DISCUSSION ON PENSIONS FOR NORTHWEST MOUNTED POLICE IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

Question of Superannuation for Civil Service Also Raised—Fielding Admitted That Laurier Government Made Mistake Over "Retirement Fund"—Favor Adequate Pensions

Ottawa, Ont., March 12.—A general discussion today on pensions for the Northwest Mounted Police raised the question of superannuation for the civil service. In particular, a declaration by Hon. W. S. Fielding aroused interest. He referred to the change made by the Laurier Government (of which he was a member) in the superannuation system then in force. By that change, superannuation remained with regard to old officials, but in regard to subsequent appointments it was abolished and a retirement fund established. The retirement fund, however, had been found to be "entirely insufficient."

"I am free to say," Mr. Fielding added, "that the then Government made a mistake and I am willing to help the present Government to correct that mistake."
There was a general feeling in the House in favor of the fully adequate pensions for men in the Northwest Mounted Police or the Royal Canadian Mounted Police as they are now termed. A plea was also made by Captain Manion on behalf of pensioners of men killed at the front. "These business people left by the men killed at the front or in some other branch of the country's service," he declared, "should be adequately looked after and given a good living wage."

On the broad question of general superannuation for the civil service, Hon. T. W. Crothers, ex-Minister of Labor, differed.
He agreed that the members of the Mounted Police were underpaid and that everything should be done for the dependents of returned men. But he thought civil servants generally would be better paid than they would be in the same line in private employment. If the Government insured civil servants against old age, the civil servants should pay the premiums. Some discussion followed on the proposal to reduce the amount of silver in silver coins. Sir Henry Drayton, when questioned on the point, remarked that the Government now had under consideration the coining of a nickel five cent piece. Sir Henry also observed that any man on a cabinet minister's salary was fully acquainted with the one-cent piece. Before orders of the day were called, Hon. MacKenzie-King, questioned the Acting-Prime Minister regarding the resignations from the Cabinet since the last session of the House. He thought the House and the country were entitled to information regarding the resignations and asked Sir George Foster if he would produce the correspondence in regard to these resignations.

The Acting-Premier replied that he would bring the matter up again on Monday.

The Deputy-Speaker read a message from the Senate giving notice of the appointment of Senators to a joint committee of the House and Senate which would consider uniting various branches of these two bodies which were performing similar work, such as the law branch and French translators.
Hon. Arthur Meighen introduced a bill with the object of enabling the Dominion Government to negotiate with the Province of British Columbia in respect to a difference between the two on Indian lands. He also introduced a bill looking to more ready enfranchisement of Indians.

Annuitants Proposals

Criticism of the Government's annuity scheme proposals was voiced by Hon. W. S. Fielding and Dr. Michael Clark. Sir Henry Drayton had stated that the proposal now was to amend the scheme that it

C.N.R. EMPLOYEES GET SIX MONTHS

Stole Some Liquor from Car Loaded with Kentucky Rye Whiskey

Fredericton, N.B., March 12.—Nine of the employees of the Canadian National Railway who had pleaded guilty to the theft of liquor from a car loaded with Kentucky rye whiskey at Napadogan on the Trans continental Division, were sentenced by Police Magistrate Limerick in the police court this afternoon to serve six months each in the York County jail.

Another prisoner, whose wife is in a delicate condition at Moncton, was admitted to bail for one week at the end of which he is to return and be given a similar sentence. The other eleven prisoners, who were arrested pleaded not guilty and were sent up for trial at the York County court next week.

Chief P. J. Page, of the C. N. R. Investigation Department, has been here from Toronto in charge of the cases.

Dorcas Committed.

James Dorcas, the only one of the ten employees of the Canadian National Railway to plead "not guilty" to the charges of freight thefts, was this morning sent up for trial at the York County Court which meets here next Tuesday.

The final proceedings in the preliminary examination took place this morning in the police court when several witnesses gave their evidence, one who admitted being the ring-leader at Napadogan, being arrested on information sworn out by Chief Page, of the C. N. R. Investigation Department, soon after the court adjourned.

The arrest of this man brought the number of prisoners to appear before police magistrate Limerick this afternoon up to ten and it was said that he would plead guilty, which means that all of the men will probably be sentenced this afternoon, after which it is said, the railway detectives are likely to at once commence another round up.

BORDEN MAKING STEADY PROGRESS

Ottawa, Ont., March 12.—(By Canadian Press)—Sir Robert Borden has telegraphed to inform his followers in the House that he is making steady and encouraging progress toward recovery and expects to be in the capital within seven or eight weeks. The message was in answer to that sent by the caucus on Thursday. It was addressed to Sir George Foster and read as follows:

"Pray, convey to caucus my grateful thanks for their very kind message which I most deeply appreciate. I am making steady and encouraging progress and hope to rejoin them at the date already indicated."

CRIMINAL APPEALS.

Ottawa, March 12.—After dealing in committee with Senator McMeen's bill for the provision of appeal against inadequate punishments, the Senate adjourned this afternoon until April 6th. The McMeen's bill was before the Senate last session, but did not pass the Commons.
Senator McMeen's bill will provide for a court of appeal in criminal cases as in civil court actions. The bill was put through the committee stage and stands for a third reading.

Shipping Amendment

A resolution providing for amendments to the Canada Shipping Act was next introduced. It stated that it was expedient to repeal certain sections of the Act, substituting other sections which provide for the issuing of certificates as master or mate to every British subject who served for a year in either of these capacities on a sea-going or coast sailing vessel. The applicant must produce satisfactory evidence of his sobriety, experience, ability and general good conduct, and must also pass the sight test and the prescribed examination in signalling. The certificate qualified applicants for the position of master or mate in sailing vessels.

Mr. D. D. McKenzie strongly opposed the resolution. It was dangerous to put the lives of men in the hands of incompetent masters or mates. The British Board of Trade would not accept such changes. He questioned whether insurance companies would insure cargoes on vessels handled by such men.

After Hon. Mr. Ballantyne had explained that the resolution applied only to sailing vessels and certain other features, the resolution carried.

The House adjourned a six o'clock until Monday afternoon, after seven private bills had been referred to committee.

EASTERN TANGLE QUITE SERIOUS

Anxiety Increased by Threatened Complications With Syria and Mesopotamia

London, March 12.—(By Associated Press)—Earl Curzon's speech on the Turkish problem, made in the House of Lords yesterday and other official and unofficial statements on the subject are generally regarded as showing that the Near East tangle is quite serious and is causing the authorities some anxiety—an anxiety increased by complications threatened with Syria and Mesopotamia. The shadow of Indian and Moslem opinion darkens the problem, and it is believed influences the councils of the Allies more than is always immediately apparent.

The suggestion that the employment of force against the Turks might excite general hostility in the Mussulman world is regarded as one that cannot safely be ignored.

In some quarters the feeling prevails that there is danger if the Turks are pressed they may immediately be joined by the Arabs. Careful watch is being kept here on the outcome of the Syrian Congress at Damascus, and it is understood any decision or proposal by the Peace Conference regarding Syria would be purely tentative.

Reports are current that Bolshevik activities, directed against the Allies, have cropped up in co-operation with the Turkish Nationalists and in nearer India. It is said that specially trained Bolshevik propaganda have been installed printing presses at Afghanistan, where pamphlets, written in the vernacular, with a view to undermining British authority in India and stirring up trouble on the Afghan border are being produced.

OLIVER LODGE VISITS TORONTO

Has Had Absolute and Personal Proof of Returned Spirits

Toronto, Ont., March 12.—Sir Oliver Lodge, the noted British scientist and spiritualist, arrived in Toronto today and will lecture here tomorrow night. In an interview tonight he said:

"I have had absolute and personal proof not only of the return of the departed to earthly spheres, but of the fact that they know much of our daily thoughts and actions. Better than all else, I know from experience that to many at least on the other side their communication with their loved ones on earth is fraught with great, very great happiness for them and their loved ones."

Sir Oliver said that he was still helped by W. T. Stead, the great English journalist and spiritualist, who passed to the beyond some years ago, and that Mr. Stead was furnishing his best in the spirit world to further his work of his existence. Sir Oliver asserted that he had spoken of the things which he had demonstrated and proven beyond a doubt.

SYSTEM OF CANADIAN EXPERIMENTAL FARMS.

Ottawa, March 12.—By Canadian Press)—A more general, equitable and uniform system of experimental farms and sub-stations to be established throughout Canada is the plea contained in a resolution to be submitted to the House on Monday, by Donald Sutherland, Oxford South. His resolution continued:

"And that the wholly inadequate and disproportional number given the Province of Ontario in the system shall be dealt with and provided for at the present session of Parliament."

CONTEMPT OF COURT CHARGES ARE DISMISSED.

Winnipeg, March 12.—Charges of contempt of court laid in a summary motion by the Crown against Dr. R. J. Johannessen, editor of the Icelandic "Vord", were dismissed by the full court of the King's Bench today, after accused in an affidavit, and during cross-examination denied absolutely the statement as attributed to him in affidavits filed before the court by the Crown. This, the court held, answered fully the charge.
Ward Hollands, counsel for accused, stated following the trial, that he had been instructed by Dr. Johannessen to lay charges of perjury against the Crown's informant, while Deputy-Attorney-General Allen intimated that the Crown may enter similar proceedings against Dr. Johannessen.

ONTARIO CAN STOP LIQUOR IMPORTATIONS

Toronto, Ont., March 12.—Dr. A. S. Grant, organizer of the Ontario Temperance Referendum Committee, in an interview said that he was satisfied that the present Dominion law was good enough to stop the importation of liquor into Ontario if a majority of the Ontario electors voted in favor of this.
As to the committee's request to have a referendum on the question taken as soon as possible, Dr. Grant said:

"Every province in Canada, except Quebec, is asking for a plebiscite under the new Federal Law, and Quebec is shaping up for it too,

FIGHT AGAINST DEATH SENTENCE

Prisoners Welfare Referendum Shows Majority Opposed Capital Punishment

Montreal, Que., March 12.—At a meeting today of the Canadian Prisoners Welfare Association, a report was read, showing the result of a referendum taken on the subject of capital punishment. The card which had been issued had two questions upon it, the first asking whether the voter was in favor of the State inflicting the death penalty and the second whether the issue was considered of sufficient importance that the Association should take a definite stand against the death penalty.

Question number one was answered in the negative by 88 members and in the affirmative by 41, while four were neutral or doubtful.

Question number two was generally answered in logical accord with the answer to the first question. The result of the referendum, therefore, is considered a majority of 46, or 52 per cent. on a poll of 131 in favor of continuing with the campaign against the death sentence.

Several members expressed their views by letters as well. An Ontario archdeacon wrote:

"While admitting there exists no need for reformation in the manner of carrying out the death penalty, I find myself in entire disagreement with the argument advanced from the spiritual standpoint for the entire abolition of capital punishment."

The Association decided to make certain recommendations in connection with the proposed court of criminal appeal.

BELIEVES MISSING SCHOONER FROZEN IN SOME PORT.

St. John, N.B., March 12.—A. W. Adams, a shipping broker of this city, said tonight that he had letters and other papers from Captain Clarke, of the schooner Thomas B. White, which is reported from Boston as missing, and he believed the schooner was frozen in some port along the coast.
It was believed here that the White was still at Vineyard Haven, but telegraphic information from that port was to the effect that nothing had been heard of the vessel since she sailed from there on December 29.

MONTREAL INSANE ASYLUM PRAISED.

Montreal, Que., March 12.—Dr. K. Clark, dean of the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Toronto, after an inspection of St. Jean de Dieu Hospital, under the auspices of Hon. Athanasius David, Provincial Secretary, and accompanied by Dr. Delage, General Medical Superintendent of Insane Asylums in the Province, expressed himself today as much pleased with what he had seen. He was of the opinion that St. Jean de Dieu Hospital was one of the finest institutions of its kind in Canada.

VICTOR DUPUIS IS GUILTY OF MURDER

Montreal, Que., March 12.—Victor Dupuis was this afternoon found guilty of the murder of Patrick Leahy and sentenced by Mr. Justice Desy to hang on June 18, next. Death sentence will however be accompanied by a strong recommendation to mercy.
Leahy was killed by Dupuis on the early morning of Christmas Day last, by the discharge of a shotgun. A quarrel had arisen over the woman, thought to be Dupuis' wife, who was living with him and in the course of the struggle, Dupuis seized the gun and fired it at Leahy, the latter dying a short time afterwards. Throughout the trial Dupuis protested that it was never his intention to kill Leahy and that he had acted in self-defence against a stronger man.

DARING HOLD-UP ON BROADWAY

Armed Bandits Terrorize the Theatre-Goers and Take Valuable Jewellery

New York, March 12.—While Broadway tonight was crowded with theatre goers, three armed bandits smashed in the window of a jewelry store at 37th Street, kept the crowds at bay with their revolvers until they had emptied the contents of several trays into their pockets and then escaped, shooting one pedestrian who attempted to stop them.

A few minutes later three men entered another Broadway jewelry store, a few blocks uptown and after throwing pepper in a clerk's eyes, grabbed some trays of jewelry and ran from the store. Two men alleged to be members of the trio, were arrested by the police after a chase.

Both robberies committed in the heart of the White Light district, were witnessed by thousands of persons. Broadway was thrown into the greatest of excitement as police reserves arrived on the double quick and working on the theory that the robberies were committed by two different bands, raced up and down side streets and scoured the subway for the four missing bandits.

In addition to the pedestrian who was shot, but not seriously injured, one other member of the crowd succeeded in getting his fingers on a fugitive. He was rewarded by a crack on the wrist from a revolver but which caused his arm to fall helplessly to his side.

Proprietors of the two stores estimated that thousands of dollars worth of jewelry were stolen.

COMMERCE BRD. PROBE IS ENDED

Hamilton Hearing of Alleged Wholesale Grocers' Combine Adjourned

Hamilton, Ont., Mar. 12.—The investigation by the Board of Commerce into the alleged wholesale grocers' combine was concluded this afternoon, so far as this city is concerned. The enquiry was adjourned until March 22, when the Board will sit in Toronto and resume hearing of the evidence there.

A feature of today's inquiry was the grilling of A. S. Porter, Hamilton manager of the Canadian General Electric Company, on whose information the investigation into the wholesale grocers' association was ordered. Mr. Porter was put through a severe cross-examination and he admitted that he had acted hastily in notifying the Government of the alleged combine.

Major J. Lewis Dugan, a Toronto member of the Board, questioned Porter about his hasty action, and intimated that it had embarrassed the Board of Commerce, which might be occupied three weeks in the investigation.

Chairman O'Connor apparently did not take these matters so seriously. He remarked, "the inquiry has served a very useful purpose, no matter what it has accomplished."

GUARD AGAINST THE 'FLU

Serious Outbreaks of Influenza all over Canada

GOOD HEALTH IS THE SUREST SAFEGUARD

'FRUIT-A-LIVES' Brings Vigor and Vitality and Thus Protects Against Disease

There can be no doubt that the situation regarding the spread of influenza throughout Canada is one of grave concern.

In Montreal alone, from January 20th to February 21st, three thousand one hundred and twenty-two cases of influenza and 189 deaths from the disease were reported to the Health Department.

If the outbreak had come at the beginning of the winter instead of the end, we might reasonably feel that the very cold weather would check the spread of the disease.

The best protection, in fact, the only safeguard against the 'Flu, is GOOD HEALTH.

Those who are not so well and strong as they should be; those who are underweight; those who are 'run-down' through overwork or sickness; should build up at once.

