

VATICAN CONFIRMS REPORT OF A SETTLEMENT Government Control Of Electric Energy In Province Urged

Nationalization Of Electricity Was Advocated

In Answer to Question by Premier
Taschereau, William Tremblay, Conservative Member for Maisonneuve (Montreal), Said that He Spoke for Himself
Only in Urging Government
Ownership of Electrical Energy of Province.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
QUEBEC, Feb. 6.—Government ownership of the electrical energy of the province was advocated in the Quebec Legislative Assembly yesterday by William Tremblay, M.L.A., for Maisonneuve, when the debate on the budget was resumed. In answer to a question by Premier L. A. Taschereau, Mr. Tremblay said that he spoke for himself only in urging nationalization, and that if the Opposition came into power and did not adopt this view he would be against the then government as he was against the present government in this matter.

Other speakers of the afternoon sitting were Clapham Bastien, Liberal, of Berthier, who urged higher salaries for teachers; Alderice Blain, Conservative, Dorion, Montreal, and J. Hughes Fortier, Liberal, Beauce.

Claims Debt Increased.
Mr. Tremblay insisted that, despite the Government claim of using revenue to lower the debt, the increase in the provincial debt had gone from $37,000,000 in 1918 to $58,000,000.

He said he had already taken a stand in favor of the Government developing the vast water power resources of the province, the extent of which was unlimited, and that the revenue derived from such a step for old age pensions, allowances for large families, and pensions for widows and orphans. It would be better to do so than permit a group of individuals to enrich themselves from water power development, and he believed the Government could accomplish as good results as private interests.

Mr. Tremblay insisted that the Government owed it to the people of the province to develop the water powers for the benefit of the people at large. It might be said that the success of the Montreal Light, Heat and Power, Consolidated, was due to the presence of men of superior intelligence in the company, but he was ready to admit that the Provincial Treasurer was a business man as capable as Sir Herbert Holt.

Water Power Development.
Mr. Tremblay stated that if Sir Herbert Holt could make the success he had done in water power development, the Government could do likewise, and only recently Sir Herbert and J. H. Gundy had made an offer to develop the St. Lawrence at a cost of $25,000,000, providing they might have the water power developed in connection therewith. Nature had favored the province of Quebec in abundant measure in the matter of water power, and it was not just that the benefits should go to a group of individuals. He had wanted the Government to develop Chute a Caron, but, instead, the Government had let a company do so, and that company was interested only in the aluminum business, and when this had closed down the result had been no work was carried on; whereas if the Government had developed the falls there would be no crisis today, since the Government would have had money to grant subsidies to certain enterprises, such as that of artificial silk, for example.

Premier Replies.
The reference by Mr. Tremblay to Arvida, incidentally, was not according to fact, since the company there is proceeding according to its original plan, building one unit of its series of plants after another, and waiting for power from the Chute a Caron development, which is not yet available.

Premier Taschereau at this point also told Mr. Tremblay that there was an artificial silk plant at Drummondville, in which five millions had been invested.

That did not matter, said Mr. Tremblay.

By Premier Taschereau: "Is it the policy of the Opposition that the Government should develop water powers and not leave such development to private initiative?"

"I speak as member for Maisonneuve," said Mr. Tremblay, "and I make my statements sufficiently

Serious Condition Of Woollen Textile Industry In England Brought To Light By Inquiry

Fourteen Firms Forced to Close Down Since 1926—Questionnaire Shows that Large Majority Want Protection of Import Duties—Output of Twelve Representative British Firms Fell Nearly Four Million Square Yards in Four Years—Total Output of Industry Shows Twenty-Five Per Cent. Decline.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—As the hearing of the application of woollen textile manufacturers of Yorkshire for a safeguarding duty on woollen tissues and fabrics before the Board of Trade Committee continued yesterday, the chairman, Sir Hubert Llewellyn Smith, said the committee was unanimously agreed on the opinion that the present reference was solely in respect to import duties on certain specified categories of woollen tissues and fabrics. I did not cover, he pointed out, safeguarding duties on made up or manufactured articles in which the tissues and fabrics in question might have entered.

Sidney Illingworth, chairman of the wool section of the Federation of British Industries gave evidence that since the last application for safeguarding in 1926, fourteen firms in Bradford had been compelled to close down. A questionnaire, he said, had been sent to five hundred firms in the United Kingdom on the desirability of safeguarding and out of 334 replies, 262 were in favor of a safeguarding duty, twenty-six were opposed and forty-six were non-committal. There was no important section of the wool or worsted industry, he declared, which did not support the application for duty.

Clothes in respect of which safeguarding was required, he explained, were chiefly ladies dress goods made from single and two fold yarns which took the place of similar clothes manufactured by the worsted industry of Bradford. In 1922, Mr. Illingworth stated, more than 800,000 garments had been imported, and in 1928 there were nearly 1,600,000 shipped in.

cians More Optimistic.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, Feb. 6.—The condition of Marshal Foch was stationary this morning following a calm night in which there was some improvement of the pulmonary symptoms, his doctors said at the conclusion of their consultation this morning.

The physicians were more optimistic than yesterday morning, although Dr. Heitz-Boyer, upon leaving the House said he could make no definite pronouncement for several days.

The heartening thing, it was said, was that the Marshal continued to take nourishment, and there were some signs the kidneys were resuming their normal functions.

BANK ROBBERY CHARGES AGAINST WOOD AND HOLT EXPECTED TO COLLAPSE

Acting Prosecutor Said Investigations Made by His Office Were of Such Nature that Dismissal of Case May Be Asked.

(Associated Press Despatch)
STURGIS, Mich., Feb. 6.—Possible collapse of the bank robbery charges against Ralph A. Wood and Cecil T. Holt, central figures with Wood's estranged wife in the complicated "Wood case," was admitted in justice court yesterday by acting prosecutor James T. Sloan.

Asking Justice Charles L. Haner to postpone examination of the two men until February 11th, the acting prosecutor said investigations made by his office were of such a nature that a dismissal of the case without examination may be asked. Justice Haner granted the postponement and reduced the bonds of Wood and Holt from $50,000 each to $5,000, but intimated he would not favor dismissal of the charges without examination.

BRITAIN LEADS WHOLE WORLD IN SHIPBUILDING

Output in Great Britain and Ireland Last Year Amounted to 53.6 p.c. of World Total—
Clyde Yards Output Exceeded that of Germany and Holland Combined.

LONDON, Feb. 6.—Britain still leads the world in shipbuilding, according to Lloyds official figures issued today. They show the output in Great Britain and Ireland last year amounted to 53.6 per cent of the world total, or exactly the same percentage as in 1927. From the Clyde yards alone the tonnage launched amounted to 571,943 exceeding the combined output of Germany and Holland, the next two most productive countries.

Tonnage launched in Britain and Ireland last year increased by 220,000 over the previous year, whereas the increase in shipbuilding abroad amounted to 194,000 tons. Prospects for this year's industry in British ship yards are moderately encouraging.

Pope And Mussolini Refuse To Make Public Details Of Roman Question Agreement

Numerous Rumors Involving Pope, King Victor Emmanuel,
Crown Prince Humbert, Premier Mussolini, King George and President-Elect Hoover Are in Circulation.

(Associated Press Despatch)
ROME, Feb. 6.—Vatican circles confirmed the previously reported pending announcement of settlement of the Roman question on Tuesday, February 12th, this morning. The qualifying clause, "unless it should be postponed until Easter," was added, however.

