REPUBLICANS MAKE THEIR CHOICE TODAY

World News In Brief

London, July 11.—(Reuters)—Gen. Matthew Ridgway, supreme allied commander in Europe, left London by air for his Paris headquarters today after a 48-hour visit to Britain.

The general spent last evening discussing with Prime Minister Churchill problems related to the setting up of a supreme command in the Mediterranean.

"It was a very happy meeting," an army spokesman commented.

London, July 11.—(Reuters)—A huge water main burst under a London street today, sending up a gushing tower of water that wrecked three houses and flooded one-half mile of streets.

An elderly woman occupant of one of the houses was rushed to hospital in serious condition.

Hundreds of houses in the neighborhood were soaked on the ground floor. Families were evacuated, many still in pajamas.

Three Rivers, Que., July 11.—(P)—Mayor J. A. Mongrain of Three Rivers, Liberal candidate in Three Rivers constituency against Premier Duplessis in the July 16 provincial election, said last night he is being sued by Mayor Charles Lafontaine of Ville St. Michel for $100,000 for defamation of character.

Mayor Mongrain said Mayor Lafontaine contended in his petition that Mr. Mongrain had libelled him at a press conference held at St. Hyacinthe Wednesday connection with the election campaign.

Earlier yesterday in Montreal, Mayor Lafontaine was disqualified by Mr. Justice Harry Batshaw of Superior Court in connection with an allegation that the mayor in 1950 had illegally acquired lots belonging to the municipality near Montreal.

The judgment also directed that Mayor Lafontaine can hold no public office in the municipality for five years. The action was taken by Noel Groulx, resident and elector of Ville St. Michel.

London, July 11.—(P)—A suggestion that the Church of England's "Red" Dean be tried for treason came today as more angry British lawmakers demanded him out for accusing the United States of waging germ warfare in China.

Irene Ward, Conservative Member of Parliament, charged the 78-year-old Dean of Canterbury — Dr. Hewlett Johnson — is "spreading enemy propaganda." She called on the government to "consider" prosecuting him.

As Miss Ward put her motion before the House of Commons, other members lined up behind less-dramatic suggestions that means be found to remove the Dean from his church office.

Thirty-eight M.P.s have signed a petition demanding the Dean's dismissal. Lord Ammon, a socialist, says he will ask the government Monday in the House of Lords whether legal action can be taken against the Dean.

Dr. Johnson, appointed in 1931, cannot be dismissed except for a civil or ecclesiastical offence.

Eisenhower Holds Favored Spot As Delegates Decide Among Five Candidates

Republican Platform Completed

Chicago, July 11.—(P)—Weary of name-calling and intra-party feuds, Republicans today had a four-year program with which they hope to drive the Democrats from office.

The official 1952 platform won a roaring shout of approval late yesterday at the Republican convention. But its plank on civil rights came within a splinter of causing an angry floor fight.

The racial questions posed by the civil-rights issues had not been settled yesterday even while the 6,000-word platform was up for convention action.

Even as Senator Eugene Millikin of Colorado was reading the document, the threat of a civil-rights battle hung over the hall. That it never materialized was a tribute to Millikin, who had worked day and night to produce a plank acceptable to both north and south Republicans.

A few hours earlier, Harold C. Burton of New York called a strategy huddle of other Negro delegates to back a stronger plank. They had a substitute plank ready, but they were advised a floor fight probably would be futile.

Then the entire document came up for a vote. It carried by acclamation.

Such accord was a relief to many party leaders who had feared a platform battle would widen party wounds.

The civil rights plank promises "federal legislation to further just and equitable treatment in the area of discriminatory employment practices." But it adds "federal action" should not duplicate state efforts to end such practices.

The platform as a whole bristled with denunciations of President Truman's administration. It plotted a course for a "march into a new day." It promised to end what it called a corrupt socialistic government unable to cope with communism and replace it with an efficient, positive administration that would "wage peace and win it."

A United Textile Workers (A.F.L.) statement decried the platform as "viciously reactionary" and "plainly anti-labor."

After castigating the foreign policies of the Democratic administration, the platform pledged a build-up of air power and military might to match Russia.

For business it promised to "remove, tax abuses and injurious price and wage controls." "Our goal is a balanced budget, a reduced national debt, an economical administration and a cut in taxes," it said.

Tokyo, July 11.—(P)—The worst rainstorms in 40 years killed 49 persons and injured 67 last night and today in the densely-populated Osaka area, provincial police reported today.

Twenty-two others were missing. The region is the industrial heart of Japan. It takes in Osaka, Kyoto, Nara and Kobe. The more southerly cities of Kure and Hiroshima were also hit.

years and says: "The fall in the share of Canadian imports supplied by the United Kingdom is particularly serious, because Canada is one of the most rapidly-expanding markets of the world."

The proportion of total Canadian imports supplied by Britain in 1951, says the article, was only 10.3 per cent compared with an average of 18.3 per cent in 1937-39. And while Britain's share of the Canadian market was dwindling, there was a corresponding increase in the U.S. share.

At another point, Professor Devons singles out Canada as the most striking example of countries which now take fewer United Kingdom cotton goods.

"Before the war the U. K. supplied over one-half of Canada's imports of cotton piece goods and the U. S. less than one-third. Since 1948 the U.S. had supplied three-quarters of a much-increased Canadian import trade, while imports from the U. K. now are (1951) only six per cent of the total."

Professor Devons says it is difficult to detect to what extent the decline can be traced to the inability of British exporters to deliver cotton goods of the right style and quality.

Taft, Warren, Stassen and MacArthur Also Are In Running For Presidency.

By JACK BELL
 Chicago, July 11.—(AP)—It was Eisenhower against the field today as rival candidates for the Republican Presidential nomination lined up in desperate array against first ballot stamped for "Ike."

Powered by last-minute Michigan recruits, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flung a booming offensive against an alliance-of-convenience which found Warren and Stassen forces joined — but for the moment only — with Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Eisenhower's blitz was under way as this raucous 25th Republican national convention approached its dramatic climax — the roll call of states on the party nomination at 11:30 a.m. EDT.

Taft held the centre of the stop-Eisenhower defence line with what his backers claimed would be 530 votes.

There seemed little doubt that the Eisenhower legions would overrun these blockades. The General's chief strategists claimed up to 585 votes toward the 604 needed for the nomination.

As zero hour approached, Eisenhower gained a block of 28 votes at a Michigan caucus, which also gave Taft four more ballots for a total of 32 from that state. Eisenhower's Michigan total jumped from 32 to 34 after national committeeman Arthur E. Summerfield announced he was swinging aboard the General's bandwagon.

But Taft was flanked by allies for-the-hour in Governor Earl Warren of California, with 76 votes, and former Governor Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, captain of 25 delegates. Both are themselves nominees. If the first Eisenhower attack falls short, these allies felt they might be able to regroup and force a deadlock from which one of their number might emerge with the nomination.

It was evident Warren and Stassen believed Taft's chances for the nomination are not good, but that he could provide the main strength now for a deadlock from which they could benefit.

Eisenhower's leaders were confident that if the first wave falters, it will smash enough opposition to put him over on the second or third ballot.

Both major candidates were outwardly confident of victory as the voting neared.

Iado's Governor Len Jordan, a Taft rooster, said it isn't beyond the bounds of possibility that Taft might support some other candidate besides Eisenhower if the Ohioan finds he can't win himself.

This was an obvious reference to take that Gen. Douglas MacArthur might jump into the race if Taft fades.

MacArthur's name was the last one placed in nomination early this morning.

Taft talked to MacArthur by telephone yesterday but said he has no plans to "throw my convention to anyone if I could, and I don't think I could."

Stassen said he has no understandings with any other candidate and will make none.

The last-hour strategy of the Taft camp was to attack the Eisenhower forces on the flank, by setting up Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York as a sort of Machiavelli for the General and attacking him.

Dewey announced that New York would cast 92 votes for Eisenhower on the first ballot, and four for Taft.

The bitterness that has torn the party slackened not one bit as the final hour came for closing ranks behind a party leader. Taft headquarters distributed throwaway headlines: "Sink Dewey!" and proclaiming: "End Dewey's control of our party—eight years of Deweyism and defeat."

The sheets described the New York Governor, the party's 1944 and 1948 Presidential nominee, as "the most cold-blooded, ruthless, selfish political boss in the United States today."

With Michigan's votes finally laid on the line, the Associated Press scorecard showed these standings before the balloting began:

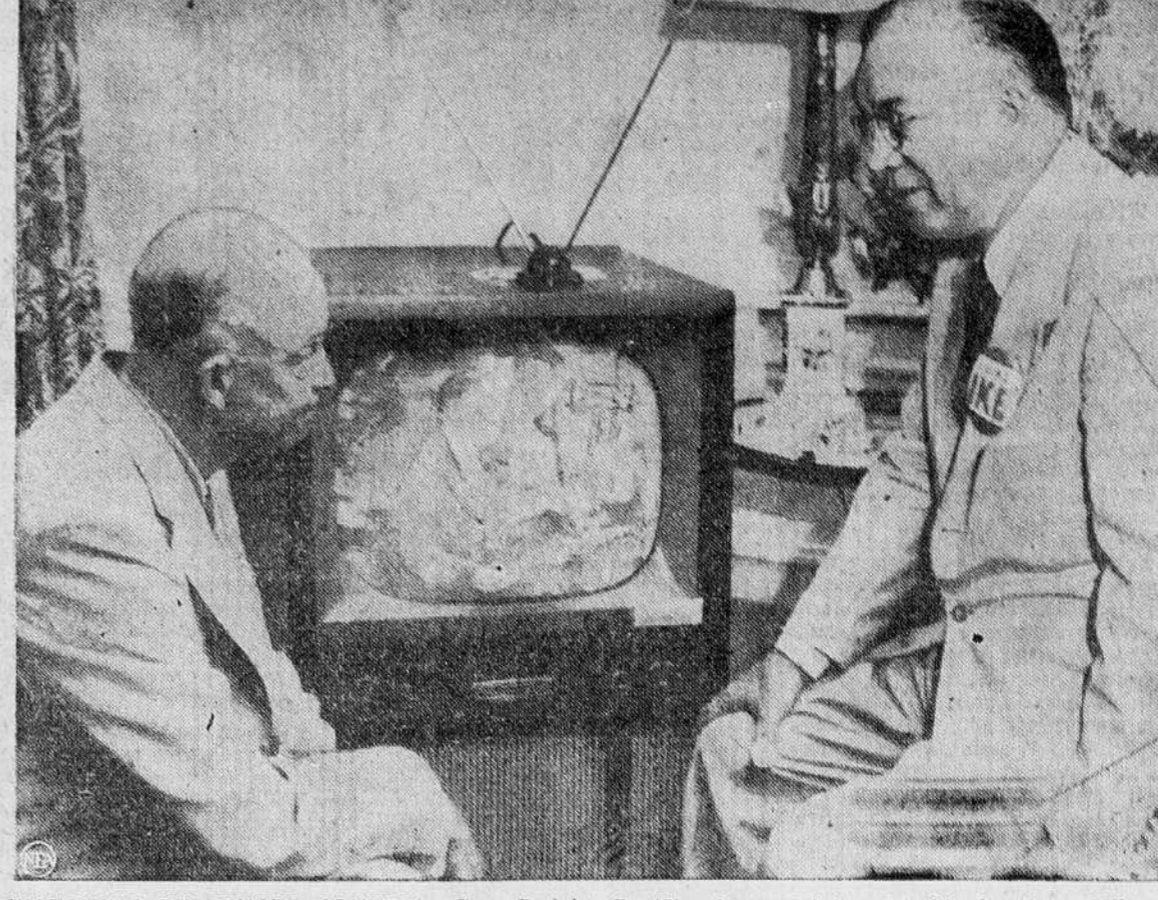

Eisenhower 554.
 Taft 495.
 Others 110.
 Uncommitted 47.
 (Needed to nominate 604.)

