GREAT BRITAIN.

THE LATE MR. WEST'S PICTURES.

The sale of the collection of pictures belonging to, and painted by, the late Benjamin West, Esq. who was so long the President of our Royal Academy, commenced yesterday. The number consists of one hundred and eighty of his compositions in almost every branch of the Art; amongst them are some of the most celebrated of his productions, illustrative of sacred, epic, classic, familiar, and landscape subjects. In this collection there are many productions which, in the original or by engravings, are somewhat familiar to the public eye; but added to them are, so many as were finished of thirty-five pictures, commanded by his late Majesty, "to adorn the Royal Chapel proposed to be erected in Windsor Castle." There is connected with this fact one of such a generous character that we cannot forbear to mention it—His present Majesty has been graciously pleased to bestow on Mr West's family all those noble works that were completed. Amongst them are Moses receiving the Laws—The Universal Deluge—and The Crucifixion of Our Saviour. The first named has a simple grandeur and awful force about it that impress the mind with superior and supernatural feeling. The Crucifixion of Our Saviour is an equally powerful production. This was the design, according to his late Majesty's command, for painted glass for the large west window in St. George's Chapel, Windsor. In this collection there is the great (in every sense of the word) picture of Christ rejected by the Jews—a picture for which the sum of £19,000 was refused. It is a wonderful production. The meek and lowly Jesus is an instructive and admirable contrast to the insolent, powerful, and tauntingly magnificent bearing of the Jews. On the opposite side of the grand room in which this picture appears is placed the truly memorable and appalling painting of Death on the Pale Horse. The representation is the opening of the first five seals—but its terrific sublimity, the daringness of design, and the effective and bold execution, cannot adequately be described, certainly not in this brief notice. It is said that the collection is "the only legacy for his children." When all perceive the improved taste, the magnificent and cultivated enterprise of the present times, the statement just made requires no comment. West admirably painted The Death of Wolfe, and The Death of Nelson; and we doubt not that events will show, in the progress of this sale, as in other matters, "That England will do its duty." Having mentioned those two remarkable paintings, (productions so well known from the numerous engravings that have circulated through the world), it would be great injustice to the deceased artist not to remind the reader that The Death of Wolfe was a most courageous production, effecting an era in the arts. It rejected the olden fashion of attiring modern heroes in the costume of ancient Greece or Rome. West persevered in his own opinions in spite of the advice from, and alarms expressed by, traditional or classic notions—and triumphed in establishing that "anachronisms are not only unnecessary, but inadmissible in painting, as entirely incompatible with historical truth." It was engraved, with congenial genius, by Woollett; and such is said to have been its success that a fine proof impression has produced, at a public sale, the sum of fifty pounds!

The sale commenced yesterday, under the able management of Mr. George Robbins, and the following are the prices of some of the Pictures which were sold:—

Lot 4..... 60 guineas	Lot 37..... 120 guineas

NAVAL MECHANICS.

A novel scene was presented to us yesterday by the Galatea, 42, Capt. Charles Napier, C. B. being propelled out of harbor by the use of paddle-wheels, worked with winches by the ship's company. At five minutes before nine in the morning she slipped her mooring, half an hour before high water, the flood running one knot. The ship's company, consisting of 120 men, were into three divisions—two divisions manned the winches, and started the ship, making eleven turns of the paddle-wheels (which were seven feet wide, two feet wider than those used in the Active,) in a minute. By this apparatus she went two and a half knots. At a quarter past nine o'clock, when off the platform, the winches were manned with the three divisions, when the speed of the paddles was increased to nearly thirteen revolutions, by which the ship was propelled three knots. On hauling round the buoy of the spit, the breeze freshening to the westward, the wheels were unconnected, and sail was made, when the paddles were allowed to go round, without impeding the ship's progress. At not any time were the men permitted to work up to their full strength. Even with the peace establishment, provided there was an object in view, they could keep regularly at work the greater part of the day; and, with the war complement, the operation might be continued in a calm for any length of time. With a full crew, the Galatea would have gone nearly four knots. It ought to be observed, that this was the first trial, and that the men were unused to the winches. The merit of this project, that of working the wheels by winches, belongs to her gallant Captain, and the utility of its adaptation to ships in certain emergencies, according to the experiment of yesterday was decisive. Instances have often occurred in the late war, when such a resort would have enabled our ships to have come up with an enemy in a calm, or to have got away from under a battery, as well as to have assisted against the attack of gun-boats in the Gut of Gibraltar or in the Baltic. On reference to an experiment with propelling apparatus, made on board the Active frigate, about eight years since, when Capt. Burton applied his invention to that ship, we find the greatest speed obtained in getting her out of harbor, with the power of 240 men working at the capstans, was little more than a mile in an hour, the paddle wheels revolving only nine times in a minute; and this at a cost of so much labor that the men were obliged to relinquish work from exhaustion, when abreast the mouth of the harbor. The superiority, therefore, of Capt. Napier's suggestion, that of working the wheels by winches, is conclusive.—Hampshire Telegraph.

Racing Prospects for 1829.—In the country, racing has improved to an astonishing extent. The stakes at Bath have upwards of a hundred subscribers; the Great St. Leger has ninety-eight; one of the Liverpool cups has fifty entries, (the most numerous ever known;) the A-cot cup brings out the finest field ever brought together; and all the other nominations in various parts of the country for this and two or three years to come, are liberal to a degree unparalleled in the annals of the turf. A slight notice of the immense sum annually subscribed in sweepstake's cups, matches, &c. may not be uninteresting. In France, five thousand franc gifts are considered magnifique, and certainly they do sound well; but what will they say to the subscription for one race week amounting to nearly thirty thousand pounds? This is the case at the Newmarket Craven meeting, nor are the entries for the other meetings out of keeping. The first spring meeting is, at present, between £14,000 and £15,000, which, added to the other five meetings at Newmarket gives a total of considerably more than fifty thousand pounds, independent of many stakes and matches, &c. to be made in the course of the season. The different produce stakes up to 1833 are also numerous filled, several of them reaching the value of £5,000 each, and swelling the amount of the engagements at Newmarket now on the books to upwards of one hundred and twenty six thousand pounds! and this sum would be more than doubled if the lists were completed to that period.