'Fruit-a-lives' regulates the kidneys and bowels, causing these organs to eliminate waste regularly and naturally as nature intended.

'Fruit-a-lives' keeps the skin active, and insures an abundant supply of pure, rich blood.

'Fruit-a-lives' tones up and strengthens the organs of digestion, sharpens the appetite, brings restful sleep and renews the vitality of the nervous system.

PANAMA WANTS RATIFICATION

Attitude of Colombia, Desire For Protection, All Factors in Action of Assembly

Panama, March 12.—The unanimous ratification of the Versailles Peace Treaty, including the League of Nations, by the Panama Assembly, recently, without any of the assemblymen exhibiting an inclination to follow the example of the United States Senate, was due to several influences which are of interest in view of their bearing on South and Central American policy toward the League.

The personal influence of the representatives of the United States, W. J. Price; of Great Britain, the Hon. A. P. Bennett; and of France, Maurice Simonin, was all on the side of unreserved ratification.

Colombian Question a Factor. That a country owing its independence to Mr. Roosevelt's policy, and in which the former President's memory is strongly cherished, should have differed with him and many of his party on this subject, may be better understood when it is considered how Panama might be affected if Colombia should join the League of Nations, with Panama following the example of the United States Senate in staying out, or insisting upon reservations.

Most of South and Central America might easily follow Panama's example in this matter, and for the same general reasons. The groups which have long regarded the United States as a greater political and economic menace than any or all of the European powers argue that the League would be a protection against American domination or assimilation.

It must be understood that the public men of South and Central America are much more cosmopolitan and international in their thinking than is often supposed by United States citizens accustomed to judge all of them by the provincialism of the uneducated classes.

Another reason appealing to many South Americans on this subject is the feeling that while the United States is strong enough to "go it alone," and that while such an attitude might appeal to them for their own countries if they were similarly powerful, they are best protected in their actual circumstances by a League in which the small powers are recognized, and whose avowed purpose is to guarantee to such powers their independence and political rights.

The unanimity of Panama's ratification foreshadows at least a strong majority in other Latin-American countries. The action of Panama is all the more noteworthy because the chances of a Republican Administration next year in the United States are fully understood there.

DR. EMILE NADEAU DEFENDS HOUSING PROGRAM REJECTED WHILE HOUSING DIRECTOR

Says Politicians and Public Hard to Convince of Desirability of Housing at Cost for Benefit of Community—Contrasts Provincial Government Policies on Roads and Houses

A striking defense of his rejected programme yesterday afternoon by Dr. Emile Nadeau, who recently resigned as Provincial Director of Housing, in an interview with the Chronicle. "I had intended to let my letter of resignation to the Ministry speak for itself," he explained, "but since my reputation has been directly called into question, it is perhaps only fair to myself that I should make public my point of view in greater detail. "When I received my appointment from the Provincial Government last April, I believed that the intention was to proceed actively. I prepared a detailed programme and estimates which were submitted on May 12th, and studied by the Ministry until July 23rd, thus allowing ample time for thorough consideration. At that time my proposals must have been approved because they were adopted in toto and entered in the Order-in-Council. The result was that a Technical Commission was appointed consisting of an Architect, a Town-Planner and a Sanitary Engineer, who were to prepare plans, give technical advice, and generally administer the Housing programme in the various municipalities of the Province, under my direction. It was not until objections were raised by Montreal interests that noticeable change came over the attitude of the Ministry, which finally resulted in the virtual abandonment of everything that had been done."

He then contended that the real difficulty lay in a mistaken conception of the part of the Government as to the purpose and possibilities of a project of this character. "Politicians and the public generally," he pointed out, "have always been accustomed to regard real estate propositions as a source of profit and it is hard to convince them of the feasibility or desirability of housing at cost to the community. I should have taken it directly from the successful practice of the English and United States Governments." Dr. Nadeau then admitted that the work of the American Housing Corporation had met with severe criticism on the ground of extravagance but remarked that this again was due to a misunderstanding of the nature of the problem. "The Housing Corporation was told that houses were urgently needed for thousands of laborers engaged on war work and must be supplied with the utmost despatch at all costs. Accordingly land was purchased and material got together at whatever expenditure was necessary under these conditions, and the houses built by working night and day. The result was that the towns cost perhaps fifty per cent more than they might have done if economy and not speed had been the governing condition but the work was well done and has received nothing but praise on the ground of meeting the purpose for which it was designed."

Identical Policies. The speaker, continuing, declared his inability to understand the Quebec Government's lack of confidence in Good House in view of the fact that it took so much pride in Good Roads. "The two policies are practically identical," said Dr. Nadeau. "In the first place roads were not even regarded as a municipal matter, each farmer being held responsible for the thoroughfare in front of his property; later it was recognized that the individual was not competent to deal with roads successfully and they were placed under municipal jurisdiction; finally it became evident that the municipalities could only attend to local highways, they were not in a financial position to take care of arteries of communication between themselves, and so

CIVIL SERVANTS SEEKING BONUS

Deputy From All Over the Dominion Waited Upon the Acting Premier

Ottawa, Ont., March 12.—Civil service servants, forty strong, waited on Sir George Foster, Acting Prime Minister, in the Premier's room in the House of Commons this evening and told him of their deep interest in a matter which is now agitating the minds of all civil servants, to wit, the cost of living bonus. They came from the East and the West, from Vancouver and Halifax, Windsor and Winnipeg and represented all the affiliated civil service organizations of the Civil Service Federation which is now in annual convention here. The delegation was headed by Mr. Frank Grierson, President of the Federation, who was chosen as spokesman. Mr. Grierson respectfully intimated to Sir George that the bonus awarded last year was not considered sufficient and asked on behalf of his colleagues that the bonus be put on a rational basis, be substantially increased, and be given wider application. He read a short memorandum prepared for the occasion. Sir George said that the Government was now considering the question of the bonus but it was premature to make any definite announcement. He inferred to the assembled public servants that it would this year be not less than last and advised them to be extremely hopeful for the outcome. With this the delegation withdrew.

Towns that are not anxious to build "three-deckers." "The Provincial Administration does not propose to do more than apportion the money at its disposal to municipalities that apply for it which will involve unnecessary expense. The Technical Commission for instance was to prepare fifteen sets of house plans and seventy-five different exterior treatments, so that they could supply blue prints to the municipalities. By this means the administration cost to each would be only 1-1-2 percent of the amount of the loan according to my estimates, and not more than 2-1-2 percent under any conditions. Now each municipality will have to employ its own technical advisers and make its own plans which will cost at least 5 percent of the loan.

Some Stumbling-Blocks Describing the difficulties that he had had to contend with, Dr. Nadeau told the Chronicle how one city Council wished to split its allotment up among the different wards so that the Alderman might get credit with their electors; how the head of one local Housing Commission was willing to accept all the Provincial regulations provided that he might arrange for the plans himself, when it transpired that he had a relative who was an architect, and who hoped to get five percent on the amount of the loan for his plans. The Doctor further spoke of large estate speculators, who had real sub-divisions on their hands and were anxious to get the Federal money given to them in order that they might make profits upon the land, upon the buildings and upon the rentals. Again he described the proposal of a well-known Montreal politician to lend the money to individual workmen who should build their own homes for themselves in their leisure moments—presumably with the aid of Government lanterns or moonlight!

In regard to obtaining money for Housing Societies, Dr. Nadeau said that he had been instrumental in getting leading citizens to raise $75,000 in Sherbrooke in twenty minutes and that, although it had been said Montreal did not desire a cent of the loan, he had been assured of $150,000 by some of the most responsible business men in that city, provided he could satisfy them the money would be spent wholly for the public benefit and not for that of speculators. "I am sure of my ground," declared Dr. Nadeau in conclusion "but if they could have shown me where I was wrong I would have been satisfied. On the contrary I was never given an opportunity of demonstrating that my programme was sound, even although the Province did not stand to lose a cent of money, and I was unable to convince the Ministry because the subject was never approached with an open mind or with a desire to be convinced."

"At the same time, what has been done, is done, and my only interest is that the housing project should still be made a success. If the Government distributes the Federal money at its disposal with promptness I am sure that sufficient results can still be obtained to prove that good houses do pay not less than good roads!"

EVER LEAP WEAR IN SOME LANDS

Women "Pop the Question" or Take Forcible Possession with Hope Indians

Toronto, March 12.—"Once again with 1920, women have a chance to take the initial step toward providing themselves with an introduction to the heavenly kingdom, a boon which marriage brings to them, according to Mormon philosophy. The return of a leap year which leaps forward a day, bringing to them a privilege monopolized by men three years out of four, has no significance for women of many lands, since they enjoy the liberty all the time," says a bulletin from the National Geographic Society. "The women of no race possess more freedom in this matter than the Hopi Indians of Arizona," the bulletin continues. "A maiden does not woo the man of her choice, but simply and forcibly states her proposition to his mother without any encouragement on his part. The only preliminary proceeding is to do her hair in two gigantic whorls, one over each ear. This is her announcement that she is going a-courting. These peculiar knots are intended to represent the blossoms of a sweet vine, symbol of virginity, but to those uninitiated in the meaning they resemble huge door knobs set at a rather violent angle. When some debutantes thus announce that they are 'out on the carpet,' it is said that as many as six or eight of the eligible young men of the tribe literally take to the woods. After the aggressive young lady has selected her victim and his mother has agreed that he shall be sacrificed, she serves in the house of her future mother-in-law for thirty days, grinding meal, very much after the fashion that Jacob of old served fourteen years for Rachel. The poor youth in the meantime does not sit idly by, but weaves her wedding garments. Among the Batus of the Uganda Protectorate of Africa, if a girl is not fortunate enough to be asked in marriage in her home town, she goes to another village and offers herself to some man there. Though not honored in her own country, she at least receives consideration in that of her neighbors. For a woman is an excellent agricultural laborer and a man is not likely to refuse such a business asset. "The Galla woman of the Eastern coast of Africa has the rare privilege among savage and half-civilized people of refusing to marry a man who is undesirable to her. "Little is known of the marriage customs of the ancient Egyptians but we can easily believe that women had at least the privilege of expressing a preference if they did not actually do the proposing for, if we trust the historian, Diodorus, a man promised his wife to grant her complete control over him and to offer no objection to her commands. "Some survival of this liberty of Egyptian women must have permeated other portions of Africa, for princesses on the west coast of that continent whose children may become future rulers choose their own husbands. Nor is a princess limited in her choice to unmarried men. She may just as easily decide upon one who has already entered the marriage state, and the poor fellow has to put away his other wives and become her slave. Moreover she has the power of life and death over him. He sometimes has only one consolation—he inherits all her property if he is fortunate enough to be spared until her death. "In the Tyrol a girl may express her preference for a man by presenting him with a bottle of snifters. If she is afraid that her procedure has not the indorsement of her parents she may contrive to lower the precious fluid at night from her chamber window. "In North Transylvania, a young peasant woman may give a particular swain a tin that he is the 'apple of her eye' by giving him to his cart at the time of the harvesting of the oats to help him to carry in his crop. It is said that at this season one sometimes sees a procession of gaily decorated carts going a-field, a willing maid seated in each. "One of the obligations of a father in Roumania and Romi is to provide so well for his marriageable daughter that when she is presented with a list informing her of the means and qualifications of the eligible young men in the vicinity she will not be hampered by a lack of worldly goods on her own part in making her choice. "In bygone days in India women were sometimes allowed to choose their own husbands. One of their old fairy tales tells of a fair princess who, after a tournament, placed a zarland around the neck of a knight who had won her heart. "Among the Eskimos of the east coast of Greenland, a man captures the girl he wants, but from that time on the usual order of things is reversed. He has to exercise the greatest vigilance to prevent her from eloping with any other man whom she may prefer, as this seems to be her privilege. "In the Northern New Hebrides, a bride who is unhappy seeks the earliest opportunity of running away from her husband and seeking a home with some man she likes better. If her parents cannot induce her to return to the injured husband, they usually send him a pig to soothe his wounded feelings."

BELIEVES SHIP HAS BEEN LOST

Captain Says Jutland Was Wrecked by Collision or Explosion

Halifax, N.S., March 12.—Captain Hansen, master of the steam trawler Lemberg, which arrived in port this afternoon with the body of John Ellison, of Dartmouth, mate of the trawler Jutland, told newspapermen after the ship docked that he believed the Jutland to be lost. "I believe that the Jutland came to grief either by a collision or an explosion," said the captain. "I hope that it was the former, as then there is still a possibility of the crew of 22 men being saved."

BIG GUNS ARE ARRIVING IN DUBLIN

Montreal, March 12.—A special cable dispatch to the Montreal Star from London, says: The Irish correspondent of the Daily Graphic telegraphs that big guns are arriving in Dublin, and that the streets are being patrolled by armored cars. Excitement is reported to be running high.

BYE-ELECTION IS POSTPONED

Legal Proceedings Between the Federal and Provincial Govts., Over Electoral Lists

Montreal, March 12.—Legal proceedings which were instituted today may have the effect of postponing the St. James bye-election on April 7 unless one of the parties at issue sees fit to give in. The question raised is whether the Federal Parliament can compel the provincial authorities to give them a copy of their electoral lists at a price fixed by the central administration, but which conflicts with that enacted in law by the provincial authorities. In the present instance the Bye-Election Act passed at the session of the Ottawa Parliament last year states that provincial electoral lists will be requested from the provincial registrars and paid for at the rate of one cent for two names. The Quebec Provincial statute fixes the tariff for the same purpose at six cents for ten names. The provincial registrars have refused to deliver to Returning Officer Lalonde copies of the provincial electoral lists in St. James Division unless he pays them the price specified in the provincial law. This Mr. Lalonde refused to do and he accordingly instituted mandamus proceedings to force the registrars to surrender to him copies of the provincial electoral lists at the price fixed by the Federal enactment. Mr. Justice Ducloux, who heard the argument reserved the decision until next Monday.

CHILDREN'S TRAGEDY

Toronto, Ont., March 12.—Elsie Dunn, aged 11 years, was shot and instantly killed in Todmorden, a suburb of Toronto, this evening by John Jones, 12 years of age. It is said that Jones and two other boys were shooting at a post with an old rifle, but while the Jones boy had the weapon in his hand the bullet meant for the post went wild and hit the girl. An inquiry will be held.

SOCIAL SERVICE COUNCIL MEETING

Mr. W. H. Wiggs Re-Elected President for the Province of Quebec

Montreal, March 12.—At the annual meeting of the Social Service Council of the Province of Quebec, held under the presidency of Mr. W. H. Wiggs, of Quebec, in the Y. M. C. A. here today, the proposal to appoint a joint secretary for Quebec and New Brunswick was discussed and a report was adopted embodying a proposal of the executive that a finance committee should be charged to raise $7,000 needed for the year's operations of the Quebec Social Service Council. Rev. Dr. Shearer, of Toronto, General Secretary of the Dominion Social Service Council, pointed out in a review of past work, that the Council had been responsible for the establishment of a Federal Health Department and the creation of a children's bureau for the Dominion. Miss Charlotte Whitton, Assistant Editor of "Social Welfare", the organ of the Dominion Council, reported on the work in New Brunswick where she stated that fifteen local councils had been formed and there was every desire to join in the joint secretaryship with Quebec. After the Rev. Dr. Pidgeon had spoken of growth of opinion in favor of their work the following officers were elected: President: W. H. Wiggs, of Quebec. Vice-Presidents: J. T. Ross, of Quebec; Rev. J. E. Ellery Reid, of Sherbrooke.

