HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Strange place, Hollywood. A guy like Vincent Edwards can hang around for 10 years with scant success, then suddenly become the hottest thing in town.

Edwards always seemed to be one of those actors who would never quite make it. Ben Casey has changed all that.

He's now sitting on top of the world, turning down contracts and publicity he would have jumped at six months ago. The rigors of doing an hour TV series precludes almost everything else.

Brooklyn-born, Edwards was brought to Hollywood to play the athlete in Come Back, Little Sheba. That's when he met head-on the figure that may have held back his career: Burt Lancaster.

"I was supposed to do the picture when Humphrey Bogart was going to play the male lead," said Edwards, whose acting idol was and is the late Bogart.

IS TOO SIMILAR
"When Burt Lancaster got the role instead, they decided that I was too similar to be in the same picture. So I sat around for two years doing nothing."

After he was dropped by Hal Wallis, Edwards was signed by

Seven Thetford boys Receive Queen Scout Badges

THETFORD MINES — The fifth annual father and son banquet, sponsored by the First Thetford Troop Boy Scouts Committee, was held in the Parish Hall of St. John the Divine Church, Fathers, Scouts, Cubs and invited guests totalled 127. Among the guests were Rev. Canon M. H. W. Seeley, Rev. Canon Sydney Meade and Rev. E. R. Hay.

Highlight of the evening was the presentation of seven Queen Scout badges to the following members of the troop: Peter Bourne, Robert Coleman, Claude Michaud, George Moad, Lorne Mooney, Jackie Smith, and to Alex Steele, in absentia.

In the absence of the Chairman, F. P. Hodgson, W. K. MacLeod, Jr., presided. Mr. MacLeod pointed out in his remarks that such a large number of Queen Scouts from the Thetford Troop reflected very favourably on the caliber of the leadership and instruction given by Scoutmaster, G. W. Riley and his assistants.

The badges were presented to the Queen Scouts by W. K. MacLeod, Sr., a trustee of the Thetford Scouts Organization, who congratulated the boys on their fine efforts. Later on this spring a formal investiture at the hands of the Lt. Governor of the Province will take place in Quebec City.

ADDITIONAL HONORS
The First Thetford Troop gained additional honors during the past year. The boys receiving a pennant for distinction at the Green Mountain Jamboree, where they had previously won a Presidential Citation. An award was also presented by the Quebec Provincial Council of the Boy Scouts Association to the troop for its superior outdoor training program.

It was reported that the present strength of the troop was 63, made up of 33 Scouts and 30 Wolf Cubs, the largest enrolment to date.

Clarence Kenney, badge secretary, reported that during the year a total of 128 proficiency badges were awarded to members of the Wolf Cub Pack and the Boy Scout Troop.

Mr. MacLeod, Sr., announced a Memorial Trophy in the name of the former Scoutmaster, Skipper Bateman, is to be established in recognition of the fact that the troop will be observing its 30th anniversary in March. The late Sydney Bateman had guided the destinies of the Thetford Scouts for many years.

Magog life normal again after weekend pageant

MAGOG — (Special) — Life is back to normal at Magog after a weekend packed with events held in connection with the community's winter pageant, of 1962.

The event was held over from February 24th and 25th because of a severe snow storm. Organizers didn't let the poor weather interrupt Saturday and Sunday's heavy programme, held mainly on the frozen surface of Lake Memphremagog.

Officials estimated that over 6,000 people attended the festivities.

All day Saturday this centre was in a holiday mood, a suitable prelude to the evening's activities which commenced when members of the Abenakis Tribe from the Odanak Reserve near Nicolet, Quebec, enacted their famous fire ritual.

Chief Mat-te-kua called for top of Mount Orford, but the sixty foot blaze was hidden by fire, which was to be seen at the heavy snow storm that lasted throughout the weekend.

While waiting for fire from top of Mt. Orford to reach the lake site, four of 1962's bathing suit fashions were modelled by Miss Soney Bilodeau, of Coaticook, Miss Canadiana Textile of 1961, Ida Simard of Magog, described the swimwear.

Georges Coallier, a Montreal policeman, and former Canadian barrel jumping champion, demonstrated his skill before a huge crowd that gathered for the celebration.

Following another short display of Indian dancing by the Abenakis, singing which was joined in by the crowd, and entertainment on a stage was held while waiting for the fire.

A cavalcade arrived with dignitaries, including Emilien Lafrance, Quebec's minister of family and social welfare; Magog's Mayor Ernest Simard; Mayor Armand Nadeau, of Sherbrooke; Georges Vaillancourt, of Stanstead, MPP, and Rene Letourneau, MP, Stanstead County, and Miss Pouliot, first duchess representing Sherbrooke's 125th Anniversary Queen.

Following arrival of these dignitaries, Mayor Simard was made an honorary chief of the Abenakis Tribe, and danced in traditional fashion with the Indian guests.

At this point, the fire called for from the mountain arrived, carried by two dozen torch bearers. The leading torch was taken by Chief Mat-te-kua, who set first fire to a gigantic bonfire. In seconds flames were rising skyward, with hundreds of spectators forming a mammoth circle around the blaze.

Then music from a huge open air pavilion nearby on the ice attracted the spectators, who excitedly rushed in to witness the scheduled twist dance contest, and bartering competition, but both events were cancelled because of weather conditions, however.

Mayors Simard and Nadeau promptly started the dance, and proved that they too could execute the twist. The seven piece orchestra in attendance held a large crowd until 11 p.m., when celebrations ceased until early Sunday morning.

Six o'clock Sunday an ice fishing derby started the second portion of the celebrations. Lucien Simard of Magog was first in the competition, winning the Molson fishing trophy. Gerald Doucet and Bernard Gendron were second and third, and each earned $25 in prizes.

At 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon the International Late Model Automobile Race, originated in 1957, was held for the second time. Leo Corriveau, of Magog, winner of the 1957 race again captured top honours, when he drove his 62 Pontiac around the icy course in 3 minutes and 19 seconds, to tie with Gaston Blanchet of Rock Forest.

A second try at the course saw Blanchet leave the road, allowing Corriveau an easy win. Following Corriveau and Blanchet, who won $200 and $100 respectively, in A-class, was Denis Joyal of Coaticook, with time of 3:19.3. Fourth place went to Glen McLeod of St. Johnsbury, Vt., whose time was 3:20. Ten cars were entered in A-class.

In B-class, which was completed by seven vehicles, Claude Metivier of Magog was first, winning $100. Noel Vien of Magog was second, and Fernand Beauvais of Sherbrooke third.

Study wells as a solution

The possibility that artesian wells may prove the answer to Sherbrooke's water problems was voiced in a report issued at the weekend by Ald. J. M. Jeanson, chairman of the special committee investigating the local water situation.

Ald. Jeanson said that as a result of a study carried out at London, Ont., and some American cities supplied by artesian wells, a survey locally revealed that certain areas in the vicinity of Lennoxville indicated geological formations favorable to the exploitation of artesian wells.

Options have been acquired on the properties and the International Water Supply Company, which developed the artesian wells for Lennoxville, had been engaged to make soundings and determine if the water basin was sufficiently large to meet Sherbrooke's needs.

Ald. Jeanson said that artesian wells had been used at London, Ont., for the past 50 years and had given complete satisfaction. London has a population of 165,000 and consumes about 24,000,000 gallons of water daily.

The report said the cost of developing and maintaining artesian wells was much lower than either of the alternate

Major-General Frank J. Fleury, CBE, ED, CD, General Officer Commanding Quebec Army Command, will pay an official visit to Sherbrooke March 8th, when he shall inspect the 8th Medical Company, RCAMC. He will be accompanied by Col. P. A. Costin, Command Medical Officer, and Col. R. E. G. Place, Commanding Officer of No. 1 Medical Battalion, Montreal.

Following the local medical unit's formal parade, these militiamen will stage a demonstration of national survival skills and battle procedures common to their corps.

The inspection is scheduled to commence at 8 p.m.

Not having undergone tank gunnery practice for the past three years, militiamen of The Sherbrooke Regiment, RCAC, and 7/XI Hussars Regiment RCAC, will go to Petawawa, Ontario on the weekend of March 24th and 25th, where they will have firing exercise.

This year's Canadian Red Cross Society drive in Sherbrooke was a success, and a fair share of the credit has gone to the Militia officers and other ranks for their help. The praise was given these part-time soldiers by Lt-Col. Earle P. Hall, CD, president of the local association, and former commander of The Sherbrooke Regiment RCAC.

This past weekend the Magog D-Company of Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke RCIC played an important role in this city's winter pageant. Members of the company served as radiomen in maintaining overall control of the celebrations. Others acted as crowd control personnel.

Education Week

Various centres plan a number of programs

Many schools of the region have planned special programs in conjunction with Education Week, March 4-10.

Staff members and students of the Sunnyside School Rock Island, marked the beginning of the week by attending the worship service in Centenary United Church on Sunday. They were welcomed by Richard Wallace, Lawrence Tilton, Jr. and Terrance Soutiere.

The host pastor, Rev. A. M. Rose spoke on the works of Paul in Timothy Two. He gave a message of advice and inspiration to the parents, teachers and students.

In Waterville, the Compton-Waterville Intermediate School has organized a special program.

On March 6, grades nine and ten will visit the B. F. Goodrich plant. In the evening, Terry Crowley will represent the school at the Rotary Club's public speaking contest.

On Wednesday afternoon, the Cancer Society will show films with a doctor in attendance. Mothers are invited to attend.

Thursday evening an open house is planned by the school. This will include displays, public speaking, a debate, a play, and a panel discussion.

On Saturday, the last day of the week, the student's council will sponsor a tea in conjunction with a food sale put on by the Home and School Association.

Proclamations were issued by Mayor Armand Nadeau of Sherbrooke, and Mayor Ernest Gilbey, of Lennoxville.

In his statement, the Mayor said:

"In view of the important part education holds in the life and development of Canada, I believe that everyone should learn as much as possible about the growth and expansion of our system of primary and advanced schooling.

"The committee in charge of Education Week in this district has prepared a broad campaign designed to carry out this idea, embracing radio broadcasts, special newspaper articles and demonstrations and I urge all citizens to follow these with close attention so they may learn how the education problems are being met and conquered by our school authorities."

Mayor Gilbey noted:

"In a democracy, all of the people partake of the role of governing and, if they are to fill that role, they in their youth and in their later years, must be educated for it.

"If the people are not so educated, leaders, however, aspiring, will avail but little. There is now a race between education and disaster. The Canada of tomorrow is now being fashioned by the teachers in our schools.

"Looking to the future, we face two possibilities: the ending of this civilization or its final flowering and fulfillment in greater progress. This is no time to adopt a defeatist attitude but it is the responsibility of every Canadian to leap to his feet and do his part in making available to every person, young and old, educational facilities at all levels.

"As we again observe Education Week let each one of us take a keener interest in the work being carried out by School Boards, Teachers and Students. Through our participation in the educational program of our community will, I am sure come the solution to many of the problems frequently confronting those saddled with this great responsibility."

Woman hurt in accident

A 42-year-old Sherbrooke woman was taken to the hospital early this morning after a three car collision at the corner of Ontario and Dominion Streets in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. M. MacLeod, 361 Montreal Street, was taken to the Sherbrooke Hospital suffering from slight cuts to both legs.

