World News In Brief

Lurs, France, Aug. 7.—(Reuters)—Police early today released two suspects after grilling them for hours on the triple killing of Sir Jack Drummond, British food scientist, and his wife and young daughter Tuesday.

The men, a tramp and an Italian farm laborer, both had iron-cast alibis. The mystery surrounding the brutal roadside shooting deepened with the disclosure that nothing was stolen. Police now are working on the theory that the killing might have been the act of a maniac.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—An explosion of a jet plane aboard the United States carrier Boxer in Korean waters killed eight men and injured an unannounced number of others, the navy reported today.

Twelve jet planes were destroyed by raging fires that followed the explosion. Helicopters and lifeboats picked up 63 crew members driven overboard by the flames.

Tokyo, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Japan's top crime investigator says there are signs that the communist underground movement is seeking to overthrow the government.

Itaru Seki, director of the public security investigation agency of the attorney-general's office, said his agents have seized many Red documents calling for revolution in Japan. "But," he added in an interview, "it is very difficult to get evidence that is good in court."

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Drought-cracking rains splashed down today on New England and parts of the southern United States—too late to save nearly $1,000,000,000 worth of burned-out crops and pastures. But the moisture was a lifesaver for corn, tobacco, cotton and vegetable crops still surviving in these drought-stricken areas, and gave promise of reviving some pastures by fall.

Athletes Report Not Substantiated

Stockholm, Sweden, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Stockholm newspaper Dagens Nyheter today dropped its earlier report that nine Hungarian Olympic athletes had refused to return to their communist homeland. Neither the paper nor Associated Press correspondents could substantiate the report in Helsinki.

The paper had carried the report in editions last night under a Helsinki deadline. Repeated checks in the Finnish capital could find no basis for the report and it was dropped from editions today.

The report had said that the nine sportsmen had taken refuge in western legations at Helsinki.

The report had claimed that the nine dropped out of sight one by one over the week-end.

Their disappearance was not discovered, it added, until Tuesday when Hungary's team leader called his squad together for a post-Olympic tour of Finland.

Canadian Rebukes Commies At Red Cross Convention

Toronto, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Communist delegates, rolling smoothly through the 18th international Red Cross conference, were rebuffed today by Canadian delegates who were joined to a halt yesterday.

The Soviet and communist delegations head on into John A. MacAulay, Canadian conference chairman, Mr. MacAulay of Winnipeg had earlier warned that he would curb any discussion "with political undertones" and in yesterday's sessions he came through with sharp rebukes for speakers who persisted in making political statements.

The first clash came when Dr. Su Ching Kuan, communist Chinese delegate, complained that a Chinese resolution dealing with germ warfare and alleged prisoner of war atrocities in Korea had been "unfairly voted out" in a meeting of the general commission. Mr. MacAulay interrupted to rule him out of order. He pointed out that a resolution dealing with germ warfare was on the agenda.

Social Credit Adds To Lead In Alberta

Edmonton, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A few seats are still in doubt, but a thumping majority in Tuesday's election has left the Social Credit party in as firm control of Alberta's government as ever.

With 11 seats still undecided, the Social Crediters, led by 43-year-old Premier E. C. Manning, have gained 45 seats of the 61-seat Legislature. They are leading in six more.

The standing late yesterday was:

Elected
SC	45
Lib.	2
CCF	1
PC	1
Ind-SC	1
Leading
SC	6
Lib.	3
CCF	1
PC	1
Total	61

In Edmonton, where there are four of the 11 seats, weary election workers late yesterday had reached their 15th count of ballots under the proportional representation system, and 12 of the original 29 candidates had been eliminated. Not counting three already elected, 14 other candidates were still in the running but only two were holding decisive leads. They were Social Crediters Dr. J. D. Ross and Conservative Percy Page. After them came three Social Credit candidates, followed by the Progressive Conservatives, after a 17-year absence from the Alberta Legislature, re-entered the scene with the election in Calgary of Paul Brecken. He was elected on the 22nd count.

Premier Manning's cabinet got through almost intact, with the exception of attorney-general Lucien Maynard, who was running in the St. Albert riding north of Edmonton.

A second count in St. Albert will be started today. Other second counts will be necessary in Redwater, Willingdon, Vegreville, and probably in Leduc. Winners were reported in the latter two constituencies on election night. Other rural ridings still to be decided are Grouard, Lac la Biche, Lac Ste. Anne and Spirit River.

The Social Crediters fared well in Calgary, which almost traditionally votes Conservative in federal contests. There the Manning forces won four of the six seats, with the others going to a Liberal and the Conservative, Mr. Brecken.

The Calgary Social Credit winners were Mrs. Rose Wilkinson, Fred Colborne and H. B. MacDonald, members of the last House, and Arthur Dixon. The successful Liberal was Hugh John Macdonald, also a member of the last House.

Frankfurt, Germany, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A United States air force bomber crashed into the Rhine river at Mainz today and the air force said it believed four to six men were aboard. German police reported two men parachuted from the plane and two others were taken from the wreckage "seriously burned."

Machine-Gun And Mortar Fire Is Not Returned.

Athens, Greece, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Greek troops opened fire this morning on Bulgarian soldiers on the Greek-claimed border island of Gamma in the Evros river, the Greek general staff announced.

A communique said the Greek fire — from machine-guns and mortars — was not returned.

The attack began at 8:30 A.M. (2:30 A.M. EDT). (An Istanbul dispatch said that a top Turkish official at Adrianople, Turkish border town 10 miles from Gamma, reported that the firing continued for about 1½ hours, stopping about 10 A.M.)

The attack came after Bulgarian troops had been noticed on the island during last night, the announcement said. Earlier last night the general staff had issued a communique saying no Bulgars had been seen on the island after expiration of an earlier Greek ultimatum demanding that all Bulgarian troops quit Gamma by 8 A.M. yesterday.

Today's announcement said the United Nations peace subcommittee was present when the Greek attacked, and that just prior to opening fire the Greeks warned the Bulgars by loud-speaker.

The island was the scene of a Bulgarian attack on a Greek patrol July 27. Three Greek soldiers were killed.

Middle East Project May Be Shelved

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The western powers and Turkey are considering shelving their long-stalled proposal for a Middle East defence organization, after a 17-year absence from the Alberta Legislature, re-entered the scene with the election in Calgary of Paul Brecken. He was elected on the 22nd count.

Political developments in Egypt are regarded here as holding the key. Many American officials hope the new Egyptian government, with an eye to modernizing the country's armed forces, may reverse previous opposition and at least participate in a planning group.

The defence organization would provide a political basis for military assistance by the United States and possibly other western powers to co-operating countries. It is understood that, because of antagonisms between Israel and the Arab countries, the Jewish state would not become a member, but would receive military assistance from the U.S. to maintain the balance of power between Arabs and Jews.

Britain is understood to favor going ahead as soon as possible with formation of the planning group, incorporating those countries that are willing to join and leaving out temporarily at least those which have cold-shouldered defence unification so far.

The U.S., on the other hand, asserted the view yesterday that any organization should have maximum membership in the Middle East.

The proposal for a Middle East pact was put forth by Britain, the U.S., France and Turkey in November, 1935. The idea was to establish a command structure in the Middle East roughly paralleling that set up by the North Atlantic treaty powers in Europe.

The project bogged down because of tensions created by Egypt's dispute with Britain over control of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan.

Tehran, Iran, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The Iranian house of representatives today passed a law "forgiving" the man who assassinated Prime Minister Ali Razmara.

Razmara fell with four bullets in his back in the courtyard of a mosque March 7, 1951. He had campaigned against the growing movement then to oust the British from the Iranian oil industry.

The assassin, Khalil Tahmasebi, was arrested and has been in jail ever since.

Today's bill, which now goes before the senate, would mean immediate release for him.

The house also elected religious leader Ayatullah Kashani speaker of the house. He received 47 votes against only 10 for his nearest rival.

Canadian Scot Loses His Kilt

Bangor, Me., Aug. 7.—(AP)—A Canadian Scotsman was victim, while visiting Bangor, of what he calls "a dastardly deed" — some body stole his kilt.

Canada-Japan Trade Pact Is Mooted

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—(CP)—Canada likely will try to work out a bilateral trade agreement with Japan as a half-way measure in dealing with persistent Japanese demands for lower tariff rates.

But it is questionable if Canada will show any great enthusiasm for Japan's admittance to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. Her application comes for discussion at the next G.A.T.T. meeting in Geneva Oct. 2.

If Japan is admitted, she will immediately fall heir to all the most-favored-nation treatment tariff reductions negotiated among the 34 member countries. Most-favored-nation tariffs are lower than the general tariffs which Canada now applies against Japanese goods.

The Canadian-Japanese trade agreement, if it is worked out, likely would include some tariff reductions but they would not be as extensive as those obtainable under G.A.T.T.

The trade pact would be a compromise and allow the Canadian government to ease out of a ticklish position in which she is facing fire from two sides: demands by Japan for better tariff treatment and strong opposition by Canadian manufacturers against reducing tariffs to Japanese exporters.

Normally, Canada might have ignored these Japanese demands. But she can no longer ignore the trend of international trade in which Japan is Canada's fourth largest world market.

Japan also has agreed to restrain from shipping strategic goods to communist countries, including Red China, thus assisting the western powers in their economic war.

4 More Russian-Made Jets Are Destroyed Over Korea

Seoul, Korea, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The United States Fifth Air Force said its Sabre jet pilots today shot down four Russian-made jets and damaged four in the fourth straight day of jet battles over North Korea.

On the ground, grenade-tossing South Korean infantrymen won back a central front height called Capitol hill three hours after they had lost it.

A U. S. Eighth Army briefing officer said it was the sixth time in two days that the high had changed hands.

Today's toll of communist jets boosted the Reds' losses to 15 Migs destroyed and 18 damaged in four days. U. S. losses, if any, will be announced later in a weekly summary.

Charging Chinese troops backed by heavy artillery fire seized Capitol hill about 5 A.M. after losing about 200 dead and wounded. But South Korean soldiers swept back up the rugged slopes.

The see-saw battles for Capitol hill were fought in sweltering heat. Wednesday was the hottest day of the year—106 degrees.

The Eighth Army briefing officer said another South Korean unit pushed back a Chinese platoon trying to grab an advance post to the southwest of Capitol's main knob in eight hours of hard fighting today.

Action was reported light on the eastern and western fronts.

Democratic Party Forces Are Uniting Solidly Behind Candidate Stevenson

Recount May Upset B.C. Vote Result

Vancouver, Aug. 7.—(AP)—A recount from British Columbia's June 12 election will be held "forthwith" in Vancouver-Burrard riding.

