CRITICAL ANALYSIS OF RAILROAD SITUATION MADE IN UPPER HOUSE

Although Admitting Need of Reform of Railways, Senator Graham, Former Minister of Railways, Disagreed With Some Features of Royal Commission Report—No Need for Public Investigation of Penitentiaries, Declares Senator Meighan.

Ottawa, October 29.—Indications multiply that new railway legislation is due for a rough ride through Parliament. The bill, based on the recommendations of the Royal Commission on Transportation, is now before the Senate, where the Upper House members will pass upon its merits before it gets to the House of Commons.

With the railway bill before it, the Senate again stole the show yesterday while the Commons continued the stale debate on the Canada-United Kingdom trade pact and threshed over the old issues of high and low tariffs. An important pronouncement from Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighan, Government leader, on the Portsmouth Penitentiary riot added interest to proceedings in the Senate.

A former Minister of Railways, Rt. Hon. George P. Graham, discussed the railway problem sympathetically but critically. He disagreed with some features of the proposed plan to give the Canadian National Railways a new control system and provide machinery for co-operation in reducing expenses between the two railroad systems.

He was not prepared to admit that public ownership of railways had proved a failure, Senator Graham asserted. The company could not be blamed for spending money on what looked like good investments at the time or on necessary improvements. As president and vice-president of companies, he himself had made the same mistakes, as had every business man.

Nothing in principle was wrong with the administration of the Portsmouth Penitentiary, Senator Meighan told the Upper House. Authority at the big prison might have been "insufficient or inefficient."

No occasion existed for a public investigation of the recent riots as suggested by Senator John Lewis, who said such institutions tended to get into a rut. Senator Meighan deplored the tendency to extend sympathy to law-breakers and declared there could be no hearing as to the merits of the riots between the rioters and officials. If the law was wrong it was Parliament's duty to change it, but those charged with enforcing the law must be supported.

In his opening remarks, Senator Graham admitted that he might be accused of taking the side of the railways, but he thought something ought to be said in favor of the great executive boards that are conducting and have conducted two transcontinental systems. He was not going to apologize anybody or to forgive anybody for errors, but he intended to state the reasons why these executives took certain courses of action in certain matters, that in times of depression appear to be reckless, but that in good times were considered to be investments. He thought everybody had errors, but he intended to state the reasons why these executives took certain courses of action in certain matters, that in times of depression appear to be reckless, but that in good times were considered to be investments.

He would not debate the question whether it was right or wrong for the country to take over the railways. They had been taken over. It had been repeatedly stated that when the railways were taken over they were in good condition. His experience, as Minister of Railways, showed him that this was not the case. The main arteries were in fair condition, but many betterments were needed even on main lines and terminal improvements required cost many millions.

He also dealt with the problems created by the fact that both Canadian roads owned extensive mileage in the United States. One other problem that required considerable adjustment he continued, was the winding of the Grand Trunk and the Canadian Northern into a single system. Discussing the Board of Directors of the National systems, the Senator stated that while he favored a smaller board, he did not favor the placing of the road in the hands of three men.

As regards hotels, he considered that the plan of railways conducting hotels were not built for profit, but times. The C.P.R. had followed the example in this respect of the largest railways in Europe. The totals were not built for profit, but for another reason, to provide for its steamship service and hotels could take care of their passenger traffic and thereby derive an indirect profit. This was also the policy which guided the Canadian National. There was no railway in the United States that had such complete organization for the care of passenger traffic. Our railways had to compete for trans-continental traffic with the United States roads and had to be kept to the standard of those roads in providing accommodation. It would be a serious loss if Canadian railways failed to maintain a standard of transportation that would secure them traffic.

The Canadian National Railways also built hotels. Some hotels were built on this system before the amalgamation. The pressure on railways to build hotels was enormous. The building of a hotel in Prince Edward Island was severely criticized. A large tourist traffic was being developed there. The people there were anxious for a hotel that would permit them to share in the tourist traffic of the Maritime Provinces.

If the railway did not build it no one else would and it remains to be seen whether it would pay or not.

Another hotel project severely criticized was that in Vancouver. This was a legacy from the Canadian Northern. Originally the British Columbia Railway was not a Dominion Railway and the Minister suggested to the Government to

WIDE DIVERGENCE IN IRISH AND BRITISH VIEWPOINTS

London, Oct. 29.—White papers published in Dublin and London today in the Anglo-Irish financial dispute showed wide divergence in the British and Irish viewpoints on this issue which sprang out of the Free State's retention of land annuities.

Perhaps the central point of public interest was contained in the Irish claim of past over-taxation. It was understood the Irish had in mind the sum of £400,000,000 without interest as the amount of their claim since the Act of Union in 1801.

The British view was that this claim was not admissible, and, besides, any such amount could not possibly be determined.

FRANCE FAVORS ABOLITION OF A STANDING ARMY

Substitution of Short-Term Conscription Advocated by Premier Herriot in Chamber of Deputies.

Paris, Oct. 29.—Premier Edouard Herriot today won the Chamber of Deputies over to a new French disarmament plan providing for conscription arms in Europe.

The conscription plan was the basis of the new scheme and would abolish all professional armies, such as the German Reichswehr, in favor of a short-term conscriptional system.

The participation of United States in guarantees was one of the conditions under which France would be willing to launch into the conscriptional army plan. The point was not explained by the Premier in his address to the Chamber.

The Chamber voted confidence in the government on the new disarmament plan by the overwhelming count of 430 to 20 after the Premier had outlined the idea.

The outline was explained to the press last night by Under Secretary of State Paul Marchandeau, M. Herriot's first assistant as premier. M. Marchandeau said France would accept an undetermined date reduction in the conscript term for all land forces in France proper, provided:

1. Any formation contrary to such organization of any army—such as the Reichswehr—would be disbanded and police forces regulated.

2. International control of armaments would be organized with provisions for the right of investigation.

3. The Locarno pact would be completed by regional pacts of mutual assistance so that every European nation would partake, and so that the collective force for mutual assistance thus assured would be sufficient to repress aggression.

4. The United States would accord those guarantees of security it has envisaged itself.

5. States that are members of the League of Nations would engage to fulfill all obligations under article 16 of the League Covenant. (This provides that League members shall sever trade relations with any nation in the League which engaged in an act of war and declares the League Council shall recommend in such a case, what armaments the members shall contribute to protect the Covenant.)

6. Arbitration would be obligatory for all states adhering to the new pact.

This disarmament scheme was approved only a few hours before a conference had been arranged between Norman Davis, United States representative at the Disarmament Conference, and M. Herriot.

Just what this conference would involve was not announced beyond the general subject of disarmament, which was also discussed in London by Mr. Davis.

The impression was growing in diplomatic circles, however, that tangible disarmament results must await an agreement between France, Italy and Japan. It was also felt a five power naval conference among Great Britain, France, Italy, United States and Japan was inevitable.

M. Herriot, meanwhile, plans to carry the French disarmament plan to Geneva under the Chamber's mandate for presentation to the disarmament committee, probably on November 3rd.

NEW GRADUATES ARE ADDRESSED BY DR. MCGREER

Principal of Bishop's University Bringing an Inspiring Message to Grad Before Graduating Class of Montreal School.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Choose a purpose for life worthy of your talents and pursue it with a strong, unflinching will, Dr. A. H. McGreer, M.A., O.B.E., M.C., principal of the University of Bishop's College and member of the Protestant Committee of Education, advised last night's graduation class at Strathcona Academy in the Memorial Assembly Hall, Cote St. Catherine Road.

"The founders dedicated the school to the memory of a great Canadian, Lord Strathcona, whose achievements as administrator, philanthropist and statesman make a remarkable chapter in the history of our Dominion.

"It is fitting that a school associated with him in name should be characterized by zeal and determination in all its undertakings. The diplomas which are awarded this evening are evidence of the pupils' success in their recent work; and it is well known that in athletics and other activities the school has a splendid record," Dr. McGreer continued.

From medieval times to the present, on its higher levels, English education has regarded fourteen years as the normal period for the education of a boy for his life's work, Dr. McGreer said. That tradition, which prolongs the youth of the boy and delays the time when he goes out to take the full responsibilities of life on himself is one of the reasons why races that exercise in the west are more vigorous than those of the east.

TARIFFS AND PROHIBITION STILL MAIN ISSUES AS ELECTION NEARS

Startling Shift in Position of Democrat Nominee on Tariff Question Denounced by Hoover—Democrat Leaders Predict Return of Beer Before Christmas in Event of Roosevelt's Election—Straw Votes Disheartening to Republicans.

New York, Oct. 29.—A determined Republican bid for votes on its high tariff policy and an equally concerted Democratic bid on the predicted prospect of quick repeal of dry laws under a Roosevelt regime, were on the United States election cards today.

President Herbert Hoover personally led the defence of the tariff, speaking in normally Republican Indiana, amid the most whole-hearted ovation he has received during this campaign. He said Governor Franklin Roosevelt, Democratic hopeful for the presidency, had stumped the country promising general tariff reductions.

Then, within two weeks of the election, the President, cried in what was for him an unusually halting voice, he announced he does not propose to reduce tariff rates.

"This is the most startling shift in position by a presidential candidate in all recent political history," Mr. Hoover added as an indoor crowd of 23,000 and outdoor throng estimated up to 50,000 shouted approval.

Democratic repeal predictions had been taken to the heart of those who would have an old-fashioned New Year celebration.

"All" Smith, asked many times as his train stopped and started on its New England passage, "How about beer?" was quick with the reply: "December 15."

Senator Huey P. Long, of Indiana, predicted "beer by Christmas if Roosevelt is elected."

As straw vote taking continued to indicate Mr. Hoover's presidential career almost ended, at least for the present, the chairman of his campaign committee labelled such polls "valueless."

The Literary Digest's poll, never known to err more than five per cent, in presidential predictions of other years, gave Roosevelt a three to two lead. The total votes were: Roosevelt 1,648,237, and Hoover 1,095,274.

Translated into electoral votes the returns would yield Democrat 474 against 57 for the President, with 266 necessary for election.