The Pope's thoughts on the question could not be ascertained, and all attempts to bring up the matter were gently but firmly, not to say sternly, defeated. Premier Mussolini also is completely silent on the subject.

Under these circumstances, with the usual authoritative sources of information of both sides maintaining silence, nothing definite is known, although numerous involving the Pope, King Victor Emmanuel, Crown Prince Humbert, Premier Mussolini and even King George and President-Elect Hoover are in circulation.

One statement, more plausible than most, is that the Pope after announcement that an agreement has been reached with the Italian Government will appear on St. Peter's balcony overlooking the immense square capable of holding 200,000 persons, in order to bestow, for the first time since 1870 as a free sovereign pontiff, the apostolic benediction "urbi et orbi" (to the city and world).

Langsner assisted the Alberta provincial police in the investigation of the crime. He was employed upon the recommendation of the British Columbia provincial police.

Vernon Booher was recently convicted of murdering his mother, brother and two farm hands. He was sentenced to hang.

(Associated Press Despatch)
COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Feb. 6.—While snow lies thick on ice bound Europe, Greenland, the proverbial ice box of the world, is basking in sunshine and last night boasted that the temperature reached fifty degrees Fahrenheit during the day.

The same wireless report to the Colonial Office said that there was practically no snow or ice and that seal hunting and fishing were going on as in summer time.

DISTURBANCES IN ALSACE DUE TO GOVERNMENT

Herriot's Declaration of Intention to Introduce Non-Sectarian Laws Blamed for Religious Difficulties.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
PARIS, Feb. 6.—Crowded galleries yesterday witnessed in the Chamber of Deputies a rare heckling of the government by deputies on the Alsatian question, followed by generous applause when M. Scapini, president of the Blind Soldiers' Association, demanded explanations from the government. After a review of the autonomist movement in the province, M. Scapini declared religious disturbances there were caused by Minister Edouard Herriot's declaration of June 19, 1924, that it was the intention to introduce non-sectarian laws in Alsace suppressing confessional schools.

Immediately pandemonium broke in the Left wing, the speaker vainly ringing the bell in an attempt to restore order. M. Herriot protested against such an interpretation of his ministerial declaration, saying he regretted such an attempt should be made to go his party "in wrong."

M. Scapini maintained his position to the delight of the communists. M. Herriot affirmed that he had asked authorization to suppress the French embassy at the Vatican, but conceded the agreement between the Pope and the government would be maintained in Alsace. Here the Left in turn applauded and the Right wing heckled the minister.

M. Scapini then turned upon the Communists who had compelled the government to submit to another vote of confidence on Thursday. At the finish of M. Scapini's address the entire chamber vigorously applauded as they watched an attendant guide the blind deputy to his seat.

BRITISH GOVT. IS DISCUSSING PENNY POSTAGE

Since Canadian Government Reduced Postage Rate There Has Been Increased Demand for Similar Action in Great Britain.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—Penny postage is becoming a frequent topic of discussion in the House of Commons. It came up again yesterday when replying to a question from W. C. Robinson, (Labor, Welling) regarding the desirability of re-establishing the penny rate of letters throughout the Empire and the cost of such a step, Right Hon. Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, said the proposal was to be considered in conjunction with the suggested reduction in the rate for inland postage and would probably cost some $30,000,000.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer added that the separate cost to Great Britain of establishing penny postage to the overseas parts of the Empire would be about $1,000,000 annually.

Since the Canadian government announced the restoration of the penny rate on letters from Canada to other parts of the Empire effective from Christmas day there has been an increased demand for similar action on the part of the British Government. Mr. Churchill has steadily declined to commit the Government on the proposal and has pointed out that the whole field of revenue would be surveyed by the Government in preparing the budget.

The anti-government Chronicle sees in the decision of the Senate a reaction to what it declares is the competitive naval building policy of the present British government.

"The United States," it says, "would never have listened to the more truculent voices in their midst if our government had not adopted the worn out principle of naval rivalry at Geneva, and revealed in its foreign policy leaning to the methods of alliances and competition between groups of powers."

Mystery Surrounds Whereabouts Of Exiled Trotsky As Result Of Many Conflicting Rumors Heard

One of Most Sensational Rumors Was that He Was Being Exiled from Russia and that He Was Aboard Soviet Vessel Krasnyflot—This Rumor, However, Is Officially Denied—Turkey Said to Be in Dark as to Whether Former Red Army Leader Was in Russia or Aboard Vessel.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—After almost a week of constantly conflicting reports, the exact whereabouts of Leon Trotsky, one-time leader of the Red army, is still a mystery.

Although reports have been received from many quarters that Trotsky was leaving Soviet Russia either for Turkey or Germany, there appeared great doubt as to whether he has actually left Russia or not.

One of the most sensational of these reports that he was being exiled from Russia was that he was aboard the Soviet vessel Krasnyflot which was among numerous vessels forced to take refuge in the Black Sea during a terrific storm which has been raging in that region.

Despatches from Constantinople said that Turkey was absolutely in the dark as to whether Trotsky was in Russia or even about the Krasnyflot which left her refuge in Heraclea harbor yesterday and was due to arrive at Constantinople at 9 o'clock today.

IS NOT ABOARD SOVIET VESSEL
(Associated Press Despatch)
MOSCOW, Feb. 6.—The report that Leon Trotsky is on board the steamer Krasnyflot which has sought shelter in a Black Sea port is flatly denied in official quarters. Russia is not indulging in the speculation abroad as to the fate and whereabouts of the former commander of the Red Army. The press continues to maintain complete silence on the subject.

London Papers' Views On Passage Of Naval Bill By U. S. Senate

London Times Expresses Belief that There Is No Need to Delay Further Disarmament Negotiations—"Clearly There Is Time for Inquiry, and Still More Clearly There Is Need for It," Times Says in Editorial
Today.

(Canadian Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 6.—Passage by the United States Senate of its naval building bill drew varying editorial comment from London papers today.

The Times expressed a belief that there is no need to delay further disarmament negotiations.

"Clearly there is time for inquiry, and still more clearly is there need for it," the Times says. "No British interest is adversely affected by the Senate's decision. To the British mind no rivalry arises or can arise so long as the community of view between the two nations on large issues is for the most part simultaneous, in all respects desirable, and realistically considered, vital to both."

The anti-government Chronicle sees in the decision of the Senate a reaction to what it declares is the competitive naval building policy of the present British government.

"The United States," it says, "would never have listened to the more truculent voices in their midst if our government had not adopted the worn out principle of naval rivalry at Geneva, and revealed in its foreign policy leaning to the methods of alliances and competition between groups of powers."

MEASURE CONTAINS TIME LIMIT FOR CONSTRUCTION

(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 6.—The Senate yesterday passed the bill authorizing the construction of fifteen cruisers and an airplane carrier. The measure, approved a year ago by the House, must be returned there for the consideration of minor amendments before it is sent to President Coolidge.

In opposition to the wishes of the President, the bill as passed contained a stipulation that construction shall be started before July 1, 1931. It makes it mandatory that five of the cruisers be laid down before next July 1, five during the next fiscal year and five the following year. The airplane carrier must be begun before July 1, 1930.

The programme embraces a $274,000,000 appropriation, including $174,000,000 for each of the fifteen cruisers and $100,000,000 for the carrier.

Mr. Coolidge had asked that decision as to the time for beginning construction be left with the President.

Mr. Harding, of Sherbrooke, general manager of the company, states that ample provisions have been made for the future development of the service in Richmond and the surrounding country by the installation of ample switchboard facilities and the construction of about 9,000 feet of new cable through out the town.

