Rotarians Attend Weredale Camp Field Day

Westmount Rotary Club members attended the 14th annual field day at Weredale Camp, Lac L'Abouché, last week, where the new Older Boys' Lodge, erected with funds provided by the Rotarians, was formally opened. The 25 Rotarians present at the camp conducted a sports programme on the playing field and at the water front, and later their team met defeat at the hands of the Weredale baseball team by a score of 8 to 0.

Mr. Close, president of the Club, addressed the boys at the dinner held in the dining room, stressing the value of clean sportsmanship, and complimented the boys and the staff on the spirit shown by the campers and the general air of orderly discipline that existed. He added that the field day had become an annual event to the Rotarians, who looked forward to it each year.

Norman Holland, president of Weredale House, thanked the Rotarians on behalf of the governors for the continued interest they had shown in Weredale Camp, and for the new lodge they had made possible.

Among the governors present were Irving P. Rexford, chairman of the camp committee; Mr. and Mrs. James H. Webb; Elliot F. Frosst; P. E. Jarman and V. F. McAdam, secretary-manager.

HEAT PROSTRATION

Our four legged friends also suffered from the record heat last week — but they couldn't talk about it! When a milk wagon driver saw his mare "Bunny" about to collapse on Friday, he quickly led her to Westmount Park, where the co-operative Westmount Fire Department revived her with a shower from a fire hose as shown above. Reports indicate that "Bunny" got several days' rest after her collapse.

Paul Haynes Tells Rotary About Market Research

Guest speaker at the regular luncheon of the Rotary Club of Westmount, this week, was Paul Haynes, of the Industrial Survey Co., whose subject was "Market Research—Precision Tool of Management."

The speaker commenced his address by saying that only a comparatively short time ago, the term "Marketing Research" was little known and much less understood by Canadian business men.

Market research, he said, is the intensive and continuing study of the movement of goods and services from their origin or point of production to the ultimate consumer, in order to promote more efficient distribution. It is sometimes called distribution research.

It is a means of studying consumer attitudes and reactions to the manufactured product, and this information can be used by the manufacturer to indicate how he stands in relation to his competitors, to indicate how he can improve his products, and using this information helps him to determine where and how he can distribute his goods more efficiently to the greatest potential consuming market. It helps to eliminate an important margin of error in marketing methods.

Rather than attempting to cover the manifold aspects of marketing research, from product testing to opinion or attitude polls, Mr. Haynes discussed one important phase of distribution research—the consumer panel.

The consumer panel of Canada, like that of the United States, he said, is composed of some 1,500 picked families constituting a representative cross-section of the country. Complete classification data are recorded on all members of the families which are provided with a diary in which they record their purchases, when made, where bought, price paid, trade name, their reactions to their purchases, etc., and a report is turned in to the market surveyors every month. When this information is assembled together and collated it gives a remarkably accurate picture of market reaction and in the light of past records, indicates business trends.

Before organized market research was instituted, claimed Mr. Haynes, manufacturers could measure their sales only to the jobber or wholesaler. They had difficulty

Home Teaching Course A Great Boon To The Blind, Jean Crombie Finds

Jean Crombie (Mrs. David Crombie, Jr.), of 4560 St. Catherine street west, returned to her home on Saturday, having just completed an intensive course in Home Teaching of the Blind given at the Normal School of the Canadian Institute for the Blind in Toronto. Eighteen girls from across Canada were registered for the summer course, which included instruction in Braille, typewriting, home economics, handicrafts and psychology.

Three others from the Montreal area took the course this year. They are Gilberte Comptois, Marguerite Gauvreau and Therese Taillon. A short time ago, these four young women were respectively, a housewife, a milliner, an office worker, and a switchboard operator. They are now equipped to help others learn what they have discovered—that life can be active and satisfying despite their handicap.

Life Can Be Active

Mrs. Crombie lost her sight about six years ago. She regained it for a time, and lost it again. She is the most recently blinded of the quartet from Montreal. The tragic experience of regaining her vision for a time only to lose it again would have completely discouraged anyone unaccustomed to facing a hard fact and learning to accept it. She has faced difficult adjustments before however, the hardest of which was the loss of her husband in the navy. This slim, attractive, dark-haired woman shows admirable courage and philosophy in her attitude toward life, despite her handicap. She really "has what it takes."

She now looks forward to her work, for which she has trained herself, which will consist of helping others to help themselves. She is particularly interested in working with war-blinded veterans.

Long Hours Of Study Involved

Preparation for her new work has meant more than two months of intensive classroom instruction, eight hours a day, six days a week, and more long hours of hard study at night on the subjects of her course listed above.

Her Work As A Teacher

As a home teacher, she will meet and work with newly blinded persons, disheartened and fearful at the prospect of the long, lonely procession of dark days ahead. She will be able to re-ignite the flame of hope for such people by re-opening to such persons a world of literature and music, by instructing them in crafts and hobbies, and by pointing out the possibilities of useful employment. A very important phase of her work will be to show how the blind individual

Graham's Business College Marks Golden Anniversary

Fifty years ago, in 1897, Miss Mary Graham opened one of the first schools in Montreal especially designed to train young men and women for a career in business. In those early days the business training course comprised only penmanship, spelling, English, arithmetic and filing. As business and industry grew, the requirements became more exacting. As new methods came into vogue, the training given by Miss Graham was altered and augmented to meet these demands.

This year marks the Golden Anniversary of Graham's Business College. Today, Graham's Business Col-

Children's Aid Buys Westmount Orphan's Home

The Children's Aid Society, a Red Feather Service of the Welfare Federation, has purchased the land and buildings of the Montreal Hebrew Orphan's Home, 500 Claremont Avenue, for $85,000, it was announced this week.

During the war, the building was used by the Canadian Army as a training school for potential soldiers below the age requirement. It is planned to use the building as a receiving home. The Society has been without such accommodation since the sale of their property on Queen Mary Road last year, and the agency has been forced to subsidize a number of foster homes throughout the City.

Stolen Taxi Found In East End

A Packard Taxi, belonging to T. Golden, was stolen on the night of August 4th, from the garage where it was housed at the corner of Greene and Western Avenues. The licence plates were removed, and plates off another car in the same garage were substituted.

The car was recovered in the east end, on Tuesday night, by detectives A. Talbot and G. Lines, acting on information received. One juvenile was taken into custody in connection with the case, and another arrest was expected shortly.

Choir Summer School By Church Of The Advent

Westmount's Church of The Advent held, for the second year this summer, a choir summer school, which is believed unique among Protestant churches in Canada, although it is well-known in England.

The chief purpose of the school is to develop choristers, but it also is considered as a buffer against juvenile delinquency, and is a contribution to church worship.

Fifteen boys, ranging from 7 to 17, are spending a fortnight at All Saints Church, Dunham, Que., where the rector, Rev. Dr. Millman, arranged sleeping and eating facilities in the church buildings.

The boys practice only a few hours each day, but Lorne W. West, their organist and choir-master, said that due to regular attendance and opportunity for individual instruction the benefits were perhaps greater than those obtained in a year of routine practices at the Westmount church.

* Included in the school activities were swimming, fishing, baseball, hiking, and other outdoor sports—a real holiday in the country.

The school is financed by voluntary subscriptions of parishioners of the Advent, and church leaders, headed by the rector, Rev. Father Sydenham, who plan to hold it every summer.

