Follies showed lots of talent

Joyce Moore skated her way into the hearts of two appreciative audiences at Shawville Community Centre Saturday afternoon and evening and her pupils amazed spectators with their recently learned talents.

After a short season of lessons, local youngsters who took part looked very good and their costumes represented a lot of thought and work on the part of the adults involved.

Displaying a professional style of dancing on ice were the teacher, Mrs. Moore, and Marva Currie-Mills of the Renfrew Skating Club. Donnie Poirier's very professional step dancing was also a big specialty of the show but the most rapt attention of all was evident when the children of the skating classes took to the ice.

After the crowning of Miss Linda Wickens as Ice Follies Queen, the youngsters took to the ice in a series of solos and group routines. Patricia Hodgins, Sherry Steeves, Queen Linda, Connie Crick, Jo Anne Hobbs, Mary Manwell, Bonnie McKay were among the soloists and Gayle McKenzie and Jessica Pennybacker performed a delightful duet.

The program was given a professional touch by CHOV's Pat Leonard as Master of Ceremonies and Murray Moore provided lights and properties.

Personnel training about to begin at Pontiac Mill

With the new pulp mill due to start up in the fall of this year Consolidated will shortly begin the training program for operating personnel. In Montreal a dozen people have been working since last July writing 14 training manuals to teach people how to use the equipment, some of which will go into operation within the next three months. Among the first will be wood chippers.

As reported in last week's Equity. the originally planned $50.000.000 expenditure will be exceeded considerably. They have already spent more than thirty three million and there is a long way to go. Also there is a thirty million dollar expansion program already planned for a later time which will double productive capacity to a thousand tons of pulp per day.

Like the budget, everything about the mill is big. The main building is more than a third of a mile long. The digester tower. where the wood chips will be cooked. is 250 feet high. At one end of the mill there's an oil tank that will hold five million gallons. At the other end close to the River is a water clarifier, 150 feet in diameter. This is part of the two million dollar purification system for the effluent from the mill

While much of the work is going on at the site itself a task force of men is preparing for another aspect of the job: selling the pulp that is made at the mill Salesmen from Consolidated Pontiac, based in Montreal, have visited most of the potential buyers in Canada and the United States within a reasonable shipping distance so by the time the mill starts producing Consolidated will have set up its market for the various kinds of pulp that will be produced.

After the mill goes into production Consolidated hopes to have a bang-up inauguration. There are no firm plans yet but the guest list is likely to be long.

Agronomist tells Lions about new plans for Quebec farmers

Agronomist Doug McMillan was the guest speaker at the Shawville Lions Club bimonthly last Thursday in Clarendon Inn. Introduced by Lennis Dean and thanked by Versil Smith who preseted him with a gift Mr. McMillan gave an important talk which is here published for the information of all. The following is a copy of the speech.

We live in an organized Society and each of us lives within a group within this Society. In most groups wages have increased considerably over the past few years. One group who have not shared generally in this increase in wages is the farmer who belongs to a group who is probably the least organized of any group

I believe Governments are generally in agreement that if the farm income is to be raised the best hope of achieving this end is to concentrate on the following factors:

1—The farmer himself
2. The size of the farm
3—Capital
4—Orderly and efficient marketing of Agricultural products

The farmer himself is the one that is most affected and he has to decide individually and as a group what price he is willing to pay as regards his farm operation and his place in Society.

Two policies are now in effect which have as long term objectives increasing the size of the farm. In Eastern Ontario there are at present 14,000 farms and ARDA has come to the conclusion that there is room for only 7.000 farms in this area.

A policy of buying farms and re-selling to double the size of the farm is now in effect in Ontario and the Maritime provinces. ARDA will buy any farm offered for sale in these areas provided they can agree on the price. In addition job training programs are offered to any farmer willing to leave the farm.

In Quebec a grant of $50 per acres is offered up to a maximum of 40 eligible acres to encourage the enlargement of the small farm. If a farmer has 80 acres of cultivated land and he decides to buy 40 or more cultivated acres within 3 miles of his present farm he will qualify for a grant of a maximum of $2.000 provided he takes out a loan through either the Quebec or Federal farm Loan Board.