The accident occurred about 8:30 this morning when a car owned by the G.E. Company, of Sherbrooke, and driven by Bernard Mercier collided with a car owned by J. S. Mitchell Company and driven by William Smith, of Malouin Street, police said.

Police said Smith was driving along Ontario Street and met Mercier at the intersection but was unable to stop because of slippery roads. The J. S. Mitchell car then rebounded into Mrs. MacLeod's car, police said.

Historical group meeting tonight

STANSTEAD — The winter meeting of the Stanstead Historical Society will be held this evening in the museum at 8 p.m.

Talks will be given by Joseph Mayheux on the Butterfield Company Foundry, E. J. Struthers, on Massawippi church history, Mrs. J. M. Williamson, the New Year's ball, and Mrs. W. H. McLean will present the custodian's report.

The president, J. D. Ferguson, invites all to come early to examine the increased number of historic exhibits.

Health Clinic

RICHMOND — (Special) — Richmond County health clinics for immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus and polio will be held at the following places this week:

Tuesday, Asbestos, St. Isaac parish, in basement of church, from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

Wed. Bromptonville, in the college gym from 2 to 3:30 p.m.

A common approach to a common goal

This week, one of the greatest concentrated attacks on the problems of primary and secondary education in Canada begins across the country.

Spearheading the attack is the Canadian Conference on Education which opened in Montreal today. More than 2,000 delegates from coast to coast are attending the conference to analyze a vast assortment of problems that range from teaching a second language in our schools to the social and financial status of teachers generally.

But the full burden of the attack is being carried out on the community level. Schools in every village, town and city are taking part in Education Week and the multitude of programs which it involves.

A large part of the Education Week program will be taken up with "open houses" at the school when parents are invited to see school systems and individual teachers in action. Other projects will include visits by students to industrial concerns, radio and television broadcasts and various types of school workshops. All schools in the Eastern Townships are participating heavily in the week's activities.

Parent apathy towards the problems of education used to be regarded as one of the worst evils of our education system. But it is difficult today to talk of parent apathy with any real degree of accuracy.

In recent years, as never before, parents, by and large, are aroused to concerns which once used to be regarded as exclusively the province of the educator. The growth and influence of Home and School associations over the past few years is the most spectacular proof of this.

In the process of bringing parents and education closer together, however desirable an end it may be, new problems and new conflicts have inevitably arisen.

One of the conflicts concerns areas of responsibility. How much is a teacher's responsibility for his pupils independent of a parents' and how far should it go? What is the legitimate role of parents' associations in determining or influencing educational policy, building programs and curriculum emphasis? These are the kinds of considerations that are commonly appearing at the community level, and there are few communities indeed that are entirely free of them.

In resolving these questions, positions on both sides vary greatly, not only over the broad spectrum of education, but also on individual issues, and an intimate mutual understanding on both sides must be striven for if bad feelings and educational disarray are to be prevented.

The goal of both parents and teachers is essentially the same, and Education Week, this year more than ever, provides a further opportunity for molding an integrated community approach to this common end.

A doctor says most people weigh more in the winter than in the summer. Could it be from heavy colds?

Is testing in atmosphere necessary?

President Kennedy's announcement that the United States intends to resume testing of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere in the latter part of April unless the Soviet Union agrees to a firm disarmament arrangement, complete with control provisions, is yet another indication of the U.S. president's policy of taking the initiative in Cold War politics whenever possible.

The initiative taken in this instance represents a clear challenge to Mr. Khrushchev to "put up or shut up," and the hope is that Mr. Khrushchev will "put up."

The free world fervently wishes that the hope will be fulfilled, and perhaps it will. But it is unlikely. The inspection which Mr. Kennedy demands is the one issue, of all the disarmament considerations, to which the Russians have remained firmly in opposition, and there is little reason to believe that a threat of American resumption of nuclear testing will cause them to experience a change of heart.

There is, after all, another possible Russian response to Mr. Kennedy's challenge, and that is for Russia to announce that she, too, will resume testing in the atmosphere once the United States does. For Mr. Khrushchev, it would appear to be the most desirable answer. And so the mad race goes on.

American prestige, more than anything else, appears to be what is at stake, and while no one would underestimate the power of prestige in the battle of ideologies, the manner which has been chosen to boost the American variety must be deplored.

The United States is the strongest technological power in the world — financially, technically, temperamentally. Defence experts in the United States are reported currently concerned over the development of an anti-missile missile to shoot down attacking intercontinental missiles. They fear the giant series of Russian tests last fall has put the United States behind in this respect, and they wish to catch up.

There can be no quarrel with this aim. Balance of power is the touchstone of world peace in the present situation. But are nuclear tests in the atmosphere necessary to achieve this goal?

It is difficult, if not impossible, to believe that the United States, with its vast and sophisticated technical resources, cannot devise ways to develop necessary defensive weapons and systems without resorting to actual atmospheric explosions.

Even March slush is late this year

Most years, the slush of March is endured with good grace and even with happiness. It marks the approach of spring, and the breaking of winter's grip.

But this year, even the slush is late. Instead, we have received sub-zero weather, blizzards, hard-icy roads and more sub-zero weather.

Where, oh, where is that warming sun, those melting breezes and our slush?

Will the sweet sap ever flow in the maple bushes? While the captive brooks ever be released from their bonds of ice? Will the crocuses ever bloom?

Nature being what she is, we at least know that all of these things will, indeed, happen, no matter how stubborn winter appears to be. And there have been a few (very few) signs and portents.

In a sheltered corner of a downtown parking lot the other day where the rays of the sun shone for an hour or two during the early afternoon, a small puddle of water formed. It was dirty, and froze quickly by the time the 5 o'clock rush hour had formed, but its very appearance was heartening.

The days are shorter, although it has been difficult to notice this in a driving snowstorm.

The harbingers of spring are with us, all right. You just have to look harder than usual to find them.

Pro-fluoridation organizations plead case to Royal Commission

By JACK BEST

VANCOUVER (CP) — Pro-fluoridation groups vented their frustrations at the Alberta-British Columbia hearings of the royal commission on health services.

The fluoridation question and the control and cost of drugs were the two principal themes of the two weeks of hearings in Edmonton, Victoria and Vancouver.

Another highlight was a charge by CCF-NDP leader Robert Strachan of British Columbia that the medical profession has established a political action fund to fight against a national health plan for Canada. The charge was denied by the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association.

The seven-member commission headed by Saskatchewan's Chief Justice Emmett Hall now has gone across the country and visited eight provinces in its inquiry into the health needs of Canadians.

To come are public hearings in Ottawa, opening March 19, in Quebec City and Montreal in April and in Toronto in May. Finally there may be a set of rebuttal hearings back in Ottawa toward the end of spring.

A succession of health organizations, led by dental groups, pleaded at the Alberta-B.C. hearings for federal action to break down the barriers to fluoridation — the program of adding fluorides to community water supplies to fight tooth decay.

These organizations insisted that the water-treatment process is safe, cheap and capable of cutting dental decay among children by 60 per cent.

Through their presentations ran a note of discouragement and often bafflement at the kind of opposition they have to buck — feelings that sympathetic commission members seemed to share.

They complained that opponents of fluoridation scare the public without offering scientific evidence to support their case. "Their propaganda has been much more effective than the educational material we have been distributing," said Dr. Douglas Yeo, a spokesman for the B.C. Dental Association.

Dr. L. K. Brooks, past-president of the Alberta Dental Association, offered this description of how opponents work: "A reputedly responsible individual tells the people, 'Take a fluoride ion and if you are pregnant you will abort; if you are an older person you will grow bald; no matter who you are, you might get cancer.'"

Gallstones, arthritis, cancer, fallen arches and even housemaid's knee were other maladies the commission was told are attributed by anti-fluoridation groups to fluorides.

The commission was also told that fluoridation opponents have been particularly successful in reaching the elderly and the poorer classes and that, paradoxically, it is the children of the poor who most need fluoridation.

There was criticism of provincial laws requiring that a fluoridation plebiscite carry by a two-thirds majority in Alberta and a three-fifths majority in B.C.

In British Columbia only nine communities with 3.2 per cent of the population had voted to fluoridate their water while 25 others had rejected it. In Alberta 16 of 29 communities where plebiscites had been held turned it down.

The commission heard from one group opposed to fluoridation. The Vancouver branch of the National Health Federation claimed the process can "damage" up to 20 per cent of the nation's children and that it "abrogates each person's right to decide for himself what shall be done to his own body."

The question of how to control drugs and their cost came up repeatedly. The Alberta government said a federal agency should be established to bring down prices—not through price-fixing but simply by throwing a spotlight on the cost-revenue position of individual drugs. Alberta also charged there is no price competition in drugs at the retail level.

The B.C. Pharmaceutical Association said much of the public criticism of mounting drug costs is unjustified. These had gone up less than the over-all cost-of-living index. The criticism actually amounted to criticism of increased use of drugs.

The B.C. Medical Association said many "so-called" new drugs appearing on the market are reissues of established preparations, "sometimes in shot-gun combinations with each other, in a new guise and under a catchy new name." It said the federal food and drug directorate should have facilities to control quality and reliability of all drugs sold in Canada.

Canada's policy taking shape

Nuclear truth moment nearer

OTTAWA — The exchanges in the House of Commons over Canada's nuclear policy have not put the problem in crystal clear terms.

If anything, a close reading would be apt to leave the reader more confused than before.

But the evidence, and the conclusions of informed sources, suggest that:

(A) The Government does have a policy on the acquisition of nuclear warheads from the United States;

(B) The Government has reached an agreement, or at least an understanding with Washington on the control of the warheads; and

(C) Security considerations and/or international implications in this month's disarmament negotiations at Geneva, prevent the Prime Minister from taking the nation into his confidence.

One way and another, however, the moment of truth is at hand.

For the 28 Bomarc-B missiles which comprise our North Bay Bomarc squadron — one of two in Canada, as part of our NORAD commitment — have nearly all been delivered, or may all have been delivered.

Any discussion about bringing the warheads for the Bomarc from some point in the United States in the event of war is "utter nonsense," in the words of authorities on these matters. There simply wouldn't be time.

It follows, some form of agreement or arrangements for storing the warheads on Canadian soil — at the two Bomarc bases — and releasing them to the custody of the Canadians operating the Bomarc must have been worked out. Maybe not yet signed . . . but at least worked out.

It's hard to escape the feeling that semantics plays a big part in the Government statements.

There had been silence for months on the nuclear issue. But in Edmonton, it cropped up at a press conference with Prime Minister Diefenbaker. The PM declared that Canada will not acquire nuclear warheads so long as disarmament is being seriously discussed. But he also made it clear that if nuclear war comes, Canadians will defend Canada with nuclear weapons.

The Opposition invited Mr. Diefenbaker to amplify his stand—and he obliged. He reiterated the Government's policy that nuclear warheads will not come to Canada unless Canada can secure "joint control" with the United States over the warheads.

He added, however, this puzzling rider: that as American law now stands, joint control is "impossible."

