Pessimistic View Given On Ungava Development

"Before dreaming of too many possibilities in the Ungava we need to know more about it," Harry N. Lash, a lecturer in the Department of Geography at McGill University, told members of the Westmount Rotary Club at their luncheon meeting Wednesday.

Pointing out that there are many obstacles in the way of this becoming an enormous development, the speaker entitled his topic, "A Pessimist's View of Ungava", and said that while he was not ordinarily a pessimist, the title had some bearing in regards to Ungava.

He cited the great geological difficulties that had to be overcome before settlement of the region would become prominent, and said that it was doubtful if it would ever be a huge industrial site because there is no chance of agricultural development.

"In the past, the two have always gone hand-in-hand, and because of this, I have some doubt about the possibilities of huge settlements," the speaker said.

Citing the geographical barriers, Mr. Lash pointed out that the coastal line on the north shore of the St. Lawrence was almost impossible to penetrate for the building of highways and railroads, and that any attempt to do so would cost enormous sums of money. He said that all the work in the area would be highly expensive, and that business would have to be sure of getting great returns for the initial costs of mining in the area.

Through the use of slides, Mr. Lash proved also that the area does not have the huge forests that many think it has. In many regions of the Ungava section, which takes in the whole northern section of the Province and Labrador, the only region where heavy forests prevail are along the river banks, while the interior is thinly wooded.

In closing, Mr. Lash maintained that the area had only limited possibilities, and not the expected development shared commonly by the majority of the people.

The speaker was introduced by Frank Sharp and thanked by Boyd Robson of the Westmount Rotary Club.

T. W. Gilmour Elected School Commissioner

J. A. deLalanne and D. A. Baillie were re-elected as School Commissioners for the City of Westmount, it was announced this week, with T. W. Gilmour also elected to replace J. C. Nelles, who retired after serving the commission for six years. All three were elected by acclamation and will hold the position for the next three years.

Mr. Gilmour, the new member of the commission is a leading Westmount civic leader, being a member of the Westmount Executive Committee of the Westmount Municipal Association for 1950; vice-president 1949-50 Quebec Federation of Home and School Associations; president of the Old Boys' Association of Lower Canada College in 1938, and president of the King's School Home and School Association in 1946-47.

The present board includes R. R. Hutchison, J. A. deLalanne, D. A. Baillie, Mrs. M. L. Tucker, J. G. Hutchison, G. L. Vickerson, T. W. Gilmour, and F. B. Whittet, secretary-treasurer.

Retired Persons To Be Appointed Safety Guardians

Alarmed at the ever increasing toll of death and injuries through street accidents, the Westmount City Council sitting in committee on Monday night decided to try out a system of "part time guardians".

These part time guardians will be placed at busy street crossings near the city's schools with their primary object to look after the safety of school children crossing the street.

Under the plan interested citizens will be employed on a part time basis to stand guard over the children and guide them across intersections four times a day.

The guardians will be recruited from retired, but still active elderly persons, or mothers with sufficient spare time to watch over other children as well as their own.

Such guardians would also release for other duties an equivalent number of traffic constables, it was explained. The plan is not altogether new as it has been tried and has met with success in many Ontario and United States cities and towns.

Paid Monthly

It is estimated that the part-time guardians would be on duty about three hours each day. They would be paid monthly.

It is believed that by releasing the regular traffic police for regular traffic duty that this in itself will tend to cut down traffic offenses which usually lead to serious accidents, so that the plan will work two ways for the safety of the children.

The council also approved of resolutions allowing the issuance of two permits for the construction of garages within less than 50 feet of the street.

Mayor J. S. Cameron presided, also present were the following aldermen: J. S. B. Pemberton, R. H. Dean, Roy Campbell, R. Panet-Raymond and W. A. Kennedy.

Hon. D. C. Abbott Wins Contest

The Hon. D. C. Abbott, Canada's Minister of Finance and member for St. Antoine-Westmount, was cast in the unenviable role of being the No. 1 choice for the "Ten Meanest People in the World during 1949", in a poll conducted by a local daily.

Mr. Abbott, according to the published account, was the "meanest man" of eight-out-of-every-ten. Reason in all cases was his unexpected hiking of rentals.

The minister on being informed of the doubtful honor conferred, said "some people were calling me Santa Claus in summertime a year ago when I brought the budget down. I suppose you can't please all the people all the time".

In No. 2 position was Premier Maurice Duplessis, also apparently because of his rental stand.

Athletic Grounds Centre Popular

The teen-age crowd have been taking over on Saturday nights in the Recreation Building at the Westmount Athletic Grounds, with large attendances enjoying the dances.

With the youthful group doing all the work headed by President Hughie MacDonald, the dances have been attended to the full capacity of the building. With the coming of snow, a sleigh party and dance is planned for the future, which should go over big.

Handicraft Classes

A programme of girls' handicraft classes has been coming along very well at the Westmount Athletic Grounds Recreation Building, with sewing, knitting, weaving, paper flower making, etc., being the main activities. Mrs. Sheila Wakely, Mrs. J. McDonald and Miss J. Corbell are working with the girls, and many fine articles have been made. These classes have been held on Monday nights and are now being extended to Wednesday night classes for girls when they will have an opportunity to work in leathercraft with the adults. Anyone interested, living in Westmount, may attend.

Art Association

Despite the icy condition on Tuesday night, a large crowd turned out to see the films on Canadian Art which were shown in the assembly hall of the Junior High School. There will be room for a few more in the class as it is thought that additional space may be made available.

Complains Re Lighting In Westmount Park

A lady who resides in the Park Place area writes to The Examiner complaining about the poor lighting or rather lack of lighting in Westmount Park.

She states that the lights on the path leading from near the bandstand to the public library have either burned out or been broken.

In these days of many reported holdups, the ladies of the district below Western avenue hesitate before venturing to cross the park to get a book from the library.

It would seem that some action to remedy this situation should be taken by the City.

Two Juveniles Remanded for Sentence Friday

Two juveniles pleaded guilty to stealing a crate of eggs from the back of a truck on Friday, and were remanded for sentence until today by Recorder C. A. Hale of the Westmount Recorder's Court.

The two jumped on the back of a truck as it was pulling away from a stop at St. Remi street, and were then brought to Lansdowne and Sherbrooke street.

While the driver left the vehicle, one of the boys jumped from the vehicle, took a crate of eggs handed to him by his companion, and ran into the arms of Constable A. Jones who was directing traffic for the school children at the time.

Westmount Street Dept. Deserves Credit Line

Much favourable comment was heard on Wednesday morning after the storm which swept the city on Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Especially grateful to the Westmount City Streets Department were residents on Greene Avenue who were loud in their praise of the Westmount Streets as compared to the dangerous conditions prevailing on the neighbouring streets in Montreal.

One young lady stated to the Examiner that Greene Avenue had been sanded beautifully all the way down even in some cases right up to the doorstep.

In Montreal the side streets running off St. Catherine Street West were like glass, making walking extremely hazardous.

Two-Year Lease May Come Under Controls

Harry Mockeridge, president of the Montreal Tenants' Association advises that he has been informed by the rental administrator that the signing of long term leases does not necessarily mean that the property is de-controlled.

Rent controls would continue to apply in cases where it was specified in leases that increases were not more than allowable on and after December 15, 1949 under the control order, and that the tenant might vacate the premises at any time on 30 days notice.

Many landlords have been asking two year leases, and the tenuous wording of the order required the clear explanation which has been given, said Mockeridge.

English Inns, Rallying Point When Country Was Threatened Stuart Richardson Declares

Stuart Richardson, Public Relations Officer of the Northern Electric Company told the Dickens Fellowship at Victoria Hall on Tuesday evening that "The English Inn" and all it stands for is only possible in a free society. It could not possibly have come to flower under any other but the English way of life.

For generations the Inn provided the only communal gathering place other than the church. It was from the Inns of England that the men went out from to meet the threatened invasion by Napoleon, armed with pitch-forks and billy-hooks, they stood by on the dunes to repel the invaders.

Rallying Point for Defence

A century and a quarter later, Englishmen again left the comfort of the bar and the ingle nook, and with similar weapons heeded the call of Churchill, to stand by to repel the invader, who might come by air on wings of silk. Napoleon did not come nor did his successor, but the solidity and the resolution were much in evidence on both occasions.

The speaker, whose subject was "English Inns of Dicken's Time", dwelt at length on some of these which still cling to the atmosphere created by Dicken's association with the Inn. One of them "The Great White Horse" at Ipswich, was the scene of Mr. Pickwick's embarrassing adventure with "the middle aged lady in yellow curl papers". So to every lover of Pickwick "The Great White Horse" is a shrine.

Inns Steeped in History

Mr. Richardson said the English Inn and the history of England

Scouting Around

with REG. GROOME

"Scouting Around" replaces our old effort bearing the title of "Scouts and Cubs" . . . the latter column appeared in The Examiner for many years, and, like everything else, must sooner or later be changed. We thought the new year was an appropriate time to do this . . . And now, as our first pleasant duty we would like to wish all members and friends of Scouting the best that 1950 can provide and — Good Scouting!