These grants are required to be used to buy Livestock, seed, fertilizer. lime, drainage, etc. If a man has 100 acres of cultivated land he could qualify for a grant of 20 acres at $50 per acre. Over 120 cultivated acres a farmer does not qualify. At least, in theory if you double the size of the farm you should double the farm income.

Capital is an important factor in any farm operation, and young farmers should place particular importance on having an operation sufficiently large to allow for farm expenses plus family living expenses. I believe a gross farm income of $10,000 per year is not unrealistic and probably the minimum a young farmer should be willing to accept.

In dairy cattle 30 cows giving 7,000 lbs of milk per year will give a total of 210.000 lbs of milk yearly. At $4. per 10 lbs which is on the low side, a farmer will have a gross income of $8,400. To reach $10,000 he has the choice of either increasing the number of cows or increasing the product per cow.

Loans are available from the Federal Government up to $55,000.00. A $40,000. loan costs about $2,500 yearly principal and interest and is for 29 years. Obviously with a $10,000 gross farm income a farmer with a $40,000 loan cannot afford to buy too much feed or machinery if he is to provide for his family. It is also obvious that if a man takes out a loan when he is 30 he will be 59 years old before the loan is paid off.

In a beef cattle operation 50 cows will provide less than 50 calves per year. At $100. for feeders the farm income will be a little less than $5,000 yearly. If the calves are finished into steers he should get $200 per animal or a farm income of about $10,000 yearly In beef cattle the farm income can be increased by increasing the number of cows. Again he cannot afford to buy much feed Volume is important in any business and particularly in farming.

Various marketing programs are now in effect designed towards orderly and efficient marketing of Agricultural products. I believe the degree of success of all marketing plans will depend on the degree farmers individually and as a group are willing to:

1. Take the responsibility of limiting production or disposing of surplus products without affecting their own market.
2. Produce No 1 quality product and market it under the best possible conditions
3. Giving their general support to programs which should be in the best interest of farmers It is easy to say what should be done but majority approval is essential if a program is to succeed.

Dairymen honor ROP inspector on retirement

A very pleasant evening was spent last Wednesday at the Community Hall, Bristol, when 75 met to honour Mr. Hughes Turcotte, of Masson, an ROP Inspector who has been coming to test herds in this district for the past 18 years. Mr. Turcotte retires in May after serving for 25 years.

The evening was planned by those on ROP testing in this area. He was presented with a chair by the group.

Mr. Melvin Younge made the presentation. Arthur Dagg spoke a few words on his co-operation. Miss Rayma Hayes earlier had pinned a boutonniere on Mr. Turcotte. Walter Kilgour acted as Chairman. The evening was spent in playing cards, crockinole, checkers and Scrabble. Lunch was served by the ladies present.

Mr. Turcotte thanked all for remembering him in this way.

Seven generations of excellence

SEVEN GENERATIONS OF CANADIAN AYRSHIRES

The longevity characteristic of the Ayrshire breed is clearly demonstrated in the seven generation cow family bred and owned by S. Wyman MacKechnie & Sons Wyman, Que. This family is also famous for its production achievements and showing winnings. The five oldest members are all classified Excellent and two are Royal Winter Fair winners. The best R.O.P. records of the five cows with completed lactations average 14,209—M; 548—F; 327—D. They have produced over 45,000 lbs milk during their lifetime to date and are adding to it each day. The senior member of the seven generation group is Bonnie-shade Pretty Girl Ex. plus plus now 20 years of age on the right. A well known showing winner who was Grand Champion at the Royal Winter Fair in 1950 and 1956. She has produced 129,038—M; 5,303—F.

MAN—THE PROVIDER

The largest single exhibit at the World Exhibition in Montreal this summer—EXPO—is the agricultural pavilion which is aptly called "Man—The Provider".

If anyone who farms had thought he might not bother to go down to Expo, this one pavilion should encourage him to change his mind. For people in agriculture and their families, the Agricultural Pavilion will be a great thrill and a great satisfaction. For people outside the farming business it will be an eye opener.

