Tramway Driver Killed at Glen In Freak Accident

A Montreal Tramways Co. motorman was killed in the traffic fatality in Montreal district since Friday night, police reported.

Joseph Rousseau, 50, 661 Delinelle street, an employee of M.T.C. 25 years, was pronounced dead on arrival at the Western Division of Montreal General Hospital after being crushed between two trams, one of which he was operating.

Police said Rousseau stopped his tram behind another opposite 954 de Courcelles street, near the car barns there, and got out to clean the front window. While doing this, his tram suddenly moved forward and pinned him against the tram ahead.

To Unveil Second Group Of Windows

On Sunday morning the second group of memorial windows in St. Andrew's Church, Westmount, will be unveiled. This will complete the memorial to the men and women of the congregation who served in the Second World War, which was dedicated during the golden jubilee services in November. The windows are beautiful and rich in symbolism.

The message by Rev. D. M. Grant at the morning worship will be appropriate as the old year ends and as we embark upon the New Year — so full of possibilities for good or ill for the whole world. The evening service will be choral in which some of the Christmas music will be repeated, with additional New Year selections.

F. B. Whittet Resigns Post

F. B. Whittet, Accountant and Secretary-Treasurer of the Westmount Board of School Commissioners has tendered his resignation on the board.

In a letter to R. R. Hutchison, Chairman, Mr. Whittet said that he wished to devote all of his time to his camp, Whittet's Camp Laclouwhi for Boys, situated near St. Alphonse, Quebec.

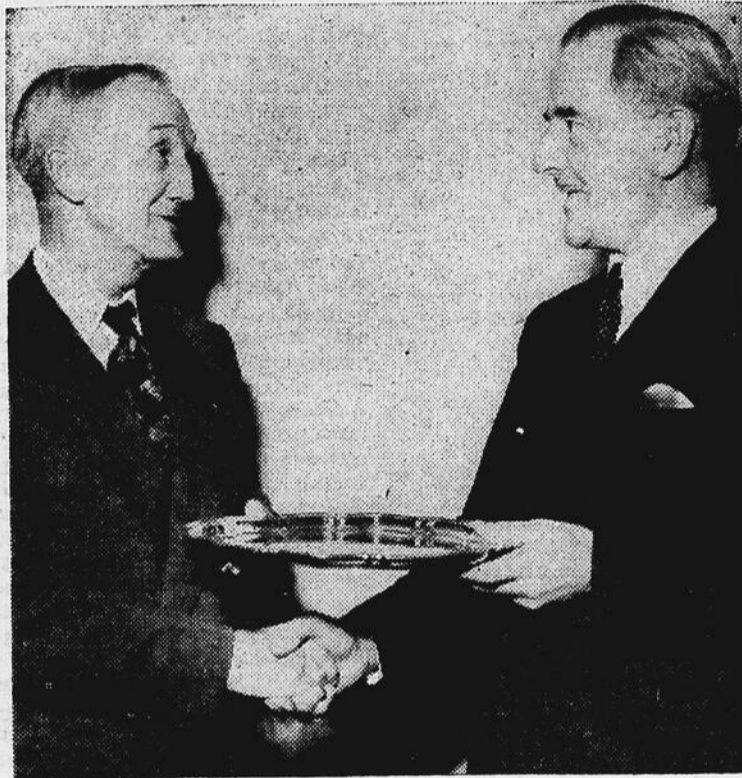

The letter was dated November 16th, and a request was made that he be relieved of his duties within a reasonable length of time.

Westmount RCAF Officers Win Efficiency Decorations

Two Westmount R.C.A.F. officers have been awarded the Canadian Forces Efficiency Decoration according to a recent announcement by Air Force Headquarters. They are Wing Commander H. C. Ledoux, D.F.C., and Squadron Leader H. F. Marceau, D.C.F., A.F.C., who is stationed at St. Hubert.

The award is given for 12 years service in either the permanent or reserve forces

Westmount City Employee Honored

A. H. "Gus" LeBourdais, assistant engineer of Westmount's light and power department (left), is shown receiving a silver tray from Mayor J. S. Cameron, on the occasion of his retirement after serving the city for 40 years. The presentation took place at the annual dinner of the City of Westmount's Quarter Century Club held in Victoria Hall last Wednesday.

Presbytery Will Study Dom-Douglas Suggestions

As a result of sessions-in council meetings which have been going on for some time in Dominion Douglas United Church, Westmount, recommendations of a means to interest the lay members, particularly the eldership in problems of evangelism will come up for discussion and consideration by the Montreal Presbytery of the United Church at a Presbytery meeting early in the new year.

In the search of a fresh method of presenting the Gospel, emphasis will be laid on loyalty, not to the Church as such, but to the Lord of the Church and endeavours will be made to enlist the rank and file in accepting a deeper responsibility for the promotion of the Christian gospel through the church and society.

Special efforts will be made to harness the industrial gifts and training of willing members of the laity in the more direct promotion of the Christian Gospel instead of as at present largely confining these to business and financial aspects of the work.

Extraordinary results arising from the work of gifted laymen in spheres hitherto largely reserved for ordained clergymen have given a fillip to the movement to draw to a greater extent than formerly upon the largely untapped resources represented by the laity of all churches.

Man Suffers Minor Injuries In Auto Mishap

Gerald S. McCaughey, 25, of 7230 Champagne street, Montreal, who refused medical aid at the time of an accident, later turned up at the Westmount Police Department for treatment.

The accident occurred at Melville and Western avenues, 2:15 a.m. Saturday, when an automobile driven by Richard Connelly, of 4275 Dorchester street, west, went out of control and struck the auto driven by McCaughey.

Westmount H.Q., R.C.M.P. Hold Regimental Dinner

Assistant Commissioner Josephat Brunet, officer commanding "C" division, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, addressing the annual regimental dinner held at R.C.M.P. headquarters, 4085 St. Catherine street, Westmount, on Thursday night told the 350 members and guests, that the men of his unit had "set an example for the rest of the country" in their activity on the side of law and order.

He paid a stirring tribute to the memory of R.C.M.P. Constable Alex Gamman, slain in a bank holdup last May. He said that the 56 year old Gamman "died as a hero while on duty". He added "No member of this force would want to die in any other way." Thomas Rossler, alias Joseph Olander, of Winnipeg has been hanged for the murder.

The banquet was held in the men's mess which was festively-decorated for the occasion, and was attended by officers, N.C.O.'s, active and reserve members, pensioners and honorary members. It was the biggest such function held in years. The Christmas dinner was served and prepared by the members themselves.

Director J. Albert Langlois, M.B.E., of the Montreal Police Department, replying to a toast to the force by Supt. J. R. Lemieux, said co-operation between his force and the Mounties is "better than ever before."

"It is the best", he affirmed "that the citizens of this country can expect."

Cst. C. A. Tomkins said grace, Reserve Cst. T. A. H. Whipp gave the toast to the King. Insp. J. R. W. Bordeleau proposed one to the guests, Inspector R. J. Belec, joint director CIB, toasted the pensioners and honorary members with J. Ray Gauthier replying. Master of Ceremonies was A/Sgt.-Major C. E. Thornton.

N. R. Crump, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway also addressed the gathering.

Other guests included Maj.-Gen. R. O. G. Morton, C.B.E., G.C.O. Quebec Command; E. Woman Hurt When Knocked Out Of Auto

Mrs. B. Cote, 44, of 4516 St. Catherine street, suffered shock and possible head injuries when she was thrown out of an automobile parked in front of her home.

