months before lease is up, going to another province, can furniture be seized? Can tenant be held responsible for rent? (3) How should it be gone about?—Mrs. R. W., Montreal.

A.—(1) Yes, furniture can be seized. (2) Yes, he can be held responsible for the balance of the term of the lease. (3) It is gone about by legal action.

TAKE JUDICIAL ACTION.

Q.—Husband and I were married thirty-five years ago and have accumulated considerable wealth during our married life; I would like to sell farm and stock and move into town; husband says, he will never sell and that I have no rights here; we purchased farm and stock two years after we were married, from his father and neither of us had any money when we married. Now what share of property is mine? Can I claim half land value and half moveables also, and what steps do you advise me to take? Am I compelled to live here against my wishes, and could I bring farm to sale?—Bridget, Que.

A.—If you are common as to property, that is, if you have no marriage contract, the community property is under the control of your husband, and he cannot compel her to sell. The only possible recourse would be to take judicial action to obtain separation as to property, in which event, you would have a right to one-half of the community property.

THE EDITOR'S MAIL

IS MONTREAL AN EASY CITY?

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—It makes one think why so many thieves come to this city and find the city easy. This is what happens: When a circus arrives here there are a certain class of people that make it their business to look around and see if there are any devices, such as punch boards allowed. If so, they inform their friends around New York and Chicago that the city is not protected, so then they all flock in to the easy city, where punch boards are allowed. It means that the police are slow and that money can keep you out of jail. Do away with punch boards and you will see that you will get rid of pickpockets.

AN EX-CONVICT.

MOUNT EVEREST.

The Editor, The Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—In connection with the article in The Star, on the proposed attempt to scale Mount Everest, I beg to bring to your notice that the photograph stated to be of Everest is actually a photograph of Kinchenjunga and adjacent peaks. The photograph was probably taken from Observatory Hill, Darjeeling, or from Tiger Hill (rising from Senechal plain), near Ghoom. This mountain lies probably 75 miles E.S.E. of Everest and rises to a height of 28,156 ft. I can hardly imagine such an unobstructed view of Everest being available from any point yet reached by explorers. Furthermore Everest is a more pointed peak than that shown in your picture, and cannot properly be seen from the south, the view being partly interrupted by two sister snowclad peaks which flank it. The spot from which your picture was taken is 108 miles from Everest, yet I have seen that peak on a clear morning, at that great distance, its white tip just appearing over the nearer hills. Kinchenjunga is 47 miles from the same spot, and the view is uninterrupted, as your photograph so distinctly emphasises.

R. WOODS.

HANDS ACROSS THE LAKES.

The Editor, Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—As a brother American and a continuous well-wisher for a stronger and closer union between Canada and the United States, as well as with Great Britain and France, permit me to proffer my humble thanks for your clear and comprehensive resume of the reasons why a substitute for the League of Nations, if requested by this country, would be acceptable to Canada.

Although firmly attached to the principle of Washington against any foreign association that might prove entangling, I cannot refrain from expressing admiration, and know that the majority of my countrymen do likewise, at your suggestion of compromise to meet the requirements of the United States. It is a most striking example of the keen desire of your country to strengthen that amity and friendship which has characterized the dealings of our two countries so long and portends well for the continuous peace of our peoples.

Americans have so much in common—and it is refreshing to include Canadians in that term. We can see so many kindred attributes when considering Vimy in conjunction with many of our own sodden ridges—and I would that all Canada—yes all Britain and France—could see the almost universal acclaim when a Canadian achievement, action or story, or when British or French, is depicted before an American audience. Such a sight tightens the heart strings and dims the eye; but shows in every line "We are One." Closer association and more intimate contact dispels for all time, and crushes under foot the action of an ignorant and irresponsible minority who would act to the contrary, any thought that there is any real difference between our peoples, any doubt that we are all for service—for God, Humanity and Country.

CHARLES H. LANE.
39 Pearl street, Hartford, Conn.

"CUTTING OUT THE SLUM."

The Editor, The Montreal Daily Star.

Sir,—I wish to thank you for publishing my letter in your issue of the 21st and which you so appropriately headed as "cutting out the slum." I have to acknowledge with thanks the many good wishes and thanks which have come to me for that letter; but we want more than that. We want actions and pushing power.

May I suggest how improvements might be made? I think it is quite within my province to do so, and God knows we need the improvements badly enough and public opinion needs to be educated and aroused. Not so very long ago the Board of Commissioners recommended to the City Council a list of street improvements including Dumarais. Dumarais is a short, narrow street, barely wide enough for two rigs, running from City Hall avenue to Cadieux street. For two summers past I have tried by petition to get this street asphalted, but Messrs. Jas. Strachan and ourselves of the Montreal City Mission were the only ones that would sign the petition. It would cost our Mission $300 to make the improvement, but we felt it was better to pay out the money that way and improve the health of the people, than to be meeting sickness with charity in the winter time. Then there is the aesthetic element. In this street there are three considerable properties given over to commercialized vice, whose proprietors do not live in the street, and who very well know that the more dilapidated the street, the better the patronage for their properties, and the larger the rental incomes. They would not sign our petition.

It was with great pleasure therefore that I read that the Board of Commissioners had recommended the paving of Dumarais street. I can not say what my feelings were when I read that Mayor Martin vetoed the recommendation! Why did he veto it?

One help to getting rid of the slum is to let civilization into the street and get the people out of the mud holes. While I am at this street let me say that last summer we had in it a very fine example of how Montreal spends a great lot of money and gets no substantial result—sows the wind and reaps the whirlwind. Instead of getting the street asphalted there were many carloads of refuse asphalt brought from other streets and dumped. Then a crowd of men spent considerable time with shovels levelling the "rubbish." Not long afterwards there came a good rainstorm. The next day four men with long-handled hoes scraped the muck to the gutters, and then carters came and carried away what had so recently been brought. It was a splendid example of civic waste—such as one would not be guilty of in his private business.

There are the things needed in this congested area, and I may name four and even five: A public bath for both sexes, youth and adult; a public, well kept, reading room and library, and a public park. And I will add an ample, though not extravagant playing ground, and a suggestive, uplifting piece of sculpture. The present lay-out of the district lends itself to the attainment of these ends, if only those in authority would take hold with an altruistic spirit.

1. A public bath could be placed advantageously in the block bounded by Vitre, Cadieux, St. Dominique and Lagauchetiere. It is not for me to indicate the exact site—that would increase prices.

2. St. Lawrence market could be removed with advantage to the block south of Ontario st., bounded by Cadieux and Grubert Lane or St. Dominique and Grubert Lane.

3. On the site of the present market place there should be a monument in sculpture—historic or inspirational—and with a drinking fountain nearby.

4. At the rear of the monument should be public reading rooms, a building of good architectural design.

5. The area from the property of the General Hospital bounded by Cadieux, St. Dominique and Charlotte, should be turned into a playing ground for the small children of the district. Sixteen year olds can find their way to Fletcher's Field and Parc Lafontaine.

6. Leaving a fringe of business houses on St. Lawrence, St. Catherine and City Hall, the area between Charlotte and St. Catherine, St. Lawrence and City Hall should be turned into a public park, beautiful as Parc Lafontaine.

These are feasible suggestions. There are many more things to say. Of course, we would not forget to widen out that horrible, traffic congesting lane from the General Hospital to St. Lawrence. If these sentences will set some alderman thinking, talking and canvassing, I shall be gratified.

MEN AND MORALS.

The Red Blooded White Man who believes men can and do remain straight writes what is doubtless a sincere expression of his own convictions.

While one agrees with him in principle, he and his coterie of spotless young males must be sadly misinformed as far as actual practice is concerned.

From the earliest known ages down to our present degenerate day authentic historical records—and not "popular novels"—tell us that the male of the human race has always been less moral than the female.

Since the Red Blooded White Man draws from his own limited experiences to prove his point, I will likewise speak from mine—equally limited.

While at college and later during service overseas as officer, non-commissioned officer and man, I came into close contact with "all sorts and conditions of men."

There were several isolated and respected cases of men who "remained straight," but the bulk of my observation would lead one to the conviction that the human male is prone to lamentably promiscuous immorality.

This is indeed regrettable but it is "as it was in the beginning, is now, and evermore shall be." Why?

There seem to be two great reasons—tradition and physical difference.

Tradition has made moral laxity among males highly excusable if not conventionally correct. Our modern social organization does not permit open and unashamed immorality but, sub rosa, it recognizes, expects and condones it.

Perhaps the pre-historic days there was no dual standard. Males and females were both equal moral—or immoral, whichever it was. Personally, I fancy they were immoral and weren't very much bothered by ethics. However as time passed it became the habit to allow the males more scope. Then habit crystallized into an immutable tradition of the human race. Such traditions are our strongest governing forces of today. Physical changes are often occasioned by them. I suppose that away back in the dawn of time our remote ancestors began to consider it not the thing, rather undignified in fact, to suspend oneself by the tail from the limb of one's family mansion. This became a social convention, a tradition, and so Nature, who does not believe in waste, deprived us of that handsome appendage so useful to the simians of today.

But I am getting away from my subject.

Although it is not physically impossible for the normal male to "remain straight" and although the argument that it is not physically desirable has been disproven, nevertheless it is difficult to those composed of lesser clay than The Red Blooded Man.

I have been told by competent authority that, of the two sexes, the sex instinct of the male is the more easily aroused. This, if it is true, and I fancy it is, is unfortunate—but we cannot change it, at least for many generations.

Take the sugar coating from the pill of truth and the result is often an unpleasant taste. It is a pity that I have had to "insult the real manhood of the human race," indeed it is; it is also much to be regretted that this "real manhood" was attained by so few of the residents of that popular, all-the-year-round resort — Flanders Fields. Of course The Red Blooded Man was there, and he was one of the exceptions. THE ICONOCLAST.

While scanning your page, I read the article on a "Man's Past," and it gave me great pleasure to peruse same.

If you can spare one inch of space, I should very much like you to congratulate this gentleman, for his outspoken opinion, which no doubt clashes with a good many opinions on the subject.

If ever I had the pleasure of meeting him, I would be anxious to keep his friendship, and I only hope the writer will be very successful in marriage. GORDON M. FELLER.

MEN WHO ARE GOOD.

I want to write and tell "A Red Blooded White Man, who believes men can and do remain straight," that his letter, through the kind permission of Miss Currie, has changed greatly the opinions of one poor soul. I always thought that all "nice" men were good—that just a certain class were otherwise. Then some people so changed this esteem of mine, that, in time, I honestly thought that "all" men were bad; that when they married, their past had to be forgiven. I, too, am a college student and some of my colleagues informed me that college boys were worse than others; for they thought that since they were university students, they owned Heaven and Earth and all therein. They informed me that were they ever to marry, it should be someone from a small town, etc. So I want to thank you for your letter. How glad I am that you wrote it!

CHANGED OPINIONS.

THE WHITE CROSS.

Being a constant reader of the Star, I always take a great delight in reading your column. I must congratulate you on the excellent manner in which you answer your several correspondents and I perfectly endorse J. M. McDonald's letter re dress. I noticed two verses of poetry of which I believe I am the author, entitled "Laugh". I wrote several in 1914-16. Quite a number were published in the Quebec Telegraph and I may state that I composed several for soldiers who were going to the front, when I was at the Khaki Club in Quebec which I believe was the first of its kind in Canada and I started it for the ladies of Quebec. I am a full-blooded English Canadian and my ambition is to see strict sobriety and morality. Cannot you organize a White Cross Army such as we have in several of our large English cities, viz to re-claim fallen girls and young men? LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

THANKS.

The foregoing has come from Scotland from a young lady who some weeks back asked your advice re getting married, heading which appeared in your column as "Scottish Wedding Bells." She has wished to convey to Miss Currie her best wishes and appreciation of the goodwill in which she so kindly acknowledged her request, and a copy of which she received all right, and wished to say she would be married on the 17th June at Tain, Scotland and would certainly remember Miss Currie and intended mailing her a piece of bride's cake, not forgetting a wee bit o' heather from the bouquet which she hopes will arrive in good condition. She intends to give you a full account when she settles down in her own home and some hints, which may benefit some others and make your column still more prominent in the public eye.

A. R. McLEOD.

For E. C. S. Milne

PROTESTANT.

If you have never seen anything in this page on the subject of mixed marriages, you cannot be a very "constant reader," as I have repeatedly refused to advise on this subject.

RE STENOS SALARIES.

"Ten years experience" has a true grievance but as Dickens said, we live in a world of cold hard facts. Employers are not interested in their employes except to obtain the maximum work for minimum pay, whilst employes thoughts are maximum pay for minimum work. All economic goods, including labor, are subject to the law of supply and demand rather than to the relative costs of production. Ice is free in winter but expensive in summer. When two men are after one job wages are low, and vice versa, wages are high when two jobs are offered one man. For the same reasons rents have gone sky-high. During the war soldiers' wives shared flats with relatives and houses were empty, result—cheap rents. Now houses are scarce—high rents—in spite of the decline in building costs. G. D.

CREPE DE CHINE.

What shall I do with my new, golden-brown crepe de chine suit, that everyone admires and really is so pretty? Every time I sit down on a chair, it gets wrinkled up and looks like a rag. I feel sort of queer walking along, having all the people behind staring and perhaps pointing fingers at me. Who knows, some people are so heartless. Please give me a remedy, so I don't need to sneak along in all the dark side streets all the summer. BI.

Ans:—Crepe de chine does wrinkle and must be pressed frequently. Perhaps if you wore a taffeta petticoat under it, there would be more "body" to the frock.

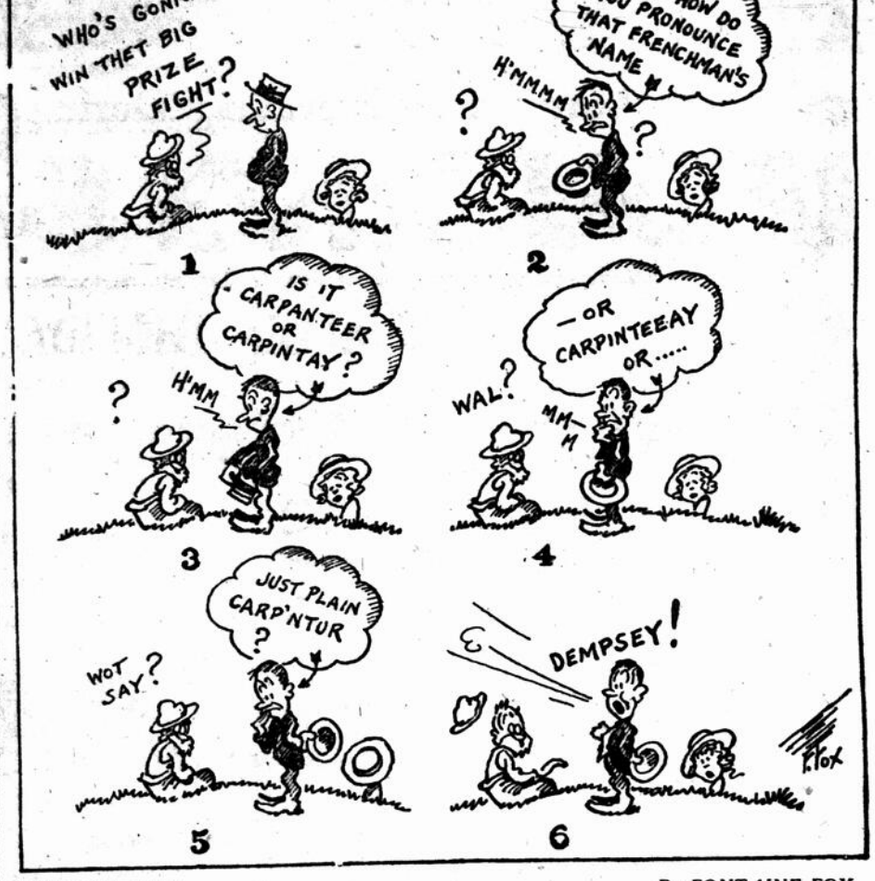

UNJUSTLY PUNISHED.

I cannot understand your husband or his mother and I would advise you to consult a lawyer.

DIMPLES.

I prefer black stockings with black shoes.

A WELL MADE REFRIGERATOR.

A well-made refrigerator is easy to keep clean. The ice chamber is separate from that for food. And subdivided, so that milk, butter and eggs, foods which absorb odors, may be stored by themselves. The interior construction is of wood, galvanized iron, enamel, or porcelain, but whatever it is, it is smooth, free from cracks, resistant to rust and odors, and easily cleaned. Racks are light, easily removed and near enough together to prevent much risk of tipping over food containers.

The hardware is good and stout, to hold the lid and doors firmly closed in spite of constant use, and the door and lid frames are so tight that you cannot slip a calling card inside them when closed. An enamel or porcelain refrigerator is a luxury, not a necessity, for without good care it is not a bit cleaner than one of galvanized iron, but of course it looks better for the same amount of care. Wood is serviceable, but does in time absorb odors and can be kept sweet only by frequent sunning. Metal-lined refrigerator requires constant watching, for it gets slimy and smelly after very few days of neglect. It should therefore be open and easy to clean. If it is connected to the house drain it must have a trap to prevent the inflow of sewer gas. If a drip pan is used it must be emptied twice daily and scrubbed once. Foul odors contaminate food very quickly, and stagnant water becomes foul with incredible speed.

If your house is built to suit you, plan for the refrigerator, near the kitchen, draining with a trap to the house drain, yet so placed that the iceman can wash the ice and put it into the refrigerator.

HEALTH TALKS

By JOHN B. HUBER, A.M., M.D.

"CUB GEDLE SPRIG"

Steer clear of a Spring poet, or anyone else that talks thick and coughs out into the empyrean and sneezes; dodge down a side street when you see such an one approaching as if he were a creditor—one of long standing. For his nose and throat are loaded with germs — of influenza, catarrh, bronchitis, diphtheria, pneumonia, tuberculosis or what not other infection, singly or in assorted mixtures, mostly the latter.

The varying temperature of the spring air—warm today, cold tomorrow—has no more than predisposed him to his cold, by lowering his bodily resistance. There are colds all the year round, because the germs are always with us. In the germless Arctics germs are practically unknown, unless brought thither from civilization. The well-wrapper-up consumptive gets well more surely in the winter than in the summer, for pure cold air is most important in the treatment of that disease. Colds are frequent when Spring comes mainly because of the germs that are inhaled with the wind-driven dust that is impregnated with those germs.

And in the ka-choo-ing of the sufferer those germs are re-distributed into the atmosphere which other people breathe. If such a sneezer is your employe, give him a holiday until he is rid of his cold—in mercy to him, if you like, but more in self-protection and in behalf of your other workers. Else you are likely to have a small but very robust epidemic in your office or establishment.

The lesson here is considerably more than a century old. The sapient Ben Franklin knew a thing or two that nobody in his day and generation ever suspected; and he sensed some things that have had to wait until our own time to be proved—for example, that people caught cold from one another.

People are wont to consider colds lightly. "Nothing but a cold" they say. However, the neglected cold is the most frequent forerunner of consumption—which is not a little thing, but the destroyer of a vast number of our population.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

A TWO-YEAR LIMIT.

I am writing you for advice on a matter that greatly troubles me. I was told by a doctor a couple of years ago that I had lung trouble, and went away to a sanatorium for a while, came back, and felt much better. I don't gain any, but don't lose, just keep the same weight all the time. I have two boys, one six and one three years and six months. We would like to have another child, but on account of my being a T.B., we are afraid, as I have been told by people that a person with lung trouble should not have children, especially the third one, as the mother usually dies at the third child. I would like your advice in this matter, as I am only a young woman of 27. I must say I am not strong, but I manage to do my own work and most of the washing. I have palpitation quite a lot.

Answer—There must not be another conception until at least two years have passed, your tuberculosis having meanwhile been cured. Disobedience of this advice would probably mean fatal results.

Fresh Air.

We are six sisters and sleep in three large beds in one extremely large room. The question is that one of us will not allow the window to be opened in the winter time, which means that we have to sleep in an airtight room all night, the whole winter long. Said girl claims that the night air is not good—I might mention that we cannot open the top of the windows as they are "French windows." Would you kindly explain to her how unhealthy it is for us to be sleeping in a room which has no ventilation at all all night. The window is open all day, but I claim that that does not help in the least.

Answer—The only air that the good Lord gave us to breathe at night is night air. Except for the absence of the sun's rays the night air is as good and pure as the day air. Your sister is mistaken and should not be permitted to prevail. Draughts, however, should be avoided. This can be easily managed by the proper arrangement of screens.

FASHIONS FOR TODAY

Here's a Chic Summer Evening Frock.

No Patterns Are Sold With This.

The sketch offers a suggestion for a chic dinner or dance frock, to be made preferably of taffeta in either a high or pastel shade. Both the vivid and pale colors are approved just now and the choice should be dependent upon the question of becomingness.

This frock is very simple and would be easy to make at home. The puffed sleeves are rather mid-Victorian. In fact there is a quaint old-fashioned look about the entire frock, with its clearly defined waist-line and slightly flared skirt. Sport and utility clothes all lean to the severe straight silhouette, and an occasional flared model for evening or dressy wear is a pleasing relief.

Two shades of taffeta may be combined in this dress, or it may all be in one shade. Little bouquets of garden flowers in a variety of colors give the final finishing touch to the frock, appearing at the neck line, on the sleeves, and at the waist.

It is rather early as yet to offer fall apparel recommendations, as the summer wardrobe has just about had time to justify its existence, but it is interesting to note that fur promises to be very much favored for trimming evening and dinner gowns of even the flimiest materials next season. One charming gown recently displayed by a designer who is now interested only in the season ahead was of pale pink chiffon, brocaded in silver, and trimmed about the short sleeves and skirt with bands of brown fur. The frock, straight and simple, was held in at the waist with a sash of brown tulle that hung well below the skirt's edge, and the skirt itself was longer than Canadian women have seen fit to wear for several seasons, being barely seven inches from the floor.

A HUSBAND TO MARCIA

By CAROLYN BEECHER

CHAPTER XVI.

"You are looking as fit as usual, Aldrich. Anything wrong?" Bob French asked. He had met John in the street and they had stopped to chat a minute.

"No—that is, I am a bit overworked. Don't feel quite up to the mark, that's all."

"Don't push yourself too far. Even a physique like yours won't stand abuse."

"Bob, how do the women stand it?" The question startled Bob French.

"What do you mean, John? Stand what?"

"This constant going? Why, man, they don't stop a minute! Neither your wife nor mine. And thousands of other women like them. Clubs of all sorts—bridge, social and, greatest joke of all, political. Every afternoon something. They gamble, too, all the women nowadays, and are under a nervous strain. Then they hurry home only to bolt their food and rush to the theatre or opera or to give a dinner or to go to one. Dress, rush! I don't see how they get away with it. The worst of it is they drag us poor men along."

"A sort of 'giggle, gabble and git' life they lead, eh? You said a mouthful, Aldrich, when you said the worst of it was the way they drag us poor devils of husbands along in their mad hunt for excitement. Every little while I have to call a halt, but Nell never does. She's a wonder, I tell her."

"I guess there's no use discussing it," John said with an attempt to laugh, "but I feel sometimes that I shall have to rebel. Yet I can't blame Marcia for not wanting to remain at home. She's young, full of life and craves excitement."

"I know—there are two sides to every story, I suppose. Well, so long, John; take better care of yourself."

"So long, old man!"

"Bob's up against it, too," John soliloquized as he went on alone, and in a way he took comfort from the thought. He wasn't the only man who suffered from a too strenuous wife.

Marcia was developing new and strange theories of life and living. John concluded it was due to the influence of the clubs she attended, or rather to the sentiments to which the clubwomen gave expression. One night she remarked:

"What fools some women are! They seem to believe that after marriage the romance continues."

"Then you do not agree with them?" John asked, rather amused at this new development.

"No, I do not!" emphatically. "People settle down to a comfortable companionship. That's all."

"Suppose the companionship isn't comfortable, what then?"

"Either separate or make the best of it."

John knew this was all talk with Marcia; that she really loved him. He knew that she was in a way full of sentiment, so he was not at all worried. But there was another phase.

"Women who married should have a salary equal to half that earned by the husband. He should divide with them. It is only just."

"Where did you hear all that?"

"I have always felt it was only right, but a speaker at the club today made it very plain that women who did not demand it as their right belittled themselves."

John knew Marcia never had thought of such a thing until she had heard the woman she spoke of promulgate the idea, but he asked:

"So you think you should have half of my salary?"

"Yes." A light of conquest in her eyes. She evidently thought it was going to be easy to persuade him.

"And what do you do for me that I should give you half of all I earn? And what will you do with it?"

"Why, I keep your house, don't I? And—and I keep your clothes mended and in order and——"

"You mean I pay the maid to do the work, the seamstress you have once a week to mend my clothes and yours. That isn't what I meant. What do YOU do that you should demand half my salary?"

"It belongs to me because I am your wife!" Marcia declared with a sort of desperation.

"Then you'd pay all the bills of the home with your half?"

"No, indeed! What would I have left if I did?"

"What I have—nothing."

"But you don't understand, John. A wife is entitled to it."

"Perhaps if a wife gives her husband children. If she keeps his home economically and, if necessary, does the work or part of it. If she helps him to earn his money by giving him a restful, happy home. Then perhaps she IS entitled to half or more. But not a bridge-playing clubwoman sort of a wife, who is continually on the wing, who has no time for home or helpfulness. No, Marcia. You are, to be vulgar, barking up the wrong tree. I give you more now than I should, more than I may be able to later unless conditions improve and I feel better. I haven't felt up to the mark lately and may have to drop some of my extra work for a time."