Contrary to adverse publicity in some of the daily newspapers about accommodation at Montreal, there is a good organization called Logexpo, Expo 67, Harbour City, Montreal where you can write for information about where to stay—hotels, motels, tourist homes, private homes tenting and trailer sites and once you are there $2.50 will get you in for a day or $12 for a week, and less for children.

It could happen that a person might not make the effort to go to Expo, thinking it was just a lot of highbrow stuff and technology and then, when it's too late to make plans, discover that it was really something not to miss.

For this reason we take this opportunity to warn everyone that this great "Man the Provider" exhibit about farming is worth the whole trip and the price of admission.

For instance there's a transparent cow — but no, let's take it from exhibit A in the proper order. The whole effort is to show how the farmer and food producing industry is trying to feed the world. It shows how modern agriculture could feed the one third of the world which is undernourished and move ahead with production as the demand increases. Exhibit A shows the magnitude of the challenge.

Exhibit B illustrates man's dependence on sun, soil, water, plants and animals and man's increasing control over nature through the ages from early scrapings in the soil to the science and technology of modern agriculture which are as exciting and complex as those required to put a man on the moon.

Exhibit C shows an 8ft globe representing the earth with a vivid portrayal of the limited amount of land at man's disposal, about 3% of the earth's surface, for the production of his food. There is a series of displays dealing with soil fertility, soil erosion, irrigation and soil management, all realistic and to the point.

Exhibit D dramatizes plant improvement as applied to three of the world's major crops, wheat, corn and rice. There is a view into possible future developments to charge the imagination of the farmer as he studies the exhibit on crop production in environmentally controlled chambers.

Exhibit E deals with marketing, farm management and preservation of foods. This is one of the very popular ever-moving exhibits which shows products and processes.

Behind Exhibit E is the Children's Farm where there are ponies, donkeys, goats, sheep and barnyard animals and poultry with descriptions of the place each animal occupies on a farm. This is mainly for the education of city children but will also be a restful and enjoyable area for all parents and children who will be fascinated by the unusual display.

Area F shows how man's access to machines and power has increased his productivity to the point where in some parts of the world one farm worker can produce enough food to maintain forty people.

Area G is all about modern advances in poultry breeding with a dramatic example of how man is able to control nature. Where 20 years ago a period of 15 weeks was required to produce commercially saleable chicken, today the same result is possible in nine weeks. An up-to-date machine will demonstrate the modern way of collecting, grading and packing eggs.

Exhibit H shows developments in animal production and the importance of the veterinarian's responsibility in maintaining animal health. Cross-breeding in commercial beef production, artificial insemnation, rapid herd improvement, animal feeding and the great co-operation between farmers, scientists, feed manufacturers and engineers—all this and more.

There will be a 20 prize cow dairy herd comprising four breeds producing milk under ideal conditions, the milk going into a cheese manufacturing plant with a demonstration of the effects of scientific nutrition. This is where the transparent cow is. She will demonstrate the efficiency of the ruminant in the manufacture of human food from roughages which themselves are of little use for human consumption. She will show how careful attention to breeding, feeding and management can raise herd averages to at least 16,000 pounds of milk per year or 20.4 quarts a day. If the worldwide average was at this level each cow would be supplying the milk requirements of 17 more children. Present yields are as low as a half quart per day in some underdeveloped countries!

Along with these and many other exciting undercover exhibits there is a round acre planted in sections as pieces of a pie, with crops representing basic groups such as wheat for bread, maize for energy food, legumes for high protein for livestock and to restore nitrogen to the soil, grasses as main livestock food, tomatoes for health food, flax for oil and fibre, sunflower as a staple oil crop and flowers to beautify man's environment.

Of course there is also a gigantic exhibit for every other interest in the world leaving nothing out and with more than seventy countries displaying their best and most beautiful, their historical and their most modern faces. Trade and industry of the whole world will be there for the viewing and once you're on the grounds the transportation around Expo is free.

Along with everything else, the farm story will be well told and though it is not necessary for a farmer to go down to Montreal to see why a cow chews her cud it is estimated that of the millions who will watch this particular part of Expo, the ones who stay the longest will be the farmers.

There's a bit of the beast in every bug.