FOREIGN.

An article from Constantinople, of April 29, states that a Russian Councillor of State had arrived at Shoumla, for the purpose of entering into negotiations for peace with the Grand Vizir. In consequence of despatches from the latter, several Russian officers at Constantinople had been set at liberty.

From Alexandria, April 3, it was stated that a corps of from 12 to 20,000 men were to leave Cairo in a few days, destined to the service of the Sultan.

Hamburg, 23rd. May.—The uncertainty still prevailing with respect to the policy likely to be adopted by Russia and England, has infused a considerable degree of dullness into our stock market.

No further accounts have been received of the popular commotions in Persia, but the Mussulmen regard a breach with Russia as inevitable—the Kourds, the Circassians, and the Lasians, are in arms. The French Government has determined on an immediate and vigorous attack upon Algiers.

Turkish Frontiers, May 1.—Among the numerous reports that have been put into circulation by the approaching recommencement of hostilities, is one, according to which the Turks surprised Kavarna and Balezio with superior forces, and put to death the whole of the Russian garrisons found there.

Jassy, May 1.—The new Grand Vizir has advanced to the vicinity of Varna, but the reinforcements received thereby General Roth within the three last weeks, are estimated at 30,000 men. Before the 13th inst. Count Diebitz will have his head quarters at Bazardjik; the Turkish Spahis, however, already show themselves in small parties, in different parts of Bulgaria, so that the troops march in strong columns, and the convoys of provisions are sent under strong escort. In Little Wallachia some light Turkish corps show themselves from time to time. Achmed Pacha of Widin, is said to have under his command 30,000 men.

The following are extracts from the Paris Messenger des Chambres of the 25th May:

On the 5th April the Russian squadron was at Peros, to the number of four ships of the line, three frigates, a corvette, and two brigs. It was reported in the island, that Admiral Heyden having considered with the President what place of refuge the squadron should choose in case of war with England, the port of Napoli had been chosen, and that in consequence thirty pieces of cannon, (twenty four pounders) had been placed at the entrance of it. It is added that the admiral having since become sensible that it was impossible to escape in that port from the English fleet, had resolved to join his squadron to that which is blockading the Dardanelles, and in case of a declaration of war, immediately to force the passage to proceed into the Black Sea. It was affirmed at Peros, that this junction would very soon be effected.—Courier de Smyrne, April 12th.

There appears to be a strange desire in some of the French papers to insulate the expectations of immediate hostilities in the Mediterranean between the British and Russian Squadrons. The Courier de Smyrne, influenced by Turkish politics, would no doubt rejoice at such an event, but it is with some surprise we see the article copied into a Paris paper, which has a demi-official character.

Paris, May 25th.—We learn by the Courier de Smyrne, that the Russians had attempted, towards the end of March, a landing with 4,000 men at Platana, near Trebizond, but that the cavalry of the Pacha of Kars, and the garrison forced them to re-embark; two transports were taken. The same paper announces that the Turkish army, which had cut its way to Akhalzek, had previously destroyed a Russian advanced corps that covered the approaches to that place on the sides of Armenta. The German Journals continue to speak of the arrival of a Russian flag of truce at Shoumla.—Gaz. de France.

Letters from St. Petersburg assert that all the reports respecting a blockade of the ports of Asia Minor and that of Alexandria are without foundation. The Russian Government has not instituted any blockade but that of the Dardanelles. It is added, that it had not even the intention, or at least that it no longer has the intention, of instituting any further blockade. It is thought that the blockade of the Dardanelles will soon be raised, because it does not at all contribute to the progress of the Russian arms, and continues to be, as it was at the beginning, a cause of irritation between the Cabinet of St. James' and that of St. Petersburg.

Moreover, these letters pretend that the two Cabinets are more irritated against each other than they were some time ago. Some ascribe this change to the concession made by England with respect to the frontiers of Greece. Others pretend, and perhaps with better reason, that the Muscovite Cabinet becomes more moderate in its tone, because it feels that nothing is to be gained by breaking with Great Britain.

The Duke of Wellington has intimated, in a derisive manner, his views respecting the wars against Turkey.—Our correspondent adds:—It is known at St. Petersburg, as well as London, that that great Captain when he has taken a resolution never recedes. He will defend the liberties of Europe against the projects of Russia, as he defended them against the ambition of Napoleon; he will display the same energy in both causes, and there can be no doubt that he will obtain the same success."

There are accounts from Jassy of the 8th May, by the Flanders Mail which state, that the garrison of Silistria had marched out and attacked the Russians at Czeremovoda, and defeated them with great loss.

The Turks are said to have occupied Balaschik between Varna and Karna.

By the recent accounts from Malta to the 13th of last month, we learn, that the Russian were principally off the Dardanelles, though one line of battle ship and a frigate were lying at Malta on the 28th of March, the latter refitting. His Majesty's ships Asia, Windsor Castle, Spartiate, and Wellesley, were also there with the Ferret sloop, which latter vessel was to sail on the day last mentioned for Corfu. On the 6th of April the above named line of battle ships were still at Malta, with the Philomel, Erebus and Riddaman. Affairs in the Levant were said to be in a very unsettled state. The movements of our squadron were very uncertain, and it was not known what was to be their course on leaving Malta. The probability, however, was, that they would go thence to the Archipelago, or to Smyrna. The time of the sailing of the Dryad, Philomel and Brisk, for the Mediterranean was considered pregnant with interest and moment to Europe in general, and to Russia, Turkey and Greece, in particular."

PROVINCIAL.

UPPER CANADA.

York. (U. C.) June 21st.—After this day (1st July) the wild lands within this Province, in all cases where the rates and taxes have been suffered to run or be in arrear for the space of eight years, are liable to be sold by the Sheriff, he first giving six months' notice of the time and place of sale. It is proper to inform the public that all taxes now in arrear for the space of six years must be paid to the Treasurer of the District in which the lands are situated; but in cases where the six years have not expired the taxes may be paid, on any lands within the Province, to the Treasurer of the District in which the proprietor resides.

We regret to announce an accident which happened yesterday morning on board the Sir James Knapp, steam boat, on her way up. A fireman, during the night, having occasion to draw up, as is supposed, a bucket of water, unfortunately fell overboard; and though every assistance was promptly afforded, unfortunately sunk. His name was O'Brien. He has left a wife and large family to deplore his premature end.—Kingston Chronicle.