Indian Night was featured at the first Pack meeting of St. Andrew's Cubs with a wild and woolly gathering of the tribes enjoyed by all. The costumes worn by the Cubs were well done, but next time some of them will have to be a little more secure. John Lohead's and Robert Swift's were two particularly outstanding ones, but they all had their good points. The "Red Tribe" put on an Indian Dance with "Big Chief" Lohead beating the tom-tom . . . this was the best of the charades and won prizes and points for John's Red Six.

The Reds also won the prizes for the evening, having the highest number of points . . . how about another six winning for a change? The meeting was so much enjoyed that another Indian Night is planned for the near future. With the usual closing ceremonies, a shoulder name tape was presented to each and every Cub.

SCOUT BROADCAST

"Scouting on the Air," broadcast every Saturday morning over radio station CJAD, will feature this week one of the original Scouts in Montreal. See if you can guess who he might be, and, if you can't, tune in to CJAD at 9.05 a.m. this Saturday and find out how Scouting today compares with Scouting in 1910 . . . right from the lips of one of the original Scouts. And, by the way, if you have any ideas which you think might be used on "Scouting on the Air", let us have them. If there is someone in your unit or someone you know of who has done something worthwhile you think others should know about . . . or, if you have any ideas on other subjects you would like to hear on the Scout Broadcast, send them in to this writer. And, in the meantime, listen to "Scouting on the Air" every Saturday, 9.05 a.m., over CJAD.

KEEP IT COOL

An overheated, stagnant atmosphere lacks invigoration, makes for slackness and irritability and encourages colds. Moreover, it makes ventilation difficult because entering air seems chilling by comparison. Working in rooms kept at abnormally high temperatures causes dried and sallow skin, nose, throat and chest troubles, and a decreased appetite.

THE RUSSIAN WAY

The gentle art of propaganda is not as easy as it appears, particularly when one is trying to spread a gospel among citizens of another land. Good old Dr. Goebbels, of unlamented memory, was able to make his fellow citizens worship the little group of bandits who took control of Germany in 1933. But when he tried the same sort of stuff in other countries of this troubled globe his messages of re-education for the fuhrer and his peculiar racial theories met with more laughter than attention.

Russia appears to be meeting with similar troubles. I have just read a short biography of your pal and mine, Joe Stalin, a biography published in English by the Marx-Engels-Lenin Institute in Moscow in 1942. At that time the Commies were able to forget their antipathy to capitalism long enough to accept invaluable material and military aid from, among others, the United States. In 1942 the party line was "friendship, at least on the surface, to the decadent capitalists."

This little booklet on Stalin apparently was supposed to fill English-speaking readers with a reverence for the great Joseph and, at the same time, a feeling of love for the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics. To anyone with the intelligence of a high-grade moron (no remarks, please) it would do neither.

In this country we're used to hearing both sides of a story. In "Joseph Stalin — A Short Biography" we get only one, and that one presented in such grandiose, cliché-ridden language that it is almost nauseating.

Numberless times in the 77-page tome the adjective "great" is used to describe Uncle Joe. After reading this nonsense — and swallowing it — one would come away convinced that Superman and Dick Tracy were mere Milquetoasts. This sort of stuff, which concludes the anonymous biography, isn't likely to convert any Canadians to Communism.

"The unanimous thought and heartfelt wish of the working people of the Soviet Union and of the whole world is:

"Long life and health to our great and dear Stalin!"

"Long live the great and invincible banner of Marx, Engels, Lenin and Stalin."

Nuts!

Or, if you want to see how wrong a guy can be, read this (from page 74 of "Joseph Stalin — A Short Biography"):

"The workers in the capitalist countries look upon Stalin as their leader, as the man who is wisely steering the great ship of Socialism in the interests of the emancipation of the workers and of all working people all over the world. Millions of workers look upon him as their teacher, from whose classic writings they learn how to cope with the class enemy and how to pave the way for the way for the ultimate victory of the proletariat. Stalin's influence is the influence of the great and glorious Bolshevik Party, which workers in the capitalist countries look to as a model to follow, a model of what a working-class party should be. It was under the leadership of this party, a party of a new type, that capitalism was overthrown and the dictatorship of the proletariat established; and it was under the leadership of this party that Socialism was built up in the U.S.S.R. Let Messieurs the reactionaries try to kill the workers' desire to follow in the footsteps of such a party!"

Oh, brother!

P.S.: Just to keep the column local, leave us inform our reader that the Clement Market has been purchased by Buywell.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

YOUNG ADULT SECTION

Are you superstitious? Maybe you don't think so, but perhaps you are. Dare you come to the "Bad Luck" Party tonight at the Y.M.C.A. at 9 p.m. It's Friday — Friday the thirteenth — remember. Do not hesitate to come, there will be opportunity for you to try out your superstitions. There will be fun, there will be eats, and there will be prizes.

Young Adults Plan Annual Conference

The annual mid-winter program conference of the Young Adult Section of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. will be held on Sunday, Jan. 15, at 2 p.m. in the Y.M.C.A. The aims of the conference are to acquaint new members with the whole program, to receive the constructive criticisms of the old members, and to give everyone an opportunity to take an active part in the planning of the future program of the section.

The conference will open with a devotional period led by Ronald Hosking. The Panel Discussion will be chaired by Howard Fairbairn. The speakers on the panel and their subjects are: Gina Pearson, crafts; Walter Ramshaw, bridge; Robert Morrisette, badminton; Robert Morrow, social activities; Lorne Hunter, Sunday Firesides and Musicales; Donald Ferguson, Young Men's Clubs, Ernest Hall, SO-ED; and Jay Conn, Square Dance Club. The refreshment committee is chaired by Isabel MacLean and consists of Edwina Crammond, Isabel Manson, and Mary Jean Saunders.

There will be no Fireside Hour on Sunday evening.

NEWSPAPERS LEAD IN ADVERTISING

Newspapers led all other media in gains in national advertising during November, according to a statement in Printer's Ink magazine.

The newspaper volume was placed at 15 per cent ahead of the similar month of 1948; outdoor advertising showed a 12 per cent gain while all other media were below the previous year's level.

Magazine volume of national advertising was down 10 per cent, radio off 9 per cent and business papers were also off 9 per cent, the Printers' Ink report said.

NURSES' FEES RAISED

The cost of being sick went up for Westmounters as a result of the decision of the Montreal Graduate Nurses' Association to raise the fee for private duty nurses to eight dollars for each eight hour period. The new rate will become effective as from January 1, 1950.

The rate of pay for trained attendants of the Nursing Registry will be 8 hour duty, $5.00; 10 hour duty, $6.00; 12 to 19 hour duty, $7.00.

FIGURE SKATING

An evening of figure skating will be held Tuesday at the Westmount Park rink just southeast of the Library, it was announced by City Hall officials today. A p.a. system has been set up so that skaters will have the opportunity of hearing popular tunes at the same time.

The usual fee charge is being cancelled in an effort to bring more people out to the rink.

This is the party of the month for January.

The annual mid-winter program conference will be held on Sunday, January 15, at 2 p.m. This will be a panel discussion on the program activities chaired by Howard Fairbairn. Here is your opportunity to hear what has been going on and help to plan what is to take place. Be there at 2 p.m. for the devotional service led by Ronald Hosking.

The Square Dance Club got away to a very good start last Tuesday evening at 8. The club will meet at this time each week when new and old numbers will be played. If you can't dance, but would like to, don't hesitate to come out one night — you will be out for the rest of the season. Jay Conn, the club's chairman, was head caller for the evening and did an excellent job. Gina Pearson and Howard Fairbairn relieved Jay at the mike. This is a new and active club — join it now.

The Second Leathercraft Course will start on January 19 at 7:30 p.m. The two popular instructors, Gina Pearson and Peggy Rowley will be on hand. This second course will deal mainly with glove making and making articles from sheep shearing such as slippers, mittens, and jackets. The regular leathercraft skills of lacing, tooling, and making wallets and purses, will be taught in the last lessons. The course is planned to run for ten weeks.

The Badminton Club have now arranged a handicapping system for regular members of the club. This has proved to be very popular and is giving all players a chance to win their games. The club is to be divided into three teams under the captaincies of Shirley Eagles, Robert Morrisette, and Ray Beauchemin. Challenge matches will be played each week. Th club meeting nights are Fridays and Tuesdays at 7:30 p.m.

The Bridge Club will meet as usual on Monday evening at 8 p.m. Great interest was shown last week in the match played between Jim Kennedy and Walter Ramshaw against Gordon Clarke and Alfred Smeisko. Jim and Walter secured a decisive victory over their opponents.

There will be no Sunday Fireside Hour on Sunday, January 15.

W. "Bill" Hankinson of the C.B.C. and the Canadian Institute of Speech will be the guest speaker at the next meeting of the Young Men's Fellowship Club to be held on Thursday, January 19. This young men's club meets for supper on the first and third Thursdays of each month at 6 p.m.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT 1950 Opening Banquet

All Junior and Intermediate members are invited to attend the members' banquet tonight. Supper starts at 5.30 p.m. The big event of the evening will be an address by Bruce Campbell, who will tell some of his experiences while living with the Eskimos.

All old Kanawans will remember Bruce as Senior Section Director at Kamp Kanawana, and as a master story teller. Following the supper and talk, all will adjourn to the pool, to have a moonlight dip. All members are reminded to buy their tickets at the front desk in advance.