Mr. Harding extends a cordial invitation to all who would like to inspect the new office and exchange, and view the new up-to-date equipment which has been installed.

The company is justly proud of their new installation at Richmond, which compares most favorably with any telephone exchange of similar size in the country.

LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA

Locomotor ataxia is the popular name for a group of diseases of the spinal cord, usually meaning tabes dorsalis or posterior spinal sclerosis, a chronic disease of the spinal cord caused by hardening or degeneration of its posterior tracts.

The cause of locomotor ataxia is considered by most authorities to be an infection by the spirochaeta pallida, although some investigators have suggested that the present day method of saturating the blood with mercury is in some cases the real cause of the degeneration of the spinal cord.

The first symptoms are short stabbing neutralgic-like pains darting from place to place in the extremities and lower back, although they may occur in any part of the body. These pains may be accompanied by a hot burning sensation and severe pain from pressure, numbness of the feet, tingling, sometimes a sense of constriction about the waist, and a loss of the knee jerk reflex.

As the disease progresses there are pronounced disorders of the bladder, falling vision—sometimes leading to blindness, difficulty in walking, severe gastric attacks, the Argyle-Robertson pupil and occasionally paralysis of the eyelids.

As the disease becomes still more progressed, the patient develops difficulty or inability to stand or walk with the eyes closed. While the difficult gait is usually the most pronounced symptom, there are a few cases where this difficulty does not appear at any time, but in these cases destruction of the optic nerve (blindness) practically always results.

Locomotor ataxia is slow in developing and rarely causes death. Six or eight years may intervene from its inception before walking becomes difficult, and even after being confined hopelessly to bed the patient may live for from fifteen to twenty years.

Tabes in children sometimes occurs as the result of congenital disease. There may be general symptoms as with tabes of adults, but as a rule the sight is more frequently affected.

Since the cause of this disease appears to be a hardening of the posterior columns of the spinal cord from some virulent toxin having a special affinity for those delicate nerve structures, a cure should aim at the removal of these toxins from the body. The earlier a cure is attempted, the better the chances of success. Once the nerve structures have been actually destroyed, there is no hope of the reconstructing themselves. However, I have seen many cases, appearing to be quite well advanced, completely cured by dieting and physiotherapy. Even though the case may be too far advanced to expect a complete cure, there will usually be a satisfactory improvement.

My experience with patients has shown me that the length of time required for the fast depends in a large measure upon how much suppurative treatment has been used in the past. Unfortunately a suppressive treatment of many years ago will still have its effect upon the body, and it seems necessary to eliminate the medicinal poisons before the body is able to throw off the toxins responsible for the trouble.

(My method for treating tabes appears in tomorrow's article.)

Questions and Answers.

Insomnia. Question—Mrs. Mary D. writes. "I have suffered with nerves through worry, and it has left me with insomnia. This has lasted nearly a year."

Answer—One of the best ways to cure insomnia is to take plenty of physical culture exercises and also take long walks each day between the hours of three and five in the afternoon. Start walking one mile daily and gradually increase the distance until you walk four or five miles. Your muscles will temporarily be relaxed after this walk and you will be able to sleep without any difficulty. However, you should also avoid any food which produces an excessive amount of stomach or intestinal gas, as this gas will often distress you enough to keep you from sleeping. Send large self-addressed stamped envelope and I will gladly mail you some illustrations of exercises which will help your condition.

The Cardoon. Question—"What kind of a vegetable is a cardoon? Are there any special method of growing or preparing them?"

Answer—The cardoon is a plant closely related to the French artichoke and is considered by many authorities to be the same plant slightly changed through the process of selection and cultivation. The plant is first blanched either in the field or under glass-covered pots. The midrib on the leaf is the part used. They may be cooked like any ordinary vegetable or served in salads stewed and cooked. It has an agreeable flavor of its own. The most valuable of these plants are those with the thickest midribs. Heartburn and Waterbrash.

Question—J. asks: "Will you please tell me a diet suitable for heartburn and Waterbrash?"

Answer—Heartburn and waterbrash can be cured by living on the proper food combinations, and avoiding the use of an excessive amount of food. Over-eating must be cited as one of the principal causes of these troubles. Continue to study my articles each day and you will soon learn how to combine your foods properly so they will not form incompatible mixtures.

Health can be earned

Says one of the healthiest men in the world

EVEN a perfect physical specimen like Gene Tunney doesn't just take health for granted. He has worked hard, unceasingly, to build himself up and keep in condition. Realizing the importance of regular habits, he takes no chances.

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago. The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. My elimination became active and normal. My appetite increased and a desire for intensive training was created. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. I have regulated myself to the amount necessary to keep my elimination normal. If I discover that I have taken an excess I stop its use for a couple of days, when I renew my daily practice of taking a swallow from the bottle before retiring.

"I have found during my seven years' experience with Nujol that it is not habit-forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful."

Nujol contains no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure natural substance perfected by the Nujol Laboratories (26 Broadway, New York). It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal. You, too, can earn better health with Nujol. Quick Direct Treatment

At the first sign of a cold, melt some Vicks in a bowl of hot water and inhale its healing vapors. Also place some up each nostril and snuff well back. This quickly opens the air passages. FUNERAL OF LATE MR. TARTE
The funeral of Mr. Samuel A. Tarte, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Tarte, was held from Lord's Funeral Home at 8:00 p.m. on January 27th. Rev. Cheyerson conducted the services. Mr. Forrest Lord beautifully rendered a solo "I Shall See Him Face to Face," and "Nearer My God to Thee" was sung during the service.

The deceased was born in Much Wenlock, Shropshire, England, on February 21st 1891. He came to Canada with his parents, brothers and sister, in 1913, and took up farming in Sherbrooke, his home being at Bellevue Stock Farm, Capleton Road, where he resided with his parents. He was always bright and cheerful, although a sufferer for a number of years. The end came very suddenly, he having been in the hospital only a couple of days and came as a shock to his relatives and friends. He leaves to mourn his loss his father and mother, three brothers, Cecil, Frank and Jack, and one sister, Gladys, Mrs. Alfred Hooper, all of Sherbrooke.

MONTHLY MEETING OF V. O. N. EXECUTIVE
The executive of the Victorian Order of Nurses met yesterday afternoon in the Child Welfare Clinic room, with the president, Mrs. W. S. Allen, in the chair. The usual reports were presented and accepted, the V. O. N. Nurse's report being as follows:

New cases in January, 26, of these 2 being surgical, 4 pre-natal, 3 infants and 17 medical. Nationalities, 13 English, 7 French-Canadian, 2 British, 2 American and 2 Scandinavian.

Of the 30 cases dismissed, 9 paid full fees, 4 paid 1/2, 17 were free. There were 73 free bedside nursing visits made during the month. Total fees received from patients, $76.00. Total number of visits 342, of these 232 being bedside nursing visits. Three night calls were answered, these including one confinement call.

During business routine the matter of money to carry on the work was discussed, and it was deemed advisable to send letters to the city's industrial concerns asking for their financial aid. While the Order has money invested, it did not seem a good policy to sell investments for present needs, when the work is continually growing. There are not sufficient funds to carry on another month, and, accordingly, the executive decided that there must be financial aid forthcoming or it would be necessary to dispose of their debentures.

The secretary was instructed to write letters of thanks to Dr. Lynch for the use of his car and running expenses during his absence, and to Mr. D. A. MacManamy for the generous and much appreciated gift of a desk.

REV. A. SHATFORD AT FATHER AND SON BANQUET

Three Hundred Fathers and Sons at Y.M.C.A. Last Evening—Explained the Value of Interpreters to the World.