The Opposition asked the Prime Minister to comment on the opinion of an American military source that nuclear warheads shipped from the U.S. to Canada after the war breaks out, would be of no use.

No, sir said the Prime Minister, there would be no comments from him on "a matter as important as this," on the basis of some anonymous individual's opinion.

Then Liberal Paul Hellyer (Toronto Trinity) asked whether a "secret agreement" exists between Washington and Ottawa for the provision of nuclear warheads.

The Prime Minister declined to answer him.

The Opposition bore in again. Paul Martin (Lib.-Essex East) asked whether Canada has an agreement with the U.S. "to assure the delivery to Canada of nuclear warheads, either before or after the outbreak of war."

No agreement exists, the PM replied, and no "immediate discussions" are going on with the U.S. on the matter.

So on the one hand, we're going to have nuclear weapons for a nuclear war, and on the other, we haven't reached "agreement" on getting them into Canada.

There have been two signs in the Commons that Canada is making ready to accept nuclear warheads . . . should the time come.

The first: An official admission that no non-nuclear warhead has been developed for the Bomarc-B missile. It would carry a nuclear warhead or none at all.

The second: An admission that storage facilities for nuclear warheads have already been constructed at the North Bay Bomarc base, and are under way at our second Bomarc base, at La Macaza, Que.

It would appear that a system of joint control acceptable to the laws of the U.S. has already been worked out.

This may be the U.S.—British "two-key," or "double-veto," system, involved with the firing of U.S. Thor intermediate range missiles from British bases. The warhead remains in American control, but cannot be fired unless a British officer and an American officer each turns a key.

This satisfies American law — the McMahon Act, which states that the U.S. must keep custody of its nuclear weapons—and it also satisfies Britain's demand for joint control. (TNS).

to study loan legislation

Plan extended provisions

By JAMES NELSON

OTTAWA (CP) — The small business man, farmer of fisherman who wants to borrow money to improve his plant, property or gear will be in the Commons spotlight this week.

Finance Minister Fleming plans to ask the House today to pass legislation extending present government-backed loans. When passed, they will:

1. Make small business loans available at 25,000 interest rates for regular business premises, as well as for new buildings or improvements to old ones.

2. Permit the granting of 50,000 five-per-cent loans to farmers for another three-year period extending to the end of June, 1965, and authorize a limit of $400,000,000 instead of $300,000,000 on total loans outstanding.

3. Permit a similar extension of the life of the Fisheries Improvement Loans Act to the end of June, 1965.

DISCUSSED EARLIER

The small business loans bill was before the House for about an hour Feb. 15. H. W. Herd (CCF—Kootenay West), now House leader of the CCF, now Democratic Party group, endorsed it as a measure to help promote "legitimate and socially desirable free enterprise."

Liberal MPs spoke in favor of the bill, but said it did not go far enough. William M. Benidickson (L—Kenora—Rainy River), said the measure was supposed to have meant an expansion in small business credit by $300,000,000, but only $23,000,000 was taken up last year.

The Farm Improvement Loans Act gives a government guarantee to bank loans for purchase of implements, livestock, equipment, farm electric systems, irrigation systems, building construction and alteration, fencing and drainage.

Labor Minister Starr said earlier this session the farm improvement loans have been important in the winter works program. Last winter $3,500,000—an increase over the previous year of 53 per cent—was taken up in loans by farmers.

TOTALLED $19,000,000

Combined with home improvement loans under the National Housing Act, they brought to $19,000,000 the amount of credit extended by the banks for this kind of winter work, he said.

The Fisheries Improvement Loans Act is a parallel piece of legislation to the farm improvement loans, but members representing fishing communities have expressed disappointment in the extent to which it is used.

Finance Minister Fleming has said that fishermen seem to go to other sources of credit and Chesley W. Carter (L—Burin—Bourgeois) said the government should establish a separate small loans board for fishermen.

"The ranks have shown themselves to be extremely reluctant to make loans to fishermen," he said.

The loans bills are expected to be included in the government's program of work for the first three days of this week, Thursday and Friday, according to a custom which is becoming established under the Commons rules, probably will be devoted to departmental appropriations.

close to the ancient Casbah Moslem quarter.

One explosion after another boomed away in the darkness, littering the streets with merchandise, doors, windows and shattered glass. The rattle of machine-gun fire could be heard in the background. French security forces turned out en masse and checked hundreds of passers-by and vehicles. They arrested for questioning 13 Europeans known to belong to gangs which use plastic bombs, the favorite weapon of the right-wing Secret Army Organization.

The bomb attacks came in the wake of three days of violence in Algeria in which 108 persons—about two-thirds of them Moslems—were killed and 170 were wounded. There also were numerous weekend thefts of money, arms and communications equipment.

Meanwhile, secret army gunmen were hunting today for the only man to defy a secret army ultimatum Sunday to Italian correspondents to leave Algeria or die.

GOES 'UNDERGROUND' — Nicolas Caraciolo, a Neapolitan nobleman—journalist, went "underground" Sunday night after being escorted to a press conference by a protective cordon of American, French and British reporters.

The secret army delivered the ultimatum Saturday because an Italian radio station described its leader, Raoul Salan, as a criminal and skunk. Salan was sentenced to death in absentia and stripped of his rank as general in the French Army for his rebel activities.

The organization's terrorists, most of them in gendarmes' uniforms, brazenly invaded the Hotel Aletti Sunday night in search of Caraciolo.

They left the hotel five minutes before 20 riot policemen burst in and trained tommyguns on guests. The riot police went through the hotel's 300 rooms checking identities.

Caraciolo shunned the advice of the Italian consul here to leave. The other 11 Italian reporters left after their head of lives told them not to risk their lives by staying.

A government spokesman said Sunday night Caraciolo had not asked for protection.

Only days remain before France and the Tunis-based insurgent Algerian provisional government are to sign a cease-fire.

therefore, if he has two applicants he will choose the man with the higher education and better qualification.

Consequently, the young man today, who may feel he wants to get away from his parents and be independent might leave school thinking he will get farther ahead if he has a steady job. Of course at the beginning he will feel he has advanced a great deal in the world and will scoff at the others who stayed behind, completing their education. More and more students graduate and then our chap who had left school has much competition. His employer is able to see right away which one can better fill the requirement. Now the man without a formal education is left without a job, little or no money and nothing to back him up.

Waterloo firm signs contract

WATERLOO — (Special) — After five meetings, the Croname Canada Limited of Waterloo signed March 2, a new contract with its employees, members of the United Metal Workers of America.

The new contract has been signed for one year from February 1962 to February 1963.

The two changes in the new contract are: an increase of five cents an hour across the board and a "closed shop".

The other conditions are the same as the contract signed last year: a 45 hour week; time and a half paid to anyone working more than nine and a half hours per day; six paid holidays per year; Good Friday, Dominion Day, St. John the Baptist, Labor Day and New Year's.

All employees with one to five years service will receive one week's paid holiday; from five to 20 years two weeks, and after 20 years three weeks.

Those who signed the contract for the Croname Canada Limited were Phil Bonnick, president of the company; Don Guy, superintendent and Gabriel Phaneuf, accountant. Those for the union were Ben Rainville, president; Andre Campbell, secretary; Warren Menner, vice-president and Wilfrid Hemond, treasurer.

At the regular meeting of the Coaticook School Commission, with Mr. Alvin Baldwin, president of the Home and School Association, present, the Commission gave approval for the use of the auditorium for the spring bazaar to be sponsored by the Carpet Bowling Club.

The United Church Women of Sisco Memorial Church has made plans for a number of events including, World Day of Prayer service, to be held on March 9 at 3 p.m. in the church, the annual St. Patrick's tea and bean supper, rummage sales in May and September, a food sale in June, and a Christmas sale and tea in November. In addition there will be the Easter Thankoffering meeting in April and the thankoffering meeting in October.

the same thing applies, although perhaps not to such an extent, to women today. Especially does it apply to those who are ambitious enough to want to become nurses, teachers or specialists of any kind. Even to those who only wish to become stenographers or home-makers, a high school education can only benefit the individual concerned.

Machinery also makes this education extremely important. Today the use of computers has taken the place of so many thousands of people that remaining jobs can only be taken by those who have had a good education. Even the machines themselves must be worked by experts.

And so, as the years go by, we can see that it is becoming more and more of a necessity to have a high school education.

cent on sundries.

"Be truthful," was Mr. Lafrance's comment, on advertising and promotions. He said false promotions would ruin the tourist trade.

Mr. Lafrance said a regional bureau to head the Townships' tourist industry is needed. He also stated there was a need for more and better accommodations, and a more complete general knowledge on the part of caterers as to what visitors want in the way of attractions. As an example, Mr. Lafrance singled out skiing, which he said is one of the biggest attractions this region has.

"First of all we must have an automobile," was Mayor Ernest Simard's remark, when called on to thank the speaker.

The banquet was organized by Magog's Chamber of Commerce, and presided over by the group's president Omer Girard, who was accompanied by his wife.

Enjoy carnival

QUEBEC (CP) — Thousands of tourists flooded Quebec City during the weekend to enjoy the fun and friendliness of the Winter Carnival. Police said more than 200 persons had to seek their help in trying to find some place to sleep. Most found a bed somewhere, but at least 30 ended up on cots or desks in city hall.

Physicist ill

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Nobel Laureate physicist Dr. Arthur H. Compton was reported in critical condition Sunday after suffering a stroke late Saturday. The 69-year-old scientist entered Alta Bates community hospital here Saturday because of dizziness and nausea, then suffered a cerebral hemorrhage at 4 p.m. and has been unconscious since, a University of California spokesman said.

At the regular meeting of the Coaticook School Commission, with Mr. Alvin Baldwin, president of the Home and School Association, present, the Commission gave approval for the use of the auditorium for the spring bazaar to be sponsored by the Carpet Bowling Club.

Balloon explodes

CHICO, Calif. (AP) — A gondola loaded with telescopic camera equipment dropped into deep mountain snow Sunday when a giant helium balloon exploded two hours after its launching in the U.S. Air Force's project Stargazer. The air force said the 400-foot high plastic bag exploded at about 42,000 feet altitude over the mountain town of Quincy. No reason for the explosion was known immediately.

Ships collide

SANDY HOOK, N.J. (AP) — The Gulf Oil Company tanker Jaguar collided with a barge in the Atlantic two miles from here Saturday night, slightly injuring one man aboard the barge. The U.S. Coast Guard said the injured man required no medical assistance and neither vessel was in any trouble after the collision.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

WHEN TO USE BACK-BID

When your opponents get together in a major suit contract, then stop at the two level, chances are that your side will have its fair share of the cards.

In such cases a back-bid is in order provided your partner will make allowance for the fact that your bid is based on the expectation that he will have support for you.

South's two spade bid is a perfect example of this. He passed twice and eventually bid two spades with a four-card suit because he was certain that North would have spade support.

Had West passed, North would have passed also, but when West went to three hearts North decided to try to push the enemy one higher. Actually he could have picked up 300 points with a double at the three level, but he did not know that.

South made his three spades easily. In fact, if the defense hadn't been good he might have made an overtrick, but at one stage of the play East led the ace and another trump.