The recount was requested by the C.C.F. party which hopes, in this manner, to take a one-member edge in the Legislature over B.C.'s new Social Credit government.

A ruling granting the C.C.F.'s court-hopping application was made in Supreme Court yesterday by Mr. Justice J. V. Cline.

C.C.F. candidate Grant MacNeil lost by 246 votes in Vancouver-Burrard to Social Credit's Bert Price.

A C.C.F. victory there would reverse the present Social Credit-C.C.F. standing in the 48-seat Legislature, 19 Social Credit to 18 C.C.F.

But most political observers say a C.C.F. victory would not noticeably change the overall political picture in B.C.

They say that while the line-up then would be 19 C.C.F., 18 Social Credit, the Socials could count on the support of the seven Liberals and three Progressive Conservatives in any private enterprise-versus-socialism duel.

In an oral judgment, Mr. Justice Cline ruled that county court Judge J. A. McGeer erred in refusing a recount because of a technical error in the original C.C.F. application.

The original application incorrectly designated the riding as "Burrard" instead of "Vancouver-Burrard."

The C.C.F. then took their application to the Court of Appeals in Victoria but the court ruled it had no jurisdiction under the elections act to hear the case.

A short adjournment was called in yesterday's court case when it was learned a writ declaring Social Credit elected already had been forwarded to Victoria.

Egypt Transfers U.K. Ambassador

Cairo, Egypt, Aug. 7.—(Reuters)—Egypt's ambassador to Britain, Abdel Fattah Amr, has been recalled to Cairo for transfer to a post in Asia — possibly India — a foreign ministry official said today.

Diplomatic circles believed Amr will resign rather than accept the new post.

Amr is a personal friend of former King Farouk and is popular in Britain, where he has spent most of his life. He owns property there and may decide to stay.

He has survived several government changes in Egypt, including that which followed the Suez Canal zone incidents of last December. Observers predicted that Mahmoud Fawzi, Egypt's permanent delegate to the United Nations, will replace Amr.

Prime Minister Aly Maher held a series of emergency talks with Egyptian political leaders at Alexandria today. He met with Soliman Ghanam, assistant secretary-general of the Wafd party, who delivered to him an "important personal message" from the party leader, Mustafa Nahas.

Observers linked these meetings with the Prime Minister's frequent recent meetings with Gen. Mohammed Naguib, commander-in-chief of the armed forces, and British ambassador Sir Ralph Stevenson.

Political commentators interpreted the talks as foreshadowing far-reaching events on the Egyptian political scene by the week-end.

Tennessee today holds a state primary. A record turnout is expected to decide the fate of Democratic Senator K. D. McKellar, 83-year-old dean of the Senate who is seeking a seventh term, and Governor Gordon Browning, out for a third term. And Tennessee voters probably will determine what power Memphis political leader E. H. Crump still wields. Crump, whose grip on state politics was broken four years ago by Browning and Senator Estes Kefauver, is backing McKellar.

Returns still trickled in from Tuesday's primaries in Missouri, Michigan and Kansas, but they did not change earlier standings of major candidates.

Interest centred on the Missouri Democratic Senatorial race, won hands-down by W. Stuart Symington, who beat President Truman's choice for the nomination.

There were these other developments, at headquarters and elsewhere:

Stevenson sent out a call for party chiefs to gather in Springfield late next week to help him chart his campaign course.

Stevenson also accepted Truman's invitation to come to Washington and sit in on a cabinet session next Tuesday. Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, the vice-presidential nominee, was invited too.

Eisenhower's running mate, Senator Richard M. Nixon of California, is due in Denver tomorrow to confer with the General. He may set up his own headquarters nearby; and the Shreveport (La.) Journal, Democratic throughout its 57-year existence, came out editorially for Eisenhower.

Returns from 161 of 163 counting places gave Rhee 4,939,299 votes to 762,772 for Cho Bong Am, vice-chairman of the national assembly and former communist leader; 748,945 for Lee Shi Young, former vice-president, and 241,469 for Hugh Cynn, former ambassador to Japan.

Returns from 140 counting places gave Ham 2,158,529 votes. His closest opponents were Lee Bum Suk with 1,454,024 and Chough Pyung Ok with 505,255.

Until Rhee forced some constitutional changes in June, the president was elected by the one-house national assembly.

Rhee, known to the world as the founder of the Korean republic, spent 40 years in exile while Japan ruled Korea. He was elected first president of the republic in 1948.

New Zealand Will Have Lower Taxes

Wellington, N. Z., Aug. 7.—(Reuters)—New Zealanders will get tax concessions, more food subsidies and increased social services under the 1952-53 budget presented to Parliament today by Prime Minister Sidney Holland.

Social service benefits at $97,500,000 now amount to 46.3 per cent of total budget, the biggest item and nearly four times the amount to be spent on defence.

Holland had bad news for those getting social service pensions. Their Christmas bonus was cut by half to $5 for a single person and $10 for a married person.

Holland, in his address, said it was necessary to approach Britain, New Zealand's most important market, for increases in primary produce prices because of the upward trend of import costs. He said New Zealand did not want to have to continually press Britain for higher prices, "but sentiment and affection alone will not buy essential goods."

Total expenditure estimated for 1952-53 is $210,600,000, which includes $25,000,000 for defence, $13,000,000 for the development of industry and $15,900,000 for food subsidies.

A capital works program to continue hydro-electric development and land-settlement schemes envisages $56,594,000 expenditure.

Tax concessions, notably abolition of the two-penny stamp duty on receipts and reduction of the 10 per cent surcharge on income tax to five per cent, will save the public $5,000,000.

Holland said the government is the first to recognize "the harmful effect of a too-heavy burden of taxation, but its capacity to reduce it is dictated by the services people expect to receive from the state. People must realize that the welfare state is a costly business."

Reviewing trends in the budget, the Prime Minister said that 1952 wool receipts will probably be about half the $125,000,000 income received in 1951.

Additional income from accelerated deliveries toward the end of 1951 raised imports for the year to the record total of $201,000,000, with the result that the resources of many importers and their bankers had been stretched to the limit.

New Zealand's difficulties in restoring equilibrium and maintaining her overseas reserves at a safe level were increased as a result of the sterling crisis.

"Our overseas reserves are no more than adequate to meet seasonal and other normal fluctuations in trade and, generally, we must live within our overseas income," Holland said.

Washington, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The agriculture department said today about 500,000 head of cattle are expected to come in the United States from Mexico in the first 12 months after Sept. 1, if the border reopens then as scheduled.

The border has been closed to Mexican cattle for about five years as a result of an outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease.

C.C.F. Criticizes Federal Agricultural Policies

Toronto, Aug. 7.—(AP)—The federal government's agricultural policy was criticized yesterday as the national convention of the C.C.F. adopted a long list of resolutions concerning agriculture.

"Failure of the government to implement an adequate price program for marketing of agricultural products has resulted in grave instability and insecurity," said one resolution adopted in the day and night sessions.

"Forward prices" on farm products, to assure the farmer of stable prices for his products, were advocated, and steps were urged to seek markets abroad.

It was urged that wheat sold by the Canadian wheat board on the domestic market "be not tied" to the international wheat agreement, but be based on a parity price with things the farmer has to buy. Various resolutions urged:

A federal livestock marketing board; addition of producer-membership to the Canadian wheat board; maintenance of the quota system of grain marketing; maintenance of the "car order book" for the 1952 and subsequent crop years in accordance with rights under the Canada grain act.

Another resolution called for "adequate compensation to farmers whose cattle may be destroyed as part of the government's program." It also asked for "price support and price control to prevent profiteering by processors, and the use of meat surpluses as part of economic aid to the United Kingdom, and other European countries."

An international wheat agreement with adequate prices, was favored, and continuation of the Canadian wheat board as the sole marketing agency for wheat.

Attention of the board of transport commissioners was called "to the congested conditions of grain elevators" with a request that "we do not want to experience a repetition of the bottleneck of last fall."

A parliamentary-committee inquiry was asked "into every aspect of the price of farm machinery."

A resolution, presented by the Ontario provincial council, would have urged "all possible steps to insure that the proposed pipeline to carry natural gas east from Alberta will not cross the United States border." This resolution, however, was referred to the national council for further study.

Hollywood—Exclusively Yours: Shelve those rumors about a big feud between Donald O'Connor and Gene Kelly over Donald's scissored scenes in "Singin' in the Rain." Donald, who isn't wailing in the California sun, told me: "How can I be angry at a guy for giving me the best break of my career?"

Now it can be told: Hollywood studios killed the pre-nuptial campaign razzle-dazzle for Eisenhower. Reason: Fear of incurring the displeasure of Gov. Earl Warren, who has been a good friend to the movie industry. But watch for the I-Like-Like ballyhoo, with the town's Hedsy and Lanas as pom-pom girls.

U-I's sexy, blonde Mari Blanchard is due for a Marilyn Monroe build-up. But she's also warming up as a threat to Shelley Winters—if Shelley gets difficult again. . . . Is MGM's "Lili" the true life story of Fran Allison and Burr Tilstrom of TV fame? . . . Hollywood lenses got the "No pictures, please" order from Hedy Lamarr when they tried to flash-bulb her with wealth. Howard Lee, Steve Crane, Lana Turner's ex, will be receiving his freedom within two months as the result of a civil divorce suit filed in France by Martine Carol.

Dye Vats Churn
It's type-changing time for Hollywood's glamor babes to put new zip into the box-office, and the dye vats are churning to the tune of "I'm gonna wash that color right out of my hair." . . . Yesterday's brunets are today's blondes and yesterday's blondest star of them all, classic-faced Vera Ralston, now has tresses of midnight blue.

But that's only part of Vera's transformation for Republic's "Fair Wind to Java." It's a sexy, half-caste role for the star with a wardrobe of sarongs, exotic jewelry, dark make-up, a slinky walk and the character name of "Kim-Kim." . . . "I'll never be a blonde again," says Vera, who is beaming: "People I've worked with for 10 years look at me and say, 'Gosh, you have blue eyes.' You know something—I was born with blue eyes."

Hattie MacDaniel, ailing for almost a year, is telling friends she expects to be up and about this fall and well enough to resume her radio role of "Beulah." No TV thought. The word is out that David Niven, Diana Lynn and Scott Brady, who head the cast of "The Moon Is Blue" at La Jolla, will also be the stars of the movie version. . . . Current gag: Warner Bros.' new slogan will be: "Combining good fires with good picture making."

JACOBY ON CANASTA

DECEPTION WILL HELP YOU WIN

Every week or so I get a letter from some outraged Canasta player. "Why don't you say something strong about trickiness and dishonesty?" these letters usually ask. "One of my opponents discarded four sevens in a row into a frozen pack."