Scouts & Cubs

BY REG GROOME

The Sixth World Jamboree held at Moisson, France, near Paris, officially closed on Monday evening, when 30,000 boys of 42 nations, participated in a huge parade which resembled the lines of the "Carrick Bend" which is the Emblem of the Jamboree. The 30,000 Scouts were assembled in a huge canvas city — a city of world friendship where the Scout smile and the left hand-shake cuts across all barriers of colour, class and creed. Each member of the British Empire Contingent at the Jamboree wore three special badges on his uniform. One of them was the Jamboree Badge which depicted a carrick-bend superimposed on a Scout fleur-de-lys. Another showed the number of the Jamboree Troop of which the Scout was a member and the third was a small Union Jack. These will undoubtedly be treasured keepsakes for many boys long after they reach man-hood.

This was one of the greatest international gatherings of youth the world has ever seen. Near to Paris, where the adults controlling the destinies of great nations have failed time and time again to reach understanding and establish a lasting peace, the world's boys met in their own "peace" conference, their singing and laughter echoing around the world and bringing a new hope to many for the future.

Only serious accident throughout the entire Jamboree happened on the last day to eight Belgian Scouts, who were injured in the collision of two of the miniature trains running around the huge grounds. One lad was so severely injured, it was thought at first it would be necessary to amputate his leg, but it was saved due to quick medical attention. The accident occurred on the huge Jamboree track in Moisson, in front of a Czechoslovak Scout encampment when one of the miniature camp trains, carrying a Belgian soccer team to the Jamboree stadium, emerged from a siding and collided with another train on the main track.

Census Figures

Since the last census taken in 1939 the total number of Boy Scouts in the world has increased by over a million. Census figures just released by the Boy Scout International Bureau show that the latest active membership total of the Boy Scout Movement throughout the world is 4,409,774, in 41 countries and one emigré association. The 1939 total was 3,305,149, in 46 countries and two emigré associations.

The 1947 total includes the latest known figures received from member countries of the Boy Scout International Conference. It does not include the numbers of Scouts Groups amongst Displaced Persons nor of Scouts in countries where associations have not yet been registered with the Boy Scouts International Bureau.

The present member countries of the International Scout Conference are: — Argentine, Armenian Scouts, Austria, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Costa Rica, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Denmark, Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Egypt, El Salvador, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Hungary, Iceland, India, Italy, Lebanon, Liechtenstein, Luxembourg, Mexico, Netherlands, Nicaragua, Norway, Peru, Philippines, Portugal, South Africa, Sweden, Switzerland, U.S.A., Venezuela. Other territories of the British Commonwealth, the Belgian, French, Netherlands and Portuguese Empires and the U. S.A. are registered through their parent countries.

By GEORGE COCHRANE

Cochrane's own European correspondent, a bespectacled young man named David "Free Beer" Freeman, comes through this week with a special despatch dated London. Written August 15 and rushed air mail to The Examiner office, methinks immediate publication is in order.

Says the Freeman:

Life in England is getting worse and worse. But that does not mean that we shall not recover. When we went off the gold standard after World War 1 the Americans thought that we would never be in business again—but we got it back from them because when the Americans had all the customers they gave them shoddy goods at top prices.

I am getting even more anti-American than ever. I do hope that Canadian opinions are often not the same as those found in the States. What do the Americans mean by their new legislation against "un-American activities?" "Un-American" is among the first essential characteristics of a civilized man. In the States you find capitalism in a totally unreasonable position. You have thoroughly free enterprise and enormous tariffs. And because they lent us twopence when we were temporarily, though thoroughly, well broke they won't let us exercise empire preference where we want to. Anyone would think that the slump were such fun that the next one must be hastened on as rapidly as possible.

The Americans can say that the British Empire is finished if they think such trash. Amusing but since it represents the only power for good in the world today they will probably suffer as much as the others if it is true.

Down Hobbylane

By FRANCES GAUTHIER

It was a beautiful, sunny Sunday afternoon. Flowers were in bloom, there was a faint breeze, and everybody should have been happy. But there was simply nothing to do, until somebody thought of riding. After a little coaxing, I was off to a wonderful afternoon and a new hobby. I thought I'd pass this idea along to you with a few pointers:

Firstly, you're the boss. Let him know that you're riding him, he's not riding you. Be kind, but firm. And remember, if you can handle a horse, he'll not only go in the direction you dictate, he'll not stoop to grass, or reach for leaves either.

Sit up straight when you're learning to ride, unless you want a nice backache. The stirrups should be under the ball of your foot and not between the heel and sole. Keep your toes in always, even if you feel pigeon-toed at first.

And take it from one who knows; when you're cantering or galloping, don't hang onto the horn of the saddle. If your horse is shy or stops quickly because of obstacles, you'll go over his head.

So he knows you're boss, and you're sitting up straight, the stirrups where they should be; your toes in, and you're not hanging on to the horn of the saddle. Well then, ride 'em — and I hope you have as much fun at it as I do.

In knowing what their competition was doing or what the whole industry sales were. Moreover, they might blanket the country with expensive advertising, instead of concentrating on the consumer class or area having the highest potential market for their goods.

Mr. Haynes illustrated his address on market research with lantern slides and graphs showing in detail how the family panels are formed and operate, and how the information gathered therefrom is utilized.

He concluded by saying that Industrial Surveys are continually at work on field surveys, opinion polls, and other types of surveys, and thanked the Rotary Club for the opportunity they gave him to discuss and illustrate the effectiveness of research as applied to modern distribution methods.

BULLETINS FROM BIRDLAND

WINIFRED E. WILSON

SHORE BIRDS

"Pewit-pewit-pewit." The sound came closer, then died away. "What was that noise? Is it a frog or a bird?" Bobbie asked looking up from his sand castle on the beach.

"Didn't you see the little bird?" Alice laughed. "It flew right around us, in a semi-circle. I noticed the white line on the wings as it passed low over the water. Now it is running lightly along by the rock to your left. It is one of the most common of our Sandpipers, called Spotted because of large, round, black spots on its breast and sides."

"Did it get its surname because it lives on the sand?"

"Yes, you're quite correct: it nests right on the sand. It does not even use any building material, but hollows out a place in the sand near a clump of grass or a small bush and there lays the eggs. Sandpipers belong to the order called Shore Birds."

"How do you know Shore Birds from any other kind?" demanded the young questioner. "I saw a Kingfisher here a few minutes ago. Is it a Shore Bird?"

"Oh no! A Kingfisher lives in a hole in the bank, and sits on a branch overlooking the water to watch for fish; but it isn't a Shore Bird. They are known both by their looks and by their actions. All have at least moderately long, and some very long, thin legs for wading in shallow water. Their bills are long and slender, their wings long and pointed. The only short thing about them seems to be their tails.

"And as for their habits: of course they all spend their time on the shore; but there are other similarities. All the Shore Birds except the Solitary Sandpiper nest on the ground, generally have four eggs, but seldom are able to bring up more than two children. As soon as the babies are hatched they are covered with down, and almost immediately leave the nest and are able to run around. They feed on cutworms, horse flies, mosquitoes, and other creatures that man is glad to be rid of. But as they more often live on waste land than in cultivated land I suppose it doesn't matter very much to us what they eat."

"We have Snipes, much like Sandpipers, Phalaropes that breed in the Arctic, Plovers and Turnstones."

"What is a pensile nest?"

Being boosted up the family tree is one of the poorer ways of climbing to success.

Ship's Stores Head Ends Six Years Of Supplying

F. W. Reynolds, head of the Ship's Stores Administration of Wartime Prices and Trade Board, whose home is at 11 Burton Avenue, closed his desk on Saturday, ending six years of combing the country for foodstuffs and other commodities to supply the thousands of ships that docked in Canadian ports since the early years of the war. The administration was formed to locate and procure the supplies vitally required to keep "operational" the troopships, hospital transports and freighters loaded with war supplies bound out of Canadian ports for the theatres of war. During his six years as head of the administration, Mr. Reynolds has succeeded in locating ships' supplies amounting to millions of dollars. He now is retiring to re-urn to his brokerage business. Reviewing his work with the administration, Mr. Reynolds said that "the going was pretty rocky times." However, due to a care-al survey of the supply situation in Canada, the administration was able to get most of the supplies required, and received good cooperation from suppliers who saw to it that vitally needed supplies arrived at the ports on time. He said that the biggest job was supplying provisions to transports like the Queen Mary, Queen Elizabeth and the Aquitania which needed great quantities of foodstuffs and other supplies because of their tremendous capacity. He is taking one of their lists home as a souvenir, and said that it is good to know that those big jobs are over. "It took a lot of crapping around to get the orders filled," he concluded.