EMBARGO ON CATTLE

Ottawa, March 12.—(By Canadian Press).—In answer to questions of C. A. Fournier, Bellechasse, in the House, the Minister of Agriculture explains that the embargo on Canadian cattle exported to Great Britain was placed by the United Kingdom in 1896 on any cattle entering that country except for immediate slaughter.

TO WORRY ALONG ON TWO PERCENT

The Ontario Attorney-General Gives Bad News to Thirsty Citizens

Toronto, March 12.—Citizens of the Province of Ontario will have to worry along on two per cent beer. Attorney-General W. E. Raney, informed Secretary W. T. Kernahan, of the Ontario Brewers' Association, of this effect today, when the Minister replied to a request recently made by the brewers for permission to sell beer containing two and a-half per cent of alcohol. The Brewers' Association, in making the application assured the Government that the "cause of temperance would be served and the workman of the Province would be better satisfied if a beverage containing 2.5 per cent of alcohol by weight is permitted to be manufactured and sold anywhere in the Province by anyone without a license."

The Attorney-General, replying stated that in his opinion the answer to this request was given by the people of this Province at the polls on the referendum vote last October. He cited the big "majority" given on the beer question in substantiation of his opinion.

QUEBEC'S WAR MEMORIAL.

On another page in this issue will be found a letter from Canon Scott urging the re-construction of St. John's Gate as the most appropriate form of War Memorial for the Ancient Capital.

If we have done nothing in the meantime it has not been because we had become indifferent or had lost sight of the matter but because we had hoped that the initiative might have been taken towards a movement in which all interests and organizations might co-operate.

VISCOUNT JELICOE'S REPORT.

If we may judge from certain editorial comment a serious misunderstanding exists regarding the conditions surrounding the report of Viscount Jellicoe upon Canadian naval policy recently tabled in the House of Commons.

The fact should be recognized, if it is not so already, that Admiral Jellicoe did not come to this Dominion on instructions from the British Government to give us gratuitous advice as to what we should or should not do in the way of naval defence.

He simply conveyed the information that was asked of him and now rests with the Parliament of Canada whether that information shall be acted on and in what way.

It is also misleading to speak of Canada becoming one of the world's naval powers. That is out of the question and could be contemplated by no one.

It is easy enough to contend that there is no need of a navy now that the German menace has been removed, but few persons believed that there was a German menace until it actually materialized, and he would be a rash prophet who ventured to predict that there would be no more war.

We do not know what policy the Government has decided upon and are unprepared to say what Canada can afford to do or what it ought to do for safety, but are confident that the bulk of public opinion throughout the country will agree that naval defence is even more vital to this Dominion, with its front door upon the Atlantic and its back door upon the Pacific Ocean, than military defence.

KICKING OUT STERLING.

A recognized financial authority in a communication to the Chronicle just received, comes out against the proposed embargo on externally-owned Canadian securities in no uncertain terms; characterizing it as "one of the most extraordinary and inexcusable policies ever sought to be put into effect in this country" and denouncing it as an attempt at "kicking out Sterling at the wrong moment."

The position of our correspondent is to the following effect: Canada's external financial relations are largely confined to two countries—Great Britain and the United States. Nine-tenths of our trading in commodities, and more than that proportion of our borrowings and our trading in securities, is carried on with the people of these two nations.

In the last few months the pound sterling has been heavily discounted in the United States, and, since the discount on Canadian funds in New York was not quite so large as that on sterling, it follows that the pound sterling has also been at some discount in Canada.

In these circumstances it might have been supposed, considering the close community of interest both political and financial between Canada and Great Britain, the large sums already invested in Canada by British lenders and the expectation of further borrowings in future, that Canada would have associated herself somewhat closely with the fortunes of the pound sterling, would have afforded what support she could to aid it on the New York market, and would at least have taken no arbitrary and selfish action to keep the pound sterling at a substantial discount in the Dominion.

But what happened? The discount on sterling in Canada—due to New York's placing a higher value on Canadian Exchange than on British Exchange—naturally led to the offering of British-held securities of Canadian origin in the Canadian market. Terrified at the prospect of a drop in the market quotations on approximately $1,600,000,000 of Canadian War Loan Bonds owned in Canada, and convinced apparently that the pound sterling was in a hopeless case and that the salvation of Canada lay in tying-up to the American dollar, Canada's financial advisers formulated a plan for excluding British sellers of Canadian securities from the Canadian market.

The one thing that this Embargo could not do, as even its authors must have seen had they taken time to consider instead of rushing blindly into a precipitate course of action, was to effect its object, the prevention of Canadian purchases of these British-owned securities. There was no means of enforcing it, and the extreme diversity of interests involved made unanimous action impossible.

This short-sighted effort to dissociate the Canadian dollar from the Pound Sterling, by tactless discrimination against the British holders of Canadian securities worth a billion and a half of dollars, came at the most unfortunate moment that could have been selected. Had Canada continued to allow free access to British-held securities, the price of Sterling Exchange in Canada would logically and eventually have returned to par, or sufficiently near thereto to make further offering of these securities to Canada unprofitable.

In the irony of circumstance, scarcely had Canada promulgated this extraordinary policy, when the value of the pound sterling in New York began to mend! But the whole idea that Canada can succeed by dissociating herself from the pound sterling and tying up with the currencies of the United States and other foreign countries is radically wrong.

A furniture company of Toronto, in advertising its February sale of Made in Canada furniture, said: "We would like everyone to know that Canadian factories are making furniture fully as good as it is made anywhere outside of Canada, and making it for less money than the outside product."

WAR MEMORIAL.

Dear Sir—Apparently no steps are being taken to secure the erection of a memorial to our gallant men who died in the Great War for right and liberty. It must not be that this grand old city of Quebec who sent out of her best should be behind in a matter of this kind.

I would suggest that the memorial take the form of a triumphal gate, on the site of old St. John's Gate. Your readers will recollect that on the return of the 22nd Battalion, one of the decorations put up by the City was a structure in canvas at St. John's Gate.

The memorial is one in which all the citizens are interested, and could be erected in such a manner as to become one of the historical attractions of the city.

POLISH CURRENCIES.

The financial authorities in Warsaw are planning to provide Poland with a new currency, "Slotny" it is to be called says a Geneva correspondent to the New York Evening Post, and, when it is established, will reduce to order and convenience a condition that in the everyday life of trade must often perplex the average citizen.

LOSS OF STRENGTH THROUGH INDIGESTION

The Stomach Can Only Do Its Work When the Blood is Rich and Red.

Indigestion means loss as well as suffering to many people. Loss of strength, loss of time and loss of money follows indigestion and debility continues as long as the indigestion remains. Workers suffer from indigestion because their hours are long, and often they cannot give proper time to meals.

The stomach cannot do its work unless the blood is made rich and red, and so new blood alone can cure indigestion. It is for this reason that a remedy like Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which makes new, rich blood, cures indigestion and builds up the whole system.

SIXTY-SEVEN NEW CITY APPROVES INFLUENZA CASES TEMPORARY LOAN

Change of Weather Likely to Further Aggravate Situation in City

Sixty-seven additional cases of influenza were reported to the City Health Department on Wednesday afternoon up to noon yesterday, which goes to show that the sickness is not diminishing in this city, and with a change of the weather conditions the disease is likely to be further aggravated.

From the list of March up to yesterday, 12 cases of diphtheria under treatment in this city were reported by the local physicians to the Health Department, which indicates that this contagious disease is more widespread among children in this city than during previous years.

It is thought that the accused is afflicted mentally and he will be medically examined at the jail and if found to be of unsound mind will probably be sent to an asylum.

Final arrangements have been completed for the appearance in Quebec, on the afternoon and evening of Saturday, March 27th, of the Grenadier Guards Band Mr. Gagnier conductor, and the celebrated concert baritone, Louis Graveure, one of the foremost singers of the day. This enterprise is solely a philanthropic one, for even with two crowded houses the receipts would still be far from the expenses incurred.

Patriots Get Poor Reward. British Soldiers Who Won High Distinction Have a Right to Complaint of Ingratitude.

Attention has been directed to the hard case of men who won distinction in the great war, and seem to have been forgotten, by two dramatic incidents. One is the public statement by Sir Douglas Haig that a demobilized officer who won the V.C., D.S.O., and M.C., is at present trudging the streets of London in search of work.

The latter's record is an astounding one. He was promoted second lieutenant on the field, and his subsequent promotions were astonishingly rapid.

MI-CAREME DANCE AT KENT HOUSE

Proved Very Successful And Large Numbers Attended the Function

Seldom has a more enjoyable time been spent than was that by the large crowd which attended the masquerade dance held at the Kent House on Thursday, (Mi-Careme).

The dance was perfectly organized by the management, which provided every facility to ensure a happy entertainment.

In order to afford the fullest enjoyment to all, the two ball rooms were prepared for the event, each with Jazz bands, and the dancing, which commenced about 8:30 o'clock was continued until 2:09 a.m.

The costumes worn were tasteful and were superior to those worn on other similar occasions, and it was quite a task for the judges to select the winners.

The transportation service was all that could be desired, and street cars met the two last trains of passengers, who were conveyed home free of charge.

VERGLAS STORM VISITED QUEBEC

Streets Flooded and the Wires Covered with Frozen Rain Yesterday

The change of weather conditions that set in on Thursday by the obscuring of the sun and the heavy, humid atmosphere that overtook the city and district of Quebec, was further intensified yesterday by the heavy fall of rain that set in during the early morning and continued all day.

The streets were overrun with the downpour and melting snow, while the gully-wells for the most part were choked. The result was that walking was both unpleasant and dangerous.

The street cars had considerable difficulty in working their way through the water covered tracks, and the flashes of blue flame made by the electricity from the current in contact with the water covered streets was at times like vivid flashes of lightning.

The telegraph wiring and telephone system, by the electricity from the current in contact with the water covered streets, that also affected the telegraph wiring and telephone system.

YOUR LONG LIFE

Scientific Facts That Few People Consider. How long have you lived? Certainly for untold millions of years.

You, the individual that you recognize yourself as, came into the world only a short time ago. But the "germ-plasm," which is the essential element of your being, is of a derivation inconceivably ancient.

You began your present career very humbly, as a single cell about 1-125 of an inch in diameter. That cell split in two, then into four, then into eight, and so on, this sort of progressive multiplication accomplishing the building, or growth of your body.

The tiny original cell had a nucleus, the function of which was reproductive in other words, to multiply. Surrounding the nucleus was the "cell plasma," which had to do with nutrition.

What could be more simple? And yet such a cell is the most mysterious thing in the world. It holds a secret the revelation of which would solve a puzzle that has up to now defied scientific inquiry—the secret of the principle of life.

Your body is a congeries of cells, the progeny and descendants of the first tiny one, and each one of them contains the same sort of cell plasma. But the latter did not originate with yourself; it has been handed down to you through innumerable generations.

You received it from your parents, and in turn you pass it along to your children. In a very literal sense, we go on living after we are dead. We survive in our descendants, their lives being an extension of our own lives.

The cell-plasm itself is a substance indistinguishable from ordinary protoplasm, but it contains the chromosomes, which are all things in this world the most wonderful. For they are the carriers of inheritance traits.

You receive from your parents twenty of these inheritance bundles, ten from your mother and ten from your father. Today every cell of your body contains the same twenty characteristic chromosomes—the same bundles.

They represent the traits of innumerable ancestors, and may be said to stand for your individuality, being accountable for everything that you are, from the shape of your nose and the color of your eyes to the peculiarities of your temperament, disposition and mental equipment.

In a young cell, viewed beneath a high-power microscope, there is seen something that looks like a tangled thread. Later, this thickens and shortens, taking the form of a rod. The rod finally breaks into twenty pieces, which are the inheritance bundles.

BOARD OF TRADE HELD ELECTIONS

Mr. J. T. Ross Again President —Messrs. J. H. Fortier and A. J. Welch Vice-Presidents

The annual general meeting of the Quebec Board of Trade took place yesterday and was without exception the most interesting held for some years.

After routine business had been transacted, President Ross read the report of the work performed by the Board during the past year, which is replete with interest, and is published in extenso in another section of today's Chronicle.

Mr. J. G. Scott after complimenting the President and Council of the Board for the work accomplished, referred as follows to the work performed by the Board in the interest of the trade and commerce of Quebec during the past ten years.

Before proceeding to the election of officers and members of the Council for the ensuing year, Mr. Scott asked permission of the meeting to say a few words for the purpose of trying to correct some misapprehension which, in his opinion, exists in some quarters as to the value of the work done by the Quebec Board of Trade.

As a rule, the newspapers of Quebec have given our Board very little publicity and help in the work we are trying to do for the commercial advancement of the city. But some people seem to think that the Board is not doing as much as it should, and is not sufficiently aggressive, and perhaps this opinion may be shared to some extent by the younger element amongst our commercial men. I think the best answer to such a sentiment is the progress of the Board itself.

Twenty years ago, when the present Secretary came into office the membership of the board was 206.

In 1910, this had increased to 370, and in 1920, we have 710 members. This substantial increase in membership is largely due to the energetic work of our Secretary. The revenue of the Board in 1910, was $4,691. Last year it was $7,195.

If we had the Workshops of the Transcontinental Ry. in Quebec, it is due to the Board of Trade, because in 1910, when the question of giving the Champlain Market as a terminal for the Railway came up, it was our Board that insisted that one of the conditions should be that Quebec should have the Workshops, an advantage which will prove a very great boon to our city.

We secured at the same time, a clause that the Government should spend two millions upon terminals on the St-Lawrence front, which has yet to be done.

It was through our continued agitation that the new graving dock at Levis, the largest in the world, was finally built.

It was in consequence of the incessant agitation of our Board that a reduced rate of freight upon the western grain was obtained over the Government railway from Winnipeg to Quebec, and that the large elevator was built on the Louise Dock.

The result was that six large steamships were loaded at Quebec with Manitoba wheat, and we have now good reasons to expect a share of the grain trade of the West.

We pushed the Government, at the end of the war, to start the building of steel steamships in Canada. And when it was begun I think it is no exaggeration to say that our work was not without influence in it.

causing three of the largest of these steamships to be built by the Davie Shipbuilding Co., which now employs 2000 men here.

Until five or six years ago, our merchants were obliged to pay railway freight rates that discriminated against Quebec to such an extent that Montreal was able to send goods to points in the Quebec district at cheaper rates than Quebec merchants who were also compelled to pay heavy ferry charges on their goods crossing the St-Lawrence.

Our freight rates to Winnipeg and other points in the North-West were also much heavier than those paid by Montreal Merchants. The Quebec Board of Trade went vigorously to work to remedy this handicap against our trade.

The result is that our freight rates to Winnipeg and other North-Western points are now the same as those paid by Montreal merchants, our rates to places East of Quebec and to points in our own district are now cheaper than the rates from Montreal, and the charge for freight crossing the river at Quebec has disappeared.

OFFICIALS FOR GAMES CHOSEN

Harry Hyland and T. Munroe To Act in 'Varsity and Sons of Ireland Matches

Sporting Notes

Harry Hyland, who referred both games in Montreal when the Sons of Ireland played Victorias and Munitions in the Allan Cup Elimination series, has been chosen as one of the officials for the two games between Sons of Ireland and Varsity next Tuesday and Thursday at Toronto.

