World News In Brief

Paris, Oct. 6— (AP) —Gen. Matthew Ridgway, supreme allied commander, yesterday called N.A.T.O.'s military strength "dangerously inadequate."

He added: "I reject as unjustified and dangerous the promised that potential aggressors do not want war, are not ready for war and will not precipitate war."

The speech was prepared for radio broadcast to the 11th anniversary dinner of Freedom House, which gave him its annual freedom award.

New Delhi, India, Oct. 6—(AP) —Six Swiss mountain climbers toiled up the bleak slopes of unconquered Mount Everest today for a final struggle toward the snow-covered summit, 5½ miles high. No man has ever climbed this world's tallest peak and returned to tell about it.

It was the second atempt this year for the Swiss party. One of the team, Raymond Lambert, climbed to within 900 feet of the summit May 28 before fierce storms drove him back. A husky Alpine mountain guide, Lambert lost all his toes and several fingers while guiding a climbing party up Mont Blanc on the French-Swiss-Italian border during the bitter winter of 1938-39.

Tokyo, Oct. 5—(AP)—Col. Aubrey D. Smith, 45, chief of the Far East command's plans and operations supply section, died Saturday of a knife wound which Gen. Mark Clark's headquarters said was allegedly inflicted by his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Smith."

Mrs. Smith is identified by Who's Who in America as the daughter of Gen. Walter Krueger, retired, famous second world war commander of the U.S. Sixth Army.

The army announcement said the colonel's wife is being held for observation at an army hospital in Tokyo.

Counterfeit Currency Ring In Townships Is Smashed By Arrest Of Twelve Men

$8,000 In False United States Currency Is Recovered — Kingpin Is Arrested.

Montreal, Oct. 6.—(CP)—R.C.M.P. officials announced last night the arrest of a "kingpin" and the recovery of $8,000 in counterfeit United States currency in the Eastern Townships.

Arrest of Adrien Lebeau, 38, of Granby, Que., brought to 12 the number of men arrested following investigation by R.C.M.P. officers.

Other arrests will likely be made in the next few days, including one in Montreal and two in the Eastern Townships, Insp. Rene Belec, head of the criminal investigation branch here, said last night.

Lebeau and Jean Guy Chalot, 22, a Marieville, Que., bank teller will be arraigned in Sweetsburg today. Lebeau will face a charge of uttering counterfeit U.S. money, while Chalot will be charged with illegal possession.

R.C.M.P. said Lebeau dealt with two agents who, in turn, handed the money to agents of their own for distribution.

"He's definitely our top man to date," said Sgt. Frank Law, one of the investigating officers.

Seven other men were arrested Saturday and arraigned on possession charges. All were ordered for preliminary hearing during the week.

Arraigned in Sweetsburg were Charles Desnoyer, 30, a Farnham storekeeper, Fernand Dauray, 18, of L'Ange Gardien, Raymond Martel, 25, another Farnham storekeeper, Guy Marceoux, 22, Farnham bank teller, Gerard Clement, 32, garage owner, and John Dunn, 25, a travelling salesman, both of Cowansville. The seventh man, Yvon Rousseau, 24, a Granby truck driver, was arraigned in St. Hyacinthe.

Three men arrested first in the province-wide police crackdown on passers of fake $10 and $20 bills faced possession counts in a Montreal court Saturday. Norman Laumaillier, 32, Yves Gauvin, 22, of Marieville and Leo Brodeur, 22, of St. Cesaire, were released on $950 bail each pending preliminary hearing October 10.

They were picked up in downtown Montreal nightclubs last week when police said they found $800 in counterfeit bills in their possession.

Canada's 1st Ambassador To US Dies

Penetanguishene, Ont., Oct. 6.—(CP)— Hon. Leighton Goldie McCarthy, 82, Canada's first ambassador to the United States and a leading business man and lawyer for more than half a century, died suddenly Saturday.

He collapsed after listening to baseball world series broadcast at his summer home, Longuissa, at this Georgian bay resort.

In Ottawa Prime Minister St. Laurent said Mr. McCarthy, as Canadian ambassador throughout the greater part of the second world war, "crowned a lifetime of public service to our country."

As Canadian minister in Washington from 1941 to 1943 and for the next two years as ambassador, Mr. McCarthy was noted as a shrewd observer of the American scene. He was a close friend of the late President Roosevelt and was a trustee of Roosevelt's Warm Springs Foundation, a development for paralytics.

Mr. McCarthy was president of the Canada Life Assurance Company from 1928 to 1938 and then was appointed chairman of the board. He resigned this office in 1946 but continued as a member of the board.

At the time of his death he held directorates with several large Canadian firms.

In recognition of his work over a period of 35 years with the Canadian Red Cross he was awarded the society's highest honor as honorary counsellor in 1949.

Mr. McCarthy was born in Walkerton, Ont., and educated in Barrie. He was called to the bar of Ontario in 1892 and moved to Toronto. He later was the senior member of the successful law firm of McCarthy and McCarthy.

When only 29 he was elected as Liberal Member of Parliament for North Simcoe in 1898, succeeding his uncle D'Alton McCarthy. He was re-elected in 1900 and 1904 and retired in 1908. Three years later he ran for election in his old constituency but was defeated in the general Liberal rout.

Following the outbreak of the second world war, he volunteered his services to the government and in 1941 he was given the diplomatic post in Washington. He spent his remaining years in Toronto.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Muriel Drummond, in 1949. Surviving are four daughters and one son.

Cairo, Egypt, Oct. 6— (Reuters)—Gen. Mohammed Naguib told a temperance delegation yesterday his government has "much more important work" to handle just now than trying to introduce prohibition in Egypt. The premier told Egyptian temperance society leaders he had "no intention of upsetting foreigners in Egypt" by introducing prohibition.

Stevenson Talks About Prosperity

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 6.— (AP) — Governor Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign for the Presidency reached a cross-roads today — with a shift in emphasis and issues.

From a series of speeches built largely around selling the idea that another Democratic nominee turned to drfting a major address on the menace of communism.

The prosperity theme ran through speeches Friday and Saturday in Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota. The communism issue, on the basis of present plans, is to be the topic of a major address in Detroit tomorrow night—the first major address on a five-day aerial sortie into seven states in the midwest and deep south.

From using a deft, sharp needle to jab at the Republican party and at Republican candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower, Stevenson apparently has switched to a sledgehammer approach.

As he swung through Ohio, Iowa and Minnesota at the close of last week, Stevenson bore down on the premise that the American people have been pretty happy and prosperous for the better part of 20 years under Democratic administration. That, obviously, was intended to counter the Republican time-for-a-change chant, and Eisenhower's statements that dollars aren't worth as much as they used to be.

All day long Saturday, at Fort Dodge, Iowa, then at Minneapolis and finally at St. Paul, Stevenson took harder and harder swats at Eisenhower and the Republicans. He built up to a climax in St. Paul, where he named names and even called a few.

He called Eisenhower a captive of the Republican "old guard," a man who "seems to have embraced or been embraced by the most reckless and embittered wing af his party.",

He said Senators Joseph R. McCarthy of Wisconsin is a "champion of the inquisition, champion of trial by ordeal and slander."

He said Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio is the political mentor of the General and a man who has "made opposition a matter of principle."

Then, in one of the broadest swipes he has taken so far at the rival party the Democratic nominee went on to say:

"With do-nothing, care-nothing, mindless mumbo-jumbo they will let America and the world slide into depression. And such misery bears the seeds of another world war

"They are the party of confusion, hesitation, weakness, and that is the signpost that points to disaster and war"

Memorial Planned For King George

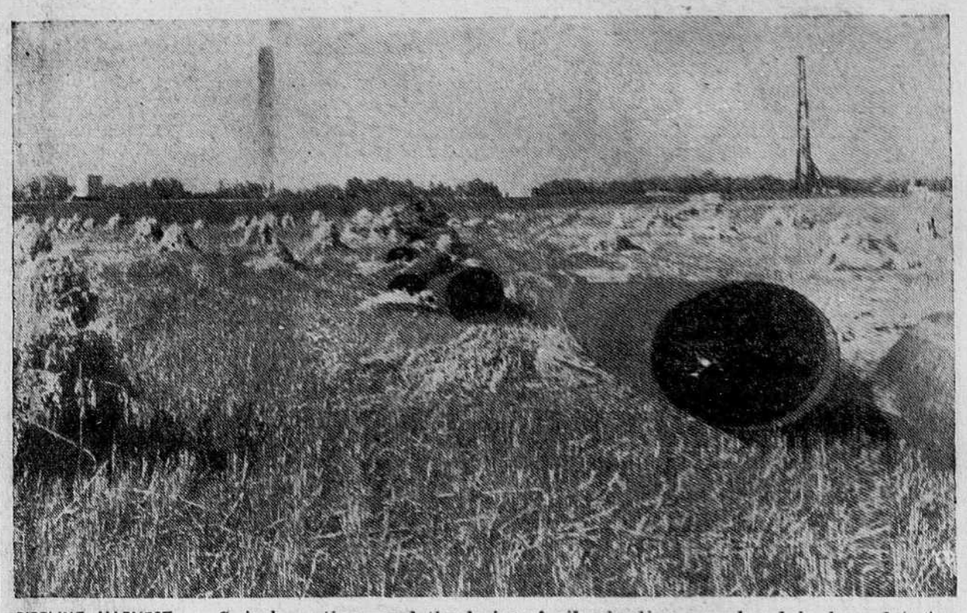

London, Oct. 6 — (Reuters) — Prime Minister Churchill told the country Saturday that the memory of King George VI will be kept alive with a statue in London and also a charitable foundation.

In a broadcast launching a national memorial fund, the Prime Minister asked Britons "to give as much or little as your circumstances allow to a noble cause in memory of a kind, good man."

The King died last February after a long illness at 56.

The first task, said Churchill, is to raise a statue "to carry to the living generation and to those who come after us a physical presence of the King."

The sculptor is yet to be chosen and site selected, he said.

Opening Of Communist Party Congress Marked By Bitter Attacks Against U.S.

Wafd Chief Resigns His Office

Cairo, Oct. 6—(Reuters)—Mustapha El Nahas, 77, today resigned as leader of the WAFD, Egypt's biggest party.

And simultaneously the party executive decided to register under Gen. Mohammad Naguib's decree requiring all political parties to purge themselves of undesirables or dissolve.

The two developments indicate the powerful WAFD is complying with Naguib's campaign to clean up the country's political parties before elections next February.

Nahas has been premier of Egypt seevn times during his 30-year political career. Abdel Salaam Fahmy Gomaa, a member of the WAFD "old guard" and president of the dissolved chamber of deputies 'lower house), will succeed him.

The party voted to register under the purge-or-dissolve decree two days before the deadline set by the government.

Until today, the WAFD had refused to register without Nahas a leader, despite strong hints from the Naguib government that he should resign.

The party executive has already been purged of its secretary-general, millionaire Fuad Serag el Din, and its assistant secretary-general, Osman Moharram.

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 6—(Reuters)—Sir Keith Arthur Murdoch, Australia's leading newspaper magnate, died in his sleep Saturday night after two years of poor health. He was 66.

By EDDY GILMORE

Moscow, Oct. 6—(AP)—Georgi M. Malenkov opened the 19th all-Societ community party congress last night with an hours-long denunciation of the United States and its "bosses," who he said were bent on world domination and war on the Soviet Union.

Keynoting the first such party congress in 13 years, the leading member of the Soviet Union's ruling Politburo charged the United States is driving the capitalistic world toward economic breakdown and war, while the Soviet Union seeks only peace and is growing ever stronger and more prosperous.

Joseph Stalin and an audience of 2,000 delegates in the Kremlin's great hall heard Malenkov as he charged the "bosses" of the United States had decided to "wreck the peace and prepare a new war," a war on the Soviet Union, the "chief opponent of a new war and the chief pillar of peace."

The Soviet Union, Malenkov continued, is "unwaveringly carrying out a policy of peaceful cooperation with all countries," but he warned that because of the threats of new aggression from the side of the western warmongers, it is strengthened and will strengthen its defence capabilities."

Malenkov's long speech was made public first on a broadcast early today by Tass, the Soviet news agency. (Non-communist reporters are not attending the congress sessions.) The keynote address, delivered in the past by Stalin himself, presumably laid the basis for policies to be approved by the congress. (Malenkov is generally regarded as Stalin's most likely successor.)

Also on the agenda of the congress sessions, expected to last a week, are approval of the new five-year plan launched 18 months ago for vast increases in industrial and agricultural production, and major changes in the party's organization, including replacement of the Politburo and organization bureau (Orgburo) by a Praesidium.

Malenkov's bitter charges against the United States were preceded by similar accusations from another Politburo member, former Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, who denounced U.S. 'ruling circles" for creating "aggressive war alliances like the North Atlantic bloc directed against peace-loving states of the Soviet Union, the Chinese peoples republic and countries of the peoples democracies."

"The bosses of the United States," said Molotov, ". . . knew from the experience of the Hitlerites. . . that it was impossible even to dream about world domination without the use of force."

Malenkov charged the United States with creating bases throughout the world and "remilitarizing west Germany and Japan" for "criminal purposes." These were some of his other charges against the United States:

The U.S. is "refusing to ban atom and germ weapons and reduce conventional armaments." The Soviet Union wants to do so.

The U.S. "refuses to conclude a peace pact." Russia wants one.

The U.S. "knocks together aggressive blocs against peace-loving peoples, while the treaties concluded by the Soviet Union with foreign states are aimed exclusively at the struggle against revival of Japanese or German aggression."

Malenkov said the communist party's chief task in the field of foreign policy is to counter all this by "struggling against the preparation and unleashing of a new war," to intensify the "peace partisan' movement throughout the world, and "to insistently Expose all preparations for a new war and all intrigues of the warmongers."

He outlined these additional policy planks to be followed by the party in foreign policy:

1. Strengthen the defensive might of the Soviet state and

Reds Keep Marines From Hill

Seoul, Korea, Oct. 6.—(AP)—U.S. Marines fought through six bloody hours of Chinese communist artillery and machine-gun fire today in a futile effort to recapture an important hill position on Korea's western front.

The Marines slugged their way close the crest of the low outpost hill, but the Reds held fast. Chinese troops captured the hill Friday.

Most of the action along the 155-mile battlefront last night and today centred on the sensitive western front. Patrol clashes were reparted from the eastern end of the line.

U.S. F-86 Sabre jets and communist MIG-15's tangled twice over North Korea today. The U.S. Fifth Air Force said four MIG's were damaged. Allied air losses are announced each week-end.

The air force also said study of gun camera film added another MIG destroyed to the record total racked up last month. That raised the September toll to 63 MIG's destroyed. The previous record for one month was 44, shot down in April.

Allied fighter-bombers ranged deep into Red Korea today, attacking communist rail and supply facilities.

Carrier-based navy planes teamed up with U.S. Fifth Air Force fighter-bombers yesterday and unloaded tons of bombs, rockets and napalm on a sprawling Red supply dump at Hoeyang, south of Wonsan on North Korea's east coast.

The navy said 263 planes took part in the raid, the biggest naval air strike in several months.

Night-flying B-26 Invader bombers swung into action a few hours later and attacked Red targets on both coasts of North Korea.

The armor-vested Marines launched their attack on the battle-scarred hill northwest of Korangpo shortly after dawn today. Almost immediately Red artillery and mortar shells rocked the area.

Two Federal By-Elections In Quebec

Montreal, Oct. 6. — (CP) — Quebec Province is the scene of two federal by-elections today.

Electors in the ridings of Outremont-St.-Jean and Richelieu-Verchers will vote—from 8 A.M. to 6 P. M. EST—to select two members who may not remain in office more than a year if reports of a general election in the fall of 1953 are founded.

Advance polls in each riding opened Thursday and closed Saturday.

The Outremont-St. Jean seat was vacated by Hon. Edouard Rinfret, former postmaster-general, who was appointed to the Quebec appeal court bench. The Richelieu-Vercheres contest resulted from the resignation of Gerard Cournoyer, who switched from the federal to the provincial field and was elected Liberal member of the Quebec Legislative Assembly July 16 last.

The Outremont-St. Jean contest is a five-candidate one. In Richelieu-Verchers there are only two candidates.