A "poll of the best brains" appearing in the "Forum" magazine, also showed the New York Governor in the lead. Roosevelt received sixteen votes; Norman Thomas, Socialist nominee, ten, and Hoover eight.

H. L. Mencken, Clarence Darrow, Sidney Lenz, bridge expert, were among the voters.

Roger Babson and Will Durant voted for the chief executive.

MAN'S BODY WAS FOUND TODAY AT BROMPTONVILLE

Remains of Thomas Fecteau, of Sherbrooke, Discovered in St. Francis River—Verdict of Accidental Death.

Bromptonville, Oct. 29.—An unfortunate tragedy was disclosed here today when the body of Thomas Fecteau, forty-five years old, of St. Edward street, Sherbrooke, was discovered in the waters of the St. Francis River near the Brompton Pulp and Paper Mill.

The man's death was investigated this morning by Coroner Bachand and a verdict of accidental death through drowning" rendered.

Fecteau had apparently fallen into the river about fifteen days ago. The body was quite decomposed, and could not be identified immediately. A card for the Sherbrooke municipal kitchen, bearing his name, was found upon his person.

UNITED STATES FEDERAL AGENTS SEIZE MOST POWERFUL UNLICENSED BROADCASTING OUTFIT UNCOVERED IN YEARS.

New York, October 29.—A solar plexus blow to a far-flung rum-runners' ring was the way United States federal agents described a raid on a hidden wireless station as they arraigned seven prisoners today on a charge of breaking the communication laws.

Two months of investigation culminated last night in a surprise raid on a Coney Island house. In the walls of the place, the agents said, they found the most powerful unlicensed broadcasting outfit uncovered in years.

In the house and in another building near Manhattan Beach the agents seized the seven men, among them George McDonald, described as an unlicensed operator.

For more than a year, the agents charged, the station had been directing rum row's operations, sending messages to liquor-laden vessels off the Coney Island, Long Island and New Jersey coasts. They said it had guided the smuggling of about 7,000,000 worth of liquor a year.

Confusion on rum row was predicted by the detectives as a result of the raid. They said it would diminish the supply of liquor along the eastern coast, wrecking the ring's elaborate plans to supply the fall and winter trade.

McDonald said he lived in Brooklyn, as did the other six, Neal Henry, Charles Rizza, John Ferraro, John Murphy, Patsy Bruno and Teddy Sturiale.

McKINNON STEEL PROFITS SHOW SHARP CONTRACTION

Working Capital Well Maintained Despite Poor Showing on Operations of Past Year.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Sharply reduced operating profits are shown in the annual report of MacKinnon Steel Corporation for the fiscal year ended July 31st.

The profits were reported at 29,900 against $50,307 for the preceding year. After deduction of $14,000 for depreciation, net earnings available for dividends were shown at $15,900 compared with $32,307 in the year before. After deduction of dividends and other adjustments a deficit of $11,059 for the year was reported, bringing surplus down to $42,055.

Working capital was well maintained at $253,168 against $284,280.

ALL GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS MUST PAY INCOME TAX

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Amendments to the Income War Tax Act which will provide, among other things, that ministers, commissioners, officers and employees of the government resident outside Canada will be liable to the tax, have been placed on the order paper of the House of Commons.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance, has given notice of the amendments in the form of a resolution which will form the basis of a bill to be introduced later.

LUMBER IMPORTS

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Lumber imports in September were valued at $92,812, compared with $101,421 in August and $301,533 in September last year, including such woods as oak, chestnut, mahogany, hickory, redwood, Spanish cedar, etc.

RUM-RUNNERS DEPRIVED OF GUIDING STAR

United States Federal Agents Seize Most Powerful Unlicensed Broadcasting Outfit Uncovered in Years.

New York, October 29.—A solar plexus blow to a far-flung rum-runners' ring was the way United States federal agents described a raid on a hidden wireless station as they arraigned seven prisoners today on a charge of breaking the communication laws.

LONG HEARING IS CONCLUDED AT SWEETSBURG

Case Taken by Dame Eva Plante Laliberte Against North Stukely School Board Concluded Yesterday Morning—Judge Trahan Takes Matter En Delibere.

Sweetsburg, Oct. 29.—The October term of the District of Bedford Superior Court was concluded here early yesterday morning when the action instituted by Dame Eva Plante Laliberte against the North Stukely School Board was taken under advisement by His Lordship, Mr. Justice Arthur Trahan, of New Brunswick.

The hearing, which was inaugurated on Wednesday, continued all Thursday and as six o'clock arrived there were still several witnesses to be heard on behalf of the defence. Instead of postponing the case until the November term, His Lordship decided to sit Thursday evening. At ten o'clock, Joseph Gingras, of Waterloo, and L. A. Giroux, K.C., attorneys for the respective parties, opened their final arguments, and shortly after midnight the case was taken en delibere, judgment to be rendered next term.

The Court House was crowded as the case entered its final stages. Seven hundred residents from the North Stukely parish crowded into the room to listen to the evidence in a case which has caused widespread interest throughout the district. The defence produced witnesses to substantiate its plea that Mrs. Laliberte had been misled shortly after she had signed a two-year contract for alleged immoral conduct. Defence witnesses claimed that they had noticed men on different occasions entering the school house in which the plaintiff resided with her orphaned children and not leaving until a late hour. These men entered the witness stand to explain the object of their nocturnal visits. One stated that one of the plaintiff's children had been seriously ill and he had gone to render whatever assistance he could, while a second declared that he had stood guard over the school premises because several teachers in the vicinity had been attacked by midnight prowlers. Mrs. Laliberte corroborated these versions. The testimony given by some witnesses brought touches of comedy into the case. At various stages the proceedings were halted until the dignity of the Court was restored following uncontrollable outbursts of laughter. The lawyers and even the presiding judge had to laugh at some of the expressions given.

Owing to the length of the case, all other cases were adjourned until the November term.

ratification of wage cuts in agreements scheduled to be signed in Manchester today. It is understood similar action was taken in the Oldham district.

TWO THOUSAND ELECTORS JOIN IN CIVIC WELCOME TO NEW MINISTER

Cowansville and Brome County Residents Join in Greeting Hon. R. F. Stockwell, Newly Appointed Provincial Treasurer, on Home-Coming from Quebec—Support of Electors for New Minister in Hard Labors Urged by Hon. Jacob Nicol.

Cowansville, October 29.—It was a memorable occasion for Hon. R. F. Stockwell, M.L.A., for Brome, when he returned to his home here last evening to spend the week-end with his fellow-citizens, not only as their representative at Quebec, but bearing the additional responsibilities of Provincial Treasurer.

In fact it was an occasion worthy of celebration, for residents of Brome County, truly appreciative of the honor that had been indirectly conferred upon them in the appointment of Mr. Stockwell to handle the finances of the province, and, together with a number of prominent Eastern Townships politicians, they turned out en masse to tender the Colonel a civic reception, upon his arrival from Montreal by the evening train.

"I am deeply touched. I am overwhelmed," said Col. Stockwell. "I never knew I had so many friends."

He spoke the words shortly after his arrival, standing next to the charming Mrs. Stockwell and their two children, William, age twelve, and Elizabeth, age seven, on the veranda of his home. A huge delegation of over two thousand people, headed by the Knowlton band, under the direction of Joseph Lefebvre, had met Col. Stockwell at the station. Hundreds of cars had preceded the newly-appointed Provincial Treasurer to his home here, where he met and shook the hands of his numerous friends as he received their congratulations.

Hon. Jacob Nicol, president of the Legislative Council, was among those present, together with the Hon. W. S. Bullock, representative for Wellington in the Upper House; W. G. Duffy, M.L.A. for Compton; R. R. Bachand, M.L.A. for Shefford, and A. Saurette, M.L.A. for Missisquoi. The Cowansville Council attended in a body, with W. F. Bowles, K.C., of Cowansville, representing Mayor Napoleon Halle, who was unable to be present.

Following several short speeches, all in praise of the high qualities of the new Provincial Treasurer, expressing confidence in his ability and his integrity, Col. Stockwell invited his friends, one and all, to enter his home and share his and Mrs. Stockwell's hospitality. There was nothing necessarily elaborate about the reception. But it was sincere. It reflected the sentiment, the pride of a people in the man they had selected as their representative. No grandiose ceremony could have been more impressive.

"A high and well merited honour has been conferred on one of our fellow-citizens, and we hasten to express our pride and appreciation," declared W. F. Bowles, K.C., who presided over the ceremonies at the house and was 'one of the instrumental factors in the arrangement of the whole reception. "You have resided here for the past fourteen years, following your return from overseas, and we have on numerous occasions noted not only your willingness but your ability to render services for the benefit of the general public," he continued.

"Your rapid rise in the broader field of provincial politics in a year's time, is in itself a tribute to you, and a confirmation of the well placed esteem and respect of your fellow-townsmen. We desire to share with you the honors which we feel reflect on the Eastern Townships and on our town. To our felicitations to Mrs. Stockwell and yourself may we join an expression of hope and confidence that success will mark the serious labors which you have undertaken."

Col. Stockwell faced the large gathering that stood on the spacious lawn in front of his home. He was deeply touched. He smiled. "I wish to thank you all," he said. "I wish to thank especially the members of the Board of Brome, to the Eastern Townships. It signifies once more the important part that Brome County, always historic, continues to play in the history of our province."

Col. Stockwell faced a difficult task, he knew. "We have with us tonight a predecessor to the position I now hold in the person of Hon. Jacob Nicol. I am grateful to him for the generous help he has given me during my political career.

"In the execution of my duties, he has not only been a most generous and modest—but for I think it behoves a man, no matter what success he achieves, to remain humble and modest."

The Colonel expressed his appreciation and thanks to the press of the province. "It has acclaimed my nomination in a manner which was not entitled to expect. I am very grateful."

At the close of his short address, pretty Frances Robinson, ten year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Robinson, presented Mr. Stockwell with a lovely bouquet of flowers.

"No occasion such as this would have been complete without a few words from the Hon. Jacob Nicol. "My friend Col. Stockwell faces a colossal task," said Mr. Nicol. "He will need your help. He will need your support. It is my duty to give him your help and support. By doing that you will not only help yourselves and Col. Stockwell, but the whole province at large."