"I can't get along on a penny less. You'll have to do some of the economizing, not expect me to do it all."

THE PASSING HOUR

VERY ENCOURAGING.

He—"Why is your mother afraid of leaving us alone?"

She—"She knows me better than you do. When you know me as well, you'll be afraid to leave me alone with others."

"A flirt am I?" exclaimed Mary Ann," under notice to go. "Well, I knows them as flirt more than I do, and with less excuse." She shot a spiteful look at her mistress and added, "I'm better looking than you. More 'andsome. 'Ow do I know? Your husband told me so." "That will do," said her mistress frigidly. "But I ain't finished yet," retorted Mary Ann. "I can give a better kiss than you. Want to know 'oo told me that, ma'am?" "If you mean to suggest my husband——" "No, it wasn't your 'usband this time," said Mary Ann. "It was your chauffeur."

IN YE BYGONE DAYS.

Good Old Lady—"Here's 10 cents, my good man; but I hope that I don't encourage you to drink?"

Wandering Willie—"Don't worry, kind lady; I don't need any encouragement."

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS

SAMMY JAY CALLS ON REDDY FOX.

(Copyright by J. G. Lloyd.)

As sure as day turns into night
And night must turn to day,
For every naughty thing you do
You'll surely have to pay.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel ought to have known this. Probably right down deep in his heart he did know it, only he wouldn't admit it, even himself. He had stolen the eggs of Drummer the Woodpecker, and had told Drummer that Sammy Jay was the thief. One wrong story had led to another, and these wrong stories had got Sammy Jay into no end of trouble. And all the time Chatterer had chuckled wickedly to himself, and had enjoyed the stolen eggs, and had thought himself very smart, so smart that he never would be found out.

But Sammy Jay is quite as smart as Chatterer, and with the help of Mistah Mocker the Mockingbird he had found out who was to blame for all the trouble they had got into. Now they had planned a trap for Chatterer. Sammy had come to visit Reddy Fox, who is always ready to listen to any plans for mischief and do his share if he is sure that there is no danger in it for him.

"How does it happen," asked Sammy Jay, "that you have never caught that mischief maker, Chatterer the Red Squirrel?"

"Pooh! I never have really tried," replied Reddy, which wasn't the truth at all, for he had tried very often. "I have plenty to eat without going to the trouble of trying to catch Chatterer, but if I really wanted to I could do it easy enough."

Sammy Jay turned his head to hide a smile, for many times he had heard Chatterer calling Reddy names for trying to catch him. "Oh," said Sammy, "I had an idea that Chatterer was too smart for you, but I see I was mistaken. I was just going to suggest that if you was to hide tomorrow morning behind the old stone wall near Johnny Chuck's home in the far corner of the old orchard you would have a splendid chance to catch Chatterer.

"I happen to know that he will try to steal an egg from Drummer the Woodpecker, and of course, if you just happen to be at the foot of the tree when he comes down, why, he will just walk right into your mouth. But, of course, if you can catch him so easily this doesn't interest you. I merely thought I might be doing you a good turn."

Reddy Fox pretended to yawn. "Thanks, just the same, Sammy," said he. "Chatterer isn't worth the bother of catching, but I'm just as much obliged to you for thinking of me."

"That's all right," replied Sammy. "I'm sorry not to have been of service to you. I always like to do a neighbor a good turn, and perhaps I'll have better luck next time."

With that off he flew to hunt up Mistah Mocker. "He pretended that he didn't care anything about Chatterer and could catch him any time he wanted to, and all the time I could see a hungry look growing in those yellow eyes of his. He'll be there all right tomorrow morning," chuckled Sammy Jay as he told Mistah Mocker about his call on Reddy.

And that is just exactly what Reddy Fox was planning as he stretched himself out in his favorite resting place. "Of course it wouldn't have done to have let Sammy Jay think I really wanted to catch Chatterer, for like as not he would have gone straight over to warn Chatterer. My, but a breakfast of red squirrel would taste good! I'll be hiding behind that old stone wall all bright and early tomorrow morning, and we'll see, Mr. Chatterer, if you'll get away from me this time!" And with that Reddy Fox curled up for a nap and dreamed of catching a dozen red squirrels.

That is Just Exactly What Reddy Fox Was Planning.

NEXT STORY — CHATTERER FALLS INTO THE TRAP.

LADY CLOUSTON DIES AT SENNEVILLE

Lady Clouston, widow of the late Sir Edward Clouston, Bart., a former general manager of the Bank of Montreal, died yesterday at Senneville.

The late Lady Clouston who was the daughter of the late George Easton, was born in Brockville, Ont., 70 years ago. In 1878 she married Sir Edward Clouston and resided here during his term of office with the Bank of Montreal. Since the death of her husband, in 1912, Lady Clouston has resided here and at her summer residence at Senneville. She had been ill for a short time and only recently had returned from a trip to Europe.

Lady Clouston is survived by a daughter, Mrs. John Todd, of Montreal.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT, LITTLE GIRL DIES

A verdict of excusable homicide was returned by Coroner McMahon late yesterday afternoon at St. Anne de Bellevue in the case of Marguerite Fleming, eleven years old, who died of injuries received when she was shot by a fourteen year old boy.

Evidence showed that the child and George Palment were playing together last Monday afternoon. The boy had a rifle, and, not knowing that it was loaded, pulled the trigger while pointing it at a dog. The bullet struck the girl in the shoulder.

The Secret Springs of Friendship

By DR. FRANK CRANE

When a man says friendship I think he utters the deepest word in human speech. It ranks even a little higher than love, being a sort of unselfed love, love with the itch and hunger extracted.

We do not love our friends; we like them. We love our children, wife, and parents and kinsfolk. We like apples and custard pie and a cozy fire and a good bed and slippers—and our friend.

Like goes farther in than love. Like is a voice from the subconscious self, a cry from the inward and unknown me. It lies behind the will, beneath the judgment, in the far darkness of our secret soul.

It does not say that a wife cannot be also a friend, but she rarely is; she is usually an enemy to whom we are passionately attached. And if she be a friend, then that friendship has grown up from other sources, and is of a different texture and quality from the sex motives which make marriages. Not many women would tolerate comradeship from a husband. Perhaps this is as it should be, and nature needs fiercer fires for her necessary results.

Still rarer is friendship between parent and child. It is an amazing thing I have noticed here, how warm, intelligent, and cultured father and son both strive for friendship and cannot attain it. Sometimes they succeed, but so rarely that it may be called a phenomenon.

Whence, then, come friends? And who are they? And how can one make them? All answers to these pathetic questions seem to me to be unsatisfactory, partial, insufficient, and by the way. The rules of the wise will not work. We do not make friends by being noble and good; friendship does not arise from similarity of tastes, and otherwise one can, in actual experience, drive a coach and four through all and any of the prescriptions of the proverbial philosophers.

The fact is that the secret springs of friendship are wholly mysterious. Searching for them we must report like the Louisiana sheriff reported on the back of a writ "duces tecum" which he had been given to serve upon a Negro who had escaped into the swamp: "Non comattibus, up stumpum, in swampo." As I look over my friends I find I like them as a dog likes his master. So I conclude that this emotion must originate in some Newfoundland or St. Bernard region of my nature, and is probably one of those instincts not yet eliminated by evolution, something I share with dogs.

For all that I honor it as the best thing I am conscious of. I am prouder of liking my friends than of any other of my small bunch of virtues.

And the bitterest hurts I have ever felt are those made by the disloyalty of others whom I thought friends and trusted. Nothing is so salt and nauseous to the soul as the taste of Judas in the mouth of memory.

More Truth Than Poetry

By JAMES J. MONTAGUE

OVERWORK.

When Uncle Zeke was forty-eight
The neighbors used to say,
"He's lookin' pretty bad, of late,
He ought to learn to play.
A man toward fifty's past his prime,
He oughtn't to forget
If he keeps at it all the time
Hard work will kill him yet."

When Uncle Zeke was sixty-two
The parson shook his head.
"Ezekiel has too much to do;
He's all worn out," he said.
"A man of family has no right
His health to disregard;
I fear he'll pass away some night,
He's working far too hard."

When Uncle Zeke was eighty-four,
Still toiling on his farm,
The boys around the country store
Were moved to grave alarm.
Said they: "He ought to drop the plow
An' spend his time in bed
He's worked too long already now,
Next year'll see him dead!"

Now Uncle Zeke is ninety-three
And works from rise of sun
Till dusk, then stays around to see
The evening milking done.
He's strong of limb and clear of eye,
No job he'll ever shirk,
And still the neighbors prophesy
He'll die of overwork!

NO JUSTIFICATION FOR DESTRUCTION

Mgr. Landrieux Describes Fate of Rheims Cathedral

A moving story of the destruction of Rheims Cathedral by the Germans in 1914 was related last night by Mgr. Landrieux, who was archdeacon of that edifice, and is now a member of the French Mission visiting this country. The occasion was a meeting of the Knights of Columbus, in their Lafontaine Council Hall, Sherbrooke street east, at which Mgr. Landrieux was the principal speaker, and was accompanied by the rest of the mission, with the exception of Marshal Fayolle, its head, who delegated Fournier-Sarvoless, deputy of the Department of Loise, as his representative. Alban Germain, K.C., welcomed the visitors, speaking of the support of the war by the Knights of Columbus, and appealing for devotion to the common traditions of France and Canada.

The wanton destruction of the Cathedral of Rheims, carried out deliberately by a people which claimed to be the greatest in the world, had been an inexpressible misfortune to France and the world, said Mgr. Landrieux, and the object was not so much to raze a splendid fane that had lived through centuries as to destroy the soul of France. No German voice had been raised against the deed, no German action had been taken to punish the doers of an act which typified as nothing else had done the weakness of German "kultur."

There had been no justification for the destruction, said Mgr. Landrieux. The cathedral tower had been used to carry a projector to signal aircraft, but no troops or munitions had been placed there, nor was it used as an observation tower. Many pamphlets and books had been published by the Germans during the war, claiming it was the fault of the French for using the cathedral as a military post, but that was as incorrect as the German invention that only a few of the 150 German wounded in the cathedral had been saved by the French.

Mgr. Landrieux told how it had been bombarded at different times, being struck by about 250 shells, and of the fire which followed. He had hopes, however, that some day France will have, as a lasting monument, a new cathedral of Rheims, rising in its ancient glory.

Other addresses were given by Edmond Brossard, K.C., and by J. Carreard, of the Free School of Political Science, France, who urged the improvement of international trade through a common council of the nations.

BOYS AND RATS

At Fire Investigation These Two Causes Blamed

Mischievous boys were blamed for the fire which broke out in a house being erected on Fullum street, on the night of June 20 and destroyed a large six tenement building. The fire was investigated yesterday afternoon at the Fire Commissioners' Office.

The outbreak of fire at 1319 Papineau avenue on June 27 was attributed to rats lighting matches.

No cause for the blaze which broke out in stables at the rear of 470 Duluth street on June 22 could be found. Witnesses testified that the stable in which the fire apparently originated was next door to a blacksmith's shop.

SUSPICION OF THEFT.

Arthur Turcot, 18 years of age of 97D Beaudin street; Ovid Roch, 1855 St. James street and Aime Desmarceaux, of 13 Marier street, were arrested at a late hour by Constables Lessard and Therrien on a charge of suspicion of theft. This is the first time this charge has been preferred in the Montreal Police Court since the recent amendment to the Criminal Code, at the last session of the Dominion Parliament. The onus of proving their innocence is on the accused.

APPOINT OFFICERS FOR RIFLE MEET

It was arranged last night at a meeting of the executive of the Province of Quebec Rifle Association, that Lieut. Col. H. Harrison, officer commanding the 4th Divisional Engineers, should be the chief executive officer on the ranges and that he should appoint his own range officers at the prize meeting to be held in August.

A prize of $25 offered to the Province of Quebec Rifle Association by the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association for the encouragement of cadets, to which the P.Q.R.A. have themselves added another $35, will be shot for at the annual district camp, now being held at Pointe aux Trembles, on Thursday, July 7. There will be twenty-six prizes, given altogether, the chief of which will be a bronze medal and $10 in money for the best score after firing seven shots at 200 and 500 yards with the short M.L.E. rifle. Another bronze medal has been offered by the D.C.R.A. for the cadet making the highest score in the Province.

It was decided at the meeting that in the case of revolver competitions the Bisley rules should be adhered to.

Those present at the meeting were Lieut.-Col. E. J. Pelletier, chairman of the executive committee; Col. G. Eric McCuaig, O.C., Royal Highlanders of Canada; Lieut.-Col H. Harrison, O.C., 4th Divisional Engineers; Lieut.-Col. C. B. Price, O.C., Royal Montreal Regiment; Major A. McC. Lyle, O.C., 4th Field Company, Canadian Engineers; Capt. H. McDonald, Maisonneuve Regiment; Capt. C. A. Ward, 2nd Canadian Artillery, and the secretary, J. B. Johnson.

FELL FROM STREET CAR.

The condition of Sam Schwisberg, seventeen years of age, of 2146 St. Urbain street, who fractured his left leg in falling from a street car at the corner of St. Lawrence boulevard and Fairmount avenue at 6:30 last night, is considerably improved, according to reports today from the Montreal General Hospital, where he is being treated.

It takes 5,000 honey bees to weigh a pound.

CAMPAIGN OPENS

St. Lawrence to See Warm Political Contest in Fall

The expectancy of a provincial election this fall was in evidence last night when some seventy-five delegates met at St. Lawrence Hall and formally nominated Alderman Lyon W. Jacobs as standard-bearer in St. Lawrence division under the Liberal banner. Mr. Jacobs was nominated by David H. Levison, the nomination being seconded by Joseph Whelan, B.C.L.; Oscar Beauchamp, H. I. Lavut, Lewis Bazar and M. M. Sperber, K.C.

Mr. Jacobs in accepting the nomination outlined a political situation within the division which gives promise of awakening one of the keenest struggles of the next campaign. An effort, it is said, is being made to split the Liberal vote three ways and abundant support was pledged Mr. Jacobs by representatives of many Hebrew organizations present. Louis Diner, B.A., L.L.B., presided with N. Solomon, B.C.L., as secretary. Among those who endorse Mr. Jacobs' candidacy were Samuel Goodman and M. Shulman, promient in local Jewish societies.

An executive committee of ten was formed to carry on the preliminary work and arrangements will be made at once for an active campaign.

JUDGMENT REVERSED IN ACCIDENT CASE

Judgment was reserved by a majority judgment of the Court of Appeal yesterday in a case—heard before three judges—in which the court of first instance had condemned the Consolidated Rubber Company, Limited, to pay $17,500 to Emile Belanger, 26 years of age, to compensate him for the loss of his two arms as a result of an accident which occurred at the company's shops on Notre Dame street east, on April 3, 1919.

The company admitted ordinary liability under the Workmen's Compensation Act and paid $2,500 to the mutilated workman, and this amount was deducted from the amount awarded by the Superior Court, but the company denied that the accident could be attributed to its inexcusable fault. It was declared that the machinery was in perfect working order; that it was supplied with every available safety device, and that proper instructions had been given to plaintiff, so that if any fault had been committed, it was not that of the company.

Belanger in his action sued for $25,000 damages under the Workmen's Compensation Act.

Mr. Justice Greenshields said the majority of the Court was of opinion that in having paid to Belanger the full amount that was due under the Workmen's Compensation Act for complete permanent incapacity, its whole liability was discharged, and no additional amount could be exacted for inexcusable fault. Mr. Justice Martin concurred, but Mr. Justice Tellier dissented.

Casgrain and Co. appeared for appellant; and C. Rodier, K.C., for respondent.

THIEVES TAKE TRAY OF RINGS

Residents of the vicinity of the jewelry store of A. Bissonette, of 2477 St. Hubert street were startled from their sleep Sunday night to hear the crash of breaking glass. Looking in the direction of the sound they saw three men running down the street to a waiting automobile. Further investigations were made and it was discovered that the plate glass window had been broken and a tray of rings, valued at $500, stolen. The theft was reported to the police department. The thieves made their escape.

CADORNA LATEST WAR HISTORIAN

Trentino and Isonzo Operations Chronicled by Italian C. in C.

MILAN, Italy.—(Special Correspondence by Dr. Mario Borsa to Montreal Star and Chicago Daily News Correspondence Copyright).—By the courtesy of Gen. Cadorna I have read the proofs of his book on the Italian war. It is in two volumes, with three large maps, and bears the title. "La Guerra Alla Fronte Italiana—Fino all'arresto sulla linea della Piave e del Grappa." (Milano, Fratelli Treves. L. 70.) It is the first authoritative narrative of the operations of the Italian army and it gives a luminous view of the whole campaign.

The winter of 1915-1916 Italy passed in reorganizing and strengthening the army, a task singularly difficult when one remembers that the Italians were fighting on mountains from 6,000 to 10,000 feet high, where avalanches frequently overwhelmed transport columns and buried whole companies of men. Toward the end of March, the concentration of masses of Austrian troops in the Tyrol was signaled. Gen. Cadorna visited the threatened sector, and found that his instructions as to the lines and works of defence had not been well carried out. He gave such orders as he thought would improve the defensive situation, although he did not believe at the time that the enemy would launch a big offensive in the mountains of Trent. For this lack of forsight he defends himself. It is a prudent prin ple, he says, to attribute to the enemy only logical and rational plans. How, then, could he have believed that the Austrians would make an attack in such an eccentric zone, ill-joined with the rest of the empire by two railways if only one line apiece? Besides, how could one think that the Austrians would risk a big attack when everybody knew—and they, too, should have known—that the great offensive of Brusilov was imminent? The assumption of Cadona was that the Austrians would operate on the Trent front only to prevent the Italian forces from attacking on the Isonzo.

But things turned out in a different manner. On May 14, 1916, the Austrians started on the Trent front that offensive that they called the strafe expedition (punitive expedition). The attack was violent and the enemy succeeded in gaining considerable ground in the center—that is to say, on the tableland of Asiago—while the two wings of the Italian army in Val Lagarina and in Val Sugana withstood the onslaught.

SURRENDER INITIATIVE

After July, Gen. Cadorna resumed preparations for his great attack on Goritz. The Austrians did not expect an offensive in the zone of the Isonzo after the long and costly struggle in the Trentino. Therefore when Cadorna began to advance in August, they were taken completely by surprise. During the first week of August one after another of the heights which constitute the bridgehead of Goritz was stormed and taken and the town was entered by the Italian troops on the morning of Aug. 9. Gen. Cadorna complains that this military success was not fully exploited on account of the failure of some of his generals to carry out his orders, which were not to rest in Goritz but to pursue the fleeing enemy and to occupy the mountains north and east of the city.

Of Cadorna's victory in the battle he designates as the battle between the Idria and Timavo. Sig. Bissolati has written that it was "the victory that saved Italy from a breakdown." But why this success, so gallantly achieved, not followed up? Gen. Cadorna's answer is this: He admits that he intended to prepare at once for resumption of the offensive moment, but he received information which made him change his plans. The Russian situation was precipating, and great reinforcements were being hurried from the eastern front to the enemy on the Isonzo.

It was evident that the Austrians meant to try to retake the lost ground and at the same time restore the spirit of their troops. When he was convinced that an attack in great force was probable, he immediately gave orders to pass from the offensive to a defensive organization of the Italian front, and informed the Allies of his decision. But the Allied chiefs of staff did not seem to appreciate the reasons given. They never believed, to the last moment, in a great combined German-Austrian effort on the Isonzo, and, therefore, disapproved the change in Cadorna's plans. The consequence of this difference of view was that they withdrew the ninety-five Anglo-French guns which had been in Italy since the previous spring, and suspended the dispatch of 102 French guns which had already been promised. This momentary disagreement with the Allies, observes Gen. Cadorna, would not have arisen if then had existed the inter-Allied military council which had its birth a month and a half after, but only as a consequence of the sad experience of Caporetto.

CAPORETTO DISASTER.

With that sad experience Gen. Cadorna deals in the second half of his second volume. The Italian command had obtained a few days before, from some deserters, important information regarding the impending attack. The only point upon which Gen. Cadorna remained in doubt was whether the attack would be limited to the zone Plezzo Tolmino or would be extended to the sea. Anyhow he insists on saying (and proves by numerous documents) that he gave in time all the necessary orders and instructions to the command of the several armies, and especially to Gen. Cappello, command of the second army. Nor is it possible to say that he had denied them the required means, as the Italian forces facing directly those of the enemy in the sector where the attack developed were superior by fourteen battalions. The artillery, too, was abundant. Gen. Cappello, commanding the second army, had given brilliant proof of his ability in the taking of Gorizia and in the battle on the Bainsizza the preceding month. There were, however, between him and Gen. Cadorna differences of opinion as to what would be best to do in view of the threatened attack. Given the preparations made, the abundant artillery, the strong natural positions occupied, the proved ability of the chiefs, Gen. Cadorna says it was logical that he should have been confident that the Italians would arrest the offensive. The morale of the men was represented to him by his subordinates, on the eve of the battle, as satisfactory.

The enemy attack began early in the morning of Oct. 24 and obtained in the first twenty-four hours an unexpected success. Gen. Cadorna that evening thought of the possibility that the enemy could overflow to the plain of Cividale. He did not despair then and the morning after of being able to hold the enemy in the mountains.

LINE OF THE PIAVE.

During Oct. 25 the breach made in the Italian front widened to alarming proportions. "From hour to hour, all precipitated, and the situation grew always more tragic." These are the only words which reveal a sense of emotion. From the pages of this chapter, as well as from the testimony of all those who were near him in those terrible moments, it appears evident that Gen. Cadorna preserved all through an admirable calm and a lucid vision. Having failed in the effort to stop the rush of the Austro-Germans on a line which pivoted on Mount Maggiore, he gave the order of the general retreat on the River Tagliamento. He did not hope to be able to remain on the Tagliamento, and in the first instructions sent to the commanding officers of the various armies he hinted at the Piave as the more probable line of resistance. The Tagliamento line was abandoned Nov. 5, and on Nov. 7 Gen. Cadorna addressed a proclamation to the troops which ended with these words: "We are inflexibly decided. On the new positions reached, from the Piave to the Stelvio, one defends the honor and the life of Italy. Every man must know what is the cry and the command which come from the consciousness of the Italian people; here we must die, not retire."

His trust was rewarded. The enemy's invasion was definitely arrested on the Piave, and was arrested exclusively by the Italian forces.

LORD LEE'S GIFT

Model Farm at Chequers Will Educate Premier

LONDON, June 14.—(Canadian Press Correspondence).—Lord Lee, who recently donated to the nation his beautiful country residence, "Chequers," in Buckinghamshire, as a residence for the Prime Minister, has now considerably enlarged his gift. He had added to it several farms, aggregating about 700 acres, and some 600 acres of woodland.

The farms are fully equipped with livestock and up-to-date farm machinery, buildings, barns and growing crops and include seven cottages just completed. With the woodlands goes a new steam sawmill. The Ministry of Agriculture will be the custodians of the property.

The Minister of Agriculture hopes to utilize the gift not only to help educate farmers but also the Prime Minister, whoever he may happen to be.

IN TRAINING.

"Augh—Waugh—gr-r-r!"

It was the baby, and he had made similar remarks steadily for the last hour. Mr. Newpop's hair—what was left of it—stood on end.

"Gnow ahwb wombdgou filgaur-r-r-r;" remarked the baby, lustily, while the people living across the way rose from their beds and closed the windows ostentatiously.

Mr. Newpop ground his teeth.

"To think," he murmured wearily, "that I should have lived to become the father of a train announcer!" —Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

A TIME FOR ALL THINGS.

A clergyman was preaching when an officer in a territorial corps entered his church in the middle of the sermon and spent some time ostensibly in search of a seat, but really in displaying his uniform for the admiration of the ladies in the congregation.

His vanity, however, received a sudden check when the minister, leaning over the pulpit, said:

"O, man, will ye sit down and we will see your new breeks when the kirk's done."

THAMES TUNNEL

LONDON, June 28.—(By Canadian Press Correspondence).—The proposed new tunnel under the Thames between Gravesend and Tilbury will depend for its usefulness on a new line of railway providing a direct link between Dover and the Kent coast and the towns in the Midlands and the north of England. The tunnel after uniting the Southeastern and Chatham and Midland lines, south and north of the Thames, would serve a new line running northwest from Pitsea connecting with the Great Eastern at Ingatestone and Sawbridgeworth, with the London and Northwestern at Luton, and with the main Midland line at Bedford. It is estimated that the tunnel will cost 2,500,000 pounds and will take two years to complete.

Milestones

DOMINION Day—The day commemorating Canada's birth as a nation! How royally the first Dominion Day was celebrated, fifty-four years ago! Rejoicings began as the midnight hour was struck. Instantly followed riotous pealing of bells. Sky rockets pierced the darkness, great bonfires lighted the heavens, and high up in the Cathedral tower deep toned bells chimed the National Anthem.

Day dawned on a blaze of flags—a nation holidaying with military parades, band concerts, fireworks. In every city, town and village athletic contests testified to the virility of the young nation.

* * *

Let Dominion Day this year reflect that enthusiasm of half a century ago. Again let the youth of the nation match strength and skill in athletic sports! And at the end of the day what more fitting reward for prowess in the field of sport than an Elgin Watch?—the Elgin which, older than the Dominion, has faithfully recorded the passing of each milestone since Canada's first birthday.