The five canadiates in Outremont-St. Jean are Mayor Romuald Bourque of Outremont, Liberal; Claude Nolin, lawyer, Progressive Conservative; Therese Casgrain, Quebec C.C.F. leader; Ben Ash, independent; Raymond Bourque, independent Liberal.

In Richelieu-Verchers, candidates are: Lucien Cardin, lawyer of Ste. Anne de Sorel, Liberal, and Alderic Tremblay, poultry farmer of Varennes, Progressive Conservative.

The double contest brought to 30 the number of federal by-elections since the general election of 1949. Of the 28 held, the liberals won 13, Progressive Conservatives, 13 and independent Liberals, two.

Present standing in the Commons: Liberals 182; Progressive Conservatives 49; C.C.F. 14; Social Credit 10; independent Liberal two; independent four; vacant two; total: 262.

Ottawa, Oct. 6—(CP)—A side-battle is being fought by telegram even while voters of the Quebec riding of Outremont-St. Jean go to the polls in today's federal by-election.

The battle is being fought over the desk of Nelson Castonguay, chief electoral officer, who keeps each side informed of what the other is saying in a series of telegrams.

It started with a protest by Claude Nolin, Progressive Conservative candidate, that Liberal circulars bear a return address corresponding to that of the official returning officer for the by-election.

He charges that this prejudices an impartial election.

The reply of the returning officer, Emile Trottier, is that the return address on the envelopes is that of another apartment in the building in which he lives. He denies that he has taken part in any "illegal manoeuvres."

Mr. Castonguay still hadn't settled the issue and was looking for more information late this morning.

Tokyo, Oct. 6—(AP)—The newspaper Asahi said yesterday police seized $90,000 worth of narcotics in a crackdown on a dope ring. Police said the ring included 20 key men and 1,000 contact men in Japan, most of the contact men were described as Chinese but some Japanese, Koreans and Americans were implicated, the newspapers said.

Quebec Soldiers Owe Their Lives To Bravery Of Montreal Corporal

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

With The Canadians In Korea, Oct. 6.—(CP)—Seven Canadian soldiers say they owe their lives to a Montreal corporal who now is probably in enemy hands.

Listed as missing and believed a prisoner is Cpl. M. J. G. Ladouceur of Montreal and who last Sept. 6 commanded an ambush laid by the 1st battalion, the Royal 22nd Regiment.

Weeks of investigation and reconstruction of the action, just completed by Maj. Bernard Pelletier of Ottawa, have pieced together a story indicating the 22-year-old corporal resisted long after he was seized.

While captive he warned off a patrol sent out to bring him in, shouting that it was heading right into an enemy trap. The men Ladouceur is credited with saving were a sextet led by Cpl. Jean-Robert Gingras of Quebec City.

Sept. 6 was a darkish night. Ladouceur's ambush was just outside a Van Doo minefield in a valley ahead of the battalion's position. He had five men with him.

Two files of Chinese stalked into their position.

The Canadians were just taking them on when their bren gun had a stoppage. Ladouceur at the same moment decided that the Chinese, estimated at 30 to 40, were too strong for his group and ordered a withdrawal, telling his men he would be right behind them. He was seen to go back to pick up the radio set.

Pelletier's reconstruction indicates that Ladouceur, remembering also that the gap in the minefield had not been closed went back to shut it.

During the ambush's withdrawal Pte. J. E. Daigle of Lakeburn, N.B., was slightly wounded.

When Pelletier learned Ladouceur was missing he sent our Gingras.

Gingras's patrol was nearing the area when, from the neighborhood of a tree just beyond the minefield came Ladouceur's voice in French:

"Don't come any closer—they're still here."

Almost simultaneously communist artillery and mortar fire opened and an estimated 60 Chinese rained rifle and machine-gun fire on the patrol.

Wounded in the exchange were Ptes. Guy Lecuyer, St. Jerome, Que., and Gerard Poisson, Victoriaville, Que. Pte. Marcel Beaunoyer of Berthierville, Que., a medical assistant, bandaged their wounds during the battle.

The action took place in front of a platoon area commanded by Sgt. Roger Champoux of Sherbrooke and Stratford, Que., whose information enabled Pelletier to direct mortar and artillery fire onto the Chinese.

When Gingras finally withdrew, leaving Ladouceur still in the enemy area, Pelletier dispatched a third patrol, led by Cpl. J. A. Ganin of Ottawa.

Ganin's men discovered only marks on the ground, as though a man had been dragged, struggling furiously.

Four days later the battalion intelligence officer, Lieut. Joseph Fournier of Quebec City, checked the minefield. There he discovered Ladouceur's "dog tags," obviously ripped from his neck, and one of his running shoes.

Their discovery prompted Pelletier's investigation and reconstruction of the action.

Results indicate that Ladouceur was seized in the Van Doos' minefield as he was returning to close the gap. He was dragged, struggling, to the tree, just beyond it.

There the Chinese omitted to gag him, and he was able to shout his warning.

Five Reported To Have Drowned

North Bay, Ont. — 6—(CP)—Unconfirmed reports that five persons had drowned near Kipawa lakes, 45 miles northeast of here, were being investigated today.

The reports said three doctors and two of their wives were drowned Sunday at Morin lake, about 12 miles south of Kipawa, Canadian International Paper Company mill town just across the Quebec border.

Peter Lafrance telephoned provincial police at Haileybury today to ask for dragging equipment.

Police there said they were awaiting confirmation of the drowning report from Quebec provincial police before allowing dragging equipment to leave the province.

The five were believed to be fishing on Morin lake.

Barcelona, Spain, Oct. 6—(Reuters)—Matador Mariano Alarcon Sola died yesterday after a bull gored him and pinned him against the wooden barrier surrounding the arena. The bull's horn ripped a gaping wound in the matador's stomach. Sola, 36, died a few minutes after being taken to hospital.

Truman Scores Republicans For Stand On Communism

Aboard Truman Train, Oct. 6.—(AP)— President Truman asserted today that the Republican party appears unable to "see or understand what it takes to meet the menace of communist aggression and subversion."

Whistle-stopping eastward through Utah in behalf of the Democratic ticket, Truman hit anew at the Republican party and its presidential candidate, Dwight D. Eisenhower, in a speech prepared for delivery at Brigham Young university in Provo.

The Democrats, he said, can take credit for the United Nations, the Marshal plan, the North Atlantic treaty, the Japanese peace treaty and the program of assistance to retarded areas.

"We had a lot of Republican help on these programs for a while," Truman said, "but we also had a lot of Republican opposition.

"If the Republican opposition had prevailed, I have no doubt that France and Italy and almost all of western Europe would be under the communist yoke today."

Eisenhower, Truman asserted, has swallowed "isolationism whole."

He also denounced Republican talk of "government by crony" in Washington as "sheer poppycock—and politics."

Meanwhile, Truman's campaign strategy board worked on two new speaking itineraries for the "give 'em hell" campaign.

Tentative plans call for a whirlwind tour of New England—highlighted by a major address in Boston—and still another midwestern tour carrying Truman into Pennsylvania, Ohio and other states on his way home to Missouri to vote.

Truman's current 8,500-mile, 15-day coast-to-coast trip winds up in New York Saturday with two speeches. Before that he will stump upstate New York from Buffalo, where he speaks Friday night.

Truman laid off campaign speeches yesterday under his no-speaking on Sunday rule.

Truman cut loose at Eisenhower and Senator Richard M. Nixon, his vice-Presidential running mate, in talks Saturday in the San Francisco area.

Saturday night in a speech broadcast in California from Oakland, he declared the Republican Presidential nominee has joined in spreading a "wave of filth" about foreign policy that "brings us closer to a world war."

And Truman contended that Eisenhower as a General, and later as chief of staff, participated in Korean, German and other military decisions he now is denouncing as blunders and bungles.

Three Republican Senators who describe themselves as a "truth squad" following Truman and commenting on his statements took issue with this. Senators Bourke B. Hickenlooper, (Ia.), Homer Ferguson (Mich.), and Francis Case (S.D.) insisted in a joint statement issued in San Francisco yesterday that the decisions were political.

Eisenhower, the President said Saturday, "owes his popularity to the high positions he had held, and the good work he has done in them. I do not wish to detract from his achievements. But when he turns around and slanders our national effort as a procession of blunders and failures, then I am going to call him on it."

Eisenhower-Truman Feud Is Gathering Momentum

By DON WHITEHEAD

Aboard the Eisenhower Special, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower beamed his political charm on Washington State today amid signs that a rip-snorting Eisenhower-Truman feud will highlight the final month of the Presidential campaign.

Eisenhower has scrapped his "on personalities" tactics and aides say he can be expected to rip into President Truman in future speeches as he did Saturday night in Fargo, N.D.

The Republican Presidential nominee — completing his first cross-continent drive—planned to begin his bid for Washington's votes with a brief speech in Spokane. Then he was to visit Ephrata, Wenatchee and Everett before making a major speech in Seattle tonight.

He was expected in these speeches to outline his views on reclamation and power development.

No one could say just where Eisenhower might choose as the next point from which to open fire against his one-time close friend, Truman, who has been attacking the General in every speech he has made.

Eisenhower began his campaign by announcing he would not deal in "personalities." And he couched his criticisms in general terms against the administration, the Democrats as a party, and the leadership in Washington.

But he was stung to anger by the attacks on him by Truman who asserted he was a "front man" for special lobby interests.

Eisenhower decided to pin-point Truman as his main target in the Fargo speech. All day Saturday as he flew between stops in the Dakotas, he made notes aboard his plane.

That night Eisenhower opened his address by reminding his audience that "another campaign" had preceded his through the city a few days before. This was a reference to Truman's appearance in Fargo.

"Now from its rear platform," he said, "I am told, Salvo after red hot salvo was fired at me. Now, I merely say that I have been shot at by rear artillery. I am far too old to be greatly disturbed by noisy but harmless blanks.

"However, it seems that we are suppose to accept that kind of racket as typifying the purpose or nature of the current Democratic campaign: sound without substance; promise without performance; howls without harmony."

It appeared that Eisenhower may aim his heaviest fire at Truman rather than his Democratic opponent—Adlai Stevenson—thus focussing campaign attention on Trumanu as an issue.

Yesterday, Eisenhower's special rolled through the autumn tinted plains and mountains of Montana and he spoke briefly to crowds along the way.

You Have Made Team Educationally Speaking, But Keep Training, High School Grads Told

A stirring challenge to graduates of Sherbrooke High School to continue their education was voiced Saturday night at the High School Commencement Exercises, which attracted more than five hundred persons in Trinity United Church.

The speaker was Professor D. C. Munroe, Director of Macdonald College School for Teachers, and in his address to the graduates, he said:

"You have a pardonable sense of pride and satisfaction in your achievement. Even the public itself will feel you are now well educated. But education is a temporary thing and to some extent your education is already out of date.

"You have forgotten some things and you have learned new things since last June."

The one-time McGill football great stated: "Educationally speaking you have made the team. But you must keep in training. Your teachers have set you upon a high road on which you will have to continue alone."

Professor Munroe added: "We all want security today. Some social security measures, no doubt, are desirable. But don't let a feeling of security rob you of self-reliance. Do not confuse satisfaction with smugness, or self-reliance with security.

"And remember that Sherbrooke High School is well or poorly represented by its graduates."

Professor Munroe was introduced by Dr. T. J. Quintin, of the Board of Protestant School Commissioners, and thanked by Ald. Wesley H. Bradley, Q.C., Board Chairman. Others who sat on the platform were: W. W. Gibson, Principal-Supervisor, and Rev. T. D. F. Everett, Pastor of Trinity Church.

A total of 51 students, 26 in the academic course and 25 in the commercial course, received their certificates at the impressive ceremonies, from Mr. Gibson. The academic certificates were announced by E. W. J. Porter, mathematics and history teacher, and the commercial candidates were announced by Miss Marjorie Crawford, who is in charge of this phase of learning at the High School.

Rev. Mr. Everett presented most of the prizes, while Mr. Gibson announced that the E.T. scholarship to Bishop's had been won by Douglas Stevens, who placed first in the academic class, the second prize, the Narcissa Farrand scholarship to McGill, having been won by Arnold Echenberg.

Others who made presentations were as follows: Mrs. E. T. Harbert, for Elizabeth Thomson memorial bursary (I.O.D.E.) and Myrtie V. Loomis busary for nursing (I.O.D.E.); Rev. A. S. Mittleman, for B'nai B'rith lodge medal and prize; Mac Bradshaw, for Reginald Newton memorial trophy; Miss Minnie Hallowell Bowen memorial prize for histordy (I.O.D.E.); James Corfield, for Ballantyne memorial school of nursing prize.

Mrs. P. A. Dauncey, for British history prizes of Duke of Wellington Chapter (I.O.D.E.); Sydney Hart, Kiwanis club trophies for public speaking; Mr. Porter and Miss Crawford presented their own prizes for industry and effort in grade II academic and grade II commercial, respectively.

Stuart Ball, Sr., presented the Stuart Ball memorial trophy to James Tribble, twin brother of the winner, Jerrold Tribble. Jerrold had been called to the Navy Friday.

In the Chairman's remarks, Mr. Bradley congratulated the graduates, particularly those of the academic course since of 26, who wrote the school-leaving examinations, all had achieved their certificates.

"The graduates worked under trying conditions," Mr. Bradley said, "in the roar of pneumatic drills, hammers and the other parphenalia of construction, but while we congratulate them we must also congratulate the teachers who guided them."

In a message to the rate-payers, Mr. Bradley stated: "In a very short time we hope to open the new wing of Sherbrooke High School, after a great deal of preparation, planning and construction.

"It is the duty of your Board to use your money to supply suitable equipment for the young people and to staff the school with the best teachers we can find. We have been very fortunate in Sherbrooke to be able to do both, in the face of rising costs.

"In view of this addition, the cost we will be facing in this and the years to come, we will have to find additional money.

"Your Board has decided on an additional rate of three mills on top of the ten mills, in the current fiscal year (effective next January first.)"

The boys' and girls' choirs presented several songs at the Commencement, under the direction of A. M. Brown, Music Director, with Miss Irene Boomhour at the organ. Rev. Mr. Everett delivered the Invocation, Garth Smith the Salutatory address, Christine McAnespie the class history, and Arnold Echenberg the Valedictory.

The class ode, written by Douglas Stevens, was read by Barbara Cairns.

In an effort to streamline the proceedings, yet maintain the inspirational qualities of Commencement, Mr. Gibson had the prize-

DEDICATION OF CORNERSTONE: The Fair Share campaign for funds for the St. Charles Seminary officially opened Saturday afternoon with a special service at the Cathedral. Archbishop Geo rges Cabana preached the sermon and asked for generous support for this "very worthy" project. Albert Leblanc, general chairman of the campaign, appealed to canvassers to do their utmost to make the campaign a success. Following the service the blessing of the cornerstone of the new addition to the seminary took place. Msgr. Maurice Vincent, superior of the Seminary, remarked that this was the seventh cornerstone blessing at the Seminary, an indication of the many additions that have been made to this institution. Canon Gerard Cambron, superior of the Grand Seminary, also addressed the large gathering and urged support of the campaign. The Archbishop officiated at the formal blessing. This picture, taken at the cornerstone blessing, shows some of the invited guests. Included are: Hon. J. S. Bourque, Maurice Gingues, M.P., E. O. Gingras, M.P., Emile Rivard, C. E. Belanger, Frank Conway, Mr. Leblanc, Maurice Delorme, Emile Blais, Sarto Roy, Arcadius Denis, Carlos Fabi and L. P. Brousseau. Archbishop Cabana is shown in the centre of the picture.

Building Checks By Fire Brigade Begin This Week

In conjunction with Fire Prevention Week which commenced yesterday, Director W. P. Donahue, Inspector Wilbrod Lapierre and each district captain of the Fire Department will start a special inspection of local buildings this week.

The other officers who will be making the rounds are: Capt. Charles Audet, of station five in the West Ward, Capt. Henry Donahue, of station four in the East Ward, and Capt. Eugene Fortier, of number one station, which looks after central Sherbrooke, South and North Wards.

Buildings to be checked in the special inspection, which endures usually for three weeks to a month, are hospitals, hotels, industries, schools, stores, theatres and churches, not necessarily in that order.