Mr. Nicol, smiled. "Col. Stockwell has spoken about modesty and humility. He will find that to be humble is to remain humble, will be one of the easiest things to do. The people will quickly remind him that he has to be humble—should he ever forget."

"I once occupied the position of Provincial Treasurer. Times were prosperous then. Yet it was a difficult task—but nothing compared to what it will be for Mr. Stockwell. But he possesses all the necessary qualities. He is patient, well educated."

LARGE WING OF HOSPITAL WAS BADLY GUTTED

Flames in Portion of Children's Hospital at Quebec Brought Under Control Without Any Loss of Life.

Quebec, Oct. 29.—Quebec today went about its business, completely recovered from the shock sustained yesterday when that most poignant of all possible disasters, fire in a children's hospital made its appearance.

The fire, which resulted in three alarms being turned in and a rush of all possible equipment to the Infant Jesus Hospital, resolved itself into a blaze in one wing and was brought under control within an hour. No one was injured.

During that hour nuns of the Dominican Sisters of the Infant Jesus braved fire and thick, oily smoke, to carry scores of children out of the threatened wing and put them to rest in beds in another wing. Ambulances were ready to evacuate the hospital, if necessary.

Damage estimated at some thousands of dollars, was caused to the new wing of the hospital. Originally designed for 120 beds, the institution was recently enlarged to take care of three hundred patients. Rev. Mother Gerard Majella is the Superior in charge of the institution.

The fire revived memories of a night in December, 1927, when flames turned the Hospice St. Charles into a death trap, claiming thirty-three lives, thirty-two of them children.

THE WEATHER

RAIN, THEN COLDER

A deep disturbance passing eastward across the Great Lakes is causing strong winds and gales with rain in the Great Lakes region, and some snow has fallen in Northern Ontario. Another storm, centred over the Gulf of St. Lawrence, has caused unsettled weather in the Maritimes and Gulf, with strong winds and gales. Light snow has fallen in Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan, while elsewhere in the West it has been fair and cold. Pressure is high over Manitoba and southward to Kansas.

Forecast: Strong southeast to southwest winds with rain tonight and part of Sunday, followed by strong northwest winds and colder.

New England: Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday; slowly rising temperature Sunday in north and east portions.

Temperature yesterday: Maximum 47, minimum 29.

Same day last year: Maximum 47, minimum 27.

MAILING ERROR CAUSED POLITICAL EXPLOSION

New York, October 29.—It blew up without warning as a major political tornado, but today it had blown just as quickly into the best joke of the turbulent United States election campaign.

A letter received by a Montreal shipping man seeking funds to help Governor Franklin Roosevelt defeat Herbert Hoover for the presidency in the November balloting was followed by charges of "selling the White House to foreigners," and answered by cries of "forgery, political trickery." Now it has turned out a little slip by a campaign office mailer was responsible for one of the biggest jolts of a much jolted electorate has received.

Back of the quick-moving election melodrama which might be titled "tempest in a teapot" was the fact that a Montreal shipping man, so far unnamed, found frequent trips to New York necessary and eventually joined a New York social club. In efforts to dispel a low, black, money cloud hanging over the Democratic campaign headquarters it was decided to circulate members of New York social clubs, seeking financial assistance to help overthrow the Hoover regime. One of the clubs happened to be that to which the Montrealer belonged. An unattentive mailer who should have known better than to send such a letter out of the country wasn't quite on the job. The letter was received in Montreal and act one of the melodrama was completed.

McDonald said he lived in Brooklyn, as did the other six, Neal Henry, Charles Rizza, John Ferraro, John Murphy, Patsy Bruno and Teddy Sturiale.

NEW DOMINION LOAN FEATURES FINANCE NEWS

Unusual Spectacle of Commodities and Stocks Pursuing Opposite Directions Witnessed on Markets During Past Week.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—Two big developments of the week in financial circles were the announcement of the terms of the Federal Government's $50,000,000 internal loan, to go on the market next Monday, and the drop of wheat values to a new all-time low.

Coincidentally with the drastic fall in wheat came the slump of the pound sterling to within a fraction of 3.27 in New York and a point below 3.00 in Canada.

Sterling's weakness is blamed to some extent for the wheat debacle although in ordinary circumstances commodities go up with the fall of currencies. It just happens, however, that Canada is still in the midst of heavy exportations of wheat to the United Kingdom and it is assumed that a lower sterling rate will discourage wheat purchasers and thus depress the market price.

Various reasons are advanced for the fall of sterling but the most plausible seems to be that the British Government is buying U.S. dollars to cover the $50,000,000 payment on war debt account due December 15 and also making heavy purchases of goods abroad, particularly United States cotton. Bear operators are also credited with exercising some of the pressure and this may have repercussions in the loss of exports by the United States.

The most weak found stocks and commodities pursuing contrary reactions which in itself is an unusual development. Taking Friday's closing prices it is found that all the leading commodities, except cotton, lost ground while stocks and bonds advanced. If the stock market forecasts the business trend, as a follower of the tape declare, then commodities are due for a turn shortly for it is agreed that a rise in the price of commodities must accompany business improvement.

In the stock market C.P.R. made the best recovery with a pick-up for the week from 14 1/2 to 15 3/8. Fractional gains were made by the oil and textile industries. Nickel, Brazilian and Smelters while Imperial Oil was down a small fraction.

In the mining market the big gold producers showed no change to speak of except McIntyre which was up .115 and Noranda up $1 for the week.

The general bond market has been firm but quiet this week, being overshadowed by preparations for the issue of the new Dominion of Canada loan on Monday.

During the week the Province of Ontario arranged $5,000,000 of one-year financing with two of the Canadian banks. These one-year securities bore a 3 1/2 per cent coupon.

Scattered evidence of business pick-up continues to come along. Government statistics reveal an upturn in employment at the beginning of October when a slowing up would be considered normal. The improvement is noted chiefly in the food and textile industries.

Recent reports sent to their shareholders by the flour milling companies have all been more encouraging than those of a year ago. The chiefs of this industry are hopeful of recovering some of their lost export markets through operation of the promised ten per cent preference in the United Kingdom market. The same provision is expected to eliminate competition from Canadian wheat milled in bond in Buffalo.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL TAKES INTEREST IN THEATRICALS

Calls Meeting to Promote Canadian "Little Theatre" Festival—Many Social Events During Past Week at Ottawa.

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—His Excellency the Governor-General has called a meeting for this afternoon at Government House in the interests of the "Little Theatre" movement throughout Canada and will make arrangements for a festival to be held early next summer. Representatives from all parts of Canada are in Ottawa for this event.

Hon. R. J. Manion and Mrs. Manion entertained at a small dinner party on Thursday evening for seasonal visitors.

Mrs. George Black, wife of the Speaker of the House of Commons, was hostess at a delightful luncheon this week in the Speaker's Chambers of the Commons. The guest of honor was Mrs. O. S. Crockett, wife of the newly appointed Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The guests, who numbered forty-four, were seated at small tables of four, and were prettily adorned with scarlet maple leaves and small crimson berries in clusters.

Their Excellencies the Governor-General and the Countess of Beaulieu entertained at two dinners last week at Rideau Hall. On Wednesday evening the guests included the Rt. Hon. the Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. Sir George Perley and Lady Perley, Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Rt. Hon. Sir Robert Borden and Lady Borden.

Col. Stockwell made it clear in an interview in Montreal yesterday that he is a disciple of Premier Taschereau in the belief that the Government should not always be the subject of appeals. He suggested that the public should support the treasury in getting what is right.

OFFICERS ARE APPOINTED FOR MUSICAL GROUP

Mrs. L. E. Codere Again at the Head of L'Union Musicale de Sherbrooke and Alliance Francaise.

L'Union Musicale de Sherbrooke, hand in hand with l'Alliance Francaise, is inaugurating another year of activity, under the careful guidance of Mrs. L. E. Codere, who has been re-appointed president of L'Union, and also of l'Alliance Francaise, for the coming twelve months.

L'Union Musicale has become an important factor in the cultural development of not only the French, but also of the English element of the city. Interest in its activities, its progress and success has been highly manifest during the past year, which has seen a large enrollment of students.

L'Alliance Francaise is affiliated with L'Union Musicale, and its work is devoted towards creating a greater appreciation among the French citizens of the beauty of their language, French diction. The association has paused in its activities during the past few months, but will renew them on Monday evening, when a lecture will be given at the City Hall by Albert Levesque, of Montreal, on "Man and Ideas."

The general election of officers for L'Union Musicale resulted in the appointment of Mrs. Codere as president; Mrs. F. H. Bradley, Hon. Justice C. D. White, Charles Emile Bachand and Antonio Genest as vice-presidents; Notary Leonidas Bachand, Alfred Desrochers and Prof. J. D. Dufour, joint secretaries; E. A. Tanguay, treasurer; P. E. Genest, assistant treasurer; Miss Eglantine Bernier, trustee; Prof. Charles Delveigne, musical director; G. Bisson, manager; Roland Genest, assistant manager; Georges Duchesne, librarian; and Prof. A. B. Bourgeois, Dr. A. Dupuis, Miss Yvette Robitaille, Eugene Lefebvre, Louis N. A. det, Charles de L. Mignault, and Arthur Oliver (president of the dramatic section), as executives.

The Board of Directors includes Mrs. N. Dupuis, Mrs. A. Hamel, Genest, Mrs. A. Brunelle-Robitaille and Mrs. E. A. Tanguay, Miss S. Berard, Miss Francaise Bachand, Miss Adrienne Bernier, Miss P. Brochu, Miss Rachel Belisle, Miss Mariette Boisvert, Miss R. Chartier, Miss S. Gauthier, Miss S. Genest, Miss E. Laurencelle, Miss Aline Laliberté, Miss M. Laiberte, Miss R. A. Morin, Miss J. Thivierge, Miss J. Tanguay, Miss Cecile Roy, Messrs. A. Bouchard, Romeo Brule, A. Bisson, M. Beauchesne, Ted Bullock, B. A. Brooks, T. E. Donahue, J. Olivier Dubuc, F. H. Dubuc, C. P. Dubuc, C. Dufour, E. Emery, Fortin, M.L.A., P. Fortin, E. Forges, M. Goyet, A. Genest, Prof. R. Havard, L. P. LeMire, Roland Labrecque, Dr. J. H. Michaud, Gordon Miller, Geo. Moore, H. O'Bready, Dr. E. Plante, A. E. Reed, L. P. Robidoux, Eugene St. Pierre, A. Vanier, and A. Wood. Mr. Emile Blais was appointed auditor.

