Mail settlement hopes dim as 12-hour mediation fails

OTTAWA (CP)—A national postal strike appears almost inevitable after some 12 hours of concentrated mediation Monday failed to produce a settlement.

The parties resume their last-ditch efforts today to prevent the strike which is scheduled to start at 5 a.m. EDT Thursday, but union spokesmen say there is no longer is time to call off the walkout even if a satisfactory government offer is forthcoming.

Judge Rene Lippe of the Quebec Provincial Court, a mediator called in Monday to help the parties settle their differences, said in an interview early today "we will resume talks Tuesday—early."

He declined to comment on whether there was any progress Monday. He spent most of the day shuttling between hotel rooms occupied by negotiators for the 24,000-member Council of Postal Unions and the treasury board, which bargains for the federal government.

Meanwhile, the post office department began today to impose an embargo on all mail, in anticipation of the strike.

DEADLINES VARY

The embargo on letters for out-of-town destinations is effective at 5 p.m. local time today and the last hour for mailing letters intended for local delivery is midnight.

Second-, third- and fourth-class mail, mainly printed matter such as magazines and greeting cards, will be embargoed as of noon today. The embargo on daily newspapers is effective at 5 p.m.

William Houle, co-chairman of the council, told a reporter Monday night the government still had made no firm wage offer. Government negotiators declined any comment on the talks.

The mediation efforts have been cloaked in secrecy with officials on both sides refusing to reveal where the meetings were being held. When the correct hotel was located, the parties would not tell reporters which rooms were being used and the hotel management disclaimed any knowledge of the talks.

Early today repeated calls to the room housing postal union officials drew the reply: "You've got the wrong room number."

Treasury board officials left the hotel about midnight. Judge

Lippe said he withdrew about 11:30 p.m. Council representatives remained in their room past midnight.

For Judge Lippe, a highly-experienced mediator, it was his second encounter with the postal dispute. He acted as a mediator for a brief period while the parties awaited appointment of a conciliation board.

The board, headed by Prof. Andre Desgagne, submitted a 10,000-word report last Wednesday. It made no wage recommendation and was unacceptable to the council.

The council has been seeking a flat 75-cent-an-hour wage increase over a 14-month contract. For a senior postal clerk earning the maximum pay of $2.75 an hour this represents an increase of 27.2 per cent. Applied to all categories of postal workers, the council demand amounts to increases ranging from 26.1 to 39.1 per cent.

Government negotiators have termed the council wage proposal "unreasonable." They said that if the council is prepared to make "significant adjustment" to its wage and classification demands the government would move quickly to wage negotiation.

Along with the key wage question, the council seeks improvement in unspecified working conditions.

More than 90 per cent of council members responding to a strike referendum voted in favor of a walkout if a satisfactory settlement is not forthcoming.

News in brief

Increase loans

OTTAWA (CP)—The chartered banks have increased the amount of their outstanding personal loans by more than 24 per cent in the last 15 months.

In the same period, the amount of credit extended by the sales finance companies has declined.

Pilot bails out

ZWEIBRUCKEN (CP)—A Canadian pilot bailed out with minor injuries when his CF-104 Starfighter plane crashed Monday at Winterbach, West Germany, during a training flight.

Pilot Capt. V. G. Gerden, 25, of St. Catharines, Ont., used his seat ejector to escape when the plane crashed on open land. He was in hospital for examination of his injured back.

Woes appear

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both national political conventions, the first just three weeks off, are threatened with new communications woes that could affect network television and broadcasting.

Planning for the Democratic convention, scheduled for Chicago Aug. 26, already is feeling the impact of a strike against Illinois Bell Telephone Co.

Strong attack

PRAGUE (CP)—A leading Czechoslovak general launched one of the strongest public attacks on the Warsaw pact here as leaders of Russia and four of its allies sent a top-secret letter to the new liberal government in Prague.

Col. Gen. Vytlaček Prchlik, head of the Czechoslovak Communist party's defence department, condemned the alliance's organizational structure and called for a revision of the command system to give Russia's allied greater participation.

To push ahead

PARIS (AP)—President de Gaulle's government will try to push the French economy ahead at the breathtaking rate of 10 per cent a year in the next few months, to overcome the effects of the "May revolution."

Some independent economists think it may be able to do this, or even more, by wise use of idle plant capacity. Many French factories have been working at low levels because of the government's cautious economic policy.

Iron Hill is anti-annexation

By JOHN McCAGHEY
(Record Staff Reporter)

IRON HILL — (Staff) — J. Wathan Brack, Brome Lake Planning Commission, said he was pleased with the number of signatures on a petition indicating that the residents of Iron Hill do not wish to be annexed by Bromont.

The Brome Lake Planning Commission held a meeting at the Anglican Church Hall here Saturday night, when Mr. Peter White outlined what the proposed Town of Brome Lake would offer future residents.

The meeting was called, following knowledge that Bromont enacted by-law 62 calling for the annexation of Iron Hill. The by-law was adopted by Bromont June 26.

Mr. White, who acted as chairman of the meeting, was emphatic in stating that the Brome Lake Planning Commission had no quarrel with Bromont and following granting of letters patent for the proposed town, there was no reason why the two communities could not exist peacefully and in prosperity, to the profit of both and the detriment of none.

The basic premises of the proposed Town of Brome Lake were "self-government, a planning and control structure, the protection and development of Brome Lake, better administration and new and improved services," said Mr. White.

Mr. White explained the legal procedures that must be taken when one community wishes to annex all, or part, of another.

A comparative study of local municipal debt was presented to the 90 odd citizens who jammed the church hall. The proposed Town of Brome Lake, projected debt $55,000, population approximately 6,000, for a per capita debt of $9.25; Bromont, debt $1,360,000, population 1,213, per capita debt of $1,121; Cowansville debt $5,342,000 or $488 for each of its 10,950 citizens.

Mr. White pointed out that the Cowansville per capita debt was well within the norms applied by the Ministry of Municipal Affairs, who use 20 per cent of the taxable evaluation as a rule of thumb for maximum per capita debt.