Inspections are carried out regularly during the year but it is during Fire Prevention Week that this special inspection is begun.

Violent Death Claims Six Residents Of E. T. Region; One In Coaticook

Coaticook, Oct. 6.—Anselme Binette, 63, a lifelong resident of Cooticook, died Saturday afternoon in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke, following injuries received late Friday night when he was struck by a car while returning home.

The accident occurred at 11 p.m. Friday, at the intersection of Child and Vercheres streets, during a heavy rain and wind storm which made for poor visibility.

Mr. Binette was struck and dragged several feet when he apparently stepped into the path of the oncoming car while attempting to cross the street. The car, a 1949-model Ford coach, was owned by Tarcicius Roderigue, of Coaticook, but was driven at the time of the accident by Armand Viau, 30, also of Coaticook.

None of the three occupants of the car saw the victim until he suddenly appeared directly in front of the vehicle and it was too late to stop.

Mr. Binette, who was unconscious when taken to hospital, had received a fractured leg and very serious body lacerations.

Coaticook Chief of Police Gerard Groleau, who ivestigated the accident, states that the car was not travelling at an excessive rate of speed and if visibility had been better, the driver would have seen Mr. Binette in time to avoid the tragedy.

The deceased was an employee of many years' standing with the Coaticook branch of Penman's Limited. An inquest was scheduled for this afternoon.

Six persons of the Eastern Townships died as the result of accidents over the week-end but only one of them was killed in the E. T. Region.

The dead: Andre Parent, 18, Bernard Jutras, 17, Camille Demanches, 17, all of Drmmondville; Jean-Paul Ricard, 25, of St. Cesaire; Claude Pelletier, 23, of St. Ignace de Stanbridge; Anselme Binette, 63, of Coaticook.

Binette died of injuries received after he was struck by a car in Coaticook.

Parent, Jutras and Demanches died in a level crossing accident at St. Hyacinthe when their car was rammed by a Canadian National Railways train. A fourth occupant of the car, Real Girard, 18, also of Drummondville, was reported in serious condition in St. Hyacinthe hospital.

Ricard died in Montreal's Notre Dame Hospital Saturday night of injuries he received in a two-car crash in Montreal.

Pelletier died Saturday of injuries suffered when he was struck by a Montreal taxi cab.

Violent death came to 37 persons in Eastern Canada during the week-end. A Canadian Press survey early today showed there were 27 traffic deaths, six drownings and four from other causes.

Highest toll was in Ontario where there were 21 fatalities. Quebec had 15 and Nova Scotia one. One reason for the high figures was the number of multiple deaths — 14 in four accidents.

There were two triple fatalities in Ontario. Mrs. Albert B. Currey, 69, of Gore Bay, wife of Judge A. B. Currey, their granddaughter, Jane Ann Currey, 2, of Sudbury, and Ivan W. Cline, 22, of North Bay, were killed in a two-car collision near Powassan, 23 miles south of North Bay.

In Niagara Falls, Norman Herbert, Adam Joseph Holm and Ronnie Bashnick, all of Hamilton, were killed when their car collided with another.

Biggest single accident of the week-end occurred in L'Islet, Que., where two women and three children drowned when the car they were in was backed over a pier on the St. Lawrence shore. Dead are Mrs. Henri Cloutier and her twin girls, 6, and son, 7, all of Quebec, and Mrs. Georges Cloutier, 38, of L'Islet.

In Toronto, Leslie Arndt, 20, died after being punched in the face by an unknown attacker as he and a friend were walking home. He was taken home unconscious and later died in his mother's arms.

Other Quebec traffic deaths: Robert Fournier, 17, of Hull, after being struck by a car in Lachine; Gerard Bedard, 19, of Ste. Gerard Bedard, 19, of Ste. Germaine de Dorchester, when the car he was a passenger in rammed the back of a parked truck in his town, 60 miles southeast of Quebec; Maxime Poirer, 33, of St. Alexandre D'Iberville after his car went out of control at Henryville; Michel Carfagini, 38, of Montreal, struck by a car;

Walton Martin Hunter, 32, drowned when his boat capsized on a creek near his hunting camp at Amherst Marsh, N.S.

Textile Agreement Reached

Montreal, Oct. 6. — (CP) — Agreement to terms of a renewed labor contract granting an 11-per-cent increase to more than 6,000 Quebec textile workers, was announced jointly last night by the National Catholic Federation of Textile Workers (C.C.C.L.) and the Dominion Textile Company and its subsidiary Drummondville Cotton Company Limited.

The terms were agreed upon in four separate contracts ratified by membership of individual unions at Sherbrooke, Magog, Drummondville and St. Gregoire de Montmorency. Signing is expected to take place in Montreal next week.

In addition to the 11 per cent wage increase, the contract awards a 10 per cent increase retroactive to Nov. 10, 1951, date when the old contract expired, additional vacation payments to employees who sever employment prior to the annual vacation period, and agreement that Mr. Justice Georges Heon act as sole arbitrator in technical matters concering tasks and work assignments.

The contract will be in effect for two years from date of signature but a clause permits the opening of negotiations on wages only after one year.

Local Jail-Breaker Reported Captured By State Police At Bridgeport, Conn.

Emilien Beauclair, alias Emile Boisclair, the man who escaped from the Winter street jail in Sherbrooke, has been captured by Connecticut State Police at Bridgeport, it was reported here today by Sgt.-Det. Stenio Brasseur, head of the local office of Provincial Police.

The fugitive is being turned over to authorities at Montpelier, Vt., and Sgt.-Det. Brasseur will bring him to Sherbrooke from there.

Provincial Police were unable to state whether or not Beauclair was found in possession of a car reported stolen from William Lavallee, Montreal street, the morning of the former's escape from the local prison.

Beauclair was identified and captured because of Provincial Police photos which had been circulated by the local office immediately after his escape. It had been Mr. Brasseur's hunch that the wanted man was in Connecticut, after efforts to find him in Vermont were unsuccessful.

Beauclair made his escape between dark and daylight, September 9-10.

Beauclair, who was serving a stretch for burglary, "walked" out of his second-storey cell and jumped 15 feet to the ground to freedom.

MONDAYS

It is so long since the subject of calendar reform has received much publicity that it is almost certain to be revived as soon as there is a scarcity of exciting national and international news, The Printed World believes. It comments that actually a change to a better system, while theoretically desirable, is likely to occur about the same time the British substitute a decimal currency for their pounds, shillings and pence. But some people will always delight in pointing out how much is lost through having months of unequal lengths, weeks that are not simple fractions of either months or years and quarter-years and half-years that are not exactly halves and quarters.

Although manufacturers of calendars have little cause for immediate alarm, a practical reform is slowly continuing. It is many years since the commandment, "Six days shalt thou labour," was amended to read "Five and a half days," and in a growing number of occupations the five and a half have been reduced to five.

It may even be thought that the work-week has really become four and a half days, for the two-day break that begins on Friday evening makes blue Monday even bluer. When Sunday was the only day of rest and the rest consisted of strenuous religious exercises, Monday was a welcome relief and there was a zest in the resumption of ordinary business. After the modern long week-end, not always devoted to church-going, a few hours of Monday morning must pass before adjustment to a business tempo is complete, and then it's time for lunch.

WESTERN POWERS NOT MISLED

The Western Big Three — the United States, France and Britain — have once again made it clear to Russia that they do not intend to be misled into selling West Germany down the river.

By firmly rejecting Moscow's proposal that the German unification problem be considered at a four-power parley in October, the western capitals have now left the next move plainly up to the Russians.

For more than a year now, the roadblock to the German unification movement has been the question of free elections. The West has insisted that no unification talks can be held until plans have been worked out to permit the East and West Germans freely to elect a unified government.

Agreeing to unificaiton without prior assurances that such elections would not be interfered with by any outside power, argue the Big Three, would quickly result in Red dominance of East German polling and make the new government overwhelmingly Communist.

Moscow has agreed to the free elections point in principle and says it is now willing to bow to Big Three demands that a commission be created to work out the details. But it has insisted that such a commission should be composed entirely of Germans, or of members of the Big Four, and that it should not be set up until after the unification agreement.

The West has turned down this proposal flatly, claiming that any commission made up of Germans or of representatives of the Big Four could not be impartial. They suggest, instead, that an unbiased investigation be conducted by disinterested UN members.

The western capitals have little faith in Soviet assurances that free elections can be held in the Red-dominated East German sector without impartial supervision and have bluntly said so.

It has been learned "by hard experience in recent years," said their most recent note to Moscow, "that terms such as 'free elections' have one meaning in common parlance and another in the official Soviet vocabularly."

Big Three observers interpret the Russian interest in an immediate unification conference as an attempt to divert West German attention from the cementing of its new ties with the European defense community.

This fall, the Bonn Republic must ratify the six-power Western European scheme for forming a single defense force and must also act on the new arrangements that have been drawn up with the West to restore it to near sovereignty and freedom.

By holding up the bait of an independent and neutral Germany, thus wooing Germans who yearn for national unity, as well as the Western Europeans who fear Germany and hope that a settlement could relieve world tension, the Soviet apparently hopes to disrupt these arrangements.

Certainly it is clear that Moscow's aims for a unified Reich are not motivated solely by the high ideals to which it gives lip service. Otherwise, there could be little justification for its stand on the free-election issue. And the West is working in the best interest of the German people, as well as for its own benefit by refusing to be fooled.

PRESS COMMENTS

NO PROTECTION FOR EMPLOYER

Truro, N.S., Daily News.

A Queen's University (Kingston, Ontario) professor hit the nail on the head when he said that trade unions have legal protection against unfair action by employers, but the public has little recourse against irresponsible action by unions.

Professor J. A. Cameron, head of the department of industrial relations, made the statement in an address to the summer conference of the Ontario-Quebec division of the Young Liberal Federation of Canada.

In advocating an overhaul of the Ontario Labour Relations Act and a review of the legal immunities enjoyed by unions "in the light of their great increased power and pretensions," Professor Cameron said:

"It should not be beyond the wit of man to devise legislation which will maintain free collective bargaining, protect labor against discrimination and at the same time ensure that both management and trade unions act responsibilty within the community. Then, the need for compulsory arbitration will be far less than it is today."

RIGID CENSORSHIP BLACKS OUT SENATORS' OFFICE EXPENSES

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — Complete overhauling of the present secrecy rules on senators' office expenses is due in the next session of Congress, according to Senate Secretary Leslie L. Biffle. Disclosure of Sen. Richard M. Nixon's $18,000 extra expense account brings the issue to a head and makes revision of Senate accounting practices necessary, says Mr. Biffle.

One of the tightest censorships in Washington is that clamped down on records of the Senate disbursing office. This is the financial branch of Secretary Biffle's office. It was presided over for some years by Oco Thompson, but he has now retired and been succeeded by his brother, George F. Thompson.

Though estimable gentlemen in every other respect, the Thompson brothers both have had all their wiring for sound completely removed as far as talking to newspapermen is concerned. This is on orders of the Senate, Mr. Biffle, and a tradition so old nobody knows when it began.

At the beginning of each session of Congress, Biffle's office makes a report to the Senate on disbursements of the previous year. The last such report, sent to the Senate by Mr. Biffle on Jan. 8, covered the fiscal year July 1, 1950, to June 30, 1951.

Up-To-Date Data Lacking

It was 902 printed pages of itemized expenses in small type. It covered the costs of running all Senate offices and investigations. It included such fascinating details as payment of $15 to Nationwide Food Services for 12 dinners furnished laborers detained at the Senate Jan. 15, 1951, because of night session.

But when reporters started digging into Senator Nixon's expenses, they found this report covered only the first six months of his Senate term. Mr. Thompson's office had its strict orders to give out no later information. And the next report, covering senatorial expenses of the last session, won't be available till next January.

By that time all the present stir will probably be forgotten. That is apparently one of the main reasons for keeping all this data behind a news blackout curtain, even though it involves the expenditure of public funds about which the taxpayers have a right to know.

Mr. Biffle says that he probably could give the order to open up these records for public examination. But he also says he wouldn't do it without first consulting the Senate and getting its approval.

There is no law requiring that records of Senate finances be kept confidential for so long a time. The Senate rules say nothing on the subject. It is just a custom which seem to go back farther than Mr. Biffle can remember.

One of the principal objections which senators seem to have against opening up the books is that it would force them to disclose how much was paid each employee on their office payrolls. They say this might cause hard feelings in other senators' offices.

Only Total Payroll Is Reported

At the present time only the list of each senator's employees and the total of the office payroll for each quarter year are reported. Thus Senator Nixon listed 14 employees with a quarterly payroll total of nearly $16,000. This would be at the rate of $64,000 a year. But there was no breakdown on what each got.

During the Republican 80th Congress — 1946-48 — not even this much information was given. Senators' office expenses were completely deleted from the report, by order of the GOP majority. The Democrats reinstituted partial accounting in 1949.

Even this partial accounting is complicated by a lot of outmoded Senate rules. These rules specify that the maximum salary a senator may pay his administrative assistant is a year. But cost-of-living and other increases make this $11,646.

The fixed allowances for airmail and special delivery postage, long-distance telephone and telegrams have been similarly increased. This makes accounting more difficult.

These are but a few of the complications which will have to be straightened out by the new Congress, says Mr. Biffle. How they will be handled he, of course, does not know.

There have been many proposals that congressional expense allowances be further increased above the present $2500 tax-free amount. But this has created much public criticism.

The other principal suggestion has been to raise congressional salaries from the present $12,500 to, say $25,000 and then let each senator and representative work out his own arrangement for meeting extra expenses.

IN A NEIGHBOUR'S GARDEN

On one corner of a lawn
There's a rustic sight,
For passersby to gaze upon
Affording much delight.
A big green frog, with popping eyes,
And eager-looking lips,
Designed to give flies a surprise
If they should come to grips.
– – Of course it is not really "real"
(It's made of plaster-paris),
Yet, at first glance I surely feel
It might the nervous harass.
A careless drop might froggie break
And spoil each comely feature,
For he is just a big old fake
And not a natural creature.
Deep in some grass he sort of squats
In a most natural pose,
Where begonias, and forget-me-nots
Nod to a nearby rose.
His mouth is wide, he seems to grin,
You almost hear him say:
"I'm not out here to 'take you in,'
It's safe to pass my way."
Each time I see him sitting there
I truly get a thrill;
Far into space he seems to stare,
And oh, so rigid, still!
Although he has a vacant stare
He really looks content,
And graces well that landscape fair
– – If but an ornament.
It surely is surprising quite
How lifelike he does seem;
– – Lawn ornaments afford delight
E'en they are but a scheme.

QUICK THINKING OFT HELPS BRIDGE GAME

The eyes of the world's bridge players will be fastened on New York three weeks from today, when the world championship match begins in that city. If your eyes go that way, keep them on George Rapee, one of the stars of the American team. If you blink for an instant you may find out that George has chosen that moment to steal a trick.

For example, take today's hand—which was played in a rubber bridge game recently. Rapee was my partner, and the opponents were two of the best known bridge players in the country. That didn't stop George from getting to an ambitious contract which should have been set—except that he made it!

Opening lead—♠ 2

West was at his brilliant best when he led the deuce of spades. If he had opened the five of hearts, Rapee would have had time to develop the diamonds and also the king of clubs. The defenders would get two hearts, a diamond, and a club, but declarer would take the rest.

The spade opening was far more troublesome. Rapee played low from dummy, and East played the queen to guard against the possibility that South had the doubleton ace-jack. Rapee won with the king of spades and nonchalantly made the key play of the hand.

Just in case you haven't worked out that key play yourself, let's go through Rapee's lightning analysis at a slower pace. If the diamond finesse is going to succeed (actually, it won't, but South doesn't know at this moment), South will easily make two spades, two hearts, and five diamonds.

If the diamond finesse is going to lose, there are only eight fast tricks, and a ninth trick will be needed.

It will do no good to go after the diamonds immediately, since the enemy will continue spades. Then the fat will be in the fire and there will be no chance to develop the ninth trick later on.

The only chance was to go after the ninth trick immediately in the hope of stealing it. So Rapee led the three of clubs at the second trick.

West would have been a hero if he had hopped up with the ace of clubs and returned the jack of spades. But West wasn't sure that the spades were only one trick from establishments, so he played a low club, allowing dummy to win with the king of clubs.