The officers of l'Alliance Francaise include Mrs. L. E. Codere, president; Prof. J. D. Dufour and Charles de L. Mignault, vice-presidents; Notary Leonidas Bachand, secretary; and E. A. Tanguay, treasurer.

Officers of the orpheon section are Antonio Genest, president; P. H. Dubuc and Maurice Beauchesne, vice-presidents; Eugene St. Pierre, secretary; and Georges Moore, treasurer.

Dramatic section, Arthur Olivier, president; Miss Rachel Belisle, vice-president; Roland Labrecque, secretary; and E. Forges, treasurer.

Disciplinary committee, president, Mrs. L. E. Codere, assisted by Mrs. F. H. Bradley, Prof. Bourgeois, Prof. Dufour, Georges Duchesne, C. E. Bachand and E. A. Tanguay.

Two thousand electors join in civic welcome to new minister.

ated, and trained in the matters of legislation, and the Protestant minority."

"He represents the Eastern Townships and the Protestant minority."

"Hon. Jacob told me that you have to fight for that minority. I tell you that will not be necessary. Premier Taschereau and his ministers will help you and co-operate with you in your work. I wish you every success. I know you will succeed."

Hon. W. S. Bullock, representative for Wellington district in the Upper House, and Alexandre Saurette, M.L.A. for Missisquoi, lauded the character and the qualities of the new Provincial Treasurer.

Colonel Stockwell, comparative newcomer to provincial politics, was Crown Prosecutor of Sherbrooke County from 1925 to 1931. He was born in Danville, Que., November 21, 1885.

He is a graduate of McGill University and has an impressive military record. He was a colonel commanding the 4th Mounted Brigade and served in France and Flanders during the war. He was a major in the Canadian Mounted Rifles and later staff officer at Canadian Training Division camp at Bramshott, England.

Col. Stockwell's excellent work was brought to the attention of the Secretary of State for War.

The new treasurer was elected to the Legislative Assembly of the province as Liberal candidate in the general elections of August 24, 1931.

Col. Stockwell made it clear in an interview in Montreal yesterday that he is a disciple of Premier Taschereau in the belief that the Government should not always be the subject of appeals. He suggested that the public should support the treasury in getting what is right.

BRITISH CURRENCY FIRM

New York, Oct. 29.—British currencies were firm during early trading today on local foreign exchange. The pound sterling advanced one-quarter of a cent to 32.28 1/2 in United States funds, while the Canadian dollar was quoted at 96 1/2 cents, yesterday's closing quotation.

CAR CONCEALED IN WOODS NEAR NORTH HATLEY

Automobile Stolen from Sherbrooke Last September Recovered Yesterday—Was Hidden in Inaccessible Spot.

Where do stolen cars go? Where are they hidden—and how? These are questions that puzzled police officers who have asked themselves numerous times, and that have been asked them by despairing victims of automobile thefts.

Stolen cars are often found abandoned by the roadside or in a field. Sometimes they are identified by alert searchers in other parts of the country, in cities, in small municipalities, in garages undergoing repairs. Oftentimes they are never recovered. This has not been so much the rule around Sherbrooke, as in other parts of the country.

But the question of where stolen cars go was given one answer that startled the local police, to say the least.

On September 8th last, a motor truck belonging to the Independent Fruit Company of Montreal, was stolen from Lansdowne street. Chief Camirand was advised and immediately conducted an investigation, distributing to surrounding districts important information concerning the make of car, serial and license numbers and the like.

The month of September went by, and October had almost completely passed, without a tangible or valuable clue to the whereabouts of the stolen vehicle. Then Herma Anderson, of North Hatley, communicated with Chief Camirand, yesterday, to inform him that an abandoned motor truck had been found in a wooded section of land on his own farm. The car was identified as that of the Independent Fruit Company. But this was astounded the police. The thieves had hidden the vehicle in a manner that is quite inexplicable. They had removed a section of the fence separating Anderson's field from the highway, and had driven the car through five or six acres of thick bushes and deep into the woods near Anderson's property.

"How they ever managed to do so," exclaimed Chief Camirand to the Record this morning, "I don't know." He explained that the truck, once in the shelter of the woods, had been placed on planks and the wheels removed. A load of hay had been thrown on top to conceal it completely from view, and on top of this load of hay had been spread a large number of branches.

Anderson discovered the car yesterday as he was walking through the woods on a short hunting excursion. The police are awaiting word from Montreal before the truck is removed.

In the meantime the police are trying to think up some plan by which to remove it when the time comes. As it is they are quite puzzled.

He was asked if he had thought of any new taxes. He said that he had not. "And I am not trying to think any new taxes. He said that he had not."

give no further aid to the Canadian Northern until they had completed what they had undertaken. They got no aid at that time, but MacKenzie and Mann had an agreement with the McBride Government which stated that a railway should be constructed from Vancouver to the Boundary Line and should never submit its tariffs to the Board of Railway Commissioners.

When Sir Robert Borden became Prime Minister an act was passed defining the line of the Canadian Northern for the general advantage of Canada, thus bringing it under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission. MacKenzie and Mann had promised to build a hotel in Vancouver.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen interjected that he understood the Canadian Northern authorities claimed that an agreement was executed for the substitution of another service for a hotel and at the time the railway was nationalized there was no obligation to build a hotel for the Canadian Northern had been relieved in a written document by Vancouver.

Rt. Hon. George P. Graham said he had never heard of such a thing while he was minister and he did not believe Vancouver had relinquished its rights to a hotel. In fact, he said, he was not aware of any other claims if we would give them a hotel. He thought the Dominion had saved millions by this compromise. His only criticism was that the hotel was too good.

Dealing with the Canadian Pacific he said that road was in a different position from the C.N.R. Parliament can pass any legislation it may desire in regard to the Canadian National because that road is owned by the country. It has not the same moral right to pass legislation as a corporation-owned road. What the government is doing in taxes on account of the Canadian National Railways has to be contributed by the shareholders of the C.P.R. by way of loss in dividends.

The C.P.R. has many shareholders who have put up their money. He thought it was not fair to put the Canadian National. The C.P.R. shareholders elect their directors and could put any or all of them out of office if they desired. He asked if we were going too far in the bill in depriving the shareholders of power by putting a corporation-owned road under the control of the government and directors. He said: "I repeat that we should ask ourselves if we are not going too far in taking away certain authority from people who have paid in their money under certain conditions, and under certain laws and covenants governing the Canadian Pacific and in transferring that authority in large measure to three men named by Parliament, no matter how good these men may be."

He asked if the president or a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway were allied with the interests of talking away of a large measure of authority from those who have a right to it, to exercise that authority the men of their choice and in giving that authority to three persons who may have no interest in the road.

Senator Graham said there were a large number of railway employees fearful there would be more dismissals. This was a great detriment to efficiency. Whatever was done, he suggested, that as far as possible the era of dismissals, except for cause, should be brought to a close.

One of the greatest difficulties in amalgamating the two systems into the Canadian National Railway was that of welding together of the staffs. Employees feel that owing to the transfer of stations and their positions are not secure. He would advise careful consideration before any body of trustees was invested with powers that might cause faithful employees on both lines working under the daily fear that the next pay cheque might be withheld.

It was not fair to employees, their families and the executives that this fear should be allowed to continue. He was not prepared to admit that public ownership was a failure. He had faith in the future of Canada. He should be guided by minds, economically attained by experience. He believed that J. H. Hungerford was a splendid man in the position of president of the Canadian National Railways. He was honest, personified. His success would depend on how he was supported, and that was a hard question to answer. He had faith in the C.P.C. and some months ago had sought a small amount of C.P.R. stock, showing his confidence in the future success of that road.

GAGNON FLAYS ATTITUDE OF OPPOSITION MEMBERS

Ottawa, Oct. 29.—Quebec Liberals who are opposing the agreement reached at the Imperial Economic Conference received little mercy from Onésime Gagnon, Conservative member for Dorchester, in the House of Commons yesterday. Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, also took part in the debate during which he urged the need of some fiscal compromise among the nations of the world.

Of particular interest to producers and consumers of copper in Canada was a brief discussion in the early part of yesterday's proceedings between the Prime Minister and the leader of the Opposition, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, when the latter quoted to the House from remarks made Thursday in London by Right Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the British Board of Trade, who had stated that the provision in the agreement for a duty of four cents per pound on copper was on the stipulation that the producers and consumers reach an understanding. Mr. King asked Premier Bennett if he was in agreement with Mr. Runciman as to the conditions attaching to the duty on copper and also if there were other stipulations or understandings regarding any of the matters appearing in the agreement? of which this House is not fully aware?"

Premier Bennett replied that the House was fully aware of the conditions mentioned by Mr. Runciman and that the agreement provided that on first sale with respect to copper, zinc and wheat the price would be the world price. "There are no stipulations," he added, "of any kind that are attached to the agreement themselves, as far as I know, and I would probably know if there were. While the conference was in session there were meetings between the producers and consumers in Great Britain for the purpose of ascertaining the extent to which the producers of the Empire were in a position to supply the wants of the Empire. I believe they satisfied themselves upon that point."

Replying to questions by Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, the Prime Minister stated yesterday afternoon that the Government had given no indication that the House rise on November 10, also that there was no intention on the part of the Government, as far as at present advised, to endeavor to proceed with the Railway Bill introduced in the Senate Thursday night, by Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, unless it was the view of the House that it should be done before the adjournment.

Hon. Mr. Euler vigorously condemned the dumping provisions of the Canadian customs law. After outlining the various imposts to which the importer was subjected, including the three cents excise, which he said was nothing more than a tariff, he declared that he condemned particularly the process of valuation of the pound on the basis of $4.40.