There will be no game at the Arena tonight, despite the article in the sporting columns of this paper this morning. Since writing the article, word was received late last night from Cecil Hart, saying that the St. Lambert team had refused to come, and claiming that three of their players were sick in bed with the grippe. The action of the Montreal team is not very sportsmanlike as they were perfectly willing to come on Thursday, when all arrangements were made between Cecil Hart, the Secretary of the E.C.A. H. A. and the local Arena here.

The Sons board the 1.15 tomorrow afternoon for the Queen City, where they will do their darndest to take the Varsity team into camp. The local boys will leave with the best wishes of all hockey fans in this city, for their success.

Canadiens and Toronto St. Pats ring down the curtain on N.H.L. hockey for the season to night at Toronto, when they meet in the final game.

Most of the Quebec players left town yesterday, Munnery, Carpenter and Ritchie taking the 1.15 for their respective homes. McCarthy will probably leave on Monday for his home, while McLean took the train last night for Sydney.

Harry Hyland, who will act as one of the officials in the games in Toronto next week, is one of the most competent and impartial officials in the game today.

The team that trims the Sons of Ireland will know that they have been in some hockey game, for the Sons are considered to be the greatest aggregation of amateur puck chasers that ever stepped on skates.

According to despatches from Winnipeg when the Falcons, pride of Winnipeg hockey fans, step on the ice at Toronto in the tussle for the Allan Cup eastern fans will see one of the greatest combinations of hockey talent that has come out of the west in recent years.

The team is composed entirely of Icelandic boys who have grown up together, and they have provided surprise after surprise in Winnipeg during the hockey season. They are reported not to be a spectacular team, by any means and possess but one or two stars, but they have evolved a system that is hard to beat. The defence hasn't allowed more than five goals to be scored against it in any one game, while the forwards seem to have the ability of scoring goals.

LEWIS BEAT MADVAN Gloverville, N.Y., March 12—"Strangler" Lewis, heavy-weight wrestler, threw Ivan Madvan "The Russian Giant", twice here last night, the first time in 48 minutes with a headlock and the second fall in 16 minutes with an arm scissors and further arm hold.

WILDE TRIMMED FRANKIE MASON

Britisher Decisively Outpointed American Claimant To Flyweight Boxing Title

Ringside, Coliseum Toledo, Ohio, March 12—Jimmy Wilde, of England, recognized flyweight boxing champion of the world, defended his right to the title tonight by decisively out-pointing Frankie Mason, of Fort Wayne, Ind., the American claimant of the title.

Throughout the battle the plucky little Briton was the aggressor. He carried the fight in all but one round, the fifth, when Mason braced himself and put the Englishman on the defensive. Two of the rounds were even, the fourth and tenth.

After the fight, Referee Ed. Smith declared never in his life had he seen a young fellow or any fighter who was so willing to carry or mix matters as Wilde. Smith was of the opinion that it was a very even match but declared that under the rules of the Commission he was not at liberty to announce the winner.

The betting before the fight was at ten to eight in Wilde's favor. Both boys weighed in this afternoon under the stipulation at 105 pounds.

MR. LEVALLEE REPLIES. Quebec, March 12th, 1920. The Editor of the Chronicle, Quebec.

Dear Sir:—I notice in your today's issue a letter signed by D. Marois, making certain accusations regarding the Trotting Race that was to take place between my mare "Lauretta Oakland" and the mare called "Grace Dawn."

I am in a position that would enable me to reply to these accusations, but abstain from so doing for the simple reason that I am not acquainted with Mr. Marois in connection with this matter as the wager was not made by this gentleman but by other interested parties, consequently I fail to see what right Mr. Marois has to attack me in the manner he has done through the press.

Should any of the gentlemen directly connected with the Race in question feel disposed to attack me in the manner adopted by Mr. Marois, I shall have pleasure in defending myself, which I am perfectly capable of doing.

Thanking you in advance for the insertion of the above in your valuable paper, I remain, Yours truly, GEORGE LEVALLEE.

LONDOS MEETS CHEVALIER

New York, March 12—Jim Londres, the Greek wrestling champion, will re-appear here when he tackles Salvatore Chevalier, the French titleholder, in a finish match Monday night at Madison Square Garden. This duel will be a prelude to the clash between Earl Caddock and "Strangler" Lewis, the winner of which will meet Joe Stecher for the world's championship.

LOYOLA PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Local Intermediate Champs Will Meet St. Lambert Outfit of Montreal Suburb

A very interesting and important hockey match is slated for tonight at the Arena, when Loyola, the Intermediate champions of Quebec, meet the fast St. Lambert team, of Montreal, in the first of a home and home game series for the Deery Cup, emblematic of the Intermediate championship of the Eastern Canada Hockey Association.

Both teams are very evenly matched, and a great game should result. The Loyola team have gone through a very successful season, and had the honor of being the only team in Intermediate hockey in Quebec that escaped defeat during the season. They won all their games with the exception of two, which were drawn, and put the finishing touches to their greatest season by defeating the formidable St. Valier team, champions of the Intermediate League, by a score of 6 to 1, some weeks back, in a special match between the champions of the Intermediate and National Leagues.

The Loyola team was formed only a couple of seasons back, and since their organization, have come to the fore in great style. They played great hockey last season in the Ligue Nationale, and repeated again this year, winning the championship by a fairly substantial margin over their nearest opponents.

Just how their players are can be imagined when several of the members of the team were sought after by City League managers, who asked them to step into senior amateur company, but they all refused. The team has only one City League player in their ranks, the person of Turgeon, the goalie, and he has been playing excellent hockey for them. Turgeon guarded the nets for the Nationales of the City League during the season, and was mainly responsible for holding the Sons of Ireland down to a 1 to 9 score on the occasion of the first meeting between the Nationales and Sons. Turgeon is one of the best net minders that has ever gone out to guard goal in a hockey match.

The strength of the team lies in their team work. They have a style similar to that of the famous Sons of Ireland, and all are true hard shots when they get near the goal. In addition, they have a very strong and aggressive defence, while their forwards are all fast skaters and good back-checkers.

Most of the players are still in their teens, but despite that the majority are fit for City League hockey. They should put up a great battle against the St. Lambert team, who, according to reports have been playing consistent hockey in Montreal during the season.

This is the first time that Loyola have challenged for the Deery Cup, and they have excellent chances of lifting the silverware. The games are played one in Quebec and a second in Montreal, thus giving each team an opportunity to play on its own ice. It is likely that the return game will be played in Montreal next Tuesday or Thursday.

The probable line up of the Loyola team will be: Goal, Turgeon; Point, Cantin; C. Point, Pouliot; Forwards, M. Savard, Zinck, Savard, while the game is scheduled to start at 8.15.

NO GAME AT THE ARENA TONIGHT

Since writing the above article, word was received by Mr. Leopold Dussault, of the Arena, from Cecil Hart, of Montreal, that the St. Lambert team had refused to come down, claiming that three of their players were sick in bed with the grippe.

Cecil Hart knew this yesterday afternoon, and made an effort to get a team from Sherbrooke to come down instead of the St. Lambert outfit, but was unsuccessful in his efforts.

The action of the Montreal team is very unsportsmanlike, as they were all prepared to meet the Loyolas on Thursday afternoon, but evidently in the interim they developed a case of "cold feet", and preferred rather to stay in Montreal.

WILL BRING BILL INTO PARLIAMENT

Toronto, March 12—It is thought here that the probable outcome of the report of the Rutherford Commission to the Dominion Parliament, in connection with horse racing and betting, will be a bill bringing into Parliament this session by the government limiting such racing with betting to tracks owned and directed by the more reputable Canadian Jockey Clubs. Tracks owned by professional race track men, whether of the United States or Canada may disappear. Also some drastic disposal of the profits of the betting may make the game less attractive. The number of days racing in each centre will be reduced by limitation of the meets and the number of days in each meet.

Address of the President, Mr. J. T. Ross for the year ended December 31, 1919

PRESENTED AT THE ANNUAL MEETING.

Quebec, February 25, 1920.

Gentlemen:—

If you will refer to the printed report distributed to members, you will find a synopsis of the work done by the Board and by its Council, and copies of some of the most important correspondence during the year 1919.

The great war is now fortunately over, and we may expect, from day to day, the ratification by all the nations, of the Peace Treaty, based upon the terms of armistice of November, 1918. Whilst Canada, like all other countries, has suffered from the increased cost of living and the spirit of unrest which seems to have resulted therefrom, we have great reason to be thankful that the general trade of the Dominion has been so satisfactory.

The City of Quebec has shared in the prosperity of the whole country. The bank clearings of our city for the year 1919 amount to the very large sum of $291,000,000 as compared with $239,000,000 in the corresponding twelve months of 1918; and the permits issued for the construction of new buildings indicate that the building operations of 1919 amounted to $2,134,219 as compared with $904,375 in the previous year. A few months ago, a municipal census was taken by the city authorities, and it disclosed the very satisfactory situation that the population of the City of Quebec, which at the time of the last Dominion census in 1911, was 81,000, has now increased to about 108,000. In other words, our population has increased, in eight years, more than thirty per cent. It seems probable that no other city in Canada can show a better proportionate progress.

The Public Debt.

A good deal of anxiety is felt throughout Canada at the alarming increase of the public debt of the country, which now stands at about two billions of dollars, or nearly seven times what it was before the war. Of course a very large portion of this is the result of the expense incurred by Canada in carrying on the war and in making generous provision, which every one will applaud, for the families of our men who sacrificed their lives for the great cause, and for the wounded who have returned to us. But the Government have thought proper to make a very large expenditure for the purpose of acquiring two great railway systems and assuming their liabilities, which it is feared may increase the debt of Canada to the extent of another billion of dollars. Notwithstanding the disastrous results of Government operation of railways in the United States, results so disastrous that the United States Government is now returning all these railways to private ownership, our Government is now operating one of the systems thus acquired, and is expected shortly to take control of the other. In common with all the principal Boards of Trade of the Dominion, which have, so far, expressed an opinion on the subject, your Board have urged the Government to go slowly, and to see the result of operating one system before taking over another.

The redeeming feature, in connection with the increase of the public debt, is the fact that it has nearly all been subscribed by the people of Canada, an evidence of the prosperity of the country and of its increasing financial strength.

The Grain Trade.

The grain exported from Quebec in the past year, about 3,500,000 bushels in all, has been much less in quantity than the capacity of the new elevator on the Louise Dock would seem to warrant, and although the new Transcontinental Railway, now operated by the Government, offers splendid advantages for this traffic, being 214 miles shorter than the Canadian Pacific, and 257 miles shorter than the Canadian Northern, and capable, owing to its level grades, of handling a much greater tonnage, none of the grain shipped here has come over that line, although the road was built for that express purpose. At the same time, the bulk of the grain traffic of the prairie provinces continues to go to New York, via Buffalo, for shipment to Europe. You will see by the correspondence submitted to you, that we have remonstrated very strenuously with Mr. D. B. Hanna, the President of the Canadian National Railways, against so unpatriotic a policy, and have urged him to restore the special rate of freight upon export grain to Quebec, which gave our port an advantage of three cents per bushel over New York, and which had been operated with such happy results to our shipping trade, two years ago. Mr. Hanna seems well disposed, and we hope to see results during the coming year. The majority of the members of Parliament representing the three prairie provinces wrote to Sir Robert Borden in September last, urging that Quebec should be used for the export of their grain, in preference to New York.

The Transcontinental Workshops.

The splendid workshops built by the Government in Quebec for the use of the Transcontinental Railway, at a cost of two millions of dollars, have at last been put into operation. The machinery is not all installed as yet, so the force of men employed is not as great as it will be eventually. But there can be no doubt that the situation of these shops, at fidewater, and in the centre of a great railway system, will make of this a very great industry for our city. We have to thank Mr. Hanna for his prompt action in putting these workshops into operation, as soon as his attention was drawn to the matter by the Mayor of Quebec.

The Quebec Bridge.

The operation of the new bridge over the St. Lawrence at Quebec has already proved the great usefulness of that structure to the trade of the country. Although not yet used to any extent for passenger service, no less than 40,458 freight cars crossed this bridge during the year 1919. A remarkable figure, considering that the winter traffic between Winnipeg and the Maritime Province ports, for which this bridge shortens the distance by more than 200 miles, and which was the principal reason for its construction, has not yet been organized. For some unaccountable reason the passenger trains of the Intercolonial and Grand Trunk Railways do not yet make use of the bridge, though we understand that the Quebec Central and Delaware & Hudson roads are now making preparations to do so. Your Council has drawn the attention of the Government and of Mr. Hanna to this anomaly.

Ship Building.

The building of wooden ships in the Port of Quebec, which was so actively carried on two years ago, has ceased, owing to a change in the Government policy. But it has been more than replaced by the construction of steel steamers, for the building of which large works have been erected at the new Graving Dock at Levis. Mr. Davie has already launched from this shipyard a steel steamship of 5,100 tons, and another of the same dimensions is nearly completed. These works are splendidly situated for the purpose, and have given employment to 2,400 men. The Council have urged upon the Government that this shipyard should have orders for some of the 8,000 ton ships which the Government is about to build.

Transcontinental Railway.

Although this new railway is not yet bringing us the grain trade, for which it was built, it is doing Quebec a great deal of good in other ways. The settlement of the great clay belt along this line, extending from the head waters of the St. Maurice to Lake Abitibi, is progressing in a marvellous manner. The Rev. Ivanhoe Caron, the Provincial Director of Colonization, states that there are now 12,000 new settlers in this country. These settlers not only make freight for the railway and raw material for the pulp and paper mills in clearing their land, but they buy their supplies in our city, and thus furnish new customers to our merchants. But this important road cannot be expected to do what was expected of it until it has freight terminals of its own. These ocean terminals, as the Board of Trade have repeatedly advised the Government, should be built, as originally intended, on the St. Lawrence deep water front of the city, where the railway owns twelve million feet of suitable ground, acquired for that purpose, where it should be free from the danger of street crossings. Nor has the railway, as yet, been furnished with the new equipment of rolling stock necessary for its proper operation, and so as to make its trains attractive to the travelling public, for whom it shortens the run to Winnipeg by nearly half a day.

Exports to United States.

The growth of the trade of our city and district with the United States, in consequence of the opening up of the country north of Quebec, and the building of the great pulp and paper mills and other industries on the Saguenay, St. Maurice and Jacques Cartier Rivers, is simply wonderful. The United States Consul at Quebec has had the kindness to furnish us with the following figures:—

Exports to United States in 1911.....	$ 4,530,329

New Graving Dock.

The new Graving Dock at Levis has been in operation during the past year, and quite a number of ocean vessels have been docked and repaired. It is said to be the largest dock in the world, capable of taking in any vessel now afloat. Its dimensions are 1,150 feet in length, from 105 to 144 feet wide and 40 feet deep, divided, when necessary, by a movable gate, into two compartments, each long enough for the largest steamer now using the St. Lawrence. It adjoins the old graving dock, which is large enough for all except a few of the very largest ships. So that the port of Quebec is now fully equipped with the most modern dock facilities, which should help to materially reduce marine insurance rates. The shipyard adjoining the new dock is one of the best and most completely equipped in Canada, and has already turned out steel

What Organized Labor Thinks of Prohibition

Labor-leaders know the views of the workers as well as politicians know the wishes of their constituents, possibly better, for unionized labor makes its wants known in no uncertain manner. Consequently, when The Literary Digest wished to learn for its readers the attitude of the workingman regarding prohibition, inasmuch as we could not ask the individual union worker because there are about four million of him, we asked their duly elected officials.