Roland Desourdy, Mayor of Cowansville, then said: "The Brome Lake Planning Commission has been telling lies through the media." Mayor Desourdy then asked the citizens to consider the fact that the Bromont airport was being constructed for the benefit of the area, and said "it is time that the truth came out."

Mayor Mizener of Foster then said "We are not here to discuss Bromont's financial problems, but to explain that the proposed Town of Brome Lake has to offer the citizens of Iron Hill." Order was restored.

Mr. White pointed out that the first services that will be improved when the Town of Brome Lake comes into being will be police and fire protection. The other services will be implemented when called for by the citizens of a given area, and only those who benefit from the services will pay for them.

City bakes in heat

According to the popular legend, the weather on July 15, St. Swithin's Day, determines the type of weather we'll have for the ensuing 40 days. In other words, had it rained yesterday, we all would have been drenched by a second great flood.

As it turned out, however, Sherbrooke broiled in a muggy heat that showed no mercy on man or beast.

In the afternoon, the mercury lingered around 87 degrees, with a humidity reading at 61 per cent.

If legend holds true, then, we can all roll up our roofs and pray for rain for the next six weeks.

But the recorded temperature seemed somehow misleading.

Business offices without the benefit of air conditioning saw the thermometer waver around the 97-degree mark. Working conditions were unbearable.

Some concerns closed down at 4 p.m. as their sign of submission to the merciless swelter.

The East Angus weather station reported that relief was in sight as a thunderstorm is predicted for this evening. But the projection for conditions following the storm seems dim indeed.

"We're going to have a cycle of thunderstorms, and then more heat, and then the muggy haze again, and then another thunder storm..." said the weather station spokesman.

On Sunday, the Lennoxville Experimental Farm recorded a total of 12 hours of steady sunlight. Although two hours off the record mark, this half-day heat wave sent people scurrying for the beaches, parks and shadows.

St. Swithin must be rolling over in his grave with glee.

Seaway strike loss at $12 million

MONTREAL (CP) — The 32 member companies of the Canadian Lake Carriers' Association, operators of 200 Great Lakes vessels, are estimating their losses in the wake of the just-ended strike of 1,250 seaway workers at between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 to date.

But the shipping companies, port administrators and officials of the St. Lawrence Seaway claim the direct effects of the 24-day strike settled Sunday night will continue to be felt for at least a week and that losses to shippers will rise.

Losses to operators of ocean-going vessels were not known.

As the seaway came back into operation at midnight Sunday night, seaway workers began handling the downstream traffic of more than 250 vessels trapped in the lakes during the strike and the upriver movement of almost 100 vessels which had waited below Montreal.

About 20 ships moved up and down through the St. Lambert locks in Montreal during the first 12 hours after the locks opened.

Montreal, where ship traffic this season has been sluggish, appeared to be moving into a boom in the final week of the strike in contrast to talk of disaster in Great Lakes ports where longshoremen were being laid off.

BULK CARRIERS INVOLVED

But most of the ships that were anchored in or just outside Montreal harbor during the work stoppage were bulk carriers whose cargoes could not have been moved economically to Great Lakes ports by alternative methods of transport.

So it was only in the last few days before Sunday's settlement that ocean-going ships were reported waiting for wharf facilities and shortages of longshore gangs became acute.

At this time of year—a slack period between spring and fall peaks in business volume—the port normally handles 40 to 50 vessels a day.

But Guy Beaudet, Montreal port manager, said in an interview Monday the port's revenue from the 50 to 60 extra vessels it handled during the strike would be about $510,000—"peanuts" for a port the size of Montreal.

As the strike progressed, there was a problem in the shortage of longshore gangs.

Johnson quits hospital

QUEBEC (CP) — Premier Daniel Johnson, who suffered a mild heart attack July 3 that forced him to set aside his heavy work load and rest in hospital, left the Quebec Cardiology Institute in suburban Ste. Foy Monday.

A statement issued by the premier's office said:

"His physical condition is excellent. He will continue his convalescence for several weeks at a resort in Quebec."

Grand'Mere, about 25 miles north of Trois-Rivieres.

However, Mr. Bellemare, the labor minister, said Monday in a telephone interview from his hospital bed that he will leave the institution in time to preside at a cabinet meeting here Thursday.

"Tell the people it's nothing serious," Mr. Bellemare told a reporter. "Say I will be out in a couple of days. I'll get my pants on tomorrow morning and start signing letters."

COUGHS UP BLOOD

He said he went to hospital when he started coughing up blood, but the trouble—the rupturing of a small stomach vein—was "nothing serious."

Seaway strike accord no bargaining victory

Resumption of operations on the St. Lawrence Seaway following a 24-day shutdown eases another of the serious threats to the economy of this country but the great majority of Canadians will be unable to go along with the declaration of the union spokesman who sees the agreement as a major victory for collective bargaining as opposed to some system of compulsory, binding arbitration.

Successful collective bargaining, to the average man none too aware of the technical jargon of labor negotiations would assume that the parties to the conflict were able to settle their differences amicably without recourse to a complete shutdown of a vital segment of the national life.

But this was far from being a condition of the long-delayed seaway settlement.

Actually one of the major water transportation routes of the world was closed for nearly a month at the very height of its season with undetermined loss to both Canada, the United States and to foreign shippers.

Collective bargaining had broken down completely and subsequent negotiations were carried on virtually at gunpoint.

And a similar situation appears building up in the post office strike set for early Thursday morning.

Up until Monday morning the government had given no indication of what wage concessions it was prepared to grant to the workers while the union spokesmen indicated that they would not budge from their burdensome demands.

Furthermore they declared that regardless of what concessions they were offered they would go ahead with the strike, pleading technical problems that would prevent them from countermarching the strike order.

Surely a civilization which has produced the atomic bomb, computerized operation of industry and heart transplants can come up with some more effective way of settling its labor problems.

Ask most any husband — homemade pickles are the easiest kind in which to get involved.

Real loss for Magog

For more than half-a-century the name of Ed Kingsland has been almost a household word in the Eastern Townships, and especially in the Magog area where he was a leader or active participant in almost every community undertaking.