Eisenhower picked up four votes in the 38-vote New Jersey delegation as Taft lost one there. A new poll showed Taft with six votes in Arkansas, Eisenhower four and MacArthur one on the first ballot.

Governor Theodore McKeldin of Maryland predicted all of Maryland's 24 votes would go for Eisenhower. Previously the delegation had been 15 for Eisenhower, nine for Taft.

In nominating Eisenhower, McKeldin told the convention the General is a man with a "genius for victory" who can "sweep the stench and stigma from the Augean stables of the Washington administration."

"He can be trusted to uproot the manipulations of those who

Sincerity Of Russians Faces Test

Washington, July 11.—(P)—The western powers have submitted to Russia a big-four meeting proposal which United States officials believe will test the sincerity of Moscow's demands for a unified Germany.

The proposal, delivered yesterday, calls for a meeting limited to the specific purpose of creating an impartial commission to determine whether free elections can be held throughout divided Germany.

This was the one new feature in identical notes from Britain, the U.S. and France which represented the sixth round in a wordy diplomatic exchange going on since last March.

Moscow called then for an urgent meeting of the occupation powers to take up again the broad question of making peace with a unified Germany, a move interpreted as mere propaganda.

In the new proposals the west laid down once more the conditions that Russia must agree to advance that any general peace settlement be based first upon genuinely-free elections in the Soviet zone, and then to the creation of a free all-German government which would have a voice in framing the peace treaty.

Moscow thus far has sidestepped any such agreement. Many diplomatic authorities doubt the Kremlin will accept the latest terms.

But the western proposal left the way open for counter-proposals, and U.S. officials believe that in any event Soviet reaction will be useful in guiding public opinion here and in western Europe.

The proposal, made after consultation with West Germany's chancellor, Konrad Adenauer, will

Death Of 160 Red Soldiers Is Reported

Berlin, July 11.—(Reuters) The west German news agency D. P. A. reported today that a Russian general and more than 160 soldiers were killed in a rail crash just beyond the Oder river in Polish-occupied territory last Wednesday.

The agency quoted eyewitnesses for the report.

The agency said the train, carrying Soviet occupation forces in Germany on leave to Russia, was derailed at high speed and crashed down a steep embankment into a lake.

The scene of the crash was said to have been between Reppen and Battschow, just east of the Oder-Neisse line near Frankfurt on Oder.

D.P.A. said unanimous reports from independent eyewitnesses interviewed in Berlin.

They said local authorities imposed a news blackout on the crash. The locomotive engineer and other train crew members, as well as Polish rail men responsible for that part of the track, had been arrested on suspicion of sabotage.

Four hundred U.S. air force, navy and marine fighter bombers swarmed from land bases and from the U.S. aircraft carriers Princeton and Bon Homme Richard in a morning strike on Pyongyang. They were joined by planes from the British carrier HMS Ocean.

More than 100 U.S. and Australian jet fighters patrolled the area from Pyongyang north to the Manchurian border to protect the raiders from Red fighters. A few Russian-built MIGs from Manchurian bases exchanged fire with the Sabres. One MIG was reported damaged.

Allied losses, if any, are reported once a week. Carter reported heavy flak from about 100 anti-aircraft guns at Pyongyang. He said smoke billowed 9,000 feet into the air.

The strikes were doubtless a continuation of the allied effort to use airpower to prod reluctant communist armistice negotiators at Panmunjom into a more pliable attitude.

On the ground, U.N. infantrymen and tanks stormed over four western Korean hills Thursday, then withdrew to their own lines.

The allied raiders, occupied three of the hills northwest of Chorwon without a fight. They killed 79 communists and wounded 29 in a bitter, one-hour battle for the fourth. The U.S. Eighth Army reported.

Allied foot soldiers on the eastern front repulsed the attack of an artillery-supported Chinese platoon west of the Pukhan river in a 70-minute fight at midnight Thursday.

Munsan, Korea, July 11.—(P)—Negotiators held their eighth secret session today in a futile effort to agree on a Korean truce.

No information was released on what progress, if any, was made during the 26-minute meeting. Another session was set for tomorrow.

7th Miner Dies After Explosion

Glace Bay, N.S., July 11.—(P)—A seventh miner died last night as government and company officials began an investigation into the second worst disaster to hit this coal-mining town in 49 years.

Even as Herbert Desmond, 49, lay dying in hospital here, two other Nova Scotia miners were killed in common accidents that make mining man's most hazardous occupation.

Desmond was the only man who could have told exactly what his six companions were instantly killed in an explosion in No. 20 colliery here.

Deadly "fire damp," the miner's greatest fear, is believed to have blasted the chambers some three miles under the Atlantic.

Company and union officials declined to say what caused the explosion but rescue workers indicated that a defective lamp carried by one of the victims ignited an accumulation of the gas.

Miners said the company planned to close down the section when the miners' annual 12-day vacation begins Aug. 4. This was not confirmed.

Number 20 was closed 14 years ago for a 13-month safety program.

Donald MacLellan, 50-year-old shoffier, brought Desmond to safety shortly after the blast. He was working nearby and groped his way into the explosion area with a moistened cloth over his face.

Several times the searing gas forced him back before he located the moaning man in the flickering light of burning pit props. Desmond was removed to hospital where he died of third-degree burns and shock.

The other victims were overman Charles (Massey) Harris, 47; shoffier William (Billy) Blake, 60; John Gould, 30; Pat Gabriel, 27; Buddy Bonar, 23, and Herb's brother, Bill, 45.

The mine, employing some 1,200 men, was idle yesterday and will probably remain so until Monday.

A formal inquiry into the accident will officially begin in a few days.

There is a reconstruction of events leading up to the explosion, as seen by rescue workers; shoffier Blake, suspecting gas in the area, sent for overman Harris to investigate. Harris carried a "glanny" or safety lamp whose light automatically goes out when gas is present. It was found near the scene of the explosion, "blasted to smithereens." They added that Harris lifted his lamp to the coal face to investigate the accumulation of gas the explosion occurred. Harris' body was not seriously shattered.

There will be a funeral instead of a wedding at the Blake home tomorrow. His daughter Elsie arrived from Toronto shortly before the tragedy. He was to have given her in marriage.

Britain's Dollar Deficit To Be Aired At Conference

By ALAN HARVEY
 Canadian Press Staff Writer
 London, July 11.—(CP)—Britain's "heavy" dollar deficit with Canada is likely to be one of the principal topics discussed when Commonwealth finance ministers meet again in London, it was suggested today.

Although no date has been set, a Commonwealth finance conference is expected to be held here in the fall.

Commenting on the conference, the Daily Telegraph says today that Britain in recent months has made some progress in bridging the dollar gap with the United States, but that the balance with Canada has proved "peculiarly intractable."

Substantial reductions in imports, especially wheat, are hard to obtain, and an expansion in exports is proving equally slow," the Daily Telegraph says in a financial-page story.

The current issue of Lloyd's Bank Review, a journal devoted to financial affairs, also expresses concern at Britain's slice of the Canadian import market. The article, by Prof. Ely Devons of Manchester University, analyzes export trends over the last 15

Noisy Republicans Hail Men Who Are Proposed As Candidates

By RELMAN MORIN
 Convention Hall, Chicago, July 11.—(AP)—The great lung-power derby, a strange rite of Americans, howled itself into exhaustion in the few hours this morning, having named five men as choices for President of the United States.

For nearly eight hours, last night and today, five bands of Republicans made as much noise as they could. They used most of the known instruments for disturbing the peace—cymbals, whistles, sirens, a pipe organ, tin and wooden rattles and brass bands.

History will never be able to record which group racked up the highest score in hoarse throats.

Nor could you say which of the five put on the best mob-scene in the aisles, waving placards, flipping flying saucers and colored streamers into the air, releasing balloons, capering, cavorting and having, generally, a high old time.

There were Governors, Senators, Congressmen and worthy citizens, men of standing, in each of the demonstrations. They wore strange head dresses, Hawaiian leis and straw hats with slogans plastered across the top. They hoisted pretty, shrieking girls on their shoulders.

Of the five spectacles—they are carefully arranged by vice-presidents in charge of spontaneous demonstrations—there was something to be said for each.

Those that launched Senator Robert Taft of Ohio and General Eisenhower lasted longest and made the most noise.

But the blue-and-gold riot on behalf of Governor Earl Warren of California was somehow warmer and sweeter.

Provincial Party Leaders Continue Tour Of Ridings

Montreal, July 11.—(P)—Leaders of Quebec's major political parties continue their strenuous pre-election campaigns, holding one, sometimes two meetings a day, in preparation for the July 16 election.

Georges Lapalme, Liberal leader, spoke at Jonquiere and Dolbeau, in northeastern Quebec, yesterday afternoon and last night and said the Union Nationale government has been more preoccupied with putting up stone structures than with human welfare.

At nearby Contrecoeur, Premier Duplessis said that if electors of Richelieu constituency were intimidated in any way he would see to it, as attorney-general, that those responsible would be properly punished.

Mr. Lapalme said that "men are more important than stones" and if the Liberals are elected they will first adopt fair labor laws and look after the needy in the province.

He said that Quebec's 1950 asbestos strike would have lasted only three or four weeks, instead of four months, if Mr. Duplessis had "settled the differences" between employers and the union over the "hiring of 65 strikers."

Workers were "blackjacked" during the strike but that was "not the most dangerous aspect of trouble in the Eastern Townships asbestos-mining region."

"What is dangerous is the case of Rene Rocque," he said.

Rocque, a union organizer, was convicted on charges of conspiracy to create disorder in connection with the strike and was sentenced to six months in jail.

"I do not question the conviction and sentence of Rene Rocque but the manner in which he was made Mr. Duplessis's personal prisoner," Mr. Lapalme said. "Mr. Rocque was kept a prisoner in solitary confinement for 14 weeks and the same thing could happen to anyone the Union Nationale government wishes to persecute."

Mr. Duplessis had criticized the appearance of Liberal members of the House of Commons on Liberal platforms in the campaign but some of the independent members of the Commons were fighting on the Union Nationale side and they had been elected in 1949 with the help of Progressive Conservative and Union Nationale parties.

Mr. Duplessis devoted a good portion of his speech to voters in the neighboring Richelieu riding where, he said, Edouard Simard, Sorel industrialist, is supporting Gerard Cournoyer who resigned his Commons seat to run in the provincial field.

Mr. Cournoyer had deserted the voters who had given him their support and elected him to the Commons where he sat for Richelieu-Vercheres until last month.