That was only the second trick of the hand, but it was actually Rapee's ninth trick. He could now safely switch to diamonds, losing a finesse to the king, and make his game with two spades, two hearts, four diamonds, and that very valuable stolen club trick.

CARD SENSE

Q—With neither side vulnerable, the bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 Diamond	1 Heart	?

You, South, hold Spades A-Q-J-8-5, Heart 4, Diamonds K-Q-9-3, Clubs A-J-6. What do you do?

A—Bid two spades. This hand will almost surely produce a slam, and you want to warn your partner at once that you are out for big things.

TODAY'S QUESTION

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
1 Diamond	Double	1 Heart	?

You, South, hold Spades Q-J-7-5, Hearts 7-4, Diamonds J-9-6-3, Clubs 8-5-2. What do you do?

The Record Short Story

Sixth Share Of A Man

By ISABEL JOHNSTON

The ship's band certainly lived up to the promises in the travel brochure. Cynthia sat in her deck chair just outside the dance floor. The music floated out, inviting her to dance. Her new hairdo, she felt sure, was very becoming with short ringlets curling around her face. Her white net frock, especially bought for the cruise, was exquisite. The rhythm made it hard for Cynthia to keep her feet quiet, but she refused to be tempted.

Her table mates, five girls, had suggested they all go to the dance. Glancing around the dining room, Cynthia had seen there were at least five girls to every man. She certainly wasn't going to be a wallflower, no matter how pretty, in a bunch of six!

A few deck chairs away a tall, blond young man sat smoking. With so many girls without partners, Cynthia couldn't help thinking it was a pity he resisted the music. A ship's officer, passing him must have had the same idea. He stopped and suggested the young man might enjoy himself dancing.

"No thank you," the blond young man refused with a laugh, "I don't want to be torn apart by all those frustrated women."

His callous laugh made Cynthia furious. If he were the only man on board, she wouldn't want to meet him! For a long time she sat there, looking out to sea, ignoring him! He sat in his chair, smoking, ignoring her. She wanted a cigaret, but she knew she would have difficulty lighting it. He might think her struggles with a match were a pretext for scraping an acquaintance with him. She went down to her cabin, smoked her cigaret there and turned in.

The cruise travelogue described a day crowded with shipboard activities. Cynthia played deck tennis with Alice. She joined in a game of ping pong with Esther, Nora and Jane. She let homely, self depreciating Harriet beat her at shuffleboard. The travelogue was accurate except that it hadn't mentioned the cruise would be a hen party.

Throughout the day Cynthia was aware of the blond young man chatting with the ship's doctor, reading a book in his deck chair. When she went to the smoking room for a cocktail with Esther, she saw him drinking a Manhattan with a married couple, ignoring all the single girls.

At dinner Cynthia felt a great pity for her table mates, all dressed up in dance frocks, doomed to be partnerless. Tactfully she suggested that it was far too warm for dancing. Why didn't they come up on deck with her and let her read their palms?

The blond young man was sitting in his deck chair. Cynthia was pleased. She was glad to show him that six girls could have fun in spite of the lack of men.

So far Cynthia had not found her table mates particularly interesting. As she told their fortunes, they artlessly revealed all their problems, all their dreams. She couldn't help feeling a great sympathy and liking for each one of them.

Alice taught at a girls' school. On this cruise Alice had hoped to enjoy a little masculine company for a change. Cynthia consoled her by predicting that next fall Alice would take a night course in higher mathematics — and have two fascinating men students quarreling over her. With an invalid mother at home, Nora was housebound, but Cynthia invented a young minister who would find her the perfect wife. A broken engagement had brought Esther on this trip, and Cynthia prophesized that a casual little note of apology would bring about wedding bells. Jane confessed that she had come on this cruise to put her attractive married boss out of her head and heart. In Jane's palm, Cynthia read the prospects of a new job with an attractive, young, and unmarried, lawyer. When homely, self-conscious Harriet thrust out her hand eagerly, Cynthia saw a chance to build up Harriet's confidence. Cynthia hinted that there was a man on board, probably in uniform, who was desperately attracted to Harriet, but too shy to make the first overtures. All Harriet had to do was to smile, help him out, talk to him about his work perhaps.

Cynthia was aware that the blond young man was listening. She didn't care. It would do him good to think of girls as human beings, as individuals instead of frustrated females en mass.

The ship's radio operator stopped by their group. The ship's rules did not permit him to dance, he explained, but he asked Cynthia to read his palm. With Harriet in mind, Cynthia saw in his palm that on this cruise there was a girl, not a ravishing beauty, but a girl with character, who would make all the difference in his future. Cynthia was delighted when Harriet smiled and timidly questioned the young radio operator about his work.

There was no chance for the blond young man to think Cynthia frustrated or lonely. Her skill as a palmist spread among the passengers. She hardly had time for the cruise activities. She was constantly in demand, tremendously popular, as a fortune teller.

At cocktail time that night, Cynthia did not go to the smoking room for a drink. She didn't feel up to more palm reading that day. She sank down in her deck chair, glad the deck was deserted. It was something of a shock to look up and see the blond young man towering over her.

"I hear you're very skillful as a palmist," he said. "How about reading my hand?"

Her weariness left her. Here was a chance to tell this conceited, selfish young man what she thought of him! She waved him to the empty chair next to hers and took his hand. It was a strong hand, with long fingers, boney knuckles and clear, decisive lines. She began gently.

"You are good at detail. You're skillful with your hands. You'd be a success at—at something like dentistry."

"I'm a doctor. At least I'm studying to be one."

As usual in fortune telling, he told her almost as much about himself as she told him. His name was Stanley Porter. He had worked his way through medical school and expected to be an interne in the city hospital next year. He had made some extra money and was taking this vacation before starting his interneship.

Cynthia listened and drew him out. Not until the end of her reading did she launch her attack on him.

"You are very skillful at the technical end of doctoring," she told him, "but you will be handicapped by a lack of understanding of your patients as people."

"No bedside manner?"

"None," she said sternly. "And you neglect your opportunities. Many of your patients will be women, but on this trip, you make no attempt to study them. You make no effort to understand or sympathize. With so many girls without partners, you don't dance a single dance!"

"I'm shy," he grinned.

"A little conceited, perhaps, a little too self absorbed to care."

"Selfish?"

"Yes."

That did not seem to phase him. He laughed and thanked her.

After the way she told him off, it was a surprise to have him come up after dinner and ask her for a dance. Her first impulse was to say no, then she remembered her table mates.

"I'll introduce you to my friends and you can dance with them, too," she decided. "We'll divide you in sixths, but you won't be torn to pieces. You'll enjoy it."

When he asked her to go ashore with him next day she explained she'd already promised to sightsee with her friends, but they would be glad to have him join them. Stanley was clever enough. He took the hint and for the rest of the voyage, he carefully divided his attentions between Cynthia and her five friends. Of course, Esther spent one afternoon in the writing room writing an important note. And after Harriet visited the radio room, she didn't always come to the dance floor. Stanley carefully danced with each girl in turn. If Cynthia had ever been alone with him long enough for a frank talk, she would have told him not to make a joke of it. But she was too busy reading palms to have time for tete a tetes.

On the last night of the cruise, to get a little rest from palmistry, Cynthia sneaked off to a lonely portion of the deck. Stanley appeared at her elbow. He said he would like to tell her fortune for a change.

"In the dark? How can you?"

He took her hand just the same. He held it as he talked.

"I've seen so many of my doctor friends handicapped by jealous, possessive wives," he confided, "it's made me leery of women, careful not to fall for a girl who'd make marriage to a doctor miserable both for herself and her husband."

"But what's that got to do with my fortune," she stammered.

"Nothing, except that you are so generous, so unpossessive, so unselfish, you'd make an ideal wife for a doctor," he paused and spoke with humility, "I've tried to divide myself in sixths to please you. After this trip, won't you let me devote all my self, all my life, to you?"

Lecturers And Instructors Announced For Forthcoming Series Of So-Ed Club

The So-Ed committee has announced the names of instructors and lecturers for the autumn series of the social-educational group which will begin this coming Thursday and continue until November 13, each Thursday evening.

For the lecture-discussion groups, three topics are planned and each person is limited to one group each.

Groups are: Marriage in the Modern World, Science in Step with the Times, and What's Your Sport?

One lecture is to be given each night and lecturers and topics are as follows: Marriage in the Modern World, (1) Paving the way for marriage, Rev. Ross Adams; (2) physiological aspects, Dr. E. M. Cooper, local obstetrician; (3) marriage as a business partnership, Ashton Tobin, Q.C.; (4) psychologic aspects, Dr. J. J. O'Neil, psychiatrist at St. Vincent de Paul; (5) Matrimonial reefs, Judge J. C. Samson, of the Social-Welfare court; (6) the ideal marriage, Mrs. Ross Adams, wife of the pastor of St. Andrew's Church.

Science in Step with the Times: (1) Crime detection, Det. H. Z. Boisvert, head of identification bureau, police department; (2) Taking life easy, Peter Pollock, Northern Electric; (3) Cancer strikes out, Dr. T. J. Quintin; (4) What's in them thar hills, Dr. H. G. Way, chief geologist, Ascot Metals; (5) Exploring X-rays, D. G. Harvey, General Electric, Montreal; (6) Let's go places, H. J. Enright, city passenger agent, Canadian National Railways.

What's your sport: (1) Fish and Game Conservation, Louis Seguin, Coaticook, Provincial department of fish hatcheries; (2) Sports as a profession, Forest Keene; (3) Pigskin parade, S. F. Abbott, director of athletics, Bishop's College School, formerly of Stanstead College; (4) Let's go hunting, Lt.-Col. B. D. Lyon; (5) Spills on the hills, Gordon Harmer, well-known E.T. skier and Sherbrooke Record ski columnist; (5) Sports roundup, C. L. O. Glass, headmaster, B.C.S.

Each of the lecture groups of one hour will be followed each evening by interest classes. The following have been arranged and the instructors are as noted below:

Smocking, Mrs. Fred Sangster and Mrs. Percy Rawlings; Skiing, Eric Schiller; bridge, Mrs. T. R. MacKenzie and Mrs. E. M. Wiggett; square dancing, Mr. and Mrs. William Lavallee; gifts and gadgets (felt), Mrs. H. Wallace; photography for beginners, Jack Dauncey.

Registrations are now being accepted at the MacKinnon Memorial of the Y.W.C.A or from the committee which comprises: Mrs. D. F. Watson, chairman; Mrs. T. J. Quintin, Mrs. Arthur Hogg, Mrs. Cyril Pyke, Mrs. P. MacMurray, Helen Wiggett, Jessie Moore, Mrs. B. C. Howard, Edward J. Shortt, Robert Miess, Jack Dauncey and Horace Rothfels.

ASBESTOS

On Wednesday evening, October 8th, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Graham will be entertained at their home, 1548 Prunier Street, Sherbrooke, on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. Graham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graham, of South Durham. All friends of Mr. and Mrs. Graham are cordially invited to attend.

50th Wedding Anniversary Is Observed

Gallup Hill, Oct. 6.—A very happy event took place on September 17th, when Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnston celebrated the 50th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs. Johnston were at home to their friends in the afternoon and evening, and a large number of relatives and friends from far and near joined in offering their congratulations and good wishes.

The arrangements for the festivities were planned and carried out by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Johnston with whom they resided, and Mr. and Mrs. Elray Johnston, of Lennoxville, who spared no effort to make this enjoyable occasion one to be remembered.

The tea table, which looked very lovely with its damask cloth, was centred with a three-tier wedding cake decorated with yellow pansies and gold leaves, flanked by gold candles in silver holders. In the afternoon tea was poured by Mrs. Ernest Healy and Mrs. John Day, and in the evening by friends, namely, Mrs. Inez Fallona, Mrs. Melvin Griffith, Miss M. Weed and Mrs. W. M. Gilchrist.

Mrs. Johnston was dressed in black crepe with a corsage of yellow roses, and Mr. Johnston with a boutonniere of white carnations received the many guests. More than one hundred guests registered in the guest book, which was in charge of a granddaughter, Miss Sylvia Johnston.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnston received a large number of gifts, including flowers, cards and letters from relatives and friends. Their Gallup Hill friends presented them with a purse of money as a slight token of the esteem in which they are held in the community.

Among the many guests present, who attended the wedding, were the two bridesmaids, Mrs. Ernest Healy, of Cleveland, and Mrs. Charles Tozer, of Montreal.

Fire Destroys Vacant Shack

A fire, thought to have been started by neighborhood children, damaged beyond repair a shack on a vacant lot on Hertel Street, Saturday afternoon. The shack was owned by P. H. Breton, of 2446 King West, who was planning to move it away. Apparently, the children were using it as a clubhouse. Firemen from number one station answered the alarm but the flames had taken too big a hold on the building by the time the alarm was given.

Horse Tramples Child Of Six

Henri-Paul Bernier, six, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bernier, of Chartierville, suffered a fractured thigh near his home yesterday when he was trampled by a horse.

The child was playing in a pasture at the time of the mishap. He is a patient at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke.

Our Congratulations To:

FRANK PEARSON, who yesterday observed his birthday anniversary.

SOUTH DURHAM

On Wednesday evening, October 8th, Mr. and Mrs. Hartley Graham will be entertained at their home, 1548 Prunier Street, Sherbrooke, on the occasion of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. Graham's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Graham, of South Durham. All friends of Mr. and Mrs. Graham are cordially invited to attend.

Mrs. Ernest Jenkerson, Miss L. Jenkerson and Mrs. Eva Bennett were calling on Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Coates.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Berwick were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Berwick, and of Mr. and Mrs. L. Hooker, in Bishopton, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Saunders and Miss Ardyth Kingsley, of Lennoxville, were calling on Mr. and Mrs. Charles Little, and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Grey, one afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Eryou and Brenda and Mrs. L. Allison, were evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Grey. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Little and Eric were callers at the same home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Batley spent the week-end with relatives in Abbotsford.

C. P. Employees Observe Fire Prevention Week

Montreal, Oct. 6. — Canadian Pacific employees have been asked by N. R. Crump, vice-president, to observe Fire Prevention Week, which began Sunday. In a message to all personnel, Mr. Crump said:

"October 5 to 11 inclusive is being observed throughout Canada and the United States as this year's Fire Prevention Week and all officers and employees are earnestly requested to exercise every possible effort to safeguard properties and resources from fire loss, not only during the week of observance but at all times. Careless smoking as well as heating appliances that are improperly installed, maintained and operated are major fire causes which we should all appreciate and endeavour to overcome. In addition to correcting conditions that create fire hazards, we should know how to operate fire extinguishers and remember that on discovery of fire our first action is to give the alarm, then promptly attack the outbreak."

1,200 Members For Symphony

Outstanding success has marked the membership campaign of the Sherbrooke Symphony orchestra.

While all returns have not yet been received, it is expected that there will be a membership of some 1,200

The desk at H. C. Wilson and Sons Ltd. will be retained for today and tomorrow so that canvassers will be able to complete their reports.

Officers of the Symphony have expressed their deep appreciation to all those who helped during the campaign.

Drew Forsees Bright Future

Liverpool, England, Oct. 6 — (Reuters) — George Drew, Canadian Progressive Conservative leader, said today Canada is at the threshold of a period of national development "from which a great world power will emerge."

In view of this, he told a Canadian Club luncheon, it is necessary for Britain and Canada to maintain their ties and to become even closer in the future.

Drew, just back from a tour of Europe, said he was impressed by the recovery he saw there.

". . . Germany is already a very vital factor in all our consideratoin of the future world trade," he stressed. "It has the drive and energy which is going to have an impact on every nation trading in world markets."

Queen Elizabeth Will Broadcast

London, Oct. 6. — (Reuters)— The Queen will read her first speech from the throne in the House of Lords to open the new session of parliament Nov. 4.

She will be accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, it was announced today.

Both houses of parliament reassemble Oct. 14 after the summer recess to clear up outstanding business, and will probably end the session Oct. 31.

Stowaways Are Sought As Witnesses

Montreal, Oct. 6. —(CP)— Provincial police today sought two unidentified young Polish stowaways as material witnesses in the shotgun slaying last week of Aurelien Houle, 32, who tried to prevent two men from robbing his wife at the couple's combined restaurant-service station at Yamaska, Que.