His death at the weekend thus will be a personal loss to those who had come in contact with him during his extended period of public service.

During his sojourn in Magog, where he settled in 1912, he served as member of the municipal council and for several years was mayor of that town and for 25 years was a justice of the peace.

Possibly he was best known for his service in the armed forces, either as a militiaman or in the active army during World War I, a career which brought him many honors. Following the conclusion of hostilities he became secretary-treasurer of the 117th Eastern Townships Overseas Battalion Association and the success of that organization was due largely to his untiring efforts.

But he was also active in many other fields including music and sports and was Magog representative for a number of Canadian newspapers.

There is never a shortage of help when you want to mind your own business.

TODAY in history

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

July 16, 1968 . . .

Czar Nicholas II of Russia and his family were shot to death 50 years ago today—in 1918—in the cellar of a house in which they were imprisoned. The Communist soviet of Ekaterinburg decided to execute the royal Romanov family when it learned the Czechoslovak legion was advancing in its direction. Ten years later, Mrs. Anastasia Tschakovsky, a refugee, claimed to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia, youngest daughter of Nicholas, but her claim remains in dispute among Russian exiles.

1821—Mary Baker Eddy, the founder of the Christian Science movement, was born.

1931—Emperor Haile Selassie proclaimed Ethiopia's first constitution.

First World War
Fifty years ago today—in 1918—French forces stood firm east of Reims as Germans advanced towards Epervan from the Marne in severe fighting on the Western Front; French and American troops regained the Marne heights; Austrian commander-in-chief von Hetzendorf was removed from command.

Second World War
Twenty-five years ago today—in 1943—the Canadian 1st Division struck deep into central Sicily, capturing Grammichele.

He believes that there is too much teaching by drill and memory work.

Art education should change this by involving the child in creative thinking and problem-solving.

Nova Scotia is only the second province—Ontario was the first—to have a co-ordinated art program under the provincial education department. Mr. Reppeteaux, who holds an MA degree in art education from Columbia University, is responsible for teacher training and curriculum.

LACKED CURRICULUM
Art has been compulsory in the province's elementary schools for a number of years, but there was no adequate curriculum and teachers were left to develop their own programs.

All this now is changing. Mr. Reppeteaux has drawn up a curriculum for elementary schools and has been holding workshops in school districts to train teachers.

Art in the elementary schools doesn't have to be confined to an art class but can be used to help children gain knowledge of other subjects, he believes.

Step towards unification

Scandinavian countries work on Nordic economic union plans

OSLO (Reuters)—The governments of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and Finland are working on proposals for a Nordic economic union, which would mean the biggest single step yet toward unifying the peoples of Northern Europe.

If adopted, the proposals—expected to be completed by January—would give these countries a customs union, a common agricultural and fishery market, a Nordic investment fund, joint projects in science and research and joint business laws.

The Nordic countries already co-operate closely in many fields—though not in matters of defence and national security. But efforts over the years to increase economic co-operation have repeatedly failed despite successful working together in international trade organizations.

At a summit meeting in Copenhagen in April, the Nordic premiers, foreign and trade ministers decided to establish a number of commissions to study and make recommendations about specific fields concerning the union.

The commissions have already met and early next year the Nordic premiers will discuss and make a decision on the basis of their proposals.

NORWAY HOLDS KEY?

Norway is generally thought to hold the key to the establishment of the union.

Views expressed at the Copenhagen meeting were that Norway could not consume Denmark's farm products or Sweden's industrial goods. At the same time, the Danes and the Swedes could not help Norway by buying fish or using the Norwegian merchant fleet.

Norwegian political sources assess the present situation as follows:

Denmark with its big agricultural production is in a difficult position because of reduced outlets to its traditional markets in the European Common Market made up of France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg. As an interim solution, Denmark hopes to be the "food store" of the union.

Danish fishermen—in most cases offering lower prices than their Norwegian counterparts—are not likely to accept a Nordic fishery policy including joint prices for fish and fish products.

Sweden's motivations for entry into the union are political as well as economic. Sweden fears isolation from Europe and the West and hopes a Nordic union would bind the countries to a common European policy, enabling Sweden to avoid a drift into isolation.

Finland favors the union but some 20,000 Finnish farmers may have to leave their farms because of competition from the Danes. Finland would benefit, however, from a Nordic investment fund and free capital movement to ensure industrial expansion.

Bygone days

TEN YEARS AGO

The enormous influence of color on everyday activities was pointed out to members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club yesterday at their noon meeting by Gene Gingras in a classification talk on decorating materials and more specifically, paint.

This was the first meeting to be chaired by the club's new president, Ivan Saunders, who succeeded Cyril Pyke after his departure for Saint John, N.B.

The president, in a short introductory address, requested the co-operation of the members and called to their attention the election on July 29 of a new director and selection of a new vice-president.

In his address, Rotarian Gingras said that color influences our choice of food, our feeling of heat and cold, even our conception of weight.

It has become an important factor in hospitals and industries where certain choices of color in decoration have been found to have a beneficial effect.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Plans for the Horse Show, to be sponsored by the Sherbrooke Kiwanis Club, were discussed at the regular luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club held in the New Sherbrooke Hotel yesterday.

R. L. Bishop is the chairman and Sam Gillman is the vice-chairman of the committee.

George Loveland reported that close to $500 may be the profit for the circus which the club sponsored recently.

A complete financial statement on the project is expected soon. Jack Dunfield, vice-president, presided in the absence of president Gilbert Rheame.

Others at the head table were Mr. Bishop, Bill Hammond, Mr. Loveland and Newman Hunter.

STANSTEAD — An interesting and educational program has been arranged for the annual meeting of the Stanstead Historical Society which is to be held at the Red Brick School House, North Stanstead, on Saturday, Aug. 21 at 2 p.m.

Among the principle speakers to be heard will be Dr. W. B. Shurtleff, K.C., D.C.L., of Coaticook, the Dean of practising lawyers in the Eastern Townships and well known as lecturer and writer on a wide range of subjects on early days in Stanstead County.