In this week's number of THE LITERARY DIGEST—March 13th—a summary of the very interesting replies is published. Approximately thirty per cent of the 526 replies of labor-leaders inform us that a poll was taken on the question at the regular meeting. Replies came from every State in the Union, and they reflect a considerable sweep of opinion.

"Why don't you 'sick' the prohibitionists on the profiteers?"; "No man has a right to dictate to another what he shall eat or drink, except the doctor;"; "There have been more deaths and murders in the period since prohibition went into effect than there were in the same period last year;"; are a few of the many replies against prohibition. "Money which formerly bought whiskey is now buying happiness for the workingman's family;"; "Men have more of the good things in life since the dry law went into effect;"; "Since prohibition is in force, the workers are capable of clearer thinking and do more of it," are typical expressions from the many leaders who favor prohibition.

If you would learn from first hand sources the real opinion of the workingman upon the subject of prohibition, you will do well to read the LITERARY DIGEST this week.

RED ACTIVITIES BEING INVESTIGATED

Dominion Secret Service Police Are Looking into Some Evidence Found in Ottawa

Ottawa, Ont., March 11 — The Journal this afternoon publishes a report to the effect that the Dominion Secret Service Police are investigating "Red" activities evidences of which have been found in Ottawa. It is alleged that the suspicion of the authorities was first aroused by the visit of a stranger to the home of Rev. George Bousfield a prominent

The Bowels Must Act Healthily.—In most ailments the first care of the medical man is to see that the bowels are open and fully performing their functions. Parmele's Vegetable Pills are so compounded that certain ingredients in them act on the bowels gently and they are the very best medicine available to produce healthy action of the bowels. Indeed, there is no other specific so serviceable in keeping the digestive organs in healthful action.

Anglican clergyman of this city. The report is that the stranger visited the rector to secure his co-operation in a scheme which had as its object the "removal of a prominent Canadian."

Mr. Bousfield was ill at the time and the stranger refused to wait until further information could be secured.

Any information with regard to the other clues on which the Dominion authorities are working have been kept secret although it is known that there has been activity regarding the circulation of incendiary literature.

Nearly all the combinations of furs seem to be reserved this season for jackets and coats. One seldom sees two furs combined on the long coats or the separate pieces, but in the short garments pretty effects are achieved by trimming mole or seal with gray chinchilla squirrel. Seal is also combined with fitch or beaver and mole with taupe fox. Natural caracul is combined with beaver which matches it exactly in tone, richness could go no further than the collaring of a baby lamb or broadtail wrap with sable.

A little French wrap with a muff to correspond is shown in both gray and brown squirrel which is ornamented by lines of monkey fur fringe and makes itself surprisingly attractive in process.

Mink of a browner cast than formerly is fashioned into beautiful coats and capes in which the placing of the stripes and tails in order to produce the design is a wonder of ingenuity.

An Oil for All Men.—The sailor, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it has no equal. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and those taken on a journey.

RED ACTIVITIES BEING INVESTIGATED

It is best when it is very much longer in the back than in the front, and is particularly becoming to tall or stately women.

It is to be had in squirrel, seal, mole, broadtail and mink. A lovely mole cape of another type is plaited softly at the back and hangs in deep points at either side. All these furs garments have gray, pretty linings of pussy willow silk.

Marvelous scarfs straight and very long are produced in a variety of furs which include both the heavy and close pelts. A new way of contrasting both seal and mole is by separating long bands of the fur in which the grain runs in one direction by the finest of bands with the grain running crosswise. Matching chiffon linings often embroidered in bright colors finish the scarfs.

Address of the President, Mr. J. T. Ross, for the year ended December 31, 1919 steamships of very large tonnage, equal in workmanship to any built.

Louise Docks.

The five new steamship berths at the Louise Docks are now completed, and have been in operation during the past year. They have 35 feet of water at low tide, are faced by commodious and spacious freight sheds, and have conveyor connections with the modern two million bushel grain elevator on the dock. The Louise Docks have accommodation for 22 ocean steamers, with depth of water varying from 18 to 35 feet. The efficiency of these docks for ocean passenger traffic has been amply proved by the fact that during the war no less than 315,000 soldiers were handled there, the large buildings erected for the housing of immigrants being used for military purposes. The Louise Docks have again proved their usefulness to the country by the shelter from running ice which they have given to several large steamers from Montreal and to nine United States war-vessels which are now wintering there.

North Channel.

Your Council have again urged upon the Government the urgent necessity of the early completion of the North Channel, now being dredged to a depth of 35 feet at low tide, between the east end of the Island of Orleans and Baie St. Paul. This work is now approaching completion, and when completed will allow the largest steamers to come straight to Quebec, without the detention, in waiting for the tide, which steamers drawing over 30 feet are now subject to, in the old South Channel. The new channel will give immediate connection with the deepwater of the north shore to the Gulf, will almost do away with the necessity of pilage east of the Island of Orleans, and will be more free from interruption by floating ice in the winter, than the present channel. You will see from the answer of the Minister of Marine that this question has the attention of the Government.

Winter Navigation.

The recent mishaps in the lower St. Lawrence to the new steamships "Canadian Recruit" and "Canadian Spinner", which left Quebec on the 16th December, with valuable cargoes, have been rather discouraging to advocates of winter navigation. But it must not be overlooked that if these vessels had been escorted by ice breakers, as they should have been at that season of the year, (seeing that the river was full of running ice, owing to it not yet having frozen over above Quebec, as is the case in mid-winter, or if the North channel, above alluded to, had been ready for use) these accidents would, in the opinion of experienced men, have been avoided. Senator L'Espérance, Chairman of the Quebec Harbor Commission, read to the Annual Congress of Seaport Managers, held in Texas last month, an excellent paper as to the feasibility of the winter navigation of the St. Lawrence below Quebec, and in support of his opinion in the affirmative, gave the dates of arrival and departure of ocean steamers at Quebec, in every month of the winter, from December to April, during the last ten years, without accident. Your Council instructed the President of the Board of Trade to write to the Minister of Marine, approving of Mr. L'Espérance's opinion on this subject, and urging the Government to build two powerful ice breakers, to be stationed during the ice period, with the "Montcalm", one at Sydney or Gaspé, one at Tadoussac, and one at Quebec, and also to build shelter piers, to be used by steamers in the event of snow storms, or accidents to machinery, etc., one at Murray Bay and one at some point between Rimouski and Gaspé. We pointed out to the Minister that winter navigation in the Baltic, formerly closed in winter, like the St. Lawrence, is now successfully carried on, and that although not likely to be a route favored by passengers, and probably subject to delays, it would be a great economy, if the freight traffic of the interior, or a portion of it, could save the extra six hundred miles of railway transportation to a Maritime Province port in winter, or even for two or three months of the winter.

Banquet to New President of the C. P. R.

Lord Shaughnessy having resigned the Presidency of the Canadian Pacific Railway, whose fortunes he has guided so long and so successfully, your Council thought that it would be advisable, seeing that Quebec has such important and intimate relations with the operations of that great railway, that the members of our Board of Trade should have an opportunity of conferring with his successor in office. Accordingly a banquet was tendered to Mr. E. W. Beatty, the new President, and it took place at the Chateau Frontenac on the 2nd October last. Lord Shaughnessy, an old friend of Quebec, accompanied Mr. Beatty on the occasion, and the dinner which was attended by a very large gathering of the members of your Board and honored by the presence of the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, and the Premier of the Province, Sir Lomer Gouin, was a marked success. Your President took advantage of the occasion to point out to Mr. Beatty that a new, and in our opinion, very unfair policy had been adopted by the C. P. R. this year—for the first time in sixty years—of not allowing their mail steamers to stop at Quebec on their outward trip from Montreal. We also pointed out the injustice of Quebec passengers being obliged to embark at Montreal, and the absurdity of having to send our lumber, pulp, paper, cheese and other products of this district, to Montreal for shipment to Europe, and we asked to have a proportion of the ocean tonnage berthed at Quebec, for our business, and to have our freight and passenger rates and also those of Halifax and St. John reduced in proportion to the distance saved. The annexed report of the speeches and of the correspondence will show to what extent we have succeeded. One gratifying statement at the dinner was the promise that the Chateau Frontenac will be immediately enlarged to nearly double its present capacity.

Quebec & Saguenay Railway.

During the past year the Quebec & Saguenay Railway has been completed by the Federal Government as far as Murray Bay. It is a well built road, one of the most beautiful scenic railways on the continent, or perhaps anywhere, and has developed a volume of traffic quite unexpected by many people. Its extension from Murray Bay to Chicoutimi, which would shorten the present railway distance from Quebec to Chicoutimi by sixty miles, is contemplated, and it is believed that when the water powers of the Saguenay above Chicoutimi, estimated at one million horse power, shall have been developed, there will be sufficient traffic for two railways.

The Industrial Commissioner.

Mr. E. Ray, Marien, who was appointed Industrial Commissioner of the Board of Trade on January 21st, 1919, has resigned his position, and his resignation has been accepted.

Mr. Marien was named for the purpose of encouraging the establishment of new industries in the City of Quebec, and the expense of the proposed work was provided for by special subscriptions of a certain number of our citizens, payable in yearly instalments during four years.

The question of continuing this work and of appointing his successor will have to be considered by the new Council.

Addresses.

On the 29th of April last, His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, did us the honor to address the Quebec Board of Trade, giving us a resume of the commercial history of our port, and a sketch of the great merchants who did its business, built its ships, and sailed its mercantile marine, half a century ago, a subject upon which he is well qualified to speak.

On the 12th of December last, the Council was addressed by Mr. David F. Maxwell, Civil Engineer of St. Stephen, New Brunswick, who submitted to the Board a project, or rather revived a project first advocated in 1832, for the shortest possible railway between Quebec and the Atlantic, by the Etchemin and Penobscot valleys to St. Stephen, only 250 miles in length, a line 47 miles shorter than the Grand Trunk to Portland, some miles shorter from Montreal to St. John than the C.P.R., and 428 miles shorter than the Intercolonial from Quebec to Halifax, and passing over a summit 500 or 600 feet lower than that crossed by the C. P. R. between Montreal and St. John. Mr. Maxwell pointed out that the construction of the Quebec Bridge, which makes Quebec the centre of Canada's railway system, had revived the necessity for this line, because it would make it part of the shortest possible line between Winnipeg and the Atlantic, and would be the surest way to win back the export grain trade of the prairie provinces, four-fifths of which is now going to New York for shipment.

The Prince of Wales.

The recent visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales has been a great joy to the people of Canada, and especially so for the citizens of Quebec, to whom he has proved most sympathetic. The presence in our harbor of the Ship in which he came, the "Renown", said to be the largest warship in the world, flying the flag of an old friend of Quebec, Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, is a proof of the safety of this port, and of its approaches, for the accommodation of the largest vessels afloat, or likely to be.

Conclusion.

In conclusion let me assure the members of the Quebec Board of Trade,—that historic commercial corporation founded in 1809, over whose deliberations I have been very proud to preside during the last year,—that like my predecessors in office, I have unbounded confidence in the future of Quebec. We are 500 miles closer to Liverpool than New York is. We are 214 miles closer to Winnipeg by rail than we were before the building of the Transcontinental. European mails and immigrants can reach Winnipeg half a day quicker by Quebec than they could before. The Quebec Bridge has made us the centre of Canada's railway system. Our position of advantage cannot be denied, and if we all work together our commercial future is brilliant.

Respectfully submitted,

J. T. ROSS, President.

DAMASCUS SITUATION GROWING SERIOUS Complete Independence of Syria to be Proclaimed with Emir Feisal as King. London, March 11—Official advices state that the situation in Damascus is serious. Emir Feisal, son of the King of the Hedjaz, is explained, has thought it advisable to summon the Syrian Congress, which intends to declare the complete independence of the country and declare him King. The Emir, it is stated, succeeded temporarily in forestalling such action, securing the postponement of the meeting of the Congress, which had been called for March 8th, but the excitement is said to be so great that he probably will be compelled to accede to the demands.

Chronicle's Review of Coming Attractions For Next Week

AT THE AUDITORIUM
For the coming week a very attractive vaudeville bill is offered to the patrons of this popular theatre. Five very good acts are on the bill, composed of The Four Gardiner Girls, Harmony singers, who have been playing the leading theatres in the United States and Canada; The De Kock Trio, three men and a dog, in a novelty acrobatic offering, that is reputed to be the best ever seen round here; Patrice and Sullivan, man and woman in a violin and singing and dancing specialty that will make local theatregoers sit up and take notice, a musical act that will measure up with very favorably with the others, and a very funny act that promises to be the best of them all, an act with two of the best comedians that ever stepped on the stage.

In addition to this splendid bill, there will be the second episode of the Jack Dempsey serial in which Jack Dempsey, the world's heavy-weight boxing champion, will be seen in some more hazardous feats, and a rollicking comedy calculated to make the spectators split their sides laughing entitled "Love, Oil and Grease."

The feature picture is "The Blue Bandana," and it features one of the most popular artists on the screen, in the person of William Desmond. This picture is the fastest and snappiest drama that Desmond has ever appeared in, and tells how he turns crook, bandit and detective for the love of a girl. If you were a millionaire, would you become a kitchen maid and cook, a wild and woolly bandit, and a Nick Carter detective to win the prettiest girl in the world? This is what Desmond does in "The Blue Bandana," in which he is sure to gain fresh laurels.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, a Mack Sennett comedy, entitled "The Speak Easy" is also on the bill, featuring Marie Prevost, Charles Murray and other Sennett stars.

AT THE EMPIRE
For Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday this forthcoming week, the management of the Empire presents to the patrons of the house, Bryant Washburn in his latest picture, "Too Much Johnson," from William Gillette's famous stage play of that name. The picture is created for laugh purposes only and it is said that it certainly lives up to that notice. For a rollicking farce comedy, "Too Much Johnson" ranks among the leaders and is a continuous roar of laughter from start to finish. Miss Lois Wilson is again in support of Mr. Washburn and ably and appealingly portrays the role of the young wife. "He sold his troublesome mother-in-law for $5,000. But before the deal was finished—you'll say he earned the money." Quebec movie fans should be particularly pleased with Mr. Johnson's latest offerings and as will undoubtedly delight any audience. A comedy and news weekly are also to be shown.

For Thursday, Friday and Saturday, probably the most exciting and spectacular production ever filmed, "The Great Air Robbery" featuring that dare-devil of the skies Lieut. Locklear. A particularly appealing love story is embodied in the picture and the action moves with the speed and smoothness of a machine-gun. American critics who have been fortunate in witnessing a showing of "The Great Air Robbery" have been unanimous in voicing the production, the most unique, thrilling, and exciting that has ever been shown on the silver sheet and the management of the Empire is to be highly congratulated in giving Quebecers an opportunity of seeing this wonderful picture. The eleventh episode of the thrilling serial "The Lion Man," featuring Kathleen O'Connor and Jack Perrin, as well as a comedy complete an excellent bill.

AT THE VICTORIA
"A Daughter of the Gods" which is at the Victoria, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, commences with a delightful little allegorical bit, in which two song birds are the central figures. One of them is killed by a cat and the other left without its mate, throws itself into the water. Thus they both become creatures of the sea. In after years the male bird takes the form of a man, and is mistaken for the long lost son of a rich Sultan. The female appears as a girl (Miss Kellermann) who is ever under the spell of a witch, although a good fairy does her best to put the witch to rout.