CARD SENSE Q—The bidding has been: East South West North 1 Spade You, South, hold: Spades 2, Hearts A-K-Q-J-6-5, Diamonds A-K-Q-3-2, Clubs 2. What do you do? A—Bid two spades. You have the equipment of an opening two bid and want to be sure to reach game, or possibly a slam.

TODAY'S QUESTION West bids four spades and your partner doubles. What do you do now? Answer Tomorrow

Friends honor Beebe couple on anniversary

BEEBE — Approximately 150 persons gathered in the Plains Hotel, 23 to honor Mr. and Mrs. David Newlands on the occasion of their 25th wedding anniversary.

The couple was escorted to the Grill by Mr. and Mrs. George Buckland Jr., and upon arrival Mrs. Clinton Stratton presented her sister with a corsage of white carnations, and with a silver ribbon. A touching boutonniere was presented to Mr. Newlands.

The guests were welcomed by Salvatore Galazzo, who congratulated the couple. Best wishes were also extended by George Smith, of Montreal, former representative of Local 1000 I.A. of M. who was accompanied by Mrs. Smith.

On behalf of the many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Newlands, Clarence Nuthbrown presented them with a silver service and a purse of money. Mr. Newlands expressed the appreciation of both. The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to the music of Sal and His Border Mountaineers.

A buffet lunch was served from a table attractive with floral arrangements and lighted tapers in silver holders. The three-anniversary cake was cut by the bride and groom.

Guests attended from Montreal, Lennoxville and the surrounding communities.

Official visits Farnham Lions

FARNHAM — District Governor A. E. J. Sarto Egan of Quebec City, paid an official visit to the Lions Club, at a meeting held at the Montcalm Hotel.

Mr. Egan outlined the work of the Lions in the provinces and in 14 countries of the World. He said they had also set an example in opening their meetings with silent prayers for peace, which he felt sure would be answered.

Other guests present were International Councilor, George L. Blair, of St. Johns; Deputy District Governor N. Browning, of Cowansville; and A. Staples of the Knowlton Lions Club.

Planned program is postponed

BEDFORD — The monthly meeting of the St. James Church Women's Year was held in the parish hall.

Because of weather conditions a program originally arranged for the convener, Mrs. Ross Weston, had to be cancelled. This was a talk on the history of the Eastern Townships by J. J. Moore, of Fordyce. Members will have the pleasure of hearing Mrs. Moore at the April 17th meeting.

A sing-song, with Mrs. Harry Jones at the piano, was arranged for the first portion of the evening, followed by an interesting reading by Raymond Whitcomb dealing with the two Indian raids, which occurred in 1866 and 1870. Rev. F. Whitcomb was thanked by the rector, Rev. W. J. White.

The evening concluded with refreshments, hostesses being Mrs. F. E. Draper, Mrs. George Palmer and Mrs. Richard Craig.

Lent begins March 7

Fish is a real convenience

OTTAWA (CP) — With Lent beginning March 7, many home-makers will be buying and cooking more fish.

The most common fault in preparing fish is overcooking it, say home economists at the consumer branch of the fisheries department.

"Fish is really a convenience because of its short cooking time," said Margaret Myer, who heads the home economics section. But when it's overcooked it becomes dry and tough.

"It's easy to tell when fish is cooked because the color changes. White fish becomes much whiter and pink fish lessens in color. The flesh flakes readily and is easily pierced with a fork."

Like meat, some fish is processed in government-approved plants. Fish from these plants is stamped with a maple leaf. Fresh fish bears the label "Processed Under Government Supervision and frozen fish is marked "Canada Inspected."

GLAZED FILLETS
Among recipes developed in the test kitchen is this one for lemon glazed fillets:

Ingredients: 2 pounds fish fillets; 1 tsp. prepared mustard; 3 tbsps. lemon juice or juice of 1 lemon; 1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind; 1/4 cup brown sugar; 1 tsp. salt; thin lemon slices.

Cut fillets in serving size pieces. Marinate fillets for half an hour in mixture of mustard, lemon juice, lemon rind, brown sugar and salt. Place fillets on greased broiler rack and place two to four inches from heating unit. Brown one side of fillets. Turn, baste and brown the other. During the last few minutes of cooking time, top with lemon slices. The glaze should bubble and brown. Allow 10 minutes cooking time for each inch thickness for fresh fish. If fish is frozen, lower broiler rack in oven and double the cooking time. Makes six servings.

By EDNA BLAKELY

All species of freshwater fish can be used for the lemon glazed fillets. Probably the best known to homemakers are perch, pickerel, pike, smelt, trout and whitefish.

ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: This is really catching the bird early, I know. But last year, when a group of us went to Europe, you so graciously helped us with our travel wardrobe.

And, believe me, we followed your advice to a T. Now, we are planning another trip. And again, what shall we take is the important question. Will you help us a second time? The trip is almost six months away but there is nothing like being prepared in time. Thank you so very much.—Mrs. W. A. K.

Dear Mrs. W. A. K.: Indeed, I will be glad to help you again. And I'm so glad that everything worked out last summer. The circular you enclosed shows that you intend visiting Italy and Spain in the midsummer. This time, advice on what to wear comes from designer Ben Barrack, who says:

"Dry cleaning, laundry and pressing facilities will be very bad in the spots you plan to visit so concentrate on easily cared for dresses. The dress with the separate jacket will prove very useful, as will those jersey sheaths in a synthetic.

"Carry one large black or natural straw bag everywhere. Take scarves instead of hats for they can be used to dress up simple, slim jersey sheaths as well. Knot the scarf in a triangle with point hanging over one shoulder so that it creates a bit of protection. Take a print cotton raincoat and one simple, neutral cardigan.

"For the heat in both Italy and Spain, take sleeveless dresses, dresses with the easy A-line or permanently pleated skirts. Shorts are worn only on the Riviera. Thong sandals are worn for sight-seeing on the streets of Italy and are very comfortable.

"Take a short silk chiffon dress for dinner and evening wear as the fabric is packable and will hang out easily. A bathing suit for Ostia (Rome beach) and another for the Riviera would be a good idea."

Dear Gaile, I read your column with interest every week. Perhaps you can help me plan a wardrobe for a trip to Europe. What would be the minimum amount of clothes to take for a nine-week trip by car in Europe? We will fly to London on June 18th and leave Paris on August 25th for the return flight home.

I have a navy blue, three-piece knit suit trimmed in white or a gold wool suit for the plane. Which would be best? What other clothes should I take? Is it necessary to wear a hat? I do not like to bother with them ordinarily. I will not need evening clothes since my husband and I do not night club or go dinner dancing. I am 45, medium build and wear my gray hair quite short.—Mrs. T. M.

Dear Mrs. T. M.: Since you live in California, I have asked a West Coast designer, Miss Elliette of California, for advice on your fashion problem. This is what she suggests:

"Remember that London at all times is about ten degrees cooler than it is here at home. I'd wear the navy blue suit on the flight. You WILL need a hat in London so I'd make it a small, soft one in silk or ribbon and in a bright color.

"When you reach Paris, you'll find lighter colors in keeping with both the mood or the city and the season. A hat is not important for Paris but I'd take along a hat-shaped veiling. You'll need one wool suit with a washable print blouse in a synthetic jersey.

"Take a lightweight topcoat, a short dress in cotton-synthetic blend, separates in silk or linen, one black crepe dress with cap sleeves and modest neckline, a jacket dress in cotton with a tweedy look, a lightweight cardigan, a large travel bag and a dinner bag large enough to hold your passport. You'll also need a pair of low-heeled walking shoes and a pair of simple silk pumps for dressy wear."

Graceful or . . . ?

If people can recognize you by you're walk a block or so away, there's something exaggerated about your gait. Ask your friends what it is that they recognize and set about correcting the fault—if it is a fault.

Touches of Luxury

An inexpensive black fox fur collar is an easy way to add a touch of luxury to a simple cloth coat for winter. Another possibility is the barrel muff, also in black fox fur.

A Place for Toys

A discarded fruit crate makes a fine toy storage bin for children. Sandpaper down rough spots and brush clean. Then apply thin coats of fresh, white shellac to prevent splinters.

Ironing Board Hint

If your ironing board must be stored in utility closet with floor mops and dust cloths, keep it covered with a long dress bag of plastic or paper.

Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary

Gala ball highlight of social season

The Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary once again held their Annual Ball Saturday evening at the New Sherbrooke Hotel. Spring flowers were arranged at intervals in the Mayfair Room and the dining room, and the individual tables were decorated with satin bows in pastel shades, centred with crystal vases of daffodils.

Receiving the guests were Mrs. Dean Bishop, president of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary, Miss Clara Aitkenhead, Director of Nursing at the Sherbrooke Hospital, Dr. and Mrs. J. A. MacLeod, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Grundy and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Hunting.

Mrs. Dean Bishop, president of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary wore a floor length sheath dress of high pink organza over taffeta with a floating side panel and a draped bodice.

Miss Clara Aitkenhead, was in a floor length gown of American beauty peau de soie, having a molded skirt with unpressed pleats and a fitted bodice, wearing pearl jewellery.

Mrs. J. A. MacLeod, chose a navy blue and white striped taffeta floor length gown, having a full skirt and draped bodice. She wore pearl jewellery.

Mrs. Harry Grundy, wore a pink brocade floor length gown, with pearl jewellery. Mrs. Ross Hunting, wore a strapless two tier floor length gown of bronze toned tulle-trait-de-plume "Boussac" print and wearing gold jewellery.

Dancing was enjoyed to Marcotte's orchestra and the Normand Gaumont Trio in the softly lit dining room, its floral decorations making a perfect setting for the graceful gowns worn by the ladies.

The Misses Jill Perkins and Sally Allart acted as usherettes, while their escorts Messrs. Willi Webster and Geoff Mills assisted with the photography at the gaily decorated picture booth, where the guests were able to procure camera shots, which were taken home as souvenirs.

of a very delightful evening.

Mrs. Angus Morrison, treasurer of the Hospitality Shop, of the Sherbrooke Hospital was responsible for taking tickets at the door.

A buffet lunch was served at 2 o'clock making this one of the most delightful formal balls to be held during the season. The members of the Auxiliary and all who helped in any way will be well rewarded knowing that their efforts have helped a worthy charitable cause, "The Sherbrooke Hospital."

Prior to the ball Mrs. Dean Bishop, president of the Sherbrooke Hospital Ladies' Auxiliary and Mr. Bishop entertained the specially invited guests, receiving line and members of the executive and their husbands at a cocktail party held at their home on Amherst Street.

Hide Those Lines

To keep from looking overly made-up, the mature woman should choose makeup shades that have a high light-reflective quality. These will help diffuse any lines or wrinkles, whereas darker colors tend to cause shadows which accentuate these conditions.

Let your mirror be a daily help

ALICIA HART

At dinner recently, a friend of mine told me the shocking story of a friend of hers who has not looked in a mirror for 10 years except for fleeting close-ups when she quickly applies make-up. Her reason? Because she feels that she looks so haggard!

This surely is fleeing reality. The fact that she refuses to look in a mirror doesn't make her look less haggard to others.

How much more sensible she would be to look squarely at herself in a mirror in the harsh light of daytime and decide what needs to be done to improve herself — and then go ahead and do it.