Mr. Euler, who previously had expressed himself as willing to support a reduction in Canadian tax duties from 50 to 60 per cent, at present range, declared the tariffs under the new agreement to be "entirely too high in many instances." Warning against the handicapping effects of the "five year tie up," he spoke of what he deemed to be the desirability of Canada effecting some sort of a tariff compromise with the United States.

Those who had criticized the proposed agreement between Canada and Britain had lacked broadness of view," contended Mr. Gagnon. In New Zealand, he pointed out, the agreements have been approved without a dissenting voice in Great Britain, the resolutions have been adopted by an overwhelming majority, but I regret to say that here we will vote on straight party lines. Yet we are told by our opponents that agriculture is suffering; that there is unemployment, and that Canada is facing a very critical situation. I am unable to understand such a partisan attitude, which must be a great disappointment to the people of Canada."

Denying the charge laid by Liberals against the Conservatives in the last general election that the latter were allied with the interests of agriculture, Mr. Gagnon declared that the Conservative party had done everything possible to give relief to those in need. "We have helped the provinces put through their schemes of relief," he added. "We have protected the farmers; we have protected the manufacturers; we have protected the consumer, but still the cost of living has been reduced."

"The Ottawa Conference has shown the far-sightedness of the Conservative leaders, who understood that the economic security of our country depended upon the conservation of agriculture. The great achievement of the Ottawa Conference is the opening of some of the greatest markets of the world, on preferential terms, to the farmers of Canada; it may well be that this Conference will prove the salvation of agriculture. Not only have the wheat growers and cattle raisers of the west been cared for; the farmers of Quebec, Ontario and the Maritime provinces have been looked after as well."

"Honorable gentlemen opposite say the Conference has been a failure but intelligent and impartial observers in France, the United States and other countries say it has been a success. We have opened to our manufacturers and farmers, on preferential terms, some of the largest markets in the world and we are proud of our achievement. The majority of the people in my province will be grateful to the Prime Minister when they begin to take advantage of the concessions which were obtained at the Conference. Almost all classes of producers in Quebec will benefit; the tobacco growers of Joliette and Montclair; the apple growers of Montreal, Rouville and St. Hyacinthe and the Eastern Townships."

Mr. Gagnon rebuked the Quebec Liberals for their opposition to the agreement and declared, "they are bitterly disappointed. They have lost the opportunity of doing a great service to Canada. Indeed, they have not been lucky during the last fifty years. Their main policy has always been to oppose all great actions of our party. The Liberal party in Quebec opposed Confederation; it opposed the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway; it opposed the construction of the Welland Canal."

CHRIST CHURCH HELD MEETING AT COATICOOK

Special Meeting of Christ Church Was Held at Home of Mrs. John Hislop—Other Meetings and News of Interest.

Coaticook, Oct. 29.—A special meeting of the congregation of Christ Church, North Coaticook, was called by the wardens at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Hislop on October 7th.

The meeting opened with prayers by the rector, Rev. A. E. E. Legge, M.A., B. Paed. The first question on the table was that of procuring the services of a reliable person to act as janitor during the winter months. Mr. M. J. Fleming kindly offered his services for a very reasonable amount, which was cordially accepted.

The next question brought forward was the repair to the chancel windows and the painting of the bricks. Mr. M. J. Fleming was appointed to supervise this work, also the procuring of some dry wood for the church.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Hislop for the use of their home for this meeting, after which it was brought to close with prayer by the Rev. Mr. Legge.

Since this special meeting has held the repairs of the church have been completed, which are very satisfactory to all and much appreciation is due to Mr. M. J. Fleming for supervising the same.

ALFRED WOOD, President and Editor. GORDON MILLER, Managing Editor. C. P. BUCKLAND, Advertising Manager.

To the Senator confided with a serious trust negligence is a misdemeanour, and the selfish pursuit of his own profit is a crime, if he use his high office as a lever.

TO ONE BRAVE SOUL WHO FIGHTS THE GOOD FIGHT.

An admirable man, one beloved by all his people, and admired in a wide community, needs cheering up as he lies on his bed in the Hospital which looks down through Meadow street to the door of this publishing office.

Rev. Charles E. C. Fisetle, the doyen of the clergy in the Eastern Townships, and the venerable priest in charge of the St. Patrick's parish and church in Sherbrooke, is bravely fighting for a respite, and his fondest wish is that he may be restored to health solely that he may look after his people.

No matter what may be one's creed, all have a deep regard for this dear old gentleman, and the thought occurred to the writer that, could we interpret to him the universal love which he has earned in his fifty years of service, it might renew his vitality, and restore that kindly fighting Irish spirit which is within him.

We may be permitted to lay a wreath upon his brow whilst he lives and still hopes that in the days to come he may return to father his flock and enter into their joys and solve their problems. Father Fisetle is the type of pastor who has the deep paternal instinct, and we all help him in his battle for life by assuring him that he has a host of friends who are wishing that he may be spared; that they may again see his benign face upon the streets and about his church.

Father Fisetle has not won his way into the hearts of his people by eloquence, by genius, or by superior wisdom, but rather by and through his grace, his cheeriness, his good humour, kindness of heart, tact and readiness to help—characteristics of the man who has attained greatness in his own circle.

His is a life which will never pass away, for his brave soul will be a measure for others to follow.

In the high calling which he chose for his work, he has ever been free from the many gods of mundane effort, and charily lightens in condemning the frail gauds of the passing show.

We all have souls, and we all develop from the environments which shape our early ideals. From birth we are dependent upon the things and persons about us. As we grow, these early memories become traditions. Father Fisetle is accorded the credit of many gracious deeds and a sympathetic understanding of those who suffer, either physically or mentally.

Religion in itself may be a weariness to the worldly mind, and it does require some self-denial to those who would determine to be religious. To a dear friend we can say that he breathes religion, for it seems incarnate within him.

WE DO NOT MINCE MATTERS ON CIVIC AFFAIRS.

Adding to the cost of water and light is simply a way of evading the issue of a forced increase in taxes. It is a bold-faced attempt to hide the mounting expenditures for civic government.

Whilst every home and office has been practising economy civic expenditures increased just because it was other people's money which the Finance Committee dispensed.

Alderman Gelinax, head of the Electric Light Committee, is to be made the goat by the evasive Chairman of Finance, though he must bear the blame and share the shame in his close association.

In every home the electric light bill will be increased. The morning toast will help pay its share of the waste. The evening radio will cost more to operate. Both food and amusement must pay because for three years the civic aidmen would not listen to reason. They would try to persecute and punish those who might criticize, even unto viciousness.

The kilowatt hour cost of electric light in a city the size of Sherbrooke should be 4 1/2 cents and 2 cents for heat and cooking.

A privately-operated utility would undertake to give the citizens these low prices and could even operate a tramway system with the surplus power.

We elect to Council men of no ability whatever, men who believe in a sinister conduct of civic business behind closed doors. Yet, some people hope for a miracle from the soap-box orator.

Some of the old men in the City Council say they will resign if they do not get the support of the citizens. Let them. They are younger men who can cope with the situation, and in good time cure the ills of neglect and extravagance.

The recent attempt to deceive the ratepayers on the cost of what is generally known as the Langis

Canal, is one more sample of the hidden truths which lie behind the annual fiscal statements printed by the City Council.

Once in a while the citizens have been cheered by some individual signs of independence in the Council Chamber. These members grow quiescent either through squeezing or inflation, a process conducted in camera by one who is clever in trickery, futile in logic, and furtive in activity.

Shame upon the honest members who allow themselves to be associated with the manipulators, men who even sell their own wares to the city at substantial profits.

Many a fat purse has grown heavier through a hypocritical interest in the unemployed. The workingman's soup may be thin, but the venomous hypocrites wax fat.

A GOVERNOR WHO DECRIES THE BANQUETTING.

A Bruce becomes Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario. It is said that the Scots go forth to govern the world.

Doctor Bruce replaces a Ross, over whom one can spread the blanket of charity. But the able doctor went to the top of his profession in his chosen city, and his first unofficial announcement is that there will be no riotous living or extravagant entertainment in the governor's mansion. For which promise he should be commended.

Years of destruction and of national quarrelling may not have saved the world from senseless war and fighting, but we who pay for the cannon's roar will carry the burden down to future generations. This is a time for frugal living.

Informal receptions may be quite all right, but to prepare a costly banquet as a fourth meal of the day whilst our well-to-do people are contributing generously to unemployment problems, would be as a Queen Antoinette gesture in the days of the revolution in Paris.

One of the progenitors of the new Scottish governor of Ontario died his soldiers with Scottish oatmeal, and as the official host of the province of Ontario, Doctor Bruce may thus diet his guests.

In thus commenting upon the honour accorded the distinguished physician we hope our Ontario contemporaries will acquit us of any charge that we are poking our nose in their oat bin.

ALL RIGHT TO ENFORCE ECONOMY ON THE FELLOW OVER THE HILL.

"Sir Henry" ought to know when he tells the New York Times of his troubles in trying to manage a politically-owned railway system in Canada. His future retrospective comments can only prove the futility of the whole visionary scheme of public ownership of things requiring activity of thought.

His more recent expression is putting his finger on the core of the boil.

Definitely does Sir Henry Thornton point out the weakness of the report of Judge Duff's Railway Commission.

The chief difficulty will be experienced in enforcing economies on the government-owned railways, as recommended by the Commission. Every community, he said, approves the principle except where itself is concerned, but there is always a political reaction when an attempt is made to reduce service at a particular point. The same applies to all government expenditure. We all agree that the pruning knife should be applied—but not in our own immediate neighborhood, not among our own friends who are all such "good fellows," and upon whose arms we place the strawberry mark of protective friendship.

EDITOR'S NOTE BOOK.

While we commend the Chicago Excursion over the Canadian Pacific we would suggest that our readers who may take advantage of the trip endeavour to bring back prospects of a few industries with them. There are some 200,000 Canadians in Chicago, and many of them are big men in industries. Anyhow, each visitor can bring back next summer a lot of tourists if they take along some few facts about the beautiful country they live in.