Speaking before some three hundred fathers and sons at the annual "Father and Son" banquet held last evening at the Y.M.C.A., Rev. Canon A. P. Shatford, of Montreal, gave a stirring address on the value of interpretation in relation to the individual, home, community, country and world.

The office of interpreter, explained Canon Shatford, was one of the oldest in the history of the world and he gave examples from the Scripture to illustrate his meaning. Christ was pointed out as the greatest interpreter, and as such was known to the present day on account of his interpretations that have survived the test of time.

"The father is an interpreter," the speaker pointed out, and proceeded to explain that he interpreted ideas to his family and business. The son also came under the classification, for he interpreted obedience, development and discipline to his father. The father and son are interpreters, for, as Canon Shatford stressed, "Wherever you go you are not only responsible for your actions to yourself, but to your home, as you are the interpreter of that home to the world."

Societies Are Interpreters
"Every society is an interpreter," the speaker said in stating that the Rotary Club interpreted service, the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A., Christianity and the needs of Christian manhood and womanhood, respectively, and the Y's Men, Omega-Alpha and other organizations of similar nature were interpreters of similar ideals and as such had their place in the world.

"The father who seldom sees his boy does not realize what both are missing," continued the speaker, who stated that it was only by contact that a perfect understanding between the two could be reached.

Correction while in anger was warned against, inasmuch as it did more harm than good. Gentle forces were much better, for gentle thoughts pass from one soul to another only by gentle conduct.

Good More Contagious Than Bad.
The general opinion that badness is much more contagious than goodness is not right," said the speaker, who illustrated his point by bringing to the notice of those assembled that good was much more contagious than bad and that love was greater than hate.

Personality, according to Canon Shatford, was the most sacred thing in the world, as it was the best medium of interpretation, though no two people in the world had the same personality. Individuality was also another great asset of interpretation, and the speaker warned against crushing it out by set modes of life and expression, as lack of individuality was a weakness to be avoided. Kindness and courtesy should be shown to every one, but care must be taken that it would not be used by being officious or patronizing. A person must interpret naturally, so the people will receive graciously, as one of the hardest things in the world is to give advice without hurting, while it was equally as hard to receive graciously. A citizen to be useful to his community must give some definite contribution. If he did not do so, he would be a drag, not a help.

Emphasis On The Best.
An appeal was made by the speaker to interpret in terms of the whole rather than in parts, for if this was not done and a person interpreted according to his own angle, a narrow viewpoint would be the result, which would be harmful to the nation, organizations, churches and world in general. "Interpret always with the emphasis on the best," said Canon Shatford, "for the worst," as he explained that the good is always truer than the bad. The danger of interpreting without sufficient thought was pointed out by the speaker, who illustrated his statement with the age old saying that the youth of the day are "going to the dogs." "This is not so," said the speaker, who said that those judged too quickly to wait until they had more evidence.

In closing Canon Shatford called upon those present to get rid of the pessimists and kickers, for life offers more opportunities than ever to serve one's fellow men, from the boy in his teens to the old man with gray hair.

The vote of thanks was conveyed to the speaker by Rotarian D. J. Salls.

The joint chairmen of the evening were Y's Man Walter Murray, Rotarian Bob Richardson, and Don Mackay, presidents of the Y's Men, Rotary Club and Omega-Alpha Clubs, respectively.

Among the toasts of the evening were: "To the guests," Mr. G. M. Dick; and "to the ladies," Mr. R. D. Robertson.

Rotarian Dave Diplock was in charge of the singing, with Y's Man Gault Parker as accompanist.

At the conclusion of the evening Y's Man Walter Murray brought to the notice of those assembled the date of an address to be given by Admiral Campbell, which is scheduled to take place here on March 4th.

LENNOXVILLE

Programme in St. George's Hall

Two playlets were presented last evening in St. George's Hall by several of the young people of the church, both of which were well received by a large audience. "The Princess and the Pixie" depicted the story of an orphaned apprentice girl, who was found in her humble home by the king and queen, who at once raised her to the rank of princess because of her kindness and goodness with a gorgeous cloak, woven by her little friends, the pixies of the neighboring forest, to cover her rags, the little Rosadew, (Catherine Speid), came into her own. The kindly peasant and his wife who had sheltered the embryo princess in their humble home were represented by Dorothy Bennett and Lois Findlay, and Barbara Fletcher and Marjorie Bennett impersonated the King and Queen; Eileen McMurray, Ruth Burt and Jean McClummont in the costume of pixies acted their parts well, while Janet Speid, Catharine Dinning and Cynthia Baker were attendants of the royal party.

The second play was full of humour, representing a scene in which a hobo agent was mistaken for a new minister, an error which gave rise to many laughable situations. Not the least amusing of these was the "meeting of the Ladies' Circle" in which the members gave the new minister much enlightening information about some of the members of his flock.

This information, or gossip, as noted by the astute book-agent, was later used to induce the horrified ladies to buy a book from him, or have their information reported to those most concerned. This stroke of business resulted in many orders for books.

The character of the book agent was taken by Mr. William Watson and that of the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, by Mr. Douglas Christie and Miss Hazel Bennett. Sally Jones, their daughter, was impersonated by Miss Fern Stacy, who proved very attractive to the susceptible young agent. Bobby Jones, her impossible young brother was represented by Master Cann, and Miss Della Sterling acted as Mrs. Blinks, who with Mrs. L. V. Parent, as Mrs. Strubbs, Miss V. Cann, as Mrs. Lane, and Miss Nancy Roberts, as Mrs. Johnson, formed the Ladies' Circle.

The costumes were old-fashioned in style, and in keeping with the characters. The work of all the cast was most creditable in every way, and the whole programme much enjoyed.

Special numbers between the plays were vocal solos by Mr. William Watson, Miss Andrea Baker and Mr. F. W. Lord, and a reading by Miss Dorothy Bennett.

Miss Balfour Laid To Rest.
Yesterday afternoon, the funeral of Miss Annie Elizabeth Balfour took place from the family residence on Main Street to St. George's Church. Prayers were said at the house by Ven. Archdeacon R. W. E. Wright, who later had charge of the service in the church and in Malvern Cemetery, where interment took place.

The hymns "Rock of Ages", and "Peace Perfect Peace", were sung by the choir, and the service closed with the Nunc Dimittis.

Acting as bearers were Messrs. W. H. Abbott, W. J. H. McKinnon.

LOCAL DEALERS OPTIMISTIC ON ICE SITUATION

Cutting Conditions Said to Be Good This Year — Demand Last Season Was Above Average.

The harvesting of another of Canada's winter crops has nearly reached completion. Within less than a week the total supply of ice for next summer in this district will be stored away. Although artificial ice has cut off a large export market, the local market is retained, in spite of the increase of electric refrigeration, there being certain purposes for which ice must be used.

To the man with his ice-house on the river bank, the cutting and transporting of the product is a simple matter. Passageways are cut from the place where the ice is harvested to the storage on the bank. The blocks are floated through this, and taken from the river to the sheds by an endless belt conveyor.

The party who has his storage some distance from his source of supply has a more difficult problem. The ice must be hauled by team to the warehouse.

Dealers report that cutting is proceeding satisfactorily this year, ice being of good thickness. Last summer, they state, was one of the best that they have had in several years. One company said that they had to cut ice this winter before it was really thick in order to supply their customers who use ice throughout the winter. In previous years several hundred tons have usually been thrown out before the new cut could be put in. While the ice this year is not as clear as last, due to the great variations in temperature, it is of usual quality.