Floor Hockey League

Saturday morning is the starting of the Junior Floor Hockey League. All Juniors are asked to be out at 9.30 to get on a team.

Senior Boys' House Basketball League

Doug Reed, chairman of the Senior Boys' Basketball League committee announced that the annual Senior Boys' Basketball League will be starting at 2.00 p.m., Saturday, the 14th of January. All Senior Boys interested in playing basketball are asked to turn out this Saturday to join the League. You don't have to be good — we're going to have a lot of fun.

Brigadier J. A. deLalanne Heads Red Cross Campaign

Brigadier James Arthur de Lalanne, C.B.E., M.C., of 633 Lansdowne Avenue, Westmount, has been appointed co-chairman along with d'Esneval Panet-Raymond for the Greater Montreal Annual Red Cross Drive for funds.

Brig. de Lalanne, a veteran of both wars and a member of the firm of McDonald Currie & Co., Chartered Accountants, will represent the English speaking population and Mr. Panet-Raymond our French speaking compatriots. Mr. de Lalanne has long been prominent in Westmount affairs and brings to his new position a wealth of

PROTEST WITH EGGS TO PRIME MINISTER

Eggs are very often thrown at politicians, but it is very seldom that politicians receive them as gifts, yet according to a suburban egg producer this is what is going to happen to Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent.

As a protest against the present low prices being obtained for eggs on the local market, each of the big egg producers are said to be planning to send a crate of eggs to the Prime Minister, at his Ottawa residence. Each crate will have an accompanying card reminding Mr. St. Laurent of the government's promise to protect the egg men.

Since Mr. Gardiner the Minister for Agriculture announced the cancellation of the United Kingdom orders for eggs, prices have fallen to around 40 cents a dozen, in contrast to the high of 80 to 85 cents quite recently.

Meanwhile, Westmount housewives are very happy over the new deal in eggs.

Drive Starts February 24

In announcing the appointment of the two co-chairmen, Colonel Maurice Forget, E.D., Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre, K.C., president of the Montreal Red Cross, said the local committee had been planning for weeks, organizing the Red Cross drive, which will get underway here on February 24 and will end on March 10.

Montreal Objective $875,000

The objective this year will be the same as last with the Canada-wide figure being set at $5,000,000, Province of Quebec at $1,250,000 and Greater Montreal $875,000. The nation-wide drive will run thru March 1 to March 31, but due to other local appeals here the dates had to be altered so as to avoid conflict.

The moneys raised by the Red Cross Society will be used to continue free blood transfusions in hospitals, disaster relief such as the Noronic fire in Toronto last fall, veteran welfare and other Red Cross work in Canada.

D'Esneval Panet-Raymond, the French-speaking co-chairman, is a resident of Outremont and is a former personnel manager in the R.C.A.F. and well known in transportation circles. He is sales and public relations manager of Canadian Breweries Ltd.

The two co-chairmen in a statement made after the appointments were made public said that they realized that this year there would be more than the average appeals to the public for charitable

Anti-Cold Drugs Not Endorsed

Dr. M. B. Donaldson, Westmount's City Health Officer, is quoted as stating that his department has received no adverse reports on the use of the new anti-cold drugs.

Municipal health chiefs, however, generally endorsed federal warnings against the indiscriminate use of antihistaminic preparations for relief of cold symptoms.

Federal Dept. Issues Warning

The federal health department warns that one of the effects of the drug is to cause extreme drowsiness which, in the case of car drivers, may bring about an accident. Whether the continued use of the drug over a long period would be harmful has not yet been determined.

Dr. Edmond R. Dufresne of Outremont confirmed the federal advice and stated that he would not prescribe the treatment to anyone until more is known about it.

Dr. M. M. Ross, Medical Director for Mount Royal, reported that

Prominent Westm't Lady Mrs. R. G. Hishon Mourned

MRS. R. GRATTON HISHON

Past president of the Union of Auxiliaries of St. Mary's Hospital, and active member of various other organizations, who died Monday evening after a long illness.

Mrs. R. Gratton Hishon who resided at 221 Clarke avenue, Westmount, died in the Central Division of the General Hospital on Monday after a lengthy illness.

The late Mrs. Hishon was born in Montreal and graduated from the Royal Victoria School of Nurses. Until quite recently she has been very active as worker for St. Mary's Hospital and was president of the Union of Auxiliaries of that hospital.

Helped Hospitals

She was the immediate past president of the Westmount subdivision of the Catholic Women's League. At various times she served on the executive of the R.V.H. School of Nurses and was an executive member of the Xavier Apostolate. Many other organizations benefited from her help in worthy causes.

Mrs. Hishon is survived by her husband, R. Gratton Hishon; her mother, Mrs. J. E. O'Brien; in addition other survivors include five brothers, Lt. Col. E. G. O'Brien of Montreal; W. H. O'Brien of New York; J. Bailey O'Brien of Westmount; John L. O'Brien, K.C., of Westmount; and Charles O'Brien of Montreal; five sisters, Mrs. P. T. Golden of Westmount; Mrs. R. M. D'Wyre of St. Adolphe de Howard; and Mrs. Edmond Foster, Miss Sala O'Brien and Mrs. C. J. Shaw, all of Westmount; F. A. Prendergast and several nephews and nieces.

The funeral service was held yesterday morning from the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount, with burial in Cote des Neiges cemetery.

Trans-Canada Highway To By-Pass Westmount

The Trans-Canada Highway will not go through Westmount, it is learned. Councillor J. O. Asselin, chairman of the executive committee of the City of Montreal, and Hon. R. H. Winters, Minister of Reconstruction, have apparently tentatively agreed that the Metropolitan Boulevard will form part of the projected highway.

Boulevard Nearly Completed

The principal job still to be done to complete the Metropolitan Boulevard is the widening of Cremazie boulevard from the clover leaf at Decarie boulevard, eastward to St. Lawrence boulevard, and its continuation east from St. Hubert street to connect with the Leduc boulevard, thus furnishing a through highway linking the western extremity of the island at Ste. Anne de Bellevue with the eastern end at Bout de L'Île.

When it was first mooted, it had been believed that Sherbrooke street might serve as a link in the Dominion route.

Mount Royal Parkway To Benefit Westmount

Westmounters stand to benefit if the proposed new parkway across Mount Royal from Cote des Neiges road to Mount Royal avenue materializes.

The route suggested is now being surveyed, it was learned from a Montreal City Hall source. The grades at various points on the mountain are being calculated. When this information is available, it will be placed before the Committee on City Planning for further consideration.

Grading a Problem

The city technical services will then be given the job of studying the difficulties offered by the steep grades and the problem of so laying out the road that it would not interfere with the bridle paths or skiers or others using the mountain park.

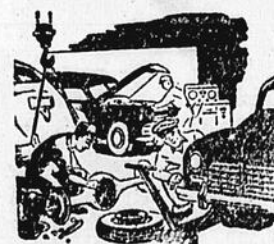

If the road goes through, residents of Westmount would be able to get to the corner of Park and Mount Royal in next to no time as they could either use Westmount boulevard or the mountain road to reach what is now known as Remembrance road.

Presumably the proposed parkway would follow the present tramway line which runs close to the two cemeteries.

of little things*

OVERHEATED HOMES CAUSE COLDS

We all look on the common cold as a nuisance. Few of us, however, take even the simple precautions to help ward off infection and prevent its spread. For example: getting lots of sleep, eating plain nourishing food, wearing sensible clothing indoors or out, maintaining an even and moderate temperature in the home. In other words, building resistance. Look after yourself during the danger days of winter. Help to avoid colds—the greatest single cause of lost time—lost work. That's "Good Citizenship".

RCASC Seeks To Enlist Mechanically Minded Men

The Royal Army Service Corps at 3 Hillside Place, Westmount, resumed winter training on Tuesday night. Two nights per week have been set aside for training Tuesdays and Fridays being utilized for this purpose.

A very successful dance was held in the armoury on New Year's Eve which was followed by the annual reception on New Year's Day in both the Officers' and Sergeants' messes.

The regimental hockey team entered in the Westmount Intermediate League is behind in its schedule, as adverse weather conditions has forced postponement of games.

The bad weather has also hindered the winter training program of the unit, but with the promise of snow it is hoped to go ahead with training schemes this coming weekend.

Training includes driving of various types of trucks and jeeps, maintaining these vehicles as well as minor repairs.

There are still openings for young men mechanically inclined who are desirous of joining the reserve. Recruiting parades are held every Tuesday night at the armoury at 3 Hillside Place, Westmount, which is quite close to the athletic grounds on St. Catherine St., West.

Mrs. E. A. Riepert, Noted Curler, Dies

Mrs. Isabella Guthrie Riepert died on Thursday at the residence of her son Orval C. Riepert, 225 Kensington avenue, Westmount.

Mrs. Riepert was the daughter of the late David Guthrie, one of Montreal's best curlers who died in 1917. From her father she inherited the love of curling and became a member of the old St. Lawrence Curling Club, being secretary-treasurer of the ladies' section for over 40 years. She was an active member of the Ladies' Curling Association.

Although she lived most of her life in Canada, Mrs. Riepert was born in Scotland but came here as a baby. Her husband, E. A. Riepert, predeceased her some years ago.