For the truth is that almost any one of us could improve ourselves in some way if we set about it.

A few pounds off here. Some spot exercises to reduce thighs or tighten flabby upper arms or restore slack neck muscles. Daily use of a hairbrush to produce healthy, polished hair. A brisk walk every day to firm up a flabby body.

And after that, the happy feeling of being able to look yourself straight in the face!

Pillow Talk

If you can bring yourself to sleep without a pillow at night, you're that much ahead in the posture and good looks department. If you doubt this, lie flat on the bed and see what happens to your facial contours — (They smooth out at once.)

Now prop yourself with a pillow or two and run your fingertip slightly over your face. That's right, there's a downward pull. From the time we learn to walk, we are defying gravity. This means that sagging facial muscles are inevitable. With some women, they arrive earlier than with others.

But there are ways to counteract this downward pull. Standing on your head is one (Good for face and hair and

Bracing chowder for blistery days

A steaming bowl of chowder is a meal in itself, and just the right kind of meal on a chill, blistery day. Chowders are made from many foods, but fish and shellfish have been foremost ingredients since the arrival of the first white settlers on this continent. All the tang of the great open sea with the salt spray running high can be transported to your table in a hearty seafood chowder such as the following, recommended by the home economists of Canada's Department of Fisheries.

Seafarer's Chowder
1 pound fish fillets, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 medium onion, chopped, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 2 cups diced raw potatoes, 1/2 cup sliced carrots, 2 cups boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 2 cups milk.

Cut fillets into bite-size pieces. Melt butter in large saucepan. Add onion and celery; cook until tender. Add potatoes, carrots, water, salt and pepper. Cover and simmer until vegetables are tender. Add fish and simmer 10 minutes longer. Add milk. Reheat, but do not allow to boil. Serve piping hot, garnished with a sprinkling of finely chopped parsley or a dash of paprika. Makes 6 servings.

Seafarer's Chowder is delicious made with almost any variety of fillets, including smoked fillets. It makes an easy main dish for lunch or supper. Good accompaniments are crackers and raw vegetable relishes or a salad.

Today's recipe

Choc-cake for dessert

1 envelope plain unflavored gelatine, 1/4 cup cold water, 2 (1 ounce) squares unsweetened chocolate, 1 cup milk, 2/3 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon pure vanilla, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup whipping cream, 1 dozen lady fingers.

Soften gelatine in water. Cut chocolate fine, and combine with milk and half of sugar in top of double boiler. Place over hot water, and heat until chocolate is melted. Separate eggs, and beat yolks lightly. With the same beater, beat chocolate and milk mixture until smooth. Stir a little of chocolate into yolks, then combine with remaining chocolate, and cook, stirring constantly, about 5 minutes, until slightly thickened. Add softened gelatine and stir until dissolved. Blend in vanilla. Cool until thick but not set. Beat egg whites with salt until stiff, and gradually beat in remaining sugar. Whip cream until stiff. Fold meringue and cream into chocolate mixture. Split lady fingers, and line 1 1/2 quart mold with them. Spoon chocolate mixture into mold, and chill several hours or overnight. Unmold, and garnish with additional whipped cream if desired. Makes about 6 to 8 servings.

NOTEBOOK

WHERE IS THE WEAR ON YOUR CLOTHES?

Years ago, everyone believed that dry cleaning was hard on clothes. Wasn't that when the small rips and thin places showed up?

Now a study has been completed that definitely shows what causes wear . . . and it also turned up some interesting facts about where clothes wear.

For example, men who stand all day find that the back of their trousers cuffs wear out first. Some men have trouble with their right hand trouser pocket. Wear on the outside edge of a pair of trousers man. He traced to a newspaper man. He spent much of his time typing . . . and as he typed he rubbed his knee on the side of his desk.

That points up the real culprit . . . abrasion. Now if you look up "abrasion" in your dictionary, it will say something about a rubbing or grinding action that tends to wear away the softer of the two materials rubbed together.

The study also proved conclusively that when you add dirt and grit to the rubbing . . . you increase the wear, because dirt penetrates the fibers and sets up an abrasive action in more places in your garment.

That comes back to something I'm always talking about — good home care combined with our expert dry cleaning care. To make your clothes last longer, look better, be sure you protect them when you are not wearing them . . . and then have them cleaned regularly. That's one way you can save money . . . and have nicer looking clothes at the same time.

OBITUARIES

MRS. IDA HALL, Formerly of East Angus.

EAST ANGUS — Mrs. Ida Hall, wife of the late James A. Hall, died suddenly at Montreal in her 73rd year on Sunday, Feb. 4, 1962.

Mrs. Hall was born at Island Brook on Aug. 13, 1889, daughter of the late John Wilson and his wife, Ann Forbes. She was married on Sept. 13, 1911, to Mr. Hall, son of the late William Hall and his wife, Isabella Wilson, and they resided in East Angus until her husband's death Sept. 29, 1952.

She then made her home with her daughters, Gladys, Mrs. Parker Lyonnais, of Huntingville, and Olive, Mrs. Burnell Lyonnais, of Sherbrooke. Later she was a patient at the McKeage Nursing Home in Sherbrooke, going from there to Montreal.

Surviving Mrs. Hall are her five children, Gladys, Olive, Irene, Harold and Clayton; three step-sons; eight grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Wyllie Osgood; two brothers, Clifford Wilson, of Bowmanville, Ont., and Stanley Wilson, of Sherbrooke; and other relatives.

The funeral took place at East Angus on Thursday, Feb. 8, following prayers at the Paquin and Paquin Funeral Home, the service was held at Christ Church at 2 p.m., Rev. Thomas Hardy officiating.

The bearers were Clifford Cameron, Leslie Wilkin, Harold Wilson, Claude Young, Fred Young, and Hazen Lowery. The remains were placed in the vault at Westbury, where interment will take place in the spring.

Those from out of town attending the funeral were from Thurso, Que., Red Rock, Ont., Windsor, Vt., Bowmanville, Le Mesurier, Bury, Sawyerville, Lennoxville and Sherbrooke.

MRS. FRANK GALBRAITH OF COWANSVILLE

COWANSVILLE — The sudden death of Mrs. Frank Galbraith occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hauver, where she passed away in her sleep on Feb. 14.

Mrs. Galbraith, the former Agnes Puff, was born at Westmeath, Renfrew County, Ont. She would have been 91 years old on Feb. 26.

After her marriage to Frank Galbraith they lived in Granby for five years before moving to East Farnham, where they spent 30 years. Following the death of her husband, Mrs. Galbraith came to live with Mr. and Mrs. Hauver.

She is survived by her sister, Mrs. Ida Nesbitt, of Sudbury, Ont., and other relatives.

Possessed of a very keen memory, Mrs. Galbraith was interested in all phases of community work, could read without glasses and had seldom been ill in her life.

The funeral was held from Draper's Funeral Chapel on Feb. 16, Rev. C. J. Gustafson officiating. Bearers were Peter Hauver, Harry Hall, Clifford Carter and Clarence Lacroix. Interment was in the family lot at Riverside Cemetery.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Vincent MacLean, of Underhill, Vt., and Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Barber, Ormstown.

MRS. WALTER TRACEY, OF BROME

BROME — Mrs. Walter E. Tracey died here on Feb. 14, 1962, after a long illness. The remains rested at the home of her son, David Tracey, with whom she had resided.

Prayers were held at the house on Friday, Feb. 16, and the funeral service was conducted by Rev. J. W. Davidson, assisted by Canon F. W. Gedy at St. John's Church at two o'clock. Two favorite hymns, Safe in the Arms of Jesus and Peace, Perfect Peace, were sung by the choir, with Mrs. H. W. Frizze at the organ. The pall bearers were Robert Hamilton, Ralph Mason, Jerry Jackson, and George Soles.

Interment was in the United Church Cemetery.

Mrs. Tracey, the former Marion Teresa Carroll, was born on April 28, 1874, in Liverpool, England, daughter of the late Henry George Carroll and his wife, Annie Clarke. She came to Canada in 1896 and was married to Walter E. Tracey on June 9, 1897. A son, David, survives her. A daughter, Diana, predeceased her in 1900, and her husband died in 1941.

Known as Grannie to most people, she was an ardent knitter, and until her eyesight failed, knitted hundreds of pairs of mittens which she gave to the children of the community. She also worked for the Red Cross.

Friends and relatives from many surrounding towns attended the funeral.

BOLTON CENTRE —

The W.I. party recently held in the clubroom was a success both socially and financially. Cards and other games were played and lunch was served.

Mrs. B. E. Tracey visited friends in Granby and Waterloo over the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bloomfield from Kittery, Me., and Mr. and Mrs. Draper and two daughters, from Morrisville, Vt., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Nolan and children, from Lefebvre, were weekend guests of Mrs. Nolan's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Burbank.

Rev. Mr. O'Brien, from Granby, conducted a business meeting in the Pentecostal Church recently.

Mrs. Macgregor, Miss Roslyn Macgregor, and the Misses Sandra and Arlene Miller, of Longueuil, while in town, visited at the Cameron-Bloomfield home.

Mr. Arthur Shuttleworth and Mr. Elmer Shuttleworth and friend, from Canaan, N.H., visited Mrs. Emma Willey.

SIDE GLANCES

"I wish you wouldn't nudge me during the sermon, Clara! I know my faults without your adding exclamation points!"

MELBOURNE

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Fleming and son, Bruce, of Sherbrooke, and Mrs. Annie Vance, of Ayer's Cliff, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Fleming.

Congratulations are being received by Mr. Fred Gallup, who celebrated his 91st birthday on Feb. 24.

Mrs. H. W. Dapp has returned after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Morrison and family at Sawyerville. Friends are sorry to learn that Mrs. Leonard Davidson is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she underwent surgery. Miss Marjory Barr spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Barr.

A great new manual typewriter
(From the people who made most of the old ones)

Here's a manual typewriter that thinks it's electric, and almost acts like it. The new International has the lightest touch and easiest carriage return ever built into a manual typewriter. It's so rugged a 125 pound secretary can stand on it without warping the frame. But when it needs service, that's easier too. The whole machine actually folds out for fast servicing right at the desk. Better get a new Remington International into the office for your girls to try. Just phone and arrange for a demonstration.

Rockets edge Beavers in overtime to win series

St. Francis High School of Richmond dumps Cowansville 7-1 in QAPSA semi-final, meet Granby in finals

St. Francis High School of Richmond Senior hockey team trounced Cowansville 7-1 Saturday in a sudden-death semi-final playoff in the QAPSA Senior section to win the right to meet Granby in the finals.

The Richmond squad had little difficulty in downing the definitely weaker Cowansville group with P. Dunn notching four of SFHS goals in the lopsided match.

E. Dryden opening scoring in the game for Cowansville at 9:55 of the first period however, Cowansville's lead was short-lived as P. Dunn picked up a pass from Moore at 11:58 and a pass from Planidin at 12:35 to put Richmond in the lead by a 2-1 count.

In the second frame, only one more point was registered — that going to J. Tibbetts from T. Rodgers at 3:23, putting Richmond in command of a 3-1 advantage.