A. J. H. Richardson, of the Dominion Archives of Ottawa, and a native son of the Eastern Townships, has prepared a study of the life of Henry Call, a stalwart and aggressive figure in the days when Stanstead was in the making.

The Chronicler, Miss Catherine MacKenzie, will read a record of principle events of the Province.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY FROM The Upper Room

Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world. Matthew 28:20.

PRAYER: Heavenly Father, we thank Thee for the presence of our Lord and Master, Jesus Christ, at all times. Especially when life is hard and bitter, help us to remember that He never leaves us. In His name. Amen.

Icebergs are huge splinters of fresh water ice that have broken away from glaciers. The World Almanac says. The bergs, which sometimes tower hundreds of feet into the air show only 18th to 19th of their mass above water. Each year some 7,500 large icebergs break off from Greenland's glaciers. After drifting two years, about 400 reach the Gulf Stream where they melt within two weeks.

COMMENT

Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — During the election campaign the slogan was "participatory democracy."

The country was to be given more information about policy formation and processes of government; a new era of direct and massive public engagement in politics was to dawn on us. Prime Minister Trudeau was to end the practice of rule behind closed doors — the practice of secret decision-making of which the nation is supposed to know nothing until Parliament is confronted with a take-it-or-leave-it proposition.

Contradiction

Now hear this: "I talked a great deal about Cabinet solidarity and Cabinet secrecy and I told all the ministers to be very careful not to tell outside the Cabinet what went on inside the Cabinet . . . I gave them all the rules I was going to be very strict about . . . I told them I might tolerate one mistake if it were not too serious, but not two."

This is what Mr. Trudeau told newsmen after the first meeting of his post-election cabinet this week. The words contradict the position of Government the PM was talking about before June 25.

It is possible, indeed probable, that many people voted for Mr. Trudeau because they were enchanted by the picture of "participatory democracy" he was painting. It conjured up a vision of some modern replica of ancient Greece where people of the city-states used to gather in open meetings to discuss and decide the direction of their public affairs.

This system of direct democracy died with the city-state. It would be nice if the electronic gadgets the sorcerers of modern communications technology are experimenting with could eventually revive it in some modified form, but until that happens the best we can hope for is a fair operation of the complex machinery of representative democracy.

This is the political setup we have. It provides for direct mass involvement in determination of the general political direction the country takes through periodical elections. In between these major contests Parliament functions as the representative and plenipotentiary of the electorate, making certain, together with a free and well-informed press, that the party in power interprets its mandate sensibly and does not abuse executive authority.

The principle of cabinet solidarity and secrecy is an integral part of the system of representative democracy. It is essential for crystallization of government policy through frank exchanges of ministerial views on controversial issues. If these exchanges were to be conducted in public, policy formation would tend to be influenced more by specific or even chance pressure groups than by reasoned considerations of national interest. Moreover, issues involving important security aspects simply cannot be open to public involvement in the policy-making stage.

Mr. Trudeau is therefore fully within his rights as prime minister when he insists on continuous observation of the principle of Cabinet solidarity and secrecy. Like every sensible rule, however, it needs reasonable flexibility in actual application.

What worries me — and the worry is shared by all the newsmen and opposition spokesmen — is Mr. Trudeau's rigid concept of the principle. For the way he interprets it, it seems to mean that from now on ministers of the Crown will live in fear of saying anything at all, even in the most general terms, not only about the work of the Cabinet but about the work of their departments as well. And if the ministers will be silent, so will be senior civil servants who in the past provided much useful information about the operation of the machinery of government.

Since Mr. Trudeau apparently intends to centralize departmental information services, the result of all these measures could very well be complete elimination of the free flow of background information from a multitude of knowledgeable sources which is essential for the functioning, and indeed survival, of representative democracy.

Co-host bridal shower

MELBOURNE — Mrs. Gordon McKeage and Mrs. David Fortier, Melbourne, were co-hostesses at a bridal shower in honor of Miss Lynne Whittingstall at the French Presbyterian church hall here.

About 45 guests were present, half of which were asked for a kitchen or pantry article and the other half for a cup and saucer. When the bride-to-be arrived at the hall, Miss Karen McKeage pinned a utility corsage on her and escorted her to a chair decorated in pink and white.

Rose corsages were presented to the bride's mother, Mrs. Alfred Whittingstall and future mother-in-law, Mrs. Gerald Fortier who were seated next to the bride where they could assist her in unwrapping her gifts.

After a gay social hour was enjoyed, the bride-to-be thanked all who were present for her lovely gifts and extended an invitation to visit her in her new home.

Refreshments, served by the hostesses consisted of a shower cake beautifully made and decorated in pink and white by Mrs. Nelson Wheeler, Melbourne.

Guests were from Melbourne, Kingsbury, Trenholm, Danville and Richmond.

Causes sex difficulties

EDMONTON (CP) — A teacher says parents' reluctance to accept a child's deafness partly accounts for later difficulties in sexual adjustment.

Ruth Crossley of the Association for Hearing-Handicapped Children, which holds pre-school classes for deaf youngsters, says parents must learn to communicate with their children by whatever means they can. Without communication, they cannot teach the child morality.

Parents should learn to finger-spell along with the child. Mrs. Crossley told a meeting of mothers of deaf children.

Often the parents are in greater need of help than the children. Some fathers have particular difficulty accepting a child's deafness, particularly in a first son.

The invisibility of the handicap made it difficult, she said. "It isn't like a crippled leg, which is easy to see."

Jack 'n Jill shower is held for Miss Carmen Ricard of Stanstead

STANSTEAD — Miss Carmen Ricard, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ricard and Wesley Badger, the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Badger, all of Stanstead, were the guests of honor at a Jack and Jill shower held at the hall of St. Andrews Church in Sherbrooke and attended by relations of the couple whose marriage is arranged to take place on August 31.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Wells were the host and hostess for the delightful evening which some 50 men and women spent together socially.