TELEPHONE BILLS GO OUT EACH MONTH

New Departure to Accommodate Patrons, Says Company

Commencing with July first, subscribers to the Bell Telephone Company's telephone service in Montreal, will be required to pay their bills monthly. F. G. Webber, local manager of the Bell Telephone, told The Star this morning, that a new policy had been adopted by the company, and that hereafter the householder would receive his telephone bill at the end of each month, instead of quarterly. The change had been made to accommodate the public, said Mr. Webber. It had been found that many people disliked paying the full three-months' bill, and would prefer to pay a smaller sum oftener. Most of the household bills come in at the end of the month, said Mr. Webber, and people are acustomed to paying then. In Toronto notices of the new departure have already been sent out by the company, but so far none have been received by subscribers here. The annual moving season is now practically over, with its heavy tax on the company's organization. The Montreal staff has handled so far this year 15,872 telephones: installations, take-outs and changes. These figures are slightly less than those of last year for the same period, when 16,920 were recorded, and go to prove that the May moving was not so general as was expected in February.

This year's figures include 1,120 cases of new telephones installed, 2,512 taken out, and almost six thousand moved out of premises vacated and changed to the locations where the new tenants were coming. "It is not only the physical moving of the plant which makes the work so heavy, but the changes in directory, changes in accounting methods, alteration of traffic records and changing of numbers," said Mr. Webber.

HUSBAND LOCATES MISSING FAMILY

The wife and children of W. J. Bailey, of St. John's, Que., who mysteriously disappeared from the Moreau street station of the Canadian Northern Railway about two months ago, have been located in Ottawa according to a letter received by Sergeant Detective William Lamot, who had charge of the hunt for the missing family. The husband and father has made a country wide search for his family, which was seen leaving the Moreau street station in a taxi cab with a short dark man. He finally located them in Ottawa. He placed the two children in a home, and states that the Ottawa authorities have ordered the man in the case to leave town.

NO MONEY

Civic Construction Projects are Held Up

The Adminstrative Commission has informed Ald. Bedard that although it agrees that the covering in of the Little St. Pierre River and making a sewer is necessary, they are informed by the city comptroller that there is no money available at the moment for the work.

The Commission also informs Ald. Sansregret that there is no money available for the construction of a tunnel under the C.P.R. tracks at Delorimier avenue, but suggests that possibly the new administration may be able to find the necessary funds if they think the improvement is desirable.

Ald. Rubenstein is informed that the Commission does not think the time opportune for the amending of the city traffic by-law making Hutchison and Durocher streets one way thoroughfares, as he had suggested in a motion passed at the last Council meeting.

MORE FOR EXPROPRIATION.

The City Council at its next meeting will be asked by the Administrative Commission to vote an additional $14,263.39 for the cost of expropriating property for the widening of St-Denis street from Carrieres street to the tunnel. The council had previously voted $72,073.60, but the award of Adrien Beaudry, president of the Public Service Commission, fixes the amount to be paid for expropriations at $86,366.99.

FOUR MOTORS STOLEN.

Four automobiles were stolen Monday in the city according to police reports made to Col. F. M. Gaudet, Director of Public Safety, one of them being recovered during the night. The cars that are still missing are a Hudson touring car, a Chevrolet touring, with an Ontario license number and a McLaughlin touring car. During last night the police searched 95 people between the hours of midnight and 5 o'clock this morning as well as ten automobiles. They arrested one man for loitering, but did not discover any weapons.

BODY NOT FOUND.

No trace has yet been found of the body of George Tompkins of Ile Perrot, who was drowned when he and a friend fell from a motor yacht near Ile Perrot on Friday afternoon. Search for the body is being made by a large party of men at the western lake township.

PARLIAMENTARY CANDIDATE.

At a meeting of electors of St. Lawrence division held on Monday, Joseph Cohen, prominent in legal circles in Montreal was nominated as the standard bearer of the Independent Liberal party of the forthcoming elections, to be held this fall. Mr. Cohen in accepting the nomination, stated he was not going to follow the Government but would be governed by his own views and the wishes of his electors. Mr. Cohen is well known in Montreal and together with having an extensive legal practice is a member of the following clubs and charitable organizations:— Montefiore Club, Club Canadian, Montreal Press Club, Trustee, Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, Honorary President, Montefiore Orphans Home and Hon. Secretary United Hebrew Free Schools.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH.

A verdict of accidental death was returned yesterday at the inquest into the death of Mrs. H. Barris, 28 years of age, of 9 Park avenue, who was drowned while bathing in the Richelieu River at Chambly Basin early on Sunday.

WRITS GRANTED AGAINST JUDGES

In the Practice Court yesterday, Mr. Justice Surveyer permitted the issuing of writs on several applications made by J. O. Gagnon, advocate, acting for six different persons seeking writs of certiorari against Judges Lanctot and Leet, and officers of the Inland Revenue Department. The writs were made returnable within the statutory delay of six days.

The petitioners are Joseph Calixte, Levis Harbec, Laurent Ferrelec, Victor Bourdeau, Noel Bernier and W. Bernier, condemned by Judges Lanctot and Leet, upon the complaint of G. A. Loranger and J. A. Masson, Federal Revenue Officers, of having had an illicit still in their possession.

Bovril Sandwiches are excellent

Many people prefer Bovril sandwiches to any other kind. They are prepared in a minute and provide a meal as nourishing as a many-course dinner.

The bread and butter should be cut very thin, and spread evenly with Bovril straight from the bottle. You can add cucumber, lettuce or cress, or sliced hard-boiled eggs, if you prefer.

You will be delighted with the appetising, savoury flavour of Bovril sandwiches; and they can save you a lot of cooking in the hot weather. Get a bottle of Bovril and try them to-morrow.

APPRECIATION OF GLAXO. From doctors, nurses, mothers.

Proprietors of Glaxo: Joseph Nathan & Co. Ltd., London & New Zealand

"THE doctor says I'm a wonderful mother, but all mothers could be wonderful if they did as I did and sent for a Glaxo Baby Book, and carefully followed the rules and directions." So says one mother. Others say: "The Glaxo Baby Book is a real treasure and has helped me very much." "We make constant reference to the Glaxo Baby Book and find it an invaluable guide." "Any time I feel worried I just look at my Glaxo Baby Book—it is so valuable that I think every mother should have one."

The 136-page GLAXO BABY BOOK has been described by a mother as "a perfect mine of necessary information." It is, indeed, a real guidebook to wise motherhood, and in its simply expressed and easily understood pages both the expectant mother and the mother of babies will find the most complete information as to Baby's needs in health and in sickness. The Glaxo Baby Book is treasured and constantly referred to in over a hundred thousand homes, and no one who has a baby, or expects a baby, should be without it. See table of contents on this page.

THE GLAXO WEIGHT CHART gives average weights and heights at different ages, and enables a mother to keep a proper and accurate record of Baby's progress week by week. By the use of the Glaxo Weight Chart a mother may almost, as it were, "see Baby grow."

"BEFORE BABY COMES"

A talk to Expectant Mothers—presented in the form of a dainty little book (28 pages and cover). The expectant mother cannot fail to derive confidence and comfort from this little book. NESTLE PERMANENT WAVING — FIRST FLOOR.

BRITISH COMMONS SANCTIONS WAGE SUBSIDY SCHEME

Concede One Condition Required by Miners to Complete Settlement

NEW WAGE BASIS

Lloyd George Justifies Subsidy on Ground Export Areas Hard Hit

LONDON, June 29. — (Associated Press.) — The prolonged stoppage in the coal industry will end Monday by a settlement reached yesterday, when the Government agreed to renew its offer of a subsidy of £10,000,000 to avert the hardships of the next three months, because of necessary wage reductions, thereby conceding the one condition required by the miners in the settlement reached Monday between the miners and the mine owners.

By the terms of the new arrangement a new wage basis will come into effect for the next eighteen months, whereby the miners receive 20 per cent above the pre-war scale of wages, with an additional share of profits on an agreed percentage basis, which will be regulated by the creation of a national board and district boards.

Parliament's sanction to the subvention is certain, and little doubt is entertained that the miners will accept the advice of their executive and resume work forthwith.

The settlement is only a slight modification of the terms the miners rejected by their last ballot, and covers the period up to September 30, 1922, but either side must give three months' notice of a desire to terminate the agreement, during which time the new wages will prevail.

LLOYD GEORGE JUSTIFIES MOVE.

Announcing the settlement in the House of Commons yesterday, Mr. Lloyd George justified the granting of the subsidy on the ground that the coal exporting districts were so hard hit by the collapse of the export trade that, if economic conditions had full play, there would be unsupportable reductions in wages.. The settlement, he said, was a great and promising experiment; no such principles had ever before been applied in such a vast scale in any industry. He was hopeful that it would inaugurate new relations between capital and labor, not only in coal, but other industries, and he believed that if it was sincerely carried out with good will it would repay the nation for all the damage suffered through the dispute.

A national board, with district boards, will be created, respresenting equally the miners and mine owners, to regulate the rather complex system of profit sharing, under which 83 per cent of the proceeds, after the payment of standard charges, will go to the miners in the shape of wages, and the remaining 17 per cent to the owners.

94 DAYS' DURATION.

The British coal industry will have been idle 94 days when the miners resume Monday. While in point of duration this closely approaches the record for a British mine stoppage, established in 1897, when the strike lasted sixteen weeks, its effect upon the nation's industrial and economic life admittedly has been far more disastrous. Through the enforced closing of steel mills and the curtailment of rail services and other industries closely allied with or dependent upon mining, the ranks of the unemployed have been enormously swelled, and the resultant hardships have been increasingly felt by owners, investors, workers and all classes of the population.

The present strike is popularly regarded as the most injurious the country has ever suffered. The most dramatic incident of the protracted dispute was the cancellation by the Triple Alliance of its orders for sympathetic walk-outs by the railwaymen and transport workers on the eve of these orders becoming effective. At that time the Government was holding thousands of men under arms through the Royal proclamation of a state of emergency.

The coal stoppage—the miners have insisted throughout that they were locked out and had not gone on strike—began with representations in behalf of the miners that they were fighting for the whole working classes against the efforts of employers and owners to break up the system of national negotiations and get back to the days of district settlements, with which was coupled the contention that the miners were the first to contest the announced intention of employers generally to reduce wage scales practically to pre-war figures.

In view of the final adjustment of the miners' dispute, the country is less apprehensive as to what may result from withdrawal of the Government's subsidy on the railroads in August. It was what was described as the "premature" cancellation of the Government's financial assistance to the coal industry that precipitated, according to the miners, stoppage of work, and in some quarters there have been fears that a similar difficulty might follow the cessation of aid from the treasury to the railroads.

MEN REJECTED OFFERS.

LONDON, June 29.—The proposals of the employers of the engineering trades for wage reductions have been voted down by a ballot of the engineering unions, it was announced this forenoon. The ballot resulted in a majority of 132,518 against acceptance of the proposals, or about 2 to 1 in the negative.

The taking of the ballot was decided upon June 15, after the Government had intervened in the engineering crisis with a view to averting a strike which would affect more than 1,500,000 men. The employers then agreed to postpone issuing lockout notices until the end of June in order to enable the unions to submit the proposals to a vote.

Notwithstanding the result of the ballot, it was stated that the parties to the dispute were hopeful of reaching a settlement at a meeting to be held this afternoon.

LIBERTY LEAGUE REQUIRE MONEY

TORONTO, June 29. — A fund of $500,000 is required by the Citizens' Liberty League if it is to carry on, according to its active spirits who advanced the proposal and secured endorsement of it from a general meeting of the league which was held last night. Wealthy citizens who are sympathetic with the league and its objectives will be asked within a few weeks to contribute liberally to this fund.

GENERAL SEMENOFF HAS DISAPPEARED

Makes Sudden Departure from Steamer in Vladivostok Harbor

TROOPS ON MOVE

Anticipated Separate Gov't May Be Set Up at Grodekovo

VLADIVOSTOCK, June 29.—(Associated Press).—General Semenoff, the anti-Bolshevik leader who for some time has been on board the steamer Shodo Maru, from which he was not permitted to land, disappeared from the steamer Sunday night.

Prior to the disappearance of Semenoff his troops left in the direction of Grodekovo, about one hundred miles northwest of Vladivostock on the railway, from which place it is anticipated a separate government may be proclaimed. One regiment which was seen on the way to Grodekovo was accompanied by an automobile having in it Russian and Japanese officers.

A number of Semenoff's followers here have been arrested. Negotiations between Somenoff and M. Merkuloff head of the anti-Bolshevik Government in Vladivostock, have resulted in failure. The Government organs allege that Semenoff demanded $200,000 as a consideration for noninterference in the situation.

Semenoff was perhaps the most prominent of the anti-Bolshevik leaders in eastern Siberia until his forces and other opponents of the Moscow Government were badly broken up in the Bolshevik sweep eastward more than a year ago which resulted in the collapse of Admiral Kolchak's All-Russian Government at Omsk and was followed by the establishment of governments more or less friendly to the Moscow regime at Chita and Vladivostock. Semenoff disappeared from view for some time. It was reported that he was in Manchuria.

When a group of anti-Soviet forces formerly under the command of the late General Kappell recently occupied Vladivostock and organized a new Government there headed by Merkuloff, it was reported that Semenoff was interested in the movement and that he intended to proceed to Vladivostock. The leaders of the Vladivostock Government, however, were quoted as declaring that Semenoff's intervention would create complications, as he was regarded as extremely reactionary, and it was announced that Merkuloff had sent a message to Semenoff requesting him to keep away from Vladivostock.

Nevertheless Semenoff arrived in Vladivostock harbor early in June, but since that time had been prevented from landing by the Anti-Bolshevik forces. His debarkation also was said to have been protested by the Foreign consuls.

THE ROTARIANS ENJOY THEMSELVES

Variety of Entertainment Feature of Visit to London

LONDON, June 16.—(Star Special by Mail from Doris Hemming.)— The Rotarian Convention almost assumes a Canadian aspect with the election of Dr. Crawford C. McCullough, of Fort William, Ont., as president of the International for the coming year. Of the 742 clubs represented in the delegation now visiting Great Britain, no fewer than 33 are Canadians. The total number of Rotarians in the party is very nearly 1,500 an unwieldy body when it comes to planning functions and securing hotel accommodation.

The delegates are expected to arrive in the metropolis next week, and preparations are going forward at all speed at the London Club in the city. The program is designed to suit varied tastes, is as comprehensive as the proverbial Cook's Tours, in fact does include "Cook" on whom the Rotarians are relying for certain of their travel features.

Unlike the entertainment planned for the average convention at which the guests move from place to place in a body compact and indissoluble. Each Rotarian is asked to state his preference and attend only the functions that interest him. In this way the problem of catering for 1,500 visitors has been solved, and at the same time the risks of boredom reduced to a minimum.

The London program is accordingly delightfully varied, and the members are at liberty to attend or not as they please. The first item is a memorial service in Westminster Abbey, after which a wreath will be placed on the cenotaph as a tribute to the heroes of the British Empire and Allied nations who fell in the Great War.

Luncheons and garden parties follow, given by clubs and individual Rotarians. The Ancient Company of Vintners invite the delegates to lunch at their historic hall, and those interested in ships and shipping may visit the Victoria and Albert docks as the guests of the Port of London authority. A garden party will be given by the Hon. Mrs. John Fortescue, an interesting society woman whose husband is librarian to the King at Windsor.

On the 22nd of June the Lord Mayor and the Corporation of London tender a reception at the Guildhall, the beautiful old building in which the Freedom of the City is conferred on distinguished citizens of the British Empire. The London Fire Brigade have arranged a special display on the same day.

The twenty-third will be Rotarian Night at the Coliseum, the largest vaudeville theatre in London. Then follows a day at Windsor and Eton for those interested in history and royal display.

The British Government has invited the delegates to a garden party at Hampton Court Palace, in the luxurious grounds where Wolsey walked and fed ambition as he walked. The British-American Dance Club has arranged a dance, and H. Gordon Selfridge, the millionaire merchant prince, of London, bids the Rotarians to Lansdowne House, the historic Piccadilly mansion that he has rented for the season. It was in Lansdowne House that the Duchess of Devonshire passed her girlhood, until with her marriage she went three doors down to Devonshire House, that stands forlorn and empty today. The conclusion of the program on the 29th is a rose show in Regents Park, where the lovers of gardening will have an opportunity of admiring the rare blooms produced in the moist British climate.

At the close of the London visit the Rotarians will dispense, going in every direction as the spirit moves them, from Paris to Cairo, from Brussels to Cardiff. In every city they will be met by fellow Rotarians who will entertain them and show them the natural and industrial interests of the region.

WIDE RESEARCH

Expedition to Sail from London in August—Financed by J. L. Rowett

LONDON, June 29. — (Associated Press.)—Sir Ernest Shackleton, who commanded the British Antarctic expedition in 1907-09—which reached within 97 miles of the South Pole — and also the Antarctic expedition in 1914-16, will be the leader on a new voyage of discovery covering 30,000 miles of unchartered sections of the Southern Atlantic, the Pacific and Antarctic seas. He will sail from the port of London the end of August in a 200 ton ship, brigantine rigged, name The Quest. He will have with him a small picked staff, including six companions of former polar expeditions. The Daily Mail publishes this announcement.

The expedition, which will be called the Shackleton-Rowett Oceanographical and Antarctic Expedition, will be financed by John Queller Rowett of Agricultural Research, and Frederick Becker, a well known paper manufacturer. The Quest will be equipped for every branch of scientific research. She will carry a complete hydrographic survey and soundings and will touch at various little-known islands, where the flora and fauna and geographical and geological structure will be studied and photographed. A specially constructed seaplane will be taken, and air currents will be charted.

FIRST TO THE SALVAGES.

The first objective will be the Salvages, a group of rocky islands in the Atlantic between the Canary and Madeira islands; thence the vessel will proceed for St. Paul's rocks, a little known island on the equator; thence to Trinidad, where Shackleton landed in 1901 from Captain Scott's ship Discovery and saw the great petrified forest, which will be explored.

Shackleton will then go to Tristan da Canha, in the south Atlantic and Gough's Island, 8 miles long and 4,000 feet high, which has been only once visited before, by the Bruce expedition in 1904, when four unknown species of birds were observed.

Soundings will be taken of the ocean plateau about Gough's Island in an endeavor to settle the surmises regarding an underwater continental connection between Africa and America.

TO UNCHARTED SEAS.

The vessel will continue on to Capetown, whence begins the exploration of Antarctic regions where no keel has been in the last ninety years. Enderby Land will be visited. This is a large tract, but whether a continent or an island is unknown, as its limits remain unmarked. Possibly the icebound coast may bar the progress of The Quest, but if she succeeds in getting through the pack ice interest centers in whether she will come upon volcanoes or open seas.

The vessel will emerge from the Antarctic by the Weddell Sea and call at the South Sandwich Islands and South Georgia. She will then proceed eastward and make landings at various sub-antarctic islands, such as Bouvet Island and Heard Island.

The next country to attract The Quest will be New Zealand, and the Pacific will be dredged for the last island of Tuanaki, which has been mentioned in old nautical records and native legends, but has since disappeared. The part will search for Dougherty Island, whose existence and position are doubtful. If accessible it might serve as a wireless relay station between New Zealand and South America.

The Quest is now at Southampton. She is 111 feet long, 23 breadth of beam and 12 feet in depth. She was built in Norway in 1917, is of oak, pine and fir and has been tested in heavy ice. Her sides are two feet thick and her bows are of solid oak sheathed with steel. Her steaming radius is 9,000 miles, and under sail with a stiff breeze can make eight knots. She carries wireless equipment.

Shackleton's chief companions will be Frank Etlid, second in command; Commander Frank Worsley, Major A. H. Macklin, biologist; Lieut. Commander J. R. Stenhouse and Captain L. Hussey, meteorologist.

BILL WAS MARKED

Boy Faces Charge of Theft of Money and Furs

A boy of 15 years of age was brought before the Juvenile Court yesterday on the charge of stealing furs and with having taken a two dollar bill. The boy pleaded not guilty to the first charge, but admitted that he had found the money lying on the ground.

It is alleged by the proprieter of a fur store, at which the boy worked that on account of furs disappearing, one of the junior clerks was suspected of theft. A trap was therefore laid with a marked two dollar bill. The bill was put in a drawer and when the boy was searched shortly afterwards it was found to be in his possession. When questioned as to whether he had been taking furs from the back of the shop and selling them to other furriers the boy strenuously denied doing anything of the kind.

The case was remanded until July 6. Meanwhile the boy will be retained at the Reformatory school.

PREMIERS TAKE UP IMMIGRATION

Attend Meeting Under Chairmanship of Winston Churchill

DESIRABLE CLASS

Object to Keep Worthwhile Citizens Within Empire —Byng Sails Aug. 4

LONDON, June 29. — (By Grattan O'Leary, Staff Correspondent Canadian Press.) — The question of the advisability of renewing the Anglo-Japanese Alliance came before the conference of Empire Premiers yesterday, but, owing to the British Prime Minister having to attend a conference in connection with the settlement of the coal strike, discussion was limited to two brief statements by Lord Curzon and Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour.

Both speeches were confidential and at the close no communique was issued to the press but it is understood they were of a very non-committal character. The British Foreign Secretary, in fact, confined himself to a summing up of the arguments for and against renewal of the alliance, while Mr. Balfour, who played an important part in negotiating the existing alliance, gave an outline of its workings, effects and weaknesses. The Dominion Premiers asked questions but took no further part in the discussion.

The conference was reinforced today by the presence of Lord Lee of Fareham, First Lord of the Admiralty, and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, Secretary of War.

BRITISH EMIGRANTS.

In the afternoon, while Mr. Lloyd George was attending the miners' conference, Premier Meighen and the other Dominion statesmen attended a meeting under the chairmanship of Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill to consider the report of the Overseas Settlement Conference, appointed to inquire into the feasibility of keeping British emigrants of a desirable class within the Empire. As a result of the meeting a sub-committee was appointed to go further into the financial aspects of the matter. Sir George Perley will represent Canada.

This evening Premier Meighen dines with Lord Byng of Vimy, Canada's new Governor-General, who is expected to sail from here on August 4.

MRS. VANDERBILT IS AFTER TAX THIEVES

Joins Forces with Miss Talmadge Against Luxury Tax Evaders

NEW YORK, June 29.—(United Press).—The wife of a millionaire and a movie queen contributed evidence which marked the launching here today of a drive against alleged evaders of luxury taxes.

Martin and Martin, Fifth Avenue firm with an aristocratic record of 100 years, was indicated on thirteen counts. The charges were violation of the revenue act of 1918 and conspiracy to defraud the Government.

The first was alleged to have used duplicate sales slips, charging the customers the luxury tax while the record slip showed no tax collected.

Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt, according to District Attorney William Hayward, purchased a leather bag, paying a fifty cent tax which the Government did not receive.

Mrs. John Plagolou, formerly Constance Talmadge, was said to have purchased a $120 silver cocktail shaker for her husband and to have paid $6.50 as tax. The Government, according to the attorney, did not receive the tax.

Hayward said the Government's losses through evasions of this sort run into millions. He announced his intention of proceeding against all classes of dealers who may have been practising the deceit. Even soda fountains will be investigated.

WHAT HE DESERVED.

"Why did you strike this man?"

"Your honor, he told me he had just attended a lecture on the functions of the heart, lungs and liver."

"Well?"

"And he wanted to know if that could be called an organ recital."

"Discharged!"

OH, VERY!

Ladies' dresses are now being made of banana fibre. They should be easy to slip on!—Passing Show.

DISTRESS, UNEMPLOYMENT AMONG CUBAN NATIVES.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 29.—(Associated Press). —The ... Minister at Havana reports that distress and unemployment are prevalent among natives of the British West Indies in Cuba. The Governments of the countries concerned are asked to prevent further emigration to Cuba.

NEW PROPOSITION FOR ARBITRATION

Striking Employes of Paper Mills Will Meet Manufacturers at New York

TO SELECT COMMITTEE

Labor Leaders Declare Work Will Be Resumed Within Three Days

ALBANY, N.Y., June 29.—A committee of three representing the striking employes of paper mills in the United States and Canada, exclusive of the International Paper Company, whose plants have been closed since May 1, and May 11, will meet a committee of three representing the manufacturers today at New York. They will select a seventh man to serve on the committee which will arbitrate the wage dispute which caused the shut down of the plants. A large majority of the employes voted in favor of arbitration, it was reported to a meeting of international officers and delegates here yesterday.

A new proposal for arbitration of the difficulties between the employes and the International Paper Company also was made at the meeting.

The three men to represent the employes at tomorrow's conference will be Jeremiah T. Carey, president of the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers; John P. Burke, president of the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers; and J. T. Foster of Montreal, representing the workers in the Canadian paper mill plants.

Labor leaders last night expressed the opinion that work would be resumed in the plants of the companies to be represented at today's conference, within ten days. The personnel of the committee to represent the manufacturers was not known here last night.

The proposal which the conference of union heads made to the International Paper Company was to the effect that the wage question be left to arbitration and all other elements of the controversy be eliminated. The workers proposed that pending the decision of arbitrators the men return to work under the same wages and conditions in effect when they stopped their labors and that the wage scale to be decided upon go into effect the first pay day following the arbitration committee's decision.

TORONTO PRINTERS SEEKING WORK

TORONTO, June 29.—The Toronto Typothetae yesterday reported that union men in the printing trades are seeking to be reinstated. The figures issued show 47 at work in the composing rooms, 365 in the press rooms and 862 in the binderies. Secretary Sutherland claims that union officials have told the bookbinders to go back and hunt up their old jobs.

SITUATION IN WINNIPEG.

WINNIPEG, Man., June 29. — H. J. W. Powers, business agent of the Typographical Union here, stated yesterday that union printers in job printing offices may quit work, unless the forty-four hour week is continued. Employing printers have declined to renew the agreement terminating June 30, and prepare as an alternative a return of the 48 hour week, which prevailed prior to May 1 of this year.

Both sides have agreed to submit the question of wages to arbitration, leaving the 44-hour week the only issue.