Education Only Can Ever Solve Traffic Problem

The visit of the Road Safety Mission appointed by the Government of the Union of South Africa to study methods of safety existing in the United States of America and in Canada must convey to all the necessity for taking stock here on this North American Continent, declared Arthur Gaboury, Secretary-General, Province of Quebec Safety League. This Safety Mission comprised M. la C. Loftus, Road Engineer, Capetown, as Chairman; G. B. Weale, Road Engineer and K. A. E. Heinje, Department of Transport, both of Pretoria and A. F. Trew, General-Secretary, Automobile Association of South Africa, Johannesburg.

Through the various deliberations with the members of the Mission, it has been brought forcibly to mind that we are behind the times in many ways, added Col. Gaboury. It is realized that our streets are not wide enough, that a subway will take years to build when street cars can be removed from the surface. With the creation of a subway, however, this would not eliminate street hazards caused by automobiles which are here to stay and which year by year will appear in ever increasing numbers.

Self-Education
Only one thing remains, maintains Col. Gaboury, and that is self education of each and every user of the streets and highways. First of all the driver should not take any more than the space allotted him; secondly, he should not park his car all day long especially on those streets which are not wide enough to take care of such parking. Pedestrians also have a definite responsibility in carrying out the spirit of the law. The troubles on our streets can be cured, concluded Col. Gaboury, only when each individual assumes his or her part in giving consideration to others and not taking any more space than that to which they are entitled.

M.A.A.A. Clubhouse Leased To Government

It was announced at City Hall this week, that the club house of the Westmount Athletic grounds is being leased to the Department of National Defence for three years, retroactive to May 1, 1947, without option of renewal, at an annual rental of $12,000. Since the war, reserve units of the R.C.O.C. and R.C.E. have been quartered in the clubhouse. The army will not be using any other part of the grounds.

Know Your Homoeopathic X-Ray Department Used Extensively For Rating

One of the factors in determining the status of a modern hospital and which is necessary to obtain a first class rating from the American College of Surgeons is the fact that the hospital must be equipped with an efficient X-Ray department under the direction of a competent Radiologist. There is no laboratory in a hospital whose work is more in demand than that of the X-Ray department. A patient arriving for an examination is often deceived by the ease and the speed with which the radiographs are taken and the diagnosis rendered, so that he has little or no idea of what goes into the making of an efficient X-Ray department. He is ushered into the depart-

Robert Laird Obsequies Held

Robert Laird, beloved husband of Marion Peat Gentles, who resided at 266 Lansdowne Avenue, died in the Homoeopathic Hospital in his 57th year following a brief illness.

Born in Scotland, Mr. Laird came to Canada in 1921 from Coatridge, Scotland, and has been employed by the C.P.R. for many years. He was a member of the Westmount Park United Church.

Mr. Laird's chief outside hobbies were carpet bowling and travelling. Before his death, he planned to leave on a trip to California this week with his family.

He is survived by his wife, two sons, Charles Stuart and John, and a daughter Marian, all of this city.

The funeral service was performed yesterday morning at the D. A. Collins Funeral Home on Sherbrooke Street West by Rev. Andrew Mowatt, of St. Andrew's Church, Westmount. Interment was at Mount Royal Cemetery.

If four rubber-tipped door stops are screwed into the legs of an ordinary chair, it will make an ideal high chair for kitchen work, or for a small ment often on a stretcher and often badly injured and within a very short space of time several radiographs are taken and shortly after he arrives on the ward his Physician or Surgeon is fully informed of his condition. The patient has seen very little of the department and cannot form any idea of how things are done. Briefly the work of an X-Ray department is, first, proper equipment; secondly, proper use of this equipment in that the technical procedure should be of the best, thirdly, an efficient handling of the patient, and finally the diagnosis of his condition. In addition, X-Radiation is used extensively for the treatment of numerous conditions, particularly cancer.

Even with modern methods of manufacture the production of an X-Ray machine is a costly process and because of the constant improvement of X-Ray machines a modern hospital must often purchase new machines even within a short time. It is also true that their upkeep can be costly and constant care is necessary to keep the machines operating efficiently. The training of the personnel is a long and costly process.

A Radiologist, in addition to his medical degree, require at least three years post-graduate training and often longer, his technical staff requires at least two years of training and often two or more years before they are

MAY EXPORTS HIGHEST SINCE THE WAR

Canadian exports in May were valued at $267.8 million, their highest point since the final month of the war, August 1945. They represent an increase of $76.9 million over the previous month, and are $70.8 million higher than the average for the first four months of 1947. The cumulative total for the first five months of 1947 amounted to $1,055.8 million, 18 per cent higher than that recorded for the same period in 1946, and well over three times the 1938 total of $312.1 million.

The opening of navigation on the St. Lawrence in May contributed substantially to the very sharp increase in the value of exports for the month. This was reflected in the fact that the bulk of the increases were concentrated in trade with overseas countries, principally the United Kingdom, India, New Zealand, the British West Indies, Belgium, France, Italy and the Netherlands. Exports of agricultural products recorded the largest rise, and were more than double those for the preceding month. Wheat exports were valued at $30.2 million, and flour at $24.9 million. Base metals were also prominent, with aluminum exports at $9.5 million, and nickel at $6.9 million.

SENDING FOOD PARCELS TO EUROPE

It is now possible for Canadians to send CARE food and clothing textile packages to Eire. The agreement with CARE (Co-operative for American Remittances to Europe, Inc.) was signed by Ireland's Deputy Prime Minister, Sean F. Lemas, in Dublin earlier this month.

Ireland is the fifteenth country to sign the CARE agreement, permitting Canadians to send these non-profit food and textile packages as gifts to friends and relatives abroad. The packages are delivered duty and ration free in all countries. They can be ordered by sending $10 (Canadian) to CARE, Ottawa.

It has also been announced that the CARE service to England, Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland has been extended. It is now possible to send CARE's textile packages—a blanket, a woollen and a cotton package—to designated individuals and groups in the United Kingdom. Previously only the CARE food package could be sent to addressees there.

Just returned from a survey of CARE operations in several countries abroad, P. C. French, CARE director, reported that a new method of shipping and delivering CARE packages abroad was being worked out. "We have high hopes that this new system, when it is put into effect, will save valuable time in getting these much-needed packages to their ultimate destination—the tired and hungry people of Europe," he said.

(Canadian) CARE, approved by the Director of Voluntary War Relief, accepts orders for delivery in Austria, Belgium, Czechoslovakia, Finland, France, Great Britain, Greece, Hungary, Ireland (Eire), Italy, Netherlands, Poland, Rumania and Germany. (American, British and French zones, and Berlin.)

THE IRREPRESSIBLE PRESS

The press is not only among the principal bulwarks of individualism in Canada, but the names of many newspapers are hard to beat for real good individualism. Take, for instance, such weekly papers as the Antigonish Casket, Caledonia Grand River Sacher, Kaslo Kootenaiian, Lindsay Watchman, White Rock Semiahmoo Sun, Moosomin World Spectator, Blacks Harbour Fundy Fisherman, Bathurst Northern Light, Princeton Similkameen Star, Mount Forest Confederate, and the Cut Knife Grinder.