Ardent Worker for Charity

Mrs. Riepert interested herself in the work of the St. Andrew's Society Ladies' Charitable Committee and for over 50 years has been secretary-treasurer of that committee. She was a life member of the W.C.T.U., and a member of Stanley Presbyterian Church.

Surviving are her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Orval G. Riepert, and one sister, Mrs. F. J. Greig, of Philadelphia.

Funeral services were held on Saturday from the Chapel of Jos. C. Wray & Bro., Mountain street. Interment was in Mount Royal cemetery.

KATE AITKEN URGES WOMEN BUY CANADIAN

Mrs. Kate Aitken, noted columnist, speaking to the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club at Victoria Hall on Friday, urged her listeners to support everything Canadian.

Canadian women should buy Canadian goods and products in order to promote Canadian talent and to encourage Canadian art and literature, Mrs. Aitken said.

donations, but they felt that the Red Cross has a priority claim on public-spirited citizens and organizations through its outstanding humanitarian work. It is planned to cover the territory more thoroughly in the canvass for funds and to visit more people and firms during the drive.

To do this it will be necessary to enlist more volunteer organizers and canvassers. Messrs. deLalanne and Panet-Raymond stated that they were relying on the public appreciation of the great work being carried on by the Red Cross both locally and throughout Canada to ensure the success of the drive. They felt sure that neither the contributors or the campaign workers would let them down in this most worthy cause.

cases had come to his notice where car drivers had suffered dizziness as a result of the use of the drugs.

Dr. J. J. Ryan, Medical Director for Hampstead, said that these drugs are still very experimental. Most doctors are waiting until more is known about them before prescribing them. He thought that it was unethical that they should be supplied freely over the counter and if used should be solely through a doctor. Casual use might be very dangerous.

Ottawa Scot to Tell of Burns The Exciseman

Burns the Exciseman is to be the subject of the Toast to the Immortal Memory which will be proposed by David Sim, of Ottawa, at the Burns Anniversary Supper of The Scottish Schools Club of Montreal.

Arrangements are well advanced for the function which is to be held on Saturday evening, January 28th in the Cardy Hall, Mount Royal Hotel.

Mr. Sim is Deputy Minister of National Revenue, Customs and Excise division. He is also a born Scot who has established a reputation as a Burns speaker. Hence, as Canada's top exciseman and with his insight into the background of Scotland's national poet, he may be expected to provide something special in the way of a "toast" for those who attend the function.

Attracts Scots

Because of the consistently high calibre of the guest speaker and of the entertainment; and by reason of the air of bonhomie which always has characterized this particular function, it has become, through the years a "must" for Scots—and also for Burns' lovers unfortunate enough to have been denied Scottish birth or background—in and around Montreal; and even from further afield.

A program of entertainment is being arranged by the committee in charge which will be well up to past standards, if not better.

Information with regard to tickets for the function can be obtained from D. Kidd, club secretary (phone EL. 6995).

English Inn . . .

go naturally together. There is no story of importance since the Norman conquest which has not somewhere in its telling, the story of some famous Inn. Even today one has only to listen to some of our returned men, to realize just what an important factor the Inn is in the life of the nation. Such names as "Rose and Crown", "Pig and Whistle" are constantly recurring in the telling of the escapades of our troops whilst stationed in England.

The first English travellers could always get food and shelter at the house of the local squire. He was "the lord and the lands" and later became the "landlord" a name which has persisted to this day.

Inns Established by Church

Other Inns were established by the church for the accommodation of pilgrims and many were established on church property. The names of many Inns still in existence bear witness to this association. For example there is "The Five Fishes" at Turvey, Bedfordshire; "The Crow and Mitre" at Carlisle, Cumberland; "The Hostel of God Begot", in Winchester, and the "Golden Cross" in Dorchester, besides many others. Mr. Richardson said that it would be possible to make a reasonably good outline of English history by studying nothing more than the names of Inn signs. The earliest Inns displayed the sign of the reigning monarch, or of the lord of their particular manor, or some figure from his heraldic shield. Thus we have "The White Horse", originally the Saxon banner; "The Sun", the badge of Richard Coeur de Lion; "The White Hart", the badge of Richard III; "The Boar" the badge of Richard III; "The Red Lion", John of Gaunt; "The Rose", the tudors, and the speaker listed many other names of Inns in this category.

Origin of Names Many

Mythology and folk-lore are recorded in such names as "George and the Dragon", "The Griffin", "The Dick Whittington", "The King and the Tinker".

The Crusades are commemorated in "The Saracen's Head" and others. From Heraldry, "The Chequers" "The Unicorn" and "The Tabard".

Sports have also given names to Inns such as "The Falcon", "The Fox and Hounds", "The Dog and Duck" to name a few.

Occupations are signified sometimes under their own names as "The Weaver's Arms", "The Saddler's Arms", "The Three Compasses" and examples of such.

In the past an Inn was frequently named because men of particular occupation gathered there. speare, consider the likelihood of war or make critical comment on the prevailing weather.

There is fair chance that the general tenor of conversation in a bar parlor has not changed since Inns first came on the English scene, Mr. Richardson opined.

This continuity, the speaker thought, of people doing the same thing for generation after generation, has given the English people certain qualities and has tended to create in them a belief in the desirability and inevitability of continuity. It could also, he believed, produce solidity of character, and thus we have "The Jolly Farmer", "The Coach and Horses", "The Horse and Groom", "The Row Barge", etc.

Centre of Business

In addition to providing accommodation for the traveller, the Inn became the centre of the business and social life of the community.

The mayor and the council met there as did the churchwardens, fraternal organizations held their meetings at the Inn. It also accommodated the magistrate and the coroner. Stage coaches brought to it news from the outside world. It was also the place where proclamations of the King were posted on the door. Red coated gentry riding to the hounds also used the Inn as a meeting place.

Imprint on English Character

Under the early laws of England the church provided a sanctuary for those in distress. The point may be made, Mr. Richardson emphasized, that in another sense the Inn has provided a sanctuary where freemen might meet for refreshment and friendship, within the confines of a bar parlor, a man is free, he said. He may toast the King, damn the government, jolly the barmaid, praise the local football team, quote Shake-a degree of resolution in time of stress and danger.

Ale Saved Empire

In the middle ages ale was the beverage of all ages and classes of society. It was drunk freely because it was relatively cheap and good to the taste. The British Empire might have been wiped out but for this drinking of beer, Mr. Richardson pointed out.

When the black plague struck England in 1665, more than half the population died, partly because of the low calory diet on which the majority of the people existed. All unbeknown to our ancestors, the humble glass of ale was the only vitamin-filled item on their diet. Ale continued to be brewed during the period of the plague and those who survived were greatly helped in their powers of resistance by this beverage.

Mr. Richardson spoke at great length on the English Inn and Dicken's connection with many of them. His address held his audience enthralled, as he referred to "Pub" after "Pub" which many of his listeners had personally visited, such as the famous "Cheshire Cheese" in London.

Anson Walker, president of the Dicken's Fellowship, was chairman and thanked Mr. Richardson for the splendid address.

That it is suggested that our unit of measurement — the yard — was based upon the length of the arm of one of our early kings?

THE YEAR AHEAD

Some Prospects Are Disturbing

Quite a number of persons are mildly disturbed over the prospects for the future, writes Joseph Lister Rutledge. They wonder how prices continue to keep up in the face of reports that employment is slowly but steadily declining. They wonder why homes, and most other things, continue to be scarce and the cost of them high. They find it a little difficult to understand why government doesn't step in and remedy everything. If they took a quick glance at the Hansard reports of last October and did some reflecting on Mr. Abbott's report on present and anticipated government expenditures they might devise some sort of answer.

Mr. Abbott reported that total Federal expenditures for the fiscal year of 1948-49 were $2,176 million and added that he was budgeting for 1949-50 expenditures of $2,460 million. That, as anyone with a ready pencil can discover, is an increase in anticipated over actual expenditures of $284 million, an added 13½ per cent, or $21 dollars additional toll for each of us thirteen and a half million persons.

Look at it as a personal matter. Suppose your family expenditures for last year were $3,000. If you went on expanding your outgo, as your government proposes to do, you could look forward not to expenses of $3,000, but $3,405. The significant point there would be, how well could you afford it? How was your business doing? Well, it was still going ahead. At least Canada's industry was going ahead, though its spectacular pace had been cut to a slow walk. If, for instance, we take the seasonably adjusted record of the industrial production for the first four months as against the average of the whole production of the preceding year, the increase is just 2.8%. So let's get back to that personal angle and suppose that the small business we control that looked after our $3,000 personal expenses, is going to progress on the same basis as all industry. Then for the $3,000 that it produced last year it can be expected to produce $3,085 to meet our growing costs.