Mr. Powers, speaking for the Typographical Union, said that if the job printers quit work they would consider it a lock-out and not a strike.

FREE TO BRAG OF IT.

Mr. Bucks—Yes, I've had a rather prosperous career. During the war I made money out of lead.

Mr. Fewrox—Gee! And got away with it! Most men get locked up for making lead dollars.

SUGGEST LEAGUE OF NEWSPAPERS

Jap Declares it Should Come Before League of Nations

PATH TO PEACE

Mitzunaga Thinks Future Peace of World in Hands of Press

SAN FANCISCO, Cal., June 29. — (United Press) —Future peace among nations lies largely in the hands of the press, Hoshio Mitzunaga, president of Nippon Dempo Tsushin Sha, the leading press association of the Orient, declared yesterday in an interview with the United Press.

"We of Japan believed in the League of Nations," Mitzunaga declared, "but I believe that before the League of Nations we should first have a league of newspapers representing all nations which would pave the way for world peace.

"Newspapers are the greatest influence for peace. There should be connections established among the press of the world whereby opinions and thoughts could be interchanged between countries."

STUDY CONDITIONS.

Mitzunaga is in San Francisco as the first step on a tour of America and Europe which he is making to study newspaper conditions. From San Francisco he will go to Los Angeles, Chicago, New York and Washington before leaving for London and Paris. He is accompanied by Yasuo Fuwa, his secretary.

Nippon Dempo Tsuscin Sha, of which Mitzunaga is the head, operates much on the same lines as the press associations of the United States and covers Japan, Korea, Manchuria, China and the Orient as far as Singapore.

Mitzunaga also is the head of the Far Eastern Newspaper Conference, composed of 370 newspapers published in the Orient.

BARS SILK STOCKINGS FROM RAILWAY SHOPS

Declare Women in Dispatchers' Offices Would Cause Wrecks

CHICAGO, Ill., June 29.—(United Press.)—The railroad "walking girl" to be decently dressed should wear:

Opaque waists that come well up around the neck.

Opaque skirts two inches from the shoe-tops.

Opaque stockings.

No rouge.

The authority for this is L. R. Troll, vice-president of the American Railroad Bureau. He says he has no place for the girl who dresses "like a hosiery advertisement poster."

"These web stockings, rolled down to the knees, are barred," he said. "How can you expect a man to carefully balance a column when he has one eye on the figures in the ledger and the other on the figures of the girl office help.

"It is well that women do not work in train despatchers' offices or there would be many wrecks."

MORE ARRESTS DUE TO UNEMPLOYMENT

Prisoners' Welfare Ass'n Passes Resolution Favoring Disarmament

At a board meeting of the Canadian Prisoners' Welfare Association yesterday, the question of the effect of unemployment upon the increase in the number of arrests for vagrancy and loitering was brought up by Brigadier MacMillan, probation officer of the Salvation Army, who stated that the arrests in May were approximately 1209, as compared with 963 in April and 841 in March. It was also pointed out that work being so difficult to obtain, magistrates hesitate to exercise the power of suspended sentence fearing that the men will only get into further trouble if let free. The brigadier cited several instances where timely help had been given by the benefits of the prisoners' boxes maintained at the city courts by the Prisoners' Welfare Association.

The reports as to subscriptions and donations given and the way in which the money had been used were read by Charles Fyfe, honorary treasurer. Details showed a good month, subscriptions including three of one-hundred dollars and three of twenty-five dollars. The Salvation Army granted the sum of $100 for prison and industrial home work. The report also pointed out that assistance had been given to two prisoners' families to one discharged prisoner, and gave other details of expenditure.

The honorary president, Robt. Bickerdike, introduced a motion expressing sympathy with the general principle of disarmament. The resolution recommended that all Christian and civilized nations should stop the manufacture of 'engines of warfare,' the attitude of the association being that it opposed bloodshed and killing by the State, either for punishment or the settlement of international dispute. The present crime-wave was attributed to the aftermath of passions and hate kindled by the war. J. G. Rhys, a member of the board, who had served in France with a battery, objected to the proposal that Great Britain should lead the way in the disarmament question. It was pointed out that the call was on all nations. The motion was passed.

A memorandum was received from Bernard Rose advocating that in order to obtain the best efficiency in penal institutions, all such establishments should be placed under a special board to be called a penitentiary and prison commission. The members of this commission should be selected from citizens who were interested in work of this nature and who had knowledge of the vagaries of the abnormal mind. The commission should be appointed by the Governor-General for a period of ten years, given authority to ask for an annual appropriation and a free hand in the disbursing of it. Another suggestion put forward was that the iron bars should be replaced by glass as glass had a more soothing effect. The terms "convict" and "ex-convict" were objected to.

Although appreciating the basic principles of the foregoing suggestions, the board decided that there might be difficulties as regards the conflicting jurisdiction of federal and provincial authority. The matter would be looked into later in the fall after the penitentiaries' committee report had been legislated upon.

In the absence of the president, Hon. G. P. Graham, Robert Bickerdike presided over the meeting. Among those present were C. Fyfe, J. G. Rhys, Mrs. J. D. A. MacDonald, Mrs. Saxe Holmes, John Kidman, Brigadier MacMillan, Adjt. N. Pitcher, Adjt. Malone and H. D. Wells, Rev. R. G. Burgoyne, Rev. J. B. MacLeod, members of the Prisoners' Aid Association.

RETIRES FROM SCHOOL BOARD.

The Rev. Father Brophy who has completed his term of four years as a member of the Catholic School Commission during which time he did not miss a meeting of the Commission or of the Committee of which he was a member.

NEW SCHOOL FOR ST. IGNACE PARISH

The request of West District Board for a new school in the parish of St. Ignace, was yesterday granted at the Montreal Catholic School Commission's last session of the season. The new school will be erected on Bellmore avenue by the Jesuit Fathers, who will rent it to the commission on a basis of 10 per cent. The school is to be used only as temporary quarters for the children, who now receive instruction in a dwelling-house, and will consist of four class-rooms, to be built at a cost not exceeding $15,000.

Yesterday's session brought to a close the first term of the Catholic School Commission, which was inaugurated four years ago by the Provincial Legislature. During its term of office the commission has wiped out the two million dollar liability incurred by the various municipalities previous to their annexation, and has provided for uniformity of text-books for the schools under its jurisdiction. The commission has also been able to save $250,000 by floating its own loans direct to the public.

PRAYED TO GLASS OF WATER DAILY

Husband Does Not Return So Woman Has Hypnotist Arrested

L. J. Fortier, exponent of hypnotism, was fined $50 and costs by Chief Justice Decarie in the Court of Sessoins, yesterday afternoon, he having been found guilty of securing by false pretences the sum of $50 from Emilia Poitras. In default of the payment of the fine, Fortier was sentenced to serve one month in jail.

Fortier, who resides on St. Denis street, was charged by Mrs. Poitras with securing $50 from her on the promise that through his hypnotic powers, and by praying to a glass of water three times a day, her husband would return to her. The instructions of the "hypnotist" were carried out, but the husband failed to return. Judge Decarie, in delivering judgment, stated he had no hesitation in condemning Fortier, as there was not the slightest doubt that he had swindled Mrs. Poitras.

Wardell Canfield was found guilty of having a raised bank bill in his possession and was sentenced to six months in jail.

John Ryan, alias Rieux, was sentenced to serve six months' hard labor for stealing silverware valued at $177 from the C.P.R. dining car "Balmoral."

SALVATION ARMY OFFICERS LEAVE

A crowded meeting of Salvationists assembled in the Citadel last night to take leave of Col. Bettridge and Adjutant MacDonald and their wives. Col. and Mrs. Bettridge are leaving for England tomorrow, and after a short holiday there they will return to take charge of the Salvationist training college, Toronto, in September. Adjutant and Mrs. MacDonald are leaving tonight for Sydney.

Col. Bettridge, in a brief address, stated that he believed he left the Montreal division stronger than he had found it two years ago. A total of $53,246 had been raised for the Self-Denial Fund this year, of which $26,903 had been raised by the corps in Montreal. In 1919 the corps had raised only $9,500 in Montreal.

Adjutant and Mrs. MacDonald both spoke briefly, and vocal and instrumental selections were rendered by the songsters and the band, the gathering concluding with the singing of "God be with you till we meet again."

WHEEL OFF FIRE TRUCK.

When the cogs of the driving wheel came off, a fire ladder truck belonging to the Youville Square Station of the Fire Department was unable to reach a fire which had broken out in a pole on Dominion square at 10 o'clock last night. The apparatus had to be repaired and driven back to its station.

FROZEN FISH TRADE

Advertising Campaign Needed in British Isles

OTTAWA, June 29. — (Canadian Press)—An obstacle to the development of the trade in Canadian frozen fish on the British market is that, during the open season for salmon in Great Britain, Canadian frozen salmon is sold as English and Scotch, but in the close season from September to February, consumer demand languishes, as salmon is supposed to be a summer fish.

This information is collected in a communication from J. Forsyth Smith, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Liverpool, to the Weekly Bulletin of the Department of Trade and Commerce. Mr. Smith advises an advertising campaign to sell Canadian frozen fish in the British Isles. He states that fish weighing from 7 to 14 pounds find the readiest sale.

THOMAS ARRIVES BACK IN ENGLAND

Declares U.S. Anxious for Understanding with Britain

LONDON, June 29.—(Special Montreal Star-Philadelphia Ledger Cable. Copyright).—J. P. Thomas, general secretary of the National Union of Railway men, arrived in Plymouth from New York yesterday.

"Despite all attempts to sow discord between America and ourselves," said Mr. Thomas, "everyone who matters in America is not only desirous but genuinely anxious for a complete understanding on all matters between Great Britain and America. The first essential is to call a conference so that America can share in the common pool for general reconstruction and stabilization of a pressing economic position."

MRS. HATTIE DIES IN NOVA SCOTIA

HALIFAX, June 29.—The death took place last evening of Mrs. George Hattie at an advanced age. Her husband predeceased her by some years.

She is survived by two sons and one daughter, Dr. W. H. Hattie, Medical Health Officer of Nova Scotia, R. M. Hattie, of the Imperial Publishing Co., Ltd., and Mrs. Murray, wife of Dr. Howard Murray of Dalhousie University.

ACCUSE U.S. DRY AGENTS.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(By Associated Press).—Charges that prohibition has proved a very good thing, financially for a number of United States prohibition agents are being investigated by a commission here. One officer, formerly an assistant departmental chief of the prohibition bureau, has been arrested and is held in heavy bail on a charge of accepting a bribe to put through special permits. It is stated that other arrests on similar charges are expected within the next few days.

ASIATIC IMMIGRATION NO CAUSE FOR ALARM

Officials State Movement is Well Within Bounds

OTTAWA, June 29.—(By Canadian Press).—The immigration of Orientals to Canada is being kept within reasonable limits, according to officials of the Department of Immigration and Colonization and conditions today are not such as to warrant the periodic outburst in which it is being declared that this class of immigrant is a menace to the Dominion. Japanese are entering by virtue of an agreement negotiated between Canada and Japan in 1913, and the limits set out in that agreement are being closely observed. As to Chinese immigration it is limited to merchants and students. There has been no great impetus to this class of immigration and none is anticipated in view of the present immigration laws and regulations.

HALLAM ACTS AS AGENT OF JUSTICE

CHATHAM, Ont., June 29.—Stanley Hallam, of Toronto, who earned unpleasant notoriety as a member of the Spracklin squad, and who is now serving a term here following conviction in connection with a liquor case, filled the role of a self-appointed officer of the law yesterday and endeavored to capture two prisoners who made a dash from the county jail while being employed in the jail yard.

After pursuing the men about two blocks, Hallam returned to the jail, fearing that he might be suspected of trying to escape also. He later joined a posse in the hunt. The prisoners got clear away, having boarded a freight train about three miles out of town. The three other prisoners who escaped on Saturday night from the same jail are still at large.

PARIS, June 29.—A law providing for an appropriation of 13,500,000 francs for the creation of a university town on the location of the old fortification of Paris was promulgated in the Journal Officiel today.

ASPIRANTS FOR CONGRESS.

KALAMAZOO, Mich., June 29.—J. M. C. Smith, former Republican Congressman from the Third Michigan district, today had a lead over Howard Cavanaugh, his Democratic opponent, in Tuesday's special Congressional election of approximately two to one. The election was to fill the seat left vacant by the death of Congressman William H. Frankhauser.

COMMITTEE ON CHURCH UNION.

TORONTO, June 29.—A committee of twenty was appointed by the Presbytery of Toronto yesterday to confer with a similar committee of the Anglican Church on the question of union arising out of the Lambeth Conference pronouncement. Rev. Prof. R. Davidson is convenor of the committee.

PROMISING FUTURE FOR CANADIAN OIL

American Thinks Oil Transportation Problem in West Will Be Solved

TORONTO, June 29.—Thomas M. Buley, who is connected with the State Consolidated Oil Company of California, has just completed an inspection of the oil fields in the Alberta and Peace River districts.

"I believe that the Canadian oil fields are exceedingly hopeful," said Mr. Buley here today. "There are many favorable things that can be said about them. The shallowness of the wells is a particularly outstanding feature and the fact that drilling has only to be done for a distance of 700 to 800 feet, compared with 5,100 feet in California, will prove a very important factor. The matter of transporting the oil through piping will eventually be solved.

"If Canada hopes to develop her oil fields with any degree of success the stock must not be allowed to drift into the clutches of stock jobbers, which in the past, has been the curse of the oil business. When business conditions get down to a normal basis and labor meets the changed conditions there can be no doubt as to the future possibilities of the Dominion as an oil-producing centre."

OTTAWA BARBERS AGREE.

OTTAWA, June 29.—(By Canadian Press).—There will be no strike of Ottawa barbers on July 2. An agreement which was presented early in June by the Journeymen Barber's Union has been signed by the Master Barbers Association. The basis of the settlement are last years' wages, the same working hours, a closed shop, and no advance in prices by the master barbers to the general public.

AUSTRIA APPEALS TO U.S.

VIENNA, June 29.—(By Associated Press).—Premier Schoeber has appealed to Washington, asking the United States Government formally to waive priority of payment of reparations and other credits. He states that such United States action is essential to the success of the finance plan of the League of Nations and other measures contemplated for the economic rehabilitation of the Austrian Republic.

MAKE REPLY TO CONTENTION OF BISHOP FALLON

French-Canadian Educational Association Has Issued Statement

SOME "SUSPICION"

Maintains That London Prelate Did Not Quote Judgment in Full

OTTAWA, June 29.—An echo of the famous dispute between His Lordship Bishop Fallon, of London, Ontario, and a number of French-Canadian members of the Roman Catholic Clergy, notably Rev. Father Cyr, which was taken to the Ecclesiastical Courts at Rome, is contained in a circular which has just been issued by the French-Canadian Educational Association of Ontario.

The purpose of this circular, which has been mailed to prominent French-Canadians, is to dispute the contention advanced by Bishop Fallon, in a communication he issued some time ago, to the effect that the trial at Rome had completely vindicated his attitude towards French-Canadians and bilingualism. The Educational Association represents that His Lordship's resume of the judgment rendered by the Holy Roman Rota, naturally favored his case, but that if it had been more fully quoted, would have shown that the tribunal had some suspicion that His Lordship was antagonistic to the use of the French language in the separate schools, and that he would do away with bilinguism.

TEXT OF STATEMENT.

The statement reads as follows

"His Lordship Bishop Fallon has spread broadcast in the Country his interpretation of a recent decision given by the Congregation of the Rota.

"If we may judge by the appreciation of the manifesto heard in various quarters, the impression which the Bishop of London had hoped to create has turned out to his disadvantage.

"This document, from the standpoint of those accustomed to give a true interpretation to facts, is not favorable to its author.

"Firstly, the document is but an imperfect and incomplete interpretation of the decision given by the Congregation of the Rota. No mention is made of the fact that His Lordship's local Tribunal has been declared to be not above suspicion. That in the present case, says the judgment of the Rota, the touch of suspicion was evidently not without foundation is made apparent not only by the references of the judge opposed to the claims of the opposite party, but mostly by the nature and special circumstances of the case and above all because the Ordinary (the Bishop, instead of permitting the fiscal prothonotary to conduct the case, preferred to be himself the plaintiff, to attend personally the sessions of the Tribunal" be- which he played the part of ary.'—No mention is made to the hat the accused are not bound to mends and that in the circum- their charges are not defamamanifesto does not state that the Congregation of the Rota ordered the Bishop of London to pay the costs of his action and that he must carry out the sentence imposed on him by the Tribunal in 1917; that is to pay to Reverend Father St-Cyr, a decent sustenance. No mention furthermore is made of the fact that the Rota, while admitting in face of the evidence, that Bishop Fallon might have been in good faith 'in not being favorable to the bi-lingual schools,'' immediately adds that his persuasion is not 'Free from error!. . .' No, these facts are not mentioned in His Lordship's manifesto; it recites only what is favorable to him!

"NOT IMMUNE FROM ERROR."

"On this very point of the attitude of the Bishop of London towards bilingual schools, it is the persuasion of the Bishop that the bi-lingual school system is as the judgment says: 'Worthless, inefficient and detrimental to the French-Canadians' which the Rota has pronounced 'Not immune from error.'

"This declaration of the Rota clearly indicates that before making up his mind on the efficiency of the schools in his diocese and opening the striking war he led against them, the Bishop of London should have made a careful study of the system on the spot.

"And still it was on May 23rd, 1910, hardly a month after his consecration that he was in secret conference with Mr. Hanna, then a Minister in the Whitney Cabinet, to tell him of 'his determination of wiping out every vestige of bi-lingual teaching in his diocese.'

"And His Lordship born in Kingston, had completed his studies at Ottawa, and was consecrated Bishop of London only after a long sejourn in the United States! How was he to know that bi-lingual teaching in his diocese was 'worthless, inefficient and detrimental to the French-Canadians!. . .' Moreover this occurred at the same time that the Inspector of Essex County, stated, after completing his visit of the schools 'that the charges against these schools were shameful and unwarranted.' Dr. Merchant's report (of his inspection from November 2nd 1911 to February 8th 1912) proves conclusively that the bi-lingual schools: (1) do not deserve the reproaches of worthlessness that were so freely and so inconsiderately made; (2) that they are worthy of the Government's attention; (3) that they deserve special consideration; (4) that the French-Canadians of Ontario may well be proud of their schools. Referring to the special case of the schools in the diocese of London, the report, far from criticising the method, states that the shortcomings in these schools as compared to the Public Schools is due to the lack of assiduity, the greater part of the French-Canadian population of those countries having settled in the country, the children are kept at home, at an early age, by the parents, to work on the farm.

"After the declaration of the Rota and in presence of these facts, if His Lordship Bishop Fallon was trying to protest that he did not lead his campaign against the bi-lingual schools under the influence of prejudice and ignorant of the exact situation of the schools of his diocese, one may wonder that the Bishop has been as declared by the Tribunal of the Holy Roman Rota, of good faith!

ON SPEAKING FRENCH.

"The judgment handed over by the Rota put a damper on the so-called triumph of Bishop Fallon over the reproaches that were leveled at him concerning the use of the French language in the churches. The judges declare that in the evidence there is nothing to show that the Bishop had forbidden the use of French in the churches. "That the Bishop," writes the Judgment, "has not granted the permission that was asked of him is one thing and it is another that he has forbidden to preach in the French language to French Catholics." In reality, one cannot be mistaken, it is an indirect opposition to the French language in church, not granting a fair use of it, or to appoint to parishes whose population is in great majority of French-Canadian origin, priests unable or unwilling to speak French!

"The population of Essex County, Catholic and Protestant alike knows enough the attitude of Bishop Fallon and holds in such esteem the priests mentioned in his Lordship's manifesto, to understand thoroughly the true situation and to know that on the bilingual school and language questions these priests can hardly calumniate the Bishop!

"The Catholic population of the country is tired seeing Bishop Fallon always in the front rank of those who agitate these odious questions; all Catholics and many Protestants would be greatly relieved if he would step down and out for the union of the races, the union of Catholics and for the greatest good of his subjects.

"Whatever Bishop Fallon may do or write now, writings and his attitude past and present, which are well known everywhere, remain and will always remain. They are absolutely clear and the common sense that can interpret actions and words according to their true meaning, will never be mistaken in its judgment. They remain always as a proof that Bishop Fallon "Scouts the idea that the children must have their native language taught behind the desks in conjunction with the language of the school." (Mr. Hanna's letter to Dr. R. A. Payne, Minister of Education, Toronto)—"and consider Regulation XVII as eminently just and fair." (Bishop Fallon's letter to Mr. Kaine, Executive Council, Quebec.)—"They are an imperishable monument of his efforts to wipe out every vestige of bi-lingual teaching in the public schools of his diocese; and this principle applied to the primary schools in Ontario means the suppression of the French language, because the law permits its teaching although limited in these only schools."

Becomes Head U.S. Military Order of Cootie

NEW YORK, June 29. — The supreme pup tent of the military order of the cootie yesterday announced the election of B. F. Cambrill, past grand seam squirrel, fertile hunting grounds of New Jersey, as supreme seam squirrel of the order. Cambrill will fill the unexpired term until the meeting of the national encampment at Detroit, September 19.

The motto of the order is: "A cootie is closer than a brother and busier than a bee. We pick our company."

GIRL IS KILLED

Annie Brown, Aged Four, Struck by Lightning

CORNWALL, Ont., June 29. — Annie Brown, aged 4 years, was killed yesterday by lightning, which struck the home of her grandfather, William Johnston, on the Paragon Road, north of Stonehouse Point. The little girl was lying on the floor when killed, other members of the household in an adjoining room being uninjured. The girl's father was killed in action overseas. The house was damaged. A barn and carriage shed belonging to Thomas Jack, a farmer, living on Hamilton Island, 11 miles below Cornwall, were destroyed by fire, caused by lightning. The loss included considerable hay, farm implements and some live stock. The lightning accompanied a very heavy rain storm, which was badly needed after several weeks of dry weather.

MORE MEN BEING PUT ON WESTERN FARMS THIS YEAR

Over Six Thousand in First Five Months in Manitoba

SERVICE COUNCILS

Quebec Among Provinces Without Employment Service Bodies

OTTAWA, June 29. — (Canadian Press.)—A far larger number of men have been placed on farms in the West this year than in 1919. During the first five months of the year 6,737 farm hands were placed in Manitoba, as against 4,990 in the corresponding period of 1920; in Saskatchewan, 7,779 this year, as against 5,089 last year; and in Alberta 6,529 this year as against 2,927 last year.

Employment service councils have now been formed in most of the provinces of the Dominion, bringing them into close co-operation with the Federal Department of Labor, according to the Employment Branch here. The councils should be working smoothly by the winter so as to take care promptly of unemployment so far as possible. During the fall the Employment Service Council of Canada will hold a conference at which the provinces will all be represented.

In the matter of establishing a provincial council, Nova Scotia, Quebec and Prince Edward Island have as yet taken no action. In Ontario special legislation was passed during last session and the organization is under way. The Provincial Minister of Labor has given the assurance that the various parties interested will have representation. These councils have equal representation of employes and employers, with a chairman elected by a majority of both sides. Returned soldiers have in some cases representation as a separate group.

NO UNEMPLOYED IN P.E.I.

In Manitoba there exists already a joint council of industry and it is the intention to extend its scope to embrace the powers of the employment service council. In Prince Edward Island, being mainly agricultural, there is practically no unemployment problem. The province has no employment office and accordingly does not call upon the Federal Government for the fifty per cent subsidy which is accorded the other provinces for the maintenance of the employment bureaux. In Quebec there are regularly established employment offices but no council has yet been organized.

The regulations of the Employment Services Co-ordination Act provide for co-operation between the provincial councils and the Federal Minister of Labor. It is also the duty of these councils to make recommendations to provincial authorities, such as the carrying out of deferred public works or the feasibility of schemes of afforestation or drainage.

SEES UNEMPLOYMENT.

The latest figures for the Dominion show a lessening of unemployment. This is due particularly to summer activities on the farms, work on railway maintenance and building, though there is practically no extension work. Harbor improvements and canal construction and the Ontario hydro-electric scheme are also helping the situation. The fish and canning industry is opening up. Manufacturing shows a little improvement.

People are not yet buying on normal lines and it seems that they will not do so until they can be brought to believe that the price deflation has reached its limit. Once it is felt that the bottom has been reached conditions should improve. While this pick-up season may occur during the winter, it is much more likely when the largest number of people are working and their buying power is at its maximum.

NEW NAME FOR TWILIGHT.

"Isn't it too dark to play any longer, dear?" asked his mother.

"Why, it's only luke, mamma," returned the child.

"What do you mean by that?"

"Why, you know what luke means; it's middling—luke-dark, you know, like luke-warm; not real dark nor real light!"

A Condition in the Raincoat Manufacturing Trade That Commands Your Attention

¶ Let all red-blooded Men and Women who favor fair play and the Reduction of high prices read the following absolutely authentic facts.

¶ Like numerous other manufacturers of Men's and Women's fine Raincoats, we find our business at a standstill and our big factory loaded to the limit with thousands of Men's, Women's and Children's high-grade raincoats, in tweeds, silks and Paramattas, which, due to the stagnation that exists in the retail store trade, remain unsold.

¶ This has placed us in a serious position. We must either discharge our help, close down our factory and accept a tremendous loss or try and sell direct to the public. In this desperate situation we decided a week ago to let our entire stock go to the public at whatever it will bring, regardless of cost. Almost immediately we were told by a good part of our store trade to stop selling at retail or accept many cancellations and virtual extermination. Now we do not charge all the retail trade with this form of boycott. There are many, we feel, who are too fair to countenance such methods.