Many other fairly choice names come to mind, including such French weeklies as La Feuille d'Erable de Pleissisville and Coaticook's L'Etoile de l'Est.

A worthwhile exercise for anyone who professes to know Canada would be to try connecting the names of the cities of publication with the following names of daily newspapers: Ontario-Intelligencer, Expositor, Albertan, Guardian, Patriot, Standard-Freeholder, Mercury, Spectator, Whig-Standard, Le Devoir, British Columbian, Nugget, Le Droit, L'Action Catholique, Le Soleil-L'Evenement Journal, Star-Phoenix, Le Nouvelliste and the Shing Wah Times. That last one is a daily in Toronto.

For anyone who is still working on this, there are a couple of Finnish tri-weeklies in Sudbury and Toronto especially—Vapaus Vapaa Sana. Then there is that Icelandic weekly in Winnipeg, the Heimskringla.

But it's hard to beat good old Fred Whiskin's Punnichy Touchwood Times. That combination is individualism in a frenzy. Long may it run amuck, to the glory of the irrepresible press of Canada.

WEEKLY REVIEW

Attlee At The Cross-Roads

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

"Hayek thinks that the democratic statesman who sets out to plan economic life will soon be confronted with the alternative of either assuming dictatorial powers or abandoning his plans." That is a quotation from a pamphlet entitled "The Twilight of Freedom" by Dean Inge, and it seems to sum up the situation in which the British Labor Government has found itself as a result of its attempt to put into effect its nationalization program.

Prime Minister Attlee, in announcing his government's austerity program to meet the economic crisis, teetered between those two alternatives. He announced that there would be "some measure of control" over employment, including a possible limitation of employment in less essential work. Coal miners and other workers are to be asked to work longer hours and refrain from demanding increased wages. "Effective action" is to be taken to ensure efficient management in industry, and the government is to resume virtually all the dictatorial powers it exercised during the war.

On the other hand, it was pointed out in the British press that Mr. Attlee said nothing about the government's nationalization program, and it would appear that its plans in that direction were, for the time being at least, abandoned. This in itself could be taken as a tacit admission of the change made by Mr. Churchill that the government had "trickled away" the American loan on socialist experimentation. It is an admission that the government has failed utterly to accomplish what it promised the people of Britain to do—to set up a socialist state in which there would be economic security for all from the cradle to the grave. It has been freely predicted for some months in London that the Labor Government would not last the year out, or that some form of coalition would have to be agreed upon in order to save the nation from economic collapse. In this connection it is of interest to recall that the first Labor Government, which came into power after the First Great War, broke on the rocks of an economic crisis. The Labor Party at that time was split in two, and Ramsay MacDonald joined with the Conservatives and Liberals in a National Government to save the ship of state from total wreck.

It looks as if history was about to perform its old stunt of repeating itself, although Mr. Churchill has declared that there will be "no coalition," and the Labor Party has sufficient majority in the Commons, without the extreme leftists, to prevent a defeat. But the people of Britain have for a long time been fed up with wartime controls and shortages, and Mr. Attlee's program of increased controls and austerity may arouse popular clamour for the formation of an emergency cabinet composed of the best brains of the country. Apart from popular feeling, however, the economic mess in which the government finds itself is liable to grow worse and force Mr. Attlee to resign.

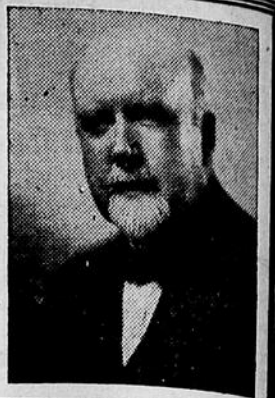

The only alternative would be for the Labor Government to assume absolute dictatorial powers, as Hayek points out, and regiment the workers and all the resources of the nation for the carrying out of a series of five-year plans on the Soviet model. Mr. Attlee, as a democratic statesman, is now confronted with the alternative of either assuming dictatorial powers or abandoning his socialistic plans. He is trying to take a middle course, but there is no middle road, for his government has come to the parting of the ways. One is the broad highway of democratic freedom, the other is the luring byway of socialism which leads to serfdom under Giant Despair.

THE FORUM.

Conducted by Howard S. Ross, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Since it launched the virtually commercialless radio serial, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," on Jan. 26, the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. each week has been spending about $200,000 and receiving 500 letters of commendation on its effort.

Coin-operated machines in the U. S. A. are selling $500,000,000 worth of small merchandise, such as candy and drinks, a year. Some retail experts figure the machines will be doing a $3,000,000,000 a year business by 1957.

There were 4,000,000 of them before their manufacture was stopped in wartime to save scarce material.

In England, candy, perfume, lipstick, and assorted drugstore-type items are sold by machines, which are wheeled outside at closing time to take care of after-hour customers.

The nine men appointed by President Truman endorsed his plan for peacetime conscription. Basing their conclusions on the danger of sudden war in which a dozen of the largest cities of the U. S. might be destroyed overnight, the Commission recommended that boys of 17 be registered and that all able-bodied lads of 18 be required to take six months of military training, on completion or abandonment of their secondary school education. "Under all circumstances the training would have to be completed before a young man reached 20 years of age." After they complete their basic course they will take their place in the different reserve services or the National Guard or the R.O.T.C. Between 750,000 and 950,000 young men will annually be conscripted at a cost of around $2,000,000,000 a year. Unfortunately this sort of insanity is apparently unavoidable as long as the economic systems of the world are based upon artificial scarcity rather than upon abundance which the world could and should have under an economic system founded upon justice and equity for all.

Why blame Ludger Dionne, M. P., for bringing the 100 Polish girls from Germany's Displaced Persons camps to work in his rayon mill? And no one should blame the able president of the Canadian Congress of Labor, A. R. Mosher for objecting, as long as we have an economic system based on artificial scarcity.

When will the world see the folly of continuing a system which prevents harmony between nations as well as between individuals within the different nations.

Dr. Kenyon, new president of the State of Georgia medical association has asked the association to sponsor practical courses on parenthood, in high schools as a move to combat divorce and broken homes. The association plans to seek a law permitting it to set up a voluntary prepayment plan of medical insurance.

There is an item going the rounds of the press to the effect that when Premier King greeted the delegates from Newfoundland he assured them that any talk of confederation would be "received with understanding and goodwill." upon which the salty delegation chairman, Gordon Bradley, K. C., an out-port lawyer, replied "Long may your big jib draw!"

Foreign Secretary Bevin said recently "America and Britain never gave France a chance at the end of the last war. I appeal to my American and British friends, for God's sake, give France a chance to come back. She has a great culture and wonderful powers of recuperation and states—Men today are standing up to all the opposition and great internal difficulties."

President Truman is reported to take great pains with the preparation and rehearsal of his radio speeches. Six drafts may be written before he is satisfied with the phrasing. He will then read aloud five or six times to get the delivery to suit him and the time he reads it to a wire recorder which is then replayed to him. If some of the words do not appear clear he will change the phrasing to get a better result.

Navy League's Flower Show

Plan now to see the beautiful exhibition of the Province of Quebec Gladiolus Society, which opens Wednesday August 27th at 1.00 p.m. in the Navy League Auditorium, 1429 Crosse Street, Montreal.

This beautiful display of the newest and finest varieties can truthfully be called the "Flower-of-the-Century". Quebec Hybridizers have introduced some beauties. See "Elizabeth-the-Queen", - a clear mauve, a production of Walter White in Verdun or "Mystery" a beautiful salmon pink by Mr. Stinson of Ville La Salle.

There will be beautiful spikes from other parts of Canada arriving by air to preserve their beauty for you to see. Every flower lover should see this grand display of Glads in the Navy League Auditorium, across the street from the Forum.