"He resigned his seat in the Commons without consulting the voters who placed him there because he wants to serve the interests of Edouard Simard," Mr. Duplessis said.

He described Mr. Lapalme as "the phantom chief of the so-called Liberal party who voted against the interests of Quebec at every opportunity while he was a member of the House of Commons."

All real Liberals were supporting the Union Nationale and the group surrounding Mr. Lapalme were "the remnants of the old regime of former Premiers Taschereau and Godbout."

 School Board, Mr. James Barron was appointed to fill a vacancy among the Trustees caused by the resignation of Mr. Charles Wil-has been an active and valued member of the Board since February 1946 and his resignation was received with regret.

Another loyal and capable mem-pointed by the Board to fill this second vacancy.

The Board of Trustees now consists of Mr. S. A. Meade, secretary-treasurer, Mr. A. A. Hopkins, term and as a rule one vacancy

The Board is considering the proposition of providing a gymna-school and if completed as planned will provide still another valuable asset to an already fine school. Ideally situated on a site with a large recreational area and well kept landscaped grounds the

SHERBROOKE, QUEBEC, FRIDAY, JULY 11, 1952.

DAWSON AUTO PARTS 46 Wellington St. South Sherbrooke - Tel. 2-4793

Achievements Of U. N. In Sherbrooke County Outlined By Hon. J. S. Bourque

Rain which started just as their favorite began to speak failed to dampen the enthusiasm of the large crowd which gathered in Dufresne Park last evening to hear Hon. Johnny Bourque, National Union candidate in Sherbrooke County, appeal for election for the sixth time to the Quebec Legislature.

The Sherbrooke member, who holds the portfolios of Lands and Forests and of Hydraulic Resources, was accompanied by Hon. Omer Cote, Provincial Secretary and M.L.A. for St. James Division of Montreal.

Despite the threatening skies it was early apparent that the meeting would be entirely successful from the attendance point of view at least. Long before the platform guests arrived, the benches distributed through the park were filled and hundreds were standing in front of the band stand which served as a stage.

The arrival of Mr. Bourque and his party was greeted with prolonged cheers by the gathering, who made it apparent that the members of this gathering at least would support the man who has represented Sherbrooke county in the Legislature since 1935.

After a brief round of preliminary speakers, Mr. Bourque arose to present his case. Almost at this moment the light drizzle started and the Minister suggested that perhaps the audience wished him to end his remarks and postpone the meeting until a more auspicious time.

Herman Band Coming Here On Wednesday

Woody Herman and his "greatest band ever" will be the next big "name band" to play at the Sherbrooke Arena.

The Herman aggregation will be here on the evening of July 16th, providing dance fans of the district with a fine opportunity to relax after the excitement of the provincial election.

One of the most popular orchestras in the country, the Herman band has a style of music all its own.

Herman has this to say about the music the band is playing today: "We're striving to be versatile and play the music that is accepted as great, but we still try our best to make it danceable."

Herman is truly qualified to speak on the subject as he has been playing before the public since he was nine years old. He commented: "Many great musicians of today have suddenly become so ultra-modern that even they themselves don't understand what they are playing."

North Hatley Park To Be Reserved For Residents

Municipal authorities at North Hatley announced today that in view of the congestion created by hundreds of visitors in the park surrounding the bandstand it would be necessary to admit only residents of the community in future.

Mayor Clifford J. Reed stated that the park is maintained by a trust fund generously donated by a former resident and the agreement stipulates that the park should be reserved for the residents of the village. Part of the land is still private property and although the owner wishes that it remain as part of the park, the town is unable to provide facilities for so many people who visit the park, particularly on week-ends.

Therefore, parking must be curtailed and attendance limited to residents of the village who will be admitted by ticket. Residents may secure tickets from the secretary-treasurer or the town constable.

The mayor expressed the hope that out-of-town people would understand the problem and realize that in view of the small area of the park and lack of parking space, as well as the fact that there are no bath house facilities, that there is no alternative but to close the park to non-residents.

Maurice Leclerc, 25, of Sherbrooke, charged with passing false cheques, will receive his sentence on July 18th.

Child Of Six Dies Under Wheels Of Automobile On The Ascot Road

A six-year-old child was killed almost instantly last night by an automobile on the Ascot Road.

Dead is Pierre Eugene Imbeault, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theophile Imbeault who reside on the Ascot Road about three miles from Sherbrooke.

The little boy had gone across the street from his home and had been playing near the house of Paul Couture.

On his return trip across the street, while the child was running, tragedy struck in the form of a 1950 Model sedan, driven by Jean-Paul Perron, 40, of 445 Desaulniers boulevard, St. Lambert.

Perron was driving to East Angus at the time of the mishap, about nine o'clock yesterday evening.

The youngster, in a Duranleau and Jalbert ambulance, was taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. But he was dead on arrival.

Sgt.-Det. Stenio Brasseur, head of the local detachment of Provincial Police, investigated the tragedy, assisted by Traffic Officer Curtis Parsons.

Provincial Police last night located the parents of the dead boy in Chicoutimi.

The child had been in the care of relatives during the absence of his parents.

An inquest had been called for this morning by Dr. Louis Gagnon, district coroner, at the Provincial Police station.

Leonidas Bachand acted as chairman for last night's meeting which was held in the parish hall of St. Antoine's Church.

Appealing to the young people to give their support to Lapalme's program of social justice, Mr. Lagasse denounced the Duplessis regime which decrees that "only those who belong to the National Union party have a right to live in the province of Quebec."

D. S. Bachand Died Yesterday At Coaticook

Coaticook, July 11.—One of the Eastern Townships most prominent residents, D. S. Bachand, well-known Coaticook merchant, passed away at his home early yesterday evening following a lengthy illness. He was in his 77th year.

A former mayor and alderman, an ex-president of the Chamber of Commerce and of the Society of St. John the Baptist, Mr. Bachand had taken an active and important role in every part of the life of his community.

A church warden for many years, he was associated with charitable enterprises of all kinds, and in 1936 the French government presented him with the Foreign Affairs Medal in recognition of his civic accomplishments.

A well-known patron of the arts, he was the father of the great soprano, Mrs. Jeanne Bachand Dupuis, of Sherbrooke, who predeceased him last January.

He was born January 16, 1875, in Roxton Pond, the son of Stanislas Bachand, a merchant, and Mrs. Bachand, the former Azelie Charlier.

The family moved to Coaticook in 1885, where he took his primary education at the Forcheron School, later attending the St. Hyacinthe Seminary.

He entered his father's firm when he was 21, and in 1908 became the business director.

He was a warden of St. John the Evangelist Parish, and a member and twice president of St. John the Baptist Society of Coaticook. He was a member and past president of the Coaticook Chamber of Commerce and was a Knight of Columbus.

His business connections were numerous. He was president of the firm of Bachand and Dionne, president of Plateau Camirand Ltd. and a director of the Alexandre Club Inc., and Epiciers Modernes Ltd.

In 1896 he married Anna Tremblay, daughter of Dr. Evariste Tremblay, of Windsor Mills. One daughter, Jeanne, was born of this marriage, who later became the wife of Dr. A. N. Dupuis, of Coaticook.

Further Reduction In Employment At Paton Manufacturing Co. Forecast

Montreal, July 11.—The Canadian wool textile industry is still experiencing a severe business depression and cannot hope for better conditions in the immediate future, F. Ryland Daniels, president of Paton Manufacturing Company, Limited, said at the annual meeting of the company here yesterday.

While some sections of the textile industry are beginning to note a leveling off in the downward trend of business, producers of woolen fabrics have not yet reached this position, he said. "This company, and others, may be forced to reduce employment still further before the turning point is reached."

Between April 1, 1951 and April 1, 1952 employment in the Canadian wool textile industry had dropped nineteen percent, with most of the remaining employees on part time, Mr. Daniels said. His own company was presently operating at 40 per cent of early 1952 employment and might possibly be down to 20 per cent before the end of this summer.

Mr. Daniels pointed out the country's woollen mills had for the past 15 months been beset by the same problems as the rest of the primary textile industry.

However, there are also difficulties peculiar to this industry that continue to have a depressing influence on business.

The woollen industry was feeling more than other sections of the industry the heavy pressure of imports, Mr. Daniels noted. As 87 per cent of woolen and worsted cloths imported into Canada during 1951 came from the United Kingdom it was from there that the domestic industry found its most difficult competition, he said.

Tariffs on woollens coming into this country are among the world's lowest and are hopelessly inadequate in the face of present international conditions.

Some years ago this country placed a maximum duty on the value of woolen fabrics imported from Britain to accommodate some expensive specialties, but through increased costs this maximum has brought about an effective duty of about 13 per cent on almost all British cloths, of the kind we manufacture, while there is a 21-per cent duty on similar fabrics entering Britain.

This situation is further emphasized by low British wages, which are but a 43-per cent of those paid in this country. Depreciation of sterling in terms of the Canadian dollar, has at least temporarily nullified any intended benefit by way of tariff protection. And the apparent willingness of the British to sell at sacrifice prices further aggravates matters for the industry here.

As a result of those conditions British worsteds are being landed here at prices much below the cost of production in Canada based on replacement value of wool tops.

Liberal Speakers Denounce Duplessis As Dictator In Lennoxville Addresses

A Lennoxville audience which made up in enthusiasm for what it lacked in size, heard Jacques Lagasse, Liberal candidate in the forthcoming elections, and a number of other speakers denounce Premier Duplessis as a "Duce", a dictator whose government members are not allowed an opinion of their own.

Leonidas Bachand acted as chairman for last night's meeting which was held in the parish hall of St. Antoine's Church.

Appealing to the young people to give their support to Lapalme's program of social justice, Mr. Lagasse denounced the Duplessis regime which decrees that "only those who belong to the National Union party have a right to live in the province of Quebec."

He also attacked Mr. Bourque's administration, referring to his lack of action during the strikes at Asbestos, at Thetford Mines, and more recently at Rubin's plant in Sherbrooke. He mentioned Rene Roch, one of the Syndicate heads sentenced during the Asbestos strike, and pointed out that this man, instead of purging his sentence in Sherbrooke, had been made a political prisoner and removed to Montreal for his jail term, upon request from the Premier, and Mr. Bourque did nothing to prevent this miscarriage of justice. He did nothing because the Ministers are not allowed any opinion which does not coincide with the Chief's.

"True it is important to have schools, roads, hospitals and so on," said Mr. Lagasse, "but it is of prime importance to have legislation for all classes of society which will prevent strikes, permanent tribunals of justice which will act in all fairness towards the laboring class."

The speaker referred to an article in yesterday's La Tribune concerning a declaration by Senator Nicol relating to taxation between the Provincial and Federal governments and said that this article is a confirmation of the stand which the Liberal party has taken from the beginning of the campaign, that any Liberal has the right to express his opinion without having first of all to obtain the sanction of his leader.

Sherbrooke, with its strategic location, is important to the province, he added, and has an essential role to play in the future of Quebec, therefore its people should see that the truly democratic government, the Lapalme program of social justice is victorious on July 18.

Pierre Beaudry, local lawyer, went a step further and called Johnny Bourque "a liar." He also claimed that the Minister had not refuted any of the statements in the pamphlet circulated recently by the Liberal party, and that if he were attacked it was not an individual but as a public man. He maintained that it was a very feeble attempt on Bourque's part to use the name of three deceased people in his defense.