Of course we do not contend that this is an absolutely accurate comparison. But it does suggest the way we are moving. For instance, we can all look back to not so distant years and to budget surpluses running into hundreds of millions. Mr. Abbott estimated the federal revenues for 1949-50 at $2,550 million, a surplus of $90 million. Still on the right side of the ledger, but — in face of increasing demands and dwindling sources of revenue — for how long?

aac, and the God of Jacob. For he is not a God of the dead, but of the living: for all live unto him."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible:

"And, behold, there cometh one of the rulers of the synagogue, Jairus by name; and besought him greatly, saying, My little daughter lieth at the point of death: I pray thee, come and lay thy hands on her, that she may be healed; and she shall live. And Jesus went with him; And he took the damsel by the hand, and said unto her, Talithacumi; which is being interpreted, Damsel, I say unto thee, arise. And straightway

the ramsel arose, and walked" (Mark 5.)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Often he gave no name to the distemper he cured. To the synagogue ruler's daughter, whom they called dead but of whom he said, 'she is not dead, but sleepeth', he simply said, 'Damsel, I say unto thee, arise!' Life is real, and death is the illusion. A demonstration of the facts of Soul in Jesus' way resolves the dark visions of material sense into harmony and immortality." (Pages 398 and 428.)

Miss C. Mackenzie To Speak in Series "Mr. Prime Minister"

Miss Catherine Mackenzie, former Principal of the Montreal
High School for Girls, will read an open letter to the Prime Minister, on the CBC Trans-Canada network (CBM), on Friday, Jan.
27, at 2.15 P.M., EST. Miss Mackenzie's letter will be the fourth in a series which is following the suggestion made by the Prime Minister a few months ago that women voters send him letters on any public matter about which they feel special concern. The series is called "Mr. Prime Minister."Miss Mackenzie's letter will tell about the things the teacherswould like the Federal Government to do for education and will include quotes from the Canadian Federation of Teachers' Brief to the Royal Commission.Catherine Mackenzie was educated at the Montreal High School for Girls and joined the staff as a French specialist in 1910. She was appointed principal in 1930 and held the position until her retirement in 1944.She is a past president of the Association of Protestant Teachers of the Province of Quebec and a past president of the Zonta Club and was awarded the Order of Scholastic Merit by the Department of Education of the Province of Quebec.Maggy Rouff's favorite evening dresses are those with very wide skirts, intricately folded to give an effect of irregularity about their hemlines and often trimmed with an immense stiff bow of taffeta on one hip. Irregular, slanting and, what their designer terms, "unbalanced lines" are the keynote of this collection to which the well-styled Mendel furs add a further note of glamour.

* Westmount Baptist *

"Making 1950 a Holy Year".
This will be the Theme of the morning sermon in Westmount Baptist Church on Sunday. In connection with the "Jubilee", Moses was instructed to say to the people
"Ye Shall Hallow the 50th Year".
There are practical ways in which every Christian can make this year one of supreme enterprise and blessing for themselves and others.The Church Bible School meets in two sections. Grade IV and upward assembles at 10 a.m. The departments from Nursery to Grade III meet at 11 a.m. A chartered bus leaves Montreal West at 10.20 a.m., stopping en route to pick up parents and scholars coming to Church and School."A Pilgrimage to — Calvary".
This will be Dr. L. A. Johnston's theme at the evening service. Such a "Holy Year Pilgrimage" frequently changes the course of life for those participating. It is in Christ alone that men find the answer to their deepest questions and their most involved problems.

read excerpts from a study of George Washington Carver, the famous Negro scientist, whose life humbly lived, was vastly rich in discovery, quoting him as a paramount example of the art of living.
Miss Margaret Ellis, soloist, sang "Nearer, my God, to Thee."
Next Sunday evening, Mrs.
Ruth Whiting will speak upon the subject of "Father Time's Calen-

MINUTE MERRIMENT . . . When we called on Mr. MacGillicuddy yesterday, he was on the verge of a nervous collapse. He was also on the verge of falling off the sofa, due to the efforts of a large, black cat, who was pushing MacGillicuddy with his front paws, while he braced himself with two powerful back legs. It was quite a spectacle.

"Why don't you train that animal to behave?" we asked.

"TRAIN him?" shrieked MacGillicuddy, showing signs of cracking. "That's how all the trouble started!"

"I've been going on the theory that I am the master in my house. Martin — that's the cat — has been working on the idea that, since he arrived, this no longer IS my house. And, as things stand now, his seems to be the more correct assumption."

Martin, at that moment tiring of his little game, jumped to the floor, proceeded to dig a hole in the carpet, and lie down in it.

"You see," wailed Mr. MacGillicuddy, "he has no respect for property — mine, at any rate. He's even gone so far as to select the sky blue rug in my room as the last word in Comfort Stations."

"You're using the wrong approach," we offered. "Show him that he can trust you — gain his confidence."

"YOU gain his confidence," said MacGillicuddy bitterly. "I'm afraid of him!"

Just to show MacGillicuddy what good sports we really were, and how simple the whole thing was, we took turns patting Martin rather large front paws. Martin withdrew these, cleaning them daintily and thoroughly.

"There!" said our host triumphantly, "he doesn't like you, either."

"Nonsense," we replied, "he's just getting acquainted."

It turned out, however, that

Martin's how-to-win-friends-and-influence-people philosophy included a wild dash from living-room to dining room, where he firmly entrenched himself under the china cabinet.

Somewhat reassured by our show of bravery, MacGillicuddy offered to coax Martin back to the living room. He got down on the floor, looked under the cabinet, and Martin and MacGillicuddy faced each other silently, each trying to outstare the other. MacGillicuddy blinked first, which gave Martin the round.

Go right under, we yelled encouragingly. MacGillicuddy did. Martin came out. MacGillicuddy was wedged firmly between the cabinet and the floor.

After extricating MacGillicuddy, we retired to the living room. Martin was once more in possession of the sofa.

"You see," said Mr. MacGillicuddy, still panting, "it's useless."

"Have you tried food?"

"I haven't had a square meal for days," said MacGillicuddy, close to tears.

We explained that perhaps he could bribe Martin.

"Feed him only when he obeys you."

"That wouldn't work," said MacGillicuddy. "Once I tried to punish him by not feeding him. He retaliated by clinging to my trousers, wherever I went, and giving forth with a series of such agonized howls that four neighbors reported me to the S.P.C.A."

By this time, Martin, having lost interest in the sofa, was swinging gracefully from the draperies. We thought this was as good a time as any to depart.

We left MacGillicuddy holding the bag, the end of which had already been chewed away, like everything else he owns!

MINUTE MENAGERIE . . . An English setter owned by a west-end resident got an extra dividend on lessons he learned at the Obedience Training Club of Canada. The dog and his owner found their relations smoother, when the setter obeyed promptly, but it was when the dog broke his leg that the lessons really paid off.

When the time came for the setter to move around and go outside, he refused to budge — wouldn't even stand up. He was a big, heavy fellow, and his owner was nonplussed, until she remembered that the setter had been a good pupil in the dog class. "Stand! Stay!" she ordered, giving the order for posing, and sure enough, the pooch got up on his feet. The command "heel!" started him walking out to the sun and fresh air.

At a quarter past seven o'clock this evening, readers interested may see 25 dogs take part in demonstrations and competitions at Scout Headquarters, Cote St. Antoine and Royal.

Miss Camilla Harvey, of Thurlow Road, Hampstead, the director, says that she has about 50 dogs in all classes, but that only 25 have been picked for tomorrow's event. In addition to studying for her Master's degree in psychology at McGill, Camilla owns kennels of her own, and has done much to polish up the manners of Montreal's canines.

Fashion Hints

Shocking pink rayon faille is the material for this pretty lounge coat which is made a sensible length. Navy taffeta trims the collar that dips in a rounded line in back. Taffeta is also used for the cuffs, pockets and the frog trim that marks the double-breasted moulded bodice. The skirt is flared.

HOME SEWING

"Appearance is Important" is the title of Allison Grant's lesson on January 31, in her CBC series, "CBC School for Consumers", broadcast on Tuesdays, on the Trans-Canada network (CBM), at 2:15 p.m., EST.

In this lesson Mrs. Grant deals with the problems of the housewife who is confronted with making clothes for herself and her children or making over the family wardrobe. The CBC authority on consumer economics shows how to keep within the clothes budget and at the same turn out a smartly dressed family.

Authentic Period Bouquets Arranged For Historic Homes

Hours before the historic buildings of Williamsburg, Virginia, begin receiving their daily streams of visitors, a slender lady who gets her tips on flower arranging from out of the past is busy applying touches of color and freshness to the famous old structures.

The colorful flower arrangements done by Mrs. John R. Fisher are a much-admired daily human touch that impart a "lived in" flavor to the gracious buildings of the one-time colonial capital city. They are also another of the final bits of authentic detail that reflect the manner of life two centuries ago.

By the skillful combination of research, imagination, and the artist's eye for color and mass, Mrs. Fisher has almost single-handedly re-created the forgotten art of 18th century flower arranging. The results of her handiwork have not only brought vivid life to the rooms of the restored houses of Williamsburg but have attracted interest of flower lovers and placed her in great demand as a lecturer and author.

Up Bright and Early

Nearly every day she is at the reconstructed Governor's Palace in Williamsburg by 7 in the morning assembling and selecting flowers for the arrangements in that colonial mansion. At times Mrs. Fisher has as many as 20 arrangements to make in the palace alone, in addition to other floral decorations for such buildings as the George Whyte House and the Raleigh Tavern.

Winter Bouquets

Flower arrangements are not the only item either. Fruit arrangements are used frequently as well as potted plants and masses of foliage and evergreens. In the winter it's the dried flower arrangements for which Mrs. Fisher is famous.

