Britain To Offer Plan Later Today

By HAROLD MORRISON
OTTAWA (CP) — Britain will formally ask Canada today to consider a gradual elimination of tariffs between the two countries, establishing a radical new pattern in Anglo-Canadian trade.

The immediate official Canadian reaction likely will be one of cautious approach; perhaps to seek modifications of the original suggestion and perhaps to lay the whole thing open to long and careful examination by a body of experts.

Britain's plan, made as a consequence of Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggested switch of 15 per cent of Canada's imports from the United States to Britain, will be outlined here by Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the exchequer.

He and Sir David Eccles, president of the U.K. board of trade, will meet with Finance Minister Fleming and Trade Minister Churchill today to begin the bilateral trade talks. Mr. Diefenbaker will confer with the two U.S. ministers later and may make some comment on the proposal.

SOME FEARS

There were indications even before the talks got under way that Canadian authorities are none too keen on the suggestion. Some fear it may hurt Canadian industry and increase the number of jobless. Mr. Fleming has already stated it presents "very formidable difficulties."

Many Canadian industrialists are opposed to the free-trade plan, fearing the elimination of tariff protection may force their industries to be pitted competitively against the lower-cost U.K. production.

Living standards are much higher in Canada than in Britain. Canadian wages also are higher. These economic factors would weigh heavily on Britain's side.

On the other hand, Mr. Diefenbaker has stated he would like to see a switch in some of Canada's imports from the U.S.—as much as $600,000,000 a year.

ALTERNATE PROPOSALS

U.K. officials argue that the only real way to get a sharp diversion of Canadian imports from the U.S. to Britain is through the establishment of Anglo-Canadian free trade. However, Mr. Thorneycroft has stated that if Canada cannot agree to his proposal, then he was prepared to make others—such as increased Canadian government purchases from Britain.

Canadian officials likely will look on this alternative suggestion with more favor. They may be prepared to buy more aircraft, engineering equipment and other major products from British factories. But how much effect this would have of diverting Canadian imports from the U.S. to Britain would be open to question.

Canada Likely Scene Of Talks To Expand Commonwealth Trade

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer
MONT TREMBLANT, Que. — (CP) — The Commonwealth's first major trade and economic conference in a quarter-century — one that may reshape the destinies of the 11-country partnership — likely will be held in Canada in mid-1958.

Swiftly and with complete unanimity, finance ministers Tuesday agreed to the Canadian proposal for such major talks and praised this country for initiating a move which, they suggested, may turn the Commonwealth into a great moral force in world affairs.

Finance Minister Donald Fleming, chairman of the four-day meeting, told delegates at public closing ceremonies that "we rejoice to have arrived at complete agreement."

He disclosed that he had invited the Commonwealth to hold the big meeting in Canada next year. It was learned from other delegates this invitation likely will be accepted. The meeting may be held about mid-1958, perhaps sometime between June and September.

COMMITTEE TO MEET

The huge job of preparing for such a major meeting is to be left to a committee of permanent officials to be convened at London next January.

Enthusiasm for the conference decision was expressed from all Commonwealth quarters.

Peter Thorneycroft, chancellor of the U.K. Exchequer, believed an advance had been made in the Commonwealth cause, an advance "perhaps even larger than we now realize."

PM HAPPY

At Ottawa, Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he was sure all Canadians will warmly welcome the announcement.

It came in the form of a 900-word communique which outlined the type of subjects that may be taken up at the meeting. The subjects were described only in general terms.

The big item, of course, is to study ways of expanding trade within the Commonwealth. But an assessment also is to be made of the need and the sources of capital and technical aid in the underdeveloped areas; of problems in farm surpluses; of the impact of Europe's proposed free trade area on Commonwealth trade; and of progress being made in the "common objective" to expand trade generally and eliminate exchange restrictions.

Also, to be studied is the means of setting up permanent machinery so there could be continuous Commonwealth consultations on economic issues.

Malenkov Arrest Follows Pravda Attack, MP Claims

LONDON (Reuters)—A British Labor member of Parliament reported today he had heard rumors that Georgi Malenkov has been arrested and taken to Moscow.

Labor MP Desmond Donnelly reported the rumors from Peiping where he is on a visit.

After his dismissal as a first deputy premier, Malenkov was appointed to manage a power station in the remote "virgin lands" republic of Kazakhstan. Donnelly visited the republic last week.

Malenkov's rumored arrest coincided with another attack by the official Communist party newspaper Pravda on the "anti-party group of Malenkov, Kaganovich, Molotov and Shepilov."

Vyacheslav Molotov, Malenkov, Lazar Kaganovich and Dmitri Shepilov were ousted from the ruling Soviet Praesidium July 4 in one of the biggest Kremlin reshuffles since the death of Stalin.

OPPOSED PARTY

The anti-party group showed a dogmatic approach to Marxist-Leninist theory in opposing the party's course approved by the 20th congress of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, Pravda said.

Soviet Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev told the congress, held in 1956, of the crimes of Stalin. This marked the beginning of the de-Stalinization policy of the Soviet Union.

"The members of the anti-party group could not understand that under present conditions live Marxism-Leninism and the struggle for communism is manifest above all in the implementation of the decision of the 20th congress of the party," Pravda said.

"The persistent pursuit of a policy of peaceful coexistence, friendship between nations, the all-round consolidation of the socialist camp, improvement in the management of industry, a struggle for an all-round upsurge in agriculture, abundance of products, a big housing drive, the extension of the rights of the union republics, the flourishing of national cultures, the all-round development of the creative initiative of the masses—it is in this that we see the concrete manifestation of living and creative Marxism under conditions in the Soviet country."

Control Blaze

MONTREAL (CP) — A two-alarm blaze that roared through an old downtown building early today was brought under control shortly after 8 a.m. No one was injured but four business places were badly damaged.

More than 120 firemen fought the flames for almost four hours.

The fire is believed to have started in a rooming house, and then spread to the Corzo Pizzeria, A and B fruit market, Lingerie Ducharme and the Harbor Drug Store, all on St. Catherine Street East.

Demand Lapalme Resign

MONTREAL (CP)—Some members of the Quebec Young Liberal Federation are reported to be preparing to demand the dismissal of provincial Liberal Leader Georges Lapalme and the election of a successor.

Federation President John Pepper said the ouster may be proposed at a federation meeting Oct. 25-26 in Sherbrooke, Que.

"From remarks made by some members of the executive, it is quite possible a general resolution of the federation will be passed calling for a provincial Liberal convention between now and the next provincial election to choose a new leader," he said.

Members of the party's young wing are said to feel that a new leader is needed in order to recover from election and by-election losses in recent years.