¶ However, we have determined to dispose of our stocks to the general public AT ONCE regardless of any threats. Therefore you can now walk into our big factory at 232 McGill St. and select the finest Men's, Women's and Children's Raincoats you ever saw at from 50% to 75% below regular retail store prices.

¶ In other words, all Raincoats, beautifully hand-tailored and cut on advanced patterns, for which regular retail stores ask you $25; we will sell you at $12; those that stores ask $30, we will sell for $15.00; those that retail at $35 and $40, we will dispose of at $20—absolutely no higher, and we guarantee the cloth and the trimmings the finest used in any Raincoats anywhere, as an inspection will prove.

¶ And bear in mind our garments are equal to fine Custom work, with our guarantee to refund your money within three days if you can duplicate our values anywhere in Canada.

¶ Further, to prove that the above prices are not exaggerated one iota, you are privileged to see our books and actual contracts with retail concerns, showing that this offer is not only legitimate, but most remarkable and that we are really standing a big loss.

¶ The above prices and actual savings will give you an idea of the tremendous opportunity that we now place before Men and Women of Canada who believe in a reduction of prices and demand fair play.

¶ We ask your help and co-operation, guaranteeing every word in this statement the absolute truth. Do us the justice of at least investigating the facts herein stated.

FURTHER RESPITE FOR TWO POLES

"Big Mike" and "Little George" Successful in Appeal

Mike Prosco and George Janvusky, Poles, known throughout the evidence in the case as "Big Mike" and "Little George," were successful before the Court of Appeal yesterday in postponing the sentence of death pronounced against them by Sir Francois Lemieux for the murder of one of their compatriots named Kostinian on the night of July 27, 1918, in a lumber camp operated by Price Brothers at Kenogan.

Two men named Morari and Dabika were arrested, tried, convicted and executed. "Big Mike" was arrested at Detroit, in July, 1919, and "Little George" at Sarnia, Ont., in November following. They were convicted and sentenced in Quebec in April last.

"Big Mike" and "Little George's" counsel appealed to the Court of King's Bench for a stated case.

The court yesterday granted the application, and the case will be submitted to the Court of Appeal at Quebec on the following questions:

Was there error in refusing a separate trial to the accused?

Was there error in admitting the testimony of witnesses, Heig and Mitte, as to certain so-called admissions or statements made by the accused, Big Mike, in the absence of Little George, the other accused?

Was there error in admitting the testimony of the witness, Roussin with respect to certain statements made to Big Mike before and after his arrest by Roussin?

Was there error in permitting the Crown to produce before and exhibit to the jury certain objects which were found either in possession of the accused or in premises occupied by them; and was the trial judge justified in making the comments he did in his charge to the jury with reference to these objects?

A. Taschereau, K.C., with Armand Lavergne as counsel, appeared for the accused.

DECLARES FRANCE DESIRES PEACE

Count de Warren Thanks Canadian Soldiers for Assistance

That France desired peace, and that it was for the veterans of the war to spread the idea of a real League of Nations for peace, to be formed by England and France, was the message delivered by Count Edouard de Warren, of the French Mission who, with Countess Warren, was welcomed by the veterans of Canada last night at a dinner given by the officers of the Carbiniers Mont Royal, at their armory on Pine avenue. Veterans of the 22nd Battalion, the Army and Navy Veterans' Association, nurses who served in the war, and the chaplains' service were represented at the gathering, over which Col. A. J. Filiatrault, commander of the Carbiniers, presided.

In replying to the welcome extended him Count de Warren said that in the dark days of the war it came as a ray of sunshine to know that with the British troops would also come troops from the British Dominions. "You came over voluntarily, each making a sacrifice, for you had no conscription until 1918 and for your personal sacrifices the soldiers of France thank you," he said.

Referring to the possibilities of peace, Count de Warren declared that France was not militarist nor imperialist, but wanted peace. She believed that there was enough in the world for all, and that the principles of the French Revolution, liberty, equality and fraternity, should not only exist between individuals but between nations.

The Countess de Warren also spoke briefly, as did Major J. F. Buckley, representing the Army and Navy Veterans, and Georges Filion, representing the "Sac au Dos."

Among those present were Brigadier-General A. E. Labelle, Col. Louis Le Duc, Col. Almond, Abbe Richard, the following former nurses of the Canadian army, Mrs. L. P. Bisaillon, Miss E. F. Thompson, Miss St. Onge, Miss Rousseau, Mrs. Delaunay and Miss Menard, Col. George E. Beauchamp, Major J. E. Edwards, Major Victor Tardiff, Major E. Ranger, Maj. B. Languedoc, Major C. Dorval, Captains H. Marquette, H. Colebourne, A. Chretien Zaugg, Lindsay Smeaton, P. E. Beauchamp, F. Aube, A. Labelle, R. Morin, A. Larose, P. Grenier, De Capelle, Lieutenants G. Lebel, A. Lebel, A. Colete, J. Grenier, E. Lionais, C. Normandin, J. Ducharme, E. Prevoet, W. Coffin, M. Noel, Eugene Prevoet, and Messrs. A. De Veuter, O. Van Fiulle, Jos. Figeys, A. Roby, E. M. Chamelet, R. Vertiane and M. L. Maynard.

COMMUNITY SINGING TONIGHT.

Community singing will be initiated in Montreal this evening when the Montreal Kiwanis Glee Club will lead the singing of popular airs, and expects to have a chorus of many thousand voices to support them. The Canadian Vickers troop of Boy Scouts will inaugurate the sing-song by a march up Park avenue, and afterwards they will assist the Kiwanians by distributing song-sheets. Everybody is invited to join in the community singing. Being near Dominion Day the opening sing-song will take on the character of a patriotic demonstration, French and English national songs being sung, while in future the Glee Club will lead the singing of all those favorite airs that lend themselves to community singing.

LAWYERS NEEDED, SAYS EX-PRESIDENT

Is in Reminiscent Mood in Address to Junior Bar

As guest of honor of the Montreal junior bar, Hon. William H. Taft, ex-President of the United States, addressed that body in the Reform Club last evening on the ideals which should inspire the members of the legal profession. The speaker was in a reminiscent mood and recalled his early days as a lawyer, telling his audience that, as he was made a judge at the age of 29, "he was obliged to receive much of his experience on the Bench at the expense of the public."

In introducing the speaker, Auguste Angers, president of the junior bar, referred to the bilingual character of the local bar, and remarked that although two languages were spoken, there was nevertheless, no division of spirit, but only the closest harmony.

Mr. Taft, in opening his address, said that it gave him much pleasure to accept the invitation of the Bar to be present, the more so because he considered it good fortune to have been able to spend a great deal of time in Canada, "especially French Canada."

The history of civil and common law was traced by the speaker from the time of the Romans, down through the development by the English and French, as embodied in the Code Napoleon, which latter had been revealed to the speaker in actual practice when he was on the Philippine Commission.

Mr. Taft concluded with an appeal for an increasing number of lawyers who were necessary to insure that the public rights were respected.

The speaker was thanked in French by Romeo Poirier and in English by Gordon Macdougall, Batonnier of the Montreal Bar.

Among those present were:

President Auguste Angers, with the Vice-Chairman, W. B. Scott; Gordon W. MacDougall, K.C., Batonnier of the Montreal Bar; Shirley Dixon, Leonce Plante, Jean Charbonneau, Emile Massicotte, Humbert Marriotti, DeGaspe Audette, Lieut.-Col. Gregor Barclay, DeWitt LeMesurier and Jos. Lamarche, K.C.

PRESBYTERY ADOPTS REPORT ON UNION

After considering since the May meeting the report of the committee on union of the churches in relation to the Lambeth Conference, the Montreal Presbytery yesterday adopted the report without discussion, with instructions to incoroprate it within the minutes. It was agreed to continue the committee.

Referring to the activities of the committee, the Rev. Professor R. E. Welsh, the convenor, repudiated suggestions said to have been made in the General Assembly at Toronto that the effort to bring together Anglicans and Presbyterians was a "red herring" designed to spoil the proposals between Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists.

The report was not a draft legal constitution for church union, but was simply a basis of mutual understanding. It was an attempt to pave the way, although there was no definite committal, and while no initial action could be taken by the presbytery, any steps in this direction could not fail to influence the General Assembly and other church legislative bodies.

Dr. Welsh urged that, pending further steps, every opportunity be fostered for closer communion and inter-communion between the Anglican and Presbyterian churches.

Announcement was made at the meeting that a call had been given by the Lachine Church to Rev. A. J. Macdonald, of Bridgewater, N.S., the guaranteed stipend being $2,400, and manse. Preliminary arrangements for induction on August 19 were made.

LAST POST BURIES VETERAN.

The funeral of Alexander Walker, former member of the 24th Battalion, who died at the Western Hospital yesterday, will be conducted by the Last Post Fund tomorrow. The funeral will take place at 10 o'clock from J. C. Wray's undertaking establishment, Mountain street. The late Mr. Walker was one of three brothers who served overseas.

Life and Character Reading. JUNE 29.

Appreciation and praise will always help this person to success. Marriage with one born in the first two weeks of February will be a happy one. Love of home and family are dominant traits.

If the person of this birthdate desires happiness, let him conquer his desire to acquire money for money's sake and be willing to listen to adverse criticism, realizing that in so doing he will be able to correct those faults which will mean either success or failure.

Cancer, the governing sign of this birthdate, indicates that persistency and stubborn hold of purpose which is a chief characteristic of the Cancer born.

Venus, the star of love, is the governing planet and imparts a deeply ardent love nature.

Iron workers and machinists will be favored by prosperous planetary forces if they use The Star Want Ads for the coming two weeks.

NO AID FOR RELIEF OF UNEMPLOYED

Family Welfare Association Now Lacks Sufficient Funds

Lack of sufficient funds has forced the Family Welfare Association, formerly the Charity Organization, to announce that after today it cannot help any families in which distress is due to unemployment.

The contention is made by the general secretary J. B. Dawson, that there are not sufficient funds for the carrying out of the ordinary work of the association, and the board of directors have decided, with much regret, that it will have to decline the new and added work of unemployment relief, believing that this should be assumed by the municipal authorities as it was last winter.

The following official statement bearing on the matter was issued yesterday by Mr. Dawson on behalf of the directors:

"The Family Welfare Association of Montreal is facing a serious financial crisis owing to lack of funds wherewith to meet its ordinary work. The board of directors have, therefore, regretfully decided that they will have to decline the new and added work of unemployment relief. This they believe should be assumed by the municipal authorities as was the case last winter. In the interest, therefore, of conserving the ordinary work for which responsibility has already definitely been assumed, the association will deal with no families in which distress is due to unemployment after the 29th instant."

Mr. Dawson points out that the association is operating under a heavy overdraft that cannot be increased, and while the work undertaken has grown the revenue has fallen off, and there was a grave danger that the work would have to be still further curtailed unless the public came to the support of the association with increased funds. The directors desire to warn the public that if the assistance needed is not forthcoming very soon a further arbitrary reduction would have to be made in the work the society was doing, which would result in much suffering going unrelieved and unprevented amongst the poor of Montreal.

PRESENTATION TO VETERAN PASTOR

After forty-three years of service to the church, the Rev. Dr. J. R. MacLeod, pastor for ten years of St. Andrew's Church, Scotstown, Quebec, and Gould Station, has retired from the active duties of the pastorate. His farewell sermons last Sunday attracted large congregations. Dr. MacLeod's retirement was made the occasion of the presentation of a substantial purse, a similar gift being made to his daughter, Mrs. MacNeill. These were tendered on behalf of the congregation by Robert Scott, postmaster, who paid a great tribute to the work accomplished by Dr. MacLeod, and the Rev. Mr. Templeman, of St. Alban's Church, also added his tribute. Dr. C. M. Smith presided.

What The People Say

"To feel the burden and full responsibility of "true citizenship, one should own some Real "Estate. Civic pride finds its best and safest
"foundation in realty ownership. Every good "citizen owes it to himself and to his city, to in"vestigate and become interested in local real "estate conditions. In Montreal the sure and
"the usual step to take in this direction is that of "reading The Star's property columns, where
"realty conditions and values in all their phases
"are on view."

Accessories to Fraud

When a newspaper knowingly accepts dishonest or unwholesome advertising, it betrays the confidence of its readers, and acts as an accessory to a fraud.

The Star exercises a strict censorship over its advertising columns, both displayed and classified, and, as far as possible, rigidly excludes any announcement thought to be fraudulent or objectionable.

In this difficult legislation The Star will appreciate the co-operation of its readers.

MILLION DOLLAR TICKET SALE IS NOW REPORTED

NEW YORK, June 29. — (United News)—A cool million from the sale of tickets to the Dempsey-Carpentier fight was reported Monday to be already in the hands of Tex Rickard, promoter of the championship bout.

That is more than double the largest amount ever taken in at the box office for a boxing contest before—and there are five days' sales yet to come in. The total receipts for the Dempsey-Willard match at Toledo were $452,000.

Rickard's total expenses are expected to be around $800,000, including the check for $500,000, which he turned over to Robert Edgren, stakeholder, Monday for the fighters themselves.

The arena in Jersey City will have a total seating capacity of 91,613. Sixty per cent, or about 55,000 of these seats have already been sold. That breaks another record, for fight attendance. The biggest previous crowd, at the Burns-Kilbane mix-up last fall, was 46,500.

HENLEY REGATTA WAS OPENED TODAY

HENLEY, Eng., June 29.—Four days of boat racing opened here today under ideal weather conditions. Seventy-one crews and scullers were entered for the various events, forty-one crews intending to compete in the three eight-oared events. Holland and Norway were the only foreign countries to send competitors, all the other boats being manned by crews from British Universities, public schools and rowing clubs.

Preliminary heats in the races for the Thames Cup, the Ladies' Plate and the Wyfold Cup were rowed today. The first round for the grand challenge cup, in which event the Magdalen College (Oxford) crew is the favorite, will be rowed Thursday. The Prince of Wales is expected to attend on Saturday and present the prizes.

The largest crowd to attend the Henley regatta in several years is occupying houseboats and riverside residences here, while punts and launches crowded to the limit of their capacity sought vantage points along the course early this morning. There was little wind and fast time was expected in today's events.

Georges Looking for Labor Day Match

NEW YORK, June 29.—Georges Carpentier already is looking for a Labor Day match, figuring on the champion's end of a fight with, say Tom Gibbons, the heavyweight brother of Saint Paul Mike.

The Frenchman approached Tex Rickard with a proposal that Rickard get him some good opponent for Labor Day, feeling sure he would then be champion by a virtue of a decisive victory over Jack Dempsey.

On Watch Recovering From An Operation

NEW YORK, June 29—On Watch, one of the foremost race horses of the 1920 season is recovering after an operation for an affected windpipe. The racer, who won ten events last year showed indications of "blowing" after two or three workouts recently and it was decided to operate on the animal.

FIFTY CLUBS IN YOUNG JUDAEA BIG FIELD DAY

Fifty clubs of Montreal Young Judaea held their annual sports day and picnic at Tetreaultville.

Most of the events were carried off by the "Bnai Herzl," who were well represented. S. Miller, of the Bnai Herzl, was responsible to a great extent for his club obtaining the aggregate number of 26 points, which gives them the Aggregate Cup. His 440 yards race was done in record time, and was the best event of the day. The Darwin cup for individual aggregate goes to S. Miller, who was closely seconded by Hyams of the Stars of Judaea.

The Leaders' Cup, open for contest to leaders of both sexes, was easily won by Miss Goldie Louis, in the hundred yards dash.

The Levin Cup, for aggregate points for girls' clubs, was won by the Deborah Circle, with a close second by the Daughters of Judaea.

The individual cup for girls was won by Miss C. Greenblatt, of the Deborah girls.

Kid Sherman in N.Y. After Kilbane's Title

Kid Sherman, the local wildcat featherweight fighter, who administered several trouncings to other local flistic stars, has gone to New York and has placed himself under the management of Harry Neary, know to all those interested in boxing in this city, and who looks after the affairs of the popular Midget Smith.

Sherman styles himself Montreal's contender for the feather weight title and is going into training at once under the watchful eye of Neary, hoping to make good his ambition in regard to the crown worn at the present time by Johnny Kilbane, the silent champion.

TO PLAY DISPUTED GAME.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 29. — The Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh will play off their disputed game of May 28 here tomorrow. The game will start in the eighth inning when it was protested by Manager Gibson at Cincinnati with Barnhart on third base, Cutshaw at bat and the score tied at three runs. The Reds apparently had won the game in the tenth, but Gibson protested a play in the eighth, when Barnhart is said to have been called out after a wild throw by Luque had gone in to the Reds' dugout and a Cincinnati player on the bench was claimed to have relayed the ball to third.

HUTCHISON AND BRITISH AMATEUR HE BEAT TO WIN OPEN TITLE FOR AMERICA

CUDDIHY'S BOYS' CLUB HAD FIELD DAY

The closing scene in connection with the Varsity Athletic Club was enacted yesterday when the fourth and last field day, under the management of Louis Cuddihy, took place at the McGill Stadium. Spaniard or South African to Meet Tilden

WIMBLEDON, Eng., June 29.—William T. Tilden, the world's singles tennis champion, will meet either B. I. C. Norton, of South Africa, or Manuel Alonzo, of Spain, for the British championship at singles on turf courts.

Both of the finalists had hard matches to win in order to secure their positions. Norton defeated Francis T. Hunter, United States, in a five-set match, 6—0, 6—3, 5—7, 6—2, while Alonzo also was carried to five sets by Zenzo Shimidzu the Japanese expert. The score of this match was 3—6, 7—5, 3—6, 6—4, 8—6.

Lawn Bowling at St. Lambert

An open doubles tournament for the members and their friends will be held on the St. Lambert Green Dominion Day. There is renewed interest in bowling on the South Shore and a large entry list is assured.

PRO. BOXING

BOSTON, June 29. —Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, will meet Jack Britton of New York, welterweight titleholder, in a ten round no-decision bout at East Chicago, Ind., July 22, Martin Killilea, Wilson's manager, announced.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., June 29. — Fred Fulton, of Rochester, Minn., knocked out Dan Daly, of Pittsburgh, in the first round of their scheduled 12-round bout here. The men are heavyweights.

CHICAGO, June 29. — Joe Lynch, bantamweight boxing champion, was shaded by Joe Burman, of Chicago, in their ten-round bout at East Chicago, Ind., in the opinion of newspapermen.

BOSTON, June 29.— The Braves, holding third place in the National League after a successful western invasion, returned to their home town today to meet the Giants in a four game series. The latter hold second place by a five game margin. Although the playing season has not yet reached the half way mark, the Giants will not be seen in Boston again until 1922. This is due to a freak of the schedule.

The outdoor sports department of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association will hold the second of the super handicap series tomorrow night. The competitions will be held at the Westmount grounds, starting at 6 o'clock. Events have been scheduled for juniors, intermediates and seniors.

NO ROOM RUSH IN THE JERSEY CITY HOTELS

JERSEY CITY, N.J., June 29. (By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Staff Correspondent.) — Jersey City is ready now to open her gates to 90,000 fight fans.

Tex Rickard's big pine arena isn't completed yet, but the city is prepared.

"All of our plans are ready. We will take care of the crowds," Mayor Frank Hague said today.

Carpenters who struck the other day because Tex Rickard hired some non-union men to paint numbers on the seats, delayed the work so that the arena may not be ready before Friday.

The ring is to be built today.

New Jersey, which hasn't much of a reputation for handling fight crowds, is going to make a supreme effort to send every visitor away without criticism.

More than a thousand police will be inside and outside the arena.

One thousand firemen will have posts to guard against fire, and two fire companies with complete apparatus will be just outside the arena.

The stadium will be surrounded by a dead-line four blocks away from the arena, through which no one can pass without a ticket. Mounted cops will keep the "curious" moving.

To take care of the "boys" who want to see the fight for $5 general admission tickets, Tex Rickard will provide ticket wagons of the circus variety all around the stadium. The tickets will be passed out by experts trained in the school of John Ringling.

When Dempsey and Carpentier enter the ring the aisles will be cleared. No one will be allowed to stand but a limited number of police in every section. The ushers all will have to go to the top of the bleachers. Every effort will be made to provide a clear view for every ticket-holder.

Jersey City is not noticing any advance rush usually staged three days before the fight. The hotels are not crowded. Reservations still are available.

Hotel men attribute this to the fact that practically all of the visitors will stay in New York and come over in the day of the fight.

Officials of the Hudson and Manhattan Company, operating the "tube lines" under the Hudson River, say they can handle the crowd at the rate of 30,000 an hour. Ferry lines and electric lines to Newark and adjoining cities can take care of from 20,000 to 30,000 an hour.

SPALDING LEAGUE GAMES

HOUNDS WON.

Judelsohn of the Hounds was to much for the St. Anthony's batters, and the Hounds won by a score of 10 to 4 in a Spalding Juvenile League game, which was played on Fletcher's Field. The Hounds got to Cork in the first inning and scored seven runs. The feature of the contest was the all round playing of the winners.

GOLF NOTES

Commencing next Saturday, and continuing for the balance of the season, there will be a club dance at 8:30 p.m. at the Senneville Golf Club.

Jockey Matthews was suspended for the remainder of the Quebec Club by starter Eddie Tribe for misbehavior at the starting post, refusing to obey orders, he had the mount of clear field in the fourth race.

WORPLESDON, Eng., June 29.—Miss Alexa Stirling, United States woman golf champion, and R. H. de Montmorency, British amateur golfer, were defeated here today in the mixed foursome with Miss Joyce Wethered, British woman champion, and her brother, Roger Wethered, runner-up in the British open championship. Miss Wethered and her brother won five up and three to play.

The Macdonald College Golf team will play a team representing the Senneville Golf Club at the latter's links on Saturday, July 9.

The team from the agricultural college has among its number some fine golfers, and a very interesting competition is looked for when the players of these two clubs meet on the ninth. The players composing the two teams will be named this week.

The qualifying round for the Fallis Club championship trophy will be played at the Senneville golf course on Dominion Day, July 1. The first 32 gross scores will qualify.

TORONTO, June 29.—(Star Special.)—Another hole in one is reported from the Scarboro Golf Club, the second occurrence of the kind at that course already this season. J. R. Curry, in a foursome with Norman Fairhead, J. Kingsmill and Newman Fairhead, drove the green, a 200-yard shot, with a brassie.

A day or two before the Toronto and District Golf Association tourney at Scarboro, H. Scott, of the Weston Golf Club, made the fifth hole in one. The fifth is a 150-yard hole.

LAWN BOWLING

E. Lalanne and H. B. Tompkins, defenders of the Rainville Trophy for doubles at the St. Lambert Lawn Bowling Club last night, successfully retained their position by defeating a rink composed of F. Johnson and W. F. C. Turnbull, winning by 15 to 10.

E. G. Burnett and Dr. Griffith are the two bowlers of the M.A.A.A. Club who will in turn defend the A. H. Vallance and H. L. Paton Challenge Cup for doubles, having won the right last night with a victory over D. McLachlan and A. McLachlan, former defenders.

Outremont lawn bowlers will this evening defend the Challenge Cup of the Province of Quebec Lawn Bowling Association against the four invading St. George clubs.

F. E. Bedwell's rink, with A. M. Campbell, K.C., Snowdon and Harry McKenzie, won the leather medal competition at the club lawn last night.

By special arrangement the Westmount and M.A.A.A. lawn bowling clubs will roll their games in the M.A.A.A. rink here this evening instead of Thursday night.

INTERMEDIATE TENNIS.

Ken Barwick, M.A.A.A., defeated young Nicholson, a club mate after a most exciting game, in what proved to be the feature of yesterday's P.Q. intermediate fixtures. A large gathering turned out to watch the play at the McGill Courts. Barwick won the first set, 10-8, but lost the second, 6-2. However, in the third set, the greater experience of the older player downed the younger star, who lost 6-2.

Another promising young tennis protegee were in action in the Intermediate series yesterday afternoon in the doubles, when D. Nicholson and C. Leslie, two fifteen-year old youngsters, were eliminated from the series by K. M. Ramsay and L. D. Ramsay only after two extreme sets, which resulted 6-2 and 7-5 for the Ramsay brothers. In the Handicap Singles W. A. Landry defeated Dr. R. W. Kramer 6-3, 9-7.

ADVICE FOR THE SWIMMERS AND A FEW WHO DON'T

(Written for The Star by A. W. Ross, Secretary Royal Life Saving Society.)

Now that the summer season has arrived, boating and swimming accidents will naturally follow; a few words of warning may not be out of place just now. Persons who know no more about managing a boat or canoe than an airplane invite their friends without any hesitation to trust their lives to those amateur boatmen, therefore when danger arises from carelessness and ignorance or the folly of those who are in them, no one knows what to do, the fright increases the danger and the results bring mourning to many homes.

Some of those regrettable accidents are due to that practical joker who insists on rocking the boat; others imagine they can walk around as if on the promenade deck of an ocean liner, while some, eager to show their ability with oar or paddle, change seats, when the inevitable happens.

While a dip in the cool waters is always refreshing, prudence must be exercised or serious results may follow. Therefore the following hints should be borne in mind by those indulging:

DON'TS FOR SWIMMERS AND NON-SWIMMERS.

Don't bathe within two hours after having eaten a heavy meal.

Don't take a prolonged swim when fatigued.

Don't bathe alone if subject to giddiness or faintness; or in secluded or unfrequented places.

Don't dive into water you don't know the depth of.

Don't get into a panic if you get cramp in either of the limbs; swim to shore with the unaffected ones. Cramp is more painful than dangerous.

Don't dive from a boat or canoe in a high wind; you may not be able to overtake it.