The film then follows Anita's wanderings. The Sultan goaded by the witch tries in divers ways to kill her, but the supposed son refutes many of his plans. She drifts into the kingdom of the gnomes, and when the Sultan's troops revolt against him she leads the gnomes, who suddenly change to armed men against the revolutionists. The Sultan's kingdom, however, becomes united at the approach of the invaders, and, instead of aiding her beloved, Anita is forced to fight against him. Both meet death, but in spirit they again become united.
On Thursday, Friday and Saturday Constance Talmadge is seen in "The Virtuous Vamp." This is reported to be Miss Talmadge's best picture, and advance notices claim it to be great.

Another episode of "The Adventures of Ruth" and a comedy complete the bill.

AT THE ALLEN
The inscrutable Oriental holds out a constant appeal to America. His character is forever a source of healthy interest, taunting the imagination and stimulating curiosity. The worst types of the yellow men are brought into bold relief by the new photodrama release "The Cyclone," scheduled for the Allen, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday next, in which William Fox presents the daredevil of the screen, Tom Mix.

A setting as fantastic and multicolored as life itself serves to etch the Chinese allies of a smuggling gang in a uniquely strong fashion. Their diabolical contrivances are sore obstacles to Sergeant Tim, the latest and strongest characterization by Tom Mix, the Fox thriller. But the dauntless Tim triumphs and wins the love of a charming girl, played by Coleen Moore.

A Christie Comedy, Scenic and Mutt and Jeff Cartoon completes the bill.

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nazimova, who has been called the most emotional actress on the screen, is seen in her latest triumph, "War Brides." In this picture Nazimova plays the part of a woman who is married to her husband on the eve of the day he leaves for the front, and as the men are killed in war, a government edict is issued, ordering all women to marry soldiers.

Nazimova rebels against this order, and incites a group of women who live near her, to revolt. She finally presents her plea before the king of the country, and all ends happily.

Another episode of "The Invisible Hand," and a comedy complete the bill.

HAVE LESS "PEP" THAN FATHERS

Present Generation is Over-eating Without Any Increase in Energy

Paris, March 12.—The present generation is over-eating, without, however, recording an increase in energy and activity. In fact, we have considerably less "pep" than our mothers and fathers had at our age.

Such is the conclusion of the Academy of Medicine, following a detailed study of the subject by Prof. Charles F. Rochet. Since 1832, he shows the individual consumption of potatoes has been tripled, that of meat doubled, and people drink six times as much coffee as they did 88 years ago. Statistics of the Biological Society show that an increase in food consumption is never accompanied by an increase in production.

PAID A WAR BET.
War bets are now being paid by the people who were wont to say, "You can't beat Germany." Morgan J. O'Brien, former judge of the Supreme court of New York, recently gave "the best dinner that money could buy" to Gen. Coleman Dupont and 25 of the latter's friends, because of a difference of opinion as to German prowess. The Justice thought the allies could not get into Soissons last year by a certain date; the general was sure they could. They did; and the outcome for which Judge O'Brien paid a heavy bill, was called the "Soissons dinner."—The Outlook.

FRANK HANNON SWEARS BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

States that they cured his backache after other medicines had failed and that he would not be without them.

Corcoran, Joliette Co. Que., Mar. 12.—(Special)—Claiming that he is completely cured of backache from which he was a severe sufferer, Mr. Frank Hannon, a well-known resident here, is shouting the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"After trying various medicines for my 'backache' Mr. Hannon states 'I finally bought a supply of Dodd's Kidney Pills. From the start of the treatment I felt benefited and now I am completely cured!'

"I therefore recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills the finest on the market. I would not be without them."
Dodd's Kidney Pills strike right at the seat of the trouble, the kidneys. They are no cure-all. They are simply and purely a kidney remedy. But as cured kidneys strain all the impurities, all the seeds of disease, out of the blood, Dodd's Kidney Pills naturally get credit for curing a number of different diseases.
Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BLINDNESS NOT DREADED THING

Pupils in Montreal Institutions Are Able to Learn Various Trades.

Montreal, March 10.—The idea of spending one's life in perpetual darkness with that feeling of utter helplessness which the loss of sight brings at first to those who had been able to see is terrible to most people, if they stop for a moment to think about the matter.

It seems strange to those who have not had to do with the blind to know that little children can laugh and play and be happy though they cannot see and to realize that the fairy world and people which exist for the average child in pictures and books really live for them also.

In the primary room of the School there are other things besides these fairy tale characters. Here the children learn to use their fingers in various ways. There are blocks of certain sizes which teach them measurement and shape; large wooden beads for the beginners who learn with them to use their fingers and to recognize different shapes; smaller beads for those who are more proficient; paper for folding; plasticine for the modelling of common objects and of letters dishes and animals, to make them familiar with things known to children who have full use of their eyes; card board cut into shapes, by which they learn both shape and size and a model of a clock face by which they learn to tell the time.

The elements of reading are also taught to the primary pupils, on cards and books written in the "Braille" system. This system was invented by an English clergyman and consists of arrangements of raised dots to signify the various letters of the alphabet, and with these the children learn to read as rapidly and as well as the ordinary child with the ordinary primer. Writing is also taught in this system.

The older children are busy every day with lessons just as children in other schools. Geography is taught by means of raised maps, some with Braille letters telling the names of the various places, but the majority without which means that they have to be explained orally and learned by shape. Arithmetic is taught with a board with octagonal holes into which pegs are put signifying the different figures according to the angle in which they are placed in the holes. Reading and writing in the Braille system are continued and more advanced work in beads, sewing and knitting is done.

Much knitting has been done by the older pupils on the knitting machines with which the school is supplied, and orders are taken for socks and stockings and socks. These have naturally fallen off since the war, when over seven thousand pairs of socks were sent out from the school, but there are still a few orders coming in from time to time.

In the bead work different articles are made, and even colored patterns are carried out. The pupils keep the different colored beads in different boxes, and by careful counting following the pattern. Such things as hat pin holders and serviette rings are the result.

Another surprising thing that can be done with the Braille system is stenography. A little machine is used for writing Braille on a long strip of paper and a deft finger run along the paper is all that is needed to read the words before the blind stenographer types them. Pupils are also taught to use the dictaphone. As evidence of the excellence of the work done in this department it might be pointed out that two pupils passed last year the final tests in one of the business colleges of this city.

Do you think enough of it to equip it with the best tires?

Every car owner is in love with his machine. It is his pal, his road comrade. He cherishes it for the jolly good times it gives him, and the valuable service he gets out of it. You love your car, don't you? Do you think enough of it to equip it with the Best Tires? Protect your car; safeguard its value to you and guarantee its continued service by fitting it out with those famous, long-mileage tires—Maltese Cross Tires—"The Tires that Give Satisfaction."

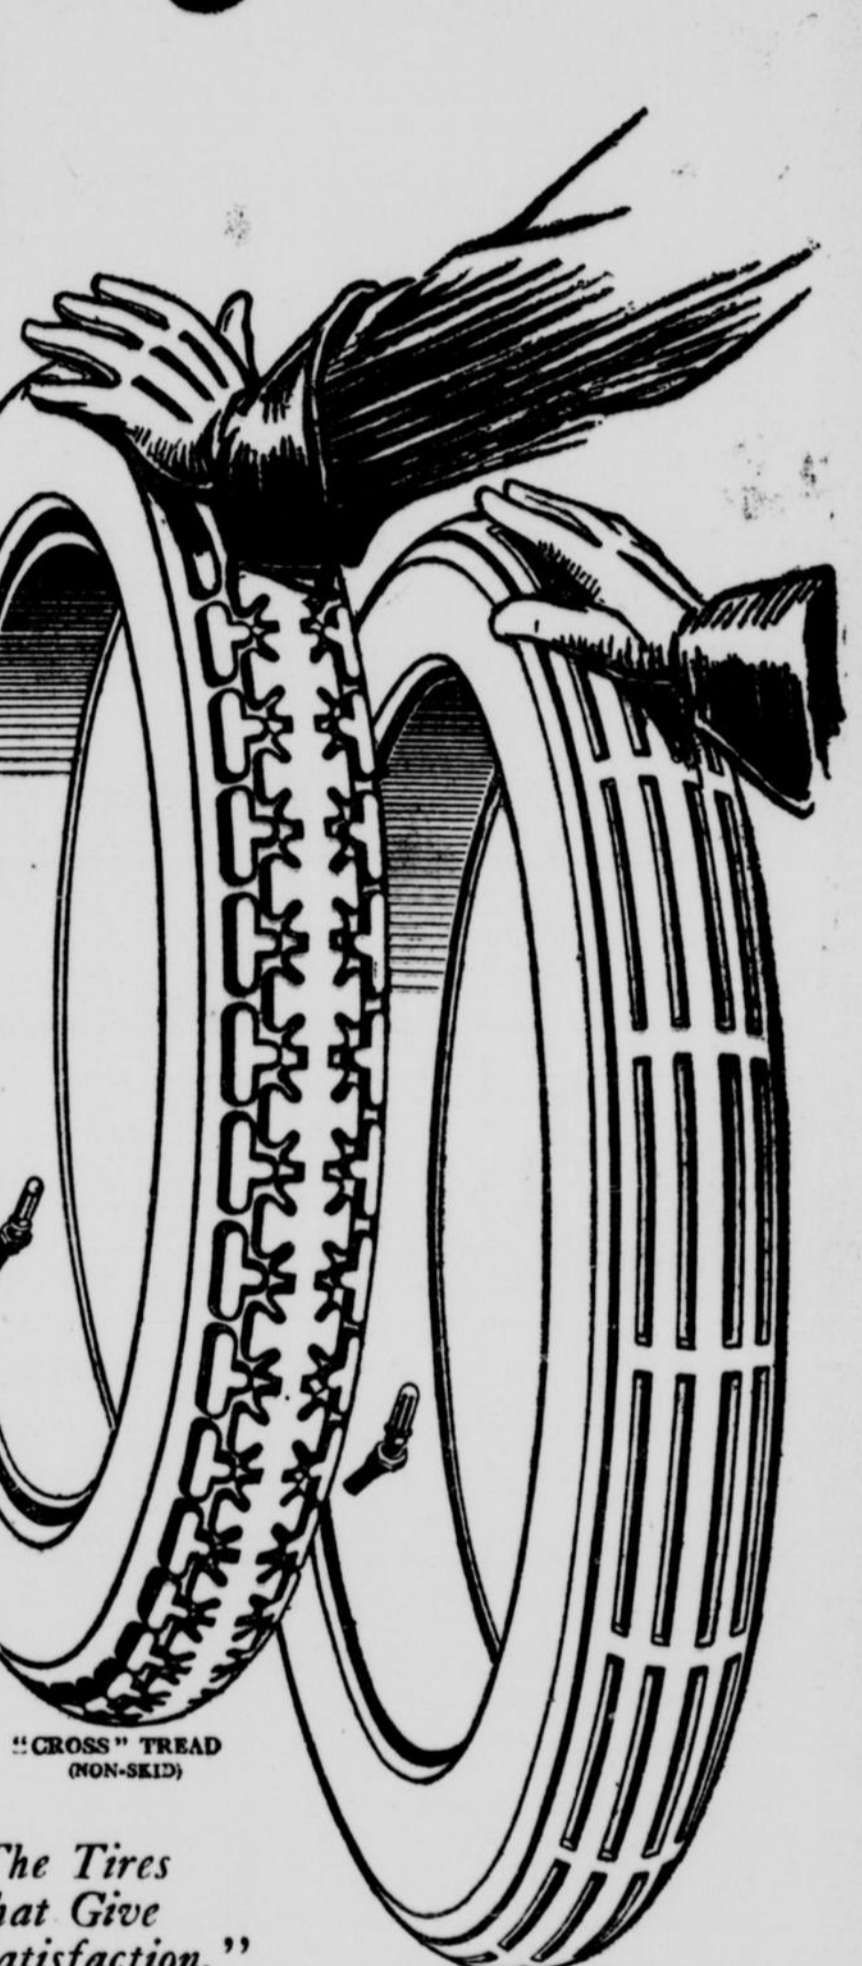

"GUTTA PERCHA" TIRES

There is also a library of books written in Braille for the use of the children. This contains many of the popular books for young folk by good authors, and though it is not as large as those interested in the school would like to see it, since the books are comparatively expensive and have to be got from England, it is nevertheless a source of great pleasure to the pupils in the schools.

A class in dramatic art, under the direction of the Rev. H. R. Stevenson, is another activity of the pupils. Plays are occasionally given and one, "Much Ado About Nothing," is now in rehearsal for public performance at some later date. Entertainments are given from time to time in various places in the city, and the orchestra and individual musicians as well as those in the class of dramatic art contribute to these.

Physical exercise for the pupils is not overlooked and ample provision for outdoor play is provided in the eight and a half acres of ground at the back of the school. Here there are swings, see-saws, giant strides and walks which everyone may enjoy. Indoor games are not lacking either, for there are cards with Braille letters, checkers in which the two colors are of different sizes, and the squares in the board cut out or raised so as to be distinguishable; dominoes with raised spots and other games such as normal people play. The building itself is very comfortably arranged and though it has accommodation for forty children, there are but twenty at present taking advantage of the training. The bedrooms for the children contain usually two beds and have been comfortably furnished through the kindness of some person or one of the societies interested in the work of the school. The teaching is done by five resident and three visiting teachers, and the graduates when they reach the end of their course are prepared to take a useful place in the world and to earn their own living. The girls, besides the subjects which have been mentioned, are trained in household science and basketry. The boys learn piano tuning and repairing. The industrial department gives instruction in broom and whisk making and cane-sewing of chairs. The school is supported by voluntary subscription with the exception of a grant of $1,500 which is received from the Quebec Government, as this is the only school which cares for the English-speaking blind of the Province.

seating chairs, which is slow work and not very remunerative but useful to them. The chairs are sent to be re-seated by various people in the city and the brooms are bought chiefly by large firms. A few grocers receive their supplies from the Industrial Home, and it is felt that it would be an encouragement to the blind men working so earnestly in their manufacture if the women of the city would ask for brooms made by the blind when they are buying from their grocers. Eleven returned men have taken advantage of the training. A course of nine months fits a man to earn his own living by making brooms. Three of the men have taken up typewriting and there are now five completing their training. The building is fire proof and very comfortably arranged. The rooms are bright and well but plainly furnished. It may be noticed that those men who have but recently lost their sight often like to have pictures in their bedrooms although they cannot see them. Anyone knowing of blind children kindly forward their names and addresses to Mrs. P. E. Layton, Hon. Sec. Montreal Association for the Blind, 6872 Sherbrooke St. West, Montreal.

New Standards of Value

F.O.B. CHATHAM
WARTAX EXTRA

Gray-Dort has brought peace-time standards of value to the motor car business. Greater value than the light car has heretofore offered. $1365 brings you a car comparable with those costing several hundred dollars more.

LOOK FOR THESE THINGS IN THE CAR YOU BUY

The Gray-Dort motor is big enough for its job—not stunted—3 1/2" bore and 5 1/2" stroke—with big water jackets and a big, honeycomb radiator. The crankshaft is husky—many pounds heavier than other builders of light cars think necessary. The pistons are extra-light and three-ringed. Special design prevents valve-warping. High-carbon steel gives toughness to moving parts.

The carburetor is a Carter-improved this year. Westinghouse starting and lighting. Connecticut ignition (newly improved).