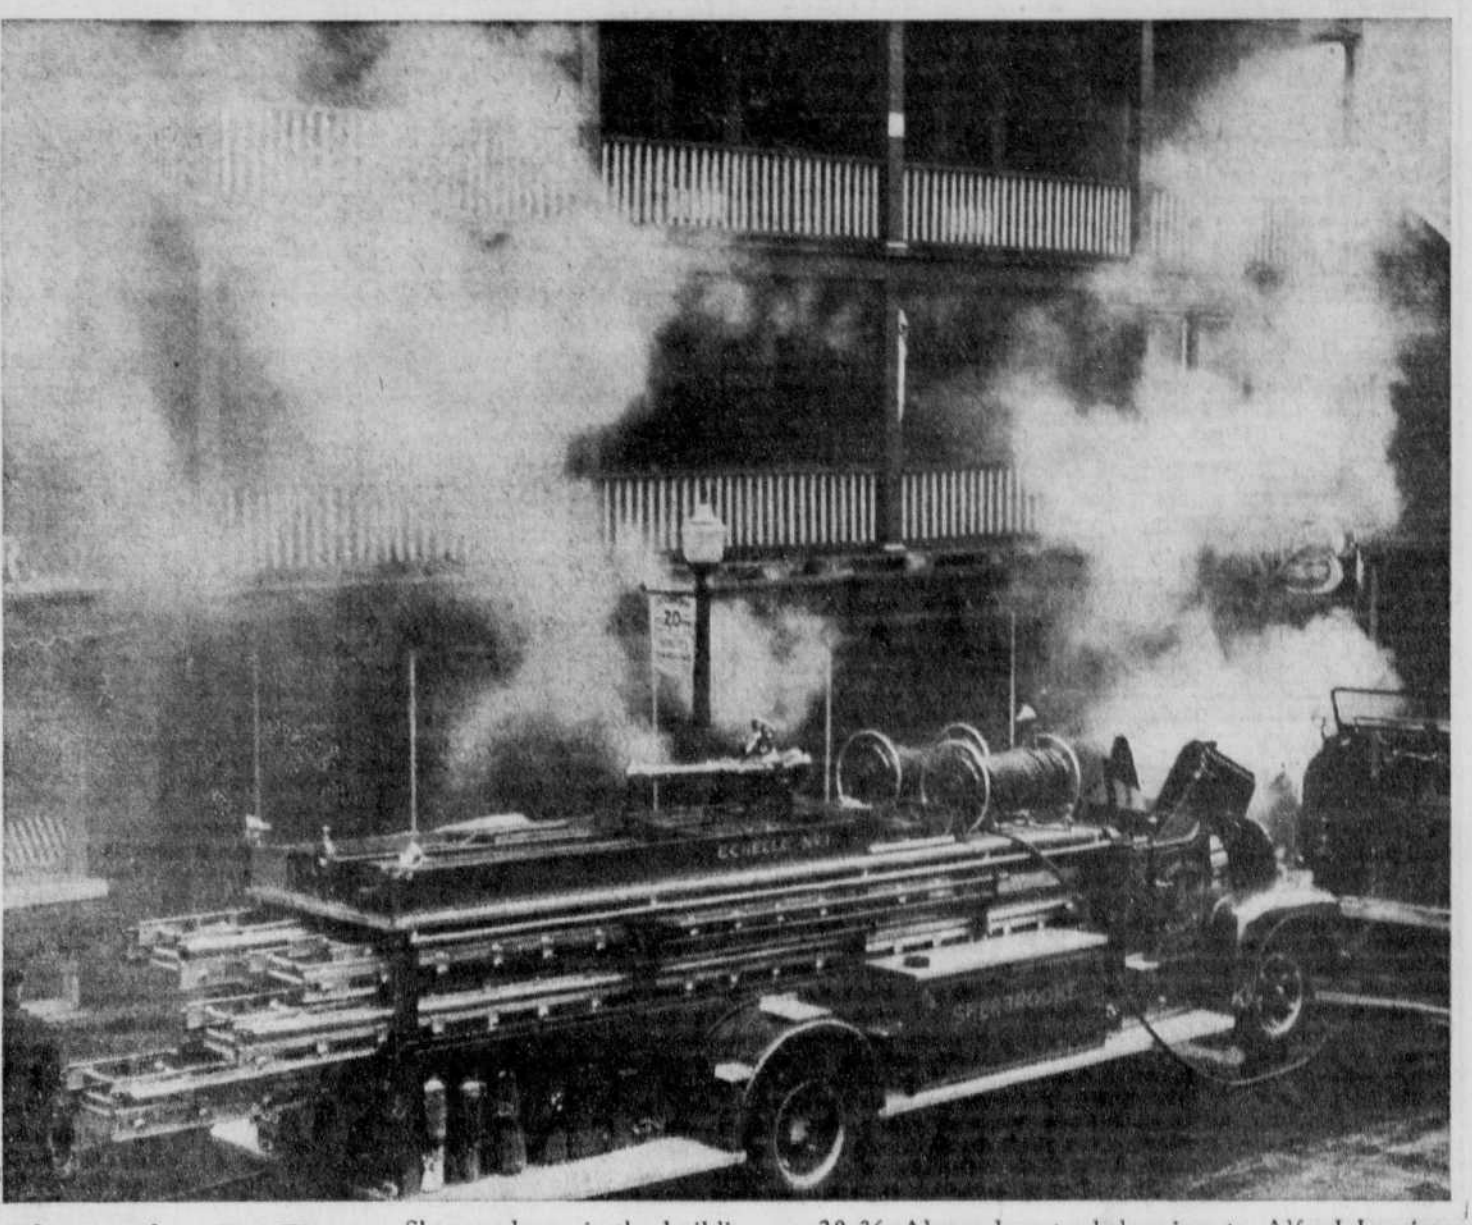

Reds Regain Control In San Marino

By RICHARD EHRLMAN
SAN MARINO (AP)—Communist volunteers, armed with 19th century rifles and umbrellas, today consolidated the Red grip on this tiny mountain republic.

About all that was left in the hands of an anti-Communist "provisional" government was a small, abandoned steel factory.

The Red volunteers had gained effective control of traffic into this 38-square-mile republic in the Apennines of central Italy. They were halting and searching all persons moving across the border between San Marino and Italy.

Firmer Stand By Faubus Demanded

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today held firmly to a demand for a stronger stand by Governor Orval Faubus of Arkansas as the price of withdrawing federal troops from Little Rock.

Hopes for settlement of the federal-state controversy over integration of Little Rock's Central High School collapsed Tuesday night in what might be a disagreement over words — or could be a dispute over intentions.

A settlement plan was worked out Tuesday at a conference between Eisenhower and a four-man committee from the southern governors' conference.

It called for a declaration from Faubus that he would not obstruct orders of the federal courts which have ordered school integration, and would maintain law and order in Little Rock. The president, in turn, promised to return the federalized Arkansas national guard to state control and to withdraw federal troops "as soon as practicable."

DOESN'T CONVINCING
The governors' committee said Faubus had agreed to the plan, and the Arkansas governor later issued his own statement in Little Rock.

But hours later Eisenhower said Faubus' statement "does not constitute in my opinion the assurance that he intends to use his full powers as governor to prevent the obstruction of the orders of the United States district court."

Two of the four governors who met with Eisenhower expressed confidence the dispute can be settled quickly. Governor Luther Hodges of North Carolina and Governor Frank G. Clement of Tennessee spoke on an NBC telecast after Eisenhower's rejection of the plan.

Florida's Governor Leroy Collins and Maryland's Governor Theodore McKeldin, joined them in saying Faubus had changed slightly the statement they said had previously been agreed upon.

Apparently the White House objection was based at least in part on a couple of words in Faubus' statement.

Faubus said "I now declare that upon withdrawal of federal troops, I will again assume full responsibility, in co-operation with local authorities, for the maintenance of law and order, and that the orders of the federal courts will not be obstructed by me."

White Boy Claims Attack By Negroes

CAMDEN, N.J. (AP) — A 15-year-old schoolboy, who told police he was stabbed and slashed by a group of Negro youths, was reported in satisfactory condition in hospital today.

Michael Pittrilli said he was watching a high school football game Tuesday when he noticed a white boy being abused by about a half-dozen Negro youths. He said he suffered the knife wounds in a brief encounter with the group after going to the assistance of the unidentified youth. Later four Camden teenagers were picked up.

No Sign Of New French Government

By GODFREY ANDERSON
PARIS (AP) — The political merry-go-round swept party leaders in and out of the Elysee Palace again today with no sign any had been found who could solve the crisis gripping France.

President Rene Coty, facing one politician after another across his gilded empire desk, was tackling the job of finding a premier for the fifth time since he started his seven-year term as president of the republic.

The National Assembly, which threw out Premier Maurice Bourges-Maunoury Monday along with his unpopular Algerian home rule bill, was torn with dissension as never before. Any new government must find some measure of agreement on the main issues — Algeria's future and a cure for inflation — before daring to face parliament at all.

This being the problem, some observers felt President Coty might first pick a "conciliator" to sound out the assembly groups informally before he settled on someone to try and pick a team to govern France. Rene Pleven, leader of the small Union of Democratic Socialist Resistance, who performed that job in the last crisis 3½ months ago, was being mentioned as a possible candidate for this.

Arab Neighbors Foresee Little Danger In Syria

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Three pro-Western Arab governments were expected to tell the United Nations today that leftist Syria is no threat to her Middle East neighbors.

Saudi Arabia was scheduled to lead the Arab trio in the general debate before the 82-nation assembly. Jordan and Iraq were to follow.

Ahmad Shukairy, former Syrian chief delegate who now heads Saudi Arabia's UN representatives, was expected to echo the current Arab line that Syria is not under Russia's thumb and does not menace peace in the Holy Land.

Shukairy said he also will "deal with" the assembly speech by U.S. State Secretary Dulles, who declared the flow of Soviet arms into Syria might unwittingly lead the Arab recipient into acts of direct aggression.

Jordan and Iraq were likely to take a similar tack but to temper their support of Syria. Iraq belongs to the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact. Jordan accused Syria and Egypt of engineering the recent plot that nearly toppled young King Hussein.

HAVE YET TO SPEAK
Neither Syria nor Egypt, the Arab nations friendliest to the Soviet bloc, have spoken in the general debate.