Ashton Tobin, Q.C., maintained that there is a tie-up between the Duplessis government and certain elements of the underworld, referring specifically to the incident at the Cote de Liesse gambling house a short time ago.

Somewhat jealous of the success of the organization, another group of gamblers staged a holdup there and departed with some five or six thousand dollars. Strangely enough, said Mr. Tobin, nothing appeared in the newspapers about this incident.

D. S. BACHAND

Surviving the deceased are his wife, Mrs. D. S. Bachand, of Coaticook; his son-in-law, Dr. A. N. Dupuis, a granddaughter, Madeleine Dupuis, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral service will be held Monday morning at ten o'clock, at the Church of St. John the Evangelist in Coaticook. The remains are resting at Brien's Funeral Parlor in Coaticook. Interment will be made in St. Edmund's Cemetery.

a man who understands the necessities of his fellowmen, and we have that man in Jacques Lagasse. Sell the idea of voting for the right man to your brothers, your husbands, your boy friends and your children who are of age," she urged, making special appeal to the young people who will vote for the first time, to make their vote Lagasse, Lapalme and Liberal.

Mr. Beaudry said earlier that Duplessis declared he was not combatting the Liberal party but "We are living in a period of anarchy. If we cannot find the police where we need them, just where are we going?"

Miss Isabelle Payette, vice-president of the Women's Liberal Federation of the Province, made an appeal to the ladies.

She pointed out the importance of the woman's influence in the politics of today and said that a vote against Duplessis is a vote in their personal interest.

"We need a man of good will,"

Juryman Find Albeck Death Not Drowning

A coroner's jury yesterday established that Sven Albeck, 49, died of a heart attack, at the inquest held in the local Provincial Police Station.

Lucien Grailion, R.R. No. one, Sherbrooke, testified that he found Albeck in the Magog River after 9:30 Tuesday night and that the body was floating. Grailion went out in a speedboat on the dark waters when he learned a swimmer was in trouble. He and Francois Latulippe, in a rowboat, took the body to shore.

Dr. Michael Stepan, resident doctor at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, told of examining Albeck shortly after. He attributed death to natural causes, brought about by overexertion. He found no water in the man's lungs.

Others who testified at the inquest were: Mr. Latulippe, Josiah Jordan, accountant at Ascot Metals Corporation, where Albeck was employed, who identified the body; and Roland Marcotte, whose home on R.R. one, Albeck was visiting the night of his death.

The body was recovered about 50 feet from shore, in water said to be over 18 feet deep. Albeck swam across and back to shore, a distance of some 400 feet before he was stricken.

The fatality occurred on the south side of the Magog River near Rock Forest.

Juryman were: James Johnston, president; Murray Campbell, W. R. Hovey, John Mathias, C. Lowe Campbell and J. W. Blake.

Dr. Louis Gagnon, district coroner, presided.

NOT A GOOD CONDITION

The condition where U.S. currency tendered in Canada for good value received is being accepted at par, or at a loss of more than three per cent, in hotels, while in other places of business, it is being discounted is chaotic, hit-or-miss, and is anything but conducive to good relations with visitors. The fact is, there are thousands of Canadians who carry resentment over treatment they have received in the country to the south, when they have tried to use Canadian money.

Windsor provides a case in point. The Windsor Star complains that the Canadian dollar is still "being spurned" in Detroit, and anyone who asks for a premium over there gets a look down the nose. The whole situation is getting complicated. Some hotels are cutting exchange loss by tendering all change to American visitors in U.S. money, but there are some wise visitors who demand Canadian change.

W. L. Clark in The Windsor Star comments: "One suggestion is that when the Canadian government is asking everyone to accept American money at par, it should urge the banks to take the American currency at par. That would be the way."

One thing is certain, the haphazard way in which U.S. currency is being treated encourages the cheat and chiseller. There should be some definite and reasonable direction by authority for all Canadian business. Even so, to follow one's bank in the matter of discount, would be strict adherence to all foreign exchange rules and procedure.

THE LAST LONDON STREET CAR

The last street car, or tram, operating in Old London has been withdrawn from service and apparently there were not many tears shed in the British metropolis, which has never gone in very strongly for "tramways" in any case.

The first tramways were started in 1861, but they served only the suburban districts. There was too much congestion of traffic in the main areas of the city to allow the massive double-deck street cars, running on fixed rails, to occupy so much space. So London depended mostly on the horse-bus and the Underground Railway, which, for decades has announced outside each of its many stations, "Underground to anywhere Quickest way, cheapest fare."

The horse buses were easily manoeuvred and the manner in which the drivers weaved out and in among the traffic with about an inch to spare won the admiration of people from all parts of the world. For many a year the popular way of seeing London was from the top of a horse bus, the favorite seat being to right or left of the driver who had an unlimited line of talk, and a fund of sarcastic banter with his fellow drivers. Then came the motor buses, and the friendly horse-bus era came to an end.

The street cars served millions of Londoners, but since the end of the First World War the service has been lopped off section by section until at last there were only 12,500,000 passengers a day for less than 350 miles of tracks. These will have to be carried by the 6,500 double-deck buses and the Underground systems which are the fastest, cleanest and most efficient in the world.

FRIENDS AND PHOBIAS

The New Times of Moscow states that the time is drawing near for a decisive weakening of Anglo-American ties. The British public, it declares, has concluded that rearmament is threatening the economy with bankruptcy, that Washington is leading London around by the nose, and that an American-inspired "policy of preparation of aggressive war against the Soviet Union" cannot continue without producing a national catastrophe. This leads The Christian Science Monitor to comment:

The very falsity of these loaded charges should alert both countries.

Who wants to play the Moscow game? Do the anti-American, left-wing Bevanites who only the other day accused Winston Churchill of changing over from being a British bulldog to being an American lap dog? Do the anti-British, right-wing Americans who would have the United States take, exactly the high-handed, bullying attitude toward its closed friend and chief ally of which Soviet propaganda accuses it?

Moscow is evidently counting on there being enough foolish people in both countries to subscribe to its bargain course of six easy lessons on "How to Divide Friends and Delight Enemies." But Moscow still cannot change a bulldog into a lap dog — or dress up an eagle like a bear.

PRESS COMMENTS

MR. LAPALME GOES TO MOHAMMED

The Gazette, Montreal

Ever since Mr. George Lapalme emerged from political obscurity to lead the Liberal Party in Quebec, he has appeared to be feeling for a platform. It may be hoped that he will not take his stand upon the plank he presented in his recent speech at Victoriaville. Such a policy would reduce Quebec, now in unprecedented prosperity, to the dim outlook of an economic isolationism.

Mr. Lapalme wonders whether Quebec may not become "the Iran of tomorrow." Whatever may be thought of Premier Mohammed Mossadegh in that troubled country, it would scarcely seem that he is the most promising model for a Quebec provincial premier.

In considering Mr. Lapalme's Iranian declaration, it is perhaps only reasonable to remember that his desire for isolation is only partly economic. The Quebec Liberal leader has evidently felt under the necessity, for some time, not only to differentiate himself from the National Union Party, but also from the federal Liberals, in order to escape suggestions of provincial subordination.

While this aim is politically understandable, it should have its reasonable limits. Otherwise Mr. Lapalme would be in danger of leading both himself and the provincial Liberals into a campaign of sensational demagoguery. Such a campaign would have results, immediate and serious, upon this province's progress and outlook.

It is true that Mr. Lapalme has been toying with this idea for some time. He made some statements to the same general effect more than a year ago when he charged Premier Duplessis with selling Quebec's resources to strangers for something rather like a mess of pottage.

But on that occasion his most penetrating critic was the federal Liberal leader, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent. Speaking in the House of Commons, Mr. St. Laurent practically described Mr. Lapalme, by inference, as an economic introvert. He recalled that almost any contract with any American company offered by any provincial premier had always been subject to political criticism in Quebec. But he declared emphatically that such capital is essential for the development of the province.

Speaking very pointedly, Mr. St. Laurent said: "Personally, as a resident of Quebec, I have no complaint about the arrangements that have been made for the purpose of having these resources developed."

When Mr. Lapalme heard these words, he declined to accept them as a rebuke. He shook a finger of sorts at the Federal prime minister, and said that he ought not to be interfering in provincial affairs. He even made domestic capital out of the incident, by saying that what the federal Liberal leader had said only proved that the federal and provincial organizations are separate and independent, and in no way dependent the one upon the other.

Now Mr. Lapalme is back in the same theme. Perhaps it is not altogether surprising. In politics it is hard to fight against prosperity. It happens to be Mr. Lapalme's political misfortune that the Province of Quebec, under the leadership of his political opponent, has been growing by the proverbial leaps and bounds. Faced with such manifest prosperity, Mr. Lapalme has fallen back upon the argument that if he were only in power, he would outdo his rivals, by increasing prosperity with techniques after the Iranian pattern.

If Mr. Lapalme continues in this course, he will have succeeded only too well in making his provincial party "different." He is in danger of disappearing into an uninhabited socialism, based upon an economic isolation. That this is different from that of the National Union Party is obvious. But it is also so radically different from the more temperate tone of federal Liberalism that the separation between federal and provincial Liberalism might become so real as to be absolute.

If all this were merely political fireworks in the dark, it could be accepted with detachment. But talk of this kind is likely to be taken far more seriously beyond Canada's borders than it deserves. Rantings about Quebec being "the Iran of tomorrow" can scarcely attract the flow in investment to Quebec that is raising this province to enviable peaks of development, and is guaranteeing its future.

Mr. Lapalme with his Iranianism, may be capable of doing this province far more harm beyond its borders than he is capable of doing within them.

THE REPUBLICAN PARTY'S DECISION IS OF CONCERN TO THE WORLD

Toronto Telegram

Today the Republican Party convenes at Chicago to nominate its candidate for the presidency of the United States. Interest in its decision extends far beyond the boundaries of the United States, for upon it U.S. foreign policy, with its consequences upon world affairs, may well be shaped after the presidential elections in November. This is not overlooking the role the Democratic Party has to play, but it is possible true to say that whether it remains in office to continue to direct U.S. policy will depend not so much on the choice of its presidential candidate later this month but on the decision of the Republican Party.

It would appear from this point of view that it matters little whom the Democrats select, that throughout the country all good Democrats are praying for the nomination of Taft. The Republican Taft seems to offer them their best chance of success, for it is believed that in order to win the Republicans must garner a substantial number of Democratic and "floater" votes, and whereas it is thought that Eisenhower would have success in this direction, there is little confidence in Taft's ability to command any other than Republican support. The nomination of Taft, therefore, will no doubt be received with much rejoicing by the Democratic Party. It would also offer the free world the possibility of little change in U.S. Foreign policy.

With Eisenhower the world knows where it stands. He has won its respect and admiration in World War II and as the former supreme commander of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He has consistently taken the position that the interests of the United States are enmeshed with those of the nations of the free world and that the defense of the combined interests of all requires powerful U.S. forces abroad as well as at home.

His nomination may spread despondency in Democratic ranks and distress in Moscow, but elsewhere it will inspire confidence.