It doesn't take much to unleash the savage fury of a Volkswagen.

Take almost any old Volkswagen, replace the body, make a few simple adjustments, and you've got yourself a Formula Vee racer.

How can a mild-mannered, practical, everyday Volkswagen convert so easily into something so delightfully impractical?

In the words of the Formula Vee International Manual, "Volkswagen components seem to have been made expressly for use in a racing car."

"The engine, air-cooled and mostly aluminum, is light for its power output and already adapted to the rear-engine concept of modern racing cars."

"Its rugged construction provides a power plant which seems to be practically indestructible, even at racing speeds."

"And operating costs are amazingly low. One set of tires will ordinarily last more than a season, and it's next to impossible to burn five gallons of gas in an 80-mile race."

It seems that the same things that make the VW a sensible car for people who aren't in any particularly hurry to get somewhere also make the Formula Vee a sensible car for people who are in a big hurry to get nowhere.

Court Report

Court was held at Campbell's Bay on March 29 with Judge Arthur Labbe in attendance.

Two County of Pontiac Hotel keepers who appeared before Judge Labbe saw their bar permits suspended for a period of one month. Frank A G Finnigan owner of Clarendon Inn at the Village of Shawville and Mrs. Linda Sikorski owner of the Lakeview Hotel at Desjardinsville both recognized their guilt on a charge of having sold alcoholic beverages to take out, namely rye and wine this being contrary to the provisions of the Quebec Liquor Board Act. They were fined $500 each and court costs. The alcoholic beverages seized by the investigating QPP officers was confiscated by the court besides as aforesaid having their bar permits suspended for a period of one month. These heavy fines and suspension of permits were brought about because for both hotel keepers it was their second infringement of the Liquor laws within a period of 12 mos.

Three other Hotel keepers who appeared before Judge Labbe were fined $100. each and court costs. John C. Germain owner of the Forest Inn Hotel and Howard Brinkworth owner of the Bryson Lodge Hotel both of the Village of Bryson were accused and pleaded guilty of having sold beer to take out after hours, while Horace Hodgins owner of the Pontiac Hotel at Shawville was accused and pleaded guilty of having sold rye by the bottle in a bar to take out and this contrary to the Provisions of the Quebec Liquor Board Act.

A sixth hotel keeper Rheo Laplante owner of the Chez Charles Hotel at Demers Centre, and the Maple Leaf Inn at Portage du Fort was tried and found guilty of having sold alcoholic beverages to minors in each one of these two establishments. He was fined a total of $200. plus court costs.

Two Fort Coulonge men Cyril Jolicoeur 28 years of age and Albini Charette 43 the father of 17 children recognized their guilt to the theft of mechanic tools and other articles stolen from a car the property of Mr. Dean Bourgeau and valued at approximately $550.

Charette was given a severe lecture and reminded of his responsibilities as a father and was given a suspended sentence and posted a personal bail bond of $100. to keep the peace for a year. Since Jolicoeur had a previous police record he was told that he could not expect any leniency and was sentenced to 2 months in jail. All the stolen articles were recovered by the police.

B is for BAPTIST

The second faith listed alphabetically among the 32 in the Interfaith Conference is the Baptist Federation. Baptists believe that baptism is only for believers who must be old enough to understand what it is they believe, and the form of baptism in their church is by immersion. Baptists are Christians who believe that God, Christ and the Holy Ghost are one, which is to say they are trinitarians. They vest the church policy making and power in the members of each individual congregation, which is to say they are congregationalists. For this reason there are among Baptists some who hold Communion only for those who have been baptised by immersion and others who hold Communion for any who wish to partake. Some groups believe in repentence for remission of sins, in the resurrection of the dead and in eternal life. Some believe that Saturday is the Sabbath and some believe that everything which takes place was God's purpose, predestination, and that some people are given up by God, reprobates. Some Baptists have believed that moral law is not obligatory because faith alone is sufficient for salvation and then there are Baptists who oppose Sunday school, missions, theological seminaries and church societies as unnecessary and unsupported by Scripture. As can be seen, there are as many different sorts of Baptists as there are congregations within the Baptist framework.