"When a seven was then discarded to her, she had the nerve to produce a pair a sevens and pick up an enormous discard pile. I call that dishonesty." And so on, and so on.

It would be very easy for me to sigh "Ah, the ladies!" and let it go at that. But the truth is that a tricky play of this nature always stirs me to admiration and envy. The only strong words I could use would be words of strong praise.

I realize that some people are opposed to deception in any form whatever. They remind me of the classic (if ungrammatical) definition of a bore—a guy who, when you ask him how he is, he tells you.

It would bore me to play any game without ever making a deceptive move. I'd rather win any game by deception than by brute force—and so would every good player of every game that I have ever known.

Noted P.E.I. Editor Burnett Of Guardian Was Fearless Writer

Charlottetown. — James Robertson Burnett believed an editor should be read, not seen. He once said: "The less a man appears personally before his reading public the better for his influence." And he followed his own precept.

But when this dour, gracious Scot died on June 12, the province knew it had lost a personality. For half his lifetime of 81 years he had run the Guardian, Prince Edward Island's only morning newspaper. He had won the island's confidence and championed its causes. And, precepts apart, no one infused with his vigor, humor and originality could help emerging as a striking individual both on and off the printed page.

The note of individualism was sounded from the first. Recounting how he got into newspaper work in the first place in his native Aberdeen, he once declared: "My mother destined me for the Presbyterian ministry and my father for banking. I disappointed both by deciding on a newspaper career." He never regretted the choice. Now and then in his office at the Guardian—always overheated because he grew used to hot weather during years in British Guiana—he would reminisce:

How, as a cub reporter in Aberdeen, he had spotted a private car on a siding, boarded it and found "a stoutish gentleman in kilts, seated smoking a cigar," and scooped the opposition on a visit by the Prince of Wales (Edward VII). . . . Or how he had put a blunt question to Gen. William Booth. . . . a distiller had died and left $2,500.00 to the Salvation Army. Would Booth turn it down as tainted money? Young Burnett (himself an ardent teetotaler) went to ask the question. As he told it, the general straightened up to his full six feet, looked the reporter in the eye, and said: "Young man, when money reaches the Salvation Army it is no longer tainted, but sanctified to the uses to which it will be put."

He had one other Booth story. On that same night the general spoke to a giant meeting. He made Jones' new Cad in traffic. It's equipped with a fog horn, coach bell, diesel horn, .45 caliber pistol that fires blanks and a CO2 tank that gives him a simulated jet takeoff.

There have been no further reconciliation talks between Mona Freeman and Pat Nerney since she abruptly withdrew her divorce suit a few days ago. But there's a chance they'll try it again. Working in "The Murder" at RKO, Mona told me:

"Pat's going to Europe this summer. Time may solve our differences. I think we both believe our child is more important than a lousy divorce."

Paula Stone and Mike Sloan are still snubbing movie offers for their Broadway hit, "Top Banana." They may film the show independently when it reaches the west coast next summer. Phil Silvers has been set for the national company.

Jim Backus says his wife Henry is so extravagant she goes to drive-in theaters in taxicabs.

Mind you, there is a point at which deception really does become dishonest. You may play any card at all if the card itself is to do the job of deceiving your opponents. You must not help the card, however, by acting or by saying anything. In Canasta you are not supposed to say or do anything misleading, except by the cards that you play.

While we're on the subject of tricky plays, I can't resist relating one of my own favorite traps. It happened in the first hand of the last game of the match I played against Fry and Lightner a couple of years ago. Nobody melded for the first few rounds, and I then melded from my hand by putting down ace-ace-deuce.

After my discard, Fry promptly froze my pack. This was sound play, especially since his only hope was to pile up a really big score. Lightner, at my right, decided that I couldn't have an ace in my hand since I would have melded three aces instead of ace-ace-deuce. Hence he discarded an ace.

I then produced a pair of aces from my hand to take the discard pile. Incidentally, the opponents groaned, but they also laughed. Even a pair of experts can be fooled by a deceptive play, and the experts are sporting enough to enjoy it in a rueful sort of way.

a rousing appeal for converts and exhorted: "Let them stand up so I can see them." One after another rose until all the vast gathering was on its feet except the 15 newspaper men covering the meeting.

Ayer's Cliff, Aug. 7.—The ice cream social and band concert, sponsored by Beulah Evening Association was a decided success, when under the presidency of Mrs. Gordon Shipway their summer event was held on the church lawn, and the weather was ideal and the social was patronized by townspeople and summer visitors.

A double welcoming took place as Mrs. N. W. Lobb was present having returned from a two months' visit in England. All were delighted to have her here again.

Electrical Industry Is Said To Hold 2nd Place In Canadian Manufacturing

The electrical industry now holds second place in Canadian manufacturing in number of employees and in value added to materials by production. Ronald Mawhood, apparatus engineer at Canadian General Electric, told the Kiwanis Club yesterday.

In the course of his classification talk, Mr. Mawhood stated that latest Dominion Bureau of Statistics figures indicate that about 375 plants are in operation employing almost 60,000, with wages and salaries currently being paid at an annual rate of $160 million.

In 1950, goods of a gross value of over $500 million were produced.

"It is interesting to note that the industry was able to supply an increasing part of national requirements for all types of electrical equipment—only about 18 per cent of the total being imported in 1950, as compared with 27 per cent in the immediate post-war years. In the face of continuing international currency and tariff difficulties, the industry was able also to maintain an export trade of approximately $15 million in 1949."

Mr. Mawhood said that the principal emphasis within the electrical manufacturing industry at this time is in the apparatus field in the production of capital goods urgently needed by utilities and industry as a part of industrial progress.

In addition, he stated, about four per cent of the productive capacity of the industry is currently devoted to the production of material for the armed services. "On the other hand, the production of consumer goods, such as appliances and radios, has been cut back to about one-third of its 1951 level, under the severe rationing and tax restrictions imposed upon it and the growing uncertainty about material supply."

"An essential in our defence structure is an adequate supply of power. Electric utilities are, therefore, expanding their generating capacities at a rate of over one million horsepower a year. About 900,000 horsepower of hydro-electric power and 350,000 horsepower of steam-electric power were added in 1951, compared with 1,100,000 horsepower added in 1950. This brings the total Canadian-installed capacity to over 13½ million horsepower. Over three million horsepower currently on order and many other developments actively projected would indicate that the rate of increase will move upward during the coming months.

"It is anticipated that an important new source of power—natural gas—will be employed in power generation through the use of gas turbines. In the meantime, the need to continue the development of our rich water resources is more urgent than ever, as indicated by the sustained effort to clear the way for the St. Lawrence seaway and power project."

The speaker said that more intensive use of power is an important factor in the Canadian economy and that increased output and earning power in industry are almost entirely dependent upon greater mechanization and the use of more kilowatt hours per man hour.

"It has been estimated, for example, that a 1,000-horsepower motor, efficiently applied, provides the same physical effort as an army division of 10 or 12,000 men."

Mr. Mawhood was introduced by Ross Sturrock and thanked by Jean Caron.

President Les Memory announced that tickets are now available for the joint Sherbrooke-Newport Kiwanis charter anniversary to be held at Hillcrest Lodge, the evening of August 20.

One guest, Edmund Barnard, of Richmond, was introduced by Stanley Sharpe.

Seated at the head table were: Eric Sutherland, Jean Caron, Mr. Mawhood, President Memory, Ronald Jobel, Joseph Charlebois, and Ross Sturrock. A directors meeting followed.

Cold July Day And Low Rainfall Played Havoc With St Elie Crops

The unseasonable temperature of 33 degrees which the district experienced during July 30 has played havoc with crops of district farmer.

Reports dribbling in from St. Elie d'Orford show that damage has been exceedingly heavy in that region.

Among the farmers who have lost heavily that cold July day were John Roarke, Mrs. Gerard Dube, and Mrs. Wilfrid Beaucage.

Mrs. Beaucage says the crop in her vegetable garden is only one-eighth of what it should have been.

"Every farmer in the low-lying lake district near the flat lands lost everything that could be taken by frost. This includes tomatoes, beans, cucumbers, squash, pumpkins and even corn and oats."

"The corn is only about half the usual height and the grain is 'bleeding out' and ready to be reaped when normally it is not reaped until the end of August."

"The dry weather has kept the pastures very, very dry and the grass is short and turning brown. The price of canned goods this winter will be high and raspberries and blueberries are scarce. Very few of our apple trees have apples on them. The walls and brooks are going dry and forest fires are a continued hazard. Last week about 100 acres of wood was burned out."

Mrs. Beaucage reports that on the morning of July 30 the grass was still and covered with frost that could be chipped off with one's fingernails.

The 33-degrees to which the mercury plunged on July 30 was an all-time low record for a July day in these parts. The 1.38 inches of rain during July was also a low for the month in 38 years.

Coronary thrombosis is the plugging of a branch of one of the two arteries supplying blood to the heart and is the commonest cause of death from heart trouble in middle age and beyond.

Club Assembly Is Conducted At Boundary Rotary

Derby Line, Aug. 7. — President Rene Monty conducted a club assembly, discussing various ideas for future club activities, at the regular Monday noon meeting of the club, held at the Del Monty Hotel.

Earl Heath and E. J. Struthers are now members of the Board of Directors of the club, with Mr. Heath in charge of the International Service and Mr. Struthers in charge of the Community Service of the club. Herbert Rice, vice-president of the club, will be in charge of the various Club Service features, replacing Maurice Moore, who is the chairman of the coming Rotary Fair.

Plans for the fair, which will be held Sept. 18, 19 and 20 in the Rock Island Armory, are rapidly being completed and it looks as though it would be even better than ever, with special emphasis on lots of fine prizes.

Within the past couple of weeks three new members have been added to the club; Frank Finch, Maurice Gerrard and Ernest Sutton are now active members.

It was reported that in spite of a cool evening, about 125 participated in the cruise on the Anthe-mis last week and everyone enjoyed themselves. Special praise was given to the Newport Junior Band for their great help in entertaining the crowd.

Stanstead Fish And Game Club Holds Meeting

Rock Island, Aug. 7. — The Stanstead County fish and game club met on Tuesday evening, August 5, in St. Georges hall, Ayer's Cliff, with about 40 members present.

With the president, Mr. Charles Crawford, in the chair, the main items of business were planning the annual chicken shoot and restoring a pond where little people might fish.

The date of September 27 was set for the chicken shoot, and Mr. Crawford was named as chairman of arrangements. A place will be announced at a later date, but it is expected it will be held in this district as last year it was held in the Coaticook region. The plans include not only the shoot but games and entertainment for all the family.

It was voted that Abbott's Pond, at Ruiter's Corner, be restored by repairing the dam, then to be stocked with fish. Only girls and boys up to the age of twelve years of age will be allowed to fish in this pond. The plan is to have the youngsters at the pond one day a week, where they will be supervised and taught the rules and laws of fishing and good sportsmanship.