MONTREAL, July 8, 1829.

We have been informed that the new Catholic Church of this city will be opened for divine service on Wednesday, the 15th inst. at half past nine o'clock A. M. All the high dignitaries in the Province are expected to attend, and there is no doubt but the ceremony will be highly interesting to the spectators. We would suppose that travellers on their summer tour from the United States, who may not have frequent opportunities of witnessing splendid Catholic ceremonies, would do well to make their arrangements so as to be in Montreal on the 15th inst. The building committee intend to furnish strangers with every practicable accommodation, and from the indefatigable industry and perseverance with these gentlemen have exhibited throughout the arduous task of erecting this magnificent building, there is little doubt that the arrangements will be complete.

The building is of itself a most interesting subject of observation, and we regret that want of room prevents us from giving a detailed account of it in all its parts: some idea may be formed of the edifice from the following particulars, viz:—

No. of Pews on the ground floor.....	504
do. on the first gallery.....	372
do. on the second do.....	368

1244

Length of the building inside.....	256 feet,
Breadth do.....	133 do.
Height from floor to ceiling.....	84 do.

The galleries are supported by seven massive columns on each side, surmounted by groined arches, with mouldings and ornaments in fresco. The ceiling is painted in fresco, resembling groins, and owing to the masterly manner in which the painting has been executed, it is scarcely possible to distinguish the difference between it and real stucco work, unless by a near approach.

There are five altars: the grand one in the centre of the chancel, is almost finished, and will be a piece of exquisite workmanship. All the stalls, railing and other wood works of this chancel are made of black walnut, which has an appearance truly becoming the solemnity of the place. The appearance of the edifice, when viewed from the grand altar, is truly magnificent and presents a coup d'œil at once grand and sublime. We believe it will be considered no exaggeration to say, this Church, when finished, will excel any house of worship in America, in architectural beauty, size and beauty of design.—Montreal Courant.

His Excellency the Administrator of the Government yesterday partook of a déjeuner à la fourchette, St. Antoine House, the present residence of the Honorable the Speaker of the House of Assembly. From thence he proceeded to the Montreal General Hospital and after a minute investigation of its internal arrangement, we were happy to hear, that he expressed his high sense of the order, regularity and neatness of that most excellent institution. His Excellency then visited the Museum of the Natural History Society of this place, and, while he regretted that the limits to which the Society were confined for the exhibition of the result of their labours, he did not fail to compliment the members upon the zeal and activity they had manifested during the short period of their existence, and to assure them they might at all times depend upon his most favourable countenance and assistance. We learn that his Excellency's intention is to honor, by his presence, the consecration of the New Catholic Parish Church of this city, next Wednesday morning.—Montreal Gazette.

QUEBEC:

THURSDAY, JULY 16, 1829.

By NEW YORK regular files of LONDON papers to the 31st May have been received. The LIVERPOOL Packet Ship, however, of the 1st June has not yet arrived, these papers having been brought by the Corinthian, a Packet Ship of the LONDON line.

Extracts will be found below, taken from various papers of the latest dates.

HIS MAJESTY is stated to enjoy the best health. He was present at a splendid juvenile fete, given to the younger branches of the ROYAL family, and the nobility on the 28th May. The young QUEEN of PORTUGAL, and the PRINCESS VICTORIA of KENT were present, and danced with several of the younger noblemen.

Rumours had reached LONDON of the death of Lord WILLIAM BENTINCK, Governor General of INDIA. The COURIER disbelieves the fact, and it is certain that no intelligence had been received of his LORDSHIP's death.

The state of the manufacturing districts was in general more favorable, and tranquility had been completely restored in the country. In LONDON, however, great outrages had been committed by the SPITALFIELDS Weavers, who had proceeded to destroy the property of the masters, and to set seals on that of others who were obnoxious to them. Several dangerous riots had occurred, in which a number of persons had been wounded. The COURIER of May 30, says, that ulterior measures must be resorted to by PARLIAMENT, in order to calm this excitement.

The Earl of DALHOUSIE was to sail for INDIA the latter end of June, and at the last dates the Pallas, 42 guns, Capt. FITZ CLARENCE, was at PORTSMOUTH, fitting for the voyage. As His LORDSHIP enjoys the second place in the Council, in right of his office as Commander in Chief, he will administer the Civil affairs of INDIA, should the rumor of the death of Lord WILLIAM BENTINCK prove true. It will gratify the numerous friends of Lord DALHOUSIE in this Province to perceive by the short notice given below, that his character as an officer and a citizen is justly appreciated by his countrymen at home. Such an expression of regard from 120 of the nobility and gentry of his native County must have been peculiarly grateful to His LORDSHIP's feelings, and will amply repay him for the petty annoyances which a spirit of unconquerable prejudice and party sometimes inflicted upon him in this Province. His services to the Empire at large during 40 years of active employment have been no trivial ones; and he has gained a reward, most dear to a man of his feeling, in the respect and esteem of his neighbours and fellow countrymen. We sincerely trust that Lord DALHOUSIE, after a prosperous career in INDIA, will return in good health to pass the evening of his life in the midst of those valuable friends, who recently paid him the distinguished compliment recorded below.

The Election of the County CLARE is likely to revive all the bitterness which good natured people imagined to have been extinguished by the passing of the Catholic Relief Bill. The language of O'CONNELL, in his published Address, is as inflammatory as usual. Setting aside the admitted talent of this demagogue, we cannot feel any thing but contempt for the barefaced inconsistency of his conduct towards public men and public bodies. At one time libelling them, at another drinking their healths, and fulsomely complimenting them, applauding the wisdom of MINISTERS and PARLIAMENT one day, the next telling the country that it has been insulted and injured by the very persons to whose liberality he could lately find no comparison! Some think this may be tolerated as an Electioneering hand bill; but in our opinion it marks the malus animus of the man, and of the body to which he lately belonged. Under the form of an Election Committee, the old actors on the scene resume their wonted parts, and a portion of the Catholic Rent is now voted to secure his return for CLARE, a county into which, without a shilling of property in it, he thinks proper to intrude himself; although in doing so, he puts out one of the warmest Protestant friends the Catholics of IRELAND ever had. We hope he will be defeated.