Police said a coroner's warrant has been issued for the arrest of the two men who hid aboard a ship a year ago and landed in Halifax. They went to Sept. Iles, Que., where they were arrested a week later on theft charges and sentenced to seven months each.

They said the pair came to Yamaska where they took jobs as farmhands

J. A. Archambault Reports To Quebec Chamber

Ottawa, Oct. 6.—(CP)—Some 400 delegates opened the 17th annual meeting of the Quebec Chamber of Commerce Sunday. Theme of the four-day meeting is Dominion-Provincial relations.

Delegates representing 25,000 members of 125 Chambers in Quebec province were welcomed by Controller Paul Tardif, representing the city, and Allan Snowdon, representing the Ottawa Board of Trade.

J. A. Archambault, of Sherbrooke, Que., president of the Quebec Chamber, reported on the work of the organization last year.

The theme of the congress was outlined by Laurent Paradis, vice-president of the Quebec Chamber of Commerce. He said that during the four-day meeting, Federal-Provincial problems would be discussed by speakers representing three levels of government—the federal, provincial and municipal.

The Doctor Says:

KEEP TRACK OF LUNCHEON DIET OF GROWING CHILDREN IN SCHOOL

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

Few things play a more important part in the health of growing children than what they eat. They must have enough calcium for their bones and teeth, enough iron for their blood, enough calories so that they will have some left over for growth after vigorous exercise, and enough vitamins.

It is at school age that youngsters first begin to get away from the dietary control of their homes, and yet as much attention should be given to food at this time as at any other.

Breakfast and supper are usually still taken at home, but luncheon is often another matter, and yet this is just as important as the other meals.

Many schools have cafeterias where the youngsters choose their own food. Some children do poorly at this, and should be carefully instructed by the mother as to what they should have each day, and how much to pay for it. A bottle of pop and a piece of pie a la mode is hardly a balanced meal.

Of course, the lunch should be considered in relation to what foods are given at other meals. If, for example, if milk is not taken at breakfast and supper, then it should certainly be obtained at noon. In addition to milk, lunch should include some protein food such as meat, eggs, cheese or fish, some bread and butter or potato, and some green vegetable or fruit.

Often parents prefer to give the youngster his own lunch to take from home. If milk can be obtained at school in addition, well and good. If not, a thermos bottle of milk can be included.

The same principles apply to the home-prepared lunch as to those just mentioned. Sandwiches, buttered and filled with meat, eggs, tomato, lettuce and the like changed from day to day, are usually satisfactory and attractive to most youngsters.

An apple, orange, peach or some similar fruit will supply another important need. If the child has a sweet tooth, a piece of chocolate can be included for dessert.

Chick With Youngster

The youngster should actually eat the lunch which is supplied. Some children, unless watched, will trade off their fruit for a piece of pie or pop, and thus not get the balanced meal which they are supposed to eat. A little tactful questioning and checking-up every few days is in order.

The importance of a good diet for growing children cannot be stressed too much. But at the same time parents should not hound their children about food every day.

If the diet week by week is satisfactory, and if the child is growing normally and getting neither too fat nor too thin, the chances are that he (or she) is eating all right.

St. Peter's Memorial Hall was the setting for a very charming sunshine salad tea on Wednesday afternoon. October 1, sponsored by St. Peter's Guild.

The individual tables were decorated with yellow marigolds and large golden African daisies, in vari-colored vases. The tea table was arranged with a lace cloth, and a huge vase of African Daisies, with silver tea services presided over by Mrs. Harry Grundy and Mrs. F. H. Bradley.

The food table offered a tempting array of home-cooked foods, and was in charge of Mrs. J. Scott and Mrs. N. Porter.

The fancywork table also had a potted plant section which added immeasurably to the fall setting. This table was in charge of Mrs. N. Perkins and Mrs. L. Ross. A comprehensive array of Christmas cards, both personal and boxed assortments, also personalized napkins and name labels, were on display. Mrs. G. Smith spent a busy afternoon taking orders for these and will continue to do so until November 15.

The many guests who were received by the president, Mrs. J. Plamondon, were ushered to the tables and waited on by Mrs. R. Dwyer, Mrs. W. Lavallee, Mrs. F. Edwards. Mrs. J. Twyman, Mrs. W. Ward, Mrs. A. Simpson, Mrs. G. S. Thomson, Miss A. Baldwin and Mrs. A. Spry.

MARRIAGES

COOLING—CHRISTIE

Clapham, Que., Oct. 6.—The marriage of Phyllis Doreen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Willard Christie, of Clapham, Que., to Mr. William Robert Cooling, son of the late Mr. W. Cooling and of Mrs. Cooling, of Thetford Mines, Que., took place in Christ Church, Lower Ireland, Saturday afternoon, September 20, at two o'clock, the Rev. A. V. MacLaren officiating. The wedding music was played by Mrs. H. Little, and the soloist, Mr. C. Jameson, sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the signing of the register. Pink and white gladioli, hydrangea, larkspur and sweet William were used to decorate.

The bride, given away by her father, wore a white ballerina-length strapless gown, fashioned with a lace bodice with a matching long-sleeved jacket, and a nylon net circular skirt over taffeta and a crinoline petticoat. Her fingertip veil of tulle illusion fell from a stiffened band of white lace and she carried a bouquet of pink roses and white gladioli. Her only ornament was an opal pendant, the gift of the groom.

Mrs. George McCammon, as matron of honor for her sister, wore a two-tone orchid taffeta gown, styled with a fitted bodice and panelled skirt over crinoline, with a bolero and mitts in the lighter shade and a head bandeau fashioned of taffeta in both shades. Her bouquet was composed of yellow gladioli, yellow roses and mauve pompoms.

Mrs. Charles Connery, sister of the groom, and Miss Ann Morrison, of Sherbrooke, as bridesmaids, wore gowns and headdresses identical to those worn by the matron of honor, their boleros and mitts being of the deep orchid shade, and they carried bouquets of yellow gladioli and mauve daisies each centred with a yellow rose.

Mr. George Nakash, of Montreal, acted as best man, and the ushers were Mr. George McCammon and Mr. Ward Christie, brother of the bride.

Mrs. Christie, mother of the bride, was in a crushed raspberry taffeta suit with which she wore a model hat of French velour with pale blue feather trim and a white gardenia corsage.

Mrs. Cooling, mother of the groom, was dressed in a rust color softly tailored suit with a brown velvet hat and accessories and her corsage was of yellow Pinnochio roses.

The reception was held on the lawn at the bride's home at Clapham, where the bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, was centred with the four-tier wedding cake flanked with with pink candles in silver holders and decorated with yellow gladioli and mauve pompons in silver bowls.

Later Mr. and Mrs. Cooling left for their wedding trip through the eastern states, the bride wearing for travelilng a suit of bronze calypso taffeta, with a pill box model hat of dark brown velour trimmed with bronze appliques, lizard accessories and a corsage of Hilltop roses.

Out of town guests were from St. Catharines, Ont., Lachine, Montreal, Sherbrooke, East Angus, Bury, Thetford Mines, Maple Grove, Black Lake, New Ireland, East Broughton, Scotstown, Lennoxville, Compton, Gould.

Mr. and Mrs. Cooling will reside in Thetford Mines.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM ROBERT COOLING, pictured at their reception held at the home of the bride, at Clapham, Que., following their marriage which took place in Christ Church, Lower Ireland, Saturday afetrnoon, September 20. The bride, formerly Miss Phyllis Doreen Christie, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Willard Christie, and the groom is the son of the late Mr. W. Cooling and of Mrs. Cooling, of Thetford Mines.

FORDYCE

Fordyce, Oct. 6. — The regular monthly meeting of the Fordyce Women's Institute was held at the home of the president, Mrs. G. Bromby.

Several members went in the morning to work on the quilt, which Fordyce W.I. is entering in the Tweedsmuir Competition.

The hostess, assisted by members served a delicious luncheon.

At 2:30 p.m., the president conducted a short business meeting. Plans were made to entertain the semi-annual County Convention, which was held on September 20, in the United Church parlors.

A donation of ten dollars was voted to be given Cowansville W. I. to help with prizes for the School Fair.

There were fourteen members and one visitor present. The money calendars were collected.

As the quilt was not finished, the members agreed to meet again one afternoon, to finish the quilting.

Tea was then served by the hostess.

BISHOPTON

Mrs. Mills entertained the members of the Ladies' Guild. Plans were completed for the chicken pie supper to be held in the Town Hall on October 4. Committees were appointed for both the supper and the sale of fancy and useful articles, which will be on display. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

Members of the Christmas Club were very pleasantly entertained by Ardyth Bishop one evening. Canasta was played at three tables, the "lucky ones" being Mrs. Cyril Rolfe and Mrs. Gordon Joyce. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lyle Herring.

MIZE AND SNIDER STEAL SPOTLIGHT IN 11-INNING THRILLER

"Big Jawn" And "The Duke" Play Big Part In Crucial Tilt Won By Bums 6-5; Raschi And Loes Today

By GAYLE TALBOT

Brooklyn, Oct. 6.—(AP)—The official World Series program says on page 25, speaking of Duke Snider, that "if he gets hot, he can break this Series wide open." They can write that again.

The Duke became torried yesterday, along with a pair of his outfielding mates, Carl Furillo and Andy Pafko, and if the Series isn't broken, it's at least severely bent.

Brooklyn Dodgers need only one more victory as they face New York Yankees in Ebbets Field today, and they are moving with great momentum after yesterday's 6-5 11-inning victory.

Billy Loes is Manager Charlie Dressen's nominee to try to wrap it up, and the youngster has been told very firmly that he is to rear back and fire the ball instead of trying to out-think the Yank batters, as he did in a disastrous relief stint during the second game. Billy promised.

The Dodgers' chances of winning their first world championship today probably depends almost entirely upon whether big Vic Raschi is in something less than the brilliant form he was last Thursday, when he gave them a rare hiding One can't quite picture the National Leaguers beating the husky Yank fight-hander when he is at his best.

But the job they did on a couple of second-line Bomber throwers, Ewell Blackwell and Johnny Sain, yesterday was a beaut. Snider won it with his three timely blasts—home run, double, single — and Furillo and Pafko saved it for game Carl Erskine with two as magnificent catches as will be seen in any World Series.

That was all Casey Stengel could talk about—the two catches, that is—as he sat in the deathly quiet of the Yankee dressing room. Well, he did have a few well-chosen words to say about the call that Umpire Art Passarella made on Sain's grounder to start the 10th inning, but mostly he talked about Pafko and Furillo going up in the stands and practically mingling with the crowd in right field to rob his team of two home runs.

"You saw it," said the Yankee manager. "There's nothing I need to tell you. That fellow (Erskine) doesn't get that kind of fielding behind him, we win it. Never saw two better catches anywhere. That fellow got better as he went along, but he didn't get that kind of fielding, we beat him."

Which was absolutely true. Erskine didn't permit another Yank hit after old Jawn Mize unloaded his three-run homer to put the Bombers in front 5-4 in the fifth. In fact he retired the last 19 Yank batters in succession, but he could have been badly bruised with anything less than the magnificent support he received.

Some thought that Pafko made the greater catch when he leaped to make a one-handed stab of Gene Woodling's long belt in the second inning. Others thought Furillo's robbery of Mize for the second out in the 11th won the prize. Stengel said they both were lucky that a couple of Yankee fans didn't rise up and try to beat them to the ball.

"I saw an awful lot of hands," Pafko said, "but I got there first. Some woman gave me hell for bumping her. I apologized and explained that it my business to catch the ball."

To a man, the Dodgers conceded that they were dying while Mizes' 11th inning blast sailed out there. They thought it was going in, sure. They couldn't get enough of telling Furillo what a great man they thought he was. One gathered that they underwent quite an emotional experience between the time Mize connected and Furillo put out th fire.

It was a brawling game in which so many things happened, first and last, that it was difficult to get a very clear picture of it in retrospect. First there was Snider bringing the great crowd of 70,536 to its feet, and then Mize, only a few minutes later, rendering them virtually delirious with his mighty three-run slam into the chairs. Again there was Snider tying it up 5-5 with a line single in the seventh and finally the Duke winning it with his double in the 11th.

It would be easy to overlook Erskine's remarkable performance. The box score say the Yankees made five hits, but you should have seen them. The first one, by Mickey Mantle to lead off the fourth, was a drag bunt. The next three, which put the Yanks back in business in the fifth, were mangy singles which dribbled through the Brooklyn infield. The only one worthy of the name was Mize's homer. It alone was well and truly swatted.

Sain's hopper past the mound to lead off the 10th was a difficult ball to handle, and Jackie Robinson had to be an exceptional second baseman to make a play on it at all. Gil Hodges also had to be a fine first baseman to stretch out and take Jackie's Off-balance throw. Without much doubt, Sain was across the bag when the ball arrived. Passarella apparently was "blacked out" on the play. When, after some hesitation, he called Sain out, his ears were badly singed by Coach Bill Dickey and other interested Yankees.

The American Leaguers were arguing loud and long last night that the play was a turning point. They eventually convinced themselves that, but for the bad call, they would have scored in the inning and won the contest. But it was a little difficult to go along with them, because the next three Yankee batters—counting Mickey Mantle, who opened the 11th — were loud outs. One will never know.

Dodgers' Dressing Room

New York, Oct. 6. — (AP) — "I had the 5 s going for me yesterday and I knew I couldn't lose."

Thus Carl Erskine, Brooklyn's gritty 25-year-old righthander, described a strange set of circumstances which surrounded his dramatic 6-5, 11-inning victory over New York Yankees yesterday in the fifth game of the World Series.

"It's the craziest thing I ever heard of," the slender, good-looking pitcher added.

"Early this morning I got a telegram from a friend in Texas—a fellow who used to know me in the Texas League."

The wire said: "Best of luck to you, Carl, on your fifth wedding anniversary, this fifth day of October in the fifth game of the World Series."

"I felt then that this might be my lucky day.

"But when the Yankees scored five runs in the fifth inning, I had a sickening feeling. I felt this might be the end."

But Manager Charley Dressen let the righthander stay in the game, despite Johnny Mize's big home run, and, Erskine came through with some magnificent pitching.

I never had any intention of taking him out," said Dressen. "Not once, not even when I went to the mound in the fifth inning and talked to him."

At the time two runs were in, two men were on base and the sky looked dark for the Dodgers and Mr. Erskine.

Dressen added:

"I just told Carl to stick in there and win one for his fifth wedding anniversary."

Dressen re-emphasized his confidence in his pitcher when he let him bat first in the seventh, although the Dodgers were a run behind, and go to the plate again in the eighth and 11th with the score tied.

"I told Carl we could get a run off Johnny Sain. I knew we could hit him. So I wanted to stick with Erskine," Dressen added.

Erskine, victim of a freak accident which hurt his performance in the second game of the series lost to the Yankees, said Dressen's vote of confidence gave him a "tremendous lift."

Rightfielder Carl Furillo, who made a leaping catch of Johnny Mize's 11th-inning blow, which looked for a time like the first baseman's fourth home run of the series, said he just "jumped and prayed."

"I didn't know anything," Furillo said. "I saw the ball sailing. I leaped and said under my breath: 'get in there you son-of-a-gun. And what a beautiful sound when I heard the plop in the glove.'"

Dressen named Billy Loes to go in the sixth game at Ebbets Field today. He still has Joe Black to come back on the seventh game or to relieve today, if necessary.

Players' Pool Amounts To High Of $500,003.13

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Players in the 1952 World Series will share in a pool amounting to $500,003.13.

Each member of the winning team will get $6,360. Each member of the losing team will get $4,240. The Yankees and Dodgers each declared 33 equal shares.

Senators Trip Hawks 4-2 In Bruising Tilt

Ottawa, Ont., Oct. 6.—(CP)—Paced by Dusty Blair, Ottawa Senators of the Quebec Senior Hockey League turned back Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League 4-2 Saturday night in a bruising exhibition game.

The Senators scored their goals in the final period to come from behind after the Hawks took a two-goal lead in the initial stanza and protected it throughout the second.

Nuccio Wins $84,999 For Owner Aga Khan

Paris, Oct. 6— (AP) —The Aga Khan's Nuccio yesterday won the Prix de L'arc de Triumphe—Europe's richest horse race.