Country Notes

By Walker Riley,

Macdonald College, Agricultural Extension

Looks like a good year to shop around a bit before you place your seed order. No two catalogues are quoting the same prices. The reason, I understand, has to do with the big seed crop in some varieties last year. Some seed houses were caught with a large inventory and are taking quite a loss.

For a background to this confused price situation, I checked with Bill Ewing at Vankleek Hill. Bill is in the seed business, both growing and selling, and keeps a pretty sharp eye on the market.

As far as forage crops are concerned the general situation is an adequate supply of seed and in some lines the surplus supplies result in extremely favourable prices from the viewpoint of the purchaser, Mr. Ewing said, Take for example. We have the favorite recommended the better Climax Timothy seed lowest level in history. The price spread between common Timothy and Certified No 1 Climax Timothy is only two or three cents a pound which should certainly encourage farmers to buy the better Climax imothy seed for any seedings they have to make involving Timothy.

Brome grass is somewhat short in supply this year. Canadian uncertified Brome which makes up the bulk of the Brome grass which is sold through the trade is considerably higher than it has been for a number of years. However I think the supply probably will be adequate. The recommended certified or pedigreed varieties of Brome grass continue to be in very short supply and its doubtful if there will be sufficient Saratoga or Redpatch Brome to take care of even a small fraction of the demand.

I think a retail price for common Brome would be in the order of 30 to 35 cents a pound whereas Saratoga if you can find it will likely be about double that price.

Common Orchard grass largely of Danish production is in adequate supply and the price is very favorable. There seems also to be a sufficient supply of the pedigreed varieties such as Tardus II or Frode and they are a little lower in price than they have been in the last several years.

The Standard types of Alfalfa including Bernial and Narragansett appear to be in good supply and the price levels are very similar to those that have obtained in several years. The short term or so called Flemish types, of Alfalfa including Alfa and Dupuis varieties and Glacier are in short supply and it is doubtful if there will be sufficient of these varieties to meet the demand.

Uncertified Alfalfa of Canadian production is also in short supply and the price has risen largely due to export sales to a point where I question the advisability of any Canadian farmer planting it when he can purchase certified recommended varieties at very little more money.

There is an adequate supply of Empire Trefoil at very reasonable prices. The variety Viking which is an earlier, more upright type is n short supply and rather hgh priced. There is also a plentiful supply of Canadian grown Trefoil seed of uncertified origin and the price for this class of seed is relatively cheap.

The crop for seed for double-cut Red Clover in Canada was rather a small one. However, there hasn't been any export of consequence and it seems that there will be sufficient seed of uncertified double-cut Red Clover to take care of requirements. Named varieties on the other hand are rather scarce and varieties such as Ottawa and Dollard and LaSalle are in short supply and probably won't be adequate to meet the demand. There is another American variety called Lakeland which is recommended for use in Eastern Canada and I think the supply of Lakeland is somewhat better. The prices of these certified varieties would probably be about 15c a pound higher than uncertified Red Clover.

Ladino of American production which is sold as certified Ladino seed is in adequate supply and the prices are rather the same at the same levels as they have been in the last several years. There is one recommended variety of Ladino called Marit which is available but it is doubtful if there will be enough of this to make any great impression on the total usage of Ladino.

Thanks Bill Ewing.

If you are interested in using plastic tubing in your sugar bush, don't try to make the change over all in one year. Add just a few trees in the first year and learn how to use it.

This is the advice Prof Arch Jones Dept of Woodlot Management at the College gives when asked if you should go all out for tubing. Use it perhaps in areas tha thave an uneven topography, or hard to collect from, for a start, to supplement your bucket system, he says.

Our experience with tubing in the Morgan Arboretum has now run for seven years and we are satisfied with it. But it took us perhaps four years to overcome our natural resistance to this new idea, and to learn to use it properly Arch says.

The figures from last year's experiments in the College bush back up his endorsement of tubing.

In all 240 trees were used. Each tree had two taps (both pelleted) one having a spout and bucket and the other a tubing-connected 18-inch drop. Sap yields from 24 tentree groups were kept separate for tubing and buckets. The average tubing yield was 6.3 gallons per taphole versus 5.0 gallons with buckets and spouts—26 per cent better.