We have looked through a file of the Courier to the 30th inclusive, but do not perceive any further notice of Mr. LABOUCHERE's intended motion on CANADIAN affairs, which it is probable, has been further postponed. It was down for the 28th May. The Houses had adjourned to the 1st June.

LATEST NEWS.

Summary to May 31, inclusive.

HOUSE OF LORDS, May 26.—The Earl of Carnarvon presented a petition, signed by 8,000 merchants and manufacturers, of Birmingham, complaining of the present appalling state of distress in the town of Birmingham. The relief which the Petitioners called for was a reduction of taxation. The petition was laid on the table.

WOOL TRADE.—The Duke of Richmond submitted to the House a series of resolutions on the subject of this trade, one of which asserted the expediency of Parliament taking into its serious consideration the distressed condition of the wool growers of this Empire, with a view to their relief. The Noble Duke said that the smaller duty which he was anxious to impose would fall partly on the Continental grower of wool, and partly on the rival exchequers of the two countries. He conceived that the proposed reduction would cause some stir and spirit in that trade which was now a mere drug in the market.

The Earl of Harewood contended that any attempt to tax the introduction of foreign wool would have the effect of injuring both the one and the other. He should therefore oppose the resolutions of the noble Duke.

Lord Ellenborough opposed the principle of the resolutions, and moved that the House proceed to the other orders of the day. After a brief discussion, their Lordships then divided, when there appeared for Lord Ellenborough's amendments, Contents, 88; Non-Contents, 35; Majority, 53. Adjourned.

HOUSE OF COMMONS, May 23.

SUGAR DUTIES BILL.—The House having gone into a Committee on this Bill. Mr. Charles Grant proposed that the duties on East India sugar should be reduced to 25s; & the duty on West India sugar to 20s; and the duty on foreign sugar to 28s. The reduction proposed would not, he was confident, produce a reduction in the revenue, though even if it did produce a reduction of the revenue, he thought the additional comfort to the people would be more than an equivalent. There was nothing like competition between the East and West Indies in the article of sugar, for the quantity imported of the former amounted last year only to 150,000 cwts.

while that imported from the West Indies amounted to 3,000 cwt.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer said, he felt obliged to oppose the motion, on account of the effect it might produce on the revenue, for if it were adopted he calculated that it would cause a reduction of nearly half a million. He wished to be understood as not at all differing from his Right Hon. Friend in the principles laid down; but he thought it necessary, for the maintenance of the revenue, to continue the present duties on East and West India sugars.

Mr. Huskisson entirely concurred in the proposition of Mr. Grant, and contended that it would materially tend to promote not only the interests of the East and West Indies, but the navigation, commerce, and manufacture of this country. He admitted the strong claim which the West Indies had on this country, and would do nothing to injure it; but the present measure would serve the West India proprietors as much as those upon whom it more immediately professed to confer a benefit.

Mr. Baring said, he should have no objection to an equalization of the duties on East and West India sugars, which would not be any disadvantage to the West Indies, as they met each other on equal terms in the markets of the continent of Europe.

Mr. Bright, Sir R. Farquhar, Mr. W. Whitmore, Mr. Bernal, Mr. E. Buxton and other members, joined in the discussion, and on a division the numbers were, for the motion, 60; against it, 93.

May 27th.—At the request of Mr. Secretary Peel, Sir J. Mackintosh postponed his notice of motion respecting our Relations with Portugal, from to-morrow to Monday next. The Sugar Duties Bill were read a third time and passed. Adjourned to Monday.

Dissection.—The bill under consideration in the British Parliament, to prevent the unlawful disinterment of human bodies, enacts, that persons convicted of such disinterment shall be liable to be punished by six months' imprisonment for the first offence, and two years for the second. The Secretary of State for the Home Department is to appoint annually commissioners empowered to license schools of anatomy for dissection. Persons applying for licences are to give notice eight weeks before a quarterly meeting of the commissioners. The bodies of persons dying in prisons, hospitals, or workhouses, if unclaimed within twelve hours, to be delivered for dissection to licensed teachers. It is made lawful for executors, administrators, &c. to deliver up the bodies of persons who may have bequeathed their bodies for dissection. Special licences for dissecting may be granted to individuals. Bodies to be decently buried after dissection.

The sale of Mr. West's pictures commenced in London in May. Among those sold were the following:—"Christ Rejected," it was bought by a Mr. Smith, for 3,000 guineas, on account, as was whispered, in the room of the Duke of Orleans. "Death on the Pale Horse, or the Opening of the Five Seals," which was painted by Mr. West when he had nearly accomplished his eightieth year, was bought by a gentleman of the name of Kershaw, for 2,000 guineas. "The Death of Lord Nelson," 850 guineas. "Death of General Wolfe," 500 guineas, bought by J. Monckton, Esq. of Portman-square. "Battle of La Hogue," 370 guineas. "Moses receiving the Laws," 500 guineas. "The Ascension of our Saviour," 200 guineas—and a number others, which sold from 300 down to 17 guineas. Lords Egremont and A. Herbert bought several.

From the Courier of May 30.

The advices from Constantinople to the 3d inst. and from Jassy to the 9th, in the French papers, show on the one hand, that severe conflicts had taken place on the Banks of the Danube, in which the Turks have fought with unparalleled valor and enthusiasm, and it may fairly be inferred with unexpected success; and, on the other, that the efforts of the Russians to blockade the Dardanelles strictly have failed, and that a sufficient number of vessels of different nations, had arrived to relieve the scarcity felt for a short period in that capital. In Bulgaria, however, the want of corn continued, but chiefly because it had been collected for the use of the army whose subsistence was secured, however the inhabitants of the province might suffer from the extremities of famine. It was believed at Constantinople that the Russians had experienced repeated defeats in Asia, and that the whole Pachalik of Akaizik had been wrested from their hands. The report of separate negotiations between the two belligerents is not even mentioned in these advices. Some of the fortified posts occupied by the Russians between Varna and the Danube, and securing the line of communication, are stated to have been carried by the Turks.