A few years ago ice exports to the United States amounted to nearly two million dollars annually, while some was even sent to Europe. Today the European market has disappeared entirely, while shipments to the States bring less than ten thousand dollars a year.

In the larger cities natural ice faces a competitor in the product turned out by the skating rinks; who instead of leaving their plants stand idle all summer, turn them to the manufacture of ice. The manufactured ice costs less to make than the natural cost, to gather.

Some years ago thousands of tons of ice were sold to ocean ships, but even tramp steamers today are equipped with cooling systems that prove much more efficient, as the various holds can be ventilated, thus preventing decay among the produce stored there.

In spite of these competitors, the dealers have shown no many more places that ice could be used that the sales of their merchandise have increased year by year.

The regular monthly meeting of the Child Welfare Clinic was held yesterday afternoon in the Clinic room, with a good attendance of members and the president, Mrs. W. S. Allen, in the chair. Miss Hale, acting secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and several communications received in connection with the clinic work.

The secretary was instructed to write letters of appreciation to Maple Copse Chapter, I.O.D.E., of Lennoxville, Sherbrooke Chapter, O.E.S., and Princess Rebekah Lodge for substantial donations to the Clinic fund.

The monthly report showed that five clinics had been held in January; eight children passed for operations; total attendance, ninety-five; and new cases, seventeen, of these eleven being for dentistry, one for specialist and one for vaccination.

It was decided that the annual business meeting and election of officers would be held on February 12th at the usual time and place.

LOCAL FLIERS ARE ENJOYING ACTIVE TIME

December Was Very Busy Month at Local Flying Field—During Month Paul Winters Made First Solo Flight—Yesterday Afternoon Mr. "Bud" McCrea Took Plane up for First Time Alone—Captain Peacock, of Montreal, Visited Field Yesterday.

Activities are by no means at a standstill at Sherbrooke's flying field, nor are the promoters of Sherbrooke Airport Incorporated losing any of the enthusiasm which was shown when flying first took hold in Sherbrooke.

The flying report for the month of December shows that a busy four weeks was realized. A total of fifty-nine flights were made during the month, including ten tests, sixteen instruction and twenty-seven passenger flights. The flying time is given as thirteen hours and thirty-five minutes.

In addition to this four trips were made to Montreal, the average time being fifty-three minutes; one trip to East Angus and return, thirty-five minutes; one trip to Cookshire and return, thirty minutes; and several trips to North Hatley.

During the month Paul Winters of St. John, who was the first pupil to fly from the field, was also the first pupil to go solo after six hours of dual flying.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. "Bud"

McCrea, one of the staunch supporters of the club, and an enthusiastic flier, made his first solo flight, which proved to be very successful. Mr. McCrea is the second pupil to attempt solo flying, but it is understood that there are several others ready for this thrill during the next few days.

Yesterday afternoon the field was visited by Captain Ted Peacock, of Montreal, who flew here in one of the new Canadian all-metal planes, which are being manufactured in Montreal. Captain Peacock circled over the city for a time doing some fancy flying and stunts and later landed. He expressed himself as being very well-pleased with the general appearance and condition of the field. He returned to Montreal about three o'clock yesterday afternoon.

DR. LEONARD WILLIAMS

recommends yeast in place of the old-fashioned cathartic

Famous Harley House, where Dr. Leonard Williams and other leading London physicians have their offices

DR. LEONARD WILLIAMS, Fellow of the British Royal Society of Medicine; Corresponding Member of the American Climatological Society and the Hydrological Society of Paris; he has served as physician at the Metropolitan Hospital and the Millar Hospital and the Princess Hospital for Soldiers; author of Minor Maladies, The Science and Art of Living and other works.

"Yeast possesses a power of physical purification superior to all the purgatives. It rouses the system to full physiological efficiency."

"A large number of persons at or about middle age have forgotten what it is to feel perfectly well. They are not ill but they ail . . . For such I should like to prescribe less feasting and more yeasting."

Leonard Williams

IN THE words of Dr. Leonard Williams, famous British authority on glandular and intestinal disorders, "Yeast is superior to every known cathartic." Dr. Williams' conclusions, reprinted from articles in many leading newspapers, carry the weight of a life-time of research.

Why does this eminent physician recommend yeast so strongly? Why does he say it is more than a medicine—superior to all laxatives known? Because, to quote his exact statement, yeast "rouses the system to full physiological efficiency."

Nobody escapes constipation completely. Between "not being sick" and being really healthy and vigorous there is a vast amount of difference.

For keener spirits, renewed vigor and a clearer, fresher complexion, eat Fleischmann's Yeast regularly every day. In a recent survey, half the physicians reporting said they prescribed fresh yeast for constipation and its attendant ills.

Fleischmann's Yeast is fresh. Unlike dried or killed yeast, it contains millions of living active yeast plants. As these live yeast plants pass through your intestine daily, they combat the harmful poisons and purify the entire system.

Start now! Eat three cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day, one cake before each meal or between meals, plain or in water, cold or hot (not scalding). To get full benefit from yeast you must eat it regularly and over a sufficient period of time. Every grocer and many leading cafeterias, lunch counters and soda fountains have Fleischmann's Yeast.

90 per cent of your ills start here

Here is where yeast works. From throat to colon is one continuous tube. Poisons that form in the intestinal tract spread through your body—to blood, skin, throat, head. Fleischmann's Yeast keeps this entire tract clean, active and healthy. Headaches, colds, skin eruptions disappear, when complete elimination takes place with Fleischmann's Yeast.

DEVELOPING STOCKMEN

Calf feeding competitions, which are held throughout the Eastern Townships are doing a valuable work in training boys in the care of cattle. From a start of ten clubs organized in this province seven years ago, there are now in operation upwards of seventy-five clubs in which the young people are gaining valuable experience in the proper feeding, handling and exhibiting of calves.

The work is carried on jointly by the Federal and Provincial Departments of Agriculture, each providing fifty per cent. of the prize money awarded and sharing the supervision of the clubs during the year. The youths start with young calves of good type and breeding, and feed and care for them continuously under supervision until the following year when they are brought together as yearlings for competition. Some clubs have as high as eighty members.

The bringing together of the stock of so many enthusiastic young people arouses great interest, and it is stated by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, in his report for the past fiscal year, that an attendance of a thousand or more at a Calf Fair is not unusual. The influence of this work in the district is far-reaching and clubs rapidly develop into community breeding centres for high class cattle. Hon. Motherwell also points out the additional value of this work in the training it affords the boys in all phases of live stock feeding and management, and in the keeping of records of the feed costs and production.

SUPREME COURT JUDGMENT REGARDING WATER POWER

The question of the rights of the Dominion and Provincial governments in regard to water powers made available by or in connection with work for the improvement of navigation has yet to be definitely answered. The Supreme Court of Canada, in a judgment which has been awaited with keen interest, yesterday announced that after careful study it found it impracticable to give precise decisions on the series of ten queries submitted to it. Consequently, very little headway has been made towards a solution of this very important problem.

Possibly the judgment may appear a little odd to some persons, but in the conclusion of the reasons for its decision the Supreme Court states that the Privy Council has recognized, more than once, that in the exercise of statutory authority, interrogatories may through inadvertence be presented to which it is not possible to give accurate or exhaustive answers, or, indeed, any answers which are not so encumbered by qualifications and reservations as to deprive them of all practical value.

The judgment is the sequence to probably one of the most important legal battles waged before any Court of the Dominion in years. Hearings of the brilliant array of legal counsel engaged in the matter occupied more than two weeks of the October sitting of the Court.