La Mirambule, the favorite, was second and Marcel Boussac's Dynamiter finished third.

The race was worth $84,999 to the Aga Khan.

Laffango Wins Stake At Belmont Park

New York, Oct. 6— (AP) —The Trio Stable's Laffango won the $34,650 Champagne Stakes Saturday at Belmont Park, defeating 12 rival two-year-olds in the one-mile race being run for the 82nd time.

The Sacon Stable's Invigorator was second, with the Sunshine Stable's Country Coz third.

World Series Notes

New York, Oct. 6.— (AP) —Outstanding star of the 1952 World Series?

It's a close contest between the Yankees' "Old Pappy," Johnny Mize, and the Dodgers' Duke Snider, who wore the horns of the series in 1949. Final games should tell.

Mize, 39-year-old National League refugee who is beginning to pine for calm summers in Florida, has poled three prodigious home runs in successive games to tie a record and is hitting a lusty .444 in nine plate appearances.

Snider has hit two home runs, personally won two ball games for Brooklyn and been a Dodger sparkplug all the way. His homer won the first game, 4-2, and his double in the 11th won yesterday's' game, 6-5, after his homer had given Brooklyn a lead, later lost.

"This has given me the greatest thrill of my life," says Duke, a bitter disappointment in Brooklyn's losing series with the Yankees three years ago when his series batting average was .143. This time it is .318.

This could easily be the home-run-hittingest World Series of them all. Ten out-of-the-park blows already have been struck. The record for a six-game series is 11, hit by the Yankees and Giants in 1936.

Mize himself might have erased a number of Babe Ruth's homer marks if he'd been able to play the full route. He has already hit three in three games, one of these games as a pinch-hitter.

The series record for individual home runs in a six-game set is three, set by Ruth in 1923 against the Giants and already tied by Mize. For seven games, the mark is four, set by Ruth in 1926 against the Cardinal.

Numerologists must have a field day at the expense of Carl Erskine, who won yesterday's game for Brooklyn on his fifth wedding anniversary on Oct. 5th in the fifth game of the series, giving up five hits. Carrying it further, Carl, whose two boys are aged 2 and 3 for a total of five years, gave up five runs to the Yankees in the fifth inning before finally prevailing 6-5.

Sherbrooke High Whips Stanstead College Juniors 17-5 In Grid Contest; Plays B. C. S. Wednesday

Sherbrooke High School juniors made their debut at the Parade Grounds Saturday afternoon before a fairly-large crowd and came up with a 17-5 victory over Stanstead College.

The local juniors play their second game of the young season Wednesday afternoon at Bishop's College School, beginning at 4:30 o'clock.

The Saturday contest started off as if Horace Rothfels' locals were to make it a one-sided affair.

The maroon and white squad hit pay dirt three times in the first half Sackstein went through the line for a touchdown, converted by Lyons.

Redway and Lyons accounted for the other two majors. The touch by Lyons came on a run of fifty yards. In the three scores by Sherbrooke, Begbie, King and Steinman paved the way with beautiful interference running.

Stanstead College came to life in the final quarter. The Boundary squad bulled their way up the field and Redden sent Fortin over for the only score by the visitors.

Their convert attempt was blocked by King.

Stanstead kept pressing in the final quarter but Sherbrooke put up a strong defence which kept the visitors from further points.

Sherbrooke showed a speedy backfield and strong line in their initial win of the season and promised local sports fans by their display that they would be a difficult team to beat this year.

Players:

Stanstead College — Boadway, Schwartz, Cook, Mitchell, Darac, Thomson, Goodsell, Redden, Philip, Badger, Fortin, Amaron, Lumon, Smith, Heath, Gerry Kulnert, Buckley, Roberts, MacGregor, Clark, Doiz and Setlakwe.

Sherbrooke High School — Sackstein, Redway, Chute, Lyons, King, Peak, Knapp, Elkas, Patton, Steinman, Allat, Hooper, Begbie, Hill, Banks, and Bennett and Anderson.

Referees— Reg. Jackson and Charlie Kydd.

Duke Snider Says Law Of Averages Explains His Fine Showing; Makes Up For His .143 Average In 1949

New York, Oct. 6.— (AP) —"It's the law of averages catching up. I sure hope it catches up some Monday."

Jubilant Duke Snider, hitting hero of Brooklyn Dodgers 6-5, 11-inning World Series win over New York Yankees yesterday, made the remark and then excused himself to pose for photographers who were asking "for one more."

"Look, fellow," said the Duke, whose double and third hit of the game brought in Billy Cox with the winning run in the 11th, "why don't you get some of the other fellows—Pafko, Furillo, Cox—instead of me? Everyone played a great game. This was a team job."

When the photographers finally released him, the handsome centrefielder admitted that his game-winning hit "was my greatest thrill in baseball. That homer in the first game proved to be the winning run but I knew that this was the winning run.

"But when Mize hit that belt in their half, I knew Carl (Furillo) just had to get it or it was in the stands. It was a great catch.

"Boy, but we're ready for those Yanks now. This was a big one.

"You feeling loose, now, Duke?" he was asked.

"Yeah," he said with a big grin, "loose as can be. You're always that why when you have a few good hits under your belt.

"When I saw (Johnny) Sain going in there for Blackwell I sure felt good even though I got my homer off Blacky. I always could hit Sain pretty good."

Against Sain, the 26-year-old Californian rapped a single, was hit by a pitch, and slashed his all-important two-bagger. His three hits in five at bats gave him a series average of .313 on seven hits in 22 trips. His four runs batted in gave him a total of six for the series.

In the 1949 series against the Yanks, the Duke struck out so often that the American League champs began calling him "windmill." He was one of the series goats on his puny .143 average compiled on three hits in 21 trips.

"Yeah, I'm getting even now. Let those law of averages catch up some more and I won't complain."

Peterborough Timbermen Win First Game Of Canadian Lacrosse Series With 9-1 Win Over Vancouver Squad

Toronto, Oct. 6—(CP)—A year ago Peterborough Timbermen needed seven games to win the Canadian Senior Lacrosse Championship and the Mann Cup.

On the basis of the first game of this year's final, the defending champions seem a good bet to wind up the best-of-seven series in jig time.

Peterborough swamped Vancouver Combines—the same club they edged on the West Coast last year—9-1 in the opening game here yesterday and had an edge in every department.

The Vancouver team arrived fro mthe West only two days previous and were obviously tired by the trip but they'll have to improve greatly to match the smooth-working Eastern Champions.

Peterborough led 2-0 at the end of the first quarter, and held a 5-1 advantage at the conclusion of the second. They whipped in three more goals in the third frame and added another in the fourth.

Six players accounted for the Timbermen's payoff attacks. Harry Wipper and Lou Nickel, both defencemen, and Nip O'Hearn got two goals apiece.

The others for the Easterners were by Roger Smith, Dootch Vitarelli and playing coach Bob Thorpe.

Jim Swanson, good-checking defenceman with a hard shot, fired the only drive that eluded veteran Moon Wootton in the Peterborough net.

Wootton, a chubby performer with nimble feet and a good pair of eyes, was unbeatable on the other few times that Combines players sneaked through the tight wall in front of him.

Jack Green, the Vancouver goalie and one of the West Coast's top netminders, was busy throughout most of the contest. Time and again the fleeter Eastern club swept in and gave him little chance on the nine goals.

The series will resume here tomorrow night with the third game scheduled for Friday night. All games will be played in Toronto's Maple Leaf Gardens, where 4,222 fans sat in on the opener.

Kid Gavilan Outsmarts Billy Graham The Whole Way To Retain His World Welterweight Boxing Championship

Havana, Cuba, Oct. 6—(AP)—Cuba's Kid Gavilan outboxed and out-smarted New York's Billy Graham in their second battle for the welterweight boxing championship of the world.

Gavilan last night took at least 11 of the 15 rounds, and left no doubt about the decision this time. There are still many who say Graham should have had the decision in their New York title bout Aug. 29, 1951.

But Gavilan this time was the master of the situation nearly all the way. But the Cuban was so cautious not to let his welterweight crown get away from him that it was not much of a spectacle, as a fight.

Graham himself commented that Gavilan threw him off by not leading.

As for his own showing, Graham said.

"I wasn't nearly as sharp, nor as fast, as I expected to be." This was a masterpiece of understatement. At times Graham looked like a novice as he swung wildly, on a few occasions coming no closer than two feet to Gavilan.

The 15-round battle, fought in open air, came after their Saturday night encounter had been washed out by a tropical downpour.

Sports department officials estimated the crowd at 35,000 to 40,000 but a check-up with stadium officials showed official attendance of only 15,824. The one-day delay and threatening weather Sunday was blamed.

Yanks' Dressing Room

New York, Oct. 6. — (AP) — New York Yankees, their backs pressed against the wall in the 1952 World Series, gave grudging, praise to the Dodgers yesterday and let out a might roar of protest against two first-base decisions.

Johnny Mize, who hit his third home run on the Series to put the Yankees ahead 5-4, found no joy in his feat.

"Johnny Sain was safe at first in the 10th," he grunted. "Why, Gil Hodges was lying off the bag. But they called him out. If the call had been right and Sain was on, it could have been a different ball game.

"And in the eighth! I shifted across the bag with my foot as I caught the ball. Gill Hodges was out. But they called an error on Phil Rizzuto. Claimed I had a reach back for the bag. I didn't, because I didn't need to."

"They" was Art Passarella, American League umpire at first base.

Actually neither call vitally affected the course of the game, unless it can be presumed that, if Sain were safe in the 10th, the Yankees might have gone on to do something. There were two out in the eighth when Hodges was ruled safe at first, and Carl Erskine, Dodger pitcher, grounded out.

Mize's amazing hitting in this series—three home runs and a double so far—prompted the inquiry whether he would change his mind about retiring and go on playing, at least until he has made his 2,000th hit in regular season play. He now has 1,985.

"Dunno," he said. "Depends on what the front office thinks. Depends on what Casey thinks."

As for Manager Casey Stengel, he allowed how "that fella pitched better ball the last half of the game"—mearning Carl Eskine, who retired 19 Yankees in order after Mize's fifth-inning homer.

"Their outfielders made some good catches," said Casey. "They had to do it."

"Good catches," seemed a mild way to describe the mighty leaps by Andy Pafko on Gene Woodling's drive in the second and by Carl Furillo on Mize's belt in the 11th. Both balls looked like homers until last second.

Told that Billy Loes would pitch today for the Dodgers instead of the great Joe Black, whom the Yankees expected, Stengel said he would hold off making up his mind whether to send Irv Noren back into the Yankee outfield.

Canadiens Jrs. Down J.A.H.A. All-Stars

Montreal, Oct. 6—(CP)—Montreal Canadiens of the Junior Amateur Hockey Association defeated Junior All Stars 7-3 last night in the third annual all-star exhibition game.

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, brother of Maurice Richard of the National Hockey League Canadiens, and Claude Boileau paced the winners with two goals apiece. Other Canadian marksmen were Guy Rousseau, Denis Boucher and Butch McKay. All Star goalgetters were Roger St. Cyr with two and Camille Henri.

"The Rocket" Tallies To Give Second N. H. L. All-Star Squad 1-1 Tie With Chosen Team; 10,680 Watch Dull Tilt

Detroit, Oct. 6.—(AP)—Maurice (Rocket) Richard fired a final-period shot into an open net to give the second all-star team a 1-1 tie with the first team in the sixth National Hockey League All-Star game last night before 10,680 fans.

Both goals came in easy fashion as the world's best hockey players engaged in a listless contest that drew few cheers.

Left wing Marty Pavalich of the Detroit Red Wings pushed the first team ahead of 9:57 of the second period. Goalie Jim Henry of Boston was sprawled helpless on the ice after stopping successive shots by Dave Creighton and Ed Sandford, both of Boston.

Richard, Montreal scoring ace, got his goal just as easily at 1:36 of the final period. Hy Buller of New York fired a close-in shot and goalie Terry Sawchuk moved out to make a successful stop. But he was slow in getting back in front of the net and Richard scored.

Neither club could piece together an offence.

Henry was in the net for the first 30 minutes and Gerry McNeil of Montreal the last 30 minutes. Sawchuk had to go all the way because of an injury to his replacement. Chuck Rayner of New York, Sawchuk had 19 savers to McNeil's 10.

Bill Mosienko of Chicago and Creighton got the assists for Pavelich's goal. Buller assisted Richard.

First all-star team: goal—Sawchuk (Detroit), Rayner (New York); defence, Harvey (Montreal), Kelly (Detroit), Mortson (Chicago), Reise (New York), Quackenbush (Boston), Goldham (Detroit); forwards, Ach (Montreal), Howe (Detroit), Lindsay (Detroit), Creighton (Boston), Sandford (Boston), Pavelich (Detroit), Mosienko (Chicago), Leswick (Detroit), Sinclair (Detroit).

Second all-star team: goal, Henry (Boston), McNeil (Montreal); defence, Thomson (Toronto), Bouchard (Montreal), Buller (New York), Johnson (Montreal), Flaman (Toronto); forwards, Schmidt (Boston), Richard (Montreal), Smith (Toronto), Watson (Toronto), Geoffrion (Montreal), Mosdell (Montreal), Sloan (Toronto), Meger (Montreal), Reay (Montreal).

Picture Shows Ump Art Passarella Made Wrong Call On Sain In 10th Lot Of Noise For Nothing, Says Frick

New York, Oct. 6.—(AP)—A picture sequence of yesterday's World Series game appeared today to show that American League Umpire Passarella made a wrong call and Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick admitted it.

Passarella called New York Yankee pitcher Johnny Sain out at first base in the tenth inning. The pictures, taken by Associated Press photographer, John Lindsay, showed Sain's foot on the bag and the ball not yet in first baseman Gil Hodges' mitt.

"According to the picture, it looks like Passarella called a wrong play," Frick said.

"If he did, he's only human. I assure you it's not the first wrong call ever made by an umpire, if it was that. What's all the shouting about? Players make mistakes, too. So do officials. So does the Commissioner. A player makes an error, another forgets to cover a base ,a pitcher makes a wild pitch, a catcher lets a ball get away from him. Very little is said.

"But once an umpire makes a wrong call, he is crucified. Why? An umpire is only human. He can make mistakes, too. All I'm interested in is whether he was in the right position to make the call. The picture shows he was."

Passarella said he didn't blame the editor for showing the picture.

"It's a good one," he said. "But pictures don't always tell the true story. I was on top of the play and called it as I saw it. In my judgment, the runner, whoever he was, was out. That's the way I called it, and I'll stick to it."

Sain was leading off the 10th when the disputed play occurred. If he had been called safe, it would have put a runner on first with none out.

In that case, it would seem likely that the Yanks would have had had the next batter, Gil McDougald, try to sacrifice Sain to second, where a well-placed single could score him.

But, Sain was called out—and McDougald and the next hitter, Phil Rizzuto, were retired.

Brooklyn won the game, 6-5, in 11 innings to take a 3-2 lead in the series.

Yankee officials, seeing the picture for the first time, reacted strongly. They said it only bore out what they thought they had seen on the field—that Cain was safe. The Yankees, led by Sain and first base coach Bill Dickey, had staged a bitter protest over the decision.

"At least it shows that Sain touched the bag."

Chuck Dressen, Brooklyn manager, pointed to the ball, shown suspended in the air several feet from Hodges' glove, and remarked:

"Sure that's the ball?" he asked. "Sure somebody didn't paint it into the picture? How do you know Hodges doesn't have the ball in his glove?"

BISONS EDGE SAINTS 5-4; JR. ROYALS HERE TOMORROW

Twenty Penalties Handed Out By Ump In Free-Hitting Fixture As Locals Hold Their Own In Game

In a penalty-studded tilt yesterday afternoon at the Arena the Buffalo Bisons of the American Hockey League edged Sherbrooke Saints 5-4 in hard checking tiff. A grand total of twenty penalties, including two majors, were handed out by referee Sibby Mundey in the exhibition affair.

Seven penalties were doled out in the opening frame including majors to Ross Lowe, the Bisons' hard-hitting defenseman, and John Lumley for staging a little fracas of their own. The middle session saw ten players move into the sin-bin to cool off their tempers a little. Only three were handed out to complete the picture.