Syria cancelled two appearances scheduled last week. Observers believe Syria's delay is a result of Saudi Arabian King Saud's visit last week to Damas-

Jury Discharged

Retrial Expected In Hollywood Case

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The jury in the Confidential magazine criminal libel conspiracy trial was discharged Tuesday night, unable to reach a verdict after two weeks of deliberation.

A juror disclosed that the jury stood 7 to 5 for conviction.

The same juror also said the jury heard a rumor Sunday that one of its members had been bribed. The report followed a remark overheard by a juror as she walked through the lobby of the hotel where the jury was quartered.

Said presiding Judge Herbert V. Walker: "A five-to-seven jury doesn't look like anyone was bought."

Declaration of a mistrial dropped the curtain on an inconclusive climax to a two-month legal battle over whether Confidential, its sister scandal magazine, Whisper, and other defendants conspired to libel celebrities and to publish lewd and obscene stories.

PROMISES RETRIAL
Deputy district attorney William L. Ritzi said the case will be retried.

Juror LaGuerre Drouet revealed that the jury-bribing rumor had come to the juror's attention. Three other jurors said they heard no reports of a bribe offer. Another, Mrs. Martha Deputy, said she heard it but regarded it as an "irresponsible rumor."

Drouet told reporters that the deliberations, which began Sept. 17, developed into bitter wrangling. He said there was "a lot of table-pounding" and some "big fights" over the testimony and evidence.

Defendants Fred and Marjorie Meade heard the jury's report of failure to reach a verdict in calm disappointment.

EXPECTED ACQUITTAL
"We had expected acquittal," Meade said.

Judge Walker ordered the prosecution and defence counsel and the defendants to return Oct. 10 for setting of a retrial date.

Defendants in addition to Confidential, Whisper and the Meades were Hollywood Research, Inc., and Publisher's Distributing Corporation.

The Meades were alleged to have operated Hollywood Research as a "smut station" to funnel movieland scandal to the magazines.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—How can a director fresh from Germany make a picture about today's American youth?
 This was asked of Helmut Kautner, Germany's most distinguished director and the first to be imported from his country since pre-Hitler days. He is now making Teach Me How to Cry with youngsters John Saxon and Sandra Dee.

 "The studio (Universal-International) thought it might be better to get someone to direct who wasn't familiar with the American scene," explained Kautner, an intense man in his 40s "Perhaps I could get some fresh slants on the life here."
 He indoctrinated himself fast. He went to Santa Ana, Calif., and spent two full days in the high school, lunching with the students, attending classes and listening.

What did he find out?
 "That the students in this country are much better than they are in Germany," he observed. "In Germany, the spirit of authority still rules. Students must respect the teacher—or else. They must sit up straight and pay attention. All this harks back to the militarism of Germany."

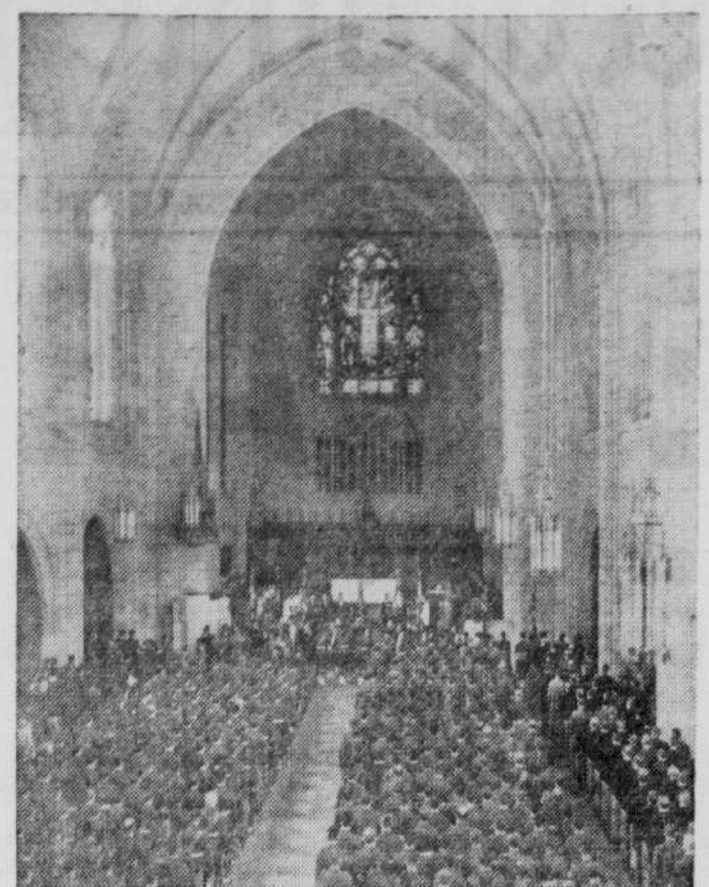

ATTITUDE DIFFERENT
 Here the attitude toward the teacher is different. The teacher must win the respect of the students. I think that is better. Respect is more valuable when it is earned."

The American youth's attitude toward sex is different, too, he added.
 "Here, there is much talk about it," he said, "but little is done. The young people in Europe don't talk about it so much, but they know more about it."

The arrival of Kautner (pronounced Koytner) recalls the years of the 1920s and early 1930s when Hollywood drained off much of the directing talent that made the German film industry great. Brought here in those days were the late Ernst Lubitsch, William Dieterle, Fritz Lang, Henry Koster and Michael Curtiz. The movie stages were heavy with Germanic accents.

Kautner drew attention by making some of the most noted German films in the post-war period. Among them were movies that topped big prizes at the European film festivals—Portrait of an Unknown Woman, Ludwig II, The Last Bridge, The Devil's General.

Black Watch Memorial Service To Be Held In Montreal Oct. 6

The historic church of St. Andrew and St. Paul of Montreal's Sherbrooke Street will be the scene of a regimental memorial service on Oct. 6. On that day the Black Watch, Royal Highland Regiment, of Canada will parade, together with its veterans' organization, The Black Watch Association, composed of former serving soldiers of the 13th, 42nd and 73rd Battalions of World War I and the 1st Battalion of World War II.

It is expected that hundreds of next-of-kin of those who made the supreme sacrifice while serving with the regiment will be seated in the church. To ensure participation on the part of those who lost a husband, father, son or brother while on active service with the regiment, arrangements have been made to send tickets to those who apply. The tickets will be despatched to next-of-kin wherever they reside. Applicants for tickets for reserved space should write to the Memorial Service Committee, The Black Watch (RHR) of Canada, 2067 Bleury Street, Montreal.

On parade will be the 3rd Battalion with headquarters in Montreal and detachments from the active force battalions, the 1st and 2nd, now stationed at Aldershot, N.S. In addition, the Bishop's College School Cadets, affiliated with the regiment, and the Black Watch Cadet Corps, with their Boys' Pipe Band will be parading with the regiment.

The actual unveiling of the memorial tablet, as part of the dedication ceremonies, will be carried out by Major General G. E. McCuaig, CMG, DSO, VD, assisted by the Honorary Colonel of the Regiment, Brigadier K. G. Blackader, CBE, DSO, MC, ED, CD. Following the Church Service there will be a ceremonial march-past. On return to the Armory, Lieut-Col. I. R. McDougall, CD, and the 3rd Battalion will hold a reception for those who attended the church service.

Six Families Evacuated From Alexander St. Blaze

Losses Estimated At $66,000; Started In Photography Studio

Six families were evacuated and an estimated $66,000 losses were caused this morning by a fire that raced through the walls of a three-story wooden frame building at 28-36 Alexander St.

Heavily damaged by water and smoke and a remnant store, owned by Alfred Lemieux also proprietor of the building, and the Breton photography studio, owned by Ernest Breton.

The fire which was first noticed by Mr. A. Gagnon, a tenant on the top floor, is believed to have begun in the Breton Studio. Breton, a press photographer, was not there at the time the fire broke out. He told the Record he had left the studio about 7:30 and was just returning from Church when a passing taxi driver told him there was a fire on his street. The Breton Studio was up for sale at the time the fire broke out.

"I would rather lose all my equipment than have to sit and watch it burn like that," he said.

Homeless are: Mr. and Mrs. A. Gagnon;

Armand Thibault and family of three;

Alfred Lemieux and family of two;

Mr. and Mrs. Alcide Robert; Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Fortier;

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Garneau.

According to Mr. Alfred Lemieux, owner of the building, three of the tenants had no insurance whatsoever.

Various reports place the time of the fire's start at about ten minutes to eight but it was not until about 8:20 a.m. that the fire department was notified.