Democrats accuse financial and industrial concerns of trying to coerce their employees to vote Republican. The same charge was made when McKinley was the Republican candidate. One firm, tired of the accusation, posted up notices which read: "Any employee of this firm neglecting or refusing to vote as he darned well pleases will be discharged."

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record. - October 29th, 1902.

At the Sherbrooke Market creamery butter sold at 22 to 25 cents a pound, ham and bacon at 15 cents a pound, fresh eggs at 23 to 25 cents a dozen, potatoes at 40 to 50 cents a bushel, and winter apples at $1.50 to $2.00 a barrel.

The Mazog Hockey Club prepared for the winter season by electing as officers W. McDougall, J. R. Wilson, G. H. Wilson and C. G. Lafrenay. George Garceau was appointed captain of the team.

C. O. Palmer and family took possession of the residence on Montreal street occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Thompson, who were about to move to Montreal.

The Town of Granby disposed of a $15,000 bond issue to the Eastern Townships Bank at a rate of 104.

RECORDINGS

by Ted Bullock.

To a friend of mine in Africa I wrote some months ago.

Five years of hot work in the mines of Rhodesia, of jungle fever and of disagreement with lions and other playful subtropical cats, nearly cost him his life. His health has been impaired by the climate.

When his contract with his employers expired, he decided not to come back to Canada for another year because he had work in hand that he wanted to finish.

Helpful, courteous as usual, I told him I thought he was a "sap" to stay.

I have heard from him again. And I quote the opening paragraphs of his letter because they mirror a man after my own heart:

"So you think I am a 'sap' he begins. 'Do you tell people that sort of thing indiscriminately? Because, if you are in the habit of doing so, I wish to sound a note of warning.'

"Now, I happen to agree with you. I have known for some time past that I am a 'sap'. It is not my custom to promulgate the fact, but you have found me out. To discover such a thing in others shows keen observation and no little imagination; but to discover—all alone—such like in ones very own self is a momentous accomplishment. It has made me very proud (of course) of the accomplishment, of course) of a superiority complex. It leaves me with an 'amelioration' and I cannot help feeling that, as 'saps' go, I am of a superior brand. Your shot falls as from the face of a cliff, and no harm is done; rather am I now more than ever convinced of the magnitude of this achievement of mine.

"But supposing that I had not made this discovery for myself. You would then be the Columbus in the event. Where would I be? Just the plain Mr. Sap Esquire—without none of the various arrangements of the alphabet tacked on. You would have stolen all the fun, all the feeling of well-being, the very 'joie-de-vivre' from me. Most important of all, you would have filched from me one of the outstanding accomplishments of my life.

"Be very careful in future, Ted; for there are many now living, young and old, male and female, rich and poor, who have this sacred personal exploit before them."

Tomorrow is Sunday.

Whether you are a church-goer or not, it is the best day in the week. You lie in bed half an hour longer than usual, making superior and disrespectful gestures at the alarm clock. Your children swarm into your room and clamor all over you, banging you in the face with everything from woolly bears to honest iron trains.

On that day, alone, you have time to enjoy fiddling around with your furnace, scraping the flues, cleaning out the fire-box, making the cellar spick and span for at least a few hours.

Then a good long session in a tub full of warm water, with a Sunday paper if your tastes run that way, with a good book of essays if you prefer that kind of reading before breakfast.

You shave more slowly and more carefully than usual, discover that shaving is not at all unpleasant if you have time to go at it lingeringly and thoroughly.

Then Sunday breakfast, than which no more enjoyable meal was ever invented.

None of your conventional grapefruit or tomato juice or orange for me on Sunday mornings. None of your everyday bacon and eggs, with a sliver of toast, a spot of marmalade, and a frantic cup of coffee.

On that day I revert to type and eat as my remote ancestors used to do: a big dish of cool apple-sauce, whipped until it is covered with a snowy foam. A substantial plate well covered with ham and sausages and just one curl of bacon for manners' sake. Flaky hot biscuits, with oodles of butter. More hot biscuits thickly smeared with honey. And at least a pint of coffee, sloshed with cream until it is pale golden.

That is what I call a real breakfast, a meal you enjoy and have time to enjoy.

And if you want it to be just a bit better, even, than usual, have it before an open fire.

Then, when you go to church, you have something pretty substantial inside you to feel grateful about.

The appointment of the delegate for this high office rests with the Y's Men's international president. It is expected that the delegate will be named on or before December 1.

INTERESTING ADDRESS AT HI-Y CLUB

An interesting address was delivered at the Hi-Y Club last evening by Rev. R. M. Simmons, the text of his talk being "Ourselves and the Beauty of Growing Up." Miss May Harris moved a cordial vote of thanks to the speaker at the close of his address.

TWO BUILDINGS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The residence of Georges Shores, Belvedere road, and a large barn belonging to Mr. Lorenzo, were destroyed by fire on Wednesday. The blaze originated by a defective chimney on the Shores property which was blown away in his absence, when the flames were discovered they had ignited the roof and were even then beyond the point of control. A high wind was blowing at the time, causing flying embers to ignite the Lorenzo barn.

Mr. Shores' entire crop of grain, which was stored in an adjacent shed, together with a quantity of potatoes, apples and household effects, were destroyed.

A large number of neighbors volunteered to fight the conflagration, but their valiant efforts went unrewarded. Mr. Shores succeeded in saving only a few pieces of furniture from his house, while Mr. Lorenzo suffered the loss of a large quantity of grain and hay stored in his barn.

Sympathy is extended by all to the two families, who feel their loss keenly.

LEADING CANADIAN MARKSMAN DIED SUDDENLY

Many people throughout the Eastern Townships, especially those interested in military activities and the Bisley shoot, will learn with regret of the sudden death of Sgt. Major William A. Hawkins, one of Canada's greatest rifle marksmen, winner of the King's Prize at Bisley in 1913 and the Prince of Wales Prize in 1927. Sgt. Major Hawkins died of a heart attack while playing golf at the Rouge Hill course, Toronto, yesterday. He was forty-eight years of age.

Born in Orono, Ont., Sergeant Hawkins went to Toronto, while still a child. He joined the 48th Highlanders in 1905 and had been a member of that regiment ever since. He served with the 19th Canadian Infantry Brigade in the Great War and was wounded in the latter part of 1915 at the Somme.

After joining the 48th Highlanders he soon won recognition as a rifle shot. His first important success was the winning of the Duke of Cornwall and York match at the Ontario Rifle Association meet in 1912, which entitled him for a place on the Bisley team.

He went with the team to England the following year where he captured the coveted King's Prize from the finest shots in the British Empire and sprang to world-wide fame.

MISS ANNIE REID LAID TO REST

A funeral just such as she would have desired was held yesterday afternoon for Miss Annie Reid, the daughter of the late Rev. Dr. C. P. Reid, for many years rector of St. Peter's Church here, and the late Mrs. Reid, and the last surviving member of one of Sherbrooke's distinguished old families.

The arrangements were carried out with utter simplicity, but were none the less impressive, and respectability and lack of outward show so evident in death was characteristic of the deceased, who had spent her long life in Sherbrooke, but had always lived in tranquility and peace within the home and among a small circle of personal friends. The late Miss Reid was well known, highly esteemed, and respected by the community at large, but she preferred the friendship of a few old friends and did not to any extent take part in general activities of the day.

The body was removed from the Chapel of Lord's Funeral Home to St. Peter's Church, where the service was held at two-thirty o'clock. Within the walls of the sacred edifice, where her father had for so many years served God and man, prayers for the dead were said by the Rector, Rev. Canon H. R. Bigg, Rev. W. H. Cheverton, of St. Paul's Church, and Rev. Dr. F. G. Vial, of Bishop's University, Lennoxville.

The pall-bearers, all old friends of the deceased, were W. A. Hale, R. N. Robins, W. E. Farwell, G. E. Borlase, A. F. Fraser and J. T. Morkill.

Attending the funeral were a number of students and members of the faculty of Bishop's University; an institution of which the deceased had always shown much concern and had aided on many occasions in a very generous manner.

Miss Reid leaves no near relatives to mourn her loss, but she does leave a name which will continue to be respected by the people of Sherbrooke, and she leaves memories and kindly thoughts of a gracious lady, a loyal Christian, a noble soul.

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. McKee are spending the week-end in Montreal, guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wood.

Miss Howard and Miss Louise Howard, of Montreal, were in Sherbrooke yesterday to attend the last obsequies for Miss Annie Reid.

Dr. H. D. Bayne entertained last evening at his residence on Portland avenue in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, who are shortly returning to their home in Guernsey.

Miss Isabelle Mitchell is spending a few days in Montreal, a guest of Miss Lillias Trimble. Miss Louise Mitchell, who accompanied her sister to the Metropolis, is a guest of Miss Margaret Gurd.

Mrs. K. B. Jenckes and Mrs. L. R. McKee entertained the members of the Junior Welfare League at tea yesterday afternoon following a speaking meeting of the League, at which the president, Mrs. O. R. Webster, presided.

Mr. Frank Thompson is arriving today from Providence, R.I., to spend the week-end in Sherbrooke a guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Borlase, Dominion avenue, with whom his wife and little daughter are spending some time.

Miss Nina Yeomans, new provincial girls' work secretary, and Miss Mary Young, director of Religious Education at St. James' United Church, Montreal, are to act as leaders at the C.G.I.F. fall conference which is to be held at St. Andrew's Church next Saturday.

Mrs. J. A. Foucault, Magog street, has returned from Montreal, where she spent a few days. On her return trip to Sherbrooke Mrs. Foucault was accompanied by her son, Maurice, who has been a patient in the Shriners' Hospital in the Metropolis for several weeks.

Friends of Miss Alice Wyman, of Ayer's Cliff, a senior at Northfield Seminary, East Northfield, Mass., will be interested in hearing that she has been chosen to represent her dormitory on the Sir Wilfred Grenfell Committee. The purpose of this committee is to help raise funds to carry on Sir Wilfred's work among the poor in Labrador.