Corsages of carnations were worn by the bride-elect, Miss Ricard, her mother, Mrs. Paul Ricard, the groom's mother, Mrs. Ronald Badger and by the grandmothers, Mrs. Violet Badger and Mrs. L. W. Wells, and the groom's great-grandmother, Mrs. Cora Walsh.

Carmen and Wesley were seated at a table from which they opened together gifts for their new home, and for which they voiced their appreciation.

Buffet refreshments were served from a table where the decorative colors were carried out in white and blue. The shower cake was decorated with rose buds and ensigned with the names of the couple, this was cut and served by them.

Summer flowers were further used to decorate the hall for the occasion.

Guests attended from Sherbrooke, Quebec City and Boundary Villages.

Pre-bridal parties are held for Miss Donna Pratte of Richmond

RICHMOND — A miscellaneous shower was held at the home of Mrs. Claude Lavigne, Smith Apartments, Craig Road, for bride-elect Miss Donna Pratte.

Upon arrival of the guest of honor, Mrs. Lavigne pinned a corsage of pink roses on Miss Pratte, which was made by her aunt, Mrs. Esther Cogan and escorted her to a decorated chair where she was presented with a large hamper of gifts which was replenished several times by Judy Moore, Linda Patrick and Edna Blais.

Miss Pratte was assisted in opening her gifts by her grandmother, Mrs. John Cogan, and her aunt, Mrs. Paul Giguere of South Durham, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Lavigne and Miss Judy Moore, assisted by the Misses Linda Patrick, Mildred Clifford and Sherry Knight.

The tea table was centered with the shower cake made by Mrs. Edna Moore, decorated in yellow and white. A large basket of peonies and mock orange completed the decorations.

Miss Pratte expressed her thanks and appreciation to all for their gifts and especially to the hostesses for the shower arranged in her honor.

Change to copper aids the US

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government has been taking in huge profits from coinage since it replaced silver with copper and nickel in hard currency.

This profit, called seigniorage, shot into the hundreds of millions of dollars the last three years. It is expected to exceed $200,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

Seigniorage is the difference between the face value of a coin and the cost of the metal from which it is made.

Metal in a quarter, for example, now costs the treasury department about one cent but the coin goes on the government's books as 25 cents, thus yielding a 24-cent profit.

During the fiscal year which ended last June 30, seigniorage ran to about $380,000,000 but it rose above $334,000,000 the year before when the treasury turned out coins in record numbers to overcome a shortage.

The reduced profit expected for this year results from the cut in the number of coins made because the shortage has eased.

POWER CORP. "WORTH" Based on market prices for quoted investments and on book cost for unquoted holdings of Power Corp. of Canada, Ltd., and of its subsidiaries, Shawinigan Industries Ltd., and Trans-Canada Corp. Fund Ltd., net worth of Power Corp. of Canada was $188,700,000 at June 30, 1968. This valuation represented a "break-up" of $14 per common share. A month earlier, excluding Trans-Canada Corp. Fund, net worth was $142,900,000 or $13.95 per share.

HIRAM WALKER — G. & W. Consolidated net income of (U.S.) $30,661,726, or $1.78 per share, reported by Hiram-Walker-Gooderham & Worts Ltd. for the nine months ended May 31, 1968 compares favorably with $28,737,836, or $1.67 a share for the corresponding period a year earlier. Profit before income taxes amounted to $66,020,059 against $32,395,851. There have been no material developments in connection with the United States income tax adjustments proposed by the United States Internal Revenue Service.

LEAD PRICE CUT. The price of lead in the U.S. was reduced yesterday 1/2 cent a pound to 12 1/2 cents, New York. The move, initiated by American Smelting and Refining Co., was not surprising as the metal has been under pressure since the 1 cent a pound cut at the beginning of May. Competition from lower-priced imports has been a major factor in the weakness.

Must pass French test-council

QUEBEC (CP) — English-speaking Quebecers should not be granted a high school diploma without first passing an oral examination on their knowledge of French, the Quebec Arts Council said Monday.

In a report submitted to the Quebec cultural affairs department, the council urges compulsory French tests for all civil servants whose jobs involve dealing with the public.

The council, an advisory body to the Quebec cultural affairs department in matters concerning arts and letters, adds that "it is illogical that the language of the majority should not be the working language" in the province.

The report stresses that the English-speaking minority in Quebec has the right to be educated in its own language but adds that it must be encouraged to participate in the cultural and artistic life of Quebec.

The council adds that such expressions as primary language, unilingualism and compulsory language be banned in the civil service and replaced by "first working language" as these expressions lead to "needless divisions and could be interpreted as intolerant or authoritarian."

Reform-minded Czechoslovaks fired "2,000 words" into the ideological ramparts of the Communist world and evidently provoked a serious crisis in Soviet-dominated Eastern Europe.

Meeting in Poland, Communist leaders of the Soviet Union and four other countries Monday drew up a "common letter" to Czechoslovakia. This has the ring of ultimatum.

It suggests Big Brother is watching Czechoslovakia closely and will go to lengths to slow down, if not snuff out completely, the attempt to liberalize the Communist system there.

The "2,000 words" from Prague was a searing indictment of Communist rule in Czechoslovakia during the last 20 years. Published in the Prague newspaper Mlada Fronta June 27, it seems to have badly shaken other ruling European Communists.

MOVEMENT THREATENED

Those leaders, led by Leonid Brezhnev of the Soviet party, are telling Czechoslovak party chiefs they are being subverted by "imperialist" influences and, by the example being set in Czechoslovakia, they are permitting the leading role of Communist parties everywhere to be endangered.

Brezhnev indicates he will not put up with this. Perhaps he has it in his power to exert pressures which eventually will bring back to authority the "conservative" hard-line Communists now discredited in Czechoslovakia.

What was in those "2,000 words" to worry Brezhnev so much?

The broadside was entitled "2,000 words to workers, farmers, civil servants, scientists, artists and everyone." It was written by Ludvik Vaculik, a Czechoslovak author, and signed by 70 leading scientists and intellectuals. After its publication, tens of thousands of Czechoslovaks endorsed it.