By 9:15 the fire had spread to the walls and was rapidly climbing, and in spite of the fact that no flames were visible from the street where hundreds of on-lookers stood, the smoke became heavier and heavier.

At 9:25, Lt. L. P. Harton of fire station No. 1, tied a rope about his waist and with the help of three other firemen took a hose down into the smoke-filled cellar, but had to leave some two or three minutes later, coughing and gasping.

By 9:45, the smoke had formed a heavy blanket about the face of the building, obscuring firemen on the roof from the on-looking crowd.

Practically on the stroke of 10:00 flames began to shoot out of a third floor side window and heavy green-grey smoke poured out through the eaves of the top floor verandah.

Some fifteen minutes later, with the firefighters working from the top of four ladders, and some 14 hoses in use the ladder truck arrived but could not be put into service immediately because entrance was obstructed by five fire trucks parked in front of the smouldering shell.

At press time, the third floor was smouldering badly.

The second floor was still smoking but under control. The first floor and basement remained sodden shambles.

Both buildings on either side of the burning structure, one a barbershop, which was still carrying on business, and a residence, did not appear to be threatened by the flames and smoke.

Sherbrooke Can Become Large Commercial Centre

Mayor Horace Boivin, of Granby, said that Sherbrooke can become the most developed commercial centre south of the St. Lawrence River if everyone gives a helping hand.

He made this remark at the weekly meeting of the Rotary Club last night at which he was guest speaker. Last night's meeting was also a Ladies' Night.

"Sherbrooke," Mayor Boivin said, "is a city with a prosperous future. This city possesses all the necessary factors for the development of a commercial centre the like of which has never before.

"Plans should be drawn up to bring this enterprise to something good. It is up to you, as influential businessmen, to see that adequate measures are taken.

"Paris was not built in a day nor will Sherbrooke be. But counting on all the resources with which this city is gifted a realization of this project is possible."

Mayor Boivin was introduced by Ald. Everett Nicol who represented Mayor Nadeau.

High Enrolment, More Professors And Expansion Drive At Bishops

By PETER BLAIKIE

Bishop's University opened this year with an enrolment of 300, one short of last year's record high, and with new professors added to the staff.

A financial drive of over $3 million will be inaugurated Nov. 1 to cover expansion costs.

Registration was set at 120 this year believed to be one of the largest yet. The increased number of freshmen and freshettes to register was because of an unusually large graduating class.

The three year degree has been replaced by a four year course as the standard B.A. or B.Sc. degree. However, the three year course has not been totally abolished, and students with a matriculation average of 75 per cent or over may enter it. This degree is especially designed for those students planning to continue their education in such fields as medicine, law, business, or dentistry. However, only five students elected to follow this course of study.

Dr. A. R. Jewitt, principal of the University, though making a remarkable recovery from a serious illness, was unable to officiate at registration and opening exercises. Dr. A. L. Keuhner, vice-principal, has assumed Dr. Jewitt's responsibilities, assisted by Prof. A. Preston, acting Dean of Arts and Science.

Several new professors are lecturing at the University this year. The Rev. J. D. Anido is the new Professor of Pastoral Theology and Liturgics, succeeding Prof. Elton Scott. Mr. Anido, who spent several years in Labrador missions, comes to Bishop's from Harbledown, Canterbury, where he was rector for

Cossacks Smash Hit At Bishop's

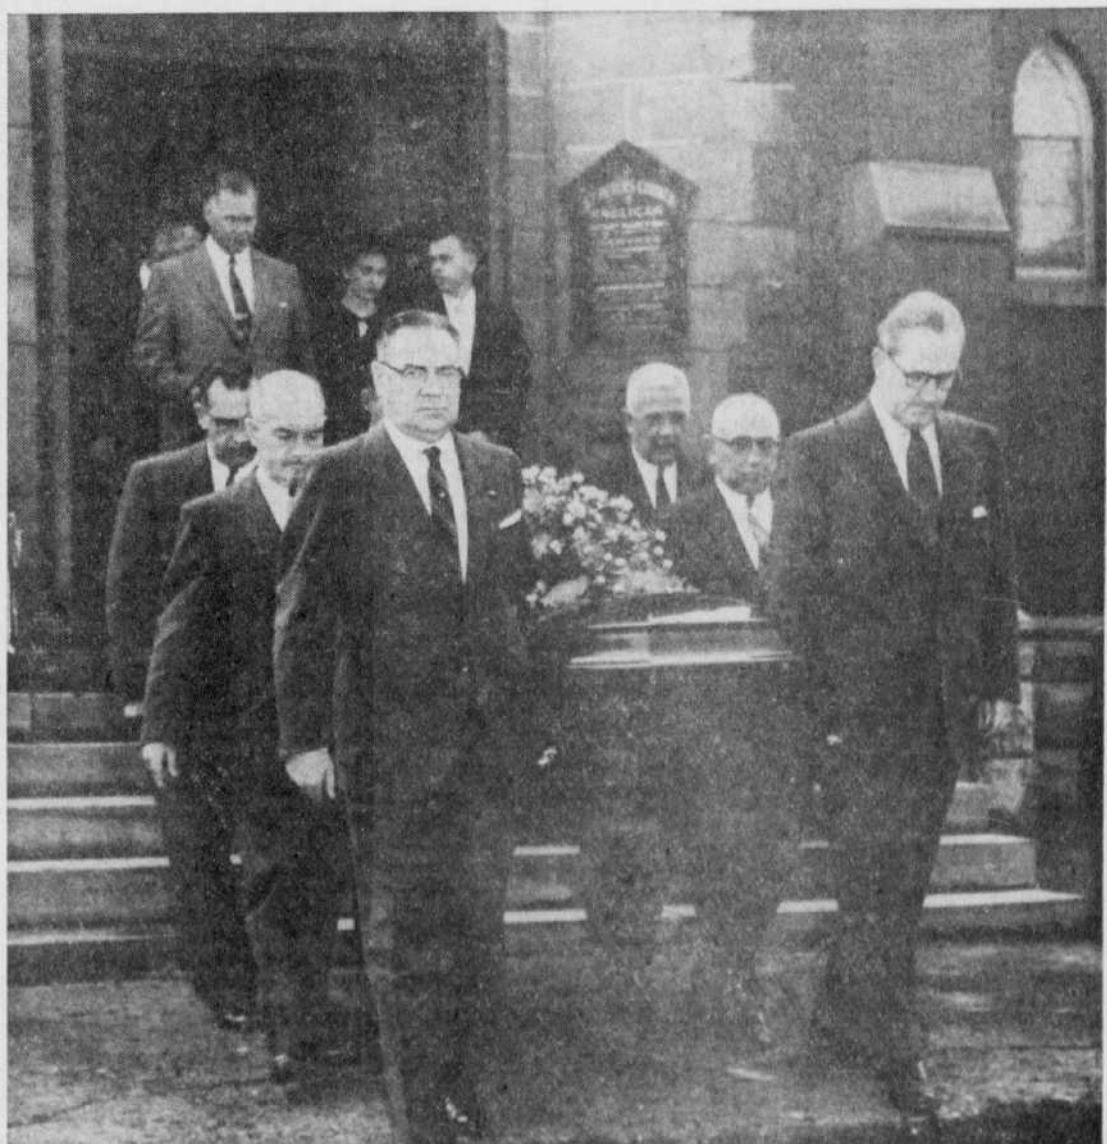

The General Platoff Don Cossack Chorus, the internationally famous male group of singers and dancers, last night added another smashing success to their already fantastic reputation as they made their Eastern Townships debut at Bishop's University Gymnasium.

Known popularly as the Don Cossacks under the direction of Nicholas Kosrukoff, this group of some thirty men awed their audience of about 450 with their tremendous range of musical accomplishment, dividing their program into three sections. Religious music, ballads and semi-popular music and finally patriotic songs and marches. The latter two portions of the program were particularly well received.

M. Dido, tenor soloist, stole the hearts of the audience with his rendition of the Snowball Tree, a folk-song arranged by J. Strimer, as he smiled, rolled his eyes, chuckled and thoroughly enjoyed his part in the concert. Two other numbers, Signals, and the Song of General Platoff were extremely well done. Fully equipped with pseudo drums, hoofbeats and whistles, the Cossacks warmed to their tasks after the more sedate first part of the program.

By popular request, the Chorus sang the song which has come to be their signature, Hospod! Pomi-

How To Get There Alive

Turnpike police patrols can offer some good advice to openroad drivers generally, even though turnpike driving is special in some ways and, of course, these super-roadways do not span the entire country.