These winter bouquets consisting of dried flowers are arranged in the same "priny" manner as they were two centuries ago, and are decidedly the most colorful part of the winter decorations. Through her revival of the old methods of preparing and drying leaves and flower materials, dried flower arrangements have returned to nationwide popularity as features of winter decoration and Mrs. Fisher receives hundreds of requests for information on how to collect and preserve the materials and how to make the arrangements.

She has done extensive research on the subject and is able to emulate the old processes to obtain the colorful effects of colonial days.

| 2 cups sifted Five Roses Flour | 1 egg                        |
| 3/4 tspn. baking soda          | 1/2 cup orange juice         |
| 1/2 tspn. salt                 | 1/2 tspn. grated orange rind |
| 1/2 cup sugar                  | 3/4 cup sour milk            |
| 1/2 cup raisins                | 1/2 cup shortening.          |

Sift together flour, baking soda, salt and sugar; then add the raisins. Combine the well beaten egg, orange juice, rind, sour milk and melted shortening. Turn wet ingredients into the dry ingredients. Mix only until dry ingredients are dampened. Fill greased muffin tins 3/4 full. Bake in hot oven 425 deg. F. for 30 minutes. Makes 12 muffins.

Two Excellent Features Sunday At The Westmount

There was more than a touch of nostalgia in Burbank, Calif., a few months ago where, on the studio sound stages, they were repeating the life and good times of Marilyn Miller for "Look For the Silver Lining", the technicolor picture which starts Sunday at the Westmount.

Some years ago, it may have been as many as eighteen, this correspondent and others were taken to one of these same sound stages to watch the real Marilyn Miller work in the screen version of her stage success, "Sally".

Both talking pictures and Technicolor were more or less new and experimental at the time. It was summer and the huge stage where the particularly spectacular scenes the correspondents were to watch were made, was hot and crowded.

Working in the picture with the star was Alexander Gray, then enjoying a real vogue in Hollywood, and Joe E. Brown, playing the role originated on the stage by Leon Errol.

Even that visit to the set of "Sally" was a memory rouser for some of the correspondents who had watched Miss Miller a few years before sing and dance her way through "Sally" on the New York stage.

The set for that picture that recent day also was hot and crowded, for it too was being photographed in Technicolor and included musical numbers from several of Marilyn Miller's best-remembered shows. A great number of people, both cast and crew, had been assembled for director David Butler's use.

Second Feature

As an added attraction, one of movieland's most diabolically fascinating men will hold audiences spellbound at the Westmount. He is portrayed by Ray Milland who has the title role in a new mystery thriller, "Alias Nick Beal". Milland has made this devilish Beal a magnet to everyone who seeks thrilling and suspenseful entertainment. He is aided and abetted by tense dramatic situations and an unusual kind of excitement provided by the off-the-beaten-path story. Gorgeous Audrey Totter and Thomas Mitchell are Milland's co-stars and the people who suffer most at his sinister hands.

Ray Milland as Nick Beal, the devilish character who changes the lives of Mitchell and Miss Totter, is a fellow most people won't forget. Audiences thrilled to a villainous Milland in the films, "Kitty" and "So Evil My Love", but here he hits a new low in evil, and with even greater characterization.

LES AMIS DE L'ART STAGE THREE EVENTS

A cartoon contest organized by the association of Les Amis de L'Art will be open until February 1 to all citizens from 18 years to 30 years of age living in the province of Quebec. First prize is $200 with a second prize of $100. Professional cartoonists are excluded. For information call Miss J. Bergeron, director, FR. 1119.

The exhibition of Francoise Pagnuelo, Westmount artist, will continue at the Cercle Universitaire until January 21.

A concert will be given on Sunday at D'Arcy McGee Hall by the Entraide of Auguste Descarie. Guest artists will be Maude Paradis and Claire Charbonneau.

For the convenience of those living in the western part of the city an office will be opened later this month at Victoria School, 1822 St. Luke street.

ESCAPED

Charles Kemper, who teams with Bing Crosby in a hilarious golfing sequence for Paramount's "Mr. Music", was a bugler in the first world war. He still has the bugle — only it's been converted to an attractive ivy planter and hangs above his fireplace at home.

STARTING SUNDAY AT THE WESTMOUNT

Ray Milland, Audrey Totter and Thomas Mitchell are starred in the unusual and exciting mystery thriller, "Alias Nick Beal," which arrives next Sunday at the Westmount Theatre. The drama, directed by John Farrow, concerns the activities of a diabolic stranger who wreaks havoc wherever he goes.

MOVIE BRIEFS

OSCAR WINNER

Walter Huston, who won an Academy Award last year for his memorable portrayal of the old prospector in "Treasure of the Sierra Madre", has a top role with Barbara Stanwyck in Hal Wallis' "The Furies".

OLDEST IN PIX

Though Paul Kelly, who recently completed "Thelma Jordan" for Hal Wallis at Paramount, is only 49 he has been in pictures 42 years and has a scrap book dating back to 1907. He's made over 400 movies.

CLIMBING LADDER

Keefe Braselle, outstanding newcomer who scored a big hit in Ida Lupino's "Not Wanted", has a top role in the new George Stevens production at Paramount, "A Place in the Sun".

LIKES WESTERNS

Ray Milland, who likes movie westerns, recently completed co-starring with Hedy Lamarr, Macdonald Carey, Mona Freeman and Harry Carey, Jr., in Paramount's Technicolor outdoor drama, "Copper Canyon".

HOPE RETURNS

Bob Hope, soon to be seen in Paramount's "The Great Lover", recently returned from Canada,

Director Uses Old Trick to Disperse Crowd

Director William Dieterle had to resort to an old Hollywood trick for dispersing crowds when 10,000 spectators gathered to watch Joan Fontaine and Joseph Cotton play a scene for Hal Wallis' "September" in front of the 14th Century Cathedral of Santa Maria del Fiore, known as the Duomo.

Police had difficulty keeping the huge throng from constantly pressing forward for a closer view of the popular American stars and consequently getting into camera range. Director Dieterle ordered the cameras loaded on a truck and driven away from the cathedral site, hoping the crowd would break up when it saw the equipment and the crew and actors leave. But each time cinematographer Victor Milner returned and set up his camera the throng began congregating again.

It took five such false moves by the troupe before the set was clear enough of curious bystanders to enable Miss Fontaine and Cotton to do their scene.

where he set new attendance marks during a series of personal appearance tours.

STARS LIKE HIM

George Stevens, producer-director of "A Place in the Sun", at Paramount says: "I have yet to direct a temperamental actress or actor". Montgomery Clift, Elizabeth Taylor and Shelley Winters are co-starred and all three rave about Stevens' talents and understanding.

Direct From Hollywood

By Jack Hirshberg

NOW ANOTHER YEAR

HOLLYWOOD, January 12 — At the start of another year, I can't help noting the many familiar movie names still illuminating marquees across the continent. True, you have your Richard Widmarks and your Burt Lancasters, relative newcomers, but the majority of top drawer attractions are the same old folk who've been around a long time.

There's Olivia de Havilland, for instance, currently bidding for a second Oscar in "The Heiress". She's been working in film factories since 1935 when she made "A Midsummer Night's Dream". Clark Gable took over most of page one last month when he married for the fourth time, yet this 50-year-old Romeo has faced the cameras for two full decades.

Moreover, despite a succession of poor pictures, he continues a national idol.

Claudette Colbert was on the stage a number of years before making her first silent film. She's still making movies and debuts as a director this spring. Rosalind Russell, no chicken when she came to films from the theatre, is a veteran of 16 winters in Hollywood. Humphrey Bogart killed them on the stage before becoming a flicker heavy in 1932 — and his current Warner contract runs another 13 years. Even Shirley Temple has been in films 18 years, her initial being something called "Red Hair-Ed Alibi" in 1932.

Ronald Colman turns 60 next month, but he still plays romantic leads. Colman played in British films as early as 1917 and made his American bow in 1923. Lionel Barrymore made "The Yellow Streak" in 1915, and sister Ethel has 19 annuums of celluloid thesping to her credit.

One strange aspect of this situation is the prevalence of middle-aged gents among the top heart-beat attractions on the midway. Bing Crosby is rounding out 20 years in the game and was a radio headliner before that, yet his throaty groaning still sends women nuts and even has a loyal following among mates. In his current, "Mr Music", Bing plays a composer of hit shows who scurries after every femme he sees.

But Crosby is still a youngster to Al Jolson, who made "The Jazz Singer" in 1927 after over two decades as headliner in everything from circus to minstrel show. And Canada's Walter Huston antedates even Jolson. Huston is 65, made "Gentlemen of the Press" in 1929 after many years of Broadway stardom.

Eddie Cantor has been making laugh since 1906 when he worked for Gus Edwards in a stage show called "Kiddies' Kabaret". Paramount brought him to movies in 1925 with "Kid Boots". Jack Benny first faced a camera in 1928, George Burns and Gracie Allen dittoed in 1931, and even Bob Hope has made movies for 17 years.

All this makes you wonder what's lacking in the current generation. Perhaps success comes too easily to them —

"Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" Delightful Young Folk's Play

Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, directors of the Children's Theatre, always anxious to please children of all ages, decided for their next production, to deviate from fairy stories, and present that great favorite of all times, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" which will appeal to all ages, juniors and seniors.