The plan of the Russian campaign, as mentioned in the Frankfort papers which arrived this morning, is—

1. To take Giurgevo, and thus secure the possession of Wallachia, which will enable the Russians to carry the war into Servia either this campaign or the next.
2. To make themselves masters of New Hirseva.
3. With the main army to besiege and capture Silistria, and thus open an uninterrupted communication with Varna—to defeat the Turkish army, and oblige it to retreat to Rumelia.
4. To take Choumla and all the passes of the Balkan.
5. To reduce Rudschuk, and occupy Nicopolis and Sophia.

We can assure our readers that this is published with the utmost gravity in the Frankfort paper, and it must be confessed, is a very sweeping and capital project of a campaign—upon paper! There are, to be sure, one or two defects or omissions in it. It does not entertain the slightest doubt of success—it does not make the least provision against the recurrence of events similar to those which took place last campaign, such as the retreat with great loss from Shoumla, and the defeat of all attempts against Silistria. A man once boasted that he was sure of marrying an heiress with a large fortune, for he had his own consent already. The Russian seems to be as certain of victory, for the same reason—he has his own consent already.

It was stated in the last accounts from Paris, that Russia finding the blockade of the Dardanelles ineffectual, has determined to raise it. So far from this being the fact she has actually extended the blockade to the Gulf of Contessa, including the Gulfs of Kevallo, Lagos, Enos, and Saros.

From the Examiner, May 31.

Letters from Constantinople speak of the arrival of a Russian flag of truce at Choumla, which has been followed by a release of Russian prisoners of war, and other symptoms of abated animosity on the part of Turkey. It is even asserted that, induced by British interference and threats, the Emperor of Russia has intimated a willingness to make peace upon the single condition of a due execution of the treaty of Akerman; while on the other hand, the Porte will formerly accede to that of the 6th of July, 1827; in consequence of which Ambassadors from France and Great Britain will proceed forthwith to Constantinople. It is unnecessary to guard our readers against statements in which boldness of assertion is in direct proportion to improbability and want of evidence. Accounts from Malta tell a very different story, and speak with great uncertainty of the measure likely to be adopted in respect to the Russian blockade of the Dardanelles, which it is thought will not much longer be allowed by Great Britain. In the meantime the Russian ships of war refit and repair to Malta, at least such is the report in some of the letters; while other statements intimate that this will be permitted no longer. Much is anticipated from the destination of a British squadron about to sail from Malta, in reference to the existing disposition of the Wellington Cabinet, which some of our contemporaries seem anxious to render belligerent, and intent upon an immediate naval interruption of the Russian blockade. The French journals give very favourable accounts of the progress of the Greeks in the clearing of that part of their territory which is necessary to a due integrity of dominion, and state that Athens is likely soon to fall in their possession. A body of 5,000 French troops, it seems, are to remain until their affairs are duly arranged, and the authority of the Greek Government sufficiently established and consolidated.

Portsmouth, May 24.—The Ganges, Captain Lloyd, from Bengal, on the 14th ult. spoke the Admiral Benbow, Crawford from London to Madras and Bengal, which ship had been boarded three days before by a schooner under French colours, with a large gun on a swivel, and about 56 men, Spaniards and Portuguese. They treated the crew and passengers in a most barbarous manner; killed the steward and cabin boy, and Lieut. Stirling, of the 3d Buffs; wounded Captain Crawford, dangerously in eight places; the chief mate and a seaman slightly; took away the muskets, ship's colours, nautical books, watches, wearing apparel &c. and all the live stock, except three sheep. The Ganges supplied the Admiral Benbow with some live stock and various articles, and sent on board a medical gentleman, who examined Capt. Crawford's wounds, and considered him out of danger.

London, May 27th.—We shall be happy to be able to contradict the statement in the Morning Paper, of the death of Lord William Bentinck, the Governor General of India, on the 22d of January, after a few days' illness. No such intelligence has been received at the India House, or any other Public Office. But the rumour rests upon an arrival at Havre, with news to the end of January.

London, May 28.—We understand that the following arrangements have been settled:—Chief Justice Best retires from the Common Pleas, and is to be created a Peer, by the title of Lord Wyusford, and to be Deputy Speaker in the House of Lords.

Sir N. Tindal succeeds Chief Justice Best as Chief Justice of the Common Pleas.

Sir James Scarlett is, we also understand, to be the new Attorney General.

The new Solicitor General is not yet named.

London, May 28.—We are of opinion that some more decisive measure will be now necessary with respect to the Weavers in Spitalfields. Our readers will find in another part of our paper an account of an attack having been made on the police officers. Five of them were severely wounded.

Mr. O'Connell, it is stated will be opposed at Clare, but whether by Lord A. Conyngham or Mr. Fitzgerald does not appear. The return of Mr. O'Connell is considered certain.

Cabinet Councils at which Ministers sat long in deliberation have been frequent.

Mr. Galt arrived in town 23d inst., and has transacted business with the Colonial Department.

Captain Ross, upon sailing for his Northern Expedition, took leave of the Admiralty on the 24th inst.

His Majesty, who has not enjoyed better health for the last dozen years, than he does at present, will in all probability remain at St. James's Palace till Saturday week. The royal lodge is nearly ready for His Majesty's reception; and a series of social entertainments will be given there during the present and ensuing month.—Berkshire Chronicle, May 29.

The appointment of Sir James Scarlett, as His Majesty's Attorney General has taken place.

Mr. Brougham had the offer of the post of Solicitor General but declined. Mr. Sudegen, it is understood, will be appointed to that situation.

London, May 29. The Session of Parliament is advancing rapidly to a close. The Chancellor of the Exchequer moved last night, in the Committee on the Exchequer Bills Bill, the reception of the appropriation clause; which, as Mr. Hume observed, was the last and closing act of the financial measures of the Session. The house adjourned to Monday.

It is confidently rumoured that Sir Edward Codrington has recently refused a pension of £800 per annum tendered to him by the Duke of Wellington.