Then come to the auction Thursday evening and purchase your favourite colour. The net proceeds go to the Navy League, which sponsors the Royal Canadian Sea Cadets. Hundreds of Montreal boys receive the finest character-building training a boy can ever secure from the Sea Cadets. Support this splendid youth work and see this beautiful flower show.

Homeopathic

The X-Ray staff is on duty from 9:00 a.m., to 5:00 p.m., for the regular daily work but the Radiologist and technicians are on call for the remainder of the twenty-four hours a day, Sundays and Holidays.

In the past few years the cost of equipment has risen considerably and it has been extremely hard to get. Your hospital maintains an active service in both X-Ray diagnosis and treatment and is so equipped that X-Ray films can be taken of any patient wherever he may be in the hospital in his bed. During 1946 - 5977 patients passed through the X-Ray department; for which 6702 X-Ray examinations were made, - 380 patients were treated, receiving a total of 3624 treatments. The staff of the X-Ray department consists of one Radiologist, one receptionist, who is also a technician, two technicians, one student in training and two secretaries, one of which gives half of her time to the keeping of the cancer records of the hospital, and one dark-room orderly.

This behind-the-scenes work is not apparent to most patients. They are not aware also of the measures that are taken to maintain a technical efficiency, nor are they aware of the high cost of replacing X-Ray machinery and maintaining it in an efficient condition. The value of the equipment in this department is well over $30,000.00 and with the foregoing facts one can well imagine the cost of upkeep of this specific type of machinery. All of this is available for the needs of the community.

Next week we will tell you about the Maternity Division.

Crippled Children's Camp Has Service Club Day

Some 60 members of various Service Clubs of Montreal attended a Service Clubs' Day on Tuesday at the Crippled Children's Summer Camp at St. Alphonse de Joliette. The visitors were shown throughout the camp grounds and buildings, and attended a recreational programme given by the young campers. Before returning to the city, they were addressed on the work of the Society for Crippled Children and the camp activities on behalf of the crippled children.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir: I'm writing to ask you a great favour.

You see, it's like this. I came across a girl in the NAAFI who wrote asking you for pen-friends, and she's had lovely letters from the Canadian people. They have been terribly interesting, and she looks forward to them very much.

Do you think you could find me pen friends to write to. I would like very much to exchange views about your country and ours. My age is just twenty. - Miss Hazel Underwood, NAAFI 32220-R, Home Postal Centre, R. E. Camp, Sutton, Coldfield, Biham, England.

(Editor's Note) This might have developed from the printing in the Examiner last November of pictures of two English girls, who, together with four other girls, had written to Mayor Adams requesting that he help them secure pen-pals in Westmount. In our issue of January 24th of this year, we printed a letter of appreciation from these girls to Mayor Adams, saying that they were corresponding with several people in the city as a result of running their initial letter in the Examiner.

THE BEATITUDES - VI

"Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God." Here, at least, is no paradox. This is a saying that appeals to all of us; and yet there were probably some in our Lord's audience who were made uneasy by it, if they stopped to think.

There have always been those who have thought that if they observed their religious obligations outwardly, all would be well with them. It was against them that the prophete thundered their warnings. They placed their confidence in the Temple and the sacrifices, though the Prophets warned them that God looks not on the outward man, but on the inward, and that He is of purer eyes than to behold iniquity.

Our Lord emphasized the need of purity of heart in His explanation of the two commandments: "Thou shalt not kill", and "Thou shalt not commit adultery." He quietly rebuked those who felt that they were secure if they had not broken the letter of the Law; and carried them back to consider the evil that was in their hearts. "I say unto you, Whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause"—and, "Whosoever looketh upon a woman to lust after her": these are matters of the heart, and that man has already broken the law in his heart.

The pure in heart shall see God: that is, they shall see Him in such a way as to know Him, to understand Him, and to rejoice in Him. That is what St. John had in mind when he said, "Beloved, now are we the sons of her Overseas Missionary enterprises, and also of presenting the worldwide task of the Church to congregations and groups throughout the length and breadth of the land.

even at an early age, are rivals for the friendship of Oriana.

Richard and Oriana fall in love when they grow up and the girl promises to wait until he is rich enough to marry her. Francis, who has inherited a title and grown into an unpleasant young man, bides his time, hoping Richard will never be able to marry Oriana.

Richard, whose attempts at authorship have not been successful until he rescues a wealthy Spaniard Don Carlos, from London footpads, is sent to Spain to take some valuable jewellery for Don Carlos, who promises to publish his first novel. Francis sends his accomplice Wycroft after him to Spain to murder him and steal the jewellery.

Richard is robbed en route to Granada and left for dead in the mountains. Wycroft returns to London bringing news of Richard's death, and Oriana, believing her lover dead, agrees to marry Francis.

Meanwhile, in Spain, Rosal, (Jean Kent), a gypsy dancer, saves Richard's life and nurses him back to health. When he reads in an old English newspaper that Oriana has married Francis, he offers to wed Rosal, gypsy fashion.

Oriana soon finds life with Francis intolerable, and when she receives a letter from Richard reproaching her for not waiting for him, she leaves her husband and goes to Spain to find him. They met, but it is too late, as he is married to Rosal. Francis and Wycroft follow Oriana, and finding that Richard is wanted by the police, try to trap him. Oriana tells Francis she will return to England with him if he will clear Richard's name.

Francis makes a last attempt to kill Richard, but fatally wounds Rosal. A final fierce struggle between the two rivals ends in Francis being killed, leaving Oriana and Richard to face life anew together.

Grayson, Lawford and Sinatra Top Cast Of "It Happened In Brooklyn"

The delightful hit, "It Happened in Brooklyn", which is now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday, enlists the talents of such song-and-dance, romance-and-comedy headliners as Frank Sinatra, Kathryn Grayson, Peter Lawford and Jimmy Durante.

Based on the fresh and imaginative tale of a shy, ex-GI from Brooklyn, who has extolled the virtues of his native borough to a long-writing Englishman and then to make good his spectacular promises when the latter pays him a visit—even to finding him a girl, who turns out to be his own girl—the picture moves at a stimulating pace, is replete with humorous plot maneuverings interlarded with song-and-dance interludes, and gives its quartette of stars every opportunity to shine.

Sinatra is cast as the boy who thinks of Brooklyn as the friendliest and most wonderful place in the world, and proves it to his English friend, Peter Lawford, even to the extent of stepping aside when Lawford falls in love with Kathryn Grayson. Jimmy Durante is the jaunty school janitor who yearns to be another "Mr. Chips" and who is instrumental in disentangling the knotted romantic mixup.

The picture's songs run from jive to Miss Grayson's lovely rendition of the "Bell Song" from "Lakme" and her duet with Sinatra in an aria from "Don Giovanni". You will also be humming such ear-pleasing tunes as "Time After Time", "The Brooklyn Bridge", "I Believe", "The Song's Gotta Come From The Heart", "It's The Same Old Dream" and "Whose Baby Are You", the latter sung and danced by Peter Lawford.

A topnotch supporting cast includes Gloria Grahame, Marcy McGuire, Aubrey Mather, Tamara Shayne, Billy Roy and Bobby Long.

WOMEN WITH IDEAS

Dr. RUTH WOLFE
By MURIEL THOMSON

Exact scientific knowledge of hormones, the ductless glands which develop the sexual characteristics of the body, is of recent origin in medicine, according to Dr. Ruth Wolfe, Madison Avenue, who worked for six years in Germany with Professor Zondek, the man who did much of the groundwork in this field and who discovered the "pregnancy test" for women. Dr. Wolfe, now the managing director for a leading international firm which promotes the use of hormones, sailed yesterday for a two months' visit to the Continent.