A friend from Rock Island is donating wire screen to protect the fish in the pond from going into the outlet. This project has been in mind for some time and everyone seemed most anxious to have it started and completed.

Discussion was held regarding stocking East Branch pond with muskies and a letter is to be written to Dr. Provost for an appointment to receive guidance on the advisability of stocking. A Deputy Warden has been appointed for the East Branch area.

Discussion was also given about the building of a dam on the International waters at Wallace Pond, but nothing definite was decided upon. Mr. Louis Roberge, M.P. spoke, basing his address on the achievements of the club in the past few years, which was most interesting.

TODAY and TOMORROW

The regular meeting of Francis Valley Lodge I.O.B.A. will be held Thursday evening at 8 p.m. in the I.O.O.F. Hall.

Windsor Street Blaze Burns Two Tenements

A fire on Windsor street early yesterday afternoon destroyed a large quantity of furniture and badly burned the interior of two adjoining tenements located at 16 and 18 Windsor.

The fire apparently started at No. 18 in the home of A. Jacques and family and quickly spread next door to a house occupied by L. Jacques at No. 16. All the furniture in the downstairs portions of both homes were destroyed and the main floors were badly burned. Damage to a lesser extent was caused the second floors of the homes due to the prompt work of firemen from station No. 4.

Light damage was caused the Gerard Monfette funeral home which is next to the building and a brick house occupied by Mrs. Andras Laforest which is behind No. 18.

Firemen arrived on the scene immediately after being alerted at 12:50 p.m. but the blaze had already taken a strong hold and much smoke and fierce flames came forth from the insides of the two homes whose walls were reinforced with sawdust and paper.

Cause of the fire is unknown. The family of A. Jacques were not in their home at the time the fire broke out.

The brigade, directed by Capt. Henri Donahue and Lieut. Gerard P. Donahue, was on the job from 12:50 until 2:45 p.m. Four wagons, two from station four and two from number one, were employed and 12 firemen.

Three Injured In Traffic Mishaps Here

Three persons were admitted to the Hotel Dieu yesterday as the result of separate accidents in the city.

Injured were: Denis Lapalme, 16, of 29 Windsor street; Alice Gagnon, 17, of 10 Descheneaux street; and Lionel Bilodeau, also of Sherbrooke.

Young Lapalme suffered a swollen eye and an injury to the right side of his head when he was hit by a motorcycle on King street west. The motorcycle was driven by J. D. Lanoue, 23, of R.R. four, Lennoxville. The accident occurred at approximately 6:30 o'clock last evening and the youth was taken to hospital by Gerard Monfette ambulance.

Miss Gagnon and Mr. Bilodeau were injured in a two-car collision at the corner of King and Windsor street about eight o'clock last night. The girl received lacerations to her head and left leg. Mr. Bilodeau was released from hospital after receiving first-aid treatment.

GEORGE McCULLAGH

George McCullagh, in the all-too-brief span of years granted to him, gave something to Canada that may survive long after the imposing structures that house his newspapers.

It was the reassurance that there is still a challenge for young Canadians in their own country and that if they have the will and the ability they can rise from mediocrity to the pinnacle of their chosen calling.

Young people in recent years have been too prone to accept as fact the mistaken belief that the pioneering days in Canada are over, that there are no worlds to conquer, no pinnacles to climb.

Yet one of these young men, George McCullagh, a cabinet-maker's son who in his youth delivered newspapers to help support his family, rose to the peak of his profession, publisher of two of Canada's greatest newspapers, a man of great influence within and outside his own sphere.

Many sincere and fine tributes have been paid to Mr. McCullagh. Two of these came from men of high office in the United Kingdom, men who counted Mr. McCullagh among their friends.

"He gave everything that was in him for any cause in which he believed," said Hon. Anthony Eden, Britain's Foreign Secretary.

"He had a sense of mission," was the tribute of Lord Beaverbrook, a fellow-publisher who, too, rose from humble Canadian beginnings to the apex of newspaperdom.

Canada can ill afford the loss of men of George McCullagh's calibre. Canadians should be grateful for his example.

WHO BOSSES WHOM?

A brochure published in connection with the posthest building in Montreal says that the CBC "is based on public ownership. . . . The CBC is not 'government owned' nor is it a kind of government department. It is a public corporation, responsible not to the government of the day, but to Parliament."

The CBC was established by the Bennett government. It was a commission then. The King government in 1936 changed it to a government corporation. A change of government could change it again.

The government of the day, says the Printed Word, could change it to enable privately-owned stations to compete fairly. It could permit competition of privately-owned television. It could do anything, perhaps, except to make a baritone a soprano, or to make a CBC propagandist admit that Mr. St. Laurent is the boss of the CBC and all its works, including the international service in 14 languages.

Parliament makes, or maintains, the government of the day. The government of the day makes parliament do what it wishes, or deems to be expedient or wise. The people who control the CBC, in the last analysis, are people who sit on the front benches of the House of Commons to the right of the Speaker.

It was parliament that boosted the CBC annual grant to $6,250,000. But only when the government of the day gave the nod and only after the government of the day had appointed Mr. Massey (now governor general) to produce a report. That report in a very high-toned way gave a cultural whitewash to the CBC.

It can be said that, to some degree, the CBC controls parliament, for even doughty members of the Opposition on occasion have been carefully selective in their criticism of the CBC. After all, decisions about what news goes on the air can be governed by personal likes and dislikes. The CBC news selection may be as impartial as St. Peter, but a politician who is getting the breaks in the national news summary may be afraid to risk an ignoring that would be worse than death.

PARTIES BID FOR FARMERS' VOTE
KNOWING IT CAN SWING ELECTION
By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — The fight for the farm vote in the November presidential elections is again crucial.

It has been a general assumption that it was the farm vote opposition to Republican farm policies of 1948 which gave Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, and Ohio to the Democrats, and so enabled President Truman to win the election four years ago.

After the Chicago convention in July, a number of farm-state newspaper editors in attendance expressed some fears that "The Republicans may have done it again."

By this they mean that the Republican platform farm plank did not offer the farmers a program as much to their liking as the Democratic platform. This opinion was expressed in spite of the editors' natural preference for the Republican ticket.

A comparison of the farm planks in the two platforms, item by item, is therefore a matter of keen interest in the Midwest.

Farm planks in the Republican platform are expressed in 12 paragraphs, in the Democratic platform 18. Three paragraphs in the Republican platform criticize the Democratic farm record.

The general charge of the Republicans is that the Democratic administration has been "seeking to destroy the farmers' freedom." The Democratic platform answer is that under these programs the farmers' annual income has been raised from $2 billion to $15 billion.

GOP Platform Opposes Brannan Plan

The Republican platform condemns the proposed but never adopted Brannan farm plan. The Democratic platform doesn't mention it by that name.

On the question of price supports for perishable farm crops, which is the essence of the Brannan plan, the Democratic platform says, "We continue to advocate . . . extending price supports to other storable (crops) and to . . . perishable commodities which account for three-fourths of all farm income."

The Republican platform plank on perishable commodities says, ". . . we recommend locally controlled marketing agreements and other voluntary methods."

On price supports for non-perishable crops, the Republican platform favors "a farm program aimed at full parity prices for all farm products in the market place." The Democratic platform says, ". . . we will continue to protect the producers of basic agricultural commodities under the terms of a mandatory price-support program at not less than 90 per cent of parity."

The Republican platform defends the flexible price-support plan initiated by the Republican-controlled 80th Congress in 1948. The Democratic platform specifically condemns it.

The Republican platform calls for "on-the-farm" crop storage. The Democratic platform calls for "adequate storage facilities . . . for needed reserves for defense and other emergency requirements, in order to protect the integrity of the farm price-support programs."

It was on this crop storage issue that the Republicans stubbed their toes in 1948. Their 1952 platform shows no change in view.

The Republican platform calls only for "voluntary, self-supporting crop insurance." The Democratic platform calls for expansion of the present federal insurance program, which it defends as now developed into "a sound business operation."

Dems Call For Expanded Farm Credit

The Republican platform mentions only in passing the need for "sufficient farm credit." The Democratic platform devotes a full paragraph to this subject, calling for continued and expanded farm credit for young men, veterans, tenants and low-income farmers, to assist them in becoming farm owners.

Both platforms pledge support to farmer co-operatives. The Democratic platform goes further in a promise of "protection from punitive taxation."

The Republican platform urges "further development of rural electrification and communication (rural telephones) with federally assisted power . . . when not available through private enterprise at fair rates."

The Democratic platform takes credit for having developed the rural electrification program and calls for its expansion to every farm home without the GOP private power restriction.

Both platforms call about equally for expanded soil conservation programs, agricultural research and education, development of new domestic and foreign farm markets, flood prevention and the decentralized, local administration of all farm programs.

The Republican platform comes up with something new in a proposal for a bi-partisan federal agricultural commission with power to review all farm policies and recommend changes.

The Democratic platform stresses development of the family-sized farm and the continuation of agricultural adjustment programs, which it claims have done much to stabilize the U.S. farm economy of today.

THE BEST TIME FOR A VACATION

Ottawa Journal

We hear around us the usual argument over the best time of year to take holidays. Some say July, when the warmest weather can be expected; some say August, when hot days are likely to be tempered by cool nights. Others plump for the Fall, September or October, when tourists are less numerous. Still others like the dead of Winter, say February — but they are mainly persons with time and means to take them to Florida.

Advocates of July can put up a strong case. How better spend the hot days of July, they say, than in a bathing suit, and back to work when things have cooled off a bit. But there are others who maintain, and with some effectiveness, that the best way to endure extreme heat — or humidity — is to follow the ordinary routine, and one is better off to work during such days and forget the discomfort that can be so much more trying if one has nothing else to think about.

But those who will have nothing to do with either July or August also can put up an argument. They say September and October have indisputable advantages for vacationers unless there are school children who must be considered, or unless swimming is the matter of greatest concern. They point out that after Labor Day the highways are comparatively free of tourists and travelling is relatively comfortable, that it is easier to secure accommodation in hotels and motels and tourist homes, and while the days are shortened sightseeing and motoring are pleasant.

The fact is, of course, that the best time for a vacation is a matter of the preference and habit of individuals and families — any time is good. Some people like crowds; others like seclusion. Some want to do what "everybody" else is doing — others like to be different. Praise be for this variety! What a dull, impossible world it would be if we all liked and insisted upon doing the same thing at the same time.

TO THE RIVER ST. LAWRENCE

O beautiful river! O beautiful river!
Born of the great Ontario Lake!
O beautiful river; rolling to the sea
From the lands that bear the maple tree!