The questions dealt with were prepared following conferences between counsel for the Dominion and several of the provinces. The two final questions were added to the reference and placed before the Court at the request of the provinces of Ontario and Quebec filed in the Court. It was claimed that the questions as submitted for adjudication were too vague, and disagreement arose several times between the contending counsel for the Dominion and provinces on this point. Both Ontario and Quebec through counsel denied that they had agreed to the initial questions as presented, and the counsel for the Dominion at the hearing took issue with this statement.

The main question today, as a result of the judgment, is what effect, if any, the Supreme Court decision will have on the Government's decision in the Beauharnois application. This important application, which has been before the cabinet for several weeks, involves the development of power on a tremendous scale in this province. The judgment may have the effect of speeding up the decision of the ministers, but, on the other hand, it may have the opposite effect, and the application may have to wait for some time without any action being taken.

FEAR

The Japanese have a saying that there are four terrible things: earthquakes, fire, thunder and famine.

There are some elemental things in the world which never get over their frightful aspect. Did you ever notice a bird feeding upon the lawn or in the cage? It pecks a little bit, but is constantly raising its head and looking around. This is because it exhibits the caution transmitted to it by innumerable generations. Certain fears are in its blood.

So there are certain fears in our blood. We instinctively fear the dark. Children dread it. We speak of "the horror of the sacred woods." All animals and men become silent and cautious when they are plunged into the depths of the forests.

Fear of the darkness is bred in us by generations who have suffered from attacks of the enemy in the darkness. Darkness is the friend of the traitor and the enemy.

Akin to this is the fear of fog. It is a condition of nature or of the weather that arises and obscures all things.

The wind storm with its thunder and lightning are terrible. They represent the violence of nature's paroxysms before which man is helpless. People of Kansas, in view of the disastrous record of its wind storms, are not to blame when they experience a panic at the sight of a coming tornado.

The nameless fear that attacks us in the presence of earthquakes is dreadful. It is said you never get used to earthquakes and subsequent tremblings of the earth are more terrible than the first.

Science has done much to allay mankind's fears of pestilence and similar disaster. Preventive medicine has played a great part in extending the term of man's life and removing from him his fears of disease.

The snake and the spider and all poison-bearing insects and animals arouse our instinctive fears.

The position of man upon this sublimely planet is perhaps safer than it used to be, but many dark fears still dog his footsteps.

It is these fears that have taught him much, perhaps. They have taught him how to care for his health and preserve his life and also taught him spiritual humility, that there are powers above and around him greater than he. Perhaps fear is the basis of religion. The Romans had a motto, "Timor facit deos." Fear makes the gods.—Cpt. 1929.

PLOWING MATCHES.
(Farmer's Advocate)

Prize plowing is an ideal to aim at, like the super-finished steer or the beribboned horse in the show-ring. No one is expected to take twenty hours to plow an acre of sod on the farm in order to have it as good as the work done at a match; but one should endeavor to plow straight, turn a good crown, cover the grass and weeds, pack the furrows, keep the land level and make a neat finish.

EDUCATION FOR ALL.
(Christian Science Monitor)

That the enrollment in public schools and private institutions of learning is immeasurably influenced by the general prosperity of the country is apparent from the report of the Federal Bureau of Education for 1926, the latest issue. The unprecedented prosperity of the country finds expression in greatly increased school attendance, especially in the high schools and colleges. Enrollment in public high schools has doubled since 1920; and in cities, while attendance is not compulsory, it includes something like seventy per cent. of all children of high school age. The rural schools show a falling off from this average, but in the whole country more than half the children of this grade of education are in attendance upon high schools. The report shows that in 1900 the chance that a pupil of high school age was actually enrolled was but one in seven. The figures of attendance presented in the report show the tremendous magnitude of the education system of the country. Nearly 21,000,000 children were enrolled in the public elementary schools, with an additional 2,143,000 in the private schools, or, in the aggregate, one-fifth of the entire population. More than 3,750,000 were in attendance upon public secondary schools, with nearly 350,000 additional in private schools of that grade.

Perhaps the significance of these figures is best seen when it is realized that one in every four persons of the entire population in 1926 was seeking some kind of education. It seems probable that even this number was larger during the following year, the report of which has not yet been issued.

Married Quarters

by DAVID LYALL

She stood in front of the big four-post bed, with the priceless carving on the posts, and the equally priceless silk brocade hangings, as before a shrine; she loved the little spindle-legged washing stand in the dressing-room, the tallboy chests, the Chippendale glass, which stood on the polished table, whose beauty was in no way marred or hidden even by a fair linen cloth. She admired and worshipped them with the air of a connoisseur as well as an expert valuer.

To have slept a night in the mulberry room, as she explained to Poppy afterwards, was sufficient reward for the ordeal she had essayed. She called Calway "my dear" when she brought her hot water, and asked whether she had anyone fighting in the great war. The dressing bag happened to be open at the moment, and Calway beheld its gold fittings and went down to report. Nothing more exquisite nor more expensive had ever been brought by a guest into the mulberry suite. All this made a small commotion in the servants' hall, and gave an entirely new aspect to the situation and to Miss Poppy's romantic marriage. Of course, they were to be married in the young couple, and Lady Augusta would have been agast could she have overheard the free comments in the servants' hall on her behaviour and attitude towards Miss Poppy's war wedding. While Naomi was resting in the mulberry suite Lady Augusta thought out the whole situation in the light of newly acquired knowledge.

She decided to put Miss Bradford through a very thorough catechism after dinner, so as to obtain an accurate and comprehensive estimate of the Bradfords' standing and position. Of course the idea of the shop was disconcerting, but war time had changed one's ideas and broken down many prejudices. In her own circle she could count quite a number of people engaged not only in commercial pursuits but in actual manual labor; it would be quite easy and convincing to build up a story round Poppy's marriage. Naomi had arrived at a psychological moment where Lady Augusta was concerned. During the last week or two she had bought a great deal about Poppy and had had many qualms. Also she was very anxious about the Rector, who seemed so very much depressed that nothing would rouse him.

He had gone to the far side of the parish that afternoon, and it was seven o'clock before she heard the hoot of the motor at the lodge gates. She was dressed by that time, and went down quickly to tell him the great news. He was being unwound from numerous wrappings by Jimmins, the butler, and she could not help noticing the somewhat blue whiteness of his face. "You are very tired, Edward," she said. "Have done too much," he said. "Jimmins, a glass of port for your master at once, come in here, dear; I have some news or you."

"Have you, Augusta?" asked the Rector with but a languid interest, as he walked with a somewhat dragging step towards the library, where he knew a warm, cheerful fire would await him. He stretched out his hands to the bright blaze for a

OUR CANADIAN LITERATURE

To the Editor,
Daily Record.
Sir—Will you kindly allow me space in your column to express a few opinion of my own, which I hope coincide with those of other Canadians?

It was with keen interest and pleasure that I read an account, in Monday's issue of the Record, of Rev. Dr. Read's sermon on Sunday last, when he brought to the attention of his congregation, the present conditions relative to what may be termed "popular reading of the day." This title applies particularly to the many gaily colored magazines and Sunday newspapers with their "so-called comic supplements," which a coarse include the "nationalized" (?) "yellow journals."