DUBLIN, May 26. Mr. S. Rice's prediction is about to be realized. The fermentation so happily allayed by the Catholic Relief Bill, is again revived. All gratitude to Ministers has ceased, and nothing but reproach is again hurled against them. All the good and kindly feeling produced by their exertions on behalf of the Catholics is turned into the bitterest gall. Men who had determined to abstain from all political contention in future, have again come forward to avenge what they conceive a national insult. The old scene of agitation was exhibited yesterday in all its freshness. A meeting was held at three o'clock, in the old Association room, of the friends of Mr. O'Connell and of the independence of Clare, to take such measures as were calculated to insure his re-election for that county. The room was as full as in the most prosperous period of the Association. The old performers were on the stage, and the gallery, in the usual phraseology, was graced with the attendance of several ladies. Mr. Sheil, Mr. D. Ronayne, Mr. Redmond, Mr. Brown, &c. were present. Mr. Sheil said he had resolved to abandon politics, but on this occasion, he felt his manliness appealed to, and could not resist the force with which it impelled him to come forward and lend his aid in rescuing Daniel O'Connell, and in rescuing the nation from the insult offered to it. "What!" he exclaimed, "is the great leader who conducted us through the desert to be the only person excluded from the land of promise when he has reached it?" It was finally resolved, after a good deal of discussion, in which strong opinions were expressed, that an Aggregate Meeting should be held on Tuesday next, to obtain its consent to the allocation of £5,000 of the old Rent, to defray the expenses of the election.

A Committee was also appointed, who are to sit every day, and watch over the registration, which is to take place on the 3d and 10th of June; but the election cannot take place till some time in July. Two thousand seven hundred notices have been served, but, if only 800 ten pound freeholders be registered, they will secure O'Connell's return. There was not at the last election more than 300 twenty and fifty-pound freeholders, 250 of whom voted for Mr. V. Fitzgerald; and, admitting the same number, or more, to vote for Mr. O'Connell's opponent now, it would still leave Mr. O'Connell a large majority. Who his opponent will be is not yet known, but it seems certain, that he will not be allowed to walk over the course quietly.—An important question will be solved by the result of this contest—namely, whether Catholic influence has been diminished by the abolition of the forty shilling freeholders. I think it will be found that it has not. The rejection of Mr. O'Connell has again raked up the expiring ashes of agitation, and kindled a new flame. What may be the consequences it is impossible to foresee. It is to be feared that Mr. Peel cannot long take credit to himself for the tranquility of Ireland, and that he will soon find it necessary to send back the three regiments which were withdrawn.

The address of Mr. O'Connell to the electors of Clare is published in the London papers. It consists chiefly of assurance to maintain their interest if returned by them to Parliament, and of promises to advocate the cause of reform in every particular. In conclusion he says—

"To both Catholic and Protestant friends I would recall to mind that we achieved emancipation in the most peaceful, legal, and constitutional manner. We committed no offence—we were guilty of no crime—we destroyed no property—we injured no man's person—we affected no man's life. The glorious revolution which gave us Catholic Emancipation was effected without the destruction of one particle of any man's property—without the shedding of one drop of human blood. A sober, a moral, and a religious people cannot continue slaves; they become too powerful for their oppressors; their moral strength exceeds their physical powers; and their progress towards prosperity and liberty is in vain opposed by the Peels and Wellingtons of society. The poor struggles for ancient abuses yield to a necessity which violates no law, and commits no crime; and having once already succeeded by these means, our next success is equally certain, if we adopt the same virtuous and irresistible means. Electors of Clare, I have been illegally injured, and you have been unworthily insulted by that unworthy ministerial dexterity which deprived me of my right to represent you in Parliament. I call upon you to wipe away that injury—to blot out the insult, by sending me back to express my sentiments and your's to the men, who in so undignified a manner, injured me and insulted you."

EXTENSIVE CONFLAGRATION.—The British Diorama and Royal Bazaar, Oxford-street, were on Wednesday evening reduced to a heap of ruins. Between three and four o'clock in the afternoon, the accident occurred, which in a very short time, spread the greatest terror and consternation throughout the neighborhood, and, owing to the confusion that reigned, a considerable time elapsed before means could be effectually adopted to prevent the flames from extending to the adjoining buildings. The building was one of very great extent, and of fashionable resort by the haut ton.

Letters from Jassy, of the 8th of May, as contained in the Paris papers of the 28th state that an engagement had taken place between the Russians and Turks at Silistria, in the neighbourhood of Shoumla, that the Turks fought with great fury, and the inference is that they had the best of the battle.

A Paris paper of May 20, says that on the 5th April the Russian squadron was at Paros, and that it was reported there that Admiral Heyden had chosen the port of Napoli as a place of refuge in case of a war with England, and placed 30 pieces of cannon at the entrance of it and that in case of a declaration of war, he intended to join the squadron blockading the Dardanelles and force a passage to the Black Sea.

London, May 30.—Letters from Constantinople of May 2, say it is firmly believed that the Russians project a landing on the Asiatic coast of the Black Sea, and that the attack on Sizopolis was only contrived as a mask to this vast enterprise.

London, May 31.—Accounts from the seat of war in the East, mention the probability of a desperate attempt being about to be made by the Russians against the heart of the Ottoman Empire. It is said that the Russian Generals are determined to transfer the seat of war to the very gates of Constantinople, by means of a descent in Naulia. It is added that the Porte was making the greatest efforts to disconcert this plan, and, amongst the rest, was straining every nerve to equip a fleet capable of coping with that of the enemy in the Black Sea. We are likewise told that the Russian fleet in the Archipelago is to co-operate in the execution of this project, by making its way through the Dardanelles, as well as the Bosphorus, into the Euxine.

DINNER TO THE EARL OF DALHOUSIE.—At Edinburgh, on the 20th May, a dinner was given by the Lieutenant of the county of Mid Lothian to the Earl of Dalhousie, previous to his departure for India. About 120 noblemen and gentlemen, among whom was Sir Walter Scott, sat down to a splendid entertainment in the Waterloo Tavern. His Grace the Duke of Buccleuch, Lord Lieutenant of the county, in the chair; Lord Elcho and Sir John Hope Croupiers.

After the usual loyal and patriotic toasts had been given his Grace proposed the health of the Earl of Dalhousie, who in returning thanks, said, he felt as if every action of his public life was presented before him—as if the whole had passed in review before the company, who had judged favourably—and he had accepted the invitation to dine with them as a proof of their approbation.—(Cheers.) He received that approbation not as proceeding from private friendship, but as a testimony that he had done his duty in a manner not unworthy of himself nor of his country.—(Applause.) The company broke up about twelve o'clock.—Abolition Journal.