Glimpses Into The Past

By BERTHA WESTON PRICE

DOWN MEMORY LANE

The summer months have many special days, besides the thirty and thirty-one regular calendar days. They are days of remembrance when our thoughts go back to the old days and we long for glimpses into the misty past when we wend our way down Memory Lane and bring back incidents that may mean little to many yet much to a few.

In our fair townships there are few places that have more memories than the town of Inverness in Megantic County to which came families from across the sea and chose this place for their future home. On April 25, 1829, the good ship Caledonia set sail from Greenock, Scotland, and arrived at Quebec two months later, June 25. The leader of this vessel was one Archie McKillopp, with Captain Miller, a native of Arran, men good and true who left memories in Inverness when they had finished their life's work.

The name of McKillopp is high on the Calendar of Time; there have been three Archibald McKillopps in that family. Col. Archibald, the blind Bard, and the Archibald who married Flora McKillopp, a cousin. There are many other names closely linked with the early life of Inverness. Sinclair Goudie from the Shetland Islands who proved himself a good pioneer. The minister who came with the first Band was Rev. Donald Hendry and among the newcomers were school masters, tailors and other tradesmen. They were not poor, those settlers, and they knew the full meaning of the word, neighbor, and this fair land today shows that the newcomers were worthy citizens of a New Country.

We may take brief glimpses through the mist of years and recall incidents of early days (because some one has remembered them.) The first marriage taking place in Inverness was that of John Cook and Mary McKillopp, the young couple walking to Quebec, which meant walking to St. Nicholas then taking the boat to Quebec City. They walked there and back (I am sorry I cannot give the miles.) Even after there was a better way they kept to the old route; one couple didn't want another to "best them."

Relative to marriage one mother boasted that "our Kate is going to marry a muckle Scotsman who has a shingle roof." At that time her lock bark was used for the roof of their homes. Today that kind of a roof in England is an expensive affair.

Among the early residents of Inverness are many familiar names: Sinclair Goudie of whose family there are only Mrs. Forest Ross, of Lennoxville, and Mr. Merrill (nee Blanche Goudie) now in the Eastern Townships. Many of the early settlers went to Lowell, Mass., the great factory town of its day. Dr. MacKay, a beloved minister used to preach from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. in two languages, English and Gaelic.

Mr. William Hume whose two grandsons, Dr. George and Dr. Gordon Hume, well known physicians in Sherbrooke, came from Leeds, was a worthy resident and historian. He wrote much of value and one wishes that some of his work could be found. Somewhere Mr. Hume related that the same year of the landing of the First Band, an election was held at Leeds, the candidates being men from Quebec. One was an emigration agent, who was defeated. He had desired the position and felt all the pangs. He was mad clear through, and so peevish that he told the voters he would make the grass grow on the Craig Road. We are reminded here that the men who worked on the Craig road were ex-convicts who earned fifty cents a day.

Mr. William H. Rothera came from England to Inverness. He came after his father in 1888. He was employed first at Capelton, then Leeds; was accountant at Shawinigan; also at Sturgeon Falls and became manager at Inverness.

Mrs. William Henderson of Birchton, is a member of the Wilton family, prominent residents of Inverness, and these names are found in many places, representing the families who came to a new country to build and live happily.

Archibald McKillopp, the blind Bard, of Megantic has written beautifully of the country he loves. His poem, "Megantic's Bonnie Banks and Braes," which appears in the book "Annals of Megantic," from the pen of Dugald McKenzie. All these writings speak of love and devotion to their Canadian homeland.

Other names come to mind while memory waits. There was William Havad Lambly, Registrar at Inverness; Dr. Stewart and Dr. Aleck MacDonald who practiced their profession in the townships. There was Dr. Stevenson of Danville (retired), Dr. Bennett of Cookshire, Dr. Elliott residing in Marbleton after many years of service. All of these claim Megantic County as their native home.

And now that we have reached the time of year when the men who still remember William of Orange and his white horse crossing the Eoyal, the many happy days spent by the residents of Inverness, Leeds and other villages in Megantic County who celebrated the day, June 12 as true Orangemen and joined in a time of reunion that remains in memory long after. The music of the pipes, the swirl of the kilts and the music of the Gaelic tongue all had its part. The July 12 annual event when Orangemen again showed their lasting loyalty and the descendants of the First Band who crossed the sea in the good ship Caledonia, spent happy hours in Memory Lane.

The Record Short Story

SECRETS

By DOROTHY BARNSELY

Shopping with Father wasn't nearly the same as shopping with Mother. Mother always knew what she liked and wanted, even if she couldn't buy it. Father really wanted to buy, only he didn't have the least idea of what he wanted, nor what would suit Mother, nor even what size wore. Silly knew very well that they should have brought Mother along on this trip. Except that if they had, it wouldn't have been Father's secret.

It all came about in a very funny way. Mother had a secret, too. Hers was The Hat. Sally remembered the crazy day she bought it. The best part of shopping with Mother was always the time when she tried on hats.

Mother adored hats. She would go into any store and sit at a little table by one of those mirrors for almost an hour sometimes, just trying on hats. Hats with ribbons and hats with flowers. Hats with feathers and hats with veils. Tiny little hats no bigger than cupcakes, and the ones she called picture hats with brims so wide her face was almost lost as she kept turning and admiring herself. Mother liked the picture hats best of all.

She never meant to actually buy one, of course. She said they were a terrible extravagance, and certainly not for people like her. She didn't very often wear a hat anyway. Mostly a scarf tied about her hair when she needed it.

Sally never knew why she bought one on that crazy day. She could hardly believe it even when she got outside the store with the big black picture hat in a big fancy box. Mother's face wore the strangest look.

"Now remember—not one word about this to your father," "But you bought it!" Sally protested. "You really bought it!" "It was so beautiful, I couldn't resist it. I must have left my good sense at home. Some day you'll understand. This is my secret."

After they got home Sally persisted. "But when are you going to wear it, Mother?" "I'm not going to wear it. How can I wear it? I don't own a thing that's fit to wear with a hat like this. Your father would think I was crazy if he knew what I've done."

The Hat went into the back of a closet in its box, and there it stayed. Mother would take it out once in a while, when Father was not around, and try it on, preening herself about the house with nobody to see her except the child.

Maybe The Hat would have stayed Mother's secret forever, if the beautiful Mrs. Weeks had not moved into the house next door. Mother said that Mrs. Weeks had lost her husband. But it must have been a long time ago, because Mrs. Weeks did not seem to be the least bit worried or sad about it. She was not much older than Mother, and very bright and gay, especially when there was a man around.

Father said The Widow was gunning for a new husband. Mother said she shouldn't have any difficulty finding one, with all that money. And that class—and those looks—Father added.

Mother didn't like Mrs. Weeks too much, but Father did. He used to talk to her over the fence sometimes, and Mother didn't like it, at all. Not that Mrs. Weeks really expected to get Father, of course. You couldn't have a husband who already belonged to somebody else. Father belonged to Mother, but even so he liked to look at Mrs. Weeks, and talk to her, because he knew it teased and annoyed Mother.

Mrs. Weeks wore beautiful clothes, even when she was pretending to work in her garden, knowing all the time that Father was looking at her. But the most beautiful thing she wore, Sally thought, were her hats. She had hats to match every dress she had. The terribly extravagant kind of hats that Mother tried on in stores but never bought, except that crazy once.

Mother looked at Mrs. Weeks' hats the same way Father looked at Mrs. Weeks. It was quite the last straw when Mrs. Weeks appeared one day in a big black picture hat almost exactly the same as the one tucked away in Mother's closet. Father whistled when he saw her, and Sally saw her mother looked as pleased as Punch over what he'd done. They passed Mrs. Weeks and Sally noticed he scarcely looked at her, he was so proud of the beautiful way Mother looked. Father never did find out it was not the dress he'd bought for her. That remained Mother's secret.

QUESTIONABLE PLAY WORKS OUT GREAT

South's decision to bid six spades in today's hand was somewhat questionable, but he worked out pretty well for him. He knew that his partner was very conservative, and therefore suspected that the dummy would be better than the bidding theoretically indicated.

West opened the deuce of clubs and South won in his own hand with the ace. The question now was whether to set up the South hand or the North hand.

The "automatic" play is to draw two rounds of trumps, gulping slightly when West shows out on the second round. The 4-2 break in diamonds then produces a big gulp and a minus score.

South didn't play the hand so woodenly. After winning the first trick with the ace of clubs he laid down the ace of hearts and entered dummy twice with diamonds to ruff low hearts. If the king of hearts had dropped, the contract would have been very easy.

Since the king of hearts hadn't actually dropped, South made his next try by leading out the ace of diamonds to discard a low club from the dummy. If the diamonds had broken 3-3, the contract would now be virtually ice cold.

As it happened, East ruffed the ace of diamonds and returned a trump, but South still had another play for his contract. He won the trump return with the ace, entered dummy with the king of clubs, and ruffed dummy's last heart. Since both opponents followed on the fourth round of hearts, South got away with this ruff.

Now South could ruff a club in dummy and draw the last trumps with the king and the queen. The slam was thus made even though

CARD SENSE

Q—The bidding has been:

East South West North

1. Diamond Double Redbl 1 Spade Pass

You, South, hold: Spades J-7-3. Hearts A-Q-J-10-5-2. Diamond 4. Clubs A-K-8. What do you do? A—Bid two hearts. This shows a strong suit and a good hand, and your partner will act if he has proper strength. If you held just a strong heart suit, you would have overcalled without first doubling; and if you held just a good hand but not a strong suit you would either pass one spade or raise spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding is the same as in the question just answered. You, South, hold: Spades J-7-3-2. Hearts A-Q-J-10-5-2. Diamond 4. Clubs A-K. What do you do? Answer Tomorrow

American Woman Is Improving
Lois Cantini, of Cranston, R.I., one of two persons hurt when a motorcycle left a gravel road near Sawyerville on Tuesday night and crashed into a ditch, is slightly improved at the Sherbrooke Hospital today. Helen Blanchette, of New York City, daughter of J. A. Blanchette (M.P.—Compton) and Mrs. Blanchette, of Charlevoix, received a fractured spine. She is said to be improved by authorities at the hospital. Incidentally, Marcel and Helen Blanchette are not related. Bobby Locke Leads U.K. Open
St. Anne's on Sea, England, July 11.—(A.P.)—Big Bobby Locke of South Africa grabbed the lead today in the final round of the British Open golf championship, a tournament he has won twice before.

Locke took a two-stroke edge over Irishman Fred Daly at the end of the ninth hole of the final 18 on the rain-swept Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course.

They were well out front of the field of 46 still in the tournament. Locke, four strokes behind at the start of today's play, moved within a single stroke—214 to Daly's 213—after the first 18 holes of the final round.

Then he took the lead at the end of the first nine holes of the final 18, scoring a 34 to Daly's 37. Daly shot a dull 77 in the morning round.

profit on the blood of our fighting men. He is a religious man who will lead this great nation in a moral awakening."

Senator Everett Dirksen of Illinois presented Taft as a "defender of the Republican faith, a leader seasoned and ripened, a man of courage, a fighter, a great American."

"I can name no man less beset by fear, who would with confidence and determination face up to Stalin or any other dark prince of evil in the world," Dirksen declared.