The statement said after the Communists took over in 1940, the direction of Czechoslovakia "got into the hands of the wrong people."

The party changed "from an ideological alliance into a power organization which became very attractive also to egotists avid for rule, calculating cowards and unprincipled people."

The statement said that this year the Czechoslovaks have had great hopes in the process of democratization, but these hopes now are threatened.

When Girl Becomes Woman Is Unpredictable Factor

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

(First of Two Related Columns.)

Q—When does a girl become a woman? Is it when she has her first menstrual period?

A—One cannot pinpoint the exact moment when a girl becomes a woman, but in general it is when she is capable of carrying an embryo to full term and producing a live baby. This would not correspond with the first menstrual period but would be a few months later.

Q—What causes me to have headaches and be grouchy just before a menstrual period? What can be taken to control this?

A—These manifestations of premenstrual tension are caused by the retention of water in the cells of your brain and other organs. Water pills, taken for a few days before the expected period, usually abolish or minimize these symptoms.

Q—Ever since I started menstruating, I have had severe cramps with each period. My doctor hasn't been able to help me. What do you advise?

A—Your doctor should first try to determine whether the cause is psychologic or due to a pelvic infection, endometriosis or a disturbance in your endocrine system (glands of internal secretion). Often no cause can be found. Most victims are helped by hydrocortisone (Duphaston) or Edrisal. Both are prescription drugs.

Body-twisting exercises have also benefited many victims. These have the advantage of costing nothing and producing no side effects. The exercises should be started the day after your period ceases. It may be two or three months before the full benefit is obtained.

The exercise is performed by standing with your feet 18 inches apart, knees straight and arms extended to your side. Bend and touch your right heel with your left hand without bending your knees. Return to the erect position then touch your left heel with your right hand. Repeat this four times on each side, three times a day, and increase by one repeat until you are doing 10 or more three times a day.

Q—My daughter, 14, started to menstruate two years ago and had regular periods for one year then she started missing one, two or three periods at a time. What could cause this and what do you advise?

A—It frequently takes three years for menstrual regularity to become established. Irregular periods may be due to some mild disturbance in the glands of internal secretion. If your daughter's irregularity persists, your doctor should determine the exact cause.

THEATRE BECOMES SUCCESS — The Neptune Theatre in Halifax has just finished its most successful season since it opened its doors in July, 1963. Choice of plays has been a major factor in the success. Chown in a scene from The Odd Couple, the theatre's best-attended play are, clockwise from bottom, Edwin Rubin, David Renton,

Donald Meyers, David Murray and Rafe Macpherson. (CP Wirephoto)

It's a success in home town

HALIFAX (CP) — After five years, Neptune Theatre has suddenly become a success in its home town.

"Up to now, we really had to push it," says Heinar Piller, the 29-year-old associate artistic director of the repertory company. "Now Neptune's becoming the 'in' thing."

With an over-all paid attendance of 82 per cent of capacity, the theatre has just finished its most successful season since it opened its doors July 1, 1963.

Of 31,500 seats for sale, more than 26,000 were sold in Neptune's first full winter season since 1963, and subscription sales rose more than 60 per cent to 3,483.

Twelve hundred playgoers have renewed their subscriptions for the summer season several weeks before it starts. Neptune's growing popularity is shown not only by attendance figures but by changed attitudes.

HOSTILITY GONE John Hobday, Neptune's administrator, says hostility and suspicion have been replaced by "an enormous amount of goodwill" towards Neptune.

It used to be difficult to persuade Halifaxians to serve on committees or take part in subscription or membership campaigns—but not any more, Piller says. Now people come to Neptune asking to help in any way they can.

Hobday says the local response is the most exciting aspect of Neptune's success. In the beginning it was believed the theatre would be largely a summer operation drawing heavily on tourists. "We now know the main support should come from the community."

The winter season was introduced this year in response to public demand. Hobday believes Neptune's success is due to a combination of factors—stepped-up publicity, subscription tickets guaranteeing an audience each evening, a choice of plays and a winter season.

WINS ACCEPTANCE

Also, he adds: "The weather's been better and TV worse."

Neptune's national tour during Centennial Year helped gain public acceptance for the theatre, Piller believes.

And Neptune's established reputation in other parts of Canada as an excellent repertory company has begun to impress local people.

Choice of plays is a factor in the theatre's popularity, Piller says. Best-loved plays are usually commercial Broadway successes, but a serious play is sometimes surprisingly well attended.

The Odd Couple, the Broadway success by Neil Simon, played during the winter season to houses 89 per cent of capacity, but A Man for All Seasons by Robert Bolt, the company's most serious production, had the next highest attendance figures—81.8 per cent.

Despite a greater community appreciation, Neptune will probably never be able to operate without public funds, Hobday says. As the theatre grows, extends its seasons and puts on more plays, costs will go up, but ticket prices will have to be kept low.

GRANTS HELP

The maximum subscription price for four plays is $13, the lowest, $6.

One-third of Neptune's annual budget of about $300,000 this year will come from a Canada Council grant, one-third from box office receipts and the rest from a provincial grant, private donations and a membership campaign.

Hobday says a repertory theatre is a costly operation, involving the production of several different plays a week.

Then, too, Neptune's responsibility as a regional theatre taking plays out to the people involves the theatre in tours which inevitably operate at a loss.

Musing over the theatre's past season, Hobday says: "It's extraordinary that a city this size has supported a theatre for five years—and one of the most important theatres in the country."

Awaits decision on financial future

OTTAWA (CP) — Hospital insurance, now 10 years old, stands poised on the brink of financial uncertainty.

Faced with rising costs in all provinces and a federal intention to withdraw from payments toward such conditional programs, hospital insurance now awaits a decision on its financial future.

The decision may be some time coming. The tax structure committee, set up in 1964 by a federal-provincial conference, still is struggling with a formula for federal withdrawal from direct financial support of provincial programs by 1970.

With the emphasis in federal-provincial talks now shifted to allocation of constitutional powers, it seems unlikely the committee will make any new proposals in the fiscal field until the direction of constitutional change becomes clearer.