There is good reading to be obtained in our book shops, news-stands, libraries, and through the circulation of clean magazines and newspapers, so no complaint can come from scarcity of material. "It is a free country," some one remarked during conversation on this subject, "and we can read what we like if we have the price." He is certainly right so far as being free to buy what one likes, if one has the price, but as to this being a free country in regard to a certain type of literature, I take exception; it is simply dirt being sold to those who feel free to buy on his hands and murmured some words which sounded like a prayer. Few tears had gathered again in his eyes, and were forcing themselves between his fingers. Had Poppy seen him thus, how surprised she would have been! How little we know, any of us, after all, of those with whom we live day by day under one roof!

Lady Augusta mounted the stairs once more, and knocked softly at the door of the mulberry room. "Come in," called Naomi gently. When the door opened she rose from the comfortable chintz-covered chair by the wood fire and smiled at her hostess. She had made no moment or two, and did not seem at all curious about his wife's news. "An unexpected guest arrived this afternoon, Edward, by the four-poster at Plashtet's."

"Oh, who was it?" he asked interestedly.

"A lady of the name of Bradford."

"Not—not Poppy?" he cried with a painful eagerness which somehow smote Lady Augusta to the heart. It suddenly dawned upon her that perhaps the thing that ailed her husband was that he fretted after Poppy. That had not occurred to her, and as they never spoke of her, she had no means of knowing.

"No, not Poppy, but she brought news of her."

"Poppy's mother-in-law, perhaps?" said the Rector, now thoroughly roused.

"No, Captain Bradford's aunt, a most charming person. I shall bring her down presently."

"Is she stopping here, Augusta? I don't understand. Did you invite her?" he added in a bewildered voice.

"I said an unexpected guest, didn't I, Edward?" asked Lady Augusta with a gently reproachful air. "She came 'on her own,' to use a vulgar expression, and I am very glad she did, though at first, I did not feel at all sure about it."

"What did she come for? Isn't Poppy well?"

"Yes, Poppy is quite well. Miss Bradford merely came to say that she thinks Poppy is fretting after us, and that I ought to go and see her, and I have made up my mind to go tomorrow or Monday, and very probably I'll bring her back with me."

The Rector listened like a man in a dream.

"I can hardly believe that I'm hearing properly, Augusta, but I'm very glad, my dear, very glad indeed!"

His voice broke a little, and, to Lady Augusta's complete dismay, he took out his handkerchief and blew his nose, and quite unashamedly wiped his eyes.

"I'm very glad," he repeated, "because I had made up my mind today that I would go myself to York-shire next week and see what is the state of affairs. I'll accompany you tomorrow, Augusta."

"You can't, Edward; there is no bed to take the services, and as I fully intend to bring Poppy back with me it is unnecessary. I shall only be gone a day or two."

"Very well," said the Rector, meekly giving way, as he invariably did to his wife in minor affairs. The news she had bestowed on him was so astounding and made him so happy that he had no desire to cavil over trifles.

"Tell me about Miss Bradford, or, rather, what news she has of Poppy? Is she living at Markyate yet?"

"At an old farmhouse near the camp at Braughing. Miss Bradford told me a good deal about it all, and it will be quite a good thing to have Poppy back here."

"But not without him, Augusta," said the Rector quietly. "We must do it handsomely or not at all. We don't want any scandals or divisions now. It has been bad enough, and we have something to be thankful for in that he is a quite presentable fellow and a good soldier. I am unusually hearing of tragedies beside which our trial seems an unmixer blessing. I wish him to come, and we will do our best to make everything right."

Lady Augusta did not commit herself. She never did.

"I shall be guided by circumstances," she said cautiously; then added, "Reggie Vandaleur is stationed at this camp at Braughing. Curious coincidence, isn't it?"

"It is, very," said the Rector. "And I'm not sure whether it is a good thing. Has Poppy been seeing him?"

"Apparently seeing him rather often. It is very tiresome, is it not, that she would not be civil to Reggie when we all wished her to be, and that now, when she ought to keep him at arm's length, she is not doing it."

"I see," said the Rector slowly. "Did you say Monday, Augusta? I think it had better be tomorrow."

"Oh, she isn't at the cloping point yet," said Lady Augusta drily. "And I think, out of consideration for Miss Bradford, I ought to make it Monday. She has taken a very long, tiresome journey for no reason that I can see but pure humanity. She loves Poppy, and apparently sees a good deal of her. We must be very kind to her to mark our gratitude, and if I can persuade her to stay till Monday no harm will be done. I am sure. Besides, Saturday night is a rather ghastly time to arrive anywhere. I have thought we might go to London tomorrow evening and sleep at Brown's Hotel, going into Yorkshire a Monday morning. The days are so short now; it will be a better arrangement; but I haven't mentioned it to Miss Bradford yet. If you are ready to see her, Edward I'll go and bring her down now."

"I should like to see her very much indeed," said the Rector, and his wife sailed majestically from the room. When he was left alone he suddenly bent his proud white head on his hands and murmured some words which sounded like a prayer. Few tears had gathered again in his eyes, and were forcing themselves between his fingers. Had Poppy seen him thus, how surprised she would have been! How little we know, any of us, after all, of those with whom we live day by day under one roof!

Lady Augusta mounted the stairs once more, and knocked softly at the door of the mulberry room. "Come in," called Naomi gently. When the door opened she rose from the comfortable chintz-covered chair by the wood fire and smiled at her hostess. She had made no dinner toilet, but her frock of soft dove-grey cashmere, so quaintly fashioned with a gathered skirt and full sleeves, and worn with a little turnover collar and cuffs of exquisite hand-embroidered lawn, part of the treasure found in mysterious boxes and drawers under the eaves, made her look like an old picture.

"I couldn't change," she murmured, observing that Lady Augusta

GETS TWO YEARS ON CHARGES OF SHOPLIFTING

Armand Daigle Pleaded Guilty to Charge of Stealing Watches from Local Jewellers.

Arrested by the police on a charge of shop-lifting, Armand Daigle was sentenced to two years in the penitentiary on each of two counts by Judge Lemay this morning. Sentences are to run concurrently.

Daigle entered the jewellery store of Miss F. Wark, on Wellington Street, and asked to be shown some wrist watches. These were placed on the counter, but apparently did not satisfy him, and he asked to see some others. While Miss Wark was getting these, Daigle slipped one of the watches in his glove and started to move off. This movement was noticed by Miss Wark, who shouted to a man just entering the store and the thief was held until the arrival of the police.

The accused entered Sparring's store about a week ago, and worked the same trick, but on discovery managed to get away in the crowd. He appeared before the Magistrate this morning and pleaded guilty to both charges.

The police expect to recover the goods stolen from Mr. Sparring, within the next few days.

GRANADA GAVE FINE OFFERING LAST EVENING

Movietone Pictures Introduced in Sherbrooke for First Time Before Crowded House Yesterday Afternoon and Last Evening.

Sherbrooke's many movie "fans" were afforded a real treat at the Granada Theatre yesterday afternoon and last evening when the famous and much discussed sound pictures were presented for the first time in Sherbrooke.

The beautiful theatre was crowded to capacity and everyone certainly should have been well-pleased with the programme presented. The feature picture was "Street Angel", starring Janet Gaymond and Charles Farrell, with the famous 110 piece Roxy Theatre Orchestra playing the Fox movietone accompaniment.

Apart from this the audience were also privileged to listen to a Fox Movietone in which the voices of U. S. President-elect Hoover and Lady Astor could be distinctly heard, while as a rounding off to a very fine programme a good movietone comedy was presented.

Although last night was the first evening that the new equipment had been tried out, everything went off in a very satisfactory manner and those who went to the Granada Theatre were indeed provided with a very fine programme.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE CAUSED BY EVENING FIRE

Blaze in Echenberg Co., Ltd., Caused Traffic Blockade—Damage Done to Stock and Fixtures.