The delightful story of the lovable "Rebecca" who goes to live with her Aunts Miranda and Jane, her trials and tribulations, but how she finally wins her way into the hearts of all who know her, will prove fascinating theatrical fare for children's theatre audiences. An excellent cast has been assembled for the productions, which take place at Victoria Hall

Saturday afternoon, Jan. 14th and 21st.

Denise Leroux, a great favorite who will be remembered for her delightful portrayal of "Snow-White", will be seen in the January 14th. production as the lovely little Rebecca, and for the second show, Helen Liberman, who has already done some splendid work with the Children's Theatre, will be seen in the title role. Other young thespians include: Elizabeth Kraminer, Gloria Wolfe, Joanne Boyver, Brenda Schneckenburger, Corinne Copnick, Sandra Stoll, Barbara Hamill, Gertrude Gordon, George Kasatchenko, David Iuck, Donald Mendleman, and guest artist Walter Wakefield. Tickets should be secured immediately.

Scene From "Rebecca"

"I'll tell you a story," says Rebecca to her playmates as the two aunts look on with disgust. Helen Liberman as Rebecca in the barrel and David Luck, Sandra Stoll, Joanne Boyer and Brenda Schneckenburger as her friends; Gertrude Gordon and Elizabeth Kraminer as the two aunts are part of the cast.

WHY ETUDES? (PART 11) Educational Series 1949-1950. No. IV

After studying etudes in the preliminary stages a pupil is preparing a technique that will enable him to cope with progressive mechanical problems. Finger dexterity is not acquired without conscientious practice coupled with intensive concentration and a willingness to persevere. Diligent people who are not gifted musically but intelligent can acquire a better technique than a lazy musical person and people often wonder why a talented child who has been highly praised does not develop as was expected or predicted. They probably stopped working as is so often the sad case with many gifted people.

Following the first steps and passing on to the intermediate degree the student will be rewarded by his progress and ultimately arrive at the stage of playing such beautiful etudes that they are in reality concert numbers. We remember writing in these columns that the late Henry T. Finck, renowned author and music critic, when asked after thirty years of reviewing concerts in New York City what the most popular piano pieces were on recital programs of famous artists answered immediately, "The Chopin Etudes and 'Liszt Rhapsodies'".

One cannot arrive at the Chopin Etudes without a technique and a technique means all that relates to skill and dexterity in performance. One cannot play a fast piece at the required speed by simply working on that particular number. The player has to have a certain amount of mechanical skill at his command.

The Forty-Eight Preludes and Fugues by Johann Sebastian Bach are really examples of finger independence par excellence and could be called "etudes" since all types of pianistic study can be found in them. And now we come to the goal of most piano students, the celebrated Chopin Etudes. Chopin himself was a great teacher and it will be found on record by Carl Mikuli, one of his most famous pupils who edited all of his works, that he insisted on the practice of etudes and gave the following to all his students in this order, Cramer Etudes, Clementi's "Gradus ad Parnassum", Moscheles' "Finishing Studies in Style", Bach's French and English Suites and some of the Preludes and Fugues from Bach's "Well-Tempered Clavichord".

Each of Chopin's celebrated Etudes deals with a certain technical problem throughout but is done with such genius that each study is a wonderful concert piece. Each is a sparkling gem that delights all music lovers, whether performers or listeners and many of the most popular (they are all popular) have since become known by titles that were added by others, such as the great "Revolutionary" which is a left hand study, the "Butterfly" a contrast between staccato and legato, "The Winter Wind" requires endurance and strength, "The Aeolian Harp" very light accompaniment to the melody note and the "Black Key Etude" is just what its name implies, a study on the black notes of the piano. Space does not permit details of more or all of them. After or with the study of the Chopin masterpieces come the formidable Liszt "Etudes Transcendantes" which require a very advanced technique and power. In a later article we will tell you more about the Chopin and Liszt numbers.

May we offer this advice: The student should not be discouraged if he cannot play the "Etudes" that he wants to at the present moment but let him strive to attain his goal by diligent and gradual progress and he will arrive at the summit of his capabilities.

Next Week: Observe the Audience!

To our numerous readers who expressed their appreciation by letter and telephone regarding our "Educational Series", many, many thanks. — F. G.

and consequently does not wear well. Very few younger comics seem to last. They come with a big splash but soon fade beneath the waters again. There are very few exceptions. Even so young a comic as Red Skelton has been in Hollywood eleven years.

The style in glamor girls seems rather constant, too. Gloria Swanson will be one of 1950's biggest successes in "Sunset Boulevard". She was already a star for Mack Sennett in 1916. Constance Bennett has over a quarter century of celluloid to look back on, and sister Joan bowed on the screen 21 years ago. Loretta Young, despite her girlish looks, will soon celebrate her 25th year in pictures. Hedy Lamarr took that famous nude swim in "Ecstasy" 15 years ago. Katherine Hepburn made "A Bill of Divorcement" 17 years ago.

This apparently proves the fallacy of clichés anent public fickleness. The public is just a great big sentimentalist, loyal to its favorites, liberal with criticism yet conservative in choice.

Which doesn't make it too easy for the newcomers to get a break in pictures.

Westmount 'B' Pucksters Win

Westmount High In Bonspiel

For the first time in the history of curling Westmount High School will compete in the Canadian bonspiel, which this year will be held in Quebec City, January 18-20.

Also competing will be a rink from Cedar Park High School, Pointe Claire.

The Westmount rink has been instructed by Prof. C. M. McKergow, of the Westmount Heather Club on Kensington avenue. Ian Rutherford, Norbert Hersen, Ron Williams and Mike Fish make up the Westmount High School quartet.

W. J. (Bill) Bethune, Montreal, regional director for the meet, said that he had hoped to get more than two schools lined up, and he intimated that there is a possibility that Caledonia might sponsor a school rink, but in any event the regional director thinks it's a good start and augurs well for the future of school curling in Montreal and district.

In Winnipeg curling is a big sport amongst the schools with a schoolboy's bonspiel being one of the features of the winter season.

Heather will be represented in the bonspiel at Quebec with a rink entered in section 2. The players on the Heather rink are Dr. G. P. Novinger, skip; A. H. Mercer, third; W. Soper, second; W. C. Bryce, lead.

Heather qualified by beating a Caledonia rink skipped by Quentin Miller.

LEAGUE BADMAN

Even though he failed to get a single penalty last week, Gus Mortsón, Toronto defenseman, remains the League's "Bad Man". Gus has spent 80 minutes in the "poker" this season. Toronto Maple Leafs are the most penalized club with a total of 431 penalty minutes.

Defeat Commercial High 4-3 In 1950 Inaugural

By ALLAN SANDZELIUS

Hello, again! I'm back to give all of you the lowdown on local High School sports from now 'till spring; so grab your hats and hold on tight; here goes:

Westmount Senior High started the new year right last Monday afternoon at the Forum when coach D. N. McRae's Senior "B" aggregation nosed out Commercial High in a fast game of hockey to the tune of 4-3.

Following a fairly choppy first stanza, in which there was no scoring, Westmount opened up full blast and made it 3 in a row as Bob Sherlock dribbled one in from the stick of Mike Barnard after about two minutes of play in the second frame, closely followed by a quick shot by Barnard from Jim Beaton and Sherlock. A few minutes later it was Milton's turn as he banged one past the Commercial netminder from a pass by Barnard.

Then Commercial woke up to tally thrice and tie up the play on quick shots by Cherry, Kirstein, and Kelly (a former Westmount Junior student), the three of whom, by the way, scored only while local badmen were serving time in the penalty box.

Barnard Gets Winner

The winning marker for Westmount was finally scored by "guiding light" Barnard on a pass from Beaton a few minutes before the cessation of "hostilities." Westmount had the devious honour to lead in having 7 penalties as against 4 to Commercial High.

The next scheduled Senior "B" tussle—today at Lachine Arena; St. Leo's Academy vs. Westmount High.

Notes On Things

Turning now to other news, we find that Westmount High School plays host to Baron Byng High this afternoon at 4.00 p.m. in a Senior "A" basketball game that should be well worth seeing.

Also this afternoon at the Forum, Westmount's Senior "A" hockey squad tackle Catholic High in another sportive battle promising lots of action and thrills judging from pre-season exhibitions with Bro. Paul's sextet in which the locals were beaten 8-2 and 3-1!

SPORTQUIPS

Mike Barnard, Jim Beaton, Bobby Sherlock and a few others shaping up well for this year's Senior "B" hockey tournament . . . a newcomer from Ottawa, Jim (Red) Lowe, destined to make a name for himself in local hoop-la circles . . . All-Star center Johnny Ferrabee back to handle scoring department in Senior "A" puck chasing squad as only hold-over with coaching to be handled by McGilligan Meagher . . . Westmount making plans to enter a curling rink in the Dominion inter-high school championships with the team to be coached by Heather's Prof. C. M. MacKergow.

St. Louis Anglers To Meet Tuesday

Lake St. Louis Anglers will hold their first general meeting of the year next Tuesday in the Lachine High School Auditorium. Since this is also an annual meeting a very full programme is planned.

The guest speaker, Gustave Prevost, Director of the Biological Bureau, is one of the foremost biologists in Canada. He plans to illustrate his talk with actual specimens and pictures.