Through massy woods, 'mid islets flowering fair,
And blooming glades where the first sinful pair
For consolation might have weeping trod,
When banished from the garden of their God.

Thy rapids, Ottawa, proclaim
Where Deulac and his heroes came!
Your bulwark hills your valleys broad,
Where Wolfe achieved, and where De Salaberry trod!

O beautiful river! whose wide water lavas
The shores that ne'er have nourished slaves!
How swell your voice with the strident
Of loyalty and liberty!

O beautiful river! of splendid themes—
What voice shall from the bastioned shore
The tale of Roberval reveal,
Or his mysterious fate deplore?

And thou wide shores, do thy floods yet feel
Paint memories of Cartier's and Champlain's keel,
Thy pulses yet the deeds repeat
Of Poutincourt and D'Iberville?

O sacred waters! not in vain,
Across Canadian height and plain,
Ye sound us in triumphant tone
The summons of your high refrain.

For thirty years of mingled feeling,
Half in joy and half in sorrow,
I have seen thy waters stealing
Onward, like the stream of life.

Thou hast taught me, beautiful river!
Many a lesson, deep and long;
Thou hast been a generous giver;
I can give thee but a song.

FOLLOW THROUGH MAY MAKE OR BREAK YOU

West made a good choice with his opening lead in today's hand, but failed to follow through. Or perhaps it would be more accurate to say that he did too much following through.

West opened his singleton club and dummy was permitted to win with the nine. South went into a deep stew and finally led the nine of hearts from dummy and let it ride for a finesse. West gratefully won with the jack of hearts and shifted to a low spade. East won with the king of spades and naturally returned a club to give West a ruff.

It was at this point that West got carried away by enthusiasm or, perhaps by failing to think. West simply led another spade to East's ace.

East hopefully returned another club, but West could do no more ruffing. South could enter dummy with the ace of diamonds to take a second heart finesse, and the rest of the tricks were his.

South was set one trick, to be sure, but he counted himself lucky. Proper defense would have set him two tricks, for a penalty of 500 points instead of only 200 points. Instead of leading a second spade, West should have switched to the king of diamonds. It was obvious to West that declarer had a trump finesse to take. It was also obvious, since East had played the king of spades on the first round of that suit, that South had the queen of spades. Declarer could lead either a spade or a heart after reaching dummy with the ace of diamonds—but he could not do both.

If West had led the king of diamonds instead of another spade, South would have been forced to give up the ace of spades and one

The Record Short Story

THE GORDIAN KNOT

By MARIE DE NERVAUD

"No seats left in the chair car," the ticket agent said. "Give you one in a Pullman if you like."

Gerald hesitated, then said "Okay," and shoved a bill under the wicket. He walked through the Los Angeles station, his tall figure erect for his 60 years, his black hair only slightly streaked with gray, his brown eyes still alert in his long, thin face. It was the expression of the eyes, the almost feverish brightness, and the droop to the mouth that told of his inner defeat and despair.

Pride, he mocked himself. How ridiculous clinging to pride, when everything else was gone — money, profession; worst of all, confidence in himself. Well, after tomorrow, pride could go along with the rest. But for today, he was damned if anyone from Hollywood was going to see him getting into a day coach.

After tomorrow, he'd cease being Gerald Reynolds, the actor. God only knew, he might be Gerald Reynolds, the dish washer. But nobody in Hollywood was going to know.

To his annoyance, he found a couple in the seat opposite him, but he soon forgot them as his mind circled back to the frustration of these last two years. Fewer and fewer parts, the vision of a perfect part and the feverish hope, then, the loss of that, too. For a whole year now he'd been idle. At least, he'd had the consolation to set himself a list of a while. He'd wouldn't be one of those tragicomic failures drifting from studio to studio.

Doubts began to creep in of his drastic cutting of the Gordian knot. Perhaps he'd been a fool not to take the job of real estate salesman his brother-in-law had wrangled for him in his firm. But he'd lost himself in a big city, Chicago, New York—find some kind of job.

"Don't say that!" A girl's voice, low and distressed, jerked Gerald out of his thoughts. Without seeming to look, he took in the pair opposite him, and his heart gave a twist. Honeymoon couple, probably. The girl was blonde and pretty, barely 18, if that. She had an air of breeding, which was more than Gerald could say for the man. "Wolf," was his appraisal. Attractive in a flashy way, with his curly dark hair and smoldering blue eyes under dark lashes, but he wouldn't trust him with a dime.

"If you loved me, you wouldn't keep on loving the man's voice was the lowest murmur, but Gerald's keen ears caught it. "Relax, honey. Your Old Man will give in, once we're married." "I should have tried longer to persuade him," the girl worried. "After all, I'm his only child, and since Mummy died—oh, he'll be so hurt I do love you, Phil, but it's all been so rushed. Darling, let's go back! Let's try once more. Dad only asks us to wait—"

Gerald was no longer an impersonal eavesdropper. Elopement his mind registered. And immediately, it was back twenty years, back to a similar scene. His daughter Ellen would have looked as this girl was looking, so pretty, so young, so radiant one moment and distressed the next. And the man, damn him, would be talking just the way this man was talking.

Under lowered eyelids Gerald took in the girl's expensive clothes, the monogrammed luggage. It was not only her blonde prettiness that was the lure to this type of man. There was money in the picture. "Everything's set for us to be married at Yuma," the caressing voice went on, "then to Mexico to visit the Wilsons. They've been to no end of trouble fixing this all up. You can't let my friends down, honey—let me down—"

"Suddenly, he was a stranger—I let him go for a taxi, then, I felt I just had to get back to you. I left my bags right there, and I jumped on the train as it started to move—" she broke down and sobbed.

Gerald put his arms around her and held her close, as he might have held and comforted his own Ellen. He watched the desert slide past, and a mighty sense of thankfulness rose in him. Thankfulness for having saved this young thing from a tragic mistake, and thankfulness for the surety of renewed confidence in himself.

"You know what?" he said at last. "We're both getting off at the next station and taking the first train back."

"But you—you mustn't—I'll be all right—"

Gerald laughed, his first real laugh in months. "We'll both be all right," he said. "I was running away, too. But you've shown me—"

"I've shown you—" she marveled.

"We've shown each other," Gerald said, gently.

Briton's Manners Need Polishing?

London. — A few unvarnished facts about receiving visitors for the coronation are being dished out to the British public.

Sir Alexander Maxwell, chairman of the British Travel and Holidays Association, says Britain's tourist industry is at the crossroads. A tourist plan is needed, he adds, if the industry is to be developed as it should be and new money attracted to the country.

He emphasizes that if the home population must go without in order to provide visitors with the best available, that is the way it must be.

Sir Harry Brittain, a member of the council, was even more outspoken. He said that in his opinion, the United Kingdom is one of the world's most untidy nations.

Talks are being held already with hotel and restaurant associations by Sir Alexander who is keenly aware of criticism about his service. He says Britons who go abroad for vacations do not help by boosting their own country.

Library Books Begin To Mould

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—An American expert looked over the scene of the parliamentary library fire today and reported it offers one of the toughest jobs of restoration he has yet tackled. Thousands of books are starting to mould.

Alvin Kremer, keeper of the Collection of the Library of Congress in Washington, told Canadian librarians the ravages of last Monday's fire are just about as bad as any he has seen from the standpoint of the man who wants to restore damaged books.

The main damage was done by tons of water that poured down from the burning library dome for hours.

CARDS OF THANKS

I wish to take this opportunity to express my sincere thanks to all my friends and relatives who did so much for me while I was recovering from my accident. Especially do I thank those who looked after my farm, put in my crop, did my haying, planted my garden, and those who cared for my stock. I also want to thank the doctors and nurses of the C.J.M. Hospital, those who sent letters, cards, candy, fruit, flowers, books, and gifts, also to the Odd Fellows for the lovely boxes of fruit, and to everyone who visited me. Your kindness is deeply appreciated and will long be remembered.

The Doctor Says:

HUMAN GIANTISM BEST TREATED BY DIRECTING X-RAYS AT GLAND

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

In practically all respects it must be considered a great misfortune to be a human giant. One such person who was carefully studied medically was over eight feet, three inches tall, with weight in proportions.

Many others have been studied who were nearly eight feet tall, and I have before me a newspaper which reports a "giant" nine feet, one inch tall, weighing 391 pounds.

Apparently most of those people who reach enormous size suffer from a disease known as acromegaly. This condition stems from overactivity or a tumor in a tiny gland known as the pituitary body, lying in the brain.

This gland exerts an enormous influence on the human body by means of the hormones it produces, and this is the more surprising because the gland itself is so small.

Acromegaly does not always lead to gigantism in the sense that everyone who has it grows to seven feet tall or higher. Probably more often it develops during mature life in an exceedingly gradual manner so that for years, even an expert cannot tell definitely whether or not the condition is present.

When the disease is well advanced, however, there is thickening and coarsening of the features, especially the lips and nose, with increased prominence of the lower jaw and brows. The hands and feet enlarge, the chest increases in size, and the back becomes stooped. A considerable number of victims of acromegaly also develop diabetes.

It seems that in the true giant the pituitary gland starts to over-secrete while the youngster is still growing, and that the other symptoms of acromegaly develop later. Whereas in the fully grown individual, there is little growth in the long bones leading to excessive height, although in both cases the cause lies in the pituitary gland.

Definite Diagnosis Needed
What can be done for acromegaly? Once a definite diagnosis has been made, the best treatment appears to be to direct X-rays at the pituitary body in the brain.

Other types of treatment are being tried on an experimental basis.

Actually, research on the pituitary body, the hormones which it produces, and the factors which influence growth, is badly needed, and it is encouraging to report that there is much work going on in these directions.

Married 50 Years

MR. AND MRS. A. N. TODD

Bulwer, Aug. 7 — A very happy event took place on June 21st when Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Todd celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Todd were at home to their friends in the afternoon and evening, and a large number of relatives and friends from far and near joined in offering their congratulations and good wishes.

The arrangements for the festivities were planned and carried out by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Todd, of Verdun, Mich.; Aileen Rowe, of Detroit, Mich.; and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Todd, of Bulwer, who spared no effort to make this enjoyable occasion one to be remembered.

The dining room table was centred with a beautiful wedding cake made and decorated by Mrs. Robert Symes and Mrs. Clyde McLellan, of Sherbrooke, and flanked with crystal candelabra with gold candles and vases of white carnations. The table cloth, an heirloom of the family, was made by the bride's great grandmother, Mrs. Lucy (Bowker) Lyon. The other rooms were decorated with a profusion of cut flowers.

neighboring kindnesses for the past four years.

Later refreshments were served by the hostesses, when the table was decorated with varicolored and white sweet peas arranged in a silver basket and flanked by yellow and green candles in silver holders.