According to the Westmount Police, Mrs. Cote was sitting in the automobile with the door open when another car, driven by Clement Hens, 22, of 815 St. Philippe street, went out of control and struck the rear left bumper of the parked auto.

The force of the blow knocked Mrs. Cote out of the car, and she was taken to the Homoeopathic Hospital where she was treated by Dr. Kucharyzin for shock and kept for an x-ray of the head.

Westmount Lauded For Fine State Of Sidewalks

A reader of The Examiner phoned to say how pleased he was with the excellent manner in which the sidewalks of Westmount had been sanded on Christmas Day.

He stated that after crossing Atwater he was struck by the difference between the condition of the Montreal pavements and those of Westmount.

In Montreal he said he had experienced great difficulty in keeping his feet — there being little or no sand in evidence — whereas in Westmount he was able to proceed with little or no precaution.

When Mayor Cameron told the members of the Westmount Municipal Association at their annual meeting recently that the city was doing as good a job as possible he most certainly echoed the sentiments of the gentleman who phoned.

Scouting Around

OUR NEW YEAR'S MESSAGE

Well, once again we find ourselves in the Holiday Season. Christmas is but three days over as you read this and, no doubt, most Cubs and Scouts are rejoicing because of the school holidays which carry through until after New Year's. 1950 has seen many disturbing events throughout the world, but we have great cause for thankfulness in that we are, in Canada at any rate, living in peace. This, of course, does not take into account our many day-to-day troubles, the high cost of living and so on. But, we have only to look around us, at other nations, to realize that we are a hundred-fold better off than they.

Scouting has played a prominent part in the peace-loving nations of the world in keeping trouble and ill-will at a minimum. The teaching of brotherly love, the teaching of duty to God, the teaching of Honour, Truthfulness, Integrity, Dependability, Tolerance, Good-sportmanship... all these have reached a position of great magnitude in the everyday lives of many countries. The strife so prominent in the world today would be completely absent if the basis of Scouting had been practised in the past ten years.

The basis of the Scout Movement is Honour! The basis of character training is the cultivation and practise of the sense of honour. If Scouting did no more than evoke this one attribute among all classes it would be worth while, for honour is the root for a sound, high-souled nation. It is a guarantee of straight dealing in business and in politics. Scouting's method of teaching Honour is not by preaching, not by demanding or endeavouring to presume into a boy a man's ideas of what a boy should think and feel, but by associating high qualities of character with normal boy interests and values and activities, and by giving these qualities expression in "doing", as, for example, through the Good Turn every day. This has been referred to as "Christianity in Action." The ten Scout Laws are based on the fact that all these things are expected of a Scout, because he IS a Scout.

Scouting aims, educationally, to be complimentary to school training, and capable of filling up certain chinks unavoidable in the ordinary school curriculum. Scouting seeks to develop habits of observation and self-reliance, and an attitude of cheerful determination and resourcefulness in tackling difficulties. Scouting's method of doing this is through a system of seventy Proficiency Badges subjects seeking to develop hobby interests... for their value as wholesome hobbies and as a help to the boy in discovering the life work for which he is best suited. Mental alertness and the faculties of observation are developed through games, particularly tracking and observation games in the fields and woods.

In the physical and mental field, Scouting aims to develop sound health habits, strong bodies and sanely-thinking minds, chiefly through frequent hiking and as much camping as possible and through development of a love of nature and the out-of-doors. Socially, Scouting aims to provide boys from all types of homes with boy-group companionship of a wholesome kind to meet the "gang impulse" of early teen age, and a safe outlet for the normal boy's desire for adventurous outdoor experiences; and to develop in the diffident boy initiative and self-confidence, in the selfish boy, thoughtfulness for others and generally, in all boy types, the ability to get along with others.

To meet the "gang instinct," a Scout Troop is divided into patrols of six to eight boys each, each with its distinctive colours, its own corner or den at Scout meetings, its own Saturday or holiday hikes, and its own campsite in a corner of the Troop's summer camp. At the same time, each Patrol is a part of the Troop, wearing the Troop scarf, colour combination of uniform and Troop shoulder tab. Often a Troop is a neighbourhood, Sunday school or school group. Adventurous experience is provided in cross-country hikes, sleeping in improvised shelters, cooking over camp fires, through weekend and summer holiday camping... all this being a taste of the primitive life of pioneers and woodsmen. During these occasions, a range of outdoor games is played, involving the following of human and wild animal tracks, stalking and camouflage, variations of the ancient boy-invented games of cops and robbers, settlers and Indians, Spies and Mounties, and so on.

For the diffident boy, there is the general atmosphere of friendliness of brother Boy Scouts, a sense of being an accepted member of a boy group... one of the gang... and a complete absence of older boy bullying and uncontrolled rowdiness. There is also the Scout system of games, which makes it a point that all boys participate, not as individuals, but as members of a team. For the selfish or spoiled boy there is the emphasis on team work, as against the winning of individual honours and attention. Throughout Troop meetings, during hikes and at camp, there is a watchful control and a quiet discipline that curbs selfish self-assertion. Emphasizing thought for others, there is the stress laid on the Daily Good Turn of the individual Scout, and the church, school or community Good Turns often performed by the Patrol or by the Troop as a whole. From time to time there are important public service activities in which all Scouts of a district participate.

Finally, for all boys, there are the Scoutmaster's regular brief story-talks, the S.M.'s five minutes, at the end of the Troop meetings, which illustrate and stress those high qualities of character which are expected of a Scout.

Scouting's final aim is to develop initiative and leadership ability. These qualities of character are two of the important objectives of Scout training and are expressed in the Scout motto, "Be Prepared." A Scout, confronted with an emergency, such as an accident, a fire, and so on, must be able to do something to help. This is where his training in first aid, water rescue, fire rescue, etc., comes in handy. The success of this training in initiative was again demonstrated in the 2nd World War by the high percentage of former Scouts who were quickly promoted after enlistment in the armed forces, and the number subsequently appearing in the honour lists. Leadership in Scouting is developed through the time-honoured Patrol System, which also functions in a smaller way in a Cub Pack.

However, if Scouting can only help to promote even the smallest increase in the goodwill of man towards his fellow man, we can truthfully say that we are doing our "Good Turn." So, Cubs, Scouts and Scouters, everywhere, let us try, for the next twelve months, to put a little more of the aims of Scouting into our everyday lives, and see how much pleasanter the world will appear. Do not let the "Christmas spirit," which prompts us to be very good natured towards others at this time, fade away into memory along with memories of Christmas, 1950. And to all in the Scouting movement in this Area, may I express a most sincere wish for a happy and joyous New Year for you and yours.

Westmount U.N. Ass'n To Study Einstein Claim

The statement made by Professor Albert Einstein, in Geneva on Thursday advocating the election of delegates to the United Nations Assembly by popular vote will probably be discussed at the next meeting of the Westmount Branch of the U.N. Association, a local member of the branch told The Examiner.

Einstein said that the increasing danger of a terrible war is rapidly convincing people that federal world government must be created.

In a message to the first meeting of the "World Constituent Assembly," the famed scientist said that the United Nations can become a world government only if its delegates are elected directly by the people.

"... Only the direct representatives of the peoples themselves can be expected to service according to their own judgment in the interests of supranational order and security," he said.