All traffic on Wellington Street was blocked for a considerable time last night about eight o'clock on account of a fire in the premises of the Echenberg Co., Ltd., 19 Wellington Street North, formerly known as the Sherbrooke Installment House.

The constable on the beat noticed a fire in the rear of the store, in a small office, and summoned the brigade. On the arrival of the firemen the flames were noticed on the second floor. After about an hour of work the fire was extinguished, and the brigade left the scene. All evidence shows that the fire started in the office on the ground floor, and worked its way up to the first and second stories. Considerable damage was done to the stock and contents by fire, smoke and water.

MONTREAL AND RANGERS PLAY A DRAW GAME

Americans Moved Up to Within One Point of Canadiens for Leadership of International Section of N.H.L. When They Nosed Out Boston.

(Canadian Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Feb. 6.—The New York Americans moved to within one point of Montreal Canadiens, leaders of the international section of the National Hockey League, by blanking the Boston Bruins by 1 to 0 at the Hub City last night. The goal of the encounter was scored in the second period and was the result of a combination play by Conacher and Broadbent, with the latter netting the puck.

After seventy minutes of good and bad hockey the New York Rangers and the Montreal Maroons were unable to reach a decisive decision in their match in New York. The game ended in a one-all deadlock.

Both goals were netted in the initial period. The New Yorkers scored first on a play by Bun Cook and Leon Bonaguidi. Bun scored and the pass. A few minutes later Jimmy Ward took a pass from Stewart to knot the count.

The first half of the game was fast and strenuous. In the second period Bun Cook received a match penalty and a fine of $50 for slashing Stewart over the head. However, the struggle developed into a purely defensive affair after the second period.

No Goals Registered
The Toronto Maple Leafs and the Pittsburgh Pirates battled through seventy minutes of dull and listless hockey to a scoreless deadlock at Pittsburgh.

The only action of the game was witnessed in the first part of the third period, when both teams opened up, but their efforts lacked scoring punch.

Chicago Furnished Surprise
The Chicago Black Hawks turned in the surprise performance of the night when they defeated the Detroit Cougars by 1 to 0. Johnny Gottselig, Hawk wingman, scored the only goal of the game shortly after the start of the first period. The Cougars scored a couple of goals but they were called off-side by the officials.

The standings to date follow:

BISHOP'S PLAY LOYOLA AT MONTREAL TOMORROW

Tomorrow the hockey team from the University of Bishop's College will travel to Montreal to play Loyola College in a return game in the Intermediate Intercollegiate League.

This game, to be played on the Loyola rink, will be one of the most important in the series, for the result will decide which team is to hold top place in the League.

Tonight the second hockey team will meet Bury in an exhibition game at that village. The usual lineup will represent Bishop's against Loyola.

INDUSTRIAL HOCKEY GAMES TONIGHT

What promise to be two interesting hockey games are scheduled for the Industrial Hockey League tonight. Dion and Rioux are determined to humble the Southern Canada for the defeat the Cluthiers received on Monday night, while the Silk Products are out for vengeance as a result of their narrow loss to the Kayser on Monday night. The interest exhibited when these four teams played on Monday promises to be duplicated tonight. These games mark the close of the Industrial League schedule and the playoffs will start within the next week.

BRUSHING UP SPORT

By Laufer

When Connie Mack assembles his Athletics at Fort Meyers this spring, special attention will be given one, George W. Earnshaw.

Earnshaw is one of the best pitching prospects of the American League and incidentally the apple of Mr. Mack's eye.

Last year, his first in the majors, George got off to an indifferent start, but in the closing days of the campaign made good the expectations Connie Mack had for him.

Earnshaw is a tall, rangy right-hander, and his specialty is speed. None other than Bucky Harris, manager of the Detroit Tigers, says Earnshaw has more stuff than any first year pitcher he has seen in years.

Harris blames George's wild streaks on the fact the big pitcher takes too little time between pitches and a smart batter can upset him by a little well-timed stalling at the plate.

Last year he took part in 26 games, winning seven and losing the same number. While this may not be anything to throw convulsions over, it remains that he came fast during September, and it's likely he'll still have plenty of momentum when they start the season in April.

Connie Mack hand-picked Earnshaw from the Baltimore Orioles, the team that gave Lefty Grove, George's illustrious teammate, to the majors.

STANDARD OIL CO. OF INDIANA SPLITS MELON

Col. Stewart Said It With Stocks and Cash Yesterday in Fight to Retain Position as Chairman of Board of Directors.

(Associated Press Despatch) CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 6.—Colonel Robert W. Stewart said it with stocks and cash yesterday in his fight against John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to retain his position as chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

At the conclusion of a brief meeting Col. Stewart and the board of directors supporting him in his little with the Rockefeller interests announced a stock dividend of fifty per cent, a regular cash dividend of 62 1/2 cents a share and an extra cash dividend of fifty cents a share.

Except for the brief announcement of the action of the directors, no comment was forthcoming on the big melon in stock and money, either from Colonel Stewart or his supporters, all apparently being inclined to allow the action to speak for itself.

Estimates of the cash value of the stock dividend ranged from $300,000,000 to $400,000,000. Par value of the Standard Oil of Indiana stock is $25, but shares closed at $36 on the market yesterday, which would make the value of the stock dividend $444,000,000.

TOWN COUNCIL MET AT SUTTON; GENERAL NEWS

No Objection Made to Incorporation of Village of Abercorn—Sutton and District General News of Interest.

SUTTON, Que., Feb. 6.—A regular meeting of the Town Council was held at the Town Hall on February 4th, Mayor Fuller presiding and five councillors being present. A communication had been received from the County Council, asking if there was any objection on the part of the town to the proposed incorporation of the Village of Abercorn.

Maps of the proposed incorporation were submitted, and showed the territory asked for was a strip of land one mile wide and two long, beginning at the Vermont border and running two miles toward the village of Sutton, and occupying both sides of the main road. A later request had been to include the property of the Prince of Wales Inn, in addition to two square miles, this last proposal would give an area of 1,317 acres. There was no opposition to the first, but one councillor went on record as being opposed to the inclusion of the property of the Prince of Wales Inn, with its $6,000 valuation, in the proposed incorporation. However, a motion was carried instructing the secretary to inform the County Council that there was no objection on the part of the town.

The new corporation will have a valuation of about $110,000 and a population approaching 300. Within its boundaries will be the C.P.R. Station, and two of the large bridges of the town, one of which will have to be re-built in the course of the next decade.

Several bills amounting to $209 were accepted. The printing or advertising in connection with the late by-law, amounting to $189. Mr.

General Notes.

Mr. F. L. Jenne, who returned Saturday from a business trip in Ontario, started again on Sunday evening for a trip to cover more territory.

The recent fall of snow has been helpful, though not sufficient. Some logs are coming into the village on runners, but teamsters report that more snow is needed. Mr. G. N. Thompson states that he has 8,000 logs on slide, and that it will take twenty teams about one month to haul them to the mill. Teams are hauling for him by the thousand feet but he is expected to have to haul some by trucks.

Mrs. Percy Webster was at Montreal over the week-end visiting friends and called at the Royal Victoria Hospital, whilst there, to enquire about Mrs. H. Bates, who is an inmate.

Mrs. Claud Kilby, who has been spending a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Lafleur, left for Montreal Sunday evening, where she will stop for a few days before returning to her home in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. William Brown were at Richmond, Vt., on Tuesday last, combining business and pleasure in a day's outing.