The Girl Guide Hall on Dufferin avenue was the scene of a jolly Halloween masquerade party last evening, when members of the First Company Sherbrooke Girl Guides assembled for a social evening. Many and varied were the costumes worn by the girls, who, after the usual opening ceremonies, played the traditional Halloween games, ducking for apples and many other old-time stunts being included.

LOCAL POLICE SEARCHING FOR QUEBEC MAN

Chief of Police Camirand received a telegram from Quebec late this morning advising him to keep a lookout for a man who disappeared from his home in Quebec yesterday and was last seen walking along the highway leading in the direction of Sherbrooke.

The man is M. S. Delisle, fifty years old, five feet nine inches, weighing 150 pounds, of dark complexion and wearing glasses.

Any information will be appreciated by Chief Camirand.

IRISH ALUMNI MEETING WAS WELL ATTENDED

Fifty Old Boys Present at General Meeting at St. Patrick's Academy—Gathering Addressed by Secretary of School Board, D. A. McManamy.

If the attendance at last evening's general meeting of the St. Patrick's Old Boys' Association is a criterion of the revived interest manifest this year, the future of the alumni society of the local Irish academy is assured. No less than fifty former pupils were present when the session was called to order by the newly-elected president, Kenny Flaherty, and the animated discussions which featured the business and in which nearly everyone took part, proved tangible evidence of the support and co-operation which the new executive may expect. Through the efforts of the entertainment committee, the services of three local artists were obtained and the diversion they afforded brought a pleasing conclusion to the more serious side of routine business. And as the highlight of the meeting, D. A. McManamy, secretary of the School Board, was present with a message of hope and good will for his audience.

Tom Bonner, one of the older Old Boys and former president of the Association, was the first speaker of the evening after the present had been informally introduced by Austin Workman, vice-president. Mr. Bonner gave a clear outline of the duties and functions of an organization of this nature, and his practical suggestions afforded much material for serious consideration. The first duty of the Old Boys' Association, Mr. Bonner stated, is to give encouragement to the school by good example and by helping the younger students now preparing themselves for the battle of life. Assistance to the Church was another point stressed by the speaker, who declared that the time was mature for the foundation of a young people's society in St. Patrick's parish.

The formation of a Catholic Boy Scout troop was another interesting idea included in Mr. Bonner's address. The younger boys who are

COMPTON HERD FIRST WINTER SHOW EXHIBIT

Promptness of Farmers' Entries Forecasts Unusual Success for Annual Sherbrooke Winter Livestock and Horse Show.

Fred Luce, of Compton, was the first live stock man to get his entry in for the Sherbrooke Winter Fair and Horse Show, entering his famous herd of pure bred Shorthorns. Mr. Luce also has the record of making the first entry at the Fall Exhibition of August-September. He does not believe in delay on his farm or in his business activities. Second came the Beattie brothers, of Lennoxville, who specialize in Holsteins.

The prize lists were distributed early this week, having been received from the printers on Monday, and before the night was over copies were mailed far and wide. Extra copies are available and a copy will be given or sent to anyone who may desire it. It is evident that the entries will far exceed those of any previous year.

Even though the prizes are generous, above all else do the winners value the ribbon and the prestige pertaining thereto. Of necessity the entries for the show will close next week.

Horses are being schooled in the Arena by the riders and drivers, and it is quite fascinating to watch the training of the beautiful animals entered for the riding and driving contest.

"The scope of your Association is wide," Mr. McManamy asserted. "One of its chief aims should be to take practical interest in the younger generation which is being groomed to take the places of the men to whose energy the advancement and development of the Academy is indebted. The St. Patrick's School Board is permitted to use the taxes paid by Sherbrooke's English Catholic population for the purposes of education, and Sherbrooke is the only community in the Province of Quebec which holds this individual entity. To continue this plan, we must zealously guard our friendly relationship with our fellow French Canadian population."

As an example to illustrate an important point in his address, Mr. McManamy outlined the progress and development of the Y.M.C.A. movement in Canada.

"I have always envisioned such an organization for the Catholic youth," Mr. McManamy continued. "It is up to the Old Boys to initiate such a movement. The lack of a Catholic Y.M.C.A. in Sherbrooke is manifest more clearly every day, and it may fall to your lot to provide the seed for such a movement for future generations. Your greatest mission would then be accomplished."

Mr. McManamy was introduced by Austin Workman, and a fitting vote of thanks was moved by George B. Murphy.

Leonard Wolfe, treasurer, informed the meeting that the funds of the Association amounted to $10.61, and a motion of a fifty-cent yearly membership was proposed by Francis Kenalty, seconded by Hertzel O'Bready and unanimously carried. It was decided to hold regular meetings once a month on a proposal sponsored by Maurice Parsons and Eddie Wolfe, the meeting night to be decided by the executive. A report of the entertainment committee was submitted by Francis Kenalty, and the suggestions contained therein were left over for future consideration. Considerable discussion was produced on the subject of an intermediate hockey team. The idea, however, met with little support, the opinion of the meeting being that a junior squad should be started this year and gradually improved until it attained intermediate rating. Eddie Wolfe and Jerome Hayes were responsible for the junior hockey team motion, with Len O'Donnell, Tom Bonner, Maurice Parsons and John Callaghan taking a prominent part in the debate.

Before the meeting was adjourned, a vote of thanks was passed to Gaston Authier, an Old Boy, for his generosity in furnishing the secretary with a minute book, and greetings were sent to the Catholic Women's League members, who are holding a diocesan convention in Sherbrooke today.

It was "Officers' Treat" after the meeting, when sandwiches and coffee furnished by the executive were served. Later, Martin Corcoran and Fernand Perron favored the gathering with vocal selections and humorous stories, the piano accompaniments being played by Gerard Gagnon.

DELIGHTFUL CONGREGATIONAL SOCIAL

The congregational social held in Plymouth Hall was a very pleasant gathering. The arrangements for the entertainment of the guests were made by the Women's Association, and were carried through by competent committees under the direction of Mrs. Nelson Whitman, president, and Miss Ranshouan. The opening part of the evening consisted of a short devotional service, conducted by Rev. Dr. G. Ellery Read, after which a brief but excellent programme was presented. This opened with the singing of "O Canada" and two songs, "The Little Old Church," and "Love's Old Sweet Song," by the Y.P.S. with Mr. Wright Gibson at the piano and Mr. Harold Knapp playing the clarinet obligato part. Miss Hope MacLagan gave a clever

C.P.R. PROMOTIONS IN FARNHAM-SHERBROOKE AREA ARE ANNOUNCED

First Visit of New Assistant Superintendent to the Center of His Activities on the Canadian Pacific.

F. M. Donegan, the new assistant superintendent on the Canadian Pacific, Farnham division, was in the city to-day making his first get-acquainted trip through his new territory. Mr. Donegan has been transferred from the Sudbury district, where he was assistant superintendent. He began his railway career at Soo, and for a time was superintendent of the Algoma Central.

In the Farnham district, which extends from Wells River branch to its Boston and Maine connections, Mr. Donegan succeeds Jules Fort and E. J. Walker, whose previous duties have been merged into the one official.

B. J. Quilty, Superintendent of the Farnham division, will on the first of the month be promoted to Toronto, where his jurisdiction as district superintendent, will cover branch lines running northerly from that city.

R. W. Sewell will be transferred from the Schreiber division on Lake Superior to Farnham as superintendent to replace Mr. Quilty.

E. J. Walker is also promoted to the Toronto terminals as assistant superintendent.

James L. Foley, the successor to Dan J. Steele, has the pleasure of showing Mr. Donegan about the city, and that gentleman was duly impressed with the size and importance of Sherbrooke.

Interpretation of two of Milne's poems, "The Market Square" and "Vespers," and two songs by Mrs. Wright Gibson, "Valley of Laughter" (Bussell) and "The Poor Man's Garden" (Sanderson) were heartily applauded.

Dr. Read gave a short address on the opportunities of the church, and also referred to the pleasure the company present had in having with them Mrs. Richard Smith, one of their church's oldest members. He thanked the performers for their contributions to the programme of the evening and the members of the Women's Association and the young ladies who had served as waitresses.

A very enjoyable hour was spent in social converse and partaking of refreshments, after which the meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

DEATH REMOVES MR. JAMES KENNEDY

Word was received here yesterday of the death of Mr. James Kennedy, of Cumberland, Ont., in his seventy-sixth year. The deceased was a retired farmer and the youngest son of the late Mr. James Kennedy, of Morin Heights, Que.

Mr. Kennedy leaves to mourn his passing, his widow, three sons and three daughters. Two sisters also survive, Miss M. Kennedy, of Ottawa, and Mrs. William Riddle, of this city.

To the bereaved family, many friends and connections in the Eastern Townships will extend their heartfelt sympathy.

DAUGHTERS OF ENGLAND SPONSORED ENJOYABLE PARTY

The Daughters of England, under the convensership of Mrs. H. Maskell, entertained about forty guests at a jolly Hallow'en party in the Sons of England Hall. The convener had arranged an excellent programme of games, in which grown ups and children participated, and all heartily enjoyed the fun. Many of the guests wore costumes symbolic of Hallow'en, which lent a festive air to the pleasant occasion.

A tempting looking "pie" full of home made candy was a special feature, the "filing" being greatly appreciated by young and old. The grand march brought the programme to a close, the music being furnished by Miss Andrea Moorcroft, who kindly presided at the piano.

Delicious refreshments, accompanied by tea, the latter under the supervision of Mr. Geo. Strickland, were served before the guests dispersed for home.

We wish to announce that Mr. Sydney Saunders, the well-known printing salesman, is now representing us. Mr. Saunders comes to us of his own free will, there being no solicitation on our part. He formerly represented a good house who are worthy of your continued support. There is, however, a lot of stationery and office supplies, such as pens, pencils, ink, blotters, copy paper, bought from out of town houses. We have a large stock here which we can sell you on the whole at lower prices. Mr. Saunders will endeavour to secure a share of this business.

Our new Planograph process produces lithographed letter heads and other forms. We can now make and supply these in smaller quantities than you have been able to buy heretofore and at less cost to you. Various account books, copy and typewriter paper we keep a large stock of and can give you immediate delivery, and prices often lower than you pay out of town.