The unofficial assembly, scheduled to open its sessions Dec. 31 will discuss the prospects of creating a world parliament. Fourteen delegations are expected to attend. Russia, Communist China, and other Iron Curtain countries have not replied to their invitations.

Ski Club Members Pass Class C Tests

Competition: The following members were successful in passing their Class "C" qualification tests at St. Sauveur on December 17th: Bob Gilmour, Jerry Gilmour, Brian Gregor-Pearse, Lise Dufresne, Michael Kirouac, Bob Reid, Rudy Dolfus. The next qualification test will be held at Ste. Adele on January 7th, and it is hoped that another group will succeed in passing their test.

Bus Tour: A bus tour will be conducted on Sunday, January 7, to St. Sauveur. Details will be sent to members next week.

Clubhouse: A capacity crowd is expected at the clubhouse over the New Year's week-end. Several members have been staying at the clubhouse at St. Sauveur all week and report that the house is extremely comfortable and the skiing is terrific in spite of the weather being on the chilly side. Due to the limited accommodation, it is necessary that the clubhouse members make reservations for the New Year's week-end by phoning the Secretary, Miss Elmira Ross, at DE. 3769, before Friday noon. After that time, if there is room, ordinary members will be permitted to make reservations. So all clubhouse members who intend going north for the week-end holiday should phone the Secretary immediately without fail.

Glass An Unusual Material Westmount Rotarians Told

"There are more kinds of glass than alloys and metals combined, Russ Kennington, a member of the Westmount Rotary Club told fellow members at their luncheon meeting, Wednesday.

Mr. Kennington, a representative of the Corning Glass Company, gave his classifications talk to the members, and stated that glass is one of the most unusual materials known.

He said that the turn of the 20th Century saw rapid improvements and new ideas founded in the use of glass, but that the old idea of glass blowing, practiced for more than 2000 years, is still necessary in some quarters.

"It can be made lighter than aluminum or heavier than iron," the speaker said, pointing out that it is the oldest industry in the United States. The first manufacturing plant for glass was founded at Jamestown, West Virginia in 1609.

Recalling some of the dramatic moments of the industry, the making of the 200 inch telescope for Mount Palomar, California was among the most important.

Mr. Kennington said that the mould weighed 20 tons, and that once it had been formed, it had to be cooled for 300 days by a specially controlled temperature reduction process.

In the new forms of glass still not too well known, the speaker said that vicor glass will be among the most popular. He said it is more than 96 percent pure silica, and can withstand hot molten metal being poured over it while sitting on a block of ice.

The speaker was introduced by Dr. Kenneth Carver and thanked by Ernie Mills of the Westmount Rotary Club.

Walter Murray, chairman of the scholarship committee, and Bill Moxley introduced eight scholarship winners of the Westmount Rotary Club, who were guests of the luncheon. Among the boys attending the event were: Howard Chamberlain, Lindsay Graham, Douglas Kerr, Leslie Humber, George Grough, Richard Griffin, Alan Gordon and Langley Desjardins. All spoke to the members of the club, outlining what they were doing at the present time, and how their studies were progressing at the various colleges they are attending.

Four other ex-students of Westmount High and St. Leo's Academy, who have been granted scholarships by the Westmount Rotary Club sent messages to the meeting since they were unable to attend in person.

WESTMOUNT ELECTION

Acclamations Seem Probable Nomination Day January 8

With nomination day for mayor and aldermen set for Monday, January 8, the only candidates to date for election to Westmount City Council are those announced at the annual meeting of the Municipal Association held on December 5.

Recently many editorials and letters from readers have appeared in the Montreal newspapers concerning the apparent lack of interest in the election of councillors to the council of the metropolis.

All have deplored the apathy which apparently exists and varied reasons have been put forward as a reason for this state of affairs.

It appears to be the consensus that unless citizens exercised their franchise and took a much keener interest in civic matters that the present system of city government might have to be changed.

Acclamations also came in for criticism and the present trend of small interested groups getting behind certain candidates which had the effect of freezing out many who might have had aspirations to run.

It will be generally agreed that the backbone of our democratic system of government is free elections, and if this system is to continue, as opposed to Stalin's system, of saying this is the party candidate, now vote for him or else, then we must ensure that the people in every possible election are given a chance to exercise their franchise.

That Westmount has been fortunate in the choice of its city council over the years, is undeniable, and the Municipal Association must be congratulated in the excellent type of citizen nominated for office.

However, there may be men of sterling worth who might be persuaded to contest the seats if they thought that they had a reasonable chance of winning the popular vote.

An election would eliminate any criticism which now exists.

From a woman reader. Tasteless institutional food is due to lack of interest on the part of the cook, usually underpaid and of poor calibre, and to constant effort to keep down expenses, resulting in cheap food, poorly prepared.

Westmount Baptist

Westmount Baptist will hold New Year Services on Sunday. "The Pilgrim Way in the New Year," as seen by his Majesty the King and by John Bunyan, the author of "Pilgrims' Progress". This will be the title of the morning sermon.

The church Bible School meets at 10 a.m. and 11 a.m. The special bus service from Montreal West will be provided at the usual time. New children are always cordially welcomed.

At the evening service Dr. Johnston's theme will be "A Coronation Stone That Can Not Be Stolen." This service will, like that of last Sunday, be candle-lit.

The annual Watch-Night Service which, throughout the years, has been largely attended, will be a feature of Westmount's New Year Program. Beginning at 9:15 p.m. the Young People's Union will present, in dramatized form, a most interesting playlet. There will be most interesting features in the program, as presented by the youth of the church. At 10:15 there will be refreshments during which a brief film in colour will be presented.

The Watch-Night Service, conducted by the minister, in which many will participate, begins at 11:15 p.m. and continues until the Frontier of the Years has been crossed.

Christian Science

"Christian Science" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The golden text is from John 16:13, "When he, the Spirit of truth, is come, he will guide you into all truth; for he shall not speak of himself; but whatsoever he shall hear, that shall he speak; and he will show you things to come."

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, they brought to him a man sick of the palsy, lying on a bed; and Jesus seeing their faith said unto the sick of the palsy: Son, be of good cheer; thy sins be forgiven thee (then saith he to the sick of the palsy) Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house. And he arose, and departed to his house. But when the multitudes saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had given such power unto men."

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Jesus demonstrated the power of Christian Science to heal mortal minds and bodies. But this power was lost sight of and must again be spiritually discerned, taught, and demonstrated according to Christ's command with 'signs following.' Christian Science reveals incontrovertibly that Mind is All-in-all, that the only realities are the divine Mind and idea. This great fact is not, however, seen to be supported by sensible evidence until its divine Principle is demonstrated by healing the sick and thus proved absolute and divine. This proof once seen, no other conclusion can be reached."

Carbonated Drinks Add Tang to Buffet Dishes

Start the New Year off with a bang for you 'teen-ragers and their friends. Lots to eat, an unlimited supply of chilled assorted carbonated beverages served right in the bottles and lots of fun for everybody—that's the 1951 recipe.

To solve the "big eats" problem economically but with a flourish that will delight the 'teen-age set, try this special recipe. It's a tangy, sweet-tart combination of meat, cheese and crisp green pepper, made with a carbonated beverage base.

Serve this Teentime Rabbit with an assortment of things to put it on in separate bowls, such as cooked rice garnished with pimiento, crisp cereal flakes, Chinese noodles and potato chips. Let the boys and girls mix some or all of these on their plates and top with the rabbit.