Mrs. Harold Nettleship poured, and assisting in serving were Mrs. W. Black, Mrs. S. Snow and Miss Betty Hunting.

Relatives and friends entertained at open house, at Sawyerville, on Wednesday, July 30, in honor of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Volney Hurley, when more than one hundred and fifty guests extended, in person, congratulations and best wishes to the jubilarians.

The rooms were embellished with a profusion of flowers. The dining-room was particularly attractive, the table being arranged with an ecru lace cloth, small vases of pink and white sweet peas with the anniversary cake, flanked with white tapers in silver candlesticks forming the centre.

Mrs. C. T. Wearne and Mrs. J. Reed poured during the afternoon, and Mrs. E. Hurley and Mrs. L. Hunt, in the evening. Among those who assisted in serving were Mrs. A. Hurley, Mrs. E. Hurley, Mrs. J. Ashe, Mrs. R. Maschke, Miss Shirley Loveland, Miss Blanche Hunt, Mrs. G. Halliday, Mrs. C. Conley, Miss Rousseau, Miss Labrecque, Mrs. E. Elliott, Mrs. M. Matthews and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Hurley were the recipients of many beautiful gifts which included a silver tea service, a purse of money, a silver tray, silver sugar and cream set and tray, silver candlesticks and twenty-five red roses.

On Sunday afternoon, at "Summerlea", their cottage at Little Lake Magog, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Woollett entertained at a party for their little grandchildren, Judy Woollett, and David Hutchison, both celebrating their eighth birthday.

The beautiful day favored a variety of amusements including swimming and playing with water toys, the most enjoyable feature being a boat ride around the lake and to the regatta, engineered by Grandfather Woollett, which included the ten small friends of the guests of honor.

The long supper table was centered with the birthday cake, on which were inscribed, in pink, the names Judy and David. The candy baskets and balloons which were used for decoration were given to the little guests at the end of the day.

Judy and David were thrilled with the number of beautiful presents given them by their relatives and friends, but regret was expressed that Judy's maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Markwell, of Baldwin's Mills, were unable to be present at the party.

DEATH WAS THE UNSEEN WEDDING GUEST — Like any mother, Mrs. C. G. Bisbee, of Dodge City, Kans., looked forward for years to the happy day when her daughter, Pamela, would be married. But when the wedding day came it had to be held in Trinity Hospital chapel because Mrs. Bisbee was a bed-and-chair bound patient there. She is in the wheelchair, right, in the wedding picture above. The minister is Rev. Clarence R. Geris. Before him are the bride and Max D. Ames, the bridegroom. Attendants, in dark outfits, are Jack Hess of Dodge City and Gloria Jo Igou of Liberal, Kans. Mrs. Bisbee had her happy day. She had seen her daughter get married. Two days later she died.

Services Held At Coaticook Churches For Victims Of Drowning Accidents

Coaticook, Aug. 6. — Funeral services were held at two Coaticook churches this past week for two young men drowned on Sunday afternoon, July 27.

Roger Caron, age 27, was drowned while swimming at Lake Seymour, near Island Pond, Vt., with six companions.

His friends noticed that he failed to surface after diving into the water and immediately went to his aid.

Artificial respiration applied with the aid of equipment from the Island Pond fire department failed to revive him. A later examination revealed little water in the lungs, showing that the victim apparently died almost immediately on entering the water, possibly from a heart attack.

The service for the deceased took place at St. Jean Evangelist Church on July 30th, with Father Leon Lemay officiating, assisted by Arthur Sidelan from the University of Montreal.

Mr. Caron was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Caron, of Coaticook. Besides his parents, he leaves to mourn eleven brothers and sisters, Leo, Laurent, Herve, Euclide, Emilien, Lorraine, Andre, Laurent, Conrad, Pauline and Rachel.

He worked for a time at the Royal Bank in Coaticook and was recently employed in Montreal.

The second victim in this double week-end tragedy was also drowned while swimming in the United States. Mr. Norman Green, 25 years of age, was drowned at Inlet, N. Y.

Swimming with friends at a small lake near that place, Green was seized with cramps and could not get back to shore. In his case also, artificial respiration was applied for nearly three hours but to no avail.

He had recently gone from his home in Coaticook to seek employment in woods operations in New York State.

The funeral service for Mr. Green was held on July 31st, from St. Edmund Church, with Father Quinn in charge and interment took place at Stanhope.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Green, of Stanhope.

He leaves his wife Jeannine, three children, Jean, 4 years, Donald, 2 and Yvette, 10 months. He also leaves three brothers, Albert, of Coteau Station, Hanford, of Cowansville, Roger, of Simcoe, Ont., and five sisters, Donald, of Magog, Gisele, of Simcoe, Ont., Jeanne, of Cowansville, Normande, of Sherbrooke, and Jeannine, of Stanhope.

Sympathy is extended to the families of these two young Coaticook men.

One-Minute News from Johns-Manville

EACH JOB AT J-M COSTS THE COMPANY MORE THAN $9,000

What does it cost to provide a job at Johns-Manville?

If it were necessary today to replace J-M's work benches, machines, tools, buildings and other assets needed to do business, it would require more than $9,000 for each and every J-M employee.

That figure represents the investment J-M stockholders have in each J-M job. It is typical on our continent.

The reason we can produce more things and have a higher standard of living than most countries in the world is because we have better tools to work with — tools which have been provided by the savings of ordinary people who are willing to risk their savings in the hope of earning a fair return on their money.

No other system ever devised has come even close to our system in providing more things for more people.

This is one of a series of articles in which Canadian Johns-Manville hopes to call attention to interesting and significant facts about the company or about conditions affecting our national economy.

A WEEKLY INFORMATION SERVICE

MONTREAL, August 7th—Fashion-Model Virginia Owen was married recently. She was another beautiful Woodbury bride in her hoop-skirted gown of satin. But it was her satin-smooth Woodbury complexion that stole the show. A breathtaking bride—a popular model—Virginia protects her exquisite complexion with WOODBURY FACIAL SOAP. For she knows that Woodbury is more than a cleanser. You see, it contains a precious beauty-cream ingredient—the same softening oil used in finest face creams. It's intended to help replace the natural oils you wash away. Try Woodbury Soap yourself. See how its mild, mild lather cleans your skin thoroughly, yet gently—soothes and smooths it. And try the big Beauty-Bath Size Woodbury, too, for head-to-toe loveliness.

Your Family Will Call You "Dreamboat" when you treat them to this delicious dessert. Quick-and-easy-to-make, economical and is it good! Mmm!—Mmm!... Lemon Crunch Ice Cream made with the finest, juiciest lemons grown—SUNKIST LEMONS, of course!

LEMON CRUNCH ICE CREAM
Combine 2 cups milk, 1 cup sugar, ½ cup fresh Sunkist lemon juice and 1 teaspoon grated lemon peel. Freeze until firm. Beat 2 egg whites to a meringue with 2 tablespoons sugar. Whip 1 cup whipping cream. Remove frozen mixture to a chilled bowl. Beat until fluffy. Fold in meringue and whipped cream. Add ½ cup crushed lemon drops or peanut brittle. Return to tray. Freeze to ice cream consistency. Serves 6.

You'll Want It For Your Salads... and for your pickling, too. So what better time to buy HEINZ WHITE VINEGAR than right now—during "Salad Week" and at pickling time! Buy the big gallon jug... it's the thriftiest "buy" I know. And the best. For Heinz White Vinegar is distilled and aged by the firm who made pickles famous. Full-bodied in flavor, uniform in strength—it preserves the crisp texture and colour of your pickles to perfection. And, by the way, if the gallon jug you buy doesn't have the free recipe booklet, "Pickling Success", attached—write to me for it—Barbara Brent, 1411 Crescent St., Montreal, P.Q.

The Most Popular Girl On The Beach... and often she isn't the prettiest—is the girl with sparkle and vitality. So when you're packing for your summer holiday—be sure to pack a vacation-supply of SAL HEPATICA. A glass of sparkling, pleasant-tasting Sal Hepatica before breakfast will make you feel as sunny as a summer day. Sal Hepatica effervescent salts have been a faithful family laxative for over 60 years. They're pleasant to take—and gentle as can be... and you can count on them to keep you feeling wonderful. (The "Belle of the Beach" can be you!)

Want To Brighten The Flavour Of Your Favourite Foods? WINDSOR SALT will do it every time. I use Windsor Salt both in the kitchen and at the table. It makes all the difference between "dull" and "delicious". And I like to be sure, of a good supply of Windsor—particularly now during "Salad Season". Whether you like simple salads of tossed greens—or gay and gorgeous fruit salads for gala occasions... a pinch of Windsor Salt will change "flat" flavour to "bright" in a jiffy. Another thing you'll like about Windsor—it's always free-running—even in damp weather. No wonder most people buy Windsor to brighten the flavour of food!

SATCHEL PAIGE PROVES HE STILL HAS IT, BLANKS TIGERS

Cops 12-Inning Duel After Classy Performance Of Hurling; Senators Edge Yanks As Indians Dump Chicago

Old Satchmo still has it. Even if he is "43 going on 49," as some folks say, Satchel Paige still has the stuff to bewilder big league hitters. Satchmo deserted the bull pen last night for a starting role — the second time he'd tried it this year. In fact he hadn't pitched an entire nine innings since 1949.

Even youngsters will in the late innings but not Paige. Locked in a 0-0 duel with Detroit's Virgil Trucks, he pitched nine shutout innings. After Trucks gave way to a pinch hitter in the 10th and Hal White took over, Paige still was in there throwing goose eggs at Tigers in the 10th, 11th and 12th.

Bob Nieman's bases-loaded single with two out in the 12th finally got him home with a 1-0 win, his eighth of the year. The box score showed only seven hits for Tigers—six of them singles. Satchel walked only two and struck out nine in his brilliant effort.

In the 10th Tigers loaded the bases with nobody out. Paige made pinch hitter Johnny Pesky and Johnny Groh ground into force plays at the plate. Then he struck out Neil Berry on three straight called strikes.

Walt Masterson pitched Washington Senators to a 6-4 victory over New York, striking out 11 Yanks. He whiffed Mickey Mantle four straight times and Hank Bauer, Yogi Berra and Loser Harry Schaefer twice each. He allowed only one hit in the last five innings after being blasted for three runs in the fourth.

The loss shrunk Yanks' lead to

Shermac Edges Domil 9-8 In Closely Fought Tilt In Industrial League While Railroaders Dump Rand 7-2

Shermac jumped into second place in the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League last night when they defeated Domil 9-8 in the opening game at Dufresne Park. A much improved Railroader squad, with Les Bessant on the mound, nicked Rand 7-2 in the night cap.