In the third stanza, Richmond broke loose for four more goals with the first going to Tibbetts on a pass from Richmond Senior hockey team to Dubec at 5:45 and the second to Dubec thanks to an assist from Rodgers at 7:05.

Dunn picked up Richmond's last two tallies firing in the third of the match at 15:30 on a pass play with Tibbetts and Rodgers at a time when Richmond had one man short. Dunn then closed off scoring in the struggle at 16:01 when he notched his fourth on a pass with Tibbetts.

Six penalties were called in the match — four going to Cowansville and the remaining two to Richmond. The game consisted of three 25-minute periods.

Cowansville: B. Williams, M. Peacock, P. Dempster, L. Hawke, K. Barber, E. Dryden, P. Drid, G. Hamilton, D. Peacock, T. Gordon, C. Cross, E. Wenford, C. Christie.

Richmond: M. Richards, S. Planidin, B. Moore, T. Rodgers, P. Dunn, J. Tibbetts, B. Frazer, T. Whittington, L. Dubec, W. Smith, L. Skillen, G. Bushey.

First gymnastic competition held at Richmond is success, Mario Cloutier and Janet Rout emerge champions

RICHMOND—The first gymnastic competition, sponsored by the RDA Athletic Committee and organized by John Hobson, physical education director of RDA, was held Friday at St. Francis High School with a large number of interested spectators in attendance.

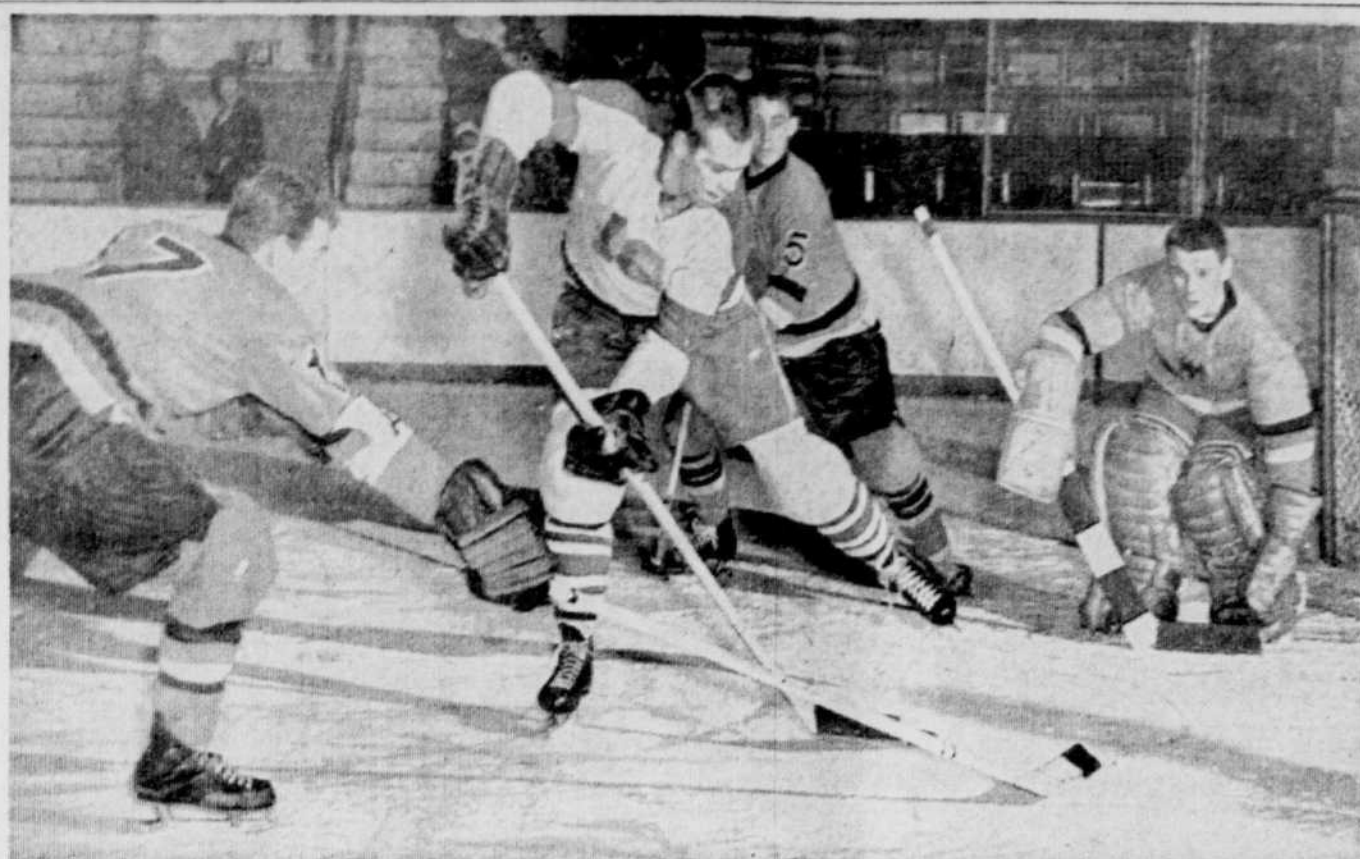

The competition, which saw teams entered from St. Francis, Asbestos, Danville, Shipton, Drummondville, and Windsor, was the first of its kind ever held in the Richmond-Drummondville-Arthabaska region and was termed a favourable success by officials.

Mario Cloutier of Richmond won the trophy for the champion boy with a total of 170 points, performing well on the vaulting box, the agility mat, the parallel bars, and horizontal bars.

In the girls' section, Janet Rout of Drummondville won the Champion Girl Trophy with 101 points while Richmond captured the Boy's Team Pennant and Drummondville the Girls' Team Pennant.

ADS placed second in the meet while Windsor—with a smaller number of competitors—tallied a total of 627 points to place fourth.

Mario Cloutier, Basil Wheeler, Larry Woods, and Warren Rodgers of Richmond who took the first four places in the boys' section, will be entered in the Red Wings hold edge for fourth NHL berth

The struggle for the National Hockey League's fourth and last playoff position appears to have swung in Detroit's favor.

The Red Wings went into weekend play trailing New York Rangers by four points, but won and tied while the Blueshirts lost twice.

That leaves the Wings just one point shy of fourth and they hold the advantage on the schedule, having 10 more games to play to New York's seven.

Detroit tied Montreal Canadiens 2-2 at Montreal Saturday night, they whipped the Rangers 4-2 at New York Sunday night in the opening game of a home-and-home series. Rangers and Wings meet again Tuesday night in Detroit.

Boys' Gymnastic Contest in Montreal, Friday, April 13. They are also to form the nucleus of a Gym Display Team which will be available for functions in this area.

Toronto Maple Leafs dumped the Rangers 3-1 at Toronto Saturday night and clobbered the hapless Boston Bruins 5-1 at Boston Sunday night.

In the only other game, Chicago Black Hawks defeated Canadiens 5-2 in a penalty-studded match at Chicago Sunday night.

SCORES 43RD GOAL Bobby Hull scored his 43rd goal of the season for the Black Hawks, leaving him seven short of the 50-goal record set by retired Maurice (Rocket) Richard of the Canadiens in 1944-45 and equalled by Bernie Geoffroin, also of Canadiens, last season.

The husky left winger has only seven more games to play and needs a goal-a-game clip to tie the mark—a tall order. But he has scored 28 times in his last 24 games.

Parker MacDonald of Sydney, N.S., scored two of Detroit's goals at New York Sunday night. The journey man winger opened and closed the scoring, the last goal at 18:31 of the last period putting the lid on a late New York rally.

Gordie Howe and Marc Boileau potted Detroit's other goals while Andy Bathgate and defenceman Irv Spencer scored for the Rangers.

At Montreal, the Wings played well enough to beat the injury-riddled Canadiens, but still had to come from behind a tie.

FALLS BEHIND Alex Delvecchio rapped home Detroit's first goal with just 21 seconds gone in the first period.

Then the Wings fell behind 2-1 with Claude Laforge tying it up at the 16-minute mark of the second.

Henri Richard and Gilles Tremblay counted for Canadiens.

Richard, a key man in Canadiens' attack, broke his right arm when dumped into the boards midway through the last period and is feared lost for possibly six weeks. That would put him out of action for the balance of the schedule and possibly the Stanley Cup playoffs as well.

Canadiens also played their weekend games without defenceman Lou Fontinato and centre Jean Beliveau. Both are nursing groin ailments, neither of which is considered serious.

Bob Nevin's goal in the last period snapped a 1-1 tie and gave Toronto its win over Rangers Saturday night.

Red Kelly potted Toronto's two other goals—the last one in an empty New York net with just 23 seconds left in the game. Dave Balon scored for the Rangers.

PULLS MUSCLE The Leafs, also plagued by injuries, lost centre Dave Keon late in the second period. Keon pulled a muscle in his thigh and was unable to make the trip to Boston for Sunday night's game.

George Armstrong and Kelly each scored twice for the Leafs at Boston.

Bob Pulford scored Toronto's other goal and Jerry Toppazzini counted for Boston.

At Chicago, Hull also drew an assist and moved just two points behind pace-setting Bathgate in the league individual scoring race. Bathgate has 78 points, Hull 76.

Other Chicago's scorers were Murray Balfour, Jerry Melnyk, Pierre Pilote and Bob Turner. Billy Hicke and Geoffroin scored for Canadiens.

Buffalo Bisons hold three-point lead in Western section of AHL, Quebec Aces knock over Barons 4-1

Buffalo Bisons once again have taken a three-point lead in the Western Division of the American Hockey League.

The Bisons, who held only a one-point lead going into Sunday night's action, belted Pittsburgh Hornets 10-3 while the challenging Cleveland Barons fell 4-1 before Quebec Aces.

Providence Reds won their third game in as many nights 2-1 in overtime against the Springfield Indians. Hershey Bears shut out Rochester Americans 2-0.

In Saturday action, Pittsburgh lost 10-4 to Providence. Rochester clipped Hershey 5-3 and Cleveland edged Springfield 3-2.

GETS FOUR GOALS The Hornets chief tormentors Sunday night were Cliff Schmutz and Chico Maki of the Bisons. Schmutz scored four goals, including three consecutive markers in the third period, while Maki got three. Brian Cullen, Dave Creighton and Billy Dea got the others. John MacMillan, Gary Collins and Jack McIntyre scored for the Hornets.

Orland Kurtenbach's goal against Springfield in overtime won for Providence, which trails third-place Quebec by only two points. Pierre Brillant got Providence's first goal, while Dave Amadio scored for the Indians.

Quebec stayed ahead with its victory over Cleveland, with Reggie Grigg's two goals setting the pace. Ed Hoekstra and Michel Harvey got the others. Hank Ciesla spoiled goaltender Charlie Hodge's bid for a shut-out.

Myron Stankiewicz and Al Johnson were the Bears' scorers.

In Pittsburgh's Saturday debacle, Brillant scored three goals, while two pieces were fired by Kurtenbach, Stan Baluk and Bob Beckett. Matt Ravlich scored the other goal. Cee Hoekstra netted two goals for the Hornets, with Dick Mattiussi and Gord Redahl adding singles.