Teentime Rabbit

One 12-ounce can luncheon meat, 1/2 pound packaged processed American cheese, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 2 teaspoons vinegar, 1 egg slightly beaten, 1 green pepper, chopped.

Dice meat into 1/4-inch cubes. Cover with contents of 1 bottle of the cola and let stand 1 hour, then drain. Slice cheese into top of boiling water. When cheese has melted, stir in seasonings, vinegar, 3/4 cup of freshly-opened cola beverage; blend, then stir in egg. Continue to cook and stir until thickened. Add meat and green pepper. Cover and keep warm over hot water until ready to serve.

Double the recipe, if the party has hearty eaters, or is more than six. For fanciers fare, ham, cut in cubes, may be used in place of the luncheon meat; but give it the same cola-marinating treatment.

Savory Celery

Blend together equal amounts of cream cheese, mashed liver-wurst and a little minced onion; moisten to paste consistency with milk or cream. Stuff celery stalks with mixture chill before serving.

Tough steak can be transformed into tender meat by mixing a small quantity of vinegar and olive oil thoroughly, rubbing it on both sides of the steak, then allowing it to stand for about two hours before cooking.

Important shortie gloves have petal or pointed extensions at the wrist. Trimmings include flat embroideries in self color. Wear them to show off a bracelet collection.

Rev. T.W. Jones, Calvary Lauds Blind Association

Rev. Dr. T. W. Jones, of Calvary United Church, Westmount, told 75 students of the School for the Blind, 7010 Sherbrooke street west, and guests attending the annual Christmas tree party that "Jesus Christ often went out of His way to help and heal the blind."

Speaking on behalf of the Christmas Tree Committee of the Montreal Association for the Blind, Dr. Jones said that anyone who could see the faces of the adult blind people at the party would realize the wonderful work being done by the association.

"The work of the Association for the Blind is most commendable, both in educating the young and in training blind men and women to earn a livelihood", Dr. Jones said.

He further said that the purchase of a Christmas tree was one way in which people could help in the work on their behalf and suggested that those who did not need a tree could help by sending in to the association the price of a tree.

Dr. Jones stated that unsold trees would be given to families who could not afford to buy one.

accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink carnations.

The reception was held at the residence of the bride's parents, 4000 Oxford avenue, where Christmas decorations were used in the reception rooms, the bride's table, centred with the wedding cake, being arranged with lilies and baby white chrysanthemums.

Later Dr. and Mrs. McCallum left for New York and Bermuda, the bride travelling in a frock of cherry red wool, under a grey kidskin jacket, and a corsage bouquet of white carnations and holly.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Neil McCallum, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. George McArthur, of Avoca, Que.; Miss Florence McAuley of Sherbrooke, Que.; Mrs. D. S. MacIntosh and Miss Janet MacIntosh, of Richmond, Que.

Suggestion of the Chef

Baste apples while baking with maple syrup.

Let's Eat

By IDA BAILEY ALLEN

"Soon thousands of refrigerators will contain remnants of the Christmas turkey," mused the Chef. Unless it has been carefully wrapped in waxed paper or aluminum foil, the meat will be quite dry. If this is the case the homemaker should use it right way, n'est-cepas, madame?"

"Oui, monsieur, and in a moist sauce to overcome the dryness."

"I have a fine dish for this occasion, madame. It is new beautiful to behold! It makes a little turkey go farther. And it is very good to eat, my Turkey Creme with Green Pea Puree!"

Perfect Merger

"You combine dried green pea puree with turkey, Chef? That's a perfect merger of vegetables and animal protein but how does it look?"

"Exquisite, madame. I use the green pea puree plentifully but only as a garnish. Imagine a low brown casserole bubbling with turkey a la creme. Around the edge you see a border of green pea puree like fine lace put on with the pastry tube. In the centre a large round dot of red pimiento." Madame "saw." The Chef "conquered." It tastes wonderful.

Green Pea Puree

This consists of green pea puree and turkey in a rich cream sauce. For the green pea puree, use undiluted canned green pea soup or prepare from packaged pre-cooked dried peas. Next make the sauce. To do this, melt 2 tbsp. butter, margarine or turkey fat, and add 3 tbsp. flour, 1/2 tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. pepper. Gradually stir in 1 cup turkey broth, or use 1 cup water

Then in 4 shirred egg dishes or small chicken pie dishes, arrange 2 1/2 to 3 cups flaked or diced cooked turkey. Pour over the sauce. Dust with paprika. Place in a moderately hot oven, 375-400 F.; bakes 30 minutes or until browned on top. Just before serving decorate the edge with the heated green pea puree, putting it on with a pastry tube, or small spoon.

Home-Made Dried Green Pea Puree: Use 1 package pre-cooked dried green peas. Prepare according to directions on the package. When done, remove half the peas. Leave the remainder together with the liquid, to make pea soup the next day. Puree the removed peas through a sieve or food mill. Season with 1 tbsp. butter or margarine, and salt and pepper to taste.

Holiday Drinks for Young Fry Made of Glamorized Fruit Juice

When planning the beverages for your holiday open house, be sure to include the children. When the adults are given a cocktail, have a "special" cocktail for the younger members of the family.

Milk, egg and fruit juice are the foundation of which these drinks may be made. Either honey, molasses or sugar can be used for the sweetening.

Serve the drinks for the children in tall glasses brightened with cranberry juice ice cubes or with bits of fruit floating in the drink. Colored straws will add a festive note and be a help to the younger

Three eggs, 3 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons orange juice, 3 cups canned pineapple juice, grated nutmeg.

Pour in the fruit juices gradually and continue to beat. Fold in egg whites and pour into glasses. Dust with grated nutmeg. Fruit juices and egg should be cold. Yields approximately 6, 6-ounce servings.

Spiced Honey Milk

Two or 3 teaspoons honey, lemon flavoring, 3/4 cup milk, cloves. Mix flavoring and honey well. Add milk and beat with egg beater. Chill, top with nutmeg.

Wonder Punch

Four eggs separated, dash of salt, 1/4 cup sugar, 2 cups milk, 1 1/2 tablespoons flavoring, 1/2 cup heavy cream or ice cream.

Serving Afternoon Tea Is Century-old Custom

Afternoon tea became part of the social life in England in the 1840's. Fanny Kemble, the famous Victorian actress thought it unusual enough to mention in her writings that the Duchess of Bedford invited her to private tea drinkings and it is to this Duchess that the custom of afternoon tea is directly traced. For some time it was adopted only in fashionable homes, but, by degrees, as the dinner hour became later, afternoon tea became more popular and took the place of cake and wine previously served. At first, even in fashionable homes, there was a certain opposition to the custom. We are told that one stern Victorian father forbade his daughters to take tea in the afternoon, but this didn't daunt them for they hid the tea tray under the sofa when they heard him approaching.

Edith Head's

Fashion Letter From Hollywood

Only a very few damsels are so naturally beautiful that they would look glamorous even in a gunny sack. But that's no reason for the rest of the herd to walk around looking like a bunch of cows!