But, if the financial future is uncertain, there appears to be no prospect of any other upset in hospital insurance.

Economist Sylvia Gelber, consultant on hospital and medical care insurance to the federal government, said in a recent review of the program for a medical publication:

"There is no question ever raised, by any sector of society, as to the advisability of turning back the clocks to the days before the hospital insurance and diagnostic services program became a reality."

GRANTS CAME FIRST Hospital insurance, instituted July 1, 1958, was the second of a trio of major federal initiatives in the health care field.

First came the health grants program, also marking an anniversary—its 20th—July 1. Hospital insurance followed 10 years later and the third, medical care insurance, began July 1 this year, with only Saskatchewan and British Columbia as starting participants among the provinces.

Under the health grants, the federal government has poured billions of dollars into improving and extending services in particular fields of health care.

A key feature having a bearing on subsequent start of hospital insurance was the system of continuing grants for hospital construction.

This has amounted to more than $250,000,000 and helped add more than 125,000 hospital beds, 15,000 bassinets and 7,000,000 square feet of space for public health and hospital laboratories, for community health centres, hospital teaching areas and diagnostic and treatment areas.

This program now is scheduled to continue at least until March 31, 1970.

FIVE IN AT START

Hospital insurance was born in a politically-difficult labor.

It was proposed by a Liberal government as a national program to go into force only when half the provinces with at least half the country's population were ready to join. This limitation was attacked by the Progressive Conservatives and lifted by them after they took office in 1957.

Paradoxically, with medical care insurance, a Liberal government placed no such limitation on that plan and ran into Conservative criticism that not enough provinces are ready to join for the plan to go ahead now.

Only British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba and Newfoundland were in at the start of hospital insurance July 1, 1958.

Six months later Ontario and Nova Scotia came in, with New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island following in July and October, 1959, respectively. Quebec stayed out until Jan. 1, 1961.

To collect federal payments of roughly half the costs of provincial hospital insurance programs, the provinces had to provide:

Insurance covering hospital accommodation and meals at standard or public ward level; nursing services; laboratory, radiological and other diagnostic procedures; drugs, biologicals and similar medicines; use of operation and case rooms and anesthetic facilities; routine supplies; and radiotherapy and physiotherapy facilities, where available.

COSTS RISE

These services had to be offered to everyone on equal terms and conditions and for as long as medically necessary. A public body, either a provincial government department or agency, had to administer the program.

These conditions have remained as the nucleus of the plan, with some additional services, such as out-patient care, varying in extent from province to province.

Rising costs in all provinces have become an important problem in the 10 years. But the cost-rise of hospital care pre-dated the program itself, which was partly intended as a way to cope with increasing hospital costs.

Three chief factors have contributed to the rise—population growth, new and more-complex medical procedures, and labor costs.

The latter represent more than two-thirds of the total operating expenditures of hospitals. They have risen dramatically in the last 10 years as employees have striven to bring their pay scale and working conditions to the level of those prevailing in other sectors of the economy.

Player ineligibility puts Braves in 6th place, All-Stars lose 5-0

Plessisville Braves dropped from fourth place to sixth in the Provincial Baseball League last evening on a ruling by President Yvon Ellyson. The Braves were guilty of using Victor Davies, who was ineligible according to the league's player rule.

Granby Cardinals are now in first place with Sherbrooke losing their slim one-half game lead over Granby. Granby is now one and a half games ahead of the Als.

Hector Davies, Braves' catcher, played for Richmond of the International League in 1966. The IL is double "AA". As a result of the player ineligibility, Granby Cardinals moved into sole possession of first place, one and a half games ahead of the Alouettes.

President Ellyson and the executive met yesterday before the All-Star game to discuss the changes to the schedule.

The league standings now serve it. An informer is said to have divulged the information on both Davies of the Braves and Felix de Leon of the Miners last week.

BRAVES DOWN ALL-STARS

Plessisville Braves last night swept to a 5-0 decision in five innings. The game was called after five innings because of inclement weather. Guilbeault started on the mound for the All-Stars while Coach Ed Lyons of the Braves did the honors for Plessisville.

Guilbeault did not allow a hit in two complete and was relieved in the third by losing hurler Pedro Roman. Sierra followed in the fifth, allowing four runs.

Ernie Givens led the way offensively for the Braves with a pair of doubles and two runs batted in while Mariano de Leon singled twice. Juan Sabathier, Erasmo Felipe, Al Sommerstad, Church Hughes and Harvey Yancey all singled for the All-Stars.

Richie Allen's big bat paying off for Phillies, Cards win

Richie Allen's heavy bat—42 ounces—powered Philadelphia Phillies to their seventh straight victory since the All-Star break. Allen hit two homers, good for three runs, as the Phillies beat New York Mets 5-3 Monday night.

"He uses a very heavy bat," says Phillies' manager Bob Skinner, "but he's so strong he can still whip it through the zone."

In the seven games since the All-Star game, Allen has collected 15 hits in 30 at-bats, five homers and 14 RBI. This spree has lifted his season average to .314, with 20 homers and 53 RBI.

In other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals topped Los Angeles Dodgers 4-2, Chicago Cubs edged Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 in 10 innings and Atlanta Braves beat San Francisco Giants 4-2. The Houston at Cincinnati game was postponed because of wet grounds.

PROVIDES 3-0 LEAD — Allen homered in the first inning with Tony Gonzales on base and with bases empty in the fourth to give the Phillies a 3-0 lead. He later added a single.

Leading 3-2, the Phillies wrapped up the game in the ninth by scoring twice on Tony Taylor's single and consecutive doubles by John Briggs and Clay Dalrymple.

Mike Shannon's two-run homer, tied the game and pinch hitter Phil Gagliano singled in the winner as league-leading St. Louis won its fifth straight and sent Los Angeles to its fifth consecutive loss.

The key hits by Shannon and Gagliano came in a four-run seventh inning that was climaxed by Lou Brock's RBI double.

Los Angeles took a 2-0 lead when Jim Lefebvre singled home one run and Willie Davis tripled and scored on an error.