The whole chassis parallels the motor in quality. Heavy frame of channel steel. Husky rear axle, Chatham-built. Long springs, cantilever in the rear, and built here under our inspection. The big brakes now have Thermoid lining. A new steering gear, 50% larger and stronger than the light car standard.

The Gray-Dort is as pleasing to the artist and to the driver as it is to the mechanic.

The smooth lines of the body are restful after so much of the extreme in present-day cars. The Gray-Dort finish, development of 60 years' coach-building, will win your instant, and lasting approval. Add the smartness of French-pleated upholstery, and a new top, tailored in our own shops.

The big gasoline tank is now in the rear—for good-looks and convenience. As in big cars, the emergency brake is on a lever, the side-curtains open with the doors. A shorter, smarter cowl gives more room in the driving compartment. The new hood, with its many long, narrow louvers has a touch of European smartness.

AND YET THE PRICE IS $1365, (PLUS WAR TAX)

You know that such a car as the Gray-Dort will be in heavy demand at $1365. We have doubled our production this year. But there is likely to be a shortage. See the Gray-Dort dealer now.

PRICES

The Gray-Dort 5-passenger car, finished in Gray-Dort green and black and with standard equipment is $1365 f.o.b. Chatham. War tax extra.

The roomy 2-passenger car is the same price.

THE GRAY-DORT SPECIAL

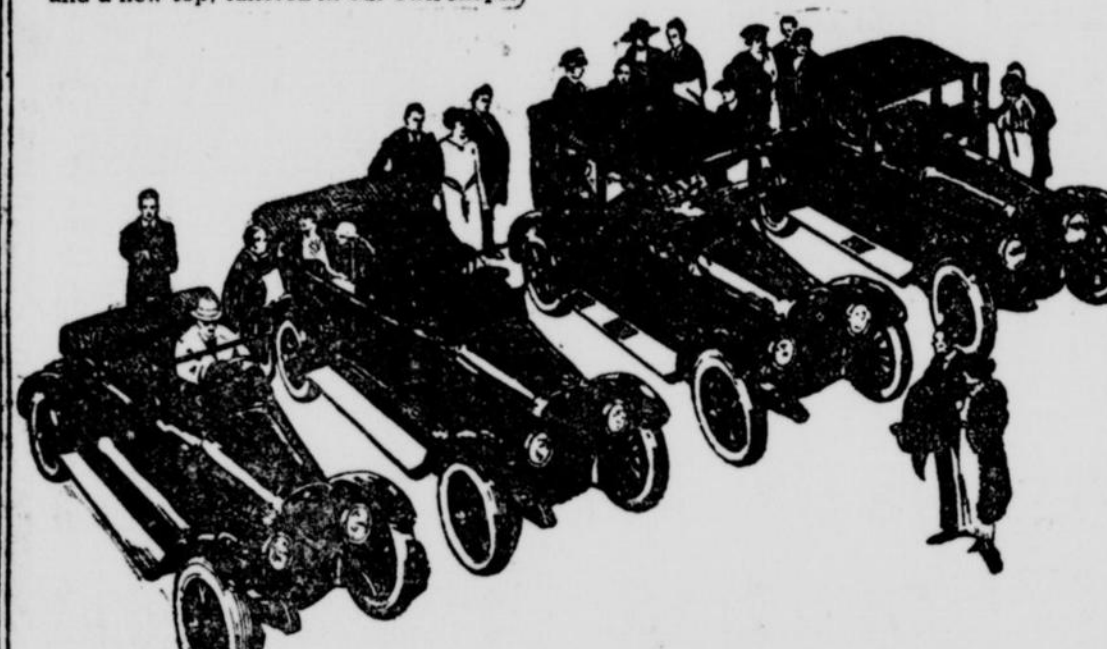

For the man who wishes something a little extra in his car, we have built the Gray-Dort Special. Maroon body, with brown raynite top. Plate glass rear window. Gipsy curtains. Rookie tan wheels. Motorometer. Tilting steering wheel. Real leather upholstery. Mahogany instrument board. Just the touches which lift this car above the ordinary. $150 extra on the standard.

AND THE ACE!

The Gray-Dort Ace—the most beautiful light car of to-day. Sapper green body with handsome California top to match.

Trouble Lamp and bull's-eye flashlight. Electric cigar lighter. Rear-vision mirror. Plate glass windows. Oversize, grooved-tread tires. This is the de luxe car for the man who does not wish to pile up a tremendous operating cost. $255 extra on the standard.

WONDERFUL TALE FROM KENTUCKY

"Oldest Man on Earth" Rescues Son From Father-in-law With Flintlock.

Lexington, Ky., March 12.—"Uncle John" Shell, who claims to be 132 years old, but whom State officials declare is not yet 100, has just figured in one of the most exciting episodes of his life, and came out the victor, according to reports that reached here tonight from Shell's home on Greasy Creek, Lexington County.

Shell had been away from home and on his return found his 35-year-old wife fatally ill. She died in a few hours and "Uncle John" notified his wife's relatives, among them George Chappel, his 76-year-old father-in-law.

The funeral was held on a snow-covered hillside, and Chappel, apparently believing his son-in-law was not able because of his age to care for his six-year-old son, proceeded to take the boy home with him. Shell hurried after his father-in-law and begged him to give up the child. Chappel refused.

Held Up Father-in-law.

Shell returned home, secured his flint-lock rifle which he says he made himself more than a hundred years ago, mounted his mule and started after Chappel and the boy. He overtook them several miles away and at the point of the gun forced Chappel to give up the child.

"Uncle John" took the boy on the mule with him and they returned alone to their cabin on Greasy Creek. Shell is the champion rifle shot of the mountains.

Neighbors will look after Shell's needs until someone is found who is willing to go to his lonely cabin and care for him and his son.

FRESH WATER FISH.

Angling Records Made in Recent Years.

An American writer discussing speckled trout gives it as his opinion that there is something "fishy" about any claim made that one of these trout weighed over three pounds. He thinks that such claims are made by anglers who cannot distinguish between different members of the trout family.

It is curious that men who profess to speak with authority can offer such opinions. In the current issue of Rod and Gun in Canada Robert Page Lincoln tells of a speckled trout caught by E. E. Rossiter near Stratford, Ont., on July 29 last, which was 23 inches in length and weighed 4 1/2 pounds. So far as we know this is the best speckled trout caught last year.

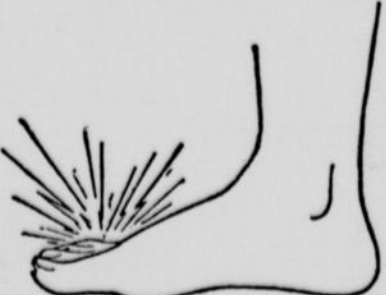

But it is far from being the largest known. Dr. J. W. Cook, of Fort William, caught one in 1915 that weighed 14 1/2 pounds. It was weighed at both Nipigon and Fort William, and Alexander Finlayson, inspector of Dominion Fish Hatcheries, pronounced it a genuine specimen of "salvelinus fontinalis," or brook trout. This shows that there are better trout in the stream than anybody usually catches.

It used to be very generally believed that the black bass never exceeded five pounds in weight, and it was to refute this claim, which even Outing was disposed to endorse, that the Toronto Daily Star some years ago started its black bass competition. The prize was won last year for a bass that weighed 6 lbs. 11 ozs., and was 23 inches in length, and bass of similar size have won the prize in previous years.

Although we have not the facts about the largest lunge caught in 1919 we believe the biggest one was caught in Lake Scugog, and a story was told in Orillia of two Toronto men who caught a very large one up there, but its weight was not known, as they threw it into their auto and made a dash for the city as if they feared that the owner of Lake Simcoe would take the fish away from them.

HIGH PRICES AND THE AVERAGE MAN

Protests of Prominent Citizens Against Extravagance — What People Get for Their Money.

Boston, March 12.—Every little while some prominent person makes known his views on economic questions. There is undeniably a great deal of unrest at present, and prices are high. Many prominent citizens feel that, as prominent citizens, it is their business to set the world right on these things, and they undertake to do so at considerable length.

There is a general formula which is coming to be pretty generally recognized. It is that the people are to blame for high prices, not the groups who are in a position, because of their economic power, to fix those prices by deciding how much of a given commodity may be produced. "The people will not buy good cloth at reasonable prices," says Mr. Prominent Citizen. "They will not buy clothing at low cost. No, they must have the best. They are extravagant, they do not practice thrift. They are making a great deal of money now and they are spending it foolishly. They don't know how to take care of their money."

The views of Mr. Prominent Citizen are prominently portrayed and displayed on every possible occasion, but Mr. Average Man gets very little chance to tell his side of the story. In fact, he gets so little attention that most people don't know who he is or what he looks like. They are very much surprised, sometimes, to find that he looks remarkably like themselves.

To begin with Mr. Average Man is one who has to work for his living. As a rule, he is never very far ahead of the game—seldom far enough ahead to stop for more than a long breath. Perhaps it is because he is so close to his own problems, because they so insistently break in upon him, that he cannot view them with the same dispassionate disinterest that characterizes Mr. Prominent Citizen. Perhaps his views are incorrect, and that he would do much better to listen more carefully to his self-appointed mentor. But such views as he has are his own, and they may throw some light on the matter.

Clothes at Reasonable Price

"I wish they would tell me where I can get good clothes at a reasonable price," said Average Man No. 1 to the writer. He was a young college man, not long out, and engaged for the time being in the business of teaching school. "I don't know much about clothes, I'll admit; I've never worked in a clothing store, and I have to take things more or less on trust. But I have found from experience that in the past, when I could buy a good suit for $35 or so, it was economy to buy that suit; the cheaper grades would neither wear so well nor look so well. Now, with the enormous increases in price, on all kinds of clothing, I am unable to find clothing that to my unpracticed eye looks as good as the suits I used to get for $35, though they want me to pay twice as much. I cannot find an overcoat at any price within my means, and have had to do without a new one. I had to buy a suit, and decided to buy a cheap one, in the hope that it might perhaps do for the winter. I don't know what to buy, perhaps, but I should certainly welcome the opportunity to buy clothing in which I could feel some confidence at a reasonable price."

Miss Average Young Woman says that she is much criticized for her extravagance in the buying of shoes. "But I don't believe even the harshest of my critics would contend that I can do without them," she says. "Now I had to pay $8 for the last pair I bought, and that is considerably less than most of the shoes I see in the store windows. There are places still where shoes can be had for $5, but an $8 pair gives double the equivalent in wear, and almost everybody knows it."

More Money in Saving Bank.

"I believe very strongly that people do not buy expensive things because they insist on getting rid of their money. In fact, the very people who tell us we do say at almost the same moment that the country is remarkably prosperous because there is more money going into the savings banks than ever before. I had rather trust the testimony of the economy of the people than the superficial views of certain great men who monopolize the newspapers."

"If people buy expensive goods, it is because they cannot afford to buy cheap goods—cheap shoes that wear out in the first rain, clothes that go to pieces in a few months' wear, rubbish of all sorts made to sell but not to use." The man who must watch his expenses cannot afford to buy rubbish, and he buys goods marked with high prices in self-defense.

Mrs. Average Housewife is primarily disturbed over food costs.

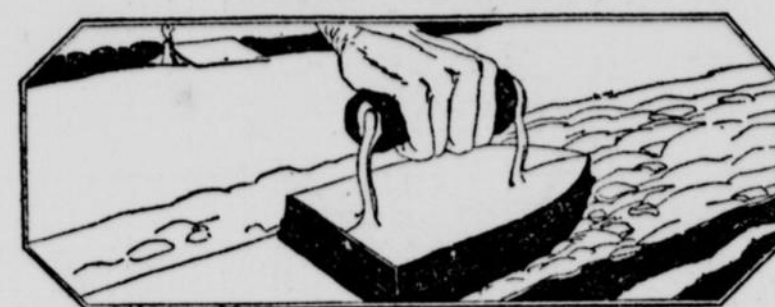

"They say I'm extravagant," she said. "Maybe I am but I find that eggs which I buy strictly warranted and specially guaranteed, all of which means little, for 75 cents a dozen, include some that are not merely a bit removed from the fresh stage, but actually rotten. If I pay a dollar a dozen, it isn't because I can't afford to buy rotten eggs at 75 cents a dozen."

"I did not want to pay 22 cents a pound for sugar, but the grocery man would not sell it for less. I would rather pay low prices for what I buy, but I can't afford to pay any price, however low, for goods that I can't use."

"If housewives could have real assurance that what they are offered at low prices is edible and

NELSON'S SWORD.

Historic Weapon Will Be Put Up at Auction.

Patriotic Britons are beginning to shake in their shoes for fear that Lord Nelson's service sword, which is to be sold at auction at Sotheby's, may be knocked down to some wealthy American collector, whose long purse will enable him to outbid those dealers whose desire it is to keep the most interesting historical relic in this country, says a London letter to the Boston Post.

There will be bitter lamentation if the sword should be carried off to the other side of the Atlantic, for apart from its association with this country's greatest naval hero, who carried it in some of the fiercest battles, the old weapon has a most curious later history.

This sword, which was made especially for Lord Nelson, is a plain naval service weapon 25 1/2 inches in length, and is still in the original black leather scabbard. It is accompanied by several affidavits vouching for its authenticity, one of them by Sir Harris Nicholas, who edited Nelson's despatches. It was evidently not worn by Nelson during the battle of Trafalgar, but was taken from his cabin on the Victory, his flagship at the battle, by Sir Thomas Hardy, with whom England's greatest admiral was talking when he fell mortally wounded. It had been Nelson's wish that his uniform and personal effects should pass to the woman who was his inspiration, Lady Hamilton; and to Lady Hamilton they were sent by Sir Thomas, the sword being included with the other personal possessions of the hero. The coat worn by Nelson at Trafalgar is now in the museum at Greenwich, where it has been seen by many Americans.

Nelson's sword was presented by Lady Hamilton to Aid. J. J. Smith, who came to her assistance in her days of bitter adversity. It was he who obtained her release on bail in 1814 from the King's Bench Prison, where she was confined for debt, and who assisted her to escape to Calais. This will be the first of Nelson's swords to be sold at auction and it undoubtedly will fetch a goodly sum. Nelson's logbook, sold under the hammer last summer, realized it may be remembered, $25,000, but it is hardly expected that the sword will fetch as large a sum.

This weapon, which is five inches shorter than the regulation length for a naval service sword, is believed to have superseded a still more historic one used by Lord Nelson, which is now in the United Services Museum in Whitehall. The sword, originally belonged to Admiral George Walpole, a famous sea-fighter of Queen Anne's day, and was worn by him when in command of H.M.S. Lion during the action with the French in Yardo Bay in the Mediterranean in 1711, in which—like Nelson after him—he lost his right arm.

Admiral Walpole gave the sword to his grand-nephew and godson, Captain Maurice Suckling, who valued it highly and gave it to Lord Nelson with injunctions never to part with it while he lived. Nelson wore this sword during his historic boarding of the two Spanish frigates, San Nicholas and San Josef, off Cape St. Vincent on February 14, 1797, and it also hung by his side when he made the historic but futile attack on Santa Cruz in the following July, in the course of which his right elbow was so completely shattered by grapeshot as to necessitate the amputation of his right arm.

It is supposed that Nelson found this sword awkward to handle with his left arm and that he had the weapon which is now to be sold made (and purposely made shorter than the regulation length) to replace it. Since being presented by Lady Hamilton to Aid. Smith, the weapon has had strange vicissitudes.