Endocrinology is the name of the science in which Dr. Wolfe is a specialist. Receiving her M. D. degree from the University of Freiburg in Germany, she practiced for some time in Berlin. Her license was taken from her by the Nazis in 1938, and the following year she came to Canada to introduce her firm, which was already known in the United States and Europe. Five detail men now work with her, and part of her duties consists of training this staff, as well as describing for the public in both French and English the products whose research is accomplished in the United States. "It is easy to get along in Canada where everyone is tremendously helpful," she claims.

Without hormones there could be no normal marital life, Dr. Wolfe told me. Should some disturbance occur in their development, ways have been found to inject lacking supplies, she affirms, and points out that they are especially important during the middle years of life for both men and women. Besides her commercial work, Dr. Wolfe gives voluntary clinical service at the Royal Victoria Hospital, which she enjoys very much.

Fluent in French, English and

Dr. RUTH WOLFE

German, and with a knowledge of Spanish, Dr. Wolfe has the European's traditional love of music, which she indulges at concerts. She learned to weave in Quebec, and now fashions all her own linens and upholsteries.

Miss Helen Thatcher Leaves For U.S. Post

Miss Helen Thatcher, who has been for the past two years General Secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, left yesterday for Brooklyn where she will take up her new duties as Associate General Secretary to the branch of the Y.W.C.A., which is one of the largest in the United States.

Before coming to Montreal Miss Thatcher was Associate General Secretary in Cleveland and during the war served with the U. S. O. giving training in

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

On Saturday evening, twenty relatives and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Lajole, 3441 St. Antoine St. Westmount at a surprise party in anticipation of the couple's silver wedding anniversary, on Tuesday, August 19th.

There were many beautiful presents brought and a delightful evening was spent.

ENGAGEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Farrell M. Scarlett, of Westmount, announce the engagement of their elder daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Mr. Walter C. Clapperton, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Clapperton, the marriage to take place on Friday, September 12th.

APPROACHING MARRIAGES

The marriage of Barbara Mary, daughter of the late Thomas Gerald Burke and Mrs. Vera Elaine Bates, to Mr. William Blackwood Pollin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pollin, is taking place on Saturday afternoon, September 6th, at half-past three o'clock in the Sacristy of the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord, Westmount.

The marriage of Alice Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Field, to Mr. Roger Wyndham Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Smith, is taking place tomorrow evening at seven o'clock in St. Matthias Church, the Rev. Canon Gilbert officiating.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Gladys, to Mr. Walter Mount Naylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Whitwell Naylor, of Toronto, to take place on Saturday, September 13th, at four o'clock in Westmount Park United Church, Westmount.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nixon, of Toronto, announce the approaching wedding of their daughter, Mary Robertson (Molly) to Mr. Howard F. Bartrum, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. G. Bartrum, of Westmount. The ceremony will take place tomorrow, in Toronto.

The bride elect served with the W.R.C.N.S. during the war. The bridegroom was with the R.C.N.V.R. and is a B.Sc. of Toronto University.

The marriage of Edith Ruth, daughter of Mrs. Preston Stevenson, of Montreal, and Mr. J. A. Stevenson, of Ottawa, to Mr. Robert Seath Gurd, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles C. Gurd, of Westmount, has been arranged to take place tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock in St. Matthias Church, the Rev. Canon Gilbert officiating. The bride's attendants will be Miss Janet Wallace and Miss Pamela Aird, as bridesmaids. Mr. Charles Gurd will be groomsmen for his brother and the ushers will be Dr. Ian Stevenson, Mr. James Thackray, Mr. Walter Gurd and Mr. John McKinley.

The ceremony will be followed by a reception at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel.

leadership and personality. She was also for some time in Turkey with the Y.W.C.A. During her association with the Y.W.C.A. in Montreal Miss Thatcher took a leading part in many activities and was a member of the Executive of the Canadian Camping Association.

AT THE DENTIST

When parents take their children to the dentist, they should treat it as a routine matter, not as a momentous occasion, say the specialists. They should let the dentist do the talking for, after all, it's his advice and services for which payment is being made.

Further advice from dental health authorities is—"Leave the child to the dentist. Stay in the waiting room unless you are asked to remain in the inner office. If you are invited in, offer no advice nor comment to the child unless the doctor has previously requested it."

Miss Edith Egerton, Tupper Street, spent the weekend at her country home at Hemmingford, Que.

Mrs. T. W. Deachman, Victoria Avenue, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Joan Deachman and her sons, Robert and Tommy, have returned from a two-months vacation in the Maritimes* at Port Greville, Cumberland County, where they were the guests of Mrs. Deachman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Harding Ayer.

Mrs. D. Bannerman, Albert Place, and her two children, Heather and Gary, have been spending the summer with friends in Vermont and expect to return to town about the beginning of next month.

Mrs. M. Rogers, Elm Avenue, has just returned from a vacation spent in the Eastern Townships. Her daughter, Miss Aileen

Rogers, will be arriving from Old Orchard, Maine, weekend.

Mrs. R. A. Davenport, 17 Albert Avenue, entertained at pyrex shower in honor of Barbara Anne Carpenter, whose marriage is taking place tomorrow. Miss Pauline Gomery, 17 more Avenue, gave a kitchen shower for Miss Carpenter, Miss Barbara Wright Cote St. Antoine Road, was hostess at a cellaneous shower for the bride elect.

CANADIAN SCHOOL OF ELECTRICITY

In a year when we have read of so many drowning accidents and so much ignorance of the ordinary rules governing Water Safety, the Red Cross Society continues to urge these rules on those whom they instruct in Swimming and Water Safety knowledge. These instructors, having received certificates authorizing them to teach Water Safety throughout the Province of Quebec, in turn pass on their knowledge to boys and girls of school age, particularly between 12 and 18 years. Canada has had the sad drowning rate of 1,000 yearly, 300 being the too high ratio from Quebec; but we hope that these totals may be cut this year. The aim of the Canadian Red Cross Society is to have 5,000 instructors teach anti-drowning knowledge in all parts of Canada; Quebec already has 300 such Red Cross instructors.

The programme is based on avoidance of accidents rather than on rescue methods, and on practice of safe swimming rather than on interest in prize-winning sports technique. The Committee is headed by Dr. A. T. Bazin, ably seconded by committee members Brig. Guy Gauvreau, Lucien Asselin, Dr. H. Graham Ross, M. M. Bruker and Roger Latourelle. The men who do the actual instruction are Mr. Donald Rose and Mr. Lucien Pilon, directing operations personally by many trips to outlying centres where they constantly preach and teach the gospel of safe conduct in and on the water. The young people they teach in turn spread the knowledge that has already saved many lives and no doubt will safeguard many more.

Only recently Barrie Behan, a Red Cross Senior Swimmer living in Temiskaming, won a well deserved award, the Medallion of the Royal Humane Society. He had just finished taking his Senior Water Safety Test through the Temiskaming Branch of the Red Cross when he made two swimming rescues last month, saving the lives of two teen-aged boys who would have drowned if Barrie had not known the essentials of Water Safety. We congratulate him heartily, and we know the end of the season will bring word of many others who have shown the same skill and resources in danger.

Lucien Pilon has recently been in Arvida, conducting leadership courses there. In Three Rivers he has also been instructing children from the Society O.T.J.—l'Oeuvre des Terrains de Jeux.

Donald Rose started on August 5 a two-weeks trip to the lower St. Lawrence, visiting Grand Mere, Shawinigan Falls, Three Rivers, Quebec City, Levis, Montmagny, Rivière du Loup and Trois Pistoles, giving Swimming and Water Safety instruction to leaders in those towns and cities through the Red Cross Branches already established there. At Trois Pistoles, where the University of Western Ontario has a large French Summer School, Mr. Rose was judge of the Swimming and Water Safety tests held there. On his return he will probably see his father, the well known swimming expert, Jimmie Rose, who has been contributing the same kind of instruction to poorer children from the village of Pointe au Pic.