We feel sure Mr. Saunders will be a great convenience to our customers and we will appreciate any orders given him.

ENJOYABLE PROGRAMME PRESENTED BY GAELIC SOCIETY The Sherbrooke Gaelic Society met last evening in the Brooks' Block, when there was a large attendance of members and friends. The meeting was opened as usual with a Gaelic chorus, which was led by Mr. Donald MacAuley.

WOMAN SLIPPED IN MEAT SHOP, ASKS DAMAGES

F. X. Lamontagne Claims $3,000 Damages for Broken Leg Suffered by Wife When She Slipped in Defendant's Butcher Store.

Is Antonio Jobin, local butcher, responsible for the amount of damages, Francois Xavier Lamontagne, of this city, is asking for the fractured leg his wife suffered when she slipped and fell in the meat shop on May 27, 1931? This is the question confronting His Lordship, Mr. Justice Charles D. White, who took the matter under advisement yesterday in the Superior Court. According to Lamontagne, who described himself as a gardener whose wife helped him in his trade, he had gone to Jobin's store to sell him some produce. His wife remained in the car outside the store until Lamontagne received the order.

On his return, Mrs. Lamontagne entered to deliver the goods, and as she made her way from the premises she slipped on the floor, fell and fractured her right leg. The mishap, Lamontagne claimed, was caused by the slippery condition of the floor, which had been oiled and had not had sufficient time to dry properly. Lamontagne re-entered the shop and remarked to the defendant that he had made a general clean-up of his premises. Jobin is said to have replied in about the following words: "In fact I did oil my floor." The amount Lamontagne asked judgment for was $3,000, comprising hospital and medical expenses, loss of profit while his wife was laid up, loss of time while he had to forsake his own work and look after the household, expenditure for a woman to look after his three young children and the permanent incapacity his wife suffered as a result of the accident.

Jobin made a general denial to the allegations contained in the plaintiff's declaration, adding that Lamontagne's wife had walked to the waiting automobile after the accident and contended that, although the floor had been oiled the day before the mishap, it had had enough time to dry.

Edwin Cohen, of Montreal, found that he was involved in an accident that happened on August 14, 1931. Yesterday, Hermenegilde Simard, of Little Lake, obtained judgment for $3,303.75 against the Montrealer for the damages he suffered when the vehicle in which he was driving on the Sherbrooke-Magoy highway was struck by the car driven by the defendant. With Simard at the time was a passenger, Johnny Poulin, of Little Lake, who claimed $240 for the injuries he had suffered. Cohen admitted that he was responsible for the mishap, but disputed the amount asked by Poulin. Judge Archambault considered that the plaintiff had established his right to $240, and this amount was accordingly granted with costs.

Another automobile accident which occurred on the Brompton road on July 8, 1930, had its sequel in the Superior Court yesterday when Judge White heard the action instituted by Albert Denike, of Havelock, Ont., against Robert Broadbelt, of this city. The principal action for $282.57 was dismissed and the cross-demand made by Broadbelt for $376.40 was upheld. According to Denike, he was driving towards Sherbrooke with his wife and two sons at a speed estimated at twenty-five miles per hour. He was travelling on the right side of the road when he perceived the defendant's car approaching on a dangerous curve. Broadbelt's car, Denike claimed, was in the middle of the road and going at an excessive rate of speed. To attempt to prevent a collision, the plaintiff continued, he slackened his speed to ten miles an hour and pulled to the extreme right side of the highway. However, Broadbelt's machine was going so fast that it went out of control and crashed into his car, Denike concluded. He asked $282.57 for the damages he suffered.

Broadbelt admitted that there had been a collision but denied that Denike was driving between twenty and thirty-five miles an hour. The plaintiff, the plea maintained, was exceeding the speed limit for this dangerous stretch of road and had not slowed down to ten miles an hour. Broadbelt added that his car was in charge of one Joseph Talon, who was proceeding to the mill at the Brompton Pulp and Paper Company. He had picked up a young man named Dufresne, of Bromptonville, to direct him to his destination, and was in the act of shifting speeds when he was struck by Denike's car. His car, Broadbelt asserted, in asking that the action be dismissed, was practically demolished.

The action was thrown out and Broadbelt filed a cross demand in which he claimed that he had bought his car in May, 1930, for $976.40. He valued its depreciation at the time of the accident at $100 and averred that the car had been so badly damaged that it was useless to have it repaired. He had accordingly bought another machine, $320 being allowed as trade-in value. He lost $376.40 on the deal and asked that Denike be required to pay this difference. The Court found that Broadbelt had established the allegations of his declaration in cross demand and awarded him $376.40.

SPECIAL PLANS COMPLETED FOR HANDLING MAIL

Floating of New Dominion Loan on Monday Expected to Give Postal Officials Considerable Additional Mail to Handle.

Montreal, Oct. 29.—Extensive preparations have been initiated by postal authorities in the larger cities across the Dominion to handle the tremendous volume of mail which the floating of the new four per cent Dominion loan on Monday will occasion.

Officially those in the investment business only begin to offer the issue on October 31st. In the mean time urban, suburban, and rural security salesmen from coast to coast have been approaching their clients and pointing out the merits of the coming issue, advising them to be ready to make their commitments at the time of the offering.

It is generally conceded in financial circles that the twenty year bonds will be sold at a price to yield four and a half per cent. Security houses naturally can not sell an issue on which the price has not been formally announced by the government.

Several investment bankers in Montreal said that it is always impossible to judge the receptivity of the market until an issue is offered publicly, but the feeling is that the issue will rapidly be absorbed.

PECULIARITIES OF BLUE EYES ARE DESCRIBED

Blue Eyes Are Really Colorless, Biological Research Has Revealed, There Being an Absence of Pigment in the Outer Layer of the Iris.

Pasadena, Cal., Oct. 29.—The question "why are blue eyes blue" can be answered at the William G. Kerckhoff biological laboratories here.

They are like the blue sky. In fact, neither the blue sky, nor blue eyes, are blue.

Blue eyes are really colorless, biological research has revealed, there being an absence of pigment in the outer layer of the iris, so that the inner layer is exposed. It contains a whitish substance. The reflected light makes this appear blue because in the scattering of light the shorter rays are scattered more readily, and these short wave lengths are in the blue spectrum.

Important fixtures appear on today's rugby card as the teams start down the home stretch to Dominion honors. The Hamilton-Montreal "Big Four" battle in Jungle Town holds the spotlight, with the final result very much in doubt.

Carvel Hammond will be in the fray as McGill makes a desperate bid to remain in the intercollegiate championship running. Queen's are their opponents at Melson's Stadium. Varsity is due for a jolt against Western, who also face elimination.

Quebec Swimmers and Bishop's clash in the main Eastern Townships attraction at Lennoxville. The Swimmers, fresh from their sixteen to one victory over Sherbrooke, are seeking revenge for the defeat the Collegians inflicted recently. The Athletics and Sherbrooke High School will meet in an exhibition at the Parade Grounds, while St. Pat's visit Stanstead.

The Notre Dame-Pittsburgh inter-sectional clash heads the American schedule. Neither the Ramblers nor the Panthers have yet experienced defeat this year. Other major features are at Brown-Harvard engagement at Cambridge, Columbia and Cornell and University of California vs. Stanford.

PHEASANT HUNT IN ONTARIO IS IN FULL SWING

Considering Number of Hunters and Width of the "War Zone," Pheasant Mortality This Year Decidedly Small.

Toronto, Oct. 29.—A lowering sun last night signaled the end of the first day of Ontario's two-day pheasant hunt, and on a 170 mile front, partridges and squirrels, worn to a frazzle from the strain of dodging hunters, retired early. Today they will again be assailed from all directions.

So far as can be ascertained by a close check, yesterday's casualties were: Partridges shot, 300; squirrels shot, nil; rabbits shot, 2; hunters shot 1; dogs shot 1; cats shot, 1.

The solitary human casualty came when Herbert Caughill, of Niagara-on-the-Lake, received a gunshot wound in his eye. The bullet was extracted and Caughill's sight is believed unimpaired.

Generally, it was a pleasant outing for many city folk who at least enjoyed splendid fall weather for their long hikes and scramble through bushes and across stubble fields. Some violations of the law with regard to time to open fire were reported, but as yet no arrests have been made.

SPORT SPARKLERS

New York Americans are the first National Hockey League club to register a win this season. They won their exhibition tilt with New Haven Eagles by three to nothing at the Oshawa training camp, which also made them the first N.H.L. team to register a shutout.

Joe Simpson, Amerks' coach, said he was delighted with the showing of his team. Norm Himes, slim centre, teamed with Charlie McVeigh to give the veteran left winger his first goal of the season after Eddie Convey had opened the scoring on a pass from Vernon Ayres.

Montreal Maroons, after a week's ice practice at Ottawa, are back in Montreal for their final prep, still minus Reg "Hootley" Smith and Archie Wilcox, two holdouts. Hoy Mitchell, manager of the Windsor Bulldogs, is in the eastern metropolis talking trade with the Maroons' management and indications are that a few players will be sent to the border cities before the season's opening.

Montreal Canadiens take the ice today for the first time. Roger Cormier, Providence right winger, and the recently acquired Bob McCully, of Stratford, are reported in the latest player deal of the Canadiens. Canadiens may take Cormier in exchange for the twenty year old defence player he lives up to expectations. Cormier would replace Nick Wasnie, now with Americans.

Apologies to Harry Petts, member of the Mitchell entry in the industrial bowling league. An inadvertent error gave another player credit for the honor achieved by popular Harry in this week's bowling games by scoring the highest three strings.

GREAT SCOTT

Yes, she assured him that she was passionately fond of literature. "When you must have read Scott," he said.

"I think he's just delightful!" she exclaimed. "Isn't the Lady of the Lake exquisite?" he asked.

"Perfectly lovely!" was her ardent reply. "I have read it a dozen times!"

"And 'Marmion' and 'Peveril of the Peak'?" "I just dote on both of them," she said.

"And 'Scott's Emulsion'?" he asked, getting somewhat suspicious. "I think," she said, "that it's the best thing Scott ever wrote!"