This blunt observation comes straight from Hollywood's ace designer, Edith Head... An Academy Award winner, Miss Head is probably better qualified to discuss the matter of female allure than most designing femmes in the fashion field. During her years at Paramount she has styled movie wardrobes for such leading ladies as Barbara Hutton, Jennifer Jones, Bette Davis, Gloria Swanson, Hedy Lamarr, Olivia de Havilland, Elizabeth Scott and many others. Recently, she whipped up glamour clothes for Bing Crosby's leading ladies—Ruth Hussey, Nancy Olson, Peggy Lee and Dorothy Kirsten—for Bing Crosby's super-musical, "Mr. Music." In other words, the lady knows what she's talking about.

According to Edith, to many women lack imagination, especially women with money. These gals just buy expensive glad-rags and feel they ought to look smart in them, because they look fashion-wise on the mannequins... "Every girl should pick out her best features and dramatize them," cautions energetic Miss Head. "The way a girl combs her hair or dresses can definitely affect her personality. Even an attractive girl is liable to go unnoticed unless she works hard on her appearance."

Edith feels this art of self-presentation should be taught in schools. She claims most girls just follow the sheep pattern without asking themselves if they "look good in wool. The lass next door gets a certain style, so she follows suit... Women don't have to spend a lot of money on their clothes, advocates this designing damsel. "It's fitting the proper styling to the personality that counts—and not what the outfit costs"

Karnak Ladies

The Karnak Ladies Club will hold its business meeting in the Masonic Temple, Sherbrooke Street W., on Tuesday, at 1.30 p. m. There will be sewing, knitting and mending.

To clean the leather on furniture, wash with one teaspoon of vinegar to each cup of warm water used. Use a soft cloth wrung out of this solution. Wipe dry, then polish with one egg white, beaten and mixed with a teaspoon of turpentine. A flannel cloth should be used for polishing.

Try These Two Ever-Popular Family Dishes

Here are two "family" dishes that belong in your 1951 recipe collection.

Scalloped Corn

One cup (No. 1 can) whole kernel corn, 1 tablespoon finely cut onion (optional), 1/2 cup milk, 1 tablespoon flour, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon paprika, 2 tablespoons fine cracker crumbs, 2 tablespoons butter.

Place one-half of the corn in two individual casseroles or in one large one. Sprinkle with onion, if you like it. Combine milk, flour, salt and paprika. Pour over corn in casseroles. Add remaining corn. Sprinkle crumbs over top. Dot with butter. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes.

And here's an old-fashioned recipe for Potato Cakes.

Potato Cakes

Divide cold mashed potatoes into uniform portions, allowing about 1/2 cup for each cake. Shape in the palm of the hand into a patty about 1/2-inch thick and 2 inches wide. Press firmly into shape. Put some flour in a cake pan. Turn each potato cake in the flour to coat both sides and the edges. Brush off extra flour. Heat enough saved bacon fat or other meat drippings in a heavy frying pan to fill it an eighth-inch deep. Pan fry the cakes over low heat until well browned, about 10 minutes. Turn carefully with a broad spatula and fry to brown the other side, 5 to 10 minutes more. Serve hot in the skillet over very low heat for 10 to 15 minutes, but don't burn! Good with bacon, ham or sausage for breakfast, luncheon or even for dinner.

Trinity Players To Do 'The Bride'

The next offering by the Trinity Players will be "The Bride," a Canadian drama by Joseph Schull.

Four performances will be given on the evenings of January 24 to 27.

Operetta Styled Fairy Tale Film Opens At Seville

During the filming of "March of the Wooden Soldiers", based on the immortal operetta "Babes In Toyland", which starts today at the Seville Art Theatre, an entire Hollywood motion picture studio was transformed into the average child's conception of a fairyland. Candy canes were used to build picket fences around sugar houses, miniature wagons drawn by goats, the straw, wood, and brick houses of the three little pigs and completely stocked toy-shops were all made in the huge sound stage.

"March of the Wooden Soldiers" combines music, comedy and a heart-warming romance and brings back the comedy team of Laurel and Hardy.

"Crisis" and Schoolboy Film Starting Sunday at the Westmount

"Crisis," the story of an American brain specialist kidnapped in an unnamed Latin-American country fomenting with revolution, and forced to perform a dangerous operation to save the life of its hated dictator, brings Cary Grant, José Ferrer, Paula Raymond and a distinguished supporting cast to the Westmount screen on Sunday, in an M-G-M drama teeming with action, adventure and absorbing suspense.

Cary Grant, returning to a straight dramatic role after a series of comedies, enacts the part of Dr. Eugene Ferguson whose vacation with his attractive wife is brought to an abrupt termination when he finds himself under arrest and is brought face to face with Raoul Farrago (José Ferrer), the country's tyrannical ruler. Farrago, suffering from a brain tumor and unwilling to trust his own medical experts, demands that Ferguson operate on him.

Although he is well aware of the penalty should his operation fail, Ferguson's ethics as a physician persuade him to undertake the dangerous assignment. It is not until after the operation, however, that he is forced to make an even more momentous decision. The country's revolutionary forces, headed by the zealot Gonzales, have detained Ferguson's wife as she is about to escape to the States and they now offer him the choice of permitting Farrago to die and seeing the safe return of his wife—or the obvious alternative.

"The Happy Years," new M-G-M attraction, will play on the same bill.

Based on the American boyhood

José Ferrer has a temporary advantage over Cary Grant in a suspense-packed moment from "Crisis," new M-G-M drama which starts Sunday at the Westmount Theatre. The cast also features Paula Raymond, Signe Hasso, Ramon Novarro, Gilbert Roland and Leon Ames.

stories about Lawrenceville Academy, made famous several decades ago by Owen Johnson, the Technicolor photoplay is filled with delightful humor, tender touches and heartwarming characterizations.

It is the story of the incorrigible young Dink Stover, whose penchant for getting into mischief gets him expelled from several schools and finally lands him at Lawrenceville Academy. Here he immediately becomes the most unpopular boy on the campus because of his refusal to conform to Lawrenceville traditions.

Victimized, duped and ostracized by his classmates and made the chief butt of the sarcasm of his Latin teacher, the formidable Old Roman, who is also football coach, Dink is ready to call it quits when his first term ends. But when his family are ready to concede that Dink can't "take it," he returns to Lawrenceville to show his mettle not only in battling his student adversaries but as a football hero. And in the story's final sequences,

Television Is Threat And Challenge to Film Makers

By JACK HIRSHBERG

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 27 — This is the season when cinema scribes look backward and pick the top tales of the year for re-telling.

Some will recall Walter Huston's death, the commitment to jail of ten Hollywoodians who refused to say if they were or had even been Communists, the divorcement of production and exhibition in several companies, Elizabeth Taylor's lavish marriage and quick separation.

But the major story of the year is actually a two-fold tale which has been spinning itself out for the past 365 days.

It's the story of television.

A goodly portion of the United States and Canada's southernmost fringe now has video entertainment within its reach. Some remote rural areas are still untouched, but these are the exceptions rather than the rule.

Theatre owners have been crying the blues and blaming poor-business on television; yet the truth is that movies will show a multi-billion dollar gross and a profit high up in the millions for 1950. Some smart film executives predict an actual boom in film profits when teevee is geared for proper exploitation of the movies.

Somewhere in between the tears and the exuberance lies the probable truth. I think free television amusement at home will force many small neighborhood theatres to close shop. It will definitely put the ancient, outmoded movie palaces out of business. And it will make operators of the better theatres do a more imaginative and constructive job of merchandising their wares.

In other words, in order to keep and enlarge its audience Hollywood will have to rely more on exploitation, plus the filming of pictures with an appeal which cannot be televised. It will have to cater to specialized audiences, which sponsored video shows must skip. And it must lure customers away from their hearths to see pictures of such magnetism that patrons are willing to pay good money to see them.