In the National Safety Council's magazine, Traffic Safety, a valuable list of "don'ts" for turnpike motorists is set forth by Capt. Singleton Sheaffer, who commands the turnpike division of the Pennsylvania state police.

The suggestion that you get off the highway when you feel sleepy is, naturally, of particular meaning for drivers on the long, monotonous ribbon of the superhighway. So is all advice concerned with breaking the monotony common to such touring.

But the rest of Sheaffer's list makes good sense for anyone behind the wheel anywhere.

He advises drivers not to "tailgate" other cars, but to stay half a dozen car lengths behind in good weather and 12 or more lengths in bad conditions. It's a mistake, he says too, to join a group of cars all travelling at the same speed. The setup is perfect for a multiple-car crash.

You should look into your rear-view mirror every few seconds, and certainly every time you swing out or change speed. Sheaffer notes that in many fatal accidents the problem was the "car that came from nowhere." Either one driver or the other was not alert to the traffic around him.

He advises further that you keep your eyes moving constantly, avoiding the "frozen eye" approach. Not only does constant eye movement help lick monotony, but it gives the driver a fuller picture of his always changing driving situation.

Almost a natural sequel to that suggestion is the big one: Keep your mind as well as your eyes steadily alert and on the job. Driving, even on a pleasure trip, is a business. The casualties are the individuals who forget that.

What Sheaffer is talking about, it seems plain, are the elements of good driving. It just happens that the beckoning turnpike, with its unfolding roadway enticing the motorist to high speed, to a too relaxed mood, even to carelessness, shows up driving faults in sharper glare.

Force In The Middle East

No one in Western capitals wants war in the Middle East. But, of necessity, Britain, France and the United States had to reject Russia's proposal for a big power declaration against all use of force in that region.

If such a declaration were adopted, the West would be honor-bound to adhere to it sincerely. The Soviet Union, notorious breaker of pacts, would feel no such compulsion.

Probably, more important, the way would be clear for the Kremlin to use the tactics of subversion without fear of serious response from the West.

The threat, not the use of force, has often been enough to block internal political upheavals favorable to the Communists. If that threat were wholly removed, the Reds unquestionably would step up their efforts to spread Soviet influence by political means.

No one wants fighting in the Middle East or anywhere else, but the West must carry a big stick in support of free nations in that area and other trouble zones. They must have the assurance that they will be able to rebuff either internal political conquest or military invasion.

Press Comment

WANT OPEN SALE

(Fredericton Gleaner) We are convinced that the majority of New Brunswickers want changes in the liquor law, changes which would allow them to go to properly-licensed premises and drink liquor by the glass, publicly and legally.

We were convinced they wanted these changes even before we conducted a secret ballot through New Brunswick earlier this year.

The results gave weight to our arguments — seventy-nine percent of those polled favored a change in the law to permit the licensing of places where liquor could be consumed by the glass. Seventy-nine percent — a vast majority.

"GETTING AWAY"

(Winnipeg Tribune) Five young men left San Francisco the other day in a 36-foot schooner. They have shown a great deal of determination in their plans to "get away" for the trip has been two years in the making. The story doesn't say just what it is they are trying to get away from, but they know where they are going — the Marquesas Islands, Tahiti, Fiji and finally Australia.

What will they find there? If nothing else, perhaps a deeper appreciation of what they have left, and, after several months crowded together in a small boat, probably an overwhelming urge to get away from each other.

SKIDROW RESPECTABILITY

(Ottawa Journal) Touchy British Columbia is a thorn in the side of the side of the CBC. The national radio did a TV show on down-and-out alcoholics dozing in Vancouver waterfront doorways and referred to them as residents of "Skidrow." The Vancouver Sun furiously reports that there's no "Skidrow" and anyone but a non-British Columbian dolt would know it is properly "Skidroad."

FARM HAZARDS

(Brockville Recorder & Times) News services in the last few days have carried a number of reports of deaths on farms. Men killed by domestic animals, crushed by bales of straw and the usual rash of injuries and deaths brought about by farm tractors overturning. Hazards to life and limb on the farm seem to be growing rather than decreasing. There is cause for concern here: usual shortage of persons engaged in agriculture today is being augmented by a too high fatality rate.

JUST A STEADY JOB

(Windsor Star) In Canada there are what the economists call pockets of unemployment. It's a neat way of saying that while things may not be good, they are not altogether bad. But, try to tell that to a man who is deep in an unemployment pocket. He isn't interested in what the economists think. All he wants is a steady job.

IGNORANCE A DEFENSE?

(Brantford Expositor) In Toronto Magistrate Fred Thompson has refused to jail an impaired driver because he was not satisfied that the man understood he could be sent to prison on a second conviction. The magistrate says the defendant was intoxicated when warned the first time and did not understand the warning. So what's happened to that old axiom about ignorance of the law being no defence?

NOT LACKING ADVICE

(Ottawa Journal) Whatever Princess Margaret may lack it isn't advice. Now we have a London newspaper telling her (at 27) that she's on her way to being an old maid and should do something about it!

ONCE A LAKE BOTTOM

(Niagara Grape News) To make "Niagara" the rich productive area that we find today, the forces of nature have been at work for millions of years.

During the second glacial period the economic picture was set up for the Twentieth Century. The rich fruit belt is generally considered to be the lake bottom of Lake Iroquois.

As the glaciers receded and the earth moved upward, Lake Iroquois gradually became Lake Ontario, as we know it today.

STUDIES JEWISH LAW

(Canadian Jewish Chronicle) Last Friday, Chief Justice Earl Warren of the United States Supreme Court sat down with scholars of the Jewish Theological Seminary for three days of discussion of Jewish law and its relevance to contemporary legal problems.

Dr. Louis Finkelstein, the chancellor of the seminary disclosed that the Chief Justice had expressed a desire to learn something of Jewish legal tradition with its guiding emphasis on moral law.

"It is unusual in any country for a Chief Justice to sit down with a group of scholars. We desire to express our respect and reverence for him as a person, and for the legal system at the head of which he stands, by sharing with him our most treasured possession, the Talmud and its teaching."

THE RAZOR'S EDGE

(Montreal Gazette) Talk with your favorite barber, and if he knows you well enough he'll admit he'd rather do a dozen hair cuts, etc., than a single shave. And if he knows you real well he may admit the handling of a straight razor is becoming a lost art.

Time was when almost every businessman paid a daily visit to the tonsorial parlor for a once-over-lightly. Modern shaving utensils have changed all that. Today's barber doesn't look kindly on shave customers, and, as one result, shaving service has been priced up to the point where it becomes a matter of necessity, rather than choice.

Then, too, with shaves there are fewer opportunities to sell added services; and, as in many businesses, it is in the added services that the bigger profits are to be found.

BORN IN LONDON

(LONDON CP) — Mrs. David Metcalfe, 29-year-old Canadian-born wife of a London businessman, has given birth to her first child, a daughter. Mrs. Metcalfe, formerly of Fort William, Ont., is the widow of British film magnate Sir Alexander Korda.

CARE OF AGED

(LONDON PCP) — A report by the National Old People's Welfare Council says Britain leads the world in the care of its old people. Some 56 new welfare committees were formed last year, bringing the total to 1,261.

YOUNG POPULATION

The last Canadian census indicates that one of every three Canadians is under 15 years of age.

Early Capital

B. C. Community Plans Centennial

By JACK BEST

Canadian Press Staff Writer FORT LANGLEY, B.C. (CP)—On the crown of a hill arching through this peaceful Fraser Valley farm community, stout palisades and square buildings mark the birth-place of British Columbia.

Here, on Nov. 19, 1858, James Douglas formally proclaimed a new Crown colony and was sworn in as its first governor.

The job of restoring the site is now in progress. It is expected to cost nearly $300,000, of which the federal and provincial governments will pay equal shares, and is scheduled for completion during next year's B.C. Centennial.

History suggests that the decision of Queen Victoria's government to bestow colonial status on the wild fur trading territory of New Caledonia was dictated more by fear of American encroachment than by political evolution.

With the discovery of gold along the Fraser River that year, thousands of Americans came north to seek their fortune. Imperial authorities feared that the expansionist element in the United States might use these adventurers as a lever to extend American hegemony.

James Douglas, governor of the Crown colony of Vancouver Island, also saw the danger. Without authorization from London, he ordered an armed vessel to the mouth of the Fraser. Before the Americans were allowed to proceed upstream they had to pay a head tax—symbolic of imperial sovereignty.

The colonial office evidently was not displeased with this show of audacity on the part of the autocratic Douglas, who theoretically had no business interfering on the mainland. At any rate, when the time came to choose a mainland governor, Douglas got the appointment, while retaining the governorship of Vancouver Island.