A large number of camps operated for underprivileged children in the Province of Quebec, have adopted the Water Safety programme and are taking full advantage of the free instruction and awards offered by the Red Cross Society. Camp Chapleau, operated by the Old Brewery Mission, and Camp Lewis of the Montreal Boys' Association have for the last two years included in their Camp programme the Red Cross Swimming Tests and Water Safety Examinations. The "Fresh Air Camp" maintained and operated by the Montreal Daily Star is also actively interested in this work.

Red Cross Branches at Kenogami, Three Rivers, Shawinigan Falls and Waterloo have made great strides in this programme, and like other Branches which have formed Water Safety Committees, these communities have determined to cut down the yearly drowning rate of over 1,000 Canadian lives. In the Lake St. John district the Kenogami Branch has made special arrangements to use their spacious beach at Shipshaw. Two Water Safety instructors were appointed to handle the instruction and as a result 103 children of all ages have enrolled for the course.

You really couldn't blame old 1946 for being glad to step out of the world picture.

SASKATCHEWAN ROUGHRIDERS' FRONT LINE WALL

Montrealers With Regina

It will be a case of the young Lochinvars out of the west when the Saskatchewan Roughriders of Regina come here to the Montreal Stadium to open Alouettes home season in the Kiwanis Bowl Game on Wednesday August 27.

They are one of the youngest teams in Canadian senior football for their average age is only 23 years old. The youngest of them is 19 and the oldest is 29. He is Ken Preston, their playing coach and star backfielder who learned his football at Queen's University.

It is his second year in coaching and what he accomplished with the Roughriders, a weak team last season, gave the Regina executive confidence to hire him again and get out and grab some new playing material for him as well. Six of the newcomers to the squad are eastern "Imports", including four former Montrealers.

The Roughriders, who will be familiar faces on August 27 are the three former Eastward players. Art McEwan, Chuck Radley and Stan Rose. The fourth is Pop Poplowsky, who played five years here in the Big Four. But he calls himself Johnny Pope out west. He doubles in brass too for he is the teams publicity manager as well as playing in the backfield.

Roughriders combine a fast running line with a powerhouse up front. Around the centre is the line of five 200-pounders, who have experience as well as weight.

NDG Rovers Blank Westmount 5-0

N. D. G. Rovers' soccer club handed Westmount their first defeat of the season in regular league play Monday evening at Trenholme Park when they blanked the suburb city crew 5-0. The win put N.D.G. in a first place tie with the Westmount team.

Paul Rossetti broke the scoring ice after ten minutes of play in the first half to put the far west end team one up. Minutes later Frank Baron picked up a pass from Charlie Bell and rifled the ball into the left corner of the net to up the score to 2-0.

Charlie Bell notched his first of two goals at the five minute mark in the second half when he took a pass from brother Bill and floated a short shot into the cords.

He scored his second tally minutes later on a similar play and Nelson Wilson tallied the fifth

AUSSIES STRONGER THAN EXPECTED

As we predicted in this space two weeks ago, the Australians whipped the Canadian Davis Cuppers without the loss of a single set, and then went on to beat the Czechs in almost as decisive fashion.

The sudden return to his old time form of Jack Bromwich of the Aussies in the latter matches would seem to indicate that the big Southerner might possibly prove to be a stumbling block to the United States when the Americans defend the Cup, in New York at the end of this month. For Bromwich, the conqueror of the great Jaroslav Drobny in straight sets, is most certainly not the same tennis player who was edged out by Ted Schroeder of the Americans in the first singles match in Australia in last year's championship test.

Schroeder, or whoever is selected to play singles along with Jack Kramer, will have his hands full with the Aussie sharpshooter and with Dennis Pails, his singles team-mate. Kramer of course can be counted on in all faith to win both of his singles matches, although his play with Bromwich should be much closer than it was last December when these two rivals last met, and the blond Californian won in decisive fashion. Pails cannot hope to beat Kramer, who pushed him out of the Wimbledon tournament in four sets last spring (Pails was the only player in the tournament who took a set from the American) but should he have a good day, he will give the Americans' Number 2 men a good workout. The Aussies' strongest point is perhaps in the doubles, but unfortunately for the boys from Down Under, Kramer plays doubles every bit as adeptly as he does singles, and for his partner he will likely have Bob Falkenburg. These two are the world's champion men's doubles team, having won the honour at Wimbledon. However, their match with Bromwich and Long of the Aussies should be a hard-fought one either way.

So, in the final consensus, we find the Americans definitely favoured in two singles matches, with the Aussies rated tops in one, and the other a toss-up. Thus, the most important factor in the entire Tie may be the doubles, and that should also be the greatest attraction of the five matches. However, our Kramer-led neighbours are likely to sweep the entire tie without the loss of a set if they play the tennis of which they are capable. Anyway, it should be a great series of matches, this first final Davis Cup Tie to be played on North American soil since the days of the Second World War.

The Alouettes are rapidly rounding into condition for their game here against the Regina Rough Riders, on the 27th of August, and as things stand now, they should rate solid favourites to gain the laurels they so nearly captured from the Toronto Argos last year.

Back in the fold are the two best of the American imports, Virgil Wagner, runner-up to the Argos' Joe Krol as the leading scorer in the country last year, and Herb Trawyck, the best linesman Montreal fans have ever seen. Newly added are former Minnesota Gopher star Rube Juster, a lineman, and centre Jake Gaudaur, rated a better centre than Don Loney, All-Canadian snaphack last fall.

Another worthy addition is the kicking back Fred Kijek, rated among the best of the punters in the Dominion. Last year Kijek was with the Toronto Indians of the O.R.F.U., after earlier coming to Montreal to discuss terms with the Alouettes. This year he agreed with the club management, and as a result the Als need no longer lose 30 or 40 0yards in every kicking exchange with the Argos and Krol.

Nor have the Alouettes rivals been lax in signing up new men. The Argos have Doug Pyzer, late of Balmy Beach, a running back comparable to Royal Copeland, Canada's best. Hamilton have Buster Stephens, ex star fullback at Tennessee, and a great ball player in any man's game, and there is a possibility that they will wind up with Frank Filchock, the suspended American player, and for years one of the best in pro ranks below the border. The sleeper team in the race will be Ottawa, with all those fine hometown boys of theirs besides such notable additions as Benny Steck and Pete Finlay from the Alouettes and Don Loney from Toronto, beside their five American imports. It should be an even better season than last, when all box-office records were broken.

goal of the affair on a lovely play when he blasted the ball into the net from 25 yards out.

Goalie Albert Young played a sparkling game for the Rovers, turning aside shot after shot, and captain Jim McKelvie, while he didn't figure in the scoring column, turned in a steady two-way game.

Nothing is the best thing to do in a great hurry.

J. P. MARQUAND'S BEST-SELLER! Vanessa Brown and Ronald Colman, above, are co-starred with Peggy Cummins, famed new English star, in the film version of J. P. Marquand's novel, "The Late George Apley," which starts on Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre, playing for one week.

Spencer Tracy And Hepburn Team in "Sea Of Grass" At Snowdon

Magnificently photographed and beautifully enacted by a cast which includes Spencer Tracy, Katharine Hepburn, Robert Walker and Melvyn Douglas, "The Sea of Grass" now playing at the Snowdon United Theatre until Friday is one of the year's most distinguished dramatic hits.

Based on Conrad Richter's wide-read novel of the great land rush into New Mexico at the turn of the century, the story centers on Col. Jim Brewton, pioneer little baron who has given his life's blood to open up the cattle country and who is determined to keep out the oncoming homesteaders who will destroy his beloved "sea of grass". His inimitable enemy is Brice Chamberlain, altruistic lawyer who represents the claims of the homesteaders.