The cost? Prof Jones estimates that a tubing system will cost about $1.25 to $1.30. This compares with just under one dollar for a bucket, spout, and lid.

OBITUARY

V. J. "Billy" Gough

Vivian James Gough passed away in his seventy second year at the National Defence Medical Centre, Ottawa on March 16th. His home was RR 1 Manotick.

Mr. Gough will best be remembered in Shawville as Billy, foster son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thomas, with whom he lived from the age of 14. He was born in England and came to Canada as an orphan at the age of seven. His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Patrick James Gough.

In the First World War he served in the Royal Canadian Medical Corps and was discharged in 1919 at Liverpool, where he was born.

In 1937 he married Grace Hughes and they had three sons, the eldest of whom David, was killed in an air raid in London in 1945. Mr. Gough served as an Air Raid Warden in the Second World War and returned to Canada under a medical discharge in 1947. He then farmed until 1956 and continued gardening and exhibiting at the fall fair every year. In his earlier days he enjoyed taking his family to the scenes of his happy childhood on the farm now occupied by Lennon Thomas, his foster brother.

Mrs. Gough was the first woman councillor of Osgood Township and survives along with one son James who is in the RCMP at Saskatoon. The other son, Jonathan died in 1956. Attending the funeral were his foster brothers Lennon and Fred Thomas and foster sisters Bessie (Mrs. R. L. McGowan) and Claire (Mrs. R. E. Hall). Burial was in Capital Memorial Gardens and Billy donated his eyes to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.

$500 to go on ice fund

As there are probably a number of people who may not have had an opportunity to contribute to the Artificial Ice Fund, the announcement this week, that he fund is still $500 short of the objective, will be well received. The latest donations to the Fund to which practically every organization and every individual in the area has contributed, have been ten dollars from L J M Dale, twenty-five from K M Goff, fifty from Anonymous, a hundred from H C Rowat, Five hundred from the Province of Quebec and a thousand from Pontiac County Council.

The Fund Committee hopes very much that the final five hundred will have been collected within the week and has asked us once more to say that the treasurer is Bill Main. Anyone wishing to help the Committee close this final gap may make their contribution to him and will receive a receipt which is permitted as a deduction for income tax.

Pontiacs bow to Morrisburg after brief come back

The long hockey season came to an end for the fighting Shawville Pontiacs in Morrisburg on Sunday.

They dropped a 7-5 decision to the Combines in the fifth game of the series and the win gave Morrisburg the series 4-1 in games and they also repeat as the St Lawrence Senior A League Champions.

Last Friday in Shawville the Pontiacs kept their slim hopes alive as they upset the Combines 5-1 before 980 happy fans. Bob Newberry, Carson Ryan, Earl Powell and Ivan Saunders all scored to give the Pontiacs a 4-0 lead before Doug P Casselman finally hit for the lone Morrisburg marker late in the second period.

Bryan Murray then added the fifth Shawville goal in the third period.

Sunday, Morrisburg came up with three goals late in the second period to provide the win. The Pontiacs had held a 4-3 lead but a couple of costly penalties changed the game.

Mel Tomalty and Doug P Casseman led the Combines with 2 goals each while Gord MacMillan, Pat Brophy and Derek Holmes added singles.

Campbell's Bay wins Pontiac finals

Campbell's Bay won the Canada Life Cup, symbolic of championship in the Pontiac Hockey League, after four straight victories over Bryson in the finals at Shawville last week.

The last game was won 8-5 with Elmer Belanger in the nets for the winners and scores being made by Andre Burrell 3, Basil Belland 2, Dean Moodie, Ray Kensley and Jos Belanger one each.

Presenting the trophy was the league vice president Stan Callaghan as the president Billy Mousseau was prevented by ill health from being present. Receiving the trophy for the team was its Captain Kervin Burman.

The Canada Life Cup was inaugurated in 1962 and was won for the first three years straight by the Fort Coulonge Comets. Then for two years Bryson won the cup and this year is the first time Campbell's Bay has taken it. Other teams in the Pontiac League are Quyon, Shawville and Calumet Island.