YACHT RACES ON DOMINION DAY ON LAKE ST. LOUIS

The Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club intend to take advantage of the holiday on Friday to hold a series of races throughout the day for the five "R" class yachts from which the defenders of the International Cup will be chosen.

These races will be held over the Dorval course, commencing at 10 o'clock in the morning, so as to give sailors the full advantage of the morning breeze. The various crews have been hard at work getting their boats into proper trim for this series of races. In view of the breaking of the masts of the Red Patch and Beaver, new brass fittings for attaching the spreaders, through which the shrouds run from the mast to the deck, on to the mast, and it is hoped that these stronger fixtures will prevent any more spars from going over the side.

In addition to the individual workouts which the crews are having during the week, there will be this evening a combined crew practice in the form of a series of short races to be sailed over a short course laid off on Lake St. Louis opposite the club house at Dorval.

Now that the international races are drawing near, the performance of each yacht is being closely watched, not only by the members of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club, who, of course, are most deeply interested, but by the public at large, who are very much interested in the first international race which has been sailed on Lake St. Louis for the last ten or twelve years.

Dinghy races will be held at Dorval this evening, and a series of races held on Saturday afternoon in all probability over the Pointe Claire course, as the committee realize that the time is drawing short in which to prepare the crews for such an important event as the match with the White Bear Club of St. Paul, to be sailed on July 23rd, 25th, and 26th.

The races on Friday will be the second for the Cup presented by F. W. Molson, the first being held last Saturday at Pointe Claire, in which the boats won the following points:—R. C. Stevenson's Vega, 4; J. K. L. Ross' Beaver, 4; G. V. Hamilton's Red Patch, 3; Molson Syndicate's Oneto, 2; and R. M. Wolvin a yacht, 1.

So much interest has been shown by themselves in the races between these five boats that the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club Committee are making special arrangements to accommodate a very large number of the membership of the club, who will be sure to take advantage of this opportunity of spending the day at the club in endeavoring to size up the chances of the different boats and their performance under strict racing conditions.

F. P. Shearwood will act as officer of the day, and the following boats will sail:

1—R. C. Stevenson's Vega (A. S. Foe, skipper); 2—Molson Syndicate's Oneto (A. F. Paterson, skipper); 3—R. M. Wolvin's Wolvin Yacht (G. S. Parke, skipper); 4—W. Whitehead's Red Patch (G. S. Hamilton skipper); 5—J. K. L. Ross' Beaver (C. H. Routh, skipper.)

KEARNS AND JACK STILL FRIENDS---GEORGES RUNS AWAY

CHAMP DEMPSEY, THE "MAN-KILLER," SNAPPED THROUGH THE AIRPORT ROPES

Dempsey has just landed a right on Big Jack Renault, of Montreal, one of the champ's sparring partners, and as Renault staggers back from the blow, Dempsey is preparing to follow it up with a left. The champ, you notice, already has stepped forward with the old left fist ready to unleash, in the centre picture.

SILLY STORY THAT KEARNS AND JACK HAD AWFUL ROW

By JOSEPH J. O'NEILL.

NEW YORK, June 29.—In one way and another things moved merrily forward yesterday toward the big show of Saturday.

Betting started to liven up a bit, after it had been at a dead standstill. Odds still 3 to 1.

Jeack Kearns breezed into town and killed a wild story some shot-in-the-arm artist had written about a break between himself and the champion.

A lot more tickets were sold but there are many thousands yet left that Tex Rickard will gladly supply cash customers.

It cannot be said that any overwhelming amount of money was wagered on the outcome between Dempsey and Carpentier, but there was enough to show that the lads are beginning to loosen up and that the sporting spirit has not been entirely Volsteaded.

One of the operators on the stock exchange (name not revealed) offered ..60,000 to $20,000 that Jack would win by a K.O. It didn't take long for this to be grabbed by some admirers of Georges. Another bet of $30,000 to $10,000 went the same way. A third bet—again of "thirty" against "ten"—was offered but not taken, although when the big operator put out $5,000 at evens that Carpentier would not respond for the seventh round, it was covered at once.

The yarn that Jack Kearns and Jack Dempsey had split up caused quite a commotion for a few hours. It said that Kearns had "disappeared" from Atlantic City on Monday, that no one knew his whereabouts, and that Dempsey had worked several fast rounds in disobedience of Kearns' orders. It was silly on the face of it.

The dapper manager did leave the seashore on Monday, but he came up to consult with Tex Rickard about the motion pictures of the fight.

"As to the kid (Dempsey) working after I left, I told him to," said Kearns as he sat with a group of writers in Rickard's tower office at the Garden. "The kid and I are pals, and any talk about a break-up is hop stuff. What we're thinking about now is our next match after we get through with Carpentier. The kid ought to beat Georges in three or four rounds at the outside."

REFORMERS WANT PRINCIPALS IN FIGHT INDICTED

JERSEY CITY, N.J., June 29. (United Press) — Failing in attempts to block the Dempsey-Carpentier fight by injunction, officials of the International Reform Bureau today demanded indictments of the principals.

The indictment threat was voiced by Robert Watson, vice-president of the Bureau, who figured in an attempted injunction yesterday.

Watson said P. J. Garvin, prosecutor of Jersey City, would be asked to take the case before the Hudson County grand Jury, now in session. An information will be filed charging that Promoter Tex Rickard, the fighters and their managers are guilty of conspiracy to hold a prizefight in violation of the State Crimes law, Watson said.

Watson, five clergymen of Jersey City, and their attorney, H. C. Gilson, saw two vice-Chancellors yesterday in their efforts to obtain an injunction against the fight. Vice-Chancellor Stevens said he did not have time to consider the matter properly, but that he saw no grounds for the action, there being no crime committed. Vice-Chancellor Foster, of Newark, also denied the application.

The last attempt was made by Clinton N. Howard, president of the Reform Bureau, who saw Chancellor Walker of Trenton. He presented the case verbally. Walker intimated that he would permit Howard to offer the motion in regular form today, and Howard indicated that he would do so.

Following the efforts of the Reform Bureau, Governor Edwards issued a statement in which he declared that the fight will violate no law, and that "the individuals and organizations who endeavor to prevent the exhibition on Saturday are in a class with those who advocate Blue Sunday and whose professional activities are a matter of deep concern to liberty-loving Americans."

GIBBONS, WHO'LL CHALLENGE, HAS PICKED DEMPSEY

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 29.—(By Tommy Gibbons, Challenger for the Heavyweight Championship, written for The United Press.)—Jack Dempsey is in wonderful shape. I saw him work out yesterday. Of course, he didn't do much, but that is to be expected, as he is in superb shape now. Anything but light work might make him go stale.

He seems to be in the best of spirits, and if he has been worrying or suffering from nerves he does not show it in his work or in conversation.

He does not look as ferocious as he did at Toledo. This is due, of course, to the fact that he did not get sunburned as he did in Ohio when he was training for Willard. He looks bigger, though, and more rugged.

I was interested several weeks ago by the report that he had become musclebound. He doesn't show it, and I am sure he is not.

I didn't have the chance to get a look at his real foot-work or at his punching. We all know what he can do, though. I think his conditon is the most important factor, and he is in fine shape.

Any boxer at this stage of training cannot hide the symptoms of staleness or over-training.

I have predicted before that Dempsey would win. After seeing him I am more convinced that he will win in a short bout.

Weight and Punch Not Enough

BY JAMES J. JEFFRIES.

Former World's Heavyweight Champion.

In a previous reference to the Carpentier-Dempsey fight, I based my opinion that Carpentier would give Dempsey a hard battle on "dope" gained from my experience in the ring. I referred to the fact that Jim Corbett stayed with me 23 rounds the first time we fought and that ring critics' opinion was that Jim would have taken the decision had I not stopped him a couple of rounds before the schedule was over.

I have a great respect for clever men, especially when they are as heavy as Carpentier and when experts agree that the Frenchman is fast as lightning.

I do not wish to cast any disparity upon Jess Willard, Brennan or any of the boys whom Dempsey has whipped. I'm willing to leave it to any man of expert ring knowledge just how these fighters stand up when the name of Fitz is mentioned.

Dempsey may outweigh Carpentier 20 pounds, but his 20 pounds doesn't make so much difference when men have passed the 170-pound mark. I outweighed Fitz and Corbett and others, but I know what it means to take a beating, for a good many rounds at least, from lighter men.

I don't know of a fast man that Dempsey has met—fast in the sense that Corbett, Choynski, Fitz or McCoy were. They say Dempsey has a terrific punch. A punch is as good as the place it lands. That's all. It's not good judgment at this time to say that Dempsey can land in the right spot.

Tomorrow Jeffries tells why Carpentier may figure stronger in the Dempsey fight than is expected.

TRAPSHOOTERS MEET.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Ont., 29.—United States Olympic champions and the members of the Canadian Olympic team are expected to attend the thirteenth annual trapshooting tournament of the "Canadian Indians" which takes place here Thursday and Friday of this week. There will be also a large attendance of well-known trap shots from both the United States and Canada. Archie Bishop, holder of the British Columbia championship for several seasons, is one of those booked for the meeting.

WEATHER BUREAU HAS PREDICTED HOT SUN FOR THE BIG BATTLE

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(United Press).— The Dempsey-Carpentier fight will be held under a hot sun unless all weather signs fail, the weather bureau stated today. Present indications point to a clear hot day for Jersey City on July 2, the date of the scrap.

A thunder shower may wander over the arena, the bureau warned, as showers were held probable in widely scattered parts of the middle Atlantic States.

FIVE BATTERS HIT BY PITCHED BALL; 2 INJURED

NEW YORK, June 29.—Five National League batters were hit by pitched balls and two injured by hard batted balls in yesterday's contests. Shortstop Hollicher sustained a broken nose when a grounded hit by Cutshaw, of Pittsburgh, bounded badly. Pitcher Freeman was struck just above the temple by a swiftly batted ball, and had to leave the second base of the double-header between Chicago and Pittsburgh. Freeman himself hit two batters, Whitted and Barnhardt. The other National batsman struck was Roush, of Cincinnati, hit by Doak of St. Louis.

A long distance single was batted by Welch, of the Philadelphia Americans in Boston. The Athletic outfielder had visions of a home run as the ball sailed away, but it struck a clock situated above the left field fence and bounded back so quickly that Welch got only one base.

The St. Louis Americans outbatted the Cleveland world champions for the second successive day, but were as unsuccessful as they were the day before. The Browns could score only four runs on 17 hits, while the Indians collected an even dozen on 16.

TOO LATE TO STOP THE BIG FIGHT NOW SAYS REVEREND BILLY SUNDAY

NORTON, Va., June 29.—(United Press).— The time to have opposed the Dempsey-Carpentier fight was before Tex Rickard had spent a barrel of money erecting the prize-ring, William A. (Billy) Sunday, the Evangelist, said here today.

"I do not favor prize fights, but as it has been known for months that this bout was scheduled to take place, the time to have opposed it was before Rickard had spent a barrel of money erecting the prize-ring.

"In my opinion, a prize fight on Saturday is not as bad as a baseball game on Sunday."

THE STAR AND THE FIGHT

On Saturday The Star will report the Dempsey-Carpentier fight by megaphone and bulletin at both the Main Office and the Uptown branch, corner Peel and St. Catherine streets. Direct wires from the ringside to both offices will be used. A special edition will be issued as soon as the result is known.

AIR OF MYSTERY TO GOLF PLAY AT OUTREMONT CLUB

An air of mystery will surround a certain competition at the Outremont Golf Club on Friday.

A special handicap has been arranged for open competition among the members, known as the Johnny Walker Handicap. The winner of this event will be presented with an "unknown" prize, to be donated by one of the club members, Mr. Pierce. Just what the prize will be is a close secret, but most of those entering the play appear to think the name suggestive, and having made up their minds in this regard, will probably be very much disappointed if their guess is wrong.

There will be two special fixtures at the Kanawaki Golf Club's course on Dominion Day. A two-ball foursome will be played to begin with, and also a handicap, the Club Pewter competition. It is expected that July 1 will be a gala day at Kanawaki, as so many of the club members are preparing to spend the day at the links. Special catering arrangements will be arranged for looking after the large number expected.

O'Hara Can't Break Away from Dempsey

Once again Eddie O'Hara is unable to get to this city for his schedule bout with Eddie Ricard, the local middleweight.

Last week he wired Tom Duggan, president of the National Sporting Club that he would not arrive here on account of the fact that he had made arrangements to act as a sparring partner for Champion Jack Dempsey. Again this week, he finds it impossible to break his engagement with Dempsey, and wired to this effect yesterday afternoon.

As soon as the Big Fight is over O'Hara will be free to do as he likes but until then he must stick at the Atlantic City camp. His states definitely in the wire that he will be on hand next Wednesday or die in the attempt.

Sam Hildreth Wants Return of $115,000

NEW YORK, June 29.—Return of the $115,000 paid for the race horse Playfellow, brother of the noted Man o'War, has been requested by Sam C. Hildreth, it was reported here today. The racer, which was bought from the Quincy stable recently, was withdrawn from a race at Aqueduct yesterday because of the alleged discovery that the horse was a "wind sucker," and was in no condition to race.

Playfellow gained prominence through his relationship to Man o'War and his winning of two races in succession at Belmont this season. Since his purchase by the Rancocas stable, he finished second to Knobbie, a stablemate, and later was defeated in a race with Fair Gain and Thunderstorm.

BOULOGNE, France, June 29.—Sixty-six players, mostly British, including Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, are entered for the French open golf championship, play in which began today.

The expected entries of United States golfers, among them Jock Hutchison, winner of the British open title, and Walter Hagen, were received.

Fast competiton is foreseen. Vardon and Ray are to play against J. R. Kirkwood, the Australian champion, and Arnaud Massey, the French champion.

The Senneville Country Club has arranged the draw for the second round of the Britain Trophy and the players are matched as follows:

P. C. Hart vs. F. N. DeLancey.
T. L. Lawson vs. F. L. Packhard.
G. de W. Reid vs. T. W. McLean.
G. S. M. Davison vs. D. V. McLean.
T. O. Lyall vs. A. McLean.
H. G. Connor vs. A. A. Bradley.
F. N. Slade vs. W. L. Calder.
L. St. J. Haskell vs. C. B. Powter.
Dean Laird vs. Dr. Lamb.
C. P. Howard vs. J. C. Seybold.
C. T. B. Cumming vs. H. A. Lordly.

This series of matches should be played off on or before July 9.

How They Regard The Fighters' Chances Here

A well-known local sporting man interested in betting, quotes the following figures as prevailing locally amongst men known to make individual wagers on the big fight.

2 to 1 that Dempsey will retain the title.

6 to 5 that the fight does not go the limit.

Even that the fight does not go ten rounds.

4 to 5 that the fight does not go eight rounds.

3 to 5 that it does not go six rounds.

Local wagering on the outcome of the fight Saturday, via pari-mutuel betting, is still overwhelmingly in favor of the French champion.

Yesterday Carpentier was a 1—10 choice, when wagering started. When the returns were checked up this morning, there was a very slight deviation from this odds. Supporters of Dempsey, attracted by the remunerative figures offered, had come to the front in some measure, and their betting had slightly reduced the odds, but early today, as nearly as could be computed, Dempsey was still in the vicinity of a 9 to 1 shot. In other words, if he won and payments were made on the basis of today's pool, a two-dollar ticket on Dempsey would bring about $20.

BIG FIGHT CROWD WILL BE WELL PROTECTED FROM PICKPOCKETS

JERSEY CITY, N.J., June 29—Sixteen hundred policemen and firemen will be employed in handling crowds and preventing accidents at the Dempsey-Carpentier fight, Mayor Hague announced today. Of these, 400 policemen and 300 firemen will be inside the arena.

A dead-line will be established four blocks from the arena, inside which only persons bearing tickets will be allowed.

Pickpockets will have to evade 375 detectives.

Promoter Tex Rickard has offered to provide all expenses, up to $25,000, in arresting and prosecuting purveyors of counterfeit tickets.

FIGHT HAS DONE MUCH FOR FRENCH SPORTING MEN

PARIS, June 29. — (By Edwin Hullinger, United Press Staff Correspondent. — "This fight has done more to arouse interest in physical culture than years of propaganda," Gaston Vidal, French minister of physical education, told the United Press in an exclusive interview today.

"From the Alps to the Pyrennes and from the English Channel to the Mediterranean," he said, "the Carpentier-Dempsey match is stirring France as no athletic event in history ever did—stirring the nation as few international events can."

"M. Zhack Demps, is as well known and about as cordially liked as the former crown prince, it was stated. Occasional pictures of the champion thrown on the screens arouse the French to a frenzy. These films, usually followed by one portraying the similing, blonde Carpentier send the movie audience home in a torment of hope and fear.

Vidal has just completed a tour of France.

"Even in hamlets of three hundred hidden away in the Alps," he said, "I found the peasants talking about the fight.

"They eagerly asked me for my opinion on the outcome.

"I told them what I think—that Carpentier will win.

"Over 4,000 newspapers throughout France are preparing to flash the results of the fight to their readers. Telegraphers are preparing to give the bulletins the right of way over everything. Great crowds will gather before the bulletin boards.

"Paris expects at least 100,000 to wait for the result on screens before the newspaper offices.

"If Carpentier wins Paris will see one of the greatest jubilations in her history, exceeded only by the armistice. The whole city will turn out for a full night of rejoicing."

SCHOOL SWIMMING CHAMPION.

Andrew P. Krauseman has been awarded the all round swimming championship for boys of 16 in the Inter-School League. The contests were held at the North End Y.M.C.A. The champion was presented with his medal last night.

"I ESCAPED ALL MY VISITORS," GEORGES' TROUBLE OVER RING

MANHASSET, June 29.—(By Georges Carpentier. Copyright 1921 by the United Feature Syndicate)—So many visitors came out to the farm yesterday afternoon although it was supposed to be a private day that I was forced to do something that I have never done before in my training—I pulled a sweater over my head and escaped out to where my car was parked and with Pierre Mallet and the chauffeur abandoned the farm altogether. We drove off in the direction of New York. Anything to escape the visitors. On the way we ran into a terrible thunderstorm, but it was better than being bothered by the flock of well-wishers. When I returned most of my visitors had departed and I was able to get a little of the peace which is so necessary to a fighter before a fight as important as this one. My road work in the morning was severe and I also did gymnastic exercises and a little boxing. Coming in along the road I found a horseshoe which now hangs outside our front door. I believe it is customary to put such luck bringers over the door, but we decided to take no chances. Joe Jeanette brought his family out to the farm in the afternoon and his little girls sang for me very sweetly. Francois Descamps went up to New York to see about the question of the size of the ring. We were informed by telephone last night that it would be but eighteen feet square. Our contract calls for a fight under the Marquis of Queensbery rules and we know that those specify a twenty-four foot ring. However, we realize that we are strangers in this country and we are quite prepared to abide by the decision of the New Jersey State Boxing Commission. I am not going to say anything about what my training will be from now on. Dempsey can work just as he pleases, but we are not going to give anything away.

M'AULIFFE HAS HIS SAY ON SIZE OF THE BIG RING

NEW YORK, June 29.— (By Jack McAuliffe, Undefeated Lightweight Champion. Written for the United Press.)—Francois Descamps has maintained a strict silence on the French battle plans, but actions speak louder than words.

The Frenchmen have just awakened to the fact that Dempsey will be hard to run away from in an eighteen-foot ring. They are not registering a protest about it, but they are saying in a rather diplomatic fashion that the Queensberry rules call for a twenty-four-foot ring.

BOSTON, June 29.—Abe Friedman of Boston, was awarded the decision over Young Montreal, of Providence, in a ten-round bout here. They are bantamweights.

DEMPSEY WON'T CONFIDE WHERE HE'LL SLEEP FRIDAY NIGHT

By RING W. LARDNER

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., June 29.—On the verge of my departure from America's playground, I wish to bring out one more point in the comparison between myself and Jack Dempsey, man for man. Mr. Dempsey has announced that he will leave here Friday a.m. for Jersey City, but where he is going when he gets there he won't tell. Well, friends, I am leaving here this eve for Great Neck, Long Island, and when I get there I am going home. That is the differents between underhand methods and those of a man that has always been open and above the boards, and lay all my cards on the table. They's nothing sub rosa or under your hat about the undersigned, and I will go a step further and add that my home is the handsome white edifice on East Shore Rd. near the coal dump, and my yard looks like the Germans had been there and, if you can't find it from that description, why, go up to the taxi boys at the station for Sheppard Jackson and ask him to take you to Lardner's.

That is how I stack up alongside of people that won't tell you where they are headed for, and not only that, but suppose you was to find out where Dempsey was stopping or Carpentier, either one, why, what would happen when you got there? A smart Alex would meet you at the gate and tell you that the gatekeeper told Bat Nelson down here, namely, that he had orders to not even let in the mayor of Egypt. On the other hand, if the mayor of Egypt or the empire of Baltimore or just a plain bum comes to my gate and wants to see me, why, 3 to 4 of the most hospitable gate-tenders you ever seen begins to yell daddy at the top of their lungs, and not only that, but if somebody yells out to them that daddy ain't home, they will say yes he is because we just seen him at the window.

So much for a writer as compared with a fighter, but it is a writers business to tell their readers all as they can find out about a fighter, and I only wished I could inform my readers in full as to Dempsey's Jersey City plans. The general belief seems to be that he will drop in at Boyle's thirty-acres for a couple of minutes Saturday afternoon, and after that will probably go some place besides church. But where he will spend Friday night is the real misery, and close as I am to the champion and have supper with him every 28 years, why, I am sorry to say he ain't even confided in me though I as much as asked him point blank.

"Jack," I says, for that is how it is between us, "where are you going to stay in Jersey City?"

"I wished I could tell you," come the reply.

So I asked him if it was animal or mineral, and he shook his head, and I asked him if it was in a tree, as I had suspected right along that he might have a tree in mind, but he shook his head.

"It's a private house," he finely said. "A man's house that lives there."

"If I mention the man's name will you tell me if I'm right?"

"No," he says, and I had to pass up my little scheme which was to get a hold of a Jersey City 'phone book and read it out loud until he stopped me.

So all and all it looks as if I wouldn't be able to get any real clue soon enough to do my readers any good, but personly I am going to Jersey City early Friday evening and make a house to house canvas in the hopes that I will find the spot in time to curl up on the door mat and be near him.

Before leaving Atlantic City I desire to thank Tommy Furey and the rest of the boys that have showed my friends and I such a grand good time down here, and am a specially grateful to Mayor Bader for giving us the keys to the city including what was the most interesting sight down here, namely the deep sea net which I may as well exclaim to the reader is a net they leave in the ocean all night and hall it in every a.m. full of fish. They don't put the net out in the afternoon because that is when the fish are inland, watching Dempsey train.

I can say without no fear of contradiction that the champion is in grand shape, but as for the condition of the experts, I don't believe they are anywheres near as good as they was at Toledo.

SOCCER GOSSIP

BY CRAIG CAMPBELL

The P.Q.F.A., at last evening's meeting, ordered the replay of the Connaught Cup game between C.P.R. and Calvin to take place next Saturday on Grand Trunks' ground. It is not intended to call off league games, so these will go on as usual. An arrangement will have to be made with Grand Trunk A, who meet Printers before the big match. C. P. R. and Calvin are dobutless capable of looking after their own end.

Emard made a strong protest against Grenadier Guards in a league game at Roxboro, which Emard lost, 11-2. The claim was based on a confusion of whistles, another game being played in an adjoining pitch. Emard's representatives fought hard, but failed to convince the board, therefore lost their protest.

Printers protested the efficiency of referee McIlroy, but the letter was ordered filed.

Outremont City's linesman, Dawson by name, was ordered to appear at next Tuesday's meeting to account for his behavior in a recent game, when he locked horns with a referee.

Two linesmen, Messrs. Cousins and Conlin, appeared to show why they failed to turn up in the Tetreaultville-Thistle game, and once again the Post Office officials were at fault, as neither men received their notice. The explanation was considered quite satisfactory.

C. P. R. and Calvin will not refer to medal charges until they receive a full statement of the Connaught Cup finals.

After long correspondence, spreading over three months, the United States Football Association declare Hanson an amateur. This is the man M.A.A.A. signed up, and subsequently released.

The Third Division ventured to remind the board that they had no power to prohibit any newspaper man from acting on the council. This letter was considered of little consequence and like two others, "ordered fyied."

Mr. Fletcher appeared and presented what will be known as "The Fletcher Memorial Cup," a very beautiful trophy. Neil Hepburn, in a few suitable words, thanked Mr. Fletcher, and handed it over to H. Knott, secretary of Tetreaultville, who won it last Saturday against Windsor Hotel.

The draw for the Charity Cup is:
Lyalls vs Can. Vickers.
Calvin vs. Tetreaultville II.
St. Paul Town vs. M.A.A.A.
Sons of England vs. Nomads.
Tetreaultville vs. Lachine.
C. P. R. vs. Gren. Guards.
Corinthians II. vs. Northern Electric.
Sons of Scotland vs. Locos.
Emard vs. Corinthians I.
Outremont City vs. Elmhurst.
Grand Trunk vs. Beloeil.
East Greenfield vs Grand Trunk A.
Harrisons vs. Royal Highlanders.
5th C.M.R. vs. Great War Vets.
Rosemount vs. Verdun City.
Rosemount R. vs. Aylwin.
Printers vs. Blue Bonnets.
Thistles receive a bye.

Second Division games this evening:
Lachine vs. Nomads.
St. Paul Town vs. Gren. Guards.

Tomorrow's Mid-Week Leagrue.
Elmhurst vs. Guaranteed Milk.
Sun Life vs. Always.
N. D. G. vs. Goodwin's.
Harrisons vs. G. T. R. Offices.