Fort Langley had been a Hudson's Bay Company post since 1827. When the gold rush started, it became a jumping off point for men going up the Fraser to look for riches. Its population of a couple of hundred was multiplied several times for brief periods.

Today Fort Langley is a picturesque village of 400, with pretty homes.

The flavor of the gold rush is conveyed by an old Hudson's Bay Company account book on display in the fort museum, housed in one of the original buildings.

One entry shows that a bill for $318.25 was paid with 19½ ounces of gold dust and $10.25 cash. Another, for $144, was paid entirely in gold dust.

Entries include: 20 pounds of coffee, $5; shirt, $1.50; three pounds gunpowder, $2.25; one pound homemade nails, 10 cents; two gallons of whisky, $8; bar of soap, $1; two pounds of tobacco, $1.

Twenty-two men, directed by an engineer supplied by the federal government, are carrying out the work of rebuilding the fort. Target date for completion is next July.

Alex Hope, president of the Fort Langley Restoration Society,

Matter of FACT

At the age of 17, Benjamin Franklin arrived in Philadelphia after a trip by boat and on foot from New York. All the clothing he owned was stuffed in the pockets of his great coat. To satisfy his hunger, he purchased three enormous loaves of bread. As he walked down the street, eating one loaf, carrying another under each arm, and his pockets bulging, one of the first people he met was Deborah Reed. All she could do was laugh, never dreaming she would one day be his wife.

Leeds Village Native Dies At Newport, Vt.

NEWPORT, Vt. — The death occurred here yesterday of Mrs. John Fortier, the former Mary Ann Hutchison, a native of Leeds, Que., at the age of 93.

Her husband predeceased her May 8, 1938. She is survived by two sons, Norman, of Dolbeau, Que., and Duncan, of Leeds, a daughter, Miss Helena Fortier, of Newport, a brother, Duncan Hutchison, of Leeds, and a sister, Mrs. Janet Gordon, of Los Angeles.

Prayers will be held at the Curtis Funeral Home, Newport, on Thursday evening at eight and the funeral service will be held at Chalmers United Church, Kinross Mills, on Friday afternoon at two.

REDS REGAIN

Continued from page 1 day announced support of the anti-Communists, were out on patrol but did not interfere with the Communist activities.

The Red volunteers, numbering about 10 and set off by the red scarves and handkerchiefs they were wearing, made up one camp.

OPPOSED BY 50 Opposed to them were some 50 other civilian volunteers, standing guard at the abandoned factory where anti-Communist members of parliament had proclaimed the new "provisional" government.

The regular police, about 200 strong, carried no ammunition for their antiquated arms. The provisional government was recognized by Italy, but the Communists — who have ruled San Marino since the end of the war — claimed theirs was still the legitimate regime.

Backing up the Reds' claim was their possession of the government palace and their support from their youthful group of volunteers, each of whom carried 20 rounds of ammunition.

SEARCH REPORTERS The Red volunteers searched this reporter for arms, making him remove his raincoat and jacket. Other newspaper men — who have gathered here in such numbers, about 60, as to constitute a small army in themselves — also were searched by the Communists.

Officials of the Red government claimed the search was necessary because, they said, they had found arms Tuesday night in a car in which two Italians and three San Marinese were riding.

A high informant said the anti-Communists were preparing an ultimatum, calling on the Reds to surrender the government palace or face the possibility of the "provisional" government calling for outside aid, presumably from Italy.

HIGH ENROLMENT

A fifth addition to the staff is Garth Smith, the new Director of Athletics at the University. Although his duties in this newly created position have not yet been clearly defined, Mr. Smith will fulfill coaching duties, and carry out the administrative work coincident with the growing athletic program.

Most students returned expecting to see work progressing on the proposed indoor arena, and many were disappointed when nothing was in evidence. The reason for this was that after solving problems concerning building materials, then finding a suitable method of erecting stable foundations, it was too late to finish the building before February.

An Expansion Fund Campaign, with an objective over $3 million, will begin officially on November 1. Leaders of this campaign are Mr. P. M. Fox and Mr. O. B. Thornton, the former a member of the College Council, and the latter a trustee of the University.

Dr. A. L. Kuehner said that the drive is necessary to expand the University until it is capable of accommodating a 50% rise in enrollment over a period of from five to seven years.

Primary use of the funds will be for the construction of a new library and academic building, the existing library space being inadequate.

Another great need is an increased number of professors and lecturers, to keep up with growing enrolment. In conjunction with this expansion, new courses will be offered at Bishop's, the first being an undergraduate degree in Business Administration, to be instituted in 1958.

There are several other important needs at Bishop's, among them new residences and faculty houses. Considerable remodelling will be required in certain buildings, including the gymnasium, and if possible a student centre will be erected. This would provide not only a recreation centre, but also student offices for administration and publications.

consultative machinery is to be set up at London so that Commonwealth members can be kept informed on developments of Europe's industrial free trade area of which Britain plans to become a member.

Canada and some other Commonwealth countries are worried that the new European pact may reduce their chances not only of selling more finished goods overseas but also foodstuffs. The commonwealth said U.K. ministers reaffirmed previous undertakings to safeguard Commonwealth interests in the U.K. market for foodstuffs, drink and tobacco.

Aside from their worries about their export markets, the Commonwealth ministers agreed that the European free trade area would "broaden the advantages to be derived from economic integration in Europe, not only by the U.K. but by all the other participants."

Coaticook Home And School Assoc. Plans Activities For Fall Season

COATICOOK — The first meeting of the Coaticook Home and School Association for this season was held in the school auditorium preceded by a family style supper served in the lunch room. The meal was prepared by volunteer members of the association, together with Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Drew, the regular staff of the cafeteria, and several of the girls of the school who assisted by waiting on tables. Over one hundred parents, pupils and friends enjoyed the supper, the proceeds going to the Home and School fund.

The meeting was presided over by the vice president, Rev. Nevil Tucker.

The resignation of the president, Ivor Whitehouse, due to doctor's orders, was accepted with regret, and the wish expressed that he may speedily improve in health and once again take an active part in affairs of the Association. It was the unanimous decision of the members that Rev. Tucker carry on as president for this year.

Plans for the operation of the school rink were discussed and the suggestion made that the fathers of the Association take turns in supervising the rink on skating nights. The executive will study this suggestion further when they meet. Volunteers for the entertainment ways and means committee were asked for and Mr. Engelhard offered to assist this committee.

A letter was read from Miss Donaldson expressing her thanks for the savings bond given to her at the time of her retirement from the staff.

The treasurer Mrs. Walker, reported a balance of $165. Mrs. Charles Williams, reporting for the cafeteria, showed that less than $40 was on hand to start the term. Donations to the cafeteria will be most welcome.

Mrs. Winston Adams reported that at the time of the first meeting, 23 members had obtained the new membership cards. Mrs. Roland Racicot, convener of the program committee, stated that plans for the programs for coming meetings had been made and assured the members of some interesting gatherings to come.

Principal Lawrence then introduced the new teacher, Mr. B. Perrott, and his wife to the members present.

A discussion was held concerning the need for additional supplies to operate the cafeteria and $50 was voted towards the purchase of these. The question of lunch being served after the regular monthly meetings was also discussed and the majority appeared to be in favor of continuing this practise. The mothers of the Grade VI pupils will prepare the lunch following the October meeting.

It was agreed that members of the Association should attend the School Board meetings and Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Cutler volunteered to attend the next meeting as representatives of the Association.

Mrs. J. K. Rafal then gave a report of the Home and School Conference which she attended at Montreal. She was thanked by Mr. Fred Green. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. Bailey and Mrs. Drew for their assistance in making the supper which preceded the meeting such a success.

STANHOPE AND NORTON VT. —

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Houle and family of Coaticook accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Louis Charland to Morgan, Vt., to visit Mr. Charland's brother, Mr. Oliver Charland and Mrs. Charland, who are moving away.

Mantle And Skowron To Start But May Fail To Go Distance In Opener

Burke Emery Scores Win Over Lanky Dick Lowery At Holyoke

BURKE EMERY

HOLYOKE, Mass.—(Special)—Burke Emery, of Sherbrooke, Que., won a unanimous decision over Dick Lowery, of New York, here last night.

Emery weighed 169 pounds for this eight-round main event, the same as his opponent.

Lowery, six feet, three and one half inches tall, made good use of a long left jab in the early rounds.