Prizes for the 1949 Big Fish Contest will be presented at this meeting. An election of officers for the year 1950 will also be held. The financial statement will be presented to the members and the retiring president, Paul Trepanier, will give a resume of the accomplishments of Lake St. Louis Anglers for the year.

Replacement and improvements in 1948 on the Canadian Pacific Railway, totalled 3,069,987 ties laid, 330 miles of new rail and 430 miles of ballast.

School Cross Country Meet this Saturday

The first school cross country ski meet of the year is scheduled for Mount Royal this Saturday, Jack Lang, the man behind the gun in the Secondary Schools Athletic Association, announced this week. Starting time has been set for 10.00 o'clock.

Competitors will be divided into four classes according to age on September 1, 1949. Class 1: under 14. Class 2: under 15. Class 3: under 16. Class 4: under 19.

MORE MAYHEM ON ICE

For the first time in the 1949-50 hockey season, Monsieur Maurice Richard, idol of a million-and-a-half Montreal hockey fans, lost his temper and his head as a result of a series of circumstances which included continuous heckling by New York's intrepid defenceman Gus Kyle and diminutive forward Tony Leswick, the fact that the beloved Canadiens were losing the game to the Rangers and their grasp on second-place in the N.H.L. standings as well, and an unfortunate slump by Mons. Richard, which has seen the high-scoring right wing able to connect only once in the previous ten games, after starting off the year at a record-breaking clip. All this came about last Saturday night at the Forum, when the Broadway Blueshirts clipped Montreal, 3-1, breaking a second-place tie in the league race.

Apparently fed up with acrobatic miracles by the amazing Charley Rayner, close checking by Leswick, and a solid diet of thumping bodychecks by the huge Kyle, Richard, who seems to feel that he should score every time he condescends to set foot on the ice, blew up in much a similar manner as he did in the playoffs against Toronto a couple of seasons back, after an hour of leech-like checking by Vic Lynn and Bill Ezlinicki. Mons. Richard parted the hair of those two worthy gentlemen with the business end of his hockey stick that night, and probably would have done the same to Leswick after the game Saturday had he been able to. The Rocket made no move for Kyle, realizing what a tactical mistake such an endeavour would have been, and recognizing the probable results of an encounter with the husky Ranger defenceman.

Anyway, the net result of the hockey weekend is that Dick Irvin's charges are back in third place and if there are many more displays on their part such as Saturday night's, Montreal had better get ready for a toboggan ride to the bottom of the hill.

COMEBACK ON THE GREENS

The word spread among the golfers at Los Angeles' swank Riviera Club last week before the start of the expensive Los Angeles Open tournament — "Hogan's back". Then "Hogan shot a 72." Then "Hogan shot a 71." Finally, the big day came. Bantam Ben, fully recovered from a near fatal auto accident last February, teed off on the first hole along with a score of other big-name golfers. For the first nine holes, he looked like the Hogan of old. He went out in a 34, and his drives were never better, his iron shots never crisper, and his putting was so good it looked as if the ball was on a string. But Ben tired then, and slipped to a 73 for the round.

Saturday, he was back again in a 34 for the first nine, looking better than ever. Hogan was back definitely, and now the average touring golfer had something extra to worry about.

THAT HORSE IS BACK

Citation, Warren Wright's great four-year old is back in shape again, pointing for the rich Santa Anita Derby in a couple of weeks. The leading three-year-old money winner of all time, and possibly the best piece of racing horseflesh of them all, ran a spectacular mile under the sunny California skies a week ago today, and he never looked faster or sleeker.

A win in the Santa Anita race and a couple of other triumphs will put Citation ahead of Assault and Armed as the leading money-winner of all time. That is what Wright and Trainer Ben Jones are aiming for.

N.H.L. Notes

New York Rangers had two wins and a draw during the week, while Detroit Red Wings suffered two setbacks, and as a result Rangers moved to within eight points of the league-leading Red Wings. Detroit has 48 points, Rangers have 40, Montreal Canadiens have 37, Boston Bruins have 34, Toronto Maple Leafs have 33 and the sixth-place Chicago Black Hawks have 30 points.

Sid Abel, veteran Detroit center, moved closer to his linemate Ted Lindsay during the past seven days as he picked up two goals and two assists for four points and hiked his point total up to 40. Lindsay, premier point producer in the loop for most of the current campaign, is still perched on top with 17 goals and 25 assists for 42 points. Abel has 18 goals and 22 assists.

In 1933, against all odds, a Canadian ski team blazed to Alpine victory!

Gusts of snow swirled around the mountains at St. Moritz, Switzerland. It was the day of the relay race in the International University Ski Championships. And for the first time Canada was competing . . . racing against many of western Europe's finest skiers.

The Canadian Ski Championships, together with events of the North American and International University Championships will be held this year at Banff from Feb. 4 to March 5.

The unfamiliar Alpine snow took its toll of the Canadians. The fourth-lap skier lagged eight minutes behind the leading Italian teams . . . and faced a steep 1,800-foot climb. But at the storm-blown summit amazed officials saw him sweep in—only 30 seconds behind the leaders. With half a minute to make up, the fifth Canadian streaked into the last lap—a 3,000-foot plunge into the valley. He flashed past the favourites one by one . . . and crossed the line a winner by 45 seconds!

Good sportsmanship has won many world friends for Canada . . . just as the spirit of working together has made us one of the world's great nations. These two, sportsmanship and enterprise, keep your opportunities for work and play in Canada . . . unlimited.

Hyman Grover Is Re-elected

Hyman Grover was re-elected president of the Temple Emanu-El, Westmount, at the annual dinner meeting of the congregation on Monday night, held in the Temple Community House.

Other officers named were Irving Tarshis, first vice president; William Gittes, second vice president; David G. Jassby, honorary treasurer; George Hollinger, honorary secretary; Arthur Simon, honorary president; Dr. Abraham Bercovitch and Charles N. Sommer, honorary trustees; and Jack Carrick and Colin Spiegel, trustees elected.

Trustees whose term of office has not expired include Henry Bersono, Garner Bornstein, Edward Garfinkle, Eugene Stearns, Arthur Pascal and Harry Horn.

President Grover called upon the membership to unite wholeheartedly in an all-out effort to meet the needs of the growing congregation, and to make possible a greater Temple Emanu-El, in which will be accommodated the Temple program of worship, education and social activities.

Warns Against Catastrophe

Dr. Harry Stern paid tribute to the splendid lay leadership of the Temple and stressed "that there never was a more propitious time for the message of liberal Judaism than the present."

He urged a renewed religious attitude at a time when the world is shadowed by catastrophe. Dr. Stern said that it seemed to be agreed that "fundamental to the causes of this world threatening disaster is the loss of man's grip on religion."

Journalistic Honors To Late R. S. White

sent are honoured by inclusion in this group of greats.

Charles Bishop, Grattan O'Leary and Henri Bourassa are the only living persons of the ten honoured.

McGill Offers Extension Courses

Many Westmount residents will be interested to learn that McGill University, Department of University Extension, will hold evening courses commencing around the 27th of January in the following subjects: Montreal's Music — 1950, Weekend Explorers, Understanding Ourselves, Building and Equipping a Home, Annua's and Perennials in the Flower Garden, Your Home—and its Furnishings, The History and Appreciation of Art, The Old Testament as Literature, and Program Emphasis in Organized Camping.

For full information regarding these courses those interested should phone the University Extension Department which is located in Dawson Hall in the east wing of the Arts Building, phone number MA. 9181, loc. 304.

Scottish Schools to Hold Burns Supper

All Scotchmen residing in Westmount are reminded that the annual Burns Supper of the Scottish Schools Club will be held on Saturday night January 28 in the Mount Royal Hotel.

David Sim, Deputy Minister, Department of National Revenue, customs and excise divisions, will propose a toast to "to the immortal memory."

Mr. Sim, who was born in Scotland is considered an authority on the works of Robert Burns. His subject will be "Burns the Excise-man."

Information concerning tickets can be obtained from D. Kidd, EL. 6995.

SANITARY SERVICE

Nothing is more discouraging than to find lipstick on a cup or grease on a knife or fork when you visit a restaurant. You are entitled to clean, sanitary service and should insist on it. Unclean service is unhealthy service. Patronize the eating places where cleanliness is the by-word.

Motorists Advised To Get Rule Book

Westmount Police Department advises all motorists to obtain a copy of the new 50 page pamphlet summarizing driving laws in the Province of Quebec which has just been issued.

Provincial Treasurer Onesime Gagnon stated that the publication was made at the suggestion of several chambers of commerce and accident preventing associations.

The pamphlet is designed to give car-owners a better knowledge of circulation and driving laws in order to prevent accidents, Mr. Gagnon said.

It will be distributed in French and English to car owners when they buy their 1950 licenses.

ABBOTT NOT IN FAVOR CIVIL SERVICE RAISE

The Hon. D. C. Abbott, Finance Minister, told a Civil Service Federation delegation on Friday that economic conditions in Canada have not changed sufficiently in the last year to warrant an upward revision of civil service salaries.

He was prepared, however, to consider possible salary revisions for any classes in the public service whose salaries could be shown to compare unfavorably with similar lines of endeavor in private industry.

Mr. Abbott however told the delegation that the views expressed were his own and did not necessarily represent the viewpoint of the government.