Col. Brewton has little trouble fighting the lawyer, but it is when he brings back a bride from St. Louis, the beautiful and spirited Lutie Cameron, that he finds he has a real opponent, for the sensitive Lutie is won over to the cause of the homesteaders. Their marriage is a failure and Lutie, swayed by Chamberlain, leaves Brewton and the two children. It is only when the children are grown; when the son, Brock, is killed by a posse after gambling murder, and Brewton finally lost his cause, that Lutie returns to him.

Spencer Tracy makes a welcome appearance as Col. Brewton. It is a role well suited to the dynamic qualities of this star and he gives it everything he's got. Katharine Hepburn is tremendously appealing as the wife who finds "the sea of grass" her most dangerous rival; Robert Walker is excellent as devil-may-care Brock, and Melvyn Douglas completes the cast of stars with a persuasive portrayal of the embattled lawyer. The stars are given fine support by a large cast which includes Phyllis Thaxter, Edgar Buchanan, Harry Carey, Ruth Nelson, Bill Phillips and Robert Armstrong.

Grace Players To Hold Banquet

Preceding their Annual Meeting on Monday September 8th the Grace Players will hold a Banquet in their lecture hall, corner Fortune and Wellington Sts., Point St. Charles. Dinner will be served at 6.45 p.m. and the Annual Meeting and Election of Officers will commence at 8.15 p.m. Under the direction of Lee Prime of M.R.T. the Grace Players had a very successful season and all indications point to a greater success in the 47-48 season. The "play reading committee" have met during the summer and next seasons productions will be announced at the Annual Meeting.

All those wishing to attend the Banquet, and have not been advised by mail, must make their reservations with the Secretary at TRenmore 1349 by August 25th.

Those who cannot attend the Banquet and are interested in joining this group in any capacity are asked to be present at the Annual Meeting which will commence at 8.15 p.m.

Mucilage Substitute

Quite often when one is in a hurry to mail a letter, there will be but one stamp and it has no mucilage on its back. In this predicament all necessary is to moisten the mucilage flap on another envelope, run the stamp then place on the letter to be over the dampened part quickly, mailed.

Fur coat season is the time when wife reminds hubby how he spent $50 for a fishing outfit last summer to catch a fifty-cent fish.

"That Brennan Girl" Heads Fine Program At Monkland Theatre

The film drama, "That Brennan Girl", which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre, until Friday is one of the most compelling and unusual pictures of the season. The stars of this new production are James Dunn, Academy Award winner for his fine portrayal in "A Tree Grows In Brooklyn"; Mona Freeman, one of the most popular and talented of the younger actresses; June Duprez, well-known glamor type enacting a mother role for the first time; William Marshall, whose rugged yet boyish charm was noted in "Earl Carroll's Sketchbook".

Modern in setting as well as theme, "That Brennan Girl" tells the story of a delinquent girl who lifts herself above her environment. No punches are pulled in portraying the extent of juvenile delinquency caused by the indifference and misguidance of a vain, shallow and mercenary mother. The story is laid in present-day San Francisco.

Something new in rackets as well as racketeers is revealed in the picture. James Dunn is seen as the polished crook who, with the aid of an angelic-looking young girl, played by Mona Freeman, talks wealthy families into permitting his "company" to handle their moving jobs. His vans, lettered as being part of a non-existent firm, haul away the furniture, immediately re-upholstered and rush it to a hideaway where it is shipped out of town to be sold.

Although a crook, the man portrayed by James Dunn is also extremely sentimental, a quality which eventually leads to his reformation.

HELD OVER AT PARK

The above scene shows a portion of the vast throngs that watch Peejay Ringers' "Sensational Aerial Cyclist" daily at Belmont Park. Here we see him emerging from the water tank after completing his "Suicide Ride" down a lofty and lengthy runway.

Thrill Attraction At Belmont Park

One of the most unusual "Thrill" attractions to play Belmont Park in many a moon is currently entertaining vast throngs daily at Montreal's only purveyor of outdoor amusement and fun. Peejay Ringens is the name and he is now in his second week.

Peejay uses a very unusual equipment, consisting of a very lofty runway that is somewhat similar to a roller coaster incline, for the presentation of his act. Ringens rides a free-wheeling bicycle down the lengthy incline . . . gaining momentum all the time. At the end of the ramp his terrific speed sends him hurtling out into space and, as he loses momentum, he drops the machine from under him and finally dives into a tank containing less than four feet of water.

In guarding his safety, Peejay carefully checks his equipment daily, before each performance . . . giving the ramp and his bicycle a thorough going-over. He also checks the velocity of the wind as he makes his ascent to the top. Too much or too little speed would cause him to miss the tank . . . hitting its metal sides or embracing Mother Earth, resulting in possible serious injury.

His daring bicycle stunt, aptly termed "The Suicide Ride", is presented daily at 5 and 11 p.m. Youngsters are certainly having the time of their lives at Belmont Park as guests of Magasins E-M Stores, sponsors of the Back-to-School Kiddies Days now being celebrated daily.

Bring the entire family to the park for a day's outing; you and they will thoroughly enjoy same for there are countless attractions for one and all with a special "Kiddie Park" for the wee ones. Dance in the evening to Benny Louis and his famed Casa Loma Orchestra.

Monday September 1st will be the final day of operations at Belmont Park this season.

Mrs. A. Davidson Funeral Held

Funeral service for Mrs. A. P. Davidson, the former Elizabeth Colquhoun Russel, who died Tuesday at her home, 525 Victoria Avenue, was held yesterday afternoon from the Chapel of Tees and Co., 1459 Tower Street. Rev. Andrew Mowat performed the service.

Born in Scotland, Mrs. Davidson came to Montreal 30 years ago, and resided in Westmount since that time. She was an active member of St. Andrew's United Church.

She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. F. B. Campbell, London, Ont., and Miss Betty, of this city.

C. A. Paterson Funeral Rites

Funeral service was held yesterday for Charles Arthur Paterson, for many years a chartered accountant in Montreal, who died Tuesday morning in his 65th year, at his residence, 339 Victoria Avenue after a lengthy illness.

Born in Bucksborn, Aberdeenshire, Scotland, in 1882, Mr. Paterson came to Canada in 1904, and joined the staff of the Bank of Toronto in Montreal. In 1905, he joined the staff of McIntosh and Hyde chartered accountants and in 1909 he passed the final examinations of the Society of Chartered Accountants of the Province of Quebec. For a number of years he was a partner in the firm of MacIntosh, Robertson and Paterson, chartered accountants.

He is survived by a brother, John, of Westmount; and a brother and two sisters resident in Dundee, Scotland.

Funeral service was held from the Chapel of Joseph C. Wray and Bro. 1234 Mountain Street. Interment was in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Temple Emanu-El

Registration in all departments of the religious school will take place at 10 o'clock on Sunday, September 7th. The school this year will be again under the direction of Miss Frances Katz, M.A. Regular classes in the High School and Confirmation department will commence Saturday morning, September 13th. The kindergarten junior and intermediate departments will commence regular sessions on Sunday morning, September 14th. The Hebrew department this year will be under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Wolk. Daily Hebrew classes are held in conjunction with the Saturday and Sunday morning sessions.

Regular worship will be resumed in the Temple auditorium on Friday evening, September 5th. At present summer Minyon services are held on Friday evenings at 8.15 in the Temple Community House.

BUILDS RACING STABLE

Alan Ladd, star of Paramount's "Whispering Smith" who became interested in horses when he had to learn to ride for a screen role, has become one of filmdom's top racehorse owners. He now owns a string of four promising "youngsters," yearlings and two-year-olds.