THE ARMY.

Lieutenant General Sir Frederick Adam, K. C. B. will be appointed Colonel of the 73d Regiment of Foot, vice General Lord Harris, G. C. B. deceased.

General Lord Lynedock, G. C. B. will be appointed Governor of Dumbarton Castle, vice Lord Harris, deceased.

The 6th Dragoons will embark forthwith at Liverpool, for Dublin.

Detachments belonging to the Royal Staff Corps have arrived at Chatham, for the purpose of embarking for Halifax and Corfu.

The 37th regiment has been ordered to march from Mullingar to Enniskillen.

THEATRE.

The performances of the last week have been conducted in the most spirited manner. The manner in which the "INVINCIBLES" has been got up, is very creditable to the Manager Mr. DECAMP; and the acting of Miss FISHER, and the other ladies admirable. The former is a perfect military chef d'œuvre, and quite au fait with the fusil. The manual exercise was correctly performed by the other "Invincibles," amid the reiterated applause of the spectators.

SHAKESPEARE once more visits our boards, this evening, when will be performed, for Miss CLARA FISHER's benefit, the Comedy of Muchado about nothing, and the afterpiece of the Actress of all work, in which the extraordinary talent of this young lady will be most conspicuous.

We have perused with much satisfaction the PICTURE of QUEBEC, by Mr. SMILLIE, JUNR. It was a desideratum much required, and we are now supplied with a very interesting little volume containing a great deal of information. The plates are engraved by Mr. SMILLIE, from his own drawings, and are favorable specimens of his skill. We cannot altogether applaud the literary performance of the work, which, however, we presume, had the excuse of haste, and the disadvantage, to the Editor, of being printed at a distance.

The splendid New Catholic Church at MONTREAL was to be consecrated on the 15th inst.

The Joseph Green, Transport, had sailed for HALIFAX with detachments for the regiments quartered there. The transport with the like detachments for this place will, therefore, come direct to this port.

It appears that HENRY HAMILTON, who absconded from UPPER CANADA lately, has been secured in PARIS. His case is similar to STEPHENSON's, and we do not see how the French authorities can detain him, except for debt.

Precis of Cap. XVII—An Act to appropriate certain sums of money towards the Macadamizing and improving certain Roads near Quebec, and to lay out certain new Roads. The Governor, &c. may appoint five Landholders residing in the County of Quebec, to be Commissioners to superintend the repairs of certain Highways named, and upon death, resignation, removal from office, or absence from the Province, for more than three consecutive months, of any of the said Commissioners to appoint others in their place, and may authorize the advance, out of the unappropriated monies in the hands of the Receiver-General, £4,050, currency, to such Commissioners to be employed in the manner and proportions following, viz:—£3,000, currency, to be applied to the substantial repairing of the six following high ways:—

FIRST—The Highway leading from Dorchester Bridge towards Beauport, romf the said bridge as far as premises occupied by the Representatives of Jacques Parent.

SECONDLY—The Highway leading from Dorchester Bridge towards Charlesbourg, from the said bridge as far as the foot of the Hill, called, Charlesbourg Hill.

THIRDLY—The Highway leading from the Western line of the City, at the West end of Saint Vallier street, towards Saint Ambrose, as far as the premises of the Honorable Mr. Justice Kerr.

Quebec, July 5th, 1829.

It may be worthy of remark that the number of cases of confirmed consumption admitted during the two last Quarters have been unprecedented, as well as a marked disposition in many of the diseases, to assume, during their progress, an intermittent or remittent form; the same has been remarked by the profession both in Europe and in the United States during the last season.

An advertisement in the Halifax papers calls on persons interested in claiming property wrecked in the Joseph on Magdalen Islands to apply to John L. Tremain, Port Hood (Cape Breton) who will give accounts of the proceeds of property brought to Chertamp.
New York July 4—Arrived Brig Constitution from Bremen,—"spoke 13th May off the Lizard, Sea Symphor N-York; 14th British Brig John from Quebec to London." No vessel from this port could be of the Lizard at that date but the Ship John Porter, hence 13d April. The vessel was probably the John bound to Quebec, arrived here from London, 11th inst.
The Middlesex, Capt. Mearns, of and from London for Quebec, was truly lost on the 6th ulto, in Sacred Bay, near Quebec, on the North East Coast of the Island of Newd. Six of the crew (who were all saved) arrived here Wednesday in the Schr. Anne, from Labrador. The ships rigging, &c. was also saved.
Schr. Frances, hence for Jamaica, was spoken off Cape Hay, by the Queen, 24th ult. Off St. Paul's, 27th do, brig Orleans, seven days out for do.

Shipwreck and loss of the whole crew of the BETSY, of Whitehaven, Carrol, Master, on the Labrador coast, on her voyage from the Port of Quebec to Trade, (Ireland) in the fall of the year 1827.

The following information, which has been communicated to us by a gentleman who arrived lately from the Labrador coast may be entirely depended upon. The suggestions which are added are made at the desire of the same gentleman and on his knowledge of the whole coast, and and prove useful to the ship Masters in this trade.
The Brig Betsy, of Whitehaven, was cleared at Quebec on the 15th of October 1827, with a full cargo of pine, deer, &c. by George Symes, Esq. The further particulars of her voyage and shipwreck have been obtained from her log-book and from the Indians. She sailed from Quebec on the 19th, was off Magdalen Islands on the 23d October, and meeting there with strong southerly gales she bore away for the straits of Belle Isle. On the 24th she shipped a sea which carried away her bulwarks and deck load, and she became leaky and strained very much, steering N. E. by E. and N. E. by W. On the evening of the 25th, by the number of miles she was running hourly, she must have been near the place where she was wrecked, but no one has survived to tell the tale of the manner of her going ashore. It happened that none of the inhabitants of the coast passed that way the same autumn, but next spring, the first boat which passed reported having seen some pieces of pine timber on different islands. Shortly afterwards a report was circulated by American and Nova Scotia fishermen that the hull of a vessel burnt to the water's edge had been seen on Ste. Mary's Isle, with the place where two men had been newly buried; but this report was never verified.
On the 6th November 1828, all doubts were raised. Some Esquimaux hunting on the coast, seeing a piece of rope on shore near the big islands of Wat-wistick, landed, and found a small wooden compass and a scraper; on examining further, well trodden paths in the moss showed that persons had been living thereabout for a considerable period. After searching for some time longer, one of the Indians ascended a hill and saw in a hollow among small trees something like a shelter, to which they went. The skeletons of three men were lying outside the door and three others inside; on the top lay a box containing the log book of the Betsy, a work on navigation, the register of the brig and some other articles, nearly destroyed by the weather.
There was no appearance that the people had been able to make a fire and it was manifest that instead of seeking to find inhabitants they had hid themselves. This is always the case with English sailors who are wrecked on this coast; they take it for granted that there are no inhabitants on the coast, ready to murder them without mercy, while in truth there are few or no Indians either on the Labrador coast or on that of Newfoundland, and these far from being cruel are the most industrious people on earth, who would perform any office of humanity to persons in distress. Under this impression the unfortunate crew of the Betsy, no doubt, died of cold and hunger, almost at the door of ready assistance, being within a mile of a hunting stand attached to the post of Itamamiun, in which were a stove and other articles which must have shown them that houses were not far off.