The Taft demonstration rolled along for a slap-happy 43 minutes. While the delegates were shouting themselves hoarse, leaders began paying some attention for the first time to the selection of a Vice-Presidential candidate. That nomination will come after the Presidential candidate has been chosen.

Top leaders for both Eisenhower and Taft continued to deny that they had made any decision. It was obvious, however, that the big 70-vote California delegation behind Warren was the object of the affections of all the other candidates.

Warren or Senator Richard Nixon undoubtedly would be welcomed to either an Eisenhower or Taft ticket on the assumption that California's votes might be decisive.

"What Stalin wants," he said, "is Republican reactionaries in power."

In another development, Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, predicted that the Democrats will nominate Harriman or Governor Alben W. Barkley of Missouri. He said, however, that he will be "one of the millions of Democrats" voting for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in November if the General gets the Republican nomination.

Pittsburgh, July 11.—(A.P.)—Top-level secret negotiations in the United States steel strike are under way today in this steel capital.

After their first meeting yesterday, spokesmen for both industry and United Steelworkers (I.O.) were tight-lipped. A union source said a second meeting would be held at an unspecified time and place today.

There is every indication that most of the issues of the strike, now in its 40th day, were discussed at least generally at the first session.

Ostensibly the meeting was called to talk over the industry's request to get iron-ore production moving again. But a union spokesman, when asked if other issues were taken up, smiled, "You may assume that."

all opposition, and Benoit Turmel, local attorney, an unscheduled speaker called upon at the last minute, supported this statement by referring to the situation existing among the labor classes today, when the Premier even governs the decisions of the Magistrates in arbitration cases, brooking no opposition to his wishes. A vote for the Lapalme government, he said, will see the erection of a permanent tribunal of justice, the introduction of margarine into the province and many other items of social justice denied the people to be by a man who allows no opinions and no decisions but his own in the government of the province.

On the platform with the speakers was B. C. Howard, of Sherbrooke.

Lady Alexander Questions Quotes
London, July 11.—(A.P.)—Countess Alexander said today she honestly can't recall ever telling a reporter she thinks Canadians tend to bow the knee to the very wealthy.

"I don't think that and I wouldn't say that," the wife of Britain's defence minister said in a telephone interview from her home near Woking, Surrey.

Lady Alexander was commenting on a women's page feature story published Thursday in the News Chronicle. The story dealt principally with the Alexander children, Rose, Shane and Brian. At the end, News Chronicle reporter Martha Blount asked Lady Alexander how "English accents and great names" go down in Canada.

Lady Alexander's reply was quoted by the News Chronicle at follow-

Expert Woman Angler Misses Good Streams
Halifax, N.S.—Mrs. Florence Whitaker, Nova Scotia's female Izak Walton, is spending the angling season in bed this year, an unwilling patient in hospital here.

While recovering from an operation, she can only dream of the bubbling streams and placid lakes where she fished along with the best of them during the last 30 years. It will be some months before she can hike again over the rugged terrain near her home at Sherbrooke for the fish she hopes will still be there.

It was more than 30 years ago that her grandfather, himself an avid fisherman, first interested her in the spot. Since then she has fished all the rivers in mainland Nova Scotia, mostly for salmon.

Her first honor was a silver award from the Halifax county fish and game association for catching the largest Atlantic salmon—a 22-inch beauty. She was one of that association's first female members and later became the first woman member of the St. Mary's fish and game association.

Then she became a registered guide—"so that I could take part in their competitions, was the real reason," she says. In her first year at the Nova Scotia guides association meet, 1938, she made a cast of more than 98 feet with a salmon rod.

IN MEMORIAM
SMITH—In loving memory of a dear wife, Winifred Smith, who passed away July 11th, 1951. She suffered on earth, she will suffer no more.

In the loved land of the blessed Pain fled as she trod heaven's bright shore,
It left her at peace and rest. Always remembered by FRANK SMITH, Husband.

SMITH—In loving memory of a dear mother and grandmother, Winifred Smith, who passed away July 11th, 1951. With tears we saw you sinking,
And watched you fade away,
We tended you with loving care,
But could not make you stay,
We lingered by your bedside,
As lonely hours passed,
And how our hearts were broken,
When we saw you breathe your last.
Always remembered by ROY, ROBERTA AND KENNETH,
Son, Daughter-in-Law and Grandson.
ERIC AND LEONA,
Son and Daughter-in-Law.
RUTH, POLY, VICTOR, KETH

SEARCH FOR MORE KNOW-LEDGE OF HORMONES IS LIVELY FIELD

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Patients frequently misunderstand what the doctor tells them and perhaps that is the reason for the following question from a correspondent: "Can you explain why a physician would say, 'A hormone injection would cure this infection, but I hate to give it?'"

No, I cannot explain this statement unless it refers to cortisone or ACTH, which are sometimes used to combat certain kinds of infections.

However, the question does raise the subject of hormones, what they are and what they can do.

First, what is a hormone? It is a chemical substance which is produced in some organ or gland inside the body. Hormones are emptied directly into the blood stream and carried to other parts of the body, where they produce definite effects.

Some of the better known glands which produce hormones are the thyroid, the pancreas and adrenal glands in the abdomen, the pituitary in the head, and the sex glands. The exact chemical nature of the hormones secreted by several of these glands is known and several can be prepared by chemical means.

The hormone of the thyroid has been available in crude form as thyroid extract for many years.
Although the pure chemical has also been discovered, the crude extract is still generally used. The principal hormone of the pancreas is called insulin. When the secretion of this hormone is absent or insufficient, a person has diabetes.

There are several sex hormones.
The ovaries produce internal secretions which are necessary for the proper functioning of the female sex organs. Several of them, including some which can be made chemically, are used in human beings. They must be given with care. Not so much is known of the action of the male sex hormone.

Hormones Combat Disease

The adrenal gland which lies next to the kidneys contains several hormones. The hormone obtained from the adrenal cortex is of value in Addison's disease, which results from insufficient secretion of this part of the gland.

Another hormone from the adrenal medulla is called epinephrine or adrenalin. This is useful to shrink the mucous membranes in colds and sinus trouble and to contract blood vessels and to slow up bleeding. Cortisone (now prepared chemically) is another.

Research on hormones is, in fact, one of the most lively fields of medicine today.

Ayer's Cliff Bride-Elect Given "Shower"

Ayer's Cliff, July 11 — Miss Geraldine Belknap, a bride of the week, was feted, when Mrs. R. G. McHarg, Mrs. G. Gill, Mrs. N. C. Whitcomb, Mrs. Sidney Baldwin, and Mrs. F. Wyman, were joint hostesses at the McHarg home, at a charmingly arranged miscellaneous shower which was largely attended by neighbours and friends.

The rooms were attractive with peonies, lupins and other seasonal flowers. A large basket carried by Lorna Belknap, sister of the bride-elect, and Margaret McHarg, who was indeed a pretty sight when filled with daintily wrapped packages, which proved to be lovely useful gifts for the home each with expressions of good wishes.

Miss Belknap, after unwrapping the gifts, expressed her sincere thanks.

Mrs. H. N. Pierce gave the advice of the kitchen utensils, and carried on a puzzle of the flower names, and Mrs. McHarg gave readings of advice for husbands and wives.

Delicious refreshments were served and a very happy hour was spent. Before departing for their various homes, each extended their personal wishes to Miss Belknap for years of health and happiness.

Robert Bedard Advances In Quebec Net Tourney To Semi-Finals; Stages Rally To Win 4 1/2-Hour Marathon Tilt

Quebec, July 11.—(CP)—Robert Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., seeded fifth in the Eastern Canada Tennis Championships, yesterday qualified to meet Harold Burrows, Charlottesville, Va., in semi-finals by disposing of Quebecer Jacques Giguere in a marathon match.

Twenty-year-old Bedard handled everything the older, fourth-seeded Giguere threw at him in 5-7, 6-2, 6-3, 4-6, 6-2 in 4 1/2 hours.

This was the first time Bedard, who changes to hockey in the winter, reached semi-finals in senior play. He went as far as quarter-finals last week in Montreal at the Provincial Tennis Championships.

In the doubles the young Sherbrooke player teamed up with Jack Spencer of Montreal to defeat Jean Dussault and P. Vallancourt, both of Montreal, 6-2, 7-5, 6-3. In the mixed doubles with Pierrette Edmond, the Sherbrooke pair won their quarter-final match by default from Jacques Giguere and Monique Gilbert of Quebec.

Lorne Main of Vancouver and Montreal played his best game this season to defeat Don Platt of Toronto in straight sets 6-1, 6-0, 6-2.

In semi-finals today, Main faces Jack Spencer of Montreal, who checked up a win against Jim Bentley of Toronto, the youngster who yesterday upset the veteran Canadian Davis Cupper, Henri Rochon of Montreal.

Spencer, relying on experience, defeated his 20-year-old opponent 3-6, 6-2, 6-2, 6-4.

Genial Club Artist From Knowlton Files Entry To Head Classy Field; 177 To Compete For Golfing Crown

One hundred and seventy-seven entries have been received for the 4th Annual Eastern Townships Open Golf Tournament which opens at the Sherbrooke Country Club tomorrow and ends Sunday evening, stated Len O'Donnell, general chairman of the Tournament Committee, last night.

It is expected that well over two hundred will compete in the annual event as post entries are still rolling in and no doubt by tomorrow afternoon a considerable number will be received. The committee has left some open time on the agenda for tomorrow afternoon and Sunday morning in order to accommodate the late comers.

In the professional ranks Len Harmon, the congenial pro from Knowlton, who copped the Country Shield last year has filed his entry and will play Sunday afternoon. Gerry Proulx, the hard-hitting French Canadian club swinger from Montreal, who holds the course record established in the tourney in 1950 will also be on hand.

Several of the top pros will be on hand to battle it out for $740 in cash prizes. The low amateur of the field will win the Sherbrooke Daily Record trophy while the player with the low net will claim the Bradings trophy.

Class "A" will have the strongest entry with 22 while in "B" section 29 have entered and 35 will battle it out in class "C" for the different net and gross prizes. There will be four gross and net prizes in all three classes as well as several special ones.

The general public is invited to attend and follow the players around if they wish but the lady fans are reminded that they must wear low heels in order not to damage the course members of the Quebec Willington golf team, Don Doe, Joe Leblanc, of Whitlock, and Roland Brault, who is now the professional at St. Hyacinthe Golf Club, will play on Sunday afternoon.

Several American pros have also entered the competition, Dan O'Connell, Champlain Country Club, St. Albans, Vt., Mac Henderson, St. Johnsbury, Vt., Phil Martinet, Maple Golf Club, Bethlehem, N.H., Larry Ostrand, Bethlehem Golf and Country Club, Bethlehem, N.H., will head the invaders from across the border.

The draw follows and players are asked to be on time.

Als Sign Frank Nagle Former College Star

Montreal, July 11.—(CP)—Montreal Alouettes came up with an ace pass-thrower for their Big Four football team with announcement today that Frank Nagle, former star quarterback with University of Nebraska, has been signed.

In his senior year at Nebraska, he has been signed.

In his senior year at Nebraska two seasons ago, Nagle enabled his team to compile one of its best records in history. He completed 46 of 95 passes attempted, netting 706 yards and nine touchdowns. He started with his pass-throwing in the East-West All Star game at San Francisco and in the senior Bowl Game at Mobile, Ala.