But this is only half the story. While part of the film business is in eclipse, a new industry within the industry is being born. I mean the filming of pictures exclusively for television. Already over 90 companies are engaged in this business in Hollywood, and many of the nation's top air shows are on celluloid. Eventually an estimated 3,000 pictures a year will be lensed just for video. No entertainment medium has ever had so voracious an appetite for material.

This then has been the big story of 1950, the pivotal year in movie making. The coming months will bring television to Canada, and with it will come a better understanding of the relationship of teevee and film.

Now, with the new year just a few short days distant, let me wish you everything I would wish for myself — happiness at home, good health, the warmth of friends, the jingle of coins in your pocket, and the peace of mind for which we all strive. See you next year!

STARTS FILM

Maureen O'Hara has completed her co-starring role with John Payne in Pine-Thomas' "Tripoli," Paramount Technicolor film and will soon leave for Australia where she will star in another movie made there.

"Quantrell's Raiders" Return From Shooting

Entire company of Hal Wallis' "Quantrell's Raiders," including 150 cast and crew, returned from location at Gallup, N. M., over the weekend after 17 days filming. The Technicolor film starts studio shooting at Paramount today. Alan Ladd, Elizabeth Scott, Arthur Kennedy and John Ireland head the cast. William Dieterle directs.

Half-Year Summary Presented

Westmount Enjoys Active Year In Realm of Sport

By GEORGE COCHRANE

'Tis the custom in many a journal to summarize the doings of the past year in their pre-New Year's Day issue. But this, as the more astute of our readers must have gathered by this time, is a tabloid newspaper and space is at a premium. So we have effected something in the nature of a compromise. You will find below a summary of the last six months of this crisis-crammed year. Elsewhere in this section, if the comrades of the composing room carry out their duties in the prescribed manner, you will find this reporter's opinions on what 1951 holds in store in the way of sports happenings. But her's the summary:

JULY

The Westmount Municipal Softball League was in full swing. The games ran the full gamut from top-notch ball to the sandlottiest of sandlot stuff. But it was a lot of fun for all participating . . . Nine teams entered: Police and Fire, Colonials, Avenue Stars, Western Taxi, Girard Auto Plymouths, Shamrocks, Rypts, Bombers and Yards . . . The Westmount soccer and cricket clubs managed to keep themselves busy during the month . . . Over 100 participants took part in the first track and field meet of the season held at the Westmount Athletic Grounds.

AUGUST

Cricket highlight of the month was the Quebec-Bermuda match played at the W.A.G. . . . Paul and Bobby Hamilton took top honors in the annual track and field meet held at the W.A.G. under the auspices of the City of Westmount Recreation Department in conjunction with the Montreal Park and Playgrounds Association, a Red Feather organization . . . Gal's baseball teams showed at Royal's stadium and attracted a fair number of Westmounters . . . Westmount's Bren and Pat Macken won the provincial men's and ladies' singles titles playing on the Monkland Tennis Club courts . . . Westmount Junior and Intermediate rugby squads began practices. Most of the championship Navy team of 1949 turned out for Westmount with Roy Chesley and Mac Parsons sharing the coaching.

SEPTEMBER

Bren Macken received the Carbag's Red Cap for outstanding athletic achievement . . . The QRFU teams opened their schedule with a twin bill on the ninth. The inters trounced Three Rivers 29 - 5 while the Juniors were swamped by the NDG Maple Leafs by a score so lopsided that we won't redden any faces by reprinting it . . . Murray Starke won the final organized putting tournament of the 1950 season . . . Westmount High seniors opened their grid schedule by losing a 6 - 3 heartbreaker to Montreal High.

OCTOBER

Westmount finished second in the Montreal and District Cricket League . . . Westmount High gridders drop games to D'Arcy McGee, West Hill, and Catholic High . . . Sad news of the month was the death of Winston Chase, popular water boy of the Westmount Warriors . . . Herb Linder left the city recreation department to take the post of Director of Recreation at Leaside Community Centre in Toronto . . . Westmount High gridders defeated Catholic High 11-0.

NOVEMBER

Westmount Ski Club held its first meeting and the Westmount Municipal Basketball Leagues got underway . . . Westmount Warriors Junior football club ended their season with a 12-7 win over South Shore Combines but wound up out of the playoffs . . . Coach Jim Patrick called the first practice of the season for Westmount High pucksters . . . Meanwhile the gridders lost an exhibition encounter with Proctor Academy by an 11-0 count . . . Mike Dodman paced the St. Leo's Bantams to city grid title . . . Lakeshore topped Westmount Warriors 9-1 in playoff.

DECEMBER

Avenue Stars, paced by the sharpshooting of Jack McKissock, take the lead in the intermediate basketball league . . . Westmount High boys take part in mammoth ice carnival at the Forum, an affair in which King's School principal Frank Sharpe played a

W.H.S. Hockey and Girls' Basketball Teams Active

Westmount High School hockey teams, Senior "A" and Junior, are fast rounding into shape, and have already played several exhibition games.

The Juniors have played two exhibition games winning one and tying the other.

On Friday at the Forum, Westmount just edged out Catholic High by 7 to 6 in a free scoring contest. The individual star for Westmount was Jerry Apostolatos who tallied two of the winning goals. Hardy MacKeown, Don Raven, Jim Beasant, Skip Warnock and Ross Southward got one counter each. Also on the Junior line-up are John Wright, Gavin Scott,★

Bud Agnew, John Longshaw, Mac Ito, and two goalers Colin Grimson and Colin Irving. Joint managers are Doug Turner and Doug Waugh. Coach of the team is Ross Rubenstein, former Westmount football and hockey star and a member of the McGill Intermediate champions in hockey and football.

On Wednesday the Westmount Juniors played a three-all tie with West Hill at the Forum. West Hill were lucky in drawing, as they were awarded a goal two minutes from the end which was decidedly off color, as someone kicked the puck into the net off a skate. Two small boys playing with the goal lights behind the nets confused the referees. A cheering section of twelve young ladies added to the zest of the game.

Goals for Westmount were scored by Ross Southward 2 and Jerry Apostolatos 1.

The Senior "A" team has played two exhibitions winning one and losing the second. Westmount defeated Lachine at Lachine Arena by 4 to 3. For Westmount Bob Forrest got 2 counters, with Tony Williams and Mel Reese getting the other tallies. St. Leo's downed Westmount "A" at the Forum by 3 to 1 last Monday. The high flying St. Leo's team playing their first season in Senior "A" had a slight edge over Westmount. Charlie Baillie got the lone Westmount goal with Goulet and Walsh scoring for St. Leo's. The line-up of Westmount Senior "A" is as follows: Charlie Baillie, Melvin Reese, Bob Forrest, Fred Hofman, Don Cope, Tony Williams (who is a member of the junior Canadiens) John Petry, Tom Baillie, Roland Bradley, Warren Arnold and last but not least three goalers, John Swain, Doug Kerr, Charlie Davies. The team is coached by Jim Patrick.

Westmount juniors will play Catholic High Juniors at the Forum tomorrow (Saturday) morning at ten o'clock in another exhibition game.

Only one penalty was meted out in the Boston-Detroit game on November 18 and the Rangers-Bruins game of November 15.