FAULKNER SCORES Rochester snapped Hershey's four-game winning streak and scored its first victory since Feb. 18 with goals by Alex Faulkner, of Bishop's Falls, Nfld., Gerry Ehman, Bruce Draper, Steve Kraftcheck and Darryl Sly. Pete Conacher scored twice for the Bears. Stankiewicz got the other one.

Springfield's Jimmy Anderson scored first in the Indians' loss to the Barons and Indian defenceman Kent Douglas scored last. But in between the two goals Jim Mikol put in two for the Barons and Hank Ciesla got one.

The league is quiet tonight. Cleveland is at Quebec in Tuesday night's only action.

Joe Campbell wins Baton Rouge Open

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Joe Campbell fired a three-under-par 69 in the final round to win the $20,000 Baton Rouge open golf tournament by two strokes Sunday. The victory was worth $2,800 for him.

Campbell's card for the four rounds on the rain-drenched tournament was 68-70-67-69—274. Former PGA champion Bob Rosburg got an eagle on the 18th green with a 100-foot pitch for a 68 and second place.

NHL STARS

Parker MacDonald, of Sydney, N.S., whose two goals led Detroit Red Wings to a 4-2 win over New York Rangers Sunday night.

Red Kelly and George Armstrong, who each scored twice to lead Toronto Maple Leafs to a 5-1 victory over Boston Bruins Sunday night.

Bobby Hull, who scored his 43rd goal of the season and also drew an assist when Chicago Black Hawks dumped Montreal Canadiens 5-2 Sunday night.

Alex Delvecchio, who scored one goal and set up the other for Detroit in the Red Wings' 2-2 tie with Montreal Saturday night.

Bob Nevin, whose first goal since Jan. 6 at 12:26 of the third period broke a 1-1 tie and led Toronto to a 3-1 decision over New York Saturday night.

Knudson cops Puerto Rico Open tourney

SAN JUAN (AP) — George Knudson, 24-year-old Toronto pro, fired a par 71 Sunday for a 72-hole total of 280 and victory in the Puerto Rico open golf tournament.

It was worth $1,500 for Knudson, who also won the Maracaibo open two weeks ago. He pulled into second place for the Caribbean Cup which will be awarded after the final tournament of the circuit at Jamaica next week.

Knudson now has 60 points toward the cup. Don Whitt of San Diego, Calif., who finished in a four-way tie for second with a 282, leads in points with 68.

Bracketed with Whitt two strokes off the pace were Henry Williams Jr., of Fleetwood, Pa., Al Geiberger of Carlton Oaks, Calif., and Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif.

Royal Attack wins Santa Anita Derby

Royal Attack won the $152,100 Santa Anita Derby at Arcadia, Calif., Saturday by covering the 1.18-mile distance in a sluggish 1:49 3/5.

The colt, ridden by Eddie Burns, scored a three-quarter length victory over Admiral's Voyage and returned $8.20, $4.40 and $3.20. Admiral's Voyage paid $6.20 and $4 while Sir Robin, who was third, paid $4.

At Miami, Fla., Robert Lehman's Prego, who closed fast on the rail, was declared winner in the $136,200 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah Park. The decision was made after Sunrise County grabbed an early lead and finished first but was disqualified for bolting to the outside in the stretch.

Time for the mile and a furlong was 1:49.

Prego paid $52.80, $9.70 and $6.90 while earning $88,350. Riddan returned $3.70 and $2.90 and Sunrise County's show price was $5.90. Sunrise County, ridden by Herbert Hinojosa, went off at 13 to 1 and maintained a rail position until straightening out in the home stretch.

Leon Michelin tallies winner after 13.58 minutes of overtime, Rockets open finals with Montreal Tuesday

DRUMMONDVILLE — A goal by Leon Michelin at 3:53 of the second overtime period broke a 2-2 tie and gave the Drummondville Rockets a 3-2 victory over the Sherbrooke Beavers here yesterday afternoon in the seventh and deciding game of the semi-final "B" series of the E. T. Intermediate Hockey League.

The Rockets will now meet the Montreal Olympics in a four out of seven series for the Eastern Townships' Intermediate Hockey championship.

The Rocket victory marked their fourth consecutive win after the Beavers had surged into a three game lead in the series. In every one of the Rocket victories, they had their backs against the wall, and in every one they were forced into overtime before they managed to come up with the win.

The Beavers took victories of 5-2, 6-3 and 5-3 and the Rockets came roaring back to counter with victories of 2-1, 3-2, 4-2 and 3-2.

In their three home games, the Beavers drew 6,100 fans and the Rockets 6,500. To say the least the fans got their money's worth. The brand of hockey, in all seven games, was first class. Both offensive and defensive teams were at their best as both teams settled down to playoff hockey. Both goalies, Jos Lacoursiere and Claude Groulx helped make the games tight with their unbelievable goaltending.

As in almost every other game, yesterday's tilt saw the Beavers surge into a first period lead, only to watch the Rockets tie it up in the last two periods and win in overtime.

Albert Moore put the Beavers in the lead at 13:25 of the opening period after a fine passing play with Dube and Picard. Five minutes later, Real Rousseau snared a Rocket pass, fed to R. Hamelin and walked in alone on Groulx to beat him with a knee-high shot between the legs.

The period ended with the Beavers holding an impressive 2-0 lead.

During this first period the Beavers had the man advantage for four minutes but could not get any offensive threat organized.

In the opening minutes of the second period, Roger Picard missed two fine scoring opportunities for the Beavers. On two occasions sharp Dube passes left him standing alone in front of Groulx. The Rocket netminder came up with a sterling save on Picard's first time and on his second try Picard pushed the puck wide of the open corner.

Andre Boucher cut the Sherbrooke lead to one goal at 6:28 of the second. Bantam Paquin shot from the blue-line and Lacoursiere came up with the

Hull-Ottawa moves into second place

The combination of a Hull-Ottawa Canadiens' victory and a Kingston Frontenacs' loss boosted Canadiens into a tie for second place in the Eastern Professional Hockey League Sunday.

Canadiens downed league-leading Kitchener - Waterloo Beavers 6-1 at Hull to bring their standing to 69 points, the same as Frontenacs.

The Kingston club went under 2-0 to cellar-dwelling Sault Ste. Marie Thunderbirds in another Sunday game at the Sault. The EPHL was idle Saturday.

Their win brought T-Birds to 41 points, three behind fifth-place North Bay Trappers. Trappers had an unhappy weekend at home, losing their playoff hopes in a 5-3 defeat at the hands of fourth-place Sudbury Wolves.

Rookie Brian Smith led Canadiens in their win over Beavers. Other Habs scorers were Bill Carter, Bill Masterton and Jean Gauthier. Beavers' lone goal was scored by Jack Bowman.

Merv Kuryluk and Bob Courcy scored to give Sault Thunderbirds their win over Kingston.

Leo Labine and Gerry Foley led Sudbury to its win over North Bay with two goals each, with Sam Bettio adding Wolves' final tally. North Bay scorers were Bob Saborin, John Sleaver and Joe Szura.

Crutchfield and Lacroix win in Kandahar event

MONT TREMBLANT, Que. (CP)—Leo Lacroix of France's national ski team and Linda Crutchfield of Shawinigan, Que., Sunday won the Quebec Kandahar combined ski championships.

They made a clean sweep of the two-day event, placing first in both Saturday's giant slalom and Sunday's two slalom runs. Jean - Guy Brunet of Ste. Agathe, Que., was runner-up to Lacroix in the men's division, finishing in the giant slalom and second in the slalom.

Brunet had the fastest time in one of Sunday's two slalom runs, but Lacroix was six-tenths of a second faster for the two. Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., finished second to Miss Crutchfield in the women's section.

Granby Eagles down Jr. Beavers 7-4 in playoffs

Granby Eagles, champions of the Granby Junior League, defeated the Sherbrooke Junior Beavers 7-4 at the Sherbrooke Arena last night in the provincial playoffs for the Junior B provincial hockey championship. The game was the first out of a two-game total point series with the second slated for the Granby Arena Wednesday evening.

Having won the Sherbrooke junior championship the Beavers were representing the district with Guy Lindley at the helm replacing regular coach Pat Murphy who was sick.

R. Beulet gave the visitors an early lead banging home two early goals. P. Desrochers made it 3-0 at 6:55 when he beat Letarte. The Beavers countered getting goals from Gerald Caron and Letarte at the midway point. Channe and Coiteux added to the visitors lead before the period ended.

Gaston Caron made it 5-3 at 2:18 of the middle period after taking passes from Pelletier and Letarte. Pelletier scored himself minutes later with the help of Letarte.

Just when there seemed to be some hope for the Beavers, the Eagles potted another minutes before the period ended. Desrochers was the marksman. St. Pierre added another for the visitors in the third period while holding the home team scoreless.

Eight penalties were handed out in the game with six of them going to the Sherbrooke team.

Bishop's basketball squad divide weekend games, lose to Loyola but edge RMC 53-50 to finish in fourth Bishop's basketball Gaiters travelled to Montreal and Kingston for the last two games of this year's Ottawa-St. Lawrence schedule, against Royal Military College and Loyola College.

Loyola scuttled the Gaiters 64-37 on Friday night, but the Purple and White came back to edge the RMC 53-50 Saturday.

Loyola completely overpowered the Gaiters, scoring 12 unanswered points on set shots at the opening of the first quarter. Bishop's then matched the Warriors basket for basket, making it 30-18 at the half.

The game did not become a runaway until halfway through the final quarter, when the Gaiter offense and defense fell apart at the seams and when the final whistle sounded, Loyola had triumphed 64-37.

Lavoie of Loyola led the scoring with 24 points, mostly as a result of his deadly set shot. Jean - Guy Brunet of Ste. Agathe, Que., was runner-up to Lacroix in the men's division, finishing in the giant slalom and second in the slalom.

Brunet had the fastest time in one of Sunday's two slalom runs, but Lacroix was six-tenths of a second faster for the two. Nancy Greene of Rossland, B.C., finished second to Miss Crutchfield in the women's section.

Tottenham Hotspurs walloped by Manchester City 6-2 to drop to third place, Wrexham wins 10-1

LONDON (Reuters) — Mighty Tottenham Hotspur was crashed to a 6-2 defeat by lowly Manchester City in the English Soccer League Saturday.

Manchester City, in danger of relegation to the Second Division, played a brilliant game on a slippery field to swamp the Spurs, who were in world-beating form only last Monday to slam Dukla of Prague 4-1 in the European Cup quarter-finals.

Peter Dobing, England under-23 toter defence to slam three goals past John Hollowbread, deputizing for Scottish international Bill Brown in goal.

Neil Young, Joe Hayes and Peter Baker were City's other scorers. Jimmy Greaves got Spurs' two goals.

The defeat dropped Tottenham from second to third place in the first division with 37 points. Burnley, 6-0 winners over West Ham United, took over second place with 38 points.

Jimmy Robson set Burnley on the winning way with a goal in 45 seconds and Ian Towers and Ray Pointer made it 3-0 by half-time. Towers and fullback Alex Elder shot in three more in the second half.

Centre-forward Ray Crawford, with two goals, was the Ipswich star against Sheffield United.