DROP 10 STRAIGHT

Chicago pitcher Ferguson Jenkins of Chatham, Ont., sent Pittsburgh to its 10th straight loss by driving in a run with a two-out single in the 10th.

The losing streak equals the longest in the Pirates' modern history. The all-time club record is 23 straight in 1890.

Jenkins, 8-9, fired a six-hitter. Pittsburgh scored in the fourth when Maury Wills doubled and scored on Matty Alou's single. The Cubs tied it in the fifth on Dick Nen's triple and Randy Hundley's single. The winning run was set up when Hundley was hit by a pitch and advanced to second by an infield out.

Atlanta won its fifth straight—the Braves' longest winning string of the season—with the help of three first-inning runs produced by singles by Joe Torre and Tommie Aaron, two walks, a passed ball, wild pitch and an error.

THE WORLD OF SPORTS

and to re-arrange the standings. Last year's champion Plessisville Braves were holding down a 20-16 record and as a result of the Thetford Miners affair last week will have their games re-scheduled. It was announced last night that the rumors about Sherbrooke, Granby and Quebec are not founded.

President Ellyson again reiterated his position on the matter saying he was forced by league rulings to take these measures. The teams know this rule and it is up to them to observe it.

Newly scheduled games are as follows: July 19, Thetford at Drummondville, Sherbrooke at Plessisville and Granby at Quebec; July 22, Plessisville at Sherbrooke, Drummondville at Granby and Quebec at Thetford; July 26, Drummondville travels to Plessisville and Quebec

Calgary Stampede settled down to serious business Monday night while five other Canadian Football League teams experimented wildly at quarter-back.

Peter Liske, Calgary's all-Canadian quarterback last season, threw three touchdown passes to direct the Stampede to a 30-11 exhibition victory over Montreal Alouettes.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats, using two quarterbacks, managed a 24-22 victory over British Columbia Lions who employed three signal callers.

Two quarterbacks helped Edmonton Eskimos to a 24-13 triumph over Winnipeg Blue Bombers who auditioned three quarterbacks.

Liske tossed a touchdown pass of 10 yards to Pat Clardie, 29 to Terry Evanshen and 25 to Gerry Shaw. He completed 12 of 20 airdrops for 150 yards.

Ben Woodson ran three yards for the other Calgary touchdown, and Larry Robinson

Norman Houle hurls one-hitter as White Sox blanks Yankees, Indians win, two games tonight

Indians' 5-1 win over Senators last night just about clinched first place in the standing of the Sher-Lenn Little League.

In the other game played, White Sox shutout Yankees 8-0. Norman Houle was the big gun in this one with a three run homer and chalked up 11 strikeouts.

Tonight Tigers meet Twins and Red Sox take on the Orioles.

Indians bunched all their runs in the third inning on three hits from Benoit, Lambert and Boudreau. Errors were costly to the Senators as they fumbled four times in the game.

They got their only run in the fifth inning on a single by Dumas and three walks. Longpre in his win struckout 12 men.

White Sox taking advantage of Yankee errors had it rather easy in their win over Yankees. The Yanks can play better ball and they will have to if they want to reach the playoffs.

The victory left Calgary undefeated in three pre-season games. The Alouettes have won one of two starts.

Ted Gerella accounted for British Columbia points with four field goals, a single and convert. Bob Hoskins dropped Hamilton quarterback Bill Redell in the Ticats' end zone for a safety touch. Pete Olier, the best of three signal callers scored the team's only touchdown.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

One of the more interesting modern gadgets is the responsive double. The responsive double is a sort of response to an overcall or take-out double made earlier by your partner and merely says, "I have some cards. Bid or pass as you think best."

We refuse to take a stand for or against this gadget. You can get on well without it but there are hands in which it fills a gap.

West's takeout double of one heart was not a good one. In fact it was a mighty poor bid but West felt like bidding.

put a lot of pressure on East. He did hold two kings and two queens plus a couple of 10s. He might well have tried four spades but he was playing responsive doubles all the way to game. Most responsive double addicts stop "responsive" and go to business doubles at or slightly below the game level. Anyway, East chose the responsive double.

West also might have tried four spades but West knew he would not make that contract. Actually he would go down three tricks. So West passed and hoped there would be some way to set four hearts.

Four hearts is not a good contract. South has three losers in top tricks and must avoid losing a trump trick. With the king and a small heart reposing nicely in the East hand it looks as if he will avoid that loss but East and West proceeded to find a way to make a trump trick.

West had no decent lead and chose the ace of diamonds. He also had no decent second play and so continued the suit. East was in with the king and returned a spade.

The defense had three tricks in and West led another diamond. East ruffed with the king. South overruffed but now there was no way to keep West from taking the setting trick with his jack of trumps.

HIS CATCH — Louis Menard, 80, shows one of the five fish he caught when the Derby Fish and Game Club took senior citizens fishing. In the background is 87-year-old Fred Reid who hooked an almost 10 inch long trout, the 'largest catch of the day.'

Take senior citizens fishing

DERBY LINE — The Derby Fish and Game Club are to be congratulated on their project of a senior citizens' day fishing at the White pond on the Derby Line to Derby highway. Although it rained in the morning the anglers were not daunted. Attired in rain-wear they thoroughly enjoyed their time fishing. Each was limited to five trout.

Fred Reid of Newport received two prizes, one for being the oldest angler of the day and the other for catching the largest trout. Mr. Reid is 87 years of age, and says he has not fished for many a year.

The last time he went fishing he was 22 years old and used a pole cut from a tree with string for line. He fished in a brook. At the pond Mr. Reid caught a trout almost 10 inches long. Probably the second eldest at the pond was Louis Menard of Newport. He is 80 years old and on July 2, he and Mrs. Menard observed their 61 wedding anniversary.

"A good feed of trout is going to taste good to my wife and I," he chuckled, as he caught his limit.

There were others too who fished and as they did so recalled happy fishing days of their younger years.

Henry (Hank) Sanders, president of the club was there to dish out bait, chat with the golden agers, and measure the fish caught.