JACK TRENT'S Sporttopics

The Old Year In Sport

A brief review of one of the most successful years in the history of sport is indicated as 1950 drags to a weary finish. Despite the threat of another global conflict, which hung heavy over the western world throughout the last months of the year, sport in general managed to hold the line, although the prospect for the future was not bright with the threat that the re-instituted draft in the United States would pluck many a young athlete from the sporting scene.

But most sports enjoyed a banner year, nevertheless.

BASEBALL—The biggest item of baseball news for the year came during the off-season, a month ago, when the major league club-owners, in a surprise move, voted against renewing the contract of A. B. (Happy) Chandler, the Commissioner of the game. Chandler's contract runs out in some 14 months, but the ex-Senator from Kentucky refused to allow the magnates to buy up the document and insists upon serving the remainder of his term.

The New York Yankees won the world championship again by whipping the Philadelphia Phils, four in a row, in an exciting World Series. The Phils had won the N.L. pennant, their first since 1915, by beating second-place Brooklyn on the last day of the season.

The Baltimore Orioles won the International League's playoffs but were beaten by Columbus of the American Association in the Little World Series.

Another noteworthy item was that Burt Shotton, who won two pennants and finished second twice in four years as manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, was fired from the job after Branch Rickey sold his stock in the Flatbush Fusiliers and moved over to Pittsburgh. No major-league pitcher won 25 games in 1950, but Ralph Kiner did hit his 200th National League home run in his fifth season of play.

And Connie Mack quit as manager of his Philadelphia Athletics after 50 years at the helm of the White Elephants, turning the reins over to coach Jimmy Dykes, whose career as a mentor has been marked with a series of failures at Chicago with the White Sox.

FOOTBALL—Otto Graham led the Cleveland Browns to the first amalgamated National Football League championship ever played for, as the Ohioans whipped Los Angeles, 30-28, in the title final. The Browns have won a championship in each year of their operation. Formed in 1946, they won four in a row in the now-defunct All American Conference and followed with this year's win in the new league.

Top collegiate football team in the U.S. was Oklahoma with 30 wins in a row, but the Coach-of-the-Year was Princeton's Charley Caldwell, who led the Tigers to their first unbeaten-untied season in history. A sign of the changing times was Notre Dame's four losses in 1950.

In Canada, the Toronto Argos, after finishing second to Hamilton in the Big Four, steamrollered the Tiger-Cats, Balmy Beach, and finally over-rated Winnipeg for the Grey Cup. The Argos, with a flock of imports and an American coach in Frank Clair had much too much for Winnipeg in the final and recorded an easy 13-0 victory in four inches of mud.

The University of Western Ontario team proved its greatness by winning its second consecutive playoff victory over McGill, humiliating the Redmen, 24-2, in Montreal's Molson Stadium. It was the fifth title in six years for the Mustangs, who had not been given a look-in with the powerful McGills, who just never seemed to have it when the chips were down.

HOCKEY—The Detroit Red Wings won the Stanley Cup, breaking a three-year Toronto monopoly, but they were forced to the limit by the plucky New York Rangers who lost out only in double overtime of the seventh game of the final round. Detroit had earlier eliminated Toronto and New York had swept past Montreal Canadiens.

Changes were noted in the coaching ranks throughout the year. Lynn Patrick shifted from New York to Boston, Ebbie Goodfellow came in at Chicago, Joe Primeau at Toronto, and Neil Colville in New York. Only Detroit's Tommy Ivan and Montreal's Dick Irvin could keep their jobs in 1950.

The Toronto Marlboros, sparked by whiz kids Danny Lewicki and George Armstrong, won the Allan Cup from Calgary, while Montreal Junior Canadiens beat Regina for the Memorial Cup, the second time in as many years that a Montreal team had copped the coveted bauble.

And hockey's comeback of the year was by young Gordie Howe, who survived a near-fatal accident in the last spring's Stanley Cup semi-final series with Toronto, to come back and play outstanding hockey for Detroit in the new season.

BOXING—Ezzard Charles, who erased the legend of Joe Louis with his flashing fists in September, was named Fighter-of-the-Year, but boxing men agreed that the best man in the ring again, as usual, was Ray Robinson. Robinson defended his welterweight crown with ridiculous ease whenever asked to, but Jake Lamotta, the middleweight king, wouldn't have anything to do with him, even after he slaughtered the logical contender, Robert Villemain of France, in a 15-rounder in Philadelphia.

Laurent Dauthille of France and Montreal, had the middleweight crown within his grasp, only to be kayoed by Lamotta with but 13 seconds remaining in the fight, after he had made one mistake. A fellow named Billy Conn once made the same mistake against Joe Louis, but you know all about that.

Ike Williams still reined as lightweight king, but Sandy Saddler took back the featherweight crown from Willy Pep. Charles was still tops among the heavies, although Rex Layne of Utah was a threat after he beat old Jersey Joe Walcott. Joey Maxim continued to top the light-heavyweights.

GOLF—The golfing story of the year was that of Bantam Ben Hogan, the comeback kid. Hogan, so seriously injured in an auto accident in the winter of 1949 that it was feared he would never

National Sports Council to Hold Meeting in Ottawa

The National Council on Physical Fitness is sponsoring and convening a Third Conference of the representatives of National Sports Governing Bodies in Ottawa, January 19 and 20, 1951.

This Conference will be organized and conducted on the same basis and under the same conditions as were the First and Second Conferences.

Reports expected are: (a) Further report from the Constitution Committee. (b) Further report from the Committee on Amateur Status. (c) Report of Committee on Customs Charges for Sports Equipment. (d) Report of Committee on a "National Inquiry."

A plan for financing regional, national and international sports and athletic events for amateurs will be submitted.

The following resolution will also come before the 1951 Conference:

"WHEREAS the conferences organized by the National Council on Physical Fitness, of representatives of Canadian Sports Governing Bodies have been welcome and successful; and

WHEREAS there is need for further effort by the Council; and

WHEREAS the Sports Governing Bodies have not completed

golf again, came back to win the big one, the 1950 National Open. They've made a movie of Hogan's life because of that.

Sammy Snead was once again the top money-winner of the year, although he impressed nobody with either his golf or his temper during the Canadian Open at Royal Montreal in August.

Sam Urzetta, the unknown from Rochester, N.Y., defeated Frank Stranahan, the millionaire's son from Toledo, Ohio, one-up to win the 1950 National Amateur, the only important amateur tourney in the world which Stranahan has yet to win.

TENNIS—Australia won the Davis Cup by surprising the United States, 4-1, but the highly-rated Aussies couldn't beat a fellow named Art Larsen, a slim, left-handed Californian, in the National Singles at Forest Hills. Larsen became the first southpaw to win the singles in twenty years.

Gussie Moran made headlines by joining Bobby Riggs' pro tennis troupe; but after watching her play against Pauline Betz, it was the opinion of most spectators that her tennis game wasn't up to her looks. Jack Kramer remained as the world's best tennis player, but his amateur buddy, Ted Schroeder, announced his retirement after a disappointing Davis Cup showing.

BASKETBALL—Minneapolis Lakers won the professional championship again by beating Syracuse Nationals with ease, but most people still felt that the best team in the business was the fabulous Harlem Globe Trotters. City College of New York was the outstanding collegiate club through victories in both the National Invitation and National Collegiate Athletic Association tournaments.

Montreal Y.M.H.A. whipped University of Manitoba for the Canadian senior title, and championship-conscious Western also took the collegiate cage title.