It would be very necessary that all the captains of vessels trading to Quebec should be informed that inhabitants are scattered along the whole North coast of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and that in case of shipwreck, on whatever part of the coast, it is only necessary, when the crew has got ashore, immediately to proceed along the beach, either to the right or to the left, no matter which, and they cannot go far without meeting houses and people, who would not only render them every possible personal assistance, but might likewise often be conducive to saving the vessel and cargo.

* The Betsy on her last voyage outwards to this port had a crew of 13 or 14 men and boys. It is probable she had as many on her return voyage. The log book, &c. have been brought to Quebec.
It appears that the Brig Isingarry, Capt. Banks, of Workington, which sailed hence on the same day as the Betsy has never been heard of.

QUEBEC :

JEUDI, 16 JUILLET, 1829.

Nous avons reçu des papiers d'Europe et de Londres, jusqu'à la date du 30 de Mai inclusivement, et par une fatalité singulière le papier du 29 du même mois ne s'y trouve pas compris, de manière qu'il ne nous est rien parvenu de ce qui s'est passé dans la Chambre des Communes sur la motion que Mr. Labouchère a dû soumettre à cette Chambre le 28 au sujet de ces Colonies. Nous allons donc rapporter ici succinctement ce qui nous paraît de plus important dans le contenu de ces papiers, et c'est avec la plus vive satisfaction que nous commençons par informer nos lecteurs qu'il paraît que la santé de notre très gracieux Souverain est telle qu'on a sûrement ne s'est jamais mieux porté depuis une douzaine d'années qu'il le fait actuellement.

La résignation de l'Honble. M. Best, de la situation de Lord Grand Justicier et son avancement annoncé à la pairie a causé du mouvement parmi les caractères les plus éminens du Barreau de l'Angleterre.—Sir M. Tindall, le remplace comme Grand Justicier. Sir James Scarlett, à ce que l'on dit, est appointé Procureur Général ; le poste de Solliciteur Général, qu'occupe ce dernier, a été offert au célèbre Mr. Brougham qui l'a refusé, et on suppose qu'il sera donné à Mr. Sugden.

Le refus de l'Admission de Mr. O'Connell, dans la Chambre des Communes comme le représentant du comté de Clare, semble avoir redonné de l'activité aux Agitateurs de l'Irlande. Il s'est tenu des Assemblées de la nature de celles qui n'ont que trop souvent eu lieu avant la réhabilitation des Catholiques Romains et il est à croire que la tranquillité du comté de Clare sera violemment troublée par la nouvelle Election qui est sur le point de s'y faire, si celle de Mr. O'Connell est opposée. Le parti puissant de celui-ci se dispose à faire tous les efforts possibles pour son succès et il paraît presque certain qu'il sera réélu. Il a lui-même fait un appel aux Electeurs du comté dans lequel il se plaint que non seulement il a été traité d'une manière illégale par sa rejection de la Chambre des Communes, mais qu'eux mêmes ont été indignement insultés par cette rejection ; et il les invite à laver cette injure et à effacer cette insulte en le réélisant.

Le Diorama Britannique et le Bazaar Royal de la Rue d'Oxford à Londres ont été réduits en cendres par une incendie vers la fin de Mai dernier. Il paraît que cet édifice en a été la seule victime.

Les nouvelles du Théâtre de la guerre sont encore très incertaines et enveloppées dans l'obscurité. Il semblerait cependant qu'en réduisant les diverses affaires partielles qui ont eu lieu entre les deux parties belligérantes ont été en général, favorables aux Turcs, de la valeur et de l'enthousiasme desquels on fait le plus grand éloge. On prétend que Mahmoud qui a revêtu l'uniforme Européen et qui, en cet équipage, s'est montré dans les Rues de Constantinople, a actuellement sous ses ordres 600,000 combattans. En tout il maintient cet esprit résolu et déterminé qu'il a si glorieusement déployé dans la destruction du corps formidable sous lequel ses prédécesseurs n'avaient joui que d'un pouvoir et d'une existence précaires. Au reste il paraît que l'Angleterre ne voit pas sans jalousie les desseins gigantesques de l'Autocrate du nord et que le Duc de Wellington est très disposé à les opposer, soit par des voies diplomatiques, soit par des moyens plus efficients. Ces dispositions du Cabinet Britannique semblent avoir fait quelque effet sur celles du Cabinet de St. Petersbourg. On y aperçoit quelques symptômes d'un relâchement dans les prétentions exorbitantes de l'Empereur Nicolas, qui trouve d'ailleurs une résistance de la part de son adversaire déurbanisé (car il porte le chapeau Militaire Européen) à laquelle il était loin de s'attendre.

Quant à la France, nous serions tentés de croire que pour y rétablir cette tranquillité intérieure dont elle est privée depuis si longtemps, quelques campagnes lui seraient nécessaires. Il faut que le Français parle ou agisse ; le repos paraît contraire à son tempérament, aussi l'a-t-on toujours vu prendre une part active dans toutes les commotions politiques du Globe.