REACH DOUBLE FIGURES
On a day of heavy scoring, Fourth-Division promotion challengers Wrexham rolled over Hartlepool United 10-1 — the first double-figure victory this season. Wyn Davies, Roy Ambler and Ron Barnes each hit for three goals and Stan Bennion got the remaining one as Wrexham made its first victory in six home matches.

Two ex-arsenal players, Jackie Henderson and Len Julians, were the scorers in the 1-1 draw between Fulham and Notts Forest. Henderson put last-place Fulham in the lead after seven minutes but Julians snatched the equalizer seven minutes from time.

Rangers defeated Thirs Lanark 3-1 to increase their lead in the Scottish First Division to three points. Dundee, Rangers' nearest rival, lost 2-1 on Celtic's ground.

Dundee and Celtic were tied 1-1 when Billy McNeill, Celtic's international centre-half, came up for a corner and headed the winner six minutes from the end.

Falkirk beat Raith Rovers 3-0 for their first home win since September and pulled away from the bottom of the table. Falkirk is two points ahead of Airdrieonians, who tied 3-3 with Dundee United.

Clyde, Second Division leaders, lost to Forfar, who came back to equalize after being a goal down. Queen of the South, helped by a penalty goal in a 2-0 win at Dumbarton, now has 41 points to Clyde's 42.

Sherbrooke and Beebe lose in Quebec curling

QUEBEC (CP) — A Quebec Cambrai rink skipped by Gaston Asselin won the provincial mixed curling championship Saturday defeating Bruce Adair's Montreal Mount Royal rink 11-7 in a playoff match.

The extra round was made necessary when both rinks finished the regular bonspiel with eight wins and one loss.

In the ninth and last regular round, Quebec Cambrai needed an extra end to beat Andre Joyal's Beebe rink 12-9 and Mount Royal defeated Frank Pearson's Sherbrooke rink 12-2.

Beebe and Hudson, skipped by George Smart, finished in a third-place tie with five wins and four losses.

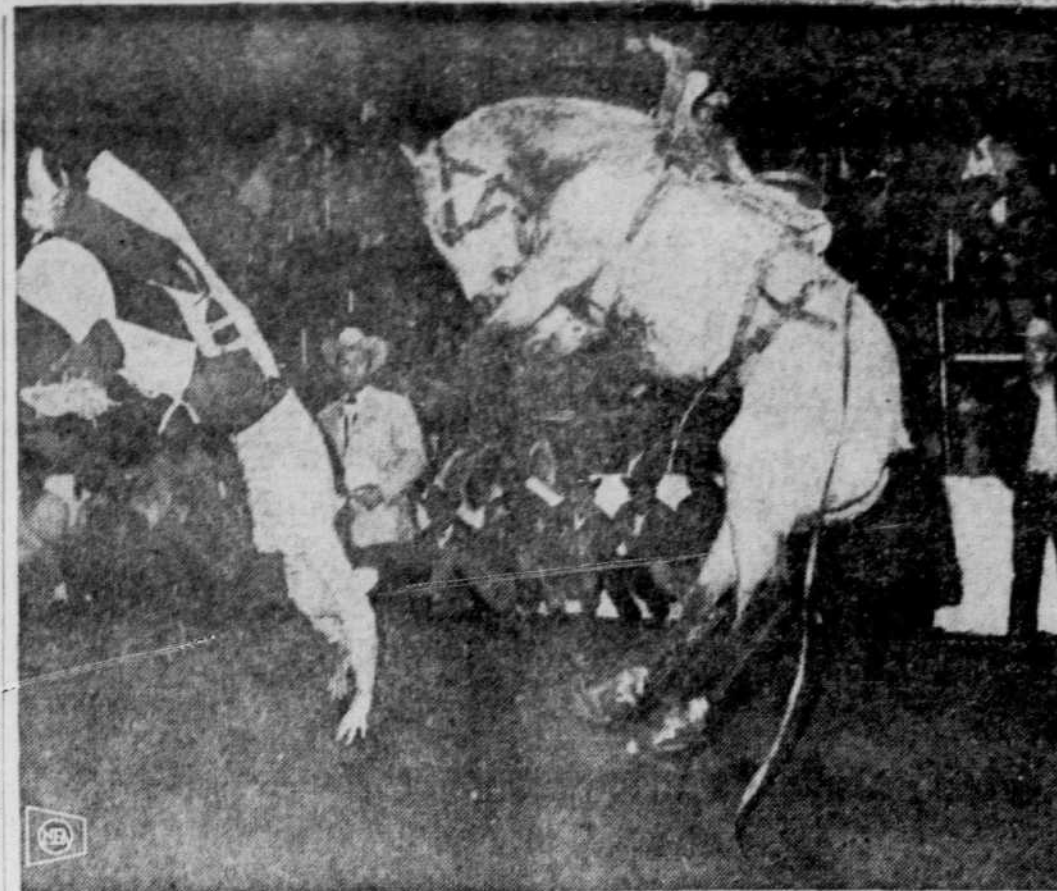

In other ninth-round matches, Robert Laffale's Cap-de-la-Madeleine rink squeezed past Hudson 7-6, Leopold Beaulieu of Riverbend defeated Joe Verbanek of Baie Comeau 10-2 and Bill Fester of Lacolle defeated Glen Mitchell's Noranda rink 9-3.

Baie Comeau, Riverbend and Lacolle all finished with four wins and five losses, and Cap-de-la-Madeleine and Noranda with three wins and six losses. Sherbrooke was last with one victory and eight defeats.

GOOD SEASON

WALPOLE ISLAND, Ont. (CP) — Trappers on this Indian reserve have captured 6,400 muskrats so far this season. Ford Soney, veteran Indian trapper, says this has been the best muskrat season in five years and the best for mink in 25 years. Mink figures are not available.

Loss of vacant lot is greatest tragedy to Canadian sport, says Patrick, Bruins' general manager

VANCOUVER (CP) — The loss of the vacant lot is the greatest tragedy in Canadian sport, says Lynn Patrick, general manager of the National Hockey League's Boston Bruins. If Patrick had his way, he would spend part of the $5,000,000 federal grant to the National Fitness Council on vacant lots where youngsters could chase their own games away from the supervisory hand of indulgent parents.

During his formative years in Victoria, Patrick was part of a sandlot gang that has never been duplicated in Canadian sport.

There was Patrick's younger brother, Muzz. Art Chapman, former coach of the Vancouver Canucks of the Western Hockey League and onetime National Hockey League star, his brother, Chuck, and Doug Peden.

DIDN'T SMOKE

"Sports to us was everything," Lynn said in an interview during a visit to Vancouver.

"We didn't smoke or sneak a beer because it would slow us down. There was nothing else to do, no bowling alleys, teenage dances, or little league. If we didn't have a ball to throw, we'd wrestle or box, just to be competing."

Lynn went on to become an all-star right-winger and later coach with the New York Rangers, then coach and general manager of the Bruins, keeping alive the family hockey tradition that encompassed Muzz and their father, Lester.

The Chapmans led two Victoria basketball squads to several Canadian championships before moving up as professionals with the Vancouver Hornets.

Peden, now sports editor of the Victoria Times, also played pro basketball and excelled at rugby and tennis.

He didn't take up baseball until he was 23 but made it as a player right up to double A and became a playing manager in the Pittsburgh Pirates' organization.

Doug also learned how to ride a bike from his brother, Torchy, and the pair made a small fortune in the six-day professional bike races at Madison Square Garden in New York.

SPARMMATES FOR MUZZ
"It was only coincidence that we grew up at the same time in the same town," Lynn said. "But we were drawn to each other out of mutual respect and a desire to outdo each other."

"When Muzz was on his way to winning the Canadian heavyweight championship, he couldn't find any sparring partners so Art, Doug and I took turns at getting our brains beat out by him."

Federal grant too late to help '64 Games

VANCOUVER (CP) — James Worrall, president of the Canadian Olympic Association, said Friday that the federal government's $5,000,000 physical fitness program came too late to boost Canada's chances at the 1964 Olympic Games.

Worrall, of Toronto, a member of the National Advisory Council, said the government should not be expected to pick up the whole tab for future sports expenditures. The underlying principal of the program was self-help and the public must maintain its support of amateur sport.

"Otherwise, with the government paying the shot, it might take over sports and that wouldn't be healthy in a democratic country."

Joey Jay and Uriande Cepeda are last of big-name holdouts, others reach terms, Jay may be out for good

NEW YORK (AP) — Pitcher Joey Jay and first baseman Orlando Cepeda are the last of the big-name holdouts, heading a list of 18 players who have not signed for the 1962 major league baseball season.

Rocky Colavito of Detroit Tigers was the latest of the stars to sign when he agreed to terms Sunday after a four-day holdout. His American League salary will be a reported $48,500.

Colavito got $35,000 last year for hitting 45 home runs, batting in 140 and ringing up a .290 average. He had sought more than $50,000 this year.

Jay, 26, who won 21 games for Cincinnati Reds' National League champions a year ago, has offered to buy his contract for $200,000 from the Reds so he can make a deal for himself. General manager Bill Dewitt of the Reds has refused and indicates the righthander can sit out the season if he doesn't sign.

Cepeda, San Francisco Giants' slugging infielder, has continually balked at terms but the Giants aren't concerned about his playing condition after a season of winter baseball.

Eight holdouts are pitchers, twice as much as he received last year. The Reds have offered $26,000.

Cepeda wants a 100-per-cent increase over his $30,000 1961 contract. The Giants are offering $42,500.

Ido Evangelist of Montreal named president of Quebec Provincial Trapshooting, dates released

Election of a new president and an enlarged provincial championship program were among the highlights at the Quebec Provincial Trapshooting Association annual meeting in Montreal.

Ido Evangelist of Montreal was elected president of the association for a two-year term. He succeeds Emile Leduc of Ste. Barbe. Evangelist, one of the province's most enthusiastic trapshooters was a member of the 1960 Quebec All Star Team.

Most important change in the 1962 provincial championship program was the increase from 250 birds to 400 birds. The increase included the addition of a 100 singles and 50 doubles, to bring the complete program to 200 singles, 100 handicap and 50 pair of doubles.

The provincial championships were awarded to Montreal Anglers & Hunters and will be held August 11 and 12 at the club's new layout which will be at Lacadie, some 6½ miles east of Laprairie on the St. Jean highway.

Regional shoots arranged at the meeting included: Montreal Anglers & Hunters (Dorval layout), March 25; Grand Mere, May 13; Thetford Mines, May 27; Drummondville, June 10; Berthier, June 24; Huntingdon, July 8; and McTaverville, August 26.

Harry Willis, who broke or tied three provincial records at the 1961 shoot, was named the Quebec representative to the Amateur Trapshooting Association and the Canadian Trapshooting Association.

The delegates also agreed that the 1962 10-man All Star Team would once again be chosen on the best average of Quebec shooters who had fired at 300 or more registered birds during the season. The 1961 All Star Team members will be announced shortly.

Finally the meeting adopted a new series of classification for 1962. A shooter is classified on his yearly average of birds broken compared to the number at which he fired. The classifications are as follows: AA — 93 or over; A — from 89 to 92.99; B — from 82 to 88.99; C — from 74 to 81.99 and D — 73.99 or lower.