The tilt was jammed with action as both teams laid the hickory on in grand fashion. The American Leaguers opened activities but they soon found out that Coach Dugre's squad could dole it right back in good fashion.

ROYALS JUNIORS HERE TOMORROW

Tomorrow evening at 8:30 Jacques Belanger and his Royal Juniors will move into the scene when they tackle the Saints in another exhibition tilt, which maybe the final one before the season officially opens.

Vern Kaiser was the top marksmen for the Bisons when he registered the hat-trick. Young and Calum McKay accounted for the others. For the Saints Tod Campeau, Marcel Clements, Ronnie Matthews and John Lumley were the triggermen.

Kaiser opened the scoring just after the opening whistle when he drove a nice corner shot which Bessette failed to get and it nestled in meshings. Pete Wywrot gave Pidsony, the former Millionaire backstop, plenty of action in keeping him off the score sheet. McKay was the next to drift in but this time the local net minder made a nice save to ease things.

The remainder of the frame was a busy one for the penalty timekeeper as seven players moved in Matthews drew a boarding penalty and during his absence the Bisons moved ahead as Young tallied on a passing play.

When he returned Lowe and Lumley drew their majors. Davis and Kaiser broke in on Roberge and Bessette but the locals teamed up to turn them back. Roberge and Davis went off brawling and a minute later Labitt moved in to give the Saints the edge in manpower.

Tod Campeau tallied the nicest goal of the tilt when he hooked the disc away from Kaiser and shifted Pidsony right out of the net to shove it into the empty meshings just before the gong sounded.

The middle frame was a continous parade to the cooler and on two occasions five players were huddled in the cooler. The Saints' outscored the visitors in the frame as Matthews and Clements made the red light flash while McKay got the lone Bison tally. All goals were registered when the teams were shorthanded.

Play was very rough as each squad were dishing it out and referee Mundey was kept busy thumbing the boys off. Even Nick Pidsony got the picture as he tried to tangle with Clements after he had scored. He took a swing at him with his stick but one of his team mates grabbed it in time.

At the start of the final frame the Saints had the man advantage and Locas, Campeau and Pepin were right in but just failed to click. Guy Labrie was given the nod for holding and this proved costly as Kaiser broke the tie and then came right back with the insurance marker to register two goals within twenty-eight seconds.

The Saints kept plugging along and when Labitt went off his mates held on until his return but before they could get organized John Lumley tallied the Saints fourth marker on a deflected shot just before the game ended.

Big Pete Wright and Gilles Dube were not in uniform. Dube still is suffering from his injured ankle while Wright pulled a muscle groin in practice and will be on the sidelines for a few days.

Sherbrooke: Goal, Bessette; defense, Labrie, Matthews; centre, Campeau; wings, Pepin, Locas. Alternates: Lumley, Roberge, Wywrot, Biggs, McDougall, Clements, St. Hilaire, Swick, Scholes.

Referee, Sibby Mundey; linesmen, Jimmy Slater and Jimmy Haggarty, Montreal.

Jack Crimian Gives Red Wings Little World Series With Starry Relief Role Job; Cops Final 6-4

Rochester, N.Y., Oct. 6.—(AP)—With righthander Jack Crimian starring in a relief role for the third successive game, Rochester Red Wings won the Little World Series Saturday by defeating Kansas City Blues 6-4 in the decisive game of their best-of-seven series.

The victory for the International League champions capped a great comeback in the series. At one point they trailed the American Association representatives 3-1 in games.

Crimian took over in the sixth from Jackie Collum after Kansas City had scored four runs to get within two runs of the Red Wings. He put out the first and gave up only two hits the rest of the game. The appearance was Crimian's 66th of the season and his sixth of the series.

The series players' pool, drawn from the first four games, amounted to $46,641. The Red Wings took shares of $1,212 for each player compared with $730 a man for the losers.

Verdun Bulldogs Down St. Aloysius Club 15-6

Montreal, Oct. 6. —(CP)— Verdun Bulldogs defeated St. Aloysius 15-6 Sunday in a Quebec Rugby Football Union game.

Verdun took the lead in the first quarter on a touchdown by George Klein, converted by Eddie McLeod. George Rowland kicked a point for St. Aloysius and then scored an unconverted major in the third quarter to deadlock the count.

Eddie McLeod's field goal and a 71-yard touchdown gallop by Haskell Blauer for Bulldogs gave Verdun the victory.

Sports Of Sorts

By GLEN BROWN

In this column it is K.H.S. the school of the purple and white, led in the sports line by Clark Kemp, who worked with distinction in all sports lines last year at the town on Brome Lake. Clark can spill a tale of woe as lengthy as any coach out this way as he has lost the services of six of his basketball artists in the persons of John Suitor, Alden Mizener, Bob Miller, Dave Sadler, Tom Marsh, and Neil Hamilton, and that, brother, is quite a slice out of the talent pie for any coach.

Knowlton is re-building around Gordie Wright, Dex Jolley, Dale Osborne, John Delamare, and Wayne Farrell. Newcomers to the senior squad are Ted Nurse, Ralph Davidson, Bob Watson, Roger Delamare, and Dave Crandall.

As to positions that these boys will play and the lines that they will function on, not even coach Kemp can give the answers because he is in the difficult process of putting the jig saw puzzle together, but you can bet your last dollar that whichever way they are assembled they will be one of the finest teams in the league for sheer fight and for good sportsmanship.

irst player on the list is Gordie Wright, and this boy should be a delight for any fan to see. Wright is probably faster than any other high school boy from this area. He handles a ball well, plays position finely, does a horse of a job on defense, and can sink them with the best in the league. Dex Jolley will probably team up with his cuz Gordie to give the line a real scoring punch as when Dex gets hot those oversized melons start to drop right through the iron ring. Dale Osborne and Wayne Farrell are a couple of six footers who will fit anywhere on the team as guards, centers or forwards, so that Knowlton should have five men scattered through the squad who can step with any boys in the league. Add the new boys and the coaching touch of Clark and you may have a team that will supply fine opposition to the rest of the league.

On the Intermediate front there are twenty boys doing their best to make the top ten who will play most in the games. Knowlton had the most dismal season of its career in Intermediate basketball last season. Little has been left to form a new nucleus. However Phillip Sykes, Roy Seaman, Dale Gruer, Alex Rogerson, and Ross Hamilton seem to be the boys who will try to get back some of their former standing along with some of the new promising boys out of the try outs.

R.M.C. Swamps McGill 21-2 In Conference

Kingston, Oct. 6.—(CP)—The Royal Military College Cadets, showing both an offensive and defensive edge, defeated McGill Indians at the Ottawa-St. Lawrence Intermediate Intercollegiate Conference 21-2 Saturday.

Fumbles set up both R. M. C. majors in the final 15 minutes as quarter Glen Osler scored from the McGill 22 after the Indians dropped one to set up the play. John Naudie later picked up a loose ball at midfield and romped for another major.

The other Cadet touchdown came in the first quarter when Scott, substituting for Osler at quarter, carried over. A safety touch by Hutchison of McGill in the third was the best the Montrealers could do.

Sherbrooke Country Club Brings Successful Season To Close On Saturday With Dinner And Dance

"We have just completed the most successful season in the history of the Club," stated Tom Chapman, president of the Sherbrooke Country Club, at the closing dinner held Saturday evening.

Mr. Chapman stressed the point that the reason for the wonderful success was due to the outstanding efforts of his executive, the members, ladies and men, and the fine co-operation given by everyone which went a long ways towards making the season a huge success.

President Chapman then called upon Jean Prefontaine, vice-president of the club, for a few remarks for the French members of the club. Mr. Prefontaine outlined the success of the club and on behalf of the board thanked all the members for their fine co-operation and paid particular thanks to President Chapman for his untiring efforts during the term of his office. He also made special mention of Tom Hanson, chairman of the Greens Committee, and the club professional, Harry Fowlis.

Over a hundred members attended the dinner and this more than doubled for the dance which took place following the presentation of the different trophies and prizes. Mr. Chapman called upon Miss Mimi Shea, president of the Ladies' Branch, for a few words. Miss Shea added her thanks to those of President Chapman and paid particular thanks to Mrs. R. Eakins, Mrs. H. Langille, Mrs. Niles, and Mrs. A. Kerridge.

President Chapman called upon D. J. Salls, honorary-president and one of the founders of the club, for a few words. Mr. Salls thanked Mr. Chapman and expressed the regrets of the two other living founders of the club, Dr. W. W. Lynch and W. Van Roden, for being absent.

Mr. Salls outlined a brief history of the club from the founding twenty-five years ago. He further added, "I am sure I am expressing the wishes of the founders when I say that all the effort and time in building this club has more than been repaid when I see such a wonderful gathering at this dinner. It shows that our move in the first place turned out to be what was intended for, a community effort, and you golfers have helped to make it possible with the support you have given your executive during the past year."

Mr. Chapman then called upon Pete LeBlanc, club captain, to make the presentation of the various trophies and prizes to the season winners.

Mr. Leblanc was helped by D. W. Beaudry, F. Kirby, T. Chapman and L. O'Donnell in presenting the various trophies to the winners. Marcel Fortier won the club championship, L. E. O'Donnell copped the "B" crown and Gaston Authier took the honors in class "C." The scotch two-ball foursome title went to J. M. Cantin and J. G. Blanchard while George Beaulieu copped the Turnbull Handicap trophy.

Arnold Baker won the President's prize while D. W. Beaudry copped vice-president Jean Prefontaine's prize. J. A. Turgeon took the first year prize with Donat Gregoire the runner-up. Mrs. R. Eakins and Ross Millar won the mixed two-ball foursome. Eddy Mariasine copped the Pete Leblanc trophy for the most improved junior for the year.

Mrs. Eakins, the ladies' captain, officiated at the presentation of the ladies' trophies and prizes assisted by Miss Shea and Mrs. E. Niles, captain of the Business Girls section. Miss Raymonde Laporte won the Niles Trophy for the most improved player of the year. Miss J. Bedard won the Business Girls title and Mrs. [illegible] won the club championship with Mrs. Niles class "B" handicap and Mrs. B. N. Holtham the class "A" handicap trophy. Mrs. Lacroix was awarded a special prize for turning in the most scores during the season. Mrs. A Blouin and Mrs. R. Labonte were presented special prizes donated by Mr. D. J. Salls.

Duke Of Windsor Has 97 At St. George's

Sandwich, England, Oct. 6.—(Reuters)—The Duke of Windsor put on old clothes Saturday and happily went round the ultra-exclusive Royal St. George's Golf course in 97.

Even with his handicap of 16 giving him a neat 81, he finished way out of the running for the prizes in the club's fall meeting.

But the Duke defeated his opponent, P. O. Davison, 4 and 3.

Before the match, he said he had rejoined the club, but declined to say whether that meant he intended staying in England. He was club captain in 1928 and last played the course 20 years ago.

As he sliced a practice drive he said: "Oh dear, oh dear — I should never win a big prize."

One trophy he won't get is the Prince of Wales Cup for the best 36-hole score. He presented the Cup himself in 1926.

Commissioner Turned Back Without Ticket

New York, Oct. 6—(AP)—Baseball Commisioner Ford Frick forgot his ticket to yesterday's World Series game between the Yankees and Dodgers.

When he strode up to the gate, the ticket taker said:

Hundreds of guys like you have tried to get by me, but not one has succeeded, Move on.'

Frick somehow managed to get in the park because he watched the game from his regular box.

But it never was explained how he got in.

Canada's Davis Cuppers Eliminated In Tourney

Mexico City, Oct. 6.—(CP)—Two members of Canada's Davis Cup team were eliminated Sunday in the second round of the 11th Pan-American Tennis Tournament.

Henri Rochon of Montreal lost to Grant Golden of Chicago 7-5, 6-1.

Top U. S. College Football Teams Run True To Form Although Michigan Has Close Call Over Oregon State

New York, Oct. 6. — (CP) — College football games Saturday produced few reversals of form but the top United States college team, Michigan State, came within three seconds of sinking the experts.

The Spartans from East Lansing, Mich., edged Oregon State 17-14, but Eugene Lekenta's winning field goal barely beat the whistle. Their last-minute finish was in keeping with last year's performances, when they consistently spotted the opposition points before wrapping up their victories.

Texas A and M dropped a 10-7 decision to Kentucky.

In the Big Ten, which Michigan States will join as an operating member next year, the forecasters are awarding the Rose-bowl bid to Wisconsin. Wisconsin's 20-6 triumph over Illinois sent the Badgers' stock soaring.

Notre Dame's 14-3 victory over Texas was a minor surprise. The Longhorns, rated favorites for the Southwestern Conference title, did not suffer by their loss to Notre Dame, since it was a non-league affair.

Texas Christian, defending Southwest Conference Champions, turned the tables when they walloped Arkansas 13-7 in their first league outing.

Maryland routed Clemson in a "non-conference South Conference" game.

Southern California, the team that has hopes of winning the Pacific Coast Conference title from California Golden Bears, defeated Army 22-0. California slaughtered Minnesota 49-13.

Georgia Tech continued the shine as the class of the Southland by beating Southern Methodist in a night game. But it probably will get a stiff argument from Duke which stopped strong Tennessee 7-0.

Are Saskatchewan And Montreal Still In Football League? Losing Streaks Extended; Varsity Edges McGill 8-3

One of these days a wag is likely to ask if Saskatchewan Roughriders and Montreal Alouettes are still in the Canadian Football Big Leagues. It would be pertinent, but unkind, to the once-powerful Roughies and Als who, between them, have had their flings at the Grey Cup final pot of gold in recent years.

They've ben acting like cellar-dwellers almost since the Western Interprovincial and Big Four Football Unions started operating this season and they'll finish out the schedules strictly on their nuisance value. Only a miracle would pull them out of the basement.

The Roughies lost 20-6 to the Eskimos at Edmonton Saturday and the Als were crushed 26-0 by the mighty Hamilton Tiger-Cats at Montreal Sunday in games that had the fans almost yawning. It was Saskatchewan's seventh straight setback and Als' sixth.

All the thrills, spills and goofy goings-on were packed into the two other big-league games at Calgary and Ottawa where 29,000 football-happy fans—17,000 at Ottawa and 12,000 at the Western Stadium—watched the choice tilts of the crowded week-end. They were lulus.

The Rough Riders spilled Argonauts 25-21 in a spine-tingling come-from-behind battle that accomplished two things. It marked Argonauts' first loss of the season and was the first victory in the last 10 Toronto-Ottawa clashes for the 1951 Dominion Champions.

The Toronto loss, coupled with Tiger-Cats triumph, left the two clubs knotted at the top of the standing with nine points each. The two-points gained by the Rough Riders shot them within striking distance of a play-off berth with six.

Indian Jack Jacobs bombed from the air and Tom Casey roamed like a ghost as the league-leading Winnipeg Blue Bombers chilled Calgary fans with a mighty 41-30 victory over the third-place Stampeders. Indian Jack fired six touchdown passes—a Western Conference record in a single game—three of them snuggled in the arms of Casey.

The week-end Western Canada doubleheader concludes tonight with Winnipeg meeting the Eskimos at Edmonton and the Roughriders at Calgary. Top billing goes to the Bomber-Eskimo battle and it is likely to be a pitching duel between Jacobs and Flinging Frankie Filchock.

A win for the Bombers would practically assure them of first place and an interested spectator's seat when the semi-finals are played between the second and third clubs. And that could be settled tonight—a loss and Glen Dobbs' Riders can relax and complete the season with nothing to lose except their reputations.

Ottawa's victory over Argonauts wasn't too surprising but the way they picked themselves off the Lansdowne Park field sent the fans home talking to themselves. The spectators were looking for the nearest exits when Argonauts rolled up a 16-0 lead in the first 16 minutes and you could almost hear a cleat drop in the stadium.

The fans found their lungs when Riders barged over for 12 points in the second quarter and tacked on two converted touchdowns and a single to take a third-quarter 25-16 lead. Argonauts fought back, went over for another touchdown and were only one yard from pay dirt with a minute of the game left when Doug Smylie fumbled and Riders pounced on the loose ball.

That was it. The Argonaut hex was broken at a time when the Rough Riders were desperate for points.

The goat role of the game almost went to Rider Coach Clem Crowe was dashed onto the field to protest a ruling when his club was hot. It cost him $100 and his club 15 valuable yards for his rock.