In the third round Emery caught the New Yorker with good combination punches and a terrific right uppercut. From this point on the Canadian boxer was in command as Lowery was forced to hold on several times during the remaining rounds.

In the semi-final bout, Ernst Krenzek won a six-round decision over Frank Roach.

Nick Grimaldi scored a preliminary decision over Paul Lee.

HOLDING COURT — This is Casey Stengel's 11th World Series, three as an outfielder and eight as a manager, so the millionaire boss of the Yankees is very casual in the dugout, discussing his club's chances against the Braves. O' Case answers all questions in double-talk.

All Set For Battle Of Southpaws As Ford And Spahn Get Nod; Braves In Top Shape But Yanks Are Wobbly

World Series Notes

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Hubbell, the old New York Giants' southpaw, picks Gene Conley as the potential star of the world series which is to open in the Yankee Stadium today between New York Yankees and Milwaukee Braves.

Said Hubbell of the stringbean Milwaukee hurler: "He is particularly effective against a club the first time they see him. With those long arms and legs you don't know where the pitch is coming from."

Chicago Cubs are expected to sign Lou Boudreau, the deposed manager of Kansas City A's as a coach before the series ends. . . . Manager Jack Tighe of Detroit Tigers reported that Kansas City offered him Billy Martin for pitcher Billy Hoelt, even up, and he turned it down. . . . Speaking of the Tigers, Ray Boone probably will go on the trading block this winter with Charley Maxwell taking over first base.

Veteran second baseman Red Schoendienst of the Braves said his legs are all set to carry him through the series. "They're all taped up like a race horse," he laughed, "but I still can run."

Yankee infielder-outfielder Joe Collins usually wears tape around his right wrist. Asked what was wrong, he cracked: "Nothing, it just looks good."

By JOE REICHLER
NEW YORK — (AP) — The uncertain condition of Mickey Mantle's tender left leg and Bill Skowron's aching back belied the 8-to-5 odds on New York Yankees today as Milwaukee Braves clashed with the American League champions in the world series opener.

The crowd of some 70,000 expected to view the southpaw duel between New York's Whitey Ford and Milwaukee's Warren Spahn would not see either Mantle or Skowron at their best although both were listed late Tuesday night as almost certain starters.

The two sluggers between them hammered 51 home runs and drove in 181 runs during the regular season.

Mantle cannot run without pain. He even winces when he misses one of his powerhouse swings. Skowron says it doesn't hurt him to swing but it does hurt when he runs. It wouldn't be surprising if either or both were unable to do full time duty.

There is still some doubt about Ford. Although the ace lefthander appears to be back in true stride following a sore shoulder siege, there is doubt whether he can undergo the strain of pitching twice or three times in one week, as the opening day pitcher usually is called upon to do in a long series. And because the teams appear evenly matched, the outlook is for a long series.

The Braves, on the other hand, are in excellent physical shape, with the possible exception of Joe Adcock. The righthanded-hitting first baseman's left leg, broken last July, still isn't 100 per cent but he was slated to start today.

However, manager Fred Haney indicated he may shift to the lefthanded-hitting Frank Torre when the Yankees use a righthander.

Stengel, who had expected to come back with another lefthander, Bobby Shantz, in the second game, appeared uncertain after Tuesday's workout.

"I'm not so sure lefthanders are a better bet than righthanders against Milwaukee," Casey said. "My Thursday pitcher depends upon what happens to my Wednesday pitcher. If the Braves should treat Ford a little too roughly, I'll probably give them Bob Turley (a righthander). If Whitey does a commendable job, it will be Shantz."

Haney has no doubt regarding his starters, although he said Tuesday he was prepared to pitch everybody in every game. You can be sure that it will be

Ted Workman Denies Rumors About Alouettes, No Truth In O'Brien's Column; Returns From Western Trip

WINNIPEG (CP)—Vice-President Ted Workman of the Montreal Alouettes was quoted Tuesday as denying rumored trouble in the front office and a report that President Leo Dandurand is attempting to buy control.

CBC sports commentator Bob Moir said Workman made a 'categorical denial' in commenting on the reports published by Andy O'Brien in his Montreal Star sports column.

O'Brien reported there appears to be a rift between General Manager Gorman Kennedy and Coach Doug (Peahead) Walker. He also said Dandurand is reported seeking to buy from Workman a controlling interest in the club on behalf of a group. Workman watched Winnipeg

Blue Bombers beat Edmonton Eskimos 28-27 in a scheduled Western Interprovincial Football Union game here Monday night. Moir said he asked him for comment on the Montreal report just before he boarded a Trans-Canada Air Lines plane for Eastern Canada.

He quoted Workman as saying the rumored rift is "completely unfounded" and that "there is no truth whatsoever" in the story that Dandurand seeks control.

Workman was quoted as saying that he did not see how anyone could back a coach more than Kennedy has done this season. Alouettes had tough sledding in the early part of the season with 32 injuries.

Ontario Branch Of CPGA Holds Up Moe Norman's Application As Pros Complain He Is Underselling Them

KITCHENER, Ont. — (CP) — George Clifton, president of the Ontario branch of the Canadian Professional Golfers Association, said Tuesday an application for membership by Moe Norman of Kitchener is being held up because of complaints by professionals that Norman has been improperly underselling them in the golf equipment business.

Without membership, Norman cannot participate in tournaments of the CPGA or the United States PGA. He would be barred from 10 tournaments on the winter circuit necessary to qualify for $1,500 he won at a recent bursary tournament.

Clifton said in a telephone interview from Toronto there was reason to believe Norman would have to agree to conditions laid down by the CPGA.

Norman said he had talked over the conditions with Clifton but would not comment on them. "Clifton said to keep quiet and that's what I'm going to do," Norman said.

Lloyd Tucker, pro at Kitchener's Rockway Club, said he and others had complained about Norman's method of going after golf equipment business.

Club directors said Tucker complained Norman was seeking business on the course.

Norman said if he didn't get the membership he would barnstorm, probably in the Maritimes.

Fred Haney's Logical Choice

Warren Spahn

Anyone Who Picks Yanks In Series Should See A Doctor, Says Martin

By WHITNEY MARTIN
NEW YORK (AP) — Anyone who picks against New York Yankees in a world series should have his head examined, so is there a doctor in the house?

We're picking Milwaukee Braves to take the almost perennial world champions in, say seven games, although fully aware that the weeping and wailing of Casey Stengel over the condition of his athletes could be a smoke screen.

But even if we knew the New Yorkers were sound in wind and limb we'd still like the Braves, for the simple reason Fred Haney has a solid, cohesive unit while Stengel's lineup has all the stability of a straw man in a hurricane.

Each team won its pennant by eight games, but that means nothing. You have to figure the quality of the competition, and at the risk of antagonizing American Leaguers we must say we believe the National League was a little stronger down the line than the American.

The Yankee pitching seems to be set. In fact, Whitey Ford, just among the present during most of the season because of shoulder trouble, seems to have been saved for the series. It's the rest of the lineup Casey is groaning about now.

But Milwaukee also has some pitching, and we're expecting two victories from Warren Spahn, with two days of travel if the series goes more than five games, it's not improbable the veteran lefty would start three games.

Much of the Yankee success, or failure, will depend on the ability of Mickey Mantle to play at least a facsimile of his usual game. That, and on whether or not Yogi Berra hits. Yogi has been having some of his poorer seasons from a batting standpoint.

Bill Skowron's aching back is another question mark. If he and Mantle are not at their best, and Yogi isn't hitting, the Yankees will be hard pressed for power.

The Braves' lineup is loaded with power. Mostly right-hand power, and the acquisition of Red Schoendienst has given them a tight infield defence.

Walter O'Malley Advances New Plan For Two More Teams, One In New York And Other In Toronto, Giles Against

NEW YORK — (CP) — The World Telegram and Sun says Walter O'Malley has advanced a plan under which two new National League franchises would be created — one here and the other in Toronto.

There thus would be a 10-team National League with franchises in New York, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Toronto, Milwaukee, Chicago, St. Louis, Los Angeles and San Francisco.

Millionaire Nelson Rockefeller would finance the New York team. The World Telegram says O'Malley proposed the plan during his recent negotiations with Rockefeller and Mayor Robert Wagner.

Baseball commissioner Ford Frick supported the idea as did Jack Kent Cooke, owner of the present minor league franchise in Toronto, The Telegram says. However, league president Warren Giles is said to have thrown cold water on the idea, pointing out that at least two clubs are opposed to expansion. Such expansion would require unanimous consent of the existing clubs.

Montreal Site Of Moore-Durrelle Title Battle?