In what was one of the best played games of the season Bill Cochran's team took the measure of Domil, but only after having to fight all the way to earn the points. Shermac took a four run lead in the first two innings, Domil got one of these back in their half of the third, and then Domil in a big sixth inning jumped into the lead scoring six runs. Felletier, Domil's outfielder, hit a grand slam home run in this inning. Shermac came back in their half of the sixth to get two runs and take a seven to six lead. Going into the last inning one point down Domil put on a rally that netted them two more points to lead 8-7.

Shermac's fighting spirit won them the game in the last half of the seventh. Dubois, the first man up, connected for a safety, and then Felletier laid down a bunt and reached first base safely. Moisan, the next man up lashed out a double and the game was over.

Both teams played heads up ball and the fans in attendance showed their approval.

Les Bessant has made only a few appearances on the mound this season for Railroaders, but when he does his presence is always felt, more or less to the opposing batters.

Bessant again last night turned in one of his masterpieces, not only did he slow down the Rand batters and hold them to five scattered hits, but he had nine strikeouts to his credit. He also chalked up five assists, he kept the Rand crew off the score sheet until the fourth inning, when they got their only two runs.

Railroaders all the way played good ball and earned their win. Rand in their last two outings have not shown their fighting spirit and seen to have hit a slump.

Bill Kyle Signs To Coach Regina Caps

Regina, Aug. 7.—(C) Centre Bill Kyle has been signed as playing coach of Regina Caps of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League. The announcement was made today by club president Jack Emery.

Kyle, a member of the Regina Cap team of the former Western Canada Senior Hockey League, played for Sherbrooke Saints of the Quebec Senior League last season.

The Regina team finished in third place last season in the first year of the revived Saskatchewan Senior League, losing out to Melville Millionaires who went on to beat Yorkton Legionaires and take the title.

For Second Straight Year, Rain Brings Delay Of Hambletonian; Duke Of Lullwater Still Favorite

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 7.—(AP)—Sixteen-finely tuned horses will bring their argument for the three-year-old trotting championship down to good time park track today — weather permitting.

Rain interrupted their plans to settle the argument yesterday. It still was coming down early today, and plenty of sunshine was needed to forestall another postponement.

Last year the race was held over one day and Mainliner won the rich pot in two consecutive heats. It hurt the crowd, for many were unable to stay over a day. For this reason track president William H. Cane made every effort to run the event off on time this year.

The skies were cloudy, but thousands of spectators streamed into town for Goshen's biggest day, hoping the rain would stay away. It did for four hours, just long enough to let the people start on their picnic lunches.

Because of state law, racing cannot start before noon, EST. (1 P.M. EST) today, when the first race on the program will be called. Several stakes races scheduled for today and tomorrow will be combined. The first heat of the Hambletonian is set for 3 P.M. EDT.

Several thousand fans already were milling around the track when Bill Cane decided there had been too much rain to permit the valuable equines to take the track in quest of the purse of $87,537.55. It was the second straight year that rain had forced postponement of the trotting horse derby. In 1951 it rained all week at Syracuse and the stake finally was raced off at Lexington.

The weather didn't make any change in the odds. Duke of Lullwater from the barns of W. T. Candler of Decatur, Ga., and driven by 32-year-old Johnny Simpson remained the 3-to-1 choice to take the best of three heats, starting at 3 P.M. EDT.

Hit Song was the 4-to-1 second choice. Hit Song, with Harry Powell in the driver's seat, carried the hopes of E. Roland Harriman and Ebby Gerry of New York and Lawrence Sheppard of Hanover, Pa.

At least one-half dozen others were well considered. They include C. W. Clark's Sharp Note of Dearborn, Mich.; Crystal Hanover, P. J. Baugh, T. R. Johnston and T. W. Church, Charlotte, N. C.; O. L. Mears' Lu Peck of Toledo, Ohio; Scotch Victor from S. A. Camp Farms of Shafter, Calif., and reined by Joe O'Brien of New Glasgow, N.S., and Alberton, P.E.I.; Theme Song of the Hayes Fair Acres Stable; L. E. Lake's Diplomat Hanover of Colfax, Ind.; and Hardy Hanover, St. Charles, Ill.

Cpl. Blais Wins Shoot; Jim Holden Places 2nd

Montreal, Aug. 7.—(C) Cpl. J. H. Blais of the R.C.M.P. won the Quebec Provincial Shooting Championship today with a score of 442.

Maj. James Houlden of Winnipeg was second with 439 points and Sgt. E. Paget of the Canadian Grenadier Guards third, with 435 points.

H. G. Doynne-Ditman, youngest member of the British rifle team, won the Banker's Match with 98 out of a possible 100 points.

The Quebec team, with 840 points, won the Players' Cup in the International Match over the British team, which amassed 829 points.

Rickey Calls Up Four Farm Hands To Pirates

Pittsburgh, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Four fresh hands boarded the sinking hulk of Pittsburgh Pirates today.

General Manager Branch Rickey called four of his rookies from farm clubs to bring the National Baseball League team's roster up to the legal limit of 25.

Strike-out hopeful pitcher Ronnie Necciai will take his first crack in the major leagues. The three others—pitcher Brandy Davis, and outfielders Jim Vaughn and Lee Walls—all started with the Bucs early this season before being farmed out.

Rickey said: "I want to exhaust the potential of these men and find out what I have to work with. My goal is not sixth, fifth or fourth place—but the pennant."

Rex Layne Favorite Over Charles Tomorrow

Ogden, Utah, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Rex Layne, Utah's hope for the world's heavyweight championship, ruled a 6-5 favorite today to whip Ezzard Charles in their 10-round fight tomorrow night in Municipal Stadium.

Promoter Kenny Mayne said the fight will be Utah's version of the championship on the ground that Charles is "the uncrowned champion of the world." Many boxing writers thought Charles beat champion Jersey Joe Walcott at Philadelphia in June.

A possible shot at the winner of the Rocky Marciano-Walcott title go in September may be the prize for the winner. There will be no radio and no television.

Bob Bedard Reaches Semi-Finals Of Nova Scotia Tennis Tournery; Downs Opponent In Three Straight

Dartmouth, Aug. 7.—(C) Four veteran players, Syd Bartlett, Halifax; Dr. Phil Cole, Hubbards; Gordon Hughes, Windsor; and Bob Bedard, Sherbrooke, Que., will battle today in the semi-finals of the men's singles for the Nova Scotia senior tennis title.

They gained the semi-finals with wins yesterday in the Provincial Tennis Tournament here.

Bartlett defeated Fred Fennell, Montreal, 6-4, 7-5, 6-2, while Cole eliminated Frankie Nolan, Halifax, 1951 Provincial junior singles champion, 6-1, 7-5, 7-5.

Hughes upset the dope by scoring a convincing win over second seeded Bill Pope, Halifax, 6-1, 3-6, 6-2, 6-3, and Bedard tacked a three-set defeat on Reg Cluney, Halifax, 6-0, 6-3, 7-5.

The women's singles semi-finals will also be played today with Vida Large, Halifax, playing Mrs. Gordon Hughes, Windsor. Anne Stacey, Halifax, will meet Ruth Miller, Halifax.

Bev. Piers and Syd Bartlett, both of Halifax, and Frank Nolan, Halifax, and Fred Fennell, Montreal, reached the semi-finals of the men's doubles with easy wins. Play in the women's doubles was also brought down to the semi-final stage with two teams still remaining in the fight.

Winning matches yesterday were Mrs. C. H. Mitchell, Sydney, and Mrs. T. W. Thompson, Halifax, defending champions; Anne Stacey and Mary Chipman, Halifax; Annie and Gladys Longard, Halifax; and Vida Large, Halifax, and Mrs. Gordon Hughes, Windsor.

Pressure Is On Sam Snead In Chase For $25,000 Top Prize Today In "World Championship Of Golf"

Chicago, Aug. 7.—(AP)—Goldfom's biggest gold rush is on today. With $90,000 at stake, 80 men pros and 11 play-for-pay gals start swinging in the "World Championship of Golf" at Tam O'Shanter course.

Promoter George S. May's "World" meet also has amateur competition for men and women in a sort of four-ringed circus, but the pro showdown for a $25,000 men's first prize and $5,000 women's top grab hogged the spotlight.

The previous high payoff for any pro event was the $12,500 may gave Ben Hogan for winning last year's "Hogan."

Hogan, apparently miffed over May's refusal to toss in some appearance money, won't defend his title.

It last week's curtain-raiser means anything, Samuel Jackson

Snead is the man to whip. Snead strolled off with the All-American with a 17-under-par 271, eight strokes ahead of the field.

Chasing him will be a select crowd, including 24 players who broke 288-par in the All-American scramble. Sambo's chief trouble may come from runner-up Tommy Bolt, Cary Middlecoff, Jack Burke, Wally Ulrich, Doug Ford and Jim Turnesa, all bracketed within three strokes in the All-American.

In the $12,000 women's professional section, defending champion Babe Zaharias is making her first competitive try since an early June hernia operation. Her chief rival appears to be Louis Suggs, who won the All-American Women's pen.

All-American champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo defends his world's amateur crown.

U. S. Davis Cuppers Display Wares In First Full Practice Session; Experts Not Counting Canada Out

Montreal, Aug. 7.—(C) The draw for opponents in the final round of the North American Zone Davis Cup tennis tie takes place today, and although the United States is favored to win, clubhouse experts are not counting Canada out.

Possible starters are Vic Seixas and Herb Flam for the United States, and Brendan Macken and Lorne Main for Canada.

Canada has met the United States in eight other Davis Cup rounds but never won.

Main is the only Canadian who has come up against any of the Americans, and it is on his performances that the experts are basing their hopes.

He has met, and defeated, Bob Perry, as recently as a couple of weeks ago when he took him in straight sets. Perry isn't thought a possible starter, but he might well play doubles Saturday.

Then too, the 21-year-old, three-time Davis Cupper has come up against Flam, ranked No. 2 in the U.S., when the two played inter-collegiate matches in the United States.

Main has never beaten the shifty Flam, but he gave him some close matches.

If Macken comes up against Flam, it is thought even more possible that Canada will take the match. Main is ranked No. 1 in Canada on the basis of past performance, but Brendan is definitely tops this year and can take Flam.

Seixas is another matter. He is considered well able to defeat either Macken or Main, but then he has had his off days, and has fallen before Flam.

Starters in singles Friday switch opponents Sunday, unless the round is already won, when junior team members are often given a chance.

Canada last year defeated Cuba and in turn bowed to the Americans. The United States went on to defeat Sweden, European Zone finalists, but lost out 3-2 to Australia, Davis Cup champs.

Winner of this round takes on Italy, winner in the European Zone, for the right to challenge Australia.