The senior Intercollegiate schedule officially started at Toronto and Kingston. The defending champion Varsity Blues defeated McGill Redmen 8-3 in a thriller at Varsity Stadium and Western Mustangs romped over Queen's Golden Gaels 33-1 at Kingston.

In the Ontario Rugby Football Union, the leading Sarnia Imperials whipped the winless Windsor Royals 33-1 and Toronto Balmy Beach edged out Brantford Redskins 17-12.

Tulyar Rated As Outstanding Horse Of Britain Since 1935; Shows Too Much Speed For Rest Of Runners

London, Oct. 6—(AP)—Tulyar, a real champion. That headline from a British Racing Journal crystallizes the general opinion that the Aga Khan's Tulyar, a lazy, compactly-built colt, is just about the best horse to run in these Islands since the war.

Some enthusiastic writers even compare him with undefeated Bahram, the great horse which won the 1935 Epsom Derby for the same owner.

Tulyar's record encourages such heresies. The son of Tehran ran seven races this year and won them all, including the Derby, the King George VI and Queen Elizabeth Stakes at Ascot and the St. Leger at Doncaster. He won at seven furlongs in the mud and he won at 1¾ miles when the going was good. He won by a neck or he won by four lengths, but he was always too fast for the others.

St. Leger Triumph

But the race which set the seal on his fame, the race which British fans will remember for years to come, was the one he ran at Doncaster in the St. Leger, last of the season's classics. Boxed in behind the leaders in the homestretch, Tulyar seemed to have little hope of catching the 66-1 shot Kingsfold.

Then veteran jockey Charlie Smirke switched him to the outside. Tulyar quickened his pace and swept past Kingsfold to win by an unbelievable three lengths.

As the familiar chocolate and green colors of the Aga Khan passed the post, Smirke stood up on his stirrups, swung his right arm in a wide arc and let it fall gently on Tulyar's neck — an exultant, spontaneous gesture that will remain a vivid mental image for thousands of racegoers.

Victory brought Tulyar's earnings to £76,417, nearly £20,000 more than any other horse has ever won in Britain. It served as a tonic to British racing. Native sons felt that after some bitter post-war experiences, the British thoroughbred had come back into his own.

Dims French Horses

Tulyar has French and Irish blood, but all his racing has been done in England and British fans regard him as a homebrew. As the season drew to a close, it seemed certain that for once the French challenge had been repelled — an unexpected turn of events after Thunderhead II's victory for France in the first of the year's classics last May.

Now the future looks brighter. Tulyar will be on hand again next year to take on France's toughest stayers, and the British-bred Kingsfold will also be available.

Tulyar gets his unusual name from Tulear, a port town in Madagascar where the Aga Khan has business interests. He is trained by Marcus Marsh, who also looked after Indian Hemp for owner Max Bell of Calgary. Indian Hemp ran unplaced in the English Derby and was shipped to the United States in September.

DANGER

when you fell trees near electric wires!

Trees don't always fall the way you intend them to . . .

This is an especially dangerous factor if the tree you're cutting is near electric wires strung between transmission towers or distribution poles . . .

Electric wires broken and brought down by crashing trees can bring shock, severe burns or even death if accidentally touched while still in a "live" condition.

At the very best, a tree falling across electric wires interrupts important electric service, causing hardship, damage and inconvenience . . .

If you must fell trees that border on power or transmission line routes why not get expert advice? Your nearest Shawinigan Office will be glad to suggest the safest method of cutting down your trees, thus helping you avoid unnecessary danger.

Above all else, if accidents should happen, never touch a fallen wire—its charge of electricity can bring fatal results.

Magog Residents Observe Fire Prevention Week

If Possible, Specify Fire's Size And Give Exact Location; Public Urged To Report False Alarm Senders

While the main purpose of Fire Prevention Week is to teach people how to prevent fires, here's what to do in case a blaze breaks out.

(1) First of all, the Fire Department number in Sherbrooke is 3-2511. Keep this telephone number on a card pinned near your telephone. In Magog Phone 3333.

(2) Try to give the switchboard operator of the Fire Department the correct address of the fire and, if possible, the extent of the fire. The Department will then know how much equipment to send down. Sending too much apparatus might prove costly in that the extra men and equipment might be needed minutes' later at another fire.

(3) Make it your business to know where the nearest fire alarm box is located. There are about 230 fire alarm boxes in Sherbrooke, all strategically located with simple directions on them as how they are to be worked.

(4) Always remain at the fire alarm box to direct the firemen to the scene of the blaze when they arrive. The fire might be in an alley which is hidden from view and difficult to locate, until it is too late.

(5) If you phone the Bell Telephone operator, asking her to call the Fire Department, tell her the exact location of the fires and, if possible, the size of the fire.

(6) It is dangerous to turn in false alarms. While enroute to answer an alarm which proves false, men and equipment are taken away from a later alarm where there is a genuine need for the brigade; also firemen, who are required to reach the scene of the alarm with the utmost speed, are exposed to accidents which may injure men and damage valuable equipment each time they are out on a call. While the apparatus and men are answering a false alarm, a fire might break out in which human lives are endangered.

(7) It is every citizen's duty to expose persons who send in false alarms to the Director of the Fire Department.

How To Prevent Fires In Home

More than half the fires and most deaths from fire occur in homes. Practically all can be prevented by heeding these simple rules:

Smoking—Do not smoke in bed, in the attic, closets and garage.

Matches—Keep out of children's hands. Place used matches in incombustible trays. Keep "strike anywhere" matches in closed metal boxes. "Safety" matches are safest.

Extinguish smokes and matches before discarding. Be sure they are cold.

Trash and rubbish—Keep cleaned out, especially in basement, attic and closets. Burn safely and never on windy days. Use rubbish burneds in built-up areas. Watch fires till out.

Flues and heating plants—Have them cleaned, examined and repaired if necessary on a year. Protect exposed woodwork with incombustible shields or mats. Do not pass stovepipes through ceilings, roofs or wooden partitions. Never overheat.

Flue stops—Use metal kind. Do not paper over flue holes or stuff with rags.

Gasoline, benzine, naptha—Do not store or use on home premises. It's dynamite.

Kerosene—Do not use to start a fire. Flash-backs and explosions kill and maim scores yearly.

Electricity—Have an expert do all electrical work and repairs. Do not use lamp cord for circuit extensions or hang it over nails.

Electric fuses — Use 15 ampere fuses for ordinary circuits. Never plug blown fuses with pennies nor replace with oversize fuses.

Gas tubing—Replace with rigid pipe.

Gas plates—Protect underneath with asbestos covered with metal.

Open lights, lamps—Do not have near curtains or combustible material.

Decorations—Do not place flimsy or combustible decorations over electric light globes or near open lights or heaters.

Oil mops, oily rags—Keep mop in closed metal can. Destroy rags. They ignite spontaneously.

Remember—A careful person seldom has a fire; a clean, orderly place seldom burns.

MAGOG CHIEF TELESPHORE LAVOIE, police and fire chief of Magog. This city, like others from coast to coast, is observing fire prevention week and inspection of homes and industrial plants, plus special fire prevention programs for the schools, are being carried out.

Magog Fire Department Is Well Equipped

Magog, Oct. 6.—Magog can boast of its splendid Fire Department. This municipal department of eleven members is headed by Telesphore Lavoie, Chief of Police and Fire. Also on call are eighteen civilian firemen.

In order that this department be in top class training all the time, special fire drills are held regularly.

The city has two firereels. One is a six ton G-M-C truck with an auxiliary pump with a capacity of 600 gallons a minute and another booster on the same vehicle. It also has 2,000 feet of 2½ inch hose, 1,000 feet of 1½ inch hose and other necessary fire fighting equipment such as raincoats, boots, axes, jumping net, masks, tarpaulins etc.

The second truck, a 2½ ton Fargo is similar to the larger one but with only a booster pump with a capacity of 250 gal. This is also equipped.

The city's water sprinkler is also an asset to the department. It carries 2,000 gallons of water and can supply four 1½ inch hoses at once. This vehicle has already been used a number of times to extinguish fires outside this city's limits.

This week, Oct. 5th to 11th, members of Magog's Fire Department are holding an all out campaign to lessen the chances of fire in this community.

Fire Prevention Week Observed In Magog

Magog, Oct. 6.—This city is observing Fire Prevention Week in a big way. This special week is being marked in a various number of ways.

Telesphore Lavoie, Chief of Police and Fire, told a Record reporter that this department would campaign again this year in their usual manner. A fire engine will tour the city blowing its siren and ringing its fire bell. On the vehicle a large sign is placed reminding the citizens of the ever present danger of fire.

Stove pipe cleaning is also on this week's agenda. A cleaning team will clean all the stove pipes in the community. Also, an inspector will visit all the business firms in search of possible fire traps and hazards.

Every citizen is asked to co-operate with the authorities during this special week.

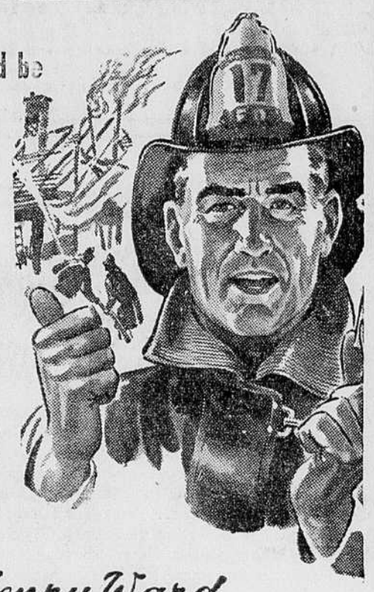

The children from the various schools will practice fire drills, and answer questionaires. These question pamplets will also be passed from door to door.

Don't delay another day, insure against fire losses. Consult us for the policy that best fits your individual requirements.

Director Donahue Issues Fire Prevention Week Hints

Fire Prevention Is Less Costly, Less Hazardous and Much Easier On Both Public And Department

"Fire prevention is no more than fighting fires before they break out," Director W. P. Donahue, of the city fire department, said today as Fire Prevention Week moved into its second day.

"Fire prevention," the Director continued, "is less costly, less hazardous and much easier on all concerned.

"An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure is an old statement but it certainly applies today, especially in the matter of fighting fires."

(1) When storing away clothes, make sure the pockets of said clothes are cleared of matches. Do not smoke in clothes closets. Do not smoke in bed. Don't discard burning matches or cigarets. Put them out first!

(2) Empty your vacuum cleaner immediately after using. Several fires in Sherbrooke during the past year have originated in vacuums, either from spontaneous combustion or from a smouldering cigaret butt which was swept up.

(3) Never leave youngsters alone in the house. Keep them away from matches Be a good housekeeper. A clean house seldom burns. Don't clutter closets, basements and attics with old magazines, papers, old furniture, rags or discarded clothing. All are good tinder for a spark.

Don't allow dust and dirt to accumulate around fuse boxes. Clean furnaces once a year. Make needed repairs promptly. Install heaters with plenty of space around them so walls, ceilings and floors cannot get dangerously hot. Recover combustible wood shingle roofs with fire-resistant roofing, such as asphalt shingles.

(4) If you must use inflammable cleaning materials, remember that friction alone may ignite them.

(5) Before going to bed or leaving the house, make sure your electric iron is disconnected and that the gas is off.

(6) Many people do not know how to clean stovepipes, lined with creosite (smoke condensation). Take down the pipes, place them in the yard, stuff them with old newspapers and burn out the creosite.

(7) Be careful when using gas. Propane gas is lighter than air and will creep up from the floor and explode like dynamite when ignited. A loose electric connection or even snapping on an electric switch may produce the explosion, or an electric heater.

(8) Never tamper with electrical connections and faulty wiring unless you are a licensed electrician. Anyone doing electrical work without a license is liable to court action.

(9) Oil burners and kitchen range difficulties will soon take the place of stovepipe and chimney fires. Make sure your burners and kitchen range are in good working order. Stoves using oil burners should be free from leaks at all times. An examination at leaks once a year is prescribed to prevent oil drips and other leaks.

(10) Don't overload electric circuits. Replace worn cords and don't run cords under rugs. Don't try to operate defective appliances. If a fuse blows don't replace it with a larger one.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Owing to the great losses to life and property caused by fire each year in our Country, the Federal Government has issued a Proclamation designating the week commencing on the fifth and ending on the 11th, of October instant (1952) as FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, requesting all Canadians to take the utmost precautions, during that time, to prevent fires, viz: By carefully inspecting all buildings for fire hazards, by fire drills in public buildings, by organizing lectures and talks either on the radio or in public halls, etc., in order to impress upon the citizens the national importance of protecting life and property from loss by fire.

I am pleased to support this Proclamation and to request the citizens of Sherbrooke to observe the recommendations contained therein.

Given at Sherbrooke, this 29th day of September, 1952.
Emile Levesque, Mayor.

Fire-Resistant Remodelling Goods Are Urged By City Fire Director

In conjunction with Fire Prevention Week, Director W. P. Donahue today cautioned property owners who plan to remodel their homes to use fire-resistant materials and fire-safe construction.

"Let's be careful," the Director said, "and make sure that in remodeling for greater comfort and more livability we also remodel for greater safety. The roof, exterior walls, as well as floors, ceilings, doors and partition should all be planned and constructed with an eye to fire-resistance and preventing the spread of fire.

"On the exterior, the roof is most important," the Director says, "as roof-communicated fires historically have been the principal cause of conflagrations which destroy wide areas. If the roof is old and combustible, re-cover it with a fire-resistant material, such as asphalt shingles.

"On the interior, look first to the heating plant. There should be plenty of space all around the heater so that walls, floors and ceilings cannot get dangerously hot. Be sure there are fire-stops at floor intersections, as fire races swiftly from floor to floor through hollow walls.

"Wiring must be adequate to meet present and future needs," the Director continued. "Overloaded circuits are giving the fire department a good deal of trouble, so plan on heavier wiring and more outlets than you think you will need. Be sure not to connect more than one major appliance to a single circuit."

In a final note of warning, Director Donahue recommended the installation of a heavy self closing door at the top of a stairway leading to any basement.

obtained from your municipal fire chief. The home fire inspection form has been printed and distributed by the Dominion Fire Prevention Association to municipal fire departments.

In 1951, fire attacked 45,000 homes and caused damages of $16,958,702; 6,200 stores with a loss of $22,443,129; 1,800 factories with a loss of $17,045,215; 3,500 farms with a loss of $5,549,354; and 800 institutional and assembly buildings with a loss of $5,892,516.

Carelessness Blamed For Majority Of Canada's 60,000 Fires In 1952

Written for The Canadian Press
By C. A. THOMSON
Dominion Fire Commissioner

Ottawa. —(CP)— Some 60,000 fires, most of them caused by carelessness, took 493 lives in Canada last year.

Besides the human toll, the fires caused property loss of $76,000,000.

All this could have been prevented if Canadians understood that the main causes of fires are their carelessness and their lack of knowledge of simple fire prevention.

Fire prevention week, to be marked this year from October 5 to October 11, was designed to advise, teach and inspire Canadians to take their responsibility in respect to fire seriously and to apply the knowledge they have gained to the reduction of this dreaded scourge.

A thorough inspection should be made of homes, factories, stores, institutions, assembly buildings and transportation facilities for improperly designed, constructed and installed heating and electrical appliances. Protection should be provided in cases where they are close to combustible materials.

This particularly concerns chimneys, flues, stoves, furnaces, boilers, pipes, oil burners, electric light and power appliances and devices. It applies to handling of hot ashes, coals, open fires, smoking, matches, lights—other than electric—and rubbish.

Responsible Canadian citizens seek the advice and instruction of the fire authorities—the municipal fire chief, the provincial fire marshals and commissioners, the Dominion Fire Prevention Association, fire insurance companies and others. They use the appliances, devices and materials approved by the Underwriters' Laboratories of Canada and the Canadian Standards Association Approvals Laboratories.

Responsible citizens know that fire prevention and the protection of natural resources are essential to our living and the prosperity of our people and our country.

It is in our homes that 75 per cent of the fires and 20 per cent of the loss occur. It is here that we must be intensely interested and observe our responsibility by taking action to correct the deficiency that tends to destroy our lives and property.

A guide to fire safety can be