Eddie Quinn said Tuesday he is working on the possibilities of holding in Montreal a world light-heavyweight title bout between champion Archie Moore and Canada's Yvon Durrelle, from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B.

Quinn just back from a trip to the United States, said he was in touch with president Jim Norris of the International Boxing Club who has put the okay on the proposed Durrelle-Moore fight.

Quinn said Norris suggested he get in touch with Moore's representatives. Quinn plans to do this.

UK Astrologer Names Yankees To Take Series

NEW YORK (AP)—Who's going to win the world series? Why, it's easy, says British astrologer Fay Naylor of London, who acknowledges she has never seen a baseball game.

Here's how to dope it, says Fay. Take the birthdate of each player, the site of the games and the ages of the clubs. Study the stars of rival managers, Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Fred Haney of the Braves.

"Stengel's star during this period is at its peak," adds the London star-gazer. As for Haney, "he will be plagued by problems of temperament."

Boston Bruins' Mentor Names All-Stars

BOSTON — (CP) — Forwards Real Chevrefils and Don McKenney and defencemen Allan Stanley and Fernie Flaman Tuesday were named by Coach Milt Schmidt to represent Boston Bruins in the 11th National Hockey League all-star game Saturday in Montreal.

Schmidt, who will coach the all-stars against the Stanley Cup champion Montreal Canadiens, picked his two highest scorers and two hard-hitting defence veterans.

Chuck Comiskey Of White Sox Is Ready To Bargain With National Regarding Move To Western Cities

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice-president Chuck Comiskey of Chicago White Sox said today the American League would grant the National League's return to New York in a swap for the right to enter Los Angeles and San Francisco when and if it chooses to do so.

"We're not going to let the National League take over in the two most lucrative west coast cities and then return to New York, too," said Comiskey, an alternate on major league baseball's executive council.

"Let's face it," he added. "In 15 years there will be only three two-team towns—New York, Chicago and Los Angeles."

Comiskey said he had proposed the swap plan to the American League and that it had been supported.

Going into Tuesday's separate league meetings, the American loop already had proposed an amendment to the major league's constitution which would divide New York into two baseball territories following the transfer of the National League's New York and Brooklyn franchises to San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The amendment would leave only Brooklyn as open territory, shutting the National League out of the Bronx, Manhattan, Queens and Staten Island.

Under Comiskey's compromise, the American League would also place Queens in the open classification. Queens is the only New York area looked upon as a feasible stadium site by city officials.

The two leagues, meeting later in joint session with commissioner Ford Frick, unanimously supported a National League request to shelve any action in the matter until their December meeting "pending developments." In a separate meeting, the National League owners:

1. Were advised the New York Giants had filed a formal letter of intent in their shift to San Francisco.

2. Gave Brooklyn Dodgers a two-week extension, to Oct. 15, on the deadline for their final decision about moving to Los Angeles.

3. Changed their constitution to make only a three-fourths approval necessary for a franchise transfer, rather than the previous unanimous vote.

Vet Fred Egan To Drive In Kentucky Classic

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—At an age when most men spend their days in a rocker, Fred Egan will observe his 78th birthday Thursday riding a sulky in the $50,460 Kentucky Futurity.

Egan, probably the oldest man in the United States competing in big-time sports, will drive Cassin Hanover against favored Hoot Song and Time Me and 10 other sophomores in the last leg of Harness racing's triple crown. The Hambletonian and the Yonkers Futurity are the other events.

Ralph Baldwin will drive Hoot Song, runner-up in the Hambletonian, from the No. 5 post position in the first heat.

Time Me, star of a quartet entered by the Sol Camp Farms at Shafter, Calif., will be driven by Joe O'Brien of Alberton, P.E.I., No. 12 spot, in the second tier.

Mrs. A. Fleming, M.B.E. Guest Speaker At B. M. P. H. Auxiliary Meeting

SWEETSBURG. — The September meeting of the Brome Missisquoi Perkins Hospital Auxiliary was held in the Staff House with Mrs. A. G. Scott presiding and with Mrs. A. Fleming, M.B.E., of Montreal, as the guest speaker.

In introducing Mrs. Fleming, Mrs. H. L. Shaw of Knowlton, spoke of her many and varied affiliations with community and national services. Mrs. Fleming was co-founder and president of the Montreal General Hospital and a young woman served overseas in the First World War, was chairman of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies and was made a "Member of British Embec Provincial and National Red Cross.

Mrs. Fleming told the members she felt that they were doing a great work for this hospital in Sweetzburg; she said "That the most important function of a volunteer worker is service. Every volunteer should work as if she was on salary." An important part of Auxiliary work for a hospital lies in their Gift Shop and Wagon Service to the patients; she also stressed the profit made from home-made cooking and knitting.

In thanking the speaker, Mrs. A. J. B. Milborne of Knowlton, told her something of the work being accomplished by the local Auxiliary. During the business meeting, Mrs. Scott reported that a press for the laundry had been purchased at a cost of about $1,800, also that a second oxygen tent was badly needed in case of severe heart attacks. It was decided to purchase the tent at once and try to raise the money for it as soon as possible.

On October 18, the annual afternoon tea, sale of food and hand work will be held in the Staff House from 3 to 5 p.m.

Mrs. J. J. Barker donated a brass bell to be used by the chairman while conducting Auxiliary meetings.

The Auxiliary would appreciate having more volunteer workers for the Gift Shop and Wagon Service during 2 and 5 p.m. daily except Sunday. There is no obligation to become a member and it is a fine opportunity to help your hospital as all proceeds from Auxiliary work go to the B.M.P.H. Hospital.

Mrs. Fleming drew the lucky number on a painting donated by Mrs. J. C. Gibson, the winner was Mrs. D. Higgerty of Farnham.

Over $25 was realized from the sale of tickets on the picture.

Committees were appointed to work on the Christmas decorations for the interior of the hospital and trays for patients.

Lunch and a social period followed the meeting.

GENERAL NOTES

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Williams included Mrs. Maud Brown and her son, Mr. Robert Brown, of Port Dalhousie, Ont., Mr. Edgar Hunt, of Bakersfield, Vt., and Mr. Chas. Hunt, of St. Albans, Vt.

Mr. J. M. Ladd was entertained at a surprise birthday party at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. Ladd, when many useful gifts were given the guest of honor who expressed thanks to all for the gracious hospitality and gifts. Those present from Sweetzburg were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Peron; Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Shower and son Stanley.

Mrs. Harry Williams entertained at a pink and blue shower for Mrs. Gerard Gaboriault, when a number of ladies were present from Cowansville and Sweetzburg. A pink and blue decorated basket laden with lovely gifts was presented to the guest of honor, who expressed sincere thanks to all. Lunch was served by Mrs. Williams assisted by Miss Barbara Buzzell.

KNOWLTON —

Mrs. Kenneth MacGillivray and young son, James, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Armstrong. Weekend guests at the same home were Mr. and Mrs. Warren Parker of Sherbrooke.

Rock Island L. A. Establishes Joint Parsonage Fund

ROCK ISLAND — The Ladies' Aid of Stanstead South church met in the church hall when the president, Mrs. Harry Smith, presided.

The members voted in favor of establishing a joint fund with the other women's societies for a petty parsonage fund. Mrs. A. P. Bliss suggested this be made in the form of a resolution, effective January 1st, 1958. Also that a certain sum of money be pledged to the church budget for the year, that the church board may be able to draw up a budget.

Plans were made for the October 17 turkey supper, with two members suggested to be asked to serve on the supper planning committee.

The date of November 30 was approved for the annual afternoon tea and Christmas sale.

A social hour was enjoyed and supper served to the members and several friends who came in.

BROWNIE TROOP

The Rock Island Brownie Troop began its meetings after the summer holiday, with the gathering taking place in Stanstead South church hall.

With Brown Owl, Mrs. Gladys B. Ellis, and Tawny Owl, Mrs. Beatrice Smith, in charge, a short business meeting was conducted, and plans made to meet every Friday at the church hall at six thirty o'clock.

One Brownie, Sandra Armstrong was observing her birthday, and a party followed in her honor.

Games were played under the leadership of Brown Owl and Tawny Owl, assisted by Girl Guides Gail Perkins, Verdona Ellis and Betty Smith who were Brownies last year.

Refreshments were served at tables arranged with white covers and at each place were colorful favors and baskets of candy, arranged with a floral centre piece. Sandra was then presented with a decorated birthday cake topped with ten glowing candles. The Perkins. Other guests included Sandra's brother, Barry, and Mrs. Keith Arm-Debbie Perkins.