All arrangements were made for the inter-city game with Toronto on Dominion Day.

The First, Second and Third Division leagues meet tomorow evening and will receive nominations to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of W. Topp. There are all sorts of rumors concerning the effect of the re-nomination of Topp, and the possible election. One story has it that more than one member would resign. At present, however, it is only talk.

Another sensational exodus took place from Canadian Vickers last night, when Brewerton, Greenan and Fraser were transferred to Beloeil.

"UNO'S" SOCCER TALK

I told you yesterday that one day soon you would hear more about that business regarding Ralph Smith's being transferred to the Guards. Little did I dream that I should be able to give you details so soon. A special meeting of Outremont City's Committee was convened for the especial purpose of considering the matter. To the amazement of the committee, Ralph Smith was in attendance, and made a lucid statement of fact.

Mr. Prendergast moved a vote of severe censure upon the manager and secretary of the club. Would anyone second the motion? The appeal was made. The members looked at one another, but not one would second Mr. Prendergast's drastic suggestion.

Then came along a statement of curious fact. Was there anyone present who was a member of the committee when Ralph Smith signed on for the Old Country? The querulous members were cornered. There was not one. Was there anyone present who knew the conditions under which Smith signed on—anyone? Again all were silent as the grave.

Then they got to know the truth—which was as stated in The Star yesterday. The secretary's action in releasing Smith had need to be homologated. The balloon had burst. It had ascended as all well-to-do balloons usually do, and had come down like a parachute. Ralph will make his first appearance for the Guards tonight against St. Paul Town.

The city is alive with rumors of impending team changes. There have been quite a few as witness the list compiled below. It is an imposing array of interchangeable talent, or rather, talent which has readily been transposed. I am able at least to confirm the rumored statement that Frank Weldon, Emard's clever outside right, has been fixed up by the Guards, and is likely to play against St. Pauls. He is one of the best in his position in the city. Strange to say, he was mentioned for his place against Toronto. It is almost incredible. Look at this lot.

Nick Carter, Printers, to Verdun.
N. Hill, Verdun, to Guards.
J. McBride, Guards, to Verdun.
(This transaction will be completed this afternoon.)
F. Weldon, Emard, to Guards.
W. Walker, Calvin, to Lyalls.
R. Brewerton, Vickers, to Beloeil.
R. Greenan, Vickers, to Beloeil.
Thompson, 5th C.M.R., to Locos.
P. McKeller, S.O.S., to Beloeil.

There is talk this morning of J. Wright leaving Vickers and going back to his old team, the Locos. S.O.S. have released no fewer than six of their players. This, too, is official.

It is perfectly evident, as the Scottish team moved westward, that President Dan McNeil of the D.F.A., had so broadened his vision, that the exclusion of certain Montreal players from the All-Canada team who were "mentioned in despatches," was inevitable, only Wourters, Adam Smith and Alick Smith being included in the team to do duty on July 9. I have seen Halliwell and Lavery of Toronto. They are a very clever pair, especially the latter, and whoever will be Scotland's centre half—Craig Brown is by no means a certainty—will have a very warm afternoon, no matter what the temperature may be. That is certain.

CHARLES MILNE.

MEDERIC WILL START HANDICAP AT DELORIMIER

Mayor Martin will press the button for the start of the City of Montreal Inaugural Handicap at Delorimier Park on Saturday. This will be the second meeting under the jurisdiction of the Quebec Breeders' and Racing Association, and careful preparations are being made to insure a successful week of sport.

A very competent set of racing officials have been selected, in fact, no stronger or more experienced men ever [illegible] on any Canadian track.

John F. Ryan will act as steward, representing the Quebec Breeders' and Racing Association. He is the founder of the Canadian National Bureau of Breeding, which carries on the good work of improving the breed of horses from one end of Canada to the other. He is one of the original charter members of the Montreal Jockey Club, and is the man who started the track at Blue Bonnets in 1905-06.

The stewards representing the Montreal Driving Club Company are: W. J. Morrison, E. St. Pere, and W. W. Lyles. The judge and racing secretary is F. W. Gerhardy, who for twenty-five years officiated at the big tracks in Ontario and Quebec. His associate judge is Charles Campeau. The paddock judge is Dr. F. Ashe, who acted at Blue Bonnets and Dorval; and the patrol judge will be Major A. J. Cholet, racing expert, and life member of the Thoroughbred Breeders' Association of France. Elmer Wilson will be the starter.

There are plenty of horses hereabouts to make well balanced fields, and as most of these horses are just now at the top of their form, some exciting contests may be looked forward to with certainty.

The track has been carefully prepared, and some improvements have been made in the plant which should add to the success of the meeting.

M.A.A.A. Lacrosse Team for Cornwall

The M.A.A.A. lacrosse team will travel to Cornwall on Saturday next to play a scheduled fixture of the senior section of the Eastern Canada Lacrosse league. A fine game is expected in the present stronghold of Canada's national sport, as both teams are in better form than they have been in some time.

The M.A.A.A. outfit is going strong and playing clean, scientific lacrosse. This was demonstrated in last Saturday's match, when the Winged Wheelers defeated the National Club by a score of 9 to 7. The attendance at this game was an eye-opener to those who look upon a lacrosse crowd as a mere handful of people.

Dempsey May Fight in Toronto Labor Day

TORONTO, June 29. (Star Special)—Jack Dempsey may be seen here in an exhibition boxing match on the evening of Labor Day. He has promised Art Edmunds, of the Soldiers and Civilians National Athletic Association that he will come when desired to help along the funds of the Association.

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Canarsie Selling Stakes, for two-year-olds, at five furlongs, was the feature of the rather dull card offered at Aqueduct yesterday, but it provided some thrills and a surprise at least when the winner turned up in Dr. T. S. Dabny, owned by W. Damiel. This colt rushed in the last furlong and gained the victory by a nose from Runnyol.

CLOSE SCORES CONTINUING IN ATWATER BALL

Close scores are becoming the order of the day in the Atwater Park Baseball League, and last night's game between St. Arsene and Athletics, was no exception.

Athletics won by the odd run out of seven, though they were headed from the very start, when St. Arsene scored one run till the end of the sixth, when St. Arsene increased their lead by two more.

Try as they would, Athletics could not even cut down a one-run lead throughout those six innings. Twice they were on the verge of doing so, but each time they were turned back by brilliant plays.

In the fourth inning Davidson was out at the plate on an attempted double play, Major making a perfect return to the catcher. In the sixth, Flaherty, with Tamon on base, was robbed of an extra base hit by Bisonnette's shoestring catch in left centrefield.

But in the seventh inning St. Arsene's defence at last broke down, and one hit with three errors let in all four of the runs which proved sufficient to turn victory into defeat.

Successive doubles by Sheedy and Reynolds accounted for St. Arsene's first run, but errors figured in their runs in the fifth. Crevier was safe, Carmel dropping the ball. Cutter grounded out. Sheedy singled, and then, with Reynolds up, Crevier scored on Flaherty's throw to second, there being no one there to take it, while Sheedy went on to third, and scored on Reynold's sacrifice fly to right field. Bisonnette got a scratch hit, Bailey doubled to centre field, and it looked as if the worst were yet to come, but Lamothe ran a few hundred yards, more or less, and made a splendid catch of Singher's foul fly in left field, the end both of their fifth inning and their scoring for the game.

Clarke, who pitched for Athletics, is a new acquisition. He showed very good control. Reynolds turned in his usual game.

Thursday evening, Indians vs. Crescents.

		R.	H.	E.
St. Arsene	10002000—	3	7	3
Athletics	0000004x—	4	7	3

Batteries: — Reynolds and Baily; Clarke and Flaherty.

HORSE SOMERSAULTED OVER RIDER AT QUEBEC

QUEBEC, June 29.—(Star Special.)—The feature event on yesterday's program of races, the fourth day of the Quebec Hunt Club's meet was the Chateau Huntcap, a six furlong affair, carrying with it the cup donated by the Chateau Frontenac and a seven hundred dollar purse for three-year-olds. This race was captured by Panaman, who had the rail and who led the field from the start never being headed to win by a neck from Runtix.

An accident that might have been attended with serious consequences happened in the opening race on the program, a four-and-a-half furlong dash, for two-year-olds, which was won by Rubula with Madame X., who had the rail, third. Bitter Biting was following Madame X. round the turn when suddenly Rubula cut in with the result that Bitter Biting stumbled and was bumped by Springtide, the shock throwing Dominick, riding Bitter Biting, clean over her head. Holding onto the bridle he drew the mare's head down and she turned a somersault over him as he lay prostrate on the track.

Springtide also went down and she in turn rolled over Dominick, but luckily he was only shaken up and was not injured severely.

PRINCE ALBERTS AGAINST SCOTS WERE NOT STRONG

PRINCE ALBERT, Saskatoon, June 29. (Star Special) — In brilliant sunshine the Scots tourists faced the Prince Albert select at the Agricultural grounds, which were specially prepared and in excellent condition. The Scots opened with a rush and Rankine accepting a pass from Wilson, opened the account for Scotland. Time, two minutes. Sheldon rallied his men and played some fine football. Stewart and Dobson, acting in unison, were the shining lights. Maxwell had a great solo run and a great parting shot, which Duff saved in fine style. The Scots centre, hitherto unfortunate in his finishing, now treated the crowd to a real Wilson goal, Duff having no chance, as the centre worked into position and timed his shot. Towell led a raid on Brownlie, and Stewart forced McCormack to concede a corner and from the resultant kick Dobson flung one which was saved by a Herculean effort by Brownlie just on the call of half time. Maxwell caught up a rebound and Scotland crossed over 3 up.

The resumption showed the locals at their best, Brownlie being repeatedly called on. The tourists now took over the game and gave an exhibition of passing and trick football which, while a joy to the crowd, was a sore trial to the Prince Albert select. The brilliant sunshine seemed to have a mercurial effect on the otherwise staid Scots, who now frisked and frolicked in a manner foreign to their usual wont. In a fairly good game the Prince Albert team put up a good fight, and while there was scarcely a local man who could be pushed for Montreal on July 9, Sheldon, Laidlaw, Stewart and Turner showed more than a passing knowledge of the game. The crowd, numbered approximately 3,000. SLOAN.

U.S. GOV'T. TO MAKE NEARLY $2,000,000 OUT OF BIG FIGHT.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—(United Press).—Nearly $2,000,000 will be paid into the Government coffers in taxes in the Dempsey-Carpentier fight July 2, the Internal Revenue Bureau showed today in an informal statement.

The taxes on the fight are anticipated as follows:

Collection of 10 per cent. tax on every admission.

Dempsey's surtax on $300,000, nets $137,510.

Carpentier's surtax on $200,000 nets $77,510.

The Government will receive these surtaxes in addition to four per cent. on Dempsey's normal income. Carpentier and his manager, being aliens, will be required to settle their taxes before leaving the country, it was pointed out.

Additional tens of thousands in taxes will be received from ticket speculators, soft drink dispensers, sandwich men, motion picture promoters who film the fight and taxes on scores of other items that will enter directly and indirectly into the affair.

O.J.C. CASE FOR JULY 5.

TORONTO, June 27—In the local police court today the case against the Ontario Jockey Club for a breach of the Ontario Temperance Act was adjourned until July 5. The case arises out of the conviction of half a dozen men for drinking in the members' bar.

SOME LOCAL IMPROVEMENT--CANNERS ACTIVE--N.Y. STRONG

PAPERS, STEEL AND CANNERS UP; ONE EXCEPTION

There was a strong and more active local stock market this morning with an occasional "reverse" action which tended to accentuate the general hardness of the list. Under the leadership of some of the paper stocks and a couple of industrials the action increased during the session and at the close the general appearance was strong. The close showed 11 net advances, 7 net losses, with 2 issues unchanged.

On the other hand, the deadlock in the price of Wayagamack was broken this morning, presumably wit the relaxation of support, by interests in the stock, around 66⅝ to 67, where it has been held for some weeks back. This morning the price was sharply weaker, the range for the session being 65½ to 63½. This is a net loss for the issue of 3¼ points, and brings it more closely into line with the rest of the list, for during recent weakness the issue as persistently held around yesterday's final level, with an occasional small rally.

Trading in Spanish Rivers, following yesterday's action by the board of directors in declaring the regular quarterly dividend, was heavy. The preferred led in business volume, but after early strength when it rose from 63¾ to a high of 64¾, it closed weaker at 62, a net loss of 1. The common on the other hand, while less active, was strong, advancing from 51 to 52¾, a net gain of 2¾ points. Other papers were fairly active. Abitibi ruled at 25, down ½; Brompton, 23¼, up ¼; and Laurentide, 75¾ to 75, down ¼.

Dominion Canners, which has been one of the weak stocks of the list for some time past this morning entered upon an advance which carried the price sharply higher. It opened up ⅛ at 20 and from there advanced to the high of the session at 25. It closed the morning at 24¼, leaving a net advance of 4⅜ points. The advance of the stock was coincident with a report that the price of canned goods would be further advanced in the near future, owing to the short crop coupled with a heavy demand.

Steel of Canada was another strong feature of the market the price of this issue ranging at 49 to ¼, a net advance of 1¼ points. Dominion Steel, however, showed a loss of ⅛ point at 70, bringing the issue within ½ point of the recent low level. Dom. Steel pref. at 55 was down 1 net point. Ontario Steel, which yesterday advanced sharply from 20 to 27, today opened at the latter figure and extended its gain another point to 38, making the net advance 11¼ points.

Among the other industrials Canada Cement showed a reversal of form, the price strengthening throughout the morning with the range at 50 to ⅝. This left a net gain of 1⅜ points. Dom. Bridge also improved sharply the stock selling at 67, a net appreciation of 2 points.

There was an odd-lot transaction recorded in Canadian Pacific. The previous transaction in the stock here occurred last week when it closed at 119½ for a broken lot. This morning's sale was at 123¼, a net gain of 4 points, in line with the advance of the issue in Wall Street.

Lake of the Woods Milling which last week eased from 135 to 134 this morning sold at a net loss of 2 points with transactions at 132. Atlantic Sugar came out at 25, down ½. There was a fairly good market in National Breweries but the price was steady at 49½, up a net ¼ point.

NEW U.S. TARIFF IN RELATION TO PAPER

NEW YORK, June 29.—It is understood that the final draft of the tariff bill, among other things, will contain provisions relating to newsprint and some agricultural products approximately as follows:—

"Printing paper, ¼ of 1% a pound and 10% ad valorem. Paragraph also contains provision that if any country or subdivision thereof shall impose any license or tax on exports of paper or pulpwood when exported, either directly or indirectly from such country or dependency or subdivision an additional duty of 10% ad valorem shall be levied, and also an amount equal to the highest duty imposed by such country on an equal amount of printing paper or wood (pulp or wood) provided that the aforesaid license or tax if imposed cannot be removed through treaty negotiations instituted by the president.

"Standard newsprint, 10% ad valorem.

"Wool, . . t improved by mixture, 28% ad valorem, but not more than 7c a pound; imported on the skin, 24% ad valorem, but not more than 6c a pound.

"Agricultural products—Wheat, 25c a bushel of 60 pounds; rice, rough, 1c a pound; rye, 10c a bushel of 56 pounds; oats, 10c a bushel of 32 pounds; corn, 15c a bushel of 56 pounds."

Administration provisions of Tariff Act are lifted almost bodily from Payne-Aldrich Act.

IRON BOARD MEETS HERE

The board of directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation is in session this afternoon. This is the first meeting of the board since the return of the president, R. M. Wolvin, last week. The meeting is described as a "regular" one, although it is expected the business agenda will be rather lengthy, and the board will probably take the opportunity to clear away a great many details of business which have been hanging over for the past six or eight weeks.

CAR GETS CONTRACT

TORONTO, June 29. — The transportation committee of the City Council announces that they have awarded a contract to the Consolidated Steel Company of Bethlehem for $350,000 worth of car rails, instead of the United States Steel Products, as previously announced. The offer of the latter concern was not advantageous with regard to exchange. The Canadian Steel Foundries of Montreal has been given a $50,000 contract for track intersections. The latter is a subsidiary of Canadian Car and Foundry Co., Ltd.

Topics of the Street

There was considerable more activity on the Montreal Stock Exchange this morning, with total turnover amounting to 4,845 shares, up 2,210 shares over yesterday morning's 2,635 shares.

Dom. Canners was the active leader of the session, the number of shares changing hands in this issue being 910. Spanish River pref. was second most active with a total of 601 shares. Other active leaders included: Ont. Steel, 440 shares; Brazilian, 316; Mont. Power, 313; Dom. Steel, 305; Brompton, 229; Quebec Ry., 200; Spanish River, 216; National Breweries, 190; Steel of Canada, 180; Wayagamack, 180; Laurentide, 147, and Toronto Ry., 113 shares.

Now that prices as a general rule appear to have reached what is hoped to be the limitations of bearish ambitions, there is a good deal of conjecture in the Street as to what is likely to happen when the outstanding shorts begin to cover.

It is reported that there is a scarcity of stocks at these prices, and that enquiry results in prompt hardening of prices. On the other hand, one broker who is carrying short accounts for several thousand shares, states that they are in stocks in which they cannot be driven in.

It is also said that there has been a certain amount of buying for investment, but that when stocks begin to work higher this promptly recedes into insignificance so far as the bargain hunting species is concerned.

It is said that Cement is a stock in which a substantial short interest has been built up, and that the stock is by no means plentiful. On that account, and in the belief that the demand for cement is likely to increase from now on, some interests are inclined to turn bullish.

The brisk demand for Dominion Conners was accompanied by advices from Toronto to the effect that there has been an improvement in the canning situation in general, and that prices are working higher. It is said that last year's pack of Dominion Canners has been very materially reduced, and bank loans curtailed in consequence.

At one time it was anticipated that a heavy loss would have to be taken by the industry on inventories, but according to some reports that is likely to be much less than anticipated.

Canners sold down to 19 before the recent break, and held steady throughout the extreme weakness of the past week or two. This was accepted as an indication that its market position had been thoroughly liquidated. For a company with such a strong array of assets behind the common stock, it was believed that, in common with other issues, it had been depressed considerably below its real value, but this was accepted as incidental to bear market excesses.

A sudden demand for the stock developed today, and on purchases of a few hundred shares the price rallied five points in the early dealings. This is one of the best turns the market has had since the last break. In other directions there was a better tone, and although any improvement is not expected to carry far at this time, it is hoped that it is an augur of better days for the market, and the position of the army of interested shareholders throughout the country.

The cashier tone in Wayagamack today created a good deal of interest. The price was held with remarkable firmness throughout the recent weakness and although popularly viewed as being out of line with the general market did not lose a point in price. This was attributed to the attitude of the insiders who were said to be prepared to accept all offerings at current prices.

Not long ago attention was called to most unusual efforts which were being made to scare holders throughout the country into selling their shares but it is not clear that this had any special effect nor has there as yet been any satisfactory explanation of where and how the scheme originated or what its exact purpose was.

One view which seemed to meet with some acceptance was that the relaxation of the fixed price idea was initiated by the insiders themselves. Today's offerings did not reach sufficient volume to suggest that the decline was forced or caused the buyers to resort to expediency in place of pursuing a designated policy.

Opinions from Wall Street

Pynchon & Co. wire Craig, Luther and Irvine: As long as market does not rally any further there will be no serious attempt to cover up outstanding commitments, but once the market gets over the week we look for something like scramble among bears to buy back.

E. W. Wagner & Co.—Hold to rails and coppers and take advantage of drives on specialties in which there is already large short interest.

Dominick & Dominick—Money is already becoming easier, and with every drop in rates bond prices should advance.

Thompson & McKinnon—Disposed to look at market as having fairly completed discounting of conditions as they exist up to present time, and therefore will be governed solely by new developments as they may arise.

E. F. Hutton & Co.—See signs of business improvement which we think will take definite form before end of summer.

Josephthahl & Co.—We are of opinion that liquidation has been drastic and thorough enough in many well seasoned and financially sound issues to warrant accumulation all weak spots.

Clark, Childs & Co.—Public buying power has been restricted by decline in prices of investments and need for liquidation of so large a volume of them.

Paine, Webber & Co. wire Bryant, Isard & Co.—Over-night news is good and shorts are expected to cover over holidays. We look for strong market with higher prices throughout list.

E. and C. Randolph—W. W. Price wires:—After such drastic liquidation it seems hardly reasonable to anticipate any great degree of activity or any sudden buying power, but the demand in the loaning crowd for stocks continues to be impressive and the temporarily indications to my mind are favorable so far as the course of this market is concerned.

Post & Flagg—I think the bear party is discovering that stocks are not coming out as they did, and thanks to the short interest, the situation is still technically very strong. Best opinion here is that the market will hesitate around this level for some little time.

Miller & Co. wired Fatbanks, Goessele & Co.—Each successive day now is emphasizing the stability of the market's turn for the better. Professional drives are losing their force and rebounds come with increasing ease.

Mexican Companies Meet in London Today

Meetings of the bondholders and shareholders of the Mexico Northern Power Company, Mexican Light, Heat & Power Company and Mexican Tramways Company are being held in London today. The meetings are being asked to approve the plan of the consolidation and re-financing of the company along the lines already set out in these columns. The success of the meetings will make the plan for the formation of a new company to be known as the Northern Mexico Power & Development Company, Limited, effective. The new company will issue $3,000,000 of 7 per cent preference shares and common stock of $10,000,000. Bondholders of the old companies will receive, dollar for dollar, preferred stock in the new company, while holders of prior lien bonds will receive $150 in preferred for each $100 in bonds.

WAR AFTERMATH; INFLUENCES ON CAN. BUSINESS

TORONTO, June 29. (Star Special.)—In his address at the annual meeting of the Home Bank, J. Cooper Mason, general manager, said in part:

When the war ceased, a heavy purchasing influence was withdrawn from the market and all facilities which had been erected to supply that urgent demand became non-productive with consequent unemployment. In the business sense, if we may view war as having any creative force in business, the termination of the war meant the closing of a vast market for export, leaving Canada and other nations that had "speeded up" in industrial and agricultural production, with an accumulation of raw materials ,finished supplies and equipment more than was required for the needs of the ordinary market in times of peace.

In striking a balance after the war, we found that the expense—the war debt—is not offset by any material asset as would be the case if the same amount had been spent upon any public work. What we have to show for our efforts during the war, and for our inflated war debt, is the secure privilege of carrying on our national existence without fear of enemy violations, the same as we enjoyed before war came upon us. Our efforts in this direction are hindered, however, by the conditions prevailing in other countries with which we formerly carried on trade in the times of peace.

We are apt to be pessimistic when we compare present conditions in Canada with what they were the preceding few years, but we have not suffered from the after-war effects to the same extent as the majority of nations who participated in the conflict.

H. J. Daly, president of the bank, also addressed the meeting, saying that the outlook was stimulating. He reviewed briefly the business condition.

The former directors were re-elected with the exception that Ambrose O'Brien of Renfrew resigned owing to pressure of private business, and his place was filled by T. A. Mitchell, London, an English shareholder, who is connected with the bank which acts as London correspondent for the Home Bank.

PARIS BOURSE HEAVY

PARIS, June 29.—Prices were heavy on the Bourse today. Three per cent rentes, 56 francs. Exchange on London, 46 francs 62 centimes. Five per cent loan 82 francs 70 centimes. The United States dollar was quoted at 14 francs 38 centimes.

BRAZILIAN TRACTION IN MAY

Brazilian Traction gross earnings for May were on a basis of 16,462,000 milreis. Net were also at a high point at 7,862,000, with an increase of 1,600,000 milreis. Aggregate gross earnings for the first 5 months of 1921 are 65,942,000 milreis, an increase of 15,776,000, while net earnings were 33,023,000, an increase of 5,672,000, or over 21 per cent.

Mining Notes

ELK LAKE, Ontario, June 29.—The Pagaron-Hitchcock Silver Mine at Wabun Station, on the Elk Lake branch of the T. & N. O. Railway, is scheduled to resume operations on the first of August next. Finances have been arranged in London though some delay has arisen owing to the unfavorable exchange. The shaft is down 300 feet and there is 3,000 feet of drifting and cross-cutting at the 100 and 200 foot levels. There are now fifty sacks of high grade ore ready to ship.

Look for Advance in Canned Goods Prices

TORONTO, June 29—The decision of the interests controlling the Canadian Canning industry to withdraw the schedule of prices earlier this month made it apparent that changes in the market situation were imminent. A five cent advance in practically all lines of canned vegetables was announced last week. A further advance of five cents is expected very soon. The 1921 pack of vegetables will be relatively small. Independent canned goods men state they would be surprised if there is more than fifty per cent pack of tomatoes, peas and corn. The pack of fruit is also being curtailed.

One exception of the situation now prevailing is that it requires a great deal of capital to put up an extensive pack, when all the items are considered. The expenditure for labor, vegetables, fruits, preservatives, tin cans, labels, boxes, etc., run up into huge figures. The losses taken on last year's canned fruits and jams were considerable.

NEWSPRINT PRODUCTION

NEW YORK, June 29. — May production figures covering newsprint production of United States compiled by Federal Commission show total output of all grades of only 78,868 tons against 129,230 tons a year. Falling off in production reflects the strike now under way which has tied up many of the large American as well as the Canadian mills. Shipments of newsprint during May amounted to 82,776 tons against 128,080 a year ago.

Total five months' output is 528,678 tons against 629,244 tons for the same period a year ago. Stocks on hand at the end of May at mills totalled 31,198 tons against 22,823 tons at the end of May, 1920.

Weighted average price of contract deliveries of newsprint delivered from domestic mills, f.o.b. mill carloads lots for standard news was $5,248 a hundred pounds.