By Aid. Smith it was given, probably in 1830, to one John Kinsley, described as a "constable," who helped to pack up Nelson's personal possessions when, after Lady Hamilton's death, they were handed over to the great sea-fighter's family. Kinsley, who later fell on evil days, pawned the sword in 1847. A year or two later it was bought by a saloonkeeper named Goldsmith, of Bushy, in Herefordshire. Goldsmith eventually committed suicide, and after his death the historic sword was sold by his widow to the late E. B. Tremarne, also of Bushy, whose widow in turn has now instructed Messrs Sotheby to sell it. In the meantime, the weapon has been shown at a number of exhibitions.

The exact date of the auction is not yet fixed. At the same time there will be sold a lock of Nelson's hair, the fragment cut from his epaulette by the musket ball which killed him, and the figurehead of the sumptuous funeral car which carried the remains of the great sea-fighter to their last resting place in St. Paul's Cathedral. This figurehead, which is the work of a renowned Italian sculptor of that day, consists of a female figure holding in her right hand a laurel crown.

MAKING MOTHER-OF-PEARL

The secret of another German key industry has been discovered, the manufacturer of artificial mother-of-pearl. J. W. H. Dew, a fellow of the British Royal Society of Arts, found the process after much patient experimenting.

Doctor Dew was engaged during the whole period of the war in reconstructing step by step, the method of manufacture.

Artificial mother-of-pearl is used for making fancy buttons, dress trimmings and many other articles. Before the war most of it came from Germany.

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"

The name "Bayer" identifies the only genuine Aspirin—the Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years and now made in Canada. Always buy an unbroken package of "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" which contains proper directions for Colds, Headache, Toothache, Earache, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Neuritis, Joint Pains, and Pain generally. Tin boxes of 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Larger "Bayer" packages. There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer". Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monocentricity of the Bayer Company. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer Manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

TEMPERAMENT AND WATCH. That particular kinds of temperament exercise a baleful influence on watches seems to be a common experience.

"I once carried four in three months," write a correspondent, "and all stopped. A watchmaker told me that they behaved as watches do when the spring of the balance gets magnetized, though why they should have done so he could not say."

The fact when mentioned to Prof. Sylvanus Thompson, distinguished electrician, noticed that the clock-stopper fidgeted a good deal, and ventured to suggest that such movements probably generated a small amount of frictional electricity at high tension, which might at times magnetize the spring.

"Legare" roofings have all the advantages of other roofings and cost less. They will resist fire to the uttermost, are absolutely weather, proof, require no painting and will wear for a generation.

"APOLLO" and "RAPID" shingles, with their slate surface of soft natural colors (red or green) are highly artistic, while moderate in price and extremely durable. The two types of roll roofing "RUBY" and "RIVAL" are suitable for cottages, garages, sheds, and farm and factory buildings. Easy to lay; no skilled labor required.

Children Cry for Fletcher's CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Feeds are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrup. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. WORLD SHOULD MIND BUSINESS

$38,000,000 Heiress Says Engagement Her Affair and No Other Person's

Chicago, March 12.—A girl who has wit and beauty, class, style, education and $38,000,000, even if she is but 17 years of age, can tell the world to mind its own business so far as her matrimonial plans are concerned. That is the opinion of Miss Dolores Angell of Lake Forest, now wintering in California. When and whom she will marry is strictly her own affair and, of course, in a lesser degree, the concern of her prospective husband and her parents.

So there you are, and when a 17 year-old beauty, with a cellar full of legal tender, tosses her saucy head and declares herself on this tender subject there is an air of finality about it. Young Randolph Gibson Owsley's cheeks were redder than usual today, as he strode up and down the library of the headmaster's rooms in Durand Hall, and lunched with embarrassment while declaring that any statements about his reported betrothal of Miss Angell should, in all fairness, come from the lady herself.

"I really don't wish to discuss it at all," he said, "I—why I'm immensely embarrassed by the story that Dolores' parents took her to Pasadena to prevent her marrying me, why, or gosh, and he puffed furiously at his cigarette. His mother laughed as she said: "They're both such children. The story is perfectly absurd." Young Owsley has just returned from Annapolis. Miss Angell inherited her $38,000,000 from the late John W. Angell.

EMPIRE COTTON GROWING PROPOSED

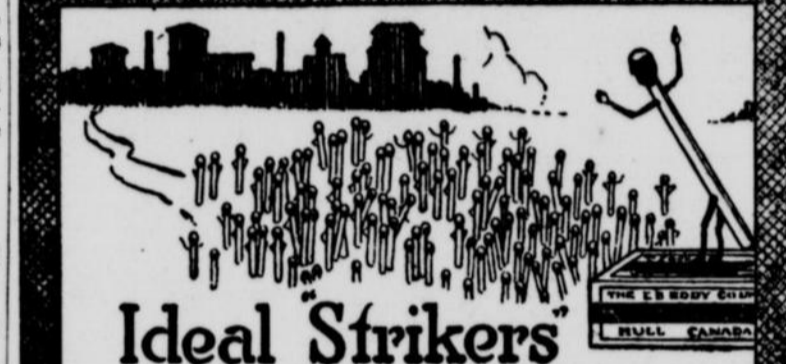

Suggested That Lancashire Capitalists Provide Fifteen Million Pounds

London, March 11.—Empire cotton growing on a commercial basis is almost immediately foreshadowed from a meeting held yesterday in the House of Commons which was attended by some of the Lancashire members of the House and other persons financially interested in the cotton trade, according to the Manchester Guardian. A suggestion was approved, says the newspaper, that the Lancashire capitalists provide 15,000,000 pounds sterling for commercial development to be invested in cotton growing in some selected colony or colonies, reasonable facilities by road and rail to be provided by the colonies where cotton is grown. The meeting was adjourned for a week in order that inquiry might be made into the practicability of Lancashire providing the 15,000,000 pounds. The Manchester Guardian says it is believed this money will be readily forthcoming.

New York, March 12.—Speculative sentiment underwent marked improvement during the current week as the result of a number of developments of marketwise importance favorable to the constructive side. This improvement was reflected in the securities market by an advancing tendency in prices, and trading on a broad scale which at times was decidedly spirited. Factors chiefly responsible for the better feeling were the Supreme Court decision, declaring stock dividends as non-taxable, the strengthening of foreign exchange, anticipated gold exports and a material easing in the call money rate. The demand for securities, which began on the lower priced Railroads, Motors, Steels and Oils. Toward the close of the period, however, the high prices recorded in stocks invited profit-taking and the marking up of the call money rate to five per cent, proved an added influence to not alone checking the buying movement, but tended to bring about substantial recessions. Viewing the week as a whole, the action of the market was the most satisfactory witnessed in some time. Although the retirement of short contracts figured to a considerable extent in the market's buying power, commitments for the long account from public sources showed a marked increase. The reaction experienced at the close of the week was natural in view of the advances which prices had enjoyed, and despite the setback the cheerful state of sentiment showed little impairment. However, caution is still being exercised, and this is expected to continue until a moderate degree of confidence in the future is established.

CLOSING LETTERS BY THE CANADIAN PRESS

(By Canadian Press)

New York, N.Y., March 12.—International credits and an unexpected flurry in money were the dominant factors of today's very irregular stock market, in which the early trading was enlivened by further operations of bull pools.

Foreign exchange manifested a reactionary trend from the outset, the British adding seven cents to yesterday's reversal on detail of the reports that the gold movement from London to this country was already progressing.

Call money opened at seven percent, thereby raising the hopes of those who were apprehensive that current heavy tax payments would create stringent conditions over the week-end.

These hopes were dashed later, when the rate rose steadily to fifteen percent that quotation prevailing at the heavy close.

The bulk of today's dealings centered again in motors and their subsidiaries, also oils, equipments and rails. Extreme advances of two to ten points in the issues were finally reduced or altogether dissipated, heavy selling attending the movements of money.

Conspicuous feature of the early advance and subsequent decline were General Motors, in which a ten point gain was followed by a 15 1/2 point reaction, involving a net loss of one and a half points, and Crucible Steel, which forfeited a substantial gain and more besides. Among other industrials and specialties the selling from loss to low ranged from 2 to 6 points, losses of one to three points prevailing at the end, when the transportations also yielded.

Sales amounted to 1,050,000 shares. In the bond market irregularity featured the trading in foreign issues the Liberty group showing comparative steadiness. Changes among domestic rails and industrials were nominal on smaller offerings.

Total sales, par value, aggregated $11,750,000.

Old United States bonds were unchanged on call.

YOU WILL NOT GET THE "FLU"
If You Build Up Your Run-Down Condition
It Attacks People Who Are All Worn Out, Anaemic, Devitalized and Weak
Strong People Never Get Influenza

During every epidemic it is always the weak-run-down, over-worked, devitalized men, women and children who so quickly fall a prey to the ravishes of disease. When, therefore, an epidemic is prevalent why not use a little precaution and build up the tired-out, run-down, over-worked, devitalized members of your family by giving them VINOL. There is nothing that acts so quickly as a tonic reconstructor. It makes red corpuscles enriches the blood, quickens the circulation, sharpens the appetite, promotes sound sleep, and imparts strength, vitality and energy to every organ and muscle in the body. Your physician recommends VINOL, and your druggist agrees to return your money if it fails to benefit. For all run-down, nervous, anaemic conditions, weak women, over-worked men, feeble old people and delicate children there is no remedy like VINOL.

Execution.
Charleston, February 10th.—John Fisher and his wife were executed yesterday, precisely at 2:00 o'clock p.m., for highway robbery. Fisher has uniformly professed his innocence of the crime of which he was convicted. He appeared to have a deep and humbling sense of the violence of his nature, and expressed the most sincere penitence for his offences as a sinner. At the gallows his conduct was calm and composed. A letter was then read by a reverend clergyman, to whom he had addressed yesterday. Mrs. Fisher also expressed to the reverend clergy, who attended her and her husband, sorrow for her sins, but always appeared to be under the influence of wrong passions and feelings. Her conduct in her removal from the jail while conveying to and at the place of execution, evinced that she was unwilling to die. Fisher, we learn, was 29 and his wife 28 years of age.

Mr. Satoll.
L'Electeur having quoted Mr. Satoll as saying that the greatest blessing, both temporal and spiritual, that could befall Canada, would be annexation to the United States, the Apostolic Delegate has replied to a Quebec correspondent, who drew his attention to the matter, that the report is absolutely without foundation and that he carefully avoids all interference in political affairs and would not have dreamed of expressing an opinion on the matter in question.

Scientific Wrinkle Remover Easily Made
A few dermatologists long have held the secret that a certain product known to the drug trade as saccolite, had the property when used in solution, of almost instantly reducing wrinkles and furrows. Anyone can readily make this same solution by dissolving an ounce of powdered saccolite in a half-pint of witch hazel. Bathe the face in this—and note the quick transformation! The skin tightens, becomes firmer—deepest wrinkles and crowfeet at once begin to smooth out. This action will, of course, also reduce hanging cheeks or double chin. When the hands show signs of aging, the skin becoming coarse, creased or flabby, bathe them in the solution. Since the first publication of this formula, men and women all over the country have taken advantage of the information, according to reports, with most satisfactory results.

Scientific Wrinkle Remover Easily Made
BEFORE USING NEW crockery, it is a good plan to boil it, and so render it less brittle. The best way to do this is to take a large fish kettle or preserving pan, fill it with cold water, and place it upon the fire. Lay the china carefully in the bottom and see that the water covers it. Allow it to come slowly to boiling point and then lift the pan from the fire. The china must be left in the pan, and the water allowed to cool before it is removed.

Complaint of Robbery.
A countryman from Beaufort, appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning to lay a complaint against certain individuals who, he alleges, had drugged him and robbed him of $100.00 in his possession. Warrants were issued accordingly. Later during the afternoon detectives arrested a couple of carters, one of whom is said to have driven the complainant over the Dorchester Bridge. The names are withheld as the police are searching for another party.

Keeping the Price of Food DOWN
WHILE nearly every article of food has shown a large increase—the price of what is perhaps the most important food of all remains the same as in July, 1914. Bovril is far more than a mere article of commerce—it is an essential and unique food.

The Directors of Bovril Ltd. are therefore in a direct way Trustees of the National Health. It was, and it remains, a matter of honour to supply as far as possible every home with Bovril, poor and rich alike. That is why the price of Bovril is the same to-day as before the War. That is why Bovril did not profiteer. But determination alone was not enough. Foresight and skill were needed and were exercised to decrease the cost of production. Thus was this precious food safeguarded for the people. Bovril Ltd., too, have had their reward in the gratitude of Doctors, of Hospitals, and of the great Public who, during the scarcity of War and the Influenza Epidemic, were able to obtain Bovril at a reasonable price when other foods were soaring beyond imagination.

Bovril price and quality are the same to-day as in July, 1914.
The very fact that there is no substitute for Bovril makes it all the more imperative that everyone should have their share. You are now asked to assist in these efforts. The supply of Bovril is not yet equal to the demand.

Bovril did not PROFITEER

should fight with all their energy to accomplish this. Some people seem to think that the Board of Trade, as a body, and its members individually, have not done enough for Quebec. To such I would say: Look at what the members of this Board, now passed away, have done for the railway system of our back country. We owe all our local railways, on both sides of the river, the Levis and Konnebec, the Lake St. John, and the Great Northern, to former members of this board, the Ross Family, and Messrs. Withall, Chateaubert and others, whose money built these roads, which have given us the back country, the vast industries and the large population, which are the cause of the prosperity of our city today. That is why the census of the city of Quebec has increased nearly forty per cent in eight years, and that is why the exports of the city and district of Quebec to the United States have increased seven times in the same period. We have it, it is true, lost our shipping trade through the unfair methods of our rivals. But we have far more than made up for the loss by improving our situation as a railway centre. Let us make a united effort to regain our shipping trade and to secure a share of the grain trade of the West. This, Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, is a little resume of some of the work that the Quebec Board of Trade has tried to do during the last ten years, and, I think, with a fair measure of success, if we may judge from the fact that the proceedings of our Board are frequently quoted by such influential papers as the "Montreal Gazette" and the "Railway & Marine World" of Toronto, and even in Parliament. I hope that the elections today will put some new blood and some younger men into the Council. It is time that some of us, who have been a long time at it, should be allowed to retire. I have asked for the last two years to have my name dropped from the nomination docket of the Council, and I think that my predecessor in the presidency, Mr. Picard, feels the same way about it. Let new men come in and bear their share of the burden, but let us be united and all work together for the advancement of Quebec. The financial report together with the Auditor's reports were unanimously adopted. The election of officers and members of the Executive Council was then proceeded with, and on motion of Mr. J. M. Matte, seconded by Mr. J. G. Scott, the retiring President, Mr. J. T. Ross, was re-elected. Mr. Elzear Turcotte moved the re-election of the First Vice-President,

WHEN BABY IS CROSS
Mothers, when your baby is cross—when he cries a great deal and no amount of attention or petting cheers him—something is the matter. It is not the nature of little ones to be cross and peevish—the well child is a happy child. Give him a dose of Baby's Own Tablets and he will soon be well again. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and stomach; break up colds and simple fevers; and relieve the other minor ills of little ones. Concerning them Mrs. Oscar Bedard, St. Sophie, Que. writes:—"Baby's Own Tablets are an excellent remedy for constipation. They relieved my little one when nothing else would and I can strongly recommend them to all mothers." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.