Nagle is the second top-notch quarterback signed by Alouettes, who recently announced signing of Sam Etcheverry, of University of Denver.

Ottawa Nip Gearding From Pittsburgh Club

Ottawa, July 11.—(CP)—Ottawa Rough Riders, 1951 Dominion football champions, have signed Jack Gearding (Hammer) Gearding, 250-pound middle wing of Pittsburgh Steelers. Manager Jim McCaffrey announced yesterday.

Pittsburgh reports have said that the Steelers also have signed Gearding, but McCaffrey said Riders signed him first.

Riders expect the big middle to turn up for training later this month.

Norwalk, Conn.—Arthur King, 129, Toronto, outpointed Armando Llanes, 136, Bogota, 10.

37 Break Par In St. Paul Open As 22 Match It As Pros Battle For Rich Purse; Besselink Shoots 64

St. Paul, Minn., July 11.—(CP)—A golfer could tee off for the second 18-hole round in the St. Paul Open Golf Tournament today with a neat par 72 under his belt and find himself at least 38 places back in the field.

That's how hot the scoring was yesterday in the starting 18 holes of the $15,000 tourney at Keller Golf course. Twenty-two players matched par—but 37 others did better.

Heading the pack with near-record 64 was Al Besselink, Escondido, Calif., pro in his third season, and Henry Ransom, St. Andrews, Ill., who has been in the business 21 years.

The sub-par scores were achieved despite rainy weather before the tourney, which softened fairways and produced luxuriant rough. The traveling pros made low scores by avoiding the rough and by hot putting. Besselink in particular was happy about his putting.

"Jack Burke get the credit and Sam Slead, Masters' winner, and Buddy Vear, St. Louis, Mo., an infrequent tourney entry, come next with 66s.

In the 68 bracket were Dutch Harrison, Ardmore, Okla., Fred Hawkins, El Paso, Texas, PGA Jim Turnesa, Briarcliff, N.Y., Lawson Little, Pebble Beach, Calif., and Robert De Vincenzo, Buenos Aires. Among those grouped with Mangrum at 70 were Ellsworth Vines, Los Angeles, and Freddie Haas, New Orleans.

Included in the 72 class were such well known golfers as Jim Ferrier, St. Francis, and Ted Rhodes, Chicago, Jimmy Thompson, Long Beach, Calif., Dick Metz, Maple City, Kan., Skee Riegel, Tulsa, Okla., and Smiley Quick, Los Angeles.

At the end of today's 18-hole round the field will be cut to the low 60 and ties, plus Minnesota pros. The schedule calls for another 18 Saturday and the final round on Sunday.

Olympic Track Team Continues Workouts

Helsinki, July 11.—(CP)—Canada's Olympic track and field team yesterday continued its workouts and four members of the squad were reported sidelined with injuries. However, they are not serious enough to cause any worries.

In addition Ferd Hayward, 41-year-old long distance walker from St. John's, Nfld., was unable to practice properly because of the heat that has been in the 80s.

"I'm not used to this weather," he said. "The hot sun and heat is almost unbearable. We don't get this kind of weather in Newfoundland. I only hope it isn't hot during the games."

He has been working out only briefly in the daytime, concentrating mainly in the cooler weather in the evening. He said he will enter only the 50-kilometre event, because there are only three days between each event.

Jim Lavery of Calgary a graduate from Drake University in the United States this year, complained of sort muscles in his right leg. The 400 metres runner took a Finnish bath and hopes he will be better today.

Timmy O'Halloran of Toronto, Shirley Eckel of Toronto and Dawn Josephs of Victoria also passed up the practice session to favor sore leg muscles.

Winnipeg Man Ready To Ship Shells To Squad

Winnipeg, July 11.—(CP)—Mark Smerchanski, Winnipeg business man, is trying to charter a plane to fly racing shells from Toronto to Canadian oarsmen at the Helsinki Olympic Games.

Smerchanski, part owner and manager of Riverion Airways, called an Edmonton airline early today to get a plane large enough to carry the shells. He estimated the cost at $10,000, half an earlier estimate. He did not say how the money would be raised.

Shells to be used at the Games by Canada's team were badly damaged in the Atlantic crossing. Team members cannot use European shells because they stroke from starboard while Europeans stroke from port.

Sidney Dawes To Resign As Head Of Canadian Olympic Association; Jack Burney Affair Plays Big Part

Helsinki, July 11.—(CP)—A. Sidney Dawes of Montreal will resign as president of the Canadian Olympic Association because of the pressure of business after the Olympic Games starting here July 19, it was learned authoritatively last night.

It is known he has offered to quit at least twice this year but his resignation was not accepted.

The persons most mentioned to succeed him are Jack Davies of Montreal, a director of the C.O.A., Ken Farmer of Ottawa, C.O.A. secretary, and Jim Worrall of Toronto, C.O.A. vice-president and president of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada.

Dawes, who has been criticized frequently over the selection of this year's team, will probably quit after the Helsinki Games although he will remain Canada's representative on the International Olympic Committee.

Dawes has been criticized often in the past for his handling of Canada's Olympic matters. The criticism reached a high point after the track and field trials at Hamilton nearly two weeks ago when two girls who had beaten Olympic standards set by the C.O.A. were left off the team.

It swelled up again this week after Jack Burney of Vancouver, a 400-metre hurdler stationed with the United States Army in Germany, came to Helsinki at his own expense and earned that he was not on the track squad.

Burney was under the impression he was on the team since he had received a letter from Bob Osborne of Vancouver, past president of the A.A.U.C., saying that the C.O.A. had given "what might be called temporary approval for your inclusion on the team."

Burney, who had been working out in Germany for the last six months, reported to Osborne that his times for the 400-metre hurdles were better than the standard set for the Olympic Trials at Hamilton.

Dawes said in Montreal this week that there was no question of placing Burney on the team since he had not competed in the Hamilton trials.

Burney yesterday left by plane for Copenhagen and said he hopes to catch a ride on another plane for the remainder of the journey back to Frankfurt, Germany.

Various Canadian team members still are angry about the treatment given him, saying the officials could have relaxed the regulations because he is in the Army.

Despite the criticism directed at him for his stand in the cases of Mary Lawrence of Toronto and Jo Brennan of Hamilton, Dawes also rejected pleas that he reverse the decision of the Olympic Track and Field Selection Committee and place the girls on the team.

Miss Lawrence beat the standard set for the shot put and broke a decades-old Canadian record when she competed at Hamilton. Miss Brennan beat the standard for the discus and also shattered an old Canadian record for the event.

C.O.A. officials said they had been passed up for the team because they would be outclassed in international competition and would not likely be able to come sixth—the last point-winning position—in the Olympic Games.

St. Pat's Take Over First Place With Win Over St. Joseph's 7-3; Two Games Slated This Week-End

Pat Timmons' St. Pat's baseball squad last night downed the St. Joseph's nine, 7-3, in a scheduled game of the Independent Baseball League. By virtue of their win, the Irish moved into first place by one-half game over the runner-up Lennoxville aggregation. The game was played at Sangster Park and was called because of darkness at the end of five innings of play.

The contest was nip-and-tuck until the final inning. St. Pat's took a 2-0 lead in the bottom half of the first but St. Joseph's came back to tie the game at the top of the third. The Saints went ahead 3-2 in the first half of the fifth but St. Pat's came back strong with five runs in their half of the same inning.

Lineups:
St. Joseph's: Dupont—3b, Chapdelaine lf, Dube 2b, Laforest 1b, Gauthier ss, Pinard cf, Castonguay rf, C. Pinard c, Gerard p.

Quebec Retains Lead In Provincial Loop

The league-leading Quebec Braves held on to their slim lead in the Provincial Baseball League Thursday night despite a 2-1 setback at the hands of Drummondville Cubs.

In another game Three Rivers Yankees overpowered St. Johns Canadiens 10-3, making every hit count.

At Drummondville, the Braves took the lead with one run in the opening inning but Three Rivers tied it in the fourth and scored the winner in the sixth.

Bob Buchanan gave up five hits and was the losing pitcher, while Joe Bryja gave up three and was credited with the win.

At Three Rivers, the Yanks turned 10 safeties into as many runs, while the Canadiens could only squeeze out three runs from 11 hits.

Bill Betts and Gord Maltzberger went to the mound in that order for the Canadiens while Stan Wiers weathered all storms to go the distance for the winners.

ing yesterday as he shook out the kinks in a practice tour around Niakwa—but when he added his score in the clubhouse he had bettered par by two strokes—a 69.

Leonard, a four-time winner of the C.P.G.A., is shooting for his third straight.

The B.C. pro played yesterday with fellow Vancouverites Freddy Wood and Jock McKinnon and Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon.

Leonard went out in 34 and came home in 35 over the 35-36-71 layout. McKinnon had a 73, Wood a 74 and Fletcher a 75.

Edmonton's Henry Martell, who won the Canadian Amateur in 1946, took a par 71.

Speculation on the winning score has abounded for two days around the Niakwa clubhouse, located about 2 1/2 miles from downtown Winnipeg.

Some pundits claim the winning score will be near 207 with Leonard in the field.

Harold Eidsvig, Niakwa's pro and recent winner of the Manitoba Open Championship, thinks 112 will take the cup.

"If they get two 68s among the whole bunch it will be good shooting," he said.

Rival St. Louis Clubs Going In Opposite Directions Under New Managers; Cards Up, Browns Down

The rival St. Louis clubs, under new managers, are going in opposite directions.

The Cardinals, led by firebrand Eddie Stanky, are riding on the crest of a 10-game winning streak and are making rapid strides in their effort to overtake the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Giants.

The Browns, skippered by mild-mannered Marty Marion, their second manager of the campaign, are in the throes of a nine-game losing string that threatens to drop them into the American League cellar.

Gerry Staley became the first National Leaguer to register a dozen victories when he pitched the Cardinals to a 10-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies last night.

The victory, coupled with Chicago's 7-6 win over Brooklyn and Pittsburgh's 6-4 victory over New York, moved the Cards within eight games of the Dodgers and 3 1/2 behind the second-place Giants.

Chicago's hustling White Sox swept a two-night doubleheader from the Senators in Washington, 2-0 and 4-2, to cut New York Yankees' first place margin in the American League to 2 1/2 games.

The Yankees drubbed the Browns, 10-2, in Philadelphia, Athletics thrashed Cleveland, 11-1 as lefty semi-final encounter.

Par for the 6,555-yard Royal Quebec course is 39 out and 38 in.

Mrs. Whitelaw and Miss Beer tied for first place Monday in the 18-hole qualifying round with 83.

Mrs. Dagenais was third with 80, followed by Miss Chisholm with 84 and Mrs. Pyke with 85.

Mrs. Pyke downed Mrs. Whitelaw 6 and 5 in the semi-final, getting a one-under-par 55 when the match ended on the 13th green.

She lost only the eighth hole at a time when she was already two up.

The Dagenais-Beer match was close near the end. Three down on the 15th, Miss Beer won the 16th and 17th, but lost the last when she missed her putt.

In the consolation play, Mrs. W. H. Smith of Ottawa Rivermead met Mrs. G. R. Paterson, Royal Quebec, in an 18-hole final.