Bradstreet's reports 32 failures for the United States for the week, against 272 for the previous week, and 114, 112, 180, 200 for the corresponding weeks, 1920 to 1917. The New England States had 29; Middle, 68; Western, 78; Northwestern, 21; Southern, 92; Far Western, 36. Canada had 34, against 37 for the preceding week. In the United States about 75.3 per cent of the total number of concerns failing had $5,000 capital or less, and 15.4 per cent had from $5,000 to $20,000 capital.

WHEAT MARKET SHOWS STRONGER UNDERTONE

The following noon grain letter was received from Chicago by E. C. Morris, manager for Logan & Bryan, at their Board of Trade branch office:

Wheat—Displays a stronger undertone because of fairly general commission house buying, in which houses with seaboard connections took a leading part. There was covering also by shorts, while selling pressure was less aggressive. Offerings increased on the upturns, however, and prices were held within a comparatively narrow range. Crop reports from the spring wheat belt continue most pessimistic.

Corn — Started weak but rallied as sellers of privileges protected themselves, shorts covered and commission houses bought on the strength in wheat. Scattered commission houses sold on the upturn. Crop and weather reports more favorable.

NO DEMAND ON LOCAL CATTLE MARKET TODAY

Receipts on the local live stock market today amounted to 166 cattle, 160 sheep and lambs, 322 hogs and 325 calves. In addition there were four or five loads of cattle and a comparatively large number of hogs, sheep, lambs and calves left over from previous markets. There was not enough trading done to establish prices. The few transactions put through partook of the nature of bargain sales. There was no demand and in most instances packers were offering lambs for sale at the stock yards. The few sales recorded would indicate the following prices: Hogs $6.50 to $13.00; calves, $3.00 to $6.00; lambs, $6.00 to $8.00, and common cattle $1.00 to $4.00.

There are too many heavy hogs and sows being offered and buyers do not want them.

GLASGOW, Scotland, June 29.—(By Canadian Associated Press)—Messrs. Watson and Batchelor, of this city, report today that 629 Canadian cattle have been sold, steers at 18 to 20½ cents per lb. and bulls at 14 to 16 cents.

WOOL TRADE IMPROVED

OTTAWA, June 29 — (By Canadian Press)—The Dominion Wool Market report states that the Canadian wool trade has improved considerably in the week ending yesterday. Sales of graded wools amounting to 150,000 pounds have been reported and indications point to a fairly active trade. Quotations for eastern domestic wools are as follows:—Medium, 22-26c; low medium, 18-20c; low combing, 15-17c; coarse, 13-15c; rejects, 5-15c.

COUNTRY DAIRY BOARDS

WOODSTOCK, June 29. — 240 white cheese and 1380 colored sold on board at 16 5-8.

ST. PASCAL, June 29. — 200 butter sold Emond & Cote, Quebec, 30 5-8; 850 cheese sold yesterday Dominion Fish, Quebec, 16 3-4.

WINNIPEG FUR AUCTION

WINNIPEG, June 29.—More than 200 buyers from various parts of the United States and Canada were keen bidders at today's fur auction sales here, when approximately 20,000 pelts were sold. A marked feature was the strong demand for prime spring rat skins, prices for several lots variating between $1.40 and $2.01. In contrast to this was the average price of $20 for beaver. Ontario black beaver being somewhat stronger, $30 a

TORONTO HOTEL EXTENSION

TORONTO, June 29.—Northern Hotels Company, Limited, of Toronto, which operates the Mossop Hotel under 19 year lease, has secured a 40 foot property immediately south of the hotel and is about to construct a fifteen story annex thereon. To finance this an issue of $300,000 eight per cent. cumulative preferred stock is to be made at par plus a thirty per cent bonus of common. The original capital of the company was $750,000, and it is being increased to $1,000,000 common and $300,000 preferred. In addition there are $350,000 first mortgage seven per cent bonds of which $275,000 are redeemable in nine annual instalments beginning 1923 and the balance in 1932. These have been sold to a U. S. Syndicate.

CRISIS IN STEEL TRADE GREATER THAN FORESEEN

NEW YORK, June 29.—The Iron Age tomorrow will say:—Reports have persisted that announcements of fresh reductions in steel prices would be made on July 1 by the Steel Corporation, but there are no indications of such a formal step. Actual market developments further confirm what was in evidence last week that both the Steel Corporation and leading independent makers are meeting competition as it appears. This process is causing a gradual settling of prices.

"The most encouraging indications are the activity of the administration at Washington in hastening the payment of the Government's debts to the railroads, the prospects that railroad bonds will be accepted by the Government on its counter-claims, and the placing of a fair amount of steel for the repair of cars, with the prospect that considerably more will follow shortly.

The scale of mill operations is little changed, being from 15 to 25 per cent. for a number of independent companies and about 30 per cent for the Steel Corporation. There is agreemen in the expressions coming from several steel making centers, that the falling away in demand is entirely without parallel and that the extent of unemployment is greater than leaders in the trade had believed possible.

MARKET TREND EASIER

Wayagamack was the feature in a somewhat easier market on the Stock Exchange this afternoon. The price, which this morning broke, fell further, making a new low on the move at 60½, after opening at 62 and firming 1-2. The tone elsewhere was towards softness. NO DECISION IN CONSTABLE'S CASE

Witness Says He Recognized Constable by Moustache

Recorder Semple after listening to evidence and to the arguments of counsel, stated that he would give judgment on July 6 in the case of Edouard vanden Weingarte, an expoliceman, charged with keeping a disorderly house. Weingarte had been discharged from the force in consequence of the charge.

The register of the house, to obtain which the case was postponed last week, was examined and Recorder Semple said that, though he was not satisfied with it, it proved nothing for or against Weingate.

Constable Joly was called and stated that he recognized Weingarte as the man, who showed him up to the room on the night of June 11 and 12. When pressed as to why he recognized him he said that he noticed that his moustache was of a different color at ends to the middle.

R. L. Calder, counsel for the defense, said that it was quite obvious to him that the house was a rooming house which registered all people, who engaged rooms. He suggested, that is was possible the constables coming after Rochon and Miss Dupuis might have let themselves into the house, signed the register and gone up stairs without any member of the house knowing about it. Also they had the testimony of Weingarte himself, his wife, and son, and four men that Weingarte was playing cards from 10 o'clock on the night of June 11 until the early hours of the next morning. Mr. Calder asked that if the decision went against his client, a test case be made, as it was proved the house did not belong Weingarte, but to his son and therefore Weingarte could not be convicted of keeping a disorderly house. Also, he said, it had been shown that Weingarte did not look after the house but that all the work was done either by his son or by his wife.

LETTER PRODUCED IN FAMILY SUIT

Opposition to the action taken by Edouard Berthiaume for annulment of the trustee clause contained in the will of the late Hon. Treffle Berthiaume, in his lifetime proprietor of La Presse and mefnber of the Quebec Legislative Council, entered upon another phase this morning, when Miss Anna Berthiaume, one of the daughters of the testator and who is now opposing the action taken by her brother, was examined on discovery.

Miss Berthiaume produced a letter purported to have been written by Mr. Berthiaume on December 28, 1914, addressed to a friend of his in the United States, and in which he (Mr. Berthiaume) informed the writer that he would go to visit him after the session of the legislature which was about to commence.

The purpose of the reading of this letter was to show that at the time it was written, Mr. Berthiaume was not ill, nor did he expect to die, since he contemplated a trip to the United States for months later than the time he actually wrote the letter.

Ernest Pelissier, K.C., counsel for plaintiff, wanted the letter filed in the record, but Wilfrid A. Handfield, K.C., counsel for defendants, objected, and the matter was referred to Mr. Justice White, then presiding in the Practice Court. His Lordship said the letter need not be filed in the record, but plaintiff will be given every opportunity to peruse it, if he wishes.

Four of the children of the late Mr. Berthiaume have applied to the court to have Pamphile du Tremblay, K.C., M.P., for Laurier-Outremont, and a son-in-law of the deceased, appointed trustee of La Presse in place of J. R. Mainville who died recently.

JUSTINO SULPICE HELD FOR TRIAL

Mrs. Derosa Alleges Accused Slashed Her With Razor

Justino Sulpice, alleged to have gashed the cheek of Mrs. Maria Derosa with a razor on the morning of June 8, was committed for trial on a charge of assault occasioning bodily harm by Judge Cusson in the Enquete Court this morning.

According to the evidence of Mrs. Derosa and of her 14-year-old daughter, she had been going to work at 7 o'clock on the morning of June 8, when she found that she had forgotten her lunch, and sent her daughter back for it. Just as the little girl was coming out of the house, she alleged, the accused stepped up to Mrs. Derosa and, as she was about to greet him in a friendly manner, slashed her across the face with a razor, without saying a word, and then walked on. Mrs. Derosa could not think af any grudge that Sulpice might have had against her.

Sulpice was arrested by Detective Laberge and Daoust, and Police Sergeant Poirier.

NEW TRIAL FOR "NICK" SILESKI

Admission of Confession Taken Without Warning to Accused Was Error

The Court of Appeal yesterday quashed the conviction and ordered a new trial of Nick Sileski on a charge of murder at Kippewa.

The accused was arrested at Ottawa and convicted before Mr. Justice McDougall and a jury at Hull. The trial judge granted a stay of execution on application of accused's counsel, and the case came before the appellate judge on two questions of law.

First, was there error in law in admitting as evidence, statements made by accused to witnesses named Victor Phaneuf, Regis Clement and T. Godman; and, secondly, was there error on the part of the trial judge in failing to instruct the jury as to the difference between manslaughter and murder in the premises?

The judgment of the Court of Appeal was based on the fact that one Clement, a provincial detective, obtained a confession from the prisoner without warning him. This confession was admitted before the jury which tried Sileski, and the court said this was an error.

The conviction of Sileski was therefore quashed, and a new trial will take place.

J. N. Beauchamp appeared for the accused.

BEAUDRY FREED; DAOUST HELD

John Beaudry was acquitted this morning by Judge Cusson on a charge of obtaining money by false pretences, but Alphonse Daoust, was committed for trial in the court of the King's Bench.

It is alleged that Daoust obtained $20 each from three different establishments in the city by giving them what were supposed to be rolls of twenty-five cent pieces in exchange for bank notes.

The rolls turned out to be round brass pieces, with a twenty-five cent piece at either end. The two men were arrested by detective Gormon, O'Donnell and Savard. No proof could be established against Beaudry. H. Budyck appeared for accused.

WHOLE COURT EXAMINES ROAD

Excursion to Gouin Boulevard Curve is Part of Paquette Case

SINGLE EVIDENCE

Victor Lesage Gives Lucid Description of Road and Accident

Knowing that he would be called as a witness, Victor Lesage, foreman of the Waterworks, told the court this morning that he had taken pains to examine the road last night at the point where the fatal auto accident last September when Victor Depatie was killed, for which Ernest Paquette is facing trial for the second time in the Court of King's Bench. When placed in the box by the Crown his answers were clear and unhesitating. He was afterwards cross-examined at length by N. K. Laflamme, K.C., of counsel for the accused.

Witness stated that he was telephoning at his home, only two hundred feet from the fatal curve, when he heard a crash. Going out, he saw a car cross-wise in the road. Approaching he says he found the occupants and equipment strewn over the road.

I saw the dead man lying about ten feet from the car; the girl was still under the machine; three more were sitting on the side of the road; a couple were running here and there looking for water; and one was swearing, the witness told the Coroner.

Angles of curvature, the nature of the road-bed, and minute details on the location of various land-marks were given by witness in answer to Mr. Laflamme.

The road at the preceding curve slanted towards the outside, and it is here that trouble started, witness thought, as he had ascertained that the car had skidded several feet.

This afternoon, at the request of the jury, the site of the fatality was visited by the Court, Crown, defense and jury. The party left in automobiles after lunch and spent some time viewing the road in Gouin Boulevard near the intersection with St. Lawrence.

On arriving at the Court House the trial was resumed. Constable Dufour of Bordeaux station, said he was one of the first to reach the scene of the accident. He questioned accused and thought that he was intoxicated. Shortly after, Paquette was taken to the Station and held for coroner's inquest.

ALLOWED CHILDREN TO SEE MOVIES

For admitting children under the age of 16 years to their picture theatres unaccompanied by adults, Alvin Schear, proprietor of the Rex theatre and Harry Poulos, proprietor of the Midway theatre were fined $100 and $50 and costs respectively when they appeared before Recorder Semple yesterday afternoon. The cases were made by Constable Pilon, who testified that he found four children in each theatre, on June 15 last.

STRAWBERRIES DISAPPEARING

Montreal—Strawberries are now practically finished, say dealers, unless showers revive the plants. The present outlook is that the last of the home-grown fruit will appear on the market early in the week. Today the Montreal berries are quoted at two boxes for 35 cents, while Ontario berries are selling at 20 cents a box. In a very short time the New Brunswick strawberries are expected on the local market, though as yet their probable price is not known. Fruit merchants could not give any information regarding prospects for the crop in the Maritime Province.

WILD LEAP FROM MOVING TRAIN

Conductor Gives Chase and Catches Alleged Pickpocket

A movie thriller was enacted on the C.P.R. train coming from Three Rivers yesterday afternoon, when a man suspected of being a pickpocket jumped from the window of the coach at Westmount. He had been locked in the coach by the conductor, who had been notified by wire of his description by the C.P.R. police at Three Rivers. The conductor saw the man jump out the window, and pulling the emergency cord, got off the train and gave chase. Passengers joined the hunt and the man was caught. On arrival in Montreal he was handed over to local detectives.

This morning the accused, Thomas Skein, of no address except the United States, who gave his occupation as a waiter, was arraigned before Judge Cusson on the charge of taking $9 from the pocket of Dorithee Cossette, a passenger on the train.

Bail in the sum of $1,500 was set by Judge Cusson, and enquete for July 7.

TWO YEARS ARE BOYS' SENTENCES

Small Boy Played Dice on Streets and Picked Pockets

In the juvenile court this morning, a boy of thirteen years was sentenced to two years in the Reformatory for playing 'dice' on the streets and picking pockets. He had four previous convictions against him. Once he was put on a farm but was said to have killed hens on the farm, and floated down the river on logs. He had run away from home several times and when arrested on today's charge had been absent from home a week.

In the same court a boy of fifteen years was sent to the Reformatory for two years on a charge of house breaking. He was found in possession of watches, rings and other jewellery, valued at $350. He was arrested through a smaller companion, who had helped him to commit the crime, and told the police of it.

POLICE CONVENTION CHANGES

Changes in the program arranged for the Chief Constables Convention, which takes place in Montreal, July 4, 5, 6, were announced this morning by Chief of Police Pierre Belanger. On Tuesday afternoon, July 5, instead of an entertainment which was previously announced it has been arranged for an inspection of the police and fire departments on the Champ De Mars. On Wednesday afternoon, the chief constables, their wives and families will be taken for a drive around the Island of Montreal. These are the only changes that will take place.

JOB PRINTERS TO STRIKE TOMORROW

Some Seven Hundred Men are Expected to Cease Work

About 700 job printers will cease work tomorrow night, the employing printers of Montreal having refused the request of the Typographical Unions for a 44-hour week, made through union representatives. Pressmen and book-binders are still negotiating, a meeting between the bookbinders' union representatives and the Graphic Art Section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association being arranged for tomorrow morning.

Union officials were busy from an early hour this morning making the round of the offices and signing up those which are standing out for the 44 hour week. The computation of the employing printers that 78 of the printing establishments of the city, representing 90 per cent of the industry, have bound themselves to work on the 48 hour basis at the present scale of wages, is considered by union officials to be too high.

A meeting of the French section of the Typographical Union, Local 145, was held last evening in Beaudry Street Hall, when the delegates to the conference with the employing printers made their report. No report of this meeting was issued as the action to be taken is still under consideration.

KIWANIS CLUB.

Sea yarns will be a refreshing topic at the Kiwanis Club lunch on Thursday at 12.30 p.m. at the Queen's Hotel, when Capt. R. Capper, D.S.C., marine superintendent of the Cunard Steamship Co., Ltd., will relate some of his experiences. A list of jobs needed by returned men is being circulated by the club, in the hope that positions may be found, or made, for them.

PHARMACY ROBBED.

Maillet's Pharmacy, 1292 St. Denis street was entered last night by burglars and perfumes, drugs and a number of other articles stolen. The value of the goods taken had not been estimated by Mr. Maillet, this morning. Entrance to the store was gained by the use of false keys.

JOHN CHINAMAN IS CLEAN TRAVELLER

C.G.M.M. Find Him Fond of Soap and Water Aboard Ship

BIG WIRELESS HERE

Soon Locate New Site Canadian Marconi—River Level Drops

The Canadian Government Mercantile Marine has a good word to say for John Chinaman as a passenger. With about fifty Chinamen in the steerage of the Canadian Forester which arrived yesterday noon, the shipping officials in charge state that they were better to handle than the average Continental steerage passenger.

Mr. Hoyle, the local passenger agent of the C.G.M.M., stated to The Star today that he came down to Montreal on the ship from Quebec and found the Chinamen had daily ablutions, stripping to the waist and using plenty of soap and water.

Every one of these Chinamen from the West Indies, now en route to China via the C.N.R., system, was a model of cleanliness throughout the voyage, and made the best of the quarters which were specially constructed for them when they shipped at Kingston, Jamaica. It is now almost certain that the repatriation movement of Chinamen from the British Crown colony back to China will be handled in future by C.G.M.M. ships and via the Canadian National Railways to Vancouver.

NEW WIRELESS SOON.

Plans are still proceeding for the erection of a huge wireless receiving station in Montreal under the ownership and operation of the Marconi Wireless Company of Canada. The Star was informed today that data has almost been completed which will indicate from actual tests which site is best for the new aerial.

The experimental station at the top of the old Custom House with an aerial from the top of No. 2 Harbor Elevator has been dismantled, all the necessary data having been gathered with regard to the suitability of that site.

A station is still working out at Rosemount and is receiving messages from points as far distant as Ireland, but it has not yet been decided where the new station will be located. The new station will not be a sending station for the reason that a sending station here would be on the wave length of incoming ships and would jam their wireless communication with the nearest shore point.

The necessity of a receiving station is, however, admitted, and a receiving station will be built some time in the near future which will also replace the wireless signal station at Tarte Pier which is at present handicapped by newly erected heavy power wires in the close vicinity.

LEAVING ON EMPRESS.

The White Star liner Canada arrived in port last evening with a moderate passenger list after a successful and uneventful voyage. She is being followed by the Anchor Donaldson liner Cassandra which is reported by the Robert Reford Company today as being due between 9 and 1 p.m. this evening. If she arrives after 9 p.m. out-of-town passengers will be kept on board ship till morning, while Montreal passengers, whose names were given in The Star yesterday, will be put on shore.

An advance passenger list of the Empress of Britain leaving Quebec Tuesday next was issued by the C.P.R. steamship headquarters today. The Empress of Britain arrived at Quebec late last night and put off her passengers this morning. Leaving on the liner on Tuesday next are the following Montrealers:

Mr. and Mrs. E. Mersch, Sir Herbert Holt, Mrs. W. S. Harrison, and Miss P. J. Harrison, Henry Black, Chief Justice Harvey (Winnipeg), Sydney Levitt, H. B. Amderson, Colonel Doughty (Ottawa), Major G. Lanctot, Mr. and Mrs. D. Dewar, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Bird, Engineer Lieutenant Commander C. Stephen, George E. Ouimet, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Brown, Mrs. C. F. Draper and son.

RIVER IS FALLING.

In a low river level in the present summer again to be charged up against the Marine Department at Ottawa? Shipping men in Montreal are always watching with misgivings the gradual fall in the river level which has dropped one foot in the past few weeks.

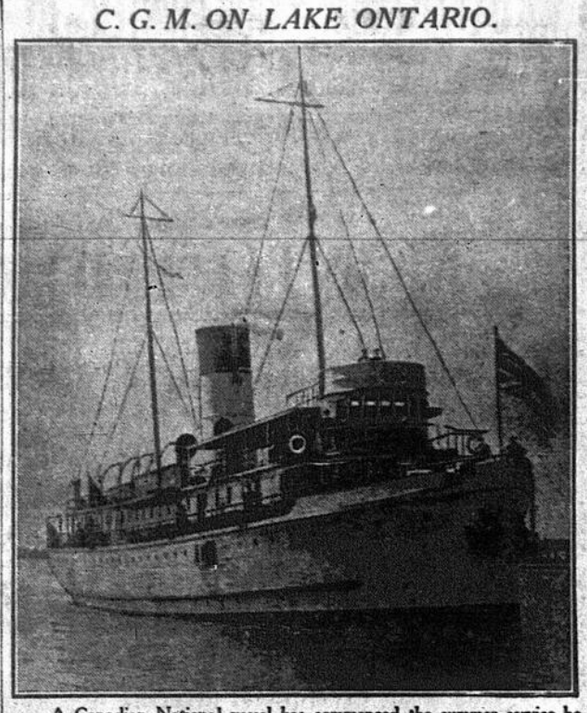

The 31 foot channel is already a few inches better than thirty feet and shows signs of falling still lower. Last year the level seriously retarded shipping in Canada's major port and was incidentally the cause of many lake ships grounding in the canal system between Montreal and the lake ports.

The work of deepening the channel, planned many years before the war and now well advanced, has been out down ever since the war and never been resumed on the pre-war scale. The river bed is rocky however and all the dredged portions are as deep today as when first cleared. The deep channel is no use however until uniformly deep throughout the entire stretch between Montreal and Quebec. It is for the rushing of the work on the 35 foot channel, almost completed, that shipping men here are agitating. Last year the navigating channel dropped to a little over 28 feet and produced unprecedented low levels.

ried a comparatively small list there being only 84 saloon, 182 second class and 390 thirds, totalling 606. A splendid trip was reported outside of ten hours of fog which did not however cause delay. Several icebergs of small dimensions were seen.

The saloon passengers started to land this morning at 8 o'clock and the special C. P. R. trains for Montreal, Toronto and the west left during the morning, the Montreal leaving at 10 o'clock and the other soon following. The third class passengers were landed and following the usual inspection in the immigration building left at noon by special trains. They were a particularly select looking lot, healthful, cheerful and well dressed and the majority did not appear like third class passengers. There were only five detentions at the Grosse Isle quarantine, suffering from minor complaints.

The Montrealers on board the Empress of Britain which docked last evening were: Arthur Browning, Mr. W. H. Buzzell, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cowan, Mr. E. B. Durham, Miss C. M. Hickson, Mr. D. BODY MAY BE THAT OF GEORGE TOMKINS

The body of a man found in the Ottawa river opposite Baie d'Urfe at 6:00 o'clock last night, may be that of George Tompkins, of Ile Perrot, who was drowned on Friday afternoon while boating near his home. The discovery was made by T. Harris, of Baie d'Urfe, who was returning home from a fishing trip. He notified the police and the body was brought to the city morgue.

Special Investigator Pusie, of the Coroners' Court, will bring friends of Tompkins" to the morgue this afternoon in the hope that they may be able to identify the body, which had only been in the water a few days. The Tompkins drowning is the only one reported recently from the district around Baie d'Urfe.

George Tompkins was in a motor boat with a friend off Ile Perrot on Friday afternoon when the motor became useless. A friend came from the shore in another motor boat and started to tow them ashore. They were sitting in the rear of their boat when Tompkins was jerked into the water. In stretching out his arm to save him the friend also fell in. Raoul Daoust, 15 years of age, son of J. A. Daoust, of 256 St. Catherine street east, was on the shore at the time and put off in his own motor boat to the rescue. He managed to save the friend, but Tompkins disappeared.

An inquest will be held tomorrow morning at 10:00 o'clock.

B.C. DEVELOPMENT.

VICTORIA, B.C., June 29.—To take up in British commmercial circles the question of developing the lumber export trade, and in political and agricultural quarters the diversion of immigration on a high standard to British Columbia, Hon. J. D. Pattullo, Minister of Lands, is leaving early next week for England.

FRENCH HONOR U.S. SURGEON.

PARIS, June 29. — (By Associated Press).—Dr. Alexis Carrel, the noted United States surgeon, has been elected a national associate of the Academy of Medicine. Under the rules of the Academy there may be only twenty national associates, all of whom have heretofore been residents of France.

BRANTFORD, June 29.—The business world was bereft of a prominent member yesterday when Garry Pickles, manager of the Brantford Laundry Company, died suddenly of uremic poisoning.

STORES ALL OVER THE CITY

The Little Town that Grows Big Men

It doesn't take a trolley car to cross it—

You don't need an elevator to reach its top stories—

But there's where they get up early in the morning—

They all go to the corner drug store.

There's where good old human nature shapes the destiny of the Dominion—

There's where they elect governments—

There's where big men come from—

There's where Coca-Cola stands out in clear relief for what it is—the straight line between wholesome thirst and delicious and refreshing satisfaction—

The Little Town that grows Big Men

The Little Canadian Town.

"They also serve who only stand and wait."

Coca-Cola was a favorite beverage when towns that have grown big were little towns.

Coca-Cola became a national favorite because it was created to please taste and satisfy thirst.

When "Uncle Tom" pitches—

Sweet with the natural, nutritious sweetness of pure cane sugar—

Its distinct flavor a perfect blend of choicest savors—

Appealing to the eye with the rich, dark amber color of caramel and the lively bubbles of pure, sparkling water that come to a head at the top—

Coca-Cola is an inimitable combination of good things that nature has made good in the sunshine of nine different climes, nine different countries—a product of a Canadian industry: modern syrup factories in Winnipeg, Montreal and Toronto; model bottling plants in Brandon, Calgary, Edmonton, Hamilton, Lethbridge, Moose Jaw, Montreal, Ottawa, Regina, Saskatoon, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg.