The old year was indeed a good one for sports, and the New Year may prove even happier and more prosperous for both spectators and competitors. We sincerely hope so.

Mackens of Westmount Now Top Tennis Ranking

Top Canadian tennis honors for 1950 went to the brother and sister combination of Brendan and Pat Macken of Westmount, who were given the No. 1 rankings by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association yesterday.

Blond 26-year-old Brendan was given the top spot in the men's division on the basis of his victories in the Canadian, Quebec and Ontario singles championship in his fifth consecutive appearance on the Canadian Davis Cup team last summer.

The naming of 21-year-old Miss Macken to head the women's department marks the third consecutive No. 1 ranking for her.

Henri Rochon of Montreal, who held the first ranking last year, dropped to the second spot.

The men's rankings are:
1, Brendan Macken, Montreal; 2, Henri Rochon, Montreal; 3, Lorne Maine, Vancouver; 4, Walter Stohlberg, Vancouver; 5, James Macken, Toronto; 6, James Skelton, Vancouver; 7, George Robinson, Montreal; 8, James Duff, Toronto; 9, Jack Spencer, Montreal; 10, Paul Willey, Vancouver.

Second ranking honors went to Miss Elaine Fildes of Montreal and Miss Patricia Lowe of Ottawa was third.

The women's rankings are:
1, Miss Patricia Macken, Montreal; 2, Miss Eliane Fildes, Montreal; 3, Miss Patricia Lowe, Ottawa; 4, Miss Mary Green, Vancouver; 5, Mrs. Margaret McLean, Vancouver; 6, Mrs. Louis Brown, Toronto; 7, Miss Francoise Lacasse, Montreal; 10, Miss Nancy Collinge, Edmonton.

J. P. Turgeon of Quebec was not given a ranking by the national committee because of insufficient data of his record. The same reason applied in the case of Miss Jean Burrit of Toronto and Mrs. Pauline Robinson of Montreal.

Under C.L.T.A. by-laws the national rankings fall within the responsibility of the Davis Cup selection and National Ranking Committee, composed of representatives from the various districts of the country. The committee's recommendations are subject to confirmation by the association at the annual meeting.

The committee announced that junior ranking would be released at a later date.

Church To Give Carol Service This Sunday

The carol service of "Nine Lessons" which was given on Christmas Eve at the Church of the Advent, Westmount, will be repeated Sunday. The service will be under the direction of Norme West, choir director. Soloists will be Michael and Peter Bildfell, Harold Downie and Allan Lamb.

The service consists of two parts. The first is based on the ancient monastic office of Mattins for Christmas Day. The Lessons follow a culminating sequence, starting with the origin of evil and the promise of a Savior, and ending the first part with the proclamation that Jesus Christ is the eternal Son of God, come to earth as man.

The second part is the procession to the crib, followed by devotions to the Christ Child. This part embodies certain features connected with "The Feast of the Presentation of Christ", called Candlemas.

James Wilson, O.B.E., of 488 Mount Pleasant avenue, Westmount, has resigned from the presidency of Shawinigan Water and Power Company, it was announced following the December meeting of the board this week. Mr. Wilson, the sixth president, has directed the affairs of the company for 11 years. Mr. Wilson has been succeeded as president by J. A. Fuller of 3445 Ontario avenue, R. J. Beaumont, 3489 Atwater avenue, becomes chairman of the board; and J. B. Challies, of 8 Grove Park, Westmount, takes over as senior vice-president.

Samuel Bronfman Feted Cardinal Sends Message

"Our work now goes far beyond the ordinary limits of philanthropy and today includes also institutions of culture, learning, goodwill and group relations," Samuel Bronfman, 15 Belvedere Road, Westmount, honorary president of the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, said at a testimonial dinner given in his honor by the board of trustees of the Federation.

"The truth is that what we are really concerned with is good Canadian citizenship. A happy citizen is a good citizen. Always, over and above the set activities of each of our organizations stands the all-embracing ideal of a strong, healthy and harmonious Canada,

ANOTHER DELISLE PRODUCT

Jackie Miller, new winger with Chicago Black Hawks, is the third player in the N.H.L. born and raised in Delisle, Sask. The Bentley's, Max and Doug, are responsible for putting the tiny town on the map. Miller, like the Bentley boys, is a wheat farmer in the summer months.

where each group and section joins with all others to form an integral whole, said Mr. Bronfman, who recently retired as president of the Federation after 18 years of leadership.

Citing the Federation, the Canadian Jewish Congress and the Combined Jewish Appeal as examples of organizations which owed their scope and efficiency to the fact that they were "federated," Mr. Bronfman said that the once-novel idea of unified communal welfare objectives had gained ground during the past two decades of his leadership until today the concept is universally accepted.

Scroll Presented

An illuminated scroll presented by Philip Garfinkle, honorary secretary, on behalf of the Federation, lauded Mr. Bronfman's guidance of both the Federation and Combined Jewish Appeal.

Upon his recent retirement, Mr. Bronfman was elected honorary president of the Federation, holding that position with Michael Hirsch and A. H. Jassly. David Kirsch, who served as vice-president during Mr. Bronfman's tenure of office, was elected president.

A telegram from Francis Cardinal Spellman was among the hundreds of messages of congratulations which Mr. Bronfman received last night.

"Delighted to know you have been honored for your many philanthropies and your numerous charities to the Archdiocese of New York," the message read.

Film Troupe Departs For Location At Sedona

Nat Holt's production associate Harry Templeton leads the main body of the "Devil's Canyon" troupe to location headquarters at Sedona, Ariz. The vanguard of the troupe departed a short time ago.

The 49 performers thus far cast are headed by a six-star group consisting of Sterling Hayden, Gail Russell, Forrest Tucker, Arleen Whelan, Richard Arlen and Victor Jory. In addition, 86 members of the staff and technical crew will travel to the location.

New Brother Act In N.H.L.

The Quackenbush brothers, Max and Bill, form the newest brot act to come into the National Hockey League. When the 22-year old Max joined older brother Bill on the defense of the Boston Bruins. It marked the third brother defense combination to play together. Neil and MacColv played on the blueline for New York Rangers at the start of the 1946-47 season, although the Bruins didn't finish the season on the defense. The Bruins won 15 games in as many nights after Max joined the team.

Max teamed on defense with year-old Bill, only defenseman in history to win the Lady Byng Trophy, in an exhibition game between Detroit and Omaha about three years ago. That was the only time the two brothers had ever played hockey together. The younger Quackenbush is taller, darker and rougher than Bill. Bill acts as the spokesman for the act. "As I remember Max he was a rough player with a temper to go with it, but he tells me he has curbed the temper somewhat."

The last brother combination to play for Boston before the Quackenbush was the Jackson brothers, Harvey and Art. The Jacksons played for the Bruins in 1941-42, 1942-43 and 1943-44.

City Boxing Titles Set For Jan. 29-30

The City Boxing Championships will be held on Monday and Tuesday, January 29 and 30 at the Davis building of the Y.M.-Y.W.H.A.

Dennis White, chairman and supervisor of the boxing committee of the A.A.U. of Quebec, in announcing these dates, was very optimistic about the 1951 Cities. A new crop of youngsters are on the way up and many of the seasoned competitors will have to fight their way to retain their laurels.

The plans for the conduct of the metropolitan championships will be presented to the boxing clubs and their ring mentors very shortly.