Hetki Proving Browns Made Mistake Shipping Him To Maple Leafs

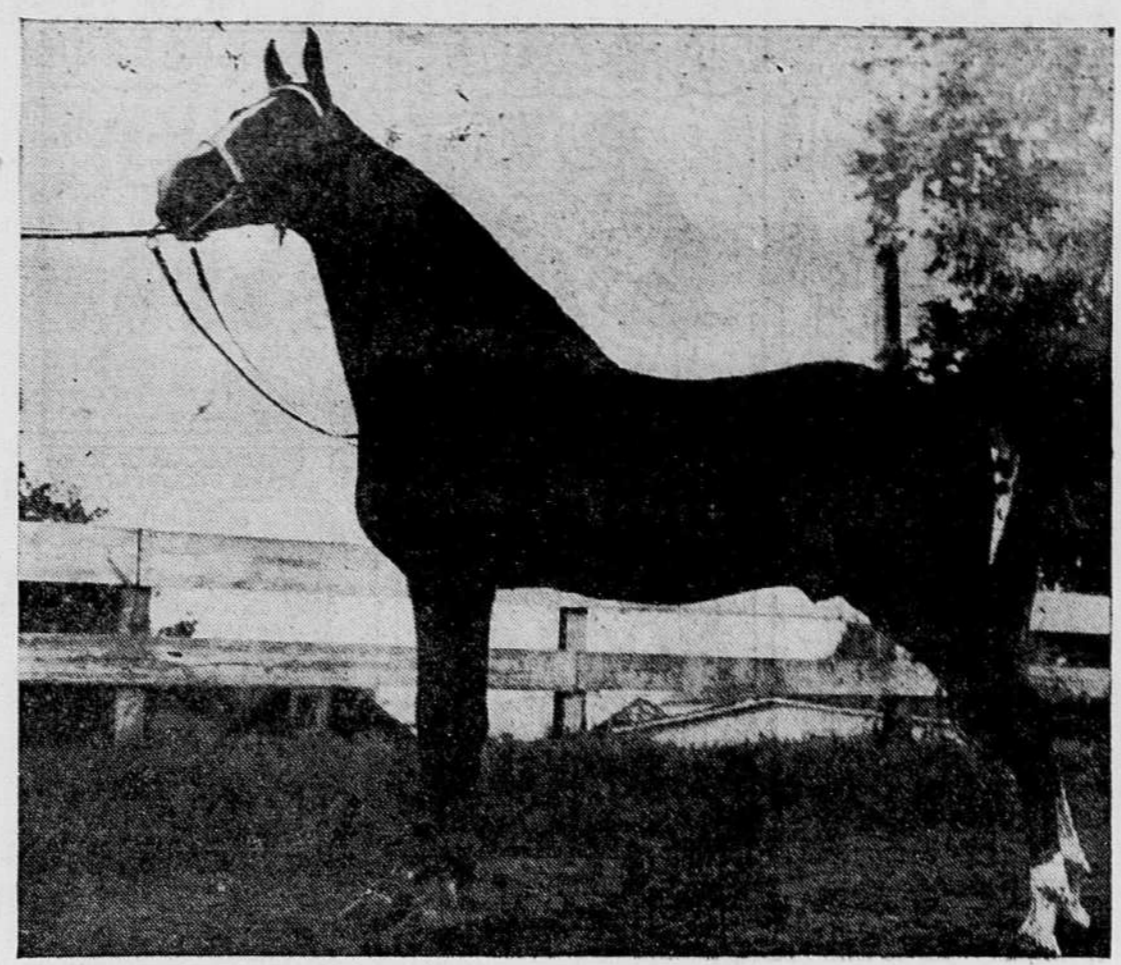

Johnny Hetki is proving St. Louis Browns made a mistake when they sold him back to Toronto Maple Leafs shortly after the 1952 season opened.

Hetki was the International League's top winner in 1951 with 19 victories. This earned him a promotion to St. Louis but after a few appearances he was shipped back to the Leafs and once again he threatens, despite his late start to lead the loop.

The veteran righthander turned in his victory of the season compared to one defeat last night, shading Syracuse Chiefs, 3-2, in 11 innings before the League's largest crowd of the season, 20,218 fans.

Hetki won his own ball game, blasting a homer run with none out in the 11th off Bob Keegan, a 12-game winner. Fenton Mole accounted for both Syracuse runs with a homer in the eighth. The triumph moved the Leafs within a half-game of the third-place Chiefs.

Rochester Red Wings trounced Buffalo Bisons, 9-3, to edge within in 1 1/2 games of the pace-setting

US Hockey Loop Holds Meeting; May Operate

Omaha, Neb., July 11. — (AP) — The United States Hockey League, in cold storage for a year, held its annual meeting here yesterday and talked over prospects for becoming a playing league again.

Harry A. Fowler of Omaha, who was re-elected president and secretary-treasurer, reported nothing was decided but said the group will meet again later in the month.

Represented at yesterday's meeting were Denver, Kansas City, Tulsa and Omaha from the League which gave up active operation after 1950-51 season. Also represented was Wichita which wants to field a team if play is resumed.

Fowler said neither St. Paul nor Milwaukee, who had been in the active league, would be members of a revived U.S. Hockey League.

Bob Provost Hurls No-Hit, No-Run Tilt

South Porcupine, Ont., July 11. — (CP) — A 19-year-old left-hander from Chatham last night hurled the first perfect game in the Timiskaming Baseball League.

Bob Provost tossed the perfect no-hit, no-run game as Porcupine Combines defeated South Porcupine Quills 3-0. Not a man reached first base.

Vince Caron, another Chatham boy, provided the winning run with a homer in the fourth inning. The Combines scored two more runs in the fifth inning.

Australia's Women Stars Stage Mutiny

London, July 11. — (AP) — Australia's nine women Olympic stars staged a "mutiny" yesterday before they went to Buckingham Palace to meet the Queen.

They refused to wear the official white leather hats issued them.

"They made us look like porkey 12-year-olds on a school treat," complained one of the athletes. "We crumpled up the hats, trampled on them and threw them in a waste basket."

Pete Reiser May Be Placed On Retired List

Philadelphia, July 11. — (AP) — Outfielder Pete Reiser, former National League batting champion, has been given an indefinite leave from Cleveland Indians to recuperate from a shoulder injury and stomach ailment, Tribe Manager Al Lopez said last night.

Reiser, 31, has been at his home in St. Louis since the beginning of the week, Lopez said, and may be placed on the retired list.

Pirates Ship Kline To Charleston For Hogue

Pittsburgh, July 11. — (AP) — Pittsburgh Pirates optioned rookie pitcher Ronnie Kline to Charleston in the Class-A Sally League yesterday and brought up righthander Calvin Hogue.

Hogue, 24, won nine and lost three for Charleston.

N.H.L. All-Star Game To Be Played Oct. 5

Montreal, July 11. — (CP) — The National Hockey League announced yesterday its annual All Star game will be played in Detroit, Sunday, Oct. 5th.

The teams, selected last spring by National Hockey writers and broadcasters, will be coached by Tommy Ivan, of Detroit Red Wings, and Dick Irwin, of Montreal Canadiens. The first team will be augmented by players selected from the four United States League clubs, the second by players from Montreal and Toronto.

Last year's game, played in Toronto, was tied 2-2.

Fred Daly, Belfast, Appears Well On Way To Cop British Open Golf Crown; Holds Four-Stroke Lead

St. Anne's-on-Sea, England, July 11. — (CP) — Fred Daly, jaunty Irishman from Belfast, appeared headed for his second British Open Golf title last night with a 36-hole score of 136 after the first two rounds of the 1952 championship.

By carding 69 to follow his record 67 Wednesday over the 6,647-yard Royal Lytham and St. Anne's course, Daly put himself four strokes ahead of his nearest rival, South Africa's Bobby Locke.

Barving a surprise blowup over today's 36-hole test, Daly should win the championship he last took in 1947.

Four of the five Americans who survived the two qualifying rounds are among the 46 players with scores of 151 or better — but no one concedes them more than an outside chance.

Only 60-year-old Willie Hunter in a North Atlantic storm. If they are successful the boats will be shipped here and will be ready for training tonight.

Meanwhile Canadian doubles, fours and eight-oared crews were out for rugged workouts yesterday in rented boats from a Finnish club. The Finns use a different seating arrangement, which handicapped the Canadians.

At Toronto Olympic rowing officials awaited the report of the Stockholm delegation before making a final decision on the shipment of new racing shells.

Locke, who turned in a 69 for third after the first round, had a scrambling 71 to bring his total for the two rounds to 140 and second place.

A stroke behind him and in third place was Peter Thomson, the 22-year-old Australian champion, with a 68-73-141.

Defending champion Max Faulkner struggled against the winds for 72-76-148.

DO YOU KNOW WHAT DUPLESSIS HAS REALLY GIVEN HIS PROVINCE?

YOU WILL WHEN YOU READ AND COMPARE THE FOLLOWING...

Automobile Insurance Costs 123% MORE in Quebec than in Ontario

Duplessis and his "yes men" are chanting that we should "Let Duplessis finish his work". Sherbrooke, Eastern Townships and Quebec motorists should compare these official insurance cost figures. What conclusion do you come to? Duplessis has done enough work in this province! Duplessis' Union National regime has been more interested in lining the pockets of those favored by their government than they have been in making our highways safe. Duplessis', Bourque's and French's provincial police were more interested in maliciously beating up Asbestos strikers than in enforcing traffic and temperance regulations, with the result that motorists take their lives in their hands when they travel on our main highways, and, because of the negligence of the government in this respect, automobile insurance rates have risen considerably. Here are the figures!

IN ONTARIO		IN QUEBEC
THE COST OF INSURING A 1952 DELUXE FORD IS:

(Published by the Liberal Organization of the Eastern Townships)

“IF YOU BORROW A THING AND KEEP IT PERMANENTLY, IT IS NOT BORROWING, IT IS STEALING AND THE RIGHT OF TAXATION IS BEING STOLEN FROM THE PROVINCES.”

— HON. JACOB NICOL
JUNE 26, 1952

A Liberal senator and a former Quebec provincial treasurer for many years, Hon. Jacob Nicol expressed his opinion clearly and precisely on the treatment handed out to the provinces by the central government. His opinion, given in a recent senate debate, was another blow struck at the Liberal centralizers and supported DUPLESSIS' attitude on the issue of fiscal rights.

DUPLESSIS

Senate Debates, Page 527,
June 26, 1952.

Hon. Mr. Nicol: There was no agreement under the British North America Act to do what it is now proposed to do. The power that the federal government is using to collect the money is borrowed. When you borrow a thing you generally return it. It was borrowed first by Borden, then by King, and it has never been returned. If you borrow a thing and keep it permanently it is not borrowing, it is stealing; and the right of taxation is being stolen from the provinces.

WILL CONTINUE THE FIGHT FOR RETURN OF PROVINCIAL RIGHTS

"We must have revenue necessary to enable us to discharge the obligations that the constitution imposes and to exercise the rights conferred on us . . . at present the Province of Quebec receives only 13% while Ottawa draws 77% of every tax dollar paid in this province . . . it's not right!"

(Duplessis, June 15, 1952)