Browns Should Get Jap Players, Says Boss

New York, Aug. 7.—(C) Helen Traubel, Metropolitan opera soprano and part-owner of St. Louis Browns, said today she thought the seventh-place American League club should acquire some Japanese players to get back into the pennant race.

Miss Traubel said that "next to us Americans the Japanese are the best players and the most enthusiastic fans, even if they do not throw pop bottles."

Walcott-Marciano Bout Not To Be In New York

Camden, N. J., Aug. 7.—(CP)—The world heavyweight championship fight between Jersey Joe Walcott and Rocky Marciano probably will not be held in New York, Walcott's manager, Felix Bocchicchio, said today.

Bocchicchio is not licensed as a fight manager in New York and he said he doesn't intend to apply for one. Bob Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, has indicated he doesn't think too highly of Bocchicchio.

Walcott's manager said the gate will probably suffer from the fight being held outside New York but "Joe and I are willing to sacrifice a few extra dollars from our cut if it means the difference between my being able to manage him or not."

Other possible sites for the fight include Philadelphia, Boston, Chicago or Jersey City.

Not Interested, Says Johnny O'Flaherty

Sydney, N.S., Aug. 7.—(C)—When Saint John Beavers forfeited their franchise in the Maritime Major Hockey League recently, two Cape Breton clubs made bids for their winning coach, John (Peanuts) O'Flaherty, it was learned tonight.

But O'Flaherty, who coached Beavers to the league title, informed Sydney Millionaires and Glace Bay Miners he wasn't in the market for a coaching job.

Miners were left without a mentor when Bud Poile signed as coach of Edmonton Flyers of the Western League.

Beavers have until Aug. 31 to announce to the league executive if they wish to operate next season. Moncton Hawks, whose resignation followed Saint John's decision, are in a similar position.

St. Johns Upsets St. Hyacinthe As Granby Dumps Cubs Twice; Braves Win

St. Hyacinthe Athletics remained atop the Provincial Baseball League despite an 8-4 setback suffered at the hands of the St. Johns Canadiens Wednesday night.

In other games, second-place Quebec Braves took a 10-8 decision from Three Rivers Yankees and the lowly Granby Phillies took both ends of a doubleheader from fourth-place Drummondville Cubs 3-2 and 6-0.

At St. Johns, the Canadiens tagged two St. Hyacinthe pitchers for 15 hits although they erred three times to the Athletics' two.

Bill Truitt was credited with the win, allowing 10 hits. Bill Shannon, who was replaced by Georges Carpentier in the eighth, was the loser.

The winners piled up five runs in the sixth inning, and scored once in the first, fourth and eighth innings. The Athletics got a run in the fourth and eighth innings. The Athletics got a run in the fourth and three in the final frame.

At Quebec, nine runs in the eighth inning gave the Braves their victory. Quebec jumped into the lead with a run in the bottom of the first but Three Rivers came back with a pair in the third.

The Yankees further increased their lead with a six-run spurge in the seventh and appeared to have the game sewed up.

The Braves came through with nine runs in the eighth, however, to take the contest. Buchanan, who came into the fray in the seventh, was the winning pitcher.

At Granby, in the nine-inning opener, Bob Flocchi went the route for the Phillies, allowing but four hits. His teammates combined three Drummondville hurfers for nine safeties.

In the nightcap, Jim Orr also went the distance, spacing five hits, while his team was collecting 10 from the offerings of three of the Cubs' pitchers.

Eighty-Seven Tee Off In Quest Of Canadian Women's Close Golf Title

Edmonton, Aug. 7.—A field of 87 tees off today in quest of the Canadian Women's Close Golf Championship, won last year by petite 18-year-old Marlene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont.

With the weatherman promising another scorching day, the 6,655-yard Edmonton Mayfair's par 79 is expected to be broken regularly.

The confident, capable champion broke par twice in practice with 78's, and the veterans couldn't come close. Ada McKenzie of Toronto, a mate of Miss Stewart on the Ontario team, and Mrs. Graeme Pyke of Montreal hit the 81 bracket. Babs Davies of Vancouver Marine Drive wasn't far off that.

The Ontario Champion, Mary Gay of Kitchener, who succeeded Miss Stewart there this year,

Calumet Farm In Spot To Set Earning Record

Lexington, Ky., Aug. 7. — (AP) — Calumet Farm was in position today to better its own all-time earnings record of $1,402,436 established in 1947.

Horses from Mrs. Warren Wright's stable raced away with winning of more than $380,000 during July. These purses pushed the stable's earnings to $943,217 for the period Jan. 1 through July 25.

And there are five potentially lucrative months of racing remaining this year.

The figures were announced by the Thoroughbred Racing Association's Service Bureau.

White Oak Stable's Blue Man shot to the top of the list of individual money winners with his victory in Aqueduct's Swoyer Stakes. This gave him a total of $259,585.

was in the low 80's and Alberta's young hopeful, Rae Milligan, 18, of Jasper, fired a number of low nine-hole scores.

Six teams have entered the interlocking Inter-Provincial team competition which covers 36 holes and winds up Friday. The close goes 54 holes over the tree-lined Mayfair fairways and finishes Saturday.

British Columbia's team was not complete yesterday when Miss Marjorie Todd of Victoria failed to appear, but she was expected today. Junior member Shirley Fry of Esquimalt George Vale will move up if Miss Todd does not arrive.

Defending champion Quebec had its four-member team out in force yesterday.

Joanne Goulet of Regina Gyro was out in 92 yesterday in practice but she said she hoped to improve her irons today. Alberta's junior member—14-year-old Betty Stanhope of Edmonton—appeared confident yesterday and though she said her driver was troubling her, the youngest player in the tournament was slugging them better than 200 yards.

Striking Out No Longer Bothers Mantle; He's Hitting And Driving In Runs Between; Great Future Predicted

New York.—(NEA)—Most of the Yankees were tugging on their regalia when Mickey Mantle strode up to the dressing room portal.

"I overslept," he smiled bashfully, a slight blush tinging his cherubic face.

"Hey, Mick," called Bill Dickey, "come on over here and see your pictures."

Broad-shouldered Mantle, his shirt already slung, pattered over to the lounge of the dressing room and watched Dickey reel off some movies. Other Yankees drifted over for a glimpse. Mantle in action is always an intriguing sight.

Mantle's the boy Branch Rickey says "has a chance to make you forget every ball player you ever saw." Off the field, however, Mickey has the same humility he brought with him out of Commerce, Okla., one short year ago.

"I still strike out too much," the Mick shook his head. "Maybe I swing too hard. But strikeouts don't bother me any more."

"Last year I didn't care where the ball went, even if it was an infield pop, just so I didn't strike out. Now I don't care how I go out, just as long as I get my hits and drive in runs in between."

How about his switch hitting, which some critics have carped "em."

"Huh," he scoffed. "Last year they told me I was weaker hitting right-handed. The early part of this season I couldn't buy a hit left-handed. I say it's all even up. Of my first 13 homers, I hit seven left, six right."

"It's funny, but my weakness as a left-hand hitter is a high ball, yet when I bat right-handed it's a low ball."

Mantle does all his bunting from the left side. People say with his speed Mickey would hit .450, if he could hunt better. He doesn't see it that way.

"I think I bunt pretty good," he smiled with a dimpled line creasing his cheeks. "By dragging them once in a while, I keep the infielders from playing back too far. Then I can hit the ball through 'em."

"I haven't been timed for the 100 since I was in the eighth grade," he drawled, "but I reckon I can do around 10 flat. I did 10.5 back then."

"I still favor the knee I hurt in the World Series, and it might have slowed me a bit. I was running hard. There was a little upgrade and I stepped in a water drain." He showed graphically how his knee buckled, ripping a ligament.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, Aug. 7.—(AP)—If you should see a furtive looking fellow walking along close to the buildings and casting nervous glances aloft, the chances are good that he's a big league manager wondering when the old axe is going to fall. It's a precarious profession these days.

A glance through the record discloses that the 16 major league clubs have within the past five seasons employed a total of 42 managers, with a couple of months still to go in the current scramble. A team which isn't paying salaries to at least two pilots, past and present, is considered a reactionary.

Quick, now, and with no coaching, name the manager who has enjoyed the longest tenure with his present club. It is necessary, obviously, to set a rather short time limit for an answer, because time and the present crop of jittery club owners stand still for no quiz program.

The correct, if improbable, answer is Billy Meyer, the lovable and long-suffering commander of the last-place Pittsburgh Pirates in the National League. He is the only member of the dugout clan who has been at the same stand ever since the 1948 season began, and it is open to debate whether Billy deserves congratulations in view of what Branch Rickey has done to him this year.

Leo Durocher is the runner-up, having taken over the Giants in mid-'48, and Casey Stengel is the elder statesman of the American League as he heads toward his fourth full year at the Yankee helm. Most of the other pilots have made a practice of renting apartments on a month-to-month basis and unpacking only a couple of bags.

The Chicago White Sox, for instance, are working on their fourth manager within five years, being holders of the record since the panic set in. Nine others have had three. One of them, the Boston Braves, would be paying handsome salaries to all three of theirs but for the fact that Tommy Holmes, now with the Brooks, is not permitted to draw pay from two clubs in the same league.

Three National League teams—Philadelphia, Cincinnati and Boston—and two American—Detroit and St. Louis—have discovered it was all a terrible mistake since the present races opened and the magnates, becoming alarmed at the general sag in box office receipts, sought means of placating their fans. It is not even necessary to obtain waivers on a manager, so he is something of a sitting duck.

There are times when one gets to thinking about it and wonders why the average big leaguer dreams of some day handling a lot of sweaty, big-headed athletes and taking his chances with some owner who, the chances are, made his fortune in dress goods.

Ronnie Matthews Asks Sydney For Release

It's a precarious career. There are only the 16 top jobs, and after that the minors with their overnight bus trips and cold-water dressing rooms. There is no more unhappy duty in sports writing than the interview with the big league pilot who has just received the word. You know you'll probably see him at the next annual major-minor meeting, sore footing it around among the potted palms and asking his old pals if they need a manager for one of their farm teams, or perchance a good scout.

Kid Gavilan Signs To Meet Billy Graham

Havana, Aug. 7. — (AP) — Kid Gavilan, Havana's world welterweight champion, will defend his title here against Billy Graham of New York sometime during the first week of October in a 15-round bout.

Contracts were signed today after discussions between James Norris of New York, president of the International Boxing Club; Irving Cohen, Graham's co-manager; and Fernando Balido, one of Gavilan's managers.

Gavilan defeated Graham in New York by a split decision in a previous meeting.

Terms of the contract were not announced, but it is understood that Gavilan will get $30,000 and Graham $18,000.
